The fee in question is based upon the selling prices of the stock and not upon the par value thereof	109

The pledge of the interest and income of Permanent University Fund by Regents of the University does not create a "debt" against the State under the provisions of Section 49, Article 3, of the Constitution	434
"Debt" as used in Section 49, Article 3, of the Constitution means those obligations which must be liquidated by the imposition of tax burdens upon the people	434

The proviso of Chapter 93 of the Acts of the Regular Session of the 40th Legislature, providing for a gasoline tax of two cents on and after September 1st, 1928, is valid and not in conflict with the Title of the Act which properly construed merely levies an occupation tax on wholesale dealers in gasoline	363

Workmen's Compensation Insurance

The State Insurance Commission is without authority to make, establish and promulgate a rule that fixes the per cent of the earned premium for the year as an adequate reserve to meet anticipated losses, carry all claims to maturity and policies to termination, and require its observance by all insurance carriers writing Workmen's Compensation Insurance before application to declare dividends to subscribers will be approved by the Commission 174

A reserve adequate to meet anticipated losses, carry all claims to maturity and policies to termination is all that the law requires of insurance carriers writing workmen's compensation insurance, and this can only be measured by the consideration of the experience in losses in the nature of accidents sustained by each individual subscriber of the insurance carrier, and cannot be determined by the State Insurance Commission in advance of the subscriber's experience 174

The State Insurance Commission is unauthorized to require insurance carriers writing workmen's compensation insurance to maintain a certain per cent of the earned premium for the year as a reserve to insure solvency, as such a rule is a surplus requirement for which there is no legal basis 174

It is not within the power of the State Insurance Commission to determine the length of time insurance carriers writing workmen's compensation insurance must maintain reserves to meet anticipated losses, carry all claims to maturity and policies to termination. When these contingencies have been met and discharged, the purpose of the reserve has been accomplished 174
