

Texas Historical Statutes Project

VERNON'S SAYLES'
ANNOTATED CIVIL STATUTES 1914
VOLUME 3

Annotated Civil Statutes (Articles 3640 to 5474)

This project was made possible by the Texas State Law Library.

VERNON'S SAYLES'

ANNOTATED CIVIL STATUTES OF THE STATE OF TEXAS

WITH HISTORICAL NOTES

EMBRACING THE REVISED STATUTES OF THE STATE OF TEXAS ADOPTED AT THE REGULAR SESSION
OF THE THIRTY-SECOND LEGISLATURE, 1911

INCORPORATING UNDER APPROPRIATE HEADINGS OF THE REVISED STATUTES, 1911, THE LEGISLATION PASSED AT THE REGULAR AND SPECIAL SESSIONS OF THE THIRTY-SECOND AND THIRTY-THIRD LEGISLATURES, TO THE CLOSE OF 1913

IN FIVE VOLUMES

VOLUME 3

KANSAS CITY, MO.
VERNON LAW BOOK COMPANY
1914

COPYRIGHT, 1914
BY ERNON LAW BOOK CO.
(3 VERN.S.CIV.ST.)

TABLE OF TITLES AND CHAPTERS

IN

VOLUME 3

Title	Page	Articles
53. Evidence	2291	3640 to 3713
Ch. 1. Personal Attendance of Witnesses.....	2291	3640 to 3648
2. Depositions of Witnesses.....	2294	3649 to 3678
3. Depositions of Parties.....	2310	3679 to 3686
4. General Provisions.....	2313	3687 to 3713
54. Execution	2749	3714 to 3784
55. Exemptions	2789	3785 to 3818
Ch. 1. Property Exempt from Forced Sale.....	2789	3785 to 3793
2. Excess over Homestead, etc., How Set Apart and Subjected to Execution.....	2814	3794 to 3818
56. Express Companies.....	2820	3819 to 3825
57. Factors and Commission Merchants.....	2824	3826 to 3832i
58. Fees of Office.....	2830	3833 to 3926
Ch. 1. Certain State Officers.....	2830	3833 to 3845
2. Clerks of the Supreme Court and Courts of Civil Appeals.....	2835	3846 to 3848
3. County Officers.....	2836	3849 to 3879
4. General Provisions.....	2849	3880 to 3926
59. Fences	2861	3927 to 3934
60. Fiscal Year.....	2865	3935 to 3939
61. Forcible Entry and Detainer.....	2866	3940 to 3964
62. Frauds and Fraudulent Conveyances.....	2873	3965 to 3973
63. Game, Fish, Oysters, Etc.....	2903	3974 to 4042
Ch. 1. Game, Fish and Oyster Commissioner.....	2903	3974 to 3979
2. Fish, Oysters, Etc.....	2904	3980 to 4021k
3. Game	2918	4022 to 4042
63A. Governing Boards of State Institutions.....	2922	4042a to 4042c
64. Guardian and Ward.....	2923	4043 to 4301
Ch. 1. General Provisions.....	2923	4043 to 4055
2. In What County Proceedings Shall be Com- menced	2925	4056 to 4060
3. Commencement of Proceedings.....	2926	4061 to 4067
4. Persons Entitled to be Appointed Guardians, and Persons Who are Disqualified.....	2927	4068 to 4079
5. Appointment of Guardian.....	2929	4080 to 4090
6. Temporary Guardian.....	2932	4091 to 4096
7. Oath and Bond of Guardians.....	2933	4097 to 4112
8. Inventory. Appraisalment and List of Claims	2937	4113 to 4121
9. Powers and Duties of Guardians.....	2939	4122 to 4133
10. Renting and Leasing Property, and Investing and Loaning Money, of Ward.....	2942	4134 to 4152b
11. Sales	2946	4153 to 4173
12. Reports of Sales and Action of the Court Thereon	2951	4174 to 4184
13. Annual Accounts.....	2955	4185 to 4193
14. Death, Resignation and Removal of Guardi- ans	2956	4194 to 4205
15. Claims Against the Estate.....	2959	4206 to 4237
16. Guardianship of Persons of Unsound Mind and Habitual Drunkards.....	2963	4238 to 4255
17. Non-Resident Guardians and Wards.....	2966	4256 to 4260

Title	Page	Articles
64. Guardian and Ward (Cont'd).
18. Removal of Guardianship.....	2968	4261 to 4266
19. Final Settlement.....	2969	4267 to 4279
20. Compensation of Guardians, Expenses and Costs of Guardianship.....	2972	4280 to 4289
21. Appeal, Bill of Review and Certiorari.....	2973	4290 to 4301
65. Heads of Departments.....	2977	4302 to 4520
Ch. 1. Secretary of State.....	2977	4302 to 4319
2. Comptroller of Public Accounts.....	2980	4320 to 4361
3. State Treasurer.....	2988	4362 to 4391
4. Commissioner of the General Land Office...	2993	4392 to 4410
5. Attorney General.....	2996	4411 to 4434
6. Commissioner of Agriculture.....	3000	4435 to 4484
7. Commissioner of Insurance and Banking...	3010	4485 to 4508
8. State Superintendent of Public Instruction	3018	4509 to 4520
66. Health—Public	3021	4521 to 4605
Ch. 1. Texas State Board of Health.....	3021	4521 to 4553
2. Sanitary Code.....	3028	4553a
3. Pollution of Waters.....	3043	4553b to 4553e
4. Charbon Districts.....	3044	4553f to 4553o
5. Special Quarantine Regulations.....	3047	4554 to 4574
6. Pure Food Regulations.....	3051	4575 to 4595
7. Embalming Board.....	3057	4596 to 4605
67. Holidays—Legal	3060	4606, 4607
68. Husband and Wife.....	3061	4608 to 4642
Ch. 1. Celebration of Marriage.....	3061	4608 to 4616
2. Marriage Contracts.....	3065	4617 to 4620
3. Rights of Married Women.....	3066	4621 to 4629d
4. Divorce	3096	4630 to 4642
69. Injunctions	3110	4643 to 4693
70. Injuries Resulting in Death—Actions for.....	3159	4694 to 4704a
71. Insurance	3176	4705 to 4972f
Ch. 1. Incorporation of Insurance Companies.....	3176	4705 to 4723
2. Life, Health and Accident Insurance Com- panies	3179	4724 to 4774
3. Investment in Texas Securities and Taxa- tion of Gross Receipts.....	3195	4775 to 4790
4. Assessment or Natural Premium Companies	3201	4791 to 4793
5. Mutual Assessment Accident Insurance Home Companies.....	3202	4794 to 4808
6. Co-operative Life Insurance Companies...	3206	4809 to 4826
7. Fraternal Benefit Societies.....	3212	4827 to 4861
8. Fire and Marine Insurance Companies.....	3238	4862 to 4875
9. State Insurance Commission.....	3246	4876 to 4904
10. Mutual Fire, Lightning, Hail, and Storm In- surance Companies	3257	4905 to 4918
10A. Farmers' Mutual Hail Insurance Companies	3261	4918a to 4918j
11. Printers' Mutual Fire and Storm Insurance Companies	3264	4919 to 4921
12. Mutual Companies Insuring Against Loss by Burglary, Etc.....	3264	4922 to 4927
13. Fidelity, Guaranty and Surety Companies..	3266	4928 to 4940
14. Employer's Liability Insurance Companies	3272	4941, 4942
14A. Casualty and Other Insurance Companies, Except Fire, Marine and Life Insurance Companies	3273	4942a to 4942z
15. General Provisions.....	3280	4943 to 4972
16. Indemnity Contracts.....	3293	4972a to 4972f
72. Interest	3322	4973 to 4983
73. Irrigation and Other Water Rights.....	3339	4984 to 5107—105
Ch. 1. Regulating the Mode of Irrigation and the Use of Water.....	3339	4984 to 5011s
2. Irrigation Districts.....	3367	5012 to 5107—105
74. Jails	3395	5108 to 5113

TABLE OF TITLES AND CHAPTERS

v

Title	Page	Articles
75. Juries in Civil Cases.....	3396	5114 to 5220
Ch. 1. Jurors—Their Qualifications and Exemptions	3396	5114 to 5121
2. Jury Commissioners for the District Court, Appointment, Qualification, etc.....	3402	5122 to 5131
3. Jury Commissioners for the County Court, Appointment, Qualifications, etc.....	3405	5132 to 5134
4. Proceedings of the Jury Commissioners in the Selection of Jurors.....	3405	5135 to 5150
5. Selection of Jurors in Counties with Cities of Certain Population.....	3409	5151 to 5158
6. Selected Jurors—How Summoned, etc....	3411	5159 to 5164
7. Juries for the Week—How Made Up.....	3412	5165 to 5172
8. Jury Trials—Authorized When and How...	3414	5173 to 5187
9. Challenges	3418	5188 to 5201
10. Formation of the Jury for the Trial of a Cause	3422	5202 to 5211
11. Oath of Jurors in Civil Cases.....	3425	5212, 5213
12. Juries—How Constituted, and Their Verdicts	3425	5214 to 5217
13. Compensation of Jurors of the District and County Courts in Civil Cases.....	3427	5218 to 5220
76. Juveniles	3428	5221 to 5234i
Ch. 1. The State Juvenile Training School.....	3428	5221 to 5234a
2. Girls' Training School.....	3433	5234b to 5234i
77. Labor	3436	5235 to 5246zzzz
Ch. 1. Bureau of Labor Statistics.....	3436	5235 to 5243
2. Labor Organizations.....	3438	5244 to 5246
3. Hours of Labor of Females.....	3439	5246a to 5246d
4. Hours of Labor Upon Public Works.....	3440	5246e to 5246g
5. Employers' Liability—Insurance.....	3441	5246h to 5246zzzz
78. Lands—Acquisition for Public Use.....	3479	5247 to 5277
Ch. 1. Authorizing Governor to Purchase Lands for State Use.....	3479	5247 to 5251
2. United States Government Authorized to Ob- tain Title to Lands in Texas.....	3480	5252 to 5277
79. Lands—Public	3486	5278 to 5474
Ch. 1. Public Domain.....	3486	5278, 5279
2. General Land Office.....	3499	5280 to 5292
3. Land Districts.....	3501	5293 to 5299
4. County and District Surveyors.....	3502	5300 to 5334
5. Surveys and Field-Notes.....	3508	5335 to 5360
6. Patents	3547	5361 to 5382a
7. Land Reservations.....	3553	5383 to 5387
8. General Provisions.....	3555	5388 to 5404
9. Sale and Lease of Public Free School and Asylum Lands.....	3561	5405 to 5459
10. Suits to Recover Public Lands, Rents and Damages	3623	5460 to 5474

VERNON'S SAYLES'
ANNOTATED CIVIL STATUTES OF THE
STATE OF TEXAS

VOLUME 3

3 VERN.S.CIV.ST.

(2290A)*

TITLE 53

EVIDENCE

Chap. 1. Personal Attendance of Witnesses. 2. Depositions of Witnesses.	Chap. 3. Depositions of Parties. 4. General Provisions.
---	---

CHAPTER ONE

PERSONAL ATTENDANCE OF WITNESSES

Art. 3640. Witnesses subpoenaed. 3641. Form of subpoena. 3642. Service of. 3643. Witness shall attend, etc. 3644. Fees of witnesses.	Art. 3645. Witness refusing to testify. 3646. Privileged from arrest. 3647. Party may be examined as a witness. 3648. Interpreter may be summoned and appointed.
---	--

Article 3640. [2264] [2209] Witnesses subpoenaed.—The clerk of the district or county court, or justice of the peace, as the case may be, shall, at the request of any party to a suit pending in his court, or of his agent or attorney, issue a subpoena for any witness or witnesses who may be represented to reside within the county or be found therein at the time of the trial. [Act March 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 1. P. D. 3719.]

In general.—In criminal prosecution, held not error to refuse to issue a subpoena for a certain witness. Godwin v. State, 44 Cr. R. 599, 73 S. W. 804.

A deputy sheriff, in inserting of his own volition in the subpoena issued for witnesses the names of some 12 additional witnesses, acted without authority and in violation of law. Manuel v. State, 45 Cr. R. 96, 74 S. W. 30.

Diligence in procuring testimony.—The plaintiff, on filing suit, must use diligence to procure testimony to establish his case. Osborne v. Scott, 13 T. 59. It is the duty of the defendant to take steps to prepare for trial as soon as he is served with citation. Connor v. Mackey, 20 T. 747.

Diligence will date from the time when the subpoena is placed in the hands of an officer for service. Williams v. Edwards, 15 T. 41. See Robinson v. Martel, 11 T. 149.

When the witness does not reside in the county in which suit is brought, the issuance of a subpoena is not "due diligence." Baker v. Kellogg, 16 T. 117.

A rule for security for costs does not suspend the progress of a cause so far as the preparation of the parties for trial is concerned. Anderson v. McKinney, 22 T. 653.

Art. 3641. [2265-1448] [2210] Form of subpoena.—The style of the subpoena shall be, "The State of Texas." It shall state the names of the parties to the suit, the court in which the same is pending, the time and place at which the witness is required to appear, and the party at whose instance he is summoned. It shall be dated and tested by the clerk or justice, but need not be under the seal of the court, and the date of its issuance shall be noted thereon. It may be made returnable forthwith, or on any day for which the trial of the cause may be set. [Id.]

Subpoena duces tecum.—Production of books and papers in general, see notes under Art. 3687.

A witness may be compelled by a subpoena duces tecum to bring a paper into court. Coons v. Renick, 11 T. 134, 60 Am. Dec. 230.

The records of the United States cannot be obtained by a subpoena duces tecum in a suit to which the United States is not a party. Id.

Secondary evidence is inadmissible when a written instrument may be obtained by a subpoena duces tecum. Hall v. York, 16 T. 18.

A subpoena duces tecum should give a reasonably accurate description of the papers wanted. Ex parte Gould, 60 Cr. R. 442, 132 S. W. 364, 31 L. R. A. (N. S.) 835.

Art. 3642. [2266] [2211] Service of.—Subpoenas may be executed and returned at any time before the trial of the cause, and shall be served by being read to the witness; and service thereof may be accepted by any witness by a written memorandum, signed by him, attached to the subpoena. [Act May 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 16. P. D. 1434.]

Service by party to suit.—The deputy of a sheriff who is a party to the suit may serve a subpoena. Blum v. Bassett, 67 T. 194, 3 S. W. 33.

Art. 3643. [2267] [2212] Witness shall attend, etc.—Every witness summoned in any suit shall attend the court from day to day, and from term to term, until discharged by the court or party summoning him; and, if any witness, after being duly summoned, shall fail to attend, he may be fined by the court as for a contempt of court, and an attachment may issue against the body of such witness to compel his attendance; but no such fine shall be imposed, nor shall such attachment issue in a civil suit until it shall be shown to the court, by affidavit of the party, his agent or attorney, that his lawful fees have been paid or tendered to such witness. [Id. P. D. 3720.]

Change of venue.—A witness is not required to follow a suit to another county to which the venue has been changed. Dangerfield v. Paschal, 20 T. 536.

Attachment to compel attendance.—Application for attachment to compel attendance of a female plaintiff as witness held insufficient. City of Dallas v. Lentz (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 56.

Bond to secure appearance of witness.—A bond for appearance of a witness "at the next term of the court" does not sufficiently designate the time. Mackey v. State, 38 Cr. R. 24, 40 S. W. 982.

A bond taken in November, 1893, for appearance of a witness in April, 1893, is a nullity. Id.

In a criminal proceeding a bond to the sheriff to insure the appearance of a witness held defective in not setting forth any authority authorizing the sheriff to take it. Gause v. State, 60 Cr. R. 221, 131 S. W. 605.

Punishment of disobedience to subpoena as contempt.—The action of the court in refusing to find a juror for contempt for failure to obey a subpoena to testify held not error. Johnson v. State, 59 Cr. R. 11, 127 S. W. 559.

Art. 3644. [2268] [2213] Fees of witnesses.—Witnesses shall be allowed a fee of one dollar for each and every day they may be in attendance on the court, and six cents for every mile they may have to travel in going to and returning therefrom, which shall be paid on the certificate of the clerk, by the party summoning them; which certificate shall be given on the affidavit of the witness before the clerk; and such compensation and mileage of witnesses shall be taxed in the bill of costs as other costs. [Id. P. D. 3724.]

In general.—The parties to a judgment, pending appeal, may compromise it without the consent of the witnesses of the successful party, their fees being unpaid. Hittson v. Burrow, 28 C. A. 442, 67 S. W. 785.

The statute requiring the justice of the peace to transmit to the county court, in case of appeal, all the original papers, orders, etc., held to render a subpoena in the justice's court effective as process of the county court, so as to entitle the witness to fees for attending the county court. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Richmond, 28 C. A. 513, 67 S. W. 1029.

Different suits.—When a witness is subpoenaed in several suits, pending at the same time and place, at the instance of the same person, he is entitled to compensation in each case. Flores v. Thorn, 8 T. 377.

Where witnesses are subpoenaed in a number of cases at the same term of court and attend in obedience to subpoenas they are entitled to fees in each case, and the burden is on the party contesting the payment of fees to show that more than two were summoned to prove the same fact. Cabell v. Orient Ins. Co., 22 C. A. 635, 55 S. W. 610.

Proof of attendance.—A witness may prove up his attendance at any time before the issue of execution, but not afterwards. Hardy v. De Leon, 7 T. 466. The affidavit should state the number of days he has attended and the number of miles for which he is entitled to charge. Gause v. Edminston, 35 T. 69.

The clerk is only entitled to 50 cents for taking the affidavit of a witness as to attendance and giving certificate thereof. He cannot make separate charge for each. Texas M. Ry. Co. v. Parker, 28 C. A. 116, 66 S. W. 583.

Persons entitled to fees.—The wife of a party to a suit is not entitled to pay for attendance as a witness. Texas M. Ry. Co. v. Parker, 28 C. A. 116, 66 S. W. 583.

A person whose vote is contested in an election contest held not entitled to fees for attending the trial. Altgelt v. Callaghan (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1166.

Parties.—A party litigant who testifies in his own behalf, or is called to the stand by the opposite party, is not entitled to witness fees. Gause v. Edminston, 35 T. 69.

Amount of fees.—Where witnesses for defendant railroad company from without the county testified that defendant furnished them free transportation, and in addition, paid their expenses and agreed to pay them for their time at a rate from $1.50 to $15 a day, it was not error for the court to refuse to charge the jury not to consider remarks of plaintiff's counsel that the statute prescribed $1 a day as the fee for witnesses, and that defendant's witnesses in accepting more than that sum, received an amount not permitted by law. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Adams (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 876.

Additional compensation to experts.—Since a successful plaintiff in a personal injury suit is not entitled to recover for fees paid in obtaining expert testimony, it was improper to permit an expert to testify to the reasonableness of his charge. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Dooley (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 831.

Mileage and expenses.—Witnesses in a criminal case are entitled to mileage for only one trip, going and coming, at any one term of court, and their per diem only for the days on which they actually attend the court, including the time consumed in going and coming. McArthur v. State, 41 Cr. R. 635, 57 S. W. 847.

Suit dismissed.—When a suit is dismissed for failure to give security for costs, the defendant is entitled to a judgment for costs, and if witnesses have been subpoenaed by the defendant and attended court, and certificates of their attendance have been issued, the fees due them should be taxed in the bill of costs. Anderson v. McKinney, 22 T. 653.

Actions for fees.—A witness may sue the party summoning him for his fees. Flores v. Thorn, 8 T. 377; Anderson v. McKinney, 22 T. 653.

When a witness sues for his fees, the subpoena is evidence to prove that he was subpoenaed. Flores v. Thorn, 8 T. 377; Crawford v. Crain, 19 T. 145. And the subpoena must be produced or its absence accounted for. Harris v. Coleman, 8 T. 278.

The certificate of the clerk is prima facie evidence of the right of a witness to recover his fees for the time and mileage stated in the certificate. Flores v. Thorn, 8 T. 377; Gause v. Edminton, 35 T. 69.

Art. 3645. [2269] [2214] Witness refusing to testify.—Any witness refusing to give evidence may be committed to the county jail, there to remain without bail until he shall consent to give evidence. [Id. P. D. 3725.]

Refusal to answer.—Whether or not a witness, a party to the suit, willfully and contumaciously refuses to answer interrogatories propounded to him is a question for the court and not for the jury. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Berling, 14 C. A. 544, 37 S. W. 1083.

This article and Arts. 3680-3685 provide a ready means by which one party can procure the testimony of his adversary and the adversary can be compelled to testify as to any material fact except that he may decline to testify as any other witness can where the fact may have the tendency to charge or connect him with the commission of a crime. But if the evidence will have the effect only of subjecting him to civil action or pecuniary loss he will be compelled to testify. Tillman v. Peoples, 28 C. A. 233, 67 S. W. 205, 206.

Examination of witnesses.—See notes under Art. 3687.

Privilege of witness.—See notes under Art. 3687.

Art. 3646. [2270] [2215] Privileged from arrest.—Witnesses shall be privileged from arrest, except in cases of treason, felony and breach of the peace, during their attendance at court, and in going to and returning therefrom, allowing one day for each twenty-five miles from their place of abode. [Id. P. D. 3723.]

Art. 3647. [2271] [2216] Party may be examined as a witness.—Either party to a suit may examine the opposing party as a witness, and shall have the same process to compel his attendance as in the case of any other witness. His examination shall be conducted and his testimony shall be received under the same rules applicable to other witnesses. [Act Feb. 15, 1858, p. 110, sec. 3. P. D. 3754.]

Executors and administrators.—Executors and administrators may be examined as other parties. Blackman v. Green, 17 T. 322.

Beneficiary in assignment for creditors.—The beneficiary in an assignment for benefit of creditors can prove its execution. Tittle v. Vanleer (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 736.

Discovery.—Right to take deposition of party as in nature of bill of discovery, see notes under Art. 3680.

A bill of discovery is not known in our practice as an independent remedy disconnected from a regular suit. Love v. Keowne, 58 T. 191.

Production of books and documents.—Production in general, see notes under Art. 3687.

A party has the right to compel the adverse party to produce in court books or documents in his possession to be used in evidence on the trial. Cullers v. Birge (Civ. App.) 34 S. W. 987.

Competency of party to testify.—See notes under Art. 3688.

Art. 3648. [2272] [2217] Interpreters may be summoned and appointed.—The court may, when necessary, appoint interpreters, who may be summoned in the same manner as witnesses, and shall be subject to the same penalties for disobedience, and shall be entitled to the same fees. [Act May 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 98. P. D. 3761.]

Examination of witness through interpreter.—Where witnesses testify through an interpreter, a greater latitude may be allowed in their examination. Merriman v. Blalack, 56 C. A. 594, 121 S. W. 552.

CHAPTER TWO

DEPOSITIONS OF WITNESSES

Art. 3649. Depositions of witness may be taken, when. 3650. Notice and service thereof. 3651. When notice may be given by publication. 3652. When process was served by publication. 3653. When suit has not been commenced. 3654. Cross-interrogatories. 3655. Commission to take deposition. 3656. Requisites of. 3657. Officers authorized to execute. 3658. Witness to be summoned. 3659. Refusing to answer, may be attached. 3660. Execution of the commission. 3661. Interpreter. 3662. Return of depositions. 3663. Depositions by oral examination and answer. 3664. Notice of taking deposition, requisites of. 3665. Any person may be compelled to appear and answer; proviso where deposition taken at distance over 100 miles.	Art. 3666. Service of notice, etc., noted on copy filed, etc., commission to issue after ten days. 3667. Commission, how styled, etc.; requisites of. 3668. Powers of officer taking deposition. 3669. Written cross interrogatories may be filed. 3670. Witness to be cautioned and sworn, etc. 3671. Examination, how conducted, reduced to writing, etc., and subscribed. 3672. Objections to testimony not to be sustained, etc.; but recorded and reserved for court, etc. 3673. Depositions certified and returned, how; rules as to use, etc. 3674. Depositions opened. 3675. Either party may use depositions, when. 3676. Objections to depositions. 3677. Depositions to be read in evidence, subject, etc. 3678. Matter not responsive stricken out.
--	---

Article 3649. [2273] [2218] Depositions of witnesses may be taken, when.—Depositions of witnesses may be taken when the party desires to perpetuate the testimony of a witness, and, in all civil suits heretofore or hereafter brought in this state, whether the witness resides in the county where the suit is brought or out of it; provided, the failure to secure the deposition of a male witness residing in the county in which the suit is pending shall not be regarded as want of diligence where diligence has been used to secure his personal attendance by the service of subpoena or attachment, under the rules of law, unless by reason of age, infirmity or sickness, or official duty, the witness will be unable to attend the court, or unless he is about to leave, or has left, the state or county in which the suit is pending and will not probably be present at the trial. [Act May 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 67. P. D. 3726. Acts 1879, p. 126.]

In general.—Ex parte deposition held inadmissible. Ft. Worth Live Stock Commission Co. v. Hitson (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 915.

Witness present at trial.—See notes under Art. 3677.

Diligence in taking.—The absence of a female witness who has been subpoenaed is no cause for continuance when proper diligence has not been used to take her deposition. Cotton Press Co. v. Bradley, 52 T. 587. And so where a witness resides in another county. Railway Co. v. Hardin, 62 T. 367.

Second deposition.—Should either party desire to obtain additional testimony from a witness already examined, the proper practice is to propound direct interrogatories, and give notice to the opposite party, as in other cases. Ector v. Wiggins, 30 T. 58.

The taking of the deposition of a witness a second time without leave of the court is an irregularity. Evansich v. G., C. & S. F. R. R. Co., 61 T. 24. See Schmick v. Noel, 64 T. 408.

Use against person not a party at time of taking.—See, also, notes under Art. 3677.

A deposition taken when a person was not a party to the suit is not admissible against him, but is admissible against those who were then parties. Flores v. Hovel (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 606.

Admissions to prevent deposition.—A stipulation for the introduction of hearsay testimony concerning a passenger's injuries held sufficiently broad to authorize the introduction of the evidence offered. Thompson v. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co., 31 C. A. 583, 73 S. W. 29.

Art. 3650. [2274] [2219] Same subject; notice and service thereof.—The party wishing to take the deposition of a witness in a suit pending in court shall file with the clerk or justice of the peace, as the case may be, a notice of his intention to apply for a commission to take the answers of the witness to interrogatories attached to such notice. The notice shall state the name and residence of the witness, or the place where he is to be found, and the suit in which the deposition is to be used; and a copy thereof, and of the attached interrogatories, shall be served upon the adverse party, or his attorney of record, five days before the issuance of a commission; and, whenever the adverse party is a corporation or a joint stock association, service may be made upon the president, secretary or treasurer of such corporation or association, or upon the local agent representing such corporation or association in the county in which the suit is pending, or by leaving a copy of the notice and attached interrogatories at the principal office of such corporation or association during office hours. [Acts 1879, p. 126. Acts 1887, p. 27.]

Necessity of notice.—Deposition held inadmissible in evidence for want of notice. Gilbough v. Stahl Bldg. Co., 16 C. A. 448, 41 S. W. 535.

— On retaking deposition.—Where a deposition was suppressed because of irregularities, held improper to retake the deposition on the same direct and cross-interrogatories on file, without further notice. First Nat. Bank v. Thomas (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 221.

Name and residence of witness.—Commission to take deposition of "Charles Emery;" returned with deposition of "Charles Emley." Held, the names were idem sonans. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Daniels, 1 C. A. 695, 20 S. W. 956.

The name and residence of the witness must be truly stated. Garner v. Cutler, 28 T. 175. A witness was named Lurance A. Atkinson in the notice and commission, and signed her answers as Nancy L. Atkinson. It was held that it was a legal presumption that she was known as well by one name as the other, and that it was error to exclude the deposition on the ground of the variance in the names, especially as an offer was made to prove the identity of the person characterized by two names, which was refused by the court. Atkinson v. Wilson, 31 T. 643; Art. 3676.

An indorsement of the residence of the witness on the back of the interrogatories served on attorneys of the opposite party is sufficient. Fidelity Mut. Life Ass'n v. Harris (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 341.

The purpose in requiring the name and residence of the witness to be given is to identify the witness so that the opposing party may know who he is, but if as a matter of fact the opposing party does know who the witness is whose deposition is to be taken when the interrogatories are served on him to be crossed, a misnomer of the witness will not vitiate the deposition, and it should not be suppressed. G., H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Morris, 94 T. 505, 61 S. W. 710.

Service on agent.—Notice and interrogatories may be served upon the local agent of a railroad company. M. P. Ry. Co. v. Collier, 62 T. 318.

Service of notice of taking depositions on the local agent of a foreign corporation, upon whom a summons to the corporation could be legally served, was a valid service on the corporation. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Goodrich (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1176.

Sufficiency of copy.—A motion to quash a deposition because of the omission of certain words in a copy of the precept held properly overruled. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Neaves (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1090.

Loss of notice after service.—Where depositions were objected to "because it did not appear of record among the papers in the cause that there was service of notice and copies of the interrogatories" upon the opposite party, the trial court heard proofs of the service, return and loss of the notice and copies, and admitted the depositions. Thompson v. Herring, 27 T. 282.

Verification of notice.—The law does not require the copy of the notice of taking depositions to be served on the adverse party should be sworn to. Service of the copy is all that is required. El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Wizard, 39 C. A. 534, 88 S. W. 469.

Suppression for defects.—See notes under Art. 3676.

Art. 3651. [2275] [2220] When notice may be given by publication.—In all civil suits where it shall be shown to the court, by affidavit filed therein, that either party is beyond the jurisdiction of the court, or that he can not be found, or has deceased since the commencement of the suit, and such death has been suggested at a prior term of the court, so that the notice and copy of interrogatories can not be served upon him for the purpose of taking depositions, and such party has no attorney of record upon whom they can be served, or if he be deceased and all the persons entitled to claim by or through such deceased defendant have not made themselves parties to the suit, and are unknown, the party wishing to take depositions may file his interrogatories in the court where said suit is pending, and the clerk of such court or justice of the peace shall thereupon cause a notice to be published in some newspaper for thirty days, stating the number of the suit, the names of the original parties, in what court the suit is pending, the name and residence of the witness to whom interrogatories are propounded, and that a commission will issue on or after the thirtieth day after such publication to take the deposition of such witness; at the expiration of which time such clerk or justice shall, on the application of the party filing such interrogatories, his agent or attorney, issue a commission as in other cases. [Id. sec. 79. P. D. 3737.]

Art. 3652. [2276] [2221] When process was served by publication.—In suits where service of process has been made by publication, and the defendant has not answered within the time prescribed by law, service of notice of filing interrogatories may be made at any time after the day when the defendant is required to answer, by filing such notice among the papers of the suit at least twenty days before the issuance of a commission; service of notice may also be made in the manner prescribed in the preceding article. [Act April 1, 1861, p. 26, sec. 1. P. D. 3738.]

Art. 3653. [2277] [2222] When suit has not been commenced.—When any person may anticipate the institution of a suit in which he may be interested, and may desire to perpetuate the testimony of a witness to be used in such suit, he, his agent or attorney, may file a written statement in the proper court of the county where such suit could be instituted, representing the facts and the names and residences, if known, of the persons supposed to be interested adversely to said person; a copy of which statement and writ shall be served on the persons interested adversely; or, where such person, his agent or attorney, shall at the time of filing such statement, make affidavit that the names and residences of the heirs, successors or legal representative of any deceased person are unknown to the affiant, or reside beyond the jurisdiction of the state, the clerk of the court or justice shall issue a like writ, which shall be served on such unknown or non-resident persons by publication in some newspaper, in the mode and manner designated by law for the service of original process upon non-residents or unknown parties; after which the depositions of such witnesses may be taken and returned by the parties making the said statement in the form and under the rules prescribed for taking testimony by deposition; and such testimony may be used in any suit which may be thereafter instituted by or between any of the parties to the statement, or those claiming under them, in like manner as if such depositions had been taken after the institution of such suit or suits; and, when such suits have been instituted, all such depositions so taken and returned shall be subject to the like exceptions as other depositions. [Act April 15, 1874, p. 103, sec. 1. P. D. 6829b.]

Art. 3654. [2278] [2223] Cross-interrogatories.—Whenever one party may file interrogatories for the purpose of taking the deposition of a witness, the opposite party may file cross-interrogatories at any time before the commission issues, and a copy of the same shall accompany the direct interrogatories, and shall be answered and returned therewith. [Id. sec. 72. P. D. 3731.]

In general.—A cross-interrogatory should be fully answered. Ball v. Hill, 38 T. 237.

Quære: Can a defendant who has filed cross-interrogatories claim additional time to take answers where plaintiff has failed to have commission executed? Schunior v. Russell, 83 T. 83, 18 S. W. 484.

Time for filing.—When the commission was taken out after service of the notice was completed, and the cross-interrogatories filed on that day were not included, the presumption is that they were not filed until after the commission was issued, and an objection to the deposition on that ground was properly overruled. McKinney v. O'Connor, 26 T. 5.

Cross-interrogatories may be filed at any time before commission issues, but not afterwards. Ector v. Wiggins, 30 T. 55.

Scope of inquiry.—It is proper to ask a witness on a cross-examination any question that may be pertinent to the matter to be decided by the jury. This rule is not confined to such questions as will show bias of the witness. For the purpose of showing this or falsity in his main statement, a witness may be examined upon collateral matters; and the rule extends to an examination into all matters connected with the res gestæ. Inquiry may be made into the situation of the witness in respect to the parties and to the subject of litigation; his interest, his inclination and his prejudices; his means of obtaining a certain and correct knowledge of facts about which he testifies; the manner in which he uses those means; his power of discernment, memory and description, may be fully investigated and ascertained. Evansich v. G., C. & S. F. R. R. Co., 61 T. 24.

Failure to file cross-interrogatories.—Under the statute a party who fails to file cross-interrogatories may not file direct interrogatories submitting leading questions. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Matlock (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1067.

Failure to answer ground for suppression.—See notes under Art. 3676.

Sufficiency of interrogatories.—In an action against a railroad company for injuries to a man at a public crossing, the admission of certain cross-interrogatories propounded to defendant's witness, and answers thereto, held erroneous. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Melugin (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 333.

Withdrawal of answer.—A party may not withdraw answers given in direct response to cross-interrogatories propounded by him, on a technical ground that would not have been presented if the answers had been favorable to him, but the party asked the questions at his peril, and he must abide the consequences. Fairbanks Co. v. Stites (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 636.

Art. 3655. [2279] [2224] Commission to take deposition.—After the service of the notice of filing the interrogatories has been completed, the clerk or justice shall issue a commission to take the deposition of the witness named in the notice. [Id. sec. 67. P. D. 3736.]

Time for issuance.—Where the defendant accepted service of the interrogatories and waived "the five days' notice," etc., the commission was properly issued on the same day. Moore v. Gammel, 13 T. 120.

Where the opposite party files cross-interrogatories and takes out a commission, the party initiating proceedings is entitled to a commission, though five days have not elapsed since notice to the opposite party. St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Skaggs, 32 C. A. 363, 74 S. W. 733.

Right to commission.—Either party has the right to obtain the commission and take the deposition of a witness to whom direct and cross-interrogatories have been properly filed. Burton v. G., H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 61 T. 526.

Amendment.—An error of the clerk giving in the commission a wrong name for the residence of the witness may be corrected by an amendment, the deposition having been properly taken. Irvin v. Bevil, 80 T. 332, 16 S. W. 21.

New commission.—When a deposition has been defectively returned, it is proper to take out a new commission immediately. Boone v. Miller, 73 T. 557, 11 S. W. 551.

Withdrawal of interrogatories.—Where by consent a deposition has been taken without a commission on the original interrogatories, it is irregular to withdraw the interrogatories to retake the deposition on account of irregularities in the return. Boone v. Miller, 73 T. 557, 11 S. W. 551.

Defects ground for suppression of deposition.—See notes under Art. 3676.

Art. 3656. [2280] [2225] Requisites of.—The style of the commission shall be, "The State of Texas," and it shall be dated and tested as other process; it shall be addressed to the several officers named in the succeeding article, and shall authorize and require them, or either of them, to summon the witness before him forthwith, and to take his answers under oath to the direct and cross-interrogatories, if any, a copy of which shall be attached to such commission, and to return without delay the commission and interrogatories, and the answers of the witness thereto, to the clerk or justice of the proper court, giving his official and postoffice address. [Id.]

Order of court.—After the service of a notice of the filing of interrogatories for the taking of a deposition has been completed, it is ordinarily the duty of the clerk to issue the commission without an order of court. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith, 38 C. A. 507, 86 S. W. 943.

Construction of words.—By the use of such vague and indefinite terms as "without delay" in the statute prescribing the form and requisites of the commission they are meant to be directory, and where the delay has not been prejudicial the deposition should not be suppressed. Kane v. Sholars, 41 C. A. 154, 90 S. W. 938.

Consent to appointment of person not authorized by law.—As to the authority of the court by consent of parties to appoint a person, not an officer authorized by law, to take a deposition, see State v. Cardinas, 47 T. 250, 291.

Art. 3657. [2281] [2226] Officers authorized to execute.—The commission shall be addressed to the following officers, either of whom may execute and return the same:

1. If the witness be alleged to reside or be within the state, to any clerk of the district court, any judge or clerk of the county court, or any notary public of the proper county.

2. If the witness be alleged to reside or be without the state, and within the United States, to any clerk of a court of record having a seal, any notary public, or any commissioner of deeds duly appointed under the laws of this state within some other state or territory.

3. If the witness is alleged to reside or be without the United States, to any notary public or any minister, commissioner or charge d'affaires of the United States resident in, and accredited to, the country where the deposition may be taken, or any consul-general, consul, vice-consul, commercial agent, vice-commercial agent, deputy consul or consular agent of the United States resident in such country. [P. D. 3726, 3736.]

Consul—Commercial agent.—Defined. Schunior v. Russell, 83 T. 83, 18 S. W. 484. See Art. 6012.

Disqualification of officer.—Ground for suppression of deposition, see notes under Art. 3676.

In support of exceptions to a deposition which purported to have been taken by a notary public, it was competent to show, by parol evidence, that the person taking it had previously ceased to be a notary by the acceptance of another office of profit; and that fact being thus established, the deposition was properly suppressed. A single act of this character could not constitute him a notary de facto, and so give validity to the deposition. Biencourt v. Parker, 27 T. 558.

A commissioner held not disqualified from taking depositions because a brother of plaintiff's attorney, who had contracted for a conditional fee. Paris, M. & S. P. Ry. Co. v. Stokes (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 484.

An attorney is incompetent to act as a notary in taking the depositions of witnesses whom he had been employed to find. Testard v. Butler, 20 C. A. 106, 48 S. W. 753.

The person taking a deposition held disqualified. Clegg v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1098.

Though the statute does not define the qualifications of the officer taking a deposition, a notary public who has been attorney for the witness whose deposition was taken in an action of the same nature against the same defendant was disqualified. Clegg v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 104 T. 280, 137 S. W. 109.

Art. 3658. [2282] [2227] Witness to be summoned.—Upon the receipt of such commission by any officer to whom it is addressed, residing in this state, if the witness does not voluntarily appear, he shall issue a subpoena, directed to the sheriff or any constable of the county, requiring him to summon the witness to appear and answer interrogatories at a time and place named in the subpoena. [Acts 1905, p. 107. Acts 1874, p. 103. Acts 1907, p. 186. P. D. 3727.]

Cited, Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 485.

Attaching papers to deposition.—An officer taking a deposition cannot compel a witness to deliver or attach his private papers, and where a witness refuses to attach to the deposition an original paper in his possession, secondary evidence of the contents of the paper is admissible. Sayles v. Bradley & Metcalf Co., 92 T. 406, 49 S. W. 209.

Art. 3659. [2283] [2228] Refusing to answer, may be attached.—If the witness, after being duly summoned, shall fail to appear, or, having appeared, shall refuse to answer the interrogatories, such officer shall have power to issue an attachment against such witness and to fine and imprison him in like manner as the district and county courts are empowered to do in like cases. [Act April 15, 1874, p. 103.]

Effect.—If plaintiff refuses to answer interrogatories and the court orders the answers to be taken as confessed, he cannot on the trial give testimony to disprove the answers as confessed. G., C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hamilton, 17 C. A. 76, 42 S. W. 358.

Art. 3660. [2284] [2229] Execution of the commission.—Upon the appearance of the witness, the officer to whom the commission is directed shall proceed to take his answers to the interrogatories. The answers shall be reduced to writing, and shall be signed and sworn to by the witness. The officer shall certify that the answers of the witness were signed and sworn to by the witness before him, and shall seal them up in an envelope, together with the commission and interrogatories and cross-interrogatories, if any, and shall write his name across the seal, and indorse on the envelope the names of the parties to the suit and of the witnesses, and shall direct the package to the clerk of the court from which the commission issued; and, if the depositions be sent by mail, the officer taking the same shall certify on the envelope enclosing the depositions that he in person deposits the same in the mail for transmission, stating the date when and the postoffice in which the same are deposited for transmission. [Acts 1905, p. 107. Acts 1874, p. 103. Acts 1907, p. 187. P. D. 3728.]

Cited, Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley, 103 T. 79, 124 S. W. 90.

Suppression of deposition under provision of article as it formerly stood.—See, also, notes under Art. 3662.

Suppression of deposition for defects in manner and form of taking, see notes under Art. 3676.

The right to suppress a deposition at any time under this article exists only in reference to violations of its own provisions, and therefore a deposition cannot be suppressed at any time for failure to give five days' notice of time and place of taking, which is not a provision of this article, but of Art. 3658. El Paso S. W. Ry. Co. v. Barrett, 46 C. A. 14, 101 S. W. 1026.

Where objections which go to the form and manner of taking a deposition are not dealt with by this article, original Art. 3676 still applies, because it is unrepealed, and is still in force except where its provisions conflict with this article. Id.

Where the violation of the law in taking a deposition, is the act of the notary and apparent upon his certificate, and is not the act of a party to the suit, the suppression of the deposition is not regulated by this article, so as to be enforced at any time, but is regulated by Art. 3676. Id.

Under this statute since its amendment by the act of 1907 (Supp. 1908, p. 167), the fact that a witness has been made acquainted with the interrogatories in advance is not a ground for suppression of the deposition. M., K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Davis, 53 C. A. 547, 116 S. W. 425.

Nor will a failure to answer a question be a ground of suppression, unless such failure tends to deprive a party of material evidence. Id.

Art. 3662, requiring the postmaster mailing a deposition to indorse thereon that he received it from the officer before whom the same was taken, is not repealed by Art. 3660, requiring the officer to certify on the envelope containing the deposition that he in person deposited the same in the mail, but the two sections are in force, and must be complied with. Wisegarver v. Yinger (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 925.

Sayles' Ann. Civ. St. 1897, art. 2286 (Art. 3662 of this compilation), required the postmaster at the post office where depositions are mailed to the clerk of court to indorse on the envelope containing them that he received them from the officer before whom they were taken. Held, in view of Arts. 3660 and 3673, that such provision is not restricted to depositions taken on oral examination, but is intended as a substitute for Art. 3662, and hence the indorsement of the postmaster is unnecessary. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley, 103 T. 79, 124 S. W. 90.

Where the original precept, on which the notice to take the deposition of a witness was served, commanded service on the "M. Railway Company, defendant in this cause, said M. Railway Company being a corporation incorporated under the laws of Texas," and it did not appear that there was any other suit pending against defendant at the time, and it was shown that a copy of the precept with a copy of the interrogatories was served on defendant by delivery to its local agent, that the copy omitted the words "of Texas" did not render defendant's identity uncertain, and a motion to quash the deposition was properly overruled. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Neaves (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1090.

Officer to whom commission is directed.—Where the commission is directed to any notary public of a certain county, the taking of a deposition by a notary public of another is not a taking by the officer to whom the commission is addressed and is unauthorized. German Ins. Co. v. Gibbs Wilson & Co., 42 C. A. 407, 92 S. W. 1070.

Manner of taking.—A party held not prejudiced by the manner in which a deposition was taken. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Luther, 40 C. A. 517, 90 S. W. 44.

Evidence held insufficient to show that depositions were not read to witness when they were taken, and that they were incorrectly written. Rice v. Ragan (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1148.

Certificate of officer taking.—Suppression for defects in general, see notes under Art. 3676.

The certificate should show that the answer was signed by the witness (Thompson v. Halle, 12 T. 139), and sworn to before the officer (Chapman v. Allen, 15 T. 278; Patton v. King, 26 T. 685, 84 Am. Dec. 596; Trammell v. McDade, 29 T. 360) by the witness (Slaughter v. Rivenbark, 35 T. 68; Bacon v. Lloyd, 1 App. C. C. § 234; Railway Co. v. Brouard, 69 T. 617, 7 S. W. 374). The certificate may be read in connection with the caption to the answers. Railway Co. v. Gillum (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 697; Id. (Sup.) 31 S. W. 356.

Whether the court should permit an officer to amend his certificate is a question addressed to its discretion. If proposed before the trial commenced, it should be allowed, or if refused a continuance might be granted. If the application is made pending the trial it might be properly refused. Chapman v. Allen, 15 T. 278.

The caption of the deposition will be construed in connection with the final certificate to show the manner in which the deposition was taken. Carroll v. Welch, 26 T. 147. And it is sufficient if a substantial compliance with the statute is shown. Neill v. Cody, 26 T. 286; H. & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Larkin, 64 T. 454; Railway Co. v. Brouard, 69 T. 617, 7 S. W. 374.

An officer taking a deposition must identify the cause in which it is taken by stating its title in the caption or conclusion of his certificate. A mere recital that the deposition is taken "in compliance with the annexed commission" is not sufficient. Slaughter v. Rivenbark, 35 T. 68.

The certificate of the notary failed to state the name of the witness, and the official seal was not attached. Held, that the return could not be amended in the presence and under the direction of the court. Railway Co. v. Matula, 79 T. 577, 15 S. W. 573; Millikin v. Smoot, 71 T. 759, 12 S. W. 59, 10 Am. St. Rep. 813. See Creager v. Douglass, 77 T. 484, 14 S. W. 150.

The omission of the name of the county in the certificate is supplied by an impression of the seal containing his name, county and state. Linskie v. Kerr (Civ. App.) 34 S. W. 765.

The certificate to the depositions of several witnesses should state that each witness swore to and signed the answers made by him. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hennesey, 20 C. A. 316, 49 S. W. 917.

A deposition held to identify the answers of a witness therein as those of the witness before the officer. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Denton, 29 C. A. 284, 68 S. W. 336.

Where the depositions of witnesses were taken under a single commission each signing at the conclusion of his answers, and the notary affixing a separate certificate, a motion to quash was properly overruled. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Kennedy (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 653.

A deposition held not subject to the objection that it did not sufficiently identify the cause in which it was taken. McFaddin v. Sims, 43 C. A. 598, 97 S. W. 335.

The caption of a deposition recited that, pursuant to the commission and interrogatories, a notary summoned the witness before him, and that he was "first duly sworn to testify the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth." Then followed the answers to the direct interrogatories, signed "W. C. G., Witness," with the following jurat: "Subscribed and sworn to before me," etc. Following answers to cross-interrogatories were likewise signed, followed by a jurat identical with the last quoted. The notary's certificate showed that defendant "was by me duly sworn to testify the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth in the case mentioned in the caption"; that the deposition was reduced to writing on a typewriter by the notary in the presence of defendant, who subscribed the same in the notary's presence, etc. Held, that the statutory requirement that the certificate, either alone or considered with the caption, must show that answers to the interrogatories and cross-interrogatories were signed and sworn to by the witness before the officer taking the deposition, was not complied with. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Graves, 57 C. A. 395, 122 S. W. 458.

The certificate of the officer taking depositions on written interrogatories propounded under the general statute need not show that the witnesses were first cautioned and sworn to testify to the truth, notwithstanding the statute. Wisegarver v. Yinger (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 925.

Under this article, requiring the officer before whom depositions are taken to certify on the envelope inclosing the depositions that he in person deposited the same in the mail for transmission, etc., and Art. 6006, providing that every notary public shall authenticate his official acts with his seal of office, the certificate of a notary on the envelope inclosing depositions must be authenticated by his official seal. Id.

Since the statute does not so require, it is not necessary for the officer taking depositions to designate in his certificate the office he holds. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley, 103 T. 79, 124 S. W. 90.

A deposition cannot be quashed merely because the certificate was signed by the officer before whom the same was taken, without anywhere stating his official title. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 485.

The failure of the officer before whom a deposition was taken to seal his certificate on the envelope inclosing the same for return that he personally deposited it in the mail for transmission does not require a suppression of the deposition, as the officer's signature to such certificate may be verified by his sealed certificate to the deposition after opening. Hartford Fire Ins. Co. v. Becton, 103 T. 236, 125 S. W. 883.

Omission of a notary's seal from his certificate on an envelope enclosing a deposition is not ground for suppressing the depositions, where the seal was attached to his certificate that the answers were signed and sworn to before him. Wisegarver v. Yinger (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 1190.

The caption of a deposition and the certificate of a notary thereto held not to comply with the statute. Griffin v. Humphrey (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1111.

Indorsement of envelope.—Depositions were objected to on the ground that the name of the officer was not written connectedly across the seal of the envelope, the two final letters being separated a quarter of an inch from the preceding ones. Held, that it being apparent that the last two letters were part of the name, and the name itself being intelligible, and there being no indication or pretense that the deposition had been tampered with, the objection was overruled. Burleson v. Burleson, 28 T. 383.

The address on the envelope, "To the District Court," etc., instead of "To the Clerk of the District Court," is an immaterial error. Eakin v. Morris, 1 App. C. C. 883. The requirement of the indorsement on the envelope is directory only. Knoxville Fire Insurance Co. v. Hird, 23 S. W. 393, 4 C. A. 82.

Where attorneys prepared the envelope for returning depositions, the indorsements on it are made the notary's act by his adoption thereof in using it. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. St. Clair, 21 C. A. 345, 51 S. W. 666.

See this case for indorsements on envelope containing deposition held to be in substantial compliance with the law. Barber v. Geer, 26 C. A. 89, 63 S. W. 934.

The requirements of this article as to indorsements on the envelope are strictly statutory and are to be substantially complied with. Barber v. Geer, 94 T. 581, 63 S. W. 1008, 1009.

The indorsement on the envelope containing depositions held sufficient under Art. 3660. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Lyman, 27 C. A. 22, 65 S. W. 69.

Where the notary's name does not extend literally across the edge of the lap or cover forming the seal, yet does extend across and over that portion of the cover which contains the muclage forming the seal, it is literally "across the seal," as required by the statute. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Felker, 40 C. A. 604, 90 S. W. 531.

The return on a deposition envelope serves only to preserve the purity of the return and is properly for the court and not for the jury as evidence. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Walker, 48 C. A. 86, 106 S. W. 400.

Signature of witness.—The officer taking the deposition must certify that the witness signed and swore to the answers before him. Where the certificate recites that the witness was sworn by the officer before the interrogatories were propounded to him, and that his answers were reduced to writing, and subscribed and sworn to by him it is not sufficient. McFaddin v. Sims, 43 C. A. 598, 97 S. W. 336.

Use of previous answer to aid or influence witness.—It is the right of a party to ascertain from a witness what he knows about the case for his guidance in propounding interrogatories. But it is not proper for his answers to be first taken in writing, under oath or otherwise, and for them when so taken to be used to aid or influence him when he gives his deposition. Greening v. Keel, 84 T. 326, 19 S. W. 435.

Answer written by attorney.—It is gross irregularity for an attorney of a party to write the answers of a witness in his behalf; but where it is shown that there was no fraud or injury, the depositions will not be suppressed. Schunior v. Russell, 83 T. 83, 18 S. W. 484.

Failure to take answers of all witnesses as ground for suppression.—See notes under Art. 3676.

General interrogatories.—An interrogatory propounded to a witness whose deposition was sought, after stating the case, requested him to "state any fact within his knowledge that will assist the court in arriving at a correct and just conclusion of the case, as fully as though specially here inquired about." Held, that the question was not proper by reason of its generality, which practically deprived the opposing party of the benefit of a cross-examination. Railway Co. v. Whitaker, 68 T. 630, 5 S. W. 448.

In an action on a note, objections to interrogatories in a deposition as too general and practically depriving defendant of the right to cross-examine held properly overruled. Cator v. Chamberlain (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 196.

Time of hearing.—That depositions were not in fact taken on the day specified in the notice, held no ground for quashing the same. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams, 43 C. A. 549, 96 S. W. 1087.

Signature to interrogatories.—Though answers to interrogatories propounded to "Gerald M." were signed "G. C. M.," the deposition held not objectionable. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Walker, 25 C. A. 216, 60 S. W. 796.

Answers of a witness in a deposition held signed by him. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Denton, 29 C. A. 284, 68 S. W. 336.

Leading interrogatories.—Interrogatory in servant's deposition in action against master for injuries held not objectionable as leading and suggestive. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Baker, 35 C. A. 542, 81 S. W. 67.

Answer to interrogatories in general.—Striking out irresponsive answers, see notes under Art. 3678.

An answer to an interrogatory, asking for an explanation of the witness of a matter he had before testified to, is properly stricken out—the previous testimony not being offered in evidence. Pioneer Savings & Loan Co. v. Peck, 20 C. A. 111, 49 S. W. 160.

Deposition held admissible, though answers are not attached to commission. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Walker, 25 C. A. 216, 60 S. W. 796.

Adoption of answer of other witnesses.—If, in taking the deposition of two witnesses at the same time, the same interrogatories and cross-interrogatories be put to both of them, and one of them simply adopts and swears to the answers made by the other, the answers so made are the answers of both and of each of them, and are admissible in evidence as such. Howes' Heirs v. Rogers, 32 T. 213.

Adoption of answers in former deposition.—The depositions of a witness written out by the officer taking them, and properly returned after being sworn to and subscribed by the witness, may be read in evidence, though the answers be literally the same used by the same witness in a former deposition, and which were in the handwriting of the party to the suit at whose instance they were taken. Notice of such objection must be given before trial. Lundy v. Pierson, 67 T. 233, 2 S. W. 737; Bush v. Barron, 78 T. 5, 14 S. W. 238.

Suppression for defects.—See notes under Art. 3676.

Art. 3661. [2285] [2230] Interpreter.—The officer executing such commission shall have authority, when he shall deem it expedient, to summon and swear an interpreter to facilitate the taking of the deposition. [R. S. 1879, 2230.]

See Cavasos v. Gonzales, 33 T. 133; State v. Cardinas, 47 T. 250.

Necessity of swearing.—Suppression for failure to swear, see notes under Art. 3676.

The fact that the attorney of the party propounding interrogatories acted as an interpreter without being sworn was held immaterial, it appearing that the answers were correctly taken. Schunior v. Russell, 83 T. 83, 18 S. W. 484.

Art. 3662. [2286] [2231] Return of depositions.—Depositions may be returned to the court either by mail, by a party interested in taking the same, or by any other person; and the clerk or justice taking them from the postoffice shall indorse on them that he received them from the postoffice, and sign his name thereto. If sent otherwise than by mail, the person delivering them into court shall make affidavit before the clerk or justice that he received them from the hands of the officer before whom they were taken; that they have not been out of his possession since, and that they have undergone no alteration. [Act March 16, 1848, p. 106, sec. 16. P. D. 3729.]

Cited, Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 485.

Construction of former provision as to certificate of postmaster.—Where a postmaster signed by a clerk, it is presumed that the clerk was a deputy. Greenwood v. Woodward, 18 T. 1.

The indorsement by the postmaster need not be dated. Ballard v. Perry, 28 T. 347-363.

An objection that the postmaster failed to indorse on the deposition the name of the person from whom he received it is fatal. Laird v. Ivens, 45 T. 621.

A receipt of the postmaster not stating the name of the postoffice where the deposition was mailed, this appearing from the postmark, is sufficient. Anderson v. Rogge (Civ. App.) 28 S. W. 106.

Art. 3662, requiring the postmaster mailing a deposition to indorse thereon that he received it from the officer before whom the same was taken, is not repealed by Art. 3660, requiring the officer to certify on the envelope containing the deposition that he in person deposited the same in the mail, but the two sections are in force, and must be complied with. Wisegarver v. Yinger (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 925.

In view of Arts. 3660 and 3673, this provision is not restricted to depositions taken on oral examination, but is intended as a substitute for Art. 3662, and hence the indorsement of the postmaster is unnecessary. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley, 103 T. 79, 124 S. W. 90.

Under the statutes it is not now necessary that the envelope in which depositions are returned into court by mail should have indorsed thereon a certificate of the postmaster or his deputy that he received the same from the hands of the officer before whom they were taken. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Neaves (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1090.

Sufficiency of return.—Objection to depositions on the ground that they were not properly returned into court held not well taken. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Bell, 24 C. A. 579, 58 S. W. 614.

Art. 3663. Depositions by oral examination and answer.—The testimony of any witness by oral examination and answer may be taken in any civil cause in any of the district and county courts of this state, in any instance where depositions are now authorized by law to be taken. [Acts 1907, p. 187.]

Cited, Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 485.

Art. 3664. Notice of taking depositions, requisites of.—Ten days' notice must be first given in writing by the party, or his attorney, proposing to take such deposition, to the opposite party, or his attorney of record, which notice shall state the name of the witness and the time and place of the taking of his deposition; and, in all cases in rem, the person having the agency or possession of the property at the time of the seizure shall be deemed the adverse party until a claim shall have been put in. [Id.]

Cited, Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 485.

Art. 3665. Any person may be compelled to appear and answer; proviso where deposition taken at distance over 100 miles.—Any person may be compelled to appear and depose, as provided by this chapter, in the same manner as witnesses may be compelled to appear and testify in court; provided, that, when such depositions are to be taken at a point more than one hundred miles distant from the court where the suit is pending, the party to whom such notice is given may, by notice to the adverse party or his attorney, require the deposition to be taken upon commission and written interrogatories, unless the judge or court before whom said suit is pending shall, upon proper application, after notice, made either in term time or vacation, otherwise direct. [Id.]

Cited, Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 485.

Art. 3666. Service of notice, etc., noted on copy filed, etc.; commission to issue after ten days.—After the notice of taking depositions by oral examination and answer, provided for in the last preceding article, shall have been served, the party serving the same shall note on a true copy thereof the date and hour of such service, and upon whom served, the manner of service, and sign the same; and the party desiring such deposition shall file such true copy with the clerk of the court in which such cause is pending, with request for the issuance of a commission to take such deposition, whereupon said clerk shall, after the expiration of ten days from the date of the service of such notice, as noted on said true copy, issue a commission to take such deposition. [Id.]

Art. 3667. Commission, how styled, etc.; requisites of.—Such commission shall be styled, addressed, dated and tested as provided by articles 3656 and 3657 of this chapter, and shall authorize and require the officer or officers to whom the same is addressed, or either of them, to examine said witness before him on the date named in the notice and commission and to take his answers under oath to such questions as may be propounded to him by the respective parties, or their attorneys, to the suit or proceeding; and such commission shall require such witness to remain in attendance from day to day until such deposition is begun and completed. [Id.]

Art. 3668. Powers of officer taking depositions.—Said officer shall have the power and authority conferred by article 3658 as amended by this act, and article 3659, to enforce the attendance of the witness, and to compel him to testify. [Id.]

Cited, Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 485.

Art. 3669. Written cross-interrogatories may be filed.—If the party upon whom the notice is served shall desire to do so, he may file with the clerk of the court written interrogatories to the witness, a certified copy of which interrogatories shall be attached to the commission and answers thereto taken at the time of taking the oral testimony. [Id.]

Art. 3670. Witness to be cautioned and sworn, etc.—Every person deposing, as provided in this act, shall be first cautioned and sworn to testify the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. [Id.]

Application of statute.—The certificate of the officer taking depositions on written interrogatories propounded under the general statute need not show that the witnesses were first cautioned and sworn to testify to the truth; the statute relating thereto applying only to depositions taken under oral examination. Wisegarver v. Yinger (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 925.

Art. 3671. Examination, how conducted, reduced to writing, etc., and subscribed.—The witness shall be carefully examined, his testimony shall be reduced to writing or typewriting by the officer taking the deposition, or by some person under his personal supervision, or by the deponent himself in the officer's presence, and by no other person, and shall, after it has been reduced to writing or typewriting, be subscribed by the deponent. [Id.]

Cited, Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 485.

Art. 3672. Objections to testimony not to be sustained, etc., but recorded and reserved for court, etc.—The officer taking such deposition shall not sustain objections or exceptions to any of the testimony taken, nor exclude same; but any of the parties or attorneys engaged in taking the testimony may have such objections as they may make recorded with the testimony and reserved for the action of the court in which the cause is pending, and any such court shall not be confined to the objections made at the taking of the testimony. [Id.]

Cited, Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 485.

Art. 3673. Depositions certified and returned how; rules as to use, etc.—Such depositions shall be certified and returned by the officer taking the same, and opened as is provided in articles 3660, 3662 and 3674; and the same rules shall apply to the use of such deposition as are provided by articles 3675 to 3678, inclusive. [Acts 1907, p. 188.]

See Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley, 103 T. 79, 124 S. W. 90; Id. (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 485.

Art. 3674. [2287] [2232] Depositions opened.—Depositions, after being filed, may be opened by the clerk or justice at the request of either party or his counsel; and the clerk or justice shall indorse on such depositions upon what day and at whose request they were opened, signing his name thereto, and they shall remain on file for the inspection of either party. [Act May 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 77. P. D. 3741.]

Cited, Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley, 103 T. 79, 124 S. W. 90.

Art. 3675. [2288] [2233] Either party may use depositions, when.—When cross-interrogatories have been filed and answered, either party has the right to use the depositions on the trial. [Id. sec. 76. P. D. 3740.]

Cited, Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley, 103 T. 79, 124 S. W. 90.

In general.—A deposition taken in a case before intervention, subsequently admitted, but limited in its purpose to the original parties, cannot then be read in evidence by the intervener. Shields v. Ord (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 298.

Where a deposition was regularly taken on behalf of plaintiff, defendant held entitled to offer an answer which was responsive to a part of an interrogatory as evidence in their behalf. Everett v. Kemp (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 534.

Either party may use the deposition of a witness taken by the other. Compagnie Des Metaux Unital v. Victoria Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 651.

In view of this article, a deposition, when used by a party who did not take it, is his evidence just as much as if he had taken it and is subject to all objections. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Young (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1113.

In absence of cross-interrogatories.—A party who has not filed cross-interrogatories has no right to read a deposition when the party at whose instance the commission was issued has declined to read it. Norvell v. Oury, 13 T. 31; Harris v. Leavitt, 16 T. 340; Town of Refugio v. Byrne, 25 T. 193. And this rule is not changed by the fact that the interrogatories were propounded to several witnesses, and the depositions were taken and returned together, and the depositions of the other witnesses had been read by the party taking the testimony. Brandon v. McNelly, 43 T. 76.

The plaintiff having read a portion of the deposition of a witness, the defendant was entitled to read the remainder, although he had not filed cross-interrogatories. Ferguson v. Luce, 1 App. C. C. § 537.

Use for impeaching witness.—A party should not be permitted to introduce a deposition taken by the adverse party solely as a predicate for impeaching the witness. Compagnie Des Metaux Unital v. Victoria Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 651.

Incompetent evidence.—Either party can use a deposition when the interrogatories have been crossed; it seems that the declarations of a party can be introduced by himself when brought out by the other party in answer to his own interrogatories which he declines to read. King v. Russell, 40 T. 124.

The rule that, when interrogatories are crossed, either party may use the deposition, and defendant cannot object to answers to his questions, does not apply to incompetent evidence. First Nat. Bank v. Edwards (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 541.

Where plaintiff took the deposition of a witness calling by broad interrogatories for a certain statement supposed to have been made by defendant, plaintiff could not object to defendant's introduction of the deposition containing answers, responsive to the interrogatories and unfavorable to plaintiff and corroborative of defendant's evidence, on the ground that they were self-serving declarations. Evertson v. Warrach (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 514.

Art. 3676. [2289] [2235] Objections to depositions.—When a deposition shall have been filed in the court at least one entire day before the day on which the case is called for trial, no objection to the form thereof, or to the manner of taking the same, shall be heard, unless such objections are in writing and notice thereof is given to the opposite counsel before the trial commences; provided, however, that such objection shall be made and determined at the first term of the court after the deposition has been filed, and not thereafter. [Act May 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 78. Amend. 1893, p. 5. P. D. 3742.]

Cited, Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley, 103 T. 79, 124 S. W. 90; Harris Millinery Co. v. Melcher (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 100.

Application of article.—The above article applies also to depositions taken under Chapter 3, Title 40, of the Revised Statutes.

This article does not apply to depositions taken and filed before the amendment of 1893, nor to a motion to suppress which was also filed prior to such amendment. Mayton v. Sonnefeld (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 608.

Right to object.—Objections to depositions are governed by statute. Tewis v. Armstrong, 71 T. 59, 9 S. W. 134.

A party cannot object to the admission in evidence of a deposition taken at his instance without order of the court after the adverse party had taken the deposition of the same witness and the latter deposition had been read in evidence. Sexton Rice & Irrigation Co. v. Sexton, 48 C. A. 190, 106 S. W. 728.

Time for objection.—An objection to the answer to an interrogatory is not waived because not called to the attention of the court before the trial at a previous term. Clardy v. Callicoate, 24 T. 170.

A question and answer eliciting merely the conclusion of the witness as to a matter of opinion or of law may be objected to on the trial. Purnell v. Gandy, 46 T. 190. Objections to the answer of a witness as hearsay, secondary or irrelevant evidence may be made when the testimony is offered. Woosley v. McMahan, 46 T. 62.

Exceptions to depositions should be presented to the court for decision before announcing ready for trial. Allen v. Hoxey, 37 T. 320; Railway Co. v. Ivy, 71 T. 409, 9 S. W. 346, 1 L. R. A. 500, 10 Am. St. Rep. 758.

Objections to depositions for irrelevancy should be urged when the testimony is offered and not by motion to suppress. Lott v. King, 79 T. 292, 15 S. W. 231.

An objection to a deposition that the answer of the witness is not responsive to the question can only be raised by motion before announcement for trial. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Kuehn, 21 S. W. 58, 2 C. A. 210; Railway Co. v. Shearer, 1 C. A. 343, 21 S. W. 133.

A motion to suppress a deposition must be made before the announcement of "ready for trial" is made. Hill v. Smith, 25 S. W. 1079, 6 C. A. 312; Railway Co. v. Burke, 55 T. 323, 40 Am. Rep. 808; Coleman v. Colgate, 69 T. 88, 6 S. W. 553; Neyland v. Bendy, 69 T. 711, 7 S. W. 497.

Where depositions are taken and filed during a term of court, a motion to suppress may be made at the next term. McCown v. Terrell (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 54.

Nonresponsive answers in a deposition can be suppressed only on motion made before the trial. McFarlane v. Howell, 16 C. A. 246, 43 S. W. 315.

This article does not preclude parties impleaded with the deponent from objecting orally at any time to the reading as against them. Lumpkin v. Minor (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 66.

Objection that a statement in a deposition was not responsive to the interrogatory relates to the form, and must be made by motion to suppress, made before trial. Clafin v. Harrington, 23 C. A. 345, 56 S. W. 370.

Motion to suppress deposition must be made before trial. McGrew v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 63.

If the deposition has been on file for more than one entire day before the case is called for trial, and no written motion has been filed to suppress it, and notice thereof given to opposite counsel, it is error to entertain objection to form of taking the deposition. McMahon v. Veasey (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 333; Taylor, B. & H. Ry. Co. v. Warner (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 443.

The statute seems to contemplate that a motion to suppress a deposition shall be filed and determined at the first term of the court after the filing of the deposition. Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v. Davis, 24 C. A. 508, 60 S. W. 458.

Objection of defendant to interrogatories in deposition as leading, made on the trial of the cause, held too late. Gill v. First Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 146.

Refusal to sustain objections to depositions made on trial will not be sustained on appeal, in the absence of a showing that the depositions were not filed more than a day before the trial. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Williams, 26 C. A. 163, 62 S. W. 808.

Motion to quash deposition on ground that it was not properly returned into court comes too late after announcement of ready for trial. St. L. S. W. Ry. Co. v. Harkey, 39 C. A. 523, 88 S. W. 507.

A motion to strike out answers in a deposition comes too late if not made at the first term after the deposition is filed. Borden v. Le Tulle Mercantile Co. (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 128.

Objection to a deposition based on statutory requirements in filing interrogatories, issuance of commission taking and return of answers, or upon form of questions or failure of witness to answer, is to the manner of taking, and must be made before the trial of the case begins, and must be passed on at the first term of the court after the deposition is filed. Ellis v. Lewis, 45 C. A. 248, 100 S. W. 190, 191.

An objection that the answers of a witness testifying by deposition were not responsive to the questions, not made before trial on notice to the adverse party was not available on the trial. Kaack v. Stanton, 51 C. A. 495, 112 S. W. 702.

An objection to an answer to an interrogatory in a deposition held to go to the manner and form of taking the deposition, and the objection must be made before the trial commences. Kirby v. Blake, 53 C. A. 173, 115 S. W. 674.

Objections to the manner and form of taking deposition made when it is offered in evidence should be overruled. St. L., S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Adams, 55 C. A. 245, 118 S. W. 1157.

A party asking a question of a witness testifying by deposition is not estopped from objecting to the answer when the deposition is offered on the trial by the adverse party. Reed v. Holloway (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1189.

Objections to the manner and form of taking of depositions must be made in advance of the trial. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Haberlin, 104 T. 50, 133 S. W. 873.

Where the record fails to show that depositions were on file at least one day before trial, an assignment of error complaining of their exclusion on an objection to the manner and form of taking will be overruled. Beaty v. Yell (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 911.

An objection to a deposition held not to justify its suppression. Alamo Oil & Refining Co. v. Curvier (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1132.

A motion to suppress a deposition, considered as an objection to its admission as evidence, was premature where made before trial. Marshall & E. T. Ry. Co. v. Petty (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1195.

A motion to suppress depositions for defects in form, made after the parties had announced ready for trial and after the jury was impaneled, but before trial, was too late. Id.

An objection to the answer of a witness, contained in a deposition, as not responsive is waived, where not urged by motion filed before announcing ready for trial. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Trout (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1137.

In the absence of a showing to the contrary, it will be presumed that a deposition was filed before the case was called for trial, and hence that under this article an objection to the form and manner of taking it was properly overruled, because not presented by a motion to suppress. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Lacy (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 414.

Necessity of writing and notice.—The answer to a general written interrogatory to a witness to "state any other fact within his knowledge of interest to either party as fully and minutely as if specially interrogated thereto" is inadmissible if objected to in time, but if there be no written notice of objection before trial, the objection will be regarded as waived. Wade v. Love, 69 T. 522, 7 S. W. 225; Railway Co. v. Whitaker, 68 T. 330, 5 S. W. 448.

Objections to the form of interrogatories to a party must be in writing. Allerkamp v. Gallagher (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 372.

Motion to suppress deposition taken without notice to all defendants sustained, where there was a subsequent deposition taken of the same witness with notice. McCown v. Terrell (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 54.

Objections to depositions because the questions are leading go to manner and form of taking, and cannot be considered unless in writing. Hugo & Schmeltzer Co. v. Hirsch (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 163.

Answers to interrogatories other than those attached to a witness' deposition held properly excluded, without a written objection, and notice given before trial. Sparks v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 740.

An objection to answers in a deposition, is one that goes to the manner and form of taking, and can only be considered when presented in writing. Borden v. Le Tulle Mercantile Co. (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 128, 129.

The objection that an answer of witness was voluntary and not responsive to the interrogatory goes to the form of the deposition and manner of taking it, within this article, requiring such an objection to be in writing and to be given to the opposite party before commencement of trial. Henderson v. Louisiana & Texas Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 671.

Objections to the manner and form of taking of depositions must be made in writing. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Haberlin, 104 T. 50, 133 S. W. 873.

Where the receiving teller of a bank testifying by deposition stated that he had credited on the bank's books an amount in favor of a customer on a certain date and attached the customer's bank book to his deposition as an exhibit which showed the credit, an objection to the admission in evidence by the opposite party of the condition of the account on a subsequent date was an objection to the form and manner of taking the deposition, and under this article it could only be made in writing on notice before trial. W. T. Wilson Grain Co. v. Central Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 996.

Objections that interrogatories were leading, or that the answers of the witnesses were not responsive, cannot be considered, unless written. Ohio Pottery & Glass Co. v. Black (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 735.

An objection to a deposition, on the ground that it was not taken on notice to the adverse party, is an objection to the form and manner of taking the deposition, which under this article must be presented by a motion to suppress before the commencement of the trial. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Lacy (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 414.

Enumeration of objections.—The following objections must be made under this article: That the commission was issued within less than five days after the interrogatories were filed. Sheegog v. James, 26 T. 501. That the name and residence of the witness are not truly stated in the notice. Garner v. Cutler, 28 T. 175. That notice of the filing of interrogatories was not served. Grigsby v. May, 57 T. 255; Mann v. Mathews, 82 T. 98, 17 S. W. 927. That the answer of a witness is not pertinent to the interrogatory. Lee v. Stowe, 57 T. 444. But see Lindsay v. Jaffray, 55 T. 626. That the answer is evasive. Shelton v. Paul (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 172; Railway Co. v. Crowder, 70 T. 222, 7 S. W. 709. That the cross-interrogatories have not been fully answered. Scott v. Delk, 14 T. 341; Hopkins v. Clark, 20 T. 64; Lee v. Stowe, 57 T. 444; Mills v. Herndon, 60 T. 353; Leaoh v. Dodson, 64 T. 185. The question whether a deposition should be excluded because of the failure of a witness to answer a question is to a large extent left to the discretion of the court; it should not be excluded for any casual omission to answer an unimportant question. H. & T. C. R. R. Co. v. Shirley, 54 T. 125; Coleman v. Colgate, 69 T. 88, 6 S. W. 553. That an interrogatory is leading. Buford v. Bostick, 58 T. 63; Mills v. Herndon, 60 T. 353; Marx & Kempner v. Heidenheimer, 63 T. 304; Leach v. Dodson, 64 T. 185; Purnell v. Gandy, 46 T. 198; Lee v. Stowe, 57 T. 444; Lott v. King, 79 T. 292, 15 S. W. 231. An interrogatory that directs the witness to state anything that he may know beneficial to the party is objectionable. Allen v. Hoxey, 37 T. 322. An interrogatory requiring a witness to state "any other matter which would benefit either party to the suit" is too general and indefinite to admit the answer in evidence. Chinn v. Taylor, 64 T. 385. That the postmaster failed to indorse on the deposition the name of the person from whom he received the package. Laird v. Ivens, 45 T. 621. That the witness is described by a given name different from his true name. Jones v. Ford, 60 T. 127. The bill of exceptions to the exclusion of a deposition should state the grounds upon which the ruling is predicated. Harris v. Leavitt, 16 T. 340. Defects in the form of an interrogatory, or that the answer is irrelevant, is not a ground for the suppression of the deposition. Howard v. Metcalf (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 449; Lott v. King, 79 T. 292, 15 S. W. 231; Railway Co. v. Kuehn, 21 S. W. 58, 2 C. A. 210; Railway Co. v. Shearer, 1 C. A. 343, 21 S. W. 133.

Grounds of objection.—That the officer did not take the depositions of one or more witnesses named in the commission, without giving a reason for such omission, is not a valid ground for suppressing the depositions of the witnesses taken by him. Schunior v. Russell, 83 T. 83, 18 S. W. 484.

Where the several questions of an interrogatory cannot be separated and left as independent questions and answers without seriously affecting their import, and the form of the main questions is leading, the entire interrogatory is properly suppressed. Mayton v. Sonnefeld (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 608.

Where a notary taking depositions refreshed the memory of the witness with a memorandum made by plaintiff's attorney, the deposition should be suppressed. Rice v. Ward, 93 T. 532, 56 S. W. 747.

Where interrogatories were propounded to "Selia," and plaintiff took the deposition of "Celia," the court properly refused to suppress the deposition. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Sanchez (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 893.

That the answers in a deposition were reduced to writing by the witness held no ground for quashing the deposition. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Denton, 29 C. A. 284, 68 S. W. 336.

Depositions taken by a person before he has properly become a party to the suit are rightly suppressed, especially where there are nonresident defendants who have only been served by publication, and have not appeared. Riviere v. Wilkens, 31 C. A. 454, 72 S. W. 608.

The fact that a deposition was not marked "Filed" by the clerk did not furnish any reason for its exclusion; it having been duly taken and returned, and placed among the papers in the case. Fire Ass'n of Philadelphia v. Masterson (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 49.

Where the style of a case appeared in the body of a commission to take a deposition, that it was not indorsed with the number and style of the case and marked issued by the officer, was not cause for quashing the deposition. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Kennedy (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 653.

Defects in commission.—The fact that, within five days of the filing of direct interrogatories by defendant, the commission issued at the instance of plaintiff, held no ground for suppression. The Oriental v. Barclay, 16 C. A. 193, 41 S. W. 117.

Failure to place the seal of court on commission held a mere irregularity. Id.

That interrogatories addressed to "H. W." and "Mrs. H. W." were signed and sworn to by "H. W." and "Mrs. N. E. W.," was not ground for suppressing the depositions; it being shown that the signers were the persons to whom the interrogatories were actually propounded. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Morris (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 813.

Refusal to quash deposition held not ground for reversal. St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Skaggs, 32 C. A. 363, 74 S. W. 783.

A motion to suppress a deposition held properly overruled. Tarilton v. Orr, 40 C. A. 410, 90 S. W. 534.

Notice.—An objection to a deposition on the ground that the notice of the filing of the interrogatories was served on attorneys who had not at the time become attorneys of record goes merely to the manner and form of taking the deposition, and under Art. 3676, it must be presented by motion to suppress. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Sandy (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 498.

Disqualification of officer.—It is an objection to a deposition that the officer by whom it was taken was a surety on the bond for costs of the party offering the deposition in evidence. Floyd v. Rice, 28 T. 341. It is not an objection to a deposition that the officer by whom it was taken was interested with the party by whom the objection was made. Ballard v. Perry, 28 T. 347, 363.

The fact that a deposition was taken by a notary public who was subsequently employed as an attorney by the party in whose behalf it was taken does not authorize its suppression. Welborne v. Downing, 73 T. 527, 11 S. W. 501.

Deposition will not be suppressed because notary is attorney for plaintiff, where it does not appear that he sustained such relation when deposition was taken. McGrew v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 63.

Refusal to quash deposition, on the ground that it did not appear that the officer had authority to take it, held proper. Barber v. Geer, 26 C. A. 89, 63 S. W. 934.

The person before whom a deposition is taken for plaintiff being the attorney of the witness in an action of the same nature against the same defendant is disqualified; so that it is proper to suppress the deposition. Clegg v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1098.

— Certificate of officer.—A deposition cannot be quashed because the certificate was signed by the officer taking it without adding the name of his office. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 485.

Omission of a notary's seal from his certificate on an envelope inclosing depositions held not ground for suppressing the depositions. Wisegarver v. Yinger (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 1190.

— Failure to swear interpreter.—Failure to swear interpreter at taking of deposition, where the officer did not understand the language of the witness, held fatal to deposition. Davis v. Migliavaca, 16 C. A. 42, 41 S. W. 91.

— Failure of witness to answer, irresponsible answers, or failure to take answers of all witnesses.—When a party to a suit, in testifying by deposition taken at his own instance, declines to produce, in response to a cross-interrogatory, letters or documents in his possession which are called for by his adversary, on the ground that they are too voluminous, and not that they are irrelevant to the issue, the deposition should on motion be suppressed. Coleman v. Colgate, 69 T. 88, 6 S. W. 553.

A failure to take the answers of all the witnesses is not a ground for suppressing the deposition. Schunior v. Russell, 83 T. 83, 18 S. W. 484.

When a witness evades answering cross-interrogatories, his deposition should be suppressed. Railway Co. v. Green, 90 T. 257, 38 S. W. 31.

An answer held not so evasive or unresponsive as to justify suppressing the deposition. Dewalt v. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co., 22 C. A. 403, 55 S. W. 534.

Refusal to suppress a deposition for failure of the witness to fully answer an interrogatory held not an abuse of discretion. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Baumgarten, 31 C. A. 253, 72 S. W. 78.

A deposition should not be suppressed because an answer is irresponsible to an interrogatory, where it is responsive to a subsequent interrogatory. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Bell (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 56.

Answer to cross-interrogatory held responsive to the question, so as to furnish no ground for suppressing the deposition. Garner v. Risinger, 35 C. A. 378, 81 S. W. 343.

Where the failure to answer cross-interrogatories is urged as a ground for the suppression of the entire deposition, the cross-interrogatories must be shown to be material. Kirby Lumber Co. v. Chambers, 41 C. A. 632, 95 S. W. 607.

Deposition containing incomplete answers held to be suppressed on motion. W. R. Morris & Co. v. Southern Shoe Co., 44 C. A. 488, 99 S. W. 178.

Rule governing suppression of a deposition for the witness' failure to answer a question stated. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Davis, 53 C. A. 547, 116 S. W. 423.

Refusal to suppress a deposition because witness did not answer a cross-interrogatory held not an abuse of discretion. Id.

— Sufficiency, mode, and scope of objection.—Objection to testimony held not insufficient, as covering too much of the testimony. Wells-Fargo & Co.'s Express v. Waites (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 582.

It was not error to exclude testimony, impeaching a notary who had taken deposition used on the trial. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Long, 26 C. A. 601, 65 S. W. 882.

Where it was claimed that a deposition did not truthfully contain the evidence of the witness, the remedy of the opposite party was by motion to suppress, and not by introducing her as a witness and permitting her to change her testimony. Hord v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 33 C. A. 163, 76 S. W. 227.

Objection to testimony in deposition, not pointing out parts challenged, held properly overruled. Ward v. Cameron, 97 T. 466, 80 S. W. 69.

An objection to the admissibility of an answer in a deposition which has been suppressed held to raise no question on appeal. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Luther, 40 C. A. 517, 90 S. W. 44.

Certain objection held only to the manner and form of taking a deposition which should be made by a motion in writing to suppress. Wabash R. Co. v. Newton, Weller & Wagner Co. (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 992.

An objection to depositions that they are not responsive to the interrogatories is an objection to the manner and form of taking. Beaty v. Yell (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 911.

To pass on the admission of a deposition, there must be specific objection to something therein. Freeman v. Cleary (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 521.

A general objection to questions propounded to a witness testifying by deposition held properly overruled. Id.

An objection to a deposition held properly overruled, in the absence of evidence of the facts on which the objection is predicated. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Sandy (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 498.

Where a witness testified by deposition and a written objection to an entire interrogatory, and the answer thereto did not point out what part was objected to, and the greater part of the answer was admissible as a statement of facts within the personal knowledge of witness, the objection was properly overruled. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Brooks (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 619.

An objection to a deposition, because taken without notice to the adverse party, must be supported by competent evidence, unless the court judicially knows the facts. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Lacy (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 414.

— Withdrawal of deposition for correction.—The court may permit a deposition to be withdrawn and the certificate of the officer corrected. Creager v. Douglass, 77 T. 484, 14 S. W. 150; Price v. Horton, 4 C. A. 526, 23 S. W. 501.

Depositions may be withdrawn by leave of the court, to the end that formal defects may be amended. Wallace v. Byers, 14 C. A. 574, 38 S. W. 228.

Where depositions not properly returned by the officer taking them had not been tampered with, the court might permit their withdrawal for the correction of the irregularities, and then permit their use, on the officer making the required corrections. Gray v. Phillips, 54 C. A. 148, 117 S. W. 870.

Where a deposition was taken by the answers being taken in shorthand and afterwards transcribed, and there was a clerical error in transcribing the notes, correction thereof may be made after the deposition is returned into court and filed. Cleburne Electric & Gas Co. v. McCoy (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 534.

Trial of objections.—Questions of fact arising upon objections to a deposition will be tried by the court. Garner v. Cutler, 28 T. 175.

A deposition will not be excluded on account of interlineations and erasures, when it is apparent from the context and connection that they were made when the deposition was taken. Ballard v. Perry, 28 T. 347, 363.

Objection to the form or manner of taking a deposition may be heard and determined either before the trial commences or after. Coleman v. Colgate, 69 T. 89, 6 S. W. 553.

Evidence held to show collusion in taking of a deposition as a matter of law, and hence it was error for the court to submit such question to the jury. Avocato v. Dell'Ara (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 296.

Motion to quash deposition held to raise question of fact, authorizing court to receive testimony outside of what was shown by deposition itself or indorsement on envelope. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Harkey, 39 C. A. 523, 88 S. W. 506.

Depositions could not be suppressed on the ground that a motion to strike out was not passed upon at the term it was filed; the statute expressly authorizing that it be passed upon at the next term. Hartford Fire Ins. Co. v. Becton (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 474.

A party, believing that the answers of a witness testifying by deposition were not full enough, held required to procure a postponement of the case to enable him to procure a further deposition. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Douglass (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 488.

Waiver of objection.—Acceptance of notice to take depositions, to be used on a new trial, held a waiver of objections to its taking before a mandate of reversal of a former judgment was filed. Caffey's Ex'rs v. Cooksey, 19 C. A. 145, 47 S. W. 65.

Conduct of defendant in opening envelope containing depositions and obtaining benefit of some of them held a waiver of any objection to the indorsement on the envelope. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Lyman, 27 C. A. 22, 65 S. W. 69.

The refusal to exclude an answer of a witness to a direct interrogatory held not error under the facts. Kirby Lumber Co. v. Chambers, 41 C. A. 632, 95 S. W. 607.

Certain exceptions held insufficient to allow a witness' testimony in a deposition to be questioned. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Landry (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 848.

Where defendant in an action for personal injuries introduces a deposition of plaintiff taken before the trial, it thereby waives all objection to the testimony. Freeman v. Grashel (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 695.

Reception of evidence by deposition will not be reviewed on appeal, where no objection, motion to strike, or exception was taken to its introduction at the trial. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Dinwiddie (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 280.

Art. 3677. [2290] [2236] Depositions to be read in evidence, subject, etc.—Depositions may be read in evidence upon the trial of any suit in which they are taken, subject to all legal exceptions which might be made to the interrogatories and answers, were the witness personally present before the court giving evidence. [Act March 16, 1848, p. 106, sec. 17. P. D. 3733.]

See Hendricks v. Huffmeyer, 15 C. A. 93, 38 S. W. 523; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley, 103 T. 79, 124 S. W. 90.

In general.—A party in reading the depositions of a witness to the jury omitted to read certain accounts attached thereto as exhibits, and the court properly instructed the jury that they should consider such accounts in connection with the answer of the witness referring to them. Pridgen v. Hill, 12 T. 374.

Witness stated that there was no general reputation as to a boundary line. Following this answer are the words: [Witness did not understand the first part of interrogatory 10. N. P.] He now says that it was generally understood in the neighborhood that the west line of said surveys was where the line now runs. It was held not error to read the entire answer including that within brackets. Kuechler v. Wilson, 82 T. 638, 18 S. W. 317. Exhibits should be read in connection with the matters to which they relate. Pridgen v. Hill, 12 T. 374.

A person taking a deposition cannot read incompetent evidence on cross-examination where the evidence in chief in relation to the matter was excluded. McCutchen v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 177.

An answer to an interrogatory asking for an explanation of what the witness had before testified to, the previous testimony not being offered in evidence, is properly stricken out. Pioneer Savings & Loan Co. v. Peck, 20 C. A. 111, 49 S. W. 160.

Introduction of depositions, after overruling of defendant's motion to suppress, to contradict defendant's testimony, held prejudicial error. Avocato v. Dell'Ara (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 296.

Deposition for which proper predicate had not been laid held properly excluded. Campos v. State, 50 Cr. R. 102, 95 S. W. 1042.

Failure to show an abuse of discretion in the admission of one deposition of a witness rather than another held to require an overruling of an assignment of error based thereon. Davis v. Davis, 44 C. A. 238, 98 S. W. 198.

On an issue whether an insurance agent was authorized to receive payment of second premiums, testimony of insurer's bookkeeper on cross-interrogatories as to collections made and accounted for by the agent held properly admitted as against objection that the testimony did not show that the collections made were not first premiums. American Nat. Ins. Co. v. Collins (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 554.

Even though it were permissible, in offering the deposition of plaintiff's wife in evidence, to show that she was unable to attend court on account of sickness, such proof should not have gone into details by showing that she previously had two surgical operations performed and been in the hospital. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Sullivan (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 193.

Witness present at trial.—The fact of the presence of a witness in court furnishes no grounds for the rejection of her deposition. Schnick v. Noel, 64 T. 406; O'Connor v. Andrews, 81 T. 28, 16 S. W. 628; Railway Co. v. Renken, 15 C. A. 229, 38 S. W. 829.

When a witness is in attendance upon court, and is held under the rule during the trial of the cause, his deposition formerly taken cannot be read. McClure v. Sheek's Heirs, 68 T. 426, 4 S. W. 552.

The deposition of a party may be read although he is present at the trial. Cannon v. Sweet (Civ. App.) 28 S. W. 719.

When witnesses have been examined orally by both parties, their depositions taken on ex parte interrogatories should be excluded, there being no material difference in the depositions from the testimony on the trial. Willis v. Moore (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 691.

That the deposition of a witness present at the trial was read is an immaterial error, no prejudice being shown. Railway Co. v. Gormley (Civ. App.) 35 S. W. 488.

The fact that a party interested was present when the deposition was taken is not ground for excluding it. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. McKenzie (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 831.

The court may admit the deposition of a witness who is present at the trial. Id.

It is within the discretion of the court to allow a deposition of a witness who is present to be read. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Burnett (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 314.

The practice of allowing witness' deposition to be read after he has testified is largely in the discretion of the trial court. Wilson v. Wilson, 35 C. A. 192, 79 S. W. 839.

The deposition of a witness was not rendered inadmissible by the fact that when it was offered the witness had been sworn and was present in court and under the rule, it being discretionary with the trial judge to admit the deposition. Fire Ass'n of Philadelphia v. Masterson (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 49.

Persons as against whom deposition may be used.—A deposition cannot be used as evidence against those not parties to the suit when it was taken. Dalsheimer v. Morris, 28 S. W. 240, 8 C. A. 268.

The filing of a plea of intervention, and the raising of new issues thereby, does not render previously taken depositions incompetent. Caffey's Ex'rs v. Cooksey, 19 C. A. 145, 47 S. W. 65.

A grantor's depositions held admissible in an action for the recovery of land brought by him and revived by his heirs after his death. Cummings v. Moore, 27 C. A. 555, 65 S. W. 1113.

The adoption by plaintiffs of allegations in a petition filed in their names, but without their authority, held not to constitute a ratification by them of the unauthorized institution of the suit in their names so as to authorize the use of depositions previously taken by defendant. Rogers v. Tompkins (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 379.

Depositions taken in a cause are not admissible in a subsequent cause as against one not a party to that in which they were taken. Parlin & Orendorff Co. v. Vawter, 39 C. A. 520, 88 S. W. 407.

A deposition taken, when a person was not a party to the suit, is not admissible against him, but is admissible against those who were then parties. Flores v. Hovel (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 606.

A deposition held not admissible against one who was not a party at the time it was taken. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Woldert Grocery Co. (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1194.

Papers attached to deposition.—Documents attached to a deposition which are competent evidence themselves may be detached and taken by the jury in their retirement. Davis v. M., K. & T. Ry. Co., 17 C. A. 199, 43 S. W. 44.

Exhibit, referred to by witness in his deposition as attached to deposition taken in another suit, held admissible in suit at bar. Pope v. Anthony, 29 C. A. 298, 68 S. W. 521.

Former suit.—Deposition taken in one suit cannot be used in evidence in another, against objection. People's Nat. Bank v. Mulkey, 94 T. 395, 60 S. W. 754.

Deposition, taken in another case in which the parties and issues were substantially the same, cannot be used in evidence. People's Nat. Bank v. Mulkey (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 528.

Where two suits, subsequently consolidated, were intimately connected in subject-matter, and the parties were the same, it was not error to permit a deposition, taken in one of the causes before consolidation, to be used in the consolidated cause. Kothman v. Faseler (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 390.

Part of deposition.—When the court excludes part of an answer in a deposition, the party need not offer the rest, and hence he cannot complain of its admission. Heintz v. O'Donnell, 17 C. A. 21, 42 S. W. 797.

Where a party introduces a part of witness' answer to a question in a deposition, the opposite party is entitled to have the balance of it, relating to the same subject, go to the jury. Birge-Forbes Co. v. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co., 53 C. A. 55, 115 S. W. 333.

Where a party introduced a portion of an answer to an interrogatory put to a witness testifying by deposition, the adverse party could introduce other portions of the answer explanatory of the part introduced. Yates v. Billings (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1130.

Cross-interrogatories.—In an action for injuries, answers to direct interrogatories in the deposition of a witness held a sufficient predicate for the introduction of answers to certain cross-interrogatories. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Baumgarten, 31 C. A. 253, 72 S. W. 78.

Irresponsive answers.—An irresponsive answer to a cross-interrogatory in a deposition held inadmissible. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Ritter, 16 C. A. 482, 41 S. W. 753.

Competency of witness.—Where plaintiff's incompetency when she conveyed the land in question and at the time of trial were the controlling issues in a suit to set aside a deed, her ex parte deposition taken as a party to the suit was inadmissible. Holland v. Riggs, 53 C. A. 367, 116 S. W. 167.

Ex parte interrogatories.—The court held not to have erred in permitting defendant to introduce the answers to certain ex parte interrogatories propounded to defendant in a deposition. Couturie v. Roensch (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 413.

Quashed deposition.—Where a deposition had been suppressed on formal motion before trial, it was error to admit it in evidence while the order suppressing it had not been set aside. Long v. Fields, 31 C. A. 241, 71 S. W. 774.

A deposition, quashed because wrongfully taken, was inadmissible to show that the party had resorted to improper means to procure and color testimony. Joy v. Liverpool, London & Globe Ins. Co., 32 C. A. 433, 74 S. W. 822.

Time of taking as affecting admissibility.—Depositions of physicians as to injuries sustained by a plaintiff in a railway accident held admissible, though taken five years before the trial. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Dalwigh (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 527.

Art. 3678. [2291] [2237] Matter not responsive stricken out.—If any deposition shall contain any testimony not pertinent to the direct and cross-interrogatories propounded, such matter shall be deemed surplusage, and may be stricken out by the court upon objection thereto. [Act May 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 73. P. D. 3732.]

Responsiveness of interrogatories.—Reply of witness to interrogatory in a deposition held a sufficient answer thereto, and motion to quash, therefore, properly refused. Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v. Davis, 24 C. A. 508, 60 S. W. 453.

A question to an officer taking a deposition held such that it should be construed as referring to the manner of answering the interrogations. Shannon v. Marchbanks, 35 C. A. 615, 80 S. W. 860.

Where a witness examined by deposition attached certain letters as requested, a voluntary explanation thereof not in response to any interrogatory should have been excluded. Central Texas Grocery Co. v. Globe Tobacco Co., 45 C. A. 199, 99 S. W. 1144.

The answer of a witness testifying by deposition held responsive to the interrogatories. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Arthur (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 213.

Defendant may not have stricken from a deposition an answer because not fully answering the question asked by plaintiff. Henderson v. Louisiana & Texas Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 671.

In answer to an interrogatory in a deposition as to the effect on their salability as to keeping cattle confined in cars longer than necessary, that it caused extra shrinkage and damaged their appearance and selling value, and that this was especially true of calves, which could not stand as much as grown cattle, was not objectionable as not responsive. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Gray (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 728.

CHAPTER THREE

DEPOSITIONS OF PARTIES

Art. 3679. Party may take his own deposition.	Art. 3683. Taken and returned as other depositions.
3680. May take deposition of adverse party.	3684. Answer may embrace what—contradiction of.
3681. Where either party is a corporation no ex parte depositions.	3685. Refusal to answer, etc.
3682. Not necessary to give notice, etc.	3686. Objection to interrogatories, etc.

Article 3679. [2292] [2238] Party may take his own deposition.—The deposition of either party to a suit, who is a competent witness therein, may be taken in his own behalf in the same manner and with like effect with the depositions of other witnesses.

Against whom admissible.—Ex parte depositions of one of the members of a firm defendant held not admissible, as against a co-defendant who had no notice of the taking thereof, or opportunity to file cross-interrogatories. Thomson v. Hubbard, 22 C. A. 101, 53 S. W. 841.

An ex parte deposition of one defendant is not admissible against his codefendant, where the latter had no opportunity to file cross interrogatories. Veck v. Culbertson (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 1114.

In what actions admissible.—Deposition of a decedent, taken while an action for injuries caused by defendant's negligence was pending in his name, held admissible on the trial of the action by his children, claiming damages for his death or for the injuries sought to be recovered by the decedent. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hengst, 36 C. A. 217, 81 S. W. 832.

Examination.—In taking the ex parte deposition of a party to the suit, no answers of the witness can be taken by the officer, except those made to the questions which accompany (or are attached to) the commission. Sparks v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 742.

Transactions with decedent.—The depositions of a defendant as to his transactions with a decedent cannot be taken by himself in a suit in which the widow of such decedent is the plaintiff suing as the representative of the community estate. Gurley v. Clarkson (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 360; Parks v. Caudle, 58 T. 216; Newton v. Newton, 77 T. 510, 14 S. W. 157; Harrill v. Houston, 66 T. 280, 17 S. W. 731.

Art. 3680. [2293] [2239] May take deposition of adverse party.—Either party to a suit may examine the opposing party as a witness, upon interrogatories filed in the cause, and shall have the same process to obtain his testimony as in the case of any other witness; and his examination shall be conducted and his testimony received in the same manner and according to the same rules which apply in the case of any other witness, subject to the provisions of the succeeding articles of this chapter. [Act Feb. 15, 1858, p. 110, sec. 3. P. D. 3754.]

Cited, Railway Co. v. Nelson, 24 S. W. 588, 5 C. A. 387.

Bill of discovery.—These provisions of the statute take the place of the bill of discovery in equity practice. Love v. Keowne, 58 T. 191.

Since the enactment of Art. 3689, giving a party the right to examine opposite parties as witnesses to procure information for maintaining an action or defense, the equitable doctrine of discovery has no application. Hamner v. Garrett (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 1058.

Executors and administrators.—Executors and administrators are within the meaning of the statute. Blackman v. Green, 17 T. 322; Love v. Keowne, 58 T. 191.

Sufficiency of interrogatories.—Interrogatories under this article must be framed so as to distinctly embody the fact desired to be proved. Church v. Waggoner, 78 T. 200, 14 S. W. 581.

The exclusion of the deposition of a party taken at the instance of the adverse party held erroneous, though the testimony in the deposition related to a transaction between the party and a deceased person under whom the adverse party claimed. Ivy v. Ivy, 51 C. A. 397, 112 S. W. 110.

Effect of objection of deponent to admission.—The deposition of a party, having been taken under the statute at the instance of his adversary, may be introduced in evidence over the latter's objection. Kruger v. Spachek, 22 C. A. 307, 54 S. W. 295.

Examination.—The examination of a party to a suit by written interrogatories is made as would be the examination of any other witness, except that a leading question may be put. A railway company was sued for damages for personal injuries alleged to have been inflicted through the negligence of the company's employes. The defendant, interrogating the plaintiff by written interrogatory, asked, "Describe minutely how the accident occurred; was it not your own fault and negligence?" Held, that the question was improper, and the party could properly refuse to answer it. H. & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Reason, 61 T. 613.

Diligence.—The same diligence should be used in obtaining the testimony of the adverse party as that of any other witness. McMillan v. Croft, 2 T. 397; Hipp v. Robb, 7 T. 67; Frosh v. Holmes, 8 T. 29.

Explanation of deposition at trial.—See notes under Art. 3686.

Art. 3681. Where either party is a corporation, no ex parte depositions.—Where either party to any suit is a corporation, neither party thereto shall be permitted to take ex parte depositions. [Acts 1897, p. 117.]

Constitutionality of act.—This act is not unconstitutional. It places parties on an equality in matters wherein before they had not been on equal footing. Railroad Co. v. Stuart (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 799.

This act is constitutional. Railroad Co. v. Stewart, 92 T. 540, 50 S. W. 335.

Effect of ex parte deposition.—Ex parte depositions in a suit wherein a corporation is a party, though not taken according to law are admissible as admissions. G., H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 8.

Art. 3682. [2294] [2240] Not necessary to give notice.—It shall not be necessary to give notice of the filing of the interrogatories or to serve a copy thereof on the adverse party before a commission shall issue to take the answer thereto, nor shall it be any objection to the interrogatories that they are leading in their character. [Acts Feb. 15, 1858, p. 110, sec. 3.]

Art. 3683. [2295] [2241] Taken and returned as other depositions.—A commission to take the answers of the party to the interrogatories filed shall be issued by the clerk or justice, and be executed and returned by any authorized officer as in other cases. [Id.]

Art. 3684. [2296] [2242] Answer may embrace, what; contradiction of.—The party interrogated may, in answer to questions propounded, state any matter connected with the cause and pertinent to the issue to be tried; and the adverse party may contradict the answers by any other competent testimony in the same manner as he might contradict the testimony of any other witness. [Id. sec. 4. P. D. 3755.]

In general.—A deposition taken without notice will not be suppressed on the ground that the party taking the testimony was present and aided the notary taking the answers by reading the interrogatories. Parker v. Chancellor, 73 T. 475, 11 S. W. 503.

Answers.—The plaintiff, in answer to an interrogatory whether he had not agreed to receive a certain sum of money in full satisfaction of his demands, replied that he had done so upon certain conditions which had not been performed. Held, that having failed to state what the conditions were, or to prove them, his admission stood without qualification. Hughes v. Prewitt, 5 T. 264.

A party admitting the correctness of the account of the adverse party has a right to state such matters as are essential to his defense to prove that, though the account was just, yet that it had been paid or otherwise compensated. McCorkle v. Lawrence, 21 T. 731.

If a party admits a fact closely connected with another, concerning which he is not directly interrogated, but which tends to a defense against the fact admitted, he may state the latter in connection with the former. Foster v. Spear, 22 T. 226; Sacra v. Stewart, 32 T. 185; Hammond v. Hough, 52 T. 63.

The defendant, having admitted that he had discharged the plaintiff who was suing for the value of his services, was permitted to state the reasons for his having done so. Herbert v. Butterworth, 23 T. 250.

A statement in the defendant's answer, that his creditors pressed him because the plaintiff had closed his store by a writ of sequestration, is objectionable for irrelevancy, where the question sought to elicit facts entirely antecedent to the closing of the store. Clardy v. Callicoate, 24 T. 170.

Evidence tending to prove repair of track at the place where a wreck and injury occurred, after its occurrence, is admissible to rebut evidence that the track was used after the wreck without being repaired. Fordyce v. Withers, 1 C. A. 540, 20 S. W. 766.

A witness on cross-examination (testimony by depositions) was asked: "If in answer to any of the direct interrogatories you have stated anything as to the speed the train was running at the time of the wreck, state how you know, and state particularly what attention you paid to the speed of the train." On motion to suppress, the answer of the witness, "and all were nervous, apprehensive, and the effects and sensations were those of very great speed, and what seemed to me reckless speed," held responsive to the interrogatory, and proper. The witness had stated, in answer to direct interrogatories, that "the train was running at forty or fifty miles an hour." G., H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Wesch, 85 T. 594, 22 S. W. 957.

A party interrogated under the above article may state any facts connected with the cause and pertinent to the issue. Heintz v. O'Donnell, 17 C. A. 21, 42 S. W. 797. Answer to interrogatory held vague and indefinite and its exclusion sustained. Jordan v. Young (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 762.

Where part of an answer to an interrogatory is impertinent, the court may exclude such part and admit the balance. Sherman Oil & Cotton Co. v. Dallas Oil & Refining Co. (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 961.

The witness may, after he has answered the interrogatories propounded to him, state any matter connected with the cause and pertinent to the issues to be tried in answer to questions propounded to him by his attorney present at the taking of the deposition. Sparks v. Taylor, 99 T. 411, 90 S. W. 488, 489, 6 L. R. A. (N. S.) 381.

Art. 3685. [2297] [2243] Refusal to answer, etc.—If the party interrogated refuses to answer, the officer executing the commission shall certify such refusal; and any interrogatory which the party refuses to answer, or which he answers evasively, shall be taken as confessed. [Id. sec. 5. P. D. 3756.]

Time for consultation with attorney.—A witness is not entitled to time for preparation or to get advice about his answers. Parker v. Chancellor, 73 T. 475, 11 S. W. 503.

A party interrogated is entitled to reasonable time to consult his attorney before answering. Robertson v. Melasky, 84 T. 559, 19 S. W. 776; McLaughlin v. Carter, 13 C. A. 694, 37 S. W. 666.

A party interrogated is entitled to reasonable time for consultation with his attorney. A certificate of refusal to answer, when such reasonable time was not allowed, should be suppressed. Wofford v. Farmer, 90 T. 651, 40 S. W. 788.

Taking interrogatories as confessed.—Where there are several defendants, and interrogatories pertinent to the issues have been propounded to one of them and have not been answered, they may be taken as confessed as to such defendant. Teas v. McDonald, 13 T. 349, 65 Am. Dec. 65.

When the answers to interrogatories propounded to a party have been stricken out as evasive and impertinent the court refused to permit him to make new answers. Teas v. McDonald, 13 T. 349, 65 Am. Dec. 65. When the answer is evasive the interrogatory will be taken as confessed. Wells v. Groesbeck, 22 T. 429.

When an interrogatory is taken as confessed by reason of the refusal of the party to answer, it will be construed in connection with the pleadings to determine the effect of the refusal in evidence. Friend v. Miller, 62 T. 177.

It is only in case of a deliberate refusal to answer by the party to whom interrogatories are propounded by the adverse party that the interrogatories will be taken as confessed. It is not intended that the certificate of the officer should be conclusive. Bounds v. Little, 75 T. 316, 12 S. W. 1109; Railway Co. v. Winder (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 715.

An answer apparently evasive may be explained by the party and the order taking the question as confessed be set aside. Norton v. Davis, 83 T. 32, 18 S. W. 430.

The request of a party interrogated for time to consult his attorney, with an offer the next day to answer, followed by a willingness to answer on the trial, are reasons sufficient to require the certificate of the officer of refusal to be set aside as well as the order taking the interrogatories as confessed. Robertson v. Melasky, 84 T. 559, 19 S. W. 776; Parker v. Chancellor, 73 T. 475, 11 S. W. 503.

A party refusing to answer interrogatories cannot testify at the trial as to matters embraced in the interrogatories. Railway Co. v. Nelson, 24 S. W. 588, 5 C. A. 387.

Refusal of court to compel plaintiff to answer interrogatories filed by defendant held not an abuse of discretion. Wofford v. Farmer, 90 T. 651, 40 S. W. 788; Id. (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 739.

Where plaintiff refused to answer interrogatories propounded before trial, and they were taken as confessed, he could not give testimony disproving the answers so confessed. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hamilton, 17 C. A. 76, 42 S. W. 358.

One refusing to answer interrogatories before trial has the burden to show good reason therefor. Id.

Where motion to suppress notary's certificate of witness' refusal to testify is denied and on the trial an objection to the introduction of the certificate is overruled and witness is not allowed to testify, if on appeal none of the evidence heard on the motion to suppress is in the record, then in the absence of such evidence, the denial of the motion to suppress and refusal to allow witness to testify cannot be held error as it is presumed that there was evidence to justify court's ruling. Weinert v. Simmang, 29 C. A. 435, 68 S. W. 1011.

Defendants' refusal to answer interrogatories held not willful or contumacious, and the court properly vacated notary's certificate, and refused to allow plaintiff to read the interrogatories as confessed. Donaldson v. Dobbs, 35 C. A. 439, 80 S. W. 1084.

Evasive answers to interrogatories held not ground for taking the interrogatories as confessed, where there was no deliberate refusal to answer. Baldwin v. Richardson, 39 C. A. 406, 87 S. W. 746.

The overruling of plaintiff's motion to take as confessed ex parte interrogatories propounded to defendant held not error. Sanborn v. Bush, 41 C. A. 24, 91 S. W. 883.

Lower court's discretionary action in refusing to take as confessed certain interrogatories in a deposition held not to warrant reversal in the absence of a showing of prejudice. Davis v. Davis, 44 C. A. 238, 98 S. W. 198.

Where a witness refuses to answer an interrogatory and the notary formally certifies the refusal the question is to be taken as confessed, and the court has no right to refuse to take the refusal to answer as a confession on the ground of the ignorance of the witness, and that he did not know or realize the effect of his refusal to answer. Locust v. Randle, 46 C. A. 544, 102 S. W. 947.

Where a party fails or refuses to answer ex parte interrogatories without any excuse, the party propounding them is entitled to read to the jury such of them as are in form to be confessed. It is not necessary in such a case to file a motion before trial to have the interrogatories taken as confessed, and by filing such motion one does not waive his right to have them taken as confessed. Lyon v. Files, 50 C. A. 630, 110 S. W. 1000.

Evidence of defendant's failure to answer cross-interrogatories held admissible to contradict his general statements. Levy v. Goldsoll (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 420.

Contempt.—Where the deposition of an opposing party is sought to be taken and he comes before the officer and refuses to answer the interrogatories the officer is without authority to fine and imprison the recusant witness as for contempt. Ex parte Johnson, 54 Cr. R. 113, 111 S. W. 743.

Art. 3686. [2298] [2244] Objections to interrogatories, etc.—The party interrogated may, upon the trial of the case, take exception to the interrogatories on the ground that they are not pertinent, and to the answers that they are not competent evidence.

Time for objection.—When a party gives a sufficient reason for refusal to answer an interrogatory he will be permitted to testify in relation thereto on the stand. Jackson v. Munford, 74 T. 104, 11 S. W. 1061; Bounds v. Little, 75 T. 316, 12 S. W. 1109; Dunham v. Simon, 1 U. C. 548.

A general interrogatory not indicating the subject-matter of the inquiry may be objectionable on that account, but such objection must be made before the trial. G., C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Richards, 83 T. 204, 18 S. W. 611.

Explanation of deposition.—A party, when a witness, may explain testimony in ex parte deposition taken by adverse party, though it was unambiguous. Goodbar Shoe Co. v. Sims (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 1065.

The deposition of a party taken by the opposing party may be explained by the witness on the trial. Smith v. Olsen, 92 T. 181, 46 S. W. 631.

Reading part of deposition.—A party may read any admission of the adverse party contained in a deposition taken ex parte, without being compelled to read the whole. Watson v. Winston (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 852.

CHAPTER FOUR

GENERAL PROVISIONS

Art. 3687. Common law rules of evidence.	Art. 3694. Copies of records of public officers and courts to be prima facie evidence.
3688. Color or interest does not disqualify.	3695. Record of surveys as evidence.
3689. Husband or wife not disqualified, except, etc.	3696. Copies and certificates from certain officers are evidence.
3690. In actions by or against executors, etc., certain testimony not allowed.	3697. Notarial acts and copies thereof are evidence.
3691. Religious opinions, etc., do not disqualify.	3698. In suits against delinquent officers, transcript from comptroller's office is evidence.
3692. Printed statutes evidence, when.
3693. Certified copies of acts, etc., evidence.

- | | |
|---|---|
| Art. 3699. Copies of certain instruments prior to 1837 are evidence. 3700. Recorded instruments admitted in evidence without proof, when. 3701. Record books, certain, declared valid records, etc.; certified copies, effect of. 3702. Certified copies of deeds, etc., to land in Archer county, recorded in Jack county, when, etc., evidence when. 3703. Transcribed records, certified copies of, evidence, etc. 3704. Transcribed records, effect of. 3705. Certain abstracts of title evidence, when. | Art. 3706. Certified copy of instrument sued on is evidence, when. 3707. Certified copies from heads of departments, evidence. 3708. Assessment or payment of taxes may be proven, how. 3709. Rate of interest in this state presumed, unless, etc. 3710. Execution of notes and other instruments presumed, unless, etc. 3711. Evidence of appointment and qualification of executor, etc. 3712. Suit on sworn account. 3713. Records of corporation are evidence. |
|---|---|

Article 3687. [2299] [2245] Common law rules of evidence.—
 The common law of England as now practiced and understood shall, in its application to evidence, be followed and practiced by the courts of this state, so far as the same may not be inconsistent with this title or any other law. [Act Dec. 20, 1836. P. D. 3706.]

COMMON LAW RULES OF EVIDENCE

Introductory.

- I. Competency of evidence in general.
- II. Competency of witnesses.
- III. Demonstrative evidence.
- IV. Documentary evidence.
- V. Reception of evidence at trial.
- VI. Admissibility of evidence at former trial or in other proceeding.

Rule 1. Witness may be sworn and examined, how.

- I. Examination of witnesses in general.
- II. Credibility of witnesses.
- III. Impeachment and corroboration of witnesses.

Rule 2. Evidence is the means by which the issue is determined.

Rule 3. Admissibility of evidence a question for the judge.

Rule 4. The effect of evidence is a question for the jury.

Rule 5. Evidence must relate to facts in issue and to relevant facts.

Rule 6. Facts are relevant when so connected with a fact in issue as to form part of the same transaction or subject-matter.

Rule 7. A variance between the allegation in pleading and the evidence which misleads the adverse party is fatal.

Rule 8. The substance of the issue only need be proved.

Rule 9. The best evidence is to be produced.

Rule 10. Secondary evidence of the contents of a writing is admissible when the paper is in the hands of the opposite party and notice to produce it has been given.

Rule 11. When a written instrument is lost, destroyed or mutilated, or is out of reach of a subpoena duces tecum, secondary evidence is admissible.

Rule 12. The burden of proof lies on the party asserting a fact essential to his right of action or defense and put in issue by the pleadings of the adverse party.

- I. Presumptions in general.
- II. Presumptions on appeal or writ of error.
- III. Res ipsa loquitur.
- IV. Burden of proof in general.

V. Sufficiency of evidence to sustain burden of proof in first instance.

VI. General rules as to weight and sufficiency of evidence.

Rule 13. Public officers are what they are reputed to be.

Rule 14. The regularity of official acts is presumed.

Rule 15. Courts will, without proof, take notice of facts of a public or general nature.

Rule 16. Ancient wills, deeds and other instruments more than thirty years old, when offered in evidence, unblemished by alterations and coming from such custody as affords a reasonable presumption in favor of genuineness, with other circumstances of corroboration, will be admitted in evidence without proof of their execution.

Rule 17. The existence of a deed may be presumed from possession under claim of title corroborated by other circumstances.

Rule 18. A grant may be presumed in support of a just and legal claim from long and uninterrupted possession.

Rule 19. A fact may be inferred from the proved existence of a relevant fact in the absence of opposing evidence.

Rule 20. Parol or extrinsic evidence is generally inadmissible to contradict, vary or add to the terms of a written instrument.

Rule 21. Contemporaneous written agreements relating to the same subject are to be construed together and several distinct stipulations are to be construed so as to give effect to all. A prior or contemporaneous parol agreement consistent with and forming a part of the contract is to be construed with the written part thereof.

Rule 22. Where the meaning of the words in a written instrument are doubtful, it may be read in the light of surrounding circumstances, and parol evidence of custom and usage is admissible to show its meaning.

- Rule 23. Blanks in written instruments left for names may be filled, and the true dates when incorrect may be shown.
- Rule 24. Parol evidence is admissible to contradict the recital of payment in a deed, receipt, or other instrument, and to show the amount actually paid or the real consideration.
- Rule 25. Parol evidence is admissible to show that a written instrument is void for illegality, want or failure of consideration, or on account of fraud or mistake.
- Rule 26. Parol evidence is admissible to establish a trust or to show that a written instrument was intended as a mortgage, trust or conditional sale.
- Rule 27. Parol evidence is admissible to show that a deed was made for the benefit of another not named in it, or solely for the benefit of one of the parties named therein.
- Rule 28. A written instrument falling through fraud, accident or mistake either of matter of law or of fact, to represent the true agreement, or containing terms contrary to the common intention will be corrected or reformed in equity.
- Rule 29. Parol evidence is admissible to establish a separate oral agreement constituting a condition precedent to an obligation claimed to arise on a written agreement.
- Rule 30. Parol evidence is admissible to show that a written agreement has been rescinded, modified, extended or waived by a subsequent valid agreement.
- Rule 31. When the record leaves the fact in doubt, parol evidence is admissible to show that a judgment was not rendered on the merits.
- Rule 32. A recital in a deed binds the parties and their privies in suits founded upon such instrument or growing out of the transaction in which it is given.
- I. Creation and operation of estoppel in general.
- II. Estates and rights subsequently acquired.
- Rule 33. The admissions of a party or his agent are admissible in evidence when offered by the adverse party.
- I. Nature, form, and incidents in general.
- II. By parties or others interested in event.
- III. By grantors, former owners, or privies.
- IV. By agents or other representatives.
- V. Proof and effect.
- Rule 34. Declarations are generally inadmissible, but may be shown as a part of the res gestæ where made by a party or by third persons at the time when an act is performed and as part of the transaction.
- I. Declarations in general.
- II. Res gestæ.
- Rule 35. Hearsay is generally inadmissible, but it is competent evidence to prove pedigree, relationship, marriage, death, age, and boundaries.
- I. Admissibility of hearsay evidence in general.
- II. Pedigree, relationship, marriage, death, age, and boundaries.
- Rule 36. On questions of science or skill or trade, persons of skill or possessing peculiar knowledge in those departments are allowed to give their opinions in evidence.
- I. Mere conclusions generally not admissible.
- II. Subjects of opinions of nonexperts.
- III. Subjects of expert testimony.
- IV. Competency of experts.
- V. Examination of nonexperts.
- VI. Examination of experts.
- VII. Comparison of handwriting.
- VIII. Effect of opinion evidence.
- Rule 37. A party is estopped from denying a fact which he has directly and willfully, by his words or conduct, induced another to believe, and to act on the belief so as to alter his own previous condition, and who would be prejudiced if the admission of the fact was retracted.
- I. Nature and essentials of equitable estoppel in general.
- II. Grounds of estoppel.
- III. Persons affected.
- IV. Matters precluded.

INTRODUCTORY

- I. Competency of evidence in general.
1. Nature and source of evidence in general.
 2. Results of tests, examinations and experiments.
 3. Testimony by a witness as to his intent, motive or condition of mind.
 4. — Execution and delivery of contracts and conveyances.
 5. — Wrongful acts in general.
 6. — Negligence and contributory negligence.
 7. — Libel and slander.
 8. — Usury.
 9. — Good faith in general.
 10. — Fraud and misrepresentation.
 11. Testimony as to character or reputation.
 12. Evidence admissible by reason of admission of similar evidence of adverse party.
- II. Competency of witnesses.
13. Capacity in general.
 14. Knowledge or means of knowledge of facts, as affecting capacity.
 15. Age and maturity of mind.
 16. Unsoundness of mind.
 17. Obligation of oath.
 18. Infamy or conviction of crime.
 19. Examination of witness as to competency.
 20. Extrinsic evidence as to competency in general.
 21. Determination as to competency.
 22. Questions calling for answer tending to disgrace witness or subject him to prosecution.

II. Competency of witnesses—Cont'd.

23. Fiduciary or contract relations in general.
24. Communications to or advice by attorney or counsel.
25. — Relation of attorney and client.
26. — Professional character of employment or transaction.
27. — Subject-matter of communications or advice in general.
28. — Instructions as to will or conveyance.
29. — Mode or form of communications.
30. — Confidential character of communications or advice.
31. — Communications through or in presence or hearing of others.
32. Persons entitled to assert privilege.
33. Waiver of privilege.
34. Opinion and expert testimony.

III. Demonstrative evidence.

35. Identity.
36. Age.
37. Wounds and other injuries.
38. Compelling person injured to submit to examination by physicians.
39. Autopsy.
40. Weapons, missiles and other instruments.
41. Articles subject of or connected with controversy.
42. Duplicates, models and casts.
43. Writings submitted for comparison.
44. Experiments in court.

IV. Documentary evidence.

45. Particular statutory matters.
46. Admissibility of public or official records and certificates in general—Notice of view by jury.
47. — Maps.
48. — Laws.
49. — Ordinances.
50. — Judicial acts and records in general.
51. — Pleadings.
52. — Records of justices of the peace.
53. — Official records and reports in general.
54. — Tax deeds, records and receipts.
55. — Records and returns of surveyors.
56. — Records kept by United States officers in general.
57. — Minutes and memoranda.
58. — Official certificates.
59. — Patents for land.
60. — Record of conveyances and other private writings.
61. — Certificates of land commissioner.
62. Admissibility of transcripts and certified copies—Ancient instrument.
63. — Judicial records and proceedings in general.
64. — Of federal courts in state courts.
65. — Official documents, records and proceedings in general.
66. — Records and proceedings in land office.

67. — Records of conveyances and other private writings.
68. — Articles of incorporation.
- 69-71. Requisites of exemplification or certificate in general.
72. Admissibility of private writings and documents in general.
73. — Corporate records and proceedings.
74. — Rules.
75. Admissibility of conveyances, contracts and other instruments.
76. — Relation to matters in controversy in general.
77. — Recitals of fact in general.
78. — Death.
79. — Nature of instruments in general.
80. — Acknowledgment, signature and witnesses.
81. — Form and validity in general.
82. — Execution and proof.
83. — Record.
84. — Void instruments.
85. — Documents insufficient or incomplete when standing alone.
86. — Instruments executed in other state or country.
87. Admissibility of books of account.
88. — Character of books in general.
89. — Time books.
90. — Matters proper for book entries.
91. — By whom entries are made.
92. — Entries made from memoranda or other information.
93. — Purposes of proof in general.
94. — Persons bound in general.
95. — Evidence for party in general.
96. Admissibility of private memoranda and statements in general.
- 96½. — Abstracts.
97. — Items of property and value thereof.
98. Admissibility of letters, telegrams, and other correspondence.
99. Maps, plats, and diagrams.
100. Photographs.
101. — Physical appearance and identity of persons.
102. — Condition of premises.
103. Books and other printed publications.
104. — Law reports.
105. — Scientific and technical works.
106. — Mortality tables and tables of expectancy of life.
107. Compelling production of documents.
108. — Nature of document and relation to issue.
109. — Notice in general.
110. — Effect of failure to produce.
111. — Introduction by party producing document.
112. Authentication of documents—Public documents and records in general.

IV. Documentary evidence—Cont'd.

113. — Ordinances.
 114. — Judicial acts and records.
 115. — Part of judicial proceedings.
 116. — Examined copies of records.
 117. — Preliminary evidence for authentication in general.
 118. — Corporate acts, records and proceedings.
 119. — Conveyances, contracts and other writings in general.
 120. — Proof of authority to execute.
 121. — Unrecorded instruments.
 122. — Record as dispensing with proof of execution.
 123. — Instruments, and assignment, indorsement or guaranty thereof.
 124. — Writings collateral to issues.
 125. — Ancient instruments.
 126. — Form and sufficiency in general.
 127. — Corporate acts, records and proceedings.
 128. — Unwitnessed instruments and unauthorized attestation.
 129. — Attesting witnesses.
 130. — Handwriting.
 131. — Books of account.
 132. — Proof of handwriting in general.
 133. — Memoranda and statements.
 134. — Letters, telegrams and other correspondence.
 135. — Proof of handwriting.
 136. — Maps, plats and diagrams.
 137. — Photographs and other pictures.
 138. — Books and other printed publications.
 139. Determination of question of admissibility.
 140. Conclusiveness and effect.
 - 140½. — Use by adverse party.
 141. — Judicial and other records.
 142. — Private contracts and other writings.
 143. — Books of account.
 144. — Books and other printed publications.
 145. — Effect of introducing part of document or record.
 146. Estoppel by deed.
- V. Reception of evidence at trial.
147. Statutory matters as to conduct of trial.
 148. Necessity and scope of proof.
 149. — Matters of record in cause.
 150. — Matters not controverted at trial.
151. Introduction of documentary evidence.
 152. Placing witnesses under the rule.
 153. Offer of proof.
 154. — Showing grounds or purpose of admission.
 155. — Evidence admissible in part or for particular purpose.
 156. — Rulings on offers.
 - 156½. Conclusiveness of evidence on party introducing it.
 157. Presence of jury during offer or argument as to admission.
 158. Provisional or conditional admission.
 159. Presentation of evidence.
 160. Application of personal knowledge of jurors.
 161. Effect of admission of evidence.
 162. — Restriction to special purpose.
 163. Exclusion of improper evidence.
 164. Cumulative evidence in general.
 165. Number of witnesses.
 166. Withdrawal of evidence.
 167. Order of proof, rebuttal, and reopening case.
 168. Right to object to evidence.
 169. — Estoppel or waiver.
 170. Time for objection.
 171. Sufficiency and scope of objection.
 172. — General or specific.
 173. — Statement of grounds.
 174. — Scope and questions raised.
 175. — Evidence admissible in part.
 176. Motion to strike out—Grounds and purpose in general.
 177. — Necessity for motion.
 178. — Necessity of previous objection.
 179. — Time for motion.
 180. — Statement of grounds.
 181. — Evidence admissible in part.
 182. — Evidence elicited by party moving to strike out.
 183. Ruling or order.
 184. Effect of failure to object or except.
 185. Cure of error.
 186. Harmless error.
- VI. Admissibility of evidence at former trial or in other proceeding.
187. Grounds for admission in general.
 188. Death or disability of witness.
 189. Absence of witness.
 190. Nature of former proceeding.
 191. Opportunity for cross-examination.
 192. Identity of parties.
 193. Preliminary evidence.
 194. Mode of proof.

I. Competency of Evidence in General

1. Nature and source of evidence in general.—In a suit in the county court for the rent of land, the plaintiff claimed under an execution sale against the lessor subsequent to the lease. The plaintiff offered in evidence, to prove his right to the rents, the judgment against the lessor, execution thereon and sale thereunder, and the sheriff's deed, which was rejected on the ground that it raised the question of title to the land. Held, that the evidence was material and competent for the purpose of establishing plaintiff's right to recover the rent. Johnson v. Doss, 1 App. C. C. § 1075.

A judgment substituting the record of a deed alleged to have been destroyed, in which neither the grantor nor his heirs were parties, held void and incompetent to show such conveyance. Cook v. Roberson (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 866.

Declarations, made by defendant to witnesses relative to his cattle a few days before he sold them to plaintiff, and which witnesses at his direction communicated to plaintiff, held admissible against him in an action to rescind for his fraud. Cabaness v. Holland, 19 C. A. 383, 47 S. W. 379.

An insolvent buyer's testimony that a bank had tendered him assistance held inadmissible in an action to rescind a sale. Willis v. Strickland (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 159.

In action for failure to deliver message, evidence of declaration of company's agent at receiving point, made several days after delivery, as to transaction at point of delivery, held incompetent. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Gotcher, 93 T. 114, 53 S. W. 686.

Mandate of the supreme court entering judgment on reversal held competent evidence of the judgment in an action to revive. Carothers v. Lange (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 580.

In an action for ejection of a passenger, evidence that he had no money with which to pay fare was competent. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Cuniffe (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 692.

Testimony of a conductor that he did not station any one on the platform off which plaintiff fell and sustained injuries to notify passengers of the danger held competent. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 166.

On a trial for forgery, held proper to permit evidence that defendant, subsequent to his alleged marriage to the woman whose name was forged, claimed to be illegal, introduced another woman as his wife. Whittle v. State, 43 Cr. R. 468, 66 S. W. 771.

In an action for delay in delivering a telegram, testimony of a former manager of the company at the receiving point as to what he would have done under the circumstances held incompetent. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Pierce (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 920.

In an action for levying on exempt property, plaintiff's testimony that it would take $100 to recompense him held incompetent. Morris v. Williford (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 228.

In an action against a street railway company, an ordinance limiting the rate of speed of the car held competent to prove that its speed at the time of a collision was excessive. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Upson, 31 C. A. 50, 71 S. W. 565.

Certain evidence held competent to prove that certain tools were not on leased premises shortly after vacation thereof by lessee, in an action against the lessee to recover value of such tools. Cammack v. Rogers, 32 C. A. 125, 74 S. W. 945.

In action on policy, held competent to show company's knowledge of true state of title to property, after policy issued and before fire. Continental Fire Ins. Co. v. Cummings (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 378.

On an issue whether plaintiff was an actual settler on land involved on a certain date, certain testimony held competent. March v. Shaw (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 360.

In an action against a railroad for failure to place cattle guards at the points where the road entered plaintiff's premises, held, that testimony as to expenses incurred on account of the hire of additional help by plaintiff for the purpose of driving his stock across defendant's right of way was competent and material. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wetz, 38 C. A. 563, 87 S. W. 373.

In an action for damages for fraudulent representations as to the solvency and prosperity of a corporation whereby plaintiff was induced to purchase stock therein certain evidence held competent to show that the corporation was not solvent. Collins v. Chipman, 41 C. A. 563, 95 S. W. 666.

In an action for fraudulent representations whereby plaintiff was induced to purchase corporate stock, it was competent to prove by defendant, who was president of the corporation, how the business of the corporation was managed and the amount of salary paid to its officers. Id.

In an action for damages for false representations inducing plaintiff to purchase corporate stock, certain evidence relative to the earning power of the corporation held competent. Id.

Where, in an action for deceit of defendant's agent, there was evidence of ratification of the agent's fraudulent conduct, evidence of a conversation between plaintiff and defendant's general agent, concerning such transaction, held admissible as against defendant. Western Cottage Piano & Organ Co. v. Anderson, 45 C. A. 513, 101 S. W. 1061.

Evidence held relevant and competent in an action on a note under the plea of non est factum. Scott v. Menly (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 55.

Evidence in an action for specific performance of a contract for the sale of land held incompetent. Lipscomb v. Amend, 49 C. A. 300, 103 S. W. 483.

In an action for the death of a child, struck by a train, certain evidence held admissible to show at what point the engineer, by ordinary care, could have discovered the child on the track. Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Olds (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 787.

Proceedings in a criminal case, in which a person was convicted of marrying a negro, held incompetent to show that she was a white woman in a civil action involving that question. Stewart v. Profit (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 563.

In an action against a real estate broker for fraud inducing plaintiff to trade his land for a stock of merchandise, a question asked a witness as to whether he would describe the stock as a line of dry goods, clothing, boots, shoes and hats held inadmissible. Biard & Scales v. Tyler Building & Loan Ass'n (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 1168.

Evidence of wife of false representations to her and her reliance thereon on exchange of property held competent in action against husband alone, which he defended on the ground of such false representations. Martin v. Ince (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1178.

The alleged wife's testimony on the question of a common-law marriage would not be exclusive thereon; other competent evidence being admissible to establish it. Jordan v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1194.

2. Results of tests, examinations and experiments.—In a suit to determine a boundary, a witness may detail conditions and distances disclosed by an experimental survey made by him, but cannot state that other surveys based on the corner as claimed by defendant would be affected by the change proposed by plaintiff. Matthews v. Thatcher, 33 C. A. 133, 76 S. W. 61.

In a suit to determine a boundary, a witness may state that, in making a subdivision survey, the surveyor located a fallen tree, claimed to be the beginning corner, and, starting therefrom, they found the corner in controversy.—Id.

Admission of evidence in action for negligent killing of child on railroad track, as to experiments elsewhere to show engineer's field of vision, held not ground for reversal. Olivaras v. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 981.

In an action for injuries to a servant, evidence of an experiment subsequently conducted by an expert held admissible, after proof, that the conditions under which it was conducted were practically the same as those existing at the time of the accident. Krueger v. Brenham Furniture Mfg. Co., 38 C. A. 398, 85 S. W. 1156.

In an action for injuries to a licensee on a railroad track, evidence that no whistle was sounded, and that plaintiff had tested his hearing the week before and could hear a whistle for 290 steps, held admissible. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. O'Donnell (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 886.

In an action for the death of a trespasser on a railroad track, certain evidence as to experiments made to determine at what distance the engineer could have seen decedent held admissible. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Ramsey, 43 C. A. 603, 97 S. W. 1067.

Testimony as to tests made by witnesses was properly excluded, where the conditions actually existing at the time of the accident and involved in the action were not shown to be similar. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dunbar, 49 C. A. 12, 108 S. W. 500.

In an action against a railroad company for death of a person on the track, a witness who got on a freight car similar to the one which struck decedent, and in a similar position and under similar circumstances as at the time of the accident, may testify as to how far in front of the car a person could be seen on the track in order to establish that the brakeman should have seen decedent. Freeman v. Moreman (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1045.

In an action to enjoin an infringement of water rights, measurements of the head-works and spillway of the defendant made after the case went to trial held properly admitted in evidence. Biggs v. Miller (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 632.

In an action for the price of an engine, admission of evidence of a test of the engine after suit brought and by persons selected by the vendee was not erroneous, since such conditions only affected the weight of the evidence. Texas Machinery & Supply Co. v. Ayers Ice Cream Co. (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 750.

Where railway brakeman charged with contributory negligence testified that he could not see a coal chute, testimony of witnesses as to experiments made by them under substantially similar circumstances was improperly excluded. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hall (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 445.

3. Testimony by a witness as to his intent, motive or condition of mind.—The declarations of one claiming homestead rights when moving from the property are admissible in evidence to show whether the intention of abandonment exists or not. Cline v. Upton, 59 T. 27.

In a suit for damages it is competent to show the intention of plaintiff to continue in his occupation. Howard Oil Co. v. Davis, 76 T. 630, 13 S. W. 665.

Where the motive of a witness in the doing of an act involved a legal conclusion, his statement of that motive is incompetent evidence; but where the motive of a witness is not opinion or legal conclusion, but knowledge, it is admissible. Hamburg v. Wood, 66 T. 168, 18 S. W. 623.

On the question of abandonment the husband and wife may testify as to their intentions to return, etc. Aultman v. Allen, 12 C. A. 227, 33 S. W. 679.

It is error to compel a transferee of a warehouse receipt, suing one obtaining the property, to state whether he intends to hold the warehousemen liable. Friedman v. Peters, 18 C. A. 11, 44 S. W. 572.

Parties may testify as to their intentions where they affect validity of the transaction. Wade v. Odle, 21 C. A. 656, 54 S. W. 786.

Where it was claimed that the maker of a note alleged to be a forgery had paid other similar notes, the maker was entitled to testify as to his intent in paying them. Kingsbury v. Waco State Bank, 30 C. A. 387, 70 S. W. 551.

On issue whether a chattel mortgage lien had been waived by mortgagee, it was error not to permit him to testify as to his intention. Mayers v. McNeese (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 68.

In an action for damages for erection and maintenance of a pool, constituting a nuisance, held, testimony of plaintiff was admissible to show the understanding and inducement that led plaintiff to agree to change of a highway from the proposed site of the pool. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dennis (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 860.

In an action for injuries, held error to sustain an objection to a question to plaintiff as to his willingness to be examined by a physician. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Mitchell, 40 C. A. 565, 633, 90 S. W. 716.

In an action for a breach of contract for the sale and delivery of a buggy, testimony of defendant that he did not sell the identical buggy exhibited held admissible. Schwartz v. Roberts, 46 C. A. 458, 102 S. W. 924.

In an action to set aside a sale of land of an insane person by her guardian, made under an order of the county court, the county judge was properly not allowed to state the reasons which had induced his orders, nor that he made investigation as to the necessity of the sale and heard evidence upon that issue. Lomax v. Comstock, 50 C. A. 340, 110 S. W. 762.

The testimony of claimants of a homestead, from which they had removed, as to their intention to return thereto, is admissible. Thigpen v. Russell, 55 C. A. 211, 118 S. W. 1080.

In an action on a contract defended on the ground that it was procured by duress, certain evidence held admissible to prove the defense. International Land Co. v. Parmer (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 196.

Where the intent of a person is material, he may testify directly as to his intention. Browning v. Currie (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 479.

Testimony of a principal as to his knowledge of a fact held admissible on the question of the agent's authority to enter into an agreement for arbitration. Heard v. Clegg (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1145.

4. — Execution and delivery of contracts and conveyances.—When one attacks a written contract by sworn plea of non est factum, on the ground that the contract, though signed by him, did not express the real agreement, he being unable to read it, and that it was fraudulently written, it is not improper to permit him to testify that he would not have signed the written contract if he had known its contents. Chatham v. Jones, 69 T. 744, 7 S. W. 600.

In an action by administrator, defendant cannot show that he and deceased intended a certain instrument to be a sale. Anglin v. Barlow (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 827.

Where plaintiff claimed that defendant was estopped from asserting that certain contractors did not act as its agent in buying timber, plaintiff could testify as to his understanding as to whom he was selling his timber. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Yale, 27 C. A. 10, 65 S. W. 57.

Where, in an action on a note, authority to sign the defendant's name was claimed from defendant's acts in taking charge of the business, evidence of defendant's intent in so doing was admissible. Kingsbury v. Waco State Bank, 30 C. A. 387, 70 S. W. 551.

In trespass to try title, in which plaintiff claimed under a purchase of school lands, his testimony as to his intention in purchasing the land held admissible. Goethal v. Read, 35 C. A. 461, 81 S. W. 592.

5. — Wrongful acts in general.—Plaintiff suing for ejection from sleeping car may show by the train master that he intended to make plaintiff leave the car if he had not gone. Pullman Palace Car Co. v. Cain, 15 C. A. 503, 40 S. W. 220.

6. — Negligence and contributory negligence.—In an action by a servant for personal injuries, the admission of certain testimony by plaintiff as to the reason for his action held not error. Rice v. Dewberry (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 715.

In an action against a carrier for failure to deliver goods in accordance with a bill of lading, the exclusion of testimony of the agent of the carrier as to what he would have done held not erroneous, in view of the testimony given. Texas & G. Ry. Co. v. First Nat. Bank of Carthage, 47 C. A. 283, 112 S. W. 589.

In an action for injuries to a servant, testimony of his superior, as to whether he expected that plaintiff would obey the direction which resulted in his injuries, held properly excluded. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gray, 56 C. A. 61, 120 S. W. 527.

An injured servant held entitled to testify that he did not know of the danger of performing the work in which he was injured, in the way he did. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Plummer, 57 C. A. 563, 122 S. W. 942.

Where in an action for injuries to a patron on amusement grounds, caused by a tank falling on him, a witness testified that he saw third persons playing with the tank, refusing to permit him to testify why he gave them certain instructions was not error. Wichita Falls Traction Co. v. Adams (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 271.

One who jumped from a train after it got 35 yards beyond the depot, and while it was going eight or ten miles an hour, it having started while he was assisting his family to seats thereon, may not, as regards the question of his contributory negligence, testify that, when he jumped, he thought he could do so in safety. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Guess (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1060.

7. — Libel and slander.—In libel, plaintiff may call witnesses to state that on reading the libel they concluded it was aimed at him. Houston Printing Co. v. Moulden, 15 C. A. 574, 41 S. W. 381.

8. — Usury.—It is competent to permit the parties to a transaction to testify to their intentions when the question of usury is in issue. Peightal v. Cotton States Bldg. Co., 25 C. A. 390, 61 S. W. 423.

9. — Good faith in general.—In an action for malicious prosecution, the defendant, testifying in his own behalf, was asked by his counsel to "state whether, in appearing before the grand jury and testifying as a witness against the plaintiff, he had any malice against him." Held, that the question was improper, not relating to any distinct, intelligible fact, but tending to elicit from the witness his inference or conclusion involving his correct understanding of the meaning of the word "malice" in such a connection. Gabel v. Weinsensee, 49 T. 131.

In an action for false imprisonment, the defendant, testifying in his own behalf, was asked by his counsel if he was actuated by malicious motives in making the affidavit upon which the warrant of arrest was based. Held, that the evidence was inadmissible. Dunn v. Cole, 2 App. C. C. § 823.

In an action by vendee to recover earnest money, vendee and his attorney held properly permitted to testify that they acted in good faith in rejecting the title. Smith v. Lander (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 703.

Where plaintiff, having purchased certain property from a firm, sued to recover it against a purchaser from an individual member of the firm, evidence of plaintiff's belief that the property belonged to the firm, and the reasons thereof, was admissible. Ricketson v. Best (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 353.

In an action for false imprisonment, evidence as to what was in plaintiff's mind when he claimed certain property held inadmissible. Southwestern Portland Cement Co. v. Reitzer (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 237.

10. — Fraud and misrepresentation.—If the elements of fraud are shown to have existed in a sale, and it is afterwards attacked for fraud by creditors, it is immaterial what may have been the real intention of the parties. In such a case no good intention of the parties at the time ultimately to pay creditors, testified to by the parties themselves, can make that valid which the law pronounces void. Miller v. Jannett, 63 T. 82.

Fraud must be proven by legal and competent evidence. Marsalis v. Oglesby, 1 App. C. C. § 260; T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Burke, 1 App. C. C. § 946.

The issue being whether certain goods had been conveyed by defendant in fraud of his creditors, he was permitted to testify as to what was his intention or motive in making a sale of the goods. Phillips v. Edelstein, 2 App. C. C. § 451; Numsen v. Ellis, 3 App. C. C. § 134.

Where a sale is attacked as being in fraud of creditors, it is not error to permit the vendor, when called as a witness to support the sale, to be asked; "Did you sell for any other purpose than to pay your debts?" nor to allow his answer, "that he sold for no other purpose." Sweeney v. Conley, 71 T. 543, 9 S. W. 548.

The purchaser may testify that he would not have purchased if the false representation had not been made. Pridham v. Weddington, 74 T. 354, 12 S. W. 49.

Where a creditor purchases the goods of his insolvent debtor, and the transaction is attacked as in fraud of other creditors, he may testify that his motive in making the purchase was only to collect the debt due himself. Blankenship v. Willis, 1 C. A. 657, 20 S. W. 952.

A debtor may testify as to his intentions in the transfer of property. Roberts v. Miller (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 381; Brown v. Lessing, 70 T. 544, 7 S. W. 783.

The grantor in the deed when attacked for fraud may testify as to his intentions. Dittman v. Weiss (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 67.

Where, in an action on a note, the defense is fraud, defendant may be asked if he has not transferred his property to defeat collection. Hynes v. Winston (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 1025.

Purpose and intent are matter of fact, and grantees may testify that they accepted the deed to secure claims, and without fraudulent intent. Wright v. Solomon (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 58.

In an action for fraudulent representations whereby plaintiff was induced to purchase corporate stock, testimony by plaintiff that at the time he purchased the stock he believed that it would pay dividends of 20 per cent. per annum was admissible. Collins v. Chipman, 41 C. A. 563, 95 S. W. 666.

In an action by the buyer of a machine against the seller and his agents for fraudulent misrepresentations, it was error to refuse to permit an agent to testify that he believed the representations to be true. Wimple v. Patterson (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 1034.

In a suit by a prior grantee under a deed of a married woman executed by herself alone, on her representation that she was single, against a subsequent purchaser under a deed executed by her and her husband, evidence of her reasons for not telling the prior grantee that she was a married woman held admissible on the issue of fraud. Keller v. Lindow (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 304.

In an action against a real estate broker for fraud inducing plaintiff to trade his land for a stock of merchandise, the refusal to permit plaintiff to testify as to his reason for placing the deed executed by plaintiff in the hands of a third person held erroneous. Biard & Scales v. Tyler Building & Loan Ass'n (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 1168.

Where, in trespass to try title, a witness had testified to the facts relied on to show that he and his cograntor were imposed on in executing a warranty instead of a quitclaim deed, as intended, it was not error to refuse to permit him to further testify as to his state of mind, or his reasons for believing he executed a quitclaim. Hume v. Darsey (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 255.

11. Testimony as to character or reputation.—Evidence of character is not in general admissible. Where, however, the nature of the action involves the general character of a party, or goes directly to affect it, such evidence is admissible. Britton v. Thrash, 1 App. C. C. § 1238.

In an action for damages for malicious prosecution, evidence of the bad character of the plaintiff is admissible in mitigation of damages, but it must be confined to general reputation. Dunn v. Cole, 2 App. C. C. § 821.

In an action against a fraternal mutual life insurance company, evidence of defendant's reputation for admitting applicants irrespective of good health held competent. Home Circle Soc. No. 2 v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 320.

12. Evidence admissible by reason of admission of similar evidence of adverse party.—Evidence, though not primarily admissible because not directly relevant to the matters in issue, may be rendered proper in rebuttal. See opinion for an illustration. Wade v. Love, 69 T. 522, 7 S. W. 225.

The admission of improper evidence in favor of one party to a suit will not authorize the adversary to introduce improper evidence in rebuttal if objection be made thereto. Dolson v. De Ganahl, 70 T. 620, 8 S. W. 321; McCartney v. Martin, 1 U. C. 143.

A party cannot complain of the admission of testimony of a fact whose existence is shown by evidence introduced by the party himself. Davis v. Harper, 17 C. A. 88, 42 S. W. 788.

Where, in an action of malicious prosecution and false imprisonment, defendant offered evidence to show that plaintiff embezzled its property, it was not error to permit plaintiff to prove his reputation for honesty. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Griffin, 20 C. A. 91, 48 S. W. 542.

Erroneous evidence is harmless when the same evidence was given by a witness of the objecting party. Railroad Co. v. Grier, 20 C. A. 138, 49 S. W. 148.

Improper evidence admitted over a party's objections is not made admissible by cross interrogatories touching the matters testified to. Siebert v. Lott, 20 C. A. 191, 49 S. W. 783.

A party cannot object to a ruling admitting evidence, where he had testified on cross-examination, without objection, to the same thing. Berg v. San Antonio St. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 921.

Where a conspiracy was charged, and evidence introduced to prove same, the admission in rebuttal of an affidavit of the confederate held proper. Fire Ass'n of Philadelphia v. McNerney (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 1053.

Where defendant introduced evidence that plaintiff had been indicted for perjury, evidence in rebuttal as to plaintiff's reputation for truth and veracity held not objectionable as irrelevant and immaterial. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Stonecypher, 25 C. A. 569, 63 S. W. 946.

Where, in an action for injuries sustained by the breaking of a railroad drawbridge wrench, defendant's witness testifies that a similar wrench was used on another bridge of the same weight, plaintiff may show that the latter wrench was stronger and better. Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Newport, 26 C. A. 583, 65 S. W. 657.

In action for purchase price of goods, testimony that they were worth more than the price asked held admissible. Schuwirth v. Thumma (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 691.

The notary taking an acknowledgment may rebut the testimony of the grantor's wife that she did not understand the purport of the instrument. Harrington v. Claffin, 28 C. A. 100, 66 S. W. 898.

Where defendants introduce evidence relating to an irrelevant matter, the plaintiff has the right to further inquire of the witnesses concerning such matter. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Hopson (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 458.

In view of the evidence as to whether an instrument procured by fraud, and, if so procured, whether it was subsequently ratified, held, that a witness was properly allowed to testify to grantor's mental condition down to the day of trial in determining whether his mind was impaired by liquor during the period in question. Wells v. Houston, 29 C. A. 619, 69 S. W. 183.

In an action for injuries, evidence of statements by plaintiff after the accident as to injury and suffering held admissible in rebuttal. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hawk, 30 C. A. 142, 69 S. W. 1037.

Where carrier's witnesses testified to delays at different points than those specified in the complaint, it could not object to plaintiff's testimony as to such delays as not within the issues. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Griffith (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 438.

In an action for injuries to a servant caused by a coal gate giving way, rebuttal testimony held properly admitted. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brooks (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 571.

In a suit to recover damages by the construction of a railroad in front of property, proof of a general improvement in business in the city held not admissible in rebuttal to plaintiff's cross-examination. Boyer & Lucas v. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co., 97 T. 107, 76 S. W. 441.

Statement of insured's attorney in letter to defendant company held not objectionable, in action on policy for reference to compromise, made in reply to letter admitted without objection. Aetna Ins. Co. v. Fitz, 34 C. A. 214, 78 S. W. 370.

Plaintiff's evidence that charge against defendant published by plaintiff was true held admissible to rebut defendant's evidence that, in charging plaintiff with having falsely attacked defendant, defendant had not libeled plaintiff. Cranfill v. Hayden, 97 T. 544, 80 S. W. 609.

On an issue as to whether certain land was purchased with money belonging to the purchaser's wife, an acceptance of service of citation by the purchaser held admissible in rebuttal of testimony of a witness showing purchaser's location on a certain date. Oakes v. Prather (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 557.

In an action for personal injuries, the admission in rebuttal of certain evidence relative to a different accident held proper. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Malone (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 389.

Where a letter itself was excluded, evidence of its contents was inadmissible. Gregory v. Webb, 40 C. A. 360, 89 S. W. 1109.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to a passenger, certain evidence held admissible in rebuttal. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Parks, 40 C. A. 480, 90 S. W. 343.

In action for killing ponies on track, where train dispatcher testified, that train was late, testimony that when train was late the train crew sometimes ran faster than scheduled time held admissible. Anson v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 42 C. A. 437, 94 S. W. 94.

In an action of trespass to try title, after defendant had given testimony tending to show that he was an innocent purchaser, he could not complain of the testimony of plaintiff going to prove notice on the ground that such matter was not raised by the pleadings. Cobb v. Bryan (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 513.

In an action where plaintiff claims an interest in land through a deed from his mother, certain evidence held not inadmissible as evidence of a conversation after the deed was written tending to modify the intention in the deed, especially where the same evidence was elicited by the other side. Walker v. Erwin, 47 C. A. 637, 106 S. W. 164.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to a person on a track, where defendant's claim agent had testified to statements made to him by plaintiff three or four days after the accident relating to the distance the train was from him when he fell down while attempting to get off the track, it was competent for plaintiff to testify that he told the agent that he did not know how far it was, but that, upon being urged to state some distance said it was at least 50 yards. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams, 50 C. A. 134, 109 S. W. 1126.

Objections to certain questions on cross-examination of a witness were properly overruled, where the same evidence had been previously introduced on direct examination without objection. Missouri, Kansas & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Steele, 50 C. A. 634, 110 S. W. 171.

Rule respecting one party's right to introduce a whole writing in evidence, where his adversary has introduced a part thereof, stated. T. A. Robertson & Co. v. Russell, 51 C. A. 257, 111 S. W. 205.

On an issue whether a deed was intended as a mortgage, held that, defendant having testified that such was the case, it was competent for plaintiff to contradict him by testifying that defendant told him that, if he would pay a certain debt, he could have the land. Moore v. Kirby, 52 C. A. 200, 115 S. W. 632.

Where evidence of what deceased had said about her health was admitted in support of the defense that she was not injured on defendant's train, but died of disease, similar evidence was properly admitted in rebuttal as against an objection that it was hearsay. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Sizemore, 53 C. A. 491, 116 S. W. 403.

In an action for personal injuries, evidence of injury to plaintiff's hearing held admissible to rebut defendant's evidence, though not alleged in the petition. Southern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Evans, 54 C. A. 63, 116 S. W. 418.

Irrelevant testimony held not rendered admissible by admission of other irrelevant testimony. Hall v. Parry, 55 C. A. 40, 113 S. W. 561.

In an action for injuries to a servant, evidence held admissible in rebuttal to contradict the testimony of defendant's foreman. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Adams (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 876.

Where defendant R., a co-maker of the note sued on by plaintiff bank, testified that it was given for the bank's accommodation, evidence of the other maker that the original note for which the note sued on was a renewal was not given by R. for plaintiff's accommodation was admissible in rebuttal. First Nat. Bank v. Pearce (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 285.

Where, in an action on a note, defendant R. claimed and testified that the note was for plaintiff's accommodation, evidence that plaintiff paid the consideration for the note to R.'s codefendant, with R.'s knowledge and consent and at his direction, was admissible in rebuttal. Id.

Evidence held admissible by reason of the admission of other evidence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Wooldridge & Hamby (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 603.

That the court erroneously admitted evidence on a point over the objection of a party does not make it lawful for the court to admit similar evidence when offered by such party. El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. Eichel & Welkel (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 922.

In an action against a telegraph company for failure to transmit a message, certain evidence to contradict evidence of defendant held properly admitted. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Henderson (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1153.

Where defendant has introduced portions of a statement made by plaintiff on a certain occasion, plaintiff was entitled to introduce other portions thereof essential to an explanation of that offered by defendant. Hartford Fire Ins. Co. v. Dorroh (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 465.

Evidence as to a subject brought out by the testimony of the adverse party held admissible. Heard v. Clegg (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1145.

Where defendant in quo warranto to oust him from office put in evidence parts of the former testimony of certain witnesses at the previous trial, relator was entitled to introduce the remainder of the testimony given upon the same occasion as well as statements made upon the examining trial regarding the same matter. Pease v. State (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 657.

Where, in a suit to restrain the collection of taxes on bank stock assessed at a higher rate than other property, the tax officers showed rapid increase in the value of the stock since the bank was organized, they could not complain of evidence in rebuttal of the rapid increase in the value of land of the county. Porter v. Langley (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1042.

II. Competency of Witnesses

13. Capacity in general.—In a prosecution for violating the local option law, county surveyor was competent to testify that the field notes of the district alleged in the indictment closed. Matkins v. State (Cr. App.) 62 S. W. 911.

The testimony of a witness cannot be excluded merely because he made contradictory statements. Texas Traction Co. v. Morrow (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1069.

14. Knowledge or means of knowledge of facts as affecting capacity.—A witness, ordinarily, cannot testify as to the motives of another person. Numsen v. Ellis, 3 App. C. C. § 134.

The custodian of records may testify that certain ones are missing. Pendleton v. Shaw, 18 C. A. 439, 44 S. W. 1002.

When a witness testifies that he is familiar with the duties of foremen and switchmen in H., he is competent to testify to such duties. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. White, 23 C. A. 280, 56 S. W. 204.

In order to be entitled to testify concerning a matter, the witness must not "guess" as to it. Reichert v. International & G. N. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 1031.

In an action against a railroad for personal injuries, testimony of a witness who was not present when the accident occurred held admissible to show the location of the train. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Quinones (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 757.

In an action against a carrier for damages to a shipment of cattle, a witness held properly allowed to state from his personal knowledge the freight rate between two points. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. West (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 426.

It is not error to permit a witness to testify from his own knowledge as to what the freight rates between two points are. Texas Cent. Ry. Co. v. Miller (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 499.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff's wife, plaintiff held properly permitted to testify as to the performance of certain work about his place by his wife. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Booth (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 128.

A witness who saw cattle weighed, took a memorandum of the weights, knew that the same was correct, etc., held entitled to testify thereto, though he did not weigh the cattle. St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Dodson (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 523.

A witness held competent to testify that defendant's state agent had full control of all defendant's agencies and business in Texas at the time of the transaction in controversy. Western Cottage Piano & Organ Co. v. Anderson, 45 C. A. 513, 101 S. W. 1061.

Witness held incompetent to prove contents of an abandoned pleading. Smith v. Texas & N. O. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 523.

In an action for conversion of a crop delivered by tenant and subtenants to third persons made defendants, the testimony of a witness based on his recollection held competent as testimony of a fact. Sexton Rice & Irrigation Co. v. Sexton, 48 C. A. 190, 106 S. W. 728.

In an action for injuries to a brakeman by the breaking of a defective clevis on a brake chain, testimony of a former car inspector of defendant who had done that work for 25 years as to the usual and proper manner of inspecting cars on defendant's road held admissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Blachley, 50 C. A. 141, 109 S. W. 995.

A city engineer was not incompetent to testify to the width of a city street because he was not present when the original lines were surveyed. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Morin, 53 C. A. 531, 116 S. W. 656.

In a prosecution for rape, an objection to the prosecutrix testifying as to penetration, on the ground that she did not know the meaning of the word, held properly overruled. Leftrick v. State, 55 Cr. R. 204, 116 S. W. 817.

A witness who had not seen the cattle of the seller for about two years before a sale of all the cattle was not competent to estimate the number of the cattle. Gibbens & Roundtree v. Hart (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 163.

In an action for wrongful death, witnesses held authorized to testify as to the average amount received by decedent from his farm work. Gray v. Phillips, 54 C. A. 148, 117 S. W. 870.

Testimony as to marks made on ground by the original surveyor held objectionable, where witness does not show how he knew they were so made. Goldman v. Hadley (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 282.

In an action against a carrier for injury to bees shipped, testimony by plaintiff as to how the bees were loaded held admissible, while testimony of another as to whether they were properly loaded was properly excluded. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Laws (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 973.

In an action against a telegraph company for delay in delivering a telegram, certain testimony of a witness as to the schedule of a certain train held admissible. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Gilliland (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 212.

Physicians of the allopathic school may testify to questions of anatomy for or against a member of any other school. Berry v. State (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 631.

Certain evidence as to the age of a prosecutrix held admissible. Vaughn v. State, 62 Cr. R. 24, 136 S. W. 476.

In an action for the death of a trespasser struck by a train, a witness is not entitled to testify that no one had ever forbidden him to walk on the track. Laeve v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1129.

That a witness had been at a certain town only twice held not to destroy the effect of his testimony as to the market value of cattle there. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Miller (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 1194.

Evidence that witness who only knew deceased in a business way never heard him curse his wife was incompetent. Streight v. State, 62 Cr. R. 453, 138 S. W. 742.

Persons who derive a knowledge of prices in a certain market from publications of quotations in that market may testify to their knowledge so obtained. Houston Packing Co. v. Griffith (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1139.

A witness was qualified to testify to general reputation of person as to being a white woman or negro, although he lived in a country neighborhood several miles from that in which she lived. Stewart v. Profit (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 563.

Witnesses testifying as to general reputation must show that they have knowledge of the facts and generally that their opportunity to acquire such knowledge was sufficient to enable them to do so. Id.

A witness who had made but two trips from a point in this state to St. Louis, and whose sources of knowledge were not set out or inquired into, was not incompetent to state the time of the ordinary run between the two points, where he stated generally that he knew the facts. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Dean (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1127.

15. Age and maturity of mind.—Witness eight or ten years old competent to testify, when. Railway Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 37 S. W. 771.

It was not an abuse of discretion to allow a child to testify, where there was some evidence tending to show his appreciation of an oath. Applebaum v. Bass (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 173.

16. Unsoundness of mind.—Where there is ground for doubting witness' mental incapacity to testify, and timely request is made therefor, court should examine into mental condition of witness before allowing her to testify. Mills v. Cook (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 81.

17. Obligation of oath.—The court held not to have erred in holding a boy 10 years old competent to testify. North Texas Const. Co. v. Bostick (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 109.

A child held erroneously permitted to testify, where his examination disclosed that he was ignorant as to the consequences of false swearing. North Texas Const. Co. v. Bostick, 98 T. 239, 83 S. W. 12.

18. Infamy or conviction of crime.—In civil action, a witness is not disqualified because he has been convicted and sent to the penitentiary for theft. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. De Bord, 21 C. A. 691, 53 S. W. 587.

That the deposition of a witness incidentally showed that he was incarcerated could not supply the place of primary evidence of conviction as evidence to prove his incompetency. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 98 T. 76, 81 S. W. 4.

The exclusion of a deposition of one under sentence for a felony is not error. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 34.

The defense of adultery of plaintiff in divorce may be proved by testimony of particeps criminis. Oster v. Oster (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 265.

19. Examination of witness as to competency.—Where improper questions were allowed, eliciting proper testimony, held there was no error in allowing it to stand. White v. Houston & T. C. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 382.

20. Extrinsic evidence as to competency in general.—A witness, convicted and sentenced for a felony, held incompetent to testify, though the sentence of the court was not produced in support of the objection. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 648.

21. Determination as to competency.—The burden of proving a witness incompetent is upon the objector. Rogers v. Crain, 30 T. 284; Spann v. Glass, 35 T. 761.

A bill of exceptions held not to show error in refusing to allow a juror to be sworn as a witness. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Foster, 45 C. A. 334, 100 S. W. 1017.

In a suit to set aside a conveyance by plaintiff, an incompetent, plaintiff held to have been properly excluded as a witness because of present incapacity, and not because of her allegation of prior insanity. Holland v. Riggs, 53 C. A. 367, 116 S. W. 167.

The competency of a witness to testify is primarily for the trial judge. Lefkowitz v. Sherwood (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 850.

22. Questions calling for answer tending to disgrace witness or subject him to prosecution.—See Rule 1, post.

23. Fiduciary or contract relations in general.—Telegraphic messages in the possession of the officers of a telegraph company held not privileged communications. Ex parte Gould, 60 Cr. R. 442, 132 S. W. 364, 31 L. R. A. (N. S.) 835.

24. Communications to or advice by attorney or counsel.—A communication to an attorney to be privileged, so that it cannot be used in evidence, must be made for the purpose of obtaining professional advice or aid in respect to the particular matter to which it refers. Hence, a communication made to an attorney by one party for the purpose of having it made known to the adverse party is not a privileged communication. Henderson v. Terry, 62 T. 281.

It was error to require defendant to relate on cross-examination a confidential communication between him and his attorney. Herring v. State (Cr. App.) 42 S. W. 301.

A statement of a fact by a client to his attorney, to be incorporated in a pleading to be filed in court, is not a privileged communication. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Brooking (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 537.

A witness should not be allowed to disclose statements by the contestant of a will, made to him as her attorney in a different cause. McIntosh v. Moore, 22 C. A. 22, 53 S. W. 611.

Cross-examination held properly excluded on the ground that it was as to a privileged communication between attorney and client. Dyer v. McWhirter, 51 C. A. 200, 111 S. W. 1053.

The rule making incompetent testimony as to communications by a client to his attorney held to be limited to cases strictly within the principle of the policy giving it birth. Hyman v. Grant, 102 T. 50, 112 S. W. 1042.

Certain testimony of an attorney held not inadmissible, as involving a confidential communication from his client. Sarro v. Bell (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 24.

25. — Relation of attorney and client.—A conversation between an attorney and client held privileged. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Gibson, 42 C. A. 306, 93 S. W. 469.

In prosecution for perjury, testimony as to transaction between attorney and accused, acting on behalf of client, held inadmissible. Rosebud v. State, 50 Cr. R. 475, 98 S. W. 858.

A statement of facts, made to an attorney with the view of employing him, is privileged, though the suit was not brought by him. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Duncan, 55 C. A. 440, 121 S. W. 362.

26. — Professional character of employment or transaction.—Evidence held not inadmissible as of a transaction between attorney and client in a professional capacity. Hyman v. Grant, 102 T. 50, 112 S. W. 1042.

A witness consulted by the defendant as an attorney and who advised the defendant, understanding that the relation of attorney and client existed as to the matter, cannot be questioned about such matter. Menefee v. State (Cr. App.) 149 S. W. 138.

27. — Subject-matter of communications or advice in general.—In an action against a carrier for injuries to live stock, an instruction by plaintiff to his attorney as to the amount he should claim from the company held privileged. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Lock, 30 C. A. 426, 70 S. W. 456.

In a prosecution for theft, it was error to compel defendant's attorney to testify that defendant gave him two five-dollar bills as a fee. Holden v. State, 44 Cr. R. 332, 71 S. W. 600.

The act of a witness held, even if done in his professional character as an attorney, not to be privileged, because done to perpetrate a fraud. Hyman v. Grant, 102 T. 50, 112 S. W. 1042.

A qualified threat, made by defendant against deceased in the presence of defendant's attorney, held not a privileged communication. Pearson v. State, 56 Cr. R. 607, 120 S. W. 1004.

It was not error to permit a party to prove by the other party on cross-examination that his attorney had read to him a deposition made in prior proceedings in the case; such matter not being a privileged communication between attorney and client. Danner v. Walker-Smith Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 295.

28. — Instructions as to will or conveyance.—Evidence of an attorney that deeds executed by his clients were in fraud of creditors of the grantor held not privileged. Stone v. Stitt, 56 C. A. 465, 121 S. W. 187.

The rule that conversations between attorney and client are privileged held not to apply to conversations between a testator and his attorney as to the disposition of his property. Pierce v. Farrar (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 932.

Communications to attorney acting merely as a scrivener in writing a deed, and giving no advice, held not privileged, so that the attorney could testify thereto. Childress v. Tate (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 843.

29. — Mode or form of communications.—A statement written by defendant, which he intended to give his counsel, found on his person after arrest for homicide, held not a privileged communication. Renfro v. State, 42 Cr. R. 393, 56 S. W. 1013.

A letter written by a railroad's general counsel to its local attorney, relating to an issue arising at the trial of an action against the railroad company, held privileged. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams, 43 C. A. 549, 96 S. W. 1087.

Where defendant's attorney obtained certain notes, alleged to have been forged, from third persons, and not from his client, his professional relation did not render him incompetent to testify with reference to obtaining them. Jordan v. State (Cr. App.) 143 S. W. 623.

30. — Confidential character of communications or advice.—A statement of a fact made by a client to his attorney, to be alleged in a pleading, is not a confidential communication between attorney and client. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Brooking (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 537.

31. — Communications through or in presence or hearing of others.—Statements of party to action to his attorney, heard by employé of such attorney, held not privileged. Morton v. Smith (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 683.

It is not reversible error to permit the state in a criminal case to call the attorney of accused to prove what accused testified to on a former trial. Yardley v. State, 50 Cr. R. 644, 100 S. W. 399, 123 Am. St. Rep. 869.

32. Persons entitled to assert privilege.—Though testator by his will released plaintiff's debt, held, in an action to cancel his deed given to testator on the ground that it was merely security for the debt, that the attorney who drew the will could not testify that testator told him the deed was given as a mortgage. Emerson v. Scott, 39 C. A. 65, 87 S. W. 369.

33. Waiver of privilege.—Plaintiff held to have waived bar of "privilege" to a communication testified to by defendant's counsel by failing to object to other testimony relative thereto. Shelton v. Northern Texas Traction Co., 32 C. A. 507, 75 S. W. 338.

34. Opinion and expert testimony.—See Rule 36, post.

III. Demonstrative Evidence

35. Identity.—On a prosecution for assault with intent to rape, it was not permissible for the state to require accused to place a cap on his head for the purpose of identification by prosecutrix. Turman v. State, 50 Cr. R. 7, 95 S. W. 533.

36. Age.—In suit for illegally selling liquor to plaintiff's minor sons, putting witnesses on stand and proving by each his age, for purposes of comparison, held improper. Poynor v. Holzgraf, 35 C. A. 233, 79 S. W. 829.

37. Wounds and other injuries.—In an action for personal injuries, where evidence of the injury to plaintiff's foot is fully shown, there is no error in permitting him to exhibit it to the jury. Texas Midland R. R. v. Brown (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 44.

In an action for injuries, it was proper for plaintiff, while testifying as a witness, to exhibit his person to the jury, showing the extent of his injuries. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Moody, 35 C. A. 46, 79 S. W. 856.

That plaintiff in action for personal injuries exhibited to jury his bared breast did not deprive him of the right to refuse to do so again. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Anglin (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 785.

In an action for personal injuries, fragments of bones taken from plaintiff's head as a result of the injuries were admissible in evidence. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Mathis, 101 T. 342, 107 S. W. 530.

In a personal injury action it was not error to permit plaintiff to exhibit his injuries to the jury. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. De Bord (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 845.

38. Compelling person injured to submit to examination by physicians.—As to the authority of the court to compel the plaintiff in a suit for personal injuries to submit to an examination by a physician, see Railway Co. v. Underwood, 64 T. 463; Railway Co. v. Johnson, 72 T. 95, 10 S. W. 325.

When an article to which testimony relates can be brought into court and exhibited to the jury it is proper that it should be done. Hays v. Railway Co., 70 T. 602, 8 S. W. 491, 8 Am. St. Rep. 624; Railway Co. v. Raspberry, 13 C. A. 185, 34 S. W. 794.

The court will not appoint physicians to examine the body of a person injured. Railway Co. v. Pendery, 14 C. A. 60, 36 S. W. 793.

Refusal to require a physical examination in a personal injury case was not error, where plaintiff expressed a willingness to be examined, but his counsel opposed it. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. White (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 855.

The court has no power in a personal injury case to appoint surgical experts, and order an examination by them of plaintiff, for the purpose of obtaining the evidence of such experts as to the nature and extent of plaintiff's injuries. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Sherwood (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 776.

In an action for injuries, the trial court has no authority to compel plaintiff to submit to an examination by physicians to be appointed by the court. Austin & N. W. R. Co. v. Cluck (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 569.

The refusal to compel plaintiff in a personal injury action to submit to a physical examination by physicians held not erroneous. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brown (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 807.

In an action for injuries to a married woman, which depended entirely on subjective symptoms, it was not error to decline to compel her to submit to a physical examination. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Gibbs, 33 C. A. 214, 76 S. W. 71.

In an action for injuries, the court has no power to compel plaintiff to submit to a physical examination. St. Louis & S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lindsey (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 87.

A court cannot compel a party against his consent to submit to a physical examination by physicians. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Butcher (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 819.

Refusal of a court to require plaintiff to submit to a further physical examination held not error. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Gready, 36 C. A. 536, 82 S. W. 1061.

A plaintiff in an action for personal injuries who voluntarily exhibits them to jury held required to exhibit them to a physician at defendant's request. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Anglin, 99 T. 349, 89 S. W. 966, 2 L. R. A. (N. S.) 386.

It was not error to refuse to require one suing for personal injury to undergo examination by defendant's physicians. Taylor v. White (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 554.

Defendant could not require the court to appoint physicians to examine plaintiff, or compel plaintiff to submit to such examination. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rogers, 55 C. A. 93, 117 S. W. 939.

The consent of a plaintiff in an injury action to be examined by a physician appointed by the court, if his attorney advised it, held not such consent as to justify an examination by a physician appointed by the court, where the attorney only consented to an examination by a physician agreed upon by the parties. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Spencer, 55 C. A. 456, 119 S. W. 716.

39. Autopsy.—The court has inherent power to order the exhuming of a dead body on it appearing that justice and right will be defeated in case such order is not made. Gray v. Phillips, 54 C. A. 148, 117 S. W. 870.

40. Weapons, missiles and other instruments.—Material things, such as scraps of leather, clothing, instruments of crime, are, within the discretion of the court, admissible in evidence. Burris v. Endy, 1 App. C. C. § 1307.

41. Articles subject of or connected with controversy.—The exhibition to the jury, by defendant, of selected articles from one class of goods only of the general stock converted, as evidence of the character of the stock in general, is error. Garrity v. Rankin (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 367.

On the issue of negligence in permitting rotten ties to remain in a railroad track, pieces of wood, identified as parts of the ties, held admissible in evidence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Boyce, 39 C. A. 195, 87 S. W. 395.

Art. 3147, providing for a contest of a primary election, is not void as providing no adequate procedure for the trial; the act fixing the venue, and the time for commencing the proceedings, prescribing the essentials of contestant's pleading, and providing for service on contestee of notice of the filing of the contest, and a statement of the grounds of the contest, and of notice of the time set for the hearing, all to be prepared and issued by the clerk of the district court, and served five days before the hearing, also, providing that witnesses may be summoned, and by necessary implication sworn and examined, and that, if deemed necessary, the court may unlock the ballot boxes and examine their contents, the omission to prescribe rules of evidence being immaterial in view of this article requiring all courts to observe the common-law rules of evidence, where not otherwise provided, and no rights of contestees being invaded by the failure to expressly authorize him to file an answer and amend it, it being probable that he can do both, and a default judgment not being permissible, but contestant being required to show a disregard or violation of the law, but for which the result of the election would have been different. Anderson v. Ashe (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 1044.

In an action for the wrongful seizure of household furniture, the refusal to allow defendant to exhibit the articles to plaintiff while testifying held not erroneous. South-er v. Hunt (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 359.

It was not error not to require the jury to personally examine the machine on which an employé was injured, where because of a fire the machine was not in the same condition as at the time of the accident. Gamer Co. v. Gamage (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 721.

42. Duplicates, models and casts.—There was a proper foundation laid for exhibiting in court a model of an appliance, where the only difference between the actual appliance used and the model was that one was made of metal and the other of leather. Texas Machinery & Supply Co. v. Ayers Ice Cream Co. (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 750.

43. Writings submitted for comparison.—A paper not already in evidence and having no connection with the issue to be tried cannot be introduced to establish a signature in order that it may be compared with a signature the genuineness of which is controverted. Smyth v. Caswell, 67 T. 573, 4 S. W. 848; Kennedy v. Upshaw, 64 T. 411; Cook v. First Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 998.

Handwriting may be proved by comparison with admitted signatures. Wagoner v. Rupy, 69 T. 700, 7 S. W. 80.

Writing proven how. Cannon v. Sweet (Civ. App.) 28 S. W. 718; Id. 29 S. W. 947; Mardes v. Myers, 28 S. W. 693, 8 C. A. 542; Millington v. Millington (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 320; Steiner v. Lester (Civ. App.) 23 S. W. 718.

The common-law rule which disallows the use of a writing, as a standard of comparison, which is not competent evidence upon some other issue in the case, does not apply when the instrument offered in evidence is admitted to be genuine. Some courts extend the exception to cases where the signature of the party was established by the most satisfactory evidence. Cannon v. Sweet (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 947; Id. 28 S. W. 718. See Adkins v. Galbraith, 10 C. A. 175, 30 S. W. 291.

On an issue of the forgery of a certified copy of a deed having an alleged illegal seal the court held to have properly permitted the introduction of certain evidence for purposes of comparison. Loring v. Jackson, 43 C. A. 306, 95 S. W. 19.

A certain deed held properly admitted for the purpose of comparing the signature thereto with the signature to another document on an issue as to the identity of the one who executed the latter. Woodward v. Keck (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 852.

A witness who denies his signature to an instrument may not, on direct examination, for the purpose of a comparison of his handwriting, write his name twice on a piece of paper in the presence of the jury, for the purpose of having the papers used to compare his handwriting. Wade v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 84.

A carbon copy of a writing, made by the pressure of a pencil on the original and the original, are each the writings of the party, and the carbon copy is not a copy of the original writing; and hence the carbon copy is admissible for the purpose of comparison of handwriting. Id.

Handwriting cannot be proven by comparison with other papers claimed to have been signed by the witness, which are not relevant to any issue in the case, where objection is seasonably made. Id.

Where a proper standard of comparison of handwriting is before the jury, comparison may be made by the jury itself, or with the assistance of expert testimony. Id.

A document containing the admitted signature of defendant, but irrelevant to the issues in the case, held inadmissible as a basis of comparison with alleged signature of defendant. Brin v. Gale (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1133.

The rule that handwriting may not be proved by comparison of hands obtains in Texas. Id.

44. Experiments in court.—In an action for personal injuries, it is not error to permit a physician to demonstrate to the jury the nature and extent of the injury by experimenting with plaintiff in their presence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lynch, 40 C. A. 543, 90 S. W. 511.

There being evidence that a machine was in the same condition as when converted by defendant, held that, though there was also evidence that it had been repaired after the conversion, it was not error to allow it to be exhibited to, and manipulated before, the jury. St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Ewing (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 625.

In action against manufacturer for injuries caused by soap, permitting test by pouring vinegar on the soap held not error. Armstrong Packing Co. v. Clem (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 576.

IV. Documentary Evidence

45. Particular statutory matters.—See notes under Arts. 3688-3713, post.

46. Admissibility of public or official records and certificates in general—Notice of view by jury.—In trespass to try title to land condemned by a county for a public road, published notice by the jury of view held admissible. Asher v. Jones County, 29 C. A. 353, 68 S. W. 551.

47. — Maps.—In trespass to try title the official map of the county, compiled after the institution of the suit, held properly received in evidence. Sullivan v. Solis, 52 C. A. 464, 114 S. W. 456.

A levy map held not admissible to limit a deed previously executed. Morse's Heirs v. Williams (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 1186.

48. — Laws.—See notes under Arts. 3692, 3693.

Existence of domestic corporation, see notes under Art. 1132.

The corporate capacity of a foreign corporation was proven by the production of a copy of the general law of the state where organized providing for the formation of such corporations, certified by the secretary of state of such state, and of the certificate of organization. W. E. M. Co. v. Curtis, 1 App. C. C. § 729.

49. — Ordinances.—See notes under Art. 821.

50. — Judicial acts and records in general.—See, also, notes under Art. 3694.

A subpoena is evidence that a witness was subpoenaed. Flores v. Thorn, 8 T. 377; Crawford v. Crain, 19 T. 145.

The petition and judgment in a previous suit against a tenant are inadmissible as evidence to defend an action by the landlord. Read v. Allen, 56 T. 176.

A deed made by the officer to a purchaser at an execution sale is competent evidence to show that the adverse party claims under a common source, without introducing the judgment and execution. Sellman v. Hardin, 58 T. 86.

A record of a court showing a conviction of the husband, on his plea of guilty to a charge of having assaulted his wife, is not evidence. Endick v. Endick, 61 T. 559.

Judgments in suits by executors against various persons for purchase money of land sold held admissible to show executor's acquiescence in the sale. Terrell v. McCown, 91 T. 231, 43 S. W. 2.

In action to recover rent, where tenant relies on payment to a third person, judgment enjoining such third person from collecting the rent held admissible. Thomas v. Judy (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 890.

A sheriff's deed held properly admitted in evidence to show privity of claim between defendant's predecessor in title and himself. Collier v. Coutts (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 485.

A judgment vesting title to land in plaintiff's ancestors is admissible against one whose ancestors were not parties to the action as a link in plaintiff's chain of title. Owens v. New York & T. Land Co. (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 601.

Where, by wrongful issuance of injunction, suit to enforce trust deed is restrained until debt has become barred, in subsequent proceeding to appoint another trustee, pleadings and judgment in the case are evidence to show that it was improperly issued. Davis v. Converse (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 910.

The report of the master on a claim against a company in the hands of a receiver, stating that certain persons are primarily liable, held not evidence of said persons' liability in an action by claimant against them on the debt. San Antonio & G. S. Ry. Co. v. Ryan (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 749.

Minutes of a commissioners' court regarding a county road, purporting to be laid out on a boundary line in dispute, held admissible to show acquiescence in the line. Vogt v. Geyer (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 1100.

Where plaintiff claims under sheriff's deed, the judgment, execution, and return are admissible in evidence. Kerr v. Oppenheimer, 20 C. A. 140, 49 S. W. 149.

A decree awarding each party to a suit an undivided half interest in certain land, though recorded before the partition, held admissible to support a title thereunder. Campbell v. Antis, 21 C. A. 161, 51 S. W. 343.

In trespass to try title, a bill of exceptions which had been filed by plaintiff in a case in the federal court between plaintiff and defendant's predecessor in title is inadmissible. New York & T. Land Co. v. Votaw (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 125.

An objection by plaintiff to the introduction in evidence of the proceedings by a receiver, that plaintiff was not a party to the receivership suit, was not good, where it appeared that he became a party as an intervening creditor. French v. McCready (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 894.

Abstract of a judgment on which execution was subsequently issued held admissible to show that one purchasing subsequent to the judgment did so in bad faith. Loan & Deposit Co. of America v. Campbell, 27 C. A. 52, 65 S. W. 65.

An objection that a judgment in another suit affecting the rights of the parties was improperly admitted as evidence, because an appeal had been taken therefrom, etc., was untenable, where such judgment had been in fact settled, and where the time for the appeal had elapsed. Glaze v. Johnson, 27 C. A. 116, 65 S. W. 662.

In trespass to try title, a judgment against several defendants, from one of whom plaintiff purchased and under which the land was sold, held admissible over objection that a stipulation in the transfer to plaintiff released the co-defendants. Tinsley v. Corbett, 27 C. A. 633, 66 S. W. 910.

In trespass to try title, a judgment under which plaintiff purchased held not subject to be excluded as evidence on the ground that it was not shown that the land therein ordered sold was not sold in accordance with the judgment. Id.

In trespass to try title, a judgment under which plaintiff purchased held admissible in evidence over objection that a payment by a person from whom plaintiff purchased the judgment to the judgment creditor discharged and satisfied it. Id.

Certain proceedings by administrator held admissible, with evidence of ratification, against plaintiffs in trespass to try title claiming under another estate. Lane v. De Bode, 29 C. A. 602, 69 S. W. 437.

Where, in trespass to try title, the plaintiff claimed through an administrator's sale, the orders of the probate court directing the sale held admissible in evidence. Norwood v. Snell (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 642.

Rejection of an order of court turning over the residue of an estate held not error, the record not showing the question was part of the residue. Ellis v. Le Bow, 30 C. A. 449, 71 S. W. 576.

Plaintiff cannot prove title to land by a judgment in a suit to which neither defendants nor their vendors were parties. Id.

Judgment by a grantee from a grantor in plaintiff's chain of title against defendant's predecessors in interest held admissible in evidence as an assertion of title. Lochridge v. Corbett, 31 C. A. 676, 73 S. W. 96.

Judgment vesting in plaintiff's title of third persons to land held admissible as muniment of title against defendant. Ellis v. Le Bow, 96 T. 532, 74 S. W. 528.

In an action by a railroad company to recover property sold under a judicial sale, a valid deed to the purchaser held admissible. San Antonio & G. S. Ry. Co. v. San Antonio & G. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 782.

In trespass to try title, probate proceedings appointing plaintiff administratrix of the community estate of herself and her deceased husband held admissible in evidence. Rogers v. Tompkins (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 379.

Certain judgment recitals held competent, though not conclusive, evidence in subsequent action between parties and privies of parties to the action in which judgment was rendered. State v. Ortiz, 99 T. 475, 90 S. W. 1084.

In trespass to try title, a judgment in an action between the parties' predecessors in interest held admissible. Veatch v. Gray, 41 C. A. 145, 91 S. W. 324.

In trespass to try title, a sheriff's deed under which plaintiff claimed held inadmissible. Moore v. Kempner, 41 C. A. 36, 91 S. W. 336.

In trespass to try title, a certain judgment in a partition suit held not admissible as against plaintiff. Barrett v. McKinney (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 240.

In trespass to try title to land sold by a bankrupt's assignee, the assignee's report of sale held admissible to show that such assignee recognized the bankrupt as his vendee, and that the bankrupt's attorneys, to whom the land was also conveyed, paid no consideration. Beall v. Chatham (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 1036.

Where plaintiff defended its failure to deliver rice stored with it by defendants on the ground that it had been taken under a writ of sequestration, the writ held admissible in evidence. Borden v. Le Tulle Mercantile Co. (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 128.

Defects in a partition of land held not to affect its force as evidence of the discharge of a resulting trust. Scranton v. Campbell, 45 C. A. 388, 101 S. W. 285.

The failure of the order confirming a guardian's sale to describe the land fully held not to affect its admissibility in an action of trespass to try title. Teague v. Swasey, 46 C. A. 151, 102 S. W. 458.

In an action of scire facias to revive a judgment of the court of civil appeals entered of record in the district court, the judgment as entered of record in the district court is admissible in evidence. Henry v. Red Water Lumber Co., 46 C. A. 179, 102 S. W. 749.

In an action involving the validity of a deed, a judgment in a former trial involving the same deed held inadmissible. Walker v. Erwin, 47 C. A. 637, 106 S. W. 164.

Probate court orders held to sufficiently identify land, and to be admissible as evidence in an action of trespass to try title. Shirley v. Walker (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 995.

To show the execution of a lost deed, a statement in a statement of facts in a cause on file in the supreme court held admissible. Rushing v. Lanier, 51 C. A. 278, 111 S. W. 1089.

Evidence as to proceedings in administration of an estate will be admissible on the question of identity of the person whose estate was administered, although the allegations in the petition for administration do not show any right or authority for administration. Baille v. Western Live Stock & Land Co., 55 C. A. 473, 119 S. W. 325.

A partition decree awarding land sued for to one of the heirs who had conveyed his interest by a deed of trust held admissible in trespass to try title by the purchaser to recover the land so set off. Anderson v. Casey-Swasey Co. (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 918.

In an action for replevin, the replevin bond was admissible in evidence. Lewter v. Lindley (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 178.

In trespass to try title, a judgment by agreement between heirs of a patentee and plaintiff's remote grantor in a suit for recovery of title and possession to the land, divesting the heirs' title and vesting it in the remote grantor, was admissible as a link in plaintiff's chain of title, vesting title in the grantor by estoppel and having the same prima facie effect in placing in him the title inherited by the heirs as their deed would have had. Ingalls v. Orange Lumber Co., 56 C. A. 543, 122 S. W. 53.

In an action to recover title to property purchased, an application of defendant to be appointed temporary administrator held inadmissible. Dooley v. Bolders (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 690.

Certain recitals held inadmissible to show marriage between decedent and plaintiff. Berger v. Kirby (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1122.

It was not error to exclude from evidence instructions refused in another suit, where they were not legitimate on any issue raised in this suit. Smith v. Burgher (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 75.

A judgment, in a former action of trespass to try title between the same parties, held properly admitted in the present action despite an inaccuracy in defendant's name. Hunt v. Wright (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1007.

In trespass to try title, in which defendant claimed under a judgment foreclosing a tax lien, evidence of a decree reversing such judgment more than a year after defendant purchased at the sale pursuant thereto held not admissible. Jameson v. O'Neill (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 680.

Where title apparently was in C., who was party to a partition suit in which a decree divested his right and vested it in T., the decree was admissible in trespass to try title though plaintiff therein was a stranger to the decree. Crosby v. Ardoin (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 709.

Judgment held admissible in trespass to try title to show claim of title, and also as a link in the chain of title, though the parties to the present action were not parties to the judgment. Blunt v. Houston Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 248.

In an action by the beneficiary of a life policy, where insured's wife claimed the proceeds under an agreement with her husband to insure in her favor in consideration of her agreeing to transfer their homestead, the admission of her application as guardian for her minor son, in which she listed another policy as his property, was proper to determine the amount of insurance available for the wife and son. Jones v. Jones (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 265.

In trespass to try title, where defendant claimed a part of the land by a chain of title from a patentee, the report of a commissioner in partition, who was the grantee of the patentee at some uncertain date and not shown to have ever been divested of title, allotting the land to defendant's predecessors, could not be considered a circumstance to prove a transfer from him without a showing that he had previously held title. Long v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 945.

In an action on a note in which defendant relied on coverture, a decree of divorce is admissible in evidence to show that she was a feme sole at the time of suit, and had ratified the contract made while she was a feme covert. Peck v. Morgan (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 917.

Where the recitals in certified copies of the orders which authorized an administrator to sell land are in evidence, with the deed, in a suit to try title, held, that no other proof of decedent's death, nor of administrator's appointment or qualification, need be offered. Barton v. Davidson (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 400.

51. — Pleadings.—Pleadings in a suit are not admissible in evidence against persons not parties thereto. Howard v. Parks, 21 S. W. 269, 1 C. A. 603.

The pleadings are admissible to show that an error in a judgment was due to clerical misprision. Bailey v. Crittenden (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 404.

The pleadings in a foreclosure suit are competent to show when the proceedings were begun. Oppermann v. McGown (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 1078.

Where a judgment in another action between the same parties is pleaded as res judicata, the petition and answer in such action held admissible to support such plea. San Antonio & G. S. Ry. Co. v. San Antonio & G. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 782.

In action for right of way, answers showing defendants' title to the land held admissible in evidence. Holman v. Patterson, 34 C. A. 344, 78 S. W. 989.

In an action by a broker for commissions earned in procuring a purchaser, the answer of the purchaser in a suit by a third person held properly admitted in evidence. Clark v. Wilson, 41 C. A. 450, 91 S. W. 627.

There is no error in sustaining an objection to the admission of an original petition, which had been amended and did not appear to contain anything material. Hudson v. Slate, 53 C. A. 453, 117 S. W. 469.

In an action to subject land to a judgment lien, a pleading in an action in which the land was divided amongst the defendants held admissible to justify cancellation of a judgment refusing to subject it to the lien. Davis v. Jones (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 727.

In an action to enforce a judgment lien, a pleading in another action held not inadmissible as affecting strangers to the present suit. Id.

52. — Records of justices of the peace.—A judgment by default in a justice court on service by publication held inadmissible to show want of notice or appearance in a suit filed against defendant about the same time in a county court. East Texas Land & Improvement Co. v. Graham, 24 C. A. 521, 60 S. W. 472.

53. — Official records and reports in general.—In trespass to try title to land condemned by a county as a public road, order establishing the road held not objectionable as evidence on the ground that no legal notice had been published, and that the order showed that the commissioners' court had refused to pay any compensation for the land taken. Asher v. Jones County, 29 C. A. 353, 58 S. W. 551.

In an action to recover school lands on a certificate, it is not error to admit in evidence the application made by plaintiff for the purchase of the land. Simon v. Stearns, 17 C. A. 13, 43 S. W. 50.

An order of the board of land commissioners, which showed that an unconditional certificate of purchase had been issued to the grantor of plaintiff's intestate, held admissible to show title. Karnes v. Butler (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 950.

An order of the board of land commissioners that the unconditional certificate to public land was awarded to the purchaser of the conditional certificate at sheriff's sale held admissible to explain the conditional certificate. Id.

The fact that the amount remaining unpaid on public land was erroneously recited in the obligation of the purchaser held not to render the purchaser's application inadmissible in evidence in proof of the purchaser's title, where he had otherwise substantially complied with the law. Joyce v. Sisk, 26 C. A. 68, 62 S. W. 960.

In trespass to try title, application to purchase school lands, omitting the word "land," but showing appellant wished to purchase the "survey" for a home, held admissible. Goethal v. Read, 35 C. A. 461, 81 S. W. 592.

In an action on a tax collector's bond, certain schedules, signed by some of the sureties, attached to the bond and pleaded as an exhibit to the petition, held admissible to show the execution of the bond. United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. v. Fossati (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 1038.

In trespass to try title certain records held admissible in evidence as tending to show title. Logan v. Robertson (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 395.

In trespass to try title to strip of land used by defendant county as road, report of jury of view attempting to lay off the road across plaintiff's land held admissible. Wright & Vaughn v. Fanning (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 786.

In an action by a city against a county to recover a municipal square, orders of the commissioners' court through a series of years held admissible as showing authority and control over the property by the county. City of Victoria v. Victoria County (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 368.

Original census roll held inadmissible to show that persons were alive at the time, what persons constituted their family, their ages, or other matters relating to pedigree or heirship. Gorham v. Settegast, 44 C. A. 254, 98 S. W. 665.

Proceedings of coroner's inquest held admissible to show cause of decedent's death in an action on a life insurance policy when expressly made evidence by the policy, though not included in the proof of death. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v. Wagner, 50 C. A. 233, 109 S. W. 1120.

In an action by a delinquent taxpayer to recover certain costs exacted upon payment of the taxes, certain evidence held admissible. Tyler & Knudson v. Tom (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 850.

In an action on a dramshop keeper's bond, the original application for a license and the stub book showing the issuance of a license, held properly received in evidence. McElroy v. Sparkman (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 529.

54. — Tax deeds, records and receipts.—Certificate of comptroller as to assessment or payment of taxes, see notes under Art. 3708.

A recitation in the tax deed that the collector offered the land at public auction at the time, place and in the manner required by law is not evidence of either fact. Henderson v. White, 69 T. 103, 5 S. W. 374.

Receipts for taxes on land which identify the land by the proper abstract number, the name of the grantee, the terminal letter of the grantee's name being omitted, are admissible in evidence, leaving the question of the payment of taxes to the jury. Seemuller v. Thornton, 77 T. 156, 13 S. W. 846.

A tax certificate is no evidence of title. Hardy v. Brown (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 385.

In action to recover lands, a tax deed, without judgment for taxes, and to which plaintiffs are not parties, is not admissible. De Garcia v. Lozano (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 280.

In trespass to try title which depended on the validity of a tax sale, tax receipts which were not for the taxes sued for were not admissible. Eels v. Blair (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 462.

A tax deed, purporting to convey the land of an "unknown owner," held inadmissible on the issue raised by a claim of common source in trespass to try title. Bonner v. Bonner, 34 C. A. 348, 78 S. W. 535.

Under a city charter, held in a suit by the city to collect taxes, that the tax rolls were admissible in evidence to make out a prima facie case for plaintiff. City of Houston v. Stewart, 40 C. A. 499, 90 S. W. 49.

A void tax deed is admissible to show a common source of title. Skov v. Coffin (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 450.

55. — Records and returns of surveyors.—Records of surveys and certified copies thereof, see notes under Art. 3695.

Plaintiff read from the original field notes of the surveyor, made out in the English language, which contained the courses and distances in meandering a stream that bounded the survey, and were translated into the grant, which was in the Spanish language. The date of the survey, as shown by these field notes, was five months before the extending of the title, and before an order of survey issued. Held, that the commissioner for extending titles, having recognized and acted on the survey, the evidence was admissible if it tended to a more certain identification of the land embraced in the grant. Cook v. Dennis, 61 T. 246.

Field notes of a section not in controversy, unaccompanied by a patent of the section, or a certified copy, held inadmissible to show that part of the land in controversy is in such section. Pardee v. Adamson, 19 C. A. 263, 46 S. W. 43.

Certain field notes held admissible, in connection with parol evidence, to establish the starting point of a survey. Stewart v. Crosby (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 433.

In an action to establish a boundary, the original field notes are admissible at the instance of either party. Hamilton v. Saunders (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 1069.

Field notes are admissible to show a mistake in the patent in relation to the name of the grantee. New York & Texas Land Co. v. Dooley, 33 C. A. 636, 77 S. W. 1030.

Field notes of surveyor held admissible in evidence in action of trespass to try title. Camp v. League (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 1062.

In trespass to try title to a tract, surveys of adjacent tracts are admissible to identify the tract in controversy. Sullivan v. Solis, 52 C. A. 464, 114 S. W. 456.

In a suit to establish a boundary, the lines of surveyors in attempting to locate the line are not binding on the parties, and the evidence of such surveys is only admitted to aid the jury in finding the location of the line as originally run. Runkle v. Smith, 52 C. A. 186, 114 S. W. 865.

56. — Records kept by United States officers in general.—In libel for charging that plaintiff imported goods without paying the custom duties thereon, the report of the government officers who investigated the case, not being commented on in the alleged libelous article, was irrelevant and inadmissible. San Antonio Light Pub. Co. v. Lewy, 52 C. A. 22, 113 S. W. 574.

A pay roll of a government vessel held admissible to show that a grantor was not present when the deed purported to have been executed. Word v. Houston Oil Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 334.

57. — Minutes and memoranda.—One contracting with a city is not confined to the minutes of the proceedings of the council for proof of his contract. City of Belton v. Sterling (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 1027.

Orders from the minutes of the county court are proper evidence in a suit to determine the area dedicated by a town to the county buildings. City of Victoria v. Victoria County (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 67.

In an action against a city upon notes given in payment of fire hose, the minutes of the city council of its proceedings in reference to the purchase and the resolution authorizing the execution of the notes were properly admitted in evidence. City of Cleburne v. Gutta Percha & Rubber Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1072.

58. — Official certificates.—The certificate of the clerk is prima facie evidence of the right of a witness to fees and mileage as stated therein. Flores v. Thorn, 8 T. 377; Gause v. Edminton, 35 T. 69.

A certificate as to effect of ancient records is incompetent as evidence. Howard v. Russell, 75 T. 171, 12 S. W. 525.

Ex parte certificate of the clerk that no claims had been filed against an estate in course of administration is not evidence. Myers v. Jones, 23 S. W. 562, 4 C. A. 330.

The indefiniteness of the description of the property in an assessment certificate does not necessarily make it void or inadmissible. Hutcheson v. Storrie (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 785.

In an action to recover land awarded to defendant as additional school land, the land commissioner's certificate of proof of defendant's settlement on his home section held not admissible as against plaintiff. White v. Watson, 34 C. A. 169, 78 S. W. 237.

A clerk's certificate on a will after probate held sufficient to show that it was duly recorded, as required by Acts 1848, p. 236, c. 157. Hymmer v. Holyfield (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 722.

The certificate of the secretary of state, declaring that the right of a foreign corporation to do business in the state has been forfeited, is not admissible to prove a forfeiture. St. Louis E. M. Fireproofing Co. v. Beilharz (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 512.

In an action to set aside deeds executed by a married woman, the certificate of the notary to her acknowledgment is not competent as testimony to show that she knew what land was covered by the deed. Oar v. Davis, 105 T. 479, 151 S. W. 794, affirming judgment (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 710.

59. — Patents for land.—A recital in a patent held not evidence that a person was dead when the land certificate was conveyed to him. Pfeuffer v. Bondies, 42 C. A. 52, 93 S. W. 221.

60. — Record of conveyances and other private writings.—See notes under Art. 3700.

61. — Certificates of land commissioner.—See notes under Art. 3696.

62. Admissibility of transcripts and certified copies—Ancient instrument.—A certified copy of an ancient instrument not within the control of the court is admissible in evidence (Holt v. Maverick [Civ. App.] 24 S. W. 532) without proof of its execution, and, if it cannot be produced, proof of its contents may be made (Walker v. Peterson [Civ. App.] 23 S. W. 269).

63. — Judicial records and proceedings in general.—See, also, notes under Arts. 3694, 3706, 5614.

A certified copy of the execution docket is not better evidence than a certified copy of the execution. Mitchusson v. Wadsworth, 1 App. C. C. § 977.

A transcript of the proceedings of a court without jurisdiction is admissible to show the proceedings therein, when the fact that such proceedings were had is a material issue. Ward v. Sutor, 70 T. 343, 8 S. W. 51, 8 Am. St. Rep. 606.

An order of sale which refers to the judgment is not evidence of the purchaser's title at the sheriff's sale. Bermea Land & Lumber Co. v. Agoue, 20 C. A. 655, 50 S. W. 131.

A certified copy of the will, in which the testator devised to plaintiff's intestate a six-seventh interest in land which the testator claimed by virtue of an unconditional certificate of purchase issued by the board of land commissioners, held admissible to show plaintiff's title. Karnes v. Butler (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 950.

In an action to recover the value of goods adjudged to be plaintiff's in garnishment proceedings in the court of civil appeals, the mandate of the court, signed by the chief justice and attested by the clerk and its seal, were properly received in evidence to prove the rendition of a judgment. Hyde v. Baker, 26 C. A. 287, 62 S. W. 962.

Where certified copies of the record in a proceeding in a foreign state were not admissible in evidence, because the court in which such proceedings were had was without jurisdiction, partial contents of such copies were not admissible for the purpose of proving statements therein contained. Wren v. Howland, 33 C. A. 87, 75 S. W. 894.

In an action of trespass to try title, a probate judge's decree in a guardianship matter held inadmissible. Teague v. Swasey, 46 C. A. 151, 102 S. W. 458.

In an action of trespass to try title, a certified copy of a report of sale in a guardianship matter held admissible. Id.

64. — Of federal courts in state courts.—The judgment rendered in a United States court upon which action is brought held sufficiently authenticated. Whitley v. General Electric Co., 18 C. A. 674, 45 S. W. 959.

65. — Official documents, records and proceedings in general.—See, also, notes under Arts. 3693, 3696, 3708.

The admission of certified copies of parts of an assessment roll was proper when pertinent to matters in controversy. Brummer v. City of Galveston (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 239.

On an issue as to whether the one under whom plaintiff claimed was the grantee named in a bounty warrant, certain documents held admissible. Allen v. Halsted, 39 C. A. 324, 87 S. W. 754.

A mere certified copy of the record of a foreign state is not admissible as evidence of the execution of a deed. Freeman v. Wm. M. Rice Institute (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 629.

An examined copy of a foreign record is admissible as evidence as to the execution of a deed the original of which has been lost. Id.

Examined copies of deeds as recorded in another state were admissible to show that the records contained purported copies of the deeds now lost. William M. Rice Institute v. Freeman (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 688.

A certified copy of the findings, opinion, and judgment of the interstate commerce commission is, by Interstate Commerce Act, § 14, admissible in evidence in an action involving the question of the true rate for an interstate shipment. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Porter (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 267.

66. — Records and proceedings in land office.—See notes under Arts. 3694, 3696.

In an action between adverse claimants of school lands, certified copies of proofs of occupancy, filed in the general land office by one through whom plaintiff claims title, are not competent evidence. Spence v. Dawson (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 180.

A certified sketch from a map held admissible as evidence of whatever appears thereon. Finberg v. Gilbert (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 979.

67. — Records of conveyances and other private writings.—See, also, notes under Art. 3700.

A certified copy of a power of attorney, registered in another state, is not admissible to prove that the person executing it was in a certain place at the time it was executed. Texas Tram & Lumber Co. v. Gwin (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 110.

Where a certified copy of a grant in a foreign language is also a correct translation thereof, it is admissible in evidence. Hollifield v. Landrum, 31 C. A. 187, 71 S. W. 979.

Mutilated records held admissible to show the existence of a deed. Ryle v. Davidson (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 823.

68. — Articles of Incorporation.—See notes under Art. 1132.

69-71. Requisites of exemplification or certificate in general.—Records in state comptroller's office, see notes under Art. 3696. See, also, notes under Art. 3694.

Erroneous certificates to copies of warrants in county comptroller's office held not to prevent their introduction in evidence. Harper v. Marion County, 33 C. A. 653, 77 S. W. 1044.

The federal courts do not require the certificate of a judge of a state court that the attestation of the clerk thereof is in due form. Edwards v. Smith (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 1161.

Where a copy of a deed is certified to by the official custodian in one state, without any seal to his certificate, its admission in another state as evidence was error. Paul v. Chenault (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 682.

A certificate to a copy of a foreign judgment held sufficient. Varn v. Arnold Hat Co. (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 693.

72. Admissibility of private writings and documents in general.—A deed from a Masonic lodge executed by D., senior warden and acting worshipful master, was offered in evidence, and in support of the authority of D. to act the records of the lodge were offered in evidence, from which it appeared that the deed had been recorded in the minutes of the lodge, and the minutes adopted by the body. It was proven that there was no secretary, and the book was produced from the lodge room by the presiding officer, the acting secretary being sick. The book having been produced to show the action of the body itself, and not extraneous facts, it was held to be admissible. Leach v. Dodson, 64 T. 185.

Architect's certificates as to cost of completing building after breach of contract by contractor held admissible in evidence over objections stated. Taub v. Woodruff (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 750.

73. — Corporate records and proceedings.—A church register evidence as to pedigree, etc. Overall v. Armstrong (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 440.

A church record of marriage, death, etc., is admissible in evidence. Howard v. Russell, 75 T. 174, 12 S. W. 525; Overall v. Armstrong (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 440.

In an action by a railroad company against another railroad company to recover plaintiff's property and franchise sold under a judicial sale, the introduction of defendant's charter in evidence held not error. San Antonio & G. S. Ry. Co. v. San Antonio & G. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 782.

In an action against a building and loan association for the cancellation of a lien and to declare plaintiff's debt usurious, certificates of stock issued to plaintiff held admissible. American Mut. Bldg. & Sav. Ass'n v. Cornibe, 35 C. A. 335, 80 S. W. 1026.

Where, in a personal injury suit against a railroad receiver, the company's property was sold to a new corporation, subject to the receiver's liabilities, and the new corporation was made a party defendant, its charter and the receiver's deed held properly admitted in evidence. Freeman v. McElroy (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 423.

74. — Rules.—In action by locomotive engineer for injuries, held proper to admit in evidence a rule making station agents responsible for the position of switches, where no yardmen were employed. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Mayfield, 29 C. A. 477, 68 S. W. 807.

In action against railroad for injuries to employé, rule of railroad forbidding backing of cars over a public crossing or highway, unless there is a man on them to see that the way is clear, held admissible. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. McAdams, 37 C. A. 575, 84 S. W. 1076.

In an action for injuries to a railroad trackman by the explosion of a torpedo, a railroad rule held immaterial and irrelevant to the issues. Murphy v. Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 940.

Where a brakeman was injured by the sudden acceleration of the speed of a train a rule requiring a whistle to be sounded when rounding curves where the view is obstructed held irrelevant. Gulf, B. & K. C. Ry. Co. v. Harrison (Civ. App.) 104 S. W. 399.

In an action for injuries to a brakeman by the sudden acceleration of the speed of a log train, a rule that trains must not start, except on signal from the conductor, held irrelevant. Id.

A rule of a railroad company held admissible to prove the existence of facts recited therein. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Harper, 53 C. A. 614, 114 S. W. 1168, 1199.

In an action by an engine watcher for personal injuries, held, that the rejected rules of defendant included in his application for employment were relevant, and should have been admitted. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. McSwain, 55 C. A. 317, 113 S. W. 874.

Where the plaintiff's intestate was killed on a curve in the track, evidence of defendant's rule requiring whistles to be blown while rounding that curve held admissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brooks (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 95.

75. Admissibility of conveyances, contracts and other instruments.—See, also, notes under Art. 3700.

In a suit to try title between the grantees of the decedent's heirs and the grantees of her administrator, a deed held admissible and sufficient to pass title as against the collateral attack made on it by the grantees of decedent's heirs. Flelds v. Burnett, 49 C. A. 446, 108 S. W. 1048.

Plaintiff claimed title to six hundred and forty acres of land, part of a league granted to Solomon Bolin, as follows: 1. The grant to Bolin in 1835. 2. A sale by Bolin to John Little of one-half of the league. 3. A sale by Little to Lacy of that tract, reserving six hundred and forty acres in the northwest corner of the tract. 4. A sale of six hundred and forty acres by Little to plaintiff's intestate. The evidence of the title, so far as it is necessary to state, was as follows: Bolin, by his will, dated in 1835, duly probated in 1837, gave to his wife, Lucinda, "my half of the sitio of land which John Little was to clear out of the office on shares, supposed to be laid between the rivers Trinidad and Neches." On the 28th of August, 1837, the widow of Bolin, joined by her second husband, describing themselves as testamentary administrators of Bolin, and reciting an order of court for that purpose, conveyed to John Little an undivided half of the Bolin league. No order of the court was shown. In 1850 S. W. Blount, husband of the widow of Lacy, filed a petition in the county court reciting that some time in 1837 or 1838 the executor of Solomon Bolin, deceased, by order of the probate court, executed to one John Little a title to one undivided half of said league; that afterwards Little conveyed the tract, less six hundred and forty acres, to Lacy, and prayed for partition. An order of partition was made, dividing the league by a line running east and west, giving the north half to Bolin and south half to the representative of Lacy. The defendants claimed the land in controversy under conveyances from the widow and children of Bolin, executed in 1850-51. It was held that the admission in the will of Bolin was evidence of title in Little to an undivided interest in the land against all claiming under Bolin; and the recitals in the deed by the administrators of Bolin were conclusive against all persons claiming under either of them. Box v. Lawrence, 14 T. 545.

A widow suing the administrator and legatees of her deceased husband shows common source of title as to all the legatees mentioned in the will by the introduction of it. Mitchell v. Mitchell, 80 T. 101, 15 S. W. 705.

A contract for a sale of land was made by an agent. A cash payment was made, and notes given for the balance, payable "on or before" a certain date. The vendor, on receipt of the cash and notes, returned the latter to his agent by mail for correction. The letter containing the notes was not delivered, but was returned by the post office department to the writer, stamped on the envelope "Return to Writer." The address on the envelope was not legibly written, and the envelope was not stamped with the stamp of the office to which it was directed. On receipt of the returned letter, the vendor, having learned that his agent was in collusion with the vendee, having sold the land for an inadequate price, sent the notes, together with a certified check for the cash payment, to the vendee, and repudiated the sale. In an action for a rescission of the deed, held, that the check was admissible in evidence to show that the contract of sale had never been completed; also that the returned envelope and letter were admissible. Slator v. Trostel (Civ. App.) 21 S. W. 285.

A carrier's bill of lading is evidence of shipper's ownership in an action against the carrier. Parks v. Railway Co. (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 708; Prendergast v. Williamson, 6 C. A. 725, 26 S. W. 421.

In an action against maker and indorser of a note secured by vendor's lien, deed from the maker and indorser releasing part of the property secured by a lien held admissible. Smith v. Ojerholm, 18 C. A. 111, 44 S. W. 41.

Admissibility of trust deed under which defendant claimed, and abstract of title, determined. Watkins v. Atwell (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 404.

Though will giving land to one was not probated, it is admissible to show that he did not take possession of land as tenant in common, but adversely. Ilig v. Garcia, 92 T. 251, 47 S. W. 717.

A deed of partition executed between heirs and executor is admissible to show a distribution of the estate. Devine v. United States Mortg. Co. of Scotland (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 585.

A deed executed after commencement of suit is admissible to show a ratification by the grantor of the act of another in executing a deed prior to the suit as his attorney in fact. McCulloch County Land & Cattle Co. v. Whitefort, 21 C. A. 314, 50 S. W. 1042.

In an action for overflowing land, it was error to exclude a deed which showed that plaintiff did not own a part of the land damaged. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. O'Mahoney (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 1049.

In trespass to try title to school lands, it was proper to exclude a lease of the land to plaintiff's grantor, where the grantor had afterwards made an application to purchase. Ablene Live Stock Co. v. Guinn (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 885.

A bond for title held admissible, though plaintiff was guilty of laches, and no decree for specific performance or occupation of the land by either party was shown. Neyland v. Ward, 22 C. A. 369, 54 S. W. 604.

A deed conveying the grantor's interest in the land in controversy by virtue of an unconditional certificate of purchase issued by the land commissioners held admissible to show title. Karnes v. Butler (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 950.

Where in trespass to try title, the joint deed to plaintiff's husband and one of defendant's grantors was indorsed on the outside as a joint deed from the grantor therein to defendant's grantors, it was not error to exclude such indorsement from the evidence. Texas Tram & Lumber Co. v. Gwin, 29 C. A. 1, 67 S. W. 892, 68 S. W. 721.

In an action against a carrier for carrying a passenger out of his way, the unused portion of his ticket held admissible to show contract. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Evans, 30 C. A. 252, 70 S. W. 351.

In trespass to try title, where plaintiffs had shown a common source, a deed of the same land from a third party, executed prior to the deed from the common source to plaintiff's predecessors in interest, held not admissible to show an outstanding title. Gann v. Roberts, 32 C. A. 561, 74 S. W. 950.

In an action to rescind a contract for an exchange of lands, based on misrepresentation as to defendant's title, a lease to defendant of the lands in question held admissible, as conveying to him whatever title was then owned by the lessor. Singleton v. Houston, 35 C. A. 10, 79 S. W. 98.

An instrument reciting appointment of substituted trustee, who sold property under deed of trust, held admissible, on proof of refusal of original trustee to act. Ward v. Forrester, 35 C. A. 319, 80 S. W. 127.

In an action for materials furnished for a building pursuant to the order of sureties in the contractor's bond, the bond held admissible to support a consideration for the sureties' promise to pay. Bartley v. Comer (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 82.

In an action by a broker for commissions in procuring a purchaser, an instrument executed by the purchaser procured by the broker held admissible for a specified purpose. Clark v. Wilson, 41 C. A. 450, 91 S. W. 627.

In trespass to try title, leases to the land in question executed by plaintiffs were admissible to show that plaintiffs were asserting ownership. Staley v. Stone, 41 C. A. 299, 92 S. W. 1017.

In trespass to try title, lease held admissible to prove that defendants were tenants under plaintiff. Camp v. League (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 1062.

In trespass to try title, plaintiffs held entitled to use in evidence a certain deed to them, executed prior to the filing of their first amended original petition. Stubblefield v. Hanson (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 406.

In trespass to try title, a deed under which plaintiffs were not claiming or attempting to deraign title held inadmissible as evidence of a common source of title or for any other purpose. Id.

In an action upon a note held proper to admit in evidence a certain contract between the payee and those executing the note. Kempner v. Patrick, 43 C. A. 216, 95 S. W. 51.

In an action of trespass to try title, the agreement of plaintiff's grantor to convey to plaintiff, and his deed to her, were properly admitted to show her title. Cobb v. Bryan (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 513.

In an action on promissory notes, where the defense was payment, the fact that certain receipts covered payments shown by certain statements rendered did not make such receipts and statements inadmissible in evidence. Stone v. Pettus, 47 C. A. 14, 103 S. W. 413.

An accepted written proposal to maintain a waterworks system held admissible in evidence as the contract. Bounds v. Hubbard City, 47 C. A. 233, 105 S. W. 56.

In a suit to try title between the grantees of the decedent's heirs and the grantees of her administrator, a deed held properly admitted in evidence and sufficient to pass the title to the land described therein. Fields v. Burnett, 49 C. A. 446, 108 S. W. 1048.

In an action on an instrument acknowledging an indebtedness by defendant to plaintiff's intestate for a balance of money received from her, held error to exclude from evidence deeds showing that lands conveyed to the intestate were paid for by defendant out of funds belonging to intestate though the instrument did not cover such transactions; defendant having pleaded mutual mistake. Watson v. Parker, 50 C. A. 616, 111 S. W. 771.

In trespass to try title, where defendants claimed under a deed from T., executed under a power of attorney from the owner, and the deed recited a leasehold to T. and a subsequent conveyance to his principal, as well as the power of attorney, the lease to T. was properly admitted to explain the transaction between T. and his principal. Neill v. Kleiber, 51 C. A. 552, 112 S. W. 694.

In trespass to try title, deeds forming plaintiff's claim of title held properly received in evidence. Milwee v. Phelps, 53 C. A. 195, 115 S. W. 891; Buckley v. Runge (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 533; Guilmartin v. Padgett, 138 S. W. 1143; Rider v. Radford, 151 S. W. 1181.

Admissibility of particular deeds in evidence stated. Uvalde County v. Oppenheimer, 53 C. A. 137, 115 S. W. 904.

In an action against a telephone company for failure to notify plaintiff of a sick call received over the line of another company, the exclusion of a certain contract between the two companies for the transmission of calls held not erroneous. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Owens (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 89.

Bills of lading in an action by a seller of coal for damages for breach of contract of purchase held admissible in evidence. Maricle v. McAlister Fuel Co., 55 C. A. 178, 121 S. W. 221.

Evidence of the contents of a deed, in an action for divorce and to set aside a conveyance as in fraud of the wife, held admissible to show notice to the purchaser of the land of plaintiff's title and also on the issue of marriage. Harlan v. Harlan (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 950.

In trespass to try title, a deed in plaintiff's chain of title held admissible against an intervener who made no demand for an abstract of title. Coler v. Alexander (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 664.

In a suit to specifically perform a contract to convey, an abstract of title held not inadmissible. Collier v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 389.

Where a contract was admitted in evidence, other writings which were part of it, and related to the same transaction, were also admissible. Levy v. Goldsoll (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 420.

A power of attorney and a deed executed by a married woman alone, on her fraudulently representing to the grantee that she was single, is properly received in evidence, together with the evidence of her fraud to show a binding conveyance. Keller v. Lindow (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 304.

Judgment in a former suit held not to make a trust deed inadmissible. Smith v. Burgher (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 75.

It was no objection to the admission of a power of attorney to convey land that it was in German, or that it ran to the Imperial German consul for the state of Texas or his representative or successor in office. Mitchell v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 501.

In suit to correct the description in deeds, deed of defendant's intestate to plaintiff held admissible. Mounger v. Daugherty (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1070.

An abstract held admissible in a suit for specific performance to show title in defendants, and hence their ability to perform. Naylor v. Parker (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 93.

Certain deeds held admissible to show that the grantor had elected to accept the lands allotted to him in partition and to disclaim interest in a portion of the land certificate under which other heirs located other land. Robertson v. Brothers (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 657.

Receipt held admissible in evidence in an action on a contract for the purpose of showing a partial payment under the contract. Storrie v. Ft. Worth Stockyards Co. (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 286.

In trespass to try title, held, that a deed was admissible to show the limits of an adverse claim. Dean v. Furrh (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 343.

In an action upon tuition notes given to a private school, a circular and catalogue of the school were admissible to show the terms of the contract between the parties, accepted by giving the notes. Vidor v. Peacock (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 672.

Deeds and long possession under them held admissible to support a presumption of a prior verbal conveyance or conveyance by written deed. Blunt v. Houston Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 248.

Where, in an action for conversion, the evidence showed that defendant and another had owned the property, and had sold it to a firm as evidenced by an unrecorded bill of sale retaining a lien for the price, and that a partner sold his interest in the firm by bill of sale, which recited that the copartner and third person purchasing the interest would pay defendant, and which retained a second lien for the unpaid price due to the partner, which instrument was filed for record, the instrument was admissible in evidence as against the objection of the bank. Hawkins v. Western Nat. Bank of Hereford (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1191.

In an attorney's action for compensation, contingent upon his establishing his client's right to land, deed from the client held admissible to show that the client's own act had made it impossible for him to procure the land. Threadgill v. Shaw (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 825.

In a purchaser's action for equitable relief from a sale induced by fraud, a deed, executed and tendered by him to the party from whom he received title, was admissible in evidence to show his willingness to do equity, though the party to whom the tender was made was not the vendor with whom he had made the deal; plaintiff's deal having been with one who had merely a contract interest, and having received his deed from the holder of the legal title. Hagelstein v. Blaschke (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 718.

In trespass to try title to a part of a railroad right of way, a deed from plaintiff to defendant, transferring another part of its right of way, was not admissible. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 850.

Where plaintiff claimed title through a deed from a mercantile company to a grocery company in consideration of a credit on debt due the grantee, it was immaterial that the credit was not in fact entered on the grantee's books until after defendant ceased to be a member of the mercantile company. Rider v. Radford (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1181.

Where, in an action for specific performance, all of the parties interested were before the court, the original contract to convey to plaintiff, upon which the suit was based, was admissible in evidence. Tolar v. South Texas Development Co. (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 911.

Deeds, showing title to the survey in which the land in controversy was located in the common source, held admissible to show that the original certificate had been transferred to such common source, though they were not in plaintiff's chain of title, nor embraced in the abstract. Thompson & Tucker Lumber Co. v. Platt (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 268.

Where plaintiffs claimed title as heirs of an original patentee, a deed from the heir of a brother-in-law of the original patentee, made and recorded before the death of the patentee, is admissible on the question whether the original patentee held the grant in trust as to two-thirds thereof for the brother-in-law. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

76. — Relation to matters in controversy in general.—A deed of a portion of plaintiff's interest in land to her attorney was properly excluded in an action to enforce a parol gift of the land. La Master v. Dickson, 17 C. A. 473, 43 S. W. 911.

In action on vendor's lien note deposited as collateral, admission of deed to show lien was retained to secure the note held not error. Bond v. National Exch. Bank (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 71.

Where defendant, sued on note, alleged it had been deposited as collateral, and set up note secured, claiming it was paid, admission of note shown to be renewal of note secured to show the amount due was not error. Id.

In an action by a city to recover a street claimed by adverse possession, a lease to a third party of a portion of the premises owned by him held not admissible in evidence. Williams v. City of Galveston (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 551.

Where in trespass to try title there were neither allegations nor proof that an instrument in evidence referred to land in controversy, the trial court erred in considering the description of the land therein. Turner v. Cochran (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 151.

In an action by the administratrix to recover double the amount of usurious interest paid on a note, as secured by a deed of trust, such deed of trust is admissible. Cassidy v. Scottish-American Mortg. Co., 27 C. A. 211, 64 S. W. 1023.

In trespass to try title, it was improper to admit a deed, offered to show common source of title, when plaintiff failed to connect defendant's title with the deed. Boston v. McMenamy, 29 C. A. 272, 68 S. W. 201.

Deeds to adverse claimants of land held material, in connection with evidence of actual possession, on the question of their title. Crawford v. Arnold (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 244.

In action for right of way over land deeds thereof to defendants, their execution being proven, held admissible in evidence. Holman v. Patterson, 34 C. A. 344, 78 S. W. 989.

In a suit by the grantee of land to set aside a mortgage executed thereon by the grantor, on the ground that the mortgage was obtained by duress, held not error to admit in evidence the deed from the grantor to the grantee. Gray v. Freeman, 37 C. A. 556, 84 S. W. 1105.

In a suit by a vendor who had retained a lien to recover the land, the deed making the original conveyance held admissible in evidence. Branch v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 813.

In action on building contract, written contract, pleaded by either party, held admissible in evidence. Neblett v. McGraw & Brewer, 41 C. A. 239, 91 S. W. 309.

A deed to plaintiff from her husband before marriage held admissible in support of plaintiff's plea of limitation. Alford Bros. & Whiteside v. Williams, 41 C. A. 436, 91 S. W. 636.

In an action to foreclose a chattel mortgage, the mortgage held admissible in evidence. Roche v. Dale, 43 C. A. 287, 95 S. W. 1100.

A note executed by a vendee to the vendor's administrator in renewal of two notes, one for the balance of the price of the land, and the other for rent, held admissible in an action by such administrator to recover a part of the land for nonpayment of the balance of the price. Smith v. Owen, 43 C. A. 411, 97 S. W. 521.

On a question of dedication of a city street by filing a plat showing the street and selling lots with reference thereto, deeds and other instruments relating to a lot in the same part of the city held not admissible in evidence. City of San Antonio v. Rowley, 48 C. A. 376, 106 S. W. 753.

In an action on a note given for the price of land and foreclosure of vendor's lien, held proper to admit in evidence a certified copy of the deed and the note. Bolden v. Hughes, 48 C. A. 496, 107 S. W. 91, 93.

In a suit for the possession of real estate, a deed held properly received in evidence, as against the objection that the grantors therein were not shown to have been connected with the title. Haney v. Gartin, 51 C. A. 577, 113 S. W. 166.

In an action for attorney's services in endeavoring to obtain school lands for defendant, a quitclaim deed, executed by defendant to an occupant in settlement of a claim for damages, held inadmissible. Shaw v. Threadgill, 53 C. A. 254, 115 S. W. 671.

On an issue as to plaintiff's right to recover a proportional amount of the price of certain land for a deficiency in quantity, the contract of sale held admissible. Yates v. Buttrell (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 831.

In an attorney's action for compensation contingent upon establishing his client's right to land, a deed from the client held admissible to show that the client's own act had made it impossible to recover the land. Threadgill v. Shaw (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 325.

In a property owner's suit to enjoin a county from opening a second-class road through plaintiff's land, deeds from third persons to which plaintiff was not a party or privy, and not conveying land claimed by him, were irrelevant. Crawford v. Frio County (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 388.

Where a deed from a cotenant to his heir is introduced, it is admissible without showing the interest of the cotenant, where some of the cotenants are not parties. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

77. — Recitals of fact in general.—Recitals in deeds as estoppel, see post, Rule 32.

In an action of trespass to try title the defendants offered in evidence deeds which referred to and recited the fact of the grant of the land in controversy to plaintiff's ancestor under whom plaintiff claimed. Held, the validity of the grant was admitted. Hardy v. De Leon, 5 T. 211.

In a suit by a sheriff on a bond given by defendant to indemnify him for a levy made at the request of the defendant, a recital in the bond that the goods had been levied upon was evidence that the bond was executed after the levy, which was a material fact in the case. Illies v. Fitzgerald, 11 T. 417.

Recitals in a private instrument cannot be used in evidence to affect the title of one not connected therewith. Thus, in a suit for land a material issue was whether the title was issued before or after the 13th of November, 1835, the closing of the land office, and the plaintiff offered in evidence a deed executed by the original grantee to a person not connected with the plaintiff, reciting that the testimonio of the original title in his possession was dated November 15, 1835. Held inadmissible. Houston v. Blythe, 60 T. 506; Williams v. Chandler, 25 T. 4.

In an action of trespass to try title, both parties claimed from the T. & P. Ry. Co. The plaintiff claimed under a deed from the company to T. H. in consideration of $1 paid by Elder T. H. of the African Baptist Church, South, and his successors in office, and then produced a chain of title through T. H. to himself. The defendant produced a deed signed by several persons as trustees of Mount Zion Baptist Church (colored) to I. B. H. and a deed from I. B. H. to himself. It was held that the recital in the deed was not evidence that the grantors were trustees, and that identity between the two churches did not appear. Tapp v. Cory, 64 T. 594.

Recitals in a contract executed by parties not personally acting in its execution, that the parties executing it acted in the representative capacity stated, will not prove the existence of such relation so as to bind others. Fine v. Freeman, 83 T. 529, 17 S. W. 783, 18 S. W. 963.

Recitals in a deed purporting to have been made by heirs are not evidence of the heirship as against strangers, and this, although the deed is an ancient document. McCoy v. Pease, 17 C. A. 303, 42 S. W. 659.

Recitals in deed held admissible on the question of the value of the property conveyed. Richardson v. Overleese, 17 C. A. 376, 44 S. W. 308.

Heirship cannot be proven by recitals in a deed. Watkins v. Smith, 91 T. 589, 45 S. W. 560.

Recital in a deed of a prior contract of sale, and payment of the price thereunder, made after the grantor had conveyed to a third person, is not admissible against the prior grantee. Burroughs v. Farmer (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 846.

Application by husband and wife for loan, stating that the property was not their homestead, held admissible on foreclosure to show that, if it ever was, it had been abandoned. Bowman v. Rutter (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 52.

Recital in a deed held admissible as evidence of bona fides of debt for which assignment had previously been executed. Matula v. Lane, 22 C. A. 391, 55 S. W. 504.

Recitals of the will of a mother who died prior to the time a cause of action arose held competent evidence to prove coverture of a daughter, to avoid the bar of limitation. Summerhill v. Darrow, 94 T. 71, 57 S. W. 942.

In ejectment, probate proceedings and recitals in deeds of a grantor in plaintiff's chain of title held admissible. Lochridge v. Corbett, 31 C. A. 676, 73 S. W. 96.

Clause in deed of trust, empowering trustees to make recitals, held not to authorize substituted trustee to create evidence of his power to act, so as to make recital in his deed of refusal of original trustee to act evidence of that fact. Ward v. Forrester, 35 C. A. 319, 80 S. W. 127.

Where a deed is admissible in evidence, recitals therein are also admissible. Sydnor v. Texas Savings & Real Estate Inv. Ass'n, 42 C. A. 138, 94 S. W. 451.

In trespass to try title, a recital in a deed 30 years old held admissible. Hirsch v. Patton, 49 C. A. 499, 108 S. W. 1015.

A recital in a deed held admissible to prove the execution of another deed. Ryle v. Davidson (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 823.

Recital of a prior conveyance in a deed is not original evidence of the fact. Bond v. Garrison (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 839.

Recitals in an ancient deed held evidence of marital relationship. Ardoin v. Cobb (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 271.

A dray receipt for lumber sued for in an action on an open account held admissible in evidence, though it recited that the lumber was sold and delivered to another than defendant. Browning v. El Paso Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 386.

A recital in a power of attorney executed by the purported heir is not evidence of heirship as against third persons. Stuart v. Harper (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 712.

A deed executed by one of the claimants to the land, recognizing in its recitals the title of the children of one from whom the opposite parties claimed title, is admissible as an admission against interest. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

A defective deed held admissible to show by a recital therein a claim of interest against the original patentee. Id.

78. — Death.—A recital in a writing that the makers are the heirs of a named person is not evidence of the death of such person or the heirship. Davidson v. Senior, 23 S. W. 24, 3 C. A. 547.

79. — Nature of Instruments In general.—On issue of ownership, a check in full for "stock of goods," admissible in evidence. Kean v. Zundelowitz, 29 S. W. 930, 9 C. A. 350.

An altered instrument may be rejected from evidence, until the alteration is explained in such manner as to show it is not nullified thereby. Kansas Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Coalson, 22 C. A. 64, 54 S. W. 388.

Where a defendant in an action to foreclose a chattel mortgage and for conversion pleads payment in money and property, a bill of sale conveying property the proceeds of which were to be credited on the debt, and a sale by the mortgagee of certain property for a sum less than its value, held admissible. Watts v. Dubois (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 698.

In an action against a railroad company by a brakeman for injury claimed to have resulted from defendant's negligence, his application for the position held properly admitted to show his acceptance of and agreement to the rules of defendant; violation of such rules having been pleaded. Parks v. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas, 29 C. A. 551, 69 S. W. 125.

In an action for salary for managing a skating rink, held not error to exclude a writing claimed by defendant to embody the terms of the contract of employment. Gate City Roller Rink Co. v. McGuire (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 436.

In trespass to try title, a mortgage through which plaintiff claimed which had not been foreclosed did not constitute a muniment of title, and should not have been admitted for that purpose. Moorhead v. Ellison, 56 C. A. 444, 120 S. W. 1049.

A contract for separation and maintenance held valid, and properly admitted in evidence. Levy v. Goldsoll (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 420.

To entitle one to claim in his grantor's right as an innocent purchaser, the grantee must show by other testimony than recitals in the deed to his grantor that such grantor paid a valuable consideration for the land. Haley v. Sabine Valley Timber & Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 596.

80. — Acknowledgment, signature and witnesses.—See notes under Art. 1109.

81. — Form and validity in general.—A deed to plaintiff, bearing date after the ouster alleged in the petition, is admissible in evidence. Jenkins v. Adams, 71 T. 1, 8 S. W. 603.

In an action by heirs of an alleged patentee, where the only issue was as to his identity, a deed purporting to have been executed and recorded after the death of such alleged patentee by one of the same name was admissible to show that some one of the patentee's name was claiming the land. Schott v. Pellerim (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 944.

Description in deed held sufficiently definite to render it admissible in evidence. Rector v. Erath Cattle Co., 18 C. A. 412, 45 S. W. 427.

A joint deed cannot be received in evidence as the deed of only a part of the grantors. Story v. Birdwell (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 847.

Pen scratches through a writing purporting to convey real estate do not affect its admissibility if it remain intelligible. Tutt's Heirs v. Morgan, 18 C. A. 627, 42 S. W. 578, 46 S. W. 122.

A deed which, when read in connection with a map to which it refers, clearly shows the premises conveyed, is admissible. Oppermann v. McGown (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 1078.

It is not error to refuse to receive in evidence a deed which on its face shows an alteration in a material particular, where such alteration is not explained by the party presenting it. Bullock v. Sprowls (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 657.

In trespass to try title, a deed from the vendee at an execution sale held inadmissible for failure to sufficiently describe the property purported to be conveyed. Stipe v. Shirley, 27 C. A. 97, 64 S. W. 1012.

A headright land certificate was admissible in evidence, though some of the words and parts of words contained in it had been obliterated, where offered in connection with testimony of witnesses who had seen and examined it before it was defaced. Pope v. Anthony, 29 C. A. 298, 68 S. W. 521.

A purported bill of sale, executed long after the property has been actually sold, held inadmissible in evidence. Wooley v. Bell, 33 C. A. 399, 76 S. W. 797.

A mistake in the name of a survey in the description of land does not constitute a variance between the petition and proof, or render the deed inadmissible, if the land is otherwise described. Echols v. Jacobs Mercantile Co., 38 C. A. 65, 84 S. W. 1082.

The description of property in a deed of trust through which plaintiff claims held sufficient to identify the land and entitle the deed to admission in evidence.—Id.

That the guardians of certain minor grantors and the husband of another grantor had no authority to bind them to a deed by heirs held not to affect the admissibility of the deed in evidence in trespass to try title. Arthur v. Ridge, 40 C. A. 137, 89 S. W. 15.

A deed purporting to be executed by executors of an estate held inadmissible in evidence. Stubblefield v. Hanson (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 406.

In an action to try title to land, where the deed conveying the land was in form sufficient to convey it, even if a homestead, the question whether it was a homestead was immaterial. Broom v. Herring, 45 C. A. 653, 101 S. W. 1023.

In trespass to try title, a deed, the description in which is insufficient to identify the land, and on its face apparently inaccurate and incomplete, is inadmissible in evidence. Thomas v. Tompkins, 47 C. A. 592, 105 S. W. 1175.

The description of land in a deed held sufficient to entitle the deed to be admitted in evidence. Dunn v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 952.

The description of land in a deed is sufficient where the land can be identified by other evidence in connection therewith. Id.

An administrator's deed and subsequent deeds thereunder held inadmissible in an action to quiet title, in view of irregularities in the probate proceedings. Wilkin v. Geo. W. Owens & Bros. (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 552.

In trespass to try title, in which both parties claimed through deeds from N., a certified copy of the deed from N.'s grantee, through whom plaintiffs claimed, to another, held not inadmissible because it referred to a prior grant for a fuller description, and recited that it was acquired by the grantor by deed from N. Houston Oil Co. of Texas v. Kimbail, 103 T. 94, 122 S. W. 533, 124 S. W. 85.

A deed containing a defective description, but sufficient to identify the land intended to be conveyed, held admissible on the issue of the location of adjoining land patented to the common grantor and conveyed to defendant. Snow v. Gallup, 57 C. A. 572, 123 S. W. 222.

Where a deed was ambiguous only in applying the description contained therein on the ground, such ambiguity was not a valid objection to the admission of the deed in evidence. Bond v. Garrison (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 839.

In trespass to try title, a deed held not inadmissible because part of the description did not fit the land involved. Shelley v. Creighton-McShane Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 848.

In an action by the holder of a mortgage note against a purchaser of the land who assumes payment of the note, in which the defendant pleaded that the makers of the note had fraudulently represented to him that the land was incumbered only by the mortgage, when in fact it was covered by two vendors' lien notes, such lien notes were admissible in evidence, as against the objection that they did not describe the land included in the mortgage, where the two descriptions were substantially identical. Britton v. J. W. Crowds Drug Co. (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 350.

82. — Execution and proof.—An unexecuted bill of lading held not admissible in an action for the price of the goods described therein. Watson v. Winston (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 852.

In an action on an oral promise, an unsigned order containing a stipulation amounting to a contract held not admissible against defendant. Id.

Where a deed by the surviving owner of community property showed the authority of the grantor to act on its face, held, that it was admissible in evidence in trespass to try title to the land conveyed. Green v. White, 18 C. A. 509, 45 S. W. 389.

An unsigned memorandum of a contract held admissible, with other evidence, to show the terms of the contract agreed on. Morgan v. Tims, 44 C. A. 308, 97 S. W. 832.

A deed of trust executed by defendant ice company to the contractor for its plant, though not bearing the ice company's corporate seal, held admissible to show that the ice company had accepted the plant as completed. Orient Consol. Pure Ice Co. v. Edmundson (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 124.

83. — Record.—In trespass to try title, held not error to admit an unrecorded deed to plaintiff's ancestor; a prior recorded deed to the ancestor from same grantor being in evidence. Boston v. McMenamy, 29 C. A. 272, 68 S. W. 201.

84. — Void instruments.—A deed void for uncertainty in description, but showing a claim of title, is admissible to show common source. Burns v. Goff, 79 T. 239, 14 S. W. 1009; Culmore v. Genove (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 83.

A tax deed, not shown to be valid, is not admissible in evidence. Wright v. United States Mortg. Co. (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 368.

In partition a deed held effectual to show common source of title, notwithstanding it was ineffectual to pass title. Hughey v. Mosby (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 395.

In trespass to try title, a void deed under which defendants claim may be put in evidence by plaintiffs to show common source of title. Wren v. Howland, 33 C. A. 87, 75 S. W. 894.

Invalidity of deed held not to affect admissibility as corroborative evidence of existence of prior deed. Williamson v. Work, 33 C. A. 369, 77 S. W. 266.

To establish the existence of a lost trustees' deed, the record of which is void because the deed was improperly acknowledged, a curative deed subsequently executed and properly acknowledged is admissible, even though not a lawful exercise of the trustees' power. Simmons v. Hewitt (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 188.

In trespass to try title a certain deed executed by a person not shown by the chain of deeds to have ever acquired title held admissible in evidence. Sydnor v. Texas Savings & Real Estate Inv. Ass'n, 42 C. A. 138, 94 S. W. 451.

A void tax deed is admissible to show a common source. Skov v. Coffin (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 450.

An administrator's deed, made under a void decree of the probate court awarding specific performance, held not improperly admitted in trespass to try title, where a consent decree of the district court validated the conveyance. Wm. Cameron & Co. v. Cuffie (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1024.

Deeds are admissible to throw light upon the nature of grantees' possession, though ineffective as deeds. Carr v. Alexander (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 218.

85. — Documents insufficient or incomplete when standing alone.—A written instrument referring to other writings for a description of land is admissible. Catlett v. Starr, 70 T. 485, 7 S. W. 844.

A deed executed by an administrator does not show title in absence of the decree of the proper court relating to the sale. Riley v. Pool, 24 S. W. 85, 5 C. A. 346.

A schedule of property, attached to an assignment to secure creditors, held properly admitted in evidence in trespass to try title, regardless of the sufficiency of description of land. McMahon v. McDonald, 51 C. A. 613, 113 S. W. 322.

86. — Instruments executed in other state or country.—As a general rule, a will which has not been probated in this state cannot be used as evidence of title or as a link in a chain of title to land situated in this state. Paschal v. Acklin, 27 T. 173; Brundige v. Rutherford, 57 T. 22; Ochoa v. Miller, 59 T. 460; Mills v. Herndon, 60 T. 353; Ryan v. T. & P. R. R. Co., 64 T. 239.

87. Admissibility of books of account.—Sworn accounts and affidavit of denial, see notes under Art. 3712.

The rule which admits the books of the seller does not admit those of the buyer. Dailey v. Sonnerborn, 35 T. 60.

Books and memoranda of a party made by his clerks or agents are admissible in evidence if the entries were made in the regular course of business, and verified by the oaths of the persons who made them as correct, though such person has no exact recollection of the facts at the time of the trial. As a prerequisite to the admission of a party's book of account as evidence in his behalf, a supplementary oath of the party to the correctness, etc., of the books was formerly required. Since the decisions to that effect were rendered, our statute allowing a party to testify in his own behalf has become the law, and whether, in addition to his direct testimony to the fact, a suppletory oath would still be required under that statute, has never been decided in this state. There is no reason for requiring a suppletory oath, where the party is himself a witness and can testify to such facts as should have been stated in such oath. Cahn v. Salinas, 2 App. C. C. § 615.

A check book used by an officer in his private business, containing stubs showing that drafts had been drawn by him at certain times, was inadmissible for the purpose of showing when funds had been converted by him. Barry v. Screwmen's Ass'n, 67 T. 250, 3 S. W. 261.

An entry in the books of a bank in due course of business, in handwriting of a book-keeper of the bank shown to be dead, against the interest of the bank, is competent testimony in an action between other parties. Heidenheimer v. Johnson, 76 T. 200, 13 S. W. 46.

A mercantile firm borrowing money of the wife of one of its members executed a note therefor to her husband as trustee. In a suit by the wife against the firm, creditors of the firm intervened, seeking to defeat her attachment. It was held that the books of the firm were not admissible in evidence against the wife in behalf of the interveners. Martin-Brown Co. v. Perrill, 77 T. 199, 13 S. W. 975.

As to proof of accounts where alterations in the entries in an account book appear. Maverick v. Maury, 79 T. 435, 15 S. W. 686.

Books of account are admissible against a party seeking to recover a debt charged therein against another than the defendant. Loomis v. Stuart (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 1078.

A bank book held inadmissible to show that the one in whose name the account stands is not a fictitious person. Hirsch v. Jones (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 604.

Entries in an account book of money advanced on a person's account held not evidence that the money was advanced at the person's request. Mings v. Griggsby Const. Co. (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 192.

A transcript of the books of a bank not a party to the action held admissible. Barclay v. Deyerle, 53 C. A. 236, 116 S. W. 123.

An entry of a memorandum in a book, by an employé, of a contract to make plans and specifications, not made in the presence of the person ordering the plans, as evidencing the intention of the parties to make such memorandum was not admissible in evidence against him. Luttrell v. Parry (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 865.

The "shop book" rule is confined to entries of goods sold and delivered, or of work and labor performed. Id.

Telephone call tickets held admissible in evidence on proper preliminary proof, without the evidence of the operator who made the entries thereon. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Pearson (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 733.

Where book of depositor was introduced in evidence by defendant bank, plaintiff had a right to show the condition of account between the bank and the depositor, as exhibited by such bank book. W. T. Wilson Grain Co. v. Central Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 996.

Where, in liability insurance policies, the amount of premiums to be paid were to be reckoned upon the estimated pay roll of men employed on a building, statements from the books of the constructor, which showed the amount paid to each class of workmen referred to in the policies, was proper to prove the amount of premiums due in an action to recover balance thereof. Ripley v. Ocean Accident & Guarantee Corporation (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 974.

Permanent entries made from a slate, card, or memorandum book by a person other than the one that made such temporary entries, and oral statements made by the salesman in the evening and entered by such other person, are admissible in evidence as original entries when supported by suppletory oath, and there need be no present recollection of the correctness of the items entered. Weinberg v. Garren (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1013.

88. — Character of books in general.—A coupon book sold by a merchant to a customer held an indebtedness evidenced by entry in books, within the rule admitting entries made in books of original entry. Rogers v. O'Barr & Dinwiddie (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 750.

89. — Time books.—It is essential to the admission of shop book entries they be made and relate to matters in the regular course of business. Bouldin v. Atlantic Rice Mills Co. (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 795.

90. — Matters proper for book entries.—Shopbook entries are inadmissible to prove items that do not relate to the business and are not properly the subject of book account. Bouldin v. Atlantic Rice Mills Co. (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 795.

91. — By whom entries are made.—Rule as to admissibility of entries in books of account of a party to litigation stated. Bouldin v. Atlantic Rice Mills Co. (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 795.

92. — Entries made from memoranda or other information.—In action against carriers for injury to cattle, an account sales taken from books of commission house selling the cattle held admissible to show the weights, under testimony of the bookkeeper as to correctness of the books. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Williams, 38 C. A. 405, 86 S. W. 38.

93. — Purposes of proof in general.—Where a policy provided that insured should keep books and make an inventory, both may be looked to, to determine the loss. Phoenix Ins. Co. v. Padgett (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 800.

94. — Persons bound in general.—The books of a firm are not competent evidence against the wife of one of the partners, there being no evidence of conspiracy between the parties. Martin-Brown Co. v. Perrill, 77 T. 199, 13 S. W. 975.

95. — Evidence for party in general.—Books of account are evidence of the matters connected with the transaction in controversy. Loomis v. Stuart (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 1078.

96. Admissibility of private memoranda and statements in general.—An undated and unsigned memorandum in regard to a family settlement of pecuniary matters is admissible in evidence. Newton v. Newton (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 159.

In trespass to try title, ancient ex parte memorandum, showing that debt secured by deed and defeasance was not satisfied, held inadmissible. Turner v. Cochran, 30 C. A. 549, 70 S. W. 1024.

The admission as original evidence of a book memorandum fixing the date of a contract held error. Tobler v. Austin (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 407.

In an action on a claim against decedent's estate for money loaned, a memorandum of the loan held admissible, though it also tended to show a partnership between plaintiff and deceased. Altgelt v. Elmendorf (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 41.

The testimony of certain witnesses as to the weight of cattle and prices obtained, together with copies made from books of entry of the broker who sold the cattle, held properly admitted in evidence. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Startz, 42 C. A. 85, 94 S. W. 207.

In an action for commissions under an employment contract, a statement of plaintiff's commissions claimed to have been mailed to his employer, a corporation, or to its officers after dissolution, held admissible. Houston Ice & Brewing Co. v. Nicolini (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 84.

Certificates of sale by commission merchants, attached to a deposition, held admissible, though not verified as correct, in view of other evidence as to the facts stated. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Hopkins, 52 C. A. 166, 113 S. W. 306.

A memorandum of the amount of timber scaled held not admissible as independent evidence of such amount. Callen v. Collins (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 651.

In an action on a fire policy, it was error to admit in evidence a list of the insured property attached to the petition. Mecca Fire Ins. Co. of Waco v. Stricker (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 599.

96½. — Abstracts.—An abstract which contains no mention of the acknowledgment to a deed is not sufficient. Robins v. Ginacchio (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 747.

An abstract has the same force and effect as a certified copy of a recorded deed. No fact can be taken to be established which is not in the form of data or memoranda expressed upon the abstract. An abstract which contains no reference to or mention of an acknowledgment in connection with the deed is inadmissible in evidence. Id.

Admissibility of trust deed under which defendant claimed, and abstract of title, determined. Watkins v. Atwell (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 404.

In trespass to try title, an abstract of title, with plaintiff's opinion as a lawyer approving it attached thereto, held material so as to be admissible in evidence. Rudolph v. Tinsley (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 209.

97. — Items of property and value thereof.—Where a policy provided that insured should keep books and make an inventory, both may be looked to, to determine the loss. Phoenix Ins. Co. v. Padgett (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 800.

In trial of a counterclaim for wrongful attachment of a stock of goods, defendant's inventory held admissible on the question of the identity and value of his property sold under a writ of attachment. Michigan Stove Co. v. Waco Hardware Co., 24 C. A. 301, 58 S. W. 734.

An inventory taken several months after the issuance of a policy, but which was shown to be correct, held admissible. Delaware Ins. Co. of Philadelphia v. Hill (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 283.

98. Admissibility of letters, telegrams, and other correspondence.—A contract for a sale of land was made by an agent. A cash payment was made, and notes given for the balance, payable "on or before" a certain date. The vendor, on receipt of the cash and notes, returned the latter to his agent by mail for correction. The letter containing the notes was not delivered, but was returned by the post office department to the writer, stamped on the envelope "Return to Writer." The address on the envelope was not legibly written, and the envelope was not stamped with the stamp of the office to which it was directed. On receipt of the returned letter, the vendor, having learned that his agent was in collusion with the vendee, having sold the land for an inadequate price, sent the notes, together with a certified check for the cash payment, to the vendee, and repudiated the sale. In an action for a rescission of the deed, held, that the check was admissible in evidence to show that the contract of sale had never been completed; also that the returned envelope and letter were admissible. Slator v. Trostel (Civ. App.) 21 S. W. 285.

Importance of a message may be shown by its terms. Telegraph Co. v. Williford, 2 C. A. 574, 22 S. W. 244; Martin v. Telegraph Co., 1 C. A. 143, 20 S. W. 860.

Where a shipper and carrier have agreed on a rate admission of a letter from the carrier's general freight agent to the shipper, written in accordance with the agreement, and quoting such rate, is not error. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Leatherwood, 29 C. A. 507, 69 S. W. 119.

In trespass to try title, a letter held admissible as tending to show an abandonment of a homestead. White v. Epperson, 32 C. A. 162, 73 S. W. 851.

In an action on a fire policy, defended on the ground that insured had procured the burning of the property, letters written by insured to his co-conspirator held admissible. Joy v. Liverpool, London & Globe Ins. Co., 32 C. A. 433, 74 S. W. 822.

In trespass to try title, transfer of a land certificate held to have been shown to have come from the proper custody and properly admitted. Ward v. Cameron (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 240.

Fact that the transferor of land certificate could not write his name, and that transfer was signed with his name, held not conclusive evidence of forgery. Id.

A letter from defendant's manager, accepting plaintiff's offer of work, held properly admitted in evidence. Orange Rice Mill Co. v. McIlhenney, 33 C. A. 592, 77 S. W. 428.

In an action for breach of a broker's contract for the sale of oil, a letter written by the broker to the seller held admissible for the purpose of determining the capacity of tank cars in which the oil was to be delivered. Sherman Oil & Cotton Co. v. Dallas Oil & Refining Co. (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 961.

Statement of insured's attorney in letter to defendant company held not objectionable, in action on policy, as irrelevant and immaterial. Ætna Ins. Co. v. Fitze, 34 C. A. 214, 78 S. W. 370.

In an action on an insurance policy, an objection to a card notifying deceased of the maturity of a premium, as immaterial and irrelevant, was properly overruled. Metro-politan Life Ins. Co. v. Gibbs, 34 C. A. 131, 78 S. W. 398.

In an action for breach of contract to supply electric current to operate a motor, letters and telegrams received by defendant from the seller of the motor held admissible on the issue of the motor's warranted capacity. Wofford & Rathbone v. Buchel Power & Irrigation Co., 35 C. A. 531, 80 S. W. 1078.

Letter of trustee in bankruptcy held inadmissible in evidence in absence of proof of adjudication in bankruptcy or appointment of trustee. Keller v. Faickney, 42 C. A. 483, 94 S. W. 103.

Love letters of the parties held admissible in an action for breach of promise to marry. Cain v. Corley, 44 C. A. 224, 99 S. W. 168.

In a suit to recover the balance of the price of certain land, certain letters written by plaintiff to his attorneys before the sale was consummated, and which were shown to defendant, held admissible to show that the agreement reached by the parties was expressed in the deed. Latta v. Schuler, 45 C. A. 237, 100 S. W. 166.

In an action for breach of marriage promise, letters written by plaintiff to defendant held admissible in evidence. Hill v. Houser, 51 C. A. 359, 115 S. W. 112.

A letter written by a bank the day after a draft was presented by an agent of the holder, acknowledging notice of the draft, and stating that it would be paid, is admissible, not as showing acceptance, but as corroborative of the agent's statements relating thereto. Milmo Nat. Bank v. Cobbs, 53 C. A. 1, 115 S. W. 345.

In an action against a bank for the nonpayment of an accepted draft, a telegram from a bank examiner after the drawer's failure, as well as the reply thereto, could not affect defendant's liability and was properly excluded. Id.

Certain letters sent by plaintiffs' agent to them with reference to the performance of their commission to procure defendant to sign a lease in controversy held inadmissible. Johnson v. Hulett, 56 C. A. 11, 120 S. W. 257.

In an action for false imprisonment, a telegram announcing plaintiff's arrest pursuant to another telegram held admissible in evidence. Taylor Bros. v. Hearn (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 301.

Where letters offered in evidence were otherwise admissible, it was no valid objection that the writer stated he had no authority, except in an advisory capacity. Pit-zer v. Decker (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 161.

In an action for breach of an express contract, a letter written by the defendant which did not evidence the contract held admissible as a part thereof to show the transaction between the parties. Standard Paint Co. v. San Antonio Hardware Co. (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1150.

In an action for damages for nondelivery of a telegram answering an inquiry as to the purchase of cows, the prospective purchaser's letter withdrawing his proposition held admissible in evidence. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Williams (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 148.

A letter from the drawer of an accepted draft to the holder, held inadmissible in an action by the holder against the drawer. Seguin Milling & Power Co. v. Guinn (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 456.

Letters offered by plaintiff in an action on a note held admissible. Schauer v. Von Schauer (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 145.

Letter written to a broker by owner of land held admissible in a broker's action for commission. Riggins v. Sass (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 689.

In trespass to try title, held, that letters written by plaintiff's predecessor were not admissible on the issue of bona fide purchase. Cartwright v. La Brie (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 725.

Memorandum on the margin of a letter, written by the son of an assignee of a head-right certificate to the land commissioner, held inadmissible. Crosby v. Ardoin (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 709.

In an action for attorney's services, letters written to defendant, containing counsel and advice to her, were admissible. Curtsinger v. McGown (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 303.

In an action for attorney's services, a letter written by plaintiff to defendant, containing a statement of disbursements and of the value of plaintiff's services, is inadmissible. Id.

A letter from a negro fraternal organization, written after the death of a member, notifying the beneficiary of her expulsion, held inadmissible on the issue as to whether insured was a member in good standing at his death. International Order of Twelve Knights and Daughters of Tabor v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 320.

On partnership accounting between father and son, admission of letter of father showing property owned by him in another state held calculated to prejudice the jury. Hengy v. Hengy (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1127.

Letters passing between parties having no connection with a suit are inadmissible in evidence. Home Inv. Co. v. Strange (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 510.

On an issue as to the forfeiture of a policy for nonpayment of the 1906 premium, correspondence relative to extension of time for the payment of the 1905 premium was admissible as tending to show the company's attitude toward the risk. Equitable Life Assur. Society of United States v. Ellis, 105 T. 526, 147 S. W. 1152, 152 S. W. 625.

99. Maps, plats and diagrams.—A map of surveys, made by a competent person, from deeds found in the records, is competent evidence to prove the situation and boundaries of a certain tract in reference to others. Haney v. Clark, 65 T. 93.

Maps used by a surveyor in testifying may be used in evidence when representing work by him, without reference to their being of record or as of themselves evidencing acts of the parties or privies. Devine v. Keller, 73 T. 364, 11 S. W. 379.

Map and a photograph made by a witness, showing condition and surroundings at the place of accident, are admissible in evidence. Railway Co. v. Moore, 4 App. C. C. § 214, 15 S. W. 714.

Plat found on the back of deed admitted to show the manner and extent of a parol partition. Linam v. Anderson, 21 S. W. 768, 2 C. A. 631.

It is error to admit against a party a surveyor's report made in another suit to which he was not a party. Jordan v. Young (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 762.

Where a city ordinance was adopted providing that a street be widened in accordance with a map referred to and made a part of the ordinance, in an action to recover an assessment paid, held not error to admit the map in evidence in connection with the ordinance. City of San Antonio v. Walker (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 952.

Where the boundaries of land were in issue, it was not error to admit a plat of survey in connection with testimony of one who had surveyed the land, though it contained certain inaccuracies. Besson v. Richards, 24 C. A. 64, 58 S. W. 611.

Where a county claimed title to land on which the county buildings were located by adverse possession as against a city, a map on which the square was designated as "Court House Square" held admissible. City of Victoria v. Victoria County (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 368.

On the issue whether a tract of land designated as a rural homestead had lost its character as such, a pencil sketch of the tract made by the owner held properly excluded. Ayres v. Patton, 51 C. A. 186, 111 S. W. 1079.

Where the field notes of the different sections of a block and the location of a section in controversy in trespass to try title is shown, maps subsequently made held admissible in evidence. Flinberg v. Gilbert, 104 T. 539, 141 S. W. 82.

In trespass to try title, a plat made by an experienced surveyor from field notes in deeds in partition held properly received in evidence; the deeds having been acted upon and ratified by the parties. Unknown Heirs of Criswell v. Robbins (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 210.

100. Photographs.—Map and a photograph made by a witness, showing condition and surroundings at the place of accident, are admissible in evidence. Railway Co. v. Moore, 4 App. C. C. § 214, 15 S. W. 714.

In an action for personal injuries, photograph of plaintiff held admissible. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Harper, 53 C. A. 614, 114 S. W. 1168, 1199.

X-ray photographs properly taken held not objectionable on the ground that without cutting away the intervening tissue, it was impossible to tell whether the pictures correctly represented plaintiff's injured bones. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Shapard, 54 C. A. 596, 118 S. W. 596.

101. — Physical appearance and identity of persons.—In an action for injuries, the admission of photographs of plaintiff before and after injury held not error. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Cluck (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 852.

102. — Condition of premises.—Photographs of defective sidewalk, taken two months after injury there, but before repair, held admissible in evidence. City of San Antonio v. Talerico (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 28.

Photographs taken after repair of sidewalk, after an injury, showing cement patch, held admissible to show extent of hole which caused injury. Id.

Photographs of the place of the accident held admissible, though taken without notice to plaintiff. Hawkins v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 36 C. A. 633, 83 S. W. 52.

103. Books and other printed publications.—In an action for the death of a railroad engineer, rule book governing section foremen held admissible on the issue of contributory negligence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Boyce, 39 C. A. 195, 87 S. W. 395.

In an action for injury from the handhold of a car coming off, held, that the rules of the master car builders' association were admissible for the purpose of showing the proper construction of the car. Leas v. Continental Fruit Express, 45 C. A. 162, 99 S. W. 859.

In an action against a carrier for delay in the transportation of live stock, certain evidence held admissible to show that a market existed at the point of destination. St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. v. May, 53 C. A. 257, 115 S. W. 900.

A book of railroad time-tables that is recognized by railroad men and people as being an authentic guide to the schedule of trains, held admissible, as evidence, to prove the schedule of a certain train contained therein. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Gilliland (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 212.

A publication giving daily reports of sales of live stock on a market held admissible and a witness may give his opinion on the market value of stock based on the daily reports. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Isenhower (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 297.

In an action for damages for breach of a contract to buy cattle, held, that quotations as shown by certain daily papers were admissible. Houston Packing Co. v. Griffith (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1139.

104. — Law reports.—The opinion of an appellate court as contained in a printed volume of law reports held not admissible to establish facts stated therein. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Bradford, 52 C. A. 392, 114 S. W. 686.

105. — Scientific and technical works.—The issue being whether a horse was unsound, the defendant offered in evidence a treatise on horses by Youatt, from which he proposed to read remarks on the disease in question; a witness having testified as an expert that it was a work of high authority. Held, that the book would have been hearsay testimony about a matter upon which a competent witness had spoken very fully, and was properly excluded. Fowler v. Lewis, 25 T. Sup. 380. See H. & T. Ry. Co. v. Reason, 61 T. 613.

Works on medical science are not admissible in evidence. Boehringer v. A. B. Richards Medicine Co., 29 S. W. 508, 9 C. A. 284.

Extracts from parliamentary authors held inadmissible to show that certain proceedings of a convention were regular and according to parliamentary usage. Cranfill v. Hayden, 22 C. A. 656, 55 S. W. 805.

106. — Mortality tables and tables of expectancy of life.—Insurance experience life tables are admissible in evidence to show the probable duration of the life of a person. The fact that the person referred to was in poor health does not render the testimony incompetent, but simply attacks the force and weight to be attached to it. Railway Co. v. Bennett, 76 T. 151, 13 S. W. 319; G., H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Leonard (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 955.

A life table shown to have been in general use by life insurance companies is admissible in evidence. Railway Co. v. Smith (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 644.

Mortality tables generally used in insurance business are admissible as evidence. Railway Co. v. Johnson, 10 C. A. 254, 31 S. W. 255.

In an action for death of plaintiff's husband life tables are admissible, though they do not refer to a woman of plaintiff's age. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hines (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 152.

The Flatchcraft Insurance Manual with mortuary tables held admissible to prove life expectancy of deceased. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ransom, 15 C. A. 689, 41 S. W. 326.

Mortuary tables, and other evidence of probable duration of decedent's life, are admissible. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Burnett (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 314.

A mortality table generally used by life insurance companies may be introduced to show the probable duration of life. S. A. & P. Ry. Co. v. Morgan (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 672.

In an action for negligence, causing the death of a husband and father, life expectancy tables of persons in ordinary occupations held admissible, notwithstanding decedent was engaged in the peculiarly hazardous business of a railroad engineer. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 24 C. A. 180, 53 S. W. 622.

In action for death of railroad employé, the American tables of mortality are admissible to show the probable length of his life. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Engelhorn, 24 C. A. 324, 62 S. W. 561, 65 S. W. 63.

Where plaintiff's injuries were alleged to be permanent, mortality tables were admissible, though plaintiff's condition of health was not such as to render her an insurable subject. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Williams, 34 C. A. 100, 78 S. W. 5.

In an action for injuries to a servant, it was not error to admit testimony as to life expectancy tables. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Kelly, 34 C. A. 21, 80 S. W. 1073.

In an action against a railroad company for personal injuries to a section hand, admission of evidence based on mortality tables held not erroneous. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Tisdale, 36 C. A. 174, 81 S. W. 347.

In an action for death by wrongful act, testimony from a mortality table is admissible to show deceased's expectancy in life. International & G. N. R. Co. v. McVey (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 991.

In an action for permanent injuries to a freight brakeman, average life tables held admissible to show his life expectancy. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Brandon (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 272.

In an action for death, mortality tables showing decedent's life expectancy at the date he died, held admissible. Huber v. Texas & P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 984.

A mortality table held properly admitted, as bearing on the life expectancy of one suing for a personal injury. St. Louis, S. F. & T. R. Co. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 819.

107. Compelling production of documents.—In an action for breach of marriage promise, where letters and notes from plaintiff to defendant were in the possession of defendant's attorneys, and readily accessible, so that they could have been produced in a few minutes, it was not necessary for plaintiff to give notice before trial to produce them. Hill v. Houser, 51 C. A. 359, 115 S. W. 112.

108. — Nature of document and relation to issue.—In a suit upon an open account the plaintiff testified that he had receipts for some of the moneys claimed to have been paid out by him for the defendant and had the same then in his possession. Defendant demanded that he should produce the receipts for his inspection, which plaintiff offered to do upon condition that they should be read in evidence. The defendant declined to inspect them on this condition, and the court properly refused to require plaintiff to produce them. Muse v. Burns, 3 App. C. C. § 75.

109. — Notice in general.—Notice to produce a deed in controversy held unnecessary where the party who has it in possession is bound to know that the document will be required at the trial. Maffi v. Stephens (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 158.

110. — Effect of failure to produce.—The production of papers upon notice does not make them evidence in the case, unless the party giving the notice inspects them, so as to become acquainted with their contents. Saunders v. Duval, 19 T. 467.

The consequence of a failure to produce a deed at the trial upon proper notice is to make secondary evidence of its contents competent, but does not prove its contents. Gayle v. Perryman, 24 S. W. 850, 6 C. A. 20.

A party in possession of a document, who refuses to produce it after notice, cannot introduce evidence of indorsements thereon not called for by the adverse party. Heintz v. O'Donnell, 17 C. A. 21, 42 S. W. 797.

111. — Introduction by party producing document.—The fact that one party to a suit had notified the other party to produce certain letters at the trial, held not to authorize their introduction over the objection of the party who served the notice. Ricker Nat. Bank v. Brown (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 909.

112. Authentication of documents—Public documents and records in general.—A part of a record is admissible. Townsend v. Munger, 9 T. 300; Guilford v. Love, 49 T. 715; Frankel v. Heidenheimer, 1 App. C. C. § 807.

The description of land conveyed by a sheriff's deed being ambiguous, a deed to the judgment defendant held properly admitted in evidence in aid of the description in the sheriff's deed. Clark v. Wm. M. Rice Institute for Advancement of Literature, Science and Art (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 1110.

Where notice of appeal was given, the perfection of the appeal cannot be presumed so as to deprive the judgment of that finality necessary to make it admissible in evidence. Slaughter v. Cooper (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 897.

113. — Ordinances.—See notes under Art. 821.

114. — Judicial acts and records.—The original papers in a suit in a court where the trial is had, or when they are brought into open court from the county court of the same county, in the custody of the clerk of that court, are admissible in evidence as original papers. Wallis v. Beauchamp, 15 T. 303; Houze v. Houze, 16 T. 598. But original papers from another county, in the hands of a person who is not their legal custodian, are not admissible. Hardin v. Blackshear, 60 T. 132.

In a suit by a county against a sheriff who was ex officio collector of the county to recover taxes alleged to have been collected by him and not paid over, reports of taxes collected, indorsed by his deputy in his name as sheriff and collector, when produced from the proper custody and attached as exhibits to the petition, are admissible in evidence, though not sworn to. Webb County v. Gonzales, 69 T. 455, 6 S. W. 781.

115. — Part of judicial proceedings.—A certified copy of an execution is admissible, without producing a transcript of the execution docket. Mitchusson v. Wadsworth, 1 App. C. C. § 977.

In a suit to try title to land sold by an assignee in bankruptcy, plaintiff held entitled to introduce such part of the bankruptcy proceedings as were material to her case. Beall v. Chatham (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 1086.

116. — Examined copies of records.—Proof of a document of a public nature may be made by an examined copy, the genuineness of the original having been proved by the testimony of those who, from having had custody of the original, or from information derived from other sources, can testify as to that fact. York v. Gregg, 9 T. 85; Coons v. Renick, 11 T. 134, 60 Am. Dec. 230.

Upon an issue of pedigree tried in 1888 it was competent to show by any examined copy the record of proceedings of a Masonic lodge held in 1836 reciting a fact pertinent to the inquiry in the trial. Howard v. Russell, 75 T. 171, 12 S. W. 525.

An examined copy of an ancient instrument cannot be admitted without proof of execution. Schunior v. Russell, 83 T. 83, 18 S. W. 484.

A judgment of a foreign state may be proved by a witness who has compared the copy offered in evidence with the original record entry thereof. St. Louis Expanded Metal Fireproofing Co. v. Beilharz (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 512.

117. — Preliminary evidence for authentication in general.—Where the original is an archive of a foreign government, and there are no means of testing its genuineness, or the verity of the proffered testimonio, by any record or other evidence within the limits of our own jurisdiction, extrinsic evidence of the genuineness of the instrument must be produced. Word v. McKinney, 25 T. 258.

An act of sale of land not authenticated by the signature of the officer before whom it was executed is not admissible in evidence without proof of its execution. Andrews v. Marshall, 26 T. 212.

The execution of a testimonio of a title to land must be proved before it is admissible in evidence. Hatchett v. Conner, 30 T. 108; Paul v. Perez, 7 T. 338; Dé Leon v. White, 9 T. 600; Word v. McKinney, 25 T. 258; Wood v. Welder, 42 T. 396.

Proof of an instrument executed under a power is not made necessary because the power is attacked. Moses v. Dibrell, 21 S. W. 414, 2 C. A. 457.

By-laws of an association, not shown to have been adopted, held erroneously admitted in an action against the association. Cotton Jammers' & Longshoremen's Ass'n No. 2 v. Taylor, 23 C. A. 367, 56 S. W. 553.

A time card of a railroad furnished by it to the public held admissible in evidence as against a certain objection. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. O'Fiel, 47 C. A. 40, 104 S. W. 406.

In an action against a telephone company for failure to notify plaintiff of a call, a copy of defendant's ticket record, reading, "Date, 10—10—04," held inadmissible to prove the date when the call was received. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Owens (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 89.

A certified copy of a chattel mortgage is admissible in evidence without proof of its execution when the fact is admitted. Morris v. Moon (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1063.

In a suit to partition lands in which plaintiffs claimed an undivided one-half interest, the fact that the suit was a partition suit did not authorize the admission of a deed under which plaintiffs claimed title without proof of its execution and without the three days' filing and notice to defendants required by statute. Merrill v. Bradley, 52 C. A. 527, 121 S. W. 561.

118. — Corporate acts, records and proceedings.—Constitution and by-laws of a beneficial society, purporting to be published by supreme council, and furnished the local order, and used by it, are admissible without further proof of their adoption. Home Circle Soc. No. 1 v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 84.

119. — Conveyances, contracts and other writings in general.—A title executed by a commissioner without either instrumental or assisting witnesses is not admissible in evidence without proof of its execution by the commissioner. Grimes v. Bastrop, 26 T. 310.

As a general rule, a written document, in order to be proved, must be produced in court, together with the witness to identify it, and the proof of the identity should be first made, except in cases where the law has expressly dispensed with its identification. When a written instrument is to be proved by deposition, the usual method of identifying it is by the deponent attaching it to his answer, marking and describing it; or for the officer taking the deposition to certify that the attached instrument is the identical one presented to the deponent and about which he testified. If no identification be so made, the instrument cannot be submitted to the jury. Renn v. Samos, 33 T. 760.

A private writing which does not constitute in whole or in part the basis of the pleadings (Art. 1906, subds. 8, 9) is not admissible in evidence without first proving its execution. W. U. T. Co. v. Bertram, 1 App. C. C. § 1153.

Admission of receipt without proof of execution or plea of payment held error. Hander v. Baade, 16 C. A. 119, 40 S. W. 422.

A receipt held inadmissible, in the absence of proof of execution. Staples v. Word (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 751.

A lease was admissible in evidence to show an agent's authority to pay taxes on lands in question, though no proof was made of such agent's signature. Cunningham v. Mathews (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 1114.

Where the identity of cattle alleged to have been wrongfully seized by a sheriff under a writ of sequestration was admitted, a bill of sale conveying the cattle to plaintiff was properly received in evidence, though there was no proof that the brands designated therein were recorded. Campbell v. Ulch, 24 C. A. 618, 60 S. W. 272.

In an action by an attorney against his client to recover an unascertained contingent fee for commencing an action against the client's guardians for misapplication of funds, receipts purporting to have been executed by the defendant's father as his guardian in a foreign state were properly excluded; there being no proof of their execution, or that the father was guardian at the time. Lynch v. Munson (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 140.

The admission of a fire insurance policy in evidence without formal proof of its execution held no error, in an action seeking to hold defendant liable for the procuring of such policy. Price v. Garvin (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 985.

Chattel mortgage held inadmissible in foreclosure against third party until execution is proved as at common law. Peterson v. W. J. Martinez & Bros., 34 C. A. 212, 78 S. W. 401.

Plaintiff cannot introduce a chattel mortgage in evidence against one not a party to it, except on its execution being proved as at common law. Becker v. Bowen (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 45.

A deed by a married woman, duly acknowledged, in which her husband joins, for the purpose of being admitted in evidence, may be proved as at common law. Lamberida v. Barnum (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 698.

Production of a deed by a party to the instrument claiming thereunder held to dispense with the necessity of proof of execution. Maffi v. Stephens (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 158.

In an action for deceit in representing an instrument to be a valid security for a loan, the instrument held admissible without proof of its execution. Western Cottage Piano & Organ Co. v. Anderson, 45 C. A. 513, 101 S. W. 1061.

120. — Proof of authority to execute.—A postal registry receipt, signed for a corporation by a private individual, without any proof of authority, held inadmissible to show receipt of letter by the corporation. Underwriters' Fire Ass'n v. Henry (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 1072.

121. — Unrecorded instruments.—A deed never proven for record or recorded is admissible in evidence upon proof of its execution. Stroud v. Springfield, 28 T. 663.

122. — Record as dispensing with proof of execution.—A deed having but one subscribing witness, who proved it for record, is not admissible as a recorded instrument, but its execution must be proved in order to admit it. Smith v. Kenney (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 801.

123. — Instruments, and assignment, indorsement or guaranty thereof.—Where a corporation pleaded non est factum to a suit on a note signed by its vice president and treasurer, the note was not admissible in evidence without proof of the officer's authority to sign the name of the corporation, and being admitted constituted no proof of the fact put in issue by the plea. Henderson Mercantile Co. v. First Nat. Bank, 100 T. 344, 99 S. W. 850.

124. — Writings collateral to issues.—A written contract cannot be admitted as evidence against one not a party thereto without proof of its execution. Walker v. Texas & N. O. R. Co., 51 C. A. 391, 112 S. W. 430.

125. — Ancient instruments.—See Rule 16, post.

126. — Form and sufficiency in general.—Evidence that the witness had some business with the person whose signature was in question, that he believed the signature to be genuine, but that he had never seen the person write, and it did not appear that he was acquainted with the handwriting of such person or had seen a signature of his which he knew to be genuine, was held to be insufficient to prove the execution of the instrument. Mapes v. Leal's Heirs, 27 T. 345.

The grantor in a deed may testify to its execution in any case when it is offered in evidence. Bohn v. Davis, 75 T. 24, 12 S. W. 837.

In an action on a bond, the erasure of the name of one of the sureties held sufficiently explained. United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. v. Fossati (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 1038.

The genuineness of a writing may be proved by indirect or circumstantial evidence. International Harvester Co. v. Campbell, 43 C. A. 421, 96 S. W. 93.

An instrument shown to be genuine as a matter of law. McAllen v. Raphael (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 760.

In an action against a carrier for injuries to a horse in transportation held error to admit in evidence a certain certificate purporting to give the pedigree of the horse, etc. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Newsome & Williams, 44 C. A. 513, 98 S. W. 646.

Evidence as to the execution of a chattel mortgage considered, and held sufficient to admit the mortgage in evidence. Rogers v. Frazier Bros. & Co. (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 727.

In an action for damages to plaintiff's shipment of poultry, certain evidence held insufficient to prove the correctness of books kept by defendant railroad showing the icing of refrigerator cars. A. B. Patterson & Co. v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 336.

An unrecorded deed which had been filed for record held admissible in evidence where witness testified that he prepared it, delivered it to the grantee, saw the consideration pass from her to the grantor, and requested the notary public to take the acknowledgment which was taken in his presence. Groesbeck v. Wiest (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 258.

127. — Corporate acts, records and proceedings.—Postal registry receipt held not inadmissible, because not signed with full name of the corporation. Underwriters' Fire Ass'n v. Henry (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 1072.

128. — Unwitnessed instruments and unauthorized attestation.—See notes under Art. 1109.

129. — Attesting witnesses.—Necessity of attestation, see notes under Art. 1109. When the subscribing witnesses are beyond the jurisdiction of the court, it is not necessary to produce them, and it is sufficient to prove their signatures. Frazier v. Moore, 11 T. 755.

The execution of a deed may be proved by the grantor without calling the subscribing witnesses or accounting for their absence. White v. Holliday, 20 T. 679.

The affidavit must show that the subscribing witnesses are dead, or that they are absent from the state, or that they cannot be found after diligent inquiry. Sample v. Irwin, 45 T. 567; Craddock v. Merrill, 2 T. 494.

The grantee in a deed cannot testify to its execution without accounting for the absence of the subscribing witnesses. Wiggins v. Fleishel, 50 T. 57.

The grantee in a deed can prove an examined copy, the original being lost and the subscribing witnesses being dead or out of the state. Texas Land Co. v. Williams, 51 T. 51.

The death of the subscribing witnesses to an instrument which is over thirty-five years old will be presumed, so as to admit evidence of their signatures. Hollis v. Dashiell, 52 T. 187.

The admission of testimony to the signature of the maker by witnesses other than the subscribing witness was not erroneous where it appeared that such witness was without the jurisdiction of the court. Chator v. Brunswick Co., 71 T. 588, 10 S. W. 250.

A writing attested by a witness must be proven by him. Railway Co. v. McRae, 82 T. 614, 18 S. W. 672, 27 Am. St. Rep. 926.

Execution of attested instrument must be proved by subscribing witnesses, unless failure to produce them is satisfactorily explained. Lewis v. Bell (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 747.

Where a subscribing witness is dead, his signature may be proved by others. Timmony v. Burns (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 133.

That subscribing witnesses to a deed reside out of the county, though in the state, held insufficient as a ground for the introduction of secondary evidence. Johnson v. Franklin (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 611.

Written contract of sale held not admissible in evidence under proof offered as to its execution. W. R. Morris & Co. v. Southern Shoe Co., 44 C. A. 488, 99 S. W. 178.

Where it is necessary to prove the execution of an instrument, subscribing witnesses must be called or their absence accounted for. Hightower Bros. v. W. F. Taylor Co. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 621.

130. — Handwriting.—In an action of trespass to try title, brought in 1858 and tried at the fall term, 1860, the plaintiff, for the purpose of showing the locus in quo of the land sued for, offered in evidence the field notes of a league of land dated May 17, 1835, found among the papers of P., who, it was proven, was the surveyor general of Robertson colony during this year, and had since died. The paper was excluded. The court held, in substance, that if the paper had been sufficiently proven it would have been admissible as the declaration of the party making it; but, in addition to the corroborating circumstances surrounding it, there should have been some evidence of the genuineness of the handwriting, as witnesses, who might have known, testified as to other facts on the trial. Stroud v. Springfield, 28 T. 649.

When a deed is offered in evidence, the effect of an affidavit of forgery is to put the party claiming under it upon proof of its due execution, which must be by the subscribing witnesses, or one of them, if living, or if dead, incompetent to testify, or cannot be procured, then by proof of their handwriting. Proof of handwriting may be made by one who has seen the party write, or, having received letters from him purporting to be in his handwriting, has afterwards communicated with him personally respecting them. Where one of the subscribing witnesses to a deed is incompetent to be a subscribing witness, and incompetent to testify, its execution may be established by proof of the handwriting of the other subscribing witness, he being dead. The requirements of the law concerning the proof of a deed for registration have no application or reference to the proof necessary upon offering it in evidence on the trial of a cause. Cairrell v. Higgs, 1 U. C. 56.

Affidavits as to the handwriting of the maker and subscribing witnesses of an instrument, offered in proving it up for record, held to sufficiently show that the parties referred to were dead. Rountree v. Thompson, 30 C. A. 595, 71 S. W. 574, 72 S. W. 69.

131. — Books of account.—Sworn account and affidavit of denial, see notes under Art. 3712.

Account books are admissible in evidence when it is shown: 1. That they were kept for that purpose. 2. That they contain the original entries, made by the proper person contemporaneously with the transaction. 3. That the party offering them was in the habit of keeping correct and just accounts. 4. This evidence must be supplemented by the oath of the party. Underwood v. Parrott, 2 T. 168; Taylor v. Coleman, 20 T. 772; Werbiskie v. McManus, 31 T. 116; Burleson v. Goodman, 32 T. 229; Harrison v. State Central Bank, 1 App. C. C. § 377.

The plaintiffs, in a suit on account for goods, etc., sold to defendant, proved by their clerk that their books were in the handwriting of one of the plaintiffs, and that the plaintiffs were in the habit of keeping correct books, but that witness was not clerk for plaintiffs when any of the articles were sold, and that another person, who was still living, was their clerk at that time. Held, that the books were not sufficiently proved; that the failure to obtain the evidence of the person who was clerk when the articles were sold should have been accounted for, and there should have been added the suppletory oath of the party. Townsend v. Coleman, 18 T. 418.

In an action between partners the partnership books are not admissible in evidence on the suppletory oath of the party offering them, against the partner who at his request had not been permitted to inspect them. Saunders v. Duval, 19 T. 467.

An account book of a blacksmith, who without a clerk made his own entries in the regular routine of his business, is admissible under the above rule. Burleson v. Goodman, 32 T. 229; Baldrige v. Penland, 68 T. 441, 4 S. W. 565.

Bank books are not admissible in evidence in behalf of the bank when it was not shown that they had been properly kept. Baldrige v. Penland, 68 T. 441, 4 S. W. 565; Arnold v. Penn., 11 C. A. 325, 32 S. W. 353.

Before books of account are admissible in evidence, it must be shown that they contain the daily record of the business of the person for whom they are kept, as it transpires from day to day between himself and customers, and that the entries therein are original entries, made contemporaneously with the transaction of the business which they are intended to evidence. Bupp v. O'Connor, 1 C. A. 328, 21 S. W. 619; Moore v. Moore (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 532.

Proof of books of account kept by different persons, how made. American Fire Ins. Co. v. First Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 384.

It must be shown that the portion of an account book offered in evidence was made contemporaneously with the transaction in question. Brown v. Williams (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 225; Baldrige v. Penland, 68 T. 441, 4 S. W. 565.

The predicate necessary for the introduction of books of account to prove an account determined. Duty v. Storrs (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 357.

In an action for the value of ore shipped by plaintiff to defendant and converted by the latter, entries in the books of a railroad company held admissible to show the receipt of a certain car for transportation, the weight of the contents, and the names of the shipper and consignee. Consolidated Kansas City Smelting & Refining Co. v. Gonzales, 50 C. A. 79, 109 S. W. 946.

Facts necessary to be proved to authorize the introduction of account books in evidence, stated. Stark v. Burkitt, 103 T. 437, 129 S. W. 343.

In absence of person who had made the entries in a book offered in evidence, testimony of witness to having seen the entries made and to their correctness held a sufficient predicate for the admission of the book. Haywood v. Grand Lodge of Texas, K. P. (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1194.

132. — Proof of handwriting in general.—A book account held not sufficiently authenticated to render it admissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Morrison, 42 C. A. 598, 94 S. W. 173.

133. — Memoranda and statements.—In a suit for delay and improper handling of stock shipped to a commission house, an account of sales of stock at which plaintiff was present was admissible with his testimony, though not proved by any other witness. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Lampkin, 53 C. A. 524, 116 S. W. 128.

Certain document held inadmissible. Jacobs v. Nussbaum & Scharff (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 484.

In an action against railroads for damage to cattle shipped, a proper foundation held to have been made for the admission of an account of sales. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Worsham (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 755.

Where, in an action for the conversion of a carload of freight, a witness identified and verified a list of the goods, the list was properly considered by the jury. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Porter (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 267.

134. — Letters, telegrams and other correspondence.—It is not error to admit a letter whose execution has been proven by an incompetent witness without objection. Patrick v. Badger (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 538.

A letter offered in evidence held sufficiently identified. Powell v. State (Cr. App.) 44 S. W. 504.

A letter showing suspicious and material erasures held inadmissible in an action for breach of marriage promise, in the absence of evidence explaining same. Barber v. Geer, 23 C. A. 531, 57 S. W. 58.

Certain facts held to sufficiently establish the genuineness of a private writing. International Harvester Co. v. Campbell, 43 C. A. 421, 96 S. W. 93.

Proof of the execution of letters by the writer is a prerequisite to their admission in evidence as letters written by him. Ex parte Denning (Cr. App.) 100 S. W. 401.

Certain letters held not admissible in an action of trespass to try title. Henry v. Vaughan, 46 C. A. 531, 103 S. W. 192.

On an issue as to the execution and delivery of an alleged lost deed, letters showing plaintiff's endeavor to discover the deed held admissible without proof of the signatures of the writers. McDonald v. Hanks, 52 C. A. 140, 113 S. W. 604.

In action against an express company to recover on money orders paid on the plaintiff's forged indorsement, plaintiff's letters with his signature written by the alleged forger held admissible over objection that their custody was unexplained. Wells Fargo & Co. Express v. Bilkiss (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 798.

A letter, appearing on its face to have been written by a third person, was not admissible in the absence of some testimony tending to show who executed it. Newman v. Norris Implement Co. (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 725.

To render letters admissible in evidence, proof of their execution is necessary. Quanah, A. & P. Ry. Co. v. Drummond (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 728.

135. — Proof of handwriting.—A letter held not objectionable, because not shown to have been in the handwriting of the person whose correspondence it purported to be. Sun Mfg. Co. v. Egbert & Guthrie, 37 C. A. 512, 84 S. W. 667.

136. — Maps, plats and diagrams.—In action by an abutting owner for closing a street, a map compiled by a land agent from sources not shown, and not otherwise proved to be correct, held properly excluded. Smith v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 943.

A plat of land held not admissible, as independent evidence, on mere testimony of one who was with the surveyor. Smith v. Bunch, 31 C. A. 541, 73 S. W. 559.

On the issue of dedication, lithograph copy of city map held properly admitted in evidence where the original was not recorded and could not be produced. City of Houston v. Finnigan (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 470.

A plat of certain land in controversy in trespass to try title could not be considered without proof that it was correct. R. W. Wier Lumber Co. v. Conn (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 276.

137. — Photographs and other pictures.—A witness need not make a photograph himself, nor see it made, to testify to its correctness. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Magee (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 928.

Evidence that photographs of defective sidewalk taken two months after injury, were correct representations of locality at time of injury, held admissible. City of San Antonio v. Talerico (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 28.

In an action for injuries, testimony of injured party that a photograph offered in evidence was a correct picture of the scene of the accident was sufficient to render it admissible. Accousi v. G. A. Stowers Furniture Co. (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 861.

Photographs of a railroad curve where plaintiff's decedent was killed in a wreck held admissible on proof of any person who knew the fact that the photographs properly represented the scene. Thompson v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 48 C. A. 284, 106 S. W. 910.

138. — Books and other printed publications.—A book containing city charter, which states on its title-page that it is published by the city, is admissible without further proof. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Washington, 25 C. A. 600, 63 S. W. 538.

In an action for injuries to cattle in transit, the admission of copies of a live stock reporter to show the market price held based on a sufficient predicate. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Worsham (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 755.

139. Determination of question of admissibility.—See notes under Art. 1971.

140. Conclusiveness and effect.—As to the effect in evidence of an account book kept by a clerk, etc., see Maverick v. Maury, 79 T. 435, 15 S. W. 686.

After assent of the parties to an account stated, an action lies for the balance as an original demand or an implied promise of payment, and cannot be re-opened and re-examined to ascertain the items unless for alleged fraud or mistake. Henry v. Chapman, 4 App. C. C. § 105, 16 S. W. 543.

An open account is not fixed and determined, and may be disputed. The matter is not closed, but is open for determination. Langholz v. C. Z. Kroh Co. (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 831.

Though an instrument is admissible as an ancient document, held it may be found not genuine. West v. Houston Oil Co. of Texas, 56 C. A. 341, 120 S. W. 228.

A petition verified merely on information and belief was not evidence. Alamo Club v. State (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 639.

That a certificate of the seaworthiness of a vessel had been issued by the authorities held not conclusive evidence thereof in a shipper's action for injuries to a shipment due to a leak in the vessel. Mallory S. S. Co. v. G. A. Bahn Diamond & Optical Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 282.

140½. — Use by adverse party.—Where plaintiff based his right to recover on an invalid deed executed by the mayor of a town, and failed to introduce in evidence a tax deed previously executed to plaintiff's grantor by the sheriff of the county, the fact that defendant introduced such tax deed for the purpose of showing a common source did not authorize plaintiff to use such tax deed as a part of his chain of title. Skov v. Coffin (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 450.

141. — Judicial and other records.—As between the state and the patentee, the patent is evidence of title in the latter. The decision of the commissioner is not conclusive of the genuineness of the assignment against the grantee, or any assignor of the certificate; but, as between the patentee and strangers, the patent is at least prima facie evidence that the title is in the patentee, and relieves him from the necessity of proving the assignment in an action of trespass to try title against a party who does not claim the certificate upon which the patent issued. Mitchell v. Bass, 26 T. 372; Renick v. Dawson, 55 T. 102; League v. Rogan, 59 T. 427; Todd v. Fisher, 26 T. 242.

As to value of decrees of Spanish governors as evidence of title to land, see Von Rosenberg v. Haynes, 20 S. W. 143, 85 T. 357.

After 30 years, a valid levy of an execution held shown by docket showing issuance and sheriff's deed reciting levy and sale. West v. Loeb, 16 C. A. 399, 42 S. W. 612.

Where, in an action of trespass to try title, the lands were located by virtue of a certificate to the administrators of a Texas volunteer killed in battle, which certificate bore an indorsement of transfer by such administrators to the one who located it, such indorsement is sufficient to justify a finding that such transfer was made. Barrett v. Spence, 28 C. A. 344, 67 S. W. 921.

Admissions contained in an abandoned pleading are not to be taken as conclusive, but may be explained or contradicted. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Dewalt (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 774.

In a suit to try title between grantees of a woman's heirs and grantees of her administrator, recitals of a certificate by the board of land commissioners made under section 10 of the general provisions of the Constitution of the Republic of Texas held to conclusively establish certain facts. Fields v. Burnett, 49 C. A. 446, 108 S. W. 1048.

Where a sheriff's deed to the property in controversy more than 30 years old recited a sale pursuant to an execution issued out of the office of the clerk of the district court of N. county and a levy and sale of the land thereunder, the deed conclusively established the issuance of the execution in accordance with its recitals. Gillean v. Witherspoon (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 909.

Recital in a judgment held to sufficiently show service of citation against defendant unknown heirs. Houston Oil Co. of Texas v. Bayne (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 544.

A record sufficiently shows issuance of a writ of attachment, in an action in justice's court, where the judgment in that action shows foreclosure of an attachment lien, and directed issuance of an order of sale, and where it appears that the sheriff's return on the writ was introduced in evidence. Rule v. Richards (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1073.

142. — Private contracts and other writings.—In an action for breach of warranty of title to land, a recital in the deed is prima facie evidence that the amount stated was the true consideration. When two tracts are conveyed for an aggregate consideration, and the suit is for damages for breach of title to one only of the tracts, the recital of consideration in the deed is not evidence. Hall v. Pierson, 1 App. C. C. § 1211.

In trespass to try title it was held that the payment of purchase money, recited in the deed to plaintiff over 20 years old, should have been proved otherwise than by the recitals therein. Bremer v. Case, 60 T. 151.

In trespass to try title it was held that the recital in the deed to plaintiff over 20 years old that the purchase money had been paid was not sufficient evidence to establish that fact, so as to constitute him an innocent purchaser. Id.

A deed purporting to be executed under a power of attorney not produced, if thirty years old, which comes from the proper custody, and rights have been asserted under it and taxes paid by claimant, authorizes the presumption that the power existed. O'Donnell v. Johns, 76 T. 362, 13 S. W. 376; Davis v. Pearson, 26 S. W. 241, 6 C. A. 593; Harrison v. McMurray, 71 T. 129, 8 S. W. 612; O'Donnell v. Johns, 76 T. 362, 13 S. W. 376.

No more weight could be given to a deed, as matter of law, which was admissible and admitted as an ancient instrument, than ought to be to one proved by a subscribing witness. So far as admissibility is concerned this must be determined by the court; but the ultimate weight to be given to a deed admissible because proved in the one way or the other, so far as the question of genuineness goes, when there is a conflict of evidence as to this, must be determined by the jury. Stooksbury v. Swan, 85 T. 563, 22 S. W. 963.

As to effect of recital of consideration in deed, see Womack v. Wamble, 27 S. W. 154, 7 C. A. 273, citing Weaver v. City of Gainesville, 21 S. W. 317, 1 C. A. 286; Willis v. Byars, 21 S. W. 321, 2 C. A. 134; Belcher v. Mulhall, 57 T. 17; Railway Co. v. Garrett, 52 T. 133; Railway Co. v. McKinney, 55 T. 176; Railway Co. v. Pfeuffer, 56 T. 71; Taylor v. Merrill, 64 T. 494.

A deed of trust duly proven is prima facie evidence of the existence of the debts mentioned therein in a suit for conversion of the trust property. Martin-Brown Co. v. Henderson, 28 S. W. 695, 9 C. A. 130.

Mutilated deed held circumstantial, but not conclusive, evidence. Bauman v. Chambers, 91 T. 108, 41 S. W. 471.

A deed reciting that the grantor was the widow, sole legatee, and executrix of M. was not evidence of title, in the absence of proof of M.'s death, the existence and probate of the will, and that the grantee was executrix and sole legatee thereunder. McCoy v. Pease, 17 C. A. 303, 42 S. W. 659.

Recital in the instrument under which plaintiff claimed and the field notes of the survey introduced in evidence held to sufficiently show the acreage claimed by plaintiff. Miller v. Gist, 91 T. 335, 43 S. W. 263.

Where one testified unequivocally that he was a nonresident of the state, the fact that recitals in deeds mentioned him as a resident did not make the evidence conflicting. Dodge v. Signor, 18 C. A. 45, 44 S. W. 926.

Though a deed recites a consideration, it may be shown that the property conveyed was a gift. Mahon v. Barnett (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 24.

A deed executed by city of San Antonio in 1852, and confirmed by legislative enactment, held to sufficiently show grantee's title from the sovereignty. City of San Antonio v. Ostrom, 18 C. A. 678, 45 S. W. 961.

Where the owner of land conveyed a part thereof, and the deed recited that there was reserved from its operation a certain number of acres previously conveyed or agreed to be conveyed to another, such recital was merely an admission, which might be rebutted. Bartell v. Kelsey (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 631.

Recitals of consideration in a deed, held prima facie evidence of payment thereof by the grantee. Williams v. Sapiha (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 947.

The will of a surviving wife, which recites the adoption of a daughter, held sufficient to establish the fact of her adoption, as against a devisee in the will, in an action to try title. White v. Holman, 25 C. A. 152, 60 S. W. 437.

A deed conveying the land in controversy to plaintiff's intestate held sufficient, under the evidence, to show an equitable interest, and hence to defeat a plea of stale demand filed by a naked trespasser. Karnes v. Butler (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 950.

In an action against a railroad company for damages to cattle received during carriage over its own and a connecting line, that the waybill issued by defendant described the shipment as a through one held no proof of agency between defendant and the connecting line. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Barnett, 27 C. A. 498, 66 S. W. 474.

In an action for breach of warranty of title in a deed, the recital in the deed is prima facie evidence of the consideration paid. Sachse v. Loeb (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 460.

The recitals of a consideration in a deed are insufficient to show that the grantee was a purchaser for value, as against the grantee in a prior unrecorded deed from the same grantor. Moody v. Ogden, 31 C. A. 395, 72 S. W. 253.

A deed reciting an intention to convey only whatever title the grantor may have acquired in the land by a purchase at tax sale is no evidence of title in the grantor by virtue of that sale. McKee v. Ellis (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 880.

A deed executed by the assignee of certain bankrupts to their attorneys held not intended to pass title for their benefit. Beall v. Chatham (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 1086.

A plat held to indicate that the surveyor making it made an actual survey and ran the lines on the ground as indicated by the plat. Cochran v. Kapner, 46 C. A. 342, 103 S. W. 469.

A recital in a deed held insufficient to show a chain of title from the patentee to the grantor. Teagarden v. Patten, 48 C. A. 571, 107 S. W. 909.

The recital in a deed of a consideration held not alone sufficient to prove payment thereof, so as to constitute grantee an innocent purchaser. McAdoo v. Williams, 54 C. A. 562, 118 S. W. 625.

A sheriff's deed more than 30 years old, reciting a sale under a certain execution, held conclusive evidence of the issuance of the execution as recited. Gillean v. Witherspoon (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 909.

The recital in a deed subsequent to an unregistered deed that the purchase money has been paid held not alone to prove payment. Davidson v. Ryle (Sup.) 124 S. W. 616.

To show a purchase in good faith as against an equitable title, a purchaser must prove, outside of recitals in his deed, that he paid value and purchased without actual or constructive notice of such title. Low v. Gray (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 270.

Plaintiff's deed held to sufficiently comprehend the land sued for under her petition in trespass to try title. Wadsworth v. Vinyard (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1171.

Recitals in a deed held to show that a wall was a party wall. Fewell v. Kinsella (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1174.

A bank to which land was transferred by a vendee held not entitled to rights of an innocent purchaser in an action by the original vendors to cancel the deed given by them, because procured by fraud, where there was no proof, aside from recitals of the deed to the bank, that the bank paid value or took without notice of plaintiffs' equities. Morrison v. Cotton (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 866.

143. — Books of account.—An entry on the books of a bank of a certain amount as a credit on a depositor's account is not conclusive of the bank's liability to the depositor for that amount, but is open to explanation. Anderson v. Walker, 93 T. 119, 53 S. W. 821.

In a suit to recover money paid to defendant, but not credited, evidence of the drinking habits of defendant's bookkeeper held admissible. Seiber v. Johnson Mercantile Co., 40 C. A. 600, 90 S. W. 516.

144. — Books and other printed publications.—The jury in determining the damages in an action for negligent death held not bound to take the mortuary tables as evidence of the probable duration of decedent's life. Texas Mexican Ry. Co. v. Higgins, 44 C. A. 523, 99 S. W. 200.

145. — Effect of introducing part of document or record.—When one party introduces a judgment or any part of a record, the other party may read the remaining part of the record in evidence. Hughes v. Driver, 50 T. 175.

Where a party offers only a part of an instrument, the adverse party held entitled to introduce the entire instrument only when a reading of the entire instrument is essential to a proper understanding of the part offered. St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. v. May, 53 C. A. 257, 115 S. W. 900.

Admission in evidence of a portion of a letter held not to require the admission of other portions. Heard v. Clegg (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1145.

146. Estoppel by deed.—See Rule 32, post.

V. Reception of Evidence at Trial

147. Statutory matters as to conduct of trial.—See Title 37, Chapter 12.

148. Necessity and scope of proof.—A witness suing for fees must produce the subpoena, or account for its absence. Harris v. Coleman, 8 T. 278.

When a suit is founded upon a bill of lading, the bill of lading must be produced in evidence, or its nonproduction be accounted for and its substance proved as alleged. When the bill of lading is declared on, it is admissible evidence without proof, unless its execution is denied under oath. T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Logan, 3 App. C. C. § 187.

In reconvention on a sequestration bond judgment cannot be rendered against the sureties without introduction of the bond and writ of sequestration with return thereon. Wilkinson v. Stanley (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 606.

Tenant's introduction of distress warrant in support of plea of reconvention in action for rent held unnecessary in view of pleadings. Hurst v. Benson (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 417.

Since state courts take judicial notice of the laws of the United States, the testimony of federal officers, such as revenue agents, is not admissible to prove such laws. San Antonio Light Pub. Co. v. Lewy, 52 C. A. 22, 113 S. W. 574.

149. — Matters of record in cause.—Where suit is brought against a railroad company for damages resulting from its delay and negligence in shipping stock under an implied contract, and the defendants plead a written contract with the shipper, but it is not introduced in evidence, the liability of the defendant is not limited thereby. Missecuri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wells, 24 C. A. 304, 58 S. W. 842.

Exhibits attached to the pleadings are not evidence unless introduced at the trial. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lawson, 55 C. A. 388, 119 S. W. 921.

150. — Matters not controverted at trial.—One may not complain of the foreclosure of a mortgage lien in a proceeding by his landlord because no mortgage was offered in evidence, where the existence of such lien was admitted by the answer. Dunlap v. Thrasher, 48 C. A. 324, 107 S. W. 83.

An admission by a defendant entered under district and county courts rule 31 (67 S. W. xxiii) held to relieve plaintiff of the obligation of proving his case and to allow a recovery to the extent of the claim pleaded. Berry Bros. v. Fairbanks, Morse & Co., 51 C. A. 558, 112 S. W. 427.

151. Introduction of documentary evidence.—On the production of an instrument, if it appears to have been altered, it is incumbent upon the party offering it in evidence to explain this appearance. If nothing appears to the contrary, the alteration will be presumed to be contemporaneous with the execution of the instrument. If ground of suspicion is apparent upon the face of the instrument, the law presumes nothing, but leaves the question of the time when, the person by whom, and the intent with which, the alteration was made as matters of fact to be found by the jury upon the evidence. Rodriguez v. Haynes, 76 T. 225, 13 S. W. 296; Warren v. Frederichs, 76 T. 647, 13 S. W. 643; Ammons v. Dwyer, 78 T. 639, 15 S. W. 1049; Pasture Co. v. Preston, 65 T. 448; McCelvey v. Cryer, 28 S. W. 691, 8 C. A. 437; Kennard v. Withrow (Civ. App.) 28 S. W. 226.

Admissions in pleadings need not be read in evidence. Bauman v. Chambers, 91 T. 108, 41 S. W. 471.

In a suit on an official bond, where the issue is whether the bond was filed and approved, it may be introduced in evidence. McFarlane v. Howell, 16 C. A. 246, 43 S. W. 315.

It is not error to permit plaintiff to read part of a witness' statement where defendant was at liberty to read any other part claimed to be material. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Eckles (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 651.

Defendants, claiming title in themselves, need not introduce deeds constituting links in their chain of title in the order of their execution. Frugia v. Trueheart, 48 C. A. 513, 106 S. W. 736.

152. Placing witnesses under the rule.—Witnesses may, in the discretion of the court, be examined separately, and out of the hearing of each other. Cavazos v. Gonzales, 33 T. 133; Watts v. Holland, 56 T. 54.

The admissibility of witnesses who have not been placed under the rule, or have violated the rule, is within the sound discretion of the court. Sherwood v. State, 42 T. 498; Texas Express Co. v. Dupree, 2 App. C. C. § 321; Phillips v. Edelstein, 2 App. C. C. § 452.

Where witnesses have been placed under the rule, the court may permit a witness not under the rule to testify as to matters not anticipated. Railway Co. v. Burleson (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 1107.

The permission of a witness, who has remained in the court room and heard some of the testimony, to testify after the rule was invoked, is within the sound discretion of the court, and will not be revised on appeal, unless an abuse of such discretion is apparent. Garlington v. McIntosh (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 389.

Releasing a particular witness from the rule excluding witnesses held within the discretion of the court. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Burnett (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 314.

The parties to a cause are not subject to the rule for the separation of witnesses. Rotan Grocery Co. v. Martin (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 706.

Witness who has not been placed under rule for separation of witnesses may, in the discretion of the court, be permitted to testify. Colbert v. Garrett (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 853.

Party to an action cannot be prevented from taking stand after he has heard testimony of two of his witnesses. Id.

Where the rule as to separation has been invoked as to witnesses, and a witness has been told what a witness for plaintiff had sworn, the court may in its discretion permit such witness to testify to matters tending to impeach plaintiff's witness. Crawleigh v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 28 C. A. 260, 67 S. W. 140.

Court held to have abused its discretion in refusing to permit a witness to testify on account of a violation of the rule separating witnesses. Johnson v. Cooley, 30 C. A. 576, 71 S. W. 34.

Where witnesses have been placed under the rule, and the same is violated, the court should withdraw the case from the jury. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Akers (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 848.

Failure to enforce rule excluding witnesses, as to certain witness, held not an abuse of discretion. M. A. Cooper & Co. v. Sawyer, 31 C. A. 620, 73 S. W. 992.

Permitting a witness to testify after he had violated a rule excluding witnesses held not an abuse of discretion. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Hugen, 45 C. A. 326, 100 S. W. 1000.

Allowing a witness to testify who had been in the courtroom after the rule had been demanded held no abuse of discretion by the court. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Washington (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1126.

The exercise of the sound discretion of the trial court in excluding the testimony of a witness who, having been placed under the rule, violated it, is reviewable only for abuse. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Pingnot (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 93.

The matter of placing witnesses under the rule rests largely in the discretion of the trial court, and, in the absence of an abuse of discretion and prejudice to the party complaining, the ruling is not ground for reversal. Beaumont & G. N. R. R. v. Elliott (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1125.

It is within the court's discretion to permit particular witnesses to remain in the courtroom where the rule is invoked. Armstrong Packing Co. v. Clem (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 576.

In a husband's action for injuries to his wife in which the rule was invoked, the court did not abuse its discretion in permitting both the husband and wife to remain in the courtroom. Id.

The propriety of placing any class of witnesses under the rule rests largely in the discretion of the trial judge, and his ruling will not be reversed, except where an abuse is shown. Carter v. Kansas City Southern Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 638.

153. Offer of proof.—In making an offer to introduce testimony, it is not necessary for the offer to cover the entire issue; it is sufficient if the testimony conduces to prove a link in the chain of facts which make up the issue, or to lay a foundation for the introduction of other proper evidence. Neill v. Keese, 5 T. 23, 51 Am. Dec. 746. See Gamage v. Alexander, 14 T. 414.

Where evidence, offered in connection with an objection to a deed, was excluded because the deed was admissible on its face, defendant, in order to predicate error on the exclusion of such evidence, should have reoffered it as original testimony. Houston Oil Co. of Texas v. Kimball (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 662.

154. — Showing grounds or purpose of admission.—Relevancy of evidence objected to must be shown by statement of counsel. Harvey v. Edens, 69 T. 420, 6 S. W. 306.

As a general rule to entitle a party to a revision of the rulings of the lower court as to questions to a witness, the expected answer must appear, but it is not applicable in the cross-examination of witnesses. Cunningham v. Railway Co., 31 S. W. 629, 88 T. 534.

Where the purpose for which evidence was offered was revealed for the first time on appeal, it was not error to exclude it. Lindsay v. State, 39 Cr. R. 468, 46 S. W. 1045.

A bill of exceptions to the exclusion of evidence is insufficient to show injury, where it does not state what the witness would have answered in response to the question. Shippers' Compress & Warehouse Co. v. Davidson, 35 C. A. 558, 80 S. W. 1032.

A bill of exceptions to the exclusion of testimony should state what it was expected the witness would answer, and the objections to the testimony. McMillion v. Cook (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 775.

155. — Evidence admissible in part or for particular purpose.—Where evidence is admissible against one party, another party, as to whom it is incompetent, cannot complain, in the absence of a request to the court to limit the effect of the evidence. Shelburn v. McCrocklin (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 329.

It is not error to admit testimony, a part of which is inadmissible, when the objection is made to the whole. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Gormley, 91 T. 393, 43 S. W. 877, 66 Am. St. Rep. 894.

When admissible evidence is intermingled with that which is inadmissible, it is not error to exclude the whole. Cole v. Horton (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 503.

Evidence admissible against part of several defendants held properly admissible against all, in the absence of a request for an instruction limiting its effect. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Harlan (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 971.

A duebill, given by a subcontractor of a railroad company in lieu of time checks, is admissible in an action thereon against the subcontractor and the railroad company to enforce the lien, though it contains admissions not binding on the company. Texas & N. O. Ry. Co. v. Dorman (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 1086.

Where evidence is admissible on a certain issue, and there is no request for an instruction limiting its operation, an assignment of error in its admission will be overruled. Brin v. McGregor (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 78.

In an action against a street railway company and a steam railway company for personal injuries, it was not error to admit evidence of negligence, competent under the pleadings of one of the defendants against the other, though not competent under the petition. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Holt, 30 C. A. 330, 70 S. W. 591.

Part of answer in a deposition showing personal observation held admissible after striking out hearsay. Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Hunter, 30 C. A. 489, 70 S. W. 798.

In an action against several defendants to recover property transferred by a bankrupt in fraud of his creditors, certain testimony, admitted by agreement between the plaintiff and certain of the defendants, held not harmful to other defendants. Horstman v. Little (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 286.

Certain evidence as to ownership held admissible against both defendants in an action for conversion. Trammell & Lane v. J. M. Guffey Petroleum Co., 42 C. A. 455, 94 S. W. 104.

A defendant held not entitled to complain of the exclusion of certain evidence offered on behalf of all the defendants, though it was only admissible in behalf of one. Evans v. Scott (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 116.

Reference in plaintiff's evidence to a custom as to the making of a contract of employment held an immaterial matter, which did not affect the balance of plaintiff's testimony as to such contract. San Antonio Light Pub. Co. v. Moore, 46 C. A. 259, 101 S. W. 867.

It is a sufficient answer to an assignment of error as to the admission in evidence of a letter, based on the ground that it did not pass title to land in dispute between the parties, that it was not introduced for that purpose, but on a general issue of estoppel pleaded by the party introducing it. Moore v. Kirby, 52 C. A. 200, 115 S. W. 632.

In a suit to recover rents, part of the consideration for the conveyance of land, certain evidence held admissible only for the purpose of affecting the credibility of the witness, and not for the purpose of proving plaintiff's case. Tipton v. Tipton, 55 C. A. 192, 118 S. W. 842.

Evidence on the question whether defendant had abandoned his homestead held admissible, though tending to impeach the witness. Rockwell Bros. & Co. v. Hudgens, 57 C. A. 504, 123 S. W. 185.

One offering testimony admissible against some, and inadmissible against other defendants, should invoke ruling as to its partial admissibility. Berger v. Kirby (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1122.

In an action to foreclose vendor's lien notes, releases of such liens were admissible though they contained recitals not of themselves admissible. Adams v. Hill (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 349.

156. — Rulings on offers.—In an action against a railroad for damages resulting from delay, rough handling, etc., in transporting plaintiff's cattle, ruling excluding certain evidence held not relieved of error by explanation of trial judge. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Coggin, 40 C. A. 583, 90 S. W. 523.

156½. Conclusiveness of evidence on party introducing it.—The objection that a will is not the best evidence of the adoption of a daughter cannot be urged by a devisee, who has introduced the will in evidence, in an action to try title. White v. Holman, 25 C. A. 152, 60 S. W. 437.

Where a deposition is offered it should be considered as the evidence of the party who offered it, though it was taken at the instance of the opposite party. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Lovely, 29 C. A. 584, 69 S. W. 128.

157. Presence of jury during offer or argument as to admission.—Exercise of the trial court's discretion in permitting an offer of proof in the presence of the jury will not be reversed on appeal without an affirmative showing of abuse and substantial injury to plaintiff. Moss v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 46 C. A. 463, 103 S. W. 221.

In the absence of a request that the jury be retired during a legal argument, held, that it was no objection that during argument to the court counsel read from authorities. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dunbar, 49 C. A. 12, 108 S. W. 500.

158. Provisional or conditional admission.—The practice of admitting improper testimony with the promise or expectation of afterwards directing the jury not to consider it, or of controlling its effect by a charge, is condemned. G., C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Levy, 59 T. 542, 46 Am. Rep. 269; Tucker v. Hamlin, 60 T. 171.

159. Presentation of evidence.—A question as to what a witness had testified on a former trial of the cause, the witness not having testified on the trial in question, was improper. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Prude, 39 C. A. 144, 86 S. W. 1046.

160. Application of personal knowledge of jurors.—A defendant in an action for the reasonable value of services who offered no testimony as to the reasonable value thereof could not complain if the jury made their own estimate from their own knowledge. C. W. Hahl & Co. v. Southland Immigration Ass'n, 53 C. A. 592, 116 S. W. 831.

161. Effect of admission of evidence.—The fact that defendant elicited incompetent testimony on cross-examination of plaintiff's witnesses did not render such evidence competent as against plaintiff. Smith v. City of San Antonio (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 831.

One of two defendants in an action for conversion, both having denied plaintiff's title, held entitled to the benefit of evidence, however admitted, to show title in the other defendant. Trammell & Lane v. J. M. Guffey Petroleum Co., 42 C. A. 455, 94 S. W. 104.

162. — Restriction to special purpose.—Evidence in an action to recover land held not erroneously admitted where it was restricted by instruction. Clark v. Clark, 21 C. A. 371, 51 S. W. 337.

Where testimony is before jury for certain purpose, court should limit its effect, but, where this is not requested, party cannot afterwards complain. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 81.

Where tax deeds are introduced to support a plea of limitation, it is not necessary to object to their introduction to limit their effect to the purpose for which they were introduced. Gillaspie v. Murray, 27 C. A. 580, 66 S. W. 252.

In an action against an alleged partnership, the existence of which is denied, the refusal to limit the consideration of certain evidence to a particular issue held error. Robinson v. First Nat. Bank, 98 T. 184, 82 S. W. 505.

Where evidence otherwise inadmissible is admissible upon some one issue, the party against whom it is admitted is entitled upon request to have the scope of such evidence limited. Bell v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 36 C. A. 569, 82 S. W. 1073.

Where a witness is impeached by showing different statements out of court, it is error to fail to limit the impeaching testimony to the purpose for which it was admitted. Texas Loan & Trust Co. v. Angel, 39 C. A. 166, 86 S. W. 1056.

In trespass to try title, evidence of statements by defendant, who afterwards testified, held properly confined to question of good faith. Camp v. League (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 1062.

In an action for commissions, certain testimony held admissible, and held, that it was not error to fail to restrict it to a certain purpose in the absence of a request by the defendant to do so. Bluestein v. Collins (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 687.

In an action against a railroad company to enjoin construction of a fence between its right of way and plaintiff's lot, plaintiff's testimony that his property would be worth only half its value if the fence were erected, and that without a fence it would be worth from $10,000 to $12,000, should have been confined to the market value. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Ayers (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1068.

163. Exclusion of improper evidence.—When evidence is excluded on grounds which are not tenable, the ruling will not be sustained on appeal on another ground which is good, but which might have been obviated if taken in the court below. Butler v. Dunagan, 19 T. 559.

The admissibility of evidence is determined by the judge. Munzesheimer v. Allen, 3 App. C. C. § 55.

Action of court in action for injuries, in sustaining objection to question put to plaintiff as to whether a proposition had been made to him to have the court appoint a committee of physicians to examine him, held erroneous. Austin & N. W. R. Co. v. Cluck, 97 T. 172, 77 S. W. 403, 64 L. R. A. 494, 104 Am. St. Rep. 863, 1 Ann. Cas. 261.

Sustaining an objection to a question whether plaintiff objected to an X-ray examination of his wife's injuries, for which he sued, held not error. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Rutherford (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 558.

Testimony of the officer who took a deposition as to a question put to him, by defendant held such that it should have been excluded. Shannon v. Marchbanks, 35 C. A. 615, 80 S. W. 860.

Where, in an action for negligent death, a motion for an autopsy of the body of decedent for the purpose of establishing defendant's theory of self-defense was properly denied, the refusal to permit the motion to be read to the jury was proper. Gray v. Phillips, 54 C. A. 148, 117 S. W. 870.

It is improper to admit inadmissible evidence and undertaking to control it by withdrawing it or excluding it by the charge. Stephenson v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 1196.

164. Cumulative evidence in general.—Cumulative testimony is additional testimony of the same kind to the same point. It is not cumulative when it is of a different character, and merely tends to prove a former proposition, in issue by the testimony, by proof of a new and distinct fact. Railway Co. v. Forsyth, 49 T. 171.

It is not error to refuse to admit cumulative evidence unless it clearly appear that injury was caused. Snow v. Starr, 75 T. 411, 12 S. W. 673.

Exclusion of testimony on subject sufficiently covered by the witness held not error. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brown, 16 C. A. 93, 40 S. W. 608.

In an action against a railroad for injuries, one of defendant's medical expert witnesses held properly excluded, under the rule excluding witnesses from attendance on the examination of other witnesses. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith, 31 C. A. 332, 72 S. W. 418.

The exclusion of the repetition of evidence admitted held not error. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hays, 40 C. A. 162, 89 S. W. 29.

The refusal of the court to allow parties to introduce matters which were already in evidence was proper. Camp v. League (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 1062.

Where the evidence of a witness at a former trial was substantially the same as that at a subsequent trial, it was not error to refuse to permit the introduction of his former testimony. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Garrett (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 53.

The exclusion of the testimony of a witness to prove a fact established by a number of other witnesses is not erroneous. Sherman Gas & Electric Co. v. Belden (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 897.

The exclusion of the report of the accident made by the witness then on the stand held not error; plaintiff's counsel, while having asked the witness if he made a report, not having claimed that the report differed from his evidence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Tuck, 103 T. 72, 123 S. W. 406.

Where one physician offered by defendant in an injury action was allowed to examine plaintiff's injured arm, held that defendant could not object because other physicians offered by it were not permitted also to examine the arm. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Lane (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1066.

The refusal of the court to allow a witness to make a second statement as to a matter previously testified to, held within the court's discretion. Armstrong v. Burt (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 172.

The courts may properly refuse to permit the repetition of material evidence. Young v. Watson (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 840.

165. Number of witnesses.—The matter of restricting the number of impeaching witnesses is entirely within the discretion of the trial judge, which will not be disturbed on appeal, unless abused. Donaldson v. Dobbs, 35 C. A. 439, 80 S. W. 1084.

166. Withdrawal of evidence.—When testimony has been admitted, and in the progress of the examination of the witness it is developed that his knowledge of facts is but hearsay, it is proper practice to withdraw from the jury that already admitted. Bounds v. Little, 75 T. 316, 12 S. W. 1109.

Withdrawing an agreement from evidence held not an abuse of discretion, where it was to be admitted only in case a certain witness should be absent, and he was present. Robbins v. Ginnochio (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 34.

The court on appeal will not reverse a judgment because depositions read to the jury were withdrawn by the court. Freeman v. Cleary (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 521.

167. Order of proof, rebuttal, and reopening case.—See notes under Art. 1951.

168. Right to object to evidence.—Where a question was asked about an entire conversation, part of which was irrelevant, but the witness confined himself to the relevant portion, overruling an objection to the answer was not error. Paul v. Chenault (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 682.

A purchaser pendente lite does not become a party, and cannot object to or impeach evidence. Smith v. Olsen (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 874.

Objections to evidence of a witness held unavailable where obviated by further testimony. Halff v. Goldfrank (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 1095.

A party who offers a witness to prove an issue has a right to object to improper questions, the answers to which might affect his credibility. Kruger v. Spachek, 22 C. A. 307, 54 S. W. 295.

An insolvent debtor, who has conveyed his property to a trustee for distribution among his creditors, cannot object to the introduction of evidence in an action against his trustee in which he was joined as a party, which evidence did not in any manner tend to increase his liability to the creditor. Wilson v. National Bank of Cleburne, 27 C. A. 54, 63 S. W. 1067.

Any error in permitting witness to answer a leading question held to have been cured. Hammond v. Decker, 46 C. A. 232, 102 S. W. 453.

In the state's action for public free school land, defendants could not object that field notes and patent of grant, which they claimed included the land in controversy, were inadmissible in evidence because erroneous, locating the land out of the "jurisdiction" in which the grant by the Legislature called for it, where they did not connect themselves with any outstanding title, and the patentees had accepted the patent. Hamilton v. State (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1117.

169. — Estoppel or waiver.—A party cannot object to the introduction of a record after he has agreed that it might be used. Kempner v. Beaumont Lumber Co., 20 C. A. 307, 49 S. W. 412.

When plaintiff gave in evidence, over objection, an administrator's deed, without proof of any order of sale or confirmation thereof, defendant's objections on this ground are waived when he subsequently offers the same deed as a part of his own title; and such deed being a common source of title, the action of the court in first admitting it, if an error at all, is immaterial. Dohoney v. Womack, 1 C. A. 354, 19 S. W. 883, 20 S. W. 950.

Where a party requires his opponent to produce certain letters for inspection, and then fails to introduce them in evidence, and the facts therein recited are shown by other evidence, the mere inspection does not make the letters admissible on behalf of their owner. Ellis v. Randle, 24 C. A. 475, 60 S. W. 462.

Right to complain that evidence was merely the opinion of the witness held waived, where testimony of the same character from others was not objected to. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Eckles, 25 C. A. 179, 60 S. W. 830.

An appellant cannot avail himself of an error in the admission of testimony, when he has permitted evidence of the same facts to be introduced in another form without objection. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Harlan (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 971.

Where testimony in chief, objected to by defendant, was also brought out by it on cross-examination of the witness, it could not on appeal urge objections to its admissibility. Gammel-Statesman Pub. Co. v. Monfort (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 1029.

An objection to evidence is waived by permitting other witnesses to testify without objection to the evidence complained of. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Lester (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 401.

Error in permitting leading questions held not to have been waived. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Jones, 38 C. A. 129, 85 S. W. 37.

Where the court ruled that a written contract, and not an oral one, should control the action, plaintiff did not waive his right to complain of the ruling by proceeding with the trial. McNeill v. Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 32.

Where defendant cross-examined a witness, and the court sustained its motion withdrawing his evidence because it appeared that he was not competent to testify, defendant had no ground to complain of the court overruling its objection to the witness. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Kennedy (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 653.

A party who, after the admission of testimony over his objection, requires the witnesses on cross-examination to repeat the testimony, cannot claim that the testimony was in evidence over his objection. Sullivan v. Fant, 51 C. A. 6, 110 S. W. 507.

The admission of certain evidence by plaintiff in trover held not error, as her other testimony tended to show that the value given of the property converted was the cash market value. Crouch Hardware Co. v. Walker, 51 C. A. 571, 113 S. W. 163.

Defendant held not prejudiced by the court's refusal to permit plaintiff's ex parte deposition, taken before trial, to be read in evidence. Holland v. Riggs, 53 C. A. 367, 116 S. W. 167.

Error in refusing to permit the immediate cross-examination of an impeaching witness held waived by defendant's failure to cross-examine the witness when an opportunity was later afforded. McMillion v. Cook (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 775.

Where improper evidence was admitted over objection, and on cross-examination the objecting party brings out the same evidence, he waived his objection. Cathey v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 217.

Objection to testimony held waived by the objecting party eliciting substantially the same testimony on cross-examination. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1137.

A party who cross-examines the witness of the adverse party, giving incompetent testimony, held not to waive the objection because the witness on the cross-examination states the same facts. Cathey v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 104 T. 39, 133 S. W. 417, 33 L. R. A. (N. S.) 103.

Objection to testimony is waived by other witnesses being permitted without objection to testify to substantially the same effect. Hendrix v. Brazzell (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 280.

170. Time for objection.—Objections to evidence on the ground that it is secondary must be taken when the evidence is offered. Hunter v. Waite, 11 T. 85.

Objection to the admissibility of evidence cannot be raised for the first time in a requested charge. White v. Pyron (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 82.

Objections to testimony must be taken when it is offered, and if not made then are considered waived, and its admission is no ground for a new trial. International Harvester Co. v. Campbell, 43 C. A. 421, 96 S. W. 93.

On appeal only such objections to the admission of testimony as were urged on trial will be considered. Compagnie Des Metaux Unital v. Victoria Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 651.

A party may not object to testimony for the first time by requesting special charges instructing the jury not to consider it. Holland v. Riggs, 53 C. A. 367, 116 S. W. 167.

A party must object to evidence, and state the reason at the time the evidence is offered. Id.

An objection to the testimony of a witness, not made until after plaintiff had finished his opening argument to the jury, was too late. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Gillespie & Carlton, 54 C. A. 593, 118 S. W. 628.

Statement as to time and mode for objection to evidence as not conforming to plaintiff's petition. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Grant (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 145.

An objection to a question not made until after the answer is given may be properly overruled. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Walker (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 99.

Where evidence is admitted without objection, the question of variance cannot be raised on an instruction to the jury. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Robertson (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 629.

171. Sufficiency and scope of objection.—Only such objections as are urged to the admissibility of testimony will be considered on appeal. Tevis v. Armstrong, 71 T. 59, 9 S. W. 134.

An objection to the admission of evidence as not being permissible under the laws of evidence held sufficient. Texas Brewing Co. v. Dickey (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 577.

An objection to certain testimony that it is irrelevant and immaterial is insufficient to present, on appeal, the question of the admissibility of the testimony. Whittle v. State, 43 Cr. R. 468, 66 S. W. 771.

The objection to evidence held sufficient. Trammell & Lane v. J. M. Guffey Petroleum Co., 42 C. A. 455, 94 S. W. 104.

An objection, to a question as to whether witness had ever known a train to stop and let a street car pass, that the witness had not seen the car until it passed, held inapplicable and properly overruled. Northern Texas Traction Co. v. Caldwell, 44 C. A. 374, 99 S. W. 869.

It was not error to permit a witness to testify to the marriage of defendant, over an objection that "he was drunk" at the time. Stevens v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 944.

172. — General or specific.—A general exception that the damages claimed were not the proximate results of defendant's negligence held properly overruled. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Evans, 30 C. A. 252, 70 S. W. 351.

An objection to testimony that it was "immaterial and irrelevant" held too general. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Powers (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 250.

Objection to the introduction of a life insurance table as evidence, on the ground that no predicate has been laid to authorize it, is too general to be considered. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Florence (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 430.

173. — Statement of grounds.—The ground of objection to testimony must be stated. McDannell v. Horrell, 1 U. C. 521.

An objection to the introduction of a written assignment of the cause of action, on the ground that no predicate had been laid to authorize its admission, was too indefinite to raise any question. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Evans-Snyder-Buel Co., 42 C. A. 60, 93 S. W. 1024.

An objection to testimony which states no grounds therefor should be disregarded. Irvin v. Johnson, 56 C. A. 492, 120 S. W. 1085.

Statement of when the objection to evidence, "incompetent, immaterial, and irrelevant," is sufficient. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 672.

If evidence is relevant, an objection on the ground that it is immaterial and irrelevant is properly overruled, although the testimony be incompetent. Knights of Macca-bees of the World v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 718.

Objection to hypothetical question held properly overruled, where only objection was that there was no evidence to support it, and there was such evidence. Lanham v. Lanham (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 635.

A deed may be inadmissible on the ground of immateriality in the absence of proof of the grantors' heirship, under which title is derived, but not on the ground of incompetency. Villalva v. Brown (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1124.

174. — Scope and questions raised.—A general objection to a physician's testifying to anything plaintiff said while being examined for the purpose of qualifying the physician as a witness, made before any testimony was given, was insufficient to raise any question as to the admissibility of the testimony. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Johnson, 95 T. 409, 67 S. W. 768.

Objection to evidence in personal injury case held insufficient to present question for review. City of San Antonio v. Potter, 31 C. A. 263, 71 S. W. 764.

An objection to the introduction of a statement in a deed as a whole is not sufficient to raise the question of the admissibility of a specific part of the statement. Wren v. Howland, 33 C. A. 87, 75 S. W. 894.

An objection to evidence of the declarations of agents of a corporation held to present the objection that declarations of mere agents of the defendants, made after the accident, were inadmissible against defendants. City of Austin v. Forbis, 99 T. 234, 89 S. W. 405.

An objection that certain testimony was an opinion did not raise a question as to the qualification and competency of a witness to testify as an expert. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Warner, 42 C. A. 280, 93 S. W. 489.

Objection to a discussion of evidence held not to relieve the objector of the failure to present proper objections to the evidence. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Simmons (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 686.

An objection to evidence of incompetency of plaintiff's fellow servant at the trial held insufficient to present the question on appeal that the evidence was inadmissible because irrelevant to the issue of negligence alleged. Kansas City Consol. Smelting & Refining Co. v. Taylor, 48 C. A. 605, 107 S. W. 889.

Where evidence, though not competent, was relevant, an objection to its relevancy only was properly overruled. Postal Telegraph-Cable Co. v. Sunset Const. Co. (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 265.

In an action against carriers for injury to a live stock shipment, the admission of testimony held not error as against the objection made. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rich, 51 C. A. 312, 112 S. W. 114.

An objection to evidence which goes rather to its sufficiency than to its admissibility does not raise a question of the admissibility thereof. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Cunningham, 51 C. A. 368, 113 S. W. 767.

A question, not being evidence, held it could not be objected to as hearsay. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Farmer, 102 T. 235, 115 S. W. 260.

The objection that certain evidence is hearsay is not the same as an objection that the testimony is not the best evidence. Blair v. Boyd (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 870.

Where evidence is sought to be introduced on a specified ground, the court need not rule on its admissibility on another ground. Runkle v. Smith (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 745.

Where one makes a single objection or particular objections to testimony, he waives other objections not made. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Haberlin, 104 T. 50, 133 S. W. 873.

Where the only objection to evidence in the trial court was that it was irrelevant and immaterial, no other objection can be considered on appeal. Moore v. Miller (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 573.

A party objecting that testimony in a stenographer's transcript duly certified and filed was not admissible without proof under oath of its correctness should object specifically; the objection that no proper predicate was laid being too general to require the court to swear the stenographer and prove his transcript. Pease v. State (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 657.

175. — Evidence admissible in part.—Objections to a letter as irrelevant must point out the irrelevant parts, if any portion of it is admissible. Railway Co. v. Gallaher, 79 T. 685, 15 S. W. 694.

An objection to all of certain testimony collectively is properly overruled, where part of the testimony is admissible. Schulze v. Jalonick, 18 C. A. 296, 44 S. W. 580; Holt v. Hunt, 18 C. A. 363, 44 S. W. 889; Rhodes Haverty Furniture Co. v. Henry (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 340; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Hall, 31 C. A. 464, 72 S. W. 1052; Jamison v. Dooley, 98 T. 206, 82 S. W. 780; Sun Mfg. Co. v. Egbert & Guthrie, 37 C. A. 512, 84 S. W. 667; Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Powell, 38 C. A. 157, 86 S. W. 21; St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Gunter, 39 C. A. 129, 86 S. W. 938; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Frazier (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 400; Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Evans-Snyder-Buel Co., 42 C. A. 60, 93 S. W. 1024; Tuttle v. Robert Moody & Son, 100 T. 240, 97 S. W. 1037; Wandelohr v. Grayson County Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 413; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Janert, 49 C. A. 17, 107 S. W. 963; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Cuneo, 47 C. A. 622, 108 S. W. 714; Sullivan v. Fant, 51 C. A. 6, 110 S. W. 507; Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Wheeler, 52 C. A. 603, 116 S. W. 83; Hudson v. Slate, 53 C. A. 453, 117 S. W. 469; Stubbs v. Marshall, 54 C. A. 526, 117 S. W. 1030; Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. McSwain, 55 C. A. 217, 118 S. W. 874; Wells v. Hobbs, 57 C. A. 375, 122 S. W. 451; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Lee (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 154; Dudley v. Strain, 130 S. W. 778; Campbell v. San Antonio Machine & Supply Co., 133 S. W. 750; Beaty v. Yell, Id. 911; Webster v. Frazier, 139 S. W. 609; Houston Packing Co. v. Griffith, 144 S. W. 1139; Martin v. Ince, 148 S. W. 1178; Williams v. Neill, 152 S. W. 693; Kell Milling Co. v. Bank of Miami, 155 S. W. 325; Rice v. Talliaferro, 166 S. W. 242; Houston Chronicle Pub. Co. v. McDavid, 157 S. W. 224; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Pruitt, Id. 236.

It was not error to allow a witness to testify over an objection that his testimony was hearsay, when in fact only a part of it was open to that objection, and no specific objection was made to any particular portion. Keating Implement & Machine Co. v. Erie City Iron Works (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 546.

An objection to an entire statement of a witness held properly overruled where a portion thereof was admissible as res gestæ. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Tullis, 41 C. A. 219, 91 S. W. 317.

Sustaining interrogatories containing admissible matter held not error when the objections fail to separate the proper from the objectionable portions. Goodloe v. Goodloe, 47 C. A. 493, 105 S. W. 533.

Where evidence was inadmissible for a part of the defendants, but admissible for another of them, a general objection to its admissibility was properly overruled. Edwards v. White (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 914.

Assignment of error in admission of deeds over general objection of immateriality held to be overruled if any one of the deeds was admissible. Davis v. Mills (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 1064.

A letter held properly received in evidence as against an objection that it contained self-serving declarations not pointed out. Postal Telegraph Cable Co. of Texas v. Talerico (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 575.

A general objection to the admission of a writing held not sufficient where some of the statements therein were admissible. Quanah, A. & P. Ry. Co. v. Galloway (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 368.

A party objecting to the exclusion of evidence inadmissible in part cannot complain of the exclusion of the whole. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Burk (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 600.

Where the testimony of a witness for appellee, who testified from a copy, as to the items of an account which he had kept in books, the books not being produced or accounted for, showed that he had an independent recollection as to certain items in the account, appellant should have cross-examined witness, so as to separate the items based upon his independent recollection from those based upon the books, and objected to the latter; an objection to all testimony being insufficient. Kell Milling Co. v. Bank of Miami (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 325.

Where at least part of a certificate of the land commissioner was admissible, and defendant's objection thereto did not specify what part of it was claimed to be objectionable as a conclusion, or what part he was not authorized to certify, the court was not bound to pick out any particular part of it as inadmissible. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 253.

176. Motion to strike out—Grounds and purpose in general.—Where testimony has been admitted without objection, on an issue not raised by the pleadings, held, that the court should exclude it on motion after the evidence was closed. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Scott, 18 C. A. 321, 44 S. W. 589.

Where a witness admitted on cross-examination that he did not know the market value of the realty, it was error to refuse to strike out his testimony as to such value on direct examination. Tyler S. E. Ry. Co. v. Hitchins, 26 C. A. 400, 63 S. W. 1069.

Where witnesses to the amount of damage to the land based their estimates on improper elements, the refusal of the court to strike out such estimates was error. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Ryon (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 72.

Testimony shown on cross-examination to be hearsay held required to be stricken out on motion. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Renfro (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 21.

In an action to recover certain public school land, a motion to exclude all evidence concerning a certain lease held properly overruled. Holt v. Cave, 38 C. A. 62, 85 S. W. 309.

Evidence of false statements of vendor, admitted on a claim by the purchaser for damages, held to be excluded, where the case, when developed, shows the purchaser was not warranted in relying on them, or did not rely on them. Oneal v. Weisman, 39 C. A. 592, 88 S. W. 290.

Incompetency of parol evidence not appearing until after it had been admitted, a motion to exclude it should have been granted. Wolf Cigar Stores Co. v. Kramer (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 995.

A refusal to strike out the testimony of a witness as hearsay held proper. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Kyser & Sutherland, 43 C. A. 322, 95 S. W. 747.

Where, in an action for injuries sustained by a conductor who testified over defendant's objection as to what a brakeman said to him after the accident, the court, on the plaintiff's statement that he would not insist upon the point, instructed the jury to disregard the same, held there was no error. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Still, 45 C. A. 169, 100 S. W. 176.

Testimony held subject to a motion to strike as hearsay where it was shown to have been such on a witness' cross-examination. Houston E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Inman, Akers & Inman (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 275.

In a personal injury action, held proper to strike testimony concerning a wound previously received by plaintiff in a difficulty; it not being claimed that such wound was received in the accident sued on. Knox v. Robbins (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1134.

177. — Necessity for motion.—Where counsel fails to object to the reading of part of a deposition, he should, in order to raise the question of error in reading the same, move to exclude it, and request that the jury be appropriately instructed. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Matthews (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 983.

Where evidence is admissible as preliminary proof of a matter and no further evidence is offered, the adverse party cannot complain of its admission in the absence of a motion for its withdrawal from the jury. Citizens' Telephone Co. v. Thomas, 45 C. A. 20, 99 S. W. 879.

To obtain the benefit of an objection to evidence already admitted, there must be a motion to strike it out. Dunn v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 952.

An unresponsive answer of a witness held not reversible error where there was no motion to strike it out. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Johnsey, 49 C. A. 487, 109 S. W. 251.

178. — Necessity of previous objection.—Where no objection was made to testimony, and no motion made to strike it out, request for a charge excluding it from the jury is too late. St. Louis & S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Foster (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 450.

Failure to strike out certain testimony held not error in the absence of renewed objection and exception after a temporary ruling permitting the testimony to stand to give opportunity to supply preliminary other proof. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Janert, 49 C. A. 17, 107 S. W. 963.

Whether the evidence which is received without objection will be afterwards excluded on motion lies largely within the discretion of the trial court. Hatzfeld v. Walsh, 55 C. A. 573, 120 S. W. 525.

Where no tenable objection is presented to the introduction of testimony, a request to withdraw the same held addressed to the discretion of the trial court. Postal Telegraph Cable Co. of Texas v. Harriss, 56 C. A. 105, 121 S. W. 358, 122 S. W. 891.

Where evidence is admitted without objection, it is not error to refuse a charge withdrawing the same from the jury. Stark v. Coe (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 373.

Motion to strike out testimony after witnesses have been fully examined rests largely in the discretion of the trial judge. Knights of Maccabees of the World v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 718.

Evidence held not to be stricken out on motion in absence of objection when admitted. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

179. — Time for motion.—Defendant, having introduced the answer of a witness to a cross interrogatory appearing in a deposition, held not entitled to an instruction withdrawing such answer from the jury after the trial and the arguments had closed. Kansas City Consol. Smelting & Refining Co. v. Taylor, 48 C. A. 605, 107 S. W. 889.

It is highly improper for the court, after judgment, to sustain a motion to strike evidence and enter it nunc pro tunc as of a date pending trial. Reed v. Robertson (Sup.) 156 S. W. 196.

180. — Statement of grounds.—A motion to withdraw testimony from jury held too general. Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Hunter, 30 C. A. 489, 70 S. W. 798.

181. — Evidence admissible in part.—The court may strike out part of witness' answer, subject to the objection, and allow the remainder to stand. Texas Portland Cement & Lime Co. v. Ross, 35 C. A. 597, 81 S. W. 94.

Refusal of the motion to strike out the answer of witness when only part of it as appeared from his subsequent answer was open to the objection that it was based on information given by plaintiff to witness held not error. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Grenig (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 135.

182. — Evidence elicited by party moving to strike out.—Testimony unfavorable to defendant given by one of its witnesses on direct examination and reiterated on cross-examination will not be struck out on defendant's motion. El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Smith, 50 C. A. 10, 108 S. W. 988.

The action of the court in failing to strike out an answer to a question asked a witness held not reversible error. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Johnsey, 49 C. A. 487, 109 S. W. 251.

183. Ruling or order.—Evidence which was stricken because it was based on an hypothesis not established must be reintroduced after those facts are established. Crary v. Port Arthur Channel & Dock Co. (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 703.

Where a leading question, objected to on that ground and that it was immaterial and irrelevant, was both material and relevant, it was improper for the court to sustain such objection generally. Maffi v. Stephens (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 158.

A trial judge should have heard courteous objections, whether he deemed them tenable or not, and after refusing to hear them should have signed the bill of exceptions showing that fact. McLellan v. Brownsville Land & Irrigation Co., 46 C. A. 249, 103 S. W. 206.

The exclusion of competent evidence was erroneous, though the court thought it was introduced for another purpose for which it would have been immaterial. Dunman v. J. C. Murphey & Co., 48 C. A. 539, 107 S. W. 70.

An objection to certain answers of a witness must be determined without reference to other answers. Kansas City Consol. Smelting & Refining Co. v. Taylor, 48 C. A. 605, 107 S. W. 889.

Defendant's request that evidence be excluded as incompetent was sufficiently complied with so as not to make its admission reversible error where the court charged that the jury should not consider such testimony for any purpose. Mexican Cent. Ry. Co. v. Rodriguez (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 690.

184. Effect of failure to object or except.—One against whom a judgment by default has been rendered with writ of inquiry cannot on appeal object on account of error in admitting evidence not objected to on the trial. Shornick v. Bennett, 77 T. 244, 13 S. W. 982.

Improper evidence admitted without objection cannot be controlled by a special charge. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Edling, 18 C. A. 171, 45 S. W. 406.

Assignments of error in the admission of testimony cannot be considered where it does not appear that the testimony was objected to. Texas Loan Agency v. Fleming, 18 C. A. 668, 46 S. W. 63.

Plaintiff held not entitled to object to the introduction of minutes of a commissioners' court regarding a county road purporting to be laid out on a boundary line in dispute, where he did not object to the surveyor's testifying in regard thereto. Vogt v. Geyer (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 1100.

A ruling excluding evidence offered to prove lost instrument cannot be maintained for insufficiency of proof of loss, where such objection was not made. McCarty v. Johnson, 20 C. A. 184, 49 S. W. 1098.

If no objection is made to parol evidence of agreement, its admissibility is acquiesced in and it may be considered to prove agreement. Hunt v. Siemers, 22 C. A. 94, 53 S. W. 387.

Expert testimony, admitted without objection, should not be subsequently set aside, though the witness failed to qualify. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Gibson (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 712.

Evidence construed, on appeal, to show express warranty, though it would have been incompetent under such issue if objected to on trial. Bryan Cotton Seed Oil Mill v. Fuller (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 924.

Incompetent evidence of damage, admitted without objection, held to warrant jury in accepting same as basis on which to figure out their verdict. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Jones, 23 C. A. 551, 58 S. W. 174.

Though a cause is tried to the court, error in admitting improper evidence will not be reviewed, unless an exception is taken thereto. Dyer v. Pierce (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 441.

In trespass to try title, it was not error to admit evidence not objected to when given, and which did not affect any issue in the case. Schneider v. Sanders, 26 C. A. 169, 61 S. W. 727.

Testimony of an attorney, who obtained a judgment in justice court, that he issued execution thereon, is sufficient to support a finding that execution was issued, in the absence of an objection that it is not the best evidence. Warren v. Kohr, 26 C. A. 331, 64 S. W. 62.

A fact may be proved by hearsay evidence not objected to. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Brown (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 359.

In an action against a railroad for personal injuries, any error in the admission of testimony of a witness as to the location of the train held waived by permitting the witness to make unchallenged previous statements to the same effect. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Quinones (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 757.

Where hearsay evidence is admitted without objection it has all the probative force that it would have if it were not open to objection on the ground of hearsay. Hatch v. Pullman Sleeping Car Co. (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 246.

Hearsay admitted without objection is not without probative force. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Hirsch (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 394.

Where there was no objection on the trial to city ordinances regulating the movement and speed of trains within the city, it was not error for the court to submit the effect of such ordinances to the jury. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Simpson (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 1034.

In an action by a city for taxes, an objection to the manner in which the assessment rolls had been prepared should have been made to their introduction in evidence, and not to the testimony of the assessor, identifying the rolls. City of Houston v. Stewart, 40 C. A. 499, 90 S. W. 49.

An instruction directing the jury to disregard evidence received without objection is properly refused. El Paso & S. R. Co. v. Darr (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 166.

Hearsay evidence is subject to consideration, where admitted without objection. Moore v. Supreme Assembly of Royal Soc. of Good Fellows, 42 C. A. 366, 93 S. W. 1077.

In an action against carriers for damages to plaintiff's shipment of freight an objection to the introduction of the bill of lading, previously placed in evidence by another of defendants without objection held properly overruled. Cane Hill Cold Storage & Orchard Co. v. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 751.

The failure of plaintiff to object to certain evidence inadmissible under the general denial held not to warrant the submission of the issue raised by the evidence to the jury. W. L. Moody & Co. v. Rowland, 100 T. 363, 99 S. W. 1112.

A certificate of the county clerk of the county attached to an abstract of judgment admitted in evidence without objection, held required to be weighed as though it was the best evidence. Abee v. Bargas, 45 C. A. 243, 100 S. W. 191.

Objection to the admissibility of evidence, if not made in the trial court, will not be entertained on appeal from a judgment based upon it. Mings v. Griggsby Const. Co. (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 192.

Defendant could disprove the execution of the deed under which plaintiffs claimed in trespass to try title, so as to overcome the prima facie case made by the introduction of a certified copy, though he did not object to the copy for want of proof of the execution of the original. Houston Oil Co. of Texas v. Kimball, 103 T. 94, 122 S. W. 533, 124 S. W. 85.

The testimony of a witness in effect a legal conclusion is sufficient to raise an issue of fact, when admitted without objection. McDonald v. Humphries (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 712.

Hearsay evidence, unobjected to, as to the depth of a well drilled for defendant held sufficient to sustain a judgment for the price of a well drilled that depth. Lemons v. Biddy (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1065.

Failure to object to the whole of an account, when it was actually introduced in evidence, waived an insufficient objection previously made to certain items of the account. Kell Milling Co. v. Bank of Miami (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 325.

An objection to evidence not made in the trial court cannot be raised on appeal. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Porter (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 267.

In an action for injuries received while plaintiff was being initiated, in which defendant pleaded a general denial, and that he was not being initiated, held, that conclusions of plaintiff's witnesses that he was being initiated were evidence, where they were admitted without objection. Grand Temple and Tabernacle in State of Texas v. Knights and Daughters of Tabor of International Order of Twelve v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 532.

Where, in an action on a note, defendant permits secondary evidence of its contents without objection, and there is no issue as to the existence of the note, and the note is not introduced in evidence, defendant cannot complain that there is nothing on which to base the judgment against him. Peck v. Morgan (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 917.

185. Cure of error.—The admission of illegal evidence of a fact proven by competent evidence is not cause for reversal. Halcomb v. Stubblefield, 76 T. 310, 13 S. W. 231; Railway Co. v. Hume, 87 T. 211, 27 S. W. 110; White Sewing Mach. Co. v. Hicks (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 137.

186. Harmless error.—See notes under Arts. 1553, 1623.

VI. Admissibility of Evidence at Former Trial or in Other Proceeding

187. Grounds for admission in general.—In an action against a carrier for injuries to live stock, testimony offered by defendant as to the evidence of a witness in a former suit against another railroad company for injury to the same stock was inadmissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Peacock (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 463.

Testimony given by absent witness on a former trial may be reproduced, if the witness is dead, beyond the jurisdiction, or is kept away by the adverse party. Baker v. Sands (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 520.

In an action for death of plaintiff's wife, the testimony of his chauffeur, given at the inquest was admissible only as affecting his credibility and the weight to be given his testimony. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Dumas (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 543.

188. Death or disability of witness.—Evidence of a witness taken by deposition which was incorporated in a statement of facts on a former trial and signed by opposing counsel, the deposition having been lost afterwards, may be used on a subsequent trial between the same parties, it being shown that it pertained to facts depending on an inspection of a paper alleged to be forged, and that the witness, though still alive, had since his former examination become blind. Houston v. Blythe, 60 T. 506. See Art. 2157.

A. delivered to B., a common carrier, four bales of cotton. Two of the bales were destroyed by fire, and in a suit for their value A. testified in his own behalf. B. afterwards converted the other two bales to his own use, and the administrator of A. brought suit for their value. Held, that A. being dead, and the parties to the two suits being the same, his testimony on the former trial having been given under oath, and B. having had the opportunity of cross-examining him, it was admissible evidence in the last suit. H. & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Perkins, 2 App. C. C. § 520.

The rule allowing testimony of a deceased witness on a former trial to be reproduced on a subsequent trial does not allow it to be shown that on a former trial one since deceased offered to testify to certain facts. Lane v. De Bode, 29 C. A. 602, 69 S. W. 437.

Where the testimony of a witness at the first trial is admitted without objection, the court, on admitting the report of the testimony on the second trial, after the death of the witness, could not exclude answers as not responsive. Sherman Gas & Electric Co. v. Belden, 103 T. 59, 123 S. W. 119, 27 L. R. A. (N. S.) 237.

The stenographic report of the testimony of a party who testified at the first trial, and died before the second trial, held admissible. Wiener v. Zweib (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 699.

Decedent for injury to whom his administrator sues having testified on a former trial, it was proper to read his testimony from the official stenographer's notes. Wagoner v. Sneed (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 219.

189. Absence of witness.—In action against railroad for injuries, evidence as to testimony of conductor on former trial held inadmissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Nesbit (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 825.

The testimony of a witness on the former trial of a cause held admissible on the subsequent trial, where his whereabouts is unknown and diligent search has been made to locate him. Boyd v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas, 101 T. 411, 108 S. W. 813.

Where it is shown that a witness has been absent nearly three years, and no person seems to know where he is, a sufficient predicate is laid for the admission in evidence of his testimony on a former trial. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Boyd, 56 C. A. 282, 119 S. W. 1154.

190. Nature of former proceeding.—In an action under Art. 4694 complaining of the death of a person, evidence taken before the grand jury in connection with criminal proceedings, is inadmissible. Croft v. Smith (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 1089.

The record of the coroner's inquest held inadmissible on the issue of the member's suicide, in an action by the beneficiary on his certificate. Boehme v. Sovereign Camp of Woodmen of the World, 36 C. A. 501, 85 S. W. 444.

191. Opportunity for cross-examination.—In a suit by a trustee in bankruptcy to set aside a conveyance by the bankrupt on the ground that it was fraudulent against his creditors, ex parte testimony of the bankrupt taken before a referee in bankruptcy was inadmissible as against the grantee. Stone v. Stitt (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 862.

192. Identity of parties.—The evidence taken in one case is not admissible in another, the defendants in which were not parties to the first action, though the witnesses were dead. Ellis v. Le Bow, 30 C. A. 449, 71 S. W. 576.

193. Preliminary evidence.—A mere statement of counsel that a witness is absent, and that his whereabouts could not be ascertained, is insufficient to justify proof of the witness' testimony at a former trial. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Smith (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 506.

The sufficiency of the predicate for the admission in evidence of the testimony of a witness at a former trial is largely in the discretion of the trial court. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Boyd, 56 C. A. 282, 119 S. W. 1154.

194. Mode of proof.—The evidence of a deceased witness may be reproduced by reading it from a statement of facts, agreed to and approved by the presiding judge, if the party offering it proves the death of the witness since the former trial of the case, and proves further that the testimony given by the witness upon the former trial was in substance the same as that found in the statement of facts. Dwyer v. Bassett, 1 C. A. 513, 21 S. W. 621.

A statement of facts, prepared in contemplation of an appeal after a former trial, and not containing the detailed testimony of the witnesses, is inadmissible to prove the testimony of an absent witness. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Smith (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 506.

Where a witness who testified at a former trial of the action is dead, his testimony may be reproduced by reading a transcript of the notes of his testimony, verified by the stenographer to the effect that he took the notes, that they were correct, and that the transcript is a correct copy of the notes. Cooper v. Ford, 29 C. A. 253, 69 S. W. 487.

An unverified transcript of plaintiff's testimony, taken at a former trial by a stenographer appointed by the court, was inadmissible on a subsequent trial. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rea (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 428.

No error was disclosed in the exclusion of a transcript of the evidence of a witness who was beyond the jurisdiction of the court, where it was not shown that an offer was made to prove the correctness of the transcript by the stenographer who took the testimony. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Kitt (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 587.

Showing held not such that testimony at a former trial could be shown by reading a transcript. Combest v. Wall (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 354.

Where the stenographic report of the testimony of a witness at a former trial, since deceased, was read in evidence, answers not responsive to the questions asked were properly excluded. Sherman Gas & Electric Co. v. Belden (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 897.

RULE 1. WITNESS MAY BE SWORN AND EXAMINED, HOW

I. Examination of witnesses in general.

1. Oath or affirmation.
2. Mode of testifying in general.
3. Questions in general.
4. Questions assuming facts.
5. Leading questions.
6. — Preliminary or introductory questions.
7. — Suggestions in aid of recollection.
8. — Children and weak-minded or ignorant persons.
9. — Unwilling or hostile witnesses.
10. Repetition of questions.
11. Examination by court.
12. Answers in general.
13. Responsiveness of answer.
14. Remarks by witness.
15. Impressions of witness.
16. Reasons for knowledge or recollection of witness.
17. Use of documents to explain testimony.
18. Refreshing memory.
19. — Memoranda or other writings which may be used.
20. — Inspection of writing by adverse party.
21. — Admissibility of writing as evidence.
22. Testimony from memoranda or other writings.
23. Testimony of stenographer from notes.
24. Calling attention to and explanation of former statements or testimony.
25. Recalling witnesses.
26. Right to cross-examine and re-examine in general.
27. Control and discretion of court.
28. Scope and extent of cross-examination in general.
29. Limitation of cross-examination to subjects of direct examination.
30. Cross-examination as to irrelevant, collateral or immaterial matters.
31. Cross-examination as to writings.
32. Cross-examination of witness to character of party.
33. Cross-examination of party.
34. Questions on cross-examination.
35. — Questions assuming facts.
36. — Leading questions.
37. — Repetition of questions and questions calling for repetition of answers.
38. — Cross-examination by court.
39. Redirect examination.
40. — Explanation of testimony.
41. — New matter on cross-examination.
42. — Repetition of testimony on direct or cross-examination.
43. Recross-examination.
44. Privileged communications.

45. Answer tending to disgrace witness or render him infamous.
46. Answer tending to subject witness to criminal prosecution.
47. Privilege as to production of documents.
48. Caution to witness.
49. Waiver of privilege.
50. Persons entitled to claim privilege.
51. Remedies for protection of witness against subsequent use of evidence.

II. Credibility of witnesses.

52. Credibility of witnesses in general.
53. Testimony of party.
54. Testimony of interested persons.

III. Impeachment and corroboration of witnesses.

55. Grounds of impeachment in general.
56. Corroboration of unimpeached and uncontradicted witness.
57. Right to impeach witness in general.
58. Right to impeach one's own witness.
59. — Witness hostile to party calling him.
60. — Party called as witness by adversary.
61. — Witness cross-examined as to matter not subject of direct examination.
62. Right to impeach impeaching witness.
63. Impeachment of capacity of witness.
64. Impeachment of knowledge or recollection of witness.
65. Cross-examination to test reliability of witness.
66. Cross-examination to discredit witness or disparage testimony in general.
67. Competency of impeaching evidence in general.
68. Recalling witness for purpose of impeachment.
69. Character as ground of impeachment.
70. — Witnesses who may be impeached as to character.
71. — Character and reputation in general.
72. — Particular traits of character or habits.
73. — Reputation as to veracity.
74. — Place and time of acquiring reputation.
75. — Particular acts or facts.
76. — Accusation or conviction of crime.
77. — Conduct of witness with reference to cause.
78. — Conduct of witness inconsistent with testimony.
79. — Cross-examination for purpose of impeachment.

III. Impeachment and corroboration of witnesses—Cont'd.

- | | |
|---|---|
| 80. — Laying foundation for impeaching evidence. 81. — Competency of impeaching evidence in general. 82. — Competency of impeaching witnesses as to character or reputation. 83. — Examination of impeaching witnesses as to character or reputation. 84. — Evidence of accusation or conviction of crime. 85. — Rebuttal of evidence impeaching character. 86. — Evidence to sustain character of witness impeached. 87. — Effect of impeachment of character. 88. Interest as ground of impeachment. 89. — Interest of party of record. 90. — Interest in event of witness not party to record. 91. — Employment by or other contractual relation with party. 92. — Friendly or unfriendly relations with or feeling toward party. 93. — Cross-examination to show interest or bias. 94. — Laying foundation for impeaching evidence as to interest or bias. 95. — Competency of impeaching evidence as to interest or bias. 96. — Rebuttal of evidence of interest or bias. 97. — Evidence to show want of interest or freedom from bias. 98. Inconsistency of statements as ground of impeachment. 99. — Nature of former statement in general. 100. — Former statement a mere opinion or conclusion. 101. — Written statements or instruments. 102. — Former testimony of witness. 103. — Time of making statements and circumstances connected therewith. 104. — Statements by others in presence or with the sanction of witness. | 105. — Witnesses who may be impeached by inconsistent statements. 106. — Irrelevant, collateral or immaterial matters. 107. — Nature and extent of inconsistency. 108. — Cross-examination as to inconsistent statements. 109. — Laying foundation for proof of inconsistent statements. 110. — Admission or denial by witness of making of inconsistent statements. 111. — Competency of evidence of inconsistent statements in general. 112. — Proof of oral statements, and examination of impeaching witnesses. 113. — Proof of written statements or instruments. 114. — Proof of former testimony of witness. 115. — Rebuttal of evidence of inconsistent statements. 116. — Evidence as to statements consistent with testimony. 117. — Explanation of inconsistency. 118. — Effect of impeachment by inconsistent statements. 119. Contradiction of testimony of witness. 120. — Right to contradict testimony of one's own witness. 121. — Witness cross-examined as to matter not subject of direct examination. 122. — Disproving facts testified to by witness. 123. — Testimony subject to contradiction in general. 124. — Irrelevant, collateral or immaterial matters. 125. — Competency of contradictory evidence. 126. — Rebuttal of contradictory evidence. 127. Corroboration of impeached or contradicted witness. 128. — Testimony subject to corroboration. 129. — Competency of corroborative evidence in general. 130. — Former statements corresponding with testimony. |
|---|---|

I. Examination of Witnesses in General

1. Oath or affirmation.—See, also, Title 2.

Where a deaf person was consciously sworn as a witness, it was sufficient, whether she actually heard the officer who administered the oath or not. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Reid (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 99.

Defendant, allowing deaf witness, who could not hear oath when sworn, to testify without objection, held to have waived irregularity. Id.

2. Mode of testifying in general.—Complaining witness held properly permitted to testify by nods and shakes of the head and by writing, though defense was previously not notified of her condition. Roberson v. State (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 398.

Where the complaining witness was unable to talk in testifying, an objection that the jury did not get her deponent so as to properly weigh her evidence was untenable. Id.

3. Questions in general.—The rule that only such evidence as is relevant to the matter in issue shall be introduced governs in the direct examination of a witness and also in the cross-examination. The rule is not applied with the same strictness in a cross-examination as it is in the examination in chief. It would seem that any fact which bears upon the credit of a witness is a relevant fact, and this whether it goes to his indisposition to tell the truth, his want of opportunity to know the truth, his bias, interest, want of memory, or other like fact. Upon cross-examination inquiry may be made into the situation of the witness with respect to parties and to the subject of the litigation, his interests, his motives, his inclination and prejudices, his means of obtaining a correct and certain knowledge of the facts to which he bears testimony, the manner in which he uses those means, his power of discernment, memory, and description, may be fully investigated and ascertained. Evansich v. G., C. & S. F. R. Co., 61 T. 24.

Where statement purporting to be that of accused on examining trial was excluded, it was not error to permit district attorney to read question to accused from the statement. Wilborn v. State (Cr. App.) 64 S. W. 1058.

Question asked of juror, when called as witness on submission of motive for new trial after conviction of homicide, as to expression of opinion of guilt, held not objectionable in form. Cruise v. State (Cr. App.) 77 S. W. 818.

A compound question, part of which calls for the conclusion of the witness, held objectionable. Bell v. State, 48 Cr. R. 256, 87 S. W. 1160.

A party is not precluded from eliciting the truth from a witness by asking him a second question which is unobjectionable in itself, because the previous question asked was objectionable, as leading. Galveston, H. & H. R. Co. v. Alberti (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 699.

Question to witness inquiring if some person or persons interested had not tried to get witness to testify falsely against defendant held too general. Sue v. State (Cr. App.) 105 S. W. 804.

Where plaintiff in an action for injuries hesitated before answering questions on direct examination, his explanation that his mind was not as accurate as before he was hurt held not objectionable. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Shapard, 54 C. A. 596, 118 S. W. 596.

Certain question to witness in regard to paternity held not too general. Wiess v. Hall (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 384.

A defendant, in an action for injuries to a child while crossing a railroad yard, held not entitled to complain of the plaintiff's counsel's failure to interrogate the plaintiff as to her appreciation of her danger at the time of the accident. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Winger (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 586.

4. Questions assuming facts.—Assumption of a fact in an interrogatory held not error, it being merely to identify a person. Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Hunter, 30 C. A. 489, 70 S. W. 798.

A question held to call for a fact. Uecker v. Zuercher, 54 C. A. 289, 118 S. W. 149.

In an action by a mother for delay in the shipment of the corpse of her son, a question as to the effect on the mother of the news that the body would not be shipped by defendant held not objectionable as assuming that the news had some effect. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Linton (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 678.

Question to witness assuming uncontroverted fact held not error. Early & Clement Grain Co. v. City of Waco (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 431.

5. Leading questions.—Questions held leading. Gordon v. McCall, 20 C. A. 283, 48 S. W. 1111; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Hammon, 92 T. 509, 50 S. W. 123; Lentz v. City of Dallas, 96 T. 258, 72 S. W. 59; Texas Southern Ry. Co. v. Hart, 32 C. A. 212, 73 S. W. 833; Dallas Electric Co. v. Mitchell, 33 C. A. 424, 76 S. W. 935; Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Jones, 38 C. A. 129, 85 S. W. 37; St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Conrad (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 209; Seago v. White, 45 C. A. 539, 100 S. W. 1015; Garrett v. State, 52 Cr. R. 255, 106 S. W. 389; Goodsoe v. Same, 52 Cr. R. 626, 108 S. W. 388; Hunter v. Malone, 49 C. A. 116, 108 S. W. 709; Cleveland v. Taylor, 49 C. A. 496, 108 S. W. 1037; Bryan Press Co. v. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 99; Gate City Roller Rink Co. v. McGuire, 112 S. W. 436; Roth v. Travelers' Protective Ass'n of America, 102 T. 241, 115 S. W. 31, 132 Am. St. Rep. 871, 20 Ann. Cas. 97; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 1150; Williamson v. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co., 57 C. A. 502, 122 S. W. 897; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Langston (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 334.

Discretion of court in permitting leading questions held properly exercised. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Hammon, 92 T. 509, 50 S. W. 123.

A question that does not suggest or indicate the answer held not leading. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Cody, 20 C. A. 520, 50 S. W. 135.

A question in the form, "Up to the time you saw [plaintiff], did you hear any whistle blown or bell rung by the approaching train?" is leading, as eliciting, by an answer of "Yes" or "No," more than one simple proposition. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Dalwigh, 92 T. 655, 51 S. W. 500.

The admission of an answer to a leading question is ground for a reversal of the judgment. Id.

Question held not objectionable as leading. Harvey v. State (Cr. App.) 53 S. W. 102; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Williams, 26 C. A. 153, 62 S. W. 808; Same v. Puente, 30 C. A. 246, 70 S. W. 362; San Antonio Traction Co. v. Bryant, 30 C. A. 437, 70 S. W. 1015; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Walker (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 228; Denison & S. Ry. Co. v. Powell, 35 C. A. 454, 80 S. W. 1054; Brock v. United Moderns, 36 C. A. 12, 81 S. W. 340; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hall (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 571; Fire Ass'n of Philadelphia v. Masterson, 83 S. W. 49; Gibson v. State, 47 Cr. R. 489, 83 S. W. 1119; Moore v. Same, 49 Cr. R. 499, 96 S. W. 321; Hickey v. State, 51 Cr. R. 230, 102 S. W. 417; United States Gypsum Co. v. Shields (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 724; El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Ruckman, 49 C. A. 25, 107 S. W. 1158; Hunter v. Malone, 49 C. A. 116, 108 S. W. 709; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Steele, 50 C. A. 634, 110 S. W. 171; Same v. Malone (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 958; Essary v. State, 53 Cr. R. 596, 111 S. W. 927; Jesse French Plano & Organ Co. v. Garza & Co., 53 C. A. 346, 116 S. W. 150; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Morin, 53 C. A. 531, 116 S. W. 656; First Nat. Bank v. Pearce (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 285; Freeman v. Vetter, 130 S. W. 190; Barrego v. State, 61 Cr. R. 625, 136 S. W. 41; Freeman v. Cleary (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 521; Ripley v. Wenzel, 139 S. W. 897; McKinney v. State, 63 Cr. R. 470, 140 S. W. 344; Majors v. Same, 63 Cr. R. 488, 140 S. W. 1095; Olcott v. Squires (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 314.

A question, asked a witness, whether a certain statement in an affidavit for attachment "was true or false," is not leading. Williams v. Kane (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 974.

In an action for personal injuries, questions as to the extent of plaintiff's injuries and his suffering therefrom, asked a witness, held not leading. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ball, 28 C. A. 287, 66 S. W. 879.

Where a witness states she was present and saw deceased pay the conductor his fare, it is not improper, as leading, to ask the conductor if witness, a man, or either of them, paid him the fare and got permission to ride on the train on which deceased was killed. Crawleigh v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 28 C. A. 260, 67 S. W. 140.

It is within the discretion of the trial court to permit leading questions. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. McCutcheon, 33 C. A. 557, 77 S. W. 232; Dudley v. Strain (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 778; Early & Clement Grain Co. v. City of Waco, 137 S. W. 431; Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Gray, 145 S. W. 728.

The court has a sound discretion to permit leading questions, when a witness shows disinclination to answer, or is inexperienced or timid. Hill v. State (Cr. App.) 77 S. W. 808.

A witness, giving estimates as to the value of property in a barn destroyed by fire, should not be asked leading questions. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Crabb (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 408.

On a trial for theft, the error in allowing the state to ask a leading question held not reversible error. Burch v. State, 49 Cr. R. 13, 90 S. W. 168.

A question as to whether a locomotive blow-off pipe could burn or scald a person standing 15 or 18 feet away held not objectionable as leading. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Tullis, 41 C. A. 219, 91 S. W. 317.

A question as to whether a certain person had told witness what to testify was not objectionable as leading, suggestive, or calling for hearsay. Coons v. State, 49 Cr. R. 256, 91 S. W. 1085.

A question "whether or not" insured told an adjusting agent as to the destruction of an inventory by fire held leading. Continental Ins. Co. v. Cummings (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 48.

On the issue of an insurance agent's knowledge as to the ownership of property, testimony as to the witness' impression as to its ownership held improperly admitted in response to a question calling for the general reputation as to such ownership. Id.

A question as to a statement of satisfaction by an agent examining certain books after a fire held leading. Id.

Questions held not leading merely because answerable by "yes" or "no." St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lowe (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 1087.

The question, "Did you make any demand upon the defendant for the value of said damaged goods?" addressed to a witness, was not leading. International & G. N. R. Co. v. H. P. Drought & Co. (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 1011.

A question not suggesting the desired answer is not leading. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hall (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 194.

In an action for injuries by derailment of a train, it was not a leading question to ask a witness, "Did anybody direct your attention rather to the speed of the train?" Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Walker, 48 C. A. 86, 106 S. W. 400.

A question "what idea did you entertain would be the result of your failure to catch your train, * * * whether you would be discharged for missing it or not?" was not leading, as its form did not indicate the answer desired. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Hendricks, 49 C. A. 314, 108 S. W. 745.

The allowing of leading questions lies in the discretion of the trial judge, and its exercise will not be reviewed unless the discretion is clearly shown to have been abused. Id.

Leading and suggestive questions referring to the identification of the assaulted party, whose name was not proved, should be excluded. Brown v. State, 53 Cr. R. 303, 109 S. W. 188.

A question, though susceptible of an answer of "yes" or "no," held not to suggest the answer, and not objectionable as leading. Cunningham v. Neal, 49 C. A. 613, 109 S. W. 455.

The use of the words, "whether or not," in propounding a question to a witness, does not in all cases relieve the question from the objection of being leading. Bryan Press Co. v. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 99.

A question is not necessarily leading because it admits of a direct negative or affirmative answer; but, to make it objectionable when only a single fact is sought to be elicited, it should suggest the answer. Id.

A question asked defendant held improperly allowed; the question being suggestive. Darnell Lumber Co. v. City Loan & Trust Co. (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 128.

Answers to leading questions are objectionable as far as responsive to the same. Gate City Roller Rink Co. v. McGuire (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 436.

A question as to a single fact, and not suggesting a particular answer, is not objectionable as leading. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Allen (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 923.

Where it was apparent that a witness answered under a mistake as to the meaning of a question, it was not error to allow counsel for the party calling the witness to ascertain what he meant by the answer. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Neiser, 54 C. A. 460, 118 S. W. 166.

Questions which did not suggest the desired answer, nor indicate what answer was expected, were not leading. O'Farrell v. O'Farrell, 56 C. A. 51, 119 S. W. 899.

It is error to allow leading questions to defendant as a witness in developing his defense. Rockwell Bros. & Co. v. Hudgens, 57 C. A. 504, 123 S. W. 185.

A question which suggests to the witness the desired answer is leading. El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. Weiter (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 45.

It was not an abuse of discretion to permit the district attorney to ask a leading question of the state's witness. Long v. State, 58 Cr. R. 209, 127 S. W. 208, 21 Ann. Cas. 405.

Leading questions are permissible to arrive at facts when modesty or delicacy of a witness prevents a full answer to a general interrogatory. Carter v. State, 59 Cr. R. 73, 127 S. W. 215.

Leading questions are not objectionable where the witness has given an ambiguous answer. Id.

In an action for breach of marriage promise, the exclusion of a leading question put to defendant held proper. Fisher v. Barber (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 871.

In an action for injuries received while moving car wheels from a box car, a question referring to the floor of the car and telling the witness to go on, and tell what he saw in regard to its condition, and to describe it, was not objectionable as leading. Freeman v. Grashel (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 695.

Unless the discretion of the trial court in permitting leading questions is abused, it does not constitute reversible error. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Gray (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 728.

Questions to a witness "whether or not A. or B. attempted or did anything toward decedent," and "Did they have anything in their hands?" and "Did you have anything?" and "Did you attempt to do anything?" were not bad as misleading. Wells v. State (Cr. App.) 145 S. W. 950.

In a suit on a note against the maker and one who was alleged to have guaranteed the note, and had also misrepresented the maker's residence, and had advised plaintiff not to sue the maker because he was insolvent, and that he, the said guarantor, intended to pay the note and had collected moneys thereon, plaintiff, not having taken the stand in his own behalf, could not prove his case by leading questions propounded to him on cross-examination by his own counsel on his being called as a witness by one of the defendants other than the alleged guarantor. Texas Baptist University v. Patton (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1063.

Exclusion of a proper question asked a witness in chief was not justified because a similar question which was leading had just been excluded. Dickerson v. Central Texas Grocery Co. (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 695.

Where it appeared that deceased wore a truss, a witness who examined deceased's trunk may state if he found a truss therein, and the prosecuting attorney by presenting a truss to him for identification did not thereby put the answer into the witness' mouth. Harris v. State (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 1074.

Where a witness testified that he was present when a vest was taken out of accused's trunk and identified it as belonging to deceased, it was proper to show him the vest and ask whether it belonged to deceased. Id.

A question, whether witness recognized a vest as belonging to any one and whose property she recognized it to be, held not leading. Harris v. State (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 1074.

A question asked a state's witness as to whether he authorized defendant to sign witness' name to a check held not leading. Douglass v. State (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 1089.

In an action where the amount of wood left standing upon defendant's land was in issue, a question to a witness whether they were cutting it so as to take all of it, or leaving some of it, was not objectionable as calling for an opinion of the witness. Sauer v. Veltmann (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 706.

A question, the purpose of which was to impeach plaintiff as a witness, held proper, even if leading. Liquid Carbonic Co. v. Dilley (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 468.

A question, asked a state's witness whether or not accused told witness that there was no incumbrance against the mortgaged property when he sold it to witness, was not leading. Coley v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 789.

A question as to what was the impression of the witness as to whether the car was coming toward him or not, and as to whether the train was coming toward him or going from him, held not leading. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 391.

The question, "Was it or not necessary for the safety of car repairers to have a ladder with spikes in the bottom of it?" was not leading. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hedric (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 633.

6. — Preliminary or introductory questions.—In trespass to try title, testimony as to whether witness had surveyed the tract described in the petition held admissible. Camp v. League (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 1062.

A question asked a witness to ascertain whether he is qualified to testify on an issue of fact may be leading. El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. Welter (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 45.

7. — Suggestions in aid of recollection.—Admission of leading questions directing witness' attention to his former statements held within the discretion of the court. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hall, 34 C. A. 535, 80 S. W. 133.

Leading questions are permissible to refresh the memory of a witness when the purpose of justice requires it. Carter v. State, 59 Cr. R. 73, 127 S. W. 215.

In a prosecution for forgery, a witness held properly examined as to the time a conversation took place with officers of a bank to show the time the defendant's authority to draw checks ceased. Howard v. State (Cr. App.) 143 S. W. 178.

Leading questions may be asked for the purpose of refreshing a witness' recollection. Wilson v. State (Cr. App.) 154 S. W. 571.

8. — Children or weak-minded or ignorant persons.—Conviction of rape held not reversible for leading questions asked of prosecutrix. Ham v. State (Cr. App.) 78 S. W. 929.

Leading questions should not be permitted, where witness understands English sufficiently to answer questions intelligently. Craddick v. State (Cr. App.) 88 S. W. 347.

Leading questions may be put to children. Carter v. State, 59 Cr. R. 73, 127 S. W. 215. Leading questions are proper where the witness is confused or agitated, or is ignorant and slow to understand. Id.

Where a witness was unable to speak English and did not understand the interpreter well and was not well informed, it was not error to permit a leading question. Diaz v. State, 62 Cr. R. 317, 137 S. W. 377.

The court, on the examination of a witness of immature years and laboring under excitement, may permit leading questions. Campbell v. State, 62 Cr. R. 561, 138 S. W. 607.

9. — Unwilling or hostile witnesses.—Where a witness appears to be hostile, the court may, in its discretion, permit his examination by leading questions. Nairn v. State (Cr. App.) 45 S. W. 703; Spars v. Same, 50 S. W. 948; Duncan v. Same, 40 Cr. R. 591, 51 S. W. 372; Burch v. Same, 49 Cr. R. 13, 90 S. W. 168; Roberson v. Same, 53 Cr. R. 297, 109 S. W. 160; Burk v. Same (Cr. App.) 124 S. W. 658; Carter v. Same, 59 Cr. R. 73, 127 S. W. 215; Mayo v. Same, 62 Cr. R. 110, 136 S. W. 790; Moore v. Same (Cr. App.) 144 S. W. 598; Clardy v. Same, 147 S. W. 568; Wilson v. Same, 154 S. W. 571.

The court held to have properly permitted leading questions to be put to a witness. Byrd v. State (Cr. App.) 45 S. W. 804.

A party who places a reluctant witness on the stand may ask him leading questions, while apparently reading from a statement or memorandum. Robinson v. State (Cr. App.) 49 S. W. 386.

Allowing leading question where one answered slowly, and appeared not disposed to tell anything he could avoid, held not error. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Scarborough (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 356.

If it reasonably appears that a witness is attempting to shield or favor defendant, it is not error to permit plaintiff to ask leading questions, though the witness states that he is friendly to plaintiff. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. McAnaney, 36 C. A. 76, 80 S. W. 1062.

Under the facts, leading questions held properly propounded to the party's own witness. Little v. Dielmann, 48 C. A. 392, 106 S. W. 1137.

After an evasive witness for the state had been on the stand for some time, it was not error to allow him to be questioned as to his testimony before the grand jury to refresh his recollection. Matthews v. State, 57 Cr. R. 337, 123 S. W. 127.

Defendant, being called as a witness for plaintiff, is necessarily hostile, and leading questions are proper. Rockwell Bros. & Co. v. Hudgens, 57 C. A. 504, 123 S. W. 185.

It is within the discretion of the trial court to permit leading questions to a reluctant and unwilling witness who continually sought to evade questions asked him. Sweeney v. State, 59 Cr. R. 370, 128 S. W. 390.

It was proper to permit leading questions to be asked witnesses for the state, who gave testimony favorable to defendant at variance with their statements in the grand jury room. Layton v. State, 61 Cr. R. 507, 135 S. W. 557.

10. Repetition of questions.—Where a witness has fully answered, the court need not permit further examination as to the same matter. Kugadt v. State, 38 Cr. R. 681, 44 S. W. 989; Williams v. Same, 51 Cr. R. 361, 102 S. W. 1134, 123 Am. St. Rep. 884; Benson v. Same, 61 Cr. R. 367, 103 S. W. 911; Watson v. Same (Cr. App.) 105 S. W. 509; Carter v. Same, 59 Cr. R. 73, 127 S. W. 215; Edwards v. Same, 61 Cr. R. 307, 135 S. W. 540.

11. Examination by court.—It is reversible error for the court to ask a witness a leading question. Biering v. Wegner, 76 T. 506, 13 S. W. 537.

Where the court interrogates a witness, the same rules as to form of questions apply as when they are asked by counsel. Hopperwood v. State, 39 Cr. R. 15, 44 S. W. 841.

Where the prosecuting witness in a rape case was a young and inexperienced girl, it was proper for the court to examine her to make clear her testimony, where the court did not indicate his opinion of the case. Wragg v. State (Cr. App.) 145 S. W. 342.

A trial judge may not ask questions to emphasize to the jury testimony previously given by a witness or aid either party by attempting to supply omissions on the part of the litigant or his attorney, but he may ask a witness questions to get clear in his mind the testimony of such witness. First State Bank of Teague v. Hare (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 501.

Where accused did not offer proof that deceased had a general reputation as a violent and dangerous man, it was improper for the court to seek to prove or disprove that fact by questions asked of a witness. Hysaw v. State (Cr. App.) 155 S. W. 941.

12. Answers in general.—In an action for injuries, refusal to strike the nonresponsive part of a witness' answer, intended to repel an insinuation implied by the question, held not error. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Collins, 33 C. A. 58, 75 S. W. 814.

In questioning witness on redirect examination, repetition of his answer to a question asked him on cross-examination held not error. Id.

Where evidence conclusively showed that a train stopped at a station only one or two minutes, and a witness stated that it did not take her 20 minutes to get from her seat to the car steps, held, that counsel could ask her what she meant by her answer. Texas Midland R. R. v. Ritchey, 49 C. A. 409, 108 S. W. 732.

The refusal to compel a young girl, suing for personal injuries, to answer "yes" or "no" to the question whether she would submit to an examination of her wounds before consulting her father, who was in the courtroom, held not error. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Wheeler, 52 C. A. 603, 116 S. W. 83.

13. Responsiveness of answer.—Answer of witness held responsive to question asked. Terrell v. McCown, 91 T. 231, 43 S. W. 2; Jordan v. Young (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 762; Moore v. Woodson, 44 C. A. 503, 99 S. W. 116; Hoffman v. Lemm (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 712; Taylor Bros. v. Hearn, 133 S. W. 301.

Answer not responsive to question is properly excluded. Griffis v. Payne, 92 T. 293, 47 S. W. 973; Minor v. Lumpkin (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 365; Gate City Roller Rink Co. v. McGuire, 112 S. W. 436.

Answer held objectionable as not responsive. Sherman Oil & Cotton Co. v. Dallas Oil & Refining Co. (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 961; Smith v. State (Cr. App.) 99 S. W. 100; Travelers' Protective Ass'n of America v. Roth (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 1039; Gate City Roller Rink Co. v. McGuire, 112 S. W. 436; Roth v. Travelers' Protective Ass'n of America, 102 T. 241, 115 S. W. 31, 132 Am. St. Rep. 871, 20 Ann. Cas. 97; Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Lee, 104 T. 82, 133 S. W. 868; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Gray (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 729.

Where a witness is questioned concerning an original contract, an answer referring only to a copy is not responsive. Walker v. Dickey, 44 C. A. 110, 98 S. W. 658.

Defendant held not entitled to predicate error on answers to questions because they were not categorical, where the questions were not susceptible of such answers. Pullman Co. v. Vanderhoeven, 48 C. A. 414, 107 S. W. 147.

The latter part of the answer to a question whether defendant's grantor claimed the ownership and possession of land that every one knew that he owned it; that it was his ranch and land there—was not responsive, and should have been stricken. Merri-man v. Blalack, 57 C. A. 270, 122 S. W. 403.

The answer of a witness designating acts of a conductor as ungentlemanly held responsive. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Lee (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 154.

In an action against a railroad company for loss by fire, an answer of a witness that "I was concerned in it, because I was the representative of the company, and they claimed our company set the place on fire," was responsive to the question, "How were you concerned in the fire?" St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Waco Cotton Pickery (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 201.

Where a witness was asked when he first learned that a note and deed of trust executed by him had been transferred by the payee to another, his answer that the first time he ever heard of it was when the cashier of the bank told him that the payee had transferred it was irresponsive and properly excluded. Rudolph v. Price (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1037.

In an action where the amount of wood left standing on defendant's land was in issue, a witness' answer to a question whether it was cut so as to take all of it, or to leave some, that he considered that it was cut clean, as clean as ever he had seen wood cut, was responsive. Sauer v. Veltmann (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 706.

Where witness was asked if a shipment of cattle was not handled with reasonable care, an answer that witness accompanied the shipment part of the way, and with one exception never saw a train handled so roughly, held responsive. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Bishop (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 305.

14. Remarks by witness.—Comment of witness on statement made to him by deceased and to which he had testified held properly excluded. Armstrong v. Burt (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 172.

15. Impressions of witness.—The general impression of a witness as to the date of a transaction is not admissible in evidence. Railway Co. v. Douglass, 69 T. 694, 7 S. W. 77.

Recollection and opinion of witness as to past transactions competent when. Harris v. Nations, 79 T. 409, 15 S. W. 262.

An "impression" of a witness is not evidence. MacDonnell v. Fuentes, 26 S. W. 792, 7 C. A. 136.

Servant permitted to testify to his recollection of what he told his foreman about his competency for the employment. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Parrish (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 191.

16. Reasons for knowledge or recollection of witness.—It is not error to permit witness to testify in chief to facts approximately, where he is testifying from his own knowledge, but admits he does not know exactly. Fields v. Haley (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 115.

A justice of the peace, after testifying that a witness did not give similar testimony at the examining trial that was given on the trial, held erroneously permitted to testify that the previous testimony of the witness was unreasonable. Dyer v. State, 47 Cr. R. 253, 83 S. W. 192.

In a prosecution for perjury, in falsely stating in an action against accused in justice court that he was an infant, testimony by a witness that he fled a suit for accused's mother for divorce is admissible, when limited only to fix the date of his first acquaintance with accused. Poulter v. State (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 166.

17. Use of documents to explain testimony.—Permitting witnesses to illustrate their testimony by means of a paper rolled into a cylinder held not error. Comer v. Thornton, 38 C. A. 287, 86 S. W. 19.

18. Refreshing memory.—Permitting a witness to refresh his memory by reading over certain testimony given by him before the grand jury, held not error. Magill v. State, 51 Cr. R. 357, 103 S. W. 397.

Testimony of a conversation between accused's sister and a witness as to remarks made about decedent held properly excluded. Long v. State, 59 Cr. R. 103, 127 S. W. 551, Ann. Cas. 1912A, 1244.

19. — Memoranda or other writings which may be used.—A witness may use memoranda to refresh his memory, and when so used it is not necessary that it should be produced in court, though its absence may afford matter of observation to the jury; for the witness, at last, testifies from his own recollection. Hamilton v. Rice, 15 T. 332; H. & T. C. R. Co. v. Burke, 55 T. 323, 40 Am. Rep. 308. Where a witness stated that his testimony was from books, papers, etc., without stating the kind of document, where or by whom kept, their accuracy, etc., the testimony was held to be inadmissible. The witness must be able to say, this was the paper made or at the time verified by me as a true record of the events. T. & P. R. Co. v. Parrish, 1 App. C. C. § 943; Faver v. Bowers (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 131.

A memorandum book is primary and the best evidence. A copy of such book, unless the loss of the original is satisfactorily accounted for, is not admissible in evidence, nor can notes or memoranda to which the memory of the witness does not immediately attach be used to refresh his memory. He must be able to say, "This was the paper made or at the time verified by me as a true record of the events." It is not proper that a copy be appealed to, even for the purpose of refreshing the memory, while the original can be produced. Byrnes v. Pacific Express Co., 4 App. C. C. § 188, 15 S. W. 46.

On trial for passing forged checks, witness can use a copy thereof to refresh his memory. Riley v. State (Cr. App.) 44 S. W. 498.

A list of stolen goods returned to the owner, made at the time by witness, is competent to refresh his memory. Franks v. State (Cr. App.) 45 S. W. 1013.

A witness may refresh his recollection by the testimony taken down by him in the grand jury room. Luttrell v. State, 40 Cr. R. 651, 51 S. W. 930.

It was error to allow a witness to refresh his memory and testify from a memorandum made by another, witness not having been present when the facts occurred, and having no personal knowledge thereof. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Huggins (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 1029.

A memorandum made by plaintiff's attorney held not competent to refresh the memory of a witness on the taking of his deposition. Rice v. Ward, 93 T. 532, 56 S. W. 747.

In a prosecution for theft, it is permissible for a witness to refer to his pocket memorandum book in order to fix the date when he saw the animal alleged to have been stolen. Parks v. State, 46 Cr. R. 100, 79 S. W. 301.

It was not error to permit a witness for the state, in order to refresh his memory, to read a statement made and signed by him before the grand jury. Smith v. State, 46 Cr. R. 267, 81 S. W. 936, 108 Am. St. Rep. 991.

On a prosecution for a violation of the local option law, it was proper to permit a witness to refer to his express books to refresh his memory as to what was done as to the package in question. Cantwell v. State, 47 Cr. R. 511, 85 S. W. 19.

It is not necessary that the memoranda used by a witness to refresh his memory should have been made by him. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Birdwell (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 1067; Same v. Henderson, Id.

Where a record made by a witness did not refresh his recollection, and he testified that he could not swear to the facts except from the record, his evidence was properly excluded. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Garlington, 41 C. A. 340, 92 S. W. 270.

A witness held properly permitted to refresh his memory by reference to a certain memorandum. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Turner, 42 C. A. 532, 94 S. W. 214.

In a criminal prosecution, permitting a witness to testify after he had read his testimony given at a former trial was not error. Watters v. State (Cr. App.) 94 S. W. 1038.

In action to recover articles of personal property, held proper to have permitted plaintiff to refresh his memory as to the articles by reference to the petition. Hammond v. Decker, 46 C. A. 232, 102 S. W. 453.

In an action against a carrier of live stock, held proper to permit plaintiff to testify as to the weights of the stock using the account sales to refresh his memory. St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Wills (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 733.

To show the number and nature of the packages in the possession of an express agent when robbed, it is error to allow witnesses who prepared the packages to refresh their memory by the use of copies of entries in their books. Tabor v. State, 52 Cr. R. 337, 107 S. W. 1116.

On a trial for violating the local option law, accused held not prejudiced by the court permitting a witness to refresh his memory by examining a statement made by him before the grand jury. Wagner v. State, 53 Cr. R. 306, 109 S. W. 169.

Where a witness on a second trial stated that he could not remember and that his memory was better at the first trial, the court properly permitted him to refresh his memory by reading his former testimony. Proctor v. State, 54 Cr. R. 254, 112 S. W. 770.

A witness was properly permitted to use a ledger for refreshing his memory, where all the other books in which any of the entries were made had been burned. Kansas City Southern Ry. Co. v. Rosebrook-Josey Grain Co., 52 C. A. 156, 114 S. W. 436.

Statement of right to use memorandum to refresh memory. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Quilhot (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 200.

A sufficient foundation held to have been laid to permit witness to testify to a fact by refreshing his memory from book entries. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Mitchell (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 876.

In an action against a railroad company for loss en route of eggs shipped, defendant's clerks held entitled to testify from records kept by them that only a certain number of cases were received. Southern Pac. Co. v. C. H. Cox & Co. (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 103.

A witness may refresh his memory from notes made by him at the time of the occurrences. Gould v. State (Cr. App.) 146 S. W. 172, 179.

A witness may use, to refresh his recollection, an original memorandum or a copy thereof. Washington v. State (Cr. App.) 147 S. W. 276.

Where a witness for the state said that he did not remember, the district attorney might refresh his memory by showing him his testimony at a former trial. Lee v. State (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 706.

In a prosecution for selling liquor, witnesses having testified to purchases, and that they had testified thereto before a justice of the peace, his examining and trial dockets, held admissible to refresh the memory of witnesses and of the justice as to the dates of purchases. Misher v. State (Cr. App.) 152 S. W. 1049.

In an action for damages, witnesses testifying to transactions covering several months and scores of shipments were properly permitted to refresh their memories by reference to written data made by them or under their direction and within their knowledge. American Rio Grande Land & Irrigation Co. v. Mercedes Plantation Co. (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 286.

Where a witness' statement was taken immediately after a killing, and he denied on the stand any independent recollection thereof, he was properly permitted to testify to the facts as recorded after reading the paper to refresh his recollection. Smith v. Stat (Cr. App.) 156 S. W. 214.

20. — Inspection of writing by adverse party.—Right of accused to inspect a statement used by prosecuting witness to refresh his memory stated. Green v. State, 53 Cr. R. 490, 110 S. W. 920, 22 L. R. A. (N. S.) 706.

Where a witness testified concerning an alleged illegal sale of liquor after refreshing his memory from a memorandum book, the court properly refused to require production of the book or to permit cross-examination with reference to any other entries therein. Morrow v. State, 56 Cr. R. 519, 120 S. W. 491.

Where a witness for the state merely testified that he made a statement of the facts to the prosecuting attorney, but it is not used at the trial, held, refusal to compel the state to furnish it to defendant was not error. Chandler v. State, 60 Cr. R. 329, 131 S. W. 598.

21. — Admissibility of writing as evidence.—In an action against a telegraph company for delay in delivering a message, held error to admit in evidence the counter delivery sheet of defendant. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Christensen (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 744.

Where a witness, after having read his written statement, had no independent recollection thereof, the writing was inadmissible for any purpose. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Solcher (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 545.

A memorandum used to refresh a witness' recollection, but which contained matter which had no bearing on the issues, was inadmissible. Little v. Rich, 55 C. A. 326, 118 S. W. 1077.

22. Testimony from memoranda or other writings.—Application of funds from entries in an account book. Railway Co. v. Warner (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 503. Use of map. Clevenger v. Blount (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 868.

Objection to memorandum used by witness, that it was made without opposite party's knowledge or consent, held untenable on the evidence. Crawford v. Abbey (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 346.

In a prosecution for violating the local option law, evidence of an express agent from whom the liquor was obtained that he had no recollection aside from his books held admissible. Cantwell v. State, 47 Cr. R. 521, 85 S. W. 18.

In an action by rice milling company to recover balance alleged to be due from defendant for advances on shipments of rice to be sold for account of defendant, testimony of inspector of the rice to show its quality, condition, and grade held inadmissible. Bouldin v. Atlantic Rice Mills Co. (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 795.

A witness may testify as to the number of bales of cotton he sold a party, though he bases it on book entries made from cotton tickets. Hubbard City Cotton Oil & Gin Co. v. Nichols (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 795.

A local railroad agent receiving waybills and entering them in books of original entry, could testify upon such books as to shipments. Walker v. State, 49 Cr. R. 345, 94 S. W. 230.

In a prosecution for theft of a level, it was proper to allow the witnesses who testified as to the value of the level to refer to and use in their testimony the catalog price lists of levels as a basis for fixing the value of the instrument. Keipp v. State, 51 Cr. R. 417, 103 S. W. 392.

23. Testimony of stenographer from notes.—A witness is properly allowed to refresh his memory by a copy transcribed from his stenographic notes, taken on a former hearing. Connell v. State, 45 Cr. R. 142, 75 S. W. 512.

24. Calling attention to and explanation of former statements or testimony.—State's attorney held properly permitted to read the former testimony of an unwilling witness to refresh his memory. Carpenter v. State (Cr. App.) 51 S. W. 227.

It is not error to permit a witness to testify as to which of two statements previously made by him he is the most positive is correct. Dunn v. State, 43 Cr. R. 25, 63 S. W. 571.

In a prosecution for theft, it was not error for the county attorney to read from the statement of facts in a former trial and ask the witness if she made certain statements. Pool v. State, 51 Cr. R. 596, 103 S. W. 892.

A witness is authorized to contradict a prior statement in his testimony, and explain the contradiction so as to permit the jury to accept the revised testimony. Teutonia Ins. Co. v. Tobias (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 251.

In an action to enjoin an alleged infringement of water rights, a witness who answered a question, which was capable of being understood in different ways, without understanding the intent of his questioner, was properly permitted to explain the answer given. Biggs v. Miller (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 632.

Where witnesses for the state were unfriendly or unwilling to testify, the county attorney could refresh their recollection by calling attention to prior statements alleged to have been made by them. Liner v. State (Cr. App.) 156 S. W. 211.

25. Recalling witnesses.—See notes under Art. 1952.

26. Right to cross-examine and re-examine in general.—In a prosecution for violating the local option law, proceeding relative to the explanation by witness of a portion of his testimony held not erroneous. Owens v. State (Cr. App.) 96 S. W. 31.

27. Control and discretion of court.—It was not an abuse of discretion for the court to refuse to require plaintiff, on cross-examination, to answer whether he did not feel unkindly toward defendant, and had not made a complaint against him for felony since he bought the land in controversy from the state. Taylor v. McFatter (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 395.

The action of the court in permitting the state on a trial for assault with intent to rape to examine the prosecutrix with reference to a conversation with accused and permitting accused to cross-examine her held proper. Warren v. State, 54 Cr. R. 443, 114 S. W. 380.

28. Scope and extent of cross-examination in general.—Rulings on particular questions. Herring v. Patten, 18 C. A. 147, 44 S. W. 50; Clark v. State, 40 Cr. R. 127, 49 S. W. 85; Berg v. San Antonio St. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 921; Merritt v. State, 40 Cr. R. 359, 50 S. W. 384; Vogt v. Short (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 627; Moore v. State, 40 Cr. R. 439, 50 S. W. 942; Nite v. Same, 41 Cr. R. 340, 54 S. W. 763; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Engelhorn, 24 C. A. 324, 62 S. W. 561, 65 S. W. 68; Borden v. State, 42 Cr. R. 648, 62 S. W. 1064; Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Newport, 26 C. A. 583, 65 S. W. 657; Poole v. State, 45 Cr. R. 348, 76 S. W. 565; Washington v. Same, 46 Cr. R. 184, 79 S. W. 811; Shain Packing Co. v. Burrus (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 838; Sexton v. State, 48 Cr. R. 497, 88 S. W. 348; Willis v. Same, 49 Cr. R. 139, 90 S. W. 1100; McLain v. Same, 48 Cr. R. 549, 90 S. W. 1107; Anson v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 42 C. A. 437, 94 S. W. 94; Welch v. State, 50 Cr. R. 28, 95 S. W. 1035; Owens v. Same (Cr. App.) 96 S. W. 31; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Newsome & Williams, 44 C. A. 513, 98 S. W. 646; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Travis, 45 C. A. 117, 99 S. W. 1141; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lindsey (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 863; Lahue v. State, 51 Cr. R. 159, 101 S. W. 1008; Hardin v. Same, 51 Cr. R. 559, 103 S. W. 401; Benson v. Same, 51 Cr. R. 367, 103 S. W. 911; Seiwert v. Same (Cr. App.) 103 S. W. 932, 933; Panhandle & G. Ry. Co. v. Kirby (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 495; Dooley v. State, 52 Cr. R. 491, 108 S. W. 676; St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Rogers, 49 C. A. 304, 108 S. W. 1027; Hobbs v. State, 53 Cr. R. 71, 112 S. W. 308; Marsh v. Same, 54 Cr. R. 144, 112 S. W. 320; Dobbs v. Same, 54 Cr. R. 550, 113 S. W. 923; Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Owens (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 89; Gelber v. State, 56 Cr. R. 460, 120 S. W. 863; Barbee v. Same, 58 Cr. R. 129, 124 S. W. 961; Phillips v. Same, 59 Cr. R. 534, 128 S. W. 1100; Edwards v. Same, 61 Cr. R. 307, 135 S. W. 540; McLain v. Same, 62 Cr. R. 118, 136 S. W. 1057; A. Cohen & Co. v. Rittimann (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 59; Grimes v. State, 64 Cr. R. 64, 141 S. W. 261; Hunt v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1060; Barber v. State, 64 Cr. R. 96, 142 S. W. 577; Maclin

v. Same (Cr. App.) 144 S. W. 951; Swanney v. Same, 146 S. W. 548; Kirby v. Same, 150 S. W. 455; Davis v. Fain (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 218; Mayhew v. State (Cr. App.) 155 S. W. 191; Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Porter (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 267.

Plaintiff may use an abandoned verified answer as evidence, and as a basis for cross-examination of the defendant filing it. Morgan v. E. Bement & Sons, 24 C. A. 564, 59 S. W. 907.

Great latitude should be allowed on cross-examination. O'Connell v. Storey (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 1174.

The court properly refused to permit defendant to ask plaintiff on cross-examination whether, since he had lived in the neighborhood, he had not continually had trouble and lawsuits with his neighbors. Taylor v. McFatter (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 395.

29. Limitation of cross-examination to subjects of direct examination.—The rule that the cross-examination of a witness must be confined to the questions propounded and answered on the examination in chief has not been recognized in this state, and any question pertinent to the matter in issue may be asked. Wentworth v. Crawford, 11 T. 127; Rhine v. Blake, 59 T. 240; Evansich v. G., C. & S. F. R. Co., 61 T. 24.

The adverse party has the right to cross-examine a witness upon any subject about which he has testified in his examination in chief (Grothaus v. Witte, 72 T. 124, 11 S. W. 1032), and is not limited to matters in rebuttal of questions propounded to the witness on the direct examination (Roberts v. Miller [Civ. App.] 30 S. W. 381).

Rulings in particular cases. Hull v. State (Cr. App.) 47 S. W. 472; Merritt v. Same, 40 Cr. R. 359, 50 S. W. 384; Wilkerson v. Same (Cr. App.) 57 S. W. 956; Woods v. Same, 60 S. W. 244; King v. Same, 64 S. W. 245; Bearden v. Same, 44 Cr. R. 578, 73 S. W. 17; Webb v. Same, 47 Cr. R. 305, 83 S. W. 394; Brittain v. Same, 47 Cr. R. 597, 85 S. W. 278; San Antonio Traction Co. v. Haines, 45 C. A. 289, 100 S. W. 788; Jones v. State (Cr. App.) 101 S. W. 993; Stewart v. Same, 52 Cr. R. 273, 106 S. W. 685; Ross v. Same, 53 Cr. R. 162, 295, 109 S. W. 152, 153; Yeiral v. Same, 56 Cr. R. 267, 119 S. W. 848; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Biles & Ruby, 56 C. A. 193, 120 S. W. 952; Johnson v. State, 63 Cr. R. 50, 138 S. W. 1021; Maclin v. Same (Cr. App.) 144 S. W. 951.

In an action for damages to a building caused by an explosion, where a witness testified to the total damage and that he had the contract to repair the woodwork, it was error for the court to refuse to require him to state on cross-examination what he was to receive for such repairs. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Cummins (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 118.

Where one side examines a witness and the other side, after cross-examining, goes into new matter the witness as to the new matter becomes the witness of the party eliciting it. Stewart v. State, 52 Cr. R. 273, 106 S. W. 685.

New matter not covered by the examination in chief which may be used against her husband cannot be elicited from the wife on cross-examination. Pinckard v. State, 62 Cr. R. 602, 138 S. W. 601.

30. Cross-examination as to irrelevant, collateral or immaterial matters.—The rule that only such evidence as is relevant to the matter in issue shall be introduced governs in the direct examination of a witness and also in the cross-examination. The rule is not applied with the same strictness in a cross-examination as it is in the examination in chief. It would seem that any fact which bears upon the credit of a witness is a relevant fact, and this whether it goes to his indisposition to tell the truth, his want of opportunity to know the truth, his bias, interest, want of memory, or other like fact. Upon cross-examination inquiry may be made into the situation of the witness with respect to parties and to the subject of the litigation; his interest, his motives, his inclination and prejudices, his means of obtaining a correct and certain knowledge of the facts to which he bears testimony, the manner in which he uses those means; his power of discernment, memory and description, may be fully investigated and ascertained. Evansich v. G., C. & S. F. R. Co., 61 T. 24.

Plaintiff cannot complain that his witnesses were cross-examined as to matters drawn out by his own counsel. Freedman v. Bonner (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 47.

Irrelevant matters. Jones v. State, 38 Cr. R. 87, 40 S. W. 807, 41 S. W. 638, 70 Am. St. Rep. 719; Richards v. Same, 53 Cr. R. 400, 110 S. W. 432; Drake v. Same (Cr. App.) 143 S. W. 1157.

In an action against a railway company for negligence, requiring defendant's engineer, on cross-examination, to testify to his negligence at other times, held error. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Meeks (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 329.

Question on cross-examination as to whether it was a rule for the railroad company to keep a brakeman at the rear end of trains when switching under conditions not shown by the evidence held improper. Freeman v. Moreman (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1045.

31. Cross-examination as to writings.—In cross-examining, accused's counsel have the right to access to a book containing a written statement signed by the witness and used by the prosecuting attorney in his examination. Duke v. State, 61 Cr. R. 19, 133 S. W. 432.

32. Cross-examination of witness to character of party.—See Forrester v. State, 38 Cr. R. 245, 42 S. W. 400; Hopperwood v. Same, 39 Cr. R. 15, 44 S. W. 841; Holloway v. Same, 45 Cr. R. 303, 77 S. W. 14; Newell v. Same (Cr. App.) 145 S. W. 939.

33. Cross-examination of party.—Refusing to compel defendant's attorney to deliver to plaintiff a statement which he had used as a guide in examining defendant held not error. Timmons v. Casey, 19 C. A. 476, 47 S. W. 805.

A voluntary statement of accused may be used by prosecuting attorney on cross-examination. Ford v. State, 40 Cr. R. 280, 50 S. W. 350.

A party may state on cross-examination that the reason he remembers the testimony of his opponent on a former trial is because he saw it written down. McBane v. Angle, 29 C. A. 594, 69 S. W. 433.

In an action for injuries, it is proper not to allow defendant to show, on cross-examination of plaintiff, that he had refused to submit to an examination by physicians to be appointed by the court. Austin & N. W. R. Co. v. Cluck (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 569.

In an action for servant's injuries, evidence that plaintiff refused to submit to examination by defendant's physician held properly excluded. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brooks (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 571.

In an action for delay in delivery of telegram, certain cross-examination of plaintiff on the issue of mental anguish held improperly excluded. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Simmons (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 322.

In an action for personal injuries, examination of plaintiff as witness as to advice of lawyer in relation to a prior injury of the same character held improper. City of Dallas v. Muncton, 37 C. A. 112, 83 S. W. 431.

Where a property owner testifies as to the value of his property, he may be asked on cross-examination what he will take for it. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Carr (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 35.

Where in an action for injuries, plaintiff testified that prior to the accident he earned from $5,000 to $7,000 per annum, defendant on cross-examination was entitled to show that in fact plaintiff was poor. Pecos & N. T. R. Co. v. Coffman, 56 C. A. 472, 121 S. W. 218.

A party testifying in his own behalf should not be required to express on cross-examination his opinion of the truth of the testimony of a witness contradicting his testimony. Temple v. Duran (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 253.

In an action by an owner of property abutting on a street for damages caused by operation of trains in the street, plaintiff may, on cross-examination, be asked as to what he would take for the property at the time of the trial. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Jobe (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 32.

In an action on a note, it was error to exclude questions asked on cross-examination of defendant R., to show that he knew the note was executed for the benefit of his co-maker, and not for the accommodation of plaintiff as claimed. First Nat. Bank v. Pearce (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 285.

On an issue as to the depreciation of plaintiff's property, the court held not to have erred in refusing to require her to state how much she would take for the property as it stood. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Bell (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 634.

In an action on an account, held, that it was reversible error to permit counsel for plaintiff to ask defendant certain questions manifestly improper and prejudicial. Stuart v. Calahan (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 60.

In a suit against the pastor of a church to enforce a resulting trust, cross-examination of defendant as to his prior relations with a woman and marriage to another held improper. Gilmore v. Brown (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 964.

Where, in an action for libel, the issue was whether plaintiff and his wife could be identified by the defamatory article as the persons referred to, refusal to permit defendant to prove by plaintiff on cross-examination that he would not have known to whom it referred, except for information not possessed by the public was erroneous. Houston Chronicle Pub. Co. v. McDavid (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 224.

34. Questions on cross-examination.—Question asked of defendant to impeach him should have been restricted to some definite time. Stull v. State, 47 Cr. R. 547, 84 S. W. 1059.

In an action for delay in delivering a death message, a question asked of defendant's witness on cross-examination, if he inquired by telephone as to the addressee, held not objectionable in that defendant could not discharge its obligation to deliver a message by telephone. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Craige, 44 C. A. 214, 90 S. W. 681.

Where a question asked on cross-examination was objected to as calling for a conclusion, but it did not appear that it was answered, no error was committed. Benson v. State, 51 Cr. R. 367, 103 S. W. 911.

35. — Questions assuming facts.—On the cross-examination of a witness as to the identity of accused, held not permissible to ask him if he went to other places to identify other persons under arrest. Moore v. State, 40 Cr. R. 439, 50 S. W. 942.

In proceedings by a railroad to condemn land, certain evidence as to value held admissible. Hengy v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 402.

36. — Leading questions.—Leading questions held proper on cross-examination. Bell v. State, 48 Cr. R. 256, 87 S. W. 1160.

37. — Repetition of questions and questions calling for repetition of answers.—When a witness has on cross-examination more than once answered a question propounded by counsel, whether he shall again be required to make answer to the same question is within the discretion of the trial judge. Railway Co. v. Pool, 70 T. 713, 8 S. W. 535.

Exclusion of questions to state's witness on cross-examination as to whether he was positive as to testimony he had twice given positively, and whether he was as positive as to such matter as he was that defendant shot deceased, held not an abuse of discretion. Blue v. State (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 730.

Exclusion of a question asked a witness on cross-examination whether he was not frequently drunk, held not erroneous, where he had previously repeatedly denied getting drunk; it being unlikely that he would have answered in the affirmative, as claimed. Snyder Ice, Light & Power Co. v. Bowron (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 550.

38. — Cross-examination by court.—The action of the court, in asking witness if she understood the meaning of a certain word, while defendant was cross-examining witness, was not error. Washington v. State, 46 Cr. R. 184, 79 S. W. 811.

39. Redirect examination.—Where a witness on cross-examination by the prosecution, testified that he had been employed by third persons to investigate as to whether it would be safe for them to go on defendant's bond, he may be asked, on re-examination, whether he had advised that it would be safe so to do. Fossett v. State, 41 Cr. R. 400, 55 S. W. 497.

Where the witness stated on cross-examination the reason given by defendant for taking a machine sued for from plaintiff, it was not an abuse of the court's discretion to allow him to be asked, on re-examination, if defendant had not told him that he took the machine for another reason. Mulliner v. Shumake (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 983.

Certain evidence held not to constitute impeachment by the state of one of its own witnesses. Binyon v. State (Cr. App.) 56 S. W. 339.

Certain re-examination of a witness held proper. Lahue v. State, 51 Cr. R. 159, 101 S. W. 1008; Smith v. Same, 52 Cr. R. 344, 106 S. W. 1161, 15 Ann. Cas. 357; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Groseclose (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 736.

The overruling of a certain objection to cross-examination as to a witness' knowledge that a certain speed violated ordinances intended to protect human life, held not error. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wall (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 453.

Plaintiff having testified that he went on land previously conveyed to defendants, and took charge of it, and having testified on cross-examination that he went there at the request of defendants' grantor, held permissible, on redirect examination, to show that defendants' grantor surrendered possession to plaintiff, and turned over to him a deed through which grantor and her husband claimed. Pardue v. Whitfield, 53 C. A. 63, 115 S. W. 306.

Where a witness testified on cross-examination that he had been promised immunity, he could answer on re-examination that he had been directed not to testify against any one who was innocent. Fruger v. State, 56 Cr. R. 393, 120 S. W. 197.

In view of the cross-examination of a detective, the court properly permitted the state on re-examination to show that it made no financial difference to the witness whether defendant was convicted or acquitted. Morrow v. State, 56 Cr. R. 519, 120 S. W. 491.

Exclusion of testimony on redirect examination as to trouble between deceased and another person held error; he having stated on cross-examination the names of several with whom deceased had had trouble. Maclin v. State (Cr. App.) 144 S. W. 951.

Where character witnesses for defendant had on redirect explained in detail matters drawn out on their cross-examination, and defendant on cross-examination was not asked as to those matters, it was not error to refuse to allow him on his own redirect to go into such detailed explanation. Stephens v. State (Cr. App.) 145 S. W. 907.

Where accused brought out on cross-examination that the witness had been arrested for the crime, the state might properly, on redirect examination, elicit the fact that the grand jury had not indicted him. Crutchfield v. State (Cr. App.) 152 S. W. 1053.

Where the state showed the larceny of ribbon and a state's witness testified that a few days after the larceny she saw a young woman in accused's company wearing 20 yards of ribbon of the kind stolen, and the witness on cross-examination stated that she had bought ribbon for her daughters, it was not error to permit the state on redirect examination to ask whether she had ever bought as much as 20 yards at one time. Holmes v. State (Cr. App.) 157 S. W. 487.

40. — Explanation of testimony.—Redirect examination of witness. James v. State, 40 Cr. R. 190, 49 S. W. 401; Turner v. Same (Cr. App.) 51 S. W. 366; Drye v. Same, 55 S. W. 65; Jackson v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 23 C. A. 319, 55 S. W. 376; Renfro v. State, 42 Cr. R. 393, 56 S. W. 1013; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Locke (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 1082; Merrell v. State (Cr. App.) 70 S. W. 979; Smith v. Same, 74 S. W. 556; Kipper v. Same, 45 Cr. R. 377, 77 S. W. 611; Weaver v. Same, 46 Cr. R. 607, 81 S. W. 39; Brundige v. Same, 49 Cr. R. 596, 95 S. W. 527; Jeter v. Same, 52 Cr. R. 212, 106 S. W. 371; Biddy v. Same (Cr. App.) 108 S. W. 689; Green v. Same, 62 Cr. R. 345, 137 S. W. 126; James v. Same, 63 Cr. R. 75, 138 S. W. 612; Cotton v. Morrison (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 114; Kinney v. State (Cr. App.) 144 S. W. 257; Moore v. Same, 144 S. W. 598; Lott v. Same (Cr. App.) 146 S. W. 544; Williams v. Same, 148 S. W. 763; Mason v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 350; Holmes v. State (Cr. App.) 157 S. W. 487.

Explanation on redirect examination of testimony given on direct examination held properly excluded. Whitehead v. State, 61 Cr. R. 558, 137 S. W. 356.

41. — New matter on cross-examination.—See Lax v. State, 46 Cr. R. 628, 79 S. W. 578; Millican v. Same, 63 Cr. R. 440, 140 S. W. 1136.

42. — Repetition of testimony on direct or cross examination.—In an action for injuries, questions asked of an alleged expert held not objectionable as leading. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Collins, 33 C. A. 58, 75 S. W. 814; Washington v. State, 58 Cr. R. 345, 125 S. W. 917.

43. Recross-examination.—Permitting recross-examination is a matter within the discretion of the court, and will not ordinarily be reviewed on appeal. Presidio County v. Clarke, 38 C. A. 320, 85 S. W. 475.

44. Privileged communications.—See Introductory, II, ante.

45. Answer tending to disgrace witness or render him infamous.—In an action for breach of promise of marriage, questions asked plaintiff as to illicit relations with persons other than defendant before her engagement to marry him held properly excluded. Clark v. Reese, 26 C. A. 619, 64 S. W. 783.

46. Answer tending to subject witness to criminal prosecution.—Witness may refuse to answer a criminating question. The objection cannot be made by a party to the suit. Railway Co. v. Muth, 27 S. W. 752, 7 C. A. 443; Ex parte Andrews, 51 Cr. R. 79, 100 S. W. 376; Pinckard v. State, 62 Cr. R. 602, 138 S. W. 601; Smith v. Same (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 722.

Exemption of witness from giving incriminating testimony applies to the giving of testimony before a grand jury. Ex parte Wilson, 39 Cr. R. 630, 47 S. W. 996.

Forged bill of sale need not be produced when witness shows it would tend to incriminate him. Id.

The manager of a saloon held protected by Const. art. 1, § 10, from being compelled to testify before a grand jury that certain of his bartenders kept a saloon open on Sunday for the ordinary sale of liquor. Ex parte Merrell, 50 Cr. R. 193, 95 S. W. 1047.

47. Privilege as to production of documents.—A statement of witness before the grand jury that an answer would not incriminate him is not a waiver of his right to show otherwise when brought before the court for contempt. Ex parte Wilson, 39 Cr. R. 630, 47 S. W. 996.

The constitutional right of the accused to refrain from giving evidence against himself applies to the giving of testimony before the grand jury. Wilson v. State, 41 Cr. R. 115, 51 S. W. 916.

48. Caution to witness.—Where a witness before the grand jury is not warned that the evidence given may be used against him, such evidence is not admissible on subsequent prosecution. Bowen v. State, 47 Cr. R. 137, 82 S. W. 520.

It is immaterial whether the court or counsel inform a witness that he may decline to answer if his answers might tend to incriminate him. Starr v. State (Cr. App.) 86 S. W. 1023.

Where a witness does not know his rights in respect to declining to answer, if his answers might tend to incriminate him, the court should see that he is properly informed. Id.

49. Waiver of privilege.—The privilege of a witness of not answering in certain cases may be waived. Ingersol v. McWillie, 87 T. 647, 30 S. W. 869.

50. Persons entitled to claim privilege.—An accused cannot object to the testimony of a coprincipal on the ground that it would tend to incriminate him. Duncan v. State, 40 Cr. R. 591, 51 S. W. 372.

51. Remedies for protection of witness against subsequent use of evidence.—The action of the trial court in stating to a witness that she would be exempt from prosecution if she would testify to the truth held not erroneous under the evidence. Stanford v. State, 42 Cr. R. 343, 60 S. W. 253.

II. Credibility of Witnesses

52. Credibility of witnesses in general.—The jury need not accept as true positive evidence, where there is evidence of circumstances tending to show its falsity. Mercantile & Banking Co. v. Landa (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 406.

Testimony of a witness held so contradictory in two depositions as to justify the jury in returning a verdict that deceased had no notice of a defective appliance. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Royall, 18 C. A. 86, 43 S. W. 815.

A jury may give credence to part of the testimony of a witness and reject the rest. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Eckles, 25 C. A. 179, 60 S. W. 830.

Evidence held sufficient to show that witness was competent to testify as to general reputation of a locomotive fireman. Id.

Mere conduct of officers and employes of defendant corporation, in testifying as unwilling witnesses, held insufficient to make out plaintiff's case. Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express v. Waites, 29 C. A. 560, 69 S. W. 450.

In an action for personal injuries, contributory negligence need not be proven by a preponderance of the evidence to the satisfaction of the jury. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Kitt (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 678.

A jury may disregard evidence introduced by plaintiff and base a conclusion favorable to him upon testimony furnished by his adversary, or it may take part of the testimony of defendant as true and regard the balance as false (though it be the testimony of the same witness), and join what is taken as true to part of the testimony of plaintiff, and base his conclusion upon such portions of the testimony of each party. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Murray (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 144.

A jury is not required to believe a witness, although he makes a plain statement of what is not impossible, and is neither impeached nor contradicted, but may discredit him on account of the manner of testifying and attendant circumstances; the jury being the sole judge of the credibility of witnesses and the weight to be given their testimony. Id.

Statement of weight and sufficiency of evidence in view of question of credibility of witnesses. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Harris, 45 C. A. 542, 101 S. W. 506.

The jury have no right to arbitrarily reject the evidence of an unimpeached witness against whom there is no discrediting fact or circumstance. Grand Fraternity v. Melton, 102 T. 399, 117 S. W. 788.

Though testimony of witnesses be uncontradicted, held, under conditions making it suspicious, that it could be disbelieved. Sovereign Camp of Woodmen of the World v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1137.

A jury can believe or disbelieve any witnesses giving contradictory testimony. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Young (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 572.

Engineer of train, by which deceased person was killed, held to be interested witness, whose credibility is for the jury. Knights of Maccabees of the World v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 718.

Testimony that one lying in a car was thrown in a westerly direction by the impact of an engine on the east end of the car held not so in conflict with physical facts as to destroy its force. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Morin (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1191.

In an action for slander where the testimony of a witness as to vile statements made by defendant concerning plaintiff was not corroborated, and was contradicted by defendant, the jury were justified in rejecting it as unworthy of credence. Lehmann v. Medack (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 438.

53. Testimony of party.—Defendant's testimony, directly contrary to the fact as pleaded by him, is conclusive against him. Daugherty v. Lady (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 837.

The fact that plaintiff in a personal injury action is the only witness testifying to the circumstances of the injury does not preclude a recovery. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Mills (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 11.

A jury held warranted in basing its verdict on the direct testimony of a boy injured while stealing a ride on a freight car, notwithstanding the boy's contradictory statements on cross-examination. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Buch (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 124.

Where the establishment of a fact depends solely on the evidence of a party having a material interest in the controversy, such interest may be considered by the jury in determining the credibility of the party and the weight to be given to his testimony. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Batte (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 632.

Where a broker suing for a commission testified as to the customary rate of compensation, and defendant did not adduce any evidence on the subject, the court did not err in taking his testimony as undisputed. Hansen v. Williams (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 312.

The court is not bound to believe a party's testimony on a particular issue as to which it may seem the evidence preponderates in his favor. Steely v. Texas Improvement Co., 55 C. A. 463, 119 S. W. 319.

Where a witness is a party in interest, his credibility is largely a fact to be considered in determining what effect should be given to his testimony. Bell County v. Felts (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 269.

The court may accept plaintiff's testimony, though it is contradicted by that of several witnesses. Bailey v. Dillard (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 1165.

54. Testimony of interested persons.—When jury may infer from evidence that engineer saw a boy on the track, though he denied the fact. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Phillips (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 344.

The testimony of witnesses interested in the issue is not necessarily overcome by the opposing testimony of a greater number of equally credible witnesses who are not interested. Largent v. Beard (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 90.

In determining the fact and extent of an agency, the jury are not concluded by the testimony of the agent. Majors v. Goodrich (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 919.

The jury, being judges of a witness' credibility, are not bound to accept as true uncontradicted testimony of an interested witness. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Johnson, 23 C. A. 160, 55 S. W. 772.

The jury in an action on a life policy, in which the validity of a settlement made by the agent is in issue, may refuse to believe the testimony of the agent, in behalf of the company, though uncontradicted. Franklin Life Ins. Co. v. Villeneuve, 29 C. A. 128, 68 S. W. 203.

In action against a railroad for death of a bridge watchman, killed while riding a velocipede across the bridge, engineer's statement that he did not see deceased until within 100 feet of him, held not conclusive. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Brock, 35 C. A. 155, 80 S. W. 422.

The jury may infer that railroad employes saw a person dangerously near to the track in time to avoid injuring him, notwithstanding their denials, where there were no obstructions to their view. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Flinn (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 94.

An interested party's uncontradicted testimony in support of his defense of fraud, in an action on notes, held not to be disregarded, where he had apprised the parties of his defense in his answer, filed months before the trial, in the absence of any showing that his testimony was untruthful. Beene & Trotter v. Rotan Grocery Co., 50 C. A. 448, 110 S. W. 162.

A servant's denial in an injury action that he knew the risk is merely evidence of that fact and is not conclusive where there is circumstantial evidence to the contrary. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Burton, 53 C. A. 378, 115 S. W. 364.

In an action for the death of a person killed by a train at a crossing, the jury in determining the question of discovered peril could disbelieve testimony of the fireman and engineer that the fireman was busy in firing the engine, and believe the testimony of decedent's sister, who saw the accident. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Tinon (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 936.

The court or jury is not bound to believe an interested witness, especially where there are circumstances casting suspicion on his testimony. Bolt v. State Savings Bank of Manchester, Iowa (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 707.

The jury is not bound to believe the testimony of an interested witness, though not directly contradicted. Crane v. Western Union Tel. Co. (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 444.

The jury may discredit in part the testimony of an interested witness. Wyatt v. Moore (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1133.

III. Impeachment and Corroboration of Witnesses

55. Grounds of impeachment in general.—A liberal rule is allowed for the purpose of contradicting or impeaching witnesses. Southworth v. State, 52 Cr. R. 532, 109 S. W. 133.

Testimony that persons whose depositions had been admitted were negroes was an attempt at impeachment in an improper way. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Good (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 617.

56. Corroboration of unimpeached and uncontradicted witness.—Corroboration of witness, see post.

A party cannot fortify the credit of his witness until his credibility is assailed. Morrison v. State (Cr. App.) 40 S. W. 591; Murphy v. Same, 40 S. W. 978; Renfro v. Same, 42 Cr. R. 393, 56 S. W. 1013; Zysman v. Same, 42 Cr. R. 432, 60 S. W. 669; Reese v. Same, 43 Cr. R. 539, 67 S. W. 325; Fox v. Robbins (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 597; Morton v. State (Cr. App.) 71 S. W. 281; McKensie v. Watson, 36 C. A. 235, 81 S. W. 1017; Bowen v. State, 47 Cr. R. 137, 82 S. W. 520; Dean v. Same, 47 Cr. R. 243, 83 S. W. 816; Green v. Same, 49 Cr. R. 238, 90 S. W. 1115; McKnight v. Same, 50 Cr. R. 252, 95 S. W. 1056; Casey v. Same, 50 Cr. R. 392, 97 S. W. 496; Jones v. Same, 52 Cr. R. 206, 106 S. W. 126; Holmes v. Same, 52 Cr. R. 352, 353, 106 S. W. 1160; Pratt v. Same, 53 Cr. R. 281, 109 S. W. 138; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Tuck (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 620; Welch v. State, 57 Cr. R. 111, 122 S. W. 880; Graham v. Same, 57 Cr. R. 104, 123 S. W. 691; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Lane (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1066; Houston Electric Co. v. Jones, 129 S. W. 863; Downing v. State, 61 Cr. R. 519, 136 S. W. 171; Lacy v. Same, 63 Cr. R. 189, 140 S. W. 461; Allen v. Same, 64 Cr. R. 225, 141 S. W. 983; Oldham v. Same, 63 Cr. R. 527, 142 S. W. 13; Williams v. Same (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 763; Weaver v. Same, 150 S. W. 785.

Evidence as to the character of the prosecuting witness for honesty held not to justify the prosecution in introducing evidence as to his truth and veracity. Zysman v. State, 42 Cr. R. 432, 60 S. W. 669.

A witness who has not been impeached cannot be corroborated by showing that he has made the same statement testified to at other times to other parties. Davis v. State, 45 Cr. R. 292, 77 S. W. 451.

In habeas corpus, relator held not entitled to ask deceased's widow, on cross-examination, whether she had not been told that she would be charged with the murder if she testified that deceased had a knife when relator shot him, etc. Ex parte McCoy, 47 Cr. R. 237, 82 S. W. 1044.

Where predicate for impeachment of a state's witness has been laid, the state may introduce evidence as to his reputation before impeaching evidence has been introduced. Harris v. State, 49 Cr. R. 338, 94 S. W. 227.

A witness whose character has not been attacked except by questions which do not necessarily amount to an insinuation against his veracity cannot be corroborated by showing that he has made the same statements on former occasions. Hardin v. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co., 49 C. A. 184, 108 S. W. 490.

It is improper to allow an unimpeached witness to corroborate himself by stating that he has testified to the same facts before. Green v. State, 53 Cr. R. 534, 110 S. W. 929.

An unimpeached witness cannot be corroborated by proof of similar statements out of court. Pridemore v. State, 53 Cr. R. 620, 111 S. W. 155.

The state can introduce evidence to sustain the reputation of a witness before witnesses for the defense have been introduced directly to impeach him. Goode v. State, 57 Cr. R. 220, 123 S. W. 597.

The rule as to when testimony is admissible to sustain the character of a witness for truth and veracity stated. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 499.

Where an expert's capacity and credibility is not attacked, evidence is not admissible to support the same. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Tweed (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1155.

57. Right to impeach witness in general.—A witness making a statement about an immaterial matter cannot be impeached by showing that his testimony is false. Croft v. Smith (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 1089; Lankster v. State (Cr. App.) 72 S. W. 388; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Marshall, 57 C. A. 538, 122 S. W. 946.

That witnesses testified in a case and their testimony was controverted did not put the credibility and general reputation of the witnesses in issue. Hill v. State, 52 Cr. R. 241, 106 S. W. 145.

The state, in a homicide case, held entitled, after laying a proper predicate, to impeach a witness for accused. Marsh v. State, 54 Cr. R. 144, 112 S. W. 320.

Plaintiff by successfully resisting the introduction of evidence to impeach the good faith of an attorney held to have vouched for the attorney's good faith in the entire transaction. Cress v. Holloway (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 209.

58. Right to impeach one's own witness.—Defendant cannot impeach his own witness, who simply denies having stated facts that might have been beneficial to defendant. Balley v. State, 37 Cr. R. 579, 40 S. W. 281.

The state may impeach its own witness where he states an affirmative fact injurious, and in the nature of a surprise. Ross v. State (Cr. App.) 45 S. W. 808.

The mere failure of a witness to testify to facts expected to be proved by him will not authorize his impeachment. Finley v. State (Cr. App.) 47 S. W. 1015.

Defendant held entitled to show the arrangement he had with a witness for his compensation, where the witness stated, on cross-examination, that he was to receive an exorbitant sum for testifying. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Mitchell, 21 C. A. 463, 51 S. W. 662.

Where, on a second trial for murder, the state had changed its theory as to the motive of defendant, evidence of testimony given at the first trial, which does not tend to impeach any witness, or contradict or explain any evidence offered at the second trial was inadmissible. Spangler v. State, 42 Cr. R. 233, 61 S. W. 314.

Where the testimony of defendant's witness to prove the bad character of the state's witness proved his good character, defendant may not prove a particular transaction of the state's witness, collateral in its nature, to rebut or refute his own witness. Lankster v. State (Cr. App.) 72 S. W. 388.

A party offering a witness may not impeach his character. Casey-Swasey Co. v. Virginia State Ins. Co., 33 C. A. 85, 75 S. W. 911.

Where defendant introduced a witness, who had given a deposition offered by plaintiff, and induced the witness to change her evidence, evidence of the notary that the witness' answers were properly transcribed held not objectionable as an attempt by plaintiff to contradict his own witness. Hord v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 33 C. A. 163, 76 S. W. 227.

A party cannot impeach his own witness on a point on which he fails to testify; but, to authorize impeachment, the witness must testify to something injurious to the party offering him. Smith v. State, 45 Cr. R. 520, 78 S. W. 519.

Defendant in a criminal case cannot, in the absence of a showing of surprise, impeach his own witness. Steinke v. State (Cr. App.) 86 S. W. 753.

The state cannot impeach its own witness, unless the witness has testified to something injurious to the state. Reyes v. State, 48 Cr. R. 346, 88 S. W. 245.

Where a defendant is not surprised by the testimony of his own witness, he cannot impeach him. Franklin v. State (Cr. App.) 88 S. W. 357.

The facts held not to have authorized the state to impeach one of its own witnesses. Quinn v. State, 51 Cr. R. 155, 101 S. W. 248.

That the testimony of a witness called by the state contradicted the testimony of another state's witness is not sufficient to entitle the state to impeach its own witness. Goss v. State, 57 Cr. R. 557, 124 S. W. 107.

59. — Witness hostile to party calling him.—Where a state's witness testified adversely to the state, impeaching testimony was held proper, though the prosecution had been told that the witness would testify adversely. Young v. State (Cr. App.) 44 S. W. 835.

Where a witness introduced to prove a fact, instead of proving such fact, gives damaging testimony against the party introducing him, he may be impeached. Finley v. State (Cr. App.) 47 S. W. 1015.

The allowance of testimony to impeach one's own witness, where he is reluctant, and the party calling him claims surprise at his testimony, is largely discretionary with the trial court. Southworth v. State, 52 Cr. R. 532, 109 S. W. 133.

In a trial for violating the local option law, the county attorney held properly allowed to ask a reluctant state's witness as to a statement made by him to the county attorney. Id.

60. — Party called as witness by adversary.—Where one party to a suit makes a witness of the other, he cannot impeach his testimony. Goree v. Goree, 22 C. A. 470, 54 S. W. 1036.

61. — Witness cross-examined as to matter not subject of direct examination.—Where, in a criminal case, the state asked a witness if defendant had not told him, after a former trial, that the testimony of a certain state's witness was exactly true, it made the witness its own, and could not afterwards impeach him. Woodward v. State, 42 Cr. R. 188, 58 S. W. 135.

One seeking to impeach a witness by showing that he has been guilty of a criminal offense is bound by the answer of the witness denying criminality. Pinckard v. State, 62 Cr. R. 602, 138 S. W. 601.

62. Right to impeach impeaching witness.—Where accused offered B. and L. as witnesses to impeach prosecutor's character covering six or eight months prior to the alleged offense, the state could introduce a petition signed about that time by B. and L. asking prosecutor's appointment as deputy sheriff. Norris v. State, 52 Cr. R. 166, 106 S. W. 136.

63. Impeachment of capacity of witness.—Cross-examination of a prosecuting witness as to whether he was intoxicated at the time concerning which he testified, held proper. Green v. State, 53 Cr. R. 490, 110 S. W. 920, 22 L. R. A. (N. S.) 706.

64. Impeachment of knowledge or recollection of witness.—In trespass to try title, certain evidence to show that the mental capacity and faculties of recollection of a witness were impaired held admissible. Wren v. Howland, 33 C. A. 87, 75 S. W. 894.

In prosecution for violating local option law, certain testimony as to prosecuting witness' purchase of whisky from others than defendant held admissible. Rutherford v. State, 49 Cr. R. 21, 90 S. W. 172.

Where a witness in a burglary case positively identified a ring in accused's possession as one stolen from her at the time of the burglary, evidence by a jeweler as to whether he would undertake to identify it or a similar ring, which he had not seen for several months, and which had no peculiar mark upon it, was not admissible. Moray v. State (Cr. App.) 145 S. W. 592.

65. Cross-examination to test reliability of witness.—It was held that a witness might be cross-examined as to his eyesight, although his defective vision was not alleged in the petition as the ground of defendant's negligence in employing him. Gulf, W. T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Holzheimer (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 188.

Defendants held entitled to show on cross-examination of plaintiff, as a test of memory, that he was inaccurate, was a man of large possessions, and an operator of many business affairs. Waggoner v. Moore, 45 C. A. 308, 101 S. W. 1058.

In an action against a carrier for injury to a live stock shipment, exclusion of cross-examination of a witness who testified as to the extent of plaintiff's damages held error. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rich, 51 C. A. 312, 112 S. W. 114.

In a prosecution for attempt to commit rape, questions held proper on cross-examination to test the credibility of the witnesses. Holloway v. State, 54 Cr. R. 465, 113 S. W. 928.

66. Cross-examination to discredit witness or disparage testimony in general.—The rule that only such evidence as is relevant to the matter in issue shall be introduced governs in the direct examination of a witness and also in the cross-examination. The rule is not applied with the same strictness in a cross-examination as it is in the examination in chief. It would seem that any fact which bears upon the credit of a witness is a relevant fact, and this whether it goes to his indisposition to tell the truth, his want of opportunity to know the truth, his bias, interest, want of memory, or other like fact. Upon cross-examination inquiry may be made into the situation of the witness with respect to parties and to the subject of the litigation, his interest, his motives, his inclination and prejudices, his means of obtaining a correct and certain knowledge of the facts to which he bears testimony, the manner in which he uses those means, his power of discernment, memory, and description, may be fully investigated and ascertained. Evansich v. G., C. & S. F. R. Co., 61 T. 24.

Refusal to admit certain evidence offered to impeach a witness' credibility held not error. De Lucenay v. State (Cr. App.) 68 S. W. 796.

Certain cross-examination and evidence held permissible as affecting the credibility of a witness. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Matthews, 100 T. 63, 93 S. W. 1068.

In a prosecution for violation of local option liquor law, certain testimony elicited on cross-examination held proper as impugning the credibility of the witness. Henderson v. State, 50 Cr. R. 604, 101 S. W. 208.

Certain cross-examination of a witness held proper. Hood v. State (Cr. App.) 101 S. W. 229.

A physician testifying for plaintiff in a personal injury action held properly cross-examined with respect to his having been habitually called by plaintiff's attorney, and that his fees had been contingent on the recovery of a judgment for damages. Horton v. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co., 46 C. A. 639, 103 S. W. 467.

In an action for negligent death, the sustaining of an objection to a question on cross-examination held proper, as the testimony sought to be elicited did not contradict the witness. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Howell (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 560.

In a criminal prosecution, where the accused testified, held that, on cross-examination, he might be required to answer as to whether a witness, now deceased, had not testified on similar prosecutions for other offenses that accused was the guilty party, and that he had failed to take the stand and deny the statements. Sanders v. State, 52 Cr. R. 156, 105 S. W. 803.

In a trial for violating the local option law, held, that the state could show certain facts on accused's cross-examination. Southworth v. State, 52 Cr. R. 532, 109 S. W. 133.

Cross-examination of accused's witnesses in a prosecution for violating the local option law held not admissible to affect their credibility nor to furnish a basis of impeachment, being on a collateral and irrelevant matter. Ross v. State, 53 Cr. R. 295, 109 S. W. 152.

On a trial for homicide, certain evidence held not admissible either for the purpose of impeaching a witness or as a circumstance adverse to accused. Marsh v. State, 54 Cr. R. 144, 112 S. W. 320.

On a trial for homicide, the state held properly allowed to impeach a witness for accused. Id.

Everything legitimate for the purpose of testing the knowledge of the fact testified to by a witness, his bias, prejudice, and any matter that legitimately goes to discredit him, is admissible on cross-examination. Id.

In a suit between a purchaser and vendors involving the terms of a verbal contract, held that there was no error in cross-examining vendors as to whether, in depositions taken before trial, they had omitted to mention a note, which they claimed the purchaser was to pay. Hudson v. Slate, 53 C. A. 453, 117 S. W. 469.

In a prosecution for wrongfully selling liquor, the state held properly allowed to ask defendant's wife on cross-examination if she did not know indictments were pending against her husband for illegal sales on days when she claimed he was confined to his bed by illness. Morrow v. State, 56 Cr. R. 519, 120 S. W. 491.

In a prosecution for assault, evidence as to the character of the prosecuting witness held admissible. Simmons v. State, 58 Cr. R. 574, 126 S. W. 1157.

Cross-examination of a witness for the state permitted by the court held all that was necessary to show his physical and mental condition at the time of a homicide, so that there was no error in refusing to permit him to be asked what places or houses he visited the preceding night. Joseph v. State, 59 Cr. R. 82, 127 S. W. 171.

In a prosecution for violating the local option law, held, that a state's witness could be asked on cross-examination if he knew the usual price of a half pint of whisky. Walling v. State, 59 Cr. R. 279, 128 S. W. 624.

A witness cannot be cross-examined as to any fact which is collateral and irrelevant to the issue merely for the purpose of impeaching him. Dooley v. Boiders (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 690.

In a prosecution for rape, defendant held entitled to cross-examine prosecutrix directly as to the time of defendant's last act of intercourse with her. Foreman v. State, 61 Cr. R. 56, 134 S. W. 229.

A person accused of crime who becomes a witness can have his credibility tested on cross-examination the same as any other witness, and the state may show by his cross-examination, if it can, that statements on direct examination were not true. Weaver v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 785.

Where a person accused of burglary testified that he was selling a medicine, and that he did not know he needed a license, cross-examination to show that he did not know that a license was required held competent. Id.

The wife of the defendant who testified that she witnessed the homicide, may be asked on cross-examination if, about that time, she was not telephoning to a certain woman. Reagan v. State (Cr. App.) 157 S. W. 483.

67. Competency of impeaching evidence in general.—Evidence that an accusation of crime was pending against a witness is not competent to impeach him where it was not drawn out on cross-examination. Texas Brewing Co. v. Dickey (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 577.

Statements by sender of telegram that addressee had not been heard from for some time held inadmissible, in an action for nondelivery, to contradict testimony of addressee. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Gahan, 17 C. A. 657, 44 S. W. 933.

Evidence irrelevant and inadmissible for other purposes is inadmissible for the purpose of impeachment. Hoy v. State, 39 Cr. R. 340, 45 S. W. 916.

As affecting weight of evidence given by defendant's witnesses, plaintiff can show that they were discharged by defendant after the accident in which plaintiff was injured. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 265.

After defendant takes the stand, and testifies, the state may recall him to lay a predicate for his impeachment, the same as other witnesses. Clay v. State, 40 Cr. R. 593, 51 S. W. 370.

Evidence tending to discredit testimony of witness held not subject to objection that it was immaterial, irrelevant and hearsay. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 81.

It was not error to refuse instruction that witnesses may be impeached by proving their general reputation to be bad, or by proving contradictory statements. Bruce v. State (Cr. App.) 53 S. W. 867.

Hearsay testimony is admissible for impeaching purposes. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Jackson, 93 T. 262, 54 S. W. 1023.

A single witness may be introduced to impeach another witness. Bradshaw v. State (Cr. App.) 70 S. W. 215.

In a prosecution for assault with intent to rape, certain evidence as to defendant's witnesses not having formerly testified held admissible in impeachment. Dina v. State, 46 Cr. R. 402, 78 S. W. 229.

Evidence of accused's attempt to investigate the credibility of state's witness, elicited on accused's cross-examination, held admissible in proceedings for violating local option law. Terry v. State (Cr. App.) 79 S. W. 319.

Evidence to impeach defendant's testimony in a criminal prosecution held admissible. Emerson v. State, 54 Cr. R. 628, 114 S. W. 834.

Where no proper predicate was laid for impeaching testimony, it was properly excluded. Swift & Co. v. Martine, 53 C. A. 475, 117 S. W. 209.

In an action for wrongful attachment and execution, the report of a commercial agency held admissible to contradict plaintiff. Rainey v. Kemp, 54 C. A. 486, 118 S. W. 630.

A question asked to discredit plaintiff's testimony as to an occurrence at a certain place, his answer to which would have been that he was intoxicated while there, held properly excluded, the answer being too vague to discredit his testimony. El Paso & N. E. Ry. Co. v. Lumbley, 56 C. A. 413, 120 S. W. 1050.

In a homicide case, certain evidence held admissible to impeach a witness for accused. Long v. State, 59 Cr. R. 103, 127 S. W. 551, Ann. Cas. 1912A, 1244.

In an action on an assigned claim for broker's commissions, a letter sent by defendant to the broker containing nothing relative to the issue held inadmissible to impeach defendant as a witness. Riggins v. Sass (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1064.

Where accused testified that he had not been drinking on the night of the killing, the state held entitled to show that 30 minutes after the killing his breath smelt strongly of whisky, to affect his credibility. Payton v. State, 60 Cr. R. 475, 132 S. W. 127.

Where witnesses testified that they had seen a pistol on accused's person, accused was entitled to show that they were under guard as county convicts, and that the officer having them in charge was present, as tending to impeach witnesses, on the theory that, if they had seen the pistol on accused's person, they would have informed the officer at the time. Price v. State (Cr. App.) 147 S. W. 243.

Where, in a prosecution for conversion of a borrowed horse, accused testified that he had purchased the horse and that V., an absent witness, was present at the time, V.'s testimony at the examining trial that he knew nothing about the case was inadmissible to impeach accused. Gamboa v. State (Cr. App.) 155 S. W. 249.

In a prosecution for aggravated assault, where there was no evidence that the prosecuting witness was drunk at the time of the assault, evidence that, when he was drunk, he knew nothing until he became sober, was properly excluded. Caples v. State (Cr. App.) 155 S. W. 267; Click v. Same (Cr. App.) 155 S. W. 270; Russell v. Same, Id.; Thornton v. Same, Id.

68. Recalling witness for purpose of impeachment.—A witness may be recalled and cross-examined on matters to be used as a basis for contradiction. Crawleigh v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 28 C. A. 260, 67 S. W. 140.

It is not error for the court to permit a party to recall a witness of the adverse party for the purpose of laying a predicate for impeachment. J. M. Guffy Petroleum Co. v. Hamill, 42 C. A. 196, 94 S. W. 458.

Recalling a witness after he has been on the stand and fully examined and cross-examined by accused, for the purpose of getting him to contradict an alleged statement made by himself so as to impeach him by another witness, is a matter peculiarly within the trial court's discretion. Bills v. State, 55 Cr. R. 641, 117 S. W. 835.

69. Character as ground of impeachment.—Reputation of witness for honesty and fair dealing held inadmissible, when not in issue. Roach v. Crume (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 86.

70. — Witnesses who may be impeached as to character.—Where a party testifies in his own behalf, the adverse party may to impeach his credibility assail his general reputation for truth and veracity. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hailey (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1119.

71. — Character and reputation in general.—General reputation as to other qualities than truthfulness cannot be received to impeach a witness. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Runnels (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 394.

A witness cannot be impeached for proof of his general bad character, but the proof must be limited to his bad character for truth. Belt v. State, 47 Cr. R. 82, 78 S. W. 933.

Evidence of the husband's reputation for honesty and fair dealing held inadmissible in a prosecution for rape in which defendant contended that the charge was due to an attempt by the prosecuting witness and her husband to rob him. Smith v. State, 51 Cr. R. 137, 100 S. W. 924.

The mere fact that a witness has resided in a community but six months will not justify the exclusion of evidence as to his general reputation for truth and veracity, on the ground that he has not resided in the community long enough to establish a reputation. Alderson v. State, 53 Cr. R. 525, 111 S. W. 738.

While defendant's reputation for honesty and fair dealing could not be shown, it was error to exclude testimony of his general reputation for truth and veracity in the community by a witness who knew such reputation; defendant being an important witness upon the vital issues. Irvin v. Johnson, 56 C. A. 492, 120 S. W. 1085.

Evidence held inadmissible to affect the credibility of a state's witness. Kirksey v. State, 61 Cr. R. 641, 135 S. W. 577.

72. — Particular traits of character or habits.—Character as to honesty may be shown by general reputation and not by specific acts. Landa v. Obert, 25 S. W. 342, 5 C. A. 620; Railway Co. v. Raney, 25 S. W. 11, 86 T. 363.

Evidence held incompetent to impeach a witness. White v. Houston & T. C. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 382.

Testimony that prosecuting witness has reputation of being violent, quarrelsome, and a dangerous character held properly excluded. Padron v. State (Cr. App.) 55 S. W. 827.

Evidence that a witness was a "bum," and would not work, is not competent to impeach his veracity. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. White, 23 C. A. 280, 56 S. W. 204.

Evidence of a witness' general reputation for chastity held not admissible for impeachment in a prosecution for murder. Woodward v. State, 42 Cr. R. 188, 58 S. W. 135.

A witness cannot be impeached for truth by showing her reputation for chastity is bad, except by asking her, on cross-examination, if she is a common prostitute. Hall v. State, 43 Cr. R. 479, 66 S. W. 783.

The character of the prosecutrix for chastity in a prosecution for incest being immaterial, she could not be impeached by admissions of intercourse with other men. Richardson v. State, 44 Cr. R. 211, 70 S. W. 320.

Witnesses cannot be impeached by showing that their reputations for morality and honesty are bad. Locklin v. State (Cr. App.) 75 S. W. 305.

Evidence that prosecutor stated that he did not believe there was any heaven, or hell, or God, held inadmissible. Brundige v. State, 49 Cr. R. 596, 95 S. W. 527.

Error to cross-examine a witness as to whether he had associated with prostitutes, when his moral character was not in issue and his general reputation for truth and veracity was not attacked. Price v. Wakeham, 48 C. A. 339, 107 S. W. 132.

In an action by a married woman for injuries on a city sidewalk, she could not be impeached by evidence that a child was born to her three months after her marriage. City of San Antonio v. Wildenstein, 49 C. A. 514, 109 S. W. 231.

Evidence that a defendant was a "sporting man" was inadmissible to impeach his testimony. Kalteyer v. Mitchell (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 462.

Cross-examination of prosecutrix to show that she had had intercourse with other men held proper. Shoemaker v. State, 58 Cr. R. 518, 126 S. W. 887.

Defendant held not entitled to prove the reputation of certain persons for virtue and chastity. Florence v. State, 61 Cr. R. 238, 134 S. W. 689.

Exclusion of evidence to show that a witness of the state was a cocaine "fiend" held improper. Anderson v. State (Cr. App.) 144 S. W. 281.

Testimony that witness was addicted to drink habit held inadmissible to impeach her testimony. Lanham v. Lanham (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 635.

Evidence that a state's witness had been divorced from her first husband for her adultery was properly excluded. Knight v. State (Cr. App.) 147 S. W. 268.

A witness cannot be impeached by proof that he married a woman of questionable virtue. Williams v. State (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 763.

In a prosecution for perjury for having testified in his wife's action for a divorce that he had not had intercourse with her before their marriage in which the former wife had testified as to such intercourse, evidence that at the time of the trial her general reputation for chastity was bad was inadmissible. Spearman v. State (Cr. App.) 44 L. R. A. (N. S.) 243, 152 S. W. 915.

73. — Reputation as to veracity.—Testimony to impeach a witness for want of veracity is not admissible when based on the personal knowledge of the witness. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. White, 23 C. A. 280, 56 S. W. 204.

Rule respecting the impeachment of witnesses stated. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Garber, 51 C. A. 70, 111 S. W. 227.

That defendant's witnesses whose reputation was attacked lived in a distant state, and defendant was not notified before the trial that their credibility would be attacked, did not make the impeaching testimony inadmissible. Id.

Plaintiff held not required to develop his impeaching witnesses' means of knowledge of the general reputation of the witness sought to be impeached. Id.

Evidence of general reputation held admissible to rebut impeaching evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Adams, 42 C. A. 274, 114 S. W. 453.

A witness may be impeached by evidence as to his general reputation for truth and veracity. Id.

74. — Place and time of acquiring reputation.—The evidence of witnesses properly qualified, relating to the reputation or truthfulness and veracity of a person of mature age in the community in which he formerly lived, is admissible to impeach his present character. Such evidence is not entitled to so much weight as that relating to present reputation, and is subject to rebuttal by proof of present good reputation. Mynatt v. Hudson, 66 T. 66, 17 S. W. 396.

A judgment of conviction of petty theft, rendered eight years before witness testified, held inadmissible for purpose of impeachment. Herring v. Patten, 18 C. A. 147, 44 S. W. 50.

Testimony to impeach the general reputation of a witness for truthfulness, to be competent, should refer to about the time when the testimony is given. Robbins v. Ginnocchio (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 34.

A witness may be impeached by testimony as to his reputation for truth up to the time such witness testifies. Fossett v. State, 41 Cr. R. 400, 55 S. W. 497.

Evidence of crimes committed 15 or 17 years before held inadmissible to affect credibility. Bowers v. State (Cr. App.) 71 S. W. 234.

To impeach a witness by proof of his having been prosecuted for crime, the proof should be limited to prosecutions of recent date. Casey v. State, 50 Cr. R. 392, 97 S. W. 496.

Where accused became a witness in a prosecution for homicide in 1908, evidence of offenses alleged to have been committed by him in 1887 or 1888 and in 1894 held inadmissible to discredit him. Winn v. State, 54 Cr. R. 538, 113 S. W. 918.

Evidence of the conviction of a witness 18 or 20 years before held inadmissible for purposes of impeachment; the conviction being too remote. Richards v. State, 55 Cr. R. 278, 116 S. W. 587.

A witness for accused could not be impeached by evidence that about 30 years before he was convicted of horse theft, and was also indicted for murder, but not convicted. Gardner v. State, 55 Cr. R. 400, 117 S. W. 143.

Imprisonment 15 or 20 years ago is too remote to be shown to impeach a witness' credibility. Spiller v. State, 61 Cr. R. 555, 135 S. W. 549.

75. — Particular acts or facts.—A witness' reputation for truth cannot be impeached by testimony of one speaking only from personal knowledge. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Burnett (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 314; McMillion v. Cook, 118 S. W. 775.

On an issue as to the credibility of a witness, who had been elected to public office, testimony that he had been elected by disreputable rascals is irrelevant and improper. Kellogg v. McCabe, 92 T. 199, 47 S. W. 520.

As bearing on the credibility of a witness for accused, the prosecution may show that such witness left the state at the time of the convening of the grand jury. Gregory v. State (Cr. App.) 48 S. W. 577.

A witness, on cross-examination, may be asked what business he is engaged in. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Calnon, 20 C. A. 697, 50 S. W. 422.

An accused cannot impeach a prosecuting witness by showing at what saloon he loafed, and the amount he paid for his whisky. Drye v. State (Cr. App.) 55 S. W. 65.

Certain evidence held inadmissible for purpose of impeachment. Herod v. State (Cr. App.) 56 S. W. 59.

On a trial for perjury, a witness cannot be asked if she had not declared in the presence of a third person that she intended to mix powdered glass with her husband's bread anterior to his death, to impeach her, as a witness cannot be impeached on collateral issues. Flournoy v. State (Cr. App.) 59 S. W. 902.

On trial for an aggravated assault, it was error to allow the prosecution to prove that a witness for defendant was in a wine room drinking with a woman when a certain murder occurred; the time and place of the two crimes being different. Reed v. State, 42 Cr. R. 572, 61 S. W. 925.

Question, asked witness for defendant, whether she had so testified to an alibi for defendant in other cases, held not admissible to destroy her credibility. Mercer v. State (Cr. App.) 66 S. W. 555.

Evidence of a single transaction not material to the issue is inadmissible to impeach a witness. Harrington v. Clafin, 28 C. A. 100, 66 S. W. 898.

In an action for conversion, a witness who invoiced the goods for defendant cannot be discredited by showing that he was financially embarrassed and unable to secure a favorable report from mercantile agencies. Cooper Grocer Co. v. Britton (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 91.

The court did not err in permitting the prosecution to ask a witness for his defense, who was a gambler, what his occupation was. McLeod v. State (Cr. App.) 75 S. W. 522.

In an action on a fire policy, certain cross-examination of a witness for plaintiff and of plaintiff for himself held proper, as affecting their credibility. McCarty v. Hartford Fire Ins. Co., 33 C. A. 122, 75 S. W. 934.

In a prosecution for rape, the exclusion of evidence on cross-examination as to the occupation of prosecutrix held not reversible error. Carter v. State, 45 Cr. R. 430, 76 S. W. 437.

In a prosecution for murder, it was proper for the court to permit an officer in the company to which defendant belonged to explain how he paid $5 toward the prosecution. Kipper v. State, 45 Cr. R. 377, 77 S. W. 611.

Evidence of witness' remark, showing his opinion of an alleged murder, held inadmissible to impeach him. Vann v. State, 45 Cr. R. 434, 77 S. W. 813, 108 Am. St. Rep. 961.

It is proper, on cross-examination of a witness, to show her vocation, as that she keeps a dance house. Flores v. State (Cr. App.) 79 S. W. 808.

A witness cannot be impeached by showing that he had had difficulties and had made assaults. Gray v. State (Cr. App.) 86 S. W. 764.

Certain evidence held inadmissible to discredit defendant's testimony. Lewter v. Lindley (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 784.

Testimony about an immaterial matter held not competent to impeach a witness. Honeycutt v. State, 49 Cr. R. 300, 92 S. W. 421.

A witness in a civil action cannot be impeached by requiring him to testify to discreditable acts on his part having no material bearing on the issues involved in the case. W. L. Moody & Co. v. Rowland, 46 C. A. 412, 102 S. W. 911.

The taking from the jury of the question whether defendant assaulted a witness for plaintiff in attempting to collect a debt or for the purpose of intimidating and driving him away held error. Horsey v. C. E. Slayton & Co., 47 C. A. 212, 104 S. W. 503.

A witness may not be impeached by evidence of particular instance of untruthfulness. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Adams, 42 C. A. 274, 114 S. W. 453.

Impeaching evidence must be confined to witness' general reputation for truth, evidence as to specific criminal prosecution against him being inadmissible. Hazard v. Western Commercial Travelers' Ass'n, 54 C. A. 110, 116 S. W. 625.

Certain evidence to impeach a witness held inadmissible. Ralley v. State, 53 Cr. R. 1, 121 S. W. 1120, 125 S. W. 576.

To discredit a witness for the state, testifying that she had never been married and was the mother of a child, it was inadmissible to prove that her stepfather, who did not testify, was indicted for the crime of rape on her. Pollard v. State, 53 Cr. R. 299, 125 S. W. 390.

Under a rule stated, held, that a witness for accused could not be impeached by showing that an outsider had brought whisky to her house and that they had drunk it. Holland v. State, 60 Cr. R. 117, 131 S. W. 563.

A witness' fraudulent disposition of mortgaged property may be shown to impeach his testimony. Dulin v. State, 60 Cr. R. 376, 131 S. W. 1105.

Refusal to permit accused to inquire into the details of matters affecting a state witness' credibility held not error. Kirksey v. State, 61 Cr. R. 641, 135 S. W. 577.

That the husband of the prosecuting witness had obtained a divorce from her for adultery is inadmissible to impeach her. Earles v. State, 64 Cr. R. 537, 142 S. W. 1181.

A witness cannot be asked whether she has had improper intercourse with a certain man for the purpose of impeaching her credibility. Foote v. State (Cr. App.) 144 S. W. 275.

Though accused, on a trial for rape on a female under the age of 15 years, showed on her cross-examination that her act with him was the first act committed, he could not impeach her by showing her prior isolated acts of immorality. Bigliben v. State (Cr. App.) 151 S. W. 1044.

76. — Accusation or conviction of crime.—For the purpose of affecting his credibility a witness may be asked on cross-examination if he has been indicted for a felony. Linz v. Skinner, 11 C. A. 512, 32 S. W. 915.

A witness cannot be impeached by evidence that he has been prosecuted for forgery. Freedman v. Bonner (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 47.

A witness may not be impeached by proof that he has been indicted for misdemeanors. Lewis v. Bell (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 747; Wright v. State, 63 Cr. R. 429, 140 S. W. 1105; Holmes v. Same (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 926; Ablene & S. R. Co. v. Burlison (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 1177.

It was proper to permit the state to show that one of defendant's witnesses was under indictment for perjury, that he had then been brought from jail, and that the jury was then considering his case. Bratt v. State (Cr. App.) 41 S. W. 624.

Proof, on cross-examination, that witness had been acquitted of charge of carrying a pistol, held incompetent to affect his credibility. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Norris (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 708.

Prosecution may show on cross-examination that a witness had been previously convicted of a felony. Stanley v. State (Cr. App.) 44 S. W. 519.

Evidence of an offense that has never found its way into court held inadmissible for impeachment. Fields v. State, 39 Cr. R. 488, 46 S. W. 814; Wade v. Same, 48 Cr. R. 512, 90 S. W. 503.

A witness may be impeached by showing that he has been charged with crime. Combs v. State (Cr. App.) 49 S. W. 585.

A witness cannot be impeached by showing that he had made out and sworn to a false account against the estate as a witness on another trial. Preston v. State, 41 Cr. R. 300, 53 S. W. 127.

In civil actions proof that one a party and witness has been indicted, convicted, and sentenced to the penitentiary for theft, offered for purpose of discrediting his testimony, may be excluded. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. De Bord, 21 C. A. 691, 53 S. W. 587.

In a criminal case, it is competent to ask accused, or witnesses for him, on cross-examination, whether they had ever been indicted for other offenses. Sebastian v. State, 41 Cr. R. 248, 53 S. W. 875.

A question, for the purpose of impeachment, as to whether witness had been indicted for theft, should be excluded. Kruger v. Spachek, 22 C. A. 307, 54 S. W. 295.

It is permissible to ask a witness on a criminal trial if he has been charged with offenses going to show moral turpitude. Whitley v. State (Cr. App.) 56 S. W. 69.

A witness may be asked, on cross-examination, by way of impeachment, if he has been indicted for a felony. Cannon v. State, 41 Cr. R. 467, 56 S. W. 351.

It may be shown, to impeach defendant, that he had been confined in penitentiary charged with other offenses. Keaton v. State, 41 Cr. R. 621, 57 S. W. 1125.

On trial of a prosecution for gaming, a question put to a witness for the state, asking if he had ever been prosecuted for crimes, and for what crimes, and if he had ever been convicted, and for what, or had ever been in jail or a convict on a county farm, held improper. Young v. State (Cr. App.) 60 S. W. 767.

Testimony as to whether a witness had previously been convicted of perjury is admissible to show such witness' credibility. Chavarria v. State (Cr. App.) 63 S. W. 312.

On trial for theft and for being an accomplice and accessory of S. who was a witness in the case, two judgments against S. for theft were admissible to impeach his credibility. Chambers v. State (Cr. App.) 65 S. W. 192.

Plaintiff in an action for the death of his son cannot be cross-examined as to his indictment for burglary. Crawleigh v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 28 C. A. 260, 67 S. W. 140.

Defendant, in a prosecution for violating the local option law, cannot prove that a witness for the state has the reputation of violating the local option law. Smith v. State (Cr. App.) 77 S. W. 801.

A question to a witness as to whether or not he had not been indicted for perjury, and the offer of an indictment against him for purposes of impeachment, held inadmissible. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Bulger, 35 C. A. 478, 80 S. W. 557.

On a trial for perjury, held error to prevent defendant from showing that a witness testifying to the perjury had been convicted of an aggravated assault on his wife. Curtis v. State, 46 Cr. R. 480, 81 S. W. 29.

Where, after a trial of a criminal prosecution, one of defendant's witnesses was indicted for perjury committed thereon, the fact that he had been so indicted was inadmissible in a second trial of the case. Bennett v. State (Cr. App.) 81 S. W. 30.

On a criminal prosecution, it was error to admit evidence that one of defendant's witnesses had been indicted for playing cards. Webb v. State, 47 Cr. R. 305, 83 S. W. 394.

A conviction of simple assault in a justice's court does not impute moral turpitude, and cannot be shown to impeach a witness. Gray v. State (Cr. App.) 86 S. W. 764.

It was competent for the state to show that a witness for defendant had been charged with forgery as affecting his credibility. Willis v. State, 49 Cr. R. 139, 90 S. W. 1100.

It is error to permit defendant for the purpose of impeachment to prove on the cross-examination of plaintiff that he had been confined in jail for a misdemeanor, and that he had subsequently partially served a sentence therefor. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dumas (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 493.

The record of a court showing that a party had pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor held not admissible for the purpose of impeaching the party.—Id.

A witness may be impeached by showing that he has been charged with and prosecuted for felonies or misdemeanors involving moral turpitude. Turman v. State, 50 Cr. R. 7, 95 S. W. 533.

Questions inquiring of witness for the defense, if he had not been previously indicted for criminal assault upon a girl, and if he had not also been indicted for rape, held properly allowed, over objections based on the ground that the offenses did not show moral turpitude. Sue v. State, 52 Cr. R. 122, 105 S. W. 804.

Question inquiring of a witness if he had not previously been indicted for murder held proper, over an objection that it was not a crime carrying with it moral turpitude. Id.

For purpose of impeaching a witness, held it cannot be shown on his cross-examination that he had been indicted for a felony or other crime. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Creason, 101 T. 335, 107 S. W. 527.

A witness cannot be impeached by showing as a fact that he has committed larceny. Goad v. State, 52 Cr. R. 444, 108 S. W. 680.

Testimony of a witness that he had murdered a particular person held inadmissible to affect his credibility. Choice v. State, 54 Cr. R. 517, 114 S. W. 132, 135.

Evidence held admissible for impeachment purposes in a perjury trial. Hardin v. State, 55 Cr. R. 631, 117 S. W. 974.

A witness cannot be impeached by showing her conviction as a vagrant and prostitute and that her general reputation for chastity was bad. Ellis v. State, 56 Cr. R. 14, 117 S. W. 978, 133 Am. St. Rep. 953.

Where accused offered his codefendant, who had been acquitted, as witness, the state was properly allowed to prove on cross-examination that witness had been twice convicted before he had been finally acquitted. Early v. State, 56 Cr. R. 492, 120 S. W. 431.

A conviction of simple assault may not be used as impeaching testimony. Hardin v. State, 57 Cr. R. 401, 123 S. W. 613.

The pending of a criminal prosecution against a witness may be shown as affecting his credibility. Majors v. State, 58 Cr. R. 39, 124 S. W. 663.

A witness held not to be impeached by showing that he was indicted for gambling. Goodwin v. State, 58 Cr. R. 496, 126 S. W. 582.

Evidence that accused, on trial for burglary, had theretofore been indicted for burglary, held admissible to affect his credibility. Diseren v. State, 59 Cr. R. 149, 127 S. W. 1033.

An answer to a question held to involve moral turpitude on the part of a witness, and to be admissible. Keeton v. State, 59 Cr. R. 316, 123 S. W. 404.

A witness could be impeached by showing that he had recently been charged with arson. Hunter v. State, 59 Cr. R. 439, 129 S. W. 125.

Evidence of prior convictions on charges not involving moral turpitude are inadmissible to affect credibility. Hightower v. State, 60 Cr. R. 109, 131 S. W. 324.

It was proper to show that accused's witness had been imprisoned in a county jail and on the county farm. Kemper v. State (Cr. App.) 138 S. W. 1025.

The state could show upon cross-examination of an accused's witness that the witness had been indicted for swindling in selling sand packed cotton. Id.

That a witness has been charged with assault upon an outsider held inadmissible to impeach his testimony. Id.

It was improper to permit the state to show, on cross-examination of accused's witness, that witness as a saloon keeper had been indicted for violating the Sunday law. Id.

A witness may not be impeached by a mere showing that he has been indicted for a felony or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude. Wright v. State, 63 Cr. R. 429, 140 S. W. 1105.

Impeachment by showing criminal record of the plaintiff held improper. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Roberts (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 691.

It is error to allow a question on cross-examination as to whether the witness was not under indictment for swindling. McDonald v. Humphries (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 712.

Evidence of sales of liquor by a witness when such sale was only a misdemeanor, not involving moral turpitude held not competent to impeach his character. Dickson v. State (Cr. App.) 146 S. W. 914.

That a witness has been indicted or prosecuted for violation of the prohibition law, which is a misdemeanor only, cannot be proved to impeach his credibility. O'Neal v. State (Cr. App.) 146 S. W. 938.

Testimony in behalf of accused tending to impeach a witness for the state, by showing that he had been indicted for burglary, was admissible. Price v. State (Cr. App.) 147 S. W. 243.

That a criminal complaint had been filed against a witness, and no indictment found, could not be used against him for impeachment. King v. State (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 324.

Proof that a witness was under indictment can affect his credibility only where the offense is a felony, or, if a misdemeanor, an offense involving moral turpitude. Johnson v. State (Cr. App.) 149 S. W. 165.

A defendant in a criminal action held not entitled to show guilt of a state's witness of a crime for which he had been indicted, but not yet tried, in impeachment of his testimony. Hart v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 188.

It was error to permit a witness called by accused to be asked on cross-examination whether he had been indicted for gambling; gambling not being a felony, or involving moral turpitude. Miller v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 635.

A witness may be impeached by showing that he has been indicted, or is then under indictment on a felony charge. Ellis v. State (Cr. App.) 154 S. W. 1010.

The state may impeach accused's witness by showing, on cross-examination, that she had been convicted of running a disorderly house. Bogue v. State (Cr. App.) 155 S. W. 943.

A witness for the defense in a prosecution for murder may be asked to affect his credibility if he was not under indictment charged with seduction. Asbeck v. State (Cr. App.) 156 S. W. 925.

77. — Conduct of witness with reference to cause.—Evidence tending to impeach defendant's witness held admissible in a criminal case. Webb v. State (Cr. App.) 58 S. W. 82.

A witness' efforts to conceal the fact that he was a material witness may be shown on his cross-examination as a circumstance to indicate the improbability and lack of verity in his testimony. Rice v. State, 51 Cr. R. 255, 103 S. W. 1156.

A witness in a prosecution for murder held not to be impeached by showing that he did not report what he knew to the police. Ripley v. State, 58 Cr. R. 489, 126 S. W. 586.

In a suit to rescind an exchange of property, one of the defendants having testified adversely to plaintiff, he was entitled to show that such defendant had offered to furnish credible testimony for money or freedom from liability on the part of his brother. Pickens v. Major (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1040.

The credibility of a witness may be impeached by proof that he attempted to have a material witness evade the process of the court. First Bank of Springtown v. Hill (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 652.

78. — Conduct of witness inconsistent with testimony.—Where a witness for defendant testified, among other things, that deceased had confessed to him that he had stolen a head of cattle, the state could properly prove that deceased was not indicted for the offense, and that the witness was a member of the grand jury that investigated the case and had not called the attention of the grand jury to the fact of such confession, since it affected his credit. Kelly v. State (Cr. App.) 151 S. W. 304.

79. — Cross-examination for purpose of impeachment.—On a trial for perjury, a witness who has been convicted of murder cannot be questioned as to the details of the killing, since the circumstances of the killing were inadmissible. Flournoy v. State (Cr. App.) 59 S. W. 902.

Certain cross-examination for impeachment held error. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Adams, 42 C. A. 274, 114 S. W. 453.

Where appeal from the conviction is pending, held, defendant, who has testified he never committed such an offense as he is charged with, may not, on cross-examination, be asked if he was not convicted of such an offense. Jennings v. State, 55 Cr. R. 147, 115 S. W. 587.

An objection to a question on cross-examination as to whether witness had not been arrested and convicted of various offenses during the past two years held properly sustained. Ellis v. State, 56 Cr. R. 14, 117 S. W. 973, 133 Am. St. Rep. 953.

Questions asked accused's witness on cross-examination held improper. Kemper v. State (Cr. App.) 138 S. W. 1025.

On cross-examination by accused of a state's witness, it was proper to refuse to permit witness to be asked as to statements while in jail as to burglaries committed by the witness, but he could be asked whether he had committed more than 20 burglaries in a stated time. Holmes v. State (Cr. App.) 157 S. W. 487.

80. — Laying foundation for impeaching evidence.—It cannot be shown, unless it be drawn out on cross-examination, that an indictment for embezzlement had been presented against a witness, in order to discredit him. Texas Brewing Co. v. Dickey (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 577.

Evidence that witness had been guilty of an infamous crime is not competent to impeach his credibility, unless developed on cross-examination. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Durrett, 24 C. A. 103, 58 S. W. 187.

A witness cannot be impeached by showing indictments of perjury pending against him, except on cross-examination. Casey-Swasey Co. v. Virginia State Ins. Co., 33 C. A. 85, 75 S. W. 911.

Where in a statutory rape case prosecutrix was not asked if she had had intercourse with another, evidence to show intercourse with her was inadmissible to impeach her. Clardy v. State (Cr. App.) 147 S. W. 568.

81. — Competency of impeaching evidence in general.—Evidence that a witness was secretly conducting a negro club, in the absence of an offer to prove that the club was vicious, held incompetent to discredit his testimony. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Keller, 33 C. A. 353, 78 S. W. 801.

An impeaching witness may testify as to whether the general reputation of another witness for truth and veracity is such that he could be believed upon oath. Douglass v. State (Cr. App.) 98 S. W. 840.

In an action for deceit, defendant held not entitled to show the grounds of separation between plaintiff and her first husband, nor that she had testified differently in a prior case concerning the number of children she had borne. Western Cottage Piano & Organ Co. v. Anderson, 45 C. A. 513, 101 S. W. 1061.

Certain evidence held inadmissible as merely impeaching a witness upon an immaterial issue. Sue v. State, 52 Cr. R. 122, 105 S. W. 804.

An impeaching witness having testified concerning another's reputation for truth, etc., at a time not too remote from the trial, other impeaching testimony relating to a more remote time was admissible. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Garber, 51 C. A. 70, 111 S. W. 227.

In a trial for assault with intent to kill, certain testimony held inadmissible to refute the claim of a witness that he entered into a conspiracy through fear. Choice v. State, 54 Cr. R. 517, 114 S. W. 132, 135.

An encyclopedia article cannot be used to attack the reputation for truth and veracity of a gypsy witness. York v. State, 57 Cr. R. 484, 123 S. W. 1112.

The exclusion of certain testimony on cross-examination of a witness for the state, to discredit another witness for the state, held not error. Pollard v. State, 53 Cr. R. 299, 125 S. W. 390.

Evidence of a complaint inadvertently made against an innocent person held not admissible to affect witness' credibility. Kirksey v. State, 61 Cr. R. 641, 135 S. W. 577.

After introduction of evidence to show that a witness for the state was a cocaine "fiend," it was error to exclude expert testimony as to the effect of habitual use of opiates. Anderson v. State (Cr. App.) 144 S. W. 281.

82. — Competency of impeaching witnesses as to character or reputation.—Impeaching questions must be predicated on knowledge of a witness' general reputation for truth and veracity in the community where he lives. White v. Houston & T. C. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 382.

A witness is not competent to testify to the bad reputation of another for truth and veracity, where he has never heard the reputation of the other called in question. Tyler v. State (Cr. App.) 79 S. W. 558.

Qualifying language used by an impeaching witness held not to show that his testimony was not based on his personal knowledge. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Garber, 51 C. A. 70, 111 S. W. 227.

83. — Examination of impeaching witnesses as to character or reputation.—Where defendant's witness states that one of plaintiff's witnesses was untruthful, he may be asked on cross-examination if the latter was not given recommendation by defendant when he quit his job. Galveston, H. & H. R. Co. v. Bohan (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 1050.

A witness introduced to impeach the prosecutrix by showing her testimony on a former trial cannot be cross-examined by asking him if he believed the testimony of prosecutrix on the former trial. Hamilton v. State (Cr. App.) 51 S. W. 217.

Part of a question asked a witness to impeach defendant's credibility held improper. Stull v. State, 47 Cr. R. 547, 84 S. W. 1059.

No particular form of question is required in eliciting from an impeaching witness his knowledge of the general reputation of one sought to be impeached for truth and veracity. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Garber, 51 C. A. 70, 111 S. W. 227.

A question asked an impeaching witness as to the "reputation" of a witness sought to be impeached held not objectionable for omitting the word "general." Id.

Effort made to impeach prosecuting witness by contradictory statements held a sufficient attack to authorize the admission of evidence of his general reputation for truth and veracity. Alderson v. State, 53 Cr. R. 525, 111 S. W. 738.

Defendant held entitled to cross-examine an impeaching witness concerning the basis of his opinion before he was permitted to testify that defendant's general reputation was bad. McMillion v. Cook (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 775.

A witness having testified against defendant's reputation, defendant was not entitled to ask on cross-examination what it was about which witness claimed defendant had lied concerning witness' son. Id.

A question, calling for a witness' knowledge concerning defendant's general reputation for truth and veracity, held proper. Id.

A question asked of an impeaching witness held not objectionable as not limited to reputation concerning truth and veracity. Id.

Question whether, basing an opinion on the reputation of prosecuting witness, he was worthy of belief on oath, held properly excluded. Edgar v. State, 59 Cr. R. 491, 129 S. W. 141.

Evidence held incompetent to impeach a witness. Chandler v. State, 60 Cr. R. 329, 131 S. W. 598.

The manner of asking the questions in order to ascertain the general reputation of a witness in a community for truth and veracity stated. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 499.

84. — Evidence of accusation or conviction of crime.—Indictment against state's witness held admissible for purpose of attacking his credibility. Lee v. State, 45 Cr. R. 51, 73 S. W. 407.

In impeaching a witness by showing, after his denial thereof, his former conviction of a larceny, it is not necessary to produce the jail book. Wilson v. State (Cr. App.) 78 S. W. 232.

Where a witness on cross-examination denies that he has been previously convicted of a larceny, he may be impeached by the record of conviction. Id.

A copy of a judgment of conviction, showing the conviction of a witness of a felony, is admissible for the purpose of impeachment. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Gibson, 42 C. A. 306, 93 S. W. 469.

Certain record evidence showing plaintiff's conviction held properly excluded. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Adams, 42 C. A. 274, 114 S. W. 453.

Mere rumor of accusation of crime is not a basis for impeachment of a witness. Shepard v. State, 56 Cr. R. 604, 120 S. W. 446.

A judgment of conviction of a witness for a felony is the best evidence to prove his disqualification to testify, and not the admission of the witness himself. King v. State, 57 Cr. R. 363, 123 S. W. 135.

The record of a judgment of conviction of a felony held admissible to discredit a witness. Huff v. McMichael (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 574.

Another witness could not testify that he had heard that a particular witness had been indicted for rape; a copy of the indictment being the best evidence of that fact, unless the witness himself was questioned thereon. Ward v. State (Cr. App.) 146 S. W. 931.

In a prosecution for rape, the court's charge in a previous homicide case against the principal witness for the state, which submitted the issue of his insanity, and the verdict of not guilty in that case, were inadmissible, in connection with other evidence tending to discredit the witness. Caton v. State (Cr. App.) 147 S. W. 590.

Disqualification of a witness by having served a prison sentence held insufficiently proven by the testimony of the witness upon objection that the record was the best evidence. Harris v. State (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 1071.

In the absence of proper objection, the fact that a witness has been convicted of felony may be shown by parol. Chambers v. Wyatt (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 864.

The original indictment against a witness for a felony, returned within two years, was not too remote to be admissible as impeaching evidence. Robinson v. State (Cr. App.) 156 S. W. 212.

85. — Rebuttal of evidence impeaching character.—Where defendant, to impeach a state's witness, shows that he has been indicted, the state may show by the witness himself, without producing the record, that he has been acquitted. Burks v. State (Cr. App.) 49 S. W. 389.

Evidence that a witness was acquainted in the neighborhood, and had formerly resided at a place which he registered as his residence, held admissible in rebuttal. Gay v. State, 40 Cr. R. 242, 49 S. W. 612.

Testimony offered in embezzlement prosecution held properly rejected. Trace v. State, 43 Cr. R. 48, 62 S. W. 1067.

Certain evidence corroborative of witness held competent; his veracity having been impeached on cross-examination. Kipper v. State, 45 Cr. R. 377, 77 S. W. 611.

It was not error to permit a witness to be asked if he was a stranger in the county, and did not have an uncle living there. Archibald v. State, 47 Cr. R. 153, 83 S. W. 189.

Defendant held entitled to give evidence of his general reputation for truth and veracity after the introduction of the state's evidence in rebuttal. Neill v. State, 49 Cr. R. 219, 91 S. W. 791.

Certain evidence held admissible in rebuttal to impeach a witness. Beeson v. State, 60 Cr. R. 39, 130 S. W. 1006.

Exclusion of testimony controverting a showing that a witness assaulted another held error. Kemper v. State (Cr. App.) 138 S. W. 1025.

Where, in a prosecution for unlawfully carrying a pistol, defendant attempted to reflect upon a witness' testimony by showing that she met him at night, she was properly permitted to testify that defendant had before then told her he was a single man, but that she later learned he was married. Valigura v. State (Cr. App.) 153 S. W. 856.

Where the defendant on cross-examination of a witness for the state elicited that he had been indicted for running a gambling place, and that he was an officer at the time, the state could show that the case had been dismissed, and that he was at the time only a special man detailed to keep order at the place. Johnson v. State (Cr. App.) 153 S. W. 875.

Where defendant, to lessen the force of testimony of witnesses for the state, proved that on the night of the burglary they had and drank intoxicating liquor, the state was properly permitted to prove that they did not become intoxicated. Holmes v. State (Cr. App.) 156 S. W. 1172.

86. — Evidence to sustain character of witness impeached.—Self-serving declarations held inadmissible in contradiction of impeaching testimony. Henry v. Bounds (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 120.

Where irrelevant evidence that witness has been convicted of a misdemeanor was introduced to impeach his testimony, the witness can be allowed to explain. Houston E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Runnels (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 394.

Impeachment of a witness by proof of his conviction of a felony held not to authorize introduction of record of the examining trial to support his testimony by showing that it was the same as that then given. Scott v. State (Cr. App.) 47 S. W. 531.

Evidence of a witness' general reputation for veracity is admissible where testimony has been offered to show that he had been charged with criminal offenses. Luttrell v. State, 40 Cr. R. 651, 51 S. W. 930.

A witness who knows the reputation of another witness may testify to the fact of such reputation, even though he has never heard it discussed by others. Reid v. State (Cr. App.) 57 S. W. 662.

Where a witness' reputation for truth had been attacked, testimony supporting his character is admissible. Sheppard v. Love (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 67.

Evidence that plaintiff's reputation for truth and veracity was good held admissible in view of the evidence offered by defendant showing his conviction of crime. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dumas (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 493.

To permit plaintiff to show on redirect examination that he was not guilty of a crime held not error in view of defendant proving plaintiff's conviction on his cross-examination. Id.

Where a state's witness had been rigidly cross-examined in a manner bringing him into disrepute, introduction by state of evidence showing his good reputation for truth held not error. Harris v. State, 49 Cr. R. 338, 94 S. W. 227.

When it is sought to support the reputation of a witness, it must be shown that the supporting witnesses are acquainted with his general reputation for truth and veracity. Wolff v. Western Union Telegraph Co., 42 C. A. 30, 94 S. W. 1062.

Where an attorney who had been counsel for a witness, who had theretofore been indicted for theft, testified that he had investigated the facts in the cases against the witness, and that they had been dismissed, his further testimony that there were no facts to substantiate the charges was properly excluded as without the scope of the investigation. Howard v. State, 53 Cr. R. 378, 111 S. W. 1038.

In a prosecution for theft of a mower, testimony by the officer who recovered it from accused's house as to statements by the owner as to how he identified the mower held not admissible; accused not being present when such statements were made. White v. State, 57 Cr. R. 196, 122 S. W. 391.

Where the veracity of the prosecutrix has been attacked, the state may show that her reputation for truth and veracity is good. Helton v. State (Cr. App.) 125 S. W. 21.

Exclusion of testimony explaining why accused's witness killed two men and was himself shot held error. Kemper v. State (Cr. App.) 138 S. W. 1025.

A question and answer on cross-examination held not an attack on the character of a witness, so as to justify evidence of his reputation for truth. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Nappier (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 564.

The state could introduce evidence to support a state's witness sought to be impeached by proving his reputation for truth and veracity. Nesbitt v. State (Cr. App.) 144 S. W. 944.

A person who has lived for a great many years in the same community as a witness, and has never heard any one talk about the witness' reputation, is competent to prove his good reputation for truth and veracity. Dickson v. State (Cr. App.) 146 S. W. 914.

In a burglary trial, evidence as to the trial and acquittal of another who was jointly indicted with accused was not admissible to relieve such other person from any inference affecting his credibility. Payne v. State (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 694.

Where one of the defendants in her testimony several times referred to the testimony of plaintiff as untrue, evidence supporting plaintiff's reputation for truth and veracity was admissible. Hearn v. Harless (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 613.

87. — Effect of Impeachment of character.—Conviction of witness not shown by record goes to his credibility, but not to his qualification. McNeal v. State (Cr. App.) 43 S. W. 792.

That a witness is sought to be impeached or contradicted does not necessarily require the jury to disbelieve his testimony. Franks v. State, 48 Cr. R. 211, 87 S. W. 148.

88. Interest as ground of Impeachment.—It is competent to ask questions for the purpose of showing a bias upon the part of the witness. Wentworth v. Crawford, 11 T. 127; Rhine v. Blake, 59 T. 240; Evansich v. G., C. & S. F. R. R. Co., 61 T. 24.

On a trial for murder, held competent for the state to ask a witness if she was influenced to falsify her testimony because of fear of her uncles, and had not so stated, and on her denial to impeach her by a third party. Smith v. State (Cr. App.) 68 S. W. 267.

Impeachment of a prosecuting witness on facts tending to show bias or interest held proper, notwithstanding a witness may not be impeached on collateral and immaterial matters. Green v. State, 54 Cr. R. 3, 111 S. W. 933.

On cross-examination of a witness in a criminal prosecution, motives which influence his testimony may be shown. Pope v. State (Cr. App.) 143 S. W. 611.

Even where a witness in a criminal prosecution admits bias its extent may be shown on cross-examination. Id.

The state may show, on the cross-examination of H., a witness for accused on trial for violation of the local option law, that H. has been indicted for selling liquor in violation of the local option law, and that a third person who has testified for accused is also a witness for H., to show the status and interest of the witness and the third person. O'Neal v. State (Cr. App.) 146 S. W. 938.

The interest, feeling, and animus of a witness is always material to enable the jury to properly weigh his testimony. O'Neal (Cr. App.) 146 S. W. 938; Freeman v. Moreman (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1045; Lee v. State (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 706.

89. — Interest of party of record.—In an action against a carrier for injuries to plaintiff's horses, cross-examination of plaintiff to show that he had had a great number of suits against defendant company, etc., held inadmissible. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Dishman, 41 C. A. 250, 91 S. W. 828.

In a suit for a balance due on a sale, as affecting plaintiff's credibility, it was proper to prove that he had stated to his partner, who was interested, that there would be a lawsuit, or trouble about it, and he would give him one-half of what he could beat defendant out of. Hamilton v. Dismukes, 53 C. A. 129, 115 S. W. 1181.

Where a contestant of a will testified in support of the contest, it was proper to show an agreement with other contestants as to benefits to be received in case of a defeat of probate. Allday v. Cage (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 838.

90. — Interest in event of witness not party to record.—Evidence of conversations of witnesses held admissible as going to his credit. Sims v. State (Cr. App.) 44 S. W. 522. Evidence held competent to show the interest of one of defendant's witnesses. Sims v. State (Cr. App.) 45 S. W. 705.

Evidence of a witness' general character held incompetent to show that he had no means, and did nothing to obtain the money which it was claimed he was given for testifying. White v. Houston & T. C. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 382.

Cross-examination in prosecution for aggravated assault held proper, as affecting witness' credibility. Pace v. State (Cr. App.) 79 S. W. 531.

On a prosecution for murder held error not to permit defendant to show statements, made by a witness for the state, tending to show his animosity for defendant. Brownlee v. State, 48 Cr. R. 408, 87 S. W. 1153.

Evidence that a witness had agreed for a money consideration to testify for a party held admissible. Routledge v. Rambler Automobile Co. (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 749.

In a prosecution for violating the local option law it was competent for the state to prove on cross-examination of a witness that he asked the prosecuting witness what he swore in the grand jury room and that he answered: "Yes, sir." Owens v. State (Cr. App.) 96 S. W. 31.

Exclusion of evidence that a witness who had testified for a party was an attorney in the case for the party under an employment for a contingent fee held prejudicial error. Pecos River R. Co. v. Harrington, 48 C. A. 346, 99 S. W. 1050.

Sustaining objection to a question as to the amount of a witness' commission in a prosecution for keeping a disorderly house held not error. Tacchini v. State, 59 Cr. R. 55, 126 S. W. 1139.

The state may show, on the cross-examination of a witness for accused, his prejudice in favor of accused. Cain v. State (Cr. App.) 153 S. W. 147.

91. — Employment by or other contractual relation with party.—A witness cannot be impeached by showing that he was employed and discharged at an indefinite time by the party against whom he testified. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. St. Clair, 21 C. A. 345, 51 S. W. 666.

A section foreman held to be an interested witness in an action against a railroad company in whose behalf he testified. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Johnson, 23 C. A. 160, 55 S. W. 772.

Where an attorney states that he has an interest contingent on recovery for his fee, it is proper to show, on cross-examination, the extent of such interest. City of San Antonio v. Porter, 24 C. A. 444, 59 S. W. 922.

In action by brakeman against railroad company, proof that company's physician had examined brakeman, looking to a settlement, held admissible. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Scott, 30 C. A. 496, 71 S. W. 26.

In an action against a railroad for injuries, held proper for plaintiff to show on cross-examination of some of defendant's witnesses that they were not subpoenaed, but were in its employ, and attended at its request and in expectation that it would pay them. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith, 31 C. A. 332, 72 S. W. 418.

In an action against a railroad for injuries, plaintiff was properly allowed to ask one of defendant's witnesses whether or not, under a general rule of defendant, negligent employes were discharged, and had to do their best as witnesses for the company, or get out. Id.

On the issue of the incompetency of a brakeman, held not error to permit a witness testifying to his good reputation to state specific acts of negligence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hays, 40 C. A. 162, 89 S. W. 29.

It is proper, on cross-examination, to ask a witness if he is in the employ of the party calling him, and if he was paid to come to court and testify. Id.

In a prosecution for pursuing the business of selling intoxicating liquors, it is proper cross-examination to ask the prosecuting witness if he was not engaged by officers to help catch persons violating the liquor law; such question tending to show his interest or bias. Whitehead v. State (Cr. App.) 147 S. W. 583.

Where interested witnesses testified as to the value of land, it was within the discretion of the court to permit questions on cross-examination as to what they would give for it to test their credibility. Martin v. Ince (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1178.

92. — Friendly or unfriendly relations with or feeling toward party.—Evidence held inadmissible to show bias of prosecuting witness against defendant. Forrester v. State, 38 Cr. R. 245, 42 S. W. 400.

Testimony that a witness expressed a belief of the guilt of one charged with murder, and desire to see him hung, held admissible to prove bias. Reddick v. State (Cr. App.) 47 S. W. 993.

A witness can be cross-questioned as to his friendliness or other feelings towards the parties. Cox v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 20 C. A. 250, 48 S. W. 745.

Credibility of witness cannot be attacked by proof of grounds for prejudice of which he had no knowledge. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Patterson (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 675.

The refusal to admit evidence that the prosecuting witness in a prosecution for a violation of the local option law was in a similar line of business with defendant, and had entered into a conspiracy to break him up, held error. Lyon v. State (Cr. App.) 61 S. W. 125.

In a prosecution for assault with intent to murder, the state was properly permitted to show by the prosecutrix, who was hostile toward it, the state of feeling existing between her and accused. Baines v. State, 43 Cr. R. 490, 66 S. W. 847.

Evidence of the relations existing between deceased and witnesses for the state and defendant and his associates held admissible to discredit the witnesses in a prosecution for homicide. Jackson v. State (Cr. App.) 67 S. W. 497.

In a prosecution for embezzlement, question intended to show ill feeling of witness toward accused held properly excluded. Jackson v. State, 44 Cr. R. 259, 70 S. W. 760.

Testimony of a witness as to whether he would have voluntarily come a long distance at defendant's request to testify in the case, as he had done for plaintiff, held admissible. Wooley v. Bell, 33 C. A. 399, 76 S. W. 797.

Certain evidence held admissible to show the prejudice of a witness for the state. Sapp v. State (Cr. App.) 77 S. W. 456.

In an action against a railroad for killing plaintiff's stock, certain questions asked plaintiff on cross-examination held improperly excluded. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Wilson, 37 C. A. 405, 84 S. W. 274.

In a criminal case, held proper to admit certain testimony of a witness, on cross-examination, as tending to show her interest in the case. Sexton v. State, 48 Cr. R. 497, 88 S. W. 348.

Unfriendly feelings entertained by a material witness toward the party against whom he testifies are material, as affecting the weight to be given to his testimony. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. McCarty, 40 C. A. 364, 89 S. W. 805.

Evidence of conspiracy to prosecute, and that the prosecution was a part thereof, held admissible. Baughman v. State, 49 Cr. R. 33, 90 S. W. 166.

In a prosecution for homicide, certain evidence held admissible as showing animus on the part of a witness for the defense and favoritism to defendant. Sue v. State, 52 Cr. R. 122, 105 S. W. 804.

It is always competent to prove by proper evidence the hostile attitude of a witness either to a party or to the cause to affect the witness' credibility. Burnett v. State, 53 Cr. R. 515, 112 S. W. 74.

In a prosecution for selling liquor to a minor, certain testimony held admissible to show animus of a witness. Gelber v. State, 56 Cr. R. 460, 120 S. W. 863.

The state was properly permitted to ask a witness for accused whether he was not the man who went to defendant's daughter just after the killing and told her not to tell anything on him, to affect the witness' credibility. Pearson v. State, 56 Cr. R. 607, 120 S. W. 1004.

Accused can show that a state's witness had requested accused to furnish money to pay witness' fines, and became angered when he refused to do so. O'Neal v. State, 57 Cr. R. 249, 122 S. W. 386.

The testimony as to the friendship between a state's witness and decedent is immaterial, especially where the witness states that he was friendly with decedent. Welch v. State, 57 Cr. R. 111, 122 S. W. 880.

The refusal of a party to submit the controversy to arbitration held not to justify an inference of bias on his part. Mortimore v. Affleck (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 51.

It will be competent, as showing bias or prejudice, to prove threats against accused by a witness for the state, if limited to such end. Pollard v. State, 58 Cr. R. 299, 125 S. W. 390.

It was not error to ask accused's witness on cross-examination if he had not testified, on an application for habeas corpus, to facts beneficial to accused. Kemper v. State (Cr. App.) 138 S. W. 1025.

The animus towards decedent of a witness testifying for accused held a material inquiry. Hickey v. State, 62 Cr. R. 568, 138 S. W. 1051.

In an action for the wrongful seizure by defendant of plaintiffs' goods, testimony of the relations of a witness to defendant held admissible to show prejudice. Souther v. Hunt (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 359.

In a prosecution for forgery, certain evidence impeaching one of the state's witnesses held inadmissible. Barber v. State, 64 Cr. R. 89, 142 S. W. 582.

The animus of the prosecuting witness toward accused held material as affecting his credibility. Earles v. State, 64 Cr. R. 537, 142 S. W. 1181.

The state held properly permitted to ask a witness if he and accused were good friends. Moore v. State (Cr. App.) 144 S. W. 598.

In an action for personal injuries, questions on cross-examination of plaintiff's witness, who had contradicted all of defendant's witnesses as to whether witness and his relatives had not sued defendant and other railroads for personal injuries, held admissible as bearing on his bias or hostility. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Burk (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 600.

In a trial for homicide, the father of deceased testifying for the state should, in absence of plea of privilege, be permitted to answer whether since the homicide he had attempted to shoot defendant, as tending to show his animosity or ill will against defendant. Smith v. State (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 722.

In a murder trial, evidence that accused's uncle gave one of the accused's witnesses a pair of shoes was admissible for the state to show the relation existing between witness and accused's family. Burnam v. State (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 757.

Testimony as to the friendship between a witness and the defendant was admissible as bearing on his credit. Foster v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 936.

93. — Cross-examination to show interest or bias.—Cross-examination of witness to show bias held proper. Lowry v. State, 53 Cr. R. 562, 110 S. W. 911; Green v. Same, 54 Cr. R. 3, 111 S. W. 933; Combest v. Wall (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 354; Gelber v. State, 56 Cr. R. 460, 120 S. W. 863; Miller v. Freeman (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 302; Clegg v. Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co., Id. 1098; Millican v. State, 63 Cr. R. 440, 140 S. W. 1136; Pope v. Same (Cr. App.) 143 S. W. 611.

In an action against a railroad for personal injuries, plaintiff held entitled on cross-examination to ask certain questions of witnesses in order to test their credibility. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Malone (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 958.

Accused in a prosecution for carrying knucks held entitled to cross-examine a witness as to a conversation occurring just before the fight in which the knucks were seen. Pope v. State (Cr. App.) 143 S. W. 611.

The adverse side may cross-examine a witness fully to show his bias, interest, and prejudice, or any other mental state or status, which if fairly construed might tend to affect his credibility. Irvin v. State (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 589.

The court properly refused to permit a witness for defendant, sought to be impeached by the state on cross-examination, to go into details as to matters inquired about, solely to lay a predicate for impeachment. Id.

Prosecuting witness having testified on cross-examination that he felt unkindly toward accused and wanted him convicted, it was not error to refuse to permit further cross-examination with reference to the witness' bias. Clark v. State (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 801.

The exclusion of testimony on the cross-examination of a physician testifying for plaintiff suing for a personal injury, tending to show interest and bias, held within the discretion of the trial court. St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Clifford (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1163.

94. — Laying foundation for impeaching evidence as to interest or bias.—Testimony impeaching a state's witness was properly excluded where no proper foundation was laid for it. Nite v. State, 41 Cr. R. 340, 54 S. W. 763; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. La Prelle, 22 C. A. 593, 55 S. W. 125.

The admission of evidence of a collateral fact, on cross-examination of a witness, to prove his friendship to one of the plaintiffs, which he had already admitted, held prejudicial error. Hooks & Hines v. Pafford, 34 C. A. 516, 78 S. W. 991.

In a criminal case, the feelings of prosecutrix toward accused may be shown on her examination as a witness, but not as an independent matter pursuant to an offer so to do without designating any particular witness. Coffman v. State, 51 Cr. R. 478, 103 S. W. 1128.

In a prosecution for rape, evidence of disclosures of accused to witness concerning the alleged familiarity of M. with prosecutrix held inadmissible, in the absence of proof that the disclosures were brought to the knowledge of the prosecutrix, or that they procured or induced the prosecution. Bader v. State, 57 Cr. R. 293, 122 S. W. 555.

Statements antedating a transaction, and showing motive or feelings, are original testimony. Cockrell v. State, 60 Cr. R. 124, 131 S. W. 221.

95. — Competency of impeaching evidence as to interest or bias.—Refusal to permit answers to irrelevant question is not error, where witness was asked no other questions making it relevant. Owens v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 399.

Evidence that money was furnished a witness to induce him to testify held competent. White v. Houston & T. C. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 382.

Evidence to contradict a witness' denial that he was paid to testify, and that he displayed money to show it, and to show he had no means, and did nothing to obtain money, held competent. Id.

Evidence of the possession of a pistol by a witness for the defense, in a prosecution for assault with intent to murder, held inadmissible to show that the witness was acting with defendant. Collins v. State (Cr. App.) 66 S. W. 840.

In an action against a railroad for the destruction of plaintiff's crop by diverting water through a ditch onto plaintiff's land, certain evidence held competent to show that a witness was interested with plaintiff in another suit. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Longbottom (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 542.

On a criminal prosecution, certain evidence tending to discredit a witness for defendant held erroneously admitted. Swain v. State, 48 Cr. R. 98, 86 S. W. 335.

Details of difficulty between prosecutor and accused held inadmissible, unless illustrating some phase of the evidence. Henderson v. State, 49 Cr. R. 269, 91 S. W. 569.

Admission of testimony as to statement made by witness in absence of accused for purpose of impeachment held error. Woodward v. State, 50 Cr. R. 294, 97 S. W. 499.

Defendant in an action against a railway company for false imprisonment was entitled to show that one of plaintiff's witnesses had a suit against defendant similar to the suit of plaintiff. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cherry, 44 C. A. 232, 97 S. W. 712.

Declarations of witnesses made out of court are admissible to show their bias, prejudice, or favoritism though made in defendant's absence. Porch v. State, 51 Cr. R. 7, 99 S. W. 1122.

In an action against a railroad for personal injuries received by plaintiff, a United States railway postal clerk, through the derailment of the car in which he was working, the exclusion of certain evidence held error. St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Sproule, 45 C. A. 615, 101 S. W. 268.

A witness should not be permitted to testify that certain other witnesses who testified against accused were hostile to him, unless the witness' knowledge as to such feeling, attitude, and disposition of such other witnesses is shown. Burnett v. State, 53 Cr. R. 515, 112 S. W. 74.

On a trial for assault with intent to rape, certain evidence held competent as affecting the credibility of a witness for accused. Warren v. State, 54 Cr. R. 443, 114 S. W. 380.

In an action by a husband for personal injuries to his wife, certain evidence held inadmissible to show an attempt of the husband to defraud defendant. Citizens' Ry. & Light Co. v. Johns, 52 C. A. 489, 116 S. W. 62.

In an action by a husband for personal injuries to his wife, certain evidence held not admissible to show his prejudice. Id.

Evidence of the acts of a mob of which certain witnesses were a part held admissible to show prejudice and ill will toward accused. Streight v. State, 62 Cr. R. 453, 138 S. W. 742.

Statements of a witness called for the accused, in a prosecution for murder, showing bias on behalf of such accused, held admissible to affect the weight of his testimony. Renn v. State, 64 Cr. R. 639, 143 S. W. 167.

Where the issue was whether a third person was the agent of plaintiff or defendant, declarations of the third person held admissible to affect his credibility as a witness, but not to show agency. Sackville v. Storey (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 239.

In a personal injury action by a passenger, proof that the defendant's doctor advised a compromise in settlement is admissible to show his bias and interest. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Matchett (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1113.

96. — Rebuttal of evidence of interest or bias.—The answers of a witness having been read by one party to discredit another witness, the adversary may introduce in evidence the further answers of the witness tending to show his own temper and feeling toward the witness he thus seeks to discredit. Railway Co. v. Coon, 69 T. 730, 7 S. W. 492.

Where the prosecutrix, on a prosecution for an attempt to procure an abortion, testified on cross-examination that the attorneys for the state had consented to dismiss the adultery case against her if she would testify against defendant, held not error to permit the state to show that its attorneys had told her to swear to the truth. Fretwell v. State, 43 Cr. R. 501, 67 S. W. 1021.

Where, on trial for homicide, the state has attempted to impeach a witness on her denial that she had stated that she was influenced to testify falsely by fear of relatives, accused may show by such relatives that they had not threatened witness. Smith v. State (Cr. App.) 68 S. W. 267.

Where defendant, on trial for theft, proved that a witness had expended $50 in coming to court to testify, it was proper for the state to prove that such amount had been reimbursed to witness by citizens. Mercer v. State, 45 Cr. R. 460, 76 S. W. 469.

Where defendant, in an action for injuries, attempted, on cross-examination of physicians, to show a conspiracy to testify for plaintiff, it was proper to allow one of them to testify that, when he was called on by the other to wait on plaintiff, it was not the first time he had been called on by physicians. Denison & S. Ry. Co. v. Powell, 35 C. A. 454, 80 S. W. 1054.

Where accused attempted to show that a witness for the state was prejudiced against him, the state was properly permitted to show by the witness that he had no ill will against accused. Cain v. State (Cr. App.) 153 S. W. 147.

Where defendant elicited from a witness on cross-examination that he had aided in an attempt to cause defendant's certificate as a teacher to be canceled, the witness was properly permitted on re-examination to state that he did so because defendant was charged with certain offenses. Manley v. State (Cr. App.) 153 S. W. 1138.

Where, on a trial for assault, accused, for the purpose of showing animus and prejudice, questioned the prosecuting witness relative to his calling accused a vile name, it was not error to permit the prosecuting witness to explain that he did so because he believed accused was implicated in the separation of himself and his wife. Comegys v. State (Cr. App.) 156 S. W. 642.

97. — Evidence to show want of interest or freedom from bias.—As bearing on the credibility of a witness, he may show that he is not interested in the suit. Tomson v. Heidenheimer, 16 C. A. 114, 40 S. W. 425.

Where the state was permitted to prove that the witness had become responsible for defendant's attorney's fee, the witness should have been allowed to state on cross-examination why he became so responsible. Oxsheer v. State, 38 Cr. R. 499, 43 S. W. 335.

In prosecution for murder, certain evidence held competent for impeachment. Kipper v. State, 45 Cr. R. 377, 77 S. W. 611.

A witness for accused may not be supported by proof that on a former trial she had been summoned as a witness and had testified for the state. Welch v. State, 57 Cr. R. 111, 122 S. W. 880.

98. Inconsistency of statements as ground of impeachment.—A witness may be impeached by his own contradictory statement to which his attention has been called. Smith v. Bank, 74 T. 457, 12 S. W. 113; Railway Co. v. Dyer, 76 T. 156, 13 S. W. 377; Easton v. Dudley, 78 T. 236, 14 S. W. 583; Cross v. McKinley, 81 T. 332, 16 S. W. 1023; Cherry v. Butler, 4 App. C. C. § 271, 17 S. W. 1090; Bonner v. Mayfield, 82 T. 234, 13 S. W. 305; Dooley v. Miller, 21 S. W. 157, 2 C. A. 132; Ryan v. State (Cr. App.) 49 S. W. 599; Patterson v. Same, 60 S. W. 557; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Washington, 94 T. 510, 63 S. W. 534; Guinn v. State (Cr. App.) 65 S. W. 376; Shaffer v. Same, id. 1072; Long v. Long, 30 C. A. 368, 70 S. W. 587; Lewandowski v. State (Cr. App.) 72 S. W. 594; Dawson v. Same, 74 S. W. 912; Locklin v. Same, 75 S. W. 305; Jenkins v. Same, 45 Cr. R. 173, 75 S. W. 312; Thompson v. Same, 48 Cr. R. 16, 85 S. W. 1059; Randell v. Same, 49 Cr. R. 261, 90 S. W. 1012; McIntyre v. Same, 50 Cr. R. 83, 94 S. W. 1048; Maxcy & Anderson v. Fairbanks Co., 42 C. A. 254, 95 S. W. 632; Adams v. State, 52 Cr. R. 13, 105 S. W. 197; Hoskins v. Velasco Nat. Bank, 48 C. A. 246, 107 S. W. 598; Green v. State, 53 Cr. R. 473, 110 S. W. 925; Sanders v. Same, 54 Cr. R. 101, 112 S. W. 68, 22 L. R. A. (N. S.) 243; High v. Same, 54 Cr. R. 333, 112 S. W. 939; Hardin v. Same, 55 Cr. R. 631, 117 S. W. 974; Deneaner v. Same, 58 Cr. R. 624, 127 S. W. 201; Long v. Same, 59 Cr. R. 103, 127 S. W. 551, Ann. Cas. 1912A, 1244; Lane v. Same, 59 Cr. R. 595, 129 S. W. 353; Pratt v. Same, 59 Cr. R. 635, 129 S. W. 364; Lone Star Lignite Mining Co. v. Caddell (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 841; Gross v. State, 61 Cr. R. 176, 33 L. R. A. (N. S.) 477, 135 S. W. 373; Treadway v. Same (Cr. App.) 144 S. W. 655.

A witness may be impeached by evidence of contradictory statements. Donahoo v. Scott (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 385.

Evidence held incompetent for purpose of impeachment. Halsell v. Neal, 23 C. A. 26, 56 S. W. 137; Oldham v. State, 63 Cr. R. 527, 142 S. W. 13.

Where defendant's wife testifies, the state cannot go beyond impeaching her by contradictory statements and give statements of hers on other matters. Messer v. State, 43 Cr. R. 97, 63 S. W. 643.

In an election contest, certain declarations of a voter who appeared as a witness held properly admitted for purposes of impeachment. Bailey v. Fly, 35 C. A. 410, 80 S. W. 675.

Certain method of contradiction of one of defendant's witnesses held improper. Parker v. State, 46 Cr. R. 461, 80 S. W. 1008, 108 Am. St. Rep. 1021, 3 Ann. Cas. 893.

Where a witness denied making a statement to a certain person, held competent to call such person to contradict him. Myers v. State (Cr. App.) 101 S. W. 1000.

Certain evidence offered for the purpose of impeachment held not admissible. Van-houser v. State, 52 Cr. R. 572, 108 S. W. 386.

Statements made out of court by witness contradictory of statements in court held to form a basis for impeachment. Sanders v. State, 54 Cr. R. 101, 112 S. W. 68, 22 L. R. A. (N. S.) 243.

The refusal to permit accused by way of impeachment of a state's witness to show a certain fact held erroneous. Id.

Evidence of a conversation held with defendant's foreman held admissible to discredit the evidence of the foreman. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Norton, 55 C. A. 478, 119 S. W. 702.

In an action on a note, evidence of an inconsistent statement made by defendant R. held admissible to contradict R. on a material issue. First Nat. Bank v. Pearce (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 285.

It is proper to ask a witness, for the purpose of impeachment, if he has not made other and different statements about the matter in question, than those he made during the trial. Freeman v. Vetter (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 190.

The state held not entitled to show on the cross-examination of a witness statements of the witness indicating the guilt of accused. Hickey v. State, 62 Cr. R. 568, 138 S. W. 1051.

99. — Nature of former statement in general.—A judgment debtor was introduced as a witness by his vendees in a suit by them against his creditors for wrongfully seizing the stock of goods conveyed by him for his debt, for the purpose of showing that the sale had been made in good faith. The sale was attacked for fraud, and it was shown that the witness remained in apparent possession after the sale. On cross-examination the defendant asked the witness if he did not, a few days after he made the bill of sale of the goods to plaintiff, say, in the store, that if his creditors would not levy on the goods he would have them all back in a few days. Held, that the question was proper, and within the rule which allows the credibility of a witness to be impeached by showing that he has made statements out of court, of facts relative to the issue, contrary to what he has testified to at the trial. Miller v. Jannett, 63 T. 82.

A witness giving evidence tending to prove an alibi by showing defendant was at home all night can be impeached by evidence that she had stated that defendant was away from home on the night of the theft. Smith v. State (Cr. App.) 44 S. W. 520.

Where plaintiff had attached goods which defendant had sold to a third person after buying from plaintiff on credit, statements made by defendant in the absence of the purchaser held admissible to contradict defendant, and affecting his credibility. D'Arrigo v. Texas Produce Co., 18 C. A. 41, 44 S. W. 531.

A witness for the state testified that defendant's wife had stated two years ago that deceased had insulted her. Held, that she could be asked if she had not that morning told the state's counsel that defendant's wife had never told her of such insults, and she answered that she had not. Merritt v. State, 40 Cr. R. 359, 50 S. W. 384.

When defendant, charged with robbery, claimed that the money was won in a card game, and a witness testified that he had seen the robbed party play cards, testimony that such witness had stated, on the day before the trial, that he had never seen him play cards, is admissible. Webb v. State (Cr. App.) 55 S. W. 493.

Statements of a witness as to plaintiff's condition at the time of the injury complained of, inconsistent with her testimony on the stand, held admissible. Luke v. City of El Paso (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 363.

On a prosecution for fornication, a witness having denied making a statement involving the fact that he had seen defendant and the particeps criminis fornicating, held error to permit him to be contradicted by one to whom it was claimed the statement was made. Boatwright v. State, 42 Cr. R. 442, 60 S. W. 760.

Conversations of a prosecuting witness, stating that the stolen calf was the calf of a different cow than the one referred to in his testimony, held admissible to impeach him. Landers v. State (Cr. App.) 63 S. W. 557.

Where, in a proceeding in garnishment to reach a certain bank deposit, the judgment debtor has testified that he had assigned all his interest in the money to the intervener at a certain time, testimony that after such time the debtor said the money was his is admissible to impeach such testimony. Norton v. Maddox (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 319.

In a prosecution for rape of a female under 15, refusal to permit her to be asked on cross-examination whether she had not stated to others she was 16 at about the same time held error. Miller v. State (Cr. App.) 72 S. W. 996.

In a prosecution for homicide, where accused's witness testified to an alibi in favor of an accomplice, the state may show on cross-examination that the witness had made contradictory statements. Jenkins v. State, 45 Cr. R. 173, 75 S. W. 312.

In an action for death on a railroad bridge, held proper to permit witnesses to state that the day after the accident the engineer stated to them he saw deceased on the bridge, but thought he would get off, as contradicting his testimony. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brown, 33 C. A. 269, 76 S. W. 794.

In a prosecution for seduction, the limitation to contradiction alone of evidence that prior to the trial prosecutrix stated that defendant raped her held error. Nolen v. State, 43 Cr. R. 436, 88 S. W. 242.

A witness, testifying in behalf of defendant on trial for murder, and denying that he stated that the murder was a cold-blooded one, cannot be impeached by proof that he made such statement. Scott v. State, 49 Cr. R. 386, 93 S. W. 112.

Where a witness gave testimony tending to show that act of accused was in self-defense, evidence of his statements that accused shot deceased for nothing held inadmissible. Watson v. State, 50 Cr. R. 171, 95 S. W. 115.

In a prosecution for homicide, privileged communications between a witness and his attorney are inadmissible to controvert his testimony. Hardin v. State, 51 Cr. R. 559, 103 S. W. 401.

In a seduction trial held defendant could show, on cross-examining a state's witness who testified that prosecutrix's reputation for chastity was good, that witness had stated to another that prosecutrix's sister's reputation was bad. Jeter v. State, 52 Cr. R. 212, 106 S. W. 371.

The state held entitled to ask a witness in impeachment whether he did not remark soon after leaving the room in which the killing occurred that accused had killed decedent. Keeton v. State, 59 Cr. R. 316, 128 S. W. 404.

In a prosecution for rape, evidence of prosecutrix's statements to others that she had had intercourse with other men mentioned, held admissible to impeach her. Foreman v. State, 61 Cr. R. 56, 134 S. W. 229.

Remarks of a witness on hearing shots on the night of the homicide held admissible in impeachment. Renn v. State, 64 Cr. R. 639, 143 S. W. 167.

Where the master claimed that plaintiff had been injured wrestling with another, who testified that the servant was injured while wrestling with him, questions on cross-examination as to statements made by the third person in relation to the wrestle to the master's agents, and as to statements made in a former trial in relation thereto, were properly received in evidence. Texas Tracton Co. v. Morrow (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1069.

Where, in a prosecution for murder of accused's wife's father, accused's wife testified for him that she told accused for the first time on the morning of the killing that decedent, her father, was the father of her child, the state could ask her on cross-examination whether she had not told accused that fact before the day of the killing, and told others that she told accused thereof a month before the killing. Swanney v. State (Cr. App.) 146 S. W. 548.

In an action by a wife to recover a note constituting her separate property actually transferred by her husband, the husband, testifying that she consented to the transfer, could be impeached by proof of his confession that he had wrongfully transferred the note. First Bank of Springtown v. Hill (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 652.

Where, in an action for commissions for procuring the sale of realty, the purchaser testified that plaintiff put him in touch with the property and was instrumental in closing the deal, evidence was admissible by defendant's agent that the purchaser told him that plaintiff had nothing to do with the sale. Carl v. Wolcott (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 334.

What witnesses might have said to a state's witness, not admissible as original evidence, would not tend to impeach him. Pullen v. State (Cr. App.) 156 S. W. 935.

100. — Former statement a mere opinion or conclusion.—A witness testifying to criminating facts cannot be impeached by her declaration that she believed defendant not guilty. Taylor v. State, 38 Cr. R. 552, 43 S. W. 1019.

Affidavit of witness that he believed a fire was caused by a passing engine held inadmissible to impeach his evidence that he did not know the cause. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Bath, 17 C. A. 697, 44 S. W. 595.

A witness cannot be impeached as to his statement of his belief as to who committed the crime. Jenkins v. State, 45 Cr. R. 173, 75 S. W. 312.

A witness' statement of opinion may not be used to impeach him. Kirk v. State, 48 Cr. R. 624, 89 S. W. 1067.

General statements of plaintiff's right in an action held not admissible to impeach a witness for defendant. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Adams, 44 C. A. 288, 98 S. W. 222.

Where an alleged statement of a witness concerning which the witness was cross-examined was matter of opinion, she could not be contradicted on her denying that she made the statement. Streight v. State, 62 Cr. R. 453, 138 S. W. 742.

In an action on contract, evidence that defendant's agent said that he would advise defendant to settle was not admissible to impeach the testimony of the agent. S. W. Slayden & Co. v. Palmo (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 649.

101. — Written statements or instruments.—Recital in a deed that grantor sold as the agent of the heirs of his father is admissible to contradict testimony of grantor that he had previously disposed of his interest therein. Matula v. Lane, 22 C. A. 391, 55 S. W. 504.

A certain letter, dictated by accused to a fellow prisoner, held admissible for the purpose of impeaching accused. Carmona v. State (Cr. App.) 65 S. W. 928.

A witness cannot be impeached by the allegations in his petition in an action, where it is not shown that he had knowledge of the contents of the petition or that he authorized the same. Denison & P. S. Ry. Co. v. Foster, 28 C. A. 578, 68 S. W. 299.

In garnishment, on the issue as to whether the garnishee was indebted, an instrument purporting to extend a note due by the debtor to the garnishee held properly admitted as tending to contradict the debtor. Faseler v. Kothman (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 321.

In trespass to try title, a letter held admissible as tending to contradict a statement made by plaintiff. White v. Epperson, 32 C. A. 162, 73 S. W. 851.

Defendant by cross-interrogatory may show that plaintiff's witness had made a written statement contrary to what he had testified for plaintiff. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Patterson (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 987.

In an action by the purchaser of a machine against the seller for failure to deliver, certain letters held admissible to discredit a witness. Fred W. Wolf Co. v. Galbraith, 39 C. A. 351, 87 S. W. 390.

In an action for personal injuries, plaintiff held entitled to show the questions and answers on application by him for life insurance as tending to discredit the testimony of the examining physician as a witness for defendant. San Antonio Tracton Co. v. Parks (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 130.

Witnesses held properly impeached by allegations of a petition filed in a proceeding in which they were parties plaintiff. Texas & N. O. Ry. Co. v. Moers (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 1064.

In an action for injuries to a brakeman, evidence that, in order to obtain his employment, he had falsely sworn that he had never had any litigation with any railway company, held admissible to impeach his testimony. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Harris, 43 C. A. 434, 107 S. W. 108.

A pleading of a party held admissible to contradict his testimony in another case. Michel v. Michel (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 358.

A sworn statement made by prosecutrix to the assistant county attorney of another county held admissible to impeach her. Bader v. State, 57 Cr. R. 293, 122 S. W. 555.

In trespass to try title a document which tended to show that the occupants of the land had not become defendants' tenants, thereby contradicting his testimony on that issue, was relevant and material. Blair v. Boyd (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 870.

Where a witness testified contrary to a statement made by him in a prior affidavit, the affidavit was admissible to impeach him. Morgan v. Fleming (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 736.

Exclusion of a written statement tending to discredit a witness' testimony held improper. Beaty v. Yell (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 911.

A statement held admissible to contradict accused's witness. Butler v. State, 61 Cr. R. 133, 134 S. W. 230.

A witness testifying that cattle were diseased on the day they were tendered by the seller may be impeached by proof that he had executed and delivered a certificate that the cattle were free from disease on that date. O'Brien v. Von Lienen (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 723.

Where accused introduced a witness who testified that he was one of the three indicted for the attempted robbery, and that neither he nor accused were at the place of the robbery, the written confession of such witness at the time of his arrest was properly admitted to impeach his evidence. Wingate v. State (Cr. App.) 152 S. W. 1078.

An affidavit by a witness containing statements in conflict with material evidence given by her on the stand was properly admitted for purposes of impeachment. Jordan v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1194.

102. — Former testimony of witness.—Voluntary testimony of accused on examining trial after warning held admissible for impeachment. Copeland v. State (Cr. App.) 40 S. W. 589.

Ex parte depositions of plaintiff taken by defendant held admissible to attack testimony by plaintiff at the trial. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 8.

Where the truth of a witness' statement made on trial was in issue, it was competent to impeach him by his testimony taken before the grand jury. Wooley v. State (Cr. App.) 64 S. W. 1054.

In a prosecution for murder, testimony of a witness that he stated before the grand jury that he believed defendant killed deceased held inadmissible as impeaching evidence. Morton v. State, 43 Cr. R. 533, 67 S. W. 115.

It was competent for defendant to show that a witness, who had testified that defendant did the killing, had stated on the examining trial that he did not know who did the killing. Cecil v. State, 44 Cr. R. 450, 72 S. W. 197.

The state may show, by testimony of grand jury, statements made by prosecuting witness before them, where she had denied making the same. Gibson v. State, 45 Cr. R. 312, 77 S. W. 812.

Evidence of statements made by witness before the grand jury, which she denied having made, held admissible. Gallegos v. State, 48 Cr. R. 53, 85 S. W. 1150.

A deposition of a witness for plaintiff taken in another suit to which he was not a party held inadmissible against plaintiff to show contradictory statements. Clark v. Gurley, 48 C. A. 274, 106 S. W. 394.

To impeach a witness, held, it could be shown he made statements in justice court contrary to his testimony. Vanhooser v. State, 55 Cr. R. 114, 113 S. W. 285.

On a trial for perjury certain testimony held admissible to impeach accused. Anderson v. State, 56 Cr. R. 360, 120 S. W. 462.

Where witnesses for the state proved on the trial to be witnesses favorable to defendant, it was proper to permit the state to prove by them what they had formerly testified before the grand jury. Layton v. State, 61 Cr. R. 507, 135 S. W. 557.

A state's witness may be impeached by proof of inconsistent statements at the preliminary examination. Earles v. State, 64 Cr. R. 537, 142 S. W. 1181.

Evidence given in habeas corpus proceedings, held admissible for impeachment of a witness. Renn v. State, 64 Cr. R. 639, 143 S. W. 167.

A witness becoming a state witness upon cross-examination in a criminal case may be impeached by contradictory statements made in the examining trial. Harris v. State (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 1071.

Where defendant's wife testified in his behalf that the deceased was armed, testimony of witnesses for the state that at the inquest she had made a written statement to the effect that deceased was unarmed was admissible as impeaching testimony. Perry v. State (Cr. App.) 153 S. W. 138.

Where a witness for accused testified to a different state of facts on the examining trial, it was not error to admit so much of such testimony as showed the contradicted statements. Cloud v. State (Cr. App.) 133 S. W. 892.

103. — Time of making statements and circumstances connected therewith.—Acts and statements of accused while under arrest held inadmissible for the purpose of impeaching him. Parker v. State (Cr. App.) 57 S. W. 668.

Under the statute requiring warning before any statement made by one under arrest can be introduced in evidence, such a statement cannot be shown to dispute defendant's answer to a question on cross-examination, though he answered without objection. Johnson v. State, 43 Cr. R. 476, 66 S. W. 845.

Where a witness testified that a statement made to the county attorney and grand jury was made under threat of being sent to jail, and is not true, evidence of such statement is inadmissible. Skeen v. State, 51 Cr. R. 39, 100 S. W. 770.

It was not error for the purpose of impeaching a witness, to admit evidence of statements made by such witness, though not made in defendant's presence, and not binding upon him. Tucker v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 190.

The state may not impeach a witness in a homicide case by proving that he had told a third person, on the night after the burial of decedent, that decedent was a poor, inoffensive man and was murdered for nothing. Davis v. State (Cr. App.) 155 S. W. 546.

104. — Statements by others in presence or with the sanction of witness.—In an action against the drawee for the nonpayment of a draft, a statement of an agent of the holder, who presented the draft, which statement was indorsed by defendant's cashier, except in one particular, was admissible to impeach the cashier's evidence. Milmo Nat. Bank v. Cobbs, 53 C. A. 1, 115 S. W. 345.

Where the prosecuting witness had testified at the examining trial that defendant confessed his guilt, it was error to exclude defendant's impeaching evidence to the effect that the prosecuting witness was present when the officers were trying to get a confession from defendant, and heard his positive denial of guilt, and remained silent. Donahue v. State (Cr. App.) 155 S. W. 250.

105. — Witnesses who may be impeached by inconsistent statements.—A party may contradict a witness produced by him who contradicts his own testimony given in a former trial. Blake v. State, 38 Cr. R. 377, 43 S. W. 107.

Where defendants were not misled by their witness nor surprised by his testimony, they cannot read from his deposition in a different proceeding and ask him to reconcile his testimony therewith. Parlin & Orendorff Co. v. Miller, 25 C. A. 190, 60 S. W. 881.

Where defendant's witness denied making a certain statement to defendant's counsel, the witness could not be impeached by showing that he made such statement to another person. Hall v. Cloutz, 26 C. A. 348, 63 S. W. 941.

Where a witness gives testimony different from his statements made before going on the stand, the party calling him may, to refresh his memory, ask him if he did not make such prior statements, and, if he denies, may prove such statements. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. McAllister, 41 C. A. 131, 90 S. W. 933.

Where a party has introduced in evidence a deposition taken by the adverse party, thereby making the witness his own, testimony by another witness for such party to statements by the deponent, which, in his deposition, he had denied making, offered for the purpose of impeaching him, if objected to on that ground, should be excluded. Compagnie Des Metaux Unital v. Victoria Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 651.

On the trial for homicide, the state held entitled to develop facts on the cross-examination of a witness for accused without making the witness its own. Pratt v. State, 59 Cr. R. 635, 129 S. W. 364.

A statement by a prosecutrix having been denied defendant had a right to contradict her. Gross v. State, 61 Cr. R. 176, 33 L. R. A. (N. S.) 477, 135 S. W. 373.

A party, not misled as to what his witness will testify to, cannot impeach his testimony by introducing a deposition taken in a different proceeding. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Waco Cotton Pickery (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 201.

106. — Irrelevant, collateral or immaterial matters.—A witness cannot be impeached by contradictory statements on an immaterial and irrelevant issue. Noel v. Denman, 76 T. 306, 13 S. W. 318; Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Moore (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 282; Cogdell v. State, 43 Cr. R. 178, 63 S. W. 645; Denison & P. S. Ry. Co. v. Foster, 28 C. A. 578, 68 S. W. 299; Connell v. State, 45 Cr. R. 142, 75 S. W. 512; Fox v. Same (Cr. App.) 87 S. W. 157; Cooper v. Same, 48 Cr. R. 608, 89 S. W. 816; Barbee v. Same, 50 Cr. R. 426, 97 S. W. 1058; Prewitt v. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co., 46 C. A. 123, 101 S. W. 812; El Paso & N. E. Ry. Co. v. Landon (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 744; Texarkana Gas & Electric Co. v. Lanier, 126 S. W. 67; Lemons v. State, 59 Cr. R. 299, 128 S. W. 416; Dooley v. Bolders (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 690; Jennings v. State, 60 Cr. R. 421, 132 S. W. 473; Burnam v. Same, 61 Cr. R. 51, 133 S. W. 1045; Stevens v. Same (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 944.

Where a witness in a homicide case had been asleep and was aroused by the shooting, in which four shots were fired, whether he heard only two shots or more than two was not material, so that the exclusion of evidence as to his testimony on a former trial was without injury. Oates v. State (Cr. App.) 149 S. W. 1194.

Testimony, in an action for personal injury, as to an agent of defendant telling plaintiff after the accident not to worry about his job, that it was not his fault, and that defendant would take care of him, is as to a collateral issue, and therefore not subject to impeachment. Texas Co. v. Strange (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 327.

107. — Nature and extent of inconsistency.—In an action by a husband for the death of his wife, testimony held admissible as original evidence to show that a witness for defendant was unacquainted with plaintiff, whom she had testified to having seen on a particular occasion on the day deceased was injured. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Boykin (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 1163.

Defendant could not introduce the evidence of one of his witnesses upon the examining trial to impeach him, where it was substantially the same as the verbal evidence of the witness. Franklin v. State (Cr. App.) 88 S. W. 357.

A statement held not inconsistent with witness' testimony, so as to be admissible to impeach her. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Boykin, 99 T. 259, 89 S. W. 639.

In a trial for homicide, held, that exclusion of evidence as to testimony of a witness on a former trial, which was practically the same as on the present trial, was not error. Oates v. State (Cr. App.) 149 S. W. 1194.

A witness may not be impeached by proof of testimony given by him in another case, having no connection with the issue on trial or any testimony of the witness in the case at bar. Ellis v. State (Cr. App.) 154 S. W. 1010.

In an action for the value of a mortgaged building which defendants agreed to hold in trust for plaintiffs, purchasers of the equity from plaintiff's father, who was defendant's debtor, evidence by a defendant in a former action by plaintiff's father against defendants, in which judgment went against them, that the person who is claimed to have sold the property for defendants was not his agent was not admissible, not contradicting defendants' evidence herein. D. Sullivan & Co. v. Ramsey (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 580.

In a prosecution for homicide, a witness who testified that he communicated to accused threats made by deceased cannot be impeached by mere proof that in conversation with the prosecutor and others he did not tell them of such threats. Roberts v. State (Cr. App.) 156 S. W. 651.

108. — Cross-examination as to inconsistent statements.—Where a witness for the defense testified to an isolated statement a witness for the state had made contrary to his testimony, it was held error to permit the state to draw from him further details of the conversation in which the statement was made, otherwise corroborating the state's witness. Red v. State, 39 Cr. R. 414, 46 S. W. 408.

Exclusion of answer to question, whether if stenographer's report of testimony at former trial showed a certain statement of witness he would not stand corrected, held not error. St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Gunter, 44 C. A. 480, 99 S. W. 152.

Where a witness admitted he had changed his testimony from that on a former trial, he could be asked whether he had not done so because the plaintiff was beaten on the first trial. Knights of Modern Maccabees v. Gillis (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 338.

In a prosecution for perjury in an action for divorce, where the former wife was a state's witness, and where defendant introduced her depositions in a former divorce action containing false answers favorable to defendant, the state can cross-examine her to explain why she had given such answers in the depositions. Spearman v. State (Cr. App.) 44 L. R. A. (N. S.) 243, 152 S. W. 915.

109. — Laying foundation for proof of inconsistent statements.—Basis for impeachment must be laid by statement of time, place and to whom made. Railway Co. v. Dyer, 76 T. 156, 13 S. W. 377.

To impeach a witness by proof of contradictory statements, it is necessary to lay a predicate by asking the witness questions relating to such statements and eliciting his answers. Wallace v. State (Cr. App.) 49 S. W. 395; Martinez v. Same, 53 S. W. 634; Cauthern v. Same, 65 S. W. 96; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Boykin, 99 T. 259, 89 S. W. 639; Opet v. Denzer, Goodhart & Schener (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 527; Kyle v. State, 55 Cr. R. 360, 116 S. W. 598; Galveston Electric Co. v. Dickey (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 332.

It is sufficient predicate for the impeachment of a witness to ask her if she "had not testified before the grand jury on a former occasion" to certain facts. Turner v. State (Cr. App.) 51 S. W. 366.

No predicate was necessary for the introduction of evidence that, during the searching of defendant's room for stolen property, his roommate said that he did not know that defendant possessed a diamond, and defendant's reply that it was one he had owned for some time. McBroom v. State (Cr. App.) 61 S. W. 481.

A quashed deposition held inadmissible in evidence to impeach other depositions of same witness, where no proper foundation was laid for such impeachment. Joy v. Liverpool, London & Globe Ins. Co., 32 C. A. 433, 74 S. W. 822.

In murder prosecution, predicate for impeachment of witness, testifying to friendly relations between accused and decedent, held sufficiently laid. Connell v. State, 45 Cr. R. 142, 75 S. W. 512.

Testimony of medical witness, in action against railroad for injuries received by person in alighting from a train, held insufficient as predicate for impeachment. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Criswell, 34 C. A. 278, 78 S. W. 388.

Where the theory of the defense was that a crime was committed by a witness for the state who testified that he was present when defendant committed the crime, evidence of conflicting statements made by the witness out of court are admissible as original evidence in defendant's behalf. Smith v. State, 52 Cr. R. 27, 105 S. W. 182.

Where there have been two trials in a prosecution, it is proper to ask a witness testifying on the second what he testified to on the first to lay a predicate to contradict him. Barbee v. State, 58 Cr. R. 129, 124 S. W. 961.

A prior affidavit of a witness is not admissible to impeach him until a proper predicate has been laid therefor. Morgan v. Fleming (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 736.

Where on a subsequent trial the testimony of a former witness is reproduced, he being beyond the jurisdiction, an affidavit executed by him contradicting such testimony, was inadmissible without a proper foundation laid. Baker v. Sands (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 520.

A witness held properly questioned, as to his statements on the night of the crime, as a predicate for impeachment. Renn v. State, 64 Cr. R. 639, 143 S. W. 167.

A witness could not be impeached by evidence of a conversation between him and another where he did not testify as to the details of a conversation covered by the purporting impeaching evidence. Holmes v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 926.

The admission of evidence of inconsistent statements against a witness for plaintiff, who was not a party to or interested in the suit, without any foundation first laid therefor, was error. Gutzman v. City of Ft. Worth (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1182.

110. — Admission or denial by witness of making of inconsistent statements.—Evidence held admissible for purpose of impeachment, where witness, in answer to question whether or not he had made a prior statement, stated that he probably did. Wyatt v. State, 38 Cr. R. 256, 42 S. W. 598.

That a witness stated he did not remember making a statement did not preclude impeaching testimony that he made it. Newman v. State (Cr. App.) 70 S. W. 951; Pitman v. Holmes, 34 C. A. 485, 78 S. W. 961; Campos v. State, 50 Cr. R. 289, 97 S. W. 100.

Where a witness sought to be impeached admits the prior antagonistic statements, it is not error for the court to exclude evidence of the witnesses who heard such statements. Bice v. State, 51 Cr. R. 123, 100 S. W. 949.

It is only where a witness denies having written a letter that the letter itself can be introduced as impeaching evidence. J. B. Lloyd & Son v. Kerley (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 696.

In an action against a street railroad company and a motorman, for death of plaintiff's decedent from being run over by a car, the written statement of the motorman's testimony at the inquest held not admissible to impeach him as a witness. Texarkana Gas & Electric Co. v. Lanier (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 67.

In order to impeach a witness by statements at another time different from those made upon the trial, a predicate must first be laid by calling his attention to the former statements, and if he then admits having made them, the party attacking him has no occasion to offer in evidence the testimony by which he expects to prove the inconsistent statements. Id.

A question to a witness who had already stated that he told others that he did not see the killing whether he did not know what he was telling such others was a story held properly excluded. Spencer v. State, 59 Cr. R. 217, 128 S. W. 118.

111. — Competency of evidence of inconsistent statements in general.—Evidence of what a witness recollected of a charge on a former trial, relating to his evidence on such trial, held inadmissible to show a motive for change in his testimony. Burkitt v. McDonald, 26 C. A. 426, 64 S. W. 694.

In an action for the death of a person killed by a train, certain evidence held admissible to impeach testimony of engineer that he had not suspected the peril of deceased. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Munn, 46 C. A. 276, 102 S. W. 442.

Certain evidence held admissible to impeach a witness for accused. Proctor v. State, 54 Cr. R. 254, 112 S. W. 770.

112. — Proof of oral statements, and examination of impeaching witnesses.—Testimony of a notary as to statements made by witness when he took her deposition held hearsay. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 28 C. A. 395, 67 S. W. 182.

Examination of an impeaching witness held error for eliciting matters beyond the scope of the predicate laid for impeachment. St. Clair v. State, 49 Cr. R. 479, 92 S. W. 1095.

Certain cross-examination of a witness offered by the defense to impeach a witness held competent. Liles v. State, 62 Cr. R. 32, 135 S. W. 1177.

A witness called to testify to a conversation denied by accused as a witness should be examined in the language of the predicate laid for accused's impeachment; the witness being improperly permitted to state the conversation between himself and accused. Kempner v. State (Cr. App.) 138 S. W. 1025.

113. — Proof of written statements or instruments.—Statements may be shown by letters of witness. Dooley v. Miller, 21 S. W. 157, 2 C. A. 132. See Howard v. Galbraith (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 689.

To impeach a witness, he may be asked whether he made certain statements, though they be in writing. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Calnon, 20 C. A. 697, 50 S. W. 422.

It having been shown that certain statements by a witness before the grand jury were taken down in writing, and the writing having been introduced to impeach such witness, held not error to allow the one identifying the statements to testify that it was customary to take down such statements in writing. Parker v. State (Cr. App.) 65 S. W. 1066.

Where a witness denied making statements in an alleged affidavit sworn to by him, the affidavit was not admissible, without further proof that he made the statements. Terry v. State (Cr. App.) 72 S. W. 332.

The state cannot read in evidence defendant's application for a continuance for the purpose of impeaching one of defendant's witnesses. Wilburn v. State (Cr. App.) 77 S. W. 3.

Where defendant's witness on cross-examination was asked if he had not made an affidavit to secure a change of venue for defendant, and he admitted doing so, but denied he knew what was in the application, it was proper to show that in his affidavit he had stated he had "been fully informed of and had read the contents of the application, and that the facts stated therein were true." Kelly v. State (Cr. App.) 151 S. W. 304.

114. — Proof of former testimony of witness.—A witness may be impeached by showing that he testified differently on a former trial, when a proper predicate is laid. A statement of facts is not competent for that purpose. McCamant v. Roberts, 80 T. 316, 15 S. W. 580, 1054.

A paper containing the testimony of a witness before the grand jury in the same case cannot be used on the trial by the state to impeach its own witness, nor to intimidate the witness, nor as the basis of cross-examination of its own witness, where it refused the use of the paper to defendant and his counsel. Brown v. State, 42 Cr. R. 176, 58 S. W. 131.

In a prosecution for murder, held error to exclude stenographer's notes on a former trial for the purpose of contradicting witnesses. Stringfellow v. State, 42 Cr. R. 588, 61 S. W. 719.

Where witness denied that his statements before the grand jury were contradictory to his testimony, the district attorney having shown the statements to have been taken down in writing, held proper to allow the writing to be introduced in evidence. Parker v. State (Cr. App.) 65 S. W. 1066.

Evidence of a notary taking a witness' deposition, which she gave evidence intended to impeach, held admissible for the purpose of showing that the witness made prior contradictory statements, without regard to whether the witness was introduced by plaintiff or defendant. Hord v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 33 C. A. 163, 76 S. W. 227.

On prosecution for homicide, original testimony of witness given on inquest trial held inadmissible to contradict witness. Dean v. State, 47 Cr. R. 243, 83 S. W. 816.

Testimony held admissible to show that the person referred to as J. L. in depositions to impeach witness, and said to have made a certain statement, was M. C. L., the witness attempted to be impeached. Spencer Shoe Co. v. Jaramillo, 37 C. A. 497, 84 S. W. 241.

Where the stenographer who took the testimony of a witness at a former trial testified to the accuracy of his notes, the court properly permitted him to read from his notes for the purpose of impeaching the witness. Casey v. State, 50 Cr. R. 392, 97 S. W. 496.

For the purpose of showing testimony of witness at a former trial, held improper to admit official stenographer's notes not signed by witness or otherwise certified by him to be correct. Prewitt v. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co., 46 C. A. 123, 101 S. W. 812.

Testimony by the secretary of the grand jury that found the indictment for murder held not admissible to impeach a witness. McGill v. State, 60 Cr. R. 614, 132 S. W. 941.

115. — Rebuttal of evidence of inconsistent statements.—Offer to prove contradictory statements of witness held not to authorize them to be supported by evidence of reputation for veracity. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Younger (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 423.

Where a witness' credibility has been impeached by cross-examination and proof of contradictory statements, proof of the witness' reputation for truth and veracity is proper in rebuttal. Fox v. Robbins (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 597; Runnels v. State, 45 Cr. R. 446, 77 S. W. 458; Conretras v. San Antonio Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 870; Swain v. State, 48 Cr. R. 98, 86 S. W. 335; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dumas (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 493; Harris v. State, 49 Cr. R. 338, 94 S. W. 227; Brown v. State, 52 Cr. R. 267, 106 S. W. 368; Kansas City Southern Ry. Co. v. Williams (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 196; Gra- ham v. State, 57 Cr. R. 104, 123 S. W. 691; Houston Electric Co. v. Faroux (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 922; Dickson v. State (Cr. App.) 146 S. W. 914.

In a prosecution for homicide, the defendant, in order to contradict a witness, having introduced a portion of his testimony at the inquest, the state held entitled to offer only so much of the balance as was germane and explanatory of that offered by the state. Corpus v. State, 51 Cr. R. 315, 102 S. W. 1152.

Where defendant, his wife, and son, were charged with homicide and jointly applied for bail and were subsequently separately tried, the erroneous admission of the son's testimony on his own trial as original evidence in behalf of his father did not authorize the state to offer the son's evidence in the habeas corpus bail proceedings. Smith v. State, 52 Cr. R. 27, 105 S. W. 182.

Defendant having laid predicates to impeach a witness by contradictory statements, the court did not err in permitting the state to cause the witness to identify an alleged written statement made and signed by the witness immediately after the killing. Edwards v. State, 61 Cr. R. 307, 135 S. W. 540.

A witness impeached by proof of a contradictory statement is properly permitted to testify, when recalled, as to what he actually said to the impeaching witness. Cain v. State (Cr. App.) 153 S. W. 147.

The exclusion of evidence as to the good reputation of a witness for defendant for truth and veracity was proper where the state did not attack his general reputation, although it had impeached him by proving contradictory statements. Mayhew v. State (Cr. App.) 155 S. W. 191.

The exclusion of statements as to what impeaching witnesses had said to a state's witness, offered to contradict the state's witness, was not error, where there was no necessity of explaining the statements of the state's witness. Pullen v. State (Cr. App.) 156 S. W. 935.

116. — Evidence as to statements consistent with testimony.—Contradicted witness, see post.

Where a statement made by a witness out of court was introduced in evidence to discredit the witness, other statements by the witness in support of his testimony were admissible. Keith v. State (Cr. App.) 44 S. W. 849; Johnson v. Same, 42 Cr. R. 377, 60 S. W. 48; Louder v. Same, 46 Cr. R. 121, 79 S. W. 552; Simpson v. Same, 46 Cr. R. 551, 81 S. W. 320; Wallace v. Same, 46 Cr. R. 341, 81 S. W. 966; Franklin v. Same (Cr. App.) 88 S. W. 357; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Irvine (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 428; Craven v. State, 49 Cr. R. 78, 90 S. W. 311, 122 Am. St. Rep. 799; Casey v. Same, 50 Cr. R. 392, 97 S. W. 496; Rice v. Same, 50 Cr. R. 648, 100 S. W. 771; Sullivan v. Fant, 51 C. A. 6, 110 S. W. 507; Cabrera v. State, 56 Cr. R. 141, 118 S. W. 1054; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Sharp (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 263; Hardin v. State, 57 Cr. R. 401, 123 S. W. 613; Pitts v. Same, 60 Cr. R. 524, 132 S. W. 801; Streight v. Same, 62 Cr. R. 453, 138 S. W. 742; Lewis v. Same, 64 Cr. R. 490, 142 S. W. 875; Mitchell v. Same (Cr. App.) 144 S. W. 1006; Dickson v. Same, 146 S. W. 914; Green v. Same, 147 S. W. 593; Collins v. Same, 148 S. W. 1065; Foster v. Same, 150 S. W. 936; Mason v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 350; Bosley v. State (Cr. App.) 153 S. W. 878; Gradington v. Same, 155 S. W. 210; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Franklin (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 553.

A charge on the effect of impeaching a witness held erroneous. Poyner v. State, 40 Cr. R. 640, 51 S. W. 376.

A party could not show statements by him out of court, consistent with his testimony, to rebut evidence of contradictory statements. White v. State, 42 Cr. R. 567, 62 S. W. 575; Welch v. Same, 50 Cr. R. 28, 95 S. W. 1035; Williams v. Kirby Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1182.

Evidence of a witness concerning a conversation, contradictory to the evidence of other witnesses, held admissible, though the witness did not hear all of the conversation. Kelly v. State (Cr. App.) 71 S. W. 756.

Testimony of county attorney as to what certain witnesses had testified to before the grand jury, held proper. Lee v. State, 44 Cr. R. 460, 72 S. W. 195.

In an action against a railroad for injuries, statements made by plaintiff to a witness several hours after the accident held inadmissible to support plaintiff's testimony. McCowen v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 46.

In an action by a servant for injuries, certain evidence of plaintiff's counsel held admissible, as showing that evidence introduced by plaintiff of master's promise to repair the appliance causing the injury was not fabricated. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Garren, 96 T. 605, 74 S. W. 897, 97 Am. St. Rep. 939.

Action of the court, in permitting portions of plaintiff's deposition to be read after she had testified, held, under the circumstances, proper. Wilson v. Wilson, 35 C. A. 192, 79 S. W. 839.

Evidence of statement of subscribing witness to will alleged to be a forgery, when delivering instrument to justice of the peace, held admissible to corroborate such witness' testimony. Dolan v. Meehan (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 99.

Evidence of what a witness has said out of court cannot be received to sustain his testimony, except where an effort has been made to impeach his credibility. Glover v. Coit, 36 C. A. 104, 81 S. W. 136.

The state, on the impeachment of a witness by proof of contradictory statements, may prove that the witness gave testimony before the grand jury in accord with his testimony on the trial. Burch v. State, 49 Cr. R. 13, 90 S. W. 168.

An accused whose testimony is impeached by contradictory statements is entitled to prove that he had made the same statements out of court that he made at the trial. Hudson v. State, 49 Cr. R. 24, 90 S. W. 177.

Accused having induced an accomplice to admit that he had made false declarations prior to the trial, denying his complicity, the state held not thereby entitled to show that, after inducements had been made to him, he made declarations similar to his testimony. Anderson v. State, 50 Cr. R. 134, 95 S. W. 1037.

An accomplice stands with respect to credibility like other witnesses, and his testimony may be corroborated by proof of statements out of court in line with his testimony. Rice v. State, 50 Cr. R. 648, 100 S. W. 771.

Where a witness admitted that he had told counsel for accused a different story than that testified to, the state held properly permitted to ask him if he had not told other persons in effect the same as he had testified. Romero v. State, 56 Cr. R. 435, 120 S. W. 859.

Certain evidence, tending to corroborate testimony of plaintiff on a material issue, held erroneously excluded. Phillips v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 542.

Testimony corroborating a witness sought to be impeached by accused held admissible. Campbell v. State, 62 Cr. R. 561, 138 S. W. 607.

Self-serving declarations, made by a shipper of horses, as to damage during transportation, held not admissible in corroboration of his testimony to remove the effect of impeachment by showing statements to a prospective purchaser of the horses that they were all right. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Young & Webb (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1113.

In an action by a passenger for personal injuries, a section foreman, who was impeached by proof of inconsistent declarations, cannot be corroborated by proof of exculpatory declarations made when in jail charged with an offense in connection with the accident. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Matchett (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1113.

117. — Explanation of inconsistency.—Where a deposition of plaintiff was introduced to impeach her, it was proper to let her explain that portions of her answers were left out by the notary. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Walden (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 87.

Where defendant introduced part of the previous testimony of one of plaintiff's witnesses to impeach him, the balance was properly admitted. Thornton v. State (Cr. App.) 65 S. W. 1105.

Redirect examination of a witness as to statements inquired about on cross-examination held proper. Barber v. State (Cr. App.) 69 S. W. 515.

Where a witness is impeached by showing his contradictory testimony at a former trial, held competent to show the mental condition of the witness at the former trial. Weaver v. State, 46 Cr. R. 607, 81 S. W. 39.

In an action for injuries to a servant, refusal to permit the servant to explain on redirect examination a matter brought out on cross-examination held, in view of the previous explanation made by him, not error. Reynolds v. International & G. N. Ry. Co., 38 C. A. 273, 85 S. W. 323.

Where facts tending to impeach the integrity of a witness or motive of a party are brought out on cross-examination, he will be permitted, on redirect examination, to explain such facts. Comer v. Thornton, 38 C. A. 287, 86 S. W. 19.

Where, in a criminal case, the state offered in evidence for the purpose of impeaching a witness for accused, parts of his testimony on a former trial, accused was entitled to offer in evidence any part of the former testimony of the witness, explaining, modifying, or contradicting the portion introduced by the state. Casey v. State, 50 Cr. R. 392, 97 S. W. 496.

Where, in a prosecution for homicide, defendant introduced part of the evidence of a witness at the inquest, to contradict her testimony, the balance of the witness' evidence given at the inquest, then offered by the state, held properly admitted as explanatory. Corpus v. State, 51 Cr. R. 315, 102 S. W. 1152.

On cross-examination of a witness, held proper to bring out the entire conversation, part of which he had testified to. Hood v. State, 52 Cr. R. 524, 107 S. W. 848.

In a prosecution for seduction, evidence as to prosecutrix's physical condition at the time of writing a letter at variance with her testimony on the trial of the case held material. Faulkner v. State, 53 Cr. R. 258, 109 S. W. 199.

Witness for accused having given conflicting evidence, accused could prove that his first statement was made because of threats of personal injury. Cornett v. State, 54 Cr. R. 372, 112 S. W. 1071.

Evidence by the state as to what prosecuting witness had told another as to the transaction held admissible, where accused had shown his statements out of court contradicting his testimony. Harville v. State, 54 Cr. R. 426, 113 S. W. 253.

A witness whose evidence has been impeached held entitled to an opportunity to explain the impeaching evidence. Texarkana Gas & Electric Co. v. Lanier (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 67; Spencer v. State, 59 Cr. R. 217, 123 S. W. 118; Dooley v. Boiders (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 690.

In a prosecution for assault with intent to rape, certain testimony held admissible to explain prosecutrix's silence after the assault and contradictory statements made by her with reference thereto; accused having attempted to show such conduct by her to discredit her as a witness. Ross v. State, 60 Cr. R. 547, 132 S. W. 793.

The state having introduced in rebuttal for purposes of impeachment parts of testimony given by witnesses on another hearing, defendant was entitled to introduce the balance of the testimony. Streight v. State, 62 Cr. R. 453, 138 S. W. 742.

A witness, after being contradicted as to statements made, should have been permitted to state exactly what she said. Id.

On an attempt to impeach accused's witness, testimony held improperly excluded. Kemper v. State (Cr. App.) 138 S. W. 1025.

Where accused sought to impeach a state's witness by introducing a portion of his testimony at the examining trial, the state was entitled to support the witness by introducing the whole of such evidence. Allen v. State, 64 Cr. R. 225, 141 S. W. 983.

It is not improper to permit an injured employé, after being cross-examined relative to misrepresentations made by him as to his age at the time he secured employment, to explain such misrepresentations on redirect examination. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Goodrich (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1176.

118. — Effect of impeachment by inconsistent statements.—It is not necessary that impeaching testimony should absolutely falsify the evidence of the impeached witness. Schwartz v. State, 55 Cr. R. 36, 114 S. W. 809.

That a witness is shown to have testified differently at a former trial goes to the credibility of his testimony, but not its competency. Anderson v. Houston Motor Car Co. (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 419.

The only office of impeaching testimony being to break the effect of damaging evidence, the state cannot make out a case by impeaching its own witnesses. Antu v. State (Cr. App.) 147 S. W. 234.

119. Contradiction of testimony of witness.—Witness cannot be impeached by proof of his commission of a theft, which he denies, and which is not a question at issue. Winn v. Winn, 23 C. A. 617, 57 S. W. 80.

The state held not bound by answers on cross-examination. Fuller v. State, 50 Cr. R. 14, 95 S. W. 541.

Evidence held inadmissible to contradict witness' statement on cross-examination respecting his own conduct. Gonzales v. State, 54 Cr. R. 230, 112 S. W. 941.

Testimony by a state's witness held admissible as to the appearance of a man seen by witness at prosecutrix's house. Lemons v. State, 59 Cr. R. 299, 128 S. W. 416.

Denial of an impeaching fact by a witness consisting of conviction of a misdemeanor, not involving moral turpitude, cannot be contradicted. Wright v. State, 63 Cr. R. 429, 140 S. W. 1105.

The state bringing out a matter on the cross-examination of a witness held not entitled to contradict the witness. Baggett v. State (Cr. App.) 144 S. W. 1136.

Where a witness had testified that he was not drunk at the time of the killing, and had drunk nothing thereafter, a justice who conducted the inquest the next day was entitled to testify that the witness was drunk at the inquest. Wallace v. State (Cr. App.) 145 S. W. 925.

Where the prosecuting witness had testified that she did not know whether she had been indicted for a felony within the last two or three years, an indictment against her for a felony, returned within two years, was admissible to impeach such statement. Robinson v. State (Cr. App.) 156 S. W. 212.

120. — Right to contradict testimony of one's own witness.—It was not competent for defendant to contradict his own witness, who made no damaging statements against him, and who appeared to have testified as was expected. Cooksey v. State (Cr. App.) 58 S. W. 103.

A party cannot contradict his own witness, unless he was surprised by some injurious statement made by the witness. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Crump (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 1013.

A party cannot claim surprise at the testimony of a witness called by him, where the witness told counsel before being placed on the stand what the effect of his testimony would be. Id.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to a passenger, permitting plaintiff to state her remembrance as to an alleged conversation with her physician, testified to by him, held not error. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Williams (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 527.

121. — Witness cross-examined as to matter not subject of direct examination.—New evidence, different from that given in the examining trial, being brought out in the cross-examination of a witness in a criminal prosecution, it was not error for the state, after having abandoned the witness, to cross-examine him as to his statement made on the examining trial. Hodge v. State (Cr. App.) 64 S. W. 242.

Action of prosecuting attorney in questioning defendant's witness as to matters not brought out by defendant held to make him as to such matters the state's witness. Casey v. State (Cr. App.) 90 S. W. 1018.

122. — Disproving facts testified to by witness.—Though a party may not impeach his witness, he may prove the truth of a fact by testimony in direct contradiction to that of the witness. Pitman v. Holmes (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 961.

In an action on a note, defendant having called plaintiff as a witness, and he having denied a certain agreement, defendant was not thereby precluded from testifying that plaintiff made such agreement and failed to comply therewith. Hedges v. Slaughter (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 592.

123. — Testimony subject to contradiction in general.—A witness' declaration that deceased was the aggressor is not admissible to impeach her, where she did not testify that she was present at the fight. Taylor v. State (Cr. App.) 43 S. W. 1019.

Evidence for defendant, contradicting what plaintiff's witness had said on cross-examination, held admissible. Glasgow v. Hembree (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 679.

An attempt to prove what the father of defendant may have said to the witness as to the guilt of defendant, in order to impeach the witness on such hearsay testimony, is not permissible. Poyner v. State (Cr. App.) 48 S. W. 516.

In an action to recover for injuries to plaintiff's wife, where a witness testified that he did not remark to her "Are you hurt? you look like you are," held proper for the wife to testify in rebuttal that he did so remark. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Harris (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 335.

In an action by landlord for rent, surveyor's testimony as to amount of tillable land, held not conclusive, so as to exclude contradicting evidence. Turner v. Meier (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 984.

Certain cross-examination by the state held proper for purposes of impeachment. Cogdell v. State (Cr. App.) 74 S. W. 311.

Where a witness is asked, for the purpose of impeaching him, if he had ever been in the penitentiary, his answer cannot be contradicted. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson (Sup.) 78 S. W. 224.

Cross-examination of witness as to a threat made against defendant held not competent for impeachment purposes. Simpson v. State (Cr. App.) 87 S. W. 826.

In an action for commissions, certain contradictory testimony held admissible. Bluestein v. Collins (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 687.

In an action against a railroad for negligent death, the exclusion of evidence that a witness called by defendant had stated that decedent came to his death while attempting to board a moving train held proper. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Crump (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 1013.

Certain evidence held admissible to contradict the sister of accused, claiming that a few days before the killing she had told him that decedent had been the cause of her removal as a teacher from one school to another. Long v. State (Cr. App.) 127 S. W. 551.

Where a witness for defendant testified as to statements made to him about the alleged robbery by the brother of the prosecuting witness, the state had the right to introduce the brother of prosecuting witness to contradict defendant's witness. Green v. State (Cr. App.) 147 S. W. 593.

124. — Irrelevant, collateral or immaterial matters.—It was error to admit testimony contradicting immaterial evidence of a witness. Railway Co. v. Coon, 69 T. 730, 7 S. W. 492; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Phillips, 91 T. 278, 42 S. W. 852; Smye v. Groesbeck (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 972; Baldridge v. State (Cr. App.) 74 S. W. 916; Drumm-Flato Commission Co. v. Union Meat Co., 33 C. A. 587, 77 S. W. 634; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Matthews (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 983; Keith v. State, 50 Cr. R. 63, 94 S. W. 1044; W. L. Moody & Co. v. Rowland, 46 C. A. 412, 102 S. W. 911; St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. McAnella (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 936; Citizens' Ry. & Light Co. v. Johns, 52 C. A. 489, 116 S. W. 62.

It is error to allow interrogation of defendant's witness on cross-examination as to matters not germane to a direct examination, and then impeach her as to such matters. Welch v. State (Cr. App.) 46 S. W. 812.

Generally a witness cannot be contradicted on a collateral matter. Batcheller v. Besancon, 19 C. A. 137, 47 S. W. 296; Brundige v. State, 49 Cr. R. 596, 95 S. W. 527; Jones v. Same, 51 Cr. R. 472, 101 S. W. 993; Payne v. Same (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 694.

Where witnesses base their recollection on certain other facts happening in connection therewith, it is competent to show that they are mistaken as to the collateral facts. Jefferson v. State (Cr. App.) 49 S. W. 88.

Evidence held not incompetent, as impeaching on immaterial and irrelevant matters. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Milam, 20 C. A. 688, 50 S. W. 417.

Cross-examination of defendant's witness held relevant, justifying his impeachment by the testimony of an opposing witness. Bean v. State (Cr. App.) 51 S. W. 946.

Where defendant's accomplice admitted hiding himself on the second day after the murder, the exclusion of the evidence that it was the first day thereafter held not prejudicial to defendant. Rupe v. State, 42 Cr. R. 477, 61 S. W. 929.

Held error to admit evidence of an attempted settlement by defendant's father for the purpose of impeachment. Garcia v. State (Cr. App.) 74 S. W. 916.

In an action for injuries, evidence tending to contradict a statement by a witness that he had been informed that plaintiff's general reputation was that of a shiftless man held not objectionable as an attempt to impeach the witness on an immaterial issue. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bryson, 41 C. A. 245, 91 S. W. 829.

In a homicide case, the whereabouts of a person not called as a witness held material, rendering evidence thereof admissible as impeachment of the evidence of witnesses for accused. Green v. State, 49 Cr. R. 645, 98 S. W. 1059.

Testimony offered in a criminal prosecution to contradict the testimony of a witness brought out on cross-examination and to show that witness was an accomplice of defendant held properly rejected. Keener v. State, 51 Cr. R. 590, 103 S. W. 904.

Defendant not having been connected with the procuring of a witness to testify falsely, the examination of another witness as to the offering of money to such witness to testify falsely held to be on a matter collateral to the issue, and hence evidence to contradict witness on that subject was inadmissible. Rice v. State, 51 Cr. R. 255, 103 S. W. 1156.

In an action against a railway company by an engineer for injury caused in running into a preceding train, held proper to exclude questions whether on certain other occasions he had disobeyed rules. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Quinn (Civ. App.) 104 S. W. 397.

In a suit against a sleeping car company for loss of a ring, refusal of the court to permit defendant to delay the trial for the purpose of examining evidence taken at a former trial, and introducing it to impeach plaintiff's wife on a collateral matter, held not error. Pullman Co. v. Vanderhoeven, 48 C. A. 414, 107 S. W. 147.

The rule that a witness may be impeached by showing him to have made an erroneous statement in his testimony is subject to the limitation that resort may not be had to collateral matters. Id.

Illegal testimony cannot be contradicted. Pryse v. State, 54 Cr. R. 523, 113 S. W. 938.

A husband, suing for personal injuries to his wife, cannot, with a view of discrediting his testimony, be contradicted with respect to a prior claim made by him against a defendant. Citizens' Ry. & Light Co. v. Johns, 52 C. A. 489, 116 S. W. 62.

The testimony of defendant's wife, relied on to reduce the killing to manslaughter, that deceased raped her, and she told defendant thereof, was as to a material matter, within the rule as to impeachment. Cameron v. State (Cr. App.) 153 S. W. 867.

A witness cannot be impeached upon immaterial matters, such as whether he had in his possession a pistol at a given time. Bogue v. State (Cr. App.) 155 S. W. 943.

125. — Competency of contradictory evidence.—Where defendant sought to justify a killing on the ground that deceased had made insulting remarks concerning the former's wife, evidence that deceased had made complimentary remarks about her, at a time long prior to the remarks complained of, is inadmissible to impeach the witnesses testifying as to the insulting remarks. Fossett v. State, 41 Cr. R. 400, 55 S. W. 497.

A witness having denied jumping his horse on the street about the time of the crime, the prosecution may show, as impeaching him, that he was seen with accused jumping their horses on the street. Blanco v. State (Cr. App.) 57 S. W. 828.

Evidence is admissible to show that at a former trial a witness did not mention a fact to which he now testifies. Pennybacker v. Hazlewood, 26 C. A. 183, 61 S. W. 153.

Evidence held admissible in murder prosecution on cross-examination for purpose of impeachment. McAnear v. State, 43 Cr. R. 518, 67 S. W. 117.

In a suit against a hotel proprietor for appropriating money left by a lodger in his room, where defendant claimed that a third party appropriated the money, testimony as to the latter's reputation for honesty and fair dealing was admissible. Salvini v. Legumazabel (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 183.

Fact that witness was contradicted held not sufficient to authorize proof of his veracity. Kipper v. State, 45 Cr. R. 377, 77 S. W. 611.

In an action for death of plaintiff's husband, plaintiff held entitled to introduce evidence of statements made by deceased just before his death, in rebuttal of other alleged statements testified to by defendant's witnesses. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Turner, 34 C. A. 397, 78 S. W. 712.

In an action on notes given for tuition in a commercial college, entries on the back of a receipt given defendant by plaintiff held admissible to contradict plaintiff's testimony that she was absent without leave. Draughon v. Sterling (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 639.

On an issue as to the warranty of title of land, held that certain deeds were admissible to contradict the statement of a witness that he had never warranted title to such land. Larkin v. Trammel, 47 C. A. 548, 105 S. W. 552.

Evidence that an adopting parent intended to adopt the child and thought he had done so held admissible to contradict the testimony of a witness that when the parent filed the deed of adoption he instructed the clerk not to record it. J. M. Guffey Petroleum Co. v. Hooks, 47 C. A. 560, 106 S. W. 690.

In an action for personal injuries, certain evidence held admissible to impeach a doctor's testimony, but not to prove plaintiff's injury. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Janert, 49 C. A. 17, 107 S. W. 963.

In action by locomotive engineer for injuries caused by derailment of his train, evidence as to rule of company requiring preservation of broken ties held admissible to discredit witness for the defense. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Worth, 53 C. A. 351, 116 S. W. 365.

In a proceeding to condemn land, evidence that defendant four months before the proceedings had entered his land for taxation at less than $30 per acre held admissible to contradict his testimony as to value. Crystal City & U. R. Co. v. Isbell (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 47.

In an action against shippers for breach of contract to furnish cars for shipment of live stock, the exclusion of certain evidence held not error. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Golson (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 456.

Certain evidence held admissible in a prosecution for incest to impeach prosecutrix. Gross v. State, 61 Cr. R. 176, 33 L. R. A. (N. S.) 477, 135 S. W. 373.

It is proper to ask questions of a contradicting witness in the same form as the predicates laid therefor. Edwards v. State, 61 Cr. R. 307, 135 S. W. 540.

To impeach a witness in a prosecution for murder, who stated that another person and himself heard the deceased threaten the accused, evidence that the other person, who had since died, was in a distant community at the time of the alleged threat held admissible. Renn v. State, 64 Cr. R. 639, 143 S. W. 167.

A witness, testifying to threats made by deceased in a prosecution for murder, may be impeached by testimony of another, who heard the threats, that they were uttered by the accused. Id.

Testimony which in no way contradicts the testimony of a witness sought to be impeached is not admissible. Irvin v. State (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 589.

The state held properly permitted to identify a tool with which accused assaulted prosecuting witness, and to show that a witness for accused with whom he lived identified the tool as belonging to her, to dispute accused's witness' testimony that she did not identify the tool, and that accused was home the night of the offense, held admissible to impeach an alibi witness. Payne v. State (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 694.

Evidence as to the trial and acquittal of another who was jointly indicted with accused was not admissible to affect the accuracy of the identification of accused by prosecuting witness. Id.

Where accused's mother testified that she did not know what caused the death, a few days subsequent to the homicide, of her daughter, whom, it was claimed, deceased expected to marry, testimony of a physician, tending to show that she died from the effects of poison, was not admissible to impeach the mother. De Leon v. State (Cr. App.) 155 S. W. 247.

In an action for commissions for procuring the sale of realty, a copy of an earnest money receipt given by defendant's agent to the purchaser was admissible to contradict the purchaser's evidence that he bought the property through plaintiff. Carl v. Wolcott (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 334.

Accused's witness who testified as to the statement of a Mexican who saw the killing cannot be contradicted by statements of what the interpreter said the Mexican stated. Garcia v. State (Cr. App.) 156 S. W. 939.

126. — Rebuttal of contradictory evidence.—That plaintiffs, in trespass to try title, had been contradicted on material issues, did not authorize introduction of evidence in support of their reputation for truth and veracity. White v. Epperson, 32 C. A. 162, 73 S. W. 851.

The mere fact that a witness is contradicted does not authorize the admission of supporting evidence as to his reputation for truth. Simmonds v. Simmonds, 35 C. A. 151, 79 S. W. 630.

Where a state's witness was contradicted held competent for state to show his reputation for truth and veracity to be good. Myers v. State (Cr. App.) 101 S. W. 1000.

A witness may, in rebuttal, testify to a telephone conversation with defendant's wife, which was denied by the wife on cross-examination. Reagan v. State (Cr. App.) 157 S. W. 483.

127. Corroboration of impeached or contradicted witness.—Corroboration of unimpeached witness, see ante.

Proof of the reputation of a witness for truth is not admissible because his testimony is contradicted. Tomson v. Heidenheimer, 16 C. A. 114, 40 S. W. 425.

The question, "Did your message * * * involve any threats?" etc., is improper, as being leading. Perkins v. Adams, 17 C. A. 331, 43 S. W. 529.

Conflict between testimony of two witnesses held not to admit evidence as to reputation of one for truth and veracity. Harris v. State (Cr. App.) 45 S. W. 714.

The fact that the cross-examination was of a character tending to impeach a witness does not authorize evidence in rebuttal to show his reputation for truth and veracity. Payne v. State, 40 Cr. R. 290, 50 S. W. 363.

A conflict in evidence between a witness for the state and the defendant held not to authorize the state to introduce evidence of the witness' reputation for truth and veracity. Jacobs v. State, 42 Cr. R. 353, 59 S. W. 1111.

Where plaintiff testified as to his injuries, and defendant introduced evidence that plaintiff was feigning testimony as to plaintiff's truth and veracity held admissible in rebuttal. Texas Cent. & N. W. Ry. Co. v. Weldeman (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 810.

Only where witness is a stranger will cross-examination authorize testimony to sustain witness. Warren v. State, 51 Cr. R. 593, 103 S. W. 883.

Where the defense was that the killing was provoked by disclosures made to accused by his wife of insults offered her by decedent, and the state attempted to show that the testimony of accused's wife as to such insults and of her disclosure thereof to accused was false, testimony that accused's wife made the same disclosures to her sister before the killing was admissible. Akin v. State, 56 Cr. R. 324, 119 S. W. 863.

A mere contradiction of a witness does not justify proof of good character for truth and veracity. Adams v. International & G. N. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 895.

Where a person was a party defendant and also a witness, he as a party defendant had the same right to complain of an assault upon his credibility as witness as his codefendant. Texarkana Gas & Electric Co. v. Lanier (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 67.

Where accused attempted to impeach a state's witness by proof that the witness was mad at accused and had stated that he would testify to enough to break accused's neck, it was competent for the state to corroborate the witness by his testimony at the examining trial shortly after the homicide, and before there was any trouble between accused and the witness. Williams v. State (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 763.

A showing that a case against an accomplice, testifying for the state, had been dismissed is an attempt to impeach the witness by showing a corrupt motive, so that the state may introduce corroborative evidence. Gusemano v. State (Cr. App.) 155 S. W. 217.

Where defendant sought to impeach plaintiff, evidence as to statements made by him held admissible to corroborate his testimony. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Franklin (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 553.

128. — Testimony subject to corroboration.—Witness held not authorized to testify to certain things on redirect examination to corroborate certain testimony given by him, because of contradictory statements on cross-examination, or because contradicted as to other matters. Parker v. State, 43 Cr. R. 526, 67 S. W. 121.

The existence of a conflict between the testimony of a witness for defendant and plaintiff does not authorize corroborating proof on plaintiff's part of an otherwise immaterial circumstance. Reynolds v. International & G. N. Ry. Co., 38 C. A. 273, 85 S. W. 323.

129. — Competency of corroborative evidence in general.—A subscribing witness to a deed, having proven the execution of the instrument, was impeached as to his truth and veracity. Facts and circumstances independent of the deed, and contemporaneous with its execution, coupled with evidence of possession of the title papers by the grantee, and his acts and declarations in regard to the land conveyed by the deed, repeated through a series of years, were admissible in corroboration of the evidence of the impeached witness. Newby v. Haltaman, 43 T. 314; Cox v. Cock, 59 T. 521; Belcher v. Fox, 60 T. 527.

A witness may testify that he saw defendant at a crap game, though he did not see him play. Washington v. State (Cr. App.) 50 S. W. 341.

Where the defendant testifies that he paid a certain sum to W. for the plaintiff as a part consideration of the note sued on, an answer filed by plaintiff, in an action by W. against him, held admissible as tending to corroborate defendant. Watson v. Boswell, 25 C. A. 379, 61 S. W. 407.

Certain evidence held not brought out by defendant, so as to render admissible certain other testimony as corroborative thereof. Owens v. State (Cr. App.) 63 S. W. 634.

Where persons stated to district attorney that defendant had stolen a horse and sent it to a certain place, evidence that sheriff went there and found it held inadmissible. Id.

Certain evidence held admissible on trial for homicide, as corroborating testimony of defendant's wife as to insults offered by deceased. Messer v. State, 43 Cr. R. 97, 63 S. W. 643.

In a prosecution for theft of a buggy and harness, testimony by a witness for the state, who claimed that he acted as a detective in the transaction, that a third person reported to him that he had bought a buggy and harness from defendant and had sold it to another party, etc., held not admissible. Mercer v. State (Cr. App.) 66 S. W. 555.

Question asked a witness, whether he knew a third party's reputation for honesty and fair dealing, was not objectionable as not so framed as to find out first whether witness knew the party's reputation. Salvini v. Legumazabel (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 183.

Where a doctor testified that he prescribed for insured, held not error to allow a druggist to testify that he filled the prescriptions. Flippen v. State Life Ins. Co., 30 C. A. 362, 70 S. W. 787.

In a prosecution for violating a local option law, evidence of persons to whom it was claimed prosecutor gave beer alleged to have been purchased from defendant held inadmissible to corroborate prosecutor. Seiwert v. State, 51 Cr. R. 404, 103 S. W. 932, 933.

In an action for a broker's commission, certain evidence held not admissible to corroborate defendant's testimony. Hansen v. Williams (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 312.

Evidence of a declaration of deceased after being stabbed held admissible as confirmatory of the witness' statement concerning the details and her presence and familiarity with the tragedy. Fleming v. State, 54 Cr. R. 339, 114 S. W. 383.

Where accused on trial for assault with intent to rape impeached prosecutrix, testimony of complaints by prosecutrix and of her condition immediately after she had escaped from accused was admissible. Rogers v. State (Cr. App.) 143 S. W. 631.

In a prosecution for assault to murder, evidence of the finding of prosecutor's hat and certain tracks near where the difficulty was claimed to have occurred held admissible to support the prosecutor's testimony that he had been jerked into a buggy, held down, and shot, at which time he lost his hat. Wilson v. State (Cr. App.) 155 S. W. 242.

130. — Former statements corresponding with testimony.—Witness impeached by showing inconsistent statements, see ante.

Where design to misrepresent, from some motive of interest, has been imputed to a witness, a former statement, made by him at a time when the supposed motive did not exist, is admissible in confirmation of his evidence. Lewy v. Fischl, 65 T. 311.

It is not competent to show that a witness had made the same statement on a former trial, no attack having been made upon the witness as testifying differently. Hunter v. Lanius, 82 T. 677, 18 S. W. 201; Taliaferro v. Gondelock, 82 T. 521, 17 S. W. 792.

A witness whose testimony is attacked as a fabrication may support the same by proof of statements made when no motive for fabrication existed. Jones v. State (Cr. App.) 41 S. W. 638, 70 Am. St. Rep. 719.

Hearsay evidence is not admissible to corroborate witnesses. Newton v. Alexander (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 416.

A witness cannot be corroborated by proof of his own statements, where it is not claimed that he had made contrary statements, or that his testimony has been fabricated. Doucette v. State (Cr. App.) 45 S. W. 800.

Evidence that the defendant had made the same statements before he could have had any motive to fabricate testimony is admissible to show that his testimony is not a recent fabrication, when it is attacked as such. Ballow v. State, 42 Cr. R. 263, 58 S. W. 1023.

Statements by a party held admissible as corroborative after attempted impeachment, though favorable to herself. Davis v. Davis, 44 C. A. 238, 98 S. W. 198.

Mere attempt to break down the evidence of a state's witness by cross-examination did not authorize the introduction of testimony of the witness given at other times, unless connected with, and explanatory of, the testimony introduced to contradict the witness. Corpus v. State, 51 Cr. R. 315, 102 S. W. 1152.

In a suit to enforce a parol trust alleged to have been made by an agent of defendant and plaintiff, exclusion of statements made by the agent after the termination of the agency in corroboration of his testimony held proper. Sullivan v. Fant, 51 C. A. 6, 110 S. W. 507.

Where it is sought to impeach a witness, proof that the witness at other times made statements similar to his testimony held admissible to corroborate him. Stephenson v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 1196.

Defendant having laid a foundation to impeach a state's witness by contradictory statements, the state was authorized to introduce the witness' testimony at an inquest, which was the same as the testimony at the trial, to support him. Edwards v. State, 61 Cr. R. 307, 135 S. W. 540.

The state held not entitled to support the testimony of its witness by proving a similar statement at another time and place. Dorman v. State, 64 Cr. R. 104, 141 S. W. 526.

Defendant prosecuted for sale of whisky, which he claimed was taken, could not after testifying that it belonged to him and D., and had been ordered for their own use, corroborate his testimony by that of D. that he reported to D. that some one had taken their whisky, and run off with it. Carver v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 914.

In an action on a bond, evidence of a conversation between the obligor and the surety as to the obligee held inadmissible as hearsay when offered to corroborate the testimony of the surety as to what transpired between him and an agent of the obligee. White Sewing Mach. Co. v. Wingo (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 187.

Where, in an action on notes, the evidence as to whether they were indorsed to plaintiff bank before maturity conflicted, and its president testified they purchased before maturity, a letter, dated before maturity, signed by the president addressed to another bank, stating that they purchased the notes on such bank's recommendation dated before the notes' maturity was admissible to support the president's testimony at trial. National State Bank of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, v. Ricketts (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 646.

Where it is sought to show that an accomplice testifying for the state was testifying from corrupt motives, he can be corroborated by showing that before the motive existed he had made the same statement. Gusemano v. State (Cr. App.) 155 S. W. 217.

Where defendant, in attacking the credibility of a witness who was an admitted accomplice, proved that he had been promised immunity, held, that there was no error in permitting the witness to show that he had made the same statement to the county attorney before he had been promised immunity as he had made on the stand. Holmes v. State (Cr. App.) 156 S. W. 1172.

RULE 2. EVIDENCE IS THE MEANS BY WHICH THE ISSUE IS DETERMINED

Statement of the rule.—Evidence is the means by which any alleged matter of fact, the truth of which is submitted to investigation, is established or disproved. Johnson v. Brown, 25 T. 120. As to who are competent witnesses, see Introductory, ante, and Arts. 3688-3691, post.

RULE 3. ADMISSIBILITY OF EVIDENCE A QUESTION FOR THE JUDGE

See notes under Art. 1971.

RULE 4. THE EFFECT OF EVIDENCE IS A QUESTION FOR THE JURY

See notes under Art. 1971.

RULE 5. EVIDENCE MUST RELATE TO FACTS IN ISSUE AND TO RELEVANT FACTS

1. Relevancy and importance in general.
2. Certainty.
3. Remoteness.
4. Tendency to mislead or confuse.
5. Negative evidence.
6. Circumstantial evidence of facts in issue.
7. Matters showing relevancy of other facts.
8. Matters explanatory of facts in evidence or of inferences therefrom.
9. Evidence irrelevant unless preceded or followed by other evidence.
10. Identity.
11. Personal relations.
12. Nature and condition of property or other subject-matter.
13. Character or reputation.
14. — Honesty and integrity.
15. — Chastity and temperance.
16. — Right to prove specific facts.
17. Pecuniary condition.
18. Motive, intent and good faith.
19. Knowledge or notice.
20. — Diligent inquiry.
21. — Waiver of notice.
22. Statements and conduct of parties.
23. Customs and course of business.
24. Value of services.
25. Value or market price of property.
26. — Time and place of valuation.
27. — Appraisal of property.
28. — Corporate stock.
29. — Comparison with other property.
30. — Crops.
31. — Cost of property and amount received in general.
32. — Cost of production.
33. — Rental value.
34. — Insurance.
35. — Judicial sale.
36. — Amount for which property can be purchased.
37. — Amount for which property will sell.
38. — Tax assessment.
39. — Circumstances adding to or deducting from value in general.
40. — Animals.
41. Laws of other state or country.
42. Date of organization of county.
43. Time of election of officer.
44. Violation of anti-trust law.
45. Discrimination in taxation.
46. Dedication.
47. Public character of road.
48. Validity of purchase of school land.
49. Illegitimacy of child.
50. Marriage.
51. Separation of husband and wife.
52. Residence.
53. Wills, matters affecting validity of.
54. — Allowance under will.
55. Gift.
56. Partnership and partnership transactions.
57. Collusive appointment of receiver.
58. Injunction.
59. Partition.
60. Boundaries.
61. Indebtedness.
62. — Assumption.
63. Money lent.
64. Loan or sale.
65. Payment.
66. — By mistake.
67. Usury.
68. — Parol evidence.
69. Lien and waiver thereof.
70. Liabilities on bonds.
71. Release of mortgage.
72. Execution of notes.
73. Validity of notes.
74. Execution of lease.
75. Eviction of tenant.
76. Liability for rent.
77. Alteration of instruments.
78. Forgery.
79. Employment in general.
80. Authority of agent.
81. Contract in general.
82. Execution of contract.
83. Mistake in contract.
84. Modification of contract.
85. Construction of terms of contract.
86. Performance or breach of contract.
87. — Contract of employment.
88. — Contract of insurance.
89. — Contract of sale.
90. — Contract of carrier.
91. — Marriage promise.
92. Conveyance.
93. Establishment and execution of lost deeds.
94. Breach of covenant.
95. Ratification of void deed.
96. Trust.
97. Construction of trust deed.
98. Specific performance.
99. Stockholder's liability.
100. Contribution.
101. Title and possession.
102. — Documentary evidence.
103. Conversion.
104. Trespass.
105. — By cattle.
106. Negligence.
107. Place of accident.
108. Independent contractor.
109. Delay of carrier.
110. Delay in delivering message.
111. Failure to send or deliver message.
112. Ejectment of passengers and others from trains.
113. Unlawful arrest and false imprisonment.
114. Malicious prosecution.
115. Waters and water courses—Obstruction.
116. — Diversion.
117. Libel and slander.
118. Wrongful release of judgment.
119. Wrongful attachment, execution or sequestration.
120. Fraud and fraudulent conveyances.
121. Undue influence and mental incapacity.
122. Nuisance.
123. Damages.
124. — Personal injuries.

1. Relevancy and importance in general.—The fact that evidence may be weak and have but slight bearing on the issue to be tried affords no reason for its exclusion. Armendal v. Stillman, 67 T. 458, 3 S. W. 678.

It is not necessary that the fact sought to be proved should have immediate reference to the issue; it is sufficient if the evidence refer to a fact relevant to a fact in issue. Hunter v. Lanus, 82 T. 677, 18 S. W. 201.

In a suit by a wife for divorce, on an issue as to whether the husband gave her a venereal disease, it may be shown that he sent her a package of medicine with instructions how to use it. Hanna v. Hanna, 3 C. A. 51, 21 S. W. 720.

The fact that a grantee sought to hold his grantor liable on a covenant of warranty did not tend to show that the grantee did not regard the grantor as a nominal party to the deed. Edinburgh American Land Mortg. Co. v. Briggs (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 1036.

Evidence offered by plaintiff's counsel for the benefit of a purchaser pendente lite from plaintiff is not admissible. Smith v. Olsen (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 874.

In an action for death (by collision) of an alleged passenger, that a witness has been taken by the defendant to testify before the railroad commission as to "double headers" is properly excluded, as impertinent. Crawleigh v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 28 C. A. 260, 67 S. W. 140.

In an action to rescind the purchase of a judgment, a proposition which contained no specific offer to rescind held properly excluded. Hume v. John B. Hood Camp Confederate Veterans (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 643.

Evidence, in action to cancel lease of land for gas and oil development, to show amount of oil land under lease by defendant and efforts to acquire other land, held admissible. J. M. Guffey Petroleum Co. v. Oliver (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 884.

Where, pending a suit by a mortgagor to set aside the mortgage, he died, and a purchaser from him intervened on the same grounds, held not error to admit in evidence the date of the filing of the original petition in the action. Gray v. Freeman, 37 C. A. 556, 84 S. W. 1105.

In an action for grass and water consumed by defendant's cattle, certain evidence held admissible. Lyons v. Slaughter (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 182.

Evidence material only on a question, issue as to which is not raised, held improperly admitted. Oneal v. Weisman, 39 C. A. 592, 88 S. W. 290.

In a suit by a foreign corporation on a foreign judgment, defendant may show that the judgment arose out of a transaction entered into by the corporation in the state of the forum, without having had a permit to do business there. St. Louis Expanded Metal Fireproofing Co. v. Bellharz (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 512.

Evidence that witness had been appointed by plaintiff to arbitrate the differences between plaintiff and defendant railroad company held immaterial. Eastern Texas R. Co. v. Moore (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 394.

In an action on a promissory note against the maker and another, who had agreed to assume payment thereof, a certain question held to have been erroneously permitted to be asked the maker by his codefendant. Jockusch, Davison & Co. v. O. T. Lyon & Son, 100 T. 594, 102 S. W. 396.

Where the objections urged against the admission of testimony only went to its weight and not to its admissibility, the court erred in excluding it. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Jackson, 47 C. A. 26, 103 S. W. 709.

The exclusion of certain evidence held not ground for the reversal of a judgment. Punchard v. Masterson (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 826.

In an action to recover from vendor money paid for land, contract for the sale of which was forfeited by the state, certain evidence held admissible. Slaughter v. Cooper (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 897.

In a suit for personal injuries, evidence that plaintiff was prosecuting the suit on a pauper's affidavit, and that his son-in-law had refused to become surety on the bond for costs, is irrelevant. Hardin v. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co., 49 C. A. 184, 108 S. W. 490.

The function of the judge in determining the relevancy of evidence is not that of a final arbiter, and, if the fact offered presents a reasonable inference in support of a material issue, it is his duty to admit it, leaving the weight thereof to the jury. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Young, 50 C. A. 610, 111 S. W. 764.

Evidence which tends to raise collateral issues should be rejected. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bailey, 53 C. A. 295, 115 S. W. 601.

In an action against a city by grantees of a franchise to build a street railway for damages resulting from a forfeiture of the franchise, certain evidence held inadmissible. Spencer v. City of Palestine, 54 C. A. 392, 116 S. W. 857.

In an action on a lease, evidence of subsequent conversations and negotiations between witness and defendant and with the landlord's agents held irrelevant. Johnson v. Hulett, 56 C. A. 11, 120 S. W. 257.

In an action to recover loss sustained by failure to fully insure rice left with defendant to be milled and sold, certain evidence held admissible. Broussard v. South Texas Rice Co. (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 587.

Evidence that an attorney, consulted with a view of employing him to bring the suit in question, did not bring it is irrelevant and immaterial. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Duncan, 55 C. A. 440, 121 S. W. 362.

In condemnation proceedings, the admission of certain evidence held prejudicial. Stephenville North & South Texas Ry. Co. v. Moore, 56 C. A. 553, 121 S. W. 882.

The pleadings must first be considered in determining whether evidence is relevant; the test of relevancy not being whether the issues raised will be submitted to the jury. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Higdon (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 732.

"Relevant," as applied to testimony, means that the testimony bears upon the issues so as to tend to prove or disprove them, but testimony may be relevant if it is only a link in the chain of evidence tending to prove the issues by reasonable inference, though not directly bearing upon them. Id.

In an action for injuries to a passenger, evidence that plaintiff had a half-fare permit which purported to exempt defendant from liability held properly excluded. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Swancey (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 677.

It is permissible to prove any fact that is relevant to the main fact, and relevancy is determined by the fact that men will ordinarily infer the existence of the main fact from proof of the existence of the other fact. Dudley v. Strain (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 778.

An objection to certain evidence held without merit. Lone Star Lignite Mining Co. v. Caddell (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 841.

Where defendant was not called upon to account for his absence at the trial, the fact that he was paralyzed was properly excluded. Fritter v. Pendleton (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 1186.

In an action by an assignee of an account, certain testimony of the assignor held irrelevant. Stuart v. Calahan (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 60.

In an action by the owner against a railroad company for destruction of property by fire, the admission in evidence of an agreement between the company insuring the property and the owner by which the owner was to sue at his own expense, and giving the insurance company half the recovery, did not affect the judgment against the railroad company. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Murray (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 217.

The meaning of the word "relevant," as applied to evidence, is that which directly relates to the issue made by the pleadings. Wells Fargo & Co. Express v. Gentry (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 363.

2. Certainty.—The fact that a witness can only give his recollection of a conversation, about the correctness of which he is not certain, or that he is able to detail only a part of a conversation, will not exclude his testimony; it becomes a matter for the jury in considering his credibility. Simpson v. Brotherton, 62 T. 170. A witness who has no positive recollection of a fact testified about, and who is yet satisfied, from the circumstances which he does remember, that a fact existed, should be allowed to detail those circumstances. If his deduction from the circumstances detailed seems unreasonable, the evidence may be excluded; otherwise it should go to the jury, who are to weigh and judge. Davie v. Terrill, 63 T. 105.

Testimony that plaintiff appeared to have a fine practice held sufficiently definite on question of damages by injury disabling him. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brown, 16 C. A. 93, 40 S. W. 608.

Testimony as to amount spent for medicine held not too vague and uncertain to be admissible. Texas Portland Cement & Lime Co. v. Ross, 35 C. A. 597, 81 S. W. 94.

In an action for injuries at a crossing, testimony by one who was at a distance from the place of the accident that he heard a whistle blow in that neighborhood, but could not tell on what road the engine was, was immaterial. Garber v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 857.

The testimony of a witness as to the number of bales that could have been ginned, if there had been no delay in installing a press in a gin, held inadmissible because uncertain. Reagan Round Bale Co. v. Dickson Car Wheel Co., 55 C. A. 509, 121 S. W. 526.

As it is the province of the jury to reconcile the inconsistencies in testimony, the court should not reject testimony on account of contradictions therein. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Seeger (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 1170.

Admission of testimony that the rental value of land was 25 cents for every head of cattle it would pasture held not error, where others had testified how many it would pasture. Buchanan v. Wilburn (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1198.

Uncertainty of witness as to the date of an event held not to go to admissibility of his testimony, but to its weight. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Butler (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 240.

On an issue in an election contest as to the residence of a voter whose right to vote was denied, testimony held properly excluded as being indefinite and vague. Linger v. Balfour (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 795.

3. Remoteness.—Probate and contest of wills, see Arts. 3271, 3272.

In an action for the value of a slave injured while employed by the defendants in a dangerous business without the knowledge of the owner, evidence that it was customary for slaves to assist one another in jobs undertaken by them was held to be too remote. Phillips v. Wheeler, 10 T. 536. A temporary custom cannot affect the rights of parties under a contract. To accomplish such a result it must be established, and so general in its application that all are presumed to know it. Wootters v. Kauffman, 67 T. 488, 3 S. W. 465.

Evidence of injury entailed by a ship channel held inadmissible, because the injury was primarily to the United States, and too remote. Crary v. Port Arthur Channel & Dock Co. (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 703.

Evidence held too remote to show setting of fire by sparks from locomotive. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 23 C. A. 395, 67 S. W. 182.

That the time to which certain testimony offered in an action for injuries to a servant, related was nine months prior to the date of the accident only affected the weight of the testimony, and not its competency. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Parrott, 43 C. A. 325, 94 S. W. 1135, 96 S. W. 950.

Certain evidence held to be too remote on an issue of damages for injuries to the person. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Adams, 42 C. A. 274, 114 S. W. 453.

Evidence in an action to restrain the maintenance of a nuisance held properly excluded, as being too remote and speculative. Boyd v. Schreiner (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 100.

On the issue whether a man and woman were married in January, 1840, certain evidence held inadmissible because too remote. Phillips v. Palmer, 56 C. A. 91, 120 S. W. 911.

In an action for injuries to cattle by delay in shipment during the year 1907, evidence that during the year 1902 similar shipments were usually made in from 30 to 36 hours was not inadmissible for remoteness. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Davidson (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 895.

In an action for fraud circumstances, though remote, and entitled to but little weight in themselves, are admissible in evidence where they tend to aid the inquiry as to the truth of the matter. Reed v. Holloway (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1189.

In an action for brokers' commissions, evidence that plaintiffs had paid another broker commissions as the procuring cause of the sale held inadmissible. Stephenson v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 1196.

Testimony which is too remote should be excluded. Barnett v. Ward (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 697.

In an action for delay in the transportation of stock, evidence as to the time of the usual run from C. to Kansas City from 1898 to within the last two or three years held not objectionable for remoteness. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Dinwiddie (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 280.

In an action for the price of a pump purchased March 14, 1910, a letter of warranty written November 11, 1909, was not objectionable for remoteness. A. S. Cameron Steam Pump Works v. Lubbock Light & Ice Co. (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 717.

4. Tendency to mislead or confuse.—Testimony that a master kept a certain sum from the servant's wages for a hospital fund held not to prejudice the jury in an action against the master for injuries. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Milam, 20 C. A. 688, 50 S. W. 417.

5. Negative evidence.—For the purpose of showing that he had purchased the land in controversy without notice of a prior deed, the defendant offered to prove by a witness that at the time of the purchase of the land by his vendor he, as the vendor's attorney, examined the record of deeds in the county in which the land was situated, and found no conveyance of the land to any person. This evidence was properly excluded. Edwards v. Barwise, 69 T. 84, 6 S. W. 677.

One living and well acquainted in a community may testify that a certain person does not live there. Dawson v. State, 38 Cr. R. 50, 41 S. W. 599.

Officer having charge of deed records may testify as to deeds found of record from grantor, to aid description in deed to all of grantor's unsold lands in league named. Smith v. Clay (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 74.

In an action on a policy, where defendant claimed that plaintiff had hired a person to burn the insured house, evidence that no one had been indicted for burning the house was not admissible. Liverpool & L. & G. Ins. Co. v. Joy, 26 C. A. 613, 62 S. W. 546, 64 S. W. 786.

In an action for injuries sustained by plaintiff on jumping from a moving train, which he had boarded to seat his wife, held proper to admit evidence that others had jumped off the train just before and in the presence of plaintiff without injury. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Crockett, 27 C. A. 463, 66 S. W. 114.

Evidence that no one had offered to stop the train, or warned plaintiff not to alight, held admissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Shelton, 30 C. A. 72, 69 S. W. 653.

In an action for injuries, testimony of a witness, who had had but a short acquaintance with plaintiff and her next friend, as to absence of complaint by the latter concerning plaintiff's health, held properly excluded. City of Dallas v. Lentz (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 55.

In an action for the purchase price of a machine, where the defense was breach of warranty, it was error to permit a witness to testify that he had set up other machines of the same make and character, and had never had any complaint from the purchasers. Haynes v. Piano Mfg. Co., 36 C. A. 567, 82 S. W. 532.

That a witness had examined the files in the office of the Secretary of State, and had failed to find any record of a charter of a corporation by a particular name, held inadmissible. Cobb v. Bryan, 37 C. A. 339, 83 S. W. 887.

On an issue as to the existence of a certain corporation, evidence that a witness had never heard of such an organization, in the place where it was alleged to have had its domicile or elsewhere, held admissible. Id.

Suppression of testimony by defendant cannot be proved by showing that plaintiff made an unsuccessful effort to procure the testimony claimed to have been suppressed. Reynolds v. International & G. N. Ry. Co., 38 C. A. 273, 85 S. W. 323.

In an action for material furnished for a building under order of two of the sureties in the contractor's bond, held error to exclude the testimony of another surety, that he had no part in the assumption of the contractor's contract. Bartley v. Comer (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 82.

In an action for injuries to a locomotive fireman, certain testimony held competent as tending to sustain plaintiff's evidence that he did not notice the dangerous condition of the apron causing the injury. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Udalle (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 330.

In an action for injury to an employé by a ladder breaking while he was descending it into a tank car, another employé could not testify that no ladder ever broke with him, and that he was never injured by one in a tank car. Adams v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 526.

In an action for injuries to saloon fixtures, certain evidence as to another's ownership of the fixtures held inadmissible. Temple v. Duran (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 253.

In an action against a railroad for damages to plaintiff's shipment of poultry by delay in transportation and failure to properly ice the car, the admission of evidence that certain other poultry was rejected by the consignee thereof and thereafter purchased by plaintiff and included in his shipment was error, the cause of the rejection not being stated, and the evidence being calculated to cause the jury to believe that the poultry was rejected because it was tainted or otherwise defective. A. B. Patterson & Co. v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 336.

That there was no record in the county clerk's office of a marriage license about the date of an alleged marriage does not show that no such license had been issued. Wiess v. Hall (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 384.

Admission of testimony of persons not the legal custodians of records of deeds to show that there was no record of an alleged deed held error. Mounger v. Daugherty (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1070.

In an action by one partner to recover money claimed due after a settlement with other partners, evidence held admissible that one of the other partners never claimed that more money was due than was paid under the contract. Storrie v. Ft. Worth Stockyards Co. (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 286.

In an action for damage to plaintiff's house by blasting rock near it in the year of 1909 and thereafter, evidence was not admissible as to the effect of blasting in the year of 1906, and that witness felt no shocks therefrom, unless it was shown that the operations in that year were the same in force and character as in 1909. Mt. Franklin Lime & Stone Co. v. May (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 756.

Where a witness who testifies that he did not see or hear a particular incident is in such circumstances that his failure to hear may be inconsistent with the happening of the event, his negative testimony is admissible as against affirmative statements as to seeing or hearing the event. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 355.

6. Circumstantial evidence of facts in issue.—Payment of taxes may be shown by direct or circumstantial evidence. Watson v. Hopkins, 27 T. 637; Ochoa v. Miller, 59 T. 460; Allen v. Woodson, 60 T. 651.

When a publication is privileged and believed to be true, the prima facie case of libel from the false and defamatory publication is deemed to have been fully met, and malice in fact must be established by other evidence, as by the style or manner of the writing or by extraneous facts. Malice may be proved by circumstantial evidence, and in such cases malice is inferred from the evidentiary facts. Behnee v. Railway Co., 71 T. 424, 9 S. W. 449.

In order to establish a locative interest in a tract of land, it is necessary that a contract for such interest between the owner and locator be proved. This may be shown by circumstantial evidence. Boone v. Hulseley, 71 T. 176, 9 S. W. 531.

In an action for wrongful attachment circumstantial evidence as to fraud on the part of the plaintiff is admissible. Cox v. Trent, 1 C. A. 639, 20 S. W. 1118; Hunter v. Lanius, 82 T. 677, 18 S. W. 201; Day v. Stone, 59 T. 612; Cook v. Greenberg (Civ. App.) 34 S. W. 687.

Circumstances to explain an accident admissible. Railway Co. v. Richart (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 918.

Identity may be shown by circumstantial evidence. French v. Koenig, 27 S. W. 1079, 8 C. A. 341; Minor v. Lumpkin (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 799; Frieberg v. Isbell (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 938.

On the issue of good faith in a contract, evidence of surrounding circumstances, etc., admissible. Fairbanks v. Simpson (Civ. App.) 28 S. W. 128.

Trivial circumstances indicating fraud are admissible in evidence. Stelnam v. Gahwiler (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 472.

The existence of lost deeds may be shown by direct and circumstantial evidence. Patrick v. Badger (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 538; Baylor v. Tillebach, 20 C. A. 490, 49 S. W. 720.

Evidence that there were no obstructions between an approaching engine and plaintiff was admissible to show that the engineer and fireman saw him before steam was emitted from the engine. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Syfan (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 551.

Records of lost deeds, though not regular because the deeds were not sufficiently proved to be recorded, are admissible as circumstantial evidence to prove the deeds. McCarty v. Johnson, 20 C. A. 184, 49 S. W. 1038.

Where it is sought to prove a conveyance by circumstantial evidence, any act which is consistent or inconsistent with the probability of a conveyance having been made as claimed is admissible. Texas Tram & Lumber Co. v. Gwin (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 110.

Acts done by one or his agent, showing open claim to land, held admissible, as circumstances establishing a lost deed. Grayson v. Lofland, 21 C. A. 503, 52 S. W. 121.

Where husband makes deed to his wife and retains possession thereof, whether it is a delivery to the wife in law depends on the intention of the husband, which intention is to be shown by circumstances, and is an issue for the jury. McCartney v. McCartney, 93 T. 359, 55 S. W. 310.

Negligence of a master may be established by circumstances, without direct proof. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Crowder (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 380.

A contract of marriage may be established by facts and circumstances; it not being necessary that it should in every case be dependent on an express promise. Edge v. Griffin (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 148.

Delivery of a life insurance policy as a gift may be proved by circumstantial evidence. Lord v. New York Life Ins. Co., 27 C. A. 139, 65 S. W. 699.

On issue of arson in action on fire policy, all circumstances tending to prove the guilt of the party charged with the offense are admissible in evidence. Joy v. Liverpool, London & Globe Ins. Co., 32 C. A. 433, 74 S. W. 822.

In determining intention of a surveyor in a boundary suit, held, that the jury should consider his purpose, as gathered from what he did in making the surveys, the description of the land he gave, and all the circumstances attending the transaction. Masterson v. Ribble, 34 C. A. 270, 78 S. W. 358.

Under the statute requiring the Commissioner of the General Land Office to cause school lands to be classified and appraised before offering them for sale, plaintiff in trespass to try title to lands which he claimed by purchase from the state, held not required to show by direct evidence that they were classified and appraised. Corrigan v. Fitzsimmons, 97 T. 595, 80 S. W. 989.

Payment of taxes may be proven by either direct or circumstantial evidence. Jordan v. Brown (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 398.

The origin of a fire may be proved by circumstantial evidence. D. H. Fleming & Son v. Pullen (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 109.

The right of the public to go directly across a track at a particular place, and the assent of the company thereto rendering it a public crossing, may be established by circumstantial evidence. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Adams, 44 C. A. 288, 98 S. W. 222.

Held error to direct a verdict for defendant where there was circumstantial evidence to sustain plaintiffs' claim. Jante v. Culbreth (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 279.

That sparks from an engine ignited property along a railroad track may be shown by circumstances. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Meentzen Bros., 52 C. A. 416, 113 S. W. 1000.

One seeking to postpone a prior unregistered deed must show that he paid the purchase price of the land without actual notice of the existence of the prior deed, which may be shown by circumstances. Holland v. Nance, 102 T. 177, 114 S. W. 346.

Forgery of a deed may be proved by circumstantial evidence. (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 662, affirmed Houston Oil Co. v. Kimball, 103 T. 94, 122 S. W. 533, rehearing denied 103 T. 94, 134 S. W. 85.

Circumstantial evidence held admissible to show that a boundary between adjoining landowners had been agreed on between them. Roberts v. Blount (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 933.

A ratification by a party to a written instrument of an alteration made therein may be shown by circumstances as well as by direct evidence. Matson v. Jarvis (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 941.

An actual delivery of a gift may be implied from circumstances. Schauer v. Von Schauer (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 145.

Plaintiff, who claims title from the holder of a headright certificate, may show by circumstances a conveyance of the certificate by the holder. Baldwin v. McCullough (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 203.

The telegraph company's abandonment of its free delivery limit rule, through its knowledge and acquiescence in free deliveries made in violation of such rule, may be shown by either direct or circumstantial evidence. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. White (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 790.

In a suit by the executor to set aside a deed executed by testatrix to her daughter on the ground of fraud and undue influence, evidence that testatrix's son did not object to the placing of the land in the inventory of her estate was not error, as it might be pertinent in a chain of circumstantial evidence. Rankin v. Rankin, 105 T. 451, 151 S. W. 527, reversing judgment (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 392.

Great latitude in making proof of fraud is admissible, and every circumstance tending at all to show fraud is admissible in evidence. D. Sullivan & Co. v. Ramsey (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 580.

In an action by a car checker, who claimed he was required to ride trains and was hurt in boarding one, held, that the question for determination was whether he acted within the line of his duties as he saw them, and so his age and the conduct of the railroad company might be considered. Houston Belt & Terminal Ry. Co. v. Stephens (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 703.

The actual malice essential to authorize a recovery for a defamatory publication which is privileged may be proved by circumstances showing wanton malevolence and reckless disregard of the rights of others, including the party injured. Houston Chronicle Pub. Co. v. McDavid (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 224.

7. Matters showing relevancy of other facts.—In an action against carriers for damages for injury to stock, testimony as to how many of the cattle were so badly injured at destination as to cause their death was admissible in connection with evidence that a great many of them died, as tending to show that their death resulted from the carriers' failure to discharge their contractual duty as carriers in transporting. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Jones (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 737, judgment reversed, 104 T. 92, 134 S. W. 328.

8. Matters explanatory of facts in evidence or of inferences therefrom.—Where a supplemental report explaining a prior report was admitted without objection, the first report was admissible. Watson v. Dewitt County, 19 C. A. 150, 46 S. W. 1061.

Where a witness testified, in an action for an injury alleged to be due to leaving a car standing improperly, that, after the accident, no cars were standing there, evidence that the car had been removed was admissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. St. Clair, 21 C. A. 345, 51 S. W. 666.

After evidence by plaintiff to show that at time of alleged embezzlement defendant lived beyond his means, defendant may show his income and expenses at such time. Largent v. Beard (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 90.

Failure to plead truth of defamatory charges as a justification held not to authorize the exclusion of defendants' testimony in a libel suit as to basis of their good faith, where they had been permitted to testify that in making the charges they acted in good faith. Cranfill v. Hayden, 22 C. A. 656, 55 S. W. 805.

It was not error to admit evidence which was part of, intimately connected with, and necessary to the understanding of a conversation introduced by the party objecting thereto. International & G. N. R. Co. v. True, 23 C. A. 523, 57 S. W. 977.

In a switchman's action for injuries, evidence that plaintiff, though warned to look out for certain ground switches, was not warned of the one over which he fell, was admissible to explain why he did not discover it. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. English (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 912.

Permitting stenographer to read over testimony, and allowing witness to explain it, held within discretion of trial court. Equitable Life Assur. Soc. v. Maverick (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 560.

It being negligence to erect a gangway obstructing travel across a street without permission of the city council, it was proper, in an action for wrongful death resulting from the obstruction, to permit proof of want of permission to build the gangway. Shippers' Compress & Warehouse Co. v. Davidson, 35 C. A. 553, 80 S. W. 1032.

In an action for personal injuries, held proper to exclude evidence of statements of plaintiff as to how he received the injuries. Vicars v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 37 C. A. 500, 84 S. W. 286.

In action for injuries to fireman caused by leakage in throttle of engine, books showing report of engineer as to defects, making no reference to the throttle, held admissible in view of evidence previously admitted. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Seeger, 44 C. A. 534, 98 S. W. 392.

In an action for injuries to a traveler on a public highway in consequence of her horse becoming frightened by an approaching train, certain evidence held admissible as corroborative evidence. Johnson v. Texas & G. Ry. Co., 45 C. A. 146, 100 S. W. 206.

In an action for injuries to one run over by a street car, certain testimony as to the maximum speed of defendant's cars held properly admitted. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Haines, 45 C. A. 289, 100 S. W. 788.

On an issue as to whether the property sold brought its market value, it was proper to allow evidence tending to show the reason for the depreciated value. Robertson v. Warren, 45 C. A. 584, 100 S. W. 805.

In an action for the value of a shipment made by defendant to a third person on plaintiff's order, on the ground that it should have been made so that the third person could not have obtained the shipment without first making payment, the exclusion of certain testimony held proper. Smith v. Landa, 45 C. A. 446, 101 S. W. 470.

Where a servant was injured from a projecting set screw on a shaft, the exclusion of evidence to show whether the screw could be produced in court held not error. Wagoner v. Porterfield, 55 C. A. 169, 118 S. W. 1094.

Evidence explanatory of purpose of witness in calling on defendant, a conversation with whom he gives, held admissible. Henderson v. Louisiana & Texas Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 671.

In an action for the price of goods, where defendant claimed that plaintiff had agreed that another dealer should take part of the goods, and to release defendant from liability, and offered evidence of a conversation between plaintiff and its agent in support of such claim, plaintiff was entitled to show that it had sold other goods to such third person, and that the conversation had reference thereto. Holt & Smith v. Texas Moline Plow Co. (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 215.

Where defendant in an action to cancel a conveyance attacked the credibility of witnesses who had joined in it, and drew out the husband's statement that the grantor's attorney threatened to have the wife sign it or to send the grantor back to the asylum, the wife's statement to the same effect, though objectionable standing alone, was admissible as a part of what was done and said at the time. Mitchell v. Inman (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 290.

9. Evidence irrelevant unless preceded or followed by other evidence.—When the relevancy of evidence to sustain an issue depends on the existence of other facts not in evidence, and no statement is made that counsel expect to establish such facts, it is not error to exclude the evidence. Harvey v. Edens, 69 T. 420, 6 S. W. 306.

Objections to evidence must pertain to its competency, not its sufficiency; and evidence which is competent cannot be excluded merely because other evidence that would seem to render it sufficient had not already been introduced. Evidence when offered to show a conveyance of land is competent, though it may not describe the land, if it refers to other writings for specific description. Catlett v. Starr, 70 T. 485, 7 S. W. 844.

A witness stated that he had found a corner of a survey "that appeared to be an original corner. It corresponded with other corners on the ground that were called for." The testimony was admissible before the papers showing the callings were put in evidence. Boydston v. Sumpter, 78 T. 402, 14 S. W. 996.

Evidence of false representations in themselves insufficient held admissible in connection with notary's failure to comply with statute in taking wife's acknowledgment. Phelps & Bigelow Windmill Co. v. Creager (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 206.

A refusal to admit books in evidence held proper where there was no showing that they contained anything material. Willis v. Sanger, 15 C. A. 655, 40 S. W. 229.

In an action against a carrier for selling a passenger a ticket over the wrong route, evidence of discomforts is inadmissible where it falls to show that he would not have suffered as great discomforts on the proper train. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Armstrong (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 833.

An offer to prove that an engineer is a member of the B. L. E., for the purpose of showing him competent, is properly refused when unaccompanied by an offer to show the extent of the membership of that order. Terrell v. Russell, 16 C. A. 573, 42 S. W. 129.

In an action for personal injuries sustained while uncoupling cars on track rendered unsafe by stones left between the rails when ballasting with gravel, evidence that track was ballasted throughout with gravel, as was known by employé, held inadmissible, without a showing that the same condition as to stones obtained at other places along the track, as well as at point of accident. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Pitts (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 255.

Where code of defendant's printed rules had been already introduced, testimony as to a certain rule held inadmissible, without showing that there were oral rules, and plaintiff knew them. Id.

Evidence concerning sale of lands by the owner to a third person held inadmissible for failure to show the lands were the same intrusted to plaintiff to sell. Burnett v. Edling, 19 C. A. 711, 48 S. W. 775.

Statements of a buyer's financial condition, furnished a seller by a commercial agency, held inadmissible, in an action to rescind for fraud, without proof that they were made by the buyer. Meyers v. Bloon, 20 C. A. 554, 50 S. W. 217.

The objection to the admission in evidence of a record that it did not show that the timber sought to be recovered had been inventoried or described, so as to inform plaintiff that the receiver was claiming it as the property of defendant, was not good, where the property was described with sufficient particularity in other parts of the record, so that it could be identified without difficulty. French v. McCready (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 894.

In a suit on judgments recovered in another state by an assignee thereof, the transfer of such judgments must be proved to render them admissible in evidence. Baggs v. Hale, 25 C. A. 309, 61 S. W. 525.

Where there was no evidence that the sale of school land to plaintiff was forfeited, an assignment of error in rejecting evidence of a sale to defendant after sale to plaintiff had been "legally forfeited and canceled," cannot be sustained. Renfro v. Harris, 28 C. A. 58, 66 S. W. 460.

On an issue whether a railway company was negligent in the construction of an embankment, evidence that certain bridges were washed away held properly excluded, in the absence of evidence that they were properly constructed. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. McGregor (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 711.

In an action against a telegraph company for delay in sending a message, evidence as to a storm which prostrated its lines, or of the posting of notices that delay would occur, held inadmissible, in the absence of evidence that plaintiff had actual notice of such facts or notices. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Birge-Forbes Co., 29 C. A. 526, 69 S. W. 181.

The bare fact that the records of a county were burned held not admissible, there being no offer to show any of their contents. Ellis v. Le Bow, 30 C. A. 449, 71 S. W. 576.

In an action of trespass to try title, evidence of the transfer of a lease by one of the three owners thereof on behalf of himself and the others held not admissible, in the absence of proof of the authority of the person making the transfer to act for the other two owners. Jones v. Wright (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 569.

Where, in trespass to try title, defendant's application to purchase the land as school land was properly excluded as invalid, it was not error to exclude evidence of his obligation to pay and of payment and settlement. Goethal v. Read, 35 C. A. 461, 81 S. W. 592.

Admission of evidence as to the receipt and collection of a check by one of the defendants held error, in the absence of any evidence that it was paid on the note sued on. Eastham v. Patty & Brockinton, 37 C. A. 336, 83 S. W. 885.

Evidence held not such as to warrant proof of custom. San Antonio Machine & Supply Co. v. Josey (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 598.

Admission of note in evidence held proper, if evidence taken as a whole sufficiently establishes its execution. Dreeben v. First Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 510.

In trespass to try title, held proper to admit a chain of title, though no deeds connecting it with the original grantees were shown. McMahon v. McDonald, 51 C. A. 613, 113 S. W. 322.

A defendant in trespass to try title under a third person who recovered judgment for the land in a suit between himself and the patentee of the state must show that the third person recovered by reason of the title of the patentee, or the judgment cannot be received in evidence. Hamman v. Presswood (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1052.

Where, in an action on a fire policy, there was no proof of a custom by the company's adjuster to notify insured before examining the property after the fire, and the policy did not require such notice, it was error to admit evidence that the adjuster did not notify plaintiff's attorney before investigating the loss. Hartford Fire Ins. Co. v. Becton (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 474.

An expert who had examined plaintiff's eyes only after the accident could testify that one was impaired more than the other. Roscoe, S. & P. Ry. Co. v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 872.

On the issue whether the payee of a note purporting to be signed by a firm knew of the withdrawal of a partner, evidence that the continuing partner had dictated a circular letter notifying the correspondents of the firm of the withdrawal, and had instructed a third person to mail copies to all persons who had done business with the firm, including the payee, was inadmissible in the absence of evidence that a copy of the letter had been received by or mailed to the payee. Trezevant & Cochran v. R. H. Powell & Co. (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 234.

Testimony in an action for damages against carriers of live stock alleged to have been caused by delay in transportation held inadmissible for failure to verify records referred to, and to indicate the sources of separate parts of testimony. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Johnson & Johnson (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 725.

A question to witnesses held proper, though not followed up by other proof. Mis-souri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Moss (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 626.

A judgment foreclosing a tax lien, reciting that the law had been complied with, and that service was had, is prima facie valid and admissible in evidence without proof of the court's jurisdiction. Mangum v. Kenley (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 316.

In a passenger's action for injuries, defendant's evidence of rumors connecting plaintiff with a certain social scandal introduced to show mental anxiety aggravating a previous ailment was properly excluded, where there was no proof of notice to him of such rumors. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Crannell (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 351.

In proceedings to probate a will contested by testator's widow on the ground of mental incapacity, testimony that two of the beneficiaries under the will were in good financial circumstances was inadmissible, in the absence of evidence that testator knew that fact. McDonald's Estate v. McDonald (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 593.

Where the evidence did not show that sickness in plaintiff's family was caused by the impounding of water on his premises by the erection of a viaduct approach, evidence of such sickness was not admissible in an action for resulting damages. Messer v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 928.

Ordinarily the market value of the property destroyed by fire is the correct measure of the liability of insurer thereof, and it is not permissible to prove extrinsic value without first showing that the property had no market value. State Mut. Fire Ins. Co. v. Cathey (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 935.

10. Identity.—Circumstantial evidence, see ante.

On an issue of identity between parties claiming under different persons of the same name, evidence of the claim by each is admissible. Hickman v. Gillum, 66 T. 314, 1 S. W. 339; McCament v. Roberts, 80 T. 325, 15 S. W. 580, 1054; Hill v. Smith, 6 C. A. 316, 25 S. W. 1079; Byers v. Wallace, 87 T. 503, 28 S. W. 1056, 29 S. W. 760; Nix v. Cole (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 561.

Hearsay evidence is admissible to prove pedigree, age and death. Evidence of time, or place of residence, or death, is admissible for the purpose of identification. De Leon v. McMurray, 23 S. W. 1038, 5 C. A. 280; Brown v. Lazarus, 25 S. W. 71, 5 C. A. 81; Insurance Co. v. Blodgett, 27 S. W. 236, 3 C. A. 45; Byers v. Wallace, 28 S. W. 1056, 29 S. W. 760, 87 T. 503; Wallace v. Howard (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 711; French v. McGinnis, 21 S. W. 941, 3 C. A. 86; Nixon v. Wichita L. & L. Co., 84 T. 408, 19 S. W. 560; Louder v. Schluter, 78 T. 103, 14 S. W. 205, 207; Paden v. Briscoe, 81 T. 563, 17 S. W. 42.

Evidence held admissible to identify the land claimed to have been conveyed, and to prove a conveyance. Vasquez v. Texas Loan Agency (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 942.

Evidence held incompetent to identify a witness. White v. Houston & T. C. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 382.

For the purpose of identifying a car seen by witness, after plaintiff had fallen from one owing to the breaking of a handhold, as the car from which he had fallen, evidence that a new handhold had recently been put on is admissible. Railroad Co. v. Rose, 19 C. A. 470, 49 S. W. 133.

Testimony as to contents of lost deed held competent in identifying land. Bayne v. Denny, 21 C. A. 435, 52 S. W. 983.

To identify certain person as one to whom bounty warrant was issued for land in controversy on account of his participation in certain battle, held, certain evidence was competent. Minor v. Lumpkin (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 365.

A transfer of a certificate issued in lieu of a headright held to sufficiently identify the certificate. Simmonds v. Simmonds, 35 C. A. 151, 79 S. W. 630.

Certain testimony of witness held competent to identify the claimant of land at the time it was conveyed. Allen v. Halsted, 39 C. A. 324, 87 S. W. 754.

On an issue as to the identity of a person who received a donation under a bounty warrant, certain evidence held relevant. Id.

In an action to foreclose a trust deed, certain testimony held admissible to identify a plat referred to in the deed. Pinckney v. Young (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 622.

A concordance in names is always some evidence of identity. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Hankins, 50 C. A. 513, 110 S. W. 539.

In trespass to try title, certain evidence held relevant on the issue of the identity of F. S., to whom the patent was granted. Keck v. Woodward, 53 C. A. 267, 116 S. W. 75.

In an action to recover certain stolen diamonds from a purchaser, evidence held admissible to show that the diamonds had been stolen and to identify them. Morris v. Shuttles Bros. & Lewis (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1053.

11. Personal relations.—In an action for personal injuries, plaintiff cannot show that he had a wife and two children. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hamilton, 17 C. A. 76, 42 S. W. 358.

Evidence in action for personal injuries that plaintiff's mother was living held not error, it being competent to show his expectancy of life. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rose, 19 C. A. 470, 49 S. W. 133.

Where a father sues for damages caused by the death of his son, testimony of the father that the deceased knew the father's business, knew who owed him and whom he owed, is admissible, because it shows the disposition of deceased toward his father, which is a factor for consideration in cases like this. Railroad Co. v. Davis, 22 C. A. 335, 54 S. W. 909.

In suit by child for wrongful death of father as bearing on damages, the fact that there was a mother and other children may be shown. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Contreras, 31 C. A. 489, 72 S. W. 1051.

In an action for injuries to a father, evidence that he had three children, which was not relevant to any issue in the case, was inadmissible. Ft. Worth Iron Works v. Stokes, 33 C. A. 218, 76 S. W. 231.

In an action by a husband for the death of his wife, evidence that he had married again is inadmissible. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Boykin (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 1163.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff's minor son, it was proper to exclude evidence that she had another son who contributed to her support. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 99 T. 337, 90 S. W. 164.

In an action by children for negligence causing the death of their father, evidence that deceased had abandoned plaintiffs some time prior to his death was admissible on the question of damages. Beaumont Traction Co. v. Dilworth (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 352.

12. Nature and condition of property or other subject-matter.—Negligence and damages, see post.

On the issue of the grade and quality of hay, a witness purchasing other hay coming out of the same racks may testify as to the grade and quality of the hay in question. Dixon v. Watson, 52 C. A. 412, 115 S. W. 100.

In an action against a carrier for damages to goods and for misrouting, declarations of third persons to plaintiff concerning the condition of the goods and the manner in which they were routed held irrelevant and immaterial. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Coulter (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 16.

13. Character or reputation.—Probate of wills, see Arts. 3271, 3272.

Evidence irrelevant unless preceded or followed by other evidence, see ante.

Where the action is brought to recover for the pecuniary loss suffered by the family of the deceased, proof that deceased was kind and affectionate in his family, an indulgent father and husband, is admissible. Missouri Pac. Ry. Co. v. Bond, 20 S. W. 930, 2 C. A. 104.

The general reputation of a person for care and skill in his employment is admissible in evidence. Mex. Nat. R. Co. v. Musette, 24 S. W. 520, 7 C. A. 169.

General reputation is inadmissible to establish agency. McGregor v. Hudson (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 489; Bartley v. Rhodes (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 604; Brady v. Nagle (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 943.

Evidence that employé in charge of hand car had violated rules, and was untrustworthy, held admissible in action for injury by negligent use of the hand car. Branch v. International & G. N. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 208.

In an action for the trial of a land title, evidence of reputation or character of one of the parties is not relevant, though he is a stranger in the county. Timmony v. Burns (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 133.

In an action for a libel that plaintiff ran a "blind tiger" in his building, the general repute to that effect is admissible in mitigation of damages. Schulze v. Jalonick, 18 C. A. 296, 44 S. W. 530.

It is not competent to show contributory negligence by proof that plaintiff was a reckless, careless man, or that he had been careless on some other occasion. Mayton v. Sonnefeld (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 608.

In determining whether an employé was negligent, his inexperience at the work may be considered. Hillsboro Oil Co. v. White (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 432.

To prove general reputation that woman is married, addresses of letters written her are admissible. Cuneo v. De Cuneo, 24 C. A. 436, 59 S. W. 284.

In an action for negligence causing death, evidence tending to show that deceased was a worthless character was relevant on the question of pecuniary loss. Standlee v. St. Louis & S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas, 25 C. A. 340, 60 S. W. 781.

In an action for injuries caused by a coemployé's negligence, evidence that his reputation for competency was bad held admissible on an issue as to whether defendant exercised ordinary care to discover his incompetency. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Jackson, 25 C. A. 619, 62 S. W. 91.

In action for wrongful death, evidence that decedent was a church member and did not use profane language was too remote on the measure of damages. Lipscomb v. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co., 95 T. 5, 64 S. W. 923, 55 L. R. A. 869, 93 Am. St. Rep. 804.

Agency held not established by proof of general reputation. Dyer v. Winston, 33 C. A. 412, 77 S. W. 227.

In an action for injuries to a minor, evidence as to his personal habits and characteristics held admissible. Cameron Mill & Elevator Co. v. Anderson, 34 C. A. 105, 78 S. W. 8.

In an action by a parent for injuries sustained to a minor child, evidence of the good morals of the child was inadmissible. Cameron Mill & Elevator Co. v. Anderson, 34 C. A. 229, 78 S. W. 971.

In an action for injuries to a minor, evidence that he was obedient, industrious, sober, and economical was admissible. Cameron Mill & Elevator Co. v. Anderson, 98 T. 156, 81 S. W. 282, 1 L. R. A. (N. S.) 198.

In an action for damages sustained by a passenger by reason of having been illegally arrested by an agent of the company, evidence showing the bad character of the passenger held inadmissible. Texas Midland R. R. v. Dean (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 524.

In prosecution for slander of female, defendant may avail himself of the female's bad reputation in the place from whence she came. Ballew v. State, 48 Cr. R. 46, 85 S. W. 1063.

In an action against a railroad company for damages caused by a fire alleged to have been communicated by one of defendant's engines, evidence that the engineer in charge of the locomotive alleged to have caused the fire was careful held irrelevant. McFarland v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 450.

On the issue of the incompetency of a brakeman, evidence of his reputation held admissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hays, 40 C. A. 162, 89 S. W. 29.

In an action for negligence causing death, it is admissible to prove that deceased was healthy, sober, and industrious, and worked regularly. Beaumont Traction Co. v. Dilworth (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 352.

In trespass to try title, evidence as to general reputation of the grantee in a deed in plaintiff's chain of title as a forger of land titles held admissible. Loring v. Jackson, 43 C. A. 306, 95 S. W. 19.

In an action for policeman's salary, evidence that he was unfit to serve on the police force, in the absence of proof that he had been discharged, held irrelevant. City of San Antonio v. Serna, 45 C. A. 341, 99 S. W. 875.

Evidence that plaintiff's fellow servant had a reputation among the persons who worked in the shop where he was employed as an incompetent, careless person, held not objectionable as failing to show his general reputation. Kansas City Consol. Smelting & Refining Co. v. Taylor, 48 C. A. 605, 107 S. W. 889.

When recovery of a railroad company was sought for injury to an employé from a violent coupling with a caboose, on the ground merely that the engineer was negligent in making the coupling, held, that evidence of his reputation for care was inadmissible. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Finley, 50 C. A. 291, 110 S. W. 531.

In an action for the negligent death of a child, struck by a train, the exclusion of evidence of the competency of the engineer operating the train held not erroneous. Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Olds (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 787.

On an issue as to whether a son exercised undue influence over his mother to procure an assignment of notes and mortgages, testimony held improperly received. McKay v. Peterson, 52 C. A. 195, 113 S. W. 981.

In trespass to try title, in which defendants claimed that the deed to plaintiff's remote grantor was forged, but the evidence did not justify a finding of forgery, evidence that such grantor was reputed to be a forger of land titles was not admissible. Judgment (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 662, affirmed. Houston Oil Co. v. Kimball, 103 T. 94, 122 S. W. 533, rehearing denied 103 T. 94, 124 S. W. 85.

Where an engineer was charged with negligently operating a train, proof of his reputation as being a careful and prudent engineer held inadmissible. Adams v. International & G. N. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 895.

In a railroad passenger's action for injuries in a collision, where it appeared that the conductor handling the freight train colliding with the train whereon plaintiff was riding, was negligent, the exclusion of evidence respecting such conductor's reputation for ability, prudence, etc., was not error, such evidence being immaterial. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Farris (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 1174.

In an action for the death of an employé, wherein plaintiff did not charge that defendant was negligent in selecting, as its servant, a co-employé who accidentally inflicted the injury claimed to have caused death, the court erred in admitting testimony that the latter was a good and careful man and did his work well. Dye v. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 893.

In an action for injuries to a passenger, evidence as to the passenger's character held properly rejected. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Swancey (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 877.

In civil actions, the character of the parties is irrelevant. Houston Electric Co. v. Jones (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 863.

Evidence that a passenger injured in alighting is habitually very careful to avoid injury held inadmissible on the issue as to whether the passenger waited until the car stopped before alighting. Small v. San Antonio Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 833.

In an action for deceit in recommending defendant W. for credit, evidence that he had long been in the habit of becoming intoxicated and had a reputation of being a bad paymaster held admissible to show he was irresponsible at the time credit was given. Wells v. Driskell (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 205.

The exclusion of testimony, that a railway engineer who did not obey the signals of the brakeman was unsafe to work with in spotting cars, was not error; it being so obviously true that no proof of the fact was necessary. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hall (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 445.

In an action to establish a claim to property of a decedent, on the ground of an oral contract with the decedent to be husband and wife, and a living together as such, evidence as to the character of cohabitation and of the community and as to plaintiff's character for virtue were admissible. Berger v. Kirby, 105 T. 611, 153 S. W. 1130.

In an action to compel the execution of a deed, where defendant claimed that plaintiff was only a tenant from month to month, and had been given notice to vacate, and that she was behind in her rent, there being no issue as to this, evidence to contradict it that she was very close and thrifty was properly excluded. Boiders v. Dooley (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 614.

Where an administrator was charged with conspiracy with plaintiff and another to fraudulently obtain land of the estate by fraudulent execution sale, evidence of a decree removing him and rendering judgment against him was admissible as tending to show his character, and that he would probably enter into a conspiracy as alleged. Moore v. Miller (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 573.

14. — Honesty and Integrity.—Where plaintiff's character as to integrity is directly assailed by the defense, he may prove that his general reputation in such respect is good. Fire Ass'n of Philadelphia v. Jones (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 44.

The fact that neighborhood rumors as to defendant's intentions were allowed to creep into the record without objection did not make evidence as to character for honesty and fair dealing proper. Jackson v. Martin (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 837.

Evidence of the character of defendant for honesty is not admissible in an action by a vendor against the purchaser for breach of the contract to purchase. Id.

Where the defendant's character for honesty is in issue, he may show that his reputation was good, but not that he was considered one of the best boys in the country. Largent v. Beard (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 90.

Defendant, in support of plea of truth of article charging plaintiff with being a liar, cannot testify to statements of plaintiff's neighbors that his reputation was bad. Mitchell v. Spradley, 23 C. A. 43, 56 S. W. 134.

In action for rent, tenant's evidence of landlord's bad reputation for honesty held improperly admitted. Hurst v. Benson (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 417.

Where reputation for truth of party to an action had not been attacked on trial, evidence to show it was good held inadmissible. McCowen v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 46.

In an action for injuries to minor from being struck by a railroad train, held error to permit defendant to introduce testimony as to minor's connection with the theft of certain property. Over v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 535.

Evidence that a party's reputation for truth and veracity was good 30 years ago where he then lived, and ever since has lived, is not admissible. Daugherty v. Lady (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 837.

In an action for an alleged wrongful levy on goods claimed to have been sold in fraud of creditors, evidence that the seller's reputation for payment of debts was good held admissible. Hooks & Hines v. Pafford, 34 C. A. 516, 78 S. W. 991.

In suit for illegally selling liquor to plaintiff's minor sons, evidence that one of them was a gambler held inadmissible. Poynor v. Holzgraf, 35 C. A. 233, 79 S. W. 829.

In an action on a contract of hiring, the compelling of defendant to state when and how often in his business career he had been sued held error. Seago v. White, 45 C. A. 539, 100 S. W. 1015.

The answer charging embezzlement by plaintiff held to bring in the issue of plaintiff's reputation for honesty, making evidence of his good reputation admissible. Mullinax v. Pyron (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 1139.

Evidence of defendant's reputation for dishonesty held not made admissible by the answer charging embezzlement by plaintiff, thus bringing in the issue of the latter's reputation for honesty. Id.

Defendant in an action for death by negligence held not entitled to a trial of the question of deceased having been an embezzler. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Pingenot (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 93.

Plaintiff having pleaded fraud by log scalers and testified that they had stolen his logs, evidence of their general reputation for honesty was admissible. Cudlipp v. C. R. Cummings Export Co. (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 444.

A carrier sued for the loss of baggage consisting of wearing apparel of a passenger may not show that the passenger was a gambler and had in his trunk in addition to the wearing apparel a complete gambler's outfit. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Halley (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1119.

15. — Chastity and temperance.—In a suit for personal injuries to a wife, where damages were sought for humiliation from exposure of her person, held competent to prove that she was reputed a prostitute. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Ritter, 16 C. A. 482, 41 S. W. 753.

Where a master justified the discharge of a servant on the ground of his drinking habits, held, that the servant could prove his reputation as a drinking man before and after the discharge. Allgeyer v. Rutherford (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 628.

In an action for breach of contract of marriage, evidence of plaintiff's illicit relations with men other than defendant, prior to and during her engagement, held admissible in mitigation of damages. Clark v. Reese, 26 C. A. 619, 64 S. W. 783.

In an action for slander, based on statements imputing a want of chastity to plaintiff, evidence of her good reputation for chastity is admissible. King v. Sassaman (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 937.

In an action for injuries by falling into an unprotected ditch in a city street, evidence that plaintiff was addicted to intoxication held inadmissible. Browne v. Bachman, 31 C. A. 430, 72 S. W. 622.

In an action for damages for an unlawful arrest, held error to refuse to permit defendant to show that at the time of the arrest plaintiff was keeping a house of prostitution. Texas Midland R. R. v. Dean, 98 T. 517, 85 S. W. 1135, 70 L. R. A. 943.

In an action for personal injuries, evidence that plaintiff had been seen in houses of ill fame was not admissible to prove that he had not been rendered impotent by the injury. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Fitzpatrick (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 355.

In an action on a liquor dealer's bond for damages through the sale of liquor to plaintiff's husband, certain evidence held admissible on the issue of the husband being an habitual drunkard. Birkman v. Fahrenthold, 52 C. A. 335, 114 S. W. 428.

Evidence concerning reputation for chastity held admissible to rebut a claim of common-law marriage. Berger v. Kirby (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1122.

A woman's general reputation for chastity and general reputation of the house in which she and her alleged husband lived held admissible on the question of a marriage through which she claimed property. Grigsby v. Reib (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1027.

16. — Right to prove specific facts.—When it is sought to charge the employer by reason of his having knowingly employed an incompetent servant, such incompetency must be shown by general reputation, and not by specific acts. Railway Co. v. Scott, 68 T. 694, 5 S. W. 501.

Where the negligence of a green hand employed by defendant railroad company as engineer, and placed on a run requiring special skill, was alleged to have been the cause of a fellow servant's death, held, that evidence of specific acts of his negligence was admissible. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Davis (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 956.

Evidence of specific acts of negligence by a fellow servant, known to the master, held admissible in connection with other evidence that said servant was habitually intemperate. Id.

In a civil case, testimony as to defendant's previous history and charges made against him at various times and places is inadmissible. Donaldson v. Dobbs, 35 C. A. 439, 80 S. W. 1084.

On the issue of the incompetency of a brakeman, specific acts of negligence held admissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hays, 40 C. A. 162, 89 S. W. 29.

Evidence of a person's character, when admissible, must be confined to general reputation. McCormick v. Schtrenck (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 720.

17. Pecuniary condition.—Evidence irrelevant unless preceded or followed by other evidence, see ante.

In a proceeding against a sheriff for failing to levy execution, the fact that the tax roll shows that the defendant rendered no property is not admissible in evidence. Batte v. Chandler, 53 T. 613.

When the issue is whether an apparent purchaser bought for himself or another, evidence of his means, etc., is admissible. Stone v. Day, 69 T. 13, 5 S. W. 642, 5 Am. St. Rep. 17.

In an action for libel the wealth of the defendant is not a fact in issue. Young v. Kuhn, 71 T. 645, 9 S. W. 860.

In an action for personal injuries it is error to allow the plaintiff to testify that his wife had no means of support except her own labor. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hannig, 91 T. 347, 43 S. W. 508.

In action for personal injuries, evidence that plaintiff is poor held irrelevant on the issue of damages. Trinity & S. Ry. Co. v. O'Brien, 18 C. A. 690, 46 S. W. 389.

In an action for damages for the death of decedent, evidence that plaintiffs' means of support were deceased's earnings held admissible. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Cody, 20 C. A. 520, 50 S. W. 135.

In an action by a father for his son's death, the father's pecuniary condition is admissible on the measure of damages. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Knight (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 640.

Proof of a father's financial condition and age held competent in an action by him for the wrongful killing of his son. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Davis, 22 C. A. 335, 54 S. W. 908.

Proof of the pecuniary condition of the parents is admissible in an action by them to recover for the death of an adult son. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. White, 23 C. A. 280, 56 S. W. 204.

In an action by a husband's creditors to subject property fraudulently conveyed to the wife, evidence that the wife had a bank balance subsequent to the purchase of the property was properly excluded. Gonzales v. Adoue (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 543.

In action for damages, held error to allow plaintiff to testify as to her financial condition in order to arouse sympathy. City of Belton v. Lockett (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 687.

In an action by member of a firm for a final settlement on the ground of misrepresentations when he entered the firm, evidence is not admissible to show the insolvency of persons who were not indebted to the firm when plaintiff became a member. Veck v. Culbertson (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 1114.

Evidence as to plaintiff's pecuniary condition held properly admitted in an action for the negligent killing of a child. Citizens' Ry. Co. v. Washington, 24 C. A. 422, 58 S. W. 1042.

On the question whether A. was the real purchaser of property, or whether B. was the purchaser and it was taken in A.'s name to protect it from B.'s creditors, evidence as to A.'s financial condition, and statements made by him in relation thereto, held competent. Jones v. Meyer Bros. Drug Co., 25 C. A. 234, 61 S. W. 553.

On the question whether A. was the real purchaser of property, or whether B. was the purchaser and it was taken in A.'s name to protect it from B.'s creditors, evidence as to B.'s failure in business and insolvency is admissible. Id.

On question whether A. was the real purchaser of property, or whether B. was the purchaser and it was taken in A.'s name to protect it from B.'s creditors, evidence that B., though insolvent, had some money, was admissible. Id.

In an action for slander, evidence of the financial condition of defendant is inadmissible. King v. Sassaman (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 937.

Testimony as to dependency of daughters held admissible in action for death of their father. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bowles, 32 C. A. 118, 72 S. W. 451.

Plaintiff, in an action for injury to his wife, may not testify to his impoverished condition. City of Dallas v. Moore, 32 C. A. 230, 74 S. W. 95.

In an action for injuries to a passenger, evidence that plaintiff and her father were too poor to employ a physician held competent to explain why a physician had not been employed. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Williams, 34 C. A. 100, 78 S. W. 5.

The fact of plaintiff's drawing a federal pension for physical debility held pertinent on question of his condition prior to the injuries sued for. Hawkins v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 36 C. A. 633, 83 S. W. 52.

In an action for injuries, evidence as to the value of plaintiff's property, as rendered for taxation, held irrelevant. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Goswick, 98 T. 477, 85 S. W. 785.

In action for death of plaintiff's son, claimed to be her only support, offer of evidence as to contributions from another son held properly excluded. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 34.

Evidence as to inability of defendant to pay house rent held admissible on issue as to whether a certain payment was made by her. Walker v. Dickey, 44 C. A. 110, 98 S. W. 658.

In an action for broker's commissions, evidence of the financial ability of the concern from which the purchaser was to obtain funds with which to make the purchase and his arrangements therefor held admissible. Leuschner v. Patrick (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 664.

In an action for personal injuries held reversible error to permit plaintiff to prove that she was in destitute circumstances. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Summers, 48 C. A. 474, 106 S. W. 891.

In an action on a contract, evidence of defendant's financial condition held inadmissible. Hall v. Parry, 55 C. A. 40, 118 S. W. 561.

On the issue whether there was a delivery of a deed, executed by P. to H. and K., for a recited consideration of $25 paid by them to him and his love and affection for them as his stepdaughters, such deed having been delivered by him to the cashier of a bank, who deposited it in the bank's vaults, where it remained till P.'s death, evidence that when he married the mother of H. and K. he had run through with all his property, through dissipation, and when his wife died, four years before he executed the deed, he was worth $12,000 or $15,000, was inadmissible; it not appearing that P. was under any obligation to H. or K. on account of an interest owned by them in the community estate between their mother and P., or otherwise. Phillips v. Henry (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 184.

The only tendency of evidence that when one signed and acknowledged a deed to his stepdaughters, and delivered it to a bank, he was indebted, being that he made and delivered it to the bank with intent to defraud his creditors, it is not admissible in favor of his administrator, on the issue whether the delivery to the bank was intended and operated as a delivery to the grantees. Id.

In an action for breach of marriage promise, evidence of the financial condition of defendant held admissible on the issue of actual damages. Fisher v. Barber (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 871.

In an action by a physician for the reasonable value of professional services rendered, evidence of the financial condition of defendant and of the custom among physicians to graduate their charges according to the financial condition of the patient held inadmissible. Swift v. Kelly (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 901.

In an action to enjoin a sale to enforce a deed of trust, securing a note, on the ground that the note was without consideration and was accommodation paper, evidence of the financial condition of the payee and the fact that the note was given to enable him to avoid prosecution was properly excluded; but plaintiff was properly allowed to introduce evidence of a lack of consideration. Rudolph v. Price (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1037.

Where it was agreed that a note executed by plaintiff and a third person would not be collectible, unless an authorized statement showed that it was necessary for defendant to pay the note to reimburse the payees for payments made to secure the location of a railroad and depot, the exclusion of evidence in an action on the note that citizens other than plaintiff and a third person were able to guarantee the bonus required by the company was proper. Key v. Hickman (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 275.

On a partnership accounting, where partner claimed land as his individual property, and claimed that he paid for it out of a bank deposit, exclusion of bank account offered to show that he had no such deposit held error. Hengy v. Hengy (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1127.

In a suit to restrain the enforcement of an execution, evidence that complainant had long had property out of which the judgment could have been collected with due diligence, as tending to show payment, held inadmissible. Morrison v. Hammack (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 494.

As parading plaintiff's financial condition, evidence, in an action for personal injuries, that he has to work is improper. Texas Co. v. Strange (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 327.

18. Motive, intent and good faith.—Facts happening just before and after the principal transaction, and tending to show the intent of the party, are relevant. Horton v. Reynolds, 8 T. 284.

The intent of a party in making a deed charged to be fraudulent may be shown by the surrounding circumstances, such as the indebtedness of the party, the amount and character of his property, the secret reservation of an interest therein, etc. Baldwin v. Peet, 22 T. 708, 75 Am. Dec. 806; Belt v. Raguet, 27 T. 471; Cox v. Miller, 54 T. 16; King v. Russell, 40 T. 124; Green v. Banks, 24 T. 508; Day v. Stone, 59 T. 612.

In a suit to recover on a policy of insurance for loss by fire, where the defendant charged that the fire was caused by the consent or procurement of the insured, every circumstance which throws light on the motives of the insured is admissible in evidence; such as over-insurance, proof of loss in excess of the value of the property destroyed, the assignment of the policy after the loss out of the usual course of business or for an improper purpose, the disposition of the goods, just before the burning, out of the usual course of business, and other like facts. Dwyer v. Continental Ins. Co., 63 T. 354.

Since the rule in Shelley's Case is one of law, and not of intention, evidence of the express intention of the testator to devise only a life estate is inadmissible. Brown v. Bryant, 17 C. A. 454, 44 S. W. 399.

In an action assailing a mortgage for fraud, evidence of the mortgagee held admissible to show his good faith. Wright v. Solomon (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 58.

In an action assailing a mortgage for fraud, evidence held admissible to show mortgagor's motives, and as a part of the res gestæ. Id.

Evidence that a purchaser at a sale under a trust deed took for the trustee, and that the property came back to the trustee under voluntary conveyances, held evidence of a fraudulent intent in the making of the deed. Wade v. Odle (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 887.

In an action by parents to recover for the wrongful killing of their son, testimony that they may have brought the action simply to investigate the circumstances of the homicide is irrelevant and prejudicial. Croft v. Smith (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 1089.

On an issue as to the bona fides of a legatee in bringing suit to construe the will, a written contract made by such legatee with his attorneys as to their fees is admissible. Thornton v. Zea, 22 C. A. 509, 55 S. W. 798.

Evidence held admissible to show intention in procuring sequestration, alleged to have been wrongful, where exemplary damages were claimed. Endel v. Norris (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 687.

Evidence showing that a purchaser of school lands from patentee did not pay value, it was not error to exclude evidence of his good faith. State v. Burnett (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 599.

In an action against a city for injury to land from the pollution of a stream with sewage, a contract between defendant and a third party for the removal of the sewage held admissible to show defendant's intention to discontinue such use of the stream. Umscheid v. City of San Antonio (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 496.

In false imprisonment, evidence of good faith on the part of those making the arrest is admissible on the issue of vindictive damages. Pincham v. Dick, 30 C. A. 230, 70 S. W. 333.

In an action to recover land claimed by defendant, a deserted wife, as her homestead, evidence that it was the intention of plaintiff and her husband to occupy the property as a home held admissible. Long v. Long, 30 C. A. 368, 70 S. W. 587.

Where defendant claimed property under a parol partition, and plaintiff claimed that the partition was a partition of rents only, evidence as to his intention in partitioning the rents was immaterial. Id.

In an action for wrongful attachment, certain evidence held admissible to show defendant's good faith. Cline v. Hackbarth, 30 C. A. 591, 71 S. W. 48.

Where a car inspector was killed by being struck by a switch target, evidence that it was defendant's intention, when the switch was established, to replace it with another as soon as possible, held competent. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Bearden, 31 C. A. 58, 71 S. W. 558.

On an issue as to whether a purchaser of school lands was an actual bona fide settler thereon, certain testimony showing his intent held erroneously excluded. Lewis v. Scharbauer, 33 C. A. 220, 76 S. W. 225.

In an action for the death of a son, his parents may testify that deceased stated to them it was his intention to remain with them while they lived, as bearing on the issue of damages. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brown, 33 C. A. 269, 76 S. W. 794.

Evidence that plaintiff in a transitory action for injuries occurring in New Mexico, brought the suit in Texas, held inadmissible for the purpose of affecting the good faith of his action or to discredit his testimony. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Keller, 33 C. A. 358, 76 S. W. 801.

On an issue as to whether defendant, who placed plaintiffs in possession of land, had given them the land, certain evidence held admissible as bearing on defendant's intention. Shannon v. Marchbanks, 35 C. A. 615, 80 S. W. 860.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff while walking along defendant's railroad track, evidence as to the reason plaintiff chose the course he did held admissible in support of his allegation that he was lawfully on the track at the time of the accident. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. O'Donnell (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 886.

In trespass to try title to certain school land, evidence held admissible on the issue of the good faith of defendant's alleged prior settlement. Jones v. Wright (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 1010.

In an action by a servant for wrongful discharge held proper to admit evidence showing the master's motive. Pacific Express Co. v. Walters, 42 C. A. 355, 93 S. W. 496.

Where a purchaser of brick failed to pay installments therefor as agreed, and claimed damages for delay in delivery, purchaser held entitled to show why he had not made payments according to terms of contract. Shurter v. Butler, 43 C. A. 353, 94 S. W. 1084.

In an action to cancel a deed as to one of two lots conveyed, certain evidence held inadmissible to show plaintiff's intent not to convey both lots. Horwitz v. La Roche (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 1148.

In an action for wrongful attachment, the intentions of the officer making the levy held immaterial. Rainey v. Kemp, 54 C. A. 486, 118 S. W. 630.

An instrument acknowledging receipt of a sum of money for an alley between certain streets, as well as parol testimony to locate and identify the strip, was admissible to show an intention to dedicate the strip as a public alley. Menczer v. Poage, 55 C. A. 415, 118 S. W. 863.

On the issue whether the delivery to a bank of a deed by P., the grantor, operated to pass the title to the grantees, H. or K., depending on whether, when he delivered the deed to the bank's cashier, he intended to finally part with possession and control of it, he having delivered it in an envelope indorsed by him, "P. or H. or K.," and the cashier having placed it in the bank's vault, where it remained till P.'s death, evidence that P., after so delivering the deed, listed the land with his agent for sale, and never withdrew it, was admissible. Phillips v. Henry (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 184.

The only tendency of evidence that when one signed and acknowledged a deed to his stepdaughters, and delivered it to a bank, he was indebted, being that he made and delivered it to the bank with intent to defraud his creditors, it is not admissible in favor of his administrator, on the issue whether the delivery to the bank was intended and operated as a delivery to the grantees. Id.

On the issue whether a subsequent purchaser was a bona fide purchaser without notice of a prior unregistered conveyance, evidence of what he did after the purchase was inadmissible. Davidson v. Ryle, 103 T. 209, 124 S. W. 616, 125 S. W. 881.

Certain evidence held admissible to show that a controversy as to one's liability was a bona fide. Hunt v. Ogden (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 386.

On an issue of defendant's good faith and honest mistake in taking up her residence near but not on school land which she had applied to purchase, all information on which she acted, and every circumstance to show the care exercised by her, held admissible. Morgan v. Fleming (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 736.

Defendants' signatures of a petition held no evidence of a threat or intention to trespass upon plaintiff's lands. Fleming & Davidson v. Rohleder (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 735.

On an issue between a subsequent purchaser and the holder of a prior unrecorded deed from the same grantor, the latter held entitled to testify why he kept his deed off the record and as to the consideration paid therefor as bearing on his good faith. Miller v. Linguist (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 170.

Certain evidence held admissible in an action by a partner to recover balance due under a contract claiming fraud in settling in full with the other partners, to show good faith by defendant in settling with the other partners. Storrie v. Ft. Worth Stockyards Co. (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 286.

Evidence tending to show fraud and failure of consideration for note is admissible, where bona fides of holder was disputed. Bolt v. State Savings Bank of Manchester, Iowa (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 707.

In an action against a real estate broker for fraud inducing plaintiff to trade his land for a stock of merchandise, the testimony of a witness as to the character and value of the stock held admissible to show the good faith of the broker. Blard & Scales v. Tyler Building & Loan Ass'n (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 1168.

Where the evidence tended to show that loss under a fire policy was occasioned by incendiarism, evidence as to the existence of a mortgage on the property was admissible as tending to show a motive. Philadelphia Underwriters Agency of Fire Ass'n of Philadelphia v. Brown (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 899.

Where plaintiff testified to the value of the property, including the house on which he sought to recover insurance, evidence of the value of the lot alone was properly admitted as tending to show that plaintiff considered the house of little value, and thus show a motive for burning it. Mott v. Spring Garden Ins. Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 658.

On a cross-action in trespass to try title to have a constable's sale under which plaintiff was claiming set aside on the ground of fraud and inadequacy of price, evidence that the plaintiff, who purchased at the sale, subsequently refused to accept the debt, interest, and costs was admissible to show bad faith. Moore v. Miller (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 573.

In a personal injury action, evidence that the plaintiff's attorney refused to permit a physical examination by a physician representing the defendant is immaterial on the question of plaintiff's good faith. Artesian Belt Ry. Co. v. Young (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 672.

Proof that a husband caused a conveyance to be taken in his wife's name tends to show that it was the intention of the parties that the property should be her separate property, and this is true whether the consideration was paid from her separate property or from the community. Emery v. Barfield (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 311.

The knowledge of the person making calls in field notes of a survey as to the facts in connection with the survey is admissible in determining the meaning of the language used in the field notes; such evidence not constituting a statement of his intentions. Gilbert v. Finberg (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 507.

19. Knowledge or notice.—Evidence irrelevant unless preceded or followed by other evidence, see ante.

Negative evidence, see ante.

Facts happening just before and after the principal transaction, and tending to show the knowledge of the party, are relevant. Horton v. Reynolds, 8 T. 284.

The evidence as to the notoriety of the defendant's claim and ownership of land in the neighborhood where it was situated was properly admitted to show knowledge of the facts by others. Berry v. House, 1 C. A. 562, 21 S. W. 711.

Evidence of notice, before purchase, that a note was procured by fraud, held admissible. Hynes v. Winston (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 1025.

Where a brakeman was killed by a water spout overhanging the track, evidence that a witness had seen the spout out of repair, and had reported it, was admissible. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Burnett (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 314.

That persons were passing between cars of a train standing at a crossing, to the knowledge of defendant, held admissible on the question of negligence in moving the train. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Green, 20 C. A. 5, 49 S. W. 670.

Evidence held material, as tending to show whether defendant should have known at whom he was shooting. Croft v. Smith (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 1089.

Evidence that a sidewalk was repaired some time after an accident is not admissible to show knowledge of the defect before the accident. City of Dallas v. Meyers (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 742.

Evidence of a dog's reputation for being vicious is competent on the question of scienter, in an action for injuries sustained from an attack by the dog. Triolo v. Foster (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 698.

Evidence that owner of premises did not know that the lien contract contained a recital that the material had not yet been furnished held competent. Kribs v. Craig (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 62.

Evidence that answers of assured to agent of fraternal insurance association were truthful, though misstated in the application, held admissible to show notice to the order of the existing facts. Order of Columbus of Baltimore City, Md., v. Fuqua (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 1020.

On an issue as to whether a price quoted in a letter of plaintiff to defendant referred to a secondhand or a new machine, a prior letter in which plaintiff quoted new machines at a higher price held admissible to show defendant's knowledge of the price of a new machine. Dorsey Printing Co. v. Gainesville Cotton-Seed Oil Mill & Gin Co., 25 C. A. 456, 61 S. W. 556.

In an action for injuries received by an engineer in a collision caused by a brakeman going to sleep and leaving a switch open, evidence that the train dispatcher was requested to allow the latter to lay off and rest held admissible to charge the railroad company with knowledge of the brakeman's condition. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Kelton, 28 C. A. 137, 66 S. W. 887.

In a suit to cancel a contract and deeds made in pursuance thereof on the ground of false representations as to the character of the round cotton bale process, the objection to a question, on cross-examination, if plaintiff knew how many round bale processes there were in the country, held properly sustained. American Cotton Co. v. Collier, 30 C. A. 105, 69 S. W. 1021.

In trespass to try title, certain evidence as to want of knowledge by plaintiff's grantor of defendant's equities held erroneously excluded. Long v. Fields, 31 C. A. 241, 71 S. W. 774.

Evidence held admissible to show notoriety of the existence of a defect in a street as indicating the city had, or should have had, notice. City of Dallas v. Moore, 32 C. A. 230, 74 S. W. 95.

Evidence in action on policy held admissible on issue of agent's knowledge of true ownership of property. Continental Fire Ins. Co. v. Cummings (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 378.

Evidence of knowledge of condition of railway truck by an employé, injured from defects therein, held admissible. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Penn (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 624.

In an action for damages for laying out road over land, evidence that adjoining owner received no notice of proceedings held inadmissible. Morgan v. Oliver (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 111.

In action for injuries to servant, testimony that the foreman who employed plaintiff had been informed of his lack of experience, etc., held admissible. Gammel-Statesman Pub. Co. v. Monfort (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 1029.

In action against railroad for loss of property by fire communicated by defendant's engine to goods in building under lease from railroad, evidence that plaintiff had notice of stipulations of lease held inadmissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Keahy, 37 C. A. 330, 83 S. W. 1102.

On the issue of the incompetency of a servant, certain evidence held admissible as showing that the master had received such notice that inquiry would show incompetency. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hays, 40 C. A. 162, 89 S. W. 29.

On the issue of negligence of a railroad in inspecting a tender which was subsequently wrecked, thereby injuring a trainman, evidence that the inspector knew that his son was to go in the engine to which the tender was attached held relevant. Hover v. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co., 40 C. A. 280, 89 S. W. 1084.

In an action for injuries from an alleged nuisance on a railroad right of way, evidence of statements made to defendant's servants prior to suit brought held admissible to show notice. McFadden v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 41 C. A. 350, 92 S. W. 989.

In an action for slander held proper to admit testimony of plaintiff that a person told her that defendant had uttered the words alleged. Patterson & Wallace v. Frazer (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 146.

In an action for death of a servant, certain evidence held admissible to show that defendant had knowledge of the defects in the car in which deceased was riding when killed. Beaumont Traction Co. v. Dilworth (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 352.

In an action against a city for injuries to a traveler in consequence of a defective street, certain evidence held admissible as showing notice of the defect. City of Dallas v. McCullough (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 1121.

In a suit for the negligent delay of a telegraph company in delivering a message where the amount of recovery was not affected by the fact that others claimed loss besides the one to whom the message was sent, the fact that the defendant had no notice that others were interested at the time the message was sent was immaterial. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. True (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 1180.

A servant's general reputation of incompetency is admissible to charge his master with knowledge. El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Smith, 50 C. A. 10, 108 S. W. 988.

Evidence that a grantor's agent who had placed the grantee in possession knew that the grantee had inclosed and improved the land was admissible, on the issue whether the grantee was excused from investigating whether the lots held by him were those described in the deed. Isaacks v. Wright, 50 C. A. 312, 110 S. W. 970.

In determining whether an owner of land knew of the sale of the land by another as his attorney in fact and acquiesced in it, so as to make it a valid sale, lapse of over 20 years from the execution of the sale until the owner's heirs brought suit to recover the land should be considered. Eastham v. Hunter, 102 T. 145, 114 S. W. 97, 132 Am. St. Rep. 854.

Evidence of a servant's knowledge, or means of knowledge, of the presence of a set screw by which he was injured held admissible. Waggoner v. Porterfield, 55 C. A. 169, 118 S. W. 1094.

In a suit against a railroad for negligence in providing an injured employé with medical attention, the testimony of a witness that at plaintiff's request he notified defendant's local agent of the injury was admissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Graves, 57 C. A. 395, 122 S. W. 458.

On an issue whether an attaching creditor had notice of a deed, executed, but not recorded, at the time of his levy, evidence that an agent of the grantee in the deed, before the levy, told the creditor of the terms of the exchange of property between the debtor and grantee in the deed, is admissible. Folkes v. Wyatt (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 958.

In an action for injuries from an obstruction in a city street, evidence of city officers that they knew of the obstruction, and had issued orders that it be removed held admissible not only to show the condition of the street, but also notice to the city. City of Ft. Worth v. Lopp (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 824.

Evidence as to notice of lien held admissible in a suit to establish a mechanic's lien against a married woman's separate property. Johnson v. Griffiths & Co. (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 683.

The fact that the insured filed a waiver of service in foreclosure proceedings was not proof that he knew of the commencement of such proceedings. Philadelphia Underwriters' Agency of the Fire Ass'n of Philadelphia v. Neurenberg (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 357.

In trespass to try title, held, that certain evidence bearing upon notice to a purchaser under whom plaintiff claimed was inadmissible. Cartwright v. La Brie (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 725.

In an action against a railroad company for injury caused by its baggagemaster frightening plaintiff's horses in raising a metallic door, evidence that plaintiff asked the baggageman to wait until he could get to his wagon before raising the door held properly admitted. Freeman v. McElroy (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 428.

Evidence as to plaintiff's knowledge of defendant's financial condition held admissible to show the unreasonableness of defendant's claim that the mules had been bought for him by plaintiff. McKay v. Wishert (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 508.

On the issue of the priority between a purchase-money chattel mortgage and a mortgage by the buyer to a third person for money for the cash payment demanded by the seller, it appeared that the third person's mortgage was first filed for record, and the seller testified that he did not know that the buyer would give a mortgage to obtain the money, and that the sale was not to take effect until the cash and notes and securities were in his possession. Evidence that the buyer, while negotiating with the seller, informed him that he would borrow the amount of the cash payment from the third person, and would execute a chattel mortgage on the property, and that the seller did not object, and that personal security was demanded of the mortgagor by the seller and furnished, was admissible to support the defense that the seller, with knowledge that the buyer would borrow the money from the third person and secure the same by a mortgage acquired therein. Pace v. J. M. Radford Grocery Co. (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1130.

In an action for death of employe, evidence that he had worked for defendant for more than two years where the apparatus and conditions were the same as in the building where he was killed should have been admitted to show his knowledge of the conditions and dangers. William Miller & Sons Co. v. Wayman (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 197.

20. — Diligent inquiry.—In an action on a note and to foreclose a vendor's lien on land for which it was given, brought by an indorsee, evidence that the payee's attorney assured plaintiff that the transaction was a bona fide sale held admissible. Cochran v. Siegfried (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 542.

As bearing on the question of diligence in seeking information as to title, a party claiming land as an innocent purchaser was properly permitted to testify that, before he bought, he was told by his immediate grantor that he had not sold it. Downs v. Stevenson, 56 C. A. 211, 119 S. W. 315.

21. — Waiver of notice.—A water consumer suing an irrigation canal company held not entitled to show certain facts as establishing waiver of a requirement for written notice of demand for service. Lone Star Canal Co. v. Cannon (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 799.

22. Statements and conduct of parties.—Statement of a father suing for death of his minor son while in defendant's employ held relevant on the issue whether he acquiesced in the employment. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Evans, 16 C. A. 63, 41 S. W. 80.

Evidence of drunkenness of insured after the fire held inadmissible as evidence of misrepresentations as to the amount of property saved. Phoenix Ins. Co. v. Padgitt (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 800.

In an action against a railroad company for causing the death of an employe, evidence that the employes of the road failed to go to the place where the deceased lay dead is inadmissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Beall (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 605.

Where plaintiff claims his contract with a building company is usurious, evidence of statements made by its officers, which were not known to plaintiff and did not influence his contract, is inadmissible. Cotton States Bldg. Co. v. Rawlins (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 805.

Where defense was that insured had set the fire, testimony that the insurer had employed detectives and prosecuted the insured for arson held admissible. Phoenix Assur. Co. of London v. Stenson (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 542.

Evidence of conduct provoking an assault held admissible in mitigation of exemplary damages. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. La Prelle, 27 C. A. 496, 65 S. W. 488.

In an action by a railroad brakeman for personal injuries, testimony that within a week after the injury plaintiff was consulting attorneys about bringing suit was immaterial. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bailey, 28 C. A. 609, 68 S. W. 803.

In an action by a railway brakeman for personal injuries, testimony that at the time plaintiff commenced suit his counsel gave him certain money, etc., held immaterial. Id.

In an action by a locomotive fireman for injuries caused by defective engine step, evidence that engineer said he would have the step repaired held admissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Garren, 96 T. 605, 74 S. W. 897, 97 Am. St. Rep. 939.

Where damages for medical bills incurred are claimed in an action for injuries, testimony as to a request by plaintiff to telephone for a doctor is admissible. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Powell, 38 C. A. 157, 86 S. W. 21.

In an action for damages for burning grass, testimony that plaintiff warned defendant of the danger from fire held inadmissible. Dunn v. Newberry (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 626.

The question whether an agent of an insurer assented to the insurance of property while in a particular building must be determined from what he said and did in the negotiations. Ætna Ins. Co. v. Brannon, 99 T. 391, 89 S. W. 1057, 2 L. R. A. (N. S.) 548, 13 Ann. Cas. 1020.

In an action for injuries to a servant, correspondence between plaintiff and defendant in which the former gave the reasons of his unwillingness to submit to an examination by defendant's physicians held inadmissible. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Hughes (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 643.

Evidence of the acts of a grantor and grantee with reference to certain crops which were not harvested at the time the deed was made held admissible to rebut the grantee's claim to the crops under the deed. Carter & Donaldson v. Childress (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 714.

In an action for the death of an employé engaged in putting fuel oil in an engine tender, by slipping on a greasy fuel box lid in descending from the tender, testimony that decedent was slow and awkward in filling the tender, and the engineer told him to hurry, was admissible on the question of contributory negligence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Alexander (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 602.

In an action by the addressee against a telegraph company for delay in delivering a telegram, the statements of the sender and her agent in sending the message that neither of them had anything to do with bringing the suit held immaterial. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Guinn (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 616.

In a suit to restrain the enforcement of a default judgment on the ground of fraud in procuring the same, it is proper to permit plaintiff to testify to conversations between himself and his attorney relative to the former suit and to certain acts on the part of both, to prove that he was not negligent in failing to appear and answer in the former suit. Dalhart Real Estate Agency v. Le Master (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 860.

On an issue as to defendant's employment as gin manager for the off season of 1908-1909, evidence of a quarrel between plaintiff's superintendent and another employé held irrelevant. Guitar v. McGee (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 622.

In an action for personal injuries by a person who, while a minor, executed a release which he disaffirmed after reaching his majority, evidence that he never requested secrecy as to his minority was incompetent. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co., of Texas v. Meakin (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1057.

Testimony of plaintiff that before suing defendant he had consulted lawyers and had been advised by them to sue defendant is inadmissible. Merchants' Nat. Bank of Houston v. Townsend (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 617.

In an action on a fire policy, evidence that plaintiff objected to the local authorities investigating the fire was admissible on the issue whether the fire had been started by him. Mott v. Spring Garden Ins. Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 658.

23. Customs and course of business.—See, also, notes under Rules 6, 20.

Evidence irrelevant unless preceded or followed by other evidence, see ante.

Remoteness, see ante.

In an action by a property owner against the adjoining owner for damages to his property by the explosion of dynamite on the latter's premises, used as a hardware store, evidence of how particular persons conducted their hardware business in a particular place was properly excluded, as not showing the general custom. Barnes v. Zettlemoyer, 25 C. A. 468, 62 S. W. 111.

Where defendant pleaded the illegality of contracts for the sale of cotton, evidence as to business methods of the other party to the contracts held admissible. Smith v. Bowen, 45 C. A. 222, 100 S. W. 796.

In an action for the value of a shipment made by defendant to a third person on plaintiff's order, on the ground that it should have been made so that the third person could not have obtained the shipment without first making payment, certain testimony held properly admitted. Smith v. Landa, 45 C. A. 446, 101 S. W. 470.

A custom or usage of trade may be proved by proof of specific instances. Broussard v. South Texas Rice Co. (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 587.

On the issue of adverse possession by uninclosed land, evidence that stock was not permitted to run at large where the land was situated, and that it was not customary for farmers to fence, held admissible. Stevens v. Pedregon (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 236.

24. Value of services.—Earnings and earning capacity, to show damages for personal injury, see post.

In order to determine the value of the services of an attorney rendered in a law suit, it is proper to show the nature of the litigation, the amount involved, the interests at stake, the capacity and fitness of the plaintiffs for the required work, the services and labor rendered, the length of time occupied, and the benefit, if any, derived by defendant from the litigation. I. & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Clark, 81 T. 43, 16 S. W. 631.

Evidence held admissible on the issue of the amount of fees which attorneys were entitled to for making a collection. Britt v. Burghart, 16 C. A. 78, 41 S. W. 389.

Where a distress warrant was levied upon mules, held proper to exclude testimony offered by the tenant to show the value of the services of the mules. Dunlap v. Thrasher, 43 C. A. 324, 107 S. W. 33.

In a broker's action for commissions under an express contract fixing the compensation plaintiff was to receive, evidence of the value of his services was inadmissible. Fordtran v. Stowers, 52 C. A. 226, 113 S. W. 631.

In an action by real estate brokers for commissions for selling land, evidence held admissible on the question of the reasonable value of the services that when more than one agent assisted in selling it was the custom of the agent procuring the buyer to charge only 2½ per cent. commissions. Toland v. Williams & Wiley (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 392.

Where, in an action on a note executed by a client to her attorney for services rendered, the issue was whether the charge made by the attorney was excessive, evidence that the maker's estimate of the value of the attorney's services was based on a false estimate of the value of the estate which she obtained by him was admissible. Barnes v. McCarthy (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 85.

25. Value or market price of property.—Certainty, see ante.

Evidence irrelevant unless preceded or followed by other evidence, see ante.

In an action for the value of goods sold, evidence of the agreement of the parties as to the amount to be paid therefor is admissible. Ballew v. Casey, 60 T. 573. But when the suit is to recover an agreed sum, evidence of the value is inadmissible. McGreal v. Wilson, 9 T. 426; Gammage v. Alexander, 14 T. 414; Jones v. Brazile, 1 App. C. C. § 299.

Market value is shown by price when there has been an actual sale, by cost, etc. Galveston Wharf Co. v. McYoung, 2 App. C. C. § 643. When there is no market value of a commodity, such as hay, evidence of a single sale in the neighborhood, the opinion of witness, the general understanding of the community as to its value, is admissible. G. C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Lowe, 2 App. C. C. § 648.

Certain evidence in an action for wrongful attachment as to value of the property held admissible. Armstrong v. Ames & Frost Co., 17 C. A. 46, 43 S. W. 302.

Estimated value of book accounts was held admissible against a fraudulent purchaser thereof. Moore v. Temple Grocer Co. (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 843.

Evidence as to value of land cut into lots, and the value of lots in the neighborhood, held admissible in an action for injuries by railroad. Denison & P. S. Ry. Co. v. Scholz (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 560.

Evidence as to what plaintiff was offered for his land before defendant maintained a nuisance held inadmissible to show impairment in value. Brennan v. Corsicana Cotton-Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 588.

Where appraisal is waived, evidence of value of goods destroyed held admissible in action on policy. Springfield Fire & Marine Ins. Co. v. Cannon (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 375.

The exclusion of evidence offered by a railroad company to show the value of property destroyed by fire held error. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Smith (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 1046.

In action on fire policy, evidence that arbitrators did not estimate the value of part of the building that was totally destroyed held not error. Phoenix Ins. Co. v. Moore (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 1131.

On an issue whether an instrument was intended as a mortgage or a conditional deed, evidence is admissible that the property was worth nearly double the consideration named in the deed. Temple Nat. Bank v. Warner, 92 T. 226, 47 S. W. 515.

Evidence of the value of the abutting property assessed, held inadmissible where a personal judgment was not asked for. Hutcheson v. Storrie (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 785.

Evidence of the value of lands taken, based on an assumed deep-water frontage, was properly stricken, where no such frontage was shown to exist. Crary v. Port Arthur Channel & Dock Co. (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 703.

Evidence that plaintiff could get only $150 for the land immediately after the railroad was built held admissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. O'Connor (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 511.

Plaintiff's damages for a fraudulent sale by defendant being the value of the land at the time of second sale, evidence showing a particular value of the land to him or amount of taxes paid is inadmissible. Mitchell v. Simons (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 76.

Evidence of value of property in controversy held admissible. Huff v. Maroney, 23 C. A. 465, 56 S. W. 754.

In action to cancel deed and rescind sale by devisee of property not yet distributed, as having been procured for an inadequate consideration, question of whether executors properly administered estate held not material on question of value of estate conveyed. Wells v. Houston, 23 C. A. 629, 57 S. W. 584.

Where defendant city discharged sewage along the border of plaintiff's land, it was error to allow testimony to show that sewage enhanced the value of land for agricultural purposes, where the sewage did not flow on plaintiff's land, and it was not possible for him to use it. Smith v. City of San Antonio (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 881.

In an action to recover for household goods destroyed in transportation, evidence of their intrinsic value held properly admitted. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Davidson, 25 C. A. 134, 60 S. W. 278.

Evidence that real estate sold under a vendor's lien was of greater value than at the time the lien was reserved held inadmissible in an action by a purchaser under the vendor's lien foreclosure sale to recover machinery removed from property. Mundine v. Pauls, 28 C. A. 46, 66 S. W. 254.

Evidence of general increase in value held not admissible on the question of damages from construction in a railroad. Eastern Texas R. Co. v. Eddings, 30 C. A. 170, 70 S. W. 98.

In proceeding to condemn land, evidence that it is an old homestead, and, as such, possesses peculiar value to the owner, held inadmissible. Cane Belt Ry. Co. v. Hughes, 31 C. A. 565, 72 S. W. 1020.

Evidence in condemnation proceedings of probable character of lands as suburban property held admissible. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hughes (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 976.

In suit for cancellation of conveyance on ground of fraud, certain evidence held admissible on question as to value of lands, in return for an interest in which, the conveyance was made. Cooper v. Maggard (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 607.

Where, pending suit for trespass in the erection of a telephone pole on plaintiff's premises, the pole was removed, whereupon plaintiff filed an amended petition alleging such fact, evidence of the difference in value of the land with and without the pole held irrelevant. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Whiteman, 36 C. A. 163, 81 S. W. 76.

In action for breach of contract of sale of real estate, plaintiff held not limited to proof of market value to establish the true value of the property. J. P. Watkins Land Mortg. Co. v. Campbell, 98 T. 372, 84 S. W. 424.

In an action for injuries to a horse, evidence that plaintiff had tried to sell it and had not found a purchaser for a specified price was inadmissible. Howard v. Fabj, 42 C. A. 42, 93 S. W. 225.

In action for cancellation of deed on issue of force and threats of violence, value of respective interests of parties and consideration paid for the property conveyed held immaterial. Bartek v. Kolacek (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 114.

In an action for injuries to abutting property by a construction in the street, defendant under the pleadings held entitled to show the enhancement in value of the abutting property, in offset to damages done to it by the construction. Burton Lumber Corp. v. City of Houston, 45 C. A. 363, 101 S. W. 822.

In proceedings by a railroad to condemn land, certain evidence as to value held admissible. Hengy v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 402.

Where it is sought to prevent an owner of property from using it because of injury to an adjoining proprietor, evidence as to the value of defendant's property is admissible. Gose v. Coryell (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 1164.

In a suit to enjoin the collection of taxes on the ground of discrimination in assessing plaintiff's tracts, testimony held admissible as to the value of timber on the several tracts belonging to plaintiff taken as a whole. Lufkin Land & Lumber Co. v. Noble (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1093.

In an action to recover the purchase price of a machine, evidence as to its value held immaterial. Carroll v. Mitchell-Parks Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 446.

In an action to recover money paid for an option to purchase land by reason of the false representation that defendant had such an option, evidence of the increased value of the land at the time of the trial over its value at the time of its purchase, held inadmissible. Magill v. Coffman (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1146.

Where, in an action by an indorsee of a note against the executor of the deceased maker, the executor made the payee a party and alleged that the payee exercised undue influence over the maker while occupying the relation of attorney to her, evidence that the payee, after the action was brought, had stated that, while he had taken the note, he did not expect to collect the full amount thereof, but that he expected the court to pass on the reasonableness of his fees as evidenced by the note, but that since the suit had been filed he would insist on the full amount, was admissible on the issue between the executor and the payee that his charge for his services was excessive. Barnes v. McCarthy (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 85.

On a dispute as to the price agreed upon, evidence of the value of the goods is admissible. Paine v. Argyle Mercantile Co. (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 895.

Where it is an uncontroverted issue as to whether an article has a market value, evidence is admissible to show intrinsic or actual value, but not otherwise. Felker v. Hyman (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1128.

In an action to recover money paid under a contract, held, that inadequacy of price was material on the issue as to whether there was a meeting of minds. Dewitt v. Bowers (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1147.

In an action for damages for breach of a contract for the sale of land, evidence showing its market value held admissible. Naylor v. Parker (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 93.

In a suit to rescind an exchange of property or for damages in the alternative, the court held to properly permit testimony as to the value of the land exchanged by plaintiff. Pickens v. Major (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1040.

In an action for injuries to property from the construction of a railroad in a street, testimony as to whether the lot was of greater or less value after the laying of the tracks was properly excluded. Dallas Terminal Ry. & Union Co. v. Ardrey (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 616.

Exclusion of evidence as to value of land lying in one certain direction held not error, where the shortage for which the purchaser sued did not lie in any particular direction. Yates v. Buttrill (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 347.

In an action for the value of a house destroyed by fire, it was proper to show the value of the land separate from the house as bearing on the value of the house. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Murray (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 217.

A carrier sued for loss of baggage consisting of wearing apparel of a passenger may not prove that the articles had a market value as secondhand articles and prove secondhand value. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hailey (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1119.

26. — Time and place of valuation.—Under a claim for use and occupancy of premises from December 1, 1879, evidence of its value from January 1, 1879, is inadmissible. Walker v. Simkins, 2 App. C. C. § 70.

The value of lands taken by railroads for right of way is to be estimated at the time payment is made or tendered. G., C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Lyons, 2 App. C. C. § 139.

In an action for conversion of a stock of goods taken in bulk in payment of a debt, the inquiry as to value should be restricted to the value in bulk as at the time of the sale. Reynolds v. Weinman (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 560.

In an action for damages to a house by operation of railroad, defendant cannot show price of the property 12 years before. Denison & P. S. Ry. Co. v. Cummins (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 588.

Where petition in a suit to set aside a deed for fraud charged certain interveners in possession with rents, the value of the property at the time of the trial was properly shown. Temple Nat. Bank v. Warner (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 1025.

Evidence of the value of homestead property after its designation held admissible to show its valuation at the time. Gonzales v. Adoue (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 543.

Where plaintiff sued for failure to deliver goods purchased, testimony as to the market value of the goods at the place to which they were to be shipped was improperly admitted; it appearing that plaintiff could not buy such goods at such place. Specialty Furniture Co. v. Kingsbury (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 1030.

In an action against a railroad company for an overflow from construction of a trestle, held error to admit evidence as to the value of the land before the construction of the trestle. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Kiersey, 98 T. 590, 86 S. W. 744.

In an action against a railroad company for the destruction of property by fire, the sustaining of an objection to a question asked a witness testifying as to the market value of the land before and after the fire held not erroneous. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Nelser, 54 C. A. 460, 118 S. W. 166.

In an action for injury to land by overflow in May, 1905, testimony as to its value on March 14, 1906, held properly excluded on question of damages. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Chilton, 52 C. A. 516, 118 S. W. 779.

In condemnation proceedings for a right of way, the admission of evidence as to the market value of the land when the road was constructed, rather than at the time of trial, held not error. Stephenville North & South Texas Ry. Co. v. Moore, 56 C. A. 553, 121 S. W. 882.

Trade publications held inadmissible to show market price of a delayed shipment of sheep at the place of destination on a certain date. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Word (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 478.

Where cattle shipped would not have arrived, in the usual course of transit, until the 14th day of the month, evidence of the condition of the market on the 13th is immaterial. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Noelke (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 969.

In an action on a policy, evidence of the value of the property when insured as well as before the fire, held admissible. Delaware Ins. Co. of Philadelphia v. Hill (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 283.

In an action for damages for breach of a contract to buy cattle, evidence as to the market value at the place and at about the time fixed for delivery held admissible. Houston Packing Co. v. Griffith (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1139.

Where a pump was sold under warranty f. o. b. New York, evidence as to its value at Lubbock, Tex., where it was set up, held immaterial. A. S. Cameron Steam Pump Works v. Lubbock Light & Ice Co. (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 717.

In an action against a railroad company for damages caused by an overflow of a stream, the admission in evidence of the value of the land overflowed just before and just after the overflow was not erroneous. Stephenville, N. & S. T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Yates (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 836.

In an action involving the falsity of representations as to the value of land, where there was evidence that its value at the time of the trial was the same as at the time the representations were made, the admission of depositions giving the witnesses' opinions of its value when the depositions were taken was proper. Martin v. Ince (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1178.

In a condemnation proceeding, the testimony of the owner as to the consideration paid by him for the property, and the consideration realized from a sale of a part of the property more than a year prior to the trial, where part cash and part promissory notes and other property were given, was improperly admitted. Ft. Worth Improvement Dist. No. 1 of Tarrant County v. Weatherred (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 550.

27. — Appraisal of property.—Testimony of sheriff that he valued goods at what bookkeeper acquainted with cost marks on same said they cost coupled with testimony of bookkeeper that he gave cost price to sheriff, is admissible to show cost of goods. Parlin & Orendorff Co. v. Hanson, 21 C. A. 401, 53 S. W. 62.

In an action on a fire policy, the adjustment held evidence of the value of the goods destroyed, and prima facie proof of the amount due under the policy. German Ins. Co. v. Gibbs, Wilson & Co., 42 C. A. 407, 92 S. W. 1068, 96 S. W. 760.

28. — Corporate stock.—To show the value of the stock of a corporation held as collateral, it is competent to prove that at Boston, where its headquarters are kept, only about one-fifth of their face value could be raised on the shares. Smith v. Traders' Nat. Bank, 82 T. 368, 17 S. W. 779.

A statement of a building and loan association's business two years prior to a sale of its assets held admissible to show the value of plaintiff's stock. North Texas Sav. & Bldg. Ass'n v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 344.

On an issue as to the value of certain corporate stock, evidence that, when the corporation was organized, part of its stock was watered and issued to promoters, was irrelevant. Campbell v. Rushing (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 133.

29. — Comparison with other property.—Where the land sought to be condemned included all of the timber land on defendant's farm, evidence that plaintiff had been offered timber land within a half mile of that in question at a certain price was properly excluded. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brugger, 24 C. A. 367, 59 S. W. 556.

On an issue as to whether the value of plaintiff's property had depreciated by construction of railway lines, etc., in the vicinity, certain evidence as to other lots held erroneously admitted. Dennis v. Dallas, C. & S. W. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 1092.

30. — Crops.—Evidence of the cash market value of cotton and its classification is admissible. Railway Co. v. Gernan, 84 T. 141, 19 S. W. 461.

Where plaintiff's interest in a cotton crop had been converted, evidence of the market value of cotton at the time was admissible. Ellis v. Stine (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 758.

Where there was no evidence of market value of grass destroyed by fire, its value to plaintiff for the purposes for which he used it should be considered. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Stone (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 461.

In an action against a railroad for the destruction of plaintiff's crops, owing to the diversion of waters onto his land through a ditch constructed by defendant along the line of its road, evidence as to the value of lint cotton during the season that the lands were overflowed, was admissible. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Longbottom (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 542.

In an action for damages to plaintiff's rice crop owing to an overflow of water from defendant's canal, certain testimony as to what plaintiff received a sack for some of the uninjured rice subsequently sold held not controlling on the issue of damages. Colorado Canal Co. v. Sims, 42 C. A. 442, 94 S. W. 365.

In an action for the burning of plaintiff's grass, evidence of its value held inadmissible as not showing market value. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Pemberton, 43 C. A. 291, 95 S. W. 1089.

In an action against a railroad for flooding lands, all the evidence, when taken together, held not to violate the correct criterion of the value of a growing crop. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hagler (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 783.

In an action against the landlord for failure to give the tenant possession of all the land leased, evidence as to the value of the crop raised on the land furnished held admissible. Pressler v. Warren, 57 C. A. 635, 122 S. W. 909.

Where the judgment record does not show certain proceedings, it will be presumed, especially after a long lapse of time, that that was done which should have been done. Maes v. Thomas (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 846.

31. — Cost of property and amount received in general.—The price a fraudulent purchaser received for the property was not admissible to show its value. Moore v. Temple Grocer Co. (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 843.

In an action for failure to deliver goods, evidence of their cost held admissible where there was no market value at the place of delivery. New York & T. S. S. Co. v. Weiss (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 674.

Evidence as to the cost of improvements held admissible in an action to recover on defendant's obligation to pay the cost of such improvements on discontinuing plaintiff's right to use land. Ackermann v. Ackermann Schuetzen Verein (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 366.

In an action for conversion of furniture, it was error to permit the owner to testify as to what he paid for the piano converted. Lincoln v. Packard, 25 C. A. 22, 60 S. W. 682.

Where the value of improvements on land was in issue, testimony of witness as to what he estimated the improvements to have cost, and that he did not think they had deteriorated much, held proper. Smith v. Frio County (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 711.

In a proceeding to condemn land for a railroad right of way, evidence as to the price paid therefor by the owner 10 years before was incompetent, though there was evidence that its market value had remained unchangd. Sullivan v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 29 C. A. 429, 68 S. W. 745.

Rule stated for ascertaining the value of household goods in use, for the purpose of determining the damages from injury thereto. Wells, Fargo Exp. Co. v. Williams (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 314.

In action for partnership accounting, contract whereby defendant sold third person half interest in the property held not admissible on question of the value of the property when sale was made. Gresham v. Harcourt, 33 C. A. 196, 75 S. W. 808.

Evidence of the cost of personal property destroyed by fire set by a railroad company, though admissible, held insufficient proof of value to sustain a recovery. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Moss, 37 C. A. 461, 84 S. W. 231.

In an action for injury to personal property, the original cost may be considered in arriving at its value only in the absence of evidence showing that the property had no market value at the time it was destroyed. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Levy, 45 C. A. 373, 100 S. W. 195.

In an action for damages to grazing lands from herding sheep thereon, tramping down grass, consuming and polluting water, and injuring the tanks, where there was no market value of the grass, water, or tanks, the price plaintiff was paying the state for the pasturage was immaterial on the question of his damages. Tippett v. Corder (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 186.

Evidence of the price paid for property is not evidence of its market value. Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. v. Neches Iron Works, 57 C. A. 249, 122 S. W. 64.

In an action for the price of a secondhand, well-drilling outfit, the value thereof may not be shown by proof of the price at which the seller obtained the outfit at a sheriff's sale. Edwards v. Mayes (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 610.

Testimony of price paid by plaintiffs for the timber, for destruction of which they sue, held inadmissible to prove market value. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Blocker (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 156.

The price paid for land was not evidence of its market value. Wichita Falls & W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wyrick (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 730.

In an action on a party wall contract, stipulating that defendant on using the wall should pay one-half of the then value of the part used, evidence of the original cost of the wall was relevant on the question of its value at the time defendant made use of it, a year or more after its construction. Wyatt v. Moore (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1133.

32. — Cost of production.—Proof of market value of crops, without evidence of cost of harvesting, held improper in an action for destruction of standing crops. D. H. Fleming & Son v. Pullen (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 109.

33. — Rental value.—If there is no market, the rental value of property delayed may be ascertained by proof of facts affecting the question and by opinions of witnesses properly informed. G., C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Maetze, 2 App. C. C. § 631.

In assessing damages on an unimproved lot, evidence of rental value of saloon across the street held incompetent. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Burger (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 613.

Evidence of the value of the property conveyed at the time of the trial held inadmissible, standing by itself, to show its rental value. Temple Nat. Bank v. Warner, 92 T. 226, 47 S. W. 515.

Evidence of the value of rents before and after permanent injury to the realty held admissible to show depreciation. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. O'Connor (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 511.

In an action for injury to land from the pollution of a stream, evidence of the annual value and net income of the land prior to its injury held admissible as to rental value, though the land had never been rented. Umscheid v. City of San Antonio (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 496.

In an action against a railroad company for damages to property abutting on the street in which the tracks were laid, evidence of the rental value of the property after the construction of the road was admissible on the question of damages. Texas Short Line Ry. Co. v. Clifford (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 168.

In an action for the detention of personal property alleged to have been purchased by plaintiff of defendant, evidence of the rental value or hire thereof per day held inadmissible. Parlin & Orendorff Co. v. Kittrell (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 703.

In an action against a railroad company for damages caused by the building of a depot, tracks, etc., near plaintiff's property, evidence of a reduction in the rental value of the property held admissible to show damages. Magee v. Oklahoma City & T. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 1092.

In an action for the rental value of the building during the time the contractor delayed its construction, any testimony bearing on the question of rental value is admissible. Smith v. Gunn, 57 C. A. 339, 122 S. W. 919.

Evidence of price at which public free school land was rented by defendants to a third party held admissible as a circumstance tending to show the reasonable rental value recoverable by the state. Hamilton v. State (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1117.

34. — Insurance.—In a suit to recover damages for the wrongful seizure of goods, evidence as to the amount for which they were insured at the time of the seizure is inadmissible when offered for the purpose of proving their value. Blum v. Stein, 68 T. 608, 5 S. W. 454.

35. — Judicial sale.—The sheriff's return on a sale of attached property, made several months after its seizure, is not admissible evidence as to its value at the time of the seizure. McCown v. Kitchen (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 801.

Amount for which land sold on execution held, under the circumstances, not evidence of its value. W. T. Rickards & Co. v. J. H. Bemis & Co. (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 239.

36. — Amount for which property can be purchased.—In an action of trespass for burning an old house, it was error to admit on the question of damages evidence as to the price of new lumber; the true measure of damages being, as the court charged, the difference between the value of the premises just before and just after its destruction. Wetzel v. Satterwhite (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 93.

37. — Amount for which property will sell.—Where an assignment of a debtor's stock is assailed for fraud, proof that the goods could not have been sold for more than 65 per cent. of their value held inadmissible. Half v. Goldfrank (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 1095.

In condemnation proceedings for a road, the reception of evidence that the entire tract out of which the road was taken would sell for more if cut up into small tracts held error. Watkins v. Hopkins County (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 872.

In an action against a carrier for unreasonable delay in delivering potatoes, evidence of price for which potatoes actually sold held admissible on issue of damages. Garlington v. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co., 34 C. A. 274, 78 S. W. 368.

38. — Tax assessment.—In an action for injuries to plaintiff for pollution of a water course by sewage, assessments of plaintiff's property for taxation are properly excluded on the issue of value. City of San Antonio v. Diaz (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 549.

On a dispute between the buyer and seller as to the price, the buyer held entitled to show that a third person offered to sell at the price claimed by him. Paine v. Argyle Mercantile Co. (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 895.

The amount at which plaintiff gave in his property for taxes during certain years held relevant on the question of its value. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Koch (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1035.

39. — Circumstances adding to or detracting from value in general.—Where the market value of an article cannot be shown, the intrinsic qualities of the thing, its uses, and any facts which would naturally affect the minds of parties buying and selling, in determining the price to be asked or given, are relevant to the question of value. Railway Co. v. Dunham, 4 App. C. C. § 99, 16 S. W. 421.

To show depreciation of property, evidence of noise, smoke, and dirt is admissible. Denison & P. S. Ry. Co. v. Cummins (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 538.

Testimony that adjacent property had depreciated 30 per cent. by reason of a nuisance held admissible. Brennan v. Corsicana Cotton-Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 538.

In an action against a railroad company for damages to property abutting on the street in which the tracks were laid, certain evidence held admissible to show diminution in the value of the property. Texas Short Line Ry. Co. v. Clifford (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 168.

In an action on a street paving contract, evidence that the value of defendant's property had been enhanced by the construction of the pavement held inadmissible. Barber v. Asphalt Pav. Co. v. Loughlin, 44 C. A. 580, 98 S. W. 948.

In an action for damages to real estate, in consequence of the construction of railroad pens near thereto, evidence of the depreciation of the value of the property for specified purposes held admissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Blue, 46 C. A. 239, 102 S. W. 128.

In an action against a railway company to enjoin construction of a fence between its right of way and an adjoining lot, testimony as to the value of the lot on account of its proximity to the company's station and as to what uses the lot could be subjected was properly admitted on the question of market value. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Ayers (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1068.

40. — Animals.—It being shown that the agents of the railway company were informed at the time of receiving the cattle that they were for immediate sale at their destination, it was relevant to show the state of the market at the destination when the cattle should have been delivered, and the lower price when actually delivered. Railway Co. v. Greathouse, 82 T. 104, 17 S. W. 834.

Proof of intrinsic value of cattle shipped held proper, where there was no market value. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Chittim (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 23.

In action for injuries to mare in transit, evidence of unaccepted offer held inadmissible on the question of value. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Randle, 18 C. A. 348, 44 S. W. 603.

Where an action is brought against railroad for damages to cattle resulting from its negligence and delay in executing a contract of carriage, evidence of the market value of the cattle is admissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wells, 24 C. A. 304, 58 S. W. 842.

On an issue as to the damages for a carrier's failure to seasonably unload cattle at their destination, evidence of the market value of the cattle there, if delivered in as good condition as when turned over to the carrier, held inadmissible. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Botts (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 113.

In action against carrier, evidence by seller as to price brought at National Stockyards held sufficient evidence that cattle sold at market value. St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. J. H. White & Co. (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 947.

In action against a carrier for damages to cattle, evidence showing the condition, history, and shortage of the cattle on their arrival at destination is admissible. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Carroll, 36 C. A. 359, 81 S. W. 1020.

In an action against a railroad company for killing certain ponies, evidence of what plaintiff paid for the ponies was inadmissible to show the value of the animals. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Anson (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 785.

In an action for damages to a shipment of cattle, it was not error to refuse evidence of market value, based on conditions not existing on the arrival of the shipment. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dolan (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 393.

In an action for damages to a shipment of cattle, testimony as to what the shipment ought to have been worth held properly excluded.—Id.

On the question of damages to cattle shipped, evidence as to what plaintiff paid for the cattle is inadmissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Jackson & Edwards (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 47.

In an action for injuries to horses shipped, the market value of the horses at points other than their destination was inadmissible. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Stephens (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 933.

In an action involving the value of live stock certain evidence held inadmissible. Bullard v. Stewart, 46 C. A. 49, 102 S. W. 174.

Where sheep could not have arrived at their destination in time for the market of the day on which the shipment would have been made had cars been furnished in a reasonable time, evidence of the state of the market on that day was irrelevant. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Word (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 478.

In an action against a carrier for injury to a shipment of cattle, plaintiff testified there was no market for the cattle in the condition they were in when they reached their destination, that there was no place for their sale there, that there were no stock-yards except the railroad pens, and no barns where cattle were sold, and no commission merchants, and if there had been any people there buying and selling at that time he would have known of it. Another testified it was a place about 1,500, that he had been in and around there for some time preceding the shipment, and there were no yards, commission merchants, or sales of cattle there that he ever heard of. Held, that such testimony was admissible on the question of damages to show that there was no market value at that place. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wasson Bros. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 664.

In an action against a railroad company for damage to cattle en route, evidence as to what the cattle would have sold for some time after they should have reached destination if promptly transported, and at another market, was not admissible. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Roberts (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 890.

Evidence as to price paid for horses injured in transportation held inadmissible in an action against the carrier, where there is evidence of their market value at their destination. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Rogers (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1155.

What cattle sold for on the day of their arrival and on the market to which they were shipped held admissible to show their market value, in an action for injury to them through the carrier's rough handling and delay in transit. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Montgomery (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 813.

Evidence of what plaintiff paid for a horse eight months before its injury and the price he offered to sell him for held inadmissible on the issue of market value. Municipal Paving Co. v. Donovan Co. (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 644.

In an action for breach of a contract to buy cattle, evidence of the range of prices during a period covering the date in question, and showing minimum price during the period, held admissible to show value. Houston Packing Co. v. Griffith (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1139; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Crowder, 152 S. W. 183.

In a statutory action against a railroad for killing a jack, testimony by a witness, who sold the animal to plaintiff, that he was cheap at the selling price to a man who needed him, was inadmissible because not based on the proper measure of damages, which was the market value. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Chisholm (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 988.

Where, by reason of a carrier's delay in transporting cattle, plaintiff was unable to sell them on the morning market, and the evening market was lower, the difference between the morning and evening price was admissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Ideus (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 173.

41. Laws of other state or country.—The existence of a statute of another state cannot be proved by producing the opinion of the supreme court of that state construing it. Seiders v. Merchants' Life Ass'n of the United States, 93 T. 194, 54 S. W. 753.

Where, under the Mexican law, field notes of surveys could only be obtained from the general land office, testimony of witnesses to the same effect was irrelevant. Clawson v. Wilkins (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 1086.

Since the ultimate determination of cases arising in the Indian Territory may be made by the federal supreme court, its rulings as to what are the rules of the common law must be accepted as the highest evidence of the common law of the territory. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wise, 101 T. 459, 109 S. W. 112.

42. Date of organization of county.—On the issue as to the date of the organization of a county, evidence that the commissioners' court provided in a certain year that the transcript of the surveyor's records of a land district be placed in the custody of the county surveyor was immaterial. McCaleb v. Rector (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 956.

43. Time of election of officer.—The fact that the first entry in a surveyor's record book was made in 1882 is not evidence on an issue as to when the surveyor was elected. McCaleb v. Rector (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 956.

44. Violation of anti-trust law.—It may be shown, to prove combination of corporations in violation of the anti-trust law, that an ordinance extending their franchises was accepted in furtherance of an unlawful design to restrain trade. San Antonio Gas Co. v. State, 22 C. A. 118, 54 S. W. 289.

45. Discrimination in taxation.—In a suit to enjoin the collection of taxes on the ground of discrimination against plaintiff's lands for the years 1906 and 1907, testimony as to an agreement by the commissioners' court in 1904 to abide by the valuation of property assessed, regardless of evidence, held properly excluded as irrelevant. Lufkin Land & Lumber Co. v. Noble (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1093.

46. Dedication.—Intent, see ante.

In determining whether a dedication of property to a city as a street was revoked before its acceptance, evidence that land has been sold by the dedicator and described by him in the deed by the plat upon which the blocks, lots, and streets were delineated, is admissible. City of San Antonio v. Rowley, 48 C. A. 376, 106 S. W. 753.

Whether an alley was dedicated to public use depends on the action or nonaction of the owners of the land, and so it was erroneous to admit evidence showing that without the alley the public would be greatly inconvenienced in getting through the large block in which the alley was situated. Davis v. Young (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1116.

47. Public character of road.—The long-continued use of a road is a pertinent fact to establish its public character. Markham v. H. & T. C. R. R. Co., 1 App. C. C. § 81.

And so is the assignment of hands by the county court to work it. McWhorter v. State, 43 T. 666.

48. Validity of purchase of school land.—On issue as to validity of purchase of school lands, evidence that commissioner of general land office canceled the award of land to the purchaser held inadmissible. Smithers v. Lowrance, 100 T. 77, 93 S. W. 1064.

On issue as to validity of purchase of school lands, evidence that purchaser paid interest and resided on land as required by law, held admissible. Id.

49. Illegitimacy of child.—Evidence showing illicit intercourse of married woman with a man not her husband held inadmissible to prove illegitimacy of her child. Foote v. State (Cr. App.) 144 S. W. 275.

Evidence of difference in color between child and her mother's husband held inadmissible to prove illegitimacy. Id.

50. Marriage.—Negative evidence, see ante.

Remoteness, see ante.

Evidence, in an action by a wife for the death of her husband, that deceased's mother corresponded with her as a daughter held admissible on question of marriage. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Cody, 20 C. A. 520, 50 S. W. 135.

51. Separation of husband and wife.—Testimony upon point of actual separation before time of agreement to separate held material and relevant. Levy v. Goldsoll (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 420.

52. Residence.—Certainty, see ante.

On the issues involving plaintiff's residence and his disposition to earn money, certain evidence held properly received. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 1148.

On an issue as to whether a particular voter resided in the state on January 1st, so as to make him liable for poll tax, it was error to exclude his testimony that he and his wife did nothing toward establishing a home in the state until about the middle of January. Linger v. Balfour (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 795.

On an issue as to the residence of a voter, testimony as to where he had lived since a specified time, where his headquarters were during that time, and as to where he considered his home to be since that time was properly excluded as irrelevant. Id.

On an issue as to the residence of a voter whose right to vote was denied, testimony that he did not go on a claim which he had filed on in another state to live was properly excluded, since, he being a single man, his right to vote was fixed by statute at the place where he usually slept. Id.

Testimony offered on an issue as to the residence of a voter, whose right to vote was denied, as to whether he resided with a certain family, held properly rejected. Id.

53. Wills, matters affecting validity of.—See notes under Arts. 3271, 3272.

54. — Allowance under will.—Evidence as to the value of services of a superintendant of property devised by testator, in order to arrive at the net profits, held admissible in an action for an allowance under the will. McCreary v. Robinson, 94 T. 221, 59 S. W. 536.

55. Gift.—Circumstantial evidence, see ante.

Certain evidence held admissible on an issue as to whether the owner of land had made a parol gift thereof. Hammond v. Hammond, 43 C. A. 284, 94 S. W. 1067.

56. Partnership and partnership transactions.—Admissibility of evidence to show partnership determined. Davis v. Bingham (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 840.

It was not error, in an action growing out of the dissolution of a partnership, to refuse to require plaintiff to answer questions relating to transactions prior to the existence of the partnership. Mansfield v. Neese, 21 C. A. 584, 54 S. W. 370.

In action on note, seeking to charge defendants as partners, question asked to elicit evidence of assumption of indebtedness held properly excluded; the evidence being irrelevant. Moore v. Williams, 31 C. A. 287, 72 S. W. 222.

Evidence of a transfer of his property by an alleged partner, prior to starting the business in which he was alleged to be a partner, held admissible as a circumstance showing that he was a partner. Robinson v. First Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 103.

57. Collusive appointment of receiver.—Proceedings with reference to the removal of a receiver, had long after the appointment, are inadmissible on the question of collusion in the appointment. Adams v. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co., 34 C. A. 413, 79 S. W. 79.

58. Injunction.—Remoteness, see ante.

In proceedings to enjoin the construction of a highway, evidence that the jury of view promised plaintiff that its claim for damages would be allowed is admissible. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Baudat, 18 C. A. 595, 45 S. W. 939.

In a suit to restrain the erection of a building of combustible material within established fire limits, certain evidence held properly excluded. Chimine v. Baker, 32 C. A. 520, 75 S. W. 330.

In an action to enjoin continued violation of a contract not to engage in a certain line of business, certain evidence held inadmissible. Walker v. Brosius (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 655.

In an action to enjoin a railway company from constructing a fence along the line of a lot adjoining its right of way, evidence that the fence would affect the use of the lot is immaterial and irrelevant. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Ayers (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1068.

59. Partition.—In a suit where there is a question as to an alleged ancient partition of land, evidence of the payment of taxes by those claiming under the partition is admissible. Glasscock v. Hughes, 55 T. 461.

60. Boundaries.—Evidence irrelevant unless preceded or followed by other evidence, see ante.

Hearsay evidence, see notes under Rule 35.

Circumstantial evidence, see ante.

When a disputed boundary line was coincident with an established line of another survey, made at the same time, a question which sought to elicit the action of a surveyor in running the line of such established survey was pertinent to the issue. Tucker v. Smith, 68 T. 473, 3 S. W. 671.

A boundary line cannot be proven by showing that an adjoining land owner claiming under the grant, but who is not a party to the suit, does not claim beyond the line in controversy. Bailey v. Baker (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 124.

A judgment deciding the boundaries of a section of land held inadmissible in another action between different parties, to show such boundaries. Colonial & U. S. Mortg. Co. v. Tubbs (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 623.

On an issue as to boundary line, though deeds of both parties referred to plat recorded in county clerk's office, evidence showing the survey as marked on the ground held properly admitted. McLane v. Grice (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 709.

Evidence as to certain survey in an action to determine a boundary line examined, and held admissible. Dillingham v. Smith, 30 C. A. 525, 70 S. W. 791.

In trespass to try title, deed of adjoining land held admissible in evidence in connection with other evidence on issue as to location of boundary. Camp v. League (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 1062.

In trespass to try title, deeds of adjoining property held admissible in evidence to define location of land in question. McCullum v. Buckner's Orphans' Home, 54 C. A. 348, 117 S. W. 886.

In action for death at railroad crossing, evidence tending to show ordinance including territory within city limits and exercise of municipal functions over the territory held admissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bratcher, 54 C. A. 10, 118 S. W. 1091.

Admissibility of certain evidence in an action to determine a boundary discussed. Gull v. O'Bryan (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 593.

A witness held properly allowed to testify that a surveyor was with him when he found a marked boundary line concerning which he testified. Myers v. Moody (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 920.

In a boundary line dispute, a witness could state the fact of having run a line at a certain place and time, whether he knew where the original line was run or not. Id.

Where the land was originally located by office work without actual survey, a judgment in another action finding corners of adjacent land by which the land in suit could be identified is admissible in evidence though defendant was not a party thereto. Finberg v. Gilbert (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 979.

Certain evidence held admissible in trespass to try title to show that the boundary line was not as claimed by plaintiffs. Cochran v. Casey (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 1145.

In trespass to try title, in which the boundary line of a certain survey was the disputed question, certain testimony by a surveyor held admissible to identify the marked tree found by him with the one called for in the field notes of the survey. Id.

In trespass to try title, in which the line of a certain survey was in controversy, a deed from plaintiffs to another which called for certain trees identified by a witness held admissible to show that fact, and that plaintiffs had acquiesced in the line as located by such parties. Id.

In trespass to try title in which defendants claimed under an agreement of defendants' grantors fixing the boundary line, certain evidence held admissible to identify on the ground the agreed line shown on the plat attached to the agreement. Hermann v. Fenn (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1139.

Where the field notes of an original survey made in 1857 did not call for a rock pile, the testimony of a witness that he subsequently saw a rock pile at the end of a line, as run by a surveyor making a subsequent survey, held inadmissible. Runkle v. Smith (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 745.

In a suit to establish a boundary, certain evidence held admissible to show the true location of the line. Id.

In action to recover land deed to defendant of adjoining survey held admissible to locate common corner. Davis v. Mills (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 1064.

Certain evidence in a boundary case held admissible. Collins v. Warfield (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 107.

61. Indebtedness.—In an action for an accounting between partners, and to determine the liability of third persons to the firm, evidence of payment made by such third person to defendant after suit brought held inadmissible. Storrie v. Hamilton (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 235.

Evidence as to creation of original debt held irrelevant in contest between execution creditor and claimant. Stephens v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 328.

62. — Assumption.—On an issue whether one could have obtained money for a certain purpose, evidence that a person owed him held competent. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Waller (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 396.

In an action on a note against a corporation as maker, testimony by a person who subsequently purchased the corporation as to how the former owner thereof treated the indebtedness was irrelevant, and its admission prejudicial error. Wilson v. Tyler Coffin Co., 28 C. A. 172, 66 S. W. 865.

In an action by a railway brakeman for personal injuries, testimony that plaintiff was indebted to a third party, who was pressing him, held immaterial. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bailey, 28 C. A. 609, 68 S. W. 803.

In an action on a note against the maker and another, alleged to have assumed payment thereof, where there was conflict of evidence as to which of a number of notes the third person had assumed to pay as part of the purchase price of property, testimony as to the value and kind of property purchased was admissible. Hawkins v. Western Nat. Bank of Hereford (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 722.

63. Money lent.—In an action to recover money loaned to defendant and his wife, evidence that defendant's wife ill-treated him and evidence as to facts brought out in a divorce suit between them are inadmissible. Meredith v. Miller (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 430.

64. Loan or sale.—The fact that an alleged buyer received a note from the alleged seller at the time of the alleged sale held admissible to show that the transaction was a loan. Land v. Klein, 21 C. A. 3, 50 S. W. 638.

65. Payment.—Pecuniary condition, see ante.

When the issue was as to payment of the debt sued on, evidence that the parties had had a settlement, and that a certain indebtedness was agreed upon, is pertinent. Wells v. Fairbanks, 5 T. 582.

Certain evidence held admissible to show payment of purchase money. Terrell v. McCown, 91 T. 231, 43 S. W. 2.

On an issue as to whether capital stock had been fully paid up, held, that the value of contracts secured before the company's incorporation, and turned into the corporation, and the net earnings invested between the date of incorporation and the issue of such stock, should be considered. Cole v. Adams, 92 T. 171, 46 S. W. 790.

In an action to cancel a deed of trust on the ground of payment, circumstances tending to strengthen a presumption of payment may be proved, though plaintiff produce the note. Johnson v. Lockhart, 20 C. A. 596, 50 S. W. 955.

Evidence to rebut proof of payment held admissible in action by city for taxes paid by property owner to defaulting collector. City of Georgetown v. Jones, 31 C. A. 623, 73 S. W. 22.

In a suit to set aside a judgment as a cloud on title, evidence of demand on judgment defendants and succeeding owners of the land and on complainant, and that none of them paid, was admissible to show that the judgment had not been paid. James v. Midland Grocery & Dry Goods Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1073.

66. — By mistake.—In an action to recover money paid by mistake on a draft, held competent to ask a witness if his bank paid defendant on an incorrect advice slip from its New York correspondent. First Nat. Bank v. Edwards (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 541.

67. Usury.—In an action against a building and loan association for the cancellation of a lien and to declare plaintiff's debt usurious, evidence as to conduct of defendant's agent in the matter held admissible. American Mut. Bldg. & Sav. Ass'n v. Cornibe, 35 C. A. 385, 80 S. W. 1026.

68. — Parol evidence.—See notes under Rule 25.

69. Lien and waiver thereof.—Certain matters held inadmissible, against assignee of claim for pay for paving street, to show liens, and consequent right of city to retain money as security. City of San Antonio v. Stevens (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 666.

In an action by a landlord against a buyer from the tenant of a part of the crop, certain evidence held admissible to show a waiver of the lien on the entire crop. Melasky v. Jarrell (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 856.

70. Liabilities on bonds.—In an action on a tax collector's bond, evidence for the defendant that the money paid as taxes was received by the collector from nonresidents of a county attached for judicial purposes to the county of that officer is not admissible. The presumption would obtain that money so collected was paid on legal assessments on personal property. Webb County v. Gonzales, 69 T. 455, 6 S. W. 781.

Evidence that a wife, suing for damages, sought to obtain liquor for her husband from the dealer and others, is admissible to show consent to sell. Tipton v. Thompson, 21 C. A. 143, 50 S. W. 641.

Evidence that a father had drunk intoxicating liquors with his minor son held admissible, in an action by him for a penalty for selling liquors to the son. Kruger v. Spachek, 22 C. A. 307, 54 S. W. 295; Wakeham v. Price (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 1093.

In an action on the bond of a liquor dealer, rejection of evidence to show that an intervenor willfully instigated and prosecuted the suit held error. Cox v. Watelsky, 27 C. A. 478, 66 S. W. 327.

In an action on a retail liquor dealer's bond, certain evidence held not pertinent. Farenthold v. Tell, 52 C. A. 110, 113 S. W. 635.

In an action on a liquor dealer's bond for damages through the sale of liquor to plaintiff's husband, certain evidence held admissible. Birkman v. Farenthold, 52 C. A. 335, 114 S. W. 428.

In an action against a guardian and his sureties, evidence tending to show disqualification of the judge appointing defendant held properly excluded. Minchew v. Case (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 366.

71. Release of mortgage.—In an action on a note and to foreclose a mortgage securing it, certain evidence held admissible as tending to show a release of the mortgage. Bledsoe v. Palmer (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 97.

72. Execution of notes.—Where the makers of a note sued on by a pledgee thereof had given a second note in renewal, they were properly permitted to testify as to the circumstances inducing them to execute the renewal note. National Bank of Commerce v. Kenney, 98 T. 293, 83 S. W. 368.

Evidence held relevant and competent in an action on a note under the plea of non est factum. Scott v. Menly (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 55.

Where one of the makers of a note sued on claimed that it was executed for the accommodation of plaintiff bank, evidence that the other maker had neither permission, power nor authority from the bank, when the note was executed, to borrow money for it, was irrelevant and immaterial. First Nat. Bank v. Pearce (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 285.

In an action on a note, proper proof of defendant's signature to a note for which the note sued on was later substituted, held admissible as a circumstance relevant to the issue of whether defendant signed the note in controversy. Miller v. Burgess (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1174.

73. Validity of notes.—In an action against a city on notes given in payment of fire hose, certain evidence held inadmissible to affect the validity of the notes. City of Cleburne v. Gutta Percha & Rubber Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1072.

74. Execution of lease.—In an action for breach of a lease which defendant denied was executed for it by its general manager, held proper to show on the cross-examination of such manager that another, for whom he had testified the lease was executed, was a stockholder and director of defendant company. Kincheloe Irrigating Co. v. Hahn Bros. & Co. (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 78.

In an action for the breach of a lease of land, certain evidence held admissible to show that the lease was executed for defendant. Id.

75. Eviction of tenant.—Certain evidence held admissible on the issue whether a landlord evicted his tenant, or the tenant abandoned the premises. Crews v. Cortez, 52 C. A. 644, 115 S. W. 609.

76. Liability for rent.—In a suit in the county court for the rent of land, the plaintiff claimed under an execution sale against the lessor subsequent to the lease. The plaintiff offered in evidence, to prove his right to the rents, the judgment against the lessor, execution thereon, and sale thereunder, and the sheriff's deed, which was rejected on the ground that it raised the question of title to the land. Held, that the evidence was material and competent for the purpose of establishing plaintiff's right to recover the rent. Johnson v. Doss, 1 App. C. C. § 1075.

In an action for rent, evidence of the landlord's agent of a sublessee's promise to pay the balance soon held admissible to prove the latter's consent that payments should be made on rent due by the tenant. Darling v. City of Temple, 22 C. A. 478, 55 S. W. 40.

Evidence held admissible as tending to establish the fact that leased premises became "unfit for occupancy" by reason of a fire, which, by the terms of the lease, terminated it. Meyer Bros. Drug Co. v. Madden, Graham & Co., 45 C. A. 74, 99 S. W. 723.

In an action for rent for the year during which defendant held over under a life tenant, evidence that he married the remainderman's widow and became the stepfather of his children held immaterial. Brooks v. Wynn (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1055.

In an action for rent, evidence of the unsanitary condition of the landlord's adjoining premises, not shown to have caused defendant's subtenants to vacate held inadmissible. Pressler v. Barreda (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 435.

77. Alteration of instruments.—Circumstantial evidence, see ante.

In a suit when the question was whether a Mexican grant for eleven leagues to Rafael de Aguirre had been altered, the following facts were held pertinent to the issue: The name of "Rafael de Aguirre" is written over some other name, apparently that of "Perfecto Valdez." The date of the concession, "14th June, 1830," had been written over another date, apparently "13th July, 1830." The words, "and the 2d of May of the past year," had been interlined. The locative call had been changed. The words interlined were noted at the foot of the instrument, but there was a conflict in the opinions of the witnesses as to whether the corrections and the body of the instrument were in the same handwriting. A translated copy of the last page of the Aguirre grant, made in 1855, and a certified copy of the same in Spanish, made in 1833, did not show the emendation clause. It was shown that a concession was made to Perfecto Valdez and a survey made embracing the land described in the first-named grant, but no final title was ever issued. Another grant of eleven leagues was made to Aguirre in 1833. Hanrick v. Cavanaugh, 60 T. 1.

Testimony of printer as to time of printing billheads to show that date of bill had been changed held admissible. Walker v. Dickey, 44 C. A. 110, 98 S. W. 658.

78. Forgery.—Character and reputation, see ante.

Circumstantial evidence, see ante.

On the issue of forgery of a deed, proof that the grantee and the alleged forger were often seen together at the land office held competent. Stone v. Moore (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 1097.

Where it was alleged that a note sued on was a forgery, evidence that the forger was expert in forging maker's name held admissible. Kingsbury v. Waco State Bank, 30 C. A. 387, 70 S. W. 551.

In an action against an express company to recover on money orders paid on forged indorsement, evidence held immaterial. Wells Fargo & Co. Express v. Bilkiss (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 798.

Certain evidence held admissible on the issue as to whether a deed was a forgery. Word v. Houston Oil Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 334.

79. Employment in general.—Evidence that the secretary of a company, having power to employ servants, told an injured person to have nothing to do with lawyers, held inadmissible to prove the party an employé. San Antonio Waterworks Co. v. White (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 181.

Where, in an action against a railroad for injuries sustained by one acting as express messenger and as baggageman for defendant, it was in issue whether plaintiff was employed by the railroad, certain evidence held proper to show such employment. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Reasor, 28 C. A. 302, 68 S. W. 332.

80. Authority of agent.—Undisclosed instructions of a carrier to its live-stock agent, with whom a contract to furnish cars to ship stock was made, held not admissible to limit the apparent authority of the agent to make the contract. International & G. N. R. Co. v. True, 23 C. A. 523, 57 S. W. 977.

In an action for breach of a lease of land with water and seed to be furnished, in which the issue was whether one who was defendant's general manager when the lease was executed, acted for defendant in making it, certain evidence held admissible. Kincheloe Irrigating Co. v. Hahn Bros. & Co. (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 78.

Making of a contract by the general freight agent of an initial carrier on the part of a connecting carrier held not to show his authority to do so. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Nelson (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 81.

81. Contract in general.—The terms "express contract" and "contracts implied in fact" do not indicate a distinction in the principles of contract, but a difference in the character of the evidence by which it is proved. Fordtran v. Stowers, 52 C. A. 226, 113 S. W. 631.

82. Execution of contract.—Testimony of witness that date of bill for lumber presented by him had been changed held admissible, in view of previous testimony, on issue as to execution of contract. Walker v. Dickey, 44 C. A. 110, 98 S. W. 658.

83. Mistake in contract.—In action to enforce materialman's lien, defendant's evidence, offered on issue of mistake in building contract, held improperly excluded. Murphy v. Fleetford, 30 C. A. 487, 70 S. W. 989.

84. Modification of contract.—Evidence that a member of defendant's committee had agreed to set certain grade stakes for plaintiff in performing a contract for the construction of a road held inadmissible. Palo Duro Club v. McAllister, 57 C. A. 393, 122 S. W. 971.

85. Construction of terms of contract.—The issue being whether a sale contemplated actual delivery, the exclusion of evidence to show arrangements by the vendor to secure money to make necessary payments held erroneous. Dunman v. J. C. Murphey & Co., 48 C. A. 539, 107 S. W. 70.

In an action by an architect for preparing plans for remodelling a church building, the fact that the plans as drawn were of no value to the church held admissible on the issue of the terms of the contract. Dudley v. Strain (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 778.

Certain evidence held admissible in an action on a written contract in support of defendant's plea that the contract provided for arbitration. Storrie v. Ft. Worth Stockyards Co. (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 286.

Evidence of a party to a building contract as to how he construed the written instrument held improper. Baldwin v. G. M. Davidson & Co. (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 716.

86. Performance or breach of contract.—A report of the contractor's superintendent as to the condition of the building, held admissible in an action for a breach of a building contract. Watson v. Dewitt County, 19 C. A. 150, 46 S. W. 1061.

Where executrix of attorney sued an attorney, on ground he had contracted with deceased to divide fee in a certain case, whether the client knew deceased as counsel in the case, or not, held immaterial. Aycock v. Baker (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 273.

In an action against a city for breach of a contract for the construction of a sewer, evidence that the city wrongfully obstructed the work, causing the contractors to incur greater expense than they otherwise would have incurred, held admissible as showing damages against the city. Marshall v. City of San Antonio (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 138.

In an action for breach of defendant's pasturage contract, evidence that the pasturage was insufficient by reason of drought held admissible. Hines v. Shafer (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 562.

In action for balance due on building contract, evidence that contractors were delayed by failure of brick company to furnish brick fast enough held inadmissible. Neblett v. McGraw & Brewer, 41 C. A. 239, 91 S. W. 309.

In an action against corporation for breach of contract, evidence that its general manager, who executed the contract, had no authority to do so, held improperly excluded. Tres Palacios Rice & Irrigation Co. v. Eidman, 41 C. A. 542, 93 S. W. 698.

In an action for damages for failure to properly supply plaintiff's cattle with water under a contract for pasturage held, that there was no prejudicial error as against plaintiff in permitting defendant to testify as to the dishonoring of a draft given him by plaintiff. Tuttle v. Robert Moody & Son (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 134.

In a cross-action for breach of a contract to furnish water to irrigate certain rice fields, evidence as to the amount of depletion of the water in the rice fields by evaporation held admissible. Colorado Canal Co. v. McFarland & Southwell (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 400.

In an action for breach of contract, certain evidence held admissible. Kettler Brass Mfg. Co. v. O'Neil, 57 C. A. 568, 122 S. W. 900.

An owner, suing the contractor for the rental value of a building because of the failure of the contractor to complete the building within the time agreed, held improperly required to testify to a certain fact. Smith v. Gunn, 57 C. A. 339, 122 S. W. 919.

87. — Contract of employment.—Remoteness, see ante.

Value of services, see ante.

Where one was appointed agent to sell lands, the owner reserving the right to sell them himself, evidence of a sale by the owner held inadmissible. Burnett v. Edling, 19 C. A. 711, 48 S. W. 775.

In an action by a broker to recover commissions, evidence of acts of owner's agent held irrelevant. Id.

In an action for a certain sum under an express contract for professional services, evidence that the sum was demanded of the client, and that the services were rendered with the client's acquiescence, held inadmissible. Boyd v. Boyce (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 720.

In a suit by promoter to recover for services in promoting a sale, evidence as to representations made by promoter to vendee held properly excluded. Alexander v. Wakefield (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 77.

In a suit on a contract providing for payment for services on the conclusion of "any trade," evidence that the trade finally consummated was not the one pending held properly excluded. Id.

In an action by broker for commissions, where principal had stated that her title was perfect, evidence of what the purchaser would have done, had there been an incumbrance, was properly excluded. Smye v. Groesbeck (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 972.

Whether the suspension of a policeman after the expiration of his term of office was in accordance with the city charter held immaterial. City of Houston v. Albers, 32 C. A. 70, 73 S. W. 1084.

In an action for a breach of a contract of employment, in which plaintiff alleged that he had been unable to secure other employment, certain evidence held admissible. Lone Star Salt Co. v. Wilderspin (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 327.

In action by agent for commission for sale of land, evidence that the tract contained a greater acreage than stated in the contract held inadmissible. Denton v. Howell (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 221.

In an action for services, certain testimony held admissible to show plaintiff's employment by defendant's agent. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Irvine (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 428.

In an action for services rendered by plaintiff in purchasing certain property for defendant, certain testimony held irrelevant. Id.

In an action on a contract of employment made by a corporation's secretary without authority, evidence of the making of such contract and plaintiff's services thereunder held admissible as a basis of plaintiff's claim of subsequent ratification. Peach River Lumber Co. v. Ayers, 41 C. A. 334, 91 S. W. 387.

In an action by a broker for commissions earned in procuring a purchaser, evidence of the ability of a third person to take the land and pay for it held admissible. Clark v. Wilson, 41 C. A. 450, 91 S. W. 627.

In an action for broker's commissions, evidence of a conversation between the broker and his principal after the sale held inadmissible as showing estoppel to claim commissions. Ross v. Moskowitz (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 86.

In an action for broker's commissions, evidence that when the seller accounted to witness for a portion of the proceeds he did not deduct anything for commissions held inadmissible. Id.

In an action for breach of contract of employment, certain evidence held inadmissible, on the issue of the existence of the contract. International Harvester Co. v. Campbell, 43 C. A. 421, 96 S. W. 93.

In an action for policeman's salary, a pamphlet consisting of the rules and committees of the city council of the city held irrelevant. City of San Antonio v. Serna, 45 C. A. 341, 99 S. W. 875.

In an action for policeman's salary, evidence that plaintiff understood his allowance for clothing to be $22.50 for every six months held inadmissible. Id.

In an action for a broker's commission for securing a purchaser for bank stock, testimony held inadmissible to show the broker's authority to act for the seller, but admissible on the issue whether his efforts procured the sale. Ross v. Moskowitz, 100 T. 434, 100 S. W. 768.

In an action on a contract of hiring certain evidence held material. Seago v. White, 45 C. A. 539, 100 S. W. 1015.

In an action against a city to recover for services rendered by chief of fire department, former and subsequent ordinances fixing the salary of such officer held admissible on the question of salary. City of San Antonio v. Tobin (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 269.

In an action for broker's commissions, evidence concerning defendant's application to witness for advice as to the proposed purchaser's proposition to purchase on installments, and the advice given, held inadmissible. Leuschner v. Patrick (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 664.

In a suit for broker's commissions, evidence concerning what occurred between plaintiff and another with reference to drawing a deed to the purchaser secured held admissible. Id.

Evidence held admissible in a suit for a real estate broker's commission. Sterling v. De Laune, 47 C. A. 470, 105 S. W. 1169.

In an action for wrongful discharge of employé, evidence as to details of business in which plaintiff entered after his discharge held admissible. Wolf Cigar Stores Co. v. Kramer, 50 C. A. 411, 109 S. W. 990.

In an action for a real estate broker's commission, the defendant could show on plaintiff's cross-examination that defendant had become a surety on plaintiff's note to a bank. Yates v. Bratton (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 416.

In an action by a broker employed to procure a purchaser of real estate for his commissions, it is not error to allow defendant to prove by plaintiff's testimony that no sale of the premises had in fact been made. Runck v. Dimmick, 51 C. A. 214, 111 S. W. 779.

In an action by a broker for commissions in selling defendant's land, evidence of a conversation between plaintiff and the prospective purchaser regarding the sale, defendant not being present, held admissible only to show what efforts, if any, plaintiff made to sell the land. Fordtran v. Stowers, 52 C. A. 226, 113 S. W. 631.

In an action for commissions for the sale of real estate, certain evidence held not improperly admitted. Luhn v. Fordtran, 53 C. A. 148, 115 S. W. 667.

In an action by a broker for commissions for procuring a purchaser, certain evidence held admissible to disprove the claim of the broker that he had procured a purchaser ready, willing, and able to purchase on the terms prescribed by the owner. Johnson & Moran v. Buchanan, 54 C. A. 328, 116 S. W. 875.

In an action for breach of a contract of employment, evidence that plaintiff had, or could in the exercise of proper diligence have obtained, other remunerative employment held admissible to reduce damages. Texas Life Ins. Co. v. Roberts, 55 C. A. 217, 119 S. W. 926.

In an action for breach of contract of employment, a waiver by defendant held not to render inadmissible certain evidence to reduce damages. Id.

In an action for breach of a contract of employment, held error to exclude plaintiff's expense accounts as evidence. Id.

In an action to recover commissions on the sale of property, certain evidence held admissible. Weil v. Schwartz (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1039.

In a broker's action for commissions, evidence that, to enable the purchasers to make the cash payment required plaintiff agreed to lend them the amount of the commission claimed by him, held admissible on the issue whether plaintiff was a joint purchaser. Smith v. Fears (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 433.

In an employé's action for the difference between his original salary and the amount which the employer claimed was his salary after it had been reduced by giving notice to employés of a general reduction in wages, testimony by defendant's manager of a notice of reduction of wages given at a meeting of employés held admissible. Pennington v. Thompson Bros. Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 923.

In a real estate broker's action for commissions for procuring a purchaser for land, a contract tending to show the agreement between the owner and the purchaser was admissible in evidence. Dockery v. Maple (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 631.

In an action for wrongful discharge of an employé, certain evidence held material. G. A. Kelly Plow Co. v. London (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 974.

In an action for broker's commissions, evidence that the purchasers' representatives, before engaging with defendants, decided to purchase the land on the terms quoted by plaintiffs, held admissible. Pope v. Ansley Realty Co. (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1103.

In an action for damages for breach of a contract for services, certain evidence offered by plaintiff held immaterial. Young v. Watson (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 840.

In an action for damages for breach of a contract for plaintiff's services as a chemist, evidence on the part of the employer that it was an inconvenience to him to discharge plaintiff held properly excluded. Id.

In an action by a broker for commissions, certain evidence held admissible to show that a sale could not be made on a designated date. Longworth v. Stevens (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 257.

In an action by a broker for commissions, evidence of the money spent by the owner in selling the property held properly excluded. Id.

A broker basing an action for commissions on the cancellation of the contract of employment held entitled to show certain facts. Id.

In a broker's action for commission, defendant's testimony that he made the sale because in need of money was properly excluded. Parks v. Sullivan (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 704.

Testimony of plaintiff that he was present when a contract was made by his wife, joined in the conversation, and "adopted" the contract held properly admitted. Lilly v. Yeary (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 823.

In action on oral contract of employment for life in consideration of a release of claim for personal injuries, evidence as to the circumstances surrounding the accident and the extent of the injuries held admissible. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Eldredge (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1010.

88. — Contract of Insurance.—Negative evidence, see ante.

Evidence irrelevant unless preceded or followed by other evidence, see ante.

Statements and conduct of parties, see ante.

Evidence that insured had the equitable title to the premises insured when the policy issued was not rendered inadmissible by his having acquired the legal title before trial. Fire Ass'n of Philadelphia v. Jones (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 44.

Evidence held relevant to show what was included in the policy. Phoenix Ins. Co. v. Dunn (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 109.

Proofs of loss held admissible in action on policy, though defective, where no injury to the company is shown, and no objection was made to them, and the objection to their admission is general. London & L. Fire Ins. Co. v. Schwulst (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 89.

In action on policy, an answer filed in another action by one not a party to the action on trial, and not filed by him, or one shown to be acting as his agent, or answering on information by such a party, held inadmissible to show transfer of property by insured. Id.

Where one of the plaintiffs had no interest in the insurance policy sued on, except as mortgagee, evidence of payments on the mortgage, made after the loss and before the trial, was admissible. Alamo Fire Ins. Co. v. Davis, 25 C. A. 342, 60 S. W. 802.

In an action on a life insurance policy which had been returned by the insured, evidence held admissible to show an understanding that when the policy arrived it might be accepted, at the option of the insured, as explaining the subsequent acts. Atkins v. New York Life Ins. Co. (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 563.

Where defense was that insured had set the fire, fact that insurance company had had the insured discharged from various positions of employment held irrelevant. Phoenix Assur. Co. of London v. Stenson (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 542.

Testimony in action on life policy held admissible, as tending to show authority in local agents to extend premium. Washington Life Ins. Co. v. Berwald (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 436.

Evidence which would be admissible against the assured in an action by him on his fire policy is admissible in an action by his assignee. Joy v. Liverpool, London & Globe Ins. Co., 32 C. A. 433, 74 S. W. 822.

In an action on a policy, evidence held admissible to show waiver of proofs of death. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v. Gibbs, 34 C. A. 131, 78 S. W. 398.

In an action on a benefit certificate, witnesses may state that applicant was unable to speak above a whisper, was emaciated, and that her father stated she had consumption. Home Circle Soc. No. 1 v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 84.

In an action on a fire policy, held not error to refuse to admit evidence tending to show a limitation on the authority of the agent, who wrote the policy and by agreement with insurer waived a requirement thereof. Fire Ass'n of Philadelphia v. Master-son (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 49.

The finding at a coroner's inquest that insured came to his death by suicide is not admissible in evidence in an action for life insurance. Boehme v. Sovereign Camp, Woodmen of the World, 98 T. 376, 84 S. W. 422, 4 Ann. Cas. 1019.

In action on mutual benefit certificate, evidence held admissible to show that one assessment was sufficient to raise amount called for by the certificate. Sovereign Camp, Woodmen of the World, v. Carrington, 41 C. A. 29, 90 S. W. 921.

In an action on a fire policy, certain evidence held admissible as tending to prove an oral assignment of the policy after the loss. German Ins. Co. v. Gibbs, Wilson & Co., 42 C. A. 407, 92 S. W. 1068.

In an action on an insurance policy, certain evidence held admissible to show that defendant's agent went through the building containing the property and knew the amount of insurance wanted on all of it. Delaware Ins. Co. of Philadelphia v. Hill (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 283.

In an action on a policy, whether the insured answered truthfully all questions asked him when the policy was issued held irrelevant. Mecca Fire Ins. Co. of Waco v. Moore (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 441.

In an action on a life policy, certain evidence held admissible to show a waiver by insurer of a forfeiture of the policy for nonpayment of a premium. Equitable Life Assur. Society of United States v. Ellis (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 184.

Evidence that an applicant for a fire policy had not received, prior to a loss, any notice of the cancellation of his policy held inadmissible. Jefferson Fire Ins. Co. of Philadelphia v. Greenwood (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 319.

In an action on a mutual benefit certificate, evidence of insured's husband that up to the time of her last illness insured did all her household work held admissible as bearing on the health of deceased at the time she was reinstated as a member, and before she was taken sick. Modern Brotherhood of America v. Chandler (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 626.

89. — Contract of sale.—On an issue whether defendant or his contractor purchased goods used in defendant's house, evidence that defendant was using the goods daily held inadmissible. Watson v. Winston (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 852.

On an issue whether defendant or his contractor purchased the goods, evidence that plaintiffs had never given the contractor credit was inadmissible. Id.

Evidence held irrelevant on a question whether property delivered under the contract came up to the required quality. Florida Athletic Club v. Hope Lumber Co., 18 C. A. 161, 44 S. W. 10.

In an action to recover damages for nondelivery of possession of premises sold, it is not error to permit defendant's former tenant to testify that an agreement to vacate was procured by fraud, where the defense is that plaintiff knew the premises were leased, and also of the agreement to vacate. Jaeger v. Biering (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 50.

Where, under a contract to deliver oil in buyer's tanks at defendant's mill, the tanks were delivered before the time limited by the contract expired, but defendant claimed there was not time to fill them within such limit, evidence of the length of time it would take defendant to fill a tank was properly excluded. Palestine Cotton-Seed Oil Co. v. Corsicana Cotton-Oil Co., 25 C. A. 614, 61 S. W. 433.

In an action to recover back purchase price of land paid by purchaser, vendor having defaulted, certain testimony held immaterial. Lewis v. Williams, 41 C. A. 644, 91 S. W. 247.

In an action to recover earnest money paid on a contract for sale of land, the admission of certain evidence held not error. Davis v. Fant (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 193.

In an action for price of an engine and other machinery, evidence held admissible to show that failure of the engine to pump water was due to lack of water in the well. Maxcy & Anderson v. Fairbanks Co., 42 C. A. 254, 95 S. W. 632.

In an action to recover the price paid for whisky sold under a warehouse receipt, defendant was entitled to prove that the signature to the receipt was that of defendant, etc. Julius Kessler & Co. v. Burckell (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 173.

In an action to recover the price of whisky, defendant held entitled to prove the warehouse receipt under which the whisky was sold, and also that such receipt was afterwards received from plaintiff and acted on by defendant. Id.

In an action by a seller for price of materials, certain evidence held admissible. Gorham v. Dallas, C. & S. W. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 930.

In an action for the contract price of an electric sign, certain evidence held not admissible on plaintiff's part. Ellison Furniture & Carpet Co. v. Langever, 52 C. A. 50, 113 S. W. 178.

In an action for the price of goods bought, certain evidence held admissible. Plotner & Stoddard v. Markham Warehouse & Elevator Co. (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 443.

In an action for shrinkage of cattle, evidence that the sellers brought only one dry feed with them to the place of delivery, and that the grass and peas in the pasture scoured the cattle, held admissible. Cox v. Steed (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 246.

In an action for the price of goods, held, that proof of what the seller was paying for them was admissible. Richardson v. Herbert (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 628.

In an action for the price of a well-drilling outfit, evidence held inadmissible to prove a warranty. Edwards v. Mayes (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 510.

Where a pump was alleged to have been warranted to give satisfaction and to be first class, evidence that the design of the pump was poor held admissible. A. S. Cameron Steam Pump Works v. Lubbock Light & Ice Company (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 717.

Evidence that the pump and engine took too much steam held admissible. Id.

Where a pump was warranted to be satisfactory, evidence that it required a certain amount of horse power to run it held admissible. Id.

In an action for the price of coal to be delivered f. o. b. mines, evidence of the buyer that he did not receive the coal was inadmissible; the question being whether the seller had delivered at the mine. Richard Cocke & Co. v. Big Muddy Coal & Iron Co. (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1019.

90. — Contract of carrier.—Where a contract to furnish cars was made with a carrier's live stock agent, testimony of inability to furnish cars of a particular kind held inadmissible. International & G. N. R. Co. v. True, 23 C. A. 523, 57 S. W. 977.

In an action against a railway company for refusing an excursion ticket presented by a passenger, on the ground that it had expired, testimony as to the difference between the excursion rate and the regular fare should be excluded as immaterial. Rutherford v. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co., 28 C. A. 625, 67 S. W. 161.

In an action for breach of a carrier's contract to furnish cars for the shipment of cattle, evidence held admissible to show that the contract made by the agent of one of the carriers to furnish cars at a particular point was within the scope of his authority. Pecos River R. Co. v. Latham, 40 C. A. 78, 88 S. W. 392.

In an action against carriers for damages for injury to stock, testimony as to how many of the cattle were so badly injured at destination as to cause their death was admissible in connection with evidence that a great many of them died, as tending to show that their death resulted from the carriers' failure to discharge their contractual duty as carriers in transporting. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Jones (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 737.

A carrier's liability for damages for breach of contract for carriage of a passenger is subject to the same rules, and may be established by like testimony and presumptions, as in cases of torts based on the same facts. El Paso & N. E. Ry. Co. v. Landon (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 744.

In an action for loss of goods, evidence that the carrier did not receive the goods held material and relevant. Southern Pac. Co. v. C. H. Cox & Co. (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 103.

91. — Marriage promise.—Circumstantial evidence, see ante.

Pecuniary condition, see ante.

Evidence of what occurred between the parties more than a year before suit for breach of promise to marry held admissible, though the one-year statute is pleaded. Cain v. Corley, 44 C. A. 224, 99 S. W. 168.

In an action for breach of marriage promise, certain evidence held inadmissible, where actual damages only were claimed. Fisher v. Barber (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 871.

92. Conveyance.—Circumstantial evidence, see ante.

Evidence held admissible to identify the land claimed to have been conveyed, and to prove a conveyance. Vasquez v. Texas Loan Agency (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 942.

93. Establishment and execution of lost deeds.—Circumstantial evidence, see ante.

Admissibility of evidence in petition alleging a conveyance and loss of the deed determined. Grayson v. Lofland, 21 C. A. 503, 52 S. W. 121.

Certain evidence held admissible on the issue of due execution of a lost deed. Garrett v. Spradling, 39 C. A. 60, 88 S. W. 293.

Where it is sought to establish a lost deed, evidence of sales and resales of land under the claim of ownership by the vendees, general reputation of ownership, and nonclaim by persons who would otherwise have been the owners, is admissible. J. M. Guffey Petroleum Co. v. Hooks, 47 C. A. 560, 106 S. W. 690.

Certain evidence held admissible to show the execution of a lost deed. Rushing v. Lanier, 51 C. A. 278, 111 S. W. 1089.

94. Breach of covenant.—Evidence that a purchaser of land demanded a reduction in the price on the ground of a deficiency in the quantity is inadmissible to establish a breach of covenant in a prior deed. Davis v. Fain (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 218.

95. Ratification of void deed.—Where defendants claim under void deeds of executor's attorney in fact, evidence of the receipt of purchase money by persons not parties held inadmissible to show ratification. McCown v. Terrell (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 54.

96. Trust.—Evidence held admissible to show that the grantor in a deed was acting as a trustee. Whately v. Oglesby (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 44.

Admissibility of evidence to establish spendthrift trust determined. Herring v. Pat-ten, 18 C. A. 147, 44 S. W. 50.

The management and control by a husband of land which he had conveyed to his wife by a warranty deed is not evidence against her that the conveyance was in trust for his benefit. O'Neal v. Clymer (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 545.

97. Construction of trust deed.—In an action involving the construction of a trust deed, certain evidence held admissible. Farrish v. Mills (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 184.

98. Specific performance.—In an action for specific performance, evidence of plaintiff's possession and improvements held admissible on the issue of his abandonment of the contract. Durham v. Breathwit, 57 C. A. 38, 121 S. W. 890.

Evidence, in a suit to specifically perform a contract to convey, held admissible on an issue whether the purchasers negligently delayed performance of their obligations. Collier v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 389.

99. Stockholder's liability.—On the issue of stockholder's liability on subscription to stock, certain evidence held properly excluded. Sheldon Canal Co. v. Miller, 40 C. A. 460, 90 S. W. 206.

100. Contribution.—Certain evidence, in an action against defendants to recover their proportional liability on notes paid by the plaintiff as to the payment of stipulated attorney's fees, held admissible. Webster v. Frazier (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 609.

101. Title and possession.—Pecuniary condition, see ante.

Knowledge or notice, see ante.

Evidence irrelevant unless preceded or followed by other evidence, see ante.

When defendant pleaded that the real interest in the note sued on was in a person who was a joint maker with himself, and that he had a set-off against such person, setting it out fully in his answer, evidence that the joint maker had paid and taken up the notes sued on after they were due was admissible. Holliman v. Rogers, 6 T. 91.

In trespass to try title against a defendant in possession, the plaintiff proved a judgment of the federal court against a third party, and that he at a marshal's sale became the purchaser of the interest of such third party in the property sued for. After this he offered to prove that such third party was in possession of the property at the date when the judgment of the federal court was rendered. Held, that the evidence should have been admitted. Caplen v. Drew, 54 T. 493.

Suit was brought to recover back money paid on a note given for personal property, on the ground that the defendant had no title to the property sold, etc. The defendant reconvened claiming a balance due on the note, and the plaintiff pleaded the same matter as a bar to defendant's recovery. Evidence that these parties, with others, had an arbitration in regard to the property for which the note was given, and that the same had been allotted to a third party, and was not in fact delivered to plaintiff, was relevant. Bowden v. Kelley, 1 App. C. C. § 480.

The mere possession of a muniment of title is not evidence of title in the possessor. Shifflet v. Morelle, 68 T. 382, 4 S. W. 843.

Possession of land is evidence of title against a trespasser. Express Co. v. Dunn, 81 T. 85, 16 S. W. 792; Edrington v. Butler (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 143.

Possession of real estate is shown by occupation and exercise of exclusive ownership. Pacific Exp. Co. v. Dunn, 81 T. 85, 16 S. W. 792.

Absence from the residence in this state, and the claim of home and residence in another state, is evidence of abandonment. Moerlein v. M. & L. Inv. Co., 29 S. W. 162, 9 C. A. 415.

An adverse possession, how shown. Durst v. Mann (Civ. App.) 35 S. W. 949.

In trespass to try title by a divorced wife against her former husband to recover her community interest in land, evidence that she had lost her homestead right was not admissible. House v. Williams, 16 C. A. 122, 40 S. W. 414.

Evidence of a conveyance by one claiming by adverse possession held admissible on the issue whether his possession was adverse. Id.

Evidence of administrator that at sale of decedent's land it was purchased by another for administrator's benefit held admissible in behalf of the heirs. Baumann v. Chambers, 17 C. A. 242, 42 S. W. 564.

Certain evidence held inadmissible to disprove common source of title. West v. Keeton, 17 C. A. 139, 42 S. W. 1034.

Admissibility of evidence to show title in defendant, under sale by executor under power in will, determined. Terrell v. McCown, 91 T. 231, 43 S. W. 2.

What the grantees under whom defendants claim understood as to what land was conveyed by an indefinite deed is admissible in trespass to try title. Pope v. Riggs (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 306.

In trespass to try title, evidence of plaintiff's dealings with the land, which defendant may have known of from the records, is admissible. Id.

In trespass to try title, evidence of particular instances where plaintiff has sold the same parcel of land to different persons is not relevant, when the parcels so sold were not connected with the land in controversy.

Where defendant claimed by adverse possession, a transfer of the headright certificate under which the land was located held admissible to show extent of claim. Collier v. Coutts (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 485.

Testimony that decedent was not an Odd Fellow held inadmissible in trespass to try title against an Odd Fellows lodge, claiming as devisee of land in which it was alleged that testator had only a life estate. Caffey's Ex'rs v. Cooksey, 19 C. A. 145, 47 S. W. 65.

Under issue alleging that plaintiffs are joint owners of equal interests it cannot be shown that one owns more than half the land. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. O'Connor (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 511.

Evidence held admissible to support a claim of title under a plea of limitations. Laughter v. Laughter, 21 C. A. 414, 52 S. W. 987.

Evidence as to length of time defendant had owned and lived on his land, the improvements made, and taxes paid thereon, held proper in determining whether he was bona fide owner thereof, within Rev. St. 1895, art. 4218ff. Smith v. Rothe (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 754.

Where defendant asserted title by adverse possession, his testimony that he claimed the property as a part of a certain survey held admissible to show the nature of his possession. Daughtrey v. New York & T. Land Co. (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 947.

Evidence in trespass to try title held material. Barrett v. Eastham, 28 C. A. 189, 67 S. W. 198; Stith v. Moore, 42 C. A. 528, 95 S. W. 587.

In trespass to try title, evidence that plaintiffs had not paid taxes on the land since the commencement of the suit held immaterial. Texas Tram & Lumber Co. v. Gwin, 29 C. A. 1, 67 S. W. 892, 68 S. W. 721.

On an issue whether defendant had abandoned a business homestead, evidence as to the salary he was receiving as a traveling salesman was inadmissible. Alexander v. Lovitt (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 927.

On an issue whether realty was purchased by the community funds of a husband and his first wife, or his second wife, or separate funds, held that evidence of the acquisition of property after the transaction in question was not of a character calculated to influence the jury. Blackwell v. Mayfield (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 659.

Where defendant claimed to hold property under a parol partition awarding the land to her husband, evidence as to advice given to plaintiff by attorneys prior to the partition held inadmissible. Long v. Long, 30 C. A. 368, 70 S. W. 587.

In an action against an abandoned wife to recover land claimed as her homestead, evidence to show no cause for the abandonment held admissible. Id.

That one claimed to be, and asserted that she was, the guardian of her children, is not admissible to affect their interest. Ellis v. Le Bow, 30 C. A. 449, 71 S. W. 576.

Evidence of a parol gift of land held admissible to show that the donee had an honest belief in his title in the land at a later occasion when he contracted to sell it. Hollifield v. Landrum, 31 C. A. 187, 71 S. W. 979.

On the issue whether a title offered a vendee was good and marketable, evidence of a flaw in the title 35 years old might properly be considered. Id.

In an action to recover possession of certain cattle, certain testimony held irrelevant. Word v. Kennon (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 365.

In trespass to try title, where plaintiff claims under a deed from a married woman certain testimony held admissible to show that the land was her separate property. Wren v. Howland, 33 C. A. 87, 75 S. W. 894.

In trespass to try title, held proper to admit in evidence an agreement between the grantee in the transfer of a land certificate and certain other persons as to the location and survey of the land. Ward v. Cameron (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 240.

In trespass to try title, certain testimony as to filing of power of attorney in general land office held immaterial, as not affecting validity of plaintiffs' title. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. De Berry, 34 C. A. 180, 78 S. W. 736.

In trespass to try title, evidence that one of plaintiff's predecessors in title owned other land, which might have been the subject of one transfer in plaintiff's chain of title, held inadmissible. Simmonds v. Simmonds, 35 C. A. 151, 79 S. W. 630.

In a suit to enforce a vendor's lien on land in which defendant claimed a community interest, certain evidence held admissible to show that the land belonged to plaintiff at the time it was sold, and that a dispute as to the boundary line had been settled by an agreement recognizing plaintiff's title to the land. Cavin v. Wichita Valley Townsite Co., 36 C. A. 336, 82 S. W. 342.

In an action against the minority of a church to obtain possession of the church property, a list of members belonging to one of the factions held immaterial on the issue as to how the persons present at a church meeting voted. Gipson v. Morris, 36 C. A. 593, 83 S. W. 226.

In trespass to try title, evidence that defendant was picking cotton on the land in suit when the citation therein was served on her held competent on issue of possession and ownership. Field v. Field, 39 C. A. 1, 87 S. W. 726.

Where plaintiff did not plead title by limitation, evidence that he had paid the taxes on the land for over 30 years was not material. Moore v. Kempner, 41 C. A. 86, 91 S. W. 336.

Where plaintiff claimed title to land under a purchase from the state, evidence of three years' occupancy by him held properly excluded. Smithers v. Lowrance (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 606.

Evidence, in an action of trespass to try title, held inadmissible. Staley v. Stone, 41 C. A. 299, 92 S. W. 1017; Mars v. Morris, 48 C. A. 216, 106 S. W. 430; Beall v. Chatham (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 492.

Evidence of payment of taxes held inadmissible in an action of trespass to try title. Staley v. Stone, 41 C. A. 299, 92 S. W. 1017; Beall v. Chatham (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 492.

In trespass to try title, certain evidence held immaterial as to defendant's rights, and inadmissible. Staley v. Stone, 41 C. A. 299, 92 S. W. 1017.

In trespass to try title, the exclusion of certain evidence held not erroneous. Davis v. Ragland, 42 C. A. 400, 93 S. W. 1099.

In trespass to try title, whether a survey of public lands was made by virtue of a bounty warrant or a land warrant held immaterial. Stubblefield v. Hanson (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 406.

In trespass to try title by a county to recover school lands, proof that the county abandoned and floated its original location might be made by showing a different survey and location subsequently made by the county. Lamar County v. Talley (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 1069.

In trespass to try title, evidence concerning a deed prior to an alleged forged deed under which plaintiff, who was an innocent purchaser, claimed, held irrelevant. Loring v. Jackson, 43 C. A. 306, 95 S. W. 19.

In trespass to try title, certain evidence held inadmissible on the issue as to whether the land, the legal title to which was in M., was not the property of R. Carlisle v. Gibbs, 44 C. A. 189, 98 S. W. 192.

In an action to recover damages for the unlawful withholding of the possession of land, certain evidence held admissible. Broussard v. Hinds (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 855.

In an action to recover land, where a party claims the whole tract by adverse possession, evidence that he paid taxes on only 40 acres was admissible on the issue of the extent of his claim. White v. Eavenson, 46 C. A. 158, 101 S. W. 1029.

In an action for the possession of land claimed by defendant under a lease, certain evidence held immaterial and irrelevant. Duncan v. Jouett (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 981.

In trespass to try title, certain evidence held admissible on the issue arising from plaintiff's claim that defendant held as tenant of himself or his grantor, and defendant's claim by limitation. Hyman v. Grant, 50 C. A. 37, 114 S. W. 853.

In a suit to quiet title as against a vendee in default, certain evidence held immaterial. McCullough v. Rucker, 53 C. A. 89, 115 S. W. 323.

Evidence held inadmissible in an action by decedent's son to charge the widow with proceeds of fraternal life insurance. Wooden v. Wooden (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 627.

In trespass to try title, certain evidence held inadmissible as a collateral attack on a lease of public lands not involved in the case. McGill v. Sites, 54 C. A. 262, 118 S. W. 220.

In trespass to try title, certain evidence held admissible. Ingalls v. Orange Lumber Co., 56 C. A. 543, 122 S. W. 53; Bender v. Brooks (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 653.

On the question of whether defendant abandoned his homestead or not, by his absence from the county, the facts that he had not paid for the land, or received a deed therefor, until he returned, are proper for consideration by the jury. Rockwell Bros. & Co. v. Hudgens, 57 C. A. 504, 123 S. W. 185.

In trespass to try title in which defendant claimed a quarter section by adverse possession but only showed actual possession of a small part, plaintiff having constructive possession of the remainder, testimony that the occupants upon the other quarter sections respected defendant's claim to the whole quarter was immaterial. Thompson v. Texas & N. O. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 616.

In an action between adjoining lot owners to recover a strip claimed as a part of plaintiff's lot, certain evidence held immaterial. Beavers v. Baker (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 450.

In trespass to try title, certain evidence held admissible to show title by adverse possession. Ross v. Martin (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 718.

Evidence of an entering on, and continued possession of, land, under claim of parol gift, held admissible to show possession was adverse. Smith v. Guinn (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 635.

In trespass to try title to school land, evidence that plaintiff paid taxes on the land and poll taxes in the county where the land is situated is not relevant on the issue whether he resided on the land at the time. Beaty v. Yell (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 911.

In an action to recover land, testimony as to title acquired by a witness from heirs of former owner held admissible. Davis v. Mills (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 1064.

On the issue as to whether there had been a settlement on the lands by a substitute purchaser of public school lands, held certain evidence was admissible. Erickson v. McWhorter (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 245.

In an action against a county for title and possession of school lands originally sold by it to plaintiff's remote grantor, evidence as to proceedings by which the county subsequently recovered judgment in trespass to try title and leased the lands held admissible. Fullerton v. Scurry County (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 971.

In trespass to try title, where defendants claim under a judgment foreclosing a tax lien, and plaintiffs had already proved a patent from the state to their ancestor, proof of possession by the ancestor before the foreclosure of the tax lien was immaterial. Mangum v. Kenley (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 316.

In trespass to try title to recover the east third of a survey under a headright certificate, evidence of conveyances of the west two-thirds of a survey after a partition and of possession under the deed and payment of taxes held admissible. Baldwin v. McCullough (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 203.

In trespass to try title to school lands awarded to plaintiff, and then canceled, and awarded to defendant, evidence that a conveyance by plaintiff to another was not absolute was admissible on the question of abandonment. Anthony v. Ball (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 612.

Upon the issue of abandonment of a homestead vel non, the question of whether a new homestead has been acquired is relevant and material. Gilley v. Troop (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 954.

Evidence relating to an interlocking agreement between plaintiff and defendant railroad companies as to a crossing, not touching the land in controversy, was not admissible in trespass to try title. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 850.

In trespass to try title to a strip granted to plaintiff as a railroad right of way, evidence as to the necessity of using the land for switches was admissible on the issue of abandonment. Id.

In an action to recover a pair of mules, or damages, and for attorney's fees and expenses, notes signed by defendant and the plaintiff's brother, and the testimony of a bank employé that plaintiff's brother had paid the bank a certain sum on notes of himself and defendant, were irrelevant. McKay v. Wishert (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 508.

In a suit by a child to recover from his father an undivided half interest in land on the theory that it was community property, evidence of rents received held admissible. Miller v. Odum (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1185.

In an action against a telephone company for injuries to a horse caused by a wire left in the highway, where there was a conflict in the evidence as to the ownership of the wire, evidence that the defendant's district chief shortly after the accident ordered linemen to remove the wire was admissible as tending to show ownership. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 1185.

102. — Documentary evidence.—See Introductory, ante.

103. Conversion.—Where plaintiff obtained possession of property under foreclosure of a landlord's lien against defendant and others as codefendants, evidence that one of the codefendants was not served with process held properly excluded as immaterial in a suit by defendant against plaintiff for converting the property. Irion v. Bexar County, 26 C. A. 527, 63 S. W. 550.

Where a defendant in an action for conversion justified his taking possession of the property under the foreclosure of a landlord's lien in a justice court, the statement of facts filed with the justice held properly excluded as immaterial. Id.

Where plaintiff alleged that he had sold defendant only a half interest in goods, while defendant claimed the entire stock, evidence of price plaintiff asked for the entire stock before the sale to the defendant held admissible. Puckett v. Irick, 27 C. A. 466, 66 S. W. 62.

Where plaintiff in conversion alleged a sale to defendant of half interest in a stock of goods, while defendant claimed the entire stock, evidence of the value of plaintiff's services was inadmissible under the issues. Id.

In an action for conversion of mules, statement that a certain person had run off with the mules and sold them to one of the defendants held relevant. Huey v. Hammett (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 531.

In an action for the value of ore shipped by plaintiff to defendant and converted by the latter, certain evidence held admissible. Consolidated Kansas City Smelting & Refining Co. v. Gonzales, 50 C. A. 79, 109 S. W. 946.

In an action for conversion, evidence held inadmissible. Crawford v. Thomason, 53 C. A. 561, 117 S. W. 181.

In action for conversion of goods taken under attachment from third person, certain evidence held admissible to show that the goods were sold to the attachment debtor, though nominally to the plaintiff. Edmondson v. Coughran (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 435.

In an action against a carrier for conversion of freight, based on a refusal to deliver without payment of excessive charges, evidence that the carrier claimed a specified sum to be the true rate per hundred pounds on the shipment was admissible to show what rate had been demanded. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Porter (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 267.

Evidence of the necessity for a subsequent retaking from a buyer of mortgaged property at mortgagee's sale, in order to protect the property, is not admissible in an action for conversion based upon the original taking by the mortgagee. Dobbs v. Whitfield (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1160.

104. Trespass.—Plaintiff brought suit for trespass on his land in cutting and carrying away timber. Evidence that plaintiff had sold a part of the land described in his petition is irrelevant, there being no offer to prove that the alleged trespass was committed on the land so sold. Leach v. Millard, 9 T. 551.

105. — By cattle.—Evidence held admissible in an action for damage to crops by trespassing cattle that defendant's cattle had run at large adjacent to witnesses' fences without breaking through them. Posey v. Coleman (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 937.

106. Negligence.—Character and reputation, see ante.

Circumstantial evidence, see ante.

Evidence irrelevant unless preceded or followed by other evidence, see ante.

Explanatory evidence, see ante.

Intent, see ante.

Knowledge or notice, see ante.

Matters showing relevancy of other facts, see ante.

Negative evidence, see ante.

Remoteness, see ante.

Statements and conduct of parties, see ante.

Tendency of evidence to mislead or confuse, see ante.

In an action for damages for injuries received from being struck by a locomotive, evidence that the plaintiff was thrown by the blow into a ditch, the water in which was deep enough to drown a man, is admissible, as immediately connected with the manner of the infliction of the injury charged, and no specific averment in regard either to the ditch or water was necessary to authorize its introduction. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Brett, 61 T. 483.

In a suit against a railroad company for the value of property destroyed by fire, on the issue, "was the burning caused by fire emitted from the defendant's engine," it was competent, for the purpose of showing the cause of injury and negligence, to prove the following facts: The property, situated about fifty yards from the track, was destroyed by fire at 12 o'clock at night; a passenger train passed at 10 o'clock that night, when a strong wind was blowing in the direction of the property. No other train passed that night. Some nights after the fire, other passing engines threw sparks of fire to a distance sufficient to reach the place where the property had been. No other cause of fire existed. In rebuttal it was competent to prove that on that night it was misting rain, and damp, that the engine was burning coal, and was supplied with the most approved appliances for preventing the escape of fire, and that it was carefully and skilfully managed, and that no fire escaped from it. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Holt, 1 App. C. C. §§ 836-838; East Line & R. R. Co. v. Hart, 2 App. C. C. §§ 419, 420; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Ratliffe, 2 App. C. C. § 681.

The replies to a messenger with a telegram made at the office of the party to whom the telegram is directed, touching his whereabouts, are admissible upon issue of negligence in delivering the message. Telegraph Co. v. Cooper, 71 T. 508. 9 S. W. 598, 1 L. R. A. 728, 10 Am. St. Rep. 772.

Evidence that defects in machinery from which an injury to an employé resulted were open and patent to common observation is relevant to show contributory negligence. Railway Co. v. Johnson, 83 T. 628, 19 S. W. 151.

Contributory negligence, how shown. Railway Co. v. Traweck, 84 T. 65, 19 S. W. 370. Evidence of violation of rule forbidding passengers to ride on freight trains held admissible. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Lynch (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 631.

Declarations of conductor that brakes would not work, made immediately after collision, held material on issue whether collision was caused by interference of third person. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Vance (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 167.

In action for damages to cattle on a train, evidence as to the usual loss incident to such travel held admissible. Mexican Nat. R. Co. v. Savage (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 663.

Where evidence fails to show that defects in fence or crossing had any bearing on the question as to negligence in killing stock, admission of evidence as to such defects held error. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Dyer (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 841.

Admissibility of evidence on the question of negligence of the crew of a freight train in not flagging passenger train, whereby employé was injured, determined. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 265.

Evidence of persons who were crossing a track to the knowledge of defendant, who moved its train, held admissible on question of negligence. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Green (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 672.

Evidence that a car was going as fast as a horse could trot on a good road held admissible in an action for injuries, as tending to show the speed of the car. City Railway Co. v. Wiggins (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 577.

In action against railroad company for injuries sustained by one of its employes, held, certain evidence was admissible. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 81.

Evidence of use made of a track by a railroad company held admissible, where plaintiff received personal injuries from an engine on such track. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Brooks (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 1056.

Evidence held admissible on issue of master's care in selection of proper machinery. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Crowder (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 380.

Where plaintiff, who was employed to work under defendant's agent, was injured while on a car on the main track, evidence that the conductor had sole control of cars on that track was admissible on question of his negligence. Dewalt v. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co., 22 C. A. 403, 55 S. W. 534.

Where plaintiff's only right to be on the car where he was injured was that of an employé, evidence that it was the engineer's duty to ring the bell at the point where the car was standing, because it was near a highway, was inadmissible. Id.

Certain evidence held admissible to show city's implied consent to digging of a ditch in its street in violation of city ordinance. City of Corsicana v. Tobin, 23 C. A. 492, 57 S. W. 319.

The fact that a manufacturing company carried accident insurance, as against loss by injuries to employes, was not admissible as bearing upon the question of the company's negligence. Barrett v. Bonham Oil & Cotton Co. (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 602.

Evidence held inadmissible to show incapacity of deceased to understand danger of his position on track. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Shiflet, 94 T. 131, 58 S. W. 945.

In an action by a passenger to recover for injuries sustained in attempting to board a moving train, equipped with gates on the platform, evidence that he had seen the gateman close the gates before leaving stations held admissible, with evidence that the gates were open when he attempted to get on. Mills v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 94 T. 242, 59 S. W. 874, 55 L. R. A. 497.

Where the question of the portion of the train in which a passenger was in, or whether he was attempting to leave the train at the time when he was injured, is in issue, evidence of plaintiff's reason for being in a particular part of the train, or leaving it, is admissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Cleveland (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 951.

Evidence in an action against a railroad company for personal injuries held relevant as to the amount of care required. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Foster, 26 C. A. 497, 63 S. W. 952.

Certain evidence held admissible to prove that cars were obstructing the view of the railroad crossing at the time of an accident. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Oslin, 26 C. A. 370, 63 S. W. 1039.

Evidence of the duties of a car porter held admissible in an action by a passenger against a railroad company for setting her down at the wrong station. Texas Midland R. Co. v. Terry, 27 C. A. 341, 65 S. W. 697.

In an action for injuries sustained by plaintiff on jumping from a moving train, he having been aboard the train to seat his wife, held proper to permit witness to testify that the train did not stop long enough to enable one who had bought a ticket for it to get on. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Crockett, 27 C. A. 463, 66 S. W. 114.

In action against receiver of electric light company for personal injuries, evidence of mode of ascending poles several years before held admissible. Dupree v. Tamborilla, 27 C. A. 603, 66 S. W. 595.

In an action for death (by collision) of a person to whom defendant owed no duty, a question as to whether a witness would undertake to say that it was not negligence to run two trains together in the daytime is irrelevant. Crawleigh v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 28 C. A. 260, 67 S. W. 140.

In an action for injuries sustained by falling from an overcrowded excursion train, evidence that defendant had advertised the excursion and expected large crowds was admissible. Williams v. International & G. N. R. Co., 28 C. A. 503, 67 S. W. 1085.

In an action for injuries by a traveler against a railroad company due to a defective bridge, the exclusion of evidence to the effect that the bridge was constructed of good material and that it appeared to be safe held erroneous. Denison & P. S. Ry. Co. v. Foster, 28 C. A. 578, 68 S. W. 299.

In an action by an employé for personal injuries, evidence tending to show assumption of risk held properly excluded. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Follin, 29 C. A. 512, 68 S. W. 810.

In an action for damages resulting from the death of a lineman, killed by an un-insulated wire, it was error to reject evidence that persons frequently went where he did, to show negligence of defendant. Rucker v. Sherman Oil & Cotton Co., 29 C. A. 418, 68 S. W. 818.

Evidence to rebut contributory negligence, in action by railroad telegrapher for injuries, held properly admitted under restriction in instructions. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Jenkins, 29 C. A. 440, 69 S. W. 233.

In an action against a railway company for injuries to a servant, evidence that injured employé of defendant would have to execute a release of his claim for damages before returning to work held admissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hawk, 30 C. A. 142, 69 S. W. 1037.

On an issue as to the contributory negligence of a brakeman in uncoupling cars held proper to allow evidence that the automatic levers were on the wrong side of the car to go to the jury. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Courtney, 30 C. A. 544, 71 S. W. 307.

In an action for injuries to a passenger while disembarking, owing to the distance from the step of the car to the ground below, a witness could testify as to the existence of a fill at the place of the accident. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Clark (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 587.

In an action for injuries at a crossing, evidence that plaintiff looked in the direction from which he understood there was danger of a train approaching held admissible. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Ives, 31 C. A. 272, 71 S. W. 772.

In an action for injuries sustained by a failure to guard an excavation in a street, as required by a city ordinance, such ordinance held admissible as against the city on the issue of negligence vel non. Browne v. Bachman, 31 C. A. 430, 72 S. W. 622.

In an action for injuries to a minor, the fact that the father was absent from home, and left the government of the children to the mother, was not evidence of negligence on his part. Over v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 535.

In an action by servant against railroad for injuries, held, that testimony of plaintiff as to whether the rules of the company had required him to put out a fusee at the place where his train stopped was properly admitted. Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Bodie, 32 C. A. 168, 74 S. W. 100.

In an action against railroad for damages to employé by reason of incompetence of surgeon employed by the company in its hospital, evidence that such surgeon had not been properly examined by the board of medical examiners held incompetent. Poling v. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co., 32 C. A. 487, 75 S. W. 69.

In an action for injuries sustained by plaintiff at a crossing by reason of defendant's negligently running a hand car in front of his team, thereby frightening them, etc., certain evidence held to have been improperly excluded. Henze v. International & G. N. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 822.

Evidence in action for injuries from frightening of plaintiff's horse by railroad car held admissible. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Mercer (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 562.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff while going into a railroad pumping station, evidence that defendant's servant in charge of the same had been given instructions not to permit any person to come on such premises held immaterial. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Bulger, 35 C. A. 478, 80 S. W. 557.

In an action for injuries occasioned by a horse frightening at a street car, held proper to show that the street was much traveled by the public. Denison & S. Ry. Co. v. Powell, 35 C. A. 454, 80 S. W. 1054.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to a servant, certain evidence held properly admissible on the issue of contributory negligence. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Kelly, 34 C. A. 21, 80 S. W. 1073.

In an action against a railroad company for negligence, causing the death of a section foreman, certain evidence held admissible as bearing on the care exercised by deceased in going upon the track. International & G. N. R. Co. v. McVey (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 991.

In action against railroad company for burning a building, evidence is admissible that only a few minutes before the fire a person interested in the contents of the building was seen running from the premises. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Jordan (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 791.

In an action for injuries to a servant, evidence that he was ordered to do the work, and would have been discharged summarily had he refused, held inadmissible. Bonn v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 808.

In an action by an engineer against a railroad company for injuries received at a washout, evidence is admissible that plaintiff had requested the train dispatcher to allow him to sidetrack his train because of the storm and the condition of the track, but the request was refused. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Fitzpatrick (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 406.

In action for injuries to hack driver while crossing street railroad track, certain evidence held admissible. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Davis (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 718.

In an action against a city for personal injuries to an electric lineman, certain evidence held relevant on the questions of negligence and contributory negligence. City of Austin v. Forbis (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 29.

The question whether plaintiff drank whisky on the day of the accident held objectionable, in not limiting it to a time before the accident. Crowder v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas, 39 C. A. 314, 87 S. W. 166.

In an action for the death of a pedestrian while walking on a railroad track, evidence that defendant had never consented to the use of its track by the public at the place in question held inadmissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Matthews, 99 T. 160, 88 S. W. 192.

In an action against a building and loan association for damages caused by the negligence of a contractor in constructing a building, certain evidence held irrelevant. Henry v. Stuart (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 248.

In an action against a railway company for injuries to a servant, certain evidence, showing the rules of the company regulating the movement of trains, held admissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hays, 40 C. A. 162, 89 S. W. 29.

In an action against a railway company for injuries received by an employé on a work train, certain evidence held inadmissible. Id.

In an action for injuries to a licensee on a railroad track, evidence as to the point on which he entered the right of way, and how far and in what direction he traveled before he was struck, held admissible. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. O'Donnell (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 886.

In an action for injuries to a licensee while walking along a railroad track, evidence held admissible to rebut defendant's allegation of contributory negligence. Id.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff while walking along defendant's railroad track, evidence concerning obstructions to the view at a crossing, and the speed at which the train was run, in the absence of signals, held admissible. Id.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff while walking on defendant's right of way, evidence held admissible as describing the locality and surroundings of the accident. Id.

In action for injuries while walking on a railroad right of way, evidence as to obstructions of the view of the right of way from a highway held erroneously admitted. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. O'Donnell, 99 T. 636, 92 S. W. 409.

In an action for injuries received by an employé, certain evidence held admissible on the issue whether the employer was chargeable with a want of ordinary care in the construction of appliances. Kirby Lumber Co. v. Dickerson, 42 C. A. 504, 94 S. W. 153.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to a brakeman while coupling cars, the exclusion of the answer of a witness held not error. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Ames (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 1112.

In an action for injuries from being thrown from defendant's automobile, certain evidence held properly excluded. Routledge v. Rambler Automobile Co. (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 749.

In an action for personal injuries caused by the explosion of dynamite, certain evidence held admissible as showing that the concussion produced was not sufficient to cause the injury complained of. Hickey v. Texas & P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 763.

In an action against a city for injuries to a traveler in consequence of a defective street, the testimony of a witness as to the condition of the street where the accident occurred held admissible. City of Dallas v. McCullough (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 1121.

In action for injuries to child on track, evidence that emergency brakes of train were not applied till child was struck held admissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Nesbit, 43 C. A. 630, 97 S. W. 825.

In an action by creditors against the receiver of the debtor and the sureties on his bond for negligence of the receiver, certain evidence held properly excluded. Groesbeck Cotton Oil Gin & Compress Co. v. Oliver, 44 C. A. 303, 97 S. W. 1092.

In action for injuries at railroad crossing, testimony that railroad was not prosecuted for obstructing road, that city council had closed up street, and testimony as to acts showing abandonment after accident, held inadmissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Garrett (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 162.

In action for injuries at railroad crossing, testimony that road or street had been abandoned held admissible. Id.

In an action against a railway company for injuries to a passenger on a street car received in a collision between the car and a train at a crossing, certain evidence held admissible to prove negligence on the part of the employés in charge of the train. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Andrews, 44 C. A. 426, 99 S. W. 871.

In an action for the death of a servant, the admission of evidence that an inexperienced man would not realize the danger held not erroneous. Yellow Pine Oil Co. v. Noble (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 276.

In an action against a railroad for killing a cow, witnesses were properly allowed to testify to facts tending to show a failure to ring the bell. Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. v. Bell (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 1167.

In an action against a railroad for death of an employé while removing a push car from the track, certain evidence held admissible. International & G. N. R. Co. v. McVey, 46 C. A. 181, 102 S. W. 172.

In an action for the death of a person killed by a train certain evidence held admissible to show when the engineer applied the air brake. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Munn, 46 C. A. 276, 102 S. W. 442.

In an action against a steam railroad for injuries to a street car passenger in a threatened collision between the car and a switch engine, certain proof held required to be considered in determining the right of the engineer to act on the assumption that the servants in charge of the car would yield to him the right of way. Horton v. Houston & T. Cent. Ry. Co., 46 C. A. 639, 103 S. W. 467.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff by collision with a vehicle driven by defendant at a speed in violation of a city ordinance, the ordinance was relevant and material evidence. Foley v. Northrup, 47 C. A. 277, 105 S. W. 229.

In an action against a railway company for the death of an engineer in a derailment, his watch held proper evidence to show time of accident as proving rate of speed. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Gillespie, 48 C. A. 56, 106 S. W. 707.

Evidence that, while defendant's employés were working on a curve in its railroad track at which decedent was killed, other parts of the track would become defective, held immaterial. Thompson v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 48 C. A. 284, 106 S. W. 910.

Where a pedestrian was injured by a defect in a city sidewalk, a question whether it would not have been safer for her to walk on the paved street around the defect, was properly excluded as immaterial. City of San Antonio v. Wildenstein, 49 C. A. 514, 109 S. W. 231.

In an action for personal injuries sustained while obtaining water from a tank car placed by defendant on a side track, evidence held admissible on the issue of defendant's obligation to exercise care. Louisiana & T. Lumber Co. v. Brown, 50 C. A. 432, 109 S. W. 950.

In a death action, certain evidence, held admissible on the issue whether defendant railroad was negligent in not having its switch lamps lighted as required by statute. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. McDuffey, 50 C. A. 202, 109 S. W. 1104.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to a pedestrian using the track, evidence of witnesses and photographs relating to the use of the track as a roadbed by the public as pedestrians, and to defendant's knowledge and means of knowledge of such use, was admissible to show use of the track by the public as bearing on the question whether plaintiff was a mere trespasser or a licensee. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams, 50 C. A. 134, 109 S. W. 1126.

In an action against a railroad for destruction of property by fire from defendant's locomotive, certain testimony held admissible. Bryan Press Co. v. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 99.

In an action against a railway company for injury to a brakeman run over by cars, plaintiff held entitled to show a rule of the company requiring employes to protect the company's property. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cleland, 50 C. A. 499, 110 S. W. 122.

In an action for injuries received in jumping from a trestle on discovering the proximity of a train, evidence that the trestle and track in question were frequently used as a footpath in going between certain places held admissible on the issue of plaintiff's being a licensee. Texas Midland R. R. v. Byrd (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 199.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to one struck by a train while walking on defendant's track certain evidence held admissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Malone (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 958.

In an action against a railroad company for the destruction of cotton while in possession of compress company, certain evidence held inadmissible on the issue of contributory negligence. W. A. Morgan & Bros. v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 50 C. A. 420, 110 S. W. 978.

In an action for injury to a pedestrian while passing between cars, certain evidence held admissible on the issue of contributory negligence. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 758.

In an action against a railroad company for injuries caused by the shying of plaintiff's horse at a box car placed at a crossing, evidence that the car had been moved shortly after the accident held admissible. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Randall, 51 C. A. 249, 113 S. W. 180.

Evidence held admissible in an action against carriers for discharging a passenger at a wrong point. Pullman Co. v. Hoyle, 52 C. A. 534, 115 S. W. 315.

On the question of whether a railroad company was negligent in placing a mail crane so near its track as it had, it is proper to allow a witness to testify as to what he observed when the engine passed the crane. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 1043.

One using a railroad track as a footway may show the proximity of crossings, stations, and the like, and the custom of the company to give signals for such places on the issue of contributory negligence. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Longino, 54 C. A. 87, 118 S. W. 198.

In an action for injuries at a crossing caused by the violation of an ordinance limiting the speed of trains to six miles an hour, testimony that the city had never prosecuted violations of the ordinance held irrelevant and harmful. Garber v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 857.

In an action for injuries to a pedestrian stumbling over a guy wire, evidence of the effect of the wire becoming charged with electricity held properly excluded. City of Ft. Worth v. Williams, 55 C. A. 289, 119 S. W. 137.

In an action for injuries caused by the sudden starting of a train without warning while plaintiff was climbing between it at a crossing, an ordinance requiring the engineer to continuously ring the bell held admissible. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Bean, 55 C. A. 341, 119 S. W. 328.

In an action for injuries caused by the sudden starting of a train while plaintiff was climbing between the cars at a public crossing, after waiting for more than five minutes for the train to clear the crossing, an ordinance, forbidding trains to block a crossing for more than five minutes held admissible. Id.

Certain evidence held admissible, in an action for injuries received at a railroad crossing. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Boyd, 56 C. A. 282, 119 S. W. 1154.

Evidence held admissible in an action for fire set by a locomotive to rebut evidence that defendant's engines were properly equipped with spark arresters. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Qualls (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 140.

In an action for the death of an employe in a logging train caused by the derailment of the train, a fact held properly considered in determining the issue of negligence. Rice & Lyon v. Lewis (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 961.

In an action against a railroad for damages to poultry shipped by plaintiff, evidence that the consignees, plaintiff's agents, on receiving the poultry made no complaint as to its condition, and that they signed a receipt reciting that it was in good condition, was admissible. A. B. Patterson & Co. v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 336.

In an action for injuries to an engineer in a rear-end collision with a train at a station, certain evidence held admissible on the issue whether the forward train could stop for any length of time at the station without giving signals. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Brice (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 613.

Evidence held admissible in a personal injury case as tending to show plaintiff's injury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 672.

In a railroad passenger's action for injuries in a collision, allegations of the complaint that a state fair was being held, that the collision was with great force, the engine of the passenger train being torn up, and certain cars telescoped, and that defendant's employés operating the engine colliding with the passenger train knew that it probably contained several hundred passengers, etc., merely set forth existing conditions, and were proper to be detailed as evidence before the jury that they might determine the degree of negligence exercised on the occasion. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Farris (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 1174.

That the engineer prior to the time he said he struck animals on the track failed to blow the whistle and ring the bell was relevant on the issue of negligence, but it was for the jury, and not the court, to determine whether such failure under the circumstances constituted negligence, and, if so, whether it was the proximate cause of injury. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Mallard (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1117.

In an action for injuries to a servant by the collapse of a trestle, evidence that prior thereto defendant took out some of the supports held admissible. Fraser-Johnson Brick Co. v. Baird (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 460.

In an action against a carrier for injuries to live stock, evidence of a former suit by the plaintiff against another railroad for injury to the same stock was inadmissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Peacock (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 463.

In an action against a telegraph company for delay in delivering a telegram, certain evidence was held admissible on the issue of the addressee's agent's contributory negligence in not selecting another method of sending the message, because of the strike. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Guinn (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 616.

Where, in an action for negligent death, a physician testified that decedent died from pneumonia, evidence that pneumonia resulted from injuries negligently inflicted was admissible. San Antonio Gas & Electric Co. v. Ocon (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 846.

On the issue of contributory negligence in an action by a passenger for negligent failure of the carrier to properly warm the car in which she was traveling, testimony of the conductor of the train that on her complaining he told her that she could go into, and that he would assist her to, another car that was warm, and that she refused to go, was material on the issue of contributory negligence. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Butler (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 240.

In an injury action against a city under the petition alleging negligence of the city in general, certain matters of proof held admissible. City of San Antonio v. Ashton (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 757.

In an injury action by a passenger against a street railway company, a certain provision of the city ordinances held properly admitted in evidence. Rapid Transit Ry. Co. v. Williams (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 267.

Evidence as to conditions of an electric light wire the next morning after the accident held admissible. Temple Electric Light Co. v. Halliburton (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 584.

Evidence held inadmissible on an issue whether a locomotive set a fire. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gilbert (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 836.

In an action for the death of a person struck by a train, certain evidence held admissible on the issue of contributory negligence. Laeve v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1129.

In an action by adult children for damages for the death of their mother, certain evidence held admissible. Rader v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 718.

Where plaintiff's horse was frightened by the cable spool of a telephone company, evidence as to the disposition of the horse and his qualities was admissible. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Doolittle (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 415.

In an action against a railway company for injury to a passenger compelled to alight while the train was in motion, testimony held admissible to show proximate cause of the injury. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Florence (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 430.

In an action against a carrier for the death of chickens during transportation, evidence held inadmissible. Wells Fargo & Co. Express v. Mitchell (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 926.

In an action against a railroad company for the death of a servant killed while repairing a car, certain evidence held admissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Kennedy (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1009.

In an action for death of a pedestrian, evidence of a signal that the train would stop held admissible on the question of his contributory negligence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Muske (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 565.

In an action against a carrier, evidence held irrelevant. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rogers (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1011.

Though the place at which one crossing a railroad was not a highway crossing, but one customarily used by persons going to the depot, held, evidence of the opening between cars being closed without signal by whistle was admissible on the question of negligence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Pingenot (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 93.

Evidence as to the rapid speed of a train held admissible in an action for damages by fire. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. McCall (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 188.

In an action by a passenger for personal injuries from derailment at a switch, evidence as to the danger if the plug were out of the switch held properly admitted. Texas Traction Co. v. Hanson (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 214.

In an action by a passenger for personal injuries, evidence of the defendant's rules as to rate of speed held admissible.—Id.

Bills of lading held inadmissible in action against railway for fire as they did not show that the company was responsible for placing the property destroyed near the tracks. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. W. A. Morgan & Bros. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 336.

Exclusion of evidence that it was dangerous to back a train without taking precautions against injuring people held proper, where company was under no obligation to guard against such injuries at the place of the accident. Freeman v. Moreman (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1045.

In an action for injuries to a passenger from exposure in a cold waiting room, testimony of defendant's station agent that he would have conducted plaintiff to a hotel or built a fire if she had requested it was inadmissible. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Perry (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 305.

In a street car passenger's action for injuries to his arm by being struck by another car going around a curve, the company's rule prohibiting cars from passing on curves was admissible as tending to show negligence, irrespective of whether plaintiff knew of the rule. Boldt v. San Antonio Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 831.

Testimony of a medical expert that a woman in a pregnant condition is more careful to avoid injury held inadmissible on the issue of whether the street car was moving when she attempted to alight. Small v. San Antonio Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 833.

In an action for injuries from unguarded machinery, on an issue as to whether it could have been guarded, evidence that a guard was placed over part of it, and that it did not interfere with its operation, was competent. Armour & Co. v. Morgan (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 861.

In an action for injuries caused by the sudden jerk of the car, evidence of the failure to stop on a prior signal by the passenger held admissible as a part of the history of the transaction and as relevant on the issue of contributory negligence, though not alleged in the petition. Barnes v. Hewitt (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 236.

In a personal injury action by a servant who worked in a gin house, testimony by a witness that the master's gin house was the best constructed building of the kind he had ever seen was irrelevant. Van Geem v. Cisco Oil Mill (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1108.

Evidence, in a mine employé's action for injuries due to a defective stairway, that defendant's "mines were some of the best lignite mines in the state, as regards safety and efficiency of management," was properly excluded. Consumers' Lignite Co. v. Hubner (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 249.

In an action for the death of a brakeman from falling under a car of a train which he had flagged, evidence that the train was not equipped with apparatus by which signals could be conveyed from the engine back to the rear brakeman or conductor was admissible to show the necessity of deceased to communicate his instructions to the brakeman and the conductor. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Finklea (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 612.

On the issues of whether a railroad used ordinary care in furnishing a brakeman with a safe place to work, evidence that it was putting ballast on the track, which was then in course of construction, was admissible. Id.

107. Place of accident.—In action against railroad for injuries to employé, certain testimony relating to place of accident held admissible. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. McAdams, 37 C. A. 575, 84 S. W. 1076.

In an action for the death of one killed by a railroad train within city limits, certain evidence held not admissible as tending to show that the place of the accident was not within the city. Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. v. Frugia, 43 C. A. 48, 95 S. W. 563.

108. Independent contractor.—Evidence of what was done towards control of contractor held material to the question of independent contractor. Smith v. Humphreyville, 47 C. A. 140, 104 S. W. 495.

109. Delay of carrier.—Evidence irrelevant unless preceded or followed by other evidence, see ante.

Negative evidence, see ante.

Remoteness, see ante.

Where defendant railroad company negligently failed to transport promptly a merry-go-round which plaintiff was shipping to a town to set up at a picnic, and a further delay in setting it up after it arrived was caused by the refusal of the drayman, whom plaintiff had engaged for that purpose, to haul it from the depot because he was then doing other work, defendant's negligent delay was not the proximate cause of damages caused by the drayman's failure to perform his contract with plaintiff, even if, except for defendant's negligence, the machine would have arrived at a time when other engagements would not have prevented the drayman from immediately removing it, and hence in an action against defendant for damages for such delay, evidence of the drayman's breach of contract was not admissible. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Shropshire & Shepperd (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 369.

In an action for injuries to cattle by delay in transportation, evidence that the cattle, if they "got a good run," would have been worth in the market at destination five cents a pound, and that the cattle arrived in a greatly damaged condition, was not inadmissible as indirectly proving that the cattle did not "get a good run." Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Davidson (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 895.

In an action against carriers for delaying carriage of construction material used under a government contract, the contractor could show that the government engineer refused to extend time for doing the work. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Nelson (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 81.

In an action for delay in the transportation of live stock, evidence as to what was required to constitute a complete delivery to a connecting carrier held inadmissible. Eastern Ry. Co. of New Mexico v. Montgomery (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 885.

Evidence of time required for prior shipments held admissible to show delay of carriers in transporting shipment of cattle. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Gray (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 728.

Evidence as to the effect of holding plaintiffs' cattle and hogs an additional 24 hours in transit was not inadmissible, because it did not appear that they were actually confined 24 hours longer than the usual time. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Dinwiddie (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 280.

110. Delay in delivering message.—Evidence irrelevant unless preceded or followed by other evidence, see ante.

Statements of parties, see ante.

Evidence, in action against telegraph company for delay in delivering telegram, of recipient's understanding of message, held admissible. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Cooper, 29 C. A. 591, 69 S. W. 427.

In an action for delay in delivering a telegram, the testimony of a person, to whom the messenger boy was directed, that he would have told where the addressee could be found, held admissible. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Waller (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 264.

In an action against a telegraph company for delay in the delivery of message, whereby plaintiff failed to reach the bedside of dying mother, evidence that she called for him held inadmissible. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Waller, 96 T. 589, 74 S. W. 751, 97 Am. St. Rep. 936.

In an action against telegraph companies for negligent delay in delivery of telegram consisting of a bid by plaintiff for the erection of a building, certain testimony of persons with whom plaintiff intended to make the contract held admissible. Texas & W. Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Mackenzie, 36 C. A. 178, 81 S. W. 581.

In an action against a telegraph company for delay in delivering a message, evidence tending to show that, if the messenger had inquired for plaintiff of the person to whom he was directed, he would have been informed of plaintiff's whereabouts, was admissible. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Waller, 37 C. A. 515, 84 S. W. 695.

In an action for delay in delivering a death message, evidence as to whether certain witnesses were acquainted with the addressee held immaterial. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Craig, 44 C. A. 214, 90 S. W. 681.

In an action for mental anguish in consequence of delay in transmitting a telegram, certain evidence held admissible. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Campbell, 41 C. A. 204, 91 S. W. 312.

In an action against a telegraph company for delay in delivering a message, held, that, in anticipation of defendant's introduction of evidence showing proper zeal in locating the sendee, plaintiff could prove that defendant, though informed of the sendee's whereabouts, failed to use ordinary care in locating her. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Bell, 48 C. A. 359, 107 S. W. 570.

In an action against a telegraph company for delay in the delivery of messages, certain evidence held admissible on the issue of the diligence used by plaintiff after receiving the messages. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Johnsey, 49 C. A. 487, 109 S. W. 251.

Evidence held admissible in an action for delay in delivering a death message based on the addressee being prevented from delaying the burial by a reply telegram. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Moran, 52 C. A. 117, 113 S. W. 625.

In an action against a telegraph company for delay in delivering a telegram, evidence that the addressee had requested the sender to keep him informed as to his son's condition was admissible, on the issue of the agency for the addressee of the party who delivered the message to defendant. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Guinn (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 616.

In an action against a telegraph company for delay in delivering a telegram, evidence that the addressee had received in Memphis a letter from his son five days before his death held admissible on the issue made, as to his presence in that city, and also for its tendency to show the addressee's distress in being deprived of seeing his son before his death. Id.

In an action against a telegraph company for delay in delivering a telegram, evidence that the addressee's agent was told the day after the defendant received the message that it had "gone through" held admissible, on the issue of such agent's contributory negligence in not selecting another method of sending the message, because of the strike. Id.

Certain evidence in action for delay in sending telegram held inadmissible. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Woods (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 440.

In an action for delay in the transmission of a telegraph message, certain evidence held admissible. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Landry (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 848.

Admission of evidence, in action for damages for failure to promptly deliver a message reading, "Your husband killed by team in 'T.' to-day," that plaintiff was unable to bury her husband at any other point than that at which the delayed telegram stated him to have been killed held error. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. White (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 790.

111. Failure to send or deliver message.—It is permissible for one to testify that, if a telegram to her husband had been delivered to her, she would have sent it to her husband. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Mitchell, 91 T. 454, 44 S. W. 274, 40 L. R. A. 209, 66 Am. St. Rep. 906.

Admissibility of evidence in action for nondelivery of message determined. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Gahan, 17 C. A. 657, 44 S. W. 933.

Evidence of the manager of the company that time was saved by not holding a telegram for extra pay held inadmissible in an action for delivering it at the wrong place. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Sweetman, 19 C. A. 435, 47 S. W. 676.

In action for failure to deliver telegram, admission of evidence, as that addressee could have been found, held, under the facts, reversible error. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Redinger, 22 C. A. 362, 54 S. W. 417.

Evidence showing accessibility of plaintiff held admissible in an action against a telegraph company for failure to deliver a message. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Davis, 24 C. A. 427, 59 S. W. 46.

Where a telegraph company claims exemption from liability for failure to deliver a telegram outside of free delivery limits, evidence that the company's sending agent made no inquiry as to where addressee lived held properly admitted. Id.

In an action for the failure to deliver a telegram, evidence as to the actions of the parties, had the message been delivered, held to have been properly admitted. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Norris, 25 C. A. 43, 60 S. W. 982.

Evidence as to the addressee of a telegram being well known held admissible on the issue of negligence in failing to deliver it. Western Union Tel. Co. v. James, 31 C. A. 503, 73 S. W. 79.

Rejection of evidence as to how an error in transmitting a telegram could occur held error, notwithstanding an admission of counsel. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Brown (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 359.

In an action against a telegraph company for failure to properly deliver a death message, certain evidence held admissible to show that, had it been promptly delivered, the addressee could have given it to the plaintiff in time. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Crawford (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 843.

In an action against a telegraph company for failure to deliver a message, certain evidence held admissible as to the whereabouts of the sendee in aid of the delivery of the message. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. O'Fiel, 47 C. A. 40, 104 S. W. 406.

In an action against a telegraph company for failing to deliver a message to a physician, evidence of the whereabouts of the physician the day following the sending of the telegram held immaterial in view of other evidence. Slaughter v. Western Union Tel. Co. (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 688.

In an action against a telegraph company for failure to deliver a message, thereby depriving the sender of the privilege of buying bank stock, certain evidence held admissible. Postal Telegraph Cable Co. of Texas v. Harriss, 56 C. A. 105, 121 S. W. 358.

In an action against a telegraph company for failure to deliver a message, certain evidence held material. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Henderson (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1153.

In an action for failure to deliver a telegram, evidence that the messenger who went for the message was informed where the addressee could be found was admissible. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Reynolds (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 121.

In an action against a telegraph company for the failure to deliver a death telegram, where the company claimed that plaintiff should have taken an earlier train than she did, evidence of the reasons for her delay are admissible. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Daniels (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1116.

112. Ejection of passengers and others from trains.—In an action against a railroad company to recover for injuries caused by putting a person off a train, evidence that the mistake in taking it was caused by failure of defendant to give proper signals was irrelevant. Gary v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 17 C. A. 129, 42 S. W. 576.

A passenger's testimony as to whether she preferred to get off or stay on a train from which she has been wrongfully ejected held immaterial, if she was in fact ejected. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Wharton (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 282.

Evidence that the conductor did not ask the ejected person whether she had money or ask her for any was admissible, where there was evidence that the conductor told her she could do nothing but get off, to show that the conductor was hasty. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wallace (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 873.

113. Unlawful arrest and false imprisonment.—Good faith, see ante.

Evidence as to plaintiff's treatment while confined in jail held admissible. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Griffin, 20 C. A. 91, 48 S. W. 542.

Evidence of defendant's unfulfilled promise to inform plaintiff's wife of his arrest, and of its efforts to have plaintiff's bondsmen surrender him into custody, held admissible. Id.

In an action against a sheriff for false imprisonment, held error to exclude from evidence an executive warrant under which he acted, and testimony explanatory of his connection with the detention. Regan v. Jessup, 34 C. A. 74, 77 S. W. 972.

In an action for damages sustained by a passenger by reason of having been illegally arrested by an agent of the railroad company, the exclusion of evidence showing that the agent was a special policeman of the city where the arrest occurred held proper. Texas Midland R. R. v. Dean (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 524.

In action for false imprisonment, information and warrant of arrest filed after false imprisonment held inadmissible to justify or mitigate the unlawful act. Gold v. Campbell, 54 C. A. 269, 117 S. W. 463.

Certain evidence held admissible on the issue of malice, in an action for false imprisonment. Taylor Bros. v. Hearn (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 301.

114. Malicious prosecution.—The fact that the prosecutor acted, after a full statement of all the facts, on the advice of counsel that an offense had been committed, though admissible in evidence for the defendant, is not conclusive of the question of malice. Glasgow v. Owen, 69 T. 167, 6 S. W. 527.

Advice of counsel may be considered with other facts upon the questions of malice and probable cause. Hurlbut v. Boaz, 23 S. W. 446, 4 C. A. 371.

In an action for malicious prosecution, the defense of advice of private counsel is not complete, but is a fact to be considered by the jury on the issue of malice and probable cause. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Groseclose, 50 C. A. 525, 110 S. W. 477.

Purpose for which the fact that no indictment was found against plaintiff may be considered in an action for malicious prosecution, stated. Equitable Life Assur. Soc. of United States v. Lester (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 499.

Certain evidence held admissible in an action for malicious prosecution to show that defendant had not communicated all of the facts to the county attorney, on whose advice plaintiff was arrested. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Groseclose (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 736.

115. Waters and water courses—Obstruction.—Evidence irrelevant unless preceded or followed by other evidence, see ante.

In a suit for the overflow of land caused by the obstruction of a ditch, evidence that on the removal of the obstruction the water receded held admissible. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 424.

Evidence that plaintiff's land was low and had overflowed before defendant company closed a culvert through its embankment and constructed a drain along its right of way held admissible as tending to show a complete defense for overflow from such closing. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Wishart, 28 C. A. 162, 66 S. W. 860.

In an action for the drowning of plaintiff's stock by failure to leave openings in defendant's right of way fence, where the deed required defendant to construct all necessary road crossings, evidence that an open crossing was necessary was admissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Clay, 28 C. A. 176, 66 S. W. 1115.

Evidence in an action for damages to land by construction of a railway obstructing flow of surface water held irrelevant. Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. v. Spencer, 28 C. A. 251, 67 S. W. 196.

In an action for damages to crops alleged to be due to interference with the natural flow of water, evidence tending to show that they were damaged by reason of excessive rainfall held admissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Huffman (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 536.

Evidence as to the land being flooded only after construction of a railroad held admissible in an action against the railroad company for flooding the land. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Foster, 45 C. A. 334, 100 S. W. 1017.

In an action against a railroad company for damages resulting from the backing up of surface water, owing to the improper construction of an embankment, evidence held improperly admitted. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Kiersey, 101 T. 513, 109 S. W. 862.

In an action against a railroad company for so constructing its tracks that water from a river ran over plaintiff's land, certain evidence held admissible. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Davison (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1162.

In a timber owner's action for obstructing a stream so as to interfere with the rafting of logs, evidence that rafting had not proved profitable to some parties engaged in the business was properly excluded. Burr's Ferry, B. & C. Ry. Co. v. Allen (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 358.

116. — Diversion.—In an action for damages for the overflow of a portion of plaintiff's farm, plaintiff's reasons for abandoning the balance of the farm held immaterial. Eastern Texas R. Co. v. Moore (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 394.

Defendants in a riparian owner's suit to enjoin the diversion of water held to have the right to prove that the plaintiff's loss was due to the diversion by an intermediate appropriator and to prove the amount of that diversion. Biggs v. Lee (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 709.

117. Libel and slander.—Circumstantial evidence, see ante.

Pecuniary condition, see ante.

Statements of fact in publication held libelous, so that the contention that conclusions based thereon were not libelous when taken in connection with facts was immaterial. Cranfill v. Hayden, 97 T. 544, 80 S. W. 609.

In libel for charging plaintiff with smuggling, testimony as to the authority of custom officers in searching and seizing goods held irrelevant. San Antonio Light Pub. Co. v. Lewy, 52 C. A. 22, 113 S. W. 574.

In slander the exclusion of evidence of the appearance of defendant at the time of the uttering of the slanderous words held proper as not proving malice, which must be implied from the charge itself. Day v. Becker (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1197.

118. Wrongful release of judgment.—In an action for the wrongful release of a judgment after its sale by defendant to plaintiff, certain proof held inadmissible on the issue of whether defendant sold the judgment. W. L. Moody & Co. v. Rowland, 46 C. A. 412, 102 S. W. 911.

119. Wrongful attachment, execution or sequestration.—Circumstantial evidence, see ante.

Motive, intent and good faith, see ante.

In a suit for damages resulting from an illegal seizure of property exempt from forced sale, evidence offered showing cause for the issuance of the attachment is irrelevant. Brown v. Bridges, 70 T. 661, 8 S. W. 502.

In order to show want of probable cause, evidence of an offer to compromise or arbitrate is competent. Lewis v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 92.

That an attaching creditor was angry is not admissible in evidence in an action for a wrongful attachment. Yarborough v. Weaver, 25 S. W. 468, 6 C. A. 215.

To prove that one was actuated by malice in seizing the property of another it is competent to show his language and conduct in making the seizure. Land v. Klein, 21 C. A. 3, 50 S. W. 638.

In an action for wrongful attachment, a judgment for defendant against plaintiff for the amount of the debt for which the attachment was levied, which was suspended by appeal, was not admissible to show that plaintiff was indebted to defendant. Cline v. Hackbrath, 30 C. A. 591, 71 S. W. 48.

In an action for wrongful attachment, certain evidence held admissible as tending to show that the attachment defendant had been fraudulently disposing of his property. Id.

In an action for wrongful attachment, certain evidence held properly admitted, when expressly limited to the issue of probable cause. Id.

In an attachment suit held error to refuse to admit certain evidence showing that before commencement of suit defendant had claimed that he was entitled to damages as against plaintiff. Kleinsmith v. Kempner, 37 C. A. 246, 83 S. W. 409.

In a sequestration suit, evidence that plaintiff had a mortgage lien on the property sued for was admissible on the issue of malice in suing out the writ on which defendant predicated a right to recover exemplary damages. Rea v. P. E. Schow & Bros., 42 C. A. 600, 93 S. W. 706.

In an action for damages for alleged wrongful levy of execution, the admission of certain evidence held not error. First Bank of Mertens v. Steffens, 51 C. A. 211, 111 S. W. 782.

In an action for wrongful attachment, plaintiff held entitled to show the falsity of the grounds stated in the affidavit of attachment. Rainey v. Kemp, 54 C. A. 486, 118 S. W. 630.

In proceeding on motion to quash attachment certain evidence held properly excluded. Awalt v. Schooler (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 453.

120. Fraud and fraudulent conveyances.—Circumstantial evidence, see ante.

Evidence irrelevant unless preceded or followed by other evidence, see ante.

Knowledge or notice, see ante.

Motive, intent and good faith, see ante.

Pecuniary condition, see ante.

Remoteness, see ante.

Statements and conduct of parties, see ante.

The issue being whether S. had transferred his goods to H. for the purpose of defrauding his creditors, it was inadmissible to introduce evidence that S., prior to the loan of money to H. with which the goods had been bought of him by H., offered to invest money in a certain business, and to put H. in as a clerk to look after his interest, it not having been shown that H. knew of the proposition. Hinson v. Walker, 65 T. 103.

Fraud may be proven as any other fact. Wylie v. Posey, 71 T. 34, 9 S. W. 87.

On the issue of fraud charged to avoid a sale by a failing debtor to a creditor, it is competent to prove that the debtor offered the complaining creditor property at the price for which it was afterwards sold to another creditor. Traders' Bank v. Clare, 76 T. 47, 13 S. W. 183.

Where a failing debtor sells out to his own employé, and fraud is alleged, the fullest latitude of proof should be allowed other creditors in showing the fraud. Every relevant circumstance should go to the jury for what it is worth. Cox v. Trent, 1 C. A. 639, 20 S. W. 1118.

In an action assailing a conveyance for fraud, evidence held admissible on the issue of fabricated indebtedness. Wright v. Solomon (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 58.

Evidence that, after a conveyance, mortgagee offered to turn over to plaintiff all of the mortgaged property if he would pay his claim, which he refused, held admissible. City Nat. Bank v. Martin-Brown Co., 20 C. A. 52, 43 S. W. 617, 49 S. W. 523.

The theory of a witness as to what induced the buyer of an insolvent's goods to pay an exorbitant price held inadmissible in an action attacking the transfer as fraudulent. Half v. Goldfrank (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 1095.

Evidence that the property was worth more than the price, and that the buyer would have taken it had he known its condition, is admissible on the issue of the materiality of the false representations. Carson v. Houssels (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 290.

Evidence of acceptance by creditors of chattel mortgage executed for their benefit is admissible, when such mortgage is attacked as fraudulent on its face, because acceptance of all creditors does not appear. Parlin & Orendorff Co. v. Hanson, 21 C. A. 401, 53 S. W. 62.

Under pleadings raising issue as to fraud on creditors, held, that wife of grantor of deed under which plaintiff claimed was properly allowed to testify that, of money her husband received from sale of farm bought with proceeds of her separate property, certain amount was invested in property conveyed. Barnes v. Krause (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 92.

In an action by a creditor to set aside a voluntary conveyance by a husband to his wife, evidence of transactions occurring after the conveyance held incompetent to prove an indebtedness against the husband. Gonzales v. Adoue, 94 T. 120, 58 S. W. 951.

In an action against the grantee of a patentee to set aside a patent to school lands for fraud, a judgment in an action by a third person against the patentee held not admissible. State v. Burnett (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 599.

In a suit to cancel a contract and deeds made in pursuance thereof on the ground of false representations as to the character of the round cotton bale process, evidence as to the saving to the farmers in handling cotton in the round bale held inadmissible. American Cotton Co. v. Collier, 30 C. A. 105, 69 S. W. 1021.

In a suit to cancel a contract and deeds made in pursuance thereof on the ground of false representations as to the character of the round cotton bale process, evidence as to the claims made for it at the time of the trial, more than four years afterwards, held inadmissible. Id.

On the issue whether a debt included in a deed of trust was fictitious and fraudulent as to other creditors, certain testimony held relevant. M. A. Cooper & Co. v. Sawyer, 31 C. A. 620, 73 S. W. 992.

On the issue whether a debtor had transferred his property with the intent to defraud his creditors, evidence as to what his grantee said and did with reference to his property was inadmissible. Searcy v. Gwaltney Bros., 36 C. A. 153, 81 S. W. 576.

In an action on a note given for part of the purchase price of land, evidence that the payee falsely represented that he had good title, etc., was admissible. Morris v. Brown, 38 C. A. 266, 85 S. W. 1015.

In a suit to set aside a conveyance as fraudulent, recitals in a former judgment held not admissible as against the grantee. Parlin & Orendorff Co. v. Vawter, 39 C. A. 520, 88 S. W. 407.

In an action for damages for false representations as to the value of corporate stock, evidence of a certain representation held not objectionable as relating to mere opinion. Collins v. Chipman, 41 C. A. 563, 95 S. W. 666.

In an action for fraudulent misrepresentations inducing plaintiff to buy corporate stock, certain evidence held admissible to show that the representations were not true when made. Id.

On issue of fraud, evidence of subsequent ownership of property by person charged held inadmissible. Guthrie v. O. T. Lyon & Sons (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 432.

Where, in an action for deceit of defendant's agent, there was evidence of ratification of the agent's fraudulent conduct, evidence of a conversation between plaintiff and defendant's general agent, concerning such transaction, held admissible as against defendant. Western Cottage Plano & Organ Co. v. Anderson, 45 C. A. 513, 101 S. W. 1061.

In an action for fraud, certain testimony held inadmissible. First Nat. Bank v. Baldwin, 46 C. A. 244, 102 S. W. 786.

In an action against a building and loan association for fraud in inducing plaintiff to subscribe for stock, held unessential to plaintiff's recovery that he show that he applied for a loan, etc. Trollinger v. Amarillo Savings & Loan Co., 46 C. A. 592, 103 S. W. 199.

Evidence held material on the defense that one was induced by fraudulent representations to sign a contract for purchase of materials. United States Gypsum Co. v. Shields (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 724.

Evidence held admissible on the question whether one was deceived by false representations. Goldman v. Hadley (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 282.

In an action for damages by false representations inducing plaintiff to purchase his partner's interest in the firm, certain evidence held irrelevant. Pitman v. Self (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 907.

A buyer of corporate stock seeking to recover damages for fraud inducing the purchase held not entitled to prove a specified fact. Reed v. Holloway (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1189.

Evidence held relevant to show nonexistence of fraud. Crockett & Sons v. Anselin (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 99.

In an action to set aside a deed as having been procured through fraudulent representations, under the issues as to whether a certain hotel that was given in consideration of the deed was misrepresented as being rentable, and whether defendant relied upon plaintiff's false representations as to the character of the land covered by the deed, it was no error to exclude evidence by defendant that he became acquainted with plaintiff through his agent; such evidence being wholly immaterial. Peters v. Strauss (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 956.

In an action for fraud inducing an exchange of property for a mule, evidence of the price paid by defendant for the mule about two months prior to the exchange held admissible. McCullough Hardware Co. v. Burdett (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 612.

In an action on a note wherein plaintiff garnished insurance proceeds claimed by defendant's brother, held improper to refuse to permit the brother to testify what caused him to procure an assignment of the proceeds. Dickerson v. Central Texas Grocery Co. (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 695.

In an action against a real estate broker for fraud inducing plaintiff to trade his land for a stock of merchandise, testimony for plaintiff that plaintiff had not authorized the broker to enter into a contract, by which plaintiff should accept the stock without inspection, held erroneous in view of the terms of the contract of exchange which did not provide that plaintiff should not have the right to inspect before receiving the merchandise. Blard & Scales v. Tyler Building & Loan Ass'n (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 1168.

In an action against a real estate broker for fraud inducing plaintiff to trade his land for a stock of merchandise, a question asked a witness as to whether he would describe the stock as a line of dry goods, clothing, boots, shoes and hats held inadmissible. Id.

In an action on a note executed by defendant, in which land standing in the name of B. was attached which plaintiff claimed was purchased by a town-site corporation for defendant and transferred to B. to defraud defendant's creditors, evidence that defendant had the same rights in the land as the town-site company, as defendant stockholders owned the town-site company, was admissible. First State Bank & Trust Co. of Hereford v. Southwestern Engineering & Construction Co. (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 680.

The affidavit of the publisher of a newspaper, taken before the administrator of an estate, half of which was the property of the party cited by publication, was admissible in evidence as tending to show fraud; the purchaser having been alleged to have been in conspiracy with such administrator. Moore v. Miller (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 573.

121. Undue influence and mental incapacity.—Circumstantial evidence, see ante.

The issue being merely whether the person giving a note was insane, and not whether the bank taking it had notice thereof, admission of evidence that the cashier of the bank to which it was payable thought at the time the person executed the note that he was insane is error. First Nat. Bank v. McGinty, 29 C. A. 539, 69 S. W. 495.

The state of one's health may be considered in determining the question of mental capacity to transact business. Johnson v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 36 C. A. 487, 81 S. W. 1197.

On an issue as to whether a son exercised undue influence over his mother to procure an assignment of notes and mortgages, testimony held improperly received. McHay v. Peterson, 52 C. A. 195, 113 S. W. 981.

In a suit by the executor to set aside a deed executed by testatrix to her daughter-in-law on the ground of fraud and undue influence, evidence that defendant's attorney had offered to give an heir his share if he would have nothing to do with the case was inadmissible. Rankin v. Rankin, 105 T. 451, 151 S. W. 527, reversing judgment (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 392.

In an action by an executor to set aside a deed made by his deceased on the ground of deceased's insanity, the exclusion of evidence tending to show a change in the handwriting of deceased is proper since the evidence was irrelevant. Armstrong v. Burt (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 172.

In an action by an executor to set aside a deed of his deceased on the ground of insanity, evidence as to the feeling of the grantor towards defendant's family held admissible. Id.

Where a son procured his mother to make a deed of her land to his wife that he might have the control over it as his own, all evidence which would be admissible if the deed had been made to the son was admissible in a suit by the mother's executrix to set aside the deed. Rankin v. Rankin, 105 T. 451, 151 S. W. 527, reversing judgment (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 392.

In an action to cancel a deed on the grounds of the grantor's insanity and undue influence, evidence, that one not shown to have had any authority to act for defendants or to stand in a confidential relation toward the grantor had told the grantor that the land was not worth more than the amount offered, was a mere expression of opinion and inadmissible on the issue of undue influence. Stratton v. Riley (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 606.

In an action to cancel a deed for mental incapacity of the grantor and undue influence, a question as to what connection B. had with the transaction was properly excluded, where neither by pleading nor proof was B. connected with the transaction. Id.

In a suit to set aside a deed, executed by testatrix and her husband, conveying all their property to the exclusion of a son, on the ground of undue influence and mental incapacity, evidence that about five years before the making of the deed the husband gave directions for the disposition of the property showing that he did not wish to disinherit the son was admissible. Holt v. Guerguin (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 581.

122. Nuisance.—Remoteness, see ante.

In a suit to enjoin the maintenance of a nuisance consisting of a cotton gin, evidence as to the cost of moving to another place was properly excluded. Faulkenbury v. Wells, 28 C. A. 621, 68 S. W. 327.

In an action for a nuisance in polluting a stream and causing a stench on plaintiff's premises, defendant held entitled to show that the stench arose from other causes. Shain Packing Co. v. Burrus (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 838.

In a suit to enjoin the construction and operation of a cotton gin, on the ground that the same would be a nuisance, certain evidence held inadmissible. Robinson v. Dale (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 308.

In a suit to restrain the maintenance of a livery stable as a nuisance, and for damages, evidence offered by plaintiff that defendant had contracted not to engage in the livery business in the town for five years, and that a suit was pending to enjoin him from doing so, was immaterial. Kennedy v. Garrard (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 570.

123. Damages.—Certainty, see ante.

Character and reputation, see ante.

Pecuniary condition and value, see ante.

Statements and conduct of parties, see ante.

As evidence of damage from the attachment and sale of goods, the plaintiff may show that his business was broken up, that he was thrown out of employment, and his services were worth a stated sum. Mayo v. Savoni, 1 App. C. C. § 217.

It is irrelevant upon the question of damages to show that the plaintiff had contracted for the sale of the cattle at their destination, and that they were refused because not such as had been represented, and not for or on account of their condition. Such testimony did not tend to show the amount or limit of damages suffered. Wade v. Love, 69 T. 522, 7 S. W. 225.

Evidence that the publisher of a libel, who charged a violation of the local option laws, was informed thereof by his agent in his line of duty, is admissible to mitigate the damages. Schulze v. Jalonick, 18 C. A. 296, 44 S. W. 580.

Under Art. 6521, it was held that evidence of benefits derived from the construction of a telegraph line in common with the community in general cannot be excluded by the court. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Postal Tel. Cable Co., 18 C. A. 502, 45 S. W. 179.

Certain evidence in an action to cancel a conveyance of land held admissible to show a waiver of defendant's claim for damages because of plaintiff's failure to comply with a contract in relation to repair of other property. Lancaster v. Richardson (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 409.

An insurer who has not required an appraisal on a disputed loss cannot complain of the admission of evidence other than an award to establish the amount of the loss. Virginia Fire & Marine Ins. Co. v. Cannon, 18 C. A. 588, 45 S. W. 945.

In an action for breach of a contract to deliver gravel, certain evidence held admissible on an issue as to the amount of damages. Downey v. Hatter (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 32.

Evidence of the nature of injuries to a consignment of stock is no evidence on which to estimate damages. Gulf, W. T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Staton (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 277.

Evidence of injury to navigation in certain waters by the construction of a ship channel held immaterial to the question of damages, because the land not taken was not shown to extend to those waters, and no special damage was shown. Crary v. Port Arthur Channel & Dock Co. (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 703.

On issue of damages from construction of railroad, evidence that city had not graded street in front of it on account of the railroad held inadmissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. O'Connor (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 511.

Evidence of loss of profits held proper in action against a railroad for cutting off plaintiff's access to market by closing a crossing. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Baudat, 21 C. A. 236, 51 S. W. 541.

In an action to condemn land, the exclusion of evidence that, unless it was condemned, plaintiff would not be able to complete a roundhouse which it had previously located near the land, was proper. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brugger, 24 C. A. 367, 59 S. W. 556.

In action for injuries by fire to grass of lessee, evidence of injury to turf was properly received. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Stone (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 461.

Evidence of loss of time by a tenant and his family as the result of an illegal distress is admissible on the question of exemplary damages. Watson v. Boswell, 25 C. A. 379, 61 S. W. 407.

In a suit to recover half the profits of a certain sale, evidence as to the expenses incurred in affecting same was improperly excluded. Branch v. De Blanc (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 134.

In an action for breach of marriage promise, evidence as to previous engagements of plaintiff held not admissible on the question of the measure of damages. Edge v. Griffin (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 148.

In an action for the negligent destruction of pear trees, evidence that such trees add nothing to the value of the soil in that locality was inadmissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Burroughs, 27 C. A. 422, 66 S. W. 83.

In an action for delay in delivering a telegram notifying a son of the serious sickness of his mother, evidence that they were more than ordinarily affectionate held admissible. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Waller (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 264.

On the issue of damages for killing a mule, certain evidence held admissible. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cooper, 32 C. A. 592, 75 S. W. 328.

In an action for damages by defendant's constructing tracks along the street in front of plaintiff's property, testimony as to what plaintiff would take for his property held properly excluded. Eastern Texas R. Co. v. Scurlock (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 366.

In an action against a railroad for damages because of the construction of an embankment on plaintiff's land, evidence that the embankment obstructed plaintiff's view and impaired the use of a windmill held admissible. Choctaw, O. & T. R. Co. v. True, 35 C. A. 309, 80 S. W. 120.

In an action against telephone companies for negligent delay in delivery of message, consisting of bid by plaintiff for the erection of a building, plaintiff is entitled to show what his profits would have been, had the contract been awarded him. Texas & W. Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Mackenzie, 36 C. A. 178, 81 S. W. 581.

In an action against a railroad company for the burning of a building, evidence as to whether the building was insured is inadmissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Jordan (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 791.

In action for loss by fire communicated by defendant's engine, rejection of evidence that plaintiff had transferred his cause of action to insurers held not cause for reversal. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Keahey, 37 C. A. 330, 83 S. W. 1102.

In an action for breach of contract not to engage in business, evidence showing plaintiff's loss of profits held admissible. Crump v. Ligon, 37 C. A. 172, 84 S. W. 250.

In an action against a railway company for temporary damages to land, due to the negligent construction of the track, evidence of depreciation in the market value of the land is inadmissible. Gulf, B. & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Roberts (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 1052.

In an action against a railroad for failure to place cattle guards at the points where the road entered plaintiff's premises, held, that testimony as to expenses incurred on account of the hire of additional help by plaintiff for the purpose of driving his stock across defendant's right of way was competent and material. Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Wetz, 38 C. A. 563, 87 S. W. 373.

In an action for the diversion of water, certain evidence held admissible on the issue of permanent damages. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Terhune (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 381.

In an action against a telegraph company for damages owing to failure to deliver message informing plaintiff that his wife was ill in childbirth, it was proper to permit plaintiff to show who lived with his wife at the time, the age of such parties, and their ability or capacity to assist her. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Craven (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 633.

Where plaintiff sued for a telegraph company's delay in delivering a message resulting in his being prevented from attending a brother's funeral, evidence as to his grief held improperly excluded. Buchanan v. Western Union Telegraph Co. (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 974.

In an action for failure to deliver a telephone call, it was error to allow evidence of damage of which there was nothing in the call to put the companies upon notice that this element of damage would arise or be likely to arise from a failure to deliver. Sabine Valley Telephone Co. v. Oliver, 46 C. A. 428, 102 S. W. 925.

In an action for breach of contract to sell a specified number of bales of cotton, evidence that cotton advanced steadily in price, held admissible. Pierce v. Waller (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 1173.

In an action for breach of contract to sell a specified number of bales of cotton certain testimony held inadmissible on the issue of damages.—Id.

In an action against a railroad company for overflowing a farm, certain evidence held admissible on the issue of damages. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Darwin, 47 C. A. 219, 105 S. W. 825.

In an action for damages for wrongful expulsion from a fraternal association, held that a policy of insurance forfeited by such expulsion and the forfeiture of a membership card, which enabled the holder to travel by rail without paying fare, were properly considered on the question of damages. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 453.

In an action for mental anguish suffered by plaintiff's wife because of his absence from a failure to deliver a telegram, evidence as to the possible effect of the worry due to plaintiff's absence on the wife's health held improperly admitted. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Olivarri (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 930.

Where the evidence raised an issue of exemplary damages, in an action for conspiracy resulting in the expulsion of a member of a beneficial association, evidence that plaintiff at the time of defendant's illegal acts had a home, a wife and children was admissible. St. Louis & S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Thompson, 102 T. 89, 113 S. W. 144, 19 Ann. Cas. 1250.

Certain evidence held admissible in reduction of damages from eviction of a tenant on shares. Crews v. Cortez, 52 C. A. 644, 115 S. W. 609.

In an action for conversion, evidence as to damages held inadmissible. Crawford v. Thomason, 53 C. A. 561, 117 S. W. 181.

In an action for damage to an onion crop, mode of proving damages stated. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Riverhead Farm, 53 C. A. 643, 117 S. W. 1049.

In an action for breach of a contract to make and deliver staves, certain evidence held inadmissible on the issue of damages. Gibson & Cunningham v. Purifoy, 56 C. A. 379, 120 S. W. 1047.

In an action for injuries to personal property, certain evidence held admissible on the issue of exemplary damages. Temple v. Duran (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 253.

In an action for mental anguish caused by delay in not carrying plaintiff's wife's body on the same train that he was on, and in not delivering it at his destination by the time that he arrived there, testimony that while in transit the conductor told him that the body of his wife was on the same train was inadmissible; as plaintiff could not have suffered mental anguish until he ascertained that the body was not being carried on the train; and the conductor's statement to the contrary, if untrue, could have caused no distress. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Vandiver, 57 C. A. 470, 122 S. W. 955.

In an action against a carrier for loss of goods, evidence of the amount of freight unpaid was admissible on the issue of damages, though not pleaded as a counterclaim. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Hoffecker (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 617.

Testimony in an action for burning of grass and sod as to the number of cattle it would pasture and the price for pasturing held admissible. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Qualls (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 140.

On the issue of damages, evidence that the owners intended to divide a portion of the land into lots for immediate use was admissible. Crystal City & U. R. Co. v. Isbell (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 47.

In a suit by an abutting owner for damages from construction of an additional railroad track in a street, evidence that a house of ill fame was established and conducted near plaintiff's lot before the acts complained of was inadmissible for defendant on the issue of damages. Connor v. International & G. N. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 196.

In an action by a contractor for breach of contract, daily time checks of payments for work done and the pay roll held admissible as bearing on the loss of profits. El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. Eichel & Weikel (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 922.

In an action for breach of contract, certain evidence held admissible to show what profits were in contemplation of the parties at the making of the contract. El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. Eichel & Weikel (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 922.

Evidence of pleading and recovery of damages in a condemnation suit for a railroad right of way held not admissible in an action for damages for failure of the railroad to construct a farm crossing. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Nicholson (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 235.

Certain evidence held admissible in an action for the conversion of timber because of plaintiff's claim of exemplary damages. Cookville Coal & Lumber Co. v. Evans (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 750.

In an action against a railway company for breach of contract to carry a dead body, testimony held admissible to show plaintiff's mental suffering, etc. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Linton (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 123.

In an action for wrongful seizure of secondhand furniture, held competent for plaintiff to prove that the goods were valuable to him. Souther v. Hunt (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 359.

In an action for damages to business, amount of business done by complainant in a corresponding period not too remote and business done during the time of such obstruction held admissible. American Const. Co. v. Davis (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1019.

In an action for injuries to cattle in transit, evidence that the damage to the shipment was increased as the result of the cattle being fed and watered at E., instead of W., held admissible. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Dinwiddie (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 280.

In an action against a railroad's receiver for burning plaintiff's property, evidence as to the manner and cost of repairing the injury done was admissible. Freeman v. Nathan (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 243; Same v. Peacock, Id. 259.

In an action for damage to plaintiff's house by blasting operations, evidence that brick used in the house were not as substantial as those called for in the specifications and as to the relative cost of the two classes of brick held immaterial. Mt. Franklin Lime & Stone Co. v. May (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 756.

In an action for injuries to a horse where plaintiff had to use another horse, testimony of plaintiff as to the amount he paid for feed for the injured horse while he had to hire and feed another was admissible. Powell v. Hill (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1125.

In an action for damages for the destruction of crops, it was not error to permit a witness to testify on the question of damages that of the products raised some were sold at the nearest shipping point and others were shipped to market, but that all were sold on a basis of f. o. b. at the nearest shipping point. American Rio Grande Land & Irrigation Co. v. Mercedes Plantation Co. (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 286.

124. — Personal Injuries.—Evidence irrelevant unless preceded or followed by other evidence, see ante.

Personal relations as affecting damages, see ante.

Remoteness, see ante.

In a suit for damages for the negligent killing of plaintiff's husband, evidence of the monthly wages of the decedent was admissible. Railway Co. v. Johnston, 73 T. 536, 15 S. W. 104.

Evidence that plaintiff did not practice his profession after receiving injuries held admissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brown, 16 C. A. 93, 40 S. W. 608.

In an action for wrongfully ejecting a passenger, evidence that his acquaintances joked him about the matter is inadmissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Copeland, 17 C. A. 55, 42 S. W. 239.

Evidence that a negro was not inconvenienced by the absence of a water-closet from a railway car held admissible. Henderson v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 1030.

Evidence that deceased had declared his purpose to take care of his father held admissible with proof of age and expectancy of life of the father. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Knight (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 167.

A physician's statement to plaintiff, bitten by a dog, that she was in danger of hydrophobia, lockjaw, and blood poisoning, held incompetent to show mental suffering. Trinity & S. Ry. Co. v. O'Brien, 18 C. A. 690, 46 S. W. 389.

Evidence of necessary assistance rendered to plaintiff since the injury to enable him to perform his work held admissible on question of damages. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Zapp (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 673.

Proof of life expectancy of plaintiff held inadmissible in an action for loss of an arm. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Nelson, 20 C. A. 536, 49 S. W. 710.

In an action for an injury to plaintiff's hand which only partially affected his ability to prosecute his business, his life expectancy is inadmissible. City of Honey Grove v. Lamaster (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 1053.

The scope of evidence admissible to prove the earning capacity of one suing for a personal injury to determine his loss where totally disabled, set forth. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. St. Clair, 21 C. A. 345, 51 S. W. 666.

In an action for personal injury, evidence that plaintiff was totally disabled warranted the admission of evidence of his life expectancy. Id.

Evidence as to effect of injury to wife, held admissible, in action by husband; the evidence showing it was the natural result of the injury. City of Dallas v. Jones (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 606.

Evidence of plaintiff's loss of weight was competent to show the physical condition produced by injuries. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Weigers, 22 C. A. 344, 54 S. W. 910.

In an action by parents to recover for the death of their son, due to negligence of defendant, evidence of assistance they received and expected from him was properly admitted. Brush Electric Light & Power Co. v. Lefevre (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 396.

Where, in an action for the ejection of a passenger, the court limited recovery to damages arising from mental suffering, it was not error to allow the jury to consider all the circumstances in estimating the damages. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Cunniffe (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 692.

Evidence of price paid by plaintiff for nursing injured son is admissible in action for injuries. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Short (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 56.

In an action by a passenger for injuries, held not error to admit evidence of sums paid by him to physicians for treatment, where the jury were instructed that they were not to find for medical attention or services, unless the evidence showed that the same were reasonable in amount. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Bell, 24 C. A. 579, 58 S. W. 614.

Evidence of plaintiff's brooding over his crippled condition and his future prospects held admissible as evidence of mental anguish in an action for injuries. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Miller, 25 C. A. 460, 61 S. W. 978.

The exclusion of evidence of a passenger that the defendant's cars were cold and filthy, and that the passengers indulged in swearing and drinking, held erroneous. Duck v. St. Louis & S. W. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 891.

Evidence in action for personal injuries as to plaintiff's nervous condition held admissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Oslin, 26 C. A. 370, 63 S. W. 1039.

In an action for wrongful death, evidence that plaintiffs had received money on insurance on decedent's life was inadmissible. Lipscomb v. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co., 95 T. 5, 64 S. W. 923, 55 L. R. A. 869, 93 Am. St. Rep. 804.

Evidence in an action for personal injuries held inadmissible on the question of earning capacity. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Gee, 27 C. A. 414, 66 S. W. 78.

Where, in an action for personal injury, plaintiff's capacity for earning money was permanently impaired, testimony as to the probable duration of his life according to life tables held admissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Mangham, 95 T. 413, 67 S. W. 765.

In an action for injuries, plaintiff's testimony that, after the accident, he could not do as much work in a specific line as formerly, was admissible on the question of damages. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Locke (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 1082.

In an action for personal injury, plaintiff's earning capacity being permanently impaired, though not wholly destroyed, testimony as to the probable duration of his life according to mortality tables held admissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Scarborough, 29 C. A. 194, 68 S. W. 196.

In an action for negligently compelling a first-class passenger to ride in a second-class car, testimony that passengers therein used profane language held admissible. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Kingston, 30 C. A. 24, 68 S. W. 518.

In an action for personal injuries, evidence as to the disposition of the party before and after the injury held admissible to show that the injured party had suffered physical pain and mental anguish. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Moore, 28 C. A. 603, 68 S. W. 559.

In action by servant against master for injuries, the trial court did not err in admitting as evidence mortuary tables of life expectancy, it being shown that plaintiff's earning capacity had been permanently affected. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Mangham, 29 C. A. 486, 69 S. W. 80.

Evidence as to the present condition of plaintiff with reference to his injuries and capacity to work held admissible on the question of permanent injury. Hildenbrand v. Marshall, 30 C. A. 135, 69 S. W. 492.

In a personal injury action, evidence of increased susceptibility to disease held admissible. Rea v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 555.

Testimony by the husband and others that prior to injury his wife was able to perform all of her ordinary household duties, but not thereafter, was admissible. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Armes, 32 C. A. 32, 74 S. W. 77.

A husband, in an action for injury to his wife, may testify to the value of his services rendered her, but not the general trouble he was put to. City of Dallas v. Moore, 32 C. A. 230, 74 S. W. 95.

In an action for injuries, a witness was entitled to testify as to plaintiff's disposition prior and subsequent to the injuries. McGrew v. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co., 32 C. A. 265, 74 S. W. 816.

In an action by a servant for injuries, proof of his life expectancy is admissible, though the injury, while permanent, did not result in entire disability. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Cooper, 33 C. A. 319, 77 S. W. 263.

In an action for the death of a son 10 or 11 years old, evidence of decedent's expressed purpose to contribute to the aid of his parents is admissible on the issue of damages. Freeman v. Carter (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 81.

In an action for injuries to a servant, evidence as to what plaintiff had earned at other times and places than at or about the time and place of the injury was admissible. San Antonio Foundry Co. v. Drish, 38 C. A. 214, 85 S. W. 440.

In an action for injuries to a woman, a second miscarriage occurring some time after the injury held a proper subject of consideration to determine the extent of the injury, but not for the purpose of allowing specific damages for that miscarriage itself. Rapid Transit Ry. Co. v. Smith, 98 T. 553, 86 S. W. 322.

In action for injuries, evidence of plaintiff's expectancy of life held admissible. Northern Texas Const. Co. v. Crawford, 39 C. A. 56, 87 S. W. 223.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff's minor son, evidence tending to show that plaintiff depended upon her work for a living was incompetent. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 99 T. 337, 90 S. W. 164.

In an action for injuries to a servant, evidence of deductions made from his gross earnings for hospital fees, insurance, etc., held inadmissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dickson, 40 C. A. 550, 90 S. W. 507.

In an action for injuries on defendant's railroad track, evidence that some time prior thereto plaintiff had been seriously ill and that a priest had been sent for held inadmissible. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. O'Donnell (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 886.

In an action for personal injuries held proper to admit certain evidence as showing that the injuries claimed to have been caused by the accident did not exist prior thereto. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Parks (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 130.

In an action tried in 1905 for personal injuries received in 1902, certain evidence held inadmissible on the issue of his earning capacity. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dumas (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 493.

In an action by children for negligence causing the death of their father, certain evidence held not admissible on the question of damages. Beaumont Traction Co. v. Dilworth (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 352.

In an action for physical and mental suffering sustained by a woman incident to her expulsion from a passenger train, evidence as to her being a Christian Scientist held admissible. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Travis, 45 C. A. 117, 99 S. W. 1141.

In an action for injuries to a person employed part of the time as conductor and part of the time as brakeman, evidence as to how much time he was called upon to act as conductor and what he received as such held competent. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Still, 45 C. A. 169, 100 S. W. 176.

Evidence that an injured woman had before marriage taught in a literary school and an art school and clerked in a dry goods store is competent, as showing her previous health and her ability to discharge the duties of housewife. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Corse, 46 C. A. 60, 101 S. W. 522.

In action for personal injuries, testimony as to plaintiff's ability to handle himself as an ordinarily active strong man would do held admissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lindsey (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 863.

In an action for personal injury to a four year old child, evidence tending to show her prospective musical talent held competent. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Sauter, 46 C. A. 309, 103 S. W. 201.

In an action for personal injuries, evidence as to what plaintiff earned 20 years before the accident, where it is shown that he still possessed the same business capacity when injured, is admissible to prove his earning capacity at the time of the injuries. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Murphy, 49 C. A. 586, 109 S. W. 489.

In an action for personal injuries, evidence of profits from investments of business, while not admissible to prove earnings, is admissible as tending to show possession of business qualities. Id.

In an action for personal injuries, certain testimony held admissible to show diminished capacity to labor by reason of the injuries. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Norvell (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 861.

The jury, in an action by parents for the negligent death of a minor son, held entitled in determining the damages sustained to consider certain facts. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Pigott, 54 C. A. 367, 116 S. W. 841.

Evidence held relevant as tending to show the nature, character, and extent of plaintiff's injury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 672.

In an action for personal suffering from a doctor not coming, certain evidence held admissible to show extent of damages. Texas Central Telephone Co. v. Owens (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 926.

In an action by parents for the death of their adult son, certain evidence held admissible on the issue as to plaintiffs' expectation of financial aid from deceased. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Huey (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 1017.

In an action for injuries, certain testimony of plaintiff was admissible in determining her earning capacity in considering the question of damages. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Horne (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 1025.

Evidence that plaintiff had suffered from the time of the accident to the time of the trial as a result of the injury held admissible. Blackshear v. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 854.

Certain evidence held admissible in mitigation of exemplary damages in an action for false imprisonment. Taylor Bros. v. Hearn (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 301.

Evidence as to plaintiff's weight at different times since the accident held admissible. Rapid Transit Ry. Co. v. Williams (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 267.

In an action against a railroad for personal injuries, question to plaintiff's medical witness held inadmissible as being irrelevant and immaterial. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Neal (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 398.

The extent of one's physical and mental suffering can be shown by testimony to any facts manifesting the same, and coming under witness' observation. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Linton (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 129.

In an action by a wife for herself and child for the unlawful killing of her husband, evidence as to deceased having been taken to another state on criminal process, and the circumstances under which he was married to plaintiff, and as to what he said to witness as to his conduct prior to his marriage, was inadmissible either on the issue of plaintiff's right to recover or on the issue of exemplary damages. Holland v. Closs (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 671.

In an action for negligence causing death, evidence of deceased's life expectancy held competent, although plaintiffs were minor children who would have no legal right to aid from their father after majority. Freeman v. Moreman (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1045.

In an action against a railroad company for injuries to a female plaintiff, evidence that the injury might have continued latent for a long time held admissible. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Fox (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 922.

RULE 6. FACTS ARE RELEVANT WHEN SO CONNECTED WITH A FACT IN ISSUE AS TO FORM PART OF THE SAME TRANSACTION OR SUBJECT-MATTER

Relation to issues in general.—A fact that other business men, under the same circumstances, acted as did the defendant, is not competent evidence. Rand v. Johns, 4 App. C. C. § 203, 15 S. W. 200; Railway Co. v. Burnett, 3 App. C. C. § 236.

The question of the liability of a railway company for damages is confined to the condition of the road at the time and place of the occurrence, and evidence as to the condition of the road elsewhere as well as of previous wrecks is inadmissible. Railway Co. v. Mitchell, 75 T. 77, 12 S. W. 810; Railway Co. v. Johnson, 72 T. 95, 10 S. W. 325; Railway Co. v. Shuford, 72 T. 165, 10 S. W. 408; Railway Co. v. Turner, 1 C. A. 625, 20 S. W. 1008.

In an action against a railway company for injuries resulting from the negligence of its employés, evidence of other similar and distinct acts of negligence is not admissible. Negligence must be proven by the circumstances of the particular case. Railway Co. v. Rowland, 82 T. 166, 18 S. W. 96.

In action to enjoin defendants from diverting water, evidence of obstructions above property of defendants was admissible. Anderson v. Stratton (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 645.

In an action for injuries by defects in a railroad track, evidence of its condition at such point and points immediately connected therewith held admissible. Houston City St. Ry. Co. v. Medlenka, 17 C. A. 621, 43 S. W. 1028.

In an action against a railroad company for failing to leave an opening in its fence, evidence that openings had been made in the fence for plaintiff's neighbors held admissible. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Grier, 20 C. A. 138, 49 S. W. 148.

In a suit against a railroad for causing death at a crossing, testimony that other trains than the one that caused the injury passed the whistling-post and did not whistle, is not admissible. Railroad v. Porterfield, 92 T. 442, 49 S. W. 861.

In an action for injuries sustained by plaintiff on his jumping from a moving train, which he had boarded to seat his wife, held proper to permit a witness to testify that he had attended his mother on the train that morning, and that he had done the same thing before with other passengers. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Crockett, 27 C. A. 463, 66 S. W. 114.

Upon the issue of whether a person run over by a railway train was standing or walking on the track, or lying on it, when struck, evidence that a train, striking a man standing on the track would throw him off, and would not run over him, unless he was lying down, was relevant and material. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Matthews, 28 C. A. 92, 66 S. W. 588.

Evidence, in an action by a servant for injuries, that witness, an experienced man, had never seen a like injury inflicted in like manner, was properly rejected. Bering Mfg. Co. v. Peterson, 28 C. A. 194, 67 S. W. 133.

Where plaintiff's horse was killed on defendant's railway, and it introduced evidence that to fence the track would interfere with switching, it was not error to admit evidence as to fencing other parts of the switch yard. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Seay (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 177.

Where a survey in controversy must be construed on its calls for courses and distances, a witness cannot state that surveys made about the same time in the vicinity contained excessive acreage, as it was irrelevant. Matthews v. Thatcher, 33 C. A. 133, 76 S. W. 61.

In an action for unlawful arrest on a charge imputing want of chastity, held error to refuse to permit defendant to ask plaintiff if she had not often before been arrested on similar charges. Texas Midland R. R. v. Dean, 98 T. 517, 85 S. W. 1135, 70 L. R. A. 943.

In an action involving a disputed boundary, the admission in evidence of the call in field notes of several surveys other than those in question, to be considered in locating the line in dispute, held not error. Barrow v. Lyons, 38 C. A. 585, 86 S. W. 773.

In an action against a railroad for the death of an engineer, caused by the giving way of a track undermined by heavy rains, evidence as to other heavy rains in the vicinity held admissible on the issue of negligence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Boyce, 39 C. A. 195, 87 S. W. 395.

Evidence that a turntable was no more attractive than ordinary pools of water near by held irrelevant and incompetent on the issue of an implied invitation to children to go on and use it. Denison & P. S. Ry. Co. v. Harlan, 39 C. A. 427, 87 S. W. 732.

In an action against a city for injuries to a pedestrian from a defect in a sidewalk, it was proper to admit evidence that the sidewalk on each side of the street and adjoining the point where the injury occurred was defective. City of Rockwall v. Heath (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 514.

In a cross-action for breach of a contract to furnish water for irrigation, evidence of what similar lands also planted in rice, properly cultivated and irrigated, yielded in the same year, held admissible. Colorado Canal Co. v. McFarland & Southwell (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 400.

In action for breach of pasturage contract, evidence as to condition of another pasture held admissible in connection with other testimony given. Tuttle v. Robert Moody & Son, 100 T. 240, 97 S. W. 1037.

In a suit against telephone companies for failure to deliver a call to plaintiff, evidence of other acts of alleged negligence was improperly admitted. Sabine Valley Telephone Co. v. Oliver, 46 C. A. 428, 102 S. W. 925.

In an action for injuries to an employé, caused by defective appliance, testimony with respect to repairs held competent when applied to the appliance in question, but incompetent when applied to other appliances. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Patrick, 50 C. A. 491, 109 S. W. 1097.

Where, in an action against a railroad company for fire set by a locomotive the evidence showed that a particular locomotive set the fire, the proof was properly limited to the construction, condition, and operation of the particular locomotive. W. A. Morgan & Bros. v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 50 C. A. 420, 110 S. W. 973.

In an action against a railroad company for flooding land, certain evidence held pertinent; and, being legitimate, that it might serve the purpose of comparison did not render it objectionable. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hagler (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 733.

In a suit to enjoin the use of lots as a feed and wagon yard, deeds to neighboring lots held admissible, as tending to show dedication of the block involved to residence purposes exclusively. Lowrance v. Woods, 54 C. A. 233, 118 S. W. 551.

In a brakeman's action for injuries caused by the derailment of a caboose because of the bad condition of the track, evidence was admissible that the track was in bad condition all along that part of the road and in the vicinity of the wreck. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Spencer, 55 C. A. 456, 119 S. W. 716.

In an action for fire set by an engine, evidence of the defective condition of the fire arrester on an engine subsequent to the fire held admissible to contradict the proof of the railroad company. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Owen (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 1139.

In an action against a buyer for shrinkage of cattle while awaiting acceptance of delivery, evidence held admissible to show their condition and the probability of their losing flesh by shrinkage on being placed in a pasture at the point of delivery. Cox v. Steed (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 246.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff by being struck by a spike thrown from a railroad track by a passing train, evidence that the ties were rotten a quarter of a mile from the place of the accident held inadmissible. Blackshear v. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 854.

An agreement to cohabit as husband and wife made while one of the parties had a living wife, and their conduct thereunder, held not to be considered in determining whether they entered into a contract of marriage after the death of such wife. Grigsby v. Reib (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1027.

In an action for injuries to cattle en route, in which defendant claimed that plaintiff contributed to their injury by dipping them in oil, the evidence of another shipper who dipped cattle in oil held not admissible. Quanah, A. & P. Ry. Co. v. Galloway (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 368.

Omission of other steamship companies to provide handrails for the safety of passengers held not to show freedom from negligence. North German Lloyd S. S. Co. v. Roehl (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 322.

In an action for injuries to a servant by the breaking of a chain, testimony of one who had at another time been engaged in the same work that he had never seen a chain break, held properly excluded. Texas Traction Co. v. Morrow (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1069.

In an action for failure to deliver sound cattle as contracted for, testimony of a shipper of other cattle which had run with the cattle in controversy that he had inspected his cattle and found them free from disease was not admissible. O'Brien v. Von Lienen (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 723.

In an action against a railway company for setting fire to cotton bales, testimony that defendant's engines had previously emitted sparks when passing that point held properly excluded, where the identity of the engine that set the fire was established beyond controversy. Nussbaum & Scharff v. Trinity & Brazos Valley Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1083.

On an issue as to the efficiency of a gasoline engine which was sold for irrigation purposes, it was proper to show the horse power developable by the engine by showing that a 15 horse power steam engine developed as much power as was shown by the gasoline engine which was sold under representation that it would develop 50 horse power. Southern Gas & Gasoline Engine Co. v. Peveto (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 279.

— Difference in time.—In an action for damages resulting from the use of a defective hand-car, evidence of its condition a week or ten days after the injury was relevant, there being no reason to believe that its condition had been changed. Railway Co. v. Johnson, 83 T. 628, 19 S. W. 151.

Evidence of defective condition of machinery shortly after accident held admissible to show a like condition at time of accident. Austin & N. W. Ry. Co. v. Flannagan (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 1043.

Evidence of the result of inspection of the elevator by the falling of which plaintiff was injured, which inspection occurred six months before the accident, held admissible. The Oriental v. Barclay, 16 C. A. 193, 41 S. W. 117.

Evidence that an engineer was incompetent before the accident held admissible to show his incompetency at the time of the accident. Terrell v. Russell, 16 C. A. 573, 42 S. W. 129.

Testimony of a witness that he examined the track a month after the accident, caused by a low joint, and found low joints, held admissible. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Beam (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 411.

Evidence of the existence of a hole in a depot platform 10 hours after an accident caused thereby held properly admitted to prove the condition of the platform at the time of the accident. Texas Midland R. R. v. Brown (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 44.

In an action for injury received by locomotive engineer in a collision caused by a brakeman going to sleep and leaving a switch open, testimony of a witness that she saw the brakeman just before he went out, and that he looked bad and worried, and seemed unable to walk, was admissible to show his condition. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Kelton, 28 C. A. 137, 66 S. W. 387.

Where the engine which emitted sparks by which fire was set was identified, it was error to permit a witness to testify that defendant's engines generally emitted sparks 10 months prior to the event in question. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Home Ins. Co. (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 999.

Evidence as to the condition of a highway long before it was appropriated by a railroad, and of a new road long after it was built to replace the old one, held inadmissible in an action by a county for damages for such appropriation. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Grayson County, 31 C. A. 611, 73 S. W. 64.

Evidence in regard to a defect in the street, long after the time that the injury sued for was received, is inadmissible. City of Dallas v. Moore, 32 C. A. 230, 74 S. W. 95.

On appeal by defendant in action against it for damages from fire defendant held not entitled to complain of admission of evidence as to the emission of fire from other locomotives at different times. Texas Midland R. R. v. Moore (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 942.

In an action for injuries to a brakeman by derailment at a derailing switch, evidence that an examination on the day succeeding the accident showed that the switch was not obscured by grass and weeds held admissible as original testimony. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Arnold (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 173.

Exclusion of evidence of records showing classification of school lands in May, 1901, on issue as to their classification in September, 1899, held not ground for reversal. Smithers v. Lowrance (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 606.

In an action for breaking into plaintiff's house, his testimony as to the condition of the house, and articles missing therefrom, upon his return home some time after the breaking held admissible. Jesse French Piano & Organ Co. v. Phelps, 47 C. A. 385, 105 S. W. 225.

Evidence of incompetence of a foreman a year before the occurrence of an accident tends to show incompetence when the accident occurred. El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Smith, 50 C. A. 10, 108 S. W. 988.

Evidence as to the condition of a railroad track at a certain place in December is admissible as to its condition the previous May at the time of the accident in question, where there is further evidence that its condition was practically the same at both dates. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 1043.

In an action by one partner against a copartner to recover his share of the net profits of the partnership during a certain year, evidence as to the profits and losses of the business during another year was inadmissible. Hatzfeld v. Walsh, 55 C. A. 573, 120 S. W. 525.

In an action for death of an engineer killed by striking his head against a mail crane near the track, evidence of the rocking of the engine at the time in question, and as to the condition of the track near the crane at a previous date, held admissible in connection with other evidence as to sameness of conditions. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams, 103 T. 228, 125 S. W. 881.

In an action for injuries sustained by a spike thrown from the track by a passing train, evidence of the condition of the track at the point of the accident three or four weeks thereafter held admissible. Blackshear v. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 854.

In an action against an electric light company for death by electric shock, evidence of the condition of the insulation of the wires at or near the place of the accident as observed by a witness a few days after the accident held admissible. Jacksonville Ice & Electric Co. v. Moses (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 379.

In an action for injuries to a servant while winding up doors of ballast cars, evidence of the condition of the cars several months after the accident held properly excluded. Tex. Traction Co. v. Morrow (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1069.

Where a servant was injured by the splintering of a pick with which he struck a steel rail, testimony as to the condition of the pick several days after the accident was admissible; the pick having remained in the custody of defendant. Freeman v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 413.

In an action for a seller's failure to deliver sound cattle as contracted for, testimony as to the diseased condition of the cattle two or three months after the tender of delivery held inadmissible to show the condition of the cattle at the time of tender. O'Brien v. Von Lienen (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 723.

— Associated or explanatory transactions.—On the question whether the release of amounts overpaid for rent in previous years by the lessee was for a valuable consideration, the lessor can give in evidence the circumstances under which a subsequent lease was made. Roberson v. Gill (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 326.

In a suit by attorneys upon an assignment of an interest in their client's judgment against defendant, held, in view of the court's charge, that an earlier assignment to other attorneys claimed to have been also for the benefit of plaintiffs, was admissible in evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wood (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 487.

— Similar wrongful acts.—Suit was brought against a tax collector for the recovery of money collected as taxes for the year 1844. Evidence that defendant failed to account for taxes for the year 1843 was not admissible. Burnett v. Henderson, 21 T. 588.

The publication by defendant of another libel, in no wise connected with the one at issue, is immaterial. Schulze v. Jalonick, 18 C. A. 296, 44 S. W. 580.

To justify a slander charging theft, a theft committed in connection with a transaction other than the one charged may be proven. Quaid v. Tipton, 21 C. A. 131, 51 S. W. 264.

In a suit to set aside a mortgage on land on the ground of duress, held proper to admit evidence as to statements made by the mortgagee and his attorney to relatives of the mortgagor prior to the execution of the mortgage. Gray v. Freeman, 37 C. A. 556, 84 S. W. 1105.

In a suit to cancel a mortgage, held proper to permit a showing that the date of the mortgage had been altered after its execution. Id.

Evidence that an expelled member of a beneficial association had taken illegal fees as a witness, and had testified as an expert when he was not one, held not admissible to support his expulsion on other charges. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Thompson, 102 T. 89, 113 S. W. 144, 19 Ann. Cas. 1250.

— Similar transactions.—Authority of an agent to contract to put a passenger off at a point not a station may be inferred from frequent exercise of the power with his principal's knowledge. Hull v. E. L. & R. R. Co., 66 T. 619, 2 S. W. 831.

In an action to recover school land on a certificate, it was proper to admit in evidence the application made by plaintiff for the purchase of the adjoining portion of the same section of the school lands on which he had settled, since it showed his right to purchase the portion in controversy. Simon v. Stearns, 17 C. A. 13, 43 S. W. 50.

Evidence of unrepudiated like transactions by an agent of a building and loan association with other borrowers held competent to show his authority. People's Building, Loan & Savings Ass'n v. Keller, 20 C. A. 616, 50 S. W. 183.

Proof that C. made affidavits for defendant's pleas as its agent held admissible on question of his agency. Parlin & Orendorff Co. v. Miller, 25 C. A. 190, 60 S. W. 881.

In an action for breach of a contract authorizing plaintiffs to sell defendant's lands, it was competent to examine witnesses as to the demand for such lands, and applications to purchase and offers therefor made, and the probable cost of selling the remaining lands. McLane v. Maurer, 28 C. A. 75, 66 S. W. 693.

In an action for services of a tenant in caring for defendant's cattle, evidence of one of defendant's former tenants under a similar lease as to what plaintiff's duties were under his lease held inadmissible. Stapper v. Wolter (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 850.

In an action on mutual benefit certificate, evidence of delivery of other certificate by clerk of local camp of benefit association held admissible to show authority to deliver the certificate in question. Sovereign Camp, Woodmen of the World, v. Carrington, 41 C. A. 29, 90 S. W. 921.

In an action for broker's commissions on the sale of certain stock, evidence concerning the purchase and sale of other similar stock by the purchaser held inadmissible. Ross v. Moskowitz (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 36.

In an action on an insurance policy on gin property, evidence that defendant's local agents had written policies on similar property shortly before and after writing the policy in question held admissible. St. Paul Fire & Marine Ins. Co. v. Stogner, 44 C. A. 60, 98 S. W. 218.

In an action against a railway company for death of a pedestrian at a street crossing, evidence of the speed of the train between different stations when nearing the place of accident held admissible. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Murray (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 144.

In an action against a corporation on a note signed by its vice president and treasurer, evidence that he had signed other notes in the same manner held not admissible. Dreeben v. First Nat. Bank, 100 T. 344, 99 S. W. 850.

In an action for the price of goods sold, evidence held admissible to show why a deviation from plaintiff's regular terms had been made as defendant contended, and that plaintiff had previously filled orders from defendant on the same terms. Central Texas Grocery Co. v. Globe Tobacco Co., 45 C. A. 199, 99 S. W. 1144.

On an issue as to the authority of one to represent defendant as his agent, a contract executed by such person for defendant held properly admitted in evidence. Thompson v. Mills, 45 C. A. 642, 101 S. W. 560.

The expenses incurred by a landlord in maturing and harvesting a crop growing at the time he wrongfully evicted his tenant on shares held properly taken as evidence of the expenses which the tenant would have incurred. Crews v. Cortez, 102 T. 111, 113 S. W. 523, 38 L. R. A. (N. S.) 713.

Evidence of payment of city taxes is not admissible to show payment of state and county taxes sued for. State v. Quillen (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 660.

In an action against a telegraph company for delay in delivering a telegram, evidence of the sender's having sent other telegrams and receiving prompt replies two days after delivering the message in question to defendant was admissible, on the issue whether telegrams could be sent during the strike then on. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Guinn (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 616.

In an action for the price of shoes in which defendant claimed breach of warranty, evidence that another merchant had sold the same without complaining held inadmissible. Hill v. Hanan & Son (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 245.

In an action for shrinkage in cattle, it was error to permit a witness to testify that he had sold to defendants 19 head of steers that weighed an average of 986 pounds each. Cox v. Steed (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 246.

In an action for shrinkage of certain cattle, evidence of certain transactions with reference to a portion of the cattle between plaintiff H. and another held irrelevant. Id.

Where, in an action against a carrier for injuries to plaintiff's wife by alleged conversation with defendant's conductor in insisting on fare for plaintiff's child, defendant claimed that the acts of the conductor were not calculated to produce the effect alleged, evidence that a few days before the conversation in question the wife had a similar conversation with the same conductor, who adopted the same manner as on the occasion in question, and that no bad effects resulted to the wife therefrom, was admissible. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Carpenter (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 837.

Proof of agency before and after a contract sustained a finding of agency at the time of contracting. Big Valley Irr. Co. v. Hughes (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 715.

In an attorneys' suit on an assignment of an interest in a client's judgment, held, that a subsequent assignment to other attorneys, claimed to have been for the benefit of plaintiffs, was admissible to prove that the assignment in question, which was also to other attorneys, was also for the benefit of plaintiffs. Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Wood (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 487.

Where a contract for the sale of land contained no agreement by the vendor to furnish water for irrigation, contracts by the vendor with other persons for the sale of other land, and containing such an agreement, were not admissible to show what the first contract should have been. Judson v. Bell (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 169.

Where a salesman's contract of employment provided for a forfeiture for canceled orders, evidence that defendant had not enforced such forfeiture against salesmen employed under similar contracts was inadmissible. Iowa Mfg. Co. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 171.

Exclusion as res inter alios acta.—Testimony to show that defendant tried to make an agreement with another like that alleged in the complaint is inadmissible. Stuart v. Kohlberg (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 596.

Declarations of principal as to contract made by him with third person held inadmissible in support of factors' action against him. Beakley v. Rainier (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 702.

In an action by a lessee, against the lessor, for breach of contract, it was improper to permit plaintiff to show that defendant had not complied with his contract with former tenants. Lewis v. Crouch (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 1009.

Evidence held immaterial and irrelevant. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Boykin, 99 T. 259, 89 S. W. 639.

In an action by tenants against their landlords for breach of contract to furnish water, a contract between the landlords and an irrigation company for the water held inadmissible as res inter alios acta. Stockton v. Brown (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 423.

Letters of a third person to defendant were inadmissible as res inter alios acta. Taylor v. McFatter (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 395.

A land office map, an archive of the land office, and which was relevant, was not res inter alios acta. Haile v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 1088.

Where a compress company was charged with having been a party to a fraudulent division of certain cotton bales shipped to plaintiff as full bales, evidence that several months prior to the transaction the shipper's alleged partner asked another different compress operator to divide certain cotton bales was inadmissible. Wichita Falls Compress Co. v. W. L. Moody & Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1032.

Similarity of conditions.—Evidence of the changed condition of property adjacent to that of plaintiff, due to a nuisance, held admissible. Brennan v. Corsicana Cotton Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 588.

In an action for damages for burning grass, testimony as to the time it took for grass to grow again in another place held inadmissible. Dunn v. Newberry (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 626.

Where defendants contracted to pasture plaintiffs' cattle, and plaintiffs sued for damages on account of the cattle having been insufficiently supplied with water, held proper to admit evidence as to the result obtained by plaintiffs in grazing cattle in another pasture. Tuttle v. Robert Moody & Son (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 134.

In an action for death of a servant not shown to be inexperienced, evidence as to whether an inexperienced man would have realized the danger held inadmissible. Yellow Pine Oil Co. v. Noble (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 332.

In an action for the failure of an irrigation corporation to furnish water to raise a crop, the inquiry as to what was made on other lands held limited to crops on substantially the same character of land and under the same conditions and character of cultivation. Erp v. Raywood Canal & Milling Co. (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 897.

In an action for shrinkage of certain cattle, evidence held inadmissible to show the grass conditions of a pasture in which the cattle were confined awaiting delivery. Cox v. Steed (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 246.

Where plaintiff claimed his injury resulted in melancholia, it was error to permit a physician in charge of an insane hospital to state capacities of patients suffering from other forms of insanity. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Tweed (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1155.

In an action against carriers for loss of cotton bales which burned in transit, wherein defendants claimed that fire was concealed in the cotton when it was shipped, it was error to permit a witness to testify for defendants concerning the breaking out of fire in other cotton loaded on a barge where the two shipments were not made under the same conditions. S. Samuels & Co. v. Texas & N. O. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 291.

Negligence in transportation of a shipment of cattle cannot be shown by evidence of another shipment about the same time having made the trip safely; it not being shown the two shipments were made under the same conditions. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Good (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 617.

In an action against an express company for damages to fish shipped, evidence that other shipments made on the same day to a different destination from the same batch of fish were paid for without complaint was not admissible, in absence of a showing that all of the fish shipped that day were prepared for shipment in the same manner. Wells Fargo & Co. Express v. Gentry (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 363.

Where it appeared in an action against an express company for damages to a shipment of fish that the fish shown to witness was of the same batch of fish as those shipped, evidence of such witness as to the condition of the fish at a certain time was admissible. Id.

Showing physical or mental condition.—Where the issue is the mental competency of a vendor, his mental condition at any time prior or subsequent to the conveyance is admissible. Williams v. Sapiuha (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 72.

Evidence of habit of trainmen as to drinking held admissible, in action against the railroad company for death of a car repairer, run into by their train; they being at the time under the influence of liquor. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Jones (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 53.

In an action for personal injuries, question as to plaintiff's use of intoxicants some years prior to the accident held properly excluded. Houston E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. McCarty, 40 C. A. 364, 89 S. W. 805.

In an action for negligence, evidence as to the injured person's previous condition held admissible. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Ross (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 1105.

Testimony of a physician as to the physical condition of the injured person as shown by an examination made by him nearly three months after the injury held admissible to show her condition at the time of the examination. Texas Midland R. R. v. Ritchey, 49 C. A. 409, 108 S. W. 732.

Testimony of the injured woman's mother as to a visit to her daughter three or four days after the injury, and that the daughter was then "suffering from her back and neck, and, well, principally all over," held not inadmissible as being too remote. Id.

In an injury action, certain evidence of a physician as to the extent of plaintiff's injuries at a previous time held properly excluded. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Johnson, 103 T. 320, 127 S. W. 539.

In an action on a benefit certificate, in which the issue was as to whether female insured died of an abdominal disease evidence that about 25 per cent. of the women of the United States have trouble down in the abdominal front held inadmissible. Modern Brotherhood of America v. Chandler (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 626.

Evidence of prior or habitual acts of drunkenness was inadmissible, in an action for injuries to a passenger, on the question of his sobriety at the time of the alleged injury. Mason v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 350.

Showing intent or malice or motive.—In a suit to recover damages for the wrongful seizure of goods, evidence that, after the goods were seized under attachment by the defendant, other attachments were levied on the plaintiff's property, at the suit of other creditors, is not admissible. Blum v. Stein, 68 T. 608, 5 S. W. 454.

In an action against a telegraph company for the refusal to receive and transmit a message, certain evidence held admissible on the issue of motive of the company. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Simmons (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 686.

— Fraud.—On the trial of an issue of fraud, charged to have been committed by the defendant in procuring the title to land purchased by him to be conveyed to his brother, and afterwards conveyed by the brother to defendant in trust with power to sell, evidence that a similar disposition of the title to other lands bought by defendant was made a month previous, in connection with other testimony tending to show a disposition of lands by defendant in fraud of his creditors, is admissible. Day v. Stone, 59 T. 612.

In an action by a wife under the civil damage law, it is error to admit evidence that she had brought suits against other saloon keepers, since she had a right to sue all who had sold liquor to her husband. Tarkington v. Brunett (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 274.

Where vendee of land alleged fraud in representations as to an incumbrance, held not error to allow a witness to testify as to what vendor had told was the amount of the incumbrance. Adcock v. Creighton, 27 C. A. 243, 65 S. W. 42.

Where it was alleged that defendant's signature on a note sued on was a forgery, evidence that the forger had forged the name of another to other notes held inadmissible. Kingsbury v. Waco State Bank (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 551.

On the issue whether a landlord's claim for rent against a debtor who executed a deed to a trustee for the benefit of creditors was fraudulent, evidence that a bank's claim against the debtor was fraudulent, held admissible. Baum v. Corsicana Nat. Bank, 32 C. A. 531, 75 S. W. 863.

Evidence of misrepresentation by a married woman as to the amount of land in a tract conveyed, after the contract had been closed, held admissible to corroborate the purchaser's claim that she had made a previous misrepresentation as to such amount. Lewis v. Hoeldtke (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 309.

On an issue whether a transfer by an insolvent was fraudulent, evidence that shortly before the transfer the insolvent had transferred other property to another party for less than it was worth was admissible. Horstman v. Little (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 286.

In an action for the price of steel bars sold under a written order, where defendant alleged that plaintiff's agent fraudulently increased the amount of the order, evidence of similar acts of plaintiff's agent was admissible to show a fraudulent intent. Compagnie Des Metaux Unital v. Victoria Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 651.

In an action to recover property alleged to have been fraudulently obtained, plaintiff could not show that one of the defendants had been arrested for swindling. Wittliff v. Spreen, 51 C. A. 544, 112 S. W. 98.

Showing knowledge.—In an action for damages against a railway company for damages resulting to the plaintiff from negligence in keeping the track in order, for the purpose of showing that due care was not taken to keep the road in order, evidence as to the general bad condition of road at and about the place where the injury occurred for some time previous thereto was admissible to show knowledge of the defendant of such defects and its indisposition to remedy them. Where a party is charged with the negligent use of a dangerous agency, and the case against him is that he did not use care proportionate to the danger, then the question becomes material whether he knew or ought to have known the extent of the danger. On such an issue as this, it is relevant for the party aggrieved to put in evidence of disconnected facts, which, if he was cognizant of them, would have advised him of the extent of the danger, and would have made it his duty to take precautions that would, if faithfully applied, have prevented the injury sued for. Thus, in an action against a railroad company for injuries sustained from a car running off the track, evidence has been received to prove seven or eight runnings off the track on the same road by the same line of cars in the previous month. T. & P. Ry. Co. v. De Milley, 60 T. 194.

In an action for personal injury, proof of other negligent acts of employé causing the injury may be shown, to charge defendant with negligence in knowingly retaining in its employ one who was habitually negligent. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Branch (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 542.

Evidence that wires often broke held to show that such an accident was one which defendant electric light company might reasonably have anticipated. San Antonio Gas & Electric Co. v. Speegle (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 884.

In an action for failing to notify plaintiff of a telephone call from her father, evidence that the father had telephoned from the same station the day before to his son was inadmissible to charge defendant's operatives with notice of the purpose of his communication with plaintiff. Wiggs v. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 179.

Custom or course of business and part of series showing system or habit.—Liability of a carrier cannot be limited by evidence of custom or special contract. Texas Exp. Co. v. Dupree, 2 App. C. C. § 320.

Where there is evidence as to what a surveyor actually did in making a survey, the custom of surveyors under like circumstances to do or not to do the same thing cannot be shown. Tucker v. Smith, 68 T. 473, 3 S. W. 671.

On the question of negligence the custom of other railways is evidence. Railway Co. v. Harriett, 80 T. 73, 15 S. W. 556.

Custom is admissible on the question of negligence. Earle v. Marx, 80 T. 39, 15 S. W. 595.

Custom and usages of trade are admitted to explain incidental rights of parties appertaining to the particular trade in question, to construe contracts in relation thereto, and to ascertain the meaning of words and expressions therein, etc. Schaub v. Dallas Brewing Co., 80 T. 634, 16 S. W. 429.

Custom among persons in same business as defendant, held immaterial in action for personal injuries. Sincere v. Union Compress & Warehouse Co. (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 326.

Evidence as to custom of accepting weigher's receipts as conclusive, held admissible to show a complete sale of cotton. Loeb v. Crow, 15 C. A. 537, 40 S. W. 506.

In action by a railroad employé for injuries, held, that it was not prejudicial error to admit evidence that it was customary to give signals at a crossing, where signals were required by statute. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Rodican, 15 C. A. 556, 40 S. W. 535.

In an action for killing a mule plaintiff cannot show the usual speed of defendant's train before and after the accident. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Jones, 16 C. A. 179, 40 S. W. 745.

Evidence of custom allowing builders time to check up bills of lumber purchased held inadmissible. Low v. Griffin (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 73.

Whether a rule prohibiting carrying passengers on freight trains has been generally disregarded could be shown only by the general practice. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Norris (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 708.

In an action for injuries sustained while uncoupling cars in motion, evidence that it was customary for brakemen to go between cars while moving held admissible on issue of contributory negligence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Pitts (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 255.

In an action for injuries at a railroad crossing, plaintiff's companion cannot testify as to his habit of looking for trains when at crossings. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hamilton, 17 C. A. 76, 42 S. W. 358.

Evidence of a general custom of engineers to employ assistants is inadmissible to prove the authority of an engineer in a particular case. San Antonio Waterworks Co. v. White (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 181.

Evidence that when trains approached a certain crossing they usually gave the statutory signals is admissible to show the duty to give them at that crossing. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Eaten (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 562.

In condemnation proceedings it was held not error to admit evidence that telegraph wires were usually built 25 feet from the railroad, but that plaintiff intended to erect its lines a greater distance away. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Postal Tel. Cable Co., 18 C. A. 502, 45 S. W. 179.

In an action by an engineer for injury in a collision, proof that he frequently slept at his post and ran by stations held properly excluded. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 92 T. 380, 48 S. W. 568.

Evidence that engineer suing for injuries would frequently go to sleep held inadmissible, there being no evidence that he was asleep at the time of the accident. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 265.

In an action against a railroad for causing death at a crossing, testimony that it was not uncommon for trains on the road to pass the whistling post and not whistle is inadmissible. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Porterfield, 92 T. 442, 49 S. W. 361.

In an action for injuries received by a brakeman while riding on the pilot of an engine, evidence that it is customary for a brakeman to ride on the pilot, to make a pilot-bar coupling, is admissible. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Beam (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 411.

In an action for the price of goods, to which the defense is payment, evidence of defendant's habit of paying his bills promptly is inadmissible. May v. Behrends (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 413.

The fact that testimony showed a custom held not ground for excluding it. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Milam, 20 C. A. 688, 50 S. W. 417.

In action for injuries, on an issue whether repairs to machinery were promised, defendant cannot show a custom not to make such repairs. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Nordell, 20 C. A. 362, 50 S. W. 601.

Where the evidence did not indicate that an employé was intoxicated when injured, evidence that he sometimes drank, and that he took a drink the morning of the injury, was inadmissible. Dewalt v. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co., 22 C. A. 403, 55 S. W. 534.

Where employé was injured in the making up of a train, it was not error to allow evidence that it was made up in the usual manner.—Id.

In an action against a railway company for an injury to a child on a turntable, held competent, as establishing an implied invitation, for plaintiff to show the custom of children to use the turntable for amusement. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Morgan, 24 C. A. 58, 58 S. W. 544.

In an action for injury received while coupling cars, held not error to exclude evidence as to the general rule whether a brakeman, having given a signal, should look to see whether it was received; the evidence not being with reference to the particular facts of the case. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Baker (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 964.

It is not error to exclude, as immaterial, evidence showing it not to be a custom for warehousemen to insure property stored with them, such custom being alleged, where no evidence was introduced to support the allegation. Pittman v. Harris, 24 C. A. 503, 59 S. W. 1121.

Where agent of a seller of 87° gasoline represented that it could be safely stored in a certain place, it was not error to reject evidence of custom not to make such representation, which was not confined to 87° gasoline, in an action for injuries from an explosion. Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v. Davis, 24 C. A. 508, 60 S. W. 453.

In an action for injuries caused by fright from a passing train at crossing, held competent for plaintiff to show that he had previously crossed at this place and heard the whistle blown 400 or 500 yards before the train reached the crossing. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Mitchell, 25 Cr. R. 197, 60 S. W. 891.

In an action for injuries to an employé occurring from a failure to inspect the freight cars of the employer, evidence that the employer had formerly had two inspectors at the place of the injury, but had none at the time of the accident, held competent. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Miller, 25 C. A. 460, 61 S. W. 978.

Evidence of the general custom of keeping dynamite in hardware stores for the purpose of trade was improperly excluded in an action by a property owner against an adjoining owner for damages to his property by the explosion by dynamite on the latter's premises, used as a hardware store. Barnes v. Zettlemoyer, 25 C. A. 468, 62 S. W. 111.

Admissibility of evidence to show custom of railroad employés on moving freight trains determined. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Engelhorn, 24 C. A. 324, 62 S. W. 561.

In action for injuries to trespasser ejected from train, evidence as to the fact of a general custom to disobey instructions as to ejecting such trespassers held admissible. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Rutherford, 94 T. 518, 62 S. W. 1056.

In an action for injuries to a person on a railroad track, held proper to admit evidence of defendant's custom to signal approaching stations and road crossings. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Woodward, 26 C. A. 389, 63 S. W. 1051.

In an action against a railway company for the death of a brakeman, evidence that the place occupied by deceased at the time of the accident was the usual customary place for brakemen to ride held admissible. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Waller, 27 C. A. 44, 65 S. W. 210.

Evidence of defendant's engineers in an action against a railroad by an engineer, injured in a collision, that they usually commence to slow up at a certain place, held not admissible to show where plaintiff should have commenced to slow up. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Mortensen, 27 C. A. 106, 66 S. W. 99.

In an action against a railroad company for damages by fire set by sparks from a locomotive, evidence showing that locomotives operated by the company other than the one claimed to have set the fire were in bad condition held admissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Carter, 95 T. 461, 68 S. W. 159.

It being in issue whether plaintiff had violated a rule of the company in not having his train under control, held proper to admit evidence as to the speed of other trains through the same station. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Mayfield, 29 C. A. 477, 68 S. W. 807.

In connection with evidence that a carrier contracted to carry freight over its own and a connecting line, evidence of its custom so to contract is admissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Leatherwood, 29 C. A. 507, 69 S. W. 119.

An instruction that if a custom prevailed in the yards where a switchman was killed, and was known to him, it was immaterial how the work was done in other yards, held proper. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hill, 29 C. A. 12, 70 S. W. 103.

In an action for death of railroad employe, boarding moving hand car, evidence held admissible showing custom to stop or slow up to permit persons to get aboard. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Puente, 30 C. A. 246, 70 S. W. 362.

In an action for the killing of a car inspector while he was hanging to the side of a moving car, evidence that inspectors had been accustomed to so hang from the cars while they were inspecting the trains held competent. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Bearden, 31 C. A. 58, 71 S. W. 558.

Testimony of plaintiff, struck by a train at a crossing, of the knowledge of the customary speed there of trains, held admissible on the question of contributory negligence. Carraway v. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co., 31 C. A. 184, 71 S. W. 769.

Where plaintiff was injured at a railroad crossing, evidence of previous acts of negligence of plaintiff at such crossing was inadmissible. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Ives, 31 C. A. 272, 71 S. W. 772.

Where, in an action against two electric companies, it was alleged that they were in fact one concern, evidence as to what the custom was about interchanging power held admissible. Dallas Electric Co. v. Mitchell, 33 C. A. 424, 76 S. W. 935.

Evidence that it was the custom for foremen to ride on hand car in the manner one injured did held admissible. Galloway v. San Antonio & G. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 32.

In an action for injuries at a crossing, plaintiff cannot establish negligence complained of by showing habitual negligence in same respects. Stewart v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 34 C. A. 370, 78 S. W. 979.

On the issue whether a brakeman was guilty of contributory negligence in coupling a car, evidence of custom of brakeman held admissible. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Penn (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 624.

In an action by a servant for injuries from being struck by a bale of cotton thrown from a building by another servant, held proper to permit plaintiff to testify that the passway he was using at the time of his injury was used by all the men around the building. Consumers' Cotton Oil Co. v. Jonte, 36 C. A. 18, 80 S. W. 847.

Evidence that people were accustomed to pass between cars of defendant's trains blocking street in city held admissible on question of negligence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Grison, 36 C. A. 630, 82 S. W. 671.

In an action against a railroad for killing certain ponies, evidence that some of defendant's trains ran "pretty fast" at and near the point of the accident held admissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Anson (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 785.

In an action against a railroad company for killing certain ponies, evidence that a witness had reported a train two miles further away for running at a high rate of speed held inadmissible. Id.

In an action against a carrier for delay of cattle intended to arrive for market on a particular Monday morning, evidence that the market was generally better early in the morning than later in the day held admissible. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Slaughter, 57 C. A. 624, 84 S. W. 1085.

In an action for injuries to a section man, evidence that it was customary for engineers to blow the whistle on approaching the curve in the track where the accident occurred held admissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Winter, 38 C. A. 8, 85 S. W. 477.

In an action against railroad for the death of a person in an accident at a public crossing, evidence of the daily custom of the defendant in running the same engine over the same road at a rate of speed greater than six miles an hour was admissible. McKerley v. Red River, T. & S. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 499.

In an action against a carrier for injury to a shipment of cattle, evidence as to customary length of time consumed by trains between points on defendant's line held admissible. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Crowley (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 342.

In an action against a railroad for injuries, testimony of the engineer that it was his habit to ring the bell, etc., at the place where the accident occurred, was properly excluded. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Frank, 40 C. A. 86, 88 S. W. 383.

Evidence showing that it was the custom of a railway company to notify regular trains of the presence of work trains was admissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hays, 40 C. A. 162, 89 S. W. 29.

In an action on a note payable to a bank, evidence of the bank's custom of requiring payment of interest on loans in advance held admissible. Ellis v. Littlefield, 41 C. A. 318, 93 S. W. 171.

On the issue of the boundary of certain land, evidence of a prior custom of draftsmen in the General Land Office to make changes in field notes held inadmissible to show a change in field notes in question. Clawson v. Wilkins (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 1086.

On an issue as to a servant's contributory negligence in violating a railway company's rule, evidence that he had habitually violated the company's rules and that accident had resulted therefrom held inadmissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Parrott, 43 C. A. 325, 96 S. W. 950.

A teacher in an action for damages for his discharge held entitled to show when teachers are usually employed, in view of his duty, after being discharged, to use diligence to get other employment. Peacock v. Coltrane, 44 C. A. 530, 99 S. W. 107.

In action for injuries at railroad crossing, exclusion of testimony that it was the habit of witness to ring the bell when the engine was started held proper. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Garrett (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 162.

In a suit by a partner for a settlement of the accounts of a firm engaged in the real estate business, evidence of custom in regard to sales of real estate by brokers held admissible to give the jury a basis on which to act. Morgan v. Barber (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 730.

In an action by a railroad conductor for injuries, evidence that the manner in which he did the switching was the usual way held admissible, notwithstanding defendant's rule prohibited a flying switch except where it would cause great delay to do the work otherwise. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Still, 45 C. A. 169, 100 S. W. 176.

In an action by a seller for the price of goods, proof of custom in the sale of the goods held admissible. Z. T. Fort Produce Co. v. Dissen, 45 C. A. 403, 101 S. W. 477.

Where plaintiff sued for injuries received while in the employ of defendant railway company and engaged in helping to move rails, held error to allow evidence of how a particular railroad handled rails. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Waldie (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 517.

In an action against a railroad company for injuries to a boy forced to leave a freight car on which he was riding, certain evidence held admissible to prove a custom of the employes of the company to eject trespassers from trains notwithstanding a rule of the company on that subject. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Buch (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 124.

In an action by a broker for compensation, evidence as to defendant's dealings with other brokers held inadmissible. J. B. Lloyd & Son v. Kerley (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 696.

In an action for the death of an engineer in a derailment held the company could not show he had been previously disciplined for negligently running his train at high speed in violation of orders. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Gillespie, 48 C. A. 56, 106 S. W. 707.

In an action for injury to a pedestrian while passing between cars, special instances of blockading crossings held proper to be considered on the question whether crossings were habitually blockaded by the railroad. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 758.

Evidence of a custom of railway conductors to alight from moving trains at a particular station held admissible in an action against a company for injury to an alighting conductor caused by a defective platform. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Kennedy, 51 C. A. 466, 112 S. W. 339.

Evidence that a railroad crossing where an injury occurred was such as are in common use throughout the state where public highways cross railroads in towns of similar size was properly refused as immaterial. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Randall, 51 C. A. 249, 113 S. W. 180.

Buyers of a piano suing to rescind for breach of a warranty made by the seller's agents could not show that the agents customarily warranted pianos sold by them. Jesse French Piano & Organ Co. v. Garza & Co., 53 C. A. 346, 116 S. W. 150.

Testimony as to what stipulations it was customary to insert in contracts for hauling logs held inadmissible to prove that such stipulation was also embraced in the contract in question. Dayton Lumber Co. v. Stockdale, 54 C. A. 611, 118 S. W. 805.

In action for breach of a land contract, plaintiff held entitled to show that it was not customary to execute releases for vendor's lien notes when paid. McMillan v. First Nat. Bank, 56 C. A. 45, 119 S. W. 709.

In an action against a railroad for frightening a horse on a public road, evidence of the habit of the engineer held admissible. Adams v. International & G. N. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 895.

It does not matter as to the liability for entering a house without the owner's consent and building a fire in the fireplace, thereby burning the house, that others had entered and made use of it without his consent. Wetzel v. Satterwhite (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 93.

In an action for delay in a shipment of live stock, evidence is admissible that defendant did not run freight trains on Sunday between specified points on the route of transportation. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Howell (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 899.

In an action against an irrigation corporation for breach of contract to furnish water to make a crop, certain evidence held admissible to show a fact testified to by witnesses. Erp v. Raywood Canal & Milling Co. (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 897.

On the issue whether a verbal contract by an irrigation corporation to furnish water to make a crop was made, evidence as to the custom to make written contracts held admissible. Id.

In an action against a carrier on an alleged contract of shipment of a corpse C. O. D. undertakers' charges, where no such contract was proved, proof of custom as to the making of such contracts was inadmissible as immaterial. Pacific Express Co. v. Gathright (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 1035.

In a railroad fireman's action for injuries by the falling of a coal chute, testimony held admissible as to how other firemen lowered the coal chute. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gilbert (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 1037.

In an action for damages for delay in the shipment of live stock which were held by the defendant in its pen for four days, evidence that certain owners of cattle had sometimes voluntarily left them in the defendant's pen, while they were making arrangements to sell them, was properly excluded, where it appeared that the shippers were insisting on a prompt shipment. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Leslie (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 824.

Evidence held admissible to rebut plaintiff's claim that defendant's physicians neglected plaintiff's former injury. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Dooley (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 831.

Plaintiffs held properly denied the right to give evidence as to their customs in dealing with agents other than defendant. Couturie v. Roensch (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 413.

In an action for broker's commissions, evidence of a member of a corporation to whom plaintiff claimed to have sold the land that it was the practice of the company to buy and sell land direct held admissible. Pope v. Ansley Realty Co. (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1103.

In a brakeman's action for personal injuries by switching cars against a caboose in which he was sleeping, evidence as to what was usually done before switching cars onto the caboose track held admissible. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Gray (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 729.

On an issue of a carrier's negligence causing extra expenditure for feeding cattle, evidence showing what was done under ordinary shipments held immaterial. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Rich (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 223.

Where the evidence as to the make of a hammer, by the chipping of which plaintiff was injured, was conflicting, evidence that hammers made in defendant's shops, as there was evidence to show this one was, were inferior, was admissible. Freeman v. Starr (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1150.

A usage or custom only possesses evidentiary value where the evidence clearly establishes a fixed habit or custom. Nocoma Nat. Bank v. Bolton (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 242.

In an action for destruction of a cotton compress, evidence that other railroads were reducing the number of oil-burning engines held admissible. Nacogdoches Compress Co. v. Texas & N. O. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 302.

In an action to charge defendants with the loss of a horse and buggy hired by their minor children from plaintiff, evidence of a custom held improperly admitted. Klapproth v. Smith (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 688.

In an action for injuries to a pedestrian attempting to pass between cars in a train obstructing a street, evidence that other persons went between the cars held admissible on the issue of contributory negligence especially where the company introduced evidence that some went around the train. Freeman v. Terry (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1016.

On the issue whether farm implements sold under a warranty complied with the warranty, evidence of defects in implements sold by the seller to others was inadmissible. Fetzer v. Haralson (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 290.

On the issue whether a seller waived performance of the conditions in the warranty, evidence that the seller had waived the conditions of the warranty in transactions with third persons was inadmissible. Id.

In an action against a transfer company and a carrier for loss of baggage, evidence that it had long been the custom of transfer men to leave the baggage of prospective customers in an inclosed place in a union depot was admissible to show delivery. Houston E. & W. T. R. Co. v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 353.

In a shipper's action for injuries to live stock for failure to unload them for food and water during a delay in transit, where it appeared that defendant had received the live stock from a connecting carrier and receipted for them prior to the delay, evidence of the usual custom of it and the connecting carrier in regard to delivering cars to each other was immaterial. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. v. West (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 206.

In a suit for breach of a seller's implied warranty of seed, evidence of a custom among dealers not to be bound by an implied warranty of seed was inadmissible, where such custom was unknown to the buyer. American Warehouse Co. v. Ray (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 763.

Testimony that mortgagee, an insurance company, issued a policy and sent a bill for the premium held competent to show agreement by it to attend to the insurance on premises covered by another deed of trust executed at the same time. Commonwealth Fire Ins. Co. v. Obenchain (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 611.

In a personal injury action by a servant, who denied that he was ever instructed to fix anything out of order, testimony by the master's vice principal that he always instructed the employes to fix anything out of order was admissible. Van Geem v. Cisco Oil Mill (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1108.

Where a compress company was charged with having been a party to a fraudulent division of certain cotton shipped to plaintiff, evidence that it was not customary for compresses to divide bales held admissible as showing that the shipper's request that the compress company divide the cotton was notice to it that a fraud was intended. Wichita Falls Compress Co. v. W. L. Moody & Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1032.

Where a contract of employment authorized defendant to cancel orders at its discretion in case it believed the buyers were irresponsible, evidence that plaintiff always made diligent inquiries as to the responsibility of buyers and never sent in orders unless he thought the parties good was immaterial. Iowa Mfg. Co. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 171.

In an action against a carrier for ejection of a passenger because she was on the wrong train, evidence that it was customary for defendant's brakeman at a station where plaintiff boarded the train to inspect passengers' tickets was admissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Humphries (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 1174; Same v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 1177.

Showing methods of preventing injury.—Proof of rules of certain other companies for the protection of employes in switching and making up trains held inadmissible to show defendant company's negligence in failing to provide such rules. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Nelson, 20 C. A. 536, 49 S. W. 710.

Where defendant was sued for injuries to a car of vegetables caused by its neglect to keep them properly iced, evidence that other cars shipped in the same way just before and just after the injured shipment arrived in good condition was irrelevant and inadmissible. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Harlan (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 971.

In an action by a servant for injuries by the breaking of a belt, it was error to refuse to allow the employer to show that it had adopted the most approved fasteners for the belt. Bering Mfg. Co. v. Peterson, 28 C. A. 194, 67 S. W. 133.

In an action for injuries resulting from a collision on a street crossing, evidence as to how lights were maintained at other street crossings is properly excluded. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Matherly, 35 C. A. 604, 81 S. W. 589.

In an action against a railway company for injuries to a servant on a work train, the question, which of two rules regulating the movement of trains was the safer, held immaterial. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hays, 40 C. A. 162, 89 S. W. 29.

On the issue of negligence of a railroad in making an inspection in consequence of which negligence a servant was injured, evidence as to the similarity of the inspection to inspections made by other roads held competent. Hover v. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co., 40 C. A. 280, 89 S. W. 1084.

Evidence that the equipment used by defendant is in general use among reasonably prudent persons engaged in the same business is admissible on the question of ordinary care. Lyon v. Bedgood, 54 C. A. 19, 117 S. W. 897.

In an action against a railroad company for the destruction of property by fire set by an engine, evidence of the inspection of a particular engine with reference to its spark arrester held properly excluded in the absence of certain other evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Neiser (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 166.

Other injuries or accidents from same or similar causes.—In a suit for damages to an animal caused by stepping into a ditch in the street of a city left in an unsafe condition, for the purpose of showing defendant's negligence, evidence that other animals in crossing the ditch had sunk into it, that danger signals had not been erected, and plank had not been laid over the same, was admissible. Paris Gas Light Co. v. McHam, 2 App. C. C. § 654.

That other horse teams became frightened at crossing is competent as a circumstance to show the condition as to safety, etc., at and before the injury. Railway Co. v. Hill, 71 T. 451, 9 S. W. 351.

Where, in an action for damages caused by sparks from a railway engine, it is shown that approved appliances to prevent fires, etc., have been used, it is competent to show other fires on the same road about the same time. Railway Co. v. Donaldson, 73 T. 124, 11 S. W. 163.

The question of the liability of a railway company for damages is confined to the condition of the road at the time and place of the occurrence, and evidence as to the condition of the road elsewhere, as well as of previous wrecks, is inadmissible. Railway Co. v. Mitchell, 75 T. 77, 12 S. W. 810; Railway Co. v. Johnson, 72 T. 95, 10 S. W. 325; Railway Co. v. Shuford, 72 T. 165, 10 S. W. 408; Railway Co. v. Turner, 1 C. A. 625, 20 S. W. 1008.

In an action for injuries by fire, evidence of fires on right of way before and after the one in question held competent. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Newman (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 854.

Evidence of subsequent derailments at the same place held admissible to show negligence causing injury to servant, where there is conflicting testimony as to condition of the track. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Ford (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 77.

That engine which exploded causing injury to plaintiff had been previously wrecked held admissible to show its condition. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Canon, 20 C. A. 697, 50 S. W. 422.

In an action for damage to land by overflow and seepage from a reservoir, not resulting from permanent injuries, exclusion of pleadings in a former suit for similar, but not the same, injuries, is not error. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. O'Mahoney (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 1049.

In issue to determine injury from construction of railroad, evidence of effect on property of another from presence of railroad in street held inadmissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. O'Connor (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 511.

On trial of action by an engineer for injuries by explosion of locomotive, injuries received in same explosion by a witness are not proper subjects of inquiry. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Sherman (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 386.

Evidence as to a former killing on a track held incompetent to show whether an animal was killed by railroad or placed on the track. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Terry, 22 C. A. 176, 54 S. W. 431.

In an action for injuries received through defendant causing plaintiff's horse to become frightened by its cars, evidence of other horses becoming frightened from the same cause is competent. San Antonio Edison Co. v. Beyer, 24 C. A. 145, 57 S. W. 851.

Evidence as to fire set some six months before the fire in controversy held not too remote. Wilson v. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co., 23 C. A. 706, 58 S. W. 183.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff's land by allowing sewage to escape into a water course, the effect of the sewage on lands below plaintiff may be shown. City of San Antonio v. Diaz (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 549.

Where the defense was that insured had set the fire, the testimony of insured as to previous fires in the store caused by an arc lamp held admissible. Phoenix Assur. Co. of London v. Stenson (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 542.

In a suit for damages to goods of a tenant, evidence that the roofs of buildings in the town were so injured by a storm that the rain damaged goods therein is admissible, as showing that the damages were caused by the storm. Meyer v. Wolnitzek (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 1058.

Evidence of a similar accident from a charged electric street car to another passenger held admissible as tending to show that the car was not in proper condition and to show the company's knowledge. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Broadhurst, 28 C. A. 630, 68 S. W. 315.

In an action against a railroad company for setting a fire, evidence of another fire nearby and about a month before held admissible. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Rutherford, 28 C. A. 590, 68 S. W. 825.

In an action for damages from fire claimed to have been started by a locomotive, there being no direct proof as to the origin of the fire, evidence of other fires about the same time started by the locomotive held proper. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Chittim, 31 C. A. 40, 71 S. W. 294.

On the issue of whether meal sold plaintiff for his cattle was unsound and unwholesome, held, that evidence as to the effect on the cattle of others of the same kind of meal was admissible. Houston Cotton Oil Co. v. Trammell (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 244.

In action against railroad for destruction of cotton set on fire by defendant's locomotive, testimony of witnesses as to certain locomotive having set other fires that day in the neighborhood held properly admitted. Texas & Pac. Ry. Co. v. Scottish Union Nat. Ins. Co., 32 C. A. 82, 73 S. W. 1038.

In an action for damage by the overflow of a farm from the negligent construction of a railroad's embankment, evidence as to damage done to other farms held inadmissible. Bell v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 36 C. A. 569, 82 S. W. 1073.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff alleged to have been caused by use of dangerous system of loading cotton at defendant's gin, evidence that on prior occasion witness narrowly escaped injury held admissible. Northern Texas Const. Co. v. Crawford, 39 C. A. 56, 87 S. W. 223.

In an action against a railroad company for damages from a fire alleged to have been communicated by defendant's locomotive, evidence that one of defendant's locomotives had caused a fire some time before that sued for held inadmissible. McFarland v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 450.

In action against railroad for injury to crops and realty by construction of dam, evidence as to effect of overflows subsequent to removal of portion of dam held admissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Harbison (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 452; Same v. Wetherly (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 456; Same v. Oates (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 457.

In an action against a railroad for damages to plaintiff's farm from an overflow of water resulting from defendant's negligence in the construction of its embankment along a creek, evidence that other lands than plaintiff's in the same vicinity were inundated by the same flood held admissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bell (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 198.

Proof of the engine having emitted sparks on other occasions, but not proof of fires on other occasions near the train, held admissible in an action for the setting of fires by sparks from an engine. D. H. Fleming & Son v. Pullen (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 109.

In an action against a railroad for overflowing plaintiff's land by means of an embankment, certain evidence held inadmissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Caldwell (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 461.

In an action for damages from fire caused by sparks from a locomotive, evidence of other fires caused from a similar source held admissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dawson Bros. (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 1110.

In an action against a railway company for the loss of buildings by fire, evidence as to another fire held admissible as tending to show that the fire which destroyed plaintiff's building came from defendant's locomotive. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Miller (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 549.

Where defendant had introduced evidence that its spark arrester was in good repair, it was proper for plaintiff to introduce rebutting evidence of other fires caused by sparks from the locomotive. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Alexander Eccles & Co., 53 C. A. 125, 115 S. W. 648.

In an action for the destruction of timber and grass for pasture and hay by fire set by a railroad engine, the fact of another fire on the same land is inadmissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Neiser (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 166.

In an action for injuries to a laborer by the fall of an embankment in a gravel pit, evidence that, some days before, a similar embankment had fallen to the foreman's knowledge, held admissible. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Marshall (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 512.

Where it was alleged that a female passenger was made sick by the unsanitary condition of the car in which she was riding, it was proper to admit evidence as to a child being sick in an adjoining compartment of the car, to be considered as a circumstance in connection with the other evidence. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Duncan, 55 C. A. 440, 121 S. W. 362.

A passenger injured by the upsetting of a step box placed on a rough pavement as the means for alighting may show that step boxes used at the station had upset on other occasions when passengers stepped on them. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dunbar, 57 C. A. 411, 122 S. W. 574.

Where an engineer was charged with negligently operating a train and frightening a horse, held error to permit the engineer to testify that in his experience he did not recall an instance of having frightened a horse. Adams v. International & G. N. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 895.

In an action for injuries to a servant, evidence that plaintiff, who had previously received an injury on another railroad, had received a sum as compensation therefor, was properly excluded as immaterial. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Johnson, 103 T. 320, 127 S. W. 539.

In an action against a railroad company for injuries by frightening plaintiff's horse at a street crossing by escaping steam, certain testimony as to another accident held properly excluded. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Mitchell (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 876.

In an action against a carrier for injuries to live stock, evidence as to injury to such stock in a former shipment was admissible on the issue of damages. Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Peacock (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 463.

In an action against a carrier for injuries to live stock, testimony on the part of defendant as to a previous injury to such stock in a former shipment was not admissible where the stock had fully recovered from such injury. Id.

In an action by a passenger for personal injuries from an assault by a street car conductor, it was error to ask the conductor as to the number of fights he had had with passengers on other occasions. Houston Electric Co. v. Park (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 229.

Admission of evidence of other fires set out by defendant railroad company, in rebuttal of testimony as to equipment of locomotives, held proper. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Commercial Union Assur. Co. of London, Eng. (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 401.

In an action for injuries in a collision with an automobile, certain evidence held inadmissible on the issue whether a servant acted within the scope of his employment. Reid Auto Co. v. Gorsczya (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 688.

In an action against a railroad for burning plaintiff's property, evidence that other engines at other times on defendant's railroad emitted sparks and set out fires near the place in question held admissible. Freeman v. Nathan (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 248; Same v. Peacock (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 259.

Showing value—Sales of other property in general.—The value of land cannot be shown by evidence of the amount paid for adjoining property, unless the conditions regarding improvements, quality and the like are first shown to be identical. Nor can it be shown by evidence of what was bid for it, without proof of the circumstances and conditions of the sale. Chaney v. Coleman, 77 T. 100, 13 S. W. 850.

In an action for conversion, evidence that people, compelled to sell, sold similar furniture at a certain price, is not sufficient to show its market value. Lincoln v. Packard, 25 C. A. 22, 60 S. W. 682.

In a proceeding to condemn land for a railroad right of way, where the owner had recently sold a similar tract in the immediate vicinity, it was error to refuse to receive testimony as to the price received therefor. Sullivan v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 29 C. A. 429, 68 S. W. 745.

Evidence in condemnation proceedings of market value of other land held not irrelevant or immaterial. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hughes (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 976.

In an action against a carrier for unreasonable delay in delivering potatoes, certain evidence held to show market value of merchantable potatoes. Garlington v. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co., 34 C. A. 274, 78 S. W. 368.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to property, certain evidence held too remote to show the value of property in the vicinity of plaintiff's property. Dallas, C. & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Langston (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 425.

While a single sale of a chattel may not make a market, it does not require any great number to give market value to similar chattels in a specified locality. St. Louis, B. & M. Ry. Co. v. Drodody (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 946.

Evidence of price received for other cattle shipped at same time is not admissible where the price was fixed by contract made two or three weeks before shipment. Houston Packing Co. v. Griffith (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1139.

— Difference in location of other property.—In action for breach of contract for sale of cotton to be delivered at W., held error to admit evidence of price at different places, in the absence of evidence that it had no market value at W. Steinlein v. S. Blaisdell, Jr., Co. (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 200.

Where plaintiff is not suing for damages to cattle sold at W., evidence of price paid for cattle there is inadmissible. Houston Cotton Oil Co. v. Trammell, 96 T. 598, 74 S. W. 899.

In action against railroad for damages sustained by one whose property abutted on a street, owing to construction of the road in the street, evidence as to what another lot sold for after such construction held erroneously admitted. Newbold v. International & G. N. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 1079.

Evidence of purchases of certain land by a witness in the vicinity of that condemned for a railroad right of way held inadmissible without proof of similarity. Kirby v. Panhandle & G. Ry. Co., 39 C. A. 252, 88 S. W. 281.

On the issue of the value of property at a certain place at which there is no market value, proof of the market value at other places held admissible. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Nation & Slavens (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 823.

In an action for breach of contract to install a pumping plant on a rice plantation resulting in the loss of rice crops, certain evidence held admissible on the issue of damages. Erie City Iron Works v. Noble (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 172.

Where market value of cattle at one place was in issue, evidence as to value at another place was competent, where the value at both places was shown to be the same. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Poindexter (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 581.

— Value of other property.—In proceedings to assess damages for land condemned for a railroad right of way, the owner's testimony as to the amount he and another had offered for adjacent and similar property, and of the price at which the owners of such land offered it for sale, was incompetent. Sullivan v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 29 C. A. 429, 68 S. W. 745.

The value of an improved property can furnish no basis for determining the market value of unimproved land in controversy. Fox v. Robbins (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 597.

In ascertaining the value of land, rule as to admissibility of evidence of the value of other lands stated. Koppe v. Koppe, 57 C. A. 204, 122 S. W. 68.

In an action for a private nuisance from the operation of a gas and electric light plant, evidence of the general decrease of value of property in the city is irrelevant. Sherman Gas & Electric Co. v. Belden, 103 T. 59, 123 S. W. 119, 27 L. R. A. (N. S.) 237.

— Services.—In an action for injuries to a child, rendering her a cripple for life, held not error, under the pleading and proof to permit evidence of the ordinary compensation to household servants. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Skidmore, 27 C. A. 329, 65 S. W. 215.

In an action for injuries to a physician, evidence of a physician of another place to the amount of his own obstetrical business held inadmissible. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ball, 28 C. A. 287, 66 S. W. 879.

A railway brakeman in line for promotion to a conductorship, suing for personal injury, may show what a conductor earns on the question of loss of future earning capacity. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lasater, 53 C. A. 51, 115 S. W. 103.

In an action for injuries to a servant, the exclusion of certain testimony that railroad service paid better than ordinary jobs of similar character held not erroneous. St. Louis, S. F. & T. R. Co. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 819.

On motion to fix compensation of infant defendants' guardian ad litem, evidence as to the amount paid the attorneys for plaintiff, who sought relief of the same character as the infants and recovered less than they recovered, was admissible. Japhet v. Pullen (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 1188.

RULE 7. A VARIANCE BETWEEN THE ALLEGATION IN PLEADING AND THE EVIDENCE WHICH MISLEADS THE ADVERSE PARTY IS FATAL

See notes under Arts. 1819, 1827, and at end of chapter 8 of Title 37.

RULE 8. THE SUBSTANCE OF THE ISSUE ONLY NEED BE PROVED

See notes under Art. 1827 (72-77, 79, 81, 83, 85, 88, 90, 96-98, 194-196), and notes at end of Chapter 8 of Title 37.

RULE 9. THE BEST EVIDENCE IS TO BE PRODUCED

- | | |
|---|---|
| <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Necessity and admissibility of best evidence—Existence of better evidence as ground of exclusion. 2. — Admissibility of best evidence. 3. — Existence of better evidence. 4. — Matters not required to be in writing or recorded. 5. — Exclusion of documentary evidence as inferior to oral evidence. 6. Contents of writing, and facts or transactions described in or evidenced thereby. 7. — Payment or release. 8. — Ownership, possession or control. 9. — Judicial acts, proceedings and records. 10. — Official acts, proceedings and records. 11. — Corporate acts, proceedings and records. 12. — Conveyances, contracts and other instruments. 13. — Books of account, private memoranda, statements and correspondence. 14. — Notices. 15. Fact of making or existence of writing. | <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 16. Writings collateral to issues. 17. Original writing as best evidence—Copies in general. 18. — Books of account. 19. — Letters and telegrams. 20. — Contracts. 21. — Public records or documents. 22. Grounds for admission of secondary evidence. 23. — Possession or control of primary evidence. 24. Preliminaries to admission of secondary evidence. 25. — Proof as to existence of primary evidence. 26. — Proof as to destruction or loss of and search for primary evidence. 27. — Proof as to possession or control of primary evidence. 28. Character and degrees of secondary evidence. 29. — Oral evidence. 30. — Subscribing witnesses. 31. — Memoranda and other documents. 32. — Copies and counterparts. 33. — Sufficiency. 34. — Records. |
|---|---|

1. Necessity and admissibility of best evidence—Existence of better evidence as ground of exclusion.—When a witness discloses that there is evidence of a higher degree concerning the fact about which he is testifying, his testimony should not be received. Cotton v. Campbell, 3 T. 493.

When a fact from its nature and the circumstances surrounding it is susceptible of direct proof, the absence of which proof is not explained, evidence secondary in its character and tending remotely by inference to establish it should be excluded. Watson v. Walker, 67 T. 651, 4 S. W. 576.

Evidence by a witness who had examined a record that a certain fact was not there recorded is not inadmissible, on the ground that the record is the best evidence. Sanders v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 718.

In an action on notes for a stallion claimed not registered as represented, evidence by the seller that the horse taken from his place was registered, was not objectionable on the ground that the books of the association were the best evidence. National State Bank of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, v. Ricketts (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 646.

2. — Admissibility of best evidence.—Testimony held not incompetent, as not being the best evidence, the existence of a writing not being shown. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Milam, 20 C. A. 688, 50 S. W. 417.

Where, in an action against a railroad, there was testimony that not all the rules of the company were printed or promulgated by posting on bulletin boards, and that there were unwritten rules in use, admission of testimony as to what certain rules were was not error, on the ground that the rules themselves were the best evidence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Brown (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 930.

Testimony of officers and agents of a corporation held admissible on an issue as to whether contemplated purchasers of its property had satisfied it by a specified date of their ability to carry out an option contract for its sale. Washington v. Rosario Min. & Mill. Co., 23 C. A. 430, 67 S. W. 459.

A pay roll of a vessel held primary evidence of the presence on the vessel of a person named therein. Word v. Houston Oil Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 334.

Where, in an action for commissions for procuring the sale of realty, there was an issue whether plaintiff was authorized to sell and whether the purchaser closed the deal through plaintiff, a carbon copy of an earnest money receipt given by defendant's agent to the purchaser was admissible in evidence on the question of plaintiff's authority, though not signed by the purchaser. Carl v. Wolcott (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 334.

3. — Existence of better evidence.—Secondary evidence is inadmissible when a written instrument may be obtained by a subpoena duces tecum. Hall v. York, 16 T. 18.

The rule that the best evidence is to be produced does not demand the greatest amount of evidence which can possibly be given of any fact, but its design is to prevent the introduction of any which, from the nature of the case, supposes that better evidence is in the possession of the party. Longino v. Ward, 1 App. C. C. § 523.

Evidence showing on its face that better evidence existed was properly excluded. Kleine Bros. v. Gidcomb (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 462.

4. — Matters not required to be in writing or recorded.—Where the by-laws of a beneficial association do not require that an assessment be recorded, the fact that an assessment was made may be shown by parol. Supreme Council American Legion of Honor v. Landers, 23 C. A. 625, 57 S. W. 307.

Parol evidence may be admitted to show that a commissioner in condemnation proceedings was sworn. Railway Co. v. Day, 3 C. A. 353, 22 S. W. 538.

5. — Exclusion of documentary evidence as inferior to oral evidence.—In an action on a note the defendant pleaded that he was a minor at the date of its execution, and offered in evidence the family bible. A brother of the defendant identified the bible as that which had been recognized as such, and as containing the family record, since his first recollection; he testified that his father was dead and that their mother was living in the county in which the trial was had. Held, that the entries in the family bible were secondary evidence, and cannot be received when the father, mother or other declarant is within reach of the process of the court. Campbell v. Wilson, 23 T. 252, 76 Am. Dec. 67.

The entries made by a party in his books of payments made cannot be better evidence to prove such payments than the sworn testimony of those who made or received the payments. Austin City Water Co. v. Capital Ice Co., 1 App. C. C. § 1132.

A memorandum of a fact is secondary evidence and no higher evidence than the recollection of the maker. Allerkamp v. Gallagher (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 372. See Clark v. Kirby (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 1096, as to recitals in deeds.

Objection that certain books of account are the best evidence held without merit. Echols v. Jacobs Mercantile Co., 38 C. A. 65, 84 S. W. 1082.

Where a witness makes a record, but can testify independent of such record, it is error to sustain an objection to his testimony on the ground that the record is the best evidence. Callen v. Collins (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 651.

6. Contents of writing, and facts or transactions described in or evidenced thereby.—The publication itself is the best evidence of a libel. Schulze v. Jalonick, 18 C. A. 296, 44 S. W. 580.

Evidence of the items "taken into consideration" in making up a written statement is not subject to the objection that the statement is the best evidence. Sheldon Canal Co. v. Miller, 40 C. A. 460, 90 S. W. 206.

A physician held properly permitted to testify as to a life expectancy, over objections that his testimony was not the best evidence. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Spear (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 613.

One may testify his hotel business was injured through loss of patronage by a raid on his hotel, without producing the hotel register or other books showing the amount of his business. Cartwright v. Canode (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 792.

Testimony as to the market value of cattle held not rendered inadmissible, on the theory that a report of the sales thereof was the best evidence. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lockhart (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 127.

While ordinarily the business which a corporation was chartered to conduct must be stated in its charter, the purpose of its organization may be shown independent of the charter recitals. First State Bank & Trust Co. of Hereford v. Southwestern Engineering & Construction Co. (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 680.

7. — Payment or release.—A written receipt is better evidence than evidence of a verbal acknowledgment. Cotton v. Campbell, 3 T. 493. Cited in Matlock v. Glover, 63 T. 231.

Suit was brought to recover an amount due on an account for goods sold and delivered. The defendant pleaded payment and offered in evidence a receipt signed by a third party, whose authority to execute it was questioned. Proof of payment was also made independent of the receipt. The court say: The receipt was not the only nor the best evidence of the payment of money. It was not an instrument which the law requires to be in writing, nor did it evidence any contract between the parties; nor was the existence or contents of the receipt the question in dispute. It was a matter collateral to the question in issue,—the payment of the money,—and there was no necessity to produce it, or account for its nonproduction, to let in other evidence of payment. McAlpin v. Ziller, 17 T. 508; Muse v. Burns, 3 App. C. C. § 75.

8. — Ownership, possession or control.—It is competent to allow a witness conversant with the history of a title, part of the links of which were lost, and in part inheritance, to narrate the history, naming the several links. In this case the papers forming part of the chain were proved by other competent testimony. Capp v. Terry, 75 T. 391, 13 S. W. 52. See Burleson v. Collins (Civ. App.) 28 S. W. 898.

In an action for damages for the destruction of a house by the culpable negligence of the defendant, it was competent to prove ownership by parol by showing exclusive possession of the premises. Pacific Exp. Co. v. Dunn, 81 T. 85, 16 S. W. 792.

The purchase of a railroad may be shown by oral testimony. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Hall, 35 C. A. 545, 81 S. W. 82.

In an action of trespass for burning a house, there was no error in admitting testimony of plaintiff as to his ownership thereof. Wetzel v. Satterwhite (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 93.

On the issue whether property levied on belonged to a third person, parol testimony held admissible. Marrett v. Herrington (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 254.

9. — Judicial acts, proceedings and records.—The transcript of a record of a case in the supreme court, which contained a copy of the depositions of a witness was offered to show the unreliability of his memory, he having answered that he had never testified in that case. It was held to be inadmissible for that purpose, and that the fact could have been shown by the officer who took his deposition, or by the production of the depositions and proof of his handwriting thereto. Coleman v. Smith, 55 T. 254.

A witness stated that he was an attorney; that he made a strict examination of the records of a county court, and they did not show that a certain estate had ever been distributed or closed. Held, that the evidence was inadmissible, as the record or a certified copy of the same was the best evidence. Williams v. Davis, 56 T. 253; Bigham v. Talbot, 63 T. 271; Stafford v. King, 30 T. 257, 97 Am. Dec. 304.

The testimony of a witness to prove the contents of the judgment was objected to on the ground: (1) That parol evidence was not admissible to prove the contents of a destroyed judgment, except in the court where the loss occurred. (2) That it did not appear that the witness was the custodian of the record at the time of their destruction, and therefore his testimony was not the best evidence of their contents. Both objections were overruled. Johnson v. Skipworth, 59 T. 473.

The records of a court, or properly certified copies thereof, are the best and generally the only competent evidence of their contents. But when twenty-five years after the destruction of records and papers pertaining to the administration of an estate, and after the death of the administrator, in a suit by heirs to recover land, the production of the deed from the administrator, made twenty-five years before, containing recitals showing the regularity of the sale, and its confirmation, in connection with evidence of payment of the purchase-money and that the note was paid, the validity of the sale was sustained. White v. Jones, 67 T. 238, 4 S. W. 161.

The indorsement on a rejected claim against an estate is the best evidence of its rejection. Dosche v. Nette, 81 T. 265, 16 S. W. 1013.

A justice's judgment may be proven by the original docket. Willis v. Nichols, 23 S. W. 1025, 5 C. A. 154; Houze v. Houze, 16 T. 598; Wallis v. Beauchamp, 15 T. 303; Hardin v. Blackshear, 60 T. 132.

The judgment entry on the docket of a justice of the peace is primary evidence, and its loss must be shown in order to admit secondary evidence. Holt v. Maverick (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 532.

The inventory is the best evidence as to whether the personal property of estate is sufficient to pay debts. McCown v. Terrell (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 54.

The citation of the probate court requiring an administratrix to give a new bond, and the return of the sheriff thereon, is the best evidence of its issuance and service. Green v. White, 18 C. A. 509, 45 S. W. 339.

An order made by a county judge in vacation must be entered on the minutes of the court, and not simply on the judge's docket, under Art. 3239, to entitle it to be admitted in evidence in another action. Id.

It is incompetent to show by parol that there is an action pending in another county. Preston v. State, 40 Cr. R. 72, 48 S. W. 581.

In an action to recover an interest in land, parol evidence that plaintiff did not include it as part of his assets in filing a petition in bankruptcy held competent, though the schedule itself was not accounted for. Clark v. Clark, 21 C. A. 371, 51 S. W. 337.

Where one appeals from a justice giving affidavit of inability, he may show by parol that the court was in session when affidavit was made and filed. Hutcherson v. Blewett (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 150.

Where a party, objecting to the report of commissioners appointed to partition community property, attempts to show that a certain note signed by him is invalid as being subject to an offset, oral statements of the contents of the written pleadings filed in a suit on the note pending in a foreign territory are not admissible, but the facts tending to show such offset must be shown. Moor v. Moor (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 347.

A county clerk's certificate of the record of an abstract of judgment is not objectionable as secondary evidence. Weinert v. Simmang, 29 C. A. 435, 68 S. W. 1011.

In a suit based on an execution levied on a justice's judgment, evidence of the sheriff making the levy, that a copy of the execution attached to the justice's deposition was correct, held not objectionable as not the best evidence. Peebles v. Slayden-Kirksey Woolen Mills (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 61.

Letter signed by one as trustee in bankruptcy reciting sale held not the best evidence of the sale. Keller v. Faickney, 42 C. A. 483, 94 S. W. 103.

To show that a person is insolvent, secondary evidence that he had filed a petition in bankruptcy and turned over his property to the trustees is improper. First Nat. Bank v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 177.

In an action on a vendor's lien note transferred to plaintiffs as collateral security for other notes, the judgments which plaintiffs recovered on the other notes, being the best evidence of the amount due, were properly admitted in evidence. Brasfield v. Young (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 180.

10. — Official acts, proceedings and records.—The bond of a tax collector with the approval thereof required by law is the best evidence of the time when the officer qualified as such. Webb County v. Gonzales, 69 T. 455, 6 S. W. 781.

The deposition of the commissioner of the general land office is not admissible to prove a matter of fact shown by the records of his office. Bass v. Mitchell, 22 T. 285.

It was assumed that there was an error in certain field-notes apparent on their face, in this, that the field-notes called for a line one thousand two hundred and fifty varas long, while the plat showed that the line was four hundred and fifteen varas long. Held, that the proof should be made by the exhibition of the plat and field-notes to the jury, and not by the statement of a witness. Coleman v. Smith, 55 T. 254.

The records of the general post office department at Washington are better evidence of the establishment of a post office than an encyclopedia. Howard v. Russell, 75 T. 171, 12 S. W. 525.

To prove that the debtor was insolvent, the tax rolls were given in evidence to show that he did not render certain property claimed by him. The original assessment lists signed by him were not offered. Held, that the tax rolls could not thus be used as a statement by him of his financial condition. Greer v. Richardson Drug Co., 1 C. A. 634, 20 S. W. 1127.

Testimony as to the contents of a government report of the quantity of rock shipped is inadmissible, the report itself being the best evidence. Sabine Land & Improvement Co. v. Perry (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 327.

It was error to admit tax rolls to show that certain property was assessed to defendant, unless it was first shown that the original assessment could not be produced. First Nat. Bank v. Bruce (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 126.

The action of a city council in authorizing the mayor of a city to make a contract for the city, and in ratifying such contract, cannot be established by parol testimony, in the absence of loss or destruction of the record. Wagner v. Porter (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 560.

Parol evidence of contents of a writing held properly excluded, where it was not shown that the writing was not of record, or was not one of which the original, or a copy, could not be procured. Thompson Sav. Bank v. Gregory (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 622.

Oral evidence of the contents of a certificate held inadmissible, in the absence of an excuse for the failure to produce original. Commerce Milling & Grain Co. v. Morris, 27 C. A. 553, 65 S. W. 1118.

Testimony held inadmissible, because not the best evidence. Mass v. Bromberg, 23 C. A. 145, 66 S. W. 468.

Official character of a public officer need not be proved by his commission, or through written evidence, unless on an issue directly between the officer and the state. De Lucenay v. State (Cr. App.) 68 S. W. 796.

A letter from one of the railroad commissioners is not proper evidence to show the commission rates on goods shipped by a common carrier, in an action against the carrier for overcharges. Wells Fargo Exp. Co. v. Williams (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 314.

In a suit to determine boundary, a county surveyor cannot state that the records of his office recognized a corner as claimed by defendant as the corner of a certain county, as it was secondary. Matthews v. Thatcher, 33 C. A. 133, 76 S. W. 61.

In trespass to try title, evidence as to what the abstract and books of the county assessor showed, and a diagram from such abstract books showing in whose name the property was assessed, held not the best evidence. Hicks v. Pogue, 33 C. A. 333, 76 S. W. 786.

In action against carrier, admission of testimony of witness, who had not seen cattle weighed, but claimed knowledge from weighmaster's tickets, as to weights and prices of cattle, held not reversible error. St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. J. H. White & Co. (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 947.

In an action involving a disputed boundary, a compiled abstract of title, patented and located lands of 1877, held secondary evidence, and inadmissible. Clawson v. Wilkins (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 1086.

Oral testimony of a commissioner of the land office, based entirely upon the records of his office, is not admissible, but a copy of the records or a certificate as to their contents should be introduced. Patterson v. Knapp (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 125.

Evidence that plaintiff was walking near defendant's railroad track on or towards S. street was not objectionable as secondary evidence. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Morin, 53 C. A. 531, 116 S. W. 656.

Evidence of a witness having knowledge of the facts that certain railroad tracks were located in a street was not objectionable as secondary evidence. Id.

A witness having knowledge of the fact could testify as to the location of the commonly used streets of a city or public roads of a county. Id.

City maps and records are not the best evidence of the actual location of city streets on the ground. Id.

In trespass to try title, in which defendant claimed that a prior patent covered the land in plaintiff's patent, a certified copy of the prior patent and a certified plat from the map in the land office held original evidence. Hackbarth v. Gordon (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 591.

Field notes and maps prepared for and used in the general land office, held admissible as original evidence. Finberg v. Gilbert (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 979.

Where the land sought to be recovered was originally located by what is known as office work, without being actually surveyed on the ground or tied to any survey or object, it is not necessary to produce the original field notes and maps, and a patent containing the field notes afterwards prepared and used in the general land office is presumed to be in accordance with the work by the surveyors and admissible as original evidence. Id.

In an action against a city on notes given in payment of fire hose, an oral statement of a witness held inadmissible. City of Cleburne v. Gutta Percha & Rubber Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1072.

In an action against a city upon notes given in payment for fire hose, where the books of the city treasurer, together with the minutes of the council, showed the amount received and placed in the general fund, together with the items of expense and other obligations of defendant incurred and paid during a certain year, an oral statement as to whether the current expenses for a certain year were greater than the current revenue for that period was inadmissible, when the books and other records relative to the facts were in the possession of the defendant. Id.

Proof of an order of a commissioners' court authorizing execution of a deed held properly made by the records of the court only. Gamble v. Martin (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 386.

In an action by a delinquent taxpayer to recover costs alleged to have been illegally exacted upon payment of the taxes, parol testimony as to the amount of costs paid to the collector is admissible. Typer & Knudson v. Tom (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 850.

Facts shown by the records in the office of the Secretary of State cannot be proved by that officer's deposition. Smith v. Briggs-Weaver Machinery Co. (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 954.

11. — Corporate acts, proceedings and records.—Testimony as to contents of record kept by witness held properly excluded, when no reason for the nonproduction of the record itself was given. St. Louis & S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Miller, 27 C. A. 344, 66 S. W. 139.

Where a conductor is injured in a collision, an expert cannot testify as to the precautions he should have taken under the rules, over objection that the rules were the best evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Pawkett, 23 C. A. 583, 68 S. W. 323.

In an action against two electric companies for personal injuries, testimony that it was naturally assumed that both companies belonged to the same people held incompetent. Dallas Electric Co. v. Mitchell, 33 C. A. 424, 76 S. W. 935.

In an action against a railroad company for damages caused by failure to furnish stock cars within a reasonable time, evidence of defendant's train dispatcher as to the number of cars ordered during a certain period held inadmissible. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Smith & White, 34 C. A. 571, 79 S. W. 614.

On an issue as to the date of a voter's birth, deposition as to a baptismal record held incompetent. Bailey v. Fly, 35 C. A. 410, 80 S. W. 675.

The cashier of a bank may properly be allowed to testify, without producing the books, that certain money held by the bank was credited to a certain person. Smith v. First Nat. Bank, 43 C. A. 495, 95 S. W. 1111.

One who actually knew that a construction company owned the stock of another company could so testify as against an objection that the stock records were the best evidence on the question, especially where it was claimed that the construction company had purchased land through the town-site company which transferred it to defraud the construction company's creditors. First State Bank & Trust Co. of Hereford v. Southwestern Engineering & Construction Co. (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 680.

12. — Conveyances, contracts and other instruments.—In a suit on a note, the note itself is the best evidence; but if secondary evidence of its contents is admitted without objection, the error is waived. Long v. Garnett, 59 T. 229.

Secondary evidence is admissible to show contents of a deed to land situated in this or another state. Harvey v. Edens 69 T. 420, 6 S. W. 306.

When rights involved in a sale are fixed by written contract between the parties which is not produced on the trial, and the sale is proved by parol without objection, the failure to produce the written contract of sale becomes immaterial. Brown v. Lessing, 70 T. 544, 7 S. W. 783.

A recital in a note of the vendor's lien is original evidence. Behrens v. Dignowitty, 25 S. W. 288, 4 C. A. 201.

The deed conveying land is primary evidence. Macdonnell v. De Los Fuentes, 26 S. W. 792, 7 C. A. 136; Rogers v. Wallace (Civ. App.) 28 S. W. 246.

Where there was a written contract for shipment, parol evidence as to the time of delivery is inadmissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Baugh (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 245.

In a controversy between an attorney and client as to compensation, held error to allow the client to testify to his construction of the contract, where it was contained in correspondence not produced at the trial. Fulton v. Western Stove Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 1035.

In an action against a carrier on a written contract of shipment, parol evidence that the shipment was made with a certain privilege is inadmissible. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Woodley, 20 C. A. 216, 49 S. W. 691.

Parol evidence held inadmissible to prove a written assignment of an account, in the absence of an excuse for failure to produce the writing. Bruce v. Strawn Coal-Min. Co. (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 52.

Parol evidence of written lease is not admissible, in absence of proof of loss or destruction, or inability to produce it. Grayson v. Peyton (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 1074.

Complaint cannot be made in the appellate court for the first time that a contract was proved by secondary evidence. Mensing Bros. & Co. v. Cardwell, 33 C. A. 16, 75 S. W. 347.

A gift of a bank deposit to plaintiff by her father during his lifetime may be proved by parol. Hill v. Escort, 38 C. A. 487, 86 S. W. 367.

Recitals in trust deeds that they secured vendor's lien notes held primary evidence, not only against the parties, but as against third persons in privity of estate. Flach v. Zanderson (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 348.

Where no proof of the execution of a deed was offered, and there was no predicate laid for the introduction of secondary evidence, parol evidence of its contents was inadmissible. Davis v. Ragland, 42 C. A. 400, 93 S. W. 1099.

Whether decedent at the time of his injuries was employed by an independent contractor or by defendant could not be shown by the understanding of the men employed under the written contract. Walker v. Texas & N. O. R. Co., 51 C. A. 391, 112 S. W. 430.

Where the testimony of a witness showed that a deed was in existence, and that inquiry of a certain person would show where it was, it was error to permit witness to testify as to the contents of such deed. Merrill v. Bradley (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 561.

That a debtor tendered to his creditor a check in full settlement held provable by parol. Cristler v. Williams (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 608.

Where, in replevin, plaintiff claimed title through a firm, parol evidence as to what property had been delivered by W. to one of the members of the firm, independent of the execution of a bill of sale, held admissible. Ricketson v. Best (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 353.

Oral evidence of the contents of a bill of sale is inadmissible in the absence of a proper predicate. Id.

A deed held the best evidence of what was thereby conveyed. Jones v. Harris (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 69.

In the absence of a proper predicate, secondary evidence, in the form of the record of a deed, held inadmissible. Producers' Oil Co. v. Bean & Markowitz (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 1166.

13. — Books of account, private memoranda, statements and correspondence.—A letter is the best evidence of its contents. Mo. Pac. Ry. Co. v. Rountree, 2 App. C. C. § 388. A witness, over objection, was permitted to testify that he had received a letter from the agent of defendant, refusing to settle the claim sued on. Held error, as the letter was the best evidence of its contents. Mo. Pac. Ry. Co. v. Rountree, 2 App. C. C. § 388.

The original telegraph message, as written by the sender, is the best evidence, and its non-production must be accounted for, in order to admit secondary evidence. Abernathy v. Hewlett, 2 App. C. C. § 806.

Secondary evidence of the contents of a letter or other written instrument without this state is admissible. McBride v. Willis, 82 T. 141, 18 S. W. 205; Clapp v. Engledow, 82 T. 290, 18 S. W. 146; Hunter v. Lanus, 82 T. 677, 18 S. W. 201.

Estimate of the amount of plaintiff's business held not objectionable as secondary. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brown, 16 C. A. 93, 40 S. W. 608.

Secondary evidence of the contents of books of account held inadmissible. Garrett v. Garrett (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 76.

One cannot, without accounting for nonproduction of a letter, testify to its contents. Cabaness v. Holland (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 379.

Evidence that certain books of account show a certain indebtedness is a violation of the best evidence rule, and inadmissible. Watson v. Boswell, 25 C. A. 379, 61 S. W. 407.

On issue as to an account arising in an action on a note, the best evidence thereof is the books of account. Rogers v. O'Barr & Dinwiddie (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 593.

In an action on a note, one of the defendants held not entitled to testify to a particular payment by his recollection of the entry thereof on a lost ledger leaf. Eastham v. Patty & Brockinton, 37 C. A. 336, 83 S. W. 885.

In action against carrier for damages caused by delay in shipment of cattle, testimony as to contents of books of stockyards held inadmissible. Sterling v. St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co., 38 C. A. 451, 86 S. W. 655.

On an issue as to the fraudulent character of a chattel mortgage, a witness held not entitled to testify to written statements made by the mortgagor as to his financial standing. Bruce v. Bruce (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 435.

A witness cannot testify what certain books show; the books being the best evidence. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Texas Land & Mortgage Co., 40 C. A. 489, 90 S. W. 197.

Evidence by plaintiff's mother that plaintiff had been offered a certain sum per week, was properly excluded, where the offer was made by letter, the letter being the best evidence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Kennedy (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 653.

Where plaintiff sued a telegraph company for delayed delivery of a message held error to allow the company to read in evidence "relay copies" of the message. Buchanan v. Western Union Telegraph Co. (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 974.

A statement of the condition of the account of a depositor with a bank is inadmissible; the bank book being the best evidence. Berry v. Joiner, 45 C. A. 461, 101 S. W. 239.

A witness' evidence as to statements contained in a letter held objectionable as not the best evidence, but such objection did not apply to his further statement that he had lost sight of certain land in question, and thought it had been included in a sale to A. Poitevent v. Scarborough (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 443.

Evidence as to items contained in the books of a partnership held admissible. Hatzfeld v. Walsh, 55 C. A. 573, 120 S. W. 525.

Refusing to allow a witness to testify as to an item on the books of a partnership held not error where it did not appear that he had charge of the books, or had personal knowledge of their contents. Id.

The contents of a letter not produced are inadmissible as a rule. Merriman v. Black, 57 C. A. 270, 122 S. W. 403.

The memoranda kept in a telephone exchange, showing the date and hour when customers put in a call and when they get through talking, are the best evidence of what they contained, and mere proof that the telephone business has been sold, since the memoranda were made, and the papers were delivered to the new owner, is not sufficient to admit secondary evidence. Edwards v. Adams (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 898.

In an action for damages for loss of property by fire caused by sparks from an engine, held error to allow a bookkeeper to testify as to what his books contained; they being the best evidence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Washington (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1126.

A witness, who was the addressee of a letter, held not entitled to testify as to its contents without some evidence excusing its nonproduction. Ricketson v. Best (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 353.

Testimony as to amount of sales by plaintiff held not rendered inadmissible by the fact that he kept duplicate slips of most of the sales. Missouria Glass Co. v. Roberts (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 433.

As a rule, original books of entry are the best evidence as to the items of a book account. Kell Milling Co. v. Bank of Miami (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 325.

Where coal was sold and shipped f. o. b. mines upon mine weights, and was also weighed at destination, the testimony of the buyer as to shortage of weight, without accounting for the record taken by the weigher at either place, was inadmissible as secondary evidence. Richard Cocke & Co. v. Big Muddy Coal & Iron Co. (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1019.

14. — Notices.—In an action for rent, admissions of the landlord's agent that he had notified the landlord that he had rented the land to the tenant are not admissible as primary evidence of such notice. Majors v. Goodrich (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 919.

15. Fact of making or existence of writing.—Evidence of the existence of a writing, the contents thereof not being stated, is not within the rule as to secondary evidence. Shaw v. Adams, 2 App. C. C. § 183.

That the demand for possession was made in writing as required by the statute relating to forcible entry and detainer can be shown by parol. Steele v. Steele, 2 App. C. C. § 347.

Where a party has lost the deeds of land to which he has asserted ownership for 40 years, evidence that deeds of the form and tenor claimed were recorded in another county held admissible, as tending to show that such deeds were in existence at that time. Logan's Heirs v. Logan, 31 C. A. 295, 72 S. W. 416.

Fact of having advertised land held provable by real estate broker's testimony in his action for commissions. Yarborough v. Creager (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 645.

In locomotive fireman's action for injuries, engineer's testimony for plaintiff that he noted defect in engine in company's book held admissible, though the book was not produced. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Crum, 35 C. A. 609, 81 S. W. 72.

In trespass to try title, testimony that defendant's predecessor in title had the land in controversy patented to him held admissible. Ellis v. Lewis (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 1034.

Where the testimony of a witness showed that a deed was in existence and that inquiry of a certain person would show where it was, it was error to permit witness to testify as to the execution of such deed. Merrill v. Bradley (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 561.

Statements of witness concerning the substance of documents, copies of which were attached to his answers as exhibits, held admissible by way of explanation and identification of the exhibits. Robertson v. Brothers (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 657.

Evidence that a tenant held under a written lease, offered to show a holding through a tenant to establish adverse possession by the landlord, did not violate the best evidence rule. Wolf v. Wilhelm (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 216.

The testimony of a party to a contract that the contract was delivered to him is not objectionable as secondary evidence. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Cox (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 265.

Where defendant pleaded avoidance of the policy sued on by breach of a provision against other insurance, parol evidence to show the execution, but not the contents of such other policies, was admissible. Philadelphia Underwriters Agency of Fire Ass'n of Philadelphia v. Brown (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 899.

16. Writings collateral to issues.—In a suit by the vendee for the recovery of personal property in the possession of the administrator of the vendor, the statement of the vendor to a third person that the property in question had been sold by him to plaintiff was admissible as evidence of title without accounting for the bill of sale stated to have been made. Dooley v. McEwing, 8 T. 306.

Where there is no contention as to the contents of a written lease it is competent to prove by parol its existence and its transfer without accounting for its non-production. Nor would the admission of a certified copy of such lease, without accounting for the original, be material error, the terms of the instrument not being in issue. Howard v. Britton, 71 T. 286, 9 S. W. 73.

Parol evidence is admissible of purely introductory matters although written evidence may be in existence. Parker v. Chancellor, 78 T. 524, 15 S. W. 157.

A copy of an unrecorded deed admissible in corroboration of other evidence. Cox v. Rust (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 307.

On an issue as to whether certain property was purchased with the separate money of a wife, her prior ownership of other property which might have been converted into the money with which the purchase was made can be proved by parol. Oaks v. West (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 1033.

In action against a fire insurance company, held, that the authority of an agent was not merely in issue collaterally, so as to render secondary evidence of the agent's authority admissible without notice to produce better authority shown to exist. Continental Fire Ass'n of Ft. Worth v. Bearden, 29 C. A. 569, 69 S. W. 982.

In action for right of way, plaintiff's oral testimony as to defendants' title to the land held admissible. Holman v. Patterson, 34 C. A. 344, 78 S. W. 989.

The fact of the appointment of a public officer may in collateral proceedings be shown by other means than his commission. Callaghan v. McGown (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 319.

In an action for injuries to a passenger traveling on a pass issued by an express company, plaintiff held entitled to prove the provisions of the contract between the express company and the railroad company without showing an excuse for nonproduction of the contract. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Lynch (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 160.

Secondary evidence of the contents of a telegram held admissible in a suit to restrain enforcement of a default judgment, without excusing failure to procure the original telegram. Dalhart Real Estate Agency v. Le Master (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 860.

Where a telegram was not the basis of plaintiff's action, but was merely proof of a collateral fact, a copy thereof was admissible in evidence without first accounting for the original. Heidenheimer v. Beer (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 352.

17. Original writing as best evidence—Copies in general.—When copy of instrument admissible. Miller v. Goodman, 15 C. A. 244, 40 S. W. 743.

Where publication in a newspaper of the proceedings of a convention was alleged to be libelous, copies of such publications held admissible as originals. Cranfill v. Hayden, 22 C. A. 656, 55 S. W. 805.

Objections to a certified copy of a title bond, on the ground that it was a copy of a copy, held without merit. Tenzler v. Tyrrell, 32 C. A. 443, 75 S. W. 57.

A letterpress copy of a waybill held objectionable as secondary evidence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Lynch, 39 C. A. 96, 87 S. W. 884.

A copy of an instrument is not admissible where the party offering it had not used sufficient diligence to obtain the original. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Morrison, 42 C. A. 598, 94 S. W. 173.

In libel, where the undisputed evidence showed that defendant published the article in its paper, a copy of the paper containing the alleged libelous article was properly admitted. San Antonio Light Pub. Co. v. Lewy, 52 C. A. 22, 113 S. W. 574.

A witness cannot testify as to the contents of a paper which is a record in the land office. A certified copy of the paper or an examined copy proved as at common law is the best evidence. Lewright v. Walls, 55 C. A. 643, 119 S. W. 723.

In an action for injuries from fire set by sparks from passing locomotives, admission of copies of certain train records held error. Cathey v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 217.

A copy of a receipt given by consignees to defendant railroad for goods shipped by plaintiff held admissible, though witness was requested in giving his deposition to attach the original receipt. A. B. Patterson & Co. v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 336.

18. — Books of account.—Original books of entry are the best evidence. The ledger may be, under certain circumstances, admitted in evidence, but not when the original books of entry are accessible. Pohl v. Bradford (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 984.

Copy of accounts from a weigher's book is not admissible when no excuse is shown for failure to produce the book. Eppler v. Brown (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 710.

Copies of account attached to a deposition held admissible, though the books from which the accounts were taken were not produced. Modern Dairy & Creamery Co. v. Blanke & Hauk Supply Co. (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 154.

19. — Letters and telegrams.—In a suit against a telegraph company for damages for failure to deliver messages sent, copies of the messages delivered by the company were admissible evidence. Telegraph Co. v. Bennett, 1 C. A. 558, 21 S. W. 699.

In an action for the erroneous transmission of a telegram, copies furnished by defendant's agents at the sending and receiving stations held inadmissible, in the absence of evidence tending to excuse the nonproduction of the originals. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Kapp, 35 C. A. 663, 80 S. W. 840.

A carbon copy of a letter held inadmissible without accounting for the nonproduction of the original. McDonald v. Hanks, 52 C. A. 140, 113 S. W. 604.

Evidence of contents of carbon copy of letter held objectionable as not the best. Booker-Jones Oil Co. v. National Refining Co. (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 623.

20. — Contracts.—A writing is the best evidence of a contract. Maverick v. Maury, 79 T. 435, 15 S. W. 686.

Secondary evidence of an instrument held properly rejected. Read v. Chambers (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 742.

21. — Public records or documents.—The best evidence of the terms of an act of the legislature is a copy of the enrolled bill. Railway Co. v. Hearne, 32 T. 546.

An original state abstract book, containing memoranda of the abstracts of title to patented lands, held admissible to show that the land in controversy had been patented to L. Jones v. Wagner (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 280.

22. Grounds for admission of secondary evidence.—The evidence of a witness as an expert was offered to explain an account book. The court say there was no error in refusing to hear the testimony. No occasion for explaining the books was shown, and, if the testimony was proper, the bill of exceptions does not show that the witness would have sworn to any material fact. It was not shown that the book was kept in accordance with any technical or scientific system of book-keeping. McKay v. Overton, 65 T. 82.

Where tickets in an election contest were inspected in the presence of the jury, and they were numerous, it was proper to relax the rule requiring primary evidence, and to permit a witness to testify how many of the tickets bore certain characteristics. Davis v. Harper, 17 C. A. 88, 42 S. W. 788.

Refusal of witness to attach to his deposition original documents held sufficient foundation for introduction of copies. Sayles v. Bradley & Metcalf Co., 92 T. 406, 49 S. W. 209.

Where the deposition of a railway agent was being taken in a county other than that where the trial was held, and he was asked to attach a certain waybill, but did not, his testimony as to its contents was admissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dilworth, 95 T. 327, 67 S. W. 38.

The weight of coal as shown by the invoice sent from the mines held not the best evidence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. McLeod (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 85.

Where a party testified that certified copies of deeds of land showed the price and number of acres sold and admitted the execution of the deeds, the copies were properly introduced to show the price and number of acres sold. C. W. Hahl & Co. v. Southland Immigration Ass'n, 53 C. A. 592, 116 S. W. 831.

23. — Possession or control of primary evidence.—See notes under Rules 10, 11.

24. Preliminaries to admission of secondary evidence.—When secondary evidence is resorted to for the purpose of establishing the former existence of a deed claimed to be lost, and no copy of which was preserved, after the lapse of twenty years a general description of the property conveyed and of the substance of the deed is all that can be required. Parks v. Caudle, 58 T. 216.

An action against a carrier may be founded upon a special contract evidenced by the bill of lading, in which case the bill must be produced, or its non-production accounted for, in order to show its contents by parol evidence. T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Wheat, 2 App. C. C. §§ 165, 166; I. & G. N. R. R. Co. v. Watt, 2 App. C. C. § 781.

Secondary evidence of the contents of a written contract cannot be admitted in the absence of proper diligence to secure the original. Low v. Tandy, 70 T. 745, 8 S. W. 620.

The proof of loss and contents can be made without a preliminary affidavit. Blanton v. Ray, 66 T. 61, 17 S. W. 264; Gray v. Thomas, 83 T. 246, 18 S. W. 721.

The evidence of a witness on the stand as to the execution and loss of a deed may suffice in lieu of a written affidavit as a predicate for secondary evidence to prove the contents of such deed. Dohoney v. Womack, 1 C. A. 354, 19 S. W. 883, 20 S. W. 950.

Where a deed which a party desires to use in evidence is made to and is in possession of a third party, the party must either have it produced under a subpoena duces tecum, or show that it is beyond his power to produce it in some other way, before he will be allowed to introduce secondary evidence of its contents. Greer v. Richardson Drug Co., 1 C. A. 634, 20 S. W. 1127.

A copy of a writing inadmissible, sufficient excuse for the non-production of the original not being shown. Eppler v. Brown (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 710. See Telegraph Co. v. Williford (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 700; Telegraph Co. v. Smith (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 216.

Testimony as to contents of letter held inadmissible without proper foundation laid. Pughe v. Coleman (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 576.

Predicate laid for introduction of secondary evidence of a note held sufficient. Boyd v. Leith (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 618.

Where a delivering carrier is sued for damage to fruit which was diverted from its original destination by the consignee's order, plaintiffs should account for their failure to produce the order itself as a predicate to the introduction of its contents. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Mazzie, 29 C. A. 295, 68 S. W. 56.

In an action against a telegraph company for negligent delay in delivering the message, the proper foundation held to have been laid for parol testimony as to a written instrument. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Salter (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 549.

To render a copy of a bill of lading admissible it was necessary to prove its execution or that it had been duly substituted on the former trial for the original. W. R. Morris & Co. v. Southern Shoe Co., 44 C. A. 488, 99 S. W. 178.

On an issue as to the verity of the record of a lost deed, evidence that such deed was recorded with another deed and that the original of the latter deed is in existence and was correctly recorded, is admissible. Freeman v. Wm. M. Rice Institute (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 629.

In an action against a railroad company for loss of property by fire, held error to permit a station agent to read from train records. Cathey v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 104 T. 39, 133 S. W. 417, 33 L. R. A. (N. S.) 103.

In an action by a physician, the exclusion of a copy of his license to practice medicine is proper, where no explanation of his failure to produce the original is made. Feingold v. Lefkovitz (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 346.

25. — Proof as to existence of primary evidence.—Where the existence of an ancient lost instrument has been shown, further proof of its execution is unnecessary to admit proof of its contents. Smith v. Cavitt, 20 C. A. 558, 50 S. W. 167.

The testimony of a party that a letter from the adverse party had never been received does not warrant the exclusion of a copy of the letter after a sufficient predicate had been laid for its introduction. Jacksboro Stone Co. v. Fairbanks Co., 48 C. A. 639, 107 S. W. 567.

Testimony of an executive officer of a company as to the authority of its agent held inadmissible, in the absence of proof that the agent's authority had been conferred in writing. Waco Mill & Elevator Co. v. Allis-Chalmers Co., 49 C. A. 426, 109 S. W. 224.

A sheriff's deed under a foreclosure decree held admissible to establish title without proof that an order of sale was not functus officio at the date of sale. Anderson v. Casey-Swasey Co. (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 918.

26. — Proof as to destruction or loss of and search for primary evidence.—See notes under Rule 11.

27. — Proof as to possession or control of primary evidence.—See, also, notes under Rule 11.

An affidavit that the party "cannot procure the original deed" is insufficient. Hoop-er v. Hall, 30 T. 154. See Robertson v. Moor-er, 25 T. 423; Kinney v. Vinson, 32 T. 125; Bray v. Aiken, 60 T. 668.

The memoranda kept in a telephone exchange being the best evidence of what they contain, secondary evidence held not admissible on proof that the telephone business had been sold and papers delivered to new owner. Edwards v. Adams (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 898.

28. Character and degrees of secondary evidence.—A party, not being able to produce the best evidence, may offer any grade of secondary evidence, though there is other secondary evidence available of a greater weight than that offered. Simpson Bank v. Smith, 52 C. A. 349, 114 S. W. 445.

29. — Oral evidence.—The testimony of a witness to prove the contents of the judgment was objected to on the ground: 1st. That parol evidence was not admissible to prove the contents of a destroyed judgment except in the court where the loss occurred. 2d. That it did not appear that the witness was the custodian of the records at the time of their destruction and therefore his testimony was not the best evidence of their contents. Both objections were overruled. Johnson v. Skipworth, 59 T. 473.

Under a statute (Early Laws, art. 3484) requiring that official oaths of executors and administrators and all inventories of estates should be copied at length in the records of the court, and which gave the same effect to certified copies of such record entries as original copies would have, the loss of the original inventory will not authorize parol evidence of its former existence and return, nor will such evidence be admitted to show that an executor qualified as such. Neither will the custodian of the records be permitted to testify that a will has been duly recorded and that the executor returned an inventory of all property belonging to the estate. Roberts v. Connellee, 71 T. 11, 8 S. W. 626.

A party to an action in which the pleadings had been lost could testify as to whether it was to recover against him personally or against the estate of which he was an executor, though he did not remember the petition nor its contents. Croom v. Winston, 18 C. A. 1, 43 S. W. 1072.

A witness testifying as to a lost receipt may give his best recollection of its contents or state what purported to be its contents. Gordon v. McCall, 20 C. A. 233, 48 S. W. 1111.

Where the tax rolls were lost, evidence of a deputy assessor and collector, who assisted in making the rolls, held admissible to show that the tax rolls of the city were true copies of the assessment rolls. Grace v. City of Bonham, 26 C. A. 161, 63 S. W. 158.

Where evidence is introduced to avoid a judgment pleaded as res judicata of rights involved and the pleadings on which such judgment is based are lost, a witness may testify what the issues were as shown by the pleadings, but may not give his understanding of what was involved in the suit. Robbins v. Hubbard (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 773.

The keeper of books of account beyond the control of the party and beyond the reach of a subpoena held authorized to testify as to their contents. Barclay v. Deyerle, 53 C. A. 236, 116 S. W. 123.

In trespass to try title, held proper to admit testimony that witness saw a tax deed on record in another county. Wright v. Giles (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1163.

30. — Subscribing witnesses.—A lost deed held properly proved by the admission of a copy, instead of by the oral evidence of subscribing witnesses. Masterson v. Harris, 37 C. A. 145, 83 S. W. 428.

31. — Memoranda and other documents.—Documents showing the consideration and purpose of an alleged grant of land sought to be established by circumstantial evidence, the original being lost, are competent evidence. Mackey v. Armstrong, 84 T. 159, 19 S. W. 463.

The recital in a second deed, made to supply the lost deed, of the execution of such prior deed, is admissible as evidence of that fact. Dohoney v. Womack, 1 C. A. 354, 19 S. W. 333, 20 S. W. 950.

An original citation in a foreclosure suit is proper secondary evidence of the contents of the original petition. Oppermann v. McGown (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 1078.

32. — Copies and counterparts.—As to proof of contents of lost instrument, see Art. 3700. Loftin v. Nally, 24 T. 565.

Photographic copies of writings are secondary evidence, and it is a question of fact whether, when offered in evidence, they are exact reproductions of the originals. Eborn v. Zimpelman, 47 T. 503, 26 Am. Rep. 315; Houston v. Blythe, 60 T. 506.

When the affidavit of the loss of a deed is filed in a suit, a certified copy from the record, showing that the deed had been recorded thirty years, with strong corroborating circumstances of its authenticity, will authorize the introduction of such copy as a copy of an ancient instrument, though an affidavit has been filed impeaching the genuineness of the original. Otherwise if there be no authentic entry on the record or evidence showing the date of registration. Brown v. Simpson, 67 T. 225, 2 S. W. 644; Davis v. Pearson, 26 S. W. 241, 6 C. A. 593; Walker v. Peterson (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 269.

An examined copy of a certified copy of a recorded instrument is not admissible in evidence. Lasater v. Van Hook, 77 T. 650, 14 S. W. 270.

A copy of an instrument, the original of which is without this state, is admissible in evidence. Railway Co. v. Gernan, 84 T. 141, 19 S. W. 461; Howard v. Galbraith (Civ.

App.) 30 S. W. 689; Masterton v. Jordan (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 549. As to letter press copies, see Thomson-Houston Electric Co. v. Berg, 10 C. A. 200, 30 S. W. 454.

In an action for delay in delivering a telegram, copies of the telegram delivered to plaintiff are admissible as secondary evidence. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Thompson, 18 C. A. 279, 44 S. W. 402.

Loss of a patent from the republic of Texas being shown by affidavit, the grant may be proved by certified copy from the records of the county court. Baylor v. Tillebach, 20 C. A. 490, 49 S. W. 720.

Where original field notes are lost an identified copy thereof held admissible. Stewart v. Crosby (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 433.

Where two copies of a letter are made at the same time, and one is sent and the other retained, the one sent becomes the original and the other the copy. McDonald v. Hanks, 52 C. A. 140, 113 S. W. 604.

Generally, copies of copies are not admissible as secondary evidence of the contents of the original instruments. William M. Rice Institute v. Freeman (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 688.

33. — Sufficiency.—In action for the death of plaintiffs' decedent, evidence as to contents of policies on the life of the deceased for plaintiffs' benefit held inadmissible. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Johnson, 27 C. A. 420, 66 S. W. 72.

Evidence held to warrant a finding of the execution of a lost deed to defendant and to establish the contents thereof. Simpson Bank v. Smith, 52 C. A. 349, 114 S. W. 445.

Evidence held insufficient to prove the execution of a lost deed. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

34. — Records.—To establish a lost deed held that an improper record thereof was admissible. Jones' Estate v. Neal, 44 C. A. 412, 98 S. W. 417.

RULE 10. SECONDARY EVIDENCE OF THE CONTENTS OF A WRITING IS ADMISSIBLE WHEN THE PAPER IS IN THE HANDS OF THE OPPOSITE PARTY AND NOTICE TO PRODUCE IT HAS BEEN GIVEN

Possession by adverse party.—Facts held to authorize the admission of secondary evidence of a deed. Heintz v. O'Donnell, 17 C. A. 21, 42 S. W. 797.

A tenant held entitled to testify as to contents of letters written to his deceased landlord after notice to produce the same. Hazlewood v. Pennybacker (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 199.

Parol evidence of the contents of a written instrument is admissible, where opposite party has the only copy of the instrument in his possession, and fails to produce it after notification. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Robinett (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 263.

Where, on defendant's failure, on notice from plaintiff, to produce contracts, plaintiff proved them by secondary evidence, such evidence will not be stricken out on defendant's subsequently introducing them. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Leatherwood, 29 C. A. 507, 69 S. W. 119.

A shipper, under the facts, held entitled to show by secondary evidence the contents of a waybill. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Harris (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 71.

A certified copy of a deed of trust held admissible, where defendant, to whom the original had been executed and delivered, failed to produce it after notice, or to give any sufficient reason therefor. Kothman v. Faseler (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 390.

Refusal to strike out certain secondary evidence held not erroneous, in view of defendants' failure to produce the primary evidence after being notified so to do. Sheldon Canal Co. v. Miller, 40 C. A. 460, 90 S. W. 206.

Where a husband and wife executed an instrument designating a homestead, and failed, after being notified, to produce the original instrument of designation, a certified copy thereof was admissible in evidence. McGaughey v. American Nat. Bank, 41 C. A. 191, 92 S. W. 1003.

Secondary evidence of the contents of a writing held admissible. International Harvester Co. v. Campbell, 43 C. A. 421, 96 S. W. 93.

Secondary evidence held admissible to prove the contents of a written contract. Witherspoon v. Duncan (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 660.

A copy of a letter held admissible. Austin v. Rupe (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 547.

Proof as to possession or control of primary evidence.—An affidavit by a party stating that his adversary, the grantee, has possession of a deed, has been absent from the state for more than a year, still is absent and his whereabouts unknown to affiant; that he has had no opportunity of procuring the instrument; that it is in existence, but knows not where it is and cannot produce it, affords a sufficient predicate for the admission of secondary evidence as to its contents. Robertson v. Moorner, 25 T. 428.

It was shown that a copy of the black list (sought to be proved) had been in possession of an assistant superintendent of the defendant railway company; that said assistant had returned the paper to the general superintendent and notice to produce had been served upon defendant. Held, that the predicate was sufficient to admit secondary evidence of the contents of such paper or list. Behee v. Railway Co., 71 T. 424, 9 S. W. 449.

Evidence as to the contents of a letter was properly excluded, in the absence of proof that it was ever mailed to the plaintiff, where he denied its receipt. Robson v. Brown (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 83.

Notice to produce primary evidence—Necessity in general.—Suit was brought by plaintiff on a note in the ordinary form, alleged to have been given for a part of the purchase-money of land as evidenced by a bond for title. No notice was given to the defendant to produce the bond for title on the trial and it was not in evidence. Parol evidence of the sale of the land was inadmissible. Farmer v. Simpson, 6 T. 303.

In a suit for the recovery of personal property the defendant pleaded that he held it as agent of J. C. A witness testified that he had read a bill of sale purporting to be from J. C. to R. H., plaintiff's intestate, conveying to him the property sued for, but witness did not know the handwriting of J. C. B. E. and J. C. lived in the same house, and at the time had a dispute about a settlement. About two hours after this occurrence, B. E. came to his death by violence in the house of J. C., and when his death was discovered J. C. had absented himself, and had not been since seen in the country. The bill of sale mentioned had never been found. No notice was given to defendant to produce. Held, that evidence of the contents of the bill of sale was admissible. Cheatnam v. Riddle, 8 T. 162.

A suit was brought to recover possession of a written instrument in the possession of the defendant as administrator, or to recover the value of the property. There was a demand and refusal to return the instrument or account for the proceeds, before suit, but notice to produce it on the trial was not given. Parol evidence of the contents of the written instrument was not admissible. Muller v. Hoyt, 14 T. 49.

When a written instrument is in the hands of the adverse party, to lay the foundation for the introduction of parol evidence of its contents, notice must be given to him or his attorney to produce it. To this rule are exceptions: 1. Where the instrument to be produced and that to be proved are duplicate originals. 2. Where the instrument to be proved is itself a notice, such as the notice of the dishonor of a bill. 3. Where from the nature of the action or pleading the party has notice that his adversary intends to charge him with the possession of the instrument. Dean v. Border, 15 T. 298; Hamilton v. Rice, 15 T. 385; Reliance Lumber Co. v. W. U. T. Co., 58 T. 394, 44 Am. Rep. 620. See Muller v. Hoyt, 14 T. 49, supra.

In a suit against a telegraph company for damages resulting from alleged failure to deliver a telegraph message, parol evidence of the contents of the message is admissible without first giving the defendant notice to produce the written message. Reliance Lumber Co. v. W. U. T. Co., 58 T. 394, 44 Am. Rep. 620.

Before secondary evidence of the contents of letters addressed to the adverse party is admissible it is necessary that notice to produce has been given. Tinsley v. Penniman, 83 T. 54, 13 S. W. 718; McCormick H. M. Co. v. Millett (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 80.

Contents of a letter cannot be shown where no notice to produce is given, and absence of original is not accounted for. First Nat. Bank v. Oliver, 16 C. A. 428, 41 S. W. 414.

Notice to produce an instrument in writing in the hands of the opposite party is not necessary when the nature of the action requires its introduction in evidence. Battaglia v. Stahl (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 683.

When from the nature of the suit the defendant knows that the plaintiff will offer secondary evidence of contents of written instrument in his possession, he is bound to produce the original, without special notice so to do, if he is not willing for such secondary evidence to be so used. Ellis v. Sharp, 20 C. A. 482, 49 S. W. 409.

Defendant could not prove the contents of letters written by him to plaintiff, where it did not appear that proper notice to plaintiff to produce the originals had been given. Stevens v. Equitable Mfg. Co., 29 C. A. 168, 67 S. W. 1041.

Before a copy of proofs of loss can be admitted in evidence by the insured, a predicate must be laid by giving notice to insurer to produce the original. Underwriters' Fire Ass'n v. Henry (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 1072.

A letter-press copy of a letter held not admissible, without notice to the other party to whom it was addressed, to produce the original. King v. Cisco Compress Co., 35 C. A. 653, 81 S. W. 114.

Copies of letters cannot be read in evidence as matter of right without notice having been given before the trial to produce the originals. Higgins v. Mallock, Miller & Dycus (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 571.

Parol evidence as to the contents of a bill of lading held incompetent. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Fowler (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 732.

In an action based upon a deed, held, that secondary evidence thereof might be introduced without laying a foundation by giving notice to produce the original. Harlan v. Harlan (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 950.

— Description or identification of primary evidence.—A notice to produce papers on the trial of a case must describe the writing demanded. It should contain a plain and concise statement of what is called for. If it is sufficiently certain to avoid misleading the opposite party, it will be held good, though it be inartificially drawn. I. & G. N. R. Co. v. Donaldson, 2 App. C. C. § 241.

A notice to produce letters written by R. to B. and M. was insufficient to require the production of letters written by R. to M. Bryson & Hartgrove v. Boyce, 41 C. A. 415, 92 S. W. 820.

— Time of service.—Secondary evidence of the contents of papers is not admissible unless notice to the adverse party to produce the originals is given in time to enable him so to do. Ellis v. Sharp (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 670.

A notice to produce a document held insufficient to authorize parol evidence. Continental Fire Ass'n of Ft. Worth v. Bearden, 29 C. A. 569, 69 S. W. 982.

— Filing of suit as notice.—In an action for delay in delivering a message, secondary evidence of the message is admissible without notice having been given the company to produce the original. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Thompson, 18 C. A. 279, 44 S. W. 402.

Notice to adverse party to produce an instrument, the foundation of an action, held unnecessary in order to prove its contents by parol. Battaglia v. Stahl (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 683.

Secondary evidence of a contract sued on held admissible, where it was in defendant's possession, though he was given no notice to produce it. Ellis v. Sharp, 20 C. A. 482, 49 S. W. 409.

In an action against a county, parol evidence of the contents of a written claim filed with the commissioners' court held admissible, though defendant was not notified to produce such claim. Presidio County v. Clarke, 38 C. A. 320, 85 S. W. 475.

Where the foundation of an action is a deed, so that the adverse party knows that he will be charged with possession of the deed and that it will be required in evidence, notice to produce it is unnecessary before offering secondary evidence thereof; and hence, in an action against plaintiff's alleged husband merely for divorce and against him and his grantee to set aside a deed ignoring plaintiff's rights as wife in the land conveyed, the deed being the basis of the action, secondary evidence, consisting of the deed records in the county showing the deed and its contents, was admissible for all purposes of the suit, where the original was shown to be in defendant's possession. Harlan v. Harlan (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 950.

— Service on counsel or representatives.—Service of notice to produce upon attorney for secretary of a convention held to justify the introduction of secondary evidence, on his failure to produce papers referred to. Cranfill v. Hayden, 22 C. A. 656, 55 S. W. 805.

A sufficient predicate held laid for the admission in evidence of a copy of a letter. Jacksboro Stone Co. v. Fairbanks Co., 48 C. A. 639, 107 S. W. 567.

In an action by an alleged wife against her alleged husband and his grantee to quiet title to a half interest in land conveyed by the husband, where written notice to produce the original deed from the grantor to the husband was given defendants' attorney, and defendants failed to produce it or to offer any explanation for their failure, plaintiff, after testifying that the original deed had been delivered by her to the defendant husband, could testify that, while she and her alleged husband were living together as man and wife after their marriage, they bought from a certain person the land in question for a certain consideration, and that the grantor conveyed it to the husband. Harlan v. Harlan (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 950.

Under such circumstances, the grantor of the land in question to plaintiff's alleged husband could testify to the contents of the deed, and that he had released a vendor's lien therein; the release being shown him and identified. Id.

Character and degrees of secondary evidence.—See notes under Rule 9.

RULE 11. WHEN A WRITTEN INSTRUMENT IS LOST, DESTROYED OR MUTILATED, OR IS OUT OF REACH OF A SUBPŒNA DUCES TECUM, SECONDARY EVIDENCE IS ADMISSIBLE

Mutilation, destruction or loss of primary evidence.—By party offering secondary evidence.—Where canceled checks drawn by a husband on a deposit of his wife's separate funds cannot be found, the bank may show their payment by other evidence, in an action by the wife to charge the bank with a conversion thereof. Coleman v. First Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 93.

Writings in general.—Where an instrument has been mutilated or defaced by the unlawful act of a stranger, so that its identity is lost, the law regards it, so far as the rights of the parties are concerned, merely as an accidental destruction of primary evidence, compelling a resort to that which is secondary, and in such cases the mutilated portion may be admitted as secondary evidence of so much of the original. Wooten v. Dunlap, 20 T. 183.

Where a petition for the incorporation of a town was lost, parol evidence held admissible to prove its boundaries. Judd v. State, 25 C. A. 418, 62 S. W. 543.

In an action for injuries to a passenger traveling on a pass, parol proof of the provisions thereof held admissible on proof of its loss. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Lynch (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 160.

Evidence of translation based on copy of original held inadmissible where it did not appear that the original was lost. Hamilton v. State (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1117.

— Sealed instruments.—In an action involving title to land claimed by defendant by adverse possession by himself and grantor, it was proper to allow defendant to testify as to contents of lost deed, to show privity between defendant and grantor. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Bancroft (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 606.

In ejectment, secondary evidence held admissible on the issue of transfer of title. Lochridge v. Corbett, 31 C. A. 676, 73 S. W. 96.

Where the loss of an original deed was shown, parol evidence as to its execution and contents was admissible. Poittevent v. Scarborough (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 443.

A copy of a right of way deed to a railroad company held admissible to show that the place where plaintiff in crossing its right of way fence was injured was not in a street. Miller v. Freeman (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 302.

— Judicial papers.—Oral testimony held admissible to show what was done under execution when papers had been lost. Davis v. Beall (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 1036.

An alias execution being lost, it was not error to permit parol evidence of its contents. Smith v. Ridley, 30 C. A. 158, 70 S. W. 235.

When the report of commissioners to partition an estate has been lost, and is incapable of production, circumstantial evidence is admissible to prove its contents. Johnson v. Franklin (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 611.

Where pleadings in a suit are lost, parol evidence held competent to show what was in controversy. Latta v. Wiley (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 433.

In scire facias on a bail bond, secondary evidence of its contents held admissible under the circumstances. Day v. State, 51 Cr. R. 324, 101 S. W. 806.

Secondary evidence held admissible to show what issues were decided by a judgment pleaded as res judicata where the pleadings are lost. Robbins v. Hubbard (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 773.

Where an original order of sale under a foreclosure decree was lost, the entry in the execution docket showing the return on the order of sale held admissible. Anderson v. Casey-Swasey Co. (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 918.

Where it appears, in an action on a justice's judgment, that the citation and all the papers in the original action are lost, and that in the trial of such action plaintiff had adopted his citation as his pleadings, parol evidence is admissible to show what the citation contained and to identify the present defendant with the defendant in the justice's court. Easterwood v. Burnitt (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 934.

— Orders, warrants and negotiable instruments.—Motion to dismiss an action wherein a distress warrant was wrongfully sued out for want of jurisdiction held properly admitted in evidence in an action for damages therefor, though not sworn to. Kingsley v. Schmicker (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 331.

Evidence of the contents of a distress warrant wrongfully sued out and the list of property held properly admitted in an action therefor, where such warrant and list were shown to have been lost. Id.

Proof as to destruction or loss of and search for primary evidence—Method of proof.—The judgment in a suit having been reversed on the ground that secondary evidence of the contents of a written instrument was improperly admitted, the affidavit of its loss being defective, and the cause having been remanded for a new trial, the plaintiff was permitted to file an additional affidavit of loss. Bateman v. Bateman, 21 T. 432.

To authorize the introduction of secondary evidence of a lost instrument, it must be shown that notice to produce has been given where it is necessary, that there has been diligent search and inquiry made of the proper person and in the proper place, and the loss must be proved, if possible, by the person in whose custody it was at the time of the loss, if such person be living, and if dead, application should be made to his representatives, and search made among the documents of the deceased. The declarations merely as to loss of the person in whose custody it was at the time will not do; such custodian must be produced or his absence satisfactorily accounted for. Vandergriff v. Piercy, 59 T. 371. Citing Dunn v. Choate, 4 T. 14; Crayton v. Munger, 9 T. 285; Bateman v. Bateman, 16 T. 544; Butler v. Dunagan, 19 T. 559; Hooper v. Hall, 30 T. 154.

An affidavit of the loss of an instrument is not necessary in order to admit evidence of its contents. Smith v. Cavitt, 20 C. A. 558, 50 S. W. 167.

Evidence by a person not the owner or legal custodian held insufficient to lay the foundation for the introduction of secondary evidence as to writings. Pennybacker v. Hazlewood, 26 C. A. 183, 61 S. W. 153.

Weight and sufficiency in general.—Secondary evidence of the contents of an instrument is admissible where a witness testified that he and the last custodian thereof made a joint search for it among the latter's papers, and that it could not be found. Thompson v. Chaffee, 39 C. A. 567, 89 S. W. 285.

Foundation held insufficient to admit secondary evidence of contents of writing. Dyer v. McWhirter, 51 C. A. 200, 111 S. W. 1053.

Secondary evidence of the contents of the family record contained in a family Bible held admissible. Ragley-McWilliams Lumber Co. v. Hare (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 864.

Records.—An affidavit that the building in which a record was kept had been destroyed by fire; that the witness had been informed at the proper office that a great many of the records and nearly all of the office papers were missing, and that the clerk had told him that they had been burned, but no evidence of inquiry for the particular record or of its destruction was shown, was insufficient to authorize parol evidence of its contents. Bray v. Alken, 60 T. 688.

There being evidence indicating that certain ancient court records had been lost, evidence of a tradition that they were missing, and testimony of the clerk that he was told when elected that they were missing, is admissible. Pendleton v. Shaw, 18 C. A. 439, 44 S. W. 1002.

Evidence held to constitute a sufficient predicate for the introduction of secondary evidence in proof of a judgment. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. De Berry, 34 C. A. 180, 78 S. W. 736.

In an action against a telephone company for failure to notify plaintiff of a sick call, evidence held not to show such search for an original ticket record claimed to be lost as justified the admission of a copy thereof. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Owens (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 89.

Where the evidence showed that a Bible was the family Bible of a person and contained a family record, and that a party had tried to procure the Bible as evidence, and was unable to do so, secondary evidence of the contents of the family record was admissible. Ragley-McWilliams Lumber Co. v. Hare (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 864.

Judicial papers.—There being no entry on justice's docket of issuance of execution, secondary evidence thereof may be given, on an issue as to the dormancy of judgment, after diligent search among the papers. Corder v. Steiner (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 277.

Secondary evidence held inadmissible to prove contents of an abandoned pleading stated to have been mislaid in the absence of evidence of loss and proof of search. Smith v. Texas & N. O. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 528.

Books of account.—Parol evidence of the contents of books of account or papers is not admissible until the writings have been accounted for as lost after reasonable search was made to obtain them. Cobb v. Bryan (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 513.

Bonds.—Proof of diligent but unsuccessful search at bank for bond left with cashier held a sufficient predicate to authorize parol evidence. Hassard v. May (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 665.

Contracts and assignments.—The refusal to admit parol evidence of the contents of a lost contract held error. Collins v. Boyd (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 831.

Where a contract was traced to the possession of defendants' attorneys, and it was not shown that any search was made for it, or that it could not be produced, parol evidence held not admissible to show its contents. Abeel v. Levy (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 937.

Where a contract for the sale of land was made in duplicate, parol evidence thereof was inadmissible without an effort to account for the nonproduction of both duplicates. Bryson & Hartgrove v. Boyce, 41 C. A. 415, 92 S. W. 820.

In an action on a written contract, testimony of plaintiff and his attorneys showing that the original contract had been lost was sufficient predicate to authorize the admission of a copy in evidence. Fred W. Wolf Co. v. Galbraith (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 1100.

Letters and telegrams.—Proof of loss of letters held insufficient to warrant proof of their contents. Stevens v. Equitable Mfg. Co., 29 C. A. 168, 67 S. W. 1041.

Evidence held sufficient to authorize secondary evidence of the contents of letters. Price v. Oatman (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 258.

Where the writing of letters to third persons was a part of plaintiff's services, production of the originals was sufficiently excused to justify the admission of copies. Curtisinger v. McGown (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 303.

— Conveyances.—Search for and loss of a deed should be proven by the person in whose custody it was, or by his legal representative in case of his death. Dunn v. Choate, 4 T. 14; Bateman v. Bateman, 16 T. 541; Id., 21 T. 432; White v. Burney, 27 T. 50; Olive v. Bevil, 55 T. 423; Vandergriff v. Piercy, 59 T. 371; Lea v. Hogue, 1 App. C. C. § 607. See Harvey v. Edens, 69 T. 420, 6 S. W. 306; Shifflet v. Morelli, 68 T. 382, 4 S. W. 843.

A party claiming title to land through a lost deed testified that he saw it executed in 1858; searching for it in 1869, he found it among the papers of one who had been county clerk. He delivered the deed to another person to have it recorded, and afterwards was informed by him that it had been destroyed by fire. This person afterwards died and his papers came into witness' possession, who knew that it was not among the papers of the deceased party to whom he had intrusted it, and who reported its destruction by fire. Held, that the evidence of its former pre-existence and loss was sufficient to admit secondary evidence of its contents. Parks v. Caudle, 58 T. 216.

To justify the admission of secondary evidence of the execution and contents of a lost instrument, it must be proved that there has been diligent search and inquiry made of the proper persons, and in the proper places, for the lost instrument. The loss must be proved by the person in whose custody it was at the time of the loss (Southall v. Southall, 26 S. W. 150, 6 C. A. 694), if he should be living, and, if dead, application should be made to his representative, and search made among the papers of the deceased. Vandergriff v. Piercy, 59 T. 372; Bounds v. Little, 75 T. 316, 12 S. W. 1109; Hill v. Taylor, 77 T. 299, 14 S. W. 366; Trimble v. Edwards, 84 T. 497, 19 S. W. 772; Gayle v. Perryman, 24 S. W. 850, 6 C. A. 20; Baldwin v. Goldfrank, 26 S. W. 155, 9 C. A. 269; Id., 88 T. 249, 31 S. W. 1064; Howard v. Galbraith (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 689; Daniels v. Creekmore, 27 S. W. 148, 7 C. A. 573; Texas M. & I. Co. v. Arkell (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 816; Battaglea v. Thomas, 23 S. W. 335, 5 C. A. 563; Harvesting Machine Co. v. Millett (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 80; Olive v. Morgan, 28 S. W. 572, 8 C. A. 654; Cason v. Laney (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 420; Masterton v. Jordan (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 549; Harrison v. Hawley, 26 S. W. 765, 7 C. A. 308; Prior v. National Bank (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 84; Adkins v. Galbraith, 10 C. A. 175, 30 S. W. 291; Telegraph Co. v. Willford (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 700; Telegraph Co. v. Smith (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 216.

Evidence held sufficient to show that a deed was burned, and to warrant secondary evidence of its contents. Walker v. Pittman, 18 C. A. 519, 46 S. W. 117.

Loss of deed held sufficiently established to admit secondary evidence of its contents. Smith v. Cavitt, 20 C. A. 558, 50 S. W. 167.

An immaterial clerical variance between a certified copy of a deed and the affidavit of loss held not to preclude the introduction of the copy in evidence. Williams v. Cessna, 43 C. A. 315, 95 S. W. 1106.

In an action of trespass to try title, evidence held insufficient to authorize the admission of parol proof of the execution and contents of a certain deed. Tallaferro v. Rice, 47 C. A. 3, 103 S. W. 464.

To establish the execution of a lost deed by circumstances a predicate must be laid by showing a search for and an inability to find the deed. Punchard v. Masterson (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 826.

Evidence as to the loss of and search for a deed held sufficient as a predicate for the introduction of secondary evidence. Frugia v. Trueheart, 48 C. A. 513, 106 S. W. 736.

Certain facts held to lay a proper foundation for the introduction of secondary evidence of the execution of a deed. Rushing v. Lanier, 51 C. A. 278, 111 S. W. 1089.

Certain testimony held admissible to prove that a lost deed in a chain of title had been executed and conveyed the land. Kirby v. Blake, 53 C. A. 173, 115 S. W. 674.

In trespass to try title, evidence as to the loss of original deeds, and as to diligence in searching for them, held sufficient to warrant the introduction of the foreign record of such deeds. Freeman v. Wm. M. Rice Institute (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 629.

Certain facts held to excuse the necessity of making inquiry of a grantor in a deed as to its existence as preliminary to the introduction of secondary evidence. Id.

Secondary evidence of a lost deed may be received without a showing that the grantor is dead or that inquiry was made of him as to the existence of the deed, where the deed was executed 40 years before the trial, and there was evidence that a subsequent grantee recorded the deed in question at the same time he recorded other instruments affecting the title of the land, thus raising the inference that such grantee must have had possession of such deed, and hence that the grantor had parted with its possession. Id.

Failure to show by a recorder what he did with deeds now lost after recording them held not a prerequisite to admission of secondary evidence to show their execution and contents. William M. Rice Institute v. Freeman (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 688.

Primary evidence beyond the court's jurisdiction.—Schedules of charges filed by railroad company with interstate commerce commission may be proved by testimony of the secretary of the commission. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Dimmitt, 17 C. A. 255, 42 S. W. 583.

Where original documents were beyond the jurisdiction of the court, secondary evidence held admissible. St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. v. May, 53 C. A. 257, 115 S. W. 900.

Showing that account books are beyond the court's jurisdiction is a sufficient predicate for secondary evidence of their contents. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Gober (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 383.

Character and degrees of secondary evidence.—See notes under Rule 9.

Determination of question of admissibility of secondary evidence.—The quantity of preliminary proof is to be determined by the judge. White v. Barry, 27 T. 50; Jackson v. Deslonde, 1 U. C. 674. The question cannot be raised by an instruction to the jury. Robertson v. Coates, 1 C. A. 664, 20 S. W. 875.

Discretion of trial court in the admission of secondary evidence held subject to revision by appellate court. Dyer v. McWhirter, 51 C. A. 200, 111 S. W. 1053.

The sufficiency of the proof offered as a predicate for the admission of an alleged lost deed is within the judicial discretion of the trial court under all the circumstances of the particular case. McDonald v. Hanks, 52 C. A. 140, 113 S. W. 604.

Extent of review of discretion of trial court in excluding secondary evidence of a lost instrument stated. Freeman v. Wm. M. Rice Institute (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 629.

In trespass to try title, where plaintiffs claimed that the lost deed on which defendants relied was forged, evidence of the loss of the instrument held admissible only for the purpose of allowing secondary evidence. Rice v. Taliaferro (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 242.

RULE 12. THE BURDEN OF PROOF LIES ON THE PARTY ASSERTING A FACT ESSENTIAL TO HIS RIGHT OF ACTION OR DEFENSE AND PUT IN ISSUE BY THE PLEADINGS OF THE ADVERSE PARTY

I. Presumptions in general.

1. Inference from facts proved.
2. Official proceedings and acts.
3. Grounds.
4. Presumption on presumption.
5. Identity of persons and things.
6. Personal status and condition in general.
7. Nature and condition of property or other subject-matter.
8. Health and physical condition.
9. Love of life and avoidance of danger.
10. Innocence.
11. Character.
12. Mental capacity in general.
13. Sanity.
14. Intent.
15. Knowledge of law.
16. Knowledge of fact.
17. Continuance of fact or condition.
18. Consequences of acts.
19. Regularity of course of business or conduct of affairs.
20. Making, validity and genuineness of writings.
21. Mailing and delivery of mail matter.
22. Corporate acts and records.
23. Evidence withheld or falsified.
24. — Failure of party to testify or giving evasive answers.
25. — Failure to call witness.
26. — Suppression or spoliation of evidence.
27. Laws of other states.
28. Laws of foreign countries.
- 29, 30. Judicial proceedings — In general.
31. — Administration of estate.
32. — Courts in general.
33. — Jurisdiction.
34. — Judgment.
35. — Jury.
36. — Judicial sales.
37. Operation and effect.
38. Conflicting presumptions of fact.
39. Rebuttal of presumptions.
40. Legitimacy of child.
41. Negotiable instruments.
- 41½. Limitations.
42. Boundaries.
43. Compromise and settlement.
44. Contracts.
45. Damages.
46. Death.
47. Delivery of deed.
48. Descent of property.
49. Fraud.
50. Gifts.
51. Separation of husband and wife.
- 51½. Separate property.
52. Community property.
53. Insurance.
54. Liquor license.
55. Judicial sales.
56. Libelous statements.

57. Priority of lien.
58. Marriage.
59. Mortgages.
60. Negligence in general.
61. — Proximate cause.
62. — Contributory negligence.
63. — Carriage of goods.
64. — Telegraphs and telephones.
65. Notice.
- 65½. — Giving of notice of claim for damages.
66. Partnership.
67. Payment.
68. Existence of agency and extent of authority.
69. Ownership and possession.
70. Public lands.
71. Receivers.
72. Sales.
- 72½. Bona fide purchaser.
73. Validity of statutes.
74. Tenants in common.
75. Malice.
76. Making of will.

II. Presumptions on appeal or writ of error.

77. In general.
78. Burden of showing error.
79. Grounds and forms of action or defense.
80. Jurisdiction.
81. Venue.
82. Parties.
83. Process and appearance.
84. Pleading.
85. — Demurrer.
86. — Amendments.
87. — Striking out or dismissal.
88. Interlocutory proceedings.
89. Qualification and selection of jurors.
90. Conduct of trial.
91. Admissibility and reception of evidence.
92. Dismissal or direction of verdict.
93. Instructions.
94. Custody and conduct of jury.
95. Verdict.
96. Findings of court.
97. Order granting or refusing new trial.
98. Amount of recovery.
99. Judgment.
100. Orders and proceedings after judgment.
101. Costs.
102. Taking and perfecting appeal or other proceeding for review.
103. Making and contents of bill of exceptions, case or statement of facts.
104. Appeal from justice court.
105. Appeal from intermediate court.

III. Res ipsa loquitur.

106. The fact speaks for itself.

IV. Burden of proof in general.

107. Nature and scope in general.
108. Party asserting or denying existence of facts.
109. Proof of negative.
110. Extent of burden in general.
111. Failure to sustain burden.
112. Effect of plea of non est factum.
113. Accord and satisfaction.
114. Limitations and adverse possession.
115. Alteration of instruments.
116. Wrongful attachment.
117. Attorney and client.
118. Bailment.
119. Bills and notes.
120. Bona fide purchasers.
121. Boundaries.
122. Brokers.
123. Carriers.
124. Contracts in general.
125. Want or failure of consideration.
126. Corporations.
127. Damages.
128. Death and survivorship.
129. Dedication.
130. Descent.
131. Residence.
132. Election contest.
133. Condemnation of property.
134. Estoppel.
135. Writ of execution.
136. Administration of estate.
137. False imprisonment.
138. Forgery.
139. Fraud.
140. Statute of frauds.
141. Garnishment.
142. Guardian and ward.
143. Homestead.
- 143½. Community property.
144. Separate property.
145. Indemnity.
146. Emancipation of child.
147. Insane persons.
148. Insurance.
149. Intoxicating liquors.
150. Judgment or order.
151. Landlord and tenant.
152. Libel and slander.
153. Lost instruments.
154. Malicious prosecution.
155. Mandamus.
156. Marriage.
157. Master and servant in general.
158. Mechanics' liens.
159. Mortgages.
160. Ordinance.
161. Names.
162. Notice.
163. Nuisance.
164. Parties.
165. Partition.
166. Partnership.
167. Payment.

168. Agency and authority.
169. Principal and surety.
170. Title and ownership.
171. Public lands.
172. Receivers.
173. Reformation of instruments.
174. Release.
175. Religious societies.
176. Sales.
177. Sequestration.
178. Set-off and counterclaim.
179. Sheriffs and constables.
180. Statutes.
181. Taxes and taxation.
182. Torts in general.
183. Recovery of land in general.
184. Conversion of property.
185. Trusts and following trust property.
186. Usury.
187. Vendor and purchaser.
188. Venue.
189. Warehousemen.
190. Water courses and water supply.
191. Negligence—Injuries to person in general.
192. — Proximate cause of injury.
193. — Fellow servant.
194. — Assumption of risk.
195. — Contributory negligence.
196. — Theaters and shows.
197. — Delay and failure to deliver telegrams.
198. — Carriage of goods and live stock.
199. — Negligent fires.
200. — Killing or injuring live stock.
201. — Injuries to third persons by acts of servants and independent contractors.

V. Sufficiency of evidence to sustain burden of proof in first instance.

202. Prima facie case.

VI. General rules as to weight and sufficiency of evidence.

203. Weight and conclusiveness in general.
204. Number of witnesses.
205. Positive and negative evidence.
206. Circumstantial evidence.
207. Credibility of witnesses.
208. Evidence introduced by adverse party.
209. Evidence improperly admitted.
210. Uncontroverted evidence.
211. Degree of proof in general.
212. Sufficiency to support verdict or finding.
213. Preponderance of evidence.
214. Matters of defense and rebuttal.
215. Particular facts or issues.

I. Presumptions in General

1. Inferences from facts proved.—See Rule 19.

2. Official proceedings and acts.—See Rule 14.

While Act 1848 (Art. 7159) makes it the duty of the county clerk to note the date on which a brand is recorded, it will, after a lapse of 30 years, be presumed that a recorded brand which has no date mark was recorded on the date immediately preceding it. Dugat v. State (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 789.

3. Grounds.—Rule stated as to implication of damages naturally arising from tort complained of. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Pettit, 47 C. A. 354, 105 S. W. 42.

Presumptions must be based on some necessity, and the court will not go into the domain of presumptions when direct proof can be obtained. Skov v. Coffin (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 460.

4. Presumption on presumption.—A presumption cannot be based on a presumption. Tull v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 910; Moore v. Hanscom, 103 S. W. 665; Jones v. Ft. Worth & D. C. R. Co., 47 C. A. 596, 105 S. W. 1007; Ryle

v. Davidson (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 823; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Byrd, 124 S. W. 738; Tompkins v. Creighton-McShane Oil Co., 143 S. W. 306.

A presumption of fact cannot be made the basis of another presumption in arriving at a conclusion of fact. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. McIntosh & Carlisle (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 692.

An inference of the jury held a presumption on a presumption, and so not permissive. Vernon Cotton Oil Co. v. Jones (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 424.

A presumption of judicial regularity furnishes no basis for a further presumption that the disqualification of the trial judge, which was of record, had been removed before judgment. Burnham v. Hardy Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 182.

5. Identity of persons and things.—Identity does not appear from the following names: Conrad Furnash—Conrad Furinash. Shields v. Hunt, 45 T. 425. McKee—McRee. McRee v. Brown, 45 T. 503. Favers—Faver. Faver v. Robinson, 46 T. 204; Kern v. Reynolds (Civ. App.) 32 S. W. 711.

A certificate for land was issued to Joseph S. Guest. The plaintiff in an action of trespass to try title claimed under a transfer of the certificate signed by J. J. Guest. It was held that the identity of the parties was not shown by the names. Golden v. Patterson, 56 T. 628.

The strength of the presumption arising from similarity of names depends largely upon circumstances in evidence. McNeil v. O'Connor, 79 T. 227, 14 S. W. 1058.

Emerly and Emley are idem sonans. So held where interrogatories were filed and crossed to take depositions of Emerly when the commission was returned with depositions of Emley. Railway Co. v. Daniels, 1 C. A. 695, 20 S. W. 955. And see Bosley v. Pease (Civ. App.) 22 S. W. 516. "Asahel Savery," "Asal Savery," and "A Savary," held to be the same name. Smith v. Gillum, 80 T. 120, 15 S. W. 794; Chamblee v. Tarbox, 27 T. 144, 84 Am. Dec. 614; Robertson v. Du Bose, 76 T. 6, 13 S. W. 300. Albert Cebanis and Albert Cabaniss show identity. Lemberg v. Cabaniss, 75 T. 229, 12 S. W. 844. Forris and Farris are idem sonans. Lyne v. Sanford, 82 T. 53, 19 S. W. 847, 27 Am. St. Rep. 852; "Dillahunty," "Dillaunty," "Dillahinty," are within the rule of idem sonans and show one name. Dillahunty v. Davis, 74 T. 344, 12 S. W. 55. See Smith v. Gillum, 80 T. 120, 15 S. W. 794; Tevis v. Collier, 84 T. 638, 19 S. W. 801. "William Hieronymus," "William Hieronymas," are the same and not different names. Tevis v. Collier, 84 T. 638, 19 S. W. 801. Banks and Burks are not the same name. Collins v. Ball, 82 T. 259, 17 S. W. 614, 27 Am. St. Rep. 877. Burkhead and Bankhead are not synonymous. Id. The Southern Pacific Railroad Company and the Southern Pacific Company are not identical. Southern Pacific Co. v. Block Bros., 84 T. 21, 19 S. W. 300. Busse—Bosse. (Ogden v. Boose, 86 T. 336, 24 S. W. 798); Calvet—Calvert. (Day L. & C. Co. v. N. Y. & T. L. Co. [Civ. App.] 25 S. W. 1089), are idem sonans. The following are not presumed to be the same; McKinzie—McKezie. McKinzie v. Stafford, 27 S. W. 790, 3 C. A. 121. See Robertson v. Du Bose, 76 T. 1, 13 S. W. 300; McNeil v. O'Connor, 79 T. 223, 14 S. W. 1058; Smith v. Gillum, 80 T. 125, 15 S. W. 794; Yarbrough v. Johnson 12 C. A. 95, 34 S. W. 310.

Similarity of names of persons evidence of identity. Davidson v. Wallingford (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 827. Identity of persons is shown by the following names: "Lennoyn" and "Lernoynne," Smith v. Shinn, 53 T. 1; Lindsey—Lindsay—Lindsay, Roberts v. State, 2 App. 4; Marietta—Mary Etta, Goode v. State, 2 App. 520; William—Williams, Williams v. State, 5 App. 226; Whiteman—Whitman, Henry v. State, 7 App. 388; Chatham—Chatam, Roth v. State, 10 App. 27; Hiram K. Harley—H. Harley, McAfee v. State, 14 App. 668; F. A. Fater—F. R. Fater, Delphino v. State, 11 App. 30.

See, also, on the question of identity, W. U. Tel. Co. v. Drake, 14 C. A. 601, 38 S. W. 632; Brown v. Brown (Civ. App.) 36 S. W. 918; Grant v. Searcy (Civ. App.) 35 S. W. 861; Wallace v. Byers, 14 C. A. 574, 38 S. W. 228.

Jos. Marx and J. Marx held names of the same person. Whitener v. State, 38 Cr. R. 146, 41 S. W. 595.

The names "Morris" and "Maurice" are idem sonans. Thompson v. State (Cr. App.) 97 S. W. 316.

"Georgia Holland" and "Georgia Harland" held idem sonans. Ex parte Holland, 53 Cr. R. 301, 108 S. W. 1181.

"Boulden" is not idem sonans with "Bourland." McCormick v. Jester, 53 C. A. 306, 115 S. W. 278.

Identity of names is prima facie evidence of identity of persons. Ryle v. Davidson (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 823.

The difference between the names "Zan" and "Zann" held immaterial. Zan v. Clark, 53 C. A. 525, 117 S. W. 892.

"Rowland" and "Roland" are idem sonans. Deckard v. State, 57 Cr. R. 359, 123 S. W. 417.

Similarity of name is sufficient to establish identity only when identity is not put in issue by the evidence. Blunt v. Houston Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 248.

Where the name of the grantee of a patent was identical with that of the signer of a will who was named in probate proceedings, the identity of names will, in the absence of other evidence, sufficiently establish the fact that the testator was the grantee of the patent. McDoel v. Jordan (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1178.

6. Personal status and condition in general.—Plaintiff brought suit as the sole heir of J. C., to whom a patent for the land in controversy was issued in 1847. The evidence showed that J. C. died in 1848, leaving plaintiff his only child surviving. Held, that there was no presumption that J. C. was a married man at the time of the grant of the certificate for 640 acres of land to him, on which the patent was based. Brandon v. McNelly, 43 T. 76.

Where, after a long separation, husband and wife each marry another, it is presumed that they had been divorced. Nixon v. Wichita L. & C. Co., 84 T. 408, 19 S. W. 560.

In absence of proof to the contrary it will be presumed that a person was a citizen. State v. Zanco's Heirs, 18 C. A. 127, 44 S. W. 527.

A man and woman being of age at time of alleged marriage, it will be presumed they were competent to marry. Cuneo v. De Cuneo, 24 C. A. 436, 59 S. W. 284.

The fact that a man who had been married subsequently married another woman raised no presumption of a legal divorce. Hammond v. Hammond, 43 C. A. 234, 94 S. W. 1067.

7. Nature and condition of property or other subject-matter.—There is no presumption as to its employes that a railroad keeps its bridges in good repair. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Parker, 20 C. A. 470, 49 S. W. 717.

8. Health and physical condition.—See notes under Rule 19.

9. Love of life and avoidance of danger.—Contributory negligence cannot be presumed. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Pollock (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 843.

One struck by a train at a place long used as a footway by the public held to have presumptively looked and listened for the approach of trains. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Longino, 54 C. A. 87, 118 S. W. 198.

In the absence of satisfactory evidence as to the death of a person being accidental or suicidal, the presumption is in favor of death by accident. Mutual Life Ins. Co. v. Ford (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 769.

It is presumed that an insured's death was not by suicide. Grand Fraternity v. Green (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 442.

Contributory negligence will not be presumed, but must be proved. Jacksonville Ice & Electric Co. v. Moses (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 379.

10. Innocence.—A wife charged with marital infidelity is presumed to be innocent until the contrary is proved. Williams v. Williams, 67 T. 198, 2 S. W. 823.

The court, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, held required to assume that a person, having liquors in a local option territory, had them on hand for sale in compliance with the local option law, and sold them in compliance therewith. Davis v. Kuehn (Civ. App.) 119 S. W. 118.

In the absence of evidence to the contrary, the court will presume that one selling drinks in a local option territory sold only soft drinks, as testified to by him. Id.

In construing a contract, it must be presumed that the parties intended to obey the law. Foard County v. Sandifer, 105 T. 420, 151 S. W. 523.

11. Character.—Plaintiff in action for libel cannot prove good reputation in the first instance. Young v. Sheppard (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 62.

In libel, in absence of a plea attacking plaintiff's character, or of evidence of bad character, held, that good character is presumed. Houston Printing Co. v. Moulden, 15 C. A. 574, 41 S. W. 381.

In the absence of proof to the contrary, plaintiff in breach of marriage promise is presumed to have been a woman of good moral character. Huggins v. Carey (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 390.

12. Mental capacity in general.—The law will presume, in the absence of proof to the contrary, that a minor did not appreciate and assume the ordinary risks of his employment, unless they were so obvious that any one must be held to know them. Tucker v. National Loan & Investment Co., 35 C. A. 474, 80 S. W. 879.

13. Sanity.—Plaintiff's insanity at the time suit was brought for his benefit by a bank for the foreclosure of a vendor's lien would be presumed, in a suit by plaintiff to set aside a sale for inadequacy of price, to have resulted in deterring bidders. McLean v. Stith, 50 C. A. 323, 112 S. W. 355.

The presumption is that one signing a note is of sane mind, and the burden of proving the contrary is on the party alleging it. Barnes v. McCarthy (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 85.

14. Intent.—That a purchaser on credit knew of his insolvency at the time held evidence of fraudulent intent. Boaz v. Coulter Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 866.

No presumption of an intent to dedicate arises, unless it is clearly shown by the owner's acts and declarations or by a line of conduct, the only reasonable explanation of which is that a dedication was intended. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Cuneo, 47 C. A. 622, 108 S. W. 714.

In false imprisonment, malice held not necessary to be proved, where it is shown that imprisonment is unlawful. Gold v. Campbell, 54 C. A. 269, 117 S. W. 463.

Fraudulent intent of husband in inducing wife to institute action held not to be presumed, in action against her to collect allowance to guardians in the former action. Thompson v. Morrow (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 706.

Fraudulent intent of an owner in withdrawing property from a broker, to defeat the right to a commission, may be inferred from the surrounding facts. Anderson v. Crow (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1080.

There is no presumption of law that a mortgage of property is made with fraudulent intent if the mortgagor at the time is actually indebted to another. Hudson v. Childree (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1154.

15. Knowledge of law.—Every one is presumed to know the law. Day v. Snyder Brokerage & Storage Co. (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 716.

A member of a fraternal insurance organization is presumed to know its by-laws. Modern Woodmen of America v. Owens (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 858.

Members of a fraternal beneficiary society are conclusively presumed to have notice of the by-laws of the order. McWilliams v. Modern Woodmen of America (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 641.

A person will be presumed to know that the law requires tax records to be kept. Cartwright v. La Brie (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 725.

Though every one is presumed to know the law as soon as a law is passed, there is no such presumption as to instructions given by heads of departments, or by the governor or president as to regulations formulated for carrying a law into effect. State v. Palacios (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 229.

A court in construing a contract must presume that the parties knew the law. Foard County v. Sandifer, 105 T. 420, 151 S. W. 523.

A special statute granting a right of way to a railroad company through the public lands of the state is a public law, so as to be constructive notice to another railroad company of the extent of the rights of the grantee. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 850.

There is a pseudo-presumption that every one is presumed to know the law. Id.

16. Knowledge of fact.—An employe of a railroad company is presumed to know the rules governing his duties. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Gormley, 91 T. 393, 43 S. W. 877, 66 Am. St. Rep. 894.

Where the bill is silent as to when the mistake was discovered, it will be presumed to have been known since the deed was made. Mathews v. Benavides, 18 C. A. 475, 45 S. W. 31.

The presumption is that one falsely representing himself to be an experienced well digger knew the falsity thereof. Davis v. Driscoll, 22 C. A. 14, 54 S. W. 43.

A purchaser of county bonds on their face purporting to be for court-house purposes is presumed to have notice of the order of the commissioners' court by authority of which they were issued, and hence cannot be held an innocent purchaser. Noel Young Bond & Stock Co. v. Mitchell County, 21 C. A. 638, 54 S. W. 284.

Where a policy was made part of the petition in an action thereon, assured was conclusively presumed to have knowledge of a clause attached and mentioned in the body of the policy. Hartford Fire Ins. Co. v. Post, 25 C. A. 428, 62 S. W. 140.

A telegraph operator in New Orleans held not presumed in law to know the Sunday hours of the company at a town in Texas. Western Union Tel. Co. v. McConnico, 27 C. A. 610, 66 S. W. 592.

The rules of law with reference to the presumption arising from the recent possession of stolen property held to apply in a certain civil suit to recover possession of the property. Cotner v. McCullough (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 344.

That defendant's track was straight on either side of a crossing near which plaintiff's horses were killed held insufficient to raise a presumption that defendant's servants saw the horses in time to avoid injury. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Simpson, 41 C. A. 125, 91 S. W. 874.

It is presumed that a vendor knew the boundaries of the land which he sold. Gaffney v. Clark (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 606.

Where because an animal was unlawfully running at large the railroad owed no duty to look out for the animal, it could not be presumed from the fact that the track was straight where the animal was killed, and the view unobstructed, that the employés discovered the animal on the track. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Byrd (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 738.

An owner of land is presumed to know his own boundaries. West Lumber Co. v. Chessher (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 976.

Persons engaged in a particular trade are presumed to know the customs thereof; and contracts relating thereto are presumptively made with reference to such customs. Holder v. Swift (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 690.

17. Continuance of fact or condition.—Partnership once proved to exist is presumed to continue until dissolution is shown, and notice of such dissolution must be given to dealers and customers, which fact may be shown by direct or circumstantial evidence. Mann v. Clapp, 1 App. C. C. § 504.

A connecting carrier completing the transportation and delivering goods in a damaged condition is liable for the damages in the absence of evidence that he received them in the condition in which he delivered them, or without proof that some fact existed exonerating him from liability. Railway Co. v. Barnhart, 5 C. A. 601, 23 S. W. 801, 24 S. W. 331.

Admitted withdrawal value of stock at certain date will be presumed to be its value seven days later. Bexar Building & Loan Ass'n v. Seebe (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 875.

An owner of land held entitled to recover damages for nuisance, though the evidence showed that his vendor had a lien 10 years previously. Denison & P. S. Ry. Co. v. O'Maley, 18 C. A. 200, 45 S. W. 225.

A person once adjudged insane is presumed to continue in that condition. Herndon v. Vick, 18 C. A. 583, 45 S. W. 852.

Where an application of a general rule of equity is shown to have existed in a state at one time, it is presumed to be still in force until the contrary is shown. Babcock v. Marshall, 21 C. A. 145, 50 S. W. 728.

Existence of power of attorney to convey land presumed, where it had been exercised 20 years previously, and the grantor had made no objection, and had admitted its exercise in another deed. McCulloch County Land & Cattle Co. v. Whitefort, 21 C. A. 314, 50 S. W. 1042.

In the absence of proof of the value of property at the time of trial, its value will be presumed to be the same as when replevied. Monday v. Vance (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 346.

Where fruit is received by an initial carrier in good condition, and is delivered by a terminal carrier in a damaged condition, a prima facie case is made against the delivering carrier for damages. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Mazzie, 29 C. A. 295, 68 S. W. 56.

Evidence that, before an applicant for the purchase of school land moved onto it, he had it leased from the state for 10 years, is not conclusive that the lease was in force at the time he applied to purchase. Anderson v. Walker (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 1003.

It will be presumed that the facts which establish a homestead right continue until the contrary is shown. M. H. Lauchheimer & Sons v. Saunders, 97 T. 137, 76 S. W. 750.

Where plaintiff delivered baggage to a hotel when not a guest, an inference that the baggage was still in the hotel when plaintiff later became a guest held justified. Oriental Hotel Ass'n v. Faust, 38 C. A. 573, 86 S. W. 373.

Proof of residence of trustee under deed of trust in another state prior to maturity of note secured held to raise presumption of his continued residence there, so that appointment of substitute trustee was valid. Ward v. Forrester (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 751.

Where a person who has been employed under a written contract continues in the same service after the expiration of the contract by lapse of time, such continuation of service is presumed to be on the same terms as those embraced in the written contract. Houston Ice & Brewing Co. v. Nicolini (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 84.

The homestead character of property will be presumed to continue until its use as such has been discontinued permanently. H. P. Drought & Co. v. Stallworth, 45 C. A. 159, 100 S. W. 188.

The law does not presume that what is once known will always be present in the memory. Fire Ass'n of Philadelphia v. La Grange & Lockhart Compress Co., 50 C. A. 172, 109 S. W. 1134.

Proof that testatrix was afflicted with senile dementia in 1899 was proof that she was in no better condition in 1902. Mason v. Rodriguez, 53 C. A. 445, 115 S. W. 868.

Proof of a decision rendered by the supreme court of the territory of Oklahoma in 1894, determining the law on a particular subject, held not such conclusive proof of the law of the state of Oklahoma as to warrant a charge that the law of the state of Oklahoma was as laid down in such decision. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Parsley, 57 C. A. 8, 121 S. W. 226.

Where, in an action against connecting carriers for damage to cattle shipped, the evidence was conflicting whether the final carrier made another contract with the shipper at the connecting point, the doubt should be resolved in the shipper's favor, where the carrier did not introduce the alleged contract in evidence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Jones (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 737, judgment reversed 104 T. 92, 134 S. W. 328.

The presumption that damage to freight shipped over several connecting lines occurred on the last connecting line is for the shipper's convenience, and cannot be invoked by an initial or intermediate carrier for its own protection. Id.

Where, in a suit against connecting carriers for damage to stock, the undisputed evidence shows that they were in the exclusive control of defendants, and were received by the initial carrier in sound condition, and injured when delivered at their destination, and no proof was offered that they were injured by one of the excepted agencies, and without negligence, which would exonerate from liability under the common-law rule, negligence is presumed. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Franklin (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 1150.

If, in a suit against connecting carriers for damage to stock, their delivery in a sound or uninjured condition to the initial carrier is shown, and it further appears they were injured when delivered to consignee at destination, it establishes a prima facie case of negligence, and the burden then rests on defendants to show such injuries resulted from the inherent nature or propensity or "proper vice" of the animals, and without their neglect. Id.

That a bank was placed in charge of a receiver on November 7th is no proof of its condition on the preceding 24th of October. Milmo Nat. Bank v. Cobbs (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 151.

A final carrier which delivers goods in a damaged condition is prima facie liable therefor. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Kemendo (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 634.

Where, after a land commissioner had certified the center of a county, a new designation was made, it would be presumed, in the absence of any claim of fraud or mistake, that there had been such changes in the county lines as to materially change the center of the county. Parrish v. Ralls (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 933.

The presumption is that an injury to freight occurred on the line of the terminal carrier, in the absence of any showing on the subject. Martin v. Kansas City M. & O. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 615.

In trespass to try title to land which, in a previous action, had been adjudicated to be defendant's homestead, the presumption of continuity placed upon plaintiff the burden of proving that defendant had abandoned his homestead. Holt v. Abby (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 173.

A definite state of facts, shown to have once existed, is presumed to continue. Id.
It cannot be presumed as a matter of law that the houses in the built-up part of a town were the same in 1910 as in 1891, when the town was made the county seat. Ralls v. Parish (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1089.

The court cannot presume that, because a part of the plat of an existing town was within five miles of the center of the county, any part of the town itself, as it previously existed, was within that radius; that being a matter of proof. Id.

The presumption of negligence against the last carrier, who receives live stock in good condition and subsequently delivers it in a damaged condition can only be indulged in the absence of testimony accounting for the injury. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Scott & Robertson (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1113.

Where plaintiff in trespass to try title claimed as heir of his half-brothers, whose mother was shown to have been divorced, it could not be presumed that this status continued, and that she did not remarry and have other children. Steddum v. Kirby Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 273.

There is a presumption that a rule of foreign law, shown to exist, does not change. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

Sanity once shown to exist will be presumed to continue unless the contrary is established. Mitchell v. Inman (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 290.

The Carmack amendment to the interstate commerce act re-established the common-law rule that, when freight is delivered to a carrier in good condition and reaches its destination in bad condition, the presumption of negligence arises throwing the burden on the carrier of exonerating itself from liability. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Scott (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 294.

In an action by a seller of corn, evidence that it was sound when loaded only five days before delivery will, in the absence of evidence showing subsequent exposure to damaging conditions, support a verdict that it was sound at time of delivery. Levy v. Lupton (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 362.

The pleading and evidence showing a contract of through shipment of live stock, a delivery thereof in uninjured condition, and redelivery at destination with many thereof dead and others severely injured, and that no one accompanied the stock for the shipper, a presumption of negligence arises which becomes conclusive in the absence of any explanation. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Drahn (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 282.

18. Consequences of acts.—Colored voters held not presumed to have been improperly influenced by circular addressed to them appealing for their votes. Wallis v. Williams, 50 C. A. 623, 110 S. W. 785.

19. Regularity of course of business or conduct of affairs.—In matters of contract parties are presumed to have acted legally until the contrary is shown. Tucker v. Streetman, 38 T. 71.

Upon the sheriff executing a deed to the purchaser it will be presumed that payment was made. Blum v. Rogers, 71 T. 669, 9 S. W. 595.

A debt secured on land will be presumed to be for the sum named. Building & Loan Ass'n of Dakota v. Cunningham, 92 T. 155, 47 S. W. 714.

Where municipal obligations were contracted to meet current expenses, it would be presumed that current revenue was sufficient, if collected, to have liquidated same. City of Tyler v. L. L. Jester & Co., 97 T. 344, 78 S. W. 1058.

It is presumed that a train arrived at its usual time. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. McDavid, 103 T. 601, 132 S. W. 115.

Where train schedules were proven, it is presumed, in absence of contrary evidence, that trains were operated in compliance therewith. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Harris (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 876.

The supreme court will presume that a patriotic society, such as the Daughters of the Republic, will perform their legal duties. Conley v. Daughters of the Republic (Sup.) 157 S. W. 937.

20. Making, validity and genuineness of writings.—See notes under Rules 17, 18.

The draft sued on was as follows: St. Louis, February 2, 1876. At ninety days, pay to the order of N. O. Kerr, president, one hundred and seventy dollars, with exchange, value received, and charge to account of N. C. Bignall & Co. To Messrs. Hoffman & Garside, Dallas. "Hoffman & Garside" was written across the face. Held, that the draft was presumed to be drawn on funds, that the acceptor was primarily liable, and the drawer a mere guarantor or surety. Hoffman & Garside v. Bignall & Co., 1 App. C. C. § 703.

When credits are indorsed on a note, the presumption is that the indorsement was made by the holder or with his assent and that the credits are just. Holland v. Cook, 10 T. 244.

In the absence of proof to the contrary, the indorsement of a note, in presumption of law, is contemporaneous with the making of it, and the defendant must prove that it was indorsed after it was due, if he would set up defenses which he might make against the payee. Watson v. Flanagan, 14 T. 355; Linn v. Willis, 1 U. C. 158.

A power to sell land may be presumed from great lapse of time with circumstances supporting it. Watrous v. McGrew, 16 T. 513; Harrison v. McMurray, 71 T. 122, 8 S. W. 612.

The fact that a person was not able to read or write does not necessarily imply that a signature purporting to be his is a forgery. If he acknowledges it to be his, though actually written by another, it is his act and deed as truly as if he had signed it with his own hand. Willis v. Lewis, 28 T. 185.

Facts and circumstances independent of a deed, and contemporaneous with its execution, coupled with evidence of possession of the title papers by the grantee, and his acts and declarations in regard to the land conveyed by the deed, repeated through a series of years, afford presumptive evidence of the genuineness of the deed. Newby v. Haltaman, 43 T. 314.

The record of a deed properly acknowledged is a circumstance bearing upon the issue of its execution. Holmes v. Coryell, 53 T. 680; Railway Co. v. Stealey, 66 T. 468, 1 S. W. 186; Crain v. Huntington, 31 T. 614, 17 S. W. 243; Burleson v. Collins (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 688.

A power to convey lands under certain circumstances may be presumed after the lapse of thirty years. Harrison v. McMurray, 71 T. 122, 8 S. W. 612; Garner v. Lasker, 71 T. 431, 9 S. W. 332; Harris v. Nations, 79 T. 409, 15 S. W. 262.

On the production of an instrument, if it appears to have been altered, it is incumbent upon the party offering it in evidence to explain this appearance. If nothing appears to the contrary, the alteration will be presumed to be contemporaneous with the execution of the instrument. If ground of suspicion is apparent upon the face of the instrument, the law presumes nothing, but leaves the question of the time when, the person by whom, and the intent with which, the alteration was made as matters of fact to be found by the jury upon the evidence. Rodriguez v. Haynes, 76 T. 225, 13 S. W. 296; Warren v. Frederichs, 76 T. 647, 13 S. W. 643; Ammons v. Dwyer, 78 T. 639, 15 S. W. 1049; Pasture Co. v. Preston, 65 T. 448; McCelvey v. Cryer, 28 S. W. 691, 8 C. A. 437; Kennard v. Withrow (Civ. App.) 28 S. W. 226.

Interlineations in a deed are presumed to have been made before signing when the deed and its surroundings are free from suspicion. Collins v. Ball, 82 T. 259, 17 S. W. 614, 27 Am. St. Rep. 877.

Under the act of April 14, 1874, in so far as it requires that the original deed be recorded within four years, the existence of the original will be presumed, in absence of evidence showing its loss or destruction. Magee v. Merriman, 85 T. 105, 19 S. W. 1002.

Proof held sufficient to raise a presumption of genuineness of a deed without proof of possession under it. Williams v. Hardie (Civ. App.) 21 S. W. 267.

Presumption as to validity of a deed executed by the attorney in fact of an executor. Smith v. Swan, 22 S. W. 247, 2 C. A. 563.

The husband had been dead 15 years when the widow assumed to convey a land certificate, community property, in discharge of an obligation against the common estate. In the meantime she had taken out letters of administration upon the estate, it had been partitioned either in whole or in part, and the administration had been closed. Held: 1. That her power over the community as survivor had ceased. 2. Any presumption which should be indulged by reason of lapse of time as to her power to make a conveyance would be met by the counter presumption that she had fully administered the estate and had exhausted her power over the community property. 3. The deed of the widow did not affect the rights of the heirs of the husband. Corzine v. Williams, 85 T. 499, 22 S. W. 399.

In the absence of evidence the delivery of deed is presumed as of the date of the acknowledgment. Kent v. Cecil (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 715.

Where a transfer of land is proved to have been executed, it is presumed, after a lapse of 50 years, that the transfer was delivered. Timmony v. Burns (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 133.

Where a certificate of acknowledgment was defective in omitting to state that the party executed the deed, lapse of time would not raise the presumption in favor of the legality of the record of the instrument. Heintz v. O'Donnell, 17 C. A. 21, 42 S. W. 797.

The record of a deed is presumptive, but not conclusive, evidence of its delivery. Heintz v. O'Donnell, 17 C. A. 21, 42 S. W. 797; Belgarde v. Carter (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 964; Williams v. Neill, 152 S. W. 693.

To support an ancient deed of an administrator, the sale will be presumed to have been properly conducted. Pendleton v. Shaw, 18 C. A. 439, 44 S. W. 1002.

A conveyance by a surviving wife of community property will be presumed in payment of community debts after a lapse of some 30-odd years. Hasseldenz v. Dofflemyre (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 820.

Validity of power of attorney in ancient instruments such as location certificates will be presumed. Batcheller v. Besancon, 19 C. A. 137, 47 S. W. 296.

In view of the evidence, authority of an administrator to execute a deed on which plaintiff relied held not presumable from lapse of time. Perry v. Blakey (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 843.

Signing a power of attorney to convey lands in the owner's maiden name, though she was then a widow and known by her deceased husband's name, held not to raise the inference of forgery. Crimp v. Yokely, 20 C. A. 231, 48 S. W. 1116.

Insanity of heir held not to preclude presumption of execution of deed by ancestor. Herndon v. Burnett, 21 C. A. 25, 50 S. W. 581.

Relation of mutual friendship held not such a confidential relation as raises presumption of fraud, and imposes on a grantee the burden of showing a conveyance was free from fraud. Wells v. Houston, 23 C. A. 629, 57 S. W. 584.

Where conditions were written into a printed order given by defendant to plaintiff, in the absence of evidence as to when the writing was inserted, there is no presumption that the contract was signed as printed and afterwards changed by plaintiff. Whitaker v. Zehme (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 499.

In trespass to try title, in which defendant claimed through a chain of title in which a deed was lacking, evidence held insufficient to raise a presumption that such deed was ever executed. Texas Tram & Lumber Co. v. Gwin, 29 C. A. 1, 67 S. W. 892.

In suit to recover land that had been community property and sold by the surviving husband, held, that it would be presumed he had authority to sell. Cruse v. Barclay, 30 C. A. 211, 70 S. W. 358.

The power of persons to convey held inferable, after a lapse of 60 years, from recitals in a bond for title given by them that they were administrators. Lynch v. Pittman, 31 C. A. 553, 73 S. W. 862.

Where contract for compounding interest was valid in its terms, no presumptions of illegality could be indulged against it. Hillsboro Oil Co. v. Citizens' Nat. Bank, 32 C. A. 610, 75 S. W. 336.

Where community property was sold by the husband after the death of the wife, and no hostile claim was made for many years by the heirs of the wife, it would be presumed that the sale was made to pay community debts. Milby v. Hester (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 178.

Where a lost deed is shown to have been executed, it will be presumed, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, that it was executed with due formality, including the acknowledgment of a married woman. Laird v. Murray (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 730.

It will not be presumed that a lost deed contained an express reservation of a vendor's lien. Id.

In the absence of proof to the contrary, it must be presumed that the holder of a vendor's lien, who released a part of the land, was acquainted with the contents of the release. Watson v. Vansickle (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 1160.

Where a deed in person's chain of title to land was void because the authority of the agent of the owner, who executed it, had been revoked by the owner's death, the agent's authority to convey could not be presumed from mere lapse of time. Wall v. Lubbock, 52 C. A. 405, 118 S. W. 886.

A mutilated ballot will be presumed to have been mutilated after it was counted by the election officers. Savage v. Umphries (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 893.

The court, in a suit by the grantor to cancel a deed of land in trust for specified purposes, will not presume that the deed was executed in fraud of the creditors of the grantor, on the ground that he had no other property, or that he was insolvent, in the absence of allegations to that effect. Smith v. Olivarri (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 235.

A certificate filed in the general land office with the first survey, and which, though for a time withdrawn, was again filed with the field notes of the survey, and was found in the original file, came from the proper custody, and a reasonable presumption as to its genuineness arose. Jackson v. Nona Mills Co. (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 923.

Where the indorsers of two promissory notes surrendered them to one of the makers, who then sold them, in an action by such purchaser against the indorsers, the burden of proof was on the purchaser to show that such maker's name did not appear on the notes as maker at the time of his purchase, as the presumption is that the signatures of the apparent makers were attached at the date of the execution of the notes. Downing v. Neeley & Stephens (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1192.

Possession of a deed by the grantee raises a presumption of its due delivery to him, and the date of the deed is prima facie evidence of the time of its execution and delivery, and where a deed has been acknowledged, delivered, and recorded when offered in evidence, and there is no evidence as to the delivery on any particular date, it should be presumed to have been delivered at the time it bears date or at the date of its acknowledgment. Wadsworth v. Vinyard (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1171.

A recital in a deed executed by a trustee held not to create a presumption that the deed was executed in pursuance of power contained in a deed of trust not introduced in evidence. Skov v. Coffin (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 450.

To establish execution of a deed by presumption, held, that the proof need not exclude every other reasonable hypothesis than that the deed was executed. Surghenor v. Ducey (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 22.

After a lapse of more than 50 years and in the absence of any claim to the contrary, it will be presumed that a conveyance by a married woman was with the consent of her husband. Wm. Cameron & Co. v. Cuffie (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1024.

A notary's seal is presumed to have been attached to an acknowledgment of a deed. Rule v. Richards (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1073.

21. Mailing and delivery of mail matter.—In an action on an account, evidence of the proper mailing of a check by defendant to plaintiff held to present the issue of its receipt by plaintiff, and the latter's acceptance or negligent failure to collect or return it. Pink Front Bankrupt Store v. G. A. Mistrot & Co., 40 C. A. 375, 90 S. W. 75.

A letter held presumed to have been delivered. Opet v. Denzer, Goodhart & Schener (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 527; Smith v. F. W. Heitman Co., 44 C. A. 358, 93 S. W. 1074.

A letter will not be presumed to have been received by the addressee, unless it is shown that it was deposited in the post office properly addressed and stamped. Trezevant & Cochran v. R. H. Powell & Co. (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 234.

Evidence held to justify an inference that an instrument mailed at a post office reached the addressee before a specified time. Eatman v. Eatman (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 165.

22. Corporate acts and records.—The presumption is that notes and mortgages executed by corporations are valid. Brownwood Ice Co. v. York Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 37 S. W. 339.

Signature of president of a corporation to an assignment of a chose in action, and attestation by secretary, held prima facie evidence that the assignment was authorized by the corporation. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Davis, 93 T. 378, 54 S. W. 381.

Acts of a corporation's officers, showing its construction of a doubtful contract, will be presumed to have been done by the corporation's authority; and hence it cannot subsequently claim that the powers assumed by such officers were unlawful. Southern Cotton-Oil Co. v. Wallace (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 638.

Independent of proof, it is presumed that congregations of Baptist churches conduct themselves in an orderly and decent manner and according to the rules, customs, and usages of deliberative bodies. Gipson v. Morris, 36 C. A. 593, 83 S. W. 226.

In an action on a note given for stock in a corporation, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, the presumption would be that the affidavit to procure the corporate charter was true in its statement of facts. Cherry v. First Texas Chemical Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 81.

Where the unauthorized act of an agent of a corporation is beneficial to it, a presumption of ratification by the corporation arises from slight circumstances. Knowles v. Northern Texas Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 232.

A suit by a corporation sanctioned by its president and other officers will be presumed to have been authorized by the corporation. Conley v. Daughters of the Republic of Texas (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 877.

23. Evidence withheld or falsified.—When the evidence is conflicting, the failure of a party to produce evidence known to be in his possession, to explain or rebut circumstances of suspicion, or which is cumulative to that already given, will raise a presumption against him. Suit was brought against husband and wife for goods contracted for by the wife and sold and delivered to her as necessaries. After the death of the husband, the wife answered for herself, denying the purchase, etc., and as administratrix answered by general denial and plea of limitation. The plaintiff was required to produce his original book of entries on the trial, which he refused to do, and proved his account by his son, who had been his clerk. Judgment was rendered in favor of the defendant, and the supreme court, in affirming the judgment, say: "When the evidence was so conflicting, and there was so much evidence going to prove that the credit was given exclusively to the husband, the non-production of the books in which the goods were charged can but be regarded as a circumstance unfavorable to the plaintiff; one which had, and was entitled to have, its weight with the jury in forming their conclusion as to the fact." Bailey v. Hicks, 16 T. 222.

In a prosecution for selling spirituous liquors without a license, the state introduced circumstantial evidence from which it might be inferred that the defendant was interested in the establishment at which it was sold. The court say that "the force of testimony on the mind is increased by the failure to rebut it, where, from the nature of the circumstances, its falsity can be easily shown, if it be false." Needham v. State, 19 T. 332.

Admitting subpoena for witness, with order to produce books, to raise presumption against the parties for failure to appear, held error. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Farmer (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 805.

Failure to produce writing raises no unfavorable presumption in absence of notice requiring its production. Sullivan v. Cranz, 21 C. A. 498, 52 S. W. 272.

Where plaintiff, in an action for injuries, refuses to submit to an examination by physicians, such fact is proper for the jury, as bearing on the credibility and sufficiency of the testimony on which he seeks to recover. Austin & N. W. R. Co. v. Cluck, 97 T. 172, 77 S. W. 403, 64 L. R. A. 494, 104 Am. St. Rep. 863, 1 Ann. Cas. 261.

Where, in an action for injuries to an infant, the father refused to permit physicians to examine it, evidence of such refusal was admissible on the issue of the extent of the injuries. Houston Electric Co. v. Lawson, 37 C. A. 193, 85 S. W. 459.

In an action for injuries, defendant held entitled to prove that plaintiff had refused to submit to an examination before trial, and ask her as a witness if she was then willing to submit to such an examination. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Booth (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 128.

Testimony that defendant was in the city during trial, but made no appearance in courthouse, and plaintiff could not serve subpoena on him, held admissible. Walker v. Dickey, 44 C. A. 110, 93 S. W. 658.

Where the evidence is closely balanced, the failure of the party who has the means of making it certain to produce the evidence may be considered as a potent circumstance against him. Pullman Co. v. Cox, 56 C. A. 327, 120 S. W. 1058.

A telephone company seeking to enjoin an ordinance fixing telephone rates, having given no evidence of want of notice of the election at which it was passed under the initiative and referendum, held presumed to have had it. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. City of Dallas (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 80.

Failure to produce accessible proof held to warrant an adverse inference. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Day, 104 T. 237, 136 S. W. 435, 34 L. R. A. (N. S.) 111.

24. — Failure of party to testify or giving evasive answers.—Failure of guardian to disclose transaction with which he was familiar held not circumstance against him, in action by him of trespass to try title, as he is not party in interest. Muckelroy v. House, 21 C. A. 673, 52 S. W. 1038.

Where, in an action against a sleeping car company for lost baggage, there is no testimony as to value other than that of plaintiff, and the court finds about one-third of his estimate, the finding should not be set aside on objection, first taken on appeal, to the admissibility of part of plaintiff's testimony. Pullman Palace Car Co. v. Arents, 28 C. A. 71, 66 S. W. 329.

Interrogatories propounded to a party and which he refused to answer must be taken as confessed, in the absence of reasons excusing such failure. Locust v. Randle, 46 C. A. 544, 102 S. W. 946.

25. — Failure to call witness.—When the controversy was as to the ownership and identity of an animal purchased by defendant from a person residing in the county, the unexplained omission of the defendant to call his vendor as a witness was a circumstance subject to comment, and which admitted of an inference unfavorable to him. Gray v. Burk, 19 T. 228.

Where plaintiff testified that defendant's foreman made a certain statement in the presence of a witness, which the foreman denied, plaintiff's failure to call such witness held to weaken the probative force of his testimony. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Walker, 38 C. A. 76, 85 S. W. 28.

No presumption can be drawn from the failure of either party to question a witness who had moved from the state. Reynolds v. International & G. N. Ry. Co., 38 C. A. 273, 85 S. W. 323.

In an action for injuries to a passenger, proof of the failure of plaintiff to call certain persons as witnesses held improperly excluded. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Harrington, 44 C. A. 386, 98 S. W. 653.

26. — Suppression or spoliation of evidence.—The failure to produce certain evidence held to create a presumption that the party would not have been benefited by it. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Young, 45 C. A. 430, 100 S. W. 993.

27. Laws of other states.—In the absence of proof the courts of Texas will presume a law of another state to be the same as that of this state. Crosby v. Houston, 1 T. 232; Armendiaz v. Serna, 40 T. 291; James v. James, 81 T. 381, 16 S. W. 1087; Tempel v. Dodge, 89 T. 69, 32 S. W. 514, 33 S. W. 222; Silliman v. Thornton, 10 C. A. 303, 30 S. W. 700.

A foreign law must be proved as a fact, and in the absence of proof the presumption is that it is the same as in Texas. Franks v. Hancock, 1 U. C. 554.

The laws of a sister state will be presumed to be similar to the law of the forum unless the contrary is shown. Paul v. Chenault (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 682; Burgess v. Western Union Tel. Co., 92 T. 125, 46 S. W. 794, 71 Am. St. Rep. 833; Blethen v. Bonner (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 571; Southern Pac. Co. v. D'Arcais, 27 C. A. 57, 64 S. W. 813; National Bank of Commerce v. Kenney, 98 T. 293, 83 S. W. 368; White v. Richeson (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 202; Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Curtis Bros. & Davidson, 44 C. A. 477, 99 S. W. 566; Green v. Hewett, 54 C. A. 534, 118 S. W. 170; Kin Kaid v. Lee (Civ. App.) 119 S. W. 342; Same v. Buck (Civ. App.) 119 S. W. 345; Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Smythe, 55 C. A. 557, 119 S. W. 892; Wingo v. Rudder (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1073; Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Parsley, 57 C. A. 8, 121 S. W. 226; Swift v. Kelly (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 901; Pullman Co. v. Custer, 140 S. W. 847; Houston & T. R. Co. v. Fife, 147 S. W. 1181; Washington Life Ins. Co. v. Lovejoy, 149 S. W. 398.

Where a bill of exception fails to show that a statute book of another state admitted in evidence was not published by authority, the presumption will be indulged that it was. Blethen v. Bonner (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 571.

Where a husband seeks to enforce property rights against his wife under the law of another state, the courts of Texas will, without proof as to the law of such other state, apply the law as it prevails in Texas. Blethen v. Bonner, 93 T. 141, 53 S. W. 1016.

Law of sister state governing assignments of notes presumed, in absence of proof, to be the same as that of Texas. Ft. Dearborn Nat. Bank v. Berrott, 23 C. A. 662, 57 S. W. 340.

In a suit against a railroad company for injury to goods in transit, the contract of carriage having been made in California, the laws of such state will be presumed to forbid a carrier limiting its common-law liability for loss resulting from its negligence, in the absence of any proof as to the California statutes. Southern Pac. Co. v. Anderson, 26 C. A. 518, 63 S. W. 1023.

Where defendant in an action for debt pleaded a judgment obtained in another state against him as garnishee for the same debt, the statutes of such state relating to garnishment proceedings and exemptions not being shown, it will be presumed that they are the same as in this state. Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. v. Gray (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 85.

On an issue as to whether lands in Arkansas had been deeded absolutely, or whether the conveyance was intended to create a trust, it was to be presumed that the law of Arkansas was the same as that of Texas. Boyd v. Boyd, 34 C. A. 57, 78 S. W. 39.

When community property, located in Oklahoma, is in controversy in Missouri, the law with reference to community property will be presumed to be the same in the territory as in the state, in the absence of evidence to the contrary. Ex parte Latham, 47 Cr. R. 208, 82 S. W. 1046.

Where a statement of facts was agreed to which omitted the laws of another state, introduced in evidence, it would be presumed on appeal that such laws were such as to support the judgment. National Bank of Commerce v. Kenney, 98 T. 293, 83 S. W. 368.

It will be presumed that the laws of Missouri are the same as those of Texas, and that a contract illegal in Texas is illegal in Missouri. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. J. W. Burgess Co. (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 189.

In the absence of evidence of the construction the court of a sister state has placed on the common-law doctrine of fellow servants, it is presumed that the doctrine receives the same construction in the sister state that is placed on it by the courts of Texas. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Wise (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 465.

Under a rule stated, in an action against a railway company for injury to a fireman caused in another state, an instruction respecting the laws of that state held properly refused. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Mills, 49 C. A. 349, 108 S. W. 480.

It will be presumed that the law as to the fellow-servant doctrine is the same where the injury occurs as it is where suit is brought. El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Smith, 50 C. A. 10, 108 S. W. 988.

In an action for injuries to an employé in another state, in the absence of any showing that the law of such other state is different from the law of the forum, the latter will be applied. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Pickens (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 1133.

From the known powers of appellate courts and pursuant to statute, the supreme court will presume that the supreme court of Louisiana is a court of record, and hence has a seal. Houston Oil Co. v. Kimball, 103 T. 94, 122 S. W. 533.

In the absence of evidence, it will be presumed, in construing a statute of another state relating to limitation for the bringing of actions, that the statutory period is the same as that of the state where the action is brought. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Harriman Bros. (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 932.

The effect of a judgment under the laws of another state is presumed to be the same as under the laws of Texas. Southwestern Surety Ins. Co. v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 816.

28. Laws of foreign countries.—An exception in an action in Texas to a counterclaim arising in Mexico, on the ground that the Mexican laws on the subject on which the counterclaim was based were so dissimilar to the Texas laws that the court could not entertain jurisdiction, overruled. Mexican Cent. Ry. Co. v. Olmstead (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 267.

In absence of allegations of proof showing the laws of Mexico, the rights of the parties must be determined by the laws of Texas, though the subject-matter of the action be situated in Mexico. Combest v. Glenn (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 112.

In absence of a contrary showing, it will be presumed that the laws of the republic of Mexico are the same as those of Texas. Id.

29, 30. Judicial proceedings—in general.—Independent of recitals in deed the presumption exists that the court acted regularly. Withers v. Patterson, 27 T. 491, 86 Am. Dec. 643; Davis v. Touchstone, 45 T. 496; Hurley v. Barnard, 48 T. 87; Perry v. Blakey, 23 S. W. 804, 5 C. A. 331; Harris v. Shafer (Civ. App.) 21 S. W. 110.

An instrument conveying land of minors, signed by one representing himself to be their guardian, is inoperative without the production of orders of a court of competent jurisdiction in the premises, although it contains recitals of the authority of the guardian. Courts will not presume the existence of the authority to act in such cases in the absence of all proof of the existence of the power and its loss or destruction, even after the lapse of thirty years. Terrell v. Martin, 64 T. 121; Tucker v. Murphy, 66 T. 355, 1 S. W. 76; White v. Jones, 67 T. 640, 4 S. W. 161; House v. Brent, 69 T. 27, 7 S. W. 65.

The presumption will be indulged that the wife and children were properly made parties plaintiff to a suit instituted during the life of a deceased husband and father to recover damages for an injury inflicted on the wife, when the cause of action survives. Fordyce v. Dixon, 70 T. 694, 8 S. W. 504.

Presumption, in action against indorser of note, that one voluntarily appearing after indorser's death was a duly authorized administrator. Williams v. Planters' & Mechanics' Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 617.

If nothing appears to the contrary it is presumed that the parties appeared at the time required by the statute, that is, at the first term and made up their issues, and that the trial was properly continued. Chappell v. Ferrell (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 1072.

Where the pleadings in a case commenced in 1900 showed that a ward was 14 years old in 1886, when a guardian was appointed for him for the sole purpose of selling realty, it was error to hold that the guardianship had not been closed, though no record of such termination appeared. Lynch v. Munson (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 140.

Where records in foreclosure suit were destroyed by fire after 40 years acquiescence held, that every inference will be indulged in favor of the validity and regularity of the proceedings. Gallup v. Flood, 46 C. A. 644, 103 S. W. 426.

It will be presumed that the construction placed on the common law by the supreme court of a territory is the same as that of the supreme court of the United States. El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Smith, 50 C. A. 10, 108 S. W. 988.

The court in a suit to enjoin the execution of a justice's judgment will presume that the plea in abatement alleging the right of defendant to be sued in another county was properly overruled. Coca Cola Co. v. Allison, 52 C. A. 54, 113 S. W. 308.

The court will not presume that a rule of construction adopted in the territory of Oklahoma by its territorial supreme court extended over and is made applicable after the admission of Oklahoma into the Union to a part of the state never a part of the territory. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Parsley, 57 C. A. 8, 121 S. W. 226.

In an action on a note against the principal and sureties, held, that it must be presumed, in absence of a contrary showing that the principal was solvent, a resident of the state, and within reach of process. Hume v. Perry (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 594.

31. — Administration of estate.—Where husband and wife died about the same time, it not appearing which died first, and administration was taken out on the estate of the husband and land was sold for the payment of debts, in absence of proof to the contrary it was presumed that the debts were community debts. Soye v. McCallister, 13 T. 80, 67 Am. Dec. 689. But no such presumption existed when the wife died in 1852, and the husband died nearly two years after, especially as it was shown that the decedents were economical and prompt in the payment of debts. Moody v. Butler, 63 T. 210.

When one has acted as executor, and was recognized and treated as such by the court which could rightfully exercise jurisdiction, the mere fact that the records of the court do not affirmatively show that he has given bond will not avoid his actions as such, or those of the court, or render them subject to collateral attack. Moody v. Butler, 63 T. 210.

Ten years after the death of the testator his independent executors conveyed land, reciting that the sale was made for the payment of the debts of the testator. Held, that in the face of the recitals there is no presumption against the existence of debts. McDonald v. Hamblen, 78 T. 628, 14 S. W. 1042.

In a collateral proceeding it will be presumed that one acting as administrator had executed a bond. Saul v. Frame, 22 S. W. 984, 3 C. A. 596.

Under a petition to subject property in the hands of heirs and devisees to the payment of decedent's debts, it was presumed that defendants did not receive the estate until the close of the administration. Blinn v. McDonald, 92 T. 604, 46 S. W. 787.

Where no order of probate court appears of record for the sale of land, it will be presumed from the order of confirmation that it was legally made. Arnold v. Hodge, 20 C. A. 211, 49 S. W. 714.

Where land was conveyed to a grantee, described as executor of an estate, and pursuant to order of the probate court he sold the land as property of the estate, it will be presumed that the conveyance was for the benefit of the estate, and that no title or interest in the land descended to the executor's heirs. Coleman v. Florey (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 412.

Lapse of time raises no presumption that the estate of a decedent has been closed. Kosminsky v. Estes, 27 C. A. 69, 65 S. W. 1108.

An order directing an administrator's sale of realty cannot be presumed where there was no confirmation of the sale nor anything indicating the passing of an order of sale. Cruise v. O'Gwin, 43 C. A. 48, 106 S. W. 757.

Presumption in favor of judgment admitting to probate will of minor that court made finding as to jurisdiction of proceedings for removal of disabilities stated. Buckley v. Herder (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 703.

The court held required to presume, as against a collateral attack, that the administration of the estate of a decedent was open at the time of the appointment of an administrator de bonis non. Stephenson v. Wiess (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 287.

Proceedings and instruments in an administration proceeding in probate court, certified to by the clerk of probate court, are presumed to have been copied from the records of the probate court, although the certificate did not in terms show that they were copied from the records, where it is shown that they could only have been properly in such records. Conoway v. Morrow (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 344.

32. — Courts in general.—From the known powers of appellate courts and pursuant to statute, the supreme court will presume that the supreme court of Louisiana is a court of record, and hence has a seal. Houston Oil Co. of Texas v. Kimball, 103 T. 94, 122 S. W. 533.

33. — Jurisdiction.—Probate courts are courts of general jurisdiction over the estates of deceased persons, and all presumptions are in favor of the regularity of their proceedings. Graham v. Hawkins, 1 U. C. 514.

Whether the jurisdiction of a court be general or special, it cannot be made to depend upon the character of the process through which it acquires power over the person or thing to be affected by its final adjudication. The same presumption must be indulged in favor of jurisdiction whether service be had personally or by publication. Stewart v. Anderson, 70 T. 588, 8 S. W. 295.

A presumption of jurisdiction held to obtain. Clark v. Groce, 16 C. A. 453, 41 S. W. 668.

Where a motion to reinstate a cause after dismissal at a former term was agreed to, and the court acted on facts not clearly appearing, it will be assumed that it acted within its power. Logan v. Robertson (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 395.

As against purchasers pendente lite, in the absence of showing of fraud or collusion, it is presumed that the court ascertained all facts necessary to its jurisdiction. Latta v. Wiley (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 433.

Certain recitals in proceedings in a cause held insufficient to justify the presumption that a nonresident defendant had submitted to the jurisdiction of the court by appearance. Humphrey v. Beaumont Irrigating Co., 41 C. A. 308, 93 S. W. 180.

In the absence of anything to show what was pleaded in an action in justice's court, it will be presumed in a collateral action that proper allegations were made to give the court jurisdiction. Slaughter v. American Baptist Publication Society (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 224.

34. — Judgment.—A foreign judgment is held to have the same legal effect as if rendered here, in the absence of evidence showing the contrary. James v. James, 81 T. 374, 16 S. W. 1087.

Presumption is that judgment of foreign court was within its jurisdiction. T. & H. Smith & Co. v. Taber, 16 C. A. 154, 40 S. W. 156.

Justification by a constable for the seizure of property under an execution against a guarantor—presumptions in support of the justice's judgment. Parlin & Orendorff Co. v. Cantrell (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 415.

The presumption arises that a judgment was rendered after the court ascertained it had jurisdiction by service of a citation. Woolley v. Sullivan, 92 T. 28, 46 S. W. 629.

Execution sale under a judgment reviving a former judgment, entered at the same term as a previous void judgment in same action, is valid, as said void judgment is presumed to have been set aside. Bludworth v. Poole, 21 C. A. 551, 53 S. W. 717.

In trespass to try title, a judgment under which defendants claimed title held to be presumed regular as to the term of court at which it was rendered, process, time of appearance, trial, and rendition. Smith v. Ridley, 30 C. A. 158, 70 S. W. 235.

In support of a judgment against indorser of note after maturity, in consideration of its extension, it will be presumed that suit was not brought until ample time had been given. Hollimon v. Karger, 30 C. A. 553, 71 S. W. 299.

Though the return of service indorsed on a justice's summons does not show that the person making the service had not authority to make it, the presumption is in favor of the judgment. Foust v. Warren (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 404.

In suit to set aside a justice's judgment held, that all presumptions were in favor of the justice's jurisdiction. Warren v. Foust, 36 C. A. 59, 81 S. W. 323.

It will be presumed, in aid of a judgment granting more than the petition prayed for, that an amendment to the petition praying for the relief granted was filed. Campbell v. Upson (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 358.

To sustain a judgment against a dead person it will be presumed that the heirs of the deceased were in court at the trial. Id.

From recitals in a judgment it would be presumed that defendants appeared at the trial. Id.

Where a judgment warrants a writ of execution it will not be presumed that execution will be levied on property not subject to the debt. Hartz v. Hausser (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 63.

A presumption of service of citation on a nonresident defendant, arising from a recital in a judgment, held not to authorize a presumption that such citation was served prior to a conveyance by such defendant pendente lite. Humphrey v. Beaumont Irrigating Co., 41 C. A. 308, 93 S. W. 180.

Where a citation served by publication was insufficient, but the judgment recited service, it will be presumed that another citation had been issued and duly served. Id.

On collateral attack, it will be presumed, in aid of a judgment, that some disposition was made of a party not mentioned in the judgment prior to its rendition. Dunn v. Taylor, 42 C. A. 241, 94 S. W. 347.

The presumption prevails that execution has been issued on a judgment under which garnishment is applied for, and that the judgment is not dormant. Baze v. Island City Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 460.

The presumptions in support of a judgment appointing a guardian on a collateral attack on such judgment stated. Johnson v. Grace (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 1064.

Where, on the face of the proceedings, the only defense available to an action for the foreclosure of a trust deed was the statute of limitations, it will be presumed that a verdict directed without reason assigned therefor, and the judgment rendered thereon, were merely intended to adjudicate the question of limitation. Bandy v. Cates, 44 C. A. 33, 97 S. W. 710.

On collateral attack on a foreclosure decree against the mortgagor's administrator, it would be presumed that the administrator was properly served as prayed, though the decree contained no recitals of service. Flack v. Braman, 45 C. A. 473, 101 S. W. 537.

Under an execution levied on personalty under a judgment foreclosing a lien on other personalty held it must be presumed that the property covered by the judgment was first subjected to its payment. Hubert v. Hubert (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 948.

Where the record of the county court does not negative the existence of facts authorizing the court to make an order, the law presumes, as against a collateral attack, that such facts were established. Moore v. Hanscom, 101 T. 293, 106 S. W. 876.

A judgment is presumed to be correct on collateral attack if the court had jurisdiction of the subject-matter. Williams v. Steele, 101 T. 382, 108 S. W. 155.

Plaintiff held required to show from the record that a tax foreclosure judgment is void to overcome its effect as a bar to plaintiff's right to recover in trespass to try title. Young v. Jackson, 50 C. A. 351, 110 S. W. 74.

The act of 1889 (Acts 1889, p. 152, c. 128), creating the fourteenth and forty-fourth judicial district courts of Dallas county, gave them concurrent jurisdiction throughout that county, and conferred the power upon the judges of the respective districts to transfer, at their discretion, cases from one district to the other for trial. Held that, inasmuch as the legal presumption is that judgments of courts of record are valid, where a judgment was rendered in the fourteenth district court, and judgment restraining issuance of execution thereon was rendered in the forty-fourth district court, and the record on writ of error in the latter case fails to show that the writ of injunction was not issued by the fourteenth district court and then transferred to the forty-fourth district court for trial, it would be presumed, if necessary to sustain the validity of the judgment, that it was issued in the fourteenth district court, where the former judgment was rendered, and then transferred to the other court. Kruegel v. Rawlins (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 216.

A recital in a judgment that an estate which was the only defendant sued, though duly cited, did not appear, is meaningless, and affords no presumption in favor of service. Perry v. Whiting, 56 C. A. 550, 121 S. W. 903.

Where a judgment adjudging a person a lunatic does not affirmatively show that the person was not present in court when it was rendered, it will be presumed that he was before the court. Ferguson v. Ferguson (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 632.

Appointment of an attorney ad litem to represent unknown heirs cited by publication presumed. Houston Oil Co. of Texas v. Bayne (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 544.

On collateral attack on a judgment, it will be presumed that the pleadings asking for the affirmative relief granted against interveners were filed before nonsuit was taken as to them. Blunt v. Houston Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 248.

Every presumption is in favor of the jurisdiction of a court of general jurisdiction in a collateral attack on its judgment. Wilkin v. Simmons (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1145.

On collateral attack in trespass to try title, on a judgment relied on by defendants, it will be presumed that matters necessary to sustain the judgment were alleged and proved. Gibson v. Oppenheimer (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 694.

Where the county court has general jurisdiction in insanity inquisitions, it will be presumed upon introduction of an order adjudging plaintiff insane that facts existed which authorized its rendition and entry, so that it was not necessary that it recite the facts conferring jurisdiction. Mitchell v. Inman (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 290.

35. — Jury.—In action by servant for injuries, the jury would be presumed to have based their verdict on an issue which the evidence fully sustained. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Gardner, 29 C. A. 90, 69 S. W. 217.

In an action for injuries to a passenger caused by escaping cinder, it would be presumed that jury were not influenced by exhibition of unidentified wire netting, belonging to spark arrester, in their presence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Flood, 35 C. A. 197, 79 S. W. 1106.

36. — Judicial sales.—In a suit in 1838 for the specific performance of a contract for the conveyance of land by the defendant's intestate, the defendant was appointed attorney ad litem for minor heirs. It was held that, there being no positive rule of law prescribing the manner in which minors should be made parties, it is presumed that they were properly made parties. Kegans v. Allcorn, 9 T. 25.

The administratrix of an estate resigned in favor of R., who was appointed administrator and gave bond in 1840. In 1843 R. was removed and the former administratrix was reappointed. In 1846 an order was made requiring R. to settle, but, on the appearance of R. by attorney, the further action of the court in the matter was postponed. In 1848 R. filed his final account, but no action was had thereon. In January, 1849, upon the application of R., an order was made for the sale of personal property, and a return and confirmation of sale were duly made. For several years thereafter R. appeared to be engaged in the administration of the estate. The validity of the sale being brought in question, it was held that it would be presumed that R. was legally reinstated in the administration, and the sale was upheld. Dancy v. Stricklinge, 15 T. 557, 65 Am. Dec. 179; Alexander v. Maverick, 18 T. 179, 67 Am. Dec. 693; Guilford v. Love, 49 T. 715; Tom v. Sayers, 64 T. 339.

A conveyance of land was made on the 15th of November, 1834, by the curator of an estate. In support of the deed the party claiming under it read a certified copy of the proceedings in 1834 before the alcalde of the proper jurisdiction, showing the appointment of the curator, an appraisal of the property and a schedule of the sale, including the land described in the deed. The curator's deed was executed before the alcalde, who also signed it. It was held that all necessary presumptions would be indulged in favor of the validity of the deed which had the sanction and authorization of the judge. Baker v. Coe, 20 T. 429.

Possession under an administrator's deed for 25 years, the deed containing recitals showing the regularity of the sale and its confirmation by the court, will, in a suit brought 25 years after the destruction of the probate records, support a presumption that all requisite orders were made to give validity to the sale. White v. Jones, 67 T. 638, 4 S. W. 161.

Where a widow declined to take under a will, and the court ordered the property sold to pay the widow's allowance, it will be presumed that the conditions authorized the sale, in support of the title of the purchaser as against the widow. Johnson v. Weatherford, 31 C. A. 180, 71 S. W. 789.

37. Operation and effect.—In sales under execution not made in accordance with the law, the conclusive presumption is that the property did not bring such a price as if the levy and sale had been legally made. Gunter v. Cobb, 82 T. 598, 17 S. W. 848.

Possession by the maker of an overdue promissory note is presumptive evidence of payment, but such presumption has no conclusive effect. Halfin v. Winkleman, 83 T. 165, 18 S. W. 433.

One who acted as executor for about 18 years held conclusively presumed such on a collateral attack of his act. Halbert v. De Bode, 15 C. A. 615, 40 S. W. 1011.

In action for breach of warranty, while the buyer's failure to return the goods or complain may raise a presumption that his action is not well founded, it is evidence on a question of fact, and not a presumption of law. Ash v. Beck (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 53.

The presumption arising from the payment of interest in advance on a note is a presumption of fact, not of law. Guerguin v. Boone, 33 C. A. 622, 77 S. W. 630.

A transfer by an attorney in fact of a certificate issued in lieu of a headright, held to carry with it a conclusive presumption of the authority of the attorney. Simmonds v. Simmonds, 35 C. A. 151, 79 S. W. 630.

The presumption that a sufficient affidavit was filed to authorize the issuance of a citation by publication is on collateral attack rebuttable, unless rebutting it involves a contradiction of the record. Stoneman v. Bilby, 43 C. A. 293, 96 S. W. 50.

Normal conditions will be presumed to exist in every instance until the contrary is shown, and presumptions arising from proof of a given status operate prospectively, and not retrospectively. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Hughey, 55 C. A. 403, 118 S. W. 1130.

"Constructive notice" is a legal presumption not to be controverted. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wood (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 487.

38. Conflicting presumptions of fact.—Where the evidence showed prima facie that the master was not negligent, the existence of facts to rebut such showing cannot be presumed. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Pollock (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 843.

39. Rebuttal of presumptions.—The possession by the acceptor of a draft, drawn with a blank for the name of the payee and without an indorsement, is prima facie evidence that the draft had been in circulation and had been paid by the acceptor, but was rebutted by proof of custom to leave draft for acceptance, or other fact tending to controvert the presumption arising from possession, especially where the acceptor failed to prove to whom payment was made. Close v. Field, 9 T. 422.

The presumption arising from the form of the conveyance as between the parties and against those not claiming as bona fide purchasers may be rebutted by evidence showing that the property was paid for by the separate means of one of the spouses. Rose v. Houston, 11 T. 326, 62 Am. Dec. 478; Chapman v. Allen, 15 T. 278; T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Durrett, 57 T. 48; Philipowski v. Spencer, 63 T. 604; Winfield v. Rilling (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 328.

The presumption in favor of the community, resulting from a deed made to either husband or wife, may be rebutted by proof that it was bought with the separate funds of either. When the deed is made to the wife, it may be shown to be for her benefit, not only from the advance by her of the purchase money, but if the funds be advanced from the separate means of the husband, the presumption of a gift arises, and if from the community fund, it may be proven that the husband intended a gift, and directed the deed to be made in her name. Dunham v. Chatham, 21 T. 231, 73 Am. Dec. 228; Smith v. Strahan, 16 T. 314, 67 Am. Dec. 622; Higgins v. Johnson, 20 T. 389, 70 Am. Dec. 394; Story v. Marshall, 24 T. 305, 76 Am. Dec. 106; Hatchett v. Conner, 30 T. 104; Tucker v. Carr, 39 T. 98. Such a trust cannot be engrafted on a deed to the prejudice of creditors or purchasers without notice; and the fact that a conveyance is made to a married woman does not put the purchaser upon inquiry. Cooke v. Bremond, 27 T. 457, 36 Am. Dec. 626; Flanagan v. Oberthier, 50 T. 379; Alstin v. Cundiff, 52 T. 453; McDaniel v. Weiss, 53 T. 257; Wallace v. Campbell, 54 T. 87.

In an action of trespass to try title, the issue was whether a lot claimed by defendant was the homestead of his vendor at the date of his purchase. On this issue and to rebut the presumption of fraud, evidence was admissible to show that defendant, before purchasing the property, took the advice of counsel as to the validity of the title he was about to purchase. Scheuber v. Ballow, 64 T. 166.

Actual prior possession is prima facie evidence of title, which is not overcome by evidence of an outstanding title which does not defeat plaintiff's right. House v. Reavis, 89 T. 626, 35 S. W. 1063.

Evidence held insufficient to overcome presumption that land awarded by commissioner of the general land office as detached land was not in fact detached. Shaver v. Tinsley, 16 C. A. 369, 40 S. W. 1042.

The presumption that a debt long overdue has been paid is rebuttable. Shotwell v. McCardell, 19 C. A. 174, 47 S. W. 39.

Where plaintiff relied on an administrator's deed, evidence for defendant of another deed by the administrator to the same grantee, to different lands, held admissible to rebut presumption that an order confirming a sale of undescribed land referred to the deed on which plaintiff relied. Berry v. Blakey (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 843.

The presumption of authority to execute a deed from the age of the instrument and long-continued assertion of title may be rebutted. Mitchell v. McLaren (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 269.

A person, not an employé who rides on a work train, is presumed to be a trespasser, and this presumption is not overcome by proof of former trespassers having ridden thereon. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Hanna (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 548.

In an action against a railway company, an instruction that, to rebut the defendant's prima facie negligence arising from the fact that a fire was caused by sparks escaping from its engine, the defendant must show to the satisfaction of the jury that the engines were in good condition, held to impose too high a degree of proof. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Jordan, 25 C. A. 82, 60 S. W. 784.

Where cotton delivered to a railroad company for transportation was destroyed by fire while in its possession, the origin of the fire being unexplained, the presumption that the carrier was negligent is not overcome by showing due care while the cotton was on moving trains. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Richmond (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 410.

In an action for damages from fire by sparks from a locomotive, proof that the railroad company used the best spark arresters and that the fire did not originate on the right of way is insufficient to overcome a prima facie case by plaintiff. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Adams (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 578.

The presumption that a letter mailed was received is rebutted by positive evidence that it was not received. American Cent. Ins. Co. v. Heath, 29 C. A. 445, 69 S. W. 235.

Proof of certain facts showing use of ordinary care on part of defendant railroad held to rebut plaintiff's prima facie case, where his property was destroyed by fire starting on track. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gentry (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 607.

Evidence that application had been made by defendant for a continuance for the want of the testimony of a certain witness, introduced in order to account for defendant's failure to have such testimony, was improperly admitted. Gillum v. New York & T. S. S. Co. (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 232.

The prima facie inference that the possessor is the owner of the property is rebutted, where such property is vacant public domain. Austin v. Espuela Land & Cattle Co., 34 C. A. 39, 77 S. W. 830.

Though prior possession is prima facie evidence of title, sufficient to warrant a recovery of land against an entry without title, the presumption that the possessor is the owner is rebuttable. Lynn v. Burnett, 34 C. A. 335, 79 S. W. 64.

Where the proof shows that plaintiffs have a superior title from the common source, proof that some third person once had the title is not sufficient to rebut the presumption that title was in the common source. Ellis v. Lewis (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 1034.

Evidence merely that the engine, which struck plaintiff on defendant's track, belonged to the A. Co. and was operated by its servants, held not to overcome the presumption that it was operated by defendant and under its control, so as to relieve it of liability. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Miller, 98 T. 270, 83 S. W. 182.

The exclusion of evidence showing the efforts of defendant to procure the attendance of an important witness held reversible error. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Waller, 37 C. A. 515, 84 S. W. 695.

Proof of an unexplained killing of persons on a railroad track held not to overcome the presumption in favor of the railroad that a proper watch was kept by those on the engine. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Shoemaker, 98 T. 451, 84 S. W. 1049.

A bond for title alleged to have been executed by a decedent held insufficient to show that it was the same bond on which the judgment was based, or rebut the presumption that the court had sufficient evidence before it on which to render the judgment it did. Dutton & Rutherford v. Wright & Vaughn, 38 C. A. 372, 85 S. W. 1025.

In an action on a liquor dealer's bond, held proper for the district attorney to state that the minor's mother was mentally unsound, as rebutting any unfavorable inference from failure to put her on the stand. Brewster v. State, 40 C. A. 1, 88 S. W. 858.

In trespass to try title, the burden held on defendant to rebut a presumption of right of possession arising from plaintiff's title, and to show defendant's injury by reason of the levy of a writ of sequestration. Freeman v. Slay, 99 T. 514, 91 S. W. 6.

Mere failure of one having prior possession to connect himself with the sovereignty of the soil does not destroy the presumption of title created by such possession. Kirby v. Boaz, 41 C. A. 282, 91 S. W. 642.

In view of the recitals of a judgment foreclosing delinquent taxes and the record, the presumption that a proper affidavit was filed to render a citation by publication proper held overcome. Stoneman v. Bilby, 43 C. A. 293, 96 S. W. 50.

To rebut the prima facie case of negligence made out against a railroad company by proof that its locomotive set fire to plaintiff's property, it is necessary to show that the company had exercised ordinary care to keep in repair the spark arresting appliances on its locomotive. Ross v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas, 47 C. A. 24, 103 S. W. 708.

Where a railroad proves such proper equipment, etc., as to tend to show absence of negligence in setting out a fire by sparks from its engines, the question of negligence must be determined upon the whole evidence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Blakeney-Stevens-Jackson Co., 48 C. A. 443, 106 S. W. 1140; Same v. McFarland (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 1144.

A railroad company in disproving negligence presumably established by the setting out of fire by the locomotive must negative every fact which would justify a finding of negligence. Id.

Proof of proper construction and management of locomotive held to exclude presumption of negligence from fact that fire was occasioned by sparks from engine. Id.

The presumption of superior title in plaintiffs from their prior possession is not overcome, as against trespassers, by proof of a grant from the state to one with whose patent plaintiffs' chain of title does not connect. Teagarden v. Patten, 48 C. A. 571, 107 S. W. 909.

Any implication of ownership of drafts in a bank because of possession held subject to be disproved by evidence that the bank merely had the drafts for collection. National Bank of Commerce of Minneapolis v. Rotan Grocery Co. (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 1192.

The fact that a father has voluntarily parted with the custody of his child, and contributed little or nothing to its support, but allowed another to assume his obligations, held to overcome the presumption of his fitness, and require him to establish it before he can be awarded the child's custody again. Peese v. Gellerman, 51 C. A. 39, 110 S. W. 196.

Facts held to rebut the prima facie liability of a railroad company for the burning of property. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. McLeod (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 85.

Evidence held sufficient to overcome the presumption that ballots received were cast by legal voters. McCormick v. Jester, 53 C. A. 306, 115 S. W. 278.

In trespass to try title, where defendants claimed that another by long silence as to his title to the land in controversy had abandoned claim thereto, and relied on that fact to raise a presumption of a transfer of his right to one under whom defendants claimed, testimony of such other's children as to declarations by him as to his ownership of the land was admissible to show that he had not abandoned his claim thereto. Houston Oil Co. of Texas v. Kimball, 103 T. 94, 122 S. W. 533.

The presumption of negligence of the carrier, arising from proof by a passenger of the derailment of the train and consequent injury to him is one of fact, and may be overcome by proof that the derailment resulted from unavoidable accident, or was an occurrence which could not have been provided against by the highest practicable degree of foresight. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 485.

The presumption of a waiver of a vendor's lien by the taking of other security may be rebutted by evidence of a contrary intention. Noblett v. Harper (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 519.

In an action of trespass to try title, the plaintiff's title being based upon a vendor's lien securing certain purchase-money notes, certain evidence held admissible to rebut the presumption of payment. Buckley v. Runge (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 533.

Certain evidence, in an action to enforce defendants' liability on notes signed by them with the plaintiffs and paid by the plaintiffs alone, held to have no tendency to rebut the prima facie showing of the insolvency of another person who had signed the notes, but who was not made a party defendant. Webster v. Frazier (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 609.

Degree of proof overcoming presumption arising from title from common source stated. Word v. Houston Oil Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 335.

The presumption of a negligent defect in an appliance held overcome by the evidence. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Geary (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1045.

Levy of execution on the interest of the grantor in an alleged lost deed and purchase at the sale by the grantee held not to be evidence of an assertion of title by the grantor which would rebut the presumption of the grant. Masterson v. Harrington (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 626.

On pleadings in an action to enjoin the laying out of a highway, held, that the presumption that the action of defendants was regular and legal was not overcome by the pleader's allegation to the contrary upon information and belief. Schlinke v. De Witt County (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 660.

40. Legitimacy of child.—When a woman gives birth to a fully developed child so soon after marriage as to render it certain that it was begotten before marriage, the legal presumption is that it was begotten by him who became her husband, until such presumption is overcome by some evidence to the contrary. Until this presumption is overcome the marriage contract cannot be annulled by reason of her pregnancy before her marriage. McCulloch v. McCulloch, 69 T. 682, 7 S. W. 593, 5 Am. St. Rep. 96.

In the absence of evidence to the contrary, it must be presumed that one was born in lawful wedlock. McAllen v. Alonzo, 46 C. A. 449, 102 S. W. 475.

41. Negotiable Instruments.—Promissory note: The possession of, payable to bearer, entitles the holder to recover. Hansborough v. Towns, 1 T. 58. A note payable to A. or bearer was assigned by B. to A. In a suit by C. against A. and B., C., who had the note in his possession, was authorized to recover. Johnson v. Mitchell, 50 T. 212, 32 Am. Rep. 602. The possession of a note payable to order and indorsed in blank entitles the holder to recover. Greneaux v. Wheeler, 6 T. 522; Weathered v. Smith, 9 T. 625, 60 Am. Dec. 186; Whithed v. McAdams, 18 T. 553; Ross v. Smith, 19 T. 172, 70 Am. Dec. 327; Johnson v. Mitchell, 50 T. 212, 32 Am. Rep. 602; Lyon v. Kempinski, 1 App. C. C. § 80. The purchase and possession of a negotiable promissory note entitles the holder to recover. Faulkner v. Warren, 1 App. C. C. § 659.

41½. Limitations.—One claiming land under vendee who had not paid purchase-money notes and had abandoned the land held not entitled to a presumption that the note was barred by limitations. Staley v. Stone, 41 C. A. 299, 92 S. W. 1017.

42. Boundaries.—Recognition by the parties or their privies of a particular line is presumptive evidence that it is the correct line. Floyd v. Rice, 28 T. 341; Logov v. Glover, 77 T. 448, 14 S. W. 141.

When a particular line has been recognized by adjoining owners as their common boundary, it affords a strong presumption that such is the true dividing line, but no period is fixed which renders it conclusive. Medlin v. Wilkins, 60 T. 409; Davis v. Smith, 61 T. 18.

Acquiescence in a boundary line, not amounting to an estoppel, does not create a presumption that it is the correct line. Schunior v. Russell, 83 T. 83, 18 S. W. 484.

In the absence of proof to the contrary, the presumption is that the survey by virtue of which the land is patented or appropriated was actually made on the ground as required by law (Robertson v. Mooney, 1 C. A. 379, 21 S. W. 143); and in such case it will control (Lutcher v. Hart [Civ. App.] 26 S. W. 94).

A claim of possession of land between a section and other land held without merit where the survey of such land called for the line and corner of such section. Galloway v. State Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 236.

Where bearing trees called for in a survey have disappeared, it will be presumed that the trees had been at the distances called for in the survey. Keystone Mills Co. v. Peach River Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 64.

The presumption is that a surveyor actually surveyed all lines called for by him in a survey, certified to by him, and a party asserting the contrary has the burden of proving it. Cochran v. Kapner, 46 C. A. 342, 103 S. W. 469.

43. Compromise and settlement.—The execution of a note, where there have been mutual dealings between the parties, raises the presumption that there was a settlement of the antecedent liabilities. McCorkle v. Lawrence, 21 T. 731; Rowe v. Collier, 25 T. Sup. 252.

44. Contracts.—No legal presumption can exist that one who has located a land certificate issued to another did so under contract which entitled him to compensation in land. No other presumption can be indulged in such case than the existence of a contract for pecuniary compensation for services rendered. House v. Brent, 69 T. 27, 7 S. W. 65.

Where the president and teller of a bank agree to secure control of sufficient stock to elect their directors and re-elect themselves, it will be presumed that such officers are lucrative, and the contract therefore void. Withers v. Edwards, 26 C. A. 189, 62 S. W. 795.

From the allegation of a contractor, in an action for breach of the contract, that the collapse of a building was due to defective plans, no presumption arises that the owner failed to exercise ordinary care in selecting an architect, or that the architect failed to exercise proper care and skill in preparing his plans. American Surety Co. of New York v. San Antonio Loan & Trust Co. (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 387.

45. Damages.—Where the message directed the digging of a grave, and by reason of delay in delivery the sender was obliged to dig the grave himself, by reason of the fact that the body required immediate burial, held, that it could not be presumed that the company could have contemplated the necessity of immediate burial, and that it was not liable for mental suffering, etc. Ikard v. W. U. Tel. Co. (Civ. App.) 22 S. W. 534.

Facts held not to raise a presumption that stipulated damages in a building contract amounted to a penalty. Brown Iron Co. v. Norwood (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 253.

Where, in an action for death, plaintiff failed to prove that amounts paid for medical services were reasonable charges, such amounts could not be recovered. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Boykin, 32 C. A. 72, 74 S. W. 93.

In an action for damages for failure to deliver a telegram announcing the serious illness of plaintiff's daughter, whereby she was prevented from being with her daughter at the latter's death, there is a presumption of mental anguish, and it need not be affirmatively proved. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Blair, 51 C. A. 427, 113 S. W. 164.

In an action for overflowing land, it was error to authorize recovery of the difference between the probable yield of crops destroyed and the expense of marketing them, where there was no evidence of such expense. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Felts (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 719.

In an action for loss of a sale of potatoes by nondelivery of a telegram there was no presumption that the plaintiff would have been to any expense in getting his produce from his farm and loading it for shipment. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Federolf (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 314.

46. Death.—See notes under Art. 5707.

47. Delivery of deed.—The possession of a deed by the grantee raises the presumption of its due delivery to him. Tuttle v. Turner, 28 T. 760.

48. Descent of property.—Where there was no evidence that an owner of land disposed of it by will, and he survived his wife, the court would presume that the land passed under the statutes of descent to all his children, who became tenants in common. Kirby v. Blake, 53 C. A. 173, 115 S. W. 674.

49. Fraud.—Fraud may be presumed from facts tending to establish it. Cooper v. Friedman, 23 C. A. 585, 57 S. W. 581.

The law never presumes fraud. Wells, Fargo & Co. v. Neiman-Marcus Co. (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 614.

The presumption of law is against fraud, and he who alleges it must prove it. Reed v. Holloway (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1189.

50. Gifts.—When a conveyance of land purchased with community funds or the separate funds of the husband is made to the wife by him or by his direction, the presumption as between husband and wife, and against all others not claiming as bona fide purchasers, is that the conveyance was intended as a gift to her. Avery v. Avery, 12 T. 54, 62 Am. Dec. 513; Smith v. Strahan, 16 T. 314, 67 Am. Dec. 622; Higgins v. Johnson, 20 T. 389, 70 Am. Dec. 394; Story v. Marshall, 24 T. 305, 76 Am. Dec. 106; Smith v. Boquet, 27 T. 507; Price v. Cole, 35 T. 461; Peters v. Clements, 46 T. 114.

A deed from a parent to his child for the expressed consideration of love and affection is presumed to be a gift by way of advancement. Lott v. Kaiser, 61 T. 665.

From the fact that a deed was taken in the wife's name, no presumption arises that property acquired during the marriage relationship was intended as a gift to her. Caffey's Ex'rs v. Cooksey, 19 C. A. 145, 47 S. W. 65.

No presumption arises that improvements erected by a husband out of community funds on land which is the separate property of his wife are a gift, in the absence of evidence to show such intention. Collins v. Bryan, 40 C. A. 88, 88 S. W. 432.

Conveyance which a woman caused to be executed to her minor children held presumptively a gift to them of her interest in the property. Reeves v. Simpson (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 361.

Evidence held insufficient to show benefit to grantee in a deed so as to raise presumption of its acceptance as a gift from the grantor. Taylor v. Sanford (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 262.

51. Separation of husband and wife.—Where the court finds that a husband and wife are living apart by agreement, by reason of the cruel treatment of the husband, it will be presumed that the separation was justified, and that she had not forfeited her right to an allowance from the estate. Linares v. De Linares, 93 T. 84, 53 S. W. 579.

That several years after the separation of a husband and wife he obtained a divorce held insufficient to establish that she had not obtained a divorce, and where she in the meantime had married another, every presumption will be indulged in favor of the legality of such second marriage. Wingo v. Rudder (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1073.

51½. Separate property.—Heirs of a wife held not entitled to recover certain stock levied on as against the husband's creditors as the property of the wife, without tracing the wife's separate funds into such stock. Hoopes v. Mathis, 40 C. A. 121, 89 S. W. 36.

That the apparent title to lots was in a married woman does not of itself authorize a finding that they were her separate property. Keith v. Aubrey (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 278.

52. Community property.—See notes under Art. 4623.

53. Insurance.—One under a duty to insure property of another is presumptively required to insure it for its full value. Broussard v. South Texas Rice Co., 103 T. 535, 131 S. W. 412, Ann. Cas. 1913A, 142.

54. Liquor license.—The presumption in an action on a retail liquor dealer's bond held that the license was issued on an application therefor. Art. 7435; White v. Manning, 46 C. A. 298, 102 S. W. 1160.

55. Judicial sales.—Presumption exists that community debts existed where sale of community property is ordered. Dickson v. Moor, 30 S. W. 76, 9 C. A. 514.

Irregularities by a sheriff in making a sale of lands are presumed to affect the price when the lands are sold at a grossly inadequate price, and the burden is on the purchaser to rebut the presumption. Kennedy v. Walker (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1115.

56. Libelous statements.—A libelous statement made on a privileged occasion is presumed to be untrue, and the burden of proving its truth is on defendants. Cranfill v. Hayden (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 573.

57. Priority of liens.—Where the date of assignment of notes for the purchase money of land for which a vendor's lien was reserved was not shown, on a question of priority of liens, the presumption would be that the assignment was on the date of the notes. Maas v. Tacquard's Ex'rs, 33 C. A. 40, 75 S. W. 350.

58. Marriage.—A presumption that no license was issued and no marriage solemnized held not to arise from the fact that the clerk's office contained no record thereof. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Cody, 20 C. A. 520, 50 S. W. 135.

Where a wife married a second husband during the life of her first husband, and continued to live with him after the first husband's death, a marriage after the first husband's death was presumed. Bull v. Bull, 29 C. A. 364, 68 S. W. 727.

59. Mortgages.—Facts held to raise presumption that deed, preceding another deed accompanied by written defeasance, was either a satisfied mortgage or that a reconveyance had taken place. Turner v. Cochran, 30 C. A. 549, 70 S. W. 1024.

The court held authorized to presume after a lapse of 30 years that a sale under a deed of trust was valid. Wiener v. Zweib (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 699.

60. Negligence in general.—Where the hirer of a horse drove further than he represented he intended to drive, and the horse died from such use, misuse was conclusively presumed. Evertson v. Frier (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 201.

A person, not an employé, who rides on a work train, is presumed to be a trespasser, and this presumption is not overcome by proof of former trespassers having ridden thereon. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Hanna (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 548.

Under the facts, held, there was an inference of negligence by a contractor, making him liable for destruction of property of the one for whom he was doing the work. Chapman v. Warden, 50 C. A. 282, 110 S. W. 533.

It is presumed, in trespass to try title to land claimed by adverse possession, that one residing on land under a deed thereto, and who is admitted to have paid the taxes, paid them for himself, and not for another. Merriman v. Blalack, 57 C. A. 270, 122 S. W. 403.

61. — Proximate cause.—It cannot be presumed without evidence that negligence in running a train at an excessive speed and not giving warning signals was the proximate cause of the death of a horse on the track. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Bailey (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 962.

62. — Contributory negligence.—Contributory negligence held not conclusively presumable in action for injuries on track. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Laskowski (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 59.

From the facts shown, held, it could not be conclusively presumed that deceased was guilty of contributory negligence in stepping on defendant's railway in front of an approaching train. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cardena, 22 C. A. 300, 54 S. W. 312.

In an action for the death of a person on a track, it cannot be presumed that deceased was guilty of contributory negligence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Shoemaker, 98 T. 451, 84 S. W. 1049.

63. — Carriage of goods.—See, also, notes as to continuance of fact, ante.

Rule that the loss is presumed to have occurred through the fault of the last carrier of a connecting line does not apply, when. I. & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Wolf, 22 S. W. 187, 3 C. A. 383.

In an action for delay in delivering cotton seed hulls under a contract specifying no place for delivery, refusal of an instruction that the law would presume that the hulls were to be delivered at the place where sold was not error. Farmers' Cotton Oil Co. v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 1184.

Where cattle were injured en route, in the absence of evidence showing how they were injured, in an action against the carrier for failure to carry safely, the injuries must be attributed to breach of the carrier's duty to carry safely. Galveston, H. & S. A. R. Co. v. Jones (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 737, judgment reversed 104 T. 92, 134 S. W. 328.

A carrier's liability for damages for breach of contract for carriage of a passenger is subject to the same rules, and may be established by like testimony and presumptions, as in cases of torts based on the same facts. El Paso & N. E. Ry. Co. v. Landon (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 744.

In an action for loss of market by a carrier's delivery of goods in bad order, it could not be presumed that the purchaser's obligations for the part of the price for which he was to have credit would bear interest at at least 6 per cent., be secured by a lien on the goods, and be prima facie worth their face. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Coulter (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 16.

Under facts stated, held, that owner of cotton delivering it to railroad and accepting a bill of lading would be presumed to have thereby acquiesced in the terms of the bill of lading. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gilbreath (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1051.

The Carmack amendment to the interstate commerce act re-established the common-law rule that, when freight is delivered to a carrier in good condition and reaches its destination in bad condition, the presumption of negligence arises throwing the burden on the carrier of exonerating itself from liability. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Scott (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 294.

The fact that goods were delivered to a named consignee raises only a presumption of title in the consignee, subject to rebuttal by proof and notice of actual ownership by another. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Caruthers (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 238.

64. — Telegraphs and telephones.—Proof of receipt of a message, under circumstances similar to those whereby similar messages were received from the same person, authorizes an inference, if not contradicted, that it was sent by the person purporting to send it. Pullman Palace-Car Co. v. Nelson, 22 C. A. 223, 54 S. W. 624.

An unexplained delay in the transmission of a telegram will be presumed to be caused by the telegraph company's negligence. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Bouchell, 23 C. A. 23, 67 S. W. 159.

65. Notice.—The order of the county commissioners' court, approving the report of the jury of view, showing a condemnation of land, raises no presumption that the jury caused notice of the proceeding to be legally served on the owner. Bowie County v. Powell (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 237.

It is presumed that notices of sale under a trust deed were posted in some manner which would, under the provisions of the deed relating to posting notices, sustain the validity of the sale. Roe v. Davis (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 950.

65½. — Giving of notice of claim for damages.—See notes under Art. 5714.

66. Partnership.—Where plaintiff and defendant contracted to furnish ice, but did not specify their relative rights or the basis for the division of profits, there was a rebuttable presumption that both were to be divided equally. El Paso Ice & Refrigerator Co. v. Consumers' Ice & Cold Storage Co. (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 551.

67. Payment.—The possession by the plaintiff of a note signed by him as surety for the defendant, who was the principal, is presumptive proof of payment by plaintiff. Reynolds v. Shelton, 2 T. 516; Halfin v. Winkleman, 83 T. 165, 18 S. W. 433.

The possession by plaintiff of an acceptance drawn by defendant on him in favor of third parties is sufficient to raise the presumption of payment. Hays v. Samuels, 55 T. 560.

In trespass to try title it was held that, though the deed to plaintiff was over 20 years old, the payment of purchase money would not be presumed when the claim of title was not accompanied with possession, especially when the money, if paid, was paid by plaintiff himself, who was a witness. Bremer v. Case, 60 T. 151.

Possession of time check by third person held to raise no presumption of right to sum named therein. Robinson v. Texas Pine Land Ass'n (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 620.

Delivery of goods and payment therefor will be presumed to be concurrent acts, where the contract is silent as to time of payment. Howard v. Emerson (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 382.

Payment made by a debtor held not presumably made on a mortgage debt, instead of on another. Powers v. McKnight (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 549.

Where a deed reserved a vendor's lien, and the vendor retook possession after the vendee had abandoned the land shortly after the purchase, and maintained possession for 40 years, it would be presumed that the price had not been paid. Evans v. Ashe, 50 C. A. 54, 108 S. W. 398.

Reason for the legal presumption of payment of a debt after the lapse of 20 years stated. Millwee v. Phelps, 53 C. A. 195, 115 S. W. 891.

It will be presumed that payments made on tax assessments were made by the party rendering the land for taxation. Ryle v. Davidson (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 823.

A purchase-money note reserving a lien on the property sold is presumptively paid after the lapse of over 30 years, unless the presumption is rebutted by evidence of non-payment. Buckley v. Runge, 57 C. A. 322, 122 S. W. 596.

Lapse of time and nonclaim by 3 of 11 heirs held to raise no presumption that their shares of land of ancestor were satisfied out of other parts not conveyed by the other heirs. Bayle v. Norris (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 767.

Facts held to warrant a presumption of payment of taxes. Surghenor v. Ayers (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 28.

A presumption held to arise from a lapse of time that a debt secured by a mortgage was paid. Hume v. Le Compte (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 934.

Payment may be presumed from lapse of time less than 20 years, where there are other circumstances tending to show payment, but which in themselves would not establish payment. Hutton v. Pederson (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 176.

The payee's possession of a note at the time of suit, in the absence of marks or indorsements showing payment, is presumptive proof that the note is unpaid. Id.

That five years and three months elapsed after maturity of a note before its presentation to the maker who was able to pay did not raise a presumption of payment. Id.

Fifty years after the maturity of a debt secured by a mortgage, it would be presumed, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, that the debt was paid, and that the instrument was no longer effective as a mortgage. Fulshear v. Deadman (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 616.

68. Existence of agency and extent of authority.—A presumption of agency will arise from the relations of the parties, as that of husband and wife. Blanchet v. Dugat, 5 T. 507; Black v. Bryan, 18 T. 453.

The existence of a power of attorney was presumed from the facts established in evidence. Dailey v. Starr, 26 T. 562.

The consignee is, in general, the agent of the owner for the delivery of goods to the carrier, and is presumed to have authority to stipulate for the terms of transportation, and the carrier is not required to inquire into his authority to make a particular shipment. Ryan v. M., K. & T. Ry. Co., 65 T. 13, 57 Am. Rep. 589.

Facts held to warrant presumption of existence of power of attorney at times of conveyance by attorney in fact. Bean v. Bennett, 35 C. A. 398, 80 S. W. 662.

Authority to collect the interest on a note forms no presumption of authority to collect the principal. Higley v. Dennis, 40 C. A. 133, 88 S. W. 400.

The fact that one performs personal services for another for an agreed compensation carries with it the presumption of the right of control and discharge by the employer. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Parsons (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 240.

The authority of an agent to contract for the storage of cotton at his principal's risk of fire may be presumed or inferred from his general authority to buy and ship cotton, though other cotton bought and shipped by him had not been so stored. Birge-Forbes Co. v. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co., 53 C. A. 55, 115 S. W. 333.

The presumption of ratification will arise on slight evidence when the act is plainly for the benefit of the principal. Davis v. Nueces Valley Irr. Co., 103 T. 243, 126 S. W. 4.

An attorney is presumed to have authority to represent any client for whom he professes to act, and, unless properly contested, he need not show his authority. State v. Murphy (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 708.

Under certain circumstances, held, that the authority of an agent to act would be presumed as to third persons. Cannel Coal Co. v. Luna (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 721.

Authority on the part of a wife to act as agent for her husband may be presumed from the acts and conduct of the parties. Lilly v. Yeary (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 823.

In the absence of motion, an attorney who has possession of a note and files a suit thereon in the name of the holder, and prosecutes the same in a regular and lawful manner, will be presumed to have authority to do so. Brasfield v. Young (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 180.

69. Ownership and possession.—The possession of a note negotiable by delivery raises a presumption of ownership; but the possession of one not so negotiable does not create such a presumption as to dispense with proof of the fact. Merlin v. Manning, 2 T. 351; Close v. Fields, 2 T. 232.

In an action of trespass to try title, the defendants claimed the land under a deed executed on the 27th of November, 1865, while the plaintiffs claimed it under a sheriff's sale, by virtue of a judgment which was recorded in the county on the same 27th of November, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon; and the relative merits of the title depended on the question of fact whether the registration of the judgment or the execution of the deed was prior in point of time. Held that, as the plaintiffs in this form of action can only recover on the strength of their own title, the burden of proof rested upon them to show that the judgment was recorded before the deed was executed; and, in the absence of evidence on that question, there is no presumption that the judgment lien attached previous to the execution of the deed. Hillmann v. Meyer, 35 T. 538.

The law will presume a superior title to land from prior possession as against a trespasser, but this presumption is destroyed by proof that the title to the land is in a third party. Bates v. Bacon, 66 T. 348, 1 S. W. 256; Branch v. Baker, 70 T. 190, 7 S. W. 808; Railway Co. v. Cusenberry, 86 T. 525, 26 S. W. 43; Tobar v. Losano, 6 C. A. 698, 25 S. W. 973; House v. Reavis (Civ. App.) 34 S. W. 646.

Possession of personal property is evidence of ownership. Robertson v. Gourley, 84 T. 575, 19 S. W. 1006; Le Page v. Slade, 79 T. 473, 15 S. W. 496. See National Bank v. Day, 87 T. 101, 26 S. W. 1049.

Where plaintiff was in actual possession of a stock of cattle, and a part of them were seized and converted without any right, it was proper to charge the jury "that the defendant, not having shown any right to or interest in the cattle in controversy, cannot question the plaintiff's right of possession of said cattle, if they found plaintiff had such possession." National Bank v. Brown, 85 T. 80, 23 S. W. 862.

Plaintiff having alleged ownership and possession of cattle as against defendant, who exhibited no claim, was entitled to recover upon proving such possession; that on his purchase of the cattle he took a bill of sale would not require the production of such bill of sale in order to recover. Id.

Possession of land under a claim of title is prima facie evidence of title in the possessor, unless the possession has been abandoned for a long time. Burroughs v. Farmer (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 846.

One claiming title under a headright certificate held not required to show how she obtained possession of conveyance. McCoy v. Pease, 19 C. A. 657, 48 S. W. 208.

In an action on a note, plaintiff's possession at the trial is sufficient proof of ownership, though it be indorsed by him. Garrett v. Findlater, 21 C. A. 635, 53 S. W. 839.

Possession of property covered by an insurance policy is prima facie evidence of ownership thereof, in an action on such policy. Liverpool & L. & G. Ins. Co. v. Nations, 24 C. A. 562, 59 S. W. 817.

Where defendant shows that a mortgage foreclosure through which the common grantor derived his title has been set aside, the court will not presume that such grantor acquired the title in some other way. Scates v. Fohn (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 837.

In trespass to try title, the burden held on defendant to rebut a presumption of right of possession arising from plaintiff's title, and to show defendant's injury by reason of the levy of a writ of sequestration. Freeman v. Slay, 99 T. 514, 91 S. W. 6.

Proof that a person for 11 years paid taxes on a tract of land raises no presumption of possession by him of the land. Lutcher v. Allen, 43 C. A. 102, 95 S. W. 572.

Where both parties claim title under a common grantor, it will be presumed that he acquired the title of a former owner. Cocke v. Texas & N. O. R. Co., 46 C. A. 363, 103 S. W. 407.

Facts held not to raise a presumption that a grantee had reconveyed to his grantor, or that he held by deed of trust, and had no authority to sell. Ryle v. Davidson (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 823.

Under the presumption of the validity of the land commissioner's award and sale of land, held that it will be presumed that one purchasing school land in addition to his home section was owner of his home section when he applied. McKee v. West, 55 C. A. 460, 118 S. W. 1135.

In a suit on notes, that some of the notes bore indorsement of plaintiff did not render such notes inadmissible in evidence where plaintiff claimed ownership, and, in the form in which the notes were, they could have been sued on by any possessor, as mere possession is presumptive evidence of ownership. Bynum v. Hobbs, 56 C. A. 557, 121 S. W. 900.

Where a creditor of a depositor depositing money in a bank to his credit, followed by the word "agent," attempted to garnish the fund, the fact that the depositor is in possession and control of the fund is prima facie evidence of his ownership. Sillsbee State Bank v. French Market Grocery Co., 103 T. 624, 132 S. W. 465, 34 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1207.

That a depositor of money as agent is in control of the fund is prima facie evidence of ownership. Sillsbee State Bank v. French Market Grocery Co. (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 713.

In an action by a payee in possession of a note showing payee's and other indorsements, held that it would be presumed that the note had been returned to him as his own property. Anderson v. Milburn Wagon Co. (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 603.

There is no presumption of title in a grantor based on his undertaking to convey, as where one purports to convey as an heir, even though the conveyance be ancient. Villalva v. Brown (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1124.

The fact that a negotiable instrument in the hands of plaintiffs was produced at trial raises the presumption of plaintiffs' ownership, though, if plaintiffs be the payees, and the paper be found to have been indorsed, the presumption will be that the indorsement has not been completed by delivery, or that plaintiffs merely held the note for collection. Gray v. Altman (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 760.

In view of Art. 7749, the law presumes that the common source of title, conveying the land for himself and as attorney in fact for third persons, had a power of attorney, in the absence of any proof to the contrary. Woodward v. Ross (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 158.

70. Public lands.—Under a contract to locate and procure a patent for land, the locator having proved that he had procured the issuance of the patent and paid the dues and fees, it was presumed that he, and not somebody else, had procured the location and survey to be made. Emmons v. Oldham, 12 T. 18.

Where a prior application for the purchase of school lands is refused, and the lands sold to a subsequent purchaser, it will be inferred, in a suit involving title thereto, in the absence of evidence, that the prior applicant had not complied with all conditions, and that his application was rightfully refused. Forst v. Rothe (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 575.

The fact that the commissioner awarded school land to an applicant to purchase does not raise a presumption that the land was classified. Anderson v. Walker (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 1003.

The action of the official of the land office in making sales of school land would not support a presumption that classification and appraisal had been made. Corrigan v. Fitzsimmons (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 68.

School land awarded by Commissioner of General Land Office held presumed to have been classified as applied for and appraised at price offered. Smithers v. Lowrance, 100 T. 77, 93 S. W. 1064.

The presumption is that the original survey of a league was actually made on the ground, but the fact that the surveyor did not go on the ground and measure and mark the lines and corners may be shown. Wilkins v. Clawson, 50 C. A. 82, 110 S. W. 103.

In an action to determine title to public land which both parties claimed to have entered, where the commissioner of the general land office awarded the land to plaintiff, it will be presumed that the land had been appraised or placed on the market and therefore, the plaintiff had title in himself at the time of the bringing of the action. Smyth v. Saigling (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 550.

Where one showed that his title consisted of a purchase of school lands, which was recognized by the officers of the state in the manner prescribed by the statute, and an adversary claiming under a subsequent rejected application claimed that the elder sale was void, the court should charge that the adversary had the burden of proving the facts invalidating the elder sale. Barnes v. Williams, 102 T. 444, 119 S. W. 89.

71. Receivers.—Receiver of telegraph line will be presumed to have authority to contract to transmit a message beyond his line. Jones v. Roach, 21 C. A. 301, 51 S. W. 549.

72. Sales.—As to the presumption in support of the sale of community property by the marital survivor, see Brown v. Elmendorf (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 145; Id., 26 S. W. 1043, 87 T. 56.

In an action for breach of warranty, the price paid may be regarded as the value of an article such as it is warranted to be, in the absence of any showing to the contrary. Ash v. Beck (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 53.

The lapse of 38 years after the sale of community property by the surviving husband is sufficient to raise the presumption that the sale was made to pay community debts. Stipe v. Shirley, 33 C. A. 223, 76 S. W. 307.

Proof of a sale of personal property is evidence of the delivery thereof. Stubblefield v. Hanson (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 406.

That a sale is for cash, and that a delivery is subject to the condition of a cash payment being made, may be inferred from acts and circumstances, and need not be express. Continental Bank & Trust Co. v. Hartman (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 179.

72½. Bona fide purchaser.—There being no evidence to contradict it, it will be presumed that the purchaser of land purchased without notice of an outstanding deed, where proof of payment of the purchase money is made, more than 40 years have elapsed, and all the parties to the transaction are dead. Dean v. Gibson (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 51.

There is no presumption that a second grantee of land previously conveyed to another, who failed to record his deed, was a bona fide purchaser. Green v. Robertson, 30 C. A. 236, 70 S. W. 345.

Facts held to raise a presumption that the grantee purchased in good faith. Dean v. Gibson (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 363.

A purchaser, having paid full value for the entire tract, held presumed to have been without notice of a prior unrecorded deed from his grantor to a third person of an undivided interest. J. M. Guffey Petroleum Co. v. Hooks, 47 C. A. 560, 106 S. W. 690.

It may be presumed from the payment of the purchase money that a purchaser bought without notice of a prior unrecorded deed. Ryle v. Davidson (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 823.

As against an equity or an equitable estate, the purchaser of a legal title held presumed to hold in good faith. R. B. Godley Lumber Co. v. Teagarden (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1109.

73. Validity of statutes.—In the absence of pleading and proof to the contrary, it will be presumed that a law repealing a charter was passed in accordance with the constitutional requirements in article 3, § 57. Thompson v. State, 23 C. A. 370, 56 S. W. 603.

A territorial statute, in the absence of disapproval by Congress, as authorized by act of Congress, held presumptively valid. Buttron v. El Paso Northeastern Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 676.

The court, in the absence of proof to the contrary, must presume that the Legislature, in adopting a local or special law, complied with Const. art. 3, § 57, and Art. 5494, and this is true, though the act purports on its face to be a general law. Cravens v. State, 57 Cr. R. 135, 122 S. W. 29, 136 Am. St. Rep. 977.

74. Tenants in common.—In the absence of evidence to the contrary, the interests of tenants in common are presumed to be equal. Gilmer v. Beauchamp, 40 C. A. 125, 87 S. W. 907.

75. Malice.—When an attachment is issued without probable cause malice may be inferred. This inference may be repelled by facts which show a fair and honest effort to collect a just debt. Dwyer v. Testard, 1 App. C. C. § 1232; Walcott v. Hendrick, 6 T. 406; Wiley v. Trailwick, 14 T. 662; Culbertson v. Cabeen, 29 T. 247; Harrison v. Harwood, 31 T. 657; Kaufman v. Wicks, 62 T. 234. Evidence that a full and fair statement of facts was submitted to counsel upon whose opinion the party acted is admissible in rebuttal. Dunn v. Cole, 2 App. C. C. § 822.

Malice may be inferred from an intentional wrongful act. Telegraph Co. v. Kennedy, 80 T. 71, 15 S. W. 704.

76. Making of will.—There is no presumption that a deceased person made a will. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

II. Presumptions on Appeal or Writ of Error

77. In general.—In the absence of a statement of facts, it will be presumed that facts relied on by appellant were not proved. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cock (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 354.

The objection that the affidavits and applications to purchase certain public lands were not in conformity with any legal classifications and appraisements held not sustainable, where certain classifications and appraisements appeared by the statement of facts as duly made, and it did not appear that such applications and affidavits were not in conformity with them. Clark v. McKnight, 25 C. A. 60, 61 S. W. 349.

In the absence of a statement of facts, held, that certain presumptions would obtain on a writ of error, in an action of trespass to try title. Rountree v. Haynes (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 435.

Under the condition of the record and briefs held the court was justified in deciding the appeal on a certain assumption. Cope v. Blount, 38 C. A. 516, 91 S. W. 615.

Recital in a statement of facts held sufficient to show that documents annexed to the petition as exhibits were before the jury as evidence. Byers v. Thacker, 42 C. A. 492, 94 S. W. 138.

If that part of the record on appeal made for the purpose of exhibiting the evidence is susceptible of an interpretation which will support the judgment, that interpretation should be given. Id.

Statement of presumption on appeal. United States & Mexican Trust Co. v. Western Supply & Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 377.

All presumptions consistent with the record are in favor of conclusions of the trial court. Lindly v. Lindly, 102 T. 135, 113 S. W. 750.

In absence of anything in the record to show the action of the trial court complained of, the action cannot be presumed as a reason for reversal, but a presumption that the court did not so act ought rather to be indulged. Smith v. Smith (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 198.

The court on appeal held authorized to presume that there was evidence justifying the ruling complained of. Midleton v. Presidio County (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 637.

In absence of a transcript showing notice of an application to probate a will was not issued, or that notice issued was insufficient, held, that the presumption obtained that it was issued and served in compliance with the statute. White v. Holmes (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 874.

Where the judgments both on the former and the present trials recited that a defendant was duly cited, and the question of citation was not raised until on appeal in the second trial, it will be presumed that such defendant was duly served. First State Bank & Trust Co. of Hereford v. Southwestern Engineering & Construction Co. (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 680.

78. Burden of showing error.—See, also, notes under Art. 4645.

Presumptions will not be indulged in to show error. Ferguson v. Cochran (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 30.

In a suit to restrain the obstruction of a road, defendant held not precluded from urging that the burden was on plaintiff to show affirmatively that he was not under legal disability during the prescriptive period, because he objected to the testimony when offered. Evans v. Scott, 37 C. A. 373, 83 S. W. 874.

Where appellant objected that a material finding of fact was not supported by any evidence, it was incumbent on appellee to point out the evidence on which the finding was based, if there was any in the record. Cox v. Combs, 51 C. A. 346, 111 S. W. 1069.

The burden is upon appellant to show error in rejecting a charge. Beavers v. Baker (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 450.

While error will not be presumed, and a judgment correct on its merits will not be reversed merely because the court gave an erroneous reason for its ruling, yet if error appears, the burden is on appellee to show affirmatively from the record that it was harmless to avoid a reversal, and hence where the trial court erroneously sustained exceptions to a petition for removal to the United States Circuit Court, the court on appeal cannot presume in order to make the error harmless, that the petition was not filed within the time required by Judiciary Act March 3, 1875, c. 137, § 3, 18 Stat. 471 (U. S. Comp. St. 1901, p. 510), and Art. 1904, in the absence of any affirmative showing of such fact in the record. Bilby v. Hancock (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 370.

Where the grounds relied on to support a judgment for plaintiff do not appear from the court's conclusions of law, the burden is on defendant on appeal to show that the judgment cannot be sustained on any of the grounds alleged. Irion v. Yell (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 69.

Where the evidence in trespass to try title conclusively showed that the equitable title was in defendant's wife, plaintiff, to seek a reversal of a judgment in favor of defendant, must show that the judgment was not based on the theory that he was a purchaser with notice, on which theory the judgment might have been based. Aycock v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 641.

Where plaintiff on appeal has the duty of raising an issue by assignment of error, and fails to do so, it will be presumed that the judgment was correct as to that issue. Id.

Where no sufficient reason is given why an assignment of error should be sustained, it will be overruled. Krugel v. Nitschman (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 319.

Where the record leaves it in doubt whether an alleged erroneous instruction was requested by appellant as claimed by appellee, it will be presumed that it was so requested, since it is the duty of an appellant to show error. Lilly v. Yeary (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 823.

79. Grounds and forms of action or defense.—Where the record contains no statement of facts or findings of fact, the question whether the suit was brought within a reasonable time will be presumed to have been determined by the court below. Link v. City of Houston, 94 T. 378, 59 S. W. 566.

Where the jury found in favor of a plea of limitation, and the record is silent as to the time when the suit is brought, there being more than 10 years between the taking of adverse possession of land and the date of trial, it will be presumed on appeal that the period of limitation had elapsed when the suit was brought. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Speights (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 572.

Where plaintiff's brief concedes failure to comply with a statute pleaded in abatement, it will be assumed that such requirements have not been complied with. Sawyer v. El Paso & N. E. Ry. Co., 49 C. A. 106, 108 S. W. 718.

In an action for the killing of cattle which escaped through a gate claimed to be defective, where the complaint also alleged that defendant's engineer failed to use due care in stopping the train after seeing the cattle, even if a finding that the gate was defective was erroneous, a judgment for plaintiff need not necessarily be reversed, since a judgment might be supported on the other ground of recovery submitted by the charge. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Corn (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 485.

Where there is neither a statement of facts nor conclusions of fact in the record, it must be presumed in favor of the judgment that the evidence warranted sustaining a plea of limitations. Schneider v. Schneider (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 789.

Where a cause was tried on the second amended petition filed after the running of limitations, in lieu of the first amended petition filed in time, and not in the record, the contention that the cause was barred must be overruled. Anderson v. Crow (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1080.

80. Jurisdiction.—The district court was presumed to have jurisdiction of an appeal from the county court, though the appeal bond did not appear in the record. Shiner v. Shiner, 14 C. A. 489, 40 S. W. 439.

Where the record affirmatively shows that the special judge took the oath "prescribed by law," it will be presumed that he took the oath prescribed by the constitution. D'Arrigo v. Texas Produce Co., 18 C. A. 41, 44 S. W. 531.

Where plaintiff's written pleadings, in suit upon note for $190 and 10 per cent. attorney's fees, show that he claimed damages for $200, a sum within court's jurisdiction, it will be presumed that credit existed, though not indorsed on note. Hackney v. Schow, 21 C. A. 613, 53 S. W. 713.

Though a plea is sufficient to raise the question of jurisdiction in the court below, on appeal, when the record does not raise the question, it will not be considered. Roach v. Malotte, 23 C. A. 400, 56 S. W. 701.

On appeal, held, that it would be presumed, in favor of jurisdiction of the trial court, that the amount alleged as damages was the same in the petition on which the cause was tried as in the original petition. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dolan (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 393.

Record on appeal held to justify an order overruling a plea to the jurisdiction. Receivers of Kirby Lumber Co. v. Poindexter (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 439.

On an appeal from the county court to the Court of Appeals, where the demand was not within the jurisdiction of the county court, and there was no transcript on appeal from justice's court in the county court transcript, held it would not be presumed the county court had jurisdiction. Royal Fraternal Union v. Bedford (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 523.

In an action for damages, where the petition alleges several items and claims a lump sum large enough to give the court jurisdiction and there are some items upon which plaintiff is not entitled to recover, in the absence of a special exception calling on plaintiff to specify the amount of damages claimed in respect to the items upon which he could recover, it will be presumed on appeal that the amounts so claimed were sufficient to give the court jurisdiction. Rich v. Western Union Telegraph Co. (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 93.

In the face of an affirmative showing in the record, held, it cannot be presumed the amount in controversy was within the jurisdiction of the trial court. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Hood (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 982.

Where, at the time of the trial the judge of the lower court was disqualified, it cannot, in the absence of any evidence to the contrary, be presumed that the disqualification was removed in less than a month, so as to entitle him to render judgment. Burnham v. Hardy Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 182.

81. Venue.—It is presumed that the court correctly changed the venue when the evidence is not in the record. Williams v. Planters' & Mechanics' Nat. Bank, 91 T. 651, 45 S. W. 690.

Where the record does not show that defendant's plea of personal privilege to be sued in the county of his residence was called to the attention of the court or was acted on, the court will regard the plea as having been waived. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Parsons (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 240.

The court on appeal from a judgment sustaining a plea of privilege held required to assume that defendants were nonresidents of the county in which the action was begun. Moorhouse v. King County Land & Cattle Co. (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 883.

82. Parties.—In support of a judgment against a temporary administrator who acted after his term expired, it was presumed that his authority was continued, and that he was authorized to defend the case. Williams v. Planters' & Mechanics' Nat. Bank, 91 T. 651, 45 S. W. 690.

It will be presumed on appeal that plaintiff is a corporation, where the question is raised for the first time on appeal from a judgment secured by it. Hunter v. William J. Lemp Brewing Co. (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 371.

Where continuance in order to perfect service on new parties is refused, it will be presumed that court refused to make them parties to suit, and final judgment need not dispose of them. Ellis v. Harrison (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 581.

The appellate court, in the absence of a contrary showing, will presume the defendants to have been sued individually, when such presumption is necessary to support the judgment. Grayson v. Hollingsworth (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1135.

83. Process and appearance.—In the absence of a contrary showing, it must be presumed that the mother had notice of proceedings to appoint a third party guardian for her children. Beardsley v. Thomas, 31 C. A. 452, 72 S. W. 411.

On appeal, held, that upon the record it would be presumed that a certain person was an attorney of record for one of the parties. Gilmer v. Beauchamp, 40 C. A. 125, 87 S. W. 907.

Upon the filing of an indorsed citation by the clerk, held, that it would be presumed that the return thereon was made before it was filed. Lester v. First State Bank of Bovina (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 661.

Though a petition alleged that defendant railroad company had an agent in H. county if it was also served in P. county, it will be presumed that the necessary steps were taken to make the issuance of the process in P. county legal. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Cox (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 327.

A bill of exceptions upon objection to the sufficiency of the return of a citation, which does not set out the citation in full, where the return recites service "by delivering to each of the within-named defendants in person a true copy of this citation (together with the accompanying certified copy of the plaintiff's) at the following times and places," does not present for review the objection that a copy of the petition was not served on defendant, as it will be presumed that the citation commanded a delivery of a true copy of the writ with the accompanying petition; the omission of the word "petition" being merely a clerical error. Hardwicke v. Pickle (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 960.

In the absence of an affirmative showing to the contrary, the court, on appeal, will presume, in a case where there has been a trial on the merits and all the parties were present, that the party against whom a cause of action is asserted had either been served with citation, or had waived service. Water & Light Co. of El Campo v. El Campo Light, Ice & Water Co. (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 259.

84. Pleading.—There being nothing in the record showing exception interposing limitations was ruled on, it will be presumed waived. Turner v. Clark, 18 C. A. 606, 46 S. W. 381.

From an incomplete record of a probate court relating to its administration of an estate it will not be presumed that a complaint was filed by a creditor against devisees, entitled to an independent administration to compel them to give bond as provided by Probate Act 1848, § 110. Wood v. Mistretta, 20 C. A. 236, 50 S. W. 135.

Where defendant moved for continuance on ground that allegation in amended petition was different from that in prior petitions, and on appeal from a denial of the motion only last petition was sent up, held, it would be presumed the former pleadings charged defendant with notice of facts as last alleged. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Newburn, 94 T. 310, 60 S. W. 429.

Plea in abatement held presumably abandoned. Word v. Kennon (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 334.

Where a petition to recover possession of a policy was amended, on the day the policy was tendered, so as to charge a conversion thereof, it would be presumed, on appeal from a judgment for plaintiff, that the tender was after the amendment. First Nat. Bank v. Cleland (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 337.

Where, in an action on a liquor's dealer's bond, the record failed to show the ground on which a plea in abatement was overruled, or the evidence in support thereof, it will be presumed on appeal that the ruling was proper. Hawthorne v. State, 39 C. A. 122, 87 S. W. 839.

A presumption that an exception in the nature of a plea in abatement was not seasonably made held to obtain in support of a judgment. St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Berry, 42 C. A. 470, 93 S. W. 1107.

Where the record does not contain appellee's superseded pleadings, the presumption is that they stated an amount within the jurisdiction of the court. Ft. Worth & D. Ry. Co. v. Underwood (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 453.

In a suit against a railroad company for coal delivered to its receiver, the petition held sufficient to admit proof that the railroad's property was returned to it without a sale, and, in the absence of a statement of facts, it would be presumed on appeal that such was the proof. Gulf & Interstate Ry. Co. v. Southwestern Coal Selling Co. (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 64.

On appeal from county court after appeal from justice court, oral pleadings of plaintiff held to be presumed such as to admit proof sufficient to sustain a judgment for plaintiff. Bowman v. Southwestern Land Co. (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 585.

Where the grounds of a plea in abatement were not in the record, it may not be said that the trial court erred in sustaining it. Hartford Fire Ins. Co. v. City of Houston (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 973.

Under the facts, held, the Court of Civil Appeals would presume that there was no pleading authorizing plaintiff to recover interest as part of his demand. Morris v. Smith, 51 C. A. 357, 112 S. W. 130.

The court, on appeal from a judgment disallowing a claim against an estate, held not entitled to presume that the original pleading demanded the allowance of the claim and was filed within 90 days after the rejection of the claim. Whitmire v. Powell (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 433.

Where, on appeal in an action for breach of contract, the transcript of the testimony contains a statement that the contract was put in evidence, but it is not made a part of the record, and the transcript states that the contract was correctly set forth in the pleadings, the court may assume that the contract put in evidence was correctly set forth in the petition. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Fenley (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 845.

The ruling of a trial court on a plea not in the record will be presumed to be correct, unless the contrary is shown. Gardner v. Planters' Nat. Bank of Honey Grove, 54 C. A. 572, 118 S. W. 1146.

The appellate court should indulge every reasonable inference as to the sufficiency of the pleadings where their substance is questioned on appeal. Donnell v. Currie & Dohoney (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 88.

Where plaintiff's statement of cause of action in a case originating in a justice's court is not incorporated in the record on appeal to the Court of Civil Appeals, that court will assume that the pleadings other than those appearing from the transcript were oral. Loomis v. Broadus & Leavell (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 743.

Where exceptions to plaintiff's petitions were not presented to nor acted on by the trial court, it would be presumed on appeal that they stated a cause of action. Prosser v. First Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 781.

Where a judgment rendered on April 18th adjudicated the issues raised by a cross-bill, it will be presumed that the clerk's file mark on the cross-bill dated April 19th was a clerical error, and that the cross-bill was on file when the judgment was rendered. Early & Clement Grain Co. v. Fite (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 673.

Where a cross-bill is filed to bring in new parties which seeks no relief against the plaintiff, and a motion to continue is sought to enable the petitioner to bring in such parties which is denied, and such parties were not brought in at the time of trial, it will be presumed that the cross-bill was abandoned. Thompson v. Harmon (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1161.

Where, in an action originating in justice court on an account more than two years old, the plaintiff filed written pleadings in the county court, but failed to plead any agreement fixing the time when the account should become due, though defendant specifically pleaded limitations, it will not be presumed, on appeal from the county court, that an instruction on the existence of such agreement was proper; such presumption being indulged only where the pleadings are oral. Young v. Sorenson & Hooper (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 676.

85. — Demurrer.—In reviewing the overruling of a demurrer to the complaint, its allegations must be accorded every reasonable intentment in favor of the right claimed. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Spivey, 97 T. 143, 76 S. W. 748.

On appeal held presumable that certain demurrers filed were not presented, but were waived. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rollins (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 1099.

Where the record shows no action by the court on a demurrer, the same must be considered waived. Whitmire v. Farmers' Nat. Bank of Hillsboro (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 512.

Where the record does not show that any action was taken by the trial court on defendant's exceptions to the petition, error therein, if any, is presumed to have been waived. Boardman v. Woodward (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 550.

Where a cause was tried by the court without a jury, the judgment for plaintiff will not be reversed for failure to sustain special exceptions to the petition. Martin v. A. B. Frank Co. (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 958.

Where plaintiffs by their supplemental petition excepted to the allegation of defendants' pleading, but no ruling was had upon these exceptions, the appellate court will assume that they were abandoned. Openshaw v. Dean (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 989.

The fact that exceptions to the petition on the ground of misjoinder of parties plaintiff were not presented to the trial court at the term at which they were filed held not to warrant a holding on appeal that the court had no jurisdiction to pass on them at a subsequent term in view of the record. Sharp v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 837.

Where the record fails to show any ruling on a general demurrer, it will be presumed on appeal to have been either abandoned or overruled. Cheek v. Nicholson (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 707.

Where the facts developed on the trial in the county court on appeal from a justice's court disclosed a good cause of action, the court on further appeal must presume in favor of the county court's ruling on a demurrer to the pleadings. Loomis v. Broadus & Leavell (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 743.

Special exceptions in pleadings not acted upon by the court will be presumed to have been waived except in case of a general demurrer. Beaumont Irrigating Co. v. Gregory (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 545.

Under the record, held, that it would be presumed on appeal that exceptions to the petition were waived. Mecca Fire Ins. Co. of Waco v. Stricker (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 599.

A judgment sustaining a demurrer held not reversible, although erroneous, where no complaint was made of the action in sustaining exceptions to petition, it being presumed that with the matter to which it related stricken out the petition was insufficient. Kruegel v. Nitschman (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 319.

86. — Amendments.—When the bill of exceptions fails to set forth the grounds of a ruling excluding an amendment to the pleadings, the presumption is that the court's discretion was properly exercised. Hurd v. Texas Brewing Co., 21 C. A. 296, 51 S. W. 883.

There is no presumption, on an appeal from a judgment holding an action barred by limitations, that the original petition, filed before the running of limitations, stated a different cause of action from an amendment filed thereafter and on which the judgment was rendered. Dwight v. Matthews, 94 T. 533, 62 S. W. 1052.

87. — Striking out or dismissal.—In a suit for partition, in which plaintiff filed a motion to strike out the answer of one who appeared as next friend of one of the defendants, held that it would be presumed on appeal that the court made proper inquiry before ruling on the motion. Lindly v. Lindly, 102 T. 135, 113 S. W. 750.

Where the record on appeal fails to show the ruling of the court on motion to strike out a pleading, the court on appeal will presume that the movant abandoned his motion. McComas v. Curtis (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 594.

88. Interlocutory proceedings.—The overruling of a motion to vacate a receivership held not erroneous where evidence is not in the record. Byrne v. First Nat. Bank, 20 C. A. 194, 49 S. W. 706.

Where the original petition is not in the record, an order denying defendant's application for continuance on the ground of surprise by the amended petition will be presumed proper. Texas Midland R. Co. v. Crowder, 25 C. A. 536, 64 S. W. 90.

In the absence of a statement of facts held it would be presumed in favor of a temporary injunction that defendant was selling intoxicating liquor without license or payment of the required tax other than as alleged in his answer. Barckell v. State (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 190.

In an action on a note, in which defendant was granted an injunction staying the suit until plaintiff had exhausted other securities, it will be presumed, on plaintiff's appeal from the restraining order, that the court found that the injunction would not delay plaintiff in the collection of the note. Chemical Nat. Bank v. Kiam, 52 C. A. 253, 113 S. W. 948.

In the absence of evidence to the contrary, it cannot be presumed on appeal that receivership proceedings were not conducted according to law. Dilley v. Jasper Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 878.

The denial of a motion for a continuance to procure testimony to meet an issue raised by a trial amendment is not cause for reversal, where neither the motion for continuance nor for new trial shows the existence of such testimony. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. Clements, 53 C. A. 143, 115 S. W. 664.

To support a judgment making an allowance to the clerk of court in receivership proceedings, the court on appeal must indulge the presumption that the allowance was on grounds and for a claim authorized by law. St. Louis Union Trust Co. v. Texas Southern Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 296.

A petition for a receiver not in the record on appeal held presumably sufficient ground for the court's action thereon. American Bonding Co. v. Williams (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 652.

Where the evidence on an application for a temporary restraining order does not appear in the statement of facts on an appeal from the judgment, it will be presumed that the order would not have been granted if the plaintiff had not shown himself entitled thereto. Nelson v. Lamm (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 664.

Where the statement of facts shows that the evidence on an application for a temporary restraining order was by agreement read and considered on the trial of the case, but does not set out such evidence, it will be presumed that the evidence was sufficient to support the court's findings. Id.

The court, on appeal from a judgment denying a temporary injunction, will presume that the trial judge did not abuse his discretion, in the absence of any statement of facts, bill of exceptions, or findings of fact in the record. Spence v. Fenchler (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1094.

89. Qualification and selection of jurors.—Presumption that the court acted properly in accepting jurors who had not paid their poll tax held not destroyed by the reasons given by the court for its action in qualifying the bill of exceptions. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Lester (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 401.

90. Conduct of trial.—It is not necessary that the record should show that the jury was sworn, that being presumed, unless the contrary appears. Clark v. Davis, 7 T. 556; Drake v. Brander, 8 T. 351; Freiberg v. Lowe, 61 T. 436.

If the bill of exceptions does not show that admissions required by Dist. Ct. Rule No. 31 (20 S. W. xiv) were made and recorded, it will be presumed that everything was done to entitle defendant to the right to open and close, and that it was properly adjudged to him. McCardell v. Henry, 23 C. A. 383, 57 S. W. 908.

Where the record does not show otherwise, the presumption from the action of the trial court in allowing a jury should be that all that was essential to entitle the defendant thereto had been done. San Jacinto Oil Co. v. Culberson, 100 T. 462, 101 S. W. 197.

Where defendant filed a plea of privilege, and alleged that the assignment sued on was fraudulent for the purpose of conferring venue, and pleaded estoppel upon the merits of the case, and where special exceptions to the plea of privilege were sustained, the court, in the absence of a statement of facts, must presume that defendant was not allowed to prove his allegations of estoppel and fraudulent assignment. Drummond v. Allen Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 739.

91. Admissibility and reception of evidence.—In an action on notes for the price of land which the vendee claims is deficient in quantity, the admission of parol evidence that the sale was in gross, in the absence of a deed, will not be presumed erroneous. Elder v. First Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 124.

It will be presumed on appeal that a deed was properly delivered if on the trial no objection was made to its admission in evidence. Hurst v. McMullen (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 666.

Where on appeal it appeared that the court admitted the statutes of another state in evidence, it will be presumed, where the bill of exceptions does not show the contrary, that the volume was published by authority of such other state and was admissible under Art. 3692. Blethen v. Bonner (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 571.

Where a witness was asked to attach a certain paper to his deposition, but did not do so, and the court admitted his testimony as to its contents, it will be assumed, in favor of the court's ruling, that witness did not reside within the county. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dilworth, 95 T. 327, 67 S. W. 88.

Testimony held to be presumed on appeal to be as to market value. Caplen v. Cox, 42 C. A. 297, 92 S. W. 1048.

Where it was not shown that a deed was not proved as at common law, it will be presumed that it was so proved in support of its admission over an objection that it was not filed, that no notice was given, nor agreement had authorizing its introduction. Maffi v. Stephens (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 158.

In the absence of a showing what the answer of a witness would have been to a question to which an objection was sustained, the court on appeal cannot assume that the answer would have been of benefit to the party complaining, or that its exclusion was harmful to him. Goldstein v. Susholtz, 46 C. A. 582, 105 S. W. 219.

On appeal held it must be presumed certain evidence was properly admitted. Sterling v. De Laune, 47 C. A. 470, 105 S. W. 1169.

In the absence of a statement in the brief of evidence, showing that an expert witness was not qualified to give an opinion, it will be presumed that the ruling of the trial court is correct. El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Smith, 50 C. A. 10, 108 S. W. 988.

When the excluded evidence is not made a part of the bill of exceptions or shown in the record, it will be presumed that it was properly excluded. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. McAnellia (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 936.

Error in refusing to require a whole letter to be read in evidence held insufficiently shown. T. A. Robertson & Co. v. Russell, 51 C. A. 257, 111 S. W. 205.

Presumptions as to the evidence in absence of a statement of fact, stated. Garza v. Cotton (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 212.

In the absence from the record of any evidence of the qualification of a witness to express his opinion, the ruling of the trial court excluding such opinion will be presumed to be correct. Peters v. Strauss (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 956.

Where the record does not show the contents of certain memoranda offered in evidence and improperly excluded, the court cannot presume that the exclusion was prejudicial. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Pearson (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 733.

92. Dismissal or direction of verdict.—Where a judgment fails to include one of the defendants to the action, it will be presumed that it was dismissed as to him. Smith v. Wilson, 18 C. A. 24, 44 S. W. 556.

On appeal from an order denying a motion to reinstate a cause after a voluntary nonsuit, held that it would be presumed that the court found that statements in the motion were untrue. Sanchez v. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 689.

On appeal in trespass to try title held it must be presumed on the record that the court did not err in directing verdict for plaintiff. Newnom v. Williamson, 46 C. A. 615, 103 S. W. 656.

On the pleadings and proceedings in the case, a verdict having been directed for defendant, held, that it would be presumed on appeal that the matters pleaded by plaintiff were proved or admitted, and were such as to entitle her to recover, unless defeated by plaintiff's noncompliance with a statute pleaded in abatement. Sawyer v. El Paso & N. E. Ry. Co., 49 C. A. 106, 108 S. W. 718.

The appellate court will presume that an action was dismissed as to parties whom the record does not show were served, or answered, although there is no judgment entry of the dismissal. Porter v. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co., 56 C. A. 479, 121 S. W. 897.

On appeal from a judgment for defendant upon a directed verdict, testimony conflicting with that favorable to plaintiff and tending to support the defense will not be considered. Smith v. Queen City Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 309.

In the absence of a statement or conclusion of facts, the appellate court must indulge every presumption necessary to sustain the ruling of the trial court in directing a verdict. McCoy v. Pafford (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 968.

For the purposes of an appeal from a judgment on a directed verdict for defendant, plaintiff's evidence must be taken as true. Grubb v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 694.

93. Instructions.—In the absence of proof to the contrary, it will be presumed that the court, in instructing the jury to find on special issues, did so at the request of one of the parties. Belknap v. Groover (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 249.

On appeal, it will be presumed that a charge, requested because of certain alleged argument of plaintiff's counsel, was refused because no such argument was made. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Mills, 34 C. A. 127, 78 S. W. 11.

A charge expressly given, "In view of the argument of plaintiff by his counsel," presumed on appeal to have been warranted by the argument. Beaty v. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 365.

In the absence of a statement of facts or bill of exceptions, the judgment will not be reversed for errors in the charge, unless they are so glaring as to leave no doubt that the findings must have been controlled thereby. Oliver v. Grant (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 1022.

Where the court's charge was acted upon, the jury returning a verdict in accordance therewith, it will be presumed that the charge was filed as required by law. Carter v. Kieran (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 272.

An erroneous requested instruction will be regarded as having invited error in the court's general charge embracing the same instruction when there is nothing in the record to show that the requested instruction was not responsible for the error. Nagle v. Simmank, 54 C. A. 432, 116 S. W. 862.

Where an instruction as to damages may be construed as not authorizing a double recovery, it will be presumed that the jury so construed it, though it cannot be said to be incapable of a different construction. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Morrison (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1157.

From the record on appeal, in an action to try title, the Court of Civil Appeals held not entitled to assume certain facts in support of special charges. Fleming v. Mistletoe Heights Land Co. (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 923.

Statement of trial court instruction as to contention of parties held to be accepted as correct, in absence of showing in the record to the contrary. Davis v. Mills (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 1064.

Where the court's general charge was warranted by the pleadings, in the absence of a statement of facts, the Supreme Court will assume that the evidence warranted it. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Alexander (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 703.

In determining whether or not an instruction misled the jury, they will be presumed to have read and considered the entire charge. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Cameron (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 709.

In the absence of a statement of facts, the court, on appeal, cannot presume that the evidence raised any issue of fact on a point not submitted by the trial court to the jury. Water & Light Co. of El Campo v. El Campo Light, Ice & Water Co. (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 259.

94. Custody and conduct of jury.—It must be presumed, in the absence of any showing to the contrary, that the jury obeyed an instruction to disregard certain testimony. Patterson & Wallace v. Frazer (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 146.

Where counsel withdrew his remarks when objected to, and the jury were instructed to disregard them, the court on appeal will presume that the jury obeyed the instruction. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Scarborough (Civ. App.) 104 S. W. 408.

In the absence of a statement of facts, a finding of the trial court that the report of the jury of view appointed to lay out a road was accepted will be presumed to be correct, though the fact is not shown by the record of the commissioners' court. Cator v. Hays (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 953.

95. Verdict.—It will be presumed, in support of the refusal to submit special issues, that the request came too late. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Ford, 22 C. A. 131, 54 S. W. 37.

In the absence of a statement of facts on appeal, in an action against defendants who had replevied chattels, where the verdict did not find the value of each article replevied, it would be presumed that the finding was unnecessary. Bonner v. Springfield Wagon Co. (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 1032.

Where appellants failed to request the submission of an issue to the jury, and the judgment rests on a special verdict, it will be presumed that the court found against them on such issue. Walker v. Marchbanks, 32 C. A. 303, 74 S. W. 929.

The record being silent, held, that it would be presumed, if necessary to sustain the action of the court, that a request for submission of special issues was made. Stahl v. Askey (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 79.

Where the appeal record did not contain all of the evidence, it will be presumed on appeal that evidence was admitted tending to prove a fact found in the absence of a showing by appellant that such was not the fact. Sawyer v. First Nat. Bank, 41 C. A. 486, 93 S. W. 151.

In the absence of a showing to the contrary, it must be presumed that the jury based their verdict on the evidence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Davenport (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 150.

It will be presumed that the jury in determining the amount of their verdict confined themselves to evidence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Garber, 51 C. A. 70, 111 S. W. 227.

Any reasonable explanation of the evidence consistent with the verdict must be adopted by the court in reviewing the sufficiency of the evidence to sustain the verdict. Grand Fraternity v. Melton (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 967.

Where a charge did not authorize a consideration of any damages not proved, it will not be presumed that the jury considered such damages, in the absence of anything in the record showing that they might have done so. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Craig, 52 C. A. 611, 114 S. W. 850.

It will be inferred that the jury assessed the damages according to the case proved and the instructions of the trial court. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Hutson & Brown, 56 C. A. 74, 120 S. W. 213.

It should be assumed on appeal that the jury considered the charge as a whole. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Holt, 57 C. A. 19, 121 S. W. 581.

Where objection is sustained to improper argument of counsel, and the jury instructed to ignore it, the presumption is that the jury heeded the court's instructions. Continental Casualty Co. v. Deeg (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 353.

An appellate court reviewing a judgment rendered on a verdict must presume that the jury followed the instructions. Barnes v. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co., 103 T. 387, 128 S. W. 367.

A motion to enter judgment on a jury's findings on special issues does not call into question the sufficiency of the evidence to support the verdict or conclusions of the court as involved in its judgment, but requires the appellate court to assume all findings and conclusions as proven. Eisenstadt Mfg. Co. v. Copeland (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 713.

Where material issues, on which the evidence was conflicting, were submitted, but not answered, it must be assumed upon a motion or judgment upon the verdict that the parties consented that the court, instead of the jury, decide such issues of fact. Id.

Where a general verdict is rendered for defendant in a case involving several defenses, and the evidence sustains one defense, it is immaterial that it does not sustain the others, the presumption being that the verdict was based on the defense sustainable. Parker v. Naylor (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1096.

Where, on objection to a question asked by counsel of the opposing counsel during argument, the court instructed the jury not to consider the same, it must be presumed that the instruction was obeyed. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Roberts (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 455.

The court must presume that the jury followed the instructions. Wyatt v. Moore (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1133.

In the absence of a statement of facts, it will be assumed that all material facts necessary to support the verdict were established at trial. Tiefel Bros. & Winn v. Maxwell (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 319.

96. Findings of court.—When presumed that immaterial and irrelevant evidence did not affect findings. Frenkel v. Caddou (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 638.

Where the conclusions of fact of the court trying a case without a jury are not a part of the record, the court on appeal must assume that the trial court did not consider improper evidence. Ward v. Armistead, 17 C. A. 374, 43 S. W. 63; Texas & N. O. Ry. Co. v. Dorman (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 1086; Goodson v. Fitzgerald, 40 C. A. 619, 90 S. W. 898; Rowan v. Stockwell (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 148; Martin v. A. B. Frank Co., 125 S. W. 958; Robinson v. Dale, 131 S. W. 308; Bauknight v. St. Louis S. W. Ry. of Texas, 133 S. W. 936.

There being no findings of fact in the record, the appellate court must assume that a certain point in issue, on which the evidence is conflicting, was found in favor of the successful party. City Drug Store v. Scottish Union & National Ins. Co. (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 21.

It was presumed from the record that the question of the garnishee's indebtedness was submitted to the court orally, and that the evidence justified a finding of indebtedness. Seinsheimer v. Flanagan, 17 C. A. 427, 44 S. W. 30.

A conclusion deduced from facts set out in findings which are contrary to such conclusion will be presumed to have been overcome by evidence. Jarrell v. Sproles, 20 C. A. 387, 49 S. W. 904.

Where there is no statement of facts and conclusion of facts filed in the trial court, the presumption on appeal is the court heard the evidence on the issues presented, and his findings were correct. Graves v. George (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 262.

Where neither the agreed facts nor the special verdict furnished the facts necessary to form a basis for the judgment, the trial court will be presumed to have found the facts essential to support the judgment, if such facts are found in the statement of facts. State Nat. Loan & Trust Co. v. Fuller, 26 C. A. 318, 63 S. W. 552.

A specific finding of fact will be presumed, in the absence of statement of facts, to have been made on sufficient evidence. Sweet v. Lowery (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 1022.

Where the trial court does not find a certain fact in issue, it will be presumed on appeal that the evidence did not warrant such finding. Rilling v. Schultze, 95 T. 352, 67 S. W. 401.

In the absence of a statement of facts on appeal, it will be presumed that there was evidence to support a finding. Thatcher v. Jeffries (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 1091; Western Supply & Mfg. Co. v. United States & Mexican Trust Co., 41 C. A. 478, 92 S. W. 986; Johnson v. Grace (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 1064; Stevens v. Taylor, 102 S. W. 791; Rivers v. Campbell, 51 C. A. 103, 111 S. W. 190; Goode v. Pierce (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 688; Gorman v. Campbell, 135 S. W. 177; McCoy v. Pafford, 150 S. W. 968.

Where the record contains no finding of fact, the court will impute to the trial court such a finding, if supported by the evidence, as will support the judgment. Ragley Lumber Co. v. Insurance Co. of North America, 42 C. A. 511, 94 S. W. 185.

In a trial by the court, in the absence of findings of fact, the appellate court will impute such findings as supported by the evidence will sustain the judgment. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 106.

The court, on appeal from a judgment in an action on a note by a transferee thereof, held bound to find that the maker had no valid defense as against the transferee. Adams v. Bartell, 46 C. A. 349, 102 S. W. 779.

Under Arts. 3347 and 4117-4119, held, to uphold the county judge in reducing a guardian's bond, it cannot be presumed that another inventory was taken reducing the value of the estate. Moore v. Hanscom (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 665.

Where the trial judge files no conclusions of fact, it will be assumed on appeal that he found every disputed fact in such a way as to support the judgment. Campbell v. Stover, 101 T. 82, 104 S. W. 1047.

There being no conclusions of the trial judge, all issues on which there was evidence must be taken as resolved by the trial court in favor of the judgment. Webb County v. Hasie, 52 C. A. 16, 113 S. W. 188.

A stated presumption held to arise on appeal from a judgment for plaintiff in an action on a health policy providing for indemnity only for illness beginning after 60 days after the policy issued. General Accident Ins. Co. v. Hayes, 52 C. A. 272, 113 S. W. 990.

The overruling of a motion in an action for damages caused by and to restrain the maintenance of a dam held presumptively proper. Boyd v. Schreiner (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 100.

It will be presumed that the trial judge did not consider testimony improperly admitted, where he stated that he would not consider improper testimony, unless it affirmatively appears from the findings that such testimony was considered. Edwards v. White (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 914.

Where the lower court in a nonjury trial makes its written conclusions of fact, in accordance with certain testimony, in the absence of a showing that such facts were not considered by it in the final determination of the case, an appeal must be disposed of upon the theory that they were so considered. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Vandiver, 57 C. A. 470, 122 S. W. 955.

The case having been tried on an agreement of parties that all evidence should be considered as objected to as irrelevant, immaterial, hearsay, and not the best evidence, and the court having stated that it would not consider irrelevant, immaterial, hearsay, or inadmissible evidence, it must be assumed that any evidence inadmissible on any such grounds was not considered by the court. Rowan v. Stockwell (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 148.

In the absence of a bill of exceptions to the refusal of a trial judge to grant a motion for findings of fact and conclusions of law, it will be presumed that the judge knew nothing about the motion. Covington v. Sloan (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 690.

In a suit to enjoin the collection of taxes on the ground of discrimination in assessing plaintiff's land, held, that it could not be assumed from a finding made that the court would have found that the valuation placed upon plaintiff's land was more than two-thirds of its fair cash market value. Lufkin Land & Lumber Co. v. Noble (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1093.

Where a case is tried by the court, it will be presumed that improper evidence submitted over objection was not considered. Skinner v. D. Sullivan & Co. (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 426.

The court on appeal, in view of the absence of an assignment of error, held required to assume the existence of evidence to prove a fact. Goodwin v. Simpson (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1190.

In an action against carriers for misdelivery of live stock, a finding of no delivery to the consignee held presumed to have been sustained by competent evidence, as against an assignment of error to the admission of certain testimony. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lockhart (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 127.

Where the court does not file its findings and conclusions, it is incumbent upon appellant to negative, by appropriate assignments of error, every theory upon which the judgment might have been based. Aycock v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 641, following Walker v. Cole, 34 S. W. 713, 89 T. 323; Hathaway v. Texas Building & Loan Ass'n, 45 S. W. 1023, 19 C. A. 240.

The court on appeal from a judgment on the ground of the insufficiency of the evidence to support the findings will take the testimony most favorable to the findings. St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Landa & Storey (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 292.

In support of the judgment for defendant in sequestration, on his plea for damages, filed after plaintiff had moved to dismiss, trial having been without citation, if one was otherwise necessary, the circumstances will be viewed most favorably to the court's finding that plaintiff was represented at the trial by attorneys, though they claimed to be acting only as friends of the court. Morris v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 677.

The appellate court will not presume that the court based his finding of damages on certain inadmissible evidence, where the admissible evidence would have authorized a finding for a much greater amount. Garrett v. Grisham (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 505.

97. Order granting or refusing new trial.—Where no assignment attacks the verdict as excessive, the court will presume in support of the judgment that, if the jury found in plaintiff's favor on account of lessened earning capacity, they found only nominal damages shown by the evidence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Niblack, 53 C. A. 619, 117 S. W. 188.

98. Amount of recovery.—Where a petition for new trial does not negative a recital in the judgment attacked that a certain defendant answered, the court will presume the recital true. Woolley v. Sullivan, 92 T. 28, 45 S. W. 377.

Where in reconviction for damages, actual and exemplary, for a wrongful sequestration, there was a judgment for actual damages alone, held, that it would be presumed that certain evidence was not considered in arriving at the decision. Falls City Clothing Co. v. Cannon (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 189.

Where the trial judge has entertained a motion for new trial, it will be presumed that the motion was filed in time. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Johnson & Johnson (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 725.

99. Judgment.—In the absence of a statement of facts, the right of defendant in error to the recovery allowed will be presumed to have been established by competent evidence. Frenkel v. Caddou (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 638; Ward v. Armistead, 17 C. A. 374, 43 S. W. 63; Adams v. Weir & Flagg (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 726; Sullivan-Sanford Lumber Co. v. Cline, 114 S. W. 175.

A court in rendering a judgment is presumed to have disposed of the issues presented by the pleadings. Woolley v. Sullivan (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 919.

Every reasonable presumption is indulged to support a judgment. State v. Zanco's Heirs, 18 C. A. 127, 44 S. W. 527; Colbert v. Brown (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 521; Voges v. Dittlinger, 72 S. W. 875; Parker v. Citizens' Ry. Co., 43 C. A. 168, 95 S. W. 38; Dilley v. Jasper Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 878; Kreugel v. Rawlins, 103 T. 86, 124 S. W. 419; Elwood Arnett & Arnett v. Copeland (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 146; Maes v. Thomas, 140 S. W. 846; Ben C. Jones & Co. v. Gammel-Statesman Pub. Co., 141 S. W. 1048; Sutherland v. Cabiness, 146 S. W. 331; Ralls v. Parish, 151 S. W. 1089; Tobin v. Benson, 152 S. W. 642; Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Glenn, 156 S. W. 1116; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Watson, 157 S. W. 438.

It will be presumed, in support of a judgment, that every issue of fact made by the pleadings, and not determined in the court's findings, has been found in favor of the prevailing party. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Purcell, 91 T. 585, 44 S. W. 1058.

It will be presumed that land described in a judgment is the same as that in the petition, there being no contradiction in the petition. Leavell v. Seale (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 171; Seale v. Leavell, Id.

Where there is no statement or conclusions of fact, it will be presumed that the facts supported the judgment. Woolley v. Sullivan (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 861; Billingsley v. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co., 49 S. W. 407; Cabell v. Floyd, 50 S. W. 478; Turner v. City of Houston, 21 C. A. 214, 51 S. W. 642; Bonner v. Freedman (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 306; Anderson v. Carter, 29 C. A. 240, 69 S. W. 78; Voges v. Dittlinger (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 875; Ward v. Cameron, 76 S. W. 240; Adams v. Bartell, 46 C. A. 349, 102 S. W. 779; Newnom v. Williamson, 46 C. A. 615, 103 S. W. 656; Ryan v. Teague, 50 C. A. 153, 110 S. W. 117; Griffith v. Reagan (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 1167; Bradshaw v. Lyles, 55 C. A. 384, 119 S. W. 918; Garza v. Cotton (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 212; Donnell v. Currie & Dohoney, 131 S. W. 88; Hamburger & Dreyling v. Settegast, Id. 639; Maes v. Thomas, 140 S. W. 846; Chickasha Milling Co. v. Crutcher, 141 S. W. 355; Chambers v. Shook, 145 S. W. 1039; Kittrell v. Irwin, 149 S. W. 199.

Where addition to note after delivery of name of signer will release sureties, their consent will be presumed in support of a judgment against them, there being no finding as to such consent. Connor v. Thornton (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 354.

Where there is nothing shown to the contrary, it will be presumed that, when a trial judge did not decide a case tried in January until July, it was taken under advisement by agreement. Brown v. Boles (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 120.

It will not be presumed, in aid of a judgment on appeal from a justice, that there was an oral plea of estoppel, where the record affirmatively shows the contrary. Stanger v. Dorsey, 22 C. A. 573, 55 S. W. 129.

In the absence of a statement of facts, it must be presumed on appeal that allegations of fact in the petition were proved. Ackermann v. Ackermann, 22 C. A. 612, 55 S. W. 801; Petty v. Petty (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 923; Howard v. Emerson, 65 S. W. 382; Varnar v. Varnar, 35 C. A. 381, 80 S. W. 386; Ellis v. National Exch. Bank, 38 C. A. 619, 86 S. W. 776; Longwell v. Longwell, 39 C. A. 612, 88 S. W. 416; Owens v. Owens, 40 C. A. 641, 90 S. W. 664; Mateer v. Jones (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 734; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Alexander, 135 S. W. 703; Pioneer Lumber Co. v. Smither, 135 S. W. 705; Pecos & N. T. R. Co. v. Cox, 141 S. W. 327.

No presumption will be indulged that the trial court had before it sufficient evidence to sustain a plea of privilege. Hall v. Howell (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 561.

Where proceedings to enjoin incorporation of a town for school purposes, sought because the consent of voters of infringed districts was not provided for, were dismissed, such consent will be presumed on appeal, the contrary not appearing. Pinson v. Vesey, 23 C. A. 91, 56 S. W. 593.

A finding that defendants had abandoned their homestead when they mortgaged it will be made on appeal in support of the judgment where justified by the evidence. Hooks v. Scottish-American Mortg. Co. (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 685.

A petition alleging that defendant qualified as executrix, and by the terms of the will was appointed independent executrix, it must be presumed, in the absence of a statement of facts in the record, that the proof showed that defendant had qualified and was acting as such independent executrix. Ellis v. Mabry, 25 C. A. 164, 60 S. W. 571.

On appeal, it will be presumed, in the absence of the pleadings, that they were sufficient to sustain the judgment. Boyd v. Ghent, 95 T. 46, 64 S. W. 929; Western Supply & Mfg. Co. v. United States & Mexican Trust Co., 41 C. A. 478, 92 S. W. 936; Holloway v. Hall (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 895.

It will be presumed on appeal, in support of a judgment, so as to justify the trial court's finding that the question of notice to him was immaterial, that the trial court found that a judgment creditor, purchasing at his own execution sale and testifying that he credited his bid on his judgment, was not a purchaser for value. Masterson v. Burnett, 27 C. A. 370, 66 S. W. 90.

In support of judgment, held, that a fact, though not specially found, would be presumed under the circumstances. Puster v. Anderson, 27 C. A. 626, 66 S. W. 684.

In an action for wrongful attachment of goods by an agent, held that it would be presumed on appeal, in the absence of a statement of facts, that the evidence showed knowledge of the principal and acquiescence in the agent's acts. Leonard v. Harkleroad (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 127.

The court having held that a mortgage by surviving husband who had remarried was void as to the children who inherited the wife's community interest, it will be presumed on appeal that the court found that the mortgagee had notice of the facts. American Freehold Land Mortg. Co. v. Dulock (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 172.

In the absence of evidence in the record, it will be presumed that a judgment denying a plea of privilege was warranted. Robinson v. Chamberlain, 29 C. A. 170, 63 S. W. 209.

The court on appeal, in a suit to recover school land by an applicant for the purchase thereof, cannot infer, in aid of the judgment, that the applicant proved that he was an actual settler on the land or an owner of and settler on other land. Sterling v. Self, 30 C. A. 284, 70 S. W. 238.

In trespass to try title, in absence of conclusions of fact and judgment for defendant, the court on appeal will presume evidence for plaintiff insufficient. Tuggle v. Wakefield Iron & Coal Land Imp. Co., 30 C. A. 393, 70 S. W. 555.

Failure to make a sufficient finding held not ground for reversal; a further finding not being asked, and there being evidence to support one, and it being presumed that the court resolved the issue so as to support the judgment. Malone v. Fisher (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 996.

In support of a judgment, held, that it would be presumed on appeal that a certain league of land was located and surveyed by virtue of a certain certificate. Lynch v. Pittman, 31 C. A. 563, 73 S. W. 862.

Where the court charged that a certificate was located on tracts in an organized county, and bill of exceptions showed stipulation that the county was organized, it would be assumed, on appeal, in the absence of statement of facts, that the county was organized and land afterwards located. McCaleb v. Rector (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 956.

In the absence of evidence as to the nature and character of injuries, it will be presumed that a default judgment in a certain sum was supported by the testimony heard by the trial judge. El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Kelly (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 855.

Court on error held not entitled to presume that nunc pro tunc entries were made at a special term, so that they were necessarily considered as made in vacation. Accousi v. G. A. Stowers Furniture Co. (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 1104.

In a suit for divorce and partition of community property, it must be presumed, in the absence of a statement of facts, that the court made a fair and equitable settlement, and that its adjudication was founded on evidence sustaining it. Longwell v. Longwell, 39 C. A. 612, 88 S. W. 416.

In a suit for divorce and partition of community property, it must be presumed in favor of the judgment that a sum adjudged to defendant as a charge on the community was proven, as alleged, to be the amount of his separate funds invested in the community property. Id.

Where it does not appear on appeal what the exception sustained to a plea in bar was, the court will consider any valid exceptions that may have been interposed, and assume in favor of the judgment. Hummel v. Del Greco, 40 C. A. 510, 90 S. W. 339.

A presumption in favor of the propriety of the entry of a judgment nunc pro tunc held to arise on the failure of the bill of exceptions to state all the facts before the court on the hearing of the motion for the judgment. S. W. Slayden & Co. v. Palmo (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 908.

In the absence of evidence, the rights of a person by virtue of an instrument executed by one to whom money had been advanced held determined by the instrument alone. Mansfield v. Wardlow (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 859.

On appeal in an action for damages for breach of a contract to lease held on the record that it must be deemed established that the contract was oral. Pinto v. Rintleman, 42 C. A. 344, 92 S. W. 1003.

Where the appeal record disclosed that the judgment did not conform to the verdict, no presumption arose in favor thereof from the absence of a statement of facts. Letot v. Peacock (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 1121.

Leave of court to intervener to file his petition will be presumed to sustain the judgment of the trial court. American Surety Co. of New York v. San Antonio Loan & Trust Co. (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 387.

On appeal in action brought in justice's court, held not presumable in order to sustain the judgment that there were oral pleadings as well as the written demand filed by plaintiff. Harrington Lumber Co. v. Smith, 44 C. A. 363, 99 S. W. 110.

Presumption of appellate court that every fact essential to the correctness of the trial court's judgment was proved, held not to apply where there are findings. Kimball v. Houston Oil Co., 100 T. 336, 99 S. W. 852.

Where statement of facts fails to show holding of courts in cases introduced in evidence, it will be presumed that it would support the action of the trial court. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Sloss, 45 C. A. 153, 100 S. W. 354.

Allegations of petition against a railroad company for coal sold to its receiver held sufficient to admit proof of the value of the property returned to the railroad company on the receiver's discharge, so that in the absence of a statement of facts it would be presumed on appeal that sufficient value was proved to warrant the judgment. Gulf & Interstate Ry. Co. v. Southwestern Coal Selling Co. (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 64.

Where, in a suit to set aside a judgment, proof of a fact would have supported the judgment and defeated the action, it must be presumed in support of the decision of the trial court setting aside the judgment that no such proof was made, no statement of facts appearing. American Surety Co. v. Bernstein, 101 T. 189, 105 S. W. 990; Same v. Hockwald, 101 T. 197, 105 S. W. 992; Same v. Allen, Id.

Where a plea of privilege to be sued in a different county was determined by the court along with the case on its merits and judgment was for defendant, held, it could not be assumed that judgment was rendered on the plea of privilege alone, and the other questions are open for review. Gibbs Nat. Bank v. Citizens' Bank (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 776.

Where plaintiff sued for six separate penalties covering successive years and recovered two, and he was not entitled to recover for the first two years, to support the judgment the Court of Civil Appeals will assume the two recovered covered the subsequent years. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Voss, 49 C. A. 566, 109 S. W. 984.

Where judgment is for defendant, who sets up two grounds of defense, one of which is invalid, it will be presumed on appeal that the judgment was based on the valid ground. Young v. Jackson, 50 C. A. 351, 110 S. W. 74.

Where, in an action on notes, the court refused to find whether plaintiff was a bona fide holder, the Court of Civil Appeals cannot assume in aid of a judgment for him that he was such a holder. Smith v. Carey (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 157.

To sustain a judgment, a corporation's control of suretyship presumed valid on appeal in the absence of a showing to the contrary. Forty-Acre Spring Live Stock Co. v. West Texas Bank & Trust Co. (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 417.

Where the petition does not show the amount of capital stock and there is no statement of facts in the record, the appellate court will not presume that the vendor lien notes exceeded the capital stock so as to invalidate a judgment thereon, although the defendant's answer alleged that they exceeded the capital stock. The answer is not proof. Id.

Even if there was no finding that an agent acted under a power of attorney in executing a conveyance to defendants' ancestor, it will be presumed in support of the judgment for defendants that the court so found. Neill v. Kleiber, 51 C. A. 552, 112 S. W. 694.

Facts in a personal injury action held to require a presumption by the Court of Civil Appeals on defendant's appeal that plaintiff was entitled to recover. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Motwiller, 51 C. A. 432, 112 S. W. 794.

The Supreme Court on writ of error must resolve every conflict of evidence in favor of defendant in error, and draw that conclusion which the most favorable view of the evidence will warrant in support of the judgment. San Antonio Irr. Co. v. Deutschman, 102 T. 201, 114 S. W. 1174.

Where judgment was rendered against a claimant seeking to establish a claim against an estate, the court on appeal could not presume that the claim, when presented to the administrator and by him rejected, was verified, as required by statute. Whitmire v. Powell (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 433.

Where findings are sufficient to support the judgment, it will be presumed to have been based thereon, in the absence of a showing to the contrary in the record. Lowrance v. Woods, 54 C. A. 233, 118 S. W. 551.

Where only a general demurrer was interposed to a plea of reconvention, and the demurrer was not acted upon by the court, every intendment that could have been indulged in favor of the plea had the demurrer been insisted on should be given it on appeal, where the judgment is assailed on account of the insufficiency of the plea. Knox v. McElroy (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 1142.

Under a partition decree, no presumption held to arise that the court determined that the land was capable of partition. Fagan v. Fagan, 56 C. A. 175, 120 S. W. 550.

Where the trial court did not find any fact inconsistent with its conclusions of law, the court on appeal must presume that the trial court's determination of the issue of fact supported the judgment. Hatton v. Bodan Lumber Co., 57 C. A. 478, 123 S. W. 163.

There being nothing in the record to indicate that the judgment was not based on a certain finding which was sufficient to sustain it, the judgment will be affirmed. Barnett & Record Co. v. Fall (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 644.

The court on appeal will presume that the trial court would not render judgment against all of the defendants in the action if all had not been cited or had not appeared and answered. McDonald v. Denton (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 823.

Court held presumed, under statute, to have made finding on issue in such a way as to support the judgment rendered. Fitzhugh v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 913.

In the absence of findings of fact or conclusions of law in the record, the appellate court must presume, to sustain the judgment, that a finding necessary to sustain it was made, if the evidence would sustain such a finding. Durham v. Luce (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 850.

In an action on a note, where defendant introduced a release showing on its face payments on the note in suit, held, that it would be presumed on appeal that all of the items claimed as credits were adjusted by such release, or that the amount mentioned therein did not include all payments made prior thereto. Abernathy v. McCrummen (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 665.

Where no conclusions of fact are requested, or if requested none are filed, the appellate court will impute to the trial court such a finding as will sustain the judgment. Velasco Fish & Oyster Co. v. Texas Co. (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1184.

Where there is no assignment of error that the evidence was insufficient to authorize a judgment on a cross-action, every presumption in favor of the correctness of the judgment in that respect must be indulged. Rotan Grocery Co. v. Tatum (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 342.

In an action by insured to recover premiums and for damages for the insurer's breach of its contract, held that, in support of the judgment for the insured, a certain finding would be presumed to have been made. Washington Life Ins. Co. v. Lovejoy (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 398.

Where, in determining priorities between two transfers, the judgment stated that one should be paid in full before the other, there being no statement of facts in the record, the judgment will be sustained. A. A. Fielder Lumber Co. v. Smith (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 605.

Where there is no statement of facts in the record, the Court of Civil Appeals, in order to support a judgment for a prior chattel mortgagee, will impute to the court a finding against the subsequent mortgagee on the issue of priority. Neely-Harris-Cunningham Co. v. Lacy Bros. & Jones (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 441.

It is presumed on appeal that the trial court considered the contents of certain petitions, if their consideration were necessary to the rendition of the proper judgment. D. Sullivan & Co. v. Ramsey (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 580.

100. Orders and proceedings after judgment.—Where a record on appeal does not contain the testimony upon which the trial court overruled a motion to vacate the judgment, made upon the ground that the case was tried on appeal from justice's court without notice that an appeal had been perfected and in absence of defendants, it cannot be said by the Supreme Court, that there was error in overruling the motion. Smith Bros. v. Flanders (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 80.

The presumption should not be indulged that a default judgment was set aside because of a defective citation or service thereof, if it operates to invalidate a subsequent default entered. Smith v. Smith (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 198.

101. Costs.—Decision on motion to retax costs, not stating the grounds, will be presumed on the merits, and correct, in the absence of a statement of facts in the record. Watkins v. Atwell, 21 C. A. 193, 50 S. W. 1047.

Where, on appeal from order overruling motion to retax costs, there is no statement of facts in the record, though time was given in which to file same, it will be presumed that there was no error. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Davis (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 598.

102. Taking and perfecting appeal or other proceeding for review.—It will be presumed by Court of Civil Appeals, testimony not being before it, on appeal from dismissal of appeal by county court for failure to file bond, that facts stated in pauper's oath filed in lieu thereof were disproved. Cook v. Burson & Gaines (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 871.

Where a bond on a writ of error was dated and filed before citations were issued, but the deputy clerk did not indorse his approval thereon, it would be presumed that the deputy clerk accepted the bond as sufficient. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 620.

On an appeal transferred from another Court of Civil Appeals, held, that it would be presumed that the clerk observed rule 2 (67 S. W. xiii) in filing a transcript. City of Eagle Lake v. Lakeside Sugar Refining Co. (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 709; Same v. Lakeside Rice Mill Co. (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 712.

103. Making and contents of bill of exceptions, case or statement of facts.—When it does not otherwise appear, it will be presumed that the bill was presented for approval, as required, within 10 days after trial. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. De Ham (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 395.

It will be presumed that the bill of exceptions states all that occurred at the trial. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Boyd, 40 C. A. 93, 88 S. W. 509.

Where a motion for a new trial was heard on bills of exceptions, it will be presumed that the bills were drawn and numbered and were before the court for approval when the motion for a new trial was filed. City of Austin v. Forbis, 99 T. 234, 89 S. W. 405.

It will be presumed on appeal that a party making a general objection to evidence given on a former trial intended to incorporate the ground of objection made by him at the former trial as set forth in the stenographer's report of the testimony. Hardin v. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co., 49 C. A. 184, 108 S. W. 490.

In the absence of a contrary showing in a bill of exceptions, an objection held presumed to be made at such time as to justify the holding of the trial court. Harris v. Harris, 50 C. A. 188, 109 S. W. 1138.

In the absence of a bill of exceptions signed by the judge or bystanders, it will be assumed on appeal that a qualification of a bill of exceptions presented by appellant was made with appellant's consent. Brunner Fire Co. v. Payne, 54 C. A. 501, 118 S. W. 602.

Testimony of witnesses, stricken out from the statement of facts by having pencil marks drawn across it, held to be treated on appeal as though the witnesses had never testified. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Wall, 56 C. A. 48, 121 S. W. 207.

Where erasures appear in the original statement of facts filed on appeal, it will be presumed that they were made before it was signed by the parties and approved by the judge. Fletcher v. First Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 936.

Under a statute empowering the district judge to extend time for filing statement of facts and upon the facts, the district judge held presumed to have exercised a sound discretion in refusing application to extend the time. Kingsley v. Kerr (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 161.

Where a statement of facts on appeal is signed only by counsel for the appellant and the trial judge, it will be presumed that the parties failed to agree, and that the duty of preparing a statement of facts devolved on the trial judge, under Art. 2069. Houston Oil Co. of Texas v. Myers (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 762.

In the absence of some recital to the contrary in the order extending the time for filing of bills of exceptions and statement of facts, it will be presumed, when such order is made in vacation, that it was made with consent. Brown v. Gatewood (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 950.

Where an application for an extension of time for the filing of bills of exceptions was made by appellants alone, there was no presumption that appellee agreed to the extension. Unknown Heirs of Criswell v. Robbins (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 210.

104. Appeal from justice court.—Where the citation and written pleadings in a justice's court show that a definite sum was sued for, it cannot be presumed on appeal that there were oral pleadings authorizing a judgment for a greater sum. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dawson Bros. (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 298.

On appeal from justice's court in a suit brought by a partnership in the firm name, held presumed that the justice had some information not disclosed by the docket. Amarillo Commercial Co. v. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 377.

The pleadings in an action commenced in justice court being oral, it must be presumed in the Court of Civil Appeals that plaintiff properly plead as to whether it was a corporation, a partnership, or an individual. Midkiff & Caudle v. Johnson County Savings Bank (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 705.

105. Appeal from intermediate court.—Where the court of civil appeals does not decide an assignment of error as to a finding of fact, the supreme court, on error, will deem the assignment overruled. National Oil & Pipe Line Co. v. Teel, 95 T. 586, 68 S. W. 979.

That there was a proper appeal from probate court, giving the district court jurisdiction, cannot be assumed on appeal from the district court in probate matters. Goodwin v. Walker (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 462.

In the absence of a showing that the cause of action alleged in the county court on appeal from a justice is different from that asserted in the justice's court, the presumption is that they were the same. Threadgill v. Shaw (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 707.

Pleadings in a case originating in justice's court will be presumed to have been sufficient to sustain judgment rendered on appeal in the county court. Daniel v. Brewton (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 815.

In a stated case, held that the Court of Civil Appeals would presume that the county court acquired jurisdiction of an action by appeal from the justice court. Dunlap v. Broyles (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 289.

Where, in an action in justice's court on an assigned claim, the pleadings were oral, the court, on appeal from a judgment of the county court rendered on appeal from the justice's court, will presume that the claim and assignment were sufficiently pleaded. Chapa v. Compton (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 1175.

That there were sufficient oral pleadings before a justice of the peace will not be assumed, where the record shows that the pleadings were in writing. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cole (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 753.

Where a ruling of the Court of Civil Appeals was made the subject of one of the errors assigned in the Supreme Court, and the ruling was ignored by the Supreme Court, it may be presumed that the ruling was not considered error. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Cox (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 265.

III. Res Ipsa Loquitur

106. The fact speaks for itself.—Proof that personal property was injured while in the custody of a common carrier raises the presumption of negligence on the part of the carrier. Ryan v. Railway Co., 65 T. 13, 57 Am. Rep. 589; Railway Co. v. Horn, 69 T. 643, 9 S. W. 440; Railway Co. v. China Mfg. Co., 76 T. 26, 14 S. W. 785; Railway Co. v. Gorman, 21 S. W. 158, 2 C. A. 144; Railway Co. v. Hohn, 21 S. W. 942, 1 C. A. 36; Railway Co. v. Scott, 4 C. A. 76, 26 S. W. 239; Railway Co. v. Kuehn, 21 S. W. 58, 2 C. A. 210; Railway Co. v. Cooper (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 470; M., K. & T. Ry. Co. v. McGlamory (Civ. App.) 34 S. W. 359.

In an action against the lessee of a building in which plaintiff was injured by the falling of an elevator, defendant's liability was not fixed by the mere fact that the elevator was defective. The Oriental v. Barclay, 16 C. A. 193, 41 S. W. 117.

Circumstances of an accident to freight car held to justify an inference that the car was defective. Jones v. Shaw, 16 C. A. 290, 41 S. W. 690.

The mere fact that an engineer ran his engine off the track is not sufficient to prove his incompetency. Terrell v. Russell, 16 C. A. 573, 42 S. W. 129.

Rule stated as to what a railroad company must show to rebut the presumption of negligence arising from the setting of a fire. Texas M. R. Co. v. Hooten, 21 C. A. 139, 50 S. W. 499.

Proof that sparks from an engine ignited property along a railroad track held to establish a prima facie case of negligence. Texas M. R. Co. v. Hooten, 21 C. A. 139, 50 S. W. 499; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 92 T. 591, 50 S. W. 563; Same v. Meentzen Bros., 52 C. A. 416, 113 S. W. 1000; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Alexander Eccles & Co., 53 C. A. 125, 115 S. W. 648; Same v. Henderson, 55 C. A. 425, 119 S. W. 891; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Washington (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1126; Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Gregory, 142 S. W. 656; Same v. Burke, Id. 658; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Waco Cotton Pickery, 146 S. W. 201; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. W. A. Morgan & Bros., 146 S. W. 336.

In action for injuries, proof of accident and injury are insufficient to recovery. Proof of defendant's negligence is necessary. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Crowder (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 380.

Negligence held not to be presumed from the happening of an accident to a passenger while alighting from a train, where none of the attending circumstances tended to show negligence in the carrier. Texas Midland R. Co. v. Frey, 25 C. A. 386, 61 S. W. 442.

The unaccountable presence on a railroad track of a single small wire, in which the section foreman caught his foot, causing injury, does not show negligence on the part of the railroad company for which he can recover. McNiff v. Texas Midland R. Co., 26 C. A. 558, 64 S. W. 1010.

The mere fact that one is run over and killed by a train, in the absence of any evidence as to the manner in which the accident occurred, raises no presumption of negligence on the part of the railroad. Tucker v. International & G. N. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 914.

Evidence of the circumstances surrounding an injury to a passenger by an electric shock from a charged street car held sufficient to raise a presumption of negligence on the part of the defendant. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Broadhurst, 28 C. A. 630, 68 S. W. 315.

In action against railroad for damages from fire, evidence that the fire was communicated by sparks held to raise presumption of negligence in equipment and management. Texas Southern Ry. Co. v. Hart, 32 C. A. 212, 73 S. W. 833.

In action against railroad for destruction of cotton by sparks from defendant's locomotive, a showing that the cotton was burned by sparks constituted a prima facie case. Texas & Pac. Ry. Co. v. Scottish Union Nat. Ins. Co., 32 C. A. 82, 73 S. W. 1088.

The fact that the top of a pear burner blew off while it was being operated in accordance with the directions held insufficient to raise a presumption of negligence in its construction on the part of the manufacturers. Talley v. Beaver & Hindes, 33 C. A. 675, 78 S. W. 23.

Mere fact that passenger train, which killed mules going onto track, was running at high rate of speed, held not to show negligence in action for their death. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Cassinelli & Co. (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 247.

The doctrine of res ipsa loquitur does not apply to cases of injuries to servants caused by explosions. G. A. Duerler Mfg. Co. v. Dullnig (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 889.

The fact of causal connection between an alleged negligent act and an injury cannot be presumed. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Shoemaker, 98 T. 461, 84 S. W. 1049; Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Latham, 53 C. A. 210, 115 S. W. 890; Coffman v. Texas Midland R. R. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 619.

In an action for wrongful death resulting from decedent's falling down a coal shaft, evidence examined, and held to make out a clear case of res ipsa loquitur. Texas & P. Coal Co. v. Daves, 41 C. A. 289, 92 S. W. 275.

Negligence cannot be inferred from the mere fact of injury. Jones v. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co., 47 C. A. 596, 105 S. W. 1007.

A brakeman having proved that he was thrown from a car while setting the brake by the breaking of the chain, he established a prima facie case against the railroad company. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Harris, 48 C. A. 434, 107 S. W. 108.

To raise a presumption of negligence of a railroad company causing the destruction of property by fire set by its engine, there must be affirmative proof that the fire was caused by sparks from the engine. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Meentzen Bros., 52 C. A. 416, 113 S. W. 1000.

In an action for injuries to an employé by the slipping of a skid, the mere happening of the accident was insufficient to raise a presumption of negligence. Lone Star Brewing Co. v. Willie, 52 C. A. 550, 114 S. W. 186.

Where specific acts of negligence are charged, the principle of res ipsa loquitur is inapplicable. Id.

Except where the acts of defendant speak negligence, it cannot be inferred from the mere happening of the accident. Id.

The attendant circumstances of a given case may be sufficient to raise an inference of negligence, where such inference points to defendant as the person guilty of the negligence. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Roach, 52 C. A. 95, 114 S. W. 418.

The doctrine of res ipsa loquitur has no application unless the thing causing the accident is under the control of defendant or his servants, and the accident is of a kind which does not ordinarily occur if due care has been exercised. Paris & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Robinson, 53 C. A. 12, 114 S. W. 658.

The derailment of an engine, in the absence of explanation, raises a presumption of negligence against the railroad company. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 106.

That decedent was killed while working in defendant cotton oil company's hull house by a falling of a mass of cotton seed hulls does not create a presumption of negligence of the company. Commerce Cotton Oil Co. v. Camp (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 451.

The rule of evidence as to the shifting of the burden of proof held not to create a presumption of negligence as against defendant. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Rankin (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 823.

The fact that a switchman is injured by having his foot caught in a wire on the track is not sufficient evidence of negligence on the part of the railroad company. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 1113.

Where a licensee on defendant's right of way was injured by a swinging car door on a passing train striking him as he was standing beside the track, the accident, being such as ordinarily would not happen if due care was used, was reasonable evidence, in absence of explanation, that it was caused by want of ordinary care. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Endsley (Civ. App.) 119 S. W. 1150.

Proof that the death of deceased, an engineer, was caused by a displaced, unlocked switch held to make out a prima facie case of negligence against defendant railroad. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Bradt, 57 C. A. 82, 122 S. W. 59.

Where the inference of negligence tended to establish an act of negligence not pleaded, as well as that specifically alleged, the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur was inapplicable. Gulf Pipe Line Co. v. Brymer (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 1007.

Where deceased was killed by the derailment of a motor in a coal mine, and the cause of the derailment was not shown, a verdict for plaintiff was not sustainable under the doctrine res ipsa loquitur. Texas & P. Coal Co. v. Kowsikowski, 103 T. 173, 125 S. W. 3.

Evidence that a switch point did not work just prior to the derailment of a motor, resulting in decedent's death in a coal mine, held insufficient to warrant a presumption of negligence of defendant. Id.

A defendant, in a position to explain an accident resulting in injury, will not be presumed negligent in the absence of such explanation, where the facts are equally consistent with the negligence of the person injured as that of the defendant, or both combined. Id.

In an action for injuries to a switchman, who in alighting from an engine stepped on a bolt and was thrown, held, that it could not be presumed that defendant was negligent. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Jones, 103 T. 187, 125 S. W. 309.

The mere happening of an injury to a servant due to the defective condition of machinery does not raise the presumption that the master was negligent, but the servant must show that the defective condition was due to the negligence of the master, or that he might have discovered it by a proper inspection. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Senn (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 322.

Where a coach standing in a yard was occupied by passengers, and the carrier with knowledge thereof moved the car with such violence as to hurl the passengers to the floor or against the arms of the chairs occupied by them, causing injury, the carrier was prima facie negligent, and the burden rested on it to show the circumstances that would exonerate it. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Stone (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 587.

An inference of negligence arises from the death of an engineer killed while in the proper performance of his duty by striking his head against a mail crane near the track, and it is for the railroad company in an action for his death to excuse the occurrence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams (Sup.) 125 S. W. 881.

The mere fact of a servant being injured growing out of unsafe conditions will not charge the master with liability; the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur not applying as between master and servant. Lone Star Brewing Co. v. Solcher (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 26.

In an action for negligent death, the jury held not authorized to infer negligence; the doctrine of "res ipsa loquitur" not applying. Coffman v. Texas Midland R. R. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 619.

Proof that fire escaped from defendant's engine while being operated alongside a platform, and set fire to plaintiff's cotton stored thereon, made out a prima facie case, and the burden of proof was shifted to defendant to defeat plaintiff's right of recovery. Crawford & Byrne v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 869.

Though, in order to make a prima facie case of negligence by reason of fire claimed to have originated from the sparks of an engine, it is necessary that there be affirmative proof that the fire so originated, this proof may be made by circumstantial evidence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Washington (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1126.

Proof of injury to a passenger by the derailment of a train establishes a prima facie case of negligence, whereupon the burden is shifted to the carrier to show that the accident could not have been avoided by the utmost care and foresight reasonably compatible with the prosecution of its business. Southern Pac. Co. v. Blake (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 668.

Injury to a servant caused by the presence of a rolling substance on the floor was no evidence of the negligence of the employer, where the cause of the injury was as much under the control of the servant as of the employers. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Cason (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 394.

The rule of "res ipsa loquitur" is not one of substantive law, but is a rule of evidence only. Id.

Unless the circumstances surrounding an injury render it more probable that it resulted from the negligence of defendant than otherwise, the injury itself affords no just inference against defendant, and the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur does not apply. Id.

Negligence must be proved, and it cannot be presumed. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 849.

Where a track and train were entirely under the control of defendant railway company at the time and place of a derailment which caused injury to plaintiff's property, this presents an instance for the application of the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Corr (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 185.

Where goods are damaged by fire occurring upon premises in possession or under control of a carrier, the carrier is presumed to be negligent, and the burden is on it to rebut the presumption. Southern Pacific Co. v. Weatherford Cotton Mills (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 778.

In an action for injuries to a passenger, the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur held inapplicable. Adams v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 437.

On plaintiff's allegations, in an action against a railroad for personal injuries sustained while riding in a freight train caboose, held, that plaintiff was bound to prove some negligence on the part of defendant, as the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur did not apply. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Neal (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 398.

In an action for injuries to a mail clerk while alighting from his train by the sudden movement thereof without warning, the circumstances raised a presumption of the defendant's negligence. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Keeling (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 108.

Evidence held sufficient prima facie to raise a presumption of negligence of the master. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Geary (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1045.

Where an act is done which creates or increases a condition of danger, the duty of the person creating the condition to take necessary steps to guard the public from the danger will be presumed. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Emerson (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 468.

Where one is injured by contact with an electric wire suspended over a street, the presence of the wire is presumptive evidence of negligence. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Shirley (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 663.

IV. Burden of Proof in General

107. Nature and scope in general.—The nature of the burden of proof stated. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Luckett (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 856.

108. Party asserting or denying existence of facts.—See Williams v. Beckham, 26 S. W. 652, 6 C. A. 739; Ayers v. Beatty (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 366; Sherwood v. La Salle County (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 650; Bland v. Smith (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 773; Knippa v. Umlang (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 918; Worsham v. Morgan (Civ. App.) 28 S. W. 918; Shelton v. Bone (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 224; McCown v. Hill, 26 T. 361; Castleman v. Ponton, 51 T. 84; Koepsel v. Allen, 68 T. 446, 4 S. W. 856; Allen v. Koepsel, 77 T. 505, 14 S. W. 151; Smith v. Boone, 19 S. W. 702, 84 T. 526; McAninch v. Freeman, 69 T. 445, 4 S. W. 369.

The burden of proof upon each issue rests upon the party having the affirmative. Latham v. Selkirk, 11 T. 314.

The burden of proof is with the party controverting the answer. Howard v. Crawford, 21 T. 399; Ellison v. Tuttle, 26 T. 283; East Line Ry. v. Terry, 50 T. 129.

When plaintiff, in his original petition, sets up a deed under which he alleges that defendant claims, and then by allegations seeks to avoid the effect of the deed, he assumes the burden of proof on the issue thus made by him. Hill v. Allison, 51 T. 390.

When a defendant in his answer admits plaintiff's cause of action and pleads in avoidance, the burden of proof is upon him to establish the defense. Gann v. Shaw, 2 App. C. § 255.

One who asserts an agreement avoiding the effect of certain acts has the burden of proving the same. Florida Athletic Club v. Hope Lumber Co., 18 C. A. 161, 44 S. W. 10.

The burden is on a purchaser of community property, sold under order in the administration of the father's estate, to show, as against the mother's heirs, that the sale was made to pay a community debt. Roy v. Whitaker, 92 T. 346, 49 S. W. 367.

If, in an action to recover the price of goods, defendant does not dispute the sale, but alleges payment, the burden of proof is on defendant, as payment is the only issue. May v. Behrends (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 413.

Where defendant claimed under an alleged sale by survivor in community to pay community debt, an instruction placing the burden on defendant to show the sale was in good faith held erroneous. Solomon v. Mowry (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 335.

A party attacking the division of property made by commissioners appointed to partition community property has the burden of showing that the property allotted to him is not as valuable as that allotted to the other party. Moor v. Moor (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 347.

Allegation of order of sale, not excepted to and not stricken from plaintiff's pleading, held to obviate necessity of proof by defendant. Crosby v. Bonnowsky, 29 C. A. 455, 69 S. W. 212.

Plaintiff in replevin held to have the burden of proof, though in an addition to a general denial it was alleged that one of the defendants, who sold the articles to the other defendants, was a partner with plaintiff in the articles. Downtain v. Ray, 31 C. A. 298, 71 S. W. 758.

In a suit by a landlord to foreclose a lien on cotton, intervener's plea held an affirmative defense, requiring him to establish it by sufficient evidence to justify a verdict in his favor. Antone v. Miles, 47 C. A. 289, 105 S. W. 39.

Burden of proof held upon plaintiff in a suit to cancel notes to dissolve a joint-stock company and for an accounting to prove his allegation. Harpold v. Moss (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 1131.

The burden is on one who asserts alienage by an heir to establish that plea. Douthitt v. Southern (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 315.

109. Proof of negative.—Burden of proof lies on the party who wishes to support his case by a particular fact which lies more peculiarly within his knowledge, or of which he is supposed to be cognizant. This rule applies whether the fact be proved by affirmative or negative evidence. Hoerr v. Coffin, 1 App. C. C. § 186.

A provision in a vendor's lien note voiding it should title to the land fail held not to throw the burden on payee of showing that title had not failed. Medlan v. Abeel (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 1041.

110. Extent of burden in general.—Plaintiff's possession being shown, the burden shifted to defendant to show a better title. Caplen v. Drew, 54 T. 493.

The rule that the burden of proof rests upon plaintiff and never shifts relates to the entire case, but not to every contention in it. Odom v. Woodward, 74 T. 41, 11 S. W. 925; Evans v. Foster, 79 T. 48, 15 S. W. 170; Maddox v. Fenner, 79 T. 279, 15 S. W. 237; Wyatt v. Foster, 79 T. 413, 15 S. W. 679; Cullers v. Platt, 81 T. 258, 16 S. W. 1003; Stephens v. Mott, 82 T. 81, 18 S. W. 99; Gregg v. Hill, 82 T. 405, 17 S. W. 838; Koehler v. Wilson, 82 T. 638, 18 S. W. 317; Richardson v. Powell, 83 T. 588, 19 S. W. 262; Umscheid v. Scholz, 84 T. 265, 16 S. W. 1065.

In an action for loss by fire set by a railroad company, the burden of proof does not shift after proof that the fire was set by sparks from defendant's engine. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Moss, 37 C. A. 461, 84 S. W. 281.

In an action for damages to plaintiff's land, through an overflow from construction of defendant's road, an instruction as to burden of proof held erroneous. Gurley v. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 502.

In an action for injury to a switchman, who in alighting from an engine stepped on a bolt and was thrown, the fact that it would be difficult for plaintiff to show more than he had, held not to take away the requirement of evidence to warrant a judgment. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Jones, 103 T. 187, 125 S. W. 309.

The burden of proof does not shift at any time in the trial of a cause though the weight of the evidence often does, and it is never permissible for the trial court in a case in which the affirmative facts necessary to sustain plaintiff's suit are controverted by any evidence offered by the defendant to charge the jury that the burden of proof on such facts is on the defendant. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Lockett (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 856.

One having the affirmative of the issue as determined by the pleadings has the burden of proof, and it never shifts. Barnes v. McCarthy (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 85.

The burden of proof held not to shift to defendant on plaintiff establishing a prima facie case, unless defendant relies on an affirmative defense. Kirby Lumber Co. v. Stewart (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 295.

The burden of proof on the whole case resting on a passenger suing for injuries by the derailment of the train never shifts, though proof of an accident to the train and injury to the passenger creates a presumption of fact against the carrier. Abilene & S. Ry. Co. v. Burleson (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 1177.

111. Failure to sustain burden.—In an action of trespass to try title and for partition plaintiffs claimed half of a tract of land as heirs of their deceased mother, and in support of their claims proved that the land was conveyed to the husband during the marriage with their mother, that after their mother's death the father had administered on their mother's estate, inventoried the land in controversy as community property of himself and wife, and under the orders of the probate court sold the same as property of her estate. Plaintiffs claimed that the administration sale was null and void. Admitting that the sale was void as claimed, the defendant was not estopped from denying that the property was community, and asserting that it was separate property of the father, by reason of its having been paid for with his separate funds and that as against him they had acquired a valid title to the entire tract. Watson v. Hewitt, 45 T. 472.

112. Effect of plea of non est factum.—See notes under Art. 3710.

113. Accord and satisfaction.—One claiming that the payment of less than the sum due is an accord and satisfaction has the burden of showing that there was a bona fide controversy or dispute. Bergman Produce Co. v. Brown (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1102.

114. Limitations and adverse possession.—There must be affirmative evidence to establish both the existence of the disability at the time the statute of limitation commenced to run and its continuance for a sufficient period. Corley v. Anderson, 23 S. W. 839, 5 C. A. 213.

Every fact necessary to show limitations must be proved. Barnett v. Houston, 18 C. A. 134, 44 S. W. 689.

The burden held on one pleading coverture to show that coverture existed at time the suspension of the statute during the civil war ceased. McConnico v. Thompson, 19 C. A. 539, 47 S. W. 537.

When one proves title by limitation he is not required to show affirmatively want of disability in the holders of an outstanding title which is proved under plea of not guilty. Disability is a defensive plea. Travis v. Hall, 95 T. 116, 65 S. W. 1077, 1078.

Where one party has established his title to land, and another seeks to break it down under a plea of limitations, he has the burden of proof. Rountree v. Thompson, 30 C. A. 595, 71 S. W. 574.

The burden is on a municipal corporation to prove that the debts, for which notes executed by it were given, were barred by the statute of limitations. City of Tyler v. L. L. Jester & Co. (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 359.

Where persons assert a right to a road over the land of another by prescription, the burden of proof is on them to establish that the owners were free from legal disability and persons against whom a prescriptive right could be acquired by adverse use. Evans v. Scott, 37 C. A. 373, 83 S. W. 874.

The burden is on the party asserting a right of way by prescription to show open and adverse use for the prescriptive period, and that the owners were free from legal disability. Wright & Vaughn v. Fanning (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 786.

The burden of proving a disability that will bar the operation of the statute of limitations is on the party asserting the disability. Elcan v. Childress, 40 C. A. 193, 89 S. W. 84.

One claiming a right by prescription must prove that the persons against whom the right is sought to be asserted were not under disability during the prescriptive period. Dees Bros. v. Harrison (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 1093.

Where defendants pleaded limitations in an action of trespass to try title, the burden was upon them to show the action was barred, unless it was undisputedly shown by plaintiff's own evidence. McAllen v. Alonzo, 46 C. A. 449, 102 S. W. 475.

Plaintiff, in order to establish a prima facie case of adverse possession, is not required to show that the prior owners were under no disability. Romine v. Littlejohn (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 439.

Plaintiff's burden of proof stated in trespass to try title to land claimed by a city under an alleged dedication, where plaintiff claimed title under the ten-year statute of limitations. City of San Antonio v. Rowley, 48 C. A. 376, 106 S. W. 753.

In an action on a note more than four years after it became due defendant having left the state before the debt was barred, plaintiff did not have the burden of stating the precise periods during which defendant visited the state. Dignowity v. Sullivan, 49 C. A. 582, 109 S. W. 428.

In trespass to try title, the burden was on the defendant, who claimed by adverse possession, to show that a pasture claimed by him had been inclosed for ten years before the suit was brought. Haynes v. Texas & N. O. R. Co., 51 C. A. 49, 111 S. W. 427.

The burden of establishing a defense of limitations in trespass to try title held to be on defendants. Lofton v. Miller, 55 C. A. 253, 118 S. W. 911.

Where defendant pleads limitation, the burden is upon it to prove what is essential to the plea. Texas & G. Ry. Co. v. Whiteside, 55 C. A. 593, 119 S. W. 126.

A defendant has the burden of sustaining the defense of limitation. Lafferty v. Stevenson (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 216.

In an action for the possession of land where the party in possession set up and shows title by limitation, the burden is upon those attempting to defeat his title to show that they were laboring under some disability which prevented the running of the statute. Roos v. Thigpen (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 1180.

Where defendant shows adverse possession of land, covering a time sufficient to constitute a statutory bar, the burden falls on plaintiff to show disability of coverture or minority, defeating the defense of limitations. Sabine Valley Timber & Lumber Co. v. Cagle (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 697.

A defendant has the burden of showing that the cause of action sued on is barred. Anderson v. Crow (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1080.

115. Alteration of Instruments.—Under a special plea alleging alteration, the burden of proof is upon the party pleading. Wells v. Moore, 15 T. 521; Richers v. Helmcamp, 1 App. C. C., § 682.

In an action on the administrator's bond, which remained in official custody until the time of trial, the burden of proof that it has been altered as to its amount is upon the defendants. Peveler v. Peveler, 54 T. 53.

One suing on a note, the face of which shows alteration, must prove that maker consented to the alteration. Davis v. Crawford (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 384.

In action for goods sold and delivered, burden of proving certain erasure of terms of order for goods held on plaintiff. Patton-Worsham Drug Co. v. Stark (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 799.

Where, in an action upon a building contractor's bond, the defendants alleged an alteration of the specifications of the contract after its execution, the burden was upon them to show it. McKenzie v. Barrett, 43 C. A. 451, 98 S. W. 229.

Where complainants claimed under a deed of trust which showed a material alteration on its face, the burden was on complainants to explain the same. Kalteyer v. Mitchell (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 462.

In an action defended on the ground of alterations in the contract on which it is based, plaintiff held to have the burden of proving either that there was no alteration or that the alteration was made with the consent of defendant. Pope v. Tallaferra (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 309.

Where an alteration appears on the face of the instrument, the burden is on the party offering it to account for the alteration. Kalteyer v. Mitchell, 102 T. 390, 117 S. W. 792, 132 Am. St. Rep. 889.

Where a material alteration of a written instrument is apparent on the face thereof, the person claiming rights thereunder must show that the alteration was made under such circumstances that it did not prevent his recovery. Matson v. Jarvis (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 941.

A surety, relying on the defense of alteration of contract, has the burden of proving it. General Bonding & Casualty Ins. Co. v. Beckville Independent School Dist. (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1161.

116. Wrongful attachment.—The burden of proof rests upon the party seeking to recover damages to show: 1. That the grounds upon which the writ issued are untrue. 2. The damages resulting to him from the issuance of the writ. In order to recover exemplary damages he must also show: 3. That there was no probable cause for plaintiff's believing that the grounds upon which the attachment issued were true. 4. That the plaintiff sued out the writ maliciously. Dwyer v. Testard, 1 App. C. C. § 1228.

To authorize damages against an attorney for the party suing out the writ, the burden is on the plaintiff to show such participation in the wrongful act as would render him liable. Matthews v. Boydston (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 814; Koyer v. White, 25 S. W. 46, 6 C. A. 381.

In an action for wrongful attachment, the burden is on plaintiff to show that the attachment was wrongful. Armstrong v. Ames & Frost Co., 17 C. A. 46, 43 S. W. 302.

In an action for conversion by attachment, the burden is on plaintiff to show ownership of the property at the time of levy. Sanger v. Thomasson (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 408.

Where in an attachment suit the answer claimed that the attachment was wrongfully sued out, the burden was on plaintiff to show the contrary. McFaddin v. Sims, 43 C. A. 598, 97 S. W. 335.

One reconvening for wrongful attachment was bound to show that the writ of attachment was wrongfully sued out. Richburg v. McIlwaine, Knight & Co. (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1166.

Plaintiff, in claiming land under foreclosure of an attachment lien, has the burden to show that the attachment creditor, at the time his lien attached, did not know of a deed under which defendant claims, executed before, but not recorded until after, the lien attached. Rule v. Richards (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1073.

In order to entitle one to recover for wrongfully suing out an attachment, the burden is on him to show that no probable cause existed and that defendant was actuated by malice. Hale v. Barnes (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 358.

117. Attorney and client.—In an action on a contract for attorney's services, the burden of proof that the contract was void for unreasonableness was on the defendant. Tabet v. Powell (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 997.

An attorney seeking to sustain a transaction between himself and his client held to have the burden of showing certain facts. Barnes v. McCarthy (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 85.

118. Bailment.—Where a bailor proves delivery of property to a bailee and the bailee's failure or refusal to return the same, the burden is then on the bailee to relieve himself from liability by showing that the property was not lost through his negligence. Bagley v. Brack (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 247.

119. Bills and notes.—One alleging that one of two makers of a note secured by mortgage on the other's land was liable as principal held to have the burden of showing that he had the benefit of the loan. Devine v. United States Mortg. Co. of Scotland (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 585.

In an action against a firm on a note, burden held on plaintiff, under the pleadings, to establish the partnership and the execution of the note. Clifton & Wadkins v. Roysse Cotton Oil Co., 39 C. A. 188, 87 S. W. 182.

Where the indorsers of two promissory notes surrendered them to one of the makers, who then sold them in an action by such purchaser against the indorsers, it was held that the burden of proof was on the purchaser to show that such maker's name did not appear on the notes as makers at the time of his purchase. Downing v. Neeley & Stephens (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1192.

120. Bona fide purchasers.—In a contest between one who has purchased the legal title and one holding the equitable title, the burden rests upon the latter to show that the former had notice of the superior equitable title when he purchased. Barnes v. Jamison, 24 T. 362; Johnson v. Newman, 43 T. 642; Cameron v. Romele, 53 T. 241; Hill v. Moore, 62 T. 612; Saunders v. Isbell, 24 S. W. 307, 5 C. A. 513.

A conveyance of land to a married man vests the legal title in him. In a contest between a purchaser from him and a purchaser from the wife, who held the equitable title by reason of the investment of her money therein, the burden of proof is upon the latter to show that the former had notice of the superior equitable title. Saunders v. Isbell, 24 S. W. 307, 5 C. A. 513. Citing Barnes v. Jamison, 24 T. 362; Johnson v. Newman, 43 T. 642; Hill v. Moore, 62 T. 612; Cameron v. Romele, 53 T. 241.

The burden of proof is on the purchaser to show that he has paid value. Cleveland v. Butts, 13 C. A. 272, 35 S. W. 804.

Burden held on the holder of an equitable title to show that a subsequent purchaser having the legal title had notice of the equitable interest. Halbert v. De Bode, 15 C. A. 615, 40 S. W. 1011.

The burden held on defendant to prove that the negotiation by the payee was after maturity. Columbia Ave. Saving Fund, Safe Deposit, Title & Trust Co. v. Roberts (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 111.

Where constable's deed is apparently valid, and execution defendant would avoid it as against subsequent purchaser for value, he must show that purchaser had notice of extrinsic defenses. Lebreton v. Lemaire (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 31.

In a suit on a note indorsed in blank, the burden is on defendant to allege and prove lack of bona fides. Ricker Nat. Bank v. Brown (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 909.

Where a note is fraudulently put in circulation, the burden rests on the holder to show that he is an innocent purchaser for value and before maturity. Griffin v. Boyd (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 664; Hart v. West, 92 T. 416, 49 S. W. 361; People's Nat. Bank v. Mulkey (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 528; Taylor v. Trussell, 139 S. W. 660.

Where defendant relies on a parol extension of time for payment of the debt secured by a trust deed under which plaintiff claims as purchaser, defendant must show that plaintiff had notice thereof. Silverman v. Landrum, 19 C. A. 402, 47 S. W. 404.

A prior unrecorded deed is superior to a subsequent recorded transfer, unless the subsequent vendee is an innocent purchaser for value, the burden of proving which is on him. Robertson v. McClay, 19 C. A. 513, 48 S. W. 35.

The burden in an action on a note which plaintiff had obtained from a third person, who was assignee of the payee, held on defendant to show that such third person had notice of defenses against it when he acquired it, where the note was procured by fraud, and plaintiff showed that such third person paid value for it before maturity. Prouty v. Musquiz, 94 T. 87, 58 S. W. 721, 996.

Where a note payable to payee's order has been transferred by assignment, and by the assignee to plaintiff, the burden is on plaintiff, in an action against the maker, to protect himself as against a set-off claimed by the maker against the payee, to show that he acquired it before maturity, for a valid consideration, without notice of such set-off. Prouty v. Musquiz (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 568.

Where land is sold under a trust deed given to secure a note, the burden is on those claiming under the purchaser at such sale to show, in an action to recover the land from the assignees of the grantee in a prior unrecorded warranty deed, that the grantee in the trust deed had no notice of the senior unrecorded deed. Turner v. Cochran, 94 T. 480, 61 S. W. 923.

Where parties respectively claimed land under an unrecorded deed and under creditors purchasing the land without notice of such deed, the burden of proof to show notice of the equity of claimants under the unrecorded deed, or that purchasers under the original deed subsequently recorded had paid no value, held to be on those claiming through the creditors. Turner v. Cochran (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 151.

Where the heirs of a deceased wife claim from her husband's grantee land purchased by her husband, in his own name with her money, the burden is on them to show notice to such purchaser. Oaks v. West (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 1033.

Where an agent, having a power to sell real estate conveys for a consideration running to himself, the grantee of the purchaser in a suit by the owner to recover the land has the burden of showing that he is an innocent purchaser without notice. Hunter v. Eastham, 95 T. 648, 69 S. W. 66.

One claiming, as against a subsequent purchaser of the legal title, an equitable estate of which there was no record notice, has the burden of showing notice to such purchaser. Lane v. De Bode, 29 C. A. 602, 69 S. W. 437.

Where plaintiff claimed title to land under a deed which was junior to one executed by the same grantor to defendant, but recorded in the wrong county, after a certified copy of such record was recorded in the proper county, the burden was on plaintiff to show that he was a purchaser for value without notice. Moody v. Ogden, 31 C. A. 395, 72 S. W. 253.

One seeking to establish title to land against a purchaser from the original owner, on the ground of bona fide purchase from his heirs, must show that they were the heirs. Lochridge v. Corbett, 31 C. A. 676, 73 S. W. 96.

Where defendant claimed under the holder of the certificate sold under a void order to the patentee, the burden was on him to prove that plaintiff was not a bona fide purchaser. Bogart v. Moody, 35 C. A. 1, 79 S. W. 633.

The burden was on defendant to show, by proof other than the recitals in his deeds, that he was a bona fide purchaser for value. Id.

In trespass to try title by the owner of the legal title against one claiming an equitable interest, the burden was on defendant to show plaintiff not a purchaser for value. Catrett v. J. S. Brown Hardware Co. (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 1045.

One claiming title under a purchaser in a contract for the purchase of land held bound to prove that the purchase price was paid by the purchaser. Davis v. Ragland, 42 C. A. 400, 93 S. W. 1099.

Burden held on defendant to show that plaintiff was not an innocent purchaser. J. S. Brown Hardware Co. v. Catrett, 45 C. A. 647, 101 S. W. 559.

Where plaintiff's vendor purchased the legal and apparently the only title to an entire tract, and defendants' claim was a mere equity, the burden was on them to show that such equity, was superior to the legal title, and that plaintiff's vendor was not a bona fide purchaser for value. Laffare v. Knight (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 1034.

In an action of trespass to try title, the burden held upon defendants to prove that they were purchasers in good faith for value and without notice of the deed through which plaintiffs claim. McAllen v. Alonzo, 46 C. A. 449, 102 S. W. 475.

Where, in an action on a note, defendants relied upon a tender to plaintiff, a married woman and her former husband's executrix, it devolved upon them to show her right to receive the payment and execute the required release without being joined by her husband. Stevens v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 791.

Where at the time H. purchased an entire tract there was outstanding a prior unrecorded deed to a portion of the tract to another, the burden was on those claiming through H. to show that he had no knowledge of such unrecorded deed. J. M. Guffey Petroleum Co. v. Hooks (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 690.

Principle that party claiming land under equitable title against one who purchased legal title has the burden of proving that it was purchased without notice of his equity, etc., held to have no application where one party claims through administration proceedings and the other under deeds from the heirs. Holland v. Ferris (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 102.

In order for the title of a subsequent purchaser to take precedence over a prior one, he must show that he was a bona fide purchaser for value without notice of the senior title. Id.

The burden of proving that a purchaser of a note before maturity had notice of defenses held upon defendant. Cochran v. Priddy, 49 C. A. 39, 107 S. W. 616.

In trespass to try title, where plaintiffs claimed an equity as against the legal title in defendants, the burden was on the plaintiffs to show that the defendants were not bona fide purchasers. Wallis, Landes & Co. v. Dehart (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 180.

One who seeks to ingraft on the legal title a secret equity must prove that the purchaser of the legal title had notice of such equity. Middleton v. Johnston (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 789.

The holder of a prior equitable interest, in order to prevail over a purchaser of the legal title, must show that the latter is not a bona fide purchaser. Thomason v. Berwick, 52 C. A. 153, 113 S. W. 567.

The burden is on the party asserting equitable title against a legal title to show that at the time the legal title was acquired the purchaser had notice of the equity sought to be asserted against it. Louisiana & T. Lumber Co. v. Dupuy, 52 C. A. 46, 113 S. W. 973.

One seeking to postpone a prior unregistered deed must show that he paid the purchase price of the land without actual notice of the existence of the prior deed, which may be shown by circumstances. Holland v. Nance, 102 T. 177, 114 S. W. 346; Same v. Ferris, Id.

When a draft is executed through the fraud of the payee, and is fraudulently put in circulation, the burden is upon the holder to prove that he is a bona fide holder for value. Johnson County Savings Bank v. Kemp Mercantile Co. (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 402.

The burden is on one asserting an equitable title to show that the holder of the legal title purchased with notice of the equitable title. Davidson v. Renfro, 52 C. A. 483, 114 S. W. 449.

One claiming as innocent purchaser for value and those claiming under him as against a prior unrecorded deed have the burden of proof to show that fact. Ryle v. Davidson (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 823.

Where a person purchased land from heirs which had been previously deeded to a third person by the ancestor, the burden was upon a person claiming title through the heirs to show that the purchaser from them was a purchaser for value without notice of the prior conveyance. La Brie v. Cartwright, 55 C. A. 144, 118 S. W. 785.

The burden is on one claiming to be a purchaser in good faith to prove his claim. Downs v. Stevenson, 56 C. A. 211, 119 S. W. 315.

In an action between adjoining lot owners to recover a strip claimed as a part of plaintiff's lot, held, that the burden was upon defendants to show fraud or mistake in the description in their deed, and that plaintiff had notice thereof on purchasing. Beavers v. Baker (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 450.

Ordinarily, the burden is upon a subsequent grantee to show that he is a bona fide purchaser for value without notice of a prior grantee's title. Id.

In trespass to try title, plaintiffs claimed that D. and Y., their parents, were married, and that on D.'s death plaintiffs inherited his community interest, while defendant claimed under conveyances from the vendees of Y., who they contended was not married. Held that, plaintiffs' title, if any, being merely an equitable one, the burden was on them to prove that defendant and each of his vendors either had notice of plaintiffs' title when he purchased, or was not a purchaser for value. Ruedas v. O'Shea (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 891.

Where plaintiffs claim as heirs to community property, the burden is not on them to show that defendant was an innocent purchaser. Ross v. Martin (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 718.

A subsequent purchaser has the burden of proving that he is a purchaser without notice of a prior conveyance by the grantor. Keller v. Lindow (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 304.

In trespass to try title, the burden was on defendant to show that he was an innocent purchaser without notice and for value. Wilkerson v. Ward (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 158.

For a subsequent vendee of land to successfully defend against a prior unrecorded deed, the burden is on him to show that he is a bona fide purchaser without notice, and for value. Bledsoe v. Haney (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 612.

Where a note was secured by fraud, and without consideration, held that a subsequent holder had the burden of proving that he took without knowledge of the failure of consideration. Taylor v. Trussell (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 660.

The burden of showing that a subsequent purchaser had actual notice of a prior unrecorded deed held in the persons claiming under such deed. Phillips v. Campbell (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 319.

In a purchaser's action to establish title to land as a bona fide purchaser for value, without notice, the burden of proving notice is upon the defendant. Aycock v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 641.

Usually where it is shown that plaintiff has acquired a negotiable instrument before maturity for value, the burden is on the maker to show that the plaintiff had notice of defenses. Brannin v. Richardson (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 348.

The burden was on defendant in an action to recover land to prove that one to whom the record showed defendants' remote grantor had theretofore conveyed the land had reconveyed it to such grantor, and also that defendants and their grantor were innocent purchasers. Haley v. Sabine Valley Timber & Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 596.

The interest of a person in land purchased by himself and others, where his name does not appear among the grantees, is an equity, and the burden is on him to show that a purchaser had notice of his equity, or did not pay a valuable consideration. Teagarden v. R. B. Godley Lumber Co., 105 T. 616, 154 S. W. 973.

Defendant in trespass to try title claiming as a bona fide purchaser without notice under a deed subsequent to that of plaintiff had the burden of proving payment of a valuable consideration and want of notice. Long v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 945.

121. Boundaries.—The law does not require the distance named in the field-notes of a grant to be greatly extended to reach a line merely because it is found on the ground with marks corresponding in age with the date of the grant. He who claims the right to so extend the distance, and give superior dignity to the marked line, must show that the line was the one marked on the ground by the surveyor preparatory to the issuance of the grant. Fagan v. Stoner, 67 T. 286, 3 S. W. 44.

In trespass to try title the burden of proof rests upon the plaintiff to establish the boundaries as claimed by him. Briggs v. Pierson, 26 S. W. 467, 7 C. A. 638.

Where plaintiff, in a suit to recover land, merely established a conflict between two calls in the survey of his land, he is not entitled to recover. Morgan v. Mowles (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 155.

In an action to establish a boundary, the burden of establishing the defense of limitations is on the defendant. Sloan v. King, 33 C. A. 537, 77 S. W. 48.

One claiming under a junior survey seeking to change the construction of a senior survey held required to show that the bearing trees called for in the senior survey were not at the place fixed by the distances called for. Keystone Mills Co. v. Peach River Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 64.

The burden of proof of the location of the land sued for and of the existence of a certain creek by which it was described held on plaintiffs. McDonald v. Downs, 45 C. A. 215, 99 S. W. 892.

The burden of proving that the land was located in a designated lot according to a plat of a survey held to rest on plaintiff. Cochran v. Kapner, 46 C. A. 342, 103 S. W. 469.

The burden was upon plaintiff to prove the land was within surveys claimed by him. Newnom v. Williamson, 46 C. A. 615, 103 S. W. 656.

In a boundary dispute, the burden was on plaintiff to show that a stream separating the land in controversy from other land owned by defendant was the east branch of a certain river, and not a mere slough, as contended by defendant. Selkirk v. Watkins (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 1161.

Plaintiff in trespass to try title by proof of location of a corner held required to show with reasonable certainty the existence of the monument or natural object relied on. Jagers v. Stringer, 47 C. A. 571, 106 S. W. 151.

In a suit by an abutter against a city involving boundaries of streets, the burden was on her to show that her boundaries did not conflict with the streets. Perry v. Ball, 52 C. A. 134, 113 S. W. 588.

In an action to try title to property lying between a boundary fixed by former owners by agreement and the original line, where defendant claims that plaintiffs were estopped to dispute the location of the line as fixed by agreement, burden is on defendant to show knowledge of such agreement. Louisiana & T. Lumber Co. v. Dupuy, 52 C. A. 46, 113 S. W. 973.

Where defendant pleaded not guilty, and, in a cross-action sought to have the boundary established between himself and plaintiff, the burden was on defendant to prove that the boundaries were as alleged by him, even though plaintiff failed to sustain the burden of showing title in the principal action. Gaffney v. Clark (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 606.

The burden is on plaintiff of showing the land in dispute to be a part of the tract owned by him as alleged, rather than a part of the tract owned by defendant. Thacker v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 938.

The party who asserts, in an action of trespass to try title, that the channel of the water course recognized as the boundary line between two states is not in fact, at the point in controversy, the true boundary, resting his contention upon a sudden shifting of the course of the channel, assumes the burden of proving that fact. Plummer v. Marshall (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 1162.

Plaintiff, in trespass to try title, has the burden of establishing the true location of the lines of the survey claimed. Lafferty v. Stevenson (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 216.

In trespass to try title, plaintiff held to have the burden of proving that his survey in fact included land inclosed by defendant. Hill v. Collier (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1084.

In an action for damages for removing timber and carrying away gravel from land, the burden held to be on the defendants to show that a boundary line established by the field notes of the surveyor for a section was not the true boundary, and that a line claimed by them was the proper boundary. Burke v. Braumiller (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 206.

122. Brokers.—A party was entitled to commission on sales and leases of personal property on collection of amounts due. On proof of the amount of sales, of the delivery of the purchase notes to the principal and that they were over due, he was prima facie entitled to recover his commission from his principal. If the notes and contracts had not in fact been collected, the burden was upon the defendant to prove the fact. Singer Mig. Co. v. Wood, 1 App. C. C. § 1178.

Burden held on vendor, sued by a real estate broker for commissions, to show materiality of broker's misrepresentations, on discovering which purchaser refused to consummate sale. Scottish American Mortg. Co. v. Davis (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 217.

In an action for broker's services on an implied contract, it is only necessary for plaintiff to show that he performed acts as the broker of the seller, and that the latter accepted his agency and adopted his acts. Ross v. Moskowitz (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 86.

The burden is on brokers suing for commission on a sale of land to prove, not only that they were agents to effect it, but procured the sale which defendants consummated. English v. William George Realty Co., 55 C. A. 137, 117 S. W. 996.

Where a sale failed because of an outstanding lease, the burden was on the owners in a suit for brokers' commissions to show that the brokers had knowledge of the situation. Willson v. Crawford (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 227.

Under a certain contract for purchase of timber, held, that a broker could not recover commissions in the absence of evidence showing the amount of timber that the purchaser was compelled to take under the contract. Saunders v. Montgomery (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 775.

123. Carriers.—Negligence of carrier, see post, § 191.

When a recovery is sought upon a bill of lading, reciting that weights are subject to correction, the burden is upon the plaintiff to show that there is an overcharge. Johnson v. Railway Co., 9 C. A. 619, 30 S. W. 260, citing Railway Co. v. Loonie, 84 T. 262, 19 S. W. 385; Railway Co. v. Nelson, 4 C. A. 345, 23 S. W. 732; Railway Co. v. Roberts, 3 C. A. 370, 22 S. W. 183; Schloss v. Railway Co., 85 T. 602, 22 S. W. 1014; Railway Co. v. Wood (Civ. App.) 23 S. W. 744; Railway Co. v. McCown, 26 S. W. 745.

In a suit against a carrier to recover the penalty for overcharges, consisting in the excess of the interstate rate over the commission rates of Texas, the burden of proving that the shipment was a domestic shipment was on the plaintiff. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Fort Grain Co. (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 419.

124. Contracts in general.—In action to enforce conveyance of land because of certain acts to be performed by plaintiff, the burden was on plaintiff to prove the execution of the contract by him. Cook v. Roberson (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 866.

Burden is on grantor, seeking to avoid deed in part, to show real intent of parties. Jordan v. Young (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 762.

Burden held to be on one suing for breach of contract to deliver cotton seed hulls during the running season of defendant's plant to show that the running season was over. Hume v. S. Netter, A. Geismar & Co. (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 865.

In action on building contract, burden held to be on contractors to show completion of building within time named, or that delay fell within exception named in contract. Neblett v. McGraw & Brewer, 41 C. A. 239, 91 S. W. 309.

The burden of showing the existence of an implied warranty is on him who seeks its protection. American Surety Co. of New York v. San Antonio Loan & Trust Co. (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 387.

Where an action on contracts was defended for their illegality, the burden held on plaintiffs to prove their case by a preponderance of evidence and upon defendant to show the illegality of the contracts. Smith v. Bowen, 45 C. A. 222, 100 S. W. 796.

A seller failing to comply with his contract to sell and deliver petroleum oil held required to prove a defense relied on that its wells did not produce sufficient oil. San Jacinto Oil Co. v. Texas Co., 47 C. A. 477, 105 S. W. 1163.

One suing for breach of a contract to convey has the burden to show the breach. Dobson v. Zimmerman, 55 C. A. 394, 118 S. W. 236.

Where the petition discloses a legal contract, the burden to establish its illegality as violating the Interstate Commerce Law is on defendants. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Birge-Forbes Co. (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 3.

One seeking to escape liability under an implied promise to pay for work done held to have the burden of proof that he was not to pay for the work, except on conditions, and that such conditions had not been performed. Frost v. Grimmer (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 615.

125. Want or failure of consideration.—The burden of proof of establishing want or failure of consideration is upon the defendant. Tolbert v. McBride, 75 T. 95, 12 S. W. 752; Newton v. Newton, 77 T. 508, 14 S. W. 157; Buchanan v. Wren, 10 C. A. 560, 30 S. W. 1077; Wright v. Hardie, 88 T. 653, 32 S. W. 885; Mulberger v. Morgan (Civ. App.)

47 S. W. 738; Kampmann v. McCormick, 24 C. A. 462, 59 S. W. 832; Masterson v. F. W. Heitmann & Co., 38 C. A. 476, 87 S. W. 227; Stevens v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 791; Gutta Percha & Rubber Mfg. Co. v. City of Cleburne, 107 S. W. 157; McCormick v. Kampmann, 109 S. W. 492; Gutta Percha & Rubber Mfg. Co. v. City of Cleburne, 102 T. 36, 112 S. W. 1047; Western Mfg. Co. v. Freeman, 126 S. W. 924; City of Cleburne v. Gutta Percha & Rubber Mfg. Co., 127 S. W. 1072; Barnes v. Sparks, 131 S. W. 610; Taylor v. Trussell, 139 S. W. 660; Boyce v. Bickford, 145 S. W. 1082; Key v. Hickman, 149 S. W. 275.

The burden of proof of want of consideration in a written instrument rests upon the party denying a consideration. Newton v. Newton, 77 T. 508, 14 S. W. 157; Railway Co. v. Wright, 1 C. A. 402, 21 S. W. 80; Railway Co. v. Klepper, 24 S. W. 567; Stocksbury v. Swan, 85 T. 563, 22 S. W. 963; Railway Co. v. Hughes (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 411; Railway Co. v. Pennington, 32 S. W. 706.

The burden of proving the consideration is not shifted upon the payee by a verified plea alleging want of consideration. Railway Co. v. Hughes (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 411.

In trespass to try title to half of the land entered under a headright certificate which was conveyed by the administratrix of the holder of the certificate under an invalid order of court, if defendants are entitled to recover the consideration paid for the land, the burden is on them to show the amount of such consideration. Broocks v. Payne (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 463.

126. Corporations.—In an action to recover an unpaid balance alleged to be due on stock subscriptions, the burden is not on the receiver to show that the creditors did not know the consideration for which the stock was issued to defendants as promoters. Cole v. Adams (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 1052.

In action on notes of a corporation, the burden is on the defendant to show that they were given in violation of an agreement between the stockholders prohibiting the creation of a new debt without the consent of four-fifths of all the stockholders. King County Land & Live-Stock Co. v. Thomson, 21 C. A. 473, 51 S. W. 890.

In suit to recover stock subscription burden held on plaintiff to prove the amount of the subscription. Ables & Walton v. Terrell University School (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 1010.

Where plaintiff, a foreign corporation, alleged its right to do business in the state at the time of the execution of instruments sued on, a general denial held to raise the issue of a permit vel non, and to place on plaintiff the burden of proving authority to do business in the state at the time in question. Turner v. National Cotton Oil Co., 50 C. A. 468, 109 S. W. 1112.

In an action on a stock subscription, wherein defendant filed a special plea that he withdrew it before plaintiff's organization, the burden of proof was on defendant to show that notice of the revocation of his subscription on which he relied was given anterior to the date of the meeting at which plaintiff was organized. Steely v. Texas Improvement Co., 55 C. A. 463, 119 S. W. 319.

127. Damages.—When the principal object of the suit is to recover special damages, the burden of proof ought to be on the plaintiff to show such negligence as caused the damage. W. U. Tel. Co. v. Bennett, 1 C. A. 558, 21 S. W. 699.

In an action for personal injuries, value of plaintiff's time should be proved to warrant recovery for loss thereof, wherever such value is susceptible of proof. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Vance (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 167.

In action by husband for loss of wife's services, value of such services need not be proved unless of an extraordinary character. Id.

Even where the law implies damages such as necessarily result from a wrongful act, proof is required to show the extent and amount of damages. Davis v. Texas & P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 1008.

Where the injury appears serious and permanent, direct evidence of mental suffering is unnecessary if alleged in the petition. City of San Antonio v. Kreusel, 17 C. A. 594, 43 S. W. 615.

The burden of proving that plaintiff had been able to or had obtained employment after his wrongful dismissal is on defendant. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Bross (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 178.

Where, after plaintiff made out a prima facie case for breach of contract for services, by showing a wrongful dismissal, it appeared that he earned money in another business thereafter during the term, he must show the amount of such earnings. Id.

The burden of proving reduction of damages for breach of a contract of hire is on defendants. Allgeyer v. Rutherford (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 628.

In suit for personal injuries, medical attendance cannot be recovered without proving value of services. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Pereira (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 767.

Medical expenses incurred in treating personal injuries must be proved. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Richards, 20 C. A. 203, 49 S. W. 687.

Where there is evidence of physical injury justifying submission of injury from mental suffering, the amount of mental damages need not be proved. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Rhoades, 21 C. A. 459, 51 S. W. 517.

Though proof of injured servant's life expectancy is admissible in an action against the master for personal injury, it is not essential to recovery. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Elkins (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 931.

In an action for injuries, direct evidence that plaintiff suffered mental anguish is not necessary to authorize a recovery therefor. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Mitchell (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 996.

To recover for medical care and nursing in an action for personal injury, there should be evidence that the charges and expenses were reasonable. City of Dallas v. Moore, 32 C. A. 230, 74 S. W. 95.

Mental suffering need not be shown by direct proof, when the injury is serious and permanent. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Hubbard, 33 C. A. 343, 76 S. W. 764.

In action for breach of contract to supply water, plaintiff has burden of proving damages with reasonable certainty. City of Van Alstyne v. Morrison, 33 C. A. 670, 77 S. W. 655.

In an action for injuries, there could be no recovery for expenses for a drug account, domestic help, and attendance of nurses, in the absence of evidence that those expenses were reasonable and necessary. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Ison, 37 C. A. 219, 83 S. W. 408.

Where plaintiff lost a leg by reason of defendant's negligence, the jury was entitled to fix his damages for impaired earning capacity, without proof of his present earning capacity. Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. v. Tolliver, 37 C. A. 437, 84 S. W. 375.

In a personal injury action, there can be no recovery for medical services, in the absence of proof of their value. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Haynes (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 934.

In an action for injuries, charges made by physicians cannot be recovered in the absence of a showing that they were reasonable. Metropolitan St. Ry. Co. v. Wishert (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 460.

In an action for personal injuries, medical and surgical expenses incurred by plaintiff cannot be considered in estimating his damages, in the absence of evidence that such expenses were reasonable in amount. Houston E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. McCarty, 40 C. A. 364, 89 S. W. 805.

In an action by a servant for wrongful discharge, he is not required to show the amount that he could or did earn after his discharge, but the burden to show the same is on defendant. Pacific Express Co. v. Walters, 42 C. A. 355, 93 S. W. 496.

The fact that damages suffered by discharge in violation of a contract for personal services might have been reduced by obtaining other employment is a matter of defense to be shown by the employer. Jefferson & N. W. Ry. Co. v. Dreeson, 43 C. A. 282, 96 S. W. 63.

Where a husband sues to recover for the loss of the society of his wife, specific proof of the value of her society is not necessary, but, the loss of society being established, the assessment of damages is within the sound discretion of the jury. Northern Texas Tractor Co. v. Mullins (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 433.

A jury held entitled to make an allowance for inconvenience sustained by plaintiff because of the flooding of his property, though there was no evidence as to the money value of such damage. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Stewart (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 282.

The burden of proof that plaintiff could have obtained other employment at the same salary for the remainder of the contract period after his discharge was on the defendant. San Antonio Light Pub. Co. v. Moore, 46 C. A. 259, 101 S. W. 867.

In an action for damages, plaintiff could not recover medical expense where there was no proof of the value of the physician's services, or that any sum was paid or contracted to be paid therefor. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Craft (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 170.

In an action for personal injuries, it is error to submit as elements of damages doctor and drug bills, in the absence of evidence that they are reasonable. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Morgan, 49 C. A. 212, 108 S. W. 724.

In a passenger's action for sickness caused by his wrongful ejection, it was error to permit the jury to consider the amount paid out for medicines and doctors' bills, where there was no evidence as to the reasonableness of those expenditures. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Willis (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 170.

A passenger held not entitled to recover for being required to hire a conveyance to transport her to her destination, in the absence of proof of the amount paid therefor. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Doolan, 56 C. A. 503, 120 S. W. 1118.

Proof of the reasonableness of a physician's charges held essential to a recovery thereof in an action for injuries. Id.

In an action for injuries to a crop, evidence held not to shift the burden of proof to defendant to show the expense of making and marketing the crop. Texas Co. v. Lacour (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 424.

A master held to have the burden of proving the negligence of a servant resulting in aggravating the injury complained of. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Shaklee (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 188.

Where plaintiff claimed to have lost a sale of certain goods for part cash and part credit by their being delivered in bad order, the burden was on him to show the buyer's solvency, and whether the deferred payments bore interest, and, if so, at what rate. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Coulter (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 16.

Loss of profits alleged as an element of damages cannot be recovered unless the amount be shown by competent evidence with reasonable certainty. American Const. Co. v. Caswell (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1013.

In a personal injury action, where the only evidence of the value of medicines used was the testimony of plaintiff that he paid a lump sum for the medicine, there can be no recovery therefor; it not appearing that the charge was reasonable. Galveston, H. & H. R. Co. v. Hodnett (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 678.

128. Death and survivorship.—Held error for the court to assume, in his charge, that the alleged ancestor, if dead, left neither wife nor children surviving; the burden is on plaintiffs to show a reasonable probability that, at the time of his death, there were no such survivors. French v. McGinnis, 21 S. W. 941, 3 C. A. 86.

Where a life policy provided that it should be payable to a certain beneficiary, if living, otherwise to the executors of the insured, in a suit by the administrator of the beneficiary against the insurance company and the administrator of insured, the burden was on plaintiff to show that his decedent had survived the insured. Hildebrandt v. Ames, 27 C. A. 377, 66 S. W. 128.

129. Dedication.—In an action by the owner of property to recover from a city a strip of land dividing his tract, the burden was on the city to show a dedication and acceptance of the strip as a street. City of Houston v. Finnigan (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 470.

County claiming dedication by city of public square held to have the burden of showing the dedication. City of Victoria v. Victoria County (Sup.) 128 S. W. 109.

130. Descent.—One claiming under an instrument purporting to have been made by heirs must prove the heirship. McCoy v. Pease, 17 C. A. 303, 42 S. W. 659.

An heir is not required, before taking as heir, to prove that the deceased was intestate. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

A purchaser from an heir, under a deed sufficient to carry the after-acquired title, would not be required to prove that the ancestor was intestate before he could rely on his deed. Id.

131. Residence.—The holder of the note has the burden of proving that the residences of the principal obligors are unknown to him and cannot be ascertained by reasonable diligence, and the testimony of his attorneys that neither of them knew the residence of the principal obligor is insufficient. Whitaker v. Brooks (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 921.

132. Election contest.—The burden is on the party asserting that a local option election was illegal to show such illegality. Snead v. State, 40 Cr. R. 262, 49 S. W. 595.

The burden is on one contesting an election to show that the election was null and void, or that he received a majority of the ballots legally cast. Garcia v. Cleary, 50 C. A. 465, 110 S. W. 176.

The burden is on contestants in an election contest to show that votes received and counted were illegal. McCormick v. Jester, 53 C. A. 306, 115 S. W. 278.

It was incumbent on the party alleging that a certain voter was not a citizen of the United States to show that such voter's father was not a citizen thereof during his son's minority. Savage v. Umphries (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 893.

The burden was on the party, who complained of a finding that a certain person was a legal voter, to show that the voter was legally subject to a municipal poll tax, and had failed to pay it. Linger v. Balfour (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 795.

133. Condemnation of property.—In suit to enjoin opening of road, defense of subsequent condemnation must be affirmatively established. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Austin (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 35.

In an action for damages to certain property caused by the construction of a railroad, the burden is on defendants to show to what extent any special benefits resulting from the construction of a road affects the property. Pochilla v. Calvert, W. & B. V. Ry. Co., 31 C. A. 398, 72 S. W. 255.

In proceedings to condemn land for a railroad right of way, the court properly placed the burden of proof on the landowners. Stephenville, N. & S. T. Ry. Co. v. Moore, 51 C. A. 205, 111 S. W. 758.

In a landowner's suit to enjoin a county from opening a road over his land, the burden is on defendant to show affirmatively that notice of the time for assessing damages was given to the landowner as required by Art. 6880. Crawford v. Frio County (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 388.

134. Estoppel.—The burden is on the party pleading an estoppel to show that, if the estoppel is not sustained, loss will result. Anderson v. Walker (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 937.

One relying on facts which will estop another from asserting the legal insufficiency of a conveyance has the burden of proving them. Southern Pine Lumber Co. v. Arnold (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 917.

The court properly charged that the burden was on defendant to prove facts constituting an estoppel relied on. Organ v. Maxwell (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 255.

The burden of proving the facts which constitute an estoppel by conduct rests upon the party claiming the benefit of the estoppel. Long v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 945.

135. Writ of execution.—The holder of a note purporting on its face to be for purchase-money for the land offered for sale announced, in the hearing of bidders present, that such a lien existed. In a suit to foreclose his lien upon the land, the burden of proof was upon him in asserting his equitable claim against the legal title of the purchaser at the execution sale. Barnes v. Jamison, 24 T. 365; Willis v. Gay, 43 T. 469, 26 Am. Rep. 328; Rawles v. Perkey, 50 T. 315; Robertson v. Guerin, Id. 323; McAlpine v. Burnett, 23 T. 651; Grace v. Wade, 45 T. 527; Borden v. McRae, 46 T. 401; Grimes v. Hobson, Id. 416; Catlin v. Bennett, 47 T. 170. McAfee v. Wheelis, 1 U. C. 65.

In motion to recover against constable amount of judgment for neglect to return writ of execution, burden of showing property was not sufficient to satisfy judgment is on officer. Ranken v. Jones (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 583.

Defendant, in suit to enjoin sale under execution because the judgment was dormant, need not show that it was due and unpaid. Corder v. Steiner (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 277.

Plaintiff in trespass to try title held required to show that judgment creditor through whom he claims acquired his lien without notice of defendant's claim under unrecorded deed. Walker v. Downs (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 682.

136. Administration of estate.—It is incumbent on one who claims that a widow has forfeited her right to an allowance by reason of her separation from her husband to show that there was no sufficient cause for such separation. Linares v. De Linares, 93 T. 84, 53 S. W. 579.

The burden is on the widow, seeking to recover property pledged by deceased, to show that the pledgee's claim is of a character which does not take precedence of her demand for allowances. Fulton v. National Bank, 26 C. A. 115, 62 S. W. 84.

Burden of proof to charge community property in interest of separate estate of deceased husband held to be on husband's administrator. Allardyce v. Hambleton, 96 T. 30, 70 S. W. 76.

137. False imprisonment.—In an action for false imprisonment against an officer, the arrest being legal, the burden was upon the plaintiff to show that the officer had authority to take bail, that bail was offered and refused, that a magistrate was accessible, and that the officer failed to carry plaintiff immediately before him for examination. Sheehan v. Holcomb, 1 App. C. C. § 464.

Proof of certain allegations in a petition in an action for damages sustained by a passenger by reason of having been illegally arrested by an agent of the railroad company held not necessary to a recovery. Texas Midland R. R. v. Dean (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 524.

138. Forgery.—Where a prima facie case is made by plaintiff the burden of proof rests upon the party charging forgery of the instrument. Smith v. Gillum, 80 T. 120, 15 S. W. 794.

The burden of proof is upon the party charging that an apparent ancient instrument is a forgery. Masterton v. Todd, 24 S. W. 682, 6 C. A. 131; Chamberlain v. Showalter, 23 S. W. 1017, 5 C. A. 226.

Burden of proving that an ancient deed was a forgery is on the person attacking the deed. Word v. Houston Oil Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 334.

139. Fraud.—An attaching creditor attacking the transfer of property by his debtor as fraudulent must prove the indebtedness to himself. The attachment proceeding instituted by himself is not competent evidence of that fact. Freiburg v. Foreman, 1 App. C. C. § 473.

A party relying upon fraudulent representation to rescind a contract must show: 1. False representations. 2. That they were material. 3. That he believed and relied upon them, and was thereby induced to make the contract. 4. That upon discovering the fraud, he, within a reasonable time, demanded a rescission of the contract. Gann v. Shaw, 2 App. C. C. § 258.

Where a deed is valid on its face, but fraud is alleged on the ground of insolvency, the burden to show fraud is on the creditor. Greer v. Richardson Drug Co., 1 C. A. 634, 20 S. W. 1127.

Burden of proving a deed of trust fraudulent or not accepted is on the party assailing it. De Ware v. Bailey (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 323.

The burden of proving a fraudulent sale by his debtor is on an attaching creditor who alleges such fact. Ellis v. Hudson (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 550.

In an action to rescind a sale, the burden of proof was on plaintiff to show that the defendant made the misrepresentations charged, and that plaintiff relied on them. Cole v. Carter, 22 C. A. 457, 54 S. W. 914.

In an action to rescind a sale, it was not necessary for plaintiff to show that misrepresentations made by the seller were made with intent to deceive. Id.

Burden of proof stated in an action by a creditor to reach property fraudulently conveyed by his debtor. Talcott v. Rose (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 1009.

A creditor, taking a mortgage on real estate from the grantee of his debtor to secure the debt, with knowledge that the land was conveyed to defraud creditors, has the burden, as against other creditors existing at the time of the fraudulent conveyance, of showing the existence of his debt before such conveyance. Rilling v. Schultze, 95 T. 352, 67 S. W. 401.

In proceedings to compel a sheriff to pay over proceeds of execution sale, where adverse claimants under an assignment from plaintiffs were made parties, burden was on plaintiffs to show false representations, invalidating assignment. W. T. Rickards & Co. v. J. H. Bemis & Co. (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 239.

Burden of proving fraud in transaction by which attorney took deed of trust, held on grantor, in suit to cancel where relation of attorney and client did not exist. Jinks v. Moppin (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 390.

The intent on the part of a grantor to place his property beyond the reach of subsequent creditors, thereby rendering the conveyance void, must be shown by either direct or circumstantial evidence. Searcy v. Gwaltney Bros., 36 C. A. 158, 81 S. W. 576.

In an action to recover attorney's fees and the costs included in the voluntary payment of a note, the burden of showing mistake or fraud inducing such payment held to be on those making the claim. Collins v. Kelsey (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 122.

Where plaintiffs alleged that quitclaim deeds executed by them were fraudulently obtained, the burden to show the fraud by preponderance of the evidence rested upon them. Brewer v. Cochran, 45 C. A. 179, 99 S. W. 1033.

The burden is not on plaintiff, in an action for fraudulent conversion of timber, to prove that defendant fraudulently cut such timber knowing that it belonged to plaintiff. Young v. Pine Ridge Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 784.

As against the creditors of a husband, one seeking to support a gift from the husband to the wife has the burden of proving that, at the time of the gift, the husband was not insolvent. Zuckerman v. Munz, 48 C. A. 337, 107 S. W. 78.

The burden of proving material misrepresentations as to the indebtedness of a partnership in making a sale of an interest in the business held upon the party charging it. Seal v. Holcomb, 48 C. A. 330, 107 S. W. 916.

A party alleging that a conveyance was fraudulent as against the creditors of the grantor has the burden of proving fraud with clearness. Sullivan v. Fant, 51 C. A. 6, 110 S. W. 507.

Burden of proof in an action to recover notes and mortgages assigned by decedent to her son and by him to plaintiff, defended upon the ground of the son's fraud, etc., stated. McHay v. Peterson, 52 C. A. 195, 113 S. W. 981.

Representatives of grantor asserting that deed was simulated transaction held to have the burden of proof. Robertson v. Hefley, 55 C. A. 368, 118 S. W. 1159.

In a suit to partition lands in which plaintiffs claimed a one-half interest through a conveyance by an attorney in fact of defendants, the burden was on defendants to show that plaintiffs had notice of the fact that the power of attorney, under which the attorney acted, was obtained by misrepresentations. Merrill v. Bradley (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 561.

The burden is on the drawee of a draft to prove, in avoidance of liability thereon, fraud inducing its acceptance. Milmo Nat. Bank v. Cobbs (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 151.

The burden is on one seeking to rescind a contract or to relieve himself of some contractual liability on account of the fraud of another to clearly prove the fraud or the circumstances from which it should be presumed. Hoeldtke v. Horstman (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 642.

One seeking to rescind a settlement of several accounts on the ground of fraud has the burden of proving it. Altman v. Powell (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 1178.

In an action on a note wherein plaintiff garnished insurance proceeds which defendant's brother claimed under an assignment, the burden was on plaintiff to show that the assignment was fraudulent. Dickerson v. Central Texas Grocery Co. (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 695.

A purchaser seeking rescission of a contract for fraud has the burden of showing a right to rescission. Adams v. Hill (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 349.

The burden was on the maker, sued on a $600 negotiable note by a bona fide purchaser, to prove that the note was procured, without negligence on his own part, by fraudulent representation that it was only for $100. Garlitz v. Runnels County Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1151.

140. Statute of frauds.—When the undertaking is to pay another's debt, the burden of proof under the statute of frauds is on the party who seeks to prove that the undertaking is an original and independent contract, so as to escape the statute. The evidence, to change an existing contract relation between the plaintiff and a third party, and to prove a promise by the defendant to pay the debt of another, as a new and original undertaking, must be clear and satisfactory. Ridgell v. Reeves, 2 App. C. C. § 438.

In a suit to compel specific performance of a verbal contract to convey land, the burden was on plaintiff to establish facts taking the contract out of the statute of frauds. Cobb v. Johnson, 101 T. 440, 108 S. W. 811.

141. Garnishment.—The burden of proof rests upon the party controverting the answer of the garnishee, who denies all such facts as would have entitled the plaintiff to a judgment. In respect to his liability he stands precisely in the position he would occupy in a suit against him by the defendant. Ellison v. Tuttle, 26 T. 283; East Line & R. R. Co. v. Terry, 50 T. 129; Grace v. Koch, 1 App. C. C. § 1063; Schneider v. Bullard, 1 App. C. C. § 1187; Winslett v. Randle, 1 App. C. C. § 1194.

In garnishment the burden of proof is on the creditor. See Scheuber v. Simmons, 22 S. W. 72, 2 C. A. 672.

Where the garnishee's answer showed that the fund in his hands was not subject to garnishment by a creditor of the debtor, held, that the burden was on plaintiff in garnishment to prove the contrary. Smith v. Merchants' & Planters' Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 1038.

A garnishee held to have the burden of proving that a note and draft paid by it were firm paper, instead of individual paper. Progressive Lumber Co. v. Rogers & Croley (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 260.

Where a garnishee answers fully, denying any indebtedness to the judgment debtor, the burden is upon the creditor to show that the garnishee was indebted at the time of the service of writ. Silsbee State Bank v. French Market Grocery Co. (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 713.

Where the garnishee admitted the indebtedness to the debtor, the burden was upon the debtor to establish a plea that the fund in the garnishee's hands was exempted. Lyon & Matthews Co. v. Modern Order of Prætorians (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 29.

142. Guardian and ward.—When it is claimed that vouchers have been improperly approved, the burden of proof is on the party to show that the guardian is not entitled to a credit. Parish v. Alston, 65 T. 194.

In action against guardian for services, some of which were charged against him and some against his estate, held the burden of proving separate value of items was on plaintiff. Moore v. Bannerman (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 825.

143. Homestead.—In an action to enjoin an execution sale of land because at the time of levy the intent to permanently abandon had not been formed, though it was later, the burden is on plaintiff to show the existence of the intent to occupy the property as a homestead at the time of the proposed sale. Bell v. Greathouse, 20 C. A. 478, 49 S. W. 258.

Burden of proof is not on debtor to show that value of land claimed as homestead did not exceed amount limited by the constitution. Fitzhugh v. Connor, 32 C. A. 277, 74 S. W. 83.

Burden of proof in a suit to enjoin the sale of certain lots on execution, on the ground that they were part of a rural homestead, held to be on owner to show that they were rural property. Harris v. Matthews, 36 C. A. 424, 81 S. W. 1198.

On an attachment of land shown by defendant husband and wife to have been their homestead, the burden was on plaintiffs to show an abandonment of the homestead. Gaar, Scott & Co. v. Burge, 49 C. A. 599, 110 S. W. 181.

Where land conveyed to a debtor in part payment for a business homestead and other property was conveyed by the debtor after it had been attached, the burden was on the debtor's grantee to show that the land was exempt when attached. McGovern v. Taliaferro (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 814.

Defendant claiming a homestead held to have the burden of proof. Rockwell Bros. & Co. v. Hudgens, 57 C. A. 504, 123 S. W. 185.

The burden held to be upon one claiming land under an attachment sale to prove that defendant abandoned it as a homestead before the levy. Baker v. Magee (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1161.

The burden held upon one executing a trust deed to show that the property was his homestead, making the trust deed void. Roe v. Davis (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 950.

143½. Community property.—What constitutes community property, see notes under Art. 4623.

Where the circumstances attending a sale of community property to pay a community debt show no fraud, the burden is on the party attacking the sale to prove fraud, as alleged. Burkitt v. Key (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 231.

One who wishes to establish a charge on lands for a reimbursement of community funds expended in their acquisition has the burden of proving such expenditure. Welder v. Lambert, 91 T. 510, 44 S. W. 281.

If a mother dies before the father and the latter's estate is being administered, sales of the community property do not affect the interest of the mother's heirs therein, unless they were made to pay community debts, and the burden is on the purchaser if he claims that the sale passed the right of the heirs of the wife, to show that the sale was made to pay a community debt. Roy v. Whitaker, 92 T. 346, 48 S. W. 892, 49 S. W. 367.

Where plaintiffs claimed as heirs of D., contending that he and Y. were married, and that the property was community property, and defendants claimed title under conveyances from Y., plaintiffs had the burden of proving the marriage and that the property was community property. Ruedas v. O'Shea (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 891.

The burden is on one claiming that a husband's separate conveyance of community property is invalid to prove the facts invalidating it. Ragley-McWilliams Lumber Co. v. Davidson (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 856.

The rule that the burden of proof is on him who asserts the separate character of property does not apply where defendant denies the allegations of plaintiff who asserts the community character of the property, and plaintiff has the burden of proving the community character. Emery v. Barfield (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 311.

144. Separate property.—The burden of proving that property acquired by husband or wife during marriage by onerous title is separate property rests on the party asserting it. Epperson v. Jones, 65 T. 425; Smith v. Bailey, 66 T. 553, 1 S. W. 627; Kimberlin v. Westerman, 75 T. 127, 12 S. W. 978.

The burden of proof is on a married woman, who claims as separate property a stock of goods seized for the husband's debt, with which he was doing business as a merchant, to show that she purchased them with cash of her separate means, and if the property made by sales were mingled with her separate money in purchases, to show how much of her separate money she used in buying the goods. If she mingles the gains of the business in replenishing her stock from time to time, and is unable to show how much of her separate means was invested in the goods at the time of the seizure for the debt of the husband, she cannot protect them as her separate property. Jones v. Epperson, 69 T. 586, 7 S. W. 488.

The burden is on the wife to trace the proceeds of her separate estate through and into changes it may undergo. She must combat the presumption that all property acquired during coverture is community. Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co. v. Lastinger (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 924.

Burden of proof is on wife to show that property standing in name of both husband and wife, and against which plaintiff is endeavoring to foreclose mechanic's lien for materials ordered by husband, is her separate property, and that plaintiff had notice of that fact. Hord v. Owens, 20 C. A. 21, 48 S. W. 200.

Where property presumptively community is taken on execution against the husband, the burden is on the wife to prove it is her separate estate acquired during coverture. Simpson v. Texas Tram & Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 655.

A wife, whose separate property, acquired during marriage by gift, has undergone various changes, must, in a controversy as to whether the property last acquired is separate or community property, trace the property, all the changes made, and clearly show that the last-acquired property is her separate property. First Nat. Bank v. Thomas (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 221.

In a suit by a married woman to restrain the sale of property on execution against her husband, the burden is on plaintiff to show that the property belongs to her as alleged. Broussard v. Lawson (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 712.

145. Indemnity.—In an action on a note by a holder after maturity, the burden was on a party thereto to establish a special defense of a contract by which the payee agreed to indemnify him from liability. Citizens' Nat. Bank v. Cammer (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 625.

146. Emancipation of child.—In an action by an infant son, residing with his father, to recover cattle seized on execution against the father, the burden was on plaintiff to show emancipation, under circumstances changing the general rule that the property acquired by him was apparently his father's. Love v. Hudson, 24 C. A. 377, 59 S. W. 1127.

147. Insane persons.—The burden of proving the restoration to reason and the termination or practical abandonment of the guardianship of one insane is upon him who seeks the enforcement of a contract against him who pleads insanity. Elston v. Jasper, 45 T. 409.

In an action to cancel a conveyance under power of attorney on the ground that the grantor was not of sound mind, where the defendants introduce a judgment restoring plaintiff to sanity previous to the conveyance, the burden is upon the plaintiff to show that he was insane at the time he executed the power of attorney. Mitchell v. Inman (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 290.

148. Insurance.—The burden of proof is on the insurer to show that the property was burned by procurement of the insured. Dwyer v. Continental Ins. Co., 57 T. 181.

In an action on a policy the insured must prove his ownership of personal property covered by the policy. Queen Ins. Co. v. Jefferson Ice Co., 64 T. 578.

In an action on a policy of insurance against the insurance company to recover a loss, the defendant alleged that plaintiff had violated a stipulation in the policy, which had been made for an additional consideration, "that the building might remain vacant for sixty days. All openings to be kept securely closed." Held, that the burden of proof was on the defendant to show that plaintiff had negligently permitted the openings to be and remain unclosed, and that thereby the risk of the insurer was increased, and the property probably destroyed by reason of such negligence. Eakin v. Home Ins. Co., 1 App. C. C. § 368.

When the defense to an action on an insurance policy is of overvaluation, the burden is on the defendant to show gross overvaluation, intentionally and fraudulently made by the insured. Id.

In an action on a policy of insurance against loss by fire, a stipulation as to the occupancy of the building insured must be proven. Sun Ins. Co. v. Tex. Foundry & Machine Co., 4 App. C. C. § 31, 15 S. W. 34.

In an action on a life insurance policy payable to creditor as his interest may appear, the burden is on administratrix to show to what extent the debt has been paid. Andrews v. Union Cent. Life Ins. Co. (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 610.

The burden is on defendant, in action for insurance, to show noncompliance with policy requiring a set of books to be kept. German Ins. Co. v. Pearlstone, 18 C. A. 706, 45 S. W. 832.

In an action on an accident policy for death from an anæsthetic administered by a physician, plaintiff had the burden of proving that the anæsthetic was proximately the sole cause of the death. Maryland Casualty Co. v. Glass, 29 C. A. 159, 67 S. W. 1062.

In an action on a life policy, the burden of showing suicide by deceased is on defendant. Equitable Life Assur. Soc. v. Liddell, 32 C. A. 252, 74 S. W. 87.

In an action on a fire insurance policy, admission that plaintiff was entitled to recover, unless defendant established a defense affirmatively pleaded, held to impose on defendant the burden of establishing a substantial breach of contract. Phoenix Assur. Co. v. Stenson, 34 C. A. 471, 79 S. W. 866.

In an action on a policy, the burden was on the insurance company, claiming a breach of an iron-safe clause, to show that the fire occurred when the policy required books to be kept in the safe. First Nat. Bank v. Cleland, 36 C. A. 478, 82 S. W. 337.

In an action on a benefit certificate, the burden held on defendant to show that the member committed suicide. Sovereign Camp of Woodmen of the World v. Boehme, 44 C. A. 159, 97 S. W. 847.

Where insured had not been reinstated to membership after forfeiture of his benefit certificate prior to his death, the burden was on the beneficiary suing thereon to show some action prior to such death preventing the enforcement of the forfeiture. Brotherhood of Ry. Trainmen v. Dee, 101 T. 597, 111 S. W. 396.

A fraternal insurance society issuing a certificate stipulating that it shall be void if the member shall die by self-destruction held required to establish that the member intentionally took his life. Grand Fraternity v. Melton (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 967.

In an action on a life policy, the burden held upon insured to show that insured's illness was embraced by a certain clause. General Accident Ins. Co. v. Hayes, 52 C. A. 272, 113 S. W. 990.

Persons attacking the validity of a change of beneficiary in a policy of insurance on the ground of mental incapacity of insured have the burden of proof. Hazard v. Western Commercial Travelers' Ass'n, 54 C. A. 110, 116 S. W. 625.

In an action for life insurance, defended on the ground of suicide, where plaintiff proved that insured died, he established a prima facie case, and the burden was on the defendant to prove its defense. Grand Fraternity v. Melton, 102 T. 399, 117 S. W. 788.

In an action on a policy, the burden was on insurer to prove that plaintiffs, or one of them, caused or procured the destruction of the property. Delaware Ins. Co. of Philadelphia v. Hill (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 283.

The burden of proof of insurer's plea of overvaluation is on it. Id.

Burden held on insurer to show loss of property by fire. Milwaukee Mechanics' Ins. Co. v. Frosch (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 600.

If delay of a beneficiary association in delivery of a benefit certificate was of any avail to the beneficiary, it devolved on the party asserting the delay to prove it. Modern Woodmen of America v. Owens (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 858.

The burden is on an objecting member of a fraternal order to show that the acts of its officers in relating members were unsustainable. Supreme Ruling of Fraternal Mystic Circle v. Ericson (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 92.

Insurer held to have the burden of proving that insured was the aggressor in the difficulty in which he lost his life, as regards the condition of the policy that it should be void if insured should die in consequence of the violation or attempted violation of the laws. Sovereign Camp of Woodmen of the World v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1137.

Insurer whose constitution provided for a forfeiture of a member's policy on delinquency and notice thereof held to have the burden of proving a forfeiture, and the notice necessary to effect a forfeiture. Haywood v. Grand Lodge of Texas, K. P. (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1194.

In an action on a fire policy, the burden was on the insurer to prove plaintiff's breach of conditions. Northern Assur. Co. of London v. Applegate (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 295.

Where the maker of a premium note sought to recover over against the payee, an insurance agent, for the latter's failure to pay the premium, the burden was on him not only to allege and prove that the policy was not in force, but that the insurer had made no arrangement to waive the provision requiring payment in cash. Newman v. Norris Implement Co. (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 725.

Where there has been a failure in the payment of a premium or a premium note and a policy by its express provision has become forfeited, the burden of showing waiver is upon the insured. Security Life & Annuity Co. of America v. Underwood (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 293.

Under Sayles' Ann. Civ. St. 1897, art. 3071, providing that where a life insurance company fails to pay a loss within the time specified in the policy, after demand, it shall be liable in addition to the amount thereof to pay 12 per cent. damages, together with all reasonable attorney's fees, and article 3096, providing that that title shall not apply to mutual relief associations, if the principal officer thereof makes an annual statement as therein required, but that, if it refuses or neglects to make the annual report, it shall be deemed an insurance company conducted for profit and amenable to the laws governing such companies, the burden was on the party suing on a benefit certificate, and claiming to be entitled to the penalty and attorney's fees, provided by article 3071, to show failure to make the annual report required by article 3096. Grand Lodge F. & A. Masons of Texas v. Moore (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 362.

In an action on a fire policy, the defendant was bound to establish its defense that plaintiff set fire to the house by a preponderance of the evidence, but not beyond a reasonable doubt. Mott v. Spring Garden Ins. Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 658.

149. Intoxicating liquors.—Where, in an action for selling liquor to plaintiff's husband, it was proved that he was an habitual drunkard, the burden of proof of good faith in making such sales was on the defendant. Haney v. Mann (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 66.

In an action on a liquor dealer's bond, the burden of proof is on plaintiff, who must establish all the facts necessary to his recovery by a preponderance of the evidence. Allen v. Houck & Dieter Co. (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 993.

In an action on a liquor dealer's bond, the burden of proving good faith, founded on a belief that the minor to whom liquor was sold was of age, held on defendant. Farr v. Waterman (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 65.

A party seeking relief by mandamus for an abuse by a city council of discretion conferred on it in ruling on applications for a liquor license has the burden of showing such abuse. Berger v. De Loach, 56 C. A. 532, 121 S. W. 591.

150. Judgment or order.—The burden is on one attacking the order of the court to show that it was not rightfully entered. Bowman v. State, 38 Cr. R. 14, 41 S. W. 635.

In action on foreign judgment, burden of proving lack of service in former action held to be on defendant. Russell v. Butler (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 406.

In an action to set aside a prima facie valid judgment, the burden of proof is on plaintiff to establish its invalidity. Briseno v. International & G. N. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 579.

In a suit to restrain enforcement of a judgment, plaintiff held bound to prove by a preponderance of the evidence an allegation that her signature to a purported acceptance of service was forged, and that she did not appear. Steves v. Smith, 49 C. A. 126, 107 S. W. 141.

Parties asserting invalidity of former judgment held to have the burden to prove affirmatively the insufficiency of service in the suit. Cain v. Hopkins (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 834.

The burden of proof is upon the party making a collateral attack on a judgment. Hopkins v. Cain, 105 T. 591, 143 S. W. 1145.

Burden held upon persons collaterally attacking judgment to establish its invalidity. Blunt v. Houston Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 248.

151. Landlord and tenant.—One claiming as against landlord's lien through purchase from tenant has the burden of proving waiver of lien. Bivins v. West (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 112.

In a contest between a city and a landlord as to the priority of a landlord's lien over the city's lien for taxes, the burden of proof was on the city to identify the particular portion of the stock subject to the lien. City of Ft. Worth v. Boulware, 26 C. A. 76, 62 S. W. 928.

A tenant on shares claiming damages for wrongful dispossession has the burden of proving the damages sustained. Springer v. Riley (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 577.

152. Libel and slander.—It is not incumbent on plaintiff to prove the falsity of the slanderous charge. Ledgerwood v. Elliott (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 872.

In an action by a sheriff for libel in publishing a charge that a prisoner was illegally received and held in the county jail, the jail being actually in charge of guards, one of whom received the prisoner, the burden is on plaintiff to prove that the libel was aimed at him. Boone v. Herald News Co., 27 C. A. 546, 66 S. W. 313.

Where the party writing a libelous letter respecting plaintiff was defendant's general passenger and ticket agent, it was unnecessary to show that defendant had ratified his conduct to render it liable for exemplary damages. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. McArthur, 31 C. A. 205, 72 S. W. 76.

A libelous statement made on a privileged occasion is presumed to be untrue, and the burden of proving its truth is on defendants. Cranfill v. Hayden (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 573.

The fact that a communication forming the basis of an action of libel was conditionally privileged does not shift the burden of proving its falsity to the plaintiff. Cranfill v. Hayden, 97 T. 544, 80 S. W. 609.

The burden is on a party suing for libel to prove that the libel was directed at him. Express Pub. Co. v. Orsborn (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 574.

In an action for slander of title plaintiff has the burden of proving the falsity of the statement complained of, and that the statement was made maliciously. Fant v. Sullivan (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 515.

153. Lost instruments.—In a suit on a lost writing, its execution is put in issue by a general denial, and the burden of proof is on the party claiming under it. Erskine v. Wilson, 20 T. 77; Robinson v. Brinson, 20 T. 438; Hampshire v. Floyd, 39 T. 103; Jordan v. Robson, 27 T. 615.

154. Malicious prosecution.—Malicious prosecution defined; burden of proof rests where. Hurlbut v. Boaz, 23 S. W. 446, 4 C. A. 371.

155. Mandamus.—In mandamus to compel the district clerk to issue execution, where the judgment debtors were permitted to intervene, the burden is on them to show why the writ should not be granted. Kruegel v. Murphy & Bolanz (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 680.

156. Marriage.—In trespass to try title by one claiming as the widow of a slave marriage, held, that it was incumbent on her to show marriage at least by a continuance of the relation of husband and wife after emancipation. Wood v. Cole, 25 C. A. 378, 60 S. W. 992.

Where plaintiffs claimed as heirs of D., contending that he and Y. were married, and that the property was community property, and defendants claimed title under conveyances from Y., plaintiffs had the burden of proving the marriage and that the property was community property. Ruedas v. O'Shea (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 891.

157. Master and servant in general.—One suing for a wrongful discharge from an employment calling for expert skill has the burden of proving his ability and willingness to perform his work. Canthen v. Breyer (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 853.

158. Mechanics' liens.—In a suit by a subcontractor to enforce a mechanic's lien, held that he had the burden of proving that a balance was due the contractor from the owner. Carson v. Gilchrist (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 529.

The burden is on one claiming a laborer's lien for wages in doing railroad construction work to show the amount of each item for which a lien is claimed. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Read Bros. & Montgomery (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 111.

159. Mortgages.—The burden of establishing the invalidity of a mortgage held on the creditor, and not on the purchaser at mortgage sale. Kosminsky v. Walter (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 540.

The burden of proof rests on defendant under a plea of not guilty, to establish that at the time judgment lien was fixed on the lot the judgment creditor had no notice of an outstanding unrecorded mortgage. Barnett v. Squyres (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 612.

One claiming under an unrecorded mortgage, as against judgment creditor whose lien was acquired subsequent to the mortgage, has burden of proof that creditor, when he acquired lien, had notice of the mortgage. Barnett v. Squyres, 93 T. 193, 54 S. W. 241, 77 Am. St. Rep. 854.

In a suit by mortgagees for conversion of mortgaged property, defendant justified under a mortgage held by it, and alleged that plaintiff's mortgage was not filed in the county of which the mortgagor was a resident. Held, that the burden was on defendant to show that the mortgagor was a resident of the county in which its mortgage was filed, and not of that in which plaintiff's mortgage was filed. Hockaday-Gray Co. v. Jonnett & Campbell (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 72.

A party asserting that a transaction prima facie transferring title was a mortgage held required to prove it. Johnson v. Scrimshire, 42 C. A. 611, 93 S. W. 712.

Where an absolute deed is claimed to be a mortgage, the burden is on claimant to prove with clearness and certainty that the instrument was intended by both parties as a mortgage. Goodbar & Co. v. Bloom, 43 C. A. 434, 96 S. W. 657.

A party alleging that a deed is a mortgage has the burden of proving the same. Irvine v. Johnson, 44 C. A. 436, 98 S. W. 405.

Where an instrument is in form an absolute deed, the burden of proof that it was intended as a mortgage is on the parties claiming such fact. Lowry v. Carter, 46 C. A. 488, 102 S. W. 930.

In an action by husband and wife for conversion, the burden of proving that property sold was not included in a mortgage was on plaintiffs. Lowmiller v. Heasley (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 947.

Where a junior mortgage was not on record at the time of foreclosure of a prior vendor's lien, and the mortgagee was not made a party to the suit, the burden was on him to show facts charging the plaintiff with notice of his rights at the time of the foreclosure in order to retain his right to redeem. Gamble v. Martin (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 327.

160. Ordinance.—Where the unreasonableness of an ordinance is relied upon to have it declared void, the burden is upon the party attacking it to prove the facts making it invalid. City of Brenham v. Holle & Seelhorst (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 345.

161. Names.—A middle name or initial is not known in law, unless it affirmatively appears that it is used to designate a different person. McKay v. Speak, 8 T. 376; Cummings v. Rice, 9 T. 527; State v. Manning, 14 T. 402; Stockton v. State, 25 T. 772; Steen v. State, 27 T. 86; Page v. Arnim, 29 T. 53.

In an action by a mortgagee for conversion of chattels by purchase from the mortgagor under a name different from that under which he had executed the mortgage, the burden held upon the purchaser to show that the name under which the mortgage was given was an assumed name. Bradford v. Lembke (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 159.

162. Notice.—Burden of proof held to rest on plaintiff to show that defendant had notice of plaintiff's equitable claim. Baldwin v. Root, 90 T. 546, 40 S. W. 3.

Defendant, setting up contract requiring plaintiff to give notice of claim within a certain time, has the burden of showing that it was not given. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Jackson, 19 C. A. 273, 46 S. W. 279.

In foreclosure of an unregistered mortgage, the burden of showing want of actual notice is on the one claiming to be a bona fide purchaser. Oak Cliff College for Young Ladies v. Armstrong (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 610.

The burden of proof held to be on judgment creditor to show that when his lien attached to the land he had no notice of prior unrecorded mortgage. Barnett v. Squyres (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 612.

Under Arts. 583 and 584, where a portion of a claim for damages for personal injuries was assigned to attorneys in consideration of their services, and covered the fund to be obtained either by suit or settlement, the burden was on such attorneys, in a proceeding against the defendant in such suit to recover their proportion of a settlement made without their knowledge or consent, to show that defendant had knowledge of the assignment before settlement. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Eldredge, 80 S. W. 556, 35 C. A. 467.

The burden is upon one claiming under a prior unrecorded deed to prove that the plaintiff in an execution under which the land is sold as the grantors had notice of such deed when execution was levied thereon. Whitaker v. Farris, 45 C. A. 378, 101 S. W. 456.

In a contest between one who has bought the legal title and one holding the equitable title, the burden is upon the latter to show that the buyer had notice of his title. Wootton v. Thomson, 55 C. A. 583, 119 S. W. 117.

Where plaintiff claimed under a trust deed executed by defendant, the burden was upon defendant to show failure by the trustee to post notices of sale as required by the deed. Roe v. Davis (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 950.

163. Nuisance.—One seeking to recover for personal inconvenience or reduction in the value of his property, occasioned by another conducting a lawful business, held required to prove a nuisance. Sherman Gas & Electric Co. v. Belden, 103 T. 59, 123 S. W. 119, 27 L. R. A. (N. S.) 237.

The construction and operation of a cotton gin near private residences held not per se a nuisance, and one alleging that a proposed gin will be a nuisance has the burden of proof. Robinson v. Dale (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 308.

164. Parties.—Where a third person, claiming an interest, is made a defendant in foreclosing a mortgage, and the petition does not admit that he has any interest, the burden is on him to show an interest. Montague County v. Meadows (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 326.

165. Partition.—In a partition suit brought by alleged heirs of decedent against the heir having possession of the property, the burden is on plaintiffs to prove their title; defendant's possession alone being sufficient to entitle him to judgment otherwise. Lafriere v. Richards, 28 C. A. 63, 67 S. W. 125.

166. Partnership.—In an action against a firm on a note, burden held on plaintiff, under the pleadings, to establish the partnership and the execution of the note. Clifton & Wadkins v. Royse Cotton Oil Co., 39 C. A. 188, 87 S. W. 182.

A partner suing on a firm claim, and alleging that his copartner had transferred his interest in the claim to him, must prove such transfer. Allen v. Fleck, 54 C. A. 507, 118 S. W. 176.

The burden to prove notice of dissolution of a firm is on the retiring partners. Thompson v. Harmon (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1161.

167. Payment.—Where a defendant admits that the debt upon which suit is brought is correct, but claims that it has been paid by him, the burden of proof is upon him to establish these facts. Cherry v. Butler, 4 App. C. C. § 271, 17 S. W. 1090.

In an action on an obligation to pay a given sum of money at a specified time, the burden is on the defendant to prove payment. Bannister v. Wallace, 14 C. A. 452, 37 S. W. 250.

Defendants, contracting to pay a note of plaintiffs, when sued for their failure to pay, held to have the burden of proving the credits to which the note was entitled. Tinsley v. McIlhenny, 30 C. A. 352, 70 S. W. 793.

Defendants having pleaded payment, the burden is on them to show that a particular payment should have been applied to the note sued on. Eastham v. Patty & Brockinton, 37 C. A. 336, 83 S. W. 885.

In an action on a note, where the defense was payments to one other than the plaintiffs, who held the note, the burden was on defendant to show that the one to whom payments were made had authority to collect it. Higley v. Dennis, 40 C. A. 133, 88 S. W. 400.

In an action on an open verified account, where the evidence showed certain payments appropriated by defendant firm and plaintiff to the payment of the account due from the firm to plaintiff, an instruction imposing the burden of proof on defendant to show direction to so appropriate the payments held properly denied. Rotan Grocery Co. v. Tatum (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 342.

The maker of a note secured by a deed of trust on real estate suing to enjoin a sale under the deed of trust had the burden of showing payment either by direct or circumstantial evidence. Hutton v. Pederson (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 176.

168. Agency and authority.—The burden of proof rests upon the party executing a contract, who claims that he is not personally bound because he was an agent for another, within the knowledge of the adverse party. Cullers v. Moore, 1 App. C. C. § 197. See Loomis v. Satterthwaite (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 68; Goldfrank v. Half (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 778; Railway Co. v. Neel (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 788; Western Industrial Co. v. Chandler (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 314; Tynan v. Dulling (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 818; Blain v. Express Co., 69 T. 74, 6 S. W. 679.

Where both parties claimed under deed of an executor, the burden of showing want of executor's authority was on defendant. Wade v. Boyd, 24 C. A. 492, 60 S. W. 360.

Burden of proof held to be upon plaintiff, in an action upon a note signed on behalf of a corporation by the president thereof, to show that the corporation had assumed the payment of the note. Wilson v. Tyler Coffin Co., 28 C. A. 172, 66 S. W. 865.

Where one having authority to sell land sells to himself, in a suit by the owner against a grantee of the purchaser, the burden is on plaintiff to show that defendant had notice of plaintiff's equities. Hunter v. Eastham (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 1080.

A vendee, suing a landowner to recover money paid his agent on an unauthorized contract of sale made by the latter, has the burden of proving the landowner's ratification of such contract. Edwards v. Davidson (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 48.

Where plaintiff claimed the right to recover a fund in the hands of a garnishee, under an assignment executed on defendants' behalf by their alleged attorney in fact, the burden was on plaintiff to show that the assignment was executed by defendants' authority. Darlington Miller Lumber Co. v. National Surety Co., 80 S. W. 238, 35 Civ. App. 346.

Persons dealing with an assumed agent have the burden of showing, not only the fact of agency, but the extent of his authority. T. H. Baker & Co. v. Kellett-Chatham Machinery Co. (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 661.

In an action against a railroad company by a physician for services rendered on the employment of a conductor, the burden of proof held on plaintiff to show the conductor's authority. Wills v. International & G. N. R. Co., 41 C. A. 58, 92 S. W. 273.

The burden of proving that a principal ratified the unauthorized act of his agent in conveying land rests on the party asserting it. Skirvin v. O'Brien, 43 C. A. 1, 95 S. W. 696.

There is no presumption of authority in one who is the vice president and general manager of a land and cattle company to sell the lands of the company. Hurlbut v. Gairnor, 45 C. A. 588, 103 S. W. 409.

One claiming under ratification of agent's unauthorized acts held to have burden of proof. Lightfoot v. Horst (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 606.

One suing on an order for goods, signed by one as president of a voluntary association, held to have the burden to prove individual liability. Southern Badge Co. v. Smith (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 185.

One who relies on the agency of another to bind the alleged principal has the burden of proving the extent of the agent's authority. John Stember & Co. v. Keene (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 661.

169. Principal and surety.—Where defendants were sued as sureties on the official bond of a county treasurer, and admitted the default, but claimed that it occurred prior to the time when they became sureties, the burden of proof was on them to establish such defense. Skipwith v. Hurt (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 192.

In a collateral attack, on an order of a county court discharging sureties on a guardian's bond, the burden held not to rest on the sureties to prove the existence of facts sustaining the order. Moore v. Hanscom, 101 T. 293, 106 S. W. 876.

In an action by a landowner on a building contractor's bond, plaintiff held bound to show that the contractor's president had actually applied out of his personal funds, to the expense of the building, $600, credited by plaintiff on the personal debt of such president. Zang v. Hubbard Building & Realty Co. (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 85.

Plaintiff seeking to defeat defendant's claim under a better title from the common source, must show that the common source had no title. Long v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 945.

170. Title and ownership.—In an action of trespass to try title, the defendants claimed the land under a deed executed on the 27th of November, 1865, while the plaintiffs claimed it under a sheriff's sale, by virtue of a judgment which was recorded in the county on the same 27th of November, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon; and the relative merits of the title depended on the question of fact whether the registration of the judgment or the execution of the deed was prior in point of time. Held, that as the plaintiffs in this form of action can only recover on the strength of their own title, the burden of proof rested upon them to show that the judgment was recorded before the deed was executed; and in the absence of evidence on that question, there is no presumption that the judgment lien attached previous to the execution of the deed. Hillmann v. Meyer, 35 T. 538.

In a suit for property its identity and the defendant's possession must be proven. Shaw v. Adams, 2 App. C. C. § 181.

A special plea by defendant in trespass to try title does not relieve the plaintiff from the necessity of proving his title. Koenigheim v. Miles, 67 T. 113, 2 S. W. 81.

To maintain ejectment by one tenant in common against another, it devolves upon the plaintiff to prove ouster unless the defendant in pleading assert entire ownership. Railway Co. v. Prather, 75 T. 53, 12 S. W. 969.

It is incumbent upon the defendant in trespass to try title to prove such facts as will disprove the evidence of title offered by the plaintiff. Deeds being offered by the plaintiff which apparently convey to him the land claimed in his petition, he is entitled to judgment in the absence of proof by the defendant. McNamara v. Meunch, 66 T. 68, 17 S. W. 397.

Where common source of title is admitted, the burden of connecting himself therewith by proper evidence rests upon plaintiff. Wallace v. Berry, 83 T. 328, 18 S. W. 595.

Defendants denied that they were in possession of the land sued for, alleging possession of an adjoining tract. In such case it devolved upon the plaintiffs to prove that the defendants were in possession of the land sued for; failing in this, plaintiffs could not recover. Medlin v. Wilkens, 1 C. A. 465, 20 S. W. 1026.

To enable plaintiff to recover by reason of his title under a common source, he must show that he and the defendant claim the same interest and that his title is the superior. Halley v. Fontaine (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 260.

Where a deed of a right of way reserved the right to use water in a ditch thereon for stock in a certain pasture, held, in an action for the destruction of the ditch, that plaintiff must prove that he owned the pasture. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Haas. 17 C. A. 309, 42 S. W. 658.

Where plaintiffs fail to make out their case, defendants are entitled to a judgment forever concluding all claims of plaintiffs to the premises. Hill v. Grant (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 1016.

Parties claiming the benefit of a judgment of partition must connect themselves therewith in order to enjoy its benefits. Owens v. New York & T. Land Co. (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 601.

Where a deed introduced under Art. 7749, shows that defendant claims under two titles, one of which does not spring from the common source, the burden is on plaintiff to show a superior title, even though defendant's title be invalid. Story v. Birdwell (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 847.

Where defendant city claimed a highway over plaintiff's lands, held, that the burden of proof was on the city to show such easement. City of San Antonio v. Ostrom, 18 C. A. 673, 45 S. W. 961.

In suit to restrain judgment against plaintiff in action to recover personal property, the burden is on plaintiff to show that he owned the property. Rumfield v. Neal (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 262.

Where plaintiffs proved a common source, and then introduced evidence tending to disprove the identity of their ancestor with the common source, it was held error to put on them the burden of establishing identity. Smith v. Davis, 18 C. A. 563, 47 S. W. 101.

Where plaintiff alleges that it is owner of certain lands, and that defendant has fenced them, and that the land claimed by him embraces portions of plaintiff's land, the burden of proof is on plaintiff. New York & T. Land Co. v. Votaw (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 125.

In trespass to try title, the burden is on plaintiff to establish a superior title. Parker v. Campbell (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 434.

Where plaintiff shows common source and superior title thereunder, burden held on defendant to show title in himself paramount to common source. Gordon v. Hall, 29 C. A. 230, 69 S. W. 219.

A suit, originally one to remove cloud on title, held, in view of a cross-plea of certain defendants, one in trespass to try title, as between them and plaintiffs, requiring them to show better right than plaintiffs. Lynch v. Pittman, 31 C. A. 553, 73 S. W. 862.

In trespass to try title, the burden of establishing value of improvements made in good faith is on defendant. Wilson v. Wilson, 35 C. A. 192, 79 S. W. 839.

Where the evidence shows that plaintiffs have a superior title from the common source, the burden is on defendants to show that the common source was without title. Ellis v. Lewis (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 1034.

In a suit by the state of Texas to recover lands within its borders, it devolves on defendants, claiming under the United States, to show that the state has parted with its title. State v. Jadwin (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 490.

In an action to recover certain land, the burden was on plaintiffs to show that their ancestor was the same person as the original grantee. Dorsey v. Olive Sternberg & Co., 42 C. A. 568, 94 S. W. 413.

In trespass to try title, the adverse party held required to prove the superiority of his title. Taylor v. Doom, 43 C. A. 59, 95 S. W. 4.

The breaking down of defendants, older title held a prerequisite to recovery by plaintiff. Stith v. Moore, 42 C. A. 528, 95 S. W. 587.

In trespass to try title, the burden of proving a certain fact held to rest on defendants. Irvin v. Johnson, 44 C. A. 436, 98 S. W. 405.

Plaintiff seeking to recover a specified tract of land held required to show title to the land. Jaggers v. Stringer, 47 C. A. 571, 106 S. W. 151.

In a suit to recover cattle seized on execution against a third person, held, that there was no confusion of goods, and that a charge therefore erroneously put the burden of proof on defendant to establish title in such third person. Merchants' & Farmers' Nat. Bank of Cisco v. Johnson, 49 C. A. 242, 103 S. W. 491.

One seeking to establish title to land under a verbal conveyance or gift in a court of equity has the burden of showing his right to have title decreed to him. Altgelt v. Escalero, 51 C. A. 108, 110 S. W. 989.

To entitle one to allowance for improvements, held, he must show how much the value of the land is enhanced thereby. Fain v. Nelms (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 1002.

If the plaintiff desires to show title from a common source, the burden is upon him to connect both his own and defendant's title with the same source. Caruthers v. Hadley (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 80.

Plaintiffs in trespass to try title were not relieved of the necessity of affirmatively proving title because defendant unsuccessfully relied on limitations. Uvalde County v. Oppenheimer, 53 C. A. 137, 115 S. W. 904.

In trespass to try title, plaintiffs and others seeking affirmative relief against the original defendants have the burden of showing title. Keck v. Woodward, 53 C. A. 267, 116 S. W. 75.

Plaintiffs in trespass to try title are the actors in the case on whom rests the burden of proving title against the world in case there is no common source shown. Connor v. Weik (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 650.

In an action by the state to enforce a personal liability for taxes, penalties, and interest, and costs for failure to pay the same, the burden is on plaintiff to show that defendant owned the property at the time of the assessment, or when the same should have been legally assessed. Central Hotel Co. v. State (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 880.

A plea of not guilty as to the part of land not disclaimed by defendant put plaintiff on proof of his title, and on his failure to show title defendant would be entitled to a judgment denying a recovery of the land not disclaimed. Gaffney v. Clark (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 606.

Plaintiff in trespass to try title has the burden of proving title. Baillie v. Western Live Stock & Land Co., 55 C. A. 473, 119 S. W. 325.

In trespass to try title, a party cannot show title from a third person without connecting such title with the sovereignty of the soil. Hamman v. Presswood (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1052.

Plaintiffs in trespass to try title, being deprived of the claim of common source of title, must deraign title from the sovereignty. Merriman v. Blalack, 56 C. A. 594, 121 S. W. 552.

A plea of not guilty having been filed by defendant in a formal action of trespass to try title, the object of which was to recover possession, the burden rested on plaintiff to prove either a legal or equitable title sufficient to justify judgment awarding the possession. Hoffman v. Buchanan, 57 C. A. 368, 123 S. W. 168.

In trespass to try title defendant's plea of not guilty held to require plaintiff to prove that he had title to the land he sought to recover. Dean v. Furrh (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 431.

Defendant's plea held not to relieve plaintiff from the necessity of showing the identity of the land sought to be recovered with that described in his patent. Finberg v. Gilbert (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 979.

Where plaintiff claimed through a deed describing the land conveyed as consisting of 177 acres of the C. survey, but the evidence showed that there were two C. surveys, the burden was upon plaintiff to identify the land claimed as the 177-acre survey. Long v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 40.

Defendant's plea as to his title may limit him in his recovery, yet plaintiff is not relieved of the burden of establishing his title to the land in controversy, and on his failure to support such burden, judgment will be rendered for defendant. Oklahoma City & T. R. Co. v. Magee (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 901.

The burden is on plaintiff in trespass to try title to show title in himself. Houston v. Koonce (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1159.

In trespass to try title, the burden of proving his title is on plaintiff. Skov v. Coffin (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 450.

A plaintiff in trespass to try title held to have the burden of showing title to the land charged to be in possession of defendant. Finberg v. Gilbert, 104 T. 539, 141 S. W. 82.

Plaintiff in suing for the cutting of timber on his land held to have the burden of proving his ownership of the land and that the timber was his timber. Kirby Lumber Co. v. Stewart (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 295.

A defendant in trespass to try title held entitled to judgment for the land in controversy, unless plaintiff affirmatively shows title. Fewell v. Kinsella (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1174.

Where defendants in trespass to try title established adverse possession for the statutory period, the burden was on plaintiff to show that no title was acquired as against a certain owner because of her disability by minority. Louisiana & Texas Lumber Co. v. Lovell (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 366.

Where defendant relies on a deed as conveying part of the tract claimed by plaintiff, and such deed is too uncertain by itself to identify the tract conveyed, the burden of showing extrinsic facts to identify the tract is on defendant. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

Plaintiff, seeking to defeat defendant's claim under a better title from the common source, must show that the common source had no title. Long v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 945.

In trespass to try title, the plaintiff must show a good title in himself. Id.

171. Public lands.—Vendees of the surviving husband, who five years after the wife's death sold their headright certificate, after the lapse of over thirty years from the sale of the certificate are not charged with the burden of proving affirmatively the equities which would conclude the heirs of the wife. Hensel v. Kegans, 79 T. 347, 15 S. W. 275.

The burden of proving that one was an actual settler on public school lands at the time of his application to the land office to purchase is on the person setting up such fact. Jordan v. Payne, 18 C. A. 382, 45 S. W. 189.

The burden of showing that a subsequent location does not conflict with a prior one is on the one claiming under the latter location. Allen v. Worsham (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 525.

Where plaintiff claims as an actual settler on state school lands, she must rely upon the strength of her own title, and the burden of proof is upon her to show that she was an actual settler at the time she made her application. Renner v. Peterson (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 867.

In trespass to try title to school lands, where the parties each claimed title under an application to purchase, the plaintiff must show compliance with the law entitling him to an award of the land by the land commissioners. Willoughby v. Townsend, 93 T. 80, 53 S. W. 581.

The burden of proof is on the plaintiff to show that a junior patent to lands does not conflict with a prior location. Childress County Land & Cattle Co. v. Baker, 23 C. A. 451, 56 S. W. 756.

Where a bounty warrant recited that the ancestor of the heirs entitled to the land described therein was killed at the Alamo, the burden of proof is on those disputing it to show the contrary. Malone v. Dick, 94 T. 419, 61 S. W. 112.

Plaintiff held to have the burden of proving that his location included lands claimed by defendant. Clawson v. Williams, 27 C. A. 130, 66 S. W. 702.

The plaintiff in an action of trespass to try title between applicants to purchase school lands held to have the burden of showing that he had not purchased the quantity of land authorized by statute prior to the purchase of the land in question. Nowlin v. Hall (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 851.

Plaintiffs, in trespass to try title to public lands claimed by plaintiffs and defendant as additional lands, held to have the burden of showing that defendant was not an actual settler on her home tract when she made application for the additional lands, or of showing that she was acting in collusion with her son to fraudulently acquire the land for the latter. Bell v. Williams, 29 C. A. 109, 66 S. W. 1119.

One contesting an award of school land, on the ground that it had not been appraised at the price offered by the first applicant, has the burden of showing that the land was not so appraised. Davis v. McCauley, 28 C. A. 211, 66 S. W. 1124.

Plaintiff in trespass to try title to school land held by defendant under an award from the land office has the burden of proof. McBane v. Angle, 29 C. A. 594, 69 S. W. 433.

In action to recover land claimed to have been public free school land, settled on and applied for by plaintiff, burden of proof held on plaintiff to show that either the defendant had never completed his purchase of the land, or that he had in some manner forfeited his right before plaintiff made his application. Boaz v. Powell, 96 T. 3, 69 S. W. 976.

Burden of proof held to be on those impeaching legality of construction given by commissioner of land office to lease of school lands. McGee v. Corbin, 96 T. 35, 70 S. W. 79.

In an action to recover school lands, plaintiff must show that award to prior applicant was unauthorized. Lenders v. Boliver (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 1075.

In trespass to try title, the burden held to be on defendant to show that a lease of the lands, made prior to plaintiff's application to purchase from the state, was still in force at the time of that application. Jones v. Wright (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 569.

Where plaintiff claimed as a purchaser of school lands, and introduced in evidence an application to purchase which had been indorsed "Rejected," it was incumbent on plaintiff to show that the application was wrongfully rejected. Knapp v. Patterson, 99 T. 400, 90 S. W. 163.

Burden of proof held to be on second purchaser of school lands to show that the first award was invalid, though the first award was canceled by the commissioner of the general land office. Smithers v. Lowrance, 100 T. 77, 93 S. W. 1064.

In an action of trespass to try title to school land, the burden held upon plaintiff to establish title superior to defendant's. Fellers v. McFatter, 46 C. A. 335, 101 S. W. 1065.

Where defendant by mistake took up her residence on land adjoining the school land she had applied to purchase, during which time plaintiff settled on such land and applied to purchase it, the burden was on defendant to show that her settlement was made by mistake under the belief that she was actually residing on the land applied for. Morgan v. Armstrong (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 1164.

A party asserting that a purchaser of headright certificates or persons claiming under him had retransferred the certificates to the original holder or persons claiming under him has the burden of proving the fact. Mitchell v. Stanton (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1033.

172. Receivers.—Where petition in action against railroad in hands of receivers alleges that their operation of the road is illegal, the burden is on plaintiff to prove such fact. Trinity & S. Ry. Co. v. Brown, 91 T. 673, 45 S. W. 793.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to a servant, burden held to be on plaintiff to show invalidity of appointment of a receiver. Adams v. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co., 34 C. A. 413, 79 S. W. 79.

173. Reformation of instruments.—In a suit to reform a policy for mistake, the burden is on assured to show that he did not know its contents when it was accepted. Delaware Ins. Co. of Philadelphia v. Hill (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 283.

The burden was upon defendants in trespass to try title, seeking to reform a deed from plaintiff to their grantor for mistake in the description, to show that the mistake was mutual to both the grantors and grantees. Durham v. Luce (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 850.

174. Release.—In an action by a servant against a master for injuries received through his negligence, the burden of showing a release was procured by false representations is on the servant. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Milam (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 735.

Where an employé suing for personal injuries admitted the execution of a release therefor, the burden was on him to show the release invalid. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Bowles (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1176.

175. Religious societies.—In a suit involving the right to property conveyed to trustees for the use of a church of a particular faith, the burden of proof held to rest on defendants, who entered into a different religious organization. Clark v. Brown (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 421.

Plaintiff, seeking to foreclose a lien on the property of a church, held required to establish the authority of the trustees acting for the church. Owens v. Caraway (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 474.

176. Sales.—On a sale by samples, the burden is on the seller to show that the goods correspond with the sample, and that the buyer accepted them. Pontiac Shoe Mfg. Co. v. Hamilton, 18 C. A. 283, 44 S. W. 405.

In an action by the seller to recover the price of goods sold, the burden was on defendant to prove the making and breach of an express warranty. C. H. Dean Co. v. Standifer, 37 C. A. 181, 83 S. W. 230.

Vendors, seeking by reason of an alleged lien for the purchase price to subject to the payment of their claims the proceeds of goods sold by them, must show what particular or specific part of the property on hand when the receiver of the vendee took possession was acquired by the sale of, or resulted from the proceeds of the sale of, their property. Wright v. Texas Moline Plow Co., 40 C. A. 434, 90 S. W. 905.

Where plaintiff proved a sale under a power contained in a deed of trust, and the proceedings were apparently regular, the burden was on defendant to show that the sale was invalid. Evants v. Erdman (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 929.

177. Sequestration.—The burden of proof rests upon the party whose property has been seized under a writ of sequestration of showing that it was wrongfully issued. Harris v. Finberg, 46 T. 79.

The burden is on defendant who seeks damages for wrongful sequestration to prove that the grounds for suing out the writ did not exist. McMillan v. Moon, 18 C. A. 227, 44 S. W. 414.

In trespass to try title, the burden held on defendant to rebut a presumption of right of possession arising from plaintiff's title, and to show defendant's injury by reason of the levy of a writ of sequestration. Freeman v. Slay, 99 T. 514, 91 S. W. 6.

In sequestration, an instruction held erroneous as imposing the burden of proof on defendant. Rea v. P. E. Schow & Bros., 42 C. A. 600, 93 S. W. 706.

178. Set-off and counterclaim.—The burden is upon a defendant in conversion to prove the justness of a counterclaim. Baldwin v. G. M. Davidson & Co. (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 716.

179. Sheriffs and constables.—In an action against a constable for negligence in failing to serve writs of garnishment, the burden is on the officer to show insolvency of garnishees. Taylor v. Fryar, 18 C. A. 266, 44 S. W. 183.

In an action against a sheriff for failure to return an execution, the burden of excusing his failure and showing that it was harmless is upon the sheriff. Waxahachie Nursery Co. v. Sansom (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 422.

180. Statutes.—The burden of proof is on one claiming a statute to be unconstitutional to establish the fact. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith, 20 C. A. 451, 49 S. W. 627.

Where an excerpt from a decision offered by the defendant as proof of the law of a foreign state did not show the date, it could not be taken as establishing the law of that state at the time the obligation arose, the burden of proof being upon the defendant. Third Nat. Bank of Springfield, Mass., v. National Bank of Commerce (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 665.

181. Taxes and taxation.—In a suit against a tax collector and the sureties on his official bond for failure to pay over money collected by him, evidence that the tax rolls were delivered to him by the proper authority for collection renders him responsible for the whole amount of the rolls, and the burden of proof is on him to show what amount he has collected and paid over, or to show lawful excuse for his failure to collect. Houston County v. Dwyer, 59 T. 113.

In a suit on a tax deed, it is necessary to show the performance of all precedent requisites. Meredith v. Coker, 65 T. 29. Citing Hadley v. Tankersly, 8 T. 12; Yenda v. Wheeler, 9 T. 408; Robson v. Osborn, 13 T. 298; Davis v. Farnes, 26 T. 296.

One attempting to escape the payment of a tax, on the ground that municipal debts are invalid, has the burden of proving it. Winston v. City of Ft. Worth (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 740.

One attempting to escape the payment of a tax for invalidity of municipal debts must prove it. Wright v. City of San Antonio (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 406.

In a suit to collect taxes levied for refunding bonds, the burden was on the taxpayer to show the falsity of recital that they were issued to pay valid warrants. City of Tyler v. Tyler Building & Loan Ass'n (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 1066.

Where a conveyance of mineral rights operated to sever the ownership of the minerals from the ownership of the surface, the burden was on the grantee resisting a tax on his interest to show that the land did not contain minerals. State v. Downman (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 787.

One seeking to enjoin collection of taxes on the ground that, with others previously levied, they exceeded the limit, the question depending on the order in which two ordinances were approved, held to have the burden of proof as to such order. City of Marshall v. Elgin (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 670.

A taxpayer seeking to enjoin collection of taxes by a city to pay bonds for an improvement held to have the burden of showing the bonds were not in the hands of bona fide holders, where the city would be estopped to assert their invalidity against such holders. Id.

In an action to restrain the collection of taxes, the burden is on plaintiff to show that the taxes are not due and owing by him. McMahan v. Morgan (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1123.

182. Torts in general.—In an action for the recovery of damages to property the plaintiff must show that the injury was caused by the act of the defendant. Munson v. Metz, 1 App. C. C. § 245.

183. Recovery of land in general.—The burden of proof is on the junior equitable title. Jackson v. Waldstein (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 26.

The burden of proof rests upon the plaintiff in trespass to try title. Byers v. Wallace, 28 S. W. 1056, 87 T. 503.

In an action to recover land, the burden of proof is on the plaintiff, and the jury should be so charged. Halsell v. McCutchen (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 72.

184. Conversion of property.—In an action for conversion of sacks in which cotton seed was sold, held, that the burden was on plaintiff to show that the sacks were not also sold. Texas Standard Cotton-Oil Co. v. National Cotton-Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 159.

In an action against the sheriff and another for conversion, where defendant claims the goods were fraudulently transferred to plaintiff, the burden was on defendant to establish it. Reynolds v. Weinman (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 560.

Where defendant is in possession of property for which plaintiff brings trover, the burden is not on defendant to show title. Mershon v. Bosley (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 799.

Where, in an action for timber trespass, plaintiff elected to treat the manufacture of the timber into lumber as the period of conversion, the burden was on her to prove that the timber was so manufactured. Rippy v. Less, 55 C. A. 492, 118 S. W. 1084.

185. Trusts and following trust property.—Cestui que trustent have the burden of proving that a grantee of their trustee had notice of their equitable title, or did not purchase for a valuable consideration. Hanrick v. Gurley (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 994.

In a suit by chattel mortgagees to establish a trust in the proceeds of the sale of the mortgaged property, the burden is on plaintiffs to identify the property into which the proceeds of the sale passed. Texas Moline Plow Co. v. Kingman Texas Implement Co., 32 C. A. 343, 80 S. W. 1042.

Where a transfer of claims by an administrator did not on its face include a claim to a trust fund, in the accounting by the trustee of the fund, the burden was not on the distributees to show that such claim was excepted. Routledge v. Elmendorf, 54 C. A. 174, 116 S. W. 156.

One asserting that a purchaser at an execution sale holds the property in trust held to have the burden of proving the trust. Buckner v. Carter (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 442.

An attorney, who has acquired the subject-matter of a suit in which he is employed, has the burden to establish good faith, in a suit by his client to declare a trust. Henyman v. Trevino (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 458.

A party seeking to establish a trust in his favor in land the legal title to which is in another has the burden of proving the facts necessary to constitute a trust. Hengy (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1127.

186. Usury.—Defendant alleging that the contract sued on, which on its face made defendant a stockholder in and a borrower of plaintiff building and loan association, was but a scheme to cover up usury, and that the contract was purely a loan, has the burden of proof. Cotton States Bldg. Co. v. Peightal, 28 C. A. 575, 67 S. W. 524.

In an action to recover a penalty, the burden was on plaintiff to prove that defendant collected usurious interest. Stewart v. Lattner (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 631.

187. Vendor and purchaser.—Bona fide purchaser, see ante.

The burden of proof is upon the party asserting that the vendor's lien has been waived. Irvin v. Garner, 50 T. 54; Ellis v. Singletary, 45 T. 47; Hodges v. Roberts, 74 T. 517, 12 S. W. 222; Robertson v. Guerin, 50 T. 317.

One seeking to postpone a prior legal title on the ground that he acquired a subsequent claim for value without notice must establish both these facts in evidence outside of the recitals in his deed. Bremer v. Case, 60 T. 151; Olcott v. Ferris (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 848.

In an action by the vendor to enforce the specific performance of a contract for the sale of land, he must, when his ability to contract for the sale of land is contested, make proof that the title offered is reasonably safe and will be satisfactory to a person of ordinary prudence. Where the defect is trivial, compensation therefor may be allowed. Upton v. Maurice (Civ. App.) 34 S. W. 642.

The burden is on the purchaser to establish a defense, in action for breach of the contract to purchase, that the vendor agreed to furnish an abstract of title, and failed to do so. Jackson v. Martin (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 837.

The burden is on the vendee to show a waiver of vendor's lien. Marshall v. Marshall (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 353.

In action against vendee to recover possession or the price, the burden is on defendant to show that vendor had no title. Pughe v. Coleman (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 576.

In a suit to redeem from foreclosure of a prior vendor's lien, the purchaser held not bound to prove that he had no notice of plaintiff's claim, based on an unrecorded assignment of lien. Rogers v. Houston, 94 T. 403, 60 S. W. 869.

The burden of showing that facts extraneous to an abstract of title tend to impair the title and diminish the marketable value of land is on one refusing to comply with his contract to purchase on account of an alleged defective title. Hollifield v. Landrum, 31 C. A. 187, 71 S. W. 979.

Burden of proof held to be on plaintiffs, in action to foreclose vendor's lien, to show amount of balance due on debt. Harbers v. Levy, 33 C. A. 480, 77 S. W. 261.

Burden held on grantor, suing on purchase-money notes, to show that stipulation in deed for clear title had been complied with. Zimmermann v. Owen, 34 C. A. 31, 77 S. W. 971.

Where defendant denied liability on a vendor's lien note for failure of title, the burden was on him to show a legal eviction by a superior title. Wilson v. Moore (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 25.

In a suit to enforce a vendor's equitable lien, the burden is on the purchaser to show waiver of the lien. Springman v. Hawkins, 52 C. A. 249, 113 S. W. 966.

A purchaser who, in an action for the price, pleads an offset based on a payment to cure a defect in the title held required to prove an outstanding title which he was compelled to purchase to protect himself. De Steaguer v. Pittman, 54 C. A. 316, 117 S. W. 481.

One asserting a title resulting from the reservation of an express lien on land for the purchase price as against a grantee of the purchaser has the burden of proving that the purchaser had notice of an express lien. Buckley v. Runge, 57 C. A. 322, 122 S. W. 596.

A purchaser holding under an executed contract of conveyance held required to show certain facts to defeat the collection of the price. Blewitt v. Greene, 57 C. A. 588, 122 S. W. 914.

In a suit to enforce a vendor's lien, defendant having proved the taking of other security, the burden was on plaintiff to establish that that was not intended to operate as a waiver of the lien. Noblett v. Harper (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 519.

Where a junior incumbrancer holding under an unrecorded mortgage was not made a party to a suit to foreclose a prior vendor's lien, the burden was on him to show possession or notice to the holder of the vendor's lien in order to sustain his right to redeem. Gamble v. Martin (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 327.

188. Venue.—A defendant, who pleads his privilege to be sued in the county of his residence, notwithstanding the allegations of the petition alleging a cause of action to pay money in another county in which the action was brought, has the burden of proving that he did not so obligate himself. Witherspoon v. Duncan (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 660.

189. Warehousemen.—In an action against a warehouseman the burden of proof rests upon the plaintiff to establish the facts showing the defendant's liability. When there is a total default in delivering the goods, or a failure to account for their nondelivery, a prima facie case of negligence is made out, and the burden of proof is on the defendant to show that the loss did not happen in consequence of his neglect to use all that care and diligence that a prudent and careful man would exercise in relation to his own property. When it is shown that the goods were destroyed by fire, the burden of proof is upon the plaintiff to show that the fire was the result of want of ordinary care on the part of defendant or his servants. T. & P. R. R. Co. v. Morse, 1 App. C. C. §§ 411-414; T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Capps, 2 App. C. C. § 36. See Sullivan v. Kindred (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 150.

190. Water courses and water supply.—In an action for damages to crops alleged to be due to interference with the natural flow of water, plaintiff has the burden of proving that the crops were damaged by reason of such interference. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Huffman (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 536.

In an action by a landowner against a city for damages to his crops from leakage from a water supply pipe line maintained by the city, the burden was on plaintiff to show that the city failed to use ordinary care in constructing and maintaining the line. City of Paris v. Tucker (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 233.

In an action by a riparian proprietor for damage to his cattle caused by drinking oil emptied into the stream by another proprietor, plaintiff need not show that he had used ordinary care in handling his cattle, as that was matter of defense. Benjamin v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 49 C. A. 473, 108 S. W. 408.

191. Negligence—Injuries to person in general.—Burden of proof of negligence rests where. Railway Co. v. Crowder, 63 T. 502; Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v. King, 24 S. W. 700, 6 C. A. 93; Railway Co. v. Waldo (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 1004; Same v. Christian, 27 S. W. 932, 8 C. A. 246; W. U. Tel. Co. v. Womack, 29 S. W. 932, 9 C. A. 607; Railway Co. v. Lankford, 29 S. W. 933, 9 C. A. 593; Same v. Poras (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 945; McCray v. Railway Co., 32 S. W. 548; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Harris, 103 T. 422, 128 S. W. 897; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Tolbert (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 280.

Proof of negligence rests upon the party affirming. Eakin v. Home Ins. Co., 1 App. C. C. § 370; T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Anderson, 2 App. C. C. § 208; E. L. & R. R. R. Co. v. Hart, 2 App. C. C. § 420. It must be shown that the act complained of was the proximate cause of injury. H. & T. C. R. R. Co. v. McDonough, 1 App. C. C. § 653; W. U. T. Co. v. Bertram, 1 App. C. C. § 1152; Railway Co. v. Burns, 71 T. 779, 9 S. W. 467; Railway Co. v. Bartlett, 69 T. 79, 6 S. W. 549; Railway Co. v. Shieder (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 509; Id., 30 S. W. 902, 88 T. 152, 28 L. R. A. 538; Railway Co. v. Scott (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 827; Railway Co. v. Vaughn, 23 S. W. 745, 5 C. A. 195; Railway Co. v. Cox (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 1050; Railway Co. v. Stafford (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 319.

The burden of proof rests upon plaintiff to show negligence of defendant without contributory negligence of person injured. Railway Co. v. Porter, 73 T. 304, 11 S. W. 324.

An employé suing for personal injury has the burden of proving negligence on the part of the master. Railway Co. v. Lehmburg, 75 T. 61, 12 S. W. 838; Same v. Waldo (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 1004; Hutchens v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co., 40 C. A. 245, 89 S. W. 24; Missouri Valley Bridge & Iron Co. v. Ballard, 53 C. A. 110, 116 S. W. 93; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Davenport, 102 T. 369, 117 S. W. 790; Vernon Cotton Oil Co. v. Catron (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 404; Kampmann v. Mendoza, 141 S. W. 161; Taylor v. White, 156 S. W. 349.

Where shipper of live stock accompanies them to care for them, the burden is not on the carrier to show that the injury occurred on another line. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Vaughan (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 415.

A servant relying upon the nonenforcement of a railroad company's rule governing its employé's duties must prove such fact. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Gormley, 91 T. 393, 43 S. W. 877, 66 Am. St. Rep. 894.

Where the injury did not occur at a public crossing, the burden is on plaintiff to show that the engine was not provided with a proper bell. Boyd v. Cross, 19 C. A. 426, 47 S. W. 478.

The burden held to be on the company to show that defects in its track had no effect in overturning a car which, in a wreck caused by an open switch, fell on a brakeman and killed him. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Johnson, 23 C. A. 160, 55 S. W. 772.

Where an injury to a passenger on defendant's train was caused by a spark from the engine, it was not error to charge that the burden of proof was on the defendant to show that it was not occasioned by its negligence. Texas Midland R. Co. v. Jumper, 24 C. A. 671, 60 S. W. 797.

Where it is shown that a passenger has been injured by cinders from an engine, the burden of proof is on the company to show that the engine was properly equipped. Id.

In an action against a telephone company for negligence in permitting its wires to come in contact with high current wires, it is not error to require plaintiff to prove negligence alleged. Barrett v. Independent Tel. Co. (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 1128.

Burden held to be on city employé to show that promise to repair defect was made by some one authorized to bind the city. City of Houston v. Owen (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 788.

Where plaintiff's evidence in an action against a railroad company for injuries due to a defective bridge fairly made out a case, without showing that a stranger removed a plank from it, defendant has the burden of proving that the defect was due to a stranger removing the plank. Denison & P. S. Ry. Co. v. Foster, 28 C. A. 578, 68 S. W. 299.

In action against railroad for damages from fire, the burden held on it to show that the locomotive was properly equipped and handled. Texas Midland R. R. v. Moore (Civ. App.) 74 S. E. 942.

Burden held not on railway company to show that it gave sufficient warning on approaching crossing. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hall, 34 C. A. 535, 80 S. W. 133.

In an action for injuries charged to have been committed by joint tort-feasors, the burden was on plaintiff to show that he was injured by defendant's sole or concurrent negligence. Robertson v. Trammell, 37 C. A. 53, 83 S. W. 258; Id., 98 T. 364, 83 S. W. 1098.

In an action against a railroad for the death of a brakeman, the burden is upon plaintiff to prove that such death was caused by defendant's negligence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Greenwood, 40 C. A. 252, 89 S. W. 810.

Where an injury to a railroad employé was caused by defective construction of the track, held that it was incumbent on the railroad company to show that it had exercised ordinary care in the construction. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Roberts (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 375.

An employé suing a railway company for injuries sustained by an employé because of a defective stirrup on a foreign car held bound to prove that the company knew or could have known of the defect. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Parish (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 682.

In an action for injuries to an employé, certain proof held to establish a prima facie case of negligence, casting on the employer the burden of meeting it. El Paso Foundry & Machine Co. v. De Guereque, 46 C. A. 86, 101 S. W. 814.

In an action for injuries received by plaintiff's train running into another, where the company's rules required plaintiff's train to run into the station under full control and ten minutes behind another train, the burden was on plaintiff to establish that the collision occurred after the time his train was due. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Brice (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 1094.

One injured by fire escaping from the land of another held required to prove that the latter was guilty of negligence in starting the fire, or in not exercising ordinary care to confine the fire on his own premises. Pfeiffer v. Aue (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 300.

In an action for injuries to a person on a railroad track, the burden was upon plaintiff to show defendant's negligence in keeping a lookout. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Sallee, 56 C. A. 23, 120 S. W. 216.

In an action for injuries to a servant through stumbling over a box in a passageway and having his hand caught in the machinery, plaintiff had the burden of proving when the box was placed in the passageway and by whom it was put there. Lone Star Brewing Co. v. Solcher (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 26.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to an intestate, a passenger, plaintiff has the burden of establishing by a preponderance of evidence that intestate was injured while a passenger, and did not die from other causes than such injuries. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Maxwell (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 160.

To recover of an employer for an injury, the employé must prove that a defect existed in the place furnished him. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Cason (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 394.

Where a passenger was ejected from a train at the station prior to his destination under a rule discontinuing the destination station as a stopping place for such train, plaintiff was not bound to plead that the rule had been so disregarded as to constitute its abrogation as the burden rested on defendant to show that the rule was in force. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Herring (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 1039.

While the burden is on plaintiff, in action for death of defendant's locomotive engineer, to show negligence, yet it being shown that his train was derailed, and that this was occasioned by a defective switch, it devolved on it to show it was not negligent in respect thereto. Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. McGinnis (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 1188.

In order to recover for injuries from being struck by a train, the plaintiff was required to prove that the train operatives knew the injured person was on the track, and realized his peril in time to have stopped the train. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Hope (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1077.

One who seeks to recover damages for an alleged breach of duty of a master to provide a safe place for work has the burden of proving that the relation of master and servant existed at the time of the injury. Marshall & E. T. Ry. Co. v. Sirman (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 401.

192. — Proximate cause of Injury.—In an action for injuries to an employé caused by an explosion of mineral water, held, that plaintiff must prove that defendant violated a legal duty, and facts showing negligence proximately causing the injury. G. A. Duerler Mfg. Co. v. Dullnig (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 889.

Where, in an action for death caused by negligence, plaintiff failed to establish prima facie the cause of action, it was not incumbent on defendant to explain the connection of its servants with the occurrence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Shoemaker, 98 T. 461, 84 S. W. 1049.

In order to hold the master liable for injuries to a servant, the master's negligence must be proved to have been the proximate cause of the injury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Greenwood, 40 C. A. 252, 89 S. W. 810.

In an action for injuries to a servant, the burden was on the servant to offer evidence of the defect in the place to work, the character of the defect, and that it was the proximate cause of the injury. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Cason (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 394.

In an action for injuries caused by negligence, plaintiff must not only prove actionable negligence, but must show that the negligence charged was the proximate cause of the injury. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Emmett (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 44.

In an action for a wrongful death caused by a team becoming frightened through the negligent operation of an automobile upon a highway by the defendant's minor son, the burden was on plaintiff to show that the driver of the automobile was negligent as alleged in the petition, and that his negligence was the proximate cause of the injury. Riley v. Fisher (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 581.

193. — Fellow servant.—Burden is on master to establish defense of fellow servant. Patterson v. Houston & T. C. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 442.

194. — Assumption of risk.—The burden of proving the incapacity of a party injured by dangerous machinery to appreciate the danger is on such party, unless he is so young as to be conclusively presumed incapable. San Antonio Waterworks Co. v. White (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 181.

The burden of proving assumed risk, in an action for injuries to a servant, is on the defendant. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Jones, 35 C. A. 584, 80 S. W. 852; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Worth, 53 C. A. 351, 116 S. W. 365; El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. Welter (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 45; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Hanson, 125 S. W. 63.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to an employé through a defective car step or stirrup, the burden of proving the issue of assumed risk held to be on defendant. El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. O'Keefe, 50 C. A. 579, 110 S. W. 1002.

A master, sued for the negligent death of a servant, has the burden of proving the knowledge of the servant of the conditions on which to predicate assumption of risk. Lewis v. Texas & P. Ry. Co., 57 C. A. 585, 122 S. W. 605.

195. — Contributory negligence.—In a suit for damages alleged to have resulted from the negligence of defendant, if the plaintiff's evidence shows that the injury was caused by the negligence of defendant, and does not disclose any fact from which a want of care on plaintiff's part might be inferred, then the burden of proof is on the defendant, if he relies on contributory negligence as a defense, to show that the plaintiff was guilty of such negligence. Railway Co. v. Redeker, 67 T. 181, 2 S. W. 513.

Where no signals were given, and view at crossing was obstructed, the fact that traveler did not stop to look or listen does not cast on him the burden of proving absence of contributory negligence. Dalwigh v. International & G. N. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 1009.

Burden of proof as to contributory negligence is on defendant. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Parrish (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 536; City of Hillsboro v. Jackson, 18 C. A. 325, 44 S. W. 1010; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. O'Neal (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 921; Lambert v. Western Union Tel. Co., 45 S. W. 1034; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Belt, 46 S. W. 374; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lyons, 53 S. W. 96; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mayfield, 23 C. A. 415, 56 S. W. 942; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Dehnisch (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 64; Same v. Jackson, 31 C. A. 342, 71 S. W. 991; Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. Buie, 31 C. A. 654, 73 S. W. 853; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Anglin, 99 T. 349, 89 S. W. 966, 2 L. R. A. (N. S.) 386; Beaty v. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 365; San Antonio Traction Co. v. Levyson, 52 C. A. 122, 113 S. W. 569; Beaumont Traction Co. v. Happ, 57 C. A. 427, 122 S. W. 610; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. King (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 151; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. McLeod, 131 S. W. 311; Lam & Rogers v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas, 142 S. W. 977. Operation of railroads. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Brooks (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 1056; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Scarborough, 68 S. W. 196; El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Kendall, 78 S. W. 1081; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hall, 34 C. A. 535, 80 S. W. 133; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Anglin, 45 C. A. 41, 99 S. W. 897; Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Morris, 45 C. A. 596, 101 S. W. 1038; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Plunkett (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 663; Boyd v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas, 101 T. 411, 108 S. W. 813; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wall (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 453; Huber v. Texas & P. Ry. Co., 113 S. W. 984; Caldwell v. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co., 54 C. A. 399, 117 S. W. 488; Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Clay, 55 C. A. 526, 119 S. W. 730; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Sharp, 120 S. W. 263. Defective sidewalks. City of Dallas v. Myers (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 683. Injuries to employés. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. White, 23 C. A. 280, 56 S. W. 204; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Collins, 24 C. A. 143, 57 S. W. 884; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Lindsey, 27 C. A. 316, 65 S. W. 668; Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Long, 32 C. A. 40, 74 S. W. 59; Consumers' Cotton Oil Co. v. Jonte, 36 C. A. 18, 80 S. W. 847; Bonn v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 808; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Worcester, 45 C. A. 501, 100 S. W. 990; Industrial Lumber Co. v. Bivens, 47 C. A. 396, 105 S. W. 831; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Worth, 53 C. A. 351, 116 S. W. 365; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Davenport, 102 T. 369, 117 S. W. 790; Producers' Oil Co. v. Barnes (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1023; El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. Welter, 125 S. W. 45; Buchanan & Gilder v. Blanchard, 127 S. W. 1153; El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Shaklee, 138 S. W. 188; Orange Lumber Co. v. Ellis, 105 T. 363, 150 S. W. 582; Yellow Pine Paper Mill Co. v. Wright (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1168. Injuries to passenger. Pares v. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 301; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Morris, 60 S. W. 813; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gist, 31 C. A. 662, 73 S. W. 857; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Addis (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 955.

The burden is upon the defendant to show that deceased had knowledge of a defect in the appliance that caused the injury. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Royall, 18 C. A. 86, 43 S. W. 815.

It is error in a personal injury case to instruct that the burden of proving contributory negligence is on defendant, where the issue has been raised by testimony produced by plaintiff. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Jolley, 31 C. A. 512, 72 S. W. 871.

In an action against a railroad company for personal injuries sustained by a trespasser in defendant's yards, the burden is on plaintiff to show that he was discovered by defendant's employes in time for them to have avoided the injury. Luna v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 1061; Whitney v. Texas Cent. R. Co., 50 C. A. 1, 110 S. W. 70.

Where the undisputed evidence on the trial of an action for negligent injuries establishes prima facie, as a matter of law, contributory negligence, the burden of proof is on plaintiff to show lack of such negligence. Gillum v. New York & T. S. S. Co. (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 232.

Unless the pleadings or evidence of plaintiff establishes contributory negligence, as a matter of law, the burden is on defendant to show that fact. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Melville (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 863.

An instruction in an action for negligent death, which places the burden of proof on plaintiff to show that decedent was not guilty of contributory negligence, is erroneous and properly refused. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Huber (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 568.

The burden of establishing the defense of contributory negligence is on the defendant, except where plaintiff's evidence convicts him prima facie of contributory negligence. Texas & N. O. Ry. Co. v. Conway, 44 C. A. 68, 98 S. W. 1070.

In an action for death, evidence held not to show prima facie negligence on decedent's part, so as to devolve on those suing for his death the burden to show facts from which, on the whole case, he might be found free therefrom. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Conuteson, 51 C. A. 1, 111 S. W. 187.

In an action for injuries sustained in a collision of plaintiff's train with another, if plaintiff's evidence established a prima facie case of contributory negligence by him as a matter of law the burden was on him to show, upon the whole case, facts from which a jury could find him free from negligence. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Brice (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 1094.

Where the evidence of contributory negligence springs out of and forms a part of the case relied on by plaintiff, the burden is on him to show freedom from contributory negligence. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Clay, 55 C. A. 526, 119 S. W. 730.

Where there was nothing in plaintiff's evidence showing contributory negligence, the burden of proving contributory negligence rested on defendant. Id.

Circumstances under which the burden of proof is on plaintiff to show freedom from contributory negligence, stated. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Harris (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 500.

In an action by the husband for personal injuries to his wife, defendant has the burden of proving that the husband could by proper care and attention avoid the damages sustained by reason of the wife's injury. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Sandlin, 57 C. A. 151, 122 S. W. 60.

The burden of proving contributory negligence continued to rest on defendant, where the facts proved by plaintiff indicating contributory negligence were fully excused by other evidence offered on his behalf. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Conder (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 447.

Where plaintiff's pleadings and testimony do not show contributory negligence, the burden of showing such negligence is on the defendant, if it has pleaded it as a defense. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Evans (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 966.

196. — Theaters and shows.—Where, in an action against a railroad maintaining an amusement pavilion for injuries to a patron thereof, it was shown that the company granted exclusive privileges therein to a third person, who agreed to keep the floor free from obstructions, and that the injury resulted from negligence, the burden of showing exclusive control of the premises in the third person was on the railroad. Wichita Falls Traction Co. v. Adams (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 271.

197. — Delay and failure to deliver telegrams.—Negligence of a telegraph company in delivering a message must be shown affirmatively by plaintiff, as that the message was not delivered, or delivered in a materially altered or changed condition; a prima facie case being established, the burden is upon the company to show that the failure was from unavoidable causes. W. U. T. Co. v. Bertram, 1 App. C. C. § 1152; Daniel v. Telegraph Co., 61 T. 457, 48 Am. Rep. 305.

Facts held to cast burden of proof on telegraph company to show that it was not negligent in transmission of message. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Tobin (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 540.

Where, in an action for failure to deliver a telegram as sent, the company defend on ground that it related to an illegal contract, the burden is on defendant to show such fact. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Hill (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 1123.

Delivery of message announcing illness of addressee's wife to person in whose care it was sent held insufficient to relieve telegraph company from burden of proving that its negligent delay in delivery did not affect addressee's time of leaving for home. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Hamilton, 36 C. A. 300, 81 S. W. 1052.

In an action for damages for delay in sending a telegram summoning plaintiff's brother, the burden is on plaintiff to show that her brother could have come in time had the message not been delayed. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Landry (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 461.

In an action for nondelivery of an unrepeatable telegram, plaintiff, in order to recover, held required to prove negligence on the part of the telegraph company. Postal Telegraph-Cable Co. v. Sunset Const. Co. (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 265.

Where a defense for failure to deliver a telegram was that it was in a foreign language and not understood by the company's agents, the burden of proving such lack of knowledge rested on the company. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Olivarri (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 930.

In an action for error in transmitting a telegram, the burden is on plaintiff to show that the error was caused by misconduct, fraud, or want of due care of defendant, its servants or agents. Postal Telegraph-Cable Co. v. Sunset Const. Co., 102 T. 148, 114 S. W. 98.

In an action against a telegraph company for failure to deliver a telegram, held, that there was no burden on plaintiff to show that had he arrived home at the time he could have arrived had the telegram been promptly delivered, that his wife, who was unconscious when he arrived, was conscious 15 hours earlier. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Hughey, 55 C. A. 403, 118 S. W. 1130.

A telephone company sued in Texas by an addressee of a message sent from Arkansas for delivery in Oklahoma, for mental anguish for failure to promptly deliver, held to have the burden of proving that the laws of Arkansas and Oklahoma do not permit a recovery for mental anguish. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Parsley, 57 C. A. 8, 121 S. W. 226.

An addressee of a message directed in care of a third person held required to prove a negligent delay in the delivery of the message to the third person. Johnson v. Western Union Telegraph Co. (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 814.

In an action against a telegraph company for delay in delivering a message, the court properly placed the burden of proving contributory negligence in failing to answer the message on defendant. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Conder (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 447.

While the burden is on the plaintiff to establish negligence, yet, where the exact time of the filing of the message for transmission was important testimony for plaintiff as to such time, though indefinite, will be construed in her favor, where it appears that, though it was within the power of the defendant to show the exact time, it did not do so. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Cates, 105 T. 324, 148 S. W. 281, affirming judgment (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 92.

Where a telegraph company establishes free delivery limits in cities and towns, the burden is on it to show that notice thereof was brought home to the sender of a message to an addressee located in such a place, that the addressee was not within such limits, and to demand payment of the additional charge required for delivery. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Harris, 105 T. 320, 148 S. W. 284.

198. — Carriage of goods and live stock.—Under an ordinary bill of lading, with no special exceptions, if the goods are lost by the act of God, the burden is upon the carrier to prove that his negligence did not contribute to cause the loss. So when the goods are lost by some agency excepted by the carrier in the bill of lading, the plaintiff has merely to aver and prove that they were delivered to the carrier and were not received at the point of destination. This makes a prima facie case of negligence. To avoid liability the carrier must show that the loss was caused by one of the excepted agencies, and must also rebut the presumption of negligence. Ryan v. M., K. & T. Ry. Co., 65 T. 13, 57 Am. Rep. 589.

In all cases of loss or injury to goods intrusted to the common carrier the burden of proof is on the carrier to exempt himself from liability. Proof of loss or injury while en route fixes prima facie the carrier's liability; and to avoid such liability the burden rests upon the carrier to prove such facts as will constitute a valid defense. G., C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Golding, 3 App. C. C. § 35; Mo. Pac. Ry. Co. v. Barnes, 2 App. C. C. § 578.

In a suit for loss of baggage against a carrier, who, as alleged, sold plaintiff a ticket over connecting lines, which recites that defendant sold it as agent, the burden is on defendant to show that the loss did not happen on its road. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Foltz, 22 S. W. 541, 3 C. A. 644.

When goods are destroyed by fire in transit the burden of proof is on the carrier to show that the loss was not caused by his negligence. Railway Co. v. Efron (Civ. App.) 38 S. W. 639.

Where goods are received for as in apparent good order by initial carrier, burden is on connecting carrier, in action for damages, to show that they were damaged when received. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Ney (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 43.

Where a railway company in Texas received cotton to carry to another state, stipulating that it should not be liable for destruction of the cotton by fire, and the cotton burned, the burden was on the company to show that the fire did not result from its negligence or that of its servants. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Richmond, 94 T. 571, 63 S. W. 619.

Where, in an action against a carrier for injuries to cattle shipped, the carrier introduced evidence that the injuries to the cattle resulted from poisoning produced by improper feeding, and not from any negligence on its part, the court properly charged that the burden of proof was on plaintiffs, notwithstanding the rule that where a carrier receives cattle in good condition, and delivers them in a damaged condition, and no caretaker accompanies the shipment, the burden is on the carrier to show that the condition in which the cattle arrived was not due to its negligence. Baker v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 57 C. A. 25, 121 S. W. 907.

In an action against connecting carriers for injuries to stock en route, the burden was upon the final carrier to show that the injury did not occur on its line. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Jones (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 737, judgment reversed, 104 T. 92, 134 S. W. 328.

If, in a suit against connecting carriers for damage to stock, their delivery in a sound or uninjured condition to the initial carrier is shown, and it further appears they were injured when delivered to consignee at destination, it establishes a prima facie case of negligence, and the burden then rests on defendants to show such injuries resulted from the inherent nature or propensity or "proper vice" of the animals, and without their neglect. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Franklin (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 1150.

In an action against a buyer for the price of bananas sold, in which defendant filed a cross-action against plaintiff and the carriers, the carriers alleged in defense that any damage to the fruit was caused by the negligence of the shipper's agent who accompanied the shipment under the contract between the shipper and the consignee, but no such contract between the carriers and the shipper was alleged. Held that, since no benefit could inure to the carriers from the contract between the shipper and consignee, the burden was not on the consignee to show that any damage to the fruit was not the result of the messenger's negligence. Kemendo v. Fruit Dispatch Co. (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 73.

Where the delay in delivering freight is extraordinary, the burden is on the carrier in actions for damages for delay to show unusual conditions justifying the delay. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Stark Grain Co., 103 T. 542, 131 S. W. 410, modifying judgment (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1146.

A shipper desiring to avail himself of the presumption that where goods are shipped over the lines of connecting carriers and are damaged, and the evidence fails to show on what particular line the injury occurred, that the fault was that of the last carrier, has the burden of first showing that the goods were in good order at the time of delivery to the initial carrier. Texas Cent. Ry. Co. v. Barr (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 971.

Where a final carrier delivers goods to the shipper in a damaged condition, it has the burden of proof to show that the goods were damaged when it received them. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Winn (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 972.

A carrier held to have the burden of proving a shipper's contributory negligence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Parker (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 437.

A shipper of live stock who sues the initial carrier for injury to the stock has the burden of showing that the carrier's negligence caused the injury. Martin v. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 615.

The rule that the terminal carrier has the burden of proof to show freedom from negligence held not to apply where the line of the terminal carrier did not extend to the point of delivery. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Jarmon (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 155.

A carrier of cattle has the burden of proving that a loss of cattle was not caused by its negligence, though the shipper accompanied the cattle. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Brooks (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 649.

In an action for damages to cattle in transit, the burden held not on the carrier of proving a lack of damage or negligence by a preponderance of evidence. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Worsham (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 755.

A carrier of live stock has the burden of explaining a delay. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Dunford (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1129.

Where plaintiff proved delivery of the goods to the steamship company in good order and delivery by the company to the terminal carrier in a damaged condition, the burden was then on the company to show that its vessel was seaworthy when it left port, and that the injury was not due to its negligence. Mallory S. S. Co. v. G. A. Bahn Diamond & Optical Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 232.

199. — Negligent fires.—It appearing that the property of plaintiff was destroyed by fire originating from sparks emitted by defendant's engine used in operating its railroad, the burden of proof is on the defendant to show that all reasonable and proper precautions had been used in the construction of the engine to prevent the injury. H. & T. C. R. R. Co. v. McDonough, 1 App. C. C. § 653.

In an action for the value of property destroyed by fire originating from sparks emitted from a locomotive engine, slight proof of negligence is sufficient to throw the burden of exculpation upon the defendant. G., C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Holt, 1 App. C. C. § 838. But see T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Ervay, 3 App. C. C. § 47; G., C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 3 App. C. C. § 123; Railway Co. v. McDonough, 1 App. C. C. § 653.

When property contiguous to the right of way is burned by sparks from the engine passing over the road, which ignite the dry grass on the right of way, and injury results therefrom, in a suit for damages the burden of proof is on the railway company to show that there was no negligence. Railway Co. v. Hogsett, 67 T. 685, 4 S. W. 365; Same v. Benson, 69 T. 407, 5 S. W. 822, 5 Am. St. Rep. 74; Same v. Horne, 69 T. 643, 9 S. W. 440.

A charge that the burden was on defendant to show that a spark arrester on his engine was in good condition, and that the train was properly handled, held proper. Tyler S. E. Ry. Co. v. Hitchins, 26 C. A. 400, 63 S. W. 1069.

In action against railroad for damages from fire communicated by sparks, evidence that equipment was proper held not to relieve defendant from burden of proving no negligence in management. Texas Southern Ry. Co. v. Hart, 32 C. A. 212, 73 S. W. 833.

Where property is shown to have been damaged by fire from the locomotive of a railroad company, the burden is on the railroad to overthrow presumption of negligence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Goodnight, 32 C. A. 256, 74 S. W. 583.

Where plaintiff has proved that a fire was set out by defendant's engine, the burden is upon defendant to show that there was no negligence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Blakeney-Stevens-Jackson Co. (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 1140; Same v. McFarland (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 1144.

Proof that fire escaped from defendant's engine while being operated alongside a platform, and set fire to plaintiff's cotton stored thereon, made out a prima facie case, and the burden of proof was shifted to defendant to defeat plaintiff's right of recovery. Crawford & Byrne v. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 869.

Where the petition, in an action against a railroad for setting fire to property, alleged a duty on the company to use fuel oil in its engines, the burden of showing that it was negligent in using coal, instead of oil, was on plaintiff. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. W. A. Morgan & Bros. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 336.

A charge, in an action for setting fire to property, that the fact that sparks from the engine set the fire made out a prima facie case, rebuttable only by proof of use of ordinary care in selecting a fuel ordinarily used, and requiring such care to be proved by a preponderance of evidence placed the burden of disproving negligence as to the fuel used on the company, and was erroneous. Id.

An instruction in an action against a railroad company for injury to property by fire held erroneous for placing the burden of negating contributory negligence on plaintiff. Furst-Edwards & Co. v. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1024.

200. — Killing or injuring live stock.—Negligence of railroad must be shown where stock is killed at a point fenced in by company. Bethje v. Railroad Co., 26 T. 604; T. C.

R. R. Co. v. Childress, 64 T. 346; I. & G. N. R. R. Co. v. Samora, 1 App. C. C. § 155; T. & P. R. R. Co. v. Miller, 1 App. C. C. § 263; I. & G. N. R. R. Co. v. Smith, 1 App. C. C. § 844.

In an action for damages against a railroad company for killing stock at a point which had been fenced, or in the street of an incorporated city, the plaintiff must show negligence on the part of defendant. I. & G. N. R. R. Co. v. Samora, 1 App. C. C. § 155; I. & G. N. R. R. Co. v. Leuders, 1 App. C. C. § 314; I. & G. N. R. R. Co. v. Smith, 1 App. C. C. § 844; I. & G. N. R. R. Co. v. Cocke, 64 T. 151.

When the plaintiff shows the killing of his stock, the burden of proof is on the defendant to show that the track where the injury occurred was fenced or within a street of an incorporated city (T. & P. R. R. Co. v. Miller, 1 App. C. C. § 263; T. C. Ry. Co. v. Childress, 64 T. 346), so as to impose upon plaintiff the burden of proving negligence.

In the absence of evidence showing negligence in an action for killing horses on track, defendant need not show that statutory signals were given. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Willis, 17 C. A. 228, 42 S. W. 371.

In an action for killing stock at a public crossing, where the company cannot fence its track, the burden is on plaintiff to prove negligence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Scrivener (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 649.

In an action to recover for horses killed by defendant's trains, where the evidence shows that they were on the main track when struck, the burden of showing that it was relieved from fencing its tracks at that point is on the defendant. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Willis (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 625.

In an action against a railroad company for killing a horse on its unfenced right of way, the burden of proof held to be on the plaintiff throughout. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Kennedy, 33 C. A. 445, 76 S. W. 943.

In an action against a railroad for the value of mules killed at a siding, the burden was on plaintiff to prove negligence of defendant's employes. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Cassinelli & Co. (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 247.

In an action against a railroad for the killing of a mule at a point on defendant's line not required to be fenced, the burden is on plaintiff to show negligence. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. McMillan, 37 C. A. 483, 84 S. W. 296.

Where plaintiff's mare was killed within defendant's switch limits, and at a place where public policy prevented the fencing of the tracks, the burden was on plaintiff to establish negligence of defendant. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Bennett (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 607.

In an action against a railroad company for killing mules, the burden of establishing that the company was not required to fence its track at the place of the accident held to be upon it. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Hico Oil Mill (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 627.

One suing for an injury to an animal by a train at a place where the railroad company was not required to fence its tracks held to have the burden of proving negligence in the operation of the train; proof that is merely consistent with negligence being insufficient. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Conley (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 36.

One suing a railroad company for the loss of an animal killed by a train must, to discharge the burden of proof, show that a train struck and killed the animal. Marshall & E. T. Ry. Co. v. Boaz (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 216.

201. — Injuries to third persons by acts of servants and independent contractors. — The burden held upon defendant to show that contractors through whose negligence plaintiff was injured were independent contractors. Kampmann v. Rothwell (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 120.

Where a plaintiff injured in a collision with an automobile shows defendant's ownership of the automobile and its negligent operation by a servant, defendant, to escape liability, must show that the servant was not acting within the scope of his employment. Studebaker Bros. Co. v. Kitts (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 464.

V. Sufficiency of Evidence to Sustain Burden of Proof in First Instance

202. Prima facie case.—The possession by the acceptor of a draft, drawn with a blank for the name of the payee and without an indorsement, is prima facie evidence that the draft had been in circulation and had been paid by the acceptor, but was rebutted by proof of custom to leave draft for acceptance, or other fact tending to controvert the presumption arising from possession, especially where the acceptor failed to prove to whom payment was made. Close v. Fields, 9 T. 422.

Where the plaintiff gave in evidence a deed to himself, and proved his possession of the land subsequent to the date thereof until within a short time before the alleged trespass, and his title appeared to be notorious, and the discontinuance of his possession was explained in such a manner as to raise no presumption against his right, it was held that there was sufficient evidence of title to enable the plaintiff to maintain a suit for damages for cutting timber. Kolb v. Bankhead, 18 T. 228.

An order, in writing, from the person entitled to a bounty warrant to the adjutant-general, to issue the warrant in the name of the person to whom the order was delivered, stating that the latter is the rightful owner of the warrant by purchase, was held, as between the parties, to be prima facie evidence that the person receiving the order was the owner of the warrant. Andrews v. Smithwick, 20 T. 111.

When the plaintiff has proved a prima facie legal title in himself, and the evidence of defendant does not establish title in him, it is proper for the court to instruct the jury to return a verdict for plaintiff. Montgomery v. Carlton, 56 T. 361.

The receipt of a carrier for articles in good order prima facie establishes its liability, and shifts upon it the burden of proof to contradict the recital in the receipt. Tex. Exp. Co. v. Dupree et al., 2 App. C. C. § 318.

Before the burden of proof shifts in any case the plaintiff in trespass to try title must establish a prima facie case in his favor. This cannot be done by merely showing a levy under writ of attachment, judgment, execution and sheriff's deed to plaintiff, and then showing that defendant claims under the defendant in execution. The plaintiff must also show that the defendant's claim originated after the levy of the writ of attachment. Sebastian v. Martin-Brown Co., 75 T. 291, 12 S. W. 986.

A verdict at an inquest is prima facie evidence to show death by suicide. Insurance Co. v. Hayward (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 36.

Plaintiff showing title from a common source makes out a prima facie case. Simmons Hardware Co. v. Davis, 27 S. W. 62, 87 T. 146; Collins v. Davidson, 24 S. W. 858, 6 C. A. 73.

In an action for breach of warranty in a deed, plaintiff is required only to make out a prima facie case. Witte v. Pigott (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 753.

In an action on a claim against an estate, plaintiff makes a prima facie case on proving the debt, and it is not necessary for him to prove that payment has not been made. Kartoghian v. Harboth (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 79.

Where the name of the addressee of a telegram was changed from "Norris" to "Nortys" in the transmission of the message, such change was prima facie evidence of the company's negligence. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Norris, 25 C. A. 43, 60 S. W. 982.

Testimony of the insured that the property described in the policy sued on was in his private dwelling held prima facie proof of ownership. American Cent. Ins. Co. v. White, 32 C. A. 197, 73 S. W. 827.

In trespass to try title, plaintiff's evidence of purchase of premises as free public school land held to have made a prima facie case. Binion v. Harris, 32 C. A. 371, 74 S. W. 580.

In an action against a carrier for injuries to a passenger, evidence held not to show her prima facie guilty of contributory negligence. Gillum v. New York & T. S. S. Co. (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 232.

Proof of delivery of forged message and of loss resulting from reliance thereon held a prima facie case against telegraph company, casting burden of showing freedom from negligence on it. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Uvalde Nat. Bank, 97 T. 219, 77 S. W. 603, 65 L. R. A. 805, 1 Ann. Cas. 573.

Where defendant claimed title by adverse possession and payment of taxes for five years, production of receipts for the taxes established prima facie that the land had been rendered for taxes for the years covered by the receipts. Thomson v. Weisman, 98 T. 170, 82 S. W. 503.

Where plaintiff has proved that both he and defendant claim from the same grantor and that plaintiff has the superior title from that source, he has made out a prima facie case. Gilmer v. Beauchamp, 40 C. A. 125, 87 S. W. 907.

Where, in an action to recover for breach of a contract to deliver cattle, plaintiff proved the contract price and the market price of the cattle, no further burden rested on him. McKay v. Elder (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 268.

Burden on defendant to show plaintiff not a purchaser of land for value held prima facie discharged. J. S. Brown Hardware Co. v. Catrett, 45 C. A. 647, 101 S. W. 559.

In an action against a railroad company for damages to plaintiff's crop, held, that defendant sustained its burden of proving that the fence inclosing plaintiff's land was down by showing that the fence was down at one place. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Mayfield (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 940.

A purchaser in a contract of sale of real estate held prima facie liable on a note given and accepted as a cash payment at the time of the execution of the contract. Beauchamp v. Couch, 54 C. A. 471, 117 S. W. 924.

One who shows that his title consists of a purchase of school lands, which is recognized by the officers of the state in the manner prescribed by the statute, makes a prima facie case against an adversary claiming under a subsequent rejected application. Barnes v. Williams, 102 T. 444, 119 S. W. 89.

The nature of the burden of proof resting on a plaintiff in trespass to try title showing a good prima facie title, upon the production of a patent issued by the state, stated. Murphy v. Luttrell, 56 C. A. 149, 120 S. W. 905.

In an action on a sworn account, defendant's sworn plea, by admitting the correctness of the items of the account, made a prima facie case for plaintiff, though the plea also alleged that defendant was entitled to certain credits from the amount claimed as due, and the burden was upon defendant to establish such credits by other proof. Blackwell Durham Tobacco Co. v. Jacobs, 57 C. A. 295, 122 S. W. 66.

A showing that a package was delivered to and accepted by a carrier for transportation and was lost while in its custody established a prima facie case of negligence. Head v. Pacific Express Co. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 682.

Under a contract to furnish telephone service from month to month on payment of rent in advance, a receipt for any one month is prima facie proof that previous months have been paid. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Luckett (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 856.

In trespass to try title, in which plaintiff relied upon a purchase from the state as school lands, evidence held to show prima facie that the land had been forfeited. Houston v. Koonce (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1159.

Proof held to establish prima facie a carrier's liability for freight lost. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Parker (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 437.

Plaintiff, who showed a conveyance from the common source to one from whom plaintiff claimed title by virtue of a sheriff's sale in attachment, held to cast the burden of proof on defendant by introducing the order of sale and the sheriff's return, though he did not offer the sheriff's deed in evidence. Levy v. Persons (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 286.

In an action to foreclose a vendor's lien note brought by a transferee, the note introduced in evidence, and proof of the contemporaneous execution of the conveyance and of a transfer of the note before maturity for a valuable consideration, established a prima facie case. Watts v. Snodgrass (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1149.

A prima facie case of negligence is made out when it is shown that the tracks projected above the street so as to cause an obstruction, which resulted in causing the wheels of the vehicle to skid, so that it could not avoid the collision. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Cassanova (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1190.

The failure of a telegraph company to deliver a message received for transmission at Santo, Tex., at 8 p. m. January 14th, to Clairmont, Tex., until 11 a. m. January 16th, establishes a prima facie case of negligence, and the company has the burden to show some cause excusing it. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Glenn (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1116. For res ipsa loquitur doctrine, see ante, § 106.

VI. General Rules as to Weight and Sufficiency of Evidence

203. Weight and conclusiveness in general.—In a suit to reform an insurance policy for mistake, it is not necessary to the granting of such relief that the plaintiff and defendant should agree in their evidence that the mistake was mutual. Ætna Ins. Co. v. Brannon (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 614.

Statements of what the witness felt or thought are not conclusive, and facts which he afterwards admits to be true, when of sufficient probative force, are much safer guides as to his thoughts, feelings, or knowledge than his statements of that fact. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Burton, 53 C. A. 378, 115 S. W. 364.

Certain contradicting testimony held entitled to little weight. Uvalde County v. Oppenheimer, 53 C. A. 137, 115 S. W. 904.

The jury must weigh conflicting evidence, and determine its probative force. Morgan's L. & T. R. & S. S. Co. v. Street, 57 C. A. 194, 122 S. W. 270.

204. Number of witnesses.—Uncorroborated testimony of single witness that deed executed by decedent was intended as mortgage is insufficient to establish such fact. Muckelroy v. House, 21 C. A. 673, 52 S. W. 1038.

Evidence is not weighed by the number, but the credibility, of the witnesses and the probable truthfulness of their testimony. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Poloma (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 1149.

205. Positive and negative evidence.—Testimony of witnesses, one that "the last I heard of Mrs. H. was during the war after the divorce. I understood she lived with a man named E. in 1863 or 1864 in Galveston. There was a report that she was dead, but I cannot say anything about her. I think I heard the report of her death several years ago;" another, that "the last I heard of Mrs. H. was during the war." "I never heard of Mrs. H. after she left old Mr. H.; that is, since eighteen or twenty years;" and another, that "I have heard nothing from my former wife since the divorce. N. told me her mother was dead; that a report of her death reached her; that she died not long since. I never inquired as to my former wife in Galveston," is sufficient to prove the death of a party. Schwarzhof v. Necker, 1 U. C. 325.

A finding that no signals were given by a train on approaching a crossing held supported by evidence, where the witnesses did not swear they heard no signals, but testified they were in a position to have heard them and did not. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Dalwigh (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 527.

Evidence of a physician held not contradictory to testimony that other physicians had treated plaintiff for a particular disease. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Smith, 34 C. A. 612, 79 S. W. 340.

Evidence in an action for injury to a live stock shipment held insufficient to raise the issue of the stock having no market value at their destination. St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Berry, 42 C. A. 470, 93 S. W. 1107.

A direct connection between the negligence and injury must be shown, but it is not necessary that plaintiff's evidence exclude all mere possibilities that the injury may have been produced by other causes, if the reasonable deduction from the evidence is that defendant's negligence was the producing cause. Houston Lighting & Power Co. of 1905 v. Barnes (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 722.

206. Circumstantial evidence.—Colin De Bland and Colin Bland were by circumstantial evidence shown to have been used as names by one person. Leland v. Eckert, 81 T. 226, 16 S. W. 897.

See circumstantial evidence sufficient to sustain an ancient grant as to power of the officer granting, the locality of the land, the subsequent recognition of its validity, possession as established by documentary testimony, the state of country and the changes in government accounting for the absence of the original grants or authenticated copies. Railway Co. v. Uribe, 85 T. 386, 20 S. W. 153.

Negligence of a company in injuring a cow on the track held shown by circumstantial evidence. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Yeager (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 28.

To establish title under a lost deed, the existence of which is proven by circumstantial evidence, proof that the grantee took possession of a part of the land conveyed by the deed and asserted ownership of all of it was sufficient. Simmons v. Hewitt (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 188.

Where negligence is sought to be proved by circumstantial evidence, the circumstances must be such as to reasonably lead up to and establish such negligence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Greenwood, 40 C. A. 252, 89 S. W. 810.

In an action against an executrix for architect services rendered to her testator, circumstantial evidence held sufficient to show plaintiff's employment and the rendition of the services at decedent's request. Buckler v. Knezell (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 367.

Circumstantial evidence held admissible to prove the sending of papers by a certain person. Cain v. Corley, 44 C. A. 224, 99 S. W. 168.

In establishing the execution of a deed by circumstantial evidence, it is not necessary that the circumstances should remove all reasonable doubt as to the execution, a preponderance of the evidence being sufficient. Brewer v. Cochran, 45 C. A. 179, 99 S. W. 1033.

The doctrine of the presumption of the execution of a deed by circumstances, where no better evidence is obtainable, must be liberally applied for the protection of titles long relied on in good faith, the evidence of which has been lost through carelessness or accident, the destruction of records, and the death of all the persons originally connected therewith, especially when the claim of title is accompanied by the entire absence of any assertion of claim of right inconsistent with the claim under the deed sought to be established. Pratt v. Townsend (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 111.

To establish the existence of a deed 45 years old, the same circumstantiality of proof is not required as where testimony of the precise transaction is supposedly accessible. Wright v. Giles (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1163.

Negligence may be proved by circumstantial evidence. St. Louis, B. & M. Ry. Co. v. Drodgy (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 946.

Negligence held provable by circumstantial evidence. Wilson v. Werry (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 390.

Negligence must be proved, but may be inferred or proved by circumstantial evidence. Houston E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Boone, 105 T. 188, 146 S. W. 533.

Special finding of the jury that pipe delivered by seller would stand the pressure required by the contract of sale held supported by the evidence, although no witness testified directly that it would. Mound Oil Co. v. F. W. Heitmann Co. (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1187.

207. Credibility of witnesses.—See Rule 1, ante.

208. Evidence introduced by adverse party.—Evidence offered by defendant in trespass to try title to show that plaintiff's and defendant's title is from a common source cannot be used by plaintiff to establish her title. Skov v. Coffin (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 450.

209. Evidence improperly admitted.—Incompetent evidence will not be considered in determining whether a finding in a case tried to the court is contrary to the evidence. Talbot v. Dillard, 22 C. A. 360, 54 S. W. 406.

Certain evidence, though hearsay, yet having been admitted without objection, held not without probative force. Gray v. Fussell, 48 C. A. 261, 106 S. W. 454.

Evidence introduced cannot be considered in support of a judgment, unless the pleadings are sufficient to support it. Kindell-Clark Drug Co. v. Myers (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 463.

Certain evidence in trespass to try title, in which defendant sought to reform a deed executed by plaintiff and wife for mistake, in description, though hearsay, if not objected to, held to sustain a finding that plaintiff's wife knew that the deed did not convey an omitted tract. Durham v. Luce (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 850.

In an action by a physician for compensation for professional services, testimony by the defendant, who was not a medical expert, that the physician was incompetent is not sufficient evidence to support a finding in favor of the defendant on that ground. Feingold v. Lefkovitz (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 846.

210. Uncontroverted evidence.—The force of evidence, though slight, is greatly increased by the failure of the opposite party to rebut it, where it is obvious that the means to do so are readily accessible to the party. Bailey v. Hick, 16 T. 222; Thompson v. Shannon, 9 T. 563; Gray v. Burk, 19 T. 228; Needham v. State, 19 T. 332; Shackelford v. Wheeler, 7 T. 553. But this rule does not apply to one acting in a fiduciary capacity. Chandler v. Meckling, 22 T. 26.

Uncontradicted evidence held sufficient to establish a fact in issue, though of little probative force. Crebbin v. Farmers' Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 402.

The uncontradicted testimony of a foreman in charge of the construction of a telegraph line that the erection of the poles required special skill, and that an employé was incompetent, is sufficient to establish the incompetency of such servant. Postal Tel. Cable Co. v. Coote (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 912.

In an action for personal injury, held, the jury was not bound to take as conclusive testimony as to what witness saw and heard when the accident occurred. McCracken v. Lantry-Sharpe Contracting Co., 45 C. A. 485, 101 S. W. 520.

In an action for injuries to an employé assisting in raising a smokestack to a perpendicular position, the jury held authorized to find that the employer was negligent in failing to furnish a proper hook for the block and tackle used in lifting it. El Paso Foundry & Machine Co. v. De Guereque, 46 C. A. 86, 101 S. W. 814.

The uncontradicted evidence of one substantially a party to the suit is not necessarily conclusive on the jury. Dubinski Electric Works v. J. Lang Electric Co. (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 169.

The jury cannot lawfully deny proper weight to undisputed facts with no suspicion cast thereon. Grand Fraternity v. Melton, 102 T. 399, 117 S. W. 788.

The undisputed testimony of an employé of one of the parties, consisting largely of opinions and conclusions, would not necessarily be binding on the jury. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Taylor, 64 C. A. 419, 118 S. W. 1097.

The jury need not believe the evidence of a party, though not directly contradicted. Hobart Nat. Bank v. Fordtran (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 413.

The testimony of a party is not necessarily binding, though it is not expressly contradicted. Thos. Goggan & Bros. v. Synnott (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 1184.

The question of what the law is in a foreign country held one of fact. Banco Minero v. Ross & Masterson (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 224.

A court or jury is not bound to accept the uncontradicted statements of a witness as true. Roe v. Davis (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 950.

A verdict for plaintiff based on no evidence except the testimony of defendants negating plaintiff's contention cannot stand. Starkey v. H. O. Wooten Grocery Co. (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 692.

The trial court cannot disregard uncontroverted evidence, in proceedings involving the custody of minor children, because of his peculiar knowledge of the parties or his observations from the testimony of the witnesses. Hall v. Whipple (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 308.

Where all the witnesses testifying to the value of a horse placed its market value at a specified sum, and there was no evidence of any less value, the jury could not find a less sum. Moore v. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1070.

Where the testimony as a whole is undisputed, the jury may not disregard it. Brooks v. Davis (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1107.

Although plaintiff gave the only testimony as to the value of the property charged to have been negligently burned, and was not contradicted, it was not conclusive on the jury. Thomas v. Saunders (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 768.

211. Degree of proof in general.—To permit a contemporaneous condition to be engrafted on a deed in writing, it should be upon proper allegations of fraud, accident or mistake and upon clear and satisfactory evidence. Railway Co. v. Garrett, 52 T. 133; Railway Co. v. Pfeuffer, 56 T. 66; Railway Co. v. Dawson, 62 T. 260; Bruner v. Strong, 61 T. 555; Monks v. McGrady, 71 T. 134, 8 S. W. 617.

The fact that a fraudulent or criminal fact is involved does not require a greater degree of certainty. Heilgmann v. Rose, 81 T. 222, 16 S. W. 931, 13 L. R. A. 272, 26 Am. St. Rep. 804; Wylie v. Posey, 71 T. 34, 9 S. W. 87.

It is error in a foreclosure action to charge that the issue must be established "beyond a reasonable doubt." Pace v. American Freehold Land & Mortgage Co., 17 C. A. 506, 43 S. W. 36.

Testimony that it was a common thing for passengers to ride on freight trains of defendant held not an expression of witness' opinion. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Lynch (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 517.

In a civil suit, it is not necessary to prove a contested point to the "satisfaction" of the jury. Collins v. Clark, 30 C. A. 341, 72 S. W. 97.

In an action for breach of contract, evidence considered, and held insufficient to justify a finding that parol stipulations were omitted from the contract by mistake, and that the contract as to its terms was not conclusive. Kansas City Packing Box Co. v. Spies (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 432.

A party is only required to establish a fact by a preponderance of the evidence, and not by clear and positive proof. Simpson Bank v. Smith, 52 C. A. 349, 114 S. W. 445.

Evidence which might serve to create a bare surmise or suspicion of a person's guilty participation in a joint act, but no more, is no evidence thereof, and is insufficient. Wetzel v. Satterwhite (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 93.

In order to reform a policy for mistake, the evidence must be clear and convincing. Delaware Ins. Co. of Philadelphia v. Hill (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 283.

One claiming that a deed absolute on its face is a mortgage must prove such fact by clear and satisfactory evidence. Frazer v. Seureau (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 649.

Plaintiff held to have the burden of proving his case only by a preponderance of the evidence, and not to the satisfaction of the jury. Grigsby v. Texas & P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 709.

The jury should decide all issues according to the preponderance of evidence. Hamilton v. State (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1117.

212. Sufficiency to support verdict or finding.—Where contradictory statements have been made by witnesses the evidence is sufficient to support the findings of the court; but when these statements are made by the same witness they are not enough to justify a reliable conclusion. Cherry v. Butler, 4 App. C. C. § 271, 17 S. W. 1090; Easton v. Dudley, 78 T. 236, 14 S. W. 583.

Testimony that a person died about 1860 will not support a finding that the death occurred prior to August 14, 1860. Lindsay v. Freeman, 33 T. 259, 18 S. W. 727.

Undisputed possession under a common source for more than thirty years, together with the testimony of a witness that in his belief he had seen a deed from the party having power to execute it, held sufficient to support a finding that such deed was executed. Wells v. Burts, 22 S. W. 419, 3 C. A. 430; Smith v. Swan, 22 S. W. 247, 2 C. A. 563; Blackburn v. Norman (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 718.

Evidence held insufficient to sustain finding. Heidenheimer v. Tannenbaum (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 57.

A finding that an ambiguous written contract of sale was not a gambling contract held supported by the evidence. Cleveland v. Heidenheimer (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 551.

Evidence considered, and held to sustain a finding that the names "Moore" and "Moroe," in certain instruments, were intended for "Monroe." Green v. Fisher (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 429.

A finding that an execution was issued is supported by evidence that a judgment was recovered against the defendants therein, and their property sold by the sheriff to satisfy it. Boyd v. Miller, 22 C. A. 165, 54 S. W. 411.

Where plaintiff's testimony as to a cause of injury is corroborated by two other witnesses, it is sufficient evidence to support a verdict of the jury in his favor. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Choate, 22 C. A. 618, 56 S. W. 214.

An assignment of error that a verdict for defendant, in an action on a note defended on the ground of a failure of consideration, was contrary to the evidence, held not sustainable. McCardell v. Henry, 23 C. A. 383, 57 S. W. 908.

Testimony to the effect that "cattle" were in the habit of going across the right of way to higher ground held to include horses and mules. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Clay, 23 C. A. 176, 66 S. W. 1115.

In an action against a railroad company for personal injury, evidence held to support a verdict for plaintiff. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Edwards (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 891.

Testimony that there were five or six families residing in a village at a certain time will support a finding that there were six families then residing there. Mikael v. Equitable Securities Co., 32 C. A. 182, 74 S. W. 67.

Evidence in action for purchase price of land held not to require a finding of failure of title. Kiser v. Lunsford, 38 C. A. 463, 86 S. W. 927.

In trespass to try title, evidence held to sustain a finding of the execution and delivery of a lost deed under which defendants claimed title. McDonald v. Hanks, 52 C. A. 140, 113 S. W. 604.

In an action against a telegraph company for damages for breach of its contract to furnish stock market reports, evidence held to sustain a finding that the contract was not made to enable plaintiff to deal in margins in violation of law. Western Union Telephone Co. v. Bradford, 52 C. A. 392, 114 S. W. 686.

In an action for breach of marriage promise, evidence held to support a verdict for plaintiff. Hill v. Houser, 51 C. A. 359, 115 S. W. 112.

In an action on notes claimed to have been given for the purchase price of land, competent evidence held to support a finding that the purchase money had been paid by the purchaser when he executed notes reciting that they were for the purchase price. Edwards v. White (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 914.

In an action against a city for injuries to a mule hired by the street commissioner, while it was being worked in repairing streets, evidence held to justify a finding that the commissioner and his agent in doing the work were acting within the scope of their authority in using the mule to repair the streets. City of Houston v. Dupree (Sup.) 126 S. W. 1115.

In forcible entry and detainer to recover land from which plaintiff was forcibly ejected under an execution which did not include the land taken, evidence held to sustain a finding that the beginning call of the land described in the writ was correct, so that the land described did not include that from which plaintiff was ousted. Granberry v. Storey (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1122.

Evidence held to justify a finding that a vendor did not contract to waive the vendor's lien at the time of sale. Wittliff v. Biscoe (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 1153.

Negligence is a fact, and its causal connection with the catastrophe must be established with a moral certainty to justify a verdict. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Boone (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 616.

In an action by one of the signers of a written contract, against the other signers for contribution for money advanced, evidence held to sustain a finding that one of the signers, after acquiring knowledge of the erasure of the name of another signer from the instrument, consented to or ratified such alteration. Matson v. Jarvis (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 941.

In an action by a trustee in bankruptcy to recover a payment made by the bankrupt within four months of bankruptcy, evidence held sufficient to support a finding that defendant had no knowledge of the insolvency of the bankrupt at the time the payment was made. Couturie v. Crespi (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 257.

In trespass to try title, evidence held to support a finding that there was a lost grant to the predecessors in the interest of the defendant. Masterscn v. Harrington (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 626.

A finding will not be held to be unsupported by evidence, if it is supported by unobjected to, though incompetent, testimony. Boyce v. Bickford (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1082.

In action to foreclose vendor's lien by assignee whose assignment was not recorded, evidence held to support finding that subsequent lienor acquired its lien in good faith without notice that its agent exercised ordinary care and prudence, that a reasonably prudent person would have believed that plaintiff's assignor was the owner of the notes, and that the agent did so believe. Busch v. Broun (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 683.

In trespass to try title, where defendants relied on a lost deed, evidence held to sustain a finding that no such instrument was ever executed. Rice v. Taliaferro (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 242.

213. Preponderance of evidence.—A preponderance of evidence is in general sufficient to support the verdict. Sparks v. Dawson, 47 T. 133; Prather v. Wilkins, 63 T. 187, 4 S. W. 252; Wyllie v. Posey, 71 T. 34, 9 S. W. 87; Railway Co. v. Matula, 79 T. 577, 15 S. W. 573; Wallace v. Berry, 83 T. 328, 18 S. W. 595; Emerson v. Mills, 83 T. 385, 18 S. W. 805; Railway Co. v. Bartlett, 81 T. 42, 16 S. W. 638. Error in the admission of evidence is not ground for a reversal when no other verdict could have been rendered on the competent evidence. Nelson v. Walker (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 160.

In determining whether a deed was intended by the parties to it as a mortgage, a preponderance of evidence is sufficient. Prather v. Wilkins, 63 T. 187, 4 S. W. 252.

In civil cases a verdict may be based on the preponderance of evidence. Baines v. Ullmann, 71 T. 537, 9 S. W. 543; Wallace v. Berry, 83 T. 328, 18 S. W. 595; Mo. Pac. Ry. Co. v. Bartlett, 81 T. 42, 16 S. W. 638.

To overcome a prima facie proof of negligence, a preponderance of evidence is necessary. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Ballinger (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 822.

Prima facie case, made by proof that fire was set by sparks from defendant's locomotive, requires defendant only to meet it, and not to show by preponderance that it was not negligent. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 28 C. A. 395, 67 S. W. 182.

A charge in action on warranty of a chattel held to have required plaintiff to prove by a preponderance of evidence every material allegation of the complaint. Ash v. Beck (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 53.

A plaintiff, in an action for being run over by a train while on the tracks, has not the burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence that he was not guilty of contributory negligence. Kroeger v. Texas & P. Ry. Co., 30 C. A. 87, 69 S. W. 809.

A verdict that there was no partnership held not against the preponderance of the evidence. Casey-Swasey Co. v. S. G. Treadwell & Co., 32 C. A. 480, 74 S. W. 791.

In a debtor's action to enforce an alleged agreement permitting him to redeem incumbered property, bought in by the secured creditor, it is sufficient if the debtor prove his case by preponderance of the evidence. First Nat. Bank v. Moor, 34 C. A. 476, 79 S. W. 53.

One repudiating a release of all claims for personal injuries on the ground that he was mentally incapable of understanding the effect of the execution thereof need only establish the fact by a preponderance of the evidence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Green (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 380.

An instruction, in an action against a railroad company for fire set by sparks from its locomotive, held erroneous because requiring from the company a preponderance of the evidence to rebut plaintiff's case. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Hooser, 44 C. A. 229, 97 S. W. 708.

A jury need not be "satisfied that plaintiff has established his cause of action by a preponderance of evidence" before they may find for him; it being only necessary that they believe from a preponderance of the evidence that he has proved the facts essential to recovery. O'Connell v. Storey (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 1174.

The state, in an action by it for the recovery of a statutory penalty, need prove its case only by a preponderance of the evidence. Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v. State, 48 C. A. 162, 106 S. W. 918.

The preponderance of the evidence does not necessarily depend on the number of witnesses on either side. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Sierra (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 986; Williams v. Hennefeld, 57 C. A. 54, 120 S. W. 567.

A railway company held not bound to show by a preponderance of the evidence that it has used ordinary care in equipping its locomotives, etc., to rebut the presumption of negligence arising from damage caused by a fire from a locomotive. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Starks (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 1003.

In determining whether an award of damages for property taken in condemnation was excessive, the mere excess in the number of witnesses to a lower value cannot control. Foley v. Houston Belt & Terminal Ry. Co., 50 C. A. 218, 110 S. W. 96.

Proof by a "preponderance of evidence" means proof inducing that state of mind in which there is felt to be a preponderance of the evidence in favor of the proposition, and the number of witnesses or quantity of the evidence is not the test in determining where lies the preponderance; the personal element behind the testimony which induces the state of mind in the trier of facts being the controlling consideration. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Higdon (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 732.

Requiring defendant in an action for setting fire to property to overcome a prima facie case by a preponderance of the evidence held error. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. W. A. Morgan & Bros. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 336.

214. Matters of defense and rebuttal.—When a publication is privileged and believed to be true, the prima facie case of libel from the false and defamatory publication is deemed to have been fully met, and malice in fact must be established by other evidence, as by the style or manner of the writing or by extraneous facts. Behee v. Railway Co., 71 T. 424, 9 S. W. 449.

In prosecution for slander of female, defendant need not establish the defense of bad reputation beyond a reasonable doubt. Ballew v. State, 48 Cr. R. 46, 85 S. W. 1063.

215. Particular facts or issues.—Evidence that the subscribing witness to a deed, and the officer before whom it was proven for record, were persons of good repute, is insufficient to establish the genuineness of the deed. Belcher v. Fox, 60 T. 527.

Sale is established by evidence of the contract of sale and delivery of thing sold. Cooper v. Bumpass, 1 App. C. C. § 499.

In a suit to reform a deed mistake or fraud should be clearly shown. Monks v. McGrady, 71 Tex. 134, 8 S. W. 617.

Similarity of name ordinarily is sufficient evidence of identity of the person in a chain of title. In absence of any other testimony it is error to submit to the jury the question of such identity. Holstein v. Adams, 72 T. 485, 10 S. W. 560; Robertson v. Du Bose, 76 T. 1, 13 S. W. 300; Chamblee v. Tarbox, 27 T. 144, 84 Am. Dec. 614; Cox v. Cock, 59 T. 524; McCament v. Roberts, 80 T. 316, 15 S. W. 580, 1054; Smith v. Gillum, 80 T. 120, 15 S. W. 794; Ansaldva v. Schwing, 81 T. 198, 16 S. W. 989.

Proof of name of patentee held sufficient to establish that plaintiffs were the rightful heirs. Texas Land & Mort. Co. v. Bridgeman, 21 S. W. 141, 1 C. A. 383.

Evidence held insufficient to show fraud in sale of machinery. Haley v. Manning, 21 S. W. 711, 2 C. A. 17.

Market value of stock of goods is what it can be sold for in bulk or in convenient lots and evidence of what it can be sold for at retail is not sufficient evidence of value. Needham Piano & Organ Co. v. Hollingworth, 91 T. 49, 40 S. W. 787.

Evidence examined, and held, that vendee could not avoid payment of price on the ground of the fraudulent representations of vendor. Rowland v. Hamilton (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 541.

Evidence held to warrant a conclusion that property damaged belonged to plaintiff. Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. v. Bulgier (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 1047.

Evidence held sufficient to warrant delivery of administrator's deed. Miller v. Anders, 21 C. A. 72, 51 S. W. 897.

Testimony of one witness of what was told him one year after an alleged agreement held insufficient to prove such agreement. Parrish v. Williams (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 79.

Evidence held not to show certain conveyances as fraudulent, so as to constitute abandonment. Butler v. Daniel, 21 C. A. 628, 54 S. W. 29.

Evidence held sufficient to sustain plaintiffs' claim of title, based on a land certificate issued in the name of an ancestor several years after his death. Lewis v. Bergess, 22 C. A. 52, 54 S. W. 609.

Evidence held sufficient to show vacancy between adjacent surveys, notwithstanding field notes stated that boundary lines were identical. Koch v. Poerner (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 386.

Evidence held to show that a location of one-half of the land called for in a headright certificate was located for the grantee, and not for the benefit of the locator. Pool v. Greer, 23 C. A. 423, 58 S. W. 171.

Evidence of a witness who had been in adverse possession of land for 11 years, that that tract was included in a larger tract, is not destroyed by his evidence, on cross-examination, that he does not know the corners of the larger tract. Payton v. Caplen, 24 C. A. 364, 59 S. W. 624.

That a father contracted with his minor child for his services held evidence that he had emancipated him. Granrud v. Rea, 24 S. A. 299, 59 S. W. 841.

Evidence of death of plaintiff's ancestor held insufficient. Ross v. Blount, 25 C. A. 344, 60 S. W. 894.

Evidence held not sufficient to show that plaintiffs were heirs of the person named in the bounty warrant as entitled to certain lands. Malone v. Dick, 94 T. 419, 61 S. W. 112.

Where suit was brought to establish a note as a claim against the estate of the deceased maker, the note having been given for money to be used in payment of a judgment against the maker, held not necessary for plaintiff to show that the judgment had not been paid; there being no evidence connecting them with the judgment. George v. Ryon (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 138.

In an action against a carrier for failure to deliver stock at a place beyond its own route, evidence held to show a contract for the through transportation of the stock. Texas Mexican Ry. Co. v. Gallagher (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 809.

Where the question was whether the beneficiary in a life policy had survived the insured, both having perished in a flood, evidence held insufficient to raise any issue as to the survivorship. Hildebrandt v. Ames, 27 C. A. 377, 66 S. W. 128.

Evidence held insufficient to show that an applicant for a homestead donation had obtained any right to a homestead. Yarbrough v. De Martin, 28 C. A. 276, 67 S. W. 177.

In a contest between adverse claimants of school land, evidence considered and held insufficient to show a sale to defendant prior to the date of notice from the general land office to the county clerk of such sale. Steward v. Wagley (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 297.

Evidence examined, and held to sufficiently show that a particular headright land certificate had been passed upon and recommended as genuine by the traveling board of land commissioners, so as to authorize a survey, though the number and date given for the certificate in the report of the board did not correspond with its actual number and date. Pope v. Anthony, 29 C. A. 298, 68 S. W. 521.

In view of evidence showing that lease of school lands issued in name of "Reedy" was in fact issued and delivered to "Reeder," who acquired the leasehold title, objections to evidence of payments by Reeder, and his assignment to plaintiff, were properly overruled. Stokes v. Riley, 29 C. A. 373, 68 S. W. 703.

Where the evidence shows that deposits of dead animals, etc., near plaintiff's residence were made by the city scavenger, and had been made frequently for many months, an objection that the evidence shows that the offensive deposits were not made by the city or any of its officers should be overruled. City of Stephenville v. Bower, 29 C. A. 384, 68 S. W. 333.

Evidence held to show executor's sale was for an inadequate price. James v. Nease (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 110.

Evidence in an action for libel held to tend to show express malice, warranting exemplary damages. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. McArthur, 31 C. A. 205, 72 S. W. 76.

Evidence in an action by real estate broker for commissions held not to show such misrepresentations by broker, defeating sale, as to preclude recovery. Scottish American Mortg. Co. v. Davis (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 217.

Evidence held to show that public lands had for some reason been withdrawn from the market after the first classification and appraisal. Binion v. Harris, 32 C. A. 371, 74 S. W. 530.

Evidence in an action for libel published, as charged by plaintiff, in pursuance of a conspiracy, examined, and held to show such conspiracy. Cranfill v. Hayden (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 573.

A servant's earning capacity at the time of his injuries, which were permanent, held not conclusive as to his earning capacity as an element of damages. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Appel, 33 C. A. 575, 77 S. W. 635.

Under statute relative to homestead donations, proof of occupancy and improvement of one tract, held insufficient to warrant patent for another survey; there being nothing therein to identify the two tracts. McClallahan v. Marshall, 35 C. A. 579, 80 S. W. 862.

In an action for damages from a nuisance, causing sickness, a verdict awarding damages for the loss of time in caring for children held not sustained. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Reasonover, 36 C. A. 274, 81 S. W. 329.

On the issue as to when defendant became able to pay the note sued on, evidence held insufficient to show that at a certain time he owned certain land. Glass v. Adoue & Lobit, 39 C. A. 21, 86 S. W. 798.

Evidence held insufficient to establish a novation. Conly v. Hampton (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 1171.

In an action for injuries, evidence held sufficient to justify a recovery for time lost in the past and future. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. McDowell, 40 C. A. 28, 88 S. W. 415.

Evidence outside of plaintiff's testimony showing that his services were rendered at the instance and by direction of deceased, and were at the latter's disposal, held sufficient to raise an implied promise to pay. Buckler v. Kneezell (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 367.

In an action for injuries, probable duration of plaintiff's life may be found from evidence as to plaintiff's age and physical condition, without the introduction of mortality tables. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Paschall, 41 C. A. 357, 92 S. W. 446.

Evidence examined, and held to show that at the time of plaintiff's application to purchase certain public lands defendant had acquired a superior right thereto. Winans v. McCabe, 41 C. A. 99, 92 S. W. 817.

In an action against a canal company for damages to a crop of rice owing to an overflow of water, the evidence held to have clearly identified the land claimed to have been damaged. Colorado Canal Co. v. Sims, 42 C. A. 442, 94 S. W. 365.

Evidence held sufficient to prove the genuineness of lost deeds sought to be established. Jones' Estate v. Neal, 44 C. A. 412, 98 S. W. 417.

In an action on an order drawn by a contractor on the owner of a building in favor of a materialman, evidence considered, and held sufficient to show that at the time the order was presented to the owner he had sufficient funds due the contractor to pay the order. Foley v. Houston Co-op. & Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 160.

In an action for personal injuries which will be suffered, held, that the evidence is sufficient if it shows that there is a reasonable probability that the injured party will suffer in the future as a result of the injuries. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Garber (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 742.

In an action for personal injuries, evidence held sufficiently definite to show loss of earning power to the extent indicated by it. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Mot-willer, 101 T. 511, 109 S. W. 918.

One relying on the abandonment of a homestead must show it clearly where no new homestead has been acquired. Gaar, Scott & Co. v. Burge, 49 C. A. 599, 110 S. W. 181.

Certain evidence held not to establish the death of the families of certain members of a family. Hess v. Webb (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 618.

Certain proof held to show that members of a family died at sea. Id.

In an action on a note for the price of stock subscribed evidence held not to raise the issue as to fraudulent representations by an officer of the corporation. Cherry v. First Texas Chemical Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 81.

In an action for personal injuries, a judgment for at least nominal damages for impairment of earning capacity held justified under the evidence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Niblack, 53 C. A. 619, 117 S. W. 188.

Evidence in an action for breach of a contract to convey held to show that a firm of brokers was trustee for both parties, and not an exclusive agent of the vendor. Dobson v. Zimmerman, 55 C. A. 394, 118 S. W. 236.

A tortious taking of property is sufficient proof of a conversion. Ripy v. Less, 55 C. A. 492, 118 S. W. 1084.

In an action for injuries to plaintiffs' business, caused by false statements by defendant to plaintiffs' customers, evidence held to justify a verdict of $4,000 actual damage, and $10,000 exemplary damages, to plaintiffs. American Freehold Land Mortgage Co. of London v. Brown, 54 C. A. 448, 118 S. W. 1106.

Evidence, in an action by a passenger for injuries, held not to show that plaintiff before the accident had any earning capacity. El Paso & N. E. Ry. Co. v. Sawyer, 56 C. A. 195, 119 S. W. 107.

Plaintiffs' evidence, in an action on account, held sufficient. Eclipse Paint & Mfg. Co. v. New Process Roofing & Supply Co., 55 C. A. 553, 120 S. W. 532.

Evidence as to what plaintiff's crop would have afterwards brought in the market held insufficient to show the amount of loss by the injury sued for. Texas Co. v. Lacour (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 424.

Evidence in trespass to try title held to show that a deed upon which defendant relied was not a forgery. Houston Oil Co. v. Kimball, 103 T. 94, 122 S. W. 533, affirming judgment (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 662, rehearing denied, 103 T. 94, 124 S. W. 85; Rudolph v. Tinsley (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 209.

In an action against a carrier of sulphuric acid for injuries caused by the escape of the acid from a car in flowing into the street, evidence held to show that it had notice of the dangerous character of the acid, and that it negligently permitted it to escape. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Fowler, 57 C. A. 556, 122 S. W. 593.

In a personal injury action evidence held insufficient to warrant a recovery for doctor's services. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Hemphill (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 340.

In an action to recover a deposit on a bid for municipal bonds, evidence held insufficient to warrant an inference that the bidder's attorneys in refusing the bonds for illegality acted capriciously and in bad faith. City of San Antonio v. E. H. Rollins & Sons (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1166, 1199.

Evidence, in an action against a railway company for death of a Shetland pony struck by a train, held to show ownership as alleged by plaintiff. Freeman v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 733.

In an action for personal injuries, evidence held not to make the issue of the necessity of an operation so as to support a separate recovery therefor. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Swan (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 855.

In an action by a lessee for the rental value of a barn wrongfully withheld by the lessor, a finding of the value of its use held sustained by the evidence. Goodhue v. Hawkins (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 283.

That a person had a spouse living might be considered as tending to show that a marriage was not valid, but it is not sufficient to impeach the fact of a ceremonial marriage. Clayton v. Haywood (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 1082.

Evidence of circumstances held sufficient to establish genuineness of a deed, though the grantor denied executing it. Roberts v. Coleman (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1120; Word v. Houston Oil Co. of Texas, 144 S. W. 334.

Proof in an action for damages to plaintiff's business from an obstruction of a street held sufficiently certain as a basis for a verdict allowing loss of profits. American Const. Co. v. Caswell (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1013.

In an action for injury to a passenger, evidence held to warrant a finding that plaintiff's previous physical afflictions were aggravated by the accident. North German Lloyd S. S. Co. v. Roehl (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 322.

In an action for the rental value of a car alleged to have been unreasonably detained, evidence held to show that the detention was unreasonable, and that a recovery of $136.97 was proper. Gulf Refining Co. v. Pagach Bros. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 719.

In an action by an injured servant, evidence held to show that the servant, knowing that his delay in having his injured eye removed endangered the sight of the other eye, permitted the eye to remain until after trial. Freeman v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 413.

Evidence, in an action against a corporation upon notes given by it as part of the purchase price of its own stock, held to show that the corporation at the time of the purchase was solvent, and its stock at par. San Antonio Hardware Co. v. Sanger (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1104.

In an action for injuries to a pedestrian stepping into a hole in the street alongside a street car track, evidence held to justify a finding that the injuries affected plaintiff's mind, and rendered her a mental wreck. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Emerson (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 468.

Evidence held to show that physical pain, loss of time, and diminished capacity to labor and earn money would naturally and necessarily result from plaintiff's injuries. City of Greenville v. Branch (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 478.

Where evidence was sufficient as against an attorney employed to clear up title, who acquired title for his own benefit, it was sufficient against a corporation controlled by him, and used as a medium for his operations. Home Inv. Co. v. Strange (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 510.

In an action for personal injuries, evidence of the reasonableness and amount of expenses for nursing held sufficient to warrant a recovery therefor. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Carroll (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1165.

Evidence, in an action for damages for defendant's alleged breach of a contract to convey land taken from the plaintiff in discharge of his indebtedness to any purchaser plaintiff might find within a certain time, held insufficient to sustain the allegations. Rotan Grocery Co. v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 687.

In an action against a railroad company for damages to a shipment of cattle, evidence held sufficient to support findings of the value of the cattle injured and killed. El Paso & Southwestern Co. v. Hall (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 356.

Evidence held to support a finding that the condition of one suing for a personal injury was due to a blow on his leg, negligently inflicted. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Murray (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 594.

Evidence in an action to recover possession of a diamond stud or its value, alleging a lien thereon and its conversion by defendant, held sufficient to sustain a finding that defendant had converted it. Clay v. Marmar (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1125.

RULE 13. PUBLIC OFFICERS ARE WHAT THEY ARE REPUTED TO BE

De facto officers in general.—Acts of officers de facto are as effectual, as far as the rights of third persons or the public are concerned, as if they were officers de jure. What shall constitute an officer de facto may admit of doubt in different cases. The mere assumption of the office by performing one or even several acts appropriate to it, without any recognition of the person as officer by the appointing power, may not be sufficient to constitute him an officer de facto. There must be at least some colorable election and induction into the office ab origine, and some action thereunder, or so long an exercise of the office, and acquiescence therein of the public authorities, as to afford to an individual citizen a strong presumption that the party was duly appointed; and, therefore, that any person might compel him, for the legal fees, to do his business, and for same reason was bound to submit to his authority in such official capacity. Bien-court v. Parker, 27 T. 558; Chowning v. Boyer, 2 App. C. C. § 744; Cox v. Railway Co., 68 T. 226, 4 S. W. 455.

In an action of trespass to try title the plaintiff claimed under an ancient Spanish grant; as a defense against this title, the defendant, an incorporated town, set up certain official proceedings of the authorities of Tamaulipas and Matamoras, whereby, in 1826, the title under said grant was divested by expropriation for public uses, and the lands were conceded to the party under which defendant claimed. Held, that a foreign government or forum is the best judge of the validity of its own political or judicial acts, exercised upon subjects within its jurisdiction, and they will not be reviewed by this court. City of Brownsville v. Basse and Hurd, 36 T. 461; State v. De Leon, 64 T. 553.

An officer de facto is one who performs the duty of an office with apparent right, and under claim and color of an appointment, but without being actually qualified in law so to act. Aulanier v. Governor, 1 T. 653.

Where an appointment to office is not merely irregular or informal, but is absolutely void, the appointee, though attempting to discharge the duties of the office, is not an officer de facto. Brumby v. Boyd, 66 S. W. 874, 28 C. A. 164.

Sheriffs and constables.—In an action of trespass to try title one of the parties claimed title under an execution sale, and it was objected to the validity of the deed that it was executed by a sheriff appointed by the governor under the enabling act of 1870, which it was claimed was unconstitutional. It was held that the act of a sheriff de facto could not be questioned in this manner. Thulemeyer v. Jones, 37 T. 560.

In an action of trespass to try title, the plaintiff offered in evidence a sheriff's deed, executed in the name of the sheriff by his deputy. It was objected that the deed was not admissible without proof that the person who executed it was a deputy sheriff. The law recognizes the existence of such officers as sheriffs and deputy sheriffs, and it is not necessary for persons who offer in evidence instruments executed by them in the course of their official duties to prove that they were the officers in fact and in law which in their acts they profess to be. This the law presumes, and the burden of showing to the contrary rests upon the person who denies it. Burrow v. Brown, 59 T. 457.

Under Art. 7125, permitting the appointment of deputies by the sheriff to perform all the duties of their principals, acts done by a deputy who had taken the oath of office under an appointment for the special purpose of serving a writ of garnishment and a citation in a certain action, in serving such papers, are binding on the persons so served, though the limitations in the appointment were void, since the deputy was at least a de facto officer, acting under color of authority. Trammel v. Shelton, 45 S. W. 319, 18 C. A. 366.

Under the constitutional provision declaring that no person shall hold two civil offices of emolument, with stated exceptions, though a constable be ineligible to hold or perform the duties of deputy sheriff, he may be a de facto deputy; and his capacity as such to make a sale of land on execution, and convey the same, cannot be questioned in an action for the land. Broach v. Garth (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 594.

The appointment of a person as deputy sheriff constitutes him a de facto officer, though it was not made in writing, as the statute provides, and though he does not give bond or take oath. Id.

Where a deputy sheriff, on being appointed, refused to take the oath, and cut the same off from his appointment, and there was no showing that he exercised the duties of the office, or had the reputation in the community of being a deputy sheriff, he was not an officer de facto. Brown v. State, 66 S. W. 547, 43 Cr. R. 411.

Collector of taxes.—In a suit by the governor of the state against a person to recover a penalty for not having paid his license tax to the collector before engaging in a taxable occupation, the defense was that the person acting as such officer had not been duly elected and had not given bond. It was held that the officer having been commissioned and acting under color, his authority could not be questioned except in a proceeding directly instituted for that purpose. Aulanier v. Governor, 1 T. 653; Kingsland v. Harrell, 1 App. C. C. § 736.

A receipt of the assessor and collector of taxes having been admitted in evidence to show the payment of taxes, it is said by the court, "as respects the authority of the person who gave the receipt, the fact that he acted in the capacity of tax collector is sufficient prima facie evidence of his authority." Deen v. Willis, 21 T. 642.

Justices of the peace.—Whether justices' courts are to be deemed for any purpose courts of record has never been determined in this state. Wahrenberger v. Horan, 18 T. 57.

The mere absence of a justice of the peace from his precinct does not create a vacancy, within Art. 2240, authorizing the commissioners' court to fill any vacancy in the office. Crawford v. Saunders, 9 C. A. 225, 29 S. W. 102.

Judge.—Under Const. art. 4, § 1, providing that judges of the supreme and inferior courts shall hold their office for four years, the term of office of a judge appointed on the death of the incumbent before the expiration of his term is four years, and not merely the unexpired term of his predecessor. Shelby v. Johnson, Dallam, Dig. 597. The authority of a judge de facto to hear a prosecution and convict the accused, cannot, on habeas corpus to procure a discharge of the accused, be questioned on the ground that the judge was not lawfully elected because ineligible. A direct proceeding to try his title is necessary. Ex parte Call, 2 T. App. 497.

The congress of Coahuila and Texas decreed that during recess the government of Texas might provisionally appoint a superior judge. Held, that the appointee's term did not necessarily terminate at the end of the recess. Chambers v. Fisk, 22 T. 504.

Const. art. 6, § 24, provides that county judges, etc., "may be removed" by the judges of the district court for incompetency, official misconduct, etc., upon the cause therefor being set forth in writing, and the finding of its truth by a jury. Held, that such provision refers only to persons who are officers in the full sense of the term, after they have been elected or appointed and have qualified as by law required, and not to persons who have been elected, but have refused or neglected to qualify. Flatan v. State, 56 T. 93.

A resignation of a county judge, to take effect instantan, creates a vacancy, without an acceptance of the resignation, within Const. art. 5, § 28, requiring a vacancy to be filled by the commissioners' court. Byars v. Crisp, 2 App. C. C. § 708.

Under Const. art. 5, § 15, providing for the election in each county of "a county judge, who shall be well informed in the laws of the state," it is not competent, on the contest of an election for county judge, to examine the contestant as to his knowledge of law. Little v. State, 75 T. 616, 12 S. W. 965.

A judge who assumes to exercise judicial functions after the court in which he presides has been abolished by law is not a judge de facto, since there cannot be an officer de facto where there is no lawful office. Daniel v. Hutcheson, 4 C. A. 239, 22 S. W. 278.

Under Const. art. 16, § 17, providing that all officers in the state shall continue to perform the duties of their offices until their successors are qualified, the unconditional tender of his resignation by a county judge creates no vacancy where it is not accepted and is afterwards withdrawn. McGhee v. Dickey, 4 C. A. 104, 23 S. W. 404.

Where, on the disqualification of the resident judge, the governor without authority appointed a member of the bar to try the cause, he was not a judge de facto. Oates v. State, 121 S. W. 370, 56 Cr. R. 571.

County attorney.—One who did not perform any of the duties of an assistant county attorney, except to sign a certain information, could not be regarded as a de facto officer. Murrey v. State, 48 Cr. R. 219, 87 S. W. 349.

Notaries.—A single act by a notary public, who had vacated his office by accepting an incompatible office, did not make him a notary public de facto, but such act is void. Blencourt v. Parker, 27 T. 558.

Municipal officers.—Where certain members of a city board of equalization held over after the termination of their term, their places not having been filled by appointment, and plaintiff and other taxpayers of the city appeared and recognized them as constituting a legal board of equalization, their acts were valid as a de facto board. Nalle v. City of Austin, 93 S. W. 141, 41 C. A. 423.

Corporate officers.—A de facto authority in an officer of a corporation to act as such cannot arise where his election was void, and not merely irregular, and where there has been no assertion of the right to discharge the duties of the office, except in the instance where the authority is questioned, and where there has been no acquiescence in his official acts. Franco-Texan Land Co. v. Laigle, 59 T. 339.

A void election of one claiming under it to exercise the functions of a corporate office is subject to collateral attack. Id.

RULE 14. THE REGULARITY OF OFFICIAL ACTS IS PRESUMED

In general.—In action of trespass to try title the defendant claimed under a grant of land made by the governor of the state of Coahuila and Texas in 1832, the validity of which was questioned on the ground that the officers by whom it was issued had no such authority, and if they had it was made in violation of law. It was held that the construction of their powers and of the laws which confirmed them, adopted and acted upon by the authorities under the former government of the country, must be respected until it be shown that they have clearly transcended their powers, or have acted manifestly in contravention of law. Hancock v. McKinney, 7 T. 384; Martin v. Parker, 26 T. 253. As was done in the following cases: Jones v. Garza, 11 T. 186; Norton v. Mitchell, 13 T. 47; Jones v. Muisbach, 26 T. 235; Holliday v. Harvey, 39 T. 670; Baldridge v. Penland, 68 T. 441, 4 S. W. 565; Clark v. Hills, 67 T. 141, 2 S. W. 356; Johns v. Schulz, 47 T. 578. See Von Rosenberg v. Haynes, 20 S. W. 143, 85 T. 357; Guerra v. City of San Antonio, 1 C. A. 422, 20 S. W. 935.

In a suit against a tax collector and the securities on his official bond, for failing to pay over money collected as such, it should be shown that the tax collector received the tax rolls from the proper authorities, and that they were in his hands for collection. When he thus receives them, he is justly chargeable with the whole amount of the rolls. The burden is then, and not before, on the collector to show that he has collected and paid over, or to show lawful cause for his failure to do so. Cordray v. State, 55 T. 141; Swan v. State, 48 T. 121; Shaw v. State, 43 T. 359; Allbright v. Governor, 25 T. 695, and other cases, cited and followed. Houston County v. Dwyer, 59 T. 113.

The presumption obtains that taxes received from nonresidents of a county were paid on legal assessments on personal property. Webb County v. Gonzales, 69 T. 455, 6 S. W. 781.

Even after the lapse of forty years, no presumption will be indulged that the laws regulating the assessment and sale of land for taxes have been complied with so as to supply the missing evidence of power in the officer to make the sale. Telfener v. Dillard, 70 T. 139, 7 S. W. 847.

After the lapse of over a century, followed by possession under a grant executed under the Spanish government, it ought not to be claimed that the officer extending the grants did not have power to do so. A testimonio of the acts of such officer in appointing surveyor, etc., would prove itself after lapse of time. Von Rosenberg v. Haynes, 85 T. 357, 20 S. W. 143.

It is well settled in this state that the acts of an officer assuming to discharge an attribute of his office are presumed to be within the scope of his authority unless the contrary be shown. Guerra v. City of San Antonio, 1 C. A. 422, 20 S. W. 935.

There is no presumption in favor of the validity of official acts involving the forfeiture of an individual's rights. Irwin & Sanders v. Mayes, 31 C. A. 517, 73 S. W. 33.

Where, in an action to quiet title to land, plaintiff claimed under proceedings to foreclose a deed of trust for nonpayment of taxes, she was not bound to prove that the taxes unpaid were properly levied. Clark v. Elmendorf (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 538.

It is a presumption of law that the acts of officers are within their authority. City of San Antonio v. Tobin (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 269.

The presumption, in the absence of proof to the contrary, is that the officer issuing a liquor license complied with the law (Art. 7427 et seq.), and that application therefor had been made. The bond in this case recites that application was made. White v. Manning, 46 C. A. 298, 102 S. W. 1161.

It will be presumed, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, that a voter produced the proper evidence that he had paid his poll tax as required by law. Savage v. Umphries (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 893.

A presumption can no more be indulged in favor of the validity of a tax sale, where the state is the purchaser, than where an individual purchases. Lewright v. Walls, 55 C. A. 643, 119 S. W. 721.

It is always presumed that in any official act or act purporting to be official the officer has not exceeded his authority. Slaughter v. Cooper, 56 C. A. 169, 121 S. W. 173.

Where the conduct of an officer is attacked as in excess of authority, and there are any conditions under which he may exercise the powers assumed, the court will presume that such conditions existed and formed the basis of his conduct. Sanders State Bank v. Hawkins (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 84.

One alleging that an officer has violated his instructions must show a violation and must show that the instructions were received, and the court will require full proof that the officer has exceeded his powers before it will so determine. State v. Palacios (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 229.

Of municipalities and officers in general.—The court would not presume under the circumstances that a bid for a street improvement was submitted in compliance with law, nor that it was the best that could have been obtained, nor that the abutters were not injured by irregularities concerning same. City of Waco v. Chamberlain (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 191.

The presumption is that a city council, in making ordinances levying taxes, acted lawfully. Berry v. City of San Antonio (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 273.

Persons who fill the office of the board of equalization of a city are at least de facto officers, and their legal appointment will be presumed until the contrary is shown. Nalle v. City of Austin, 23 C. A. 595, 56 S. W. 954.

Where a city is authorized to levy a license tax on particular property or business, and such tax has been imposed, it will be presumed that the levy was made for the purposes authorized by law. Brown v. City of Galveston, 97 T. 1, 75 S. W. 488.

Where a city has authority to refund waterworks bonds, it will be presumed, in the absence of any facts stated to the contrary, that the law was complied with, and a taxpayer cannot set up irregularities in the issuance of the bonds as a defense against the collection of the tax. City of Tyler v. Tyler B. & L. Ass'n, 98 T. 69, 81 S. W. 4.

Facts held to warrant a presumption that the assistant auditor of a city had authority to sign a warrant. City of Houston v. Stewart, 40 C. A. 499, 90 S. W. 49.

Of officers in land department.—A patent is not void because no survey of the land was ever made. In the absence of evidence to the contrary a survey will be presumed. Williamson v. Simpson, 16 T. 440; Stafford v. King, 30 T. 270, 94 Am. Dec. 304; Boon v. Hunter, 62 T. 582; Gerald v. Freeman, 68 T. 201, 4 S. W. 256; Moore v. Reiley, 68 T. 668, 5 S. W. 618; Lilly v. Blum, 70 T. 705, 6 S. W. 279; Brown v. Bedinger, 72 T. 247, 10 S. W. 90; Booker v. Hart, 77 T. 146, 12 S. W. 16; Rand v. Cartwright, 82 T. 399, 18 S. W. 794. See Railway Co. v. Uribe, 85 T. 386, 20 S. W. 153; Groesbeck v. Harris, 82 T. 411, 19 S. W. 850; Robertson v. Mooney, 1 C. A. 379, 21 S. W. 143.

The plaintiff, in an action of trespass to try title, claimed the land in controversy by patent dated in 1851. The defendant claimed under a grant from the state of Coahuila and Texas, dated in 1834, and offered in evidence a land office copy in support of his title. The plaintiff claiming the superior title, on the ground that the older grant was not filed in the land office at the inception of his title, the court say that it is to be presumed that defendant's title was filed in the land office within the time prescribed by law, and therefore antedated plaintiff's title. Nicholson v. Horton, 23 T. 47.

In the absence of evidence to the contrary it is presumed that a survey is made for the grantee named in the certificate. Snider v. Railroad Co., 52 T. 306.

The action of a legally constituted board of land commissioners in 1838, deciding who were the heirs of a deceased party, who had been entitled under the law to land, and issuing to them a headright certificate, is conclusive of their right to it, on a collateral inquiry, whether the decision of the board was right or not. Burkett v. Scarborough, 59 T. 495.

In a conflict of title to land, in support of the action of the proper officers in issuing the patent, it was presumed that the field-notes of a previous survey were withdrawn by the person interested in the survey. Atkinson v. Ward, 61 T. 383.

It is presumed that all facts necessary existed to authorize the issuance of a patent. Sheppard v. Avery, 89 T. 301, 34 S. W. 440.

It is presumed that the land was located before the land certificate was filed. Timmony v. Burns (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 133.

Classification and appraisement of public lands before sale must not only be alleged, but proved; there being no presumption thereof. Thompson v. Gallagher, 32 C. A. 591, 75 S. W. 567.

Where, in trespass to try title, both parties claimed under applications to purchase from the state, and defendant was in possession, the burden was on plaintiff to show the invalidity of defendant's purchase. Jones v. Wright, 98 T. 457, 84 S. W. 1053.

Where plaintiff made application to purchase from the state, but the land was awarded to defendant on his later application, held to have the burden of proof to overcome the presumption of regularity. Smith v. Hughes, 39 C. A. 113, 86 S. W. 936.

When one, suing upon his rejected application for the purchase of school land, has shown compliance with the statute, he has overcome the presumption that the commissioner of the land office has acted lawfully. Knapp v. Patterson (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 394.

Where the land commissioner canceled an award of school lands because of mistake in classification, presumption of regularity of his act held to apply to the cancellation and not to the award. Smithers v. Lowrance (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 606.

Cancellation of award of school lands by land commissioner, indorsed on the purchaser's obligation and on classification and appraisal record, held provable by certified copies of the documents. Id.

No presumption arises in favor of the validity of an award of land by the commissioner of the general land office during the life of a lease as against the validity of his action in making the lease. Buchanan v. Barnsley, 51 C. A. 253, 112 S. W. 118.

Under Paschal's Dig. Arts. 4302 and 4211 et seq., it was the duty of the commissioner of the general land office to satisfy himself that the original certificate was a valid one, before issuing an unlocated balance certificate, and it will be presumed that he discharged this duty; hence, where a survey was made in B. county in 1838, under which land was patented in 1847 and canceled in 1855, because in conflict with older valid claims, and not for any infirmity of the certificate, and another survey, made in B. county in 1847 by virtue of the certificate, was patented during that year, and the commissioner in 1855, after canceling the patent issued on the survey made in 1838, again recognized the certificate as valid by issuing the unlocated balance certificate, the original certificate was prima facie valid. Compton v. Hatch (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1052.

Of counties and officers thereof.—In 1854 the chief justice and county commissioners conveyed a lot in the town of Crockett donated to the county; the records of the county had been destroyed, and with them the deed of gift, and its terms and conditions were not known. It was shown that the lots in the town had, since 1837, been conveyed in the same manner. It was held that it is to be presumed that the sale and conveyance of the lots was in the manner authorized by the deed to the county, or that by proper orders of the county court the officers who made the conveyance were properly appointed as commissioners, etc. Wooters v. Hall, 61 T. 15.

There is no presumption of the validity of special proceedings by the county courts directed towards the establishment of boundary lines. Wise County v. Montague County, 21 C. A. 444, 52 S. W. 615.

A certificate of the county clerk of a county attached to an abstract of judgment held to presumptively show an indexing of the judgment in alphabetical order, as required by statute. Abee v. Bargas, 45 C. A. 243, 100 S. W. 191.

In a proceeding involving the validity of an order of the commissioner's court changing the course of a public road, it should be presumed in favor of the order, in the absence of proof to the contrary, that the court took every preliminary step essential to its validity. Smith v. Ernest, 46 C. A. 247, 102 S. W. 129.

Of notaries.—Where the certificate of the officer recites that he had affixed his official seal to an instrument, it is presumed that it was properly attached, although in the copy from the record its place is not indicated by a scroll and the initial letters "L. S.," as is customary. Alexander v. Houghton, 26 S. W. 1102; citing Hines v. Thorn, 57 T. 104; Witt v. Harlan, 66 T. 661, 2 S. W. 41; Coffey v. Hendricks, 66 T. 677, 2 S. W. 47.

The acknowledgment of a married woman being in statutory form, the law will presume that the officer performed his duty, and that the certificate of acknowledgment is true in all its details. Ward v. Baker (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 620.

Of clerks of courts.—In an action of trespass to try title the defendants offered in evidence duly certified copies of a power of attorney, and of a deed executed in 1835 before a judge of the first instance. They were objected to on the ground that the certificate of the clerk did not show that the originals had been filed prior to the first Monday in February, 1837. Held that, in the absence of proof to the contrary, it is to be presumed that the originals were filed at the proper time; and the certificate of the clerk, to the effect that they are archives of his office, is equivalent to a certificate that they had been filed at the proper time. Hooper v. Hall, 35 T. 82.

No presumption arises from evidence that the abstract of the judgment was recorded that the index thereof has been made. Miller v. Koertge, 70 T. 162, 7 S. W. 691, 8 Am. St. Rep. 587.

Where clerk recorded instrument, it will be presumed that certificate of acknowledgment duly attested was annexed, it being necessary for recordation, so as to render certified copy admissible. Caudle v. Williams (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 560.

Where a case is appealed to the supreme court and remanded, it will be presumed that the clerk either collected the costs before remand, or issued an execution for costs thereafter. Gillean v. Witherspoon (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 909.

Where the filing of a citation by the clerk is a judicial act required by statute, and a citation requiring defendant to appear and answer November 8, 1909, is entered by the clerk and indorsed, "Filed 20th day of September, 1909," it will be presumed that the return made upon the writ was made before it was filed. Lester v. First State Bank (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 661.

Of sheriffs and constables.—The maxim, "Omnia præsumentur recte," is only applicable to the record of judicial proceedings, and is not to be applied to the exercise of ministerial functions. Thus, the recitals in a sheriff's deed are regarded only as an inducement, and are not evidence of his power to sell, which must be shown independently. Leland v. Wilson, 34 T. 79.

Presumption will not obtain, from the fact that the judgment recites that all the defendants were served with personal service, that service was made on an amended petition. Carlton v. Miller, 21 S. W. 697, 2 C. A. 619.

Two executions in same case were issued on the same day, one to the sheriff of the county where the judgment was rendered. This execution was returned on the day issued. Held, that it will be presumed that such return was made before the issuance of the other, which was directed to officers of another county, and under which sale was made. Brackenridge v. Cobb, 85 T. 448, 21 S. W. 1034.

A citation, duly issued and served by the sheriff, and acted on by the court in entering a default judgment, will be presumed to have been returned by the sheriff as required by law. Calvert, W. & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Driskill, 31 C. A. 200, 71 S. W. 997.

The presumption in favor of the regularity of official conduct will not apply to hold a sheriff liable for the acts of his deputies. Brown v. Wallis (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 1068.

In the absence of a showing to the contrary, it will not be presumed that a constable made service of process outside of his county. Mahan v. McManus (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 789.

In the absence of any showing to that effect it will be presumed that when an officer returned a delivery bond, on the nondelivery of the property to him that he marked it "forfeited." Webb v. Caldwell (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 98.

A petition against unknown heirs was filed on August 10, 1898; the following term of court beginning on September 26th. The sheriff returned a publication of the citation, according to its directions to him, for four weeks with the dates thereof to the September term, and judgment was rendered at the next term thereafter against the unknown heirs, but there was no recital in the judgment of due service of process. Held, that it could not be presumed in support of jurisdiction that proper service was had; it affirmatively appearing from the entire record that there was no legal service. Houston Oil Co. of Texas v. Davis (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 808.

The court, in the absence of a contrary showing, held authorized to presume that a sheriff selling land under attachment gave notice of sale in the manner required by law. Levy v. Persons (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 286.

Where there is no evidence of any private grudge or unfriendly relation between a marshal and a person arrested by him, the court will presume that he was acting as an official merely. Riter v. Neatherly (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 439.

Of state officers in general.—It will be presumed that the act of the sanitary commission in excluding cattle from the state as coming from an infected district was properly exercised. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Smith, 20 C. A. 451, 49 S. W. 627.

The presumption in favor of the validity of an official act held insufficient to render the existence of a receipt for the franchise tax of a foreign corporation affirmative evidence of the issuance of a permit to do business, notwithstanding the law as to the duties of the Secretary of State. Turner v. National Cotton Oil Co., 50 C. A. 468, 109 S. W. 1112.

Where it was apparent from the face of a grant by the Spanish government that the governor waived the use of stamped paper in making it, it must be presumed that he had authority so to do. Flores v. Hovel (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 606.

In the absence of evidence to the contrary, it will be presumed that the governor of the province of Texas had authority to execute a grant of land. Id.

In the absence of a showing to the contrary, the court must presume that the board of medical examiners did its duty in issuing a certificate authorizing the practice of medicine. State Board of Medical Examiners v. Taylor, 103 T. 444, 129 S. W. 600.

The supreme court will presume that the governor will seek the public good in discharging his official duties. Conley v. Daughters of the Republic (Sup.) 157 S. W. 937.

Surveyors.—Where a survey was actually made and the field notes recorded and a patent subsequently issued by the proper authorities, it must be presumed that the surveyor's action was regular. Waterhouse v. Corbett, 43 C. A. 512, 96 S. W. 651.

In the absence of proof it must be presumed that surveyors did their duty and marked corners with some object of permanence. Thatcher v. Matthews, 101 T. 122, 105 S. W. 317.

In the absence of proof to the contrary, it will be presumed that a surveyor of a grant of public lands performed his duty. Finberg v. Gilbert, 104 T. 539, 141 S. W. 82.

RULE 15. COURTS WILL, WITHOUT PROOF, TAKE NOTICE OF FACTS OF A PUBLIC OR GENERAL NATURE

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1. Judicial notice in general. | 19. Matters relating to government and its administration in general. |
| 2. Matters of common knowledge in general. | 20. Political divisions and bodies—Counties and county seats. |
| 3. Course and laws of nature. | 21. Cities. |
| 4, 5. Qualities and properties of matter. | 22. Foreign governments. |
| 6. Operation and effect of natural forces. | 23. Laws of the state—Public statutes. |
| 7. Scientific facts and principles. | 24. — Private statutes. |
| 8. Geographical facts. | 25. — Charters of public and private corporations. |
| 9. Historical facts. | 26. — Municipal ordinances. |
| 10. Statistical facts. | 27. Laws of United States. |
| 11. Phenomena of animal and vegetable life. | 28. Laws of other states. |
| 12. Facts relating to human life, health, habits, and acts. | 29. Laws of foreign countries. |
| 13. Language, words and phrases, and abbreviations. | 30. Jurisdiction and powers of courts. |
| 14. Weights, measures, and values. | 31. Terms of courts. |
| 15. Management and conduct of occupations. | 32. Rules and procedure of courts. |
| 16. — Railroads. | 33. Judicial proceedings and records. |
| 17. Customs and usages. | 34. Offices and official position and authority. |
| 18. Corporations and associations and members thereof. | 35. Official proclamations and orders. |
| | 36. Administrative rules and regulations. |
| | 37. Official proceedings and acts. |

1. Judicial notice in general.—The courts will not take judicial notice of the ownership of one of several railroad tracks lying in close proximity. Pierce v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 979.

2. Matters of common knowledge in general.—The court does not judicially know that running a train at 50 or 55 miles an hour is running it at a dangerous rate of speed. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Langham (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 686.

The court of civil appeals will take judicial notice that railway cars and the cowcatcher of a locomotive extend beyond the rails of the track on both sides. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Mertink (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 153.

That common cogwheels used in operating machinery are not peculiar to oil mills, but are used in gins and numerous other places for transmitting and distributing power, held to be matters which may be judicially assumed. Brownwood Oil Mill v. Stubblefield, 53 C. A. 165, 115 S. W. 626.

Courts may judicially know that one near a railroad track may protect his eyes from flying cinders, without retiring beyond the reach of cinders. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Pollock (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 843.

The court judicially knows that prior to its admission into the Union, Oklahoma consisted of the territory of Oklahoma and Indian Territory, and that the territories were governed in a large measure by different laws emanating from different sources. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Parsley, 57 C. A. 8, 121 S. W. 226.

The court cannot take judicial notice that a particular locality along a railroad right of way was free from Russian thistles at a particular time, though it may take judicial notice that the thistle grew throughout the state and was a great nuisance. Vance v. Southern Kansas Ry. of Texas (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 743.

3. Course and laws of nature.—The court will take judicial knowledge of the fact that on or about January 10th no fruit is growing on peach and apple trees. Putnam v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas, 43 C. A. 448, 94 S. W. 1102.

The courts do not judicially know that a foggy night brings a foggy morning. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Langham (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 686.

The court of civil appeals will not take judicial notice of how often during each year Johnson grass goes to seed. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Voss, 49 C. A. 566, 109 S. W. 984.

A court knows, as a matter of common knowledge, that at a certain time of the year crops have matured and been gathered. McCullough v. Rucker, 53 C. A. 89, 115 S. W. 323.

The court of civil appeals will take judicial notice of when a rice crop is matured and gathered in the state. Matagorda Canal Co. v. Markham Irr. Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1176.

4, 5. Qualities and properties of matter.—The court takes judicial notice that beer means a malt and intoxicating liquor. Maler v. State, 21 S. W. 974, 2 C. A. 296; White v. Manning, 46 C. A. 298, 102 S. W. 1160; Moreno v. State, 64 Cr. R. 660, 143 S. W. 156.

Courts will take judicial notice that whisky is intoxicating. Aston v. State (Cr. App.) 49 S. W. 385; Loveless v. Same (Cr. App.) 49 S. W. 602.

The court will take judicial notice that such well-known beverages as whisky, brandy, gin, and the like are intoxicating. Dallas Brewery v. Holmes Bros., 51 C. A. 514, 112 S. W. 122.

In an action for the destruction of property by fire communicated by crude oil permitted to saturate the soil surrounding the property, the court will take judicial notice that crude oil is of an inflammable character. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Bellar, 51 C. A. 154, 112 S. W. 323.

6. Operation and effect of natural forces.—The court takes knowledge of the fact that by the operation of natural laws severe injuries to the person produce physical and mental pain. T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Curry, 64 T. 85. The loss of an arm reduces the capacity of a man to earn money. T. & P. Ry. Co. v. O'Donnell, 58 T. 27.

7. Scientific facts and principles.—The court of civil appeals will take judicial notice that a rapidly moving body creates a partial vacuum in its path, drawing to such body objects near its path, and that such objects are carried or thrown forward with a force proportionate to the rapidity of its movement. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Mertink (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 153.

Courts will take judicial notice of the accuracy of X-ray photographic views of the bones of a living body, when properly taken. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Shapard, 54 C. A. 596, 118 S. W. 596.

8. Geographical facts.—Courts will take judicial notice of location of a county, as to a given degree of longitude, that a certain city is a county seat, and of the location of a reservation made by legislature, and whether a definitely described tract is within such reservation. Hall v. Rushing, 21 C. A. 631, 54 S. W. 30.

Courts held to take judicial notice of railroads in the state. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Marrs (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 1177.

A court held not authorized to take judicial notice that a place, not the county seat, was in a certain county. Dallas Brewery v. Holmes Bros., 51 C. A. 514, 112 S. W. 122.

Judicial notice may be taken that a city is in a certain county. Gaddy v. Smith (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 164.

Judicial notice will be taken of the boundaries and geographical shape of a county of the state. Hughes v. Adams, 55 C. A. 197, 119 S. W. 134.

The court takes judicial notice of geographical subdivisions of the state, and of state and federal boundaries. Cator v. Hays (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 953.

The court of civil appeals will take judicial notice, as a geographical fact, that a specified railroad operates a main line and branches within the state, traversing different counties, and that some of those lines do not pass through a certain city. City of Tyler v. Coker (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 729.

The courts held authorized to take judicial notice of the boundary line between the United States and Mexico, as recognized by the political authorities of the United States and Mexico. Reese v. Cobb (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 220.

It is doubtful if the court of civil appeals can take judicial notice of the limits of a city. Freeman v. McElroy (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 428.

9. Historical facts.—It is not necessary to prove facts established by general history; as, that the general land office was closed November 13, 1835 (Parker v. Bains, 59 T. 15), and was not open for the issuing of patents until 1844 (Dobbin v. Bryan, 5 T. 285). That a particular section of country was comprehended within the limits of the colony contract of Austin & Williams until the rights of Robertson were established by the decree of the 29th of April, 1834. Robertson v. Teal, 9 T. 344. The existence of Martin De Leon's colonial contract, and that Fernando De Leon was the commissioner of that colony. Wheeler v. Moody, 9 T. 372; Williams v. Simpson, 16 T. 433. That in 1833 and 1839 this country was subject to dangers and annoyances from Indians, and that traveling from point to point was dangerous. Magee v. Chadoin, 30 T. 657. That yellow fever prevailed in Galveston in the fall of 1867. Harrison v. Sheirburn, 36 T. 73. That the war ceased in Texas on the 28th of May, 1865. Clark v. State, 31 T. 574. That the emancipation of slaves took effect in Texas on the 19th of June, 1865. Hall v. Keese, 31 T. 504; Algier v. Black, 32 T. 168; McDaniel v. White, 32 T. 488. That the Roman Catholic church is an episcopacy. Blanc v. Alsbury, 63 T. 489, 51 Am. Rep. 666.

The court will take judicial notice that one C. in 1832, was the first alcalde of the municipality of Austin. McCarty v. Johnson, 20 C. A. 184, 49 S. W. 1098.

Courts will take judicial notice of matters of history and of the leading public events of their own country. Blethen v. Bonner (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 571.

The court will take judicial notice of the facts that in 1778 San Antonio de Bexar was a royal presidio; that the village of San Fernando was under its protection; and that an individual was at the time governor of the province of Texas. Flores v. Hovel (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 606.

10. Statistical facts.—The court on appeal will not take judicial notice of what the deceased would have earned during the period of his life expectancy. White v. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 692.

11. Phenomena of animal and vegetable life.—The court may take judicial notice that rice cannot be grown to maturity without water. Barr v. Cardiff, 32 C. A. 495, 75 S. W. 341.

12. Facts relating to human life, health, habits, and acts.—In a suit by an abandoned wife to recover her husband's wages as community property, judicial notice will be taken that $24.50 is not in excess of the wife's necessities for support. Irwin v. Irwin (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 1011.

13. Language, words and phrases, and abbreviations.—The court will take notice of English words, but not of a foreign language. A deed authenticated in a foreign language and offered in evidence without a translation will not be admitted. Sartor v. Bolinger, 59 T. 411.

Our courts are not presumed to be acquainted with the peculiar forms of expression of the Spanish language; these are matters of proof, and without evidence upon the subject the language of a Spanish grant, translated into English, cannot be treated otherwise than as if the original grant had been in English. Linney v. Wood, 66 T. 22, 17 S. W. 244.

Where interrogatories were propounded to "Selia," but plaintiff took the deposition of "Celia," the court will not judicially know that in Spanish the names were not idem sonans. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Sanchez (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 893.

Judicial notice taken of the meaning of the word "yearlings." Barron v. San Angelo Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 142.

14. Weights, measures, and values.—Judicial notice will be taken that a $10 currency bill cannot be worth $20. Jones v. State, 39 Cr. R. 387, 46 S. W. 250.

Courts judicially know the quantity of land in a league. Long v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 40.

The court of civil appeals cannot judicially know, in the absence of proof, that $50 was so grossly inadequate a consideration for 120 separate lots conveyed by sheriff's deed as to warrant holding the deed void upon collateral attack. Rule v. Richards (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1073.

15. Management and conduct of occupations.—The court will take judicial notice that wholesale dealers ordinarily make sales to their customers in the state by sending traveling salesman to their customers' places of business. State v. Racine Sattley Co. (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 400.

16. — Railroads.—Rule of railroads, that persons who have no tickets and cannot pay fare will be ejected by conductor, held not to require proof. Galveston, H. & H. R. Co. v. Scott, 34 C. A. 501, 79 S. W. 642.

Though it is matter of common knowledge that the business of operating electric street railways is generally carried on by corporations, it cannot be judicially known that no others than corporations are carrying on such business in the state. Beaumont Traction Co. v. State, 57 C. A. 605, 122 S. W. 615, 618.

The court of civil appeals will take judicial notice that the greater part of a railroad's rolling stock is required to be constantly in use on its various lines, but that only a comparatively small portion would be normally in a certain city. City of Tyler v. Coker (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 729.

The jury cannot take judicial note that all railroad engines emit sparks and cinders which may be blown by the wind a given distance. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. McIntosh & Carlisle (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 692.

That railroads are the only common carriers engaged in transporting commodities in large quantities the courts judicially know. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Hannay-Frerichs & Co. (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 250.

17. Customs and usages.—The court will take judicial notice of the fact that in making conveyances of land after location of certificate and before issuance of patent instruments in the form of powers of attorney were used. Sims v. Sealy, 53 C. A. 518, 116 S. W. 630.

Judicial notice will be taken that it is the almost universal custom, in official and business affairs, to pay bills and salaries monthly, and usually on the 1st of the month following the accrual of the indebtedness. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. City of Dallas (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 80.

18. Corporations and associations and members thereof.—It is within the judicial knowledge that the Texas & Pacific Railway was a part of the Missouri Pacific Railway system, and was operated by appellant; proof of this fact was not required and the court should have so instructed the jury. Mo. Pac. Ry. Co. v. White, 3 App. C. C. § 163; Mo. Pac. Ry. Co. v. Graves, 2 App. C. C. § 679; Miller v. Railway Co., 83 T. 518, 18 S. W. 954.

The courts will take judicial notice of the respective runs and locations of railroads between a point in the state to a point in another state. Texas & N. O. Ry. Co. v. Walker, 43 C. A. 273, 95 S. W. 743.

The court takes judicial notice of the direction, run, and location of important railroads within the state, and of the location of county seats, but not of towns which are not county seats. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lightfoot, 48 C. A. 120, 106 S. W. 395.

The court of civil appeals can take judicial notice of the location of the line of a railroad, but it is doubtful if it can take notice of the location of a depot. Freeman v. McElroy (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 428.

19. Matters relating to government and its administration in general.—While the courts take judicial cognizance of the territorial extent of the sovereignty and jurisdiction exercised by their own government, and of the political subdivisions of the country and their relative positions, they do not take notice of their precise boundaries, otherwise than as defined by public statutes, nor whether a particular locality is or is not within a particular county. Boston v. State, 5 App. 333, 32 Am. Rep. 575; Long v. State, 1 App. 709.

Judicial notice cannot be taken that in 1895 more than half the public domain had been exhausted for the benefit of others than the public free school fund. State v. Powell (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 746.

The court judicially knows that free school land is, on a sale by the state, incumbered by a first lien for the price. Texas Moline Plow Co. v. Clark (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 266.

20. Political divisions and bodies—Counties and county seats.—The division of any other state or country than Texas into counties, or the location of their towns and cities, when material, must be proven. Andrews v. Hoxie, 5 T. 171; Ellett v. Britton, 6 T. 229; Ellis v. Park, 8 T. 205; Russell v. Martin, 15 T. 238; Yale v. Ward, 30 T. 17.

The court will take notice of the counties of this state. State v. Jordan, 12 T. 205; Bryan v. Crump, 55 T. 1. But not of the location of cities in other states. Andrews v. Hoxie, 5 T. 171; Ellis v. Park, 8 T. 205; Russell v. Martin, 15 T. 238; Yale v. Ward, 30 T. 17. It will take notice of the terms of court. Griffith v. Gary, 31 T. 163; Davidson v. Peticolas, 34 T. 27. Of the proceedings of the suit therein pending. Long v. Wortham, 4 T. 331; Castro v. Whitlock, 15 T. 437. Of facts established by general history. Dobbin v. Bryan, 5 T. 276; Robertson v. Teal, 9 T. 344; Wheeler v. Moody, 9 T. 372; Williamson v. Simpson, 16 T. 433; Magee v. Chadoin, 30 T. 644; The Emancipation Cases, 31 T. 504; Clark v. State, 31 T. 574; Bryan v. Crump, 55 T. 1.

Facts within common knowledge need not be proven, as the division of this state into counties (State v. Jordan, 12 T. 205); that a particular town, which is the county seat of a county, is in that county (Carson v. Dalton, 59 T. 500).

Courts do not take judicial notice of the date of the organization of a county. Trimble v. Edwards, 84 T. 497, 19 S. W. 772; Hill v. Grant (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 1016.

The locality of a county seat need not be proven. Hambel v. Davis, 89 T. 256, 34 S. W. 439, 59 Am. St. Rep. 46.

Where a title involved proof of the appointment of an administrator prior to 1850, the court will take judicial notice that the county was organized in 1848. Moseley v. Vander Stucken, 26 C. A. 290, 62 S. W. 1103.

The court of civil appeals will take judicial knowledge that Eagle Pass is the county seat of Maverick county. Flynt v. Eagle Pass Coal & Coke Co. (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 331.

The court judicially knows that Culberson county was created out of a part of the territory of El Paso county by Acts 32d Leg. c. 38. McCammant v. Webb (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 693.

21. Cities.—Courts will take judicial notice that the city of Houston has been incorporated for more than 40 years, and that its charter has from time to time been amended. City of Houston v. Dooley, 40 C. A. 371, 89 S. W. 777.

22. Foreign governments.—The division of any other state or country than Texas into counties, or the location of their towns and cities, when material, must be proven. Andrews v. Hoxie, 5 T. 171; Ellett v. Britton, 6 T. 229; Ellis v. Park, 8 T. 205; Russell v. Martin, 15 T. 238; Yale v. Ward, 30 T. 17.

23. Laws of the state—Public statutes.—The court will take judicial notice of the public acts and statutes of the United States and of this state, and facts which are recited in them. Jones v. Laney, 2 T. 342; Watrous v. McGrew, 16 T. 506; Wright v. Hawkins, 28 T. 452; Railroad Co. v. Knapp, 51 T. 569.

Where the petition in an action against a county to recover taxes paid on an alleged illegal assessment of property did not separate the amounts paid for state and county taxes, the court could take judicial notice of the rate of taxation fixed by general law for state purposes, and thereby determine the amount of county taxes due in determining the amount in controversy and jurisdiction of the county court. Texas Land & Cattle Co. v. Hemphill County (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 333.

The federal courts take judicial notice of the laws of every state. Edwards v. Smith (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 1161.

The court will take judicial notice that at a certain time at which an appeal record was filed, none of the acts of the Legislature at its last regular session had been published. Lester v. Riley (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 458.

24. — Private statutes.—Private acts of this state must be proven (Sterret v. Houston, 14 T. 153; Holmes v. Anderson, 59 T. 481) by the printed statute book (Art. 3692) or by a certified copy of the act (Art. 3627).

The court held to take judicial notice of a special act of the legislature. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Hall, 35 C. A. 545, 81 S. W. 82.

25. — Charters of public and private corporations.—The court cannot take judicial notice of how the charter of a particular city requires ordinances to be enacted. Wade v. Nunnally, 19 C. A. 256, 46 S. W. 668.

Where a city charter is made a public act, judicial notice will be taken thereof. City of Austin v. Forbis, 99 T. 234, 89 S. W. 405.

Where a case involves the validity of a special city charter, the charter should be offered in evidence, where it contains no provisions authorizing judicial notice to be taken of it. City of Paris v. Tucker, 101 T. 99, 104 S. W. 1046.

Courts will construe pleadings as though relevant provisions of Paris city charter were incorporated. McCuiston v. Fenet (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1155.

26. — Municipal ordinances.—Ordinances of a municipal corporation must be alleged and proven. City of Austin v. Walton, 68 T. 507, 5 S. W. 70.

The court held not authorized to take judicial notice of ordinances of a city incorporated under the general laws. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Hall, 35 C. A. 545, 81 S. W. 82.

27. Laws of United States.—The court will take judicial notice of the public acts and statutes of the United States and of this state, and facts which are recited in them. Jones v. Laney, 2 T. 342; Watrous v. McGrew, 16 T. 506; Wright v. Hawkins, 28 T. 452; Railroad Co. v. Knapp, 51 T. 569.

A state court will take judicial notice of state statutes which an act of congress puts in force in a territory. Red River Nat. Bank v. De Berry, 47 C. A. 96, 105 S. W. 998.

The court takes judicial notice of an act of congress, but does not take judicial notice of the construction placed on the common law by the supreme court of a sister state. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Wise (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 465.

The state courts take judicial notice of the laws of the United States. San Antonio Light Pub. Co. v. Lewy, 52 C. A. 22, 113 S. W. 574; Edwards v. Smith (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 1161.

28. Laws of other states.—The court does not take judicial cognizance of the laws of the several states or of foreign countries, which, in the absence of proof, are supposed to be the same as our own. Crosby v. Huston, 1 T. 203; Bryant v. Kelton, 1 T. 434; Nimmo v. Davis, 7 T. 26; Bufford v. Holliman, 10 T. 560, 60 Am. Dec. 223; Sadler v. Anderson, 17 T. 245; Wallace v. Burden, 17 T. 467; Bradshaw v. Mayfield, 18 T. 21; Grant v. Bledsoe, 20 T. 456; Armendiaz v. Serna, 40 T. 291; Porcheler v. Bronson, 50 T. 555; Moseby v. Burrow, 52 T. 396; R. S. 2317 (Art. 3709).

When it is proven that the common law of England was in force in a particular state where the rights in controversy accrued, the court will take notice of the principles of the common law, including equity applicable to the case. Nimmo v. Davis, 7 T. 26; Wallace v. Burden, 17 T. 467; Vardeman v. Lawson, 17 T. 10.

The court cannot take judicial notice of a law of another state, making a judgment of a justice a judgment of the court of record to which a certified copy is returned. I. B. Rosenthal Millinery Co. v. Lennox (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 401.

Judicial notice cannot be taken of the construction placed by the courts of another state on its statutes. Pacific Exp. Co. v. Pitman, 30 C. A. 626, 71 S. W. 312; Loyal Americans of the Republic v. McClanahan, 50 C. A. 256, 109 S. W. 973.

Judicial notice will not be taken of the laws of another state. White v. Richeson (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 202.

Judicial notice will be taken of an act of congress organizing a territory but not of laws passed by the legislature of the territory, nor of the construction placed by its supreme court on the common law. El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Smith, 50 C. A. 10, 108 S. W. 988.

In the absence of an express statute of the forum to the contrary, the court will not take judicial notice of the law of another state. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Miller (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 1165.

29. Laws of foreign countries.—The court does not take judicial cognizance of the laws of the several states or of foreign countries, which, in the absence of proof, are supposed to be the same as our own. Crosby v. Huston, 1 T. 203; Bryant v. Kelton, 1 T. 434; Nimmo v. Davis, 7 T. 26; Bufford v. Holliman, 10 T. 560, 60 Am. Dec. 223; Sadler v. Anderson, 17 T. 245; Wallace v. Burden, 17 T. 467; Bradshaw v. Mayfield, 18 T. 21; Grant v. Bledsoe, 20 T. 456; Armendiaz v. Serna, 40 T. 291; Porcheler v. Bronson, 50 T. 555; Moseby v. Burrow, 52 T. 396; R. S. 2317 (Art. 3709).

A surviving wife, suing for injuries inflicted on her husband in a foreign country, must prove the laws of such country showing that such a cause of action would survive to her. Mexican Cent. Ry. Co. v. Goodman, 20 C. A. 109, 48 S. W. 778.

The court judicially knows what the law was in the state of Tamaulipas prior to the independence of Texas. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

30. Jurisdiction and powers of courts.—Courts of Texas will take judicial notice of the fact that courts in Louisiana cannot administer réalty situated in Texas. Heintz v. O'Donnell, 17 C. A. 21, 42 S. W. 797.

A copy of an order probating a will, certified by the clerk of the county court, held to show presumptively a probate by a court having jurisdiction. Yarbrough v. De Martin, 28 C. A. 276, 67 S. W. 177.

31. Terms of courts.—The appellate courts will take judicial knowledge of the terms of the district courts of the state. Emery v. League, 31 C. A. 474, 72 S. W. 603; Accoussi v. G. A. Stowers Furniture Co. (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 1104.

The court of criminal appeals will take judicial notice that in a large part of Texas the district courts convene only twice a year, and that in many of the counties they remain in session for periods of time ranging from one to four or five weeks. Ex parte Looper, 61 Cr. R. 129, 134 S. W. 345, Ann. Cas. 1913B, 32.

32. Rules and procedure of courts.—Courts will judicially notice the general principles of equity. Babcock v. Marshall, 21 C. A. 145, 50 S. W. 728.

The court will look to the judicial reports of other states to learn what application, if any, is given there to the general principles of equity. Id.

33. Judicial proceedings and records.—Judicial notice will be taken of the records of a case on a former appeal. Wood v. Cahill, 21 C. A. 38, 50 S. W. 1071.

Court of appeals will affirm judgment of trial court, entered on stipulated facts, though it knows judicially that the statement is inaccurate. Jackson v. West (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 297.

Where, in an action to foreclose the lien of a judgment rendered in another county, no issue as to its validity was raised below, and a judgment in an action of the same title has been reversed in the appellate court, that court cannot take judicial notice that it is the same action. Goodwin v. Harrison, 28 C. A. 7, 66 S. W. 308.

An allegation in a pleading need not be offered in evidence to be considered against the pleader. Crosby v. Bonnowsky, 29 C. A. 455, 69 S. W. 212.

In garnishment proceedings, the court must take judicial notice of the provisions of the main judgment. Jeffries v. Smith, 31 C. A. 582, 73 S. W. 48.

The court of civil appeals takes judicial notice of the effect of its own proceedings. Avocato v. Dell'Ara (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 444.

Court of civil appeals held entitled to take judicial notice of its own records. Sawyer v. First Nat. Bank, 41 C. A. 486, 93 S. W. 151.

A court will take judicial notice in garnishment proceedings of the original judgment when rendered in the same court. Baze v. Island City Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 460.

The court by certifying in a supplemental proceeding that it took judicial notice of facts exhibited in the main case in effect holds that the facts judicially noticed are sufficient to support its decision. Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v. State, 47 C. A. 299, 105 S. W. 851.

The court of civil appeals will take judicial cognizance of its records and judgments. Edgar v. McDonald (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 1135.

In a suit on a note providing for the payment of attorney's fees if suit was instituted, the court would take judicial notice of the institution of the suit. Elmore v. Rugely, 48 C. A. 456, 107 S. W. 151.

The court will take judicial cognizance of an attachment without formal introduction of the papers in evidence. Johnson v. W. H. Goolsby Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 883.

The court cannot take judicial notice of the record in another case. Taylor v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 302.

The court of civil appeals could take judicial notice of a prior decision holding a local option election void. Savage v. State (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 211; State v. Savage, 105 T. 467, 151 S. W. 530.

The court of civil appeals cannot take judicial notice that the word "refused," written on a request to charge, was in the handwriting of the trial judge. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hurdle (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 992.

An appellate court will take judicial notice of a former decision by it in the same case, although it does not appear in the record on appeal. McGee v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1198.

The court will take judicial notice in garnishment proceedings of the judgment in the principal case. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. W. C. Powell & Son (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 363.

A court will take judicial notice of its own records made in the same case. Central Bank & Trust Co. of Houston v. Davis (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 290.

This court takes official cognizance of the facts shown by its own records in another case between the same parties. Allen v. Thomson (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 304.

34. Offices and official position and authority.—The court will take judicial notice of who was clerk of the county in which a court is sitting at the time of filing of an abstract of judgment from another county. Goodwin v. Harrison, 28 C. A. 7, 66 S. W. 308.

35. Official proclamations and orders.—The courts will take judicial notice of a proclamation of the governor. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. McIlhanev (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 153.

Since courts will take judicial notice of the regulations of the department of agriculture as to the transportation of cattle, and a proclamation of the secretary of agriculture putting such regulations in force, it was not error, in an action against a carrier for alleged default in carrying such regulations into effect, to introduce in evidence a pamphlet issued by the government purporting to contain such regulations without further authenticating it. Pecos & N. T. R. Co. v. Jarman & Arnett (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1131.

36. Administrative rules and regulations.—As the court will take judicial notice of the regulations of the agricultural department concerning the transportation of cattle, it was not error to admit in evidence a pamphlet containing such regulations. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Jarman & Arnett (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1131.

37. Official proceedings and acts.—The court knows, as a matter of law, that the consent of the federal executive of Mexico was essential to a grant of land within the littoral leagues, and no presumption can exist in favor of a grant made without such consent. Wilcox v. Chambers, 26 T. 180.

RULE 16. ANCIENT WILLS, DEEDS AND OTHER INSTRUMENTS MORE THAN THIRTY YEARS OLD, WHEN OFFERED IN EVIDENCE, UNBLEMISHED BY ALTERATIONS AND COMING FROM SUCH CUSTODY AS AFFORDS A REASONABLE PRESUMPTION IN FAVOR OF GENUINENESS, WITH OTHER CIRCUMSTANCES OF CORROBORATION, WILL BE ADMITTED IN EVIDENCE WITHOUT PROOF OF THEIR EXECUTION

In general.—It is sufficient if an instrument is thirty years old when it is offered in evidence. Bass v. Sevier, 58 T. 567; McCelvey v. Cryer, 28 S. W. 691, 8 C. A. 437; Pendleton v. Robertson (Civ. App.) 32 S. W. 442; Huff v. Crawford (Civ. App.) 32 S. W. 592; Walker v. Peterson (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 269. When it appears that the party offering an instrument as an ancient writing could have examined competent witnesses of the handwriting, the omission to make proof of the handwriting is a circumstance to excite suspicion of the genuineness of the instrument; and the suspicion is strengthened in a case where the instrument in question purported to be the act of public officers, with whose handwriting many persons were likely to be acquainted. Stroud v. Springfield, 28 T. 649; Belcher v. Fox, 60 T. 527; Newby v. Haltaman, 43 T. 314. Where a deed would be evidence as an ancient deed, without proof of its execution, the power under which it purports to have been executed will be presumed. Watrous v. McGrew, 16 T. 506; Johnson v. Timmons, 50 T. 521.

An ancient instrument produced from the proper custody is admissible in evidence without proof of its execution, although an affidavit of forgery be filed. Parker v. Chancellor, 73 T. 475, 11 S. W. 503; Ammons v. Dwyer, 78 T. 639, 15 S. W. 1049; Davis v. Pearson, 20 S. W. 241, 6 C. A. 593; Stooksbury v. Swan, 85 T. 563, 22 S. W. 963; Kenward v. Withrow (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 226; McCelvey v. Cryer, 28 S. W. 691, 8 C. A. 437; Hill v. Templeton (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 535; Morgan v. Tutt, 52 C. A. 301, 113 S. W. 958; Flores v. Hovel (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 606.

Ancient instrument defined. Holt v. Maverick, 23 S. W. 751, 5 C. A. 650; Id. (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 532.

A paper indorsed thereon as having been acted on by the court will be received after 50 years as marked "filed." Pendleton v. Shaw, 18 C. A. 439, 44 S. W. 1002.

The power under which an ancient instrument was executed held to be presumed. Jones' Estate v. Neal, 44 C. A. 412, 98 S. W. 417.

Specified ancient instruments held admissible in evidence without proof of execution. Millwee v. Phelps, 53 C. A. 195, 115 S. W. 891.

An instrument executed in 1838 is admissible as an ancient instrument without proof of its execution. Sims v. Sealy, 53 C. A. 518, 116 S. W. 630.

Date of instrument held not to prove it an ancient document. West v. Houston Oil Co. of Texas, 56 C. A. 341, 120 S. W. 228.

Statement of things which must exist to authorize admission of a deed as an ancient document. Id.

On a proper showing, an instrument held admissible as an ancient document, without calling attesting witnesses or offering other usual evidence. Id.

Where an instrument more than 30 years old is brought from a proper custody and the instrument is honest on its face, it is admissible as evidence on the presumption that it is genuine, which presumption is sufficient to justify a finding in favor of its validity, and the party offering it need not account for its possession during a period of over 100 years of its existence. Flores v. Hovel (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 606.

The rule as to ancient documents applies to domestic, and not to foreign, records. Freeman v. Wm. M. Rice Institute (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 629.

Custody of instrument.—Ancient document held admissible on proof of genuineness of a signature of a witness, though not coming from the proper depository. Harris v. Hosins, 2 C. A. 486, 22 S. W. 251.

To render an instrument admissible as an ancient document, held necessary only to show that it was found in the office where it should have been filed, and not that it was in any particular file in the office. Keck v. Woodward, 53 C. A. 267, 116 S. W. 75.

To render an ancient instrument admissible in evidence, it must have been in and come from some place where it would be natural to find a genuine document of the same tenor. Flores v. Hovel (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 606.

Effect of alterations.—One offering in evidence an ancient instrument without proof of execution has the burden of explaining any suspicious change in the instrument. Morgan v. Tutt, 52 C. A. 301, 113 S. W. 958.

Deeds.—The great weight of authority is that possession under such a deed is not essential. Mapes v. Leal's Heirs, 27 T. 345; Gainer v. Cotton, 49 T. 101; Williams v. Conger, 49 T. 582; Glasscock v. Hughes, 55 T. 461; Holmes v. Coryell, 58 T. 680; Cox v. Cock, 59 T. 521; Chamberlain v. Showalter, 5 C. A. 236, 23 S. W. 1017; Williams v. Hardie (Civ. App.) 21 S. W. 267; Kellogg v. McCabe, 14 C. A. 598, 38 S. W. 542; West v. Houston Oil Co. of Texas, 56 C. A. 341, 120 S. W. 228.

What circumstances of corroboration are necessary to authenticate a writing offered as an ancient deed must greatly depend in every case upon the purpose and character of the instrument itself. They must be auxiliary to the apparent antiquity of the deed and be sufficient to raise a reasonable presumption of its genuineness. Stroud v. Springfield, 28 T. 649.

In an action of trespass to try title, the defendant, for the purpose of showing a superior outstanding title in one Reynolds, offered in evidence the original grant, or certified copy of same, to Manchaca, in which is incorporated the copy of deed and power of attorney from Manchaca to Reynolds, in September, 1830, as a certified copy of an ancient instrument, and in connection with the other evidence of the existence of the deed from Manchaca to Reynolds, and to prove its existence and contents. This evidence not being offered as an archive of the general land office, but as a certified copy of an ancient instrument, the antiquity of which was not shown, was properly excluded. Dotson v. Moss, 58 T. 152.

As to proof of an ancient deed, see Holmes v. Coryell, 58 T. 680; Cox v. Cock, 59 T. 521; Belcher v. Fox, 60 T. 527.

A deed more than 30 years old is admissible in evidence, without proof of its execution, as an ancient deed, where it is produced by the party claiming under it and entitled to its custody, and nothing is adduced in proof to cast suspicion upon it. Fletcher v. Ellison, 1 U. C. 661; Ammons v. Dwyer, 78 T. 640, 15 S. W. 1049; Lunn v. Scarborough, 24 S. W. 846, 6 C. A. 15; Walker v. Peterson (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 269; Stooksberry v. Swann, 12 C. A. 66, 34 S. W. 369; Frugia v. Trueheart, 48 C. A. 513, 106 S. W. 736.

The party offering an instrument charged to be a forgery must offer evidence of its execution, and when this is done the burden of proof shifts to the party assailing it. In case of a deed, its antiquity, due registration, long and continuous possession by those claiming under it, are sufficient, unless rebutted. Trinity Co. L. Co. v. Pinckard, 23 S. W. 720, 4 C. A. 671.

A sheriff's deed 30 years old, in absence of proof of loss of the judgment and execution on which it is based, is not admissible in evidence. French v. McGinnis, 10 C. A. 7, 29 S. W. 656. See Same Case, 9 S. W. 323, 69 T. 19; Id., 21 S. W. 941, 3 C. A. 86.

A deed purporting to have been executed by an attorney in fact, no claim under it having been made for 25 years, is not admissible as an ancient deed. Baldwin v. Goldfrank, 31 S. W. 1064, 88 T. 249.

Deed more than 35 years old (Pendleton v. Robertson [Civ. App.] 32 S. W. 442; Huff v. Crawford [Civ. App.] 32 S. W. 592) admitted as an ancient instrument against an affidavit impeaching its genuineness (McWhirter v. Allen, 20 S. W. 1007, 1 C. A. 649). See Stribling v. Atkinson, 79 T. 162, 14 S. W. 1054; Holt v. Maverick, 23 S. W. 751, 5 C. A. 650; McCelvey v. Cryer, 28 S. W. 691, 8 C. A. 437; Harris v. Hoskins, 22 S. W. 251, 2 C. A. 486; De La Vega v. League, 21 S. W. 565, 2 C. A. 252; Lunn v. Scarborough, 6 C. A. 15, 24 S. W. 846; Threadgill v. Bickerstaff, 26 S. W. 739, 7 C. A. 406.

In determining the age of an ancient deed, indorsements and certificates attached are to be considered. Bell v. Hutchings (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 200.

The rule in regard to ancient instruments does not apply to a deed that has been in the possession of the grantor and his heirs since the alleged execution. Heintz v. O'Donnell, 17 C. A. 21, 42 S. W. 797.

Whether an ancient deed admitted in evidence was properly acknowledged is immaterial. Smith v. Cavitt, 20 C. A. 553, 50 S. W. 167.

Ancient deed between third parties, establishing corner not in dispute, but from which disputed line may be located, held admissible. Pierce v. Schram (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 716.

A deed not recorded 30 years prior to its introduction in evidence held not admissible as an ancient instrument. Ehrenberg v. Baker's Ex'rs (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 435.

A deed over 30 years old, signed, "R., by His Attorney, J." was admissible as an ancient document, though the body of the instrument did not show the attorney's authority to execute. Ferguson v. Ricketts (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 975.

Where a deed was executed by one purporting to act as agent for the owners, it was not error to charge that, in determining his authority or the ratification of his acts, they might "look to the age of the transaction and the assertion of the title thereunder," though the deed was not 30 years old. Kirkpatrick v. Tarlton, 29 C. A. 276, 69 S. W. 179.

Facts held to authorize admission in evidence of an ancient deed, though the record did not show by whom or when it was recorded. Kimball v. Morris (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 759.

Age of the record of a deed held not conclusive evidence of its execution. Gann v. Roberts, 32 C. A. 561, 74 S. W. 950.

An administrator's deed, over 30 years of age, was admissible as an ancient instrument, without proof. Dutton & Rutherford v. Wright & Vaughn, 38 C. A. 372, 85 S. W. 1025.

The record of an unproved ancient deed or contract of sale held admissible with other evidence, in trespass to try title, to show a sale of the land in controversy. Veatch v. Gray, 41 C. A. 145, 91 S. W. 324.

In trespass to try title, recitals in a certain ancient deed held admissible in evidence. Sydor v. Texas Savings & Real Estate Inv. Ass'n, 42 C. A. 138, 94 S. W. 451.

In trespass to try title to certain property, recitals in an ancient deed held sufficient to show that the sale was made under order of the probate court. Williams v. Cessna, 43 C. A. 315, 95 S. W. 1106.

A deed 50 years old, custody of which was traced back to a representative of the estate of the grantee, held admissible as an ancient instrument. Jones' Estate v. Neal, 44 C. A. 412, 98 S. W. 417.

When a deed by an agent is shown by circumstances to have been executed, and is more than 30 years old, the agent's power will be presumed. Fruglia v. Trueheart, 48 C. A. 513, 106 S. W. 736.

The fact that an ancient, duly executed deed was found among the papers of one of the grantees in possession of his daughter instead of among the public archives does not throw suspicion on it. Id.

A deed held to come from the proper custody to be admissible as an ancient instrument. Stark v. Harris (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 837.

A deed held admissible as an ancient instrument, without being filed in the papers of the suit as a recorded instrument. Id.

Recitals of a deed 26 years old were admissible, along with other circumstances, to establish defendants' chain of title. McMahon v. McDonald, 51 C. A. 613, 113 S. W. 322.

A county clerk's certificate of the record of a deed in question held admissible to show the prior existence and record of the deed. McDonald v. Hanks, 52 C. A. 140, 113 S. W. 604.

Recitals in ancient instruments which are a part of a chain of title are admissible as tending to show the execution of a lost deed in such chain. Freeman v. Wm. M. Rice Institute (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 629.

A deed held to possess the character of an ancient instrument and admissible in evidence as such. Ardoin v. Cobb (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 271.

A deed executed in 1858, by persons purporting to act as trustees of a corporation, is admissible in evidence, without proof of their authority to so act, although the deed was not recorded until 1902, where those claiming under the instrument have exercised acts of ownership thereunder. Askew v. Cantwell (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 720.

Land certificates.—A paper purporting to be a transfer of a headright claim, dated January 9, 1838, was originally written with blank spaces, which were afterwards filled up with amounts and names. In the body of the instrument the vendor's name was spelled differently in different places, though evidently not written thus by himself. This transfer had, at various times, been recognized and acted on by parties claiming under it until May, 1879, when it was offered in evidence as the basis of title, after showing that it had been found in a place where, under the circumstances, it might have been reasonably looked for, and came from a proper custody, accompanied with the evidence of several witnesses, who testified to their belief in the genuineness of the signature of the vendor. Held: 1. That the custom of preparing such transfers in blank was so frequent as not to require explanation. Stone v. Brown, 54 T. 330; Threadgill v. Butler, 60 T. 599. 2. The fact that the vendor's name was spelled differently in different places would not vitiate it. 3. It was an ancient instrument, and the evidence was sufficient to support a verdict in favor of its genuineness. 4. Though made before the issuance of the headright certificate, it took effect when the certificate was granted. 5. Such a transfer constituted, as against the heirs of the vendor, a superior title to the land covered by the certificate. Hollis v. Dashiell, 52 T. 187.

As to the transfer of a land certificate on file in the general land office, see Chamberlain v. Showalter, 23 S. W. 1017, 5 C. A. 226.

A land certificate over 30 years of age free from suspicion and coming from the land office, is admissible as an ancient document. Timmony v. Burns (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 133.

A land certificate held admissible as an ancient document, though an affidavit was filed that a transfer indorsed thereon was a forgery. Id.

It is also presumed that the transfer of a land certificate was indorsed on the instrument before it was filed. Id.

Transfer of land certificate, made more than 30 years before trial, proves itself under rule admitting ancient instruments. Walker v. Peterson (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 1045.

Fact that signature to a transfer of a land certificate was traced, such fact being shown by expert evidence, held not to render it inadmissible as an ancient instrument. Ward v. Cameron (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 240.

Transfer of land certificate with name of grantee left blank held not to cast suspicion on it, so as to prevent it being received in evidence as an ancient instrument. Id.

In trespass to try title, transfer of a certificate issued in lieu of a headright held properly admitted in evidence. Simmonds v. Simmonds, 35 C. A. 151, 79 S. W. 630.

Maps and plats.—An ancient map is admissible to show boundaries. Gallon v. Van Wormer (Civ. App.) 21 S. W. 547.

Ancient plats long and publicly recognized by the public and the parties held admissible as a species of reputation of the location of land. Finberg v. Gilbert, 104 T. 539, 141 S. W. 82.

Receipts.—A receipt 30 years old, coming from the file of a court in which it had been introduced in evidence, is competent evidence. Culmore v. Medlenka (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 676.

A receipt showing delivery of a headright certificate held admissible as an ancient instrument, throwing light on its history, and tracing its possession. Estell v. Kirby (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 8.

Grants.—The original of a grant of lots made in April, 1834, executed by an alcalde recited to have been a commissioner, admitted as an ancient instrument. Jobe v. Ollre, 80 T. 185, 15 S. W. 1042.

Testimonium executed in 1832 was held admissible as an ancient document. De La Vega v. League, 21 S. W. 565, 2 C. A. 252. And see Von Rosenberg v. Haynes, 20 S. W. 143, 85 T. 357.

On the issue whether a title offered a vendee was good and marketable, an old grant of Coahuila and Texas held competent to show a defect therein. Hollifield v. Landrum, 31 C. A. 187, 71 S. W. 979.

Where the testimony showed that the county clerk's office of a county was the place where original ancient grants of land had been kept and recorded since the day of the republic, and a witness testified that more than 30 years before when he was deputy county clerk, he had found an original grant in the archives of the office, and another witness testified that he got the original grant from the office of the county clerk, and that the county clerk authorized the witness to bring the document into court, the original grant was properly received in evidence, though under Act Dec. 22, 1836 (Hartley's Dig. art. 1786), the commissioner of the general land office was entitled to the custody of the grant, since the fact that such custody was not obtained did not affect the validity of the grant, or render it inadmissible by a party claiming under it. Flores v. Hovel (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 606.

After the lapse of 50 years, held, that it would be presumed that a justice of the peace had authority to grant lands in the town of Socorro. Skov v. Coffin (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 450.

Letters.—In trespass to try title, a letter written by the transferee of a land certificate held admissible on the question of proper custody of the transfer and as to the filling in of the transfer with name of the transferee. Ward v. Cameron (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 240.

In trespass to try title held error not to admit in evidence a certain letter and other facts tending to show the execution of the same as a genuine ancient document. Woodward v. Keck (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 852.

A letter written for defendant by another to the state land commissioner more than 30 years before the trial held admissible without proof of the authority of the person writing the same to sign defendant's name. Robertson v. Brothers (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 657.

Power of attorney.—Execution of a power of attorney under which a deed more than 30 years old had been executed held to be presumed without proof. McDonald v. Hanks, 52 C. A. 140, 113 S. W. 604.

Bond for title.—A bond for title, 20 years old, which had been recognized as valid by the grantors, is admissible as an ancient instrument. Wille v. Ellis, 22 C. A. 462, 54 S. W. 922.

A bond for title with a transfer indorsed thereon held not admissible in evidence as an ancient instrument. Morgan v. Tutt, 52 C. A. 301, 113 S. W. 958.

In trespass to try title a bond for a reconveyance held not inadmissible in evidence because payment of notes was not shown. Millwee v. Phelps, 53 C. A. 195, 115 S. W. 891.

Minutes of association.—The minutes of an Odd Fellows' lodge over 30 years old are admissible in evidence. Wiener v. Zweib (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 699.

Bounty warrant.—A bounty warranty 46 years old, recognized and acted on for 40 years, found in the general land office and free from suspicion, proves itself. Shinn v. Hicks, 68 T. 277, 4 S. W. 486; Wilson v. Simpson, 80 T. 279, 16 S. W. 40; Jobe v. Ollre, 80 T. 185, 15 S. W. 1042; Warren v. Frederichs, 76 T. 647, 13 S. W. 643; Pasture Co. v. Preston, 65 T. 448; Ammons v. Dwyer, 78 T. 639, 15 S. W. 1049.

Orders.—The judge's signature to an order over 50 years old will be presumed genuine. Pendleton v. Shaw, 18 C. A. 439, 44 S. W. 1002.

Wills.—The following language is used in Ochoa v. Miller, 59 T. 460: "Where a will appears to be ancient, and comes from the proper custody, and possession has been had, consistent with its terms, for a long period of time, and its probate was impossible or impracticable, the court might in such a case uphold and favor such a long and undisturbed possession, and, to protect a right, perhaps be justified in recognizing its validity and genuineness. * * * This point is not, however, presented in this case, and the decision is limited to the exact points necessary to be determined." See Murphy v. Welder, 58 T. 235.

RULE 17. THE EXISTENCE OF A DEED MAY BE PRESUMED FROM POSSESSION UNDER CLAIM OF TITLE CORROBORATED BY OTHER CIRCUMSTANCES

In general.—The existence of a deed was presumed from the following facts: The land in controversy was the property of R., who died in 1861, and under whom the plaintiff claimed by descent. In 1852 S., under whom the defendant claimed, commenced to exercise acts of ownership over the land, by cutting and removing timber therefrom, until 1860, when he inclosed and cultivated it; in 1869 the fence was swept away by a flood, and the land was left uncultivated and uninclosed until 1874, when it was sold to defendant. R. and S. were neighbors for many years. In 1858 R. stated to the defendant, who bought from him other land, part of the same tract, that he had sold the land in controversy to S. S. and his representatives had assessed the land and paid taxes upon it from 1852 until the sale to defendant in 1874. McDow v. Rabb, 56 T. 154.

In an action of trespass to try title the defendant claimed as follows: 1. Bounty land warrant issued November 20, 1838, to G. W. Lernoyn. The warrant contained the following clause: "And the said G. W. Lernoyn, by his attorney, T. D. Tompkins is entitled to hold said land, or to sell, alienate, convey and donate the same, and to exercise all rights of ownership over it." 2. Transfer of the same, January 8, 1839, by Tompkins to Holbrook, and by Holbrook to Wright, April 29, 1847. 3. Location by Mitchell for Wright in 1853. 4. Patent to Lernoyn. It was held that Tompkins had prima facie the right to convey, and that the court should have submitted to the jury the question of limitation and stale demand, and also the presumption of acquiescence by Lernoyn in the sale of the certificate, by reason of the lapse of time and other circumstances in the case. Smith v. Shinn, 58 T. 1.

On the 3d of October, 1833, a grant of land was made to S. on the application of his attorney, T., who was put in possession of the land. By the terms of the grant the superior title to the land was vested in T. On the 29th of May, 1839, S. conveyed the land to P. by deed, which T. signed as a witness. P. paid taxes on the land, and purchasers claiming under him took possession in 1866, which they have since held. It was held that under these facts the jury might presume conveyance from T. to P. Manchaca v. Field, 62 T. 135.

The foundation of prescriptive title is the presumed grant of the party whose rights are adversely affected; but where it appears that the enjoyment has existed by the consent or license of such party, no presumption of grant can be made. By the common law a prescriptive right, to prevent an adjacent proprietor from inclosing or building upon his own land, cannot be acquired by the use of an adjoining house, having windows looking out upon his land, and receiving light and air from that direction for a period of 10 years. Klein v. Gehrung, 25 T. 232, 78 Am. Dec. 565.

After the lapse of 30 years possession under one who had the written obligation of the former owner for the conveyance of land, which recited that the obligor had no claim, right or title to the land, raises the presumption that the conditions of the obligation to convey had been complied with. A judgment of another state, decreeing specific performance, is conclusive of the fact that the conditions of the contract resting on the obligee had been complied with by him. Morris v. Hand, 70 T. 481, 8 S. W. 210.

From long-continued active assertion of ownership, a presumption or inference of a deed held to arise, and from long-continued possession and use a legal presumption of a grant. Hermann v. Thomas (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 574.

Acquiescence of A. in B.'s possession under a claim of title from C. will not support a presumption of a grant from A. to B. Id.

RULE 18. A GRANT MAY BE PRESUMED IN SUPPORT OF A JUST AND LEGAL CLAIM, FROM LONG AND UNINTERRUPTED POSSESSION

In general.—Whether the laws in force in 1767 required a confirmation by the viceroy of the grants made at Laredo in that year may be involved in doubt. A confirmation by the viceroy of grants made by the subdelegates at Laredo in 1767 will be presumed after so great a lapse of time, during which title has been openly asserted under such grants and possession maintained. Railway Co. v. Jarvis, 69 T. 527, 7 S. W. 210.

Where lands had been severed from the public domain, and plaintiff was in possession, and defendant showed no right, held, that plaintiff was presumed to have acquired the state's title. Harmon v. Landers (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 378.

There may be such long-continued use of the channel of a navigable river for a roadway as to warrant the presumption of a grant from the state of the right to a ford across it. City of Austin v. Hall (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 1038.

An unlocated land certificate is a chattel, long-continued possession of which may support the presumption of a sale. Lochridge v. Corbett, 31 C. A. 676, 73 S. W. 96.

Length of possession.—In 1733 or 1734 a grant of land was made by the Spanish authorities to the town of San Fernando, now San Antonio, which was settled in 1717 or 1718. The grant had been in the archives of the town, but had not been seen since 1834. Several witnesses testified as to the existence of the grant and to its contents, and the boundaries were clearly established. In a suit by the city of San Antonio to enjoin the location and survey of the land embraced in the grant, it was held that the existence and contents of the grant were fully and satisfactorily proven. Lewis v. San Antonio, 7 T. 288.

Where the defendant and his ancestor possessed and enjoyed a tract of land under a claim of title from 1800 to 1836, the jury may presume an ancient grant. Paul v. Perez, 7 T. 338; Texas Mexican Ry. Co. v. Uribe, 85 T. 386, 20 S. W. 153.

In 1831 B. settled upon vacant land; in 1838 a headright certificate was issued to him and he located it so far as to include his residence and the adjoining land. The survey was not completed on account of the interference of the closing line with other surveys, and a suit was instituted to determine the rights of the interested parties. This suit was determined and the mandate filed in February, 1849, and in the meantime the certificate and field-notes were lost. On the 20th of July, 1850, a duplicate certificate was issued and located on the same land, upon which another location under a different certificate had been made on the 16th of July, 1849. In deciding the case it is said that from long possession, continued in this case for more than 20 years, a presumption would be raised in law of a title lost by time and accident. Morris v. Byers, 14 T. 278.

In an action of trespass to try title commenced December 7, 1855, the plaintiff had been in possession of the land, paying taxes, etc., from August, 1835, until January, 1853, when she was evicted by the defendant, who claimed under a survey in 1850, and a patent thereon issued March 26, 1855. The plaintiff also claimed the land by the location and survey of a certificate which had not been recommended. An instruction that a grant might be presumed from 15 years' adverse peaceable possession under defined boundaries was held to be erroneous. Taylor v. Watkins, 26 T. 688; Grimes v. Bastrop, 26 T. 310; Walker v. Hanks, 27 T. 535; Biencourt v. Parker, 27 T. 558; Plummer v. Power, 29 T. 6; Forest v. Woodall, 33 T. 363; Paschal v. Dangerfield, 37 T. 273; Turner v. Rogers, 38 T. 582.

In an action of trespass to try title the plaintiffs relied upon the following facts to support the presumption of a grant: Their ancestor, Norris, was in possession of the land and improvements from 1805 to 1813, when, with other citizens, he left the country on account of its unsafe condition. He returned in 1821 and remained in possession until his death in 1828. After the death of Norris his heirs claimed the land, exercised acts of ownership over it, sold portions of the land and put purchasers in possession, and had themselves, either in person or by tenants, been in possession most of the time since their father's death. The land was known as the Norris claim or grant, was regarded as the property of the heirs of Norris, and in making subsequent locations had been respected until the location made by the defendant, who claimed under a patent dated November 20, 1844. The plaintiff, as a part of his title, read in evidence an application of Norris to the governor, dated April 13, 1810, reciting his purchase of the land from other parties and praying for title and possession; also an order from the political chief, dated April 5, 1824, directing title to be extended as prayed for. It was held that the application of April 13, 1810, repelled the presumption of a previous grant; that a grant could not be presumed from the order of April 5, 1824, as the political chief had no authority to make a grant, and a grant could not be presumed under the colonization law of 1825, as the land was situated within the border leagues, and the consent of the federal executive, which was necessary to make the title effectual, would not be presumed, where the grant itself rested on a presumption. Yancey v. Norris, 27 T. 40; Sulphen v. Norris, 44 T. 204.

The defendant was in possession of land for more than ten years under a deed, paying taxes thereon, etc. The land was described in the deed as the tract surveyed for Jarboe, and that the purchase money, except $10, was not to be paid until patent was issued. The evidence showed that the survey was made upon a conditional certificate to Jarboe, and that no corresponding unconditional certificate had ever been issued. The facts repelled the presumption of a grant. Truehart v. Babcock, 49 T. 249.

The defendant in an action of trespass to try title relied upon the presumption of a grant from the following facts: On the 26th of July, 1833, a certificate for one-third of a league of land was issued to R., which was never recommended by the traveling board of land commissioners. The records of the county surveyor showed a survey under the certificate November 5, 1839. The certificate and survey were returned to the general land office February 7, 1841, and the survey is delineated on the maps of the proper county in the general land office. The papers cannot be found, and are on the list of missing files. The defendant showed 25 years' possession under a warranty deed from G., the payment of taxes and the making of valuable improvements. The court excluded the foregoing evidence and properly refused to submit to the jury the question as to the presumption of a grant. Miller v. Brownson, 50 T. 583.

If there was no evidence tending to show that a grant was actually made, the possession for a century and a quarter under claim of right to fix boundaries furnishes evidence on which to presume a grant. Von Rosenberg v. Haynes, 85 T. 357, 20 S. W. 143.

RULE 19. A FACT MAY BE INFERRED FROM THE PROVED EXISTENCE OF A RELEVANT FACT IN THE ABSENCE OF OPPOSING EVIDENCE

In general.—Inference of interest in purchase held not allowable from the fact of some time interest in consideration for the purchase, in the absence of evidence of present interest in such consideration. Rogers v. Tompkins (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 379.

Evidence held to justify an inference that the defect in a turntable alleged was the cause of plaintiff's accident. Currie v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 101 T. 478, 108 S. W. 1167.

Proof need not be made of a fact necessarily resulting from facts proven. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cleland, 50 C. A. 499, 110 S. W. 122.

An inference can only be drawn from facts. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Vallejo, 102 T. 70, 113 S. W. 4.

Proof held not to justify the inference that one had been employed to look after a shipper's horse during transportation. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Parker (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 437.

In an action for the death of a switchman, held, that there was evidence from which defendant's negligence might have been inferred. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Boone, 105 T. 188, 146 S. W. 533.

Death.—That one's death was caused by accidental injury may be shown, though he did not inform his physician of the accident. Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Hunter, 30 C. A. 489, 70 S. W. 798.

Fraud.—In a suit to set aside a sale of land by an administrator as fraudulent, it was shown that the land had been conveyed by the administrator to the purchaser, and on the next day two-thirds of the land was conveyed back to the administrator. There was no evidence of any money having been paid, or that a note and mortgage had been given. Held, that the jury might have inferred fraud from these circumstances. Thompson v. Shannon, 9 T. 536.

Competency of person.—The jury may infer that a person habitually intemperate is unfit to have charge of a railroad train. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Davis (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 956.

Motive.—That a section foreman attempted to remove a hand car from a track in front of an approaching train warrants an inference that his motive was to prevent a derailment of the train. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Burnett, 49 C. A. 244, 108 S. W. 404.

Mailing letters.—Facts held sufficient to warrant a finding that a certain letter was mailed and received by the addressee. Smith v. F. W. Heitman Co., 44 C. A. 353, 98 S. W. 1074.

Health and physical condition.—Telegrams; presumptive evidence of mental anguish resulting from failure to deliver. Martin v. Telegraph Co., 1 C. A. 150, 20 S. W. 860; Telegraph Co. v. Coffin, 88 T. 94, 30 S. W. 897; Telegraph Co. v. Russell (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 698; Telegraph Co. v. Hale, 11 C. A. 79, 32 S. W. 814; Telegraph Co. v. Randles (Civ. App.) 34 S. W. 447.

Mental pain will not be presumed to have arisen from an attack of chills and fever. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Reasonover, 36 C. A. 274, 81 S. W. 329.

Mental suffering cannot be inferred from physical suffering consisting of chills and fever. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Simpson (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 353.

Where serious physical injury to plaintiff is shown, the jury may infer mental suffering without direct proof thereof. Id.

Mental suffering will be implied from illness accompanied by physical pain. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Johnson, 43 C. A. 147, 95 S. W. 595.

Mental suffering may be inferred from physical injury without direct proof. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Garrett, 44 C. A. 406, 98 S. W. 932.

In an action for personal injuries, mental suffering may be inferred from great physical suffering. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Stoy, 44 C. A. 448, 99 S. W. 135.

Serious and continuing bodily injury will support a finding of mental anguish. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Parish, 45 C. A. 493, 100 S. W. 1175.

Proof held to authorize the jury to infer that one suing for injuries sustained mental suffering so that damages could be awarded therefor. Texas Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 705.

In an action for personal injury, evidence held to justify an inference of mental suffering accompanying the continuing physical pain. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Swan (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 855.

RULE 20. PAROL OR EXTRINSIC EVIDENCE IS GENERALLY INADMISSIBLE TO CONTRADICT, VARY OR ADD TO THE TERMS OF A WRITTEN INSTRUMENT

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1. Judicial records and proceedings. | 37. — Judicial records and proceedings. |
| 2. — In probate court. | 38. — Official records and proceedings. |
| 3. — In justice's court. | 39. — Deeds. |
| 4. — Affecting jurisdiction. | 40. — Leases. |
| 5. Official records and documents—Plats and surveys. | 41. — Contracts in general. |
| 6. — County records or proceedings. | 42. — Contracts of employment. |
| 7. Corporate records and proceedings. | 43. — Contracts of sale. |
| 8. Wills. | 44. — Contracts of carriage. |
| 9. Deeds. | 45. Parties to instrument or obligation. |
| 10. — Official deed. | 46. Existence of condition or contingency—Deeds. |
| 11. — Description of premises. | 47. — Contracts in general. |
| 12. — Estate or interest conveyed. | 48. — Contracts of sale. |
| 13. — Reservations. | 49. — Bills and notes. |
| 14. — Time of taking effect. | 50. Existence of custom or usage. |
| 15. Bills of sale. | 51. — Construction of written instruments. |
| 16. Assignments. | 52. Existence or accrual of liability. |
| 17. Leases. | 53. Nature and extent of liability. |
| 18. Mortgages or deeds of trust. | 54. — Trust deeds. |
| 19. Contracts in general. | 55. — Bills and notes and indorsement thereof. |
| 20. — Completeness of writing and presumption in relation thereof. | 56. — Contracts of guaranty. |
| 21. Contracts of employment. | 57. — Principal or surety. |
| 22. Contracts for buildings and other works. | 58. Effect of writing as to persons not parties thereto or privies. |
| 23. Contracts of sale. | 59. Writings collateral to issues in general. |
| 24. Bonds. | 60. Evidence for purpose other than varying rights or liabilities dependent upon terms of writing. |
| 25. Bills and notes. | 61. Declarations, representations, and expressions of opinion preceding contract. |
| 26. Indorsements and transfers of bills or notes. | 62. Showing discharge or performance of obligation—Grounds for admission of extrinsic evidence. |
| 27. Contracts of guaranty. | 63. — Agreement as to performance or enforcement. |
| 28. Contracts of insurance. | 64. — Discharge without performance. |
| 29. Contracts of carriage. | 65. — Estoppel or waiver. |
| 30. Release. | 66. — Payment. |
| 31. Memoranda or writing not constituting contract or disposition of property. | |
| 32. Writing incomplete on its face. | |
| 33. Writing showing alteration. | |
| 34. Evidence extrinsic to writing in general. | |
| 35. Sustaining validity of instrument. | |
| 36. Matters not included in writing or for which it does not provide. | |

1. Judicial records and proceedings.—In a suit for the recovery of land claimed by virtue of a purchase at sheriff's sale and sheriff's deed, where the sheriff's return is not in accordance with the deed, parol evidence is admissible to explain and correct the sheriff's return on the execution. Holmes v. Buckner, 67 T. 107, 2 S. W. 452.

Where, under a plea of res adjudicata, the pleadings and judgment in a former suit are averred and shown, parol evidence is not admissible which tends to vary and contradict the record, and to substitute the opinion and understanding of the witnesses as to the meaning and effect of such former pleadings and judgment in the place and stead of a legal construction thereof by the court. McGrady v. Monks, 1 C. A. 611, 20 S. W. 959.

A decree of court based on the written report of a survey cannot be contradicted by parol evidence. Barnett v. Mahon (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 329.

In trespass to try title, a bill of exceptions which had been filed by plaintiff in a case in the federal court, between plaintiff and defendant's predecessor in title, and parol testimony showing what issues were tried in that cause, are inadmissible. New York & T. Land Co. v. Votaw (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 125.

It may be shown by parol that a judgment decided only a single issue, and that the other issues involved were not determined. American Freehold Land & Mortgage Co. v. Macdonell (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 259.

Parol evidence was not admissible to show that a judgment for defendant in trespass to try title did not really adjudicate the question of title. Swearingen v. Williams, 28 C. A. 559, 67 S. W. 1061.

Parol evidence held admissible to show that a judgment for C., in a suit by A. against G., was in fact rendered by virtue of G.'s right under an agreement of C. and G. Jones v. Robb, 35 C. A. 263, 80 S. W. 395.

On a plea of former adjudication, parol testimony held admissible to prove that pending suit and former one arose from same cause of action. Latta v. Wiley (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 433.

In a collateral attack on a default judgment, reciting that defendant, though citation by publication had been legally made on him, failed to appear, parol evidence showing the nonresidence of defendant was inadmissible. Lutcher v. Allen, 43 C. A. 102, 95 S. W. 572.

An action to set aside a judgment which is a cloud on title to real property owned by plaintiff held a collateral attack, and evidence to impeach the judgment is not admissible. Estey & Camp v. Williams (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 470.

Evidence that judgment was entered by agreement of parties, and that party awarded certain land had no title thereto, but that the judgment constituted a gift, held improperly excluded as impeaching the judgment. Stewart v. Profit (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 563.

Evidence of an agreement with a lower owner to turn the surplus water of the upper owner into the lower owner's canal was not inadmissible as varying a former decree fixing the water rights of the parties pleaded as res judicata, where such decree did not purport to settle that phase of the controversy. Biggs v. Miller (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 632.

Where the calls in a partition decree, supported by a map expressly made a part thereof, are unambiguous, extrinsic evidence that the survey occupied some other position was inadmissible. Rosenthal v. Sun Co. (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 513.

2. — In probate court.—Parol evidence is not admissible to contradict certified copies of probate records. Collins v. Bail, 82 T. 259, 17 S. W. 614, 27 Am. St. Rep. 877; Houze v. Houze, 16 T. 603.

3. — In justice's court.—Recital in justice's docket of continuance of cause may be shown by evidence aliunde not to apply to certain defendants. Landa v. Moody (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 51.

A justice's court judgment must be interpreted as it is written, and not in the light of the justice's oral testimony as to his intention. Hightower v. Bennight, 53 C. A. 120, 115 S. W. 875.

4. — Affecting jurisdiction.—Where it does not affirmatively appear from the record that a domestic court of general jurisdiction was without jurisdiction of the person, evidence outside the record is inadmissible in a collateral attack. Iiams v. Root, 22 C. A. 413, 55 S. W. 411.

In view of the record in a suit for delinquent taxes, held, that a recital in the judgment was not a recital that one of the owners of the land had been served by publication, and evidence was admissible that he had not been served at all. State v. Dashiell, 32 C. A. 454, 74 S. W. 779.

An action to set aside a judgment held a direct attack, in which proof outside the record as to service of process is admissible. Carpenter v. Anderson, 33 C. A. 491, 77 S. W. 291.

Extrinsic evidence is not admissible in a collateral proceeding to show that a domestic court of general jurisdiction did not have jurisdiction of the parties against whom a judgment was rendered. Greenway v. De Young, 34 C. A. 583, 79 S. W. 603.

In an action on a justice's judgment, the justice held entitled to testify to a remittitur by plaintiff, made to bring the case within the justice's jurisdiction. Peeples v. Slayden-Kirksey Woolen Mills (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 61.

A recital in the judgment of service on a defendant involves absolute verity in a collateral proceeding. Douglas v. State, 58 Cr. R. 122, 124 S. W. 933, 137 Am. St. Rep. 930.

Parol evidence that process was never served held not admissible in a collateral attack. Estey & Camp v. Williams (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 470.

A recital in a judgment that defendant was duly cited is conclusive in a collateral proceeding, although in that proceeding the court holds that, by reason of seven years absence, such defendant is presumed dead, and the judgment attacked was rendered during such period of seven years. Oliver v. Bordner (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 656.

On collateral attack on a judgment, a recital of "due service" made in the action cannot be disputed. Jameson v. O'Neal (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 680.

5. Official records and documents—Plats and surveys.—Where field notes of a survey were clear and unambiguous, parol evidence held admissible to show that a different survey was in fact made. Giddings v. Winfree, 32 C. A. 99, 73 S. W. 1066.

Parol evidence is not admissible to change the lines and corners of grounds as shown by unambiguous field notes. Jamison v. New York & T. Land Co. (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 969.

Where the field notes in a survey call for the corners and lines of surrounding surveys, and contain no inconsistent calls, parol evidence is inadmissible to show that a different survey was actually made to control the calls in the grant. Gullory v. Allums (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 685.

6. — County records or proceedings.—An entry on the minutes cannot be varied by parol. Gano v. Palo Pinto Co., 71 T. 99, 8 S. W. 634.

Though the record of the county commissioners' court fails to show that a claim for damages was presented, it may be shown that such claim was in fact presented. Karnes County v. Nichols (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 656.

7. Corporate records and proceedings.—In an action against the minority of a church to obtain control of the church property, held proper to permit a witness to state how many persons were present at a certain meeting. Gipson v. Morris, 36 C. A. 693, 83 S. W. 226.

8. Wills.—If a will was written as intended by the testator, and he knew the contents when he signed it, oral testimony of an understanding outside of it cannot be received to contradict or vary its terms. Vickery v. Hobbs, 21 T. 570, 73 Am. Dec. 238.

Parol evidence is not admissible to contradict, add to, or explain a will by proving testatrix's declarations before, at, or after the execution of the will. Packard v. De Miranda (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 211.

9. Deeds.—Recital in a deed from husband to wife held to show a clear intention on his part to convey the land therein described to his wife as her separate property, and parol evidence was not admissible to show that such was not his intention. Kahn v. Kahn, 94 T. 114, 58 S. W. 825.

Where, in trespass to try title, a joint deed is shown from the original owner to plaintiff's husband and one of defendant's grantors, held not error to exclude the testimony of a witness that he had seen a deed from such owner to defendant's grantors; the date not being shown. Texas Tram & Lumber Co. v. Gwin, 29 C. A. 1, 67 S. W. 892.

Parol testimony held inadmissible to establish a claim under a deed to defeat the grantee's attaching creditor's lien. Paris Grocer Co. v. Burks, 101 T. 106, 105 S. W. 174.

The delivery and acceptance of a deed binds the grantee according to its terms, whether the grantee understood them or not, and its legal effect cannot ordinarily be varied or limited by parol evidence, except on allegation and proof of mutual mistake or fraud. Lindly v. Lindly (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 467.

A deed cannot be collaterally attacked by the parties to it by evidence showing an intent different from that which its language unmistakably expresses. Davis v. George, 104 T. 106, 134 S. W. 326.

10. — Official deed.—Where there is no ambiguity on the face of a deed which calls for marked corners found on the ground, held, that the line must run straight between the corners. Sloan v. King, 29 C. A. 599, 69 S. W. 541.

11. — Description of premises.—Parol evidence held admissible to show that a deed of land for a gross consideration was in reality a sale by the acre. Chesnut v. Chism, 20 C. A. 23, 48 S. W. 549.

In an action involving title to land, and not to reform deeds, it is proper for the trial judge to refuse to consider the intention of the grantors in any of the deeds in opposition to the description expressed therein. Herman v. Dunman (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 80.

Parol evidence is inadmissible to correct a call in a deed where it is not offered merely to aid a call found in the field notes. Hamilton v. Blackburn, 43 C. A. 153, 95 S. W. 1094.

Parol proof held inadmissible to contradict the terms of a deed as to the property conveyed. Carter & Donaldson v. Childress (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 714.

In an action to have deeds declared in effect a mortgage, it was error to refuse to allow defendant to show by parol that the property intended to be described, and which was in fact the subject-matter of the deed to defendant, was different property from that actually described in the deed. Openshaw v. Rickmeyer, 45 C. A. 508, 102 S. W. 467.

Where a deed shows a conveyance of land in bulk, and there is a material error in the quantity of land conveyed, parol evidence to show the shortage and that the land was sold by the acre was only admissible on allegations of fraud, accident, or mistake. Mosteller v. Astin (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1136.

The description in a deed being definite and certain, parol evidence that other land than that described was intended to be conveyed is not admissible in trespass to try title; it being only in a suit to correct a deed on the ground of fraud or mistake that its terms can be so varied or contradicted. Yarbrough v. Clarkson (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 954.

12. — Estate or interest conveyed.—Parol evidence held inadmissible to show operation of quitclaim deed. Cauble v. Worsham, 96 T. 86, 70 S. W. 737, 97 Am. St. Rep. 871.

13. — Reservations.—Parol evidence is inadmissible to show that a grantor reserved his homestead right in the property conveyed by warranty deed. Ord v. Waller (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 1166.

14. — Time of taking effect.—Parol condition as to time of taking effect, attached to delivery of absolute deed, held void. McClendon v. Brockett, 32 C. A. 150, 73 S. W. 854.

Evidence that a grantor in a deed conveying land did not intend to give possession of the land until the youngest grantee became of age held inadmissible. Ford v. Boone, 32 C. A. 550, 75 S. W. 353.

15. Bills of sale.—An agreement in writing conveying certain personal property held plain and unambiguous, excluding parol evidence to vary its terms. Coverdill v. Seymour, 94 T. 1, 57 S. W. 37.

Where a written bill of sale purports to convey the entire stock of a hardware company, parol evidence is inadmissible to establish that less than that was intended to be conveyed. McCullough v. Farmers' & Merchants' Nat. Bank of Abilene (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 439.

16. Assignments.—Parol evidence held not admissible to show that a transfer of all interest in a judgment in partition was intended to embrace rents accruing pending appeal and before sale. Kalteyer v. Wipff (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 207.

In an action for personal injuries, held competent for plaintiff to show by parol, in a rebuttal of defendant's evidence, that a transferee of a judgment previously obtained by plaintiff had no interest in the cause of action or judgment. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Parks, 40 C. A. 480, 90 S. W. 343.

Parol evidence held inadmissible to add to terms of instrument executed by creditor receiving conveyance to secure indebtedness. Blake v. Lowry, 43 C. A. 17, 93 S. W. 521.

17. Leases.—Parol evidence held not admissible to show that the option of a lessee to buy was unconditional. De Vitt v. Kaufman County, 27 C. A. 332, 66 S. W. 224.

The terms of a written lease cannot be varied by parol evidence of a prior understanding. Greenhill v. Hunton (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 440.

Parol evidence is admissible to show, in the absence of allegations of fraud or mistake, that a farm was not included in a lease, where the written lease expressly states that entire premises, including the farm, were let. Suderman-Dolson Co. v. Rogers, 47 C. A. 67, 104 S. W. 193.

Where plaintiff leased to an adjoining owner all land east of a certain railway, held, the true boundary line, and not the intent of defendant as to the land leased, would govern as to the issue of adverse possession. Hermann v. McIver, 51 C. A. 270, 111 S. W. 766.

There being no ambiguity in a lease, and it being one which the statute of frauds requires to be in writing, parol evidence was not admissible to modify its terms. Beard v. A. A. Gooch & Son (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 1022.

18. Mortgages or deeds of trust.—Testimony of the mortgagee and mortgagor held inadmissible to contradict the terms of the mortgage. Magill v. Brown, 20 C. A. 662, 50 S. W. 143.

Evidence of a conversation held inadmissible to vary a deed of trust. Smith v. Texas & N. O. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 528.

19. Contracts in general.—In general, parol evidence is not admissible to vary a written contract; but such evidence is admissible to explain an ambiguity, or to explain a writing, when the explanation is necessary, and the evidence is consistent with the writing, and to ascertain the intention of the parties, when doubtful, or to explain the language or terms used. Deweese v. Lockhart, 1 T. 535; Franklin v. Mooney, 2 T. 452; Stamper v. Johnson, 3 T. 1; Self v. King, 28 T. 552; Bender v. Pryor, 31 T. 341; Hamman v. Kelgwin, 39 T. 34; McCormick v. Lennox, 1 App. C. C. § 550; Shaw v. Parvin, 1 App. C. C. § 366; Earle v. Marx, 80 T. 39, 15 S. W. 595; Kellogg v. Iron City Bank (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 897; Meyers v. Maverick (Civ. App.) 28 S. W. 716; Ginnuth v. Blankenship (Civ. App.) 28 S. W. 828; Brenneman v. Bush (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 699; Beckham v. Collins, 54 C. A. 241, 117 S. W. 431.

The rule that parol contemporaneous evidence is inadmissible to contradict or vary the terms of a valid written instrument obtains equally in courts of law and equity. Hunt v. White, 24 T. 643.

When there is no ambiguity in the terms of a written contract, parol evidence is inadmissible; and when the meaning of ambiguous terms has been supplied by parol evidence, the court must judge of the whole document in subordination to its legal sense as thus completed. The contract cannot be varied; its obscure expressions may be explained, but this not for the purpose of moulding, but of developing, the true sense. First Nat. Bank of Denison v. Randall, 1 App. C. C. § 971; Key v. Hickman (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 275.

When an agreement is reduced to writing, it is regarded as expressing the final views and conclusions of the parties in reference to the subject of them, and hence new ingredients cannot be added, or its terms varied, by parol evidence of prior or contemporaneous conditions. Laux v. Glass, 1 App. C. C. § 1180; Lanius v. Shuber, 13 S. W. 614, 77 T. 24; Bruner v. Strong, 61 T. 555; Dallas Nat. Bank v. Davis, 78 T. 362, 14 S. W. 706; Henry v. Chapman, 16 S. W. 543; McKay v. Overton, 65 T. 66; San Antonio Lumber Co. v. Dickey (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 958; Lynch v. Ortleib, 70 T. 727, 8 S. W. 515; Rubrecht v. Powers, 1 C. A. 282, 21 S. W. 318; Weaver v. City of Gainesville, 1 C. A. 286, 21 S. W. 317; Railway Co. v. Silegman (Civ. App.) 23 S. W. 298; Railway Co. v. Wilson, 23 S. W. 282, 4 C. A. 178; Crystal Mfg. Co. v. San Antonio Brewing Ass'n, 27 S. W. 210, 8 C. A. 1; Todd v. Roberts, 1 C. A. 8, 20 S. W. 722. This rule applies in the absence of fraud, accident or mistake. Bupp v. O'Connor, 1 C. A. 328, 21 S. W. 619; Earle v. Marx, 80 T. 39, 15 S. W. 595; Railway Co. v. Wilson, 23 S. W. 282, 4 C. A. 178; Crystal Mfg. Co. v. San Antonio Brewing Co., 27 S. W. 210, 8 C. A. 1.

Parol evidence is inadmissible to prove an additional stipulation in a contract made by a county adding to or varying the effect of the minutes entry of the contract. Gano v. Palo Pinto Co., 71 T. 99, 8 S. W. 634. See Polly v. Hopkins, 74 T. 145, 11 S. W. 1084.

Parts of a parol contract which were omitted when the contract was reduced to writing are inadmissible, where not omitted through fraud, accident, or mistake. Janes v. Ferd Helm Brewing Co. (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 896.

Parol evidence held inadmissible to vary the length of time a contract was to run, clearly expressed therein. Pasteur Vaccine Co. v. Burkey, 22 C. A. 232, 54 S. W. 804.

In the absence of fraud or mistake parol evidence held as a general rule not admissible to change the terms of a written contract. International Land Co. v. Parmer (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 196.

Where a written contract is free from ambiguity, and fraud and mistake is not shown, parol evidence of contemporaneous acts or declarations of the parties is inadmissible. El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. Eichel & Weikel (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 922.

A plain and unequivocal contract cannot be explained or enlarged by parol. Stidham v. Laurie (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 1082.

An instrument held unambiguous, so that, in the absence of fraud, accident, or mutual mistake, it cannot be varied by parol. Barnes v. Bryce (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 240.

Parol evidence as to matters reduced to a written contract is admissible when not in conflict with the writing itself. Interstate Savings & Trust Co. v. Hornsby (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 960.

20. — Completeness of writing and presumption in relation thereof.—A complete contract cannot be varied by engrafting an additional consideration. Texas & P. Coal Co. v. Lawson, 10 C. A. 491, 31 S. W. 843.

If an element of a transaction is mentioned or covered by a writing, it is assumed that the writing was meant to embrace the whole intention on that element, so that parol evidence is inadmissible to vary it. Swope v. Liberty County Bank, 52 C. A. 231, 113 S. W. 976.

21. Contracts of employment.—A power of attorney, plain and unambiguous in terms, cannot be explained by parol evidence. Rogers v. Tompkins (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 379.

Parol evidence that employé was to perform duties at a particular store held inadmissible to vary written contract of employment. Wolf Cigar Stores Co. v. Kramer (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 995.

Parol evidence held not objectionable as varying a written contract. Longworth v. Stevens (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 257.

22. Contracts for buildings and other works.—Proof of an oral agreement to omit matters provided for in plans and specifications contained in a subsequent written contract is inadmissible. Thompson v. Fitzgerald & Ray (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 334.

23. Contracts of sale.—Evidence held properly excluded, as varying a written contract. Dunovant v. Anderson, 24 C. A. 517, 59 S. W. 824.

A buyer of goods contracted for by letters between the parties held not entitled, when sued for the price, to show his understanding as to the price. Fletcher v. Underhill, 37 C. A. 239, 83 S. W. 726.

24. Bonds.—Bond conditioned for the performance of a contract therein set forth held exclusive evidence of the agreement. Flewellen v. Ft. Bend County, 17 C. A. 155, 42 S. W. 775.

25. Bills and notes.—A. executed to B. a note for the amount of an antecedent account with an understanding that the amount actually due should be adjusted at a future time. Held, that the written obligation cannot be qualified with the verbal understanding. Saunders v. Brock, 30 T. 421.

Suit was brought in Comanche county against a resident citizen of Coryell county on an accepted order for money, the order and acceptance being in writing. In answer to a plea in abatement to the jurisdiction, the plaintiff set up a verbal promise to pay in Comanche county. Held, that the place of payment could not be changed by an agreement not in writing. Bigham v. Talbot, 51 T. 450.

The unexpressed intention of one of the drawers of a draft at the time it was presented to a bank for discount held inadmissible to change the effect of the transaction with the bank. Provident Nat. Bank v. C. D. Hartnett Co., 45 C. A. 273, 100 S. W. 1024.

Where parties objecting to the introduction of parol evidence to explain a transaction evidenced by notes were not parties to the notes, no question of varying the terms of a written contract by parol evidence was involved. Jarvis v. Matson, 52 C. A. 170, 113 S. W. 326.

In an action to foreclose a vendor's lien, where the petition alleged want of consideration for the transfer of the notes from one of plaintiffs to his sons, and that a defendant obtaining possession from them had knowledge of such facts, and that the transfer was for a specific purpose known to defendants, and that they had been used for another purpose, held, that parol evidence that plaintiffs' sons were not in fact the owners in contradiction of the indorsements was admissible. Givens v. Carter (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 623.

26. Indorsements and transfers of bills or notes.—Parol evidence is not ordinarily admissible to contradict or change the character of an indorsement on a note. Givens v. Carter (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 623.

Contract implied by the indorsement of a note cannot be contradicted by parol. First Nat. Bank v. Powell (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1096.

27. Contracts of guaranty.—A guarantor's liability cannot be extended by implication, and where there is no ambiguity in the guaranty parol evidence cannot be received to vary or explain. Wilson v. Childress, 2 App. C. C. § 427.

28. Contracts of insurance.—Recitals in a life policy of payment of dues and receipt therefor may be contradicted by parol. Laughlin v. Fidelity M. L. Ass'n, 28 S. W. 411, 8 C. A. 448.

Evidence that insured notified insurer, before issuance of policy, of his intention to take out other insurance, held inadmissible as varying a written contract. Orient Ins. Co. v. Prather, 25 C. A. 446, 62 S. W. 89.

In an action on a fire policy, certain evidence as to intent of parties held inadmissible. Ætna Ins. Co. v. Brannon, 99 T. 391, 89 S. W. 1057, 2 L. R. A. (N. S.) 548, 13 Ann. Cas. 1020.

Parol evidence of the transaction between an applicant for a life policy and the soliciting agent of the insurer held competent, in an action for the cancellation of the policy. Mutual Life Ins. Co. v. Hargus (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 580.

29. Contracts of carriage.—Contemporaneous parol evidence is not admissible to vary or contradict a bill of lading. Railway Co. v. Cates, 15 C. A. 135, 38 S. W. 648.

In the absence of fraud, duress, or mistake in signing the written contract, evidence of circumstances tending to impeach the same held inadmissible. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Timon, 45 C. A. 47, 99 S. W. 418.

Proof that a waybill issued by the carrier for the guidance of its employés stipulated delivery at a certain packing house was inadmissible to add that provision to the written contract between carrier and shipper. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Griffith (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 225.

In an action against a carrier for failing to furnish suitable cars for live stock, the shippers held not precluded from showing certain facts on the ground that the testimony would vary the terms of the contract for shipment. Trout & Newberry v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 220.

In the absence of an allegation, and proof of fraud, accident, or mistakes in making the contract, conditions and limitations not contained in a bill of lading cannot be shown. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Hannay-Frerichs & Co. (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 250.

30. Release.—A release partakes of the nature of a deed, and is not susceptible of contradiction or variation by parol, unless fraud or mutual mistake be shown. T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Burke, 1 App. C. C. § 945.

31. Memoranda or writing not constituting contract or disposition of property.—A railroad employé could testify that he was not given a copy of the rules, though his application for appointment stated that he had read them. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hauer (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 1078.

Written memorandum of amount due given debtor by creditor cannot be contradicted by parol testimony. Gammage v. Walker (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 916.

An entry on the books of a bank of a certain amount as a credit on a depositor's account is not conclusive of the bank's liability to the depositor for that amount. Ander-son v. Walker (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 937.

A railroad employé held not precluded, by a stipulation in his application for service as to obstructions, from showing by parol testimony that he did not know of the ob-struction which injured him, though the company relied on such stipulation in giving him employment. Guif, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Darby, 28 C. A. 413, 67 S. W. 446.

A letter written by a purchaser pending negotiations for the trade held not to pre-vent his testifying what the agreement as to price was. Oneal v. Weisman, 39 C. A. 592, 88 S. W. 290.

32. Writing incomplete on its face.—The note sued on read: $413, 15-100 gold. Bracket, May 5th, 1875. On demand I promise to pay to the order of B. O. four hundred and thirteen 15-100 with interest. Held, that the omission of the word "dollars" in the body of the note could be supplied by parol evidence. But in this case the omission of the word "dollars" was supplied by the figures and dollar mark at the head of the note, when taken in connection with the written words. Oppenheimer v. Fritter, 1 App. C. C. § 372.

The rule that parol contemporaneous evidence is inadmissible to contradict or vary the terms of a valid written instrument does not apply where it appears that the instru-ment was not intended to be a complete and final settlement of the whole transaction. Ackerman v. Bundren, 1 App. C. C. § 1306.

A written contract, executed in connection with a note for the payment of a premium on a policy, held complete, so that parol evidence was not admissible to vary it. Swope v. Liberty County Bank, 52 C. A. 281, 113 S. W. 976.

Parol evidence held admissible to show the nature and character of a special contract referred to in an application for insurance. State Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Ballard (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 267.

33. Writing showing alteration.—Where a contract by which plaintiffs were author-ized to sell defendant's land within a certain time was renewed, and certain changes then made by erasures and interlineations, testimony explaining such changes was competent. McLane v. Maurer, 28 C. A. 75, 66 S. W. 693.

34. Evidence extrinsic to writing in general.—The covenants of warranty cannot be varied by parol evidence that the grantee took his chances of getting a title. Warren v. Clark (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 1105.

Declarations by assured that a life insurance policy payable to his estate belonged to his sister were not incompetent as tending to vary the terms of a written instrument. Lord v. New York Life Ins. Co., 27 C. A. 139, 65 S. W. 699.

Witness held competent to testify that report of land commissioners, showing land certificates approved by them, did not give their numbers as they appeared on the cer-tificates themselves. Pope v. Anthony, 29 C. A. 298, 68 S. W. 521.

A refusal to admit evidence of a mortgagor to prove an understanding as to the pur-pose of the loan with the deceased mortgagee held not error. Crow v. Kellman (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 564.

Certain evidence admitted in action on life policy held not objectionable as an at-tempt to vary the policy by parol. Washington Life Ins. Co. v. Berwald (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 436.

Where conveyances did not disclose that plaintiff, to whom land was conveyed by the vendee immediately after purchase, was in fact the original purchaser, and that the sale was made to the vendee to enable plaintiff to escape personal liability for the price, parol evidence was inadmissible to show such fact. Moore v. Boyd, 34 C. A. 408, 79 S. W. 647.

A receipt, signed by an owner of land, held not varied by parol evidence that the purchaser is ready, willing, and able to purchase on the terms stated in the receipt. Wil-son v. Clark, 35 C. A. 92, 79 S. W. 649.

In an action for delay of the shipment of cattle, evidence as to plaintiff's intent to ship over another road held not inadmissible as varying a written contract. Internation-al & G. N. R. Co. v. McGehee (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 804.

In an action against a carrier for injuries to plaintiff's wife, testimony of plaintiff as to conversations with defendant's agents held not objectionable as tending to vary terms of contract. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Foster (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 879.

Certain facts held not to vary the terms of written contract of shipment. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. J. W. Burgess Co. (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 189.

In an action for breach of a written contract to furnish water for irrigation, evidence as to the cause of such failure held not objectionable as varying the terms of the con-tract. Gravity Canal Co. v. Sisk, 43 C. A. 194, 95 S. W. 724.

On an issue in a boundary line dispute as to whether a stream was the east branch of a certain river or a slough, evidence of witness familiar with the location, tending to locate the east branch of the river on the ground, held not objectionable as varying the field notes of a survey calling for the east branch of the river as its western boundary. Selkirk v. Watkins (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 1161.

The fact that letters on file in the general land office had been folded and sealed with sealing wax could be shown by parol without violating the parol evidence rule. Keck v. Woodward, 53 C. A. 267, 116 S. W. 75.

Testimony that a lessor advised the lessee that the use to which he intended to put the premises was a legitimate business, when in fact it was contrary to an ordinance, and that he would protect him from any one disturbing him, was not incompetent as varying the terms of the lease by which the lessee agreed not to engage in any illegitimate business. Altgelt v. Gerbic (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 233.

35. Sustaining validity of instrument.—Extraneous evidence is admissible in support of the description of land intended to be conveyed by a memorandum in writing. Flanagan v. Boggess, 46 T. 335; Watson v. Baker, 71 T. 739, 9 S. W. 867; Gresham v. Chambers, 30 T. 544, 16 S. W. 326; Giddings v. Day, 84 T. 605, 19 S. W. 682; Cox v. Rust (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 807. See McKinzie v. Stafford, 8 C. A. 121, 27 S. W. 790.

Extraneous evidence that original deed contained the seal of the officer taking the acknowledgment, though the record of the deed recited that it contained no seal. Equitable Mortgage Co. v. Kempner, 84 T. 102, 19 S. W. 358.

Parol evidence held admissible to show that a husband intended to include land in controversy in making a deed to his wife. McCrary v. Lutz (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 1094.

Parol evidence held admissible to show that a written contract was based on a consideration, though the contract stated no consideration. Delta County v. Blackburn (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 902.

Parol evidence that the seal accompanying a notary public's jurat on an application to purchase state land contained the words "notary public, Hunt county, Tex.," held admissible. King v. Underwood (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 334.

In an action for breach of a land contract, parol evidence held admissible to explain apparent defects in the title as shown by the abstract. McMillan v. First Nat. Bank, 56 C. A. 45, 119 S. W. 709.

36. Matters not included in writing or for which it does not provide.—A power of attorney failing to clearly express the consideration and the purpose of its execution, parol proof of facts inducing its execution was admissible. Ehrenberg v. Baker's Ex'rs (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 435.

Extraneous evidence of date of record of deed held admissible. Riviere v. Wilkens, 31 C. A. 454, 72 S. W. 608.

37. — Judicial records and proceedings.—Where the judgment contains no recital as to service of citation, parol evidence tending to show that defendant was not served was admissible. Hambel v. Davis (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 251. See Hambel v. Davis, 89 T. 256, 34 S. W. 439, 59 Am. St. Rep. 46.

Parol evidence held admissible, on appeal from justice, to show that written motion for new trial bearing no file mark was filed within five days of the trial, to show whether appeal bond was filed in time. Brooks v. Acker (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 800.

In an action based on an execution levy, the officer making the same held entitled to testify that a copy of the execution attached to a justice's deposition was correct and that he made a mistake in the copy filed. Peeples v. Slayden-Kirksey Woolen Mills (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 61.

38. — Official records and proceedings.—Evidence in action on county treasurer's bond held not to contradict auditor's report, which had not been excepted to. Harper v. Marion County, 33 C. A. 653, 77 S. W. 1044.

39. — Deeds.—Where a grantor placed the deed in an envelope, indorsed with his name, and the names of the grantees, and delivered the same to a bank, his statement then made to the bank that it was for delivery to the grantees after his death was admissible as against the objection that it varied the terms of the indorsement. Henry v. Phillips, 105 T. 459, 151 S. W. 533.

40. — Leases.—One who appears upon the instrument as principal can show that he signed as surety, for the purpose of availing himself of any equitable defense to which as a surety he may be entitled. Burke v. Cruger, 8 T. 66, 58 Am. Dec. 102; Babcock v. Milmo Nat. Bank, 1 App. C. C. § 819.

Parol evidence held admissible on question as to which lease was silent. Hammond v. Martin, 15 C. A. 570, 40 S. W. 347.

41. — Contracts in general.—In a suit for specific performance of a contract to partition land, parol evidence is not admissible to complete the contract where the land is not described, nor the essential terms of the bargain and sale ascertainable from the writing itself. Sullivan v. Zanderson (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 1027.

Facts held to show that written instruments did not embrace the entire contract, rendering parol evidence admissible to prove the oral parts of the agreement. Davis v. Sisk, 49 C. A. 193, 108 S. W. 472.

Parol evidence of omitted stipulations of a contract held inadmissible to vary the terms of the contract. Kansas City Packing Box Co. v. Spies (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 432.

Where an entire contract was not placed in writing, the whole contract could be proved by parol testimony. Allen v. Herrick Hardware Co., 55 C. A. 249, 118 S. W. 1157.

Where a contract is partly in writing and partly in parol, proof to establish the parol part does not change, vary, or contradict the writing. Williams v. Walter A. Wood Moving & Reaping Machine Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 366.

42. — Contracts of employment.—Evidence held not to vary terms of contract. Hoefling v. Dobbin (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 53.

Parol evidence to establish agreement to employ plaintiff for life in consideration of written release of claim for damages held admissible under the rule that, where part of the agreement is verbal, that part may be established by parol. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Eldredge (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1010.

43. — Contracts of sale.—In an action against a bank and a vendor to recover money deposited by a purchaser, held, that evidence that the vendor was to furnish the purchaser an abstract of title was legitimate, as against the contention that the evidence added to and changed the written contract. Hunter v. Wallace, 57 C. A. 1, 121 S. W. 180.

44. — Contracts of carriage.—In an action for injuries to a shipment of live stock, evidence as to agreement to deliver stock at certain stockyards held admissible. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Coggin & Dunaway, 44 C. A. 423, 99 S. W. 1052.

The ordinary bill of lading without any agreement to deliver within a specified time would not be varied by evidence showing the circumstances relating to the transportation and delivery of the shipment to aid in determining whether delivery was made within a reasonable time. Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. v. Stark Grain Co., 103 T. 542, 131 S. W. 410.

In an action against a connecting carrier for injury to a shipment of horses, evidence of the carrier's knowledge of the final destination of the horses held admissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Cunningham, 51 C. A. 368, 113 S. W. 767.

The ordinary bill of lading without any agreement to deliver within a specified time would not be varied by evidence showing the circumstances relating to the transportation and delivery of the shipment to aid in determining whether delivery was made within a reasonable time. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Stark Grain Co., 103 T. 542, 131 S. W. 410.

45. Parties to instrument or obligation.—A contract in writing appearing on its face to be the undertaking of one party may by parol evidence be shown to be that of another whose name is not signed thereto. McClintock v. Hughes Bros. Mfg. Co., 4 App. C. § 201, 15 S. W. 200.

A note was signed by J., agent, R., and six others. Evidence was properly admitted to show that J. was the agent of a corporation, that he was accustomed to sign for it as such, and that the note was given for the debt of the corporation. McIlhenny v. Blum, 68 T. 197, 4 S. W. 367.

Where the name of a corporation, grantee in a deed, is given incorrectly, parol evidence is admissible to show that the deed intended to convey to the corporation in its correct name. That is, the misnomer does not defeat the grant, and parol evidence is admissible to show the grantee intended. Cobb v. Eryan (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 515.

Parol evidence is admissible to identify the parties to a former suit the judgment in which is claimed to be conclusive. Haines v. West, 101 T. 226, 105 S. W. 1118, 130 Am. St. Rep. 839.

Testimony explaining deeds introduced in evidence, by showing that the real consideration therefor was paid in property instead of money, and showing who was the real owner of the property, did not vary the deeds, being admissible to explain them. O'Farrell v. O'Farrell, 56 C. A. 51, 119 S. W. 899.

Evidence that purported purchaser's name was inserted in contract of sale of land to secure payment to him which had since been made held not admissible. Bumpass v. Mitchell (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 194.

46. Existence of condition or contingency—Deeds.—A condition subsequent cannot be engraved on a deed by parol evidence. East Line R. R. Co. v. Garrett, 52 T. 139; G., H. & S. A. R. R. Co. v. Pfeuffer, 56 T. 66; Schmidt v. Brittain (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 677; Selari v. Selari, 124 S. W. 997.

An absolute deed delivered to the purchaser cannot be affected by parol evidence engraving on it conditions inconsistent with its provisions when no fraud or mistake is shown. Heffron v. Cunningham, 76 T. 312, 13 S. W. 259.

As to the admission of evidence to explain recitals in deeds, etc., see Byars v. Byars, 11 C. A. 565, 32 S. W. 925.

In absence of fraud or mistake, parol evidence is not admissible to show that a deed absolute on its face was made in reliance on a condition precedent. Selari v. Selari (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 997.

47. — Contracts in general.—In a suit to enforce specific performance of a contract, parol evidence that the contract was executed and delivered on a condition which had not been complied with held competent. Pope v. Taliaferro, 51 C. A. 217, 115 S. W. 309.

48. — Contracts of sale.—Evidence that the vendor executed a contract upon condition that it should not become effective until approved by his co-owner held admissible. Parker v. Naylor (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1096.

In an action between the original parties to a contract for the sale of goods, evidence that it was delivered on condition that it would not become binding, unless the buyer subsequently ordered the goods shipped, was competent, and required a judgment for the buyer. Meeks v. Holmes Commerce Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 365.

49. — Bills and notes.—In a suit by the surety on a note to be discharged, introduction of certain written contracts held not to preclude oral evidence showing conditions on which he signed. Reeves & Co. v. Jowell (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 364.

50. Existence of custom or usage.—Proof of custom is inadmissible to show that a contract was to be performed at a particular place. Hudson v. Henderson, 1 App. C. § 353.

An express contract cannot be varied or controlled by evidence of custom; nor is usage admissible to control the legal effect of a state of facts. Mercantile Banking Co. v. Landa (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 681.

Provision that prohibition in policy is notwithstanding any custom "of trade or manufacture" does not preclude proof of domestic custom. American Cent. Ins. Co. v. Green, 16 C. A. 531, 41 S. W. 74.

Evidence held inadmissible to show a local custom of banks to rely on the indorsement of drafts drawn on them as satisfactory evidence of their genuineness. Moody v. First Nat. Bank, 19 C. A. 278, 46 S. W. 660.

Parol evidence is admissible to prove a custom or rule different from a printed rule governing methods of work of employes. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Collins (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 884.

Where a lease does not contain any provision as to the length of time for which it is executed, and no agreement as to such time was made, parol evidence of custom and usage as to time in such cases was admissible. Brincefield v. Allen, 25 C. A. 258, 60 S. W. 1010.

In a suit on a fire policy requiring the insured to keep a set of books, evidence of a custom among merchants to keep cash register slips in lieu of books held inadmissible. Monger & Henry v. Queen Ins. Co. of America, 44 C. A. 629, 99 S. W. 887.

In an action on a fire policy requiring insured to keep a set of books clearly representing a record of all sales and purchases, evidence that merchants generally, in some particulars, fail to keep books, and keep records upon slips of paper instead thereof, is inadmissible. Henry v. Green Ins. Co. of America (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 836.

Reasonable and just rules and customs of a certain business held to have been contemplated in making a contract involving that business. Consolidated Kansas City Smelting & Refining Co. v. Gonzales, 50 C. A. 79, 109 S. W. 946.

Custom held admissible to add an incident not expressly embraced in a contract. Bowles v. Driver (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 440.

In an action against a railway company for injury to an employé involving a rule of the company, evidence of a customary observation of the rule was not inadmissible as tending to vary the terms of the rule. Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Murphy, 52 C. A. 420, 114 S. W. 443.

A party to an express contract is not bound by any custom, unless such custom was known to him at the time of the execution of the contract. Johnson & Moran v. Buchanan, 54 C. A. 328, 116 S. W. 875.

Evidence of a general custom to deliver animals consigned to Ft. Worth at the stockyards in North Ft. Worth held admissible. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Hill (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 445.

A custom held a term of a contract of sale. Jacobs v. Nussbaum & Scharff (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 484.

Where a custom is set up to explain or qualify a contract, it must be shown that it was known to the party sought to be charged with it. Standard Paint Co. v. San Antonio Hardware Co. (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1150.

In an action by an assignee on a life policy which the insurer claimed was forfeited for failure to pay the last premium, evidence of the insurer's custom to present the premium receipt as a demand for payment, and that it had done so in the case of other policies held by plaintiff on the life of the insured and others, is admissible. Mutual Life Ins. Co. of New York v. Davis (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1184.

51. — Construction of written instrument.—See notes under Rule 22.

52. Existence or accrual of liability.—Representation of agent of building and loan company as to the maturity of stock held inadmissible, as contradictory of the contract. Interstate Building & Loan Ass'n v. Hunter (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 530.

53. Nature and extent of liability.—Value of property title to which has been warranted in writing may be proved by parol, on breach of warranty. Harrell v. Broome (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 1077.

54. — Trust deeds.—Where a deed of trust provided for compound interest, that complainant, one of the subscribers, understood and intended it to secure notes according to their tenor, as bearing simple interest, held inadmissible. Irion v. Yell (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 69.

55. — Bills and notes and indorsement thereof.—One of two or more makers of a promissory note may show by parol that he signed as surety. Bank v. Skidmore (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 564, citing Burke v. Cruger, 8 T. 69, 58 Am. Dec. 102; Wybrants v. Lutch, 24 T. 309; Pilgrim v. Dykes, 24 T. 384; Yeary v. Smith, 45 T. 56; Wylie v. Hightower, 74 T. 307, 11 S. W. 1118.

Parol evidence in action on note held objectionable as varying the terms of the note. Leavell v. Seale (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 171; Seale v. Leavell, Id.

The relation of a regular indorser on a note, as the same appears from the note, cannot be changed or contradicted by the payee by parol. Barringer v. Wilson, 97 T. 583, 80 S. W. 994.

Parol evidence is not admissible to show that an indorsement of a note was intended to be without recourse. Behrens v. Kirkgard (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 698.

An indorser of a note held entitled to prove by parol that the note in fact belonged to the University of which he was secretary, but was made payable to him, and that his indorsement was merely to transfer title. Texas Baptist University v. Patton (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1063.

Parol evidence is admissible as between the signers of a note to show the real character of the obligation intended to be assumed by one signing his name on the back of the note unaccompanied by any words expressing the nature of his undertaking. Erwin v. E. I. Du Pont De Nemours Powder Co. (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1097.

56. — Contracts of guaranty.—In an action on a continuing guaranty, evidence as to an understanding between the parties that it was not continuous is inadmissible, as varying the written contract. Schneider-Davis Co. v. Hart, 23 C. A. 529, 57 S. W. 903.

57. — Principal or surety.—A contract was made between A. of the first part, and B., C. and D. of the second part, by which A. agreed to publish a religious paper, and the parties of the second part agreed to pay him therefor the sum of $3,000, in quarterly payments. A. brought suit for an amount due on the contract and unpaid. C. and D. answered that they signed the contract as sureties for B., that A., knowing this, had, without their knowledge or consent, given an extension of the time of payment to B., and that they were thereby released. Held, that the answer set up a good defense. Burke v. Cruger, 8 T. 66, 58 Am. Dec. 102.

A person signing a note on the back, held entitled to show that he was a surety merely. Marshall Nat. Bank v. Smith, 33 C. A. 555, 77 S. W. 237.

Where from a note it appears that one is an indorser, parol evidence to show that he is a surety is inadmissible. Barringer v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 533.

As between the original parties to a transaction, parol evidence that some of the parties were sureties held admissible. Western Bank & Trust Co. v. Gibbs (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 947.

Though all of the signers of a note appear on its face to be principals, it may be shown as between the payee and the signers that one of them signed as surety. First Nat. Bank v. Rusk Pure Ice Co. (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 89.

Parol evidence is admissible to show that one signing a note, followed by the word "surety," is a principal. Daugherty v. Wiles (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1089.

One who signs his name on the back of a note, unaccompanied by any words expressing the nature of his undertaking, is as to an indorsee before maturity for value, and without notice, a surety, and parol evidence of any lesser obligation is inadmissible. Erwin v. E. I. Du Pont De Nemours Powder Co. (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1097.

58. Effect of writing as to persons not parties thereto or privies.—The rule of evidence that where the parties to a contract have reduced their agreement to writing parol evidence shall not be received to alter or to contradict the written instrument applies to controversies between the parties and to those claiming under them. Waco Water Co. v. Sanford, 1 App. C. C. § 196. But strangers have not assented to this contract and therefore are not bound by it. Hughes v. Sandal, 25 T. 162. Thus, while the parties to a conveyance cannot impeach it on the ground that it was made for the purpose of defrauding creditors, such creditors are not bound by its recitals. Danzev v. Smith, 4 T. 401; Epperson v. Young, 8 T. 135; McClenny v. Floyd, 10 T. 159; Wilson v. Trawick, 10 T. 428; Hoeser v. Kraeka, 29 T. 450; Cameron v. Romele, 53 T. 238; Traylor v. Townsend, 61 T. 144; Lott v. Kaiser, 61 T. 665; Rubrecht v. Powers, 21 S. W. 318, 1 C. A. 282; Willis v. Byars, 21 S. W. 320, 2 C. A. 134; Bupp v. O'Conner, 21 S. W. 619, 1 C. A. 326; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Busch (Civ. App.) 21 S. W. 164.

The rule that parol testimony is inadmissible to contradict a written instrument applies only to suits between the parties thereto. Pierce v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 610.

Parol testimony held admissible to show that an insurance policy taken out by a warehouseman did not cover property stored with him belonging to another party. Pittman v. Harris, 24 C. A. 503, 59 S. W. 1121.

Plaintiff, in trespass to try title, held not bound by recitals in the deed, so that she was entitled to introduce parol testimony to explain the same. Hart v. Meredith, 27 C. A. 271, 65 S. W. 507.

Recital in a deed conveying land to a trustee that the payments were made out of the separate funds of the beneficiary held not conclusive, on the ground that it is contractual in its nature; the beneficiary not being party to the deed. Kahle v. Stone, 95 T. 106, 65 S. W. 623.

Parol proof that a deed and mortgage were one transaction held admissible against prior judgment creditor of the purchaser, though he had no notice of the transaction. Masterson v. Burnett, 27 C. A. 370, 66 S. W. 90.

Owner of land held in privity with one who mortgaged it, so neither owner nor mortgagee can vary terms of mortgage by parol evidence. W. C. Belcher Land Mortg. Co. v. Norris, 34 C. A. 111, 78 S. W. 390.

Parol evidence showing that a release by a seller of cattle did not apply to the buyer's right to sue the carrier for injuries to the cattle delivered held admissible. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Jones, 41 C. A. 327, 91 S. W. 611.

The right to vary or add to the consideration of a contract by parol is as a general rule confined to the parties to the contract. Pope v. Taliaferro, 51 C. A. 217, 115 S. W. 309.

In an action by creditors to subject to an attachment lien a tract which defendant had theretofore conveyed to his mother while insolvent, evidence that, when defendant's mother conveyed to him, there was an oral agreement that he should reconvey unless he built a house thereon and lived near her, held admissible to show good faith in reconveying. Paris Grocer Co. v. Burks, 56 C. A. 223, 120 S. W. 552.

One seeking to take benefit under another's contract is bound to the same rule which precludes him from contradicting by parol written evidence thereof. Vansickle v. Watson, 103 T. 37, 123 S. W. 112.

59. Writings collateral to issues in general.—Parol evidence held admissible to show that a note was given not to secure the maker's debt, but as a bond to secure performance by a third person of a contract between him and plaintiff. Landrum v. Stewart (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 769.

Rule as to parol evidence as applied to deeds, stated. Davis v. George, 104 T. 106, 134 S. W. 326.

60. Evidence for purpose other than varying rights or liabilities dependent upon terms of writing.—When a deed has been delivered to the grantee, parol evidence is not admissible to show that it was delivered as an escrow. East Texas Fire Ins. Co. v. Clarke, 21 S. W. 277, 1 C. A. 238.

Additional stipulations to a written contract not inconsistent therewith may be made by parol. Strauss v. Gross, 21 S. W. 305, 2 C. A. 432; Clark v. Gregory, 27 S. W. 56, 37 T. 189; Head v. Cleburne B. & L. Ass'n (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 810.

In an action against a carrier, certain testimony on the part of plaintiff held not contradictory of the written contract of shipment. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Stewart, 43 C. A. 399, 96 S. W. 106.

61. Declarations, representations, and expressions of opinion preceding contract.—Declarations, representations and expressions of opinion, which precede, but do not enter into or form a part of, the contract as finally consummated, furnish no ground for the recovery of damages to a party deceived or misled by them; for it is his own folly to rely on them when they are not embodied in and made a part of the contract. Wooters v. I. & G. N. R. R. Co., 54 T. 294.

62. Showing discharge or performance of obligation—Grounds for admission of extrinsic evidence.—Evidence held not inadmissible on the ground that it varies the terms of a written contract of insurance agency. Lea v. Union Cent. Life Ins. Co., 17 C. A. 451, 43 S. W. 927.

63. — Agreement as to performance or enforcement.—Matters of consideration may be shown by parol evidence. Norris v. Graham (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 575.

In an action on a note, proof of a contemporaneous parol agreement that the payee would credit on the note a certain debt due the maker held inadmissible as varying a written contract. Balley v. Rockwall County Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 530.

Where reciprocal orders for goods were executed and delivered at the same time, parol evidence was admissible to show that they were intended to show that delivery of goods to one was to operate as a satisfaction for the delivery of goods under the other. Adams v. Garner (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 896.

Certain testimony held admissible to show a subsequent parol agreement as against the objection that it tended to vary the terms of a written agreement. Old River Rice Irr. Co. v. Stubbs (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 154.

64. — Discharge without performance.—It is competent to show by parol that a written contract has been abandoned. Henry v. Phillips, 105 T. 459, 151 S. W. 533.

65. — Estoppel or waiver.—Where the grantee in a power of attorney mortgages certain property described therein, without authority, a ratification of such mortgage by the grantor may be shown by parol evidence of acts which would operate as an estoppel in pais. First Nat. Bank v. Hicks, 24 C. A. 269, 59 S. W. 842.

Permitting oral misrepresentations to operate as an estoppel held not to contradict the language of a deed. Mars v. Morris, 48 C. A. 216, 106 S. W. 430.

In an action by the holder of an accepted draft against the drawer, held, that under statutory provisions the plaintiff could not show defendant's waiver by parol evidence. Seguin Milling & Power Co. v. Guinn (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 456.

66. — Payment.—Where a note is returned to an indorser stamped "paid" by the bank, it does not prevent an explanation of the circumstances under which it was stamped. McShan v. Watlington (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 722.

RULE 21. CONTEMPORANEOUS WRITTEN AGREEMENTS RELATING TO THE SAME SUBJECT ARE TO BE CONSTRUED TOGETHER, AND SEVERAL DISTINCT STIPULATIONS ARE TO BE CONSTRUED SO AS TO GIVE EFFECT TO ALL. A PRIOR OR CONTEMPORANEOUS PAROL AGREEMENT CONSISTENT WITH AND FORMING A PART OF THE CONTRACT IS TO BE CONSTRUED WITH THE WRITTEN PART THEREOF

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1. Connection of contemporaneous writings. | 12. ——— Contracts of suretyship. |
| 2. Construction of writing as a whole. | 13. ——— Contracts of insurance. |
| 3. Prior and contemporaneous collateral parol agreements in general. | 14. ——— Contracts of carriage. |
| 4. ——— Judicial proceedings. | 15. Completeness of writing. |
| 5. ——— Leases. | 16. ——— Leases. |
| 6. ——— Mortgages, security or trust deed. | 17. ——— Contracts of employment. |
| 7. ——— Contracts of employment. | 18. ——— Contracts for buildings and other works. |
| 8. ——— Contracts for buildings and other works. | 19. ——— Contracts of sale. |
| 9. ——— Sale or exchange of real property and deeds. | 20. ——— Contracts of carriage. |
| 10. ——— Sale of personal property. | 21. ——— Releases. |
| 11. ——— Bills and notes or indorsement thereof. | 22. Relation of oral agreement to writing. |
| | 23. ——— Inducement to make writing. |
| | 24. ——— Merger of separate agreements. |

1. Connection of contemporaneous writings.—See, also, notes under Rule 26.

While the two contracts are in their terms independent contracts, expressing no relation to each other, each binding the obligor therein to perform unconditionally, and each at a different time from the other, it is competent for the defendant to show their connection and dependency, and that it would be inequitable for the plaintiff to enforce a specific performance of the first contract as an independent covenant. Younger v. Welch, 22 T. 417.

A writing may refer as a part of itself to another contract, written or oral, when the latter may be proved by writing or parol, according to the fact. Preston v. Breedlove, 36 T. 96; Thomas v. Hammond, 47 T. 42.

A purchase of goods made by L. of G. on credit, the contract in relation thereto being upon four separate sheets of paper; a fifth sheet of paper had on it a writing as follows: "I will be responsible for the amount bought by my brother L.," and signed by the brother of L. The five papers were similar in character and bore the same date. Held, that evidence of the surrounding circumstances was admissible to explain the subject-matter of the several writings and their connection with each other and the intention of the parties. Looney v. Le Geirse, 2 App. C. C. § 531.

In negotiations for a loan the borrower gave his note for a sum of money and executed an absolute deed to the agent of the lender for a tract of land. It was held that the two instruments with attendant circumstances evidenced a loan. Hart v. Eppstein, 71 T. 752, 10 S. W. 85; Gray v. Shelby, 83 T. 405, 18 S. W. 809.

Exclusion from evidence of a collateral written agreement stating the terms of the contract of sale and signed by the salesman of one of the parties, held reversible error. Brenck v. Eastern Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 329.

In an action on an insurance policy, a clause attached thereto, and mentioned therein, was improperly excluded. Hartford Fire Ins. Co. v. Post, 25 C. A. 428, 62 S. W. 140.

Parol proof held admissible to show a deed and mortgage constituted one transaction. Masterson v. Burnett, 27 C. A. 370, 66 S. W. 90.

Contemporaneous writing, modifying a written order for goods, held admissible. Eastern Mfg. Co. v. Brenck, 32 C. A. 97, 73 S. W. 538.

Where a contract of sale and certain other contracts were executed on the same day, and formed a part of the same transaction with the notes sued on, they were all admissible in evidence to show the entire transaction. Kammann v. McCormick (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 1147.

2. Construction of writing as a whole.—See notes at end of Title 16.

3. Prior and contemporaneous collateral parol agreements in general.—Parol representations or agreements made at the time of subscriptions for stock in incorporated companies and inconsistent with the written terms of the subscription are inadmissible to vary the terms of the written contract, unless fraud or mistake is pleaded and shown. Clegg v. Galveston Hotel Co., 1 App. C. C. § 621.

All preliminary negotiations, whether written or unwritten, which have led to the execution of a contract, are deemed to have been merged in it, and the writing which consummates the contract must be taken as expressing the views of the parties. While contemporaneous writings may be considered in construing a contract, they cannot be considered for the purpose of showing that the parties did not agree upon a stipulation which purports to be the final and only contract between the parties. Milliken v. Callahan Co., 69 T. 205, 6 S. W. 681.

Statements made prior to making of contract, providing that it contains all representations between the parties, are inadmissible in evidence. A. J. Anderson Electric Co. v. Cleburne Water, Ice & Lighting Co. (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 929.

Evidence showing circumstances at time of making written contract, not contradicting or varying the same, held admissible. Id.

Proof of a parol contemporaneous agreement held inadmissible where contract is unambiguous. Saunders' Ex'rs v. Weekes (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 33.

Where a railroad subscription authorized location of depot at any point within a specified territory, parol evidence was inadmissible in the absence of proof of mistake to establish an agreement to locate it on a specified lot. Williams v. Dallas, C. & S. W. Ry. Co., 43 C. A. 609, 96 S. W. 1099.

In a suit to enforce specific performance of a land contract, parol evidence is inadmissible to supply facts not shown by the written evidence, which were necessary in order to make the contract enforceable. Dillard v. Sanders (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 108.

Testimony held inadmissible, in an action to recover land, to vary the terms of a writing. Teague v. Ricks, 45 C. A. 226, 100 S. W. 794.

A contract of employment held not to contain all the terms of the agreement, and hence could be varied by parol evidence. G. A. Kelly Plow Co. v. London (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 974.

Testimony as to contemporaneous parol agreements, which in no manner vary or contradict written contracts, is admissible. Kostoryz v. Leary (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 456.

A contemporaneous parol agreement cannot be set up to vary the terms of a written contract. Murray Co. v. Putman (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 631.

Statement of what is necessary for varying a written contract by a contemporaneous verbal agreement. Sims v. Shafer (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 702.

An escrow agreement held unambiguous, so that parol evidence was not admissible to add to its terms. Cress v. Holloway (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 209.

Parol evidence of consideration of written contract consisting of contemporaneous agreement at variance with contract held inadmissible. Crooker v. National Phonograph Co. (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 647.

An agreement, having been prior to execution of a written subscription, may not be shown by parol to have been part of its consideration, though it might be so shown, had it been contemporaneous with such execution. Stith v. Graham (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 661.

The obligations of both parties being stated in a written subscription, parol evidence of another agreement, not performed, and consequent failure of consideration, is inadmissible. Id.

Parol evidence is admissible to show that a part of a consideration of a note given for the price of goods consisted of a parol agreement of the payee to take back certain unsalable goods and credit their invoice price on the note. Clayton v. Western Nat. Wall Paper Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 695.

In the absence of fraud, accident, or mistake, a parol agreement may not be ingrafted on a written contract clear in its terms. Magnolia Warehouse & Storage Co. v. Davis & Blackwell (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 670.

4. — Judicial proceedings.—Parol testimony as to the agreement under which a judgment was rendered held not inconsistent with the recital of the judgment. Jones v. Robb, 35 C. A. 263, 80 S. W. 395.

5. — Leases.—Evidence of contemporaneous oral understanding at the time of taking a lease of county lands, as to a renewal thereof, held inadmissible. Slaughter v. De Vitt, 30 C. A. 539, 71 S. W. 616.

Parol evidence held inadmissible to show an agreement between landlord and tenant as to proceeds of sale of premises leased under a written lease. Boone v. Mierow, 33 C. A. 295, 76 S. W. 772.

Lessee cannot by verbal reservation limit effect of clause in lease exempting lessor from certain liabilities. Woodward v. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co., 35 C. A. 14, 79 S. W. 896.

In an action on a lease, certain evidence held inadmissible, because varying the terms of the written contract. Moore-Cortes Canal Co. v. Gyle, 36 C. A. 442, 82 S. W. 350.

A provision in a written lease that subletting should not affect the tenant's liability for rent could not be varied by any contemporaneous parol agreement. Pressler v. Barrera (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 435.

6. — Mortgages, security or trust deed.—Evidence of prior representations that a mortgagor should be released on sale of the property and assumption of the debt by the purchaser held inadmissible as tending to contradict the written contract in an action to foreclose a mortgage against property so sold. People's Building, Loan & Savings Ass'n v. Ghio (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 560.

Evidence of an oral agreement held not admissible to vary a deed of trust. Cotulla v. Barlow (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 294.

In trespass to try title to land covered by a deed of trust executed to secure a note, where the deed refers to no other indebtedness than that evidenced by the note, and it was not alleged that any other or future advances should be included therein, it could not be shown that it was agreed that other indebtedness should be secured thereby. Openshaw v. Dean (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 989.

A valid written contract, such as a deed of trust, cannot be varied or contradicted by a parol contemporaneous agreement. Rudolph v. Price (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1037.

7. — Contracts of employment.—Where a contract of employment as written provided for payment of $333.33 per month, parol evidence is admissible to show that the contract was signed with that payment in to please the employé's wife, and that it was agreed that the employé would return $400 at the end of the year so as to make the payment $300 a month, since the contract did not contain all the terms of the agreement. G. A. Kelley Plow Co. v. London (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 974.

8. — Contracts for buildings and other works.—A contract for decorating held not subject to variance by parol proof that it was agreed that plaintiff's manager should supervise the work. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Paris, 39 C. A. 424, 87 S. W. 724.

9. — Sale or exchange of real property and deeds.—W. and H. entered into a written contract by which W. agreed to convey to H. a tract of land for which H. agreed to pay a certain price. Held, that evidence of a parol agreement, made at the same time, that H. was also to pay to W. an additional consideration, was inadmissible. Wright v. Hays, 34 T. 253.

Parol evidence held inadmissible to show that under a deed grantee was entitled to right of way. Kruegel v. Nitschman, 15 C. A. 641, 40 S. W. 68.

An action against a grantor for wrongful withholding of possession by one without title cannot be maintained on a parol agreement contemporaneous with the warranty deed. Voss v. Hoffman (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 544.

Parol evidence held admissible to show that mortgagee, on accepting a deed of the mortgaged premises from the mortgagor, understood that the boundaries thereof were in dispute and that it was understood the former was to take only the interest of the latter as it might later be decided. Colonial & U. S. Mortg. Co. v. Tubbs (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 623.

Where owners of adjoining lands settle their conflicting claims as to the boundary by the execution of a deed, such deed cannot be contradicted by evidence of a previous parol agreement. Lackey v. Bennett (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 651.

A grantee in a deed held entitled to show by parol a condition subsequent resting in parol and its nonperformance by the grantee as against his attaching creditor. Paris Grocer Co. v. Burke (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 1135.

That a deed purporting on its face to convey absolutely certain real estate was executed under an agreement that it should not have any effect as a deed may be shown by parol evidence. Ivy v. Ivy, 51 C. A. 397, 112 S. W. 110.

A deed, conveying in fee land to a railroad without qualification or limitation on the right of the railroad to enjoy and use the land in any way beneficial to it, may not be restricted by parol evidence of an agreement that the land should be used only for railroad purposes, and that the agreement formed a part of the consideration influencing the conveyance. Sutor v. International & G. N. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 943.

It is presumed that the whole contract of the parties to a contract for the sale and purchase of real estate is embodied in the written instrument, and parol testimony to establish another agreement is inadmissible. Stidham v. Laurie (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 1082.

10. — Sale of personal property.—Suit was instituted 10th January, 1861, on the following instrument: "Due J. K. one hundred sheep of the following description, * * * for value received of him this 28th of November, 1860." Held, that under the contract the sheep were to be delivered within a reasonable time, and parol evidence was inadmissible to show an agreement that the sheep were not to be delivered until spring. Self v. King, 23 T. 552.

There was a written agreement between the parties that one would buy a specified number of beeves from the other, for an amount to be paid for each beef delivered. The number was delivered with the exception of a few retained at the request of the purchaser. The latter sued for damages for breach of contract, setting up a contemporaneous parol agreement that the price paid for the cattle was so much for them, and so much in consideration that the vendor would use his influence to procure business for the vendee, and send him cattle in the future. The terms of the written contract were plain and unambiguous, and there was no allegation of fraud or mistake. Held, such contemporaneous parol agreement varied the terms of the written instrument, and should have been excluded by the court. Belcher v. Mulhall, 57 T. 17.

A parol agreement that part of a sum of money promised to be paid in an obligation in writing could be discharged otherwise than in money is not valid. Roundtree v. Gilroy, 57 T. 176.

Parol evidence held inadmissible to vary the terms of a written bill of sale. McFarland v. McGill, 16 C. A. 298, 41 S. W. 402.

Parol evidence held inadmissible to contradict written contract. Evans-Snyder-Buel Co. v. Stribling (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 40.

Where defendant contracted in writing to deliver a certain quantity of pecans at a specified place, time and price, evidence that such pecans were to be grown in certain territory would add to the contract, and is inadmissible. Hopkins v. Woldert Grocery Co. (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 63.

A written warranty on the sale of a machine excludes any proof of a different parol one. J. I. Case Threshing Mach. Co. v. Hall, 32 C. A. 214, 73 S. W. 835.

Where a contract for the purchase of wagon gears was in writing, and was merely an order to ship wagons, without any special time for shipment noted, evidence that the buyers told the agent to whom the order was given that it was special, and that he had promised to get the wagons to them in about three weeks, was inadmissible as varying the contract. Fish Bros. Wagon Co. v. G. F. Adams & Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 704.

11. — Bills and notes or indorsement thereof.—When a bill payable at a day certain is presented for acceptance and dishonored, the payee may sue the drawer immediately, and a plea by the latter, setting up an oral agreement made previous to or contemporaneous with the drawing of the bill that the drawer shall not be liable to pay the amount of the bill until the time stipulated, is bad for the reason that it proposes to vary, by oral evidence, the legal effect of a contract in writing. Rockmore v. Davenport, 14 T. 602, 65 Am. Dec. 132. See Pope v. Graham, 44 T. 196.

In defense to a suit brought by an indorsee upon a certain promissory note, the defendant pleaded that the note was given for the purchase money of certain lots of land, and that at the time of his purchase of the land there was an outstanding vendor's lien on the same for part of the purchase money, and that it was understood between him and his vendor, the payee in the notes, that the incumbrance should be paid off by the payee before the maturity of the notes, which was not done, and in consequence of which he, the defendant, was compelled to pay off the same to keep the land from being sold under the execution; that the notes were assigned to the plaintiff after maturity, and with notice of their dishonor, and he asked to have the amount of the vendor's lien deducted from the plaintiff's demand. Held, that a verbal contract collateral to and contemporaneous with the written contract was valid, although it referred to the same subject-matter, and might affect the rights of the parties under the written contract, and that the answer set up a good defense pro tanto. Preston v. Breedlove, 36 T. 96.

Suit was brought by G. against R. to recover upon the following instrument in writing: "$433.33. Due G. G., on demand, four hundred and thirty-three dollars and thirty-three cents for work building stone fence. This July 5, 1879." The defendant answered that prior to the making of the instrument sued on there was a parol agreement by which it was agreed that $400 of the sum due should be paid with two alternate land certificates, each for 640 acres of land. Held, that a demurrer to the answer was properly sustained. Roundtree v. Gilroy, 57 T. 176.

Suit was brought on a note before its maturity, and plaintiff was permitted to prove by parol that it was the understanding of the parties, at the time of the execution of the note, that, upon the happening of a certain event, the note was to become due, and that said event had transpired before the institution of the suit. Held error to admit the evidence. Floyd v. Brawner, 1 App. C. C. § 135.

An answer to a suit on two protested drafts, drawn by the defendant, which sets up under oath that at the time they were given it was understood that defendant was not to be held liable upon them, but that plaintiff was to look to another for payment, and that the drafts were intended only as a memoranda or vouchers, presents no defense to the action. Todd v. Roberts, 1 C. A. 8, 20 S. W. 722.

In an action on a note, an answer setting up a contemporaneous oral contract held not an attempt to vary by parol the terms of the note. Henry v. McCardell, 15 C. A. 497, 40 S. W. 172.

Where there is no ambiguity in notes sued on, or any fraud or mistake alleged, an agreement for a different mode of payment than that expressed cannot be shown. Davis v. Converse (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 910.

The maker of a note may show by parol that as part of the transaction in which the note was given the parties made a collateral agreement, which the payee has breached to the maker's damage. Hansen v. Yturria (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 795.

In an action by a payee against a maker on a note, held that equity would allow the maker to show that the note was not intended as a full settlement between the parties, but that it was agreed that there should be a further settlement, in which the maker should have the benefit of certain credits. Allen v. Herrick Hardware Co., 55 C. A. 249, 118 S. W. 1157.

A verbal agreement between the indorser and indorsee of a note that the former will not be held bound by his indorsement is no defense to an action thereon for the reason that evidence thereof cannot be offered to defeat the action. Wizig v. Belsert (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 954.

Where promissory notes given in payment of bank stock are absolute promises to pay in money, it is not permissible to vary their terms by contemporaneous parol agreements, to the effect that the maker should have the option to satisfy the notes by surrendering the bank stock, and for the same reason a plea of failure of consideration to an assessment on the stock must fail. Nixon v. First State Bank (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 882.

An oral promise by the payee to the surety on a note, when executed, not to enforce its payment against him, does not affect the surety's obligation. Fambro v. Keith, 57 C. A. 302, 122 S. W. 40.

In an action on notes, evidence of contemporaneous agreement varying medium and time of payment held inadmissible. Crooker v. National Phonograph Co. (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 647.

In a suit on a note, a plea of a parol agreement by plaintiff held properly stricken. Long v. Riley (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 79.

12. — Contracts of suretyship.—A bond given by a claimant of property levied on cannot be varied by showing a parol agreement placing the valuation of the property at a less sum than stated therein. Bruel v. Leggitt & Meyers Tobacco Co., 29 C. A. 405, 68 S. W. 718.

13. — Contracts of insurance.—Evidence to show an implied agreement to waive a clause clearly written on the face of a policy of fire insurance, made prior to the issuance of the policy, was held inadmissible to contradict its terms. Keller v. Liverpool & L. & G. Ins. Co., 27 C. A. 102, 65 S. W. 695.

14. — Contracts of carriage.—In action for delay in delivering a death message, parol evidence that the message was not to be delivered to the person in whose care it was sent held admissible. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Bryant, 35 C. A. 442, 80 S. W. 406.

A written contract held not to prevent the shipper of cattle from showing the terms of an oral contract under which the cattle were loaded and were to be shipped. McNeill v. Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 32.

A written contract between a carrier and shipper for the shipment of cattle could not, in the absence of fraud or mistake, be added to by parol evidence of a prior agreement that the cattle should be delivered at a certain packing house. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Griffith (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 225.

15. Completeness of writing.—Where it is not alleged or shown that there was fraud or mistake in a written contract, or that it differed from the agreement of the parties, it is error to submit to the jury the question of an oral contract based on conversations between plaintiff and defendant's agent. Cotton States Bldg. Co. v. Rawlins (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 805.

Application stated of rule that, where parties reduce their contracts to writing, the writing is to be taken as embodying all previous negotiations about its terms, which cannot be varied by parol. Allen v. Herrick Hardware Co., 55 C. A. 249, 118 S. W. 1157.

The petition in an action for breach of a contract held not subject to exception in certain respects. Jef Chaison Townsite Co. v. Beaumont Sawmill Co. (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 714.

Oral contract held admissible, where it was but part of a comprehensive, unconflicting whole. Ross v. Head (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1077.

Where a writing evidencing a contract is not complete, a separate parol agreement as to any matter on which the writing is silent, and not inconsistent with it, may be proved. Magnolia Warehouse & Storage Co. v. Davis & Blackwell (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 670.

Where persons enter into a contract which is entirely verbal and a part only is subsequently reduced to writing, parol evidence as to such part is admissible, not to vary the writing, but to show the original contract in its entirety. American Rio Grande Land & Irrigation Co. v. Mercedes Plantation Co. (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 286.

16. — Leases.—Where a lease contained no provision as to the length of time for which the premises were leased, the length of time for which it was executed could be shown by parol. Brincefield v. Allen, 25 C. A. 253, 60 S. W. 1010.

17. — Contracts of employment.—Testimony held not to vary the terms of a written contract, and hence admissible in a suit on the same. Jenkins v. Darling (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 931.

18. — Contracts for buildings and other works.—A contract for excavation, which provides that the contractor shall furnish necessary appliances, that the earth shall be transported to points that have been indicated, for a specified sum per cubic yard, contemplates matters not embodied in the contract, and a parol agreement requiring the owner to furnish cars for the transportation of earth is admissible. Magnolia Warehouse & Storage Co. v. Davis & Blackwell (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 670.

19. — Contracts of sale.—Parol evidence as to the size of tank cars to be used in filling a contract for the sale of oil, which did not provide the size of the cars held admissible. Sherman Oil & Cotton Co. v. Dallas Oil & Refining Co. (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 961.

Where a contract is incomplete within itself, in that it provides that certain information is furnished by the purchaser to the seller after which shipment was to be made, parol evidence is admissible to supplement the contract. San Jacinto Rice Co. v. A. M. Lockett & Co. (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1046.

20. — Contracts of carriage.—In an action for breach of an excursion transportation contract, parol evidence held inadmissible to add a stipulation to the written contract that plaintiff was to be carried to his destination in the same car. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Harrison, 97 T. 611, 80 S. W. 1139.

21. — Releases.—Parol evidence held not admissible to show that a promise to give the releasor employment was part of the consideration for a written release. Rapid Transit Ry. Co. v. Smith, 93 T. 553, 86 S. W. 322.

22. Relation of oral agreement to writing.—Evidence of witness as to terms made on receipt of telegraphic message for delivery held not inadmissible, as tending to vary the terms of the written contract as shown by the message. Robinson v. Western Union Tel. Co. (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 1053.

Where deed conveyed land to be used for school purposes, parol evidence is admissible to show agreement that school house to be erected thereon was not to revert with land on condition broken. Green v. Gresham, 21 C. A. 601, 53 S. W. 382.

In an action to recover on a warranty contained in a deed, where the same was not made by defendant, but at his request, held, that parol evidence as to the agreement between plaintiff and defendant was admissible. Graves v. Pflueger, 26 C. A. 488, 63 S. W. 651.

Policy of life insurance having been rejected by insured as not complying with the contract, parol evidence of the terms of the contract was admissible. Pacific Mut. Ins. Co. v. Shaffer, 30 C. A. 313, 70 S. W. 566.

Where a written contract made no express provision as to times of payments, but certain times might be inferred, a parol agreement fixing the same times may be proved. Thompson v. Fitzgerald & Ray (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 334.

23. — Inducement to make writing.—It is said there is no rule which precludes the party from asserting and proving by oral testimony a distinct and valid parol contract, made at the same time and not reduced to writing, which is not in conflict with the provisions of the written contract, and which operated as an inducement to the party to enter into it. Ackerman v. Bundren, 1 App. C. C. § 1306.

Parol evidence is admissible to show an independent agreement, made as an inducement to a written contract, notwithstanding the written contract contains no reference to such agreement. Downey v. Hatter (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 32.

A stockholder of a college corporation, who is sued after its insolvency for tuition owing the college, cannot show a parol agreement, contemporaneous with his stock subscription, that the stock should be received in payment of tuition. Roach v. Burgess (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 803.

Where an independent parol agreement has been made as an inducement to the making of a written contract, the oral agreement may be proved and enforced, though not referred to in the written contract. New York Life Ins. Co. v. Thomas, 47 C. A. 149, 104 S. W. 1074.

24. — Merger of separate agreements.—All preliminary negotiations, whether written or unwritten, which have led to the execution of a contract, are deemed to have been merged in it, and the writing which consummates the contract must be taken as expressing the views of the parties. While contemporaneous writings may be considered, in construing a contract, when they are reciprocally dependent, and the meaning of one cannot be wrought out without considering the other, they cannot be considered for the purpose of showing that the parties did not agree as expressed in the writing. Milliken v. Callahan Co., 69 T. 205, 6 S. W. 681.

An itemized account of material and labor used in the negotiation of a contract is merged in a subsequent written contract, and plaintiff suing for the contract price could not introduce such bill of items unless the defendant, resisting payment, had offered some part of its contents; there being no ambiguity or uncertainty in the written contract, nor fraud or mistake alleged as basis for such testimony. Alamo Mills Co. v. Hercules Iron Works, 1 C. A. 683, 22 S. W. 1097.

A contract reduced to writing merges all prior and contemporaneous negotiations, and to the written contract alone can the court refer to determine the rights and obligations of the parties. Kansas City Packing Box Co. v. Spies (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 432.

RULE 22. WHERE THE MEANING OF THE WORDS IN A WRITTEN INSTRUMENT ARE DOUBTFUL, IT MAY BE READ IN THE LIGHT OF SURROUNDING CIRCUMSTANCES, AND PAROL EVIDENCE OF CUSTOM AND USAGE IS ADMISSIBLE TO SHOW ITS MEANING

1. Grounds for admission of extrinsic evidence.
2. Nature of ambiguity or uncertainty in instrument in general.
3. — Deeds.
4. — Contracts in general.
5. — Contracts of sale.
6. — Bills and notes.
7. — Contracts of insurance.
8. — Receipts and releases.
9. Patent ambiguity.
10. Latent ambiguity.
11. Custom controlling construction.
12. — Contradicting, varying or adding to terms of written instrument.
13. Meaning of words, phrases, signs or abbreviations.
14. Relation and application of language to facts in general.
15. Identification of parties.
16. — Personal, official or representative capacity.
17. — Persons having the same name.
18. — Mistake or variance in name.
19. Identification of subject-matter—In conveyances, contracts and writings in general.
20. — Of real property in general.
21. — Application of description to subject-matter.
22. — Property or interest included.
23. — Boundaries.
24. — Sufficiency of description to admit parol evidence.
25. — Reference to other instruments.
26. — In sale of personal property.
27. — Of debt or obligation collateral to security.
28. Showing intent of parties as to subject-matter.
29. — In construction of deeds in general.
30. — In description of property.
31. — In extent or interest conveyed.
32. In reservations or exceptions.
33. Showing purpose of writing.
34. Showing mode of performance of obligation.

1. Grounds for admission of extrinsic evidence.—In general, parol evidence is not admissible to vary a written contract; but such evidence is admissible to explain an ambiguity, or to explain a writing, when the explanation is necessary, and the evidence is consistent with the writing, and to ascertain the intention of the parties, when doubtful, or to explain the language or terms used. Shaw v. Parvin, 1 App. C. C. § 366, citing Deweese v. Lockhart, 1 T. 535; Franklin v. Mooney, 2 T. 452; Stamper v. Johnson, 3 T. 1; Self v. King, 28 T. 552; Hamman v. Keigwin, 39 T. 34; Bender v. Pryor, 31 T. 341; McCormick v. Lennox, 1 App. C. C. § 550; Meyers v. Maverick (Civ. App.) 28 S. W. 716; Ginnuth v. Blankenship (Civ. App.) 28 S. W. 828; Brenneman v. Bush (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 699; Kellogg v. Iron City Bank (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 897.

When there is no ambiguity in the terms of a written contract, parol evidence is inadmissible; and when the meaning of ambiguous terms has been supplied by parol evidence, the court must judge of the whole document in subordination to its legal sense as thus completed. The contract cannot be varied; its obscure expressions may be explained, but this not for the purpose of moulding, but of developing, the true sense. First Nat. Bank of Denison v. Randall, 1 App. C. C. § 974.

As to the construction of wills, see Moss v. Helsley, 60 T. 426. Parol evidence is admissible to show the surrounding circumstances of the parties, and of the subject-matter of the contract, when the language of the instrument leaves its meaning doubtful or extrinsic facts in evidence raise a doubt in respect to its application. Haldeman v. Chambers, 19 T. 1; Goldman v. Blum, 58 T. 630.

Where there is no ambiguity in the language used in the deed, evidence should not be admitted that words were intended to convey a meaning different from that which they ordinarily bear, and which the law, in the connection in which they appear, attaches to them. When the controversy as to construction of words is between the original parties to the instrument, a mutual mistake may be shown. Evidence of a mistake cannot be admitted to affect the rights of a subsequent purchaser for value without notice. Farley v. Deslonde, 69 T. 458, 6 S. W. 786.

The records in a cause, including the pleadings, are admissible in evidence to aid the court in construing the judgment, if ambiguous. Texas Savings-Loan Ass'n v. Banker, 26 C. A. 107, 61 S. W. 724.

Parol evidence of the circumstances of the testator held admissible to show the intent of the testator, where ambiguously expressed in his will. Lenz v. Sens, 27 C. A. 442, 66 S. W. 110.

Evidence held inadmissible upon the issue of whether or not an ordinance prohibiting the running of trains at more than a certain rate of speed applied to a certain part of the city. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Matthews, 28 C. A. 92, 66 S. W. 588.

A letter being clear and requiring no explanation, evidence as to what the writer's intention was in writing the same was inadmissible. Robertson v. Warren, 45 C. A. 584, 100 S. W. 805.

The rule, with reference to mutual standards in the construction of ambiguous words and clauses in contracts is subject to the modification that an unambiguous writing will not be overthrown by resort to parol proof of intent. West v. Herman, 47 C. A. 131, 104 S. W. 428.

Where certain instruments, though tending to some extent to show a sale when taken together, were ambiguous on their face without other evidence to show the nature of the transaction, extrinsic evidence was proper to explain the ambiguity. Brazelton & Johnson v. J. I. Campbell Co., 49 C. A. 218, 108 S. W. 770.

Where a will was not ambiguous, extrinsic evidence that testator required plaintiff to execute a will bequeathing the property devised to him by testator to another, after plaintiff's death, held inadmissible. St. Paul's Sanitarium v. Freeman (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 443.

Where a written contract of sale stipulated for delivery as soon as possible, certain evidence held admissible. Berry Bros. v. Fairbanks, Morse & Co., 51 C. A. 558, 112 S. W. 427.

Where the terms of a written contract are indefinite, proof of the surrounding circumstances is admissible. Id.

A judgment held ambiguous, so that extrinsic evidence should have been admitted to show its real meaning. La Brie v. McKim, 56 C. A. 322, 120 S. W. 1083.

Where a written contract is ambiguous, parol evidence is admissible to show the agreement of the parties. Schwantowsky v. Dykowsky (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 373, 377.

A will being unambiguous, parol testimony is inadmissible to show testatrix's intention. Cottrell v. Moreman (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 124.

Where a contract is unambiguous, parol evidence is not admissible to show the construction placed thereon by the parties. Moore v. Studebaker Bros. Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 570.

The court, in construing a will, must ascertain the intention of testator from the terms of the will, if possible, and only in a case of ambiguity can resort be had to extrinsic evidence. Johnson v. Avery (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1156.

Parol evidence is inadmissible to show the construction placed on an unambiguous written contract by the parties, where the intent may be ascertained therefrom. Henry v. Phillips, 105 T. 459, 151 S. W. 533.

Where defendant wrote on his check, "Given in full payment of account for the months of June and July," it became an unambiguous contract which could not be contradicted by showing that it was a full settlement of the balance upon the account for previous months. Bergman Produce Co. v. Brown (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1102.

2. Nature of ambiguity or uncertainty in instrument in general.—Where the original field notes of a survey are so indefinite that the survey cannot be located therefrom, extrinsic evidence is admissible. Wilkins v. Clawson, 37 C. A. 162, 83 S. W. 732.

3. — Deeds.—An ambiguity in a deed shown by extraneous evidence may be explained. Minor v. Powers (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 710.

Parol evidence held admissible to explain an ambiguity arising in applying a description in a deed to the land. Clark v. Regan (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 169.

A description in a deed, in connection with a plat therein contained, construed as not ambiguous, and parol evidence was inadmissible to determine the location of the land conveyed. Chew v. Zweib, 29 C. A. 311, 69 S. W. 207.

Testimony of grantee held admissible to explain ambiguity in deed. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Payne (Civ. App.) 104 S. W. 1077.

4. — Contracts in general.—Where the parties to a contract have used words which have an ordinary meaning free from ambiguity, and no technical meaning is shown, extrinsic evidence is inadmissible to show that the parties used such terms in a sense different from their ordinary meaning. Reagan v. Bruff, 49 C. A. 226, 108 S. W. 185.

5. — Contracts of sale.—Parol evidence held incompetent, as contradicting a plain and unambiguous written contract. Curtis v. Kelley, 24 C. A. 540, 60 S. W. 265.

Contract held complete and unambiguous, so as not to justify explanation by parol evidence. Jones v. Hanna, 24 C. A. 550, 60 S. W. 279.

Contract for sale of corn "on Kansas City weights and grades" held ambiguous, and open to parol construction. Fort Grain Co. v. Hubby & Gorman, 35 C. A. 65, 79 S. W. 363.

A clear and unambiguous written agreement to take property "subject to all taxes due thereon" is not subject to construction or explanatory testimony to show an agreement to assume the same. Toepperwein v. City of San Antonio (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 699.

A contract for sale of land and the deed held so ambiguous as to permit evidence of a parol agreement for a survey and an abatement of the price for shortage in quantity. Schwantowsky v. Dykowsky (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 373, 377.

6. — Bills and notes.—Parol evidence held inadmissible as to a buyer's construction of the phrase "one and two years old short-horn heifers." Harris v. First Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 311.

Terms of a note held sufficiently ambiguous to warrant parol proof of a contract that the note should not bear interest. Couturie v. Roensch (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 413.

Parol evidence is admissible to show that a note due "90 — after date" is due 90 days after date. Rawls v. Pool (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 247.

7. — Contracts of insurance.—Where an application for life insurance provided that no statement made to or by the agent not contained in the application shall be considered as brought to the notice of the company, and that the policy was a "G A D 20 Pay," testimony as to representations by the soliciting agent that the policy would mature in 13 years, after which insured, would be entitled to an annual dividend, was admissible; the quoted expression being ambiguous. Stengel v. Colorado Nat. Life Assur. Co. (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 1193.

8. — Receipts and releases.—A release held not ambiguous, so as to allow a parol evidence that it did not cover certain matters. Moore v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 30 C. A. 266, 69 S. W. 997.

9. Patent ambiguity.—A patent ambiguity renders a provision inoperative and void. Linney v. Wood, 66 T. 22, 17 S. W. 244.

Where the description of land in a contract for the sale thereof contained a patent ambiguity, it could not be aided by parol. Cammack v. Prather (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 354.

Power of attorney to sell land held not patently ambiguous in its description of the land. Kane v. Sholars, 41 C. A. 154, 90 S. W. 937.

Deed held to show a patent ambiguity which could not be aided by parol evidence other than by showing what land was occupied by person named therein. Gorham v. Settegast, 44 C. A. 254, 98 S. W. 665.

A patent ambiguity in a contract cannot be aided by parol evidence, and where the written instrument does not evidence a contract without the aid of parol evidence, it cannot be enforced. State v. Racine Sattley Co. (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 400.

10. Latent ambiguity.—An error in matter of description causing a latent ambiguity may be corrected by parol proof. Early v. Sterrett, 18 T. 113; Steinbeck v. Stone, 53 T. 382; Rogers v. McLaren, 53 T. 423; Knowles v. Torbitt, 53 T. 557. And the question should be submitted to the jury with appropriate instructions as a mixed question of law and fact. Brown v. Chambers, 63 T. 131. See Art. 1110.

A latent ambiguity is developed by extraneous evidence and must be explained by such evidence. Linney v. Wood, 66 T. 22, 17 S. W. 244.

Latent ambiguities in a contract may be explained by parol evidence. Eckford v. Berry (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 840; Ellis v. Cochran, 28 S. W. 243, 8 C. A. 510; Meyers v. Maverick (Civ. App.) 28 S. W. 716; Swank v. Railway Co., 23 S. W. 249, 1 C. A. 675; Railway Co. v. Pittman, 23 S. W. 318, 4 C. A. 167; Ford v. Summers (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 459; Strauss v. Gross, 21 S. W. 305, 2 C. A. 432; Green v. Barnes, 9 C. A. 660, 29 S. W. 645; Barclay v. Stuart, 23 S. W. 799, 4 C. A. 685; Myers v. Maverick (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 1083.

Parol evidence is admissible to explain or remove a latent ambiguity in the description of the land conveyed by a sheriff's deed. Frazier v. Waco Bldg. Ass'n, 25 C. A. 476, 61 S. W. 132.

Evidence in trespass to try title held to show a latent ambiguity in the field notes of a survey, authorizing parol evidence to explain it and fix the boundaries. Warner v. Sapp (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 125.

Deed held to contain latent ambiguity which might be aided by parol testimony. Gorham v. Settegast, 44 C. A. 254, 98 S. W. 665.

Omission of the closing call in the description of a deed held a latent ambiguity which could be explained by parol or extrinsic evidence. Snow v. Gallup, 57 C. A. 572, 123 S. W. 222.

11. Custom controlling construction.—The construction of written instruments cannot be controlled by evidence of custom. Dewees v. Lockhart, 1 T. 585; McKinney v. Fort, 10 T. 220; Meaheer v. Lufkin, 21 T. 383; Tucker v. Smith, 68 T. 473, 3 S. W. 671.

Custom and usages of trade are admitted to explain incidental rights of parties appertaining to the particular trade in question, to construe contracts in relation thereto, and to ascertain the meaning of words and expressions therein, etc. Schaub v. Dallas Brewing Co., 80 T. 634, 16 S. W. 429.

Where a bill of lading for the transportation of mules provided for delivery to consignees at Ft. Worth, evidence of a general custom to deliver all stock consigned to such consignees at the stockyards in North Ft. Worth was admissible. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Hill (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 445.

A custom set up in explanation of a contract must be a general custom. Standard Paint Co. v. San Antonio Hardware Co. (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1150.

12. — Contradicting, varying or adding to terms of written instrument.—See notes under Rule 20.

13. Meaning of words, phrases, signs or abbreviations.—Suit was brought upon a promissory note for $125, Texas money, at its current price at New Orleans. Held, that parol evidence was admissible to show that Texas treasury notes were intended or their equivalent in par money. Roberts v. Short, 1 T. 373.

The intent of the testator must be ascertained from the meaning of the words in the instrument, and from those words alone. Paul v. Ball, 31 T. 10. But extrinsic evidence is admissible of such facts and circumstances as will enable the court to discover the meaning attached by the testator to the words used in the will, and to apply them to the particular facts of the case. Hunt v. White, 24 T. 643.

A. sold to B. all the "saw timber" on a certain tract of land. Under the contract B. was about to cut oak timber, and A. applied for an injunction to restrain him on the ground that by "saw timber" at the place where the contract was made, and among the persons engaged in the lumber business, was meant such pine timber as was suitable for manufacture into lumber, and that the words were so used and understood between the parties at the time the contract was made. Held, that evidence of the meaning of the term was admissible. Kelly v. Robb, 58 T. 377.

The meaning of words can be shown by custom. Parks v. O'Connor, 70 T. 377, 8 S. W. 104; Dwyer v. City of Brenham, 70 T. 30, 7 S. W. 598; Kirk v. Brazos County, 73 T. 56, 11 S. W. 143.

Custom and usages of trade are admitted to explain incidental rights of parties appertaining to the particular trade in question, to construe contracts in relation thereto, and to ascertain the meaning of words and expressions therein, etc. Schaub v. Dallas Brewing Co., 80 T. 634, 16 S. W. 429.

The meaning of figures in the column of a tax roll set apart for values may be shown by testimony, and the rolls admitted in evidence. Conklin v. City of El Paso (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 879.

Where minutes of city council showed the record "received and filed," testimony held inadmissible to show that the expression meant "received and adopted." City of Dallas v. Beeman, 18 C. A. 335, 45 S. W. 626.

Evidence that other policies required "itemized inventories" held inadmissible to reduce the meaning of "inventory" to a summary footing of same. Roberts, Willis & Taylor Co. v. Sun Mut. Ins. Co., 19 C. A. 338, 48 S. W. 559.

The words of the residuary clause of a deed, "the balance of any and all property that may be mine at the time of my death," held ambiguous, so that they could be shown, by deeds executed by testatrix at the same time, and as part of the same transaction, to be intended to cover land which she considered to belong to her as sole heir of an intestate. Packard v. De Miranda (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 710.

Under the rule that parol evidence to explain an expression in a contract is admissible where such expression has a technical or special meaning, parol evidence that the expression "shipping instructions" in a contract had a special meaning, and what that meaning was, was admissible. Higgins Mill & Elevator Co. v. Gossett (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 927.

14. Relation and application of language to facts in general.—In action against railroad for injuries to servant, certain testimony as to the interpretation of a rule held admissible. Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Bodie, 32 C. A. 168, 74 S. W. 100.

Evidence held inadmissible to show that the residuary clause in a will of one having a life estate with power of appointment referred to the power. Southern Pine Lumber Co. v. Arnold (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 917.

15. Identification of parties.—One claiming under a legislative grant may show by parol that it was made on the petition of such claimant. Odom v. Woodward, 74 T. 41, 11 S. W. 925.

In a suit to foreclose a vendor's lien, in which defendant pleaded title by limitation, evidence relative to the purchase of the land by defendant's former husband, and her consent thereto, held admissible. Cavin v. Wichita Valley Townsite Co., 36 C. A. 336, 82 S. W. 342.

Where a contract for the sale of land described the vendor as the "estate of F.," parol evidence that by the quoted words was meant not the heirs, legatees, and devisees of F., but those of another person, would be inadmissible, because varying the written instrument. Morrison v. Hazzard (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 385.

In a suit to vacate a judgment rendered against plaintiff on the ground that he was not a party to the action, the attorney for plaintiff in the action in which the judgment was rendered may testify that plaintiff voluntarily made himself a party to the action. Cage & Crow v. Owens (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 1191.

16. — Personal, official or representative capacity.—The official character of officers and the meaning of abbreviations attached to their signatures may be shown by parol evidence. Davis v. Harnbell (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 972.

Admissibility of proof that deeds to land executed by the executor's attorney in fact were executed by such attorney merely as agent of the executor. McCown v. Terrell (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 54.

Parol evidence is inadmissible to show that the directors of a corporation, who signed a guaranty to a creditor, intended to create only a corporate liability. Marx v. Luling Co-Op. Ass'n, 17 C. A. 408, 43 S. W. 596.

Parol evidence is inadmissible to show that a contract made in the name of the principal, and signed in his name by another as agent, was a contract of the latter. Brackenridge v. Claridge, 91 T. 527, 44 S. W. 819, 43 L. R. A. 593.

In an action against an alleged firm on notes signed by one of the alleged partners, where the partnership was denied, a supplemental petition, alleging liability on the theory that the signer was agent for the other defendants, held not an attempt to vary by parol the contract expressed by the notes. Moore v. Williams, 26 C. A. 142, 62 S. W. 977.

Where a deed did not purport to be for any one except the grantor, and he did not pretend to act for any one except himself, held error to submit to the jury the question of whether the grantor had authority to act for others. Halliday v. Lambright (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 712.

An order for goods, signed by one as president of a voluntary association, held not to show on its face that the president was personally liable, and parol evidence to show to whom credit was extended was admissible. Southern Badge Co. v. Smith (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 185.

One signing a note cannot, in absence of fraud, show that he signed in a representative, and not an individual, capacity, though he places after his name the word "executor." Abney v. Citizens' Nat. Bank of Hillsboro (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 734.

17. — Persons having the same name.—Testimony of the secretary of state that the records of his office failed to show the creation of any corporation as named in a deed and partition proceedings was admissible as tending to show that a corporation of a similar name was intended. Cobb v. Bryan (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 513.

18. — Mistake or variance in name.—Where the plaintiff, in trespass to try title, claims under an assignment of a lease of school lands and a purchase thereunder, parol evidence is admissible on his behalf that the lease, though issued in the name of "A. Z. Reedy," was in fact issued and delivered to "A. Z. Reeder." Stokes v. Riley, 29 C. A. 373, 68 S. W. 703.

Parol evidence held admissible to show that by the name "Willis," as grantee in a deed, "Willie" was intended. White v. Simonton, 34 C. A. 464, 79 S. W. 621.

Parol evidence held admissible to identify the real defendant in an action for partition where the name was erroneously stated in the proceedings and judgment. Cobb v. Bryan (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 513.

19. Identification of subject-matter—In conveyances, contracts and writings in general.—Error in words of description in a contract may be corrected by parol evidence. Minor v. Powers (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 710.

Where a written transfer of a headright does not sufficiently identify the certificate, it may be identified by parol evidence. Staley v. Hankla (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 20.

A clause in a deed erroneously purporting to state the source of the grantors' title held not to render the deed ambiguous, nor to authorize parol evidence to vary the terms of the grant. West v. Herman, 47 C. A. 131, 104 S. W. 428.

Evidence of oral negotiations between the parties to a bond for the making of improvements by a lessee held admissible to show what improvements were intended. Marsh v. Phillips (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1160.

20. — Of real property in general.—In an action for specific performance of a contract for the sale of a tract of land, parts of which were owned by different persons, parol evidence was admissible to show the location of each parcel. Morrison v. Hazzard, 99 T. 583, 92 S. W. 33.

Parol evidence may be introduced to identify the subject-matter of a lease which is not definite concerning the land to which it relates. Cockrell v. Egger (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 568.

21. — Application of description to subject-matter.—Parol evidence is not admissible to explain a misdescription in a deed by showing that there was but one tract of land granted to the patentee in the county. Brokel v. McKechnie, 69 T. 32, 6 S. W. 623.

A patent ambiguity renders a provision inoperative and void. A latent ambiguity is developed by extraneous evidence and must be explained by such evidence. When the language used in a deed to describe the premises conveyed is equivocal, ambiguous or insufficient, the subsequent acts or declarations of the parties, showing the practical construction put upon the words of the description by them, may be resorted to. Linney v. Wood, 66 T. 22, 17 S. W. 244. See Grimes v. Watkins, 59 T. 133, citing Masterton v. Goodlett, 46 T. 402; Ferguson v. Ferguson, 27 T. 340.

Where a lumber dealer executed a deed of trust for the benefit of creditors, describing the property transferred as "all my stock of lumber of every class and kind, materials, fixtures, improvements, etc., used in connection with the business," parol evidence is admissible, in an action by the trustee against an attaching creditor, to show the character of the business and the articles of property used therein, in order to ascertain whether a stock of paints and oils were "materials," within the meaning of the trust deed. Ellis v. Cochran, 8 C. A. 510, 28 S. W. 243.

Parol evidence is admissible to explain any ambiguity that may arise from an attempt to apply the description in the deed to land. Webb v. Frazar (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 665; Tinsley v. Dowell (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 928.

Where deeds failed to properly describe the land conveyed, parol evidence held inadmissible to establish the same. Simpson v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 1076.

An instrument executed by the grantee of land held not void for insufficiency of description, parol proof being admissible to supply such description. Turner v. Cochran (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 151.

Where the record of a deed to an undivided interest in a survey of land was defective for failure to describe the land as it was described in the deed, the defect could not be cured by parol. Henning v. Wren, 32 C. A. 538, 75 S. W. 905.

Evidence is inadmissible to explain the description in a deed of trust where ambiguity is not alleged. Smith v. Texas & N. O. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 528.

In trespass to try title, parol evidence tending to show the true location of the lot on which depends the description of the land in controversy is admissible. McKeon v. Roan (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 404.

In a suit involving the question whether oil tank cars were included in the description of a mortgage conveying "all other property owned" by the mortgagor, parol evidence is admissible to show the understanding of the parties as to what property was included. Smith v. Texas & N. O. R. Co., 101 T. 405, 108 S. W. 819.

Any ambiguity in a deed involved in trespass to try title as to the starting point of the description could be explained on applying the description to the land to identify it. Raley v. Magendie (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 174.

Admissibility of extrinsic evidence to identify the land sought to be recovered with that described in plaintiff's patent determined. Finberg v. Gilbert (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 979.

Parol evidence is admissible to identify land imperfectly described in a deed. Wilkerson v. Ward (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 158.

22. — Property or Interest Included.—The natural and ordinary meaning of the phrase "interest in lands" includes the entire right held in them, and the conveyance of one's right in land without qualification will be construed to carry with it all the rights of the grantor therein, which cannot be varied or contradicted by parol evidence. Ragsdale v. May, 65 T. 255.

Conveyance of all of grantor's unsold lands in a league named may be aided by extraneous evidence of conveyances from grantor of record. Smith v. Clay (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 74.

Extrinsic evidence is admissible to determine whether or not a railroad mortgage of lands to be acquired for railroad purposes included specific lands subsequently acquired. Aldridge v. Pardee, 24 C. A. 254, 60 S. W. 789.

Description of property insured in a policy held ambiguous, so that parol evidence was competent to show the property intended to be covered. Connecticut Fire Ins. Co. v. Hilbrant (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 558.

Where an insurance policy was assigned to the purchaser of the property with the company's consent, previous dealings between the company and the vendor, without the knowledge of vendee, held inadmissible against the purchaser to show the property intended to be covered. Id.

Parol evidence held admissible to show the quantity of land conveyed by certain deeds. Larkin v. Trammel, 47 C. A. 548, 105 S. W. 552.

Parol evidence explaining a contract for the sale, upon commission, of lands held inadmissible. Rushing v. Mitchell (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 329.

23. — Boundaries.—When the held notes in a survey call for the corners and lines of surrounding surveys and contain no inconsistent calls, it is not admissible to show by parol evidence that a different survey was in fact made for the purpose of controlling the calls in the grant. Anderson v. Stamps, 19 T. 460; Converse v. Langshaw, 81 T. 275, 16 S. W. 1031.

An elm tree was called for in a deed, by which, if the true locality was shown, the western line of the tract conveyed would be easily established, and from this and the northern line the northwest corner accurately determined. The form of the survey, course, distance and area being given, from that corner the true locality of the tract could be easily ascertained. It therefore became necessary to identify that tree, and proof was properly admitted to show that at the time the deed was made, for the purpose of enabling the person who wrote the deed properly to describe the land intended to be conveyed, the grantor pointed out a certain elm tree from which the western line was to run, in direction north and south, at a distance of 150 varas east. Robinson v. Douthit, 64 T. 101.

In case of a conflict of calls in a survey contained in a patent, parol testimony is admissible to show where the metes and bounds were actually run and marked on the ground. Minor v. Kirkland (Civ. App.) 20 S. W. 932.

In case of an inconsistency in the field notes the testimony of the surveyor is admissible to show the true description. Schley v. Blum (Civ. App.) 22 S. W. 264; Worsham v. Chisum (Civ. App.) 28 S. W. 905.

Where a deed described a town lot according to a map executed, but not then recorded, parol evidence held admissible to show that no other map except the one referred to had ever been recorded in that county. Zimpleman v. Stamps, 21 C. A. 129, 51 S. W. 341.

Evidence that a grantor, when deeding lands, stepped off a certain distance as the land conveyed, was inadmissible, when contradicted by the deed and unsupported by the field notes. Davidson v. Pickard (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 608.

Parol evidence is admissible to explain a latent ambiguity in a call in a deed. Sloan v. King, 33 C. A. 537, 77 S. W. 48.

Where a corner is found on the ground having bearings as called for in a patent, and such corner is shown to be a corner of the land as actually surveyed, an inconsistency may be explained by parol. Guillory v. Allums (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 685.

Where the field notes show a latent ambiguity when it is sought to apply the calls to the land, making it necessary to disregard either the north course or the east line of the survey, extrinsic evidence is inadmissible to show what land was intended to be embraced within the survey. Gilbert v. Finberg (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 507.

24. — Sufficiency of description to admit parol evidence.—In trespass to try title, evidence to aid description of deed held admissible. McCullum v. Buckner's Orphans' Home, 54 C. A. 348, 117 S. W. 886.

Where a deed had been excluded for want of a sufficient description, the court should not admit parol evidence to describe the location of the land. Cleveland v. Shaw (Civ. App.) 119 S. W. 883.

In trespass to try title, though the description in a deed does not of itself show that it related to the lands in controversy, it is admissible if extrinsic evidence identifies the land as relating thereto. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

25. — Reference to other instruments.—A writing may refer as a part of itself to another contract, written or oral, when the latter may be proved by writing or parol, according to the fact. Preston v. Breedlove, 36 T. 96; Thomas v. Hammond, 47 T. 42.

Extraneous evidence to aid description in deed held inadmissible. Pierson v. Sanger (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 869.

Where a deed made by an assignee in bankruptcy was defective as to the description of the land, it was proper to permit the description to be aided by parol evidence. James v. Koy (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 295.

In an action to foreclose a trust deed, certain evidence identifying a plat referred to in the trust deed held admissible. Pinckney v. Young (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 622.

To identify and render definite the description of land in a registered deed to support title by limitation, resort may be had to an unrecorded district court judgment, distinctly referred to in the deed. Kimbell v. Powell, 57 C. A. 57, 121 S. W. 541.

26. — In sale of personal property.—A purchase of goods made by L. of G. on credit, the contract in relation thereto being upon four separate sheets of paper. A fifth sheet of paper had on it a writing as follows: "I will be responsible for the amount bought by my brother, L.," and signed by the brother of L. The five papers were similar in character and bore the same date. Held, that evidence of the surrounding circumstances was admissible to explain the subject-matter of the several writings and their connection with each other and the intention of the parties. Looney v. Le Geirse, 2 App. C. C. § 531.

Parol evidence that a bill of sale of standing cotton did not cover a certain part of it held admissible in an action between the vendee and an attaching creditor of the vendor. Pierce v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 610.

Parol evidence held admissible to show that written contract was not intended to pass title to certain articles. Houston Transfer Co. v. Lee (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 842.

Where an administrator sold all the claims and accounts belonging to the estate then "in his hands," such words were open to explanation by parol proof of the claims intended. Routledge v. Eimendorf, 54 C. A. 174, 116 S. W. 156.

In determining whether the parties intend by a contract for sale, providing that quantity shall be estimated by the buyer, that his estimate shall be final, it is permissible to look to the subject-matter and the attendant circumstances. Cudlipp v. C. R. Cummings Export Co. (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 444.

27. — Of debt or obligation collateral to security.—Parol evidence held admissible to identify note with that described in a deed of trust. Thompson v. Cobb, 95 T. 140, 65 S. W. 1090, 93 Am. St. Rep. 820.

Parol evidence held admissible to show that a mortgage was given to secure plaintiff for becoming a surety on defendant's note. Boren v. Boren, 29 C. A. 221, 68 S. W. 184.

A chattel mortgage, in consideration of a debt in a sum stated, "more or less," may be shown to have been given to secure a present debt and future advances. F. Groos & Co. v. First Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 402.

28. Showing intent of parties as to subject-matter.—It is competent to admit parol evidence to explain a will by showing the situation of the testator, in his relation to persons and things around him, in order that his will may be read by the light of the circumstances in which he was placed at the time of making it; but his intent must be ascertained from the meaning of the words in the instrument alone, and it is not competent by parol evidence to add to the will an independent substantive bequest, and to make it speak upon a subject on which it is altogether silent. Thus, a testator having bequeathed his property to certain slaves belonging to him, the court refused to supply a clause manumitting them, in order to give effect to the bequests. Hunt v. White, 24 T. 643.

In general, parol evidence is not admissible to vary a written contract; but such evidence is admissible to explain an ambiguity, or to explain a writing, when the explanation is necessary, and the evidence is consistent with the writing, and to ascertain the intention of the parties, when doubtful, or to explain the language or terms used. Shaw v. Parvin, 1 App. C. C. § 366, citing Deweese v. Lockhart, 1 T. 535; Franklin v. Mooney, 2 T. 452; Stamper v. Johnson, 3 T. 1; Self v. King, 28 T. 552; Hamman v. Kelgwin, 39 T. 34; Bender v. Pryor, 31 T. 341; McCormick v. Lennox, 1 App. C. C. § 550; Meyers v. Maverick (Civ. App.) 28 S. W. 716; Ginnuth v. Blankenship (Civ. App.) 28 S. W. 828; Brenneman v. Bush (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 699; Kellogg v. Iron City Bank (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 897.

A purchase of goods made by L. of G. on credit, the contract in relation thereto being upon four separate sheets of paper. A fifth sheet of paper had on it a writing as follows: "I will be responsible for the amount bought by my brother, L.," and signed by the brother of L. The five papers were similar in character and bore the same date. Held, that evidence of the surrounding circumstances was admissible to explain the subject-matter of the several writings and their connection with each other and the intention of the parties. Looney v. Le Geirse, 2 App. C. C. § 531.

The legal effect of the bond cannot be limited by parol evidence that it was only intended to secure that part of the available school fund received from the state. Burk v. County of Galveston, 76 T. 267, 13 S. W. 455.

Where assignment of lease was indefinite, testimony of assignor as to lease which was intended was admissible. Ascarete v. Pfaff, 34 C. A. 375, 78 S. W. 974.

In an action against railroad for injury to engineer in collision with forward section of his train, amendment to rule held inadmissible to show its meaning. Quinn v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 395.

In an action against a county for legal services rendered, evidence to explain the meaning of an order of the commissioners' court, and to the effect that it did not contain a certain word, held properly excluded. Presidio County v. Clarke, 38 C. A. 320, 85 S. W. 475.

Parol evidence is admissible to show the intent of the parties to a release given to one joint wrongdoer. El Paso & S. R. Co. v. Darr (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 166.

In a suit on a note, and to foreclose a trust deed given to secure the note, certain parol testimony held admissible. Armstrong v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 955.

Notwithstanding the parol evidence rule, parol evidence held admissible to explain a provision in a contract. American Copying Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 777.

Where the evidence of intent of parties in entering a consent partition decree consisting of written memoranda, or records, is couched in plain and unambiguous language, there is no occasion to resort to extraneous facts, and it will be presumed they had in contemplation the legal effect of what was done. Parks v. Knox (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 203.

Parol evidence held inadmissible to show that the parties to a plain contract used language in a sense different from its ordinary meaning. Moore v. Studebaker Bros. Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 570.

Parol evidence of the conditions surrounding the execution of a will held admissible. Winfree v. Winfree (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 36.

Evidence of the undisclosed purpose of an applicant for fire insurance, in returning the policy to the agent with a letter, held inadmissible. Jefferson Fire Ins. Co. of Philadelphia v. Greenwood (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 319.

While the testator's intention must be obtained from the language of the will, proof of the peculiar circumstances surrounding the testator, the condition of his affairs, his attitude toward his natural beneficiaries, etc., is permissible to discover such intent as it is expressed. Packard v. De Miranda (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 211.

In determining whether the parties intend by a contract for sale, providing that quality shall be estimated by the buyer, that his estimate shall be final, it is permissible to look to the subject-matter and the attendant circumstances. Cudlipp v. C. R. Cummings Export Co. (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 444.

Where a contract provided that plaintiff was contemplating moving his sawmill to a new site and was to give the hauling of the timber at such site to defendant, held, that parol testimony was not admissible to show that it was intended to bind plaintiff to move the mill as contemplated. Newsome v. Brown (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 203.

29. — In construction of deeds in general.—Parol evidence of the attorney who drew a deed as to the grantor's intention held inadmissible, where the language of the deed brought the same within the rule in Shelley's Case. Johnson v. Morton, 28 C. A. 296, 67 S. W. 790.

When the terms of a grant of a right of way to a railroad company are ambiguous, the surrounding facts and circumstances and the construction placed thereon by the parties may be looked to as an aid to interpretation. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Anderson, 36 C. A. 121, 81 S. W. 781.

30. — In description of property.—A conflict between a call of a deed for distance and a call for a railroad right of way may be explained to show the real intent of the parties, and the deed may be enforced accordingly. Couch v. Texas & P. Ry. Co. 99 T. 464, 90 S. W. 860.

Where an oil lease was ambiguous as to the amount of land intended to be included, parol evidence was admissible to explain the ambiguity. Gilmore v. O'Neil (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1162.

In action for damages for breach of written contract to deliver fat cattle, evidence held admissible as explanatory of how fat the cattle were to be. Houston Packing Co. v. Griffith (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1139.

31. — In extent or interest conveyed.—When a deed conveys the right, title and interest of the grantor, parol evidence is admissible to show the amount conveyed. House v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 36 S. W. 916.

A deed, unambiguous on its face, cannot be shown by parol to have been intended to pass only the grantor's interest in the land as his father's heir, and not that which he took under his father's deed to him, made in fraud of creditors. Scarborough v. Blount (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 312.

32. In reservations or exceptions.—When an express lien is reserved by a vendor in a deed conveying land given by him in part payment for other land conveyed to him, and such express lien is intended by its terms to secure the vendor against all loss and damage that may result from future claims asserted by others to the land received, parol evidence is admissible, in a suit to enforce the lien on account of money expended in defending title, to show that it was understood between the parties when the deed was executed that a third party asserted an adverse title and would sue to enforce it. Bumpass v. Morrison, 70 T. 756, 8 S. W. 596.

33. Showing purpose of writing.—See, also, notes under Rule 26.

When the holder of a land certificate executed his power of attorney, authorizing his agent to locate the same, to receive the patent thereon, and to sell and convey the land, it was competent for the defendant, claiming the land under the attorney, to prove by parol testimony that the transaction between the holder of the certificate and his attorney was in fact intended to be a sale of the certificate by the former to the latter. Cox v. Bray, 28 T. 247.

A. executed to B. a receipt as follows: "I hereby certify that I, the undersigned, have received of M. B. $290, upon condition that I will execute to him a mortgage upon my property, to continue for one year, provided I shall have three months' notice before payment can be demanded of the said money, and I am not at liberty to pay the same unless the like notice shall have been given to the lender of my intention to pay." Held, that as the agreement contained no specific description of any property upon which it was to operate, it could not be enforced as a lien upon land, and it could not be aided by parol evidence as to the purpose of the parties. Boehl v. Wadgymer, 54 T. 589.

Where a headright certificate is transferred, and at the same time a power of attorney to locate the certificate is given the transferee, as agent of the transferor, parol evidence is admissible to show that the transaction was an absolute sale of the certificate. Staley v. Hankla (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 20.

Parol evidence held admissible to explain the intention of partners in making a deed between themselves. Henderson v. Stith (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 566.

Admissibility of parol evidence to explain documents introduced as admissions stated. Mitchell v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 735.

34. Showing mode of performance of obligation.—A contract between the owner of property and one whom defendant real estate brokers procured to exchange property with the owner held not ambiguous so that plaintiffs could not show by parol that defendants' right to commissions depended upon the consummation of the contract of exchange. Lewis v. Mansfield Grain & Elevator Co. (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 585.

An irrigating contract held not ambiguous so that parol testimony was not admissible. Old River Rice Irr. Co. v. Stubbs (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 154.

RULE 23. BLANKS IN WRITTEN INSTRUMENTS LEFT FOR NAMES MAY BE FILLED, AND THE TRUE DATES WHEN INCORRECT MAY BE SHOWN

Date of instrument.—Date not included in writing, see notes under Rule 20, ante.

It is competent for the defendant to prove that the date of an indorsement is not the true date, in order to show that the indorser obtained the note after maturity. Goodson v. Johnson, 35 T. 622.

A judgment entry of a justice court cannot be contradicted by parol evidence that the judgment was not entered at the time shown by the justice's record. Irion v. Bexar County, 26 C. A. 527, 63 S. W. 550.

Where an application for insurance was not dated when delivered to the agent, parol evidence that the agent inserted a date other than that agreed on held not objectionable as varying the written contract. Pacific Mut. Ins. Co. v. Shaffer, 30 C. A. 313, 70 S. W. 566.

The true date of a deed may be shown by parol, regardless of the written date therein. Dunn v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 952.

In trespass to try title, the court properly permitted defendant to show that a deed, dated a designated date, was not executed until subsequently. Dunn v. Taylor, 102 T. 80, 113 S. W. 265.

Where two instruments, executed on the same day, were offered for probate, and there was intrinsic evidence to show which was the later one, extrinsic evidence to prove that fact was inadmissible. St. Mary's Orphan Asylum of Texas v. Masterson, 57 C. A. 646, 122 S. W. 587.

Filling blanks.—See notes under Title 16.

It is competent to prove by parol the power to fill blanks in a deed. Schleicher v. Runge (Civ. App.) 37 S. W. 982.

RULE 24. PAROL EVIDENCE IS ADMISSIBLE TO CONTRADICT THE RECITAL OF PAYMENT IN A DEED, RECEIPT, OR OTHER INSTRUMENT, AND TO SHOW THE AMOUNT ACTUALLY PAID OR THE REAL CONSIDERATION

Receipts in general.—M. & N., attorneys at law, gave a receipt for a claim taken for collection; the claim became barred in their hands, and suit was brought against them for the amount of the claim, charging them with gross negligence, etc. Held, that it was competent for the defendants to show by parol evidence that the defendants were mere gratuitous bailees, and were released from any liability by their discharge in bankruptcy. McAdoo v. Lummis, 43 T. 227.

Receipts are informal and nondepositive writings, and may be modified, explained or impugned by parol. Haymond v. Friberg, 1 App. C. C. § 1048.

A receipt may be disputed or impeached, and evidence tending to account for payments received for as entering into indorsed credits is competent to control the receipts. Watson v. Miller, 82 T. 279, 17 S. W. 1053.

A receipt is prima facie evidence of the facts recited, and though signed by the party sought to be charged is open to explanation and contradiction by parol evidence. Brown v. Dennis (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 272.

The rule excluding parol or extrinsic evidence to vary or contradict written instruments does not apply to mere receipts not embodying the terms of a contract. A. B. Patterson & Co. v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 336.

Receipt in full on compromise, settlement or discharge.—A. sued B. for a balance claimed to be due on account; B. by his answer pleaded a settlement in bar of the action, and offered in evidence a receipt in writing of a sum of money as payment in full. Held, that the receipt was conclusive unless obtained by fraud or mistake. Adriance v. Crews, 38 T. 148.

A receipt given by an heir to an executor for a specific amount of money, in full of his share in the estate, is not binding upon the heir as to any residue coming to him. Cliff v. Wade, 51 T. 14.

Writing containing matter other than receipt.—A writing which is a receipt in form, but includes the terms of a contract, cannot be altered by parol evidence. Lanes v. Squyres, 45 T. 382; Life Ins. Co. v. Davidge, 51 T. 244.

A written contract between a father and his children for the settlement of their claims against him for their interests in the community estate of their deceased mother cannot be contradicted by parol evidence. Taylor v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 1039.

What constitutes receipt in general.—A recital in a contract held merely a receipt which can be contradicted by parol. House v. Holland, 42 C. A. 502, 94 S. W. 153.

Deeds in general.—A recital in a deed of the payment of the purchase-money is prima facie evidence, but may be contradicted by parol evidence. Howard v. Davis, 6 T. 174; Williams v. Talbot, 27 T. 159; Cuney v. Bell, 34 T. 177; Gibson v. Fifer, 21 T. 260; Glenn v. Mathews, 44 T. 400; Eborn v. Cannon, 32 T. 232.

In an action for current rents under a parol reservation made at the time of a conveyance to defendant's grantor, the latter held entitled to testify to the making of such reservation. Applegate v. Kilgore (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 238.

While an inquiry into the consideration of a deed will always be permitted, the recital of an existing consideration precludes the grantor from disputing generally the fact of consideration. He cannot avoid his deed, which recites a consideration, by proving that he received none. G., H. & S. A. R. Co. v. Pfeuffer, 56 T. 66.

The recital of a consideration in a deed is placed upon the footing of a receipt, and like other receipts is capable of being explained or contradicted by other evidence. In this case the recital of a money payment was in the deed. It was proven that no money passed, and that the deed was intended merely to reinvest the title upon a rescission of a prior sale. Lanier v. Foust, 81 T. 186, 16 S. W. 994.

It may be shown, that a deed absolute on its face was intended as a mortgage or trust, or that the consideration is not properly stated. Railway Co. v. Jones, 82 T. 156, 17 S. W. 534; Hardie v. Wright, 83 T. 345, 18 S. W. 615; Du Bois v. Rooney, 82 T. 173, 17 S. W. 528. In a proper case, where there is fraud, it may be shown that an absolute deed was intended as a mortgage, or that the consideration was not properly stated. Railway Co. v. Jones, 82 T. 156, 17 S. W. 534; Hardie v. Wright, 83 T. 345, 18 S. W. 615; Du Bois v. Rooney, 82 T. 173, 17 S. W. 528; Eckford v. Berry, 87 T. 415, 28 S. W. 937; Chatham v. Jones, 69 T. 745, 7 S. W. 600.

Parol evidence held admissible to show the consideration of a deed. Womack v. Wamble, 27 S. W. 154, 7 C. A. 273; Cummings v. Moore, 27 C. A. 555, 65 S. W. 1113; Ellis v. Lehman, 48 C. A. 308, 106 S. W. 453.

Where a deed expresses a pecuniary consideration, parol evidence is admissible to show how said consideration was paid. Duveneck v. Kutzer, 17 C. A. 577, 43 S. W. 541.

Parol evidence of different consideration of a deed held inadmissible. Teague v. Teague, 31 C. A. 156, 71 S. W. 555.

Where a deed recites the consideration as $1, parol evidence is admissible to show the real consideration, especially where such deed depends upon and connects itself with another deed reciting a valuable consideration. Larkin v. Trammel, 47 C. A. 548, 105 S. W. 552.

Rule as to admissibility of parol evidence to show the real consideration of a deed stated. Springman v. Hawkins, 52 C. A. 249, 113 S. W. 966.

In an action by a wife against her husband's executor to set apart a homestead, evidence not contradictory, but explanatory, of recitals in a deed and judgment held admissible. Bente v. Sullivan, 52 C. A. 454, 115 S. W. 350.

The consideration of a deed, in suit to set it aside for inadequacy of consideration, may be shown by matters outside the deed. Uecker v. Zuercher, 54 C. A. 289, 118 S. W. 149.

Testimony explaining deeds introduced in evidence, by showing that the real consideration therefor was paid in property instead of money, and showing who was the real owner of the property, did not vary the deeds, being admissible to explain them. O'Farrell v. O'Farrell, 56 C. A. 51, 119 S. W. 899.

Recital in a deed of a cash payment held not conclusive. Singletary v. Goeman (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 436.

Plaintiff's effort not being to reform an instrument and as reformed to enforce it, but merely to show that the true consideration was not set forth therein, so that he was entitled to recover certain property as part of the consideration, held that, though pleading a mutual mistake in the contract, he could show the omission of such property from the recited consideration, though it was through his own mistake only. Syler v. Culp (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 175.

Parol evidence held admissible to show the true consideration of a written instrument. Id.

Parol evidence that before delivery of the deed the parol contract of sale of the land was modified by reduction of the price below the amount of consideration expressed in the deed is admissible. Detering v. Boyles (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 984.

In an action upon a note given as part of the consideration for a conveyance, held, that the grantee might set up the grantor's breach of a contemporaneous parol agreement as an affirmative defense or counterclaim. Reid v. Ragland (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 920.

Additional consideration for deed.—Where a deed to a city recited the contract between the parties, parol evidence of a further agreement was properly excluded. Weaver v. City of Gainesville, 1 C. A. 286, 21 S. W. 317.

Parol evidence is admissible to prove consideration additional to that recited in a deed. Garrett v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 288.

Where a deed recited the consideration as the assumption by the grantee of certain named debts of the grantor, parol evidence is not admissible to show the assumption of certain other additional debts. Walter v. Dearing (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 380.

Under the rule that, where a deed merely recites a money consideration, an additional consideration may be shown by parol, certain additional consideration resting in parol held properly shown. Tipton v. Tipton, 47 C. A. 619, 105 S. W. 830.

It is permissible to show that, as an additional consideration for a deed reciting a money consideration only, grantor was to receive rents for her life. Tipton v. Tipton, 55 C. A. 192, 118 S. W. 842.

Assumption or payment of debts or Incumbrances.—In an action against decedent's estate to recover an amount alleged as due from decedent as part of the consideration for land, the deed being silent as to the consideration, evidence of one who was not a party to the suit as to declarations by decedent held admissible. Powell's Estate v. Walker, 24 C. A. 312, 58 S. W. 838.

Parol evidence is admissible to show that grantee of a deed containing a covenant against incumbrances agreed to assume payment of certain charges against the property. Johnson v. Elmen, 94 T. 168, 59 S. W. 253, 52 L. R. A. 162, 86 Am. St. Rep. 845.

Parol evidence is admissible to show that the assumption of a vendor's lien was a part consideration for a deed, notwithstanding that it contradicts a covenant against incumbrance. Johnson v. Elmen, 24 C. A. 43, 59 S. W. 605, 52 L. R. A. 162, 86 Am. St. Rep. 845.

A stipulation in a deed, whereby the grantee assumed the payment of certain purchase-money notes given to a prior grantor, is not subject to contradiction by parol. Vansickle v. Watson, 103 T. 37, 123 S. W. 112.

Acknowledgment of payment in deed.—Parol evidence is admissible to show deed from husband to wife, and reciting consideration, was in fact without consideration, and not intended to vest separate estate in wife. Kahn v. Kahn (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 946.

Where a recital of consideration in a deed was contractual, the parties thereto were estopped from denying it; and hence parol evidence is not admissible to show that the consideration was different from that expressed in the deed. Kahn v. Kahn, 94 T. 114, 58 S. W. 825.

Bills of sale.—Parol evidence held admissible to show that a bill of sale and chattel mortgage were given in full payment of a debt, and not for the consideration recited. Schneider v. Sanders, 26 C. A. 169, 61 S. W. 727.

Assignments.—Unconditional transfer in writing of notes and accounts as security for indebtedness cannot be shown by parol evidence to have been in consideration of release of sureties upon part of indebtedness secured. Rotan Grocery Co. v. Martin (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 706.

Oral evidence held admissible in an action against guarantors to show consideration for their release. Martin v. Rotan Grocery Co. (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 212.

Where an assignment of a policy was absolute on its face, evidence showing that it was a pledge for a debt held not objectionable as contradicting the recital of the consideration in the assignment. Clarke v. Adam, 30 C. A. 66, 69 S. W. 1016.

Leases.—Parol testimony held admissible to show a contract of employment as part consideration of a written lease, notwithstanding the recital therein of a money consideration only. Suderman-Dolson Co. v. Rogers, 47 C. A. 67, 104 S. W. 193.

Mortgages and trust deeds.—Parol evidence is admissible to show that a mortgage was given to secure future advances. Glenn v. Seeley, 25 C. A. 523, 61 S. W. 959.

Parol evidence held admissible to show real consideration given for a trust deed and notes secured thereby, though the trust deed recited a different consideration. Street v. Robertson, 28 C. A. 222, 66 S. W. 1120.

Parol evidence held admissible to show that a recital in a mortgage that it was given to secure a $430 note was a mistake, and that the note was for $450. Boren v. Boren, 29 C. A. 221, 68 S. W. 184.

No allegation of fraud, accident, or mistake is necessary to warrant the admission of parol evidence to show the consideration for a mortgage. Id.

In an action on mortgage note, evidence that a part of the consideration was a contemporaneous parol agreement for an extension without the knowledge of the sureties, held not inadmissible as contradicting a written contract. Moroney v. Coombes (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 430.

Contracts in general.—A. wrote an agreement between himself and B., assuming to do certain things "for no consideration." B. having brought suit on the agreement, A. pleaded that it was without consideration. Held, that it was competent for B. to prove the consideration by parol evidence. Young v. Young, 19 T. 504.

Parol evidence held inadmissible as varying a written contract. McCormick v. Kampmann, 102 T. 215, 115 S. W. 24.

Where the whole consideration is not expressed in a written contract, parol evidence is admissible to supply the deficiency, but it cannot establish a consideration inconsistent with that expressed. Pope v. Taliaferro, 51 C. A. 217, 115 S. W. 309.

In the absence of fraud or mistake, parol evidence is, as a general rule, not admissible to change the terms of a written contract, except that an additional consideration may be shown, unless the consideration is contractual. International Land Co. v. Farmer (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 196.

Where the written contract gave a party the privilege of selling, within a certain time and for a fixed price, the lands of the adverse party, and bound him to pay a specified sum per acre, parol evidence that the promise of the adverse party to procure the extension of a note given by the party to a bank of which the adverse party was president was a part of the consideration, was admissible to prove an added consideration as the contract in effect provided that the party should receive the sum over the fixed price on a sale of the land, and the parol evidence did not show anything inconsistent with the express stipulations. Id.

Contracts for buildings and other works.—Evidence of a contemporaneous parol agreement held inadmissible to change the written contract. Stell v. Hale, 20 C. A. 39, 48 S. W. 603.

Though a contract for material to be furnished for improvements states a consideration, the true consideration may be proven aliunde. Banks v. House (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 1022.

Parol evidence that material agreed to be furnished by written contract had been delivered before the contract was made held admissible to show a consideration for the contract. Wilson v. Vick (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 45.

Contracts of sale or exchange.—Where a purchaser in a land contract bound himself to “assume” an indebtedness on the land, parol evidence was not admissible to show that the vendor’s release from said indebtedness was to be secured from the payee by the purchaser. Wright v. United States Mortg. Co. (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 789.

Where a contract to buy land did not definitely state the price of a certain part thereof, evidence was admissible to show what the purchasers agreed to pay. Howell v. Denton (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 1002.

Parol evidence is admissible to show the value of property which was the consideration for land to which title failed. Mayer & Schmidt v. Wooten, 46 C. A. 327, 102 S. W. 423.

In an action involving an exchange of property, parol testimony held admissible to show the value of the personal property included in the exchange. Larkin v. Trammel, 47 C. A. 548, 105 S. W. 552.

In a suit to enforce specific performance of a contract to convey state school land, parol evidence of the consideration of the contract in addition to the consideration expressed therein held admissible. Pope v. Taliaferro, 51 C. A. 217, 115 S. W. 309.

A vendor of a farm held entitled to prove a verbal agreement with the vendee prior to the execution of a deed pursuant to a contract of sale, whereby as part of the consideration the vendor was to remain rent free in possession of the farm up to a certain date. Morehead v. Hering (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 164.

Bills and notes and indorsement thereof.—The consideration of a note may be shown by parol without regard to the recital in the instrument. Branch v. Howard, 23 S. W. 478, 4 C. A. 271.

The true consideration of a note may be shown by parol evidence. Elkel v. Randolph, 25 S. W. 62, 6 C. A. 421.

In an action on a note, an answer setting up a contemporaneous oral contract held not demurrable, as contradictory of a written contract. Peel v. Giesen, 21 C. A. 334, 51 S. W. 44.

Where certain notes recited that they were given in part payment for a hearse, etc., parol evidence was admissible as against a purchaser after maturity to show the real consideration. Kampmann v. McCormick (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 1147.

Where defendant indorsed a note secured by a mortgage on certain cattle to a bank, he could not prove by parol that the bank, as part of the consideration, agreed to look after and preserve the mortgaged property. First Nat. Bank v. Powell (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1096.

Releases.—Parol evidence held admissible to show the real consideration of a release. Rapid Transit Ry. Co. v. Smith (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 788.

Parol agreement to employ plaintiff for life in consideration of written release of claim for damages held provable under the rule that consideration for a contract is provable by parol. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Eldredge (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1010.

RULE 25. PAROL EVIDENCE IS ADMISSIBLE TO SHOW THAT A WRITTEN INSTRUMENT IS VOID FOR ILLEGALITY, WANT OR FAILURE OF CONSIDERATION, OR ON ACCOUNT OF FRAUD OR MISTAKE

Grounds for admission of extrinsic evidence.—A party to a contract free from ambiguity cannot avoid its legal effect unless he was misled and deceived in executing it, or the consideration thereof has failed. Western Mfg. Co. v. Freeman (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 924.

Matters affecting validity in general.—It is competent to show by parol evidence that plaintiff did not authorize an averment in the original petition which is at variance with the allegations of an amended petition on which he seeks to recover. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Brooking (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 537.

The rule as to when the terms of a contract are conclusive stated. Kansas City Packing Box Co. v. Spies (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 432.

In an action on a written contract, defendant held entitled to show that he signed the contract sued on, on the faith of the adverse party having made certain changes therein as agreed on, and thereby defeat a recovery. American Copying Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 777.

Parol testimony is admissible upon proper allegations of fraud, accident, or mistake to defeat a written contract, or to show its real terms. Gough Mill & Gin Co. v. Looney (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 782.

Insufficiency or irregularity of execution or delivery.—If the certificate of proof or acknowledgment is in the form prescribed by law, parol evidence is inadmissible to show that the officer making the certificate was not competent to act, on the ground that he was interested in the conveyance, or that he had accepted another office, or that the acknowledgment was not in fact made in a county for which he was commissioned to act. Titus v. Johnson, 50 T. 224.

The rule that parol evidence is inadmissible to show that a deed was not intended to pass title, as it purports to do, is not applicable where the issue is as to the execution of the deed. McCartney v. McCartney, 93 T. 359, 55 S. W. 310.

In an action by a buyer on a contract of sale exclusion of certain evidence held error. Floresville Oil & Mfg. Co. v. Texas Refining Co., 55 C. A. 78, 118 S. W. 194.

Usury.—Parol evidence held admissible to show the real transaction in an action to cancel instruments securing a usurious loan, where the form of the instrument is alleged to be a mere cover for usury. People’s Building Loan & Savings Ass’n v. Keller, 20 C. A. 616, 50 S. W. 183.

In an action to foreclose, where the answer alleges usury, and that the subscription was a scheme to obtain an illegal rate of interest, the borrower may testify to facts showing that the contract was usurious, though such contract is in writing. Cotton States Bldg. Co. v. Rely (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 961.

Where alleged usury consisted in adding interest to the note, which has been paid, parol testimony is admissible to show the amount of interest included in the note. National Bank of Dangerfield v. Ragland (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 661.

Parol evidence held admissible to show contract for usurious interest on note. Roberts v. Coffin, 22 C. A. 127, 53 S. W. 597.

Parol evidence showing the true character of a contract is admissible on an issue of usury, though the contract is in writing. Peightal v. Cotton States Bldg. Co., 25 C. A. 390, 61 S. W. 428.

Where a mortgage or written contract providing for the loan of money on security is not upon its face usurious, parol evidence is admissible to show that it is a mere device adopted to conceal a usurious transaction. Interstate Savings & Trust Co. v. Hornsby (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 960.

Want or failure of consideration.—One purchasing goods and executing his note for their value may, at the time, contract by parol that he should not be liable on the note if compelled to surrender the goods under legal process, and if sued on the note he may plead the parol contract and failure of consideration as a defense to it; or if he had paid the note he may recover back the money on the parol contract, if compelled to surrender the goods. Etter v. Dugan, 1 U. C. 175.

In a proper case where there is fraud it may be shown that an absolute deed was intended as a mortgage, or that the consideration was not properly stated. Railway Co. v. Jones, 82 T. 156, 17 S. W. 534; Hardie v. Wright, 83 T. 345, 18 S. W. 615; Du Bois v. Roonex, 82 T. 173, 17 S. W. 528; Eckford v. Berry, 87 T. 415, 28 S. W. 937; Chatham v. Jones, 69 T. 745, 7 S. W. 600.

Parol evidence is admissible to show that a note sued on is without consideration. Watson v. Boswell, 25 C. A. 379, 61 S. W. 407.

In an action on a note, certain evidence held inadmissible as showing failure of consideration. Walker v. Tomlinson, 44 C. A. 446, 98 S. W. 906.

A deed reciting a consideration of $2,000 may be proved by the declarations of the grantor and by other circumstances to be in reality a deed of gift. Wolf v. King, 49 C. A. 41, 107 S. W. 617.

Grantor held not entitled to impeach recitals in deed as to consideration. Garrison v. Richards (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 861.

In an action to enjoin a sale to enforce a deed of trust, securing a note, on the ground that the note was without consideration and was accommodation paper, evidence of the financial condition of the payee and the fact that the note was given to enable him to avoid prosecution was properly excluded; but plaintiff was properly allowed to introduce evidence of a lack of consideration. Rudolph v. Price (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1037.

The parol evidence rule does not include evidence offered to show want or failure of consideration for an indorsement. First Nat. Bank v. Powell (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1096.

Evidence of an understanding that a note would not be enforced, or create a liability, was admissible to show that a contract, evidenced by the note, was invalid for want of consideration. Central Bank & Trust Co. v. Ford (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 700.

Mistake.—See, also, notes under Rule 28.

Parol evidence to show facts relieving a party from the obligations of a written contract on the ground of mistake is not objectionable as varying the terms of the contract. Edwards v. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co., 54 C. A. 334, 118 S. W. 572.

Fraud.—See, also, notes under Rule 28.

Parol evidence is admissible to show fraud leading to the execution of an instrument. Wright v. United States Mortg. Co. (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 789.

All written instruments are subject to attack on the ground of fraud, no matter how certain they are on their face. American Nat. Bank v. Cruger (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 1057.

Written instruments may be contradicted by parol testimony to show fraud. McCarthy v. Woods (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 405.

Evidence held not to raise the issue of fraud in the execution of a written instrument. Barnes v. Bryce (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 240.

— In deeds.—Where a deed was unambiguous, an allegation that one of the rights conveyed was fraudulently inserted held insufficient to justify the introduction of parol evidence to change the deed. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Fenn, 33 C. A. 352, 76 S. W. 597.

In trespass to try title and cancel a deed, held proper to show that the deed, though absolute on its face, was executed in pursuance of an agreement that title should not vest until plaintiff's death, and was on condition that defendant should support plaintiff. Wilson v. Wilson, 35 C. A. 192, 79 S. W. 839.

In an action for damages for having procured from plaintiff by fraudulent representations a deed to certain land, testimony of plaintiff that she did not understand the import of the deed she signed held admissible. Butler v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 656.

Parol evidence that a deed by a husband to his wife was executed with intent to defraud creditors held admissible. Brantley v. Brantley (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1024.

Where a husband claimed a community interest in land conveyed by him to his wife, evidence that the deed was executed with the intent to avoid the collection of any judgment which might be rendered against him in a pending action was admissible to show that the deed was a sham, executed with no intention on the part of either of the parties of passing any title, as against the objection that it varied the terms of a written instrument. Id.

— In leases.—Where plaintiffs were injured by a defective elevator in defendant's hotel, conducted by its agent under a sham lease, the rule that a written instrument cannot be varied by parol cannot prevent the true relations of the parties being shown. Oriental Inv. Co. v. Barclay, 25 C. A. 543, 64 S. W. 80.

— In contracts in general.—A written contract may be contradicted when fraud is alleged. History Co. v. Flint, 4 App. C. C. § 224, 15 S. W. 912.

Parol evidence held admissible to show fraudulent representations inducing a contract. Herring v. Mason, 17 C. A. 559, 43 S. W. 797; Davis v. Driscoll, 22 C. A. 14, 54 S. W. 43; United States Gypsum Co. v. Shields (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 724.

In a suit to cancel a contract and deeds made in pursuance thereof, on the ground of fraud, the admission of evidence of representations made before the execution of the contract held not erroneous. American Cotton Co. v. Collier, 30 C. A. 105, 69 S. W. 1021.

In an action to cancel certificates, statements of defendant's agent as to their stipulations held admissible to show what induced plaintiff to take them. Trinity Valley Trust Co. v. Stockwell (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 793.

Certain evidence held admissible to show one was induced by fraud to sign a contract. United States Gypsum Co. v. Shields (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 724.

An unambiguous written contract may be impeached by parol on the ground of fraud. Barclay v. Deyerle, 53 C. A. 236, 116 S. W. 123.

The rule excluding parol evidence to contradict, vary, or modify written instruments is much relaxed, when fraud is alleged. Savage v. Umphries (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 893.

The facts constituting the fraud procuring the execution of a contract may be shown to defeat it, or restrict its operation. International Land Co. v. Farmer (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 196.

A party to a written contract held entitled, under appropriate pleadings, to prove by parol fraudulent representations made by the agent of the adverse party. Western Mfg. Co. v. Freeman (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 924.

Facts held not to show such fraud in the making of a written contract, as to authorize one of the parties to vary it by parol evidence. Murray Co. v. Putman (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 631.

Where a contract is claimed to be void because of a fraud, either party may adduce evidence to show the existence or nonexistence of fraud. Crockett & Sons v. Anselin (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 99.

Parol evidence is admissible to show that a contract reduced to writing was procured by fraud. Martinez v. Coggin (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 699.

— In contracts of sale.—Parol evidence is admissible to show misrepresentations as to the quantity of land in a tract which induced the purchase of such tract. Wuest v. Moehrig, 24 C. A. 124, 57 S. W. 864.

Parol evidence is admissible to show that a written contract of sale was induced by fraud. Hallwood Cash Register Co. v. Berry, 35 C. A. 554, 80 S. W. 857.

In an action for the price of steel bars sold under a written order, parol evidence as to the original contract is admissible to show deception of defendant in signing the order. Compagnie Des Metaux Unital v. Victoria Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 651.

Where a real estate broker, who had agreed to sell land at $40 per acre, at a stipulated commission, fraudulently induced the owner to sign a contract in which the name of the purchaser was in blank, calling for a sale at $20 per acre, the owner of the land, who was in ignorance of the facts at the time he signed the contract, could prove by parol evidence the fraud of the agent and defeat a recovery. Murphy v. Earl (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 486.

Fraudulent misrepresentations as to quantity in sale of goods under written contract, expressly stating there was no warranty as to quantity, may be shown by parol. Kirby v. Thurmond (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1099.

— In bills and notes or indorsement thereof.—The maker of a note, as between himself and the payee, or assignee after maturity or with notice, may contradict the acknowledgment in a note of value received (Mercer v. Hall, 2 T. 284), and may show fraud or illegality of consideration (Young v. Young, 19 T. 504).

That a note was obtained by fraud can be shown by parol evidence. American Nat. Bank of Austin v. Cruger (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 1057.

The rule as to the exclusion of parol evidence tending to vary or contradict a writing does not apply to an action to cancel a note for fraudulent representations. Karner v. Ross, 43 C. A. 542, 95 S. W. 46.

The parol evidence rule does not include evidence offered to impeach the original or present validity of an indorsement for fraud. First Nat. Bank v. Powell (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1096.

— In subscription to corporate stock.—Parol evidence held admissible to show that subscription to corporate stock was obtained by fraud. Turner v. Grobe (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 898.

— In releases.—Evidence that one injured did not understand the contents of a release he executed held admissible. Galloway v. San Antonio & G. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 32.

Illegality.—The maker of a note, as between himself and the payee, or assignee after maturity or with notice, may contradict the acknowledgment in a note of value received (Mercer v. Hall, 2 T. 284), and may show fraud or illegality of consideration (Young v. Young, 19 T. 504).

Where written contract did not show that part of the consideration therefor was illegal, parol evidence held admissible to show illegality of such part consideration. Sanger v. Miller, 26 C. A. 111, 62 S. W. 425.

Parol evidence is admissible to show that the consideration, or one of the considerations, of a written contract sued on, is illegal. Smith v. Bowen, 45 C. A. 222, 100 S. W. 796.

RULE 26. PAROL EVIDENCE IS ADMISSIBLE TO ESTABLISH A TRUST OR TO SHOW THAT A WRITTEN INSTRUMENT WAS INTENDED AS A MORTGAGE, TRUST OR CONDITIONAL SALE

Mortgage or conditional sale.—Parol evidence is admissible to show that a deed was intended as a mortgage. Stamper v. Johnson, 3 T. 1; Carter v. Carter, 5 T. 93; *James v. Fulcro*d, 5 T. 512, 55 Am. Dec. 743; Cuney v. Dupree, 21 T. 211; Johnson v. Deloney, 35 T. 42; Gibbs v. Penny, 43 T. 560; Hudson v. Wilkinson, 45 T. 444; Brewster v. Davis, 56 T. 478; Davis v. Brewster, 59 T. 96; Loving v. Milliken, 59 T. 423; Hardie v. Campbell, 63 T. 296; Ullman v. Jasper, 70 T. 446, 7 S. W. 763; Webb v. Burney, 70 T. 322, 7 S. W. 841; Lessing v. Grimland, 74 T. 239, 11 S. W. 1095; Lehman v. Chatham Machinery Co., 28 C. A. 228, 66 S. W. 796; Stafford v. Stafford, 29 C. A. 73, 71 S. W. 984; Musick v. O'Brien (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 453; Hall v. Jennings, 104 S. W. 489; Nagle v. Simmank, 54 C. A. 432, 116 S. W. 862; Yates v. Caswell (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 914; Browning v. Currie, 140 S. W. 479.

When the defendant in trespass to try title under the plea of not guilty gave in evidence an absolute conveyance of the property from the plaintiff it was competent for the plaintiff to introduce parol testimony to show that the conveyance was in fact a mortgage. Hannay v. Thompson, 14 T. 142.

A. conveyed to B. a certain tract of land by a deed in the usual form, reciting a consideration and conveying the title. On the same day A. and B. entered into an agreement by which B. agreed to reconvey the land to A. on certain conditions, and the question was whether the latter instrument was a mortgage or conditional sale. Held that, for the purpose of determining this question, both instruments should be read together in the light of surrounding circumstances. Ruffler v. Womack, 30 T. 332. And see Boatright v. Peck, 33 T. 68; Walker v. McDonald, 49 T. 458; Alstin v. Cundiff, 52 T. 453.

It may be shown that a deed absolute on its face was intended as a mortgage or trust, or that the consideration is not properly stated. Railway Co. v. Jones, 82 T. 156, 17 S. W. 534; Hardie v. Wright, 83 T. 345, 18 S. W. 615; Du Bois v. Rooney, 82 T. 173, 17 S. W. 528. In a proper case, where there is fraud, it may be shown that an absolute deed was intended as a mortgage, or that the consideration was not properly stated. Railway Co. v. Jones, 82 T. 156, 17 S. W. 534; Hardie v. Wright, 83 T. 345, 18 S. W. 615; Du Bois v. Rooney, 82 T. 173, 17 S. W. 528; Eckford v. Berry (Sup.) 28 S. W. 937; Chatham v. Jones, 69 T. 745, 7 S. W. 600.

A deed absolute on its face may be shown by parol evidence to be a mortgage or conditional sale. Hexter v. Urwitz, 25 S. W. 1101, 6 C. A. 580.

When grantor in deed absolute may show that it was intended to secure a debt. Wiggins v. Wiggins, 16 C. A. 335, 40 S. W. 643.

Parol evidence is admissible to show that a bill of sale absolute on its face was executed to secure the grantee by reason of the grantor having sold other mortgaged property securing such debt. Watson v. Boswell, 25 C. A. 379, 61 S. W. 407.

Trust.—A parol trust may be ingrafted on a deed absolute on its face. Neyland v. Bendy, 69 T. 711, 7 S. W. 497; Williams v. Emberson, 22 C. A. 522, 55 S. W. 595.

Parol evidence is admissible to establish a trust. Burns v. Ross, 71 T. 516, 9 S. W. 468; Holland v. Farthing, 21 S. W. 67, 2 C. A. 155.

That land deeded to one partner belonged to the firm may be shown by parol evidence of facts showing such trust. Kempner v. Rosenthal, 81 T. 12, 16 S. W. 639.

Though a deed purports to convey a fee simple, parol evidence is admissible to show an express agreement for a trust. Holland v. Farthing, 21 S. W. 67, 2 C. A. 155.

That corporation directed its president to purchase land for it, and that he purchased for himself, taking deed in his own name, making him trustee for the company, may be shown by parol. Halsell v. Wise County Coal Co., 19 C. A. 564, 47 S. W. 1017.

Where the payee of a note is dead, parol evidence is admissible to establish a trust relationship between the payee of the note and certain claimants of the proceeds. Thompson v. Caruthers, 92 T. 530, 50 S. W. 331.

A plainly expressed intention in a deed as to the character of the estate conveyed cannot be contradicted by parol evidence, so as to impose a trust on the grantee in regard to such property. Kahn v. Kahn, 94 T. 114, 58 S. W. 825.

Parol evidence is admissible to show that a deed was given that the grantee might hold the legal title in trust for the grantor. Craig v. Harless, 33 C. A. 257, 76 S. W. 594.

Parol evidence held inadmissible to show that a deed absolute in form was intended to create a trust. Boyd v. Boyd, 34 C. A. 57, 78 S. W. 39.

Testimony of wife, as defendant in trespass to try title to land purchased by husband with her money and sold to plaintiff on execution for his debt, that she furnished the money to buy the land certificates, held admissible. Matador Land & Cattle Co. v. Cooper, 39 C. A. 99, 87 S. W. 235.

In a suit by the heir of one of the payees of the principal of notes for partition thereof, parol evidence held admissible to show that the payees of the principal held the same in trust for their mother during her life. Jones v. Day, 40 C. A. 158, 88 S. W. 424.

Parol evidence held admissible to prove that a deed absolute on its face was made on a parol trust. Diffie v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 193.

A deed absolute on its face may be shown to be subject to a parol trust. Whitfield v. Diffie (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 324; Landrum v. Landrum, 130 S. W. 907.

Where deeds to a wife were executed in fraud of the husband's creditors, he could not show by parol that the deeds were made to the wife to place the land in trust for the community estate. Shook v. Shook (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 638.

Parol evidence is incompetent to show that deed to a wife, reciting that the property is separate estate, was in trust for benefit of community estate, where it is charged such arrangement was to place the property beyond creditors. Shook v. Shook (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 699.

A trust may be created by parol evidence varying the terms of a written instrument. Williams v. Neill (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 693.

RULE 27. PAROL EVIDENCE IS ADMISSIBLE TO SHOW THAT A DEED WAS MADE FOR THE BENEFIT OF ANOTHER NOT NAMED IN IT, OR SOLELY FOR THE BENEFIT OF ONE OF THE PARTIES NAMED THEREIN

Person not named in deed in general.—Parol evidence is admissible to show that a deed was made for the benefit of another not named in it. See Neill v. Keese, 5 T. 23, 51 Am. Dec. 746; McCoy v. Crawford, 9 T. 355; Vandever v. Freeman, 20 T. 333, 70 Am. Dec. 391; Johnson v. Deloney, 35 T. 42; Markham v. Carothers, 47 T. 21; Byrnes v. Morris, 53 T. 213; Simmons v. Dinsmore, 56 T. 404; Kennedy v. Baker, 59 T. 150; Parker v. Coop, 60 T. 111; Ross v. Kornrumpf, 64 T. 390.

The presumption in favor of the community, resulting from a deed made to either husband or wife, may be rebutted by proof that it was bought with the separate funds of either. When the deed is made to the wife, it may be shown to be for her benefit, not only from the advance by her of the purchase money, but if the funds be advanced from the separate means of the husband, the presumption of a gift arises, and if from the community fund, it may be proven that the husband intended a gift, and directed the deed to be made in her name. Dunham v. Chatham, 21 T. 231, 73 Am. Dec. 238; Smith v. Strahan, 16 T. 314, 67 Am. Dec. 622; Higgins v. Johnson, 20 T. 389, 70 Am. Dec. 394; Story v. Marshall, 24 T. 305, 76 Am. Dec. 106; Hatchett v. Conner, 30 T. 104; Tucker v. Carr,

39 T. 98. Such a trust cannot be ingrafted on a deed to the prejudice of creditors or purchasers without notice; and the fact that a conveyance is made to a married woman does not put the purchaser upon inquiry. Cook v. Bremond, 27 T. 457, 86 Am. Dec. 626; Flanagan v. Oberthier, 50 T. 379; Alstin v. Cundiff, 52 T. 453; McDaniel v. Weiss, 53 T. 257; Wallace v. Campbell, 54 T. 87.

A purchaser at an execution sale, under a judgment against the husband, acquires title to the property purchased, if the same was acquired during coverture by deed, though executed to the wife, if the purchaser at such sale had no knowledge that the property was acquired by the separate means of the wife. Cline v. Upton, 56 T. 319. But if, at the time of the purchase, such purchaser had notice of the real interest of the wife in the property, and that it had been acquired by her separate means, he would acquire no title, and the fact that a lien on the land had previously been acquired by the record of the judgment would not affect the right of the wife to such land. Ross v. Kornrumpf, 64 T. 390.

Gift to husband and wife jointly.—Parol evidence is admissible to show that a gift, joint to the husband and wife, was intended and should operate only as a gift to the wife. Dunham v. Chatham, 21 T. 231, 73 Am. Dec. 228.

Resulting trust.—See, also, notes under Rule 26.

When land is purchased on a credit, and a deed made to the purchaser, which is intended by the parties to vest the legal and equitable title in the purchaser, a subsequent payment of the purchase money by a third person does not vest the title in him who pays it, in the absence of written memoranda, signed by the parties, evidencing their intention, and creates no resulting trust, and is within the statute of frauds. Williams v. County of San Saba, 59 T. 442.

A resulting trust must exist at the instant the deed is taken and the legal title vests in the grantee. No oral agreement or payment, before or after the title is taken, will create a resulting trust, unless the transaction is such at the moment the title passes that a trust will result from the transaction itself. Parker v. Coop, 60 T. 111.

RULE 28. A WRITTEN INSTRUMENT, FAILING THROUGH FRAUD, ACCIDENT OR MISTAKE, EITHER OF MATTER OF LAW OR OF FACT, TO REPRESENT THE TRUE AGREEMENT, OR CONTAINING TERMS CONTRARY TO THE COMMON INTENTION, WILL BE CORRECTED OR REFORMED IN EQUITY

See, also, notes under Art. 1103, §§ 77-82, Art. 4972f, § 22, and under Title 37, for matters of practice and procedure.

Fraud, accident or mistake in general.—In cases of fraud, accident or mistake, equity will admit parol evidence to qualify and correct the terms of written instruments, when the relief is sought between the original parties to the same, or those claiming under them in privity, such as personal representatives, heirs, devisees, legatees, voluntary grantees or purchasers from them with notice of the facts. Glisson v. Craig, 1 App. C. C. § 43, citing May v. Taylor, 27 T. 125. See Glisson v. Craig, 1 App. C. C. § 44.

A court of equity will only correct such mistakes in a will as are apparent on the face of the instrument. Hunt v. White, 24 T. 643.

Equity will relieve against a mistake of a scrivener in preparing a writing by reforming the instrument accordingly on proof thereof. Glisson v. Craig, 1 App. C. C. § 44.

Oral testimony not admissible to contradict an instrument which has the appearance of completeness, in the absence of fraud, accident or mistake. Willis v. Byars, 21 S. W. 320, 2 C. A. 134.

In an action to foreclose a chattel mortgage on certain machinery placed in a gin mill, it was proper to permit the mortgage to be corrected so as to include an article which was omitted therefrom by mutual mistake, the purchase price of which was included in notes to secure which the mortgage was given, even as against one who held a prior vendor's lien on the mill. Willis v. Munger Improved Cotton Mach. Mfg. Co., 13 C. A. 677, 36 S. W. 1010.

A chattel mortgage on machinery in a gin mill may be reformed, so as to include an article omitted therefrom by mutual mistake, the purchase price of which was included in notes to secure which the mortgage was given. Willis v. Munger Improved Cotton Mach. Mfg. Co., 13 C. A. 677, 36 S. W. 1010.

A written instrument may be reformed on oral proof in case of fraud, accident or mistake, but in case of negligence or inattention relief will not be given. Clack v. Wood, 14 C. A. 400, 37 S. W. 188.

In the absence of proof of fraud or accident, a chattel mortgage containing no power of sale cannot be modified so as to authorize a sale by parol evidence that it was intended by the parties that the mortgagor should execute an instrument under which the mortgagee could "make his money" out of the property without going into court, where the mortgagee was present when the instrument was executed by the mortgagor, and took possession of the same without examining it. Id.

A mortgagee's agent, in drafting a mortgage, included therein a description of more of the mortgagor's land than it was agreed should be included; and the mortgagor, for the reason that she did not have her spectacles with her, and could not read without them, did not read the same, but executed it in reliance upon the representations of the mortgagee's agent that it included only the land agreed on. Held, that her failure to read the mortgage, under the circumstances, was not such negligence as would deprive her of a right to have the instrument reformed. Conn v. Hagan, 93 T. 334, 55 S. W. 323.

Failure of a mortgagor to examine the mortgage is not negligence which will prevent his having it reformed, where he relied on the representations of the mortgagee, to whom its preparation was intrusted, that it described the land agreed to be included. American Freehold Land Mortg. Co. of London v. Pace, 23 C. A. 222, 56 S. W. 377.

Equity will correct a mutual mistake in the description in a written instrument by which a man and wife have sought to incumber their homestead. Silliman v. Taylor, 35 C. A. 490, 80 S. W. 651.

The fact that an incumbrance has been foreclosed, and the property sold, will not prevent the correction of a mutual mistake in the description in the instrument creating the lien; the foreclosure judgment being set aside, and a new foreclosure ordered. Id.

In an action to correct the mistaken description in an instrument creating a mechanic's lien which had been foreclosed, one of the plaintiffs was alleged in the petition to have purchased for the original lienor and his assignees, and to have paid the assignees, and to hold an assignment of the judgment as security against the lienor for repayment. Held sufficient to show privity between such plaintiff and the lienees, enabling him to maintain the action. Id.

If a written instrument fails to express the intention of the parties, equity will afford relief, though the failure results from a mistake as to the legal meaning of the language employed. Zieschang v. Helmke (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 436.

Where a predicate is laid therefor in the pleadings, by an allegation of fraud, accident, or mistake, held, parol evidence is admissible to vary, alter, or change the terms of a written instrument. Syler v. Culp (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 175.

The mere omission to read or know the contents of a written instrument does not bar right to a reformation on account of mistake or fraud. Harry v. Hamilton (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 637.

— Judicial records and proceedings.—Parol evidence is admissible to show a clerical error in the return to an execution. Davidson v. Chandler, 27 C. A. 418, 65 S. W. 1080.

An action to correct a misdescription of a land certificate in administration proceedings, 25 years afterwards, comes too late. Tevis' Heirs v. Armstrong, 71 T. 59, 9 S. W. 134.

Parol evidence held not admissible because varying a judgment. Davis v. Ragland, 42 C. A. 400, 93 S. W. 1099.

Parol evidence held admissible to show fact of a mistake in condemnation proceedings as a basis for reforming the award and judgment. Getzender v. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co., 43 C. A. 66, 102 S. W. 161.

— Official records and proceedings.—Parol evidence held admissible to show that an election ballot bore incorrect initials of the nominee, through mistake. Davis v. Harper, 17 C. A. 88, 42 S. W. 788.

— Deeds.—Where there is no ambiguity in the language used in the deed, evidence should not be admitted that words were intended to convey a meaning different from that which they ordinarily bear, and which the law, in the connection in which they appear, attaches to them. When the controversy as to construction of words is between the original parties to the instrument, a mutual mistake may be shown. Evidence of a mistake cannot be admitted to affect the rights of a subsequent purchaser for value without notice. Farley v. Deslonde, 69 T. 458, 6 S. W. 786.

Equity will not relieve against mistakes, as to the number of acres in land conveyed by metes and bounds, in the absence of fraud. Dalton v. Rust, 22 T. 133.

Where a deed has passed, and the price has been paid for a much larger quantity of land than the tract actually contained, the purchaser's only remedy is by having the deed reformed in equity. Smith v. Fly, 24 T. 345, 76 Am. Dec. 109.

Where a grantor knows the contents of a deed and its legal effect, he cannot be relieved from the result on the ground of mistake, or by showing that he intended to convey a different estate from that purported by the deed. Lott v. Kaiser, 61 T. 665.

Where both parties to a deed intended that there should be a conveyance of a certain number of acres to satisfy a certain debt, but, by mistake of both, a greater number, of much greater value, is included, correction will be granted, against one who took a deed from the grantee knowing the facts and that correction was to be applied for. Yarzombeck v. Grier (Civ. App.) 32 S. W. 236.

A mutual mistake in the description of land conveyed to another may be shown by parol evidence. Bumpas v. Zachary (Civ. App.) 34 S. W. 672.

Where a deed of land to a railroad company for depot purposes was not prepared by the company, and, before signing, was modified by the addition of a provision by direction of the grantor, and afterwards delivered to the company, there is no ground on which a court of equity can reform the instrument, at the suit of the grantor, by the addition of further conditions. Jones v. Flournoy (Civ. App.) 37 S. W. 236.

Land was purchased for a valuable consideration, and a deed was executed, but through mistake of the draftsman the land was not described. The land was levied on by an execution creditor of the vendor, but with notice of all the facts. Held, that by purchase of the land at the execution sale the equitable right of the original purchaser to have the deed reformed was not defeated. Milby v. Regan, 16 C. A. 352, 41 S. W. 372.

Where the evidence shows that the parties to the conveyance intended to convey the south 64 acres of a tract, though in fact conveying the north 64 acres, the conveyance will be reformed. Lilley v. Equitable Securities Co. (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 1082.

For over 50 years claimants under a patent conveying the same amount, but not all the land included in the original certificate and survey, acquiesced in its correctness and validity. In the meantime purchasers acquired rights, under a later patent, in land which the prior patent should have covered, but did not cover, and held the same for over 40 years, until there was no unappropriated land on which to relocate under the certificate on which the later patent was issued. The claimants under the first patent did not disclaim title to any of the land covered by their patent, and the land covered by the later patent did not appear to be more valuable than that covered by the prior patent. Held, that the claimants under the prior patent were not entitled to have it corrected so as to interfere with the claimants under the later patent. Lubbock v. Binns, 20 C. A. 407, 50 S. W. 584.

A deed of trust was executed by husband and wife, conveying separate property of the wife, to secure the husband's debt. All statutory requirements were complied with. The deed conveying to the wife described the buildings on the property, but erroneously described the lot numbers; and such error was incorporated in the deed of trust, which described the lots as the property theretofore conveyed to the wife, and gave the dimensions of the property, and date and record of the deed. The property intended to be conveyed was pointed out by the husband, and neither he nor his wife owned other lots in the block described. Thereafter a deed of correction was executed to the wife by her grantors, correctly describing the lot numbers, and reciting the erroneous description in their former deed. Held that, in the absence of allegation and proof of fraud and collusion, equity would reform such deed. Avery v. Hunton, 23 C. A. 353, 56 S. W. 210.

Where a reformation of an absolute deed was sought as preliminary to having the instrument declared to be a mortgage and foreclosed, and it was determined that plaintiff was not entitled to the principal relief, it was not entitled to reformation. Goodbar & Co. v. Bloom, 43 C. A. 434, 96 S. W. 657.

In conveyances, the intention of the parties must control in determining what land is actually bought and sold, and, when that intention is clearly shown, any mistake in the description contained in the deed should be corrected, and the same made to conform to the intention of the parties. Laufer v. Moppins, 44 C. A. 472, 99 S. W. 109.

Parol evidence to vary a deed held inadmissible, in the absence of pleadings alleging mistake. Astin v. Mosteller (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 701.

In the absence of fraud or mistake in the making of a deed conveying land in fee for a recited consideration, parol evidence is inadmissible to show that the grantor did not intend to convey the premises described to the grantee according to the legal effect of the instrument. Johnson v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 1167.

Parol evidence is admissible to show that by mutual mistake of the parties to a deed land has been omitted which was intended to be conveyed. Harry v. Hamilton (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 637. See, also, notes under Art. 1103, §§ 77-82.

— Leases.—Certain evidence of previous parol agreement for rent of lands held admissible to show that certain provisions were omitted from written lease by mistake. Cage v. Patton, 41 C. A. 248, 91 S. W. 311.

— Contracts in general.—A mistake in a written contract may be shown by parol. Hilliard v. White (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 553.

Where an agreement to pay a sum in gold is reduced to writing, but by mistake the word "gold" is not written in the contract, the instrument may be reformed to correspond with the real contract, and a decree may be rendered thereon accordingly. Gammage v. Moore, 42 T. 170.

To warrant reformation of a contract on the ground of an important omission, the mistake and the terms of the contract must be satisfactorily established. Waco Tap R. Co. v. Shirley, 45 T. 355.

If parties enter into an agreement, but there is an error in its reduction to writing, through mistake of the tradesmen, so that the agreement omits terms contrary to the common intention of the parties, equity will afford relief by way of reformation. Glisson v. Craig, 1 App. C. C. § 42.

A contract providing for the payment of $26 per month on 13 shares in a building and loan association, "as provided for in the by-laws of the association," which are made a part of the contract, furnishes the evidence of a mutual mistake,—the by-laws providing only for a payment of $1 per month on each share,—which may be corrected. Abbott v. International Bldg. & Loan Ass'n, 86 T. 467, 25 S. W. 620.

Where an agreement is usurious, the fact that it recites that it was given to remove doubts as to the usurious character of a previous agreement between the parties does not authorize a reformation of such subsequent agreement for mutual mistake, so as to obviate its usurious features, in the absence of evidence of mistake in the terms of the agreement; mistake as to its effect being of law only. Bexar Building & Loan Ass'n v. Seebe (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 875.

Where a building and loan association, through its agent, verbally agrees to loan a sum named to a borrower, with interest at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, and a premium upon said sum at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, said interest to be paid in monthly and quarterly installments until the amount of the loan is repaid, and to be secured by mortgage on certain lands, and the agent, by false representations, procures from the mortgagor, who is illiterate, and unable to read and write, the execution of papers imposing obligations not contemplated in said verbal agreement, the contract of the parties will be made to conform to the verbal agreement. Pioneer Savings & Loan Co. v. Baumann (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 49.

Where both parties to a written contract are mistaken as to the effect of the writing, and ignorant of its misstatement of their agreement, the failure of one of them to understand, through omission to give sufficient attention to its contents, cannot avail the other equally at fault as a defense against a suit to correct the mistake. Kelley v. Ward, 60 S. W. 311, 94 T. 289, affirming (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 207.

Though equity may grant relief from a mistake in a contract where there is fraud or the mistake is mutual, a contract which the parties intended to make, but did not make, cannot be set up in place of one which they did make, but did not intend to make. Reagan v. Bruff, 49 C. A. 226, 108 S. W. 185.

Where a writing embodies the contract actually made, the fact that the parties acted under a mistake of law, equity, or fact will not authorize a reformation. Delaware Ins. Co. of Philadelphia v. Hill (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 283.

Facts held not to show such mistake in the making of a written contract, as to authorize one of the parties to vary it by parol evidence. Murray Co. v. Putman (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 631.

Equity may not reform a contract in advance of its attempted enforcement, except in so far as it may be accomplished in the correction of written instruments relied on as evidence of the agreement. May v. Cearley (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 165.

Though equity will relieve from the effect of terms embodied in a written contract by a mutual mistake, yet mere proof of an antecedent verbal contract in terms variant from the contract reduced to writing, does not show mutual mistake. Dalton v. Dalton (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 241.

An executory contract will neither be enforced nor reformed where a unilateral mistake is shown, since, under such circumstances, the minds of the parties never met; and to reform the contract in accordance with the views of the party who made the mistake would be to make a new contract. Watson v. Dodson (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 329.

An experienced business man signing a contract after looking it over with full opportunity to understand it is not entitled to reformation. Hart v. Jopling (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1075.

— Contracts of sale.—In an action for specific performance of a contract for the sale of land, the vendee was permitted to show the representations of the vendor as to the boundaries of the land, and to have the contract reformed and enforced so as to conform to such representations. Goff v. Jones, 70 T. 572, 8 S. W. 525, 8 Am. St. Rep. 619.

— Contracts of insurance.—Parol evidence is admissible to show that the insurer or its agent, having knowledge or means of knowledge of the facts, are alone responsible for an omission or improper statement in the application, and made a matter of warranty, and that the insurer is thereby estopped from claiming a forfeiture. Banking Co. v. Stone, 49 T. 4. And so where there is a misdescription of the insured property. Insurance Co. v. Lewis, 48 T. 622.

In a suit to reform a policy for mistake, parol evidence showing the real agreement, though some weeks prior to its issuance, is admissible. Delaware Ins. Co. of Philadelphia v. Hill (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 283. See, also, notes under Art. 4972f, § 22.

RULE 29. PAROL EVIDENCE IS ADMISSIBLE TO ESTABLISH A SEPARATE ORAL AGREEMENT CONSTITUTING A CONDITION PRECEDENT TO AN OBLIGATION CLAIMED TO ARISE ON A WRITTEN AGREEMENT

Contracts in general.—Several persons signed a subscription paper agreeing to pay designated sums to any person who would build a bridge at a given place named. Held, it was not competent to show by parol evidence that the building of the bridge was to be let out to the lowest bidder. Cooper v. McCrimmin, 33 T. 383, 7 Am. Rep. 268.

Contracts of sale and deeds.—Suit was brought upon a written order for goods, and parol evidence was admitted on the part of the defendant that the order was given by him with the understanding and express condition that he reserved the right to countermand the same at any time before the goods were shipped, and that he did so countermand the order. James v. King, 2 App. C. C. § 544.

The admission of parol evidence to vary a written instrument held reversible error. Gale Mfg. Co. v. Finkelstein (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 571.

In determining whether a city had complied with the conditions of a deed dedicating land for street purposes, a letter written by the grantor to the city previous to the execution of the deed is inadmissible. City of Dallas v. Gibbs, 27 C. A. 275, 65 S. W. 81.

Where a written contract for sale of soda water fountain provided that buyer could not countermand his order, it was error, in an action on the contract, to admit evidence of countermand. Harris-Hearin Fountain Co. v. Pressler, 35 C. A. 360, 80 S. W. 664.

A parol agreement by the seller of farm machinery to rebuild the engine, on the faith of which the purchaser executed notes and a chattel mortgage on the machinery, held not an attempt to vary by parol the contract shown by the notes and mortgage. Mangum v. Buffalo Pitts Co. (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1196.

A written contract to convey a merchantable title, and providing that, to secure performance, each party has deposited a sum to be returned on compliance with the contract, and that, in case of unavoidable delay, a few days additional should be allowed, cannot be varied by parol evidence of an agreement that the question of title should be submitted to a designated attorney whose decision should be binding. Whitaker v. Willis (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1004.

Bills and notes or indorsement thereof.—In a suit on a note for the purchase-money of real property of minors sold by order of the probate court, a plea setting up a contemporaneous verbal agreement upon valuable consideration inuring to the benefit of the minors, between the guardian and the purchaser, one of the payers of the note, that the payment of the note should not be demanded until one of the minors should marry or arrive at full age, was held bad. Reid v. Allen, 18 T. 241.

There was a written agreement between the parties to a note that payment should not be demanded at its maturity if the maker failed to make crops. Suit having been brought on the note on default of payment at maturity, the defendant pleaded in abatement of the action a contemporaneous parol agreement not to sue if the maker of the note failed to make good crops, etc. Held, that the plea was bad. Smith v. Garrett, 29 T. 48.

In a suit on a note given for land, a plea setting up a contemporaneous parol agreement that payment depended upon the result of a suit between other parties about the title to the land was held bad. Bedwell v. Thompson, 25 T. 245.

E. and W., as partners, were jointly indebted to P. on account; E. executed and delivered the note on which suit was brought in settlement of the account, which was receipted and delivered to him. The note read, "We promise to pay," etc. E. pleaded that he was not liable on the note, because, at the date of its execution, it was agreed that the note was also to be signed by W., and that, unless so signed, its obligations were not to be binding on him. Held, evidence was admissible in support of the answer. Proctor v. Evans, 1 App. C. C. § 647.

Parol evidence held inadmissible to vary terms of note. Ablowich v. Greenville Nat. Bank, 22 C. A. 272, 54 S. W. 794.

In an action on a note by an assignee after maturity, a witness held entitled to testify that he signed the note under an agreement with the payee that he should not be liable and that the latter would indemnify him against loss. Citizens' Nat. Bank v. Cammer (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 625.

A note in the usual form and payable on demand may not be varied by a parol agreement that it should not be payable, except on the happening of a contingency not mentioned in the note. Key v. Hickman (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 275.

Contracts of suretyship.—Suit was brought against A. and B. on a joint obligation for the payment of money. B. answered that he signed his name to the instrument as surety for A. with the understanding with all the parties to the instrument that T. was also to sign as surety; that it was further understood and agreed between all the parties that if the signature of T. was not procured as a co-surety, the instrument was to be of no force or effect. Held, that the answer set up a good defense. Loving v. Dixon, 56 T. 75.

Parol evidence held admissible to show violation of the maker's agreement not to deliver the note until another solvent surety was obtained. Large v. Parker (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 587.

RULE 30. PAROL EVIDENCE IS ADMISSIBLE TO SHOW THAT A WRITTEN AGREEMENT HAS BEEN RESCINDED, MODIFIED, EXTENDED OR WAIVED BY A SUBSEQUENT VALID AGREEMENT

In general.—A new and distinct agreement resting upon a sufficient consideration may be established by parol, as having been entered into as a substitute for the original contract, or the time of performance of such written agreement may be enlarged, or the place of performance changed, or actual performance be actually waived. And so a supplementary agreement in parol, resting on a sufficient consideration, may be proved by parol. Hogan v. Crawford, 31 T. 633; Self v. King, 28 T. 552.

Parol evidence is admissible to prove a new and distinct agreement upon a new consideration, whether it be a substitute for a prior agreement in writing or in addition to and beyond it. And if subsequent, and involving the same subject-matter, it is immaterial whether the new agreement be entirely oral, or whether it refer to and partially or totally adopt the provisions of the former contract in writing, provided the old agreement be abandoned and rescinded. Harper v. Kelley, 1 App. C. C. § 22.

The rule that parol contemporaneous evidence is inadmissible to contradict or vary the terms of a valid written instrument does not apply where the object of the evidence is to show a separate subsequent valid agreement to rescind, modify, extend or waive the contract, or a provision of it. Ackerman v. Bundren, 1 App. C. C. § 1306.

In an action on a contract, evidence to establish a subsequent oral agreement is not error where such agreement is not inconsistent with the written contract. Strauss v. Gross, 21 S. W. 305, 2 C. A. 432.

A contract whereby an owner of real estate, in order to induce an agent to accept a stipulated sum for his services in effecting an exchange, agreed to pay him more if the deal proved satisfactory, held provable by parol evidence. Blair v. Slosson, 27 C. A. 403, 66 S. W. 112.

A verbal promise, made after execution of a contract, to pay the balance of a sum therein, recited to have been received as consideration for work agreed to be done, part only of the sum having been received, may be proved. House v. Holland, 42 C. A. 502, 94 S. W. 153.

Where a verbal contract is a complete novation of a written contract, parol evidence of the verbal contract does not offend against the rule relating to varying terms of a written contract. Weeks v. Stevens (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 667.

Bills and notes.—In an action on a note against a surety, an answer alleging that for a consideration plaintiff had agreed with the person for whose benefit the note was made that such person might pay it in work, etc., and that he had done work of greater value than the amount due on such note, was not objectionable as contradicting the terms of the note. Lee v. Durham (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1135.

Security.—Evidence of parol modification of written contract held admissible against a stranger, claiming benefit of limitations under contract. Liner v. J. E. Watkins Land Mortg. Co., 29 C. A. 187, 68 S. W. 311.

Contracts for buildings or other works.—An oral agreement of an architect with commissioners to so change plans that they would be satisfactory held admissible, though not in the commissioners' record, it being the architect's agreement. Gordon v. Denton County (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 737.

Contracts of carriage.—Admission of evidence as to conversation with carrier's yardman relative to feeding and watering shipment of cattle held not error as varying the written contract of shipment, since the provision that the shipper would feed and water them could be waived. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Scott (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 294.

Extension of time for performance.—Parol evidence held admissible to show that a contract had been renewed, where it provided that it was renewable by mutual consent. Pasteur Vaccine Co. v. Burkey, 22 C. A. 232, 54 S. W. 804.

Discharge or performance of obligation.—See notes under Rule 20.

RULE 31. WHEN THE RECORD LEAVES THE FACT IN DOUBT, PAROL EVIDENCE IS ADMISSIBLE TO SHOW THAT A JUDGMENT WAS NOT RENDERED ON THE MERITS

Presumptions as to judgment.—See notes under Rule 12.

Admissibility of parol evidence.—See notes under Rules 20, 21, 22, and 28.

Validity and conclusiveness of judgment and collateral attack thereon.—See notes under Art. 1994.

See also notes under Introductory (Documentary Evidence), and Rule 33.

RULE 32. A RECITAL IN A DEED BINDS THE PARTIES AND THEIR PRIVIES IN SUITS FOUNDED UPON SUCH INSTRUMENT OR GROWING OUT OF THE TRANSACTION IN WHICH IT IS GIVEN

I. Creation and operation of estoppel in general.

1. Nature and elements in general.
2. Instruments operating as estoppel—Deeds.
3. — Bonds and other obligations.
4. — Defective, inoperative or invalid instruments and transactions.
5. Recitals in deeds and mortgages as grounds of estoppel.

6. Persons to whom estoppel is available.
7. Persons estopped in general.
8. Effect, as against heir, of covenant of ancestor.
9. Grantees or mortgagees.
10. Remote grantees.
11. Persons acting in particular character or capacity.
12. Matters precluded.

II. Estates and rights subsequently acquired.

- | | |
|---|---|
| 13. Estoppel as to title subsequently acquired in general. 14. Instruments operating on title subsequently acquired. 15. — Conveyances with covenants. 16. — Conveyances without covenants. 17. Grounds of estoppel. | 18. Persons to whom estoppel is available. 19. Persons estopped in general. 20. Grantors or mortgagors and privies. 21. Estates or rights affected. 22. — Title acquired from or adversely to grantee. 23. — Title acquired in different right. |
|---|---|

I. Creation and Operation of Estoppel in General

1. Nature and elements in general.—Where real estate was purchased under a deed of general warranty, and the solvency of the warrantor is not shown, a plea of estoppel by the grantee in an action regarding the boundaries of the land will not be sustained. Childress County Land & Cattle Co. v. Baker, 23 C. A. 451, 56 S. W. 756.

2. Instruments operating as estoppel—Deeds.—In trespass to try title plaintiff claimed under a patent issued to him as assignee of Mullen on the 15th of June, 1858. The defendant relied as a defense on ten years' possession since the location of the certificate, and read in evidence the field-notes of the survey of the land made for plaintiff, as assignee of Mullen. Held, that plaintiff was stopped from denying the genuineness of the certificate. Kimbrow v. Hamilton, 28 T. 560.

Plaintiff, having previously joined in a warranty deed conveying land to defendants, held estopped from thereafter recovering the same. Matula v. Lane (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 112.

Facts held to show an estoppel by deed. Jones' Estate v. Neal, 44 C. A. 412, 98 S. W. 417.

3. — Bonds and other obligations.—In 1849 D. executed to R. a title bond for land, covenanting for a deed whenever a patent issued. Shortly afterwards R. sold the land by a verbal contract to L., who paid a part of the purchase-money. Afterwards R. sued L. for the unpaid balance of the purchase-money before a justice of the peace. L. defended on the statute of frauds, and set up fraud and misrepresentation in the sale. At the trial R. tendered L. a deed in writing, which was accepted by L., who still insisted upon his plea in reconvention, and judgment was rendered in his favor. In 1857 L. brought suit against D., to whom patent had been issued. R. intervened and claimed a rescission of the contract on the ground that the purchase-money had not been paid. Held, that R. was estopped by his title bond from claiming the land against L., and as the judgment of the justice determined that nothing was due him, he was not entitled to a rescission by reason of the non-payment of the balance of the purchase-money. Lovejoy v. Roberts, 35 T. 605.

A vendee of land holding under a bond for title, and giving notes for purchase-money, is estopped from denying the title of his grantor unless the contract was obtained by his false and fraudulent representations. Cook v. Coleman (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 756; Hammers v. Hanrick, 69 T. 412, 7 S. W. 345; McKie v. Anderson, 78 T. 210, 14 S. W. 576. See Rice v. Railway Co., 87 T. 90, 26 S. W. 1047, 47 Am. St. Rep. 72.

4. — Defective, inoperative or invalid instruments and transactions.—A married woman is not estopped by conveyance of land not executed in conformity with law, in the absence of positive fraud or act of concealment or suppression equivalent thereto. Berry v. Donley, 26 T. 737; Eckhardt v. Schlecht, 29 T. 130; Fitzgerald v. Turner, 43 T. 79; Johnson v. Bryan, 62 T. 623; Williams v. Ellingsworth, 75 T. 480, 12 S. W. 746; Blagge v. Moore, 23 S. W. 466, 6 C. A. 359.

A. executed to B. a deed for land in which a blank space was left for the field notes, which were inserted after the delivery of the deed. Afterwards B. sold the land to D. In a controversy between A. and D. in regard to the ownership of the land, A. is estopped from denying the validity of the deed on the ground that the land was not described in it when delivered. Ragsdale v. Robinson, 48 T. 379.

A married woman properly executed a deed conveying land, her separate property; it recited a consideration of $1,500, and the name of the grantee was in blank. The deed was placed by her husband in the hands of an agent to effect a sale, and the land was sold by him for $1,000, and the money paid to the husband, the wife refusing to receive any part of it. Held, that she was not estopped by the deed from recovering the land from the purchaser, but having remained silent for seven years while the purchaser was improving the property, she was estopped from recovering possession until she paid for the improvements. Cole v. Bammel, 62 T. 108.

Though a deed contains an erroneous recital of authority as administratrix from the probate court to make the deed, the widow and heirs are estopped as against the grantee. Williams v. Hardie, 85 T. 499, 22 S. W. 399.

Where a father made a deed of real estate to his children, without delivery or intention to pass title, he was not divested of title or estopped to deny its validity, though he placed it on record, and it was made in fraud of a second wife. Koppelman v. Koppelman, 94 T. 40, 57 S. W. 570.

A deed held not to pass by estoppel land without its description. Smith v. Bunch, 31 C. A. 541, 73 S. W. 559.

Grantor in undelivered deed held not estopped from suing for its cancellation. Garner v. Risinger, 35 C. A. 378, 81 S. W. 343.

A deed by the widow of deceased as his legal representative, though under a void decree, held to estop one to claim an interest in the land as her heir. Cope v. Blount, 38 C. A. 516, 91 S. W. 615.

Where a married woman is imposed upon by one in whom she has confidence, and induced to sign and acknowledge a deed covering land which she has not bargained to sell, she is not estopped, in an action to set the deed aside, to allege her want of knowledge of what land was covered by the deed. Oar v. Davis, 105 T. 479, 151 S. W. 794.

5. Recitals in deeds and mortgages as grounds of estoppel.—An agent controlling two judgments against an estate for different parties received a conveyance of land from the administrator in trust to sell and apply the proceeds of sale to their payment. Afterwards a deed was made by the administrator to one of the judgment creditors under order of the probate court, in a proceeding to which said creditor was not a party, which purported to convey other land in full satisfaction of the creditor's judgment. The deed was not delivered to the creditor or accepted by him, but was accepted by the trustee. In a proceeding by this creditor against the administrator and the other judgment creditors to recover an interest in the trust land, it was held that the recitals in the deed not embraced in the trust deed could work no estoppel of his rights under the deed of trust. Stephenson v. Martin, 68 T. 483, 3 S. W. 89.

Mortgagors held estopped by recitals in the mortgage to claim the property as a homestead. Scottish-American Mortg. Co. v. Scripture (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 210.

Recital in partition deed held insufficient as an estoppel. Illg v. Garcia, 92 T. 251, 47 S. W. 717.

A witness held not estopped, by recitals in a deed executed by him, from testifying to the interest he intended to convey thereby. Mayfield v. Robinson, 22 C. A. 385, 55 S. W. 399.

A denial by the grantor of a recital in a deed held not admissible, where the effect of such denial was to render the deed wholly inoperative. Kahn v. Kahn, 94 T. 114, 58 S. W. 825.

Where a married woman is imposed upon by one in whom she has confidence, and induced to sign and acknowledge a deed covering land which she has not bargained to sell, she is not estopped, in an action to set the deed aside, to deny her want of knowledge of what land was covered by the deed. Oar v. Davis, 105 T. 479, 151 S. W. 794.

Recitals in deeds made by plaintiff as the surviving wife of decedent, sought and made to prevent litigation with adverse claimants, that she was the surviving wife of decedent did not estop the grantees from showing that she was not decedent's surviving wife. Berger v. Kirby, 105 T. 611, 153 S. W. 1130.

6. Persons to whom estoppel is available.—A plaintiff claimed a tract of land under purchase from a colonist in 1831. The sale was void, and plaintiff relied upon the recitals in several deeds of conveyance of other lands by his grantor to other parties, which recognized the title of plaintiff to the land in controversy, as matter of estoppel against the defendants, who claimed under the heirs of the grantor. It was held that recitals in deeds do not operate as estoppels in favor of strangers to the instrument, but only between parties and privies thereto; and the estoppel only arises in suits founded upon the instrument which contains the recital, or growing out of the transaction in which it is given, and not in other or collateral controversies between the same parties. Williams v. Chandler, 25 T. 4.

Defendants in trespass to try title held not estopped to set up a different title from that in the deed under which they claimed, where plaintiffs were not privies thereto. Lumkins v. Coates (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 580.

Where a grantor of land reserved from the land conveyed a certain number of acres, in an action by his heir to recover the same, defendant could not set up an estoppel precluding recovery. Bartell v. Kelsey (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 631.

Where the owner of land conveyed part of same, reserving a certain number of acres previously conveyed or agreed to be conveyed to another, the heir of the other being a stranger to the deed, recital of the agreement did not estop the grantor's heir from asserting his title to the portion reserved. Id.

Judgment creditors, levying on land of grantee in a deed, held not to thereby become a privy under parties to deed. Hart v. Meredith, 27 C. A. 271, 65 S. W. 507.

Recitals in deed held not to constitute an estoppel as to strangers to the instrument. Id.

A call in a deed for the east boundary of the K. survey as the west boundary of the land conveyed would not operate as an estoppel, as against the grantee of any stranger. McLennan v. Fisher (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 598.

7. Persons estopped in general.—R., as the attorney of L., negotiated for the purchase of a lot in the name of L., and as his attorney executed a trust deed for a balance due on the purchase money; he paid taxes on the lot as L.'s, insured improvements on the lot in the name of L., and as his attorney executed a deed of trust on the lot for the benefit of M. R. resided on the lot with his family when the deed of trust was executed and until his death. M. bought the property at the sale under the deed of trust made for his benefit, and after the death of R. brought suit against the widow of R. for the recovery of the lot in the ordinary form of an action of trespass to try title. The defendant claimed that the lot had been purchased by her husband, in part with community funds and in part with money derived from the sale of their former homestead, her separate property; she had no knowledge of the condition of the property until after her husband's death; she alleged that the powers of attorney under which her husband claimed to act were forgeries, and claimed the lot as her homestead. Held, the community interest of the wife in the lots was held in privity of estate with her husband's community interest, and, the title of the community being controlled by her husband, she was in this case also estopped in like manner with him. The title to the lot having never been in the community, the extent of the community interest was at most a mere equity or resulting trust, subject to the superior legal or equitable rights of others. The fraudulent acts of the husband would defeat the equitable interest of the community, and thereby defeat the imperfect or dependent homestead right. The case differs widely from one where the homestead is fixed on land to which there is legal title, as in Eckhardt v. Schlecht, 29 T. 129. See Ranney v. Miller, 51 T. 263.

Recitals in deeds are binding on all parties claiming under them. Gonzales v. Batts, 20 C. A. 421, 50 S. W. 403.

While a wife, who executes a mortgage, is not bound by her covenants of warranty of title contained therein, her husband, joining in the mortgage, is bound by his covenants. Logue v. Atkeson, 35 C. A. 303, 80 S. W. 137.

A trustee in a trust deed held not estopped to acquire title adverse to a purchaser on foreclosure of the deed by action. Wm. D. Cleveland & Sons v. Smith (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 547.

Recitals in a deed executed by a trustee that it was in pursuance of a deed of trust conferring power on the trustee were not binding on persons who were not privies to the deed of trust. Skov v. Coffin (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 450.

In a suit for partition between cotenants, held, that the plaintiffs were not estopped. Schriver v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 231.

Recitals in deeds do not affect the rights of parties who had no connection therewith. Id.

Recitals in recorded deeds cannot affect an owner of land if they were not a link in his chain of title, so as to operate as an estoppel against him. Haley v. Sabine Valley Timber & Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 596.

The recitals in a deed are binding not only on the immediate parties thereto but on all claiming under it. Unknown Heirs of Criswell v. Robbins (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 210.

The trustee in a deed of trust is under no obligation to defend the title of the grantor, and not estopped from purchasing a title adverse to that of the purchaser on foreclosure. W. D. Cleveland & Sons v. Smith (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 247.

8. Effect, as against heir, of covenant of ancestor.—Heirs of an administratrix conveying the lands of her husband held estopped to claim any interest in such lands. Broocks v. Payne (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 463.

Recitals in a power of attorney of the execution of a deed held to estop the attorney to claim title to the land. Skov v. Coffin (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 450.

A warranty in a deed only binds the grantor's heirs to the extent of the property received by them from the grantor's estate, and it being insolvent the heirs are not estopped to acquire a title adverse to that conveyed by their ancestor. W. D. Cleveland & Sons v. Smith (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 247.

Paramount title acquired by grantor's heir held not to have inured to the benefit of a grantee under the grantor's covenant of warranty. Wagner v. Gelselman (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 524.

9. Grantees or mortgagees.—By an act passed in 1845 the owners of land in San Patricio county whose lands had not been correctly marked and designated were required to have them resurveyed within two years. The owner of a Spanish grant, after the two years expired, had his land resurveyed in 1848, the corners marked and the resurvey recorded and delineated on the map. In a suit between the vendee of that owner of the grant and a patentee under recent location claiming under patent from the state land outside of the limits of the grant according to the resurvey, but claimed by the vendee to be within the calls of the original grant, held, that the vendee claiming in privity of the estate of the owner of the Spanish grant who marked and recorded his boundaries was estopped from averring as against the subsequent locator that other and different lines than those marked and recorded inclosed the land. Timon v. Whitehead, 58 T. 290.

By accepting a deed to correct imperfections in his claim of title, a person becomes estopped from claiming any lands not included in the deed. Doty v. Barnard, 92 T. 104, 47 S. W. 712.

Purchaser held not estopped by his deed to deny that there had been a partition of the land among the vendor and others. Carnes v. Swift (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 85.

Recitals in deed to a third person through whom both parties claimed held binding on both parties. Colville v. Colville (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 870.

Acceptance of a quitclaim by the purchaser on foreclosure of a vendor's lien held not to create an estoppel. Gamble v. Martin (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 327.

10. Remote grantees.—Defendant, in trespass to try title, was estopped to deny title of one, under whom both parties claimed, as a common source, to the certificate under which the land was located. Thompson & Tucker Lumber Co. v. Platt (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 268.

11. Persons acting in particular character or capacity.—A deed held to estop one to claim against the grantee an interest in the land as heir of one signing and acknowledging it as legal representative. Cope v. Blount, 99 T. 431, 90 S. W. 868.

A deed by an administrator under a void order of the probate court held to pass the interest of the administrator in the land by estoppel, though it was insufficient to pass the title of his intestate under Paschal's Dig. art. 1327. Schnabel v. McNeill (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 558.

Where executors conveyed property as belonging to the estate, they were estopped from claiming that any part of it belonged to them personally. Tomlinson v. H. P. Drought & Co. (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 262.

12. Matters precluded.—Acceptance of deed without covenant against Johnson grass held not to prevent showing of false representations that there was no such grass on the land. Clary v. Myers (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 633.

Where grantor includes public lands in his deed, he is estopped to deny that he undertook to convey them. Hynes v. Packard (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 548.

Facts held not to estop a tenant in common, having made partition of only part of land owned by him, under mistake of fact, from asserting a claim to his interest in the balance of the land. Cartmell v. Chambers (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 362.

Vendee, accepting deed reciting certain notes as its consideration, and reserving a vendor's lien therefor, could not show that the notes were given to secure loan. Walsh v. Ford, 27 C. A. 573, 66 S. W. 854.

A party conveying land as attorney in fact of the grantor held estopped from thereafter denying that he was such attorney in fact. Walters v. Bray (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 443.

A grantor held estopped by the recitals in her deed to resist the subjection of the land to a lien in plaintiff's favor. Pinckney v. Young (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 622.

A grantee accepting a second deed held estopped from claiming any land not embraced therein. Poitevent v. Scarborough, 103 T. 111, 124 S. W. 87.

II. Estates and Rights Subsequently Acquired

13. Estoppel as to title subsequently acquired in general.—A title acquired after the execution of an instrument to "convey" the land held to inure to the grantee's benefit. Garrett v. McClain, 18 C. A. 245, 44 S. W. 47.

An administrator's location of land for the heirs being invalid, a subsequent relocation vested the title thereby acquired in the administrator's vendees and their grantees. Pendleton v. Shaw, 18 C. A. 439, 44 S. W. 1002.

A purchaser, who relies upon estoppel for an after-acquired title, can have no greater right than has the grantor against whom the estoppel is claimed. Newton v. Easterwood (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 646.

14. Instruments operating on title subsequently acquired.—A vendee not only takes the title held by the vendor at the time of sale, but whatever other additional title the vendor, who comes with a warranty, may afterwards acquire inures to his benefit. Mays v. Lewis, 4 T. 38.

The deed of a married woman, joined by her husband, does not operate on an after-acquired title. Morrison v. Balzer, 35 C. A. 247, 80 S. W. 248.

A mortgage given on community property by an heir having a one-half interest therein attaches to the entire property after the mortgagor has received a conveyance of the widow's interest therein. American Nat. Bank of Paris v. First Nat. Bank, 52 C. A. 519, 114 S. W. 176.

Grantor under a deed of trust held estopped to claim that land within the description subsequently obtained by him under partition was not covered by the deed. Anderson v. Casey-Swasey Co. (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 918.

If a deed conveyed "all right, title, and interest" of grantor, he will not be estopped to set up an after-acquired title. Breen v. Morehead (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 650.

In a suit to recover land, a deed of trust held not inadmissible because it antedated the deed under which the mortgagors acquired title. Smith v. Burgher (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 75.

15. — Conveyances with covenants.—When a warrantor has purchased a paramount title, it will inure to the benefit of his vendee, who will be liable for the cost of the purchase only. Denson v. Love, 58 T. 468; Trevino v. Cantu, 61 T. 88; McClelland v. Moore, 48 T. 355.

One who has conveyed land by a warranty deed is estopped from setting up an after-acquired title. Robinson v. Douthitt, 64 T. 101.

Whenever a valid conveyance having a covenant of warranty is executed, the purchase of a paramount title by the warrantor will inure to the benefit of the warrantee against the warrantor, his heirs, and those claiming under him with notice. Id.

A deed with restrictive warranty against all persons claiming under the grantor will convey after-acquired title. Randolph v. Junker, 1 C. A. 517, 21 S. W. 551.

A claimant of land, who gave a warranty deed to the other claimant, held not estopped to subsequently acquire title to the land from the state, neither party having had title at the time the deed was given. Simon v. Stearns, 17 C. A. 13, 43 S. W. 50.

Where a son conveyed his undivided half interest in his deceased father's property with general warranty, and afterwards purchased his mother's life interest in the property, such interest in the half previously conveyed vests in the purchaser as against the son. Carnes v. Swift (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 85.

An after-acquired title will pass by a deed in fee covenanting against incumbrances and that the grantor has not conveyed away the estate or any right therein. Scates v. Fohn (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 837.

Though a power did not authorize the grantee to make a warranty deed, such deed passed the after-acquired title of the grantor of the power by estoppel. J. M. Guffey Petroleum Co. v. Hooks, 47 C. A. 560, 106 S. W. 690.

Covenants of a warranty are held to raise an estoppel to avoid a circuitry of action. Breen v. Morehead (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 650.

A covenant to raise an estoppel need not be a covenant of general warranty, for a special covenant will operate as an estoppel. Id.

That a covenant may work an estoppel, it must be in a deed good and valid in law as well as in equity. Id.

A quitclaim deed held to contain no special warranty or representations such as would work an estoppel against grantor, so as to prohibit him or his subsequent grantees from claiming under an after-acquired title. Id.

An after-acquired title of a grantor conveying by general warranty passes to his grantee by operation of law immediately on his acquiring it. Id.

A covenant of general warranty in a deed passes to the covenantee any title to the land subsequently acquired by the covenantor. Tennison v. Palmer (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 948.

For an after-acquired title to pass to a grantee under a warranty of title, it is not necessary that the conveyance should have been upon a valuable consideration. Morris v. Short (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 633.

Where, after conveying land by warranty deed, the grantors acquired title at sheriff's sale under a claim of subrogation under a mortgage previously given by themselves and a deceased brother, such title passed to their vendee, if the judgment under which the sale was made was valid. Newton v. Easterwood (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 646.

A general warranty deed to a one-seventh interest in land owned by a husband and wife, given by one of their seven children on death of the husband, passed the after-acquired title which descended to grantor on death of his mother. Pritchard v. Fox (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1053.

Where a grantor attempts by warranty deed to convey an estate as heir before the death of his ancestor, the grantee will get, by estoppel, whatever title descends to his grantor after the death of the ancestor. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

16. — Conveyances without covenants.—Deed executed in 1860 conveying land without warranty. Held, that the grantors were estopped from asserting title to the land conveyed acquired thereafter by descent. Lindsay v. Freeman, 83 T. 259, 18 S. W. 727.

An after-acquired title will pass by a deed in fee containing no covenant of warranty. Scates v. Fohn (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 837.

The principle of estoppel may be invoked though grantor's deed is without covenant of warranty, if it purports to convey a particular estate which he afterwards acquires. Breen v. Morehead (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 650.

17. Grounds of estoppel.—Where a deed expressly or impliedly falsely represents grantor when conveying was possessed of title which his deed purported to convey, whether he committed a fraud or acted under an honest mistake, he is estopped to deny he has title and cannot set up an after-acquired title. Breen v. Morehead (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 650.

18. Persons to whom estoppel is available.—A mortgagee held subrogated to rights of mortgagor to claim an estoppel by deed against former grantor of the land. Colonial & U. S. Mortg. Co. v. Tubbs (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 623.

19. Persons estopped in general.—Where an heir received nothing from his ancestor's estate, he was not estopped by the ancestor's warranty binding his heirs to acquire an adverse title to that which the ancestor conveyed. Wm. D. Cleveland & Sons v. Smith (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 547.

An execution creditor held not estopped from relying on a title acquired subsequent to the execution sale. Rosenthal & Desberger v. Mounts (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 192.

A title by estoppel can be urged only against those who were estopped by the facts relied on, and does not extend to one who is not a privy in blood or estate to the persons against whom an estoppel was originally available. Newton v. Easterwood (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 646.

20. Grantors or mortgagors and privies.—Where mortgage contained general covenants of warranty, mortgagor's husband, joining therein, held estopped to assert after-acquired title. Logue v. Atkeson, 35 C. A. 303, 80 S. W. 137.

A warranty of title in a transfer of a land certificate estopped the grantor's heirs, who inherited from her the tract received in exchange, from denying her right to transfer it, and from setting up title to the land afterward located under the certificate. Vann v. Denon, 56 C. A. 220, 120 S. W. 1020.

A mortgagor held not estopped to claim after-acquired title. Anderson v. Casey-Swasey Co., 103 T. 466, 129 S. W. 349.

21. Estates or rights affected.—Title acquired by patent held to inure to prior transferee of the land certificate. Baldwin v. Root, 90 T. 546, 40 S. W. 3.

22. — Title acquired from or adversely to grantee.—One who has conveyed the land of which he is in possession thereby precludes himself from claiming title thereto under the statute of limitation under a deed prior in date to his conveyance. Voight v. Mackle, 71 T. 78, 8 S. W. 623.

Where a subsequent purchaser or lienholder is made a defendant in a suit to foreclose a lien, he cannot set up a title acquired by him adverse to that upon which rests the plaintiff's lien and his own subsequent incumbrance sought to be foreclosed by the judgment. Hampshire v. Greeves (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 665.

A grantor is not estopped by his deed from claiming a title by limitation. Dillard v. Cochran (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 662.

23. — Title acquired in different right.—Title acquired by vendors, at sheriff's sale under a suit fraudulently prosecuted against their deceased brother's heir, for whom one of them was guardian, held not to pass to their grantee as after-acquired title; the equitable rule of estoppel not applying to land held constructively in trust for another. Newton v. Easterwood (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 646.

RULE 33. THE ADMISSIONS OF A PARTY OR HIS AGENT ARE ADMISSIBLE IN EVIDENCE WHEN OFFERED BY THE ADVERSE PARTY

See, also, notes under Rule 37.

I. Nature, form and incidents in general.

1. Nature and grounds for admission in general.
2. Subject-matter.
3. Interest of party and relation of admission thereto.
4. Capacity of person making admission.
5. Persons to whom made.
6. Mode of making and form in general.
7. — Conversation through telephone.
8. — Admissions as to indebtedness and amount thereof.
9. — Omission of matters from writing.
10. Judicial admissions in general.
11. Pleadings — Admissibility in same proceedings.
12. — Admissibility in subsequent proceedings in general.
13. — Same or different parties.
14. — Pleadings not verified or signed.
15. — Pleadings not filed.
16. — Pleadings superseded, withdrawn or abandoned.
17. — Defenses stricken out.
18. Petitions, affidavits and depositions.
19. Testimony.
20. Offers of compromise or settlement.
21. — What constitutes offer.

22. — Persons by or to whom made.
23. — Admissions made without prejudice.
24. Statements in writing.
25. — Letters.
26. — Valuation of property for taxation.
27. Oral statements.
28. Acts or conduct.
29. — Suppressing testimony.
30. — Compromise or settlement.
31. Acquiescence or silence.
32. — Failure to deny or object to oral statements in general.
33. — Necessity that oral statement be heard and understood.

II By parties or others interested in event.

34. Parties of record.
35. — Nominal and unnecessary parties.
36. Interest in suit of persons not parties.
37. Joint interest.

III. By grantors, former owners or privies.

38. Privies and former owners in general.
39. Grantors, vendors or mortgagors of real property.
40. — Before conveyance or transfer of possession.

III. By grantors, former owners or privies—Cont'd.

41. — After conveyance or transfer of title in general.
42. — Showing nature of conveyance.
43. — Showing fraud.
44. — After conveyance, but before transfer of possession.
45. Sellers or mortgagors of chattels.
46. — Before transfer or delivery of possession.
47. — After transfer or delivery of possession.
48. — After parting with title, but before change of possession.
49. Assignors for benefit of creditors.
50. Donors.
51. Assignors of rights in action in general.
52. Former holders of bills or notes.
53. Testators and intestates.

IV. By agents or other representatives.

54. Authority in general.
55. Authority at time of admission.
56. Interest of party or representative.
57. Agents or employes in general.
58. — Statements by subagent or special agent.
59. — Scope and extent of agency or employment.
60. — Admissions before or after transaction or event.
61. — Showing agency, authority or employment.

62. Corporate officers, agents and employes.
63. — Officers, agents and employes of insurance companies.
64. — Officers, agents or employes of carriers.
65. Public officers or agents.
66. Attorneys.
67. Persons referred to for information.
68. Husband or wife.
69. Partners.
70. Principal or surety.
71. Trustee or beneficiary.
72. Insured or beneficiary.
73. Conspirators and persons acting together.

V. Proof and effect.

74. Preliminary evidence.
75. — Existence and extent of agency or authority.
76. — Existence of conspiracy or common purpose.
77. Explanation or limitation.
78. — Right to show entire statement or conversation.
79. Pleadings.
80. Construction.
81. Conclusiveness and effect.
82. — As to particular facts in general.
83. — As to indebtedness.
84. — As to title or possession.
85. — As to agency.
86. — Judicial admissions.

I. Nature, Form and Incidents in General

1. Nature and grounds for admission in general.—Admissions of grantee against interest are admissible in evidence in an action seeking to impress the land with a trust. Mixon v. Miles (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 105.

2. Subject-matter.—Partnership may be shown by acts or declarations of the parties sought to be charged. White v. Whaley, 1 App. C. C. § 102.

3. Interest of party and relation of admission thereto.—Statements as to boundaries of land, made by one having no interest therein, are inadmissible against him subsequent to his acquiring title. Bell v. Preston, 19 C. A. 375, 47 S. W. 375, 753.

In an action against a railroad for negligently transporting cattle, declarations of one not the shipper's agent held inadmissible. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Irvine & Woods (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 540.

4. Capacity of person making admission.—Declarations of minors to saloon keeper as to age held admissible, in action on saloon keeper's bond, only to contradict their testimony at trial. State v. Dittfurth & Friederichs (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 52.

5. Persons to whom made.—Testimony as to the declarations of the president of a bank touching its financial ability, made to a witness and never made known to the plaintiff, is incompetent against said president. Baker v. Ashe, 80 T. 356, 16 S. W. 36.

Letters written by defendant to a third person, tending to establish the truth of plaintiff's claim, are admissible. Downey v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 541.

In an action on a check given in settlement of proceedings against defendant's son for assault, evidence of declarations made by plaintiff to defendant's agent, who negotiated the agreement, held admissible. McNeese v. Carver, 40 C. A. 129, 89 S. W. 430.

6. Mode of making and form in general.—In an action by an owner of property abutting on a street for injuries caused by the construction and maintenance by a railroad of a tunnel and approaches in the street, a tax rendition by the owner's general manager held admissible to show the value of the property. Burton Lumber Corp. v. City of Houston, 45 C. A. 363, 101 S. W. 822.

In an action on open accounts, certain evidence held admissible to establish the correctness of the accounts. Stadtler v. South Texas Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 1132.

In an action on a benefit certificate proofs of loss including an affidavit of defendant's finance keeper of the tent to which deceased belonged, showing the date of payment of certificate assessments, held admissible. Knights of Modern Maccabees v. Gillis (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 338.

A verbal partition deed held admissible as an admission on the part of plaintiff that defendant had an interest in the property. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

7. — Conversation through telephone.—On an issue as to whether a telephone company knew the object of a call, certain evidence held inadmissible. Merrill v. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co., 31 C. A. 614, 73 S. W. 422.

A telephone conversation in which defendant's cashier promised plaintiff bank to return its check for the proceeds of a collection from a bank that had failed after paying a check drawn on it by worthless drafts held admissible as an admission against interest. First Nat. Bank v. First Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 831.

8. — Admissions as to indebtedness and amount thereof.—Deposit by defendant of money in an action before a justice held an admission of indebtedness. Low v. Griffin (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 73.

Offer of payment by guarantors held competent, as tending to prove an admission of liability. Rotan Grocery Co. v. Martin (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 706.

Settlement between a taxpayer and a city, void because of city's lack of authority, held not evidence against the taxpayer as to the amount due from her. City of Houston v. Stewart, 40 C. A. 499, 90 S. W. 49.

9. — Omission of matters from writing.—In trespass to try title to land, statement rendered by plaintiff to superintendent of asylum in which her insane husband was confined, as to lands owned by him and plaintiff, held admissible as tending to contradict plaintiff's claim of ownership. Field v. Field, 39 C. A. 1, 87 S. W. 726.

10. Judicial admissions in general.—Suing on a contract given in restraint of trade held an admission that it was in force up to that time, though contract did not fix the time during which such restraint was to continue. Mansur & Tebbetts Implement Co. v. Price, 22 C. A. 616, 55 S. W. 764.

A party will not be permitted to admit a fact as true, and then recover on another state of facts involving its contradiction. Meade v. Logan (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 188.

In an action for assault and battery, evidence of defendant's conviction on a plea of guilty of the same assault before a justice held admissible as an admission. Sumner v. Kinney (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1192.

Where the holder of notes secured by a chattel mortgage sues the makers of the notes and the payee after his transfer to recover on the notes and to foreclose the mortgage lien, he thereby affirms the genuineness of the notes and the existence of the lien. Lissner v. Stewart (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 610.

A default judgment against a firm after due service of process, in which a person was alleged to be a partner, held admissible as an admission by him that he was a partner. Miller v. Laughlin (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 711.

11. Pleadings—Admissibility in same proceedings.—Where general denial is interposed, statements in the answer cannot be used as evidence to sustain the petition. Hynes v. Packard, 92 T. 44, 45 S. W. 562.

Allegations in defendant's reconvention or cross-bill may be used by plaintiff as evidence to support his claim, if introduced by him for that purpose. Lewis v. Crouch (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 1009.

Defendant held not entitled to have matters confessed in the supplemental petition treated as evidence in his favor in support of his cross-action, where the supplemental petition contained a general denial. Banderer v. Gunther Foundry Machine & Supply Co. (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 851.

In an action by a servant for injuries, where the defense was that plaintiff was employed by an independent contractor, the original petition, in which plaintiff alleged that he was in the employ of an independent contractor, was admissible in evidence. William Cameron & Co. v. Realmuto, 45 C. A. 305, 100 S. W. 194.

The allegation in a trial amendment filed by plaintiffs in partition held not an admission of defendant's exclusive possession of the premises since a specified time in view of the other pleadings. Hess v. Webb (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 618.

A pleading filed by plaintiffs, in which a void deed was set up as the source of M.'s title, held admissible against them as an admission. Merriman v. Blalack, 56 C. A. 594, 121 S. W. 552.

The pleading of defendant railroad company, in its cross-action against its codefendant, a sleeping car company, in an action by a passenger against them for being put off beyond her station, held not to admit negligence and liability for nominal damages to plaintiff. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Maxwell (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 722.

Where a defendant sued on a claim assigned by a contractor alleges that the contractor failed to complete the contract, and that he took over the work and finished it, and had $874.29 of the contract price left over, and that such amount had been paid to prior assignees of claims of the contractor, and such alleged prior assignments were held not good, he cannot then contend that he owes nothing on the ground that the contractor had breached his contract, and that nothing was due him. Youngberg v. El Paso Brick Co. (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 715.

12. — Admissibility in subsequent proceedings in general.—Pleadings in another suit seeking to make a grantor liable on a covenant of warranty in a deed are not admissible to show that the grantee did not regard said grantor as a nominal party merely in making such deed, receiving no consideration therefor. Edinburgh American Land Mortgage Co. v. Briggs (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 1036.

A pleading by defendant in another suit containing relevant admissions held not objectionable because plaintiff did not limit his offer thereof to the parts containing such admissions. Seligmann v. L. Greif & Bro. (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 214.

A pleading held not sufficiently authenticated as the act of a party to warrant its use in another case as an admission. Michel v. Michel (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 353.

On the issue as to whether one signing a contract in the name of a firm was a partner, the admission of pleadings in another suit against the firm as an admission held error. S. W. Slayden & Co. v. Palmo, 53 C. A. 227, 117 S. W. 1054.

In an action to recover the value of a mortgaged building which defendants agreed to hold in trust for plaintiffs, purchasers of the equity of redemption, after foreclosing the lien, an answer filed by plaintiffs in a former action against them and defendants, at the instigation of defendants' agent, in which plaintiffs claimed the property, was admissible to show that defendants then recognized plaintiffs' claim, which was before the foreclosure sale. D. Sullivan & Co. v. Ramsey (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 580.

13. — Same or different parties.—Allegations in petition for breach of promise to marry held admissible as declarations against interest by plaintiff to show that she was not at the time married. Cuneo v. De Cuneo, 24 C. A. 436, 59 S. W. 284.

In an action for damages to land by raising the dam of an artificial lake, and overflow therefrom, the pleading in a former suit for similar injuries, not permanent, before the dam was raised, are not competent evidence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. O'Mahoney, 24 C. A. 631, 60 S. W. 902.

Statements in a pleading are admissible in evidence against the party filing the same. Wilkins v. Clawson, 50 C. A. 82, 110 S. W. 103.

Allegations in a petition in another action are inadmissible in evidence against a person not a party to the other action. Bolt v. State Savings Bank of Manchester, Iowa (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 707.

Where the parties to a former action and the issues therein were different from the parties and issues in the present action, the pleadings and proceedings in the former action were not admissible. D. Sullivan & Co. v. Ramsey (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 580.

14. — Pleadings not verified or signed.—An abandoned original petition containing admissions on a fact in issue was admissible, though not verified. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Wright, 27 C. A. 198, 64 S. W. 1001.

Where an action is tried on an amended petition, admissions in original petition held erroneously excluded, though it was not verified. First Nat. Bank v. Watson (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 232.

Abandoned pleadings in an action for injuries to a shipment of cattle held to contain material admissions by plaintiff against interest, sufficient to warrant their admission in evidence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Coggin, 33 C. A. 667, 77 S. W. 1053.

In an action for the price of goods sold, a petition by defendant in a suit against a third person held admissible as an admission on the issue whether defendant was liable unless he actually received the goods. L. Greif & Bro. v. Seligman (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 533.

An original petition in plaintiff's divorce suit held admissible to contradict her as to the age of her son in an action for injuries to him. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Blasengame, 42 C. A. 66, 93 S. W. 137.

15. — Pleadings not filed.—An abandoned pleading held admissible in evidence as admissions against interest, though not bearing a file mark. Orange Rice Mill Co. v. McIlhinney, 33 C. A. 592, 77 S. W. 428.

16. — Pleadings superseded, withdrawn or abandoned.—Abandoned pleadings are incompetent to prove a material fact. If so read, adversary pleadings may be read in explanation. Medlin v. Wilkins, 1 C. A. 465, 20 S. W. 1026.

Material admissions contained in an abandoned pleading can be introduced in evidence against the party. Goodbar Shoe Co. v. Sims (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 1065.

Part of an answer contradictory to an amended answer held inadmissible against the pleader. McGregor v. Sima (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 1021.

A party's abandoned pleadings are admissible against him. Wright v. United States Mortg. Co. (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 368.

Party's abandoned pleading held admissible against him. Jordan v. Young (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 762; Southern Pac. Co. v. Wellington (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 856.

Statements in abandoned pleadings are admissible against the party by whom they were filed as admissions, where they are relevant to the issue. Prouty v. Musquiz (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 568.

Facts under which an abandoned original petition by plaintiff was relevant and material evidence stated. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Wright, 27 C. A. 198, 64 S. W. 1001.

Abandoned pleading of plaintiff held admissible in evidence. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. De Walt, 96 T. 121, 70 S. W. 531, 97 Am. St. Rep. 877.

A portion of plaintiff's abandoned petition held admissible in evidence against him. Galloway v. San Antonio & G. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 32.

To counteract the effect of a statement in an abandoned pleading as an admission, a party must show that he did not know the pleading contained the statement when filed.—Id.

If a petition praying specific performance of an oral contract to convey land was amended so as to allege a writing, the abandoned pleading could be used as evidence but is not conclusive. Miller v. Drought (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 145.

Defendants who, in their original answer, relied upon a verbal contract, may by an amended answer abandon the verbal contract, though the former pleading was verified by affidavit, and the abandoned pleading cannot afterwards be considered, except as evidence if offered by defendant. Colorado Canal Co. v. McFarland & Southwell, 50 C. A. 92, 109 S. W. 435.

Abandoned pleadings are admissible in evidence against the pleader. Austin v. Jackson Trust & Sav. Bank (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 936.

Admission in original answer referring to original petition held to authorize judgment foreclosing vendor's lien, where the original and amended petition were the same in the matter referred to. Daniels v. Stewart (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 967.

In an action for personal injury, held not improper to admit in evidence defendant's abandoned answer. Lantry-Sharpe Contracting Co. v. McCracken (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 863.

17. — Defenses stricken out.—A plea which has been stricken out cannot be received in evidence as an admission against the pleader. Dunson v. Nacogdoches County, 37 S. W. 978, 15 Civ. App. 9.

18. Petitions, affidavits and depositions.—When bearing upon the identity of a party through whom rights are asserted, his affidavits in conflict with such claim are competent. McCamant v. Roberts, 80 T. 316, 15 S. W. 580, 1054.

Admissibility of depositions illegally taken, as admissions of the parties, determined. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 8.

A certified copy of a servant's application for an appeal to the supreme court held admissible to contradict his testimony on the second trial. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Eckles (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 651.

In an action on an insurance policy, the premiums on which were paid by assured's wife, who was beneficiary, an affidavit in lieu of cost bond, made by assured previous to the issuance of the policy, held inadmissible to show his financial condition when the policy was issued. Mutual Life Ins. Co. v. Mellott (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 887.

An application for a continuance, made by plaintiffs through their attorney, containing an admission contradicting plaintiff's testimony, is admissible for that purpose. W. Scott & Co. v. Woodard, 39 C. A. 498, 88 S. W. 406.

19. Testimony.—Evidence held admissible as admissions of a party. Munk v. Stanfield (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 213.

On an issue as to whether a certain person had authority to bind defendant as his agent, certain evidence held properly admitted. Thompson v. Mills, 45 C. A. 642, 101 S. W. 560.

Declarations of a party against his interest are admissible against him, though made by him as a witness upon a prior trial of the case, without laying a predicate such as is required for impeaching a witness, whether such declarations were contrary to his subsequent testimony or not. Sterling v. De Laune, 47 C. A. 470, 105 S. W. 1169.

Testimony of a party upon a former trial is admissible as an admission. Littler v. Dielmann, 48 C. A. 392, 106 S. W. 1137.

In an action by a vendee against a vendor for rent of a farm, certain evidence held admissible to prove a verbal agreement prior to the execution of the deed whereby vendor was to remain rent free in possession of the farm until a certain date. Morehead v. Hering, 53 C. A. 605, 116 S. W. 164.

Where impeaching testimony was also admissible as an admission against interest, the court erred in limiting it to the impeaching purpose. Knights of Modern Maccabees v. Gillis (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 338.

20. Offers of compromise or settlement.—Statements made pending negotiations for a compromise are not admissible in evidence. Darby v. Roberts, 22 S. W. 529, 3 C. A. 427; Hand v. Swann, 21 S. W. 282, 1 C. A. 241; Telegraph Co. v. Thomas, 26 S. W. 117, 7 C. A. 105.

Written statement of damages made pending a compromise held inadmissible. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Stone (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 461.

A letter written by the attorney of a tenant to the landlord, stating that the tenant is willing to consider any reasonable proposition of settlement, is not admissible in an action by the landlord against such tenant. Watson v. Boswell, 25 C. A. 379, 61 S. W. 407.

In an action to recover for timber cut and removed by defendants from plaintiff's land, evidence of statements made to defendant by plaintiff and others after commencing suit as to scaling the timber, held inadmissible. Wall v. Melton (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 358.

Evidence that before action for $1,000 plaintiff presented a claim for only $25 for the same matter held admissible as an admission against interest. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Stubbs, 43 C. A. 132, 94 S. W. 1083.

Evidence of a rejected offer of compromise held not admissible. McKnight v. Milford Gin Co. (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 198.

In trespass to try title, admissions held not inadmissible as made pending attempt to compromise prospective suit. Upson v. Campbell (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 1129.

The action of an insurance company causing insured to consult an attorney with a view to the adjustment of a disputed claim under a policy, was not an admission of the validity of the contract. Security Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Calvert, 101 T. 123, 105 S. W. 320.

A letter by a life insurance company to obtain a compromise of the amount due under a policy and prevent litigation held inadmissible against it. Southwestern Ins. Co. v. Woods Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 114.

Evidence held improperly admitted as evidence of an offer to compromise a controversy. Floresville Oil & Mfg. Co. v. Texas Refining Co., 55 C. A. 78, 118 S. W. 194.

An offer to compromise and settle the claim in controversy cannot be proved. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Bagby (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 254.

In an action by a child for personal injuries, evidence of an offer of settlement made by the father was inadmissible, without proof of the father's authority to act for the child. Wichita Falls Traction Co. v. Adams (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 271.

Evidence of negotiations, in an endeavor to secure a compromise of claimed damages, is not admissible in an action on the claim; the negotiations having failed. Texas Co. v. Strange (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 327.

Where plaintiff sued on a contract for services performed and expenses incurred, evidence that he spent two weeks in trying to effect a settlement with defendant was immaterial. Iowa Mfg. Co. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 171.

21. — What constitutes offer.—A written claim for damages against a carrier for injuries to live stock held admissible to contradict plaintiff's statements as a witness on the trial. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Lock, 30 C. A. 426, 70 S. W. 456.

Proof of tender by real estate broker to other brokers of their share of commissions held not objectionable, as proving offer of compromise. Blake v. Austin, 33 C. A. 112, 75 S. W. 571.

Evidence of failure to reply, when a claim of contract to indemnify was made, held admissible to prove the contract; it having no relation to a compromise. McKnight v. Milford Gin Co. (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 198.

In an action for injuries to a servant, a portion of a letter written by him held properly excluded on the ground that the letter constituted an offer of settlement. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Kern (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 971.

Certain testimony held inadmissible as proving an offer to settle the claim sued on. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Bagby (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 254.

Evidence that defendants had offered to pay one-half of the broker's commissions claimed by plaintiff held not in itself, without further showing, objectionable as an offer of compromise. Pope v. Ansley Realty Co. (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1103.

In an action on contract, evidence that defendant's agent said that he would advise defendant to settle was not admissible to show an offer to compromise. S. W. Slayden & Co. v. Palmo (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 649.

A letter from plaintiff's attorneys to railroad company's agent, stating that they thereby made a claim and gave the company an opportunity to settle the same without a suit, and further reciting that plaintiff "alleges his damages to be the sum of $500, which is offered as a compromise," held not to be a technical offer of compromise so as to exclude it from evidence; the $500 claimed being the full amount of the claim. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Sullivan (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 193.

22. — Persons by or to whom made.—Claim against carrier for damages for negligent injury to live stock held to be competent as an admission of fact. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Smith (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 28.

23. — Admissions made without prejudice.—The rule which excludes an offer to compromise a contemplated suit, when made under an express or implied agreement that the conversation shall be without prejudice, is founded in the policy that to admit it in evidence would tend to discourage the settlement of litigation. If the proposition be to pay a sum to buy peace, and if that be not accepted and become a contract, it will be deemed to have been made without prejudice, and is not admissible in evidence. I. & G. N. R. Co. v. Ragsdale, 67 T. 24, 2 S. W. 515.

Offer of compromise not acted on held inadmissible against the one making it. City of San Antonio v. Stevens (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 666.

24. Statements in writing.—In an action to impress a trust on lands, a subsequent deed of part of the land to alleged trustee held admissible to show his recognition that he did not own the fee. Mixon v. Miles (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 105.

Written application by husband and wife for loan, stating it was not their homestead, held admissible to establish estoppel against claim of homestead. Bowman v. Rutter (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 52.

A deed by a locator, held admissible against one co-owner, claiming that the location was for his co-owner exclusively, as an admission that the locator had owned the certificate under which the former claims. Estell v. Kirby (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 8.

A recital in a duebill given by a railroad subcontractor in lieu of time checks, given to laborers engaged in constructing a railroad, that it reserves the labor liens allowed by law to the person performing the work, is admissible in an action against the subcontractor and the railroad company to enforce such liens, for the purpose of showing that the lien has not been waived. Texas & N. O. Ry. Co. v. Dorman (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 1086.

In an action against a railroad company for the price of ties alleged to have been sold to it, evidence that the cars on which the ties were loaded were marked with defendant's name was admissible. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Yale, 27 C. A. 10, 65 S. W. 57.

In an action against a carrier for damages to cattle, claim presented by plaintiff to defendant, stating amount of loss, held admissible not merely on the question of plaintiff's credibility as witness, but as original evidence of the loss sustained. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Combes & Rector (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 1045.

In an action against a city for the flooding of plaintiff's premises by waters diverted into a street, held, that plaintiff was not precluded, by a notice given by him to the city, from relying on the act of the city in diverting the water in the first instance. City of Houston v. Hutcheson (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 86.

In an action for death of a servant on certain oil tanks belonging to another, the contract between the latter and defendant with reference to use of the tanks held irrelevant. Yellow Pine Oil Co. v. Noble (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 332.

In an action for damages resulting from the pollution of a water course, the refusal to admit a release as to prior damages held not error. Texas & N. O. Ry. Co. v. Moers (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 1064.

A folder issued and circulated by a railway company held admissible against it, as in the nature of a declaration against interest. Southern Pac. Co. v. Allen, 48 C. A. 66, 106 S. W. 441; Same v. Godfrey, 48 C. A. 616, 107 S. W. 1135.

In an action for injuries sustained by a passenger in a street car in a collision between a car and a train, rules of the railroad relative to the management of the train held admissible. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Wiggins, 48 C. A. 449, 107 S. W. 899.

Plaintiff's claim presented to defendant, not covering damages for subsequent suffering, held not admissible against plaintiff for the purpose of showing the extent of her injuries and suffering. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. McAnella (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 936.

In an action by a purchaser for specific performance by the vendor, the vendor's signed statement, though not sworn to, held admissible. Leonard v. King (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 742.

In an action for the death of a person struck by a train, evidence as to a rule of the company held inadmissible. Laeve v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1129.

Evidence of a rule of a railroad, requiring signals when an engine in its yards was moved held admissible on the question of negligence, where, when one was passing through an opening in its train, it was closed without warning. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Pingenot (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 93.

The fact that railway employé, in his application, acknowledged general notice of obstructions near track held evidence of actual knowledge of such obstructions although the general notice did not relieve the company from liability for injuries. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Barnhart (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1049.

In an action for injuries to a person at a crossing, rules of the road on which the defendant was operating its train held admissible on the question of negligence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Hilgartner (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1091.

A folder issued and circulated by railroads tending to show that they all belong to one system is admissible in an action brought against them. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Cox (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 265.

25. — Letters.—In 1851 M. gave to T. a bill of sale and possession of certain personal property, the proceeds of which when sold by T. were to be invested in other property for the benefit of M. In 1852 T. bought a tract of land, taking the deed in his own name. In 1853 T. by deed conveyed the land and the unsold part of the personal property to his wife, reciting a valuable consideration which was not in fact paid. In 1856 T. and wife conveyed all of the land and other property to the minor children of M.

In a suit brought by M. against all the parties named to declare the trust and to set aside the transfers of property, a letter written by T. to M. in 1854 acknowledging the trust was admitted in evidence. Massey v. Massey, 20 T. 134.

Suit was brought by a physician against a railway company to recover for professional services rendered to one of its employes. For the purpose of showing that his employment was by authority of the defendant, plaintiff offered to show that a letter had been written by defendant's agent, refusing to settle the claim sued on, because it was excessive. Held, that the evidence was pertinent, but the letter itself was the best evidence of its contents. Mo. Pac. Ry. Co. v. Rountree, 2 App. C. C. § 338.

