GULF STATES MARINE FISHERIES COMPACT

ARTICLE I

Whereas the Gulf Coast States have the proprietary interest in and jurisdiction over fisheries in the waters within their respective boundaries, it is the purpose of this compact to promote the better utilization of the fisheries, marine, shell and anadromous, of the seaboard of the Gulf of Mexico, by the development of a joint program for the promotion and protection of such fisheries and the prevention of the physical waste of the fisheries from any cause.

ARTICLE II

This compact shall become operative immediately as to those states ratifying it whenever any two or more of the states of Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas have ratified it and the Congress has given its consent, pursuant to Article I, Section 10 of the Constitution of the United States. Any state contiguous to any of the aforementioned states or riparian upon waters which flow into waters under the jurisdiction of any of the aforementioned States and which are frequented by anadromous fish or marine species, may become a party hereto as hereinafter provided.

ARTICLE III

Each state joining herein shall appoint three representatives to a commission hereby constituted and designated as the Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission. One shall be the head of the administrative agency of such State charged with the conservation of the fishery resources to which this compact pertains; or, if there be more than one officer or agency, the official of that State named by the Governor thereof. The second shall be a member of the Legislature of such State designated by such Legislature, or in the absence of such designation, such legislator shall be designated by the Governor thereof; provided that if it is constitutionally impossible to appoint a legislator as a commissioner from such State, the second member shall be appointed in such manner as may be established by law. The third shall be a citizen who shall have a knowledge of and interest in the marine fisheries, to be appointed by the Governor. This commission shall be a body corporate with the powers and duties set forth herein.

ARTICLE IV

The duty of the said commission shall be to make inquiry and ascertain from time to time such methods, practices, circumstances and conditions as may be disclosed for bringing about the conservation and the prevention of the depletion and physical waste of the fisheries, marine, shell and anadromous, of the Gulf Coast. The commission shall have power to recommend the coordination of the exercise of the police powers of the several States within their respective jurisdictions to promote the preservation of these fisheries and their protection against overfishing, waste, depletion or any abuse whatsoever, and to assure a continuing yield from the fishery resources of the aforementioned States. To that end the commission shall draft and recommend to the Governors and Legislatures of the various signatory States, legislation dealing with the conservation of the marine, shell and anadromous fisheries of the Gulf seaboard. The commission shall from time to time present to the Governor of each compacting State its recommendations relating to enactments to be presented to the Legislature of that State in furthering the interest and purposes of this compact. The commission shall consult with and advise the pertinent administrative agencies in the States party hereto with regard to problems connected with the fisheries, and recommend the adoption of such regulations as it deems advisable. The commission shall have power to recommend to the States party hereto

the stocking of the waters of such States with fish and fish eggs or joint stocking by some or all of the States party hereto, and when two or more States shall jointly stock waters the commission shall act as the coordinating agency for such stocking.

ARTICLE V

The commission shall elect from its number a chairman and vice-chairman and shall appoint, and at its pleasure remove or discharge, such officers and employees as may be required to carry the provisions of this compact into effect and shall fix and determine their duties, qualifications and compensation. Said commission shall adopt rules and regulations for the conduct of its business. It may establish and maintain one or more offices for the transaction of its business, and may meet at any time or place; but must meet at least once a year.

ARTICLE VI

No action shall be taken by the commission in regard to its general affairs except by the affirmative vote of a majority of the whole number of compacting States. No recommendation shall be made by the commission in regard to any species of fish except by the affirmative vote of a majority of the compacting States which have an interest in such species. The commission shall define what shall be an interest.

ARTICLE VII

The Fish and Wildlife Service of the Department of the Interior of the Government of the United States shall act as the primary research agency of the Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission, cooperating with the research agencies in each State for that purpose. Representatives of the said Fish and Wildlife Service shall attend the meetings of the commission. An advisory committee to be representative of the commercial salt water fishermen and the salt water anglers and such other interests of each State as the commissioners deem advisable may be established by the commissioners from each State for the purpose of advising those commissioners upon such recommendations as it may desire to make.

ARTICLE VIII

When any State, other than those named specifically in Article II of this compact, shall become a party hereto for the purpose of conserving its anadromous fish or marine species in accordance with the provisions of Article II, the participation of such State in the action of the commission shall be limited to such species of fish.

ARTICLE IX

Nothing in this compact shall be construed to limit the powers of the proprietary interest of any signatory State, or to repeal or prevent the enactment of any legislation or the enforcement of any requirement by a signatory State, imposing additional conditions and restrictions to conserve its fisheries.

ARTICLE X

It is agreed that any two or more States party hereto may further amend this compact by acts of their respective Legislatures, subject to approval of Congress as provided in Article I, Section X, of the Constitution of the United States, to designate the Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission as a joint regulating authority for the joint regulation of specific fisheries affecting only such States as shall so compact, and at their joint expense. The representatives of such States shall constitute a separate section of the Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission for the exercise of the additional powers so granted, but the creation of such section shall not be deemed to deprive the States so compacting of any of their privileges or powers in the Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission as constituted under the other Articles of this compact.

ARTICLE XI

Continued absence of representation or of any representative on the commission from any State party hereto, shall be brought to the attention of the Governor thereof.

ARTICLE XII

The operating expenses of the Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission shall be borne by the States party hereto. Such initial appropriation as set forth below shall be made available yearly until modified as hereinafter provided:

Alabama	1,000.00

Each State party hereto agrees to provide in the manner most acceptable to it, the travel costs and necessary expenses of its commissioners and other representatives to and from meetings of the commission or its duly constituted sections or committees.

Article XIII

This compact shall continue in force and remain binding upon each compacting State until renounced by Act of the Legislature of such State, in such form as it may choose; provided that such renunciation shall not become effective until six months after the effective date of the action taken by the Legislature. Notice of such renunciation shall be given the other States party hereto by the Secretary of State of compacting State so renouncing upon passage of the Act.

PENAL CODE

TITLE 10. OFFENSES AGAINST PUBLIC HEALTH, SAFETY, AND MORALS

Chapter Section

48. Conduct Affecting Public Health 48.01

TITLE 11. ORGANIZED CRIME

71. Organized Crime 71.01

TITLE 1. INTRODUCTORY PROVISIONS

CHAPTER 1. GENERAL PROVISIONS

§ 1.07. Definitions

(a) In this code:

[See Compact Edition, Volume 1 for text of (1)]

(2) "Suspect" means a person whose criminal responsibility is in issue in a criminal action. Whenever the term "actor" is used in this code, it means "suspect".

[See Compact Edition, Volume 1 for text of (3) to (9)]

(9.1) "Corporation" includes nonprofit corporations, professional associations created pursuant to statute, and joint stock companies.

[See Compact Edition, Volume 1 for text of (10) to (36)]

Text of subdivision as added by Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 1113, ch. 530, § 1

(37) "Electric generating plant" means a facility that generates electric energy for distribution to the public.

Text of subdivision as added by Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 1520, ch. 655, § 1

(37) "Participant in a court proceeding" means a judge, a prosecuting attorney or an assistant prosecuting attorney who represents the state, a grand juror, a party in a court proceeding, an attorney representing a party, a witness, or a juror.

(38) "Electric utility substation" means a facility used to switch or change voltage in connection with the transmission of electric energy for distribution to the public.

[See Compact Edition, Volume 1 for text of (b)]

Saving provisions. Section 17 of the 1975 Act provided:

"(a) Except as provided in Subsections (b) and (c) of this section, this Act applies only to offenses committed on or after its effective date, and a criminal action for an offense committed before this Act's effective date is governed by the law existing before the effective date, which law is continued in effect for this purpose, as if this Act were not in force. For purposes of this section, an offense is committed on or after the effective date of this Act if any element of the offense occurs on or after the effective date.

"(b) Conduct constituting an offense under existing law that is repealed by this Act and that does not constitute an offense under this Act may not be prosecuted after the effective date of this Act. If, on the effective date of this Act, a criminal action is pending for conduct that was an offense under the laws repealed by this Act and that does not constitute an offense under this Act, the action is dismissed on the effective date of this Act. However, a conviction existing on the effective date of this Act for conduct constituting an offense under laws repealed by this Act is valid and unaffected by this Act. For purposes of this section, "conviction" means a finding of guilt in a court of competent jurisdiction, and it is of no consequence that the conviction is not final.

"(c) In a criminal action pending on or commenced on or after the effective date of this Act, for an offense committed before the effective date, the defendant, if adjudged guilty, shall be assessed punishment under this Act if he so elects by written motion filed with the trial court before the sentencing hearing begins."

CHAPTER 2. BURDEN OF PROOF

§ 2.05. Presumption

When this code or another penal law establishes a presumption with respect to any fact, it has the following consequences:

(1) if there is sufficient evidence of the facts that give rise to the presumption, the issue of the existence of the presumed fact must be submitted to the jury, unless the court is satisfied that the evidence as a whole clearly precludes a finding beyond a reasonable doubt of the presumed fact; and

(2) if the existence of the presumed fact is submitted to the jury, the court shall charge the jury, in terms of the presumption and the specific element to which it applies, as follows:

(A) that the facts giving rise to the presumption must be proven beyond a reasonable doubt;

(B) that if such facts are proven beyond a reasonable doubt the jury may find that the element of the offense sought to be presumed exists, but it is not bound to so find;

(C) that even though the jury may find the existence of such element, the state must prove beyond a reasonable doubt each of the other elements of the offense charged; and

(D) if the jury has a reasonable doubt as to the existence of a fact or facts giving rise to the presumption, the presumption fails and the jury shall not consider the presumption for any purpose.

[Amended by Acts 1975, 64th Leg., p. 912, ch. 342, § 2, eff. Sept. 1, 1975.]

For saving provisions see note set out under Section 1.07.

§ 7.24. Defense to Criminal Responsibility of Corporation or Association

[Amended by Acts 1975, 64th Leg., p. 913, ch. 341, § 5, eff. Sept. 1, 1975.]

(b) If a person attempts an offense that may be aggravated, his conduct constitutes an attempt to commit the aggravated offense if an element that aggravates the offense accompanies the attempt.

(c) It is no defense to prosecution for criminal attempt that the offense attempted was actually committed.

(d) An offense under this section is one category lower than the offense attempted, and if the offense attempted is a felony of the third degree, the offense is a Class A misdemeanor.

§ 21.13. Evidence of Previous Sexual Conduct

(a) Evidence of specific instances of the victim's sexual conduct, opinion evidence of the victim's sexual conduct, and reputation evidence of the victim's sexual conduct may be admitted under Sections 21.02 through 21.05 of this code (rape, aggravated rape, sexual abuse, and aggravated sexual abuse) only if, and only to the extent that, the judge finds that the evidence is material to a fact at issue in the case and that its inflammatory or prejudicial nature does not outweigh its probative value.

(b) If the defendant proposes to ask any question concerning specific instances, opinion evidence, or reputation evidence of the victim's sexual conduct, either by direct examination or cross-examination of any witness, the defendant must inform the court out of the hearing of the jury prior to asking any such question. After this notice, the court shall conduct an in camera hearing, recorded by the court reporter, to determine whether the proposed evidence is admissible under Subsection (a) of this section. The court shall determine what evidence is admissible and shall accordingly limit the questioning. The defendant shall not go outside these limits nor refer to any evidence ruled inadmissible in camera without prior approval of the court without the presence of the jury.

(c) The court shall seal the record of the in camera hearing required in Subsection (b) of this section for delivery to the appellate court in the event of an appeal.

71.01. Definitions.
71.02. Engaging in Organized Criminal Activity.
71.03. Defenses Excluded.
71.04. Testimonial Immunity.
71.05. Renunciation Defense.

§ 71.01. Definitions

In this chapter,

(a) "combination" means five or more persons who collaborate in carrying on criminal activities, although:

(1) participants may not know each other's identity;

(2) membership in the combination may change from time to time; and

(3) participants may stand in a wholesaler-retailer or other arm's-length relationship in illicit distribution operations.

(b) "Conspires to commit" means that a person agrees with one or more persons that they or one or more of them engage in conduct that would constitute the offense and that person and one or more of them perform an overt act in pursuance of the agreement. An agreement constituting conspiring to commit may be inferred from the acts of the parties.

[Added by Acts 1977, 65th Leg., p. 922, ch. 346, § 1, eff. June 10, 1977.]

§ 71.02. Engaging in Organized Criminal Activity

(a) A person commits an offense if, with the intent to establish, maintain, or participate in a combination or in the profits of a combination, he commits or conspires to commit one or more of the following:

(1) murder, capital murder, arson, aggravated robbery, robbery, burglary, theft, aggravated kidnapping, kidnapping, aggravated assault, or forgery;

(2) any felony gambling offense;

(3) promotion of prostitution, aggravated promotion of prostitution, or compelling prostitution;

(5) unlawful manufacture, delivery, dispensation, or distribution of a controlled substance or dangerous drug, or unlawful possession of a controlled substance or dangerous drug through forgery, fraud, misrepresentation, or deception.

(b) Except as provided in Subsection (c) of this section, an offense under this section is one category higher than the most serious offense listed in Subdivisions (1) through (5) of Subsection (a) of this section that was committed, and if the most serious offense is a Class A misdemeanor, the offense is a felony of the third degree, except that if the most serious offense is a felony of the first degree, the offense is a felony of the first degree.

(c) Conspiring to commit an offense under this section is of the same degree as the most serious offense listed in Subdivisions (1) through (5) of Subsection (a) of this section that the person conspired to commit.

[Added by Acts 1977, 65th Leg., p. 922, ch. 346, § 1, eff. June 10, 1977.]

§ 71.03. Defenses Excluded

It is no defense to prosecution under Section 71.02 of this code that:

(1) one or more members of the combination are not criminally responsible for the object offense;

(2) one or more members of the combination have been acquitted, have not been prosecuted or convicted, have been convicted of a different offense, or are immune from prosecution;

(3) a person has been charged with, acquitted, or convicted of any offense listed in Subsection (a) of Section 71.02 of this code; or

(4) once the initial combination of five or more persons is formed there is a change in the number or identity of persons in the combination as long as two or more persons remain in the combination and are involved in a continuing course of conduct constituting an offense under this chapter.

[Added by Acts 1977, 65th Leg., p. 922, ch. 346, § 1, eff. June 10, 1977.]

§ 71.04. Testimonial Immunity

(a) A party to an offense under this chapter may be required to furnish evidence or testify about the offense.

(b) No evidence or testimony required to be furnished under the provisions of this section nor any information directly or indirectly derived from such evidence or testimony may be used against the witness in any criminal case, except a prosecution for aggravated perjury or contempt.

§ 71.05. Renunciation Defense

(a) It is an affirmative defense to prosecution under Section 71.02 of this code that under circumstances manifesting a voluntary and complete renunciation of his criminal objective the actor withdrew from the combination before commission of an offense listed in Subdivisions (1) through (5) of Subsection (a) of Section 71.02 of this code and took further affirmative action that prevented the commission of the offense.

(b) Renunciation is not voluntary if it is motivated in whole or in part:

(1) by circumstances not present or apparent at the inception of the actor's course of conduct that increase the probability of detection or apprehension or that make more difficult the accomplishment of the objective; or

(2) by a decision to postpone the criminal conduct until another time or to transfer the criminal act to another but similar objective or victim.

(c) Evidence that the defendant withdrew from the combination before commission of an offense listed in Subdivisions (1) through (5) of Subsection (a) of Section 71.02 of this code and made substantial effort to prevent the commission of an offense listed in Subdivisions (1) through (5) of Subsection (a) of Section 71.02 of this code shall be admissible as mitigation at the hearing on punishment if he has been found guilty under Section 71.02 of this code, and in the event of a finding of renunciation under this subsection, the punishment shall be one grade lower than that provided under Section 71.02 of this code.

Section 2 of Acts 1977, 65th Leg., p. 1082, ch. 396, provided:

"The following named criminal investigators of the United States shall not be deemed peace officers, but shall have the powers of arrest, search and seizure as to felony offenses only under the laws of the State of Texas:

Saving provisions. Section 7 of the 1975 Act provided:

"Sec. 7. (a) Except as provided in Subsections (b) and (c) of this section, this Act applies only to offenses committed on or after its effective date, and a criminal action for an offense committed before this Act's effective date is governed by the law existing before the effective date, which law is continued in effect for this purpose, as if this Act were not in force. For purposes of this section, an offense is committed on or after the effective date of this Act if any element of the offense occurs on or after the effective date.

"(b) Conduct constituting an offense under existing law that is repealed by this Act and that does not constitute an offense under this Act may not be prosecuted after the effective date of this Act. If, on the effective date of this Act, a criminal action is pending for conduct that was an offense under the laws repealed by this Act and that does not constitute an offense under this Act, the action is dismissed on the effective date of this Act. However, a conviction existing on the effective date of this Act for conduct constituting an offense under laws repealed by this Act is valid and unaffected by this Act. For purposes of this section, "conviction" means a finding of guilt in a court of competent jurisdiction, and it is of no consequence that the conviction is not final."

"(c) In a criminal action pending on or commenced on or after the effective date of this Act, for an offense committed before the effective date, the defendant, if adjudged guilty, shall be assessed punishment under this Act if he so elects by written motion filed with the trial court before the sentencing hearing begins."

Art. 6.03. On Attempt to Injure

Whenever, in the presence or within the observation of a magistrate, an attempt is made by one person to inflict an injury upon himself or to the person or property of another, including the person or property of his spouse, it is his duty to use all lawful means to prevent the injury. This may be done, either by verbal order to a peace officer to interfere and prevent the injury, or by the issuance of an order of arrest against the offender, or by arresting the offender; for which purpose he may call upon all persons present to assist in making the arrest.
[Amended by Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 366, ch. 164, § 1, eff. Sept. 1, 1979.]

HABEAS CORPUS

CHAPTER ELEVEN. HABEAS CORPUS

Art. 11.07. Return to Certain County; Procedure After Conviction

[See Compact Edition, Volume 1 for text of 1]

Sec. 2. (a) After final conviction in any felony case, the writ must be made returnable to the Court of Criminal Appeals of Texas at Austin, Texas.

(b) Whenever a petition for writ of habeas corpus is filed after final conviction in a felony case, the clerk shall transfer or assign it to the court in which the conviction being challenged was obtained. When the petition is received by that court, a writ of habeas corpus, returnable to the Court of Criminal Appeals, shall issue by operation of law. The clerk of that court shall make appropriate notation thereof, assign to the case a file number (ancillary to that of the conviction being challenged), and send a copy of the petition by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the attorney representing the state in that court, who shall have 15 days in which it may answer the petition. Matters alleged in the petition not admitted by the state are deemed denied.

(c) Within 20 days of the expiration of the time in which the state is allowed to answer, it shall be the duty of the convicting court to decide whether there are controverted, previously unresolved facts material to the legality of the applicant's confinement. If the convicting court decides that there are no such issues, the clerk shall immediately transmit to the Court of Criminal Appeals a copy of the petition, any answers filed, and a certificate reciting the date upon which that finding was made. Failure of the court to act within the allowed 20 days shall constitute such a finding.

(d) If the convicting court decides that there are controverted, previously unresolved facts which are material to the legality of the applicant's confinement, it shall enter an order within 20 days of the expiration of the time allowed for the state to reply, designating the issues of fact to be resolved. To resolve those issues the court may order affidavits, depositions, interrogatories, and hearings, as well as using personal recollection. Also, the convicting court may appoint an attorney or a magistrate to hold a hearing and make findings of fact. An attorney so appointed shall be compensated as provided in Article 26.05 of this code. It shall be the duty of the reporter who is designated to transcribe a hearing held pursuant to this article to prepare a transcript within 15 days of its conclusion. After the convicting court makes findings of fact or approves the findings of the person designated to make them, the clerk of the convicting court shall immediately transmit to the Court of Criminal Appeals, under one cover, the petition, any answers filed, any motions filed, transcripts of all depositions and hearings, any affidavits, and any other matters such as official records used by the court in resolving issues of fact.

[See Compact Edition, Volume 1 for text of 3 to 4]

Sec. 5. When the attorney for the state files an answer, motion, or other pleading relating to a petition for a writ of habeas corpus or the court issues an order relating to a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, the clerk of the court shall mail or deliver to the petitioner a copy of the answer, motion, pleading, or order.

Art. 26.055. Contribution from State for Defense of Certain Prisoners

Sec. 1. A county in which a facility of the Texas Department of Corrections is located shall pay from its general fund only the first $250 of the aggregate sum allowed and awarded by the court for attorneys' fees, investigation, and expert testimony under Article 26.05 toward defending a prisoner committed to that facility who is being prosecuted for an offense committed in that county while in the custody of the department if the prisoner was originally committed for an offense committed in another county.

Sec. 2. If the fees awarded for court-appointed counsel in a case covered by Section 1 of this article exceed $250, the court shall certify the amount in excess of $250 to the Comptroller of Public Accounts of the State of Texas. The comptroller shall issue a warrant to the court-appointed counsel in the amount certified to the comptroller by the court.

Art. 26.13. Plea of Guilty

(a) Prior to accepting a plea of guilty or a plea of nolo contendere, the court shall admonish the defendant of:

(1) the range of the punishment attached to the offense;

(2) the fact that the recommendation of the prosecuting attorney as to punishment is not binding on the court. Provided that the court shall inquire as to the existence of any plea bargaining agreements between the state and the defendant and, in the event that such an agreement exists, the court shall inform the defendant whether it will follow or reject such agreement in open court and before any finding on the plea. Should the court reject any such agreement, the defendant shall be permitted to withdraw his plea of guilty or nolo contendere, and neither the fact that the defendant had entered a plea of guilty or nolo contendere nor any statements made by him at the hearing on the plea of guilty or nolo contendere may be used against the defendant on the issue of guilt or punishment in any subsequent criminal proceeding; and

(3) the fact that if the punishment assessed does not exceed the punishment recommended by the prosecutor and agreed to by the defendant and his attorney, the trial court must give its permission to the defendant before he may prosecute an appeal on any matter in the case except for those matters raised by written motions filed prior to trial.

(b) No plea of guilty or plea of nolo contendere shall be accepted by the court unless it appears that the defendant is mentally competent and the plea is free and voluntary.

(c) In admonishing the defendant as herein provided, substantial compliance by the court is sufficient, unless the defendant affirmatively shows that he was not aware of the consequences of his plea and that he was misled or harmed by the admonishment of the court.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN. THE PLEADING IN CRIMINAL ACTIONS

Art. 27.14. Plea of Guilty or Nolo Contendere in Misdemeanor

(a) A plea of "guilty" or a plea of "nolo contendere" in a misdemeanor case may be made either by the defendant or his counsel in open court; in such case, the defendant or his counsel may waive a jury, and the punishment may be assessed by the court either upon or without evidence, at the discretion of the court.

(b) A defendant charged with a misdemeanor for which the maximum possible punishment is by fine only may, in lieu of the method provided in Subsection (a) of this article, mail to the court a plea of "guilty" or a plea of "nolo contendere" and a waiver of jury trial. The defendant may also request in writing that the court notify the defendant, at the address stated in the request, of the amount of an appeal bond that the court will approve. If the court receives a plea and waiver before the time the defendant is scheduled to appear in court, the court shall dispose of the case without requiring a court appearance by the defendant. The court shall notify the defendant by certified mail, return receipt requested, of the amount of any fine assessed in the case and, if requested by the defendant, the amount of an appeal bond that the court will approve. The defendant shall pay any fine assessed or give an appeal bond in the amount stated in the notice before the 31st day after receiving the notice.

(c) In a misdemeanor case arising out of a moving traffic violation for which the maximum possible punishment is by fine only, payment of a fine, or an amount accepted by the court constitutes a finding of guilty in open court, as though a plea of nolo contendere had been entered by the defendant.

Section 4 of the 1979 amendatory act provided:

"This Act applies only to appeal bonds given for an appeal from a sentence of a justice or municipal court rendered on or after the effective date of this Act. The sufficiency of an appeal bond for an appeal from a sentence of a justice or municipal court rendered before the effective date of this Act is governed by the law amended by this Act as it existed at the time the sentence was rendered, and that law is continued in effect for this purpose as if this Act were not in force."

Art. 27.16. Plea of Not Guilty, How Made

(a) The plea of not guilty may be made orally by the defendant or by his counsel in open court. If the defendant refuses to plead, the plea of not guilty shall be entered for him by the court.

(b) A defendant charged with a misdemeanor for which the maximum possible punishment is by fine only may, in lieu of the method provided in Subsection (a) of this article, mail to the court a plea of not guilty.

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE. CHANGE OF VENUE

Art. 31.03. Granted on Motion of Defendant

(a) A change of venue may be granted in any felony or misdemeanor case punishable by confinement on the written motion of the defendant, supported by his own affidavit and the affidavit of at least two credible persons, residents of the county where the prosecution is instituted, for either of the following causes, the truth and sufficiency of which the court shall determine:

1. That there exists in the county where the prosecution is commenced so great a prejudice against him that he cannot obtain a fair and impartial trial; and

2. That there is a dangerous combination against him instigated by influential persons, by reason of which he cannot expect a fair trial.

An order changing venue to a county beyond an adjoining district shall be grounds for reversal, if upon timely contest by defendant, the record of the contest affirmatively shows that any county in his own and the adjoining district is not subject to the same conditions which required the transfer.

(b) For the convenience of parties and witnesses, and in the interest of justice, the court upon motion of the defendant and with the consent of the attorney for the state may transfer the proceeding as to him to another district.

(c) The court upon motion of the defendant and with the consent of the attorney for the state may transfer the proceedings to another district in those cases wherein the defendant stipulates that a plea of guilty will be entered.

Art. 32A.01. Trial Priorities

Insofar as is practicable, the trial of a criminal action shall be given preference over trials of civil cases, and the trial of a criminal action against a defendant who is detained in jail pending trial of the action shall be given preference over trials of other criminal actions.
[Added by Acts 1977, 65th Leg., p. 1970, ch. 787, § 1, eff. July 1, 1978.]
Section 5 of the 1977 Act provided: "The effective date of this Act shall be July 1, 1978."

Art. 32A.02. Time Limitations

Sec. 1. A court shall grant a motion to set aside an indictment, information, or complaint if the state is not ready for trial within:

(1) 120 days of the commencement of a criminal action if the defendant is accused of a felony;

(2) 90 days of the commencement of a criminal action if the defendant is accused of a misdemeanor punishable by a sentence of imprisonment for more than 180 days; or

(3) 60 days of the commencement of a criminal action if the defendant is accused of a misdemeanor punishable by a sentence of imprisonment for 180 days or less or punishable by a fine only.

Sec. 2. (a) Except as provided in subsections (b) and (c) of this section, a criminal action commences for purposes of this article when an indictment, information, or complaint against the defendant is filed in court, unless prior to the filing the defendant is either detained in custody or released on bail or personal bond to answer for the same offense or any other offense arising out of the same transaction, in which event the criminal action commences when he is arrested.

(b) If a defendant is to be retried following a mistrial, an order granting a new trial, or an appeal or collateral attack, a criminal action commences for purposes of this article on the date of the mistrial, the order granting a new trial, or the remand.

(c) If an indictment, information, or complaint is dismissed on motion of the defendant, a criminal action commences for the purposes of the article when a new indictment, information, or complaint against the defendant is filed in court, unless the defendant is either detained in custody or released on bail or personal bond to answer for the same offense or any other offense arising out of the same transaction, in which event the criminal action commences when he is detained or released.

Sec. 3. The failure of a defendant to move for discharge under the provisions of this article prior to trial or entry of a plea of guilty constitutes a waiver of the rights accorded by this article.

Sec. 4. In computing the time by which the state must be ready for trial, the following periods shall be excluded:

(1) a reasonable period of delay resulting from other proceedings involving the defendant, including but not limited to proceedings for the determination of competence to stand trial, hearing on pretrial motions, appeals, and trials of other charges;

(2) any period during which the defendant is incompetent to stand trial;

(3) a period of delay resulting from a continuance granted at the request or with the consent of the defendant or his counsel, except that a defendant without counsel is deemed not to have consented to a continuance unless the court advised him of his right to a speedy trial and of the effect of his consent;

(4) a period of delay resulting from the absence of the defendant because his location is unknown and:

(A) he is attempting to avoid apprehension or prosecution; or

(B) the state has been unable to determine his location by due diligence;

(5) a period of delay resulting from the unavailability of the defendant whose location is known to the state but whose presence cannot be obtained by due diligence or because he resists being returned to the state for trial;

(6) a reasonable period of delay resulting from a continuance granted at the request of the state if the continuance is granted:

(A) because of the unavailability of evidence that is material to the state's case, if the state has exercised due diligence to obtain the evidence and there are reasonable grounds to believe the evidence will be available within a reasonable time; or

(B) to allow the state additional time to prepare its case and the additional time is justified because of the exceptional circumstances of the case;

(7) if the charge is dismissed upon motion of the state or the charge is disposed of by a final judgment and the defendant is later charged with the same offense or another offense arising out of the same transaction, the period of delay from the date of dismissal or the date of the final judgment to the date the time limitation would commence running on the subsequent charge had there been no previous charge;

(8) a reasonable period of delay when the defendant is joined for trial with a codefendant as to whom the time for trial has not run, if there is good cause for not granting a severance;

(9) a period of delay resulting from detention of the defendant in another jurisdiction, if the state is aware of the detention and exercises due diligence to obtain his presence for trial; and

(10) any other reasonable period of delay that is justified by exceptional circumstances.

Sections 2 and 3 of the 1979 amendatory act provided:

"Sec. 2. This Act applies only to offenses committed on or after its effective date, and a criminal action for an offense committed before this Act's effective date is governed by the law existing before the effective date, which law is continued in effect for this purpose as if this Act were not in force. For purposes of this section, an offense is committed on or after the effective date of this Act if any element of the offense occurs on or after the effective date.

TRIAL AND ITS INCIDENTS

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE. THE MODE OF TRIAL

Art. 33.03. Presence of Defendant

In all prosecutions for felonies, the defendant must be personally present at the trial, and he must likewise be present in all cases of misdemeanor when the punishment or any part thereof is imprisonment in jail; provided, however, that in all cases, when the defendant voluntarily absents himself after pleading to the indictment or information, or after the jury has been selected when trial is before a jury, the trial may proceed to its conclusion. When the record in the appellate court shows that the defendant was present at the commencement, or any portion of the trial, it shall be presumed in the absence of all evidence in the record to the contrary that he was present during the whole trial. Provided, however, that the presence of the defendant shall not be required at the hearing on the motion for new trial in any misdemeanor case.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE. FORMATION OF THE JURY

Art. 35.16. Reasons for Challenge for Cause

(a) A challenge for cause is an objection made to a particular juror, alleging some fact which renders him incapable or unfit to serve on the jury. A challenge for cause may be made by either the state or the defense for any one of the following reasons:

1. That he is not a qualified voter in the state and county under the Constitution and laws of the state; provided, however, the failure to pay a poll tax or register to vote shall not be a disqualification;

2. That he has been convicted of theft or any felony;

3. That he is under indictment or other legal accusation for theft or any felony;

4. That he is insane or has such defect in the organs of feeling or hearing, or such bodily or mental defect or disease as to render him unfit for jury service, or that he is legally blind and either the court or the state in its discretion or the defendant or the prospective juror in his discretion is not satisfied that he is fit for jury service in that particular case;

5. That he is a witness in the case;

6. That he served on the grand jury which found the indictment;

7. That he served on a petit jury in a former trial of the same case;

8. That he has a bias or prejudice in favor of or against the defendant;

9. That from hearsay, or otherwise, there is established in the mind of the juror such a conclusion as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant as would influence him in his action in finding a verdict. To ascertain whether this cause of challenge exists, the juror shall first be asked whether, in his opinion, the conclusion so established will influence his verdict. If he answers in the affirmative, he shall be discharged without further interrogation by either party or the court. If he answers in the negative, he shall be further examined as to how his conclusion was formed, and the extent to which it will affect his action; and, if it appears to have been formed from reading newspaper accounts, communications, statements or reports or mere rumor or hearsay, and if the juror states that he feels able, notwithstanding such opinion, to render an impartial verdict upon the law and the evidence, the court, if satisfied that he is impartial and will render such verdict, may, in its discretion, admit him as competent to serve in such case. If the court, in its discretion, is not satisfied that he is impartial, the juror shall be discharged;

10. That he cannot read or write.

No juror shall be impaneled when it appears that he is subject to the second, third or fourth grounds of challenge for cause set forth above, although both parties may consent. All other grounds for challenge may be waived by the party or parties in whose favor such grounds of challenge exist.

In this subsection, "legally blind" shall mean having not more than 20/200 of visual acuity in the better eye with correcting lenses, or visual acuity greater than 20/200 but with a limitation in the field of vision such that the widest diameter of the visual field subtends an angle no greater than 20 degrees.

Sec. 2. Any person seeking compensation as a witness shall make an affidavit setting out the travel and daily living expenses necessitated by his travel to and from and attendance at the place he appeared to give testimony, together with the number of days that such travel and attendance made him absent from his place of residence. Compensation paid by the State to the witness for such expenses shall not exceed $50 per day for daily living expenses and 16 cents per mile for travel by personal automobile.

Section 2 of the 1979 amendatory act provided:

"This Act applies to reimbursement of a nonresident witness for travel expenses and daily living expenses incurred on or after the effective date of this Act. The reimbursement for travel expenses and daily living expenses incurred before the effective date of this Act are governed by the law amended by this Act as it existed before the effective date of this Act, and that law is continued in force for this purpose as if this Act were not in effect."

CHAPTER THIRTY-SIX. THE TRIAL BEFORE THE JURY

Art. 36.14. Charge of Court

Subject to the provisions of Article 36.07 in each felony case and in each misdemeanor case tried in a court of record, the judge shall, before the argument begins, deliver to the jury, except in pleas of guilty, where a jury has been waived, a written charge distinctly setting forth the law applicable to the case; not expressing any opinion as to the weight of the evidence, not summing up the testimony, discussing the facts or using any argument in his charge calculated to arouse the sympathy or excite the passions of the jury. Before said charge is read to the jury, the defendant or his counsel shall have a reasonable time to examine the same and he shall present his objections thereto in writing, distinctly specifying each ground of objection. Said objections may embody errors claimed to have been committed in the charge, as well as errors claimed to have been committed by omissions therefrom or in failing to charge upon issues arising from the facts, and in no event shall it be necessary for the defendant or his counsel to present special requested charges to preserve or maintain any error assigned to the charge, as herein provided. The requirement that the objections to the court's charge be in writing will be complied with if the objections are dictated to the court reporter in the presence of and with the consent of the court, before the reading of the court's charge to the jury, and are subsequently transcribed, endorsed with the court's ruling and official signature, and filed with the clerk in time to be included in the transcript. Compliance with the provisions of this Article is all that is necessary to preserve, for review, the exceptions and objections presented to the charge and any amendment or modification thereof. In no event shall it be necessary for the defendant to except to the action of the court in over-ruling defendant's exceptions or objections to the charge.

Art. 36.15. Requested Special Charges

Before the court reads his charge to the jury, counsel on both sides shall have a reasonable time to present written instructions and ask that they be given to the jury. The requirement that the instructions be in writing is complied with if the instructions are dictated to the court reporter in the presence of and with the consent of the court before the reading of the court's charge to the jury and are subsequently transcribed, endorsed with the court's ruling and official signature, and filed with the clerk in time to be included in the transcript. The court shall give or refuse these charges. The defendant may, by a special requested instruction, call the trial court's attention to error in the charge, as well as omissions therefrom, and no other exception or objection to the court's charge shall be necessary to preserve any error reflected by any special requested instruction which the trial court refuses.

Any special requested charge which is granted shall be incorporated in the main charge and shall be treated as a part thereof, and the jury shall not be advised that it is a special requested charge of either party. The judge shall read to the jury only such special charges as he gives.

When the defendant has leveled objections to the charge or has requested instructions or both, and the court thereafter modifies his charge and rewrites the same and in so doing does not respond to objections or requested charges, or any of them, then the objections or requested charges shall not be deemed to have been waived by the party making or requesting the same, but shall be deemed to continue to have been urged by the party making or requesting the same unless the contrary is shown by the record; no exception by the defendant to the action of the court shall be necessary or required in order to preserve for review the error claimed in the charge.

Art. 38.07. Testimony in Corroboration of Victim of Sexual Offense

A conviction under Chapter 21, Penal Code,[1] is supportable on the uncorroborated testimony of the victim of the sexual offense if the victim informed any person, other than the defendant, of the alleged offense within six months after the date on which the offense is alleged to have occurred. The court shall instruct the jury that the time which lapsed between the alleged offense and the time it was reported shall be considered by the jury only for the purpose of assessing the weight to be given to the testimony of the victim.

Art. 38.22. When Statements May be Used

Sec. 1. In this article, a written statement of an accused means a statement signed by the accused or a statement made by the accused in his own handwriting or, if the accused is unable to write, a statement bearing his mark, when the mark has been witnessed by a person other than a peace officer.

Sec. 2. No written statement made by an accused as a result of custodial interrogation is admissible as evidence against him in any criminal proceeding unless it is shown on the face of the statement that:

(a) the accused, prior to making the statement, either received from a magistrate the warning provided in Article 15.17 of this code or received from the person to whom the statement is made a warning that:

(1) he has the right to remain silent and not make any statement at all and that any statement he makes may be used against him at his trial;

(2) any statement he makes may be used as evidence against him in court;

(3) he has the right to have a lawyer present to advise him prior to and during any questioning;

(4) if he is unable to employ a lawyer, he has the right to have a lawyer appointed to advise him prior to and during any questioning; and

(5) he has the right to terminate the interview at any time; and

(b) the accused, prior to and during the making of the statement, knowingly, intelligently, and voluntarily waived the rights set out in the warning prescribed by Subsection (a) of this section.

Sec. 3. (a) An oral or sign language statement of an accused made as a result of custodial interrogation is admissible against the accused in a criminal proceeding for the purpose of impeachment only and when:

(1) an electronic recording, which may include motion picture, video tape, or other visual recording, is made of the statement;

(2) prior to the statement but during the recording the accused is told that a recording is being made;

(3) prior to the statement but during the recording the accused is given the warning in Subsection (a) of Section 2 above and the accused knowingly, intelligently, and voluntarily waives any rights set out in the warning;

(4) the recording device was capable of making an accurate recording, that the operator was competent, and that the recording is accurate and has not been altered;

(5) the statement is witnessed by at least two persons; and

(6) all voices on the recording are identified.

(b) Every electronic recording of any statement made by an accused during custodial interrogation must be preserved until its destruction is permitted by order of a district court of this state.

(c) Subsection (a) of this section shall not apply to any statement which contains assertions of facts or circumstances that are found to be true and which conduce to establish the guilt of the accused, such as the finding of secreted or stolen property or the instrument with which he states the offense was committed.

(d) If the accused is a deaf person, the accused's statement under Section 2 or Section 3(a) of this article is not admissible against the accused unless the warning in Section 2 of this article is interpreted to the deaf person by an interpreter who is qualified and sworn as provided in Article 38.31 of this code.

Sec. 4. When any statement, the admissibility of which is covered by this article, is sought to be used in connection with an official proceeding, any person who swears falsely to facts and circumstances which, if true, would render the statement admissible under this article is presumed to have acted with intent to deceive and with knowledge of the statement's meaning for the purpose of prosecution for aggravated perjury under Section 37.03 of the Penal Code. No person prosecuted under this subsection shall be eligible for probation.

Sec. 5. Nothing in this article precludes the admission of a statement made by the accused in open court at his trial, before a grand jury, or at an examining trial in compliance with Articles 16.03 and 16.04 of this code, or of a statement that is the res gestae of the arrest or of the offense, or of a statement that does not stem from custodial interrogation, or of a voluntary statement, whether or not the result of custodial interrogation, that has a bearing upon the credibility of the accused as a witness, or of any other statement that may be admissible under law.

Sec. 6. In all cases where a question is raised as to the voluntariness of a statement of an accused, the court must make an independent finding in the absence of the jury as to whether the statement was made under voluntary conditions. If the statement has been found to have been voluntarily made and held admissible as a matter of law and fact by the court in a hearing in the absence of the jury, the court must enter an order stating its conclusion as to whether or not the statement was voluntarily made, along with the specific finding of facts upon which the conclusion was based, which order shall be filed among the papers of the cause. Such order shall not be exhibited to the jury nor the finding thereof made known to the jury in any manner. Upon the finding by the judge as a matter of law and fact that the statement was voluntarily made, evidence pertaining to such matter may be submitted to the jury and it shall be instructed that unless the jury believes beyond a reasonable doubt that the statement was voluntarily made, the jury shall not consider such statement for any purpose nor any evidence obtained as a result thereof. In any case where a motion to suppress the statement has been filed and evidence has been submitted to the court on this issue, the court within its discretion may reconsider such evidence in his finding that the statement was voluntarily made and the same evidence submitted to the court at the hearing on the motion to suppress shall be made a part of the record the same as if it were being presented at the time of trial. However, the state or the defendant shall be entitled to present any new evidence on the issue of the voluntariness of the statement prior to the court's final ruling and order stating its findings.

Sec. 7. When the issue is raised by the evidence, the trial judge shall appropriately instruct the jury, generally, on the law pertaining to such statement. [Amended by Acts 1977, 65th Leg., p. 935, ch. 348, § 2, eff. Aug. 29, 1977; Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 398, ch. 186, §§ 4, 5, eff. May 15, 1979.]

Section 3 of the 1977 amendatory act provided: "This Act applies only to statements made on or after its effective date."

Art. 38.30. Interpreter

When a motion for appointment of an interpreter is filed by any party or on motion of the court, in any criminal proceeding, it is determined that a person charged or a witness does not understand and speak the English language, an interpreter must be sworn to interpret for him. Any person may be subpoenaed, attached or recognized in any criminal action or proceeding, to appear before the proper judge or court to act as interpreter therein, under the same rules and penalties as are provided for witnesses. In the event that the only available interpreter is not considered to possess adequate interpreting skills for the particular situation or the interpreter is not familiar with use of slang, the person charged or witness may be permitted by the court to nominate another person to act as intermediary between himself and the appointed interpreter during the proceedings. Interpreters appointed under the terms of this article will receive from the general fund of the county for their services a sum not to exceed $100 a day as follows: interpreters shall be paid not less than $15 nor more than $100 a day at the discretion of the judge presiding, and when travel of the interpreter is involved all the actual expenses of travel, lodging, and meals incurred by the interpreter pertaining to the case he is appointed to serve shall be paid at the same rate applicable to state employees.

Sections 3 and 4 of the 1979 amendatory act provided:

"Sec. 3. All laws or parts of laws in conflict or inconsistent with the provisions of this Act are hereby repealed.

"Sec. 4. If any section, subsection, paragraph, sentence, clause, phrase, or word in this Act or the application thereof to any person or circumstance for any reason is held invalid or unconstitutional, such holding shall not affect the validity or enforceability of the remaining portions of this Act, and the legislature hereby declares that it would have passed such remaining portions of this Act despite such invalidity or unconstitutionality of any part or portion thereof."

Art. 38.31. Interpreters for Deaf Persons

(a) If the court is notified by a party that the defendant is deaf and will be present at an arraignment, hearing, examining trial, or trial, or that a witness is deaf and will be called at a hearing, examining trial, or trial, the court shall appoint a qualified interpreter to interpret the proceedings in any language that the deaf person can understand, including but not limited to sign language. On the court's motion or the motion of a party, the court may order testimony of a deaf witness and the interpretation of that testimony by the interpreter visually, electronically recorded for use in verification of the transcription of the reporter's notes. The clerk of the court shall include that recording in the appellate record if requested by a party under Article 40.09 of this Code.

(b) Following the filing of an indictment, information, or complaint against a deaf defendant, the court on the motion of the defendant shall appoint a qualified interpreter to interpret in a language that the defendant can understand, including but not limited to sign language, communications concerning the case between the defendant and defense counsel. The interpreter may not disclose a communication between the defendant and defense counsel or a fact that came to the attention of the interpreter while interpreting those communications if defense counsel may not disclose that communication or fact.

(c) In all cases where the mental condition of a person is being considered and where such person may be committed to a mental institution, and where such person is deaf, all of the court proceedings pertaining to him shall be interpreted by a qualified interpreter appointed by the court.

(d) A proceeding for which an interpreter is required to be appointed under this Article may not commence until the appointed interpreter is in a position not exceeding ten feet from and in full view of the deaf person.

(e) The interpreter appointed under the terms of this Article shall be required to take an oath that he will make a true interpretation to the person accused or being examined, which person is deaf, of all the proceedings of his case in a language that he understands; and that he will repeat said deaf person's answer to questions to counsel, court, or jury, in the English language, in his best skill and judgment.

(f) Interpreters appointed under this Article are entitled to a reasonable fee determined by the court after considering the recommendations of the State Commission for the Deaf. When travel of the interpreter is involved all the actual expenses of travel, lodging, and meals incurred by the interpreter pertaining to the case he is appointed to serve shall be paid at the same rate applicable to state employees.

(g) In this Code:

(1) "Deaf person" means a person who has a hearing impairment, regardless of whether the person also has a speech impairment, that inhibits the person's comprehension of the proceedings or communication with others.

(2) "Qualified interpreter" means an interpreter for the deaf whose qualifications have been approved by the State Commission for the Deaf. [Amended by Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 396, ch. 186, § 1, eff. May 15, 1979.]

Art. 38.33. Preservation and Use of Evidence of Drunk or Drugged Driving Convictions

Documents Filed

Sec. 1. When a person is finally convicted of an offense of driving while intoxicated or driving while under the influence of drugs, the clerk of the court shall mail a notice of the conviction to the sheriff of the county in which the offense occurred. The sheriff shall compile and send to the clerk copies of any photograph, picture, description, fingerprint, or measurement of the defendant made by a law enforcement agency in connection with that offense. The clerk shall forward to the department of public safety those documents and any complaint, information, indictment, judgment, sentence, mandate, or written waiver or motion in possession of the clerk pertaining to the conviction and the name of the attorney of record in that case.

Use as Evidence

Sec. 2. A certified copy of a document of the department of public safety forwarded to the department pursuant to Section 1 of this article is admissible as evidence in a criminal proceeding to prove that a particular person was convicted of the offense to which the document pertains if the court finds that 15 days before trial, the party against whom the evidence is offered was provided a copy of the document offered as evidence.

Dissemination of Documents

Sec. 3. (a) On written request of a prosecuting attorney for any documents of the department of public safety forwarded to the department pursuant to Section 1 of this article pertaining to a particular person, the department shall furnish the prosecuting attorney at no cost to the prosecuting attorney certified copies of those documents.

(b) The court in which a criminal case is pending may request the department to mail to the defendant or the defendant's attorney copies of documents filed in the name of the defendant under Section 1 of this article. The department shall furnish the copies to the defendant or the defendant's attorney without cost to the defendant or the attorney. [Added by Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 1851, ch. 751, § 1, eff. Sept. 1, 1979.]

PROCEEDINGS AFTER VERDICT

CHAPTER FORTY. NEW TRIALS

Art. 40.09. The Record on Appeal

[See Compact Edition, Volume 1 for text of 1 and 2]

3. Statement of Facts and Other Proceedings

The record may include a transcription of all or any part of the proceedings shown by notes of the reporter to have occurred before, during or after the trial and the same will constitute the statement of facts for the appeal. A transcription applicable to any proceeding occurring before or within a period of ninety days after notice of appeal shall be filed with the clerk for inclusion in the record not later than the end of such period. A transcription of notes applicable to any proceeding occurring after the end of such period shall be filed with the clerk for inclusion in the record not later than thirty days after the end of such proceeding.

[See Compact Edition, Volume 1 for text of 4 and 5]

6. Bills of Exception

(a) A party desiring to have the record disclose some action, testimony, evidence, proceeding, objection, exception or other event or occurrence not otherwise shown by the record may utilize a bill of exception for this purpose. Bills of exception must be filed with the clerk and presented to the trial judge within ninety days after notice of appeal is given. The clerk shall notify the court of each bill immediately upon its being filed. The court shall either approve the bill without qualification or shall approve it subject to qualification or refuse it, setting forth in the qualification or refusal any reasons that may seem proper to the judge. Notice of the court's action in qualifying or refusing a bill shall be immediately given by the clerk to the party filing the bill or to his counsel, and such party, if unwilling to accept the court's qualification or refusal may not later than fifteen days after receipt of such notice, file a bystander's bill of exception, and the clerk shall include same in the record. A bill of exception will be deemed approved without qualification if it be not acted upon by the trial judge within a period of 100 days after notice of appeal is given and no extension of time for filing has been granted; provided, however, if an extension of time for filing has been granted, a bill of exception will be deemed approved without qualification if it be not acted upon by the trial judge within a period of 10 days after the actual filing of the bill.

[See Compact Edition, Volume 1 for text of 6(b) to 6(d)]

7. Approval of the Record

Notice of completion of the record shall be made by the clerk by certified mail to the parties or their respective counsel. If neither files and presents to the court in writing any objection to the record, within fifteen days after the mailing of such notice and if the court has no objection to the record, he shall approve the same. If the trial court deems that a supplemental record or any other modification of the record be necessary to make the record speak the truth, for any reason, with or without objections from the state or the defendant, and whether on the court's own motion or the motion of either party or by order of the Court of Criminal Appeals, the defendant and the state shall be notified by certified mail of same and be given five days from receipt of notice for objections to such modification or supplementation. If objection be made, or if the court fails to approve the record within five days after the expiration of such fifteen-day period, the court shall set the matter down for hearing, and, after hearing, shall enter such orders as may be appropriate to cause the record to speak the truth and the findings and adjudications in such orders, if supported by evidence, shall be final. In its discretion, the court may require the attendance of the defendant at such hearing. Such proceeding shall be included in the record, and the entire record approved by the court.

8. Filing Approved Record with Clerk

The record, on approval by the court, shall be filed with the clerk of the trial court. Notice of the approval of the record by the court shall be made by the clerk by certified mail to the parties or their respective counsel. The 30-day time limit provided in Section 9 of this article shall commence when the notice is mailed.

9. Defendant's Brief

Within thirty days after approval of the record by the court, the defendant shall file with the clerk of the trial court the original and one copy of his appellate brief, or the number of copies required by the rules of the court of criminal appeals. The rules may not require him to file more than 10 copies. This brief shall set forth separately each ground of error of which the defendant desires to complain on appeal and may set forth such arguments as he deems appropriate. Each ground of error shall briefly refer to that part of the ruling of the trial court, charge given to the jury, or charge refused, admission or rejection of evidence, or other proceedings which are designated to be complained of in such way so that the point of objection can be clearly identified and understood by the court. If the defendant includes in his brief arguments supporting a particular ground of error, they shall be construed with it in determining what point of objection is sought to be presented by such ground of error; and if the court, upon consideration of such ground of error in the light of arguments made in support thereof in the brief, can identify and understand such point of objection, the same shall be reviewed notwithstanding any generality, vagueness, or any other technical defect that may exist in the language employed to set forth such ground of error.

10. The State's Brief

Within thirty days after defendant files his brief with the clerk of the trial court, the State shall file with the clerk of the trial court the original and one copy of its brief, or the number of copies required by the rules of the court of criminal appeals. The rules may not require the State to file more than 10 copies. Each party, upon filing his brief with the clerk of the trial court, shall cause a true copy thereof to be delivered to the opposing party or to the latter's counsel.

[See Compact Edition, Volume 1 for text of 11 to 15]

16. Extensions of Time

Extensions of time for meeting the limits prescribed in Sections 3, 6, 9, and 10 of this Article for either the appellant or the State may be granted by the Court of Criminal Appeals or a judge of the Court for good cause shown on timely application to the Court of Criminal Appeals.

(a) Where jail time has been awarded, the trial judge may, when in his or her discretion the ends of justice would best be served and upon written motion of the defendant, sentence the defendant to serve his or her sentence during his or her off-work hours, or on weekends. When such a sentence is permitted by the trial judge it must be served on consecutive days or consecutive weekends. The trial judge may require bail of the defendant to insure the faithful performance of the sentence. The trial judge may attach conditions regarding the employment, travel, and other conduct of the defendant during the performance of such a sentence.

(b) The court may impose as a condition to permitting a defendant to serve the jail time assessed during off-work hours or on weekends a requirement that the defendant execute a letter and direct it to his or her employer directing the employer to deduct from the defendant's salary an amount directed by the court, which is to be sent by the employer to the clerk of the court. The money directed by the court under this section may be used to pay the following expenses as directed by the court:

(1) the support of the prisoner's dependents, if necessary;

(2) the prisoner's personal, business, and travel expenses;

(3) reimbursement of the general fund of the county for the maintenance of the prisoner in jail; and

Art. 42.07. Reasons to Prevent Sentence

Before pronouncing sentence, the defendant shall be asked whether he has anything to say why the sentence should not be pronounced against him. The only reasons which can be shown, on account of which sentence cannot be pronounced, are:

1. That the defendant has received a pardon from the proper authority, on the presentation of which, legally authenticated, he shall be discharged.

2. That the defendant is incompetent to stand trial; and if evidence be shown to support a finding of incompetency to stand trial, no sentence shall be pronounced, and the court shall proceed under Article 46.02 of this code;

3. Where there has not been a motion for a new trial or a motion in arrest of judgment made, the defendant may answer that he has good grounds for either or both of these motions and either or both motions may be immediately entered and disposed of, although more than ten days may have elapsed since the rendition of the verdict; and

4. When a person who has been convicted escapes after conviction and before sentence and an individual supposed to be the same has been arrested he may before sentence is pronounced, deny that he is the person convicted, and an issue be accordingly tried before a jury as to his identity.

Art. 42.12. Adult Probation, Parole, and Mandatory Supervision Law

A. Purpose of Article and Definitions

Sec. 1. It is the purpose of this Article to place wholly within the State courts of appropriate jurisdiction the responsibility for determining when the imposition of sentence in certain cases shall be suspended, the conditions of probation, and the supervision of probationers, in consonance with the powers assigned to the judicial branch of this government by the Constitution of Texas. It is also the intent of this Article to provide for the release of persons on parole and for the method thereof, to designate the Board of Pardons and Paroles as the responsible agency of State government to recommend determination of paroles and to further designate the Board of Pardons and Paroles as responsible for the investigation and supervision of persons released on parole. It is the intent of this Article to aid all prisoners to readjust to society upon completion of their period of incarceration by providing a program of mandatory supervision for those prisoners not released on parole or through executive clemency and to designate the Board of Pardons and Paroles as the agency of government responsible for the program. It is the final purpose of this Article to remove from existing statutes the limitations, other than questions of constitutionality, that have acted as barriers to effective systems of probations and paroles in the public interest.

Sec. 2. This Article may be cited as the "Adult Probation, Parole, and Mandatory Supervision Law".

Unless the context otherwise requires, the following definitions shall apply to the specified words and phrases as used in this Article:

[See Compact Edition, Volume 1 for text of 2(a) to 2(c)]

d. "Mandatory supervision" shall mean the release of a prisoner from imprisonment but not on parole and not from the legal custody of the State, for rehabilitation outside of prison walls under such conditions and provisions for disciplinary supervision as the Board of Pardons and Paroles may determine. Mandatory supervision may not be construed as a commutation of sentence or any other form of executive clemency;

e. "Probation officer" shall mean either a person duly appointed by one or more courts of record having original criminal jurisdiction, to supervise defendants placed on probation; or a person designated by such courts for such duties on a part-time basis;

f. "Parole officer" shall mean a person duly appointed by the Director of the Division of Parole Supervision and assigned the duties of investigating and supervising paroled prisoners and prisoners released to mandatory supervision to see that the conditions of parole or mandatory supervision are complied with;

g. "Board" shall mean the Board of Pardons and Paroles;

h. "Division" shall mean the Division of Parole Supervision of the Board of Pardons and Paroles; and

i. "Director" shall mean the Director of the Division of Parole Supervision.

B. Probations

Sec. 3. The judges of the courts of the State of Texas having original jurisdiction of criminal actions, when it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court that the ends of justice and the best interests of the public as well as the defendant will be subserved thereby, shall have the power, after conviction or a plea of guilty for any crime or offense, where the maximum punishment assessed against the defendant does not exceed ten years imprisonment, to suspend the imposition of the sentence and may place the defendant on probation or impose a fine applicable to the offense committed and also place the defendant on probation as hereinafter provided. In all cases where the punishment is assessed by the Court it may fix the period of probation without regard to the term of punishment assessed, but in no event may the period of probation be greater than 10 years or less than the minimum prescribed for the offense for which the defendant was convicted. Any such person placed on probation, whether in a trial by jury or before the court, shall be under the supervision of such court.

Sec. 3a. Where there is a conviction in any court of this State and the punishment assessed by the jury shall not exceed ten years, the jury may recommend probation for a period of any term of years authorized for the offense for which the defendant was convicted, but in no event for more than ten years, upon written sworn motion made therefor by the defendant, filed before the trial begins. When the jury recommends probation, it may also assess a fine applicable to the offense for which the defendant was convicted. When the trial is to a jury, and the defendant has no counsel, the court shall inform the defendant of his right to make such motion, and the court shall appoint counsel to prepare and present same, if desired by the defendant. In no case shall probation be recommended by the jury except when the sworn motion and proof shall show, and the jury shall find in their verdict that the defendant has never before been convicted of a felony in this or any other State. This law is not to be construed as preventing the jury from passing on the guilt of the defendant, but he may enter a plea of not guilty. In all eligible cases, probation shall be granted by the court, if the jury recommends it in their verdict, for the period recommended by the jury.

If probation is granted by the jury the court may impose only those conditions which are set forth in Section 6 hereof.

[See Compact Edition, Volume 1 for text of 3b and 3c]

Sec. 3d. (a) When in its opinion the best interest of society and the defendant will be served, the court may, after receiving a plea of guilty or plea of nolo contendere, hearing the evidence, and finding that it substantiates the defendant's guilt, defer further proceedings without entering an adjudication of guilt, and place the defendant on probation on reasonable terms and conditions as the court may require and for a period as the court may prescribe not to exceed 10 years. However, upon written motion of the defendant requesting final adjudication filed within 30 days after entering such plea and the deferment of adjudication, the court shall proceed to final adjudication as in all other cases.

(b) On violation of a condition of probation imposed under Subsection (a) of this section, the defendant may be arrested and detained as provided in Section 8 of this Article. The defendant is entitled to a hearing limited to the determination by the court of whether it proceeds with an adjudication of guilt on the original charge. No appeal may be taken from this determination. After an adjudication of guilt, all proceedings, including assessment of punishment, pronouncement of sentence, granting of probation, and defendant's appeal continue as if the adjudication of guilt had not been deferred.

(c) On expiration of a probationary period imposed under Subsection (a) of this section, if the court has not proceeded to adjudication of guilt, the court shall dismiss the proceedings against the defendant and discharge him. The court may dismiss the proceedings and discharge the defendant prior to the expiration of the term of probation if in its opinion the best interest of society and the defendant will be served. A dismissal and discharge under this section may not be deemed a conviction for the purposes of disqualifications or disabilities imposed by law for conviction of an offense, except that upon conviction of a subsequent offense, the fact that the defendant had previously received probation shall be admissible before the court or jury to be considered on the issue of penalty.

Sec. 3e. (a) For the purposes of this section, the jurisdiction of the courts in this state in which a sentence requiring confinement in the Texas Department of Corrections is imposed for conviction of a felony shall continue for 120 days from the date the execution of the sentence actually begins. After the expiration of 60 days but prior to the expiration of 120 days from the date the execution of the sentence actually begins, the judge of the court that imposed such sentence may, on his own motion or on written motion of the defendant, suspend further execution of the sentence imposed and place the defendant on probation under the terms and conditions of this article, if such sentence is otherwise eligible for probation under this article and prior to the execution of such sentence, the defendant had never been incarcerated in a penitentiary serving a sentence for a felony and in the opinion of the judge the defendant would not benefit from further incarceration in a penitentiary. Probation may be granted under this section only if the offense for which the defendant was sentenced was an offense other than criminal homicide, rape, or robbery.

(b) When the defendant files a written motion requesting suspension by the court of further execution of the sentence and placement on probation, or when requested to do so by the judge, the clerk of the court shall request a copy of the defendant's record while incarcerated from the Texas Department of Corrections. Upon receipt of such request, the Texas Department of Corrections shall forward to the court, as soon as possible, a full and complete copy of the defendant's record while incarcerated.

Sec. 3f. (a) The provisions of Sections 3 and 3c of this Article do not apply:

(1) to a defendant adjudged guilty of an offense defined by the following sections of the Penal Code:

(A) Section 19.03 (Capital murder);

(B) Section 20.04 (Aggravated kidnapping);

(C) Section 21.03 (Aggravated rape);

(D) Section 21.05 (Aggravated sexual abuse);

(E) Section 29.03 (Aggravated robbery); or

(2) to a defendant when it is shown that the defendant used or exhibited a deadly weapon as defined in Section 1.07(a)(11), Penal Code, during the commission of a felony offense or during immediate flight therefrom. Upon affirmative finding that the defendant used or exhibited a deadly weapon during the commission of an offense or during immediate flight therefrom, the trial court shall enter the finding in the judgment of the court. Upon an affirmative finding that the deadly weapon the defendant used or exhibited was a firearm, the court shall enter that finding in its judgment.

(b) If there is an affirmative finding that the defendant convicted of a felony of the second degree or higher used or exhibited a firearm during the commission or flight from commission of the offense and the defendant is granted probation, the court may order the defendant confined in the Texas Department of Corrections for not less than 60 and not more than 120 days. At any time after the defendant has served 60 days in the custody of the Department of Corrections, the sentencing judge, on his own motion or on motion of the defendant, may order the defendant released to probation. The Department of Corrections shall release the defendant to probation after he has served 120 days.

Sec. 4. When directed by the court, a probation officer shall fully investigate and report to the court in writing the circumstances of the offense, criminal record, social history and present condition of the defendant. Whenever practicable, such investigation shall include a physical and mental examination of defendant. Defendant, if not represented by counsel, counsel for defendant and counsel for the state shall be afforded an opportunity to see a copy of the report upon request. If a defendant is committed to any institution the probation officer shall send a report of such investigation to the institution at the time of commitment.

[See Compact Edition, Volume 1 for text of 5]

Sec. 6. The court having jurisdiction of the case shall determine the terms and conditions of probation and may, at any time, during the period of probation alter or modify the conditions; provided, however, that the clerk of the court shall furnish a copy of such terms and conditions to the probationer, and shall note the date of delivery of such copy on the docket. Terms and conditions of probation may include, but shall not be limited to, the conditions that the probationer shall:

a. Commit no offense against the laws of this State or of any other State or of the United States;

b. Avoid injurious or vicious habits;

c. Avoid persons or places of disreputable or harmful character;

d. Report to the probation officer as directed by the judge or probation officer and obey all rules and regulations of the probation department;

e. Permit the probation officer to visit him at his home or elsewhere;

f. Work faithfully at suitable employment as far as possible;

g. Remain within a specified place;

h. Pay his fine, if one be assessed, and all court costs whether a fine be assessed or not, in one or several sums, and make restitution or reparation in any sum that the court shall determine;

i. Support his dependents;

j. Participate in any community-based program;

k. Reimburse the county in which the prosecution was instituted for compensation paid to appointed counsel for defending him in the case, if counsel was appointed, or if he was represented by a county-paid public defender, in an amount that would have been paid to an appointed attorney had the county not had a public defender;

l. Remain under custodial supervision in a community-based facility, obey all rules and regulations of such facility, and pay a percentage of his income to the facility for room and board;

m. Pay a percentage of his income to his dependents for their support while under custodial suspension in a community-based facility; and

n. Pay a percentage of his income to the victim of the offense, if any, to compensate the victim for any property damage or medical expenses sustained by the victim as a direct result of the commission of the offense.

Sec. 6a. (a) A court granting probation may fix a fee not exceeding $15 per month to be paid to the court by the probationer during the probationary period. The court may make payment of the fee a condition of granting or continuing the probation.

(b) The court shall deposit the fees received under Subsection (a) of this section in the special fund of the county treasury provided by Section 4.05(b), Article 42.121 of this Code, to be used for the same purposes for which state-aid may be used under that section.

Sec. 6b. (a) When the court having jurisdiction of the case grants probation to the defendant, in addition to the conditions imposed under Section 6 of this article, the court may require as a condition of probation that the defendant submit to a period of detention in a penal institution to serve a term of imprisonment not to exceed 30 days or one-third of the sentence, whichever is lesser.

(b) The imprisonment imposed shall be treated as a condition of probation, and in the event of a sentence of imprisonment upon the revocation of probation, the term of imprisonment served hereunder shall be credited toward service of such subsequent imprisonment.

[See Compact Edition, Volume 1 for text of 7]

Sec. 8. (a) At any time during the period of probation the court may issue a warrant for violation of any of the conditions of the probation and cause the defendant to be arrested. Any probation officer, police officer or other officer with power of arrest may arrest such defendant without a warrant upon the order of the judge of such court to be noted on the docket of the court. A probationer so arrested may be detained in the county jail or other appropriate place of detention until he can be taken before the court. Such officer shall forthwith report such arrest and detention to such court. If the defendant has not been released on bail, on motion by the defendant the court shall cause the defendant to be brought before it for a hearing within 20 days of filing of said motion, and after a hearing without a jury, may either continue, modify, or revoke the probation. The state may amend the motion to revoke probation any time up to seven days before the date of the revocation hearing, after which time the motion may not be amended except for good cause shown, and in no event may the state amend the motion after the commencement of taking evidence at the hearing. The court may continue the hearing for good cause shown by either the defendant or the state. If probation is revoked, the court may proceed to dispose of the case as if there had been no probation, or if it determines that the best interests of society and the probationer would be served by a shorter term of imprisonment, reduce the term of imprisonment originally assessed to any term of imprisonment not less than the minimum prescribed for the offense of which the probationer was convicted.

(c) In a probation revocation hearing at which it is alleged only that the probationer violated the conditions of probation by failing to pay probation fees, court costs, restitution, or reparations, the inability of the probationer to pay as ordered by the court is an affirmative defense to revocation, which the probationer must prove by a preponderance of evidence.

Sec. 10. (a) For the purpose of providing adequate probation services, the district judge or district judges trying criminal cases in each judicial district in this state shall establish a probation office and employ, in accordance with standards set by the commission, district personnel as may be necessary to conduct presentence investigation, supervise and rehabilitate probationers, and enforce the terms and conditions of misdemeanor and felony probation. If two or more judicial districts serve a county, or a district has more than one county, one district probation department shall serve all courts and counties in the districts. However, the adult probation commission may adopt rules to allow more than one probation department in a judicial district with more than one county if providing more than one probation department will promote administrative convenience or economy or improve probation services.

(b) Where more than one probation officer is required, the judge or judges shall appoint a chief adult probation officer or director, who, with their approval, shall appoint a sufficient number of assistants and other employees to carry on the professional, clerical, and other work of the court.

(c) To be eligible for appointment as an adult probation officer, a person who is not an adult probation officer on the effective date of this Act:

(1) must have acquired a bachelor's degree conferred by a college or university accredited by an accrediting organization recognized by the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System; and

(A) one year of graduate study in criminology, corrections, counseling, law, social work, psychology, sociology, or a related field that has been approved by the Texas Adult Probation Commission; [1] or

(B) one year of experience in full-time case work, counseling, or community or group work in a social, community, corrections, or juvenile agency that deals with offenders or disadvantaged persons that has been approved by the Texas Adult Probation Commission; and

(2) must not be otherwise disqualified by Section 31 of this article.

(d) The adult probation commission may adopt rules under which a judicial district may employ an adult probation officer who is not qualified under Subdivision (B), Subsection (c) of this section if the district judge, district judges, chief adult probation officer, or director tried but failed to employ a probation officer qualified under Subsection (c) of this section.

(e) The same person serving as a probation officer for juveniles may not be required to serve as a probation officer for adults and vice versa.

(f) Probation officers shall be furnished transportation or, alternatively, shall be entitled to an automobile allowance for use of personal automobile on official business.

(g) Personnel of the respective district probation departments shall not be deemed state employees and the responsible judge or judges of a district probation department shall negotiate a contract with the most populous county within the judicial district for all district probation department staff to participate in that county's group insurance programs, liability insurance, or self-insurance for acts done in the course and scope of their employment as probation department staff, retirement plan, including the district and county retirement system if the county participates in that system for any county employees, and personnel policies with regard to vacation credit, sick leave credit, holiday schedule, credit union, jury leave, military leave, etc. It shall be the responsibility of the county or counties comprising the judicial district or geographical area served by such district probation department to provide physical facilities, equipment, and utilities for an effective and professional adult probation and adult community-based correctional service.

(h) Where a judicial district has criminal jurisdiction in two or more counties, those counties may enter into agreement that the total expenses of such facilities, equipment, and utilities be distributed approximately in the same proportion as the population in each county bears to the total population of all those counties, according to the last preceding or any future federal census.

(i) The salaries of personnel, and other expenses essential to the adequate supervision of probationers, shall be paid from the funds of the judicial district. In all the instances of employment of probation officers, the responsible judges are authorized to accept state-aid, grants or gifts from other political subdivisions of the state or associations and foundations, for the sole purpose of financing adequate and effective probationary programs and community-based correctional facilities other than jails or prisons in the various parts of the district. For the purposes of this Act, the municipalities of this state are specifically authorized to grant and allocate such sums of money as their respective governing bodies may approve to their appropriate county governments for the support and maintenance of effective programs. All grants, gifts, and allocations of the character and purpose described in this section shall be handled and accounted for separately from other public funds of the county.

Sec. 11a. The provisions of Sections 6a, 10, and 11 of this Article also apply to Article 42.13.

C. Paroles

Sec. 12. The Board of Pardons and Paroles created by Article 4, Section 11 of the Constitution of this State, shall administer the provisions of this Act respecting determinations of which prisoners shall be paroled from an institution operated by the Department of Corrections, the conditions of parole and mandatory supervision, and may recommend the revocation of releases to mandatory supervision, paroles, and conditional pardons by the Governor. Keeping the goals of this Act in mind, the Board shall have the authority to determine the degree and intensity of supervision a prisoner released on parole or released to mandatory supervision should receive.

Sec. 12a. The Board of Pardons and Paroles is subject to the Texas Sunset Act,[1] but it is not abolished under that Act. The board shall be reviewed under the Texas Sunset Act during the period in which state agencies abolished effective September 1 of 1987 and of every 12th year after 1987 are reviewed.

[1] Civil Statutes, art. 5429k.

Sec. 13. The members of the Board shall give full time to the duties of their office and shall be paid such salaries as the Legislature may determine in Appropriation Acts. The members of the Board shall elect one of their number as chairman, who shall serve for a period of two years and until his successor is elected and qualified.

The Board shall meet at the call of the chairman and from time to time as may otherwise be determined by majority vote of the Board. A majority of the Board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of all business.

The Board shall adopt an official seal of which the courts shall take judicial notice. Decisions of the Board shall be by majority vote.

The Board shall keep a record of its acts and shall notify each institution of its decision relating to the persons who are confined therein. At the close of each fiscal year the Board shall submit to the Governor and to the Legislature a report with statistical and other data of its work.

All minutes of the Board and decisions relating to mandatory supervision, parole, pardon, and clemency shall be matters of public record and subject to public inspection at all reasonable times.

[See Compact Edition, Volume 1 for text of 14]

Sec. 14A. (a) To aid and assist the Board of Pardons and Paroles in parole and mandatory supervision decisions, provision is hereby made for the appointment of parole commissioners.

(b) There shall be appointed no less than six commissioners.

(c) One-third of the commissioners shall be appointed by the governor; one-third of the commissioners by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas; and one-third of the commissioners by the Presiding Judge of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals. One of the commissioners appointed by each of the appointing authorities shall reside in Walker County.

(d) Each commissioner shall hold office for a term of six years; provided that of the commissioners first appointed, the commissioners appointed by one of the appointing authorities shall serve for two years; the commissioners appointed by one of the appointing authorities shall serve for four years; and the other one-third of the commissioners shall serve for six years. Prior to appointment, the appointing authority shall draw lots for the length of the first term for his respective appointees. All terms shall begin on September 1, 1975.

(e) In matters of parole and mandatory supervision revocation decisions, the commissioners shall have the same duties and authority as the board members. A parole panel, as hereinafter provided, may recommend the granting, denying, or revocation of parole, the revocation of mandatory supervision status, and may conduct parole revocation hearings and mandatory supervision revocation hearings. The commissioners may interview inmates for parole consideration, and they shall perform their duties as directed by the board in its rules and regulations affecting these commissioners.

(f) The board may provide and promulgate a written plan for the administrative review of actions taken by a parole panel.

(g) The commissioners shall be compensated while holding office at a salary to be set by the legislature. They shall be reimbursed for their expenses in the same manner and in the same amount as are board members.

(h) The board members shall continue to exercise their responsibility for the administrative operation of the board of pardons and paroles.

(i) In matters of parole and release to mandatory supervision, the board members and commissioners may act in panels comprised of three persons in each panel. The composition of the respective panels shall be designated by the board. A majority of each panel shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of its business, and its decisions shall be by a majority vote. The functions given to the board throughout Article 42.12, Code of Criminal Procedure, 1965, as amended, may be enlarged and extend to the parole panels, as provided by board rules. The powers of the board and the board members can be delegated by the board to the parole panels and to the commissioners as needed for the convenience of and assistance to the board.

(j) In case of a vacancy among the parole commissioners, the appointing authority who appointed the commissioner now absent shall fill the vacancy with another appointment, and the person so appointed shall continue in office for the unexpired portion of the term for which the commissioner so vacating his office has been appointed.

Sec. 15. (a) The Board is authorized to release on parole, with the approval of the Governor, any person confined in any penal or correctional institution of this State who is eligible for parole under Subsection (b) of this Section. The period of parole shall be equivalent to the maximum term for which the prisoner was sentenced less calendar time actually served on the sentence. All paroles shall issue upon order of the Board, duly adopted and approved by the Governor.

(b) A prisoner under sentence of death is not eligible for parole. If a prisoner is serving a sentence for the offenses listed in Section 3f(a)(1) of this Article or if the judgment contains an affirmative finding under Section 3f(a)(2) of this Article, he is not eligible for release on parole until his actual calendar time served, without consideration of good conduct time, equals one-third of the maximum sentence or 20 calendar years, whichever is less, but in no event shall he be eligible for release on parole in less than two calendar years. All other prisoners shall be eligible for release on parole when their calendar time served plus good conduct time equals one-third of the maximum sentence imposed or 20 years, whichever is less.

(c) A prisoner who is not on parole, except a person under sentence of death, shall be released to mandatory supervision by order of the Board when the calendar time he has served plus any accrued good conduct time equal the maximum term to which he was sentenced. A prisoner released to mandatory supervision shall, upon release, be deemed as if released on parole. To the extent practicable, arrangements for the prisoner's proper employment, maintenance, and care shall be made prior to his release to mandatory supervision. The period of mandatory supervision shall be for a period equivalent to the maximum term for which the prisoner was sentenced less calendar time actually served on the sentence. The time served on mandatory supervision is calculated as calendar time. Every prisoner while on mandatory supervision shall remain in the legal custody of the institution from which he was released but shall be amenable to the orders of the Board.

(d) A prisoner who has not been released to mandatory supervision and has 180 calendar days or less remaining on his sentence may be released by order of the Board to mandatory supervision.

(e) Within one year after a prisoner's admittance to the penal or correctional institution and at such intervals thereafter, as it may determine, the Board shall secure and consider all pertinent information regarding each prisoner, except any under sentence of death, including the circumstances of his offense, his previous social history and criminal record, his conduct, employment and attitude in prison, and his physical and mental health.

(f) Before ordering the parole of any prisoner, the Board may have the prisoner appear before it and interview him. A parole shall be ordered only for the best interest of society, not as an award of clemency; it shall not be considered to be a reduction of sentence or pardon. A prisoner shall be placed on parole only when arrangements have been made for his proper employment or for his maintenance and care, and, as may be, in part, evidenced by the prisoner's having made, in whole or in part, restitution or reparation to the victim of his crime, the total amount of such restitution or reparation as may be established by the court and entered in the judgment of the court which sentenced the prisoner to his term of imprisonment, and when the Board believes that he is able and willing to fulfill the obligations of a law-abiding citizen. Every prisoner while on parole shall remain in the legal custody of the institution from which he was released but shall be amenable to the orders of the Board.

(g) The Board may adopt such other reasonable rules not inconsistent with law as it may deem proper or necessary with respect to the eligibility of prisoners for parole and mandatory supervision, the conduct of parole and mandatory supervision hearings, or conditions to be imposed upon parolees and persons released to mandatory supervision. Each person to be released on parole shall be furnished a written statement and contract setting forth in clear and intelligible language the conditions and rules of parole. The conditions may include the making of restitution or reparation to the victim of the prisoner's crime, the total amount of such restitution or reparation as may be established by the court and entered in the judgment of the court which sentenced the prisoner to his term of imprisonment. Acceptance, signing, and execution of the contract by the inmate to be paroled shall be a precondition to release on parole. Persons to be released on mandatory supervision shall be furnished a written statement setting forth in clear and intelligible language the conditions and rules of mandatory supervision.

(h) It shall be the duty of the Board at least ten days before ordering the parole of any prisoner or upon the granting of executive clemency by the Governor to notify the sheriff, the district attorney and the district judge in the county where such person was convicted that such parole or clemency is being considered by the Board or by the Governor.

(i) If no parole officer has been assigned to the locality where a person is to be released on parole, mandatory supervision, or executive clemency the Board shall notify the chairman of the Voluntary Parole Board of such county prior to the release of such person. The Board shall request such Voluntary Parole Board, in the absence of a parole officer, for information which would herein be required of such duly appointed parole officer. This shall not, however, preclude the Board from requesting information from any public agency in such locality.

[See Compact Edition, Volume 1 for text of 16 to 19]

Sec. 20. The Board shall have the power and duty to make rules for the conduct of persons placed on parole and of persons released to mandatory supervision.

Sec. 21. (a) A warrant for the return of a paroled prisoner, a prisoner released to mandatory supervision, a prisoner released on emergency reprieve or on furlough, or a person released on a conditional pardon to the institution from which he was paroled, released, or pardoned may be issued by the Board on order by the Governor when there is reason to believe that he has committed an offense against the laws of this State or of the United States, violated a condition of his parole, mandatory supervision, or conditional pardon, or when the circumstances indicate that he poses a danger to society that warrants his immediate return to incarceration. Such warrant shall authorize all officers named therein to take actual custody of the prisoner and return him to the institution from which he was released. Pending hearing, as hereinafter provided, upon any charge of parole violation or violation of the conditions of mandatory supervision, the prisoner shall remain incarcerated.

(b) A prisoner for whose return a warrant has been issued by the Board shall, after the issuance of such warrant, be deemed a fugitive from justice and if it shall appear that he has violated the conditions or provisions of his mandatory supervision or parole, then the time from the issuing of such warrant to the date of his arrest shall not be counted as any part of the time to be served under his sentence. The law now in effect concerning the right of the State of Texas to extradite persons and return fugitives from justice, and Article 42.11 of this Code concerning the waiver of all legal requirements to obtain extradition of fugitives from justice, from other states to this State, shall not be impaired by this Act and shall remain in full force and effect.

Sec. 22. Whenever a prisoner or a person granted a conditional pardon is accused of a violation of his parole, mandatory supervision, or conditional pardon on information and complaint by a law enforcement officer or parole officer, he shall be entitled to be heard on such charges before the Board or its designee under such rules and regulations as the Board may adopt; providing, however, said hearing shall be a public hearing and shall be held within ninety days of the date of arrest under a warrant issued by the Board of Pardons and Paroles or the Governor and at a time and place set by the Board. When the Board has heard the facts, it may recommend to the Governor that the parole, mandatory supervision, or conditional pardon be continued, or revoked, or modified in any manner the evidence may warrant. When the Governor revokes a person's parole, mandatory supervision, or conditional pardon, that person may be required to serve the portion remaining of the sentence on which he was released, such portion remaining to be calculated without credit for the time from the date of his release to the date of revocation. When a warrant is issued by the Board of Pardons and Paroles or the Governor charging a violation of release conditions, the sentence time credit shall be suspended until a determination is made by the Board of Pardons and Paroles or the Governor in such case and such suspended time credit may be re-instated by the Board of Pardons and Paroles should such parole, mandatory supervision, or conditional pardon be continued.

[See Compact Edition, Volume 1 for text of 23]

Sec. 24. When any prisoner who has been paroled or released to mandatory supervision has complied with the rules and conditions governing his release until the end of the term to which he was sentenced, and without a revocation of his parole or mandatory supervision, the Board shall make a final order of discharge and issue the prisoner a certificate of discharge.

[See Compact Edition, Volume 1 for text of 25]

Sec. 26. The Board of Pardons and Paroles shall have general responsibility for the investigation and supervision of all prisoners released on parole and to mandatory supervision. For the discharge of this responsibility, there is hereby created with the Board of Pardons and Paroles, a Division of Parole Supervision. Subject to the general direction of the Board of Pardons and Paroles, the Division of Parole Supervision, including its field staff shall be responsible for obtaining and assembling any facts the Board of Pardons and Paroles may desire in considering parole eligibility, in establishing a mandatory supervision plan, and for investigating and supervising paroled prisoners and prisoners released to mandatory supervision to see that the conditions of parole and mandatory supervision are complied with, and for making such periodic reports on the progress of parolees and prisoners released to mandatory supervision as the Board may desire.

Sec. 27. All information obtained in connection with inmates of the Texas Department of Corrections subject to parole, release to mandatory supervision, or executive clemency or individuals who may be on mandatory supervision or parole and under the supervision of the division, or persons directly identified in any proposed plan of release for a prisoner, shall be confidential and privileged information and shall not be subject to public inspection; provided, however, that all such information shall be available to the Governor and the Board of Pardons and Paroles upon request. It is further provided, that statistical and general information respecting the parole and mandatory supervision program and system, including the names of paroled prisoners, prisoners released to mandatory supervision, and data recorded in connection with parole and mandatory supervision services, shall be subject to public inspection at any reasonable time.

Sec. 28. Salaries of all employees of the Division of Parole Supervision shall be governed by Appropriation Acts of the Legislature. The Board of Pardons and Paroles shall appoint a Director of the division, and all other employees shall be selected by the Director, subject to such general policies and regulations as the Board may approve.

It is expressly provided, however, that no person may be employed as a parole officer or supervisor, or be responsible for the investigations or supervision of persons on parole or mandatory supervision, unless he meets the following qualifications together with any other qualifications that may be specified by the Director of the Division, with the approval of the Board of Pardons and Paroles; four years of successfully completed education in an accredited college or university, and two years of full time paid employment in responsible correctional work with adults or juveniles, social welfare work, teaching, or personnel work. Additional experience in the above categories may be substituted year for year for the required college education, with a maximum substitution for two years.

[See Compact Edition, Volume 1 for text of 29]

Sec. 30. In order to provide supervision of parolees, persons released to mandatory supervision, and persons granted executive clemency who reside in sparsely settled areas of the State and in localities not served by regularly employed parole officers, the Governor of this State is authorized to appoint chairmen of Voluntary Parole Boards for such areas or localities. The appointed chairman may, with the advice and approval of the Director of the Division of Parole Supervision, appoint additional members of such Voluntary Parole Boards. The term of service by such appointed chairmen of Voluntary Parole Boards shall not exceed the term of office of the appointing Governor; and the terms of service of locally appointed additional members of such Voluntary Parole Boards shall not exceed the terms of office of the director. However, it is expressly provided that the terms of service by such chairmen and additional members of Voluntary Parole Boards may be continued by appropriate reappointments. The chairman of the Voluntary Parole Board shall be responsible for assigning supervision of parolees and of persons released to mandatory supervision to the members of such board.

Sec. 31. No person who is serving as a sheriff, deputy sheriff, constable, deputy constable, city policeman, Texas Ranger, state highway patrolman, or similar law enforcement officer, or as a prosecuting attorney, shall act as a parole officer or be responsible for the supervision of persons on parole or released to mandatory supervision.

State-Aid Defined

Sec. 4.01. "State-aid" means funds appropriated by the state legislature to be used by the commission for financial assistance to judicial districts to achieve the purposes of this Act as stated previously in Section 1.01 of this Act and to conform to the standards and policies promulgated by the commission.

Determination of Amount

Sec. 4.02. The legislature shall determine and appropriate the amount of state-aid necessary to maintain and improve statewide probation services commensurate with the purposes as stated in Section 1.01 of this Act.

Data for State-Aid

Sec. 4.03. The district judge or judges in each judicial district shall present data to the commission, determined by the commission, which is necessary to determine the amount of state financial aid needed for use in maintaining and improving probation services and community-based correctional programs and facilities other than jails or prisons in the district.

Reports

Sec. 4.04. A judicial district receiving state-aid shall submit reports as required by the commission.

Payment of State-Aid

(b) The fiscal officer designated for the district shall deposit all state-aid received under this article in a special fund of the county treasury, to be used solely for the provision of adult probation services and community-based correctional programs and facilities other than jails or prisons.

Refusal or Suspension of State-Aid

Sec. 4.06. The commission shall refuse or suspend payment of state-aid to any district that fails to comply with the commission standards. The commission shall provide for notice and a hearing in cases in which it refuses or suspends state-aid. [Added by Acts 1977, 65th Leg., p. 910, ch. 343, § 1, eff. June 10, 1977. Amended by Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 1644, ch. 687, § 1, eff. Aug. 27, 1979.]

Section 3 of the 1977 Act provided:

"Section 4.05 of Article 42.121, Code of Criminal Procedure, 1965, as amended, and Section 2 of this Act take effect on September 1, 1978."

Art. 42.13. Misdemeanor Adult Probation and Supervision Law

Sec. 1. It is the purpose of this article to place wholly within the state courts of appropriate jurisdiction the responsibility for determining when the imposition of sentence in certain cases shall be suspended, the conditions of probation, and the supervision of probationers in consonance with the powers assigned to the judicial branch of this government by the Constitution of Texas. It is the further purpose of this article to remove from existing statutes the limitations other than questions of constitutionality that have acted as barriers to an effective system of probation in the public interest.

Sec. 2. This article may be cited as the "Misdemeanor Adult Probation and Supervision Law."

Unless the context otherwise requires, the following definitions shall apply to the specified words and phrases as used in this article:

(1) "Courts" shall mean the courts of record having original criminal jurisdiction.

(2) "Probation" shall mean the release of a convicted defendant by a court under conditions imposed by the court for a specified period during which the imposition of sentence is suspended.

(3) "Probationer" means a defendant who is on probation.

(4) "Probation officer" shall mean either a person duly appointed by one or more courts of record having original criminal jurisdiction to supervise defendants placed on probation or a person designated by such courts for such duties on a part-time basis.

Sec. 3. The judges of the courts of the State of Texas having original jurisdiction of criminal actions, when it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court that the ends of justice and the best interests of the public as well as the defendant will be subserved thereby, shall have the power, after conviction or a plea of guilty or nolo contendere for any crime or offense, where the punishment assessed against the defendant is by confinement in jail or by fine or by both such fine and imprisonment, to suspend the imposition of the sentence and may place the defendant on probation or impose a fine applicable to the offense committed and also place the defendant on probation as hereinafter provided. When imprisonment is assessed, the period of probation shall be for the maximum imprisonment applicable to such offense. Any such person placed on probation, whether in a trial by jury or before the court, shall be under the supervision of such court.

Sec. 3a. Where there is a conviction in any court of this state and the punishment assessed by the jury shall be by imprisonment in jail or by a fine or by both such fine and imprisonment, the jury may recommend probation for a period of the maximum imprisonment applicable to such offense of which the defendant is convicted, upon sworn motion made therefor by the defendant, filed before the penalty stage of the trial begins. When the jury recommends probation, it may recommend that the imprisonment or fine or both such fine and imprisonment found in its verdict may be probated. When the trial is to a jury and the defendant has no counsel, the court shall inform the defendant of his right to make such motion, and the court shall appoint counsel to prepare and present same, if desired by the defendant. In no case shall probation be recommended by the jury except when the defendant, before the trial began, had filed a sworn statement that the defendant has never before been convicted of a felony, and after conviction and before the penalty stage of the trial began, the defendant shall have filed a sworn motion for probation and the proof shall show and the jury shall find in their verdict that the defendant has never before been convicted of a felony in this or any other state. This law is not to be construed as preventing the jury from passing on the guilt of the defendant, but the defendant may enter a plea of not guilty. In all eligible cases, probation shall be granted by the court, if the jury recommends it in their verdict.

If probation is granted by the jury, the court may impose only those conditions which are set out in Section 6 hereof.

Sec. 3b. Where probation is recommended by the verdict of a jury as provided for in Section 3a above, a defendant's probation shall not be revoked during his good behavior, so long as the defendant is within the jurisdiction of the court and his residence is known, except in accordance with the provisions of Section 8 of this article. If such defendant has no counsel, it shall be the duty of the court to inform the defendant of his right to show cause why the defendant's probation should not be revoked; and if the defendant requests such right, the court shall appoint counsel in accordance with Articles 26.04 and 26.05 of this code to prepare and present the same; and in all other respects the procedure set forth in Section 8 of this article shall be followed.

Sec. 3c. Nothing herein shall limit the power of the court to grant a probation of sentence regardless of the recommendation of the jury or prior conviction of the defendant.

Sec. 3d. (a) When in its opinion the best interest of society and the defendant will be served, the court may, after receiving a plea of guilty or a plea of nolo contendere, hearing the evidence, and finding that it substantiates the defendant's guilt, defer further proceedings without entering an adjudication of guilt and place the defendant on probation on reasonable terms and conditions as the court may require and for a period as the court may subscribe not to exceed the maximum period of imprisonment prescribed for the offense for which defendant is charged. However, upon written motion of the defendant requesting final adjudication filed within 30 days after entering such plea and the deferment of adjudication, the court shall proceed to final adjudication as in all other cases.

(b) On violation of a condition of probation imposed under Subsection (a) of this section, the defendant may be arrested and detained as provided in Section 8 of this article. The defendant is entitled to a hearing limited to a determination by the court of whether it proceeds with an adjudication of guilt on the original charge. No appeal may be taken from this determination. After an adjudication of guilt, all proceedings, including assessment of punishment, pronouncement of sentence, granting of probation, and defendant's appeal continue as if the adjudication of guilt had not been deferred.

(c) On expiration of a probationary period imposed under Subsection (a) of this section, if the court has not proceeded to adjudication of guilt, the court shall dismiss the proceedings against the defendant and discharge the defendant. The court may dismiss the proceedings and discharge the defendant prior to the expiration of the term of probation if in its opinion the best interest of society and the defendant will be served. A dismissal and discharge under this section may not be deemed a conviction for the purposes of disqualifications or disabilities imposed by law for conviction of an offense, except that upon conviction of a subsequent offense, the fact that the defendant had previously received probation shall be admissible before the court or jury to be considered on the issue of penalty.

Sec. 3e. (a) For the purposes of this section, the jurisdiction of the courts in this state in which a sentence requiring confinement in a jail is imposed for conviction of a misdemeanor shall continue for a period of 90 days from the date the execution of the sentence actually begins. After the expiration of 10 days but prior to 90 days from the date the execution of the sentence actually begins, the judge of the court that imposed such sentence may on his own motion or on the motion of the defendant suspend further execution of the sentence imposed and place the defendant on probation under the terms and conditions of this article, if prior to the execution of that sentence the defendant had never been incarcerated in a penitentiary or jail serving a sentence for a felony or misdemeanor and in the opinion of the judge the defendant would not benefit from further incarceration in a jail.

(b) When the defendant files a written motion with the court requesting suspension of further execution of the sentence and placement on probation or when requested to do so by the judge, the clerk of the court shall request a copy of the defendant's record while incarcerated from the agency operating the jail where the defendant is incarcerated. Upon receipt of such request, the agency operating the jail where the defendant is incarcerated shall forward to the court as soon as possible a full and complete copy of the defendant's record while incarcerated.

Sec. 4. When directed by the court, a probation officer shall fully investigate and report to the court in writing the circumstances of the offense, criminal record, social history and present condition of the defendant. Whenever practicable, such investigation shall include a physical and mental examination of the defendant. Defendant, if not represented by counsel, counsel for defendant, and counsel for the state shall be afforded an opportunity to see a copy of the report upon request. If a defendant is committed to any institution, the probation officer shall send a report of such investigation to the institution at the time of commitment.

Sec. 5. Only the court in which the defendant was tried may grant probation, fix or alter conditions, revoke the probation, or discharge the defendant, unless the court has transferred jurisdiction of the case to another court with the latter's consent. After a defendant has been placed on probation, jurisdiction of the case may be transferred to a court of the same rank in this state having geographical jurisdiction where the defendant is residing or where a violation of the conditions of probation occurs. Upon transfer, the clerk of the court of original jurisdiction shall forward a transcript of such portions of the record as the transferring judge shall direct to the court accepting jurisdiction, which latter court shall thereafter proceed as if the trial and conviction had occurred in that court. Any court having geographical jurisdiction where the defendant is residing or where a violation of the conditions of probation occurs may issue a warrant for his arrest, but the determination of action to be taken after arrest shall be only by the court having jurisdiction of the case at the time the action is taken.

Sec. 6. The court having jurisdiction of the case shall determine the terms and conditions of probation and may at any time during the period of probation alter or modify the conditions; provided, however, that the clerk of the court shall furnish a copy of such terms and conditions to the probationer and shall note the date of delivery of such delivery on the docket. Terms and conditions of probation may include but shall not be limited to the conditions that the probationer shall:

(1) commit no offense against the laws of this state or of any other state or of the United States;

(2) avoid injurious or vicious habits;

(3) avoid persons or places of disreputable or harmful character;

(4) report to the probation officer as directed by the court or probation officer and obey all rules and regulations of the probation department;

(5) permit the probation officer to visit him at his home or elsewhere;

(6) work faithfully at suitable employment as far as possible;

(7) remain within a specified place;

(8) pay his fine, if one be assessed, and all court costs, whether a fine be assessed or not, in one or several sums and make restitution or reparation in any sum that the court shall determine;

(9) support his dependents;

(10) participate in any community-based program or participate in an alcohol or drug abuse treatment or education program and abstain from the use of alcoholic beverages or specified drugs at all times or under certain circumstances;

(11) reimburse the county in which the prosecution was instituted for compensation paid to appointed counsel for defending him in the case, if counsel was appointed or if he was represented by a county-paid public defender, in an amount that would have been paid to an appointed attorney had the county not had a public defender;

(12) remain under custodial supervision in a community-based facility, obey all rules and regulations of such facility, and pay a percentage of his income to the facility for room and board;

(13) pay a percentage of his income to his dependents for their support while under custodial supervision in the community-based facility; and

(14) pay a percentage of his income to the victim of the offense, if any, to compensate the victim for any property damage or medical expenses sustained by the victim as a direct result of the commission of the offense.

Sec. 6a. (a) A court granting probation may fix a fee not exceeding $15 per month to be paid to the court by the probationer during the probationary period. The court may make payment of the fee a condition of granting or continuing the probation.

(b) The court shall deposit the fees received under Subsection (a) of this section in the special fund of the county treasury provided by Section 4.05(b), Article 42.121 of this code, as added, to be used for the same purposes for which state aid may be used under that section.

Sec. 6b. (a) When the court having jurisdiction of the case grants probation to the defendant, in addition to the conditions imposed under Section 6 of this article, the court may require as a condition of probation that the defendant submit to a period of detention in jail to serve a term of imprisonment not to exceed 30 days or one-third of the sentence, whichever is lesser.

(b) The imprisonment imposed shall be treated as a condition of probation, and in the event of a sentence of imprisonment upon the revocation of probation, the term of imprisonment served hereunder shall be credited toward service of such subsequent imprisonment.

Sec. 6c. If a person convicted of an offense under Article 6701*l*–1, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended, is placed on probation, the court may require, as a condition of the probation, that the defendant attend an educational program approved by the Texas Commission on Alcoholism, the Texas Department of Public Safety, or the Office of Traffic Safety designed to rehabilitate persons who have driven while intoxicated. The judge shall waive this requirement, however, if no program is operated within 60 miles of the defendant's residence.

Sec. 7. At any time after the defendant has satisfactorily completed one-third of the original probationary period, the period of probation may be reduced or terminated by the court. Upon the satisfactory fulfillment of the conditions of probation and the expiration of the period of probation, the court by order duly entered shall amend or modify the original sentence imposed, if necessary, to conform to the probation period and shall discharge the defendant. In case the defendant has been convicted or has entered a plea of guilty or a plea of nolo contendere and the court has discharged the defendant hereunder, such court shall set aside the verdict or permit the defendant to withdraw his plea, and shall dismiss the accusation, complaint, information, or indictment against such defendant, who shall thereafter be released from all penalties and disabilities resulting from the offense or crime of which defendant has been convicted or to which defendant has pleaded guilty or pleaded nolo contendere, except that proof of defendant's conviction or plea of guilty or nolo contendere shall be made known to the court should the defendant again be convicted of any criminal offense.

Sec. 8. (a) At any time during the period of probation the court may issue a warrant for violation of any of the conditions of the probation and cause the defendant to be arrested. Any probation officer, police officer or other officer with power of arrest may arrest such defendant without a warrant upon the order of the judge of such court to be noted on the docket of the court. A probationer so arrested may be detained in the county jail or other appropriate place of detention until he can be taken before the court. Such officer shall forthwith report such arrest and detention to such court. If the defendant has not been released on bail, on motion by the defendant the court shall cause the defendant to be brought before it for a hearing within 20 days of filing of said motion, and after a hearing without a jury, may either continue, modify, or revoke the probation. The court may continue the hearing for good cause shown by either the defendant or the state. If probation is revoked, the court may proceed to dispose of the case as if there had been no probation or if it determines that the best interests of society and the probationer would be served by a shorter term of imprisonment, reduce the term of imprisonment not less than the minimum prescribed for the offense of which the probationer was convicted.

(b) Any probationer who removes himself from the State of Texas without permission of the court having jurisdiction of the case shall be deemed and considered a fugitive from justice and shall be subject to extradition as now provided by law. No part of the time that the defendant is on probation shall be considered as any part of the time that defendant shall be sentenced to serve. The right of the probationer to appeal to the Court of Criminal Appeals for a review of the trial and conviction as provided by law shall be accorded the probationer at the time the defendant is placed on probation. When the probationer is notified that his probation is revoked for violation of the conditions of probation and he is called on to serve a sentence in jail or in an institution operated by the Texas Department of Corrections, he may appeal the revocation.

(c) In a probation revocation hearing at which it is alleged only that the probationer violated the conditions of probation by failing to pay probation fees, court costs, restitution, or reparations or compensation paid to appointed counsel, the inability of the probationer to pay as ordered by the court is an affirmative defense to revocation, which the probationer must prove by a preponderance of evidence.

Sec. 9. If for good and sufficient reasons probationers desire to change their residence within the state, such transfer may be effected by application to their supervising probation officer, which transfer shall be subject to the court's consent and subject to such regulations as the court may require in the absence of a probation officer in the locality to which the probationer is transferred.

Sec. 10. For the purpose of providing adequate probation services under this article, all of the provisions of Section 10 of Article 42.12 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1965, as amended, apply hereto.

Sec. 11. For the purpose of determining when fees are to be paid to any officer or officers, the placing of the defendant on probation shall be considered a final disposition of the case, without the necessity of waiting for the termination of the period of probation or suspension of sentence.

Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 2062, ch. 807, § 1, without reference to the repeal and reenactment of this article by Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 1514, ch. 654, § 1, added a § 3B to read as follows:

Suspension of Sentence and Performance of Community Service

Sec. 3B. (a) A defendant who pleads guilty or nolo contendere to a first offense misdemeanor that does not involve bodily injury or the threat of bodily injury to any person and for which the maximum permissible punishment is by confinement in jail or by a fine in excess of $200 or by both a fine and confinement is eligible for community-service probation.

(b) If an eligible defendant applies for community-service probation and the court finds that it will be in the best interests of society and the defendant, the court, after receiving the defendant's plea, hearing the evidence, and finding that it substantiates the defendant's guilt, may defer further proceedings without entering an adjudication of guilt and place the defendant on community-service probation.

(c) If the court places a defendant on community-service probation, the court shall require, as a condition of the probation, that the defendant work a specified number of hours at a specified community-service project for an organization named in the court's order.

(d) The amount of community-service work ordered by the court:

(1) may not exceed 100 hours and may not be less than 24 hours for an offense classified as a Class B misdemeanor or for any other misdemeanor for which the maximum permissible imprisonment, if any, does not exceed six months and the maximum permissible fine, if any, does not exceed $1,000; and

(2) may not exceed 200 hours and may not be less than 80 hours for an offense classified as a Class A misdemeanor or for any other misdemeanor for which the maximum permissible imprisonment, if any, exceeds six months or the maximum permissible fine, if any, exceeds $1,000.

(e) The terms of community-service probation must include, but are not limited to, requirements that the probationer:

(1) commit no offense against the laws of this or any other state or the United States;

(2) avoid injurious or vicious habits;

(3) avoid persons or places of disreputable or harmful character;

(4) work faithfully at suitable employment as far as possible;

(5) work faithfully at the community-service task assigned by the court;

(6) remain within a specified place; and

(7) support his dependents.

(f) The clerk of a court granting community-service probation shall promptly furnish the probationer with a written statement of the period and terms of the probation.

(g) Community-service work authorized pursuant to this section must be for any nonprofit organization that has agreed to accept community-service probationers and supervise and report on their work and whose services are provided to the general public and are designed to enhance the social welfare, physical or mental stability, environmental quality, or general well-being of the community.

(h) The court shall select community-service tasks that may be performed during hours the probationer is not working or attending school and that are within the probationer's capabilities. A probationer may not receive compensation for community-service work.

(i) On violation of a condition of community-service probation, the defendant may be arrested and detained as provided in Section 6 of this article. The defendant is entitled to a hearing limited to the determination by the court of whether it proceeds with an adjudication of guilt on the original charge. No appeal may be taken from this determination. After an adjudication of guilt, all proceedings, including assessment of punishment, pronouncement of sentence, granting of probation, and defendant's appeal continue as if the adjudication of guilt had not been deferred.

(j) On satisfactory completion by a probationer of the required amount of community-service work, if the court has not proceeded to adjudication of guilt, the court shall dismiss the proceedings against the defendant and discharge him. A dismissal and discharge under this section may not be deemed a conviction for the purposes of disqualifications or disabilities imposed by law for conviction of an offense, except that on conviction of a subsequent offense the fact that the defendant previously received community-service probation is admissible on the issue of penalty.

APPEAL AND WRIT OF ERROR

CHAPTER FORTY-FOUR. APPEAL AND WRIT OF ERROR

Art. 44.02. Defendant May Appeal

A defendant in any criminal action has the right of appeal under the rules hereinafter prescribed, provided, however, before the defendant who has been convicted upon either his plea of guilty or plea of nolo contendere before the court and the court, upon the election of the defendant, assesses punishment and the punishment does not exceed the punishment recommended by the prosecutor and agreed to by the defendant and his attorney may prosecute his appeal, he must have permission of the trial court, except on those matters which have been raised by written motion filed prior to trial. This article in no way affects appeals pursuant to Article 44.17 of this chapter.

Art. 44.04. Bond Pending Appeal

(a) Pending the appeal from any misdemeanor conviction, the defendant is entitled to be released on reasonable bail, and if a defendant charged with a misdemeanor is on bail, is convicted, and appeals that conviction, his bond is not discharged until his conviction is final or in the case of an appeal to a court where a trial de novo is held, he files an appeal bond as required by this code for appeal from the conviction.

(b) The defendant may not be released on bail pending the appeal from any felony conviction where the punishment exceeds 15 years confinement but shall immediately be placed in custody and the bail discharged.

(c) Pending the appeal from any felony conviction where the punishment does not exceed 15 years confinement, the trial court may deny bail and commit the defendant to custody if there then exists good cause to believe that the defendant would not appear when his conviction became final or is likely to commit another offense while on bail, permit the defendant to remain at large on the existing bail, or, if not then on bail, admit him to reasonable bail until his conviction becomes final. The court may impose reasonable conditions on bail pending the finality of his conviction. On a finding by the court on a preponderance of the evidence of a violation of a condition, the court may revoke the bail.

(d) After conviction, either pending determination of any motion for new trial or pending final determination of the appeal, the court in which trial was had may increase or decrease the amount of bail, as it deems proper, either upon its own motion or the motion of the State or of the defendant.

(e) Any bail entered into after conviction and the sureties on the bail must be approved by the court where trial was had. Bail is sufficient if it substantially meets the requirements of this code and may be entered into and given at any term of court.

(f) In no event shall the defendant and the sureties on his bond be released from their liability on such bond or bonds until the defendant is placed in the custody of the sheriff.

(g) The right of appeal to the Court of Criminal Appeals of this state is expressly accorded the defendant for a review of any judgment or order made hereunder, and said appeal shall be given preference by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Art. 44.05. Receipt of Mandate

When the clerk of any court from whose judgment an appeal has been taken in cases wherein bail has been allowed shall receive the mandate of the Court of Criminal Appeals affirming such judgment, he shall send an acknowledgment to the Court of Criminal Appeals of the receipt of the mandate and immediately file the same and forthwith issue a capias for the arrest of the defendant for the execution of the sentence of the court, which shall recite the fact of conviction, setting forth the offense and the judgment and sentence of the court, the appeal from and affirmance of such judgment and the filing of such mandate, and shall command the sheriff to arrest and take into his custody the defendant and place him in jail and therein keep him until delivered to the proper authorities, as directed by said sentence. The sheriff shall forthwith execute such capias as directed. The sheriff shall notify the clerk of the trial court and the Court of Criminal Appeals when the mandate has been carried out and executed.

Art. 44.13. Appeals from Justice and Corporation Courts

In appeals from the judgments and sentence of justice or corporation courts, the defendant shall, if he be in custody, be committed to jail unless he gives bail, to be approved by the court from whose judgment and sentence the appeal is taken, in an amount not less than double the amount of fine and costs adjudged against him, payable to the State of Texas; provided the bail shall not in any case be for a less sum than fifty dollars. Without requiring a court appearance by the defendant, the court shall approve an appeal bond in an amount that the court under Article 27.14(b) of this code notified the defendant would be approved if the appeal bond otherwise meets the requirements of this code. An appeal bond shall recite that in the cause the defendant was convicted and has appealed, and be conditioned that the defendant shall make his personal appearance before the court to which the appeal is taken instanter, if said court be then in session; and if said court be not in session, then at its next regular term, stating the time and place of holding the same, and there remain from day to day and term to term, and answer in said cause in said court.

Art. 44.16. Appeal Bond Given Within What Time

If the defendant is not in custody, a notice of appeal as provided in Article 44.13 shall have no effect whatever until the required appeal bond has been given and approved. The appeal bond shall be given within ten days after the sentence of the court has been rendered, except as provided in Article 27.14 of this code.

MISCELLANEOUS PROCEEDINGS

CHAPTER FORTY-SIX. INSANITY AS DEFENSE

Article
46.03. Insanity Defense.

Art. 46.02. Incompetency to Stand Trial

Incompetency to Stand Trial

Sec. 1. (a) A person is incompetent to stand trial if he does not have:

(1) sufficient present ability to consult with his lawyer with a reasonable degree of rational understanding; or

(2) a rational as well as factual understanding of the proceedings against him.

(b) A defendant is presumed competent to stand trial and shall be found competent to stand trial unless proved incompetent by a preponderance of the evidence.

Raising the Issue of Incompetency to Stand Trial

Sec. 2. (a) The issue of the defendant's incompetency to stand trial shall be determined in advance of the trial on the merits if the court determines there is evidence to support a finding of incompetency to stand trial on its own motion or on written motion by the defendant or his counsel filed prior to the date set for trial on the merits asserting that the defendant is incompetent to stand trial.

(b) If during the trial evidence of the defendant's incompetency is brought to the attention of the court from any source, the court must conduct a hearing out of the presence of the jury to determine whether or not there is evidence to support a finding of incompetency to stand trial.

Examination of the Defendant

Sec. 3. (a) At any time the issue of the defendant's incompetency to stand trial is raised, the court may, on its own motion or motion by the defendant, his counsel, or the prosecuting attorney, appoint disinterested experts experienced and qualified in mental health or mental retardation to examine the defendant with regard to his competency to stand trial and to testify at any trial or hearing on this issue.

(b) The court may order any defendant to submit to examination for the purposes described in this article. If the defendant is free on bail, the court in its discretion may order him to submit to examination. If the defendant fails or refuses to submit to examination, the court may order him to custody for examination for a reasonable period not to exceed 21 days. The court may not order a defendant to a facility operated by the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation for examination without the consent of the head of that facility or for a period exceeding 21 days. If a defendant who has been ordered to a facility operated by Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation for examination remains in such facility for a period of time exceeding 21 days, the head of that facility shall cause the defendant to be immediately transported to the committing court and placed in the custody of the sheriff of the county in which the committing court is located. That county shall reimburse the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation facility for the mileage and per diem expenses of the personnel required to transport the defendant calculated in accordance with the state travel regulations in effect at the time.

(c) The court shall advise any expert appointed pursuant to this section of the nature of the offense with which the defendant is charged and the meaning of incompetency to stand trial.

(d) A written report of the examination shall be submitted to the court within 30 days of the order of examination, and the court shall furnish copies of the report to the defense counsel and the prosecuting attorney. The report shall include a description of the procedures used in the examination, the examiner's observations and findings pertaining to the defendant's competency to stand trial, and recommended treatment. If the examiner concludes that the defendant is incompetent to stand trial, the report shall include the examiner's observations and findings about whether there is a substantial probability that the defendant will attain the competence to stand trial in the foreseeable future. The examiner shall also submit a separate report setting forth his observations and findings concerning:

(1) whether the defendant is mentally ill and requires observation and/or treatment or hospitalization in a mental hospital for his own welfare and protection or the protection of others; or

(2) whether the defendant is a mentally retarded person as defined in The Mentally Retarded Persons Act (Article 3871b, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes) [1] and requires commitment to a mental retardation facility.

(e) If the examiner is a physician and concludes that the defendant is mentally ill, he shall complete and submit to the court a Certificate of Medical Examination for Mental Illness. If the examiner concludes that the defendant is a mentally retarded person and the examination has been conducted at a facility of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation or at a diagnostic center approved by the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, the examiner shall submit to the court an affidavit setting forth the conclusions reached as a result of the diagnostic examination.

(f) The appointed experts shall be paid by the county in which the indictment was returned or information was filed. A facility operated by the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation which accepts a defendant for examination under Subsection (a) of this section shall be reimbursed by the county in which the indictment was returned or information was filed for such expenses incurred as are determined by the department to be reasonably necessary and incidental to the proper examination of the defendant.

(g) No statement made by the defendant during the examination or hearing on his competency to stand trial may be admitted in evidence against the defendant on the issue of guilt in any criminal proceeding.

(h) When a defendant wishes to be examined by a psychiatrist or other expert of his own choice, the court on timely request shall provide the examiner with reasonable opportunity to examine the defendant.

(i) The experts appointed under this section to examine the defendant with regard to his competency to stand trial also may be appointed by the court to examine the defendant with regard to the insanity defense pursuant to Section 3 of Article 46.03 of this code, but separate written reports concerning the defendant's competency to stand trial and the insanity defense shall be filed with the court.

[1] Repealed; see, now, the Mentally Retarded Persons Act of 1977, classified as Civil Statutes, art. 5547–300.

Incompetency Hearing

Sec. 4. (a) If the court determines that there is evidence to support a finding of incompetency to stand trial, a jury shall be impaneled to determine the defendant's competency to stand trial. This determination shall be made by a jury that has not been selected to determine the guilt or innocence of the defendant. If the defendant is found incompetent to stand trial, a further hearing may be held to determine whether or not the defendant is mentally ill and requires observation and/or treatment or hospitalization in a mental hospital for his own welfare and protection or the protection of others or whether he is a mentally retarded person as defined in The Mentally Retarded Persons Act (Article 3871b, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), and requires commitment to a mental retardation facility.

(b) The defendant is entitled to counsel at the competency hearing. If the defendant is indigent and the court has not yet appointed counsel to represent the defendant, the court shall appoint counsel prior to the competency hearing.

(c) If the issue of incompetency to stand trial is raised other than by written motion in advance of trial pursuant to Subsection (a) of Section 2 of this article and the court determines that there is evidence to support a finding of incompetency to stand trial, the court shall set the issue for determination immediately or at any time prior to the sentencing of the defendant. If the competency hearing is delayed until after a verdict on the guilt or innocence of the defendant is returned, the competency hearing shall be held as soon thereafter as reasonably possible, but a competency hearing may be held only if the verdict in the trial on the merits is "guilty." If the defendant is found incompetent to stand trial after the beginning of the trial on the merits, the court shall declare a mistrial in the trial on the merits. A subsequent trial and conviction of the defendant for the same offense is not barred and jeopardy does not attach by reason of a mistrial under this section.

(d) Instructions submitting the issue of incompetency to stand trial shall be framed to require the jury to state in its verdict:

(1) whether the defendant is incompetent to stand trial; and

(2) if found incompetent to stand trial, whether there is no substantial probability that the defendant will attain the competency to stand trial within the foreseeable future.

(e) If the jury is unable to agree on a unanimous verdict after a reasonable opportunity to deliberate, the court shall declare a mistrial of the incompetency hearing, discharge the jury, and impanel another jury to determine the incompetency of the defendant to stand trial.

(f) If the defendant is found competent to stand trial, the court shall dismiss the jury that decided the issue and may continue the trial on the merits before the court or with the jury selected for that purpose.

(g) If the defendant is found incompetent to stand trial and it is determined that there is a substantial probability that he will attain the competency to stand trial within the foreseeable future, the court shall proceed under Section 5 of this article.

(h) If the defendant is found incompetent to stand trial and there is found no substantial probability that he will become competent within the foreseeable future, and the court determines there is evidence that the defendant is mentally ill or is a mentally retarded person, and all charges pending against the defendant are not then dismissed, the court shall proceed under Section 6 of this article or shall release the defendant.

(i) If the defendant is found incompetent to stand trial and there is found no substantial probability that he will become competent within the foreseeable future, and the court determines there is evidence that the defendant is mentally ill or is a mentally retarded person, and all charges pending against the defendant are then dismissed, the court shall proceed under Section 7 of this article or shall release the defendant.

Criminal Commitment

Sec. 5. (a) When a defendant has been determined incompetent to stand trial, and absent a determination that there is no substantial probability that the defendant will attain competency to stand trial in the foreseeable future, the court shall enter an order committing the defendant to the maximum security unit of Rusk State Hospital, to the maximum security unit of any other facility designated by the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, to an agency of the United States operating a mental hospital, or to a Veterans Administration hospital for a period of at least 60 days, but not to exceed 18 months, and placing him in the custody of the sheriff for transportation to the facility to be confined therein for further examination and treatment toward the specific objective of attaining competency to stand trial. The court shall order that a transcript of all medical testimony received by the jury be forthwith prepared by the court reporter and that such transcript, together with a statement of the facts and circumstances surrounding the alleged offense, shall accompany the patient to the facility.

(b) No person shall be committed to a mental health or mental retardation facility under this section except on competent medical or psychiatric testimony.

(c) The facility to which the defendant is committed shall develop an individual program of treatment and shall report on the defendant's progress towards achieving competency to the court at least every 90 days.

(d) Nothing in this section precludes the court from allowing the defendant to be released on bail if the court determines that the defendant can be adequately treated on an outpatient basis for the purpose of attaining competency to stand trial.

(e) If the charges pending against a defendant are dismissed, the committing court shall send a copy of the order of dismissal to the head of the facility in which the defendant is held and the defendant shall then be discharged.

(f) The head of a facility to which a person has been committed pursuant to Subsection (a) of this section shall promptly notify the committing court:

(1) when he is of the opinion that the defendant has attained competency to stand trial; or

(2) when he is of the opinion that there is no substantial probability that the defendant will attain the competency to stand trial in the foreseeable future; or

(3) when an 18-month commitment is due to expire, such notice to be given 14 days prior to such expiration.

(g) On notification to the committing court under Subsection (f) of this section, the sheriff of the county in which the committing court is located shall forthwith transport the defendant to the committing court; provided, however, that if the defendant remains in the maximum security unit of a facility of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation 14 days following receipt by the committing court of such notification, the head of that facility shall cause the defendant to be immediately transported to the committing court and placed in the custody of the sheriff of the county in which the committing court is located. That county shall reimburse the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation facility for the mileage and per diem expenses of the personnel required to transport the defendant calculated in accordance with the state travel regulations in effect at the time.

(h) Upon the defendant's return to court, if he has no counsel and the court determines that the defendant is indigent, the court shall appoint counsel to represent him.

(i) When the head of a facility to which the defendant is committed discharges the defendant and the defendant is returned to court, a final report shall be filed with the court documenting the applicable reason therefor under Subsection (f) of this section, and the court shall furnish copies to the defense counsel and the prosecuting attorney. If the head of such facility is of the opinion that the defendant is mentally ill and requires observation and/or treatment or hospitalization in a mental hospital for his own welfare and protection or the protection of others, he shall complete and submit to the court a Certificate of Medical Examination for Mental Illness. If the head of such facility is of the opinion that the defendant is mentally retarded, he shall submit to the court an affidavit setting forth the conclusions reached as a result of the diagnostic examination. When the report is filed with the court, the court is authorized to make a determination based solely on the report with regard to the defendant's competency to stand trial, unless the prosecuting attorney or the defense counsel objects in writing or in open court to the findings of the report within 15 days from the time the report is served on the parties. In the event of objection, the issue shall be set for a hearing before the court or, on motion by the defendant, his counsel, the prosecuting attorney, or the court, the hearing shall be held before a jury. The hearing shall be held within 30 days following the date of objection unless continued for good cause.

(j) No defendant who has been committed to a facility under Subsection (a) of this section may be recommitted to a facility under that subsection in connection with the same offense.

(k) If the defendant is found competent to stand trial, criminal proceedings against him may be resumed.

(l) If the defendant is found incompetent to stand trial, and all charges pending against the defendant are not then dismissed, the court shall proceed under Section 6 of this article or shall release the defendant.

(m) If the defendant is found incompetent to stand trial, and all charges pending against the defendant are then dismissed, the court shall proceed under Section 7 of this article or shall release the defendant.

Civil Commitment—Charges Pending

Sec. 6. (a) If a defendant is found incompetent to stand trial and there is found no substantial probability that he will become competent in the foreseeable future, or if the defendant is found incompetent to stand trial and he has been previously committed to a facility under Subsection (a) of Section 5 of this article in connection with the same offense, and, in either event, all charges pending against the defendant are not then dismissed, the court shall determine whether there is evidence to support findings that the defendant is mentally ill or is mentally retarded and requires commitment to a mental health or mental retardation facility.

(b) If it appears to the court that the defendant may be mentally ill and there is on file with the court Certificates of Medical Examination for Mental Illness by two physicians, at least one of whom must not be employed by the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, who have examined the defendant within 45 days of the date of the commitment hearing, each stating that the defendant is mentally ill and requires observation and/or treatment or hospitalization in a mental hospital, the court shall impanel a jury to determine whether the defendant shall be committed to a mental health facility or such hearing may be held before the jury impaneled to determine the defendant's competency to stand trial.

(1) If there has not been filed with the court two such Certificates of Medical Examination for Mental Illness, the judge shall appoint the necessary physicians, at least one of whom shall be a psychiatrist if one is available in the county, to examine the defendant and file certificates with the court. The judge may order the defendant to submit to the examination.

(2) The Texas Mental Health Code (Article 5547–1 et seq., Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes) shall govern proceedings for commitment of the defendant to a mental health facility insofar as the provisions of that code are applicable and not in conflict herewith, except that the criminal court shall conduct the proceedings whether or not the criminal court is also the county court.

(3) If the defendant has not been under observation and/or treatment in a mental hospital for at least 60 days under the provisions of Section 5(a) above or under an Order of Temporary Commitment pursuant to the provisions of the Texas Mental Health Code (Article 5547–1 et seq., Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes) within the 12 months immediately preceding the date of the hearing, the instructions submitting the issue shall be framed to require the jury to state in its verdict:

(i) whether the defendant is mentally ill, and if so

(ii) whether he requires observation and/or treatment in a mental hospital for his own welfare and protection or the protection of others.

(4) If the jury finds that the defendant is not mentally ill or does not require observation and/or treatment in a mental hospital, the court shall order the immediate release of the defendant.

If the jury finds that the defendant is mentally ill and requires observation and/or treatment in a mental hospital for his own welfare and protection or the protection of others, the court shall order that the defendant be committed as a patient for observation and/or treatment in a state mental hospital for a period not exceeding 90 days.

(5) If the defendant has been under observation and/or treatment in a mental hospital for at least 60 days under the provisions of Section 5(a) above or under an Order of Temporary Commitment pursuant to the provisions of the Texas Mental Health Code (Article 5547–1 et seq., Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes) within the 12 months immediately preceding the date of the hearing, the instructions submitting the issue shall be framed to require the jury to state in its verdict:

(i) whether the defendant is mentally ill, and if so

(ii) whether he requires hospitalization in a mental hospital for his own welfare and protection or the protection of others, and if so

(iii) whether he is mentally incompetent.

(6) If the jury finds that the defendant is not mentally ill or that he does not require hospitalization in a mental hospital for his own welfare and protection or the protection of others, the court shall enter an order discharging the defendant.

If the jury finds that the defendant is mentally ill and requires hospitalization in a mental hospital for his own welfare and protection or the protection of others, the court shall order that the defendant be committed as a patient to a state mental hospital for an indefinite period.

(7) If the court enters an order committing the defendant to a state mental hospital, the defendant shall be treated and released in conformity to the Texas Mental Health Code except as may be provided in this article.

(c) If it appears to the court that the defendant may be mentally retarded and there is on file with the court an Affidavit of Examination of Alleged Mentally Retarded Person based upon an examination conducted at a facility of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation or at a diagnostic center approved by that department, the court shall impanel a jury to determine whether the defendant is a mentally retarded person or such hearing may be held before the jury impaneled to determine the defendant's competency to stand trial.

(1) If such affidavit is not on file with the court, the judge shall arrange for such diagnostic examination of the defendant by a facility of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation or by a diagnostic center approved by that department. The judge may order the defendant to submit to the examination. The county shall reimburse the facility or center which conducts the examination for the reasonable and necessary expenses incurred in conducting such examination.

(2) The Mentally Retarded Persons Act (Article 3871b, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes) shall govern proceedings for commitment of the defendant to a mental retardation facility insofar as the provisions of that Act are applicable and not in conflict herewith, except that the criminal court shall conduct the proceedings whether or not the criminal court is also a county court.

(3) The instructions submitting the issue of mental retardation to the jury shall be framed to require the jury to state in its verdict whether the defendant is a mentally retarded person as defined in the Mentally Retarded Persons Act, and if so, whether he requires commitment to a mental retardation facility.

(4) If the jury finds that the defendant is not a mentally retarded person as defined in the Mentally Retarded Persons Act, or that he does not require commitment to a mental retardation facility, the court shall enter an order discharging the defendant.

(5) If the jury finds that the defendant is a mentally retarded person as defined in the Mentally Retarded Persons Act, and requires commitment to a mental retardation facility, the court shall enter an order declaring that fact and that the person is committed to a mental retardation facility of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

(d) In the proceedings conducted under this section:

(1) no Application for Temporary Hospitalization, Petition for Indefinite Commitment or Application to have the defendant declared a mentally retarded person shall be required;

(2) the provisions of the Texas Mental Health Code and the Mentally Retarded Persons Act relating to notice of hearing shall not be applicable;

(3) appeals from the criminal court proceedings under this section shall be to the court of civil appeals as in the proceedings for temporary hospitalization or for indefinite commitment under the Texas Mental Health Code.

Civil Commitment—Charges Dismissed

Sec. 7. If a defendant is found incompetent to stand trial and there is found no substantial probability that he will become competent in the foreseeable future, or if the defendant is found incompetent to stand trial and he has been previously committed to a facility under Section 5 of this article and all charges pending against the defendant are then dismissed, the court shall determine whether there is evidence to support findings that the defendant is either mentally ill or is a mentally retarded person. If it appears to the court that there is evidence to support either of such findings, the court shall enter an order transferring the defendant to the appropriate court for civil commitment proceedings, stating that all charges pending against the defendant in that court have been dismissed, and may order the defendant detained in jail or other suitable place pending the prompt initiation and prosecution by the attorney for the state or other person designated by the court of appropriate civil proceedings to determine whether the defendant will be committed to a mental health or mental retardation facility; provided, however, that a patient placed in a facility of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation pending civil hearing under this section may be detained in such facility only pursuant to an Order of Protective Custody issued pursuant to the provisions of the Texas Mental Health Code and with the consent of the head of the facility, or the court may give the defendant into the care of a responsible person on satisfactory security being given for his proper care and protection; otherwise, the defendant shall be discharged.

General

Sec. 8. (a) A person committed to a mental health or mental retardation facility as a result of the proceedings initiated pursuant to Section 6 or Section 7 of this article shall be committed to the maximum security unit of Rusk State Hospital or to the maximum security unit of any other facility designated by the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation. Within 60 days following arrival at the maximum security unit, the person shall be transferred to a nonsecurity unit of a mental health or mental retardation facility designated by the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation unless the person is determined to be manifestly dangerous by a review board with the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation. The Commissioner of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation shall appoint three psychiatrists who are licensed to practice medicine in the State of Texas to determine whether the person is manifestly dangerous. If the superintendent of the facility at which the maximum security unit is located disagrees with the determination, then the matter will be referred to the Commissioner of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation who will resolve the disagreement by deciding whether the person is manifestly dangerous.

(b) The court shall order that a transcript of all medical testimony received in both the criminal proceedings and the civil commitment proceedings be prepared forthwith by the court reporters and that such transcripts, together with a statement of the facts and circumstances surrounding the alleged offense, shall accompany the patient to the mental health or mental retardation facility.

(c) If the head of a mental health facility determines that a patient committed to a state mental hospital for a period not exceeding 90 days as a result of proceedings initiated pursuant to Section 6 or Section 7 of this article requires indefinite commitment to a mental hospital for his own welfare and protection or the protection of others, he shall notify the court from which the patient was committed in writing at least 30 days prior to the expiration of the temporary commitment. The court from which the patient was committed shall order the sheriff of the county in which the court is located to return the patient for a Hearing for Indefinite Commitment or shall make arrangements for the hearing to be held in an appropriate court of the county in which the patient is hospitalized. Provided, however, that if the patient has not received a Hearing for Indefinite Commitment by the date on which the temporary commitment expires, the head of the facility in which the patient is hospitalized shall cause the patient to be immediately transported to the committing court and placed in the custody of the sheriff of the county in which the court is located. That county shall reimburse the facility of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation for the mileage and per diem expenses of the personnel required to transport the defendant calculated in accordance with the state travel regulations in effect at the time.

(d) The head of a mental health or mental retardation facility to which a person has been committed or transferred as a result of the proceedings initiated pursuant to Section 6 of this article and who has received written notice from a court or prosecuting attorney that criminal charges are pending against the person shall notify the court in writing at least 14 days prior to the discharge of the person unless the notice provided for in (c) above has been given. A written report as to the competency of the person to stand trial shall accompany the notice of discharge.

(e) On written notice by the head of a mental health or mental retardation facility that in his opinion a person who has been civilly committed to that facility and against whom criminal charges are pending is competent to stand trial, or on good cause shown by the defendant, his counsel, or the prosecuting attorney, the court in which the criminal charges are pending may hold a hearing to determine the competency of the defendant to stand trial. The hearing shall be before a jury unless waived by agreement of the parties. The order setting the hearing shall order the defendant placed in the custody of the sheriff for transportation to the court. The court may appoint disinterested experts to examine the defendant in accordance with the provisions of Section 3 of this article. If the defendant is found to be competent to stand trial, the proceedings on the criminal charges may be continued. If the defendant is found incompetent to stand trial and is under an order of commitment to a mental health or mental retardation facility, the court shall order him placed in the custody of the sheriff for transportation to that facility.

Time Credited

Sec. 9. The time a person charged with a criminal offense is confined in a mental health or mental retardation facility pending trial shall be credited to the term of his sentence on subsequent sentencing or resentencing.

[Amended by Acts 1975, 64th Leg., p. 1095, ch. 415, § 1, eff. June 19, 1975; Acts 1977, 65th Leg., p. 1458, ch. 596, § 1, Sept. 1, 1977.]

Section 10 of the 1977 amendatory act provided:

"If any portion of this Act is declared invalid or unconstitutional, it is the intention of the legislature that the other portions shall remain in full force and effect, and to this end the provisions of this Act are declared to be severable."

Art. 46.03. Insanity Defense

The Insanity Defense

Sec. 1. (a) The insanity defense provided in Section 8.01 of the Penal Code shall be submitted to the jury only if supported by competent evidence.

(b) When the insanity defense is submitted, the trier of facts shall determine and include in the verdict or judgment or both whether the defendant is guilty, not guilty, or not guilty by reason of insanity.

(c) A defendant who has been found not guilty by reason of insanity shall stand acquitted of the offense charged and may not be considered a person charged with a criminal offense.

Raising the Insanity Defense

Sec. 2. (a) A defendant planning to offer evidence of the insanity defense shall file a notice of his intention to offer such evidence with the court and the prosecuting attorney:

(1) at least 10 days prior to the date the case is set for trial; or

(2) if the court sets a pretrial hearing before the 10-day period, the defendant shall give notice at the hearing; or

(3) if the defendant raises the issue of his incompetency to stand trial before the 10-day period, he shall at the same time file notice of his intention to offer evidence of the insanity defense.

(b) Unless notice is timely filed pursuant to Subsection (a) of this section, evidence on the insanity defense is not admissible unless the court finds that good cause exists for failure to give notice.

Examination of the Defendant

Sec. 3. (a) If notice of intention to raise the insanity defense is filed under Section 2 of this article, the court may, on its own motion or motion by the defendant, his counsel, or the prosecuting attorney, appoint disinterested experts experienced and qualified in mental health and mental retardation to examine the defendant with regard to the insanity defense and to testify thereto at any trial or hearing on this issue.

(b) The court may order any defendant to submit to examination for the purposes described in this article. If the defendant is free on bail, the court in its discretion may order him to submit to examination. If the defendant fails or refuses to submit to examination, the court may order him to custody for examination for a reasonable period not to exceed 21 days. The court may not order a defendant to a facility operated by the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation for examination without the consent of the head of that facility or for a period exceeding 21 days. If a defendant who has been ordered to a facility operated by the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation for examination remains in such facility for a period of time exceeding 21 days, the head of that facility shall cause the defendant to be immediately transported to the committing court and placed in the custody of the sheriff of the county in which the committing court is located. That county shall reimburse the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation facility for the mileage and per diem expenses of the personnel required to transport the defendant calculated in accordance with the state travel regulations in effect at that time.

(c) The court shall advise any expert appointed pursuant to this section of the facts and circumstances of the offense with which the defendant is charged and the elements of the insanity defense.

(d) A written report of the examination shall be submitted to the court within 30 days of the order of examination, and the court shall furnish copies of the report to the defense counsel and the prosecuting attorney. The report shall include a description of the procedures used in the examination and the examiner's observations and findings pertaining to the insanity defense. The examiner shall also submit a separate report setting forth his observations and findings concerning:

(1) whether the defendant is presently mentally ill and requires observation and/or treatment or hospitalization in a mental hospital for his own welfare and protection or the protection of others; or

(2) whether the defendant is a mentally retarded person as defined in the Mentally Retarded Persons Act (Article 3871b, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes).[1]

(e) The appointed experts shall be paid by the county in which the indictment was returned or information was filed. A facility operated by the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation which accepts a defendant for examination under Subsection (a) of this section shall be reimbursed by the county in which the indictment was returned or information was filed for such expenses incurred as are determined by the department to be reasonably necessary and incidental to the proper examination of the defendant.

(f) When a defendant wishes to be examined by a psychiatrist or other expert of his own choice, the court on timely request shall provide the examiner with reasonable opportunity to examine the defendant.

(g) The experts appointed under this section to examine the defendant with regard to the insanity defense also may be appointed by the court to examine the defendant with regard to his competency to stand trial pursuant to Section 3 of Article 46.02 of this code, provided that separate written reports concerning the defendant's competency to stand trial and the insanity defense shall be filed with the court.

[1] Repealed; see, now, the Mentally Retarded Persons Act of 1977, classified as Civil Statutes, art. 5547–300.

Civil Commitment

Sec. 4. (a) If a defendant is found not guilty by reason of insanity in the trial of a criminal offense, the court shall determine whether there is evidence to support findings that the defendant is either mentally ill or is a mentally retarded person. If the court determines that there is evidence to support either of such findings, the court shall transfer the defendant to the appropriate court for civil commitment proceedings and may order the defendant detained in jail or other suitable place pending the prompt initiation and prosecution by the attorney for the state or other person designated by the court of appropriate civil proceedings to determine whether the defendant shall be committed to a mental health or mental retardation facility; provided, however, that a patient placed in a facility of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation pending civil hearing under this section shall only be detained pursuant to the provisions for an Order of Protective Custody as set out in the Texas Mental Health Code and with the consent of the head of the facility, or the court may give the defendant into the care of a responsible person on satisfactory security being given for his proper care and protection; otherwise, the defendant shall be discharged.

(b) A person committed to a mental health or mental retardation facility as a result of the proceedings initiated pursuant to Subsection (a) of this section shall be committed to the maximum security unit of Rusk State Hospital or the maximum security unit of any other facility designated by the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation. Within 60 days following arrival at the maximum security unit, the person shall be transferred to a nonsecurity unit of a mental health or mental retardation facility designated by the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation unless the person is determined to be manifestly dangerous by a review board within the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation. The Commissioner of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation shall appoint three psychiatrists who are licensed to practice medicine in the State of Texas to determine whether the person is manifestly dangerous. If the superintendent of the facility at which the maximum security unit is located disagrees with the determination, then the matter will be referred to the Commissioner of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation who will resolve the disagreement by deciding whether the person is manifestly dangerous.

(c) The court shall order a transcript of all medical testimony received in both the criminal proceedings and the civil commitment proceedings shall be prepared forthwith by the court reporters and that such transcripts, together with a statement of the facts and circumstances surrounding the alleged offense, shall accompany the patient to the mental health or mental retardation facility.

CHAPTER FIFTY-ONE. FUGITIVES FROM JUSTICE

Article
51.14. Interstate Agreement on Detainers.

Art. 51.14. Interstate Agreement on Detainers

This article may be cited as the "Interstate Agreement on Detainers Act." This agreement on detainers is hereby enacted into law and entered into by this state with all other jurisdictions legally joined therein in the form substantially as follows:

The contracting states solemnly agree that:

ARTICLE I.

The party states find that charges outstanding against a prisoner, detainers based on untried indictments, informations, or complaints, and difficulties in securing speedy trial of persons already incarcerated in other jurisdictions, produce uncertainties which obstruct programs of prisoner treatment and rehabilitation. Accordingly, it is the policy of the party states and the purpose of this agreement to encourage the expeditious and orderly disposition of such charges and determination of the proper status of any and all detainers based on untried indictments, informations, or complaints. The party states also find that proceedings with reference to such charges and detainers, when emanating from another jurisdiction, cannot properly be had in the absence of cooperative procedures. It is the further purpose of this agreement to provide such cooperative procedures.

ARTICLE II.

As used in this agreement: (a) "State" shall mean a state of the United States; the United States of America; a territory or possession of the United States; the District of Columbia; the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

(b) "Sending state" shall mean a state in which a prisoner is incarcerated at the time that he initiates a request for final disposition pursuant to Article III hereof or at the time that a request for custody or availability is initiated pursuant to Article IV hereof.

ARTICLE III.

(a) Whenever a person has entered upon a term of imprisonment in a penal or correctional institution of a party state, and whenever during the continuance of the term of imprisonment there is pending in any other party state any untried indictment, information, or complaint on the basis of which a detainer has been lodged against the prisoner, he shall be brought to trial within 180 days after he shall have caused to be delivered to the prosecuting officer and the appropriate court of the prosecuting officer's jurisdiction written notice of the place of his imprisonment and his request for a final disposition to be made of the indictment, information, or complaint; provided that for good cause shown in open court, the prisoner or his counsel being present, the court having jurisdiction of the matter may grant any necessary or reasonable continuance. The request of the prisoner shall be accompanied by a certificate of the appropriate official having custody of the prisoner, stating the term of commitment under which the prisoner is being held, the time already served, the time remaining to be served on the sentence, the amount of good time earned, the time of parole eligibility of the prisoner, and any decision of the state parole agency relating to the prisoner.

(b) The written notice and request for final disposition referred to in Paragraph (a) hereof shall be given or sent by the prisoner to the warden, commissioner of corrections, or other official having custody of him, who shall promptly forward it together with the certificate to the appropriate prosecuting official and court by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested.

(c) The warden, commissioner of corrections, or other official having custody of the prisoner shall promptly inform him of the source and contents of any detainer lodged against him and shall also inform him of his right to make a request for final disposition of the indictment, information, or complaint on which the detainer is based.

(d) Any request for final disposition made by a prisoner pursuant to Paragraph (a) hereof shall operate as a request for final disposition of all untried indictments, informations, or complaints on the basis of which detainers have been lodged against the prisoner from the state to whose prosecuting official the request for final disposition is specifically directed. The warden, commissioner of corrections, or other official having custody of the prisoner shall forthwith notify all appropriate prosecuting officers and courts in the several jurisdictions within the state to which the prisoner's request for final disposition is being sent of the proceeding being initiated by the prisoner. Any notification sent pursuant to this paragraph shall be accompanied by copies of the prisoner's written notice, request, and the certificate. If trial is not had on any indictment, information, or complaint contemplated hereby prior to the return of the prisoner to the original place of imprisonment, such indictment, information, or complaint shall not be of any further force or effect, and the court shall enter an order dismissing the same with prejudice.

(e) Any request for final disposition made by a prisoner pursuant to Paragraph (a) hereof shall also be deemed to be a waiver of extradition with respect to any charge or proceeding contemplated thereby or included therein by reason of Paragraph (d) hereof, and a waiver of extradition to the receiving state to serve any sentence there imposed upon him after completion of his term of imprisonment in the sending state. The request for final disposition shall also constitute a consent by the prisoner to the production of his body in any court where his presence may be required in order to effectuate the purposes of this agreement and a further consent voluntarily to be returned to the original place of imprisonment in accordance with the provisions of this agreement. Nothing in this paragraph shall prevent the imposition of a concurrent sentence if otherwise permitted by law.

(f) Escape from custody by the prisoner subsequent to his execution of the request for final disposition referred to in Paragraph (a) hereof shall void the request.

ARTICLE IV.

(a) The appropriate officer of the jurisdiction in which an untried indictment, information, or complaint is pending shall be entitled to have a prisoner against whom he has lodged a detainer and who is serving a term of imprisonment in any party state made available in accordance with Paragraph (a) of Article V hereof upon presentation of a written request for temporary custody or availability to the appropriate authorities of the state in which the prisoner is incarcerated; provided that the court having jurisdiction of such indictment, information, or complaint shall have duly approved, recorded, and transmitted the request; and provided further that there shall be a period of 30 days after receipt by the appropriate authorities before the request be honored, within which period the governor of the sending state may disapprove the request for temporary custody or availability, either upon his own motion or upon motion of the prisoner.

(b) Upon receipt of the officer's written request as provided in Paragraph (a) hereof, the appropriate authorities having the prisoner in custody shall furnish the officer with a certificate stating the term of commitment under which the prisoner is being held, the time already served, the time remaining to be served on the sentence, the amount of good time earned, the time of parole eligibility of the prisoner, and any decisions of the state parole agency relating to the prisoner. Said authorities simultaneously shall furnish all other officers and appropriate courts in the receiving state who have lodged detainers against the prisoner with similar certificates and with notices informing them of the request for custody or availability and of the reasons therefor.

(c) In respect of any proceeding made possible by this article, trial shall be commenced within 120 days of the arrival of the prisoner in the receiving state, but for good cause shown in open court, the prisoner or his counsel being present, the court having jurisdiction of the matter may grant any necessary or reasonable continuance.

(d) Nothing contained in this article shall be construed to deprive any prisoner of any right which he may have to contest the legality of his delivery as provided in Paragraph (a) hereof, but such delivery may not be opposed or denied on the ground that the executing authority of the sending state has not affirmatively consented to or ordered such delivery.

(e) If trial is not had on any indictment, information, or complaint contemplated hereby prior to the prisoner's being returned to the original place of imprisonment pursuant to Paragraph (e) of Article V hereof, such indictment, information, or complaint shall not be of any further force or effect, and the court shall enter an order dismissing the same with prejudice.

ARTICLE V.

(a) In response to a request made under Article III or Article IV hereof, the appropriate authority in a sending state shall offer to deliver temporary custody of such prisoner to the appropriate authority in the state where such indictment, information, or complaint is pending against such person in order that speedy and efficient prosecution may be had. If the request for final disposition is made by the prisoner, the offer of temporary custody shall accompany the written notice provided for in Article III of this agreement. In the case of a federal prisoner, the appropriate authority in the receiving state shall be entitled to temporary custody as provided by this agreement or to the prisoner's presence in federal custody at the place of trial, whichever custodial arrangement may be approved by the custodian.

(b) The officer or other representative of a state accepting an offer of temporary custody shall present the following upon demand:

(1) proper identification and evidence of his authority to act for the state into whose temporary custody this prisoner is to be given;

(2) a duly certified copy of the indictment, information, or complaint on the basis of which the detainer has been lodged and on the basis of which the request for temporary custody of the prisoner has been made.

(c) If the appropriate authority shall refuse or fail to accept temporary custody of said person, or in the event that an action on the indictment, information, or complaint on the basis of which the detainer has been lodged is not brought to trial within the period provided in Article III or Article IV hereof, the appropriate court of the jurisdiction where the indictment, information, or complaint has been pending shall enter an order dismissing the same with prejudice, and any detainer based thereon shall cease to be of any force or effect.

(d) The temporary custody referred to in this agreement shall be only for the purpose of permitting prosecution on the charge or charges contained in one or more untried indictments, informations, or complaints which form the basis of the detainer or detainers or for prosecution on any other charge or charges arising out of the same transaction. Except for his attendance at court and while being transported to or from any place at which his presence may be required, the prisoner shall be held in a suitable jail or other facility regularly used for persons awaiting prosecution.

(e) At the earliest practicable time consonant with the purposes of this agreement, the prisoner shall be returned to the sending state.

(f) During the continuance of temporary custody or while the prisoner is otherwise being made available for trial as required by this agreement, time being served on the sentence shall continue to run but good time shall be earned by the prisoner only if, and to the extent that, the law and practice of the jurisdiction which imposed the sentence may allow.

(g) For all purposes other than that for which temporary custody as provided in this agreement is exercised, the prisoner shall be deemed to remain in the custody of and subject to the jurisdiction of the sending state and any escape from temporary custody may be dealt with in the same manner as an escape from the original place of imprisonment or in any other manner permitted by law.

(h) From the time that a party state receives custody of a prisoner pursuant to this agreement until such prisoner is returned to the territory and custody of the sending state, the state in which the one or more untried indictments, informations, or complaints are pending or in which trial is being had shall be responsible for the prisoner and shall also pay all costs of transporting, caring for, keeping, and returning the prisoner. The provisions of this paragraph shall govern unless the states concerned shall have entered into a supplementary agreement providing for a different allocation of costs and responsibilities as between or among themselves. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to alter or affect any internal relationship among the departments, agencies, and officers of and in the government of a party state, or between a party state and its subdivisions, as to the payment of costs, or responsibilities therefor.

ARTICLE VI.

(a) In determining the duration and expiration dates of the time periods provided in Articles III and IV of this agreement, the running of said time periods shall be tolled whenever and for as long as the prisoner is unable to stand trial, as determined by the court having jurisdiction of the matter.

(b) No provision of this agreement, and no remedy made available by this agreement shall apply to any person who is adjudged to be mentally ill.

ARTICLE VII.

Each state party to this agreement shall designate an officer who, acting jointly with like officers of other party states, shall promulgate rules and regulations to carry out more effectively the terms and provisions of this agreement, and who shall provide, within and without the state, information necessary to the effective operation of this agreement.

ARTICLE VIII.

This agreement shall enter into full force and effect as to a party state when such state has enacted the same into law. A state party to this agreement may withdraw herefrom by enacting a statute repealing the same. However, the withdrawal of any state shall not affect the status of any proceedings already initiated by inmates or by state officers at the time such withdrawal takes effect, nor shall it affect their rights in respect thereof.

ARTICLE IX.

(a) This agreement shall be liberally construed so as to effectuate its purposes. The provisions of this agreement shall be severable and if any phrase, clause, sentence, or provision of this agreement is declared to be contrary to the constitution of any party state or of the United States or the applicability thereof to any government, agency, person, or circumstance is held invalid, the validity of the remainder of this agreement and the applicability thereof to any government, agency, person, or circumstance shall not be affected thereby. If this agreement shall be held contrary to the constitution of any state party hereto, the agreement shall remain in full force and effect as to the remaining states and in full force and effect as to the state affected as to all severable matters.

(b) As used in this article, "appropriate court" means a court of record with criminal jurisdiction.

(c) All courts, departments, agencies, officers, and employees of this state and its political subdivisions are hereby directed to enforce this article and to cooperate with one another and with other party states in enforcing the agreement and effectuating its purpose.

(d) Any prisoner escapes from lawful custody while in another state as a result of the application of this article shall be punished as though such escape had occurred within this state.

(e) The governor is empowered to designate the officer who will serve as central administrator of and information agent for the agreement on detainers pursuant to the provisions of Article VII hereof.

(f) Copies of this article, upon its enactment, shall be transmitted to the governor of each state, the Attorney General and the Secretary of State of the United States, and the council of state governments.

Section 1 of Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 2217, ch. 841, enacted Title 1 of the Tax Code, the Property Tax Code. Section 3 of said Act was the effective date provision. Subsection (c) thereof provided:

"(c)(1) Except as otherwise provided by this subsection, Subchapter A of Chapter 6 takes effect January 1, 1980.

"(2) For the purpose of appointing the first members of the appraisal district board of directors, Section 6.03 takes effect September 1, 1979.

"(3) Section 6.06 takes effect January 1, 1981. However, for the purpose of preparing and adopting a budget for 1981, Subsections (a) through (c) of Section 6.06 take effect September 1, 1980. The board shall perform the chief appraiser's functions as provided by Section 6.06 before the district employs a chief appraiser.

"(4) Between January 1, 1980, and January 1, 1982, the appraisal district board of directors shall prepare for the district's operations pursuant to the Property Tax Code. The board of directors shall establish, equip, and staff the appraisal office before January 1, 1982. In 1980, the board of directors shall operate with funds distributed by the State Property Tax Board and in 1981 shall operate with the state funds and with the money paid to the district pursuant to Section 6.06, Property Tax Code.

"(5) Before January 1, 1982, the appraisal district may contract as provided by the Interlocal Cooperation Act [Civil Statutes, art. 4413(32c)] to perform appraisal services for any taxing unit within the district. A contract authorized by this subsection must provide that each contracting taxing unit pay the actual costs of the appraisal services performed for it and that a board of equalization appointed by the district's board of directors serve as board of equalization for the unit.

"(6) For the purposes of a contract authorized by this subsection, the appraisal district board of directors shall appoint three residents of the district to serve as a board of equalization each year the district appraises property pursuant to a contract authorized by this subsection. The board of directors shall designate one of its appointees to serve as chairman of the board of equalization. Members of the board of equalization are entitled to per diem set by the board of directors for each day the board meets. Before the board of equalization begins to perform its duties, each member shall take an oath in substantially the form required by Article 7215, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925. The appraisal district board of equalization has the powers and shall perform the duties of the county board of equalization as provided by Title 122, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended [Civil Statutes, art. 7041 et seq.]."

§ 6.01. Appraisal Districts Established

(a) An appraisal district is established in each county.

(b) The district is responsible for appraising property in the district for ad valorem tax purposes of the state and of each taxing unit other than the county that imposes ad valorem taxes on property in the district.

§ 6.02. District Boundaries

(a) Except as otherwise provided by this section, the appraisal district's boundaries are the same as the county's boundaries.

(b) A school district, an incorporated city or town, a water control and improvement district organized pursuant to Chapter 51, Water Code, irrigation districts organized under Chapter 58, Water Code, or a junior college district that has boundaries extending into two or more counties may choose to participate in only one of the appraisal districts. In that event, the boundaries of the district chosen extend outside the county to the extent of the unit's boundaries.

(c) A taxing unit that is eligible to choose to participate in only one appraisal district as provided by Subsection (b) of this section must make the choice by an official action of its governing body in the manner required by law for official action by the body adopted at least 90 days before the first day of the tax year in which appraisal districts first begin appraising property for ad valorem tax purposes. The choice made by a taxing unit is binding and may not be repealed or modified while the unit's boundaries extend into the county in which the appraisal district it joins is located. However, if the unit ceases to have territory in that county but still has territory in two or more counties, the unit may choose to participate in only one district in the manner prescribed by this subsection. The choice must be made at least 90 days before the first day of the next tax year.

(d) If, as a result of a taxing unit choosing to participate in only one appraisal district as authorized by Subsection (b) of this section, no taxing unit in a district imposes taxes on property in a portion of the district, the district is not required to appraise the property.

(e) All costs of operating an appraisal district in territory outside the county for which the appraisal district is established are allocated to the taxing unit that chooses to add that territory to the district. If two or more taxing units add the same territory to an appraisal district, costs of operating the district in that territory are allocated to the units in the proportion the total dollar amount of taxes each unit imposes in that territory bears to the total dollar amount of taxes all taxing units participating in the appraisal district impose in that territory.

§ 6.03. Board of Directors

(a) The appraisal district is governed by a board of five directors. To be eligible to serve on the board of directors, an individual must be a resident of the district and must have resided in the district for at least two years.

(b) Members of the board of directors serve two-year terms beginning on January 1 of even-numbered years.

(c) Members of the board of directors are appointed by vote of the governing bodies of the incorporated cities and towns and the school districts that participate in the district. A governing body may cumulate its votes by multiplying the number of votes to which it is entitled by this section by the number of directorships to be filled and by casting that total for one candidate or distributing it among candidates for any number of directorships.

(d) The voting entitlement of a taxing unit that is entitled to vote for directors is determined by dividing the total dollar amount of property taxes imposed in the district by the taxing unit for the preceding tax year by the sum of the total dollar amount of property taxes imposed in the district for that year by each taxing unit that is entitled to vote, by multiplying the quotient by 1,000, and by rounding the product to the nearest whole number. A taxing unit participating in two or more districts is entitled to vote in each district in which it participates, but only the taxes imposed in a district are used to calculate voting entitlement in that district.

(e) The county clerk shall calculate the number of votes to which each taxing unit is entitled and shall deliver written notice to the presiding officer of the governing body of each unit of its voting entitlement before October 1 of each odd-numbered year.

(f) Each taxing unit that is entitled to vote may nominate by resolution adopted by its governing body one candidate for each position to be filled on the board of directors. The presiding officer of the governing body of the unit shall submit the names of the unit's nominees to the county clerk before October 15. Before October 30, the county clerk shall prepare a ballot, listing the candidates alphabetically according to the first letter in each candidate's surname, and shall deliver a copy of the ballot to the presiding officer of the governing body of each taxing unit that is entitled to vote.

(g) The governing body of each taxing unit entitled to vote shall determine its vote by resolution and submit it to the county clerk before November 15. The county clerk shall count the votes, declare the five candidates who receive the largest cumulative vote totals elected, and submit the results before December 1 to the governing body of each taxing unit in the district and to the candidates.

(h) If a vacancy occurs on the board of directors, each taxing unit that is entitled to vote by this section may nominate by resolution adopted by its governing body a candidate to fill the vacancy. The unit shall submit the name of its nominee to the county clerk within 10 days after notification from the board of directors of the existence of the vacancy, and the county clerk shall prepare and deliver to the board of directors within the next five days a list of the nominees. The board of directors shall elect by majority vote of its members one of the nominees to fill the vacancy.

(i) The governing bodies of three-fourths of the taxing units that are entitled to vote on the appointment of members of a district's board of directors may change the number of members on the board of directors or may change the method of selecting members of the board of directors.

For provisions as to the effective date of this section, see italicized note preceding § 6.01.

§ 6.04. Organization, Meetings, and Compensation

(a) A majority of the appraisal district board of directors constitutes a quorum. At its first meeting each calendar year, the board shall elect from its members a chairman and a secretary.

(b) The board may meet at any time at the call of the chairman or as provided by board rule. The board shall meet on October 1 of each year to receive the chief appraiser's proposed budget.

(c) Members of the board may not receive compensation for service on the board but are entitled to reimbursement for actual and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their duties as provided by the budget adopted by the board.

"(k) For purposes of applying the parts of the Property Tax Code that take effect before January 1, 1982, 'appraisal office,' 'appraisal district,' and 'chief appraiser' mean the office or officer, as applicable, that appraises property for the tax purposes of a taxing unit."

(d) Unless the governing bodies of three-fourths of the taxing units entitled to vote on appointment of members of the district's board of directors agree to a different method of allocating the costs of operating the district, each taxing unit participating in the district is allocated a portion of the amount of the budget equal to the proportion that the total dollar amount of property taxes imposed in the district by the unit for the tax year in which the budget proposal is prepared bears to the sum of the total dollar amount of property taxes imposed in the district by each participating unit for that year. If a taxing unit participates in two or more districts, only the taxes imposed in a district are used to calculate the unit's cost allocations in that district.

(e) Unless the governing body of a unit and the chief appraiser agree to a different method of payment, each taxing unit shall pay its allocation in four equal payments to be made at the end of each calendar quarter, and the first payment shall be made before January 1 of the year in which the budget takes effect. If the budget is amended, any change in the amount of a unit's allocation is apportioned among the payments remaining.

(c) A petition is valid if:

(1) it states that it is intended to require an election in the appraisal district or taxing unit on the question of consolidation of assessing or collecting functions or both;

If the governing body fails to act within the time allowed, the petition is treated as if it had been found valid.

(e) If the board of directors or the governing body finds that the petition is valid (or fails to act within the time allowed), it shall order that an election be held in the district or taxing unit on the next uniform election date prescribed by the Texas Election Code that is more than 60 days after the last day on which it could have acted to approve or disapprove the petition. If the governing bodies (and appraisal district board of directors when the district is involved) agree, a function may be consolidated when performance of the function begins in less than 90 days after the date of the election.

(g) A taxing unit shall pay the actual cost of performance of the functions to the office or entity that performs functions for it pursuant to an election as provided by this section.

(h) If a taxing unit is required by election pursuant to Subsection (b) of this section to assess, collect, or assess and collect property taxes for another taxing unit, it also shall perform the functions for all taxing units for which the other unit previously performed those functions pursuant to law or intergovernmental contract.

The governing body may prescribe additional requirements for the bond.

(b) A taxing unit whose taxes are collected by the collector for another taxing unit may require the collector to give bond conditioned on the faithful performance of his duties. To be effective, the bond must be made payable to and must be approved by the governing body of the unit requiring bond in an amount determined by the governing body. SUBCHAPTER B. SPECIAL APPRAISAL PROVISIONS

§ 23.11. Banking Corporation

(a) The stock of a banking corporation that is located in this state is appraised by subtracting the market value of the real property owned by the bank from the actual cash value of the bank's stock.

(b) Real property owned by a banking corporation subject to this section is appraised in the same manner as other real property, but a banking corporation's personal property is not subject to taxation except as provided by Section 25.15 of this code.

§ 23.12. Inventory

The market value of an inventory is the price for which it would sell as a unit to a purchaser who would continue the business.

§ 23.13. Taxable Leaseholds

A taxable leasehold or other possessory interest in real property that is exempt from taxation to the owner of the estate or interest encumbered by the possessory interest is appraised at the market value of the leasehold or other possessory interest. However, the appraised value may not be less than the total rental paid for the interest for the current tax year.

§ 23.14. Unincorporated Bank

[Sections 23.18 to 23.40 reserved for expansion]

SUBCHAPTER C. LAND DESIGNATED FOR AGRICULTURAL USE

§ 23.41. Appraisal

(a) Land designated for agricultural use is appraised at its value based on the land's capacity to produce agricultural products. The value of land based on its capacity to produce agricultural products is determined by capitalizing the average net income the land would have yielded under prudent management from production of agricultural products during the five years preceding the current year. However, if the value of land as determined by capitalization of average net income exceeds the market value of the land as determined by other generally accepted appraisal methods, the land shall be appraised by application of the other appraisal methods.

(b) The State Property Tax Board shall promulgate rules specifying the methods to apply and the procedures to use in appraising land designated for agricultural use.

(c) The board shall compile, publish, and distribute to the appraisal offices and county assessors-collectors information about soil type, general topography, general weather conditions, and other factors affecting land's capacity to produce agricultural products for use in classifying agricultural land.

(d) Each year the board shall compile, publish, and distribute to appraisal offices and county assessors-collectors schedules of the agricultural costs and prices for use in calculating average net income for each type of agricultural operation. The board shall use information provided by other state agencies and educational institutions, federal agencies, and other entities interested in agriculture in developing the classifications of land and the schedules.

(e) Improvements other than appurtenances to the land, the mineral estate, and all land used for residential purposes and for processing harvested agricultural products are appraised separately at market value. Riparian water rights, private roads, dams, reservoirs, water wells, and canals, ditches, terraces, and similar reshapings of or additions to the soil for agricultural purposes are appurtenances to the land, and the effect of each on the value of the land for agricultural use shall be considered in appraising the land. However, the State Property Tax Board shall provide that in calculating average net income from land a deduction from income be allowed for an appurtenance subject to depreciation or depletion.

§ 23.42. Eligibility

(a) An individual is entitled to have land he owns designated for agricultural use if, on January 1:

(1) the land has been devoted exclusively to or developed continuously for agriculture for the three years preceding the current year;

(2) he is using and intends to use the land for agriculture as an occupation or a business venture for profit during the current year; and

(3) agriculture is his primary occupation and primary source of income.

(b) Use of land for nonagricultural purposes does not deprive an owner of his right to an agricultural designation if the nonagricultural use is secondary to and compatible with the agricultural use of the land.

(c) Agriculture is an individual's primary occupation and primary source of income if as of January 1 he devotes a greater portion of his time to and derives a greater portion of his gross income from agriculture than any other occupation. The time an individual devotes to each occupation and the gross income he derives from each is determined by averaging the time he devoted to each and the gross income he derived from each for any number of consecutive years not exceeding five years immediately preceding January 1 of the current year, that he has engaged in agriculture as an occupation. However, if he has not been engaged in agriculture as an occupation for the entire year preceding January 1, the time he has devoted to and the income he has derived from each occupation since the date he began engaging in agriculture as an occupation determine whether agriculture is his primary occupation and primary source of income.

(d) For purposes of this section:

(1) "Agriculture" means the use of land to produce plant or animal products, including fish or poultry products, under natural conditions but does not include the processing of plant or animal products after harvesting or the production of timber or forest products.

(2) "Occupation" includes employment and a business venture that requires continual supervision or management.

§ 23.43. Application

(a) An individual claiming the right to have his land designated for agricultural use must apply for the designation each year he claims it. Application for the designation for county taxes is made by filing a sworn application form with the county assessor-collector for each county in which the land is located. Application for the designation for state taxes and the taxes of all taxing units other than the county is made by filing a sworn application form with the chief appraiser for each appraisal district in which the land is located.

(b) A claimant must deliver a completed application form to the chief appraiser or the county assessor-collector, as applicable, before April 1 and must furnish the information required by the form. For good cause shown the chief appraiser or the county assessor-collector, as applicable, may extend the deadline for filing the application by written order for a single period not to exceed 15 days.

(c) If a claimant fails to timely file a completed application form in a given year, he may not receive the agricultural designation for that year.

(d) The State Property Tax Board in prescribing the contents of the application forms shall ensure that each form requires a claimant to furnish the information necessary to determine the validity of the claim. The board shall require that the form permit a claimant who has previously been allowed an agricultural designation to indicate that previously reported information has not changed and to supply only the eligibility information not previously reported.

(e) Before February 1 the chief appraiser or the county assessor-collector, as applicable, shall deliver an application form to each individual whose land was designated for agricultural use during the preceding year. He shall include with the application a brief explanation of the requirements for obtaining agricultural designation.

§ 23.44. Action on Application

(a) The chief appraiser or the county assessor-collector, as applicable, shall determine individually each claimant's right to the agricultural designation. After considering the application and all relevant information, the chief appraiser or the county assessor-collector, as applicable, shall, as the law and facts warrant:

(1) approve the application and designate the land for agricultural use;

(2) disapprove the application and request additional information from the claimant in support of the claim; or

(3) deny the application.

(b) If the chief appraiser or the county assessor-collector requests additional information from a claimant, the claimant must furnish the information within 30 days after the date of the request or before April 15, whichever is earlier, or the application is denied. However, for good cause shown the chief appraiser or the county assessor-collector, as applicable, may extend the deadline for furnishing additional information by written order for a single period not to exceed 15 days.

(c) The chief appraiser or the county assessor-collector, as applicable, shall determine the validity of each application for agricultural designation filed with him before he submits the appraisal records for review and determination of protests as provided by Chapter 41 of this code.

(d) If the chief appraiser or the county assessor-collector denies an application, he shall deliver a written notice of the denial to the claimant within five days after the date of denial. The notice must include a brief explanation of the procedures for protesting the denial.

§ 23.45. Application Confidential

(a) An application for agricultural designation filed with a chief appraiser or a county assessor-collector is confidential and not open to public inspection. The application and the information it contains about specific property or a specific owner may not be disclosed to anyone other than an employee of the appraisal office or of the county assessor-collector who appraises property except as authorized by Subsection (b) of this section.

(b) Information made confidential by this section may be disclosed:

(1) in a judicial or administrative proceeding pursuant to a lawful subpoena;

(2) to the person who filed the application or to his representative authorized in writing to receive the information;

(3) to the director of the State Property Tax Board and his employees authorized by him in writing to receive the information or to an assessor or a chief appraiser if requested in writing;

(4) in a judicial or administrative proceeding relating to property taxation to which the person who filed the application is a party;

(5) for statistical purposes if in a form that does not identify specific property or a specific property owner; or

(6) if and to the extent the information is required to be included in a public document or record that the appraisal office or the county assessor-collector is required to prepare or maintain.

(c) A person who legally has access to an application for agricultural designation or who legally obtains the confidential information the application contains commits a Class B misdemeanor if he knowingly:

(1) permits inspection of the application by a person not authorized to inspect it by Subsection (b) of this section; or

(2) discloses confidential information contained in the report to a person not authorized to receive the information by Subsection (b) of this section.

§ 23.46. Deferred Taxation

(a) When appraising land designated for agricultural use, the chief appraiser or the county assessor-collector, as applicable, also shall appraise the land at its market value and shall record both the market value and the value based on its capacity to produce agricultural products in the appraisal records.

(b) Property taxes imposed on land designated for agricultural use are based on the land's agricultural use value determined as provided by Section 23.41 of this code after the appropriate assessment ratio has been applied to that value. When an assessor calculates the amount of tax due on the land, however, he shall also calculate the amount of tax that would have been imposed had the land not been designated for agricultural use. The difference in the amount of tax imposed and the amount that would have been imposed is the amount of deferred tax for that year, and the assessor shall enter that amount in his tax records relating to the property.

(c) If land that has been designated for agricultural use in any year is sold or diverted to a nonagricultural use, the total amount of taxes deferred in the three years preceding the year in which the land is sold or diverted plus interest at the rate provided for delinquent taxes becomes due. The assessor for each taxing unit shall include the amount of deferred tax plus interest as back taxes on the next bill for taxes on the land.

SUBCHAPTER D. APPRAISAL OF AGRICULTURAL LAND

§ 23.51. Definitions

In this subchapter:

(1) "Qualified open-space land" means land that is currently devoted principally to agricultural use to the degree of intensity generally accepted in the area and that has been devoted principally to agricultural use for five of the preceding seven years or land that is used principally as an ecological laboratory by a public or private college or university. Qualified open-space land includes all appurtenances to the land. For the purposes of this subdivision, appurtenances to the land means private roads, dams, reservoirs, water wells, canals, ditches, terraces, and other reshapings of the soil, fences, and riparian water rights.

(2) "Agricultural use" includes but is not limited to the following activities: cultivating the soil, producing crops for human food, animal feed, or planting seed or for the production of fibers; floriculture, viticulture, and horticulture; raising or keeping livestock; and planting cover crops or leaving land idle for the purpose of participating in any governmental program or normal crop or livestock rotation procedure.

(3) "Category" means the value classification of land considering the agricultural use to which the land is principally devoted. Categories of land include but are not limited to irrigated cropland, dry cropland, improved pasture, native pasture, orchard, and waste and may be further divided according to soil type, soil capability, irrigation, general topography, geographical factors, and other factors which influence the productive capacity of the category. The chief appraiser and the county assessor-collector shall obtain information from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Soil Conservation Service, and other recognized agricultural sources for the purposes of determining the categories of production existing in the appraisal district or county.

(4) "Net to land" means the average annual net income derived from the use of open-space land that would have been earned from the land during the five-year period preceding the appraisal by an owner using ordinary prudence in the management of the land and the farm crops or livestock produced or supported on the land and, in addition, any income received from hunting or recreational leases. The chief appraiser and the county assessor-collector shall calculate net to land using an owner-operator budget, subtracting all ordinary and prudent expenses incurred in pursuit of agricultural use, including all ordinary and prudent expenses incurred in connection with hunting and recreational leases and including owner labor and fixed and variable costs, from the five-year average agricultural income using estimates available from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, U.S. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, the Soil Conservation Service, the Texas Department of Agriculture Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, and universities and colleges within this state. Only if insufficient data is available to calculate net to land on the basis of an owner-operator budget, net to land may be determined by considering the income that would be due to the owner of the land under cash lease, share lease, or whatever lease arrangement is typical in that area for that category of land, and all expenses directly attributable to the agricultural use of the land by the owner shall be subtracted from this owner income and the results shall be used in income capitalization. Net to land shall be determined by the same method for all land in the same category located in the same appraisal district or county, as applicable. In calculating net to land, a reasonable deduction shall be made for any depletion that occurs of underground water used in the agricultural operation.

(5) "Income capitalization" means the process of dividing net to land by the capitalization rate to determine the appraised value.

§ 23.52. Appraisal of Qualified Agricultural Land

(a) The appraised value of qualified open-space land is determined on the basis of the category of the land, using accepted income capitalization methods applied to average net to land. The appraised value so determined may not exceed the market value as determined by other appraisal methods.

(b) The chief appraiser and county assessor-collector shall determine the appraised value according to this subchapter and, when requested by a landowner, the appraised value according to Subchapter C of this chapter [1] of each category of open-space land owned by that landowner and shall make each value and the market value according to the preceding year's appraisal roll available to a person seeking to apply for appraisal as provided by this subchapter or as provided by Subchapter C of this chapter.

(c) The chief appraiser and the county assessor-collector may not change the appraised value of a parcel of open-space land unless the owner has applied for and the land has qualified for appraisal as provided by this subchapter or by Subchapter C of this chapter or unless the change is made as a result of a reappraisal.

(d) The State Property Tax Board by rule shall develop and distribute to each appraisal office and county assessor-collector appraisal manuals setting forth this method of appraising qualified open-space land, and each appraisal office and county assessor-collector shall use the appraisal manuals in appraising qualified open-space land. The State Property Tax Board by rule shall develop and the appraisal office and county assessor-collector shall enforce procedures to verify that land meets the conditions contained in Subdivision (1) of Section 23.51 of this code. The rules, before taking effect, must be approved by a majority vote of a committee comprised of the following officials or their designees: the governor, the comptroller, the attorney general, the agriculture commissioner, and the Commissioner of the General Land Office.

(e) For the purposes of Section 23.55 of this code, the chief appraiser and county assessor-collector also shall determine the market value of qualified open-space land and shall record both the market value and the appraised value in the appraisal records.

(f) The appraisal of minerals or subsurface rights to minerals is not within the provisions of this subchapter.

[1] Section 23.41 et seq.

§ 23.53. Capitalization Rate

The capitalization rate to be used in determining the appraised value of qualified open-space land as provided by this subchapter is 10 percent or the interest rate specified by the Federal Land Bank of Houston on December 31 of the preceding year plus 2-½ percentage points, whichever percentage is greater.

§ 23.54. Application

(a) A person claiming that his land is eligible for appraisal under this subchapter must file a valid application with the chief appraiser for purposes of appraisal by the appraisal district or the county assessor-collector for purposes of appraisal by that officer.

(b) To be valid, the application must:

(1) be on a form provided by the appraisal office or the county assessor-collector, if applicable, and prescribed by the State Property Tax Board; and

(2) contain the information necessary to determine the validity of the claim.

(c) The State Property Tax Board shall include on the form a notice of the penalties prescribed by Section 37.10, Penal Code, for making or filing an application containing a false statement.

(d) The form must be filed before April 1. However, for good cause the tax assessor may extend the filing deadline for not more than 60 days.

(e) If a person fails to file a valid application on time, the land is ineligible for appraisal as provided by this subchapter for that year.

(f) The appraisal office and the county assessor-collector shall make a sufficient number of printed application forms readily available at no charge and shall mail a form each year at least 90 days before the filing deadline to each person owning land that was appraised as provided by this subchapter in the preceding year.

§ 23.55. Change of Use of Land

(a) If the use of land that has been appraised as provided by this subchapter changes, an additional tax is imposed on the land equal to the difference between the taxes imposed on the land for each of the five years preceding the year in which the change of use occurs that the land was appraised as provided by this subchapter and the tax that would have been imposed had the land been taxed on the basis of market value in each of those years, plus interest at an annual rate of seven percent calculated from the dates on which the differences would have become due.

(b) A tax lien attaches to the land on the date the change of use occurs to secure payment of the additional tax and interest imposed by this section and any penalties incurred. The lien exists in favor of the state and all taxing units for which the additional tax is imposed.

(c) The additional tax imposed by this section does not apply to a year for which the tax has already been imposed.

(d) If the change of use applies to only part of a parcel that has been appraised as provided by this subchapter, the additional tax applies only to that part of the parcel and equals the difference between the taxes imposed on that part of the parcel and the taxes that would have been imposed had that part been taxed on the basis of market value.

(e) The assessor shall prepare and deliver a statement for the additional taxes as soon as practicable after the change of use occurs. The taxes become delinquent and incur penalties and interest as provided by law for ad valorem taxes imposed by the taxing unit if not paid before the next date on which the unit's taxes become delinquent that is more than 10 days after the date the statement is delivered.

(f) The sanctions provided by Subsection (a) of this section do not apply if the change of use occurs as a result of a sale for right-of-way or a condemnation.

(g) If the use of the land changes to a use that qualifies under Subchapter E of this chapter,[1] the sanctions provided by Subsection (a) of this section do not apply.

(h) Additional taxes, if any, for a year in which land was designated for agricultural use as provided by Subchapter C of this chapter [2] (or Article VIII, Section 1–d, of the constitution) are determined as provided by that subchapter, and the additional taxes imposed by this section do not apply for that year.

[2] Section 23.41 et seq.

§ 23.56. Land Ineligible for Appraisal as Open-Space Land

Land is not eligible for appraisal as provided by this subchapter if:

(1) the land is located inside the corporate limits of an incorporated city or town, unless:

(A) the city or town is not providing the land with governmental and proprietary services substantially equivalent in standard and scope to those services it provides in other parts of the city or town with similar topography, land utilization, and population density; or

(B) the land has been devoted principally to agricultural use continuously for the preceding five years;

(2) the land is owned by an individual who is a nonresident alien or by a foreign government if that individual or government is required by federal law or by rule adopted pursuant to federal law to register his ownership or acquisition of that property; or

(3) the land is owned by a corporation, partnership, trust, or other legal entity if the entity is required by federal law or by rule adopted pursuant to federal law to register its ownership or acquisition of that land and a nonresident alien or a foreign government or any combination of nonresident aliens and foreign governments own a majority interest in the entity.

SUBCHAPTER E. APPRAISAL OF TIMBER LAND

§ 23.71. Definitions

In this subchapter:

(1) "Category of the land" means the value classification of land for timber production, based on soil type, soil capability, general topography, weather, location, and other pertinent factors, as determined by competent governmental sources.

(2) "Net to land" means the average net income that would have been earned by a category of land over the preceding five years by a person using ordinary prudence in the management of the land and the timber produced on the land. The net income for each year is determined by multiplying the land's potential average annual growth, expressed in cords or board feet of wood, by the average stumpage value, taking into consideration the three general types of timber as produced on the four different soil types, as determined by using information from the U.S. Forest Service, U.S. Geological Survey, the Soil Conservation Service, the Texas Forest Service, and colleges and universities within this state, and by subtracting from the product reasonable management costs and other reasonable expenses directly attributable to the production of the timber.

§ 23.72. Qualification for Productivity Appraisal

Land qualifies for appraisal as provided by this subchapter if it is currently and actively devoted principally to production of timber or forest products to the degree of intensity generally accepted in the area with intent to produce income and has been devoted principally to production of timber or forest products for five of the preceding seven years.

§ 23.73. Appraisal of Qualified Timber Land

(a) The appraised value of qualified timber land is determined on the basis of the category of the land, using accepted income capitalization methods applied to average net to land. The appraised value so determined may not exceed the market value of the land as determined by other appraisal methods.

(b) The State Property Tax Board by rule shall develop and distribute to each appraisal office and county assessor-collector appraisal manuals setting forth this method of appraising qualified timber land, and each appraisal office and county assessor-collector shall use the appraisal manuals in appraising qualified timber land. The State Property Tax Board by rule shall develop and the appraisal office and county assessor-collector shall enforce procedures to verify that land meets the conditions contained in Section 23.72 of this code. The rules, before taking effect, must be approved by majority vote of a committee comprised of the following officials or their designees: the governor, the comptroller, the attorney general, the agriculture commissioner, and the Commissioner of the General Land Office.

(c) For the purposes of Section 23.76 of this code, the chief appraiser and the county assessor-collector also shall determine the market value of qualified timber land and shall record both the market value and the appraised value in the appraisal records.

(d) The appraisal of minerals or subsurface rights to minerals is not within the provisions of this subchapter.

§ 23.74. Capitalization Rate

The capitalization rate to be used in determining the appraised value of qualified timber land as provided by this subchapter is the interest rate specified by the Federal Land Bank of Houston on December 31 of the preceding year plus 2-½ percentage points.

§ 23.75. Application

(a) A person claiming that his land is eligible for appraisal as provided by this subchapter must file a valid application with the chief appraiser for purposes of appraisal by the appraisal district or the county assessor-collector for purposes of appraisal by that officer.

(b) To be valid, the application must:

(1) be on a form provided by the appraisal office or the county assessor-collector, if applicable, and prescribed by the State Property Tax Board; and

(2) contain the information necessary to determine the validity of the claim.

(c) The State Property Tax Board shall include on the form a notice of the penalties prescribed by Section 37.10, Penal Code, for making or filing an application containing a false statement.

(d) The form must be filed before April 1. However, for good cause the tax assessor may extend the filing deadline for not more than 60 days.

(e) If a person fails to file a valid application on time, the land is ineligible for appraisal as provided by this subchapter for that year.

(f) The appraisal office and the county assessor-collector shall make a sufficient number of printed application forms readily available at no charge and shall mail a form each year at least 90 days before the filing deadline to each person owning land that was appraised as provided by this subchapter in the preceding year.

§ 23.76. Change of Use of Land

(a) If the use of land that has been appraised as provided by this subchapter changes, an additional tax is imposed on the land equal to the difference between the taxes imposed on the land for each of the five years preceding the year in which the change of use occurs that the land was appraised as provided by this subchapter and the tax that would have been imposed had the land been taxed on the basis of market value in each of those years, plus interest at an annual rate of seven percent calculated from the dates on which the differences would have become due.

(b) A tax lien attaches to the land on the date the change of use occurs to secure payment of the additional tax and interest imposed by this section and any penalties incurred. The lien exists in favor of the state and all taxing units for which the additional tax is imposed.

(c) The additional tax imposed by this section does not apply to a year for which the tax has already been imposed.

(d) If the change of use applies to only part of a parcel that has been appraised as provided by this subchapter, the additional tax applies only to that part of the parcel and equals the difference between the taxes imposed on that part of the parcel and the taxes that would have been imposed had that part been taxed on the basis of market value.

(e) The assessor shall prepare and deliver a statement for the additional taxes as soon as practicable after the change of use occurs. The taxes become delinquent and incur penalties and interest as provided by law for ad valorem taxes imposed by the taxing unit if not paid before the next date on which the unit's taxes become delinquent that is more than 10 days after the date the statement is delivered.

(f) The sanctions provided by Subsection (a) of this section do not apply if the change of use occurs as a result of a sale for right-of-way or a condemnation.

(g) If the use of the land changes to a use that qualifies under Subchapter C or D of this chapter,[1] the sanctions provided by Subsection (a) of this section do not apply.

(A) the city or town is not providing the land with governmental and proprietary services substantially equivalent in standard and scope to those services it provides in other parts of the city or town with similar topography, land utilization, and population density; or

(B) the land has been devoted principally to production of timber or forest products continuously for the preceding five years;

(2) the land is owned by an individual who is a nonresident alien or by a foreign government if that individual or government is required by federal law or by rule adopted pursuant to federal law to register his ownership or acquisition of that property; or

(3) the land is owned by a corporation, partnership, trust, or other legal entity if the entity is required by federal law or by rule adopted pursuant to federal law to register its ownership or acquisition of that land and a nonresident alien or a foreign government or any combination of nonresident aliens and foreign governments own a majority interest in the entity.

(3) motor bus carriers subject to regulation by the railroad commission;

(4) common or contract motor carriers subject to regulation by the railroad commission; and

(5) oil pipelines and common carrier pipelines engaged in the transportation of oil.

§ 24.02. Property Information Report

(b) The report must be on a form prescribed and furnished by the board. In prescribing the forms, the board shall ensure that each requires a taxpayer to furnish the information necessary for the board to perform its duties under this subchapter.

(c) The report must contain all the information required by the form and must be signed by the individual required to file the report by Subsection (a) of this section. When a corporation is required to file the report, an officer of the corporation must sign the report.

(d) Reports must be filed before May 1. For good cause shown the board may extend the filing deadline by written order for a single period not to exceed 30 days.

§ 24.03. Additional Information

(b) A business shall furnish any additional information required as provided by Subsection (a) of this section within 15 days after the date notice is mailed. For good cause shown the board may extend the deadline for a single period not to exceed 15 days.

(a) If a transportation business knowingly fails or refuses to deliver a completed report in the time and manner required by Section 24.02 of this code or knowingly fails or refuses to deliver additional information in the time and manner required by Section 24.03, the business is liable to the state for a civil penalty not exceeding $5,000.

(b) The attorney general shall collect the penalty in a suit on the board's behalf. Venue for suit is in Travis County.

§ 24.05. Assistance from State Agencies

The board may call on the railroad commission or any other state entity that may have information or expertise relevant to the board's duties under this chapter for assistance in determining the amount, value, interstate allocation, and intrastate apportionment of a transportation business's property.

§ 24.06. Method of Appraisal

(a) To appraise the intangible value of the transportation operation in this state of a transportation business described by Section 24.01 of this code, the board shall determine the market value of the operating portion of the business as of January 1.

(b) If the business has property used in its transportation business located in another state or country or used both inside and outside this state, the board shall allocate to this state the proportion of the total market value of the business's transportation operation that fairly reflects its use in this state.

(c) The board shall deduct the market value of the business's tangible operating property located in or allocable to this state from the market value of all the transportation operation allocable to this state determined as provided by Subsection (b) of this section. The remainder is the market value of the intangibles of the business in this state.

§ 24.07. Intrastate Apportionment

The board shall apportion to each county in which a transportation business described by Section 24.01 of this code operates the proportion of the market value of its intangibles in this state determined as provided by Section 24.06 of this code that fairly reflects its use in the county.

§ 24.08. Protest Hearing

(a) After it apportions intangible values among the counties, the board shall determine the date, time, and place it will convene for a public hearing to decide protests of its appraisal, interstate allocation, or intrastate apportionment.

(b) The board shall convene a hearing to determine protests before June 15 of each year. The board shall finally decide all protests before July 15 of each year.

(c) Section 19 and Subsections (c) through (f) of Section 16, Administrative Procedure and Texas Register Act,[1] do not apply to hearings under this section. The board's decision may be appealed as provided by Chapter 42 of this code.

(c) A contract for appraisal services for an appraisal district or a county is invalid if it does not provide that copies of the appraisal, together with supporting data, must be made available to the appraisal district or county, and such appraisals and supporting data shall be public records. (a) Except as provided by Subsection (b) of this section, a leasehold or other possessory interest in property that is exempt from taxation to the owner of the estate or interest encumbered by the possessory interest shall be listed in the name of the owner of the possessory interest if the duration of the interest may be at least one year.

(b) Except as provided by Subsections (b) and (c) of Section 11.11 of this code, a leasehold or other possessory interest in exempt property may not be listed if:

(1) the property is permanent university fund land;

(2) the property is county public school fund agricultural land;

(a) Except as provided by Subsections (b) through (d) of this section, an improvement may be listed in the name of the owner of the land on which the improvement is located.

(b) If a person who is not entitled to exemption owns an improvement on exempt land, the improvement shall be listed in the name of the owner of the improvement.

(c) When a person other than the owner of an improvement owns the land on which the improvement is located, the land and the improvement shall be listed separately in the name of the owner of each if either owner files with the chief appraiser or the county assessor-collector, as applicable, before April 1 a written request for separate taxation on a form furnished for that purpose together with proof of separate ownership. After an improvement qualifies for taxation separate from land, the qualification remains effective in subsequent tax years and need not be requested again. However, the qualification ceases when ownership of the land or the improvement is transferred or either owner files a request to cancel the separate taxation.

(d) Within 30 days after an owner of land or an improvement qualifies for separate taxation or cancels a qualification, the chief appraiser or the county assessor-collector, as applicable, shall deliver a written notice of the qualification or cancellation to the other owner.

A resolution adopted as provided by this subsection remains effective in subsequent tax years unless it is revoked by a similar resolution.

(c) If property is listed and taxes imposed proportionately as authorized by Subsection (b) of this section, the amount of tax to be imposed on the association's property shall be divided by the number of parcels of real property in the development. The quotient is the proportionate amount of tax to be imposed on each parcel, and a tax lien attaches to each parcel to secure payment of its proportionate share of the tax on the association's property.

(d) For purposes of this section, "planned unit development association" means an association that owns and maintains property in a real property development project for the benefit of its members, who are owners of individual parcels of real property in the development and are members of the association because of that ownership.

(b) An undivided interest in a property shall be listed separately from other undivided interests in the property in the name of its owner if the interest is described in a duly executed and recorded instrument of title and the owner files with the appraisal office or the county assessor-collector, as applicable, before April 1 a written request for separate taxation on a form furnished for that purpose together with proof of ownership and of the proportion his interest bears to the whole. After an undivided interest qualifies for separate taxation, the qualification remains effective in subsequent tax years and need not be requested again. However, the qualification ceases when ownership is transferred or when any owner files a request to cancel separate taxation.

(a) Each appraisal office and each county assessor-collector shall implement a plan for periodic review of property to update appraised values.

(b) The plan shall provide for review of all real property in the district or county, as applicable, at least once every five years.

(c) If an appraisal office's plan does not provide for annual review of property to update appraised values, a taxing unit by resolution adopted by its governing body may require the appraisal office to review all property within the unit's boundaries annually. § 25.21. Omitted Property

(a) If the county assessor-collector in the case of county taxes or the chief appraiser in the case of state taxes or taxes for a taxing unit other than the county discovers that real property was not taxed in any one of the 10 preceding years or that personal property was not taxed in one of the two preceding years, he shall appraise the property as of January 1 of each year that it escaped taxation and enter the property and its appraised value in the appraisal records.

(b) The entry shall show that the appraisal is for property that escaped taxation in a prior year and shall indicate the year and the appraised value for each year.

§ 25.22. Submission for Review and Protest

(a) By April 15 or as soon thereafter as practicable, the chief appraiser shall submit the completed appraisal records to the appraisal review board for review and determination of protests. However, the chief appraiser may not submit the records until he has delivered the notices required by Subsection (d) of Section 11.45, Subsection (d) of Section 23.44, and Sections 25.19 and 25.20 of this code.

(b) By April 15 or as soon thereafter as practicable, the county assessor-collector shall submit the completed appraisal records for county purposes to the commissioners court for review and determination of protests. However, the county assessor-collector may not submit the records until he has delivered the notices required by Subsection (d) of Section 11.45, Subsection (d) of Section 23.44, and Section 25.19 of this code.

(c) The chief appraiser and the county assessor-collector shall make and subscribe an affidavit on the submission substantially as follows:

"I, _____, (Chief Appraiser or County Assessor-Collector, as applicable) for _____ solemnly swear that I have made or caused to be made a diligent inquiry to ascertain all property in the county subject to appraisal by me and that I have included in the records all property that I am aware of at an appraised value determined as required by law."

(d) The chief appraiser or the county assessor-collector may require of his employees who are engaged in listing and appraising property an affidavit similar to his own.

§ 25.23. Supplemental Appraisal Records

(a) After submission of appraisal records, the chief appraiser or the county assessor-collector, as applicable, shall prepare supplemental appraisal records listing each taxable property he discovers that is not included in the records already submitted, including property that escaped taxation in a prior tax year.

(b) Supplemental appraisal records shall be in the form prescribed by the State Property Tax Board and shall include the items required by Section 25.02 of this code.

(c) As soon as practicable after determining the appraised value of a property listed in supplemental appraisal records, the chief appraiser or the county assessor-collector, as applicable, shall deliver the notices required by Sections 25.19 and 25.20 of this code, if applicable, and submit the records for review and determination of protest as provided by Section 25.22 of this code.

(d) Supplemental appraisal records are subject to review and protest as provided by Chapters 41 and 42 of this code. However, a property owner must file a protest petition within 10 days after the date the records are submitted for review, and the appraisal review board or the commissioners court, as applicable, shall complete its review within 30 days after the date the records are submitted or as soon thereafter as practicable.

(e) The chief appraiser shall add supplemental appraisal records, as changed by the appraisal review board and approved by that board, to the appraisal roll for the district and certify the addition to the taxing units. The county assessor-collector shall add supplemental appraisal records prepared by him, as changed and approved by the commissioners court acting as a board of equalization, to the appraisal roll for county tax purposes.

§ 25.24. Appraisal Roll

The appraisal records, as changed by order of the appraisal review board and approved by that board, constitute the appraisal roll for the district. The appraisal records, as changed by order of the commissioners court acting as a board of equalization and approved by it, constitute the appraisal roll for county tax purposes.

§ 25.25. Correction of Appraisal Roll

(a) Except as provided by Chapters 41 and 42 of this code and by this section, the appraisal roll may not be changed.

(b) The chief appraiser or the county assessor-collector, as applicable, may change the appraisal roll at any time to correct a name or address, a description of property, or a clerical error that does not affect the amount of tax liability.

(c) At any time, the commissioners court acting as a board of equalization or the appraisal review board, as applicable, on motion of the county assessor-collector or the chief appraiser, as applicable, or of a property owner may direct by written order changes in the appraisal roll to correct:

(1) clerical errors that affect a property owner's liability for a tax; or

(2) multiple appraisals of a property in a single tax year.

(d) The chief appraiser shall certify each change made as provided by this section to the assessor for each unit affected by the change within five days after the date the change is entered.

§ 26.01. Submission of Rolls to Taxing Units

(a) By June 25 or as soon thereafter as practicable, the chief appraiser shall prepare and certify to the assessor for each taxing unit participating in the district that part of the appraisal roll for the district that lists the property taxable by the unit. The part certified to the assessor is the appraisal roll for the unit.

(b) When the chief appraiser submits appraisal rolls to the taxing units, he also shall certify to the county assessor-collector an appraisal roll for state tax purposes listing all property in the county. However, if the district is not appraising property in a part of the county as authorized by Subsection (d) of Section 6.02 of this code, the chief appraiser shall certify a roll showing all property the district is appraising in the county. The county assessor-collector shall combine the rolls certified to him for state tax purposes by more than one appraisal district.

(c) When a chief appraiser submits an appraisal roll for state taxes to a county assessor-collector, he also shall certify the roll to the State Property Tax Board. However, the State Property Tax Board by rule may provide for submission of only a summary of the appraisal roll. In that event, the chief appraiser shall certify the summary in the form and manner prescribed by the board's rule.

§ 26.02. Assessment Ratios Prohibited

Text of section effective January 1, 1981

Except as provided by Section 26.03 of this code, the assessment of property for taxation on the basis of a percentage of its appraised value is prohibited. All property shall be assessed on the basis of 100 percent of its appraised value.

§ 26.03. State Assessment Ratio

Text of section effective January 1, 1980

The assessment ratio for calculating taxes for state purposes is .0001 percent.

§ 26.04. Submission of Roll to Governing Body

(a) On receipt of the appraisal roll, the assessor for a taxing unit shall determine the total appraised value, the total assessed value, and the total taxable value of property taxable by the unit. He shall also determine, using information provided by the appraisal office, the appraised, assessed, and taxable value of property added to the appraisal roll since the preceding tax year by annexation of territory and the appraised, assessed, and taxable value of the improvements on the roll that were made after January 1 of the preceding tax year. The sum of the taxable value of annexed property and the taxable value of improvements made after January 1 of the preceding tax year is the taxable value of new property.

(b) The assessor shall submit the appraisal roll for the unit showing the total appraised, assessed, and taxable values of all property and the total taxable value of new property to the governing body of the unit by July 1 or as soon thereafter as practicable.

(c) An officer or employee designated by the governing body shall subtract from the total amount of property taxes imposed by the unit in the preceding year:

(1) the amount of taxes imposed in the preceding year to pay principal of and interest on bonds, warrants, certificates of obligation, or other lawfully authorized evidences of indebtedness issued or assumed by the unit and to pay lawfully incurred contractual obligations providing security for the payment of principal of and interest on bonds or other evidences of indebtedness issued on behalf of the unit by another political subdivision;

(2) the amount of taxes imposed in the preceding year on property in territory that has ceased to be a part of the unit;

(3) the amount of taxes imposed in the preceding year on taxable value that is exempt in the current year; and

(4) the amount of taxes imposed in the preceding year on taxable value that is not taxable in the current year because property appraised at market value in the preceding year is required by law to be appraised at less than market value in the current year.

(d) The designated officer or employee shall calculate the tax rate that if applied to the total taxable value submitted to the governing body less the taxable value of new property would impose the amount of property taxes determined as provided by Subsection (c) of this section. He shall add to that rate the amount that, if applied to the total taxable value submitted to the governing body, will impose the amount of taxes needed to pay the principal of and interest on bonds, warrants, certificates of obligation, or other lawfully authorized evidences of indebtedness issued or assumed by the unit and to pay lawfully incurred contractual obligations providing security for the payment of principal of and interest on bonds or other evidences of indebtedness issued on behalf of the unit by another political subdivision.

(e) By July 7 or as soon thereafter as practicable, the designated officer or employee shall publicize the tax rate calculated as provided by this section and the calculations used to determine it in a manner designed to come to the attention of all residents of the unit and shall submit the rate to the governing body of the unit.

(f) If as a result of consolidation of taxing units a taxing unit includes territory that was in two or more taxing units in the preceding year, the amount of taxes imposed in each in the preceding year is combined for purposes of calculating the tax rate under this section.

§ 26.05. Tax Rate

(a) By August 1 or as soon thereafter as practicable, the governing body of each taxing unit shall adopt a tax rate for the current tax year and shall notify the assessor for the unit of the rate adopted.

(b) A taxing unit may not impose property taxes in any year until the governing body has adopted a tax rate for that year, and the annual tax rate must be set by ordinance, resolution, or order, depending on the method prescribed by law for adoption of a law by the governing body. The vote on the ordinance, resolution, or order setting the tax rate must be separate from the vote adopting the budget.

(c) The governing body may not adopt a tax rate that exceeds the tax rate calculated as provided by Section 26.04 of this code until it has given notice of its intention to adopt a higher rate, has held a public hearing on the proposed increase, and has otherwise complied with Section 26.06 of this code.

§ 26.06. Notice, Hearing, and Vote on Tax Increase

(a) A public hearing required by Section 26.05 of this code may not be held before the seventh day after the date the notice of intent to increase the tax rate is given. The hearing must be on a weekday that is not a public holiday and must begin after 5 p. m. and before 9 p. m. The hearing must be held inside the boundaries of the unit in a publicly owned building or, if a suitable publicly owned building is not available, in a suitable building to which the public normally has access. At the hearing, the governing body must afford adequate opportunity for proponents and opponents of the tax increase to present their views.

"NOTICE OF TAX INCREASE

"The (name of the taxing unit) proposes to increase your property taxes by (percentage of increase over the tax rate submitted pursuant to Section 26.04 of this code) percent.

"A public hearing on the increase will be held on (date and time) at (meeting place).

"(Names of all members of the governing body, showing how each voted on the proposal to raise taxes or, if one or more were absent, indicating the absences.)"

(c) The notice may be delivered by mail to each registered voter residing in the unit, or it may be published in a newspaper. If the notice is published in a newspaper, it may not be in the part of the paper in which legal notices and classified advertisements appear.

(d) At the public hearing the governing body shall announce the date, time, and place of the meeting at which it will vote on the proposed tax increase. After the hearing it shall give notice of the meeting in the form and manner provided by Subsection (b) of this section, except that the second paragraph of the notice must state:

"A public meeting to vote on the proposed increase will be held on (date and time) at (meeting place)."

(e) The meeting to vote on the increase may not be earlier than the third day or later than the 14th day after the date of the public hearing. The meeting must be held inside the boundaries of the unit in a publicly owned building or, if a suitable publicly owned building is not available, in a suitable building to which the public normally has access. If the governing body does not adopt an increased rate by the 14th day, it must give a new notice under Subsection (d) of this section before it may adopt a rate that exceeds the tax rate calculated as provided by Section 26.04 of this code.

§ 26.07. Election to Repeal Increase

(a) If the governing body of a taxing unit other than a school district adopts a tax rate that exceeds the rate calculated as provided by Section 26.04 of this code by more than five percent, the qualified voters of the taxing unit by petition may require that an election be held to determine whether or not to reduce the tax rate adopted for the current year to a rate that exceeds the rate calculated as provided by Section 26.04 of this code by only five percent.

(b) A petition is valid if:

(1) it states that it is intended to require an election in the taxing unit on the question of reducing the tax rate for the current year;

(2) it is signed by 15,000 qualified voters or by a number of qualified voters of the taxing unit equal to at least 15 percent of the number of qualified voters of the taxing unit according to the most recent official list of qualified voters, whichever number is less; and

(3) it is submitted to the governing body on or before the 60th day after the date on which the governing body adopted the tax rate for the current year.

(c) Not later than the 20th day after the day a petition is submitted, the governing body shall determine whether or not the petition is valid and pass a resolution stating its finding. If the governing body fails to act within the time allowed, the petition is treated as if it had been found valid.

(d) If the governing body finds that the petition is valid (or fails to act within the time allowed), it shall order that an election be held in the taxing unit on a date not less than 30 or more than 90 days after the last day on which it could have acted to approve or disapprove the petition. A state law requiring local elections to be held on a specified date does not apply to the election unless a specified date falls within the time permitted by this section. At the election, the ballots shall be prepared to permit voting for or against the proposition: "Reducing the tax rate in (name of taxing unit) for the current year from (the rate adopted) to (the rate that is only five percent greater than the rate calculated as provided by Section 26.04 of this code)."

(e) If a majority of the qualified voters voting on the question in the election favor the proposition and the number of qualified voters voting on the question in the election exceeds 25 percent of the qualified voters residing in the taxing unit, the tax rate for the taxing unit for the current year is the tax rate that is five percent greater than the rate calculated as provided by Section 26.04 of this code; otherwise, the tax rate for the current year is the one adopted by the governing body.

(f) If the tax rate is reduced by an election called under this section after tax bills for the unit are mailed, the assessor for the unit shall prepare and mail corrected tax bills. He shall include with the bill a brief explanation of the reason for and effect of the corrected bill. The date on which the taxes become delinquent for the year is extended by a number of days equal to the number of days between the date the first tax bills were sent and the date the corrected tax bills were sent.

(g) If a property owner pays taxes calculated using the higher tax rate when the rate is reduced by an election called under this section, the taxing unit shall refund the difference between the amount of taxes paid and the amount due under the reduced rate.

§ 26.08. Election to Limit School Taxes

(a) If the governing body of a school district adopts a rate that exceeds the rate calculated as provided by Section 26.04 of this code by more than five percent, the qualified voters of the district by petition may require that an election be held to determine whether or not to limit the tax rate the governing body may adopt for the following year. When increased expenditure of funds by a school district is necessary to respond to a disaster, such as a tornado, hurricane, flood, or other calamity (not including a drought) which has impacted a school district and the governor has requested federal disaster assistance for the area in which the school district is located, a petition is not valid under this section to repeal a tax increase adopted the next time the district adopts a tax rate after the date the disaster occurs.

(b) A petition is valid if:

(1) it states that it is intended to require an election in the school district on the question of limiting the tax rate for the following year;

(2) it is signed by 15,000 qualified voters or by a number of qualified voters of the school district equal to at least 15 percent of the number of qualified voters of the district according to the most recent official list of qualified voters, whichever number is less; and

(3) it is submitted to the governing body on or before the 60th day after the date on which the governing body adopted the tax rate for the current year.

(c) Not later than the 20th day after the day a petition is submitted, the governing body shall determine whether or not the petition is valid and pass a resolution stating its finding. If the governing body fails to act within the time allowed, the petition is treated as if it had been found valid.

(d) If the governing body finds that the petition is valid (or fails to act within the time allowed), it shall order that an election be held in the school district on a date not less than 30 or more than 90 days after the last day on which it could have acted to approve or disapprove the petition. A state law requiring local elections to be held on a specified date does not apply to the election unless a specified date falls within the time permitted by this section. At the election, the ballots shall be prepared to permit voting for or against the proposition: "Limiting the ad valorem tax rate in (name of school district) for (the following year)."

(e) If a majority of the qualified voters voting on the question in the election favor the proposition and the number of qualified voters voting on the question in the election exceeds 25 percent of the qualified voters residing in the taxing unit, the governing body may not adopt a tax rate in the following year that exceeds the rate calculated as provided by Section 26.04 of this code for that year by more than five percent, except that in making the calculation under Subsection (d) of Section 26.04 of this code, the assessor shall use the amount of taxes determined as provided by Subsection (c) of Section 26.04 of this code in the year in which the tax increase that initiated the referendum occurred rather than the year in which the calculation occurs.

§ 26.09. Calculation of Tax

(a) On receipt of notice of the tax rate for the current tax year, the assessor for a taxing unit other than a county shall calculate the tax imposed on each property included on the appraisal roll for the unit.

(b) The county assessor-collector shall add the properties and their values certified to him as provided by Chapter 24 of this code to the appraisal roll for state tax purposes as certified to him as provided by Subsection (b) of Section 26.01 of this code and to the appraisal roll for county tax purposes. The county assessor-collector shall use the appraisal roll certified to him as provided by Subsection (b) of Section 26.01 with the added properties and values to calculate state taxes and shall use the appraisal roll for county tax purposes, with the added properties and values, to calculate county taxes.

(c) The tax is calculated by:

(1) subtracting from the appraised value of a property as shown on the appraisal roll for the unit the amount of any partial exemption allowed the property owner that applies to appraised value to determine net appraised value;

(2) multiplying the net appraised value by the assessment ratio to determine assessed value;

(3) subtracting from the assessed value the amount of any partial exemption allowed the property owner to determine taxable value; and

(4) multiplying the taxable value by the tax rate.

(d) If a property is subject to taxation for a prior year in which it escaped taxation, the assessor shall calculate the tax for each year separately. In calculating the tax, he shall use the assessment ratio and tax rate in effect in the unit for the year for which back taxes are being imposed. To the amount of back taxes due, he shall add interest calculated at the rate provided by Subsection (c) of Section 33.01 of this code from the date the tax would have become delinquent had the tax been imposed in the proper tax year.

(e) The assessor shall enter the amount of tax determined as provided by this section in the appraisal roll and submit it to the governing body of the unit for approval. The appraisal roll with amounts of tax entered as approved by the governing body constitutes the unit's tax roll.

§ 26.10. Prorating Taxes—Loss of Exemption

If the appraisal roll shows that a property is eligible for taxation for only part of a year because an exemption applicable on January 1 of that year terminated during the year, the tax due against the property is calculated by multiplying the tax due for the entire year as determined as provided by Section 26.09 of this code by a fraction, the denominator of which is 365 and the numerator of which is the number of days the exemption is not applicable.

§ 26.11. Prorating Taxes—Acquisition by Government

(a) If the federal government, the state, or a political subdivision of the state acquires the right to possession of taxable property under a court order issued in condemnation proceedings or acquires title to taxable property, the amount of the tax due on the property is calculated by multiplying the amount of taxes imposed on the property for the entire year as determined as provided by Section 26.09 of this code by a fraction, the denominator of which is 365 and the numerator of which is the number of days that elapsed prior to the date of the conveyance or the date of the order granting the right of possession.

(b) If the amount of taxes to be imposed on the property for the year of transfer has not been determined at the time of transfer, the assessor for each taxing unit in which the property is taxable may use the taxes imposed on the property for the preceding tax year as the basis for determining the amount of taxes to be imposed for the current tax year.

(c) If the amount of prorated taxes determined to be due as provided by this section is tendered to the collector for the unit, he shall accept the tender. The payment absolves the transferor of liability for taxes by the unit on the property for the year of the transfer.

§ 26.12. Units Created During Tax Year

(a) If a taxing unit is created after January 1, the chief appraiser shall prepare and deliver an appraisal roll for the unit as provided by Section 26.01 of this code as if the unit had existed on January 1.

(b) If the taxing unit created after January 1 imposes taxes for the year, it shall do so as provided by this chapter as if it had existed on January 1.

(c) If a taxing unit is created too late for observance of the deadlines required by this code, the chief appraiser shall submit the appraisal roll as provided by Section 26.01 of this code as soon as practicable.

The assessor for the unit shall submit the appraisal roll to the governing body of the unit within five days after receipt from the appraisal office. The limitations imposed by Section 26.02 of this code do not apply to the unit in the year it is created. The governing body of the unit shall adopt an assessment ratio and a tax rate and notify the assessor as provided by Section 26.05 of this code within 20 days after receipt of the appraisal roll. The assessor shall calculate the taxes and prepare and mail tax bills not later than 60 days after the date the appraisal office submits the unit's appraisal roll.

§ 26.13. Taxing Unit Consolidation During Tax Year

(a) If two or more taxing units consolidate into a single taxing unit after January 1, the governing body of the consolidated unit may elect to impose taxes for the current tax year either as if the unit as consolidated had existed on January 1 or as if the consolidation had not occurred.

(b) The chief appraiser shall prepare and deliver an appraisal roll for the unit or units in accordance with the election made by the governing body.

(c) Whatever the election, the assessor and collector for the unit, as consolidated shall assess and collect taxes on property that is taxable by the unit as consolidated.

§ 26.14. Annexation of Property During Tax Year

(a) Except as provided by Subsection (b) of this section, a taxing unit may not impose a tax on property annexed by the unit after January 1.

(b) If a taxing unit annexes territory during a tax year that was located in another taxing unit of like kind on January 1, each unit shall impose taxes on property located within its boundaries on the date the appraisal review board approves the appraisal roll for the district. The chief appraiser shall prepare and deliver an appraisal roll for each unit in accordance with the requirements of this subsection.

(c) For purposes of this section, "taxing units of like kind" are taxing units that are authorized by the laws by or pursuant to which they are created to perform essentially the same services.

§ 26.15. Correction of Tax Roll

(a) Except as provided by Chapters 41 and 42 of this code and in this section, the tax roll for a taxing unit may not be changed after it is completed.

(b) The assessor for a unit shall enter on the tax roll the changes made in the appraisal roll as provided by Section 25.25 of this code.

(c) At any time, the governing body of a taxing unit, on motion of the assessor for the unit or of a property owner, may direct by written order changes in the tax roll to correct errors in the mathematical computation of a tax. The assessor shall enter the corrections ordered by the governing body.

(d) Except as provided by Subsection (e) of this section, if a correction in the tax roll that changes the tax liability of a property owner is made after the tax bill is mailed, the assessor shall prepare and mail a corrected tax bill in the manner provided by Chapter 31 of this code for tax bills generally. He shall include with the bill a brief explanation of the reason for and effect of the corrected bill.

(e) If a correction that increases the tax liability of a property owner is made after the tax is paid, the assessor shall prepare and mail a supplemental tax bill in the manner provided by Chapter 31 of this code for tax bills generally. He shall include with the supplemental bill a brief explanation of the reason for and effect of the supplemental bill. The additional tax is due on receipt of the supplemental bill and becomes delinquent if not paid before the delinquency date prescribed by Chapter 31 of this code or before the first day of the next month after the date of the mailing that will provide at least 21 days for payment of the tax, whichever is later.

(f) If a correction decreases the tax liability of a property owner after he has paid the tax, the taxing unit shall refund to the property owner the difference between the tax paid and the tax legally due.

(f) The governing body of a taxing unit may provide in the manner required by law for official action by the body that a tax bill not be sent until the total amount of unpaid taxes the unit collects on the property is $5 or more. Penalties and interest do not accrue during a period when a bill is not sent because of the provisions of this section.

(g) Except as provided by Subsection (f) of this section, failure to send or receive the tax bill required by this section does not affect the validity of the tax, penalty, or interest, the due date, the existence of a tax lien, or any procedure instituted to collect a tax.

§ 31.02. Delinquency Date

Except as provided by Sections 31.03 and 31.04 of this code, taxes are due on receipt of the tax bill and are delinquent if not paid before February 1 of the year following the year in which imposed.

§ 31.03. Split Payment of Taxes

(a) If a person pays one-half of state and county taxes before December 1, he may pay the remaining one-half of the taxes without penalty or interest at any time before July 1 of the following year.

(b) The governing body of a taxing unit, other than a county, that collects its own taxes may adopt, in the manner required by law for official action by the body, the split-payment option provided by Subsection (a) of this section. The split-payment option, if adopted, applies to taxes for all units for which the adopting taxing unit collects taxes.

§ 31.04. Postponement of Delinquency Date

(a) If tax bills are mailed after January 10, the delinquency date provided by Section 31.02 of this code is postponed to the first day of the next month that will provide a period of at least 21 days after the date of mailing for payment of taxes before delinquent.

(b) If the delinquency date is postponed as provided by this section, the assessor who mails the bills shall notify the governing body of each taxing unit whose taxes are included in the bills of the postponement. If the due date for state taxes is postponed, the county assessor-collector shall notify the State Property Tax Board of the postponement.

(c) A payment option provided by Section 31.03 of this code or a discount provided by Section 31.05 of this code does not apply to taxes that are calculated too late for it to be available.

§ 31.05. Discounts

(a) A person is entitled to a discount from the amount of state tax due if he pays the tax before January. The amount of discount is:

(1) three percent if the tax is paid in October;

(2) two percent if the tax is paid in November; and

(3) one percent if the tax is paid in December.

(b) The governing body of a taxing unit that collects its own taxes may adopt the discounts provided by Subsection (a) of this section in the manner required by law for official action by the body. The discounts, if adopted, apply to taxes for all units for which the adopting taxing unit collects taxes.

§ 31.06. Medium of Payment

(a) Taxes are payable only in currency of the United States. However, a collector may accept a check or money order in payment of taxes.

(b) Acceptance by a collector of a check or money order constitutes payment of a tax as of the date of acceptance if the check or money order is duly paid or honored. If the check or money order is not duly paid or honored, the collector shall deliver written notice of nonpayment to the person who attempted payment by check or money order. Until payment is made in full by cash or by a check or money order that is duly paid or honored, the lien securing payment of the tax remains in effect, whether or not the person receives notice of nonpayment.

§ 31.07. Certain Payments Accepted

(a) A person may pay the tax imposed on any one property without simultaneously paying taxes imposed on other property he owns.

(b) A person may not pay the tax imposed on a property by the state or a taxing unit separate from taxes imposed on that property by the state or other taxing units using the same collector unless the tax is included in a separate bill.

§ 31.08. Tax Certificate

(a) At the request of any person, a collector for a taxing unit shall issue a certificate showing the amount of delinquent taxes, penalties, and interest due the unit on a property according to the unit's current tax records. The collector shall charge a fee of $2 for each certificate issued. The collector shall pay all fees collected under this section into the treasury of the taxing unit that employs him.

(b) Except as provided by Subsection (c) of this section, if a person transfers property accompanied by a tax certificate erroneously showing that no delinquent taxes, penalties, or interest are due a taxing unit on the property, the unit's tax lien on the property is extinguished and the purchaser of the property is absolved of liability to the unit for delinquent taxes, penalties, or interest on the property. The person who was liable for the tax for the year it was imposed remains personally liable for the delinquent tax, penalties, and interest.

(c) A tax certificate issued through fraud or collusion is void.

§ 31.09. Reports and Remittances of State Taxes

(a) The State Property Tax Board shall adopt rules prescribing methods of accounting for and remitting state property taxes and shall prescribe and furnish forms for periodic reports.

(b) A county assessor-collector shall file with the State Property Tax Board at the times and in the manner required by the rules sworn reports accounting for all state property taxes, collected or delinquent, on the tax roll for state taxes.

(c) A county assessor-collector shall remit the state property taxes he collects at the times and in the manner required by the rules.

(d) The State Property Tax Board shall periodically examine the records of each county assessor-collector's office to verify the accuracy of reports accounting for state property taxes.

§ 31.10. Reports and Remittances of Other Taxes

(a) Each month the collector of taxes for a taxing unit shall prepare and submit to the governing body of the unit a written report made under oath accounting for all taxes collected for the unit during the preceding month. Reports of collections made in the months of October through January are due on the 25th day of the month following the month that is the subject of the report. Reports of collections made in all other months are due on the 15th day of the month following the month that is the subject of the report. A collector for more than one taxing unit may prepare one report accounting for taxes collected for all units, and he may submit a certified copy of the report as his monthly report to the governing body of each unit.

(b) The collector for a taxing unit shall prepare and submit to the governing body of the unit an annual report made under oath accounting for all taxes of the unit collected or delinquent on property taxed by the unit during the preceding 12-month period. Annual reports are due August 1.

(c) At least monthly the collector for a taxing unit shall deposit in the unit's depository all taxes collected for the unit. The governing body of a unit may require deposits to be made more frequently.

CHAPTER 32. TAX LIENS AND PERSONAL LIABILITY

Section

32.01. Tax Lien.
32.02. Restrictions on a Mineral Interest Tax Lien.
32.03. Restrictions on Personal Property Tax Lien.
32.04. Priorities Among Tax Liens.
32.05. Priority of Tax Liens Over Other Property Interests.
32.06. Transfer of Tax Lien.
32.07. Personal Liability for Tax.

§ 32.01. Tax Lien

On January 1 of each year, a tax lien attaches to property to secure the payment of all taxes, penalties, and interest ultimately imposed for the year on that property, whether or not the taxes are imposed in the year the lien attaches. The lien exists in favor of the state and each taxing unit having power to tax the property.

§ 32.02. Restrictions on a Mineral Interest Tax Lien

(a) If a mineral estate is severed from a surface estate and if different persons own the mineral estate and surface estate, the lien resulting from taxes imposed against each interest in the mineral estate exists only for the duration of the interest it encumbers. After an interest in the mineral estate terminates, the lien encumbering it expires and is not enforceable:

(1) against any part of the surface estate not owned by the owner of the interest encumbered by the lien;

(2) against any part of the mineral estate not owned by the owner of the interest encumbered by the lien; or

(3) against the owner of the surface estate as a personal obligation, unless he also owns the interest encumbered by the lien.

(b) Taxes imposed on a severed interest in a mineral estate that has terminated remain the personal liability of the person who owned the interest on January 1 of the year for which the tax was imposed.

§ 32.03. Restrictions on Personal Property Tax Lien

A tax lien may not be enforced against personal property transferred to a bona fide purchaser for value who does not have actual notice of the existence of the lien.

§ 32.04. Priorities Among Tax Liens

(a) Whether or not a tax lien provided by this chapter takes priority over a tax lien of the United States is determined by federal law. In the absence of federal law, a tax lien provided by this chapter takes priority over a tax lien of the United States.

(b) Tax liens provided by this chapter have equal priority.

§ 32.05. Priority of Tax Liens Over Other Property Interests

(a) A tax lien on real property takes priority over a homestead interest in the property.

(b) Except as provided by Subsection (c) of this section, a tax lien provided by this chapter takes priority over the claim of any creditor of a person whose property is encumbered by the lien and over the claim of any holder of a lien on property encumbered by the tax lien, whether or not the debt or lien existed before attachment of the tax lien.

(c) A tax lien provided by this chapter is inferior to claims for any survivor's allowance, funeral expenses, or expenses of the last illness of a decedent made against the estate of a decedent as provided by law.

§ 32.06. Transfer of Tax Lien

(a) A person may authorize another person to pay the taxes imposed by a taxing unit on his real property by filing with the collector for the unit a sworn document stating the authorization, naming the person authorized to pay the taxes, and describing the property.

(b) If a person authorized to pay another's taxes pursuant to Subsection (a) of this section pays the taxes and any penalties and interest imposed, the collector shall issue a tax receipt to the person paying the taxes. In addition, the collector shall certify on the sworn document that payment of the taxes and any penalties and interest on the described property has been made by a person other than the person liable for the taxes when imposed and that the taxing unit's tax lien is transferred to the person paying the taxes. The collector shall attach to the document his seal of office and deliver the document to the person paying the taxes. The collector shall keep a record of all tax liens transferred as provided by this section.

(c) Except as otherwise provided by this section, the transferee of a tax lien and any successor in interest is entitled to foreclose the lien in the manner provided by law for foreclosure of tax liens.

(d) To be enforceable, a tax lien transferred as provided by this section must be recorded in the deed records of each county in which the property encumbered by the lien is located.

(e) A person holding a tax lien transferred as provided by this section may not charge a greater rate of interest than 10 percent a year on the taxes, penalties, interest, and recording expenses paid to acquire and record the lien.

(f) The holder of a preexisting lien on property encumbered by a tax lien transferred as provided by this section is entitled, within six months after the date on which the tax lien is recorded in all counties in which the property is located, to pay the holder of the tax lien the amount paid for the lien, plus interest accrued and recording expenses, and becomes subrogated to all rights in the lien.

(g) A suit to foreclose a tax lien transferred as provided by this section may not be instituted within one year from the date on which the lien is recorded in all counties in which the property is located.

(h) After one year from the date on which a tax lien transferred as provided by this section is recorded in all counties in which the property is located, the holder of the lien may file suit to foreclose the lien unless a contract between the holder of the lien and the owner of the property encumbered by the lien provides otherwise. If the suit results in foreclosure of the lien, the person filing suit is entitled to recover attorney's fees in an amount not to exceed 10 percent of the judgment. The proceeds of a sale following foreclosure as provided by this subsection shall be applied first to the payment of court costs, then to payment of the judgment, including accrued interest, and then to the payment of any attorney's fees fixed in the judgment. Any remaining proceeds shall be paid to other holders of liens on the property in the order of their priority and then to the person whose property was sold at the tax sale.

(i) The person whose property is sold as provided by this section or any person holding a first lien against the property is entitled, within one year after the date the property is sold, to redeem the property from the purchaser at the tax sale by paying him the tax sale purchase price, plus costs and interest accrued on the judgment to the date of redemption or 110 percent of the amount of the judgment, whichever is less. If a person redeems the property as provided by this subsection, the purchaser at the tax sale shall deliver a deed to the property to the person redeeming the property. If the person who owned the property at the time of foreclosure redeems the property, all liens existing on the property at the time of the tax sale remain in effect to the extent not paid from the sale proceeds.

(j) This section does not abridge the right of an owner of real property to enter into a contract for the payment of taxes with the holder of a lien on the property or affect a contract between the owner and holder of a lien for the payment of taxes on the property.

§ 32.07. Personal Liability for Tax

(a) Except as provided by Subsection (b) of this section, property taxes are the personal obligation of the person who owns or acquires the property on January 1 of the year for which the tax is imposed. A person is not relieved of the obligation because he no longer owns the property.

(b) The person in whose name a property is required to be listed by Section 25.13 or 25.15 of this code is personally liable for the taxes imposed on the property.

However, a tax delinquent on July 1 incurs a total penalty of eight percent of the amount of the delinquent tax without regard to the number of months the tax has been delinquent.

(b) If a person who exercises the split-payment option provided by Section 31.03 of this code fails to make the second payment before July 1, the second payment is delinquent and incurs a penalty of eight percent of the amount of unpaid tax.

(c) A delinquent tax accrues interest at a rate of three-fourths of one percent for each month or portion of a month the tax remains unpaid.

§ 33.02. Installment Payment of Delinquent Taxes

(b) Interest accrues as provided by Subsection (c) of Section 33.01 of this code on the unpaid balance during the period of the agreement.

(c) A property owner's execution of an installment agreement under this section is an irrevocable admission of liability for all taxes, penalties, and interest that are subject to the agreement.

(d) Property may not be seized and sold and a suit may not be filed to collect a delinquent tax subject to an installment agreement unless the property owner:

(1) fails to make a payment as required by the agreement;

(2) fails to pay other property taxes collected by the unit when due as required by the collector; or

(3) breaches any other condition of the agreement.

(e) Execution of an installment agreement tolls the limitation periods provided by Section 33.05 of this code for the period during which enforced collection is barred by Subsection (d) of this section.

§ 33.03. Delinquent Tax Roll

Each year the collector for each taxing unit shall prepare a current and a cumulative delinquent tax roll for the unit.

§ 33.04. Notice of Delinquency

(a) At least once each year the collector for a taxing unit shall deliver a notice of delinquency to each person whose name appears on the current delinquent tax roll. However, the notice need not be delivered if a bill for the tax was not mailed pursuant to the authorization provided by Subsection (f) of Section 31.01 of this code.

(b) In addition to the notice required by Subsection (a) of this section, the tax collector for each taxing unit in each year divisible by five shall deliver a written notice of delinquency to each person who owes a tax that has been delinquent more than one year. He shall state in the notice the amount of the delinquent tax, penalties, and interest due, the description of the property on which the tax was imposed, and the year for which the tax is delinquent. If the person owes delinquent taxes for more than one year or on more than one property, the collector may include all the delinquent taxes the person owes in a single notice.

(c) The collector shall deliver the notice required by Subsection (b) of this section by certified mail, return receipt requested, if the collector knows or by exercising reasonable diligence can determine the delinquent taxpayer's name and mailing address. However, if the collector cannot determine the delinquent taxpayer's name or mailing address by exercising reasonable diligence, he may deliver the notice by publishing it in a newspaper.

(d) Penalties and interest on a tax delinquent more than five years or a multiple of five years are cancelled and may not be collected if the collector has not delivered the notice required by Subsection (b) of this section in each year that is divisible by five following the date on which the tax first became delinquent for one year.

§ 33.05. Limitation on Collection of Taxes

(a) Personal property may not be seized and a suit may not be filed:

(1) to collect a tax on personal property that has been delinquent more than four years; or

(2) to collect a tax on real property that has been delinquent more than 20 years.

(b) A tax delinquent for more than the limitation period prescribed by this section and any penalty and interest on the tax is presumed paid unless a suit to collect the tax is pending.

§ 33.06. Deferred Collection of Certain Taxes

(a) An individual is entitled to defer or abate a suit to collect a delinquent tax if he is 65 or older and he owns and occupies as a residence homestead the property on which the tax subject to the suit is delinquent.

(b) To obtain a deferral, an individual must file with the chief appraiser for the appraisal district in which the property is located an affidavit stating the facts required to be established by Subsection (a) of this section. The chief appraiser shall notify the county and each taxing unit participating in the district of the filing. After an affidavit is filed under this subsection, a taxing unit may not file suit to collect delinquent taxes on the property until the individual no longer owns and occupies the property as a residence homestead.

(c) To obtain an abatement, the individual must file in the court in which suit is pending an affidavit stating the facts required to be established by Subsection (a) of this section. If no controverting affidavit is filed by the taxing unit filing suit or if, after a hearing, the court finds the individual is entitled to the deferral, the court shall abate the suit until the individual no longer owns and occupies the property as a residence homestead.

(d) A tax lien remains on the property and penalties and interest continue to accrue during the period collection of taxes is deferred as provided by this section. A plea of limitation, laches, or want of prosecution does not apply against the taxing unit because of deferral of collection as provided by this section.

(e) Each year the chief appraiser for each appraisal district and each county assessor-collector shall publicize in a manner reasonably designed to notify all residents of the district or county the provisions of this section and, specifically, the method by which eligible persons may obtain a deferral.

(b) A person's personal property is subject to seizure for the payment of a tax imposed by the state or a taxing unit on his property before the tax becomes delinquent if:

(1) the collector discovers that property on which the tax has been or will be imposed is about to be removed from the county; and

(2) the collector knows of no other personal property in the county from which the tax may be satisfied.

(c) Current wages in the possession of an employer are not subject to seizure.

§ 33.22. Institution of Seizure

(b) A collector may apply at any time for a tax warrant authorizing seizure of property as provided by Subsection (b) of Section 33.21 of this code.

(2) the applicant has reason to believe the property owner is about to remove from the county personal property on which a tax has been or will be imposed, the applicant knows of no other personal property the person owns in the county from which the tax may be satisfied, and taxes in a stated amount have been imposed on the property or taxes in an estimated amount will be imposed on the property.

§ 33.23. Tax Warrant

(a) A tax warrant shall direct a peace officer in the county and the collector to seize as much of the person's personal property as may be reasonably necessary for the payment of all taxes, penalties, and interest included in the application and all costs of seizure and sale. The warrant shall direct the person whose property is seized to disclose to the officer executing the warrant the name and the address if known of any other person having an interest in the property.

(b) A bond may not be required of the state or a taxing unit for issuance or delivery of a tax warrant, and a fee or court cost may not be charged for issuance or delivery of a warrant.

(c) After a tax warrant is issued, the collector shall take possession of the property pending its sale. The person against whom a tax warrant is issued or another person having possession of property of the person against whom a tax warrant is issued shall surrender the property on demand.

§ 33.24. Bond for Payment of Taxes

A person may prevent seizure of property or sale of property seized by delivering to the collector a cash or surety bond conditioned on payment of the tax before delinquency. The bond must be approved by the collector in an amount determined by him, but he may not require an amount greater than the amount of tax if imposed or the collector's reasonable estimate of the amount of tax if not yet imposed.

§ 33.25. Notice of Tax Sale

(a) After a seizure of personal property, the collector shall make a reasonable inquiry to determine the identity and address of any person having an interest in the property other than the person against whom the tax warrant is issued. He shall deliver as soon as possible a written notice stating the time and place of the sale and briefly describing the property seized to the person against whom the warrant is issued and to any other person he discovers has an interest in the property whose address he ascertains.

(b) Failure to send or receive the notice provided by this section does not affect the validity of the sale or title to the seized property.

[Sections 33.26 to 33.40 reserved for expansion]

SUBCHAPTER C. DELINQUENT TAX SUITS

§ 33.41. Suit to Collect Delinquent Tax

(a) At any time after its tax on property becomes delinquent, a taxing unit may file suit to foreclose the lien securing payment of the tax, to enforce personal liability for the tax, or both. The suit must be in a court of competent jurisdiction for the county in which the tax was imposed.

(b) A suit to collect a delinquent tax takes precedence over all other suits pending in trial and appellate courts.

§ 33.42. Taxes Included in Foreclosure Suit

(a) In a suit to foreclose a lien securing payment of its tax on real property, a taxing unit shall include all delinquent taxes due the unit on the property.

(b) If a taxing unit's tax on real property becomes delinquent after the unit files suit to foreclose a tax lien on the property but before entry of judgment, the court shall include the amount of the tax and any penalty and interest in its judgment.

(c) If a tax required by this section to be included in a suit is omitted from the judgment in the suit, the taxing unit may not enforce collection of the tax at a later time.

§ 33.43. Petition

(a) A petition initiating a suit to collect a delinquent property tax is sufficient if it alleges that:

(1) the taxing unit is legally constituted and authorized to impose and collect ad valorem taxes on property;

(2) tax in a stated amount was legally imposed on each separately described property for each year specified and on each person named if known who owned the property on January 1 of the year for which the tax was imposed;

(3) the tax was imposed in the county in which the suit is filed;

(4) the tax is delinquent;

(5) penalties, interest, and costs authorized by law in a stated amount for each separately assessed property are due;

(6) the person sued owned the property on January 1 of the year for which the tax was imposed if the suit seeks to enforce personal liability;

(7) the person sued owns the property when the suit is filed if the suit seeks to foreclose a tax lien;

(8) the taxing unit asserts a lien on each separately described property to secure the payment of all taxes, penalties, interest, and costs due if the suit seeks to foreclose a tax lien;

(9) all things required by law to be done have been done properly by the appropriate officials; and

(10) the attorney signing the petition is legally authorized to prosecute the suit on behalf of the taxing unit.

(b) If the petition alleges that the person sued owns the property on which the taxing unit asserts a lien, the prayer in the petition shall be for foreclosure of the lien and payment of all taxes, penalties, interest, and costs that are due or will become due and that are secured by the lien. If the petition alleges that the person sued owned the property on January 1 of the year for which the taxes were imposed, the prayer shall be for personal judgment for all taxes, penalties, interest, and costs that are due or will become due on the property. If the petition contains the appropriate allegations, the prayer may be for both foreclosure of a lien on the property and personal judgment.

(c) If the suit is for personal judgment against the person who owned personal property on January 1 of the year for which the tax was imposed on the property, the personal property may be described generally.

(d) The petition need not be verified.

(e) The State Property Tax Board shall prepare forms for petitions initiating suits to collect delinquent taxes. An attorney representing a taxing unit may use the forms or develop his own form.

§ 33.44. Joinder of Other Taxing Units

(a) A taxing unit filing suit to foreclose a tax lien on real property shall join other taxing units that have claims for delinquent taxes against all or part of the same property.

(b) For purposes of joining the state and a county, citation may be served on the county tax assessor-collector. For purposes of joining any other taxing unit, citation may be served on the officer charged with collecting taxes for the unit or on the presiding officer or secretary of the governing body of the unit. Citation may be served by certified mail, return receipt requested. A person on whom service is authorized by this subsection may waive the issuance and service of citation in behalf of his taxing unit.

(c) A taxing unit joined in a suit as provided by this section must file its claim for delinquent taxes against the property or its lien on the property is extinguished. The court's judgment in the suit shall reflect the extinguishment of a lien under this subsection.

§ 33.45. Pleading and Answering to Claims Filed

A party to the suit must take notice of and plead and answer to all claims and pleadings filed by other parties that have been joined or have intervened, and each citation must so state.

§ 33.46. Partition of Real Property

(a) If suit is filed to foreclose a tax lien on real property owned in undivided interests by two or more persons, one or more of the owners may have the property partitioned in the manner prescribed by law for the partition of real property in district court.

(b) The court shall apportion the taxes, penalties, interest, and costs sued for to the owners of the property in proportion to the interest of each. If an owner pays the taxes, penalties, interest, and costs apportioned to him, the property partitioned to him is free from further claim or lien for the taxes involved in the suit. If an owner refuses to pay the amount apportioned to him, the suit shall proceed against him for that amount.

(c) The court shall allow reasonable attorney's fees and costs of partitioning for each property partitioned. The fee shall be taxed as costs against each owner in proportion to his interest and constitutes a lien against the property until paid.

§ 33.47. Tax Records as Evidence

(a) In a suit to collect a delinquent tax, the taxing unit's current tax roll and delinquent tax roll or certified copies of the entries showing the property and the amount of the tax imposed constitute prima facie evidence that each person charged with a duty relating to the imposition of the tax has complied with all requirements of law and that the amount of tax alleged to be delinquent against the property listed is the correct amount.

(b) If the description of a property in the tax roll or delinquent tax roll is insufficient to identify the property, the records of the appraisal office are admissible to identify the property.

§ 33.48. Recovery of Costs and Expenses

(a) In addition to other costs authorized by law, a taxing unit is entitled to recover the following costs and expenses in a suit to collect a delinquent tax:

(1) all usual court costs, including the cost of serving process;

(2) expenses of foreclosure sale;

(3) reasonable expenses approved by the court that are incurred by the taxing unit in determining the name, identity, and location of necessary parties and in procuring necessary legal descriptions of the property on which a delinquent tax is due; and

(4) reasonable attorney's fees approved by the court and not exceeding 15 percent of the total amount of taxes, penalties, and interest adjudged due the unit.

(b) Each item specified by Subsection (a) of this section is a charge against the property subject to foreclosure in the suit and shall be collected out of the proceeds of the sale of the property or, if the suit is for personal judgment, charged against the defendant.

(c) Fees collected for attorneys and other officials are fees of office, except that fees for contract attorneys representing a taxing unit that is joined or intervenes shall be applied toward the compensation due the attorney under the contract.

§ 33.49. Liability of Taxing Unit for Costs

(a) Except as provided by Subsection (b) of this section, a taxing unit is not liable in a suit to collect taxes for court costs, including any fees for service of process, and may not be required to post security for the costs.

(b) A taxing unit shall pay the cost of publishing citations, notices of sale, or other notices from the unit's general fund as soon as practicable after receipt of the publisher's claim for payment. The taxing unit is entitled to reimbursement from other taxing units that are parties to the suit for their proportionate share of the publication costs on satisfaction of any portion of the tax indebtedness before further distribution of the proceeds. A taxing unit may not pay a word or line rate for publication of citation or other required notice that exceeds the rate the newspaper publishing the notice charges private entities for similar classes of advertising.

§ 33.50. Adjudged Value

(a) In a suit for foreclosure of a tax lien on property, the court shall determine the market value of the property on the date of trial. The appraised value of the property according to the most recent appraisal roll approved by the appraisal review board is presumed to be its market value on the date of trial, and the person being sued has the burden of establishing that the market value of the property differs from that appraised value. The court shall incorporate a finding of the market value of the property on the date of trial in the judgment.

(b) If the judgment in a suit to collect a delinquent tax is for the foreclosure of a tax lien on property, the order of sale shall specify that the property may not be sold to a person owning an interest in the property or to any party to the suit, other than a taxing unit, for less than the market value of the property stated in the judgment or the aggregate amount of the judgments against the property, whichever is less.

§ 33.51. Writ of Possession

If the court orders the foreclosure of a tax lien and the sale of real property, the judgment shall provide for the issuance of a writ of possession to the purchaser at the sale or his assigns within 20 days after the period of redemption expires.

§ 33.52. Judgment for Current Taxes

(a) If the court orders the foreclosure of a tax lien and the sale of real property, the judgment shall order that the taxing unit recover from the proceeds of the sale the amount of tax on the property for the current tax year prorated to the day of judgment.

(b) If the amount of tax for the current tax year has not been determined on the date of judgment, the court shall order recovery of the amount of tax imposed on the property for the preceding tax year, prorated to the date of judgment.

§ 33.53. Order of Sale

If judgment in a suit to collect a delinquent tax is for foreclosure of a tax lien, the court shall order the property sold in satisfaction of the amount of the judgment.

§ 33.54. Limitation on Actions Relating to Property Sold for Taxes

(a) Except as provided by Subsection (b) of this section, a cause of action relating to the title to property may not be maintained against the purchaser of the property at a tax sale unless the action commences within three years after the deed executed to the purchaser at the tax sale is filed of record.

(b) If a person other than the purchaser at the tax sale or his successor in interest pays taxes on the property during the three years following the date the deed is filed and that person was not served citation in the suit to foreclose the tax lien, the three-year limitations period does not apply to that person.

(c) When actions are barred by this section, the purchaser at the tax sale or his successor in interest shall be held to have full title to the property, precluding all other claims.

SUBCHAPTER A. TAX SALES

§ 34.01. Sale of Property

(a) Property seized or ordered sold pursuant to foreclosure of a tax lien shall be sold in the manner similar property is sold under execution except as otherwise provided by this subchapter.

(b) The owner of real property subject to sale may file with the officer charged with the sale a written request that the property be divided and that only as many portions be sold as is necessary to pay the tax, penalties, interest, and costs adjudged due against the property. In the request the owner shall describe the desired portions and shall specify the order in which the portions should be sold.

(c) If a sufficient bid is not received, the officer making the sale shall bid the property off to a taxing unit that is a party to the judgment for the aggregate amount of the judgment against the property or for the market value of the property as specified in the judgment, whichever is less. The taxing unit takes title to the property for the use and benefit of itself and all other taxing units that established tax liens in the suit. Payments in satisfaction of the judgment and any costs or expenses may not be required until the property is redeemed or resold by the purchasing taxing unit.

(d) The officer making the sale shall prepare a deed to the purchaser of real property at the sale or to any other person whom the purchaser may specify. The deed vests good and perfect title in the purchaser or his assigns to the interest owned by the defendant in the property subject to the foreclosure, subject to the defendant's right of redemption. The deed may be impeached only for fraud.

§ 34.02. Distribution of Proceeds

(a) The proceeds of a tax sale shall be applied first to the payment of costs. The remainder shall be distributed to all taxing units participating in the sale in satisfaction of the taxes, penalties, and interest due each.

(b) If the proceeds are not sufficient to pay the costs and taxes, penalties, and interest due all participants in the sale, each participant is entitled to a share of the proceeds after payment of costs in an amount equal to the proportion its taxes, penalties, and interest bear to the total amount of taxes, penalties, and interest due all participants in the sale.

(c) If the sale is pursuant to foreclosure of a tax lien, the officer conducting the sale shall pay any excess proceeds after payment of all costs and of all taxes, penalties, and interest due all participants in the sale to the clerk of the court issuing the order of sale.

(d) If the sale is pursuant to seizure of personal property, the officer conducting the sale shall distribute any excess of proceeds as provided by law for excess proceeds in the case of execution.

§ 34.03. Disposition of Excess Proceeds

(a) The clerk of the court shall keep the excess proceeds paid into court as provided by Subsection (c) of Section 34.02 of this code for a period of seven years after the date of the sale unless otherwise ordered by the court.

(b) If no claimant establishes entitlement to the proceeds within seven years, the clerk shall transmit the proceeds to the State Treasurer along with a statement on a form prescribed by the comptroller showing the style and number of the case and the court from which execution issued. The treasurer shall pay the proceeds into the General Revenue Fund. A copy of each statement shall be sent to the comptroller, who shall keep an account of the excess proceeds transmitted to the treasurer.

(c) The clerk shall note on the execution docket in each case the amount of the excess proceeds, the date they were received, and the date they were transmitted to the State Treasurer.

§ 34.04. Claims for Excess Proceeds

(a) A person may file a petition in the court that ordered the sale setting forth a claim to the excess proceeds within seven years from the date of the sale of the property.

(b) A copy of the petition shall be served on the county attorney or, if there is no county attorney, the district attorney and on all parties to the suit that ordered the sale, if any, not later than the 20th day before the date set for a hearing on the petition. The county attorney or district attorney shall represent the state at the hearing.

(c) At the hearing if the court finds that the claimant is entitled to recover the excess proceeds, it shall order that the proceeds be paid to him. Interest or costs may not be allowed.

(d) A claim for the excess proceeds may not be filed after the expiration of seven years from the date the property is sold.

§ 34.05. Resale by Taxing Unit

(a) If property is sold to a taxing unit that is a party to the judgment, the taxing unit may sell the property at any time, subject to any right of redemption existing at the time of the sale. If property is sold to the state, the commissioners court of the county in which the property is located may act for the state.

(b) Unless the property is sold pursuant to Subsections (c) and (d) of this section, it may not be sold for less than the market value specified in the judgment of foreclosure or the total amount of the judgments against the property, whichever is less, without the consent of each taxing unit entitled to receive proceeds of the sale under the judgment. Joinder of the taxing units in the conveyance of the property constitutes consent. The collector for the county in which the property is located may consent in behalf of the state. The presiding officer of the governing body of a taxing unit may consent in behalf of the taxing unit.

(c) The taxing unit purchasing the property by resolution of its governing body may request the sheriff to sell the property at a public sale. If the purchasing taxing unit has not sold the property within six months after the date on which the owner's right of redemption terminates, any taxing unit that is entitled to receive proceeds of the sale by resolution of its governing body may request the sheriff in writing to sell the property at a public sale. On receipt of a request made under this subsection, the sheriff shall sell the property as provided by Subsection (d) of this section.

(d) Except as provided by this subsection, all public sales requested as provided by Subsection (c) of this section shall be conducted in the manner prescribed by the Rules of Civil Procedure for the sale of property under execution. The notice of the sale must contain a description of the property to be sold, which must be a legal description in the case of real property, the number and style of the suit under which the property was sold at the tax foreclosure sale, and the date of the tax foreclosure sale. The officer conducting the sale shall reject any bid for the property if it is his judgment that the amount bid is insufficient. If all bids are insufficient, the property shall be readvertised and offered for sale again. The acceptance of a bid by the officer conducting the sale is conclusive and binding on the question of its sufficiency. An action to set aside the sale on the grounds that the bid is insufficient may not be sustained in court, except that a taxing unit that participates in distribution of proceeds of the sale may file an action within one year after the date of the sale to set aside the sale on the grounds of fraud or collusion between the officer making the sale and the purchaser.

(e) The presiding officer of a taxing unit or the sheriff selling real property pursuant to this section shall execute a deed to the property conveying to the purchaser the right, title, and interest acquired or held by each taxing unit that was a party to the judgment foreclosing tax liens on the property. The conveyance shall be made subject to any remaining right of redemption at the time of the sale.

(f) An action attacking the validity of a resale of property pursuant to this section may not be instituted after the expiration of one year after the date of the resale.

§ 34.06. Distribution of Proceeds of Resale

(a) The proceeds of a resale of property purchased by a taxing unit at a tax foreclosure sale shall be paid to the purchasing taxing unit.

(b) The purchasing taxing unit shall pay all costs and expenses of court and sale and shall distribute the remainder of the proceeds as provided by Section 34.02 of this code for distribution of proceeds after payment of costs.

§ 34.07. Subrogation of Purchaser at Void Sale

(a) The purchaser at a void or defective tax sale is subrogated to the rights of the taxing unit in whose behalf the property was sold to the same extent a purchaser at a void or defective sale conducted in behalf of a judgment creditor is subrogated to the rights of the judgment creditor.

(b) Except as provided by Subsection (c) of this section, the purchaser at a void or defective tax sale is subrogated to the tax lien of the taxing unit in whose behalf the property was sold to the same extent a purchaser at a void or defective mortgage or other lien foreclosure sale is subrogated to the lien of the lienholder, and the purchaser is entitled to a reforeclosure of the lien to which he is subrogated.

(c) If the purchaser at a void or defective tax sale paid less than the total amount of the judgment against the property, he is subrogated to the tax lien only in the amount he paid at the sale.

(d) In lieu of pursuing the rights to which he is subrogated, a purchaser at a void tax sale may elect to file an action against the taxing units to which the proceeds of the sale were distributed to recover the amount paid at the sale. A purchaser who files a suit authorized by this subsection waives all rights to which he would otherwise be subrogated.

§ 34.08. State a Taxing Unit

For the purposes of this chapter, the state is a taxing unit.

SUBCHAPTER B. REDEMPTION

§ 34.21. Right of Redemption

(a) The owner of real property sold at a tax sale may redeem the property within two years after the date on which the purchaser's deed is filed for record by paying the purchaser the amount he bid for the property, the amount of the deed recording fee, and the amount paid by the purchaser as taxes, penalties, interest, and costs on the property, plus 25 percent of the aggregate total if the property is redeemed during the first year of the redemption period or 50 percent of the aggregate total if the property is redeemed during the second year of the redemption period.

(b) If the owner of the property makes an affidavit that he has made diligent search in the county in which the property is located for the purchaser at the tax sale and has failed to find him, that the purchaser at the sale is not a resident of the county in which the property is located, that he and the purchaser cannot agree on the amount of redemption money due, or that the purchaser refuses to give him a quitclaim deed to the property, the owner may redeem the land by paying the required amount to the assessor-collector for the county in which the property is located. The assessor-collector receiving the payment shall give the owner a signed receipt witnessed by two persons. The receipt, when recorded, is notice to all persons that the property described has been redeemed. The assessor-collector shall on demand pay the money received by him to the purchaser at the tax sale.

§ 34.22. Evidence of Title to Redeem Real Property

(a) A person asserting ownership of real property sold for taxes is entitled to redeem the property if he had title to the property or he was in possession of the property in person or by tenant either at the time suit to foreclose the tax lien on the property was instituted or at the time the property was sold. A defect in the chain of title to the property does not defeat an offer to redeem.

(b) A person who establishes title to real property that is superior to the title of one who has previously redeemed the property is entitled to redeem the property during the redemption period by paying the amounts provided by law to the person who previously redeemed the property.

§ 34.23. Distribution of Redemption Proceeds

(a) If the owner of property sold for taxes to a taxing unit redeems the property before the property is resold, the taxing unit shall distribute the redemption proceeds in the manner that proceeds of the resale of property are distributed.

(b) If the owner of property sold for taxes redeems the property from the taxing unit after the property has been resold, the taxing unit shall pay the purchaser at the resale the amount he paid for the property, plus 25 percent of that amount if the redemption occurs within one year after the date the property is resold or 50 percent of that amount if the redemption occurs more than one year after the date the property is resold. The taxing unit shall distribute the redemption proceeds remaining after payment of the amount due the purchaser at resale to the taxing units adjudged to have tax liens against the property in the proportion the amount of each unit's lien bears to the total amount of all liens established in the foreclosure suit.

SUBCHAPTER A. REVIEW OF APPRAISAL RECORDS BY APPRAISAL REVIEW BOARD

§ 41.01. Scope of Review

The appraisal review board may examine the appraisal records for the appraisal district to determine whether:

(1) appraisals are substantially uniform in terms of their relationship to the appraised value required by law;

(2) an exemption or a partial exemption is improperly granted;

(3) land is improperly granted appraisal as provided by Subchapter C, D, or E, Chapter 23 of this code; [1] or

(4) the records do not conform to the requirements of law in any other respect.

[1] Sections 23.41 et seq., 23.51 et seq., and 23.71 et seq.

§ 41.02. Action by Board

If after reviewing the appraisal records the appraisal review board finds that appraisals are not substantially uniform or that the records do not conform to the requirements of law in some other respect, the board shall refer the matter to the appraisal office and by written order shall direct the chief appraiser to make the reappraisals or corrections in the records that are necessary to conform the records to the requirements of law.

§ 41.03. Challenge by Taxing Unit

A taxing unit is entitled to challenge before the appraisal review board:

(1) a determination of the appraised value of property or, in the case of land appraised as provided by Subchapter C, D, or E, Chapter 23 of this code,[1] a determination of its appraised value or market value;

(2) an exclusion of property from the appraisal records;

(3) a grant in whole or in part of a partial exemption;

(4) a determination that land qualifies for appraisal as provided by Subchapter C, D, or E, Chapter 23 of this code; or

(5) failure to identify the taxing unit as one in which a particular property is taxable.

[1] Sections 23.41 et seq., 23.51 et seq., and 23.71 et seq.

§ 41.04. Challenge Petition

The appraisal review board is not required to hear or determine a challenge unless the taxing unit initiating the challenge files a petition with the board before May 1 or within 10 days after the date that the appraisal records are submitted to the appraisal review board, whichever is later. The petition must include an explanation of the grounds for the challenge.

§ 41.05. Hearing on Challenge

(a) On the filing of a challenge petition, the appraisal review board shall schedule a hearing on the challenge.

(b) The taxing unit initiating the challenge and each taxing unit in which property involved in the challenge is or may be taxable are entitled to an opportunity to appear to offer evidence or argument.

(c) The chief appraiser shall appear at each hearing to represent the appraisal office.

§ 41.06. Notice of Challenge Hearing

(a) The secretary of the appraisal review board shall deliver to the presiding officer of the governing body of each taxing unit entitled to appear at a challenge hearing written notice of the date, time, and place fixed for the hearing. § 42.26. Remedy for Unequal Appraisal

The district court may not grant relief on the ground that a property is appraised unequally in comparison to the level of appraisals of other property in the county or in the appraisal district unless the appraised value of the property varies at least 10 percent from its value calculated on the basis of the aggregate mean level of appraisals in the county or district, as applicable. In that event, the court shall order the appraised value changed to the value as calculated on the basis of the aggregate mean level of appraisals in the county or district, as applicable.

§ 42.27. Additional Remedy for Erroneous Value

(a) The issue to be determined by the district court in an appeal under this section is whether or not the market value of the property in question according to the appraisal roll is in error.

(b) If the trier of fact finds that the market value is in error, meaning it is higher than the value set out by the property owner in a property information report properly filed pursuant to Chapter 22 of this code, then the trier of fact shall fix a market value for the property in question as of January 1 of the tax year of controversy. In order for a taxpayer to prevail on appeal, the variance in market value must be found to be in excess of 5 percent of the market value as contended by the taxpayer.

(c) The market value fixed by the court or jury pursuant to Subsection (b) of this section shall be binding on the taxing units or unit involved in the law suit for the tax year in question and for the succeeding tax year.

(d) A taxpayer who prevails in an appeal to the court shall be entitled to reimbursement for reasonable attorneys fees.

CHAPTER TWO. TAXES BASED UPON GROSS RECEIPTS

Art. 7083a. Allocation of Revenue Derived from Certain Occupations and Gross Receipts Taxes; Appropriations and Allocations for Certain Funds

[See Compact Edition, Volume 2 for text of 1]

[See Compact Edition, Volume 2 for text to 2(4–c)]

(4–d) (A) After the above allocations and payments have been made from the Clearance Fund, other than those provided by Subsections (4–a) and (5) of this section, there is allocated and shall be transferred and credited to the State Highway Fund an amount determined by the Highway Cost Index Committee as provided in this subsection.

(B) The Highway Cost Index Committee consists of the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, and the State Comptroller of Public Accounts. In the absence of the Governor, the Secretary of State of Texas serves in place of the Governor.

(C) On or before November 1 of each even-numbered year, the committee created by this subsection shall certify to the Comptroller the estimated amount to be allocated, transferred, and credited to the State Highway Fund under this subsection for the succeeding fiscal biennium, except that the certification of the amount for the biennium beginning on September 1, 1977, must be made not later than 30 days after the effective date of H.B. No. 3, Acts of the 65th Legislature, Regular Session, 1977.

(D) On or before August 1 of each year, the committee shall certify to the Comptroller the amount to be allocated, transferred, and credited to the State Highway Fund under this subsection for the succeeding fiscal year.

(E) Funds allocated and appropriated from the Clearance Fund to the State Highway Fund shall be paid no later than the sixth working day of each month in equal monthly installments. If for any month the amount remaining to the credit of the Clearance Fund is insufficient to provide for the transfer and allocation to the State Highway Fund under this subsection, the difference between the amount transferred and the amount required to be transferred under this subsection shall be transferred and paid from the General Revenue Fund or from funds due to the General Revenue Fund.

(F) On or before November 1, 1978, and on or before each succeeding November 1, the committee shall determine the actual amount of dedicated revenue earned for the State Highway Fund and the actual highway cost index for the preceding fiscal year (except that for fiscal years beginning September 1, 1977, and September 1, 1978, the actual highway cost index is 1.00) and shall determine the amount by which the amount allocated, transferred, and credited to the State Highway Fund under this subsection during the preceding fiscal year differs from the amount that would have been allocated, transferred, and credited to the State Highway Fund during the preceding fiscal year based on the actual dedicated revenue and the actual highway cost index. The committee shall certify to the Comptroller the amount of the difference, if any, and shall certify to the Comptroller the amount by which allocations, transfers, and credits for the remainder of the current fiscal year are to be adjusted to compensate for the amount of the difference.

(G) The amount to be transferred, allocated, and credited each fiscal year to the State Highway Fund shall be determined by application of the following formula:

Amount = (Base Amount × Cost Index) − Dedicated Revenue

In this formula:

(i) "Amount" means the amount to be allocated from the Clearance Fund to the State Highway Fund.

(ii) "Base Amount" means $700 million for the fiscal year beginning September 1, 1977, and $750 million for each fiscal year beginning on or after September 1, 1978.

(iii) "Highway Cost Index" means the number determined as provided in Paragraph (H) of this subsection, except that for the fiscal years beginning on September 1, 1977, and September 1, 1978, the highway cost index is 1.00.

(iv) "Dedicated Revenue" means the revenue credited to the State Highway Fund under Articles 9.25, 10.22, 10.72, and 20.13, Title 122A, Taxation—General, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended; Article 6686, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended; Sections 1 through 16, Chapter 88, General Laws, Acts of the 41st Legislature, 2nd Called Session, 1929, as amended (Article 6675a–1 et seq., Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes); Chapter 18, General Laws, Acts of the 41st Legislature, 5th Called Session, 1930, as amended (Article 6675a–6e, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes); Section 2, Chapter 178, General Laws, Acts of the 43rd Legislature, Regular Session, 1933, as amended (Article 6675a–13½, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes); Chapter 298, Acts of the 56th Legislature, Regular Session, 1959 (Article 6675a–5b, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes); Chapter 456, Acts of the 56th Legislature, Regular Session, 1959, as amended (Article 6675a–6b, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes); Chapter 517, Acts of the 58th Legislature, 1963, as amended (Article 6675a–6c, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes); Chapter 707, Acts of the 59th Legislature, Regular Session, 1965, as amended (Article 6675a–6d, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes); and Chapter 338, Acts of the 64th Legislature, 1975 (Article 6675a–5e.1, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes).

(H) The highway cost index shall be determined by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation according to procedures approved by the Highway Cost Index Committee. The index shall be based on the weighted combined costs of highway operations, maintenance, and construction for the appropriate fiscal year compared to the costs of those items used for the fiscal year beginning on September 1, 1978.

(I) This subsection does not authorize the transfer of any funds from the State Highway Fund to the Clearance Fund or any other fund even though the actual amount of dedicated revenue exceeds the base amount times the cost index.

Art. 7150*l*. Valuation of Property Owned by Nonprofit Associations or Corporations

Policy of State

Sec. 1. The legislature recognizes as an existing condition the fact that many residential subdivisions are developed on the basis of a nonprofit association or corporation maintaining nominal ownership to certain property which will be held for the use, benefit, and enjoyment of the members of such association or corporation, such nominally owned property consisting of such items as swimming pools, parks, meeting halls, parking lots, tennis courts, and many other similar and related items of property. The legislature further recognizes that the existence of such an association or corporation holding nominal title to such facilities for the use, benefit, and enjoyment of its members greatly enhances the valuation for tax purposes of the individual properties owned by members of the association or corporation who are entitled to the use and enjoyment thereof. The legislature further recognizes that the valuation for tax purposes of the property thus nominally held by such associations or corporations is actually reflected in the enhanced valuation of the property owned by the individual members thereof, and to assess such nominally owned property on the basis of its fair market value would result in double taxation of such property. It is therefore declared to be the policy of the State of Texas that all political subdivisions of the State of Texas take cognizance of the existence of such subdivision developments and recognize that all property nominally owned by such associations or corporations should be assessed and taxed on a nominal basis rather than at fair market value.

Assessment at Nominal Value

Sec. 2. All property, real, personal, or mixed, owned by an association, corporation, or similar nonprofit organization, as herein defined, shall be assessed for tax purposes on the basis of a nominal value with respect to all property taxes levied by the State of Texas or any political subdivision of the State of Texas if:

(a) all property owned by said association or corporation is held for the use, benefit, and enjoyment of all members of said association equally; and

(b) each member of the association or corporation owns or possesses an easement, license, or other nonrevokable right for the use and enjoyment on an equal basis of all the property so held by such association or corporation, subject to any restrictions imposed by the instruments conveying such right or interest or granting such easement and any rules, regulations, or bylaws imposed by the association or corporations pursuant to the authority granted by the articles of incorporation, declaration of covenants, conditions and restrictions, the bylaws, or the articles of association of such corporation or association; and

(c) each easement, license, or other nonrevokable right to the use and enjoyment of all association property is appurtenant to and an integral part of the taxable real property owned by such members.

Enhanced Value as Assessment Factor

Sec. 3. In appraising individual properties owned by members of the association or corporation who are entitled to the use and enjoyment of facilities owned by the association or corporation, the enhanced value of the individual properties because of the right to the use and benefit of the facilities shall be a factor taken into consideration by the appraiser.

Qualifications for Benefits of Act

Sec. 4. Any nonprofit association, corporation, or other organization shall qualify for the benefits provided in this Act if:

(a) such association or corporation is engaged in residential real estate management; and

(b) such association or corporation is organized and operated to provide for the acquisition, construction, management, maintenance, and care of property nominally owned by such association or corporation and held for the use, benefit, and enjoyment of its members; and

(c) 60 percent or more of the gross income of such association or corporation consists of amounts received as membership dues, fees, or assessments from owners of residences or residential lots within the area subject to jurisdiction and assessment power of such association or corporation; and

(d) 90 percent or more of the expenditures of the association or corporation is made for the purpose of acquiring, constructing, managing, maintaining, and caring for the property nominally held by such association or corporation; and

(e) all members of the association or corporation own easement, license, or other nonrevokable rights for the use and enjoyment on an equal basis of all the property nominally owned by such association or corporation subject to any restrictions imposed by the instruments conveying such right or interest or granting such easement and any rules, regulations, or bylaws imposed by the association or corporation pursuant to the authority granted by the articles of incorporation, declaration of covenants, conditions and restrictions, the bylaws, or the articles of association of such corporation or association; and

(f) no part of the net earning, if any, of such association or corporation shall inure to the benefit of any member or individual, other than by acquiring, constructing, or providing management, maintenance, and care of association or corporation property, or other than by a rebate of excess membership dues, fees, or assessments; and

(g) such nonprofit corporation, association, or organization shall qualify for treatment under Section 1301 of the Tax Reform Act of 1976

Repeal of Conflicting Laws; Cumulative Effect

Sec. 5. All laws or parts of laws in conflict herewith are hereby repealed to the extent of such conflict but only to the extent of such conflict, and this Act shall be cumulative of all existing laws relative hereto and not inconsistent herewith.

Art. 7150m. Assessment of Property Taxes in Planned Unit Development

Sec. 1. For purposes of this Act, "planned unit development" means a real property development project in which the owners of individual parcels of real property in the development each have a membership in an association that owns and maintains property in the development for the use of its members.

Sec. 2. A property tax on the property in a planned unit development that is owned by the association may be assessed proportionately against each member of the association if the association files with the tax collector a resolution adopted by majority vote of all members of the association authorizing the proportionate assessment.

Sec. 3. If taxes are assessed proportionately as authorized in this Act, the amount of tax to be imposed on the association's property shall be divided by the number of separately owned parcels of real property in the development. The quotient is the proportionate amount of tax to be assessed against each separately owned parcel in the development, and a tax lien attaches to each parcel to secure payment of its proportionate share of the tax on the association's property. Each separate parcel, together with the quotient portion applicable thereto, shall be rendered and assessed separately and the tax lien to secure the payment of the taxes assessed upon each such separate parcel, together with the quotient portion applicable to that parcel, shall apply only to such respective parcel together with its applicable quotient portion, and the tax lien securing the payment of taxes upon any other parcel or parcels, and the respective quotient or quotients applicable thereto, shall not apply to any other parcel and the respective quotient applicable thereto.

Art. 7150n. Appraisal of Land Limited in Use to Recreational, Park, or Open Space Purposes by Deed or Voluntary Restrictions

Sec. 1. In this Act:

(1) "Recreational, park, or open space use" means the employment or application of real property for individual or group sporting activities, for park or camping activities, or for the conservation and preservation of scenic areas, and includes the use of real property for walking, jogging, running, swimming, boating, fishing, hunting, golfing, horseback riding, shooting, tennis, and the development of historical, archaeological, scenic, or scientific sites.

(2) "Deed restriction" means a valid and enforceable provision in a conveyance of land of five or more acres filed and recorded in the deed records of the county in which the land is located and which provision limits or restricts the use of the land conveyed.

(3) "Improvements" includes all valuable additions to real property except appurtenances to land.

(4) "Appurtenances to land" means riparian water rights, private roads, dams, reservoirs, water wells, and canals, ditches, and similar reshapings or additions to the soil.

Voluntary Restrictions

Sec. 2. (a) The owner of the fee simple title to a five or more acre tract of real estate may limit the use of the land to recreational, park, or open space use by filing with the county clerk an instrument executed in the form and manner of a deed.

(b) The restriction instrument must include a description of the property, the name of the owner or owners of the property, and a statement that the land may not be used for any purpose other than recreational, park, or open space uses for a term of years which term must be expressed in the instrument.

(c) An instrument complying with the requirements of this section may be enforced in the same manner as a valid deed restriction by action of the county attorney or any person owning or having an interest in the restricted property.

Appraisal of Restricted Land

Sec. 3. (a) For the purpose of assessing ad valorem taxes imposed by each tax authority, land that is subject to a deed restriction or a restriction instrument executed and filed as provided in Section 2 of this Act and that limits the use of the land to recreational, park, or open space uses for a term of 10 or more years and which land is actually used exclusively for recreational, park, or open space purposes on January 1 of the tax year and during all of the preceding tax year shall be appraised and valued as provided in Subsection (b) of this section.

(b) The tax assessor or appraiser shall consider no factor other than those relative to the value of the land as restricted. Sales of comparable land not subject to such restrictions may not be used.

(c) Improvements on land and the mineral estate shall be valued at actual cash value to be determined by comparable sales or other methods to determine market value.

(d) If the land has been subjected to a deed restriction or a restriction established as provided in Section 2 of this Act during the calendar year immediately preceding January 1 of the tax year and if the restriction is for a term of 10 or more years, the land is entitled to be valued as provided in Subsection (b) of this section, if the owner of the land presents to the tax assessor or appraiser an affidavit stating that for the tax year the land will be used exclusively for recreational, park, or open space purposes. If the valuation of the land is made according to the methods prescribed by Subsection (b) of this section based on an affidavit, the tax assessor or appraiser shall, at the end of the tax year, determine if the property was used exclusively for recreational, park, or open space uses, and if the land was not used exclusively for recreation, park, or open space uses, he shall assess additional taxes equal to the difference in the amount of the taxes assessed for the property based on recreational, park, or open space uses and the amount of taxes that would have been assessed if the property had been valued for tax purposes at market value of unrestricted land.

Reassessment of Taxes

Sec. 4. (a) When property valued as provided in Subsection (b), Section 3 of this Act is no longer subject to a deed restriction or a restriction instrument executed as provided in Section 2 of this Act, or when the property is not used exclusively for recreational, park, or open space uses, the tax assessor of each taxing authority shall determine the amount of taxes which would have been payable to the taxing authority had the land been valued at market value without restriction for the current tax year and for the previous five tax years and shall assess against the property and the owner additional taxes equal to the amount of the taxes assessed according to the value of the property as restricted for recreational, park, or open space uses and the amount of the taxes based on its value without restriction as to use for the current tax year and for the previous five tax years.

(b) The tax assessor for the taxing unit shall include the amount of the additional tax assessed under Subsection (a) of this section, plus interest, on the next tax notice issued after the additional assessment is made. Additional tax under this section shall be treated as back taxes.

Penalty for Violation of Restriction

Sec. 5. If, at any time before the expiration of a restriction which limits the use of land to recreational, park, or open space use, the land is used for a purpose other than recreational, park, or open space use, there shall be assessed as a penalty an amount equal to the difference in the amount of the taxes assessed for the tax year in which the restriction is not observed on the property based on recreational, park, or open space uses and the amount of taxes that would have been assessed for the tax year in which the restriction is not observed if the property had been valued for tax purposes at market value of unrestricted land. The penalty imposed by this section is in addition to taxes imposed under Sections 3 and 4 of this Act. Penalties become due and are payable in the same manner as is the tax.

Effective Date

Sec. 6. This Act applies to each tax year beginning after December 31, 1977.

Art. 7150o. Reappraisal of Property Damaged in Natural Disaster Area

(a) The governing body of a political subdivision that is located partly or entirely inside an area declared to be a natural disaster area by the governor and by the President of the United States may authorize reappraisal of all property damaged in the disaster at its value immediately after the disaster.

(b) If property damaged in a natural disaster is reappraised as provided by this section, the governing body shall provide for prorating the ad valorem taxes on the property for the year in which the disaster occurred. If the taxes are prorated, taxes due on the property are determined as follows: the taxes on the property based on its value on January

1 of that year are multiplied by a fraction, the denominator of which is 365 and the numerator of which is the number of days before the date the disaster occurred; the taxes on the property based on its reappraised value are multiplied by a fraction, the denominator of which is 365 and the numerator of which is the number of days, including the date the disaster occurred, remaining in the year; and the total of the two amounts is the amount of taxes on the property for the year.

(c) This section does not apply to ad valorem taxes imposed for state purposes.

Art. 7173. Leasehold Interests in Land, Buildings, or Improvements Owned in Whole or in Part by the State, a County, a City or Cities, a School District or any other Governmental or Public Entity or Body Politic

(a) Property held under a lease for a term of one year or more, or held under a contract for the purchase thereof, belonging to the State, a county, a city or cities, a school district, or any other governmental or public entity, authority or body politic or that is exempt by law from taxation in the hands of the owner thereof, except for properties held, owned or dedicated, in trust or otherwise, to the support, maintenance or benefit of institutions of higher education, shall be considered for all the purposes of taxation, as the property of person so holding the same, except as otherwise specially provided by law; however this shall not include:

(1) A lease, concession or other use of an airport passenger building or a building used by certified air carriers primarily for aircraft maintenance, air cargo or aircraft services and equipment storage; an aircraft fueling systems facility servicing certified air carriers; or property in a foreign-trade zone established and operating pursuant to federal law, if the area of the zone does not exceed 250 acres, or

(2) A use by way of concession in or relative to the use of a public park, public market, fairground or similar public property, or

(b) Timber held by persons or corporations, heretofore or hereafter purchased from the State under the various laws for that purpose, shall likewise be subject to assessment for taxes, and the value thereof for taxation shall be ascertained as the value of other property is ascertained. And should the owner of such timber fail or refuse to pay the taxes assessed against it, the same shall be sold for the taxes thereon, as provided in this title for the sale of personal property for taxes, provided that the same can be found by the collector; but, if the timber cannot be found, then the collector shall collect the taxes due as the taxes on other personal property are collected; provided, further, that the Land Commissioner shall furnish by the first of January each year to the various commissioners courts and the tax assessors of this State a full and complete list of all timber sold by the State belonging to the school funds, giving the number of acres, price and to whom sold, in the respective counties where the timber so sold is situated. In case of the sale of such timber for taxes as herein provided, the purchaser shall take and hold the same under the same terms and conditions as the original purchaser thereof from the State.

Art. 7174. Valuation of Property for Taxation

(a) Each separate parcel of real property shall be valued at its true and full value in money, excluding the value of crops growing or ungathered thereon.

(b) In determining the true and full value of real and personal property the assessor shall not adopt a lower or different standard of value because the same is to serve as a basis of taxation, nor shall he adopt as a criterion of value the price for which such property would sell at auction or a forced sale or in the aggregate with all the property in his county; but he shall value each tract or lot by itself, and at such sum and price as he believes the same to be fairly worth in money at the time such assessment is made.

(c) In valuing any real property on which there is a coal or other mine, or stone or other quarry, or springs possessing medicinal properties, the same shall be valued at such price as such property, including a mine, or quarry or spring, would probably sell at a fair voluntary sale for cash.

(d) An interest in a mineral which may be removed by surface mining or quarrying from a deposit that is not being produced shall be valued at the price for which the interest would sell while the mineral is in place and not being produced. The value shall be determined by applying a per acre value to the number of acres covered by the interest. The aggregate of the value of such an interest, and all other interests that, if not under separate ownership, would constitute a fee simple estate in any real property, may not exceed the value which would be placed upon the fee estate, if the interest in minerals were not owned separately.

(e) Taxable leasehold estates on non-exempt property shall be valued at such price as such leasehold estates would bring at a voluntary sale for cash, and taxable leasehold estates on exempt property shall be valued at such price as such leasehold estates would bring at a voluntary sale thereof for cash, based upon the value of a comparable improvement if located on non-exempt property, with reductions for reversionary interests, restrictions on use, and credit for normal rental, except that the value of a leasehold may not be less than the total annual rental for the leasehold for the year in which it is valued.

(f) Personal property of every description shall be valued at its true and full value in money.

(g) Money, whether in possession or on deposit, or in the hands of any member of the family, or any person whatsoever, shall be entered in the statement at the full amount thereof.

(h) Every credit for a sum certain, payable either in money or property of any kind, shall be valued at the full value of the same so payable. If for a specified article or for a specified number or quantity of property of any kind, it shall be valued at the current price of such property at the place where payable. Annuities or moneys payable at stated periods shall be valued at the price that the person listing the same believes them to be worth in money.

Art. 7174A. Appraisal of Agricultural Land

Definitions

Sec. 1. In this article:

(1) "Qualified open-space land" means land that is currently devoted principally to agricultural use to the degree of intensity generally accepted in the area and that has been devoted principally to agricultural use for at least five of the preceding seven years or land that is used principally for ecological laboratories by public and private colleges and universities. Qualified open-space land includes all appurtenances to the land. For the purposes of this subdivision, appurtenances to the land means private roads, dams, reservoirs, water wells, canals, ditches, terraces, and other reshapings of the soil, fences, and riparian water rights.

(2) "Agricultural use" includes, but is not limited to, the following activities: cultivating the soil, producing crops for human food, animal feed, planting seed, and for the production of fibers; floriculture, viticulture, and horticulture; raising or keeping livestock; and planting cover crops or leaving land idle for the purpose of participating in any governmental program, or normal crop or livestock rotation procedure.

(3) "Category" means the value classification of land in each taxing unit considering the agricultural use to which the land is principally devoted. Categories of land shall include, but not be limited to, irrigated cropland, dry cropland, improved pasture, native pasture, orchard, and waste and may be further divided according to soil type, soil capability, irrigation, general topography, geographical factors, and other factors which influence the productive capacity of the category. Each local tax assessor shall obtain information from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Soil Conservation Service, and recognized agricultural sources for the purposes of determining the categories of production existing within the taxing unit's jurisdiction.

(4) "Net to land" means the average annual net income derived from the use of the open-space land that would have been earned by the owner of the land over the five-year period immediately preceding the valuation by a person using ordinary prudence in the management of the land and the farm crops or livestock produced or supported thereon, and in addition any income received from hunting or recreational leases. The local tax assessor shall calculate net to land with an owner-operator budget by subtracting all ordinary and prudent expenses incurred in pursuit of agricultural use as defined in Subdivision (2) of this section, including all ordinary and prudent expenses incurred in connection with hunting and recreational leases and including owner labor and fixed and variable costs, from the five-year average agricultural income using estimates available from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, U.S. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, the Soil Conservation Service, Texas Department of Agricultural Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, and universities and colleges within Texas. Only in the event there is insufficient data available to calculate net to land on the basis of an owner-operator budget, net to land may be determined by considering the income that would be due to the owner of the land under cash lease, share lease, or whatever lease arrangement is typical in that taxing unit for that category of land, and all expenses directly attributable to the agricultural use of the land by the owner of the land shall be subtracted from this owner income and the results shall be used in income capitalization. Net to land shall be determined by the same method for all land in the same category located in the same taxing unit. In calculating net to land, a reasonable deduction shall be made for any depletion that occurs of underground water used in the agricultural operation.

(5) "Income capitalization" means the process of dividing net to land by the capitalization rate in order to determine the value for ad valorem tax purposes.

Valuation of Agricultural Land

Sec. 2. (a) The value for ad valorem tax purposes of qualified open-space land shall be determined by the tax assessor for the taxing unit on the basis of the category of the land, using accepted income capitalization methods applied to average net to land. The value so determined may not exceed the fair market value as determined by other generally accepted appraisal methods.

(b) The tax assessor for each taxing unit shall determine the value according to this article of each category of open-space land and, when requested by a landowner, the value according to Article VIII, Section 1-d, of the Texas Constitution of each category of land owned by that landowner and shall make each value and the market value of the owner's land according to the preceding year's tax roll available to a person seeking to apply for appraisal under this article or under Article VIII, Section 1-d, of the Texas Constitution.

(c) A tax assessor may not change the value of a parcel of open-space land unless the owner has applied for and the land has qualified for appraisal as provided by this article or by Article VIII, Section 1-d, of the Texas Constitution, or unless the change is made as a result of a reappraisal.

(d) Pursuant to rulemaking authority, the School Tax Assessment Practices Board shall develop and distribute to all taxing units appraisal manuals setting forth this method of valuing qualified open-space land, and each taxing unit shall use the appraisal manuals in determining the value. The School Tax Assessment Practices Board shall develop and the local taxing authority shall enforce procedures to verify that the land in question meets the conditions contained in Section 1(1) of this article. All rules and regulations shall be approved before taking effect pursuant to the Administrative Procedure and Texas Register Act, as amended (Article 6252—13a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), by a majority vote of a committee comprised of the following officials or their designees: the governor, the comptroller, the attorney general, the agriculture commissioner, and the commissioner of the General Land Office. If the School Tax Assessment Practices Board is abolished, the authority granted the board herein shall be transferred to its successor, or if none, to the comptroller.

(e) For the purposes of Section 5 of this article, the tax assessor shall also determine and submit to the board of equalization both the value as determined under this article and the fair market value of qualified open-space land.

(f) The valuation and assessment of any minerals or subsurface rights to minerals shall not come within the provisions of this article.

Capitalization Rate

Sec. 3. The capitalization rate to be used in determining the value of qualified open-space land shall be 10 percent or the interest rate specified by the Federal Land Bank of Houston on December 31 of the preceding year plus 2-½ percentage points, whichever percentage is the greater.

Application

Sec. 4. (a) A person claiming that land is eligible for appraisal under this article must file a valid application with the tax assessor for each taxing unit in which the land is taxable.

(b) To be valid, the application must be on a form provided by the assessor, as prescribed by the School Tax Assessment Practices Board, and must contain the information necessary to determine the validity of the claim. The School Tax Assessment Practices Board shall include on the form a notice of the penalties prescribed by Section 37.10, Penal Code, for making or filing an application containing a false statement. The form must be filed during the rendition period for the taxing unit. However, for good cause the tax assessor may extend the filing deadline for not more than 60 days.

(c) If a person fails to timely file a valid application, the land is ineligible for appraisal under this article.

(d) The tax assessor shall make a sufficient number of printed application forms readily available at no charge and shall mail a form each year, at least 90 days before the filing deadline, to each person owning land that qualified under this article in the preceding year.

Change of Use of Land

Sec. 5. (a) If the use of land that has been appraised as provided by this article changes, an additional tax is imposed on the land equal to the difference between the taxes imposed on the land for each of the five years preceding the year in which the change of use occurs that the land was appraised as provided by this article and the tax that would have been imposed had the land been taxed on the basis of fair market value in each of those years, plus interest at an annual rate of seven percent calculated from the dates on which the differences would have become due.

(b) A tax lien attaches to the land on the date the change of use occurs to secure payment of the additional tax and interest imposed by this section and any penalties incurred. The lien exists in favor of the state and all taxing units for which the additional tax is imposed.

(c) The additional tax imposed by this section does not apply to a year for which the tax has already been imposed.

(d) If the change of use applies to only part of a parcel that has been appraised as provided by this article, the additional tax applies only to that part of the parcel and equals the difference between the taxes imposed on that part of the parcel and the taxes that would have been imposed had that part been taxed on the basis of fair market value.

(e) The tax assessor shall prepare and deliver a statement for the additional taxes as soon as practicable after the change of use occurs. The taxes become delinquent and incur penalties and interest as provided by law for ad valorem taxes imposed by the taxing unit if not paid before the next date on which the unit's ad valorem taxes become delinquent that is more than 10 days after the date the statement is delivered.

(f) The sanctions provided by Subsection (a) of this section do not apply if the change of use occurs as a result of a sale for right-of-way or a condemnation.

(g) If the use of the land changes to a use that qualifies under the Article 7174B, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, the sanctions provided by Subsection (a) of this section do not apply.

(h) Additional taxes, if any, for a year in which land was designated for agricultural use as provided by Article VIII, Section 1-d, of the Texas Constitution are determined as provided by that section, and the additional taxes imposed by this section do not apply for that year.

Land Ineligible for Designation as Open-space Land

Sec. 6. This article does not apply to:

(1) land located inside the corporate limits of an incorporated city or town, unless:

(A) the city or town is not providing the land with governmental and proprietary services substantially equivalent in standard and scope to those services it provides in other parts of the city or town with similar topography, land utilization, and population density; or

(B) the land has been devoted principally to agricultural use continuously for the preceding five years;

(2) land owned by an individual who is a nonresident alien or by a foreign government if that individual or government is required by federal law or by rule adopted pursuant to federal law to register his ownership or acquisition of that property; or

(3) land owned by a corporation, partnership, trust, or other legal entity if the entity is required by federal law or by rule adopted pursuant to federal law to register its ownership or acquisition of that land and if a nonresident alien or a foreign government or any combination of nonresident aliens or foreign governments own a majority interest in the entity.

[Added by Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 680, ch. 302, art. 1, § 1, eff. May 31, 1979.]

Repeal

This article is repealed by Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 2331, ch. 841, § 6(f) (2), effective January 1, 1982, § 1 of which enacts the Property Tax Code, constituting Title 1 of the Tax Code.

Subsections (a), (b), (e), and (f) of § 1 of art. 13 of Acts 1979, 66th Leg., ch. 302, provided:

"(a) The legislature believes that implementation of Articles 1 and 2 of this Act in the 1979 tax year is both feasible and desirable and hereby expresses its intent that all taxing units in this state implement those articles for taxes imposed for the 1979 tax year unless it is impossible to do so.

"(b) Articles 1 and 2 of this Act take effect immediately and apply to ad valorem taxes imposed by a taxing unit for the 1979 tax year, except as provided by Subsection (e) of this section. However, the governing body of a taxing unit, by order, resolution, or ordinance (depending on the method required by law for official action by the body) may prescribe that those articles shall not apply to 1979 taxes. Should the governing body so prescribe, Articles 1 and 2 of this Act apply to ad valorem taxes imposed for 1980 and subsequent years."

"(e) If the board of equalization for a taxing unit has finally approved and certified the unit's tax roll before Articles 1 and 2 take effect, those articles do not apply to a unit's taxes until 1980. Provided, however, that no taxing unit shall so certify the unit's tax roll before July 15, 1979.

"(f) For the purpose of administering Articles 7150.5, 7174A, and 7174B, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as added by this Act, in 1979, an application is timely if it is filed within 45 days after the date the governor signs this Act into law or, if the governor does not sign it, after it becomes law without the governor's signature."

Art. 7174B. Appraisal of Timber Land

Definitions

Sec. 1. In this article:

(1) "Category of the land" means the value classification of land for timber production, based on soil type, soil capability, general topography, weather, location, and other pertinent factors, as determined by competent governmental sources.

(2) "Net to land" means the average net income that would have been earned by a category of land over the preceding five years by a person using ordinary prudence in the management of the land and the timber produced on the land. The net income for each year is determined by multiplying the land's potential average annual growth, expressed in cords and/or board feet of wood, by the average stumpage value, taking into consideration the three general types of timber as produced on the four different soil types, as determined by using information from the U.S. Forest Service, U.S. Geological Survey, the Soil Conservation Service, Texas Forest Service, and colleges and universities within Texas, and by subtracting from the product reasonable management costs and other reasonable expenses directly attributable to the production of the timber.

Qualification for Productivity Appraisal

Sec. 2. Land qualifies for appraisal under this article if, with the intent to produce income, it is currently and actively devoted principally to production of timber or forest products to the degree of intensity generally accepted in the area and has been devoted principally to production of timber or forest products for at least five of the preceding seven years.

Valuation of Timber Land

Sec. 3. (a) The value for ad valorem tax purposes of qualified timber land is determined on the basis of the category of the land, using accepted income capitalization methods applied to average net to land. The value so determined may not exceed the fair market value of the land as determined by other appraisal methods.

(b) Pursuant to rulemaking authority, the School Tax Assessment Practices Board shall develop and distribute to all taxing units appraisal manuals setting forth this method of valuing qualified timber land, and each taxing unit shall use the appraisal manuals in determining the value. The School Tax Assessment Practices Board shall develop and the local taxing authority shall enforce procedures to verify that the land in question meets the conditions contained in Section 2 of this article. All rules and regulations shall be approved before taking effect pursuant to the Administrative Procedure and Texas Register Act, as amended (Article 6252—13a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), by majority vote of a committee comprised of the following officials or their designees: the governor, the comptroller, the attorney general, the agriculture commissioner, and the commissioner of the General Land Office. If the School Tax Assessment Practices Board is abolished, the authority granted the board herein shall be transferred to its successor, or if none, to the comptroller.

(c) For the purposes of Section 6 of this article, the tax assessor shall also determine and submit to the board of equalization both the value as determined under this article and the fair market value of qualified timber land.

(d) The valuation and assessment of any minerals or subsurface rights to minerals shall not come within the provisions of this article.

Capitalization Rate

Sec. 4. The capitalization rate to be used in determining the value of qualified open-space land shall be the interest rate specified by the Federal Land Bank of Houston on December 31 of the preceding year plus 2-½ percentage points.

Application

Sec. 5. (a) A person claiming that land is eligible for appraisal under this article must file a valid application with the tax assessor for each taxing unit in which the land is taxable.

(b) To be valid, the application must be on a form provided by the assessor, as prescribed by the School Tax Assessment Practices Board, and must contain the information necessary to determine the validity of the claim. The School Tax Assessment Practices Board shall include on the form a notice of the penalties prescribed by Section 37.10, Penal Code, for making or filing an application containing a false statement. The form must be filed during the rendition period for the taxing unit. However, for good cause the tax assessor may extend the filing deadline for not more than 60 days.

(c) If a person fails to file timely a valid application, the land is ineligible for appraisal under this article.

(d) The tax assessor shall make a sufficient number of printed application forms readily available at no charge and shall mail a form each year, at least 90 days before the filing deadline, to each person owning land that qualified under this article in the preceding year.

Change of Use of Land

Sec. 6. (a) If the use of land that has been appraised as provided by this article changes, an additional tax is imposed on the land equal to the difference between the taxes imposed on the land for each of the five years preceding the year in which the change of use occurs that the land was appraised as provided by this article and the tax that would have been imposed had the land been taxed on the basis of fair market value in each of those years, plus interest at an annual rate of seven percent calculated from the dates on which the differences would have become due.

(b) A tax lien attaches to the land on the date the change of use occurs to secure payment of the additional tax and interest imposed by this section and any penalties incurred. The lien exists in favor of the state and all taxing units for which the additional tax is imposed.

(c) The additional tax imposed by this section does not apply to a year for which the tax has already been imposed.

(d) If the change of use applies to only part of a parcel that has been appraised as provided by this article, the additional tax applies only to that part of the parcel and equals the difference between the taxes imposed on that part of the parcel and the taxes that would have been imposed had that part been taxed on the basis of fair market value.

(e) The tax assessor shall prepare and deliver a statement for the additional taxes as soon as practicable after the change of use occurs. The taxes become delinquent and incur penalties and interest as provided by law for ad valorem taxes imposed by the taxing unit if not paid before the next date on which the unit's ad valorem taxes become delinquent that is more than 10 days after the date the statement is delivered.

(f) The sanctions provided by Subsection (a) of this section do not apply if the change of use occurs as a result of a sale for right-of-way or a condemnation.

(g) If the use of the land changes to a use that qualifies under Article 7174A, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, the sanctions provided by Subsection (a) of this section do not apply.

Land Ineligible for Productivity Appraisal

Sec. 7. This article does not apply to:

(1) land located inside the corporate limits of an incorporated city or town, unless:

(A) the city or town is not providing the land with governmental and proprietary services substantially equivalent in standard and scope to those services it provides in other parts of the city or town with similar topography, land utilization, and population density; or

(B) the land has been devoted principally to production of timber or forest products continuously for the preceding five years;

(2) land owned by an individual who is a nonresident alien or by a foreign government if that individual or government is required by federal law or by rule adopted pursuant to federal law to register his ownership or acquisition of that property; or

(3) land owned by a corporation, partnership, trust, or other legal entity if the entity is required by federal law or by rule adopted pursuant to federal law to register its ownership or acquisition of that land and if a nonresident alien or a foreign government or any combination of nonresident aliens or foreign governments own a majority interest in the entity.

Minimum Appraisal of Timber Land

Sec. 8. The value for ad valorem tax purposes of qualified timber land appraised as provided by this article may not be less than the appraised value of that land for the 1978 tax year, except that the value used for any tax year may not exceed the fair market value of the land as determined by other generally accepted appraisal methods.

At least four of the members must hold a certificate issued under this Act. However, for the members first appointed, certification by a recognized professional association of assessors or appraisers satisfies the certification requirement for eligibility.

(d) Members hold office for terms of six years, with the terms of two members expiring on March 1 of each odd-numbered year. In making the initial appointments, the governor shall designate two members for terms expiring on March 1, 1979, two members for terms expiring on March 1, 1981, and two members for terms expiring on March 1, 1983.

The notice shall set forth the proposed rules of professional conduct or amendments to the rules. No rule or amendment shall become operative until it is approved by a majority of the registered professional assessors practicing in this state. The board shall adopt reasonable means for voting on such measures and shall declare the results of elections and proclaim the effective date of the rules or amendments and notify all persons registered by this Act.

The violation of a provision of this Act, or a rule or regulation of the board, by a person practicing assessing in Texas is sufficient reason or ground to refuse, suspend, or revoke his registration granted under the terms of this Act. The board may institute action in its own name against an individual person to enjoin a violation of a provision of this Act or a rule or regulation of the board. The board is not required to give an appeal bond in a cause arising under this Act. Prior to the initiation of proceedings for a violation of this Act, a written notice shall be sent by certified mail to the prospective defendant stating the nature of the charge and the time and place of the hearing before the board. (b) An assessor registered under the terms of this Act may not:

Art. 7244c. Increases in Effective Tax Rate by Taxing Unit

Calculation of Effective Tax Rate

Sec. 1. (a) After the board of equalization has approved and certified the tax roll for a taxing unit, the tax assessor for the unit shall subtract from the total assessed value of all property on the roll the assessed value of all property added to the roll since the preceding tax year by annexation of territory and the assessed value of all improvements made after January 1 of the preceding tax year.

(b) The assessor shall subtract from the total amount of property taxes levied by the unit in the preceding year:

(1) the total amount levied in that year on real property that is not on the roll for the current year;

(2) the total amount levied to pay the principal of and interest on bonds, warrants, certificates of obligation, or other lawfully authorized evidences of indebtedness issued or assumed by the unit;

(3) the total amount levied to provide for lawfully incurred contractual obligations providing security for the payment of principal of and interest on bonds or other evidences of indebtedness issued on behalf of the unit by another political subdivision; and

(4) the total amount levied in the preceding year on taxable value that is exempt in the current year.

(c) The assessor shall calculate the tax rate necessary for the current tax year to pay:

(1) principal of and interest on bonds, warrants, certificates of obligation, or other lawfully authorized evidences of indebtedness issued or assumed by the unit; and

(2) lawfully incurred contractual obligations providing security for the payment of principal of and interest on bonds or other evidences of indebtedness issued on behalf of the unit by another political subdivision.

(d) The assessor shall then calculate the tax rate that, if applied to the total assessed value remaining after subtracting the assessed value of annexed property and new improvements, would impose the total dollar amount of taxes determined as provided by Subsection (b) of this section.

(e) The assessor shall add the debt-service rate calculated as provided by Subsection (c) of this section and the operating-expense rate calculated as provided by Subsection (d) of this section. That total rate is the tax rate that is subject to the tax rate limitations provided by this Act. The assessor shall publicize that rate in a manner designed to come to the attention of all residents and submit the rate to the governing body of the unit.

Limitations on Increasing Effective Rate

Sec. 2. A taxing unit may not impose property taxes in any year until the governing body has adopted a tax rate for that year, and the governing body may not adopt a tax rate that exceeds the rate calculated and announced under Section 1 of this Act by more than three percent until it has given public notice of its intention to adopt a higher rate and has held a public hearing on the proposed increase.

Notice and Public Hearing on Increase

Sec. 3. (a) A public hearing required by this Act may not be held before the seventh day after the date the notice of intent to increase the tax rate is given. The hearing must be on a weekday that is not a public holiday and must begin after 5 p. m. and before 9 p. m. The hearing must be held in a public building inside the geographical boundaries of the taxing unit. If no public building is available, the hearing may be held in some other suitable building inside the geographical boundaries of the unit. At the hearing, the governing body must afford adequate opportunity for proponents and opponents of the tax increase to present their views.

(b) The notice of a public hearing may not be smaller than one-quarter page of a standard-size or a tabloid-size newspaper, and the headline on the notice must be in 18-point or larger type. The notice must be in the following form:

"NOTICE OF TAX INCREASE

"The (name of the taxing unit) proposes to increase your property taxes by (percentage of increase over the rate submitted under Section 1 of this Act) percent.

"A public hearing on the increase will be held on (date and time) at (meeting place).

"(Names of all members of the governing body, showing how each voted on the proposal to raise taxes and, if one or more were absent, indicating the absences.)"

(c) The notice may be mailed by first-class mail to each registered voter residing in the unit or it may be published in a newspaper. If the notice is published in a newspaper, it may not be in the part of the paper in which legal notices and classified advertisements appear.

Adoption of Increased Tax Rate

Sec. 4. (a) At the public hearing the governing body shall announce the date, time, and place of the meeting at which it will vote on the proposed tax increase. After the hearing it shall give notice of the meeting in the form and manner provided by Section 3 of this Act, except that the second paragraph of the notice must state:

"A public meeting to vote on the proposed increase will be held on (date and time) at (meeting place)."

(b) The meeting to vote on the increase may not be earlier than the 3rd day or later than the 14th day after the date of the public hearing. The meeting must be held in a public building inside the geographical boundaries of the taxing unit. If no public building is available, the meeting may be held in some other suitable building inside the geographical boundaries of the unit. If the governing body does not adopt the increase by the 14th day, it must give a new notice under Subsection (a) of this section before it may adopt a rate higher than that announced under Section 1 of this Act.

(c) The annual tax rate for a taxing unit must be set by ordinance, resolution, or order, depending on the method prescribed by law for adoption of a law by the governing body. The vote on the ordinance, resolution, or order setting the tax rate must be separate from the vote adopting the budget.

(d) The governing body of a taxing unit may decrease the official tax rate for the current year at any time.

Notice of Reappraisal

Sec. 5. (a) Not later than the 20th day before the date the board of equalization for a taxing unit begins holding public hearings, the assessor for the unit shall mail a written notice to each property owner whose property value has been increased by more than $100 above its value in the preceding year.

(b) The assessor shall include in the notice:

(1) the value of the property in the preceding year;

(2) the amount of taxes imposed on the property the preceding year;

(3) the value of the property for the current year; and

(4) the amount of taxes that will be imposed on the basis of that value if neither the tax rate nor the ratio of assessment in effect for the unit in the preceding year is reduced.

Taxing Unit Defined

Sec. 6. For purposes of this Act, "taxing unit" means a county, an incorporated city or town, including a home-rule city, a school district, a special district or authority, or any other political subdivision of this state, whether created by or under the constitution or a local, special, or general law, that is authorized to impose and is imposing ad valorem taxes on property.

City Fiscal Year

Sec. 6.1. The governing body of a home-rule city may establish by ordinance a fiscal year different from that fixed in its charter if a different fiscal year is necessary or desirable to adapt to the procedures prescribed by this Act.

Effective Date

Sec. 7. This Act takes effect January 1, 1979. [Added by Acts 1978, 65th Leg., 2nd C.S., p. 18, ch. 8, §§ 1 to 7, eff. Jan. 1, 1979. Amended by Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 1475, ch. 644, § 1, eff. Aug. 27, 1979.]

Application for a refund must be made by the taxpayer affected and filed with the Tax Collector within three (3) years of the date of the erroneous payment or overpayment. For all refunds in excess of $500 the Tax Collector must present the application for the refund to the Tax Unit's governing body for verification and approval.

Art. 7261a. Acceptance of Checks by Tax Collector for Payment of Fees and Taxes

Sec. 1. In this Act:

(1) "Tax collector" means the county tax assessor-collector.

(2) "Check" means an instrument signed by the maker; containing an unconditional promise or order to pay a sum certain in money and containing no other promise, order, obligation, or power given by the maker; payable on demand; and drawn on a bank.

(3) "Maker" means the drawer of a check.

Acceptance of Check for Payment of Certain Fees Permitted

Sec. 2. A tax collector may, but is not required to, accept a check for the payment of motor vehicle registration fees (Article 6675a–1 et seq., Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes); motor vehicle sales taxes imposed by Chapter 6, Title 122A, Taxation–General, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925; occupation taxes paid to the tax collector under Chapter 19, Title 122A, Taxation–General, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925; motor vehicle title transfer fees under the Certificate of Title Act (Article 6687–1, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes); license or permit fees under the Texas Liquor Control Act (Article 666–1 et seq., Vernon's Texas Penal Auxiliary Laws), and property taxes.

Issuance Conditional on Bank's Honoring Check

Sec. 3. The acceptance of a check for the payment of taxes and fees listed in Section 2 of this Act does not constitute payment of the tax or fee, and the tax or fee is not considered paid until the check is honored by the bank on which the check is drawn. This section does not prohibit a tax collector from issuing receipts, license plates, certificates, or other instruments on the receipt of a check, but the issuance is conditional on the payment of the check by the drawee bank.

Identification Required

Sec. 4. When a tax collector receives a check as conditional payment of a tax or fee listed in Section 2 of this Act, he shall require adequate identification of the maker and note on the check or otherwise record the type of identification of the maker and information from the identification to assist in locating the maker in the event the check is not honored.

Liability of Tax Collector and Bondsman

Sec. 5. Except as provided in Section 8 of this Act, a tax collector and his bondsman are not liable for the amount of any taxes and fees for which the tax collector has accepted a check that is not honored by the drawee bank if the tax collector complied with the requirements of Section 4 of this Act and if the tax collector did not know or should not reasonably have known that the check was not properly drawn or that it would not be honored.

Procedures for Collection of Dishonored Checks

Sec. 6. A tax collector may establish procedures for the collection of dishonored checks. The procedures may include:

(1) official notification to the maker that the check has not been honored and that the receipt, registration, certificate, or other instrument issued on the receipt of the check is not valid until payment of the tax or fee is made;

(2) notification of the sheriff or other law enforcement officers that a check has not been honored and that the receipt, registration, certificate, or other instrument held by the maker is not valid; and

(3) notification to the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, the State Comptroller of Public Accounts, or the Department of Public Safety that the receipt, registration, certificate, or instrument held by the maker is not valid.

Dishonored Checks; Remission Not Required; Notice; Assistance in Collection

Sec. 7. If taxes and fees listed in Section 2 of this Act are required to be remitted to the State Comptroller of Public Accounts or the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation and if payment was made to the tax collector by a check that was not honored by the drawee bank, the amount of the tax or fee is not required to be remitted, but the tax collector shall notify the appropriate department of the amount of the fee or tax, the type of fee or tax involved, and the name and address of the maker. The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation and the State Comptroller of Public Accounts shall assist the tax collector in collecting the fee or tax and may cancel or revoke any receipt, registration, certificate, or instrument issued in the name of the state conditioned on the payment of the fee or tax.

Liability of Tax Collector for Violations of Act

Sec. 8. If the State Comptroller of Public Accounts or the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation determines that the tax collector of a county has accepted payment for fees and taxes to be remitted to that department in violation of Section 4 of this Act or that more than two percent of the fees and taxes to be received from the tax collector are not remitted because of the acceptance of checks that are not honored by the drawee bank, the department may notify the tax collector that he may not accept a check for the payment of any fee or tax to be remitted to that department. A tax collector who, after notice that he may not receive a check for the payment of fees or taxes to be remitted to a department, accepts a check for the payment of a fee or tax, is liable to the state for the amount of the check accepted.

Rules for Acceptance of Checks and Collection of Dishonored Checks

Sec. 9. The State Comptroller of Public Accounts and the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation may make rules concerning the acceptance of checks by tax collectors and for the collection of dishonored checks.

Art. 7329a. Homestead Owned by Person 65 or Older; Collection of Delinquent Taxes Deferred or Abated

Suit to Collect Delinquent Taxes Prohibited; Affidavit

Sec. 1. No suit to collect delinquent ad valorem taxes on real property shall be filed by any tax unit of this state against property owned and occupied as a homestead, as defined in Article XVI, Section 51, of the Texas Constitution, by a person sixty-five (65) years of age or older during the time that it remains the homestead of such person; and provided further, that such person shall have filed for record with the county clerk of the county in which the land, or a part thereof, is located, prior to institution of suit by any tax unit, an affidavit containing the following:

(1) the birth date of the affiant;

(2) a description by metes and bounds, or other sufficient description to identify the property claimed as a homestead; and

(3) the signature of the affiant and acknowledgement or proof as in other instruments for record.

Defendant's Sworn Plea; Abatement of Suit

Sec. 2. In a suit for the collection of delinquent ad valorem taxes, the defendant may file a sworn plea stating that he is sixty-five (65) years old or older and that he is entitled to a residential homestead in the property. If the tax unit fails to file an affidavit controverting the sworn plea, or if on a hearing the court determines that the plea is true, the suit shall be abated until the property is no longer owned and occupied by the person sixty-five (65) years or older filing such sworn plea.

Right to Delinquent Taxes Not Extinguished or Released; Delay

Sec. 3. This Act does not extinguish or release the right of a tax unit to delinquent ad valorem taxes, and penalties (including "interest") against any property. In any suit upon which action is deferred or abated pursuant to this Act, such delay is not the basis for a plea of limitation, laches, or want of prosecution against a tax unit.

Penalties and Interest

Sec. 4. Penalties and interest continue to accrue during a period of deferment or abatement of suit as a result of this Act. Delinquent ad valorem taxes, penalties, and interest at all times remain a first priority lien upon the land and all mutations thereof until paid. A tax unit may sue for and foreclose its liens on all accrued delinquent ad valorem taxes and penalties (including "interest") when the homestead is no longer owned and occupied by the person sixty-five (65) years old or older who has claimed protection of this Act.

Payment of Taxes Due Not Precluded

Sec. 5. Nothing in this Act precludes any person sixty-five (65) years old or older from paying the ad valorem taxes due on residential homestead property. He or she may pay for any year(s) without losing his rights to protection under this Act for any year(s) when he is unable to pay or chooses not to pay.

Art. 7345b. Suits for Delinquent Taxes by Taxing Units

Sale for Less Than Adjusted Value or Aggregate of Judgments in Suit to Party Other Than Taxing Unit Prohibited; Distribution of Proceeds

Sec. 8. No property sold for taxes under decree in such suit shall be sold to the owner of said property, directly or indirectly or to anyone having an interest therein, or to any party other than a taxing unit which is a party to the suit, for less than the amount of the adjudged value aforesaid of said property or the aggregate amount of the judgments against the property in said suit, whichever is lower, and the net proceeds of any sale of such property made under decree of court in said suit to any party other than any such taxing unit shall belong and be distributed to all taxing units which are parties to the suit which by the judgment in said suit have been found to have tax liens against such property, pro rata and in proportion to the amounts of their respective tax liens as established in said judgment, but any excess in the proceeds of sale over and above the amount necessary to defray the costs of suit and sale and other expenses hereinabove made chargeable against such proceeds, and to fully discharge the judgments against said property, shall be paid by the sheriff or constable making the sale to the clerk of the court out of which execution or other final process issued to be retained and disposed of by him as follows:

Such excess funds shall be retained by the clerk of the court for a period of three (3) years from the date received, unless otherwise ordered by the court, after which time he shall forward such excess funds to the State Treasurer, who shall hold the same in trust to be paid to the owner against whom said taxes were assessed or the heirs or legal representative of a deceased owner. The clerk shall note upon the execution docket in each such case the amount of such excess funds, the date received by him, and the date transmitted to the State Treasurer, and shall accompany such remittance with a statement upon a form to be prescribed by the Comptroller showing the style and number of the case, the court from which execution issued, which statement shall be filed and kept by the Treasurer and a duplicate thereof shall be forwarded to the Comptroller, who shall also keep an account of such excess funds transmitted to the Treasury.

At any time during the three (3) year period such excess funds are retained by the clerk of the court, anyone claiming the same may file a petition in the case out of which execution or other process issued, setting forth in said petition the basis upon which claimant claims such excess funds, and the court shall set the same for hearing. A full copy of such petition and date set shall be served on the County or District Attorney of the county at least twenty (20) days prior to the date set for the hearing, and if there be intervening plaintiffs or attorney ad litem in the case previously, then a full copy of such petition shall also be timely served on each such plaintiff or attorney. Signed approval or waiver must be obtained from each such plaintiff or attorney before the petition may be approved and granted.

At any time within four (4) years from the date such excess funds are forwarded to the State Treasurer by the clerk of the court, anyone claiming the same may file a petition in the case out of which execution or other final process issued, setting forth in said petition the basis upon which claimant claims such excess funds, and the court shall set the same for hearing. A copy of such petition shall be served on the County or District Attorney of the county, at least twenty (20) days prior to the date of hearing, and a copy of such petition shall be forwarded to the State Treasurer and the Comptroller. The County Attorney, or District Attorney if there be no County Attorney, of such county, shall represent the State at such hearing.

If the court shall find that such claimant is entitled to recover such excess funds, it shall make an order directing the Comptroller to issue his warrant on the Treasury against such trust funds for the payment of same, but without interest or cost; a copy of which order under the seal of the court shall be sufficient voucher for issuing such warrant.

After expiration of four (4) years from date such excess funds are received by the Treasurer he shall transfer the same from the trust fund to the general revenue fund unless there is then pending a petition by a claimant of such excess funds not acted upon, and if such claimant has not within four (4) years as herein provided filed a petition for such excess funds, the same shall be forever barred, and no claim shall be thereafter filed or allowed.

This Act shall apply to and govern the handling and disposition of excess funds arising from delinquent tax sales in the hands of the District Clerk or the State Treasurer at the effective date of this Act. The District Clerk shall submit to the State Treasurer all such excess funds which have been in his hands three (3) years or more prior to the effective date of this Act, but the District Clerk shall have thirty (30) days from the effective date of this Act to comply herewith, and such excess funds may be claimed within (4) years from the effective date of this Act in the same manner as such funds transmitted to the State Treasurer under the terms of this Act after its effective date.

After the expiration of four (4) years from the effective date of this Act such excess funds remaining in the trust fund, unless a petition is then pending claiming such funds, the State Treasurer shall transfer all of such unclaimed funds from the trust fund to the general revenue fund and thereafter the claim for such funds shall be forever barred and no claim shall be thereafter filed or allowed.

Purchasing Taxing Unit to Hold Property for Itself and Other Taxing Units Adjudged to Have Liens; Sale by Purchasing Taxing Unit; Proceeds; Failure to Sell Within Six Months After Redemption Period Expires

Sec. 9. If the property be sold to any taxing unit which is a party to the judgment under decree of Court in said suit, the title to said property shall be bid in and held by the taxing unit purchasing same for the use and benefit of itself and all other taxing units which are parties to the suit and which have been adjudged in said suit to have tax liens against such property, pro rata and in proportion to the amount of the tax liens in favor of said respective taxing units as established by the judgment in said suit, and costs and expenses shall not be payable until sale by such taxing unit so purchasing same. During the time the taxing unit has title to the property, it shall preserve the status and value of the property by fencing, leasing, or other reasonable means until the property is redeemed or resold. If the property is leased during the redemption period, the rental income shall be used to maintain and improve the property, and the taxing unit shall keep records of the amount of rental income and its disposition. The taxing unit may sell and convey said property so purchased by it, or which has heretofore been purchased in the name of any officer thereof, at any time in any manner determined to be most advantageous to said taxing unit or units either at public or private sale, subject to any then existing right of redemption; and the purchaser of the property at any such sale shall receive all of the right, title and interest in said property as was acquired and is then held by said taxing unit under such tax foreclosure sale to it; but such property shall not be sold by the taxing unit purchasing the same, at private sale, for less than the adjudged value thereof, if any, as established in the tax judgment, or the total amount for which such judgment was rendered against the property in said suit, whichever is lower, without the written consent of all taxing units which in said judgment shall have been found to have tax liens against said property. All such consents shall be evidenced by the joinder in the conveyance by the consenting taxing units, acting by the officers herein authorized to give such consents. Consent to such sales in behalf of the State of Texas may be given by the County Tax Collector of the county in which the property is located; and consents on behalf of other taxing units may be given by the presiding officers of their governing bodies. Deeds executed hereunder by taxing units shall be executed in their behalf by the presiding officer of their governing body and whose authority to so act in any given case shall be prima facie presumed. When such property is so sold at public or private sale, the proceeds thereof shall be received by or paid over to the taxing unit which purchased said property at the tax foreclosure sale, for the account of itself and all other taxing units adjudged to have a tax lien against such property, and all taxing units so receiving said proceeds shall first pay out of the same all costs and expenses of Court and of sale, and distribute the remainder among all taxing units for which purchasing taxing unit purchased and held said property, pro rata and in proportion to the amounts of their tax liens against said property as established in said judgment. Public sales hereinabove provided for may either be made by the Sheriff, at the request of the taxing unit purchasing the property at the tax foreclosure sale, or by any Commissioner appointed by such taxing unit by resolution of its governing body. If the State of Texas is the taxing unit which purchased said property at the tax foreclosure sale, the Commissioners Court of the county in which the property is located shall have authority to act for the State of Texas in making private sales and conveyances of said property, as herein provided, or in requesting the Sheriff, or in appointing a Commissioner, to make public sale thereof, and in receiving and distributing the proceeds of such sales; and all sales and conveyances made in behalf of the State of Texas by the Commissioners Court, or made by the Sheriff or any Commissioner appointed by the Commissioners Court, under the provisions hereof, shall operate to transfer to the purchaser at such sale all right, title and interest acquired or held by the State of Texas as purchaser at the tax foreclosure sale. Any taxing unit, Sheriff, or Commissioner appointed by a taxing unit, making any sale under provisions hereof shall execute and deliver to the purchaser at such sale a deed of conveyance, conveying all right, title and interest of all the taxing units interested in the tax foreclosure judgment in and to the property so sold; provided, if the period for the redemption of said property from said tax foreclosure sale has not expired at the time of said sale, said conveyance shall be made expressly subject to the right of redemption provided in Section 12 of said Act.

Provided, however, that the methods of sale above set out shall not be exclusive and that if sale has not been made by, or at the instance of, the purchasing taxing unit within six (6) months after the redemption period has expired, any taxing unit which has obtained judgment in said suit may force the sale of said property by the Sheriff by written request to the Sheriff, and in the event such written request is so made to the Sheriff it shall be his duty to sell said property at public sale as hereinafter provided. All public sales provided for in this Section shall be made in the manner prescribed for the sale of real estate under execution. The notice of the sale shall contain a legal description of the property to be sold, the number and style of the suit under which same was sold at tax foreclosure sale and the date of said tax foreclosure sale; and the Sheriff or other officer making such sale is hereby authorized and it is hereby made his duty, to reject any and all bids for said land when in his judgment the amount bid is insufficient or inadequate, and in the event said bid or bids are rejected, the land shall be readvertised and offered for sale as herein provided, but the acceptance by the Sheriff or other officer authorized to make such sale of a bid for said land shall be conclusive and binding on the question of the sufficiency of the bid, and no action shall be sustained in any Court of this State to set aside said sale on the grounds of the inadequacy of the amount bid and accepted. Nothing herein shall be construed as prohibiting any taxing unit participating in said judgment from instituting action to set aside the said sale on the grounds of fraud or collusion between the officer making the sale and the purchaser, provided that such action be brought within two (2) years after such sale is made, and not afterward. The Sheriff or other officer making any such sale shall receive and pay over the proceeds thereof as hereinabove provided, and the same shall be distributed as herein provided.

All sales and conveyances heretofore made by taxing units, or officers thereof, of property purchased by them, or in the name of any officer thereof, at tax foreclosure sales, for the benefit of themselves and all other taxing units interested in the tax judgment, and all sales heretofore made by the Commissioners Courts, or the Attorney General joined by the County Tax Collector, of property purchased by the State of Texas at tax foreclosure sales for the benefit of itself and other taxing units, are hereby in all things confirmed and validated; provided that this validating provision shall in no way apply to or validate any such sale the validity of which is challenged in any now pending litigation; nor shall the same apply to or validate any such sale, in cases where the Sheriff upon written request of any taxing unit, has thereafter made sale of the same property at public outcry and all such so made by the Sheriff as provided in Section 9 of said Act prior to the taking effect of this Amendment, and all such sales so made by the Sheriff are hereby in all things confirmed and validated.

No action attacking the validity of any resale of property purchased by a taxing unit at a tax foreclosure sale, or any of said sale hereafter made in accordance with, or purporting to be made in accordance with, this Section shall be commenced after the expiration of one (1) year from the date of such sale.

Art. 7345f. Right of Appeal by Property Owner

Time for Filing Petition for Review

Sec. 1. A property owner is entitled to appeal a decision of any board of equalization to a district court of the State of Texas. A party who appeals to a district court must file a petition for review with the district court within 45 days after the tax roll containing the value involved is approved by the taxing authority.

Venue

Sec. 2. Venue is in the county in which the board of equalization that made the decision is located.

Trial by Jury

Sec. 3. Any party is entitled to a trial by jury on demand.

Value of Property Fixed

Sec. 4. (a) The issue to be determined by the district court in an appeal is whether or not the value of the property in question as ascertained by the board of equalization is in error.

(b) If the court or jury finds that the value as ascertained by the board of equalization is in error, meaning it is higher than the value set out by the property owner in a rendition filed prior to the board of equalization hearings as required by law, then the court or jury shall fix a value for the property in question as of January 1 of the tax year in controversy. In fixing the value of the property in question, the court or jury shall determine the cash market value and multiply that value by the assessment ratio, if any, in effect for the taxing authority involved.

(c) The value affixed by the court or jury pursuant to Subsection (b) above shall be binding on the taxing authority or authorities involved in the lawsuit for the tax year in question and for the succeeding tax year. However, in the succeeding tax year the taxing authority may add the value of subsequent improvements to the property, if any, to the value affixed by the court or jury.

Defense to Appeal

Sec. 5. When established by a preponderance of the evidence, it shall be a defense to an appeal under this article that the taxpayer failed to exercise good faith in estimating the cash market value set out in the rendition required in Subsection (b) of Section 4 of this article. A taxpayer does not fail to exercise good faith for purposes of this section if he makes a good faith effort to estimate the cash market value of the property and the assessment ratio, if any, in effect for the taxing authority and renders the value determined by multiplying his estimate of cash market value by the assessment ratio. A taxpayer shall be required to file with the board of equalization a sworn affidavit, in addition to the rendition, prior to invoking the provisions of this article but shall not be required to appear personally or by a representative.

Rights Cumulative

Sec. 6. The rights afforded taxpayers under this article are cumulative and do not preempt other remedies granted by statute or evolving by common law.

Injunctive or Restraining Order Relief

Sec. 7. The cause of action herein granted does not expand upon taxpayers' rights to sue for an injunction or restraining order as a member of a class. Rights granted hereunder are specifically prohibited from being the basis of injunctive or restraining order relief in a class action suit seeking to enjoin the putting into effect of a tax plan of a taxing authority.

Art. 1.11A. Tax Refunds

(1) This article applies to any sales or use, occupation, excise, gross receipts, gross production (as levied by Section 81.111, Natural Resources Code), franchise, license, or other tax or fee collected or administered by the comptroller of public accounts. It does not apply to the state ad valorem tax.

(2) When the comptroller determines that any tax, penalty, or interest has been collected erroneously or illegally, the excess amount may be credited against any amount then due and payable. Any balance may be refunded to the person by whom it was paid from funds appropriated for this purpose.

(3) Any person or his attorney, assignee, executor, or administrator, who has paid any of the taxes listed in Section (1) of this article directly to the state, may file a claim for refund with the comptroller within the applicable limitation periods provided under this title or within six months after any jeopardy or deficiency determination becomes final under this title, whichever expires later. If a refund claim is filed within six months after any jeopardy or deficiency determination becomes final under this title, the claim may only be for the tax, penalty, and interest and the period of time for which the jeopardy or deficiency determination was issued. Failure to timely file a claim constitutes a waiver of any demand against the state for the alleged overpayment.

(4) A claim for refund must be in writing and shall state the specific grounds upon which the claim is founded. The comptroller shall consider the claim and, if requested, shall grant the person an oral hearing with 20 days' notice of the time and place of the hearing.

(5) The decision of the comptroller upon a claim for refund becomes final 15 days after it is issued.

(6) A claimant who is dissatisfied in whole or part with the comptroller's decision upon a claim for refund may file a motion for rehearing before the decision becomes final. The motion for rehearing, which is prerequisite to filing an action in the courts of this state, must set forth in writing each specific ground upon which the claimant believes the decision of the comptroller is erroneous. If the comptroller denies the motion for rehearing, the claimant may bring an action against the comptroller on the grounds set forth in the claim by filing a petition in a district court of Travis County, Texas, within 30 days of the issue date of the denial of the motion for rehearing. Only the issues set forth in the motion for rehearing may be raised in the court action. The attorney general shall represent the comptroller in the suit. Failure to bring an action within the time specified constitutes a waiver of any demand against the state for the alleged overpayment.

(7) Any amount found due in any jeopardy or deficiency determination that has become final must be paid in full prior to a person filing a court action pursuant to this article.

(8) The trial of the issues raised by a suit shall be by trial de novo, and the reviewing court shall try all issues of fact and law in the manner applicable to other civil suits in this state. The action will cover only the liability periods reflected in the comptroller's decision.

(9) The amount of any judgment rendered in favor of the plaintiff shall be credited against any taxes, penalties, or interest levied by any article of this title or Section 81.111, Natural Resources Code, and due from the plaintiff. The remainder of the judgment shall be refunded to the plaintiff.

(10) In any judgment, interest shall be allowed at the rate of six percent per annum upon the amount found to have been erroneously paid from the date of payment of the amount to the date of allowance of credit on account of the judgment or to a date within 10 days of the date of the refund warrant, the date to be determined by the comptroller.

(11) The remedies provided by this article are cumulative and in addition to any other remedy for which provision is made in this title or other laws of this state.

(12) The rule of res judicata is applicable only if the refund amount involved is for the same time period and the issues are the same as were decided in a previous final judgment entered by a court of record of the State of Texas in a suit between the same parties.

(13) The comptroller may recover any refund or part thereof which is erroneously made and any credit or part thereof which is erroneously allowed in an action brought within one year from the date of refund or credit in the name of the state in a district court of Travis County, Texas.

[Amended by Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 97, ch. 59, § 1, eff. Aug. 27, 1979.]

Art. 1.13. Timely Filing of Reports

[See Compact Edition, Volume 2 for text of (a) to (g)]

(h) Notwithstanding any other specific provision in this title to the contrary, the comptroller is authorized to grant upon written request by any person required to file or make any report by this title on or before a specified date a reasonable extension of time not to exceed 45 days to make or file the return or returns. In order to be eligible for an extension of time in which to file a return, the person must state in the request the reasons or grounds for the extension of time and remit 90 percent of the taxes estimated to be due on or before the filing date specified in other provisions of the title.

(i) The comptroller may grant to any person who the comptroller finds to be a victim of a natural disaster an extension of not more than 90 days to make or file a return or to pay any tax imposed by this title. The person owing the tax may file a request for an extension at any time before or after the due date of the return or tax payment and before the expiration of 90 days after the original due date. If an extension under this section is granted, interest on the unpaid tax does not begin to accrue until the day after the day on which the extension expires, and tax penalties shall be determined and assessed as though the last day of the extension were the original due date.

(7) The motor vehicle owner required to collect, report, and pay the taxes on the gross rental receipts imposed by this Chapter is entitled to credit an amount equal to the taxes on the gross rental receipts of a motor vehicle paid by such owner to any other state in calculating the amount of the minimum gross rental receipts tax due and payable to the Comptroller. The credit provided herein is not transferable and cannot be applied against the amount of minimum gross rental receipts tax due and payable to the Comptroller from the rental of any other motor vehicle belonging to the same owner.

(2) The Comptroller shall give to the person written notice of the suspension or revocation of any of his permits.

(3) The notices may be served personally or by mail in the manner prescribed for service of notice of a deficiency determination.

(4) The Comptroller shall not issue a new permit after the revocation of a permit unless he is satisfied that the former holder of the permit will comply with the provisions of this Chapter and the rules and regulations of the Comptroller. The Comptroller may prescribe the terms under which a suspended permit may be reissued.

(5) The action of the Comptroller may be appealed by the taxpayer in the same manner as a final deficiency determination.

Where a transfer of title to a motor vehicle is made either as the result of an even exchange or of a gift, the two (2) principal parties to such a transaction shall make a joint affidavit setting forth the facts describing the nature of the transaction. In an even exchange no transfer of title shall be accomplished until the two (2) principal parties have paid a tax of Five Dollars ($5) each to the Tax Assessor and Collector. Where any party to a sale, exchange, even exchange or gift is a corporation, the president, vice president, secretary, manager or other authorized officer of the corporation shall make the affidavit for the corporation. (1) If the Comptroller upon audit of the records of the seller shall determine that the amount of tax due on any transaction was incorrectly reported on the joint affidavit so that the tax actually paid was less than that actually due or that the seller failed to execute and deliver to the purchaser a joint affidavit and any other documents necessary to register the vehicle, the seller shall then be liable for the full amount of tax determined to be due plus a penalty of ten per cent (10%) of the amount of tax due and interest on the amount of tax due computed at the rate of seven per cent (7%) per annum beginning sixty (60) days from the date on which the joint affidavit was executed. The Comptroller shall notify the seller in writing of his determination and the seller shall, within ten (10) days following the receipt of such notice pay to the Comptroller the amount of back taxes, penalty and interest. The Comptroller shall promulgate rules and regulations under which the seller may petition for a redetermination of liability and shall grant the seller an oral hearing. The Comptroller may decrease or increase the amount of his determination before it becomes final, but the amount may be increased only if a claim for the increase is asserted by the Comptroller at or before the hearing, in which case the seller shall be entitled to a thirty-day continuance of the hearing to allow him to obtain and produce further evidence applicable to the items upon which the increase is based.

(3) The taxes imposed by this Chapter do not apply to the sale of a motor vehicle to or use of a motor vehicle by a public agency; provided the vehicle is operated with exempt license number plates issued pursuant to Section 3–AA, Chapter 88, General Laws, Acts of the 41st Legislature, 2nd Called Session, 1929, as amended (Article 6675a–3aa, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes).

This exemption does not apply to a vehicle registered as a passenger vehicle and the primary use of which is for the personal or official needs or duties of a minister.

(c) For the purposes of this section, an "orthopedically handicapped person" is one who is so physically impaired that he is unable to operate a motor vehicle which has not been specially modified.

[Text of Sections (4) and (5) added by Acts 1977, 65th Leg., p. 635, ch. 233, § 5]

(4) The taxes imposed by this Chapter do not apply to the rental of a motor vehicle to a public agency. The tax which would have been remitted on gross rental receipts without this exemption shall be deemed to have been remitted for the purpose of calculating the minimum gross rental receipts tax due and payable to the Comptroller under the provisions of Section (6) of Article 6.01.

(5) The taxes imposed by this Chapter on the gross rental receipts from the rental of a motor vehicle do not apply to the rental of a motor vehicle for the purpose of re-rental. The minimum gross rental receipts tax imposed by Section (6) of Article 6.01 remains the obligation of the owner as defined in Section (J)(i) of Article 6.03; provided the owner may credit all gross rental receipts taxes remitted to the Comptroller on the re-rental of a motor vehicle registered in accordance with Article 6.041 for the purpose of calculating the amount of the minimum gross rental receipts tax due and payable to the Comptroller. A person authorized by Article 6.041 to register motor vehicles for rental may issue an exemption certificate to the owner of the motor vehicle. If the owner takes an exemption certificate in good faith he is relieved of the burden of proving that the vehicle was rented for the purpose of re-rental.

(2) If a petition for redetermination is filed within the 30-day period, the comptroller shall reconsider the determination and, if the person has so requested in his petition, shall grant the person an oral hearing and shall give him 20 days' notice of the time and place of the hearing. The notice may be served personally or by mail; if by mail, the notice shall be addressed to the permittee at his address as it appears in the records of the comptroller.

(3) In case of service by mail of any notice required by this chapter, the service is complete at the time of deposit in the United States Post Office.

(1) The comptroller may cancel or refuse to issue or reissue a motor fuel permit to any person who has violated or has failed to comply with any of the provisions of this chapter or any duly promulgated rule and regulation of the comptroller.

(2) Before any permit may be cancelled, or the issuance or reissuance refused, the comptroller shall give the permittee or permit applicant not less than 10 days' notice of a hearing at the office of the comptroller, in Austin, Texas, or at a specified comptroller's field office, granting the owner or applicant an opportunity to show cause before the comptroller why the proposed action should not be taken. If a permit is in effect, the permit remains in force pending the determination of the show-cause hearing. Notice must be in writing and may be mailed by United States registered mail or certified mail to the owner or applicant at his last known address, or may be delivered by the comptroller to the owner or applicant, and no other notice is necessary. In case of service by mail of any notice required by this chapter, the service is complete at the time of deposit in the United States Post Office.

(3) The comptroller may prescribe rules of procedure and evidence for the hearings in accordance with the Administrative Procedure and Texas Register Act.[1]

(4) If, after the hearing or the opportunity to be heard, the permit is cancelled or the issuance or reissuance refused by the comptroller, all taxes which have been collected or which have accrued, although the taxes are not then due and payable to the state, except by the provisions of this chapter, shall become due and payable concurrently with the notice of cancellation of the permit. The permittee shall within five days make a report covering the period of time not covered by preceding reports filed by the permittee and ending with the date of cancellation, and shall remit and pay to the comptroller all taxes which have been collected and which have accrued from the sale, use, or distribution of motor fuel in this state.

(5) On failure to file the reports required by this chapter and to remit all taxes due, the comptroller may examine any books and records incident to the conduct of the business of the person whose permit has been cancelled. The comptroller shall issue an audit deficiency determination of the amount of delinquent taxes, penalties, and interest, containing a demand for payment. The deficiency determination shall provide that if neither a payment is made nor a request for a redetermination is filed within 30 days from the date of the notice of the deficiency, the amount of the determination shall become due and payable. If the amount is not paid on or before the 44th day after service of the notice of the deficiency determination, the bond or other security required under this chapter shall be forfeited. The demand for payment shall be addressed to both the surety or sureties and the person who owes the delinquency.

(6) If the forfeiture of the bond or other security does not satisfy the delinquency, the comptroller shall certify the taxes, penalty, and interest delinquent to the attorney general, who may file suit against the person or his surety or both to collect the amount due. After being given notice of an order of cancellation, it shall be unlawful for any person to continue to operate his business under a cancelled permit. The attorney general may file suit to enjoin the person from continuing to operate under his permit until the person's permit is reissued by the comptroller.

(7) An appeal from an order of the comptroller cancelling or refusing the issuance or reissuance of a permit may be taken to the district court of Travis County, Texas, by the aggrieved permittee or applicant. The trial shall be de novo under the same rules as ordinary civil suits with the following exceptions:

(A) an appeal shall be perfected and filed within 30 days after the effective date of the order, decision, or ruling of the comptroller;

(B) the proceeding shall have precedence over all other causes of a different nature;

(C) the trial of the case shall commence within 10 days after its filing; and

(D) the order, decision, or ruling of the comptroller may be suspended or modified by the court pending a trial on the merits.

(A) inspect any premises where motor fuel, crude petroleum, natural gas, or any derivatives or condensates of crude petroleum, natural gas, or their products, methyl alcohol, ethyl alcohol, or other blending agents are produced, made, prepared, stored, transported, sold, or offered for sale or exchange;

(B) examine all of the books and records required to be kept, and any and all records incident to the business of any distributor, supplier, dealer, or any person, receiving or possessing, delivering, or selling motor fuel, crude oil, or derivatives or condensates of crude petroleum, natural gas, or their products, or any blending agents;

(C) examine and either gauge or measure the contents of all storage tanks, containers, and other property or equipment; and

Art. 9.008. Calibration: Cargo Tanks

(1) Before initially transporting gasoline or diesel fuel for sale or distribution, a person shall have the cargo tanks or other containers used for transporting gasoline or diesel fuel tested, measured, and calibrated by the comptroller, an authorized representative of another state, or a commercial calibration company which meets the calibration standards approved by the comptroller. Each person shall obtain a measurement certificate showing the capacity by liquid volume for each cargo tank or container and its compartments before transporting gasoline or diesel fuel.

(2) The owner of a cargo tank or container tested and measured by the comptroller may be required to pay to the state a reasonable fee for the water used to calibrate tank capacity.

(3) The measurement certificate or a duplicate measurement certificate shall be carried with the vehicle for which it was issued. The certificate number and the total capacities of each cargo tank must be marked on the rear of the vehicle. Compartment capacities must be marked on each compartment dome.

(4) Cargo tanks or containers that have been damaged, repaired, or modified in any way that might affect their capacity must be retested or remeasured before transporting gasoline or diesel fuel. The comptroller shall mark "out of order" on any cargo tank which is not in conformity with this article or with rules and regulations promulgated under this article.

Art. 9.009. Authority to Stop and Examine

In order to enforce the provisions of this chapter, the comptroller, a law enforcement officer of the Department of Public Safety, or any other peace officer may stop a motor vehicle that appears to be operating with or transporting motor fuel in order to examine the cargo manifest or invoices required to be carried, examine a permit or copy of a permit that may be required to be carried, take samples from the fuel supply or cargo tanks, and make any other investigation that could reasonably be made to determine whether the taxes have been paid or accounted for by a distributor, supplier, dealer, user, or any person required to be so permitted.

Art. 9.010. Impoundment, Seizure, and Sale

(1) If after examination or other investigation, it is found that the owner or operator of any motor vehicle or cargo tanks has not paid all motor fuel taxes due, or does not possess a valid permit as a distributor, supplier, user, dealer, or interstate trucker to use or transport motor fuel in motor vehicles operating on the public highways, the comptroller or peace officer may impound the motor vehicle or cargo tanks. Unless proof is produced within 72 hours from the beginning of impoundment that the owner or operator has paid the taxes and has paid all other taxes established by audit or investigation by the comptroller to be due on the motor fuel used or transported, or that the owner or operator holds a valid permit to use or transport motor fuel for such purposes, the motor vehicle or cargo tanks and cargo may be held until all taxes, penalties, and interest found to be due this state and all costs of impoundment have been paid, or until the owner or operator has filed a bond with the comptroller payable to the state treasurer in an amount equal to twice the amount of taxes, penalties, interest, and costs found to be due, to guarantee the payment of such liabilities to the state.

(2) If the owner or operator does not produce the required permit, pay the taxes, penalties, and interest due, or post the bond required, the comptroller may seize the impounded property and proceed to sale.

(3) The comptroller may seize and sell:

(A) all motor fuel on which taxes are imposed by this chapter which is found in the possession, custody, or control of any person for the purpose of being sold, transported, removed, or used by him in violation of this chapter;

(B) all motor fuel that is removed or is deposited, stored, or concealed in any place with intent to avoid payment of taxes;

(C) any automobile, truck, tank truck, boat, conveyance, or other vehicle used in the removal or transportation of the motor fuel to avoid payment of taxes; and

(D) all equipment, paraphernalia, storage tanks, or tangible personal property incident to and used for avoiding the payment of taxes and found in the place, building, or vehicle where the motor fuel is found.

(4) The comptroller, when making a seizure under this article, shall immediately make a written report showing the name of the agent or representative making the seizure, the place where or the person from whom the property was seized, an inventory of the property, and an appraisal at the usual and ordinary retail price of each article seized. The report shall be prepared in duplicate and signed by the agent or representative making the seizure. The original report shall be given to the person from whom the property is taken, and the duplicate shall be filed in the office of the comptroller and be open to public inspection.

(5) Notice of the time and place of a sale shall be given to the delinquent person in writing by certified mail at least 20 days before the date set for the sale. The notice shall be enclosed in an envelope addressed to the person at his last known address or place of business. It shall be deposited in the United States mail, postage prepaid. The notice shall also be published once a week for two consecutive weeks before the date of the sale in a newspaper of general circulation published in the county in which the property seized is to be sold. If there is no newspaper of general circulation in the county, notice shall be posted in three public places in the county 14 days before the date set for the sale. The notice shall contain a description of the property to be sold, a statement of the amount due, including interest, penalties, and costs, the name of the delinquent, and the further statement that unless the amount due, interest, penalties, and costs are paid on or before the time fixed in the notice for the sale, the property, or so much of it as may be necessary, will be sold at public auction in accordance with the law and the notice.

(6) At the sale, the comptroller shall sell the property and shall deliver to the purchaser a bill of sale for personal property and a deed for real property sold. The bill of sale or deed vests the interest or title of the person liable for the amount in the purchaser. The unsold portion of any property seized may be left at the place of sale at the risk of the person liable for the amount.

(7) The proceeds of a sale shall be allocated according to the following priorities:

(A) the payment of expenses of seizure, appraisal, custody, advertising, auction, and any other expenses incident to the seizure and sale;

(B) the payment of the tax, penalty, and interest; and

(C) the repayment of the remaining balance to the person liable for the amounts unless a claim is presented before the sale by any other person who has an ownership interest evidenced by a financing statement or lien, in which case, the comptroller shall withhold the remaining balance pending a determination of the rights of the respective parties.

Art. 9.011. Presumptions

(1) A distributor, supplier, dealer, interstate trucker, or user who fails to keep the records, issue the invoices, or file the reports required by this chapter, is presumed to have sold or used for taxable purposes all motor fuel shown by an audit by the comptroller to have been sold to the distributor, supplier, dealer, interstate trucker, or user. Any motor fuel unaccounted for shall be presumed to have been sold or used for taxable purposes. The comptroller may fix or establish the amount of taxes, penalties, and interest due the state from the records of deliveries or from any records or information available to him. If the tax claims as developed from this procedure are not paid, after the opportunity to request a redetermination, the claim and any audit made by the comptroller or any report filed by the distributor, supplier, dealer, interstate trucker, or user, are evidence in any suit or judicial proceedings filed by the attorney general, and are prima facie evidence of the correctness of the claim or audit. A prima facie presumption of the correctness of the claim may be overcome at the trial by evidence adduced by the distributor, supplier, dealer, interstate trucker, or user.

(2) In the absence of records showing the number of miles actually operated per gallon of motor fuel consumed, it is presumed that not less than one gallon of motor fuel was consumed for every four miles travelled. An interstate trucker may produce evidence of motor fuel consumption to establish another mileage factor. Whenever an examination or audit made by the comptroller from the records of an interstate trucker shows that a greater amount of motor fuel was consumed than was reported by the interstate trucker for tax purposes, the interstate trucker is liable for the tax, penalties, and interest on the additional amount shown or he is entitled to a credit or refund on overpayments of tax established by the audit.

Art. 9.012. Civil Penalty: Failure to Pay or Report

If a person having a permit as a distributor, supplier, user, dealer, or interstate trucker does not make timely reports and remittances of any taxes due under this chapter, the permittee forfeits as a penalty two percent of the amount due and unpaid, and if the taxes are not remitted or paid within 30 days from the date the comptroller gives the permittee notice of either the amount due or notice of failure to report, the permittee forfeits an additional eight percent of the amount due as a penalty. All past due taxes and penalties draw interest at the rate of nine percent per year.
