[O. C. 116.]

1. DEFINITION AND OBJECT OF THE WRIT

Article 113. [160-161] What writ is.—The writ of habeas corpus is the remedy to be used when any person is restrained in his liberty. It is an order issued by a court or judge of competent jurisdiction, directed to any one having a person in his custody, or under his restraint, commanding him to produce such person, at a time and place named in the writ, and show why he is held in custody or under restraint. [O. C. 117-118.]

Art. 114. [162] [152] To whom directed.—The writ runs in the name of "The State of Texas." It is addressed to a person having another under restraint, or in his custody, describing, as near as may be, the name of the office, if any, of the person to whom it is directed, and the name of the person said to be detained. It shall fix the time and place of return, and be signed by the judge, or by the clerk with his seal, where issued by a court. [O. C. 119.]

Art. 115. [163] [153] Want of form.—The writ of habeas corpus is not invalid, nor shall it be disobeyed for any want of form, if it substantially appear that it is issued by competent authority, and the writ sufficiently show the object of its issuance. [O. C. 120.]

Art. 116. [164] [154] Construction.—Every provision relating to the writ of habeas corpus shall be most favorably construed in order to give effect to the remedy, and protect the rights of the person seeking relief under it. [O. C. 121.]

2. BY WHOM AND WHEN GRANTED

Art. 117. [69-84-92-100-165] By whom writ may be granted.—The Court of Criminal Appeals, the district courts, the county courts, or any judge of said courts, have power to issue the writ of habeas corpus; and it is their duty, upon proper application, to grant the writ under the rules prescribed by law.

Art. 118. [166] [156] Returnable to any county.—Before indictment found, the writ may be made returnable to any county in the State. [O. C. 123.]

Art. 119. [167] [157] Return to certain county.—After indictment found, the writ must be made returnable in the county where the offense has been committed, on account of which the applicant stands indicted. [O. C. 124.]

Art. 120. [168] [158] Applicant charged with felony.—If a person is confined after indictment on a charge of felony, he may apply to the judge of the court in which he is indicted; or, if there be no judge within the district, then to the judge of any district whose residence is nearest to the court house of the county in which the applicant is held in custody.

Art. 121. [169] [159] Applicant charged with misdemeanor.—If a person is confined on a charge of misdemeanor, he may apply to the county judge of the county in which the misdemeanor is charged to have been committed, or, if there be no county judge in said county, then to the county judge whose residence is nearest to the court house of the county in which the applicant is held in custody.

Art. 122. [170] [160] Proceedings under the writ.—When application has been made to a judge under the circumstances set forth in the two preceding articles, he shall appoint a time when he will examine the cause of the applicant, and issue the writ returnable at that time, in the county where the offense is charged in the indictment or information to have been committed. He shall also specify some place in the county where he will hear the application. [O. C. 129.]

Art. 123. [171] [161] Early hearing.—The time so appointed shall be the earliest day which the judge can devote to hearing the cause of the applicant. [O. C. 127.]

Art. 124. [172] [162] Who may present petition.—Either the party for whose relief the writ is intended, or any person for him, may present a petition to the proper authority for the purpose of obtaining relief. [O. C. 128.]

Art. 125. [173] [163] "Applicant."—The word "applicant," as used in this chapter, refers to the person for whose relief the writ is asked, tho the petition may be signed and presented by any other person. [O. C. 129.]

Art. 126. [174] [164] Requisites of petition.—The petition must state substantially:

1. That the person for whose benefit the application is made is illegally restrained in his liberty, and by whom—naming both parties, if their names are known, or, if unknown, designating and describing them.

2. When the party is confined or restrained by virtue of any writ, order or process, or under color of either, a copy shall be annexed to the petition, or it shall be stated that a copy can not be obtained.

3. When the confinement or restraint is not by virtue of any writ, order or process, the petition may state only that the party is illegally confined or restrained in his liberty.

4. There must be a prayer in the petition for the writ of habeas corpus.

5. Oath must be made that the allegations of the petition are true, according to the belief of the petitioner. [O. C. 130.]

Art. 127. [175] [165] Writ granted without delay.—The writ of habeas corpus shall be granted without delay by the judge or court receiving the petition, unless it be manifest from the petition itself, or some documents annexed to it, that the party is entitled to no relief whatever. [O. C. 131.]

Art. 128. [176] [166] Writ may issue without application.—A judge of the district or county court who has knowledge that any person is illegally confined or restrained in his liberty within his district or county may, if the case be one within his jurisdiction, issue the writ of habeas corpus, without any application being made for the same. [O. C. 132.]

Art. 129. [177] [167] Judge may issue warrant of arrest.—Whenever it appears by satisfactory evidence to any judge authorized to issue such writ that any one is held in illegal confinement or custody, and there is good reason to believe that he will be carried out of the State, or suffer some irreparable injury before he can obtain relief in the usual course of law, or whenever the writ of habeas corpus has been issued and disregarded, the said judge may issue a warrant to any peace officer, or to any person specially named by said judge, directing him to take and bring such person before such judge, to be dealt with according to law. [O. C. 133.]

Art. 130. [178] [168] May arrest detainer.—Where it appears by the proof offered, under circumstances mentioned in the preceding article, that the person charged with having illegal custody of the prisoner is, by such act, guilty of an offense against the law, the judge may, in the warrant, order that he be arrested and brought before him; and, upon examination, he may be committed, discharged, or held to bail, as the law and the nature of the case may require. [O. C. 134.]

Art. 131. [179] [169] Proceedings under the warrant.—The officer charged with the execution of the warrant shall bring the persons therein mentioned before the judge or court issuing the same, who shall inquire into the cause of the imprisonment or restraint, and make an order thereon, as in cases of habeas corpus, either remanding into custody, discharging or admitting to bail the party so imprisoned or restrained. [O. C. 135.]

Art. 132. [180] [170] Officer executing warrant.—The same power may be exercised by the officer executing the warrant in cases arising under the foregoing articles as is exercised in the execution of warrants of arrest. [O. C. 136.]

Art. 133. [181] [171] Constructive custody.—The words, "confined," "imprisoned," "in custody," "confinement," "imprisonment," refer, not only to the actual, corporeal and forcible detention of a person, but likewise to any coercive measures by threats, menaces or the fear of injury, whereby one person exercises a control over the person of another, and detains him within certain limits. [O. C. 137.]

Art. 134. [182] [172] "Restraint."—By "restraint" is meant the kind of control which one person exercises over another, not to confine him within certain limits, but to subject him to the general authority and power of the person claiming such right. [O. C. 138.]

Art. 135. [183] [173] Scope of writ.—The writ of habeas corpus is intended to be applicable to all such cases of confinement and restraint, where there is no lawful right in the person exercising the power, or where, though the power in fact exists, it is exercised in a manner or degree not sanctioned by law. [O. C. 139.]

Art. 136. [184] [174] One committed in default of bail.—Where a person has been committed to custody for failing to enter into bond, he is entitled to the writ of habeas corpus, if it be stated in the petition that there was no sufficient cause for requiring bail, or that the bail required is excessive. If the proof sustains the petition, it will entitle the party to be discharged, or have the bail reduced. [O. C. 141.]

Art. 137. [185] [175] Person afflicted with disease.—When a judge or court authorized to grant writs of habeas corpus shall be satisfied, upon investigation, that a person in legal custody is afflicted with a disease which will render a removal necessary for the preservation of life, an order may be made for the removal of the prisoner to some other place where his health will not be likely to suffer; or he may be admitted to bail when it appears that any species of confinement will endanger his life. [O. C. 141.]

3. SERVICE AND RETURN OF THE WRIT, AND PROCEEDINGS THEREON

Art. 138. [186] [176] Who may serve writ.—The service of the writ may be made by any person competent to testify. [O. C. 143.]

Art. 139. [187] [177] How writ may be served and returned.—The writ may be served by delivering a copy of the original to the person who is charged with having the party under restraint or in custody, and exhibiting the original, if demanded; if he refuse to receive it, he shall be informed verbally of the purport of the writ. If he refuses admittance to the person wishing to make the service, or conceals himself, a copy of the writ may be fixed upon some conspicuous part of the house where such person resides or conceals himself, or of the place where the prisoner is confined; and the person serving the writ of habeas corpus shall, in all cases, state fully, in his return, the manner and the time of the service of the writ. [O. C. 144.]

Art. 140. [188] [178] Return under oath.—The return of a writ of habeas corpus, under the provisions of the preceding article, if made by any person other than an officer, shall be under oath. [O. C. 145.]

Art. 141. [189] [179] Must make return.—The person on whom the writ of habeas corpus is served shall immediately obey the same, and make the return required by law upon the copy of the original writ served on him, and this, whether the writ be directed to him or not. [O. C. 146.]

Art. 142. [190] [180] How return is made.—The return is made by stating in plain language upon the copy of the writ or some paper connected with it:

1. Whether it is true or not, according to the statement of the petition, that he has in his custody, or under his restraint, the person named or described in such petition.

2. By virtue of what authority, or for what cause, he took and detains such person.

3. If he had such person in his custody or under restraint at any time before the service of the writ, and has transferred him to the custody of another, he shall state particularly to whom, at what time, for what reason or by what authority he made such transfer.

4. He shall annex to his return the writ or warrant, if any, by virtue of which he holds the person in custody.

5. The return must be signed and sworn to by the person making it. [O. C. 147, 148.]

Art. 143. [191] [181] Applicant brought before judge.—The person on whom the writ is served shall bring before the judge the person in his custody, or under his restraint, unless it be made to appear that by reason of sickness he can not be removed; in which case, another day may be appointed by the judge or court for hearing the cause, and for the production of the person confined; or the application may be heard and decided without the production of the person detained, by the consent of his counsel. [O. C. 149.]

Art. 144. [192] [182] Custody pending examination.—When the return of the writ has been made, and the applicant brought before the court, he is no longer detained on the original warrant or process, but under the authority of the habeas corpus. The safekeeping of the prisoner, pending the examination or hearing, is entirely under the direction and authority of the judge or court issuing the writ, or to which the return is made. He may be bailed from day to day, or be remanded to the same jail whence he came, or to any other place of safe keeping under the control of the judge or court, till the case is finally determined.

Art. 145. [193] [183] Court shall allow time.—The court or judge granting the writ of habeas corpus shall allow reasonable time for the production of the person detained in custody.

Art. 146. [194] [184] Disobeying writ.—When service has been made upon a person charged with the illegal custody of another, if he refuses to obey the writ and make the return required by law, or, if he refuses to receive the writ, or conceals himself, the court or judge issuing the writ shall issue a warrant directed to any officer or other suitable person willing to execute the same, commanding him to arrest the person charged with the illegal custody or detention of another, and bring him before such court or judge. When such person has been arrested and brought before the court or judge, if he still refuses to return the writ, or does not produce the person in his custody, he shall be committed to jail and remain there until he is willing to obey the writ of habeas corpus, and until he pays all the costs of the proceeding. [O. C. 151.]

Art. 147. [195] [185] Further penalty for disobeying writ.—Any person disobeying the writ of habeas corpus shall also be liable to a civil action at the suit of the party detained, and shall pay in such suit fifty dollars for each day of illegal detention and restraint, after service of the writ. It shall be deemed that a person has disobeyed the writ who detains a prisoner a longer time than three days after service thereof, unless where further time is allowed in the writ for making the return thereto. [O. C. 152.]

Art. 148. [196] [186] Applicant may be brought before court.—In case of disobedience of the writ of habeas corpus, the person for whose relief it is intended may also be brought before the court or judge having competent authority, by an order for that purpose, issued to any peace officer or other proper person specially named. [O. C. 153.]

Art. 149. [197] [187] Death, etc., sufficient return of writ.—It is a sufficient return of the writ of habeas corpus that the person, once detained, has died or escaped, or that by some superior force he has been taken from the custody of the person making the return; but where any such cause shall be assigned, the court or judge shall proceed to hear testimony; and the facts stated in the return shall be proved by satisfactory evidence. [O. C. 154.]

Art. 150. [198] [188] When a prisoner dies.—When a prisoner confined in jail, or who is in legal custody, shall die, the officer having charge of him shall forthwith report the same to a justice of the peace of the county, who shall hold an inquest to ascertain the cause of his death. All the proceedings had in such cases shall be reduced to writing, certified and returned as in other cases of inquest; a certified copy of which shall be sufficient proof of the death of the prisoner at the hearing of an application under habeas corpus. [O. C. 158.]

Art. 151. [199] [189] Who shall represent the State.—If neither the county or district attorney be present, the judge may appoint some qualified practicing attorney to represent the State, who shall be paid the same fee allowed district attorneys for like services. [O. C. 156.]

Art. 152. [200] [190] Prisoner discharged.—The judge or court before whom a person is brought by writ of habeas corpus shall examine the writ and the papers attached to it; and, if no legal cause be shown for the imprisonment or restraint, or, if it appear that the imprisonment or restraint, though at first legal, cannot for any cause be lawfully prolonged, the applicant shall be discharged. [O. C. 157.]

Art. 153. [201] [191] Where party is indicted for capital offense.—If it appears by the return and papers attached that the party stands indicted for a capital offense, the judge or court having jurisdiction of the case shall, nevertheless, proceed to hear such testimony as may be offered on the part, both of the State and the applicant and may either remand or admit him to bail, as the law and the facts may justify. [O. C. 158.]

Art. 154. [202] [192] If court has no jurisdiction.—If it appear by the return and papers attached that the judge or court has no jurisdiction, such court or judge shall at once remand the applicant to the person from whose custody he has been taken.

Art. 156. [204] [194] Action of court upon examination.—The judge or court, after having examined the return and all documents attached, and heard the testimony offered on both sides, shall, according to the facts and circumstances of the case, proceed either to remand the party into custody, admit him to bail or discharge him; provided, that no defendant shall be discharged after indictment without bail. [O. C. 160.]

Art. 157. [205] [195] Void or informal.—If it appears that the applicant is detained or held under a warrant of commitment which is informal, or void; yet, if from the document on which the warrant was based, or from the proof on the hearing of the habeas corpus, it appears that there is probable cause to believe that an offense has been committed by the prisoner, he shall not be discharged, but shall be committed or held to bail. [O. C. 161.]

Art. 158. [206] [196] If proof shows offense.—Where, upon an examination under habeas

Art. 160. [208] [198] Written issue not necessary.—It shall not be necessary, on the trial of any cause arising under habeas corpus, to make up a written issue, though it may be done by the applicant for the writ. He may except to the sufficiency of, or controvert the return or any part thereof, or allege any new matter in avoidance. If written denial on his part be not made, it shall be considered, for the purpose of investigation, that the statements of said return are contested by a denial of the same; and the proof shall be heard accordingly, both for and against the applicant for relief. [O. C. 164.]

[O. C. 166.]

Art. 163. [211] [201] Record of proceedings.—If a writ of habeas corpus be made returnable before a court in session, all the proceedings had shall be entered of record by the clerk thereof, as in any other case in such court. When the application is heard out of the county where the offense was committed, or in the Court of Criminal Appeals, the clerk shall transmit a certified copy of all the proceedings upon the application to the clerk of the court which has jurisdiction of the offense. [O. C. 167.]

[O. C. 169.]

Art. 166. [214] [204] Court may grant necessary orders.—The court or judge granting a writ of habeas corpus may grant all necessary orders to bring before him the testimony taken before the examining court, and may issue process to enforce the attendance of witnesses.

Article 424. [488] [476] Bail forfeited, when.—Whenever a defendant is bound by recognizance or bail bond to appear at any term of a court, and fails to appear on the day set apart for taking up the criminal docket, or any subsequent day when his case comes up for trial, a forfeiture of his recognizance or bail bond shall be taken. [O. C. 407.]

Art. 425. [489] [477] Manner of taking a forfeiture.—Recognizances and bail bonds are forfeited in the following manner: The name of the defendant shall be called distinctly at the court house door, and, if the defendant does not appear within a reasonable time after such call is made, judgment shall be entered that the State of Texas recover of the defendant the amount of money in which he is bound, and of his sureties, the amount of money in which they are respectively bound, which judgment shall state that the same will be made final, unless good cause be shown at the next term of the court why the defendant did not appear.

Art. 426. [490] [478] Citation to sureties.—After the adjournment of the court, a citation shall issue notifying the sureties of the defendant that the recognizance or bond has been forfeited, and requiring them to appear at the next term of the court and show cause why the same should not be made final. It shall not be necessary to give notice to the defendant. [O. C. 409.]

Art. 427. [491] [479] Requisites of citation.—A citation shall be sufficient if it contain the following requisites:

1. It shall run, "In the name of the State of Texas."
2. It shall be directed to the sheriff or any constable of the county where the surety resides or is to be found.
3. It shall state the name of the principal in such recognizance or bail bond and the names of his sureties.
4. It shall state the offense with which the principal is charged as set out in the bond or recognizance, and state the date of such obligation.
5. It shall state that such recognizance or bail bond has been declared forfeited, naming the court before which the forfeiture was taken, the time when taken, and the amount for which it was taken against each party thereto.
6. It shall notify the surety to appear at the next term of the court and show cause why the forfeiture should not be made final.

7. It shall be signed and attested officially by the court or clerk issuing the same.

Art. 428. [492] [480] Citation as in civil actions.—Sureties shall be entitled to notice by service of citation, the length of time and in the manner required in civil actions; and the officer executing the citation shall return the same as in civil actions. [O. C. 412.]

Art. 429. [493] [481] Citation by publication.—Where the surety is a non-resident of the State, or where he is a transient person, or where his residence is unknown, the district or county attorney may, upon application in writing to the county clerk, stating the facts, obtain a citation to be served by publication; and the same shall be served by publication and returned as in civil actions.

Art. 430. [494] [482] Cost of publication.—When service of citation is made by publication, the county in which the forfeiture has been taken shall pay the costs thereof, to be taxed as costs in the case.

Art. 431. [495] [483] Service out of the State.—Service of a certified copy of the citation upon any absent or non-resident surety may be made outside of the limits of this State by any person competent to make oath of the fact; and the affidavit of such person, stating the facts of such service, shall be a sufficient return.

Art. 432. [496] [484] When surety is dead.—If the surety is dead at the time the forfeiture is taken, the forfeiture shall nevertheless be valid. The final judgment shall not be rendered where a surety has died, either before or after the forfeiture has been taken, unless his executor [executor], administrator or heirs, as the case may be, have been cited to appear and show cause why the judgment should not be made final, in the same manner as provided in the case of the surety.

Art. 433. [497] [485] Scire facias docket.—When a forfeiture has been declared upon a recognizance or bail bond, the court or clerk shall docket the case upon the scire facias or upon the civil docket, in the name of the State of Texas, as plaintiff, and the principal and his sureties, as defendants; and the proceedings had therein shall be governed by the same rules governing other civil suits.

Art. 434. [498] [486] Sureties may answer at next term.—At the next term of the court, after the forfeiture of the recognizance or bond, if the sureties have been duly notified, or at the first term of the court after the service of such notice, the sureties may answer in writing and show cause why the defendant did not appear, which answer may be filed within the time limited for answering in other civil actions. [O. C. 410.]

Art. 435. [499] [487] Proceedings not set aside for defect of form.—The recognizance or bail bond, the judgment declaring the forfeiture, the citation and the return thereupon, shall not be set aside because of any defect of form; but such defect of form may, at any time, be amended under the direction of the court.

Art. 436. [500] [488] Causes which will exonerate.—The following causes, and no other, will exonerate the defendant and his sureties from liability upon the forfeiture taken:

1. That the recognizance or bail bond is, for any cause, not a valid and binding undertaking in law. If it be valid and binding as to the principal, and one or more of his sureties, they shall not be exonerated from liability because of it being invalid and not binding as to another surety or sureties [sureties]. If it be invalid and not binding as to the principal, each of the sureties shall be exonerated from liability. If it be valid and binding as to the principal, but not so as to the sureties, the principal shall not be exonerated, but the sureties shall be.
2. The death of the principal before the forfeiture was taken.
3. The sickness of the principal or some uncontrollable circumstance which prevented his appearance at court, and it must, in every such case, be shown that his failure to appear arose from no fault on his part. The causes mentioned in this subdivision shall not be deemed sufficient to exonerate the principal and his sureties unless such principal appear before final judgment on the recognizance or bail bond to answer the accusation against him, or show sufficient cause for not so appearing.

4. Failure to present an indictment or information at the first term of the court which may be held after the principal has been admitted to bail, in case where the party was bound over before indictment or information, and the prosecution has not been continued by order of the court. [O. C. 414.]

Art. 437. [501] [489] Judgment final.—When, upon a trial of the issues presented, no sufficient cause is shown for the failure of the principal to appear, the judgment shall be made final against him and his sureties for the amount in which they are respectively bound; and the same shall be collected by execution as in civil actions. Separate executions shall issue against each party for the amount adjudged against him. The costs shall be equally divided between the sureties, if there be more than one. [O. C. 417.]

Art. 438. [502] [490] Judgment final by default.—When the sureties have been duly cited and fail to answer, and the principal also fails to answer within the time limited for answering in other civil actions, the court shall enter judgment final by default.

Art. 439. [503] [491] The court may remit.—If, before final judgment is entered against the bail, the principal appear or be arrested and lodged in jail of the proper county, the court may, at its discretion, remit the whole or part of the sum specified in the bond or recognizance. [O. C. 415.]

Art. 440. [504] [492] Forfeiture set aside.—When the principal appears before the entry of final judgment, and sufficient cause is shown for his failure to appear before the forfeiture is taken, and a trial is had of the criminal action pending against him, he shall be entitled to have the forfeiture set aside. The criminal action against him shall stand for trial, but the State shall not be forced to try the same until reasonable time has been allowed to prepare for trial, and the State shall, in such case, be entitled to a continuance. [O. C. 416.]

Art. 484. [548] [537] Personal recognizance of witness.—When it appears to the satisfaction of the court that personal recognizance of the witness will insure his attendance, no security need be required of him; but no bail shall be taken by any officer without security.

Art. 485. [549] [538] Enforcing forfeiture.—The recognizance or bail bond of a witness may be enforced against him and his sureties in the manner pointed out in this Code for enforcing the recognizance or bail bond of a defendant in a criminal case. [O. C. 437b.]

Change of venue to plead guilty.—When in any county which is located in a judicial district composed of more than one county, a party is charged with a felony and the maximum punishment therefor shall not exceed fifteen years, and the district court of said county is not in session, such party may, if he desires to plead guilty, make application to the district judge of such district for a change of venue to the county in which said court is in session, and said district judge may enter an order changing the venue of said cause to the county in which the court is then in session, and the defendant may plead guilty to said charge in said court to which the venue has been changed. [Acts 1917, p. 350.]

Art. 520. [584] [573] Plea of not guilty, how made.—The plea of not guilty may be made orally by the defendant or by his counsel in open court. If the defendant refuses to plead, the plea of not guilty shall be entered for him by the court. [O. C. 480.]

Art. 521. [585] [574] Plea of not guilty construed.—The plea of "not guilty" shall be construed to be a denial of every material allegation in the indictment or information. [O. C. 497.]

Art. 527. [592] [581] Quashing charge in misdemeanor.—If the motion to set aside or the exception to an indictment or information is sustained, the defendant in a misdemeanor case shall be discharged, but may be again prosecuted within the time allowed by law. [O. C. 504.]

Art. 528. [593] [582] Quashing indictment in felony.—If the motion to set aside or the exception to the indictment in cases of felony be sustained, the defendant shall not therefor be discharged, but may immediately be recommitted by order of the court, upon motion of the State's attorney or without motion; and proceedings may afterward be had against him as if no prosecution had ever been commenced. [O. C. 505.]

Art. 529. [594] [583] Shall be fully discharged, when.—Where, after the motion or exception is sustained, it is made known to the court by sufficient testimony that the offense of which the defendant is accused will be barred by limitation before another indictment can be presented, he shall be fully discharged. [O. C. 506.]

Art. 530. [595] [584] If exception is that no offense is charged.—If an exception to an indictment or information is taken and sustained upon the ground that there is no offense against the law charged therein, the defendant shall be discharged, unless an affidavit be filed accusing him of the commission of a penal offense. [O. C. 507.]

Art. 531. [596] [585] When defendant is held by order of court.—If the motion to set aside the indictment or any exception thereto is sustained, but the court refuses to discharge the defendant, then at the expiration of ten days from the order sustaining such motions or exceptions, the defendant shall be discharged, unless in the meanwhile complaint has been made before a magistrate charging him with an offense, or unless another indictment has been presented against him for such offense.

Art. 532. [597] [586] Exception on account of form.—If the exception to an indictment or information is only on account of form, it shall be amended, if defective, and the cause proceed upon such amended charge. [O. C. 508.]

Art. 533. [598] [587] Amendment of indictment or information.—Any matter of form in an indictment or information may be amended at any time before an announcement of ready for trial upon the merits by both parties, but not afterward. No matter of substance can be amended.

Art. 534. [599] [588] How amended.—All amendments of an indictment or information shall be made with the leave of the court and under its direction.

Art. 535. [600] [589] State may except to plea.—When a special plea is filed by the defendant, the State may except to it for substantial defects. If the exception be sustained, the plea may be amended. If the plea be not excepted to, it shall be considered that issue has been taken upon the same. [O. C. 509, 510.]

Art. 536. [601] [590] Former acquittal or conviction.—A former judgment of acquittal or conviction in a court of competent jurisdiction shall be a bar to any further prosecution for the same offense, but shall not bar a prosecution for any higher grade of offense over which said court had not jurisdiction, unless such judgment was had upon indictment or information, in which case the prosecution shall be barred for all grades of the offense.

Art. 537. [602] [591] Plea allowed.—Judgment shall, in no case, be given against the defendant where his motion, exception or plea is overruled; but in all cases the plea of not guilty may be made by or for him. [O. C. 512.]

S. CONTINUANCE

Art. 538. [603] [592] By operation of law.—Criminal actions are continued by operation of law if the accused has not been arrested or if there is not sufficient time for trial at that term of court. [O. C. 513.]

Art. 539. [604] [593] By agreement.—A criminal action may be continued by consent of the parties thereto, in open court, at any time.

Art. 540. [605] [594] For sufficient cause shown.—A criminal action may be continued on the written application of the State or of the defendant, upon sufficient cause shown; which cause shall be fully set forth in the application. [O. C. 514, 517, 520.]

Art. 541. [606] [595] First application by State.—It shall be sufficient, upon the first application by the State for a continuance, if the same be for the want of a witness, to state:

1. The name of the witness and his residence, if known, or that his residence is unknown.

2. The diligence which has been used to procure his attendance; and it shall not be considered sufficient diligence to have caused to be issued, or to have applied for, a subpoena, in cases where the law authorized an attachment to issue.

3. That the testimony of the witness is believed by the applicant to be material for the State. [O. C. 515.]

Art. 542. [607] [596] Subsequent application by State.—On any subsequent application for a continuance by the State, for the want of a witness, the application, in addition to the requisites in the preceding article, must show:

1. The facts which the applicant expects to establish by the witness, and it must appear to the court that they are material.

2. That the applicant expects to be able to procure the attendance of the witness at the next term of the court.

3. That the testimony can not be procured from any other source during the present term of the court. [O. C. 516.]

Art. 543. [608] [597] First application by defendant.—In the first application by the defendant for a continuance, it shall be necessary, if the same be on account of the absence of a witness, to state:

1. The name of the witness and his residence, if known, or that his residence is not known.

2. The diligence which has been used to procure his attendance; and it shall not be considered sufficient diligence to have caused to be issued, or to have applied for, a subpoena, in cases where the law authorized an attachment to issue.

3. The facts which are expected to be proved by the witness, and it must appear to the court that they are material.

4. That the witness is not absent by the procurement or consent of the defendant.

5. That the application is not made for delay.

6. That there is no reasonable expectation that attendance of the witness can be secured during the present term of court by a postponement of the trial to some future day of said term. The truth of the first, or any subsequent application, as well as the merit of the ground set forth therein and its sufficiency shall be addressed to the sound discretion of the court called to pass upon the same, and shall not be granted as a matter of right. If an application for continuance be overruled, and the defendant convicted, if it appear upon the trial that the evidence of the witness or witnesses named in the application was of a material character, and that the facts set forth in said application were probably true, a new trial should be granted, and the cause continued or postponed to a future day of the same term.

Art. 544. [609] [598] Subsequent application by defendant.—Subsequent applications for continuance on the part of the defendant shall, in addition to the requisites in the preceding article, state also:

1. That the testimony can not be procured from any other source known to the defendant.

2. That the defendant has reasonable expectation of procuring the same at the next term of the court. [O. C. 516.]

Art. 545. [610] [599] Application sworn to.—All applications for continuance on the part of the defendant must be sworn to by himself. [O. C. 521.]

Art. 546. [611] [600] Written motion not necessary.—No written motion for continuance is necessary; the motion, based upon the application, may be made orally. [O. C. 522.]

Art. 547. [612] [601] Controverting application.—Any material fact stated, affecting diligence, in an application for a continuance, may be denied in writing by the adverse party. The denial shall be supported by the oath of some credible person, and filed as soon as practicable after the filing of such application.

Art. 548. [613] [602] When denial is filed.—When such denial is filed, the issue shall be tried by the judge; and he shall hear testimony by affidavits, and grant or refuse continuance, according to the law and facts of the case.

Art. 549. [614] [603] Argument.—No argument shall be heard on an application for a continuance, unless requested by the judge; and, when argument is heard, the applicant shall have the right to open and conclude it.

Art. 550. [615] [604] Bail resulting from continuance.—If a defendant in a capital case demand a trial, and it appears that more than one continuance has been granted to the State, and that the defendant has not before applied for a continuance, he shall be entitled to be admitted to bail, unless it be made to appear to the satisfaction of the court that a material witness of the State had been prevented from attendance by the procurement of the defendant or some person acting in his behalf.

Art. 551. [616] [605] Continuance after trial is begun.—A continuance or postponement may be granted on the application of the State or defendant after the trial has begun, when it is made to appear to the satisfaction of the court that by some unexpected occurrence since the trial began, which no reasonable diligence could have anticipated, the applicant is so taken by surprise that a fair trial can not be had. [O. C. 526.]

9. DISQUALIFICATION OF THE JUDGE

Art. 552. [617] [606] Causes which disqualify.—No judge or justice of the peace shall sit in any case where he may be the party injured, or where he has been of counsel for the State or the accused, or where the accused or the party injured may be connected with him by consanguinity or affinity within the third degree.

Art. 553. [618] [607] District judge disqualified.—Whenever any case is pending in which the district judge or criminal district judge is disqualified from trying the same, no change of venue shall be made necessary thereby; but the judge presiding shall certify that fact to the Governor, whereupon the Governor shall designate some district judge in an adjoining district to exchange and try such case. The Governor shall notify both judges of such order, and said judges shall exchange districts for the purpose of disposing of such case. In case of sickness or other reasons rendering it impossible to exchange, then the parties or their counsels shall have the right to agree upon an attorney of the court for the trial thereof. If said judges shall be prevented from exchanging districts and the parties and their counsels shall fail to agree upon an attorney of the court for a trial thereof, that fact shall be certified to the Governor by either judge, whereupon the Governor shall appoint a person legally qualified to act as judge in the trial of the case. [Acts 1st C. S. 1897, p. 39, Acts 1915, p. 86.]

Art. 554. [621] County judge disqualified.—When the judge of the county court or county court at law is disqualified in any criminal case pending in the court of which he is judge, the parties may, by consent, agree upon a special judge to try such case. If they fail to agree upon a special judge to try such case, on or before the third day of the term at which such case may be called for trial, the judge presiding shall forthwith certify that fact to the Governor, who shall forthwith appoint some practicing attorney to try such case. [Acts 1893, p. 83.]

Art. 555. [620-622] Special judge to take oath.—The attorney agreed upon or appointed shall, before he enters upon his duties as special judge, take the oath of office required by the Constitution.

Art. 556. [620-622] Record made by clerk.—When a special judge is agreed upon by the parties or appointed by the Governor, as above provided, the clerk shall enter in the minutes as a part of the proceedings in such cause, a record showing:

1. That the judge of the court was disqualified to try the cause.

2. That such special judge (naming him) was by consent of the parties agreed upon or was appointed by the Governor to try the cause.

3. That the oath of office prescribed by law has been duly administered to such special judge. [Acts 1st C. S. 1897, p. 39.]

Art. 557. [623] [610b] Compensation.—A special judge selected or appointed in accordance with the preceding articles shall receive the same compensation as provided by law for regular judges in similar cases. [Id.]

Art. 558. [624] [611] Justice disqualified.—If a justice of the peace be disqualified from sitting in any criminal action pending before him, he shall transfer the same to the nearest justice of the peace of the county who is not disqualified to try it.

Art. 559. [625] [612] Order of transfer.—In cases provided for in the preceding article, the order of transfer shall state the cause of the transfer, and name the court to which the transfer is made, and the time and place, when and where, the parties and witnesses shall appear before such court. The rules governing the transfer of cases from the district to inferior courts shall govern in the transfer of cases under the preceding article.

10. CHANGE OF VENUE

Art. 560. [626] [613] On court's own motion.—Whenever in any case of felony the judge presiding shall be satisfied that a trial, alike fair and impartial to the accused and to the State, can not, from any cause, be had in the county in which the case is pending, he may, upon his own motion, order a change of venue to any county in his own, or in an adjoining district, stating in his order the grounds for such change of venue. [Acts 1876, p. 274; Const. art. 5, sec. 45.]

Reference to Const. art. 5, § 45, is erroneous. Reference should have been Const. art. 3, § 45.

Art. 561. [627] [614] State may have.—Whenever the district or county attorney shall represent in writing to the district court before which any felony case is pending, that, by reason of existing combinations or influences in favor of the accused, or on account of the lawless condition of affairs in the county, a fair and impartial trial as between the accused and the State can not be safely and speedily had; or whenever he shall represent that the life of the prisoner, or of any witness, would be jeopardized by a trial in the county in which the case is pending, the judge shall hear proof in relation thereto, and, if satisfied that such representation is well founded and that the ends of public justice will be subserved thereby, he shall order a change of venue to any county in his own, or in an adjoining district. [Acts 1876, p. 274.]

Art. 562. [628] [615] Granted on application of defendant.—A change of venue may be granted on the written application of the defendant, supported by his own affidavit and the affidavit of at least two credible persons, residents of the county where the prosecution is instituted, for either of the following causes, the truth and sufficiency of which the court shall determine:

1. That there exists in the county where the prosecution is commenced so great a prejudice against him that he can not obtain a fair and impartial trial.

2. That there is a dangerous combination against him instigated by influential persons, by reason of which he cannot expect a fair trial. [O. C. 527.]

Art. 563. [629] [616] Where jury can not be procured.—When an unsuccessful effort has been once made in any county to procure a jury for the trial of a felony and all reasonable means have been used, if it be made to appear to the court by the affidavit of the attorney for the State, or any other credible person, that no jury can probably be had in that county, the court may order a change of venue, and cause the reasons therefor to be placed upon the minutes of the proceedings. [O. C. 528.]

Art. 564. [630] [617] Time to make application.—An application for a change of venue may be heard and determined before either party has announced ready for trial; but, in all cases before a change of venue is ordered, all motions to set aside the indictment, and all special pleas and exceptions which are to be determined by the judge, and which have been filed, shall be disposed of by the court, and, if overruled, the plea of not guilty entered. [O. C. 592.]

Art. 565. [631] [618] Changed to nearest county.—Upon the grant of a change of venue, the cause shall be removed to some adjoining county, the court house of which is nearest to the court house of the county where the prosecution is pending, unless it be made to appear to the satisfaction of the court that such nearest county is subject to some objection sufficient to authorize a change of venue in the first instance. [O. C. 530.]

Art. 566. [632] [619] If adjoining counties objectionable.—If it be shown in the application or otherwise that all the counties adjoining that in which the prosecution is pending are subject to some valid objection, the cause may be removed to such county as the court may think proper. [O. C. 531.]

Art. 567. [633] [620] Application may be controverted.—The credibility of the persons making affidavit for change of venue, or their means of knowledge, may be attacked by the affidavit of a credible person. The issue thus formed shall be tried by the judge, and the application granted or refused, as the law and facts shall warrant.

[Acts 1907, p. 271; Acts 1911, p. 150.]

Art. 592. Venire in other counties.—Whenever a special venire is ordered in counties not included within the provisions of the preceding article, the name of each person selected by the jury commissioners to do jury service for the term at which such venire is required shall be placed upon tickets of similar size and color of paper and the tickets placed in a box and well shaken up; and from this box the clerk, in the presence of the judge, in open court, shall draw the number of names required for such special venire, and shall prepare a list of such names in the order in which they are drawn from the box, and attach such list to the writ and deliver the same to the sheriff. The sheriff shall immediately deliver such copy to the defendant, and return the writ, indorsing thereon the manner and time of its execution.

Art. 601. [672] [654] Time of service.—No defendant in a capital case shall be brought to trial until he has had one day's service of a copy of the names of persons summoned under a special venire, except where he waives the right or is on bail. When such defendant is on bail, he shall not be brought to trial until after one day from the time the list of persons so summoned have been returned to the clerk of the court in which said case is pending; but the clerk shall furnish the defendant or his counsel a list of the persons so summoned, upon their application therefor. Art. 612. [687] [668] Mode of testing.—In testing the qualifications of a juror after he has been sworn, he shall be asked by the court, or under its direction:

1. Are you a qualified voter in this county and State, under the Constitution and laws of this State?

If he answers both questions in the affirmative, the court shall hold him to be a qualified juror until the contrary be shown by further examination or other proof. [Acts 1st C. S. 1903, p. 16; Acts 1905, p. 207.]

Art. 613. [688–689] Passing juror for challenge.—A juror held to be qualified shall be passed for acceptance or challenge first to the State and then to the defendant. Challenges to jurors are either peremptory or for cause.

Where two or more defendants are tried together, the State shall be entitled to eight peremptory challenges for each defendant; and each defendant shall be entitled to eight peremptory challenges. [Acts 1897, p. 12.]

Art. 616. [692] [673] Reasons for challenge for cause.—A challenge for cause is an objection made to a particular juror, alleging some fact.

which renders him incapable or unfit to serve on the jury. It may be made for any one of the following reasons:

1. That he is not a qualified voter in the State and county, under the Constitution and laws of the State.

2. That he is neither a householder in the county nor a freeholder in the State.

3. That he has been convicted of theft or any felony.

4. That he is under indictment or other legal accusation for theft or any felony.

6. That he is a witness in the case.

7. That he served on the grand jury which found the indictment.

8. That he served on a petit jury in a former trial of the same case.

9. That he is related within the third degree of consanguinity or affinity to the defendant.

10. That he is related within the third degree of consanguinity or affinity to the person injured by the commission of the offense, or to the private prosecutor, if there be one.

11. That the juror has conscientious scruples in regard to the infliction of the punishment of death for crime.

12. That he has a bias or prejudice in favor of or against the defendant.

13. That from hearsay or otherwise there is established in the mind of the juror such a conclusion as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant as will influence him in his action in finding a verdict. To ascertain whether this cause of challenge exists, the juror shall first be asked whether, in his opinion, the conclusion so established will influence his verdict. If he answers in the affirmative, he shall be discharged; if he answers in the negative, he shall be further examined as to how his conclusion was formed, and the extent to which it will affect his action; and, if it appears to have been formed from reading newspaper accounts, communications, statements or reports or mere rumor or hearsay, and if the juror states that he feels able, notwithstanding such opinion, to render an impartial verdict upon the law and the evidence, the court, if satisfied that he is impartial and will render such verdict, may, in its discretion, admit him as competent to serve in such case. If the court, in its discretion, is not satisfied that he is impartial, the juror shall be discharged.

14. That he cannot read and write. This cause of challenge shall not be sustained when it appears to the court that the requisite number of jurors who are able to read and write cannot be found in the county. [O. C. 575; Acts 1st C. S. 1903, p. 16; Acts 1905, p. 207.]

Art. 617. [693] [674] Other evidence on challenge.—Upon a challenge for cause, the examination is not confined to the answers of the juror, but other evidence may be heard for or against the challenge. [O. C. 577.]

Art. 618. [694] [675] Certain questions not to be asked.—In examining a juror, he shall not be asked a question the answer to which may show that he has been convicted of an offense which disqualifies him, or that he stands charged by some legal accusation with theft or any felony. [O. C. 577.]

Art. 619. [695] [676] Absolute disqualification.—No juror shall be impaneled when it appears that he is subject to the third, fourth or fifth clause of challenge in article 616, tho both parties may consent.

Art. 620. [696] [677] Names called in order.—In selecting the jury from the persons summoned, the names of such persons shall be called in the order in which they appear upon the list furnished the defendant. Each juror shall be tried and passed upon separately. A person who has been summoned, but who is not present, may, upon his appearance before the jury is completed, be tried as to his qualifications and impaneled as a juror, unless challenged; but no cause shall be unreasonably delayed on account of such absence. [O. C. 556-558.]

Art. 621. [697] [678] Judge to decide qualifications.—The court is the judge, after proper examination, of the qualifications of a juror, and shall decide all challenges without delay and without argument thereupon. [O. C. 579.]

Art. 622. [698] [679] Oath to each juror.—As each juror is selected for the trial of the case, the following oath shall be administered to him by the court, or under its direction: "You solemnly swear that in the case of the State of Texas against the defendant, you will a true verdict render, according to the law and the evidence, so help you God." [O. C. 563.]

Art. 623. [699] [680] Jurors shall not separate.—The court may adjourn veniremen to any day of the term; but when jurors have been sworn in a case, those so sworn shall be kept together and not permitted to separate until a verdict has been rendered or the jury finally discharged, unless by permission of the court, with the consent of each party and in charge of an officer. [O. C. 605.]

Art. 624. [700] [681] Persons not selected.—When a jury of twelve men has been completed, the others in attendance under a summons to appear as jurors in the case shall be discharged from further attendance therein.

Art. 625. [701] Special pay for veniremen.—All men summoned on special venire who have been challenged or excused from service on the trial, and who reside more than one mile distant from the court house of the county, shall be paid, out of the jury fund, one dollar for each day that he attends court on said summons. No person shall receive pay as a special venireman and regular juror for the same day. No per diem shall, in any event, be allowed any venireman under this article, who resides within the corporate limits of the county seat, if incorporated, nor shall any per diem be allowed any venireman for more than one case the same day. Art. 631. [706] [686] Number reduced by challenge.—If the challenges reduce the number of jurors to less than will constitute a legal jury, the court shall order other jurors to be drawn or summoned and their names written upon the list instead of those set aside for cause.

Art. 632. [707] [687] Grounds of challenge.—Challenges for cause in all criminal actions are the same as provided in capital cases in article 616, except cause 11 in said article.

Art. 635. [710] [690] Number in misdemeanors.—The State and the defendant shall each be entitled to five peremptory challenges in a misdemeanor tried in the district court and to three in the county court or county court at law. The clerk shall, if the case be in the district court, call off the first twelve names on the lists that have not been erased; and, if the case be in the county court, he shall call off the first six names on the lists that have not been erased; those whose names are called shall be the jury. [Id.]

Art. 638. [713] [693] If jury is incomplete.—When, by peremptory challenges, the jury is left incomplete, the court shall direct other jurors to be

Art. 639. [714] [694] Oath to jury.—When the jury has been selected, the following oath shall be administered to them by the court, or under its direction: "You, and each of you, solemnly swear that in the case of the State of Texas against the defendant, you will a true verdict render according to the law and the evidence, so help you God." [O. C. 563.]

Art. 640. [715] [695] When no regular jurors.—When, from any cause, there are no regular jurors for the week from whom to select a jury, the court shall order the sheriff to summon forthwith such number of qualified persons as it may deem sufficient; and, from those summoned, a jury shall be formed.

2. The special pleas, if any, shall be read by the defendant's counsel, and if the plea of not guilty is also relied upon, it shall also be stated.
3. The State's attorney shall state to the jury the nature of the accusation and the facts which are expected to be proved by the State in support thereof.
4. The testimony on the part of the State shall be offered.
5. The nature of the defenses relied upon and the facts expected to be proved in their support shall be stated by defendant's counsel.
6. The testimony on the part of the defendant shall be offered.
7. Rebutting testimony may be offered on the part of each party. [O. C. 580.]

Art. 643. [718] [698] Testimony at any time.—The court shall allow testimony to be introduced at any time before the argument of a cause is concluded, if it appear that it is necessary to a due administration of justice. [O. C. 581.]

Art. 644. [719] [699] Witnesses placed under rule.—At the request of either party, the witnesses on both sides may be sworn and placed in the custody of an officer and removed out of the court room to some place where they can not hear the testimony as delivered by any other witness in the cause. This is termed placing witnesses under rule. [O. C. 582.]

Art. 645. [720-721] Part of witnesses under rule.—The party requesting the witnesses to be placed under rule may designate such as he desires placed under rule, and those not designated will be exempt from the rule, or the party may have all of the witnesses in the case placed under rule. The enforcement of the rule is in the discretion of the court.

Art. 646. [722] [702] Not to hear testimony.—Witnesses under rule shall be attended by an officer, and all their reasonable wants provided for, unless the court, in its discretion, directs that they be allowed to go at large; but in no case where the witnesses are under rule shall they be allowed to hear any testimony in the case.

Art. 647. [723] [703] Instructed by the court.—Witnesses, when placed under rule, shall be instructed by the court that they are not to converse with each other or with any other person about the case, except by permission of the court, and that they are not to read any report of or comment upon the testimony in the case while under rule. The officer who attends the witnesses shall report to the court at once any violation of its instructions; and the party violating the same shall be punished for contempt of court.

Art. 648. [724] [704] Order of argument.—The order of argument may be regulated by the presiding judge; but the State's counsel shall have the right to make the concluding address to the jury. [O. C. 585.]

Art. 649. [725] [705] Number of arguments.—The court shall never restrict the argument in felony cases to a number of addresses less than two on each side. [O. C. 586.]

Art. 651. [727] [707] Severance on separate indictments.—Where two or more defendants are prosecuted for an offense growing out of the same transaction, by separate indictments, either defendant may file his affidavit so stating, and that the evidence of such other party or parties is material for the defense of the affiant, and that affiant believes that there is not sufficient evidence against said party or parties to secure his or their conviction; and such party whose evidence is so sought shall be tried first. Such affidavit shall not, without other sufficient cause, operate as a continuance to either party. [Acts 1887, p. 33.]

Art. 652. [728] [708] Order of trial.—If a severance is granted, the defendants may agree upon the order in which they are to be tried, but if they fail to agree, the court shall direct the order of the trial.

Art. 653. [729] [709] May dismiss to use witness.—The State's attorney may, at any time, under the rules provided in this Code, dismiss a prosecution as to one or more defendants jointly indicted with others; and the person so discharged may be used as a witness by either party. [O. C. 588.]

Art. 654. [730] [710] Lack of evidence against joint defendant.—When it is apparent that there is no evidence against a defendant jointly prosecuted with others, the jury shall be directed to find a verdict as to such defendant; and, if they acquit, he may be introduced as a witness in the case.

Art. 655. [731-733] Discharge before verdict.—If it appears during a trial that the court has no jurisdiction of the offense, or that the facts charged in the indictment do not constitute an offense, the jury shall be discharged. The accused shall also be discharged; but such discharge shall be no bar in any case to a prosecution before the proper court for any offense.

Art. 656. [732] [712] Court may commit.—If the want of jurisdiction arises from the fact that the defendant is not liable to prosecution in the county where the indictment was presented, the court may in felony cases order the accused into custody for a reasonable length of time to await a warrant for his arrest from the proper county; or, if the offense be bailable, may require him to enter into recognizance to answer before the proper court; in which case a certified copy of the recognizance shall be sent forthwith to the clerk of the proper court, to be enforced by that court in case of forfeiture. [O. C. 591.]

Art. 657. [734] Jury are judges of fact.—The jury are the exclusive judges of the facts, but they are bound to receive the law from the court and be governed thereby. [O. C. 593.]

Art. 658. [735-736] Charge of court.—In each felony case the judge shall, before the argument begins, deliver to the jury a written charge, distinctly setting forth the law applicable to the case; not expressing any opinion as to the weight of the evidence, not summoning up the testimony, discussing the facts or using any argument in his charge calculated to arouse the sympathy or excite the passions of the jury. Before said charge is read to the jury, the defendant or his counsel shall have a reasonable time to examine the same and he shall present his objections thereto in writing, distinctly specifying each ground of objection. [Acts 1913, p. 278.]

Art. 659. [737] [717] Requested special charges.—Before the court reads his charge to the jury, counsel on both sides shall have a reasonable time to present written instructions and ask that they be given to the jury. The court shall give or refuse these charges with or without modification, and certify thereto; and, when the court shall modify a charge it shall be done in writing and in such manner as to show clearly what the modification is. [Id.]

Art. 660. Final charge.—After the judge shall have received the objections to his main charge, together with any special charges offered, he may make such changes in his main charge as he may deem proper, and the defendant or his counsel shall have the opportunity to present their objections thereto and in the same manner as is provided in article 658, and thereupon the judge shall read his charge to the jury as finally written, together with any special charges given. After the argument begins no further charge shall be given to the jury unless required by the improper argument of counsel or the request of the jury, or unless the judge shall, in his discretion, permit the introduction of other testimony, and in the event of such further charge the defendant or his counsel shall have the right to present objections in the same manner as is prescribed in Article 658. The failure of the court to give the defendant or his counsel a reasonable time to examine the charge and specify the ground of objection shall be subject to review either in the trial court or in the appellate court. [Id.]

Art. 661. [738] [718] Charge certified by judge.—The general charge given by the court and all special charges given or refused shall be certified by the judge and filed among the papers in the cause. [O. C. 595.]

give or refuse such charges, with or without modification, as are asked in writing. [O. C. 598.]

Art. 663. [740] [720] Verbal charge.—A verbal charge shall be given only in a misdemeanor case, and then only by consent of the parties.

Art. 664. [741] [721] Reading special charges.—The judge shall read to the jury only such special charges as he gives.

Art. 665. [742] [722] Jury may take charge.—The jury may take to their jury room the charges given by the court after the same have been filed. They shall not be permitted to take with them any charge or part thereof which the court has refused to give. [O. C. 601.]

Art. 666. [743] [723] Review of charge on appeal.—Whenever it appears by the record in any criminal action upon appeal that any requirement of the eight preceding articles has been disregarded, the judgment shall not be reversed unless the error appearing from the record was calculated to injure the rights of defendant, or unless it appears from the record that the defendant has not had a fair and impartial trial. All objections to the charge and to the refusal or modification of special charges shall be made at the time of the trial. [O. C. 602; Acts 1897, p. 17; Acts 1913, p. 278.]

Art. 667. [744] [724] Bill of exceptions.—The defendant, by himself or counsel, may tender his bill of exceptions to any decision, opinion, order or charge of the court or other proceedings in the case; and the judge shall sign such bill of exceptions, under the rules prescribed in civil suits, in order that such decision, opinion, order or charge may be revised upon appeal.

Art. 668. [745] [725] Separation of jury.—After the jury has been sworn and impaneled to try any felony case, they shall not be permitted to separate until they have returned a verdict, unless by permission of the court, with the consent of the attorney representing the State and the defendant, and in charge of an officer. [O. C. 605.]

Art. 669. [746] [726] Separation in misdemeanor.—In misdemeanor cases the court may, at its discretion, permit the jury to separate before the verdict, after giving them proper instructions in regard to their conduct as jurors while so separated.

Art. 670. [747] [727] To provide jury room.—The sheriff shall provide a suitable room for the deliberation of the jury and supply them with such necessary food and lodging as he can obtain. No intoxicating liquor shall be furnished them. [O. C. 606.]

Art. 671. [748] [728] Conversing with jury.—No person shall be permitted to be with a jury while they are deliberating upon a case, nor be permitted to converse with a juror after he has been impaneled, except in the presence and by the permission of the court, or except in a case of misdemeanor where the jury have been permitted by the court to separate. No person shall be permitted to converse with the juror about the case on trial.

Art. 672. [749] [729] Violation of preceding article.—Any juror or other person violating the preceding article shall be punished for contempt of court by fine not exceeding one hundred dollars.

Art. 673. [750] [730] Officer shall attend jury.—To supply all the reasonable wants of the jury, and to keep them together and to prevent intercourse with any other person, the sheriff shall see that they are constantly attended by a proper officer, who shall always remain sufficiently near the jury to answer any call made upon him, but shall not be with them while they are discussing the case; nor shall such officer, at any time while the case is on trial before them, converse about the case with any of them, nor in the presence of any of them. [O. C. 608, 609.]

Art. 674. [751] [731] Written evidence.—The jury may take with them any writing used as evidence. [O. C. 610.]

Art. 675. [752] [732] Foreman of jury.—Each jury shall appoint one of their body foreman. [O. C. 611.]

Art. 676. [753] [733] Jury may communicate with court.—When the jury wish to communicate with the court, they shall so notify the sheriff, who shall inform the court thereof; and they may be brought before the court, and through their foreman shall state to the court verbally or in writing, what they desire to communicate. [O. C. 612, 613.]

Art. 677. [754] [734] Jury may ask further instruction.—The jury, after having retired, may ask further instruction of the judge as to any matter of law. For this purpose the jury shall appear before the judge in open court in a body, and through their foreman shall state to the court, verbally or in writing, the particular point of law upon which they desire further instruction; and the court shall give such instruction in writing, but no instruction shall be given except upon the particular point on which it is asked. [O. C. 614.]

Art. 678. [755] [735] Jury may have witness re-examined.—If the jury disagree as to the statement of any witness, they may, upon applying to the court, have such witness recalled, and the judge shall direct him to repeat his testimony as to the point in dispute, and no other, and as nearly as he can in the language he used on the trial. [O. C. 615.]

Art. 679. [756] [736] Presence of defendant.—In felony but not in misdemeanor cases, the defendant shall be present in the court when any such proceeding is had as mentioned in the three preceding articles, and his counsel shall also be called.

Art. 680. [757] [737] If a juror becomes sick.—After the retirement of the jury in a felony case, if any one of them becomes so sick as to prevent the continuance of his duty, or any accident or circumstance occurs to prevent their being kept together, the jury may be discharged. [O. C. 618.]

Art. 681. [758] [738] Discharging jury in misdemeanor.—If nine of the jury can be kept together in a misdemeanor case in the district court, they shall not be discharged. If more than three of the twelve are discharged, the entire jury shall be discharged. [Acts 1876, p. 82.]

Art. 682. [759] [739] Disagreement of jury.—After the cause is submitted to the jury, they may be discharged when they can not agree and both parties consent to their discharge; or the court may in its discretion discharge them where they have been kept together for such time as to render it altogether improbable that they can agree. [O. C. 619.]

Art. 683. [760] [740] Final adjournment, discharges jury.—A final adjournment of the court before the jury have agreed upon a verdict discharges them. [O. C. 620.]

Art. 684. [761] [741] Discharge without verdict.—When a jury has been discharged, as provided in the four preceding articles, without having rendered a verdict, the cause may be again tried at the same or another term. [O. C. 621.]

Where there are special pleas upon which the jury are to find, they must say in their verdict that the allegations in such pleas are true or untrue. If the plea is not guilty, they must find that the defendant is either "guilty" or "not guilty," and they shall assess the punishment in all cases where the same is not absolutely fixed by law to some particular penalty. [O. C. 626.]

Art. 694. [771] [751] Offenses of different degree charged.—In a prosecution for an offense including lower offenses, the jury may find the defendant not guilty of the higher offense, but guilty of any lower offense included. [O. C. 630.]

[O. C. 643.]

Art. 707. [787] [767] [729] Judge shall not discuss evidence.—In ruling upon the admissibility of evidence, the judge shall not discuss or comment upon the weight of the same or its bearing in the case, but shall simply decide whether or not it is admissible; nor shall he, at any stage of the proceedings previous to the return of a verdict, make any remark calculated to convey to the jury his opinion of the case.

[Acts 1925, 39th Leg., ch. 27, p. 145, § 1; Acts 1926, 39th Leg., 1st C. S., p. 20, ch. 13, § 1.]

[Acts 1891, p. 34.]

Art. 710. [790] [770] Defendant may testify.—Any defendant in a criminal action shall be permitted to testify in his own behalf therein, but the failure of any defendant to so testify shall not be taken as a circumstance against him, nor shall the same be alluded to or commented on by counsel in the cause; provided, that where there are two or more persons jointly charged or indicted, and a severance is had, the privilege of testifying shall be extended only to the party on trial. [Acts 1889, p. 37.]

[O. C. 230.]

Art. 712. [O. C. 645.]

Art. 713. [793] [773] All others competent witnesses.—All other persons, except those enumerated in articles 708 and 714, whatever may be the relationship between the defendant and witness, are competent to testify, except that an attorney at law shall not disclose a communication made to him by his client during the existence of that relationship, nor disclose any other fact which came to the knowledge of such attorney by reason of such relationship. [O. C. 646.]

The husband and wife may, in all criminal actions, be witnesses for each other; but they shall in no case testify against each other except in a criminal prosecution for an offense committed by one against the other. [O. C. 648.]

Art. 717. [798-9-800] Judge as a witness.—The trial judge is a competent witness for either the State or the accused, and may be sworn by the clerk of his court and examined, but he is not required to testify if he declares that there is no fact within his knowledge important in the case.

Art. 718. [801] [781] Testimony of accomplice.—A conviction cannot be had upon the testimony of an accomplice unless corroborated by other evidence tending to connect the defendant with the offense committed; and the corroboration is not sufficient if it merely shows the commission of the offense. [O. C. 653.]

Art. 719. [802] [782] Injured party.—In trials for forgery, the person whose name is alleged to have been forged is a competent witness; and unless otherwise specially provided for, the person injured, or attempted to be injured, is a competent witness. [O. C. 658.]

[804] [784] Evidence in treason.—Evidence shall not be admitted in a prosecution for treason as to an overt act not expressly charged in the indictment; nor shall any person be convicted under an indictment for treason unless one or more overt acts are expressly charged therein. [O. C. 655.]

Art. 722. [805] [785] Two witnesses required.—In all cases where, by law, two witnesses, or one with corroborating circumstances, are required to authorize a conviction, if the requirement be not fulfilled, the court shall instruct the jury to render a verdict of acquittal, and they are bound by the instruction. [O. C. 656.]

Art. 723. [806] [786] Perjury and false swearing.—In trials for perjury or false swearing, no person shall be convicted except upon the testimony of two credible witnesses, or of one credible witness corroborated strongly by other evidence as to the falsity of the defendant's statement under oath, or upon his own confession in open court. [O. C. 657.]

Art. 724. [807] [787] Intent to defraud in forgery.—In trials of forgery, it need not be proved that the defendant committed the act with intent to defraud any particular person. It shall be sufficient to prove that the forgery was, in its nature, calculated to injure or defraud any of the sovereignties, bodies corporate or politic, officers or persons, named in the definition of forgery in the Penal Code. [O. C. 659.]

4. DYING DECLARATIONS AND CONFESSIONS

Art. 725. [808] [788] Dying declarations.—The dying declaration of a deceased person may be offered in evidence, either for or against a defendant charged with the homicide of such deceased person, under the restrictions hereafter provided. To render the declarations of the deceased competent evidence, it must be satisfactorily proved:

1. That at the time of making such declaration he was conscious of approaching death, and believed there was no hope of recovery.
2. That such declaration was voluntarily made, and not through the persuasion of any person.
3. That such declaration was not made in answer to interrogatories calculated to lead the deceased to make any particular statement.

Art. 727. [810] [790] When confession shall not be used.—The confession shall not be used if, at the time it was made, the defendant was in jail or other place of confinement, nor while he is in the custody of an officer, unless made in the voluntary statement of accused, taken before an examining court in accordance with law, or be made in writing and signed by him; which written statement shall show that he has been warned by the person to whom the same is made: First, that he does not have to make any statement at all. Second, that any statement made may be used in evidence against him on his trial for the offense concerning which the confession is therein made; or, unless in connection with said confession, he makes statements of facts or circumstances that are found to be true, which conduce to establish his guilt, such as the finding of secreted or stolen property, or the instrument with which he states the offense was committed. If the defendant is unable to write his name, and signs the statement by making his mark, such statement shall not be admitted in evidence, unless it be witnessed by some person other than a peace officer, who shall sign the same as a witness. [O. C. 662; Acts 1907, p. 219.]

Art. 727a. Evidence not to be used.—No evidence obtained by an officer or other person in violation of any provision of the Constitution or laws of the State of Texas, or of the United States of America, shall be admitted in evidence against the accused on the trial of any criminal case. [815] [795] Attacking testimony of his own witness.—The rule that a party introducing a witness shall not attack his testimony is so far modified as that any party, when facts stated by the witness are injurious to his cause, may attack his testimony in other manner, except by proving the bad character of the witness. [O. C. 668.]

Art. 733. [816] [796] Interpreter.—When a witness does not understand and speak the English language, an interpreter must be sworn to interpret for him. PROCEEDINGS AFTER VERDICT

Chap.

4. Execution of Judgment.

CHAPTER ONE

NEW TRIALS

Art.

751. Definition of "new trial."
 752. Granted only to accused.
 753. Grounds for new trial in felony.
 754. In misdemeanors.
 755. Time to apply for new trial.
 756. Motion to be in writing.
 757. State may controvert motion.
 758. Judge not to discuss evidence.
 759. Effect of a new trial.
 760. Statement of facts and bills of exception.
 760a. Filing of statements of fact and bills of exception.
 760b. Consideration in Appellate Court.

Article 751. [835] [815] Definition of "new trial."—A "new trial" is the rehearing of a criminal action, after verdict, before the judge or another jury. [O. C. 669.]

Art. 752. [836] [816] Granted only to accused.—A new trial can in no case be granted where the verdict or judgment has been rendered for the accused. [O. C. 670.]

Art. 753. [837] [817] Grounds for new trial in felony.—New trials, in cases of felony, shall be granted for the following causes, and for no other:

1. Where the defendant has been tried in his absence, or has been denied counsel.
2. Where the court has misdirected the jury as to the law, or has committed any other material error calculated to injure the rights of the defendant.
3. Where the verdict has been decided by lot, or in any other manner than by a fair expression of opinion by the jurors.
4. Where a juror has received a bribe to convict, or has been guilty of any other corrupt conduct.
5. Where any material witness of the defendant has, by force, threats or fraud, been prevented from attending the court, or where any written evidence, tending to establish the innocence of the defendant, has been intentionally destroyed or removed so that it could not be produced upon the trial.
6. Where new testimony material to the defendant has been discovered since the trial. A motion for a new trial on this ground shall be governed by the rules which regulate civil suits.
7. Where the jury, after having retired to deliberate upon a case, have received other testimony; or where a juror has conversed with any person in regard to the case; or where any juror at any time during the trial or after retiring, may have become so intoxicated as to render it probable his verdict was influenced thereby. The mere drinking of liquor by a juror shall not be sufficient ground for a new trial.
8. Where, from the misconduct of the jury, the court is of opinion that the defendant has not received a fair and impartial trial. It shall be competent to prove such misconduct by the voluntary affidavit of a juror; and the verdict may, in like manner, be sustained by such affidavit.
9. Where the verdict is contrary to law and evidence.—A verdict is not contrary to the law and evidence, within the meaning of this provision, where the defendant is found guilty of an offense of inferior grade to, but of the same nature as, the offense proved. [O. C. 672.]

Art. 754. [838] [818] In misdemeanors.—New trials in misdemeanor cases may be granted for any cause specified in the preceding article, except that contained in subdivision one of said article.

Art. 755. [839] [819] Time to apply for new trial.—A new trial must be applied for within two days after the conviction; but in felony cases for good cause shown, the court may allow the motion to be made at any time before the adjournment of the term at which the conviction was had. When the court adjourns before the expiration of two days after the conviction, the motion shall be made before the adjournment.

Art. 756. [840] [820] Motion to be in writing.—All motions for new trials shall set forth distinctly in writing the grounds upon which the new trial is asked.

Art. 757. [841] [821] State may controvert motion.—The State may take issue with the defendant upon the truth of any cause set forth in the motion for a new trial: and, in such case, the judge shall hear evidence, by affidavit or otherwise, and determine the issue.

Art. 758. [842] [822] Judge not to discuss evidence.—In granting or refusing a new trial, the judge shall not sum up, discuss or comment upon the evidence in the case, but shall simply grant or refuse the motion, without prejudice to either party.

Art. 759. [843] [823] Effect of a new trial.—The effect of a new trial is to place the cause in the same position in which it was before any trial had taken place. The former conviction shall be regarded as no presumption of guilt, nor shall it be alluded to in the argument. [O. C. 674.]

Art. 760. [844-5-6] Statement of facts and bills of exception.—1. Right to statement.—If a new trial be refused, a statement of facts may be made, ordered, agreed to, approved and certified as in civil suits. Where the defendant has failed to move for a new trial he is, nevertheless, entitled, if he appeals, to have a statement of the facts certified and sent up with the record.

2. To accompany transcript.—The statement of facts in felony cases shall not be copied in the transcript of the clerk, but when agreed to by the parties and approved by the judge, shall be filed in duplicate with the clerk, and the original sent up as a part of the record in the cause on appeal; and like procedure shall be followed if the statement of facts is prepared by the parties or by the judge on the failure of the parties to agree. On appeal from a conviction of misdemeanor, the statement of facts shall be copied in the transcript.

3. Failure to agree.—In all felony cases appealed, whenever the State and defendant can not agree as to the testimony of any witness, then so much of the transcript of the official court reporter's report with reference to each such disputed fact shall be inserted in the statement of facts as is necessary to show what the witness testified to in regard to the same, and constitute a part of the statement of facts, and the same shall apply to the preparation of bills of exception. Such stenographer's report, when carried into the statement of facts or bills of exception, shall be condensed so as not to contain the questions and answers except where, in the opinion of the judge, such questions and answers may be necessary in order to elucidate the fact or question involved.

4. Statement prepared by judge.—When the duty devolves upon the court to prepare the statement of facts, he shall have such time in which to do so as he deems necessary, not to exceed forty days after he receives the defendant's statement of facts.

5. Time to file.—The term "statement of facts," as used in this subdivision, includes only the facts adduced upon the trial upon the issue of guilt. A statement of facts in a felony case filed within ninety days from the date the notice of appeal is given shall be considered as having been filed within the time allowed by law for filing same, notwithstanding the succeeding provisions of this subdivision. When an appeal is taken from the judgment rendered in any criminal action in any district court, criminal district court, county court, or county court at law, the defendant shall be entitled, with or without an order of court, to thirty days after the day of adjournment of court in which to prepare or cause to be prepared and filed a statement of facts and bills of exception; and upon good cause shown, the judge trying the cause may extend the time in which to file a statement of facts and bills of exception, and shall have the power in term time or vacation, upon the application of either party for good cause, to extend the several times for the preparation and filing of the statement of facts and bills of exception, but the same shall not be so extended as to delay the filing thereof within ninety days from the date the notice of appeal is given. If the term of any of said courts may by law continue more than eight weeks, said statement of facts and bills of exception shall be filed within thirty days after final judgment shall be rendered, unless the court shall by order entered of record in said cause extend the time for filing such statement and bills of exception.

6. When defendant cannot pay.—When any felony case is appealed and the defendant is not able to pay for a transcript of the testimony or give security therefor, he may make affidavit of such fact, and upon the making of such affidavit, the court shall order the official court reporter to make a narrative statement of facts and deliver it to such defendant. In all cases where the court is required to and does appoint an attorney to represent the defendant in a criminal action, such reporter shall be required to furnish the attorney for said defendant, if convicted and where an appeal is prosecuted, with a transcript of his notes. For each said service he shall be paid by the State of Texas, upon the certificate of the trial judge, one-half of the rate provided by law in civil cases.

7. Independent statement.—Nothing in this chapter shall be so construed as to prevent parties from preparing a statement of facts on appeal in a felony or misdemeanor case independent of the transcript of the notes of the official reporter, or from buying a narrative statement of facts from such reporter, and agreeing thereto, without having to order or pay for a question and answer statement.

Art. 760a. Filing of statements of fact and bills of exception.—In all criminal cases tried in any court in this State, statements of facts or bills of exception as to the action of the court in overruling an application for change of venue, or as to other matters and things occurring before the beginning of the actual trial of the case, shall not be required to be filed during the term of the court at which such case is tried, nor shall such statements of facts or bills of exception pertaining to misconduct of the jury or other matters or things happening or occurring after the submission of the case to the jury, be required to be filed during such term of court; but all such statements of facts and bills of exception pertaining to any and all of such matters shall be filed within the same time as is prescribed by law for the filing of statements of facts and bills of exception pertaining to matters or things happening or occurring during the actual trial of the case. [Acts 1926, 39th Leg., 1st C. S., p. 12, ch. 8, § 1.]

Section 4 of Acts 1926, 39th Leg., 1st C. S., p. 12, ch. 8, repealed all laws and part of laws in conflict with the act.

Art. 760b. Consideration in Appellate Court.—All statements of facts and bills of exception when filed in compliance with Section 1 hereof shall be entitled to consideration in any appellate court in this State, provided this law has become effective when the case is heard by such appellate court. [Acts 1926, 39th Leg., 1st C. S., p. 12, ch. 8, § 2.]

1. IN CASES OF FELONY

Article 766. [853] [831] "Judgment."—A judgment is the declaration of the court entered of record, showing:

1. The title and number of the case.
2. That the case was called for trial and that the parties appeared.
3. The plea of the defendant.
4. The selection, impaneling and swearing of the jury.
5. The submission of the evidence.
6. That the jury was charged by the court.
7. The return of the verdict.
8. The verdict.
9. In the case of a conviction, that it is considered by the court that the defendant is adjudged to be guilty of the offense as found by the jury; or, in case of acquittal, that the defendant be discharged.
10. That the defendant be punished as has been determined by the jury.

Art. 767. [854] [832] "Sentence."—A "sentence" is the order of the court, made in the presence of the defendant, and entered of record, pronouncing the judgment, and ordering the same to be carried into execution in the manner prescribed by law.

Art. 768. [855] [833] Time of judgment and sentence.—If a new trial is not granted nor the judgment arrested in a felony case, the sentence shall be pronounced in the presence of the defendant at any time after the expiration of the time allowed for making the motion for a new trial or the motion in arrest of judgment. [O. C. 682.]

Art. 769. [856] [834] Sentence when appeal is taken.—When an appeal is taken from a death penalty, sentence shall not be pronounced, but shall be suspended until the decision of the Court of Criminal Appeals has been received. In all other cases of felony, sentence shall be pronounced before the appeal is taken. Upon the affirmance of the judgment by the appellate court, the clerk shall at once send its mandate to the clerk of the court from which the appeal was taken, there to be duly recorded. [O. C. 683.]

Art. 770. [857] [835] If court is about to adjourn.—If a conviction takes place so late in the term of the court as not to allow two days' time for making a motion for a new trial or in arrest of judgment, the sentence may be pronounced at any time before the court finally adjourns; provided, that in every case at least six hours shall be allowed for making either of these motions. [O. C. 684.]

Art. 771. [858] [836] Shall grant time to prepare appeal.—If, at the time a verdict is returned into court, there be less than six hours remaining, before the court, by law, must adjourn, the district judge shall sit during the whole of Saturday night and Sunday for the purpose of enabling the defendant to move for a new trial or in arrest of judgment, and prepare his cause for the Court of Criminal Appeals. This article shall not require the district judge to sit longer than six hours after verdict rendered, if a motion for a new trial or in arrest of judgment shall not have been filed. [O. C. 685.]

Art. 772. [859] [837] Sentence nunc pro tunc.—If there is a failure from any cause whatever to enter judgment and pronounce sentence during the term, the judgment may be entered and sentence pronounced at any succeeding term of the court, unless a new trial has been granted, or the judgment arrested, or an appeal has been taken. [O. C. 686.]

Art. 773. [860-861] Reasons to prevent sentence.—Before pronouncing sentence in a case of a felony, the defendant shall be asked whether he has anything to say why the sentence should not be pronounced against him. The only reasons which can be shown, on account of which sentence can not be pronounced, are:

1. That the defendant has received a pardon from the proper authority, on the presentation of which, legally authenticated, he shall be discharged.

2. That the defendant is insane; and, if sufficient proof be shown to satisfy the court that the allegation is well founded, no sentence shall be pronounced. Where there is sufficient time left, a jury may be impaneled to try the issue. Where sufficient time does not remain, the court shall order the defendant to be confined safely until the next term of the court, and shall then cause a jury to be impaneled to try such issue.

3. Where there has not been a motion for a new trial, or a motion in arrest of judgment made, the defendant may answer that he has good grounds for either or both of these motions and either or both motions may be immediately entered and disposed of, although more than two days may have elapsed since the rendition of the verdict.

4. When a person who has been convicted of felony escapes after conviction and before sentence, and an individual supposed to be the same has been arrested, he may, before sentence is pronounced, deny that he is the person convicted, and an issue be accordingly tried before a jury as to his identity. [O. C. 688.]

Art. 774. [840] [862] Cumulative or concurrent sentence.—When the same defendant has been convicted in two or more cases, and the punishment assessed in each case is confinement in the penitentiary or the jail for a term of imprisonment, judgment and sentence shall be pronounced in each case in the same manner as if there had been but one conviction, except that in the discretion of the court, the judgment in the second and subsequent convictions may either be that the punishment shall begin when the judgment and sentence in the preceding conviction has ceased to operate, or that the punishment shall run concurrently with the other case or cases, and sentence and execution shall be accordingly. [Acts 1883, p. 8; Acts 1919, p. 25.]

Art. 775. Indeterminate sentence.—Whenever any person seventeen years of age or over shall be on trial for any felony, the jury trying said cause shall not only ascertain whether or not said person is guilty of the offense charged in the indictment, but shall also in the verdict assess the punishment or penalty within the period of time fixed by law as the maximum and minimum penalty for such offense, provided, if the jury shall assess the punishment of such offense at a longer period of time than the minimum period of imprisonment in the penitentiary for such offense, then the judge presiding in such cause, in passing sentence on such person, instead of pronouncing a definite time of imprisonment in the penitentiary on such person so convicted, he shall pronounce upon such person an indeterminate sentence of imprisonment in the penitentiary, fixing in such sentence the minimum and maximum terms thereof, fixing in such sentence as the minimum time of imprisonment in the penitentiary the time now or hereafter prescribed by law as the minimum time of imprisonment in the penitentiary and as the maximum time of such imprisonment the term fixed by the jury in their verdict as punishment for such offense; provided, that if the punishment assessed by the jury shall be pecuniary fine only, or imprisonment in the county jail, or both fine and imprisonment in the county jail, then the provisions of this Act shall not apply.

Art. 775a. Parole.—Where the maximum sentence is not four times as great as the minimum sentence, and the convict has served the minimum sentence and has a perfect prison record or where the maximum sentence is greater than four times the minimum sentence, and the convict has served one-fourth of the maximum sentence and has a perfect prison record, such convict shall be paroled during good behavior for the balance of the term imposed upon him; provided that before a parole shall be granted the board of pardons shall examine and approve the convict's record and said board may consider the past record as well as the prison record of convicts. [Acts 1925, p. 377.]

Art. 776. Suspended sentence.—Where there is a conviction of any felony in any district or criminal district court of this State, except murder, perjury, burglary of a private residence at night, robbery, arson, incest, bigamy, seduction, and abortion, and the punishment assessed by the jury shall not exceed five years, the court shall suspend sentence upon written sworn application made therefor by the defendant, filed before the trial begins. When the defendant has no counsel, the court shall inform the defendant of his right to make such application, and the court shall appoint counsel to prepare and present same if desired by defendant. In no case shall sentence be suspended except when the proof shall show and the jury shall find in their verdict that the defendant has never before been convicted of a felony in this or in any other State. This law is not to be construed as preventing the jury from passing on the guilt of the defendant, but he may enter a plea of not guilty. [Acts 1913, p. 8.]

Art. 777. Judgment suspending sentence.—When sentence is suspended, the judgment shall be that sentence of the judgment of conviction shall be suspended during the good behavior of the defendant. By "good behavior" is meant that the defendant shall not be convicted of any felony during the time of such suspension. [Id.]

Art. 778. Procedure as to suspended sentence.—The court shall permit testimony as to the general reputation of defendant to enable the jury to determine whether to recommend the suspension of sentence, and submit the question as to whether the defendant has ever before been convicted of a felony; such testimony shall be heard and such question submitted only upon the request in writing by the defendant; provided, that in all cases sentence shall be suspended if the jury recommends it in their verdict. In such cases, neither the verdict of conviction nor the judgment entered thereon shall become final, except in the manner and at the time provided by the succeeding article. [Id.]

Art. 779. Suspended sentence made final.—Upon the final conviction of the defendant of any other felony pending the suspension of sentence, the court granting such suspension shall cause a capias to issue for the arrest of the defendant, if he is not then in the custody of such court, and during a term of the court shall pronounce sentence upon the original judgment of conviction, and shall cumulate the punishment of the first with the punishment of any subsequent conviction or convictions, and in such cases no new trial shall be granted in the first conviction. [Id.]

Art. 780. Dismissal of charges.—In any case of suspended sentence, at any time after the expiration of the time assessed as punishment by the jury, the defendant may make his written sworn motion for a new trial and dismissal of such case, stating therein that since such former trial and conviction he has not been convicted of any felony, which motion shall be heard by the court during the first term time after same is filed. If it appears to the court, upon such hearing, that the defendant has not been convicted of any other felony, the court shall enter an order reciting the fact, and shall grant the defendant a new trial and shall then dismiss said cause. After the setting aside and dismissal of any judgment of conviction as herein provided for, the fact of such conviction shall not be shown or inquired into for any purpose except in cases where the defendant has been again indicted for a felony and invokes the benefit of this law. [Id.]

Art. 781. Defendant recognized.—When sentence is suspended, the defendant shall be released upon his recognizance in such sum as the court may fix. [Id.]

2. JUDGMENT IN CASES OF MISDEMEANOR

Art. 782. [866] [844] In absence of defendant.—The judgment in a misdemeanor case may be rendered in the absence of the defendant. [O. C. 691.]

Art. 783. [867] [845] As to fine.—When the defendant is only fined the judgment shall be that the State of Texas recover of the defendant the amount of such fine and all costs of the prosecution, and that the defendant, if present, be committed to jail until such fine and costs are paid; or if the defendant be not present, that a capias forthwith issue, commanding the sheriff to arrest the defendant and commit him to jail until such fine and costs are paid; also, that execution may issue against the property of such defendant for the amount of such fine and costs.

Art. 784. [868] [846] On other punishment.—If the punishment is any other than a fine, the judgment shall specify it, and order it enforced by the proper process. It shall also adjudge the costs against the defendant, and order the collection thereof as in other cases.

[O. C. 700.]

Art. 790. [874] [852] Capias may issue to any county.—The capias provided for in this chapter may be issued to any county in the State, and shall be executed and returned as in other cases, but no bail shall be taken in such cases.

[875-6] Execution for fine and costs.—In each case of pecuniary fine, an execution may issue for the fine and costs, tho a capias was issued for the defendant; and a capias may issue for the defendant tho an execution was issued against his property. The execution shall be collected and returned as in civil actions. When the execution has been collected, the defendant shall be at once discharged; and whenever the fine and costs have been legally discharged in any way, the execution shall be returned satisfied.

having poor farms. [As amended by Acts 1927, 40th Leg., 1st C. S., p. 194, ch. 68, § 1.]

Art. 794. To do manual labor.—Where the punishment assessed in a conviction for misdemeanor is confinement in jail for more than one day, or where in such conviction the punishment is assessed only at a pecuniary fine and the party so convicted is unable to pay the fine and costs adjudged against him, those so convicted shall be required to do manual labor in accordance with the provisions of this article under the following rules and regulations:

1. Each commissioners court may provide for the erection of a workhouse and the establishment of a county farm in connection therewith for the purpose of utilizing the labor of said parties so convicted.

2. Such farms and workhouses shall be under the control and management of the commissioners court, and said court may adopt such rules and regulations not inconsistent with the laws as they deem necessary for the successful management and operation of said institutions and for effectively utilizing said labor.

3. Such overseers and guards may be employed under the authority of the commissioners court as may be necessary to prevent escapes and to enforce such labor, and they shall be paid out of the county treasury such compensation as said court may prescribe.

11. One convicted of a misdemeanor whose punishment either in whole or in part is imprisonment in jail may avoid manual labor by payment into the county treasury of one dollar for each day of the term of his imprisonment, and the receipt of the county treasurer to that effect shall be sufficient authority for the sheriff to detain him in jail without labor.

Art. 795. [879] [857] Authority for imprisonment.—When, by the judgment of the court, a defendant is to be imprisoned in jail, a certified copy of such judgment shall be sufficient authority for the sheriff to place such defendant in jail.

Art. 796. [880] [858] Capias for imprisonment.—A capias issued for the arrest and commitment of one convicted of a misdemeanor, the penalty of which or any part thereof is imprisonment in jail, shall recite the judgment and command the sheriff to place the defendant in jail, to remain the length of time therein fixed; and this writ shall be sufficient to authorize the sheriff to place such defendant in jail.

Art. 797. [881] [859] Discharge of defendant.—A defendant who has remained in jail the length of time required by the judgment shall be discharged. [Id.]

Art. 806. [Id.]

[Acts 1907, p. 31.]

Art. 816. [902] Jail or recognizance.—Where the defendant appeals from a conviction in any felony case and where bail is allowed by the provisions of the preceding article, he shall, if he be in custody,

Art. 847. [938] [904] Presumptions on appeal.—The Court of Criminal Appeals may affirm the judgment of the court below, or may reverse and remand for a new trial, or may reverse and dismiss the case, or may reform and correct the judgment, as the law and nature of the case may require. The court shall presume that the venue was proven in the court below; that the jury was properly impaneled and sworn; that the defendant was arraigned; that he pleaded to the indictment; that the court's charge was certified by the judge and filed by the clerk before it was read to the jury, unless such matters were made an issue in the court below, and it affirmatively appears to the contrary by a bill of exceptions approved by the judge of the court below, or proven up by by-standers, as provided by law, and duly incorporated in the transcript. In each case by it decided, the Court of Criminal Appeals shall deliver a written opinion, setting forth the reason for such decision. [Acts 1897, p. 11.]

Art. 848. [939] [905] Cases remanded.—The Court of Criminal Appeals may reverse the judgment in a criminal action, as well upon the law as upon the facts. A cause reversed because the verdict is contrary to the evidence shall be remanded for new trial. [Acts 1st C. S. 1892, p. 39.]

Art. 849. [940] [906] Duty of clerk after judgment.—When the judgment of the Court of Criminal Appeals is final, the clerk shall make out the proper certificate of the proceedings had and judgment rendered, and mail the same to the clerk of the proper court. [Id.]

Art. 850. [941] [907] Mandate to be filed.—When the mandate of the Court of Criminal Appeals is received by the proper clerk, he shall file it with the papers of the cause, and note it upon the docket. [Id.]

Art. 851. [944] [910] When misdemeanor is affirmed.—In misdemeanor cases where the judgment has been affirmed, no proceedings need be had after filing the mandate, except to forfeit the recognizance of the defendant, or to issue a capias for the defendant, or an execution against his property, to enforce the judgment of the court, as if no appeal had been taken. [O. C. 749.]

Art. 852. [945] [911] Effect of reversal.—Where the Court of Criminal Appeals awards a new trial to the defendant, the cause shall stand as it would have stood in case the new trial had been granted by the court below. [Acts 1st C. S. 1892, p. 40.]

Art. 853. [946] [912] Motion in arrest of judgment.—Where the motion in arrest of judgment was overruled, and it is decided on appeal that the same ought to have been sustained, the cause shall stand as if the motion had been sustained, unless the appellate court directs the cause to be dismissed. [Id.]

Art. 857. [950] [916] Appeal in habeas corpus.—When the defendant appeals from the judgment rendered on the hearing of an application under habeas corpus, a transcript of the proceedings in the cause shall be made out and certified to, together with all the testimony offered, and shall be sent up to the Court of Criminal Appeals for revision. This transcript, when the proceedings take place before the court in session, shall be prepared and certified by the clerk thereof; but when had before a judge in vacation, the transcript may be prepared by any person, under direction of the judge, and certified by such judge.

Art. 857a. Bail pending appeal.—In any habeas corpus proceeding in any court or before any judge in this State where the defendant is remanded to the custody of an officer and an appeal is taken to an Appellate Court, the defendant shall be allowed bail by the court or judge so remanding the defendant, except in capital cases where the proof is evident. The fact that such defendant is released on bail shall not be ground for a dismissal of the appeal except in capital cases where the proof is evident. [Acts 1927, 40th Leg., p. 66, ch. 43, § 1.]

[Acts 1st C. S. 1892, p. 40.]

Art. 860. [955] [921] Judgment conclusive.—The judgment of the Court of Criminal Appeals in appeals under habeas corpus shall be final and conclusive; and no further application in the same case can be made for the writ, except in cases specially provided for by law. [Id.]

[957] [923] Appellant detained by other than officer.—If the appellant in a case of habeas corpus be detained by any person other than an officer, the sheriff shall upon receiving the mandate of the Court of Criminal Appeals, immediately cause the person so held to be discharged; and the mandate shall be sufficient authority therefor. Witnesses shall receive from the State, for attendance upon district courts and grand juries in counties other than that of their residence, in obedience to subpoenas issued under the provisions of law their actual traveling expenses, not exceeding four cents per mile, going to and returning from the court or grand jury, by the nearest practical conveyance, and two dollars per day for each day they may [be] necessarily be absent from home as a witness, to be paid as now provided by law; and the foreman of the grand jury, or the district clerk, shall issue to such witness certificates therefor, after deducting therefrom the amounts advanced by the officers serving said subpoenas, as shown by the returns on said subpoenas; which certificates shall be approved by the district judge, and recorded by the clerk in a well-bound book kept for that purpose; provided, that when an indictment can be found from the evidence taken before an inquest or examining trial, no subpoena or attachment shall issue for a witness who resides out of the county in which the prosecution is pending to appear before a grand jury. 2. Witness fees shall be allowed to such State witness[es] only as the district or county attorney shall state in writing are material for the State, and to witness for defendant, after he has made affidavit that the testimony of the witness is material to his defense, which certificate and affidavit must be made at the time of procuring the attachment for, or taking the recognizance of, the witness. The judge to whom an application for attachment is made may, in his discretion, grant or refuse such application, when presented in term time.

5. The Comptroller, upon the receipt of such claim and certified copy of the minutes of said court, shall carefully examine the same, and if correct draw his warrant on the State Treasurer for the amount due in favor of the witness entitled to the same. If the appropriation for paying such accounts is exhausted, the Comptroller shall file the same away, if correct, and issue a certificate in the name of the witness entitled to the same, stating therein the amount of the claim. All such claims or accounts not transmitted to, or placed on file in, the office of the Comptroller within twelve months from the date of the final disposition of the case in which the witness was attached or recognized to testify, shall be forever barred. Art. 1085. hearing of such case, or at any other time to which the same may be adjourned or continued by the court. If such child fails to appear when the court may require, the person or persons responsible for its appearance as herein provided, unless in the opinion of the court there shall be reasonable cause for such failure, may be punished for contempt of court. Where such child has so failed to appear, any warrant or capias issued in such case may be executed as in other cases. No child within the juvenile age shall be incarcerated in any compartment of a jail or lockup in which persons over the juvenile age are being detained. The proper authorities of all counties with a population of over fifty thousand shall provide a suitable place for the detention of such children separate and apart from any jail or lockup in which older persons are confined. In any such case the court may hear and dispose of the case as if such child had been brought before the court upon information.

Art. 1089. Verdict and judgment.—When a juvenile is tried by a jury the verdict shall state the time and place of confinement. The proper judgment shall be rendered on the verdict.

Art. 1090. Term of commitment.—Any juvenile found by the court or jury to be a delinquent child shall be committed to the place or institution provided by law for such child, for an indeterminate period, not extending beyond the time when such child shall reach the age of twenty-one years.

Art. 1091. Substitution of place of confinement.—In any proceeding in any juvenile court, the court or jury may substitute as a place of commitment any detention home, parental school, or school for girls or boys, established by any county, and the further disposition of the juvenile shall be governed as provided for by the laws relating to delinquent children.

Art. 1092. Effect of conviction.—A disposition of any delinquent child under this law or any evidence given in such case, shall not, in any civil, criminal, or other cause or proceeding whatever, in any court, be lawful or proper evidence against any child for any purpose whatever, except in subsequent cases against the same child under this law. Neither the conviction of the accused as a delinquent child nor the service of sentence thereunder shall deprive him or her of any rights of citizenship when such child shall become of full age.

Art. 1093. Appeal.—A prosecution and conviction of a juvenile shall be regarded as a criminal or misdemeanor case, and an appeal lies from such conviction directly to the Court of Criminal Appeals of Texas, the appeal to be governed by the same rules as apply in cases of misdemeanor.

AND

VERNON'S ANNOTATED PENAL CODE AND SUPPLEMENTS

SHOWING THEIR CORRESPONDING ARTICLES IN

1925 VERNON'S ANNOTATED REVISED CRIMINAL AND CIVIL STATUTES

AND

1928 COMPLETE TEXAS STATUTES

Where there are no corresponding articles in the 1925 and 1928 Statutes indicative words are inserted in lieu of article numbers. The word "See" preceding references to articles indicates that the articles referred to are similar to the articles in the earlier statutes.

References to the General Repealing Clause indicate that the articles have no counterpart in the Revised Criminal Statutes 1925, nor in the 1928 Complete Texas Statutes, and are probably repealed by virtue of Section 3 thereof.
