In an action against a railway company for injuries to a switchman, evidence held not to warrant the submission of the issue of negligence on the part of the company in failing to gravel its yard. Id.

In an action against a railroad company for injuries to plaintiff while employed as a fireman, evidence considered, and held that defendant's negligence in inspecting its track was a question for the jury. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Roberts (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 375.

Evidence held to present question for jury whether there was ditch in platform on which servant was working, whether it was the cause of the accident, and whether he knew of the defect. Wells, Fargo & Co. Express v. Boyle (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 441.

In an action for injuries to a brakeman sustained in consequence of his foot striking a spike on the top of a freight car while he was walking thereon, the question of the negligence of the master in permitting the spike to project from the car held for the jury. Texas Mexican Ry. Co. v. Lewis (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 577.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to a fireman owing to the explosion of a water glass held, that a question whether defendant had used ordinary care to provide a proper appliance was for the jury. El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. Foth, 45 C. A. 275, 100 S. W. 171.

Evidence, in an action for injuries caused by falling from a freight car, examined, and held, that the questions of defendant's negligence, and whether plaintiff was injured, were for the jury. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Parish, 45 C. A. 493, 100 S. W. 1175.

It cannot be said as a matter of law that the master is not liable to his servant for injuries resulting from obvious or patent defects in the simplest tools or appliances furnished him to work with. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Schuler, 46 C. A. 356, 102 S. W. 783.

A railroad switchman's death having been caused by negligence in the operation of certain cars at night, facts held not to raise an issue as to defendant's negligence in failing to provide decedent with a reasonably safe place to work. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Berry, 47 C. A. 327, 105 S. W. 1019.

In an action for death of a railroad engineer by derailment on a curve alleged to have resulted from wreckers, whether defendant was negligent in inspecting the track at that point, as plaintiff claimed, held for the jury. Thompson v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 48 C. A. 284, 106 S. W. 910.

In an action for injuries received while working on defendant's coal bin, evidence held to warrant submission to the jury of the issue of defendant's negligence in not furnishing a safe place to work. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Jackson, 48 C. A. 567, 108 S. W. 483.

Whether a railroad company in furnishing to an employé a rubber hose to fill tanks in passenger coaches exercised ordinary care in furnishing a reasonably safe hose held for the jury. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Patrick, 50 C. A. 491, 109 S. W. 1097.

It cannot be said as a matter of law that an employer furnishing a rubber hose to his servant for use does not owe to the servant the duty of using ordinary care to see that it is reasonably suitable. Id.

In an action for the death of an engineer, caused by the explosion of his locomotive, evidence held to require the submission to the jury of the issue of defendant's knowledge of the defects in the boiler of the engine causing the explosion. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Davenport (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 150.

The question whether a master was negligent in furnishing a defective appliance to his servant held for the jury. Faulkner v. Texas & N. O. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 765.

Under the evidence, held a jury question whether defendants so negligently permitted gas to escape from oil tanks as to cause an employé's death. Behrens v. Brice, 52 C. A. 221, 113 S. W. 782.

Evidence, in an action for the death of a railroad engineer by derailment at a curve, held sufficient to take the case to the jury upon the issue of the railroad company's negligence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 106.

Whether an explosion resulted from defects attributable to defendant's negligence held for the jury. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Davenport, 102 T. 369, 117 S. W. 790.

In an action for injury to a switchman, directed verdict for the company on the ground that it had properly inspected its track held properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Jones (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 1000.

In an action for the death of an engineer by contact with a mail crane, evidence held to raise for the jury the questions whether the condition of the track constituted negligence, and, if so, whether such negligence was the cause of the accident. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 1043.

In an action for the death of a locomotive engineer by contact with a mail crane, held, that whether defendant was negligent in placing the crane where it was was a question for the jury. Id.

Evidence, in an action for the death of a trapper by the derailment of coal cars in defendant's mine, held sufficient to go to the jury as to defendant's negligence. Texas & Pacific Coal Co. v. Kowsikowsiki (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 829.

Whether a master was negligent in permitting a set screw to project from a revolving shaft, resulting in the servant's injury, held for the jury. Waggoner v. Porterfield, 55 C. A. 169, 118 S. W. 1094.

In an action for injuries to servant while standing on a double-board of a derrick used in drilling an oil well, evidence held to require submission to the jury of the issue of the negligence of the master. Producers' Oil Co. v. Barnes (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1023.

Evidence held sufficient to go to the jury on the question whether a railroad company performed its duty to a brakeman as to condition of the railroad track. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ford, 56 C. A. 521, 121 S. W. 709.

In an action against a railroad company for injuries to an employé while loading a car, evidence held to make the condition which really caused plaintiff's injury a question for the jury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Romans, 103 T. 4, 121 S. W. 1104.

In an action for death of a brick burner from the falling of a portion of a shed upon which he had stepped to avoid the heat, fumes, and gases arising from the kiln upon which he had been working, evidence held sufficient to take the case to the jury, Ferris Press Brick Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 499.

In an action for death of a brick burner from the falling of a portion of a shed upon which he had stepped to avoid the heat, fumes, and gases arising from the kiln upon which he had been working, evidence held insufficient to raise the issue that defendant had provided a safe way for brick burners to go from the shed of one kiln to that of another, and that deceased, instead of adopting the safe way, took a dangerous way. Id.

In an action for injuries to a servant from the explosion of a locomotive boiler, evidence held sufficient to take the case to the jury on the issue of whether or not there were defects in the boiler previous to the explosion. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Senn (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 322.

In an action for the death of an engineer killed by striking his head against a mail crane near the track, evidence held to present questions for the jury as to negligence in its location, and whether the condition of the track was the proximate cause of his death. Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. v. Williams, 103 T. 228, 125 S. W. 881.

In an action for injuries to a servant caused by the falling on him of a pile of steel beams, evidence held to require submission of the issue whether the master furnished a reasonably safe place in which to work. Mosher Mfg. Co. v. Boyles (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 492.

Evidence in a servant's action for injuries held not to raise an issue as to the absence of a target from a switch. Anderson v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas, 104 T. 340, 134 S. W. 1175.

It being a former's duty to pack cotton seed meal in cloths, whether there was any particular hazard in using frayed or raveled cloths was a question for the jury. Leonard Cotton Oil Co. v. Burnes (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1082.

In an action for injuries to a railroad section man, evidence held to justify submission to the jury of the question of defendant's negligence in permitting the track to be and remain in a dangerous condition as the proximate cause of the accident. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Turner (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1126.

Tools and appliances furnished a servant may be so complex as to require inspection as a matter of law, or so simple that no inspection is required, and cases may arise between such extremes wherein the duty to inspect, becomes a question for the jury. Southwestern Portland Cement Co. v. McBrayer (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 388.

Evidence in an employé's action for personal injuries held to make it a jury question whether defendant was negligent in failing to protect a set screw, and in not warning plaintiff of the danger from passing under it in its unprotected condition. Smith v. Queen City Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 309.

In an action by a servant, injured by falling from a timber dock, evidence held insufficient to go to the jury upon the issues of the looseness or slickness of the outside timber. Griffin v. Thompson Bros. Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 303.

In a servant's action for personal injuries, a requested instruction to return verdict for defendant was properly refused, where the testimony raised the issue as to a defect in defendant's car, and that it was the direct cause of plaintiff's injury. Freeman v. Grashel (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 695.

In an action for death of a railroad employé by explosion of oil with which he was filling an engine, evidence held to warrant submission to the jury of the question whether lights were necessary for the filling of the engine. Houston Belt & Terminal Ry. Co. v. Woods (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 372.

In an action by a minor servant for personal injuries, held, that the question of defendant's negligence in failing to guard dangerous machinery was for the jury. Armour & Co. v. Morgan (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 861.

It was for the jury to say whether the railroad company was required to inspect a jack. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Odom (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 730.

In an action for injuries to a brakeman by being thrown from a freight car by a defective brake ratchet dog, evidence held to make it a jury question whether defendant would have sufficiently discharged its duty to a brakeman if it had properly inspected the brake dog at certain points. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Downs (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 714.

Under conflicting evidence as to whether the stairway from which the mine employé fell was protected by banisters, the question of whether defendant was negligent in maintaining a defective stairway held for the jury. Consumers' Lignite Co. v. Hubner (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 249.

In an action by a brakeman who was injured by being struck by an open car door when he was throwing a switch, evidence held sufficient to go to the jury. Carter v. Kansas City Southern Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 638.

In an action for injuries by catching plaintiff's hand in spools while guiding a rope on them, whether defendant was negligent in not covering the spool or furnishing a lever for the rope, or in not having the switch, controlling the machine, near to it, held a jury question. San Antonio Brewing Ass'n v. Wolfshohl (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 644.

Whether a chisel furnished by an employer for use in "stripping" iron is a simple tool, so as not to require the employer to inspect it, held for the jury. Pope v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Sup.) 155 S. W. 1175.

In a personal injury action by servant, where there is any doubt as to the sufficiency of the evidence of the master's negligence, it should be submitted to the jury. Taylor v. White (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 349.

107. —— Negligence in operation of railroads.—In an action for causing the death of a brakeman, evidence held sufficient to justify a submission of an issue whether the conductor was negligent. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Smith (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 506.

Negligence of a railway company's foreman, in failing to place a red flag on a car, in violation of a custom or rule, held a question for the jury. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Harris (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 864.

Where defendant's engineer suddenly stopped a train, causing an accident to defendant's servant, the question of the engineer's negligence held properly submitted to the jury. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Adams (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 803.

Evidence of negligence in backing car against another car on side track so as to cause injury to plaintiff held sufficient to go to jury and to sustain a verdict for plaintiff. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Abernathy (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 175.

In an action by a fireman on a railroad for personal injuries, the question of negligence on the part of other employés held for the jury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Follin, 29 C. A. 512, 68 S. W. 810.

Whether servant, injured while inspecting train, knew that brake shoes were not set, held to be a question for the jury. Rea v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 555.

In an action for injuries to a railroad trackman, the issues of defendant's failure to use ordinary care to discover plaintiff's danger, and of discovered peril, held properly submitted to the jury. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Long, 32 C. A. 40, 74 S. W. 59.

In an action for injuries to a servant on a switch track, defendant held entitled to have an issue of its violation of a speed ordinance submitted to the jury by special charge. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Turner, 34 C. A. 397, 78 S. W. 712.

Evidence that a car was running 10 or 15 miles an hour held evidence of unusual speed, and whether it was dangerous or not was for the jury. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Reeves, 35 C. A. 162, 79 S. W. 1099.

In an action for death of a brakeman while engaged in adjusting a coupler, the alleged negligence of deceased's fellow brakeman held properly submitted to the jury. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Caskey, 37 C. A. 463, 84 S. W. 264.

In an action against a railroad company for the death of a section foreman from failure of the section crew to stop a hand car, evidence held sufficient to justify submission of the issue of negligence to the jury. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Perry, 38 C. A. 81, 85 S. W. 62.

In an action for injuries to a locomotive engineer, who ran his train into cars standing on the main track, held, that it was a question for the jury whether there had been any bulletin board at a station passed by the engineer before reaching the place of the accident. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Vanlandingham, 38 C. A. 206, 85 S. W. 847.

Whether bell on engine was rung as warning of approaching coupling, and whether plaintiff, an employé, heard or should have heard the warning, held questions for jury. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Smith, 39 C. A. 92, 87 S. W. 371.

Whether foreman was negligent in failing to keep a lookout and give signals to the engineer of the switch engine held a question for the jury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Kellerman, 39 C. A. 274, 87 S. W. 401.

In an action against a railroad company for injuries to a servant, owing to other servants having rolled a bale of cotton on plaintiff, held, that the question of their negligence was for the jury. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Still, 40 C. A. 22, 88 S. W. 257.

Held proper to submit to the jury the question of the train dispatcher's failure to comply with a certain rule. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hays, 40 C. A. 162, 89 S. W. 29.

Whether flagging a regular train by a brakeman on a work train on the track was sufficient to prevent a collision held for the jury. Id.

In an action for death of a switch foreman by being struck by a car operated on a switch track, evidence held sufficient to raise the issue of the excessive speed of car which struck and started the car in question. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Turner, 99 T. 547, 91 S. W. 562.

In an action for death of section foreman by being struck by car operated on switch track, evidence held sufficient to raise issue of excessive speed of car which struck and started the car in question. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Turner (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 1074.

In an action against a railway company for injuries to a member of a railway gang while replacing a hand car on the track, the question of the negligence of co-employés held for the jury. Texas & N. O. Ry. Co. v. McCraw, 43 C. A. 247, 95 S. W. 82.

Where a brakeman was thrown from a log train and injured by a sudden violent jerk, evidence as to the railroad company's negligence held for the jury. Gulf, B. & K. C. Ry. Co. v. Harrison (Civ. App.) 104 S. W. 399.

Where a brakeman was thrown from a log train by a sudden acceleration of speed, facts held to raise an issue as to the engineer's duty, independent of any rule, to give warning of his intention to so violently start the train. Id.

In an action for the death of a railway fireman caused by his being thrown from the running board of an engine by a jar in coupling, held a question for the jury whether the engineer was negligent in starting the engine without first ringing the bell. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Mitchell, 48 C. A. 381, 107 S. W. 374.

In an action by an employé of defendant for injuries received from a passing car while he was crossing the tracks in defendant's yards, held, that the facts presented issues for the jury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Balliet, 48 C. A. 641, 107 S. W. 906.

In an action for the death of a section foreman struck by a train while attempting to remove a hand car from a track held a question for the jury whether the operatives of the train used care to discover the section crew in time to stop the train. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Burnet, 49 C. A. 244, 108 S. W. 404.

Evidence, in an action by a brakeman to recover for injuries resulting from the sudden stopping of his train, held sufficient to take the case to the jury. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Harper, 53 C. A. 614, 114 S. W. 1168.

Whether the act of a freight brakeman in throwing a sack of ice from a caboose, resulting in injury to a fellow brakeman, was negligence was a question of fact. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Henefy (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 57.

Evidence, in an action against a railway company for injury to a brakeman, held to warrant submission of an issue whether the train was running at a dangerous speed. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lasater, 53 C. A. 51, 115 S. W. 103.

Whether a freight train was operated at a speed which would enable a brakeman to board it with reasonable safety held for the jury. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Sullivan, 53 C. A. 394, 115 S. W. 615.

In an action by a flagman against a railroad for injuries from being struck by a locomotive, where defendant's permitting two trains to pass the crossing at the same time was alleged as negligence, it was an issue for the jury, and a charge taking it from them held properly refused. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Reed, 54 C. A. 26, 116 S. W. 69.

In a section hand's action for injuries sustained by being thrown from a hand car which was derailed by running over the foreman who fell from the car while attempting to knock rocks from the track, whether the foreman's act was negligent held for the jury. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Garcia, 54 C. A. 59, 117 S. W. 206.

Evidence in a locomotive fireman's suit for injuries held sufficient to authorize the submission of the issue as to a wreck being caused by defendant's negligence in directing the train to be run as fast as 10 miles per hour. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Poole (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 1176.

In an action by a track surfacer for injuries at a switch caused by collision of a "shay" engine and log car on which plaintiff was riding, evidence held sufficient to go to the jury on the question of negligence of defendant. Howard v. Waterman Lumber & Supply Co. (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 387.

In an action for the death of a member of a bridge crew who was struck by a locomotive while attempting to remove a hand car from the track in front of an approaching train, held a question for the jury whether those in charge of the train were negligent. Myers v. Texas & P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 814.

In an action for the death of an employé struck by a train while crossing the track to a position of safety after attempting to remove a hand car from the track, evidence held to present a question for the jury as to the negligence of the engineer of the train. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Myers (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 337.

Whether a switching crew which pushed cars against others to make a coupling, and not succeeding, repeated this, killing a car inspector, who in the meantime had gone between those first on the track to inspect them, was guilty of negligence, in not giving him warning of the second attempt, held a question for the jury. Casey v. Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 856.

Evidence held to make a question for the jury as to station agent's negligence in failing to discover sagging wires, by which brakeman was injured, before signaling that the track was clear. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Shinn (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 636.

In an action for injuries to a brakeman who fell between cars when one was cut out from the train, evidence as to defendant's negligence held sufficient to carry the case to the jury. Irving v. Freeman (Sup.) 155 S. W. 931.

In an action for injuries to a trackman by being thrown from a hand car, evidence held to require a submission to the jury of the question whether the jerking of the car and its rapid motion constituted actionable negligence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Villafuerte (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1155.

108. —— Promulgation and enforcement of rules.—In an action for injuries to a railroad brakeman while coupling cars, the submission of the reasonableness of the company's rules regulating such subject to the jury was not error. Texas Cent. Ry. Co. v. Yarbro, 32 C. A. 246, 74 S. W. 357.

In action against railroad for injury to engineer in collision with forward section of his train, whether the departure from a rule would constitute negligence held question for jury. Quinn v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 395.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to a brakeman while coupling cars, the issue of defendant's negligent failure to promulgate a rule for the protection of employés, advising them of the dangerous condition of the track, held properly submitted to the jury. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Ames (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 1112.

In an action for injuries to a brakeman by the alleged violation of a rule requiring cars on grade sidings to be coupled together, the applicability of the rule to the siding in question held for the jury. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Pope, 43 C. A. 616, 97 S. W. 534.

109. —— Orders, and warning and instructing employés.—Whether defendant was guilty of negligence in furnishing his servant with horses, without warning of their dangerous character, is a question for the jury. Bowman v. Texas Brewing Co., 17 C. A. 446, 43 S. W. 808.

Whether employer was negligent in not warning employé of the danger of his work held a question for the jury. Hillsboro Oil Co. v. White (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 432.

Where a workman was injured by the lurching of a car, caused by the giving way of a jack screw which was in view of the foreman, who gave no warning, the question of the negligence of the foreman was for the jury. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Utley, 27 C. A. 472, 66 S. W. 311.

Whether foreman, ordering employé to board moving hand car, was negligent, held to be a question for the jury. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Puente, 30 C. A. 246, 70 S. W. 362.

Generally whether a servant should have been instructed as to danger or not is an issue for the jury whenever different conclusions may be drawn from the evidence; but, where the facts are clear and susceptible of but one construction, it is a question for the court. Brownwood Oil Mill v. Stubblefield, 53 C. A. 165, 115 S. W. 626.

Evidence held insufficient to present a question for the jury as to the inexperience of an employé and the duty to instruct him respecting the danger in oiling machinery in which he was injured. Id.

Whether a railroad company discharged its duty to inform a switchman that the car was in bad order by marking it B/O held for the jury. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Hanson (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 63.

Evidence of foreman's negligence in selecting and sending an inexperienced and incompetent servant to do work resulting in injury to another employé held to make a question for the jury. Sullivan-Sanford Lumber Co. v. Cooper (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 35.

Evidence held sufficient for submission of issue whether a master knew of an employé's ignorance, making it necessary to instruct and warn him. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Newton (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 873.

In a railroad brakeman's action for personal injuries by falling from a car, whether plaintiff was notified of the approach of the two cars which bumped against the car on which plaintiff was held a question for the jury. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Bowles (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1176.

In an action for a switchman's death, held a jury question whether a signal to move the train was negligently given. Freeman v. Griewe (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 730.

Defendant held entitled to go to the jury on the question of negligence in failing to warn plaintiff of the danger of operating a machine. Gamer Co. v. Gamage (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 721.

That an employé injured by the caving of a sand pit, shortly after being put at work, was nearly 17 years old and of good intelligence, is not enough to take from the jury the question of his having been of sufficient intelligence to be capable of understanding the danger, as regards the duty of the master to warn. Chicago, R. I. & E. P. Ry. Co. v. Easley (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 785.

Under circumstantial evidence to show causal connection, in an action for the wrongful death of a brakeman, held not error to submit to the jury the issue of the failure of defendant to warn deceased before the car from which he was thrown was struck by the engine. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Geer (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1178.

110. —— Number and competency of fellow servants.—In an action for injuries to a servant by failure to provide sufficient help, evidence held to require submission of defendant's negligence and plaintiff's contributory negligence to the jury. Bonn v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 808.

In an action for injuries to an employé while assisting in carrying a rail across a ditch, a finding that the employer furnished a sufficient number of men held not authorized as a matter of law. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Bonn, 44 C. A. 631, 99 S. W. 413.

In an action for the death of a servant, while moving crates of glass from a freight car, evidence held insufficient to require the submission to the jury of the issue whether defendant was negligent in furnishing an insufficient force of men to do the work, whereby plaintiff was injured, but to raise the issue of the negligence of defendant's foreman in giving an untimely order to move the crate. Wade v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 84.

There being no evidence that the negligence of plaintiff's foreman contributed to the accident causing his injuries, held error to refuse an instruction for defendant. Lantry-Sharpe Contracting Co. v. McCracken, 53 C. A. 627, 117 S. W. 453.

In an action for injuries to a locomotive fireman, held a question for the jury whether the engineer knew that the locomotive was on a trestle at the time of the accident. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gray, 56 C. A. 61, 120 S. W. 527.

In a suit for injury to a switchman in uncoupling cars, held that whether it was negligence for his fellow servants to fail to see his stop signal was for the jury. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Mayfield (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 141.

Whether a railway company was negligent in employing and retaining one employé who assaulted another, held under the evidence, a jury question. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Day, 104 T. 237, 136 S. W. 435, 34 L. R. A. (N. S.) 111.

111. —— Negligence of fellow servants.—The sufficiency of evidence to show authority of one employé to direct another is, when it does not necessitate such conclusion, for jury. Texas & P. Coal Co. v. Manning, 34 C. A. 322, 78 S. W. 545.

In an action for injuries sustained by being struck by a timber left on a railway truck, the evidence held to present an issue of fellow servants. Ray v. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co., 40 C. A. 99, 88 S. W. 466.

Liability of master for injuries received by an employé acting under direction of another employé was for the jury. McCracken v. Lantry-Sharpe Contracting Co., 45 C. A. 485, 101 S. W. 520.

Whether a servant is a vice principal held for the jury. Williams v. Kirby Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1182; Wichita Cotton Oil Co. v. Hanna, 139 S. W. 1000; Hugo, Schmeltzer & Co. v. Paiz, 104 T. 563, 141 S. W. 518.

112. —— Mere existence of defect or happening of accident.—Where deceased opened door of a furnace, and explosion ensued, and a grate bar was driven through his body, but there was no evidence that use of such a bar was dangerous, a verdict held properly directed for defendant. Broadway v. San Antonio Gas Co., 24 C. A. 603, 60 S. W. 270.

The happening of the accident held sufficient proof that gin machinery was dangerous to authorize an instruction on dangerous machinery. North Texas Const. Co. v. Bostick (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 109.

In an action by a servant for personal injuries, the presumption of negligence arising from existence of defect causing injury held sufficient to prevent direction of verdict for defendant. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Garrett, 44 C. A. 406, 98 S. W. 932.

Whether the prima facie case made by showing the derailment of a train and the consequent injury was rebutted by the evidence that a switch causing the derailment was not left open by one of its employés held, under the evidence, for the jury. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Sandlin, 57 C. A. 151, 122 S. W. 60.

In an action against a railroad company for the loss of cotton burned upon its cotton platform, evidence of the negligent emission of sparks from a locomotive held sufficient to go to the jury. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. S. Marshall Bulley & Son (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 480.

A peremptory instruction is properly given in an action by the owner of land against the owner of the standing pine timber, who was removing it, for causing fire to run over the land, injuring young trees; there being no evidence of who or what caused the fire. Davidson v. Bodan Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 700.

Where an employé alleges specific negligence generally, and the facts do not rebut every negligence presumed under the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur, the case may be properly submitted to the jury; but where specific negligence is alleged and disproved submission of all issues as to negligence is reversible error. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Geary (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1045.

113. —— Hospital service.—Whether a railroad company maintaining a hospital department conducted the same as a mere charity or for profit held for the jury. Zumwalt v. Texas Cent. R. Co., 56 C. A. 567, 121 S. W. 1133.

114. Injuries to persons on railroad tracks.—Whether running a train 20 miles an hour over an obstructed public crossing was negligence, held a question for the jury. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Starling, 16 C. A. 365, 41 S. W. 181.

Where one was injured at a crossing by cars following an engine, which passed in front of him, held, that the questions of negligence and contributory negligence were for the jury. Texas & N. O. Ry. Co. v. Carr (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 126.

The issue of the engineer's knowledge of plaintiff's attempt to pass between two cars before the train was put in motion held for the jury. Irvin v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 661.

Evidence in action for killing children on the track held sufficient to go to the jury. Shifflet v. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co., 18 C. A. 57, 44 S. W. 918.

Held a question for the jury whether defendant's employés could have stopped the train at the crossing after discovering the danger. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Knight (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 167.

In action for injuries to threshing machine on railroad, held, that negligence of defendant railroad company was a question for the jury. Jones v. Probasco, 18 C. A. 699, 45 S. W. 1036.

Evidence in an action for injuries to a person on or near a railroad track held sufficient to go to the jury on the issue of engineer's negligence in failing to stop his train in time to prevent injury. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Hartnett (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 773.

Evidence of defendant's negligence in running a train, and that such negligence was the proximate cause of plaintiff's injury, held sufficient to go to the jury in an action for injuries to a person on or near the track. Marchand v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 20 C. A. 1, 48 S. W. 779.

Evidence as to method and acts done in making a flying switch held sufficient to raise the issue of gross negligence on the part of a railroad company's employés. Gulf, W. T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Letsch (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 584.

Evidence in an action against a railroad for injuries sustained at a crossing held not sufficient to show negligence on defendant's part, so as to warrant the submission of that issue to the jury. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Shetter, 94 T. 196, 59 S. W. 533.

Whether a crossing is specially dangerous held a question for the jury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Oslin, 26 C. A. 370, 63 S. W. 1039.

In an action against a railroad company by the widow and children of one killed on defendant's track, held, that the questions of defendant's negligence and of deceased's contributory negligence were for the jury. Texas M. R. Co. v. Crowder, 25 C. A. 536, 64 S. W. 90.

Evidence held insufficient to go to the jury on an issue whether persons operating an engine saw or ought to have seen plaintiff in time to avoid the accident. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 1040.

In an action for the death of two persons by being struck by a train, evidence held sufficient to require the submission of the question of defendant's negligence to the jury. Shoemaker v. Texas & P. Ry. Co., 29 C. A. 578, 69 S. W. 990.

Evidence held sufficient to authorize submission of issues as to the operatives of an engine, discovering a boy on the track in time to avoid the accident, failing to use proper care to do so, and running at a dangerous speed, preventing avoidance of the accident. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Ball (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 420.

The question whether the place where plaintiff was injured was a public crossing held properly submitted to the jury. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 34.

In an action against a railway company for the death of a person struck by a train, the question of the company's negligence and decedent's contributory negligence held for the jury. Hutchens v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co., 40 C. A. 245, 89 S. W. 24.

In an action for injuries received by being struck by a train, the evidence held insufficient to raise the issue of the negligence of operatives of the train. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Harrison, 44 C. A. 58, 99 S. W. 124.

In an action against a railway company for the death of a pedestrian at a street crossing held, that the question whether or not the speed of the train exceeded the rate fixed by ordinance was properly submitted to the jury. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Murray (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 144.

In an action against a railroad for injuries received by plaintiff while walking near defendant's track, certain issues held properly submitted to the jury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Brown, 46 C. A. 10, 101 S. W. 464.

Where a switchman engaged in switching cars discovered the peril of a person on the track, the question whether he could by the exercise of ordinary care have caused the cars to be stopped before reaching such person was for the jury. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Scarborough (Civ. App.) 104 S. W. 408.

In an action for injuries from being struck by a railroad car while walking near the track, evidence examined, and held for the jury. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Finn (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 94.

Whether a road under a railroad bridge had been habitually used by the public with the acquiescence of the railroad company so as to impose the duty of exercising ordinary care towards travelers held for the jury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hollan, 49 C. A. 55, 107 S. W. 642.

Under the evidence, in an action against a railway company for injury to a child run over by cars, whether the company was negligent held for the jury. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Vallejo (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 1187.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to a person on the track, whether the injured person was a mere trespasser or a licensee held, under the evidence, for the jury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams, 50 C. A. 134, 109 S. W. 1126.

Whether plaintiff was a licensee in walking over defendant's trestle held, under the evidence, for the jury. Texas Midland R. R. v. Byrd (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 199.

Evidence held sufficient to go to jury on the question of a place on defendant's railroad being used as a crossing by the public, with its knowledge and acquiescence. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Ryan, 53 C. A. 85, 114 S. W. 906.

In an action for injuries received at a railroad crossing, the questions of defendant's negligence, plaintiff's contributory negligence, and the proximate cause of the injury held, under the evidence, for the jury. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Stoker, 52 C. A. 433, 115 S. W. 910.

In an action against a railroad for injuries through being struck by an engine, whether the injury could have been avoided had the fireman on discovering plaintiff's position warned him by ringing the engine bell held for the jury. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Crawford, 54 C. A. 196, 117 S. W. 193.

In an action for the death of a traveler struck by a train at a crossing, evidence held to require the submission to the jury of the issue of negligence in failing to have a proper headlight on the engine. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Clay, 55 C. A. 526, 119 S. W. 730.

Whether any of the trainmen in charge of an engine saw or knew of the peril of plaintiff at the time cars were moved held for the jury. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. McDonald, 56 C. A. 34, 120 S. W. 494.

Whether the permitting by defendant railroad of trees and a building which obstructed the view of trains to remain on the right of way contributed to the death of one killed while attempting to cross the track held a question for the jury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. King (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 151.

Evidence held sufficient to raise an issue of negligence on the part of defendant railroad company in an action for injuries to plaintiff by being struck by a spike thrown by a passing train. Blackshear v. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 854.

In an action against a railroad company for injuries by being jolted from a wagon while crossing a railroad street crossing, evidence held to make it a jury question whether a platted street was accepted and used by the public as a street. Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Bradford (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1046.

Whether a railroad company obstructing the principal street of a town by its train was guilty of actionable negligence held for the jury. Freeman v. Terry (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1016.

In an action for death at a railroad crossing, evidence held to present a question for the jury as to whether the engineer saw intestate's peril under such conditions that he was justified in believing that intestate would stop before going on the track. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Dumas (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 543.

In an action for injuries to a child evidence held sufficient to go to the jury on the question of the defendant's liability. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Wininger (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 586.

Evidence in an action for the death of plaintiff's husband by being struck by defendant's train while lying on the track held to raise the issue of negligence in failing to use due care to stop the train after decedent's peril was discovered. Freeman v. Belinoski (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 882.

Whether those in charge of the train saw deceased and realized his danger, in time to have avoided injuring him, and negligently failed to use the means at their command to prevent it, held for the jury. Higginbotham v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1025.

115. —— Defects in roadbed or tracks.—In an action against a railroad for injuries sustained by the plaintiff in catching his foot in a switch, the submission to the jury of defendant's negligence in maintaining a switch in a street held erroneous. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Scruggs (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 778.

Whether a railroad crossing was negligently maintained held to be for the jury. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Randall, 51 C. A. 249, 113 S. W. 180.

116. —— Frightening horses.—Evidence in action for injuries caused by running away of team at railroad crossing held sufficient to take the case to the jury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Cloninger (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 632.

In an action for injuries sustained by plaintiff, whose horse shied at a locomotive, held, that the questions of negligence, contributory negligence, and proximate cause were for the jury. Welborne v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 35 C. A. 401, 80 S. W. 653.

In an action against a railroad for injuries, whether defendant was guilty of negligence in failing to desist in the blowing of a whistle at a public crossing held a question for the jury. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Kilman, 39 C. A. 107, 86 S. W. 1050.

In an action for injuries alleged to have been caused by plaintiff's horses becoming frightened by a hand car operated on defendant's railroad, held that the question whether it was the car that frightened the horses was one for the jury. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Everett, 40 C. A. 285, 89 S. W. 457.

In an action against a railroad company for frightening plaintiff's horse and causing it to run away, evidence held to require submission of defendant's negligence to the jury. Puppovich v. Galveston, H. & H. R. Co., 45 C. A. 138, 99 S. W. 1143.

Where the evidence as to the loud blowing of a whistle on defendant's engine, which was claimed to have frightened plaintiff's horse, was conflicting, the issue was for the jury. Paris & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Calvin, 101 T. 291, 106 S. W. 879.

Whether trainmen discovered the peril of a person leading an animal through the gate of a private crossing in time to refrain from sounding the whistle and frightening the animal, held for the jury. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Edwards (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 264.

In an action against a railroad company for injuries to plaintiff caused by his team taking fright at a noise suddenly created by defendant's baggagemaster in raising a metallic door, whether plaintiff was guilty of contributory negligence held a jury question. Freeman v. McElroy (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 428.

117. —— Signboards and flagmen.—In an action for injuries at a railroad crossing, whether the railroad company was guilty of negligence in failing to maintain a flagman thereat held for the jury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Magee (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 156; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Magee, 92 T. 616, 50 S. W. 1013; Central Texas & N. W. Ry. Co. v. Gibson (Civ. App) 83 S. W. 862; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bratcher, 54 C. A. 10, 118 S. W. 1091; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hurdle (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 992.

In an action against a railway company, held under the evidence a question for the jury whether the accident was caused by the company's failure to maintain a sign-board at its crossing. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Tucker, 48 C. A. 115, 106 S. W. 764.

118. —— Signals and lookouts from trains.—The question of defendant's failure to give signals held properly submitted to the jury. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Dalwigh (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 136; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Tucker, 48 C. A. 115, 106 S. W. 764; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Tarver (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 958.

The question of the negligence of a railroad company in not having a man keeping a lookout and lights on its car, by which plaintiff's husband was killed, or a flagman at the street crossing, held for the jury. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Jones (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 978.

It is a question for the jury whether failure to sound whistle after engine is nearer than a quarter of a mile to the crossing is negligence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Oslin, 26 C. A. 370, 63 S. W. 1039.

The question whether it is negligence for a railroad to run cars across a path without giving a signal, and whether a lookout kept on the cars is a sufficient precaution, held one for the jury. Over v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 535.

In an action for injuries to a child on a railroad track, an instruction withdrawing from the jury the issue of the company's negligence in failing to keep a proper lookout held properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hammer, 34 C. A. 354, 78 S. W. 708.

In an action against a railroad company for negligently causing death, the question of defendant's negligence, arising from its failure to signal at street crossings, held, under the evidence, for the jury. Galveston, H. & H. R. Co. v. Levy, 35 C. A. 107, 79 S. W. 879.

Whether there was negligence in not blowing locomotive whistle when starting toward crossing from less than 80 rods' distance held a question for the jury. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hall, 34 C. A. 535, 80 S. W. 133.

In an action for injuries to a pedestrian while walking on a railroad track, evidence held to raise an issue as to whether defendant's employés kept a proper lookout. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Davis (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 669.

Whether it was the duty of an engineer to sound the whistle on approaching a curve, to give warning to a licensee on the track at or near the curve, is a question for the jury. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Goodman, 38 C. A. 175, 85 S. W. 492.

In an action for injuries to one who jumped from a railroad trestle in order to avoid injury on the approach of a train, the question whether defendant had exercised care in giving timely warning held one for the jury. Texas Midland R. R. v. Byrd, 41 C. A. 164, 90 S. W. 185.

In action against a railroad for injuries to plaintiff in crossing accident, the question whether a failure to keep a lookout on the part of the train operatives was negligence proximately causing the injury held one for the jury. St. Louis South Western Ry. Co. of Texas v. Elledge (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 499.

In an action against a railway company for the death of a pedestrian at a street crossing, under the evidence, held a question for the jury whether or not the whistle was sounded and the bell rung on approaching the crossing, and whether or not the company's employés failed to use all means at hand to avert injury to decedent after discovering his peril. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Murray (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 144.

Whether operatives of a train in the exercise of ordinary care were required to keep a lookout held for the jury. Johnson v. Texas & G. Ry. Co., 45 C. A. 146, 100 S. W. 206.

In an action against a railroad for injuries received by plaintiff through being struck by defendant's train, the question of defendant's negligence in failing to sound its whistle 80 rods from the crossing, as required by statute, held properly submitted to the jury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Saunders (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 457.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to plaintiff through being struck by defendant's train, defendant held not excused as a matter of law from giving the statutory signal for crossings. Id.

Whether negligent custom of a railroad company in passing a crossing without stopping or giving signals gave them the right to run over anything impeding the progress of its trains held a question for the jury. El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. Polk, 49 C. A. 269, 108 S. W. 761.

Whether a railway company might reasonably expect persons to be on a certain trestle, and whether it exercised due care in giving timely warning or was negligent in causing one on the trestle to be placed in a perilous position so that its failure to give timely signals caused him to jump therefrom, held for the jury. Texas Midland R. R. v. Byrd (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 199.

In an action for injuries from being struck by a locomotive, the question as to when the whistle was sounded held for the jury. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Reed, 54 C. A. 26, 116 S. W. 69.

In an action for the death of a child while attempting to pass under a train, the question whether ordinary care required the conductor to look if persons were under the train before starting it held for the jury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Kemendo (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 968.

Evidence, in an action for injury to a pedestrian, held sufficient to raise an issue as to whether the place of accident had been so used by the public as to require the company in operating trains to look out for pedestrians. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Driver (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 409.

In an action for death of a pedestrian, struck by a train which ran by a station at high speed, evidence held to raise an issue of negligence of the enginemen in failing to keep a proper lookout. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Muske (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 565.

119. Injuries to animals on or near railroad tracks.—The question whether a railroad company was negligent in fencing its right of way in a certain manner is for the jury. Texas M. R. Co. v. Hooten, 21 C. A. 139, 50 S. W. 499.

Maintenance by railroad of a place dangerous to stock held not to constitute negligence in law. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cooper, 32 C. A. 592, 75 S. W. 328.

Evidence held sufficient to raise an issue as to whether a railroad company's employés saw or should have seen plaintiff's mules in time to have avoided killing them. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bradshaw (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 897.

Evidence held sufficient to present the issue that plaintiff's steer, for the loss of which plaintiff sued, had been killed by defendant's engine. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Wilson, 37 C. A. 405, 84 S. W. 274.

Under the statute requiring railroads to construct cattle guards, whether a guard is a proper one held a question of fact. Saine v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 487.

In an action against a railway company for killing animals on its tracks, on the ground of negligence in the operation of its train, the question of negligence held for the jury. Anson v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 42 C. A. 437, 94 S. W. 94; Cockburn v. St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 740.

In an action against a railroad company for killing mules, whether a defect in the railroad company's right of way fence could have been repaired practically without labor or expense, held for the jury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dunnaway, 43 C. A. 350, 95 S. W. 760.

Whether or not under the particular circumstances of a case ordinary care required a railroad's employés in operating a train to keep a lookout to discover animals on its track was a question for the jury. Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. v. Bell (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 1167.

Whether the failure of railroad employés to ring the bell and blow the whistle in order to scare an animal off the track constituted want of ordinary care, which was the proximate cause of an injury, was a question for the jury. Id.

In an action to recover for horses killed by an engine, whether it was necessary to extend the switch limits to or beyond the point where the horses were struck held to be for the jury. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. West (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 1174.

Held error to refuse a peremptory instruction for defendant. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Randal, 48 C. A. 637, 108 S. W. 505.

In an action for the killing of cattle which escaped through a gate and were struck by defendant's train, the evidence examined and held sufficient to raise the issue for the jury as to whether the gate was substantially defective so as to require defendant to repair it. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Corn (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 485.

In an action against a railroad company for killing plaintiff's colt at a point where the railroad company maintained a flag station and certain switches, whether the location of the place was such that public necessity or convenience required that the road be left unfenced held for the jury. St. Louis Southwestern R. Co. v. Seay (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 908.

That the engineer failed to blow the whistle and ring the bell was relevant on the issue of negligence, but it was for the jury, and not the court, to determine whether such failure constituted negligence. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Mallard (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1117.

In an action against a railroad company by the owner of a horse killed on its tracks, evidence of the railroad's negligence held to raise a question for the jury. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Stewart (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 598.

120. Injuries by fire set out in operation of railroad.—Held a question for the jury whether the engines on defendant's road were equipped with spark arresters. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Baugh (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 557.

In an action against a railroad for destruction of property by fire from defendant's locomotive, the question whether the engineer operated the engine with the care necessary under the circumstances held for the jury. Bryan Press Co. v. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 99.

In an action against a railroad company for burning plaintiff's property, evidence held to require submission to the jury of the question whether the fire was set out by one of defendant's engines. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Curry (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 592.

In an action against a railroad company for loss of property by fire set by an engine, the refusal to submit to the jury a question of negligence held proper. Progressive Lumber Co. v. Marshall & E. T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 491.

Where a railroad company negligently permits tall grass to grow upon its right of way, the question of its liability for damages from a fire started thereon by a lighted cigar thrown from a train is for the jury. St. Louis, B. & M. Ry. Co. v. Maddox (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 225.

On evidence in an action against a railroad for loss of property by fires set by its engines, held, that the issue of its negligence on the theory that it permitted dry grass to accumulate on its right of way, and that sparks from the engine set fire thereto and spread to, and destroyed plaintiff's property, was for the jury. Progressive Lumber Co. v. Marshall & E. T. R. Co. (Sup.) 155 S. W. 175.

121. Injuries to property from operation of railroad.—The negligence of a railroad in failing to stop the flow of petroleum onto adjacent premises in consequence of a wreck of a train carrying petroleum held for the jury. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Anderson, 44 C. A. 394, 98 S. W. 440.

The trial court held justified in holding as matter of law that negligence, proximately causing the damage, had been shown in an action for injuries to property by derailment of car Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Corr (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 185.

122. Injuries to persons at stations.—Negligence and contributory negligence held for the jury, where a person attempting to cross to a station platform at night was killed by a train entering the station at illegal speed. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Wagley, 15 C. A. 308, 40 S. W. 538.

123. Injuries to persons working on or about railroad cars.—In an action for injuries to plaintiff while unloading a tank car, whether the railroad was negligent in failing to properly inspect the unloading appliances before delivering the car held for the jury. Gulf, W. T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Wittnebert (Civ. App.) 104 S. W. 424.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff while obtaining water from a tank car in consequence of the car being struck by a train, the question of defendant's negligence held for the jury. Louisiana & T. Lumber Co. v. Brown, 50 C. A. 482, 109 S. W. 950.

In an action for injuries received while working on or about cars in a railroad yard, held, that whether there was special negligence on the part of defendant was a question for the jury. Lynch v. Texas & P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 522.

In an action by an employé of one railroad company against another for injury caused by a defective car, held, under the evidence, proper to refuse to direct verdict for defendant. St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Bass (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 860.

124. Injuries to children on trains.—In action for death of a child killed while attempting to mount a train of tram cars running down a grade, held a question for the jury whether defendant was negligent as to the child in releasing the cars. Ott v. Johnson, 38 C. A. 491, 86 S. W. 649.

In an action against a railway company for injuries received by a child while riding on cars in a railway yard, the question of the company's negligence held for the jury. Davis v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 831.

In an action for injury to a child about six years old while attempting to ride on a moving train, whether the railroad company was negligent held for the jury. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Cushman, 51 C. A. 308, 113 S. W. 198.

125. Removal of trespassers from trains.—Evidence considered, and held to justify submitting to the jury the question whether plaintiff's resistance, while a railroad passenger, of the payment of an illegal bridge toll until an assault was made was for the purpose of enhancing damages. Patterson v. Southern Pac. Co., 28 C. A. 67, 66 S. W. 308.

Question of negligence of defendant's brakeman in forcing plaintiff to jump from a freight car on which he was riding held improperly taken from the jury. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Buch, 101 T. 200, 105 S. W. 987.

126. Injuries in operation of street railroads.—Whether a failure to sound the gong or bell of a street car was negligence, held for the jury. Citizens' Ry. Co. v. Holmes, 19 C. A. 266, 46 S. W. 116.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff's wife, occasioned by her horse frightening at a street car, evidence held to warrant the submission of the issue whether or not the horse was frightened by the car being run at an excessive speed. Denison & S. Ry. Co. v. Powell, 35 C. A. 454, 80 S. W. 1054.

In an action for injuries caused by being run over by a street car, it was proper to submit to the jury the issue whether the motorman failed to keep a lookout or to sound the gong. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Kelleher, 48 C. A. 421, 107 S. W. 64.

In a personal injury action against a street railroad company, evidence held sufficient to go to the jury on the question of defendant's negligence and plaintiff's contributory negligence. Northern Texas Traction Co. v. Smith (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 774.

Whether running a street car at a rate of 15 or 20 miles an hour within a city is negligent, considering the place and surrounding circumstances, is a question for the jury. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Tomlinson (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 871.

Under a city ordinance requiring a signal light for street cars, the question of the motorman's negligence in running at a greater speed than would allow him to stop within the distance covered by the light thrown by his own headlight held for the jury. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Chambers, 55 C. A. 331, 118 S. W. 851.

Whether a motorman of a street car was negligent in presuming that the driver of a vehicle, proceeding parallel to the track in the same direction, would proceed to drive straight ahead, and not attempt to cross the track, held to be for the jury. Austin Electric Ry. Co. v. Faust (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 449.

In an action against a street railroad company for death of a child struck by a car, held, under the evidence, jury questions whether the company was negligent or the child was guilty of contributory negligence. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Young (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 572.

In an action against a street railroad company for injuries to a pedestrian stepping into a hole in the street alongside the track, the question of negligence of the company held for the jury. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Emerson (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 468.

127. Injuries from live electric wires.—In an action against a telephone company for the death of one coming in contact with a broken wire, which fell across the wire of another company, becoming charged with a dangerous current, held, under the evidence a question for the jury whether the facts constituted actionable negligence. Citizens' Telephone Co. v. Thomas, 45 C. A. 20, 99 S. W. 879.

In an action for death from shock in coming in contact with telephone wire, evidence held sufficient to raise the issue of negligence on the part of the defendant electric light company. Temple Electric Light Co. v. Halliburton (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 584.

Evidence in an action for injuries by contact with an electric wire which fell across a large power wire suspended over the street held to make it a jury question whether the wire hung down on the street. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Shirley (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 663.

128. Injuries from construction of telephone line.—In an action against a telephone company for personal injuries alleged to have been caused by the negligent location of a pole in a street, question of contributory negligence of the injured person held for the jury. Alice, W. C. & C. C. Telephone Co. v. Billingsley, 33 C. A. 452, 77 S. W. 255.

129. Things attractive to children.—Whether a railroad company was guilty of negligence in leaving turntable unlocked near a highway, whereby a child playing thereon was injured held for the jury. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Morgan, 94 T. 649, 45 S. W. 374.

In an action for injuries to a child on an unguarded turntable, held not proper to direct a verdict for the defendant. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Skidmore, 27 C. A. 329, 65 S. W. 215.

Whether an owner maintaining a machine attractive to children impliedly invited children to go on the premises to play with the machine held for the jury. Hogan v. Houston Belt & Terminal Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1166.

130. Notice.—Whether a sheriff before selling real estate had notice of the address of the judgment debtor held for the jury. Snouffer v. Heisig (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 912.

Actual notice is a question of fact to be passed upon by the jury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wood (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 487.

131. Nuisance.—Whether a bridge maintained by a railroad over its tracks for a public road is a nuisance is a question for the jury. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. City of Belton, 57 C. A. 460, 122 S. W. 413.

The court in an action to abate a nuisance created by operation of a corn elevator and sheller held to have properly submitted to the jury the issue whether the plant could be run so as not to create a nuisance. Stark v. Coe (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 373.

132. Partnership and rights and liabilities incident thereto.—Whether personal debts from one partner to another, not provided for in dissolution agreement, were intended to be covered thereby, held a question for the jury, under all circumstances attending the dissolution. Johnson v. Clements, 23 C. A. 112, 54 S. W. 272.

Whether dealing in cotton and cotton seed was within the apparent scope of a partnership, so as to constitute it a trading partnership, held for the jury. Wallace & Reed v. Reed Bros., 54 C. A. 457, 117 S. W. 1019.

In action for partnership settlement, submission of question whether plaintiff paid one-half the purchase money for certain land individually held proper under the pleadings and evidence. Hengy v. Hengy (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1127.

Whether the payee of a note given by a firm had notice of a partner's retirement before accepting the note held properly submitted to the jury. Rodgers-Wade Furniture Co. v. Wynn (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 340.

133. Payment.—In an action on a note, evidence held sufficient to go to the jury on the question of payment. Nail v. First Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 268.

Whether the presumption of payment of a note arising from the lapse of time was overcome by the proof of nonpayment held for the jury. Buckley v. Runge, 57 C. A. 322, 122 S. W. 596.

134. Penalty for violation of statute.—Whether a minor remained in a saloon, within the law giving a parent a cause of action against a saloon keeper and sureties on his bond in such case, was for the jury. Cox v. Thompson, 32 C. A. 572, 75 S. W. 819.

In an action by the state against a railroad company for penalties for failure to keep water-closets and depot grounds lighted at night, testimony held not to raise an issue entitling defendant to go to the jury. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. State, 56 C. A. 121, 120 S. W. 1078.

Whether there has been an "entering and remaining" in a saloon by a minor so as to create a liability on the liquor dealer's bond, given under article 7452, is a question of fact. Haynes v. Haberzettle (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 717.

135. Proximate cause.—Evidence in personal injury action against a city for defective bridge approach held insufficient to warrant submitting issue of act of God. City of San Antonio v. Potter, 31 C. A. 263, 71 S. W. 764.

In an action for damages to crops alleged to be due to interference with the natural flow of water, the refusal to submit the issue whether the damages resulted from the location and drainage of the land and excessive rainfall held error. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Huffman (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 536.

Whether the evidence in regard to an accident shows that it was directly caused by an act of God is a question for the jury. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Boyce, 39 C. A. 195, 87 S. W. 395.

In an action against a city for injuries to a traveler in consequence of a defective street, the evidence held not to raise the issue whether the injury was caused by a street car track being too high. City of Dallas v. McCullough (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 1121.

In an action for damages caused by a railway company's failure to construct necessary culverts and sluices under an embankment, evidence held insufficient to warrant submitting to the jury the question of whether the flood was caused by an unprecedented rainfall. Baugh v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 44 C. A. 443, 100 S. W. 958.

In an action against a railroad company for killing a mule at a crossing, it could not be said as a matter of law that the failure of the company to signal was not the cause of the injury. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Dean, 55 C. A. 406, 118 S. W. 804.

Whether a negligent act was the proximate cause of a subsequent injury held for the jury. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Murray (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 496.

Whether the negligence of an owner of explosives who placed them on the premises of a third person was the proximate cause of an injury to a child caused by an explosion held for the jury. Little v. James McCord Co. (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 835.

136. —— Injuries to passengers.—In an action against a carrier for injuries to a passenger, evidence held insufficient to raise the issue that plaintiff's suffering resulted from a previous injury, and not from that sustained in the accident in question. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 162.

In an action against a street railroad company for injuries caused by falling off a street car, whether plaintiff was injured by being jerked off by the sudden starting of the car, as claimed by him, or by falling off while attempting to steal a ride on the bumpers, as claimed by defendant, held a jury question. Yanez v. San Antonio Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 1176.

Submission as proximate cause of passenger's injuries of the carrier's failure to furnish her a seat held proper. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Wilkinson (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 203.

137. —— Injuries to persons at railroad crossings.—Where injury to plaintiff was caused by his horse running into an obstruction at a railroad crossing, the court should submit to the jury the issue as to whether such obstruction was the proximate result of the defects in the crossing. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Belt, 24 C. A. 281, 59 S. W. 607.

Whether failure to blow a whistle at a railroad crossing was the proximate cause of fright and consequent injury received by a person approaching the crossing held one of fact, and not of law. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Mitchell, 25 C. A. 197, 60 S. W. 891.

In an action for injuries on a railway crossing, the proximate cause of the injury held properly submitted to the jury. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Votaw (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 130.

Whether the violation of an ordinance prohibiting the obstruction of crossings by trains for more than five minutes at a time was the proximate cause of injuries to plaintiff while driving over the crossing held a question for the jury. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Pool (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 641.

138. —— Injuries to person on railroad track.—Whether a higher rate of speed than permissible under a city ordinance was the proximate cause of plaintiff's injury held, under the evidence, for the jury. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cockrill (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 1092.

Whether the failure to give signals of the approach of a car which struck a person on the track proximately contributed to the accident held for the jury. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Adkins, 56 C. A. 202, 120 S. W. 218.

139. —— Delay in transmitting telegram or in affording telephonic communication.—Facts held to present a case for the jury whether a telegram was not a conditional acceptance of an option, which the seller would not have accepted, so that there was no damage for delay in sending telegram. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Burns (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 784.

Evidence held to present question for jury whether delay was occasioned inevitably by natural causes. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. McGown, 42 C. A. 565, 93 S. W. 710.

Whether the alleged negligence of a telephone company in failing to promptly call plaintiff was the proximate cause of her injury held for the jury. Wiggs v. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 179.

Whether the sender of the message, suing for the negligent delay in delivery because he was thereby deprived of the privilege of purchasing bank stock from the sendee, would have obtained the stock had the message been promptly delivered is for the jury. Postal Telegraph Cable Co. of Texas v. Harriss, 56 C. A. 105, 121 S. W. 358.

In an action for breach of a telephone company's contract to obtain connection with plaintiff, so that the death and burial of his sister could be communicated to him, whether he could have reached the place of burial in time to have attended her interment held for the jury. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Jarrell (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1165.

140. —— Wrongful death.—In an action against a railroad for injuries to a passenger, who subsequently died, whether deceased received injuries in the accident alleged, and, if so, whether she died from such injuries, or from some other cause, held, under the evidence, for the jury. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Maxwell (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 160.

In an action for death of railroad employé, defendant held entitled to have presented to the jury its contention that plaintiff did not receive alleged injury, but died solely from disease arising from natural causes. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 482.

141. —— Injuries to employés.—A submission of a question to the jury as to whether a switchman was injured because a car drawhead was placed "beyond the reach of the coupling" held not error, where the evidence showed that the car drawhead slipped under that of an engine. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Bonatz (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 767.

In an action for causing the death of a brakeman, a submission of an issue of defective brake held proper, as it might have been the proximate cause of the accident. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Smith (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 506.

Evidence held sufficient to go to the jury on the question whether a switch foreman's negligence was the proximate cause of injuries sustained by a switchman by the derailment of an engine. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Powell, 25 C. A. 91, 60 S. W. 979.

Whether the failure of a standing train to send back a flagman to warn following trains, as required by rule of the railroad, was the proximate cause of injury to an engineer on a following train, held a question of fact. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Lester (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 401.

Whether an engineer would not have been killed, had not the railroad's negligence in permitting rotten ties to be in the track concurred with an unprecedented rainfall, held a question for the jury. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Boyce, 39 C. A. 195, 87 S. W. 395.

Whether a railroad switchman's failure to keep a lookout and give signals to the engineer in charge of the switch engine was the proximate cause of the injury to him held a question for the jury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Kellerman, 39 C. A. 274, 87 S. W. 401.

In an action for injuries to a brakeman, whether plaintiff's injuries were proximately caused by defendant's negligence in failing to stop the cars attached to the engine, under the circumstances, was for the jury. Southern Const. Co. v. Hinkle (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 309.

In an action for injuries to a servant, the court held to have properly submitted defendant's negligence in failing to furnish better lights as a concurring cause of the injury. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Jackson, 40 C. A. 273, 89 S. W. 1117.

In an action by a servant for injuries, refusal of an instruction submitting the question whether defendant's negligence was the cause of the injury held not error. Bryan v. International & G. N. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 693.

In an action for injuries to an employé in a railroad yard, the evidence held not to show as a matter of law that the injury could not have been foreseen. Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Cochran, 49 C. A. 591, 109 S. W. 261.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to an employé through a defective car stirrup, the question whether it was possible for plaintiff to have been injured in the manner alleged held, under the evidence, one for the jury. El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. O'Keefe. 50 C. A. 579, 110 S. W. 1002.

In an action for the death of a railroad engineer by derailment at a curve, whether the defect in the track was caused by trespassers, and, if so, could have been detected in time to have averted the accident by ordinary inspection, held for the jury. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 106.

In an action for injuries to a railroad freight brakeman, who, while walking along the tops of the cars of a moving train, was thrown therefrom by a sudden jerk of the train, evidence held sufficient to warrant the submission to the jury of the issue whether the jerk was caused by the engine slipping on the rails, or by the train passing through a dip. Ayers v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 612.

A peremptory instruction for defendant on the ground that the foreman's acts were not the proximate cause of the injury held properly refused. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Garcia, 54 C. A. 59, 117 S. W. 206.

In a suit for injury to a switchman in uncoupling cars, held that whether the failure of his fellow servants to see his stop signal was the proximate cause of the injury was for the jury. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Mayfield (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 141.

In an action for injuries to a switchman, evidence held sufficient to take the question to the jury whether defendant's negligence was the proximate cause of the injury. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Owens (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 210.

In an action for the death of an engineer killed by striking his head against a mail crane near the track, evidence held to present questions for the jury as to negligence in its location, and whether the condition of the track was the proximate cause of his death. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams, 103 T. 228, 125 S. W. 881.

Evidence, in an action for injuries to servant, held to raise for the jury a question whether the injury resulted from the negligence of either the master or his foreman. Quinn v. Glenn Lumber Co., 103 T. 253, 126 S. W. 2.

In an action for injuries to a car repairer, the refusal to affirmatively submit the issue of the negligence of a fellow servant as the proximate cause of the injury held erroneous. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Schubert (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 708.

In an action for death of railroad employé, plaintiff held entitled to have jury say whether cause of death was the injury in suit, or if plaintiff became affected with disease, and such disease was caused by or arose as the direct and proximate result of the injury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 482.

Whether evidence in action for injuries to servant showed negligence proximately causing the injuries complained of held for the jury. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Dominguez (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 681.

The question whether the master's failure to supply lights was the proximate cause of the injury held for the jury. Southwestern States Portland Cement Co. v. Young (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 378.

Evidence, in a switchman's action for injuries by injuring his foot between couplings, held to make it a jury question whether the coupling could have slid out of place in the carrying iron. Freeman v. Swan (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 724.

On evidence in an action for a servant's death, held, that the question whether any of the alleged obstructions caused him to fall under a car was for the jury, when the facts proved be of such nature and so related that such conclusion may be fairly inferred. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Finklea (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 612.

142. Public lands.—The question of whether or not one is an actual settler on land is a question of fact, not of law. Borchers v. Mead, 17 C. A. 32, 43 S. W. 300.

The submission of the issue whether a location was made under authority will not be reversed for lack of evidence, where the locator for many years had possession of the certificate, and an erased indorsement thereon indicated his making another location for the owner. Estell v. Kirby (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 8.

Refusal to submit the issue of plaintiff's occupation as a homestead of state school lands purchased, as against a subsequent purchaser, in an action involving title to such land, after request, held error. Thomson v. Hubbard, 22 C. A. 101, 53 S. W. 841.

Where plaintiff had made application to the land commissioner to purchase lands prior to defendant, evidence tending to show that defendant was an actual settler at the time should go to the jury. Crawford v. Wyatt, 22 C. A. 569, 55 S. W. 540.

Where plaintiff claimed land under a lease from the state, and alleged that the improvements thereon were worth $200, and the testimony was conflicting, the question was for the jury. Shelton v. Willis, 23 C. A. 547, 58 S. W. 176.

On an issue as to whether an applicant for the purchase of additional public lands was a bona fide settler on a home section, the question of collusion in the purchase was for the jury. Wyatt v. Lyons, 25 C. A. 88, 60 S. W. 575.

Evidence of collusion between an applicant for the purchase of school land and a third person, whereby the latter became an interested party, held sufficient to require submission of the issue to the jury. McBane v. Angle, 29 C. A. 594, 69 S. W. 433.

In a contest over the right to public lands under conflicting settlements, defendant held not entitled to a submission of the issue whether plaintiff, in making his application, had acted in collusion with another. Bates v. Bratton (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 38.

Evidence held sufficient to go to the jury whether public school land had not been reappraised and was not on the market when the commissioner awarded it to plaintiff. Bowerman v. Pope, 25 C. A. 79, 75 S. W. 1093.

In an action of trespass to try title to state school lands, evidence held to warrant submission to the jury of the issue as to the plaintiff's right to recover the land as an assignee of the original purchaser. Smith v. Coble, 39 C. A. 243, 87 S. W. 170.

Where there were three issues: (1) Whether the plaintiff was residing on the home tract at the date of his purchase so as to entitle him to acquire additional lands under this article, as amended by act of 1897; (2) whether he had been compelled to yield possession through fear of death or serious bodily injury as provided by act of 1901, section 3, and (3) whether permanent improvements to the value of $200 had been made by the lessees, as provided in section 4 of the act of 1901, they should have been submitted to the jury, and the court should not have instructed a verdict for the defendant. Carter v. Clifton, 44 C. A. 132, 98 S. W. 209, 210.

143. Ratification.—Whether mere silence of principal, and failure to repudiate agent's acts within a reasonable time after knowledge thereof, amounts to ratification, is question for jury. Iron City Nat. Bank v. Fifth Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 533, affirmed Fifth Nat. Bank v. Iron City Nat. Bank, 92 T. 436, 49 S. W. 368.

Question of a tenant's ratification of the landlord's terms, on which he agreed to lease the land, held for the jury. Majors v. Goodrich (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 919.

In view of the evidence, held, that the question of ratification of a conveyance obtained by fraud was properly submitted to the jury. Wells v. Houston, 29 C. A. 619, 69 S. W. 183.

Defendant, when he cashed a check given by plaintiff for a horse sold by defendant's son, held not to have ratified the son's statements and acts, as a matter of law. Griffin v. Allison (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1068.

Whether a release executed by plaintiff while in his right mind was ratified by his spending the consideration therefor held under the evidence a question for the jury. Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Franklin (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 553.

144. Reasonableness of ordinance.—Whether an ordinance is void as being unreasonable is a question for the court under the evidence. Radley v. Knepfly (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 447.

145. Reasonable time.—The question as to what is a reasonable time between the occupancy of land by different tenants is one of fact for the jury. Dunn v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 952.

Question of reasonable time in discovering a fraud, as affecting limitations, is properly submitted to the jury. Cooper v. Lee, 1 C. A. 9, 21 S. W. 998.

Ordinarily what is a reasonable time within which to do an act is for the jury, but where no inference of unreasonable delay can be drawn, the question is for the court. Luhn v. Fordtran, 53 C. A. 148, 115 S. W. 667.

Whether a stipulation in a contract of employment, requiring, as a condition to recovery for injuries, that the employé within 90 days of receiving them give notice thereof, is reasonable, held a question for the jury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Newton (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 873.

A stipulation in a contract for the delivery of a telegram that notice of any claim of damages for failure to deliver must be given is invalid under Art. 5714, unless the stipulation is reasonable, which is for the jury under the circumstances of the particular case. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Timmons (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1169.

146. Reasonableness of regulations of railroad commission.—Whether the regulations of the railroad commission are reasonable, as applied to a particular railroad, is a question of law for the court. Railroad Commission of Texas v. Houston & T. C. R. Co., 16 C. A. 129, 40 S. W. 526.

147. Release.—In an action for injuries, held that defendant could not show that the court properly refused, under the pleadings and evidence, to submit the question of release of plaintiff's claim. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Schroeder, 44 C. A. 47, 100 S. W. 808.

In an action for a servant's death, in which defendant pleaded a release of all claim for damages executed by decedent, evidence held not to raise the issue of decedent's want of mental capacity to understand the nature and effect of his acts when he executed the release. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Polka, 57 C. A. 626, 124 S. W. 226.

In an action for personal injuries, evidence held to make a question for the jury as to whether plaintiff was in his right mind at the time he executed a release of his claim against defendant. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Franklin (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 553.

Evidence held to make a question for the jury as to whether plaintiff was bound by a release of a claim for personal injuries. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Bright (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 304.

148. Removal of railroad shops.—In an action by a city and others to enjoin removal by defendant railroad of its general offices and shops from the city, the necessity for such removal held not an issue for the court. City of Tyler v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 238.

149. Rewards.—Whether one was induced to make an investigation of a crime because of a reward offered and pursuant to the reward caused an arrest is a question for the jury. Tobin v. McComb (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 237.

150. Set-off and counterclaim.—Held not error to instruct a finding against a plea in reconvention where the pleading and proof do not justify a recovery thereon. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 531.

In an action to recover balance of insurance money held by bank, evidence held to present question for jury whether debt due bank was sufficient to absorb insurance money. Tharp & Griffith v. Porter & Waters (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 530.

Where defendant pleaded in reconvention held error to direct a verdict for plaintiff. Allen v. Camp, 101 T. 260, 106 S. W. 315.

151. Suicide.—Evidence held to make it a jury question whether decedent suicided. Freeman v. Belinoski (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 882.

152. Suretyship obligation.—In action on bond of surety company, verdict for defendant held properly directed for want of evidence. Pope v. American Surety Co., 42 C. A. 152, 93 S. W. 480.

Evidence in an action on a note held to make it a jury question whether the payee agreed to extend the time of payment without the sureties' consent. First Nat. Bank v. Rusk Pure Ice Co. (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 89.

153. Title and possession.—Evidence reviewed, and held, that a verdict was properly directed for plaintiff. Ferguson v. Cochran (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 30.

Refusing to instruct that plaintiffs could recover unless defendants had shown by a preponderance of the evidence that the land was not granted to plaintiffs' ancestor held proper, where plaintiffs' evidence raised question of ancestor's identity with common source. Smith v. Davis, 18 C. A. 563, 47 S. W. 101.

A question whether, under a certain state of facts, a party acquired title to more than an undivided half of the lands in controversy, is a question of law for the court. Oaks v. West (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 1033.

In action against a city for injuries from stepping into a hole beside a sidewalk, evidence held sufficient to authorize submission to jury of the question whether the city had assumed ownership and control of the property where the street was situated. Still v. City of Houston, 27 C. A. 447, 66 S. W. 76.

Evidence to show actual possession, relied on by plaintiff in trespass to try title, as against a claim founded on an entry without title, considered, and held insufficient to warrant direction of a verdict in his favor. Lynn v. Burnett, 34 C. A. 335, 79 S. W. 64.

In trespass to try title to land, peremptory instruction for plaintiff held properly refused. Field v. Field, 39 C. A. 1, 87 S. W. 726.

Whether the grantee in a Texas land grant acquired the fee in the extension of final title instead of another, for whom he acted as attorney in fact, held a question of law and not of fact. Surghenor v. Taliaferro (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 648.

In trespass to try title, the court held to have properly refused to direct a verdict for defendants. Wallis, Landes & Co. v. Dehart (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 180.

In trespass to try title, evidence held to warrant the court's refusal to instruct the jury to return a verdict for plaintiff for all of the land in controversy. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Texas Tram & Lumber Co., 50 C. A. 182, 110 S. W. 140.

In trespass to try title, a verdict for plaintiff held properly directed. Glenn v. Rhine, 53 C. A. 291, 115 S. W. 91.

In trespass to try title, held, under the evidence, a jury question whether a townsite was located on plaintiffs' land. Uvalde County v. Oppenheimer, 53 C. A. 137, 115 S. W. 904.

In an action of trespass to try title, where both parties claim under land certificates issued to the heirs of a certain person, the evidence held to justify an instruction in favor of defendants. Bailie v. Western Live Stock & Land Co., 55 C. A. 473, 119 S. W. 325.

The direction of a verdict for plaintiff held error under the evidence. Thacker v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 938.

In trespass to try title, held, under the evidence, a jury question whether the land was unappropriated public domain when awarded to plaintiff. Leckie v. Texas Land & Cattle Co. (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1147.

In an action to recover land, submission to jury of question as to ownership of tract claimed by plaintiff held not error. Davis v. Mills (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 1064.

In replevin to recover certain personal property, evidence held to require submission of the issue of title to the jury. Ricketson v. Best (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 353.

Verdict held properly directed for plaintiffs in trespass to try title. Christy v. Romero (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 516.

Under the evidence as to ownership of the goods shipped, refusal of peremptory instruction for the defendant held proper. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. A. B. Patterson & Co. (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 698.

154. Transmission of telegraph and telephone messages.—Question as to whether telegraph company had time to deliver a message, so as to enable recipient to take a train, held for the jury. Evans v. Western Union Tel. Co. (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 609.

The question of a telegraph company's negligence in failing to comply with its custom of notifying the sender of extra charges for special delivery was for the jury. Id.

Evidence in an action against a telegraph company for failure to deliver a message held sufficient to raise the issue of the defendant's negligence. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Ragland (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 421.

In an action by sender of a telegram for failure to deliver a message, a peremptory direction of verdict for defendant held not authorized under the evidence. Barefoot v. Western Union Tel. Co., 28 C. A. 457, 67 S. W. 912.

In action for delay in delivering a telegraph message sent on Sunday, whether the rules as to Sunday business were waived, or not intended to apply, is a question for the jury. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Pierce (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 920.

Whether a telegraph company's ordinary rule as to closing its office at night applied in a particular instance held a question for the jury. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Shaw, 33 C. A. 395, 77 S. W. 433.

In an action for delay in delivering telegram, evidence held insufficient to justify the submission of an issue as to defendant's negligence in delivering the telegram to plaintiff in time for him to reach his mother before her death. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Newnum (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 700.

Where a telegraph company discovered, after receiving a message, that it was unable to transmit the same, attempting to notify the sender by means of persons who were passing his house held not negligent as a matter of law. Faubion v. Western Union Tel. Co., 36 C. A. 98, 81 S. W. 56.

In action against a telegraph company for failure to promptly deliver message to person living outside the free delivery limits held not error to submit question of reasonableness of the rules as to free delivery limits to the jury. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Ayers, 41 C. A. 627, 93 S. W. 199.

In an action for delay in delivery of a telegram, whether the message was addressed to plaintiff held for the jury. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Wafford, 43 C. A. 589, 97 S. W. 324.

In an action against a telegraph company for the delayed delivery of a message held proper to refuse to direct a verdict for the company. Buchanan v. Western Union Telegraph Co. (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 974.

In an action for the failure to promptly deliver telegrams, which, although addressed to the city within whose delivery limits addressees resided, yet were misdirected to a particular place within its limits, held, whether the telegraph company used due diligence to find addressees was for the jury. Klopf v. Western Union Telegraph Co., 100 T. 540, 101 S. W. 1072, 10 L. R. A. (N. S.) 498, 123 Am. St. Rep. 831.

Evidence in an action for delay in delivery of a telegram held to raise for the jury the question whether defendant telegraph company was negligent. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Gulick, 48 C. A. 78, 106 S. W. 698; Same v. Downs, 49 C. A. 255, 119 S. W. 119; Same v. Douglass (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 488.

In an action against a telegraph company for delay in the delivery of messages, the question whether plaintiff exercised reasonable diligence after receiving the messages held for the jury. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Johnsey, 49 C. A. 487, 109 S. W. 251.

In an action against a telegraph company for failing to deliver at "Holdenville, I. T.," a message addressed to "Holenville, I. T.," held proper, under the evidence, to refuse to direct a verdict for the company. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Hankins, 50 C. A. 513, 110 S. W. 539.

In an action against a telephone company for failure to secure an answer to a sick call over a long distance line, evidence held to present a question for the jury as to whether defendant exercised due diligence in procuring the answer. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. McCoy (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 387.

In an action for breach of a contract to furnish telephone service from month to month, whether the service was discontinued during a month for which plaintiff had made no tender, and whether rent was tendered for the month during which service was discontinued, held, under the evidence, for the jury. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Luckett (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 856.

155. —— Limitation of liability.—Whether stipulation in a contract for the delivery of a telegram is reasonable held a question for the jury. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Timmons (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1169.

156. Trespass.—It was error to refuse to submit the question of plaintiffs' possession to the jury, since, if true, and defendant entered on the land without title, plaintiffs were entitled to recover. Thomson v. Hubbard, 22 C. A. 101, 53 S. W. 841.

In an action for injury to plaintiff's wife from fright and humiliation caused by defendant's agents going upon plaintiff's premises in the nighttime, held error to direct a verdict for defendant. Alexander v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas, 57 C. A. 407, 122 S. W. 572.

157. Trusts.—Whether a deed absolute on its face was subject to a parol trust held for the jury. Whitfield v. Diffie (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 324.

In an action to enforce an alleged parol trust in land, evidence considered and held sufficient to require submission of the case to the jury. Salter v. Gentry (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 627.

Evidence on the issue of a resulting trust held sufficient to go to the jury. Gilmore v. Brown (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 964.

158. Use and occupation.—The question of a tenant's ratification of the landlord's terms not being conclusively shown, the issue as to reasonable rental value should have been submitted. Majors v. Goodrich (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 919.

159. Usury.—When there is doubt as to whether a transaction apparently fair on its face is free from usury the question whether it is usurious is for the jury. Peightal v. Cotton States Bldg. Co., 25 C. A. 390, 61 S. W. 428.

Evidence in a suit to foreclose a building and loan mortgage held to raise a jury question whether the written contract was a mere device to evade the usury laws. Walter v. Mutual Home Sav. Ass'n, 29 C. A. 379, 68 S. W. 536.

160. Waiver.—It is proper to submit to the jury whether a stipulation in a lease has been waived when the waiver is pleaded, and the plea is supported by evidence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Kimbell (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 1049.

Whether taking renewal notes omitting vendor's lien in exchange for purchase-money notes amount to a waiver of lien, is a question for the jury. Wilcox v. First Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 560.

In an action for failure to deliver a telegram, evidence held sufficient to take the question to the jury of whether or not defendant had waived the right to require a written claim for damages to be filed within 90 days. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Timmons (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 376.

In an action for breach of contract to furnish telephone service, whether the telephone company waived the requirement of the contract for payment in advance at the office held, under the evidence, for the jury. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Luckett (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 856.

In an action on a building contract, evidence held not to warrant submission of issue of the owner's waiver of all damages for delay in completion. Taub v. Woodruff (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 750.

In an action on an account more than two years old, evidence that prior to the making of the account defendant stated that the statute would never run against any account he made is insufficient to authorize a submission to the jury of the issue of waiver of the statute; such statement being no more than an agreement to waive the right to plead limitations, which would be void as against public policy. Young v. Sorenson & Hooper (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 676.

161. Waste.—Where a purchaser of oil extracted from property owned in common paid one of the tenants about half its value, the payment being made by furnishing a pumping station and pipe line, it was a question for the jury whether the transaction was an act of waste so as to hold the purchaser liable to complainant, a cotenant. Burnham v. Hardy Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 330.

162. Wrongful death.—Where a railway station agent employed a guard, and such person killed plaintiff's decedent by a mistake resulting from want of due care, held error to direct a verdict for plaintiff. Lipscomb v. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co., 95 T. 5, 64 S. W. 923, 55 L. R. A. 869, 93 Am. St. Rep. 804.

Whether a wife who had abandoned her husband was damaged by his death held a question for the jury. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Bryant, 31 C. A. 483, 72 S. W. 885.

The question whether pecuniary aid rendered by plaintiff's deceased father to plaintiff's family was primarily in aid of plaintiff, or as a gift to his family, was for the jury. Freeman v. Morales (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 644.

163. Wrongful levy.—In an action to recover the value of property taken under execution as that of the judgment debtor, but alleged to have been sold to plaintiff, held, that whether the sale as between judgment debtor and plaintiff was a real sale, intended to pass title to the goods to plaintiff, was for the jury. Guyton v. Chasen, 45 C. A. 354, 101 S. W. 290.

Whether a writ of sequestration was wrongfully or maliciously sued out, as claimed, is a question of fact for the jury. Rogers v. O'Barr & Dinwiddie (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 593.

Where the undisputed evidence, in an action for wrongful attachment, showed facts making the attachment wrongful, it was error to submit those questions to the jury. Pate v. Vardeman (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 317.

(C) Instructions Invading Province of Jury

164. Nature and scope of issues.—Statement of the allegations of the petition, in charge to jury, is not error. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Cuniffe (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 692.

In will contest, issue of fraud held properly submitted to the jury. Morrison v. Thoman, 99 T. 248, 89 S. W. 409.

165. Comments by judge on evidence in general.—During trial, see notes at end of Chapter 12.

The statute prohibits the trial judge from incorporating in his instructions anything which might reasonably be construed as intimating his opinion as to how the case should be decided, or as to the weight to be given the evidence, unless it is not conflicting and clearly establishes the fact. Hale v. Barnes (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 358.

166. Credibility of witnesses.—An instruction based on the uncontradicted testimony of an interested witness held erroneous, as depriving the jury of the right to pass on the credibility of the witness. Turner v. Grobe, 24 C. A. 554, 59 S. W. 583.

In an action for injuries to a servant, charge limiting the effect of cross-examination of a fellow servant held properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Kellerman, 39 C. A. 274, 87 S. W. 401.

Instruction held to invade the jury's right to pass upon the credibility of witnesses. Smith v. Fears (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 433; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Schubert, 130 S. W. 708; Riggins v. Sass, 143 S. W. 689.

167. Inferences from evidence.—Where, in an action on a liquor dealer's bond, there was evidence on the issue as to the date of the filing of the bond, no reference should have been made in an instruction to the presumption that the bond was filed on the day of its date; such presumption being one of fact. Allen v. Houck & Dieter Co. (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 993.

A "presumption of law" and "presumption of fact" defined. Mitchell v. Stanton (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1033.

The court held without authority to indicate in its instructions a presumption of fact. Id.

An instruction held not objectionable for grouping certain facts, and authorizing inferences therefrom. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Matkin (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 604.

168. Hypothetical statements by judge.—It is error to submit to the jury as hypothetical an undisputed fact. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Harvin (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 629.

Instructions held addressed to amount of damages in case jury found for plaintiffs, and not a direct charge to find for plaintiffs, or misleading. Ellis v. Kirkpatrick & Skiles, 32 C. A. 243, 74 S. W. 57.

An instruction held properly refused. Paris & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Calvin (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 428.

169. Assumptions by judge as to facts.—Charge should not assume that particular facts have been proved (Cobb v. Beall, 1 T. 342; Crozier v. Kirker, 4 T. 252, 51 Am. Dec. 724; Wells v. Barnett, 7 T. 584; Gay v. McGuffin, 9 T. 501; Gray v. Burk, 19 T. 228; T. & P. R. R. Co. v. Lanham, 1 App. C. C. § 251; T. & P. R. R. Co. v. Hurless, 1 App. C. C. § 582; Golden v. Patterson, 56 T. 628); but may enumerate facts to be considered by the jury without assuming their existence. (Newman v. Dodson, 61 T. 91; Anderson v. Martindale, 61 T. 188; T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Wright, 62 T. 515; Dwyer v. Bassett, 63 T. 274; Railway Co. v. Smith [Civ. App.] 24 S. W. 668.)

A new trial should be awarded when the charge of the court is so worded as to assume the existence of a material controverted fact involved in the issue, regarding which the evidence is conflicting, and the verdict is in accordance with such assumption. Boaz v. Schneider, 69 T. 128, 6 S. W. 402.

An instruction which is liable to be construed by the jury as assuming the proof of a fact in controversy is misleading. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams, 17 C. A. 675, 40 S. W. 161.

A charge held open to the objection that it assumes a matter in issue. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hauer (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 1078; Robbins v. Voss, 64 S. W. 313; Metcalfe v. Lowenstein, 35 C. A. 619, 81 S. W. 362; Chicago, R. I. & M. Ry. Co. v. Harton, 36 C. A. 475, 81 S. W. 1236; Kansas City Southern Ry. Co. v. Williams (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 196; St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Boshear, 102 T. 76, 113 S. W. 6; Texas Traction Co. v. Hanson (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 494; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Wooldridge & Hamby, 126 S. W. 603; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brooks, 132 S. W. 95; Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. De Bord, Id. 845; Leonard Cotton Oil Co. v. Burnes, 138 S. W. 1082.

An instruction to find for defendant if a certain fact was believed held not to assume a fact in controversy. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Casseday, 92 T. 525, 50 S. W. 125.

An instruction which assumes a fact not shown by the evidence, held erroneous. Clark v. Clark, 21 C. A. 371, 51 S. W. 337.

An instruction held not to assume a fact. Freeman v. Cates, 22 C. A. 623, 55 S. W. 524; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Karrer (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 328; Southern Pac. Co. v. Bailey, 91 S. W. 820; Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Yarbrough, 49 C. A. 407, 109 S. W. 390; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Grant (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 145; Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Coffee, 126 S. W. 638; Woodmen of the World v. McCoslin, Id. 894.

An instruction based on the assumption that the testimony of an interested witness was true held erroneous. Turner v. Grobe, 24 C. A. 554, 59 S. W. 583.

An instruction grouping certain facts which would justify plaintiff's recovery held not objectionable as assuming the existence of one of such facts by failure to use the words "if any." San Antonio Traction Co. v. Warren (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 26.

An instruction assuming a disputed fact is properly refused. Abeel v. McDonnell, 39 C. A. 453, 87 S. W. 1066; Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Groner, 51 C. A. 65, 111 S. W. 667; Moore v. Kirby, 52 C. A. 200, 115 S. W. 632; Boardman v. Woodward (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 550; Louisiana & T. Lumber Co. v. Kennedy, 119 S. W. 884; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bush, 56 C. A. 69, 120 S. W. 224; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Word (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 478; El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. Welter, 125 S. W. 45; Pierce v. Farrar, 126 S. W. 932; Johnson v. Hyltin, 133 S. W. 293; Partridge v. Wooton, 137 S. W. 412; Galles & Bowie v. Alarcon, 145 S. W. 634; Freeman v. Kennerly, 151 S. W. 580; Hartford Fire Ins. Co. v. Walker, 153 S. W. 398.

An instruction which is merely a statement of the issues made by the pleadings is not erroneous as an assumption of the proof of any issue in the case. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Kyser & Sutherland, 43 C. A. 322, 95 S. W. 747.

The court should never assume an issue proven unless the evidence is so conclusive one way that the minds of reasonable men could reach but one conclusion as to the result. Security Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Calvert (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 1033.

Under the act of 1853 the court is not authorized to assume the existence of facts unless there is no contradictory evidence with reference thereto, or the evidence is so clearly defective as not to raise an issue. Thompson v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 48 C. A. 284, 106 S. W. 910.

An instruction held to assume a certain matter in view of presumptions. St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Cassidy Southwestern Commission Co., 48 C. A. 484, 107 S. W. 628.

It is error to assume a fact as a matter of law from the testimony of an expert witness. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Worth (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 958.

There was no error in refusing special instructions assuming as a matter of law facts in issue which were either negatived by the evidence, or as to which the evidence conflicted and would support a verdict at variance with such assumption. Stamford Oil Mill Co. v. Barnes (Civ. App.) 119 S. W. 871.

The word "when," as used in an instruction, could not be construed as synonymous with "if," so as to save the instruction from an objection that it assumed the fact of plaintiff's employment. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Lynch (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 580.

Instructions do not assume facts, so as to be on the weight of evidence, where they submit those facts as issues to the jury. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Montgomery (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 813.

An instruction, assuming as a fact a matter which was proven only by the uncorroborated testimony of plaintiff, is erroneous. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Lucas (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1149.

170. —— Nature of action or issue in general.—It is error in a charge to assume a fact denied by one of the parties, where such denial has support in evidence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Kimbell (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 1049.

In an action to cancel a judgment, an instruction held erroneous, because assuming the fact at issue. Briseno v. International & G. N. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 579.

The court should not charge the jury to disregard the defensive matters alleged by defendant, unless all the evidence fails to support the defenses. Haney v. Blandino (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 1108.

An instruction, assuming the navigability of certain waters in a suit for obstructing them, held incorrect. Orange Lumber Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 563.

In an action on a liquor dealer's bond for damages through the sale of liquor to plaintiff's husband, a charge held not objectionable as assuming a fact or as being on the weight of evidence. Birkman v. Fahrenthold, 52 C. A. 335, 114 S. W. 428.

In an action on a dramshop keeper's bond, an instruction held to leave to the jury the question whether plaintiff's minor son was permitted to enter and remain in the saloon of the keeper. McElroy v. Sparkman (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 529.

A charge, in an action upon a replevin bond, held not erroneous as assuming a fact in issue. Priddy v. O'Neal (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 35.

An instruction that a partner purchasing merchandise for the firm's business must, unless there is an agreement or consent to the contrary by his partner, charge the firm only the amount actually paid for the merchandise and the reasonable expense of making the purchase, did not assume that more than the actual cost of the merchandise and expense of purchasing had been charged by the partner in the particular case. Thos. Goggan & Bro. v. Goggan (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 968.

A charge not to consider the annoyance or harm caused by flies was properly refused as assuming that the slaughterhouse sought to be abated was not responsible for the flies. Nations v. Harris (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 334.

171. —— Contracts and actions relating thereto.—The court should not in its charge to the jury assume the insolvency of the maker of a note in a case where the question at issue is whether protest was or was not necessary to fix the liability of an indorser. The insolvency of the maker unless there is no room for two minds to come to different conclusions on the question should be left to the jury. Williams v. Planters' & Mechanics' National Bank, 91 T. 651, 45 S. W. 690.

Instruction held not to assume that certain facts were an increase of hazard. Moriarty v. United States Fire Ins. Co., 19 C. A. 669, 49 S. W. 132.

An instruction that defendant had agreed to pay plaintiff for hauling certain goods, which in fact were never hauled, held error, in an action by a teamster against a railroad company on a contract for the hauling of freight. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Dennison, 32 C. A. 89, 58 S. W. 834.

In an action by contractors for breach of contract, a certain instruction held properly refused as assuming a controverted fact, and as on the weight of evidence. McClellan v. McLemore (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 224.

Instruction in action for delay in delivering telegram held erroneous for assuming that any character of search by the telegraph company for the addressee would acquit it of negligence. Reed v. Western Union Tel. Co., 31 C. A. 116, 71 S. W. 389.

Instruction, in action by real estate brokers against another broker for their share of commissions, held not objectionable as assuming the existence of the contract claimed by plaintiffs. Blake v. Austin, 33 C. A. 112, 75 S. W. 571.

In an action for damages for failure to stop a car and admit plaintiff as a passenger, an instruction held erroneous as a charge on the evidence. Northern Texas Traction Co. v. Peterman (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 535.

In action for breach of contract to furnish water for irrigation, court should avoid assumption in charge that there were a certain number of acres of land under cultivation. Barstow Irr. Co. v. Cleghon (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 1023.

In an action against a railroad for negligently transporting plaintiff's cattle, a charge assuming that the cattle were shipped under a written contract was properly refused; such question being one for the jury. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Batte (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 345.

An instruction in an action for goods sold held on the weight of the evidence and erroneous. Hotel Cliff Ass'n v. Peterman (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 407.

In an action for rent, an instruction held erroneous because not called for by the evidence. Blackwell v. Speer (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 903.

Where the evidence as to the time when a carrier received a shipment of corn in controversy was conflicting, it was error for the court in its charge to assume that the carrier received the corn on a particular day. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 684.

In an action for services, the court did not err as against defendant in assuming that certain of the services were performed without charge. Harris v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 1144.

An instruction in an action for a real estate broker's commission held erroneous as assuming that plaintiff had performed services, and that the jury would find for him. Yates v. Bratton (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 416.

In an action for a broker's commission, an instruction held properly refused because assuming a fact in dispute. Hansen v. Williams (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 312.

In a suit for failure to promptly transmit and deliver an unrepeated message, a charge held to assume there was a mistake in the address. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Bennett (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 151.

In an action against a telegraph company for delay in delivering a telegram, a certain instruction was held not to assume that judgment would be rendered for plaintiff. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Gilliland (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 212.

In an action for delay in transporting live stock, a charge held not erroneous as assuming the existence of a disputed fact. St. Louis, B. & M. R. Co. v. Murphy & Kay (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 306.

In an employé's personal injury action, an instruction held erroneous as assuming as a fact that the physicians who examined plaintiff acted with defendant in inducing plaintiff to sign a release. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Bowles (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1176.

An instruction in an action on a policy that the jury should find for plaintiff if the secretary of defendant's local lodge agreed to accept a certain check in payment of the first assessment on insured's policy held not objectionable, as assuming that the acceptance of the check was unconditional. Supreme Lodge United Benevolent Ass'n v. Lawson (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 907.

Where, in an action on a promissory note, defended on the ground of an alteration made after the note left the maker's hands, there was evidence which would support a finding that the note was not altered, it was error for the instructions to assume that it was altered. Lanier v. Clarke (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 1093.

A charge that, if the agent, while negotiating for settlement, stated that it was the agent's opinion that the servant's condition was not serious, and that he would not be permanently disabled, and the servant voluntarily signed the release, knowing as much about his condition as the agent knew or claimed to know, the servant was bound by the release, was not objectionable as assuming facts establishing the validity of the release. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Reno (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 207.

In an action on an award of arbitrators, an instruction assuming that the arbitrators arrived at the conclusion that plaintiffs were not bound by the time stipulated in the contract for the completion of the work was improper. Slaughter v. Crisman & Nesbit (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 205.

In an action against a telegraph company for damages, held, that a requested charge authorizing a verdict for plaintiff was properly rejected as assuming, without evidence or finding, that a trip taken by plaintiff had been made on the faith of information as to delivery given him by defendant's agent. Crane v. Western Union Telegraph Co. (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 444.

In an action for damages to hay, an instruction that if the damage, if any found, was occasioned by reason of the hay being baled or shipped when green, the carriers were not liable was not objectionable as assuming that the hay was green when baled or shipped. Amarillo Commercial Co. v. McGregor Milling & Grain Co. (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1124.

172. —— Actions relating to property.—Where, in an action against an overseer of a road district for removal of a fence, the jury were instructed that the road was properly located on the boundary line of plaintiff's land, with the boundary line as its center, as defendant contends, the defendant cannot complain of the court's refusal to charge as to the dignity of one call or another in field notes. Luckie v. Schneider (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 690.

A charge that if the grantor placed the deed in a trunk to which the grantee had access, and told the grantee that she might have it recorded whenever she wanted to, that constituted a delivery, held erroneous. Walker v. Nix, 25 C. A. 596, 64 S. W. 73.

In trespass to try title between applicants to purchase school lands, held error to assume in the charge that plaintiff had not already purchased as much as four sections of school lands. Nowlin v. Hall (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 116.

Where it is a question whether certain machinery removed from a mill is a fixture, an instruction assuming that the machinery was a part of the realty is properly refused. Mundine v. Pauls, 28 C. A. 46, 66 S. W. 254.

Where it is a controverted question under pleadings and proof whether or not a party owned or controlled a section of land upon which he had settled, it is error for the court to assume in the charge that he owned it. The issue should have been submitted to the jury. Lake et al. v. Copeland, 31 C. A. 358, 72 S. W. 99.

In a suit to recover horses, an instruction assuming there was no sale to defendant held not erroneous. Word v. Kennon (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 334.

In a suit to set aside certain deeds, an instruction held not objectionable as assuming facts not stated from the undisputed evidence. London v. Crow, 46 C. A. 190, 102 S. W. 177.

In an action involving a boundary line, refusal of an instruction held proper. Taylor v. Blackwell (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 214.

An instruction in partition held erroneous as assuming that plaintiffs were the only heirs of the deceased ancestor. Hess v. Webb (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 618.

In trespass to try title, an instruction held properly refused, as assuming an absence of constructive notice from the record of a deed. Houston Oil Co. of Texas v. Kimball (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 662.

A charge held to have been properly refused because it assumed the fact of separate dedications of sites by a town to a county for a courthouse, clerk's office, and jail. City of Victoria v. Victoria County (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 67.

An instruction in a condemnation proceeding held not to assume that the land taken was adapted to other uses than those to which it had been applied. Crystal City & U. R. Co. v. Boothe (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 700.

In trespass to try title, a special charge, assuming that C.'s use of the land about D.'s place for grazing cattle was hostile to D.'s title, held error. Fleming v. Mistletoe Heights Land Co. (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 923.

If, in an action to recover land, the evidence made it a jury question as to the location of a partition line, it was error to assume in an instruction that the line was located as claimed by plaintiff. Paschall v. Brown (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 561.

173. —— Actions for torts in general.—It is error for the court to assume in its charge, in an action for damages against an overseer of a road district for removal of plaintiff's fence, that the road was laid out with plaintiff's boundary line as its center, where the evidence is conflicting as to whether the road actually laid out had such boundary line as its center. Luckie v. Schneider (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 690.

In an action for conversion of certain timber, an instruction held properly refused as assuming that H., who had cut the timber, was defendant's agent, and as requiring defendant to have informed H. of the boundary line between defendant's land and that belonging to plaintiff, though H. was otherwise informed of such boundary. Messer v. Walton, 42 C. A. 488, 92 S. W. 1037.

In an action by a wife for conversion of corporate stock by a sale thereof, under execution against her husband, an instruction authorizing a recovery held erroneous for a failure to require a finding that the stock was the wife's separate property. First Nat. Bank v. Thomas (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 221.

In an action for damages to property caused by an alleged nuisance consisting in the maintenance and operation of defendants' gin, an instruction held erroneous as on the weight of evidence, in that it assumed certain facts in issue. Hunt v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 879.

Instruction which assumed that writ of attachment was maliciously and willfully sued out and levied held erroneous. Barnett v. Ward (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 697.

In an action for conversion, an instruction held erroneous as assuming that defendant had sold the property at the time of the tender. May v. Anthony (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 602.

In an action for conversion, where the evidence was conflicting whether plaintiff tendered the proper amount due under an agreement by which defendant had possession of the property, a special instruction that if, when plaintiff tendered defendant $40, the defendant had already converted the property, so that he could not return it, plaintiff was entitled to recover, was erroneous as withdrawing from the jury the issue whether plaintiff had tendered the amount required by the agreement. Id.

Where a detective employed in a store testified that he saw plaintiff put something in her bag, and for that reason followed her out of the store, and arrested her because he suspected her of stealing, a charge in the action for assault and unlawful arrest which assumed that the transaction as a whole occurred wholly without the store was misleading. Perkins Bros. Co. v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 556.

174. —— Negligence in general.—A charge which assumes that it is negligence for a company to fail to notify a sender of a message of its inability to deliver it is erroneous. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Davis (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 258.

A charge that a horse was killed within what "purported to be" an inclosure of defendant's track held not prejudicial. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Barton (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 797.

A charge which permits the jury to determine the facts, and the question of negligence arising thereon, is not erroneous, as assuming that the facts show negligence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Lynch, 22 C. A. 336, 55 S. W. 389.

Instruction held not objectionable, as telling jury that hole in street was dangerous. Laredo Electric & Railway Co. v. Hamilton, 23 C. A. 480, 56 S. W. 998.

In action against a railroad company for burning plaintiff's barn, a charge that, if sparks from defendant's engine started the fire, the jury should find for plaintiff, was not erroneous, as on weight of evidence, in assuming that the setting of fire by sparks established negligence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Wooldridge (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 905.

Charge in action against a railroad for alleged negligent destruction of property by fire held erroneous. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gentry (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 607; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wood. 81 S. W. 1187; Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Gregory, 142 S. W. 656; Same v. Burke, Id. 658.

An instruction in a negligence case held not to assume facts which were controverted. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. McDonald (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 493.

In an action against a carrier for injuries to a shipment of cattle, an instruction held erroneous as assuming a controverted fact. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Burns, 41 C. A. 83, 90 S. W. 688; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Fisher (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 1042; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Light, 54 C. A. 481, 117 S. W. 1058; Quanah, A. & P. Ry. Co. v. Galloway (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 368.

In an action for injuries, caused by a collision between plaintiff's vehicle and one driven by defendant's servant, a request to charge held properly refused as assuming that plaintiff was entitled to the right of way over a certain street railway track. May v. Hahn (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 132.

The court, in instructing on contributory negligence, can assume as a fact that plaintiff's act contributed to the injury, only where it is so directly related to the result as to have necessarily contributed thereto. Hertzberg v. San Antonio Traction Co., 56 C. A. 437, 120 S. W. 572.

A charge held not to create an impression as to the court's views on a phase of the case, nor to assume that plaintiff was negligent. Drewery v. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1061.

Court held warranted in assuming in an instruction that the act of a horse, killed by a railroad train was the proximate cause of the injury. Ludtke v. Texas & N. O. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 377.

In an action for the burning of plaintiff's barn, an instruction held not objectionable as assuming that the fire was set out by sparks from defendant's engine. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Ellis (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 246.

In an action against a railroad company for penalties and damages under the statute for permitting Johnson grass to mature on its right of way, the court may in its charge assume that the act of the company in permitting the grass to mature was negligent. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Tolbert (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 280.

Instruction held error as assuming that certain acts stated on which negligence was predicated constituted negligence as a matter of law. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Knox (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 224.

In an action for damages to a shipment of cattle, an instruction held not to assume negligence and consequent damages to a certain number of cattle. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Bishop (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 305.

In an action for personal injuries and injuries to plaintiff's automobile caused by its striking a stump in a street, an instruction that the fact that plaintiff was running his automobile without lights would preclude a recovery was erroneous, even if there was evidence that this was the proximate cause of the accident. Wheeler v. City of Flatonia (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 951.

Though the issue of proximate cause is a question of fact, the evidence may be such that the court may assume its existence as a matter of law. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Missildine (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 245.

175. —— Personal injuries in general.—In an action to recover for a son's death, caused by being thrown against a live wire by the falling body of his father, an instruction based on assumption that act of the father was proximate cause of son's death held properly refused. Brush Electric Light & Power Co. v. Lefevre (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 396.

Instructions held not objectionable, as imposing duty on street-railroad company to place culvert in street in a safe, instead of a reasonably safe, condition. Laredo Electric & Railway Co. v. Hamilton, 23 C. A. 480, 56 S. W. 998.

Instruction on the question of the matters to be considered by the jury in determining defendant's knowledge or lack of knowledge of the vicious character of his dog held not objectionable as assuming the facts. Triolo v. Foster (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 698.

In an action for injuries sustained by being thrown, with her vehicle, into a stream adjacent to a street, which was not protected by barriers, an instruction assuming complainant's negligence in the handling of the lines is properly refused; such question being for the jury. City of San Antonio v. Porter, 24 C. A. 444, 59 S. W. 922.

A requested charge in an action against the owner of a building for injuries sustained by a person employed by another to make repairs thereon held properly refused as being misleading and assuming that the defendant was negligent. Sullivan v. City Nat. Bank, 27 C. A. 359, 65 S. W. 39.

In an action alleged to be due to a defect in a sidewalk, an instruction held not erroneous as assuming the existence of facts which should have been found by the jury. City of Cleburne v. Elder, 46 C. A. 399, 102 S. W. 464.

An instruction held not objectionable. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Carter, 47 C. A. 309, 104 S. W. 910; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Walker, 48 C. A. 52, 106 S. W. 705; Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Lytle, 48 C. A. 107, 106 S. W. 900.

A charge in a personal injury case on the doctrine of discovered risk held erroneous. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Kelleher, 48 C. A. 421, 107 S. W. 64.

176. —— Personal injuries in operation of railroads in general.—An instruction held not objectionable as assuming facts. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hines (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 152; San Antonio Traction Co. v. Probandt, 125 S. W. 931; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Tracy, 130 S. W. 639; Gildemeister v. San Antonio Traction Co., 135 S. W. 1097; Chicago, R. I. & E. P. Ry. Co. v. Easley, 149 S. W. 785.

A charge held faulty, as assuming that a man of ordinary prudence would not approach a railroad crossing without looking and listening. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Harris, 22 C. A. 16, 53 S. W. 599.

An instruction held erroneous. St. Louis & S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gill (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 386; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Berry, 32 C. A. 259, 72 S. W. 423; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. O'Donnell (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 886; Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Lytle, 48 C. A. 107, 106 S. W. 900; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Stanley, 52 C. A. 185, 114 S. W. 676; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Briscoe, 102 T. 505, 119 S. W. 844.

An instruction that defendant was liable if its negligence was the proximate cause of plaintiff's injury, plaintiff being free from contributory negligence, held not open to the objection of assuming that the accident occurred at the crossing. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Kief (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 625.

Instruction recited, and held not to be objectionable, in that it assumed that plaintiff's buggy was on the tracks of defendant railroad at the time his horse was frightened by defendant's engine. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Belt, 24 C. A. 281, 59 S. W. 607.

In an action for personal injuries sustained by jumping from a car through fear of being injured by moving cars striking the car, an instruction held erroneous, as assuming as a matter of law that it was a person's duty to do a particular act. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Bryant, 30 C. A. 4, 66 S. W. 804.

An instruction held merely to state the grounds relied on by plaintiff, and not to be erroneous as assuming defendant's negligence. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Locke (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 1082.

A charge that a failure of decedent to look and listen for cars thrown by a "flying switch" on a siding was negligence was properly refused as on the weight of evidence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Karrer (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 328.

In action for occasioning the death of a licensee, instruction held erroneous as assuming negligence in failing to blow whistle and ring bell. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Eitel (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 205.

An instruction held erroneous, as assuming that plaintiff was placed in a perilous position by defendant's negligence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Berry, 32 C. A. 259, 72 S. W. 423.

In an action for injuries at a crossing, held proper to refuse requested instructions, which assumed that warnings claimed to have been given were sufficient. Central Texas & N. W. R. Co. v. Gibson, 35 C. A. 66, 79 S. W. 351.

In an action for death of a licensee on a freight train, an instruction held not in violation of the rule prohibiting a judge from charging that given facts constitute negligence, when the law has not so declared. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Martin, 35 C. A. 186, 79 S. W. 1101.

In action for injuries to one alighting from a wagon in fright on a train passing a crossing, charge held erroneous in assuming the existence of danger. Texas Midland R. Co. v. Booth, 35 C. A. 322, 80 S. W. 121.

An instruction held not objectionable as assuming that the opening and lowering of crossing gates constituted negligence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Fry, 37 C. A. 552, 84 S. W. 664.

A requested instruction assuming that plaintiff was a trespasser held properly refused. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. O'Donnell (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 886.

In an action against a street railway company for injuries by a collision with a car, an instruction assuming a fact held erroneous. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Ely (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 887.

An instruction that assumed that decedent knew of the approach of the train in time to have avoided it was properly refused where there was evidence tending to show the contrary. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Murray (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 144.

The evidence held not to authorize the court in its instructions to assume that a particular injury caused death. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Lytle, 48 C. A. 107, 106 S. W. 900.

An instruction held properly refused as assuming plaintiff was injured. Feille v. San Antonio Traction Co., 48 C. A. 541, 107 S. W. 367.

An instruction held to assume that running a train at a certain rate at the place in question was negligence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Worth (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 958.

Evidence held not to authorize the assumption that a certain rate of speed of a freight train at a certain point was negligence. Id.

A certain charge held not erroneous as assuming that an engineer failed to use all the means at hand to prevent an accident, where the only issue was as to plaintiff's presence on the track prior to a time immediately preceding the accident. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cockrill (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 1092.

An instruction on the duty of a motorman as to the control over the speed of his car, which duty was not prescribed by ordinance, held erroneous, as the question was for the jury. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Chambers, 55 C. A. 331, 118 S. W. 851.

In an action for injuries to a boy claimed to have been forced by a switchman from a moving freight car, an instruction stating the issues that must be found in plaintiff's favor in order to authorize his recovery held not erroneous. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Buch (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 316.

An instruction that if a railroad company, in loading coal on a tender, in maintaining the track at the place where an injury occurred, in running the train at too great a speed, or in providing an insufficient number of men to keep the track where the injury occurred, if it did occur, in good condition, failed to exercise ordinary care, it was liable, was on the weight of evidence, as assuming that the train was being run at too great a speed and that an insufficient number of section men were provided to maintain the track. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 482.

In an action for death of a pedestrian while walking in a well traveled way along a railroad track, an instruction assuming that, if he could have chosen a different safe way, he was guilty of negligence, held improper. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Broomhead (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 820.

An instruction in an action against a railroad for injuries by being jarred from a buggy in crossing the railroad that if the jury found that defendant in permitting, if it did, the plank and rail to extend above the ground, if it did, and defendant in permitting the ground and ballast to be lower between the north rails and the south rail, if it was, and that the dangerous condition of said crossing was the direct cause of plaintiff's being thrown from the buggy, then to find for plaintiff, was not on the weight of the evidence as assuming any fact. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gillenwater (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 589.

A charge assuming that failure to look or listen for a train at a railroad crossing was contributory negligence, when that is a question for the jury, is properly refused. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Tarver (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 958.

An instruction assuming that the child attempted to cross in front of the defendant's train held properly refused. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Wininger (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 586.

An instruction in an action against a street railway company for injuries to a pedestrian stepping into a hole in the street alongside the track held not objectionable as assuming that the hole was unguarded, and that the company was negligent. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Emerson (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 468.

177. —— Injuries to passengers.—Charge held not objectionable. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Nelson (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 179; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Highnote, 84 S. W. 365; El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Furber, 45 C. A. 348, 100 S. W. 1041; Same v. Ruckman, 49 C. A. 25, 107 S. W. 1158; Bryant v. Northern Texas Traction Co., 52 C. A. 600, 115 S. W. 880; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Stone, 125 S. W. 587; Gibson v. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co., 135 S. W. 1121; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gresham, 140 S. W. 483.

Where one was injured by being thrown from a car platform, it was not error to refuse a charge that the going on the platform was the cause of the injury, as it assumes contributory negligence. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Choate, 22 C. A. 618, 56 S. W. 214.

In an action by a passenger for personal injuries sustained while alighting from street car, an instruction assuming the purpose for which the car slowed down held erroneous. Rapid Transit Ry. Co. v. Lusk (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 799.

In an action against a railway for injuries to a passenger while on the platform a charge assuming that he was leaning against the car door, and that, if the door was shut to prevent his falling, he could not recover, held incorrect. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ball, 28 C. A. 287, 66 S. W. 879.

In an action for injuries to a passenger in a freight car, an instruction held not erroneous in assuming that the injury occurred while a train was being made up. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Adams, 32 C. A. 112, 72 S. W. 81.

A charge held not objectionable as assuming the fact to be that a car had stopped before plaintiff attempted to alight therefrom. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Welter (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 414.

An instruction held not objectionable as assuming that defendant's servants violated a rule requiring them to satisfy themselves as to the safety of bridges, culverts, etc., in case of high water. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. Cain, 37 C. A. 531, 84 S. W. 682.

In an action for injuries to a passenger in jumping from a street car to escape a threatened collision with a railroad train, a charge held not objectionable as assuming that plaintiff had reasonable ground for leaving the car while on the track. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Vollrath, 40 C. A. 46, 89 S. W. 279.

An instruction in such case held not objectionable as assuming that the railroad company injured plaintiff and was guilty of negligence. Id.

Certain instructions held erroneous, as assuming that defendant failed to provide a step box for the passenger to alight. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wolf, 40 C. A. 381, 89 S. W. 778.

Instruction held not objectionable as assuming that plaintiff received the injuries alleged in his petition. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Fink, 44 C. A. 544, 99 S. W. 204.

An instruction held not objectionable as assuming that plaintiff was a passenger at time of injury. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Tasby, 45 C. A. 416, 100 S. W. 1030.

An instruction held not objectionable as assuming that, under certain facts, plaintiff was guilty of negligence as a matter of law. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Barnes (Civ. App.) 119 S. W. 122.

In an action for the death of a passenger thrown or falling from a moving train, an instruction held not open to a specified objection. Paris & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 294.

In an action for damages caused by defendant's negligent failure to have a fire in its railroad depot when plaintiff went there to take a train, an instruction held erroneous as assuming that defendant was negligent in not having a fire in the waiting room. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 499.

An instruction as to the duty of the motorman when he stopped to let passengers on or off held not objectionable as on the weight of the evidence. Citizens' Ry. Co. v. Hall (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 434.

A request to charge on contributory negligence held properly refused as assuming that plaintiff attempted to alight while the car was in motion. Dallas Consol. Electric Street Ry. Co. v. Kelley (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 1005.

178. —— Injuries to servants.—A charge as to the incompetency of servants to operate a hand car held not to assume that experience was necessary to competency. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Martinez (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 689.

It was not error to refuse a charge which assumed that a certain rule of the defendant was in force, and that deceased had notice of it, and that certain facts existed, all of which were matters for the jury. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Smith, 24 C. A. 127, 57 S. W. 999.

An instruction held erroneous. Sherman, S. & S. Ry. Co. v. Bell (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 147; St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 1064; Same v. Sibley, 29 C. A. 396, 68 S. W. 516; Harwell v. Southern Furniture Co. (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 52; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Stinson, 34 C. A. 285, 78 S. W. 986; Same v. Smith (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 787; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Brice, 95 S. W. 660; Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Sowers, 99 S. W. 190; Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Waldie, 101 S. W. 517; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. v. Wirtz, 55 C. A. 555, 119 S. W. 324; Ft. Worth Belt Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 125 S. W. 387; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith, 133 S. W. 482; Phillips v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas, 136 S. W. 542.

An instruction which assumed that it was the duty of an engineer on a switch engine to exercise ordinary care to see that a brakeman riding on the pilot had not lost his footing held erroneous. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Waller (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 554.

An instruction held not objectionable. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Buch, 27 C. A. 283, 65 S. W. 681; Rea v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 555; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Stinson, 34 C. A. 285, 78 S. W. 986;

Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Kelly, 34 C. A. 21, 80 S. W. 1073; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Oram (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 1029; Texas Mexican Ry. Co. v. Lewis, 99 S. W. 577; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cleland, 50 C. A. 499, 110 S. W. 122; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Snow, 53 C. A. 184, 115 S. W. 631; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Norvell (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 861; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Morin, 144 S. W. 1191; Orange Lumber Co. v. Ellis, 105 T. 363, 150 S. W. 582.

An instruction that, if the jury believed that plaintiff was inexperienced, etc., was not objectionable as assuming the truth of the recitals made. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Sanchez (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 893.

Instructions held erroneous in assuming that a foreman was a vice principal. Young v. Hahn, 96 T. 99, 70 S. W. 950.

In an action for injuries by an electric lineman against two electric companies and the receiver of one of them, an instruction held error as assuming a certain act as negligence on the part of one of the companies and authorizing a recovery against all of the defendants. Dallas Electric Co. v. Mitchell, 33 C. A. 424, 76 S. W. 935.

Charge held not open to objection of assuming freedom from negligence of the servant. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Jones, 35 C. A. 584, 80 S. W. 852.

In an action for injuries to a track hand, who was struck by a train, an instruction held not objectionable as assuming that it was defendant's duty to warn plaintiff of the approach of the train. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Villareal, 36 C. A. 532, 82 S. W. 1063.

An instruction held not objectionable as assuming that defendant had established a path for the use of its employés. San Antonio Foundry Co. v. Drish, 38 C. A. 214, 85 S. W. 440.

An instruction held erroneous because conveying the impression that plaintiff was careless. Worcester v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 339.

Instruction held not erroneous as assuming that deceased was guilty of negligence. Ramm v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 426.

Certain charge held not to assume that a handhold which gave way with plaintiff was defective. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Box (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 134.

The court in its instructions properly assumed the existence of a fact. Louisiana & Texas Lumber Co. v. Meyers (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 140.

Instructions in an action for the death of a brakeman struck by a train held not objectionable as assuming that the employés knew of the peril. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Hays, 44 C. A. 462, 98 S. W. 911.

In an action for injuries while assisting in carrying a rail, the court held not justified in assuming that the injury was the result of the negligence of the coemployés apart from any concurring negligence of the employer in not supplying a sufficient number of men to do the work in safety. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Bonn, 44 C. A. 631, 99 S. W. 413.

In an action for injury to an employé working on the construction of a building, an instruction assuming that the employer was not required to keep the building in safe condition every moment during the work thereon was erroneous. McCracken v. Lantry-Sharpe Contracting Co., 45 C. A. 485, 101 S. W. 520.

Where there was an issue as to defendant's negligence in inspecting the track, an instruction that, if the accident was caused by trespassers moving the rails, defendant was entitled to a verdict, was erroneous. Thompson v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 48 C. A. 284, 106 S. W. 910.

In an action for death of a fireman caused by his being thrown from the running board of an engine by a jar in coupling, an instruction held not objectionable as assuming the existence and applicability of a rule requiring bell to be rung before moving an engine. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Mitchell, 48 C. A. 381, 107 S. W. 374.

In an action for injury to a brakeman coupling cars, held proper to refuse to give an instruction without qualifying it. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Shipp, 48 C. A. 565, 109 S. W. 286.

A request to charge assuming that the position of the ladder by which plaintiff was injured was obviously dangerous and that plaintiff knew or should have known the same held properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Steele, 50 C. A. 634, 110 S. W. 171.

In a personal injury action by a switchman, there being evidence that plaintiff did not go between the cars while they were in motion, charges, based on the assumption that the uncontroverted evidence showed the contrary, were properly refused. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Powell, 51 C. A. 409, 112 S. W. 697.

A requested charge, assuming that the foreman's act was not negligent, held erroneous. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Garcia, 54 C. A. 59, 117 S. W. 206.

In an action for injuries to a railroad fireman by his locomotive running into an open switch, an instruction held not objectionable as assuming defendant's negligence in not keeping the switch closed. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Shapard, 54 C. A. 596, 118 S. W. 596.

An instruction held not to assume that when a brakeman was injured he was standing between the rails of the track. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ford, 56 C. A. 521, 121 S. W. 709.

In a suit for injury to a switchman in uncoupling cars, held that a charge did not assume that plaintiff was proceeding in a proper, careful, and correct manner. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Mayfield (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 141.

An instruction relative to the railroad company's negligence in failing to provide reasonable rules held not objectionable as assuming that decedent was exposed to extraordinary or unnecessary danger. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Walker (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 99.

In an action for injuries to a person acting under the directions of engineer and fireman, an instruction assuming their authority to give the directions, held not erroneous. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Trower (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 588.

In an action for the death of an engineer in a rear-end collision, a charge as to the duty of the engineer or conductor of the first train to send a flagman to protect it held not erroneous. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rothenberg (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1157.

An instruction held error as assuming plaintiff's employment by defendant, which was a fact in issue. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Lynch (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 580.

An instruction held not erroneous, as assuming that a failure by the employés in charge of the switch engine to exercise ordinary care was negligence causing his death. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Rosenbloom (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 175.

An instruction, in an action for injuries to a locomotive fireman while he was cleaning the ash pan, held not objectionable as assuming that he was necessarily in a place of danger while doing the work. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hampton (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 89.

Charge as to master's negligence in failing to furnish servant with a safe track drill held not to take from the jury the question whether the track drill was unsafe. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Evans (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 966.

An instruction that, if the jury should find for plaintiff on the issue as to the validity of a release, then, when the servant entered into the employ of the master, he assumed all the risks of injury, while discharging his duties, such as are usually incident to the employment, but not the negligence of the master or employés with whom the servant was working at the time, unless such negligence was of such common occurrence that the servant would be presumed to have known thereof before the injury, was not objectionable as assuming the existence of facts. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Reno (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 207.

An instruction to find for plaintiff if he was struck by a car door while performing his duties and defendant had not used ordinary care held improper as assuming that defendant was required to have the door fastened. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Tune (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 364.

Instruction that, if employer attempted to explode dynamite in all of a number of holes, and the dynamite in one failed to explode, and if plaintiff returned to his work and was injured by explosion of the dynamite, and if the employer failed to exercise ordinary care to ascertain whether all the dynamite had exploded, and such failure was the proximate cause of the accident, plaintiff should recover did not assume the employer's negligence. Farmers' Gin & Milling Co. v. Jones (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 668.

Where a railroad roundhouse employé fell into a turntable pit, an instruction held not objectionable as assuming that the employé was guilty of contributory negligence, and assumed the risk. Delancey v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 259.

In an action by a sawmill employé for injuries sustained while feeding slabs to a lath machine by a slab being thrown back and striking him, the court instructed that if while plaintiff was engaged in feeding the slabs a part of the lath or slab was violently thrown through a board and against plaintiff, and the cause of the slab being thrown against him was that the machine was old, worn, and out of repair, or not sufficiently bolted to its foundation, and the slabs, while passing through the saw, were not protected by a sufficient covering to keep them from being thrown, or because the rollers through which they passed were not fitted with spikes, but that the spikes on the rollers were permitted to be worn and not replaced, or because the rollers had been replaced with improper rollers, or rollers not suited to the purpose for which used, or was the result of one or more of such causes, and should further find that defendant failed to use the care of one of ordinary prudence under the circumstances, to have the machine in a reasonably safe condition, because of any or all of the things or facts stated, and that such failure was negligence, but for which negligence the injury would not have occurred, the jury should find for plaintiff. Held, that the instruction did not assume the existence of defects in the machinery. Orange Lumber Co. v. Ellis, 105 T. 363, 150 S. W. 582.

179. —— Damages and amount of recovery.—Instruction that jury will look to habits of energy of deceased in estimating damages for death of seven year old child does not assume that child was energetic, nor require jury to consider such fact. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Gilmore (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 61.

Instruction on exemplary damages held not objectionable. Triolo v. Foster (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 698.

Where the fact that plaintiff was injured and suffered pain was undisputed, an instruction that, in estimating damages, his pain and suffering should be considered, was not erroneous. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Locke (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 1082.

Charge held not objectionable, as assuming that plaintiff's eyes were injured by sparks that escaped from defendant's engine. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Parks (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 439.

A charge held not erroneous as assuming that the mental anguish had been proved. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Chambers, 34 C. A. 17, 77 S. W. 273.

A charge held not to assume that there would necessarily be future suffering from personal injuries received. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Nesbit, 40 C. A. 209, 88 S. W. 891.

In an action to recover money received by defendant on sale of plaintiff's premises a charge as to measure of damages held erroneous, as assuming a controverted fact as proven. Ullman v. Devereux (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 472.

In an action for injuries to cattle shipped, an instruction on the measure of damages held erroneous. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Felker, 42 C. A. 256, 93 S. W. 477.

An instruction on exemplary damages in an attachment suit held properly refused. Seal v. Holcomb, 48 C. A. 330, 107 S. W. 916.

In an action for the breach of an agreement to permit plaintiff to sell a tract on commission, where the number of acres in the tract was uncertain, the amount which plaintiff was entitled to recover, depending on the number of acres, was for the jury, and it was error to charge that plaintiff was entitled to recover a certain sum if they found the contract as alleged. Jackson v. Stephenson, 52 C. A. 532, 114 S. W. 848.

In an action against connecting carriers for loss of an automobile, a charge assuming that the machine had been totally destroyed held error. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Patton, 55 C. A. 59, 118 S. W. 798.

A request to charge assuming as a fact that rheumatism and sciatica might not result from injury to plaintiff's spinal cord or nerves was properly refused. Pecos & N. T. R. Co. v. Coffman, 56 C. A. 472, 121 S. W. 218.

An instruction in an action for death held not objectionable as assuming that plaintiffs, in reasonable probability, would have received pecuniary benefits from deceased during his lifetime. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Walker (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 99.

In an action against a carrier for delay, an instruction on special damages held erroneous, as assuming that the carrier had notice that special damages would accrue from the delay. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Keel Grain Co. (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 837.

In an action against a carrier for damages for the loss of the sale of goods due to their being delivered in a damaged condition, an instruction authorizing the deduction of the amount for which the goods were sold more than a year after they were delivered from the value of the sale alleged to have been lost held erroneous. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Coulter (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 16.

An instruction in condemnation proceedings that, in determining the injury or benefit to the land not taken, the jury should consider the effect upon the convenience of the place, the alterations required, and the effect upon the value of the premises and upon its use as a home from running trains across it, assumed the existence of facts mentioned, and was erroneous. Wichita Falls & W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wyrick (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 730.

In an action against a carrier for injuries to cattle a charge held objectionable, in assuming that the cattle had a market value at the place of delivery. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Crowder (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 183.

In an action to recover the price of a mule, evidence that the mule had the glanders, was killed by the county authorities, and was of no value, authorized the court in its charge to assume that the mule was worthless. Caruthers v. Link (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 330.

180. —— Uncontroverted facts or evidence.—An assumption of a fact in the charge clearly proved or not controverted held not error. Wintz v. Morrison, 17 T. 372, 67 Am. Dec. 658; Int. & G. N. R. R. Co. v. Stewart, 57 T. 166; Caruth v. Grigsby, 57 T. 259; Teal v. Terrell, 58 T. 257; Railway Co. v. Pearce, 75 T. 281, 12 S. W. 864; Capp v. Terry, 75 T. 391, 13 S. W. 52; W. U. Tel. Co. v. Cooper (Sup.) 20 S. W. 47; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Crow (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 510; Reynolds v. Weinman, Id. 560; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rogers, Id. 849; Terrell v. Russell, 16 C. A. 573, 42 S. W. 129; City of Paris v. Allred, 17 C. A. 125, 43 S. W. 62; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Griffin, 20 C. A. 91, 48 S. W. 542; Same v. Wright, 20 C. A. 136, 49 S. W. 147; Same v. Grier, 20 C. A. 138, 49 S. W. 148; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Warner, 19 C. A. 463, 49 S. W. 254; Thompson v. Johnson, 24 C. A. 246, 58 S. W. 1030; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Jenkins, 29 C. A. 440, 69 S. W. 233; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Owens (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 579; Valentine v. Sweatt, 34 C. A. 310, 78 S. W. 385; Dallas Rapid Transit Ry. Co. v. Payne (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 1085; Lynch v. Burns, 79 S. W. 1084; Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Sage, 80 S. W. 1038; Northern Texas Traction Co. v. Yates, 39 C. A. 114, 88 S. W. 283; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Bath, 40 C. A. 270, 90 S. W. 55; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. King, 41 C. A. 433, 91 S. W. 622; Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Simmons (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 686; De Castillo v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 42 C. A. 108, 95 S. W. 547; Commercial Telephone Co. v. Davis, 43 C. A. 547, 96 S. W. 939; Texas & N. O. Ry. Co. v. Moers (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 1064; Western Cottage Piano & Organ Co. v. Anderson, 45 C. A. 513, 101 S. W. 1061; Nagle v. Simmank, 54 C. A. 432, 116 S. W. 862; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rogers, 55 C. A. 93, 117 S. W. 939; Suderman-Dolson Co. v. Hope (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 216; Stone v. Stitt, 56 C. A. 465, 121 S. W. 187; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Mitcham, 57 C. A. 134, 121 S. W. 871; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Sandlin, 57 C. A. 151, 122 S. W. 60; Patton-Worsham Drug Co. v. Drennon (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 705; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hawley, 123 S. W. 726; Sullivan-Sanford Lumber Co. v. Cooper, 126 S. W. 35; Blossom Oil & Cotton Co. v. Poteet, 127 S. W. 240; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Maxwell, 128 S. W. 160; Freeman v. Kane, 133 S. W. 723; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Lynch, 136 S. W. 580; Early & Clement Grain Co. v. City of Waco, 137 S. W. 431; McElroy v. Sparkman, 139 S. W. 529; Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Neal, 140 S. W. 398; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hampton, 142 S. W. 89; Illinois Cent. Ry. Co. v. Morris, 144 S. W. 1163; Lewis v. Reynolds, 145 S. W. 1072; Hutton v. Pederson, 153 S. W. 176; McCullough Hardware Co. v. Call, 155 S. W. 718; Bryson v. Moore, 157 S. W. 233.

The testimony for plaintiffs showed the grant to B., his deed to C., and parol testimony to the heirship of the plaintiffs. Not contradicted, it was not error in the charge that it assumed that the plaintiffs had shown title. Irvin v. Bevil, 80 T. 332, 16 S. W. 21.

When both parties claim under a common source of title, rulings of the lower court upon evidence offered in relation to the acquisition of title by the common source are of no importance so far as the rights of the parties are concerned. Morales v. Fisk, 66 T. 189, 18 S. W. 495. When no evidence is produced in support of an issue raised by the pleadings, the court may assume in its charge that there is no controversy on that point. Floyd v. Efron, 66 T. 221, 16 S. W. 497; Voss v. Feurmann (Civ. App.) 23 S. W. 936.

Recital of uncontroverted facts in court's charge to jury held not prejudicial. Halsell v. Neal, 23 C. A. 26, 56 S. W. 137.

In an action for injuries at a railroad crossing, an instruction assuming the existence of a city street and that it intersected a railroad held not erroneous, in view of uncontradicted evidence of those facts. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Kief (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 625.

Where the uncontroverted evidence showed that defendant had revoked plaintiff's authority to sell lands, it was not error for the court to assume such fact in the charge. McLane v. Maurer, 28 C. A. 75, 66 S. W. 693.

Where there was nothing to cause suspicion of the testimony of the one witness, who testified to the amount of damages sustained in an action on a bond, which exceeded the penalty, it was not error for the court to charge that, if the jury found for plaintiff, they should find for the entire amount sued for. Foster v. Franklin Life Ins. Co. (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 91.

In trespass, an instruction that the defendant owned the land on one side of a certain hedge and plaintiff that on the other held proper. Brown v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 49.

In action for injuries to street railway passenger, held, on the evidence, not error to assume in the charge that plaintiff was a passenger. Dallas Rapid Transit Ry. Co. v. Payne (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 1085.

Facts held not to conclusively show continued existence of the relation of attorney and client, and it was error for the court to so assume, and charge that burden of proving good faith in acquisition of property was on attorney. Jinks v. Moppin (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 390.

A charge on contributory negligence, in action by an employé against his employer for personal injuries resulting from the negligent loading of a car which assumed as a fact that the car was leaded under the direction and supervision of defendant's foreman, as to which there was no dispute in the evidence, held proper. El Paso & N. W. Ry. Co. v. McComus, 36 C. A. 170, 81 S. W. 760.

Where the evidence was such that the jury could not have found otherwise than that plaintiff's agent had authority to employ defendants to perform certain services, it was not error for the court to assume such fact. Phelps, Dodge & Co. v. Miller (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 218.

In an action against a city for injuries from a defective street, the court had the right, under the evidence, to assume in its charge that any one had the right to travel on the street. City of Dallas v. Muncton. 37 C. A. 112, 83 S. W. 431.

Where the testimony as to a particular fact is such as to warrant but one conclusion, it is not error to assume the existence of such fact in the instructions. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Highnote (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 365; Wrighton v. Butler, 128 S. W. 472.

In an action by a fireman against a railroad for injuries received through being struck by lumber projecting from the door of a passing car, the assumption in the charge that the leaving of the car door unfastened was negligence held not error. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Bussong, 40 C. A. 476, 90 S. W. 73.

In an action for injuries by a defect in a highway, the court's assumption that a highway existed at the point in question, as to which the evidence was not in conflict, held not error. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Wood, 41 C. A. 226, 92 S. W. 259.

Where a party admits in his pleading that he owes some money, an assumption of that fact by the court is not error. Trabue v. Wade & Miller (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 616.

Where it was conceded that certain goods sued for had some value in the market, an instruction assuming such fact was not objectionable as a charge on the weight of the evidence. Stewart v. Jacob Sachs & Co., 43 C. A. 530, 96 S. W. 1091.

Where it was not controverted that plaintiff was entitled to recover the balance alleged to be due on the price of machinery except in so far as it might be offset by the items set up in defendant's cross-action, the court did not err in so instructing. Heisig Rice Co. v. Fairbanks, Morse & Co., 45 C. A. 383, 100 S. W. 959.

An instruction assuming that R. was driving the vehicle in which plaintiff's wife was riding when injured, which fact was not disputed, was not error. Ft. Worth & R. H. St. Ry. Co. v. Hawes, 48 C. A. 487, 107 S. W. 556.

Where all the evidence on the question of adverse possession in trespass to try title shows that possession began at the date of a certain deed in evidence, the court did not err in assuming that date from which to compute the period of limitation. Dunn v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 952.

Where it conclusively appears that a certain employé is defendant's vice principal, the court does not err in so informing the jury. El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Smith, 50 C. A. 10, 108 S. W. 988.

In an action to specifically perform a contract, an instruction was not erroneous for assuming that a contract was made, where that fact was undisputed. Alexander v. Brillhart, 51 C. A. 422, 113 S. W. 184.

Where the undisputed evidence showed that the alleged libelous article was published by defendant as alleged, and its publication was not denied, the court could assume in its charge that defendant published the article. San Antonio Light Pub. Co. v. Lewy, 52 C. A. 22, 113 S. W. 574.

Where there is a conflict of evidence upon a question in issue, the court is not required to give a requested charge, which assumes that the evidence is undisputed. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. McBride & Dillard (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 638.

Matters, though pleaded, which are established by uncontroverted evidence, should be assumed as facts without submitting them to the jury. Michael v. Rabe, 56 C. A. 441, 120 S. W. 565.

The court in submitting the case should state the actual amount involved, when the fact is established by undisputed evidence. Id.

Where, in an action to recover land sold, the evidence established beyond controversy that plaintiff was entitled to recover under a superior title there was no error in not submitting to the jury whether or not a deed by defendants to plaintiff conveying their homestead was intended to be an absolute conveyance or a mortgage. Crain v. National Life Ins. Co. of United States, 56 C. A. 406, 120 S. W. 1098.

In trespass to try title, held not error to assume that possession was adverse. Washam v. Harrison (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 52.

In trespass to try title to land claimed by 10 years' adverse possession, where the undisputed evidence showed that plaintiff had improvements on, and held possession of, the rear part of the lot, it was not error for the court to state such fact to the jury. Id.

In an action for slander, where there was no evidence tending to show that the words as charged were used jocularly or otherwise innocently, and were not intended to convey the imputation claimed for them, the court should in charging the jury have assumed that the words, if spoken at all, were spoken maliciously. Mayo v. Goldman, 57 C. A. 475, 122 S. W. 449.

Where it was undisputed that deceased was economical, industrious, and devoted his earnings to his wife and children, the court properly charged that they were entitled to compensation for probable loss of such pecuniary benefits, without submitting such loss to the jury. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Walker (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 99.

A carrier not having accounted for derailment of its car, held, presumption of negligence remained, and such fact could be assumed in instructions. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Probandt (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 931.

Testimony in an action for injury to a shipment of cattle held to justify an assumption in a charge that there was no market value of the cattle at their destination, either when they arrived or when they should have arrived. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wasson Bros. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 664.

An instruction in an action against a carrier for injuries to a passenger, held supported by the evidence as to a fact stated therein. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Shipley (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 952.

In a suit for libel wherein defendants pleaded in mitigation of damages an article published by plaintiff, evidence held to justify a charge based on the assumption that the libel circulated by a defendant was in reply to an article published by plaintiff. Frizzell v. Woodman Pub. Co. (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 659.

It was not error to instruct that notice of a sheriff's sale had not been published for a sufficient length of time, where the facts conclusively showed that to be true. Kennedy v. Walker (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1115.

In view of the evidence in a locomotive fireman's action for personal injuries by starting the engine while plaintiff was cleaning the ash pan, held, that the court could assume in instructing that some injury should have been anticipated by the engineer from starting the engine while plaintiff was in that position. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hampton (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 89.

Where the president of an insurance company, also named as the trustee in a deed of trust given to the company, in negotiating the loan, insisted that the insurance should be carried in his company, the court did not err in treating it as undisputed that the company selected itself to carry the insurance. Commonwealth Fire Ins. Co. v. Obenchain (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 611.

181. Opinion or belief of judge as to facts.—An instruction that if an alleged danger was a risk assumed by plaintiff he could not recover held not open to the objection that it left the jury to infer that the court thought that the danger existed. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Echols, 17 C. A. 677, 41 S. W. 488.

An instruction that "the burden of proof is on the plaintiff to establish his case by a preponderance of evidence, but you are the sole judges of the credibility of the witnesses and of the weight to be given to the testimony," was not objectionable, as argumentative, and as intimating the court's opinion. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Williams, 26 C. A. 153, 62 S. W. 808.

In trespass to try title, an instruction held erroneous as possibly conveying the impression that the court thought defendants had not succeeded in establishing their case. Short v. Kelly (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 944.

Instruction held not susceptible of construction that the jury must under the evidence return a verdict for plaintiffs, or that the court was of opinion plaintiffs should recover. Gray v. Moore, 37 C. A. 407, 84 S. W. 293.

An instruction intimating the opinion of the court as to a fact which was shown by the undisputed evidence held not to be prejudicial. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Roberts (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 375.

An instruction held not open to the objection that it indicated the court's opinion. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Roberts (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 375; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Morrow, 93 S. W. 162; Parish v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., Id. 682; Weatherred v. Finley, 57 C. A. 50, 121 S. W. 895; El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. Welter (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 45; Chicago, R. I. & E. P. Ry. Co. v. Easley, 149 S. W. 785.

An instruction held erroneous. Dallas, C. & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Langston (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 425; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Grych, 46 C. A. 439, 103 S. W. 703; Rainey v. Kemp, 54 C. A. 486; 118 S. W. 630.

In an action against a telephone company and an electric company for the death of a telephone company employé, an instruction held not error as tending to influence the jury to find against the electric company. San Antonio Gas & Electric Co. v. Badders, 46 C. A. 559, 103 S. W. 229.

The use of the term "if you find," in an instruction, held not objectionable as tending to mislead the jury. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cleland, 50 C. A. 499, 110 S. W. 122.

The opinion of the court as to the facts proven should never be intimated in a charge given. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Sullivan, 53 C. A. 394, 115 S. W. 615; Pennington v. Thompson Bros. Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 923; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Washington, 127 S. W. 1126.

An instruction that the burden was on plaintiff to prove her case by a preponderance of the evidence, but that she need not introduce more witnesses than defendant, but that from consideration of all the evidence it must appear to be more probable that proof was with her more than with defendant, held not improper as giving the trial judge's view of the weight of the testimony. Huggins v. Carey (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 390.

182. Weight and sufficiency of evidence.—A charge on the weight of the evidence is erroneous. Howerton v. Holt, 23 T. 51; T. & P. R. R. Co. v. Murphy, 46 T. 356, 26 Am. Rep. 272; Sparks v. Dawson, 47 T. 138; Altgelt v. Brister, 57 T. 432; Int. & G. W. Ry. Co. v. Ormond, 62 T. 274; T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Wright, 62 T. 515; Dwyer v. Bassett, 63 T. 274; Freiberg v. B. H. & S. I. Co., 63 T. 449; T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Kane, 2 App. C. C. § 21; Smith v. Dunman, 29 S. W. 432, 9 C. A. 319; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Watkins, 48 C. A. 568, 108 S. W. 487; Freeman v. Puckett, 56 C. A. 126, 120 S. W. 514; G. A. Kelly Plow Co. v. London (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 974; Collins v. Warfield, 140 S. W. 107.

This rule prohibits any intimation from the judge as to the weight of any portion of the evidence. Mayo v. Tudor's Heirs, 74 T. 471, 12 S. W. 117; Blum v. Strong, 71 T. 321, 6 S. W. 167.

Instruction held not objectionable as being on weight of evidence. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Granberry, 16 C. A. 391, 40 S. W. 1062; Hintze v. Krabbenschmidt (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 38; Louisiana Western Extension Ry. Co. v. Carstens, 19 C. A. 190, 47 S. W. 36; A. J. Anderson Electric Co. v. Cleburne Water, Ice & Lighting Co., 23 C. A. 328, 57 S. W. 575; Sherman, S. & S. Ry. Co. v. Bell (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 147; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Rice, 24 C. A. 374, 59 S. W. 833; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v.

Hagan, 42 C. A. 133, 93 S. W. 1014; Roche v. Dale, 43 C. A. 287, 95 S. W. 1100; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Coggin, 44 C. A. 474, 99 S. W. 431; Southern Pac. Co. v. Godfrey, 48 C. A. 616, 107 S. W. 1135; Mabry v. Kennedy, 49 C. A. 45, 108 S. W. 176; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. House, 51 C. A. 603, 113 S. W. 154; Same v. Romans (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 157; Werkheiser-Polk Mill Co. v. Langford, 51 C. A. 224, 115 S. W. 89; Combest v. Wall (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 354; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Harris, 120 S. W. 500; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ford, 56 C. A. 521, 121 S. W. 709; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Shults (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 845; Dudley v. Strain, 130 S. W. 778.

A charge held on the weight of the evidence. City of Hillsboro v. Jackson, 18 C. A. 325, 44 S. W. 1010; Citizens' R. Co. v. Holmes, 19 C. A. 266, 46 S. W. 116; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Parker, 20 C. A. 470, 49 S. W. 717; Johnson v. Lockhart, 20 C. A. 596, 50 S. W. 955; City of Dallas v. Beeman, 23 C. A. 315, 55 S. W. 762; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Durrett, 26 C. A. 268, 63 S. W. 904; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lynch, 40 C. A. 543, 90 S. W. 511; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Roberts (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 375; Fort Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Hamm, 93 S. W. 215; Davis v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 42 C. A. 55, 93 S. W. 222; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Dickson, 42 C. A. 163, 93 S. W. 481; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Bunn, 41 C. A. 503, 95 S. W. 640; Collins v. Chipman (Civ. App.) Id. 666; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Barnes, 42 C. A. 626, 95 S. W. 714; Edelstein v. Brown (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 1126; Munk v. Stanfield, 100 S. W. 213; Raley v. State, 47 C. A. 426, 105 S. W. 342; Hunter v. Malone, 49 C. A. 116, 108 S. W. 709; Suderman & Dolson v. Kriger, 50 C. A. 29, 109 S. W. 373; Parlin & Orendorff Co. v. Glover, 55 C. A. 112, 118 S. W. 731; Webb v. J. L. Wiginton & Co., 55 C. A. 413, 118 S. W. 856; White v. McCullough, 56 C. A. 383, 120 S. W. 1093; Rockwell Bros. & Co. v. Hudgens, 57 C. A. 504, 123 S. W. 185; Clegg v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1098; Kostoryz v. Leary, 130 S. W. 456; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Wafer, Id. 712; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Huey, Id. 1017; Kirby Lumber Co. v. Stewart, 141 S. W. 295; Starkey v. H. O. Wooten Grocery Co., 143 S. W. 692.

A charge directing the weight to be given to certain of the testimony held properly refused. Hurst v. McMullen (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 666.

A comment on the weight of the testimony held prejudicial error. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Runnels, 92 T. 305, 47 S. W. 971.

A requested instruction which is on the weight of the testimony and which fails to correctly state the law is properly refused. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Houston (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 539; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Warner, 22 C. A. 167, 54 S. W. 1064; Fulcher v. White (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 628; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Waggoner Nat. Bank, 36 C. A. 293, 81 S. W. 1050; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Jackson & Edwards (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 47; Abeel v. McDonnell, 39 C. A. 453, 87 S. W. 1066; Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Wallis, 47 C. A. 120, 104 S. W. 418; Southern Pac. Co. v. Godfrey, 48 C. A. 616, 107 S. W. 1135; Rushing v. Lanier, 51 C. A. 278, 111 S. W. 1089; City of Victoria v. Victoria County (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 67; Buckley v. Runge, 57 C. A. 322, 122 S. W. 596; Johnson v. Hyltin (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 293; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Kurtz, 147 S. W. 658; Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. McGinnis, Id. 1188; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Good, 151 S. W. 617; Hartford Fire Ins. Co. v. Walker, 153 S. W. 398; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cavitt, 154 S. W. 1062; Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Finklea, 155 S. W. 612; Jordan v. Johnson, Id. 1194; Hughes-Buie Co. v. Mendoza, 156 S. W. 328.

Comments by the trial judge upon the weight of evidence, in the presence of the jury, are ground for reversal. Howoth v. Carter, 23 C. A. 469, 56 S. W. 539.

The statute prohibiting a trial judge from commenting on the weight of the evidence in his charge is mandatory. An assumption that a controverted fact has been established one way or the other violates the statute as does an intimation as to the weight that should be given by the jury on any controverted material issue in the case. Orange Lumber Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 565.

Instruction held not erroneous as requiring a general finding for plaintiff. Brunner Fire Co. v. Payne, 54 C. A. 501, 118 S. W. 602.

Duty of court stated as to submission of issues. Honea v. Arledge, 56 C. A. 296, 120 S. W. 508.

A requested instruction held properly refused, as dealing with matters of evidence. Pecos River R. Co. v. Reynolds Cattle Co. (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 162.

This article is mandatory, so that a charge on the weight of the evidence on a material controverted issue is prejudicial error, unless it affirmatively appears that the defendant was not prejudiced thereby. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Lynch (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 580.

The statute prohibits the trial judge from incorporating in his instructions anything which might reasonably be construed as intimating his opinion as to how the case should be decided, or as to the weight to be given the evidence, unless it is not conflicting and clearly establishes the fact. Hale v. Barnes (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 358.

183. —— Nature of instruction in general.—As to a charge on the weight of circumstantial evidence, see Sparks v. Dawson, 47 T. 147; Johnson v. Brown, 51 T. 65; Dwyer v. Bassett, 63 T. 274.

A charge as to a presumption arising from a given state of facts is a charge upon the weight of evidence except in those cases in which the law raises a conclusive presumption. Biering v. Bank, 69 T. 600, 7 S. W. 90.

A charge declaring the legal effect of certain facts if proved is not a charge upon the weight of evidence. Ullman v. Jasper, 70 T. 446, 7 S. W. 763; Railway Co. v. Burnett, 80 T. 536, 16 S. W. 320.

It was shown during the progress of a cause that the plaintiff, who offered himself as a witness, had been convicted of a felony, and was afterwards pardoned by the governor. The jury was instructed that "the proclamation of the governor renders the plaintiff a competent witness, leaving his credibility to be determined by you from all the facts and circumstances in evidence." Held, that the charge was not a charge on the weight of evidence. Costley v. Railway Co., 70 T. 112, 8 S. W. 114.

The court cannot instruct as a matter of law that a particular fact will amount to an estoppel. Bohny v. Petty, 81 T. 524, 17 S. W. 80.

A charge that "possession by the vendor after sale is prima facie evidence of fraud, and that the burden of proof is thereby shifted to the parties asserting the validity of the transaction," is not objectionable as being upon the weight of evidence. Hamburg v. Wood, 66 T. 168, 18 S. W. 623.

The court charged: "It is a general rule of law that acts which purport to have been done by public officers in their official capacity and within the scope of their duty will be presumed to have been regular and in accordance with their authority, until the contrary appears." This charge referred to a notarial seal, or whether such seal attested the notarial certificate of privy acknowledgment. This was in effect a charge that the paper offered in evidence was prima facie evidence that the officer had affixed to his certificate his seal required by law. This was instructing upon the weight of evidence. Stooksbury v. Swan, 85 T. 563, 22 S. W. 963.

Where two witnesses testify adversely, and the court makes the testimony of one witness the base of its instruction, and ignores the other's, it goes to the weight of the evidence, and is erroneous. Clausen v. Jones, 18 C. A. 376, 45 S. W. 183.

An instruction that in determining the weight of testimony the jury may consider the apparent prejudice of the witnesses comments on the weight of the testimony. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Runnels, 92 T. 305, 47 S. W. 971.

An instruction detailing facts on which a recovery vel non depends is not on the weight of the evidence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Zantzinger (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 677.

An instruction to disregard a photograph as to a certain particular, in which it is shown to be incorrect, is not a comment on the weight of the evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Magee (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 928.

Where testimony is singled out and emasculated in a special instruction upon an issue submitted which is not made by the pleadings, it is a charge upon the weight of evidence, and is reversible error. Byers v. Maxwell, 22 C. A. 269, 54 S. W. 789.

An instruction that if the jury found certain facts, setting forth plaintiff's side of the case, they should find for plaintiff, held not objectionable as being on the weight of the evidence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Morgan, 26 C. A. 378, 64 S. W. 688.

A charge as to the purpose for which certain evidence may be considered held not objectionable as a charge on the weight of evidence. Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Newport, 26 C. A. 583, 65 S. W. 657.

An instruction as to the legal effect of written instruments introduced in evidence held not a charge on the weight of evidence. Tinsley v. McIlhenny, 30 C. A. 352, 70 S. W. 793.

A qualifying clause, attached to an instruction and frequently repeated, held to render the charge ambiguous and subject to criticism as being on the weight of evidence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Condra, 36 C. A. 556, 82 S. W. 528.

The error in a charge objectionable as on the weight of evidence held intensified by the erroneous refusal of the court to give a requested charge presenting the reverse of the proposition submitted in the charge given. Carter-Battle Grocer Co. v. Rushing (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 449.

Any language used in a charge which would probably carry to the minds of the jury an intimation of the court's opinion upon the facts is a charge upon the weight of the evidence, and this without regard to the soundness of the proposition of law announced, and is reversible error. Tyler Ice Co. v. Tyler Water Co., 42 C. A. 210, 95 S. W. 650.

An instruction in an action by a tenant against his landlord for failure to account for the proceeds of cotton delivered to him for sale held not objectionable as not authorized by the pleadings. Roche v. Dale, 43 C. A. 287, 95 S. W. 1100.

Under the statute it is improper to charge that in determining the weight to be given the testimony of a witness the jury may consider his interest in the litigation. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Sproule, 45 C. A. 615, 101 S. W. 268.

Instructions are not on the weight of evidence because they present in detail the facts pertaining to a theory of recovery relied on by plaintiff. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Ruckman, 49 C. A. 25, 107 S. W. 1158.

An unnecessary cautioning instruction held an invasion of the province of the jury. Kansas City Southern Ry. Co. v. Williams (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 196.

A requested instruction, expressly excluding consideration of evidence and assuming facts contrary to evidence, is properly refused. Texas & G. Ry. Co. v. First Nat. Bank of Carthage, 47 C. A. 283, 112 S. W. 589.

An instruction in trespass to try title, brought on behalf of an insane person, that one is deemed to be insane when unable to transact the ordinary affairs of life, to understand their nature and effect, and exercise his will respecting them, was not on the weight of the evidence. Kaack v. Stanton, 51 C. A. 495, 112 S. W. 702.

Instruction addressed to the particular things that should have been done rather than to the legal standard of duty held, under certain circumstances, not to invade the province of the jury, but, where a question exists whether precautions should not have been taken other than those that were, the question is for the jury, and should be left to them by the charge. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Hodges, 102 T. 524, 120 S. W. 848.

An instruction which states the meaning of a written instrument admitted in evidence, and which instructs the jury as to its legal effect, is not on the weight of the evidence. Temple v. Duran (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 253.

It is error to instruct that a certain inference may or may not be drawn from a particular fact or condition, when such inference must be drawn from all the facts and circumstances in the case relating thereto; such instruction being on the weight of the evidence. Gallagher v. Neilon (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 564.

Special charges grouping facts held not erroneous as on the weight of the evidence. Posener v. Harvey (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 356.

As a general rule, trial courts have no right to refer in their charges to the testimony of any particular witness, or to the testimony as to any isolated fact, or group of facts, unless this becomes essential to the protection of some right of one or more of the parties to the suit. Texarkana Gas & Electric Co. v. Lanier (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 67.

The presumption of one's innocence of fraud being one of fact and not of law, an instruction thereon is improper as being on the weight of the evidence. Ross v. W. D. Cleveland & Sons (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 315.

An instruction on the burden of proof under special issues held not erroneous as on the weight of the evidence, and tending to prejudice plaintiff. Beaty v. Yell (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 911.

In absence of conflict in evidence, instruction as to contentions of parties held not on the credibility of the witnesses. Davis v. Mills (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 1064.

A charge as to a presumption arising from a given state of facts not raising a conclusive presumption is erroneous, as a charge on the weight of the evidence. Noblett v. Harper (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 519.

An instruction that the jury are the judges of the credibility of witnesses and the weight to be given to their testimony, and are not bound to believe any witness although unimpeached and uncontradicted, but may discredit his testimony in whole or in part, and give it such weight as they deem it entitled to, is a charge on the weight of the evidence. Starkey v. H. O. Wooten Grocery Co. (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 692.

It is an invasion of the province of the jury to instruct that they must consider the evidence bearing on an issue in its entirety. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Barnhart (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1049.

An instruction directing the jury to consider certain evidence in arriving at a verdict is properly refused as a charge on the weight of evidence. Louisiana & Texas Lumber Co. v. Stewart (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1193.

An instruction that evidence as to certain matters could only be considered to throw light on whether there was a controversy between the plaintiff and defendant, the differences between them, if any, and as tending to explain, if it does, "the reason for the final difficulty between them on the 9th day of July," was a charge on the weight of the evidence, and was calculated to cause an improper judgment within rule 62a (149 S. W. x), providing that reversal be had for no other reason, where the evidence was conflicting whether there was any difficulty between them on that date. Schuette v. Bishop (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 377.

A special charge that the jury were the exclusive judges of the mental development, capacity, and discretion of all the witnesses and parties, and, to determine the same, the jury might consider their answers, their attitude, and their general appearance, was a comment on the weight of the testimony and properly refused. Zarate v. Villaceal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

The court cannot instruct that certain evidence does not prove a particular fact, the statute prohibiting instructions as to the weight of the evidence. Hale v. Barnes (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 358.

Although as a general rule it is error to charge upon a presumption of fact, it being upon the weight of the evidence, there is an exception where the statute prescribes the particular character of evidence necessary for the establishing of a certain issue. Wood v. Dean (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 363.

A special charge, which presented in detail the facts upon which defendant relied, as well as its theory of defense, was not improper as upon the weight of the evidence, even though the court in its charge had generally submitted the defense. Jones v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 213.

184. —— Admissions.—An instruction that the fact that defendant repaired its bridge after an injury is not evidence that it was not previously in proper condition held properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Parker, 20 C. A. 470, 49 S. W. 717.

Where on trial plaintiff admitted certain facts to be true, and the admission was either stated or read to the jury, and there was no attempt by plaintiff to deny or evade its full effect, there was no occasion for a charge that the jury should take the admitted facts as true. Carlton v. Krueger, 54 C. A. 48, 115 S. W. 619.

185. —— Conflicting evidence.—It is error to require the jury to reconcile conflicting evidence. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Richards, 20 C. A. 203, 49 S. W. 687; Williamson v. D. M. Smith & Co. (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 51.

186. —— Uncontroverted evidence.—Where an application to purchase school land is indorsed as filed in the general land office on Sunday, but the chief clerk testifies that it could not have been received on that day, for the office is always closed on Sunday, it is not error to refuse an instruction that the uncontroverted evidence showed that it was filed on Sunday. Stephens v. Porter, 29 C. A. 556, 69 S. W. 423.

A charge assuming that issuable facts are shown by the undisputed evidence is upon the weight of the evidence, and is properly refused. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Manns, 37 C. A. 356, 84 S. W. 254.

Where the undisputed evidence establishes a fact, it is not error for the court to so instruct. Pacific Express Co. v. Walters, 42 C. A. 355, 93 S. W. 496; Brunner Fire Co. v. Payne, 54 C. A. 501, 118 S. W. 602.

In a suit against administrators for having fraudulently sold certain assets of the estate held not error for the court to instruct the jury that they should find certain facts from the undisputed evidence, and to direct them to answer certain questions submitted as special issues. Moore v. Woodson, 44 C. A. 503, 99 S. W. 116.

A request to charge that the "undisputed evidence" in an action for death of a servant showed that the death was caused by defendant's negligence held properly refused. Thompson v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 48 C. A. 284, 106 S. W. 910.

In an action to recover land, there being no evidence raising a conflict as to the distance between the lines designated by the plaintiff and defendants, respectively, as the east line of a survey, a charge stating the contention of the parties is not on the credibility of the witnesses nor on the weight of the evidence. Davis v. Mills (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 1064.

Evidence held to authorize instruction that act of defendant officer constituted false imprisonment. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Roberson (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 822.

In an action for personal injuries, where the fact that plaintiff's foot had been injured was not controverted, a charge that if the foot had entirely recovered, and was not now impaired, there could be no recovery for diminished earning power, was not upon the weight of the evidence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Swilling (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 696.

In a suit to remove cloud and quiet title to 160 acres of land, based on the 10-year statute of limitations, a charge that plaintiffs claimed title to the land because of possession and occupation under claim of right, with a statement of defendant's pleadings and an application of the law to the facts, which were undisputed, was not objectionable as a charge upon the weight of the evidence. Ball v. Filba (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 685.

187. —— Absence of proof.—A charge that proof of certain facts would entitle plaintiff to recover, unless rebutted, held not on the weight of evidence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 92 T. 591, 50 S. W. 563.

188. —— Nature of action or issue in general.—Instruction that failure to use portion of road for running freight and passenger trains constitutes abandonment of right of way held error as invading province of jury. Ft. Worth & N. O. Ry. Co. v. Sweatt, 20 C. A. 543, 50 S. W. 162.

On an issue of waiver of an equity of redemption, a charge that certain acts were a waiver is erroneous, as on the weight of the evidence. Rice v. Ward (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 318.

In an action against a telephone company for injuries caused by its failure to properly repair a branch connected with its main line, where it denied ownership of the branch, held not error to refer in instruction to the line to which the branch was connected as defendant's "main line." American Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Kersh, 27 C. A. 127, 66 S. W. 74.

On an issue as to whether a conveyance was procured by fraud, an instruction to find that it was, if the jury should find, from the evidence, that the consideration was so grossly inadequate as to shock the conscience was error, being on the weight of evidence. Wells v. Houston, 29 C. A. 619, 69 S. W. 183.

In an action against an assignee for creditors for breach of trust, charge held erroneous as being on the evidence and on the legal effect of one circumstance of the transaction. Nabours v. McCord, 36 C. A. 504, 75 S. W. 827.

In a will contest, an instruction held not to take from the consideration of the jury the question whether the will had been altered. Franklin v. Boone, 39 C. A. 597, 88 S. W. 262.

In an action on a guardian's bond to recover funds of her ward deposited in a bank and lost through failure thereof, an instruction held properly refused as being a peremptory charge in defendant's favor if the money was a deposit and not a loan. Murph v. McCullough, 40 C. A. 403, 90 S. W. 69.

Where there was testimony tending to sustain a cross-bill in an action for money, an instruction given held error. Borden v. Le Tulle Mercantile Co. (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 128.

In a suit to vacate a judgment, an instruction held on the weight of the evidence and erroneous. Cage & Crow v. Owens (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 1191.

An instruction as to the consideration of evidence of declarations of a testator as bearing on undue influence held erroneous as upon the weight of the evidence. Hart v. Hart (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 91.

A charge, in an action on a liquor dealer's bond for selling liquor to a minor, held calculated to affect the weight of the evidence. Carlton v. Krueger, 54 C. A. 48, 115 S. W. 619.

Where the evidence did not conclusively establish that the action as to a defendant was barred by the statute of limitations, a charge telling the jury that it was, held on the weight of evidence. Frizzell v. Woodman Pub. Co. (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 659.

An instruction that cohabitation and declarations of the parties that they are husband and wife do not constitute a marriage held not objectionable as a comment on the evidence. Schwingle v. Keifer (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 194.

In a suit to enforce an alleged vendor's lien, an instruction held erroneous, as on the weight of the evidence. Noblett v. Harper (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 519.

Instructions that certain specified acts or omissions on the part of a cotenant would or would not constitute authority to his cotenant to sign his name to a contract for the sale of the property held erroneous as on the weight of the evidence. Naylor v. Parker (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 93.

An instruction that when the question of identity of persons arises, a mere identity of names is not sufficient, but the evidence must go further and show by other facts and circumstances, taken in connection with the name, the identity of the person referred to, was not upon the weight of the evidence. Blunt v. Houston Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 248.

Instruction that the ice season for 1910 closed in November of that year was objectionable as on the weight of the evidence, which was conflicting on that point. A. S. Cameron Steam Pump Works v. Lubbock Light & Ice Co. (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 717.

In a will contest, an instruction that ordinarily less mental capacity is required to execute a will than to make a contract was properly refused as on the weight of the evidence. Allday v. Cage (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 838.

A request to charge as to a resulting trust held properly refused as on the weight of the evidence. Gilmore v. Brown (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 964.

189. —— Actions relating to property.—Instruction that plaintiff was not estopped by putting his fence on line defendants claimed was boundary between land held not erroneous, as taking from jury said facts as evidence of line. Pierce v. Schram (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 716.

Instruction in suit to recover land held not erroneous on the ground that it charged on the weight of the evidence. Thompson v. Johnson, 24 C. A. 246, 58 S. W. 1030.

In an action to determine whether certain land is included in a former survey, a charge as to the weight to be given to certain facts as evidence held erroneous. Yoacham v. McCurdy, 27 C. A. 183, 65 S. W. 213.

Instruction in partition suit on issue as to ancestor's residence held not objectionable, as on the weight of evidence. Laferiere v. Richards, 28 C. A. 63, 67 S. W. 125.

In a suit involving the question whether certain land is included in a survey, the south and east lines of which are not identified, save by calls for a "branch," and as to the location of which the evidence is conflicting, an instruction held not erroneous, as being on the weight of the evidence. Yocham v. McCurdy, 95 T. 336, 67 S. W. 316.

In an action to foreclose a vendor's lien, an instruction that certain facts were insufficient to put the plaintiff on inquiry as to whether the conveyance of the premises while a homestead was sham held not objectionable as being on the weight of evidence. Cooper v. Ford, 29 C. A. 569, 69 S. W. 487.

A charge as to an actual settler on public lands held on weight of evidence. Allen v. Frost, 31 C. A. 232, 71 S. W. 767.

In trespass to try title, an instruction held erroneous as on the weight of the evidence. White v. Epperson, 32 C. A. 162, 73 S. W. 851; Thomson v. Kelley (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 326; Miles v. Eckert, 120 S. W. 1137; State v. Haley, 142 S. W. 1003.

In an action of trespass to try title, an instruction relative to plaintiff's abandonment of the land held properly refused, because on the weight of the evidence. Jones v. Wright (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 569.

In an action to recover attached goods, an instruction presenting a plea of estoppel held objectionable as on the weight of evidence. Carter-Battle Grocer Co. v. Rushing (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 449.

In a suit to restrain a levy on a homestead an instruction as to intent to abandon held erroneous as a charge on the weight of evidence. Lynch v. McGown, 40 C. A. 146, 88 S. W. 894.

In an action to determine a disputed boundary, refusal of the court to require that the land should be located in accordance with plaintiff's theory held not error. Matfield v. Kimbrough (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 712.

In trespass to try title, certain charge held not on the weight of the evidence. Staley v. Stone, 41 C. A. 299, 92 S. W. 1017.

In a suit involving a disputed boundary line, an instruction that a call for an unmarked prairie line would not control a course and distance held erroneous as on the weight of evidence. Clawson v. Wilkins (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 1086.

A charge in trespass to try title held not on the weight of evidence, and not so framed as to convey to the minds of the jury a distrust of plaintiff's contention as compared with defendants'. Wilkins v. Clawson, 50 C. A. 82, 110 S. W. 103.

An instruction in an action wherein attached land was claimed by defendant husband and wife as the homestead held not objectionable as being upon the weight of the evidence. Gaar, Scott & Co. v. Burge, 49 C. A. 599, 110 S. W. 181.

An instruction, in an action to recover notes and mortgages assigned by decedent to her son and by him to plaintiff, defended by decedent's other children on the ground of fraud, held erroneous as a charge upon the weight of the evidence, and as giving undue prominence to certain evidence. McHay v. Peterson, 52 C. A. 195, 113 S. W. 981.

In trespass to try title, an instruction as to adverse possession held not on the weight of the evidence. Texas & N. O. Ry. Co. v. Broom, 53 C. A. 78, 114 S. W. 655.

A charge in trespass to try title held not on the weight of evidence, nor to place on defendants a greater burden than required by law. Pardue v. Whitfield, 53 C. A. 63, 115 S. W. 306.

In trespass to try title, an instruction held not objectionable as a charge that defendants as a matter of law were entitled to judgment for the half of the tract claimed by them. Saxton v. Corbett (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 75.

In an action for land claimed to have been a homestead, sold by a husband alone, a charge that a husband acting in good faith may select a homestead or abandon one homestead and acquire another, the abandonment and new acquisition taking place whether the new homestead is fully paid for or not, was not a charge on the weight of the evidence. Gibson v. Pierce (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 983.

Instruction that defendants acquired title by five-year limitations held erroneous, where the evidence of adverse possession was not conclusive. Burnham v. Hardy Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 330.

In a suit to remove cloud and quiet title, based on the ten-year statute of limitations, an instruction setting out the pleadings and applying the law to undisputed facts held not objectionable as a charge on the weight of the evidence. Ball v. Filba (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 685.

An instruction that all property deeded to either husband or wife during marriage and all effects possessed at the death of either is presumed to be community property, unless the contrary be "satisfactorily proven," was not erroneous as on the weight of the evidence in view of arts. 4622, 4623, providing what are common property and common effects, and that all effects possessed by husband and wife when the marriage is dissolved "shall be regarded as common effects or gains unless the contrary be satisfactorily proved"; such rule being applicable to both real and personal property in actions by the heirs of the deceased wife to recover their mother's share of the community property from the surviving husband. Wood v. Dean (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 363.

190. —— Contracts and actions relating thereto in general.—An instruction in an action to recover the contract price for the installation and erection of an electric light plant held not misleading. A. J. Anderson Electric Co. v. Cleburne Water, Ice & Lighting Co., 23 C. A. 328, 57 S. W. 575.

In action for breach of contract to furnish sufficient electric current to operate a motor, an instruction held erroneous as being on the weight of evidence. Wofford & Rathbone v. Buchel Power & Irrigation Co., 35 C. A. 531, 80 S. W. 1078.

An instruction on the issue whether a contract had been mutually rescinded held not objectionable as being on the weight of the evidence. Darst v. Devini, 46 C. A. 311, 102 S. W. 787.

It is error to instruct that a settlement was made at a certain time, when the evidence as to that matter was conflicting. Thompson v. Fitzgerald & Ray (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 334.

In an action for a real estate broker's commission, an instruction held not improper as being on the weight of the evidence. Sterling v. De Laune, 47 C. A. 470, 105 S. W. 1169.

In an action on a contract to renew a fire policy, a charge held properly refused because on the weight of the evidence. Orient Ins. Co. v. Wingfield, 49 C. A. 202, 108 S. W. 788.

In an action for wrongful discharge of employé, certain instruction held not objectionable as being on the weight of the evidence. Wolf Cigar Stores Co. v. Kramer, 50 C. A. 411, 109 S. W. 990.

In an action between partners for contribution, an instruction that if the jury found that a division agreement had been made, etc., they should find for defendants, held erroneous as on the weight of the evidence. Doty v. Moore (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 955.

A requested charge in an action for commissions held to invade the province of the jury. Mumme v. Gates (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1046.

In an action by a light and heating company for breach of a contract to light and heat a hotel an instruction held to eliminate an issue as to plaintiff's violation of an agreement to furnish hot water, and to this extent to be on the weight of the evidence, and erroneous. Long v. Consumers' Light & Heating Co., 55 C. A. 298, 121 S. W. 172.

In an action by a broker for commissions, a certain charge held not necessarily to require a verdict for defendant. Brady v. Maddox (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 739.

An instruction in an action for rescission of a contract of sale of land for false representations of seller held not objectionable as on the weight of the evidence. Black v. Brooks (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 177.

In a suit on fire policies, an instruction respecting the effect of compromise held properly refused. Milwaukee Mechanics' Ins. Co. v. Frosch (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 600.

In an action for breach of contract, an instruction held not on the weight of the evidence. El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. Eichel & Weikel (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 922.

A charge given in an action for contribution held not upon the weight of the evidence. Matson v. Jarvis (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 941.

On an issue as to the renewal of defendant's contract to operate a gin for plaintiff for the season of 1908–1909, an instruction held objectionable as on the weight of the evidence. Guitar v. McGee (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 622.

A request to charge that a custom to accept overdue assessments from members in good health did not waive a subsequent default by a sick member held properly refused as on the weight of the evidence. Mutual Life Ins. Ass'n of Texas, No. 1, v. Garvin (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 797.

A charge that, if the agent, while negotiating for settlement, stated that it was the agent's opinion that the servant's condition was not serious, and that he would not be permanently disabled, and that the servant voluntarily signed the release, knowing as much about his condition as the agent knew, or claimed to know, the servant was bound by the release was not objectionable as on the weight of evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Reno (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 207.

Where a tenant, compelled to abandon, claimed damages for loss of profits in keeping boarders, an instruction that the number of boarders did not control as to whether the house was a private boarding house was on the weight of the evidence. Hedrick v. Smith (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 305.

In an action by a broker for commission for procuring an exchange of real estate an instruction held not objectionable as on the weight of the evidence on an issue. Lanham v. Cockrell (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 189.

An instruction to find that M. signed his name to the contract sued on held error as on the weight of evidence, where M. testified he had not done so, while there was other evidence tending to show that he did. Danner v. Walker-Smith Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 295.

In an action on a contract of employment, an instruction with reference to defendant's alleged set-off held objectionable as on the weight of the evidence. Iowa Mfg. Co. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 171.

191. —— Bills and notes.—An instruction held erroneous. Halsey v. Bell (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 1088.

An instruction held properly refused. McCormick v. Kampmann (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 492.

An instruction, in an action on an obligation for the payment of money on the happening of a designated event, held not erroneous as on the weight of the evidence. Marvin v. Rogers, 53 C. A. 423, 115 S. W. 863.

192. —— Sales.—A charge that a buyer's refusal to pay a draft is a repudiation of the contract of sale held on the weight of the evidence. Cleveland v. Heidenheimer (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 551.

In an action to rescind a sale, a charge that the mere fact of the buyer's insolvency is insufficient to avoid the sale held a charge on the evidence. Willis v. Strickland (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 159.

On the issue as to whether a purchaser of school lands had abandoned the same, an instruction held objectionable as on the weight of the testimony, or calculated to mislead the jury. Lewis v. Scharbauer, 33 C. A. 220, 76 S. W. 225.

In an action for the price of goods sold, an instruction held not erroneous as ambiguous, misleading, or on the weight of the testimony. Braun & Ferguson Co. v. Paulson (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 617.

An instruction with reference to the vendor's rescission of the sale held not objectionable as on the weight of the evidence. Evans v. Ashe, 50 C. A. 54, 108 S. W. 398.

An instruction in an action for fraud inducing an exchange of property held erroneous as withdrawing certain evidence from the jury. McCullough Hardware Co. v. Burdett (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 612.

An instruction as to notice to an alleged bona fide purchaser held not upon the weight of the evidence. Cartwright v. La Brie (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 725.

193. —— Carriage of goods and live stock.—In an action against a railroad for failure to furnish cars, special charge held on the weight of the evidence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Ray Bros. & Hughes, 37 C. A. 622, 84 S. W. 691.

An instruction held on the weight of the evidence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Gray, 38 C. A. 249, 85 S. W. 838; Texas Cent. Ry. Co. v. Miller (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 499; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Bingham, 40 C. A. 469, 89 S. W. 1113; Texas & P. R. Co. v. Bailey, 43 C. A. 553, 96 S. W. 1089; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Johnson & Johnson (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 725; Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Meyer, 155 S. W. 309.

In an action for damages from defendant's negligence in not furnishing cars for the shipment of plaintiff's cattle, a charge to ignore rush of business and scarcity of cars in determining question of reasonable time held error. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Nelson, 38 C. A. 605, 86 S. W. 616.

Failure of charge to impose on carrier higher degree of care in carrying live stock than in carrying dead freight held not error. Waggoner v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 1028.

An instruction as to defendant's liability for overloading cattle held erroneous, as on the weight of the evidence. Ft. Worth & R. G. R. Co. v. Cage Cattle Co. (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 705.

Where the evidence was conflicting as to whether defendant's promise to furnish cars was absolute, a requested charge held to be upon the weight of the evidence, and improper. St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Boshear (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 1032.

A charge held not on the weight of evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry Co. of Texas v. Dement (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 635; St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Franklin, 123 S. W. 1150; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Woldert Grocery Co., 144 S. W. 1194; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brock, 150 S. W. 488.

An instruction as to the negligence of a carrier's ticket agent in selling plaintiff's wife a ticket to the wrong station held objectionable as on the weight of the evidence. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Doolan, 56 C. A. 503, 120 S. W. 1118.

It was not error to refuse to instruct that, if defendants transported horses on the first through train going in the direction of their destination, that would be in compliance wih their obligation under the law, as the carrier's negligence was a conclusion of fact. Pecos River R. Co. v. Reynolds Cattle Co. (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 162.

An instruction on a carrier's duty in transporting passengers and stock held not erroneous, as being upon the weight of the evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Aycock (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 198.

In an action against a carrier for failure to provide water for cattle at dipping pens, a charge held erroneous as a charge on the weight of the evidence. Clegg v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 104 T. 280, 137 S. W. 109.

An instruction that if plaintiffs' cattle were delayed in transit for an unreasonable time by defendant carrier, that if the cars on which the stock was carried were not bedded or were improperly bedded and in bad repair, that if defendant failed to use ordinary care in handling the stock, and that if such acts, or any of them, if any, were caused by negligence and were the proximate cause of stock dying, plaintiffs could recover the reasonable market value of such cattle, etc., was not erroneous as being on the weight of the evidence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brock (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 488.

An instruction, assuming that the alleged rough handling by a carrier of a shipment of live stock was negligence, is on the weight of evidence, and an invasion of province of the jury. Quanah, A. & P. Ry. Co. v. Galloway (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 653.

An instruction that a carrier was not liable for delays at any point unless at a certain one specified, and that before defendant could be held liable for delay there the jury must believe that the cattle were damaged by such delay, was on the weight of the evidence on a disputed issue; the testimony of a conductor showing a delay of nearly an hour at a point other than that mentioned and a further delay in reloading at a feeding point. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Meyer (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 309.

194. —— Transmission of telegrams.—An instruction as to what delivery would constitute a compliance with defendant's duty held not erroneous. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Sweetman, 19 C. A. 435, 47 S. W. 676; Same v. Christensen (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 744.

Instruction held on the weight of evidence. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Burgess (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 237; Wolff v. Western Union Telegraph Co., 42 C. A. 30, 94 S. W. 1062.

Instructions assuming that the sender's failure to give a better address was negligent held properly refused as on the weight of evidence. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Bowen (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 613.

In an action for mental anguish, an instruction held erroneous as being on the weight of the evidence. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Campbell, 41 C. A. 204, 91 S. W. 312.

Instruction held not on the weight of evidence. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Carter, 42 C. A. 224, 94 S. W. 205.

An instruction held not objectionable as asserting as a fact that plaintiff was unable to be with his father before his death in consequence of defendant's failure to promptly deliver the message. Western Union Telgraph Co. v. Mack (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 921.

Where the pleadings and evidence raise an issue as to whether the telegram was a day or night message, it is an invasion of the jury's province to instruct that it was the company's duty to promptly transmit and deliver the same. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. White (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 790.

195. —— Torts in general.—In libel, a requested instruction that mere proof of ill will against plaintiff was not proof of defendant's being actuated by malice, is properly refused as misleading and an invasion of the province of the jury. Cranfill v. Hayden (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 573.

In action for damages resulting from construction of embankment across creek bottom, response of court to question of jury as to assessment of damages held not open to objection of binding jury by plaintiff's evidence regardless of their judgment thereon. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Turnham (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 1086.

In action for damages to land rendered inaccessible by a railroad embankment, a charge held not on the weight of the evidence. Red River, T. & S. Ry. Co. v. Hughes, 36 C. A. 472, 81 S. W. 1235.

Instruction in action for damage to land by railroad construction held not objectionable as a charge on the weight of the evidence. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Glover (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 604.

An instruction in an action against a railway company for injuries to property held misleading. Dallas, C. & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Langston (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 425.

Instruction in an action for conversion held on weight of evidence. Crouch Hardware Co. v. Walker, 51 C. A. 571, 113 S. W. 163; Buffalo Pitts Co. v. Stringfellow-Hume Hardware Co. (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1161.

In an action for damages to land, a charge held not on the weight of evidence. Tippett v. Corder (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 186.

An instruction in an action against a railroad company for the destruction of property by fire held not on the weight of the evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Neiser, 54 C. A. 460, 118 S. W. 166.

In an action for conspiracy a requested charge held objectionable as on the weight of the evidence. Weatherred v. Finley, 57 C. A. 50, 121 S. W. 895.

In an action against a railroad for damages to plaintiffs from an overflow of water resulting from an embankment, an instruction held to be on the weight of evidence and erroneous. Doke v. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 1195.

In an action for false imprisonment, the court should not instruct that the law presumes that an officer having custody of a person will protect him in his lawful rights. Southwestern Portland Cement Co. v. Reitzer (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 237.

A charge in an action for damages from obstruction of a street held not objectionable as a charge upon the weight of evidence. American Const. Co. v. Caswell (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1013.

In an action for conversion, an instruction held not improper as a charge on the weight of the evidence. Baldwin v. G. M. Davidson & Co. (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 716.

In an action for damages for cattle trespassing on wet agricultural lands, an instruction that, as the plaintiff had not shown a right to exclude defendant from other lands in the same inclosure, she could not complain that defendant's cattle wandered over her lands, being on the weight of the evidence and in effect a peremptory charge, was properly refused. Tandy v. Fowler (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 481.

In a cross-action for wrongfully suing out an attachment, the court charged that a debtor was not required to apply the proceeds of his property to any particular debt; that a debtor's failure to pay his debts was not ground for attachment or justification for suing out the writ; that the fact that a creditor desired to collect his debt and needed the money would not justify suing out the writ; that neglect to pay a debt, or carelessness in the conduct of business, or the mortgaging of property by a debtor to procure money to pay his debts, would not justify the belief that he was about to convert his property into money in order to get it beyond the reach of creditors; and that probable cause to believe that the grounds set forth in the affidavit and attachment would be based by plaintiff, when he caused the affidavit to be made, upon competent evidence then before him; and further instructed that one who resorts to an attachment does so at his peril, and that no belief, however sincere, that the grounds set out in his affidavit are true, etc., would excuse him. Held, that the instruction was erroneous as upon the weight of the evidence. Hale v. Barnes (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 358.

196. —— Negligence in general.—It is not proper for a trial judge in charging a jury to attempt to define duties, neglect of which would be negligence, in the absence of a statutory definition of duties which, when disregarded, are negligence as a matter of law. The judge should inform the jury as to the degree of care or skill which the law demands of the party and what duty it devolves on him, and the province of the jury is to find from the facts in evidence whether that duty has been performed. Railway Co. v. Lee, 70 T. 496, 7 S. W. 857; Denham v. Trinity County Lumber Co., 73 T. 78, 11 S. W. 151.

As a general rule it is error to charge that proof of specific facts will establish negligence. Railway Co. v. Lee, 70 T. 496, 7 S. W. 857; Same v. Williams, 70 T. 159, 8 S. W. 78; Costley v. Railway Co., 70 T. 112, 8 S. W. 114; Railway Co. v. Greenlee, 70 T. 553, 8 S. W. 129; Same v. Hill, 71 T. 451, 9 S. W. 351; Artusy v. Railway Co., 73 T. 191, 11 S. W. 177; Railway Co. v. Robinson, 73 T. 277, 11 S. W. 327; Same v. Douglas, 73 T. 325, 11 S. W. 333; Same v. McGowan, 73 T. 355, 11 S. W. 336; Campbell v. Trimble, 75 T. 270, 12 S. W. 863; Hargis v. Railway Co., 75 T. 19, 12 S. W. 953; Railway Co. v. Anderson, 76 T. 244, 13 S. W. 196; Same v. Dyer, 76 T. 156, 13 S. W. 377; Dillingham v. Parker, 80 T. 572, 16 S. W. 335; Telegraph Co. v. Lydon, 82 T. 364, 18 S. W. 701; Lumber Co. v. Denham, 85 T. 56, 19 S. W. 1012; Railway Co. v. Bufford, 21 S. W. 272, 2 C. A. 115; Same v. Hanks, 21 S. W. 948, 2 C. A. 306; Same v. Bagley, 22 S. W. 68, 3 C. A. 207; Same v. Kizziah, 22 S. W. 110, 4 C. A. 356; Same v. Rowland, 22 S. W. 134, 3 C. A. 158; City of Houston v. Bryan, 22 S. W. 231, 2 C. A. 553; Fordyce v. Culver, 22 S. W. 237, 2 C. A. 569; Eddy v. Still, 22 S. W. 525, 3 C. A. 346; Citizens' Ry. Co. v. Gifford, 19 C. A. 631, 47 S. W. 1041; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. McLeod (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 85; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Wafer, 130 S. W. 712; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Browder, 144 S. W. 1042.

It is proper to state to the jury what constitutes negligence in general, but not what particular facts constitute such negligence. Railway Co. v. Hanks, 21 S. W. 948, 2 C. A. 306; H. & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Kelley, 13 C. A. 1, 34 S. W. 809.

Instruction in action for killing stock on track held erroneous as a charge on the evidence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Jones, 16 C. A. 179, 40 S. W. 745; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Scofield (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 435.

Instruction on liability for injuries to stock on track held not on the weight of evidence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Slinkard, 17 C. A. 585, 44 S. W. 35.

An instruction that if the fire was caused by sparks from the engine, such fact would prima facie establish negligence of the defendant, was not erroneous, as being on the weight of the evidence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Jordan, 25 C. A. 82, 60 S. W. 784.

An instruction, in an action against a railroad company for injuries from fire, held not on the weight of evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Florence (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 802; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Prude, 39 C. A. 144, 86 S. W. 1046; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. McLeod (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 85; Same v. Ross, 55 C. A. 622, 119 S. W. 725; Crawford & Byrne v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 869; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Washington, Id. 1126; Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. S. Marshall Bulley & Son, 140 S. W. 480.

Charge concerning contributory negligence, but not leaving it to the jury, held properly refused. City of San Antonio v. Talerico (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 28.

A charge held not erroneous as instructing the jury that certain facts constituted contributory negligence. Williams v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 34 C. A. 145, 78 S. W. 45; Jones v. Western Union Telegraph Co. (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 808.

In an action against a railroad company for killing stock, with which plaintiff had camped on a highway adjoining defendant's right of way, an instruction as to his right to camp at such place held on the weight of evidence. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Roberts, 37 C. A. 108, 83 S. W. 250.

In an action against a railroad company for fire set out, an instruction held erroneous as being on the weight of evidence. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Dial, 38 C. A. 260, 85 S. W. 22.

An instruction held not objectionable as charging what acts or omissions constitute negligence. Paris & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Calvin (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 428.

A charge held not on the weight of evidence. Foley v. Northrup, 47 C. A. 277, 105 S. W. 229.

A requested charge was properly refused which stated that certain facts would amount to contributory negligence when the question was for the jury. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Dickens, 54 C. A. 637, 118 S. W. 612; Id., 118 S. W. 618; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 1150.

In an action against a railroad for damages caused by the overflow of plaintiff's land claimed to have resulted from impounding water by the negligent construction of the roadbed, an instruction held not upon the weight of the evidence as excluding any other issue than the impounding of the water by the construction of the roadbed. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Chilton, 52 C. A. 516, 118 S. W. 779.

The court should never charge that certain acts would be negligence as a matter of law, or that in case they find such acts to have been committed, to find for plaintiff, unless such acts are prohibited by statute, or are so lacking in ordinary prudence that reasonable minds could not differ as to their negligent quality. Galveston Electric Co. v. Dobbert (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 838.

In absence of a statute making a certain act negligent, whether it is negligence is a jury question, so that it is error to charge that certain acts are negligence. Commerce Cotton Oil Co. v. Camp (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 852.

A charge, authorizing a verdict for plaintiff on a finding that certain acts of negligence, alleged to have been committed by defendant or its servant, if any, were the proximate cause of the death of the animal was not erroneous as on the weight of the evidence. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Stewart (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 598.

An instruction as to whether a train should be stopped or its speed reduced to avoid injury to stock in a given case is an instruction on the weight of the evidence, and properly refused. Id.

In an action for the negligent burning of farm machinery, charged to be due to the lighting of grass a mile and a half away, where the evidence raised the issue of negligence, and there was no evidence of a willful burning, an instruction that, if the jury found that defendant kindled the fire, they should find for the plaintiff, was error, as taking the issue of negligence from the jury. Thomas v. Saunders (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 768.

A charge that the issues raised by these charges constituted contributory negligence was on the weight of the evidence. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Tucker (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 175.

197. —— Personal injuries in general.—Where a complainant is injured by a city's failure to erect a suitable barrier on a street adjacent to a stream, an instruction making it negligence per se for complainant to drive along such street with knowledge of its defects, held properly refused, as on the weight of the evidence. City of San Antonio v. Porter, 24 C. A. 444, 59 S. W. 922.

Instructions that, whether or not agent of seller believed his representation as to safety of 87° gasoline, liability of seller was not thereby affected, held unobjectionable, as on weight of evidence, in action for injuries from explosion. Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v. Davis, 24 C. A. 508, 60 S. W. 453.

An instruction in an action for damages for assault and battery held not on the weight of evidence. Hardin v. Hodges, 33 C. A. 155, 76 S. W. 217.

An instruction held on the weight of the evidence. Houston Electric Co. v. Green, 48 C. A. 242, 106 S. W. 463; Jacksonville Ice & Electric Co. v. Moses (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 379; Marshall & E. T. Ry. Co. v. Petty, Id. 406.

An instruction held not on the weight of the evidence. Citizens' Ry. & Light Co. v. Johns, 52 C. A. 489, 116 S. W. 62; City of San Antonio v. Ashton (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 757.

In an action against a bridge company for injuries received while on the bridge, the court instructed the jury that the injury occurred through failure of the bridge company to follow specifications, etc., held to be a charge upon the weight of evidence. Weatherford Machine & Foundry Co. v. Pope (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 503.

Where the issue, in an action against a railroad for injuries to a patron on its amusement grounds, was whether the premises where the accident occurred were under the control of the company or of a third person, with certain exclusive privileges, subject to the obligation to keep the premises free from obstructions, and evidence showed that a tank fell on plaintiff, a child two years old, a charge that if the injury occurred on property under the control of the company, onto which the general public was invited and if the tank was negligently left by the company's agents in a place dangerous to persons like plaintiff, the verdict must be for plaintiff, was not on the weight of testimony. Wichita Falls Traction Co. v. Adams (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 271.

198. —— Personal injuries in operation of railroads in general.—An instruction as to the effect of running a train at an unusual rate of speed over a public crossing held not objectionable as on the evidence. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Starling, 16 C. A. 365, 41 S. W. 181.

An instruction that, the less the sense of sight could be used when entering a place of danger, the greater was the duty to use the sense of hearing, is on the weight of the evidence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Eaten (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 562.

A charge held not on the weight of the evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Weatherford, 26 C. A. 20, 62 S. W. 101; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Harris, 30 C. A. 179, 70 S. W. 335; McCowen v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 46; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Taff, 31 C. A. 657, 74 S. W. 89; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Kennemore (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 802; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v.

Purdy, 83 S. W. 37; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Saunders, 103 S. W. 457; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Finn, 107 S. W. 94; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Hendricks, 49 C. A. 314, 108 S. W. 745; El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Kelly (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 415; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams, 50 C. A. 134, 109 S. W. 1126; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Coleman, 51 C. A. 415, 112 S. W. 690; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Driver (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 409; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Muske, 141 S. W. 565; Same v. Rogers, Id. 1011; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Swilling, 143 S. W. 696; Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Dumas, 149 S. W. 543.

An instruction, "If you believe, from the evidence," that the side rod was defective, etc., to find for plaintiff held not a charge on the weight of evidence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Parvin, 27 C. A. 60, 64 S. W. 1008.

In an action for personal injuries by the breaking of a side rod on an engine, testimony that such rods undergo crystallization and become brittle was sufficient to justify an instruction submitting the issue as to whether the "metal" was defective. Id.

Requested instruction in an action against a railroad company for an assault by its employés held properly refused as on the weight of evidence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Bell (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 56.

An instruction as to the presumption that one would leave railroad track in time to prevent injury from hand car approaching from rear held properly refused as on the weight of evidence. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Long, 32 C. A. 40, 74 S. W. 59.

In an action for the death of plaintiff's intestate by his horse becoming frightened at noise of defendant's engine, an instruction held erroneous as on the weight of evidence. Hord v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 33 C. A. 163, 76 S. W. 227.

Instruction held on the weight of the evidence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Phillips, 35 C. A. 337, 80 S. W. 107; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Howell (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 560; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Balliet, 48 C. A. 641, 107 S. W. 906; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Malone (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 958; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Reynolds, 115 S. W. 340; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rogers, 128 S. W. 711.

An instruction submitting an issue as to whether defendant's employés knew that the rapid speed at which a car was being propelled was the cause of the horse plaintiff's wife was driving becoming frightened, and failed to exercise ordinary care to slacken the speed, held not on the weight of the evidence. Denison & S. Ry. Co. v. Powell, 35 C. A. 454, 80 S. W. 1054.

An instruction as to the care required of a child at a crossing held not erroneous as a charge on the weight of evidence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Ball, 38 C. A. 279, 85 S. W. 456.

An instruction that, if defendant failed to use ordinary care with reference to certain facts, the act would be negligence, held objectionable. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Jackson, 41 C. A. 51, 90 S. W. 918.

An instruction as to the violation of ordinances, etc., held not on the weight of the evidence. Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. v. Frugia, 43 C. A. 48, 95 S. W. 563.

In an action against a railroad through a car running into the car plaintiff was unloading, an instruction held not erroneous as being on the weight of the evidence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Gerald (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 166.

An instruction, in an action for injuries to a pedestrian while passing between cars, held on the weight of the evidence. Freeman v. Terry (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1016.

An instruction that if defendant's train dashed out from behind box cars on the track, in view of plaintiff's team, and made unnecessary noises, defendant failed to exercise ordinary care, held objectionable as being on the weight of the evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Burk (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 600.

A charge that if plaintiff was not struck by defendant's engine, or, if struck, if the accident was not caused by any negligence in failing to furnish lights, lookouts, etc., judgment should be for defendant, followed by instructions submitting those issues, is not on the weight of evidence. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Keeran (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 355.

An instruction to find for defendant if plaintiff knew the door made a noise when raised, and left his horses unguarded and unhitched with their heads opposite the door, held properly refused as taking from the jury the determination of plaintiff's negligence. Freeman v. McElroy (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 428.

An instruction stating a duty of the railroad in the operation of its trains at a crossing held not improper as on the weight of the evidence, where in accordance with the uncontroverted evidence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Hilgartner (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1091.

An instruction that a failure to stop, look, and listen was contributory negligence which directly contributed to the accident held improper as invading the province of the jury. Id.

An instruction that whether decedent's peril was discovered by the trainmen, and whether they used all reasonable means at their command if any to avoid injury, "may be shown by circumstances and same must be determined by circumstances at the time," was not on the weight of the evidence. Freeman v. Belinoski (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 882.

199. —— Injuries to passengers.—An instruction held on the weight of the evidence. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Caseday (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 198; Barton v. Stroud-Gibson Grocer Co. (Civ. App.) Id. 1050; Houston Electric Co. v. Nelson, 34 C. A. 72, 77 S. W. 978; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Flood, 35 C. A. 197, 79 S. W. 1106; Moore v. Northern Texas Traction Co., 41 C. A. 583, 95 S. W. 652; El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Boer (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 199; Northern Texas Traction Co. v. Moberly, 109 S. W. 483; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley, 124 S. W. 485.

It is not error to refuse a charge that no deduction of negligence could be made from an unusual jerk of a train, where that was the cause of injury, as the question of negligence was for the jury. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Choate, 22 C. A. 618, 56 S. W. 214.

Charge to find for defendant, if a broken axle was the cause of the accident, held not erroneous as being on the weight of the evidence. Johnson v. Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co., 27 C. A. 616, 66 S. W. 906.

A charge held not on the weight of evidence, as assuming that failure of a carrier to provide a stool for a passenger while alighting was negligence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Sherrill, 32 C. A. 116, 72 S. W. 429.

When defendant has introduced evidence tending to show that it has used all proper care in avoiding an accident, a charge that the fact of the injury is prima facie evidence of negligence which defendant must rebut by showing that it has used due care, shifts the burden of proof and is a charge upon the weight of the evidence. St. L. S. W. Ry. Co. v. Parks, 97 T. 131, 76 S. W. 742.

An instruction held not on the weight of the evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Flood, 35 C. A. 197, 79 S. W. 1106; St. Louis Southwestern R. Co. of Texas v. Wright (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 270; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Wilkins, 98 S. W. 202.

Whether intending passenger was "compelled" to walk between points because of street car's failure to stop for him held a question of fact. Northern Texas Traction Co. v. Hooper (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 113.

In an action for injuries to a shipper of stock while riding on the engine, an instruction held on the weight of the evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Avis, 41 C. A. 72, 91 S. W. 877.

In an action for injuries received in waiting in an unheated depot, an instruction held on the weight of the evidence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Turner (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 195.

In an action for injuries to a street car passenger in a collision with a railroad train at a crossing, an instruction held a practical withdrawal of the issue of the railroad company's liability for failure to provide a flagman or watchman at the crossing. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Knowles, 44 C. A. 172, 99 S. W. 867.

Instruction as to liability of railway company for abusive conduct of conductor toward passenger held not objectionable as being on the weight of evidence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Granger (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 987.

In an action against a railway company for injury to a passenger compelled to alight while the train was in motion, an instruction held properly refused as being on the weight of the evidence. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Florence (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 430.

In an action to recover for injuries from exposure in a cold waiting room, an instruction summarizing the evidence, and informing the jury that if they believed the same, and that the circumstances of plaintiff's injury were as she claimed, their verdict should be for plaintiff, was not objectionable as on the weight of the evidence. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Perry (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 305.

A requested charge that if the car was not started while plaintiff was in the act of alighting, and she alighted safely therefrom, and after she had alighted she stepped into a hole, etc., defendant was not liable, held not on the weight of the evidence. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Hauskins (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1100.

Instruction that there could be no recovery for the death of a passenger struck by a train, if the circumstances were as specified, held properly refused because on the weight of the evidence. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Lacy (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 414.

An instruction that if a passenger walked towards the track with his head down, did not observe the approaching train, but walked too near the track, and was struck by the train, plaintiff could not recover was properly refused, since it was on the weight of the evidence, making deceased guilty of contributory negligence, as a matter of law, under the circumstances specified. Id.

An instruction that the failure of a carrier's servants to restrain an insane person from leaving the train was negligence held not objectionable as on the weight of the evidence. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Sears (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1003.

A charge that, if the train was derailed, the fact of derailment is prima facie evidence of the carrier's negligence, is a comment on the weight of the evidence. Abilene & S. Ry. Co. v. Burleson (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 1177.

200. —— Injuries to servants.—Where the defense rested on plaintiff's knowledge of the defect that caused his injuries, held error to instruct the jury what weight to give to information communicated to him as to the defect. Paris, M. & S. P. Ry. Co. v. Stokes (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 484.

An instruction that the failure of a railroad company to do certain acts for the safety of its employés constituted negligence held not on the weight of the evidence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Gaither (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 266.

An instruction that a servant has a right to presume that the master has performed his duty with ordinary care is not objectionable, as being upon the weight of evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Crowder (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 380.

In an action by a switchman for injuries sustained by stumbling over a ground switch, a charge held erroneous as being on the weight of the evidence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. English (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 626.

Instruction held on the weight of evidence. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Burns (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 1035; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Mortensen, 27 C. A. 106, 66 S. W. 99; International & G. N. R. Co. v. McVey (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 991; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Strickel, 94 S. W. 427; Adams v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 105 S. W. 526; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Steele, 50 C. A. 634, 110 S. W. 171; Rapid Transit Ry. Co. v. Edwards, 55 C. A. 543, 118 S. W. 838; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rogers (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 711; St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Bowles, 131 S. W. 1176; Consumers' Lignite Co. v. Cameron, 134 S. W. 283; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Kennedy, 139 S. W. 1009; Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Thompson, 140 S. W. 1148; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Limberg, 152 S. W. 1180.

An instruction that plaintiff must prove negligence in the defendant, and that proof of the accident and injury alone will not suffice, is on the weight of evidence. Smith v. Gulf, W. T. & P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 83.

Held, that it was not error to refuse to charge that a failure of plaintiff to obey the rules of the company was negligence per se. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Connell, 27 C. A. 533, 66 S. W. 246.

Requested charge on contributory negligence held an invasion of the province of the jury. Perez v. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co., 28 C. A. 255, 67 S. W. 137.

An instruction held not on weight of the evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 769; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Karrer, 70 S. W. 328; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. McDowell, 73 S. W. 974; Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Bodie, 32 C. A. 168, 74 S. W. 100; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Stinson, 34 C. A. 285, 78 S. W. 986; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Hoskins, 34 C. A. 627, 79 S. W. 369; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rea (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 428; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Box (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 134; Same v. Box, Id. 134; Louisiana & Texas Lumber Co. v. Meyers (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 140; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Brice, 100 T. 203, 97 S. W. 461; Texas Mexican Ry. Co. v. Higgins, 44 C. A. 523, 99 S. W. 200; Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Mills, 49 C. A. 349, 108 S. W. 480; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Steele, 50 C. A. 634, 110 S. W. 171; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Bryan (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 82.

In an action by a brakeman for injury claimed to have resulted from a defective roadbed, held, that the court did not err in charging that the evidence did not show such defect. Parks v. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas, 29 C. A. 551, 69 S. W. 125.

An instruction held not objectionable on the ground that it inferentially charged what facts constituted negligence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Mortson, 31 C. A. 142, 71 S. W. 770.

A requested charge as to the right of the engineer of the train which killed deceased to presume that a push car would be removed before the train reached it held on the weight of the evidence. International & G. N. R. Co. v. McVey (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 991.

An instruction relieving defendant from liability for running at a certain rate if a less rate would have resulted in the accident held properly refused. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Wilkinson, 50 C. A. 48, 110 S. W. 470.

In an action for injuries to a railroad trackman by his fellow servants falling over certain concealed rails while they were carrying a switch tie, a request to charge on assumed risk held properly denied. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Tuck (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 620.

An instruction held not error as charging that certain facts constituted an employment of plaintiff by defendant. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Lynch (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 580.

Instructions which directed a verdict in case certain things were found by the jury held improper, as a charge on the weight of the evidence. Glenn Lumber Co. v. Quinn (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 863.

An instruction that if plaintiff was warned to use a ladder in climbing poles, and he disregarded such warning, he was guilty of negligence, which proximately contributed to his injury, was not on the weight of the evidence. Abilene Light & Water Co. v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1052.

An instruction that, if plaintiff was inexperienced in operating such machinery, and defendant knew thereof and did not warn him, and he was thereby subjected to a danger of which he did not know and which he would have avoided had he been so warned, and the danger was not open to observation, and plaintiff made a proper use of his faculties, he could recover, was erroneous, where the evidence made it at most a jury question whether defendant was guilty of any negligence in failing to warn plaintiff of the danger from the sudden starting of the machine. Gamer Co. v. Gamage (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 721.

An instruction requiring defendant "to so repair" the saw "as to make it suitable for the purpose for which it was used and reasonably safe for use," held not on the weight of the evidence. Glenn Lumber Co. v. Quinn (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 285.

An instruction that if a master's agent had promulgated a rule forbidding the use of lanterns by employés working about oil reservoirs, and such rule had been habitually violated and was unreasonable as applied to the work, then deceased's failure to comply with the rule would not render him guilty of contributory negligence, was not upon the weight of the evidence. Houston Belt & Terminal Ry. Co. v. Woods (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 372.

Where the court fully charged as to the issues of contributory negligence and assumption of risk, the giving at the request of the master of numerous special charges thereon held error as a comment on the weight of the evidence. Rutlin v. Trinity Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 584.

Instructions that plaintiff would be guilty of contributory negligence if his negligence concurred with negligence of the defendant in failing to discover and repair the defect, and that the jury should find for defendant if he failed to use ordinary care to inspect and discover the defects, held not on the weight of the evidence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Downs (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 714.

The court properly refused to charge that if the engineer saw plaintiff and increased the speed to prevent his getting on, and not with the intention to injure him, plaintiff could not recover, since, though the engineer was entitled to prevent unauthorized persons from getting on his engine, the court could not say, as a matter of law, that the increase of the speed, under such circumstances, was a prudent and proper method of accomplishing that end. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Wiley (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 356.

An instruction that if the walls of the excavation were not shored up, and if an ordinarily prudent person would not have left them unshored, that if such condition of the walls rendered the place where plaintiff worked not reasonably safe for work, and if a reasonably prudent person would have foreseen that the walls were likely to cave and injure him, and that if plaintiff was directed to work there and was injured as a proximate consequence of the walls falling, he could recover unless he assumed the risk, was not objectionable on the ground that it took from the jury the question of negligence by grouping certain facts and directing a finding for plaintiff if those facts were true. Marshall & E. T. Ry. Co. v. Blackburn (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 625.

201. —— Damages or amount of recovery.—Where the fact that grass destroyed by fire set out by a railroad had a market value was not disputed, a charge assuming that fact was not objectionable as a charge on the weight of evidence. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Ilse (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 564.

In proceedings to condemn land for a railroad right of way, an instruction held error, as assuming that the construction of a proposed depot and switches constituted a special benefit to defendant's land. Kirby v. Panhandle & G. Ry. Co., 39 C. A. 252, 88 S. W. 281.

An instruction held not on the weight of the evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Garrett (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 53.

An instruction that, if the jury found for plaintiff, they should allow him $442, held error. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 684.

An instruction authorizing nominal damages for wrongful attachment of partnership property by leaving notice with a partner held properly refused as on the weight of evidence. Seal v. Holcomb, 48 C. A. 330, 107 S. W. 916.

In a suit by a county against its judge and his sureties on his official bond, an instruction to find for plaintiff in a specified amount held erroneous, as upon the weight of the evidence. Lane v. Delta County (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 866.

An instruction directing the jury to adopt as their verdict the lowest estimate of plaintiff's damages made by any of the witnesses, was erroneous as being on the weight of the evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rich, 51 C. A. 312, 112 S. W. 114.

An instruction on permanent damage to land held not on the weight of the evidence. St. Louis, B. & M. Ry. Co. v. West (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 839.

An instruction to ascertain the amount of damages for negligent death in money, and to make that good, was erroneous as upon the weight of the evidence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Gullett (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 262.

A charge that, after stating other items of damage, instructs the jury to add the reasonable rental value of the use of the machines for the number of days detained, if any, as may be shown by the evidence, is not improper as a charge on the weight of the evidence, as the qualification, if any, must be held to refer to the value of the use as well as the time. Baldwin v. G. M. Davidson & Co. (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 716.

An instruction in eminent domain proceedings as to the various elements of damages to be considered in estimating the damage to the land is not objectionable as on the weight of the evidence. Beaumont & G. N. R. R. v. Elliott (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1125.

A charge that if feeding and watering plaintiff's cattle was made necessary by defendant's negligence in delaying shipment, if it did delay the cattle, then plaintiff, if he paid for the feeding, would be entitled to recover the sum paid, is not on the weight of the evidence as telling the jury that the delay was caused by defendant's negligence. St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Knox (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 902.

An instruction that if the jury find for a shipper of cattle his measure of damages is the difference between the market value at the time of arrival in the condition they were in and what would have been their value, had there been no delay or negligence, is not on the weight of the evidence. Id.

202. Preponderance of evidence.—An instruction defining "preponderance of evidence" held on the weight of evidence. Dallas Cotton Mills v. Ashley (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 160.

Where plaintiff's case was supported by his own testimony alone, and disproved by defendant's witnesses, an instruction defining "preponderance" held a comment on the weight of the evidence. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 1064.

An instruction that the burden was upon plaintiff to establish by preponderance the facts necessary to recover, but that did not mean that he was required to introduce a greater number of witnesses than defendant, but only that it was more probable that the truth upon the essential facts was with him than defendant, held erroneous as on the weight of the evidence. Wells Fargo & Co. Express v. Gentry (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 363.

203. Comments by judge on conduct or merits of cause or parties.—Facts held not to justify a court in characterizing defendant's defense a fraudulent scheme. Alexander v. Bank of Lebanon, 19 C. A. 620, 47 S. W. 840.

204. Determination of questions of law—Duty of judge.—Where a publication is libelous per se, the court should so charge. Houston Printing Co. v. Moulden, 15 C. A. 574, 41 S. W. 381.

The jury are exclusive judges of credibility of witnesses, but the law must be received by them from the court. Hart v. Menefee (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 854.

Plaintiff is entitled to instruction that, if defendant's driver caused collision by violating ordinance as to speed on right of way, whereby plaintiff was injured, he should recover. May v. Hahn, 22 C. A. 365, 54 S. W. 416.

In false imprisonment, held proper to instruct that vindictive damages could not be avoided under the evidence. Pincham v. Dick, 30 C. A. 230, 70 S. W. 333.

In trespass to try title held reversible error not to have instructed the jury that a certain void judgment against defendant for the recovery of the land did not interrupt limitations. Barrett v. McKinney (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 240.

In a suit to rescind a written contract of sale, it was the duty of the trial judge, if the case was not submitted on special issues, to construe the contract and advise the jury as to its legal effect. Blair v. Baird, 43 C. A. 134, 94 S. W. 116.

In an action for the death of defendant's servant, held that there was no error in instructing that failure of defendant's trainmen to use ordinary care would constitute negligence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Cotts (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 602.

An instruction that the servant did not assume the risks of the master's negligence held proper. Yellow Pine Oil Co. v. Noble (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 332.

The rule for ascertaining the sum to be awarded as damages for future impairment of earning capacity is one of law, of which the jury cannot be presumed to know, so that the court should carefully instruct thereon. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Beasley (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 183.

205. —— Submission to jury.—The court should not submit to the jury an inquiry as to what issues are presented by the pleadings (Bradshaw v. Mayfield, 24 T. 481; Dwyer v. Bassett, 63 T. 274; Austin City Water Co. v. Capital Ice Co., 1 App. C. C. § 1133), but should separate questions of law from questions of fact, instructing upon and submitting the latter to the jury. Rogers v. Broadnax, 24 T. 538; Patton v. Rucker, 29 T. 402; Railroad Co. v. Miller, 51 T. 270; T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Tankersley, 63 T. 57.

A charge on forgery of an officer's name to a policy failing to define forgery, and leaving to the jury to determine the signature of what officers were requisite to the validity of the policy, held properly refused. International Order of Twelve of the Knights and Daughters of Tabor v. Boswell (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 1108.

There is no error in submitting undisputed facts to the jury. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Cuniffe (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 692.

Instruction requested in a suit against a railroad for flooding plaintiff's land held properly refused, because submitting the question of the legal effect of a deed to the jury. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Maddox, 26 C. A. 297, 63 S. W. 134.

An instruction held erroneous, as submitting a question as to which there was no conflict in the evidence. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Lewis (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 1091.

In an action for injuries to a track hand, who was struck by a train, it was improper for the court to submit to the jury plaintiff's duty to use reasonable care to discover and avoid trains as an issue in the case. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Villareal, 36 C. A 532, 82 S. W. 1063.

In an action for injuries to a car inspector, an instruction that, if his failure to exercise ordinary care to ascertain whether the brakes were set before going between a car and the locomotive, etc., was negligence, he could not recover, held properly refused. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rea (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 428.

In an action for breach of contract, a request to charge held properly refused as submitting to the jury a question of law. Ben C. Jones & Co. v. Gammel-Statesman Pub. Co. (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 191.

An instruction on contributory negligence held not objectionable as submitting to the jury the question on whom the burden of proof of contributory negligence rested. Texas & N. O. Ry. Co. v. Conway, 44 C. A. 68, 98 S. W. 1070.

Failure to assume as true an undisputed fact is not error, where the charge does not authorize a finding against the complaining party if the fact is not found. Parham v. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co., 51 C. A. 511, 113 S. W. 154.

A charge held not objectionable as stating facts constituting contributory negligence as matter of law and leaving the question to the jury. Swift & Co. v. Martine, 53 C. A. 475, 117 S. W. 209.

A charge in trespass to try title held properly refused, as submitting a question of law as well as of fact. Wall v. Lubbock, 52 C. A. 405, 118 S. W. 886.

A charge held not objectionable as submitting as a disputed issue, a matter about which there was no controversy. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Coffee (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 638.

In an action for rent, an instruction held not objectionable as permitting the jury to construe the legal effect of letters attached to the petition. Sanborn v. E. R. Roach Drug Co. (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 182.

An instruction in an action on a contract which requires the jury to construe a contract which is for the court is properly refused. Magnolia Warehouse & Storage Co. v. Davis & Blackwell (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 670.

Where a bank and a compress company were jointly sued for fraud in a shipment of cotton, a request that the jury should not consider any evidence indicating a liability of the bank as against the compress company was properly refused as submitting the admissibility of the evidence to the jury. Wichita Falls Compress Co. v. W. L. Moody & Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1032.

206. Application of law to facts.—Charge as to the legal effect of a deed held not on the weight of evidence. Phœnix Ins. Co. v. Neal, 23 C. A. 427, 56 S. W. 91.

An instruction which applies the law to the very facts of the case is not objectionable. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. White, 23 C. A. 280, 56 S. W. 204.

Where the court submitted the facts which would constitute negligence, it should not have further submitted the legal conclusion whether such facts amounted to negligence. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Eddleman, 52 C. A. 181, 114 S. W. 425.

A trial judge should not be deprived of power to apply the law to the issues of a case and permitted only to give abstract dissertations on the law to be applied by the jury as they may see fit. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Lane (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 847.

In a suit for the negligent handling of cattle, a charge informing the jury of the care that devolved on defendant, and that if they had not exercised that care they would be guilty of negligence, held not to invade the domain of the jury. Id.

In an action against railroads on a shipment contract, the court properly instructed on the legal effect of telegrams. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Birge-Forbes Co. (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 3.

207. Instructions as to duties of jury.—An instruction held not to invade the province of the jury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rothenberg (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1157.

II. FORM, REQUISITES, AND SUFFICIENCY OF INSTRUCTIONS

(A) In General

208. Written instructions—Necessity of writing in general.—A verbal limitation on the purpose for which certain testimony was admitted, held sufficient without repeating it in the written instructions. D'Arrigo v. Texas Produce Co., 18 C. A. 41, 44 S. W. 531.

This article as amended by act of 1903 requires district and county judges to give a written charge in the absence of an express waiver by the parties. Sharman v. Newsome & Johnston, 46 C. A. 112, 101 S. W. 1021.

Under this article the court at the request of a party must charge in writing. Dalton v. Dalton (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 241.

While the act of 1903 (Acts 28th Leg. c. 39), amending this article makes it mandatory to give a charge in civil cases unless waived, the mere fact that such an amendment specifies that the charge be in writing adds nothing to the law on that subject, as article 1971 already provided that the charge should be in writing, so that decisions prior to such amendment are still applicable on the question whether the giving of an oral charge constitutes error. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

209. —— Requests for reduction to writing.—Under the act of 1903 the judge is required to give a written charge unless the same is expressly waived. Formerly he was not required to give a charge unless specially requested. Schwartzlose v. Nichlitz (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 68; S. A. & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Votaw, Id. 132.

Defendant held not entitled to complain on appeal of remarks of plaintiff's counsel; the jury having been orally instructed not to consider them, and no written instruction having been requested. American Cotton Co. v. Simmons, 39 C. A. 189, 87 S. W. 842.

210. —— Compliance with requirement as to writing in general.—A submission of special issues to the jury as authorized by Arts. 1985-1987, constitutes a "written charge," provided for by this article. Adams v. Burrell (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 581.

211. —— Signing.—The failure of the judge to sign his charge, which was filed and read to the jury, is not ground of reversal. Parker v. Chancellor, 78 T. 524, 15 S. W. 157.

212. —— Reading or delivery to jury.—The court should read the charge to the jury in the precise words in which it is written in a criminal case, as well as in a civil case, though this article is the only statute so requiring and refers to civil actions. Coley v. State (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 789.

213. Form and language in general.—In an action against a railroad company, an instruction, being unintelligible, is properly refused. Allen v. Texas Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 195.

214. —— Form and arrangement.—Failure of a court in modifying an instruction to so obliterate words stricken out that they could not be read by the jury held not error. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Votaw (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 130.

The general charge that the jury should find a verdict upon "a preponderance of the evidence under the foregoing charge," followed by defendant's special charges, was not erroneous as requiring the jury to find a verdict under the general charge alone, and to ignore the special charges. Brady v. Maddox (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 739.

Form of certain instructions held not erroneous. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Langston (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 334.

Failure to group in one charge three separate facts which each would defeat recovery held not reversible error. Sanders v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 718.

215. —— Language and punctuation.—See also post, § 423.

In an action for damages by the negligence of a telegraph company in transmitting a message, the use of the word "accurately" in portions of the charge held not error. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Odom, 21 C. A. 537, 52 S. W. 632.

Use of word "empower," in instruction with reference to authority conferred on executor by letter, held not misleading. Halsell v. Neal, 23 C. A. 26, 56 S. W. 137.

In an action for personal injuries, an instruction that mental and physical pain "must be considered" as elements of damages, instead of a charge that they "may be considered," is proper. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Jenkins, 29 C. A. 440, 69 S. W. 233.

In a personal injury suit, where it was in issue whether defendant street railway company's conductor compelled plaintiff and other boys to alight from a moving car, an instruction referring to language used by the conductor as an "order" held objectionable. Denison & S. Ry. Co. v. Carter (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 322.

An instruction that, in estimating the damages to property occasioned by the construction of a railroad in front of it, the jury "can" consider the purpose for which the property was used, was not erroneous. Boyer & Lucas v. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co., 97 T. 107, 76 S. W. 441.

Where the hand of a switchman was caught between two cars by defendant's negligence in "cornering" certain cars against the cars between which plaintiff was working, an instruction that, if "shoving" the cars in would not have made plaintiff's position more dangerous, he could not recover, held properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gearheart (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 325.

The use of the word "evidence," instead of the word "testimony," in an instruction directing the jury not to consider the evidence of certain witnesses, held not misleading. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Craig, 42 C. A. 486, 92 S. W. 1033.

In instructing as to measure of damages for breach of contract to furnish water for irrigation, court should charge that certain expenses "will" be deducted, rather than that they "may" be deducted. Barstow Irr. Co. v. Cleghon (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 1023.

An instruction in an action for personal injuries held not erroneous for the use of the word "approximately" instead of "proximately." Choctaw, O. & T. Ry. Co. v. McLaughlin, 43 C. A. 523, 96 S. W. 1091.

In an action for injuries to passenger on a freight train, the use of the word "employés" instead of the word "employé" in a charge held not erroneous. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Cruseturner, 44 C. A. 181, 98 S. W. 423.

Instruction that, "of course" if carrier did exercise ordinary care in shipment of cattle, the jury should find for the carrier, held not objectionable for use of the quoted phrase. St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Gunter, 44 C. A. 480, 99 S. W. 152.

An objection to an instruction dependent upon a mere matter of punctuation held not worthy of discussion. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Poteet, 53 C. A. 44, 115 S. W. 883.

In an action for the value of a mule, killed on defendant's track, the evidence showing that the gate latch was defective and one gate post was in bad condition, an instruction authorizing recovery if the mule entered the right of way because of defective "fence" was proper. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Jenkins (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 948.

In a will contest, where the issue was undue influence, the use of the word "fraudulent" by the court in connection with proponent's conduct was not error where no issue of fraud was submitted to the jury. Bradshaw v. Seaton (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 943.

In attorneys' action on an assignment of interest in their client's cause of action, held, that an instruction entitling them to judgment if the client had agreed to pay a part of the "recovery" was not confusing because of the use of the word "recovery." Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wood (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 487.

In action by attorneys upon their client's assignment of an interest in his cause of action, held, that the use of the term "employment" in referring to such interest was not misleading. Id.

An objection, in a personal injury action against a street car company that by using the plural term "agents" in an instruction, when the evidence showed that no one but the motorman could have been negligent, might lead the jury to believe that there was another agent, whose duty it was to stop the car, was without merit. Galveston Electric Co. v. Antonini (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 841.

216. —— Certainty, definiteness, and particularity.—A charge is sufficiently certain if it can be understood by a jury of ordinary intelligence. Railway Co. v. Wilson, 79 T. 371, 15 S. W. 280, 11 L. R. A. 486, 23 Am. St. Rep. 345.

The use of the abbreviation "etc.," in a charge enumerating the items of damage recoverable for personal injuries, is misleading and erroneous. Lodwick Lumber Co. v. Taylor, 39 C. A. 302, 87 S. W. 358.

In an action for death of plaintiff's intestate by being struck by defendant's train, an instruction requiring defendant's servants to exercise ordinary care in "all respects" in moving the train, etc., held objectionable. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Jackson, 41 C. A. 51, 90 S. W. 918.

The use of a word in an instruction, not so ambiguous as to mislead the jury, is not error. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Anglin, 45 C. A. 41, 99 S. W. 897.

The use of the abbreviation "etc." in a charge on damages held not to be commendable. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Chambers, 55 C. A. 331, 118 S. W. 851.

A charge in an action of trespass for burning a house held not error, though inaccurately worded. Wetzel v. Satterwhite (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 93.

In an injury action by a servant, a certain instruction held objectionable as ambiguous. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. De Bord (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 845.

217. —— Conjunctive and disjunctive charges.—Necessity of request, see post.

In action for injuries at railroad crossing, making verdict for defendant depend on its freedom from negligence and on plaintiff's contributory negligence held error. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Mathis (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 625.

An instruction on the issue of damages for an illegal distraint held erroneous, as allowing a recovery of damages, even if some of the grounds alleged in fact exist. Watson v. Boswell, 25 C. A. 379, 61 S. W. 407.

A charge that if, by reason of the improper heating of the defendant railway company's cars, plaintiff's wife and child were made sick, he was entitled to recover the expenses of their sickness, held erroneous as requiring the jury to find that both of them were sick as a condition precedent to plaintiff's right to recover. Duck v. St. Louis & S. W. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 891.

An instruction grouping together all the defenses conjunctively, and requiring the jury to find in favor of all of them, held error. Kershner v. Latimer (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 237.

Under a plea in a suit for rent claiming damages for the wrongful and unjust suing out of a distress warrant, it was error to refuse a charge that defendant could not recover unless the warrant was "illegally and unjustly sued out." Hurst v. Benson, 27 C. A. 227, 65 S. W. 76.

A requested instruction in an action by a servant for injuries, requiring a verdict for defendant unless all of certain specified negligent acts should be established, held properly refused. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Mortensen, 27 C. A. 106, 66 S. W. 99.

Instruction in an action against a carrier for failure to stop its train long enough for plaintiff to board it held to erroneously require jury to find concurrent contributory negligence and freedom of defendant from fault. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Anchonda (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 743.

Instruction in action by railroad telegrapher for injuries, requiring both freedom from negligence and evidence of contributory negligence to warrant finding for company, held error. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Jenkins, 29 C. A. 440, 69 S. W. 233.

An instruction, in action for death of a switchman, held erroneous, as authorizing a verdict for defendant only on the finding of two things, either of which was a defense. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hill, 29 C. A. 12, 70 S. W. 103.

In trespass to try title, a charge held not objectionable as authorizing a verdict for defendant only on the finding of two negative facts, either of which would be sufficient to defeat plaintiff's claim. Jones v. Wright (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 569.

Where plaintiff is entitled to recover if a part only of the facts alleged in the petition be found, held, a requested instruction to this effect should be given. Crowder v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas, 39 C. A. 314, 87 S. W. 166.

In an action for injuries to one struck by a locomotive, a portion of the charge held not erroneous on the theory that it made a failure to both look and listen a prerequisite to a finding of contributory negligence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Melville (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 863.

Defendants held entitled to a charge authorizing a finding on proof of either defense asserted by them. McDonald v. Nalle, 41 C. A. 499, 91 S. W. 632.

In an action for injuries to a conductor sustained in an attempted flying switch, the use of the word "and" instead of "or" in an instruction held not erroneous. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Still, 45 C. A. 169, 100 S. W. 176.

In an action for injury to brakeman, instructions held not erroneous as requiring verdict for plaintiff, unless he was both guilty of contributory negligence and assumed the risk. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Worcester, 45 C. A. 501, 100 S. W. 990.

The submission of several matters of defense conjunctively, so that the jury is seemingly required to believe all of them to have been established, is not reversible error. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Waldie (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 517.

In an action for injuries to a servant, it was not error to use "and," instead of "or," in a charge that if plaintiff was not guilty of contributory negligence, and did not assume the risk, he could recover. P. E. Schow & Bros. v. McCloskey (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 386.

Instruction in an action for injury to a pedestrian while passing between cars, while authorizing a verdict for the railroad if it proved both acts of contributory negligence therein specified, held not to authorize a recovery by the plaintiff if the railroad failed to prove both. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 758.

Instruction in an action on a liquor dealer's bond held not calculated to mislead the jury to conclude that both phases of plaintiff's case must be established to justify a verdict for her. Farenthold v. Tell, 52 C. A. 110, 113 S. W. 635.

An instruction held not objectionable as requiring both a finding of assumed risk and contributory negligence to prevent a recovery by a servant. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Plummer, 57 C. A. 563, 122 S. W. 942.

In a suit for personal injury based on defendant's negligence, a charge coupling culpable acts of negligence with the conjunction "and" held more onerous on plaintiff than necessary. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Mayfield (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 141.

Where plaintiff seeks to recover damages for injuries to his cattle in transportation, and also expenses incurred in holding the cattle for the arrival of stock cars at the point of shipment, an instruction giving the elements of the damages recoverable for delay in shipping the cattle, and also allowing the jury to take into account any reasonable and necessary expense which the evidence may show was incurred by plaintiff in holding and caring for the cattle while awaiting the arrival of the cars, is erroneous because authorizing a recovery of all damages resulting both from failure to furnish cars and for delay in transportation, though the jury might find differently on the two issues. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Noelke (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 969.

In an action against a railroad company for injuries by emitting steam from an engine near a street crossing so as to frighten plaintiff's horse, a charge held not objectionable for requiring a finding that plaintiff did the several acts named in order to make him guilty of contributory negligence, when each of such acts was negligence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Mitchell (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 876.

In an action by a passenger for injuries from defendant's negligence, the negligence alleged consisted in failing to properly light the coach in which he was riding, in failing to keep the passways and aisles thereof free from obstructions, so improperly operating its trains as to cause sudden and unusual lurches, and in allowing banana peelings to remain on the floor of said passways, upon which he fell causing his injuries. The court charged that if the jury believed from the evidence that defendant was guilty of negligence in the operation of its train, or its failure to have sufficient light in the passenger coach, or in leaving or permitting a banana peeling, causing plaintiff to slip thereon, whereby he was thrown against said car and down upon said floor, and that said negligence did approximately and directly cause injuries to plaintiff described in his petition, they should find for plaintiff, unless plaintiff himself was guilty of negligence in not discovering and avoiding said obstructions which contributed to his injuries. Held that, as from plaintiff's allegations his injuries might have resulted from any one of the negligent acts alleged, the instruction was not erroneous for failing to make his recovery dependent upon the concurrence of all the negligent acts alleged. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Swift (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 450.

An instruction on contributory negligence held not objectionable in using the conjunctive, instead of the disjunctive, in enumerating several acts of contributory negligence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Pool (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 641.

An instruction in an action for injuries to live stock held erroneous for charging several acts of negligence in the conjunctive. Guinn v. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 63.

In an action for injuries from being pushed from a train, an instruction, submitting whether the conductor met the plaintiff on the platform or steps, held improper as submitting an immaterial issue in the alternative. Quigley v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 633.

An instruction that defendant city was not liable if the street in question was reasonably safe for travel, or if the city exercised ordinary care to maintain it in a safe condition, held not defective as a double charge in favor of the city. Gutzman v. City of Ft. Worth (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1182.

In a personal injury action where the defense of contributory negligence was raised, a charge submitting the various elements of contributory negligence held not erroneous as charging that they must all exist in order to find for defendant. United States Express Co. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 617.

218. Repetition.—Construction of charge as a whole, see post, 424–434.

Undue prominence to particular matter in general, see post, 248–252.

Charge should not give undue prominence to particular facts by the repetition of charges relating thereto. Gray v. Burk, 19 T. 228; Heldt v. Webster, 60 T. 207; Frisby v. Withers, 61 T. 134; Medlin v. Wilkins, 60 T. 409; Traylor v. Townsend, 61 T. 144. The mere repetition in a charge of an abstract principle of law is not a ground of reversal. H. & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Larkin, 64 T. 454; I. & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Leak, 64 T. 654. Also see Continental Ins. Co. v. Pruitt, 65 T. 126; Hays v. Hays, 66 T. 606, 1 S. W. 895.

The giving of correct special instructions on points covered by the general charge is not ground of reversal. Continental Ins. Co. v. Pruitt, 65 T. 126; McBride v. Banguss, 65 T. 174. It is not error to give special charges containing a "more specific description" and a fuller and more particular explanation than are contained in the general charge. Martin-Brown Co. v. Wainscott, 66 T. 131, 1 S. W. 264.

It is error to repeat an issue in several instructions so as to give it undue prominence. Lee v. Yandell, 69 T. 34, 6 S. W. 665; Railway Co. v. Douglas, 73 T. 325, 11 S. W. 333; Railway Co. v. Johnson, 75 T. 158, 12 S. W. 482; Railway Co. v. Williams, 75 T. 4, 12 S. W. 835; Railway Co. v. Dyer, 76 T. 156, 13 S. W. 377; Same v. Harriett, 80 T. 73, 15 S. W. 556; Smith v. Bank, 82 T. 368, 17 S. W. 779; Chisum v. Chesnutt (Civ. App.) 36 S. W. 758; Willis v. Strickland, 50 S. W. 159; Highland v. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co., 65 S. W. 649; Redmond v. Sherman Cotton Mills, 100 S. W. 186; Stringfellow v. Braselton, 117 S. W. 204.

Ordinarily the repetition in a charge of the elements of damage which the jury may consider will not require a reversal of a judgment rendered against the defendant; but when the verdict seems excessive, a reasonable presumption arises that the jury may have been influenced thereby. Railway Co. v. Gordon, 70 T. 80, 7 S. W. 695.

Repeated or additional charges are objectionable only when undue prominence is given to one phase of the case to the prejudice of a party. Ratto v. Bluestein, 84 T. 57, 19 S. W. 338; Railway Co. v. Hudson, 77 T. 494, 14 S. W. 158.

The repetition of a charge when not requested by a party is not error. Miller v. Sullivan, 14 C. A. 112, 33 S. W. 695.

Repetition of words "preponderance of evidence," in charging jury in personal injury case that plaintiff must so prove each item of negligence relied on, held not error. Martin v. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 1011.

Frequent repetitions of principles of law by the court in charging the jury held not ground for reversal. Brady v. Georgia Home Ins. Co., 24 C. A. 464, 59 S. W. 914.

An instruction on contributory negligence, applicable to other special charges, but given in connection with a charge relating to "proximate cause," was not thereby rendered erroneous. Sherman, S. & S. Ry. Co. v. Eaves, 25 C. A. 409, 61 S. W. 550.

Where requested charges have been fully covered in the general charge, they should be refused, as otherwise undue prominence will be given the issue to which they refer. Smith v. Gulf, W. T. & P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 83.

In an action to recover purchase money of land and foreclose a vendor's lien, held error to reiterate and give undue prominence in the charge to certain propositions of law. Cross v. Kennedy (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 318.

The reiterating, in instructions, the law applicable to the issue of contributory negligence, held erroneous, as giving it undue prominence. Kroeger v. Texas & P. Ry. Co., 30 C. A. 87, 69 S. W. 809.

In an action for damages for false representations on the sale of personalty, the burden of proof being on plaintiff, it was not error to repeat in the charges the rule of law as to the burden. Von Boeckmann v. Loepp (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 849.

The issue of contributory negligence being submitted only generally by the main charge, and the special charge submitting it in connection with the very facts on which defendant relies, held, that there is no undue repetition in reference to it. Anderson v. Jefferson Cotton Oil & Refining Co., 32 C. A. 288, 74 S. W. 342.

A repetition in the instructions of the rule as to preponderance of the evidence held not to mislead the jury. Sonka v. Sonka (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 325.

Repetition of a statement in a charge held not to give undue prominence thereto. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Sage (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 1038.

In an action for injuries to a passenger, the fact that the court twice defined the term "negligence" in its charge was not prejudicial to defendant. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Warren (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 26.

In an action for injuries to a passenger, a requested charge held not objectionable as being a repetition of an instruction given. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Harrington, 44 C. A. 386, 98 S. W. 653.

In a suit to set aside certain deeds, an instruction held not objectionable as involving undue repetition. London v. Crow, 46 C. A. 190, 102 S. W. 177.

In an action for injuries to a passenger while alighting from defendant's train, instructions held objectionable for repetition. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dunbar, 49 C. A. 12, 108 S. W. 500.

Instructions, each presenting facts to some extent different from the others, are not subject to objection as constituting unnecessary repetition. Central City Loan & Investment Co. v. Vincent (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 912.

In a will contest, a charge held not on the weight of evidence as giving undue prominence to a certain phrase repeated in several paragraphs of the charge. Gallagher v. Neilon (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 564.

Special charges on separate and distinct issues made by the pleadings and evidence, each of which group the facts on which plaintiff relies to have the issue it submitted decided in his favor, and which correctly instruct the jury, if such group of facts is proved, as to the law applicable to the issue presented by the special charge, are not obnoxious to the objection that the repetition of charges as to the law applicable to a particular part of the evidence is calculated to lead the jury to believe that such evidence was controlling as to the issue, and constituted a comment on the weight of the evidence. Posener v. Harvey (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 356.

In an action against a carrier for death of a passenger, certain special charges held improperly given. Sizemore v. St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 1024.

It is better not to repeat an instruction on the measure of damages. Continental Oil & Cotton Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1178.

The giving of special charges presenting, in different language, the law of the general charge, held ground for reversal in specified cases. Pettithory v. Clarke & Courts (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 989.

The court having previously charged on the burden of proof and the preponderance of the evidence, it was error to emphasize such questions by giving additional special instructions. State v. Haley (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 1003.

Repeating in the charge given at defendant's request, and in each paragraph thereof, the fact of the burden of proof being on plaintiff, when the law thereon had been fully set forth in the court's charge, was unnecessary, and, perhaps, injurious to plaintiff. Maibaum v. Bee Candy Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 313.

Certain instructions held to submit distinct propositions to the jury so as not to be open to the objection that they constituted a repetition of the same matter in such a way as to mislead the jury. Delancey v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 259.

Where a party asks more than one charge on the same subject, and the court selects and gives one of them, he cannot complain of the refusal of the others. City of Greenville v. Branch (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 478.

Where a case was submitted on special issues, repetitions made in connection with certain issues, where it was proper for an understanding by the jury of the character of proof necessary in delivering such issues, and such repetition was not calculated to unduly impress the jury that the court was impressed with the idea that a certain party ought to recover, cannot be complained of. Wood v. Dean (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 363.

A requested instruction which is an undue repetition in respect to the burden of proof is properly refused. Galveston, H. & H. R. Co. v. Hodnett (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 678.

Where the court charged abstractly upon defendant's theory of defense, the giving of a special charge presenting the rule of law in connection with the concrete facts was not improper as undue repetition. Jones v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App. 157 S. W. 213.

219. Sufficiency as to subject-matter in general.—Charge should avoid the statement of unnecessary matter. T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Scott, 64 T. 549.

Instruction asked by defendant examined, and held properly refused. Borchers v. Mead, 17 C. A. 32, 43 S. W. 300.

On an issue as to the identity of plaintiffs' ancestor, it was error to require the jury to find immaterial facts concerning his life and actions as the basis of such identity. Smith v. Davis, 18 C. A. 563, 47 S. W. 101.

That an instruction is limited to one item of damages is not error, when the other items are submitted in following instructions. Graves v. Hillyer (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 889.

A charge tending to restrain jurymen from agreeing upon a verdict is properly refused. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Choate, 22 C. A. 618, 56 S. W. 214.

An instruction in an action by a passenger against a railroad company for injury in being thrown from his train by a sudden jerk considered and held not objectionable as authorizing a recovery on two theories. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Gray (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 316.

On an issue as to whether certain land was the community property of husband and wife, the court held not to have been required to instruct the jury how, in what manner, and what character of funds must have been acquired in order to make it community property. York v. Hilger (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 1117.

Instructions in an action for burning over land held to require separate consideration of the value of sod and grass destroyed. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gilbert (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 836.

In an action for injuries to a servant while operating a dangerous machine, an instruction held not objectionable for failure to explain to the jury what plaintiff's duties were under the pleadings and the entire evidence. Friedrich v. Geisler (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1079.

In an action for the death of a servant, an instruction held not misleading because blending the law of assumed risk and contributory negligence. Paris & G. N. R. Co. v. Boston (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 944.

In an action by an injured servant, the question of assumption of risk is properly excluded from a charge dealing wholly with the measure of damages. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Swilling (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 696.

220. —— Instructions as to duties of jury.—A charge on the form of verdict held not objectionable as misleading the jury to believe that they were not free, if they disagreed, to refuse to find for either party. Southworth v. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 861.

221. —— Definition of terms.—A definition of "actual settler" in an instruction held correct. Payton v. Love, 20 C. A. 613, 49 S. W. 1109.

An instruction in an action on a life policy held to contain a sufficient definition of serious illness. Woodmen of the World v. Locklin, 28 C. A. 486, 67 S. W. 331.

An instruction, in an action by a servant for personal injuries, defining ordinary care, held not erroneous. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith, 30 C. A. 336, 70 S. W. 789.

Definition of an abstract of title, in the court's charge, held substantially correct. Hollifield v. Landrum, 31 C. A. 187, 71 S. W. 979.

In an action for injuries to a servant, an instruction held not a proper definition of proximate cause. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Paschall, 41 C. A. 357, 92 S. W. 446.

A definition of conversion as the turning or applying of property of another to one's own use held proper as applied to the facts of the case. Crow v. Ball (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 583.

In an action to charge a principal with an agreement made by his agent, an instruction defining the term "agency" held not improper. Heard v. Clegg (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1145.

In a suit to restrain the collection of taxes on bank stock, an instruction that true cash market value or real value of a commodity such as bank stock or land is the amount of cash for which such commodity can be bought or sold in due course of trade held not objectionable for failing to make a distinction between the cash market value and the real value of property. Porter v. Langley (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1042.

A charge, submitting the question whether a testatrix was under undue influence "at or before the time of the execution of the will" to such an extent as to induce her to make a disposition different from what she would have made had she been left free, correctly defined undue influence at the time of the execution of the will. Holt v. Guerguin (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 581.

222. —— Statutory actions.—Where the court substantially follows Art. 6495 in his charge, there is no error in giving the same, in a suit against a railway company for damages by obstruction of water way. Taylor v. S. A. & A. P. Ry. Co., 36 C. A. 658, 83 S. W. 746.

It is not error in a proper case to give a charge that it is negligence for a railroad company to disregard Art. 6495. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Rollins (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 1100. Same v. Selman (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 1102.

In an action by a trustee in bankruptcy against the bankrupt to set aside conveyances to his wife as in fraud of creditors, a charge that if on or about the date of the conveyances the bankrupt owed debts, and that the conveyances were made by him without intent to delay, hinder, or defraud his creditors, plaintiff should recover, being in the terms of the statute, was not erroneous because couched in general language, without explanation or qualification. Maffi v. Stephens, 49 C. A. 354, 108 S. W. 1008.

223. —— Codefendants.—In an action for injuries to an electric lineman against two electric companies and the receiver of one of them, an instruction impliedly authorizing a recovery against all, if all of the defendants did not use care to see that the electricity was cut off, held error. Dallas Electric Co. v. Mitchell, 33 C. A. 424, 76 S. W. 935.

In an action to set aside deeds where the issue of fraud was predicated on collusion between certain defendants, an instruction to find for such defendants, unless such collusion existed, was proper. Evart v. Dalrymple (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 223.

In a personal injury action against a railway company and an express company, held error to omit to authorize recovery against the latter alone. Wells Fargo & Co. v. McIntyre (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1196.

224. Statement of issues.—An instruction held not erroneous for failing to call attention to defensive matter pleaded in the answer. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. De Ham (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 395.

In an action for damages for death from alleged negligence, it is unnecessary for the court, in the preliminary part of its charge, to state the substance of the matter pleaded by either party. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Smith, 24 C. A. 127, 57 S. W. 999.

There being several issues of negligence, a charge that, if the jury found defendant railroad used improved spark arresters and exercised care to prevent escape of sparks, a finding for defendants "on that issue" only should be had, held proper. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. v. Ilse (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 564.

In an action against a carrier for personal injuries, the trial court did not err in failing to call the jury's attention to the amount claimed for expenses of medical services and nursing. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Sampson (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 692.

The court, in charging the jury, held not required to make a brief presentation of the issues raised by the pleadings as a preface to the law embodied in the charge. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Hitzfelder, 24 C. A. 318, 66 S. W. 707.

A requested charge that the jury should not consider the plea of want of consideration should be given; there being no evidence under it, but merely under the plea of insanity. First Nat. Bank v. McGinty, 29 C. A. 539, 69 S. W. 495.

Failure of the court to inform the jury that the issues submitted were "so nominated" in the petition is not ground for exception. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Karrer (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 328.

In an action by a servant against a master for injuries, an instruction held not erroneous because of court's failure to charge on assumed risk. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Walker (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 228.

The court should evoke from the pleadings the issues of fact, and submit such issues to the jury. Bering Mfg. Co. v. Femelat, 35 C. A. 36, 79 S. W. 869.

In an action for injuries to a section hand, who was struck by defendant's train, it was not error for the court, in submitting the issues, to treat two allegations of negligence in different counts as a single proposition. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Villareal, 36 C. A. 532, 82 S. W. 1063.

An instruction, in an action to recover money paid, that it was immaterial whether defendants had been paid too much or too little for services rendered, held not error. Phelps, Dodge & Co. v. Miller (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 218.

An instruction stating the nature of the suit and the names of the parties held not prejudicial in failing to name all the parties. Gipson v. Morris, 36 C. A. 593, 83 S. W. 226.

A charge submitting the substance of the issues made by the pleadings and evidence, sufficiently conforms to the rule, requiring instructions to conform to the pleadings. International Harvester Co. v. Campbell, 43 C. A. 421, 96 S. W. 93.

In an action for divorce an instruction held not objectionable for failure to specify the material allegations of plaintiff's petition. Barrow v. Barrow (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 120.

Statement of issue submitted by instruction. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Harris, 45 C. A. 542, 101 S. W. 506.

In stating the allegations of pleading, the charge should give their substance correctly. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Walters, 49 C. A. 71, 107 S. W. 369.

An instruction held erroneous for misstating the defense. Earnest v. Waggoner, 49 C. A. 298, 108 S. W. 495.

In an action for breach of contract, the court's charge should be so drawn as to identify the contract sued on, and confine the jury in its deliberation to the issues whether such contract was made, whether it was broken, and the damage from its breach. Fordtran v. Stowers, 52 C. A. 226, 113 S. W. 631.

In an action against two defendants who pleaded separate defenses, the court, in its statement of the defenses in its charge, should correctly inform the jury as to the issues separately made by each defendant. Baldwin v. Self, 52 C. A. 509, 114 S. W. 427.

The court need not state the entire pleadings in the instructions. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Garcia, 54 C. A. 59, 117 S. W. 206.

To avoid the probability of misleading the jury, they should not be instructed that all other issues raised by the pleadings, other than those submitted, are withdrawn from their consideration. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Graves, 57 C. A. 395, 122 S. W. 458.

A charge held to sufficiently state the issue. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gilbert (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1145.

An instruction was not erroneous for assuming that the jury understood that the issues to be determined were those submitted by the court. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Bowles (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1176.

In instructing, it is proper to define the issues as disclosed by the pleadings. Goodwin v. Biddy (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 739.

225. —— Referring jury to pleadings.—The charge should embrace all matters necessary to a proper understanding of the case, without referring to the pleadings. T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Tankersley, 63 T. 57; Austin City Water Co. v. Capital City Ice Co., 1 App. C. C. § 1133.

It is improper, in a charge, to refer the jury to the petition for the acts of negligence on which plaintiff bases his action. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rogers (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 849.

The court should ordinarily inform the jury of the issues to be tried, instead of referring them to the pleadings. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. De Ham (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 395; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Mortensen, 27 C. A. 106, 66 S. W. 99.

Instruction, in an action for personal injuries, eliminating issues, except one, set forth in the complaint, held not misleading. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Parvin, 27 C. A. 60, 64 S. W. 1008.

Where the issues are defined in the instructions, stating defendant's case in an action by a servant for injuries, it is harmless error to refer the jury to the petition to determine the negligent acts of plaintiff in issue. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Mortensen, 27 C. A. 106, 66 S. W. 99.

An instruction referring the jury to the petition to ascertain the acts of negligence charged was not error, in the absence of a request for a more specific charge. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Harrison, 32 C. A. 368, 73 S. W. 38.

Though, ordinarily, referring the jury to the pleadings for the issues might not be reversible error, it is a practice not to be encouraged, as the issues made thereby are a question of law for the court, and should be so determined and presented in the charge. Houston Electric Co. v. Nelson, 34 C. A. 72, 77 S. W. 978.

Referring the jury to the petition for further particulars as to plaintiff's contention, after reciting the substance of plaintiff's cause of action, held not error. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Swift (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 450.

An instruction held not objectionable as referring the jury to the pleadings to ascertain the issues. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Addis (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 955.

In a personal injury action held not reversible error to refer the jury to defendant's pleadings to ascertain what acts of contributory negligence were charged. Freeman v. McElroy (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 428.

226. —— Conflicting issues and grounds of verdict.—Where the evidence leaves it doubtful whether a partial location of a certificate was for the benefit of one or two joint owners, an instruction on their rights in either event is proper. Estell v. Kirby (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 8.

In action against railroad for injury to employé on two grounds of negligence, submission of one ground separately from the other in charging the jury held not error. Galveston, H. & S. Ry. Co. v. McAdams, 37 C. A. 575, 84 S. W. 1076.

In an action for injuries by reason of a defective tool, a charge presenting propositions of negligence in furnishing the defective tool "and" in failing to warn held proper. Wood v. Texas Cotton Produce Co. (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 496.

Where the negligence of a railroad company in having a defective car floor concurs with negligence in furnishing incompetent fellow servants, both being separately alleged in the petition, the issue of negligence in having the defective floor may be submitted without reference to the negligence of the fellow servant since defendant was responsible for such defect, even though not liable for the acts of the fellow servant. Freeman v. Grashel (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 695.

227. Evidence and matters of fact in general.—It is not error for the court to instruct the jury in trespass to try title to find for that party in whom the undisputed written evidence shows that the title is vested. Edwards v. Barwise, 69 T. 84, 6 S. W. 677; Railway Co. v. Cornell, 84 T. 541, 19 S. W. 703; McFadden v. Schill, 84 T. 77, 19 S. W. 368.

Requisites of charge on evidence of malice. Behee v. Railway Co., 71 T. 424, 9 S. W. 449; Tynburg v. Cohen, 67 T. 220, 2 S. W. 734; Railway Co. v. Moore, 69 T. 157, 6 S. W. 631; Frank v. Tatum (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 900.

Written instrument, construction of. Robinson v. Jones, 22 S. W. 15, 2 C. A. 316; Railway Co. v. Prickryl (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 855; Campbell v. Goodwin (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 864; Railway Co. v. Osborne (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 274.

An instruction authorizing the jury to consider such evidence as they deemed proper held erroneous. Calisher v. Mathias (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 265.

An instruction relating to proof of negligence of a telegraph company in transmitting a message held properly refused. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Odom, 21 C. A. 537, 52 S. W. 632.

The charge in an action for conversion held bad in not referring the jury to the evidence as to the value of the property. Lee v. McDonnell, 31 C. A. 468, 72 S. W. 612.

In an action by a railroad employé 18 years of age for personal injuries sustained by catching his hand between a barrel and a moving car, an instruction as to the duties imposed on plaintiff held proper. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Johnson, 50 C. A. 147, 109 S. W. 486.

In trespass to try title to property conveyed to plaintiff by defendant by a deed absolute on its face, where defendant claimed that the deed was intended as a mortgage of homestead property and was void, and asked to have it canceled, a charge as to what the parties must prove held insufficient and erroneous, as the jury should have been instructed as to the effect of the deed to plaintiff. Irvin v. Johnson, 56 C. A. 492, 120 S. W. 1085.

Where the charge, though correctly stating the law, does not apply it to the evidence, held a party is entitled to have given a requested charge so doing. Belton Oil Co. v. Duncan (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 884.

An instruction held not erroneous in the use of the word "testimony," instead of the word "evidence," where the entire evidence in the case consisted of testimony. Black v. Brooks (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 177.

In trespass to try title a charge submitting evidence on the issue of estoppel held too broad. Bender v. Brooks (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 653.

In an action against a railroad company and another for damages for an assault by such other on plaintiff while a passenger, where the evidence showed that the trainmen were informed of a former assault upon plaintiff and of plaintiff's belief that another assault was intended, a charge that the jury should consider that part of the testimony relating to the prior attempt to assault plaintiff only as against the other defendant, and they could not consider it as evidence against the company, was erroneous as calculated to lead the jury to reject such evidence on the issue of whether the company should have anticipated the assault. Twichell v. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 243.

In an action against a railway company for delay in carrying cattle, an instruction on the part of defendant held properly refused. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Graves & Patterson (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 613.

In an action on a benefit certificate, the refusal to direct the jury to find that answers of the applicant were false so as to avoid the certificate held erroneous. Knights of Maccabees of the World v. Hunter, 103 T. 612, 132 S. W. 116.

A charge, in an action for injuries to a passenger while alighting, held objectionable for not requiring a finding that acts of the passenger stated were negligent. Renfro v. Texas Cent. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 820.

Instruction that the evidence was to be considered in its entirety, no matter by which side adduced, held improper. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hall (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 445.

228. —— Stating, grouping or summarizing facts or evidence.—Parts of testimony should not be grouped together in the charge. Railway Co. v. Kutac, 76 T. 473, 13 S. W. 327.

In action for injuries at crossing, an instruction directing attention to the question of the negligence of defendant's employé in failing to signal was proper. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Knight (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 167.

Where defendant, in its plea of contributory negligence, stated no facts showing negligence, it is not entitled to an instruction grouping the evidence on such issue. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Parker, 20 C. A. 470, 49 S. W. 717.

Charges grouping facts tending to establish a defense should be given when requested. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Carruth (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 1036.

Instruction authorizing finding for plaintiff, in case she used ordinary care, held sufficient, without a statement that certain circumstances called for additional care. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Oslin, 26 C. A. 370, 63 S. W. 1039.

Failure of the court, in an action against a railroad for death resulting from the derailment of a train, to mention spreading rails and loose spikes in a charge reciting the facts alleged by plaintiff, held not error. Johnson v. Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co., 27 C. A. 616, 66 S. W. 906.

In an action for injuries caused by the falling of a hand car, it was not error to refer to it in the instructions as of great weight. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Jennings, 36 C. A. 375, 81 S. W. 822.

In an action for injuries to a brakeman by derailment at a derailing switch, an instruction held to properly group the facts constituting defendant's defense, and was improperly refused. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Arnold, 39 C. A. 161, 87 S. W. 173.

Stating warranties according to their substance and effect, in submitting the issue of their breach, held sufficient. San Antonio Machine & Supply Co. v. Josey (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 598.

In an action against a railroad company for a nuisance, an instruction held objectionable as submitting defendant railroad company's responsibility for the alleged nuisance without a statement of facts showing such responsibility. McFadden v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 41 C. A. 350, 92 S. W. 989.

On the issue of plaintiff's contributory negligence, defendant is entitled to a charge grouping the facts pertinent to the issue and leaving it to the jury to say whether they existed. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Cotts (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 602.

In an action for injuries caused by being struck by a motor car, evidence held to call for the giving of a specific instruction as to contributory negligence grouping the facts shown. Northern Texas Traction Co. v. Nelson (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 846.

While it is safer not to group the facts and charge upon them, if a charge is allowed in that form which presents the theory of the evidence of one of the parties, it should contain all material facts. St. Louis, B. & M. Ry. Co. v. Droddy (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 902.

An instruction in an action on a note held not objectionable as grouping parts of the testimony to be considered on the issue in the case. Greenberg v. Taub (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 556.

In an action to set aside fraudulent conveyances, an instruction purporting to state the facts necessary to a finding for plaintiff held erroneous. Stone v. Stitt, 56 C. A. 465, 121 S. W. 187.

A litigant held entitled to have the facts of his cause of action or defense so clearly and affirmatively grouped as to present the very matter upon which he relies for the determination of the jury. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Timmons (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 376.

A defendant has the right to have the facts constituting his defense grouped and presented by a request in proper form, fairly presenting the issues raised. Barnes v. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co., 103 T. 387, 128 S. W. 367.

A party held entitled to a special charge applying the general law stated in the general charge to the particular facts relied on. Pettithory v. Clarke & Courts (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 989.

Requested instruction held not to be one undertaking to group and submit the facts upon which defendant relied to substantiate his plea of contributory negligence. Staten v. Monroe (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 222.

229. —— Directing verdict if the jury believes the evidence.—Where, in an action for the price of lumber rejected by defendants, there was evidence that a request by plaintiff that defendant sell the same for the best price obtainable was not conditioned on the lumber's failing to comply with the contract, the refusal of defendant's requested instruction that, if the evidence was true, plaintiff could not recover the contract price, was error. J. H. Summers & Sons v. Cavin (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 690.

230. —— Directing verdict if specified facts are proved.—It is proper to require the jury to find whether the evidence establishes the existence of any specified group of facts which, if true, in law will either establish or defeat the action. Ruby v. Von Valkenberg, 72 T. 459, 10 S. W. 514; Railway Co. v. Burnett, 80 T. 536, 16 S. W. 320; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Buch, 27 C. A. 283, 65 S. W. 681; St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Byers (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 558; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Bulger, 35 C. A. 478, 80 S. W. 557; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Roth, 37 C. A. 610, 84 S. W. 1112; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. White (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 71; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Kiersey (Sup.) Id. 744; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Cade (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 124; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Mason, 44 C. A. 627, 99 S. W. 186; Texas Mexican Ry. Co. v. Higgins, 44 C. A. 523, 99 S. W. 200; Greenberg v. Taub (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 556.

In a charge upon contributory negligence it is error for the court to submit certain facts in evidence as constituting contributory negligence if found by the jury. Railway Co. v. Dyer, 76 T. 156, 13 S. W. 377.

It is reversible error for a court to group certain facts in a case and instruct the jury if they find these facts to be true they will constitute negligence. Ball v. City of El Paso, 23 S. W. 835, 5 C. A. 221.

In action against railroad company for personal injuries, charge requiring verdict for defendant in case certain facts were found to be true held properly refused. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Hamilton (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 797.

In an action for personal injuries sustained while jumping from a car while loading it, an instruction held erroneous, as requiring the jury to find that certain acts enumerated, if found, were the proximate cause of the injury. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Bryant, 30 C. A. 4, 66 S. W. 804.

Charge on issue of exemplary damages in an action for conversion should require the jury to find the facts alleged as a basis therefor, or else to find for defendant thereon. Lee v. McDonnell, 31 C. A. 468, 72 S. W. 612.

An instruction authorizing the jury to find for plaintiff, if they find the facts alleged in his petition, held erroneous. Bering Mfg. Co. v. Femelat, 35 C. A. 36, 79 S. W. 869.

In an action by plaintiff to set aside a judgment rendered against him, setting aside a deed to him, an instruction as to what facts would have rendered the judgment an adjudication after a fair trial held erroneous. Johnson v. Johnson, 38 C. A. 385, 85 S. W. 1023.

In an action for injuries to an employé, an instruction, authorizing a recovery if he did not know that the machinery was defective, held not prejudicial to him. Thompson v. Planters' Compress Co., 48 C. A. 235, 106 S. W. 470.

In an action for injuries to an employé, a charge that he could not recover if he knew at the time that the machinery was defective held proper. Id.

231. —— Restricting jury to evidence.—In an action for servant's injuries, defendant failed to show error in charge restricting apparent danger to circumstances of petition, where it failed to show any other circumstances affecting the question. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Kelly, 98 T. 123, 80 S. W. 79.

In an action for the death of a servant, an instruction held not erroneous as permitting the jury to enter a field of conjecture as to defendant's negligence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Oram (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 1029.

In an action for personal injuries, an instruction held not objectionable as failing to require the jury to consider the evidence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Garber (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 742.

A charge on the burden of proof held required to confine the jury to the issues and the evidence. Southern Badge Co. v. Smith (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 185.

232. —— Misstatements.—A charge purporting to submit a combination of facts necessary to a right of recovery, and omitting any essential fact, is erroneous. Willoughby v. Townsend, 18 C. A. 724, 45 S. W. 861.

In an action on insurance policy, verbal variance in court's charge from the conditions of the policy held not misleading. Woodall v. Pacific Mut. Life Ins. Co. (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 1090.

In an action on a contract for the repair of a well, the addition by the court of certain language to the contract in an instruction held improper. Pilot Point Waterworks v. Fisher, 43 C. A. 28, 93 S. W. 529.

A charge which misstates the facts, so that the jury could not and did not reach a verdict based on the facts of the case, is erroneous. Downey v. Dennis (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 667.

233. —— Presumptions and burden of proof.—To instruct the jury if they "believe from the evidence that there were in existence, more than thirty years ago, deeds from R. to S., and from S. to D., to the land described in the petition, and that D. claimed said land and held possession thereof, either by himself or by a tenant, under said deeds, and paid taxes on said land, then you are authorized to presume that said deeds were executed by said R. and S.," is not error. Jackson v. Deslonde, 1 U. C. 674.

Burden of proof. Railway Co. v. Taylor, 79 T. 104, 14 S. W. 918, 23 Am. St. Rep. 316; Blum v. Strong, 71 T. 321, 6 S. W. 167.

On the issue of negligence the following charge was held to be proper: "If you believe from the evidence that the plaintiff became ill after leaving defendant's train, the burden of proof is on the plaintiff to prove that the sickness of his wife resulted from defendant's act in requiring her to get off the train and not from other causes, and if plaintiff has failed to do this you will find for the defendant." Railway Co. v. Head, 4 App. C. C. § 210, 15 S. W. 504; Clark v. Hills, 67 T. 141, 2 S. W. 356; Railway Co. v. Burnes, 71 T. 479, 9 S. W. 467.

The following charge was held correctly given: "When it is said in the charge that the burden of proof as to particular facts is on this or that party, and that the fact must be shown by a preponderance of evidence, it is not meant that such party is required to produce a greater number of witnesses than his adversary, but only that the fact shall reasonably appear by the greater weight of such testimony as may seem to you most worthy of credit under all the facts and circumstances of the case." Dwyer v. Bassett, 1 C. A. 513, 21 S. W. 621.

When a judge instructs a jury that a given fact will be presumed, he must be understood to mean that the fact is to be taken as established, a result which cannot be reached except in those cases in which the presumption is said to be of law, and therefore conclusive, otherwise than by weighing the evidence and therefrom determining the existence or nonexistence of the fact. This is the work of the jury. An instruction as to such presumption of fact is error. Stooksbury v. Swan, 85 T. 563, 22 S. W. 963.

An instruction that, unless the company prove one of its special defenses, plaintiff should recover, held proper, under the issues and evidence. Fire Ass'n of Philadelphia v. Jones (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 44.

The charge held not objectionable on the ground that, on the issue whether deceased was a passenger or a trespasser, it placed on plaintiff the burden of proving him a passenger. Southerland v. Texas & P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 193.

A charge held not objectionable as placing the burden on defendant of showing that the accident occurred through latent defects which he could not have discovered in the exercise of care. The Oriental v. Barclay, 16 C. A. 193, 41 S. W. 117.

A charge held not objectionable as placing on defendant the burden of showing that he did not know, and could not have known by the use of ordinary care, of the incompetency of plaintiff's fellow servant. Id.

A certain instruction held erroneous, as placing too great a burden of proof on the purchaser under a sale alleged to be fraudulent. Sanger v. Thomasson (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 408.

An instruction that, if the jury do not believe the company negligent, they will find for the latter, does not place the burden of proving negligence on it. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Eaten (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 562.

A charge that, if certain facts were proved, the jury should find for plaintiffs, but, if the evidence did not establish such facts, they should find for defendant, did not impose the burden of proof on defendant. Texas Loan Agency v. Fleming, 18 C. A. 668, 46 S. W. 63.

In action by landlord against purchaser of tenant's property for rent due, instruction as to presumption of waiver of lien held erroneous. Bivins v. West (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 112.

An instruction held erroneous because it required defendants to disprove the identity of plaintiffs' ancestor with the patentee who was the common source, and also prove that the ancestor did not acquire title of the true grantee. Smith v. Davis, 18 C. A. 563, 47 S. W. 101.

An instruction held not erroneous, as shifting the burden on defendants. Estell v. Kirby (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 8.

An instruction held not erroneous as shifting on the servant the burden of disproving contributory negligence or negligence of fellow servants. Haveman v. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co., 20 C. A. 610, 50 S. W. 155.

A charge that proof of certain facts entitles plaintiff to recover unless rebutted, held not to shift the burden of proof to defendant. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 92 T. 591, 50 S. W. 563.

Instructions as to presumption of deed or sale of land construed, and held proper. Herndon v. Burnett, 21 C. A. 25, 50 S. W. 581.

A charge not specifically placing the burden of proof held to do so in effect. Oak Cliff College for Young Ladies v. Armstrong (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 610.

In an action for false representations, an instruction on the burden of proof held erroneous. Carson v. Houssels (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 290.

An instruction, in an action by parents for the wrongful death of an adult son, that proof that deceased was contributing to the support of his parents would entitle them to damages, held erroneous. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Power (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 629.

Where the testimony of plaintiff, standing alone, does not justify a peremptory charge for defendant on the ground of contributory negligence, a charge that the burden of this issue is on defendant is correct. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Gordon (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 635.

Where fraud is in issue, an instruction that it will not be presumed unless the facts from which it is found are so clear as to reasonably satisfy the jury that it exists is erroneous, as requiring too much proof. Nelson v. Ashmore (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 938.

Request to instruct jury that burden is on plaintiff to establish all the material allegations of the petition held properly refused. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Patterson (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 675.

An instruction that the burden of proof of showing plaintiff's inability to deliver certain freight was on defendant held error, in an action by a teamster against a railroad company on a contract for the hauling of freight. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Dennison, 22 C. A. 89, 58 S. W. 834.

An instruction that fraud must be proved to the satisfaction of the jury held to require too high a degree of certainty in the evidence. Granrud v. Rea, 24 C. A. 299, 59 S. W. 841.

A charge fixing the burden of proof on plaintiff in an action on a verbal contract held proper. Chittim v. Martinez (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 258.

Instruction in action on policy held erroneous, as leading the jury to believe that defendant must prove all of the defenses set up. Liverpool & L. & G. Ins. Co. v. Joy, 26 C. A. 613, 62 S. W. 546.

In an action against a carrier for injuries to a passenger, an instruction as to the burden of proving contributory negligence held error. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Martin, 26 C. A. 231, 63 S. W. 1089.

An instruction that, if defendant failed to establish any one of its defenses, the verdict should be for plaintiff, modified so as to state that the verdict should be for plaintiff if defendant fails to establish at least one of its defenses. Liverpool & L. & G. Ins. Co. v. Joy, 26 C. A. 613, 64 S. W. 786.

An instruction as to liability of master to furnish servant with reasonably safe instrument held erroneous as placing too much of a burden on plaintiff. Smith v. Gulf, W. T. & P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 83.

Instruction in an action against a railway company for the death of a brakeman held not objectionable on the ground that it was a qualification of the burden of proof. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Waller, 27 C. A. 44, 65 S. W. 210.

In an action to recover for property destroyed by fire started by defendant's engine, a charge as to burden of proof considered, and held erroneous. Highland v. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 649.

In trespass to try title, held proper to refuse to instruct that, since the plaintiff had failed to prove common source of title and had failed to show that the state had ever parted with title to the land, the jury should return a verdict for defendant. Boston v. McMenamy, 29 C. A. 272, 68 S. W. 201.

Proper instruction as to burden of proof as to contributory negligence, where plaintiff's testimony tended to show it, considered. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hill, 29 C. A. 12, 70 S. W. 103.

In a personal injury action, where a suspicion of contributory negligence could be inferred from plaintiff's case, it was error to instruct that the burden was on defendant to show contributory negligence. Denison & S. Ry. Co. v. Carter (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 322.

In action by consignee against carrier and consignor from which goods were purchased, instruction as to presumption as to sale held improper. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Dorsey, 30 C. A. 377, 70 S. W. 575.

In an action against a railroad company for damages for destruction of property by fire, an instruction as to the burden of proof held erroneous. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Chittim, 31 C. A. 40, 71 S. W. 294.

In a personal injury action, charge as to burden of proof of contributory negligence held erroneous. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 70.

In an action on an insurance agent's bond, where but one issue was submitted to the jury, an instruction that the burden of proof was on the defendants held not error. Foster v. Franklin Life Ins. Co. (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 91.

In an action against a street railway for killing a dog, held, that the court should have submitted the issue of contributory negligence without any instruction as to burden of proof thereof. Marshall v. Dallas Consolidated Electric St. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 63.

In an action against railroad for damages caused by fire, charge of the court held not erroneous as shifting the burden of proof of the whole case to defendant. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Florence (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 802.

In an action for the death of a railway employé, an instruction that defendant had the burden of proving contributory negligence held erroneous. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Howard (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 803.

In an action against a railroad company for causing a fire, a charge on the burden of proving freedom from negligence held properly refused. Duckworth v. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co., 33 C. A. 66, 75 S. W. 913.

In an action against a carrier for injuries sustained by a passenger, an instruction on the burden of proof as to contributory negligence held erroneous. Gillum v. New York & T. S. S. Co. (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 232.

In an action for death of a servant against several defendants, an instruction that the burden was on plaintiff to show that the defendants, or one of them, was guilty of negligence directly resulting in decedent's death, held error. Standard Light & Power Co. v. Muncey, 33 C. A. 416, 76 S. W. 931.

An instruction on contributory negligence held not objectionable as misleading, in authorizing the jury to consider only defendant's evidence on such issue. Cameron Mill & Elevator Co. v. Anderson, 34 C. A. 105, 78 S. W. 8.

Charge, in action against railroad for death of a passenger, as to burden of proof, held error. Crow v. Citizens' Ry. Co., 34 C. A. 8, 78 S. W. 13.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to one alighting in fright from a wagon on the passage of a train over a crossing, charge held to impose on defendant necessity of proving too many things. Texas Midland R. Co. v. Booth, 35 C. A. 322, 80 S. W. 121.

In an action for injuries to a minor, the action of the court in charging that the burden of proof of contributory negligence was on the defendant held proper. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Bulger, 35 C. A. 478, 80 S. W. 557.

An instruction putting the burden of proof as to contributory negligence on defendant held under the circumstances erroneous. Texas Portland Cement & Lime Co. v. Ross, 35 C. A. 597, 81 S. W. 94.

In an action for conspiring to injure plaintiff's business, an instruction that damage could not be presumed from the existence of a conspiracy, "nor from acts done in pursuance thereof which result in injury," was erroneous. Brown v. American Freehold Land Mortg. Co. (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 824.

An instruction as to the evidence necessary for the defense that a contract purporting to have been acknowledged was not acknowledged held to call for too high a degree of proof. Moreno v. R. B. Spencer & Bro., 37 C. A. 69, 82 S. W. 1054.

In a suit to enjoin as a threatened nuisance the location of a cemetery adjacent to plaintiffs' lands, charge on burden of proof held erroneous, as imposing a greater degree of certainty than required in civil cases. Elliott v. Ferguson, 37 C. A. 40, 83 S. W. 56.

In an action by a husband for damages to his wife by errors in the transmission of a telegram, instructions placing on plaintiff the burden of proof that his wife was not guilty of contributory negligence held erroneous. Dehougne v. Western Union Tel. Co. (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 1066.

Where, in an action for injuries, plaintiff's evidence raises the question of contributory negligence, an instruction that the burden of proving the same is on defendant is erroneous, unless the jury are also instructed that in determining such issue they may look to all the evidence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Melville (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 863.

A charge on the burden of proof should place the burden on plaintiff to prove all the facts necessary to entitle him to recover. Metropolitan St. Ry. Co. v. Wishert (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 460.

In an action on a liquor bond for a sale to a minor, an instruction held erroneous as liable to lead the jury to believe that plaintiff must have proved all the several breaches of the bond alleged. Wakeham v. Price (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 1093.

In an action for injuries to a servant, charge that plaintiff must establish his case as alleged, etc., held not erroneous. Lachappelle v. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 349.

In an action for death of deceased by being struck by defendant's railroad train, an instruction held not objectionable as placing the burden on plaintiff to prove that the deceased was not guilty of contributory negligence. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Jackson, 41 C. A. 51, 90 S. W. 918.

Instructions held to submit the issue of contributory negligence on all the evidence. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Edwards (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 640.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff while employed by defendant as a switchman, held, that an instruction was properly refused as imposing a greater burden on plaintiff than the law requires. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hagan, 42 C. A. 133, 93 S. W. 1014.

In an action against a street railway company for injuries to plaintiff's son, an instruction held not objectionable as requiring defendant to prove that the accident was not caused by its negligence, nor as requiring it to show that it was caused by the contributory negligence of the person injured. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Kitt (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 587.

In an action for injuries to a servant, certain instructions on the burden of proof held erroneous. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Newson, 45 C. A. 562, 102 S. W. 450.

In an action for fraud, alleged to have been practiced by defendant and his agent, an instruction relating to the burden of proof held erroneous. First Nat. Bank v. Baldwin, 46 C. A. 244, 102 S. W. 786.

A charge does not place the burden of proof on either party where it simply instructs the jury to determine issues from the preponderance of the evidence. Kerr v. Blair, 47 C. A. 406, 105 S. W. 548.

In an action to recover land or for judgment on a note given therefor, where the defense was want of consideration for the note, etc., an instruction held erroneous as placing too great a burden on defendant. Hoffman v. Lemm (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 712.

In trespass to try title where defendants claim title through a lost deed, a charge held not to place on plaintiffs the burden of showing that it was not executed. Frugia v. Trueheart, 48 C. A. 513, 106 S. W. 736.

An instruction held not objectionable as placing the burden of proof on defendant. Seligmann v. L. Greif & Bro. (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 214.

Statement as to what instructions on burden of proof as to contributory negligence should show. Suderman & Dolson v. Kriger, 50 C. A. 29, 109 S. W. 373.

Charges held not to cast burden on defendant in a personal injury case to show that its motorman did not see plaintiff's peril. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Kelly (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 415.

In a personal injury action, a charge held erroneous as imposing upon defendant the burden to prove plaintiff was guilty of contributory negligence, and, also, that his negligence was the proximate cause of the injury. Hillsboro Cotton Mills v. King, 50 C. A. 50, 109 S. W. 484.

In an action for death, a charge that the burden of proving the contributory negligence of decedent was on defendant held proper in view of the evidence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Davenport (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 150.

An instruction on burden of proof of abandonment of a homestead held not objectionable as requiring greater certainty of proof than was proper. Gaar, Scott & Co. v. Burge, 49 C. A. 599, 110 S. W. 181.

In a servant's action for injuries claimed to have been caused by the master's negligence, an instruction held not to place the burden on defendant of showing its own want of negligence. Missouri Valley Bridge & Iron Co. v. Ballard, 53 C. A. 110, 116 S. W. 93.

In an action for damages caused by a nuisance resulting from the maintenance of a dam, an instruction held not erroneous as tending to mislead the jury, and as imposing a greater degree of proof on plaintiff than required by law. Boyd v. Schreiner (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 100.

A charge, in an action to cancel a deed as in fraud of creditors, held not erroneous as placing the burden on defendant to show that he was an innocent purchaser for a valuable consideration. Adams v. Hamilton, 53 C. A. 405, 116 S. W. 1169.

A charge, in an action for injuries to a servant, held not to impose on defendant a greater burden than authorized by law. Swift & Co. v. Martine, 53 C. A. 475, 117 S. W. 209.

An instruction in an action for a servant's injuries held not objectionable as placing the burden of proving absence of negligence on defendant. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Shapard, 54 C. A. 596, 118 S. W. 596.

An instruction, in an action for injuries to an employé, as to the burden of proof as to contributory negligence, held not erroneous. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 1150.

In an action to set aside a deed for fraud, a charge on the burden of proof held erroneous. Koppe v. Koppe, 57 C. A. 204, 122 S. W. 68.

Where, in an action for injuries to a passenger by the derailment of the train, there was evidence that the wreck was the result of unavoidable accident, a requested charge that, if the wreck was caused by anything other than the negligence of the carrier, the fact that there was a wreck resulting in injury to the passenger was not sufficient to justify a recovery was properly refused, because misleading the jury to believe that they were not authorized to infer negligence of the carrier from proof of the derailment of the train. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 485.

In an action against a railroad company for killing mules, a charge that the burden was upon each party to establish his contention by a preponderance of the evidence held erroneous. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Hico Oil Mill (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 627.

In an action for death of plaintiff's son, an instruction held not to place on plaintiff the burden of sustaining a plea that his son was negligent in caring for his wounded hand. Dye v. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 893.

To prove the contributory negligence of a street car passenger suing for injuries while alighting from a moving car, the burden is on defendant to prove not only that the passenger stepped off the car in motion, but that a person of ordinary prudence would not have so acted, and a charge that if the passenger stepped off the car while moving, not following its motion, she was guilty of negligence, unless a person of ordinary care would have done so, was properly refused because it required the passenger to show that a person of ordinary prudence would have acted as the passenger did to acquit her of contributory negligence. Barnes v. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co., 128 S. W. 367, reversing judgment Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Barnes (Civ. App. 1909) 119 S. W. 122.

Instruction held not to place the burden of proof on defendant, especially in view of another instruction. Goodwin v. Mortsen (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 1182.

Instruction that "the burden" is on the plaintiff to show by a "preponderance of the testimony" his right to recover held not error. Id.

In a suit for compensation by a discharged employé, held, that it was a substantial objection to a charge that it placed the burden on plaintiff of showing he sought other employment. Sinsheimer v. Edward Weil Co. (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 187.

An instruction assuming that the inadequacy of the amount obtained on a sale on execution resulted from the sheriff's failure to notify the judgment debtor unless rebutted, and placing the burden of rebuttal on defendant, held correct. Snouffer v. Heisig (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 912.

A charge in an action against a carrier for delivery of a shipment that, if the jury do not find from the preponderance of the evidence that the shipper was damaged as alleged and that the damage was the proximate result of the negligence of the carrier, the verdict must be for defendant, does not place on the carrier the burden of proving its defense by a preponderance of the evidence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Isenhower (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 297.

In an employé's action for personal injuries, an instruction held erroneous, in that it placed the burden upon defendant to show that the execution of a release was plaintiff's voluntary act. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Bowles (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1176.

It is improper to instruct that the burden is on one asserting fraud to establish it by clear and satisfactory evidence. Ross v. W. D. Cleveland & Sons (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 315.

In an injury action by a servant, the refusal of a special charge on the burden of proof of contributory negligence held erroneous. Phillips v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 542.

In an action against carriers for delay in transporting freight, an instruction held not objectionable as placing on the delivering carrier the burden to prove want of notice of the purpose for which the shipment was to be used. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Nelson (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 81.

An instruction, in an action for injuries to a servant, held not objectionable as shifting the burden of proof on the issue whether plaintiff was in the performance of his duty at the time of his injury. Friedrich v. Geisler (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1079.

An instruction that the burden of proof was on plaintiff to establish "his case" by a preponderance of the evidence was not objectionable for failure to clearly state what "his case" was. Id.

An instruction held not objectionable as placing on defendant the burden of proving that it had a license to operate a steam roller which frightened plaintiff's horse. Municipal Paving Co. v. Donovan Co. (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 644.

In an action to cancel a contract to exchange lands, and deeds made thereunder, instructions held not improper as requiring defendant to negative, by a preponderance of the evidence, matters which plaintiff was bound to show affirmatively. Boswell v. Pannell (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 233.

In an action for negligence, the charge need not expressly state that the burden is on plaintiff to establish his case by a preponderance of the evidence; but it must as a whole lead the jury to so understand. Wichita Falls Traction Co. v. Adams (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 271.

In an action for personal injuries, an instruction stating the issues, defining negligence, and informing the jury to find for plaintiff, if satisfied that the things necessary for a recovery have been proven, and for defendant if they fail to find enumerated facts, held to sufficiently charge on the burden of proof. Id.

An instruction that the burden was upon the plaintiff to prove by a preponderance of the evidence the facts submitted in such instruction, or in any special instruction given as material to his right to recover, only required the plaintiff to prove by a preponderance of evidence such facts as were submitted to the jury in the general charge, or in any special charge material to his right to recover, and did not require him to prove contributory negligence when no issue thereon was submitted to the jury, nor did it require him to disprove affirmative defenses. Riley v. Fisher (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 581.

An instruction in a broker's action for commission on the sale of land alleged to have been listed for sale by defendant, in which defendant answered by general denial, that if the jury found from the preponderance of the evidence that plaintiff was not the procuring cause of the sale defendant was not liable, was erroneous in that it shifted plaintiff's burden of proof and required the jury to find affirmatively that plaintiff's allegations were not true before they could find for defendant. Muldoon v. J. E. Bray Land Co. (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 701.

In an action for injuries to a street car passenger after alighting from a car, an instruction held erroneous as placing the burden on defendant of showing not only that plaintiff alighted safely and was injured after she had alighted by stepping into a hole, but also that defendant stopped the car at a reasonably safe place for passengers to alight. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Hauskins (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1100.

In an action for the recovery of land, an instruction held not objectionable as placing too great a burden on plaintiff. Cole v. Webb (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 245.

A charge that the burden was on plaintiff and interveners to establish their case by a preponderance of the evidence, and that they could not recover unless they did so, held not objectionable as assuming that plaintiff had a cause of action and should prevail unless defeated by the matters relied on by defendant. Freeman v. Nathan (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 248; Same v. Peacock, Id. 259.

Where, in a purchaser's action for equitable relief from a sale induced by fraud, the evidence showed that the plaintiff had sought to procure an adjustment of the wrong, and that the defendants had manifested no disposition to right it, an instruction that the plaintiff was not required to tender back the property to the defendant, if the defendant refused to do anything with reference to accepting it, was not open to the objection that it placed the burden upon the defendants to take the initiative in offering to rescind. Hagelstein v. Blaschke (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 718.

The burden of proof as to contributory negligence, in an action for collision of a train with a team, is shifted by the concluding clause of the charge that, if the jury further find plaintiff exercised ordinary care, they will find for plaintiff, otherwise for defendant. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Tarver (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 958.

In an action to enforce resulting trust as to church property, an instruction held calculated to mislead the jury as to the burden of proof with reference to the ownership of money paid for the property. Gilmore v. Brown (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 964.

Instructions that defendants have the burden of proving their respective pleas of contributory negligence by a preponderance of evidence held proper. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Good (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 617.

An instruction, in an action for injuries to a street car passenger held erroneous as placing on the passenger the burden of proving freedom from contributory negligence. Barnes v. Hewitt (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 236.

An instruction that the burden upon the issue of contributory negligence was upon the defendant was not misleading as charging that only defendant's evidence could be considered, where the court in submitting the issue used the expression, "if you find from the evidence," etc. Galveston Electric Co. v. Antonini (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 841.

234. —— Failure to produce evidence.—Instruction that plaintiff's failure to produce books in obedience to subpœna is proof that they would be adverse held properly refused under the circumstances. Parlin & Orendorff Co. v. Miller, 25 C. A. 190, 60 S. W. 881.

235. Weight and effect of evidence.—Weight of evidence. Willis v. Whitsitt, 67 T. 673, 4 S. W. 253; Johnson v. Railway Co., 21 S. W. 275, 2 C. A. 139; Yoakum v. Dunn, 1 C. A. 524, 21 S. W. 411; Telegraph Co. v. Bennett, 1 C. A. 558, 21 S. W. 699; Martin v. Railway Co., 22 S. W. 195, 3 C. A. 133.

An instruction, in an action to restrain the enforcement of a judgment against the husband against the wife's land, that the jury must be satisfied that the land was paid for with the separate estate of the wife before a verdict could be found in her favor, held erroneous, as requiring too high a degree of proof. Thompson v. Wilson, 24 C. A. 666, 60 S. W. 354.

Charge in action against surety on note that payment of interest in advance is prima facie, and not conclusive, evidence of an agreement to extend the note, held not objectionable as requiring defendant to make conclusive proof of extension. Guerguin v. Boone, 33 C. A. 622, 77 S. W. 630.

An instruction that, if the evidence "conclusively" showed defendant's breach of contract, plaintiff was entitled to recover compensatory damages, was erroneous. Works v. Hill, 48 C. A. 631, 107 S. W. 581.

An instruction that, if the evidence conclusively showed defendant's violation of the contract as charged, plaintiff was entitled to recover, held misleading. Id.

A charge as to the sufficiency of proof, in an action against a railroad company for injuries by fire, held not objectionable. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Alexander Eccles & Co., 53 C. A. 125, 115 S. W. 648.

236. —— Conflicting evidence.—Instruction as to consideration to be given conflicting evidence held proper. Howe v. O'Brien (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 813; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Bell, 73 S. W. 56.

Charging the jury to reconcile, if possible, conflicting evidence, held error. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Bell, 97 T. 71, 75 S. W. 484; Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Stubbs, 43 C. A. 132, 94 S. W. 1083.

237. —— Circumstantial evidence.—In an action for the death of a person killed by a train, a charge as to circumstantial evidence held proper. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Munn, 46 C. A. 276, 102 S. W. 442.

238. —— Admissions.—A charge on a party's admissions on a trial held improper because not in the language employed in the admission, but couched in language susceptible of a different construction. Carlton v. Krueger, 54 C. A. 48, 115 S. W. 619, 1178.

See ante, §§ 182–201, for instructions objectionable as on the weight of the evidence.

239. Credibility of witnesses.—Instruction as to credibility of witnesses held proper. Smith v. Merchants' & Planters' Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 1038; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Bunrock, 46 S. W. 70.

Where the jury have been instructed that the burden of proof is on the plaintiff, it is error to qualify an instruction as to the testimony of one of plaintiff's witnesses by the words, "if true." Farnandes v. Schiermann, 23 C. A. 343, 55 S. W. 378.

A charge that the jury were the exclusive judges of the credibility of witnesses, etc., in the usual form in jury cases, held not prejudicial to defendant. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Phillips, 29 C. A. 336, 69 S. W. 107.

A charge should not intimate to the jury that a conclusion may be reached upon the evidence of either party alone. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Von Hoesen (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 604.

240. Preponderance of evidence.—In an action to set aside a conveyance, a charge that the burden was on plaintiff to show clearly by a fair preponderance of evidence the facts alleged was sufficiently favorable to defendant. Hirsch v. Jones (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 604.

In an action for failure to promptly deliver a telegram, held not error to charge that the burden was on plaintiff to establish negligence by a preponderance of the evidence. Hargrave v. Western Union Tel. Co. (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 687.

A charge that plaintiff must make out his case by a preponderance of the evidence does not require him to prove immaterial facts pleaded by him. Collins v. Clark, 30 C. A. 341, 72 S. W. 97.

Objection by defendant to charge, in action against a surety on note, that burden of proof was on defendant to show by a preponderance of the evidence that an agreement to extend the note existed, held without merit. Guerguin v. Boone, 33 C. A. 622, 77 S. W. 630.

An instruction to decide all the issues by a preponderance of the evidence held not objectionable as indefinite and misleading. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Whiteley, 43 C. A. 346, 96 S. W. 109.

In an action on a liquor dealer's bond, a requested instruction requiring plaintiff to prove her case by a preponderance of the evidence held erroneously refused. Brooks v. Ellis (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 936.

An instruction in an action of debt held not erroneous as requiring defendant to prove that he did not owe the debt. Burkett v. Barnes v. Miller (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 1153.

In an action against a railroad for injuries by a box car being moved against plaintiff's wagon, a general charge held sufficient to instruct the jury as to the burden of proof and the duty of plaintiff to establish his right to recover by a preponderance of the evidence. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Eddleman, 52 C. A. 131, 114 S. W. 425.

It is not error to charge, in a civil suit involving statutory penalties, that the burden is on plaintiff to show, by a preponderance of the evidence, the material allegations of the petition. Birkman v. Fahrenthold, 52 C. A. 335, 114 S. W. 428.

A charge, requiring a party to "establish" his case by a preponderance of the evidence, is improper. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Duncan, 55 C. A. 440, 121 S. W. 362.

A charge in an action for injuries to an employé that, if the jury believed from a preponderance of the evidence that the employers or either of them failed to exercise ordinary care a recovery was authorized properly submitted the issue of negligence. Farmers' Gin & Milling Co. v. Jones (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 668.

241. —— Qualifications of the word "preponderance."—An instruction that plaintiff must prove defendant's negligence by a "fair preponderance" of evidence held misleading. Atkinson v. Reed (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 260; B. Lantry Sons v. Lowrie, 58 S. W. 837; Cowans v. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co., 49 C. A. 463, 109 S. W. 403.

242. —— Degree of proof required in general.—It is error to charge that an issue raised in defendant's pleading that the homestead was included in the deed of trust through mistake or fraud of the other party must be established "beyond reasonable doubt." Pace v. American Freehold Land & Mortgage Co., 17 C. A. 506, 43 S. W. 36.

It is not error to refuse an instruction to find for defendant unless the jury are satisfied, with "clearness and certainty," of the existence of plaintiff's claim. Mixon v. Farris, 20 C. A. 253, 48 S. W. 741.

Where a plaintiff attempts to avoid a release, an instruction imposing on him the burden of establishing the facts to avoid the release by "clear and satisfactory proof" is erroneous. McCarty v. Houston & T. C. R. Co., 21 C. A. 568, 54 S. W. 421.

An instruction requiring establishment of a state of facts with certainty to overcome a presumption held erroneous. First Nat. Bank v. Myer, 23 C. A. 302, 56 S. W. 213.

It is error to instruct the jury that, to justify a finding that an absolute deed is a mortgage, such fact must be shown by clear and certain evidence. Palm v. Chernowsky, 28 C. A. 405, 67 S. W. 165.

An instruction held erroneous, because imposing on plaintiff a greater burden than the establishment of his case by a preponderance of the evidence. Green v. Kegans, 54 C. A. 237, 118 S. W. 173.

A requested charge that the jury should find for defendant if there was any doubt in their mind, from the testimony, whether an instrument sued on was a bill of sale or a mortgage, held properly refused. Lewter v. Lindley (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 178.

An instruction in an action for injuries to a passenger as to the burden being on defendant to establish its plea of contributory negligence held not too burdensome on defendant. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Swancey (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 677.

An instruction requiring plaintiff to establish all the facts necessary to his recovery by a preponderance of the evidence, and defendant to establish his plea of self-defense, held not erroneous, as requiring too high a degree of proof. Sumner v. Kinney (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1192.

A reference to reasonable doubt in charge in a civil case held improper as tending to mislead the jury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. W. A. Morgan & Bros. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 336.

An instruction that, if plaintiff had "established" certain facts, the jury should answer an interrogatory in the affirmative held not to require too high a degree of proof. Gamble v. Martin (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 327.

An instruction which required plaintiff to "establish" the material allegations of his petition is improper in requiring too high a degree of proof. Van Geem v. Cisco Oil Mill (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1108.

243. —— What constitutes and determination of preponderance.—The defining by an instruction of the term "preponderance of evidence" as meaning the greater weight of evidence is proper. Western Union Tel. Co. v. James, 31 C. A. 503, 73 S. W. 79.

244. —— Requiring matters to be proved to the satisfaction of the jury.—The verdict should be based on the preponderance of evidence, and a charge requiring a plaintiff to produce "satisfactory evidence," or "clear and satisfactory evidence," is erroneous. McBride v. Banguss, 65 T. 174.

Where a charge indicates the necessity of "full proof," and it appears that by that term was meant that the jury must be satisfied in their minds of the existence of the fact, such charge was erroneous in requiring more than a preponderance in the testimony as the grounds of the verdict. Baines v. Ullmann, 71 T. 529, 9 S. W. 543; Railway Co. v. Bartlett, 81 T. 42, 16 S. W. 638.

An instruction requiring plaintiff to establish his case to the satisfaction of the jury was erroneous. Baines v. Ullmann, 71 T. 537, 9 S. W. 543; Railway Co. v. Bartlett, 81 T. 44, 16 S. W. 638; Emerson v. Mills, 83 T. 388, 18 S. W. 805; Railway Co. v. Kemp (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 1117; Willis v. Chowning, 90 T. 617, 40 S. W. 395, 59 Am. St. Rep. 842; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Buchanan, 38 C. A. 165, 84 S. W. 1073; Citizens' Nat. Bank v. Cammer (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 625; Seligmann v. L. Greif & Bro., 109 S. W. 214; Fraser-Johnson Brick Co. v. Baird, 128 S. W. 460; Brewer v. Doose, 146 S. W. 323.

It is error to instruct the jury that a given fact "must be shown to the satisfaction of said jury by a preponderance of the evidence." Mock v. Hatcher (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 30.

Where defendants allege that the deed relied on is in fact a mortgage, an instruction that the allegation that it is a mortgage must be "clearly" shown to the "satisfaction" of the jury held error. Smith v. Eastham (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 218.

An instruction that defendant, in order to sustain a counterclaim for damages in an action for the purchase price of certain boxes, must prove the counterclaim to the satisfaction of the jury, held properly refused. Pierpont Mfg. Co. v. Goodman Produce Co. (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 347.

In trespass to try title, an instruction held erroneous as tending to lead the jury to believe that the burden was on the defendants to prove their case to the satisfaction of the jury. Short v. Kelly (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 944.

The word "satisfaction," in the phrase "to the satisfaction of your minds" in a charge, is objectionable. Panhandle & G. Ry. Co. v. Kirby, 42 C. A. 340, 94 S. W. 173.

An instruction requiring the jury to be "satisfied" from the evidence that defendant's agent had authority to act in the matter in controversy, held properly refused. Western Cottage Piano & Organ Co. v. Anderson, 45 C. A. 513, 101 S. W. 1061.

It is error to instruct that the party having the burden of proof must establish his case by a preponderance of evidence to the satisfaction of the jury. Terrell Wholesale Grocery Co. v. Christian Peper Tobacco Co. (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 565.

The word "satisfy," in an instruction as to the sufficiency of the evidence in an action on contract held to mean more than a preponderance of the evidence. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Graves & Patterson (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 613.

In an action for breach of contract, an instruction to find for defendant if the evidence "failed to satisfy" the jury held properly refused. Id.

A request requiring certain facts to be found by "clear and satisfactory" evidence was properly refused. Gilmore v. Brown (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 964.

245. Argumentative instructions.—At the request of the defendant the court instructed the jury as follows: It is to be presumed that L., in 1844, was aware of the correspondence between L. & Co. and H. previous to that time, and was acquainted with the business affairs and transactions of the firm, and to defeat this presumption the testimony must establish, to the satisfaction of the jury, L.'s ignorance of such correspondence and transactions. The court say, although the proposition may be true as matter of fact, and proper to be addressed to a jury in the way of an argument, the statement of it as a legal proposition may mislead the jury. Layton v. Hall, 25 T. 204.

Deductions of fact or ordinary rules of reason, legitimate in argument and proper to be considered by the jury, should not be given in the charge. Sparks v. Dawson, 47 T. 147; Johnson v. Brown, 51 T. 65; Dwyer v. Bassett, 63 T. 274.

A charge though correct and pertinent, may be refused when it is more properly argument. Railway Co. v. Harriett, 80 T. 73, 15 S. W. 556; Baines v. Ullman, 71 T. 529, 9 S. W. 543.

Instruction was: "An opprobrious epithet, conveying the idea of a lack of chastity, would to a wanton cause no pain, while, applied to a pure and gentle wife, no tongue can tell the anguish, the shame, the sense of humiliation it would bring." Held obnoxious as argumentative and upon the weight of the evidence. Hanna v. Hanna, 21 S. W. 720, 3 C. A. 51.

An instruction held not objectionable as argumentative. Cordill v. Moore, 17 C. A. 217, 43 S. W. 298; Hurst v. McMullen (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 666; Lumsden v. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co., 28 C. A. 225, 67 S. W. 168; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Owens (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 579; Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Dial, 38 C. A. 260, 85 S. W. 22; City of Rockwall v. Heath (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 514; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Roberts, 91 S. W. 375; City of Dallas v. McCullough, 95 S. W. 1121; Rambie v. San Antonio & G. R. R., 45 C. A. 422, 100 S. W. 1022; Parlin & Orendorff Co. v. Glover, 55 C. A. 112, 118 S. W. 731; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mosley (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 485; Continental Oil & Cotton Co. v. Thompson, 136 S. W. 1178; Armstrong v. Burt, 138 S. W. 172; Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bigham, Id. 432; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Boyd, 141 S. W. 1076; State v. Haley, 142 S. W. 1003.

Instructions embodying several distinct propositions of law in general terms, and not submitting to the jury any issue to be decided by it held properly refused. Hurst v. McMullen (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 666.

It was proper for the court to refuse a request to charge that was argumentative. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Harvin (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 629; Eastern Texas R. Co. v. Moore, 94 S. W. 394; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hibbitts, 49 C. A. 419, 109 S. W. 228; Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Farmer, 102 T. 235, 115 S. W. 260; Houston Belt & Terminal Ry. Co. v. Johansen, 143 S. W. 1186; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Kurtz, 147 S. W. 658; Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. McGinnis, Id. 1188; Gilmore v. Brown, 150 S. W. 964; Jordan v. Johnson, 155 S. W. 1194; Hughes-Buie Co. v. Mendoza, 156 S. W. 328; Beckwith v. Powers, 157 S. W. 177.

In an action against a railroad company for damages by fire set by sparks from its locomotive, instructions relating to the duty of defendant in adopting spark arresters, and its right to operate its trains and build fires in its furnaces, held argumentative. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Carter, 95 T. 461, 68 S. W. 159.

Where a tenant, compelled to abandon, claimed damages for loss of profits from keeping boarders, an instruction that the number of boarders did not control as to whether it was a private boarding house was argumentative. Hedrick v. Smith (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 305.

246. Confused or misleading instructions.—Although the charge may be technically correct and would have been rightly understood by one of legal training, it may be error to give it. Willis v. McNeill, 57 T. 465. And where the jury may have been misled by a distinct charge on a material point, the injury is not remedied by the fact that the law is stated correctly when taken in connection with instructions asked by the party affected injuriously by the charge. Railroad Co. v. Le Gierse, 51 T. 189.

When from the record it appears that a charge is irrelevant and calculated to lead the minds of the jury away from, instead of toward, the true issue involved, it will constitute cause for reversal unless it appears that the verdict was not influenced thereby. Wegner v. Biering, 73 T. 89, 11 S. W. 155.

Instructions held misleading. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Rodican, 15 C. A. 556, 40 S. W. 535; Goldberg v. Bussey (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 49; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Scrivener, 49 S. W. 649; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Miller, 24 C. A. 430, 59 S. W. 550; Taylor, B. & H. R. Co. v. Warner (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 442; St. Louis & S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v.

Miller, 27 C. A. 344, 66 S. W. 139; Moore v. Graham, 29 C. A. 235, 69 S. W. 200; Reed v. Western Union Tel. Co., 31 C. A. 116, 71 S. W. 389; Reser v. American Cotton Co. (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 782; Davis v. Beall, 32 C. A. 406, 74 S. W. 325; Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Rutherford (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 558; Citizens' Ry. Co. v. Gossett, 37 C. A. 603, 85 S. W. 35; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rea, 99 T. 58, 87 S. W. 324; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Kellerman, 39 C. A. 274, 87 S. W. 401; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Glover (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 515; White v. White, 95 S. W. 733; Magee v. Oklahoma City & T. R. Co., Id. 1092; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Groves, 44 C. A. 63, 97 S. W. 1084; G. C. Williams & Co. v. Smith (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 916; Johnson v. Texas & G. Ry. Co., 45 C. A. 146, 100 S W. 206; Tipton v. Tipton, 47 C. A. 619, 105 S. W. 830; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Tucker, 48 C. A. 115, 106 S. W. 764; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Spear (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 613; Jameson v. Hutchison, 109 S. W. 1096; Sparks v. De Bord, 110 S. W. 757; Yates v. Bratton, 111 S. W. 416; P. E. Schow & Bros. v. McCloskey, 102 T. 129, 113 S. W. 739; Carlton v. Krueger, 54 C. A. 48, 115 S. W. 619, 1178; Hazard v. Western Commercial Travelers' Ass'n, 54 C. A. 110, 116 S. W. 625; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Beauchamp, 54 C. A. 123, 116 S. W. 1163; Gurley v. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 502; Royal Fraternal Union v. Stahl, 126 S. W. 920; Baldwin v. G. M. Davidson & Co., 127 S. W. 562; Erp v. Raywood Canal & Milling Co., 130 S. W. 897; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Huey, Id. 1017; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cambron, 131 S. W. 1130; St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Bowles, Id. 1176; Texas Co. v. Strange, 132 S. W. 370; Wiess v. Hall, 135 S. W. 384; Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Florence, 138 S. W. 430; Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Sanders, Id. 1181; Pullman Co. v. Custer, 140 S. W. 847; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rogers, 141 S. W. 1011; Floore v. J. T. Burgher & Co., 142 S. W. 939; Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hall, 152 S. W. 445.

An instruction that a passenger could not recover for injuries if the situation was as open to him as to defendant's employé held properly refused as misleading. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Downing, 16 C. A. 643, 41 S. W. 190.

A charge failing to define what uses must be made of land to make it part of the homestead held not misleading. Gunn v. Wynne (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 290.

Instructions held reversible error as misleading the jury on the questions whether the sale was induced by false representations of the buyer, whether it was in reliance on excessive ratings obtained by the buyer, and whether the goods were purchased with an intent not to pay for them. Strickland v. Willis (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 602.

When a general charge is sufficient, separate charges, collectively tending to confuse the jury, though separately unobjectionable, were properly refused. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Eaten (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 562.

In the trial of an attachment case based on obtaining money under defendant's false pretenses that certain notes were his own a charge to the jury that the defendant's neglect to advise plaintiffs that a third party had an interest in the notes was misleading. Cohen v. Grimes, 18 C. A. 327, 45 S. W. 210.

In an action to establish a parol trust, an instruction that a deed absolute could be a mortgage held not misleading. Stubblefield v. Stubblefield (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 965.

A proviso in an instruction in an action for injuries held not misleading. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Breadow, 19 C. A. 483, 47 S. W. 816.

Instructions held not misleading. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Breadow, 19 C. A. 483, 47 S. W. 816; Garrett v. Robinson, 93 T. 406, 55 S. W. 564; Texas Cent. Ry. Co. v. Hicks, 24 C. A. 400, 59 S. W. 1125; Capitol Freehold Land & Investment Co. v. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 286; Fant v. Wright, 61 S. W. 514; Schneider v. Sanders, 26 C. A. 169, 61 S. W. 727; St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Stonecypher, 25 C. A. 559, 63 S. W. 946; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Buch, 27 C. A. 283, 65 S. W. 681; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Cushney, 95 T. 309, 67 S. W. 77; Lancaster Cotton Oil Co. v. White, 32 C. A. 608, 75 S. W. 339; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brown, 33 C. A. 269, 76 S. W. 794; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Mills, 34 C. A. 127, 78 S. W. 11; Denison, B. & N. O. R. Co. v. Barry (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 634; Olivares v. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co., 37 C. A. 278, 84 S. W. 248; Red River, T. & S. Ry. Co. v. Reynolds, 38 C. A. 505, 85 S. W. 1169; Comer v. Thornton, 38 C. A. 287, 86 S. W. 19; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Lester, 99 T. 214, 89 S. W. 752; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Muschamp, 40 C. A. 358, 90 S. W. 706; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Josey (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 688; Houston Ice & Brewing Co. v. Nicolini, 96 S. W. 84; Choctaw, O. & T. Ry. Co. v. McLaughlin, 43 C. A. 523, 96 S. W. 1091; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Walker (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 1081; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Davis, 45 C. A. 212, 100 S. W. 1013; Same v. Rutland, 45 C. A. 621, 101 S. W. 529; Burton Lumber Corp. v. City of Houston, 45 C. A. 363, 101 S. W. 822; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Merritt, 46 C. A. 130, 102 S. W. 151; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Middleton, 46 C. A. 497, 103 S. W. 203; Kerr v. Blair, 47 C. A. 406, 105 S. W. 548; Thompson v. Planters' Compress Co., 48 C. A. 235, 106 S. W. 470; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 48 C. A. 135, 106 S. W. 773; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Mitchell, 48 C. A. 381, 107 S. W. 374; Evans v. Ashe, 50 C. A. 54, 108 S. W. 398, 1190; Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Olds (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 787; Orange Lumber Co. v. Thompson, 113 S. W. 563; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Endsley, 119 S. W. 1150; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ford, 56 C. A. 521, 121 S. W. 709; J. T. Stark Grain Co. v. Harry Bros. Co., 57 C. A. 529, 122 S. W. 947; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Poole (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 1176; Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Hico Oil Mill, 126 S. W. 627; Planters' Gin. Co. v. Washington, 132 S. W. 880; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. McCauley, 134 S. W. 798; Same v. Driver, 137 S. W. 409; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Jones, 138 S. W. 209; Yealock v. Yealock, 141 S. W. 842; Frost v. Grimmer, 142 S. W. 615; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Addis, Id. 955; Blair v. Nueces River Valley R. Co., 143 S. W. 713; Freeman v. Terry, 144 S. W. 1016; Holt & Smith v. Texas Moline Plow Co., 150 S. W. 215; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Murray, 156 S. W. 594.

When the main charge covers an issue and a special charge, which makes no reference to the main charge, is given which is calculated to mislead the jury, it is reversible error. Moriarity v. U. S. Fire Ins. Co., 19 C. A. 669, 49 S. W. 132.

A charge on contributory negligence and assumed risk held not misleading. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Milam, 20 C. A. 688, 50 S. W. 417.

In an action for causing the death of a brakeman, an instruction to find for the railroad company if deceased failed to keep a lookout held misleading. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Smith (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 506.

Where tendency of instruction is misleading, and it is not clear that verdict was not influenced by it, judgment will be reversed. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Greer, 22 C. A. 5, 53 S. W. 58.

A charge that, unless contributory negligence contributed directly to plaintiff's injury, it cannot avail, cannot be objected to as being misleading. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lyons (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 96.

In an action by an attorney against his client on a contract for services, an instruction to find for plaintiff, if defendant agreed to pay a certain sum for defending his son, "independent of any other employment," held misleading. Boyd v. Boyce (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 720.

An instruction in an action for an injury due to a boiler explosion held objectionable, as tending to render materially injurious to defendant erroneously admitted evidence of a defect. San Antonio & A. P. R. Co. v. De Ham (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 395.

An instruction that, the more dangerous a position in which a servant is placed, the more care should he use to protect himself from injury, held erroneous, as misleading. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Stephenson, 22 C. A. 220, 54 S. W. 1086.

An instruction that might have led the jury to believe that plaintiff did not have the right to assume that the master had used proper care to provide a suitable appliance held erroneous. Pippin v. Sherman, S. & S. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 961.

Failure to state the qualifications of a master's liability for injuries to an employé in connection with a statement of the liability held not to render the charge misleading. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Jackson, 25 C. A. 619, 62 S. W. 91.

Where a conveyance by a single man to a married man is attacked as fraudulent, and evidence of a conveyance by the grantee of his homestead is admitted, an instruction that a transfer of a homestead is no fraud on creditors held not misleading. Gwaltney v. Searcy (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 304.

An instruction in an action against a railroad for killing plaintiff's minor son held not misleading, though not directing that cost of boy's "keep" be deducted in estimating the value of his services. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Yarbrough (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 844.

An instruction on assumption of risk in an action by an employé against a railroad for injuries held not to confuse assumption of risk and contributory negligence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Wilder, 33 C. A. 72, 75 S. W. 546.

In an action for injuries to a brakeman, an instruction that if the absence of the lower rung of the car ladder from which he fell was the proximate cause of the accident he could not recover held properly refused as misleading. El Paso Northeastern R. Co. v. Ryan, 36 C. A. 190, 81 S. W. 563.

In an action against defendants for conspiring to injure plaintiffs' business, an instruction that an unlawful act is not actionable, however malicious or injurious, unless some right of the plaintiffs was violated thereby, was misleading. Brown v. American Freehold Land Mortg. Co. (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 824.

In an action for injuries to a servant, an instruction that, if plaintiff's injuries were not caused by a fall complained of, but were caused by a disease arising from some other cause, defendant was not liable, held not objectionable as misleading. O'Brien v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 36 C. A. 528, 82 S. W. 319.

A charge which excludes one improper element of damage, and does not exclude another, is misleading. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. McVey, 99 T. 28, 87 S. W. 329.

On an issue as to the validity of a release, an instruction held objectionable as misleading the jury to believe that plaintiff's mere ignorance of the contents of the instrument at the time of signing it was sufficient to avoid it. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Craig, 44 C. A. 583, 98 S. W. 907.

An instruction held not erroneous as leading the jury to exclude consideration of requested charges given by the court. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Hays, 44 C. A. 462, 98 S. W. 911.

An instruction that, when a man and wife have contracted to sell their homestead, the wife may retract up to the moment before her privy acknowledgment, held not misleading. London v. Crow, 46 C. A. 190, 102 S. W. 177.

In an action on an insurance certificate, an instruction using the words "serious disease" instead of "serious illness" held not objectionable as misleading. Modern Order of Prætorians v. Hollmig (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 474.

An instruction authorizing a verdict for a servant if the master failed to securely fasten a chisel by which the servant was injured, if such failure was negligence, should have also required that it resulted from the master's failure to exercise ordinary care. Vilter Mfg. Co. v. Kent, 47 C. A. 462, 105 S. W. 525.

An instruction, in an action for injuries to an employé, confusing assumed risk and contributory negligence, held not ground for reversal. Thompson v. Planters' Compress Co., 48 C. A. 235, 106 S. W. 470.

In an action for negligent death, a charge held not misleading for omission of a word. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 48 C. A. 135, 106 S. W. 773.

A charge authorizing recovery for such suffering as plaintiff will "reasonably and probably suffer" in the future held not misleading. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hawkins, 49 C. A. 545, 108 S. W. 736.

Where plaintiff's employment was that of brakeman, and his duties were solely in that capacity, held, that the jury could not have been misled by the language of a charge, "engaged in discharging any duty in the capacity of brakeman." Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Hendricks, 49 C. A. 314, 108 S. W. 745.

A clause in a charge used simply as a hypothesis for submitting the main issue was held not to be misleading as causing the jury to doubt an undisputed fact. Kelsey v. Collins, 49 C. A. 230, 108 S. W. 793.

An instruction that if a turntable by which plaintiff was injured was hard to turn because of the weight of the engine upon it, but was not defective, he could not recover, held misleading. Currie v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 101 T. 478, 108 S. W. 1167.

Where it was not claimed that a turntable was out of repair, except in that it was unsuited to the use to which it was being put, an instruction requiring plaintiff to show that it was defective and out of repair held misleading. Id.

In an action on an express contract, an instruction that, if the jury found for defendant, their verdict should be without prejudice to plaintiff's right to recover on quantum meruit, held misleading. Champion v. Johnson County (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 1146.

A charge held misleading as allowing plaintiff to recover, though showing no title, if defendant failed to show adverse possession. Whittaker v. Thayer, 48 C. A. 508, 110 S. W. 787.

In an action for personal injuries while in defendant's employment, a requested charge upon the assumption of risk by plaintiff, which was calculated to mislead the jury to impose on plaintiff an affirmative duty of using care to discover the danger, was properly refused. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Barwick, 50 C. A. 544, 110 S. W. 953.

On the issue of a dedication of land for a street, an instruction held misleading. Cockrell v. City of Dallas (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 977.

An instruction in trespass to try title held not erroneous as tending to lead the jury to believe that, if plaintiff was once adjudged insane, he was necessarily insane at the time of the trial. Kaack v. Stanton, 51 C. A. 495, 112 S. W. 702.

Omission of the word "place" from an instruction defining the measure of damages for overflow of land held not calculated to mislead the jury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hagler (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 783.

In a street car conductor's action against the company for injuries caused by coming in contact with a coal car on a railroad switch near the street car track, a requested instruction held properly refused as tending to mislead the jury. Rapid Transit Ry. Co. v. Edwards, 55 C. A. 543, 118 S. W. 838.

In an action for injuries at a railroad crossing, an instruction held calculated to mislead the jury to believe that plaintiff could not recover if the speed of the train at the time did not exceed the usual speed, though it exceeded the speed of six miles an hour prescribed by ordinance. Garber v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 857.

In an action for injuries at a railroad crossing caused by running the train in excess of the speed limit and in failing to ring the bell as required by ordinance, a charge that the company must use ordinary care to avoid accidents held misleading. Id.

A charge in an action for injuries to a locomotive fireman struck by the lever of a water crane held not misleading because it used the word "spout" instead of "lever." Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bush, 56 C. A. 69, 120 S. W. 224.

A charge held properly refused as misleading. Stark v. Burkitt (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 939.

In an employé's action for the difference between his original salary and the amount which the employer claimed was his salary after it had been reduced by a general notice of reduction of wages, a requested charge held misleading. Pennington v. Thompson Bros. Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 923.

An instruction in an action for injuries to a servant held misleading as authorizing a recovery for the negligence of a fellow servant. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Jones (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 434.

In an action against a telegraph company for error in transmitting a message, certain instructions held misleading, as leading the jury to believe that it is the absolute duty of a telegraph company to transmit and deliver messages accurately. Postal Telegraph-Cable Co. v. S. A. Pace Grocery Co. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 1172.

In an action against a railroad company for damages in permitting plaintiff to be assaulted by another passenger, also a defendant, the court instructed that the jury were not bound to find against the company, in the same amount as it found against the other defendant; but that it should award such damages against each separately, if any, the company being liable only for the consequences of any negligence in not preventing injury to plaintiff by the other defendant. Held misleading as subject to the construction that less than actual damages might be awarded against the company, when such damages only were sued for. Twichell v. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 243.

In an action for injuries to a passenger while attempting to board a car, a charge that, if those in charge of the car were guilty of negligence, there should be a finding for defendant, is misleading. Osborne v. Texas Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 816.

In an action for broker's commissions, a request to charge that, if the jury believed that the purchaser of his own accord broke off negotiations with plaintiff, they should find for defendant, held properly refused as misleading. Payne v. Gebhard (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1118.

An instruction leading the jury to believe that failure of codefendants to defend authorized recovery against defendant is erroneous. Porter v. Norman (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1173.

In an action for ejection of a passenger, an instruction that a carrier owes to passengers the duty not to cause them mental anguish, humiliation, or shame, as well as to care for their physical safety, held not misleading. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Morgan (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 216.

An instruction, in an action for injury to horses en route, held not misleading in referring to the shipment as "cattle." Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Browder (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1042.

Where an issue was raised as to the terms of a contract, an instruction that the burden was on plaintiff to prove the contract as alleged, and that the parties agreed thereto, and if the jury failed to find that the minds of the parties had so met, or if they found that the parties understood the terms of the agreement in different ways, they should find for defendants, held misleading. Power State Bank v. Carver (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 341.

In an action for injuries to an employé caused by a saw, an instruction requiring defendant "to so repair" the saw, "as to make it suitable for the purpose for which it was used and reasonably safe for use," held not erroneous as tending to mislead. Glenn Lumber Co. v. Quinn (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 285.

Instruction which placed upon defendant the burden of establishing contributory negligence by a preponderance of evidence held not misleading. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Cameron (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 709.

In a suit against the pastor of a church to enforce a resulting trust, instructions as to his proper appropriation of church funds to the payment of his salary instead of using them to buy property held properly refused as misleading. Gilmore v. Brown (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 964.

In an attorney's action on an assignment of an interest in the client's cause of action, an instruction entitling him to judgment if the client had agreed to pay part of the "recovery" was not confusing. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wood (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 487.

In an action by an attorney upon his client's assignment of an interest in his cause of action, held, that the use of the word "employment" in referring to such interest was not misleading. Id.

A charge that a railroad company must use ordinary care to "select one of the most approved spark arresters" in use by railroad companies is perhaps misleading, though there is evidence that two kinds of arresters were in wide use on railroads. Progressive Lumber Co. v. Marshall & E. T. Ry. Co. (Sup.) 155 S. W. 175.

In an action against a carrier for wrongful expulsion, an instruction that plaintiff had the burden of establishing that he was the original purchaser of the ticket by proof that would satisfy a reasonable, conscientious, and prudent person, held not calculated to mislead the jury or to induce them to consider alone the circumstances of identification. Jones v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 213.

Instructions which indicate that an insurance company was not bound by the redelivery of its policy unless the agent is expressly authorized are properly refused as misleading. Austin Fire Ins. Co. v. Sayles (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 272.

In an action by person who accompanied a passenger on board a train and was injured while alighting, instruction held not reversible error as misleading the jury to believe that they might find knowledge of his intention to alight on the part of the conductor, even though he had not been told of such intention as claimed by plaintiff. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Little (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 1185.

247. Inconsistent or contradictory instructions.—Where contradictory charges are given which are material it seems a reversal should follow on appeal. The proper way to correct an erroneous charge is to withdraw it from the jury. Railway Co. v. Robinson, 73 T. 277, 11 S. W. 327.

A charge containing inconsistent and contradictory paragraphs is ground for reversal. Baker v. Ashe, 80 T. 356, 16 S. W. 36; Railway Co. v. Jazo (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 712; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Anderson, 124 S. W. 1002; Same v. Green, 138 S. W. 241.

Instructions held not conflicting. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Moore (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 67; Western Union Tel. Co. v. Odom, 21 C. A. 537, 52 S. W. 632; Waxahachie Cotton Oil Co. v. McLain, 27 C. A. 334, 66 S. W. 226; Sonka v. Sonka (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 325; Meyer Bros. Drug Co. v. Durham, 35 C. A. 71, 79 S. W. 860; Campbell Real Estate Co. v. Wiley (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 251; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Box, 93 S. W. 134; Texas & N. O. Ry. Co. v. McCraw, 43 C. A. 247, 95 S. W. 82; Reeves v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 44 C. A. 352, 98 S. W. 929; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Arey (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 963; Womack & Sturgis v. International & G. N. R. Co., 100 T. 453, 100 S. W. 1151; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Wise (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 465; El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Kelly, 109 S. W. 415; Southern Pac. Co. v. Hart, 53 C. A. 536, 116 S. W. 415; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Geiger, 55 C. A. 1, 118 S. W. 179; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Meehan (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 190; Consumers' Lignite Co. v. Cameron, 134 S. W. 283; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Groseclose, Id. 736; Saunders v. Chicago, R. I. & G. R. Co., 155 S. W. 1055.

Instruction as to adverse possession held inconsistent and misleading. Taffinder v. Merrell, 18 C. A. 661, 45 S. W. 477.

Instructions, in an action for injuries to a passenger while alighting from a train, held conflicting. Texas M. R. Co. v. Hooten, 21 C. A. 139, 50 S. W. 499; Williamson v. D. M. Smith & Co. (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 51; Saine v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 85 S. W. 487; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Anderson, 124 S. W. 1002; Fitzgibbons v. Galveston Electric Co., 136 S. W. 1186; Renfro v. Texas Cent. R. Co., 141 S. W. 820.

It is not error to refuse an instruction which would conflict with the instructions given. Scott v. Texas & P. Ry. Co., 93 T. 625, 57 S. W. 801; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Reno (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 207.

In an action against a carrier to recover expense incurred by reason of his child's sickness from exposure, instructions given held not conflicting. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Campbell, 32 C. A. 613, 75 S. W. 564.

It was error to give one instruction that uncontradicted evidence showed that a certain transfer was for a valuable consideration, and another instruction that the question as to whether a valuable consideration was given was for the jury. Eddy v. Bosley, 34 C. A. 116, 78 S. W. 565.

Where it was admitted that a contract had been made between the owner and a building contractor, it was error for the court to submit an issue as to the contractor's right to recover on a quasi contract. Williamson v. D. M. Smith & Co. (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 51.

An instruction that, though the flood overflowing plaintiff's land was unprecedented, yet plaintiff could recover if the overflow was caused by the negligent construction of defendant's trestle, held not in conflict with the balance of the charge. San Antonio & A. P. R. Co. v. Kiersey (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 1045.

A special charge placing the burden of proof on defendant held not erroneous, though the burden of proving the same facts was placed on plaintiff in the main charge. Posener v. Harvey (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 356.

In an action for injuries to a servant, certain instructions held to qualify and supplement each other, and not in conflict with each other. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Meehan (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 190.

An instruction in an action for injury to a railroad employé held, in view of previous instruction, not to authorize recovery of damages without diminution for any contributory negligence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Grenig (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 135.

In trespass to try title for lands in which a railroad acquired an easement by condemnation, instructions that nonuser would not show abandonment, and that it was a question of intent to be gathered from all the circumstances, held merely supplemental to a general charge as to what would constitute abandonment, so that it was not improper as in conflict with the special charges. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Clark (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 989.

An instruction in an action for the wrongful killing of dogs, directing a verdict for plaintiff for the value of the dogs, and an instruction that, if defendant believed that the dogs had killed his sheep and the dogs at the time were killed in his inclosure, the verdict must be for him, are inconsistent. Turner v. Stephens (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1009.

An instruction, in a broker's action for commissions, held not erroneous as conflicting between the parts relating to an implied promise and those relating to an express promise. Carl v. Wolcott (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 334.

In an action to enforce a trust arising out of a contract and out of defendant's purchase of plaintiff's notes sold by the bank to whom he had given them as collateral instructions held conflicting as giving no affirmative and definite rule to enable the jury to properly determine the issue involved. Park v. Pyle (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 445.

248. Undue prominence of particular matters.—A charge held to unfairly present plaintiff's case. Barton v. Stroud-Gibson Grocer Co. (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 1050.

Where the court's general charge has fully presented the theories on which plaintiff seeks to recover, to give special charges in accordance with plaintiff's theories operates to unduly emphasize plaintiff's side of the case. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Terhune (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 74.

Where the purpose of a paragraph of the charge is to apply the principles of law stated in a previous paragraph to the facts, the two paragraphs must be considered together, and are not subject to objection as giving undue emphasis to the proposition therein embraced. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Batchler, 37 C. A. 116, 83 S. W. 902.

Additional instruction relating to matters already covered by other instructions held objectionable only where the repetition gives undue prominence to one phase of the case and is prejudicial. Wolf Cigar Stores Co. v. Kramer, 50 C. A. 411, 109 S. W. 990.

An instruction held properly refused as being fairly covered by an instruction given, and as singling out and giving prominence to particular evidence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cleland, 50 C. A. 499, 110 S. W. 122.

The statement of plaintiffs' petition in an instruction held improper as unduly emphasizing plaintiffs' case. Continental Oil & Cotton Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1178.

The words "specially charged" in an instruction held not to unduly emphasize a party's theory, but to point out a general rule of conclusiveness of a judgment, and an exception thereto. Gee v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 625.

A special charge that amplifies and makes clearer the general charge held not objectionable as giving undue prominence to a point in the case. Kretzschmar v. Peschel (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1021.

A court is not required to give all the charges requested where to do so would give undue emphasis to particular issues. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Sample (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1057.

It is improper to call particular attention to an issue by authorizing recovery thereon in several different paragraphs of the instructions. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Brown (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 1177.

An instruction reciting that it is tendered by plaintiff as the general charge of the court, and is given to the jury as such, is not improper as giving undue prominence to plaintiff's claims. Texas Lumber Mfg. Co. v. Prince (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 231.

249. —— Evidence and matters of fact in general.—It is improper for the court to single out any one fact, and, by too prominently placing the same before the jury, unduly impress them with the idea of its importance. Haney v. Clark, 65 T. 93; M. P. R. Co. v. Christman, 65 T. 369; Burcham v. Gann, 1 N. C. 333; Ft. Worth Pub. Co. v. Hitson, 80 T. 217, 14 S. W. 843; Goodbar v. National Bank, 78 T. 461, 14 S. W. 851; Railway Co. v. Anderson, 79 T. 427, 15 S. W. 484; Same v. Harriett, 80 T. 73, 15 S. W. 556; Ft. Worth Pub. Co. v. Hitson, 80 T. 217, 16 S. W. 551; Telegraph Co. v. Grimes, 82 T. 89, 17 S. W. 831; Shoe Co. v. Partridge, 82 T. 329, 18 S. W. 310; Railway Co. v. Shearer, 1 C. A. 343, 21 S. W. 133; Davis v. Coleman, 16 C. A. 310, 40 S. W. 606; Kershner v. Latimer (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 237; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. O'Connor, 78 S. W. 374; Guarantee Sav., Loan & Investment Co. v. Mitchell, 44 C. A. 165, 99 S. W. 156; Gallagher v. Neilon (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 564; Eastern Ry. Co. of New Mexico v. Littlefield, 135 S. W. 1086; Yealock v. Yealock, 141 S. W. 842; Gilmore v. Brown, 150 S. W. 964.

In charging a jury, questions of fact should be submitted without comment, and care observed to avoid giving prominence to any in such terms as to indicate the tendency of the mind of the trial judge. Lee v. Yandell, 69 T. 34, 6 S. W. 665.

An assumption of a controverted fact in a charge favorable to the complaining party by which such fact is emphasized and made more prominent is no ground for reversal. Ft. Worth Pub. Co. v. Hitson, 80 T. 217, 14 S. W. 843, 16 S. W. 551.

The court should not direct the jury to the evidence of any particular witness for the purpose of determining an issue. Bell v. Hutchings (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 200.

Instruction singling out particular fact in evidence held properly refused. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Green (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 672.

An instruction which indicates that the finding for plaintiff is dependent on the truth of a part only of the material evidence is erroneous. Farnandes v. Schiermann, 23 C. A. 343, 55 S. W. 378.

An instruction on an issue of a homestead right held erroneous, when stating what effect should be given to any particular fact, in the absence of any provision of law giving a conclusive effect to such particular fact. Lauchheimer v. Saunders, 27 C. A. 484, 65 S. W. 500.

Where plaintiff, to avoid a continuance, stipulates that certain facts are true, a charge that the jury should take such facts as true is not objectionable as giving them undue prominence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Lynes (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 1119.

An instruction for defendant, singling out certain testimony which would not of itself constitute a defense, and stating the effect to be given it, should be refused. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Waller, 37 C. A. 515, 84 S. W. 695.

An instruction held erroneous, in giving too great emphasis to particular facts. Dupree & McCutchan v. Texas & P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 647; Darst v. Devini, 46 C. A. 311, 102 S. W. 787; City of Victoria v. Victoria County (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 67; Parlin & Orendorff Co. v. Glover, 55 C. A. 112, 118 S. W. 731; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Bean, 55 C. A. 341, 119 S. W. 328; Van Zandt-Moore Iron Works v. Axtell, 126 S. W. 930; State v. Haley, 142 S. W. 1003.

Instructions as to burden of proof held not to give undue prominence to the rule of law expressed. Rambie v. San Antonio & G. R. R., 45 C. A. 422, 100 S. W. 1022.

An instruction held not objectionable as singling out one fact, and giving undue prominence thereto. Sterling v. De Laune, 47 C. A. 470, 105 S. W. 1169; Beaumont, S. L. & W. R. Co. v. Olmstead, 56 C. A. 96, 120 S. W. 596; Bangle v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 374; Delancey v. Same, 149 S. W. 259.

Where an issue is fully presented in the charge of the court, there is no necessity for repeating it in a special charge. Herring v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 977.

A charge held not to give undue prominence to issues. Beaumont, S. L. & W. R. Co. v. Olmstead, 56 C. A. 96, 120 S. W. 596.

A right to have any group of facts constituting a defense affirmatively presented does not extend to a special charge emphasizing each separate fact constituting the group. Ft. Worth Belt Ry. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 387; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wasson Bros., 126 S. W. 664; Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Meakin, 146 S. W. 1057.

Giving of plaintiffs' requested charge on burden of proof held not to give undue prominence of the necessity of a matter being shown by the preponderance of evidence. Woodmen of the World v. McCoslin (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 894.

Where the court directed the jury's attention to a fact testified to by a witness, it was error to again call the jury's attention to that fact. McCullough Hardware Co. v. Burdett (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 612.

250. —— Nature of action or issue in general.—It is improper for the court to single out and give a charge as to the effect of particular acts of ownership of the husband as touching property in controversy, even if the charge is unobjectionable in law. Mitchell v. Mitchell, 80 T. 101, 15 S. W. 705.

It is error to give in a charge undue importance to one call in a grant over others of equal dignity (Schunior v. Russell, 83 T. 83, 18 S. W. 484); or to any fact by frequent reference (Railway Co. v. Harriett, 80 T. 73, 15 S. W. 556).

An instruction in trespass to try title held erroneous because giving too much weight to the theory of the defendants. Sargent v. Lawrence, 16 C. A. 540, 40 S. W. 1075.

Where issue was whether plaintiff or another was owner of certain cattle alleged to have been illegally attached, an instruction held not erroneous on the ground that it gave too much prominence to plaintiff's theory. Scott v. Childers, 24 C. A. 349, 60 S. W. 775.

Instruction in partition suit on issue of ancestor's residence held not objectionable, as giving undue prominence to the facts. Laferiere v. Richards, 28 C. A. 63, 67 S. W. 125.

Instructions held to place particular stress upon certain testimony. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Fitzpatrick (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 355.

In an action involving the location of a boundary line, an instruction held not erroneous as withdrawing a certain matter from the consideration of the jury and exaggerating the importance of another. Giddings v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 1043.

In an action against a telegraph company for the refusal to receive a message for transmission, an instruction held not erroneous as giving undue prominence to certain evidence. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Simmons (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 686.

In condemnation proceedings, an instruction held injurious to the railroad for giving undue prominence to certain evidence. Panhandle & G. Ry. Co. v. Kirby (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 498.

In an action for wrongful discharge of employé requests for instructions as to isolated facts in evidence held properly refused. Wolf Cigar Stores Co. v. Kramer, 50 C. A. 411, 109 S. W. 990.

An instruction, in an action to recover notes and mortgages assigned by decedent to her son and by him to plaintiff, defended on the ground of the son's fraud, held erroneous as emphasizing the circumstances relied upon by defendants. McKay v. Peterson, 52 C. A. 195, 113 S. W. 981.

In an action for damages from maintaining a nuisance, where the court submitted the issue as to whether or not the operation of defendant's plant constituted a nuisance warranting a recovery by plaintiff, further instructions by the court held erroneous as unduly emphasizing plaintiff's contention. Hamm v. Briant, 57 C. A. 614, 124 S. W. 112; Same v. Gunn (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 113.

In a suit involving conflicting claims to state school land an instruction held erroneous as unduly emphasizing the necessity of plaintiff's personal occupancy, and in excluding the consideration of the acts of his wife. Ericksen v. McWhorter (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 847.

An instruction, in an action for damages for maintaining a nuisance, held to unduly emphasize plaintiffs' contention as to the existence of the nuisance. Continental Oil & Cotton Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1178.

Instruction, on partnership accounting, that certain facts not amounting to an estoppel might be considered on the question of whether land was partnership property, held erroneous as singling out a portion of the evidence. Hengy v. Hengy (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1127.

251. —— Negligence and personal injuries.—A charge on negligence should not declare that certain facts are entitled to special weight. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Syfan (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 551.

An instruction singling out one circumstance from others bearing on the question of negligence, and leaving the jury to determine it from that alone, is error. White v. Houston & T. C. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 382.

Set of general and special instructions in an action against a railway company for negligently causing death held erroneous, because unduly emphasizing particular defense. Lumsden v. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co., 28 C. A. 225, 67 S. W. 168.

Where it was a question as to whether plaintiff had received any injury whatever, an instruction that, if he did not receive any of the injuries complained of, he could not recover, was not erroneous as giving undue prominence to a particular question. Weeks v. Texas Midland R. R., 29 C. A. 148, 67 S. W. 1071.

There being nothing to show that two instructions requested by defendant were not requested at the same time, and defendant not being entitled to both, he could not complain of the court's selection. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Branch, 29 C. A. 144, 68 S. W. 338.

Action of court in submitting certain issue in a supplement to its main charge held not to give undue prominence to that issue. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Coffey (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 721.

In action by locomotive engineer for injuries, held not error to refuse instructions calling attention to the rules of the company and to the effect that a violation was a want of ordinary care. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Mayfield, 29 C. A. 477, 68 S. W. 807.

In a personal injury action, it was error to unnecessarily and repeatedly call the attention of the jury to the defense of contributory negligence. Palfrey v. Texas Cent. Ry. Co., 31 C. A. 552, 73 S. W. 411; Adams v. Weakley, 35 C. A. 371, 80 S. W. 411; Malone v. Texas & P. Ry. Co., 49 C. A. 398, 109 S. W. 430; Van Geem v. Cisco Oil Mill (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1108; Bryson v. Moore, 157 S. W. 233.

For the court to give a new instruction on contributory negligence, on the jury asking for an additional instruction on the subject, is not giving undue prominence to the subject. Lumsden v. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co., 31 C. A. 604, 73 S. W. 428.

In an action against street railway for injuries to a passenger, held proper in charge to single out evidence relied on to show contributory negligence. Pelly v. Denison & S. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 542.

In action for injuries to a servant, instructions as to assumption of risk held not objectionable, as placing the principle of law too prominently before the jury. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Klaus, 34 C. A. 492, 79 S. W. 58.

A negative instruction in favor of defendant held not objectionable as giving undue prominence to the matter stated in a former charge in favor of plaintiff. Ratteree v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 36 C. A. 197, 81 S. W. 566.

In an action against a railroad company for injuries to an employé, it is proper to refuse an instruction which takes from the jury every issue except the one covered by it. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Purdy (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 37.

In an action against connecting carriers for injuries to cattle in transit, instruction held properly refused as singling out particular testimony. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Scoggin & Brown, 40 C. A. 526, 90 S. W. 521.

In action for injuries to passenger, instruction held erroneous as giving undue prominence to particular fact. Moore v. Northern Texas Traction Co., 41 C. A. 583, 95 S. W. 652.

In action for injuries received while leaving a car, instructions held not erroneous as giving undue prominence to the issue of contributory negligence. Rambie v. San Antonio & G. R. R., 45 C. A. 422, 100 S. W. 1022.

In an action for death of a servant, an instruction held not objectionable as giving undue emphasis to and indicating the judge's view on a particular feature of the evidence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Rutland, 45 C. A. 621, 101 S. W. 529.

In an action for injuries at a railroad crossing, it is error to bring out the contributory negligence of plaintiff by charging on such negligence in several variant forms. Buchanan v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 48 C. A. 299, 107 S. W. 552.

Instructions held erroneous as giving too much prominence to the issue of contributory negligence. Malone v. Texas & P. Ry. Co., 49 C. A. 398, 109 S. W. 430; Huber v. Same (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 984.

An instruction in an action against a railway company for injury to a brakeman caused by a defective cross-tie held not objectionable as singling out a particular employé and authorizing recovery if he was negligent. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cleland, 50 C. A. 499, 110 S. W. 122.

The same matter of defense should not be submitted by separate instructions as assumed risk and contributory negligence, thus giving unnecessary prominence to the group of facts. Waggoner v. Sneed, 53 C. A. 278, 118 S. W. 547.

In an action for death, held, that the court unduly emphasized the issue of proximate cause, so that it was likely to be construed as intimating doubt that plaintiff had discharged the burden of proof in relation thereto, and that it constituted reversible error. Dye v. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 893.

An instruction, in a personal injury action, referring to the effect of agitation and excitement on an ordinarily prudent person while acting in an emergency, held improper as calling attention to a particular phase of the evidence. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Casselberry (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1161.

An instruction, in an action for injuries to a patron on amusement grounds maintained by a railroad, which had granted certain exclusive privileges to a third person, that if the jury failed to find the premises where the accident occurred were under the control of the company, or that the placing of the obstruction causing the accident was negligence by the company, its agents or employés, the verdict must be for it, was not objectionable as giving undue prominence to evidence. Wichita Falls Traction Co. v. Adams (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 271.

An instruction that the jury should return a verdict for the defendant if they did not find from a preponderance of the evidence that the car stopped and was started up while the passenger was alighting, but believed from the evidence that she stepped off the car while it was yet in motion, held not to unduly emphasize the burden of proof and the preponderance of evidence. Small v. San Antonio Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 833.

In an action for injuries to a child while crossing railroad yards, the court's charge held not improper as giving undue emphasis to the question of exemption from contributory negligence on account of the tender years of the plaintiff. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Wininger (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 586.

Where the answer pleaded three issues of contributory negligence, all of which were substantiated by testimony, separate charges thereon were not on the weight of the evidence because giving undue prominence to the issue of contributory negligence. Walker v. Metropolitan St. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1142.

252. —— Matters of law and amount of recovery.—Instructions must not call attention to evidence affecting the amount of recovery. Railway Co. v. Anderson, 79 T. 427, 15 S. W. 484; Goodbar v. National Bank, 78 T. 461, 14 S. W. 851; Railway Co. v. Harriett, 80 T. 73, 15 S. W. 556; Ft. Worth Pub. Co. v. Hitson, 80 T. 217, 14 S. W. 843, 16 S. W. 551.

Instruction held not objectionable as singling out and giving undue prominence to particular elements of damage. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Partin, 33 C. A. 173, 76 S. W. 236; Cameron Mill & Elevator Co. v. Anderson, 34 C. A. 105, 78 S. W. 8; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hagan, 42 C. A. 133, 93 S. W. 1014.

Instructions stating applicable rules of law both in the abstract and concrete held not to give undue prominence to the matter treated of. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Martin, 49 C. A. 197, 108 S. W. 981.

An instruction, in a husband's action for injuries to his wife, that the jury might consider the wife's miscarriage in fixing the damages, held not erroneous as placing undue emphasis on the fact mentioned. Citizens' Ry. & Light Co. v. Johns, 52 C. A. 489, 116 S. W. 62.

Repetition in instruction authorizing allowance for "impaired capacity to labor and earn money" held to place undue stress upon that issue, and to tend to induce a double allowance for such loss. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Crannell (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 351.

253. Appeals to sympathy or prejudice.—In an action for wrongful death, an instruction that the jury could not consider grief or sorrow of the living, and loss of the society and companionship of deceased, and his mental or physical suffering, was not objectionable, as exciting sympathy of the jury. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Walker (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 99.

254. Instructions correcting previous erroneous instructions and omissions.—Where the attention of the court is called to an erroneous instruction by a requested instruction, it is error for the court to fail to correct such error by a proper instruction. Watson v. Boswell, 25 C. A. 379, 61 S. W. 407.

The charge not making it plain that to make a carrier negligent in starting before one, who was assisting a passenger to a seat, had got off, his statement of his intention, made to the other, should not only have been in the presence and hearing of the brakeman, but should have been heard and understood by him, a requested instruction, curing the defect, should have been given. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Guess (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1060.

255. No reversal for errors not prejudicial.—See notes under Arts. 1553, 1628.

(B) Particular Actions or Issues

256. In general.—Assignment for benefit of creditors. Jackson v. Harby, 70 T. 411, 8 S. W. 71.

Boundaries. Edwards v. Smith, 71 T. 156, 9 S. W. 77.

Employés. Artusy v. Railway Co., 73 T. 191, 11 S. W. 177; Lumber Co. v. Denham, 85 T. 56, 19 S. W. 1012; Railway Co. v. Silliphant, 70 T. 623, 8 S. W. 673.

Requisites of charge as to fixtures. Railway Co. v. Dunman, 85 T. 176, 19 S. W. 1073.

Trustee's sale. Kidwell v. Carson, 22 S. W. 534, 3 C. A. 327.

It was error to instruct that defendant could not recover for wrongful sequestration if plaintiff had probable cause to fear that the property would be removed from the county, where the allegation in the affidavit was that the mortgagee feared mortgagor would so remove the property. McMillan v. Moon, 18 C. A. 227, 44 S. W. 414.

An instruction held sufficient to inform the jury that an intervener's lien was prior to plaintiff's, unless it had been waived. Seymour Opera House Co. v. Thurston, 18 C. A. 417, 45 S. W. 815.

Instruction in action by chattel mortgagee to recover for illegal seizure by sheriff held erroneous. Jones v. Hess (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 46.

Where the heirs of an estate, which was indebted to the administrator and had many unpaid claims outstanding against it, brought an action against the administrator for devastavit, an instruction that the verdict should be for defendant, in case the estate was insolvent, was proper. Herbert v. Harbert (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 594.

In an action to recover for property sold under a void execution, refusal of certain requested instruction held error. Beck v. Avindino, 29 C. A. 500, 68 S. W. 827.

A charge that defendant was not entitled to recover damages for the wrongful suing out of a writ of sequestration, unless it was fraudulently sued out, held error. Hines v. Shafer (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 562.

In action against railroad for damage to property by closing up a highway leading to plaintiff's residence, refusal of charge as to injury being common to the community at large held proper. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Calkins (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 852.

An instruction as to the duty of a pledgee to collect a collateral note held not objectionable, as limiting the solvency of the maker of the note to the date of its maturity. C. H. Larkin Co. v. Dawson, 37 C. A. 345, 83 S. W. 882.

In a suit to restrain a city from selling electricity to private citizens for lighting, an instruction held erroneous. Crouch v. City of McKinney, 47 C. A. 54, 104 S. W. 518.

In an action for damages for alleged wrongful levy of an execution, certain special charges held erroneous. First Bank of Mertens v. Steffens, 51 C. A. 211, 111 S. W. 782.

In an action between parties to a joint purchase of land, the court properly charged that, if the jury found in accordance with defendants' contention, they should return a verdict in plaintiff's favor for the entire tract of the land, but for no money. Bowman v. Saigling (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 1082.

Instruction as to navigability of waters held inaccurate. Orange Lumber Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 563.

In an action against a city on two promissory notes, a charge held proper. City of Cleburne v. Gutta Percha & Rubber Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1072.

Instructions in an action by an attorney to recover compensation held not erroneous. Railey v. Davis (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 434.

In trespass to try title against an attorney and another, submission of issue whether expenditures were made by them for plaintiff's benefit, and not for their own benefit, held proper on the question of reimbursement. Home Inv. Co. v. Strange (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 510.

257. Adverse possession.—Where there was evidence that plaintiff's agent had possession, though his house was located in a street outside the lines of the land, an instruction depriving plaintiff of the benefit of such possession held erroneous. Travis v. Hall, 37 C. A. 143, 83 S. W. 425.

Instruction as to adverse possession, as shown by a fence, held insufficient. Sharrock v. Ritter (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 156.

Request for instruction as to adverse possession held properly refused. Cox v. Sherman Hotel Co. (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 808.

In trespass to try title, an instruction held not erroneous as leading the jury to believe that possession of land other than that sued for would cause limitations to run in defendant's favor as to the land in controversy. Yarborough v. Maves, 41 C. A. 446, 91 S. W. 624.

A certain instruction as to the inclosure of land held adversely, by a natural obstruction, held properly amended. Dunn v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 952.

Defendant held not entitled to a charge on the five-year statute of limitations. Sellman v. Daniel (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 81.

An instruction authorizing recovery by defendant under his adverse possession held sufficient, though not defining peaceable and adverse possession separately, and in the language of the statute. Stoker v. Fugitt (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 310.

Evidence held to raise the issue of adverse possession, justifying instruction thereon. Brunner Fire Co. v. Payne, 54 C. A. 501, 118 S. W. 602; Honea v. Arledge, 56 C. A. 296, 120 S. W. 508.

Submission of a question as to whether defendants' ancestor acknowledged that he held possession of the land in controversy as tenant for A. held erroneous. Adams v. Burrell (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 581.

Instructions held properly to present the defense of title by adverse possession. Ragon v. Craver (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1087.

In an action for partition in which defendants pleaded the statute of limitations, an instruction using the word "jointly" in charging on the effect of defendants' adverse possession, held not improper. Wrighton v. Butler (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 472.

In trespass to try title, an instruction as to adverse possession held erroneous. Fleming v. Mistletoe Heights Land Co. (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 923.

Charge held not an affirmative misdirection. Dean v. Furrh (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 343.

An instruction as to the inclusion in a deed of land claimed by adverse possession held not erroneous. Id.

258. Agency and respondeat superior.—Agency. Bowie Lumber Co. v. Lyon, 2 C. A. 659, 21 S. W. 778.

A charge that a corporation could acquire notice of a deceit practiced upon it in making a loan otherwise than through its agents held error. Texas Loan & Savings Co. v. Allen (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 883.

An instruction as to liability of a railroad for an assault by its conductor in ejecting a trespasser held properly given. Southern Pac. Co. v. Bender, 24 C. A. 133, 57 S. W. 574.

Instruction that a corporation selling gasoline was not liable for an act of a mere agent held properly refused, in an action to recover for death of person in an explosion of 87° gasoline sold by the agent without warning purchaser of the danger. Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v. Davis, 24 C. A. 508, 60 S. W. 453.

Where a railroad station agent, acting within the scope of his authority, unlawfully locked men in a box car and caused their arrest and imprisonment, an instruction that the company was liable, if he acted within the apparent scope of his authority, was without prejudice. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Parker, 29 C. A. 264, 68 S. W. 831; Same v. Cope, Id.

In an action against a corporation for legal services performed pursuant to a contract, the refusal to charge that a director employing plaintiff was not authorized to employ any one to perform legal services held erroneous. Gulf & I. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Campbell (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 972.

In an action against a railroad for death of an engineer through the derailment of his engine at an open switch, a charge that negligence of a servant was negligence of the master held proper under the evidence. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Bradt, 57 C. A. 82, 122 S. W. 59.

In an action on a note given for the purchase price of certain farming tools and machinery, an instruction on the subject of settlement through an agent held proper. Lemond v. Smith (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 751.

259. Assumption of risk.—Instruction in an action for personal injuries construed, and held not open to the objection that it indicated that, if plaintiff's injury was caused by an ordinary risk of employment, defendant would be liable. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Emery, 14 C. A. 551, 40 S. W. 149.

A charge as to assumption of risks held proper. Jones v. Shaw, 16 C. A. 290, 41 S. W. 690; St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Nelson, 20 C. A. 536, 49 S. W. 710; B. Lantry Sons v. Lowrie (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 837; Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Newport, 26 C. A. 583, 65 S. W. 657; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hawk, 30 C. A. 142, 69 S. W. 1037; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Wilder, 33 C. A. 72, 75 S. W. 546; International & G. N. R. Co. v. McVey (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 991; Haywood v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 38 C. A. 101, 85 S. W. 433; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 738; Id., 48 C. A. 135, 106 S. W. 773; Cunningham v. Neal, 49 C. A. 613, 109 S. W. 455; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. McCoy, 54 C. A. 278, 117 S. W. 446; Farmers' Cotton Oil Co. v. Barnes (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 369; Phillips v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas, 136 S. W. 542; Friedrich v. Geisler, 141 S. W. 1079; Knox v. Robbins, 151 S. W. 1134; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hedric, 154 S. W. 633.

An instruction relating to plaintiff's assumption of risk in attempting to uncouple a car from a tender having a defective drawhead held proper. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Gourley, 21 C. A. 579, 54 S. W. 307.

Instruction as to assumption of risk held properly refused. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Newburn (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 542; Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Williams, 117 S. W. 1043; Freeman v. Fuller, 127 S. W. 1194; Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Thompson, 140 S. W. 1148.

In an action for injuries sustained while coupling cars, held error to charge that if coupling pins were defective, and the fact was known to plaintiff, and he continued in service of defendant, he assumed the risk. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Baker (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 964.

An instruction held erroneous. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 1064; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Helm, 93 S. W. 697; Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Forrester, 137 S. W. 162.

An instruction that the master is not liable, if the defects were as open to the observation of the employé as of the master, held proper. Moore v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 30 C. A. 266, 69 S. W. 997.

In action by brakeman for injuries, instruction on assumption of risk held improperly qualified by requiring finding of appreciation of danger. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Oldridge, 33 C. A. 436, 76 S. W. 581.

Refusal to instruct that plaintiff assumed the risk of taking the locomotive out with a defective headlight held error. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Fitzpatrick (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 406.

In action against railroad for injury to engineer in collision with forward section of his train, charge on assumption of risk held erroneous. Quinn v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 395.

In an action for injuries to a car inspector, an instruction on assumed risk held sufficient, whether the risk was one ordinarily incident to the work or an extraordinary risk attendant on conditions or defects of which plaintiff had or might have acquired knowledge. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rea (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 428.

In an action for injuries to a brakeman by falling between certain cars negligently left uncoupled, an instruction on assumed risk held not prejudicial to defendant, but to place too great a burden on plaintiff. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Pope, 43 C. A. 616, 97 S. W. 534.

An instruction held not defective, in requiring that the servant acquired knowledge of the danger in the discharge of his duties, instead of "in the exercise of ordinary care in doing his work." Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Harris, 48 C. A. 434, 107 S. W. 108.

An instruction held not erroneous for not distinguishing between the risks assumed and those not assumed. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Mills, 49 C. A. 349, 108 S. W. 480.

An instruction held too restricted as to risks assumed by employé. Kansas City Southern Ry. Co. v. Williams (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 196.

The defense that a servant knew or should have known of defects in an appliance by which he was injured cannot be more fairly presented than by the ordinary charge of assumed risk. Waggoner v. Sneed, 53 C. A. 278, 118 S. W. 547.

In an action for injuries to a brakeman, held, that a charge was in strict accord with the definition of "assumed risk" as announced by the Supreme Court. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams, 56 C. A. 246, 120 S. W. 553.

In an action for injuries to a section hand while operating a defective hand car, an instruction on assumed risk held to substantially conform to Laws 1905, c. 163. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Swearingen (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1192.

In an action for death of a telephone lineman from a live wire charged by a sagging wire of defendant, held error to refuse a special charge. Cleburne Electric & Gas Co. v. McCoy (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 457.

Charge as to assumption of risk held not to be understood as instructing that, if breaking of lever caused injury, the jury should find for defendant, regardless of other grounds of negligence. Texas Co. v. Garrett (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 812.

In an action for injuries to a servant, an instruction on the question of concurring negligence, held not erroneous. Southwestern States Portland Cement Co. v. Riser (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 1188.

A charge requested by defendant, in an action for injury to a minor employé, that there could be no recovery if the dangers incident to the work were as open and obvious to the employé as to defendant and the other employés held bad. Chicago, R. I. & E. P. Ry. Co. v. Easley (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 785.

In an action for injuries to a train porter by falling from a trestle at night, certain instructions held to amount to a charge that, if plaintiff's injury was caused by a risk ordinarily incident to the business in which he was engaged, he could not recover. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bunkley (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 937.

An instruction, in a mine employé's action for injuries due to a defective stair in the manway, that plaintiff assumed the risk of injury, if the accident was one ordinarily incident to the business of sending men into the mine through the manway, was not misleading in the use of the word "accident." Consumers' Lignite Co. v. Hubner (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 249.

The court, in submitting the issue of assumption of risks, should inform the jury that the defense cannot prevail if, under the facts, a man of ordinary prudence would have continued in the use of the defective appliance causing the injury complained of. Pope v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Sup.) 155 S. W. 1175.

260. Attachment.—Attachment cases. Blum v. Strong, 71 T. 321, 6 S. W. 167; Mayer v. Duke, 72 T. 445, 10 S. W. 565.

An instruction in an action for wrongful attachment held proper. Armstrong v. Ames & Frost Co., 17 C. A. 46, 43 S. W. 302.

An instruction on trial of right of property attached held proper. Awalt v. Schooler (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 302.

261. Bills and notes.—Instruction held not to make recovery depend upon possession, ownership, and control of notes. Matula v. Lane, 22 C. A. 391, 55 S. W. 504.

The refusal to give an instruction, in an action by the indorsee on a note which could be paid by the tender of satisfactory notes to payee, that, if the payee made certain statements, the verdict should be for the maker, held not error. Ellis v. Randle, 24 C. A. 475, 60 S. W. 462.

In an action on a negotiable note transferred as collateral, an instruction as to defenses held erroneous, both under the laws of Texas and under the laws of Missouri, where the note was given, as the same was pleaded. National Bank of Commerce v. Kenney, 98 T. 293, 83 S. W. 368.

In an action on a note by an indorsee against the maker, a certain instruction held erroneous. N. Nigro & Co. v. Security Bank of Minnesota (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 375.

In an action on a note for the price of improvements on certain state land, an instruction held properly given as presenting affirmatively plaintiff's theory of the case. Taylor v. McFatter (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 395.

In an action on notes purchased by plaintiff, an instruction held properly refused. McCormick v. Kampmann (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 492.

262. Bona fide purchase.—Bona fide purchaser. Bergen v. Marble Yard, 72 T. 53, 11 S. W. 1027.

262½. Boundaries.—Where there was evidence to show an agreed boundary, an instruction that, if the line was agreed on and was acquiesced in as the true line, to find for defendant, held erroneous, as making agreed boundary depend on acquiescence. Merrell v. Kenney (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 423.

An instruction as to the marking of a boundary held error. Vogt v. Geyer (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 1100.

In an action to recover land, the determining point of plaintiff's land, which was a portion of the M. & S. surveys, being the southwest corner of the M. survey, held, that an instruction that the jury were to determine the location of the S. survey from its field notes was inapplicable and misleading. Halsell v. McCutchen (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 72.

In action to recover land, the determining point of plaintiff's land being the southwest corner of the M. survey, held, that an instruction that if the jury are unable to determine the dividing lines between a system of surveys, and there was an excess, the lines were to be found by apportioning the excess according to acreage, was inapplicable and misleading. Id.

In a suit to determine a boundary, an instruction authorizing the jury to determine the corner in controversy, according as they found it was placed at the point claimed by plaintiff or defendant, held improper. Matthews v. Thatcher, 33 C. A. 133, 76 S. W. 61.

Charge in boundary suit held erroneous, as placing too great a burden on plaintiff. Masterson v. Ribble, 34 C. A. 270, 78 S. W. 358.

In an action involving the location of a boundary line, an instruction as to the issues in the case held not erroneous. Giddings v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 1043.

In an action to recover certain land, an instruction that plaintiff should recover all of the land sued for, or none of it, held error. Clawson v. Wilkins (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 1086.

On an issue as to the location of certain surveys, an instruction as to the rule to be followed for determining their location on the ground held erroneous. Upshur County v. Lewright (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 441.

In an action of trespass to try title to land by a party claiming under a partition deed, instructions as to finding of location of disputed boundary line held proper. Brodbent v. Carper (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 183.

Instruction to jury in a boundary suit to ascertain at what variation the lines should be run to follow the original survey held not error. Battles v. Barnett (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 817.

Instructions in an action to try title to a strip of land lying between a boundary line as fixed by agreement and the original boundary line held properly refused. Louisiana & T. Lumber Co. v. Dupuy, 52 C. A. 46, 113 S. W. 973.

In a suit to try title, instructions held not misleading. Id.

In trespass to try title, where it was admitted that plaintiff owned all the land in dispute, if none of it was included within the boundary of a certain addition west thereof or within certain lots south thereof, a proper charge authorizing the jury to locate the east line of the addition and the south line of the lots should have been given. Miles v. Eckert (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1137.

In a suit to establish a boundary line, the court held required to give a charge as to the effect of calls for course and distance instead of calls for natural or artificial objects. Runkle v. Smith (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 745.

The refusal of a requested charge in a boundary case held not error. Collins v. Warfield (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 107.

In trespass to try title to determine the location of a boundary, an instruction held not objectionable, as authorizing the jury to disregard field notes and accept the tracing of the lines by witnesses. Hermann v. McIver (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 798.

263. Brokers' commissions.—In an action by a real estate agent to recover commissions, an instruction that, if he procured purchasers willing and able to buy the land at prices and on terms satisfactory to the owner, he could recover, held not error. McLane v. Goode (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 707.

In a suit to recover for services in promoting a sale, a certain instruction as to defendant's liability in case plaintiff did his part, held proper. Alexander v. Wakefield (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 77.

In real estate broker's action for commissions, submission to jury of existence of contracts between landowner and other agents held error. Yarborough v. Creager (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 645.

In an action by a broker for commissions on a sale of land, the giving and refusing of certain instructions held error. Harrison v. Houston, 40 C. A. 536, 91 S. W. 647; Taylor v. Read, 51 C. A. 600, 113 S. W. 191; Stephenson v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 1196.

In an action by a broker for commissions for the sale of land, an instruction held proper. Fordtran v. Stowers, 52 C. A. 226, 113 S. W. 631; Akin v. Poffenberger, 53 C. A. 340, 116 S. W. 615; Weinman v. Spencer (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 209; Lewis v. Vaughan, 144 S. W. 1186; Hardesty v. Cavin, 149 S. W. 367.

In a broker's action for commissions on the sale of land, an instruction authorizing recovery held erroneous as omitting the necessity that plaintiff must have been the procuring cause of the sale. Jackson v. Stephenson, 52 C. A. 532, 114 S. W. 848.

In a suit against three connecting carriers for damage to stock, it was charged that, if the animals were delivered to the initial carrier in a sound condition, and the car furnished by it was defective, it was guilty of negligence, or, if the animals while en route were handled unnecessarily rough, and were unnecessarily delayed and injured, when they reached their destination, to find against the last carrier, unless the initial carrier furnished a defective car, and the injuries were proximately caused thereby, and the last carrier was not negligent in handling the shipment, or the injuries did not occur on its line, that if the initial carrier furnished a defective car, which was the proximate cause of the injuries, and it was negligent in handling the animals, and as a proximate result they were injured on its line, verdict should be against it, and that if the second carrier was negligent in handling the animals, and as a proximate result the injuries occurred on its line, to find against it. Held, that the instructions were not subject to objection as authorizing recovery against the first two carriers, if the animals were received by the initial carrier in sound condition and reached their destination in an injured condition, irrespective of whether the injuries were caused by the carriers' negligence in the manner of handling, or the dispatch with which they were handled in transportation. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Franklin (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 1150.

The second carrier alleged it owned the line of railroad connecting with the road of the initial carrier; and, while the evidence showed that the employés operating the train of which the cars containing the animals were a part were in the employ of the initial carrier, it did not appear that the second carrier's line had been lawfully leased, and was not in its possession or control, but the second carrier's foreman and agent at the initial point of shipment over its line testified that he received the shipments from the initial carrier at such place, and he checked, handled, and delivered the same to the last carrier. Held, that this was sufficient to justify judgment against the second carrier for damage inflicted on the stock while in its possession at such place, and while being transported over its road, and hence it was not error to charge that if it was negligent in handling the animals, as alleged, and as a result injuries thereto, if any, occurred on its line, verdict should be against it. Id.

Where in an action for commissions for selling realty the question of plaintiff's agency was the material issue, it was error to refuse a charge defining agency and the circumstances under which plaintiff would be an agent for the sale of the property. Id.

In an action for broker's commissions for selling realty, a requested charge making the right to recover dependent upon defendant's expectations that he would be required to pay a commission was objectionable. Toland v. Williams & Wiley (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 392.

In an action for broker's commissions, a request to charge held properly refused as imposing an unwarrantable condition on plaintiff's right to recover. Pope v. Ansley Realty Co. (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1103.

In an action by a broker for commissions for procuring an exchange of real estate, instructions, submitting the question whether an agreement for exchange was made and making the right to recover dependent on an affirmative finding, held proper. Lanham v. Cockrell (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 189.

264. Carriage of goods and live stock.—Railway company held liable, as both carrier and warehouseman, for conversion of goods received for shipment; and hence it was immaterial that the court erroneously allowed a recovery on defendant's liability as a carrier. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hall & Brown Woodworking Mach. Co., 23 C. A. 211, 56 S. W. 140.

In an action for injuries to stock by two connecting carriers, an instruction held not error as tending to minimize the injuries sustained on one of the lines. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Hall, 31 C. A. 464, 72 S. W. 1052.

In an action against a carrier for injuries to cattle shipped, plaintiff could not complain of an instruction requiring that defendants must have handled the cattle with ordinary care before they would be excused from liability for such shrinkage and stale appearance as is usually incident to shipments of cattle when handled the length of trip plaintiff's cattle were handled. Baker v. Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas, 57 C. A. 25, 121 S. W. 907.

In an action against a railroad for damages to plaintiff's stock in transportation, where the evidence showed that the stock was shipped over defendant's road to W. and thence to H. over another road, and that they were kept in stockpens in W. a whole day awaiting shipment to H., defendant was not liable for depreciation in the market value of the animals on their arrival at destination in excess of such as resulted from injuries occurring on its line, and hence an instruction allowing further damages for injuries occurring after termination of the shipment over defendant's road was erroneous. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Jones (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 194.

Where, in an action against a carrier for delay in transporting live stock, the carrier sought to excuse the delay in starting the shipment because of a shortage of cars resulting from an unprecedented demand, an instruction that such a condition was an excuse for not shipping the stock promptly was correct so far as applicable. Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Ramsey (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 1184.

In an action against a connecting carrier for injuries to live stock from a delay in shipment, an instruction, that the connecting carrier is not responsible for any agreement between the shipper and the agent of the initial carrier as to the cattle going through to destination in the cars in which they were shipped, is properly refused, where the court charged that the connecting carrier would only be liable for unreasonable delay, after the cattle were tendered to it, and the evidence showed that the initial carrier refused to agree to let its cars go off its line on a through shipment, and the only evidence that the appellees were relying on the cars of the initial carrier going through was the testimony of one of the plaintiffs on cross-examination that he did not put in an order to the connecting carrier for cars ahead of time because his understanding was that the cattle would go on through, and he never thought about getting any more cars. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Leslie (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 824.

In an action against connecting carriers for injuries to a shipment of live stock, the court instructed for one carrier that if the jury believed the shipment went forward on such carrier's line on the first train out of the place at which such carrier received the shipment, and that any delay or injury at such place was due to awaiting the departure of the first train, and such delay, if any, was not unreasonable, the carrier was not liable therefor. Held, that the instruction was not erroneous, for, while a delay in the shipment could not be justified by a mere showing that it went forward on the first train, the jury were also required to believe that such delay was not only necessary, but reasonable. Williams & Hawkins v. Gulf & I. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 390.

Charge held not to contravene the federal statute as to unloading cattle in transit. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Drahn (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 357.

Instruction held to properly charge a railroad company's duty to furnish pens properly equipped for unloading, watering, and feeding cattle en route. Id.

An instruction that defendants, connecting carriers, were only required to use ordinary care to ship the cattle to their destination within a reasonable time, and that unless they or some one of them were negligent in shipping the cattle to their destination, the finding should be for defendants on the issue of delay, was erroneous as permitting recovery for delays if any one of the companies was negligent in roughly handling the cattle. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Brown (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 1177.

An instruction on the liability of a carrier for injuries to cattle from salt left or placed in the feeding pens where they were unloaded for rest and feed held sufficient and proper. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Meyer (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 309.

Instruction as to carrier's duty in providing for the feeding and watering of stock in transitu held proper. Id.

265. Carriage of passengers.—In an action against a carrier for injuries received by a passenger, an instruction as to the performance of the defendant's contract held improperly refused. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Martin, 26 C. A. 231, 63 S. W. 1089.

An instruction in an action by a passenger against a railroad company for setting her down at the wrong station held erroneous. Texas Midland R. Co. v. Terry, 27 C. A. 341, 65 S. W. 697.

In an action for negligently compelling a first-class passenger to ride in second-class car, certain instruction held properly refused. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Kingston, 30 C. A. 24, 68 S. W. 518.

In an action against a carrier for showing a passenger to the car of another company, instructions held erroneous. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Evans, 30 C. A. 252, 70 S. W. 351.

Where plaintiff claimed that she was caused to alight at the wrong station by the miscalling thereof, defendant held entitled to a charge that if the station was correctly called, and plaintiff alighted without the knowledge of the conductor, and the brakeman who assisted her off did not know she was alighting at the wrong station, they should find for defendant. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Stone-De Lane (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 906.

266. Consideration and want or failure thereof.—In an action on a note, an instruction held to sufficiently submit the issue of consideration. Blair v. Nueces River Valley R. Co. (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 713.

267. Conspiracy.—In an action for damages for a conspiracy to injure plaintiffs' business a charge held properly refused. American Freehold Land Mortgage Co. of London v. Brown (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 856.

In an action for conspiracy, an instruction that if one of the defendants was not a party to the fraud or had not conspired, or if another was not plaintiff's agent, the jury should find for the defendants, held properly refused. Weatherred v. Finley, 57 C. A. 50, 121 S. W. 895.

In an action for conspiracy a requested charge held objectionable as misleading the jury to disregard or minimize the weight of a subsequent conveyance to one of the conspirators as affecting the original transaction. Id.

268. Contracts.—Summerhill v. Hanner, 72 T. 224, 9 S. W. 881.

Instructions in an action for breach of contract not to engage in business in a town held to submit the issues raised. Crump v. Ligon, 37 C. A. 172, 84 S. W. 250.

In an action for commissions on a contract of employment, an instruction concerning the intention of the parties in making the contract, etc., held not objectionable as making the construction of the written contract of controlling effect. Houston Ice & Brewing Co. v. Nicolini (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 84.

In an action for work done and material furnished for a building, an instruction held to properly state the issues. Bell v. Keays (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 813.

In an action on a contract, an instruction held not erroneous. Baldwin v. Polti, 45 C. A. 638, 101 S. W. 543.

In an action for breach of contract to thresh a crop of rice, a charge that defendant was only obligated to exercise ordinary care to perform his contract was properly refused. Kerr v. Blair, 47 C. A. 406, 105 S. W. 548.

A paragraph of a charge for breach of a contract to furnish sufficient water for plaintiff's rice crop held not subject to certain objection. Kelly v. Corrington (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 1155.

Instruction in an action on a contract to furnish architect's plans held not erroneous. Hall v. Parry, 55 C. A. 40, 118 S. W. 561.

Under facts shown, in an action for breach of a building contract, held, that an instruction on substantial performance was properly given. Stude v. Koehler (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 193.

In an action for compensation under a well-drilling contract, an instruction that, if defendant was present and consented to the work, he could not claim damage for breach of contract held proper. Goodwin v. Biddy (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 739.

Where defendant agreed that plaintiff should complete certain bridge piers and charge the expense to him, and that he should exercise ordinary care and reasonable skill, an instruction, in an action by plaintiff for such expenses, that the plaintiff should exercise "reasonable economy" was proper and not misleading. El Paso Bridge & Iron Co. v. Dunham (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1131.

269. —— Sales.—Where the owner of a decree foreclosing a vendor's lien made an agreement to convey the premises to the judgment debtor, an instruction submitting the issue whether payment of the consideration for such agreement extinguished the lien held proper. First Nat. Bank v. Stephens, 19 C. A. 560, 47 S. W. 832.

An instruction, in an action for the purchase price of boxes, that if plaintiff undertook to furnish a certificate of exportation, and failed to do so, the jury should find for defendant, held proper under the evidence. Pierpont Mfg. Co. v. Goodman Produce Co. (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 347.

Under the evidence in an action to foreclose a vendor's lien held error to charge, without modification that the fact that a lien was not retained in the deed or note was not sufficient to justify a finding that the lien was waived. Cross v. Kennedy (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 318.

On issue as to whether horses delivered to defendant complied with the contract between the parties, a failure to charge that horses must have fulfilled certain requirements held not error. Stafford v. Christian (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 595.

In an action for damages because of defendant's failure to deliver a machine sold to plaintiff, an instruction on an issue raised by the evidence held erroneously refused. Fred W. Wolf Co. v. Galbraith, 35 C. A. 505, 80 S. W. 648.

In action for breach of contract by the seller of cattle, an instruction held erroneous. Miller v. Mosely (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 648.

In an action for the price of goods sold, an instruction held not erroneous as ambiguous, misleading, or on the weight of the testimony. Braun & Ferguson Co. v. Paulson (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 617.

An instruction under a defense of breach of warranty against notes held properly refused. Adams v. Gary Lumber Co., 54 C. A. 477, 117 S. W. 1017.

An instruction in an action brought by a seller of coal to recover damages for breach of contract held proper. Maricle v. McAlister Fuel Co., 55 C. A. 178, 121 S. W. 221.

In an action for the price of goods bought, a certain charge held properly refused. Plotner & Stoddard v. Markham Warehouse & Elevator Co. (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 443.

A suit for the price of cotton seed held to require a stated instruction. Paine v. Argyle Mercantile Co. (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 895.

In an action on a note given for the purchase price of an automobile, an instruction held improper. Flint v. Newton (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 820.

In a suit for specific performance of a contract for the sale of land, or for damages in the alternative, the court, in addition to a charge on the measure of damages, should have instructed that, in the absence of fraud in procuring the contract, it was enforceable against the cotenant executing it, and on the other if he authorized or ratified it. Naylor v. Parker (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 93.

In an action upon an account for lumber sold and delivered, a charge held correct. Baldwin v. J. B. Farthing Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 980.

A requested charge that, if the seller did not deliver the cattle, and the buyer tendered their full value, the jury should find for the buyer, in an action for the price, held properly refused. Bourn v. Gray (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 356.

270. —— Transmission of telegrams and telephonic service.—In a suit for failure to deliver a message, whereby plaintiff was deprived of being with his dying wife till after she was unconscious, held error to refuse to charge that he could not recover if she was conscious after his arrival. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Stacy (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 100.

Instructions as to the liability of a company negligently failing to deliver a message to plaintiff living outside delivery limits held erroneous. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Redinger, 22 C. A. 362, 54 S. W. 417.

Where the court instructed that, if the company did not exercise ordinary care, there should be a verdict for plaintiff held not error not to define its care as including skill and diligence of its servants. Hargrave v. Western Union Tel. Co. (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 687.

Held not error to refuse to instruct that, in the transmission of a death message, the highest degree of care and diligence was required. Id.

An instruction held erroneous, as not stating that the company was not liable for negligence in an attempted delivery at night, when the contract for transmission only required its delivery on the following day. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Rawls (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 136.

An instruction that a telegraph company is required to accept, transmit, and deliver a message with reasonable promptness is erroneous, as indicating that the duty to deliver the message is absolute, instead of only requiring the company to exercise ordinary care. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Hays (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 171.

An instruction held erroneous. Western Union Tel. Co. v. McNairy, 34 C. A. 389, 78 S. W. 969.

Request to charge that defendant was not an insurer held properly refused. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Adams, 39 C. A. 517, 87 S. W. 1060.

As to a telegram announcing illness of plaintiff's son, requests to charge for defendant, if plaintiff could not have reached his son "by train," held properly refused. Id.

An instruction held inaccurate as to the duty of the company as to transmission and delivery. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. McDonald, 42 C. A. 229, 95 S. W. 691.

As to negligent delay in the transmission and delivery of a death message, a requested instruction held properly refused. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Cook, 45 C. A. 87, 99 S. W. 1131.

An instruction held proper. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. True (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 1180.

Held proper to refuse to instruct that the company was not required to deliver the message outside of the town to which it was addressed. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Gulick, 48 C. A. 78, 106 S. W. 698.

In an action for damages for delay in sending a telegram requesting plaintiff's father to send some one to her, a charge authorizing a recovery if her brother was prevented from arriving in time by defendant's negligence held not erroneous. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Landry (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 461.

A charge making plaintiff's recovery depend upon proof of breach of a special contract for immediate transmission and delivery of the message held proper. Starkey v. Western Union Telegraph Co., 53 C. A. 333, 115 S. W. 853.

In an action against a telephone company for failure to notify plaintiff of a sick call, an instruction held properly refused. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Owens (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 89.

Held error to submit issue of negligence in failing to deliver it at a certain time. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Cobb (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 717.

In a suit for failure to promptly transmit and deliver an unrepeated message, a charge held to give defendant the benefit of all it was entitled to as to error in transmission. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Bennett (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 151.

An instruction as to the duty of defendant to make an effort to deliver the message held not objectionable as directing the jury that it was defendant's duty to exercise ordinary care to deliver the message beyond the free delivery limits, even at the expense of extra cost to it. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Timmons (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 376.

A certain instruction was held not to make it an insurer of the prompt transmission and delivery of the message. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Gilliland (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 212.

The instruction that a telegraph company must use "reasonable care" in transmitting and delivering messages imposes no higher degreee of care on the company than "ordinary care," as the two terms are synonymous. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Guinn (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 616.

Where the evidence showed that there was no demand for delivery charges, and also that the addressee was within the free delivery limits, where he was well known, after the telegrams arrived, it was not error to instruct to find for plaintiff if defendant failed to exercise proper diligence to find plaintiff and deliver the telegrams. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1169.

271. Quantum meruit.—In an action for services in selling cattle under contract, an instruction authorizing a recovery on a quantum meruit held error. Frey v. Klar (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 211.

In an action for commissions for selling land, held error to refuse a charge that plaintiff could only recover reasonable compensation for the value of his services; there being no express contract. Toland v. Williams & Wiley (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 392.

272. Contributory negligence.—Contributory negligence. Railway Co. v. McClain, 80 T. 85, 15 S. W. 789; Railway Co. v. Buford, 21 S. W. 272, 2 C. A. 115.

An instruction as to what constitutes contributory negligence held not sufficiently specific. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hines (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 152.

Instruction as to contributory negligence held erroneous. Culpepper v. International & G. N. Ry. Co., 90 T. 627, 40 S. W. 386; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Hay, 28 C. A. 318, 67 S. W. 171.

Where contributory negligence is an issue, the court should instruct so as to apply the law to the facts upon that question. Planters' Oil Co. v. Mansell (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 913.

Refusal to give an instruction on contributory negligence held erroneous. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Simon (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 309.

Charge defining contributory negligence held erroneous, as ambiguous and confusing. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Reveley, 24 C. A. 293, 58 S. W. 845.

In an action for injuries from a collision with an obstruction in a city street, an instruction as to the rate of speed at which plaintiff was driving held proper. Luke v. City of El Paso (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 363.

An instruction on contributory negligence held sufficient. Sherman, S. & S. Ry. Co. v. Eaves, 25 C. A. 409, 61 S. W. 550; Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Sage (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 1038; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Burns, 91 S. W. 618.

Objection to an instruction on contributory negligence held hypercritical. Weeks v. Texas Midland R. R., 29 C. A. 148, 67 S. W. 1071.

In an action for intestate's death from smallpox, inoculated by the negligence of defendant's nurse, an instruction on intestate's contributory negligence held properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Freeman (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 542.

Instruction that persons traveling on streets must use "due care" held properly refused. City of San Antonio v. Talerico (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 28.

In an action against a railroad company for damages caused by the construction of an embankment, a charge that plaintiff was not entitled to recover, if guilty of contributory negligence, held erroneous. Albers v. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co., 36 C. A. 186, 81 S. W. 828.

An instruction defining contributory negligence as negligence of the party injured, which directly and proximately contributed to and caused the injury, was proper. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Tullis, 41 C. A. 219, 91 S. W. 317.

General charge on contributory negligence held not subject to certain technical objections. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Kitt (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 598.

In an action against a city for the destruction of a wall by surface water, an instruction relative to contributory negligence held properly refused. City of Houston v. Richardson & Southerland, 42 C. A. 147, 94 S. W. 454.

In an action against a hirer of a livery team for negligently overdriving the team, the failure to charge on the issue of contributory negligence held erroneous. Edwards v. Adams (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 898.

Charge authorizing plaintiff to recover, "provided such person should not be cut off from his claim for damages by reason of his own contributory negligence," held ambiguous and erroneous. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Guinn (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 959.

273. —— Children and persons under physical disability.—A charge held proper on drunkenness, as affecting reasonable care of one approaching a crossing. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Harris, 22 C. A. 16, 53 S. W. 599.

A charge upon the question of the intoxication of deceased held erroneous, in an action against a railroad company for negligently causing death. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Matthews, 28 C. A. 92, 66 S. W. 588, 67 S. W. 788.

In an action for injuries to a child while trespassing in a ginhouse, refusal of an instruction that if he had been ejected, and thereafter returned and was injured by getting too near the ginhouse, he could not recover, held error. North Texas Const. Co. v. Bostick, 98 T. 239, 83 S. W. 12.

In an action for injuries to a person on a railroad track, a requested instruction that, if plaintiff remained on the track in a state of partial or total intoxication, he could not recover, held properly refused. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Davis (Civ. App) 84 S. W. 669.

In an action for the death of a boy killed on track, a requested instruction as to care required of boy held properly refused. Rio Grande, S. M. & P. Ry. Co. v. Martinez, 39 C. A. 460, 87 S. W. 853.

In an action for the death of a boy on track, an instruction as to what omissions on the part of defendant would have constituted negligence held not erroneous. Id.

In an action for injuries to a child, received while stealing a ride on a freight car, issue as to whether person injured was of such tender age and inexperience as to be incapable of understanding the dangers to which he exposed himself held one which should be submitted to the jury apart from other questions regarding contributory negligence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Davis (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 939.

Requested charge upon the contributory negligence of a person seven years old struck by a train held misleading, and instruction given proper. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Poteet, 53 C. A. 44, 115 S. W. 883.

The issue of the contributory negligence of a child seven years old struck by a train held to have been as fully and fairly submitted as the railroad had a right to demand. Id.

In an action for injuries to a minor servant while operating alleged dangerous machinery, instructions failing to distinguish between the care required of plaintiff and an adult or experienced person held properly refused. Gulf Cooperage Co. v. Abernathy, 54 C. A. 137, 116 S. W. 869.

In an action for injuries sustained while plaintiff, who had a deformed foot, was climbing between cars which had blocked a public crossing, an instruction upon contributory negligence held to place too high a degree of care upon plaintiff. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Bean, 55 C. A. 341, 119 S. W. 328.

An instruction for injuries to a minor held not objectionable as giving an incorrect statement of the degree of care required of him. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Plummer, 57 C. A. 563, 122 S. W. 942.

An instruction that a five year old child is not held to the same degree of accountability for his negligent acts as an adult man is proper. Mexican Cent. Ry. Co. v. Rodriguez (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 690.

In an action for injuries to a child while crossing railway tracks, an instruction held properly refused for its tendency to hold a child of tender years responsible for contributory negligence without inquiry as to her discretion and mental capacity. Ft. Worth & D. C. R. Co. v. Wininger (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 586.

274. —— Negligence of parent.—Where, in an action for injuries, negligence of plaintiff's father, if any, was not imputable to plaintiff, an instruction that such negligence was immaterial to the case was not error. Central Texas & N. W. Ry. Co. v. Gibson (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 862.

In an action by plaintiff for injuries to his son while employed by defendant, a requested instruction on plaintiff's contributory negligence held properly refused. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Hervey (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 1095.

In an action for the death of a child, struck by a train, an instruction, submitting the contributory negligence of the person having control of the child, held required to qualify the care to be exacted of him as such care as a person of ordinary prudence of his age would exercise. Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Olds (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 787.

In an action for injuries to a child received while crossing railroad tracks, an instruction held properly refused for its imputation of contributory negligence of the child's father to her. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Wininger (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 586.

275. —— Acts in emergencies.—In an action for injuries to one who jumped from a railroad trestle in order to avoid injury on the approach of a train, an instruction held not erroneous, as giving an erroneous standard for the determination of plaintiff's justification in jumping. Texas Midland R. R. v. Byrd, 41 C. A. 164, 90 S. W. 185.

In an action for the death of one while rescuing another in peril of being struck by a train, an instruction held to properly submit the issues. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Scarborough (Civ. App.) 104 S. W. 408.

In an action for the death of a brakeman while attempting to stop a train to prevent injury to it, an instruction relating to his acting on the impulse of the moment held proper under the evidence. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Elgin, 56 C. A. 573, 121 S. W. 577.

In an action for injuries caused by jumping from a vehicle when the team became frightened at steam from an engine, instruction held not objectionable as not requiring a finding that there was a real or apparent danger reasonably calculated to cause persons of ordinary temperament and courage to act as plaintiff did, especially in view of the other instructions as to contributory negligence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. West (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 343.

276. —— Employés.—The following charge defining contributory negligence is approved: "If the wreck in which plaintiff, an engineer on defendant's railway, was injured was produced solely by the defective and cracked wheel—in other words, that it would not have occurred but for this defect—and that plaintiff was ignorant thereof, then the fact that he did not abandon the engine upon discovering the defect in the brake (if he did discover it) would not amount to contributory negligence sufficient to preclude a recovery by the plaintiff, though the defective brake may have contributed to the injury; while on the other hand, if the latter defect in the machinery was the sole or efficient cause of the derailment, without which it would not have happened, and plaintiff was cognizant of such defect in the brake, then he could not recover, notwithstanding his ignorance of the defect in the wheel, and which may have assisted in producing the catastrophe." Railway Co. v. McClaine, 80 T. 85, 15 S. W. 789.

Instruction as to contributory negligence of car inspector killed by running of car against that under which he was working held sufficiently favorable to defendant. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Cumpston, 15 C. A. 493, 40 S. W. 546.

An instruction that if plaintiff was not provided with proper implements, and through inexperience did not know it was dangerous to undertake to do his work with the implements provided, he could recover, held erroneous. Hillsboro Oil Co. v. White (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 874.

An instruction held to erroneously state the rule as to the care to be exercised by an inexperienced person set to operate dangerous machinery by his employer. Id.

Under the evidence, an instruction that plaintiff could not recover, if he could have made the coupling while riding on engine steps, but rode on the pilot for his own convenience, held properly refused. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Beam (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 411.

In an action by a brakeman for injuries received while riding on the pilot of an engine, an instruction that plaintiff could not recover if he was not required "or permitted" to ride on the pilot, in the discharge of his duties, is not misleading. Id.

Instruction as to the manifest danger of the act by which plaintiff was injured held sufficient. Hillsboro Oil Co. v. White (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 432.

Where a railway employé slipped from an engine step, it was error to instruct the jury that, if he "could" have known that the step was greasy by the exercise of ordinary care, he was not entitled to recover, as the word "could" tended to cast on him the duty of inspection. Bookrum v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 919.

An instruction that plaintiff was put on inquiry as to the capacity of a fellow servant held erroneous. B. Lantry Sons v. Lowrie (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 837.

Charge in an action by an employé for injuries caused by a defective tool used by a coemployé that plaintiff did not know and could not have known of such tool's condition by the use of ordinary care, as a condition of his recovery, held not erroneous. De La Vergne Refrigerating Mach. Co. v. Stahl, 24 C. A. 471, 60 S. W. 319.

An instruction requiring a locomotive fireman to use "such ordinary care as a person of ordinary prudence would have used under similar circumstances," held not erroneous for not having required such care as a person of ordinary prudence "would reasonably have been expected to exercise." Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Williams, 26 C. A. 153, 62 S. W. 808.

In an action for injuries from falling into an unguarded excavation, an instruction held not erroneous in employing the words "readily seen." Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 769.

In an action for injuries to a conductor in a collision, an instruction submitting to the jury, as a basis of recovery, whether the conductor, under the circumstances and considering the rules acted as a person of ordinary prudence, held not erroneous. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Pawkett, 28 C. A. 583, 68 S. W. 323.

Duty of railway fireman, on approaching switch, to keep lookout for other trains, held to have been sufficiently presented to the jury in an action for injuries received in a collision. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams, 28 C. A. 615, 68 S. W. 805.

Instruction as to contributory negligence held properly refused. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Mangham, 29 C. A. 486, 69 S. W. 80; Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. De Bord (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 845.

In an action for injuries to a section foreman by the derailment of a defective hand car, a requested instruction as to plaintiff's assumption of risk and duty to inspect the car and discover the defect held properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Blackman, 32 C. A. 200, 74 S. W. 74.

In an action for the negligent death of an employé, held, that the court did not err in refusing to charge on the effect of an habitual violation of a rule established by the master. Horton v. Ft. Worth Packing & Provision Co., 33 C. A. 150, 76 S. W. 211.

In an action for injuries to a servant by the breaking of a rope, an instruction as to his freedom from contributory negligence held erroneous, as eliminating his knowledge, actual or constructive, of both the defects and the danger. Ft. Worth Iron Works v. Stokes, 33 C. A. 218, 76 S. W. 231.

An instruction held not erroneous. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Walters (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 668; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Jones, 35 C. A. 584, 80 S. W. 852; O'Brien v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 36 C. A. 528, 82 S. W. 319; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Vanlandingham, 38 C. A. 206, 85 S. W. 847; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Udalle (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 330; International & G.

N. R. Co. v. Wray, 43 C. A. 380, 96 S. W. 74; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 48 C. A. 135, 106 S. W. 773; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Jackson, 49 C. A. 573, 109 S. W. 478; Wade v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 84; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 1150; Producers' Oil Co. v. Barnes (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1023; Athens Cotton Oil Co. v. Clark (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 322; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Grenig (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 135.

In an action against a railroad company for personal injuries to a section hand, an instruction relative to plaintiff's duty to look and listen for the approach of a train held error. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Tisdale, 36 C. A. 174, 81 S. W. 347.

In an action against a railroad company for injuries to a section hand from a collision between a train and a push car, an instruction relative to the duty of plaintiff to await the orders of his foreman held required. Id.

An instruction that, if an ordinarily prudent person would not have done as deceased did, defendant was not liable, held properly refused. Texas Portland Cement & Lime Co. v. Lee, 36 C. A. 482, 82 S. W. 306.

In an action for injuries at a railroad crossing, it was not error for the court to refuse a special charge on the subject of plaintiff's contributory negligence. Central Texas & N. W. Ry. Co. v. Gibson (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 862.

In an action for injuries to a locomotive engineer, who ran his train into cars standing on the main track, held error to instruct the jury that in order to find for defendant they must find that if plaintiff had examined the bulletin board he would have been notified not to proceed. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Vanlandingham, 38 C. A. 206, 85 S. W. 847.

In an action for injuries to a servant, charge authorizing a recovery unless plaintiff was guilty of contributory negligence and was not injured on account of assumed risk held erroneous. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Von Hoesen (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 604.

In an action against a railway company for injuries to an employé while unloading a car in a yard, a charge on contributory negligence held to submit the issue raised by certain conflicting evidence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Burns (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 618.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to a brakeman while coupling cars, the refusal of an instruction as to plaintiff's violation of one of defendant's rules held not error. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Ames (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 1112.

An instruction held to sufficiently call attention to the matter of the employé's physical condition as a form of contributory negligence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Bonn, 44 C. A. 631, 99 S. W. 413.

In an action for death of a servant while on certain oil tanks alone, in violation of orders, an instruction on contributory negligence held not error. Yellow Pine Oil Co. v. Noble, 100 T. 358, 99 S. W. 1024.

An instruction that a servant might assume that the master would furnish a safe way over which to pass held correct on the issue of contributory negligence. William Cameron & Co. v. Realmuto, 45 C. A. 305, 100 S. W. 194.

Refusal to give instruction as to care required of injured person in action against a railroad for personal injuries held error. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Connors (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 480.

In an action for injuries to a brakeman by the breaking of a defective clevis on the brake chain, a requested charge that the company was not liable if a person of ordinary care inspecting the car would not have discovered the defect, held properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Blachley, 50 C. A. 141, 109 S. W. 995.

In an action by a section hand for injuries caused by the negligence of the company's trainmen in running a train over him, an instruction held to sufficiently present the defense of contributory negligence. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Aleman, 52 C. A. 565, 115 S. W. 73.

A charge held not to properly submit the issue of contributory negligence. Brownwood Oil Mill v. Stubblefield, 53 C. A. 165, 115 S. W. 626.

An instruction, in an action for personal injuries, held not objectionable as being more onerous than the law requires in determining the question of contributory negligence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Norvell (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 861.

In an action for injuries to a brakeman, the refusal to charge on contributory negligence held error. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rogers (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 914.

In an action for the death of a brakeman, an instruction held not erroneous because it made the judgment of decedent the criterion by which his conduct was to be measured. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Elgin, 56 C. A. 573, 121 S. W. 577.

In an engineer's action for injuries by the explosion of his engine boiler, plaintiff held guilty of contributory negligence precluding recovery under the facts hypothesized in an instruction on contributory negligence, so that it was error to require a further finding that one of ordinary prudence would not have done as plaintiff did, in order to find for defendant. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Haberlin (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 107.

In an action for injuries to an engineer in a collision with cars left on the main track at a station, an instruction held to properly submit the issue of his negligence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Richardson (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 623.

An instruction as to the right of an employé to rely on the assumption that the appliances furnished are reasonably safe held improper. Abilene Light & Water Co. v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 299.

A charge in an action for injuries to a lineman by the breaking of a pole held erroneous for failing to limit its effect. Id.

In a railroad engineer's action for injuries by explosion of boiler, an instruction held not erroneous in requiring a finding that one of ordinary prudence would not have done as plaintiff did, in addition to the finding that he allowed water in the boiler to get below the crown sheet. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Haberlin, 104 T. 50, 133 S. W. 873.

In an action for injuries to a servant, an instruction held not objectionable as not requiring the servant to use ordinary care to see whether the appliances were reasonably safe. Farmers' Cotton Oil Co. v. Barnes (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 369.

Requested instruction in an action for the death of a railroad employé by being struck by a switch engine held properly refused because it imposed no duty on any one of the employés in charge of the switch engine to act until all of them knew of decedent's peril. Pecos & N. T. R. Co. v. Rosenbloom (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 175.

Instruction in a railroad engineer's action for injuries by derailment at an interlocking crossing held not objectionable as limiting the issue of contributory negligence to plaintiff's act in approaching the crossing at high speed. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Scott (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 710.

In an action, under federal employer's liability act, for injuries to a servant by falling from a railroad trestle at night, while alighting from the train in the performance of a duty imposed by the conductor, the charge held not objectionable as limiting plaintiff's knowledge of the location and construction of the trestle to actual knowledge. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bunkley (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 937.

277. —— Passengers.—See this case for charges in a case where a passenger jumped from a moving train and was injured. Railroad Co. v. Hoard (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 142.

An instruction, in an action against a carrier for an injury to a pregnant passenger, as to the passenger's duty to exercise reasonable care, held not erroneous. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ferguson, 26 C. A. 460, 64 S. W. 797.

In an action against a railroad for injuries received in alighting from a moving train, an instruction as to contributory negligence held properly refused. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Shelton, 30 C. A. 72, 69 S. W. 653.

In an action for injuries to a passenger while attempting to alight from a train, an instruction that if the passenger attempted to leave the train while it was in motion, and was injured thereby, and if she would not have been injured if she had not attempted to leave the train, and if an ordinarily prudent person would not have attempted to leave the train under the circumstances she could not recover, but a recovery would not be defeated merely on that account if an ordinarily prudent person would have attempted to leave the train, was not affirmatively erroneous as against the carrier, for it presented to the jury a phase of the case under which there could be no recovery. Texas & G. R. Co. v. Hall (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 71.

In a passenger's action for injuries received while alighting from a train, where it appeared that, when the train stopped, plaintiff went to the front door where passengers usually alight, that the rear door was closed, and no employé had informed plaintiff that conveniences would be provided at the other end or elsewhere, and that plaintiff did not know where the employés were, a charge that she could not recover if she negligently alighted from the train at an unusual place was sufficient. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Greer (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 270.

Where the sole negligence relied on was the sudden moving of a street car, claimed by plaintiff to have stopped before she attempted to alight, it was not error to instruct that there could be no recovery if the passenger was injured while attempting to alight from a moving car. Small v. San Antonio Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 833.

An instruction, in an action for injuries to an alighting passenger from being thrown by the sudden motion of the car after it had stopped, that there could be no recovery if the injured passenger attempted to alight from a car in motion, held not misleading, since the jury could not have understood that "motion" referred to a movement of the car after it had stopped. Id.

An instruction, in an action for injuries to a passenger in getting off while the train was moving, that if she stepped off while it was moving, and was warned not to do so, and heard and understood the warning, and was negligent in not heeding it, and such negligence proximately caused the injury, held improperly refused. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 355.

The full test of contributory negligence of one who jumped from a moving train after assisting a passenger to a seat is not covered by an instruction as to whether, in jumping, he failed to use ordinary care in doing so; he being negligent in jumping at all, if an ordinarily prudent man would not have jumped under the circumstances. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Guess (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1060.

Where plaintiff claimed that she was caused to alight at the wrong station by the miscalling thereof, defendant held entitled to a charge that if the station was correctly called, and plaintiff alighted without the knowledge of the conductor, and the brakeman who assisted her off did not know she was alighting at the wrong station, they should find for defendant. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Stone-De Lane (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 906.

278. —— Sender or receiver of telegraph or telephone message.—An instruction held proper. Hargrave v. Western Union Tel. Co. (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 689; Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Powell, 54 C. A. 466, 118 S. W. 226; Same v. Mack (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 921.

Charge as a defense to an action for failure to deliver a telegraph message held not error. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Rawls (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 136.

In an action against a telephone company for failing to obtain long distance connection, a requested charge that negligence of H., who put in the call, in failing to telegraph plaintiff would constitute contributory negligence held properly refused. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Jarrell (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1165.

279. —— Shipper of stock.—A requested instruction on contributory negligence in an action for injury by a carrier to cattle by failure to water held erroneous. San Antonio & A. P. R. Co. v. Broad-Davis Cattle Co. (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 514.

280. —— Persons at railroad crossings.—An instruction held properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rogers (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 849; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Elledge, 93 S. W. 499.

Instruction requiring plaintiff to "ascertain whether there was danger" before going on a crossing held error. Riviere v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 1074.

Instruction that verdict should be for plaintiff if her negligent act in going on crossing was caused by defendant's failure to ring the bell held properly refused. Id.

An instruction held proper. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Roberts, 91 T. 535, 45 S. W. 309; El Paso & N. E. Ry. Co. v. Campbell, 45 C. A. 231, 100 S. W. 170; Paris & G. N. Ry. Co.

v. Calvin (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 428; Texas & P. R. Co. v. Barnwell (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 52[illegible]; Coffee v. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co., 104 T. 127, 134 S. W. 1174; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Pool (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 641.

Refusal of instruction held error. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Knipstein (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 754.

Instruction that failure to "look and listen" before crossing track is negligence, if person of ordinary prudence would have looked and listened, is not erroneous. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ferris, 23 C. A. 215, 55 S. W. 1119.

A charge requiring a person at a crossing to exercise a degree of care proportionate to the risk held erroneous. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Oslin, 26 C. A. 370, 63 S. W. 1039.

Charge held erroneous. Carraway v. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co., 31 C. A. 184, 71 S. W. 769; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Sissom (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 271.

An instruction held not erroneous for failing to define decedent's care to avoid the collision. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Glover (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 515.

An instruction that if the tracks and the crossing were in a reasonably safe condition for the use of the public, or if the mule pulling plaintiff's buggy was running away or if plaintiff was thrown from the buggy on account of the speed of the mule, and not by the defective condition of the track, if any, or if he was thrown from the buggy at some other place than on the crossing caused from any other cause than from the defect, if any, of the crossing, then and in either event the jury should find for defendant, was not objectionable as implying that the defense of contributory negligence was only available if the speed of the runaway mule alone threw plaintiff from the buggy. Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Gillenwater (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 589.

281. —— Persons on railroad track.—In an action against railroad for injuries, an instruction that the jury should find for defendant, if plaintiff was guilty of contributory negligence, held, under the evidence, not erroneous. Baca v. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co., 32 C. A. 210, 73 S. W. 1073.

Instructions in an action against a railroad company for negligently causing death held to sufficiently present the issue of contributory negligence. Galveston, H. & H. R. Co. v. Levy, 35 C. A. 107, 79 S. W. 879.

In an action against a railroad for the death of a person walking on its track, certain charge on contributory negligence should have been given. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Hall (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 996.

In an action for death of pedestrian at street crossing, instruction held not objectionable as lending color to plaintiff's theory that decedent was walking along the track with his back toward the engine and did not see its approach. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Murray (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 144.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to one struck by a train while walking on a part of defendant's track used by pedestrians as a footpath an instruction held properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Malone (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 958.

An instruction on contributory negligence of a person who was injured while asleep on a railroad track held proper. Epperson v. International & G. N. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 117.

282. —— Owners of property destroyed by fire set out in operation of railroads.—An instruction held error. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Dial, 38 C. A. 260, 85 S. W. 22.

A requested instruction held improperly refused. Id.

An instruction held to properly present the defense of contributory negligence. W. A. Morgan & Bros. v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 50 C. A. 420, 110 S. W. 978.

283. —— Persons injured in operation of street railroads.—A requested instruction by defendant held improperly refused. Citizens' Ry. Co. v. Holmes, 19 C. A. 266, 46 S. W. 116; Same v. Ford, 25 C. A. 328, 60 S. W. 680.

A requested charge in case of collision of a hack and street car held improper. El Paso Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Ballinger & Longwell (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 612.

An instruction held not erroneous. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. English, 42 C. A. 393, 93 S. W. 1096.

284. —— Discovered peril or last clear chance rule.—Instruction held to correctly state liability for injuries to servant, where injury could have been avoided, notwithstanding contributory negligence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Collins, 24 C. A. 143, 57 S. W. 884; Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Bowen, 95 T. 364, 67 S. W. 408.

Under the evidence it was error to submit the question whether, after it became clear deceased would not leave the track, defendant used proper care to avoid accident, in that form; but the jury should have been directed to find whether it became clear deceased would not leave the track in time for defendant to have avoided the accident with the means at hand, and then whether the facts as found were negligence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hill (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 255.

Instructions in an action for injury to a team and wagon engaged in unloading a railroad car held erroneous in their application to the principle of discovered peril. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Rippetoe (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 1016.

The rule as to the duty imposed on the person in charge of a dangerous instrumentality, on the discovery of the danger to a person guilty of contributory negligence, may be stated in an instruction as to contributory negligence. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Jacobson, 28 C. A. 150, 66 S. W. 1111.

In an action against a street car company for killing a dog, a charge on the issue of discovered peril held required. Marshall v. Dallas Consolidated Electric St. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 63.

In an action against a railroad company for injuries to a pedestrian, an instruction held not a charge on discovered peril. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 702.

In an action for the death of another who was killed while walking on defendant's track, an instruction upon discovered peril, under the allegations and evidence in support thereof, held proper. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Patterson, 46 C. A. 292, 102 S. W. 138.

A charge in a personal injury case on the doctrine of discovered risk held erroneous. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Kelleher, 48 C. A. 421, 107 S. W. 64.

In an action for injuries from being struck by a railroad car while walking near the track, a charge held not to improperly submit the issue of discovered peril. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Finn (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 94.

In an action against a railroad company for the destruction of property by fire set by a locomotive, an instruction relating to liability of the company notwithstanding the contributory negligence of the owner of the property held properly refused. W. A. Morgan & Bros. v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 50 C. A. 420, 110 S. W. 978.

An instruction, in an action for the death of a child struck by a train, held not erroneous for failing to distinguish between the discovery of the child on the track and the discovery of its peril. Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Olds (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 787.

An instruction held not defective as excusing defendant railway company from employing all means at hand to avoid injuring persons discovered in peril on the track. Parham v. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co., 51 C. A. 511, 113 S. W. 154.

Held, that there was no material difference between the words "apparent" and "reasonably apparent" as used in a charge, in an action for injuries sustained in a railroad crossing accident, making inapplicable the doctrine of discovered peril, and the words "realized his peril." Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Reynolds (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 340.

An instruction submitting the issue of discovered peril to a person on the track held erroneous, for submitting the question whether or not an ordinarily prudent person would have used the means at hand to stop the train. Maxfield v. Texas & P. Ry. Co., 54 C. A. 519, 117 S. W. 483.

In an action for death of a pedestrian by being struck by a street car, an instruction on discovered peril held erroneous. Gehring v. Galveston Electric Co. (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 288.

In an action for death at a railroad crossing, an instruction on discovered peril held not objectionable as imposing on defendant a degree of care more onerous than required by law. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hurdle (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 992.

In an action for injuries in an automobile accident, an instruction that plaintiff could not recover, if negligent, though the driver might have avoided the accident by ordinary care, was erroneous. King v. Brenham Automobile Co. (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 278.

In an action against a railroad company for damages at a crossing, a charge held improper under the doctrine of discovered peril. Allen v. Texas Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 195.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff by being struck by the overhang of the fender of a street car as it rounded a curve, an instruction that plaintiff could not recover on the issue of discovered peril if he was guilty of negligence which contributed to the accident was error. Townsend v. Houston Electric Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 629.

285. —— Comparative negligence.—An instruction held not erroneous, as leading to the application of the doctrine of comparative negligence. Texas & N. O. Ry. Co. v. Carr (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 126.

An instruction that if both defendant and plaintiff were guilty of negligence, and defendant's negligence was the proximate cause of the damage, plaintiff should recover, held erroneous. St. Louis & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Ricketts, 22 C. A. 515, 54 S. W. 1090.

In an action for death of deceased by being struck by defendant's railroad train as he was crossing the track, an instruction on contributory negligence and discovered peril held proper, except for the use of the word "impossible." International & G. N. R. Co. v. Jackson, 41 C. A. 51, 90 S. W. 918.

286. Custom.—Where, in an action for breach of contract of sale of cotton, the issue was whether the custom of trade required the seller to give notice to the buyer when the cotton was ready for delivery, a charge submitting the issue of a general custom of the trade as to notice, as distinguished from a local custom, was properly given. Holder v. Swift (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 690.

287. Conversion.—In an action for conversion of property under a fraudulent bill of sale, certain charge on defendant's liability and the measure of damages held proper. Harris v. Staples (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 801.

In conversion by a seller against a mortgagee of the buyer, the refusal to give an instruction held error under the evidence. C. E. Slayton & Co. v. Horsey (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 799.

An instruction in an action for the fraudulent conversion of timber held correct. Young v. Pine Ridge Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 784.

Refusal of an instruction held not error. France v. Gibson (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 536.

Instruction, in an action for conversion, held to properly present the issue of defendant's liability. Crouch Hardware Co. v. Walker, 51 C. A. 571, 113 S. W. 163.

Held unnecessary to submit the issue of conversion to the jury if they found defendant held them as security only. Payne v. Lindsley (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 329.

288. Dedication.—An instruction requiring the showing of an affirmative act on the part of a city council in accepting a street alleged to have been dedicated, held too restrictive. Albert v. G., C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 21 S. W. 779, 2 C. A. 664.

A charge held not objectionable as failing to inform the jury that the power of dedication of a site for county buildings was exhausted when first made, but that in determining the extent of the dedication the acts of the parties could be taken into consideration. City of Victoria v. Victoria County (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 67.

288½. Divorce.—A requested charge in divorce as to proof of cruel treatment held objectionable. Allen v. Allen (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 697.

289. Estoppel.—See Mortgage Co. v. Norton, 71 T. 683, 10 S. W. 301.

In an action to recover attached goods, an instruction on the issue of estoppel held erroneous for failure to require that the officer and defendant's agent were ignorant of the true ownership of the goods prior to the issuance and levy of the writ. Carter-Battle Grocer Co. v. Rushing (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 449.

An instruction in an action by a seller to recover the balance due from a purchaser as to the estoppel of the purchaser to deny his liability held properly refused. Weatherford Machine & Foundry Co. v. Tate, 49 C. A. 392, 109 S. W. 406.

290. Exemptions.—Requisites of charge. Mayer v. Duke, 72 T. 445, 10 S. W. 565; Railway Co. v. Brazzell, 72 T. 233, 10 S. W. 403; Railway Co. v. Silliphant, 70 T. 623, 8 S. W. 673; Eddy v. Still, 22 S. W. 525, 3 C. A. 346; Railway Co. v. Rowland, 22 S. W. 134, 3 C. A. 158; Railway Co. v. Schofield, 72 T. 496, 10 S. W. 575; Telegraph Co. v. Cooper, 71 T. 507, 9 S. W. 598, 1 L. R. A. 728, 10 Am. St. Rep. 772; Artusy v. Railway Co., 73 T. 191, 11 S. W. 177; Fordyce v. Moore (Civ. App.) 22 S. W. 236.

291. False imprisonment and malicious prosecution.—An instruction that malice "may" be inferred from want of probable cause is not erroneous as instructing that malice is necessarily inferred from want of probable cause. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Griffin, 20 C. A. 91, 48 S. W. 542.

In an action against a railroad company for unlawfully locking plaintiff in a box car and causing his arrest and imprisonment, held proper to refuse to charge that, if the agent caused his arrest as a vagrant and the officer changed the charge to one for unlawfully riding on a freight train, defendant was not liable. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Parker, 29 C. A. 264, 68 S. W. 831; Same v. Cope, Id.

In an action for damages sustained by a passenger by reason of having been illegally arrested by an agent of the railroad company, an instruction authorizing a verdict if the company's agent advised the arrest held proper under the evidence. Texas Midland R. R. v. Dean (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 524.

In an action for malicious prosecution based on the prosecution of plaintiff for embezzlement, the court held required to instruct that the jury must find that the charge made against plaintiff was false before they can find in his favor. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Groseclose, 50 C. A. 525, 110 S. W. 477.

Instruction in an action for malicious prosecution held correct. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Groseclose (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 736.

Instruction in an action for malicious prosecution in reference to statements contained in affidavit on which the action was based held error. Speer v. Allen (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 231.

Instruction in action for malicious prosecution referring to advice of prosecuting officer held error. Id.

292. Fraud and undue influence.—Requisites of charge on fraud. Schmick v. Noel, 72 T. 1, 8 S. W. 83; Railway Co. v. Tierney, 72 T. 312, 12 S. W. 586; Frieberg v. Frieberg, 74 T. 122, 11 S. W. 1123.

An instruction held error, as failing to state that the false representations must have been an inducement, and that plaintiff must have been injured thereby. Read v. Chambers (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 742.

An instruction that a person to whom an opinion as to value is given has no right to rely thereon held erroneous, without a statement of qualifications suggested by particular case. Byers v. Maxwell, 22 C. A. 269, 54 S. W. 789.

An instruction in will contest as to undue influence held not erroneous in view of allegations. Edwards v. Milsaps (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 357.

In an action for damages for false representations on sale of personalty, an instruction held not erroneous as limiting jury to defects in the article sold existing at the identical time of the sale. Von Boeckmann v. Loepp (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 849.

In action to rescind and recover damages for fraud in inducing lease of cotton press, charge as to false representations of lessor's agent held warranted. American Cotton Co. v. Frank Heierman & Bro., 37 C. A. 312, 83 S. W. 845.

In an action for injuries to a servant who had executed a release of the master from liability, an instruction given on the issue as to plaintiff having been induced to sign the release by fraudulent representations held proper, and an instruction refused erroneous. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Cade (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 124.

In an action by a vendee against the vendor for damages for false representations, an instruction as to the rights of the parties in case plaintiff acted upon his own judgment held not erroneous. George v. Hesse (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 1122.

In an action against a vendor for false representations, an instruction on the circumstances under which plaintiff would be entitled to recover held not subject to certain criticisms. Id.

In an action by a vendee against the vendor for false representations, an instruction as to the necessity of a finding that plaintiff relied on the representations held not erroneous. Id.

In an action for fraudulent representations whereby plaintiff was induced to purchase certain stock, an instruction upon the question of variance held properly refused. Collins v. Chipman, 41 C. A. 563, 95 S. W. 666.

In an action to recover the purchase price of paint, the defense being misrepresentation by plaintiff as to the quality of the paint, a requested instruction held properly refused. Huff v. Kinloch Paint Co. (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 467.

In an action to set aside a settlement for personal injuries because of fraud, an instruction that if defendant's physician in good faith advised plaintiff and defendant's claim agent regarding the extent of the injuries, and the settlement was made in good faith by the agent, it should not be set aside, held not erroneous in view of the evidence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Jowers (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 946.

In an action to rescind a sale of land on the ground of fraudulent representations as to title, a requested instruction as to the duty of plaintiff to investigate the title for himself held properly refused. Lee v. Haile, 51 C. A. 632, 114 S. W. 403.

In an action by the purchaser of a machine for damages for fraudulent representations by the seller's agents, an instruction held erroneous. Wimple v. Patterson (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 1034.

A special issue in suit to set aside a deed for fraud held not open to objection by plaintiff of not submitting the proper test of whether fraud had been perpetrated. Uecker v. Zuercher (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 149.

In an action to recover damages by false representation made by defendant to induce plaintiff to purchase his interest in the firm in which they were partners as to the amount of the firm indebtedness and credits, held error to refuse a requested instruction to find for plaintiff if he purchased under the circumstances stated. Pitman v. Self (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 907.

In a suit on a note defended on the ground of fraudulent representations, an instruction held properly refused, as being misleading. Wisegarver v. Yinger (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 1190.

In an action against a real estate broker for fraud inducing plaintiff to exchange his land for a stock of merchandise, the refusal to give a charge authorizing a verdict for defendant, if the market value of the stock was substantially equal to the market value of the land, held erroneous. Biard & Scales v. Tyler Building & Loan Ass'n (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 1168.

Directing a verdict for defendant, if he did not fraudulently deliver the deed executed by plaintiff and was not a party to a conspiracy to defraud him, held erroneous under the evidence. Id.

A requested charge to find for plaintiff, if defendant made a misrepresentation and plaintiff relied on it, is bad, in not drawing a distinction between a misrepresentation which merely expressed an opinion, and was therefore not fraud, and one stated as a representation of fact. Landrum v. Thomas (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 813.

293. Fraudulent conveyances.—Charge as to right to attach goods fraudulently transferred by plaintiff's debtor, and mingled by the purchaser with other goods, held not objectionable, as authorizing plaintiff to attach more than was sold by the debtor. Bergson v. Dunham (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 17.

Where attachment was sued out on the ground that defendants had disposed of property to defraud, it was proper not to instruct that a disposition, the natural effect of which is to place property beyond reach of creditors, is fraudulent. Needham Piano & Organ Co. v. Hollingsworth (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 750.

In a suit to set aside a mortgage as a fraud on creditors, held error to refuse to charge that it was not a fraud, though intended to defeat the claims of other creditors by giving a preference. Martin-Brown Co. v. City Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 524.

Where the issue was whether the conveyance of a stock of goods by a debtor was fraudulent, it was error to instruct that it was fraudulent if the debtor intended to delay and defraud creditors, and the transferee had knowledge of the fraudulent intent of the debtor, though the transferee's debt was a bona fide one. Bruce v. Koch, 94 T. 192, 59 S. W. 540.

An instruction upon an issue of the validity of a sale by an insolvent debtor to one of his creditors held properly refused. Thompson v. Rosenstein (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 439.

An instruction requiring the purchaser of goods to have knowledge of facts sufficient only to "create a suspicion" of the seller's fraudulent intent held erroneous. Hooks & Hines v. Pafford, 34 C. A. 516, 78 S. W. 991.

Instruction in debtor's action to enforce agreement, permitting him to redeem property bid in by secured creditor, as to agreement's being in fraud of creditors, held properly refused. First Nat. Bank v. Moor, 34 C. A. 476, 79 S. W. 53.

In an action by heirs of a grantor attacking a deed to his wife as not intended to pass title, an instruction held not to require a finding that title passed, though neither party to the deed intended it. Davis v. Davis, 44 C. A. 238, 98 S. W. 198.

In a suit to ingraft a trust on an absolute conveyance from plaintiff to defendant and to cancel the same, an instruction as to the effect of an intent to defraud creditors held proper. Leland v. Chamberlin, 56 C. A. 256, 120 S. W. 1040.

In action for conversion of goods taken under attachment against third person, instruction as to character of transaction as fraud on creditors held error. Edmondson v. Coughran (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 435.

294. Statute of frauds.—An instruction as to the application of the statute of frauds in respect to contract to answer for the debt of another held properly refused. Cheek v. Boyd (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 252.

295. Homestead.—A charge upon the question of a homesteader's intentions while living off the homestead held to fairly present the idea that the formation of an intent to abandon the homestead would work an abandonment thereof. Gunn v. Wynne (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 290.

Refusal to charge that, if notes given in part payment of land exchanged for a homestead were transferred to defendants without knowledge on their part of the maker's intention to occupy the property as a homestead, the jury, in a suit to restrain sale of the homestead, should find for defendants, held erroneous. Evans v. Daniel, 25 C. A. 362, 60 S. W. 1012.

A charge that if 50 acres owned by plaintiff, 10 or 12 miles from his residence, were used by him for the support and maintenance of his family, they constituted a part of his homestead, held erroneous under the evidence. Roberts v. Cawthon, 26 C. A. 477, 63 S. W. 332.

In an action to foreclose a mortgage on a homestead, an instruction held misleading, in that it authorized the selection of land not designated in a prior designation. Gleed v. Pickett, 29 C. A. 101, 68 S. W. 192.

A charge that defendants would be estopped from claiming certain property as their homestead, "whatever may in fact have been their intention relative to the property," held misleading. Davidson v. Jefferson (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 822.

Where defendant claimed property as homestead under partition, an instruction that, if the jury found the property was partitioned, it was the homestead of plaintiff and her husband, held proper. Long v. Long, 30 C. A. 368, 70 S. W. 587.

296. Insurance.—It was held unnecessary to charge what acts of the company would waive a breach of condition as to increase of hazard. Moriarty v. United States Fire Ins. Co., 19 C. A. 669, 49 S. W. 132.

The question of total disability of assured held sufficiently submitted to the jury in action on an accident policy. Fidelity & Casualty Co. v. Getzendanner, 22 C. A. 76, 53 S. W. 838, 55 S. W. 179.

An instruction as to total disability held erroneous in an action on an accident policy. Fidelity & Casualty Co. v. Getzendanner, 93 T. 487, 53 S. W. 838, 55 S. W. 179, 56 S. W. 326.

An instruction, in an action on a fire policy, that if the risk has been increased, but not within plaintiff's knowledge or control, the policy would not be rendered void, held proper. Northern Assur. Co. of London, England, v. Crawford, 24 C. A. 574, 59 S. W. 916.

In an action on an accident policy insuring decedent as a roundhouseman, an instruction relating to insured's reduced liability for injuries in an accident to insured while acting as a fireman held error. Fidelity & Casualty Co. of New York v. Jones, 28 C. A. 36, 62 S. W. 927.

An instruction as to ascertainment of the cash value of the property burned, and deduction, if any, for depreciation, considered, and held, under the evidence, not to contain error sufficient to reverse the judgment. Lion Fire Ins. Co. v. Heath, 29 C. A. 203, 68 S. W. 305.

In action on fire policy, an instruction as to representation by insured held proper. Underwriters' Fire Ass'n v. Palmer & Co., 32 C. A. 447, 74 S. W. 603.

In an action on a benefit certificate, an instruction held error. Modern Order of Prætorians v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 260.

An instruction as to what constituted a recovery of the use of plaintiff's injured foot held properly refused. Id.

An instruction that, if plaintiff answered all the questions truthfully, the existence of an undisclosed lien would not invalidate the policy, held error. Mecca Fire Ins. Co. of Waco v. Moore (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 441.

A charge held not to restrict the defense of nonpayment of dues within the time fixed in the certificate. Grand Fraternity v. Mulkey (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 242.

297. Landlord and tenant.—Instruction, in an action by a tenant for a landlord's wrongful interference with the premises, held properly refused. Williams v. Yoe, 22 C. A. 446, 54 S. W. 614.

In a suit by the landlord under a farm lease to foreclose a crop lien, an instruction held properly refused. Antone v. Miles, 47 C. A. 289, 105 S. W. 39.

In an action for rent, held not error to refuse to instruct a finding for the tenant if he had assigned his lease for the preceding term with the landlord's consent. Wheatley v. Kollaer (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 903.

In suit for failure to keep a covenant to repair, a charge held not erroneous. Sanger v. Smith (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 189.

298. Libel and slander.—The court, after defining express malice to be a "bad, wicked, or evil intent," instructed the jury that such malice "could not be presumed, but must be proved like any other fact." Held error, in that from the latter clause the jury might have understood that malice could only be established by direct evidence. The court should not indicate to the jury any fact from which they could infer malice, but they should be informed that it could be inferred from facts and circumstances. Behee v. Railway Co., 71 T. 424, 9 S. W. 449.

A charge, in an action for slander in charging plaintiff with theft, held erroneous, as not requiring a finding that plaintiff appropriated the property with felonious intent. Quaid v. Tipton, 21 C. A. 131, 51 S. W. 264.

In an action for speaking words that are slanderous per se, an instruction to find for defendant if plaintiff has suffered no pecuniary loss is incorrect. King v. Sassaman (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 304.

An instruction regarding the essential elements of privileged communications held error. Cranfill v. Hayden, 22 C. A. 656, 55 S. W. 805.

Requested special instructions, in libel, as to defense of truth of charges, held properly refused. Cranfill v. Hayden (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 573.

Instructions which should have been given in libel suit based on communication conditionally privileged, in relation to actual malice necessary to sustain recovery, stated. Cranfill v. Hayden, 97 T. 544, 80 S. W. 609.

It is unnecessary in instructing in a libel suit to point out the particular words in a written article which constitute the libel, but it is sufficient to charge that the article as a whole was libelous. Id.

A charge in an action for slander that plaintiff was entitled to recover if the statements were false held erroneous as making the case turn on the truth or falsity of the defamatory words, instead of the existence of malice. Laughlin v. Schnitzer (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 908.

In libel for charging plaintiff with smuggling, an instruction requiring a finding for defendant if the statements complained of were made upon probable cause held properly refused. San Antonio Light Pub. Co. v. Lewy, 52 C. A. 22, 113 S. W. 574.

A charge in libel that if the article published was calculated to impeach plaintiff's good name, etc., used the words "good name" as equivalent to reputation, in which sense the words have always been used. Id.

In an action for libel a request to charge that plaintiff could not recover damages resulting from another and different publication held properly modified. Galveston Tribune v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 302.

299. Limitations.—Requisites of charge on limitation. Jones v. Andrews, 72 T. 5, 9 S. W. 170.

An instruction, in an action to recover community personal property, that the filing of the inventory was not notice to plaintiffs of their rights therein, was properly refused. Gerfers v. Mecke, 28 C. A. 269, 67 S. W. 144.

In an action for damages to land by an overflow resulting from the construction of a trestle, an instruction on limitations held properly refused. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Kiersey, 98 T. 590, 86 S. W. 744.

In an action for services, an instruction held to properly submit the issue of limitations. Harrison v. Bergmann (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 359.

300. Marriage.—On an issue as to whether defendant and a certain woman had been husband and wife, a requested instruction held erroneous as susceptible of the construction that it required a statutory marriage. Edelstein v. Brown (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 1126.

In an action by the children and heirs at law of a deceased woman to recover her community interest, an instruction as to the facts requisite to show a valid common-law marriage between deceased and defendant held not erroneous. Id.

In a suit to annul a marriage on the ground of insanity of one of the parties thereto, instructions held to properly submit the issues. Schneider v. Rabb (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 163.

An instruction on proof of a common-law marriage held not error. Berger v. Kirby (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1122.

An instruction that an unqualified agreement between man and woman to become then and from thenceforth husband and wife, constituted a valid marriage, did not correctly define a common-law marriage. Schwingle v. Keifer, 105 T. 609, 153 S. W. 1132.

301. Mistake.—A charge submitting to the jury the effect of a mistake of law held erroneous in failing to furnish any guide to determine what would constitute such a mistake of law as was mentioned. Slaughter v. Crisman & Nesbit (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 205.

302. Negligence in general.—For charge defining liability for negligence, see Railway Co. v. Bonnet (Civ. App.) 38 S. W. 813.

In an action against one who operated oil works containing machinery, and with open doors, within 150 yards of a schoolhouse, held, that the charge properly defined defendant's duties as to keeping children out of the place. Dublin Cotton-Oil Co. v. Jarrard (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 531.

An instruction defining "negligence" held not error. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hannig (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 196; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Partin, 33 C. A. 173, 76 S. W. 236; Rapid Transit Ry. Co. v. Miller (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 439; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hays, 40 C. A. 162, 89 S. W. 29.

In a definition of negligence, the words "a reasonable man" are inaccurate, as they are not equivalent to "a reasonably prudent man." Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hannig, 91 T. 347, 43 S. W. 508.

A charge that by ordinary or reasonable care is meant such care as an ordinarily prudent person would exercise under similar circumstances is correct. Houston City St. Ry. Co. v. Medlenka, 17 C. A. 621, 43 S. W. 1028.

A charge that ordinary care is such as a prudent person exercises under the same or similar circumstances held not objectionable. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Black (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 673.

An instruction defining negligence as a failure to observe, for the protection of another person, the degree of care which the circumstances justly demand, is erroneous. Texas M. R. R. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 892.

An instruction defining "negligence" as a failure to do what a reasonable and prudent man would do held not erroneous. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Serafina (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 614.

Instructions held to fairly submit the issues in an action for death caused by defects in the construction of a building. Texas Loan Agency v. Fleming, 18 C. A. 668, 46 S. W. 63.

Instruction defining "reasonable ordinary care" held erroneous. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Sgalinski, 19 C. A. 107, 46 S. W. 113.

An instruction that negligence is failure to do what "a prudent man would ordinarily do," instead of "what an ordinarily prudent man would do," is not error. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Safford (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 1105.

A charge is erroneous which uses the term "proper" care for "highest degree of care," and does not explain the court's meaning as to "proper" care, but leaves the jury to fix its own standard thereof. Ft. Worth & N. O. Ry. Co. v. Enos (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 595.

In an action for personal injuries an instruction that the degree of care is proportionate to the danger that might reasonably be apprehended from a failure to exercise care is erroneous. City of Honey Grove v. Lamaster (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 1053.

An instruction defining negligence held erroneous as requiring a too high degree of care. Louisiana W. E. Ry. Co. v. McDonald (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 649.

The use in an instruction as to ordinary care of the adjective "ordinary," instead of the adverb "ordinarily," as qualifying the phrase "prudent person," held not ground for reversal. San Antonio Gas Co. v. Robertson (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 347.

Charge defining ordinary care held erroneous. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Reveley, 24 C. A. 293, 58 S. W. 845.

In defining negligence, the expressions "any reasonably prudent man" and "a reasonably prudent man" are equivalent. Taylor, B. & H. R. Co. v. Warner (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 442.

On an issue whether owner of burned building was negligent in permitting its walls to remain standing after it had been partially destroyed by fire, certain instruction held erroneously refused. Freeman v. Carter, 28 C. A. 571, 67 S. W. 527.

In an action for injuries, the use of the term "reasonably prudent person," instead of "ordinarily prudent person," in an instruction, held immaterial. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Brown, 30 C. A. 57, 69 S. W. 1010.

In a personal injury action, instruction that failure to exercise ordinary care ordinarily constitutes negligence held error. Palfrey v. Texas Cent. Ry. Co., 31 C. A. 552, 73 S. W. 411.

An instruction defining ordinary care criticised. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. James (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 930.

An instruction held merely one as to duty to prevent children approaching machinery known to be dangerous. North Texas Const. Co. v. Bostick (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 109.

Instruction defining negligence held not erroneous for use of term "like prudence," instead of repeating the term "ordinary prudence." St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dixon (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 626.

In an action for personal injuries resulting from defendant's negligence, instructions given at plaintiff's request held proper. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hagan, 42 C. A. 133, 93 S. W. 1014.

Instruction in a personal injury case held not erroneous. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Parish, 45 C. A. 493, 100 S. W. 1175.

In an action for injuries through negligence, an instruction held proper. Paris & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Calvin (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 428.

In an action for injury to a pedestrian caused by an unguarded obstruction on a sidewalk placed there by defendant's contractors, held, she was not prejudiced by an instruction to find for the contractors. Kampmann v. Rothwell (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 120.

Held, that the use in charges of expressions to designate ordinary care which differ from the well-established definitions is to be condemned. J. M. Guffey Petroleum Co. v. Jeff Chaison Townsite Co., 48 C. A. 555, 107 S. W. 609.

An instruction defining "ordinary care" held not erroneous. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Roberts, 50 C. A. 69, 109 S. W. 982; Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Moss (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 626.

Where two acts of negligence are charged, the instruction should make it clear that, for recovery, the one of such acts causing such injury must have been negligent. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Morrison (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 621.

Instruction defining reasonable care held not objectionable as not explaining how cautious a prudent man should be. Guinn v. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 63.

An instruction that "negligence is the failure to use ordinary care, and ordinary care is such care as an ordinarily careful, prudent person would use or exercise under like or similar circumstances," is a sufficiently accurate definition of negligence. Yellow Pine Paper Mill Co. v. Wright (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1168.

303. Injuries to employés.—A charge held not liable to objection that the master's negligence would make him liable, irrespective of plaintiff's knowledge thereof. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Emery, 14 C. A. 551, 40 S. W. 149.

Instruction relating to negligence held erroneous. English v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 22 C. A. 3, 53 S. W. 57.

An instruction held not erroneous. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 81; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Gray, 25 C. A. 99, 63 S. W. 927; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hawk, 30 C. A. 142, 69 S. W. 1037; Redmond v. Sherman Cotton Mills (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 186; Suderman & Dolson v. Woodruff, 47 C. A. 229, 105 S. W. 217; El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. O'Keefe, 50 C. A. 579, 110 S. W. 1002; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Tuck (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 620; El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Alexander, 117 S. W. 927; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Johnson, 118 S. W. 1150; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Alexander, 102 T. 497, 119 S. W. 1135; Belton Oil Co. v. Duncan (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 884; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rogers, 128 S. W. 711; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Neef, 138 S. W. 1168.

An instruction held properly refused. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 1064; Commerce Cotton Oil Co. v. Camp, 117 S. W. 451; El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Alexander, Id. 927.

Instruction in action for death of railway employé in railway accident held correct. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Van Belle, 26 C. A. 511, 64 S. W. 397.

An instruction held properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bailey, 28 C. A. 609, 68 S. W. 803; St. Louis Southwestern R. Co. of Texas v. Schuler, 46 C. A. 356, 102 S. W. 783; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Davidson, 49 C. A. 85, 107 S. W. 949; El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Smith, 50 C. A. 10, 108 S. W. 988.

An instruction that plaintiff could not recover if the work was attended with no more danger than ordinarily arises in the performance of such work held erroneous. Vicars v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 37 C. A. 500, 84 S. W. 286.

A charge held to have fairly submitted the defenses relied on. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Keefe, 37 C. A. 588, 84 S. W. 679.

An instruction as to a master being an insurer held misleading. Harry Bros. Co. v. Brady (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 615.

An instruction held erroneous as leading the jury to believe that it must have been necessary for deceased to have been engaged in a particular work at the time of the accident. Sanders v. Houston & T. C. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 139.

An instruction held erroneous, as imposing on the employer too high a degree of duty. Kirby Lumber Co. v. Dickerson, 42 C. A. 504, 94 S. W. 153.

An instruction in an action by a switchman to recover for injuries held defective in the use of "very hazardous" instead of "hazardous." El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Alexander (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 927.

In an action against an oil mill company for injuries to a minor, held that there was error in a charge as to defendant's negligence. Stamford Oil Mill Co. v. Barnes (Civ. App.) 119 S. W. 871; Id. (Sup.) 128 S. W. 375, 31 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1218.

In a suit against a railroad for negligence in providing an injured employé with medical attention, held, that it was error to refuse a charge exonerating defendant from liability on a particular state of facts. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Graves, 57 C. A. 395, 122 S. W. 458.

An instruction, in action by a mother for a minor servant's death, held not reversible error. Commerce Cotton Oil Co. v. Camp (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 852.

An instruction held erroneous for adopting an erroneous standard in determining whether the master had exercised ordinary care. Wirtz v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 510.

In an action for the death of a servant, ordinary care, skill, and diligence held properly used in an instruction as convertible terms, where the terms were defined as that degree of care, skill, and diligence, respectively, that an ordinarily prudent person would use in the transaction of his own business, under like or similar circumstances. Guitar v. Randel (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 642.

An instruction given held not erroneous as charging that defendant was negligent in requiring plaintiff to oil certain machinery, a duty he was employed to perform. Continental Oil & Cotton Co. v. Gilliam (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 890.

304. —— Appliances and places for work.—Charge on latent defects. Fordyce v. Yarborough, 1 C. A. 260, 21 S. W. 421.

A charge as to latent defects held not to require a higher degree of care on the part of defendant than is imposed by law. The Oriental v. Barclay, 16 C. A. 193, 41 S. W. 117.

In an action for personal injury alleged to be due to negligence in leaving a car in an improper position, there was no error in refusing to instruct not to consider evidence as to darkness at the time of the accident to determine negligence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. St. Clair, 21 C. A. 345, 51 S. W. 666.

An instruction that a brakeman cannot recover for injuries, merely because a handhold slipped and caused him to fall, held properly refused. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Hawes (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 325.

Instruction that, if it could not be determined from the evidence what caused the handle of a hand car to break, thereby injuring defendant, the verdict should be for defendant, held properly refused. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Fox (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 49.

A request to charge that, in order to entitle a railroad drawbridge tender, injured by the breaking of the wrench, to recover, the jury should find that one or more of the alleged defects existed and directly and immediately caused the injury, should be refused. Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Newport, 26 C. A. 583, 65 S. W. 657.

An instruction requiring railroad companies to furnish ordinarily safe and appropriate appliances for use of its employés held not objectionable as imposing too high a degree of care. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Long, 32 C. A. 40, 74 S. W. 59.

In an action for injuries to a section foreman from a defective hand car, an instruction submitting the question of the duties of the parties with respect to the car, and its condition at the time it was furnished, instead of at the time of the accident, held not error. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Blackman, 32 C. A. 200, 74 S. W. 74.

Instruction, in switchman's action for injuries, relative to employer's duty to furnish safe appliances, held not error. St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Skaggs, 32 C. A. 363, 74 S. W. 783.

In an action for injuries to a brakeman by derailment of an engine, submission of the question as to whether a derailing switch was properly left open held error. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Arnold, 39 C. A. 161, 87 S. W. 173.

Instruction that master was bound to use reasonable care for safety of servant by providing him with machinery and appliances reasonably safe and suitable held erroneous. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Trump, 42 C. A. 536, 94 S. W. 903.

Instruction as to degree of care of master in providing safe appliances held not erroneous. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Trump, 100 T. 208, 97 S. W. 464.

An instruction in an action for injuries to a locomotive engineer caused by a step on an engine giving way held not error. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Cherry, 44 C. A. 344, 98 S. W. 898.

In an action against a telegraph company for injuries to an employé through the falling of a pole on which he was at work, an instruction held properly refused. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Tucker, 50 C. A. 476, 110 S. W. 481.

An instruction held not objectionable as presenting the issue of defendant's negligence in not "properly" closing a switch. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Shapard, 54 C. A. 596, 118 S. W. 596.

In an action for a fireman's death by collision of his engine with box cars on a connecting switch, where there was evidence of decedent's duty to see whether the cars were clear, an instruction held not to authorize a finding for plaintiff if the jury believed that so placing the cars was negligence as to employés other than decedent, without reference as to whether defendant was negligent as to decedent. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Holt, 57 C. A. 19, 121 S. W. 581.

Charge, in an action for a railroad engineer's death by derailment upon striking stock, held to sufficiently submit the question of negligence in not repairing the fence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Salisbury (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 252.

There is no material difference between instructing that the master is required to use ordinary care in providing a safe machine for a servant and in instructing that such machinery must be in such condition as an ordinarily prudent man would keep it. Orange Lumber Co. v. Ellis, 105 T. 363, 150 S. W. 582.

In a personal injury action by a servant, a charge that the degree of care which should be used by the master in procuring reasonably safe machinery and appliances is to be considered with the risk to be incurred does not furnish the proper guide to the jury. Van Geem v. Cisco Oil Mill (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1108.

Instruction that the master must use ordinary care to furnish the servant a reasonably safe method of ingress to his mine held not misleading in use of the word "method." Consumers' Lignite Co. v. Hubner (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 249.

On evidence, held, that the case was properly submitted on the theory that the rule requiring the master to furnish a reasonably safe place for work was applicable. Cooper v. Robischung Bros. (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1050.

305. —— Knowledge of defect or danger and duty as to inspection.—A charge held to sufficiently state the rule as to a railroad company's inspecting appliances furnished its servants. Jones v. Shaw, 16 C. A. 290, 41 S. W. 690.

In an action by section hand for injuries due to negligent order of foreman, instruction requiring the foreman to have had "full knowledge" of plaintiff's situation, to authorize recovery, was erroneous. Pledger v. Texas Cent. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 516.

An instruction requiring a master to know the condition of a defective appliance, if it "could" have known its condition by the exercise of ordinary care, held not objectionable in the use of the word "could," instead of "would." Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Stevens (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 395.

In an action by a railway conductor for injuries from the collapse of a bridge, a charge held not to impose upon the company the duty of inspection. Beaumont, S. L. & W. R. Co. v. Olmstead, 56 C. A. 96, 120 S. W. 596.

In an action for injuries to a servant by an alleged defect in a ladder, an instruction held not to submit the question of fact whether the ladder was such an appliance as required inspection by the master. Southwestern Portland Cement Co. v. McBrayer (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 388.

An instruction, in an action for death of defendant's locomotive engineer from derailment of his train at a switch, held not to authorize a recovery on a mere finding of a defect in the switch, without further findings that defendant had failed to inspect and was negligent in so failing, and that this was the proximate cause of the death. Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. McGinnis (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 1188.

An instruction that if the defect could have been discovered by reasonable inspection, and an ordinarily prudent person would have reasonably anticipated injury therefrom, and defendant failed to use ordinary care to "inspect and discover" the defect, plaintiff could recover, held not erroneous as charging that defendant owed the duty to actually discover the defect. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Downs (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 714.

An instruction, in an action for injuries to a brakeman from a defective brake ratchet dog, that the defect must have been discoverable by a "reasonable" inspection in order to authorize a recovery, was not erroneous, as placing too strong a duty upon defendant. Id.

An instruction as to the duty of a master to furnish a reasonably safe place in which to work, and that failure to do so would constitute negligence, provided the master knew or by the exercise of ordinary care could have known of such unsafeness, and that the acts of the foreman of defendant company were the acts of the company, held to correctly state the law. Yellow Pine Paper Mill Co. v. Wright (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1168.

306. —— Operation of locomotives, trains, or cars.—In an action for injuries caused by failure of a section crew to stop a hand car when ordered to do so, an instruction held not objectionable as requiring too high a degree of care or as assuming an issuable fact. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Perry, 38 C. A. 81, 85 S. W. 62.

Instruction in an action for injuries to a railway switchman caused by a violent coupling of cars held not error. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Stoy, 44 C. A. 448, 99 S. W. 135.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff while crossing defendant's railroad track, instructions held not to impose on defendant a greater burden than the law requires. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Balliet, 48 C. A. 641, 107 S. W. 906.

In an action for the death of a section foreman struck by a train while attempting to remove a hand car from a track, an instruction held proper. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Burnet, 49 C. A. 244, 108 S. W. 404.

In an engineer's action for injuries sustained by his train colliding with another train which had stopped, held error, under the evidence, to refuse a requested charge as to whether the employés of the standing train used due care in signaling the other train to stop. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rogers, 55 C. A. 93, 117 S. W. 939.

307. —— Promulgation and enforcement of rules.—Refusal to instruct on a rule of the company relative to going between moving cars held proper. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Cooper, 33 C. A. 319, 77 S. W. 263.

Refusal in such case to instruct on a rule of the company requiring operatives to inspect a freight train at every stop, and repair any defective apparatus, held proper. Id.

Held proper to refuse to instruct on a rule of the company relative to the exposure of hands and arms to defective coupling. Id.

In an action for injuries to a brakeman who fell between cars that had been left uncoupled, contrary to a rule of the road, an instruction as to the circumstances under which he could recover held erroneous. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Pope, 98 T. 535, 86 S. W. 5.

308. —— Warning and instructing servants.—An instruction that if a derailing switch had been unspiked without plaintiff's knowledge, etc., and defendant was guilty of negligence in not notifying plaintiff thereof, and plaintiff was not guilty of contributory negligence, he was entitled to recover, held improperly given. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Arnold, 39 C. A. 161, 87 S. W. 173.

In an action by a servant for personal injuries, an instruction that it was the duty of employers to use ordinary care to inform an employé of the particular perils of the employment, and the means of avoiding them, was not erroneous. Rice v. Dewberry (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 715.

An instruction as to the necessity of warning a servant of danger held properly refused. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Jackson, 49 C. A. 573, 109 S. W. 478.

In an action by a railroad employé 18 years of age for injuries sustained by catching his hand between a barrel and a moving car, a charge as to defendant's duty to properly instruct plaintiff held erroneous. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Johnson, 50 C. A. 147, 109 S. W. 486.

The requested instruction, in an action by a young and inexperienced boy whose hand was cut while removing boards from a machine, that negligence of the master in not warning or instructing him was not the proximate cause if he was aware of the danger is bad in not requiring the jury also to believe that he appreciated the extent of the danger and understood how to avoid it. Bryson v. Moore (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 233.

309. —— Number and competency of fellow servants.—In an action for injuries to a servant by the alleged incompetency of his fellow servant, refusal of the court to charge that it was defendant's duty to warn such servant with reference to the careful performance of his duties, etc., held not error. Krueger v. Brenham Furniture Mfg. Co., 38 C. A. 398, 85 S. W. 1156.

An instruction as to the degree of care required of an engineer held not erroneous as submitting the issue of the engineer's competency. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Jowers (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 946.

310. —— Negligence of fellow servants.—Requisites of charge as to fellow servants. Railway Co. v. Ryan, 82 T. 565, 18 S. W. 219; Railway Co. v. Rowland, 22 S. W. 134, 3 C. A. 158; Railway Co. v. Kizziah, 22 S. W. 110, 4 C. A. 356; Schmick v. Noel, 72 T. 1, 8 S. W. 83; Railway Co. v. Tierney, 72 T. 312, 12 S. W. 586; Railway Co. v. Brazzill, 72 T. 233, 10 S. W. 403.

Instruction held to properly submit the rule that master was liable for injuries caused by a fellow servant only when the act arose from inexperience or incompetence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Parrish (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 191.

In an action against a railroad company for a brakeman's death in a collision between cars, a charge on negligence of fellow servants held proper, with certain qualifications. Louisiana Western Extension Ry. Co. v. Carstens, 19 C. A. 190, 47 S. W. 36.

An instruction that plaintiff could not recover because of negligence of fellow servant held properly denied. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Zapp (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 673.

In an action for injuries to an employé, an instruction in favor of plaintiff based on the negligence of defendant's foreman held properly refused. Scott v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas, 54 C. A. 54, 117 S. W. 890.

In an action for injuries to a servant, an instruction on fellow servants held properly qualified in view of the evidence. Mosher Mfg. Co. v. Boyles (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 492.

In an action for injury to a workman, an instruction stating that the employé whose negligence caused the injury was a fellow servant held properly refused. Lantry-Sharpe Contracting Co. v. McCracken (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 363.

311. Injuries to passengers.—An instruction held not to make the carrier an insurer of the safety of the passenger attempting to alight. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. McElree, 16 C. A. 182, 41 S. W. 843.

In an action against a carrier for injuries received by a passenger in alighting from a train, an instruction as to the length of time the train should be stopped to allow passengers to alight held proper. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Moss (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 894.

In an action for death of an alleged passenger on a freight train, an instruction held to fully present the cause to the jury. Crawleigh v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 28 C. A. 260, 67 S. W. 140.

Charge in action against a carrier for failure to stop its train long enough for a mother to board it after her children were placed thereon held misleading. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Anchonda (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 743.

In an action against a carrier for injuries to a passenger, an instruction as to the negligence of the motorman held no ground for reversal. Galveston City Ry. Co. v. Chapman, 35 C. A. 551, 80 S. W. 856.

An instruction, in an action for injuries to a passenger, defining "ordinary care," held not erroneous. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Ford (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 1137.

In an action by a passenger for misconduct of the conductor, consisting of insulting language used in taking up the passenger's ticket, which by the mistake of the agent selling it was not the kind the passenger should have had, an instruction that the carrier must furnish courteous employés was erroneous. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Marshall, 57 C. A. 538, 122 S. W. 946.

In an action for injury to a passenger boarding a car, wherein it was a question for the jury, under the evidence, to say whether the starting of the train before he could get on, after loading freight into an express car, was negligence, the court charged that, if they found plaintiff was a passenger, and such fact was within the knowledge of the conductor or porter, or would have become known to them, or either of them, by exercising a high decree of care, and defendant failed to hold its train a reasonably sufficient length of time under the circumstances to enable him to board it in safety, defendant was negligent. Held that, while trains must be held a reasonable time for passengers, regardless of knowledge of the trainmen as to who may intend to take passage, the rule should not apply in favor of one depending on a special indulgence, and in such cases the purpose should be disclosed without requiring employés to inquire, and hence the charge given was error, as it practically charged the conductor and porter with knowledge that plaintiff intended to get on, for little effort was required for either to ask him. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Anderson, 125 S. W. 628.

Where, in an action for the death of a passenger thrown or falling from a car, the evidence showed without dispute that he was under the influence of liquor, and that the outward signs showed that he was drunk to observers in the car, and that he went on the platform of the car, which was unvestibuled, followed by the porter, a charge that, if the passenger was drunk, and it was dangerous for a person in his condition to be on the platform, a duty arose, through the porter knowing of his condition and position, to exercise proper care to prevent injury was proper; the term "drunk" as commonly understood, and as used in the instruction, meaning the result of excessive drinking of intoxicants. Paris & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 294, reversing Id. (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 434.

In an action by a passenger for injuries, in which the negligence of the carrier alleged was that the train was so negligently and carelessly handled that it gave a sudden and violent jerk or plunge, an instruction, authorizing a recovery for plaintiff if defendant was guilty of negligence in the operation of its train, is not erroneous, where the only evidence tending to show an improper operation of the train was the sudden and violent jerk or plunge of the train. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Swift (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 450.

In an action for injuries to a passenger by the switching of a freight car in which he was riding, an instruction authorizing a recovery in case the car was switched suddenly and unexpectedly and with great force and violence against another, car, but not requiring that such force and violence should have been unusual or unnecessary, was erroneous. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cobb (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 910.

In an action for injuries by being struck by defendant's train after plaintiff had escaped from another of defendant's trains upon which he had been accepted as a passenger by the brakeman and porter, while he was of unsound mind, defendant requested an instruction that if the jury found that plaintiff when he left the train at R., the station at which he last escaped, and at which he was struck by another train, had sufficient intelligence to know and appreciate the peril of standing upon the track in front of an approaching engine as he did, but that after he left the train his mental condition grew worse, so that he could not appreciate the peril of standing on the track, the failure of defendant's employés to prevent him from leaving the train at R. was not the proximate cause of his injury. There was evidence tending to show that, when plaintiff started on his journey, he seemed sane on all subjects except that he thought that some one wanted to kill and rob him, and, being possessed with that idea, attempted to escape from the train before reaching R., but there was no evidence that, when he made the attempt, he was in a worse condition than when he started or that his condition changed during his ride to R. Held that, as the evidence did not show that plaintiff's reason was entirely gone before reaching R., the requested charge should have been given. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Sears (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 1019.

An instruction that a carrier is not an insurer of its passengers or stock, but that it must use that degree of care in transporting an emigrant train that an ordinarily prudent person would use in similar circumstances to stop it and start it, and couple onto it, so as not to injure stock or persons lawfully entitled to be, and actually on a car, and that failure to use such care is negligence, is not erroneous as placing a higher degree of care on a carrier than the law fixes, nor as incorrectly defining negligence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Aycock (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 198.

In an action against a street railroad company for injuries to a passenger while he was attempting to board a car, an instruction held to properly present the issues on the pleadings and evidence. Gildemeister v. San Antonio Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1091.

Instruction, in an action by an infant passenger for personal injuries, as to the degree of care which defendant should have exercised, held not erroneous or prejudicial. Galveston Electric Co. v. Dickey (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1093.

Although in Louisiana a passenger injured on a railroad can recover only under Civ. Code La. art. 2315, yet a carrier owes to its passengers the duty of exercising the highest diligence, so that a charge in an action by a passenger injured in that state that, if the injury was caused by the failure of the carrier to use the high degree of care required, the verdict should be for plaintiff, was not erroneous. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Fife (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 1181.

A requested charge with reference to the care exercised by the sleeping car company held properly refused. Pullman Co. v. Schober (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 236.

In an action for injury to a lumber company's employé while riding on a logging train, which was derailed, an instruction on the duty of defendant railway company under its contract with defendant lumber company to carry plaintiff held proper. Knox v. Robbins (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1134.

312. Injuries in operation of railroads in general.—Railway companies, care required of. Railway Co. v. McClaine, 80 T. 85, 15 S. W. 789. As to employés. Railway Co. v. Robinson, 73 T. 277, 11 S. W. 327; Railway Co. v. Douglass, 73 T. 325, 11 S. W. 333. As to a person on the track. Artusy v. Railway Co., 73 T. 191, 11 S. W. 177.

A charge as to the degree of care imposed upon a railroad in switching cars held not to impose a higher degree than ordinary care. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Kimbell (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 1049.

A charge as to the liability of a railroad company for injuries through obstructions on the right of way examined, and held to state the correct principle of law. Id.

Instruction in action by passenger injured by collision held proper. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Edling, 18 C. A. 171, 45 S. W. 406.

Instruction in action for injuries received by a trespasser on an engine held sufficient. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Zantzinger (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 677.

In an action for injuries to trespasser, special instructions held properly refused. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Black, 23 C. A. 119, 57 S. W. 330.

Instruction held to permit recovery for injury from one of two causes, as to which defendant was not negligent. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Hay, 28 C. A. 318, 67 S. W. 171.

In an action against a railroad for injuries, an instruction on the care required of defendant under the circumstances held properly given. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Kennemore (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 802.

Instructions in an action against a railroad company for injuries sustained while unloading a car held not erroneous. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Thomas, 48 C. A. 646, 107 S. W. 868.

In an action for injuries to a passenger in a street car in a collision between the car and a train, a requested instruction held properly refused. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Wiggins, 48 C. A. 449, 107 S. W. 899.

In an action against a railroad for the death of an employé of another railroad company, a charge held to properly submit the issue of negligence. El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. Murtle, 49 C. A. 273, 108 S. W. 998.

In an action against a railroad for injuries through a car running into a car from which plaintiff was removing freight, an instruction held erroneous. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Gerald (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 166.

In an action against a railroad for injuries through a car running into the car plaintiff was unloading, an instruction held not erroneous. Id.

In an action for injuries to a person on a railroad train, an instruction held not to place too great a burden on the railroad company as to care due a trespasser. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Trower (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 588.

In an action against a railroad company for injuries to an employé of the Pullman Company, a charge held not open to a certain objection in view of the evidence. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Tracy (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 639.

313. Injuries at railroad crossings.—Instructions reviewed. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rogers (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 849; Id., 91 T. 52, 40 S. W. 956.

Refusal to give an instruction held erroneous. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Simon (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 309.

Refusal of a charge requiring plaintiff, before recovery, to prove that defendant's employés, in making a flying switch, did not care whether or not they killed a child, held proper. Gulf, W. T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Letsch (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 584.

The giving of an instruction as to failure to sound whistle held erroneous. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Neely (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 282.

Instruction in regard to sounding the whistle at crossings held not erroneous. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Blan (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 552.

In an action for injuries alleged to be due to a flagman's failure to warn plaintiff of an approaching train, refusal of a charge holding defendant negligent held not error. Bell v. Texas & P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 573.

An instruction held to require too great a degree of care of those in charge of an engine. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. James (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 930.

An instruction that failure to signal 80 rods from a crossing, "as provided by law," is negligence, held not erroneous. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Tirres, 33 C. A. 362, 76 S. W. 806.

A certain instruction as to ringing a bill at a railroad crossing held proper. Hawkins v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 36 C. A. 633, 83 S. W. 52.

Charge limiting plaintiff's recovery to finding that the place of the accident was a public crossing held not erroneous. McKerley v. Red River, T. & S. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 499.

An instruction held to have fairly submitted the question of negligence resulting from failure to ring the bell or sound the whistle. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Elledge (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 499.

Giving of certain instruction held reversible error. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Dillard (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 426.

An instruction held erroneous for failing to require a negligent act on the part of the company. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Adams, 44 C. A. 288, 98 S. W. 222.

Instruction held erroneous as tending to impose liability on railroad even if its servants had no reason to anticipate plaintiff's presence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Garrett (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 162.

An instruction basing negligence on the failure to keep a flagman at a railway crossing held proper. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Moore (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 658.

Instructions as to the exercise of care by defendant's employés held sufficient. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Balliet, 48 C. A. 641, 107 S. W. 906.

Held, that a charge was not objectionable as stating one of the grounds of negligence charged to be the failure to construct the crossing in a particular manner. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hawkins, 49 C. A. 545, 108 S. W. 736.

An instruction held not erroneous. Texas Mexican Ry. Co. v. De Hernandez, 49 C. A. 360, 108 S. W. 765.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to a pedestrian while passing between cars in a train blocking a street in violation of a city ordinance, an instruction authorizing a recovery on finding specified acts of negligence held proper. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 101 T. 422, 108 S. W. 964.

An instruction held too restricted. Boesch v. Texas Cent. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 784.

An instruction requested by defendant held not to state a correct proposition of law. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Reynolds (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 279.

Where plaintiff was caught between tracks and run down by an engine, the giving of an instruction on plaintiff's behalf held proper. Id.

In an action for injuries to pedestrian while passing between cars in a train obstructing a street, an instruction that trainmen were not bound to give notice of moving the train unless they had notice that persons might be crossing held properly refused, because reducing the issue of negligence to the question of discovered peril. Freeman v. Terry (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1016.

An instruction that if the tracks and the crossing were in a reasonably safe condition for the use of the public, or if the mule pulling plaintiff's buggy was running away, or if plaintiff was thrown from the buggy on account of the speed of the mule, and not by the defective condition of the track, if any, or if he was thrown from the buggy at some other place than on the crossing caused from any other cause than from the defect, if any, of the crossing, then and in either event the jury should find for defendant, was not objectionable, in that it required defendant to maintain the crossing in a safe condition for travelers when their teams were running away. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gillenwater (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 589.

An instruction that a railroad company was bound to maintain crossings in a safe condition for the passage of vehicles "of any kind or character" was misleading. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Guinn (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 959.

A charge was erroneous in requiring that the engineer should have stopped the engine in the "shortest time possible" after discovery by the engineer of plaintiff's peril. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Tarver (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 958.

314. Injuries to persons on railroad tracks.—Charge respecting defendant's liability held as favorable to it as it could ask. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Hamilton (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 797.

Instruction in action for negligent killing of child on railroad track, as to care to be exercised by trainmen, held error. Olivaras v. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 981.

An instruction held to correctly submit to the jury the issue whether the operatives of the train failed to keep a reasonable lookout. Galveston, H. & H. R. Co. v. Levy, 35 C. A. 107, 79 S. W. 879.

Statement of proper instructions as to the speed of a locomotive and the ringing of its bell, where the track is along a street, when there are ordinances on said subjects and when there are no such ordinances. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Hall, 35 C. A. 545, 81 S. W. 82.

An instruction as to defendant's statutory duty to sound a whistle and ring the bell on approaching a crossing held proper. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. O'Donnell (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 886.

In an action against a railroad for negligently causing the death of plaintiff's minor child, an instruction held not reversible error under the pleadings and proof. Forge v. Houston & T. C. R. Co., 41 C. A. 81, 90 S. W. 1118.

An instruction with respect to the rights of the engine on the street held erroneous. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Huber (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 568.

Refusal of a charge held reversible error. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Brown, 46 C. A. 10, 101 S. W. 464.

An instruction held correct. Nacogdoches & S. E. R. Co. v. Beene, 47 C. A. 585, 106 S. W. 456; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Crawford, 54 C. A. 196, 117 S. W. 193; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Reynolds, 103 T. 31, 122 S. W. 531.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to one struck by a train while walking along a portion of defendant's track used as a footpath, an instruction held sufficiently favorable to defendant. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Malone (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 958.

An instruction as to the care required of a railroad in operating its trains on any part of its road habitually used by the public as a passway held not erroneous. Id.

In an action for injuries through being struck by an engine while walking near the track, an instruction held properly refused. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Crawford, 54 C. A. 196, 117 S. W. 193.

An instruction held to submit the true question to the jury of whether the fireman realized the perilous situation of decedent in time to have avoided striking him, and not what measures he ought to have taken to that end. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Hodges, 102 T. 524, 120 S. W. 848.

A requested charge held erroneous. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Reynolds, 103 T. 31, 122 S. W. 531.

Evidence, in an action for the death of a person on a track in defendant's station yards, held to raise the question of defendant's negligence in failing to exercise ordinary care to avoid injuring decedent. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Cohen (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 916.

Instruction as to duty to licensees on the track held not error. Id.

A charge, objected to on the ground that defendant was not bound to keep a lookout except in front of the train, held not to misstate the law, so as to mislead the jury to defendant's prejudice. Mexican Cent. Ry. Co. v. Rodriguez (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 690.

In an action for injuries to a traveler caused by his team becoming frightened by a train, a charge as to duty of engineer held not erroneous. McMillan v. Freeman (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 626.

315. Injuries to animals on or near railroad tracks.—Where stock was killed at farm crossing, held, that the charge should have confined the jury to the issue as to whether ordinary care was used after discovery of the stock. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Dyer (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 841.

Instruction held misleading, as calculated to impose on employés duty to keep lookout for teams near track. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Carruth (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 1036.

Certain instruction held erroneous. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Red Cross Stock Farm, 22 C. A. 114, 53 S. W. 834.

Charge on the duty of fencing if the injury occurred within a station yard held unnecessary. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cooper, 32 C. A. 592, 75 S. W. 328.

Charge as to duty of railroad to fence its right of way corrected. Id.

An instruction requiring a railroad company to repair, not only substantial defects in a right of way fence gate, "but any others" which arose from the use of the gate, held error. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bradshaw (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 897.

Instructions imposing on the train operatives the duty to exercise ordinary care to avoid striking the horses after discovering them on the track, etc., held error. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Simpson, 41 C. A. 125, 91 S. W. 874.

An instruction held not objectionable, as authorizing a recovery without submitting any fact which would constitute negligence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Josey (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 688.

An instruction as to defendant's duty to fence its track at the place of the accident held erroneous. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Hico Oil Mill (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 627.

An instruction as to defendant's duty to signal at a public crossing held not subject to objections urged. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Huttner (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 630.

An instruction held proper. Ludtke v. Texas & N. O. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 377.

316. Injuries by fire set out in operation of railroads.—Instructions considered. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Newman (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 854.

Held error to refuse to instruct as to reasonable care in removing combustible matter on railroad's right of way. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Knight, 20 C. A. 477, 49 S. W. 250.

An instruction held erroneous, as preventing a recovery because of negligence of defendant's servants in handling the engine. Scott v. Texas & P. Ry. Co., 93 T. 625, 57 S. W. 801.

Instructions relating to the duty of defendant in adopting spark arresters, and to its right to operate its trains and build fires in furnaces, held properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Carter, 95 T. 461, 68 S. W. 159.

An instruction held erroneous. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wood (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 1187; Bryan Press Co. v. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co., 110 S. W. 99.

Instruction as to equipment of engines held not reversible error. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Green (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 241.

317. Injuries in operation of street railroads.—Instruction held proper. Klatt v. Houston Electric St. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 1112.

Failure to instruct on one phase of the case held error. Denison & S. Ry. Co. v. Carter (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 322.

Held that there was no error in certain instructions predicated upon city ordinances. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Ely (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 887.

A charge in a personal injury case as to a street car company's right to that portion of a street occupied by its track held erroneous. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Kelleher, 48 C. A. 421, 107 S. W. 64.

An instruction held not objectionable as requiring a street railway motorman to keep a lookout for a particular person, nor as assuming that there was evidence that deceased was walking along the track at the time he was struck. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Levyson, 52 C. A. 122, 113 S. W. 569.

318. Injuries from obstruction or diversion of water.—Instruction in action for overflow of land from closing of culvert held erroneous in denying recovery, if it was at all subject to overflow before said closing. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Wishart, 28 C. A. 162, 66 S. W. 860.

In an action for damages to land by an overflow of water, caused by an alleged defective railroad trestle, an instruction held not error, as requiring of defendant a greater degree of care than that exercised by a "person of ordinary prudence. San Antonio & A. P. R. Co. v. Kiersey (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 1045.

An instruction that if defendant railroad company had constructed its road in a proper, careful, and scientific manner, according to the natural lay and drainage of the land, it was not liable to a landowner for damages from an overflow, was proper. Taylor v. San Antonio & A. P. R. Co., 36 C. A. 658, 83 S. W. 738.

In an action for damages to land from an overflow, alleged to have been caused by an obstruction maintained by defendant, held that a certain requested instruction should be given. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. McClerran (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 653.

In an action against a railroad company for insufficient drainage of its right of way, an instruction that the railroad was liable for damage resulting from failure to maintain sufficient culverts and sluices, required by the natural lay of the land, held improperly refused. McFadden v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 41 C. A. 350, 92 S. W. 989.

In an action for damages for the diversion of water, etc., a charge limiting the right of recovery held to sufficiently protect the rights of defendant. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Terhune (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 381.

An instruction in an action against a railroad for maintaining an embankment causing surface water to overflow on an owner's land held to restrict the duty of the railroad to the construction of only such culverts as the natural lay of the land required for the necessary drainage thereof. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Arey (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 963.

An instruction held correct under the evidence. Id.

An instruction relating to the liability of the railroad for surface water diverted on its right of way by a third person held properly refused. Id.

An instruction in an action for the overflowing of land caused by a ditch held not erroneous. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Merritt, 46 C. A. 130, 102 S. W. 151.

Where plaintiff's house was damaged from overflow from defendant's right of way, an instruction that, if but for defendant's negligence the injury would not have occurred, the jury should find for plaintiff, though other causes contributed to the injury, was properly refused. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Riggs (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 589.

In an action for obstructing the waters of a stream for the construction of a levee, an instruction held not erroneous under the issues. Knight v. Durham (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 591.

319. Injuries from live electric wires.—In an action for the death of one coming in contact with a telephone wire which fell across a wire of another company, becoming charged with a dangerous current, and which had been wrapped around a post by a third person, held not error to refuse instructions based on the likelihood of the company having foreseen such consequences. Citizens' Telephone Co. v. Thomas, 45 C. A. 20, 99 S. W. 879.

In an action for death by electric shock, an instruction held to properly submit the issue whether defendant exercised reasonable care to guard against ordinary and usual conditions. Jacksonville Ice & Electric Co. v. Moses (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 379.

In an action against an electric light company for death by electric shock received from a broken wire, a charge as to the duty of inspection held proper under the evidence. Id.

In an action against an electric light company for death from electric shock, the refusal of an instruction held not erroneous. Temple Electric Light Co. v. Halliburton (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 584.

In an action for death from electric shock, an instruction on the question of defendant's negligence held proper. Id.

320. Liability of city.—Cities and towns, liability of, for injuries. Klein v. City of Dallas, 71 T. 280, 8 S. W. 90.

In view of the pleadings and the evidence in an action against a city for an injury to plaintiff's wife from a defective sidewalk, held, it was error to refuse to charge that, if she was injured because a plank in defendant's sidewalk was loose or warped, recovery could not be had, unless defendant had notice thereof. City of Dallas v. Jones, 93 T. 38, 49 S. W. 577.

In an action for damages alleged to have been occasioned by a city's failure to erect a suitable barrier on a street adjacent to a stream, an instruction held not erroneous in failing to define under what circumstances it would be defendant's duty to erect such barrier. City of San Antonio v. Porter, 24 C. A. 444, 59 S. W. 922.

An instruction as to the liability of a city and street railroad for death in driving over street railroad tracks, caused by a rail being higher than the street, held erroneous. Citizens' R. Co. v. Gossett (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 706.

In an action against a city for injuries to a pedestrian from a defective sidewalk, an instruction held properly refused as too restrictive as to the city's liability. City of Rockwall v. Heath (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 514.

An instruction as to notice of the defect held erroneous. City of Haskell v. Barker (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 833.

In a personal injury action against a city, a certain charge held properly refused. City of San Antonio v. Ashton (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 757.

In an action for injuries from negligence in extension of waterworks system, instructions that defendant had the right to enlarge its system and to build tunnels complained of in connection therewith held not error under the evidence. Early & Clement Grain Co. v. City of Waco (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 431.

321. Telegraph and telephone companies.—Telegraph companies, negligence of. Erie Telegraph Co. v. Grimes, 82 T. 89, 17 S. W. 831; Telegraph Co. v. Cooper, 71 T. 507, 9 S. W. 598, 1 L. R. A. 728, 10 Am. St. Rep. 772.

A requested charge as to the degree of care required of a telephone company, which is sued for injuries to a horse caused by the company's wires being left in the road, held erroneously refused. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 1185.

322. Notice.—On an issue whether an attaching creditor had notice of his debtor's purpose in delaying an assignment to permit him to obtain a preference, held, that the charge correctly defined constructive notice, and properly submitted the question of actual notice. Taylor v. Evans, 16 C. A. 409, 41 S. W. 877.

323. Nuisance.—A charge that one maintaining a nuisance is not liable by reason of the condition of other property held not error, where there was evidence that adjoining property was kept in an offensive condition. Brennan v. Corsicana Cotton-Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 588.

In suit for damages and injunction against nuisance, an instruction held not erroneous as authorizing recovery merely because of proximity of thing complained of to plaintiff's residence. Faulkenbury v. Wells, 28 C. A. 621, 68 S. W. 327.

An instruction in an action for injury to land, that the jury must find for defendant if they believe that the source of the injury will be removed, held not erroneous. Umscheid v. City of San Antonio (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 496.

Instruction in action by adjoining landowner for damages from excavation by railroad company held to properly submit issues to jury. Adams v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 1006.

In an action against a railway company for discomfort resulting from the erection and use by a railway company of a turntable and water tank, an instruction held erroneous under the pleadings and evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Perry (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 1169.

In an action for damages caused by and to abate a nuisance resulting from the maintenance of a dam, an instruction held not erroneous as requiring proof that people of the community were endangered or injured regardless of injury to plaintiff, etc. Boyd v. Schreiner (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 100.

In an action for damages from maintaining a nuisance, a requested instruction held properly refused as an improper statement of law. Hamm v. Briant, 57 C. A. 614, 124 S. W. 112; Same v. Gunn (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 113.

In an action by an owner of resident property abutting on a street for damages caused by operation of trains over the street, an instruction on the measure of damages held sufficient. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Jobe (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 32.

324. Parent and child.—The refusal of a requested instruction that the proceeds of a minor's earnings are subject to his father's debts held error. Harper v. Utsey (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 508.

An instruction, in an action against a parent for clothing furnished a minor child, that there must have been an express or implied authority to the child to purchase or an express or implied promise to pay, and an express promise to pay for goods other than necessaries, held erroneous, not stating whether the clothing was a necessity, or defining express or implied authority, and leading the jury to believe that explicit evidence of a promise was necessary. Snell v. Ham (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1077.

325. Partnership.—In a suit for the settlement of a partnership, the giving of an instruction relating to the rights of a partner after the expiration of the time specified in the partnership agreement held not erroneous in view of the facts and charge given. Morgan v. Barber (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 730.

Where defendant in a proceeding for the dissolution of a partnership, etc., appeared in person and filed no answer, refusal to charge plaintiff with a certain sum held not error. Meeve v. Eberhardt, 49 C. A. 327, 108 S. W. 1013.

In an action on an open verified account, an instruction, to the effect that where one partner acting in the scope of his authority obtains money from the firm and applies it the firm is answerable, held properly refused. Rotan Grocery Co. v. Tatum (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 342.

326. Proximate cause.—Accident, injuries from, not actionable when. Lumber Co. v. Denham, 85 T. 56, 19 S. W. 1012.

Instruction in action for killing stock at a crossing held not to sufficiently state that, to entitle plaintiff to recover, the failure to blow the whistle or ring the bell must be the proximate cause of the injury. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Scrivener (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 649.

An instruction that, if plaintiff's negligence and an unprecedented windstorm were concurring causes of an accident, the verdict of the jury should be for the defendant is correct. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Lynch, 22 C. A. 336, 55 S. W. 389.

The defense of inevitable accident or that plaintiff was injured in a different manner from that alleged held not embraced in an instruction on contributory negligence, given in an action against a railroad for an accident occurring on its tracks. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Washington, 94 T. 510, 63 S. W. 534.

The refusal of an instruction as to unavoidable accident held erroneous, under the evidence, in an action against a railroad for injuries received on its tracks. Id.

A general charge, in an action against a railroad for injuries received on its tracks, held not a sufficient submission of the defense of inevitable accident or that the accident occurred in a different manner from that alleged in the petition. Id.

The refusal to give an instruction as to unavoidable accident held erroneous, in an action against a railroad company for injury on its tracks. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Washington, 25 C. A. 600, 63 S. W. 538.

Where plaintiff was injured by a wire hanging from defendants' pole which was connected with defendants' electric wire, a request to charge that defendants' negligence was not the proximate cause of the injury should be refused. Wehner v. Lagerfelt, 27 C. A. 520, 66 S. W. 221.

Charge, in an action against a railroad for death resulting from the derailment of a train, to find for defendant, unless the gangrenous condition causing death resulted from an injury caused by such derailment, held properly given. Johnson v. Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co., 27 C. A. 616, 66 S. W. 906.

An instruction relating to proximate cause held proper. Bering Mfg. Co. v. Peterson, 28 C. A 194, 67 S. W. 133; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Heard (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 371; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Gerald, 128 S. W. 166; Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. Reames, 132 S. W. 977; Freeman v. Swan, 143 S. W. 724.

In a suit for delay in delivering a death message, an instruction held to sufficiently present the defense that plaintiff's wife was too weak to have made a journey to have attended the funeral services of her son had the message been promptly delivered. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Shaw, 40 C. A. 277, 90 S. W. 58.

In an action for death of a servant, a requested instruction held properly refused as not a correct definition of proximate cause. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Oram (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 1029.

In an action by a passenger for injuries received by waiting in an unheated depot, a charge defining proximate cause held incomplete. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Turner (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 195.

In an action against a railroad for damages to plaintiff's farm from an overflow of water, resulting from negligence in the construction of an embankment, the refusal of an instruction on proximate cause held error. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bell (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 198.

In an action by a locomotive fireman for personal injuries in a wreck caused by a washout, instructions excusing defendant if the condition of the track was caused by unprecedented rainfall held not erroneous. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Garrett, 44 C. A. 406, 98 S. W. 932.

In an action for personal injuries, the use, in an instruction, of the words "by reason of," instead of "as the direct and proximate result of," was not error. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Anglin, 45 C. A. 41, 99 S. W. 897.

An instruction that, if plaintiff's injury was proximately caused by a defect not pleaded as a ground of recovery, he could not recover, was properly refused for failure to require that such cause must have been the sole proximate cause of the injury. Cunningham v. Neal, 49 C. A. 613, 109 S. W. 455.

In an action for mental suffering in failing to promptly call plaintiff to listen to a telephone message from her father concerning the serious illness of her brother, an instruction on proximate cause held proper. Wiggs v. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 179.

An instruction as to the cause of the injury sued for held not sufficient in the presence of a request for a more specific instruction. Lyon v. Bedgood, 54 C. A. 19, 117 S. W. 897.

An instruction defining proximate cause held not objectionable for failure to require that injury must have been reasonably anticipated from the acts in question. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Turner (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1126.

In an action for damage to land by erecting a dam in a creek causing an overflow, held, that a requested charge on proximate cause should have been given. Warren v. Kimmell (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 159.

An instruction that the proximate cause is one which in natural and continuous sequence produces an event and without which the event would not have occurred, but that it must have been the natural and probable consequence of the negligence, and ought to have been foreseen as likely to occur by a person of ordinary prudence, did not in legal effect charge the jury that they must find that the precise injury, and no other, must have been foreseen and contemplated before the plaintiff could recover, nor did it preclude recovery in the absence of proof that the precise injury was foreseen by any person of ordinary prudence. Riley v. Fisher (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 581.

Instruction held not open to the objection that it authorized the jury, in estimating damages, to consider the loss of any logs not caused by the obstruction complained of. Burr's Ferry, B. & C. Ry. Co. v. Allen (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 358.

An instruction held to have sufficiently required that defendant's negligence proximately caused the injury. Liquid Carbonic Co. v. Dilley (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 468.

327. —— Contributory negligence.—Charge on contributory negligence held to sufficiently require plaintiff's negligence to have been the cause of the injury in order to defeat the action. Rea v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 555; Ratteree v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 36 C. A. 197, 81 S. W. 566; Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Purdy, 98 T. 557, 86 S. W. 321.

An instruction that, if plaintiff's negligence contributed to the injury, he could not recover, was not misleading, as against defendant, where there was no question that plaintiff's negligence, if any, was the proximate cause. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. McCoy, 17 C. A. 494, 44 S. W. 25.

In an action for injuries, an instruction defining contributory negligence held not objectionable as requiring that such negligence be the proximate cause of the injury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 769.

An instruction submitting the issue whether the act of a switchman, if negligence, contributed to his death, held erroneous. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hill, 29 C. A. 12, 70 S. W. 103.

In an action for injuries, a requested instruction on concurring negligence of plaintiff and defendant held erroneously refused. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Everett, 40 C. A. 285, 89 S. W. 457.

An instruction that, if plaintiff knew similar cars were sometimes left uncoupled, and his failure to ascertain whether the cars in question were uncoupled, was the proximate cause of his injury, he could not recover, held more favorable to defendant than the law warranted. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Pope, 43 C. A. 616, 97 S. W. 534.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff by being crushed between a post and a freight car, the court properly charged that plaintiff's knowledge of the post and its nearness to the track would not defeat recovery if his injury was due to the negligent backing of the cars without negligence contributing to the injury on his part. Cunningham v. Neal, 49 C. A. 613, 109 S. W. 455.

An instruction as to negligence of one struck and killed by a locomotive while walking along the side of the track held not required to state that, to prevent recovery, his negligence must have contributed to his injury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wall, 102 T. 362, 116 S. W. 1140.

An instruction that an employé's contributory negligence must have caused the injury in order to bar recovery, instead of charging that it must have "caused or contributed" to the injury, was erroneous. Kirby Lumber Co. v. Cunningham (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 288.

328. Release.—In an action for injuries to a servant, an instruction as to the circumstances under which plaintiff would be relieved from the effect of a release held erroneous. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Williams, 37 C. A. 198, 83 S. W. 248.

In an action for injuries to a passenger, an instruction with reference to the validity of a release signed by plaintiff held not objectionable. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. Cain, 37 C. A. 531, 84 S. W. 682.

In an action for personal injuries in which defendant pleaded a release, a certain instruction relative to the execution of the release held reversible error. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 43 C. A. 237, 95 S. W. 720.

In an action for injuries to a passenger, the refusal of an instruction to find for defendant unless plaintiff had not sufficient capacity to understand what he was doing when he signed a release held error. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Craig, 44 C. A. 583, 98 S. W. 907.

In an employé's action for personal injuries, an instruction held erroneous in submitting as the test for determining the validity of a release pleaded whether it was voluntarily executed by plaintiff. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Bowles (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1176.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff, an instruction that under certain circumstances plaintiff would not be bound by a release which he had previously signed held not objectionable as making the avoidance of the release depend alone on plaintiff's ignorance of its contents. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Villafuerte (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1155.

329. Rescission and cancellation.—An instruction that plaintiff, in an action for injuries, was bound to promptly disaffirm the release of her claim after she was free from the conditions which induced its execution, held improper. The Oriental v. Barclay, 16 C. A. 193, 41 S. W. 117.

Instruction in action to cancel a deed and mortgage held not erroneous. Wells v. Houston, 23 C. A. 629, 57 S. W. 584.

In a suit to cancel a contract and deeds made in pursuance thereof, and second contract subsequently made, on the ground of fraud, where defendant pleaded that plaintiff ratified the contracts, an instruction that plaintiff could not recover if he ratified the contracts held not erroneous. American Cotton Co. v. Collier, 30 C. A. 105, 69 S. W. 1021.

An instruction held not objectionable as infringing the proposition that the fact that the persons procuring a deed may have known before its execution that plaintiff was unwilling to sign it would not affect their rights under the deed, if she subsequently acknowledged the same voluntarily. London v. Crow, 46 C. A. 190, 102 S. W. 177.

An issue submitted to the jury in a suit to set aside a deed on the ground that grantor was insane held to give a proper test. Uecker v. Zuercher (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 149.

330. Separate or community property.—An instruction, in a suit to enjoin the enforcement of a judgment against the husband on land deeded to the wife after marriage, that the property was subject to the judgment, unless the husband had agreed to repay the wife for separate property appropriated by him, held erroneous. Thompson v. Wilson, 24 C. A. 666, 60 S. W. 354.

In an action by heirs to recover community land sold by a widow, an instruction that the jury should find for the plaintiffs, if they found that she sold the land for any purpose other than the payment of community debts, held error. Cage v. Tucker's Heirs, 29 C. A. 586, 69 S. W. 425.

An instruction, in an action by a wife against her husband for her separate property and for a half of the community property, held to properly submit the issues to the jury. Watkins v. Watkins (Civ. App.) 119 S. W. 145.

331. Set-off and counterclaim.—A charge that, if the jury should find defendant was induced to take shares in a building association by the fraudulent representations of its agent, defendant was entitled to an off-set for the amounts he had paid on the shares against his loan, held proper under the evidence. Park v. Kribs, 24 C. A. 650, 60 S. W. 905.

Instructions on tenant's right to recover under a plea of reconvention in action for rent held erroneous. Hurst v. Benson (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 417.

332. Statutory action.—In an action on a liquor dealer's bond for selling liquor to plaintiff's minor son, an instruction that defendant's belief, founded on good "grounds," that the son was an adult, would be a defense, was not erroneous in using "grounds," instead of "ground," as used in the statute. Lucas v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 823.

An instruction in an action against a retail liquor dealer and the sureties on his bond for the statutory penalty for selling liquor to a minor held erroneous for omitting a statutory requirement in support of the defense of a sale in good faith. Creel v. Cordon, 44 C. A. 367, 98 S. W. 387.

In an action on a liquor dealer's bond to recover the statutory penalty for permitting plaintiff's minor son to enter and remain in defendant's saloon, a charge that, if the boy was permitted to enter on or about the dates alleged, defendants were liable, held proper under the pleadings. Munoz v. Brassel (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 417.

333. Title, ownership, and possession.—A charge that if the jury find the facts relied upon as a title by a party (enumerating the instruments) they should find for the party is proper, without distinctly informing the jury of the legal effect of the several instruments in evidence. Ruby v. Von Valkenberg, 72 T. 459, 10 S. W. 514.

A charge held not to preclude the jury from considering the taking and enforcing of a mortgage on an issue whether claimant owned the fund or had loaned it to the debtor. Smith v. Merchants' & Planters' Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 1038.

On trial of issue between plaintiff, garnishee, and claimant, held, that it was proper to refuse to instruct that, as between garnishee and defendant, depositing the money with garnishee by defendant made the former a debtor of the latter. Id.

In trespass to try title to school land, where there was evidence that plaintiff had voluntarily removed therefrom after judgment for possession, held error to charge that such removal did not affect his right, and to refuse to submit the question whether such removal was voluntary. Chesser v. Baughman, 22 C. A. 435, 55 S. W. 132.

In a contest over the right to public lands, defendant held not entitled to complain as to a charge concerning the sufficiency of his possession. Bates v. Bratton (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 38.

In trespass to try title, charge held not open to construction of restricting jury on question of consideration to deed of trust alone, and not to deed of trust with deed. Jinks v. Moppin (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 390.

In trespass to try title, an instruction held misleading. Carlisle v. Gibbs, 44 C. A. 189, 98 S. W. 192.

In trespass to try title, where plaintiff claimed land as a gift inter vivos, an instruction held proper. Combest v. Wall (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 147.

In trespass to try title, an instruction held erroneous. Hirsch v. Patton, 49 C. A. 499, 108 S. W. 1015.

Charge in trespass to try title held not misleading. Wilkins v. Clawson, 50 C. A. 82, 110 S. W. 103.

Instruction, in trespass to try title, held not erroneous. McCollum v. Buckner's Orphans' Home, 54 C. A. 348, 117 S. W. 886.

Under the evidence on a third person's claim of property levied on under execution an instruction held proper. Steiner v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 261.

In trespass to try title, a certain charge held improper in part. Bender v. Brooks (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 653.

In an action of trespass to try title, a certain charge held proper. Hannay v. Harmon (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 406.

In trespass to try title, an instruction directing a finding for defendant on specified facts held erroneous. Ferrell v. Delano (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1039.

Where, in trespass to try title, defendant railroad claimed an easement by condemnation, and the general charge submitted the question as to the right of such easement and abandonment a requested instruction that, if the jury believed that part of the property was necessary to protect the safety of passengers, they should find for defendant "as to this lot" held properly refused as concluding the title to the lot, and not merely as to the easement. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Clark (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 989.

334. Trespass.—In an action for trespass by cutting timber on land, the refusal of a requested charge held not erroneous in view of the evidence. Kirby Lumber Co. v. Stewart (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 295.

335. Trusts.—In an action to establish a parol trust, an instruction held not error, as limiting the jury to a consideration of the facts contemporaneous with the execution of the deed to ascertain the intention of the parties. Stubblefield v. Stubblefield (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 965.

In an action to establish a resulting trust in land, on the ground of part payment of the purchase price, an instruction that no resulting trust arose in plaintiff's favor under the circumstances stated held proper, under the evidence. Erp v. Meachem (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 230.

336. Usury.—Instruction in action to cancel mortgage to building association on the ground of usury held erroneous. Interstate Building & Loan Ass'n v. Crawford (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 1071.

337. Wrongful death.—Charge on actionable homicide. Wallace v. Stevens, 74 T. 559, 12 S. W. 283.

Under a statute making railroads liable for death caused by "gross negligence" of their servants, a charge authorizing recovery if deceased was killed by the "negligence" of defendant's servants was erroneous. Gulf, W. T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Letsch (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 181.

A charge that plaintiff must prove by a preponderance of evidence that defendant was negligent, that the negligence was the proximate cause of the son's death, and plaintiff suffered damage, is correct. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Knight (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 640.

In an action for the unlawful killing of decedent, an instruction on self-defense held proper under the evidence. Gray v. Phillips, 54 C. A. 148, 117 S. W. 870.

(C) Damages and Amount of Recovery

338. In general.—Damages. Railway Co. v. Johnson, 72 T. 95, 10 S. W. 325; Fisher v. Dow, 72 T. 432, 10 S. W. 455; Lee v. Turner, 71 T. 264, 9 S. W. 149; Railway Co. v. Burns, 71 T. 479, 9 S. W. 467; Railway Co. v. Martino, 21 S. W. 781, 2 C. A. 634; Railway Co. v. Rowland, 22 S. W. 134, 3 C. A. 158; Eddy v. Still, 22 S. W. 525, 3 C. A. 346.

An instruction that, if the negligence of defendant was shown, plaintiff could recover the sum she sued for, held error. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Granberry, 16 C. A. 391, 40 S. W. 1062.

A submission of an issue of damages without giving proper measure of damages held error. Hazlewood v. Pennybacker (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 199; Carson v. Houssels, 51 S. W. 290.

An instruction, argumentative and on the weight of evidence, is properly refused. Rice v. Ward (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 318.

Reference by court, in charge on measure of damage, to amount claimed in plaintiff's petition, held not cause for reversal. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Hamilton, 36 C. A. 300, 81 S. W. 1052.

An instruction held not open to the objection that it did not confine the jury, in awarding damages, to the evidence. St. Louis Southwestern R. Co. of Texas v. Wright (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 270.

In trespass to try title, a charge on defendant's measure of damages under his plea of reconvention held correct. Freeman v. Slay (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 404.

Mentioning the amount sued for in a charge is not error, except when done in conjunction with a charge as to the amount of the verdict, and, even then, it is not ground for reversal, unless it reasonably appears that such reference influenced the jury in the amount returned. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Kelly (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 415.

An instruction as to damages, in an action for obstructing navigable waters, held correct. Orange Lumber Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 563.

In an action for death at a railroad crossing, an instruction held not objectionable as charging defendant's duty without instructing as to the penalty for breach thereof. Huber v. Texas & P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 984.

339. Double recovery.—An instruction allowed plaintiff to recover for loss of time, etc., and also for increased earning capacity. Held not erroneous. Knittel v. Schmidt, 16 C. A. 7, 40 S. W. 507; Galveston, H. & S. A. R. Co. v. Lynch, 22 C. A. 336, 55 S. W. 389.

General instruction as to damages followed by an enumeration of elements of damage, held not erroneous, as permitting double recovery. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brown, 16 C. A. 93, 40 S. W. 608.

An instruction held not objectionable as allowing double damages. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hannig (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 196; Same v. White, 22 C. A. 424, 55 S. W. 593; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Jones, 29 C. A. 214, 68 S. W. 190; Central Texas & N. W. Ry. Co. v. Luther, 32 C. A. 309, 74 S. W. 589; Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Williams, 34 C. A. 100, 78 S. W. 5; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Highnote (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 365; San Antonio Traction Co. v. Sanchez, Id. 849; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Tisdale, 39 C. A. 372, 87 S. W. 1063; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Byrd, 40 C. A. 315, 89 S. W. 991; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Wray, 43 C. A. 380, 96 S. W. 74; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Fink, 44 C. A. 544, 99 S. W. 204; Same v. Bean, 45 C. A. 52, 99 S. W. 721; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Merritt, 46 C. A. 130, 102 S. W. 151; Beaumont Traction Co. v. Edge, 46 C. A. 448, 102 S. W. 746; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Middleton, 46 C. A. 497, 103 S. W. 203; Industrial Lumber Co. v. Bivens, 47 C. A. 396, 105 S. W. 831; El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. O'Keefe, 50 C. A. 579, 110 S. W. 1002; Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Johnson, 51 C. A. 126, 111 S. W. 1098; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Stanley, 52 C. A. 185, 114 S. W. 676; Texas Midland R. Co. v. Geraldon, 54 C. A. 71, 117 S. W. 1004; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Flynt (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 347; Receivers of Kirby Lumber Co. v. Lloyd, 126 S. W. 319; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Maxwell, 128 S. W. 160; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Morrison, 129 S. W. 1159; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Aycock, 135 S. W. 198; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Morrison, 139 S. W. 884; Same v. Worsham, Id. 927; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Swilling, 143 S. W. 696; Knox v. Robbins, 151 S. W. 1134; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hedric, 154 S. W. 633.

An instruction held misleading as inducing the jury to allow double damages. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hannig, 91 T. 347, 43 S. W. 508; Texas Brewing Co. v. Dickey, 20 C. A. 606, 49 S. W. 935; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Warner, 22 C. A. 167, 54 S. W. 1064; St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 1064; Same v. Highnote, 74 S. W. 920; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Tisdale, 36 C. A. 174, 81 S. W. 347; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Perry, 36 C. A. 414, 82 S. W. 343; International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Butcher, 98 T. 462, 84 S. W. 1052; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. McCraw, 43 C. A. 247, 95 S. W. 82; Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Adams, 44 C. A. 288, 98 S. W. 222; Wise County v. McClain (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 802; Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Morris, 45 C. A. 596, 101 S. W. 1038; Same v. Spear (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 613; Stamford Oil Mill Co. v. Barnes, 55 C. A. 420, 119 S. W. 872; Texas Traction Co. v. Hanson (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 494; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Johnson, 125 S. W. 632; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Morrison, 129 S. W. 1157; Abilene Light & Water Co. v. Robinson, 131 S. W. 299; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Barnwell, 133 S. W. 527; Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Florence, 138 S. W. 430; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Davis, 139 S. W. 674.

Instructions in an action by a mother on her own behalf, and on behalf of her infant son, to recover damages for injury to the latter, held not to direct a double recovery for the services of infant during infancy. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 583.

Instruction in action to recover on contract, where defendant pleads partial nonperformance, held erroneous, as allowing double recovery. A. J. Anderson Electric Co. v. Cleburne Water, Ice & Lighting Co. (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 929.

An instruction in proceedings to condemn land held erroneous, as allowing double damages. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brugger, 24 C. A. 367, 59 S. W. 556.

Instruction held not objectionable, as permitting double damages to a husband for loss of the services of his wife. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Belt, 24 C. A. 281, 59 S. W. 607.

In an action for damages to land rendered inaccessible by a railroad embankment and for land taken, the charge held erroneous as authorizing double damages. Red River, T. & S. Ry. Co. v. Hughes, 36 C. A. 472, 81 S. W. 1235.

An instruction held to authorize double damages for diminished capacity to labor and earn money. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Nesbit, 40 C. A. 209, 88 S. W. 891.

A charge, in an action for expulsion from a depot waiting room, held not subject to objection as authorizing a double recovery for humiliation and pain, nor calculated to cause the jury to allow such a recovery. Texas Midland R. Co. v. Geraldon, 54 C. A. 71, 117 S. W. 1004.

In an action for land occupied by a canal across plaintiff's land, instructions held not to make defendant liable for the rental value of the canal, in addition to the land on which it was situated. Houston Land & Irrigation Co. v. Bradford (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 158.

An instruction permitting a recovery for "any pain of body, any mental distress, any humiliation or shame," etc., suffered by plaintiff did not permit the jury to award double damages for mental distress. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Hood, 55 C. A. 334, 118 S. W. 1119.

In an action for wrongful death, an instruction on the measure of damages held not to authorize a double recovery for counsel and advice, which decedent would probably have rendered to his children, but for his wrongful death. International & G. N. R. Co. v. White (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 958.

In an action for injuries to land, grass, and cornstalks by the leakage of oil from defendant's pipe line, an instruction held misleading as authorizing a double recovery for the grass and the cornstalks. Gulf Pipe Line Co. v. Brymer (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 1007.

A charge which allows a jury to assess damages twice for the same cause is error. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Maxwell (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 160.

In an action for breach of marriage promise, a charge held not objectionable as allowing the recovery of double damages. Fisher v. Barber (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 871.

An instruction held not to authorize damages regardless of whether such suffering proximately resulted from the injuries, and recovery of double damages. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Brouillette (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 886.

A charge in an action for breach of covenant to repair held erroneous as authorizing double damages. Sanger v. Smith (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 189.

An instruction held not objectionable, as authorizing a double recovery for physical pain and for "suffering" in addition. Sumner v. Kinney (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1192.

In an action against connecting carriers for injuries to live stock in transit, an instruction that plaintiff's measure of damages was any difference in the market value of the cattle at the destination in their condition when they arrived and the market value they would have had but for any negligence of defendants, and the market value of any cattle that died as a proximate result of defendants' negligence, was not erroneous as authorizing double recovery. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Brown (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 1177.

Instruction held erroneous which authorized recovery for "impaired capacity to labor and earn money" and also for "loss of time." Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Crannell (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 351.

An instruction that the measure of plaintiff's recovery was compensation for defendant's breach of promise to marry her, including injury to her feelings, affection, and pride, as well as the loss of marriage, and that, if under the promise he seduced her and a child was born, she could recover such other damages as she sustained thereby, held improper as authorizing assessment of double damages. Huggins v. Carey (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 390.

An instruction permitting the consideration of mental and physical suffering in ascertaining compensation for injuries complained of is not objectionable as authorizing double damages. Studebaker Bros. Co. v. Kitts (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 464.

An instruction that the jury should allow plaintiff a sum which will compensate him for time lost, and for time plaintiff will lose in the future, and for his decreased earning capacity, if any, and present and future mental suffering held to permit double recovery. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Beasley (Sup.) 155 S. W. 183.

340. Speculative and future or permanent damages.—An instruction limiting plaintiff's damage to such results only as appeared from a preponderance of the evidence reasonably certain to ensue from the injury held properly refused. Cameron Mill & Elevator Co. v. Anderson, 34 C. A. 105, 78 S. W. 8.

Held, that an instruction was not susceptible of the construction that it confined the jury to compensation to past damages. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Shaughnessy (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 1026.

An instruction allowing damages for future suffering held not objectionable, as ignoring the boundary of reasonable certainty. Central Texas & N. W. Ry. Co. v. Gibson (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 862.

An instruction held not to authorize damages which "might probably" occur in the future. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Middleton, 46 C. A. 497, 103 S. W. 203.

An instruction using the expression, "may reasonably and probably suffer," held equivalent to "will reasonably and probably suffer." St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Garber (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 742.

The submission of the issue of permanent injury held proper. Citizens' Ry. Co. v. Griffin, 49 C. A. 569, 109 S. W. 999.

A charge as to permanent injuries was not erroneous in allowing the jury to award plaintiff such sum as they believed "may" accrue in the future. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Allen, 53 C. A. 433, 115 S. W. 1179.

Evidence held sufficient to require an instruction submitting the question of permanent injuries and damages therefor. Id.

An instruction limiting damages for future suffering to such as plaintiff "would undergo" held too favorable to defendant. Weatherford, M. W. & N. W. Ry. Co., 55 C. A. 32, 118 S. W. 799.

Where the evidence warranted a finding that plaintiff's impaired capacity to work might be permanent, the court properly submitted plaintiff's impaired future earning ability as an element of damage. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Schuessler, 56 C. A. 410, 120 S. W. 1147.

In an action for injuries, an instruction was properly refused as permitting an inference that speculation or conjectural damages may be found. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Horne (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 1025.

An instruction held not objectionable as authorizing a recovery for impairment of future earning capacity. Citizens' Ry. & Light Co. v. Atwood (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1101.

An instruction held not erroneous as authorizing the jury to calculate the amount plaintiff would lose annually for life, and to allow him in such sum. Continental Oil & Cotton Co. v. Gilliam (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 890.

An instruction held not misleadingly erroneous in not requiring damages for future mental suffering to be based upon past negligence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 544.

341. Expenses incurred.—The charge considered, and held not to authorize the jury to allow plaintiff expenses not necessarily consequent upon his injury. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Rowell (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 763.

An instruction held erroneous, as violating the rule that one injured through negligence is entitled to recover expenses resulting from the injury only where they were necessary and reasonable. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Rowell, 92 T. 147, 46 S. W. 630.

An instruction that, if defendant was negligent, plaintiff is entitled to such sum as will compensate him for expenditures for medical attention, held not erroneous, as allowing such compensation whether or not the expenditures were the proximate result of the injury. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Anthony, 24 C. A. 9, 57 S. W. 897.

In false imprisonment, held proper to refuse a charge authorizing the jury to consider a sum spent by plaintiff for medical attention incurred by reason of the arrest. Pincham v. Dick, 30 C. A. 230, 70 S. W. 333.

In an action for wrongful levy, an instruction permitting a recovery for coal purchased, which plaintiffs were prevented from using, held improperly refused. Hooks & Hines v. Pafford, 34 C. A. 516, 78 S. W. 991.

An instruction held not to confine recovery for medical expenses to such as were reasonable. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Perry, 36 C. A. 414, 82 S. W. 343.

An instruction authorizing a recovery for expenses incurred for physician and medicine held not objectionable as authorizing a recovery for services of a physician, in the absence of evidence of the reasonable value thereof. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. McDowell, 40 C. A. 28, 88 S. W. 415.

A charge on the recovery of expenses of medical services in an injury case held not erroneous, as permitting recovery for services not shown to be necessary and reasonable, especially in view of a special charge given. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Craig, 52 C. A. 611, 114 S. W. 850.

The court properly charged that the jury might consider the reasonable and necessary expenses incurred for medical attention and medicine upon finding for plaintiff. St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Dodgin (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 847.

Expenses incurred for medical services held improperly submitted as an item of damage. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Lane (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1066.

In an action for damages to a shipment of stock, an instruction as to damages held not objectionable as allowing recovery for expenses whether or not reasonable and necessary, or as permitting a recovery for expenses without regard to whether they were occasioned by the plaintiffs' negligence. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Bishop (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 305.

342. Mitigation of damages and reduction of loss.—An instruction that evidence of plaintiff's failure to obey the regulations of the firm could be considered only in mitigation of exemplary damages for slander held erroneous under the evidence. Browne v. Brick (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 995.

Where a servant has received money from a master for injuries received by him, held not error to instruct that the amount so received may be deducted from the amount of damages assessed for the injury. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Milam (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 735.

In an action for personal injuries, held error to refuse to charge that plaintiff could not recover for suffering which he could have prevented by reasonable care, nor for a bone felon on his other hand, not bruised at the time of the accident. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ball, 28 C. A. 287, 66 S. W. 879.

Instruction, in action for breach of contract to furnish water for irrigating purposes, as to circumstances mitigating damages, held properly refused. Raywood Rice, Canal & Milling Co. v. Wells, 33 C. A. 545, 77 S. W. 253.

A charge held incorrect because it directed the jury to find against a party as to future injuries without reference to whether ordinary care had been used to prevent their aggravation. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Duncan, 55 C. A. 440, 121 S. W. 362.

A requested charge, depriving one injured by defendant's negligence of all right of recovery because of improper treatment of the injury, with intention on his part or that of his physician to bring about a debilitating condition, held erroneous. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Kurtz (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 658.

An instruction on the measure of damages for causing the loss of logs, which authorized a deduction of the amount received for logs sold by plaintiff, was erroneous; the proper amount to be deducted being the market value of the logs and not the amount received. Burr's Ferry, B. & C. Ry. Co. v. Allen (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 358.

An instruction, though awkwardly worded, held to correctly declare that if, notwithstanding the delay, the cattle could not have been placed on the market a day sooner, as claimed by the shipper, verdict should be for the carrier. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Blocker (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 955.

343. Injuries to the person.—It is not error to instruct the jury to consider the decreased earning capacity, in assessing damages, when there is evidence that presents that phase of damages. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Parrish (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 536.

Instruction allowing recovery for loss of time from date of personal injury, held not erroneous. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Scruggs, 23 C. A. 712, 58 S. W. 186.

An instruction authorizing the recovery of damages for the decreased earning capacity held proper. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Laws (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 498.

An instruction held unobjectionable. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Abbey, 29 C. A. 211, 68 S. W. 293; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Box (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 134; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cunningham, 48 C. A. 1, 106 S. W. 407; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Cheatham, 52 C. A. 1, 113 S. W. 777; Roberts v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 230; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Maxwell, 128 S. W. 160; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Swift, Id. 450; Freeman v. Courtney, 134 S. W. 260; Wichita Cotton Oil Co. v. Hanna, 139 S. W. 1000.

In an action for damages by the premature discharge of plaintiff from a hospital, where defendant had contracted to treat him for personal injuries, an instruction held erroneous, because authorizing a recovery for damages caused by the injury for which plaintiff was being treated. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Logan, 36 C. A. 279, 81 S. W. 812.

An instruction held not to authorize recovery for time lost owing to physical and mental suffering. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Shaughnessy (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 1026.

An instruction held objectionable as precluding recovery for any suffering or impairment between the date of the accident and the trial. Williams v. Houston Electric Co. (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 489.

An instruction authorizing the recovery of damages for the impairment of plaintiff's nervous system and memory in addition to the damages to which he was entitled on other grounds held proper. Northern Texas Traction Co. v. Yates, 39 C. A. 114, 88 S. W. 283.

An instruction that the jury should allow plaintiff such damages as would fairly compensate her for her injuries was proper. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Vollrath, 40 C. A. 46, 89 S. W. 279.

An instruction authorizing the jury to compensate plaintiff for his "impaired ability" held not erroneous. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Ely (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 887.

Held proper to refuse to instruct that plaintiff could not recover for any inadequate treatment by physicians and surgeons selected by the company. Texas & N. O. Co. v. Davidson, 49 C. A. 85, 107 S. W. 949.

An instruction authorizing the jury to assess plaintiff's damages at such amount as would "fully" compensate him, etc., held not erroneous. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. McCarty, 49 C. A. 532, 108 S. W. 764.

An instruction on the measure of damages held objectionable as not limiting the recovery to the results of the injury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith, 49 C. A. 610, 108 S. W. 1195.

Instruction held not objectionable as being ambiguous, misleading, or permitting double recovery. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hibbitts, 49 C. A. 419, 109 S. W. 228.

Held not prejudicial error to authorize the jury to consider plaintiff's impaired ability to "earn money." Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Motwiller, 51 C. A. 432, 112 S. W. 794.

An instruction held not objectionable as not limiting recovery for loss of time to the date of the verdict, and as allowing recovery for loss of time after the judgment. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Henefy (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 57.

A charge held affirmatively erroneous. Rapid Transit Ry. Co. v. Williams (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 267.

An instruction as to damages for diminished earning capacity held proper in a personal injury action. Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Bradford (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1046.

An instruction held not erroneous, as authorizing recovery for mental and physical suffering, other than that necessarily incident to the physical pain from the injury. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Brown (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 1172.

344. —— Aggravation of previous injury or of injury complained of.—Aggravating injuries. Railway Co. v. McMannewitz, 70 T. 73, 8 S. W. 66.

A charge requiring plaintiff to exercise ordinary care to secure proper treatment for his injuries, and that if he failed to do so he could not recover for increased injuries, held proper. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 162.

Instruction held misleading as authorizing the jury to consider a former injury received by plaintiff as the cause of his present condition. Nix v. San Antonio Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 335.

Instruction held only to authorize consideration of a pre-existing affliction for the purpose of allowing damages for an aggravation thereof only, if any, and was therefore not objectionable. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Morrison (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 884.

345. —— Loss of services of wife or child.—A charge in consolidated actions by an infant for injuries, and by her mother for loss of services and for expenses, held not objectionable, as authorizing damages in the child's favor for its diminished capacity to earn money during minority. Dublin Cotton-Oil Co. v. Jarrard (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 531.

An instruction in an action by a mother for loss of services of her infant son, based upon the pleading, which alleged his age as 6 years, when the evidence showed him to be 10 years old, held not misleading as directing the jury to compute damages upon the basis of the age of the son being 6 years. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 583.

In an action against a carrier for injuries to a wife and expenses incurred by reason of the sickness of plaintiff's son, the charge held not objectionable as authorizing damages for injury to the son. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Duck (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 1027.

Charge on measure of recovery for loss of service of child held erroneous. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Anglin (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 785.

An instruction as to the method of ascertaining damages held not erroneous. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Kitt (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 678.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff's wife, the court, having limited the recovery to the "diminished capacity," did not err in not further limiting such words to diminished capacity to labor or earn money. Southern Pac. Co. v. Blake (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 668.

346. Mental suffering.—Requisites of charge on mental anguish. Telegraph Co. v. Evans, 1 C. A. 297, 21 S. W. 266; Yoakum v. Dunn, 1 C. A. 525, 21 S. W. 411.

A charge referring to "injured feelings" held to cover both bodily and mental suffering. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Sweetman, 19 C. A. 435, 47 S. W. 676.

An instruction as to recovery for mental and physical pain held not objectionable as giving the jury too great latitude. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Smith (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 184.

In an action against telegraph company for failure to deliver a message, an instruction as to damages for mental anguish held erroneously refused. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Craven (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 633.

In an action for damages for failure to allow plaintiff to take possession of premises rented from defendants, an instruction as to damages for mental and physical suffering and inconvenience held error. Scanlan & Bartell v. Davis (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 126.

347. Injuries resulting in death.—Instruction as to damages authorizing finding for plaintiff for the sum he would have received "in money" from deceased had he lived held error. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Porterfield, 19 C. A. 225, 46 S. W. 919.

Where plaintiff died after suit commenced, and his executrix then prosecuted the action, an instruction as to measure of damages held not objectionable. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Settle, 19 C. A. 357, 47 S. W. 825.

An instruction on the measure of damages for death of husband held erroneous. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Loeffler (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 536; Same v. Turner, 34 C. A. 397, 78 S. W. 712.

An instruction, in an action by parents for the wrongful death of an adult son, stating the measure of damages as "the pecuniary value of the maintenance and support" of plaintiffs by deceased, held erroneous. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Power (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 629.

It is not error to instruct that the measure of damages for the death of a son is the pecuniary value of his life to the plaintiffs, when the instruction provides that the jury shall consider the earning power of the son, what he contributed to the parents' support, and the probable duration of such support. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. White, 23 C. A. 280, 56 S. W. 204.

An instruction that plaintiff's recovery should be limited to the present worth of deceased's future earnings, calculated on the basis of 6 per cent. per annum, held properly refused. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 24 C. A. 180, 58 S. W. 622.

Instruction that plaintiffs should recover such sum as the evidence showed would be a fair compensation to them for their pecuniary loss in decedent's death held proper. Id.

An instruction that plaintiff could recover the contributions which she had a reasonable expectation of receiving from the son after his majority was erroneous. San Antonio Traction Co. v. White, 94 T. 468, 61 S. W. 706.

An instruction that, if they were entitled to recover, they should recover such sum as the jury believed from the evidence they would have had a reasonable expectation of receiving from their son, had he not been killed, held erroneous. International Light & Power Co. v. Maxwell, 27 C. A. 294, 65 S. W. 78.

An instruction that the measure of damage is the present pecuniary value of the services the child would have rendered for the parents, held not erroneous in not having limited the services to the minority of the child. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Harby, 28 C. A. 24, 67 S. W. 541.

The refusal of a certain instruction as to damages held not error. Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Eyer (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 453.

Instruction authorizing damages for such an amount as the decedent would have spent for the education of his children, held not error. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Puente, 30 C. A. 246, 70 S. W. 362.

An instruction as to measure of damages for death of plaintiff's father held not open to construction that they might recover all his future earnings. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bowles, 32 C. A. 118, 72 S. W. 451.

An instruction limiting the recovery to "the present worth" of the probable amount deceased would have contributed to plaintiff's support, held erroneous. Merchants' & Planters' Oil Co. v. Burns, 96 T. 573, 74 S. W. 758.

An instruction on measure of damages held erroneous. Merchants' & Planters' Oil Co. v. Burns, 96 T. 573, 74 S. W. 758; Cleburne Electric & Gas Co. v. McCoy (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 534.

A charge that jury might consider the injuries the cause of death, if they in part, operating concurrently with a disease, produced that result, held error. Ellyson v. International & G. N. R. Co., 33 C. A. 1, 75 S. W. 868.

On an issue as to the cause of death of injured party, held error to limit jury to a consideration of the effect of a disease after the injuries only. Id.

An instruction as to measure of damages held not objectionable, as calling for a verdict which might be more than enough to compensate plaintiffs for their pecuniary loss. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Linthicum, 33 C. A. 375, 77 S. W. 40.

In an action for death by wrongful act, an instruction on the measure of damages held not prejudicial to defendant. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Shiflet, 98 T. 102, 81 S. W. 524.

An instruction held correct. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Perry, 38 C. A. 81, 85 S. W. 62; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Heard (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 371; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 48 C. A. 135, 106 S. W. 773.

An instruction held not erroneous as precluding the idea that the jury might allow damages for loss of the society of decedent and for grief. Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. v. Frugia, 43 C. A. 48, 95 S. W. 563.

Instruction in an action for death of a son that the jury first find pecuniary loss to plaintiff and then award her fair compensation therefor held proper. Gonzales v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 896.

A charge to find such damages as will reasonably compensate for the pecuniary loss sustained and apportion same as each plaintiff is entitled to receive, is not erroneous for failing to restrict the jury to finding damages for loss of wages that deceased might have earned. Such charge did not authorize jury to find for loss of advice, society, etc., of deceased, for which nothing was asked in the petition. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Davenport (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 154, 155.

An instruction on the measure of damages for death of son held erroneous. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Solcher (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 545.

An instruction in an action for causing plaintiff's wife's death held not erroneous as authorizing recovery of such sum now as he might reasonably have expected to receive in a pecuniary way in the future if his wife had not died. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Groner, 51 C. A. 65, 111 S. W. 667.

In an action for negligent death brought by decedent's widow, an instruction on the measure of damages held not misleading for failing to exclude compensation for loss of society. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Trippett, 50 C. A. 279, 111 S. W. 761.

An instruction held not erroneous as authorizing the mother to recover beyond her life expectancy. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wallace, 53 C. A. 127, 115 S. W. 302.

Instructions held not objectionable as allowing recovery for plaintiff children's loss of care; nurture and training having no pecuniary value. Id.

An instruction on the measure of damages held not objectionable for failure to specifically exclude decedent's mental and physical pain. International & G. N. R. Co. v. White (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 958.

A charge that the parents are entitled to recover the reasonable value of the services of the child during minority is erroneous for failing to require the jury to deduct the cost of the maintenance of the child during minority. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Remendo (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 968.

Special charge as to disease as cause of death of decedent held properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 482.

An instruction that in determining damages the jury could consider the support of the widow and minor children, held erroneous. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Gullett (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 262.

An instruction on the measure of damages held not erroneous in so far as it defined pecuniary benefits which alone plaintiffs were entitled to recover. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hurdle (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 992.

The instruction stating the measure of damages for death of plaintiff's son as the present value of the pecuniary contributions she had a reasonable expectation he would have made to her, had he lived, by stating that the jury will not allow her anything for grief, or sorrow on account of his death, or for loss of his society, affection and companionship, excludes all improper elements of damage. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Henderson (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 822.

Instruction on measure of damages, in an action by the widow and infant child for the wrongful death of an employé, held proper. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Geer (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1178.

348. Injuries to property.—Defendant's request to charge as to measure of damages, in an action for overflow from an artificial lake, held properly refused. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. O'Mahoney, 24 C. A. 631, 60 S. W. 902.

In an action against a railroad for injuries caused by flooding plaintiff's land, where the question of temporary injury only was submitted to the jury, it was not error to fail to instruct that plaintiff was not entitled to recover for permanent injury. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Maddox, 26 C. A. 297, 63 S. W. 134.

In replevin for several articles of personal property, failure of the court to submit the value of each item sued for was error. Dysart v. Terrell (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 986.

Instruction as to the measure of damages in action against railroad for fire held not erroneous. Texas Midland R. R. v. Moore (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 942; Dallas, C. & S. Ry. Co. v. Langston, 98 S. W. 425; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Worsham, 139 S. W. 927.

In an action for injuries to a traction engine hired to defendant, an instruction submitting a measure of damages applicable in an action for tort held erroneous. Smith v. Stratton, 34 C. A. 171, 78 S. W. 4.

A requested instruction, to find for defendant on the ground that no basis for computing damages to the land in question had been shown, held properly refused. San Antonio & A. P. R. Co. v. Kiersey (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 1045.

In action against railroad for damages to crops and land by overflow of water, charge on measure of damage held not erroneous. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Baer, 39 C. A. 16, 86 S. W. 653; Colorado Canal Co. v. Sims, 42 C. A. 442, 94 S. W. 365; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Foster, 45 C. A. 334, 100 S. W. 1017.

In an action for injuries to growing crops, an instruction allowing the reasonable value thereof held erroneous. City of Paris v. Tucker (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 233.

An instruction, in an action for the value of fruit trees destroyed by fire, held not open to the objection that it submits a wrong measure of damages. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Warnecke, 43 C. A. 83, 95 S. W. 600.

In an action for the destruction of a growing crop, held error to submit an issue as to the reasonable value of the crop. Suderman-Dolson Co. v. Rogers, 47 C. A. 67, 104 S. W. 193.

In an action for injuries to land by overflow, caused by a negligently constructed railroad bridge, an instruction that the measure of plaintiff's damage was the difference in the value of the land immediately before the first, and after the last, injury was proper. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Flynt (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 347.

In an action against a railroad for damages to plaintiff's crops through an overflow of water, an instruction as to damages held erroneous. Doke v. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 1195.

An instruction held proper in an action for permanent damage to land. St. Louis, B. & M. Ry. Co. v. West (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 839.

An instruction, in an action for overflowing land, held not erroneous as authorizing recovery for loss of growing crops. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Felts (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 719.

Instruction on measure of damages in an action for destruction of property by fire held not erroneous for using the words "cash value" instead of "market value." Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Murray (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 217.

349. Breach of contract.—Instruction relating to damages for breach of contract held erroneous. Noble v. Wilder, 25 C. A. 311, 61 S. W. 325.

Charge held not prejudicial, in view of pleadings, evidence, and general charge. Comer v. Thornton, 38 C. A. 287, 86 S. W. 19.

In an action on a contract for certain work and labor for a building, a requested instruction as to the amount of recovery held properly refused. Bell v. Keays (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 813.

On a claim by certain tenants against their landlord, for breach of a cropping contract, an instruction held to submit the proper measure of damages. Waggoner v. Moore, 45 C. A. 308, 101 S. W. 1058.

In an action on a contract for rebuilding a bridge, a request to charge that plaintiff was entitled to recover the contract price and interest held properly refused. Champion v. Johnson County (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 1146.

In an action by a vendor for the want of value in a note executed by a third person and transferred by the purchaser as a part of the price, an instruction on the measure of damages held proper. Arnold v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 1186.

In an action for defendant's failure to furnish plaintiff all of an agreed number of acres on which to raise a crop in which a tender of other land was shown, instructions on damages held proper. Brannen v. McCarley (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 299.

An instruction that the measure of damages for breach of contract to supply water for irrigation was the difference between the value of the crop raised, less the cost of raising, harvesting, and marketing, and the value of the crop that would have been raised if properly watered, less such cost, and confining the value of the crop to its market value, was not misleading, as permitting an award of excessive damages. Texas Irr. Co. v. Moore, Bryan & Perry (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 166.

Where vendors, the wrong land being conveyed by mutual mistake, obtained an option from the vendees to settle the controversy by grading the land conveyed within a specified time, the court, in an action by the purchaser to recover the price paid, properly refused to charge that, if the vendors failed to perform in part the obligation to grade, then the measure of plaintiff's damage would be the difference between the cost of grading the land if done and the cost of completing it according to the terms of the option. Richards v. Creighton (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 456.

350. —— Contract of carriage.—In an action against several carriers for damages to cattle in transit, an instruction held not erroneous because it authorized a recovery for all damage "caused or contributed to" by the alleged negligence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Kothmann, 37 C. A. 548, 84 S. W. 1089.

There was no error in a charge that, if the jury found for plaintiff, the damages should not exceed the amount claimed in the petition, especially as the verdict was for much less than that amount. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Funk, 42 C. A. 490, 92 S. W. 1032.

Where there was no proof of the depreciation in value of the animals transported, except as may have been occasioned by injuries inflicted on them by defendant's negligence, a charge that the measure of damages was the difference in the reasonable cash market value thereof at their destination, at the time of delivery in a sound condition, and their fair cash value in the condition in which they arrived, was substantially correct. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Franklin (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 1150.

Where there was evidence that a panic had affected the live stock market at the destination of a shipment of sheep, delayed by neglect to furnish cars in a reasonable time, and that there was a decline in the sheep market prices on that account, the carrier was entitled to a charge that it was not liable for a fall in the market, if no better prices were obtainable on the day that the shipment would have arrived had cars been furnished than on the date of its arrival. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Word (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 478.

Where the court charged that the carrier was not liable for damages from necessary and reasonable delays, a charge that plaintiff, if entitled to recover, was entitled to the difference between the market value of the live stock at their destination, at the time and in the condition they arrived there, and their market value at the time and in the condition they should have arrived but for delays, was not erroneous as authorizing a recovery for necessary and reasonable delays. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ramsey (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 1184.

A defendant requested an instruction that if the damages were temporary and could be lessened by plaintiff taking proper care of the horses, and that the horses were in fact restored to their normal condition at a slight expense, the jury could only find such damage as plaintiff may have sustained, considering the length of time which it would take to restore the horses to their normal condition and the expense necessary thereto. Held, that in view of the fact that the market value of the horses at their point of destination was proved, the proper measure of damages was such depreciation in their market value at destination at the time of their arrival as was occasioned by defendant's negligence, and therefore there was no error in refusing the instruction. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Rogers (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1155.

Where the evidence showed a delay of one day, and that the market declined, and the court charged that the measure of damages was the difference in the market value of the stock in their condition when delivered, and what would have been their market value at the place of delivery had they been delivered with ordinary diligence, a charge that in considering the reasonable market value of the stock at the time of delivery, if there was no market value for them at that time, the jury could take their reasonable market value at the earliest time thereafter, was not prejudicial to the carrier. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Isenhower (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 297.

For breach of contract to carry a dead body, an instruction on measure of damages held not erroneous. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Linton (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 129.

A charge that, though plaintiff's cattle were damaged when unloaded, if any of them overcame the injury that might be considered in estimating plaintiff's damages, held proper and not to conflict with another charge. Guinn v. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 63.

An instruction, in an action for injury by a carrier of a live stock shipment, giving no measure of damages other than that the jury shall assess plaintiff's damage at such sum as they believe from the evidence he has sustained, or suffered, is erroneous. Quanah, A. & P. Ry. Co. v. Galloway (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 653.

351. —— Telegraphic and telephonic service.—Damages for delay in delivering a telegram. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Drake (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 919, citing Railway Co. v. Rossing (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 243; Railway Co. v. French, 86 T. 96, 23 S. W. 642; Railway Co. v. Measles, 81 T. 474, 17 S. W. 124; Railway Co. v. Platzer, 73 T. 117, 11 S. W. 160; Fordyce v. Chancey, 2 C. A. 24, 21 S. W. 181; Fordyce v. Beecher, 2 C. A. 29, 21 S. W. 179.

In an action for failing to promptly deliver a telegram, held not error to instruct that plaintiff was entitled to the charge paid; the jury having found that the company was not negligent. Hargrave v. Western Union Tel. Co. (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 687.

In an action against a telegraph company for failure to deliver a message to a sheriff to postpone an execution sale, a requested instruction limiting plaintiff's recovery to one-half the damages sustained held properly refused. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Wofford, 32 C. A. 427, 74 S. W. 943.

An instruction held not subject to the objection that it furnishes no guide for ascertaining the damages to be awarded. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Waller, 37 C. A. 515, 84 S. W. 695.

Charge in action for negligent delay in delivery of telegram for a doctor should do more than merely instruct the jury to find for plaintiff whatever may have been "due" him. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Stubbs, 43 C. A. 132, 94 S. W. 1083.

Held, that a special instruction as to the elements of damages was correctly refused. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Bennett (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 151.

In an action for damages for the nondelivery of a telegram, the court should charge the proper rules for the measure of damages. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Erwin (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 607.

352. —— Sales.—Instruction as to measure of damages for breach of warranty in machinery for manufacturing ice held proper. Graves v. Hillyer (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 889.

In a suit by the buyers of a piano to rescind for breach of warranty, the seller held not entitled to complain of an instruction fixing the measure of recovery. Jesse French Piano & Organ Co. v. Garza & Co., 53 C. A. 346, 116 S. W. 150.

353. —— Promise to marry.—An instruction submitting question of damages resulting from plaintiff's failure to marry a person other than defendant held not ground for reversal. Clark v. Reese, 26 C. A. 619, 64 S. W. 783.

354. Condemnation proceedings.—An instruction calculated to lead the jury to believe that they might assess the value of land condemned at a time other than that of the taking held erroneous. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brugger, 24 C. A. 367, 59 S. W. 556.

In an action for damages by defendant's constructing its tracks along the street in front of plaintiff's homestead, held, that the court's action in submitting only the issue of damage to property as a home was proper. Eastern Texas R. Co. v. Scurlock (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 366.

The refusal of an instruction as to the method of determining damages held not error. Hengy v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 402.

An instruction held not objectionable for failing to refer to market value in determining the value of the property. Crystal City & U. R. Co. v. Boothe (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 700.

The omission of the word "evidence" or "testimony," or similar expressions, from the instructions on the measure of damages, held not erroneous. Id.

An instruction, in an action for damages to abutting property by the construction of a railroad in a street, held to charge the jury to find for defendant if they found no reduction in the value of the property.—International & G. N. R. Co. v. Bell (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 634.

355. Conversion.—Instructions on damage held not erroneous. Hanaway v. Wiseman, 39 C. A. 642, 88 S. W. 437.

356. Fraud and deceit.—In an action for damages for false representations that there was a well on land given to plaintiff in exchange for other land, both pieces being incumbered, an instruction as to the measure of damages held not subject to objections stated. George v. Hesse, 53 C. A. 344, 115 S. W. 314.

A charge on the measure of damages where land was sold through fraud held erroneous. Tompkins v. Perry (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 1164.

357. Libel and slander.—In an action for slandering plaintiff's wife, an instruction that in no event can there be any recovery for loss of time or sickness, not alleged and proven, held not erroneous as limiting recovery to such damages as plaintiff had proven in connection with loss of time and sickness. Sonka v. Sonka (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 325.

In libel an instruction held not to authorize recovery for financial loss. San Antonio Light Pub. Co. v. Lewy, 52 C. A. 22, 113 S. W. 574.

358. Liquidated damages.—In action on building contract providing for liquidated damages for each day's delay, charge requiring finding against owner, if delay was caused by him or his agents held erroneous. Neblett v. McGraw & Brewer, 41 C. A. 239, 91 S. W. 309.

359. Liquor dealer's bond.—An instruction held not misleading as authorizing a recovery on account of sales preceding the giving of the bond. Birkman v. Fahrenthold, 52 C. A. 335, 114 S. W. 428.

360. Nuisance.—Where there is evidence, in an action for sickness caused by a nuisance, that the sickness was only prolonged thereby, the instructions should state that under such facts the plaintiff is not entitled to damages for the entire sickness. Neville v. Mitchell, 28 C. A. 89, 66 S. W. 579.

Instructions held proper. Continental Oil & Cotton Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1178.

361. Exemplary damages.—Instruction held not rendered erroneous because allowing such damages as "a wholesome example to others." Knittel v. Schmidt, 16 C. A. 7, 40 S. W. 507.

Instructions that the owner of a vicious dog running at large is liable for exemplary damages to a person bitten held correct. Triolo v. Foster (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 698.

An instruction in conversion on exemplary damages held erroneous. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Cleburne Ice & Cold Storage Co. (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 836; Baldwin v. G. M. Davidson & Co., 127 S. W. 562.

A special charge requested by defendant in a suit wherein they reconvened for maliciously and wrongfully suing out sequestration held misleading as suggesting that malice alone authorized a recovery for exemplary damages. Webb v. J. L. Wiginton & Co., 55 C. A. 413, 118 S. W. 856.

III. APPLICABILITY TO PLEADINGS AND EVIDENCE

362. Abstract instructions in general.—A charge abstractly correct as a proposition of law may be erroneous in a particular case and a ground for reversal. Railway Co. v. Brentford, 79 T. 625, 15 S. W. 561; Railway Co. v. Warner, 88 T. 642, 32 S. W. 868.

An abstract definition of "negligence" held no guide for the jury in deciding upon the issue of negligence as between master and servant. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Gormley, 91 T. 393, 43 S. W. 877, 66 Am. St. Rep. 894.

It is not error to refuse a charge containing an abstract principle of law without informing the jury of its application to the issues. Brockenbrow v. Stafford & Boynton (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 576; Hayward Lumber Co. v. Cox, 104 S. W. 403.

Instructions in an action against a railroad company for the death of plaintiffs' decedent held properly refused as presenting an abstract question. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Oram, 47 C. A. 526, 107 S. W. 74.

A requested instruction embodying mere abstract propositions of law, and referring to certain conditions without stating what they were, was properly refused. Prentice v. Security Ins. Co. (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 925.

363. Application of instructions to case in general.—An instruction on an issue not raised by the pleadings or evidence held error. Walker v. Brown, 66 T. 566, 1 S. W. 797; Railway Co. v. Measles, 81 T. 474, 17 S. W. 124; W. U. Tel. Co. v. Drake (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 919; Railway Co. v. Thompson, 35 S. W. 318; Pumphrey v. Railway Co., 14 C. A. 455, 37 S. W. 360; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Mathis (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 625; Western Union Tel. Co. v. Burgess, 60 S. W. 1023; Western Nat. Bank v. White, 131 S. W. 828; Abney v. Citizens' Nat. Bank of Hillsboro, 152 S. W. 734; Danner v. Walker-Smith Co., 154 S. W. 295.

A charge should be framed so as to present to the jury the issues made by the pleadings and evidence. Cannon v. Cannon, 66 T. 682, 3 S. W. 36. When so made, the issue, if the parties do not desire to submit it to the jury, should be withdrawn by a written charge. I. & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Underwood, 64 T. 463.

Issue, without evidence to support it, should be withdrawn from the jury. Willis v. Whitsett, 67 T. 673, 4 S. W. 253. Charge should conform to the issue made by the pleadings. Houston v. Bryan, 22 S. W. 231, 2 C. A. 553.

It is proper to refuse special instructions upon matters not raised by either the pleadings or the proof. Railway Co. v. Platzer, 73 T. 117, 11 S. W. 160, 3 L. R. A. 639, 15 Am. St. Rep. 771; Wootters v. Kauffman, 73 T. 395, 11 S. W. 390; Railway Co. v. Kizziah, 22 S. W. 110, 4 C. A. 356; Dublin Cotton-Oil Co. v. Jarrard, 91 T. 289, 42 S. W. 959; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Courtney, 30 C. A. 544, 71 S. W. 307; Von Diest v. San Antonio Traction Co., 33 C. A. 577, 77 S. W. 632; Birge-Forbes Co. v. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co., 53 C. A. 55, 115 S. W. 333; Freeman v. Ortiz (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 113; Autrey v. Linn, 138 S. W. 197; Lemond v. Smith, 149 S. W. 751; Zarate v. Villareal, 155 S. W. 328.

It is not error for court to charge on the whole case, in absence of agreement that the issue on which evidence is conflicting be alone submitted. Halsell v. Neal, 23 C. A. 26, 56 S. W. 137.

A charge in a suit to cancel a deed for fraud held to require a finding of matters by the jury sufficient to require cancellation and hence not to have prejudiced defendants because it also required findings of additional facts not authorized to be submitted. Wells v. Houston, 29 C. A. 619, 69 S. W. 183.

Rule governing submission of issues of fact stated. Antone v. Miles, 47 C. A. 289, 105 S. W. 39.

In an action for death of a railroad engineer, an instruction that the railroad company was not bound to supply a perfectly safe track, etc., held objectionable as abstract. Thompson v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 48 C. A. 284, 106 S. W. 910.

In an action for injuries to a child, received while stealing a ride on a freight train, instruction on concurring negligence as affecting the right of recovery held inapplicable. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Davis (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 939.

An instruction held erroneous because not authorized by the pleadings and evidence. Texas Bitulithic Co. v. Hutson (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 146.

In an action against a contractor for breach of his contract to construct a building, an instruction held not objectionable as an abstraction. Franks v. Harkness (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 913.

Under Art. —— the instructions must be confined to the issues made by the pleadings and evidence. Ramsey & Montgomery v. Empire Timber & Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 294.

In an action for damages from fires caused by sparks from defendant's engines, an instruction held properly given. Freeman v. J. B. Waters & Bro. (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 84.

Complaint may not be made of an instruction as to what the law requires, because too broad, where it is correct as to the circumstances pleaded and in evidence. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. State (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 604.

364. Pleadings and issues.—It is error to charge on an issue not presented by the pleadings or on which there is no evidence. Mitchell v. Zimmerman, 4 T. 75, 51 Am. Dec. 717; Norvell v. Oury, 13 T. 31; Love v. Wyatt, 19 T. 312; Dodd v. Arnold, 28 T. 97; Loving v. Dixon, 56 T. 75; Duffard & Hecker v. Herbert, 2 App. C. C. § 613; Railway Co. v. Gordon, 70 T. 80, 7 S. W. 695; Dupuy v. Burkitt, 78 T. 338, 14 S. W. 789; Porter v. Metcalf, 84 T. 468, 19 S. W. 696; Railway Co. v. Kizziah, 22 S. W. 110, 4 C. A. 356; Campbell v. Goodwin, 28 S. W. 273, 87 T. 273; Murchison v. Mansur-Tibbetts Implement Co. (Civ. App.) 37 S. W. 605; Barton v. Stroud-Gibson Grocer Co., 40 S. W. 1050; Stephenson v. Yeargan, 17 C. A. 111, 42 S. W. 626; Saunders' Ex'rs v. Weekes (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 33; City of Dallas v. Beeman, 23 C. A. 315, 55 S. W. 762; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. George (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 313; Abernathy v. Southern Rock Island Plow Co., 62 S. W. 786; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Gray, 71 S. W. 316; Underwriters' Fire Ass'n v. Henry, 79 S. W. 1072; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Tisdale, 36 C. A. 174, 81 S. W. 347; L. Greif & Bro. v. Seligman (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 533; Trout & Newberry v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 111 S. W. 220; Fordtran v. Stowers, 52 C. A. 226, 113 S. W 631; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Shapard, 54 C. A. 596, 118 S. W. 596; Freeman v. Puckett, 56 C. A. 126, 120 S. W. 514; Thompson Bros. Lumber Co. v. Bryant (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 290; Lewis v. Vaughan, 144 S. W. 1186; Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. State, 150 S. W. 604; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dickson, 153 S. W. 933; Turner v. Stephens, 155 S. W. 1009.

Issues must be pertinent to the matter in controversy under the pleadings, and cannot be enlarged by the trial court. Guess v. Lubbock, 5 T. 535; Houchin v. McClaugherty (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 774.

A charge held erroneous as foreign to the issues. Roddy v. Harrell (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 1064; Greenville Nat. Bank v. Partain, 52 S. W. 648; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Red Cross Stock Farm, 22 C. A. 114, 53 S. W. 834; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Watkins, 48 C. A. 568, 108 S. W. 487; El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Tomlinson (Civ. App.) 115 S. W.

871; Marshall & E. T. Ry. Co. v. Waldrop, 141 S. W. 315; Biard & Scales v. Tyler Building & Loan Ass'n, 147 S. W. 1168.

A charge held insufficient, as not directing the jury to the facts in issue and invoking their judgment on the evidence relative to the issue. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Patterson, 20 C. A. 255, 48 S. W. 747.

An instruction which authorizes a recovery by plaintiff on grounds other than those alleged is erroneous. Wells v. Houston, 23 C. A. 629, 57 S. W. 584.

An instruction presenting a defense not pleaded is properly refused. American Cent. Ins. Co. v. Murphy (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 956; Pullman Co. v. Hoyle, 52 C. A. 534, 115 S. W. 315.

Exceptions to defendants' pleas having been sustained, and defendants failing to amend, it was error to submit such issues to the jury. Trout v. McQueen (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 928.

A charge held not erroneous, on the state of the record, though the language of the petition was more general than that of the charge. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Linthicum, 33 C. A. 375, 77 S. W. 40.

Omission of instruction as to matters not in issue held not error. Kindlea v. Kosub (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 79.

In connection with an instruction as to what the verdict should be if a deed was deposited with a certain intention, held, that one as to the verdict if it was deposited with the contrary intention was proper under the petition, even if the issue was not raised by an averment of the answer. Phillips v. Henry (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 184.

Rule 62a for courts of civil appeals (149 S. W. x), held not to require affirmance of a judgment notwithstanding the erroneous submission of a ground of negligence not alleged in the petition in view of Art. 1524, limiting the power of the supreme court to make rules to such as are not inconsistent with the laws of the state, Art. 1827, and Art. 1994, requiring the judgment to conform to the pleadings. Ft. Worth & D. Ry. Co. v. Wilkinson (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 203.

It was unnecessary to submit to the jury as to when the petitions were filed, where there was no issue on that question. D. Sullivan & Co. v. Ramsey (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 580.

The court on appeal, to determine whether a charge complained of was erroneous, must determine what issues involved were necessary to be passed on to enable the trial court to render a proper judgment. Rosenthal v. Sun Co. (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 513.

365. —— Coparties.—In an action for injuries received in a collision against both the traction company and the railway company, there being no issues between the two defendants, an instruction as to the duty owed by the traction company to the railway company was properly refused. Northern Texas Traction Co. v. Caldwell, 44 C. A. 374, 99 S. W. 869.

Where there are two defendants and only one has pleaded failure of consideration, it is reversible error not to confine a charge on this subject to the one pleading the same. Baldwin v. Self, 52 C. A. 509, 114 S. W. 427.

In an action by a servant of a telephone company against it and a city for injuries from contact with the city's electric light wire while at work upon the telephone wires, refusal of the telephone company's requested charge that failure of its workman to cut off the current from the city's wire "was not negligence" on its part held proper under the issues. Southwestern Tel. & Tel. Co. v. Luckie (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 1158.

366. —— Nature of action or issue in general.—In libel, the charge held not erroneous because it defined slander, where such definition entered into the court's definition of libel. Houston Printing Co. v. Moulden, 15 C. A. 574, 41 S. W. 381.

Pleadings held not sufficient to permit an instruction as to the estoppel of one to deny the authority of another holding himself out as an agent. Mutual Ben. Life Ins. Co. v. Collin County Nat. Bank, 17 C. A. 477, 43 S. W. 831.

An instruction requiring knowledge by one defendant of the other defendant's fraud in order to establish it against the former is not erroneous where the complaint charges a conspiracy to defraud. First Nat. Bank v. Stephens, 19 C. A. 560, 47 S. W. 832.

Where an issue was whether a deed was executed through fraud or mistake, a charge by which the issue was made to turn solely on whether the deed had been delivered was erroneous. Wright v. United States Mortg. Co. (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 368.

A submission of an issue of estoppel is erroneous, when no estoppel is pleaded. Stanger v. Dorsey, 22 C. A. 573, 55 S. W. 129.

A charge that, if defendant had abandoned his business in certain premises, then the same became subject to execution, held properly refused. Freeman v. Cates, 22 C. A. 623, 55 S. W. 524.

Where the defense to an action to foreclose a vendor's lien was that the transaction evidenced a mortgage, and not a sale, but no fraud was alleged, it was error to submit the question of fraud to the jury. Claflin v. Harrington, 23 C. A. 345, 56 S. W. 370.

The court should not submit the question whether defendant was negligent in a particular in which no negligence was alleged. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 28 C. A. 395, 67 S. W. 182; Fauboin v. Western Union Tel. Co., 36 C. A. 98, 81 S. W. 56; Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Qualls (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 140.

Where contributory negligence is not pleaded, and plaintiff's evidence does not disclose its existence as a matter of law, it is not error to fail to charge thereon. Hirsch Bros. v. Ashe, 35 C. A. 495, 80 S. W. 650.

A charge presenting an issue of estoppel was properly refused, where no estoppel was pleaded. Word v. Marrs, 36 C. A. 637, 83 S. W. 17.

Submission of issue as to waiver of vendor's lien held error, where issue was not raised by the pleadings. Cecil v. Henry (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 216.

In an action by an alleged principal to recover an overpayment to his agent for a stock of goods, an instruction held erroneous as inapplicable to the pleadings. Bargman v. Brown (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 39.

In an action on a liquor dealer's bond, an instruction held erroneous as placing the burden on plaintiff on the entire case, though defendant had pleaded matter in avoidance. Farr v. Waterman (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 65.

Instruction that answer alleged that dividend was placed to plaintiff's credit on notes growing out of oil-mill transaction held error, where answer made no reference to oil-mill transaction. Simpson v. Thompson, 43 C. A. 273, 95 S. W. 94.

In an action against a sheriff and the sureties on his official bond for the conversion of property by the sheriff, an instruction held erroneous because submitting an issue not raised by the pleadings or the evidence. Nash v. Noble, 46 C. A. 369, 102 S. W. 736.

In libel, where the trial court did not submit an instruction as to the effect of probable cause for the publication of the libelous article, an instruction as to what could be considered in determining the existence of probable cause held properly refused, there being nothing to which it could apply. San Antonio Light Pub. Co. v. Lewy, 52 C. A. 22, 113 S. W. 574.

In libel for charging plaintiff with smuggling, the truth of the alleged libelous article not having been pleaded, a charge submitting whether plaintiff was guilty of the offense of smuggling was properly refused. Id.

Where, in an action on a retail liquor dealer's bond, the charge presented a defense not made by the answer, upon which the verdict for the defense might have been founded, a reversal is required. Farenthold v. Tell, 52 C. A. 110, 113 S. W. 635.

Where a party alleged facts entitling him to the foreclosure of a deed operating as a mortgage, an instruction authorizing a verdict for defendant, not alleging or proving facts sufficient to defeat the foreclosure, held erroneous. Elliott v. Morris, 49 C. A. 527, 121 S. W. 209.

Where matters in a special instruction requested were not pleaded as negligence, an instruction in regard thereto was properly refused. Temple Electric Light Co. v. Halliburton (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 584.

367. —— Issues withdrawn or otherwise eliminated.—Charges on an issue eliminated from the case by the court are properly refused. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Warner, 22 C. A. 167, 54 S. W. 1064.

It is error to submit an issue which has been withdrawn from the jury. Leland v. Chamberlin, 56 C. A. 256, 120 S. W. 1040.

Where the court limited a recovery to one ground, the refusal of requested instructions submitting other issues was not erroneous. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 1148.

In an action for injuries to a passenger while alighting, the refusal to give a charge on negligence held erroneous in view of the theory on which the case was tried. Renfro v. Texas Cent. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 820.

The refusal of an instruction requested by defendant, relative to an issue not submitted to the jury as a ground of recovery, was not error. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Cartwright (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 630.

368. —— Actions relating to property and for injuries thereto.—Instructions in action for killing stock held not applicable to the issues and erroneous. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Coleman (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 371.

Instruction as to the taking of the property by threats, in an insolent manner, held justified by the pleadings and the evidence. Gillett v. Moody (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 35.

In replevin against a buyer and his transferee, on the ground that the sale has been induced by fraud, an instruction that the buyer was liable for the value of the goods was properly refused. Halff v. Wangemann (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 937.

Where, in an action for the conversion of a machine, defendant claimed under a forfeiture of the contract of purchase, plaintiff, not having pleaded a waiver of such forfeiture, was not entitled to have the question of waiver presented to the jury, though there was evidence tending to establish it. Mulliner v. Shumake (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 983.

An instruction directing the jury to disregard certain evidence in an action of trespass to try title to public lands, claimed as additional lands, held erroneous under the evidence and issues. Bell v. Williams, 29 C. A. 109, 66 S. W. 1119.

In an action for damages from fire claimed to have been caused by sparks from defendant railroad's locomotive held, under pleadings, not error to refuse to instruct on contributory negligence in allowing accumulation of grass, chips, etc. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. McAdams (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 319.

Where, in an action by heirs to recover community land sold by a widow, the main issue was as to whether the sale was made to pay community debts or was fraudulent, and there was no issue as to the validity of the debts themselves, it was error for the court to submit the question of their validity to the jury. Cage v. Tucker's Heirs, 29 C. A. 586, 69 S. W. 425.

Where plaintiff, in replevin, alleged that an assignment of the property alleged as a defense was not intended to transfer title, a peremptory instruction for defendant was properly refused. Dysart v. Terrell (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 986.

A petition in an action for a nuisance from a sewer held to authorize the submission of the inconvenience of living on the premises as an element of damage. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Charwaine, 30 C. A. 633, 71 S. W. 401.

An instruction, embracing all the defendants in a suit for partition, involving a question which by reason of the answers of some defendants is not proper as to them, held properly refused. Laufer v. Powell, 30 C. A. 604, 71 S. W. 549.

Where negligence of a railroad in failing to fence its track was not pleaded in an action for killing certain ponies, it was improper to submit an instruction authorizing a recovery on such ground. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Anson (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 785.

Where plaintiff specifically alleged negligence in defendant railroad company's failure to provide and keep spark arresters in repair, it was error to submit the question of defendant's negligence in overloading and handling the engine. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Moss, 37 C. A. 461, 84 S. W. 281.

In trespass to try title to land, where right of homestead was not involved, an instruction thereon held properly refused. Field v. Field, 39 C. A. 1, 87 S. W. 726.

Where plaintiff alleged the conversion of property by defendant, and prayed for damages for such conversion, a request to charge the jury to find for the property or the reasonable market value of the same was properly refused. Harris v. Staples (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 801.

In trespass to try title, certain charge held proper, although the facts stated therein were not specifically pleaded. Staley v. Stone, 41 C. A. 299, 92 S. W. 1017.

An instruction in an action for the cancellation of a conveyance on the ground of fraud held erroneous, as authorizing the jury to take into consideration a fact not alleged in the petition. White v. White (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 733.

In an action against a railroad for negligence in the construction of its road, an instruction submitting the question of negligence in the construction of the roadbed held erroneous, as inapplicable to the pleadings. Kendall v. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 757.

In trespass to try title to land conveyed to plaintiff by defendant, which defendant claimed was the separate estate of his former wife, it was error to submit to the jury whether plaintiff knew, when purchasing, that the property was the separate estate of defendant's former wife, where defendant did not allege such knowledge. Irvin v. Johnson, 56 C. A. 492, 120 S. W. 1085.

Where, in trespass to try title to land conveyed to plaintiff by defendant, it was neither alleged nor proved by defendant that the deed was not delivered, it was error to submit the issue of delivery. Id.

Where the validity of defendant's title to the premises claimed to have been abandoned by him as a homestead is not in issue, an instruction submitting such question is error. Rockwell Bros. & Co. v. Hudgens, 57 C. A. 504, 123 S. W. 185.

Where plaintiff claimed under the five-year statute of limitations, an instruction as to payment of taxes held erroneous. Dean v. Furrh (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 431.

An instruction in an action to recover title to real estate held error. Dooley v. Boiders (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 690.

In an action of trespass to try title, an issue of estoppel held properly withheld from the jury. Hannay v. Harmon (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 406.

In a suit against a railway company for a nuisance by noises made by passing locomotives, it was error to predicate plaintiff's right to recover on unusual noises. Passons v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 435.

Instruction, in an action for depreciation in market value of residents' property from the operation of a cotton gin, held properly refused as not in conformity to the issues. Hunt v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1060.

In an action against a railroad company for the destruction of property by fire, a charge held properly refused in view of the pleadings. Lam & Rogers v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 977.

In trespass to try title, held, that an instruction was properly refused as not being in conformity with the issues. Cartwright v. La Brie (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 725.

In an action to recover damages for the burning of grass on defendant's land, instruction held reversible error as submitting matter not in issue. St. Louis, B. & M. Ry. Co. v. Maddox (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 225.

In an action for injury to abutting property by the construction of drainage ditches, requested charge held properly refused, as being inapplicable to the issues. City of Houston v. Merkel (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 385.

In an action for conversion of notes delivered to a building contractor for work not performed, and transferred to defendant, it was error to charge that defendant was liable if he signed the building bond and had not repudiated it, when no such liability was declared on in the petition. Wilkirson v. Bradford (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 691.

369. —— Contracts and actions relating thereto in general.—An instruction as to mutuality in the contract sued on held misleading, where there was no issue as to mutuality. Jackson v. Martin (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 837.

An instruction that, if defendant contracted with plaintiff for the performance of services, he can recover for the reasonable value thereof, held proper under the pleadings. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Masterson (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 644.

It is error to instruct to find for plaintiff on an implied contract, where the plaintiff has alleged an express contract. Id.

It is error to instruct jury as to ground of defense not set up in answer. Rotan Grocery Co. v. Martin (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 706.

In an action on the personal obligation of a husband to pay for certain improvements on land, an instruction that, if the land was the separate property of defendant's wife, there could be no recovery, was properly refused. Ackermann v. Ackermann Schuetzen Verein (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 366.

Where defendant filed an answer alleging he was induced to sign a contract through fraud or mistake, an instruction as to the effect of such fraud, if the jury should find it existed, held not erroneous on the ground that the issue was not raised by the pleadings. Fant v. Wright (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 514.

The allegations of a petition held to require an instruction on an express contract, and not on an implied lease. Elmendorf v. Schuh (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 797.

On an issue between a landlord and an accepting creditor under deed of trust as to genuineness of rent contract, the court cannot properly charge that the only question was what sum was payable by the debtor to the landlord. Corsicana Nat. Bank v. Baum (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 812.

A contractor cannot complain of an instruction as failing to charge with reference to a gross error committed by an engineer, where such error was not relied on in the pleading. Marshall v. City of San Antonio (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 138.

In an action by servant for breach of contract of hiring, an instruction held erroneous, as on an issue not raised by pleadings or evidence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Jackson, 29 C. A. 342, 69 S. W. 89.

In real estate broker's action for commissions, instruction that, if he was trying to sell land, etc., they should find for him, held not warranted by pleading. Yarborough v. Creager (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 645.

In an action on building contract, charge relating to extension of time by architect held erroneous where not supported by pleading or proof. Neblett v. McGraw & Brewer, 41 C. A. 239, 91 S. W. 309.

It was not error for the court to present to the jury, in an action by attorneys to recover a fee, only the issue of an express contract of defendant employing the plaintiffs as his attorneys, and agreeing to pay them a certain amount, where that was the case made by the pleadings and the evidence. Rabb v. E. H. Goodrich & Son, 46 C. A. 541, 102 S. W. 910.

In an action on a bridge-building contract, an instruction that plaintiff could not recover unless he rebuilt the bridge substantially in as good order as the original bridge was immediately before it was washed out held error as not within the issues or evidence. Champion v. Johnson County (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 1146.

In an action to recover certain land and a part of the price, the court held to have properly submitted to the jury the question whether plaintiffs and S. purchased the land as equal partners, or whether the interest of S. was a mere right to share in the profits of a resale. Bowman v. Saigling (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 1082.

Plaintiff having sued on an express contract to pay him half commissions on a sale of real estate, defendant could not have the cause submitted on the theory of implied contract in quantum meruit. McMillion v. Cook (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 775.

A charge, in an action by real estate agents for commissions, held not objectionable as submitting an issue not pleaded. Baldwin v. Smith (Civ. App.) 119 S. W. 111.

In an action for the contract price for digging a well held error under the pleadings to authorize a recovery on the basis of what the well dug was actually worth to defendant. Mitchell v. Boyce (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1016.

In an action to recover commissions, an instruction not based on the theory of the pleadings held error. Weil v. Schwartz (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1039.

In an action to recover upon an express contract commissions for selling realty, an instruction held erroneous for allowing recovery upon the quantum meruit. Williams Land Co. v. Crull (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 339.

Where an employé alleged to avoid a release pleaded that he was induced to sign it by the promise of employment as a freight conductor, held error to submit the issue as to whether he was promised employment as a passenger brakeman. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Bowles (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1176.

The only issue being whether an owner agreed to pay for materials sued for, it was error to submit the question of notice that plaintiff had not been paid when defendants settled with the contractor. Petty v. Jordan-Spencer Co. (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 227.

In a suit for the contract price for constructing work, an issue held improperly submitted as not raised by the pleadings. Bastrop & Austin Bayou Rice Growers' Ass'n v. Cochran (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1188.

The right of one to recover commissions for procuring purchasers held to rest on an express contract only, so that submission to the jury of a right to recover on a quantum meruit was error. Jones v. Holtzen (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 121.

An instruction, in an action to recover a balance alleged to have been deposited with defendant banker, held erroneous. Cunningham v. M. W. & B. G. Daves (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 808.

In an action for commissions for negotiating an exchange of property, an instruction held erroneous, as not within the issues, and calculated to discredit defendants' theory of the transaction. T. A. Hill & Son v. Patton & Schwartz (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1025.

Issues submitted in an action by an assignee of an account held not in conformity with the issues made by the pleadings. Stuart v. Calahan (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 60.

A broker's alleged waiver of commissions not having been pleaded, the court did not err in omitting to submit it to the jury. Villareal v. Passmore (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1086.

Instruction that plaintiff, suing for services, could not recover if it was not customary to charge for such services, was error, where such issue was not raised by the pleadings or proof. Pierce v. Aiken (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 950.

Instruction, in action for rent, to find for lessee if lessor made representations prior to the making of the lease which were omitted from the lease by fraud or mistake, held erroneous where pleadings did not support it. Staley v. Gillean (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 323.

Instruction to find for lessee sued for rent if lessor falsely represented the amount of land, which representations were by accident or mistake omitted from the lease, held error, where lessee only sought to recover for shortage a portion of the rent already paid. Id.

Instruction authorizing finding for party if representations were omitted from lease by "fraud or mistake" held improper, where answer alleged that they were omitted by "oversight, inadvertence, and mistake." Id.

In an action for breach of marriage promise, an instruction to find for defendant if the contract was not to be performed within one year was properly refused where the statute of frauds was not put in issue by the pleadings or evidence. Huggins v. Carey (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 390.

In suit by attorneys upon an assignment of an interest in their client's cause of action, where they claimed that the client had intended it for their use also, a charge to find for defendant unless the other assignees agreed that plaintiffs might come in under the contract held not objectionable as allowing a recovery upon a theory not pleaded. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wood (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 487.

In an action against a guarantor, an instruction that, "if you believe that the defendant signed the contract of guaranty, you should so find, even if he thought it was only a recommendation," was proper, where it appeared that the defendants did sign some paper, but denied that this was the one, even though they did not plead or attempt to prove that they signed the alleged contract under such impression. Danner v. Walker-Smith Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 295.

Where, in an action for the value of a mortgaged building which defendants agreed to hold in trust for plaintiffs, purchasers of the equity, after foreclosing the lien, the issue was whether defendant company had purchased the debt under an agreement to protect plaintiffs' interests in the property, the submission of whether an individual defendant agreed to purchase the property from a substitute trustee for plaintiffs was properly refused. D. Sullivan & Co. v. Ramsey (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 580.

In an action to enforce a trust alleged to have been created by a contract between the parties, held, that an instruction that defendant must have bought notes, pledged by plaintiff as collateral, in good faith and in due course of business was objectionable as injecting a foreign issue into the case. Park v. Pyle (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 445.

370. —— Contracts of carriage.—Special charges as to liability of a carrier, if particular cars were ordered for shipment of stock, held properly refused where damages were claimed for delay in furnishing cars. International & G. N. R. Co. v. True, 23 C. A. 523, 57 S. W. 977.

Averments in a petition in a suit against a carrier for damages to cattle in transportation held to support a charge authorizing a recovery for defendant's neglect to furnish feed and water. Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Porter, 25 C. A. 491, 61 S. W. 343.

In an action for damages to baggage, where the petition does not allege that the damages were caused by defendant's negligence, the question of the validity of a stipulation limiting the company's liability for loss due to its negligence does not arise. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Seale, 28 C. A. 364, 67 S. W. 437.

The allegation that cattle pens were insecure held sufficient to warrant an instruction as to defendant railroad's liability for an escape of cattle due to an injury to the pens from the derailed car of another road. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Trammell, 28 C. A. 312, 68 S. W. 716.

An instruction held erroneous as permitting a recovery on the terms of a railroad ticket, when the case was based on representations of the selling agent. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Kilgo (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 556.

Where plaintiff repudiated the making of a joint contract for stock transportation, and such issue was not submitted, a peremptory instruction on the ground that the petition declared on a joint contract was properly denied. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Hall, 31 C. A. 464, 72 S. W. 1052.

Held unnecessary to charge that defendant's failure to transport the stock on a special stock train was not negligence; there having been no allegation of negligence in that regard. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lovelady, 36 C. A. 282, 81 S. W. 1040.

A charge, if the injuries suffered by the stock resulted from their having been kept in the cars for 28 hours, to find for defendant, held, under the allegations of the petition and the evidence, properly refused. Id.

In an action for injury to a shipment of cattle, an instruction presenting an issue not raised by the pleadings or evidence held erroneous. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Dolan (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 297; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Beal & Self, 43 C. A. 588, 97 S. W. 329; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Crowder (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 183.

In an action for failure to furnish cars, special charge held to present an issue not presented by the pleadings. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Ray Bros. & Hughes, 37 C. A. 622, 84 S. W. 691.

Where a petition charged sufficient facts to admit proof that a diamond ring lost by a female passenger was baggage, the court did not err in submitting such issue, though the petition did not allege that the ring was baggage in terms. Pullman Co. v. Vanderhoeven, 48 C. A. 414, 107 S. W. 147.

A charge justifying defendant's delay if the cattle were not delivered to it promptly by a connecting carrier held properly refused. St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Rogers, 49 C. A. 304, 108 S. W. 1027.

An instruction as to inherent defects in the goods shipped was properly refused, where defendant did not raise that issue in its pleading or proof. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Welbourne (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 780.

Where there was neither pleading nor evidence that injuries to plaintiff's cattle resulted from an act of God, it was error to submit such defense to the jury. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lewellen Bros. (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 116.

Where a shipper based his action against a carrier upon its failure to furnish cars on a given date alleged to be a reasonable time after a demand, a charge authorizing a recovery for failure to furnish cars in a reasonable time generally was erroneous as submitting an issue not pleaded. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Word (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 478.

In an action against a railway company for breach of contract to carry a dead body, an instruction on plaintiff's duty to provide an attendant held properly refused under the pleadings. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Linton (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 129.

In an action for a wrongful ejectment from a train, an instruction on the proximate cause of the injury held improper as a submission of an immaterial issue. Quigley v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 633.

Submission to jury whether carrier's servants were negligent in announcing the name of a station or in permitting a passenger to leave the train at that point, which was not her destination, held error under the petition. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Richardson (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 722.

Where the petition alleged that, after plaintiff had procured tickets, his wife attempted to take hold of the car railings, but the conductor interposed his body, and told her she was too late, and started the train, an instruction authorizing recovery for negligent failure to hold the train for a reasonable time was erroneous, as authorizing recovery on a theory different from that alleged. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Sutton (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 657.

A provision of a carrier's answer, in an action for damages to cattle en route, held to justify an instruction that, if the jury found the damage was caused by plaintiff's failure to send sufficient men to care for the cattle, defendant was not liable therefor. Sanders v. Chicago, R. I. & G. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1055.

Where the only issue was as to the authority of a shipper's agent to ship cattle beyond a certain point and defendant's notice as to such authority, a requested charge as to whether the shipper's contract was obtained by duress was immaterial. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Caruthers (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 238.

371. —— Telegraphic and telephonic service.—Where delay is a ground of action against a telegraph company, the question of inaccuracy in telegram, not causing delay, could not be submitted. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Thompson, 18 C. A. 609, 45 S. W. 429.

A charge that the company need deliver message at only one of two places held properly refused, where the action was for negligence in failing to deliver. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Waller (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 396.

An instruction held erroneous, as not being within the issues. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 338.

A plea of contributory negligence, supported by evidence, considered, and held, that that issue should have been submitted to the jury. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Sorsby, 29 C. A. 345, 69 S. W. 122.

In an action for delay in delivering a death message, failure of plaintiff's petition to specifically charge certain negligence in delivery held not to render erroneous the portion of the charge referring to such negligence. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Shaw, 40 C. A. 277, 90 S. W. 58.

In an action for negligence in delivery of a telegram held, that printed stipulations on the back of the telegram blank had nothing to do with the issue, so that it was error to submit to the jury the question of a parol modification thereof. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Stubbs, 43 C. A. 132, 94 S. W. 1083.

In an action for failure to deliver a message, whereby plaintiff was prevented from seeing his mother before she died, an instruction as to whether plaintiff would have gone had he got the message in time held erroneous. Prewitt v. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co., 46 C. A. 123, 101 S. W. 812.

In an action for failure to promptly transmit a telegram to plaintiff's brother S., there being no allegations that another brother would have come to plaintiff had the message been delivered, or of any damage from the failure of any one to come except S., it was error to submit the issue of damages for the failure of her other brother to come. Landry v. Western Union Tel. Co., 102 T. 67, 113 S. W. 10.

Allegations in an action for delay in delivering a death message preventing the addressee from attending the funeral, held to authorize submission of an issue whether if she had sent a reply message the burial would have been postponed. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Moran, 52 C. A. 117, 113 S. W. 625.

In an action for damages for failure to connect plaintiff with long distance telephone, an instruction held properly refused as not within the issues. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Pearson (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 733.

372. —— Contracts of sale and actions relating thereto.—Failure to charge the law on estoppel held not error where defendants allege that the contract had been obtained by fraud. Cook v. Roberson (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 866.

Where the pleading and proof showed that one M. made an offer to purchase property, without specifying how long the offer should remain open, instructions based on the theory that the offer was limited to a certain date were properly refused. Cohen v. Cohen, 26 C. A. 315, 63 S. W. 544.

Instruction as to buyer's right to recover for breach of warranty of quality held not objectionable, as only submitting theory of express warranty, when the buyer had alleged and shown an implied one. Fay Fruit Co. v. Talerico (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 196.

Where the issue was whether a purchaser was a bona fide purchaser, an instruction held misleading. Allen v. Anderson & Anderson (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 54.

In a suit to enforce specific performance of a contract for the sale of real estate, the refusal to give a charge as to the effect of an alteration in the contract held erroneous under the pleadings and evidence. Pope v. Taliaferro, 51 C. A. 217, 115 S. W. 309.

Sellers' contributory negligence, if any, not having been pleaded, held unavailable in an action to recover for the shrinkage of the cattle sold. Cox v. Steed (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 246.

Where, in a materialman's action against an owner for lumber furnished a contractor, the petition sought to recover through estoppel by conduct, an instruction given held erroneous, in that it did not present the case alleged in the petition. Marks v. Jones (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 618.

Where the sole issue in a materialman's action was whether defendant was estopped by conduct from denying liability, the court properly refused to instruct upon a relation existing between the parties through plaintiff's having signed as surety for the contractor. Id.

373. —— Actions on insurance contracts, policies, or certificates.—Where the issue was whether a forfeiture by a sale had been waived by the adjuster, it was error to instruct that such sale, unless consented to by the agent who issued the policy, prevented a recovery. Moriarty v. United States Fire Ins. Co., 19 C. A. 669, 49 S. W. 132.

Under the pleadings, held error to refuse to instruct that the falsity of such representations was a breach of warranty which would defeat a recovery, though they were made through mistake and on good faith. National Fraternity v. Karnes, 24 C. A. 607, 60 S. W. 576.

Where the defense that a premium on a policy was not paid was not pleaded, no issue as to payment was raised, and it was not error to refuse a peremptory instruction for defendant on the ground of lack of evidence of payment. Continental Casualty Co. v. Wade (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 877.

A request to charge that insured's application and the insurer's constitution, charter, and by-laws should be read together and considered in connection with the policy sued on, and as a part thereof, held properly refused. Supreme Lodge United Benevolent Ass'n v. Lawson (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 907.

Where, in an action for a balance of premiums due on a policy of liability insurance, the liability of the defendant was made to depend upon his having had the policies issued for his own account and at his own expense, and the constructor of a building for him in whose name the policy was issued was merely his agent in securing the policy, instructions on the rights and obligations of an independent contractor were properly refused as inapplicable to the issues. Ripley v. Ocean Accident & Guarantee Corporation (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 974.

374. —— Actions on notes.—It is error to submit the question to the jury as to whether or not a note was delivered, when non est factum is not properly pleaded. Davis v. Crawford (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 384.

An instruction that money deposited in a bank by direction of plaintiff, "or his agent," as payments on the note, were payments, whether credited or not, held, under the pleadings and evidence, to be error. Eastham v. Patty, 29 C. A. 473, 69 S. W. 224.

Under the pleadings in an action on notes given for the purchase price of personalty, the question of rescission of the contract should not have been submitted to the jury. Jesse French Piano & Organ Co. v. Thomas, 36 C. A. 78, 80 S. W. 1063.

In an action on a note and mortgage, the submission to the jury of the question whether defendant executed the note and mortgage held erroneous. Walker v. Tomlinson, 44 C. A. 446, 98 S. W. 906.

In an action against a husband and wife on a note executed by them and for foreclosure of a mortgage, a charge on the issue of failure of consideration, pleaded by the wife alone, held erroneous, in view of Art. 1906, subd. 10. Baldwin v. Self, 52 C. A. 509, 114 S. W. 427.

In an action against a city on notes given in payment of fire hose, an instruction held not erroneous. City of Cleburne v. Gutta Percha & Rubber Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1072.

In an action on a note given for supplies secured by a chattel mortgage, an instruction that a recovery should be denied if the jury found the mortgage was a forgery as alleged by the mortgagor held erroneous. Cockrell v. Ellison (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 150.

375. —— Actions for personal injuries in general.—A requested instruction which authorizes a recovery for negligence not counted on in the petition is properly refused. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Powell (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 695; Galveston, H. & H. R. Co. v. Bohan, 47 S. W. 1050; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Patterson, 20 C. A. 255, 48 S. W. 747; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Utley, 27 C. A. 472, 66 S. W. 311; W. G. Ragley Lumber Co. v. Goldsmith (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 581; Texas Short Line Ry. Co. v. Patton, 80 S. W. 881; San Antonio Traction Co. v. Kelleher, 48 C. A. 421, 107 S. W. 64; Currie v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 101 T. 478, 108 S. W. 1167; Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Meakin (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1057; Walker v. Metropolitan St. R. Co., 151 S. W. 1142.

The charge held not to vary from the pleading in submitting the issue of negligence, and that under it no other defect than the one alleged could have been considered. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Hampton, 24 C. A. 458, 59 S. W. 928.

Failure of defendant to plead unavoidable accident does not defeat its right to an instruction thereon, where there is evidence tending to show that the injury was the result of such an accident. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Washington, 94 T. 510, 63 S. W. 534; Id., 25 C. A. 600, 63 S. W. 538.

A complaint, in an action for injuries resulting from contact with a barbed wire fence built by defendant across a road, held sufficient to warrant a charge permitting the jury to find negligence in leaving the fence without guard or warning. Abilene Cotton Oil Co. v. Briscoe, 27 C. A. 157, 66 S. W. 315.

In an action for injuries to trespasser, instruction as to negligence of defendant's servants in carrying plaintiff after his injury held error; there being no pleading or proof of authority in the servants to do so. St. Louis Southwestern R. Co. of Texas v. Mayfield, 35 C. A. 82, 79 S. W. 365.

Under the petition in an action for the death of a boy killed by the walls of a building partially destroyed by fire falling on him, an instruction imposing on the owner the duty of bracing the walls held erroneous. Freeman v. Carter (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 81.

In an action against a city for injuries caused by a defect in a street, pleadings and evidence held to warrant a charge on failure to repair a ditch caused by a sinking of the street. City of Dallas v. Muncton, 37 C. A. 112, 83 S. W. 431.

In an action for injuries to a pedestrian by a defect in a sidewalk, the charge held to sufficiently limit plaintiff's right to recover to the injuries sustained by stepping into the hole in the sidewalk as alleged. City of San Antonio v. Wildenstein, 49 C. A. 514, 109 S. W. 231.

In an action for personal injuries, an instruction held not prejudicial to defendant as authorizing a recovery for injuries not pleaded or proved. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Motwiller, 101 T. 515, 109 S. W. 918.

In a personal injury action for damages received upon the running away of plaintiff's horse caused by the negligence of defendant's driver, a charge held not improper in submitting questions of negligence not pleaded. United States Express Co. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 617.

376. —— Injuries in operation of railroads in general.—Instructions in an action to recover for injuries at crossing held warranted by the complaint. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Simon (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 309.

Allegations in a complaint held sufficient to authorize the submission of the issue that defendant was running its train at an unusually high rate of speed. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Harvin (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 629.

Refusing instruction that defendant was entitled to primary use of its track, which was also used as a thoroughfare, held not error, in an action for personal injury to a pedestrian, where there was no issue as to the company's right to such use. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Brooks (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 1056.

Refusal of an instruction, limiting and controlling the effect of evidence as to location on an ice house and use of defendant's tracks, held not error, where they were not made a ground of recovery for injury. Gulf, W. T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Letsch (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 584.

An instruction as to the "degree of care" devolving on an engineer to stop his train after discovering the peril of the deceased held properly refused, where the issue involved was whether such means were in fact used. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Stone, 23 C. A. 106, 56 S. W. 933.

Special instructions of the defendant held properly refused, as not involved in the issue. Id.

Where plaintiff claimed that his wife received injuries from her horse taking fright at steam escaping from defendant's engine, defendant was not entitled to an instruction with respect to other noises made by the engine at the time of the accident. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Belt, 24 C. A. 281, 59 S. W. 607.

In an action for injuries to a child by a street car, the petition held to justify a particular instruction given. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Court, 31 C. A. 146, 71 S. W. 777.

Instruction submitting issue as to negligence in failing to have warning signal at place of accident held erroneous as submitting issue not made by pleadings. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Eitel (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 205.

In an action against street railway for injuries to driver of vehicle on account of defective track, the appearance on the trial of a certain fact not pleaded held not to justify an instruction as to proximate cause. Shelton v. Northern Texas Traction Co., 32 C. A. 507, 75 S. W. 338.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff's wife, occasioned by her horse frightening at a street car, allegations held sufficient to authorize the submission of an issue whether defendant's employés saw that the ringing of the bell and the rapid speed of the car was the occasion of the fright of the horse and continued to ring it. Denison & S. Ry. Co. v. Powell, 35 C. A. 454, 80 S. W. 1054.

Petition in an action against a railroad for personal injuries held to justify a charge in which the jury were authorized to find whether defendant was negligent in running its train at the rate of speed at which it was running, without reference to city ordinances pleaded in some of the paragraphs, of which there was no proof. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Quinones (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 757.

An instruction held not objectionable as presenting issues not made by the pleadings and evidence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Fry, 37 C. A. 552, 84 S. W. 664; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Scarborough (Civ. App.) 104 S. W. 408.

Where plaintiff charged negligence in defendant's permitting its rails to be charged with electricity, causing his horse to fall, etc., an instruction held erroneous as not presenting the issues involved. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Yost, 39 C. A. 551, 88 S. W. 428.

In an action against a railroad company for the death of one struck by a train while rescuing a third person from being killed by the same train, the court properly submitted an issue. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Scarborough (Civ. App.) 104 S. W. 408.

A requested instruction as to negligence held properly refused. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Muecke, 47 C. A. 380, 105 S. W. 1009; St. Louis Southwestern R. Co. of Texas v. Pool (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 641.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff, a licensee, while alighting from defendant's train, an instruction held erroneous as not conforming to the pleadings. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Walters, 49 C. A. 71, 107 S. W. 369.

In an action against a railroad company for injuries to plaintiff through stepping into a hole in a bridge built by defendant over a ditch on its right of way at a highway crossing, an instruction held warranted by the petition. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith, 49 C. A. 1, 107 S. W. 638.

In an action against a railroad company for injuries to a traveler on a road under a railroad bridge, the refusal to charge on the right to recover on the theory that plaintiff was a licensee held proper in view of the pleadings and evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hollan, 49 C. A. 55, 107 S. W. 642.

Instructions in an action against a railroad company for injuries sustained while unloading a car held properly refused as not within the issues. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Thomas, 48 C. A. 646, 107 S. W. 868.

In an action for injuries through being struck by a train while walking on a part of defendant's track used as a footpath, an instruction held responsive to the pleadings. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Malone (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 958.

Allegations by one suing a railway company for injury received through his team taking fright at an approaching train at a street crossing held to warrant an instruction that it was the statutory duty of those in charge of the locomotive to blow the whistle and ring the bell at least 80 rods from the street crossing. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Garber, 51 C. A. 70, 111 S. W. 227.

In an action for injuries caused by plaintiff's mules being frightened at a crossing, allegations as to the presence of a house near the crossing held to raise no issue of negligence. Garber v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 857.

In an action for injuries alleged to have been caused by being struck by a swinging freight car door while plaintiff was standing in a footpath near the track, an instruction held not to present any issue not involved in the pleading and evidence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Endsley (Civ. App.) 119 S. W. 1150.

In an action for injuries to a child from being run over by an engine, an instruction held within the pleadings. Freeman v. Garcia, 56 C. A. 638, 121 S. W. 886.

In an action for injuries to a boy alleged to have been driven from a moving car by defendant's switchman, where defendant denied the authority of the switchman to so act plaintiff was not required to plead the practice of ejecting trespassers from trains to warrant the submission of this issue to the jury. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Buch (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 316.

An allegation that a car was wrecked as the result of negligence of defendant's employés in charge thereof authorized instructions on specific acts of negligence. Texas Traction Co. v. Hanson (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 214.

Submission, as ground of recovery, of negligence in violating city ordinance fixing speed limit, held reversible error, where only negligence alleged was in character of crossing. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Guinn (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 959.

Where the negligence alleged was that plaintiff was run down by a switch engine without lights or signals, a charge that plaintiff stepped upon the track so suddenly that it was impossible for the operators to have ascertained his presence, ignores the issues of defendant's negligence. Ft. Worth & D. C. R. Co. v. Keeran (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 355.

377. —— Injuries to passengers.—In an action against a carrier for damages occasioned by a falling seat, an instruction allowing a recovery if defendant was negligent in leaving open the seat, and the injury was the proximate result thereof, held not erroneous because such act of negligence was not pleaded, where there was a general allegation of negligence. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Anthony, 24 C. A. 9, 57 S. W. 897.

An instruction that a failure to exercise a high degree of care to provide safe seats was negligence, rendering defendant liable for damages resulting therefrom, held not error, where the complaint charged gross negligence, and the seat was shown to have fallen previously on the same day. Id.

Instructions held to have submitted a ground of negligence not alleged in the petition. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cannon, 31 C. A. 437, 71 S. W. 992; Ft. Worth & D. C. R. Co. v. Wilkinson (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 203.

Charge held not objectionable in eliminating defendant's negligence arising from the placing of a hose across the door of the car from which plaintiff made his exit. Ratteree v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 36 C. A. 197, 81 S. W. 566.

A charge, that a carrier was liable to a passenger injured in alighting if its failure to provide a safe step box was the proximate cause of the injury, was not erroneous, though the use of the box on a rough pavement was alleged as the proximate cause. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dunbar, 57 C. A. 411, 122 S. W. 574.

In an action for injuries from the sudden starting of the car, as plaintiff was getting on, it was error in the charge to refer to plaintiff's falling from the car, where there was no averment or evidence that he did so. Settle v. San Antonio Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 15.

In an action for injuries to an infant passenger, an instruction held erroneous as not confined to the negligence charged in the petition. Galveston Electric Co. v. Dickey (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 332.

Where the plaintiff, in an action against a street railroad company for injuries, alleged and testified that he had gotten safely aboard the running board, when the car was suddenly and violently started, a requested instruction attempting to make an issue as to whether plaintiff got safely aboard the car is properly refused as not conforming to the pleadings and issues. Gildemeister v. San Antonio Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1097.

Instruction held warranted by the pleading and evidence. Texas Traction Co. v. Hanson (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 214.

Though the issues, in an action for abusive language used by a railroad conductor to a passenger, concern erroneous statements to her that she had been guilty of a penitentiary offense in getting on the train without a ticket for her child, an instruction that it was a misdemeanor for one to secure free transportation, and that it was the conductor's right to courteously explain why he demanded fare for the child, was proper. Carpenter v. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 363.

Plaintiff's allegation and evidence that the street car from which she was thrown while alighting had stopped held not to authorize or require the court to submit issue of whether the car was jerked while yet moving. Small v. San Antonio Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 833.

378. —— Injuries to employés.—Pleadings and proof held to authorize an instruction as to negligence of defendant railroad in failing to discover that a bolt had been removed from a switch. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Gaither (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 266.

Charge held not applicable to the issues raised. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 1072; B. Lantry Sons v. Lowrie, 58 S. W. 837; Harwell v. Southern Furniture Co., 75 S. W. 52; Rice & Lyon v. Lewis, 125 S. W. 961; Galveston, H. & H. R. Co. v. Babno, 140 S. W. 362; Thompson Bros. Lumber Co. v. Bryant, 144 S. W. 290.

Under an allegation of negligence in employing servants, the court may charge both as to the duty of the master in originally employing and retaining them. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Davis (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 956.

Allegations of negligence held to justify an instruction as to defects in machinery causing injury. Hillsboro Oil Co. v. White (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 432.

After allegations that "defendant's servants, M. and C." gave plaintiff certain orders, an instruction that, if "defendant" gave such orders, etc., was not objectionable. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Sanchez (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 893.

In an action against railroad for injuries received while on defendant's train and acting as express messenger and baggageman, the petition held sufficient to warrant a charge as to defendant's duty to plaintiff when he was acting as baggageman. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Reasor, 28 C. A. 302, 68 S. W. 332.

In action by servant for injuries from contact with and inhalation of poisons, held, under the pleadings and proof, not error not to exclude all save certain poisons from consideration of jury. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Gardner, 29 C. A. 90, 69 S. W. 217.

An instruction held not erroneous under the petition. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Karrer (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 328; Same v. Puente, 30 C. A. 246, 70 S. W. 362; Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Bodie, 32 C. A. 168, 74 S. W. 100; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. King, 41 C. A. 433, 91 S. W. 622; Louisiana & Texas Lumber Co. v. Meyers (Civ App.) 94 S. W. 140; Smith v. International & G. N. R. Co., 45 C. A. 81, 99 S. W. 564; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 1150; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Meehan, 129 S. W. 190; St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Matlock, 141 S. W. 1067; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Matkin, 142 S. W. 604.

Where, in an action for injuries, plaintiff alleged that the accident was due to the negligence of defendant's foreman, an instruction that if the foreman's negligence, alone or in conjunction with the negligence of plaintiff's fellow servants, caused the accident defendant was liable, held not erroneous. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith, 30 C. A. 336, 70 S. W. 789.

The pleadings held to raise the issue as to rules of the company so as to authorize an instruction thereon. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Jones (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 53.

Under pleading and evidence, charge on duty of defendant to inspect car held proper. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Reeves, 35 C. A. 162, 79 S. W. 1099.

Petition and evidence held to raise the issue of defendant's negligence in failing to repair "racket and dog" on the car on which plaintiff was engaged. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Reeves, 35 C. A. 162, 79 S. W. 1099.

Charge on duty of railroad employés to watch for servants on tracks held proper, and warranted by pleadings and evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Jones, 35 C. A. 584, 80 S. W. 852.

In an action by a servant for damages alleged to have been caused by the wrongful act of the master in prematurely discharging the servant from a hospital, no charge as to the care required of defendant in furnishing medical treatment was necessary. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Logan, 36 C. A. 279, 81 S. W. 812.

In an action for injuries caused by the falling of a hand car, allegations in petition held to furnish foundation for a charge submitting the question whether the car, in falling, struck and injured plaintiff. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Jennings, 36 C. A. 375, 81 S. W. 822.

An instruction requiring the master to furnish appliances shown to be reasonably adapted to their purpose held outside the issues. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Perry, 36 C. A. 414, 82 S. W. 343.

An instruction held not objectionable as permitting a verdict, even though the defects causing the injury were not those alleged. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Udalle (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 330.

Certain instructions which might have been construed as authorizing a recovery on testimony of a ground of negligence not pleaded held erroneous. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Breeding, 41 C. A. 123, 91 S. W. 877.

In an action for injuries to an employé while grinding a planer tool on an emery wheel, an instruction held properly refused under the pleadings. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Archambault (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 1108.

A charge held erroneous as authorizing recovery, though the death was caused by means other than alleged in the petition. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Green, 42 C. A. 216, 95 S. W. 694.

In an action against a railroad company for injuries to a traveler on a road under a railroad bridge caused by defects in the bridge, the question whether the traveler was a fellow servant with employés of the company held not in the case. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hollan, 49 C. A. 55, 107 S. W. 642.

An instruction held not reversible error as implying that, if any of the company's servants were negligent, the company would be liable whether plaintiff's pleadings charged such negligence or not. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Davidson, 49 C. A. 85, 107 S. W. 949.

A statement preliminary to the charge held to have been justified by the petition and evidence. Southern Pac. Co. v. Godfrey, 48 C. A. 616, 107 S. W. 1135.

Under a petition alleging generally the negligeence of other employés, the issue of the negligence held properly submitted to the jury. Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 173.

It was unnecessary to tell the jury that the mere fact that plaintiff was a minor did not entitle him to recover; plaintiff not seeking recovery on that ground, and no such issue being presented. Gulf Cooperage Co. v. Abernathy, 54 C. A. 137, 116 S. W. 869.

In an action for injury to a minor employé while operating a revolving saw, allegations held to justify an instruction. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Geiger, 55 C. A. 1, 118 S. W. 179.

In an action for death to a switchman, the court did not err in charging the jury to return a verdict for defendant, if the accident was caused by a rock on the rail, etc. International & G. N. R. Co. v. White (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 958.

In a servant's action for injuries by oil spouting from the bottom of an oil tank into his eyes because the valve was open when he removed the nipple from the pipe, allegations of the answer held to authorize an instruction that defendant would be liable if the spouting oil was a latent danger known to defendant but not to plaintiff. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Sanchez, 57 C. A. 87, 122 S. W. 44.

Allegations in a locomotive fireman's petition for personal injuries held sufficient to authorize the submission of the issue of negligence on the part of defendant in directing its train to be run as fast as 10 miles per hour. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Poole (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 1176.

In an action for injury to a servant from scalds while cleaning a boiler, an instruction authorizing recovery if the jury believed the plug was blown out by steam held not erroneous notwithstanding plaintiff alleged that he removed the plug. Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. v. Brandon (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 703.

Pleadings held to warrant an instruction submitting the case on the theory that the work was within the scope of plaintiff's employment. Id.

A petition held insufficient to justify the submission of an issue of negligence on defendant's part in directing trains to be run over a new road as fast as 10 miles per hour. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Poole, 104 T. 36, 133 S. W. 239.

Federal employer's liability act held not effective to cure erroneous submission of a claim of negligence not within the petition in an action for injuries to a railroad fireman. Id.

Where the petition complained of "insufficient" lights, an instruction as to "defective" lights was misleading. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. McCrummen (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 899.

In an action by a brakeman injured while working between the cars, an instruction held justified by the pleadings. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Matlock (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1067.

The charge in an action for the crushing of a brakeman between the side of the tender of an engine and the side of a coal bin held to submit no question of negligence in construction of track and bin other than that of their proximity to each other, which was the only issue. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. De Bord (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 667.

Instruction that it was employer's duty to exercise ordinary care to furnish a safe place to work held justified by the petition. City of Greenville v. Branch (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 478.

In electric light lineman's action for injuries, instruction concerning negligence of engineer in failing to watch indicator showing contacts between dead wires and live wires held justified by the petition. Id.

Where the petition alleged that defendant was guilty of gross negligence, in that he failed to provide plaintiff with a safe place to work, and no specific exception thereto was taken, it was not error for the court to charge that the master was bound to exercise reasonable care to provide a safe place to work. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Luckie (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 1158.

379. —— Contributory negligence.—Where defendant pleads contributory negligence generally, and charge is as specific as answer, he is not entitled to charge grouping evidence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Hagood, 21 C. A. 442, 52 S. W. 574.

An instruction in an action against a railroad company for the death of a servant, authorizing a recovery if deceased was put in a position of peril and so frightened that he could not act with precaution and judgment, is warranted by an issue as to contributory negligence. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Jacobson, 28 C. A. 150, 66 S. W. 1111.

A refusal to charge as to contributory negligence is not error, where defendant has not pleaded contributory negligence. Perez v. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co., 28 C. A. 255, 67 S. W. 137; Kansas City, M. & O. R. Co. of Texas v. Barnhart (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1049.

A charge presenting an issue of contributory negligence that was not raised by the pleadings is properly refused. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Locke (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 1082; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Jones, 83 S. W. 29; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Wray, 43 C. A. 380, 96 S. W. 74; Galveston, H. & H. R. Co. v. Alberti, 47 C. A. 32, 103 S. W. 699; Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. Stillwell, 46 C. A. 647, 104 S. W. 1071; Ft. Worth & D. C. R. Co. v. Keeran (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 355.

An instruction submitting the issue of contributory negligence held justified by the pleadings and the evidence. Freeman v. Carter (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 81; Northern Texas Traction Co. v. Hunt, 54 C. A. 415, 118 S. W. 827; El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Shaklee (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 188.

In action for injury to passenger, charge requested, under which defendant was relieved from liability by contributory negligence of passenger, held properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Foster (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 879.

A special charge on contributory negligence held not erroneous in omitting the question whether or not the act of the injured person contributed to the injury. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Cotts (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 602.

An allegation held sufficient to justify an instruction on plaintiff's freedom from contributory negligence by an act done in an emergency to protect the machine at which he was working from injury. Consolidated Kansas City Smelting & Refining Co. v. Taylor, 48 C. A. 605, 107 S. W. 889.

Defendant in an action for personal injuries is entitled to a requested charge grouping the facts relied on as constituting plaintiff's contributory negligence, even though the plea is not as specific as the testimony relating thereto. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Worth (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 958.

Where contributory negligence is pleaded in general terms, defendant is entitled to have any facts applicable to such issue presented to the jury. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Samuel (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 133.

The petition and answer in an action for injuries in a collision with a street car held to authorize an instruction submitting the question of plaintiff's driving in close proximity to the track. Northern Texas Traction Co. v. Hunt, 54 C. A. 415, 118 S. W. 827.

Refusal to give a charge on contributory negligence held not erroneous. Northern Texas Traction Co. v. Hunt, 54 C. A. 415, 118 S. W. 827; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Henson, 56 C. A. 468, 121 S. W. 1127; Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Richardson (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 623.

In an action for injuries to pedestrian on a railroad track struck by a train, an instruction submitting the issue of contributory negligence, held properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Mitcham, 57 C. A. 134, 121 S. W. 871.

The answer in an action for collision pleading certain specific acts as contributory negligence, not having alleged that plaintiff could have stopped his team in time to avoid the collision after seeing the engine, a charge precluding recovery if he by care could have stopped it was properly refused. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Tarver (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 958.

In an action by a boy of 13 for injuries from a collision with a street car, the court properly defined contributory negligence as the failure to exercise that care that a person of ordinary prudence of plaintiff's age, intelligence, and discretion would have exercised under similar circumstances, though there was no pleading or evidence that plaintiff was not of sufficient intelligence to know the danger of crossing in front of a street car. Galveston Electric Co. v. Antonini (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 841.

An allegation that, "being put in great fear, to save his life or himself from serious bodily injury, and being compelled to act in some way, suddenly made his escape by the only accessible way through a window, etc.," is a sufficient basis for a charge relieving plaintiff of contributory negligence. Yellow Pine Paper Mill Co. v. Wright (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1168.

An instruction that if a telephone lineman caused electric light wire to come in contact with telephone cable, or if he knew or had been warned of the danger of coming in contact with the electric wire, and was negligent in so doing, he could not recover, held properly refused as submitting matters not pleaded. Snyder Ice, Light & Power Co. v. Bowron (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 550.

380. —— Discovered peril.—An instruction asked, that plaintiff could not recover if her intestate was guilty of contributory negligence, was properly refused where, under the issues and evidence, there might be a recovery, notwithstanding contributory negligence was shown. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ferris, 23 C. A. 215, 55 S. W. 1119.

The issue of discovered peril held required to be raised by the pleadings to entitle a party to an instruction thereon. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Knox (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 543; Hawkins v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 36 C. A. 633, 83 S. W. 52.

In an action against a railroad company for the death of a boy on track, held proper to refuse an instruction on discovered peril. Rio Grande, S. M. & P. Ry. Co. v. Martinez, 39 C. A. 460, 87 S. W. 853.

The petition, in an action against a railroad for injuries through being struck by an engine, held to support an instruction as to discovered peril. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Crawford, 54 C. A. 196, 117 S. W. 193.

381. —— Assumption of risk.—Where the defense of assumption of risk is not pleaded, the court should not submit such issue. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Brown, 33 C. A. 589, 77 S. W. 832; Lewis v. Texas & P. R. Co., 57 C. A. 585, 122 S. W. 605.

An instruction on the question of assumption of risk held not a mere abstract principle of law, but applicable to an issue in the case. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Stevens, 37 C. A. 80, 83 S. W. 235.

In an action for injuries from jumping from a trestle on discovering the proximity of a train, where there was no plea of assumed risk, held, that a requested instruction on that subject need not be given. Texas Midland R. R. v. Byrd (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 199.

In an action for injuries to a servant, an allegation as to assumption of risk held not to justify an instruction. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Garcia, 54 C. A. 59, 117 S. W. 206.

382. —— Amount of recovery.—A charge should not submit to the jury an element of special damages unless a proper basis for such damages is found in the pleadings and evidence. Railway Co. v. Robinson, 73 T. 277, 11 S. W. 327; Railway Co. v. Measles, 81 T. 478, 17 S. W. 124; Railway Co. v. Richart (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 921; Railway Co. v. Bigham (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 254; Campbell v. Cook, 86 T. 632, 26 S. W. 480; Railway Co. v. Rossing (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 243; Railway Co. v. Sparger, 11 C. A. 82, 32 S. W. 49.

Where plaintiff, who alone testifies, fixes his damages beyond the allegation in the petition, a charge authorizing a verdict for damages, as shown by the evidence, is erroneous. Martin-Brown Co. v. Pool (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 820.

An instruction that, if plaintiff received part of compensation from others, the amount should be deducted, held error, where such defense was not pleaded. City of Dallas v. Beeman, 18 C. A. 335, 45 S. W. 626.

An instruction held error as permitting a recovery for expenses incurred by plaintiff in a personal injury suit, when he had not pleaded them. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Rowell, 92 T. 147, 46 S. W. 630.

Where no recovery of exemplary damages was sought in an action for negligence, a definition or allusion to gross negligence in the charge was improper. Louisiana Western Extension Ry. Co. v. Carstens, 19 C. A. 190, 47 S. W. 36.

Held not necessary to allege difference in value of property just before and just after damages, to justify instruction that such is measure of damages. Denison & P. Suburban Ry. Co. v. Smith, 19 C. A. 114, 47 S. W. 278.

A charge on exemplary damages is properly refused where such damages are not sought in the action. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Waller (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 396.

It is not error to submit a charge allowing recovery for medical expenses under a petition alleging that medical expenses were incurred, but praying damages generally. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Stuart (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 799.

A charge held not erroneous as authorizing recovery of damages whether caused from the injuries alleged in the petition or not. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Milam, 20 C. A. 688, 50 S. W. 417.

The allegations of a complaint held to justify a charge that plaintiff may recover for damages arising from mental suffering to be borne in the future. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Goldman (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 275.

It is reversible error to charge a jury to take into consideration damages resulting from a loss of time, where there is neither allegation nor proof of the value of such lost time. Id.

Where the petition alleged that plaintiff's body was battered and bruised, and evidence of injury to his arm was admitted without objection, it was not error to charge that the jury might take into consideration any injury to any part of plaintiff's person. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Bibolet, 24 C. A. 4, 57 S. W. 974.

Averments in a petition for breach of contract of marriage held to authorize the submission of the issue of exemplary damages. Clark v. Reese, 26 C. A. 619, 64 S. W. 783.

A petition in an action for the wrongful levy of an execution held sufficient to justify submission of the loss of profits as the measure of damages. Deleshaw v. Edelen, 31 C. A. 416, 72 S. W. 413.

An instruction held subject to objection as submitting an item of damages not supported by the pleading and the evidence. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Rutherford (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 558; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. McCarty, 49 C. A. 532, 108 S. W. 764; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Graffeo, 53 C. A. 569, 118 S. W. 873.

In an action against a telegraph company for failure to deliver a death message, held, under the pleadings, error to instruct that the jury might consider plaintiff's mental anguish. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Bowen, 97 T. 621, 81 S. W. 27.

In an action for injuries, charge that finding for plaintiff should include damages for loss of earnings held erroneous. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Hardy (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 1053.

An instruction authorizing the jury to disregard a provision in a written contract relating to damages in assessing defendants' damages in a cross-action, not based on the written contract, if such provision was unreasonable, held erroneous; the unreasonableness of such provision not having been pleaded. Colorado Canal Co. v. McFarland & Southwell (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 400.

In an action on a bond for liquidated damages for breach of contract, a charge permitting a recovery of actual damages held erroneous. Work v. Cross (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 208.

In an action for failure to deliver a message, held error to submit to the jury as an issuable fact whether plaintiff suffered mental anguish. Prewitt v. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co., 46 C. A. 123, 101 S. W. 812.

A charge allowing recovery for all injuries shown by evidence held erroneous where some of the injuries, shown without objection by evidence, were not alleged in the petition. Suderman & Dolson v. Kriger, 50 C. A. 29, 109 S. W. 373.

In an action for death, brought by the widow and minor children of decedent, an instruction on the measure of damages held not objectionable as submitting a basis for damages not embraced in the pleadings. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Davenport (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 150.

A charge submitting the issue of recovery for loss of time held proper under the pleadings and evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Malone (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 958.

The allegations of a petition held sufficient to warrant the court in submitting the damages sustained by plaintiff up to the date of the trial and those in the future. El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. O'Keefe, 50 C. A. 579, 110 S. W. 1002.

The court erred in submitting plaintiff's decreased earning capacity as an element of damage, where no claim was made therefor in the petition. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Samuel (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 133.

The petition held to authorize an instruction permitting the jury to consider plaintiff's lessened capacity to labor and earn money in the future in determining his damages. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Crawford, 54 C. A. 196, 117 S. W. 193.

The jury may not be authorized to give damages for negligence other than that charged in the petition. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Morrison (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 621.

Where a plea of a servant's contributory negligence did not specify any acts by which the plaintiff's disability was increased or prolonged, the court properly refused to charge that plaintiff could not recover for any loss caused by such prolonged disability, etc. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hawley (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 726.

In a suit by children of the first marriage against the widow and children of the second marriage to recover the community estate of the first wife and for partition, a requested instruction held properly refused, as authorizing the jury to include the value of the improvements made by the second wife after the beginning of the suit, when such improvements were not alleged in the pleadings. Lynch v. Lynch (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 461.

The allegations and the proof held to justify including in the charge to the jury compensation for future physical and mental suffering, and for diminished earning capacity after he shall have reached the age of 21. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Brouillette (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 886.

That a petition, which states a case for damages, undertakes to allege a wrong measure of damages, does not interfere with the duty of the court to instruct the jury as to the proper measure of damages. St. Louis, B. & M. R. Co. v. Murphy & Kay (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 306.

Complaint held to authorize an instruction on mental suffering. Texas Traction Co. v. Hanson (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 214.

When the allegations showed that the earning capacity of the injured person was necessarily impaired, it is sufficient to justify a submission of the issue, even though it has not been alleged in terms that the earning capacity was impaired. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Cassanova (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1190.

In an action for the price of coal where the buyer pleaded a general denial and a breach of an executory contract, held, that a requested charge on the measure of his damages was within the issues and should have been given. Richard Cocke & Co. v. Big Muddy Coal & Iron Co. (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1019.

383. Facts and evidence.—Instructions submitting questions not raised by the evidence held erroneous. Hampton v. Dean, 4 T. 455; Davis v. Loftin, 6 T. 489; Wheeler v. Moody, 9 T. 372; McGreal v. Wilson, 9 T. 426; Thompson v. Shannon, 9 T. 536; Hagerty v. Scott, 10 T. 525; Lee v. Hamilton, 12 T. 413; Yarborough v. Tate, 14 T. 483; Earle v. Thomas, 14 T. 583; Hancock v. Horan, 15 T. 507; Scranton v. Tilley, 16 T. 183; Hicks v. Bailey, 16 T. 229; Case v. Jennings, 17 T. 661; Andrews v. Smithwick, 20 T. 111; Austin v. Talk, 20 T. 164; Hatch v. Garza, 22 T. 176; Willis v. Bullitt, 22 T. 330; Garrett v. Chambliss, 24 T. 618; Altgelt v. Brister, 57 T. 432; Blanton v. Mayes, 58 T. 422; Belcher v. Fox, 60 T. 527; Cook v. Dennis, 61 T. 246; H. & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Rider, 62 T. 267; H. & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Gilmore, 62 T. 391; G., H. & S. A. R. Co. v. Faber, 63 T. 344; Rosenthal v. Middlebrook, 63 T. 333; Seligman v. Wilson, 1 App. C. C. § 897; Railway Co. v. Wisenor, 66 T. 674, 2 S. W. 667; Cannon v. Cannon, 66 T. 682, 3 S. W. 36; Denham v. Trinity Lumber Co., 73 T. 78, 11 S. W. 151; Railway Co. v. Platzer, 73 T. 117, 11 S. W. 160, 3 L. R. A. 639, 15 Am. St. Rep. 771; Artusy v. Railway Co., 73 T. 191, 11 S. W. 177; Railway Co. v. York, 74 T. 364, 12 S. W. 68; Smith v. Bank, 74 T. 457, 12 S. W. 113; Railway Co. v. Tierney, 72 T. 312, 12 S. W. 586; Hickey v. Behrens, 75 T. 488, 12 S. W. 679; W. U. Tel. Co. v. Kendzora, 77 T. 257, 13 S. W. 986; Railway Co. v. Hudson, 77 T. 494, 14 S. W. 158; Hedrick v. Smith, 77 T. 608, 14 S. W. 197; Bush v. Barron, 78 T. 5, 14 S. W. 238; Railway Co. v. Harriett, 80 T. 73, 15 S. W. 556; Same v. McCoy (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 304; Same v. Hall, 12 C. A. 11, 33 S. W. 127; Same v. McCoy, 90 T. 264, 38 S. W. 36; Wood v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 15 C. A. 322, 40 S. W. 24; International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Emery, 14 C. A. 551, 40 S. W. 149; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hannig (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 196; Houston, E. & W. T. R. Co. v. Norris, 41 S. W. 708; Terrell v. Russell, 16 C. A. 573, 42 S. W. 129; Smith v. Covenant Mut. Ben. Ass'n, 16 C. A. 593, 43 S. W. 819; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 91 T. 569, 44 S. W. 1067; Denison & P. S. Ry. Co. v. O'Maley, 18 C. A. 200, 45 S. W. 225; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Edling, 18 C. A. 171, 45 S. W. 406; Brin v. McGregor (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 923; Cleveland v. Heidenheimer, 92 T. 108, 46 S. W. 30; St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Freedman, 18 C. A. 553, 46 S. W. 101; Citizens' Ry. Co. v. Holmes, 19 C. A. 266, 46 S. W. 116; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Griffin, 20 C. A. 91, 48 S. W. 542; Mayton v. Sonnefield (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 608; Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Parker, 20 C. A. 470, 49 S. W. 717; Schulz v. Tessman, 92 T. 488, 49 S. W. 1031; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Manning, 20 C. A. 504, 50 S. W. 177; Broach v. Garth (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 594; Schwulst v. Neely, 50 S. W. 608; Arkansas Const. Co. v. Eugene, 20 C. A. 601, 50 S. W. 736; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Williams, 21 C. A. 469, 51 S. W. 653; Howard v. Schwarz, 22 C. A. 400, 55 S. W. 348; Halsell v. Neal, 23 C. A. 26, 56 S. W. 137; San Antonio Gas Co. v. Robertson, 93 T. 503, 56 S. W. 323; Sherman, S. & S. Ry. Co. v. Bell (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 147; Mudgett v. Texas Tobacco Growing & Mfg. Co., 61 S. W. 149; El Paso & N. W. Ry. Co. v. McComas, 72 S. W. 629; Cochran v. Moerer, 31 C. A. 495, 72 S. W. 1031; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Kelley, 33 C. A. 442, 76 S. W. 942; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. O'Connor (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 374; Rea v. State, 46 Cr. A. 453, 80 S. W. 1003; Harris v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 36 C. A. 94, 80 S. W. 1023; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Dunman (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 789; Denison & P. S. R. Co.

v. Harlan, 39 C. A. 427, 87 S. W. 732; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Cluck, 99 T. 130, 87 S. W. 817; Crawford v. Hord, 40 C. A. 352, 89 S. W. 1097; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Wynne (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 823; Same v. Bunn, 41 C. A. 503, 95 S. W. 640; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Wynn, 44 C. A. 29, 97 S. W. 506; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Harrison, 44 C. A. 58, 99 S. W. 124; Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. Hiltibrand, 44 C. A. 614, 99 S. W. 707; Thompson v. Hicks (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 357; Brown v. San Antonio Traction Co., 101 S. W. 526; Postal Telegraph Co. of Texas v. L. W. Levy & Co., 102 S. W. 134; Stewart v. Smallwood, 46 C. A. 467, 102 S. W. 159; Stone v. Pettus, 47 C. A. 14, 103 S. W. 413; Bollinger v. McMinn, 47 C. A. 89, 104 S. W. 1079; Antone v. Miles, 47 C. A. 289, 105 S. W. 39; McDonald v. McCrabb, 47 C. A. 259, 105 S. W. 238; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 48 C. A. 135, 106 S. W. 773; Earnest v. Waggoner, 49 C. A. 298, 108 S. W. 495; El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Smith, 50 C. A. 10, 108 S. W. 988; Maffi v. Stephens, 49 C. A. 354, 108 S. W. 1008; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Parsons (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 240; Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Cochran, 49 C. A. 591, 109 S. W. 261; Texas Brewing Co. v. Bisso, 50 C. A. 119, 109 S. W. 270; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Jackson, 49 C. A. 573, 109 S. W. 478; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Roberts, 50 C. A. 69, 109 S. W. 982; El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Sierra (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 986; El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. Harris & Liebman, 110 S. W. 145; Overall v. Graves, Id. 549; W. A. Morgan & Bros. v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, Id. 978; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Garber, 51 C. A. 70, 111 S. W. 227; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Boleman (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 805; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Cunningham, 51 C. A. 368, 113 S. W. 767; Johnson County Savings Bank v. Kemp Mercantile Co. (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 402; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Tittle, 115 S. W. 640; Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Walden, 116 S. W. 372; Hazard v. Western Commercial Travelers' Ass'n, 54 C. A. 110, 116 S. W. 625; Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Mills, 53 C. A. 359, 116 S. W. 852; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Garcia, 54 C. A. 59, 117 S. W. 206; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. McCoy, 54 C. A. 278, 117 S. W. 446; El Paso & N. E. Ry. Co. v. Sawyer, 56 C. A. 195, 119 S. W. 107; Freeman v. Puckett, 56 C. A. 126, 120 S. W. 514; Broussard v. South Texas Rice Co. (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 587; Galveston Electric Co. v. Wilkins, 56 C. A. 486, 121 S. W. 538; Williams v. Detroit Oil & Cotton Co., 103 T. 75, 123 S. W. 405; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hawley (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 726; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Jones, Id. 737; Same v. Senn, 125 S. W. 322; Shramm v. Wolff, 126 S. W. 1185; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Greer, 127 S. W. 270; Freeman v. Fuller, Id. 1194; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Hill, 128 S. W. 445; Toland v. Williams & Wiley, 129 S. W. 392; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Morrison, Id. 1159; Milwaukee Mechanics' Ins. Co. v. Frosch, 130 S. W. 600; Cheek v. Boyd, 134 S. W. 252; Ward v. Baker, 135 S. W. 620; Jett v. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas, 138 S. W. 1174; Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Bradford, 139 S. W. 1046; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gresham, 140 S. W. 483; Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Geary, 144 S. W. 1045; Wichita Falls & W. Ry. Co. v. Wyrick, 147 S. W. 694; Reasonover v. Riley Bros., 150 S. W. 220; Gulf Pipe Line Co. v. Clayton, Id. 268; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Burk, Id. 748; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Matchett, 152 S. W. 1113; Messer v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 153 S. W. 928; Wilkirson v. Bradford, 154 S. W. 691.

It is error to charge the jury even hypothetically upon a state of case the evidence did not present, and which might induce them to conclude they were at liberty to find according to the assumed hypothesis. Where the court submits issues upon which there has been no evidence, and it is not clear that the jury have not been misled, the judgment must be reversed. Austin v. Talk, 20 T. 167; Yarborough v. Tate, 14 T. 483; Earle v. Thomas, 14 T. 583; Cox v. Harvey, 1 U. C. 268; Bigham v. McDowell, 69 T. 100, 7 S. W. 315; W. U. Tel. Co. v. Kendzora, 77 T. 257, 13 S. W. 986; Lee v. Yandell, 69 T. 34, 6 S. W. 665; Railway Co. v. Kuehn, 70 T. 583, 8 S. W. 484; Railway Co. v. Silliphant, 70 T. 623, 8 S. W. 673.

It is not error to refuse a charge correctly stating the law where there is no evidence on which it can be predicated. Wegner v. Biering, 73 T. 89, 11 S. W. 155; W. U. Tel. Co. v. Kendzora, 77 T. 257, 13 S. W. 986; Railway Co. v. Greathouse, 82 T. 104, 17 S. W. 834; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Weigers, 22 C. A. 344, 54 S. W. 910; Bering Mfg. Co. v. Femelat, 35 C. A. 36, 79 S. W. 869; Stoker v. Fugitt (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 310; Mitchell v. Stanton, 139 S. W. 1033; American Const. Co. v. Davis, 141 S. W. 1019.

A charge should be directed to the particular facts on which a case depends, and not embodied in an abstract rule of law. Louisiana Western Extension Ry. Co. v. Carstens, 19 C. A. 190, 47 S. W. 36.

An instruction is properly refused, where the evidence is not sufficient to raise the issue embraced in it. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Schilling, 32 C. A. 417, 75 S. W. 64.

A requested instruction on a combination of facts as to some of which there is no evidence held properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Sanders, 42 C. A. 545, 94 S. W. 149.

An instruction is erroneous which submits an issue barely raised by the pleadings, and not raised by the evidence. Graham v. Edwards (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 436.

Charges the predicates of which are false held properly denied. Mutual Reserve Life Ins. Co. v. Jay (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 545.

It is error to charge upon a question raised by the pleadings, but on which no evidence was introduced. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Bradshaw (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 618; Ikland v. Ikland, 139 S. W. 925; National Biscuit Co. v. Scott, 142 S. W. 65; Thos. Goggan & Bro. v. Goggan, 146 S. W. 968.

An instruction held not erroneous as inapplicable to the evidence. Seligmann v. L. Greif & Bro. (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 214; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Harris, 120 S. W. 500; Knight v. Durham, 136 S. W. 591.

Where plaintiff's right to recover was submitted upon two issues, and it was impossible to tell from the verdict upon which issue the jury found for plaintiff, the judgment will be reversed, if either instruction was not authorized by the evidence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Corn, 102 T. 194, 114 S. W. 103.

An instruction held not applicable to the evidence, and properly refused. Pecos &

N. T. R. Co. v. Coffman, 56 C. A. 472, 121 S. W. 218; Sullivan-Sanford Lumber Co. v. Cooper (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 35; Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Brooks, 132 S. W. 95; Galveston, H. & S. A. R. Co. v. Jones, 104 T. 92, 134 S. W. 328; City of San Antonio v. Ashton (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 757.

An instruction which requires a verdict for one party on a finding by the jury of a fact as to which there is no evidence is properly refused. Hugo, Schmeltzer & Co. v. Paiz (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 912.

In an action for damages from the obstruction of a street, held that a charge not covering points as to which there had been no evidence was not erroneous. American Const. Co. v. Caswell (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1013.

Instruction held not improper because it allowed the jury to determine the issues as to which there was evidence, instead of submitting only such issues as were supported by evidence. Galveston, H. & S. A. R. Co. v. West (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 343.

384. —— Sufficiency of evidence to warrant instruction.—It is reversible error for the court to charge the jury upon an issue not fairly raised by the evidence. Railway Co. v. Gilmore, 62 T. 391; Railway Co. v. Faber, 77 T. 153, 8 S. W. 64; Telegraph Co. v. Housewright, 23 S. W. 824, 5 C. A. 1.

Evidence that grantors held the certificate while a location was made, and of recitals relinquishing all claims to lands located, warrants a charge on the binding effect of a location on the certificate purchaser. Estell v. Kirby (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 8.

Evidence of plaintiff's landlord that he did not remember requesting the construction of railway fence gates held insufficient to raise an issue as to whether the gates were put in for the benefit of the landlord and his tenants, in an action for killing mules. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bradshaw (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 897.

Testimony of plaintiff held to justify instruction as to contributory negligence. Reeves v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 44 C. A. 352, 98 S. W. 929.

The substance of an issue need only be proved to authorize its being presented to the jury by a charge. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Scarborough (Civ. App.) 104 S. W. 408.

Where the sole testimony relating to an account stated during a transaction in question was plaintiff's testimony and he did not fix its amount, the court did not err in refusing to charge on an account stated. Stark v. Burkitt (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 939.

385. —— Evidence excluded or withdrawn or improperly admitted.—An instruction based on evidence that should have been excluded is error. Rotan Grocery Co. v. Martin (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 706.

Where evidence was excluded at the instance of defendant, an instruction based on the matter to which the evidence referred held properly refused. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Moynahan, 33 C. A. 302, 76 S. W. 803.

In an action for breach of marriage promise, a charge that the jury should not consider certain testimony held proper. Fisher v. Barber (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 871.

386. —— Nature of action or issue in general.—Where the uncontradicted evidence showed a certain custom, it was error to charge that the jury should consider it "if such is proved." Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 8.

Where there was no evidence that the agent acted without authority in doing the act complained of, it was not error to refuse to submit the question of his authority to the jury. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Griffin (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 542.

There was no error in refusing to submit to the jury the question whether one party dealt directly with another in negotiating a trade, where it was clearly proved that it was negotiated by agents. Wright v. United States Mortg. Co. (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 368.

Where agreement to submit was as to existence of indebtedness it was not error to restrict inquiry to whether indebtedness was equal or in excess of interest in subject-matter; there being no evidence that any less sum was due. Matula v. Lane, 22 C. A. 391, 55 S. W. 504.

Where the ground for the removal of an officer is incompetency, it is not error to refuse to charge the jury that the neglect of duty must have been willful. Quintanilla v. State, 23 C. A. 479, 56 S. W. 614.

An instruction that it cannot be presumed, in the absence of evidence, that a person, presumed from continued absence to be dead, did not leave a surviving wife or children, held erroneous. Nehring v. McMurrian, 94 T. 45, 57 S. W. 943.

Evidence held insufficient to warrant an instruction as to the effect of usury. Cole v. Horton (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 503.

Evidence as to character of conveyance held insufficient to warrant submission of issue as to its effect to jury. Cauble v. Worsham, 96 T. 86, 70 S. W. 737, 97 Am. St. Rep. 871.

Where, in an action to recover money misapplied by plaintiff's cashier, there was no evidence of any understanding between the cashier and defendant's officers, an instruction based on the assumption of such an understanding was properly refused. Iron City Nat. Bank v. Fifth Nat. Bank, 31 C. A. 308, 71 S. W. 612.

In an action to set aside a deed, evidence held insufficient to justify an instruction that plaintiff was estopped to deny the delivery of the deed. Gatt v. Shive (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 303.

Charge relating to rule of railroad company not applicable to circumstances of case held properly refused. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Fanning, 40 C. A. 422, 91 S. W. 344.

In an action by a partner for account, a requested instruction held properly refused where not supported by the evidence. Hatzfeld v. Walsh, 55 C. A. 573, 120 S. W. 525.

An instruction on an issue of common-law marriage held not objectionable as inapplicable to the evidence. Schwingle v. Keifer (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 194.

A special charge defining estoppel is properly refused when not made applicable to any facts in the case. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

In an action to cancel a conveyance on the ground of the grantor's insanity, requested instruction as to his liability for proceeds received and spent for necessaries held properly refused as not being within the evidence. Mitchell v. Inman (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 290.

387. —— Actions relating to property in general.—Where no evidence shows that the defendant's tenant denied his title or held the land under claim of ownership, an instruction that the tenant's possession while holding adversely to the landlord should not be regarded as the latter's possession was properly refused. Bateman v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 224.

A charge that one may hold adverse possession by tenant as well as in person held justified by the evidence. Collier v. Couts (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 485.

An instruction as to possession of goods sold to third party held erroneous, as requiring the jury to presume all the goods were in defendant's possession, in absence of proof of the amount thereof received, or that such amount could not be accurately ascertained. First Nat. Bank v. Myer, 23 C. A. 302, 56 S. W. 213.

It was not error to refuse a charge as to a certain issue where there was no evidence to sustain it. Thompson v. Johnson, 24 C. A. 246, 58 S. W. 1030.

A charge that the debtor could designate which of two places should be his homestead held erroneous, where the evidence did not show that he occupied two different places as homestead. Thompson Sav. Bank v. Gregory (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 622.

The evidence, raising the issue whether a homestead had been acquired, held not to justify a charge on abandonment. Id.

Refusal to instruct that increase of certain live stock after the death of the wife would not be community property held erroneous under the evidence. Wolford v. Melton, 26 C. A. 486, 63 S. W. 543.

In suit to establish a boundary line, an instruction held erroneous as not warranted by the evidence. Stacy v. Greenwade, 26 C. A. 277, 63 S. W. 1059.

Instruction in partition suit held not inapplicable to the evidence. Laferiere v. Richards, 28 C. A. 63, 67 S. W. 125.

In trespass to try title, where there was no evidence that the original owner of the land executed a certain deed, the court did not err in refusing to instruct the jury that, if they believed such deed was executed, they should find for defendant. Texas Tram & Lumber Co. v. Gwin, 29 C. A. 1, 67 S. W. 892.

In trespass to try title, held, under the evidence, that it was not error to refuse to submit to the jury the issue of a sale of the land by the administrator of plaintiff's husband to defendant's grantors. Id.

In trespass to try title, charge that headright land certificates did not authorize survey, unless recommended by traveling board of land commissioners or established by suit, held properly refused under the facts. Pope v. Anthony, 29 C. A. 298, 68 S. W. 521.

Where defendant in partition claimed by deed from A., and plaintiff claimed as heir of A. and wife, held error to instruct that, if A. made the deed, defendant could recover; there being some evidence that the land belonged to the wife. Kuteman v. Carroll (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 563.

In a suit to determine a boundary, an instruction authorizing the location of a corner by reference to a prior survey held improper, where there was no evidence that the monument marking the corner of the prior survey was placed the distance from the beginning called for in the field notes. Matthews v. Thatcher, 33 C. A. 133, 76 S. W. 61.

Charge on adverse possession held not erroneous, because there was no evidence to bring one defendant within its terms. Whitaker v. Thayer, 38 C. A. 537, 86 S. W. 364.

On the issue whether a deed was fraudulent as against creditors, held error for the court in its charge to assume that the deed was in consideration of a prior debt. Clark v. Bell, 40 C. A. 39, 89 S. W. 38.

Refusal to submit issue whether mortgaged property is part of realty held not error, where there is no evidence that it is attached to realty. Trabue v. Wade & Miller (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 616.

Where, in trespass to try title, there was no issue as to defendant's settlement on the land within six months after his purchase, an instruction submitting such question to the jury held erroneous, as misleading. Corrigan v. Fitzsimmons (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 762.

In a suit in trespass to try title to land, where under the evidence the delivery of a deed to the land by defendants to plaintiff was sufficient to pass the title, it was not error to refuse to instruct that the delivery must have been made with the knowledge and consent of defendants and with intent to pass title. Broom v. Herring, 45 C. A. 660, 101 S. W. 1023.

In an action of trespass to try title an instruction that if the jury believed that a certain deed was executed they should find for defendants held erroneous. Taliaferro v. Rice, 47 C. A. 3, 103 S. W. 464.

In trespass to try title, a certain instruction held erroneous. Mars v. Morris, 48 C. A. 216, 106 S. W. 430; Hermann v. Thomas (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 574; Dean v. Furrh, 143 S. W. 343.

In trespass to try title, the submission to the jury of the question of the reasonableness of the time the premises were not occupied, so as to prevent a break in the continuity of the possession relied on to establish adverse possession, held erroneous under the evidence. Dunn v. Taylor, 102 T. 80, 113 S. W. 265.

A charge in trespass to try title held properly refused as not authorized by the evidence. Pardue v. Whitfield, 53 C. A. 63, 115 S. W. 306.

A charge on the nature of the possession of one cotenant as respects his cotenants held properly refused as abstract. Honea v. Arledge, 56 C. A. 296, 120 S. W. 508.

In trespass to try title, where defendant claimed by limitations, a charge that the inclosure of a tract claimed would be sufficient, notwithstanding temporary breaks in the fence, if enough was left to give notice of defendant's adverse claims, was properly refused where the evidence did not show any break in the only fence constructed by defendant before the period of limitations began to run. Hedrick v. Kilgore, 57 C. A. 47, 121 S. W. 892.

Where, in trespass to try title, there was no evidence that the tenants of defendant's grantor held possession of the land for three years, there was no error in not submitting the question of possession of such tenants in a charge upon the three year limitations as to such grantor. Houston Oil Co. of Texas v. Kimball, 103 T. 94, 122 S. W. 533.

In an action between adjoining lot owners to recover a part of plaintiff's lot, evidence held not to authorize a charge on a specified theory. Beavers v. Baker (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 450.

Instruction on adverse possession held properly refused as inapplicable to the evidence. Trueheart v. Graham (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 281.

In trespass to try title, an instruction submitting the issue whether delays in recording deeds in the chain of title were reasonable held proper under the evidence. Dunn v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 311.

An instruction in trespass to try title as to defendant's right to recover for improvements held authorized by the evidence. West Lumber Co. v. Chessher (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 976.

An instruction in trespass to try title to land condemned for right of way purposes held error, as authorizing a right of way more than 200 feet wide. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Clark (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 989.

In an action to remove a fence obstructing an alley between plaintiff's and defendant's land, where the evidence showed that the alley was on defendant's land and that his grantor had opened it for his own convenience, and was insufficient to show that the city had accepted or made any claim to it, an instruction on dedication and descriptive rights held erroneous. Davis v. Young (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1116.

In trespass to try title, a requested instruction, containing a statement of general principles not applied to any of the deeds in evidence, is properly refused. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

388. —— Actions for torts in general.—A charge held erroneous, as limiting the scope of the jury's inquiry as to the fact of libel to the particular publication, without reference to other publications of defendant concerning it. Brown v. Durham (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 331.

It is error to charge the jury that plaintiff had withdrawn notice to defendant not to sell liquor to her husband, there being no evidence to sustain it. Tarkington v. Brunett (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 274.

Since the very fact that liquor was sold to a husband makes the wife an aggrieved party, under the civil damage law, it is error to raise an issue by an instruction as to her being an aggrieved party, where no grounds of estoppel were shown. Id.

Where it appears that defendant shot deceased intentionally, but claimed to have done so in the belief that deceased was about attack him, it is error to submit the case to the jury on the theory of negligence. Croft v. Smith (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 1089.

In libel action, where there were three distinct publications charged, and the evidence showed that each of defendants participated in at least one thereof, held error to instruct that each was responsible for all the publications, whether or not there was a conspiracy. Cranfill v. Hayden, 22 C. A. 656, 55 S. W. 805.

Defendant's request to charge as to plaintiff's duty to guard against injury from water overflowing from an artificial pond held not applicable to the evidence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. O'Mahoney, 24 C. A. 631, 60 S. W. 902.

Where plaintiff's right to maintain a telephone line on poles belonging to a railroad company was that of a licensee only, an instruction, in an action for destruction thereof, on the theory that plaintiff and the railroad company were joint owners of the line, was error. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Carver (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 55.

In action for wrongful death, an instruction held properly refused, as not warranted by the evidence. Fisher v. Texas Telephone Co., 34 C. A. 308, 79 S. W. 50.

Where there was no evidence that defendant directed H. to cut any timber from plaintiff's land, a request to charge that, if H. cut the timber in question "by direction of defendant on plaintiff's land," etc., held properly refused. Messer v. Walton, 42 C. A. 488, 92 S. W. 1037.

Where a city was sued for damages to property caused by a lowering of the grade of a street, held not error to refuse plaintiff's requested instruction concerning the manner in which the excavation was made. Jones v. City of Houston, 45 C. A. 1, 99 S. W. 750.

In the absence of proof that surface water obstructed by defendant's railroad embankment was brought down by artificial drains, the court did not err in refusing to charge that defendant was not bound to provide for the flow of water caused by artificial changes in the natural flow. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Stewart (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 582.

Where, in an action for deceit, it was conceded that the representations, if false, were materially so, a request to charge on the materiality of such statements was properly refused. Western Cottage Piano & Organ Co. v. Anderson, 45 C. A. 513, 101 S. W. 1061.

In an action for damages for a release of a judgment after a sale thereof, the refusal to charge with respect to the effect of certain evidence held not erroneous. W. L. Moody & Co. v. Rowland, 46 C. A. 412, 102 S. W. 911.

In a suit for damages for a release of a judgment after sale thereof by defendant to plaintiff, the refusal to submit the issue of limitation of two years as a bar to the suit held proper under the evidence. Id.

In an action for trespass against a piano company, a charge held warranted by the evidence. Jesse French Piano & Organ Co. v. Phelps, 47 C. A. 385, 105 S. W. 225.

Refusal of a charge that if the water was diverted by a ditch cut by another, defendant was not liable for flooding plaintiff's lands, held not erroneously refused, where the evidence failed to show that any injury resulted from the ditch. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hagler (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 783.

In defining libel the definition should be limited to the character of the libel shown by the evidence, and in libel for injury to the reputation it was error to include financial injury as one of the results of the publication, such injury not being alleged or proved. San Antonio Light Pub. Co. v. Lewy, 52 C. A. 22, 113 S. W. 574.

Defendant, not having pleaded the truth of the alleged libelous matter, cannot complain that the court did not instruct upon the truth of the publication as a defense. Id.

In an action on a liquor dealer's bond for selling to a minor, a charge on the dealer's good faith held not warranted by the evidence. Carlton v. Krueger, 54 C. A. 48, 115 S. W. 619.

In an action for flowage alleged to have been caused by the embankment of defendant's railroad, held, not error to refuse a charge that if the acts of plaintiffs caused the injury they could not recover, where there was no evidence of any such acts. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gilbert (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 434.

In an action for damages to plaintiff's land, through an overflow from the construction of defendant's road, an instruction held objectionable as not supported by the evidence. Gurley v. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 502.

In a suit for libel, it was error to give a charge based on plaintiff procuring the circulation thereof where there was no evidence connecting her therewith. Frizzell v. Woodman Pub. Co. (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 659.

Instruction as to liability of codefendants for act of constable ratified by defendant officer held not sustained by the evidence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Roberson (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 822.

In an action for the value of a fence, an instruction authorizing a recovery for the conversion of the fence by defendant held erroneous, as inapplicable to the evidence. Harrison v. McGehee (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 613.

In an action for libel, a request to charge that plaintiff was only required to establish that the articles were substantially true held properly refused as inapplicable to the evidence. Galveston Tribune v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 302.

Instruction, in an action for depreciation in market value of residence property, held in conformity to the evidence and properly given. Hunt v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1060.

Certain instructions in an action for damages to property by a nuisance held properly refused as not based on the evidence. Id.

Where a peace officer, while acting in his capacity as employé for defendant, who was running a show, arrested plaintiff, in a dispute over a seat, an instruction as to the official duties of a peace officer was properly refused as abstract. Rucker v. Barker (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 871.

In an action by a householder for damages by the negligent operation of locomotives in a railroad yard adjoining her property, a charge on the careful operation of trains held properly refused as having no support in the evidence and in view of a charge given. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Passons (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 239.

In an action against the proprietors of a store for a wrongful assault and arrest by the store detective, who was a peace officer, an instruction held inapplicable to the evidence. Perkins Bros. Co. v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 556.

In an action for criminal conversation, where there was no evidence that plaintiff and his wife had resumed their marital relations, an instruction that condonation was a defense was properly refused. Swearingen v. Bray (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 953.

389. —— Negligence in general.—An instruction as to proximate cause, where there was no evidence in regard thereto, held misleading. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Tonahill, 16 C. A. 625, 41 S. W. 875.

Where there could have been only one cause for the injury, it was error in the instructions to presuppose the possible existence of other causes attributable to defendant's fault. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Mitchell (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 945.

Instructions in action for the killing of stock at a private crossing construed, and held not applicable to the facts. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hunt (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 70; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Corn, 102 T. 194, 114 S. W. 103.

Instruction submitting question to jury upon which there is no evidence is error. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Tobin (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 540.

In an action against a telephone company for personal injuries, where there was no evidence that defendant had leased the telephone line causing the injury to a third person, held proper to refuse an instruction on the theory of such leasing. American Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Kersh, 27 C. A. 127, 66 S. W. 74.

In an action for killing a horse at a point where the road was unfenced, certain instructions as to defendant's duty, not based on evidence, held properly refused. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Seay (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 177.

In an action against a railroad company for killing a horse, a charge submitting an issue as to defendant's negligence in frightening the horse, etc., unsupported by the evidence, held error. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Kennedy, 33 C. A. 445, 76 S. W. 943.

Charge based on supposition that place where one was injured was not a regular crossing for foot passengers held properly refused, in view of the evidence. City of San Antonio v. Talerico (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 28.

In an action against a railroad for the killing of a mule, charge on presumptions as to the place where the mule entered the track held, under the evidence, properly refused. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Owens (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 846.

Where, in an action for killing stock, it was admitted that the railroad had fenced its track, an instruction defining the railroad's liability if it had not fenced was misleading. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Simpson, 41 C. A. 125, 91 S. W. 874.

In an action against a railroad for killing a cow, an instruction putting in issue question whether cow entered on track when train was so close that injury could not be avoided held properly refused. Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. v. Bell (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 1167.

An instruction as to the duty of a defendant railroad in equipping its engines with spark arresters held not error in view of defendant's testimony. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. J. C. Wooldridge & Son (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 845.

An instruction in an action for injuries at a railroad crossing held sustained by the evidence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Moore (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 658.

In an action for the killing of cattle which escaped onto defendant's track and were struck by a train, an instruction held properly submitted as to whether defendant's trainmen used ordinary care to avoid the injury. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Corn (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 485.

In an action against a railroad company for the destruction of property by fire, an instruction as to the liability of a railroad company for negligently allowing grass to accumulate on the land inclosed in its right of way held proper under the evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Neiser, 54 C. A. 460, 118 S. W. 166.

In an action against a railroad company for loss of property by fire, a charge as to the duty of using spark arresters, held not erroneous under the evidence. Progressive Lumber Co. v. Marshall & E. T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 491.

In an action against a railroad company for the destruction of property by fire set by sparks from an engine, the evidence held to raise an issue of the sufficiency of the equipment of the engine. Lam & Rogers v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 977.

Where the evidence showed that there was grass on the track where plaintiff's horse was killed, but no more than on other open land in the vicinity, and that when the train came the horse was startled and ran onto the track, a charge submitting defendant's negligence in permitting grass on its tracks was improper. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Stewart (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 598.

390. —— Personal injuries in general.—Where defendant's carriage collided with plaintiff's buggy on a city street, it was not error to refuse plaintiff's instruction on a hypothesis that defendant's horses were wild and ungovernable, where the evidence did not indicate that such was the case. McGee v. West (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 928.

Where plaintiff was injured by being precipitated into a stream adjacent to a street, an instruction authorizing a finding for defendant if the accident was occasioned by bystanders endeavoring to assist plaintiff held properly refused. City of San Antonio v. Porter, 24 C. A. 444, 59 S. W. 922.

Charge held not objectionable, under the evidence, in not confining jury's consideration to hole in sidewalk described in petition as the one in which plaintiff was injured. City of San Antonio v. Talerico (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 28.

Charge in action for injuries held not to authorize a recovery for injuries pleaded, but not proven. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hay, 39 C. A. 51, 86 S. W. 954.

In an action for injuries by an obstruction in a highway, refusal of the court to submit the question whether plaintiff was a trespasser on defendant's property at the time held not error. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Wood, 41 C. A. 226, 92 S. W. 259.

In an action for the death of one coming in contact with a live wire, held not error to refuse to submit to the jury the question of defendant's employés' negligence. Citizens' Telephone Co. v. Thomas, 45 C. A. 20, 99 S. W. 879.

In an action for injuries to a pedestrian stumbling over a guy wire, an instruction held not erroneous, as the evidence authorized the jury to find that an omission was incomplete construction. City of Ft. Worth v. Williams, 55 C. A. 289, 119 S. W. 137.

The refusal to give a charge submitting an issue not raised by the evidence, held proper. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Mitcham, 57 C. A. 134, 121 S. W. 871.

In an action for injuries to a child caught by machinery in the seedroom of an oilmill, an instruction held not erroneous as not based on the evidence. Blossom Oil & Cotton Co. v. Poteet (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 240.

A requested charge that plaintiff when injured was a volunteer held properly refused as inapplicable to the evidence. Producers' Oil Co. v. Barnes, 103 T. 515, 131 S. W. 531.

Charges, in an action against a telephone company for negligently leaving its apparatus on the street, held not applicable to the evidence, and properly refused. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Doolittle (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 415.

In an action for death by the discharge of a blowpipe connected with an ice plant, a request to charge that plaintiff could not recover if the pipe had been placed by an independent contractor, etc., held properly refused. Orient Consol. Pure Ice Co. v. Edmundson (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 124.

Evidence in an action for injuries received in a collision with an automobile held to justify an instruction that, if the automobile was not equipped with a bell or other appliance which could be heard a distance of 300 feet, as required by ordinance, defendant was guilty of negligence. Staten v. Monroe (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 222.

In an action for personal injuries an instruction, that if the jury found and believed from the evidence that plaintiff sustained any of the injuries alleged in the petition, to award such damages as they believed from the evidence would fairly compensate her for such injuries as they believed from the evidence she had sustained and were alleged in the petition was not objectionable as authorizing a recovery for injuries pleaded, but not proved, or as leading the jury to believe that damages should be awarded for such injuries. Galveston, H. & S. A. R. Co. v. West (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 343.

In an action for injuries received in a runaway, held, that a charge submitting the question whether it was caused by the form of defendant's vehicle was properly refused for lack of support in the evidence. United States Express Co. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 617.

391. —— Personal injuries in operation of railroads in general.—The refusal to give an instruction held not erroneous in view of the evidence. Chicago, R. I. & G. R. Co. v. Trippett, 50 C. A. 279, 111 S. W. 761; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Vaughan, 16 C. A. 403, 40 S. W. 1065; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Reynolds (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 279.

Where plaintiff alleged that the company was negligent in running a train at a higher rate of speed than was permitted by ordinance, but failed to prove any ordinance, it was error to charge on such issue. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Sullivan (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 568.

Where the evidence did not show failure to give signals for crossing to be the proximate cause for injury to stock, an abstract instruction, permitting recovery if the signals were not given, held error. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hunt (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 70.

Evidence held to warrant a charge submitting a railroad company's duty to ring the engine bell when approaching a crossing. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Magee (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 156.

There being evidence showing the accident was caused by the rate of speed of train, and none to show improper construction of car, an instruction to find for plaintiff if it was caused by faulty construction is properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lyons (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 96.

Special charges as to gates being left open are not applicable where plaintiff, in an action for killing stock, had no land adjacent to the railroad, and the gates were not kept up for him. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Barton (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 797.

Where the evidence showed that the injured party was entitled only to the rights of a trespasser, an instruction imposing on defendant the duty of exercising ordinary care to prevent injuring him held erroneous. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Mendoza (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 327.

Where there was some evidence of negligent construction of a railroad crossing, an instruction submitting poor construction, as well as improper maintenance, as an element of negligence, was proper. Taylor, B. & H. R. Co. v. Warner (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 442.

Where the only issue tried as to signaling is as to whether or not the whistle was blown, it is error to charge as to the particular point at which the whistle should be sounded. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Melugin (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 338.

A charge as to the liability of a railway company in frightening a team at a crossing held properly refused as not applicable to the facts. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Stonecypher, 25 C. A. 569, 63 S. W. 946.

Evidence in an action for injuries to a person engaged in unloading a freight car held insufficient to justify an instruction that if the conductor warned plaintiff, and such warning amounted to the exercise of ordinary care, plaintiff could not recover. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Brown, 30 C. A. 57, 69 S. W. 1010.

Evidence held to warrant an instruction as to the keeping of a flagman at a crossing. Central Texas & N. W. R. Co. v. Gibson, 35 C. A. 66, 79 S. W. 351.

Held proper to refuse a requested instruction, based on the premise that the employés of defendant did not know that plaintiff was going on the track. Id.

A requested instruction, assuming that deceased was attempting to cross defendant's street car track when killed, held properly refused. Taylor v. Houston Electric Co., 38 C. A. 432, 85 S. W. 1019.

The issue of anything other than negligence of the railroad employés being the proximate cause of injury to a child four years old at a railroad crossing held not raised by the evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Nesbit, 40 C. A. 209, 88 S. W. 891.

An instruction held not erroneous, as not based on the evidence. Northern Texas Traction Co. v. Thompson, 42 C. A. 613, 95 S. W. 708; Buchanan v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 48 C. A. 299, 107 S. W. 552.

An instruction submitting the failure to give the statutory signals held erroneous under the evidence. Paris & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Calvin (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 222.

Where there was no evidence that defendant's servants attempted to find if plaintiff was in the car before making the coupling, it was error to instruct as to the degree of care which should have been used to discover his presence; but since the court followed plaintiff's petition in submitting this issue, he cannot claim a reversal on that ground. Hardin v. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 995.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to a person on the track, a requested charge not to consider evidence as to the speed of the train before the time when plaintiff was alleged to have fallen on the track held properly refused, where the issue of speed was not submitted, especially as the evidence showed that the track at the place of accident was used by the public as a footpath. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams, 50 C. A. 134, 109 S. W. 1126.

An instruction that the operatives of a train had the right to presume that plaintiff, walking on the track over a trestle, would discover the train's approach and get out of the way, until they had reason to believe to the contrary, held properly refused in view of the circumstances and an instruction given. Texas Midland R. R. v. Byrd (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 199.

An instruction in an action against a railroad company for injury to a child on its track held error. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Brouilette, 53 C. A. 33, 117 S. W. 1014.

An instruction held not erroneous as submitting the issue of proximate cause not raised by the evidence. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Clay, 55 C. A. 526, 119 S. W. 730.

In an action for personal injuries sustained by being struck by a car in defendant's yards, which was struck by other cars being backed against it, after defendant had stepped in front of it, held error, under the evidence, to submit the issue of defendant's negligence in not having a man on the cars which were backed against the one striking plaintiff. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Briscoe, 102 T. 505, 119 S. W. 844.

In an action for injuries to a boy claimed to have been forced by a switchman from a moving freight car, held not error in a charge to fail to require, as a condition to plaintiff's recovery, a finding in his favor on an issue not raised by the evidence. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Buch (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 316.

In an action for injuries to traveler at a crossing, caused by his horse becoming frightened by a train, a charge held not objectionable as not supported by evidence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cambron (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1130.

A requested charge in an action for personal injuries by being struck by defendant's train in a street that the jury could not find for plaintiff because of the rate of speed at which the train was running held properly refused under the evidence. Mexican Cent. Ry. Co. v. Rodriguez (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 690.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff, who while walking on a path near a track was struck by a wire cable operated in connection with a sand train, it was proper to refuse a requested instruction on the principle of "safe and dangerous" way. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Schroeter (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 826.

In such case evidence held to warrant a charge on negligence. Id.

A requested charge that, if plaintiff was thrown from his wagon by turns in the road which were there when the crossing was put down, he could not recover, held properly refused for want of support in the evidence. Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Bradford (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1046.

In an action for injuries to a child while crossing railroad tracks, an instruction as to the duty of railroad employés held justified by the evidence. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Wininger (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 586.

392. —— Injuries to passengers.—Several witnesses testified that plaintiff's wife was injured through being compelled to jump from the car steps to the platform in the dark while the train was moving. It was not error for the court to submit to the jury the question whether defendant was negligent in failing to provide sufficient lights, though no witness testified that the accident would not have occurred if the platform had been properly lighted. Eddy v. Still, 22 S. W. 525, 3 C. A. 346.

Where there was evidence that deceased was a trespasser, it was proper to refuse to charge that, in absence of evidence to the contrary, the law presumed him a passenger. Southerland v. Texas & P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 193.

It was not error to refuse an instruction that defendant was bound to exercise the duty of a carrier until it had delivered a passenger to its connecting line, where the delivery had been made before the act complained of. Davis v. Houston & T. C. R. Co., 25 C. A. 8, 59 S. W. 844.

Where the proof showed that a railroad company's agent was not authorized to permit plaintiff to ride on a freight train, it was error to submit to the jury the question of the agent's authority to issue such a permit. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Peterson, 24 C. A. 548, 60 S. W. 275.

A charge in reference to a railway company's liability for allowing passengers to use obscene and indecent language held erroneous as not warranted by the facts. Duck v. St. Louis & S. W. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 891.

The evidence raising no issue as to a passenger's temperament, an instruction that, if the language of a conductor to her was not reasonably calculated to cause a person of ordinary temper to be so humiliated, she could not recover, was properly refused. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Tarkington, 27 C. A. 353, 66 S. W. 137.

In an action by a passenger against an electric street railway for injuries from a charged car, a requested instruction held properly refused as not within the evidence. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Broadhurst, 28 C. A. 630, 68 S. W. 315.

An instruction in an action against a railroad company for injuries caused by the improper starting of defendant's train held not erroneous under the evidence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Funderburk, 30 C. A. 22, 68 S. W. 1006.

An instruction that if the contract of carriage did not contemplate plaintiff's transportation, and he was on the train without the knowledge and consent of the railroad company, he could not recover, held properly refused under the facts. Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Carter (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 73.

In an action against a railroad company for death alleged to have been caused by the lurching of the train on which deceased was a passenger, instructions held not erroneous as submitting issues not raised by the evidence. Hicks v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 322.

In action for injuries to passenger alighting from train, a charge held properly refused as not based on any evidence. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Armes, 32 C. A. 32, 74 S. W. 77.

the evidence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Bratcher (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 531.

Charge, in action against a carrier for injuries by reason of negligence in providing an overcrowded, unlighted, and filthy coach, held properly refused as unsupported by

A charge on the speed of the car as in violation of a city ordinance should not have been given where the ordinance was not introduced in evidence. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Ison, 37 C. A. 219, 83 S. W. 408.

Under evidence in action against a railroad company, instruction that it was admitted by plaintiff that he was not injured or humiliated by reason of being cursed or abused held properly refused. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Bates (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 738.

An instruction in an action against a carrier for injuries to a shipper of a horse held not erroneous as being without evidence to support it. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Wilkins (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 202.

In an action for injuries because of failure to furnish a safe means of transfer from one train to another, a refusal to give a charge held proper under the evidence. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Harrington, 44 C. A. 386, 98 S. W. 653.

In an action for death in a collision between cars, the refusal to give a charge held not erroneous in view of the charge given and the evidence. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Lytle, 48 C. A. 107, 106 S. W. 900.

In an action for mistreatment of a passenger by a conductor, an instruction on an issue not raised by the evidence held prejudicial error. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Bradshaw (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 618.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to a passenger, alleged to have subsequently died of causes other than the injuries, an instruction, if deceased's death was caused by the concurring effects on her strength and system of such injuries and of consumption or bowel trouble, to find for defendant, was properly refused; the evidence not showing that the injuries were a concurring cause of death. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Maxwell (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 160.

In an action for injuries to a person awaiting transportation from being struck by a bundle of papers thrown from defendant's car, testimony that plaintiff, when he was struck, was standing on the place provided for passengers to get off and on the cars, about four or five feet from the railroad track, did not raise an issue as to plaintiff's contributory negligence, and it was not error to refuse a charge submitting such issue. Northern Texas Traction Co. v. Brigance (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 919.

The submission, as a distinct ground of damages, of the matter of a passenger being ejected in a "harsh and unreasonable" manner, is unwarranted; the evidence being that she refused to leave the car, and was led from her seat to the door, and failing to show that the manner in which this was done was unusual or harsh. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Richardson (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1139.

In an action for injuries to a passenger while attempting to board a train as it was moving out of station, an instruction held erroneous. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Emmett (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 44.

Words of train employés held to sustain an instruction that defendant railway company's employés invited or directed plaintiff to alight from a train. Illinois Cent. Ry. Co. v. Morris (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1163.

Where the testimony of defendant's auditor, who was the only eyewitness, was to the effect that he was standing within three feet of plaintiff, and there was no sudden movement of the train, an instruction that if plaintiff received her injuries by tripping on her skirts or by stumbling over the doorsill leading into the coach, and not by the negligent jerk of the train, the jury should find for defendant, should have been given. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Juricek (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 327.

In an action by a passenger for injuries received in a baggage room from falling baggage, the court properly refused to instruct the jury to find for defendant if its employés were exercising ordinary care, where the evidence showed them to have owed plaintiff more than ordinary care. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Cameron (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 709.

Where a passenger was led to disembark from her train at the wrong station, an instruction which precluded recovery if the name of the station was announced, though she did not understand it, held properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dickson (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 933.

Evidence in a passenger's action for injuries to his foot from being caught between the buffers held to warrant an instruction predicated upon defendant's negligence in failing to provide a proper metal covering for the buffers. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. McCune (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 237.

393. —— Injuries to servants.—In a suit for personal injuries, where it appears that the carelessness of an incompetent conductor caused the accident, a charge on the negligence of fellow servants held properly refused. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Cook, 16 C. A. 386, 41 S. W. 665.

A charge to find for defendant if a death was caused by the negligence of the fireman held properly refused where the joint negligence of fireman and engineer might have caused the death. Terrell v. Russell, 16 C. A. 573, 42 S. W. 129.

In an action for a brakeman's death, charges stating the rules where an employé seeks to recover for defective machinery held inapplicable. Louisiana Western Extension Ry. Co. v. Carstens, 19 C. A. 190, 47 S. W. 36.

In an action for injury caused by defendant's lumber falling on his employé, a charge authorizing a recovery, though the falling of the lumber was not due to defendant's negligence, was properly refused. Mayton v. Sonnefield (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 608.

In an action for injuries caused by the backward movement of an engine at a coal chute, held, that an instruction as to the company's duty to keep its roadbed in a reasonably safe condition was applicable. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Felts (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 1031.

A railroad company held charged with knowledge that an employé is at his post of duty so as to authorize instruction given. Johnson v. International & G. N. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 620.

A charge in an action for injury by negligence of a servant, on general incompetency, held erroneous, there being no evidence of the employer's knowledge of the servant's incompetency. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Gibson (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 779.

An instruction held warranted by the evidence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Jackson, 93 T. 262, 54 S. W. 1023; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hawk, 30 C. A. 142, 69 S. W. 1037; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Pendleton, 30 C. A. 431, 70 S. W. 996; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Huyett, 49 C. A. 395, 108 S. W. 502; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rothenberg (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1157; Planters' Gin Co. v. Washington, 132 S. W. 880; City of Greenville v. Branch, 152 S. W. 478.

It is not error to refuse to instruct that the jury should find for the defendant, if it found that a foreman was not negligent in starting a train, when there was evidence to show that plaintiff, defendant's servant, was fatally injured by the foreman's negligence in backing the train after the first injury. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. White, 23 C. A. 280, 56 S. W. 204.

A requested charge held without foundation in the evidence. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 1064; Merchants' & Planters' Oil Co. v. Burns, 72 S. W. 626; Harwell v. Southern Furniture Co., 75 S. W. 52; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Kelley, 33 C. A. 442, 76 S. W. 942; International & G. N. R. Co. v. McVey (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 991; El Paso & S. R. Co. v. Darr, 93 S. W. 166; Louisiana & Texas Lumber Co. v. Meyers, 94 S. W. 140; El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. Murtle, 49 C. A. 273, 108 S. W. 998; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Patrick, 50 C. A. 491, 109 S. W. 1097; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bailey, 53 C. A. 295, 115 S. W. 601; Producers' Oil Co. v. Barnes (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1023; Farmers' Cotton Oil Co. v. Barnes, 134 S. W. 369; Phillips v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas, 136 S. W. 542; Brown Cracker & Candy Co. v. Johnson, 154 S. W. 684.

An instruction that if the foreman directed plaintiff to repair a belt, and it failed to furnish sufficient light, plaintiff could recover, held erroneous, under the issues in evidence. Hilje v. Hettich, 95 T. 321, 67 S. W. 90.

A charge leaving to the jury the question of competency of the car inspector held not error under the evidence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Jones, 29 C. A. 214, 68 S. W. 190.

An instruction in an action against a railroad company for injuries to an employé caused by defective appliances, referring to defendant's liability if it had actual knowledge of the defects, held justified by evidence of constructive notice. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Baker (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 556.

In an action by a locomotive engineer for injuries from runing into an open switch, held proper to refuse an instruction relative to a custom of allowing the switch open under the circumstances. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Mayfield, 29 C. A. 477, 68 S. W. 807.

In an action for injuries by a servant against a corporation, an instruction held not justified by the evidence which permitted the corporation to escape liability on the ground that the work was being done for the partnership of which the defendant corporation was the successor. Reser v. American Cotton Co. (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 782.

Held, under the evidence, proper to refuse an instruction that, if the injury was caused by a certain hand car striking plaintiff, the verdict should be for defendant. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Lee, 32 C. A. 23, 74 S. W. 345.

In an action for injuries to a brakeman by the breaking of a brakestaff, an instruction on defendant's failure to inspect held properly refused. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Collins, 33 C. A. 58, 75 S. W. 814.

In an action for injuries to a brakeman by reason of a defective car ladder, evidence held insufficient to authorize instructions that, if he was injured while attempting to go to the engine for a purpose not within his duty, he could not recover. El Paso Northeastern R. Co. v. Ryan, 36 C. A. 190, 81 S. W. 563.

Where, in an action for injuries, there was evidence that plaintiff's injuries solely resulted from disease, it was not error for the court to refuse to charge the law in case the disease rendered plaintiff more susceptible to injury. Haywood v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 38 C. A. 101, 85 S. W. 433.

An instruction submitting the question whether defendant was negligent in requiring plaintiff to unload certain timbers was properly refused where it appeared that the injury resulted from the method of unloading. Bryan v. International & G. N. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 693.

Held, under the evidence, proper to charge that the jury might find that failure to place persons on each end of the train was actionable negligence. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Smith (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 926.

Held that the court properly refused to instruct that there was no presumption of negligence from the mere fact of the accident. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Fitzpatrick (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 355.

In an action for death of a section foreman, evidence held insufficient to justify an instruction on the theory of unavoidable accident. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Turner, 99 T. 547, 91 S. W. 562.

A charge limiting the employer's liability held erroneous under the evidence. Kirby Lumber Co. v. Chambers, 41 C. A. 632, 95 S. W. 607.

Evidence held to sustain instruction as to relation of vice principal or fellow servant. Reeves v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 44 C. A. 352, 98 S. W. 929.

An instruction on the doctrine of fellow servants held properly refused as inapplicable to the proof. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Sowers (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 190.

Evidence held sufficient to require an instruction on the issue whether deceased was in the discharge of his duty when injured. Yellow Pine Oil Co. v. Noble, 101 T. 125, 105 S. W. 318.

Evidence held insufficient to warrant an instruction presenting the defense of incompetency from intoxication. Cleveland v. Taylor, 49 C. A. 496, 108 S. W. 1037.

Where there was no evidence that a fusible plug in a locomotive boiler was made of unsuitable material, it was error to submit such question to the jury as a ground for recovery for injuries to a fireman. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Garven, 50 C. A. 245, 109 S. W. 426.

In an action by a railroad employé 18 years of age for injuries sustained by catching his hand between a barrel and a moving car, an instruction regarding the railroad's duties to the employé held proper. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Johnson, 50 C. A. 147, 109 S. W. 486.

In an action for injuries to a brakeman by the breaking of a clevis on the brake chain, an instruction held not erroneous in failing to limit the jury's consideration to the clevis introduced in evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Blachley, 50 C. A. 141, 109 S. W. 995.

In an action for injuries to an employé, caused by the breaking of a rubber hose he was using, an instruction authorizing a verdict for defendant on it being found that the hose was a simple appliance held properly refused. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Patrick, 50 C. A. 491, 109 S. W. 1097.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff's intestate while in defendant's employment as a switchman, where he was engaged in the performance of his duties while injured, an instruction that there can be no recovery unless the injuries were sustained by the servant in the line of his duty was properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Pennewell, 50 C. A. 541, 110 S. W. 758.

In an action by a servant for injuries sustained by the negligence of defendant's engineer in moving cars without signal or warning, charges upon defendant's liability for the condition of the car, or upon plaintiff's assumption of risk from defects therein, were properly refused. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Powell, 51 C. A. 409, 112 S. W. 697.

In an action for injuries to a minor servant while operating alleged dangerous machinery, an instruction held not warranted by the evidence. Gulf Cooperage Co. v. Abernathy, 54 C. A. 137, 116 S. W. 869.

Testimony that "nothing except rough usage in handling the lever could have broken the connection" is insufficient to require an instruction on the effect of want of care in handling the equipment in question. Lyon v. Bedgood, 54 C. A. 19, 117 S. W. 897.

Evidence held to raise the question of negligence of a railway company in carrying a car with a defective brakebeam, so as to support an instruction thereon. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Elgin, 56 C. A. 573, 121 S. W. 577.

A requested charge to reject testimony as to the defective condition of machinery was properly refused, where there was no evidence of any defects in the machinery. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Sanchez, 57 C. A. 87, 122 S. W. 44.

An instruction, in an action for malpractice of a contract physician, held properly refused as in effect denying recovery irrespective of the evidence. Texas & Pacific Coal Co. v. McWain, 57 C. A. 512, 124 S. W. 202.

In an action for the death of an employé on a logging train, caused by the derailment of the train, the refusal to give a charge relating to the running of the train at an excessive rate of speed held not erroneous. Rice & Lyon v. Lewis (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 961.

An instruction basing negligence on failure to ring an engine bell held without evidence to support it. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 928.

An instruction held erroneous as submitting an issue not raised by the evidence. Texas Co. v. Strange (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 370.

In a stated case, a charge as to the rule of fellow servant's negligence held inapplicable to the evidence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Kennedy (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1009.

In an action for the death of a switchman while attempting to adjust a coupler on a car, the refusal of a requested instruction held proper under the evidence. Paris & G. N. R. Co. v. Boston (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 944.

Evidence in an action for personal injuries by the derailment of plaintiff's engine held to authorize the submission of a tower operator's negligence in throwing the derailing switch. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Scott (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 710.

A charge in an employé's injury action held not erroneous in the use of the word "employed." Davis, Pruner & Howell v. Woods (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 950.

Evidence held insufficient to raise issue as to whether plaintiff's injuries were received while engaged in work different from that to which he attributed them. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Evans (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 966.

Giving defendant's requested charge to find for it, unless it was found plaintiff's injury was caused by negligence in not furnishing a safe ladder, when there was no evidence the ladder was not safe, was error, as requiring a verdict for defendant. Maibaum v. Bee Candy Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 313.

In an electric light lineman's action for injuries caused by a shock from a wire supposed to be dead, evidence held to justify the submission of the issue whether the defendant was negligent in permitting the wire to be charged with electricity. City of Greenville v. Branch (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 478.

Instructions should not have submitted grounds of negligence which could not under the evidence have proximately caused the injuries. Kirby Lumber Co. v. Cunningham (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 288.

In a telephone lineman's action against an electric light company, an instruction that if he had been warned not to come in contact with electric light wires, and was negligent in so doing, he could not recover, held properly refused, where there was no evidence of warning. Snyder Ice, Light & Power Co. v. Bowron (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 550.

394. —— Assumption of risk.—In an action by a locomotive engineer for injuries sustained by the derailment of a train, caused by a "low joint" in the track, an instruction that plaintiff assumed the risk if he knew, or could have known by the exercise of ordinary care, that low joints were common in railroads generally, is properly refused in the absence of evidence that low joints causing the derailment of trains are common. Railway Co. v. Thompson, 21 S. W. 138, 2 C. A. 170.

In action for injuries sustained by breaking of turntable lever, held error, on the evidence, to instruct that, if plaintiff knew or had the means of knowing whether it was sufficient or not, he assumed the risk. Pippin v. Sherman, S. & S. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 961.

A charge on the assumption of risk and contributory negligence, in an action for injuries to a servant, held proper, where the testimony did not clearly show the danger to be obvious. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Renz, 24 C. A. 335, 59 S. W. 280.

In an action by an employé for personal injuries due to an unsuitable tool, an instruction that plaintiff assumed all risks commonly incident to the work held erroneous. Smith v. Gulf, W. T. & P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 83.

In a personal injury action against a railroad, under the evidence, a charge that the injured engineer assumed the risk of injury, although he did not know of the particular defect in the track, held properly refused. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Moore, 28 C. A. 603, 68 S. W. 59.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff's son, an instruction that if, at the time of his injuries, he was performing work outside the scope of his employment, he assumed the risk, held error. Wood v. Texas Cotton Product Co. (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 496.

In an action for injuries to a passenger caused by a defective station platform, requested charge on assumption of risk held properly refused. Houston E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. McCarty, 40 C. A. 364, 89 S. W. 805.

Refusal to give a charge on the assumption of risk held not error in view of the evidence. Commerce Milling & Grain Co. v. Gowan (Civ. App.) 104 S. W. 916.

395. —— Contributory negligence.—In action by a husband for injuries to his wife, held, that it was error to charge that plaintiff must show himself free from contributory negligence, where he was not present at the time of the accident. Garmany v. City of Gainesville (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 730.

An instruction that a switchman should have used ordinary care to observe the defects in a track which caused the injury sued for held not pertinent. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Bonatz (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 767.

Where the issue of contributory negligence is not raised by the evidence, a request to charge on that subject is properly refused. City of Honey Grove v. Lamaster (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 1053; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Lindsey, 51 C. A. 67, 110 S. W. 995; Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. McCall, 143 S. W. 188; Marshall & E. T. Ry. Co. v. Blackburn, 155 S. W. 625.

A request to find for defendant if the accident would not have happened but for plaintiff's taking a wagon where he should not, held properly refused where there is no evidence to show that the wagon was improperly there, or that plaintiff was a trespasser. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lyons (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 96.

Evidence that deceased stepped on a railway about 100 yards in advance of an approaching train will not warrant an instruction that deceased stepped on the track "immediately" in front of the train. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cardena, 22 C. A. 300, 54 S. W. 312.

Where a brakeman fell from a car while placing himself in a position to get off, an instruction to find for the company, if the brakeman negligently got off the car while in motion, is not warranted by the evidence. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Hawes (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 325.

Where there was no evidence to show that plaintiff's injury, occurring on a defective bridge was caused by his team being unruly, it was not error to refuse an instruction relating to plaintiff's contributory negligence in driving an unruly team. City of Marshall v. McAllister, 22 C. A. 214, 54 S. W. 1068.

The submission of the question to the jury as to the capacity of the deceased, a boy of 12 years, to realize the danger of being on a railway track, held improper under the evidence. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Shiflet, 94 T. 131, 58 S. W. 945.

Evidence held to justify an instruction on fast driving in an action for injuries caused by a defect in streets. Luke v. City of El Paso (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 363.

In an action for failure to promptly deliver a telegram, a charge as to contributory negligence held warranted by the evidence. Hargrave v. Western Union Tel. Co. (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 687.

Evidence held to show that an instruction submitting whether "any command was given to plaintiff to jump from the train, which was imperative and left no time for calculation and deliberation," was not without support in the evidence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Sanchez (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 893.

An instruction, in an action by a servant for injuries, that he would not be debarred from recovery for the violation of a certain rule, if he acted as a reasonably prudent person would have done, held not erroneous under the evidence. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Mortensen, 27 C. A. 106, 66 S. W. 99.

An instruction that a failure to act on the information given by a letter constituted negligence, so as to preclude recovery for a delayed telegram, held, under the evidence, erroneous. Phillips v. Western Union Tel. Co. (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 997.

In an action for injuries to a passenger by being thrown from an express car, an instruction as to the persons in custody of the car, and imputing their negligence to plaintiff, held properly refused under the facts. Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Carter (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 73.

Where a railroad company did not claim negligence in plaintiff's failure to stop before going over a crossing, an instruction predicated on the duty "to stop, look, and listen" was properly refused. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Ives, 31 C. A. 272, 71 S. W. 772.

In an action against a carrier a requested instruction on contributory negligence held properly refused. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wright (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 270.

Evidence held insufficient to raise the issue of plaintiff's contributory negligence in failing to remove a "goose neck" link and adjust automatic couplers at some other place in the yard than that at which he uncoupled the cars at the time he was injured. Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. v. Toliver, 37 C. A. 437, 84 S. W. 375.

In action against railroad for injury to horses, caused by passing over a cattle guard, charge on contributory negligence held erroneous for lack of evidence to justify it. Saine v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 487.

Instruction denying right of recovery if deceased was in a safe place but for the fact that he stepped on loose dirt, causing his foot to slip, held erroneous under the evidence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Turner (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 1074.

In an action for injuries to an employé, an instruction relating to contributory negligence held properly refused, in view of the evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Barnes, 42 C. A. 626, 95 S. W. 714.

An instruction, in an action to recover for personal injuries, that if plaintiff's testimony raises a presumption of his negligence the burden is on him to relieve himself of such presumption, is properly refused where there is nothing in the plaintiff's testimony to justify it. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Tucker (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 909.

In an action for injuries caused by a runaway horse, evidence held to justify instruction that, if driver was negligent in leaving horse with strap and weight attached, defendant was liable. Swift & Co. v. Murphy, 45 C. A. 497, 100 S. W. 997.

In an action for injuries to a passenger caused by a train running into an open switch, a charge on contributory negligence held not sustained by the evidence. Runnells v. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co., 49 C. A. 150, 107 S. W. 647.

An instruction as to contributory negligence in rounding a curve held proper in view of the testimony as to the rules of the company and the nature of the curve in question. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Worth (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 958.

An instruction as to contributory negligence of one suing for damages from delay in sending a telegram held under the evidence, to have been properly refused as unsupported by the evidence. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Landry (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 461.

In an action against a carrier for carrying a passenger beyond her station, a charge on contributory negligence based on a particular act held properly refused in the absence of evidence raising the issue. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Morgan, 49 C. A. 212, 108 S. W. 724.

In a personal injury action by a switchman against the railroad company, the evidence showing no violation of the company's rules by plaintiff, a charge as to the effect of the violation of such rules, and of a waiver of the rules by the company, was error. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Powell, 51 C. A. 409, 112 S. W. 697.

In an action against a railroad company for the destruction of property by fire set by an engine, the refusal to charge on the issue of contributory negligence held proper under the evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Neiser, 54 C. A. 460, 118 S. W. 166.

In an action for injuries at a crossing caused by plaintiff's horses being frightened by the sudden blast of a whistle, an instruction as to contributory negligence held inapplicable under the evidence. Garber v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 857.

Where, in an action by the husband and wife for injuries to the wife while attempting to alight from the train, the evidence showed that the husband preceded the wife, carrying in his arms a child, that the train began to move after he had descended, and before the wife got on the lower step, the issue of his contributory negligence in failing to assist her in alighting was not raised so as to call for an instruction thereon. Texas & G. Ry. Co. v. Hall (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 71.

In an action for damages for failure to connect plaintiff with long distance telephone, the refusal of an instruction on the issue of contributory negligence held proper as ignoring evidence. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Pearson (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 733.

A request to charge as to the alleged unfair use of a hammer, by the chipping of which plaintiff was injured, held properly refused, being unsustained by any evidence. Freeman v. Starr (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1150.

Where a message, announcing the expected death of plaintiff's child, sent to plaintiff and not delivered, was directed to him at C., Tex., a requested charge assuming that the sender placed no address on the message was properly refused. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Reynolds (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 121.

Question of contributory negligence or assumed risk held applicable only to the fact that the brakeman attempted to board a car with its stirrup out of repair, so that an instruction not hypothesizing such knowledge was properly refused. Pecos & N. T. R. Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 1148.

A requested charge, in a railroad fireman's action for personal injuries, that if there was a safe and unsafe way to do the work, and he chose the latter, the jury should find for defendant, held properly refused under the evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hampton (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 89.

In an action for the destruction of a cotton compress by fire, evidence held to support an instruction submitting contributory negligence. Nacogdoches Compress Co. v. Texas & N. O. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 302.

Instruction that brakeman might assume absence of obstructions near track, held error, where there was evidence that he knew of such obstructions. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Barnhart (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1049.

In an action for injuries from a defective street, plaintiff having testified that there was no light there, and there being no evidence that a light alleged to have been set out by another was burning, an instruction on contributory negligence in not seeing the light held not warranted. City of Texarkana v. Williams (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 333.

A requested instruction embodying the theory that it was under the circumstances the duty of a brakeman in going up an incline to give a slow-up signal, and, on reaching the top of it, to give a stop signal, is properly refused, in the absence of any evidence that such method of signaling was the proper or only one to be used. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. De Bord (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 667.

An instruction that a pedestrian struck by an automobile could not recover if she stepped into the street without looking or listening was properly refused as inapplicable, where the evidence showed that she was struck after she had left the curb. Vesper v. Lavender (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 377.

In an action for injuries to a child received in a railroad yard, instructions on ordinary care and contributory negligence, as affected by the age and intelligence of the person injured held warranted by the evidence. Ft. Worth & D. C. R. Co. v. Wininger (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 586.

There must be some proof that rules were promulgated for the safety of an inexperienced minor employé, or a specific order given as to the manner in which his work should be carried on, before it is error to refuse to submit an instruction based on contributory negligence for violating such known rules or specific order. Armour & Co. v. Morgan (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 861.

Where the court did not instruct on the burden of proof of contributory negligence and plaintiff's evidence did not raise the issue, the court's refusal to charge that in passing on the question the jury should look to all the evidence was not error. Solan & Billings v. Pasche (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 672.

The court should have instructed upon the concrete facts claimed to constitute contributory negligence by an employé if the evidence raised the issue, and not merely generally on the question of contributory negligence. Kirby Lumber Co. v. Cunningham (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 288.

396. —— Discovered peril.—In an action against a railroad for personal injuries evidence held not sufficient to justify an instruction on the question of discovered danger. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Shetter (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 179; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. King, 123 S. W. 151.

In an action for death, an instruction that, though deceased was guilty of contributory negligence, defendant would be liable if its servants discovered his peril and failed to use ordinary care to avoid the injury, where there was no evidence that defendant's servants had knowledge of his perilous position, is inapplicable. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Haltom, 95 T. 112, 65 S. W. 625.

Evidence in an action against a street railway company for injuries to one driving across a track held sufficient to require the giving of a charge of discovered peril. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Conn. (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 1019.

Evidence held sufficient to require a charge on discovered peril. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Saunders (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 457; Same v. Reynolds, 115 S. W. 340.

Evidence in an action for the death of a section foreman struck by a train while attempting to remove a hand car from the track held to warrant a charge on discovered peril. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Burnet, 49 C. A. 244, 108 S. W. 404.

An instruction submitting the issues of discovered peril and negligence of defendant's servant, in an action for injuries to a car repairer by the moving of the car under which he was at work, held error where not supported by the evidence. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Ketchey (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1188.

The evidence showing that plaintiff's intestate was not discovered until after he was injured, held, that the court properly refused to submit the issue of discovered peril. White v. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 692.

397. —— Contracts and actions relating thereto in general.—Genuineness of the signature to a transfer of a land certificate being the issue, the plaintiff offered evidence that the assignor was unable to read or write. Held, that it was not error to submit to the jury the question as to whether or not such transfer was made "by authority" of such assignor. Burnett v. Friedenhaus, 21 S. W. 544, 2 C. A. 596.

Evidence held not to justify a charge that, if plaintiff rented land to defendant on the terms claimed by him, he could recover. Majors v. Goodrich (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 919.

There being no evidence from which the jury could infer that plaintiff had knowledge of his attorney's unauthorized acts, it was error to charge that plaintiff's delay in disaffirming such acts after knowledge would bar relief. Fayssoux v. Kendall County (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 583.

Instruction held erroneous because of absence of evidence to support it. Felker v. Douglass (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 323; Stanford v. Wright & Green, 41 C. A. 346, 92 S. W. 269; Pilot Point Waterworks v. Fisher, 43 C. A. 28, 93 S. W. 529; Walker v. Tomlinson, 44 C. A. 446, 98 S. W. 906; J. T. Stark Grain Co. v. Harry Bros. Co., 57 C. A. 529, 122 S. W. 947.

Where plaintiff agreed to procure a certificate of exportation for boxes which he sold to defendant, and failed to do so, it is not error for the court to refuse to charge on the ground of immateriality, that plaintiff was a gratuitous agent of defendant, or as to the liability of such agents. Pierpont Mfg. Co. v. Goodman Produce Co. (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 347.

Where a purchaser of property was informed of the existence of certain unpaid taxes against it, an instruction that if the purchaser, with full knowledge that there were unpaid taxes, nevertheless intended to accept the deed, he was bound by the contract, held not objectionable as inconsistent with the facts. Fant v. Wright (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 514.

Where an oil-mining lease was to expire on a certain day unless a well was begun, and the day before the expiration the lessee hauled a load of lumber on the premises, and made defendant an offer for extension of the lease, which was not positively declined it was not error to refuse to instruct that defendant was not estopped from asserting termination of the lease such issue of estoppel not being raised by the evidence. Forney v. Ward, 25 C. A. 443, 62 S. W. 108.

Where an instrument in issue is in the form of a bill of sale, and there is no evidence to show that it is a mortgage, the court should instruct that it is a bill of sale. Mundine v. Pauls, 28 C. A. 46, 66 S. W. 254.

Instruction as to effect of payment by owner to contractor of a greater percentage of contract price than called for by the contract, in an action involving a building contract, held to raise an issue outside the evidence. Essex v. Murray, 29 C. A. 368, 68 S. W. 736.

Under evidence tending to show that a cotton crop was to be raised on shares, and that the landlord was to receive one-fourth thereof as rent, an instruction that such landlord was only entitled to a landlord's lien on the cotton to secure payment of the rent held properly refused. Sparks v. Ponder, 42 C. A. 431, 94 S. W. 428.

In action to foreclose mortgage, instruction that, if parties agreed that amount to be advanced by plaintiffs for the development of a mine should not exceed $60,000, the plaintiff was entitled to recover, held not erroneous in view of the evidence. Carrera v. Dibrell, 42 C. A. 99, 95 S. W. 628.

Where there was no evidence of a contract of guaranty by defendants of their contract with an irrigation company to furnish water defendants had agreed to furnish plaintiffs, the court properly refused to charge that, if the evidence showed such guaranty contract, plaintiffs could not recover. Stockton v. Brown (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 423.

In an action to recover money paid on a draft, an instruction held erroneous as not in conformity to the case. First State Bank v. McGaughey, 48 C. A. 635, 108 S. W. 475.

In an action for specific performance certain instructions held erroneous as inapplicable to the facts. Lipscomb v. Amend (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 483.

In an action to rescind a contract, a certain instruction held improper, as not applicable to the issues. Dewitt v. Bowers (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1147.

Instruction in an action by insurance agents for damages for refusal to accept and pay for a $10,000 policy, upon an application for a $12,000 policy, accepted by the company for $10,000, held erroneous for requiring a ratification of the issuance of a $10,000 policy, in addition to an original agreement to accept it, to authorize recovery. Galles & Bowie v. Alarcon (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 634.

An instruction that, if plaintiff indicated an intention to cease operating with defendant in the purchase of cotton, a new agreement would be necessary to continue the partnership, held properly denied, where the evidence showed that the partnership was formed for two seasons and did not indicate any dissolution by mutual consent. Dupuy v. Dawson (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 698.

Where the jury found that a water company contracting to furnish water for irrigation failed to supply water, the refusal to charge that the lien on crops for water furnished was superior to any other lien was not prejudicial, because it was abstract. Texas Irr. Co. v. Moore, Bryan & Perry (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 166.

In an action for part of the crop by a cropper who left the premises before harvest, where his theory, if believed, showed threats sufficient to inspire reasonable fear of personal injury, an instruction that the jury "could" conclude that such threats and acts were made to deprive the cropper of the premises was proper. Schuette v. Bishop (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 377.

Refusal of peremptory instruction for defendant as to shipment containing silver novelties marked "hardware" and described as "one cs hdw" held not error, where there was no evidence of want of notice or that defendant would have refused the shipment or would have placed it in a different part of the ship if its contents had been known. Mallory S. S. Co. v. G. A. Bahn Diamond & Optical Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 282.

Where, in an action on an account more than two years old, there was no evidence of an agreement fixing the time when the account should become due, it was error to submit to the jury the question of the existence of any such agreement. Young v. Sorenson & Hooper (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 676.

398. —— Contracts of carriage.—An instruction that a written contract for shipment of live stock, entered into without plaintiff having time to read its contents before the departure of his train, was void, held erroneous under the evidence. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Wright, 24 C. A. 291, 58 S. W. 846.

Where the consignor was impleaded, an instruction making the consignor liable, if the goods were damaged before they reached the carrier, held not error. Cudahy Packing Co. v. Dorsey, 33 C. A. 565, 78 S. W. 20.

A charge that a certain defendant was liable for any damages resulting by reason of the cattle being fed at a certain place held erroneous under the evidence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Scoggin & Brown, 40 C. A. 526, 90 S. W. 521.

An instruction, stating that the jury could consider the other freight being handled over defendant's road in determining whether cattle were transported in a reasonable time, was misleading where there was no evidence as to the amount of freight being shipped. Dupree & McCutchan v. Texas & P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 647.

In an action against a carrier of live stock, an instruction held improper under the evidence. Dupree & McCutchan v. Texas & P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 647; Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Harrington, 51 C. A. 429, 112 S. W. 100; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Roberts (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 890; Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Rogers, 141 S. W. 1011.

In an action to recover for damage caused by defendant's delay in transporting plaintiff's cattle to market, where there was no evidence showing that the cattle were injured by the negligence of plaintiff or his agents, a requested charge submitting such an issue was properly refused. St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Rogers, 49 C. A. 304, 108 S. W. 1027.

Where the contract of transportation required that notice of loss or damage be given defendant before the cattle were unloaded, and recited that the freight rate was less than the usual rate, if no reduction was in fact made, the provisions were not binding on the company. St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Boshear (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 1032.

In an action against a carrier for the careless handling of and delay in transporting cattle, it was erroneous to submit to the jury the question as to whether the cattle were carelessly handled en route, there being no evidence of such handling, but merely some evidence tending to show an unreasonable and unnecessary delay. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Noelke (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 82.

Instruction held properly refused in an action against carriers for discharging a passenger before her station was reached. Pullman Co. v. Hoyle, 52 C. A. 534, 115 S. W. 315.

An instruction relating to the damages suffered by cattle while on another railroad held properly refused under the evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Pettit, 54 C. A. 358, 117 S. W. 894.

Error was assigned as to the refusal of a portion of a charge that plaintiff had no right to demand that the train be run back to the station to enable her to get her ticket which she left without any fault of defendant. Held that, conceding that the assignment included a refused request by her, shown in evidence, to stop the train to enable her to go back and get her ticket, there was no material error in refusing such portion of the charge, there being no evidence showing she had the right to demand that the train be stopped for such purpose, nor that such contention was made at the trial. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Hood, 57 C. A. 497, 122 S. W. 569.

Where there was evidence that the carrier's line extended to St. Louis, and that the destination of the shipment was East St. Louis, and the shipper accompanying the shipment testified to delays between the point of starting and St. Louis, and that by reason thereof the stock depreciated in market value, a charge that it was the duty of the carrier to transport the stock to St. Louis and to the stockyards in East St. Louis was not erroneous on the ground that the evidence failed to show that the line extended to the stockyards. Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Ramsey (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 1184.

Where the court charged that the damages must be assessed against each carrier in proportion to the amount which contributed to such damages, and that no damage should be assessed against any carrier except such as was approximately caused by the negligence of the particular carrier, a charge referring to the petition for acts of negligence relied on was not prejudicial as submitting to the jury every act of negligence, though many of them were not supported by evidence as against particular carriers. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Shults (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 845.

In an action against a buyer for fruit sold, in which defendant cross-complained against plaintiff and the carriers, a requested charge that, if a messenger who was the shipper's or consignee's agent accompanied the car, the burden was on the consignee to show that any damage did not result from his negligence, held properly refused under the evidence. Kemendo v. Fruit Dispatch Co. (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 73.

In an action by a shipper of cattle and his assignee against the carriers for damages on account of delay in transportation, where the evidence tended to show that there was a necessity for only one stop to feed and water the cattle, and that a second stop was the proximate cause of the delay, an instruction that would have permitted the jury to exclude all reasonable time consumed for such purpose, including both stops, was properly refused. Galveston, H. & S. A. R. Co. v. Johnson & Johnson (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 725.

In an action for injuries to a passenger by being compelled to ride in a cold passenger coach, an instruction authorizing a jury to award damages for embarrassment held erroneous. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Maughon (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 611.

Evidence in an action for injuries to live stock held not to authorize an instruction forbidding recovery under circumstances stated. Quanah, A. & P. Ry. Co. v. Galloway (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 368.

In an action against a railway company for breach of contract to carry a dead body, an instruction on plaintiff's duty to provide an attendant held properly refused under the evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Linton (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 129.

In an action for ejection of a passenger, a request to charge that plaintiff could not recover in case he was ejected because of a failure to pay fare to the next station held properly refused, as inapplicable to the evidence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Green (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 341.

In an action for injury to fruit shipped by rail, an instruction as to a failure to furnish a proper car held not supported by evidence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Woldert Grocery Co. (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1194.

In an action against a railroad company for damages to a shipment of fruit, instructions on delay were improper, where not presented by the evidence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Rackusin (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 734.

An instruction that plaintiff could not recover additional injury by failure to unload for feed and water at W. held properly refused, as not based on the evidence. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Dinwiddie (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 280.

An instruction that if defendant negligently failed to furnish a proper engine to move cattle from a specified station, proximately causing the death of cattle, verdict should be for plaintiff, etc., held warranted by evidence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brock (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 488.

An instruction that where live stock has been transported by successive carriers and was injured en route there is a presumption of law that the injuries occurred on the line of the last carrier is properly refused where there is evidence that the injuries were caused by the negligence of an intermediate carrier. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Beckham (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 228.

Where there was some evidence tending to show that the damage was partly caused by acid coming in contact with the goods while in transit, the court properly instructed on this phase of the case. Mallory S. S. Co. v. G. A. Bahn Diamond & Optical Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 282.

In an action against an express company for damages to a shipment, it was error to charge that the law required the express company to transport to destination within a reasonable time, where the undisputed evidence showed that the shipment was transported within the best possible time. Wells Fargo & Co. Express v. Gentry (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 363.

Where bills of lading covering a fraudulent shipment of cotton were admissible against both defendants bank and compress company, an instruction, that the jury should not consider as against the compress company any evidence indicating a liability on the part of the bank, was properly refused. Wichita Falls Compress Co. v. W. L. Moody & Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1032.

Instructions that, if cattle were unloaded to comply with the law forbidding the keeping of stock in cars longer than 28 hours without unloading, not to consider the time necessary for that purpose, held properly refused because not justified by the evidence. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Scott (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 294.

An instruction that if the hay loaded at A. was not the hay delivered to plaintiff, the jury should find for defendant shipper held unauthorized by the evidence. Amarillo Commercial Co. v. McGregor Milling & Grain Co. (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1124.

An instruction, shifting the burden of explaining delay and injury to cattle during shipment to a connecting carrier, is properly refused, where the evidence does not show delivery to or delay by the connecting carrier. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Tomlinson (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 278.

A requested charge that no damages could be recovered if the cattle went out on the first freight train after receipt is properly denied, where there was no evidence that the cattle were so shipped. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dunn (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 434.

399. —— Contracts for telegraphic or telephonic service.—Held not error to have allowed the jury to determine the question of defendant's office hours, where no regular office hours were shown to have been fixed. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Bryson, 25 C. A. 74, 61 S. W. 548.

When the evidence was conflicting as to agreement relieving it from liability, an instruction relieving defendant, if the jury found that its version of the agreement was true, held error. Seffel v. Western Union Tel. Co. (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 897.

An instruction that if the message had been promptly delivered plaintiff could have been with his child "several hours before he lost consciousness" held erroneous as unsustained by the evidence. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. De Andrea, 45 C. A. 395, 100 S. W. 977.

An instruction held properly refused under the evidence. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Johnsey, 49 C. A. 487, 109 S. W. 251; Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Douglass (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 488; Postal Telegraph Cable Co. of Texas v. Talerico, 136 S. W. 575.

An instruction held erroneous for submitting an issue not warranted by the evidence. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Weeks (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 674.

The court properly refused to charge that, if the addressee of a message did not live within defendant's free delivery limits and the message could not have been delivered to her therein, the jury should find for defendant, where there was no evidence that she did not live within such limits. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Conder (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 447.

Evidence held not to warrant instructions submitting the issue of agency of the person to whom message was delivered for transmission. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Horn (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 557.

Where the evidence made it an issue as to whether the mistake in the sendee's name caused a delay in delivery, it was error to refuse to charge that if there was delay in delivery, and the mistake in the spelling of the name contributed thereto, they should find for defendant. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Parham (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 819.

Where there was no evidence of a demand to pay extra charges for delivery, it was not error to refuse to instruct that the rules respecting free delivery of telegraphic messages would be abrogated by the mere fact that some messages were delivered outside of the prescribed limits. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1169.

400. —— Contracts of sale and actions relating thereto.—Certain instructions in action to enforce specific performance held justified by the evidence. Cook v. Roberson (Civ App.) 46 S. W. 866.

In an action to rescind a sale, an instruction held erroneous and misleading as applied to the facts, though it was correct as an abstract proposition of law. Butler v. Edwards (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 1045.

It was not error to refuse an instruction as to bona fide purchaser, when there was undisputed evidence that the purchase in question was not bona fide. Mansfield v. Neese, 21 C. A. 584, 54 S. W. 370.

There being some evidence tending to show a conditional sale, it is error to refuse an instruction covering that point in an action to recover property sued for. Kruger v. Buttelman (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 930.

An instruction that, if defendant notified an authorized agent of plaintiff that he was satisfied with a machine purchased of plaintiff before the latter revoked the offer to sell, the verdict should be for defendant, held erroneous as not warranted by the evidence. Dorsey Printing Co. v. Gainesville Cotton-Seed Oil-Mill & Gin Co., 25 C. A. 456, 61 S. W. 556.

In an action by the vendee of a horse for breach of a warranty of soundness, a charge that if it was injured by ill care, etc., to find for defendant, held error. McAfee v. Meadows, 32 C. A. 105, 75 S. W. 813.

In an action for the price of goods sold, a charge submitting an issue whether the seller was negligent in failing to send a bill of lading to the buyer held error. L. Greif & Bro. v. Seligman (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 533.

Submitting an issue by an instruction which was not raised by the evidence held error. Woldert Grocery Co. v. Veltman (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 224.

Where a purchaser of claims at an administrator's sale did not know of the existence of a claim against a trust fund, on the accounting by the trustee of the fund, the court did not err in refusing to submit his intention to buy such claim to the jury. Routledge v. Elmendorf, 54 C. A. 174, 116 S. W. 156.

In view of the evidence in a suit for breach of contract in supplying a buyer with ties not what the contract called for, held, that an issue whether rejected ties were resold at an unreasonable or unjust price to a customer of the buyer should not have been submitted. Empire Timber & Lumber Co. v. Mooney (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 907.

Instruction in a suit to specifically perform a contract to convey on the vendors' duty to furnish an abstract held warranted by evidence. Collier v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 389.

Where the buyer refused to accept certain goods solely because of their damaged condition on arrival, an instruction authorizing a recovery for loss of the sale because of the goods having been misrouted was erroneous. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Coulter (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 16.

Where the evidence, in an action for breach of warranty, was conflicting as to whether plaintiff's employés put up the machinery sold as defendant's representative had directed them, a requested instruction that if plaintiff had failed to comply with such directions defendant would not be liable was improperly refused. Murray Co. v. Putman (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 245.

401. —— Actions on insurance policies.—Instruction, in action on policy, as to effect of inaccuracies in books of account kept by insured, held proper under the evidence. Ætna Ins. Co. v. Fitze, 34 C. A. 214, 78 S. W. 370.

Evidence held to warrant an instruction based on the theory that an assignment of the policy was made through mistake. Pennsylvania Fire Ins. Co. v. Waggener, 44 C. A. 144, 97 S. W. 541.

There being evidence that insured at the time of the delivery of a policy was suffering in the earlier stages of Bright's disease, evidence that insured at that time appeared to be in good health held insufficient to raise an issue as to whether he was in fact suffering from that disease at that time. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v. Betz, 44 C. A. 557, 99 S. W. 1140.

Evidence, in an action on a life certificate, conditioned to be void if assured die in consequence of the violation or attempted violation of the law, held to authorize an instruction on defense by insured of his person against what "appeared" to him to be an unlawful assault. Woodmen of the World v. McCoslin (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 894.

In an action to recover the balance of the proceeds of certain policies, a charge given held objectionable as submitting an imaginary issue. Ash v. A. B. Frank Co. (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 42.

In an action on a $350 fire policy, stipulating that insurer should not be liable for more than three-fourths of the value of the property, an instruction that the measure of damages was the value of the property not exceeding $350 was erroneous as allowing a recovery of $350, though in excess of three-fourths of the value. State Mut. Fire Ins. Co. v. Cathey (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 935.

Defendant's request for an instructed verdict on the ground that the evidence did not show the delivery of the policy, the premium, or the rate of premium held properly refused, as being inapplicable to the evidence. State Mut. Fire Ins. Co. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 950.

402. —— Bills and notes.—Failure to submit question whether a note was given under an agreement not to prosecute the maker for crime held not error. Clapp v. Royer, 28 C. A. 29, 67 S. W. 345.

In an action on an order drawn by a contractor in favor of a materialman on the owner of a building, and accepted by him on a certain condition, in which the contractor is brought in as a party by the defendant, instructions as to damages against the contractor for delay in completing the work were properly refused; the evidence showing that the condition of acceptance was fulfilled. Foley v. Houston Co-Op. & Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 160.

403. —— Actions for personal services and commissions.—In an action for a portion of a reward for the capture of robbers, an instruction without evidence on which to base it held error. Gaines v. Hindman (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 583.

In an action for broker's commissions for effecting an exchange of property, a requested charge held properly refused as too broad. Jameson v. Hutchison (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 1096.

In an action for work performed under a contract, a contract between defendant and another who had abandoned it held to have no place in the issues to be submitted. Suderman-Dolson Co. v. Hope (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 216.

An instruction in an action to recover for architect's plans held not supported by the evidence. Hall v. Parry, 55 C. A. 40, 118 S. W. 561.

In an action for breach of a contract for plaintiff's services, a charge upon certain issue held properly omitted for lack of evidence to raise it. Young v. Watson (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 840.

An instruction in an action for a reward for procuring the conviction of criminals that plaintiffs were acting together in rendering the services, and that their recovery would be joint, was not erroneous as being inconsistent with the claim that they were working with a third person. Tobin v. McComb (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 237.

Where more than one of the parties claimed to be the sole moving cause of an arrest and conviction, and there was some evidence to support their claims, it was error in an action for a reward offered therefor to charge that none of the parties under the evidence was alone entitled to recover the whole reward. Id.

404. —— Fraud, mistake, duress, and undue influence.—In an action to cancel a trade of merchandise for land for misrepresenting title to the land, evidence held to support a charge upon the theory that plaintiff, when he accepted the deed from defendant, knew of the condition of the title. Bailey v. Mickle (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 949.

Instructions in an action to cancel deed held not warranted by the evidence. Wells v. Houston, 23 C. A. 629, 57 S. W. 584.

An instruction as to the effect of the insertion of a stipulation in a contract for the purchase of land through a mutual mistake or fraud held not erroneous on the ground that the evidence did not warrant the submission of the issue. Fant v. Wright (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 514.

In an action to foreclose a lien, it is not error to refuse a special charge on fraud, requested by defendants, and to also refuse to submit a special issue thereon, where the evidence did not sustain the defendant's allegations thereof. Harrington v. Claflin, 28 C. A. 100, 66 S. W. 898.

In an action for personal injuries in which defendant pleaded a release, certain evidence by the plaintiff held not to render it erroneous to submit the validity of the release to the jury. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 43 C. A. 237, 95 S. W. 720.

An instruction that if defendant's agents fraudulently concealed the contents of a release from plaintiff, plaintiff was not bound thereby, etc., held not sustained by the evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Craig, 44 C. A. 583, 98 S. W. 907.

In an action on a note defended on the ground of duress in its execution, plaintiff held not entitled to have an issue as to defendant's liability independent of the note submitted to the jury. Thompson v. Hicks (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 357.

In an action for rescission of a contract for the sale of land, an instruction as to false representations relating to the capacity of a well held sustained by the evidence. Black v. Brooks (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 177.

Where, in an action by a former partner of a firm, which sold its business to defendant corporation, to recover part of the corporate shares or their reasonable value, in which defendant claimed that plaintiff had received the whole consideration agreed to be paid him for his interest, there was no evidence to support a finding that the instrument of transfer was altered after its execution, an instruction that if the transfer, signed by the former partners, was actually executed in the form as introduced in evidence, and expressed the actual consideration agreed on, the jury should find for defendant, but if they found that the instrument had been altered without defendant's consent, so as to change the number of shares plaintiff was to receive in the firm business, or if the jury found that it did not express the consideration agreed on, then they should disregard the transfer, was calculated to mislead the jury to believe that the issue of alteration was material, and that the jury could not find for defendant, unless they found that the instrument had been altered. Thos. Goggan & Bro. v. Goggan (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 968.

In an action for fraud inducing plaintiff to trade his land for a stock of merchandise, an instruction, authorizing a verdict for plaintiff if defendant represented that the stock was a first-class stock, held erroneous; there being no testimony or contention that the stock was to be first class. Biard & Scales v. Tyler Building & Loan Ass'n (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 1168.

In an action to cancel a deed procured by false representations in an itemized statement of the net earnings of the business for which the land was exchanged, failure to instruct that plaintiff could not recover if the representations were matters of opinion and not of fact was not error. Morrison v. Cotton (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 866.

405. —— Will contests.—Where there was some evidence that a lost will had been destroyed by testator, but none that its destruction had been induced by any one, it was error to instruct as to the effect of its destruction under undue influence. McIntosh v. Moore, 22 C. A. 22, 53 S. W. 611.

On a will contest, charge on undue influence held erroneous. Moore v. Boothe, 39 C. A. 339, 87 S. W. 882.

406. —— Release.—In an action for injuries, where a release was pleaded in defense, a charge predicated on fraud in obtaining the execution of the release held erroneous under the evidence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Demsey, 40 C. A. 398, 89 S. W. 786.

407. —— Extent of injury and amount of recovery.—In a suit by counsel for fees against a railway company, no testimony being submitted as to the wealth of the parties nor the issue raised otherwise, it was proper to refuse an instruction asked by the defendant that no greater fee would be reasonable against a wealthy man or corporation than a poor man for the same services, etc. Railway Co. v. Clark, 81 T. 48, 16 S. W. 631.

Instruction as to aggravation of previous disease held proper, though plaintiff testified that he had no such disease. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brown, 16 C. A. 93, 40 S. W. 608.

Where there was no evidence as to the value of the property in issue, an instruction that the jury should do the best they could with it was erroneous. Harris v. Higden (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 412.

Instruction permitting recovery for necessary and reasonable expenses for medicine and doctor's bills, held error, where there was no evidence of reasonableness. Wheeler v. Tyler S. E. Ry. Co., 91 T. 356, 43 S. W. 876; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bellew, 22 C. A. 264, 54 S. W. 1079; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 166; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Sampson, 64 S. W. 692; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Patterson, 27 C. A. 249, 65 S. W. 202; Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Greer, 29 C. A. 561, 69 S. W. 421; Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. v. Harrison (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 1036.

An instruction to allow plaintiff compensation for medical expenses is erroneous where there was no evidence that such expenses had been incurred. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Kimbell (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 1049.

An instruction to find a reasonable attorney's fee held error, where there is no evidence as to what would be such fee. Frost v. Foote (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 1071.

An instruction authorizing damages for physical suffering where there was no evidence thereof held error. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Thompson, 18 C. A. 609, 45 S. W. 429.

It is error to submit to the jury an amount, claimed as damages, greater than is shown by the undisputed evidence to be in controversy. Brin v. McGregor (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 923.

Evidence held such that an injury to the eyes was properly submitted as an element of damage in an action for personal injuries. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hannig, 20 C. A. 649, 49 S. W. 116.

An instruction held erroneous as authorizing the finding of damages for a permanent personal injury without evidence as to their amount. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Richards, 20 C. A. 203, 49 S. W. 687.

Evidence that a delay in the delivery of a telegraph message precluded a husband from being present at his wife's funeral held sufficient to justify a submission of the issue to the jury. Jones v. Roach, 94 T. 649, 54 S. W. 240.

In an action for personal injury, it is error to submit to jury the question of damages for time lost, in the absence of evidence as to the value of the time. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Branch (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 542.

In an action for injuries sustained by plaintiff's wife, an instruction as to what the jury might consider in ascertaining the damages held not erroneous on the ground that it was not supported by evidence. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Anthony, 24 C. A. 9, 57 S. W. 897.

In an action for failure to deliver a telegraph message promptly, held not error to have refused an instruction to find for defendant if by a reasonable expenditure of money plaintiff could have prevented the injury, where the delay occasioned involved more than the expenditure of money. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Bryson, 25 C. A. 74, 61 S. W. 548.

In action for failure to deliver telegram, instruction allowing damages for doctor's bills held error, where no bills were alleged or proved. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Norton (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 1081.

In action for injuries against railroad, evidence held not to justify charge that plaintiff might recover reasonable expenses for medicines. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Reasor, 28 C. A. 302, 68 S. W. 332.

Where the pleadings are sufficient to authorize proof of temporary injury to land, but there is no evidence of such injury, an instruction excluding damages for such injury is not erroneous. Umscheid v. City of San Antonio (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 496.

An instruction authorizing the recovery of damages for the future treatment of an injured eye held not authorized by the evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Flood (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 331.

In an action against a railroad for burning plaintiff's grass, held proper to refuse to instruct the jury to consider the rental value of the land after the fire. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Jones, 30 C. A. 316, 70 S. W. 349.

In the absence of evidence as to the probability of plaintiff's promotion, an instruction, in an action for injuries, that the jury should not consider such subject, was properly refused. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Pendleton, 30 C. A. 431, 70 S. W. 996.

In an action against a street railway company, evidence examined, and held to justify an instruction permitting the jury to include injuries to plaintiff's carriage in the recovery granted. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Upson, 31 C. A. 50, 71 S. W. 565.

Submission to the jury of the question as to amount paid out by plaintiff for medical attention held error, where there was no evidence as to it. Central Texas & N. W. Ry. Co. v. Smith (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 537.

Charge on measure of damages, in action to recover damages for wrongfully depriving plaintiff of works of art, held erroneous. Ladd v. Ney, 36 C. A. 201, 81 S. W. 1007.

In an action against a railroad company for killing certain ponies, an instruction held erroneous as authorizing a verdict for the value of each of the ponies, though only one was killed. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Anson (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 785.

An instruction that, if plaintiff fell off defendant's station platform and was injured "in whole or in part" as alleged, she was entitled to recover, held not error, though some of the injuries pleaded were not proved. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cannady, 36 C. A. 646, 82 S. W. 1069.

In an action for injuries, a charge to allow plaintiff for such expenses as he was compelled to incur for medical attention held abstractly correct, but under the evidence erroneous. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Ison, 37 C. A. 219, 83 S. W. 408.

In an action for injuries sustained by a conductor's assault, evidence held to authorize an instruction as to future loss or suffering of plaintiff. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Batchler, 37 C. A. 116, 83 S. W. 902.

In an action for injuries, an instruction that plaintiff might recover for medicines held error, in absence of any evidence. Northern Texas Traction Co. v. Jamison, 38 C. A. 55, 85 S. W. 305.

In an action by a lessee to recover for wrongful ejection from leased premises, a charge as to measure of damages without basis in the evidence held error. Campbell v. Howerton (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 370.

Evidence in an action for personal injuries held to justify an instruction to assess damages for physical and mental pain suffered by plaintiff. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dixon (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 626.

The loss of time and impaired capacity to labor from injury held properly submitted, though the only evidence of the value of plaintiff's services was that he was a farm laborer working for a share of the crop raised by him. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Edwards (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 640.

In action against a railroad for injuries to plaintiff's mule in a crossing accident held error to instruct on the measure of damages in case of permanent injury to the mule. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Elledge (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 499.

In an action against railroad, instruction authorizing jury to take into account the injury to plaintiff's feelings by reason of any insult or indignity inflicted on him by the company's conductor, held not erroneous under the evidence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Bates (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 738.

Evidence in an action to recover for personal injuries held not sufficient basis for an instruction as to the measure of damages resulting from loss of ability to labor. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Acker, 44 C. A. 560, 99 S. W. 121.

A requested instruction that the jury should not consider certain items of damage claimed in the petition held properly refused. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Bell, 48 C. A. 151, 106 S. W. 1147.

An appellant cannot complain that the court failed to submit a certain issue, where its statement does not show that the evidence raised the issue, and appellee insists that it did not. Weatherford Machine & Foundry Co. v. Tate, 49 C. A. 392, 109 S. W. 406.

In an action by a railroad employé 18 years of age for injuries sustained by catching his hand between a barrel and a moving car, a charge authorizing a recovery for future pain and suffering held erroneous. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Johnson, 50 C. A. 147, 109 S. W. 486.

In an action for wrongfully cutting and removing timber from land, evidence as to plaintiffs' joint title to, or possession of, one of the tracts held to justify submitting as an issue their right to recover for timber cut thereon by defendant during the two years immediately preceding the commencing of suit. Beauchamp v. Williams (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 130.

In an action for fire escaping from defendant's land, the court held to have properly submitted the issue of no damage to plaintiff from the fire in the view of the evidence. Pfeiffer v. Aue, 53 C. A. 98, 115 S. W. 300.

Evidence held to justify the submission of the question of permanent injury of a servant. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Reynolds (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 340; Same v. Bush, 56 C. A. 69, 120 S. W. 224; St. Louis Southwestern R. Co. of Texas v. Marshall (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 512.

A charge, in an action against a carrier on the measure of damages for delay in transportation of household goods, held improper because not supported by evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dement (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 635.

An instruction permitting recovery for diminished earning capacity from a servant's majority to his death, because of injuries, held not erroneous because there was no direct evidence how long plaintiff would probably live. Missouri Valley Bridge & Iron Co. v. Ballard, 53 C. A. 110, 116 S. W. 93.

In an action for damages to grazing lands, a charge held not contrary to the evidence. Tippett v. Corder (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 186.

In an action against a railroad for loss of property by fire, the refusal to give a charge relating to damages on account of fires held erroneous under the evidence. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Sanders (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 272.

In a passenger's action for personal injuries, evidence held to authorize an instruction permitting recovery for future pain and diminished future earning capacity. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Farris (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 497.

In a proceeding to condemn land for a railroad right of way, an instruction on the subject of special benefits held proper in view of the evidence. Crystal City & U. R. Co. v. Boothe (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 700.

Evidence held sufficient to warrant an instruction on loss of prospective profits by the lessee of a creamery plant in his suit for damages caused by his eviction. Dickinson Creamery Co. v. Lyle (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 904.

An instruction permitting consideration of decedent's health, energy, etc., held erroneous in the absence of supporting evidence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Guliett (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 262.

In an action for injuries to a passenger, an instruction on the aggravation of plaintiff's previous condition held applicable. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Coker (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 179.

Where, in an action against the initial carrier of an intrastate shipment of live stock, under a special contract limiting its liability to its own line, the petition demanded damages for injuries caused by the jolting and jerking of the cars by the rough handling of defendant's employés, and the testimony as to the damages by the operation of the cars by the initial carrier did not identify the extent of the damages from that cause, it was error to submit to the jury the issue of such damages. San Antonio & A. P. R. Co. v. Chittim (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 747.

In an action against carriers for damage to live stock by failing to furnish cars, there was evidence that some of the live stock had been brought to the station at an unseasonable time, and defendants requested a charge that plaintiffs should not be allowed for expenses in keeping the live stock at the station until they should have been shipped out. Held, that this charge was too broad as applying to all of the cattle in controversy, and was properly refused. Eastern Ry. Co. of New Mexico v. Littlefield (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1086.

In a personal injury action, evidence held to warrant an instruction as to the measure of damages. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Williams (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 527.

Instruction, in an action for personal injuries to an infant passenger as to the measure of damages, held conformable to the evidence. Galveston Electric Co. v. Dickey (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1093.

In an action for the value of a fence, an instruction authorizing the jury, under certain circumstances, to find for plaintiff for the amount he paid for the fence, not exceeding $800 and interest, held erroneous, as inapplicable to the evidence. Harrison v. McGehee (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 613.

Instructions conditionally authorizing apportionment of damages between two carriers or a joint recovery against both held reversible error as to the connecting carrier, where there was no partnership or contract for through shipment. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. A. B. Patterson & Co. (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 698.

In an action for commissions based on a wrongful cancellation of the contract of employment, certain issues held immaterial. Longworth v. Stevens (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 257.

In action for damages to shipment by carrier, refusal of instruction to exclude damages from decline in market was error where there was no evidence of decline. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Moore (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 302.

In an action for the loss of a foot a charge on loss of earning capacity held proper where the child injured was sound, healthy, and well developed, though there was no specific evidence thereon. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Wininger (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 586.

Evidence of benefits derived from the construction of a railroad across plaintiff's land held sufficient to justify an instruction to consider the same conformably with Arts. 6518–6520, in assessing damages. Isenberg v. Gulf, T. & W. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 233.

In an action for causing water to overflow plaintiff's land, in which the impaired value of the soil was alleged as one of the items of damages, where there was no evidence as to the value of the land immediately before and after the injury, such item should not have been submitted to the jury. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Norman (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 1184.

In an action for damages to a shipment of cattle, where the evidence as to a market decline during the delay was conflicting, held that a refusal of defendant's requested charge that the evidence showing no decline, plaintiff could not recover was not erroneous. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Bishop (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 305.

In a materialman's action against an owner for lumber furnished a contractor, an instruction that plaintiff could not recover more than the value of the lumber which he was induced to furnish by a change in the plans of the house held properly refused, where there was no evidence of the amount of such lumber. Marks v. Jones (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 618.

Instruction, in action for injuries, held not objectionable as authorizing a recovery for injuries pleaded, but not proved, or as leading the jury to believe that damages should be awarded therefor. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. West (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 343.

Instruction to award damages for such injuries as the evidence showed had been sustained and as were alleged in the petition held not objectionable, because it allowed the jury to determine issues as to which there was evidence, instead of submitting only those supported by evidence. Id.

In an action on an accident policy, the refusal of the court to submit the issue whether insured used ordinary diligence in caring for his leg, after he was advised that it had been broken, held proper; it appearing that he followed the advice of his physician. International Travelers' Ass'n v. Bosworth (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 346.

Where, in an action for the loss of certain hay, there was no proof that plaintiff received anything for the hay on disposing of it, an instruction that the measure of damages was the difference between the amount paid by plaintiff for the hay and the reasonable market value which plaintiff "received on disposing of it," was unauthorized. Amarillo Commercial Co. v. McGregor Milling & Grain Co. (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1124.

408. Instructions excluding or ignoring issues, defenses, or evidence.—A requested instruction ignoring issues raised by the evidence is properly refused. Driggs v. Grantham (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 408; Jackson v. Martin, 41 S. W. 837; Pope v. Riggs, 43 S. W. 306; Kosminsky v. Hamburger, 21 C. A. 341, 51 S. W. 53; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Jackson, 93 T. 262, 54 S. W. 1023; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Warner, 22 C. A. 167, 54 S. W. 1064; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Fitzpatrick (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 355; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Barnes, 42 C. A. 626, 95 S. W. 714; St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Boshear, 102 T. 76, 113 S. W. 6; Missouri Valley Bridge & Iron Co. v. Ballard, 53 C. A. 110, 116 S. W. 93; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Pettit, 54 C. A. 358, 117 S. W. 894; Same v. Williams (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 1043; Same v. James, 55 C. A. 588, 120 S. W. 269; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Bagby (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 254; Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Rabon, Id. 580; Cleburne Electric & Gas Co. v. McCoy, 128 S. W. 457; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Schubert, 130 S. W. 708; Ramsey & Montgomery v. Empire Timber & Lumber Co., 134 S. W. 294; Keahey v. Bryant, Id. 409; Cleburne Electric & Gas Co. v. McCoy, 149 S. W. 534; Anderson v. Crow, 151 S. W. 1080; Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Doke, 152 S. W. 1174.

An instruction excluding from the jury one of the issues raised by the pleading and supported by evidence is reversible error. Eppstein v. Thomas, 16 C. A. 619, 44 S. W. 893; Carson v. Houssels (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 290; Hermann v. McIver, 51 C. A. 270, 111 S. W. 766; Green v. Kegans, 54 C. A. 237, 118 S. W. 173; Carpenter v. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co., 55 C. A. 627, 119 S. W. 335; Wilkinson v. Fralin (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 548.

In an action by landlord against purchaser of crops burdened with landlord's lien, an instruction held erroneous as withdrawing an issue from the jury. Planters' Compress Co. v. Howard, 35 C. A. 300, 80 S. W. 119.

In an action against a railroad company, instruction held not objectionable as affirmatively excluding a defense. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Roberts (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 375.

A clause in a charge stating that the question in controversy is in fact one of boundary held not subject to the objection of ignoring other questions. Atascosa County v. Alderman (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 846.

It is not error to refuse a special charge which ignored a theory upon which there was some evidence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Anglin, 45 C. A. 41, 99 S. W. 897.

A charge ignoring a fact established by some evidence is properly refused. Orient Ins. Co. v. Wingfield, 49 C. A. 202, 108 S. W. 788.

An instruction ignoring issues pleaded and sustained by evidence sufficient to raise a jury question is properly refused. Reagan Round Bale Co. v. Dickson Car Wheel Co., 55 C. A. 509, 121 S. W. 526.

In the absence of circumstances impeaching uncontradicted evidence, the court may not arbitrarily disregard it and peremptorily charge the jury to find against it. Hawkins v. Western Nat. Bank of Hereford (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1191.

The ignoring of a credit, to which defendant was entitled under the undisputed evidence, in the court's general and special charge held improper. Wilkinson v. Fralin (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 548.

409. —— Abandonment of Issue.—Where, by stipulation, the defense that plaintiff was negligent in not caring for cattle in transit was eliminated, the court erred in charging that, if such failure was negligence, and the cattle were injured thereby, plaintiff could not recover. Herndon v. Texas & P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 285.

410. —— Nature of action or issue in general.—An instruction authorizing recovery of all the land is properly refused, where there can be no recovery, in any event, of a part of it. Terrell v. McCown, 91 T. 231, 43 S. W. 2.

Where evidence shows a third party had interest in the property converted, a submission as though plaintiff owned the whole property held error. Herring v. Patten, 18 C. A. 147, 44 S. W. 50.

An instruction to find for plaintiffs, if they had shown prima facie that they had held adverse possession, etc., held erroneous, as ignoring any evidence to rebut the prima facie case. Preston v. Hilburn (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 698.

Where evidence affirmatively shows that grantee in deed had no notice of adverse title, there is no error in refusal to specially instruct that grantee had burden of showing want of notice. Root v. Baldwin (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 586.

Where defendant relied on fraud, mistake, or failure of consideration, refusal to instruct that, if she executed the deed, verdict must be given for plaintiff, held proper. Salazar v. Ybarra (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 303.

Refusal to charge on an issue raised by a special plea supported by evidence held error. P. J. Willis & Bro. v. Sims' Heirs (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 325.

Instruction in action to cancel a deed held erroneous, as ignoring a defense pleaded and sustained by evidence. Wells v. Houston, 23 C. A. 629, 57 S. W. 584.

In action to cancel mortgage, it is error to instruct that the mortgagee is not a mortgagee for value if he took to secure a pre-existing debt, where the undisputed evidence shows that he did not take for a pre-existing debt. Id.

Where pleading and evidence both raise question of fraud, held error for the court to ignore that question in its charge, though its attention was called thereto. Banner Distilling Co. v. Dieter (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 798.

In a suit to enjoin maintenance of a sewer terminal on a creek flowing through plaintiff's land, instructions ignoring the pollution of the stream held properly refused. Donovan v. Royall, 26 C. A. 248, 63 S. W. 1054.

In suit to establish a boundary line, where location of corner of survey was material, an instruction ignoring such fact held erroneous. Stacy v. Greenwade, 26 C. A. 277, 63 S. W. 1059.

Evidence, in trespass to try title, of an equitable title with which the defendants failed to connect themselves, held properly ignored in instructions. Burleson v. Alvis, 28 C. A. 51, 66 S. W. 235.

Where a mortgagor designated certain land not mortgaged as his homestead, an instruction in an action to foreclose the mortgage, entirely ignoring such designation, should have been denied. Gleed v. Pickett, 29 C. A. 101, 68 S. W. 192.

An instruction, in an action for reformation of a deed for mutual mistake, held erroneous, in ignoring the issue of defendant's having been under obligation to convey any property. Metcalfe v. Lowenstein, 35 C. A. 619, 81 S. W. 362.

In trespass to try title, where it appeared that plaintiff claimed that title of one defendant was derived by conveyance from a mortgagee, charge held not objectionable as authorizing a recovery by plaintiffs if the jury should find in their favor on any one of several issues, without a finding in their favor on the main issue. Gray v. Moore, 37 C. A. 407, 84 S. W. 293.

In an action on an award of arbitrators, an instruction held erroneous for disregarding the evidence showing defendant's withdrawal from the verbal agreement to submit to arbitration. Houston Saengerbund v. Dunn, 41 C. A. 376, 92 S. W. 429.

In a suit to vacate a judgment rendered against plaintiff and to cancel deeds and vendor's lien notes forming the basis of the judgment, the refusal to submit an issue held erroneous in view of the evidence. Cage & Crow v. Owens (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 1191.

In a personal injury case, a charge held properly refused as ignoring the issue of waiver of written notice of claim for damages. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Hendricks, 49 C. A. 314, 108 S. W. 745.

An instruction held properly refused as ignoring plaintiff's right to recover for defendant's failure to collect certain notes. Steger & Sons Piano Mfg. Co. v. MacMaster, 51 C. A. 527, 113 S. W. 337.

A charge in a suit involving the area dedicated by a town to a county held to have been properly refused because it did not mention one of the buildings located on the square in question. City of Victoria v. Victoria County (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 67.

A charge held objectionable as intimating a separate dedication of sites by a town to a county for county buildings, and excluding the theory of a common original dedication for all the buildings. Id.

An instruction, in an action by a wife for her separate property and for a half of the community property, held not misleading. Watkins v. Watkins (Civ. App.) 119 S. W. 145.

In trespass to try title, a requested charge held to ignore facts raising an estoppel against defendants, and misleading. Vann v. Denson, 56 C. A. 220, 120 S. W. 1020.

In trespass to try title, an instruction held erroneous as authorizing a verdict for defendant upon a finding as to only one of the disputed boundaries; another boundary being in issue. Miles v. Eckert (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1137.

A request to charge in a suit to set aside a fraudulent conveyance held properly refused as ignoring one of the theories of complainant's case. Stone v. Stitt, 56 C. A. 465, 121 S. W. 187.

An instruction held erroneous as destroying the issue of abandonment of homestead. Rockwell Bros. & Co. v. Hudgens, 57 C. A. 504, 123 S. W. 185.

In an action between adjoining lot owners to recover a strip claimed as a part of plaintiff's lot, a charge held properly refused as ignoring an issue. Beavers v. Baker (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 450.

In an action by a parent to recover the custody of her minor child, where a material issue was whether under all the facts and circumstances in evidence it would be to the best interest of the child that her custody be awarded to plaintiff or defendant, a requested instruction, which ignored this issue, was properly refused. Cobb v. Works (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 349.

In an action to recover money and property turned over in payment for stock alleged to have been fraudulently represented as valuable, an instruction held erroneous. Mounce v. Crowson (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 915.

In an action to set aside a deed, a certain instruction held properly refused, as not incorporating certain issues raised by the evidence. Peters v. Strauss (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 956.

On the issue as to whether one was an innocent purchaser of land for value, an instruction held properly refused as misleading. Houston Oil Co. of Texas v. Hayden, 104 T. 175, 135 S. W. 1149.

Though plaintiff in an action to recover land established a purchase-money trust to the land in his favor, it was error to direct a verdict for plaintiffs if the evidence required the submission of the issue of limitations. Hicks v. Armstrong (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 1195.

In trespass to try title in which plaintiff sought to prove that a grantee named in a deed was plaintiff's ancestor, an instruction that a mere identity of names is not sufficient, but the evidence must go further and show, by other facts and circumstances taken in connection with the name, the identity of the person referred to, was not calculated to mislead the jury to believe that they must find both other facts and other circumstances in addition to identity of name and even though they found one additional fact or one additional circumstance, or one additional fact and one additional circumstance corroborative of identity, they could not have found for plaintiff, there being abundant evidence on the issue aside from the question of mere identity or similarity of names. Blunt v. Houston Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 248.

In trespass to try title by a landlord to recover possession and rent, defendant's requested instruction is properly refused where it ignores the issue of title made by the pleadings. Patterson v. Ellis (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 300.

In trespass to try title, in which plaintiff attacked the boundary agreement relied upon by defendant on the ground of fraud, and the testimony on that issue was conflicting, the failure to submit the issue of fraud by defendant in obtaining the agreement from plaintiff was error. Denton v. English (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 264.

In an action to establish and enforce a trust under a contract whereby defendant was to collect and apply certain amounts on notes owned by plaintiff, among other notes, instructions as to defendant's liability held erroneous as ignoring the issue whether defendant was not the owner of the notes under his purchase at a sale by a bank to which plaintiff had pledged them to secure a debt. Park v. Pyle (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 445.

411. —— Torts in general.—In an action for malicious prosecution and false imprisonment, it was not error to refuse an instruction, if the arrest was legal, to find for defendant, as the issue of malicious prosecution still remained. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Griffin, 20 C. A. 91, 48 S. W. 542.

Failure to confess publication of a libel, and excusing it by affirming its truth, held not to authorize the court to ignore the defense of privileged communication, where there was evidence tending to support it. Cranfill v. Hayden, 22 C. A. 656, 55 S. W. 805.

In an action against a railroad for damages to plaintiff's land resulting from defendant's obstruction of a stream, an instruction held erroneous. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Dickson, 42 C. A. 163, 93 S. W. 481.

In an action for conversion, failure of court to submit question of appropriation of mules by defendants to their own benefit held not error. Huey v. Hammett (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 531.

In an action against a railroad for obstructing a water course by an alleged insufficient embankment, instructions held not objectionable as eliminating plaintiff's claim that the embankment increased the velocity of water flowing down the stream during overflows, etc. Moss v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 46 C. A. 463, 103 S. W. 221.

In an action for wrongful expulsion of plaintiff from a certain brotherhood, a requested instruction held properly refused as ignoring issues raised by pleadings and evidence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 453.

In an action for the destruction of plaintiff's house, caused by the overflow of water from a culvert and ditch along defendant's track, an instruction as to defendant's liability held properly refused, as ignoring evidence. Galveston, H. & S. A. R. Co. v. Riggs, 101 T. 522, 109 S. W. 864.

In trespass for cutting timber, an instruction held not erroneous as ignoring a defense and thereby imposing too high a degree of care on defendant. Clevenger v. Blount (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 868.

In an action for killing a horse on a railroad crossing, where the evidence showed that the engineer let off steam to scare it off the track, a charge permitting a recovery upon a finding that defendant omitted to blow the whistle, ring the bell, or slack or stop the train, was on the weight of the evidence as ignoring that evidence. St. Louis, B. & M. Ry. Co. v. Droddy (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 902.

In an action for injuries by the escape of oil from a pipe line, defendant's application for a peremptory instruction held properly denied. Gulf Pipe Line Co. v. Brymer (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 1007.

An instruction that defendant in garnishment was not entitled to recover on his cross-complaint for damages if writs of garnishment were sued out to collect plaintiff's debt held properly refused as ignoring defendant's right to recover if the writ was issued without probable cause and maliciously. Pegues Mercantile Co. v. Brown (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 280.

In an action for fraud inducing plaintiff to trade his land for a stock of merchandise, the refusal to give a charge on conspiracy, alleged in plaintiff's petition, held erroneous. Biard & Scales v. Tyler Building & Loan Ass'n (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 1168.

412. —— Negligence in general.—An instruction, in an action for injury to plaintiff's team and wagon while unloading a car in defendant's yards, as to defendant's duty to keep a lookout, held properly refused, as ignoring the issue of defendant's acquiescence in plaintiff's use of its yards. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Rippetoe (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 1016.

Where plaintiff alleges negligence on the part of defendant and its employés, failure to charge as to the effect of negligence on the part of the employés held prejudicial error. Cole v. Parker (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 135.

In an action against a railroad for damages to plaintiff's farm from an overflow of water resulting from defendant's negligence from the construction of bridges and embankments, a requested instruction held not erroneous on the theory that it excluded an issue of negligence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bell (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 198.

An instruction in an action against a railway company for injuries from fire held not erroneous for summarizing the facts on which plaintiff was entitled to recover without stating the exceptions defeating the right. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Connally (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 206.

In an action for injury by water overflowing from defendant railroad's ditch, a request to charge held properly refused as eliminating an issue of negligence in permitting the ditch and a culvert to become stopped. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Riggs (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 589.

A charge in an action against a railroad for killing an animal held not objectionable as authorizing recovery, whether the animal was struck by the locomotive or not. Texas & G. Ry. Co. v. Pate (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 994.

In an action against a railroad company for the loss of cotton burned on defendant's station platform, held proper to instruct that, if plaintiff's agents were negligent, plaintiff could not recover, without submitting the question of proximate cause. Birge-Forbes Co. v. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co., 53 C. A. 55, 115 S. W. 333.

In an action against a telephone company for injuries through its failure to provide a proper lightning arrester in connection with its telephone at the house of a patron, a requested charge held properly refused because it ignored evidence. Southern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Evans, 54 C. A. 63, 116 S. W. 418.

In an action for damages to property from fires set from defendant's engines, an instruction held properly refused. Crawford & Byrne v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 869; Freeman v. J. B. Waters & Bro., 136 S. W. 84.

In an action for death of plaintiff's child an instruction held properly refused as eliminating defendant's duty to so operate its plant as not to injure persons whose presence might be anticipated. Orient Consol. Pure Ice Co. v. Edmundson (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 124.

An instruction, in an action against a compress company for loss of cotton, held error. Loeb Compress Co. v. I. G. Bromberg & Co. (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 475.

Instructions grouping facts on which defendant was entitled to a verdict, but ignoring an issue of negligence, held properly refused. Metropolitan St. Ry. Co. v. Roberts (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 44.

In an action for the negligent burning of a hay-making outfit, due to the lighting of grass a mile and a half away, an instruction held erroneous, as taking the issue of a negligent burning from the jury. Thomas v. Saunders (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 768.

Where several acts of negligence were alleged by the complaint but the evidence tended to prove only some of them, a requested charge which disregarded proof of some of the acts of negligence, and authorizing a finding for the defense in case all were not established, held properly refused. United States Express Co. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 617.

An instruction asked by the defendant, which ignores acts of negligence alleged by the plaintiff and supported by the evidence, is properly refused. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Mebus (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 955.

413. —— Personal injuries in general.—When plaintiff is entitled to recover on either of two counts in petition against city for personal injuries, an instruction limiting recovery to one count is properly refused. City of Dallas v. Jones, 93 T. 38, 53 S. W. 377.

An instruction in an action to recover for injuries at crossing held erroneous, as excluding certain issues from the consideration of the jury. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Simon (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 309.

Where defendant's carriage collided with plaintiff's buggy on a city street, it was error to instruct the jury on a hypothesis of unavoidable accident, where the issues and the attendant circumstances did not indicate that the collision was unavoidable, as the charge obscured the question of negligence. McGee v. West (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 928.

A charge in an action for injuries sustained by plaintiff's team becoming frightened at a train held not objectionable, as ignoring the question whether a brakeman acted within the scope of his authority in signaling plaintiff to cross. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Stonecypher, 25 C. A. 569, 63 S. W. 946.

An instruction held to withdraw from the jury the charge that there was negligence in not ringing a bell or blowing a whistle. Over v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 535.

Instruction held erroneous which ignores claims of negligence supported by evidence. Vicars v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 37 C. A. 500, 84 S. W. 286.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to a licensee riding a velocipede on the railroad's track, charge that the undisputed evidence showed that there were lights upon the car which struck plaintiff's velocipede held properly refused. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Simpson (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 1034.

In an action for injuries to one struck by a locomotive, a requested instruction held erroneous as failing to submit the issue of proximate cause and invading the province of the jury. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Melville (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 863.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff owing to his horses becoming frightened at a hand car, an instruction on negligence held erroneous as ignoring the element of proximate cause. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Everett, 40 C. A. 285, 89 S. W. 457.

A requested instruction ignoring plaintiff's alleged right to recover for defendant's failure to give statutory signals held properly refused. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. O'Donnell (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 886.

In an action for injuries to a licensee in a railroad car, a requested instruction held properly refused as eliminating defendant's alleged negligence in failing to give warning to plaintiff before making a coupling to the car. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bryson, 41 C. A. 245, 91 S. W. 829.

In an action against a street railway company for injuries sustained by plaintiff in a collision with a car, an instruction held not erroneous on the theory that it excluded defendant's denial of the collision. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Ely (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 887.

In an action for injuries received in a collision between trains, an instruction held not objectionable under the evidence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Fowler (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 484.

In an action for death from a crossing accident, a requested instruction held properly refused because ignoring one ground of defendant's liability. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Ploeger (Sup.) 93 S. W. 722.

In an action for injuries sustained in a collision with a street car, the refusal to give a special charge held not justified for the reasons specified. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. English, 42 C. A. 393, 93 S. W. 1096.

In an action against a city for injuries to a traveler in consequence of a defective street, the refusal to give an instruction relating to the burden of proof of the giving of notice to the city of the injury held proper. City of Dallas v. McCullough (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 1121.

In an action for injuries sustained by plaintiff, and for damages to his vehicle in a collision between the same and one of defendant's trains, a requested instruction held properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 182.

In an action against a street railway company for injury in a collision between a car and plaintiff's buggy, an instruction held properly refused as eliminating the questions of proximate cause, contributory negligence, and injury. Feille v. San Antonio Traction Co., 48 C. A. 541, 107 S. W. 367.

In an action for injuries sustained by plaintiff while crossing defendant's track, an instruction held erroneous in ignoring one of the issues of the case. Cowans v. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co., 49 C. A. 463, 109 S. W. 403.

A charge authorizing a recovery if defendant was negligent whether or not the negligence was the proximate cause of the injury held erroneous. Hillsboro Cotton Mills v. King, 50 C. A. 50, 109 S. W. 484.

In an action against a railway company for injury to one caused by his team taking fright at an approaching train at a street crossing, instructions held properly refused, as ignoring a company's liability if its failure to ring the bell or the excessive speed of the train contributed to plaintiff's injury. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Garber, 51 C. A. 70, 111 S. W. 227.

An instruction in an action for the death of a child struck by a train, which ignores the question of liability, based on the negligent failure to discover the child sooner, held properly refused. Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Olds (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 787.

Instruction in an action for injury to a child who had caught on a moving train held erroneous as withdrawing from the jury the issue of whether, if any warning had been given or effort made to avoid the injury, it would have been availing. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Cushman, 51 C. A. 308, 113 S. W. 198.

Instruction in an action against a railroad company for injury received in a street crossing accident held properly refused. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Shelton, 52 C. A. 437, 115 S. W. 877.

An instruction ignoring the duty of both the engineer and fireman to keep a lookout for persons who might be in a position of danger ahead of the train held properly refused. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Crawford, 54 C. A. 196, 117 S. W. 193.

In an action for personal injuries to a minor, the giving of a special charge for plaintiff held error because withdrawing a fact proper for consideration in passing on negligence and contributory negligence. Stamford Oil Mill Co. v. Barnes, 55 C. A. 420, 119 S. W. 872.

An instruction, in an action for injuries to a traveler in collision with a street car, held not objectionable for ignoring the question whether the car could have been stopped in time to have avoided the collision with safety to passengers. Galveston Electric Co. v. Wilkins, 56 C. A. 486, 121 S. W. 538.

A charge held erroneous as taking from the jury the question whether the acts of the switching crew on discovering plaintiff's danger were a sufficient exercise of the care required under the circumstances. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Reynolds, 103 T. 31, 122 S. W. 531.

An instruction, in an action for injuries from the fright of plaintiff's horse by a decorated team driven by defendant's servant, held not erroneous as authorizing a recovery independent of negligence of the driver. Patton-Worsham Drug Co. v. Drennon (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 705.

Where it was alleged and proved that plaintiff was dragged by defendant's car, the court erred in omitting any reference to this in its charge. Settle v. San Antonio Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 15.

In an action against street railroad for injuries to a pedestrian, by stumbling against a spike partly driven into a tie, held, that a charge to find for defendant on a supposed state of facts was error. Moore v. Galveston Electric Co. (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 710.

A requested charge held properly refused as ignoring an issue in the case. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rogers (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 711.

In an action against a railroad company for injuries to a child run over by a backing train, an instruction held properly refused as ignoring the duty of its employés to keep a reasonable lookout. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Brouillette (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 886.

In an action for injuries to a traveler at a crossing caused by his horse becoming frightened by a train, requested charges held properly refused because ignoring issues and evidence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cambron (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1130.

In an action for injuries to a married woman while enceinte, a request to charge held properly denied as ignoring certain of the grounds on which plaintiff claimed a right to recover. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Carpenter (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 837.

An instruction held erroneous as precluding recovery, notwithstanding defendant's negligence and plaintiff's mental and physical suffering and loss of time. Sadrock v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 163.

Where, in an action against a railroad company for injuries to a patron on its amusement grounds, the evidence raised issues as to the exclusiveness of the possession of a lessee of the premises, the territory covered by the lease, and the reservation of rights therein by the company, a charge authorizing a verdict for the company if there was a lease of the premises ignores the issues. Wichita Falls Traction Co. v. Adams (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 271.

Failure to give special instructions as to liability towards trespasser on railroad track held error, although the court submitted no issue but discovered peril, in view of attempt of plaintiff to establish negligence in operating the trains and in failing to keep a lookout. Freeman v. Moreman (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1045.

414. —— Contributory negligence and assumption of risk.—An instruction held not erroneous as ignoring defenses of contributory negligence and assumed risk. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Zapp (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 673; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rea, 84 S. W. 428; Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Morrison, 46 C. A. 186, 102 S. W. 143; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Davidson, 49 C. A. 85, 107 S. W. 949; St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Summers, 51 C. A. 133, 111 S. W. 211; Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Olds (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 787; Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Evans, 143 S. W. 966.

A charge, in an action for injuries resulting from a fright caused by passing train at a public crossing, held not erroneous as excluding all negligent conduct of plaintiff after accident. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Mitchell, 25 C. A. 197, 60 S. W. 891.

Requested instruction held properly refused, as preventing a recovery for the conductor's failure to signal to lower the train's speed, though his doing so would not have prevented the accident. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Vinson, 28 C. A. 247, 66 S. W. 800.

In an action for personal injuries sustained by jumping from a car through fear of being injured by moving cars striking the car, a requested instruction held erroneous, as ignoring the issue of imminent peril and the plaintiff's reasonable belief of such peril. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Bryant, 30 C. A. 4, 66 S. W. 804.

An instruction held improper because withdrawing from the jury evidence on the issues of contributory negligence and assumption of risk. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Gary, 29 C. A. 122, 68 S. W. 200; St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Eitel (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 205; Bering Mfg. Co. v. Femelat, 35 C. A. 36, 79 S. W. 869; Bryan v. International & G. N. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 693; Price v. Consumers' Cotton Oil Co., 41 C. A. 47, 90 S. W. 717; Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Blasengame, 42 C. A. 66, 93 S. W. 187; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Bonn, 44 C. A. 631, 99 S. W. 413; Wade v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 84; Scott v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas, 54 C. A. 54, 117 S. W. 890; Hughes-Buie Co. v. Mendoza (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 328.

In an action for injuries to a passenger, an instruction that, if plaintiff placed himself in a position of danger, he thereby assumed the risk, but not requiring such position to contribute to the injury, held properly refused. Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Carter (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 73.

In an action by a street car conductor for injuries sustained by reason of being knocked off the car by a pole supporting the trolley wire, instructions on the assumption of risk, though correct, held not complete, in view of defendant's claims. Houston Electric Co. v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 209.

Instruction in action for injuries held not objectionable, as leading to determination of issue of contributory negligence on defendant's evidence alone. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Elmore, 35 C. A. 56, 79 S. W. 891.

An instruction on contributory negligence, eliminating the question of notice of danger and the question of proximate cause, held properly refused. Consumers' Cotton Oil Co. v. Gentry, 35 C. A. 445, 80 S. W. 394.

In an action against a railroad for damages from fire communicated from a passing engine, charge on contributory negligence held erroneous in failing to express proximate contribution. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Crabb (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 408.

An instruction held not erroneous, as removing from the consideration of the jury any question of negligence in the manner of use of the hand car on which plaintiff was riding at the time of the accident. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Kelly, 34 C. A. 21, 80 S. W. 1073.

Where the speed of the train by which plaintiff was struck was proper to be considered on the issue of contributory negligence and discovered peril, it was not error to refuse a requested charge calculated to cause the jury to ignore the fact that the train was operated at a high rate of speed. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Villareal, 36 C. A. 532, 82 S. W. 1063.

An instruction on disobedience of warning held erroneous as depriving defendant of protection from liability, by reason of having warned decedent of the danger and ordering him not to incur it. Yellow Pine Oil Co. v. Noble (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 332.

A charge that plaintiff could recover if his injury was due to the negligence of defendant's foreman, either with or without the negligence of any other person, was erroneous, as it disregarded the question of plaintiff's contributory negligence. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Waldie (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 517.

In an action for injuries received while alighting from a train, a charge on contributory negligence held properly refused. Galveston, H. & H. R. Co. v. Alberti, 47 C. A. 32, 103 S. W. 699.

An instruction that, if plaintiff at the time he was injured was doing the work in a more dangerous manner than was necessary, he assumed the risk, held properly refused as ignoring evidence that the method of work pursued was the usual and approved method. Consolidated Kansas City Smelting & Refining Co. v. Taylor, 48 C. A. 605, 107 S. W. 889.

Instructions on the effect of contributory negligence not requiring a finding that the negligence was the proximate cause of the injury held properly refused, notwithstanding their relation to phases presented by the evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wall (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 453.

An instruction on assumption of risk in an action by a switchman for personal injuries held properly refused as ignoring the issue of the engineer's negligence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Jowers (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 946.

An instruction placing the burden of proof on defendant as to contributory negligence held not erroneous, as excluding consideration of plaintiff's evidence, where such evidence showed nothing more, as to contributory negligence, than defendant's evidence. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Ryan, 53 C. A. 85, 114 S. W. 906.

In an action for injuries to an employé, an instruction, based on defendant's negligence in leaving a loose scantling in a place where plaintiff laid hold of it at the time in question, held properly refused as ignoring the fact that he might have had actual or imputed knowledge of its condition. Brownwood Oil Mill v. Stubblefield, 53 C. A. 165, 115 S. W. 626.

In an action for injuries caused by being struck by a swinging car door while plaintiff was standing beside the track, an instruction held properly refused because it failed to submit the question of plaintiff's negligence in doing the act mentioned therein. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Endsley (Civ. App.) 119 S. W. 1150.

An instruction which ignores the servant's minority and inexperience, and which requires a verdict against him if he had or was charged with knowledge of certain conditions which caused his injuries, without regard to whether he knew of the danger incident to such conditions, is properly refused. Producers' Oil Co. v. Barnes (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1023.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff by stepping into an unguarded excavation in defendant railroad's right of way, an instruction held erroneous, as withdrawing certain evidence on the issue of contributory negligence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Samuels, 103 T. 54, 123 S. W. 121.

A charge on assumption of risk held properly refused, as ignoring an issue raised by the evidence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Poole (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 1176.

An instruction which ignores the contention of the plaintiff rebutting contributory negligence held properly refused. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brooks (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 95.

Certain instruction as to assumption of risk held objectionable as ignoring the question of promise to remedy defects. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. McCrummen (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 899.

An instruction on contributory negligence in an action for injury to a railway passenger held not erroneous as precluding consideration of contributory negligence solely causing the injury. Freeman v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 275.

In an action for death of a trespasser, a request to charge on the doctrine of another safe way held defective as applying the defense of assumed risk which was inapplicable. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Broomhead (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 820.

In an action for damages to goods destroyed by fire from defendant's engines while stored in a warehouse on its right of way, held, that the omission of a charge on plaintiff's contributory negligence was error. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Price (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 836.

An instruction in an action for injuries to a servant ignoring evidence that plaintiff might have been forced by defendant's negligence to place his hand in a position of danger in order to save himself from falling held properly refused. Southern Pac. Co. v. Sorey (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 119.

Where the court properly charged on the issue of contributory negligence, and further charged that plaintiff, in the use of his property, could presume that defendant railroad company would use ordinary care to equip and operate its engines to prevent the escape of sparks, was a withdrawal of the issue of contributory negligence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Waco Cotton Pickery (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 201.

In an action against a railroad company for injuries caused by plaintiff's team taking fright at a noise suddenly created by defendant's baggagemaster in raising a metallic door, an instruction that if plaintiff left his team unguarded and unhitched at a public place that was negligence per se, and he could not recover, held properly refused as ignoring the question whether plaintiff's acts contributed to the injury. Freeman v. McElroy (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 428.

The requested instruction, in an action by a servant assigned to take boards from a cutting machine, that if he put his hand under the knife, and at the time he did so he was not engaged in his work of taking and bearing away the boards, he could not recover ignores the issue whether or not he negligently or intentionally put his hand under the knife. Bryson v. Moore (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 233.

415. —— Discovered peril.—An instruction eliminating the issue of discovered peril which was raised by the evidence is properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Eyer (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 453; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Matthews, 34 C. A. 302, 79 S. W. 71; Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Williams, 37 C. A. 198, 83 S. W. 248; Central Texas & N. W. Ry. Co. v. Gibson (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 862; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. O'Donnell, 90 S. W. 886; Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 111 S. W. 758; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. McCauley, 134 S. W. 798; Same v. Pool, 135 S. W. 641; Vesper v. Lavender, 149 S. W. 377; Ft. Worth & D. C. R. Co. v. Limberg, 152 S. W. 1180.

In an action for the death of a traveler struck by a train, an instruction submitting the issue of discovered peril held erroneous. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. James, 55 C. A. 588, 120 S. W. 269.

416. —— Injuries to passengers.—Instructions confining the issue to an isolated part of the transaction held properly refused in an action by a passenger for injuries. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Downing (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 190.

A requested charge, in action for injuries to passenger alighting from train, held properly refused as ignoring an issue made by the pleadings. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Armes, 32 C. A. 32, 74 S. W. 77.

In an action against a carrier for death of plaintiff's wife from its negligence and that of another carrier, an instruction held erroneous, as excluding liability for negligence of the latter. Hardin v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 38 S. W. 440.

An instruction held erroneous for failure to submit the issue whether the acts complained of were negligence on defendant's part. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Doolan, 56 C. A. 503, 120 S. W. 1118.

In an action for injuries to a passenger through the derailment of a train, an instruction held not to ignore certain defenses. Freeman v. Nickels (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 941.

An instruction that the company was not liable if smoke of other engines was blowing across the track, so that the engineer could not see the engine which was struck, was properly refused, as precluding consideration of negligent acts in the manner of running and checking the train and in permitting the engine struck to be on the main line. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Hays (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 416.

In an action for injuries to a passenger by being ejected at an improper place, a certain request to charge held properly refused. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Green (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 341.

In an action for injuries to a passenger in alighting from a street car, a request to charge on contributory negligence held properly refused as ignoring question of defendant's negligence. Dallas Consol. Electric Street Ry. Co. v. Kelley (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 1005.

Where there was evidence of a reasonable explanation of the derailment, a charge that, if the train was derailed, the burden was on the carrier to show that it was not caused through its negligence, and that the fact of derailment was prima facie evidence of negligence, was erroneous. Abilene & S. Ry. Co. v. Burleson (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 1177.

417. —— Injuries to servants.—A charge which in substance informs the jury that if defendants were guilty of negligence in allowing the coupling which caused the injury to become defective, and appellant was injured while coupling the car, without negligence on his own part, he might recover, is defective for not adding the further fact essential to a recovery, that the injury must have resulted from the defective condition of the coupling. Fordyce v. Yarborough, 1 C. A. 260, 21 S. W. 421.

Instruction that, if coemployés placed a car improperly, plaintiff could not recover, held properly refused, as ignoring defendant's duty to provide rules as to placing cars. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Cumpston, 15 C. A. 493, 40 S. W. 546.

A request for instruction held properly refused, as ignoring the question of defendant railroad's negligence in failing to discover that a bolt had been removed from a switch. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Gaither (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 266.

An instruction which submitted only one of two proximate causes of an injury to a servant of a railroad was properly refused. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Dehnisch (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 64.

Where a railroad employé was injured by a defect in a car which could have been discovered by proper inspection, it was not error to fail to instruct that the company owed the employé no other duty than a careful inspection. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Nass (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 910.

A charge in favor of defendant, excluding the issue of his inexperience and want of knowledge of the danger, held properly refused. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Renz, 24 C. A. 335, 59 S. W. 280.

In action by railway employé for personal injuries, instruction held properly refused, because ignoring certain issue. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Hitzfelder, 24 C. A. 318, 66 S. W. 707.

In an action against a railroad company for the death of a switchman, alleged to have been caused by improper signals, an instruction requiring plaintiff to prove that the signals were not the customary ones, regardless of whether they were safe, and of deceased's knowledge of the custom relied on, was properly refused. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hill, 95 T. 629, 69 S. W. 136.

An instruction held erroneous for failing to require the jury to find that the master was negligent and that the servant was free from contributory negligence. Bering Mfg. Co. v. Femelat, 35 C. A. 36, 79 S. W. 869.

Instructions held properly refused, as eliminating an issue as to defendant's negligence in propelling another car against a train on which plaintiff was working, as the proximate cause of his injury. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rea (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 428.

An instruction ignoring defendant's negligence in permitting a rock to be on the track held properly refused. El Paso & N. E. Ry. Co. v. Whatley (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 306.

Charge on the foreman's negligence held not erroneous in failing to expressly require a finding of the foreman's duty. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rea, 99 T. 58, 87 S. W. 324.

An instruction excluding the issue whether other warning to plaintiff, an employé, than ringing bell on engine at time of making a coupling, was required in the exercise of proper care, held properly refused. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Smith, 39 C. A. 92, 87 S. W. 371.

An instruction held not objectionable for failing to state that the acts enumerated therein must have proximately caused the injury. Worcester v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 339.

An instruction held properly refused as ignoring evidence. Worcester v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 339; Sanders v. Houston & T. C. R. Co., 93 S. W. 139; El Paso & S. R. Co. v. Darr, 93 S. W. 166; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Trump, 42 C. A. 536, 94 S. W. 903; Southern Pac. Co. v. Allen, 48 C. A. 66, 106 S. W. 441; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rogers (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 914; El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Alexander, 117 S. W. 927; Ft. Worth Belt Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 125 S. W. 387; Hugo, Schmeltzer & Co. v. Paiz, 128 S. W. 912; Consumers' Lignite Co. v. Cameron, 134 S. W. 283; Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Bailey, 136 S. W. 822.

A requested instruction as to a release executed by plaintiff held properly refused. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Minter, 42 C. A. 235, 93 S. W. 516.

A requested charge, ignoring the issue of plaintiff's known inexperience and defendants' failure to warn and instruct him, was properly refused. Rice v. Dewberry (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 715.

An instruction which ignores one of the alleged contributing causes of the accident is properly refused. Kirby Lumber Co. v. Chambers, 41 C. A. 632, 95 S. W. 607.

An instruction that, if defendant exercised ordinary care in securing the pole on which plaintiff was at work when injured, then defendant performed his duty, held properly refused; there being evidence of negligence in regard to inspection of the pole. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Tucker (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 909.

An instruction held not erroneous as submitting the case without reference to certain issues. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Bonn, 44 C. A. 631, 99 S. W. 413; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rogers, 55 C. A. 93, 117 S. W. 939; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Browning, 54 C. A. 521, 118 S. W. 245.

A request to charge held properly refused as ignoring the issue of defendant's negligence in failing to instruct intestate as to the dangers to be encountered in the service he was performing. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Rutland, 45 C. A. 621, 101 S. W. 529.

Instructions held properly refused for ignoring a rule respecting the employer's liability. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Mills, 53 C. A. 359, 116 S. W. 852.

An instruction, in an action for injury to a minor employé while operating a revolving saw, held not erroneous as disregarding the employer's knowledge or means of knowledge of a danger. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Geiger, 55 C. A. 1, 118 S. W. 179.

An instruction which did not submit to the jury all the grounds of negligence held not to be erroneous. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Callahan (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 129.

An instruction held not improper as ignoring the issue of the servant's ignorance of the dangers incident to his employment and the negligence of the master in failing to warn him. Van Geem v. Cisco Oil Mill (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1108.

In an action for injuries to a railroad employé while attempting to board a moving engine, an instruction authorizing a verdict for defendant on certain facts held not prejudicial to it, not excluding a finding for defendant on other facts which may have presented a good defense. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Wiley (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 356.

A requested charge, permitting a verdict for defendant regardless of whether it was guilty of negligence concurring with that of deceased, was properly refused. Pecos & N. T. R. Co. v. Finklea (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 612.

An instruction to the effect that if defendant was negligent in not making an excavation a safe place to work, and if, as a proximate result thereof, plaintiff was injured, held not objectionable as taking from the jury the question of negligence. Marshall & E. T. Ry. Co. v. Blackburn (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 625.

418. —— Contracts and actions relating thereto in general.—Where the defense to an action for money was based on several claims against plaintiff, it was error to ignore all but one of such claims in the instructions. Blair v. Blanton (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 321.

Refusal to give an instruction requested by defendant in an action on a life policy which excludes the issue of estoppel held not error under the issues. National Fraternity v. Karnes, 24 C. A. 604, 60 S. W. 576.

Where subsequent grantees claimed that the assumption of the mortgage debt in their deeds was inserted by mistake, an instruction which submitted the question of the intention of the parties, without submitting the question of mistake, was error. Southern Home Building & Loan Ass'n v. Winans, 24 C. A. 544, 60 S. W. 825.

Instruction in an action for wages held improper, as ignoring evidence of waiver of ground for discharge in the case. Mudgett v. Texas Tobacco Growing & Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 149.

An instruction in an action for the price of a typewriter held erroneous, as failing to submit the issue whether the machine received by defendant was the one referred to in plaintiff's letter quoting a certain price. Dorsey Printing Co. v. Gainesville Cotton-Seed Oil-Mill & Gin Co., 25 C. A. 456, 61 S. W. 556.

In a suit by broker for commissions, a charge held erroneous, in that it excluded consideration of defendant's testimony, which, if true, was a defense. Largent v. Storey (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 977.

Instruction, in action on note in which defendants were sought to be charged as partners, ignoring effect of agreement between them, which had not been pleaded, held proper. Moore v. Williams, 31 C. A. 287, 72 S. W. 222.

An instruction on express warranty held erroneous, in ignoring a contention that the damaged condition of the goods was caused by the purchaser's failure to comply with the contract. Ellis v. Riddick, 34 C. A. 256, 78 S. W. 719.

An instruction in an action for personal injuries held erroneous, as eliminating the question of fraud in procuring the release relied on as a defense. Johnson v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 36 C. A. 487, 81 S. W. 1197; Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Williams, 37 C. A. 198, 83 S. W. 248.

In an action for injuries to a passenger, a requested instruction as to the effect of a release, withdrawing the issue as to whether a payment made to plaintiff by defendant's claim agent was a gift, held properly refused. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. Cain, 37 C. A. 531, 84 S. W. 682.

In an action on a life insurance certificate, an instruction that a false statement as to health defeated recovery held properly refused as ignoring the issue of waiver. Home Circle Soc. No. 2 v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 320.

In an action on a note, an instruction held erroneous as excluding a good defense. City of Cleburne v. Gutta Percha & Rubber Mfg. Co., 39 C. A. 604, 88 S. W. 300.

In an action for services, charge to find for plaintiff without requiring a finding that he had performed the stipulated services held erroneous. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Irvine (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 428.

In an action against an administrator for money expended for deceased, instructions held erroneous as disregarding certain evidence. Granberry v. Granberry, 40 C. A. 420, 90 S. W. 711.

In action for balance due under building contract, instruction submitting to jury the question whether brick company furnishing brick for the building was an agent of the owner, and, if so, to find against the owner as to delay caused by it, held error. Neblett v. McGraw & Brewer, 41 C. A. 239, 91 S. W. 309.

A request to charge authorizing the jury to ignore certain parts of a letter alleged to constitute an extension of time to pay the note sued on held properly refused. Ellis v. Littlefield, 41 C. A. 318, 93 S. W. 171.

In an action by a real estate broker for his commission for securing a purchaser, an instruction held properly refused as ignoring plaintiff's theory that his services were the efficient cause of the sale. J. B. Watkins Land Mortgage Co. v. Thetford, 43 C. A. 536, 96 S. W. 72.

In an action to recover the price paid for whisky, an instruction held erroneous as destroying the defense that no representation as to the proof of the whisky had been made other than that contained in the gauger's receipt. Julius Kessler & Co. v. Burckell (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 173.

In an action for the balance of the price of an engine, where defendant pleaded that the engine was not as warranted, the court properly refused an instruction authorizing a verdict for defendant without reference to whether the engine was properly operated by defendant. Heisig Rice Co. v. Fairbanks, Morse & Co., 45 C. A. 383, 100 S. W. 959.

An instruction held erroneous as ignoring an issue made by the evidence as to an agreement regarding the application of payments on certain indebtedness. Stone v. Pettus, 47 C. A. 14, 103 S. W. 413.

In an action for the breach of a contract for the sale of a car of cotton seed hulls, a requested charge held objectionable as eliminating defendant's duty to ship within a reasonable time after receiving its first car load of hulls. Farmers' Cotton Oil Co. v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 1184.

In an action by an architect for superintending the construction of a building, an instruction held erroneous because withdrawing an issue from the jury. Loftus v. Green (Civ. App.) 104 S. W. 396.

In an action for goods sold, an instruction held properly refused because omitting an issue. Hayward Lumber Co. v. Cox (Civ. App.) 104 S. W. 403.

In an action by a seller to recover on breach of the contract, an instruction held erroneous as ignoring the issue of the seller's diligence in making a resale. Carver, Frierson & Co. v. Graves, 47 C. A. 481, 106 S. W. 903.

In an action against a corporation for legal services, a charge held properly refused because ignoring evidence. Gulf & I. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Campbell (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 972.

In an action to impeach a settlement for injuries because of fraud, an instruction to find for defendant if the settlement was executed because of financial need and anxiety to go home held properly refused, where there was evidence of fraudulent representations as to the extent of plaintiff's injuries. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Jowers (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 946.

A charge in an action for breach of contract held properly refused as ignoring a defense of accord and satisfaction. Laughman v. Sun Pipe Line Co., 52 C. A. 485, 114 S. W. 451.

An instruction in an action to enforce specific performance of a contract held erroneous for ignoring material issues. Pope v. Taliaferro, 51 C. A. 217, 115 S. W. 309.

An instruction, in a suit for safes sold, held to deprive plaintiff of the right to have considered the question of acceptance by retaining possession and using them. Edwards v. Wooldridge, 52 C. A. 512, 115 S. W. 920.

An instruction in an action in contract held erroneous as excluding a material issue. Gibson & Cunningham v. Purifoy, 56 C. A. 379, 120 S. W. 1047.

In an action to recover for certain road construction, an instruction ignoring plaintiff's right to recover on quantum meruit held properly refused. Palo Duro Club v. McAlister, 57 C. A. 393, 122 S. W. 971.

A requested charge which ignored a contract between the parties and the effect the jury might give to it was properly refused. Ely-Walker Dry Goods Co. v. Colbert (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 705.

In an action on an accident policy, providing for a reduced recovery in case of voluntary exposure to unnecessary danger, a requested instruction held properly refused, as ignoring the element of voluntary exposure. Continental Casualty Co. v. Deeg (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 353.

An instruction in a suit for a real estate broker's commission held properly refused, as ignoring defendant's testimony that he notified the broker that he would not pay a commission on an exchange. Foster v. Prichard (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 1187.

In an action on a policy, an instruction that the payment of the first premium by check was conditional only was properly refused. Supreme Lodge United Benevolent Ass'n v. Lawson (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 907.

In an action by one of the signers of a contract binding the signers to procure a right of way against other signers for contribution for money advanced to procure a part of the right of way, a requested charge held properly refused under the evidence. Matson v. Jarvis (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 941.

On the issue of the validity of a release of claim for personal injuries, an instruction ignoring an issue of want of consideration to support the release was properly refused. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Green (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1031.

Where, in an action for the price of certain trees, plaintiff pleaded a contract to pay not less than $3 apiece, an instruction held erroneous, as eliminating the contract so far as the price was concerned. Hereford Nursery v. Deaf Smith County (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 442.

In an action by a landlord for advances, an instruction held erroneous as ignoring an issue. Precker v. Slayton (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1160.

In an action on an account, where defendant pleaded an accord and satisfaction, and plaintiff pleaded mutual mistake, requests by plaintiff which ignored the issue of mutual mistake were properly refused. Olson v. Burton (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 549.

In an action to recover a balance on a collection of certain insurance policies, an instruction held erroneous as ignoring an issue as to whether plaintiff was bound to pay the fees of an attorney employed by defendant to collect the policies. Ash v. A. B. Frank Co. (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 42.

Instruction as to a purchaser's notice of a defect in the title held not objectionable as limiting such notice to the abstract of title. Cartwright v. La Brie (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 725.

In an action by a buyer of cotton for the seller's failure to deliver, an instruction that, if the jury believed that when the contract was made there was a general custom among cotton men that the seller should notify the buyer when the cotton was ready for delivery, and that said contract was made under circumstances where said custom would apply, and that such notice was not given, etc., does not, as a matter of law, ignore the seller's claim that he was ignorant of the custom mentioned. Holder v. Swift (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 690.

In a broker's action for commission in which defendant answered by general denial, a charge that, if plaintiff was the procuring cause of a sale and found a purchaser who bought the land, he might recover was erroneous for omission to charge on the issue as to whether defendant listed his land with or authorized plaintiff to sell it. Muldoon v. J. E. Bray Land Co. (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 701.

In action by a landlord for possession and for rent, special requested charge is properly refused where it ignored the rents sued for. Patterson v. Ellis (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 300.

In an action by a buyer of cattle for recovery of a partial payment made, and for damages for fraudulent representations as to condition of cattle sold, an instruction that, if the buyer inspected and purchased on his own judgment, the verdict must be for defendant, held properly refused because eliminating the issue of reliance on seller's representations. O'Brien v. Von Lienen (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 723.

In an action for the price of goods sold, an instruction held not erroneous as excluding the release of the defendant by the seller's ratification of its agent's acts. Holt & Smith v. Texas Moline Plow Co. (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 215.

Where a party wall agreement provided that the adjoining owner should pay one-half of the value of the wall at the time he commenced to use it, an instruction in an action on the contract authorizing recovery of one-half of the cost of the wall with interest from the date of the beginning of the use was erroneous, as ignoring the provisions of the contract. Wyatt v. Moore (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1133.

419. —— Contracts of carriage and for telegraphic service.—In action against carrier for refusal to deliver goods, refusal of instruction as to right to retain goods for charges accruing from misdirection held error. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Klepper, 29 C. A. 590, 69 S. W. 426.

In an action for loss from defendant's failure to furnish cars as agreed for transporting cattle to market, there being evidence showing a ratification of an agreement by defendant's agent to furnish the cars, an instruction ignoring the issue of ratification was properly refused. St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Boshear (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 1032.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to plaintiff's stock in transportation, where plaintiff alleged negligence of defendant in handling the stock, an instruction that, if the stock were damaged by defendant as alleged in transportation, the jury should find for plaintiff, was erroneous as in fact instructing that, if the stock were injured in the manner alleged, defendant was responsible, irrespective of any question of whether or not it was guilty of negligence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Jones (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 194.

In an action for failure to deliver a telegram, an instruction allowing recovery if defendant was guilty of negligence in failing to deliver the telegram without also requiring a finding that plaintiff was damaged thereby held erroneous. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Timmons (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 376.

In an action against a carrier for damages to bananas shipped, a requested charge held properly refused for omitting therefrom any negligence by the carrier which might have caused the damage. Kemendo v. Fruit Dispatch Co. (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 73.

In an action by a consignor against the consignee for the price of fruit sold, in which the latter cross-complained against the carriers, the court charged that with reference to the case between the consignee and the initial carrier, if the fruit was delivered by the consignor to such carrier in proper condition for shipment with reasonable dispatch to destination, the jury should find for the consignee against such carrier the damage, if any, which he sustained by the fruit arriving at destination in a damaged condition, if it so arrived, and if the damage was not caused by the negligence of the consignor's messenger who accompanied the shipment. Held, that the charge did not require a finding for the consignee, irrespective of his or the consignor's negligence or that of their agents. Id.

In an action against carriers of live stock for damages alleged to be due to their negligent delay in transportation, a charge that permits the jury to deduct from the gross time of transportation the time necessary to feed the stock twice, there being evidence that, counting necessary and usual stops, the trip would have required but one feeding of the cattle, is properly refused. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Johnson & Johnson (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 725.

In an action for injuries to cattle in transit, an instruction held properly refused, as eliminating all liability for damages, except that arising from a failure to feed and water at W., instead of E. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Dinwiddie (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 280.

A requested instruction that a carrier of live stock was not liable for damages by delay if occasioned by a wreck held properly refused as permitting a finding for it, though the wreck was due to its own negligence. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Dean (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1127.

420. —— Damages and amount of recovery.—An instruction that some damages could be recovered for carrying a passenger past her destination, though special damage was not shown, held improper, where there was evidence of special damages. St. Louis & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Ricketts, 22 C. A. 515, 54 S. W. 1090.

An instruction, in an action for injuries, which failed to submit all of the injuries developed by the evidence and alleged to have been sustained by plaintiff, was erroneous. McGrew v. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co., 32 C. A. 265, 74 S. W. 816.

In an action against a city and railway company for damages resulting from the construction of a street and right of way so as to cause surface water to accumulate on plaintiff's premises, an instruction held not erroneous as omitting one element of damage. Taylor v. Houston & T. C. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 260.

In an action to recover for goods sold, held proper to refuse an instruction excluding plaintiff's right to recover the value of certain items in case defendant had not ordered them. Masterson v. F. W. Heitmann & Co., 38 C. A. 476, 87 S. W. 227.

In action for damages because of defendant's failure to furnish registration papers on the sale of cattle, a requested instruction held properly refused as ignoring the question of damages. Miller v. Mosely (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 648.

In an action for damages resulting from blocking a water course, an instruction held properly refused as ignoring one of plaintiff's claims of damages. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Walker (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 1081.

An instruction in an action for cutting timber on plaintiff's land held properly refused for ignoring the evidence that plaintiff was entitled to recover at least the value of the timber as cut. Clevenger v. Blount (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 868.

A request to charge held properly refused as ignoring other injuries testified to than that specified. Pecos & N. T. R. Co. v. Coffman, 56 C. A. 472, 121 S. W. 218.

Instruction, in an action against a railroad for loss by fire, held to ignore the rights of a cropper of plaintiff, and that it should have confined recovery to the loss sustained by plaintiff alone. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Couch (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 67.

In an action against a carrier for physical and mental pain and distress suffered by a passenger on account of abusive language of the conductor, an instruction that the burden is on the plaintiff to prove that she was injured and is suffering as alleged in the pleading, and that "her condition or her said injury and suffering, are the direct and proximate result of the misconduct" of the conductor, and if her "condition" resulted from such misconduct plaintiff was entitled to recover, was not objectionable as ignoring certain elements of damage claimed, since the word "condition" had reference to both physical and mental suffering. Carpenter v. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 363.

IV. CONSTRUCTION AND OPERATION

421. Rules of construction in general.—A charge must be viewed from the standpoint of a jury, and must be considered with reference to the probable effect on the jury desirous of obeying the instructions. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Jones (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 434.

In construing instructions, the language must be given the plain common-sense meaning it was evidently intended to convey. Orange Lumber Co. v. Ellis, 105 T. 363, 150 S. W. 582.

422. Construction of particular instructions.—Instruction as to measure of damages construed. Denison & P. S. Ry. Co. v. Cummins (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 588.

A charge held not to impose extraordinary care on the part of defendant railroad company in relation to discovering defects in switches. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Gaither (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 266.

An instruction held not to make it the absolute duty of the master to provide safe appliances and keep them in proper repair. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Black (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 673.

Charge denying defendant's liability held to embrace the idea that, to render it liable, the accident must have been one that might easily have been anticipated. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Speake (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 509.

An instruction that if defendant did not keep a reasonably careful lookout to discover plaintiff on the track, etc., is not subject to the construction that it was defendant's duty to keep a watchman for that purpose. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Harvin (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 629.

A charge that, if plaintiff's conduct was the efficient cause of the accident, he could not recover, held in fact a charge that, if his conduct "contributed directly and proximately" thereto, he could not recover. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Higgins, 22 C. A. 430, 55 S. W. 744.

An instruction, in an action for the death of a brakeman, who was killed when his train ran into an open swtich, held not to authorize recovery on a finding that defendant was negligent in locating the switch on a grade and curve in its track. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Johnson, 23 C. A. 160, 55 S. W. 772.

An instruction requiring railroad engine men to use ordinary care to so use the apparatus and equipment as to avoid striking an employé rightfully on the track held not an instruction requiring the use of ordinary care to stop the train from the time the employé is first seen. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Jacobson, 28 C. A. 150, 66 S. W. 1111.

Where conveyances of realty are attacked as fraudulent an instruction held not to authorize finding for defendant as to both tracts, if the jury believed the deed to one tract was made in good faith. Gwaltney v. Searcy (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 304.

Negligence which "contributed to plaintiff's injury" held to mean negligence which "contributed to cause or produce the injury," in an instruction on contributory negligence. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Ankerson, 31 C. A. 327, 72 S. W. 219.

An instruction in an action for arrest for drunkenness when plaintiff was not drunk held not open to the charge that, before a verdict could be returned for defendants, it required the jury to find that plaintiff was sober. Parham v. Shockler (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 839.

Charge on duty of trainmen to look out for employés on track held not open to criticism of making it their absolute duty to stop on approaching points on the track used by employés. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Jones, 35 C. A. 584, 80 S. W. 852.

An instruction held not open to the objection that it limited the consideration of his using a defective hand car to the time, place, and circumstances alleged in the petition. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Kelly, 34 C. A. 21, 80 S. W. 1073.

In an action for injuries to a servant, a charge held not open to objection of imposing on defendant a degree of care higher than that of ordinary care. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Hahl (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 27.

In action against railroad for injury to engineer in collision with forward section of his train, charge held not erroneous as authorizing jury to consider any negligence of plaintiff, except what they found from the evidence. Quinn v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 395.

An instruction held not erroneous, in that it made defendant liable if it had been the "custom" of plaintiff's foreman to notify plaintiff of danger, though no duty otherwise rested upon the foreman to do so. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rea (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 428.

In an action for injuries to a railroad brakeman, owing to his having stumbled over a clinker on the track, an instruction held not to import a knowledge of the presence of the clinker on the part of the defendant. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Keefe, 37 C. A. 588, 84 S. W. 679.

Instruction on contributory negligence of railroad employé held not subject to the objection of charging him with the negligence of his crew. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Purdy, 98 T. 557, 86 S. W. 321.

An instruction relating to a gift of notes did not exclude the idea of delivery by using the word "transferred." Crawford v. Hord, 40 C. A. 352, 89 S. W. 1097.

Instruction that, if ditch dug by county was sufficient to carry off water that would ordinarily be expected to fall, the county was not liable, held not to be construed as preventing the jury from considering the sufficiency of the ditch to carry off water which flowed through a railroad culvert. Siewerssen v. Harris County, 41 C. A. 115, 91 S. W. 333.

An instruction in an action against a railway company for injuries to an employé while unloading a car in a yard held not erroneous for failing to confine the knowledge of plaintiff's position to the employés on the ground. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Burns (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 618.

An instruction held not objectionable as taking the employé as the standard instead of a man of ordinary intelligence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Bonn, 44 C. A. 631, 99 S. W. 413.

An instruction held not to impose on the master the absolute duty of keeping a roadway in a reasonably safe condition. William Cameron & Co. v. Realmuto, 45 C. A. 305, 100 S. W. 194.

The term "several hours," used in an instruction, could not be construed to mean a fractional part of an hour, but meant an uncertain number of hours not less than two. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. De Andrea, 45 C. A. 395, 100 S. W. 977.

An instruction held to refer solely to defendant's alleged negligence in maintaining a right of way fence and not to submit the issue of negligent operation of the trains by which plaintiff's cattle were killed. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Worsham, 47 C. A. 350, 105 S. W. 853.

A charge on the duty of a railroad as to culverts for surface water construed. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Macon (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 847.

An instruction in a personal injury case construed. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Reed, 54 C. A. 26, 116 S. W. 69.

In a brakeman's action for injuries by stepping in a hole in the track while coupling cars, an instruction that the company must keep its "approaches" in a safe condition held to mean those places where employés must approach the track to work, and not such approaches as crossings. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Dickens, 54 C. A. 637, 118 S. W. 612; Id. (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 618.

Term "prior claim" used in a charge held referable to "prior deed" used therein; the terms as used being practically synonymous. La Brie v. Cartwright, 55 C. A. 144, 118 S. W. 785.

In view of pleading and evidence in action for injury to brakeman from getting his foot caught between ties in the track, held the charge could not have been understood to authorize a recovery for a different defect than that pleaded. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ford, 56 C. A. 521, 121 S. W. 709.

A special charge as to mental suffering, given at defendant's request, held not modified by an additional charge. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 714.

An instruction, in an action against a railroad company and a sleeping car company, by a passenger on a car of the sleeping car company, who was not put off when the train stopped at her station, but when it was again stopped for her beyond the station, and in which action the railroad company prayed for judgment over against the sleeping car company for the amount of any recovery by plaintiff against it, that though the car in which she was riding was, at the first stop, stopped at a proper place for her to be discharged, yet, if the porter in charge of it believed it had not arrived at the proper place for discharging her, and he was not guilty of negligence in so believing, and the car was at such a distance from, and in such a position with reference to, the depot that the railroad company's employés in failing after the train stopped to notify the porter that it was intended for him to discharge the passenger there failed to exercise the high degree of care that a very careful and prudent person would have exercised under the circumstances verdict should be for the sleeping car company, both as to plaintiff's action and the railroad company's cross action, was erroneous, as between the defendants, it being susceptible of the construction placing on the railroad company a higher degree of care than rested on the sleeping car company. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Maxwell (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 722.

A charge upon defendant's plea of privilege held not to instruct the jury to find against the defendant absolutely upon the second ground of his privilege irrespective of the first ground of the plea. Ucovich v. First Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1102.

A charge given in an action by an injured servant construed. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Matlock (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1067.

An instruction in an action for ejection of a passenger held not to instruct that the negligence of plaintiff would not defeat his right to recover, unless it co-operated with the negligence of the defendant. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wallace (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 873.

"Bound to understand," used in an instruction to the effect that the party to whom a check was offered in settlement of a larger amount was bound to understand from the tender that it was offered on condition of settlement, may mean an express scienter of the facts, aside from the implication of knowledge which, under certain circumstances, could be imputed whether he understood or not. Bergman Produce Co. v. Brown (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1102.

423. Inadvertent errors or omissions.—Language in general, see ante.

A mistake in the language of a charge which is manifest, not ground for reversal. Harris v. Daugherty, 74 T. 1, 11 S. W. 921.

The use in a charge of the plural for the singular, when the principle expounded is otherwise properly confined, is not material error. Railway Co. v. Rowland, 22 S. W. 134, 3 C. A. 158.

The word "not" in an instruction in an action to cancel a deed held a mere inadvertence, not rendering the same erroneous. London v. Crow, 46 C. A. 190, 102 S. W. 177.

An error in stating the date of a grant in a boundary line dispute held harmless and not objectionable as interpolating a new issue. Selkirk v. Watkins (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 1161.

Where the ordinary intelligence of the jury will suggest from the context of a paragraph in a charge that a word should have been supplied, the omission of the word is immaterial error. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 48 C. A. 135, 106 S. W. 773.

An instruction that certain facts constituted a "prima case" of negligence held not objectionable because of clerical error. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wilbanks (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 318.

A charge held not to have been rendered misleading by the use of the word "defendant" instead of "plaintiff," and the omission of the word "care"; the meaning being apparent. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Word (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 478.

In an action by a father individually, and as next friend for injuries to an infant son, the use of the word "plaintiff" in an instruction in place of the name of the son held not ground for reversal. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Trower (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 588.

An instruction is not open to the objection of being meaningless because of the use of the word "signing" therein, it being evident from inspection that the word is a clerical error and should be read "signed," which gives it meaning. Mutual Life Ins. Co. of New York v. Hodnette (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 615.

424. Construction and effect of charge as a whole.—Instructions should be construed as a whole. Railway Co. v. Douglass, 73 T. 325, 11 S. W. 333; Rost v. Railway Co., 76 T. 168, 12 S. W. 1131; Railway Co. v. Rowland, 22 S. W. 134, 3 C. A. 158; Bomar v. Powers (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 142; Texas Cent. Ry. Co. v. Miller, 88 S. W. 499; Barklow v. Avery, 40 C. A. 355, 89 S. W. 417; Graham v. Edwards (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 436; Industrial Lumber Co. v. Bivens, 47 C. A. 396, 105 S. W. 831; Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Cochran, 49 C. A. 591, 109 S. W. 261; Same v. Olds (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 787; International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Aleman, 52 C. A. 565, 115 S. W. 73; Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Farmer, 102 T. 235, 115 S. W. 260; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co of Texas v. Snow, 53 C. A. 184, 115 S. W. 631; Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Mills, 53 C. A. 359, 116 S. W. 852; Franks v. Harkness (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 913; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Taylor, 123 S. W. 714; San Antonio Traction Co. v. Higdon, Id. 732; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Haberlin, 125 S. W. 107; Posener v. Harvey, Id. 356; Feigelson v. Brown, 126 S. W. 17; Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Seeger, Id. 1170; Dixon v. Cruse, 127 S. W. 591; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Maxwell, 128 S. W. 160; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Meehan, 129 S. W. 190; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Shults, Id. 845; Grand Fraternity v. Mulkey, 130 S. W. 242; El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. Eichel & Weikel, Id. 922; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Faulkner, 131 S. W. 619; Stark v. Coe, 134 S. W. 373; Texas Seating Co. v. Farmers' & Mechanics' Nat. Bank, Id. 807; Concho, S. S. & L. V. Ry. Co. v. Sanders, 144 S. W. 693; Marrett v. Herrington, 145 S. W. 254; Raywood Rice Canal & Milling Co. v. Erp, 105 T. 161, 146 S. W. 155; Mutual Life Ins. Co. of New York v. Hodnette (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 615; Nussbaum & Scharff v. Trinity & Brazos Valley Ry. Co., 149 S. W. 1083; Green v. Wilson, 150 S. W. 255; Freeman v. Kennerly, 151 S. W. 580; Galveston, H. & H. R. Co. v. Hodnett, 155 S. W. 678; Carl v. Wolcott, 156 S. W. 334.

In trespass to try title held that it was not necessary to repeat certain instructions. Yarborough v. Mayes, 41 C. A. 446, 91 S. W. 624.

General and special charges held to be regarded as one instrument, and to be construed together. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Cotts (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 602; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Finn, 107 S. W. 94.

In an action for the value of a car of corn, a certain instruction held not misleading in connection with certain other instructions. Smith v. Landa, 45 C. A. 446, 101 S. W. 470.

An instruction held required to be considered with the one preceding, so that any deficiency was supplied thereby. Brown v. San Antonio Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 526.

In an action by an abutting owner for injuries caused by the construction and maintenance by a railroad of a tunnel and approaches in a street, the giving of an instruction held not erroneous, in view of the charge considered as a whole. Burton Lumber Corp. v. City of Houston, 45 C. A. 363, 101 S. W. 822.

An instruction in trespass to try title held, in connection with an instruction referred to by it, not misleading. Thayer v. Clark, 47 C. A. 61, 104 S. W. 196.

An instruction must be construed as a part of and in connection with the entire charge of the court in the light of the evidence. Southern Pac. Co. v. Allen, 48 C. A. 66, 106 S. W. 441.

An instruction properly submitting an issue need not include all the other material issues submitted by other instructions. Missouri Valley Bridge & Iron Co. v. Ballard, 53 C. A. 110, 116 S. W. 93; Anderson v. Crow (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1080.

In an action for injuries to plaintiffs' business, an instruction authorizing a recovery held not erroneous in view of other instructions given. American Freehold Land Mortgage Co. of London v. Brown, 54 C. A. 448, 118 S. W. 1106.

Where, in connection with the main charge, special charges were asked by both parties and were given, the main and special charges should be construed as a whole. Crawford & Byrne v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 869.

In an action against a telegraph company for delay in transmitting a message, instructions held not misleading when considered as a whole. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Landry (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 848.

425. —— Errors in general.—A charge correctly presenting the issues, when considered as a whole, held not erroneous because of an inaccuracy in a single paragraph. City Railway Co. v. Wiggins (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 577; El Paso & N. W. Ry. Co. v. McComus, 36 C. A. 170, 81 S. W. 760; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. McAdams, 37 C. A. 575, 84 S. W. 1076; Kirby Lumber Co. v. Dickerson, 42 C. A. 504, 94 S. W. 153; Valley Mills Cotton Oil Co. v. Brown (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1001; Lutcher v. Grant, 143 S. W. 1190; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Ideus, 157 S. W. 173.

426. —— Omissions in general.—Charge proper as a whole cannot be deemed erroneous because of omission of unrequested instructions. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Powell, 38 C. A. 157, 86 S. W. 21.

Failure of the court to incorporate a certain statement in one paragraph of its charge held not prejudicial error. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Kelly (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 415.

427. —— Nature of error or omission in general.—An instruction in an action on a contract to furnish certain piling held proper though it failed to mention in one part of the charge the length in connection with the piling. Lindsey v. Singletary (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 273.

The transposition of the words "plaintiff" and "defendant" in a charge held not reversible error, where the part of the charge submitting the issues to the jury was so plain that the jury could not have been misled. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Wafer, 48 C. A. 279, 106 S. W. 897; McCollum v. Buckner's Orphans' Home, 54 C. A. 348, 117 S. W. 886.

An instruction referring in the plural, instead of the singular, to the person in charge of the engine causing the injury complained of, held not erroneous. Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Cochran, 49 C. A. 591, 109 S. W. 261.

Making a too broad general statement in a charge held not ground for reversal, where in connection therewith the law directly applicable to the facts is correctly charged. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Ochiltree, 104 T. 265, 136 S. W. 767.

Rule as to construing instructions as a whole held not to apply where the instructions are inconsistent and contradictory. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Green (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 241.

The error in a charge that any information that would put a prudent man on inquiry is notice of a dissolution of a firm is cured by a correct statement in the same paragraph of the charge. Rodgers-Wade Furniture Co. v. Wynn (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 340.

428. —— Issues and theories of case in general.—In a condemnation proceeding, the fact that a certain paragraph of the charge did not state the time as of which the value of the property was to be estimated was not error. City of El Paso v. Coffin, 40 C. A. 54, 88 S. W. 502.

Charges considered as a whole held not subject to objection that they failed to limit plaintiff's recovery to the grounds alleged in his petition. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hawkins, 49 C. A. 545, 108 S. W. 736.

The court's charge held to be construed as a whole, and, when thus considered, that the jury could hardly have concluded that they were authorized to ignore the defense of accord and satisfaction. Toland v. Sutherlin, 49 C. A. 538, 110 S. W. 487.

The instructions must be considered as a whole with reference to their application to the pleadings and evidence in determining whether or not they are erroneous or misleading. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Redus, 55 C. A. 205, 118 S. W. 208.

Under the rule that a charge is to be considered as a whole, held that the part of the charge, stating the facts to be found in order for plaintiffs to recover, sufficiently referred to the defense. Woodmen of the World v. McCoslin (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 894.

429. —— Negligence in general.—An instruction on negligence held to be considered with others given. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Black (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 673; Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Davis, 35 C. A. 285, 80 S. W. 253; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Hays, 44 C. A. 462, 98 S. W. 911; Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. McHale, 47 C. A. 360, 105 S. W. 1149; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Farmer (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 729; El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. O'Keefe, 50 C. A. 579, 110 S. W. 1002; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Norton, 55 C. A. 478, 119 S. W. 702; Epperson v. International & G. N. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 117; Texas Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Scott, 127 S. W. 587; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Meehan, 129 S. W. 190; St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Matlock, 141 S. W. 1067.

In an action for killing plaintiff's horse by a train on a railroad crossing, an instruction, when read as a whole, held to require a finding, in order to permit a recovery, that the company omitted to ring the bell, blow the whistle, or slack or stop the train. St. Louis, B. & M. Ry. Co. v. Droddy (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 902.

In an action by a brakeman for injuries caused by falling from the top of the caboose owing to the alleged negligence of the engineer in making an emergency instead of a service stop in the yards, held, that a charge considered as a whole was not subject to criticism. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams, 56 C. A. 246, 120 S. W. 553.

A general instruction correctly defining negligence was not objectionable, where the question of negligence was specifically applied to the facts by the charge as a whole. Friedrich v. Geisler (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1079.

In an action for the death of a servant in a cotton gin from the bursting of a flywheel failure of an instruction on the duty of the master to provide safe machinery to state that the requirement was only to exercise ordinary care to furnish reasonably safe machinery held not to make it improper, where, on the entire charge, the jury could not have been misled. Guitar v. Randel (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 642.

An instruction to find for defendant if the box on which plaintiff stepped in alighting from the train was a proper one, and placed in a proper position by defendant's conductor, held not erroneous where, from the instructions as a whole, it informed the jury as to the extent of defendant's duty. Texas Midland R. R. v. Simmons (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1106.

An instruction is not erroneous which, taken as a whole, merely states the legal conclusion of negligence arising from certain facts. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Mebus (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 955.

430. —— Contributory negligence and assumption of risk.—Where the court sufficiently charges on contributory negligence, it need not repeat the charge as an exception to charges on other phases of the case. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Eaten (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 562; Shippers' Compress & Warehouse Co. v. Davidson, 35 C. A. 558, 80 S. W. 1032; Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. Burns (Civ. App.) 104 S. W. 1081; Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Cochran, 49 C. A. 591, 109 S. W. 261: Same v. Worth, 53 C. A. 351, 116 S. W. 365; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Williams (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 527.

Instructions on assumption of risk, when considered as a whole, held not misleading. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 48 C. A. 135, 106 S. W. 773; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ford, 56 C. A. 521, 121 S. W. 709; Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Hedric (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 633.

In an action for injury to a brakeman coupling cars, the court's failure to submit in the general charge the question of the brakeman's negligence in violating defendant's rules held not error. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Shipp, 48 C. A. 565, 109 S. W. 286.

In an action for injuries to a servant, an instruction embodying plaintiff's theory and charging that, if the facts grouped were found, plaintiff was entitled to recover, was not objectionable for failure to embody plaintiff's duty to exercise reasonable care for his own safety. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Steele, 50 C. A. 634, 110 S. W. 171.

Instructions on assumed risk in an action for injuries to a servant, when considered in connection with the charge as a whole, held not objectionable as charging that plaintiff did not assume the risks ordinarily incident to his employment, if a person of ordinary care would have continued in the service with knowledge of the defects and dangers. Freeman v. Starr (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1150.

431. —— Evidence and matters of fact in general.—Instruction which, taken with others, directs jury to determine the truth from all the evidence, held not erroneous. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Runnels (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 394.

A charge as to the burden of proof held not misleading, when considered with other portions of the charge. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wright, 19 C. A. 47, 47 S. W. 56.

An instruction affirmatively submitting the facts necessary to be found before plaintiff could recover, and an instruction immediately following, stating the facts which if found would entitle defendant to a verdict, held not objectionable as contradictory and conflicting. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Berry, 47 C. A. 327, 105 S. W. 1019.

An instruction on the circumstances under which plaintiff was entitled to recover held not ground for reversal. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Watkins, 48 C. A. 568, 108 S. W. 487.

In action to recover land, instruction given when construed in connection with other instructions held to mean that, before plaintiff can recover anything, he must prove that he owned at least a part of the land sued for. Davis v. Mills (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 1064.

In view of the charge as a whole, held, that an instruction could not have misled the jury as to the burden of proof. Olson v. Burton (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 549.

In an action for injuries to a passenger, instructions, when considered together, held to properly place the burden of proof on the passenger. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Coker (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 218.

In an action for injuries from exposure in a cold railroad waiting room, an instruction that the burden was on defendant to establish plaintiff's negligence was not reversible error, where the instructions taken as a whole properly informed the jury that in determining contributory negligence they should consider all the evidence offered in the case. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Perry (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 305.

432. —— Weight and effect of evidence.—A charge must be read as a whole to determine whether it is on the weight of the evidence or confusing. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Criswell (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 373.

The instructions, when considered as a whole, held not objectionable as giving undue prominence to plaintiff's side of the cause. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Chase (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 783.

In an action for injuries to a servant, a charge held not misleading as stating that defendant should establish its plea of contributory negligence by conclusive evidence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Johnson, 103 T. 320, 127 S. W. 539.

433. —— Invasion of province of jury.—A paragraph of a charge is not subject to objection as assuming a fact if taken as a whole the charge does not do so. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. McHale, 47 C. A. 360, 105 S. W. 1149; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Holloway & Rice, 48 C. A. 634, 107 S. W. 629; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dawson Bros. (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 1110; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hood, 55 C. A. 636, 120 S. W. 236; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ford, 56 C. A. 521, 121 S. W. 709; Ft. Worth & D. C. R. Co. v. Morrison (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1159.

434. —— Measure of damages or amount of recovery.—An instruction as to the measure of damages for injuries to cattle in shipment held not objectionable, when taken in connection with other instructions, as making defendant liable for plaintiff's negligence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Chittim, 24 C. A. 599, 60 S. W. 284.

An instruction held not objectionable as not limiting the jury in estimating plaintiff's damages to such as were the result of injuries sustained by him. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Garber, 51 C. A. 70, 111 S. W. 227.

In an action on a contract for furnishing steel for the erection of a building, where the defendant claimed damages from delay in the completion of the contract, an instruction as to recovery by defendant for loss of rent on the building caused by the delay held proper under the evidence when considered in its entirety. Feigelson v. Brown (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 17.

435. Error in instructions cured by withdrawal or giving other instructions.—An erroneous charge upon a material issue is not cured by a contradictory charge given at request of the party injured by such charge. Railway Co. v. Daniels, 1 C. A. 695, 20 S. W. 955.

An error in a charge to the jury may be corrected in a subsequent paragraph thereof. Hockaday v. Wortham, 22 C. A. 419, 54 S. W. 1094.

Error in an instruction held not cured by subsequent correct instruction. Bruce v. Koch, 94 T. 192, 59 S. W. 540; Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Garren, 96 T. 605, 74 S. W. 897, 97 Am. St. Rep. 939; Johnson v. Texas & G. Ry. Co., 45 C. A. 146, 100 S. W. 206; Horton v. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co., 46 C. A. 639, 103 S. W. 467; St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Moon, 47 C. A. 209, 103 S. W. 1176; Stringfellow v. Braselton, 54 C. A. 1, 117 S. W. 204; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Davis (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 1160; Ely-Walker Dry Goods Co. v. Colbert, 124 S. W. 705; Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Coffee, 126 S. W. 638; Baker v. Magee, 136 S. W. 1161; Marrett v. Herrington, 145 S. W. 254.

Error held cured by a further instruction. Ellis v. Randle, 24 C. A. 475, 60 S. W. 462; Carrera v. Dibrell, 42 C. A. 99, 95 S. W. 628; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Groves, 44 C. A. 63, 97 S. W. 1084, Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Davis, 45 C. A. 212, 100 S. W. 1013; Thompson v. Planters' Compress Co., 48 C. A. 235, 106 S. W. 470; Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Bradshaw (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 618; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith, 49 C. A. 1, 107 S. W. 638; Texas Mexican Ry. Co. v. De Hernandez, 49 C. A. 360, 108 S. W. 765; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Malone (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 958; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Reed, 54 C. A. 26, 116 S. W. 69; Harrison v. Bergmann (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 359; Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Hico Oil Mill, 126 S. W. 627; Sanger v. Smith, 135 S. W. 189; Wiess v. Hall, Id. 384; Baldwin v. Salgado, Id. 608; Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Green, Id. 1031; Fitzgibbons v. Galveston Electric Co., 136 S. W. 1186; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Doyal, 142 S. W. 610; Frost v. Grimmer, Id. 615; Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Dumas, 149 S. W. 543.

An erroneous instruction is not cured by subsequent correct ones, which do not refer to it or in terms attempt to modify it. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Mills, 27 C. A. 245, 65 S. W. 74; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Anchonda (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 743; Reed v. Western Union Tel. Co., 31 C. A. 116, 71 S. W. 389; City of Cleburne v. Gutta Percha & Rubber Mfg. Co., 39 C. A. 604, 88 S. W. 300.

The rule that contradictory charges require a reversal held to apply only when, from a reading of the entire charge, the inconsistent paragraphs leave the jury in doubt as to the law. Meyer Bros. Drug Co. v. Durham, 35 C. A. 71, 79 S. W. 860.

Inaccurate special charges, in conflict with a proper general charge, leave the jury without any proper guide, and the giving of them is error. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Terhune (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 74.

Error in an instruction is not cured by its being followed by instructions in conflict therewith. Citizens' Ry. Co. v. Sinclair, 36 C. A. 266, 81 S. W. 329; Finks v. Hollis, 38 C. A. 23, 85 S. W. 463; Favors v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 637; Wilkinson v. Fralin, 149 S. W. 548.

An expression in another portion of the charge, or a correct special charge, held not sufficient to correct an error in a previous charge. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Ramsey, 36 C. A. 285, 81 S. W. 825.

The fact that the main charge of the court is correct does not cure error in an erroneous special instruction. Johnson v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 36 C. A. 487, 81 S. W. 1197.

A special charge is not erroneous because of the repetition of the paragraph of the main charge, where the special charge is a converse statement of the theory presented in another paragraph of the main charge. Continental Casualty Co. v. Deeg (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 353.

Error in referring the jury to the pleadings to ascertain the issues held harmless. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Aycock (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 198.

An instruction cannot be looked to to cure misleading tendency of another, where they are irreconcilable. Petty v. Jordan-Spencer Co. (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 227.

An instruction, which in connection with others could not mislead the jury, is not erroneous because it might have that effect if taken alone. Love v. Jones (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1128.

Where the court, after charging the jury, properly gave a peremptory instruction in favor of plaintiff, errors in the charge were immaterial. Hill v. Hanan & Son (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 648.

The giving of a confusing and misleading charge is harmless; numerous special charges clearly instructing in the matter being given. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Good (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 617.

436. —— Issues and theories of case in general.—An instruction authorizing the jury to infer that any character of default might justify a forfeiture of a building contract held not erroneous, where other portions of the charge made the right of forfeiture dependent on defendant's abandonment of the contract. Watson v. Dewitt County, 19 C. A. 150, 46 S. W. 1061.

Instruction that warrantor must have known that property was not as represented, in order to constitute breach, is not cured by another correct charge as to warranty. Sanders v. Britton (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 550.

An erroneous charge relating to performance of a condition precedent to execution of a building contract held not cured by a special charge. Brown v. Binz (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 483.

Error in failure of court in its general charge to instruct as to matters pleaded as a defense is cured by the giving of special charges thereon at defendant's request. Wells v. Houston, 23 C. A. 629, 57 S. W. 584.

Objection that a general instruction misstates the issues is unavailing where fuller instructions were not requested. Johnson v. International & G. N. R. Co., 24 C. A. 148, 57 S. W. 869.

Instruction to jury as to effect of grantee's knowledge of fraudulent purpose of grantor held not erroneous, in view of other instructions. Bruce v. Koch (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 189.

An instruction as to an agent's authority to issue a permit to ride on freight trains held not cured by an instruction to find for defendant if such authority had been revoked. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Peterson, 24 C. A. 548, 60 S. W. 275.

In an action on a note and to foreclose a vendor's lien, error in refusing to charge that there was no lien if it was so agreed when the note was given held not cured by a charge to find for defendant if the lien was waived when the deed was executed or afterwards; the note having been given before the deed. Cross v. Kennedy (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 318.

Instruction held not erroneous, as excluding certain issues where they were submitted by other instructions. Clapp v. Royer, 28 C. A. 29, 67 S. W. 345; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Plummer, 57 C. A. 563, 122 S. W. 942; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Grant (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 145.

In action for wrongful killing of plaintiffs' husband and father, erroneous instruction as to measure of damages held not modified and corrected by subsequent charge. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Sivells, 28 C. A. 497, 67 S. W. 517.

On issue as to location of survey, defendant held not in position to complain of certain instructions refused; the charge having been made favorable. White v. Smith (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 1028.

In an action by a real estate agent to recover commissions, instruction relative to necessity of plaintiff having been the procuring cause of the sale held not misleading, in view of other portions of the charge. Wilson v. Weber (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 800.

In an action to recover land claimed by defendant to be held under a parol partition, an instruction that the jury should find for plaintiff if they failed to find a partition was not prejudicial to plaintiff. Long v. Long, 30 C. A. 368, 70 S. W. 587.

The fact that issues excluded in a charge were submitted elsewhere held not to cure the error. McAfee v. Meadows, 32 C. A. 105, 75 S. W. 813.

Failure to submit a particular issue in general charge was not error, where such issue was submitted by a charge given at defendant's request. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Appel, 33 C. A. 575, 77 S. W. 635.

In an action to recover land or, in the alternative, to recover notes given for the purchase price thereof, an instruction submitting the issue of the execution of the notes held not prejudicial. Abbott v. Stiff (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 562.

An erroneous instruction on an issue as to the validity of a release held not cured by another instruction on the same issue. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Williams, 37 C. A. 198, 83 S. W. 248.

A charge which correctly presents plaintiff's theory of his case need not be incumbered with defensive matter, and is sufficiently qualified by a subsequent charge submitting the defensive matter. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Fowler (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 484.

An instruction given at defendants' request in an action to determine which of two real estate firms was entitled to a commission, if erroneous in that it excluded the theory that the broker who was the efficient or procuring cause of the sale was entitled to the commission, held not to constitute reversible error, where certain other instructions were given on behalf of plaintiffs. Painter v. Kilgore (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 809.

In an action for a broker's commission on the sale of real estate, an instruction held not misleading for omission to refer to a condition alleged to have been imposed on the sale, in view of another instruction on that subject. Hansen v. Williams (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 312.

An instruction, in a suit for safes sold, held not to meet an objection to another paragraph that it deprived plaintiff of the right to have considered the question of acceptance by retaining possession and using them. Edwards v. Wooldridge, 52 C. A. 512, 115 S. W. 920.

In trespass to try title to land located under a certificate by defendants' mother after her husband's death to another for plaintiffs' benefit, with warranty of title, in consideration of a tract which defendants afterward inherited from her, defendants held not harmed by an instruction to inquire whether the consideration for the certificate was received by defendants' mother from such other, in view of another instruction. Vann v. Denson, 56 C. A. 220, 120 S. W. 1020.

Where, in an action by a passenger for an assault committed by the auditor, the evidence showed the good reputation of the auditor, and the bad reputation of the passenger, that the passenger had a previous difficulty with the auditor, and was guilty of misconduct by swearing at the auditor and threatening him, and that the auditor thereafter assaulted the passenger to defend himself from threatened injury, the refusal to charge that, if the passenger was guilty of such conduct towards the auditor as would provoke a peaceable man to resent the same and the passenger provoked the auditor to attack him, there could be no recovery, was erroneous, though the court submitted the issue of self-defense, and authorized the jury to consider the passenger's conduct in mitigation of damages. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gerren, 57 C. A. 34, 121 S. W. 905.

An instruction held not subject to the objection that it did not contain a qualification as to the effect of the running of the statute of limitations, where the jury was properly instructed as to limitations in other portions of the charge. Wrighton v. Butler (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 472.

In an action against a telegraph company for delay in delivering a telegram, a charge that defendant was not liable, if the telegram was unavoidably delayed without its fault, held not error as submitting a certain issue, in view of another instruction given. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Guinn (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 616.

Error in a charge telling the jury that the action was barred as to a defendant held not cured by another portion thereof, nor by other charges. Frizzell v. Woodman Pub Co. (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 659.

In an action for broker's commissions, refusal of a request to charge held cured by other instructions. Pope v. Ansley Realty Co. (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1103.

Any error in referring to the petition for a fuller statement of the case held harmless. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Koch (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1035.

In an action by a vendor for breach of contract by the purchaser, who relied on the vendor's fraudulent representations, a charge authorizing a recovery if the purchaser refused to take and pay for the land was not misleading as ignoring the defense of fraud, submitted by another instruction. Green v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 255.

Error in an instruction making defendant liable for injury caused by negligence not alleged in the petition is harmless, where a subsequent instruction limits the jury to a consideration of the specific defect alleged. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Mebus (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 955.

437. —— Negligence in general.—An instruction to find for plaintiff, if the stack of ties in the "plight" they were then in rendered the premises unsafe, held not error, where the issue as to whether they were unsafe was otherwise clearly submitted. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Echols, 17 C. A. 677, 41 S. W. 488.

An instruction held not cured by a subsequent instruction. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Kimbell (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 1049; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Lehman, 30 C. A. 3, 66 S. W. 214; Same v. Anchonda (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 743; McCowen v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. 73 S. W. 46; Shelton v. Northern Texas Traction Co., 32 C. A. 507, 75 S. W. 338; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Turner (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 195; Kirby Lumber Co. v. Dickerson, 42 C. A. 504, 94 S. W. 153; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Johnson, 100 T. 237, 97 S. W. 1039; San Antonio Traction Co. v. Kumpf (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 863; Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Olds, 112 S. W. 787; Texas & P. R. Co. v. Beezley, 56 C. A. 245, 120 S. W. 1136; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Ward (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 130; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Ellis (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 246.

A special charge, if defendant was guilty of negligence, to find for plaintiff, is proper, without defining defendant's duty and liability, where the same is covered by a general charge given in connection with it. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lyons (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 96.

An instruction imposing on a railroad company such degree of care in operating cars as ordinarily prudent men would exercise held proper, where jury were instructed that plaintiff could not recover unless defendant's trainmen were guilty of gross negligence, and that deceased was not guilty of contributory negligence. Gulf, W. T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Letsch (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 584.

In an action against a railroad company to recover damages for personal injuries, an erroneous instruction held not cured by subsequent contradictory instructions which made no direct reference to the error, and did not withdraw nor qualify it. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Mills, 27 C. A. 245, 65 S. W. 74.

In an action against a railway company for injuries to a traveler due to a defective bridge, the refusal to instruct that defendant would not be liable if it used ordinary care to keep the bridge in a reasonably safe condition held not erroneous, in view of the giving of other instructions. Denison & P. S. Ry. Co. v. Foster, 28 C. A. 578, 68 S. W. 299.

An instruction held cured by a subsequent charge. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Long, 32 C. A. 40, 74 S. W. 59; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Kothmann, 37 C. A. 548, 84 S. W. 1089; Denison & P. Suburban Ry. Co. v. Binkley, 38 C. A. 633, 87 S. W. 386; Wood v. Texas Cotton Product Co. (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 496; Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Sage, 43 C. A. 38, 94 S. W. 1074; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Cherry, 44 C. A. 344, 98 S. W. 898; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Munn, 46 C. A. 276, 102 S. W. 442; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Carter, 47 C. A. 309, 104 S. W. 910; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Howell (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 560; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Boleman, 112 S. W. 805; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Redus, 55 C. A. 205, 118 S. W. 208; Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Clay, 55 C. A. 526, 119 S. W. 730; Blossom Oil & Cotton Co. v. Poteet (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 240; Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Neaves, Id. 1090; Texas Co. v. Strange, 132 S. W. 370; Cumby Mercantile & Lumber Co. v. Long, 133 S. W. 1072; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Brown, 140 S. W. 1172; Glenn Lumber Co. v. Quinn, 149 S. W. 285; Ft. Worth Belt Ry. Co. v. Turney, 157 S. W. 274.

In action against railroad for injuries to switchman, an instruction that it was defendant's duty to use ordinary care, so that employés should be reasonably safe in the discharge of their duties, held not erroneous, when considered with other instructions. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Schilling, 32 C. A. 417, 75 S. W. 64.

Objection to a portion of a charge, in an action for the death of a brakeman while assisting in running a train onto a coal chute, based on the ground that it made it the absolute duty of the engineer to have stopped at the signals given, held to have been obviated by other portions of the charge, correctly stating the law. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. O'Connor (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 374.

In action for injuries to alighting passenger, charge held not to cure a former charge omitting reference to defendant's knowledge of plaintiff's desire to alight. Texas Southern R. Co. v. Long, 35 C. A. 339, 80 S. W. 114.

Submission of an issue not raised by the pleadings held not error, in view of the express requirement that plaintiff recover on the specific negligence alleged. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Sage (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 1038.

Error in a special instruction held not cured by reference therein to the general charge. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Huff, 98 T. 110, 81 S. W. 525.

An instruction in an action for injuries to a servant held to conflict with, and therefore not to cure the error in, a previous instruction requiring too high a degree of care in furnishing railroad employés with cars and attachments reasonably safe for use. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Corrigan (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 554.

In an action by a servant for personal injuries, error, if any, in an instruction which might be construed as requiring the master to furnish absolutely safe appliances, held to have been rendered harmless by other instructions. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Perry, 36 C. A. 414, 82 S. W. 343.

An erroneous instruction held not made harmless by a contradictory instruction. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Sage, 98 T. 438, 84 S. W. 814.

A charge that a failure to provide means for passengers to alight with safety to themselves constituted negligence per se held not corrected by another paragraph. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Tittle (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 640.

In an action for injury to an employé, a statement in the preamble to the submission of the issues held not prejudicial error. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Mills, 53 C. A. 359, 116 S. W. 852.

In an action against carriers for damage to stock, held that if there was error in a charge standing alone, in that the jury might have concluded either of the first two were liable for injuries occurring after the stock were delivered to its connecting carrier, it was cured by a special charge. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Franklin (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 1150.

Plaintiff in an action for injuries to an infant passenger on a street car alleged specifically that the conductor was negligent in taking up the child, swinging her over the pavement, and letting her drop. The court erred in submitting the negligence of the conductor generally to the jury, and not confining the issues to the negligence charged.

Held, that another instruction to find for defendant, if the conductor, using the care required of him, merely attempted to prevent the child from jumping, was misleading, and emphasized the error of the general charge. Galveston Electric Co. v. Dickey (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 332.

An instruction that a carrier owed the duty to a passenger to use the highest degree of care for his safety did not impose too great a burden on the carrier, where the court defined "highest degree of care," as such care as a very cautious or prudent person in a like business would exercise, under the same or similar circumstances. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Trower (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 588.

The giving of a charge not completely defining negligence, held not error, in view of other instructions. St. Louis, B. & M. Ry. Co. v. Droddy (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 946.

In an action for injuries to an infant passenger, an instruction as to defendant's negligence, taken together with a charge given at defendant's request, held to sufficiently confine the jury to a consideration of the specific acts of negligence charged in the petition. Galveston Electric Co. v. Dickey (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1093.

Error in charging several acts of negligence in the conjunctive in an action for injuries to live stock held cured by another paragraph of the charge. Guinn v. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 63.

In an action for killing a horse on defendant's track, error in a charge submitting the issue of defendant's negligence in permitting grass to grow on its tracks was not cured by a special charge that there could be no finding for plaintiff if the horse was not actually struck by the train, where the special charge did not show it was intended to cure the error. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Stewart (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 598.

An instruction as to the negligence of a railroad company in running its "train into the steam, without the bell being rung or its whistle blown," but which made no allowance for these signals given in time to warn plaintiff before the train got into the steam, was harmless, where the court further charged that the jury should return a verdict for defendant, if they found that the bell was rung or the whistle blown at the usual time and place. Thompson & Ford Lumber Co. v. Thomas (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 296.

A paragraph of the charge, directing a verdict for the master if it be found that the injured servant was of mature judgment or experienced in the business, will not be considered to indicate that verdict could not be for the master except on such a finding; other special charges stating other grounds on which verdict could be for it. Chicago, R. I. & E. P. Ry. Co. v. Easley (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 785.

In an action against a railway company for setting a fire, any error in an instruction which relieved the company from liability if it used ordinary care to equip its engines with an approved spark arrester, in failing to require the company to have kept the spark arrester in good repair, was harmless, where another instruction covered the omission. Nussbaum & Scharff v. Trinity & Brazos Valley Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1083.

A charge that a street car company has not the exclusive use of that part of the street upon which its track is laid held not misleading, where the reciprocal duties of the parties were defined and plaintiff's recovery made to depend on the negligent operation of the car in other instructions. Galveston Electric Co. v. Antonini (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 841.

Where, in an action for injuries from a defective brake ratchet dog, the court submitted the only theory available to plaintiff, which was that the dog was defective, and defendant was negligent in not discovering the defect, error in instructing that it was defendant's duty, "if any defects were found," to use ordinary care to repair them, was harmless, though there was no evidence of defects. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Downs (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 714.

438. —— Contributory negligence.—Charge held not objectionable as authorizing recovery without regard to plaintiff's care; the matter of contributory negligence being covered by a subsequent paragraph. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Nordell, 20 C. A. 362, 50 S. W. 601; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Branch, 29 C. A. 144, 68 S. W. 338; Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Oldridge, 33 C. A. 436, 76 S. W. 581; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Mills, 34 C. A. 127, 78 S. W. 11; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Walters (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 668; St. Louis Southwestern R. Co. of Texas v. Hawkins, 49 C. A. 545, 108 S. W. 736; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Mayfield (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 141; Farmers' Cotton Oil Co. v. Barnes, 134 S. W. 369; Municipal Paving Co. v. Donovan Co., 142 S. W. 644.

Instructions on contributory negligence held cured by other instructions. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gist, 31 C. A. 662, 73 S. W. 857; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Villareal, 36 C. A. 532, 82 S. W. 1063; Consolidated Kansas City Smelting & Refining Co. v. Binkley, 45 C. A. 100, 99 S. W. 181; Trinity & B. V. R. Co. v. McCune (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 237.

Charge on discovered peril held to correct any misapprehensions which might have arisen from language of another charge. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Matthews, 34 C. A. 302, 79 S. W. 71.

An erroneous instruction as to contributory negligence held not cured by another instruction. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. McAllister, 41 C. A. 131, 90 S. W. 933.

An ambiguity in an instruction held not ground for reversal in view of other charges given. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Von Hoesen, 99 T. 646, 92 S. W. 798.

Refusal of an instruction relieving a railroad company of liability for death of a person killed by a train at a crossing, if he went on the track immediately in front of the train, held error, notwithstanding the giving of other instructions. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Ploeger (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 226.

Instruction that, if plaintiff, "before or at the time" the engine started, took his seat on brake wheel, he was negligent, held cured by instruction that, if he afterwards, or "at or immediately before" the injury, did so, he was negligent. Consolidated Kansas City Smelting & Refining Co. v. Binkley, 45 C. A. 100, 99 S. W. 181.

A charge erroneous because it disregarded the issue of plaintiff's contributory negligence was not cured by the written statement of the court that it was to be construed as a part of the main charge which correctly submitted the issue of contributory negligence to the jury. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Waldie (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 517.

An instruction relating to the right of the employé to assume that the appliances furnished were reasonably safe held not erroneous in view of the statement following it. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Patrick, 50 C. A. 491, 109 S. W. 1097.

A charge held not to ignore the issue of contributory negligence. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Meehan (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 190.

Instruction held not erroneous as calculated to lead the jury to believe that, to find for defendant, they must find plaintiff guilty of both acts of negligence submitted. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Haberlin, 104 T. 50, 133 S. W. 873.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff while walking on defendant's track, an instruction that plaintiff was rightfully walking there, if he had express or implied permission, was not objectionable as stating that it was not plaintiff's duty to select a different route, where the court elsewhere charged on plaintiff's duty as to taking another route. Thompson & Ford Lumber Co. v. Thomas (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 296.

Error in instructing, in a railroad brakeman's action for injuries, that if plaintiff's contributory negligence, concurring with any negligence of defendant, was the direct cause of the injury the jury should find for defendant, was not cured by a correct instruction that plaintiff's contributory negligence would not bar a recovery, but that his damages should be reduced in the proportion that his negligence bears to the defendant's negligence. Gregory v. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 648.

Error in an instruction for not stating the legal conclusion deducible from the acts of the person injured is cured by a subsequent instruction properly submitting the matter of contributory negligence. El Paso Electric R. Co. v. Mebus (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 955.

439. —— Assumption of risk.—Instruction disregarding assumption of risk held error, though next instruction regarded it. Paris, M. & S. P. Ry. Co. v. Stokes (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 484.

Held not error to charge that servant did not assume risks resulting from master's negligence; the charge being qualified by other instructions as to extent of master's duty and consequence of servant's knowledge of defects. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Pitts (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 255.

An instruction that employés are not presumed to take risks arising from the negligence of an employer held proper, in connection with subsequent portions of the charge. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Gourley, 21 C. A. 579, 54 S. W. 307.

An objectionable instruction on assumed risk held cured by a further instruction. Houston Electric Co. v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 209; Texas Portland Cement & Lime Co. v. Lee, 36 C. A. 482, 82 S. W. 306; Guitar v. Randel (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 642.

An instruction on assumed risk, in case plaintiff knew the method in which the work was done was according to defendant's "custom," held cured by a subsequent instruction. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rea (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 428.

The error in a charge on assumed risk held not cured by a correct charge. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Forrester (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 162; Pettithory v. Clarke & Courts, 139 S. W. 989.

440. —— Evidence and matters of fact in general.—An erroneous instruction that the burden was on defendant to show that cattle were worth less than $19 per head was cured by a finding that the cattle were worth more, under an instruction that the burden was on plaintiff to show that the cattle were worth more than said sum. Slaughter v. Moore, 17 C. A. 233, 42 S. W. 372.

An instruction not sustained by the evidence held not cured by a further instruction. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Runnels (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 394; Western Union Telegraph Co. v. De Andrea, 45 C. A. 395, 100 S. W. 977; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Ford (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 1137.

An error in an instruction held not cured by a subsequent contradictory court charge, which did not withdraw or refer to the erroneous charge. Gonzales v. Adoue, 94 T. 120, 58 S. W. 951.

Error in charging that the burden was on defendant in trover to show title to property in his possession held not cured by a subsequent charge that the burden was on plaintiff to establish his claim. Mershon v. Bosley (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 799.

The refusal to give a general charge that, if an injury was caused by the negligence of a passenger, she could not recover, held not erroneous, when the jury was instructed as to consequence of all negligent acts of passenger. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ferguson, 26 C. A. 460, 64 S. W. 797.

In an action for personal injuries, a charge on the burden of proof held not objectionable as abstract and misleading. Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Newport, 26 C. A. 583, 65 S. W. 657.

Though, in a servant's action for injuries, his evidence discloses contributory negligence, an instruction that the burden of proving contributory negligence is on defendant is not error, where the jury are also told to look to all of the testimony, by whomsoever introduced. General Electric Co. v. Murray, 32 C. A. 226, 74 S. W. 50.

An instruction on the burden of proving contributory negligence held not misleading, in view of other instructions. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Howard, 96 T. 582, 75 S. W. 805.

Charges, in an action for the death of a brakeman while assisting in running a train onto a coal chute, held to have been properly refused, because they imposed on defendant a greater burden, in order to establish contributory negligence, than the law required, and because the law therein was otherwise fully and fairly presented. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. O'Connor (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 374.

In action for injuries to passenger, charge on burden of proof held to obviate any objections to other charges relative thereto. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Moody, 35 C. A. 46, 79 S. W. 856.

In an action against a telegraph company for delay in delivering a message, error in giving an instruction not sustained by the evidence held intensified by an instruction on the measure of damages. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. De Andrea, 45 C. A. 395, 100 S. W. 977.

In an action against a railroad company for the burning of a building alleged to have been caused by sparks emitted from one of defendant's locomotives, an instruction held not to place upon plaintiff improper burden of proof, in view of the other paragraphs of the main charge. Womack & Sturgis v. International & G. N. R. Co., 46 C. A. 243, 102 S. W. 936.

Error in refusing a charge as to the burden of proof in an action for injuries to a passenger held not cured by the giving of a special charge in conflict with a charge given for plaintiff. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Duncan, 55 C. A. 440, 121 S. W. 362.

A charge as to the burden of proof as to contributory negligence of a passenger in a collision held not calculated to mislead the jury when taken in connection with other portions of the main charge and special charges. Beaumont Traction Co. v. Happ, 57 C. A. 427, 122 S. W. 610.

In an action for rescission of a contract of sale, an instruction held not to place the burden of proof on plaintiff, instead of defendant, in view of another instruction given. Black v. Brooks (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 177.

In an action to abate a nuisance, an instruction held not erroneous as shifting the burden of proof. Stark v. Coe (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 373.

A charge as to a presumption arising from a given state of facts not raising a conclusive presumption is reversible error, although other parts of the charge were correct. Noblett v. Harper (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 519.

Where, in a negligence case, the court in a general charge states that "the burden is upon the plaintiff to prove by a preponderance of the evidence * * * the facts, * * * submitted in this charge or in any special charge," special instructions which are correct when construed together with this instruction do not erroneously place the burden of proof. Riley v. Fisher (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 581.

An instruction, not specifically requiring the jury to base its belief on the evidence, is not bad, where they have been told that plaintiff must prove his case by a preponderance of the evidence. Austin Fire Ins. Co. v. Sayles (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 272.

441. —— Weight and effect of evidence in general.—Charges considered as a whole, and held not objectionable as failing to limit plaintiff's recovery to injuries supported by the proof. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hawkins, 49 C. A. 545, 108 S. W. 736.

442. —— Invasion of province of jury.—An instruction based on the uncontradicted evidence held not prejudicial when considered in connection with another instruction. Hirsch v. Jones (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 604.

Error in an instruction on the facts held not cured by a subsequent instruction in direct conflict therewith. St. Louis & S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gill (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 386.

In an action by a servant to recover for personal injuries, error in submitting the question whether plaintiff was in the employ of defendant, when such fact was undisputed, is cured by a special charge that he was so employed. Johnson v. International & G. N. R. Co., 24 C. A. 148, 57 S. W. 869.

An instruction which invaded the province of the jury held not cured by another instruction. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. English (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 626; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Meek, 33 C. A. 47, 75 S. W. 317; Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Waldie (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 517.

Instruction assuming fact in dispute held not ground for reversal, where fact was elsewhere submitted to the jury. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Rawls (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 136; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Scott, 30 C. A. 496, 71 S. W. 26; Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Carter (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 73; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Kelly, 98 T. 123, 80 S. W. 79; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Copley, 38 C. A. 568, 87 S. W. 219; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Archambault (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 1108; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Suter, 54 C. A. 238, 118 S. W. 215; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. McDonald, 56 C. A. 34, 120 S. W. 494; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Shults (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 845.

An instruction which assumed a fact in controversy held erroneous, though in another part of the same such question was submitted to the jury. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Martin, 26 C. A. 231, 63 S. W. 1089; Texas Midland R. Co. v. Booth, 35 C. A. 322, 80 S. W. 121; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Lynch (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 580.

Where a previous paragraph has submitted the issue of plaintiff having given signals, a paragraph directing verdict for defendant, if the jury find plaintiff was guilty of contributory negligence, though they may believe defendant's engineer was negligent in failing to observe and obey plaintiff's signals, is not subject to the objection of assuming plaintiff gave signals. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. De Bord (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 667.

A charge held not on the weight of evidence, as assuming that the engineer failed to keep a watch, and indicating that the court thought he so failed, because of its statement, and if the jury believe "that such failure to keep," where immediately preceding such language it is left to jury to say whether the engineer exercised ordinary care to keep a watch. Id.

Where, in an action for injuries to passenger while attempting to alight, caused by the sudden jerking of the train, the jury understood from the whole charge that they must determine the question whether there was a sudden movement of the train, a charge subject to the criticism that it assumed that the train was started suddenly was not ground for reversal. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1090.

A statement, in the preliminary portion of the court's charge to the jury in an action for damages, held not reversible though on the weight of the evidence, where there was no objection to the affirmative portion of the charge. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Hilgartner (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1091.

443. —— Measure of damages or amount of recovery.—The giving of an instruction which might lead the jury to believe that the circumstances which were the basis for estimating the damages were the elements of damages, in an action for the death of a servant, by his parents, is not error when it was specially charged that the only element of damage was the pecuniary interest plaintiffs had in the life of deceased. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. White, 23 C. A. 280, 56 S. W. 204.

An erroneous instruction as to the measure of damages held not to have been remedied by a further instruction. San Antonio Traction Co. v. White, 94 T. 468, 61 S. W. 706.

In an action for injuries and mental anguish an instruction authorizing a recovery, regardless of the defendant's knowledge of relationship, held not prejudicial, when considered with entire charge. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Anchonda, 33 C. A. 24, 75 S. W. 557.

A misleading sentence in an instruction held harmless, being corrected by the next sentence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. J. P. French & Son (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 1050.

An instruction on the measure of damage held not erroneous, when construed with another instruction. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Snyder (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 1041; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Saunders (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 829.

Refusal to charge as to the right of recovery for time lost by plaintiff during his minority held not erroneous in view of the charge given. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Archambault (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 1108.

The error of including financial injury as one of the results of the publication in defining libel, in an action for injury to the reputation alone, was harmless, where the court only submitted such matters contained in its definition of libel as were pleaded and proved, and instructed that in estimating plaintiff's damages they should not consider any financial injury suffered by her. San Antonio Light Pub. Co. v. Lewy, 52 C. A. 22, 113 S. W. 574.

An instruction construed in view of another charge given held not to permit recovery for all injuries alleged in the petition, but only for such as plaintiff's wife received by being thrown from the car by defendant's negligence. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Higdon (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 732.

The giving of instructions requested by the carrier on the issue of damages cured any defect in the prior charge on that issue. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Stone (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 587.

That an instruction in an action for injuries omitted to refer to a question of aggravation was not error where such question was fully covered by other instructions. Southern Pac. Co. v. Sorey (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 119.

Where the court charged that, if an employé was guilty of contributory negligence, damages for the injury must be diminished in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to him, a further instruction authorizing the award of such damages as would fairly compensate plaintiff for the injuries was not objectionable as authorizing the award of full compensation notwithstanding contributory negligence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Sample (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1057.

Instruction, if erroneous in omitting certain elements of damage claimed, was harmless, where the main instruction submitted all the elements of damage claimed. Carpenter v. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 363.

Error in instructing in an action for suffering and sickness by plaintiff and wife and minor children that if defendant was negligent, and plaintiff and wife and children sustained the injuries complained of, the verdict must be for plaintiff, held cured by another instruction that plaintiff could not recover damages for mental anguish of himself and wife on account of sickness of the children. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Kirby (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1005.

444. —— Definition or explanation of terms.—An erroneous instruction as to the definition of "negligence" held not cured by other portions of the charge which were correct. Texas M. R. R. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 892.

An instruction defining value, which is inapplicable to the facts in the case, is cured by a special charge explaining and applying the instruction to the facts. Graves v. Hillyer (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 889.

A definition of proximate cause held erroneous, but cured by the remainder of the charge. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Gordon (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 635; Rice v. Dewberry, 93 S. W. 715.

An instruction defining negligence, if inaccurate, held corrected by another instruction. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Kothmann, 37 C. A. 548, 84 S. W. 1089.

The jury held not misled by the court's failure to define the expression "properly assist," used in the charge referring to defendant's negligence in failing to properly assist the passenger while alighting. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wolf, 40 C. A. 381, 89 S. W. 778.

Under courts of civil appeals rule 62a, providing that a judgment shall not be reversed for nonprejudicial error, an erroneous instruction defining a land partnership held not reversible error where, considered with another instruction, it could not have misled the jury. Parker v. Naylor (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1096.

445. —— Withdrawal or correction.—An erroneous instruction may be withdrawn. Yoakum v. Mettash (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 129.

Action of court in recalling jury and withdrawing special charge held to have cured any error in giving the withdrawn charge. Cheek v. W. H. Nicholson & Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 594.

Art. 1972. [1318] [1318] Charge need not be excepted to.—Such charge shall be filed by the clerk and shall constitute a part of the record of the cause, [and shall be regarded as excepted to, and subject to revision for errors therein, without the necessity of taking any bill of exception thereto.]

Explanatory.—The bracketed words in this article have been superseded by Acts 1913, p. 113 [Art. 2061].

Cited, Byrd v. State (Cr. App.) 151 S. W. 1068.

Right to object.—In libel, though the truth was not in issue, held, that defendant could not complain of error in charging that it was a justification. Houston Printing Co. v. Moulden, 15 C. A. 574, 41 S. W. 381.

An instruction on the theory as to measure of damages adopted by both parties held not error, though the theory was a mistaken one. Levy v. Tatum (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 941.

Where one instruction charged that knowledge and participation in the fraud of the mortgagor were necessary to avoid the mortgage, and another charged that knowledge alone was sufficient, the mortgagee cannot complain. Frost v. Mason, 17 C. A. 465, 44 S. W. 53.

Refusing to instruct for plaintiff on the ground that defendants claimed under a common source held proper, where plaintiffs had offered contradictory evidence as to the identity of their ancestor with the common source. Smith v. Davis, 18 C. A. 563, 47 S. W. 101.

A judgment for defendant will not be reversed because of error in the court's charge to the jury, where plaintiff failed to tender any material issue of fact upon the trial. Reeves v. Smith, 23 C. A. 711, 58 S. W. 185.

A railroad company, in an action by a passenger for an assault, held not entitled to complain of an erroneous instruction requiring the jury to find that the assault was a negligent act, in order to authorize a recovery. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Johnson, 29 C. A. 184, 68 S. W. 58.

Any error in instruction, in action by brakeman against railroad company, as to brakeman's duty to comply with rules, held not available to company. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Scott, 30 C. A. 496, 71 S. W. 26.

In debtor's action to enforce alleged right to redeem incumbered property, bought in by secured creditor, creditor held not in position to object to charge permitting recovery on theory of his estoppel, though an agreement permitting redemption might have been found fraudulent toward other creditors. First Nat. Bank v. Moor, 34 C. A. 476, 79 S. W. 53.

In a suit to enjoin as a threatened nuisance the location of a cemetery adjacent to plaintiff's lands, defendants held not entitled to complain of erroneous charge. Elliott v. Ferguson, 37 C. A. 40, 83 S. W. 56.

Held, that defendant could not complain of court's charge on contributory negligence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. McAdams, 37 C. A. 575, 84 S. W. 1076.

Defendant held not entitled to complain because plaintiff was required by the instructions to prove a particular warranty. San Antonio Machine & Supply Co. v. Josey (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 598.

Railroad company, in an action against it for personal injuries to servant, held not entitled to complain of an instruction as to a certain issue raised by it in its defense, on the ground that it was not raised by the pleadings. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Monell, 50 C. A. 287, 110 S. W. 504.

In an action to recover the price of goods bought, held, that defendants could not complain of certain charges. Plotner & Stoddard v. Markham Warehouse & Elevator Co. (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 443.

In an action to abate a nuisance, a charge held beneficial to defendant. Stark v. Coe (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 373.

In an action against a telephone company for negligence in leaving a cable spool in the street, the failure of the company to show whether the spool was in use at the time of the injury held to preclude it from objecting to a certain instruction. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Doolittle (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 415.

An instruction extending the issue of notice to "servants in charge of the engine" which injured plaintiff, instead of confining it to the engineer, was not prejudicial to defendant. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Wiley (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 356.

—— Estoppel or waiver.—Appellant cannot complain of a charge, when it requested one announcing the same rule of law. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Knight, 20 C. A. 477, 49 S. W. 250; Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Richards, 20 C. A. 203, 49 S. W. 687; Over v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 535; Baca v. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co., 32 C. A. 210, 73 S. W. 1073; Ellyson v. International & G. N. R. Co., 33 C. A. 1, 75 S. W. 868; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Clark, 36 C. A. 195, 81 S. W. 821; Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Carroll, 36 C. A. 359, 81 S. W. 1020; Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Williams, 37 C. A. 198, 83 S. W. 248.

Refusal to withdraw an itemized statement of plaintiff's claims from the jury, held no ground for complaint, after defendant had consented to the jury taking it. National Bank of Dangerfield v. Ragland (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 661.

Where the evidence raised but a single issue, and plaintiff stated in an assignment of error that there was but one, he cannot complain of an instruction submitting but the one issue. Lang v. Henke, 22 C. A. 490, 55 S. W. 374.

In an action for failure to deliver a telegraph message, the defendants were precluded from objecting to the submission to the jury of a question, where they had admitted in a requested instruction, which had been refused and made part of the record, that the question was for the jury. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Bryson, 25 C. A. 74, 61 S. W. 548.

In a suit on a contract for the construction of a sewer, the contractor cannot complain of an instruction referring to the finality of the decision of enginers, where they submitted the question to them for decision. Marshall v. City of San Antonio (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 138.

In action by a railroad telegrapher for injuries, company, introducing evidence of facts, held precluded from objecting to instruction as assuming such facts. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Jenkins, 29 C. A. 440, 69 S. W. 233.

A carrier, not having objected to an instruction requiring it to exercise the highest degree of care to protect its passengers from insult from fellow passengers, held not entitled to object to a request which imposed only the exercise of ordinary care. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Duck (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 1027.

An erroneous requested instruction, submitted after the charge, which was erroneous in some respect, cannot be a basis for reversal on the doctrine of invited error. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Eyer, 96 T. 72, 70 S. W. 529.

A party cannot complain of a charge submitting the issue as made in his pleading, and a refusal to submit it otherwise. Rea v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 555.

In an action against a telegraph company for failure to deliver a death message, an erroneous instruction on the elements of damage held not invited. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Bowen, 97 T. 621, 81 S. W. 27.

A requested instruction cannot be regarded on appeal as having invited error, where it appears that it was refused on the ground that it had been given in the main charge. Id.

Plaintiff held not estopped by the record to complain of the refusal of an instruction. Hawkins v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 36 C. A. 633, 83 S. W. 52.

Failure of plaintiff to request a proper instruction, in an action against a carrier for goods lost, held not a waiver of error in an instruction limiting the carrier's liability to the exercise of ordinary care. Bibb v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 37 C. A. 508, 84 S. W. 663.

Omission in a charge held not to be complained of by one asking a special charge in effect like it. Oneal v. Weisman, 39 C. A. 592, 88 S. W. 290.

Defendant was not entitled to an instruction to reject testimony of his own witnesses. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Sanchez, 57 C. A. 87, 122 S. W. 44.

Where a party requested a charge on a specified issue, and there was nothing to show that the request was made after the court had refused him a peremptory instruction, requested on the ground of the insufficiency of the evidence to authorize a submission of the issue, the error in submitting the issue is not available, being invited error. Alamo Dressed Beef Co. v. Yeargan (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 721.

—— Ruling on motion for directed verdict.—Where defendant did not demur to the evidence or waive his right to introduce evidence, should his motion for a directed verdict be overruled, but expressly reserved such right, he cannot object to the overruling of his motion. Thos. Goggan & Bro. v. Goggan (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 968.

Where appellant did not stand on his motion for an instructed verdict, but after it was overruled introduced testimony, there was no merit in his assignment of error in overruling such motion. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Kelleher, 48 C. A. 421, 107 S. W. 64; Mound Oil Co. v. F. W. Heitmann Co. (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1187; El Paso & Southwestern Co. v. Hall, 156 S. W. 356; Grand Temple and Tabernacle in State of Texas of Knights and Daughters of Tabor of International Order of Twelve v. Johnson, 156 S. W. 532; Peacock v. Coltrane, 156 S. W. 1087; Denton v. English, 157 S. W. 264.

Time for objection or exception.—The form of submission of issues may not be complained of for the first time on appeal. Stahl v. Askey (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 79.

Claim that other elements of damage should have been submitted by the charge held not permissible for the first time on appeal. Stewart v. International & G. N. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 310.

An objection that the court's charge was not marked filed by the clerk, as required by law, comes too late when raised for the first time on appeal. Carter v. Kieran (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 272.

Defendants held not entitled to claim for the first time on appeal that the submission of an issue concerning the reconveyance of certain land to the patentee was erroneous. Saxton v. Corbett (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 75.

An oral charge to the jury after submission of the cause will not be available as error in absence of exception thereto at the time and a bill of exceptions taken. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

Taking and noting exception.—Where all evidence on a certain point is excluded in the charge, the effect is the same as though an exception to that point had been sustained. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Seals (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 964.

Where a charge as given was incomplete by reason of an omission therein, such error can not be considered on appeal, in the absence of any exception complaining of the court's refusal to give a proper and fuller instruction at the appellant's request. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Gray, 25 C. A. 99, 63 S. W. 927.

Sufficiency and scope of exceptions to instructions given.—An objection to an instruction held too general to merit consideration. Stone v. Stitt, 56 C. A. 465, 121 S. W. 187.

An objection to an instruction was not reviewable, where it did not point out wherein the instruction was erroneous. Hagelstein v. Blaschke (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 718.

Effect of failure to object or except.—Where the error in a charge is not fundamental, the attention of the court should be called thereto by an exception, by asking a special charge or by motion for a new trial. Railway Co. v. Worley (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 478.

Failure to call attention to incorrect statement of amount in issue in instruction held a waiver. Temple Nat. Bank v. Warner (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 1025.

Acquiescence in the refusal to submit special issues requested amount to a nullification of such request. Texas Loan Agency v. Fleming, 18 C. A. 668, 46 S. W. 63.

Where plaintiff, in an action for slander, did not object to an instruction because it did not submit the case on the only theory on which she was entitled to recover, she could not object on appeal that the theory of the instruction given was incorrect. Laughlin v. Schnitzer (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 908.

The fact that the error in a charge was not called to the attention of the court held not to defeat the right of appellant to have it reviewed on appeal. Young v. State Bank of Marshall, 54 C. A. 206, 117 S. W. 476.

Judgment will not be disturbed because of the charge assuming a certain matter in plaintiff's favor, there having been evidence authorizing a finding thereon in his favor, and the charge not having been objected to because of such assumption. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Allen (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1066.

The admission of testimony which was admissible for the purpose of contradicting defendants' witnesses will not be held erroneous on appeal upon the ground that no predicate was laid; no such objection having been made below. Rice v. Taliaferro (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 242.

Art. 1973. [1319] [1319]. Parties may ask instructions; time for examination and objection.—Either party may present to the judge, in writing, such instructions as he desires to be given to the jury; and the judge may give such instructions, or a part thereof, or he may refuse to give them, as he may see proper, and he shall read to the jury such of them as he may give; provided, such instructions shall be prepared and presented to the court and submitted to opposing counsel for examination and objection within a reasonable time after the charge is given to the parties or their attorneys for examination. [Act May 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 100. P. D. 216. Acts 1913, p. 113, sec. 3, amending Rev. Civ. St. 1911, art. 1973.]

1. Necessity and propriety of requests in general.
2. Issues or theories of case.
3. Evidence and matters of fact in general.
4. Purpose and effect of evidence.
5. Exclusion of evidence from consideration.
6. Arguments and conduct of counsel.
7. Nature of action or issue in general.
8. Actions relating to property in general.
9. Actions for torts in general.
10. Actions for negligence in general.
11. Actions for personal injuries.
12. Contracts and actions relating thereto.
13. Definition or explanation of terms.
14. Damages and amount of recovery.
15. Credibility of witnesses.
16. Further or more specific instructions.
17. —— Erroneous or misleading instructions.
18. —— Issues or theories of case.
19. —— Evidence and matters of fact in general.
20. —— Purpose and effect of evidence.
21. —— Nature of action or issue in general.
22. —— Actions relating to property in general.
23. —— Actions for torts in general.
24. —— Actions for negligence in general.
25. —— Actions for personal injuries.
26. —— Contracts and actions relating thereto.
27. —— Definition or explanation of terms.
28. —— Damages and amount of recovery.
29. Time for asking instructions.
30. Form and requisites of requests in general.
31. Written requests or prayers.
32. —— Signing.
33. Instructions already given.
34. —— Issues in general.
35. —— Evidence and matters of fact.
36. —— Credibility of witnesses.
37. —— Affirmative and negative of issues.
38. —— Nature of action or issue in general.
39. —— Fraud and undue influence.
40. —— Actions for torts in general.
41. —— Actions for negligence in general.
42. —— Personal injuries in general.
43. —— Injuries in operation of railroads in general.
44. —— Injuries to passengers.
45. —— Injuries to employés.
46. —— Contributory negligence and assumption of risk.
47. —— Discovered peril.
48. —— Contracts and actions relating thereto.
49. —— Contracts of carriage or for telegraphic or telephonic service.
50. —— Insurance contracts.
51. —— Amount of recovery.
52. Erroneous requests.
53. —— On issue omitted from charge as given.
54. Inconsistent requests.
55. Presentation in general.
56. Withdrawal of requests.
57. Argument of requests.
58. Examination and inspection of requested instructions.
59. Manner of giving instructions asked.
60. Allowance of part of charges requested.
61. Modification or substitution by court.
62. Refusal of requests.

1. Necessity and propriety of requests in general.—A charge should be asked when there is a view of the case not presented by the charge. Peeler v. Gilkey, 27 T. 355; Ford v. McBryde, 45 T. 498; Cushing v. Smith, 43 T. 267; Johnson v. Granger, 51 T. 42; T. & P. R. R. Co. v. Casey, 52 T. 112. Or when the charge of the court is too general. Bast v. Alford, 20 T. 226; Brown v. Bacon, 63 T. 595. Or where the charge needs explanation or qualification. Gallagher v. Bowie, 66 T. 265, 17 S. W. 407; Hays v. Hays, 66 T. 606, 1 S. W. 895. The failure to ask a charge will not prejudice the party, when it is shown by a bill of exceptions that the court was unwilling to give any charge upon the subject. I. & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Underwood, 64 T. 463; Johnson v. Granger, 51 T. 42; Railway Co. v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 23 S. W. 433.

A judge is not required to charge the jury unless requested. Berry v. Railway Co., 72 T. 620, 10 S. W. 726; Hocker v. Day, 80 T. 529, 16 S. W. 322.

Failure to charge, where no requests therefor were made, held not error. Maverick v. Maury, 79 T. 436, 15 S. W. 686; Reynolds v. Weinman (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 560; Van Zandt v. Brantley, 16 C. A. 420, 42 S. W. 617; Robinson v. Western Union Tel. Co. (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 1053; Walker v. Pittman, 18 C. A. 519, 46 S. W. 117; Mayfield v. Robinson, 22 C. A. 385, 55 S. W. 399; Texas Cotton Products Co. v. Denny Bros. (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 557; McKenzie v. Barrett, 43 C. A. 451, 98 S. W. 229; Selman v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 1030; Butler v. Anderson, 107 S. W. 656; Jones v. Creech, 108 S. W. 975; Allen v. Fleck, 54 C. A. 507, 118 S. W. 176; Montgomery v. Amsler, 57 C. A. 216, 122 S. W. 307; Smith v. Guinn (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 635; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Saunders, 141 S. W. 829.

A charge cannot be objected to as insufficient where no instructions were asked. Tomson v. Heidenheimer, 16 C. A. 114, 40 S. W. 425; Southern Pac. Co. v. Sorey (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 119.

Failure to direct verdict held not available on appeal in the absence of a request for such direction. People's Building, Loan & Saving Ass'n v. Dailey, 17 C. A. 38, 42 S. W. 364.

Failure to charge on minor questions is not error, in the absence of request. Wright v. Solomon (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 58.

In an action against a railroad company for a brakeman's death killed in a collision between cars, a charge held to call the court's attention to a substantive defense which should have been submitted. Louisiana Western Extension Ry. Co. v. Carstens, 19 C. A. 190, 47 S. W. 36.

As to issues not submitted, the statutes resolve every fact in favor of the judgment. Ragsdale v. Groos (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 256.

An instruction on a material issue held sufficient to direct the court's attention to its omission to charge on such issue. Corsicana Nat. Bank v. Baum (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 812.

Where a bill of exceptions shows that the trial court ruled that a certain issue was not in the case, defendant was excused from the necessity of asking a submission of such issue. Myar v. El Paso Grocery Co. (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 337.

A request for a special charge is not necessary to enable a party to question the correctness of the charge as given. Johnston v. Johnston (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 123.

On appeal in a civil action, the refusal of an instruction cannot be reviewed, where the record does not disclose the court's action upon them or that they were ever submitted to that court. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Kyle (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 272.

This act does not change the rule precluding a party from complaining of the court's mere failure to submit an issue in the absence of a special request therefor. Gibson & Cunningham v. Purifoy (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1047.

The court, after stating the case and giving some principles of law applicable, may properly give special charges prepared by the parties. Armstrong Packing Co. v. Clem (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 576.

Where a charge is affirmatively erroneous, a request for a special charge is not required. Wyatt v. Moore (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1133.

2. Issues or theories of case.—Error cannot be predicated on the court's failure to submit a particular issue, in the absence of request therefor. Bernheim v. Shannon, 1 C. A. 395, 21 S. W. 386; Muncy v. Mattfield (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 345; Sanger v. Warren, 40 S. W. 840; Bexar Building & Loan Ass'n v. Seebe, 40 S. W. 875; Allgeyer v. Rutherford, 45 S. W. 628; Bailey v. Mickle, Id. 949; Oak Cliff College for Young Ladies v. Armstrong, 50 S. W. 610; Behrends v. Crenshaw, 53 S. W. 586; Rice v. Ward, 54 S. W. 318; Halff v. Wangemann, Id. 937; Cotton Jammers' & Longshoremen's Ass'n No. 2 v. Taylor, 23 C. A. 367, 56 S. W. 553; Security Co. v. Panhandle Nat. Bank, 93 T. 575, 57 S. W. 22; Western Union Tel. Co. v. Giffin (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 327; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Smith, 24 C. A. 127, 57 S. W. 999; Klatt v. Houston Electric St. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 1112; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Moseley (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 48; Shelton v. Willis, 23 C. A. 547, 58 S. W. 176; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Morgan, 24 C. A. 58, 58 S. W. 544; Breneman v. Mayer, 24 C. A. 164, 58 S. W. 725; Insurance Co. of North America v. Bell, 25 C. A. 129, 60 S. W. 262; Halsell v. McCutchen (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 72; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Harris, 65 S. W. 885; Abilene Cotton Oil Co. v. Briscoe, 27 C. A. 157, 66 S. W. 315; Boyles v. Texas & P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 936; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Holyfield, 91 S. W. 353; Beaty v. El Paso Electric Ry. Co., Id. 365; Ramm v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 92 S. W. 426; Wolff v. Western Union Telegraph Co., 42 C. A. 30, 94 S. W. 1062; Thompson v. Hicks (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 357; Weatherford Machine & Foundry Co. v. Tate, 49 C. A. 392, 109 S. W. 406; Blackburn v. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co., 52 C. A. 443, 115 S. W. 874; Abbott Gin Co. v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 57 C. A. 263, 122 S. W. 284; Lattimore v. Tarrant County, 57 C. A. 610, 124 S. W. 205; Trabue v. Cook (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 455; Brady v. Maddox, Id. 739; Erp v. Raywood Canal & Milling Co., 130 S. W. 897; Newton v. Shivers, 136 S. W. 805; Lefkovitz v. Sherwood, Id. 850; Osteen v. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co., 145 S. W. 643; Landrum v. Thomas, 149 S. W. 813; Gilmore v. Brown, 150 S. W. 964; Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Beckham, 152 S. W. 228; Stratton v. Riley, 154 S. W. 606.

Omission to charge as to the statute of limitations held harmless error in the absence of a request. City of Comanche v. Zettlemoyer (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 641.

Where the court fails to submit a particular defense, but defendant fails to ask a proper instruction relative thereto, he cannot complain. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Witherspoon, 18 C. A. 615, 45 S. W. 424; St. Louis S. W. R. Co. of Texas v. McArthur, 31 C. A. 205, 72 S. W. 76; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Votaw (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 130; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Reno, 146 S. W. 207.

It is not necessary for a defendant to request an instruction on an issue which the court erroneously withdrew from the jury, to render such error available on appeal. Smith v. T. M. Richardson Lumber Co., 92 T. 448, 49 S. W. 574.

Where an issue made by the pleadings is not submitted to the jury, it is not raised by an appeal from the judgment rendered on the verdict. Pittman v. Pacific Exp. Co., 24 C. A. 595, 59 S. W. 949.

Where plaintiff pleaded defendant's negligence on two theories, and the court submitted the case on one only, plaintiff could not complain, in the absence of a request by him for the submission of the other. Stewart v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 34 C. A. 370, 78 S. W. 979.

Where evidence merely raises an issue, and is not conclusive of it, a party relying on it, who fails to have it passed upon by the trial court, or at least to request that it be passed upon, waives the issue. Bell County v. Felts (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 269.

A party may attack a charge because of its failure to mention an issue which the court had no right to withdraw from the jury, although he requested no special charges on the subject. Settle v. San Antonio Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 15; Sauer v. Veltmann, 149 S. W. 706.

Defendant held not entitled to complain on appeal of a charge referring to the petition for a fuller statement of the case in absence of request for a charge fully stating the case. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Koch (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1035.

3. Evidence and matters of fact in general.—A court's omission to charge on the burden of proof was not reversible error, in the absence of a request to charge on that subject. Martin v. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 1011; Yecker v. San Antonio Traction Co., 33 C. A. 239, 76 S. W. 780; Louisiana & T. Lumber Co. v. Dupuy, 52 C. A. 46, 113 S. W. 973; Texas Baptist University v. Patton (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1063; Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Worsham, 149 S. W. 755.

Plaintiff could not, on appeal, complain of a charge authorizing a recovery only on proof of all the acts of negligence alleged in his petition, in the absence of any request for additional instructions. Williams v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 34 C. A. 145, 78 S. W. 45.

Parties who desire instructions on the law applicable to a particular phase of the evidence should request it. Whitaker v. Thayer, 38 C. A. 537, 86 S. W. 364.

A court need not charge that the jury are the exclusive judges of the facts, in the absence of a request. Kansas City, M. & O. R. Co. of Texas v. Worsham (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 755.

4. Purpose and effect of evidence.—Where a letter from one of defendants was admitted as showing the declarations of the writer, the other defendants, if desiring to have its effect confined to the writer, should have asked the court to so restrict it. Eastland v. Maney, 36 C. A. 147, 81 S. W. 574.

An appellant cannot complain of failure to limit the effect of certain testimony where he failed to request any instruction to such effect. Woodward v. Keck (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 852.

Certain evidence held not admissible, as calculated to mislead the jury by allowing them to consider the stricken portion of a plea, in the absence of a requested instruction explaining to the jury the effect of striking out the portion of the plea. Wade v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 84.

Where testimony is evidence only on one issue, the party desiring to limit the jury in its considerations to such issue should ask a special charge to that end. Fordtran v. Stowers, 52 C. A. 226, 113 S. W. 631.

The rule that, where evidence is properly in, because proper evidence in reference to one party, the party against whom it is inadmissible should ask the court to limit its application does not apply, where the question is whether the testimony supports the verdict. Birkman v. Fahrenthold, 52 C. A. 335, 114 S. W. 428.

In absence of request, it is not error not to limit evidence admissible only for a specific purpose, to that purpose. Posener v. Harvey (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 356.

The court having admitted certain correspondence between plaintiff and the shipper of cotton in controversy on plaintiff's promise to prove a conspiracy in which the other defendants participated, it was the duty of plaintiff, on failing to prove the conspiracy, and not that of the other defendants, to request an instruction limiting such evidence. Wichita Falls Compress Co. v. W. L. Moody & Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1032.

An assignment of error to the admission of a deed held not to be considered in the absence of a request for an instruction as to its effect. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

Where, in trespass to try title, a partition deed, though not competent to prove title because of defective execution, is admitted for other purposes, an assignment of error that the deed was admitted against persons not parties to the deed will not be notice in absence of a charge requesting its limitation. Id.

In the absence of a requested instruction limiting the effect of an affidavit by a witness containing a statement conflicting with facts testified to by her on the stand, offered for the purpose of impeachment, appellant cannot complain that such affidavit might have been considered by the jury for other purposes. Jordan v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1194.

5. Exclusion of evidence from consideration.—A party wishing a special instruction that the jury should not consider part of a written order properly admitted in evidence should so request the court. Watson v. Winston (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 852.

In the absence of a request to withdraw an issue of contributory negligence from the jury, defendant cannot object on appeal that the court erred in submitting the issue. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Pendleton, 30 C. A. 431, 70 S. W. 996.

Where a party fails to request the withdrawal of an issue of facts from the jury on the ground that it has been established by the evidence beyond question, he cannot complain on appeal of the court's failure to withdraw such issue. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Vanlandingham, 38 C. A. 206, 85 S. W. 847.

In an action by a surviving partner for the benefit of the firm, plaintiff, not having asked that evidence as to transactions with both partners be restricted to himself, could not, on appeal, complain of its admission. Shivel & Stewart v. Greer Bros. (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 207.

If evidence, which when admitted, was relevant to the issue raised, should not have been considered, because the issue on which it was admitted was not submitted, defendant, if it deemed it irrelevant to the issue submitted, should have requested an instruction that it be not considered, and, not having done so, cannot object on appeal to its consideration. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Higdon (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 732.

In trespass to try title, an assignment of error to the refusal of the court to strike out a part of a deed because not signed by two persons, who should have signed it, will not be considered in absence of a request to submit the question of its effect as against those not signing. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

Where, in trespass to try title, a partition deed is admitted for the consideration of the jury, but not to show title, an assignment that the deed was obtained by duress, making it inadmissible for any purpose, is properly overruled in the absence of a requested instruction on such theory. Id.

6. Arguments and conduct of counsel.—In the opening argument counsel used language which was objected to as improper. The trial judge sustained the objection. If this action of the judge was deemed insufficient to correct the impression, a special charge should have been asked upon the subject, and, if refused, a bill of exceptions showing the facts making the charge pertinent should be tendered. In absence of such a special request the appellate court can rarely give relief. Bonner v. Glenn, 79 T. 531, 15 S. W. 572.

A request to instruct the jury to disregard statement of attorney as to offer of proof excluded is the proper procedure. Berg v. San Antonio St. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 921.

Where counsel made improper remarks, it is not necessary to request a charge that the jury should disregard them. It is enough to reserve an exception. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dickens (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 124.

In order that the court may review the trial court's action as to improper argument, it is not necessary that appellant should have requested a charge to the jury to disregard the argument. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Perry, 95 T. 645, 69 S. W. 131.

Prejudicial argument of counsel may be reviewed on appeal, though no request was made by the opposing counsel for an instruction that the jury should not consider it. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Perry, 30 C. A. 243, 70 S. W. 439.

A party cannot on appeal complain of the conduct of counsel in asking in the presence of the jury if opposing counsel was willing for the depositions to go to the jury, as an attempt to prejudice the jury, where he will not request the court to inform the jury that the statute did not allow them to have the depositions, and thus correct the possible prejudicial impression. Maffi v. Stephens, 49 C. A. 354, 108 S. W. 1008.

Improper argument to which objection has been sustained is not reversible error in the absence of a request for a special instruction that the argument is improper. Ross v. W. D. Cleveland & Sons (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 315.

The Court of Civil Appeals can review on exception to improper argument where objection thereto has not been sustained, though no instruction to disregard the argument was requested. Id.

7. Nature of action or issue in general.—A charge is not objectionable, because no reference is made to statute of limitations, where no charge as to limitations is asked. Parrish v. Williams (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 79.

Where defendant deems the evidence sufficient to raise issue of plaintiff's competency to marry, he should request a special charge. Cuneo v. De Cuneo, 24 C. A. 436, 59 S. W. 284.

A counterclaim, not charged to have been fraudulently interposed to justify an appeal, held not abandoned by failure to request its submission, so as to require a dismissal of defendant's appeal. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Carver (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 55.

Omission to submit a case with reference to a foreclosure, when not requested to do so, held no ground for complaint on appeal. Davidson v. Jefferson (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 765.

Defendants in equity cannot complain of failure to submit certain issues along with others, where they did not request such submission. Henyan v. Trevino (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 458.

A defendant may not complain of the refusal to submit to the jury an issue raised by his cross-action, where he made no request for a submission on the failure of the trial court so to do. Holder v. Swift (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 690.

8. Actions relating to property in general.—Where one with whose goods those of a debtor had been fraudulently intermingled did not tender the issue that an attachment levy was excessive, but only that it was entirely unauthorized, he cannot object on appeal that the levy should have been on the proper proportion of the value of the debtor's goods to the entire mass. Eldridge v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 955.

Plaintiffs, in trespass to try title, cannot complain of a failure to submit an issue whether defendants, who pleaded ten years' limitations, cultivated, used, and enjoyed the land during that time, unless such submission was requested. Gibson v. Oppenheimer (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 694.

Though the court fails to instruct as to duress in procuring certain deeds relied on in trespass to try title, when the evidence demands it, no error is shown in the absence of a special request to charge. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

9. Actions for torts in general.—It was not error for the court to omit to submit an issue in an action against a carrier concerning alleged indignities offered to a female passenger by a fellow passenger, in the absence of a request for such submission. Peck v. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 323.

In an action against a railroad for permitting Johnson grass to mature on its right of way, objection on appeal to an instruction held not tenable in the absence of a requested charge. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Malone (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 936.

10. Actions for negligence in general.—In the absence of a proper requested charge, defendant cannot complain of the general charge that verdict should not be against it, if it had exercised ordinary care to avoid the accident. El Paso Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Ballinger & Longwell (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 612.

Defendant could not complain of the failure to affirmatively present a defense, where it did not request a charge presenting it. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lovelady, 36 C. A. 282, 81 S. W. 1040.

Defendant, not having requested an instruction on contributory negligence, held not entitled to complain that none was given. Barklow v. Avery, 40 C. A. 355, 89 S. W. 417; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Walker, 48 C. A. 86, 106 S. W. 400.

If defendant, in an action for negligence, desires to have submitted an issue as to whether or not the negligence proximately caused or contributed to the result, he must request it. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Josey (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 688.

Issues of contributory negligence not necessarily arising from the evidence need not, in the absence of a requested instruction, be submitted to the jury. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Lentz, 56 C. A. 498, 120 S. W. 943.

The failure of the court to submit issues of negligence alleged in plaintiff's petition cannot be complained of, in the absence of request for their submission. Van Geem v. Cisco Oil Mill (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1108.

11. Actions for personal injuries.—Where the defendant is not present at the trial of an action by a servant against his master for personal injuries, and no request is made for the submission of certain issues, failure to submit such issues is not erroneous. American Cotton Co. v. Smith, 29 C. A. 425, 69 S. W. 443.

In an action against a railroad company for negligence, causing the death of a section foreman, defendant held not in a position to complain of failure to instruct on an issue on which no instruction was requested. International & G. N. R. Co. v. McVey (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 991.

In an action for injuries to a servant, held the duty of defendant to ask the submission of the question of latent defect in its bearing on negligence, if it wished it submitted. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Hahl (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 27.

Where plaintiff desires an instruction to find for him, if any of his allegations of negligence are true, he should request it. Vicars v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 37 C. A. 500, 84 S. W. 286.

Failure to give a certain charge held not error, in the absence of a special request therefor. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. Cain, 37 C. A. 531, 84 S. W. 682.

In an action for injuries to a person walking along the track of a railroad company, omission of the court to charge on the care required of those operating the train, as affecting the question of proximate cause, in the absence of a special request, held not error. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Penny, 39 C. A. 358, 87 S. W. 718.

In an action for injuries to plaintiff while walking along defendant's railroad track, the omission of a legal principle not requested to be charged from an instruction on discovered peril held not error. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. O'Donnell (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 886.

Where the jury were charged that verdict should be for defendant, unless it was guilty of negligence which proximately contributed to the injury, that charge is sufficient, in the absence of a proper request that the railroad company was not liable if the injury was solely the result of the employé's negligence. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Keeran (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 355.

12. Contracts and actions relating thereto.—Vendee cannot, on appeal, complain of error in refusing to instruct on the question of the vendor's fraud if no instruction on that issue was requested. Hurst v. McMullen (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 666.

Where a man and wife sued for damages for mental anguish occasioned by failure to deliver a death message, and he died, and she continued the action, held that failure to instruct as to her right to recover in her representative capacity was not error, in absence of request. Hargrave v. Western Union Tel. Co. (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 687.

In an action against a telegraph company for failure to deliver a message, defendant held not entitled to complain, because the court failed to instruct on agency. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Craven (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 633.

In an action against a carrier for damages to plaintiff's shipment of apples, an instruction held not erroneous, in the absence of a request that the injuries charged be disjunctively submitted. Cane Hill Cold Storage & Orchard Co. v. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 751.

In a suit for the specific performance of a contract for the sale of land, the failure to submit the question of total failure of consideration for the contract held not erroneous in the absence of a request therefor. Pope v. Taliaferro, 51 C. A. 217, 115 S. W. 309.

In an action by one maker of notes against the other for contribution, a plea that plaintiff promised to save defendant harmless from the payment thereof was a defense, and the failure to charge thereon was not affirmative error, but merely an omission, of which defendant could not complain on appeal where he failed to request a special charge on such issue. Dyer v. Adams, 56 C. A. 400, 120 S. W. 946.

A telegraph company sued for erroneously transmitting a message held required to request a special charge submitting the issue of the sendee's contributory negligence. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Buchanan (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 850.

A sleeping car company sued for refusing to permit plaintiff to ride in its car held bound to request any desired instructions submitting the distinction between ejection and exclusion. Pullman Co. v. Custer (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 847.

Where in an action for a reward it was claimed that plaintiffs were working with a third person, defendant must request a charge embodying that fact if desired. Tobin v. McComb (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 237.

Where the evidence, in an action against a telegraph company for delay in delivery of a message, called for an instruction as to the company's office hours at an office, it should have asked a special charge covering the point, and, where it failed to do so, it could not complain on appeal. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Forest (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 204.

13. Definition or explanation of terms.—Failure of a court to define a term in an instruction held not error, in the absence of a request therefor. Arkansas Const. Co. v. Eugene, 20 C. A. 601, 50 S. W. 736; Dallas Consol. Electric St. R. Co. v. Broadhurst, 28 C. A. 630, 68 S. W. 315; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Harper, 53 C. A. 614, 114 S. W. 1168; Same v. Sullivan, 53 C. A. 394, 115 S. W. 615; Knight v. Durham (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 591; Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Clark, 146 S. W. 989.

In an action for damages for death from alleged negligence of defendant, if defendant desired the jury advised of what is meant by contributory negligence or by assumption of danger, it should have requested the same by special charges. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Smith, 24 C. A. 127, 57 S. W. 999.

Where the appellant does not request a definition of a phrase used in the judge's charge, he cannot complain of the court's failure to explain it. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Ilse (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 564.

Alleged error in not defining "proximate result" held not reviewable in the absence of requested instructions thereon. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Giffin, 27 C. A. 306, 65 S. W. 661.

In an action for damages for injury to land, the defendant, not having requested an instruction as to the legal meaning of the term "market value," cannot complain of the court's failure to give such instruction. Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. v. Spencer, 28 C. A. 251, 67 S. W. 196.

An instruction in an action on a life policy held not erroneous in failing to define the term "serious illness," no request for an instruction defining such term having been made in the trial court. Woodmen of the World v. Locklin, 28 C. A. 486, 67 S. W. 331.

In an action where "negligence" and "contributory negligence" were in issue, a definition of such terms in the instructions held not essential, where not requested. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Holyfield (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 221.

Objection to instruction as using technical term held not available, in absence of requested instruction. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Scott, 30 C. A. 496, 71 S. W. 26.

Failure to define negligence and contributory negligence was not reversible error, in the absence of a requested charge. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Clark (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 587; Taylor v. Houston & T. C. R. Co., 80 S. W. 260; Stamford Oil Mill Co. v. Barnes, 119 S. W. 871.

Failure of the court to define the terms "reasonable promptness" and "ordinary care," if error, is not affirmative error, and cannot be complained of; a special instruction defining them not having been requested. Western Union Tel. Co. v. James, 31 C. A. 503, 73 S. W. 79.

Defendant was not entitled to object to the court's failure to define reasonable or ordinary care, in the absence of a request therefor. Denison, B. & N. O. R. Co. v. Barry (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 634; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Tisdale, 39 C. A. 372, 87 S. W. 1063; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Walker (Civ. App.) 125 S W. 99.

Where the defense in an action on a life policy was that insured had made a false answer to a question put to him as to his use of liquors, the court held not required to define to the jury the term "use" in the absence of a request therefor. Pacific Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Terry, 37 C. A. 486, 84 S. W. 656.

If a party desires a definition given of terms used in the court's charge, he should request a charge defining them. Texas Midland R. R. v. Ritchey, 49 C. A. 409, 108 S. W. 732.

If a party desires an explanation of language used in the court's general charge, he should ask a special instruction for that purpose. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Hendricks, 49 C. A. 314, 108 S. W. 745.

In an action for damages for permanent injury to land, there was no affirmative error in failure of the court to define permanent injury, in the absence of a request. St. Louis, B. & M. Ry. Co. v. West (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 839.

In action to revoke license to practice medicine, failure of court to define "grossly unprofessional or dishonorable conduct" held not error, in absence of request. Berry v. State (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 631.

In the absence of requested instructions defining contributory negligence and assumption of risk, the defeated party may not complain of the instructions thereon. Alamo Oil & Refining Co. v. Curvier (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1132.

In an action on a guardian's bond, the failure to define a term "annual rests" used in the charge held not erroneous in the absence of request to charge thereon. Kretzschmar v. Peschel (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1021.

The failure of the court to define the word "divers," as used in a charge as to a slander committed in the presence of "divers persons," is not error in the absence of a request for such instruction. Day v. Becker (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1197.

14. Damages and amount of recovery.—Where, in action on insurance policy, the court did not submit the question of total destruction, but rendered judgment for the full amount, and no request was made to submit such issue, which the evidence sustained, the judgment will not be disturbed. Phœnix Ins. Co. v. Moore (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 1131.

Plaintiff held not in position to complain of an instruction as to damages, not having requested one such as he desired. Hargrave v. Western Union Tel. Co. (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 687.

In view of the facts a party held required to request a special charge if he desired a charge as to damages. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Craig, 42 C. A. 486, 92 S. W. 1033.

Failure to submit the issue of exemplary damages could not be objected to on appeal, where such submission was not requested. Williams v. Detroit Oil & Cotton Co., 103 T. 75, 123 S. W. 405.

If, in an action for breach of contract, the evidence raises an issue as to diligence by plaintiff to minimize his loss, defendant should request a charge thereon. Williamson v. Powell (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 359.

Defendant held not entitled to object to the court's omission to limit a husband's recovery in an action for death of his wife to the value of her services less the cost of maintaining her, in the absence of a request for a special charge. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hurdle (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 992.

In an action to recover on a contract to cut and deliver wood, where defendant claimed damages because, the wood not having been cut from his land, it would cost him more to have the land cleared, the court's failure to submit such issue, in the absence of a requested charge, was not erroneous. Sauer v. Veltmann (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 706.

In an action for damage to cattle in transit, the court must charge on the measure of damage, even though no special charge is requested. Kansas City, M. & O. R. Co. of Texas v. Worsham (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 755.

15. Credibility of witnesses.—Failure to instruct, in the absence of a request therefor, held not error. American Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Kersh, 27 C. A. 127, 66 S. W. 74.

16. Further or more specific instructions.—Where an instruction states a correct proposition of law, and is deficient only by way of omission, a party desiring more specific instructions should request that they be given. Robinson v. Varnell, 16 T. 382; Linn v. Wright, 18 T. 317, 70 Am. Dec. 282; Farquhar v. Dallas, 20 T. 200; Thompson v. Payne, 21 T. 621; Fowler v. Waller, 25 T. 695; Powell v. Haley, 28 T. 52; Ford v. McBryde, 45 T. 498; Johnson v. Granger, 51 T. 42; Texas & P. R. R. Co. v. Casey, 52 T. 112; Texas & P. R. R. Co. v. O'Donnell, 58 T. 27; Galveston Oil Co. v. Malin, 60 T. 645; Endick v. Endick, 61 T. 559; Insurance Co. v. Jefferson Ice Co., 64 T. 578; Railway Co. v. Leak, Id. 654; Liverpool & L. & G. Ins. Co. v. Ende, 65 T. 118; Cockrell v. Cox, Id. 669; Walker v. Brown, 66 T. 556, 1 S. W. 797; Shumard v. Johnson, 66 T. 70, 17 S. W. 398; Railway Co. v. Daniels, 20 S. W. 955, 1 C. A. 695; Same v. Shearer, 1 C. A. 343, 21 S. W. 133; Same v. Vinson (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 956; Templeton v. Green, 25 S. W. 1073; Railway Co. v. Peay, 7 C. A. 400, 26 S. W. 768; Producers' Marble Co. v. Bergen (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 89; Reichsteter v. Bostick, 33 S. W. 158; Burkitt v. Twyman, 35 S. W. 421; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Magrill, 15 C. A. 353, 40 S. W. 188; Clary v. Myers (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 633; Texas & N. O. Ry. Co. v. Bingle, 16 C. A. 653, 41 S. W. 90; O'Brien v. Seale, 16 C. A. 260, 41 S. W. 150; Western Union Tel. Co. v.

Johnson, 16 C. A. 546, 41 S. W. 367; Jackson v. Martin (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 837; Pace v. American Freehold Land & Mortgage Co., 17 C. A. 506, 43 S. W. 36; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Eberhart, 91 T. 321, 43 S. W. 510; Bruner v. Bruner (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 796; Hintze v. Krabbenschmidt, 44 S. W. 38; Western Union Tel. Co. v. Seals, 45 S. W. 964; Stubblefield v. Stubblefield, Id. 965; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Culpepper, 19 C. A. 182, 46 S. W. 922; Slayden v. Stone, 19 C. A. 618, 47 S. W. 747; Schulz v. Tessman (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 207; San Antonio & A. P. R. Co. v. Long, 19 C. A. 649, 48 S. W. 599; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Stuart (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 799; Graves v. Hillyer, Id. 889; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Safford, Id. 1105; Schwartzman v. Cabell, 49 S. W. 113; Gulf, W. T. & P. R. Co. v. Staton, Id. 277; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Felts, 50 S. W. 1031; Same v. Durlin, Id. 1034; Root v. Baldwin, 52 S. W. 586; Nixon v. Jacobs, 22 C. A. 97, 53 S. W. 595; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Ford, 22 C. A. 131, 54 S. W. 37; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Bryant (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 364; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Crowder, 55 S. W. 380; Halsell v. Neal, 23 C. A. 26, 56 S. W. 137; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Black, 23 C. A. 119, 57 S. W. 330; Paul v. Chenault (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 579; Hargrave v. Western Union Tel. Co., 60 S. W. 687; Lindsey v. White, 61 S. W. 438; Schneider v. Sanders, 26 C. A. 169, 61 S. W. 727; Moore v. Brown, 27 C. A. 208, 64 S. W. 946; Hillje v. Hettich (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 491; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Buch, 27 C. A. 283, 65 S. W. 681; Greenwood v. Houston Ice & Brewing Co., 27 C. A. 590, 66 S. W. 585; Moore v. Graham, 29 C. A. 235, 69 S. W. 200; Reichert v. International & G. N. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 1031; Williamson v. Gore, 73 S. W. 563; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hughes, Id. 976; Ellis v. Kirkpatrick & Skiles, 32 C. A. 243, 74 S. W. 57; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Collins, 33 C. A. 58, 75 S. W. 814; Western Union Tel. Co. v. Crawford (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 843; Wiley v. Lindley, 76 S. W. 208; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Hubbard, 33 C. A. 343, 76 S. W. 764; Keas v. Gordy, 34 C. A. 310, 78 S. W. 385; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Baker, 35 C. A. 542, 81 S. W. 67; Turner v. Faubion, 36 C. A. 314, 81 S. W. 810; International & G. N. R. Co. v. McVey (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 991; Freeman v. Slay, 88 S. W. 404; Texas Midland R. R. v. Byrd, 41 C. A. 164, 90 S. W. 185; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Udalle (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 330; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Fanning, 40 C. A. 422, 91 S. W. 344; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Fitzpatrick (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 355; Same v. Roberts, Id. 375; Ramm v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 92 S. W. 426; Louisiana & Texas Lumber Co. v. Carter, 93 S. W. 714; Eastern Texas R. Co. v. Moore, 94 S. W. 394; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Bunn, 41 C. A. 503, 95 S. W. 640; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Wray, 43 C. A. 380, 96 S. W. 74; Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Parrott, 43 C. A. 325, 96 S. W. 950; Barrow v. Barrow (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 120; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Booth, 97 S. W. 128; Peacock v. Coltrane, 44 C. A. 530, 99 S. W. 107; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Stoy, 44 C. A. 448, 99 S. W. 135; Bridgeport Coal Co. v. Wise County Coal Co., 44 C. A. 369, 99 S. W. 409; Galveston, Houston & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Bonn, 44 C. A. 631, 99 S. W. 413; St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Knowles, 44 C. A. 172, 99 S. W. 867; San Antonio Traction Co. v. Flory, 45 C. A. 233, 100 S. W. 200; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Parish, 45 C. A. 493, 100 S. W. 1175; Burton Lumber Corp. v. City of Houston, 45 C. A. 363, 101 S. W. 822; Texas & Louisiana Lumber Co. v. Rose (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 444; Scrimshire v. Smith, Id. 1110; Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v. Snell, 47 C. A. 413, 106 S. W. 170; Maffi v. Stephens, 49 C. A. 354, 108 S. W. 1008; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Blachley, 50 C. A. 141, 109 S. W. 995; Same v. McDuffey, 50 C. A. 202, 109 S. W. 1104; Wilkins v. Clawson, 50 C. A. 82, 110 S. W. 103; Kaack v. Stanton, 51 C. A. 495, 112 S. W. 702; Steger & Sons Piano Mfg. Co. v. MacMaster, 51 C. A. 527, 113 S. W. 337; Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Eddleman, 52 C. A. 181, 114 S. W. 425; Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Lasater, 53 C. A. 51, 115 S. W. 103; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Norvell (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 861; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Reed, 54 C. A. 26, 116 S. W. 69; Missouri Valley Bridge & Iron Co. v. Ballard, 53 C. A. 110, 116 S. W. 93; Carwile v. Wm. C. Cameron & Co. (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 611; Gray v. Phillips, 54 C. A. 148, 117 S. W. 870; Franks v. Harkness (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 913; Waggoner v. Sneed, 53 C. A. 278, 118 S. W. 547; Beaumont, S. L. & W. R. Co. v. Olmstead, 56 C. A. 96, 120 S. W. 596; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Biles & Ruby, 56 C. A. 193, 120 S. W. 952; Galveston Electric Co. v. Dickey, 56 C. A. 490, 120 S. W. 1134; Knowles v. Northern Texas Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 232; Beaumont Traction Co. v. Happ, 57 C. A. 427, 122 S. W. 610; J. T. Stark Grain Co. v. Harry Bros. Co., 57 C. A. 529, 122 S. W. 947; Patton-Worsham Drug Co. v. Drennon, 123 S. W. 705; Texas & Pacific Coal Co. v. McWain, 57 C. A. 512, 124 S. W. 202; International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Rogers (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 446; Wetzel v. Satterwhite, 125 S. W. 93; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Langston, Id. 334; Freeman v. Nickels, Id. 941; Bigham Bros. v. Port Arthur Canal & Dock Co., 126 S. W. 324; Miller v. Freeman, 127 S. W. 302; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Ochiltree, Id. 584; Texas Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Scott, Id. 587; Provident Nat. Bank v. Webb, 128 S. W. 426; Allen v. Allen, Id. 697; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ramsey, Id. 1184; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. McIlhaney, 129 S. W. 153; Sinsheimer v. Edward Weil Co., Id. 187; Steiner v. Anderson, 130 S. W. 261; Awalt v. Schooler, 131 S. W. 302; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gilbert, Id. 1145; Galveston, H. & H. R. Co. v. Greb, 132 S. W. 489; St. Louis, B. & M. Ry. Co. v. Droddy, Id. 946; San Antonio Traction Co. v. Settle, 104 T. 142, 135 S. W. 116; Sanders v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 718; Freeman v. Cleary, 136 S. W. 521; Postal Telegraph Cable Co. of Texas v. Talerico, Id. 575; Springer v. Riley, Id. 577; Newton v. Shivers, Id. 805; Lefkovitz v. Sherwood, Id. 850; Sumner v. Kinney, Id. 1192; St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Jenkins, 137 S. W. 711; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Turner, 138 S. W. 1126; Same v. Hampton, 142 S. W. 89; Galveston, H. & S. A. R. Co. v. Grenig, Id. 135; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Addis, Id. 955; Wichita Falls Traction Co. v. Adams, 146 S. W. 271; Logre v. Galveston Electric Co., Id. 303; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Burk, Id. 600; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Kurtz, 147 S. W. 658; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Brown, Id. 1177; Rotan Grocery Co. v. Tatum, 149 S. W. 342; Landrum v. Thomas, Id. 813; Hengy v. Hengy, 151 S. W. 1127; Parks v. Sullivan, 152 S. W. 704; Abney v. Citizens' Nat. Bank of Hillsboro, Id. 734; Hutton v. Pederson, 153 S. W. 176; Hutto v. Hall, 155 S. W. 1022; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Tucker, 157 S. W. 175; Park v. Pyle, Id. 445; State Mut. Fire Ins. Co. v. Taylor, Id. 950.

A person desiring a distinct submission of matters embodied in the charge should request a special charge. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Culpepper, 19 C. A. 182, 46 S. W. 922.

Where no request was made that the court state the theory of the defense more fully than as given, its failure to do so was not error. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Buch, 27 C. A. 283, 65 S. W. 681; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Scarborough (Civ. App.) 104 S. W. 408; El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Kelly, 109 S. W. 415; Western Texas Compress Co. v. Williams, 124 S. W. 493; Kansas City, M. & O. R. Co. v. West, 149 S. W. 206.

The submission of several matters conjunctively is not reversible error, where there is no request for a disjunctive submission, and it does not appear that the jury were misled. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hill, 95 T. 629, 69 S. W. 136; Merchants' & Planters' Oil Co. v. Burow (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 435; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Patterson, 46 C. A. 292, 102 S. W. 138; Armstrong v. Burt (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 172.

The court's attention having been called to an omission in its main charge, a correct charge should have been given. City of Sherman v. Greening (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 424.

In the absence of a request for a further charge, error cannot be predicated on a failure to qualify a charge which, as given, states a correct rule of law applicable to the evidence. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Dolan (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 302.

In the absence of a charge requested and refused held, that complaint could not be made of failure to charge on a matter except indirectly. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Kivlin, 42 C. A. 633, 93 S. W. 709.

The giving of an instruction which a party deems insufficiently favorable is not error where such party fails to prepare and request such a special charge as he deems himself entiled to. Baldwin v. Polti, 45 C. A. 638, 101 S. W. 543.

If any of a party's pleas are omitted which he deems essential to a preliminary statement of the pleadings, a special charge supplying such omission should be requested. Galveston, H. & H. R. Co. v. Alberti, 47 C. A. 32, 103 S. W. 699.

If plaintiff desired that the court charge the converse of a proposition correctly presenting matters of defense, it was plaintiff's duty to have requested such charge. Memphis Coffin Co. v. Patton (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 697.

An instruction held not subject to the objection that the words "voluntarily" and "unnecessarily" were not proper terms to use, as plaintiff could have requested a charge covering the converse of "unnecessarily." Runnells v. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co., 49 C. A. 150, 107 S. W. 647.

An instruction which is defective because omitting an important modification will not be considered on appeal, where no instructions supplying the omission were requested. Orange Lumber Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 563.

The omission from an instruction of a material part of defendant's pleadings is not error, in absence of a request. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Garcia, 54 C. A. 59, 117 S. W. 206; Estes v. Estes (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 304.

Where an instruction is correct as a proposition of law and applicable to the case, failure to assert any limitation is not error in the absence of a special request for such limitation. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 1043.

Where the charge of the court was not affirmatively erroneous on an issue, the failure to present the issue in a negative form may not be complained of in the absence of a requested charge supplying the omission. Mitchell v. Boyce (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1016; Jacksonville Ice & Electric Co. v. Moses, 134 S. W. 379.

An instruction, which correctly states the law applicable to one theory and which requires a finding of the facts necessary to support it, is not affirmatively erroneous, in the absence of a requested instruction, for failing to submit the whole case, unless a proper charge would conflict with the charge given. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Urban (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1028.

17. —— Erroneous or misleading instructions.—Where the error in an instruction was a positive one, it was assignable, without a request of a special charge stating the true rule. Railway Co. v. Kirschoffer (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 577; San Antonio Traction Co. v. White, 94 T. 468, 61 S. W. 706; Cotton States Bldg. Co. v. Jones, 94 T. 497, 62 S. W. 741; Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Coffee (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 638.

Error in the court's charge is not ground for reversal in a civil case, in the absence of request and refusal to give other proper instructions. State v. Humphreys (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 945.

Where a court gives an instruction against the rights of a party on an issue in the suit, such party need not request a proper instruction. Seffel v. Western Union Tel. Co. (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 897.

Party held to have sufficiently requested charge on certain issues. Johnston v. Johnston (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 123.

Slight inaccuracies in the statement of a case by the court is not reversible error, in the absence of requests for additional or more accurate statements. Waxahachie Cotton Oil Co. v. Peters (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 431.

In an action for injuries to a child by a train, a request to separately submit the negligence of each parent held necessary to a complaint of an instruction submitting the negligence of "both" parents. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Adams, 44 C. A. 288, 98 S. W. 222.

Instructions omitting an element entering into the successful party's right to recover held fundamentally erroneous, rendering the error available, though the defeated party did not request a charge covering the omission. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Groseclose, 50 C. A. 525, 110 S. W. 477.

The objection that a charge failed to correctly instruct as to the issue in the case held not available where there was no request for a special charge. Dyer v. McWhirter, 51 C. A. 200, 111 S. W. 1053.

In the absence of a request for an instruction, defendant held not entitled to complain of the omission of a phrase from an instruction given. Jesse French Piano & Organ Co. v. Garza & Co., 53 C. A. 346, 116 S. W. 150.

In an action for death by the widow and minor children of decedent, an instruction authorizing recovery of such sum as would compensate for the "pecuniary" loss sustained by decedent's death held not affirmatively erroneous. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Davenport, 102 T. 369, 117 S. W. 790.

A charge submitting matters of defense conjunctively held not affirmatively erroneous. Oar v. Davis (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 710.

Any error in an instruction held one of incompleteness, and not of positive misdirection. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Blocker (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 156.

An error in an instruction held not fundamental and unavailable in the absence of a request for a special charge correcting the error. Dunn v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 311.

A charge to find for defendant unless certain facts existed was affirmatively erroneous, since a special charge to find for plaintiff upon other facts would have been contradictory thereof. Hengy v. Hengy (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1127.

Defendant cannot complain on appeal of an incorrect instruction on the measure of damages, where it failed to request a special charge submitting the correct rule. McCullough Hardware Co. v. Call (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 718.

If an instruction in an action against a railroad for injuries at a railroad crossing was defective for not expressly submitting the issue of whether plaintiff was injured, defendant should have requested a special charge specifically submitting that issue, and, not having done so, cannot object on appeal. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 544.

18. —— Issues or theories of case.—Failure of the court, in stating the issues in the preliminary portion of its charge, to state all the issues, is not reversible error in absence of request for special charge. Harris v. Flowers, 21 C. A. 669, 52 S. W. 1046; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Lynch, 22 C. A. 336, 55 S. W. 389; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dilworth (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 502; El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Harry, 37 C. A. 90, 83 S. W. 735; Boyles v. Texas & P. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 936; Abbott Gin Co. v. Missouri, K. & T. R. Co., 57 C. A. 263, 122 S. W. 284; Wichita Falls Traction Co. v. Adams (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 271.

Where defendant did not ask for further instructions, it was not error to instruct the jury that they should not consider any issues except those submitted in the charge. Turner v. Grobe, 24 C. A. 554, 59 S. W. 583.

The failure in the charge to state the issues raised by the pleadings is a mere omission, which should be corrected by a special requested charge. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Haddox, 36 C. A. 385, 81 S. W. 1036.

Where a charge is subject to criticism in stating at length the allegations of plaintiff's petition and stating only in a general way the answer of defendant, it is incumbent on defendant to submit a special charge. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Harry, 37 C. A. 90, 83 S. W. 735.

A judgment will not be reversed because the court failed to enumerate in its charge all of defendant's defenses, in the absence of a request for charges covering the omissions. Metropolitan St. Ry. Co. v. Wishert (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 460; Chicago, R. I. & P. R. Co. v. Hiltibrand, 44 C. A. 614, 99 S. W. 707.

A charge quoting from the petition, and setting out plaintiff's theory of the case, without setting out the theory of defendant, is not subject to objection, where no request was made by defendant that its theory be stated to the jury. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hawkins, 49 C. A. 545, 108 S. W. 736.

It is not compulsory upon the judge to set out any more of the pleadings in his charge than he may deem necessary, and it is the duty of a party, if dissatisfied with the charge, to have prepared and presented a special charge, covering the supposed defect, and, if he does not do so, he cannot complain. Estes v. Estes (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 304.

19. —— Evidence and matters of fact in general.—A party cannot complain of an instruction because it did not contain a more apt reference to particular facts, where he did not request such reference. Galveston City Ry. Co. v. Chapman, 35 C. A. 551, 80 S. W. 856.

Defendant desiring the acts of negligence set out in the instructions, when the charge authorizes a recovery if the accident was caused by defendant's negligence, as averred in the petition, held required to prepare and submit a special charge to that effect. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Patillo, 45 C. A. 572, 101 S. W. 492.

Though the burden of proof is on plaintiff in an action for injuries to a passenger in alighting from a street car, it is not error to charge the jury that, if it believed defendant was not guilty of negligence in starting the car as it was started, to find for defendant in the absence of a request for an instruction presenting the case affirmatively from defendant's standpoint. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Boer (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 199.

Where a charge as to the burden of proving the contract alleged, though obscure, could not have misled the jury, if the other party desired a clear presentation of the question, he should have asked it. Suderman-Dolson Co. v. Hope (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 216.

Where the court charged the jury to find the questions submitted from a preponderance of the evidence, if a party desired a more specific instruction upon the burden of proof, it should have been requested. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Lemair, 55 C. A. 237, 119 S. W. 1162.

A failure to charge on the burden of proof on the issue of contributory negligence is a mere omission; and, in the absence of a requested charge covering the omission, the defeated party may not complain on appeal. Lam & Rogers v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 977.

In an action by a physician for compensation for services rendered, where defendant set up his incompetency, an instruction that the burden of proving that fact rests on the defendant is sufficient charge, in absence of a request for special instructions. Feingold v. Lefkovitz (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 346.

Where plaintiff claimed that partnership was dissolved, and a new partnership afterwards formed, an instruction that the old partnership was presumed to continue unless a dissolution was shown by the evidence held correct as far as it went, and failure to instruct as to plaintiff's theory was not reversible error in the absence of a request for special charges. Hengy v. Hengy (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1127.

20. —— Purpose and effect of evidence.—An instruction in a personal injury case, in which plaintiff is shown to have refused to be examined by defendant's physician, that plaintiff had a legal right to refuse such examination, held not erroneous. Dupree v. Alexander, 29 C. A. 31, 68 S. W. 739.

21. —— Nature of action or issue in general.—In an instruction relating to a gift of notes, the word "transferred" conveyed the idea of a delivery, and if defendants desired a fuller charge they should have requested it. Crawford v. Hord, 40 C. A. 352, 89 S. W. 1097.

In an action on a note, an instruction held to submit the defense of usury in the absence of any requested charge thereon. Greenberg v. Taub (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 556.

A charge in divorce for cruel treatment held sufficient as far as it went. Allen v. Allen (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 697.

In an action to set aside a deed as having been procured through false representations, an instruction held to sufficiently incorporate the elements of material, as distinguished from immaterial, misrepresentations. Peters v. Strauss (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 956.

A party to a will contest held not entitled to complain on appeal of the incompleteness of instructions, in the absence of a request for a submission. Allday v. Cage (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 838.

If defendant desired a more specific charge as to the elements of fraud, he should have requested it. Morrison v. Cotton (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 866.

22. —— Actions relating to property in general.—Under pleadings and evidence, instructions relating to liability of defendant for conversion of "patterns of bagging" held sufficient, in the absence of request for a special instruction. Waxahachie Cotton Oil Co. v. Peters (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 431.

The refusal to give a requested instruction in trespass to try title held erroneous, though the charge given was correct as far as it went. Carlisle v. Gibbs, 44 C. A. 189, 98 S. W. 192.

An instruction on the issue of adverse possession held not ground for reversal in the absence of a request for an explanatory charge. Wrighton v. Butler (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 472.

On the issue whether a wife had abandoned the homestead, a charge held sufficient under the evidence in the absence of a requested charge submitting another issue. Herman v. Smith (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1087.

23. —— Actions for torts in general.—Charge that defendants were not guilty of conversion of cotton, unless they knew the party to whom they delivered it did not own it, held not cause for reversal, in absence of request for further charge. Burke v. Holmes & Hargis (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 564.

In an action for a private nuisance, an instruction held correct in the absence of a specially requested charge. Sherman Gas & Electric Co. v. Belden (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 897.

A charge, in trespass for cutting timber, relating to the care of a prudent person, held not erroneous for failing to annex the qualifying word "ordinarily." Clevenger v. Blount, 103 T. 27, 122 S. W. 529.

An instruction in an action against a railroad company for overflowing adjoining land held not erroneous, in the absence of request for more specific instruction. Bangle v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 374.

A carrier, in an action for the conversion of freight, may not complain of any error in an instruction fixing the date of the conversion, in the absence of a requested charge correctly fixing the date. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Porter (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 267.

24. —— Actions for negligence in general.—Charge as to contributory negligence, in action by shipper against carrier for loss of property by burning of cars, held not cause for reversal. Ft. Worth & D. C. R. Co. v. Garrison (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 611.

An instruction in an action against a railway company for injuries from fire held to present the defense only in general, and not to deprive the company of the right to a specific charge if requested. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Connally (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 206.

Where defendant requested an instruction on the question of contributory negligence, he will not be allowed to contend that the instruction given was without evidence to support it. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Johnson, 51 C. A. 126, 111 S. W. 1098.

In an action against a street railway company for injuries to a traveler on a street, an instruction as to the duty of the company to keep the street in safe condition held not erroneous, in the absence of a requested instruction. Citizens' Ry. & Light Co. v. Johns, 52 C. A. 489, 116 S. W. 62.

Complaint cannot be made that an instruction did not impose a sufficiently high degree of care on a carrier, in the absence of a special request for the instruction desired. Williamson v. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co., 57 C. A. 502, 122 S. W. 897.

Plaintiff's contributory negligence not having been pleaded but having been raised by the evidence, defendant, in the absence of a special request to charge, could not object that an instruction for plaintiff did not contain a condition that the jury should find plaintiff free from contributory negligence. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Mack (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 921.

In an action against two defendants for negligence, an instruction held not to be affirmatively erroneous, so that it was the duty of the defendant, desiring a more specific one, to request the same. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Sanders (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1181.

If defendant desired that an instruction which correctly submitted a question of negligence should refer to the circumstances from which its duty arose, it should have requested it, and, failing to do so, cannot object on appeal. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Salisbury (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 252.

Where the instruction as given made specific application to the grounds of negligence alleged in the petition, if defendant conceived that some general statements contained in the charge would leave the jury to consider matters outside the pleading, it should have requested an additional charge. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Dumas (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 543.

An instruction that a telegraph company is held to the exercise of reasonable care and diligence was not error, in the absence of request for a more specific charge, on the ground that the company need only exercise "ordinary care" under the circumstances. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Vance (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 904.

25. —— Actions for personal injuries.—Where instructions in an action for injuries received in a railroad crossing accident limits plaintiff's right to recover to the causes of negligence alleged in the petition, the failure to give a further charge thereon is not error, in the absence of a request therefor. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Laws (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 498.

Where defendant did not request a special instruction limiting deceased's rights as passenger because he was riding on a logging train, it cannot contend on appeal that he was not entitled to such rights. Trinity Val. R. Co. v. Stewart (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 1085.

Instruction as to contributory negligence held not error, in absence of request for special charge. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Hamilton (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 797; Galveston, H. & S. A. R. Co. v. Mohrmann, 42 C. A. 374, 93 S. W. 1090; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Bean, 55 C. A. 341, 119 S. W. 328.

Where a defendant in a personal injury case fails to request additional charges, he cannot complain of a charge correctly announcing the law and presenting favorably for him all defensive issues. Boettler v. Tumlinson (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 824.

Defendant held not entitled to object to the sufficiency of instructions submitting the issue of assumed risk, in the absence of a request for further instructions on such issue. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Paschall, 41 C. A. 357, 92 S. W. 446.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to a switchman, defendant should have requested a charge presenting a certain question, if it desired it. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Box (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 134.

An instruction held not erroneous, in the absence of a request for a more specific instruction. Louisiana & Texas Lumber Co. v. Meyers (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 140; Northern Texas Traction Co. v. Thompson, 42 C. A. 613, 95 S. W. 708; St. Louis Southwestern R. Co. of Texas v. Cleland, 50 C. A. 499, 110 S. W. 122; Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Clay, 55 C. A. 526, 119 S. W. 730; Van Geem v. Cisco Oil Mill (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1108.

Failure to request additional instruction held to preclude plaintiffs from complaining of an instruction requiring proof of all acts of negligence charged to entitle them to recover. De Castillo v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 42 C. A. 108, 95 S. W. 547.

Where defendant in an action for injuries to an employé deemed an instruction on assumed risk to be too restrictive, it was defendant's duty to have prepared and presented a special charge on such subject. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Pope, 43 C. A. 616, 97 S. W. 534.

An instruction as to a servant's assumption of risk from dangers incident to the work held correct so far as it went. Missouri Valley Bridge & Iron Co. v. Ballard, 53 C. A. 110, 116 S. W. 93.

In a servant's injury action, an instruction as to the conditions of defendant's liability held correct so far as it went. Id.

In an action for injuries to a servant from the explosion of a locomotive boiler, an instruction as to the negligence of defendant which would warrant a recovery by plaintiff held proper. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Senn (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 322.

In an action for injuries to a telephone lineman, an instruction that if defendant warned plaintiff not to climb poles, but to use a ladder, and plaintiff disregarded such warning and did climb a pole, he was guilty of contributory negligence, was correct as far as it went; and if defendant desired a charge that plaintiff's act in climbing the pole, in violation of orders, would bar a recovery, it should have requested a more specific charge. Abilene Light & Water Co. v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1052.

Where a train porter was injured by falling from a trestle at night, as he was ordered to go forward to the engineer, an instruction stating the facts, which the jury were required to find in order to render verdict for plaintiff, was not affirmatively erroneous, because it omitted to require that the conductor should have known that plaintiff was ignorant of the location before they could find that he was negligent in not warning plaintiff; such omission being unavailable, in the absence of a request presenting the same. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bunkley (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 937.

An instruction authorizing a recovery if while the passenger was about to alight the car was started before the passenger had reasonably sufficient time to alight and if the carmen's negligence directly caused the injuries, was not affirmatively erroneous, and the carrier could not complain in the absence of requested instructions. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Urban (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1028.

26. —— Contracts and actions relating thereto.—An instruction charging that plaintiff, in order to recover on an insurance policy, must show exclusive ownership, without specifying whether such ownership should be shown to have existed at the time of issuing the policy, was not error, in the absence of a request for additional charge. Fire Ass'n of Philadelphia v. McNerney (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 1053.

An instruction as to notice of a simulated sale of a homestead, in an action on a vendor's note given in such sale, held sufficient, in the absence of proper requests for more specific instructions. Felsher v. Halenza (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 838.

A charge to find for defendant if a bill of sale in controversy was executed without consideration was not subject to the objection of being too general, in the absence of a request for a special instruction. Lewter v. Lindley (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 784.

Certain charge, misstating the allegations of defendant's answer as to a bill of sale, held not ground for reversal. Id.

Where an instruction in an action for breach of contract was good as far as it went, and the defect was one of omission only, a party desiring an instruction to supply the omission must request it. International Harvester Co. v. Campbell, 43 C. A. 421, 96 S. W. 93.

In an action for breach of contract of sale of lumber by failing to accept, an instruction referring to the conduct of the parties under the contract held sufficient, in the absence of a request for a more specific charge. Wm. Cameron & Co. v. Matthews (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 192.

Where defendant denied that he was a partner, and alleged that the note sued on was on the personal credit of his codefendant, and the circumstances proving the existence of a firm occurred both prior and subsequent to the date of the note, at which time the evidence showed a partnership, the submission of the issue whether defendant was a partner at the time of making the note "or at any time prior thereto" was not objectionable in the absence of a request for a special charge. Miller v. Laughlin (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 711.

27. —— Definition or explanation of terms.—Where the court's definition of libel was incomplete, but the charge correctly stated what was libelous as applied to the facts, and defendant did not request a fuller charge, it was sufficient. Houston Printing Co. v. Moulden, 15 C. A. 574, 41 S. W. 381.

Facts in an action against a railway company for personal injuries held to show that the court's use of the word "negligence" in its instructions, without indicating that the word required a high degree of care of the company, was not fatal error; no instruction to cure the error having been requested. Milligan v. Texas & N. O. R. Co., 27 C. A. 600, 66 S. W. 896.

Omission to fully define proximate cause held not ground for reversal in the absence of a request. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Paschall, 41 C. A. 357, 92 S. W. 446.

In an action to recover an attorney's fee paid on a note in ignorance of an extension, whereby it was not due, an instruction held, in the absence of a specific request, to sufficiently define the "notice" of the extension required. Collins v. Kelsey (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 122.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to a pedestrian while passing between cars blocking a crossing, an instruction defining contributory negligence held correct as far as it went, requiring a party desiring an additional instruction to request it. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 101 T. 422, 108 S. W. 964.

An instruction in a personal injury action held not erroneous for failing to define "concurring negligence" in the absence of a request for such definition. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Mills, 53 C. A. 359, 116 S. W. 852.

Error in not technically defining negligence correctly in an action for damage to live stock held not affirmative error in the absence of a request for a more specific charge. Guinn v. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 63.

One who desires to save an objection to a definition of proximate cause, because it does not contain all the conditions, must request a special charge upon the matter. Thompson & Ford Lumber Co. v. Thomas (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 296.

28. —— Damages and amount of recovery.—Where a charge in an action for wrongful attachment did not restrict the jury in finding the value of the goods to their value at the place of seizure, defendants should have asked a special charge, in order for it to be available error on appeal. Ellis v. Hudson (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 550.

Plaintiff, wishing an amplification of the charge as to measure of damages, should ask a special charge. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Freedman, 18 C. A. 553, 46 S. W. 101; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Jordan (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 619; Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Erwin, 65 S. W. 496; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Brock, 35 C. A. 155, 80 S. W. 422; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bolton, 36 C. A. 87, 81 S. W. 123; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Anderson, 36 C. A. 121, 81 S. W. 781; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Lester (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 401; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Currie, 91 S. W. 1100; Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Kauffman, 107 S. W. 630; Gonzales v. Galveston, H. & S. A. R. Co., Id. 896; Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Roach, 52 C. A. 95, 114 S. W. 418; Northern Texas Traction Co. v. Hunt, 54 C. A. 415, 118 S. W. 827; Temple v. Duran (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 253; Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Coffee, 126 S. W. 638; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Bullard, 127 S. W. 1152; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Grenig, 142 S. W. 135; Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Linger, 156 S. W. 298.

An omission to charge an element of damage was not error, in the absence of a requested charge thereon. Knauff v. San Antonio Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 1011.

Failure of court to explain fully in charge how damages for permanent injuries were to be measured held not available error to party who requested no further instruction on the subject. Red River, T. & S. Ry. Co. v. Reynolds, 38 C. A. 505, 85 S. W. 1169.

In an action for injuries, an instruction authorizing a recovery for such mental and physical suffering as was found from the evidence to result from the injuries held sufficient, in the absence of a request limiting them to such as naturally and directly resulted therefrom. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Paschall, 41 C. A. 357, 92 S. W. 446.

In an action for injuries to a minor, an instruction on the measure of damages held not objectionable for failure to authorize an allowance of a fair discount because of the present payment of damages for loss of the child's services in absence of request. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Kitt (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 587.

In an action for injuries received while alighting from defendant's street car, a charge permitting recovery by plaintiff for certain items of damage in a greater sum than that alleged in the petition held reversible error, though defendant did not ask a charge correcting the defective charge, and no objection was made to the evidence on its admission or in defendant's motion for a new trial. Rapid Transit Ry. Co. v. Strong (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 394.

In an action for injuries to an employé, an instruction as to damages for loss of earning capacity held not objectionable for not calling specific attention to the fact that plaintiff had some earning capacity left. El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. O'Keefe, 50 C. A. 579, 110 S. W. 1002.

A railroad company held not entitled to object on appeal to the court's failure to specifically place the burden of proving the market value of the land actually taken on the landowners, in the absence of a special request for an instruction. Stephenville, N. & S. T. Ry. Co. v. Moore, 51 C. A. 205, 111 S. W. 758.

An instruction, in an action by a wife against her husband, which defines in the language of the statute separate and community property, is correct, and a party desiring further instructions thereon must request it. Watkins v. Watkins (Civ. App.) 119 S. W. 145.

Court's omission to limit difference in value of property sued for to market value held only available after defendant had requested an instruction to cure the omission. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Bell (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 634.

Any insufficiency in a charge in an action for contribution because it did not authorize the allowance of interest on an amount paid to plaintiff by one of defendants held not affirmative error; it being correct in so far as it went, and defendants being entitled to request a charge to that effect. Matson v. Jarvis (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 941.

Defendant, in an employé's personal injury action, held not entitled to complain on appeal of a charge authorizing a recovery for medical expenses, where it did not request an explanatory charge as stated. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Gray (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 729.

Failure to charge on the measure of damages is an exception to the rule that omission to charge cannot be complained of, unless a special charge was requested. Quanah, A. & P. Ry. Co. v. Galloway (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 653.

An instruction that the measure of damages for the loss of baggage, consisting of wearing apparel of the passenger, was such an amount as the jury should determine from the testimony to be the value of the trunk and the contents thereof, on the day of the loss, was correct as far as it went, and the carrier failing to request any amplification thereof by special charge could not complain. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hailey (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1119.

29. Time for asking instructions.—Right of jury to request further instructions after retirement, see Art. 1962.

An instruction requested after the jury has retired may properly be refused. Watson v. Cline (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 1037.

Where the charge and requests have been given, and the jury has separated for a day prior to deliberation, the giving of further requests not preferred until the day of deliberation is discretionary. First Nat. Bank v. Stephens, 19 C. A. 560, 47 S. W. 832.

It is discretionary for the court to give a requested charge not asked until after the jury had retired. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Harrison, 56 C. A. 17, 120 S. W. 254.

Where charges were not called to the attention of the court until after verdict, the court properly refused to consider them. Freeman v. Puckett, 56 C. A. 126, 120 S. W. 514.

30. Form and requisites of requests in general.—Erroneous requests, see post, §§ 52, 53.

The court may require that charges asked by counsel should be written upon separate sheets of paper. Railway Co. v. King, 23 S. W. 917, 2 C. A. 122.

Where a party desires an instruction on two propositions of law separately, they should be so framed that the jury can take one of them to their room without the other. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Johnson, 16 C. A. 546, 41 S. W. 367.

A request for a charge that limitations commenced running against a beneficiary on repudiation of the trust by the trustee held not to amount to a request for a charge defining repudiation. Davis v. Davis, 20 C. A. 310, 49 S. W. 726.

A desired instruction is not properly requested when contained only in a requested instruction which covers other propositions, and in properly refused on other grounds. Cowan v. Brett, 43 C. A. 569, 97 S. W. 330.

A mere suggestion to the trial court is not sufficient to require it to submit an issue, but a request should be made for the giving of a charge properly framed presenting the question desired. Orient Ins. Co. v. Wingfield, 49 C. A. 202, 108 S. W. 788.

A party seeking by a special charge to make clearer the charge given must so express his proposition that the jury may not be misled thereby. Barnes v. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co., 103 T. 387, 128 S. W. 367.

Rule stated as to preparation of requested charges based on the evidence. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Ketchey (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1188.

31. Written requests or prayers.—Refusal of court, after the charge is given, of a verbal request to charge upon an omitted question, is error. Griffin v. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 319.

Refusal of defendant's counsel to prepare a written charge directing the jury to disregard improper argument held not to deprive defendant of the right to complain on appeal of the overruling of objections to such argument. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. McClerran (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 653.

Appellant cannot object to an omission of the court to charge in the absence of presentation of a written special charge on the particular point or points. Ash v. A. B. Frank Co. (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 42.

32. —— Signing.—A requested instruction, not signed by a party or his attorney, should not be given. Redus v. Burnett, 59 T. 576; Houston v. Blythe, 60 T. 506; Newman v. Farquhar, 60 T. 640; Moore v. Brown, 27 C. A. 208, 64 S. W. 946; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cleland, 50 C. A. 499, 110 S. W. 122.

The attorney for a party is required to write and sign his request for charges, so as to identify them, make himself responsible as the representative of the party and an officer of the court for his professional act, and whatever falls short of compliance with this rule should not be held to estop either party upon the review of an error in the charge of the court. Belcher v. Railroad Co., 92 T. 593, 50 S. W. 559.

33. Instructions already given.—Instructions already substantially given are properly refused. Keeble v. Black, 4 T. 69; Galbreath v. Atkinson, 15 T. 21; Wilson v. Adams, Id. 323; Oliver v. Chapman, Id. 400; Hicks v. Bailey, 16 T. 229; Powell v. Messer, 18 T. 401; Gray v. Burk, 19 T. 228; McCown v. Schrimpf, 21 T. 22, 73 Am. Dec. 221; Humphries v. Freeman, 22 T. 45; Swinney v. Booth, 28 T. 113; Vaughan v. Warnell, Id. 119; Floyd v. Rice, Id. 341; Hatchett v. Conner, 30 T. 104; Clark v. Wilcox, 31 T. 322; Tucker v. Hamlin, 60 T. 171; Newman v. Farquhar, Id. 640; Austin City Water Co. v. Capital Ice Co., 1 App. C. C. § 1133; Ft. W. & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Scott, 2 App. C. C. § 145; T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Mitchell, Id. § 373; Railway Co. v. Kuenhle, 4 App. C. C. § 249, 16

S. W. 177; Railway Co. v. Eckford, 71 T. 274, 8 S. W. 679; Same v. Douglas, 73 T. 325, 11 S. W. 333; Same v. Johnson, 75 T. 158, 12 S. W. 482; Same v. Henry, 75 T. 220, 12 S. W. 828; Same v. Overheiser, 76 T. 437, 13 S. W. 468; Same v. Kernan, 78 T. 294, 14 S. W. 668, 9 L. R. A. 703, 22 Am. St. Rep. 52; Same v. Taylor, 79 T. 104, 14 S. W. 918, 23 Am. St. Rep. 316; Same v. Sciacca, 80 T. 350, 16 S. W. 31; Same v. Cullers, 81 T. 382, 17 S. W. 19, 13 L. R. A. 542; Smith v. Bank, 82 T. 368, 17 S. W. 779; Shoe Co. v. Partridge, 82 T. 329, 18 S. W. 310; Railway Co. v. Mackney, 83 T. 410, 18 S. W. 949; Butler v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 23 S. W. 932; Railway Co. v. Shirley, 24 S. W. 809; Same v. Sein, 89 T. 63, 33 S. W. 215, 558; City of Houston v. Railway Co. (Civ. App.) 35 S. W. 74; Ft. Worth & N. O. Ry. Co. v. Nesmith, 40 S. W. 1071; Settegast v. O'Donnell, 41 S. W. 84; The Oriental v. Barclay, 16 C. A. 193, 41 S. W. 117; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Cloninger (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 632; Dublin Cotton Oil Co. v. Jarrard, 91 T. 289, 42 S. W. 959; Terrell v. McGown, 91 T. 231, 43 S. W. 2; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Gaither (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 266; Gunn v. Wynne, Id. 290; Armstrong v. Ames & Frost Co., 17 C. A. 46, 43 S. W. 302; Mexican Cent. Ry. Co. v. Goodman (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 580; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Gormley, 91 T. 393, 43 S. W. 877, 66 Am. St. Rep. 894; City of Marshall v. McAllister, 18 C. A. 159, 43 S. W. 1043; Newton v. Alexander (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 416; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Serafina, 45 S. W. 614; St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Freedman, 18 C. A. 553, 46 S. W. 101; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Culpepper, 19 C. A. 182, 46 S. W. 922; Same v. Satterwhite, 19 C. A. 170, 47 S. W. 41; St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Casseday (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 6; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Humphries, 20 C. A. 28, 48 S. W. 201; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Griffin, 20 C. A. 91, 48 S. W. 542; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Patterson, 20 C. A. 255, 48 S. W. 747; Texas Midland R. R. v. Tidwell (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 641; Baum v. Sanger, Id. 650; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hennesey, 20 C. A. 316, 49 S. W. 917; Halff v. Goldfrank (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 1095; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Cody, 20 C. A. 520, 50 S. W. 135; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Lyons (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 161; Sun Mut. Ins. Co. v. Tufts, 20 C. A. 147, 50 S. W. 180; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Beam (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 411; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Born, Id. 613; Same v. O'Mahoney, Id. 1049; Smith v. Cantrel, Id. 1081; Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Smith, 51 S. W. 506; Same v. Loeffler, Id. 536; Weatherford v. McFadden, 21 C. A. 260, 51 S. W. 548; Hitchler v. Boyles, 21 C. A. 230, 51 S. W. 648; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. St. Clair, 21 C. A. 345, 51 S. W. 666; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Wood (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 93; Western Union Tel. Co. v. Odom, 21 C. A. 537, 52 S. W. 632; Sun Insurance Office v. Beneke (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 98; Grand Lodge A. O. U. W. v. Bollman, 22 C. A. 106, 53 S. W. 829; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Simon (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 309; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Hawes, Id. 325; Wright v. United States Mortg. Co., Id. 368; Mansfield v. Neese, 21 C. A. 584, 54 S. W. 370; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Harvin (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 629; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Barton, Id. 797; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Warner, 22 C. A. 167, 54 S. W. 1064; City of Marshall v. McAllister, 22 C. A. 214, 54 S. W. 1068; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Fambrough (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 188; Cole v. Swanson, Id. 373; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. McCullough, 22 C. A. 208, 55 S. W. 392; Brush Electric Light & Power Co. v. Lefevre (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 396; Herndon v. Lammers, Id. 414; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. McGraw, Id. 756; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. White, 23 C. A. 280, 56 S. W. 204; Smith v. Clay (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 74; City of Corsicana v. Tobin, 23 C. A. 492, 57 S. W. 319; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Patterson (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 675; Nehring v. McMurrian, 94 T. 45, 57 S. W. 943; Texas Midland R. R. v. Brown (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 44; Sherman, S. & S. Ry. Co. v. Bell, Id. 147; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Taylor, Id. 166; Western Union Tel. Co. v. Carter, 24 C. A. 80, 58 S. W. 198; Kirby v. Estell, 24 C. A. 106, 58 S. W. 254; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Newburn (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 542; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 24 C. A. 180, 58 S. W. 622; Same v. Renz, 24 C. A. 335, 59 S. W. 280; Same v. English (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 626; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Coppinger, Id. 835; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Chittim, 24 C. A. 599, 60 S. W. 284; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. George (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 313; Bruce v. First Nat. Bank, 25 C. A. 295, 60 S. W. 1006; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Byrd (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 147; Parlin & Orendorff Co. v. Coffey, 25 C. A. 218, 61 S. W. 512; Fant v. Wright (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 514; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. McClane, 24 C. A. 321, 62 S. W. 565; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Williams, 26 C. A. 153, 62 S. W. 808; Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Moss (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 894; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Durrett, 26 C. A. 268, 63 S. W. 904; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Wooldridge (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 905; Tyler S. E. Ry. Co. v. Hitchins, 26 C. A. 400, 63 S. W. 1069; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Cushny (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 795; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Avery, Id. 935; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Skidmore, 27 C. A. 329, 65 S. W. 215; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Harris (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 885; Daugherty v. Herndon, 27 C. A. 175, 65 S. W. 891; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Mortensen, 27 C. A. 106, 66 S. W. 99; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Crockett, 27 C. A. 463, 66 S. W. 114; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Walden, 27 C. A. 567, 66 S. W. 584; Johnson v. Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co., 27 C. A. 616, 66 S. W. 906; Bering Mfg. Co. v. Peterson, 28 C. A. 194, 67 S. W. 133; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 769; Same v. Scarborough, 29 C. A. 194, 68 S. W. 196; Same v. Bailey, 28 C. A. 609, 68 S. W. 803; Cauble v. Worsham (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 194; St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Duck, Id. 1027; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Holyfield, 70 S. W. 221; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Jones, 30 C. A. 316, 70 S. W. 349; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Holt, 30 C. A. 330, 70 S. W. 591; St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith, 30 C. A. 336, 70 S. W. 789; Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Carter (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 73; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Clark, Id. 587; City of San Antonio v. Chism, Id. 606; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Hall, 31 C. A. 464, 72 S. W. 1052; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Irvine & Woods (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 540; Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Armes, 32 C. A. 32, 74 S. W. 77; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Knox (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 543; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Owens, Id. 579; Same v. McFarland, Id. 811; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Roane, Id. 845; Lewis v. Hoeldtke, 76 S. W. 309; Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Bowles, Id. 456; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Daugherty & Voliva, 33 C. A. 267, 76 S. W. 605; Western Union Tel. Co. v. Bowen (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 613; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brown, 33 C. A. 269, 76 S. W. 794; Cahill v. Dickson (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 281; Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co.

v. Bowman, 34 C. A. 98, 78 S. W. 22; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Stinson, 34 C. A. 285, 78 S. W. 986; Erwin v. Daniels, 34 C. A. 378, 79 S. W. 61; Central Texas & N. W. R. Co. v. Gibson, 35 C. A. 66, 79 S. W. 351; Galveston, H. & H. R. Co. v. Levy, 35 C. A. 107, 79 S. W. 879; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Calkins (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 852; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Kelly, 98 T. 123, 80 S. W. 79; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Bulger, 35 C. A. 478, 80 S. W. 557; Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. Barrett, 35 C. A. 366, 80 S. W. 660; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Jones, 35 C. A. 584, 80 S. W. 852; International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Diavara (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 337; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Matherly, 35 C. A. 604, 81 S. W. 589; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cannon (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 778; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Dunman, Id. 789; Galloway v. Floyd, 36 C. A. 379, 81 S. W. 805; Kingston v. Austin Oil Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 813; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Alexander, 36 C. A. 297, 81 S. W. 1015; Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Carroll, 36 C. A. 359, 81 S. W. 1020; Gammel-Statesman Pub. Co. v. Monfort (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 1029; San Antonio & A. P. R. Co. v. Kiersey, Id. 1045; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Waggoner Nat. Bank, 36 C. A. 293, 81 S. W. 1050; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Purdy (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 37; Gipson v. Morris, 36 C. A. 593, 83 S. W. 226; El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Davis (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 718; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Batchler, 37 C. A. 116, 83 S. W. 902; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Kealhy, 37 C. A. 330, 83 S. W. 1102; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Hagler, 38 C. A. 52, 84 S. W. 692; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. McAdams, 37 C. A. 575, 84 S. W. 1076; Texas Cent. R. Co. v. O'Loughlin, 37 C. A. 640, 84 S. W. 1104; Young v. Meredith, 38 C. A. 59, 85 S. W. 32; San Antonio Foundry Co. v. Drish, 38 C. A. 214, 85 S. W. 440; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Jackson, 38 C. A. 201, 85 S. W. 445; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Goodman, 38 C. A. 175, 85 S. W. 492; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Vanlandingham, 38 C. A. 206, 85 S. W. 847; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Jackson & Edwards (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 47; Shields v. Overall, Id. 373; Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Simpson, Id. 1034; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Kellerman, 39 C. A. 274, 87 S. W. 401; Field v. Field, 39 C. A. 1, 87 S. W. 726; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Cluck, 99 T. 130, 87 S. W. 817; American Cotton Co. v. Simmons, 39 C. A. 189, 87 S. W. 842; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Foster (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 879; Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Adams, 39 C. A. 517, 87 S. W. 1060; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Tisdale, 39 C. A. 372, 87 S. W. 1063; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Leakey, 39 C. A. 584, 87 S. W. 1168; Parlin & Orendorff Co. v. Vawter, 39 C. A. 520, 88 S. W. 407; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Glover (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 515; Barklow v. Avery, 40 C. A. 355, 89 S. W. 417; St. Louis & S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Foster (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 450; Texas Short Line Ry. Co. v. Waymire, Id. 452; Hubbard City Cotton Oil & Gin Co. v. Nichols, Id. 795; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Selman, Id. 1101; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Sloan, 91 S. W. 243; Buckler v. Kneezell, Id. 367; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Schuttee, Id. 806; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Wynne, Id. 823; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Wood, 41 C. A. 226, 92 S. W. 259; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bryant (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 813; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Smith, 93 S. W. 184; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Connally, Id. 206; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Dickson, 42 C. A. 163, 93 S. W. 481; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dumas (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 493; Same v. Houlihan, Id. 495; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Johnson, 94 S. W. 162; Ben C. Jones & Co. v. Gammel-Satesman Pub. Co., Id. 191; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Batte, Id. 345; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Haney, Id. 386; Same v. Wester, 96 S. W. 769; Yellow Pine Oil Co. v. Noble, 97 S. W. 332; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Groves, 44 C. A. 63, 97 S. W. 1084; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Cruseturner, 44 C. A. 181, 98 S. W. 423; Blackwell v. Speer (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 903; Bridgeport Coal Co. v. Wise County Coal Co., 44 C. A. 369, 99 S. W. 409; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Timon, 45 C. A. 47, 99 S. W. 418; G. A. Duerler Mfg. Co. v. Eichborn, 44 C. A. 638, 99 S. W. 715; Citizens' Telephone Co. v. Thomas, 45 C. A. 20, 99 S. W. 879; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Anglin, 45 C. A. 41, 99 S. W. 897; Belton & Temple Traction Co. v. Henry, 45 C. A. 272, 99 S. W. 1032; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Fisher (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 1042; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Worcester, 45 C. A. 501, 100 S. W. 990; St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Neely, 45 C. A. 611, 101 S. W. 481; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Rutland, 45 C. A. 621, 101 S. W. 529; San Antonio Light Pub. Co. v. Moore, 46 C. A. 259, 101 S. W. 867; El Paso Southwestern R. Co. v. Barrett, 46 C. A. 14, 101 S. W. 1025, 121 S. W. 570; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Cook (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 121; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Buch, Id. 124; Houston Lighting Power Co. v. Hooper, 46 C. A. 257, 102 S. W. 133; St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Harrison (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 140; Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Morrison, 46 C. A. 186, 102 S. W. 143; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Meritt, 46 C. A. 130, 102 S. W. 151; Gilmore v. Houston Electric Co., 46 C. A. 315, 102 S. W. 168; St. Louis & Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Schuler, 46 C. A. 356, 102 S. W. 783; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Criswell (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 695; Galveston, H. & H. R. Co. v. Alberti, 47 C. A. 32, 103 S. W. 699; Commerce Milling & Grain Co. v. Gowan (Civ. App.) 104 S. W. 916; Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. Stillwell, 46 C. A. 647, 104 S. W. 1071; Bounds v. Hubbard City, 47 C. A. 233, 105 S. W. 56; Warren, C. & P. Ry. Co. v. Shine (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 518; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. J. C. Wooldridge & Son, Id. 845; Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. McHale, 47 C. A. 360, 105 S. W. 1149; Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v. Snell, 47 C. A. 413, 106 S. W. 170; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cunningham, 48 C. A. 1, 106 S. W. 407; Thompson v. Planters' Compress Co., 48 C. A. 235, 106 S. W. 470; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 48 C. A. 135, 106 S. W. 773; Harris v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 1144; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Oram, 47 C. A. 526, 107 S. W. 74; Pullman Co. v. Vanderhoeven, 48 C. A. 414, 107 S. W. 147; Butler v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 656; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Moore, Id. 658; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Thomas, 48 C. A. 646, 107 S. W. 868; Kansas City Consol. Smelting & Refining Co. v. Taylor, 48 C. A. 605, 107 S. W. 889; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Davidson, 49 C. A. 85, 107 S. W. 949; Dunn v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 952; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Worth, Id. 958; Southern Pac. Co. v. Godfrey, 48 C. A. 616, 107 S. W. 1135; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Burnett, 49 C. A. 244, 108 S. W. 404; Texas Midland R. R. v. Ritchey, 49 C. A. 409, 108 S. W. 732; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hawkins, 49 C. A. 545, 108 S. W. 736; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Hendricks, 49 C. A. 314, 108 S. W. 745; El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Smith, 50 C. A. 10, 108 S. W. 988; Maffi v. Stephens, 49 C. A. 354, 108 S. W. 1008; City of San Antonio v. Wildenstein, 49 C. A. 514, 109 S. W. 231; Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Johnsey, 49 C. A. 487, 109 S. W. 251; El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Bolgiano (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 388; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Jackson, 49 C. A. 573, 109 S. W. 478; McCormick v. Kampmann (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 492; Consolidated Kansas City Smelting & Refining Co. v. Gonzales, 50 C. A. 79, 109 S. W. 946; El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Sierra (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 986; Wolf Cigar Stores Co. v. Kramer, 50 C. A. 411, 109 S. W. 990; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dawson Bros. (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 1110; Whitney v. Texas Cent. R. Co., 50 C. A. 1, 110 S. W. 70; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cleland, 50 C. A. 499, 110 S. W. 122; Gaar, Scott & Co. v. Burge, 49 C. A. 599, 110 S. W. 181; Texas Midland R. R. v. Byrd (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 199; Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Tucker, 50 C. A. 476, 110 S. W. 481; Overall v. Graves (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 549; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Lindsey, 51 C. A. 67, 110 S. W. 995; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Conuteson, 51 C. A. 1, 111 S. W. 187; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Garber, 51 C. A. 70, 111 S. W. 227; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cannon (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 661; Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Groner, 51 C. A. 65, 111 S. W. 667; Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 758; Dyer v. McWhirter, 51 C. A. 200, 111 S. W. 1053; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Nelson (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 1062; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cockrill, Id. 1092; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Kennedy, 51 C. A. 466, 112 S. W. 339; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Coleman, 51 C. A. 415, 112 S. W. 690; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hagler (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 783; Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Olds, Id. 787; Crouch Hardware Co. v. Walker, 51 C. A. 571, 113 S. W. 163; Alexander v. Brillhart, 51 C. A. 422, 113 S. W. 184; Hansen v. Williams (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 312; San Antonio Light Pub. Co. v. Lewy, 52 C. A. 22, 113 S. W. 574; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Jackson, 51 C. A. 646, 113 S. W. 628; Fordtran v. Stowers, 52 C. A. 226, 113 S. W. 631; P. E. Schow & Bros. v. McCloskey, 102 T. 129, 113 S. W. 739; Williams v. Livingston, 52 C. A. 275, 113 S. W. 786; Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. McCoy (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 387; Lee v. Haile, 51 C. A. 632, 114 S. W. 403; Baldwin v. Self, 52 C. A. 509, 114 S. W. 427; Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Murphy, 52 C. A. 420, 114 S. W. 443; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Adams, 42 C. A. 274, 114 S. W. 453; White v. Desmukes Commission Co. (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 852; City of Victoria v. Victoria County, 115 S. W. 67; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lasater, 53 C. A. 51, 115 S. W. 103; Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Farmer, 102 T. 235, 115 S. W. 260; Birge-Forbes Co. v. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co., 53 C. A. 55, 115 S. W. 333; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Sullivan, 53 C. A. 394, 115 S. W. 615; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Macon (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 847; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Shelton, 52 C. A. 437, 115 S. W. 877; Bryant v. Northern Texas Traction Co., 52 C. A. 600, 115 S. W. 880; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Stoker, 52 C. A. 433, 115 S. W. 910; Citizens' Ry. & Light Co. v. Johns, 52 C. A. 489, 116 S. W. 62; Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Wheeler, 52 C. A. 603, 116 S. W. 83; Boyd v. Schreiner (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 100; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Thompson, Id. 106; Southern Pac. Co. v. Hart, 53 C. A. 536, 116 S. W. 415; Carwile v. Wm. C. Cameron & Co. (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 611; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Beauchamp, 54 C. A. 123, 116 S. W. 1163; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Crawford, 54 C. A. 196, 117 S. W. 193; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. McCoy, 54 C. A. 278, 117 S. W. 446; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Powers, 54 C. A. 168, 117 S. W. 459; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Pettit, 54 C. A. 358, 117 S. W. 894; El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Alexander (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 927; Adams v. Gary Lumber Co., 54 C. A. 477, 117 S. W. 1017; Walker v. International & G. N. Ry. Co., 54 C. A. 406, 117 S. W. 1020; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 1043; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Geiger, 55 C. A. 1, 118 S. W. 179; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Lougino, 54 C. A. 87, 118 S. W. 198; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Shapard, 54 C. A. 596, 118 S. W. 596; Same v. Malloy, 54 C. A. 490, 118 S. W. 721; Northern Texas Traction Co. v. Hunt, 54 C. A. 415, 118 S. W. 827; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Ford (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 1137; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Johnson, Id. 1150; Baldwin v. Smith, 119 S. W. 111; Downs v. Stevenson, 56 C. A. 211, 119 S. W. 315; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Moore (Civ. App.) 119 S. W. 697; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ross, 55 C. A. 622, 119 S. W. 725; Louisiana & T. Lumber Co. v. Kennedy (Civ. App.) 119 S. W. 884; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Boyd, 56 C. A. 282, 119 S. W. 1154; St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Hutson & Brown, 56 C. A. 74, 120 S. W. 213; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Marshall (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 512; Hatzfeld v. Walsh, 55 C. A. 573, 120 S. W. 525; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gray, 56 C. A. 61, 120 S. W. 527; Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Younger (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 530; Mexia Light & Power Co. v. Johnson, Id. 534; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams, 56 C. A. 246, 120 S. W. 553; Stark v. Burkitt (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 939; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Schuessler, 56 C. A. 410, 120 S. W. 1147; Knowles v. Northern Texas Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 232; Galveston Electric Co. v. Wilkins, 56 C. A. 486, 121 S. W. 538; Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Elgin, 56 C. A. 573, 121 S. W. 577; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Holt, 57 C. A. 19, 121 S. W. 581; Same v. Wilcox, 57 C. A. 3, 121 S. W. 588; Same v. Ford, 56 C. A. 521, 121 S. W. 709; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Mitcham, 57 C. A. 134, 121 S. W. 871; Johnson v. W. H. Goolsby Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 883; Morgan's L. & T. R. & S. S. Co. v. Street, 57 C. A. 194, 122 S. W. 270; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Graves, 57 C. A. 395, 122 S. W. 458; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Hood, 57 C. A. 497, 122 S. W. 569; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dunbar, 57 C. A. 411, 122 S. W. 574; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Plummer, 57 C. A. 563, 122 S. W. 942; Palo Duro Club v. McAlister, 57 C. A. 393, 122 S. W. 971; Alamo Dressed Beef Co. v. Yeargan (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 721; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Hanks, 124 S. W. 136; Erie City Iron Works v. Noble, Id. 172; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Word, Id. 478; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Keith, Id. 695; El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. Welter, 125 S. W. 45; Texas & G. Ry. Co. v. Hall, Id. 71; Dunham v. Orange Lumber Co., Id. 89; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Walker, Id. 99; Same v. Buch, Id. 316; Freeman v. Taylor, Id. 613; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Richardson, Id. 623; Rice & Lyon v.

Lewis, Id. 961; Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Seeger, 126 S. W. 1170; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Farris, Id. 1174; William Connolly & Co. v. Malone, 127 S. W. 298; Guderian v. Clark, Id. 564; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Holzer, Id. 1062; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Washington, Id. 1126; Farmers' & Mechanics' Nat. Bank v. Hanks, 128 S. W. 147; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rogers, Id. 711; Northern Texas Traction Co. v. Brigance, Id. 919; Milwaukee Mechanics' Ins. Co. v. Frosch, 130 S. W. 600; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Schubert, Id. 708; El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. Eichel & Weikel, Id. 922; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Huey, Id. 1017; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Horne, Id. 1025; Evart v. Dalrymple, 131 S. W. 223; Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Boone, Id. 616; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Faulkner, Id. 619; Smith v. Guinn, Id. 635; Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Conner, Id. 1135; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rothenberg, Id. 1157; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brooks (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 95; Crockett & Sons v. Anselin, Id. 99; Keller v. Wolkarte, Id. 506; Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. Reames, Id. 977; Austin Electric Ry. Co. v. Faust, 133 S. W. 449; Mexican Cent. Ry. Co. v. Rodriguez, Id. 690; Morgan v. Fleming, Id. 736; Matson v. Jarvis, Id. 941; Cumby Mercantile & Lumber Co. v. Long, Id. 1072; Cheek v. Boyd, 134 S. W. 252; Consumers' Lignite Co. v. Cameron, Id. 283; Farmers' Cotton Oil Co. v. Barnes, Id. 369; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Groseclose, Id. 736; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. McCauley, Id. 798; St. Louis, S. F. & T. R. Co. v. Taylor, Id. 819; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Schroeter, Id. 826; Pecos River R. Co. v. Reynolds Cattle Co., 135 S. W. 162; Sanger v. Smith, Id. 189; Schwingle v. Keifer, Id. 194; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Felts, Id. 719; Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Green, Id. 1031; Eastern Ry. Co. of New Mexico v. Littlefield, Id. 1086; McLean v. Randell, Id. 1116; Brin v. Gale, Id. 1133; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Averill, 136 S. W. 98; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Reynolds, Id. 279; Edwards v. Mayes, Id. 510; Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Bailey, Id. 822; Curlee v. Rogan, Id. 1126; Alamo Oil & Refining Co. v. Curvier, Id. 1132; Quanah, A. & P. Ry. Co. v. McWhorter, Id. 1162; Sumner v. Kinney, Id. 1192; Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Gehring, 137 S. W. 754; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Miller, Id. 1194; Autrey v. Linn, 138 S. W. 197; Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Doolittle, Id. 415; Crane v. Wood, Id. 444; Curtis v. First Nat. Bank, Id. 795; Dewitt v. Bowers, Id. 1147; Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Jarrell, Id. 1165; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Nelson, 139 S. W. 81; Same v. Kennedy, Id. 1009; Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Bradford, Id. 1046; St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Casselberry, Id. 1161; Young v. Watson, 140 S. W. 840; Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Thompson, Id. 1148; Marshall & E. T. Ry. Co. v. Waldrop, 141 S. W. 315; St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Matlock, Id. 1067; Frost v. Grimmer, 142 S. W. 615; Paris & G. N. R. Co. v. Boston, Id. 944; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Addis, Id. 955; Louisiana & Texas Lumber Co. v. Kennedy, Id. 989; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hurdle, Id. 992; Dean v. Furrh, 143 S. W. 343; Houston Belt & Terminal Ry. Co. v. Johansen, Id. 1186; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Koch, 144 S. W. 1035; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Browder, Id. 1042; Freeman v. Grashel, 145 S. W. 695; Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Gray, Id. 728; Martin v. Dyer, Id. 1050; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Sample, Id. 1057; Texas Traction Co. v. Morrow, Id. 1069; Boswell v. Pannell, 146 S. W. 233; Wichita Falls Traction Co. v. Adams, Id. 271; Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Dinwiddie, Id. 280; Cheek v. W. H. Nicholson & Co., Id. 594; Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Allen, Id. 1066; Thompson & Ford Lumber Co. v. Thomas, 147 S. W. 296; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Brown, Id. 1177; Altgelt v. Gerbic, 149 S. W. 233; American Const. Co. v. Caswell, Id. 282; Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Crannell, Id. 351; Freeman v. McElroy, Id. 428; Hagelstein v. Blaschke, Id. 718; Lemond v. Smith, Id. 751; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Hilgartner, Id. 1091; Gulf Pipe Line Co. v. Clayton, 150 S. W. 268; Whitesides v. Bacon, Id. 301; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Matador Land & Cattle Co., Id. 461; Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. State, Id. 604; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Tarver, Id. 958; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Wininger, 151 S. W. 586; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Good, Id. 617; St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Knox, Id. 902; Anderson v. Crow, Id. 1080; Crane v. Western Union Telegraph Co., 152 S. W. 444; King v. State (Cr. App.) Id. 629; Smith v. Bruyere (Civ. App.) Id. 813; Texas Midland R. R. v. Simmons, Id. 1106; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Dunford, Id. 1129; Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Doke, Id. 1174; St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Dean, Id. 1127; Hartford Fire Ins. Co. v. Walker, 153 S. W. 398; Marshall & E. T. Ry. Co. v. Waldrop, Id. 410; Mallory S. S. Co. v. Bahn Diamond & Optical Co., 154 S. W. 282; Eastern Ry. Co. of New Mexico v. Littlefield (Sup.) Id. 543; Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Glass (Civ. App.) Id. 604; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hedric, Id. 633; Brown Cracker & Candy Co. v. Johnson, Id. 684; Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Finklea, 155 S. W. 612; Galveston, H. & H. R. Co. v. Hodnett, Id. 678; Hutto v. Hall, Id. 1022; Hughes-Buie Co. v. Mendoza, 156 S. W. 328; Snyder Ice, Light & Power Co. v. Bowron, Id. 550; Kennedy v. Garard, Id. 570; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Murray, Id. 594; United States Express Co. v. Taylor, Id. 617; Peck v. Morgan, Id. 917; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Payne, Id. 1126; Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Davis, Id. 1146; Beckwith v. Powers, 157 S. W. 177; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Caruthers, Id. 238; Ft. Worth Belt Ry. Co. v. Turney, Id. 274; State Mut. Fire Ins. Co. v. Taylor, Id. 950.

Although the court may have charged in a general way upon a given issue, yet if this be the determinate issue of the case it is the duty of the court to give a requested charge pertinently applying the law to the facts in evidence relating to such issue. Fox v. Brady, 1 C. A. 590, 20 S. W. 1024.

Instructions for defendant held properly refused, where issue was presented by instructions for plaintiff. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Franklin (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 701.

An erroneous refusal to instruct was not remedied by an instruction which did not clearly present the issue on the facts. Sweat v. State (Cr. App.) 59 S. W. 265.

A requested instruction of an issue covered by the general charge need not be given, unless it is an accurate statement of the law and is necessary to supply an omission. Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Carter (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 73.

The refusal of a request to instruct to disregard certain evidence held not error, where by the main charge the jury were not authorized to consider the matter to which the evidence related. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Smissen, 31 C. A. 549, 73 S. W. 42.

It is not error to refuse requested instructions when the issues therein presented were contained in other special charges which were given at the request of the same party. Texas & Ft. S. R. Co. v. Hartnett, 33 C. A. 103, 75 S. W. 809; Taylor v. San Antonio & A. P. R. Co., 36 C. A. 658, 83 S. W. 738; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Glover (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 515; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Haney, 94 S. W. 386; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lee, 103 S. W. 654; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Berry, 47 C. A. 327, 105 S. W. 1019; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Harris (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 500; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Ochiltree, 127 S. W. 584; Grand Fraternity v. Mulkey, 130 S. W. 242.

A charge requested, containing nothing more than that which has substantially been given, and more favorably to the complaining party, held properly refused. Guerguin v. Boone, 33 C. A. 622, 77 S. W. 630; J. M. Guffey Petroleum Co. v. Hooks, 47 C. A. 560, 106 S. W. 690.

A request by defendant, directed to the very facts upon which its defenses rest, is not rendered improper because the instructions given cover those defenses in general terms. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rea, 99 T. 58, 87 S. W. 324.

It is not proper for the court to refuse a special charge grouping the specific facts on which the party requesting the same relies for a verdict in his favor, because of the giving of a general charge presenting such issues. Southern Const. Co. v. Hinkle (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 309.

Where a party requested a special charge upon a certain subject which was given, he was not entitled to another on the same subject, though the latter was more specific than the former. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Hugen, 45 C. A. 326, 100 S. W. 1000.

A requested instruction correctly defining the special rule of law on which a party relies, and grouping the facts to establish it, should not be refused because the jury might infer from the general charge that the requested rule was correct. Yellow Pine Oil Co. v. Noble, 101 T. 125, 105 S. W. 318; El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. Foth, 101 T. 133, 100 S. W. 171, 105 S. W. 322.

Where a case is submitted to the jury with reasonable fairness and accuracy, refusal of requested instructions is not error. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Martin, 49 C. A. 197, 108 S. W. 981.

It is not error to refuse requested charges embodying abstract definitions of rules of law, where the court correctly presents the issues to the jury in its general charge. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Parsons (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 240.

A main charge held to withdraw a ground of negligence from the jury, so that the refusal of a special charge specifically withdrawing it was not error. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Reed, 54 C. A. 26, 116 S. W. 69.

The court, having instructed fully on a defense, properly refused an instruction charging directly on particular features of the evidence under such defense. Ætna Ins. Co. of Hartford v. Brannon, 53 C. A. 242, 116 S. W. 116; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Woods (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 196; Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. McGinnis, 147 S. W. 1188.

A party cannot complain of the refusal of an instruction where the instructions given were more favorable to him than the requested instruction. Buchanan & Gilder v. Murayda (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 973.

A requested instruction held fairly embraced within the one given. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Langston (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 334.

Where the court submitted an issue in a very general way in its main charge, a party was entitled on request to have a more specific general charge. Texas Midland R. R. v. McKissack Bros. (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 815.

34. —— Issues in general.—A refusal to charge that there could be no recovery on a cause of action improperly alleged in an amended petition, was proper, where it was charged that plaintiff could recover only on the cause as alleged in the original petition. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Syfan (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 551.

Where the court submitted all of the issues which related to the disputed questions of fact and which were necessary to the determination of the case, it was not error to refuse to submit issues requested by the parties. Colville v. Colville (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 870.

Where the trial court did not in its instructions submit an issue raised by the pleadings and evidence, it was error to refuse a special charge submitting such issue. O'Brien v. Von Lienen (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 723.

35. —— Evidence and matters of fact.—A refusal to give a requested charge on the burden of proof held not erroneous, in view of the issues and the charge given. Watson v. Cline (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 1037; American Cotton Co. v. Collier, 30 C. A. 105, 69 S. W. 1021; Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Bowles (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 456; Galveston City Ry. Co. v. Chapman, 35 C. A. 551, 80 S. W. 856; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Green (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 380; Postal Telegraph-Cable Co. v. Sunset Const. Co., 109 S. W. 265; Beaumont Traction Co. v. Happ, 57 C. A. 427, 122 S. W. 610; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Bush & Witherspoon Co. (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 102; Goodwin v. Simpson, Id. 1190; Frost v. Grimmer, 142 S. W. 615; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Coker, 143 S. W. 218.

In an action for injuries to a servant, the court having instructed that plaintiff could only recover if defendant's foreman knew of the incompetency of another servant, and that the burden was on plaintiff to prove the facts necessary to a recovery, held not error to refuse an instruction that the liability of defendant for an injury caused by such fellow servant depended on its being established by affirmative proof that the incompetency of the other servant was known to the master. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Lee, 32 C. A. 23, 74 S. W. 345.

An instruction that the burden of proof was on the plaintiff having been given, a requested charge that, if the evidence was equally balanced, the jury should find for defendant, held properly refused. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Villareal, 36 C. A. 532, 82 S. W. 1063; Same v. Davis (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 669.

A refused instruction on the burden of proof held not covered by an instruction given. Freeman v. Slay, 99 T. 514, 91 S. W. 6.

In an action for personal injuries held not error to refuse an instruction as to the effect of the execution of a release in view of an instruction given. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Green (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 380.

Where the court charged that the burden was on plaintiff to prove every allegation essential to his recovery, the refusal of an instruction that the burden was on plaintiff to establish his case by a preponderance of the evidence, held not error. Houston Ice & Brewing Co. v. Nicolini (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 84.

In an action for the death of a mare struck by defendant's train, held proper to refuse requested instructions as to plaintiff's duty to prove defendant's negligence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Bennett (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 607.

Where the court charged that one suing for a personal injury had the burden of making out his case by preponderance of the evidence, it was not reversible error to refuse to charge that, unless he had done so, the verdict should be for defendant. Galveston, H. & H. R. Co. v. Greb (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 489.

In view of the prima facie case made by plaintiff in an action against a telegraph company for damages from failure to promptly deliver a telegram, preventing plaintiff from attending her brother's funeral, the charge given on the burden of proof held sufficient, so that a requested charge thereon by defendant was properly refused. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Harris (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 876.

Where plaintiff introducing in evidence an instrument acknowledged by the defendant assumed the burden of proving the due execution of the instrument by defendant, and the jury were charged that, if they believed that the instrument was signed by defendant, the verdict must be for plaintiff, the refusal to charge that the burden of proof was on the plaintiff to establish the execution by defendant of the instrument was not reversible error. Bennett v. Louisiana & Texas Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1189.

Where the evidence was conflicting as to the immaturity and lack of experience of plaintiff's son, and the court charged that the burden of proof on the whole case was on plaintiff, and not to find for her unless they believed that her son possessed such immaturity and lack of experience as would relieve him from his negligence, it was not error to refuse an instruction which specifically placed the burden of proof on plaintiff as to this particular issue. Hill County Cotton Oil Co. v. Gathings (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 664.

36. —— Credibility of witnesses.—A special charge that, if plaintiff was malingering as to some of his injuries, the jury should find for defendant, held properly refused, where the court charged that plaintiff could recover only for the actual injuries received. Texas Cent. & N. W. Ry. Co. v. Weideman (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 810.

37. —— Affirmative and negative of issues.—It was not error for the court to refuse to charge the negative phase of some of the alleged grounds of negligence, where the matter was otherwise fully covered by the charges given. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Knowles, 44 C. A. 172, 99 S. W. 867.

In a railroad passenger's action for injuries, the court's charge held to sufficiently present the negative of plaintiff's case so that a requested charge was properly refused. St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Dodgin (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 847.

It is not error to refuse defendant's requested instruction presenting no affirmative defense, but being merely an affirmative presentation of the negative side of plaintiff's case, where the court's charge has stated that plaintiff has the burden of proving by the preponderance of the evidence the material allegations of his petition, and, unless he has done so, the jury will find for defendant. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. De Bord (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 667.

A requested instruction which proposed the submission of facts which were merely the converse of those submitted in an instruction given was properly refused. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Perry (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 305.

An instruction in an action by a passenger for injuries that, if plaintiff received the injuries complained of as the proximate caue of the sudden jerking of the train, the jury should find for her, and, "unless you find for plaintiff under the foregoing instruction, you will find for the defendant," did not present the issue of plaintiff's receiving her injuries by stumbling and falling, except in the general negative way, and an instruction submitting that if plaintiff received the injury by tripping on her skirts or by stumbling over the doorsill leading into the coach, the jury should find for defendant, should have been given. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Juricek (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 327.

On an issue, as to which the evidence is conflicting, it is the court's duty, on request, to present affirmatively the negative side thereof, though it has been negatively presented in the main charge. Overland Automobile Co. v. Buntyn (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 654.

38. —— Nature of action or issue in general.—A general charge held not to include an issue covered by a requested charge whether a gift by a father to his son was in good faith. Randolph v. Hudson (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 128.

Where the court charged that a partnership could be either by express or implied agreement, etc., and, if such agreement was found, the jury must find a partnership, it was not error to refuse to charge on the various circumstances relied on to establish the partnership. Davis v. Bingham (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 132.

Failure to instruct, in an action to quiet title, that defendant's adverse possession of a part of the land would extend to the entire tract by construction, held not error, when a subsequent paragraph correctly stated the rule. Kobs v. New York & T. Land Co. (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 1087.

In an action on a liquor dealer's bond for sales of liquor to plaintiff's minor son, the refusal to give a charge held not erroneous in view of the charge given and the evidence. Ellis v. Brooks, 101 T. 591, 102 S. W. 94, 103 S. W. 1196.

On the issue whether a city had acquired by prescription a street, the refusal to give an instruction held not erroneous in view of the charge given. Cockrell v. City of Dallas (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 977.

Requested instruction, in action by administrators, held not covered by general charge. Booth v. Bursey, 54 C. A. 102, 117 S. W. 198.

In a will contest on the ground of undue influence and lack of testamentary capacity, the refusal of special charges held proper in view of the general charge. Gallagher v. Neilon (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 564.

Refusal to give instruction in trespass to try title as to adverse possession held not error in view of the charge given. Whittaker v. Thayer (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 1137; Ragon v. Craver, 127 S. W. 1087; Hermann v. Fenn, 129 S. W. 1139; Yealock v. Yealock, 141 S. W. 842.

In trespass to try title between claimants to school land, refusal of an instruction held not error in view of one given. Beaty v. Yell (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 911.

In trespass to try title involving a disputed boundary line, a request to charge held properly covered by instructions given. Caruthers v. Hadley (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 757.

In action against an express company to recover on money orders paid on a forged indorsement of plaintiff's name, held the refusal of a special instruction was proper. Wells Fargo & Co. Express v. Bilkiss (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 798.

In an action to set aside a sheriff's sale, an instruction held to be correct and to sufficiently protect defendant's interest as to a certain issue. Kennedy v. Walker (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1115.

An instruction on the issue of the residence of plaintiff within the venue laws held to correctly state the law. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 1148.

Where the issue was an agreement establishing a partnership, an instruction that to establish a partnership there must be a valid agreement to enter into a partnership, which must be executed, and that a mere understanding that a partnership would be formed at a future time was insufficient, and an instruction that while acts and conduct might make parties partners as to third persons, to constitute a partnership as to each other there must be an intention that such relation should exist, and that unless plaintiff and defendant intended to share in the profits and losses, the jury should find for plaintiff only the amount conceded by defendant, was properly denied. Dupuy v. Dawson (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 698.

39. —— Fraud and undue influence.—In an action to recover the price paid for whisky, the court having erroneously charged on the issue of false representations, defendant was entitled to a charge that if no misrepresentations were made defendant could recover. Julius Kessler & Co. v. Burckell (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 173.

In a will contest held not error to refuse a charge consisting of a definition of undue influence and another proposition where the court had already defined undue influence. Goodloe v. Goodloe, 47 C. A. 493, 105 S. W. 533.

An instruction in an action to partly cancel a conveyance for fraud held properly refused as being sufficiently covered by another instruction. Oar v. Davis (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 710.

In an action for price of cattle and for conversion of horses, in which defendant claimed under a bill of sale alleged by plaintiff to have been obtained by fraud, instructions given held to have fully covered the defenses and to have rendered a special charge unnecessary. Peoples v. Brockman (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 907.

40. —— Actions for torts in general.—In suit to restrain operating a cotton gin claimed to be a nuisance, held, that a certain charge rendered unnecessary any additional instructions as to defendant's right to maintain the gin. Faulkenbury v. Wells, 28 C. A. 621, 68 S. W. 327.

Where, in an action for libel, the court charged the jury to find the publication was false before finding for plaintiff, it was unnecessary for it to give defendant's request to find in its favor if the publication was true. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. McArthur, 31 C. A. 205, 72 S. W. 76.

In libel for charging plaintiff with smuggling, the trial court having charged the issue of privilege in the language of the statute, a charge that defendant was not required to prove the defense of privilege literally was properly refused. San Antonio Light Pub. Co. v. Lewy, 52 C. A. 22, 113 S. W. 574.

An instruction in trespass for cutting timber held properly refused in view of the instruction given and the undisputed evidence. Clevenger v. Blount (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 868.

In an action for a private nuisance occasioned by the erection and operation of an electric light plant in the vicinity of plaintiffs' property, the refusal to charge that the jury should not consider certain facts held proper in view of the charge given. Sherman Gas & Electric Co. v. Belden (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 897.

In an action for flowage on plaintiffs' land during certain seasons of two different years, a requested charge held sufficiently covered by one given and properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gilbert (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 434.

A court's requested instruction defining "navigable stream," in an action for interfering with the rafting of logs, held sufficient to authorize the refusal of defendant's requested instruction upon the same matter. Burr's Ferry, B. & C. Ry. Co. v. Allen (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 358.

41. —— Actions for negligence in general.—In an action for damages from the negligence of bailee, held not error to refuse a requested instruction defining negligence. Baker & Lockwood Mfg. Co. v. Clayton, 40 C. A. 586, 90 S. W. 519.

A very general charge having been given on defendant's freedom from liability if high water caused plaintiff's injury, it was error to refuse to give a proper request to charge specifically presenting such question. Eastern Texas R. Co. v. Moore (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 394.

Instruction given, that the jury must find that the erecting of a pipe was negligence under all the surrounding facts and circumstances, held to cover an instruction that the erection of the pipe itself would be insufficient to render defendant liable. Consolidated Kansas City Smelting & Refining Co. v. Binkley, 45 C. A. 100, 99 S. W. 181.

Failure in an action for negligence to instruct the jury to find for defendant, if not found guilty of negligence, held not reversible error, in the absence of a special request therefor. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Nelson (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 1062.

Where petition charged that defendant caused or permitted a wire to become charged with electricity, and the evidence showed that it did not cause it to be so charged, instruction held to have submitted only defendant's negligence in permitting it to be charged, and hence denial of a requested instruction that there was no evidence that it caused it to be charged was not error. City of Greenville v. Branch (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 478.

A requested instruction that if defendant was driving his automobile with reasonable care, and tried to avoid the accident, verdict should be for defendant, covered fully by others, held properly refused. Scott v. Riddle (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 408.

42. —— Personal injuries in general.—Instruction that plaintiff could not recover if injuries were accidental or caused by his own negligence held to have been substantially given. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Downing, 16 C. A. 643, 41 S. W. 190.

In action for injuries to a child while trespassing in defendant's gin house, a requested instruction held not covered by one of the instructions given. North Texas Const. Co. v. Bostick, 98 T. 239, 83 S. W. 12.

In a personal injury action, the refusal to give a charge held not erroneous in view of the charge given. May v. Hahn (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 132; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Finn, 107 S. W. 94; San Marcos Electric Light & Power Co. v. Compton, 48 C. A. 586, 107 S. W. 1151; Louisiana & T. Lumber Co. v. Brown, 50 C. A. 482, 109 S. W. 950; Staten v. Monroe (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 222.

43. —— Injuries in operation of railroads in general.—Where the court correctly charged as to negligence of a railroad company, the refusal to give a requested charge on the same subject held not erroneous. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Morris, 94 T. 505, 61 S. W. 709; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cassinoba, 44 C. A. 625, 99 S. W. 888; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Muecke, 47 C. A. 380, 105 S. W. 1009; Paris & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Calvin, 101 T. 291, 106 S. W. 879; W. A. Morgan & Bros. v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 50 C. A. 420, 110 S. W. 978; Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Olds (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 787; St. Louis, B. & M. Ry. Co. v. Maddox, 152 S. W. 225.

A charge that, in operating trains, ordinary care should be used to avoid injuring persons on the track, held to apply to all persons, and to render unnecessary its repetition in a special charge defining trespassers and licensees. Smith v. International & G. N. R. Co., 34 C. A. 209, 78 S. W. 556.

In an action against a railroad company for injuries caused by the frightening of plaintiff's team at a crossing, an instruction given held not a sufficient substitute for one requested. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hall, 98 T. 480, 85 S. W. 786.

In an action for damages caused by maintenance of nuisance incident to construction and operation of railroad, defendant held not entitled to requested instruction in view of instructions given. Burton Lumber Corp. v. City of Houston, 45 C. A. 363, 101 S. W. 822; St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Payne, 47 C. A. 194, 104 S. W. 1077.

In an action against a railroad company for injuries resulting from the act of an employé, the refusal to give a charge held not erroneous in view of the charge given and the evidence. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Parsons (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 240.

Where plaintiff's right to recover was restricted by the general charge to defendant's negligence in the operation of an engine, the court did not err in refusing to charge that plaintiff could not recover because of the dangerous proximity of a post to the track. Cunningham v. Neal, 49 C. A. 613, 109 S. W. 455.

In an action for injuries to a boy by falling from a ladder on a moving freight car, where the allegation that defendant's employés were in the habit of allowing boys to ride on trains being switched was supported by no evidence, and the court charged that plaintiff was a trespasser upon the train, it was not necessary to further instruct that this allegation be disregarded. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Buch (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 316.

A requested instruction that plaintiff could not recover if a mere trespasser unless willfully injured held sufficiently covered by an instruction that he could not recover if a trespasser unless willfully injured by defendant's employés, and that he was a trespasser if he remained in the baggage room longer than necessary. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Cameron (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 709.

44. —— Injuries to passengers.—A request to charge held covered by an instruction given. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ferguson, 26 C. A. 460, 64 S. W. 797; Knauff v. San Antonio Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 1011; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Burke, 36 C. A. 222, 81 S. W. 774; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Bump, 43 C. A. 297, 95 S. W. 29; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lowe (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 1087; Cornelison v. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co., 46 C. A. 509, 103 S. W. 1186; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Berry, 49 C. A. 521, 109 S. W. 393; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dunbar, 57 C. A. 411, 122 S. W. 574; Barnes v. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co., 103 T. 387, 128 S. W. 367; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Matchett (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1113.

A requested instruction that a passenger could not recover for injuries, if they were caused by his father or mother pushing him from the car steps, held covered by the general charge. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Byers (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 558.

Requested instructions as to defendant's liability if plaintiff's injuries were caused by an act of God held covered by instructions given. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. Cain, 37 C. A. 531, 84 S. W. 682.

Where, in an action by a passenger to recover for abusive language of the conductor in stating to plaintiff that she was guilty of a penitentiary offense in getting on the train without a ticket for her child, the court instructed that after plaintiff had paid the child's fare she was a passenger, and if the statement was then made, and plaintiff suffered as a proximate result thereof, she was entitled to recover, it was not error to refuse a requested instruction that plaintiff was a passenger after paying the child's fare, and that the conductor would have no right to make such statement thereafter. Carpenter v. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 363.

Where the court instructed that it was defendant's duty to exercise a high degree of care to keep the waiting room warm for at least one hour after the arrival of a train, and as long thereafter as plaintiff's circumstances made it reasonably necessary, a requested instruction that, while it was defendant's duty to keep the waiting room warm for one hour after the departure of the train upon which plaintiff arrived, this duty was one owing to passengers, and plaintiff was a passenger only until such time as she could reasonably depart in the ordinary manner. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Perry (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 305.

45. —— Injuries to employés.—Refusal of an instruction that plaintiff could not recover, if his injuries were caused by stepping upon any other substance on the footboard of an engine than a projecting bolt which he had alleged to have caused his injuries, held not prejudicial; it being covered by a subsequent instruction. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Milam (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 591.

The refusal of a charge held not erroneous in view of the charge given. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Jackson, 25 C. A. 619, 62 S. W. 91; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Kelley, 33 C. A. 442, 76 S. W. 942; Southern Const. Co. v. Hinkle (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 309; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dean, Id. 797; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hagan, 42 C. A. 133, 93 S. W. 1014; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Wise (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 465; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Wafer, 48 C. A. 279, 106 S. W. 897; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Patrick, 50 C. A. 491, 109 S. W. 1097; Wade v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 84; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Davenport, Id. 150; El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. O'Keefe, 50 C. A. 579, 110 S. W. 1002; P. E. Schow & Bros. v. McCloskey, 102 T. 129, 113 S. W. 739; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Harper, 53 C. A. 614, 114 S. W. 1168, 1199; El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Alexander (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 927; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Richardson, 125 S. W. 623; Athens Cotton Oil Co. v. Harper, 126 S. W. 323; Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. v. Brandon, Id. 703; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Wafer, 130 S. W. 712; Farmers' Cotton Oil Co. v. Barnes, 134 S. W. 369; St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Arms, 136 S. W. 1164; Freeman v. Starr, 138 S. W. 1150.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to an employé, caused by defective appliances on a car received from another line, a general instruction as to latent defects and duty of inspection held sufficient, and a special instruction relating only to inspection at the receiving station properly refused. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Baker (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 556.

In an action by a servant for injuries, defendant was entitled to an instruction on the issue of fellow servants, though the main charge had based the right of recovery on the negligence of one who was a vice principal. Young v. Hahn (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 203.

In an action by a brakeman for injuries, held, that a charge on assumption of risk was properly refused; it having been given in substance. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Cochrane (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 41.

In an action for injuries to an employé of a railroad, owing to a grain door falling on him while he was assisting in unloading a car, held proper, in consideration of an instruction given, to refuse to instruct that, if the falling of the door was a mere accident a verdict should be returned for defendant. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Hutchens, 35 C. A. 343, 80 S. W. 415.

In action for injuries to railroad engineer, giving of charge following the language of defendant's plea, and refusal of instruction on the same issue, held not error. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Brice (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 660.

Where defendant pleaded negligence of fellow servants, and the court did not submit such defense in its main charge, it was its duty to give special charges thereon if they embodied a correct enunciation of the law, and there was any evidence tending to prove such defense. G. A. Duerler Mfg. Co. v. Eichhorn, 44 C. A. 638, 99 S. W. 715.

In an action by an employé for personal injuries, held error to refuse an instruction that plaintiff could not recover if the accident resulted from a defect in the machinery or equipment which could not have been discovered by defendant in the exercise of ordinary care. Lyon v. Bedgood, 54 C. A. 19, 117 S. W. 897.

In an action for injuries from negligence of a fellow servant, held not error to refuse a certain charge, where the court gave substantially the same instruction in its main charge. Freeman v. Shaw (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 53.

Where, in an action for injury to a servant, the court charged in accordance with the doctrine of assumed risk as prescribed by the statute on the subject, the refusal to give a special charge on the subject was proper. Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Wafer (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 712.

Where the main charge in a servant's action for injuries required the jury to find both that the failure to provide safeguards was negligence and that such failure was the proximate cause of the plaintiff's injury, a special charge on the issue of proximate cause was not required. Armour & Co. v. Morgan (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 861.

A requested instruction that the jury should find for defendant unless its inspectors could by ordinary care have discovered any defect before the injury, and in time to have remedied it, held substantially covered by instructions that plaintiff could not recover if defendant used ordinary care to inspect the car and failed to discover the defect. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Downs (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 714.

46. —— Contributory negligence and assumption of risk.—A requested charge on contributory negligence held covered by charges given. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Green (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 672; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Parker, 20 C. A. 470, 49 S. W. 717, 50 S. W. 606; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bellew, 22 C. A. 264, 54 S. W. 1079; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Milam (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 591; Citizens' Ry. Co. v. Ford, 25 C. A. 328, 60 S. W. 680; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Mayfield, 29 C. A. 477, 68 S. W. 807; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Gray (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 316; City of San Antonio v. Potter, 31 C. A. 263, 71 S. W. 764; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Partin, 33 C. A. 173, 76 S. W. 236; Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. v. Tolliver, 37 C. A. 437, 84 S. W. 375; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Roth, 37 C. A. 610, 84 S. W. 1112; Citizens' Ry. Co. v. Gossett, 37 C. A. 603, 85 S. W. 35; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Gray, 38 C. A. 249, 85 S. W. 838; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Nelson, 39 C. A. 269, 87 S. W. 706; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dixon (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 626; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Parrott, 100 T. 9, 92 S. W. 795; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Still, 45 C. A. 169, 100 S. W. 176; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hibbitts, 49 C. A. 419, 109 S. W. 228; Swift & Co. v. Martine, 53 C. A. 475, 117 S. W. 209; Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Clay, 55 C. A. 526, 119 S. W. 730; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Marshall (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 512; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Mayfield, 124 S. W. 141; Commerce Cotton Oil Co. v. Camp, 129 S. W. 852; Jacksonville Ice & Electric Co. v. Moses, 134 S. W. 379; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Williams, 136 S. W. 527; Texas & P.

Ry. Co. v. Boyd, 141 S. W. 1076; Guitar v. Randel, 147 S. W. 642; Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Cameron, 149 S. W. 709; Freeman v. Kennerly, 151 S. W. 580; Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Carroll, 152 S. W. 1165; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Barrow, 153 S. W. 665; Yellow Pine Paper Mill Co. v. Wright, 154 S. W. 1168.

Where the court charged that if plaintiff mistook the brakeman's signal to the engineer as an invitation for him to cross the track, and defendant's employés did not know of plaintiff's danger, he could not recover, it was proper to refuse a charge that plaintiff could not recover if he carelessly attempted to act on a signal given the engineer without inquiring whether it was intended for him or not. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Stonecypher, 25 C. A. 569, 63 S. W. 946.

Held, that an instruction as to contributory negligence should have been given. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Long, 26 C. A. 601, 65 S. W. 882; Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. Ison, 37 C. A. 219, 83 S. W. 408.

Refusal of instruction on assumed risk held not erroneous in view of another instruction given. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Moore, 28 C. A. 603, 68 S. W. 559; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rea (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 428; Kansas City Consol. Smelting & Refining Co. v. Taylor, 48 C. A. 605, 107 S. W. 889; Consumers' Lignite Co. v. Cameron (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 283.

An instruction held to render unnecessary one that the employé is not required to inspect appliances before using them. Moore v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 30 C. A. 266, 69 S. W. 997.

A requested instruction that, if both plaintiff and defendant were negligent, plaintiff could not recover, held covered by an instruction that plaintiff could not recover if he was negligent. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Byers (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 558.

Requested charge held covered by charge given, that persons using sidewalks are bound to use ordinary care, and cannot recover for injuries if they do not. City of San Antonio v. Talerico (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 28.

It was not error to refuse a charge on the intoxication of the person injured, where it had been previously charged upon. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Matthews, 34 C. A. 302, 79 S. W. 71.

A charge on assumption of risk held not to cover a request on the subject. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 787; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rea, 99 T. 58, 87 S. W. 324.

In an action by a servant for personal injuries, an instruction on contributory negligence held to render an instruction on assumption of risk unnecessary. Rice v. Dewberry (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 715.

Where, in an action for injuries sustained in alighting from a train, the court charged that to return a verdict for plaintiff she must have acted promptly and not have been herself negligent, it was not error to refuse to charge that if she did not act with reasonable diligence then the defendant owed her the duty of exercising only ordinary care. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Tasby, 45 C. A. 416, 100 S. W. 1030.

A requested instruction as to intoxication relative to contributory negligence held covered by one given. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Ryan, 53 C. A. 85, 114 S. W. 906.

In an action for the death of a brakeman while attempting to stop a train to prevent injury to it, the refusal to give a charge on contributory negligence held not erroneous in view of the charge given. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Elgin, 56 C. A. 573, 121 S. W. 577.

Where the defenses of contributory negligence and assumed risk were clearly presented in the court's instructions, it was unnecessary to repeat them at defendant's request. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Sanchez, 57 C. A. 87, 122 S. W. 44.

Where the court applied the law of assumed risk to the facts, the refusal of a special instruction giving an abstract statement of such law is not error. Sullivan-Sanford Lumber Co. v. Hampton (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 637.

A general charge upon the issue of contributory negligence is not sufficient to warrant refusing a special charge upon the assumption of risk. Cleburne Electric & Gas Co. v. McCoy (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 457.

Where, in an action for injury to a servant, the court charged in accordance with the doctrine of assumed risk as prescribed by the statute on the subject, the refusal to give a special charge on the subject was proper. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Wafer (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 712.

A requested instruction that if plaintiff, a passenger, remained in a station waiting room, knowing that the same was not heated, she could not recover for injuries from exposure, was sufficiently covered by an instruction that plaintiff could not recover if she remained in the room longer than was reasonably necessary for her to depart, considering all the circumstances. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Perry (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 305.

Defendant's requested charge that, if plaintiff was guilty of negligence, which concurring with defendant's negligence contributed to the injury, there could be no recovery, is sufficiently covered by the charge that plaintiff must not have been negligent, even though defendant was negligent. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Tarver (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 958.

Where plaintiff's contributory negligence was submitted in the court's general charge in the language pleaded by defendants, it was not error to refuse a special instruction submitting it in slightly different language. Solan & Billings v. Pasche (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 672.

A requested charge in an action for injury, applying the law of contributory negligence or assumption of risk in a specific way, which called the attention of the jury to such defense, should be given, though the court charged on such issue; it not having grouped the facts and applied the law thereto as fully as in the requested special charge. Texas Co. v. Strange (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 327.

In an action for injuries to a traveler struck by a train at a crossing, the refusal to charge on effect of failing to look for an approaching train held proper because covered by the instructions given. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wood (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1187.

47. —— Discovered peril.—In an action for injuries to a person while walking along a railroad track, a requested instruction on the issue of discovered peril held covered by an instruction given. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. O'Donnell (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 886.

Where the court's charge fairly presented the issue of discovered peril, it was not error to refuse requests presented by defendant on such issue. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Brannon, 43 C. A. 531, 96 S. W. 1095.

A charge given in an action for a railroad employé's death by being struck by a switch engine held to sufficiently cover the issues raised by a special charge requested as to defendant's liability in case decedent's peril was not discovered. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Rosenbloom (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 175.

In an action against a railway company for setting fire to bales of cotton on a compress platform, an instruction that, if defendant knew of the cotton's exposed condition it was bound to use a high degree of care to prevent the escape of sparks, sufficiently covered a requested charge on "discovered peril." Nussbaum & Scharff v. Trinity & Brazos Valley Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1083.

48. —— Contracts and actions relating thereto.—Where agent in sale of 87° gasoline had apparent authority to represent that it could be safely stored in a certain place, held not error to refuse charge as to his authority; the general charge having fairly represented the issue, in an action for injuries in an explosion. Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v. Davis, 24 C. A. 508, 60 S. W. 453.

In an action for the purchase price of an engine, where the question whether it would develop the agreed capacity was submitted in the main charge, a special charge on the same issue was properly refused. Schuwirth v. Thumma (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 691.

Where, in an action for breach of a contract authorizing plaintiffs to sell defendant's lands, the law governing the facts was properly given in the charge of the court, a refusal to give the special charge requested was proper. McLane v. Maurer, 28 C. A. 75, 66 S. W. 693, 1108.

In an action for wrongful discharge, instructions held not to embrace an issue presented by a requested instruction, and the refusal thereof was error. Harris v. Harwell (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 791.

Where, in an action on a note, the court fully charged on the issue of an alleged extension of the note, it was not error for the court to refuse requested instructions on such issue. Ellis v. Littlefield, 41 C. A. 318, 93 S. W. 171.

In an action for wrongful discharge of employé, certain instruction held not objectionable as being covered by the main charge. Wolf Cigar Stores Co. v. Kramer, 50 C. A. 411, 109 S. W. 990.

In an action to recover on a lease of lands and upon a quantum meruit for the use of lands, held not reversible error to refuse to instruct that the negotiations between the parties did not amount to a contract until the written lease was signed in view of other instructions given. T. A. Robertson & Co. v. Russell, 51 C. A. 257, 111 S. W. 205.

The refusal to give a charge on an issue of mental capacity of plaintiff to execute a release held not erroneous in view of the charge given. Alamo Dressed Beef Co. v. Yeargan (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 721.

In proceedings to restrain defendant from re-engaging in the photograph business, the refusal to give a special charge requested by defendant held not error; the issue having been sufficiently presented by another charge given at defendant's request. Parrish v. Adwell (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 441.

In an action for services under a contract of employment, the refusal to give a special charge held not erroneous in view of the charge given. Harrison v. Bergmann (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 359.

In an action for broker's commissions, a requested charge held covered by an instruction given. Schramm v. Wolff (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 1185; Hardesty v. Cavin (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 367.

Instructions refused in an action by a lessee for eviction held covered by one given. Dickinson Creamery Co. v. Lyle (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 904.

In an action for breach of a contract of sale of cotton, the refusal to give a charge held not erroneous in view of the issues and the instructions given. Holder v. Swift (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 690.

A requested charge, in an action for a broker's commissions for procuring the sale of realty, that it was not necessary that the purchaser be introduced to the owner by the broker if he induced the purchaser to apply to the owner to purchase the property, was sufficiently covered by a charge that, if plaintiff's services were the efficient procuring cause of the sale, the jury should find for plaintiff, and hence properly refused. Carl v. Wolcott (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 334.

49. —— Contracts of carriage or for telegraphic or telephonic service.—In an action against a carrier, the refusal to give a charge held not erroneous, in view of the charge given. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Smissen, 31 C. A. 549, 73 S. W. 42; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Murtishaw, 34 C. A. 447, 78 S. W. 953; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Gray, 38 C. A. 249, 85 S. W. 838; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Cunningham, 51 C. A. 368, 113 S. W. 767; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Hood, 55 C. A. 334, 118 S. W. 1119; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Gober (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 383; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wasson Bros., 126 S. W. 664; Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wallace, 152 S. W. 873; Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Meyer, 155 S. W. 309.

In an action for failure to deliver a message, refusal of certain charges held not error, in view of charges given. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Wofford, 32 C. A. 427, 72 S. W. 620, 74 S. W. 943; Same v. Bowen (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 613.

In an action against a carrier for injuries to live stock, refusal of a charge in limitation of defendant's liability held error. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Dunman, 33 C. A. 287, 76 S. W. 588.

In an action to recover for injuries to a shipment of stock, an instruction that, if the injuries resulted from the condition of the stock, the jury should find for defendants, is covered by a charge that, if the condition of the stock was such that they were not able to make a journey without such injuries, the jury should find for defendant. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Felker, 44 C. A. 420, 99 S. W. 439.

In an action against a telephone company for failure to notify plaintiff of a call, the refusal of an instruction, if error, held not prejudicial to defendant. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Owens (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 89.

In an action for failure to deliver a telegram, held error for the court to refuse an instruction grouping certain facts, though the court had instructed in its main charge substantially the same thing in general terms. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Timmons (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 376.

In an action against several carriers for damages to live stock during transportation, a carrier held not entitled to complain of the failure of the court to charge on the liability of another carrier. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Shults (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 845.

In an action by a consignor against the consignee, in which defendant cross-complained against the consignor and certain carriers for damages by delay in shipment, the fact that a requested charge on the carrier's duty to transmit promptly was given for the consignor held not to justify the refusal of its converse when requested by the carrier. Kemendo v. Fruit Dispatch Co. (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 73.

A requested charge that it was not sufficient in the absence of tickets that a passenger was willing to pay cash, and, unless accompanied by some act or move suggesting such willingness, ejection was justified, held properly refused, as covered by an instruction that, unless the passenger offered to pay fare and the conductor refused, he could not recover. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wallace (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 873.

50. —— Insurance contracts.—Charge requested by defendant in an action on a benefit certificate held to have been properly refused, in view of the instructions given. Roth v. Travelers' Protective Ass'n of America, 102 T. 241, 115 S. W. 31, 132 Am. St. Rep. 871, 20 Ann. Cas. 97.

Instruction in an action on fire policies held properly refused as being covered by an instruction given. Milwaukee Mechanics' Ins. Co. v. Frosch (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 600.

51. —— Amount of recovery.—In a suit for personal injuries caused by negligence, it being in issue whether injuries proved were permanent, and the court having charged the jury to give damages for permanent injuries if found to be such, when requested by the defendant it should have instructed further, that, unless the injuries were shown to be permanent, damages should be disallowed to the extent of the claim for permanent injuries. Railway Co. v. Ayres, 83 T. 268, 18 S. W. 684.

The refusal to give a special charge on the measure of damages is not error, where a prior general charge covered the point. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Boggs (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 20; Cameron Mill & Elevator Co. v. Anderson, 34 C. A. 105, 78 S. W. 8; Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Hardison (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 541; Stockton v. Brown, 106 S. W. 423; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Cunningham, 51 C. A. 368, 113 S. W. 767; Sherman Gas & Electric Co. v. Belden (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 897; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Farris, 126 S. W. 1174; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Horne, 105 T. 135, 145 S. W. 1186; Same v. Pruitt (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 236.

Requested instruction in action on note, as to set-off of damages for attachment therein of exempt property, held covered by charge given. Moore v. Graham, 29 C. A. 235, 69 S. W. 200.

In an action against a connecting carrier for delay in shipment of stock, an instruction directing the exclusion of damages resulting from delays after the stock had been delivered by the defendant to the succeeding carrier held properly refused. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Slaughter, 37 C. A. 624, 84 S. W. 1085.

In an action against a railroad for damages from an overflow alleged to have resulted from defendant's failure to maintain proper culverts, a special charge as to damages held properly refused; the damages being sufficiently limited by the charge given. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Suter, 54 C. A. 238, 118 S. W. 215.

A charge in a brakeman's injury action held correct on the question of damages, and to refer to the present value of the damages, so that it was unnecessary to instruct that the damages for diminished earning capacity was such a sum as if paid now would compensate plaintiff for his diminished capacity to earn money in future. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Spencer, 55 C. A. 456, 119 S. W. 716.

In a case of personal injury to a passenger, held, that there was not error in refusing a special charge excluding prior injuries as an element of damages, where the court's main charge excluded from the jury's consideration any injury except that caused by negligence complained of. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Morrison (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1159.

An instruction given on the aggravation of plaintiff's alleged injury by plaintiff's subsequent negligence held sufficient, so that a requested charge on the same subject was properly refused. Southern Pac. Co. v. Sorey (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 119.

The court having charged that if, after plaintiff was injured, he failed to use such care as an ordinary person would have used in medical treatment or in going to work too soon, and thereby contributing to his injury, he should not recover anything for aggravation, it was proper to refuse to instruct that, if he was guilty of contributory negligence in caring for himself and in the kind of work he did, he could not recover for additional suffering or delay in the cure. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Perry (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 280.

An instruction that plaintiff could recover for mental anguish properly resulting from defendant's negligence, if as a proximate result of such negligence he was prevented from attending his mother's funeral, sufficiently confined the jury to only such suffering as resulted from his being unable to attend the funeral, and a further instruction on such point was properly refused. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1169.

Where the charges given, including one requested by defendant, sufficiently instructed as to damages, the court was not required to repeat an instruction thereon. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Bishop (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 305.

52. Erroneous requests.—It is not error to refuse a requested charge, unless it is in every respect an accurate presentation of the law as applied to the evidence. Hardy v. De Leon, 5 T. 211; Wells v. Barnett, 7 T. 584; Ratcliff v. Baird, 14 T. 43; Brownson v. Scanlan, 59 T. 222; Rosenthal v. Middlebrook, 63 T. 333; G., H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Marsden, 1 App. C. C. § 1001; Pfeuffer v. Wilderman, 1 App. C. C. § 1171; Riviere v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 1074; Dublin Cotton-Oil Co. v. Jarrard, 91 T. 289, 42 S. W. 959; Sanger v. Thomasson (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 408; Waco Artesian Water Co. v. Cauble, 19 C. A. 417, 47 S. W. 538; Milmo Nat. Bank v. Convery (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 926; Western Union Tel. Co. v. McConnico, 27 C. A. 610, 66 S. W. 592; Cranfill v. Hayden (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 573; Dolan v. Meehan, 80 S. W. 99; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Kennemore, 81 S. W. 802; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Shuford, 36 C. A. 251, 81 S. W. 1189; Citizens' Nat. Bank v. Cammer (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 625; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Baer, Id. 653; Creager v. Yarborough, 87 S. W. 376; Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Still, 45 C. A. 169, 100 S. W. 176; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 182; McDonald v. McCrabb, 47 C. A. 259, 105 S. W. 238; Maffi v. Stephens, 49 C. A. 354, 108 S. W. 1008; Arthur v. Porter (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 127; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. McBride & Dillard, Id. 638; Lyon v. Bedgood, 54 C. A. 19, 117 S. W. 897; Boardman v. Woodward (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 550; Wall v. Lubbock, 52 C. A. 405, 118 S. W. 886; Texas Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Scott (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 587; Evart v. Dalrymple, 131 S. W. 223; Johnson v. Hyltin, 133 S. W. 293; Edwards v. Mayes, 136 S. W. 510; Grigsby v. Reib, 139 S. W. 1027; Souther v. Hunt, 141 S. W. 359; Zarate v. Villareal, 155 S. W. 328.

It is proper to refuse a charge which requires an explanation. Railway Co. v. Taylor, 79 T. 104, 14 S. W. 918, 23 Am. St. Rep. 316.

Where the court has given a charge presenting an issue, whether in the main charge or in a special instruction, it is not error to refuse a special charge which is objectionable, covering the same matter. Railway Co. v. Cullers, 81 T. 382, 17 S. W. 19, 13 L. R. A. 542; Shoe Co. v. Partridge, 82 T. 329, 18 S. W. 310; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Morrow (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 162; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Ochiltree, 127 S. W. 584; Vicksburg, S. & P. Ry. Co. v. Jackson, 133 S. W. 925.

When a requested instruction which might properly have been given is connected with propositions distinct in character, and which would have been improper for the court to submit to the jury, the rejection of the entire instruction does not afford cause of complaint. McWhirter v. Allen, 1 C. A. 649, 20 S. W. 1007; Fordyce v. Yarborough, 21 S. W. 421, 1 C. A. 260; Railway Co. v. Ewing, 1 C. A. 531, 21 S. W. 700; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Haddox, 36 C. A. 385, 81 S. W. 1036.

Where one of several requested charges on the same paper is erroneous all may be refused. Yarborough v. Weaver, 25 S. W. 468, 6 C. A. 215; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Garrett (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 657; Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Glass, 154 S. W. 604.

A requested charge, a portion of which is on the weight of the evidence, is properly refused. Miller v. Sullivan, 14 C. A. 112, 33 S. W. 695, 35 S. W. 1084, 37 S. W. 778; Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

Where a requested instruction is not accurate, it is not the duty of the trial court to correct it, though it may have been sufficient to direct the attention of the court to the question involved. Harris v. First Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 311; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Minter, 42 C. A. 235, 93 S. W. 516; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Oram, 47 C. A. 526, 107 S. W. 74.

Instructions are properly refused when they embody abstract propositions that might be misunderstood and improperly applied by the jury. Clack v. Wood (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 1132.

It is not error to refuse a charge which assumes facts that are controverted. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Casseday (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 6.

It is not error to refuse a charge grouping facts where some of the facts were not sustained by the evidence. Id.

The court is not required to strike out objectionable part of requested charge. Williams v. Yoe, 22 C. A. 446, 54 S. W. 614.

Request for special charge on question of contributory negligence, as applied to facts in action for personal injury, held erroneously refused, though not literally correct, where court's charge was deficient on such issue. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Short (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 56.

Where the court charged generally on an issue, a party complaining of the failure to give a more specific instruction must request a correct special charge covering the omission. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Mangham, 29 C. A. 486, 69 S. W. 80; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Fowler (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 484; Wade v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 110 S. W. 84; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Wall, Id. 453; Jacksonville Ice & Electric Co. v. Moses, 134 S. W. 379; Southwestern Portland Cement Co. v. McBrayer, 140 S. W. 388.

The assigning of an insufficient reason for a special instruction requested held not to justify its refusal. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 98 T. 76, 81 S. W. 4.

The use of a word in an instruction requested by plaintiff held so clearly a clerical error that the court should have corrected the same and given the instruction. Haney v. Mann (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 66.

Where a special charge embodying the law was given at defendant's request, it was not error to refuse other special charges embodying the same idea in a faulty form. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Crowley (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 342.

An unintelligible requested charge held properly refused. Creager v. Yarborough (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 376.

Appellant cannot allege error in refusing to give instructions, where his attorney refused to separate the erroneous paragraph from those which would have been proper. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Roberts (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 375.

A requested charge held not to contain anything which would assist the jury to determine what negligence of attorneys would make them liable to their client. Patterson & Wallace v. Frazer, 100 T. 103, 94 S. W. 324.

A requested instruction held not to require the court to give a charge restricting certain evidence. City of Dallas v. McCullough (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 1121.

Where a requested charge is subject to a construction making it erroneous, held, it is not the duty of the court to reframe and give it. Kansas City Southern Ry. Co. v. Williams (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 196.

On the issue of the location of the boundary between two surveys, the court held required to give an instruction in place of one which was misleading. Beaumont Irrigating Co. v. Carroll (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 1059.

In libel for charging plaintiff with smuggling, an instruction submitting the question whether plaintiff was guilty of smuggling was properly refused, where it omitted an essential element of the offense. San Antonio Light Pub. Co. v. Lewy, 52 C. A. 22, 113 S. W. 574.

A charge requesting a directed verdict for the plaintiff for a larger amount than the amount shown to be due is properly refused even though the excess is only a few dollars. Summerhill v. Wilkes (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 492.

It was not the duty of the court to correct an inaccurate charge and reduce it to proper form, nor to prepare a correct one, though the requested charge was sufficient to direct the court's attention to the question involved. Vicksburg, S. & P. Ry. Co. v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 925.

The rule as to the sufficiency of requested instructions held to apply to cases only where there has been a failure of the court to present in its charge a material issue. Jacksonville Ice & Electric Co. v. Moses (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 379.

A requested charge not correctly presenting the law is properly refused. Marshall & E. T. Ry. Co. v. Waldrop (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 315.

A requested charge having related, not only to mutual mistake, but as much or more to fraud, and in the latter respect being bad, the requesting thereof did not put the court in error in not charging on mutual mistake. Landrum v. Thomas (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 813.

In an action for damages resulting from a collision between the plaintiff's automobile and the defendant's railway train, a special charge requested, relieving the defendant from any negligence arising from its failure to stop the train after the discovery of the plaintiff's peril, was properly refused though it was in the main correct. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Hilgartner (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1091.

The rule that a defendant has a right to have its defense of contributory negligence affirmatively presented to the jury is dependent upon the preparation and presentation by it of a correct special charge on that subject. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Lacy (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 414.

A requested charge to find for defendant for certain amounts is properly denied, where the amounts specified include items for which defendant is not entitled to recover. Peacock v. Coltrane (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1087.

53. —— On issue omitted from charge as given.—Where an instruction not strictly correct calls the attention of the court to an issue not covered by the judge's charge, a proper charge should be given. Kirby v. Estill, 75 T. 484, 12 S. W. 807; Empire Mills, 25 S. W. 1057, 6 C. A. 479; Carpenter v. Dowe (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 1002; Railway Co. v. Sein, 89 T. 63, 33 S. W. 215, 558; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Horkan (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 391; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Webb, 20 C. A. 431, 49 S. W. 526; Same v. Miller, 20 C. A. 570, 50 S. W. 168; Williams v. Emberson, 22 C. A. 522, 55 S. W. 595; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hill (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 255; Neville v. Mitchell, 28 C. A. 89, 66 S. W. 579; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Mangham, 29 C. A. 486, 69 S. W. 80; Rea v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 555; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Turner, 34 C. A. 397, 78 S. W. 712; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Winter, 38 C. A. 8, 85 S. W. 477; Texas Loan & Trust Co. v. Angel, 39 C. A. 166, 86 S. W. 1056; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lowe (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 1059; Ray v. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co., 40 C. A. 99, 88 S. W. 466; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Fowler (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 484; Wade v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 110 S. W. 84; Rushing v. Lanier, 51 C. A. 278, 111 S. W. 1089; Warren v. Kimmell (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 159; Davis, Pruner & Howell v. Woods, 143 S. W. 950.

The necessity of submitting to the jury the question whether a city had authorized a railroad company to change the grade of a street held presented by an erroneous request. Denison & P. Suburban Ry. Co. v. James, 20 C. A. 358, 49 S. W. 660.

Where a special charge requested ignored an issue changing the whole aspect of the case, it was properly refused, and was not sufficient to call the court's attention to such issue omitted from the charge. Cotton States Bldg. Co. v. Jones (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 587.

Defendant, under the pleadings and evidence, being entitled to have the issue of contributory negligence submitted, it was error not to charge thereon; the charge requested thereon, though incorrect, being sufficient to direct the mind of the court to the issue. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Crabb (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 408; Freeman v. Carter, 81 S. W. 81; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Everett, 40 C. A. 285, 89 S. W. 457; Quanah, A. & P. Ry. Co. v. Galloway (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 653.

In an action on a check, a requested instruction, though objectionable, held sufficient to require the court to present the issue that, if the consideration for the check was plaintiff's agreement to procure the dismissal of a criminal prosecution against defendant's son, plaintiff could not recover. McNeese v. Carver, 40 C. A. 129, 89 S. W. 430.

An erroneous instruction with reference to plaintiff's right to recover certain land by virtue of possession of a portion of the land inclosed held sufficient as a request for an instruction on such issue as to the land inclosed. McAdams v. Hooks, 47 C. A. 79, 104 S. W. 432.

A request to charge held sufficient to call the attention of the court to a defect in the charge as to the jury's right to allow damages for decedent's diminished capacity to labor. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith, 49 C. A. 610, 108 S. W. 1195.

Where, in an action to rescind a sale of land on the ground of fraudulent representations as to title, defendants' answer and the evidence adduced presented an issue as to whether the representations were mere expressions of opinion, it was the duty of the court to give an instruction on that issue, though the instruction as asked by defendants was incorrect in form. Lee v. Haile, 51 C. A. 632, 114 S. W. 403.

A requested instruction for a verdict for defendant in case of contributory negligence of plaintiff, ignoring a statute whereby his contributory negligence is not a bar, but to be considered only in reduction of damages, held not required to be treated as a request for a correct charge on the subject. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Grenig (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 135.

A requested special charge though properly refused because submitting the same question both in the affirmative and negative, is sufficient to call the court's attention to omission of the issue in its main charge and to require it to submit it in a proper charge. Wichita Falls & W. Ry. Co. v. Wyrick (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 694.

Where a special charge covering a phase of the case not dealt with by the main charge was incorrectly drawn, it may be properly refused, and the court is under no duty to prepare and give a proper special charge. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dunn (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 434.

54. Inconsistent requests.—It was error to refuse to give a charge that no recovery could be had against a carrier for the rental value of a machine delayed in shipment, where a requested charge conflicting therewith was given. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Hassell, 23 C. A. 681, 58 S. W. 54.

55. Presentation in general.—Where a requested instruction was signed by counsel and placed on the desk, but not called to the attention of the court until after the jury had retired, the instruction was not "presented" as contemplated by this article. Bailey v. Hartman (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 829.

56. Withdrawal of requests.—A party, withdrawing a requested instruction to correct an omission in the charge, held to be treated as not having requested the instruction. Keas v. Gordy, 34 C. A. 310, 78 S. W. 385.

57. Argument of requests.—A party cannot complain of the refusal of an instruction correcting error in an instruction given, where it does not appear that the trial judge was informed of such purpose of the request. Collier v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 389.

58. Examination and inspection of requested instructions.—Plaintiff held not entitled to object to the consideration of defendant's requests on appeal, by reason of defendant's refusal to permit examination of the same before they were filed. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Turner, 34 C. A. 397, 78 S. W. 712.

Where, after defendant's requests to charge were refused, they were handed to the clerk with directions to file the same, they thereby became court papers, subject to plaintiff's inspection. Id.

59. Manner of giving instructions asked.—In an action for nondelivery of a telegram, defendant's request for an instruction on a particular issue held to authorize the court to submit such issue in the main charge. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Bowen (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 613.

After giving requested instructions, held not reversible error for the trial judge to state that they were requested by defendant. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cleland, 50 C. A. 499, 110 S. W. 122.

It was not error to instruct that the special charges given at defendant's request were entitled to equal weight with the main charge. Goodley v. Northern Texas Traction Co. (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 359.

60. Allowance of part of charges requested.—One who requests several instructions on the same point cannot complain that one refused should have been given instead of the one selected by the court. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Morgan, 49 C. A. 212, 108 S. W. 724; Lyon v. Bedgood, 54 C. A. 19, 117 S. W. 897; Waggoner v. Sneed, 53 C. A. 278, 118 S. W. 547; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Ford (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 1137; Alamo Dressed Beef Co. v. Yeargan (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 721; Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Green, 135 S. W. 1031.

Where special instructions requested by appellant were given, he cannot complain of the refusal of other instructions less favorable to him. Van Zandt-Moore Iron Works v. Axtell (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 930.

It was not error for the court, after stating the case and giving some principles of law applicable thereto, to give such special charges prepared by the parties as were applicable. Armstrong Packing Co. v. Clem (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 576.

Where defendant requested a number of special charges upon an issue, and one of them was given, defendant cannot complain that the others were not given. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Beckham (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 228.

61. Modification or substitution by court.—When a requested charge is modified and given by the court, the precise alteration or addition by the court should appear. Railway Co. v. Williams, 75 T. 4, 12 S. W. 835, 16 Am. St. Rep. 867.

Where, by defendant's request, the court charged that certain facts would free defendant from liability, the court might of its own motion state the converse of the proposition. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Evans, 16 C. A. 68, 41 S. W. 80.

A party is entitled to have his special charges given or rejected as presented, and the court should not give them in a modified form as the charges of the party asking them. Cotton Press Co. v. Bradley, 52 T. 587; Hamburg v. Wood, 66 T. 168, 18 S. W. 623; Trezevant v. Rains (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 1092; St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ball, 28 C. A. 287, 66 S. W. 879; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Farmer (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 729; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gillenwater, 146 S. W. 589.

The court may modify a requested charge which was erroneous as asked. Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Bodie, 32 C. A. 168, 74 S. W. 100; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Davis, 35 C. A. 285, 80 S. W. 253; St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Berry, 42 C. A. 470, 93 S. W. 1107; Industrial Lumber Co. v. Bivens, 47 C. A. 396, 105 S. W. 831; Grigsby v. Reib (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1027.

Fact that a modified requested instruction is given as one requested is not material if the instruction is otherwise unobjectionable. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Shipp, 48 C. A. 565, 109 S. W. 286.

Qualifying an instruction on contributory negligence by an instruction on discovered peril held not error in view of the evidence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cockrill (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 1092.

Where a special charge presented by the defense is not applicable to the evidence, a charge by the court presenting the defense in general terms is sufficient. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Tomlinson (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 278.

62. Refusal of requests.—When a charge requested by a party, and refused, is afterwards embraced in the general charge given by the court, the correctness of the charge cannot be questioned by such party. Railway Co. v. Sein, 89 T. 63, 33 S. W. 215, 558.

Where a record does not show whether requested instructions were given or refused, an assignment of error complaining of their refusal cannot be considered. Lindsey v. White (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 438; Moore v. Brown, 64 S. W. 946.

The refusal to give a requested charge, submitting a material issue and not covered by the general charge, is erroneous. Love v. Perry (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 203; Bishop v. Riddle, 51 C. A. 317, 113 S. W. 151; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Neef (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1168.

Under this article and Art. 1974, a refusal of instructions cannot be considered on appeal, where the record does not contain any certificate of the judge certifying that the instructions were refused. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Isenhower (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 297.

Art. 1974. [1320] [1320] Instructions refused constitute part of record, subject to revision for error.—When the instructions asked, or some of them, are refused, the judge shall note distinctly which of them he has given and which he refused, and shall subscribe his name thereto, and such instruction shall be filed with the clerk and shall constitute a part of the record of the cause, subject to revision for error. [Act May 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 100, P. D. 216. Acts 1913, p. 113, sec. 3, amending Rev. Civ. St. 1911, art. 1974.]

See Trewitt v. Blundell, 59 T. 253.

Noting disposition of requests.—The giving or refusal of charges must be shown by the record. The file mark indicates nothing. Hill v. Crownover, 4 T. 8; James v. Fulcrod, 5 T. 512, 55 Am. Dec. 743; Hodde v. Susan, 63 T. 307; Michael v. Yoakum (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 1076.

Refusal of an instruction cannot be reviewed on appeal, where the notation of refusal is not signed by the presiding judge, as required by this article. Texas Cotton Products Co. v. Denny Bros. (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 557; Albritton v. First Nat. Bank, 38 C. A. 614, 86 S. W. 646; International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Hall, 46 C. A. 493, 102 S. W. 742; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hurdle (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 992.

If a requested charge does not appear in the record as signed by the judge, it will be taken as conclusive that it was not given, although there may be a notation on the margin of the record that it was given. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Worcester, 45 C. A. 501, 100 S. W. 992.

Under Art. 1973 and this article, a refusal of instructions cannot be considered on appeal, where the record does not contain any certificate of the judge certifying that the instructions were refused. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Isenhower (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 297.

The writing of the word "refused," on a request to charge by the trial judge, is insufficient to certify the refusal thereof, under this article. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hurdle (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 992.

Art. 1975. [1321] [1321] Jury may carry charge, etc., with them.—The charge and instructions given to the jury may be carried with them by the jury in their retirement, and an additional charge or instructions may be given them upon any question of law arising in the case, in conformity with the preceding rules, upon the application of the jury therefor in open court. [Act Feb. 5, 1853, p. 19, sec. 99. P. D. 1464.]

Additional charge must be upon application of jury.—A judge has no authority after the jury has been instructed and has retired to give additional charge, except upon application of the jury in open court. Bailey v. Hartman (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 830.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

THE VERDICT

[In addition to the notes under the particular articles, see also notes on the subject in general, at end of chapter.]

Article 1976. [1322] [1322] Rendition of verdict.—When the jury have agreed upon their verdict, they shall be conducted into court by the officer having them in charge, and their names shall be called by the clerk, and they shall deliver their verdict to the clerk.

Open court.—The judge has no authority to receive the verdict except in open court. Whitlow v. Moore, 1 App. C. C. § 1052.

Art. 1977. [1323] [1323] Must be in writing and signed.—The verdict shall be in writing, and shall be signed by the foreman; and where, pending a trial in the district court, any juror may die or be disabled from sitting and the verdict is rendered by the remaining jurors, the verdict shall be signed by all of such remaining jurors. [Act Aug. 1, 1876. P. D. 1464.]

See articles 5215 and 5217; Const., art. 5, § 13.

Signature.—The verdict, with or without the signature of the foreman, need not be incorporated in the judgment. McKinnon v. Reliance L. Co., 63 T. 30.

If in an action in the county court the parties agree to try with five jurors, the signature of one of the verdict as foreman is sufficient. Banana Co. v. Wolfe (Civ. App.) 22 S. W. 270.

The verdict copied in the judgment need not contain the signature of the foreman. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Walden (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 87.

A verdict containing separate findings for two plaintiffs held sufficiently authenticated by the signature of the foreman of the jury at its conclusion. Rapid Transit Ry. Co. v. Miller (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 439.

The provision of the statute that the verdict in a civil case should be signed by the foreman of the jury is directory, and an objection to a verdict made that it is not so signed comes too late after the verdict has been received and the jury discharged. Dunlap v. Raywood Rice Canal & Milling Co., 43 C. A. 269, 95 S. W. 44.

Action of the trial judge in writing the name of an illiterate juror and causing him to make his mark held proper. Moore v. Woodson, 44 C. A. 503, 99 S. W. 116.

Where a verdict was signed by one of the jurors with the letters, "F. M.," following his signature, the verdict was sufficient; the statute not expressly requiring that the word "foreman" shall be attached. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. v. Hawkins, 49 C. A. 545, 108 S. W. 736.

Incorporation in record.—Although it appears that two verdicts were found, the one incorporated in the judgment is the one approved by the court. McKinnon v. Reliance L. Co., 63 T. 30.

The judgment reciting the return of the verdict, stating what it was, there is no presumption that the verdict was not signed. Douglas v. Baker, 79 T. 499, 15 S. W. 801.

In view of this article, a verdict of the jury copied in the record held to be the true verdict. Cookville Coal & Lumber Co. v. Evans (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 750.

Art. 1978. [1324] [1324] Verdict received and noted on docket.—The clerk shall read the verdict aloud, and shall inquire of the jury if such is their verdict; if any juror disagrees to the verdict, the jury shall be sent out again, but if no disagreement is expressed, and neither party requires the jury to be polled, the court shall, except in the cases hereinafter provided for, receive the verdict and enter a minute thereof on the docket, and the jury shall be discharged.

Examination by party.—A party is not entitled to examine the jury, after the return of the verdict, as to what they considered in arriving at a verdict. Houston Electric Co. v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 209.

Coercing agreement.—See notes under Art. 1965.

Art. 1979. [1325] [1325] Jury may be polled.—When the verdict is announced, either party may require the jury to be polled, which is done by the clerk or judge asking each juror separately if such is his verdict; if any jury answers in the negative, the jury shall again be sent out for further deliberation; but if each juror concurs in the verdict the same shall be received and noted in the docket, except in the cases provided for in the two succeeding articles, and the jury shall be discharged.

Polling jury.—When the jury return a verdict, either party may have the jury polled, in order to render it certain that they are all agreed to the verdict. Hancock v. Winans, 20 T. 320.

Art. 1980. [1326] [1326] Defective or mistaken verdict.—If the verdict is informal or defective, the court may direct it to be reformed at the bar; and, where there has been a manifest miscalculation of interest, the court may direct a computation thereof at the bar; and the verdict may, if the jury assents thereto, be reformed in accordance with such computation.

Defective or informal verdicts in general.—An informal verdict, if responsive to all the issues and clear in its meaning, is good; if its construction is doubtful no judgment can be rendered on it. Heisch v. Adams, 81 T. 94, 16 S. W. 790; Van Valkenburg v. Ruby, 68 T. 139, 3 S. W. 746.

A verdict in an action for the death of a brakeman held in legal effect equivalent to the usual form, and sufficient to support the judgment. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Johnson, 23 C. A. 160, 55 S. W. 772.

Where the verdict returned is informal and not responsive to the charge, the court should decline to receive it, and call the attention of the jury to the defects and direct them to correct the same. Roche v. Dale, 43 C. A. 287, 95 S. W. 1101.

In trespass to try title held not error to receive the verdict, on the theory that it failed to find whether plaintiff was insane when certain possession was taken. Kaack v. Stanton, 51 C. A. 495, 112 S. W. 702.

Where in trespass to try title the verdict was for plaintiff, except for a small piece the court charged the jury to find for defendants, it would be construed as finding such part of the land for defendants, though it did not specifically so state. Mitchell v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 501.

Certainty in general.—Reference cannot be made to the evidence in order to support an uncertain verdict. Mays v. Lewis, 4 T. 38; Smith v. Tucker, 25 T. 594; Burnett v. Harrington, 58 T. 359; Clendenning v. Mathews, 1 App. C. C. § 907; Ryan v. Hays, 62 T. 42; McConkey v. Henderson, 24 T. 212.

A verdict for the recovery of land not described in the verdict or pleadings will be set aside. Roche v. Lovell, 74 T. 191, 11 S. W. 1079.

An uncertain verdict cannot be aided by matters outside the record. Thompson v. Albright, 4 App. C. C. § 24, 14 S. W. 1020.

A verdict is void for uncertainty. Smith v. Roberts, 4 App. C. C. § 49, 15 S. W. 126.

A verdict cannot be aided by the evidence to describe the boundary line of land. Brient v. Bruce, 24 S. W. 35, 5 C. A. 580.

A verdict cannot be made certain by a reference to the evidence, however conclusive it might be. Bennett v. Seabright (Civ. App.) 32 S. W. 1048. See Harrall v. Babb, 19 T. 148; Smith v. Tucker, 25 T. 594; Brient v. Bruce, 5 C. A. 583, 24 S. W. 35.

Verdict in suit to rescind a horse trade held insufficient, as not finding the value of each horse to be returned thereunder. Bowman v. Weber (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 493.

Where there was no evidence of separate value of the property replevied, a verdict was not insufficient because it did not find such separate value. Byrne v. Lynn, 18 C. A. 252, 44 S. W. 311, 544.

Where a judgment is rendered for the return of cattle, and not for any money demand against defendant if they cannot be found, the jury need not find the value of each one of the herd. Live Oak Ranch Co. v. Ingham (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 588.

Where question of boundary is raised, the jury should locate by their verdict the exact dividing line. Merrell v. Kenney (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 423.

A verdict on the issue of purchase of land by a wife's separate means held void for uncertainty. Schwartzman v. Cabell (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 113.

In an action by heirs of a deceased married woman to recover her share of property owned by her jointly with another, the verdict need not specify the part each heir is entitled to receive. Davies v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 1062.

Verdict fixing boundary line held sufficiently definite. Cavitt v. Reed (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 349.

A verdict which is uncertain, and which does not dispose of the issues, is void. Farnandes v. Schiermann, 23 C. A. 343, 55 S. W. 378.

In an action to locate a boundary, a verdict locating the line as straight, and touching three points which are not in a straight line, is uncertain, and no judgment can be entered thereon. Dillingham v. Smith, 30 C. A. 525, 70 S. W. 791.

In trespass to try title, held, that the charge of the court could be consulted to render a general verdict for defendant certain. Rountree v. Haynes (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 435.

An uncertain verdict rendered certain by the record in the case may form a basis for a judgment. Rushing v. Lanier, 51 C. A. 278, 111 S. W. 1089.

A verdict held free from ambiguity. Beaumont Rice Mills v. Campbell (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 971.

A verdict of the jury establishing a boundary held not objectionable as indefinite. McCaleb v. Campbell (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 111.

In an action for breach of a contract to convey land, a verdict for plaintiff for the land at $5 per acre, but not stating the total value of the land or the number of acres, held insufficient. S. W. Slayden & Co. v. Palmo, 53 C. A. 227, 117 S. W. 1054.

A verdict in a suit for a mandatory injunction to compel obedience to a decree that defendant open a highway across its property, while it might have been more specific, held sufficient. Santa Fé Townsite Co. v. Norvell, 55 C. A. 488, 118 S. W. 762.

A verdict held too indefinite. Louisiana & T. Lumber Co. v. Stewart (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 199.

In an action to recover land, the verdict held sufficiently specific and certain to authorize a judgment for plaintiff. Davis v. Mills (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 1064.

In an action for damages for the conversion of mules, the verdict need only state their value; that being plaintiff's measure of damages, with interest thereon. Wilks v. Kreis (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 838.

A verdict held too uncertain to support a judgment. Hobbs v. Robbins (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 847.

Where plaintiff instituting an action remained plaintiff through the trial in spite of a cross-action interposed by defendants who remained the only defendants, notwithstanding third persons intervened, a verdict for "defendants" was sufficiently certain as a verdict for the persons originally made defendants. Texas Irr. Co. v. Moore, Bryan & Perry (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 166.

A verdict that "we find that plaintiff is entitled to $50 and his wife to $1,150" is not indefinite, and is responsive to the issues in the complaint, wherein plaintiff claimed damages for his own personal injuries, and for injuries to his wife and his buggy, and in the charge, where they were told to assess the damages for injuries to plaintiff and the buggy, and for loss of wife's services, etc., in one item, and the damages for injury to the person of his wife in another. Scott v. Riddle (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 408.

A verdict, "We find the defendant guilty of negligence, due to imprudent starting of the car from which C. was violently thrown," and fixing damages, was sufficient to support a judgment, although the facts found therein might accord with some other theory not submitted. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Corley (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 621.

Aider by pleadings.—A verdict deficient in not expressly finding one of the issues may be aided by the pleadings. Burton v. Anderson, 1 T. 93; Burton v. Bondies, 2 T. 203; Mays v. Lewis, 4 T. 38; James v. Wilson, 7 T. 230; Parker v. Leman, 10 T. 116; Avery v. Avery, 12 T. 54, 62 Am. Dec. 513; Galbreath v. Atkinson, 15 T. 21; Moke v. Fellman, 17 T. 367, 67 Am. Dec. 656; Pearce v. Bell, 21 T. 688; Griffin v. Chadwick, 44 T. 406; Day v. Cross, 59 T. 595; Jones v. Ford, 60 T. 127; Reed v. Phillips (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 986.

Verdict sufficiently certain when it can be rendered certain by reference to the pleadings. Hardy v. De Leon, 5 T. 211; Wells v. Barnett, 7 T. 584; Smith v. Johnson, 8 T. 418; Hamilton v. Rice, 15 T. 382; Traylor v. Townsend, 61 T. 144; Holden v. Meyer, 1 App. C. C. § 832.

A verdict may be rendered certain by reference to the pleadings. Newcomb v. Walton, 41 T. 318; Wood v. Welder, 42 T. 396; Griffin v. Chadwick, 44 T. 406; Roberts v. Johnson, 48 T. 133; Harkey v. Cain, 69 T. 146, 6 S. W. 637. But see Burnett v. Harrington, 58 T. 359; Handel v. Elliott, 60 T. 145.

An ambiguity in a verdict may be remedied by reference to the petition. Newcomb v. Walton, 41 T. 318; Patterson v. Allen, 50 T. 26; Traylor v. Townsend, 61 T. 145.

A verdict "in favor of plaintiff" is sufficient when in light of the pleadings and instructions its meaning is apparent. Martin-Brown Co. v. Perrill, 77 T. 199, 13 S. W. 975; Railway Co. v. White, 76 T. 102, 13 S. W. 65, 18 Am. St. Rep. 33; Railway Co. v. Hathaway, 75 T. 557, 12 S. W. 999.

The verdict of the jury may be aided by the pleadings. A finding in favor of plaintiff means a finding for plaintiffs for the land sued for. Reed v. Phillips (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 986.

When pleadings will be looked to in aid of verdict. Hoefling v. Dobbin (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 58.

A verdict "for defendant as prayed for in his answer" held not erroneous. Meyer v. v. Hill (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 333.

A verdict, in a suit to cancel a contract and deeds made in pursuance thereof, for plaintiff, except as to a designated block as described in one of the deeds, held sufficient. American Cotton Co. v. Collier, 30 C. A. 105, 69 S. W. 1021.

The petition may be looked to, to aid in construing the verdict. Samples v. Wever, 56 C. A. 562, 121 S. W. 1129.

A verdict must be construed in the light of the pleadings and issues submitted. Hermann v. Fenn (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1139.

Amount of recovery.—Verdict must assess the damages. Wilkinson v. Wallis, 1 App. C. C. § 688; Harrell v. Babb, 19 T. 148; Clendenning v. Mathews, 1 App. C. C. § 905.

When a verdict is manifestly excessive it will be set aside. Gatewood v. Laughlin, 2 App. C. C. § 151; T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 2 App. C. C. § 189; T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Taylor, 2 App. C. C. § 416.

A verdict for plaintiff in an action for damages when the amount of recovery is not stated entitles him to nominal damages. Lawless v. Evans, 4 App. C. C. § 26, 14 S. W. 1019.

When the verdict seems excessive, though conflicting findings would not ordinarily authorize a reversal, yet they may be looked to in determining whether the jury has given due consideration to the evidence. Railway Co. v. Gordon, 70 T. 80, 7 S. W. 695.

Excess in verdict of a small amount immaterial. Schuster v. Frendenthal, 74 T. 53, 11 S. W. 1051. A judgment will not be reversed because excessive where there is no satisfactory mode of computing damages and the case was fairly submitted. Dillingham v. Scales, 78 T. 205, 14 S. W. 566; Railway Co. v. Brazzell, 78 T. 314, 14 S. W. 609.

An excessive verdict can be cured by a remittitur on appeal. Torrey v. Cameron, 74 T. 187, 11 S. W. 1088.

A verdict was for a certain sum of money "and attorney fees." There was no controversy as to the per cent. of the amount stipulated for the fees, and such per cent. was properly given in the judgment. Buchanan v. Townsend, 80 T. 534, 16 S. W. 315.

A verdict not specifying the amount of the indebtedness is insufficient. Heisch v. Adams, 81 T. 94, 16 S. W. 790.

Verdict of $1,000 for libel charging horse theft is not excessive. Houston Printing Co. v. Dement (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 558.

Verdict in action for interest in community should state the amount of land plaintiff is entitled to. McCord v. Holloman (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 114.

Where the right to a stated attorney's fee on the claim in suit is admitted of record, a verdict conflicting with it will be disregarded. Wentworth v. King (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 636.

Failure to require jury to itemize their verdict cannot be complained of, where no request was made or objection taken. Jones v. Roach, 21 C. A. 301, 51 S. W. 549.

A general finding of a jury which included recovery for matters not properly in the case held too indefinite. Saunders' Ex'rs v. Weekes (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 33.

Verdict in action to revive dormant judgment, finding for plaintiff for amount of judgment, held not void for the reason it does not find amount, where amount is alleged in petition, and there is no controversy. Carothers v. Lange (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 580.

In an action for damages, held, that the verdict was inadequate. May v. Hahn (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 942.

Verdict held irresponsive. Beatty v. Bulger, 28 C. A. 117, 66 S. W. 893.

The verdict, in case of a finding for plaintiff in an action on a note, where defendant claims payments and damages, should state the amount so found. Rogers v. O'Barr & Dinwiddie (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 593.

In an action for trespass for the erection of a telephone pole on plaintiff's property, which was removed before trial, a verdict of $135 damages held excessive. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Whiteman, 36 C. A. 163, 81 S. W. 76.

Where there was no evidence warranting damages for mental suffering, but the jury found a certain sum for physical and mental suffering, the judgment would be reversed. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Simpson (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 353.

A verdict in excess of the amount named in the pleadings held to constitute reversible error. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Shults (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 506.

The omission of the word "dollars" and of the dollar sign before the figures in a verdict held not such a defect as to render the verdict too uncertain to form the basis of a judgment. Bluestein v. Collins (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 687.

A finding of a specific sum for each plaintiff as damages to land, without any mention in the verdict of a claim for damages to corps, was equivalent to a finding against plaintiffs on the latter issue. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Keirsey (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 163.

The jury cannot give damages for items not sued for. Beckham v. Collins, 54 C. A. 241, 117 S. W. 431.

In an action on a note and to foreclose a vendor's lien, the verdict, when aided by the petition, held sufficiently definite. Samples v. Wever, 56 C. A. 562, 121 S. W. 1129.

In an action on a note in which defendant counterclaimed for the value of a part of the property for which the note was given because not delivered held error to render judgment for defendant on his counterclaim where the verdict did not find the amount to which he was entitled. Lengelet v. Piper (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 480.

In an action for rent, the verdict held sufficient under the petition. Vogel v. Zuercher (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 737.

Under the verdict, the court held to have no right to enter judgment for $150. Cookville Coal & Lumber Co. v. Evans (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 750.

Verdict held too indefinite as to the amount which plaintiff was entitled to recover, to support a judgment for him. Curlee v. Rogan (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1126.

Objection on appeal that verdict was excessive held not to be considered, in the absence of objection in the trial court. Linville v. Jones (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 415.

An objection that a verdict did not dispose of defendant's counterclaim, one item of which was allowed, is unsustainable. Curtsinger v. McGown (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 303.

—— Interest.—A verdict authorizing the computation of interest is sufficiently certain. Buchanan v. Townsend, 80 T. 534, 16 S. W. 315.

An instruction as to the form of a verdict held not objectionable in omitting to allow plaintiff interest. Pierpont Mfg. Co. v. Goodman Produce Co. (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 347.

Verdict in conversion construed, and amount which plaintiff could recover thereunder determined. Parlin & Orendorff Co. v. Miller, 25 C. A. 190, 60 S. W. 881.

A verdict in an action for damages to cattle in transit held sufficiently certain to authorize a judgment on it. International & G. N. R. Co. v. McGehee (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 804.

A verdict for a certain sum "and interest included at 5 per cent. per annum" is for such sum and interest thereon from maturity of the claim therefor, and does not mean that interest up to the trial is included in such sum. Mutual Life Ins. Co. of New York v. Hodnette (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 615.

A verdict for a certain amount and interest was not erroneous, though the instructions failed to mention interest, where, as a matter of law, the plaintiff, if entitled to recover at all, was entitled to recover interest. Mallory S. S. Co. v. G. A. Bahn Diamond & Optical Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 282.

Designation of parties.—A verdict against one of several defendants and silent as to the others is presumptively in their favor. Railway Co. v. James, 73 T. 12, 10 S. W. 744.

A verdict may be against one or more of several defendants. When one or more of several defendants are not mentioned it is equivalent to a verdict in their favor. Kinkler v. Junica, 84 T. 116, 19 S. W. 359.

The use of the word "plaintiff" instead of "plaintiffs" is an immaterial error. Railway Co. v. Jamison, 12 C. A. 689, 34 S. W. 674.

In an action against an independent executrix and the heirs of a decedent claiming land in controversy, a verdict against the executrix binds the heirs, though it does not mention them. Kalteyer v. Wipff (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 1055.

Where husband unnecessarily joins his wife as plaintiff, a verdict for "plaintiff" held sufficient. Johnson v. Erado (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 139.

The fact that a verdict is for "plainiff," instead of "plaintiff," is not ground for reversal. American Cotton Co. v. Smith, 29 C. A. 425, 69 S. W. 443.

A verdict held to sufficiently identify the defendant against which it is rendered. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Cardwell, 30 C. A. 164, 70 S. W. 103.

A verdict finding for plaintiff, there being but one defendant, held sufficient. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Holyfield (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 221.

In an action by joint plaintiffs, verdict in favor of one plaintiff held sufficient to support a judgment in favor of both. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Henderson (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 36.

A verdict held not required to state the findings for plaintiffs were against defendant. Rapid Transit Ry. Co. v. Miller (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 439.

A verdict held sufficient to support a judgment for plaintiffs. Masterson v. F. W. Heitmann & Co., 38 C. A. 476, 87 S. W. 227.

A verdict held not so defective as to the spelling of plaintiff's name as to be insufficient to support a judgment. Colorado Canal Co. v. Sims, 42 C. A. 442, 94 S. W. 365.

Improper spelling of defendant's name in a verdict against him held not to vitiate it. Braun & Ferguson Co. v. Paulson (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 617.

A general verdict for the plaintiff is against all defendants and determines all issues in plaintiff's favor touching his right to the relief sought. Crockett & Sons v. Anselin (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 99.

The addition of the words "et al." to plaintiff's name in a verdict for plaintiff who sued alone held not to render the verdict uncertain or insufficient. Mitchell v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 501.

A verdict held sufficiently certain as to the parties against whom it was rendered. Springer v. Riley (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 577.

A verdict against railroads designated by initials and parts of words instead of the full names held a sufficient basis for a judgment against them. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Miller (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 1194.

Objection that verdict in trespass to try title did not dispose of all issues held unavailable in view of the instructions and judgment. Dunn v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 311.

A verdict against a partnership is a verdict against each partner. Port Arthur Rice Milling Co. v. Beaumont Rice Mills, 105 T. 514, 152 S. W. 629.

A verdict against C. & S. was not necessarily, because of the use of their names conjunctively, a verdict against them as a partnership, where they were also sued as individuals. Lilly v. Yeary (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 823.

Where plaintiff instituting an action remained plaintiff through the trial in spite of a cross-action by defendants who remained the only defendants, notwithstanding third persons intervened, a verdict for "defendants" was sufficiently certain. Texas Irr. Co. v. Moore, Bryan & Perry (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 166.

Severance as to parties.—In an action against two defendants, the fact that a judgment was rendered against only one of them held not to entitle plaintiff to a new trial. Taylor v. Houston & T. C. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 260.

Plaintiff, who desires a case so submitted as to authorize recovery against one defendant alone, should request such submission. Dunn v. Newberry (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 626.

In an action against a railway company and its engineer for the death of a pedestrian struck by an engine, a verdict against the company held not subject to reversal because the jury found in favor of the engineer whose act constituted the negligence complained of. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Huber (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 568.

A verdict awarding land to plaintiff and giving him damages in a suit against five defendants was good as a verdict against two only, where the pleadings and instructions showed that recovery of damages was sought only against them. William M. Rice Institute v. Freeman (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 688.

Severance and apportionment of damages or amount of recovery.—See, also, notes under Art. 4704.

A verdict against connecting carriers awarding damages for delay in transportation and for an overcharge of freight paid to one of them held sufficiently definite. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Hutson & Brown, 56 C. A. 74, 120 S. W. 213.

A verdict against two companies held to imply an equal award. Milwaukee Mechanics' Ins. Co. v. Frosch (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 600.

In an action against two defendants, where the jury attempted to return a verdict against each of them for an amount aggregating $6,000, but apportioned the amount between them, it was proper for the court to refuse to receive the verdict, to instruct them in a supplementary charge that they could not apportion the amount between the defendants, and to receive a corrected verdict returning the same amount against both defendants. Austin Electric R. Co. v. Faust (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 449.

Amendment or correction.—A jury may be recalled after they have dispersed to correct an error in the verdict. McKean v. Paschal, 15 T. 37. But they cannot change the substance of the verdict. Salinas v. Stillman, 25 T. 12.

A jury may be recalled in a civil case to amend the verdict. Howard v. Kopperl, 74 T. 494, 5 S. W. 627; McKean v. Paschal, 15 T. 37.

The omission of the word "dollars" in the verdict is not such a defect as to defeat a judgment. It is more regular to amend the verdict. Railway Co. v. Fink, 4 C. A. 269, 23 S. W. 330.

A jury may be recalled and correct a verbal error in the verdict. Sigal v. Miller (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 1012.

The verdict of a jury may be amended at the bar without requiring the jurors to retire for that purpose. Utley v. Smith (Civ. App.) 32 S. W. 906.

Where the jury found certain items as "exemplary damages" which were in truth actual damages, the court did not err in permitting the jury to amend the verdict. M. K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Burroughs (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 403.

It is error to recall the jury, and permit it to change its verdict, after discharge. Denison & P. S. Ry. Co. v. Giersa (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 1039.

Where a verdict in an action for injuries was informal, but intelligible, the court had power to direct its correction. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Locke (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 1082.

There was no error in correcting a verdict by merely placing in proper form that which was already indicated by the jury. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Branch, 29 C. A. 144, 68 S. W. 338.

Voluntary acceptance by plaintiff of insufficient verdict held to preclude subsequent motion to reform it. Fay Fruit Co. v. Talerico (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 196.

Where a court refused to accept a verdict for ambiguity, it was not error to permit plaintiff's counsel to write out and have signed in open court a verdict such as the jury intended to render. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Lister (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 107.

Where jury found for plaintiffs in disregard of instruction to find against one of them, defendants could not complain because the court conformed the judgment to what must have been the intention of the jury. Chimine v. Baker, 32 C. A. 520, 75 S. W. 330.

Verdict on fire policies held properly amended at the direction of the trial judge. Milwaukee Mechanics' Ins. Co. v. Frosch (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 600.

The correction of a verdict held properly permitted by the court. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. City of Sweetwater (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 251.

The court held properly to have refused to accept a certain verdict, and to have accepted another properly returned under instructions. Austin Electric Ry. Co. v. Faust (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 449.

Any corrections in the form of verdict must be made and the consent of the jury obtained before its discharge. Cookville Coal & Lumber Co. v. Evans (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 750.

In an action for commissions for sale of land and live stock, where the verdict was for a percentage of the value of the land and part of the live stock, and a sum per head for the balance of the live stock, a further instruction that they should include in the verdict the total amount of commissions on the land and on each class of live stock held proper. Martin v. Dyer (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1050.

Where plaintiff made no case against a defendant against whom a codefendant did not present a cross-action, and the jury failed to observe the direction of the court to find for defendant, the action of the court in recalling the jury and in receiving an amended verdict in favor of defendant was not prejudicial to codefendant, in the absence of anything to show that the jury had been improperly approached or influenced. Ferrell v. Millican (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 230.

Art. 1981. [1327] [1327] Not responsive to the issues.—If the verdict is not responsive to the issue submitted to the jury, the court shall call their attention thereto, and send them back for further deliberation.

Responsiveness in general.—In an action of trespass to try title for land by a widow claiming one-third life estate and a daughter claiming as sole heir subject to the life estate, a verdict for the daughter and against the widow authorized a judgment in favor of the daughter for the land subject to the life estate of the mother, and in favor of the defendant for the life estate of the mother. Nichols v. Nichols, 79 T. 332, 15 S. W. 272.

When the jury are not instructed to find separately actual and vindictive damages, a verdict for the gross sum will support the judgment. Heiligman v. Rose, 81 T. 223, 16 S. W. 931, 13 L. R. A. 272, 26 Am. St. Rep. 804.

In a suit for land the verdict contained no finding as to improvements. Held, equivalent to a verdict that no improvements were made. Stroud v. Palmer, 66 T. 129, 18 S. W. 344.

The finding of the jury upon a special issue submitted to them may be sufficiently responsive without following the exact language in which the issue is submitted. Robinson v. Moore, 1 C. A. 93, 20 S. W. 994.

In an action where plaintiff's husband is joined, a verdict finding for plaintiff alone held to show that the jury considered only her damages. City of Hillsboro v. Jackson, 18 C. A. 325, 44 S. W. 1010.

A verdict in an action to cancel a deed as fraudulent held to be within the scope of the petition. Lancaster v. Richardson (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 409.

Where right of executors to sue for appointment of trustee to enforce deed of trust is not in issue, a finding that there were other executors will be disregarded. Davis v. Converse (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 910.

A verdict that defendant "has" no claim in certain land as a homestead held not to show that he did not have such claim two years prior to the trial. Devine v. United States Mortg. Co. of Scotland (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 585.

Where the issue was the execution of the note declared on, held, that a verdict for defendant on condition that he surrender certain property to plaintiff was void as conditional, uncertain, and irresponsive. Hurt v. Wallace (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 675.

Where an overseer of a road district is sued for removal of a fence, and there is evidence that unnecessary injury was done in the removal, and also that the fence was not in the highway, and the court assumed in its charge that plaintiff's boundary line was in the center of the highway, as defendant contended, a verdict awarding plaintiff damages is not insufficient because it fails to find the location of the road as to plaintiff's fence. Luckie v. Schneider (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 690.

Answer to question submitted to jury held to contain a finding that a note was not given in consideration of marriage. Hatchett v. Hatchett, 28 C. A. 33, 67 S. W. 163.

A verdict of the jury should dispose of all parties to the suit. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Renfro (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 648.

An allegation of malicious refusal to pay a sum due held not to support a verdict for exemplary damages. Malin & Browder v. McCutcheon, 33 C. A. 387, 76 S. W. 586.

A verdict, in an action on a note, that plaintiff receive back the article for which the note was given and surrender the note, held unauthorized. Wootan v. Partridge, 39 C. A. 346, 87 S. W. 356.

A verdict held not erroneous on the theory that it awarded exemplary damages where none were sought. Patterson & Wallace v. Frazer (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 146.

A verdict in favor of defendants in a cross-action based on an oral contract not submitted to the jury held unsustainable. Colorado Canal Co. v. McFarland & Southwell (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 400.

In an action for divorce, a verdict, finding the material allegations of "plaintiff" to be true, held not defective for failure to limit the allegations to those in "plaintiff's petition." Barrow v. Barrow (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 120.

In an action involving a disputed boundary, action of trial court in refusing to accept verdict and in directing the jury to find generally either for plaintiffs or defendants held error. Thatcher v. Matthews (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 1006.

A finding on the issue of the amount of profits gained by a party in a real estate transaction held sufficient in view of the evidence. C. W. Hahl & Co. v. Southland Immigration Ass'n, 53 C. A. 592, 116 S. W. 831.

The verdict must determine the matter in issue. Provident Nat. Bank v. Webb (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 426.

In an action against a telegraph company for delay in delivering a telegram, the finding for the addressee under the charge, held to necessarily have included a finding that she was at home on the day of the morning that the telegram was sent. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Gilliland (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 212.

A verdict held not to find damages for malicious prosecution. Taylor Bros. v. Hearn (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 301.

A general verdict for defendant held in effect a special finding that the construction of a railroad's spur track in a street was not injurious to plaintiff's property. Lloyd v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 145 S. W. 266.

A verdict for defendant in an action for slander held a finding that he did not use the language imputed to him by plaintiff. Day v. Becker (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1197.

A verdict that "plaintiff is entitled to $50 and his wife to $1,150" held responsive to issues; plaintiff claiming damages for his personal injuries, and for injuries to his wfe and his buggy, and the jury being told to assess the damages for injuries to plaintiff and to the buggy and for loss of wife's services, etc., in one item, and damages for injury to his wife in another. Scott v. Riddle (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 408.

Several counts or issues.—Where a petition charges negligence in transmission and also in delivery of a message, and the verdict is general, and there is testimony to sustain both issues, a finding of guilty of negligence as charged is sustained. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Johnson, 16 C. A. 546, 41 S. W. 367.

Although the evidence fails to connect the defendant with one of the two fires charged in the complaint, when the verdict finds damages corresponding to the value of the property burned at the other fire there is no error. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Baugh (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 557.

Where defendant pleaded that the land in question was hers upon payment of a certain sum, which she tendered, and in another count claimed the land absolutely, and the verdict was general in her favor, plaintiff was not entitled to the sum tendered. Peoples v. Terry (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 846.

Where a reconvention was pleaded exceeding the amount sued for, and the jury, being instructed not to find on the plea, returned a verdict simply "finding for defendant," the plea was presumptively abandoned, and a judgment for defendant was supported by the verdict. Elmendorf v. Schuh (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 797.

In the absence of a special finding on a plea in reconvention, a general verdict for plaintiff held in effect a verdict against the plea. Dewitt v. Berger Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 334.

Where the verdict in trespass to try title is a general one for all the defendants, the court cannot say, as matter of law, that the issue of estoppel, pleaded by one of them, was sustained by the evidence. Wilkins v. Clawson, 37 C. A. 162, 83 S. W. 732.

In an action on a note and to foreclose a chattel mortgage, it is not error for the court to require the jury to indicate the paragraph of the charge or the issue upon which they base their verdict. Scaling v. First Nat. Bank, 39 C. A. 154, 87 S. W. 715.

A verdict in plaintiff's favor on a note held an implied finding against defendants on a plea in abatement. Ellis v. Littlefield, 41 C. A. 318, 93 S. W. 171.

An assignment of error that an item pleaded in a counterclaim was not passed on by the jury held not sustained, in view of the issues submitted by the charge and the verdict thereon. Harris v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 1144.

In an action to recover for an engine sold defendant, a general verdict for plaintiffs for the contract price held to involve a finding against defendant on his plea of breach of warranty. Liljeblad v. Sasse & Powell, 49 C. A. 512, 108 S. W. 787.

In a suit for divorce and custody of a child, a verdict of the jury on the issue of the custody of the child held sufficient. Wright v. Wright, 50 C. A. 459, 110 S. W. 158.

A verdict for libel held equivalent to a finding against plaintiff on the claim that the publication charged her with unchastity. Galveston Tribune v. Guisti (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 239.

A verdict for plaintiff held to dispose of defendant's cross-action. Pritchard Rice Milling Co. v. Jones (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 817.

Verdict for defendant on his counterclaim in an action for the price of goods sold held not to support a final judgment for defendant. McGrew v. Norris (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 1143.

A verdict held insufficiently responsive to issues of reconvention for wrongful attachment. Knox City Milling Co. v. Farmers' State Bank of Knox City (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 134.

Where both actual and exemplary damages are pleaded, the verdict should disclose whether the damages awarded are actual or exemplary, for exemplary damages cannot be allowed in the absence of actual damages. Bushong v. Alderson (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 200.

A verdict held not to warrant a final judgment. Id.

Where, in replevin, defendant pleaded in reconvention a breach of contract, a verdict in plaintiff's favor failing to dispose of the reconvention plea was insufficient. Ratliff v. Gordon (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 196.

On pleading and evidence in a landlord's action to recover possession and for rent, held that a finding that defendant's term had not expired, while protecting his right of possession, would not absolve him from liability for rent. Patterson v. Ellis (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 300.

Disregard of instructions.—Verdict disregarding instructions held error. Houssels v. Pitts (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 588.

The fact that the charge in a personal injury case only authorizes damages for physical pain and mental anguish does not render a verdict in excess of the limits of the instruction erroneous, where the pleadings and evidence include other grounds of recovery. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Andrews, 28 C. A. 477, 67 S. W. 923.

Because the verdict is contrary to an erroneous instruction, it does not follow that the case should be reversed. Johnston v. Kleinsmith, 33 C. A. 236, 77 S. W. 36.

In an action against a railroad for injuries to an employé, the verdict held not contrary to an instruction. El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. O'Keefe, 50 C. A. 579, 110 S. W. 1002.

Verdict rendered in consonance with the law held sustainable on appeal, though contrary to charge. Dubinski Electric Works v. J. Lang Electric Co. (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 169.

Where the court gave a peremptory instruction, its action in refusing to accept a verdict of the jury contrary to that instruction is not error. Hill v. Hanan & Son (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 648.

Sending jury back for further deliberation.—Court should call the attention of the jury to an issue submitted to which there has not been a full response and let them return for further deliberation. Oriental Investment Co. v. Barclay, 25 C. A. 543, 64 S. W. 90.

Under this article, where the questions submitted to the jury relate to material facts, and their answer is that they cannot answer the interrogatories, it is the duty of the court to direct their attention to the omission, and send them back for further deliberation. Darden v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 944.

Certainty.—See notes under Art. 1980.

Amendment or correction.—See notes under Art. 1980.

Art. 1982. [1328] [1328] Verdicts either general or special.—The verdict of a jury is either a general or a special verdict.

General and special verdict.—A general verdict and also special findings on issues submitted are not authorized by the statute. Dwyer v. Kalteyer, 68 T. 554, 5 S. W. 75.

While irregular for the jury in one case to render a general and special verdict, yet where they are consistent, and the same judgment would follow upon each, the irregularity is of no consequence. But where the finding upon special issues is contradicted by the general verdict, no judgment can be rendered, and the verdict should be set aside. Blum v. Rogers, 71 T. 668, 9 S. W. 595.

The trial court should not undertake to present a case to the jury so that their verdict might be in part general and part special. Such an error is harmless, however, where there is a general finding. Southerland v. T. & P. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 193.

Where the court, on request, submits special issues to the jury, the refusal of a request to direct them to return a general verdict is not error. Southern Cotton Oil Co. v. Wallace, 23 C. A. 12, 54 S. W. 638.

A general verdict returned with a special verdict held properly ignored. Dunlap v. Raywood Rice Canal & Milling Co., 43 C. A. 269, 95 S. W. 43.

Where a case was submitted on special issues, charge calling for a general verdict held properly refused. Bridgeport Coal Co. v. Wise County Coal Co., 44 C. A. 369, 99 S. W. 409.

Under this article, and Arts. 1987 and 1988, the court should not so submit the case as that the verdict may be part general and part special, and hence, where it had decided not to submit the case on special issues, the refusal to submit two special issues requested by plaintiff was not error. Hengy v. Hengy (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1127.

Art. 1983. [1329] [1329] General verdict.—A general verdict is one whereby the jury pronounce generally in favor of one or more parties to the suit upon all or any of the issues submitted to them.

Nature of verdict.—A general verdict is a finding by the jury in a general form wholly or in part for the plaintiff or defendant. Darden v. Mathews, 22 T. 320.

General verdict defined. Shifflet v. Morelle, 68 T. 383, 4 S. W. 844.

A verdict for defendants in an action for partition held to be general, and hence to include a finding in their favor of every material fact pleaded. Ackermann v. Ackermann, 22 C. A. 612, 55 S. W. 801.

In an action for damages for alleged wrongful levy of execution, a general verdict for plaintiff held to embrace a finding that the judgment on which the execution was issued was satisfied prior to such issuance. First Bank of Mertens v. Steffens, 51 C. A. 211, 111 S. W. 782.

Designation of grounds as rendering verdict special.—A general verdict is not rendered special by the fact that it designates the grounds on which it is based. Shifflet v. Morelle, 68 T. 382, 4 S. W. 843.

Mixed issue of law and fact.—In cases of general verdict, the issue is a mixed issue of law and fact. Rice v. Rice, 21 T. 58.

Art. 1984. [1330] [1330] Special verdict defined.—A special verdict is one wherein the jury find the facts only on issues made up and submitted to them under the direction of the court. [Act May 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 108. P. D. 1469.]

Nature of verdict.—A special verdict reiterates all the facts alleged which are sustained by the proofs. Darden v. Mathews, 22 T. 320; Handel v. Elliott, 60 T. 145; McKeen v. Sultenfuss, 61 T. 330; Morgan v. Richardson (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 171; Powers v. Parks (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 718.

Judgment notwithstanding verdict.—In view of this and succeeding articles, it was held that a judgment notwithstanding the verdict is improper. Fant v. Sullivan (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 515.

Art. 1984a. Submission of special issues.—In all jury cases the court, upon request of either party, shall submit the cause upon special issues raised by the pleadings and the evidence in the case. Such special issues shall be submitted distinctly and separately, and without being intermingled with each other, so that each issue may be answered by the jury separately. In submitting special issues the court shall submit such explanations and definitions of legal terms as shall be necessary to enable the jury to properly pass upon and render a verdict on such issues, and the court may submit said cause upon special issues without request of either party, provided that if the nature of the suit is such that it cannot be determined on the submission of special issues, the court may refuse the request to do so, but the action of the court in refusing may be reviewed on proper exception in the appellate court, and this article shall be construed in connection with article 1985 of chapter 14, title 37, Revised Statutes. [Acts 1913, p. 113, sec. 1.]

Explanatory.—This article amends Title 37, Chapter 14, Rev. Civ. St. 1911, by adding thereto Art. 1984a. See annotations under Arts. 1984, 1985.

Art. 1985. [1331] [1331] Special verdict, requisites of; failure to submit issue not reversible error unless request, etc.—The special verdict must find the facts established by the evidence, and not the evidence by which they are established; and it shall be the duty of the court, when it submits a case to the jury upon special issues, to submit all the issues made by the pleading. But the failure to submit any issue shall not be deemed a ground for reversal of the judgment, upon appeal or a writ of error, unless its submission has been requested in writing by the party complaining of the judgment. Upon appeal or writ of error, an issue not submitted and not requested by a party to the cause, shall be deemed as found by the court in such manner as to support the judgment; provided, there be evidence to sustain such a finding. [Acts 1897, S. S. p. 15.]

Explanatory.—See Art. 1984a.

Construction and application in general.—This is not a retrospective law, but merely regulates the conduct of legal proceedings. Phœnix Insurance Co. v. Shearman, 17 C. A. 456, 43 S. W. 1063.

This article does not affect the following articles. Scott v. Farmers' & Merchants' Bank (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 485.

Power and duty of court to require special findings.—When different issues between various parties are to be determined, special issues should be submitted (Mabry v. Harrison, 44 T. 286; Collins v. Cook, 40 T. 238), with proper instructions (Knight v. S. P. R. R. Co., 41 T. 406), and should embrace all the questions in the suit (Frost v. Frost, 45 T. 324).

When it is material to know upon what issue the verdict may be given, special issues may be submitted to the jury. Graves v. Campbell, 74 T. 576, 12 S. W. 238.

Where the answer to a special question submitted to the jury was based upon facts which the court, in another instruction, also submitted, categorical answers to all the questions contained in such instruction are not required. Southern Cotton-Oil Co. v. Wallace, 23 C. A. 12, 54 S. W. 638.

A waiver of a general charge to the jury held not essential in order to authorize the submission of the case on special issues. York v. Hilger (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 1117.

The refusal to submit a case on special issues held not erroneous. Johnson v. Scrimshire, 42 C. A. 611, 93 S. W. 712.

Where claims for payments were barred by limitation unless made under written contract, instruction that if jury found that contract was not executed they need not answer special interrogatories relating to the claims held not error. Walker v. Dickey, 44 C. A. 110, 98 S. W. 658.

Where an immaterial issue is submitted, it is within the Court's power, if not his duty, to withdraw the question and receive the remaining answers to issues submitted. Mabry v. Citizens' Lumber Co., 47 C. A. 443, 105 S. W. 1158.

Discretion of court.—See notes under Art. 1987.

Questions or issues to be submitted.—When a cause is submitted to a jury on special issues, all the issues of fact made by the pleading must be submitted and determined by them before final judgment upon a verdict can be rendered. Cole v. Crawford, 69 T. 124, 5 S. W. 646; Dodd v. Gains, 82 T. 429, 18 S. W. 618; Michon v. Ayalla, 84 T. 685, 19 S. W. 878; Frost v. Frost, 45 T. 324; Newbolt v. Lancaster, 83 T. 271, 18 S. W. 740; Mitchell v. W. U. Tel. Co., 12 C. A. 262, 33 S. W. 1016.

It is not error to define in the charge a business homestead and to submit to the jury for their determination whether the property is a business homestead. Kahller v. Carruthers, 18 C. A. 216, 45 S. W. 160.

There need be no finding of an issue not raised by the pleadings, and which, if decided, could only affect the relative rights of defendants. Id.

Under the Acts of 1897, Special Session, page 15, undisputed facts will be considered as having been submitted and found by the jury though there is no request. Lancaster v. Richardson (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 409.

A finding of plaintiff's liquidated demand is unnecessary, where defendant admits it of record. Wentworth v. King (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 696.

Where at the close of the testimony counsel agree that there is no controversy, except as to those items of the account sued on and set-off, in which special issues are submitted, defendant is not precluded from having proper issues submitted relating to such items. Abernathy v. Southern Rock Island Plow Co. (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 786.

Where several questions are submitted to the jury, a single question and answer are not objectionable because, taken alone, they do not justify a judgment. Oriental Inv. Co. v. Barclay, 25 C. A. 543, 64 S. W. 80.

A multiplicity of questions should not be submitted to the jury, to be answered separately as on special issues, and findings of merely evidential facts should never be required. Cushman v. Masterson (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 1031.

A plea of venue in an action should be separately submitted, and the jury required to make a separate finding thereon. Merchants' & Planters' Oil Co. v. Burow (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 435.

Issue of fraud raised by the pleadings and evidence should have been submitted, though the form for submission presented was objectionable. Richards v. Minster, 29 C. A. 85, 70 S. W. 98.

Refusal to submit a special issue in trespass to try title as to defendant's having tendered payment, he claiming under application to purchase public land as an actual settler, held error. Allen v. Frost, 31 C. A. 232, 71 S. W. 767.

It is error to refuse to submit an issue which is a material part of one's defense upon which it is necessary for the jury to find before the court could properly render its judgment. Id.

Act of trial court in submitting questions to the jury in action against a carrier for wrongful conduct toward a passenger held error. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. White (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 533.

In a case involving title, the submission to the jury of an issue of estoppel to claim title held unnecessary. Parker v. Citizens' Ry. Co., 43 C. A. 168, 95 S. W. 38.

In passing upon an assignment of error in refusing a peremptory instruction to find for defendant upon his plea of privilege to be sued in another county, that all of the controlling facts upon the issue of venue were not included in the questions submitted to the jury is immaterial. Ogburn-Dalchau Lumber Co. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 48.

Under this and following articles it was held that it is the right of a litigant to have the jury pass upon all issues of fact; and, while the court may look to the pleadings and evidence in formulating instructions, in rendering judgment it must be governed by the verdict, and in those cases where a general verdict is required, no fact can form the basis of the judgment which has not been submitted to the jury and determined by them in harmony with the court's decree. Darden v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 944.

The true function of a special issue is to elicit the material facts established by the evidence, and not the evidence by which they are established. Haile v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 1088.

Issues submitted in an action by an assignee of an account held not in conformity with the issues made by the pleadings. Stuart v. Calahan (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 60.

It was not error to submit to the jury a special issue, as to which there was no dispute in the testimony. Pacific Express Co. v. Rudman (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 268.

The determination of an issue of a grantor's sanity directly raised by pleadings and evidence was properly submitted to the jury by special issue. Gibson v. Pierce (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 983.

It is proper to refuse to submit an issue not made by either the pleadings or the evidence. Barker v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 609.

Requests for special findings.—The request to submit special issues should be made before the general charge is given. G., H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Cody, 92 T. 632, 51 S. W. 329.

Where one attorney presents special issues to the judge to be given the jury, and the opposing counsel objects to giving special issues, it is sufficient request. Breneman v. Mayer (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 733.

An assignment of error that the court refused to submit certain issues must show that the court was requested in writing to submit them to the jury. Yeager v. Neil, 26 C. A. 414, 64 S. W. 702, 703.

Where it does not appear, from the statement subjoined to an assignment of error in refusing to submit a special issue, that appellant requested the court to submit such issue, the assignment need not be considered. Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. v. Spencer, 28 C. A. 251, 67 S. W. 196.

Where parties requested a submission of the case on special issues, they should have prepared appropriate charges. Johnston v. Fraser (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 49.

In the absence of any request that the jury make the finding, the court may, under the statute relating to special verdicts, make a finding of interest on the damages awarded by the jury making separate and distinct findings on all items of damages. Steger v. Barrett (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 174.

Though the present statute does not allow the submission of a case on special issues without a request for such submission by one of the parties to the suit, where the record shows that both parties requested in writing that certain issues be submitted for the determination of the jury, and there was nothing to show that either party objected to that method of submitting the case or preferred the submission of the case on a general charge, such facts under the law constitute a request by the parties to the suit that the case be submitted to the jury on special issues. Texas Machinery & Supply Co. v. Ayers Ice Cream Co. (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 750.

In view of this article, one who requested the submission of issues to the jury cannot demand that the court file his written conclusions of law and fact; Art. 1989 providing for the filing of such conclusions applying only to trials by the court. Jones v. Edwards (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 727.

Preparation and form of interrogatories or findings.—There is no uniform practice determining the mode of forming and submitting special issues to a jury; they may be prepared by counsel and sanctioned by the court, formulated by the judge at the request of counsel, or on his own motion, to meet the requirements of the case in the furtherance of justice. When a special verdict is rendered no other facts can be looked to in aid of the judgment. Heflin v. Burns, 70 T. 347, 8 S. W. 48.

That instructions in other respects general set out certain questions for the jury to pass on did not constitute a submission of special issues only. Storrie v. Hamilton (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 235.

A special issue held defective as assuming an issuable fact as proved. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Hartnett (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 773.

Special interrogatories attempting to interpolate an issue having no bearing on the case are properly refused. Milmo Nat. Bank v. Convery (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 926.

The submission of 50 questions to the jury is an abuse of the statute authorizing the submission of special issues. Hartford Fire Ins. Co. v. Post, 25 C. A. 428, 62 S. W. 140.

It was error to submit nearly 100 questions to the jury, when all issues of fact could have been submitted in less than a dozen pertinent questions. Oaks v. West (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 1033.

Under the statute which prohibits a trial judge from commenting on the weight of testimony, questions should not be submitted to the jury which suggest the answers desired by the party drafting the questions. Id.

A special issue held based on the pleadings and evidence. Uecker v. Zuercher, 54 C. A. 289, 118 S. W. 149.

A special issue was not objectionable because it was in the form of a leading question; it not indicating how the issue should be determined. O'Farrell v. O'Farrell, 56 C. A. 51, 119 S. W. 899.

In a suit to set aside an alleged fraudulent conveyance, the use of the word "honest," in an interrogatory whether the grantee had knowledge of such facts as would cause an honest man of ordinary prudence to make inquiry, etc., held not error. Rogers v. Driscoll (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 599.

The submission of special issues which give undue prominence and emphasis to the plaintiff's contention and theory of the case is prejudicial error. Stuart v. Calahan (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 60.

The court held justified in refusing to submit any of the special issues requested by a party. Longworth v. Stevens (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 257.

Submission of an issue whether plaintiff, a building contractor, negligently delayed the work "prior to or about" May 15th, instead of "on or about" May 16th, held not error, where the jury must have understood from the connection in which the issue was submitted that it referred only to such delays as were proper to be considered and were mentioned by the architect in his certificate. Woodruff v. Taub (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1193.

The propounding of questions to the jury, "Do you find from the evidence," and "Do you, or do you not, find from the evidence," was not erroneous, since issues may be submitted in any form, so long as they do not indicate how the issue should be determined. Moore v. Miller (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 573.

The rule as to leading questions to witnesses does not apply to special issues; the form of such issues not being subject to review on appeal, unless they intimate what answer is expected or desired. D. Sullivan & Co. v. Ramsey (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 580.

General charge in connection therewith.—See notes under Art. 1970-29.

Sufficiency of verdict or findings in general.—Special findings of fact held insufficient to support a judgment of recovery on a building contract. Childress v. Smith, 90 T. 610, 40 S. W. 389.

A verdict finding that defendant was a principal is not a conclusion of law. Devine v. United States Mortg. Co. of Scotland (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 585.

Where there is a special finding that warranties in life insurance application have been broken, and that the application has been altered since its execution, which latter finding is unsupported by evidence, a judgment for assured will be reversed. Kansas Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Coalson, 22 C. A. 64, 54 S. W. 388.

Where the trial judge considers that certain special findings are not sustained by the evidence, it is his duty to set them aside. Casey-Swasey Co. v. Manchester Fire Assur. Co., 32 C. A. 158, 73 S. W. 864.

Form of answer held immaterial, where the whole case, consisting of a single issue, was submitted in the form of a submission of special issues. Stahl v. Askey (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 79.

See this case for a holding that no violence has been done to the rule that the judgment of the court must conform to the verdict of the jury. Rotan Grocery Co. v. Noble, 36 C. A. 226, 81 S. W. 586.

A single answer to a special issue presenting two questions held to leave in doubt the answer intended. Riske v. Rotan Grocery Co., 37 C. A. 494, 84 S. W. 243.

A special verdict in a suit to determine the existence of a lien held sufficient basis for a judgment declaring a lien on the property for which the note in controversy was given. Featherstone v. Brown (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 470.

A judgment in favor of a transferee for amount of a note for materials held proper, though the special verdict found that the value of the materials furnished was less than the sum stated in the note. Id.

In an action to set aside a judgment, findings of the jury held sufficiently specific to justify a decree setting the judgment aside. Cowan v. Brett, 43 C. A. 569, 97 S. W. 330.

In an action involving the title to land, the findings of the jury as to the period of defendant's adverse possession held so indefinite and uncertain as not to warrant a judgment for defendant on the ground of a title by limitation. Stoker v. Fugitt (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 743.

A special verdict in a suit to establish a boundary line was not invalid for failure to find on one defendant's plea of limitations, where it gave such defendant a limited time to remove a fence. Epley v. O'Donnell (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 741.

In an action to set aside a default judgment on a bond given under a claim of property levied on as belonging to another, a finding held a sufficient determination of an issue whether plaintiff's decedent used due diligence to employ an attorney to represent him in the trial of the right of property proceedings. Barker v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 609.

In an action on an accident policy answers to special questions held a sufficient finding that the injury was caused wholly by external violence, to support a judgment against the insurer, which was liable only for such injuries. International Travelers' Ass'n v. Bosworth (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 346.

Failure to answer interrogatories or make findings.—In a suit for the recovery of the value of specific articles converted, a failure of the jury to find the value of each article is not an error for which a judgment can be reversed on exceptions by a plaintiff. Cole v. Crawford, 69 T. 124, 5 S. W. 646. The rule is believed to be purely for the benefit of the defendant. Id.; Heisch v. Adams, 81 T. 96, 16 S. W. 790; Bowen v. Hatch (Civ. App.) 34 S. W. 330.

In an action for damages, a special finding of the jury held not to conclude the issues raised under the pleading. Stinnett v. City of Sherman (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 847.

A special verdict construed to be a finding that there was no way adjoining a certain lot. Poole v. Delaney, 19 C. A. 117, 46 S. W. 276.

Failure of the jury to find an undisputed fact as directed by the court held not to vitiate the judgment. Brown v. Sovereign Camp, Woodmen of the World, 20 C. A. 373, 49 S. W. 893.

Failure to answer a special interrogatory as to issue of estoppel is immaterial, where the jury find against the plea in answer to other interrogatories. Id.

In an action by a lessee for damages for failure of the lessor to furnish water to irrigate the land, the findings held insufficient on which to base the amount of the damages sustained. Dunlap v. Raywood Rice Canal & Milling Co., 43 C. A. 269, 95 S. W. 43.

In an action against a railroad company for damages caused by the maintenance of water-tank near plaintiff's homestead, that the jury failed to find for him on the issue of personal annoyance and inconvenience did not necessarily prevent a finding that the value of his property was depreciated. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Edrington, 46 C. A. 388, 102 S. W. 1171.

It was error to enter a verdict for plaintiff, where the jury answered "not known" to material issues submitted; such answer being equivalent to no answer. Bargna v. Bargna (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1156.

It would be improper to render judgment upon a verdict not answering special interrogatories, if they were material. Garlitz v. Runnels County Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1151.

Responsiveness.—See notes under Art. 1981.

Certainty.—See notes under Art. 1980.

Inconsistent findings.—Verdict in action to foreclose a mortgage held inconsistent and unintelligible. Scottish-American Mortg. Co. v. Scripture (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 210.

A contradictory special verdict held not to prevent entry of judgment because a breach of covenant had made only one judgment proper. Roberts, Willis & Taylor Co. v. Sun Mut. Ins. Co., 19 C. A. 338, 48 S. W. 559.

Findings on special issues held not inconsistent. Brown v. Sovereign Camp, Woodmen of the World, 20 C. A. 373, 49 S. W. 893.

In an action to reform a contract for a mutual mistake, a special finding held not to conflict with other findings showing mistake. Kelley v. Ward, 94 T. 289, 60 S. W. 311.

In an action on a note for attorney's fees against a husband and wife, contradictory findings held not to support a judgment directing its enforcement under certain contingencies out of the wife's separate property. Cushman v. Masterson (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 1031.

A special verdict, the various findings of which were in conflict with each other, held insufficient to support a judgment. Waller v. Liles, 96 T. 21, 70 S. W. 17.

Inconsistency in the special findings in action by section foreman for injuries held not such as to warrant reversal of judgment in his favor. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Bender, 32 C. A. 568, 75 S. W. 561.

Findings in action for recovery of land held inconsistent, so as to necessitate reversal of judgment for plaintiff. Taylor v. Flynt, 33 C. A. 664, 77 S. W. 964.

Answers by the jury to special issues held not inconsistent, in view of all the special findings in the case. City of San Antonio v. L. A. Marshall & Co. (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 315.

Findings of verdict held inconsistent, and not to support a judgment for defendant. Commerce Milling & Grain Co. v. Morris & Parker (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 73.

In an action involving the question of fraud in procuring a deed, the special findings of the jury held so conflicting and inconsistent as not to warrant a judgment for defendant thereon. Stoker v. Fugitt (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 743.

In an action for the reasonable value of services rendered in a real estate transaction, certain findings held not inconsistent. C. W. Hahl & Co. v. Southland Immigration Ass'n, 53 C. A. 593, 116 S. W. 831.

In an action on a note, where the jury found that defendant delivered the note to a third person, to be held by him until the payee, a mercantile company, should organize and deliver to defendant a certain amount of its stock, at which time the note should be delivered, that by fraudulent misrepresentations to such third person and without defendant's authority H. procured the note and delivered it to plaintiff's predecessor as collateral security, that the mercantile company never organized, that the cashier of plaintiff's predecessor, when he took the note, did not know the circumstances under which it was held by the third person, but did know that the company had not been organized, that H. was not an agent or officer of such company, and that the note sued on was not indorsed to plaintiff's predecessor by H., as agent or officer of the company, and also made conflicting findings that the note was made payable to the mercantile company, a proposed corporation, and that it was made payable to such company, a partnership, of which H. was a member, with a further finding that the bank did not purchase the note before maturity, for a valuable consideration, and in due course, either from the corporation or from the partnership, the conflict in the findings requires reversal of the judgment for plaintiff. Pierce v. First State Bank of Carney (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1062.

In a seller's action for refusal to accept lumber, the finding that the seller complied with the contract, and other findings that he did not pile and stack the lumber for drying as required by the contract, were not inconsistent; the jury manifestly intending that the contract was complied with except in those particulars. Jordan v. Morgan (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 599.

Defects and errors.—Where the vital issue was whether the claims of mortgagees were fictitious, and the instrument was thus made to defraud, and the jury answered in the negative, that it was made to hinder and delay creditors is immaterial. Wright v. Solomon (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 58.

Error in submitting a case on special issues held waived; exception not being taken at the time. Bourland v. Schulz, 39 C. A. 572, 87 S. W. 1167.

A mistake in entering judgment held a mere clerical one not invalidating the same. Moore v. Woodson, 44 C. A. 503, 99 S. W. 116.

Amendment of verdict.—Amendment of special verdict after return held not error. Hirsch v. Jones (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 604.

Construction and operation.—When the verdict is in response to special issues alone, the court will not look beyond the finding to any fact apparent in the record in aid of the judgment. Smith v. Warren, 60 T. 462.

Finding in action by passenger against carrier for personal injuries held conclusive of fact that plaintiff was not guilty of contributory negligence. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Gray (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 316.

After a case has been tried, the losing party cannot procure a trial by the court of issues not submitted to the jury. Coke & Reardon v. Ikard, 39 C. A. 409, 87 S. W. 869.

The responses by the jury to issues held to show that plaintiff had substantially complied with his contract. Carnegie Public Library Ass'n of Brownwood v. Harris, 43 C. A. 165, 97 S. W. 520.

Findings of the jury on special issues should be treated as in chancery practice, and the court may set aside any particular finding of damages as not being legally recoverable, and accept and base the judgment on the remaining findings. Steger v. Barrett (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 174.

Where, in an action to set aside a fraudulent conveyance, the jury found affirmatively that the conveyance was not fraudulent, and that the grantee was not charged with notice of any fraud, plaintiff was not necessarily entitled to a new trial because the first finding was erroneous. Rogers v. Driscoll (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 599.

Where plaintiff sued to recover land, claiming to be the owner within a disputed division line, and defendant brings a cross-action praying for judgment against the plaintiff for the land in dispute, a verdict for defendant necessarily determines the matters involved in the cross-action and disposes of all the issues. Black v. Feeney (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 1161.

Where the issue is one of boundary between survey No. 10 and surveys Nos. 3 and 11, whether the land described in plaintiff's petition lies within Nos. 3 and 11, as claimed by plaintiff, or is a part of No. 10, as claimed by defendant, a verdict for plaintiff, when read in connection with a proper charge, necessarily determines that the parcels of land sued for are within surveys Nos. 3 and 11, and are no part of survey No. 10, and is a determination of all the issues. Edwards v. Smith (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 1161.

A finding upon a special issue submitted to the jury becomes immaterial, where other findings of fact eliminate from the case the issue embodied in such finding. Hill v. Hoeldtke, 104 T. 594, 142 S. W. 871, 40 L. R. A. (N. S.) 672.

An answer to a special interrogatory in an action against a railroad company for damage to cotton by fire held to be that the fire did not originate from sparks from an engine while it was on a particular switch. Furst-Edwards & Co. v. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1024.

Special findings which are found to be immaterial upon construing all of the findings together should be disregarded, even if inconsistent with material findings. Id.

Where, in an action for libel, the court instructed that, in case the jury believed the publication charged plaintiff with unchastity, they might find special damages, and that, if they did not find special damages resulting to plaintiff by reason of the imputation, they should find for defendant unless they found for plaintiff on other issues, a finding of general damages only did not necessarily imply that the jury found against the charge of unchastity, for they might have found that the article impeached plaintiff's virtue, but that no special damages resulted therefrom. Guista v. Galveston Tribune, 105 T. 497, 150 S. W. 874.

In an action to cancel notes and a deed given in pursuance of an exchange of land on the ground of false representations, the court submitted to the jury in separate questions whether defendant made the various representations alleged, and then charged the jury that, if it answered one or more of the questions in the affirmative, they should answer by yes or no, the question whether such representations were in fact false, and whether plaintiff relied on all or either of the representations prior to making the trade. Held, that an affirmative answer to all of the questions would not support a judgment for plaintiff, as it was uncertain whether the jury found that any particular representation on which the plaintiff relied was false. Jones v. Edwards (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 727.

Where the jury found that "not all" of the lumber which a buyer refused to accept was stacked for drying as required by the contract, and it appeared that the buyer accepted part of the lumber after directing discontinuance of delivery, the finding would be construed as a finding that only that accepted was properly stacked; there being no evidence that any additional lumber was so stacked. Jordan v. Morgan (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 599.

In an action upon an accident policy, a special issue requested by the insurer held not to raise the question whether the accident immediately and wholly disabled the insured from pursuing his occupation, so as to warrant review on appeal. International Travelers' Ass'n v. Bosworth (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 346.

Judgment notwithstanding verdict.—See notes under Art. 1984.

Review by appellate court in general.—The appellate court will not consider the refusal of the trial court to submit special issues, unless the appellant states in his brief what the issues were and the form in which they were presented, so that the court may pass upon their materiality. Armstrong v. Elliott, 20 C. A. 41, 48 S. W. 605.

A special verdict will not be reversed on appeal, there being evidence to sustain it. Root v. Baldwin (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 586.

If a party dissatisfied with a special verdict does not ask the court to set it aside and grant a new trial or does not on appeal assign as error the overruling of motion to set aside such verdict, he waives the error, if there is any. Scott v. Farmers' & Mechanics' Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 485, 494.

Where there is no statement of facts in the record by which the correctness of the judgment in regard to an issue not submitted to the jury can be tested, the action of the trial court upon the question is conclusive. Featherstone v. Brown (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 475.

It is the trial court's province to determine the form of special issues admitted, and, if the questions do not indicate how the issue should be determined, the trial court's action will not be reviewed. O'Farrell v. O'Farrell, 56 C. A. 51, 119 S. W. 899.

Though a special finding as to the location of a boundary line appears to the appellate court to be against the preponderance of the evidence, it will not be disturbed where it is not so against the overwhelming preponderance of the evidence as to be clearly wrong. Pratt v. Slade (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 648.

A party against whom a special verdict is rendered must, if he deems the evidence insufficient to sustain it, move to set aside the verdict, and, if on appeal he complains of the verdict, he must do so under an assignment of error addressed to the action of the court in refusing to set it aside. Smith v. Hessey (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 256.

Cross-assignments of error as to findings upon a special issue cannot be considered where they do not show that a motion was made below to set aside such findings. Hicks v. Armstrong (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 1195.

Under rule 71a (145 S. W. vii), making a motion for a new trial a prerequisite to an appeal unless the error complained of is fundamental, except in cases where the statute does not require such motion, and as amended by Acts 26th Leg. c. 111, providing that no motion for new trial need be filed where the conclusions of fact found by the judge are separately stated, assignments of error were reviewable in a case wherein the court on request filed separate conclusions of fact and law, though no motion for new trial was filed below. American Rio Grande Land & Irrigation Co. v. Mercedes Plantation Co. (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 286.

A judgment in partition rendered by the district court hearing the evidence of the value of the land partitioned will not be set aside in the absence of very clear proof of unfairness and abuse of discretion. Williamson v. McElroy (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 998.

Issues not submitted found or deemed found by trial court.—Facts established beyond dispute will be considered as having been submitted and found, though no request therefor was made. Lancaster v. Richardson (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 409.

An issue not requested or submitted must be presumed to have been found by the court in a manner to support the judgment, in case where the evidence sustains such finding. Phœnix Ins. Co. v. Moore (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 1131.

Where an issue has not been submitted nor asked to be submitted when a jury has special issues submitted to it, the issue will be considered as having been resolved in favor of the judgment. Devine v. U. S. Mortg. Co. (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 585.

Where there is evidence to sustain a finding of certain facts the case must be disposed of on appeal as though the facts had been found. Leary v. People's Building, Loan & Savings Ass'n, 93 T. 1, 49 S. W. 632.

Where a special verdict fails to find every fact necessary to support the judgment the defect can be noticed on appeal as fundamental error, unless every fact necessary to support the judgment is found in the record, though not included in the special verdict. Armstrong v. Elliott, 20 C. A. 41, 49 S. W. 635.

Where a special verdict does not find all the facts necessary to form the basis of a judgment, but does answer all the questions submitted, the court is presumed to have found from the evidence the omitted facts necessary to support the judgment, if the evidence is presented to authorize the finding thus presumed. Southern Cotton Oil Co. v. Wallace, 23 C. A. 12, 54 S. W. 638.

It was agreed that only one issue should be submitted to the jury. No special charge was requested. This being a special verdict, the law, in the absence of the agreement, clothed the court with the right to find such other facts as were necessary to a judgment. Matula v. Lane, 22 C. A. 391, 55 S. W. 504.

The proper construction of this article in connection with Art. 1987 requires the appellate court to assume that the trial court found from the evidence before him such facts, not appearing in the special verdict, as are necessary to support the judgment. Read v. Henderson (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 78.

Where case is submitted on special issues and court fails to submit one issue and no request is made for its submission it will be presumed that court found sufficient evidence to support the judgment. City of Whitewright v. Taylor, 23 C. A. 486, 57 S. W. 311.

Where an issue was not requested and was not presented to the jury, but the evidence is sufficient to show a certain fact, if the fact is necessary to sustain the judgment it will be deemed to have been found by the court. Breneman v. Mayer (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 733.

Upon appeal or writ of error when a case has been submitted upon special issues an issue not submitted and requested by a party to the cause is deemed as found by the court in such manner as to support the judgment. Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. v. Spencer, 28 C. A. 251, 67 S. W. 196.

The appellate court can determine from the record whether or not there is enough evidence to sustain the finding on an issue not submitted to the jury and not requested. Hardin v. Jones, 29 C. A. 350, 68 S. W. 836.

An issue neither requested nor submitted will on appeal be presumed found so as to support the judgment. Seaton v. McReynolds (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 874.

It is immaterial that there was no finding of the jury on an issue, since neither party requested the issue to be submitted, and as under this statute the issue is deemed as found by the court in such manner as to support the judgment provided there is evidence to sustain such a finding. Holly & Co. v. Simmons, 38 C. A. 124, 85 S. W. 325.

This article only authorizes the appellate courts to deem an issue not submitted and not requested by a party to the cause, as found by the court where the case was submitted on special issues by the court; and if the cause of action stated in the plea in reconvention was not submitted on special issues the court below was not authorized to make any finding in reference to the said plea. Union Carpet Lining Co. v. Miller & Co., 38 C. A. 575, 86 S. W. 653.

Where a cause was submitted on special issues, the supreme court must assume that court found all facts, supported by the evidence, in favor of the successful party. Cobb v. Robertson, 99 T. 138, 86 S. W. 746, 122 Am. St. Rep. 609.

Under the statute regulating the practice when cases are submitted upon special issues, the court must be presumed to have found in favor of the prevailing party upon an issue which was not submitted to the jury, but as to which there was evidence justifying its submission. Horstman v. Little (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 286.

A judgment imports such further findings of fact as are necessary to support it, provided there is evidence in the record sufficient to authorize the same. Hughes v. Landrum, 40 C. A. 196, 89 S. W. 85.

If the court fails to submit an issue, and the appellant fails to request in writing its submission and there is evidence to sustain the finding on the question it will be deemed that the issue was resolved by the trial court in such a manner as to support the judgment. Mabry v. Kennedy (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 177.

Such facts as are necessary to support the judgment, and are not embraced in the special issues submitted, and the verdict thereon, must be presumed to have been found by the court, if there be sufficient evidence in the record to sustain such findings. Hall & Co. v. Southland Imp. Ass'n, 53 C. A. 592, 116 S. W. 834.

If a finding by the court favorable to the successful party on an issue not submitted and not requested by the complaining party is necessary to sustain the judgment rendered it will be presumed that the court so found. Lowrence v. Woods, 54 C. A. 233, 118 S. W. 553.

Where the evidence raised an issue as to the abandonment of a purchase of school land, but the issue was not submitted or requested to be submitted to the jury, the presumption is, under the statute, that the court found upon it in such a way as to support the judgment rendered. Fitzhugh v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 913.

Where an issue was not submitted to the jury and its submission was not requested, it will be assumed that the trial judge's finding on such issue was in harmony with the judgment rendered. Posey v. Coleman (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 937.

Under this article, the court of civil appeals was authorized, on reversing the judgment of the trial court and rendering judgment for appellant, to look to the findings of the trial judge to ascertain the amount for which its judgment should be rendered. Arkansas Fertilizer Co. v. City Nat. Bank, 104 T. 187, 135 S. W. 529.

A trial judge will be presumed to have made findings supporting his judgment, where there is evidence tending to sustain the findings. R. B. Godley Lumber Co. v. Teagarden (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1109.

On appeal in a suit in which furniture sold on the installment plan was sequestered, held, that it must be assumed that the trial court found the property to be of the same value at the time of trial as when delivered to defendants. Daniel v. De Ortiz (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 486.

All findings which are not made by the jury on special issues, but which the court was authorized to make, should be assumed to have been made in support of the judgment. Haley v. Sabine Valley Timber & Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 596.

This article can only be applied to aid a judgment actually entered, and a plaintiff appealing from an adverse judgment entered notwithstanding the verdict may not require the court on appeal to assume that an issue not submitted was found by the court in his favor, especially where defendant requested the submission of the issue, and assigned a cross-error complaining of the refusal so to do. Fant v. Sullivan (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 515.

Failure to submit issue not ground for reversal, unless requested.—The failure to submit an issue is not reversible error where a special charge was not asked and no bill of exception was taken to the charge. Phœnix Insurance Co. v. Shearman, 17 C. A. 456, 43 S. W. 930.

Where the record fails to show that special issues to be submitted to the jury were presented to the court, they will not be considered on appeal. Kahler v. Carruthers, 18 C. A. 216, 45 S. W. 160.

A question of limitations in a case submitted by special issues will not be considered on appeal, if no submission thereof was made or requested. Armstrong v. Elliott, 20 C. A. 41, 48 S. W. 605.

Prior to 1897, the rule was that when a case was submitted on special issues all the issues of fact made by the pleadings must be submitted and determined before a valid judgment could be rendered; but this article was passed to remove the rigor of the rule and an omission to submit an issue is not ground for reversal unless it has been requested by party to cause. The answer, however, must be responsive to the issues submitted. G., H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Botts, 22 C. A. 609, 55 S. W. 514.

Where special issues are submitted to a jury at the request of one of the parties, it is not error to fail to submit a material issue, unless it is requested by the party desiring it. Schmitt v. Jacques, 26 C. A. 125, 62 S. W. 956.

The change in this, by the amendment of 1897 treats as harmless mere omissions in the verdict where the evidence supplies them unless the party complaining requests the submission of issues so omitted. Aultman & Taylor Mach. Co. v. Cappleman, 36 C. A. 523, 81 S. W. 1244.

A case may be submitted on special issues on request of either party to suit. If the form of the question submitting an issue is insufficient to require the finding of the necessary facts, counsel should request in writing a finding of additional facts. In absence of such request, the imperfect submission of an issue, on the failure to submit it altogether will not be ground for reversal of judgment, but the issue will be deemed as found by the court in such manner as to support the judgment if there be evidence to sustain such finding. York v. Hilger (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 1118.

The failure to submit an issue is not error unless the party complaining requested the issue to be submitted. McCaskey v. Morris, 40 C. A. 390, 89 S. W. 1086.

By the very terms of this article the appellate court is without power to reverse, because of a mere failure to submit any one or more of the issues made by the pleadings and evidence in a case. Moore v. Pierson (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 1008.

The effect of this statute is to require that an appellant or plaintiff in error in order to entitle himself to complain in the appellate court of the fact that the trial court has not submitted to the jury any of the issues, must have requested the submission in writing. Moore v. Pierson, 100 T. 113, 94 S. W. 1134.

Where a cause is submitted upon special issues, a failure of the trial court to submit any issue is not error unless its submission is requested in writing by the party complaining of the judgment, and upon appeal an issue not submitted and not requested by a party to a cause shall be deemed as found by the court in such manner as to support the judgment provided there is evidence to support the judgment. Edelstein v. Brown (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 1129.

In trespass to try title, defendant claimed so much of the survey claimed by plaintiff as was included in a tract which he held by adverse possession. An issue was submitted to the jury as to the true location of the north boundary line of defendant's tract, so as to determine whether improvements had been made on plaintiff's tract and the issue was decided in favor of defendant. Held that, though under the evidence an issue as to the west boundary line should have been also submitted, plaintiff could not complain where he did not request such submission, and there was evidence sufficient to sustain a finding that defendant's improvements were made on plaintiff's survey. Pratt v. Slade (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 648.

Where each party permitted the court to submit the cause on a single issue in the submission of special issues within this article, the losing party could not for the first time on appeal complain of the trial court's failure to submit other issues. Herman v. Smith (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1087.

Under this article, a judgment sustained by the evidence on an issue will not be disturbed on appeal when such issue was not submitted to the jury as a special issue nor any request for submission made by appellant. Givens v. Carter (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 623.

Art. 1986. [1332] [1332] Special verdict conclusive.—A special verdict found under the provisions of the two preceding articles shall, as between the parties, be conclusive as to the facts found. [P. D. 1469.]

See Arkansas Fertilizer Co. v. City Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 1179.

Conclusiveness of verdict.—Where a case is submitted to the jury on special issues, and no complaint is made in motion for new trial or otherwise in the court below of the verdict, it becomes conclusive of the facts found. Robertson v. Kirby, 25 C. A. 472, 61 S. W. 967.

The trial court is not authorized in rendering judgment to disregard the finding of the jury on a material issue, even though such finding has no support whatever in the testimony. The amendment of 1897, Art. 1985, does not affect this article and articles following. Scott v. Farmers' & Merchants' Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 485.

Setting aside in part.—A special verdict though comprising many findings is but one verdict and no material part of it can be set aside for want of sufficient evidence to sustain it without setting it all aside. Casey-Swasey Co. v. Manchester Fire Assur. Co., 32 C. A. 158, 73 S. W. 865.

The trial judge may, on motion, set aside the jury's findings as a whole, and grant a new trial, but he cannot set aside part of them, substitute his own for those set aside, and thereupon render judgment. Arkansas Fertilizer Co. v. City Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 1179.

Review of findings by appellate court.—See notes under Art. 1985.

Judgment notwithstanding verdict.—See notes under Art. 1984.

Art. 1987. [1333] [1333] Jury to render general or special verdict as directed.—The jury shall render a general or special verdict as may be directed by the court. [Acts 1879, p. 119. Acts 1899, p. 190.]

General or special verdict.—A general verdict and also special findings on issues submitted are not authorized by the statute. Dwyer v. Kalteyer, 68 T. 554, 5 S. W. 75.

The trial court should not undertake to present a case to the jury so that their verdict might be part general and part special. Such an error is harmless, however, where there is a general finding. Southerland v. T. & P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 193.

A general verdict is improper in a case submitted on special issues. O'Farrell v. O'Farrell, 56 C. A. 51, 119 S. W. 899.

Under Art. 1982, providing that verdicts are either general or special, and Arts. 1987-1992, the court should not so submit the case as that the verdict may be part general and part special, and hence, where it had decided not to submit the case on special issues, the refusal to submit two special issues requested by plaintiff was not error. Hengy v. Hengy (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1127.

Discretion of court.—Whether a cause shall be submitted to a jury on special issues or not is a matter resting in judicial discretion. Cole v. Crawford, 69 T. 124, 5 S. W. 646; Railway Co. v. Miller, 79 T. 78, 15 S. W. 264, 11 L. R. A. 395, 23 Am. St. Rep. 308; Kampmann v. Rothwell (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 124; Edmondson v. Coughran, 138 S. W. 435; Hengy v. Hengy, 151 S. W. 1127.

Under this statute as it formerly read (Rev. St. 1895, § 1333), it was the duty of the court to submit the case on special issues when so requested. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Jackson, 92 T. 638, 50 S. W. 1012.

The supreme court declines, on the ground that it has no jurisdiction, because the question was not certified to it, to determine whether the trial court should be governed in the submission of special issues according to the law existing at the time of the trial or of the amendment of May 12, 1899, of the above article. G., H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Jackson, 92 T. 638, 51 S. W. 330.

On the submission of a preliminary question, it is within the court's discretion to submit issues requiring a special verdict. Nixon v. Jacobs, 22 C. A. 97, 53 S. W. 595.

Although the court should have submitted the case on special issues when requested at the trial, yet the law having been changed since the trial so as to make it discretionary with the trial court to submit or not on special issues, the case will not be reversed for another trial, as the court might again submit the case generally. Railroad Co. v. Jackson, 93 T. 262, 54 S. W. 1023.

This article having been repealed by act of May 12, 1899, it is not error to overrule motion for new trial in a case in which special issues were not submitted, tried before passage of said act, since if motion should be granted the case could be submitted on general issue. G., H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Lynch, 22 C. A. 336, 55 S. W. 389.

This article having been amended, so as to make it discretionary with the court to submit special issues, before the motion for new trial was acted on, it was not error to refuse the motion because the court did not submit on special issues. Id.

A judgment will not be reversed for a refusal to submit special issues, where the law making such submission imperative was repealed after the trial, and the matter left to the discretion of the judge. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. McGraw (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 756.

A case will not be reversed for erroneous refusal to submit issues to the jury; Gen. Laws 1899, c. 190, subsequently passed, making such submission discretionary. Gonzales v. Adoue (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 543.

Submission of a case on special issues is discretionary, and a refusal to do so will not be reviewed. Jordan v. Young (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 762.

It is discretionary with the trial judge whether he will submit the case on special issues, when requested. Woodmen of the World v. Locklin, 28 C. A. 486, 67 S. W. 331; Home Circle Society No. 2 v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 322; Jones v. Creech, 108 S. W. 977.

Submission of a case on special issues or in a general charge embracing all the issues and declaring the law governing them held within the discretion of the court. Ross v. Moskowitz (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 86.

The submission of garnishment proceedings to a jury on special issues at garnishee's request lies within the trial court's sound discretion, which is revisable only for abuse. Milwaukee Mechanics' Ins. Co. v. Frosch (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 600.

Instructions as to form of verdict.—See notes under Art. 1970—26.

Art. 1988. [1333] [1333] Verdict to comprehend whole issue or all the issues submitted.—The verdict shall comprehend the whole issue or all the issues submitted to the jury. [Id.]

Verdict to comprehend whole issue, and all issues.—The verdict must find all of the issues. May v. Taylor, 22 T. 349; Bledsoe v. Wills, 22 T. 651; Kerr v. Hutchins, 46 T. 390; Moore v. Moore, 67 T. 296, 3 S. W. 284; Dodd v. Gaines, 82 T. 431, 18 S. W. 618; Cook v. Greenberg (Civ. App.) 34 S. W. 687.

A special verdict must find all the material facts put in issue by the pleadings. Paschal v. Acklin, 27 T. 191; Moore v. Moore, 67 T. 294, 3 S. W. 284; Texas Loan Agency Co. v. Hunter, 13 C. A. 402, 35 S. W. 399.

When special issues are submitted to the jury, and the verdict finds on some of the issues the material facts in controversy, and sufficient to sustain a judgment, the neglect to answer other issues submitted is not cause for reversing the judgment on appeal. Sears v. Sears, 45 T. 557; Reed v. Timmins, 52 T. 84.

A verdict which omits action upon one or more items pleaded, proved and submitted to the jury should be set aside. Marsalis v. Patton, 83 T. 521, 18 S. W. 1070.

The verdict and judgment should dispose of all the issues made in the pleadings and evidence. Michon v. Ayalla, 84 T. 685, 19 S. W. 878; Dodd v. Gaines, 82 T. 429, 18 S. W. 618; Marsalis v. Patton, 83 T. 521, 18 S. W. 1070; Railway Co. v. Mackney, 83 T. 410, 18 S. W. 949; Anderson v. Webb, 44 T. 147; Kerr v. Hutchins, 46 T. 384; Adams v. Cook, 55 T. 161; Campbell v. Everts, 47 T. 102; Huyler v. Dahoney, 48 T. 234; H., E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Snelling, 59 T. 116. The court should refuse to receive a verdict which fails to find material issues submitted in the charge. Kerr v. Hutchins, 46 T. 384.

A judgment cannot be based in part upon a special verdict and in part upon the court's conclusions of fact. Railway Co. v. Watson, 13 C. A. 555, 36 S. W. 290; Texas Brewing Co. v. Meyer (Civ. App.) 38 S. W. 263.

A special verdict which does not find all the facts put in issue by the pleading, although the evidence may establish beyond any controversy the existence of the facts not found, is defective and will be set aside. Stephenson v. Chappell, 12 C. A. 296, 36 S. W. 482.

Where the issue is as to rescission of a contract for fraud alone, and not for damages, except through rescission, where the jury found conduct cutting off plaintiff's right to rescind, a finding of fraud does not necessitate a verdict for him. Bailey v. Mickle (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 949.

A verdict which is uncertain and which does not dispose of the issues is void. Farnandes v. Schiermann, 23 C. A. 343, 55 S. W. 378.

The verdict should comprehend the whole issue, or all the issues submitted to them, and a verdict is bad if it varies from the issue in a substantial matter, or if it find only a part of that which is in issue. Railway Co. v. Botts, 22 C. A. 609, 55 S. W. 514.

A general verdict for defendants for a specified sum held sufficient, under instructions submitting an issue as to whether a note pleaded as a set-off had been paid. Garrett v. Robinson, 93 T. 406, 55 S. W. 564.

Where a jury were instructed, if there was no assumption of a certain debt by a corporation, to so state in their verdict, and there was no such statement, it will be held a finding that the corporation did assume the debt. Fox v. Robbins (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 597.

In an action by a married woman, a general verdict for defendant included a finding against plaintiff on an issue as to her right to sue without joining her husband, and hence a failure to find specifically on that issue as the court directed was not reversible error. Vaughn v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas, 34 C. A. 445, 79 S. W. 345.

A verdict in favor of plaintiff "for a foreclosure of plaintiff's lien" held not objectionable on the ground that it was not a finding that a lien existed. Fontaine v. Nuse, 38 C. A. 358, 85 S. W. 852.

In a suit to quiet title, failure of the verdict to dispose of a life estate as to which there was no dispute held not to render it insufficient to sustain the judgment. Beale's Heirs v. Johnson, 45 C. A. 119, 99 S. W. 1045.

Where the plaintiff relies on two issues and the verdict is in his favor on both, held, that the judgment should be affirmed, though the evidence on one issue is insufficient if it is sufficient on the other, and no errors of law were committed at the trial. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Cuneo, 47 C. A. 622, 108 S. W. 714.

A verdict held not objectionable as failing to dispose of all the issues raised. Bowman v. Saigling (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 1082.

In a suit to recover a portion of the consideration for the conveyance of land, and to foreclose a vendor's lien, a verdict construed, and held to apply to the whole land in controversy, and not to an undivided one-half interest therein. Tipton v. Tipton, 55 C. A. 192, 118 S. W. 842.

In a suit for specific performance, a verdict held sufficient to justify a judgment as between all the parties, including a stakeholder joined as a defendant. Durham v. Breathwit, 57 C. A. 38, 121 S. W. 890.

The court may not pass on any issue of fact and render judgment thereon on which the jury has failed to return a finding, no matter how conclusive the evidence may be. Smith v. Pitts et al., 57 C. A. 97, 122 S. W. 46.

Under Art. 1985, providing that a special verdict must find the facts established by the evidence, and it shall be the duty of the court, when it submits a cause to the jury upon special issues, to submit all the issues made by the pleadings, and this article, it is the right of a litigant to have the jury pass upon all issues of fact; and, while the court may look to the pleadings and evidence in formulating instructions, in rendering judgment it must be governed by the verdict, and in those cases where a general verdict is required, no fact can form the basis of the judgment which has not been submitted to the jury and determined by them in harmony with the court's decree. Darden v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 944.

Verdict in trespass to try title held a determination of all the issues. Edwards v. Smith (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 1161.

Verdict on charge in an action for damages from obstruction of a street construed. American Const. Co. v. Caswell (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1013.

Where, in an action for libel, the court instructed that, in case the jury believed the publication charged plaintiff with unchastity, they might find for her special damages, and that, if they did not find special damages by reason thereof, they should find for defendant, unless they found for plaintiff on other issues, a finding of general damages was not necessarily a finding against the charge of unchastity. Guisti v. Galveston Tribune, 105 T. 497, 150 S. W. 874.

Finding as to matter not submitted or erroneously submitted.—A judgment will not be reversed for failure to find on an issue which is erroneously submitted. Rice v. Ward (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 318.

Under the statute relating to special verdicts, a finding is not essential in matters not submitted, and, where a special verdict finding a balance due plaintiff did not mention interest, the court might adjudge interest from the term the evidence showed such balance became payable. City of San Antonio v. L. A. Marshall & Co. (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 315.

Art. 1989. [1333] [1333] Judge, on request, to state conclusions of fact and law separately, statement to be filed.—Upon a trial by the court, the judge shall, at the request of either of the parties, state in writing the conclusion of fact found by him, separately from the conclusions of law; which conclusions of fact and law shall be filed with the clerk and shall constitute a part of the record. [Id.]

Duty to make and file in general.—A failure to furnish a statement is no ground of reversal when it is apparent that the refusal worked no injury to the complaining party. Shuber v. Holcomb, 2 App. C. C. § 224. And see Barnett v. Abernathy, 2 App. C. C. § 775.

The failure of the judge to file his conclusions of fact is not ground for reversal, when there is a full statement of facts in the record, and it does not appear that the appellant has been or could be injured by reason of the non-performance of such duty by the judge. Implement Co. v. Templeton, 4 App. C. C. § 13, 14 S. W. 1015. And see Bank v. Stout, 61 T. 567; Waterworks v. Maury, 72 T. 112, 12 S. W. 166.

When the case is tried and determined by the judge on a demurrer to the evidence, he should, when requested, file his conclusions of law and fact; but in a case where there is no conflict in the evidence, his failure to do so is not reversible error. Umscheid v. Scholz, 84 T. 265, 16 S. W. 1065. This article is merely directory. Canadian-American Mortgage & Trust Co. v. McCarty (Civ. App.) 34 S. W. 306.

A refusal to file conclusions of fact and law, when requested, is ordinarily treated as reversible error. Callaghan v. Grenet, 66 T. 239, 18 S. W. 507; Osborne v. Ayers (Civ. App.) 32 S. W. 73.

The trial judge not having placed upon record his findings of fact or conclusions of law, nor in any manner indicated the grounds upon which he based his judgment, the plaintiff having made a case requiring a judgment in his favor unless defeated by the defendants, and the judgment below being for the defendants, on appeal the satisfactory testimony supporting the judgment having been declared inadmissible, the appellate court will reverse and remand, as the court cannot know upon what the trial court acted, or that it would have found for the defendants upon the testimony not excluded. Mackey v. Armstrong, 84 T. 159, 19 S. W. 463.

If the record brings up no findings of fact or conclusions of law the judgment will be affirmed, if that disposition be possible under the law as applied to the evidence disclosed by the record. McCoy v. Mayer (Civ. App.) 21 S. W. 1015.

This article confers a statutory right. A general finding is not sufficient. Seymour Opera House Co. v. Wooldridge (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 234.

When no conclusions of fact are requested or filed, on appeal the court will impute such findings as will sustain the judgment if they are supported by the evidence. Hull v. Woods, 14 C. A. 590, 38 S. W. 256.

Sufficiency of defense of limitations will not be considered where there were no findings and the judgment for defendant is sustainable on another ground. Rosson v. Miller, 15 C. A. 603, 40 S. W. 861.

On a jury trial, a court is not required to make findings of fact and law. Peoples v. Terry (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 846.

A case will not be reversed because the trial judge did not file findings of law and fact, it being shown that the party making the request delayed the trial till there was not time to file the same during the term of the court and the record containing a statement of facts. Texarkana & Ft. Worth S. R. Co. v. Hartford Insurance Co., 17 C. A. 498, 44 S. W. 533.

Appellant cannot be deprived of his right to conclusions of law and fact because of alleged lack of time of the trial judge to prepare them. Love v. Rempe (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 681.

Where the evidence supports a finding, it will be affirmed, in the absence of conclusions of fact filed by the trial court. Munson v. Nolan (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 38.

Conclusions of fact are not required in a case where the jury render a special verdict, and an appeal can be taken without a statement of facts where the special verdict is incorporated in the transcript. Williams v. Planters' & Mechanics' National Bank, 91 T. 651, 45 S. W. 690.

A case will not be reversed where the record contains a statement of facts for the failure of the trial judge to file his conclusions. Settegast v. Blunt (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 268.

The statutory right of a party to have conclusions of law and fact filed should not be denied. Crocker v. Crocker, 19 C. A. 296, 46 S. W. 870.

A conclusion of law that a conveyance by defendant was in fraud of an attaching creditor held error, in the absence of findings of fact supporting it. Zachariae v. Swanson, 34 C. A. 1, 77 S. W. 627.

A conclusion of law does not supply, or take the place of a finding of fact, except in cases where the law gives a conclusive effect to the fact established, or where the evidence is of such a certain and conclusive character that the minds of men of ordinary intelligence will not differ as to its effect. Id.

Conclusions of fact and law filed voluntarily (i. e., without the request of either party), by a trial judge cannot be given the force and effect of conclusions filed under this article. City of Houston v. Kapner, 43 C. A. 507, 95 S. W. 1106.

Where the trial court filed no conclusions of the facts, the judgment must be sustained if there is testimony supporting any theory authorizing the judgment. Spalding v. Aldridge, 50 C. A. 230, 110 S. W. 560.

Where, in trespass to try title brought before the court, no conclusions are filed, the appellate court is compelled to adopt and take as true any theory or state of facts which finds support in the evidence favorable to the judgment. Appel v. Childress, 53 C. A. 607, 116 S. W. 129.

The failure of the court to make special findings of fact requested will not be considered on appeal, where no exception was taken thereto. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Shawnee Cotton Oil Co., 55 C. A. 183, 118 S. W. 776.

In the absence of a statement of facts, the failure of the trial judge to file, on request by one of the parties, his conclusions of law and fact usually necessitates a reversal. Werner Stave Co. v. Smith (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 247.

Where the trial court filed no conclusions, it was the duty of the appellate court to sustain the judgment if it was admissible to render the same on any theory of the evidence. Guerra v. Rodriguez (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 593.

Where conclusions of fact had been presented by defendant and signed by the judge, held, that defendant could presume that the duty of filing them would be performed by the judge. Melvin v. A. J. Deer Co. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 681.

Refusal of the trial court, after request, to file its findings of fact and conclusions of law, held reversible error. Buckner v. Davis (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 639.

The court on appeal must, in the absence of findings of law and fact by the trial court, affirm the judgment where it can be done on pleadings not objected to and the evidence in support thereof. Mutual Life Ins. Co. v. Ford (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 769.

It is the plain right of any party upon seasonable application to have proper conclusions filed and within the time required by law, and parties are not required to accept conclusions filed after such time and run the hazard of having them stricken. Sutherland v. Kirkland (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 851.

The refusal of the court, on request, to file written conclusions of fact and law, as required by this article, is reversible error, unless the statement of facts shows such refusal was not prejudicial; and a party complaining of such a refusal need not prepare a statement of facts to protect himself from the prejudicial effects of this error. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Highland Dairy Co. (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 137.

Where there were no conclusions of law and fact in the record, judgment will be affirmed, if there is any evidence to support any theory on which it may be sustained. Daniel v. De Ortiz (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 486.

It is reversible error for the court to refuse to file conclusions of fact and law when proper demand is made therefor. Boyette v. Glass (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 819.

The refusal to file, pursuant to a request in writing, conclusions of law and facts, as provided by the statute, is ground for reversal, where the statement of facts prepared by the court omits matters supporting the claim of the defeated party, which, if proved, justified a judgment for him. Wood v. Smith (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 795.

Where a party properly requested the court to file his conclusions of fact and law and the court failed to do so, the error was reversible. Eaton v. Klein (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 828.

Where no written findings were filed, the appellate court would affirm if the testimony supported any theory on which the judgment might have been rendered. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 1000.

Where the trial court, trying a case without a jury, filed no findings of fact, the court on appeal must take, as supporting the judgment, any facts which may be found in the evidence. Kittrell v. Irwin (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 199.

The failure of the trial judge to file conclusions of law and fact as required by statute is not reversible error, where the record shows affirmatively that the failure resulted in no harm to the party complaining. Poulter v. Smith (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 279.

Where the evidence was conflicting on the issue raised by a plea setting up a valid defense, the failure of the trial court, rendering judgment for plaintiff, to file conclusions of fact and law, was prejudicial error, since it might have found that the evidence supported the plea, and concluded that the plea constituted no defense. Id.

When a case is tried before a judge without a jury, the judge's refusal to file findings of fact, when required to do so, is reversible error; though, if it should appear from the statement of facts that no other judgment could properly have been rendered, a failure to file findings of fact may not be reversible error. Broderick & Bascom Rope Co. v. Waco Brick Co. (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 600.

In view of Art. 1985, providing that the failure to submit any issue to the jury shall not be deemed a ground for reversal unless its submission was requested in writing by the party complaining, one who requested the submission of issues to the jury cannot demand that the court file his written conclusions of law and fact; Art. 1989 applying only to trials by the court. Jones v. Edwards (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 727.

Where the record shows no findings of law or fact by the court, other than the judgment and statement of facts, the judgment must be affirmed as against an objection that it is not supported by the evidence, if the record shows a state of facts which will support it. Kingman-Texas Implement Co. v. Herring Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 394.

The trial judge must file the conclusions with the clerk within 10 days after adjournment of court, and the sending of them within the statutory time to counsel for appellant, who did not receive them, was not a compliance with the statute. Guadalupe County v. Poth (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 919.

The failure of the trial court to file conclusions of fact and law is waived by appellant agreeing to a filing of a statement of facts. Id.

In the absence of conclusions of law showing on what ground the trial court based its judgment, it must be affirmed if there is any ground presented by the pleadings and supported by the evidence upon which it can be properly rested. Broussard v. Cruse (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 347.

Refusal to find any facts whatever is not a cause for reversal, where there is a full statement of facts. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Diaz (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 907.

Time for making and filing.—See notes under Art. 2075.

Facts and conclusions to be found.—Where, in trespass to try title, defendant relied on estoppel and limitations, and the court found in his favor on the issue of estoppel, a finding on the issue of limitations was unnecessary. Daugherty v. Templeton, 50 C. A. 304, 110 S. W. 553.

In trespass to try title a recital in a deed by an independent executrix that debts existed against the estate of decedent held to be a matter of evidence, and not one of the ultimate facts to be included in the findings by the court. Haring v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 389.

Where the evidence is conflicting, the court is only required to find such facts as are deduced from such evidence. Maury v. McDonald, 55 C. A. 50, 118 S. W. 812.

Requests for findings.—A party is entitled to have the statement prepared and filed in the record upon request made therefore within a reasonable time. In this case the request was made immediately after the motion for new trial was overruled, and the term continued for ten days thereafter. North v. Lambert, 3 App. C. C. § 53.

At 9 p. m. of the last day of the term, and at the close of a protracted trial, the district judge was asked to file conclusions, etc. It was held that his refusal for want of time was proper. Davis v. State, 75 T. 420, 12 S. W. 957.

If a plaintiff in error desires a specific finding by the court he should ask it. In absence of such request the action of the trial court will not be revised when the statement of facts shows evidence upon which the judgment is sustained. Tackaberry v. Bank, 85 T. 488, 22 S. W. 121, 299.

The court need not make separate findings on each item of damages unless so requested. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Fisher, 18 C. A. 78, 43 S. W. 584.

It is not error to refuse to file findings of fact and conclusions of law where the trial was delayed by the party requesting the findings until it was too late to file them during the term. Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. v. Hartford Ins. Co., 17 C. A. 498, 44 S. W. 533.

A request, more than 20 days after order changing venue, that the court file conclusions of law and fact, comes too late. Williams v. Planters' & Mechanics' Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 617.

A request to the trial judge to file conclusions of fact and of law must be brought to his attention to be available. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Trice (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 770.

Where there is no request for findings, an assignment of error to the court's failure to find certain facts will not be considered. Caldwell v. Dutton, 20 C. A. 369, 49 S. W. 723.

An appellant will not be heard to complain of an omission to find on an issue on which no request for a finding was made. Tenzler v. Tyrrell, 32 C. A. 443, 75 S. W. 57.

A motion that the court file conclusions of fact and law held properly denied, because made too late. Bailey v. Fly, 35 C. A. 410, 80 S. W. 675.

The failure of the court to make a specific finding on an issue in trespass to try title held not erroneous, in the absence of a request therefor. Diffie v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 193.

Failure to make findings held not open to complaint in the absence of request therefor. Caplen v. Cox, 42 C. A. 297, 92 S. W. 1048.

While it may be that the court has no authority to file conclusions of fact and law without being requested by one of the parties, still in the absence of a showing in the record that he was not requested to file such conclusions, the presumption will be indulged that he filed them because he was requested to do so. Riggins v. Trickey, 46 C. A. 569, 102 S. W. 919.

If the trial court's finding in trespass to try title as to the improvements made upon the land by defendant's grantor were not sufficiently full or definite, plaintiff should have requested a fuller finding. Merriman v. Blalack, 57 C. A. 270, 122 S. W. 403.

Appellants cannot complain that findings do not cover all the issues of fact when no other findings were requested. Capps v. City of Longview (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 427.

Failure to find specified facts and propositions of law cannot be reviewed, where no request for such findings was made. Gainesville Water Co. v. City of Gainesville, 57 C. A. 257, 122 S. W. 959.

Failure of the trial court to make and file conclusions of fact and law on proper request held ground for reversal. Wandry v. Williams (Tex. Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 362.

In a suit to enjoin the collection of taxes on the ground of discrimination, held, that certain findings should have been requested in order to raise the question whether plaintiff was discriminated against. Lufkin Land & Lumber Co. v. Noble (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1093.

Where the trial court files conclusions of fact and others are desired, there must be a specific request for findings upon these points, or the omission in the court's conclusions cannot be relied upon on appeal. Gladys City Oil, Gas & Mfg. Co. v. Right of Way Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 171.

A request by a party for the filing of conclusions of fact and law, made on the tenth day after the adjournment of the term, need not be complied with. Payne & Joubert Machine & Foundry Co. v. Dilley (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 496.

In an action tried to the court, where no finding of fact was made on certain evidence, and there was no special request therefor, a party cannot on appeal complain of the court's failure to make such finding. Jones v. Jones (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 265.

In the absence of a request at trial to file conclusions of law and fact, an assignment of error for refusing to file them will be overruled. Butler v. Andrews (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 493.

Preparation and form in general.—In preparing its conclusions of fact and of law, the court need not state the evidence on which it bases its conclusions. Gordon v. McCall, 20 C. A. 283, 48 S. W. 1111.

The trial court cannot be required to find the evidence upon which his fact findings are based. Thompson v. Mills, 45 C. A. 642, 101 S. W. 560.

The failure of a court in an action tried without a jury, to reduce his findings of fact and law to writing when requested by the losing party, is reversible error. First State Bank of Teague v. Cox (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1.

Separate statement of facts and law.—A finding that a deed conveyed to the grantee all the grantor's title and interest in a league of land, including the land in controversy, did not offend against the statute requiring conclusions of fact and of law to be separate. Merriman v. Blalack, 57 C. A. 270, 122 S. W. 403.

Sufficiency in general.—In the absence of evidence that a servant had notice of a derrick's defective condition, a finding that its condition was as apparent to the servant as the master was erroneous. Westbrook v. Crowdus (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 195.

Where, in an action for personal injuries, the court does not find, as a matter of fact, that defendant was negligent, but finds negligence as a matter of law, such finding is reversible error. Texas Midland R. R. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 388.

Where an unprecedented storm broke a telephone pole, which injured plaintiff's building, a finding that defects caused the pole to break held not to authorize a judgment for the plaintiff. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Ingrando, 27 C. A. 400, 65 S. W. 1085.

Assignments of error attacking the findings of fact on the ground of omissions therefrom held without merit. Logan v. Lennix, 40 C. A. 62, 88 S. W. 364.

Certain conclusion of fact held erroneous. Cook v. Spencer (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 813.

In a suit to establish the validity of certain railroad bonds, findings of the trial court held sufficient. Western Supply & Mfg. Co. v. United States & Mexican Trust Co., 41 C. A. 478, 92 S. W. 986.

Where a court made findings as to the terms of a contract based on the instrument as written, it was not bound to make other findings based on parol testimony with reference thereto. Maury v. McDonald, 55 C. A. 50, 118 S. W. 812.

Under the statute, the trial judge who files findings of fact and conclusions of law on all the material issues held to comply with a request for findings and conclusions. Ragley-McWilliams Lumber Co. v. Hare (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 864.

Findings of fact may embrace such reasonable inferences of fact as are fairly deducible from the entire evidence. Minor v. St. John's Union Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Ancient York Masons (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 893.

Finding in an action against a telegraph company for damages for a delay in the delivery of a death message held not to support a judgment for plaintiff. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Samuels (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 802.

Refusal to attach the entire statement of facts tendered by defendant as the trial court's fact findings was not error. Barnes v. Riley (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 292.

On a finding that a party assumed the payment of notes, it followed as a matter of law that he was bound on such assumption. Edins v. Gunby (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 974.

Conformity to pleadings, issues, and proofs.—Allegations that two railway companies, sued jointly for injury to live stock, owned and operated the railway jointly, held to support a finding that they were copartners. Mexican Nat. R. Co. v. Savage (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 663.

A finding based on excluded evidence, and a conclusion of law resulting therefrom, held erroneous. Thompson v. Johnson, 92 T. 358, 51 S. W. 23.

A finding held not erroneous, as not being within the pleadings. Ruzeoski v. Wilrodt (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 142.

The trial court judge cannot disregard uncontradicted testimony and decide the issue on information gained by some other method. Bigham v. Clubb, 42 C. A. 312, 95 S. W. 675.

A finding not authorized by the pleading will be disregarded on appeal. Galvin v. McConnell, 53 C. A. 486, 117 S. W. 211.

Findings in an action for death held to be within the pleading. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Gross (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 1173.

In an action on notes by vendor against his vendee, held, that the vendee could not complain of error in not holding that there was a partial failure of consideration, when he neither alleged nor proved the amount or proportion to be deducted from the total amount of the note. Bledsoe v. Sumner (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 838

The trial court's conclusions of law and fact must be based upon the evidence introduced on the trial and not upon independent investigation and search for evidence by him. Wagner v. Geiselman (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 524.

Failure to find on particular questions.—When the trial judge reduces his conclusions of fact and law to writing, his failure to find a particular issue claimed to be material is not error unless, from an inspection of the record, it should appear material that a finding should have been had on it. Goode v. Lowrey, 70 T. 150, 8 S. W. 73. The failure of the trial judge to place on record his conclusions of law and fact must be made the subject of a bill of exceptions. Cleveland v. Sims, 69 T. 153, 6 S. W. 634.

The court's failure to find on an issue held not a ground of error, where its attention was not called thereto. Arnold v. Hodge, 20 C. A. 211, 49 S. W. 714.

Where plaintiff alleged that defendants had ejected him from land, and defendants pleaded not guilty, it will be presumed, on appeal, in the absence of findings of fact, that defendants were in possession at the time of the trial. Neyland v. Ward, 22 C. A. 369, 54 S. W. 604.

The failure to make requested findings of fact was not error, where such facts were not of a nature calculated to induce the court to reach a different result. Walters v. Bray (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 443.

In a certain condition of the record, held, that error of the court in refusing an additional finding of fact cannot be considered on appeal. Collum Commerce Co. v. O'Malley (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 679.

Failure of court to fully find as to an undisputed fact manifestly considered by the court in arriving at its conclusion is not ground for error. Bledsoe v. Sumner (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 838.

Inconsistent findings and conclusions.—A finding that an action was instituted before the expiration of two years from the date of the breach of contract, as stipulated therein, is a conclusion of law, and will not control specific findings of fact as to the date of the breach. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Langbehn (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 1188.

Additional findings.—Where findings of fact were sufficient to support the judgment, and plaintiff did not request more specific findings, he cannot complain of their scope on appeal. Connor v. S. Blaisdell, Jr., Co. (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 890.

If a party objects to the conclusions filed by the court in reference to his motion for conclusions of law and fact, he must point out in a motion for additional conclusions the facts on which he desires a finding. Wetz v. Wetz, 27 C. A. 597, 66 S. W. 869.

Motion for additional findings in trespass to try title held sufficiently definite. Parker v. Thomas (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 229.

In the absence of a request that the trial court file additional or fuller findings of fact, appellants held not entitled to object to the court's omission to include additional facts established by undisputed evidence. Veatch v. Gray, 41 C. A. 145, 91 S. W. 324.

In the absence of presentation and refusal of any request for additional or more specific findings the failure of the court to make more specific findings is not reversible error. Hatton v. Bodan Lumber Co., 57 C. A. 478, 123 S. W. 163.

A refusal to make an additional finding of fact as to a certain credit in an action for the settlement of accounts held not error. Collum Commerce Co. v. O'Malley (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 679.

Construction and operation.—A statement of facts properly signed and filed is of higher authority than the conclusions of fact found by the judge. Fire Ins. Co. v. Miller, 2 App. C. C. § 335.

The findings of a judge, where the case is tried without a jury, should form the basis of the judgment, the same as findings in a verdict, where they are supported by evidence. Ramirez v. Smith (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 254.

Where, in trespass to try title, plaintiff sets up a title by limitation, a finding that "the statute of limitations does not enter into this case" amounts to a finding against the plea. Scates v. Fohn (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 837.

A finding of the trial court to the effect that plaintiff's possession was taken and maintained under a certain title held to constitute a finding of fact, though it was copied among the conclusions of law. Robertson v. Kirby, 25 C. A. 472, 61 S. W. 967.

In a suit to recover real estate, where the court found that it constituted plaintiff's homestead, an objection that it had found an abandonment of the homestead held untenable. Garner v. Black, 95 T. 125, 65 S. W. 876.

Finding in action for killing stock on the track held to render verdict for plaintiff erroneous. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Hollingsworth, 29 C. A. 306, 68 S. W. 724.

A finding as to what lands a party in a judgment relinquished claim to, construed. Kimball v. Morris (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 759.

In an action for negligence, findings of court considered, and held, that the court found as matter of fact that defendant was guilty of negligence. Paris Transit Co. v. Alexander (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 1119.

Findings by the court that a certain sum was due to plaintiff from defendant, but that plaintiff was indebted to defendant in a large sum, held to sustain a conclusion of law that plaintiff was not entitled to recover. Fordtran v. South End Land Co., 47 C. A. 322, 105 S. W. 323.

A finding that the insufficiency of a cattle guard to turn stock off a railroad track was due to the railroad's negligence held to include a finding that the railroad had notice of the condition of the guard. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Sproles, 47 C. A. 294, 105 S. W. 521.

In an action to divest defendant of any interest in certain leases, plaintiff alleging that they were procured by defendant as agent, findings of court construed, and held to support the conclusion that plaintiff was not entitled to relief. Amber Petroleum Co. v. Breech (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 668.

In an action for destruction of and injury to an onion crop, that the court in its findings set out certain evidence held not to show that it resorted to an improper measure of damages. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Riverhead Farm, 53 C. A. 643, 117 S. W. 1049.

A finding merely that plaintiff had acquired through the county, by mesne conveyances, the right to cut and remove timber on county school lands did not show that title to the timber, while still on the land, was in plaintiff. Montgomery v. Peach River Lumber Co., 54 C. A. 143, 117 S. W. 1061.

A finding that one claiming land as having been acquired and held in trust for him never paid or tendered payment of the purchase price advanced by the trustee must be regarded as a finding that no offer tantamount to a tender was ever made by him. Hoffman v. Buchanan, 57 C. A. 368, 123 S. W. 168.

Payment of a valuable consideration for a deed held to have been found by the court in a particular finding. Breen v. Morehead (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 650.

In a suit to enjoin the collection of taxes on the ground that plaintiff's land was discriminated against by overvaluation, a finding held to go only to the regularity of the commissioners' court's action in making the assessment, and not to the question of discrimination. Lufkin Land & Lumber Co. v. Noble (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1093.

A finding, in an action for damages for an excessive levy, held not an attempt to vary the officer's return, but merely a finding of fact. Mara v. Branch (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 661.

In an action by a vendor on notes given as purchase price of land, findings held to support a conclusion that there was consideration for the notes. Bledsoe v. Sumner (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 838.

Findings in an action against a surety on a note held to be that at the time the note was signed plaintiff had no notice of an agreement between the principal and surety for additional security. Means v. Worthington (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 345.

Objections, exceptions, and review.—See, also, notes under Art. 1991.

Exceptions to conclusions of law and fact are not necessary, where a statement of facts and bills of exceptions are brought up in the record. Tudor v. Hodges, 71 T. 392, 9 S. W. 443.

The findings of the court upon the facts will be sustained when there is in the record evidence tending to support them. Sanborn v. Gunter, 84 T. 273, 17 S. W. 117, 20 S. W. 72.

If counsel are of opinion that facts are improperly omitted, the attention of the trial judge should be called thereto. Hensley v. Lewis, 82 T. 595, 17 S. W. 913.

That the finding of the court on a given point is not sufficiently specific is an objection not tenable on appeal unless the finding was specially excepted to at the time and no additional finding requested. Briggs v. Rusk, 1 C. A. 19, 20 S. W. 771.

Whether a conclusion of fact is warranted by the evidence will not be considered unless there is a statement of facts or unless the findings of the judge on their face show that it was not. Harrison v. Fryar, 8 C. A. 524, 28 S. W. 250.

Findings of fact by the court will not be disturbed if there is any supporting evidence. Obenchain v. Nordyke Marmon Co. (Civ. App.) 35 S. W. 746.

An assignment that conclusions of fact were insufficient cannot be considered where there was no request for more specific conclusions. Spencer v. James, 10 C. A. 327, 43 S. W. 556.

In the absence of exceptions, the court's findings of fact are conclusive upon the issues determined. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Purcell, 91 T. 585, 44 S. W. 1058.

Where a judgment overruling a motion for a new trial has been excepted to, findings of the court on questions of law and fact may be reviewed on appeal. Thompson v. State, 23 C. A. 370, 56 S. W. 603.

Where there is evidence to sustain the court's finding and no complaint is made of it in the court below, the court of civil appeals will accept the finding. Robertson v. Kirby, 25 C. A. 472, 61 S. W. 967.

Appellee held not in a position to insist that, erroneous rejection of evidence was harmless, on the ground that defendant was guilty of negligence, contrary to an express finding, not having excepted to the finding nor filed cross-assignments of error attacking the same. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Reitz, 27 C. A. 411, 65 S. W. 1088.

Findings of fact covering every issue material to the judgment will not be inquired into for their correctness on appeal, unless assailed by proper exceptions. Drake v. Davidson, 28 C. A. 184, 66 S. W. 889.

Where the record on appeal contains all the facts, the court may review the sufficiency of the evidence to support a finding of fact, though such finding was not excepted to. Tillman v. Peoples, 28 C. A. 233, 67 S. W. 201.

Where exceptions are not taken to findings of fact by the trial court, an assignment that the judgment is not supported by the facts will not be considered on appeal. Smith v. Abadie, 29 C. A. 60, 67 S. W. 925.

Complaint as to the insufficiency of trial judge's findings of fact cannot be made for the first time on appeal. Hughey v. Mosby, 31 C. A. 76, 71 S. W. 395.

Where the conclusions of law and fact are not excepted to, the correctness thereof cannot be attacked, unless the failure to except has been waived. Colley v. Wood, 32 C. A. 306, 74 S. W. 602.

Appellees, not having excepted to findings of fact of the trial court, may not, on appeal, by cross-assignment, question the sufficiency of the evidence to sustain the findings. Buster v. Warren, 35 C. A. 664, 80 S. W. 1063.

An assignment of error that the trial judge failed in his conclusions to pass on an issue is not reviewable, where the judge's attention was not called to the omission. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. Mitchell (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 286.

Where there is a statement of facts in the record, it is not necessary to take exceptions to findings of law and facts in order to review them on appeal. Hahl v. Kellogg, 42 C. A. 636, 94 S. W. 389.

No exception having been taken in the trial court to its failure to file conclusions of law or fact, no complaint on that ground can be heard on appeal. Haywood v. Scarborough (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 469.

Allegations of the petition, under which plaintiff would not be entitled to recover, cannot be considered to supplement the findings of fact for the purpose of working a reversal of a judgment for plaintiff, warranted by the findings considered by themselves. Montgomery v. Peach River Lumber Co., 54 C. A. 143, 117 S. W. 1061.

A finding of fact of the trial court, not complained of, is conclusive on appeal. Savage v. Umphries (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 893.

It is not necessary to take exceptions to findings of law and fact, when there is a statement of facts in the record, in order to review them on appeal. Id.

Where an appellee by cross-assignment of error objects to the judgment in some respect, it is required that he should have excepted to the court's finding or the judgment, before he can prevail on his cross-assignment. Meisner v. Taylor (Civ. App. 120 S. W. 1016.

Failure to find specified facts and propositions of law cannot be reviewed, where no exception was taken to such failure. Gainesville Water Co. v. City of Gainesville, 57 C. A. 257, 122 S. W. 959.

Acts 30th Leg., 1st Extra Sess., c. 7, grants the right to judges to file their conclusions of fact and law at any time within 10 days after the adjournment of the term when demand is made therefor, and that bills of exceptions may be allowed within 20 days after adjournment. Under Art. 1989, the supreme court before the acts of 1907 could not consider the failure of the court to file its conclusions unless the point was preserved by a bill of exceptions. The statute as to bills of exceptions requires that they shall be presented to the judge during the term, and within 10 days after conclusion of trial. Held that, if the provision in the law of 1907 as to bills of exceptions applies to matters which might arise after trial, such as the conclusions of law made after adjournment, then the action of the judge in refusing to prepare conclusions on demand, made within 10 days after adjournment, must be preserved by bill of exceptions, and, if otherwise since it was the practice not to review without exceptions, that it would be considered that the court had inherent power to grant the bill of exceptions after adjournment, and a failure to file conclusions could not be reviewed in the absence of bill of exceptions. Kemp v. Everett (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 897.

Where it does not appear that appellees excepted to findings of the trial court or to the judgment, their cross-assignments of error attacking such findings cannot be considered on appeal. First Nat. Bank of Houston v. South Beaumont Land & Improvement Co. (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 436.

In absence of exceptions to the conclusions of facts found, the appellate court cannot review a finding. Witt v. Byrum (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 687.

Under Art. 1991 and rule 71a (145 S. W. vii), making a motion for a new trial a prerequisite to an appeal unless the error complained of is fundamental, except in cases where the statute does not require such motion, assignments of error were reviewable in a case wherein the court on request filed separate conclusions of fact and law, though no motion for new trial was filed below. American Rio Grande Land & Irrigation Co. v. Mercedes Plantation Co. (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 286.

Where the trial court's findings of fact were not objected to, they would be adopted by the court of civil appeals, although such findings were not requested. Wagner v. Geiselman (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 524.

Art. 1990. [1333] [1333] Court to render judgment on special verdict or conclusions, unless set aside, etc.—In all cases where a special verdict of the jury is rendered, or the conclusions of fact found by the judge are separately stated, the court shall, unless the same be set aside and a new trial granted, render judgment thereon. [Id.]

See Hughes v. Mulanax, 105 T. 576, 153 S. W. 299.

Rendering judgment or setting aside verdict.—See, also, notes under Art. 1984.

When a special verdict is returned which entitles one of the litigants to a judgment the trial court has but two alternatives. (1) Set the verdict aside and grant a new trial or (2) to render judgment upon and in accordance with the verdict. The court can not decline to pursue either course and render judgment contrary to the verdict. Scott v. Farmers' & Merchants' Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 485.

On a general verdict the judge has only to enter upon his docket the fact of the return of the verdict and the judgment follows as of course; but the judge receives the special verdict and passes upon and determines what judgment shall be rendered and pronounces it; and the clerk must enter it. If the clerk fails to perform his duty during the term, the judge may at a subsequent term direct the entry to be made nunc pro tunc. Carwile v. Cameron & Co., 102 T. 171, 114 S. W. 102, 103.

Where the jury found a certain amount due a party, it was the province of the court to render judgment therefor. Reasonover v. Riley Bros. (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 220.

Setting verdict aside in part.—See notes under Art. 1986.

Art. 1991. [1333] [1333] Exceptions to conclusions or judgment noted in judgment; appeal, etc.; transcript.—It shall be sufficient for the party, excepting to the conclusions of law or judgment of the court, to cause it to be noted on the record in the judgment entry that he excepts thereto; and such party may thereupon take his appeal or writ of error without a statement of facts or further exceptions in the transcript; but the transcript shall in such cases contain the special verdict or conclusions of fact and law aforesaid, and the judgment rendered thereon. [Id.]

Exceptions and motions for new trial.—The sufficiency of the facts found to sustain the legal conclusion of the judge will not be considered unless excepted to. When such exception is noted in the judgment entry, the adverse party must take notice of it, and if, in his opinion, the conclusions of fact or law are not so full or accurate as they should be, for his own protection, it will be his right to have a complete presentation of the case. If no exception to the conclusions of law or judgment of the court is noted, unless the failure to except be waived or not insisted on, the only inquiry will be whether the pleadings justify the judgment. Continental Insurance Co. v. Milliken, 64 T. 46. Also see G., C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Fossett, 66 T. 338, 1 S. W. 259; Biggerstaff v. Murphy (Civ. App.) 21 S. W. 773.

When exceptions are taken to the judgment below the appellant is not precluded from attacking the findings of the trial judge, even though exceptions were not taken to the findings. Voight v. Mackle, 71 T. 78, 8 S. W. 623.

Where a statement of facts is made part of the record, exceptions to the judgment are unnecessary. Gillespie v. Crawford (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 621.

A party excepting to a judgment reserves his right to assail the findings of fact as unsupported by the evidence. Smith v. Abadie (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 1077; Brenton & McKay v. Peck, 39 C. A. 224, 87 S. W. 898.

Exceptions to the judgment when rendered held a sufficient exception to the findings of fact and conclusions of law filed after adjournment.. Bond v. Garrison (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 839.

What appears by way of recital in the court's conclusions filed after the adjournment of court cannot be taken as such entry of record of exceptions to the judgment as is required by this article, where appeal is prosecuted on the conclusions of fact and law alone. Gulf States Brick Co. v. Beaumont Rice Mills Co. (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 931.

Exceptions need not be taken to findings of fact where the judgment was excepted to. Supreme Ruling of Fraternal Mystic Circle v. Ericson (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 92.

In view of this article and courts of civil appeals rule 27 (67 S. W. xv), providing that in cases submitted to the judge upon the law and facts the assignments of error shall be governed by the same rules as in other cases, rule 28 (67 S. W. xv), providing that no assignments of error will be allowed in the appellate court where none is filed below, and district and county court rules, rule 101 (67 S. W. xxvii), requiring appellant to file his assignments of error in the trial court as prescribed by statute, and permitting appellee to file cross-assignments with his brief which may be incorporated therein, and need not be copied in the transcript, but that in such case a copy filed in the court of civil appeals shall contain a certificate of the trial court showing that it is a copy of the brief filed, it was held, that where in a trial by the court appellee did not complain below of the findings of fact or conclusions of law, or file cross-assignments of error below, or in his brief on appeal, merely attacking the findings by quoting from the statement of facts, the court of civil appeals cannot review the sufficiency of the evidence to support the findings. Gibbs v. Eastham (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 323.

Under this article and rule 71a (145 S. W. xii), making a motion for a new trial a prerequisite to an appeal unless the error complained of is fundamental, except in cases where the statute does not require such motion, assignments of error were reviewable in a case wherein the court on request filed separate conclusions of fact and law, though no motion for new trial was filed below. American Rio Grande Land & Irrigation Co. v. Mercedes Plantation Co. (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 286.

Art. 1992. [1333] [1333] No submission of special issues unless requested.—A case shall not be submitted to a jury on special issues by the court, unless one or all parties to the suit request such submission. [Id.]

See recital in Acts 1899, pp. 190-191, sec. 2, as to original Art. 1333.

Provision mandatory.—Acts 26th Leg. c. 111, declaring that a case shall not be submitted to a jury on special issues unless one or all of the parties to the suit request such submission, is mandatory, and, in the absence of such a request, it is error for the judge to so submit the case. Texas Baptist University v. Patton (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1063.

Discretion of court.—See notes under Art. 1987.

Judgment notwithstanding verdict.—See notes under Art. 1984.

Requests.—See notes under Art. 1985.

Art. 1993. [1334] [1334] Verdict not void for want of form.—No special form of verdict is required; and where there has been a substantial compliance with the requirements of the law in rendering a verdict, the judgment shall not be arrested or reversed for mere want of form therein. [Act May 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 104. P. D. 1465.]

See Hughes v. Mulanax, 105 T. 576, 153 S. W. 299.

Sufficiency of verdict.—In an action to enjoin collection of a judgment and for damages, a verdict in favor of plaintiff held sufficient. Deleshaw v. Edelen, 31 C. A. 416, 72 S. W. 413.

In an action by two plaintiffs against two defendants, a verdict construed, and held sufficient in view of the statute. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lightfoot, 48 C. A. 120, 106 S. W. 395.

Decisions Relating to Subject in General

Setting aside verdict in general.—See Chapter 17.

Preservation of grounds for review.—An objection not made to the verdict in the lower court will be deemed to have been waived on appeal. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. House, 51 C. A. 603, 113 S. W. 154.

Aider of pleadings.—See notes under Chapter 2.

Foreclosure of lien.—Where a lien was judicial, it was not necessary that it should be foreclosed by a verdict. S. W. Slayden & Co. v. Palmo (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 908.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

JUDGMENTS

Article 1994. [1335] [1335] Judgments how framed.—The judgment of the court shall conform to the pleadings, the nature of the case proved and the verdict, if any, and shall be so framed as to give the party all the relief to which he may be entitled either in law or equity. [Acts May 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 115; May 11, 1846, p. 200, sec. 7. P. D. 1476, 1410.]

Cited, Hughes v. Mulanax, 105 T. 576, 153 S. W. 299; Danner v. Walker-Smith Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 295.

1. Entry of judgment.—A cause that has been submitted for trial to the judge on the law and facts shall be determined and judgment rendered therein during the term at which it has been submitted, and at least two days before the end of the term, if it has been tried and submitted one day before that time, unless it is continued after such submission for trial, by the consent of the parties, placed on the record; and in such event a statement of facts and bills of exception shall be prepared and filed upon a request, in writing, by either party. Rule 66, 84 T. 717. A judgment entered in violation of this rule will be reversed. Camoron v. Thurmond, 56 T. 22.

Where defeated party excepts to judgment, and gives notice of appeal, on motion during following term and consent of parties judgment may be entered nunc pro tunc as of preceding term. Orr v. Wright (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 629.

Where defendant's exceptions to plaintiff's petition were sustained, with no entry dismissing the petition, the court has power later to enter final judgment in favor of plaintiff. Texas Land & Loan Co. v. Winter, 93 T. 560, 57 S. W. 39.

A judgment held not entitled to be entered after the adjournment of the court. Lake v. Hood, 35 C. A. 32, 79 S. W. 323.

Where there was a failure to enter a judgment during the term of its rendition, the court at a subsequent term could enter a judgment nunc pro tunc. Smith v. Wofford (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 143.

Where the court inadvertently failed to enter judgment in favor of a defendant in whose behalf a verdict was directed, it was authorized after appeal to enter a judgment in conformity with the verdict nunc pro tunc. El Paso & N. E. Ry. Co. v. Campbell, 45 C. A. 231, 100 S. W. 170.

A judgment is not void because not entered upon the minutes in term time. Hubbart v. Willis State Bank, 55 C. A. 504, 119 S. W. 711.

The court held to possess inherent power to enter a judgment nunc pro tunc. Trotti v. Kinnear (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 326.

An entry in the judge's docket held to authorize the entry of a judgment nunc pro tunc. Id.

A delay in moving for a nunc pro tunc judgment held not to bar the granting of relief. Id.

Where a judgment is in fact rendered upon the merits, but not entered on the minutes, it may on proper motion be entered nunc pro tunc. Lyon-Taylor Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 605.

The judgment of a court is that which it pronounces; that is, the judicial act by which it declares the decision of the law upon the matter at issue. Coleman v. Zapp, 105 T. 491, 151 S. W. 1040.

The failure to correctly or fully enter a judgment upon the minutes does not annul it, but merely makes its record imperfect. Id.

2. Names of parties.—In a suit on a promissory note payable to the plaintiff as guardian, in which the ward's name is correctly set forth, a variance between the judgment entry, which erroneously gives the initial letter of the ward's middle name, and the petition is immaterial. The allegation of the fiduciary character in which the guardian sues, when the note is made payable to him as guardian, is but a descriptio personæ, which might be omitted altogether without affecting the judgment. Crawford v. Wilcox, 68 T. 109, 3 S. W. 695.

The full names of plaintiffs, suing as partners, should be inserted in the judgment. Wright v. McCampbell, 75 T. 644, 13 S. W. 293.

A judgment in favor of partners without statement of the names of the members of the firm is not void. Perryman v. Rayburn (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 915; Corder v. Steiner, 54 S. W. 277.

A judgment held sufficient, though there was a clerical error in writing plaintiffs' names. Bailey v. Crittenden (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 404.

A judgment in the name of the assignor of a chose in action held proper, where the assignee had so identified himself with the litigation as to be concluded thereby. Cleveland v. Heidenheimer (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 551.

Where judgment on a bond signed with Christian name "Noberto" was entered against "Norberto," there was no variance. Salinas v. State, 39 Cr. R. 319, 45 S. W. 900.

A judgment held erroneous, as including persons not interested in the subject of the litigation. Gillean v. City of Frost, 25 C. A. 371, 61 S. W. 345.

A judgment against a nonresident partnership cannot be sustained where the names of the members of the firm are not given. Perry-Rice Grocery Co. v. Craddock Grocery Co., 34 C. A. 442, 78 S. W. 966.

3. —— Corporations.—A judgment is not invalid because recovered in the name of a bank after it had gone into voluntary liquidation. Shappard v. Cage, 19 C. A. 206, 46 S. W. 839.

Where a corporation had in fact changed its name, but answered in a suit brought against it in the old name, under which it was actually doing business, it cannot on that ground question the validity of a judgment rendered against it in the name under which it was sued. Robbins v. Midkiff, 46 C. A. 272, 102 S. W. 430.

4. Sufficiency and certainty of determination in general.—If the amount of recovery stated in figures in a judgment differs from that stated in writing, but the recitals in the judgment itself show the former to be the true amount, the error is not cause for reversal. Cave v. City of Houston, 65 T. 619.

A final judgment should contain, first, the facts judicially ascertained, with the manner of ascertaining them, entered on record; second, the recorded declaration of the court pronouncing the legal consequences of the facts thus judicially ascertained. A judgment of revivor which simply recites and verifies the rendition of a former judgment, but which does not direct the issuance of execution to enforce the collection of the amount ascertained to be due, is not a final judgment. Fitzgerald v. Evans, 53 T. 461, citing Mayfield v. State, 40 T. 289; Hanks v. Thompson, 5 T. 10; Warren v. Shuman, 5 T. 449; Scott v. Burton, 6 T. 322, 55 Am. Dec. 782; Hancock v. Metz, 7 T. 177; Camp v. Gainer, 8 T. 373; Bullock v. Ballew, 9 T. 498. See Brown v. Hearon, 66 T. 63, 17 S. W. 395, in which it is held that the court may subsequently direct process or make such order as may be necessary to carry its judgment into execution.

A judgment directing land to be sold, the order of sale made thereunder, and sheriff's deed of the land, must contain such description of the land sold as will enable a person familiar with it to identify it from the description given. Allday v. Whitaker, 66 T. 669, 1 S. W. 794.

A judgment against "the defendant," instead of "the defendants," in a suit against two, is not void for uncertainty. Turner v. City of Houston (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 69.

Judgment in an action for money is void when it states no amount of recovery, and nothing in record supplies defect. Bludworth v. Poole, 21 C. A. 551, 53 S. W. 717.

In an action involving a conflict between surveys of state lands, a judgment that plaintiff recover so much of one as is not in conflict with the other is not void for uncertainty, where the surveys can be identified on the ground. Barrow v. Gridley, 25 C. A. 13, 59 S. W. 602, 913.

A judgment that plaintiffs recover 200 acres out of the southwest corner of a 672-acre tract, described by metes and bounds, sufficiently describes a square tract of 200 acres in the southwest corner of the larger tract. Wingo v. Jones (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 916.

A judgment in an action on an account held not void for uncertainty as to the amount recovered. Hill v. Lyles (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 559.

It was also proper to decree the validity of certain of the bonds, without stating the amount of the debt for which they had been pledged. Western Supply & Mfg. Co. v. United States & Mexican Trust Co., 41 C. A. 478, 92 S. W. 986.

In an action to determine the validity of certain railroad bonds and to foreclose a mortgage securing them, the court having found the amount due a certain bondholder, it was not necessary to state the number of bonds he held. Id.

Description of land in a judgment in a suit to quiet title held sufficiently definite to sustain the judgment. Kelly v. Howard (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 379.

An action on a note and to enforce a lien on part of the property securing vendor's lien notes given as collateral held proper, and a judgment therein not void for uncertainty and duplicity. Forty-Acre Spring Live Stock Co. v. West Texas Bank & Trust Co. (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 417.

A judgment in mandamus to compel a street railway to pave its portion of a street held to sufficiently describe the material to be used and the time and manner of doing the work. Denison & S. Ry. Co. v. City of Denison (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 780.

A judgment in favor of one person for title to land and for another for damages, in the same action, is not necessarily inconsistent in itself. Knox v. McElroy (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 1142.

In mandamus to compel the county commissioners' court to canvass the returns of an election held for school trustees, and declare the result, and, upon a finding that no election was legally held, to declare a vacancy in the board of trustees and require the county superintendent to fill it, the decree, by declaring vacancies to exist and directing that they be filled, in effect, decreed that the election was not legally held. Crow v. Fails, 57 C. A. 331, 122 S. W. 933.

Judgment in an action to recover possession of premises for rent due held erroneous for not disposing of all the issues in controversy. First State Bank of Teague v. Harris (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1162.

Where, in a suit to quiet title, a boundary line is the only issue, the judgment should determine and clearly describe such line. Craig v. Mings (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 316.

Insurer in action for recovery of premiums and for damages for breach of its contract held not entitled to complain of the form of the judgment rendered. Washington Life Ins. Co. v. Lovejoy (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 398.

5. —— In trespass to try title.—See notes under Art. 7767.

Where defendant's cross-bill against the obligors of a covenant of warranty is dismissed as being insufficient to show right of recovery, it is improper to provide in the judgment that he take nothing by his suit against the obligors, judgment of dismissal in the cross-action being proper so as not to prevent defendant from subsequently suing on the warranty. McLean v. Moore (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1074.

6. —— In trial of right of property.—See notes under Title 129.

7. —— Attachment and garnishment, judgment in.—See notes under Title 11.

8. —— Attorneys, judgment of disbarment.—See notes under Title 12.

9. —— Partition, decree in.—See notes under Title 101.

10. —— Quo warranto, judgment in.—See notes under Title 114.

11. —— Lost records, judgments supplying.—See notes under Title 117, Chapter 2.

12. —— Curing by remittitur.—See notes under Art. 2013.

13. Conditions.—Where a decree was made rescinding a sale for fraud, held error to order cancellation of a note, given for part of the price, which had been transferred to one who was not a party, or to require the vendor to deliver it for cancellation. Ramirez v. Barton (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 508.

Where two judgments are obtained, one against the main defendant and another against his sureties, the judgment should provide that the proceeds of property which might be returned to the officer should be applied first to the judgment against the sureties. McLeod Artesian Well Co. v. Craig (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 934.

Validity of judgment against county not affected by improperly directing execution against it. Presidio County v. City Nat. Bank, 20 C. A. 511, 44 S. W. 1069.

Judgment enforcing trust for maintenance charged on net income of lands devised for life, remainder to devisee's children, by which children's default is anticipated and provision made for execution and attachment for contempt against them, held erroneous. McCreary v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 682.

Where one defendant had conveyed a farm to his co-defendant by warranty deed, and the title to five-sixths interest therein was adjudged to be in plaintiff, the co-defendant was entitled to a pro tanto judgment against the defendant on his warranty. Branch v. Weiss, 23 C. A. 84, 57 S. W. 901.

Where an action is brought against a principal and sureties, the judgment should be in form a part of the judgment rendered against a principal. Robinson v. Chamberlain, 29 C. A. 170, 68 S. W. 209.

In action for wrongful death, held error for court to take from widow and children each one-half of what the jury allotted to them and award it to their attorneys. Shippers' Compress & Warehouse Co. v. Davidson, 35 C. A. 558, 80 S. W. 1032.

Where a case is established both against the agent of an undisclosed principal and against the principal, plaintiff must elect which of the two he will ask judgment against. Pittsburg Plate Glass Co. v. Roquemore (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 449.

Where, in an action for land sold, defendants sought by cross-action judgment against the plaintiffs only as a condition precedent to plaintiff's recovery of the land, the award of the land to plaintiff unconditionally was equivalent to an express finding against them. Crain v. National Life Ins. Co. of United States, 56 C. A. 406, 120 S. W. 1098.

In mandamus to compel the county commissioners' court to canvass the returns of an election held by school trustees, and declare the result, and, upon a finding that no election was legally held, to declare a vacancy in the board of trustees and required it to be filled, defendants could not complain that the judgment did not expressly declare that the election was not legally held upon decreeing that the vacancy existed and directing that it be filled. Crow v. Fails, 57 C. A. 331, 122 S. W. 933.

In mandamus to compel a county commissioners' court to recognize a school district and require it to canvass the returns and declare the result of an election for school trustee, the judgment, upon decreeing that the district was legally formed, need not further direct the commissioners to perform ministerial duties imposed upon them by statute as to legal school districts. Id.

In mandamus to compel a county commissioners' court to recognize a school district and require it to canvass the returns and declare the result of an election for school trustee held therein, any error in the decree in not directing the commissioners' court to perform any ministerial duty, upon decreeing that the district was legally formed, was not prejudicial to defendant. Id.

In an action by a buyer to recover on account of a judgment obtained against him on notes given for part of the purchase price, on the ground that the engine sold proved to be worthless, judgment in his favor held to properly contain a condition against issuance of execution until proof of satisfaction of the first-mentioned judgment. Southern Gas & Gasoline Engine Co. v. Peveto (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 279.

Where city warrants for current expenses were extinguished by a judgment against the city thereon, a judgment in mandamus ordering payment of the judgment and the levy of a tax therefor need not provide for the cancellation of the warrants. City of San Antonio v. Alamo Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 620.

14. Validity and partial invalidity.—The invalidity of the portion of a judgment in an action for divorce and damages for injuries inflicted by the husband which awards damages does not affect the validity of portion awarding divorce. Sykes v. Speer (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 422.

Parties cannot avail themselves of the part of a judgment which decrees partition, and reject the other part, which vests the title. Owens v. New York & T. Land Co. (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 601.

A judgment, compelling a water company to construct necessary pipes to supply water to consumers, held not objectionable, as the taking of its property without due process of law. International Water Co. v. City of El Paso, 51 C. A. 321, 112 S. W. 816.

Failure to swear the jury, no objection thereto being taken until after verdict and judgment thereon, held an irregularity only, not rendering the judgment an absolute nullity. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Butler, 52 C. A. 323, 114 S. W. 671.

In a stated case, where part of a judgment was invalid, held that the valid portion would not be disturbed on appeal. Burks v. Burks (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 337.

A judgment in an action against the several makers of a note held valid in part, though invalid in part. Twichell v. Askew (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1072.

A judgment awarding defendant a certain attorney's fee, and a larger fee if an appeal was taken, held valid only as to the lesser amount. Cooksey v. Jordan, 104 T. 618, 143 S. W. 141.

15. Construction and operation.—Certificate granted to heirs, and judgment against such heirs and in favor of plaintiffs' predecessor in interest, held to show title to land in plaintiffs. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. De Berry, 34 C. A. 180, 78 S. W. 736.

Where plaintiff asserted an absolute title, and defendant resisted on the ground that, if plaintiff had any interest, it was that of a mortgagee, held, that a judgment for defendant did not establish that plaintiff was a mortgagee. Morris v. Housley (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 846.

By analogy costs incurred in the care and custody of property taken under a distress warrant in a suit by a landlord for rent are to be deemed included in a judgment decreeing that defendant "do have and recover of plaintiff all costs of court." Jackson v. Jernigan (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 271.

Where a plaintiff in a suit to determine the rights to land procures a decree in his favor by fraud on his coplaintiffs having an interest in the land, plaintiff holds the land in trust for the coplaintiffs to the extent of their interest. Clevenger v. Mayfield (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 1062.

A judgment construed, and held a personal judgment against defendants for a specified sum. Sanger Bros. v. Corsicana Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 737.

A final judgment as to costs held not to annul a prior judgment as to costs then accrued. Collins v. Hines (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 359.

A recital in a judgment that all matters of fact, as well as of law, were submitted to the court, is a mere matter of form, and does not impair or strengthen the judgment where there was evidence introduced. Hockwald v. American Surety Co. (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 181; Bernstein v. Same, Id.; Allen v. Same, Id.; Levy v. Same, Id.

A recital in a judgment that defendant appeared in person, if true, held to render immaterial an allegation that defendant's signature attached to a purported acceptance of service was void. Steves v. Smith, 49 C. A. 126, 107 S. W. 141.

In view of the petition and judgment in an action against a partnership in the name of an individual, the adjudication held against the defendants in the firm name and not as individuals. House v. Wells (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 114.

Where a judgment is ambiguous as to the identity of defendant, it must be read in connection with the entire record, including the citation and pleadings. Easterwood v. Burnitt (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 934; Davie v. Green, 132 S. W. 874.

Judgment construed and held not a judgment by default. Todd v. State (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 761.

Judgments should be construed with the pleadings. Richardson v. Trout (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 677.

A provision of a judgment as to costs construed. Lumpkin v. Woods (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1139.

Where a judgment provided for judgment over in favor of a party secondarily liable, for all sums he might be required to pay in satisfaction of the judgment, he was entitled to recover from the persons primarily liable for payments made on the judgment, including payments for costs. Allen v. Brown (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 1165.

Recitals of judgment held immaterial to establish grants under which defendants claimed public free school land, where such recitals were not material to the issues of the case in which the judgment was rendered. Hamilton v. State (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1117.

Assessment of costs by the court against "said defendant," previously described as "comptroller of public accounts of the state," evidences an intention to assess them against the officer, and not the individual. Lane v. Hewgley (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 911.

A judgment, in an action on a note, secured by a chattel mortgage, and to foreclose the mortgage, rendered for plaintiff for the amount of the note, involved a specific finding that the note secured was for a valid indebtedness and that no fraud was proved as to the indebtedness. Hudson v. Childree (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1154.

16. Assignee, right to personal judgment.—Assignee of claims may obtain personal judgment against owner. House v. Schulze, 21 C. A. 243, 52 S. W. 654.

17. —— Equitable relief against assignor.—Equity may grant relief against actual fraud in procuring the assignment of a judgment where party did not rely upon the statements of the defendant. Texas Elevator & Compress Co. v. Mitchell, 28 S. W. 45, 7 C. A. 222.

18. Service of process.—A personal judgment cannot be rendered against a defendant residing in another state by service of process in such state. Maddox v. Craig, 80 T. 600, 16 S. W. 328; Kimmarle v. Railway Co., 76 T. 686, 12 S. W. 698; York v. State, 73 T. 651, 11 S. W. 869; Porter v. Hill County (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 383.

One who has not been cited, or who has not made himself a party, is not bound by a judgment, save in proceedings on statutory bonds. Williams v. Warren, 82 T. 319, 18 S. W. 560.

Neither the original petition nor citation thereunder set out the given names of the infant defendants, though the petition alleged their residence in the county. This defect was supplied by the amended petition, but no citation was issued or service had under it. Held, that judgment by default was erroneous. Carlton v. Miller, 21 S. W. 697, 2 C. A. 619.

Where a judgment confessed showed service of citation waived, the absence of an affidavit by plaintiff to the justness of his claim did not invalidate the judgment. Smith v. Ridley, 30 C. A. 158, 70 S. W. 235.

"Judgment in rem" defined. Galveston Chamber of Commerce v. Railroad Commission of Texas (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 737.

A judgment of a foreign court held in personam and without force because rendered on constructive service. Banco Minero v. Ross & Masterson (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 224.

A return on a citation held sufficient to support a judgment against defendant. Miller v. Gaar-Scott & Co. (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1053.

19. Death of party in interest as affecting validity of judgment.—A judgment subsequent to the death of a party duly cited is valid until set aside. Best v. Nix, 25 S. W. 130, 6 C. A. 349.

Judgment in action against one dead when suit is brought held void. M. T. Jones Lumber Co. v. Rhoades, 17 C. A. 665, 41 S. W. 102.

Proof that a minor had attained his majority and was dead at the date of a judgment in a proceeding against his guardian held not to affect the judgment. Logan v. Robertson (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 395.

20. Collateral attack, in general.—County court in probate matters, see notes under Art. 3206.

A judgment erroneous for want of issues by the pleadings will be corrected on appeal, but it is not void. The extent of a decree, within the jurisdiction of the court rendering it, will be determined by its terms alone, and it cannot be restricted in a collateral attack by the pleadings, nor can the preliminary proceedings be examined to extend or enlarge its meaning. Weathered v. Mays, 4 T. 388; Tadlock v. Eccles, 20 T. 791, 73 Am. Dec. 213; Withers v. Patterson, 27 T. 491, 86 Am. Dec. 643; Vogelsang v. Dougherty, 46 T. 472; Taylor v. Snow, 47 T. 465, 26 Am. Rep. 311; Guilford v. Love, 49 T. 740; Kendall v. Mather, 48 T. 598; Williamson v. Wright, 1 U. C. 711.

A judgment rendered by a court of general jurisdiction is presumed to be valid when attacked collaterally. Guilford v. Love, 49 T. 715; Martin v. Burns, 80 T. 677, 16 S. W. 1072.

A void judgment is one so utterly null within itself that it is not susceptible of ratification or confirmation, and its nullity cannot be waived. Such is the judgment of a court having no jurisdiction over the subject-matter adjudicated. A voidable judgment is one rendered by a court having jurisdiction, but which is irregularly and erroneously rendered. Such a judgment is valid until vacated by a direct proceeding instituted for that purpose, or until reversed on appeal or writ of error; it becomes valid by failure within the proper time to have it annulled, or by subsequent ratification or confirmation. Murchison v. White, 54 T. 78; Wheeler v. Ahrenbeak, 54 T. 535; Buchanan v. Bilger, 64 T. 589. When in a collateral proceeding a record offered in evidence shows that a court rendering judgment had no jurisdiction of the subject-matter or of the person, in a case where this was required, or that the jurisdiction had not attached in the particular case, the judgment should be excluded, its nullity being apparent from the record. In all other cases when a judgment is attacked for fraud or other matters dehors the record, it must be done in some direct proceeding instituted for that purpose and within the period prescribed by law. Murchison v. White, 54 T. 78; Wheeler v. Ahrenbeak, 54 T. 535; Odle v. Frost, 59 T. 684; Gillenwaters v. Scott, 62 T. 670.

A proceeding to vacate a judgment and set aside a sale of land thereunder must be instituted in the court in which the judgment was rendered (Buchanan v. Bilger, 64 T. 589); but if the judgment is a nullity it may be attacked collaterally in any court. Bender v. Damon, 72 T. 92, 9 S. W. 747.

A judgment is always admissible to prove the fact that it was rendered, and the legal consequences which result from that fact, even as against strangers to it. When offered for a collateral purpose to prove some fact upon which the judgment is founded, it is not admissible as against strangers unless it is a judgment in rem. McCamant v. Roberts, 66 T. 260, 1 S. W. 260.

A domestic judgment of a court of general jurisdiction upon a subject-matter within the ordinary scope of its power is entitled to such absolute verity that in a collateral action, even where the record is silent as to notice, the presumption, when not contradicted by the record itself, that the court had jurisdiction of the person also, is so conclusive that evidence aliunde will not be admitted to contradict it. Wilkerson v. Schoonmaker, 77 T. 615, 14 S. W. 223, 19 Am. St. Rep. 803; Letney v. Marshall, 79 T. 513, 15 S. W. 586; Martin v. Burns, 80 T. 676, 16 S. W. 1072; Williams v. Haynes, 77 T. 283, 13 S. W. 1029, 19 Am. St. Rep. 752.

When a court has acquired jurisdiction of the subject-matter of a suit and of the person of the defendant, the judgment is not subject to collateral attack for errors of law apparent upon the face of the record. Bordages v. Higgins, 1 C. A. 43, 19 S. W. 446, 20 S. W. 184, 726.

Parol evidence is not admissible on defendant's plea of res adjudicata to contradict the record and substitute opinion of witnesses as to meaning and effect of pleadings in former case. McGrady v. Monks, 20 S. W. 959, 1 C. A. 611. Simply because he seeks another relief a party is not entitled to another trial of an issue adjudicated on a previous suit. Id.

The judgment of the court in trying an issue on an original answer, instead of an amended original answer then on file, is not subject to collateral attack in a different suit. Id.

Judgment of the commissioners' court laying out a road is not subject to collateral attack, since a right of appeal exists. Vogt v. Bexar County, 16 C. A. 567, 42 S. W. 127.

A default judgment cannot be set aside for error in taking the default by collateral attack. Thorp v. Gordon (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 323.

A petition attacking a judgment for want of service held good on demurrer. Graham v. East Texas Land & Improvement Co. (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 579.

Where a petition alleged facts which showed that a judgment rendered in another action was void, it was error to sustain a demurrer thereto as a collateral attack on the judgment of another court. Moore v. Perry (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 120.

Judgment and execution subjecting property to sale held not open to collateral attack. Loan & Deposit Co. of America v. Campbell, 27 C. A. 52, 65 S. W. 65.

The fact that no statement of the evidence was filed by the judge in the cause, and that no attorney was appointed to represent the defendant in a case where service was obtained by publication, cannot be taken advantage of in a collateral attack upon the judgment. Both of these requirements relate to the mode of trial and affect the procedure only. A failure to comply with either is available on appeal, but not in any other proceeding. Crosby v. Bonnowsky, 95 T. 449, 68 S. W. 47; Id., 29 C. A. 455, 69 S. W. 213.

Where a petition in condemnation proceedings is sufficient as against a general demurrer, the jurisdiction of the condemnation tribunal is thereby invoked, and its judgment is valid and binding, unless set aside on appeal therefrom. Johnston v. O'Rourke & Co. (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 501.

Where plaintiff's petition fails to show an amount sufficient to bring the action within the jurisdiction of the district court, the judgment of that court for plaintiff is fatally erroneous. Moore v. Snell (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 270.

A voidable judgment is not subject to collateral attack. Barrett v. McKinney (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 240.

A void judgment held subject to attack at any time and place. Lutcher v. Allen, 43 C. A. 102, 95 S. W. 572.

The validity of a judgment does not depend on its correctness. Menard v. McDonald, 52 C. A. 627, 115 S. W. 63.

A valid judgment is binding upon the parties thereto until set aside by a direct proceeding for that purpose. Kruegel v. Rawlins (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 216.

Where a divorce was attacked on the ground that it appeared that defendant's waiver of citation was signed by him three days prior to the date when the suit was filed, it must be presumed in a collateral attack on the decree, in the absence of anything to the contrary in support of the judgment, that the citation was filed by defendant, or under his authority, after the suit had been instituted. Douglas v. State, 58 Cr. R. 122, 124 S. W. 933, 137 Am. St. Rep. 930.

A divorce decree, after remarriage of the party securing the divorce, cannot be collaterally attacked, unless the record affirmatively shows lack of jurisdiction. Id.

Upon collateral attack of a judgment, every question that could have been determined in the case is presumed to have been correctly determined. Scales v. Wren, 103 T. 304, 127 S. W. 164.

21. —— Invalidity in general.—A judgment against a corporation cannot be collaterally attacked on the ground that when it was rendered the corporation had ceased to do business and transferred its property to a trustee for the benefit of creditors. Temple v. Branch Saw Co., 39 C. A. 606, 88 S. W. 442.

An assessment for taxes will be presumed to have been made in aid of a judgment for the sale of land therefor, when collaterally called into question. Kenson v. Gage, 34 C. A. 547, 79 S. W. 605.

A judgment for delinquent state and county taxes held not wholly invalid because it contains improper provisions, and hence not subject to collateral attack. Gibbs v. Scales, 54 C. A. 96, 118 S. W. 188.

A judgment held not open to collateral attack on the ground that the subject-matter of the action in which it was rendered was res judicata. Beaty v. Thos. Goggan & Bro. (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 631.

A judgment for costs awarded in another action cannot be collaterally attacked on the ground that the costs had been in fact paid in an action to set aside a sale under an execution issued on such judgment. Guy v. Edmundson (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 615.

A valid judgment cannot be collaterally attacked by evidence tending to disprove that such judgment was rendered. Minchew v. Case (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 366.

22. —— Want of jurisdiction.—County court in probate matters, see notes under Art. 3206.

Proceedings in the probate court are not subject to collateral attack on the ground of want of jurisdiction, unless it sufficiently appears from the record itself that its jurisdiction did not attach in the particular case. The question must be tried by the recitals of the record itself and presumptions arising therefrom. Mills v. Herndon, 60 T. 353; Id., 77 T. 89, 13 S. W. 854; Weems v. Masterton, 80 T. 45, 15 S. W. 590.

In a suit upon a judgment rendered in another state, the record of such judgment may be contradicted as to jurisdictional facts, notwithstanding it may be recited that they exist. Chunn v. Gray, 51 T. 112; Redus v. Burnett, 59 T. 576.

Judgment by default against a non-resident cannot be attacked collaterally because the record does not affirmatively show compliance with the statute providing for publication of citation to defendant—the presumption obtains in favor of the compliance. Buse v. Bartlett, 21 S. W. 52, 1 C. A. 335.

On collateral attack on judgment, it will be held that citation was duly served; there being nothing to show want of service, and the judgment reciting service. Mills v. Terry, 22 C. A. 277, 54 S. W. 780.

A domestic court of general jurisdiction will be conclusively presumed, on collateral attack, to have had jurisdiction of the person of defendant, in the absence of record proof to the contrary. Iiams v. Root, 22 C. A. 413, 55 S. W. 411.

Recitations of judgment as to service of process held conclusive in collateral attack, though amended pleading was filed. Galloway v. State Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 236.

A judgment by default of the county court on notes and mortgage was inadmissible in evidence in an action for trespass to try title by the plaintiff in the former suit, where the court was without jurisdiction, the amount in controversy being more than $1,000. French v. McCready (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 894.

Where a judgment recited that both parties announced, "Ready for trial," and there was no evidence to show that defendant had not been served with citation, such judgment would not be set aside as to the defendant on the ground that he had not been cited to appear. East Texas Land & Improvement Co. v. Graham, 24 C. A. 521, 60 S. W. 472.

The objection that a decree of divorce is void because the parties thereto were not residents of the state when the divorce was granted cannot be raised to defeat the confirmation of the report of commissioners in a suit by the wife to partition community property. Moor v. Moor (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 347.

Defendants held precluded from attacking for lack of jurisdiction a judgment under which plaintiffs claimed title. Barrett v. Eastham, 28 C. A. 189, 67 S. W. 198.

Where the record of a tax suit shows fatally insufficient service, and fails to show that the court found that it had jurisdiction, the judgment is subject to collateral attack on ground that the court had no jurisdiction. Earnest v. Glaser, 32 C. A. 378, 74 S. W. 605.

Judgment in tax suit which does not recite service can be collaterally attacked for invalidity of citation. Babcock v. Wolffarth, 35 C. A. 512, 80 S. W. 642.

The omission of the seal of the court from a citation is ground only for a direct attack on a judgment, and in an action of debt on such judgment the objection is not available. Newman v. Mackey, 37 C. A. 85, 83 S. W. 31.

A judgment cannot be attacked collaterally, unless it affirmatively appears that the facts essential to the jurisdiction of the court did not exist. State v. Cloudt (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 415.

Where a judgment on a cross-bill showed that it was rendered without service, it was subject to collateral attack. Bryson & Hartgrove v. Boyce, 41 C. A. 415, 92 S. W. 820.

A decree of divorce may be collaterally attacked by showing that the court which rendered it was without jurisdiction. Stuart v. Cole, 42 C. A. 478, 92 S. W. 1040.

A judgment in partition rendered by a court of competent jurisdiction is not subject to collateral attack by evidence dehors the record. Davis v. Ragland, 42 C. A. 400, 93 S. W. 1099.

A judgment reciting service of citation without identifying the precise writ on which the court acted is not subject to collateral attack for lack of proper service. Gibbs v. Scales, 54 C. A. 96, 118 S. W. 188.

A judgment of a court of general jurisdiction cannot be collaterally attacked for insufficient notice to defendant, unless want of notice appears on the face of the judgment or in the record in the case. Carr v. Miller (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 1158.

On collateral attack on a divorce decree because citation was signed before the suit was filed, it would be presumed that the waiver was filed by him after the suit was instituted. Douglas v. State, 58 Cr. R. 122, 124 S. W. 933, 137 Am. St. Rep. 930.

A judgment regular on its face, rendered by a domestic court of general jurisdiction, held not subject to collateral attack. Farmer v. Saunders (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 941.

A judgment held voidable only, and not subject to collateral attack. Holt v. Love (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 857.

If a judgment recites nothing concerning service on defendant, the whole record may be looked to to determine whether sufficient service was had. Cain v. Hopkins (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 834.

On a collateral attack of a judgment for failure to make proper service by publication, the court cannot look beyond the record in the prior case to determine whether the law was complied with. Hopkins v. Cain, 105 T. 591, 143 S. W. 1145.

A judgment of a domestic court of general jurisdiction can be attacked collaterally only where the record affirmatively shows lack of jurisdiction. Oliver v. Bordner (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 656.

Where the defects in the service of process do not deprive the court of jurisdiction, and the judgment is voidable only, the judgment cannot be collaterally attacked. Batjer v. Roberts (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 841.

23. —— Rights of parties or third persons to impeach judgment.—The judgment of a court, based on the agreement of a guardian appointed by the court, is not subject to collateral attack by the minor. Ivey v. Harrel, 1 C. A. 226, 20 S. W. 775.

A judgment against a feme covert cannot be assailed collaterally on that ground. Carson v. Taylor, 19 C. A. 177, 47 S. W. 395.

Persons claiming land under an assignee for creditors cannot collaterally assail a judgment rendered against the assignee subjecting the land to a creditor's claim. Gonzales v. Batts, 20 C. A. 421, 50 S. W. 403.

A judgment for taxes against the "unknown heirs" of a former owner, being void as to the owner under grant from the deceased, he may collaterally attack such judgment. Green v. Robertson, 30 C. A. 236, 70 S. W. 345.

Judgment in foreclosure held not subject to collateral attack by parties thereto. Henry v. Thomas (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 599.

A judgment rendered against a party after his death held not open to collateral attack by his heirs. Campbell v. Upson (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 358.

An assignee for the benefit of creditors and the surety on his bond held both precluded from collateral attack on an order directing the assignee to turn over assets to a receiver. American Bonding Co. v. Williams (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 652.

24. —— Effect of recitals in record or judgment.—A judgment which contains recitals declaring service of citation on the defendant cannot be attacked in a collateral proceeding by showing that no legal service was in fact made. Davis v. Robinson, 70 T. 394, 7 S. W. 749.

If the judgment recites a valid citation and service, that controls the balance of the record; otherwise if it recites an invalid citation or names the precise character thereof. If the judgment is silent as to service the whole record may be examined. This obtains in judgments of courts of general jurisdiction. Martin v. Burns, 80 T. 676, 16 S. W. 1072.

A judgment in an action of trespass to try title based on service by publication cannot be collaterally attacked on account of defective service of citation, where the judgment recites that proper service had been made by publication on defendants. Sloan v. Thompson, 4 C. A. 419, 23 S. W. 613.

The recital of valid notice controls the record; if the notice is referred to and identified and is invalid, the judgment is void although due notice is recited. Hambel v. Davis (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 251.

A recital of due and legal service in the judgment is conclusive in a collateral attack. Moore v. Perry, 13 C. A. 204, 35 S. W. 838.

Recitals in a judgment that certain proof had been made, held conclusive on collateral attack. Parlin & Orendorff Co. v. Cantrell (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 415.

Recitals in judgment that an attachment had been levied on the land described therein held conclusive in collateral attack. Glasscock v. Price (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 415.

The recitals of a judgment which is void for want of jurisdiction in the court which rendered it cannot be looked to for any purpose. State v. Ortiz, 99 T. 475, 90 S. W. 1084.

A judgment by default, reciting service on defendant, rendered by a court of competent jurisdiction, cannot be attacked in a collateral proceeding by showing that there was no service. Bomar v. Morris (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 663.

25. —— Errors and irregularities.—A judgment against a minor, who is sued by the wrong name, otherwise regular, cannot be attacked collaterally by him. McGhee v. Romatka, 92 T. 38, 45 S. W. 552.

A judgment setting aside certain judgments foreclosing a tax lien, etc., is conclusive, and the question whether they are properly set aside cannot be considered in an action by the taxpayer for damages resulting from the sale of his property. City of Houston v. Walsh, 27 C. A. 121, 66 S. W. 106.

A judgment rendered for more than was asked by the petition held not subject to collateral attack. Campbell v. Upson (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 358.

The irregularity in a judgment in a suit to revive and correct a dormant judgment arising from the fact that it attempts to correct the original judgment cannot be questioned in a collateral proceeding. Taylor v. Doom, 43 C. A. 59, 95 S. W. 4.

26. —— Fraud or perjury.—A judgment is not subject to collateral attack on the sole ground of fraud, the jurisdictional facts appearing. Shirley v. Warfield, 12 C. A. 449, 34 S. W. 390.

A judgment is none the less res judicata because of evidence of perjury in the action in which it was rendered. Maddox v. Summerlin (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 1020.

A judgment cannot be impeached in another court because obtained by false swearing. Maddox v. Summerlin, 92 T. 483, 49 S. W. 1033, 50 S. W. 567.

Plaintiff, in an action of trespass to try title to land purchased at an execution sale, held to be entitled to show that a judgment against the execution debtor, declaring a trust in such land in favor of his son, was collusive. Bonner v. Ogilvie, 24 C. A. 237, 58 S. W. 1027.

Relief cannot be obtained in a collateral proceeding against a decree of divorce procured by perjury, but it must be canceled by a proceeding in equity. Moor v. Moor (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 347.

The fact that a husband was induced to participate with the wife in obtaining a fraudulent divorce by making a settlement of their property rights, which she afterwards refused to abide by, will not enable him to attack the decree for fraud, in a suit by her to partition community property. Id.

Where a husband employs attorneys to procure a divorce for his wife, though both parties are nonresidents, such collusion in procuring a divorce in fraud of the court will prevent the husband from attacking the validity of the divorce in a suit by the wife to partition the community property. Id.

Where a nonresident defendant was served by publication, the fact that he was prevented by a secret arrangement between an attorney appointed for him by the court and the plaintiff from presenting a defense held to present no ground for a collateral attack on a judgment in favor of plaintiff. Irion v. Bexar County, 26 C. A. 527, 63 S. W. 550.

A judgment of a district court of one county in a foreclosure held not subject to attack for fraud in a district court of another county. W. C. Belcher Land Mortg. Co. v. Bush (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 444.

Persons suing to recover land held entitled in the same suit to attack certain judgments in partition for fraud and irregularity. Schneider v. Sellers (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 126.

A judgment which is not void cannot be attacked in a subsequent suit on the ground that the action was fraudulently instituted. Rankin v. Hooks (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 1005.

27. —— Foreign judgment.—It is well settled that a judgment of divorce granted in another state or territory can be collaterally attacked by showing that the court which granted it was without jurisdiction. Such divorce, where neither of the parties reside in the state granting it, is an absolute nullity. Morgan v. Morgan, 1 C. A. 315, 21 S. W. 154.

Judgments of federal courts are not domestic judgments, in the sense that it cannot be shown on collateral attack that the court failed to acquire jurisdiction over defendant's person; and the fact that he was a resident of the state does not change the rule. League v. Scott, 25 C. A. 318, 61 S. W. 521.

The rule that a judgment, reciting service of process on defendant, cannot be collaterally attacked, does not apply to a foreign judgment, which may be collaterally attacked for any defect showing lack of jurisdiction, and a federal court judgment is in such a sense a foreign judgment. Batjer v. Roberts (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 841.

Process in a federal court to foreclose a mortgage was not served on defendant until after return day. A motion for a decree pro confesso was heard several months thereafter. Final judgment was subsequently entered. Held not subject to collateral attack. Id.

28. —— What is collateral attack.—See, also, notes under Art. 3206.

Trespass to try title to land appropriated for a public road held a direct, and not a collateral, attack on the decree opening the road. Fayssoux v. Kendall County (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 583.

In trespass to try title, a cross-bill, seeking to set aside a judgment under which tax sale was had, held a collateral attack on that judgment, so that evidence that, on foreclosure of the tax lien, no evidence of the levy of the tax was heard, was properly excluded. Simpson v. Huff (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 49.

In trespass to try title by one whose title depended on a judgment in favor of the state for delinquent taxes, an answer seeking to set aside the sale under the judgment held not a direct attack. Ryon v. Davis, 32 C. A. 500, 75 S. W. 59.

An objection that a judgment under which land had been sold was obtained by fraud, made in an action of trespass to try title, held a collateral attack on the judgment. Scudder v. Cox, 35 C. A. 416, 80 S. W. 872.

An objection that an administrator's deed, under order of court, was void for failure to conform to the bond for title, held a collateral attack on the judgment directing execution of the deed, and unsustainable. Dutton & Rutherford v. Wright & Vaughn, 38 C. A. 372, 85 S. W. 1025.

A suit to set aside a default judgment held a direct, and not a collateral, attack thereon. Le Master v. Dalhart Real Estate Agency, 56 C. A. 302, 121 S. W. 185.

A petition held not a collateral attack on a judgment in partition. Holt v. Love (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 857.

29. Conclusiveness of judgment, in general.—A judgment competent to establish a plea of res adjudicata cannot be defeated for that purpose by a writ of error prosecuted for its review. Thompson v. Griffin, 69 T. 139, 6 S. W. 410.

Where the record discloses that the former judgment was not rendered in whole or in part upon the cause of action asserted in the second suit, such judgment is not a bar, though the subject of the second suit might have been litigated in the first suit. Pishaway v. Runnels, 71 T. 352, 9 S. W. 260.

A former judgment is conclusive only of such matters as were essential to be determined before the judgment could be rendered. It is not conclusive as to collateral issues, or matters inferred from it. James v. James, 81 T. 373, 16 S. W. 1087.

The rule as to res adjudicata requires that the controversy must be the same in both suits and that the matter in issue must have been directly and not collaterally or inferentially decided. Faires v. McLennan (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 365.

As to the issue of res adjudicata, see Cook v. Carroll L. & C. Co., 25 S. W. 1034, 6 C. A. 326; Railway Co. v. Jackson, 85 T. 605, 22 S. W. 1030; Thompson v. Griffin, 69 T. 142, 6 S. W. 410; Westmoreland v. Richardson, 2 C. A. 175, 21 S. W. 167; Railway Co. v. Day, 3 C. A. 353, 22 S. W. 538; Cromwell v. Sac Co., 94 U. S. 351, 24 L. Ed. 195.

Judgment of district court, showing on its face an appearance and answer by defendant, is conclusive in subsequent action in courts of this state. Cooper v. Mayfield (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 48.

A judgment is not a bar to another action against different defendants and involving different issues. Oaks v. West (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 1033.

Judgment held not res judicata. Walsh v. Ford, 27 C. A. 573, 66 S. W. 854.

Where plaintiffs, after judgment, seek to restrain a defendant who had no notice of the suit from interfering with the premises, they cannot defeat his motion to set aside the judgment on the ground that he was seeking the same rights in the injunction suit. Dallas Oil & Refining Co. v. Portwood (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 1017.

Where, in a suit to restrain a levy of execution, plaintiff sets up the facts relied on in the action in which the judgment was obtained, the former judgment is a bar. Fricke v. Wood, 31 C. A. 167, 71 S. W. 784.

Where an issue is settled against a party in litigation, it is res judicata in a subsequent suit involving the same issue between the parties and their privies in estate. Delaney v. West (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 275.

A valid judgment closes all inquiry as to the grounds upon which it was rendered. Love v. McGill, 41 C. A. 471, 91 S. W. 246.

A prior judgment involving the same issues is conclusive against the parties of record who were represented by counsel. Haines v. West (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 436.

The fact that a judgment pleaded as res judicata of the rights of a party to a suit is an agreed judgment does not make it the less conclusive. Robbins v. Hubbard (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 773.

Two efforts were made to establish a claim by suits in a court of competent jurisdiction. In the first suit a demurrer was sustained and judgment of dismissal rendered, from which no appeal was taken. In the second suit judgment was rendered against plaintiffs on the merits on the same issues and no appeal taken. Held, that the judgment was res judicata. Kruegel v. Daniels, 50 C. A. 215, 109 S. W. 1108.

The question whether a particular issue was decided in the cause in which a judgment was rendered held to arise where it is claimed that a party to the second action is estopped on a question common to both actions and which was decided in the first. Hermann v. Allen, 103 T. 382, 128 S. W. 115.

The four requisites essential to make a question res judicata, stated. Lane v. Kuehn (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 363.

A final judgment is a bar to a subsequent action only upon the grounds of res judicata and estoppel. Middleton v. Nibling (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 968.

A final judgment by a court having jurisdiction binds the parties, and bars subsequent action between the same parties on the material issues involved and determined. Grayson County Nat. Bank v. Wandelohr, 105 T. 226, 146 S. W. 1186.

Recitals in a judgment held to show only an abandonment by defendant, and not an agreed judgment between himself and an intervener, so as to be binding only upon them as parties to the agreement. Gabb v. Boston (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 569.

30. —— Objections.—An objection that a decree in a former suit is not conclusive because it did not dispose of one of the issues in the suit must be made in the lower court. Jones v. Lee (Civ. App.) 20 S. W. 863.

31. —— Jurisdiction.—A judgment dismissing a cause for want of jurisdiction of the amount involved is not an adjudication on the merits, and will not bar a new suit, or prevent an amendment showing the amount to be within the jurisdiction of the court. Jecker v. Phytides, 27 C. A. 410, 65 S. W. 1129; Adoue v. Wettermark, 28 C. A. 593, 68 S. W. 553.

A judgment rendered by a tribunal unknown to the law estops no one. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Vance (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 696.

32. —— Dismissal or nonsuit.—A judgment to have the authority or even the name of res adjudicata must be a definitive judgment of condemnation or dismissal by the court upon the merits of the case. A voluntary nonsuit avoids the effect of any interlocutory orders in the case. Scherff v. Railway Co., 81 T. 471, 17 S. W. 39, 26 Am. St. Rep. 828.

A judgment of nonsuit does not bar a subsequent action on the same cause. Foster v. Wells, 4 T. 101; Brainerd v. Bute (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 575; Keller v. J. M. Radford Grocery Co., 127 S. W. 888.

Judgment dismissing action for want of prosecution is not res judicata. Worst v. Sgitcovich (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 72; Goodrich v. Wallis, 129 S. W. 878.

A defendant and intervener held, under the statute, entitled to a judgment against plaintiff for affirmative relief, though plaintiff had taken a nonsuit. Long v. Behan, 19 C. A. 325, 48 S. W. 555.

Judgment recited, and held not to be a final judgment of dismissal. Jecker v. Phytides, 27 C. A. 410, 65 S. W. 1129.

A judgment quashing a claimant's bond on execution and dismissing a suit is conclusive of the claimant's right to recover the property. Kempner v. First Nat. Bank, 44 C. A. 500, 99 S. W. 112.

A voluntary dismissal by plaintiff appealing from a justice's judgment in favor of defendant held not to restore the justice's judgment, and it cannot operate as a bar to a subsequent action. Harter v. Curry, 101 T. 187, 105 S. W. 988.

33. —— Judgment by default.—A plain money judgment by default against garnishee held not res judicata in an action by him, as assignee for creditors, to recover the value of the goods seized in the direct attachment suit. Schneider-Davis Co. v. Brown (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 108.

Default judgment against a wife's property in an action to which her husband was alone a party does not estop her or her heirs from claiming title against purchaser under the judgment. Wilson v. Johnson, 94 T. 272, 60 S. W. 242.

Matters decided on a default judgment held conclusive in a subsequent suit. Keller v. J. M. Radford Grocery Co. (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 888.

34. —— Finality of judgment.—A judgment requiring parties to deposit deeds in court pursuant to an agreement of compromise between them which they submitted as a basis for the judgment held not a final judgment to render available a plea of former adjudication. McAnally v. Haynie, 17 C. A. 521, 42 S. W. 1049.

A judgment against one member of a firm sued on firm indorsement of note is final as to him. Jameson v. Smith, 19 C. A. 90, 46 S. W. 864.

A judgment held not a final judgment, and not available as a plea of res judicata. Howth v. Greer, 40 C. A. 552, 90 S. W. 211.

Where a former judgment between the parties of the present action did not dispose of all of the issues raised or all of the parties to the suit, it does not preclude another judgment on the merits. Quinn v. Dickinson (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 993.

A judgment that sureties on a replevy bond go hence without day, on the theory that they were discharged by the discharge of one of the principals, held final. Grayson County Nat. Bank v. Wandelohr, 105 T. 226, 146 S. W. 1186.

35. —— Judgment on demurrer or exceptions.—A judgment against a plaintiff on refusal to amend his petition after exceptions sustained is not an adjudication of a cause of action stated therein as to which exceptions were overruled. Jackson v. Finlay (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 427.

A judgment entered on the overruling of a demurrer is conclusive in favor of the party against whom the demurrer was interposed, of the material facts confessed thereby, and that they entitle him to the relief given. Cameron v. Hinton (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 24.

Where a ruling on demurrer is carried into the final judgment, held that, on proof of the facts held by the court on demurrer to be sufficiently pleaded, the doctrine of res judicata applies. Cameron v. Hinton (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 616.

On sustaining a plea that the amount claimed was fraudulently overstated to confer jurisdiction, the judgment should be one of dismissal, and not on the merits. Strickland v. Sloan (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 622.

On sustaining defendant's exceptions to plaintiff's petition, as plaintiff has a right to amend, it does not necessarily follow that the action should be dismissed. Texas Land & Loan Co. v. Winter, 93 T. 560, 57 S. W. 39.

A judgment sustaining a general demurrer is res adjudicata. Kempner v. First Nat. Bank, 44 C. A. 500, 99 S. W. 112; Carpenter v. Landry, 45 C. A. 506, 101 S. W. 277.

A judgment against a plaintiff on refusal to amend his petition, after demurrer sustained, is not an adjudication on the merits of a cause of action stated therein as to which the demurrer was overruled and will not bar another action thereon. Goodrich v. Wallis (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 878.

A judgment sustaining a demurrer and dismissing the case is as conclusive as a judgment on the merits. Jefferson v. Scott (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 705.

36. —— Judgment on plea in abatement.—Certain objections to the bringing in of a new party defendant in an action for breach of contract held to be special exceptions to the joinder of the parties, and not pleas in abatement a ruling on which was not conclusive on an amendment petition filed later. Hartford Fire Ins. Co. v. City of Houston (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 973.

37. —— Pendency of appeal.—A judgment in a suit pending in an appellate court, supersedeas bond being filed, cannot be pleaded as res adjudicata. Maxwell v. National Bank (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 848; Railway Co. v. Jackson, 85 T. 607, 22 S. W. 1030.

A judgment pending on appeal or error is not res adjudicata. Cunningham v. Holt, 12 C. A. 150, 33 S. W. 981; Buckner v. Lancaster (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 631.

38. —— Vacation of judgment.—Where an action to determine the title to an office is dismissed on appeal on account of the expiration of the term of such office, such dismissal operates as a vacation of the judgment below, and such judgment is not res judicata on the question of salary. McWhorter v. Northcut, 94 T. 86, 58 S. W. 720.

A judgment of the trial court reversed as to the one appealing, but undisturbed as to his coplaintiffs, held res judicata as to the coplaintiffs. Stipe v. Shirley, 33 C. A. 223, 76 S. W. 307.

A judgment perpetuating an injunction reversed on appeal held not res judicata against a claim for damages because of the wrongful suing out of the injunction. Hermann v. Allen (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 794.

39. —— Foreign judgments.—A judgment of another state, decreeing specific performance, is conclusive of the fact that the conditions of the contract resting on the obligee had been complied with by him. Morris v. Hand, 70 T. 481, 8 S. W. 210.

If the court had jurisdiction over the person of the defendant, a foreign judgment imports absolute verity, and precludes all further examination, whether as to the form and manner of the service or of the rate of interest allowed in such judgment. Hall v. Mackay, 78 T. 248, 14 S. W. 615.

40. Persons concluded.—Married women and minors, parties to suits, are bound by judgments to the same extent as other parties. Lee v. Kingsbury, 13 T. 68, 62 Am. Dec. 546; Cayce v. Powell, 20 T. 771, 73 Am. Dec. 211; Laird v. Thomas, 22 T. 281; Baxter v. Dear, 24 T. 17, 76 Am. Dec. 89; Morris v. Turner, 5 C. A. 708, 24 S. W. 959; Webb v. Mallard, 27 T. 85; Ryan v. Maxey, 43 T. 192; Urquhart v. Womack, 53 T. 616; Laughter v. Seela, 59 T. 177.

A., a widower with seven children, married B., removed to Texas in 1835 and acquired the property in controversy. A. died in 1841, leaving surviving his wife, B., two children by her, to wit, E., who afterwards died, and G., and also the children of his first marriage. B., after the death of A., married and died, leaving one child, L., by her second marriage. In 1841 administration was granted on the estate of A., which consisted wholly of community property of A. and B. There were no debts and no sale made of any property. In 1848, by order of the probate court, a partition was made of the estate of A., and the entire property inventoried was divided among the nine heirs of A., giving to each one-ninth of the same, and ignoring the rights of L., the child of B., by the second marriage, who as her heir was entitled to three-eighteenths of the entire estate. G. was entitled to three-eighteenths as heir to his mother, and one-eighteenth as heir of his father, instead of which he received two-eighteenths of the whole. L. was named in the petition for distribution filed by the administrator as entitled to a distributive share of the estate, but was not in any way made a party to the proceeding, and her rights as above stated were ignored. L. and G. were minors under fourteen years of age when the partition was made. G. accepted the land allotted to him and afterwards sold it, referring to the partition as his source of title. Afterwards G. and L. brought suit against the other distributees and purchasers from them for their distributive share of the land as heirs of their mother. Held, that plaintiffs were not estopped from recovering by the facts above stated. Caruth v. Grigsby, 57 T. 259; Grigsby v. May, 57 T. 255; Thompson v. Cragg, 24 T. 582.

Garnishment against debtors of a nonresident defendant will confer jurisdiction to render judgment against the defendant to the extent of the indebtedness acknowledged by the garnishee. Goodman v. Henley, 80 T. 499, 16 S. W. 432.

Persons not made parties to suits, except those on statutory bonds where the statute authorizes it, are not bound by judgments rendered therein. Williams v. Warren, 82 T. 319, 18 S. W. 560.

Parties to a judgment are not bound by it in a subsequent suit between each other unless they are adversary parties. Thus when a judgment recovered against A. and B. on a contract is paid by A., the liability of B. in a subsequent suit for contribution is still an open issue, because it was not tried in the former suit. Railway Co. v. Railway Co., 83 T. 509, 18 S. W. 956.

Notice of pendency of suit against warrantee held sufficient to render judgment therein binding on warrantor. Patrick v. Laprelle (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 552.

An assignee of a chose in action held to have so identified himself with the litigation as to be concluded thereby. Cleveland v. Heidenheimer (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 551.

A judgment against one joint obligor on a note does not work a merger of the cause of action against the others, under the statute. Brainerd v. Bute (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 575.

Judgment on appeal held conclusive as against one of the parties on a second trial of the same cause of action. Settegast v. Blount (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 268.

Failure to enter judgment for defendant on plaintiff's bond, in action of replevin decided adversely to plaintiff, held not to estop defendant from recovering value of property replevied. Norwood v. Interstate Nat. Bank, 92 T. 268, 48 S. W. 3.

That several defendants obtained a verdict on facts alleged to show that another defendant was liable does not make them adverse to him, and thus render the judgment conclusive between them as to the facts alleged. Hoxie v. Farmers' & Mechanics' Nat. Bank, 20 C. A. 462, 49 S. W. 637.

A person not a party to a suit, consenting to a decree, held not estopped thereby. Gulf City Trust Co. v. Hartley, 20 C. A. 180, 49 S. W. 902.

A decree foreclosing a vendor's lien is conclusive against the assignee of a subsequent mortgagee, who was not made a party, but who employed attorneys to represent his interest. Bomar v. Ft. Worth Bldg. Ass'n, 20 C. A. 603, 49 S. W. 914.

Failure of a mortgagor to object to application of proceeds of wrongful sale of replevied goods held to estop him to sue for their value on the replevy bond. Cameron v. Hinton, 92 T. 492, 49 S. W. 1047.

Recitals in the order of sale and of confirmation held not to preclude persons claiming under the purchaser from questioning the validity of a prior trust deed on the property. Rogers v. Southern Pine Lumber Co., 21 C. A. 48, 51 S. W. 26.

A decree in a suit foreclosing a vendor's lien is not binding on the heirs of a subvendee not made parties to the suit. Robinson v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 117.

Judgment entered against maker of note and sureties as though they were joint makers held not res judicata, as between sureties and maker, and they could take assignment of the judgment. Moore v. Moore (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 565.

A party to a foreclosure suit cannot subsequently avoid the judgment by showing that the land belonged to the state, and was not the subject of contract between individuals. Walraven v. Farmers' & Merchants' Nat. Bank, 22 C. A. 287, 52 S. W. 1049.

Judgment in foreclosure held not res judicata as to a party claiming independently of the mortgagor. Walraven v. Farmers' & Merchants' Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 1028.

The beneficial owner of a note, who permits the legal holder of the note, with her knowledge and consent, to bring an action thereon against the makers and indorser, is estopped by the judgment rendered therein. Jackson v. West, 22 C. A. 483, 54 S. W. 297.

Failure of plaintiff to assert in the action a right to an interest in the land which she held in trust held not to bar her cestuis que trustent from afterwards asserting their right against defendant. Hanrick v. Gurley, 93 T. 458, 54 S. W. 347, 55 S. W. 119, 56 S. W. 330.

Judgment obtained at request of carrier against person unauthorized to receive goods is not a bar to action of shipper against carrier for conversion. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hall & Brown Woodworking Mach. Co., 23 C. A. 211, 56 S. W. 140.

Where defendant was called in as warrantor to defend an action for a parcel of land belonging to a tract owned by him, a judgment therein was res judicata in an action by the same plaintiff for the entire tract. Hanrick v. Gurley, 93 T. 458, 54 S. W. 347, 55 S. W. 119, 56 S. W. 330.

A judgment in a separate action against the receiver held not conclusive against those creditors who were not parties to it. Sullivan v. Texas Briquette & Coal Co. (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 330.

Order of court making certain pay-roll certificates issued by receiver first in lien held not res judicata as to one thereafter intervening and claiming under a traffic lien. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Coolidge, 26 C. A. 595, 62 S. W. 1097.

Where defendant was not a party to a suit in which plaintiff maintained the priority of a deed of trust, defendant cannot invoke the judgment to estop the plaintiff from attacking the validity of such trust deed in a subsequent action. Southern Pine Lumber Co. v. Rogers, 26 C. A. 535, 64 S. W. 794.

Where, in garnishment proceedings, the debtor is not cited to appear, and does not appear, and the garnishee fails to show that the debt garnished is exempt, and judgment is rendered against him for the full amount thereof, such judgment is not conclusive against the debtor in an action against the garnishee. Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. v. Gray (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 85.

Where, pending an action to try title, a portion of the tract is conveyed by the defendant, and his grantee is allowed to sever in the action, a judgment against such defendant does not affect the rights of such grantee. Parker v. Campbell, 95 T. 82, 65 S. W. 482; Id. (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 484.

Foreclosure decree against community homestead, rendered against surviving member on default, held to preclude heirs of deceased member from claiming homestead rights. Barrett v. Eastham, 28 C. A. 189, 67 S. W. 198.

In a boundary suit, where there are several plaintiffs, a judgment by the defendant in a former action against one of such plaintiffs held conclusive as to such plaintiff. King v. Henderson, 29 C. A. 601, 69 S. W. 487.

An indorser who has recovered judgment for the purchase price of notes is estopped thereby from denying their validity when his liability as indorser is sought to be enforced. Norton v. Wochler, 31 C. A. 522, 72 S. W. 1025.

A judgment in a suit instituted by plaintiff in the name of another for his own benefit held res judicata in a subsequent suit by plaintiff in his own name for the same relief. Hartford Fire Ins. Co. v. King, 31 C. A. 636, 73 S. W. 71.

Certain judgments held not conclusive as to the rights of the children in property owned by their mother at the time of the latter's death. Boles v. Walton, 32 C. A. 595, 74 S. W. 81.

Judgment passing the title to land of defendants to plaintiffs is ineffectual against persons to whom, before the institution of the action, some of the defendants had conveyed their interest. Ellis v. Le Bow, 96 T. 532, 74 S. W. 528.

Decree in suit to foreclose lien for purchase money of land held to preclude plaintiff's grantor and plaintiff, who were parties to the suit, from claiming the land as against those holding under the foreclosure proceedings. Henry v. Thomas (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 599.

A judgment against plaintiff in a suit for malicious prosecution, affirmed on appeal, held a bar to a subsequent suit against the clerk of the district court in which it was tried for similar relief. Kruegel v. Stewart (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 365.

In action to rescind and recover damages for fraud in inducing lease of cotton press, recovery by lessees held not to preclude right of lessors to have submitted to jury issue of damages presented by cross-action. American Cotton Co. v. Frank Heierman & Bro., 37 C. A. 312, 83 S. W. 845.

A justice's judgment, awarding a fund in the hands of a constable to the judgment debtor, unappealed from, held conclusive in a subsequent proceeding against the constable for failure to apply such fund to an execution on the judgment. Glass v. Shapard, 37 C. A. 365, 83 S. W. 880.

A judgment in an action wherein the state appears as a party is as binding on the state as a judgment against an individual. State v. Cloudt (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 415.

A judgment for the payee and indorser of a note sued on, in a suit by the maker to cancel the same, held res judicata as to the maker's liability thereon in a subsequent suit by the indorsee against the payee. Scott v. American Nat. Bank, 37 C. A. 527, 84 S. W. 445.

None are to be considered parties to a suit, so as to be bound by the judgment, except those named as such in the record. Campbell v. Upson, 98 T. 442, 84 S. W. 817.

Record in a former suit held not to show that plaintiffs in the present suit were parties to such former suit, so as to be concluded by the judgment therein. Id.

Parties who are given an opportunity to appear in a suit held not concluded by the judgment, when their plea of privilege is sustained. Sawyer v. J. F. Wieser & Co., 37 C. A. 291, 84 S. W. 1101.

Defendants, having failed to appeal from an adverse judgment awarding a fund to B., held not entitled to complain that they had no opportunity to contest plaintiff's right to the fund, which was awarded to plaintiff on its appeal. Sanger Bros. v. Corsicana Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 737.

Defendants not having appealed from a judgment against them in favor of B., which was affirmed, they were concluded thereby, though, as against another who did appeal, it was held that B. had no right to a fund in controversy. Id.

Where attorneys, entitled to one-half of the amount recovered, proceeded with a suit in the name of plaintiff on the entire cause of action, after the question of their interest was raised, they are bound by the judgment. American Cotton Co. v. Simmons, 39 C. A. 189, 87 S. W. 842.

A judgment in a suit on an account by defendant against plaintiff held not res judicata of plaintiff's right to recover alleged noncredited payments not pleaded as a set-off in such action. Seiber v. Johnson Mercantile Co., 40 C. A. 600, 90 S. W. 516.

A judgment in certain action involving title to land held conclusive on the facts in subsequent action against privies of plaintiffs in the action in which judgment was rendered. State v. Ortiz, 99 T. 475, 90 S. W. 1084.

A judgment foreclosing a lien on certain sawmill machinery for the unpaid portion of the price held res judicata against the holders of realty liens and their grantees. Wm. Cameron & Co. v. Jones, 41 C. A. 4, 90 S. W. 1129.

Parties held not bound by a judgment in an action brought without their authority. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Brisenio (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 998.

A judgment foreclosing the state's lien for delinquent taxes held conclusive against all persons who were parties to the suit and who were served with citation. Ball v. Carroll, 42 C. A. 323, 92 S. W. 1023.

A judgment in favor of a trustee in a deed of trust against an attaching creditor held conclusive against such creditor in a suit by one of the beneficiaries of the deed against the creditor and the trustee for alleged collusive diversion of the fund. Sawyer v. First Nat. Bank, 41 C. A. 486, 93 S. W. 151.

Where beneficiaries in a deed of trust were dismissed from a garnishment proceeding against the trustee, the judgment in such garnishment proceedings held not res judicata against them in a subsequent suit against the trustee and others for fraud. Id.

A judgment held conclusive in favor of H. individually as to a conversion by him and G., though rendered in a suit to which G. was not a party and H. was a party as executor. Clement v. Clement, 44 C. A. 574, 99 S. W. 138.

A judgment in condemnation proceedings held not conclusive as against one not a party to the proceeding. Storms v. Mundy, 46 C. A. 88, 101 S. W. 258.

In an action against a warrantor on a covenant, the record of a suit between the vendee and a third person involving the title to the land held inadmissible, where the warrantor was not a party and not notified and requested to defend. Sachse v. Loeb, 45 C. A. 536, 101 S. W. 450.

A judgment against a surviving wife, in an action in which she was the sole defendant, establishing a community debt against community property and foreclosing a vendor's lien thereon, and a sale under such judgment, held binding on minor heirs of deceased husband. Henry v. Vaughan, 46 C. A. 531, 103 S. W. 192.

In an action for negligent death, the widow being the statutory representative of her minor children, a judgment for defendant as against one of the minors is conclusive in defendant's favor except for fraud participated in by it. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Gillespie, 48 C. A. 56, 106 S. W. 707.

A judgment in favor of one claiming real property against the unknown heirs of the former owner held a bar to a subsequent action by one of such heirs to recover the land. Davenport v. Bearden, 49 C. A. 196, 108 S. W. 474.

A judgment in favor of a creditor secured by a deed of trust conveying community property held not res judicata on the right of the wife of the debtor to enforce a parol trust agreement between the creditor, the debtor, and the wife. Sullivan v. Fant, 51 C. A. 6, 110 S. W. 507.

A judgment can only operate in favor of or against the parties thereto or their privies in blood or estate. Connor v. Weik (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 650.

One held not bound by a judgment to which he is not a party or privy. Lightfoot v. Horst (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 606.

A judgment establishing the validity of a state land certificate, which recited that the certificate, which had been previously issued to the administrator of a decedent, had been rejected as fraudulent by the board of commissioners, appointed under Act January 29, 1848, rendered in a proceeding having for its purpose the establishment of the original right of decedent to a certificate, by a petitioner alleging himself to be the sole heir of decedent, did not conclusively establish the claim of the petitioner as decedent's sole heir as against the legal heirs of decedent, since such proceeding could be brought by the owner or holder of any certificate which had not been recommended by the commissioners. Kirby v. Hayden (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 993.

Circumstances held to excuse the neglect of the maker of a note in not appearing in an action thereon for the full amount of the note and pleading partial payments made, so that he was not precluded by the judgment from suing to recover such payments. Long v. Moore (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 345.

In an action to recover land, in which an agreed judgment was entered by which a part of the land was set aside for another and recognized as not being subject to partition between the parties, plaintiff's heirs would be thereafter estopped from claiming the part of the land set aside. Rodriguez v. Priest (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 1187.

"Privity," as affecting conclusiveness of judgment, defined. Lamar County v. Talley (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 272.

For a judgment to be an estoppel, there must be an identity of parties, as well as of the subject-matter; and the parties between whom the judgment is claimed to be an estoppel must have been parties to the action in which it was rendered in the same capacities and in the same antagonistic relation, or in privity with the parties in such former action. Id.

That a judgment may operate as an estoppel, it is necessary that the estoppel be mutual, operating against both litigants alike. Id.

Certain facts held not to preclude a judgment against the garnishee on the ground that the judgment against the debtor was collusive, etc. McFaddin v. Texas & N. O. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 634.

Where a court has decided that a judgment entered against a nonresident defendant on service by publication only is valid, such decision is res judicata only as to the parties and privies in that action. Horst v. Lightfoot, 103 T. 643, 132 S. W. 761.

Property held the separate estate of a wife, so that a judgment against her husband suing for the property as his own was not binding on her. Bishop v. Gestean (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1141.

The railroad commission held not entitled to rely on a judgment adjudging reasonableness of rates as estopping a subsequent suit attacking their reasonableness under changed circumstances. Galveston Chamber of Commerce v. Railroad Commission of Texas (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 737.

A surviving wife suing as an executrix for damages to the community estate held bound by the judgment, not only as executrix, but as an individual. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Miller (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 1194.

A judgment debtor who procures a purchaser to sue to remove a cloud on a title cast by the recording of a judgment held bound by the judgment denying relief. Estey & Camp v. Luther (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 649.

Plaintiff under his deed of land from H. after final judgment in a suit between H. and defendant, adjudging the title to timber thereon to be in defendant, cannot claim the timber. Davidson v. Bodan Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 700.

A purchaser of land at a sale in bankruptcy proceedings, foreclosing a trust deed, executed by bankrupt, held bound by the judgment adjudicating the bankrupt's homestead rights to the same extent as the beneficiary under the deed, who was a party. Deaton v. Southern Irr. Co. (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 294.

Persons claiming as heirs of those who applied for partition held estopped from attacking the validity of a sale of real estate ordered by the probate court, on the ground that it was community property. Stephenson v. Wiess (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 287.

A judgment against a surviving husband for a community debt is conclusive against the heirs of the wife, although they were not parties to the action. Oliver v. Bordner (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 656.

The judgment in an action by a chattel mortgagee against the mortgagor and one contracting to purchase from him decreeing that the purchaser go hence without day and recover his costs, and determining the rights of the others, including right to proceeds paid in by the purchaser, was not res judicata in an action by the purchaser on the contract. Dupree v. First Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 608.

A plaintiff, who claims title under a judgment in partition reciting the death of a former owner, may not rely on the recital as proof of death, as against a stranger to the judgment. Randell v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 717; Same v. Cotton (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 719.

Adjudication in injunction brought by taxpayers to restrain breach of a contract made for the benefit of all the citizens of the city held to bar a subsequent action brought by other citizens. Hovey v. Shepherd, 105 T. 237, 147 S. W. 224.

An insurance company which had issued a policy on property destroyed by fire from a railroad engine, being a party to the action against the railroad company by the owner, was concluded by judgment as to any claim it might have against the company by reason of any agreement with the owner. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Murray (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 217.

One not a party to a suit involving title to land is not bound by the judgment, except as to his subsequent acquisition of title to any part of the land. Jones v. Burkitt (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 275.

Where plaintiff in a personal injury action assigned a one-third interest in his cause of action to his attorneys, and the attorneys refused to join as parties plaintiff, insisting that they were unnecessary, the judgment in the suit by plaintiff alone is binding upon them. Hughes-Buie Co. v. Mendoza (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 328.

41. —— Judgments for violations of anti-trust laws as barring recovery from others.—See notes under Title 130, Chapter 1.

42. Matters concluded in general.—The issue as to damages in a suit by sequestration having been properly raised by the pleadings and evidence, the judgment is conclusive, although the matter was not submitted to the jury with other special issues. Flippen v. Dixon, 83 T. 421, 18 S. W. 803, 29 Am. St. Rep. 653. See Overstreet v. Root, 84 T. 26, 19 S. W. 298.

Where an issue determined in the original suit is involved in the subsequent suit, and is essential to any recovery therein, a party is not entitled to have the same issue tried again, merely because in the subsequent suit he has a different purpose in view and seeks a different relief. McGrady v. Monks, 1 C. A. 611, 20 S. W. 959; Conwell v. Hartsell, 4 App. C. C. § 73, 16 S. W. 541.

Where a divorced wife brings an action against the husband for partition, a judgment for the plaintiff on the issue whether the land is the homestead of the husband is conclusive against defendant. Rice v. Aiken, 22 S. W. 101, 3 C. A. 143.

A second action cannot be brought for damages resulting from the continuance of a state of things existing when the former suit was brought, operating without other agencies. Railway Co. v. Goldman, 8 C. A. 257, 28 S. W. 267; Railway Co. v. Gieselman, 12 C. A. 123, 34 S. W. 658.

After affirmance of a judgment for costs, taxation of costs held res judicata. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Jagoe (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 187.

Issues unsupported by any evidence, and hence not submitted to the jury, are concluded by the judgment. Flewellen v. Ft. Bend County, 17 C. A. 155, 42 S. W. 775.

Where the court enters judgment for plaintiff on foreclosure except as to certain articles claimed as exempt, the question of exemption is res judicata. National Bank of Denison v. Kilgore, 17 C. A. 462, 43 S. W. 565.

A bill for a new trial held to show that the issue as to a widow's right to an allowance was involved in the original suit. Woolley v. Sullivan (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 919.

Where plaintiff recovers against a telephone company for erecting its line in street by authority of the state, the judgment is res judicata in a subsequent action to recover as for a continuing nuisance. Brown v. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co., 17 C. A. 433, 44 S. W. 59.

A judgment of foreclosure against an insolvent estate held conclusive against the widow's right of allowance for year's support, asserted by her answer, although she did not appear on the trial. Woolley v. Sullivan, 92 T. 28, 45 S. W. 377, 46 S. W. 629.

The county is not estopped by condemnation proceedings to open a road, which have resulted unfavorably to the county, to show that the road was already a public one. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Baudat, 18 C. A. 595, 45 S. W. 939.

A judgment for costs and attorney's fees held res judicata, precluding defendant from assailing plaintiff's right thereto in a subsequent action. McCord-Collins Commerce Co. v. Levi, 21 C. A. 109, 50 S. W. 606.

A finding that money was borrowed and expended for a married woman's separate estate precludes the contention that part of the judgment was for attorney's fees. Cates v. Riley (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 979.

Judgment in previous action between the same parties and involving same issues held not res judicata on the question of jurisdiction raised by defendants' plea of personal privilege to be sued in the county of their residence. Ellison v. Yates, 25 C. A. 41, 60 S. W. 999.

A judgment determining the validity of a certain transaction is not res judicata in an action by a defeated party against a third person which involves the same transaction. Leary v. Interstate Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 149.

Where the subject-matter of a suit and the terms of a sale in issue differ from the subject-matter and terms of a sale involved in a subsequent suit, the decree in the former is not res adjudicata, though the parties are the same in both suits. Morton v. Morris, 27 C. A. 262, 66 S. W. 94.

A decree against a surviving husband, in proceedings instituted after the death of the wife to foreclose a lien on community property, held conclusive of the interest of the wife's children, though they were not parties. Henry v. McNew, 29 C. A. 288, 69 S. W. 213.

A buyer's cause of action for breach of warranty held not adjudicated in an action for the purchase price, in which no claim of set-off was made for such breach. Dilley v. Ratcliff (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 237.

Recitals in a judgment held to be of a fact not directly involved and necessary to the determination of the issues, and so not to estop a party thereto. State v. O'Connor (Sup.) 74 S. W. 899.

In an action against a carrier for injuries to a passenger, held, that the verdict and judgment based thereon was an adjudication of an issue as to whether a settlement made by plaintiff had been brought about by fraud. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Shuford, 36 C. A. 251, 81 S. W. 1189.

A judgment in an action for foreclosure that merely adjudicates in reference to the statute of limitations held not to affect the validity of the debt, nor the mortgagee's right to have the property sold by the trustee out of court. Bandy v. Cates, 44 C. A. 38, 97 S. W. 710.

In a suit to vacate a judgment rendered against plaintiff and to cancel deeds and vendor's lien notes forming the basis of the judgment, a plea of res judicata held inapplicable. Cage & Crow v. Owens (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 1191.

The judgment of the county court in issuing liquor licenses held not res judicata as to an accused's right to conduct a saloon at a place where such business was forbidden by law. Paul v. State, 48 C. A. 25, 106 S. W. 448.

Expenses incurred, though not paid, are recoverable, and judgment for damages bars a subsequent action. Peacock v. Coltrane (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 389.

On the issue whether a gift by the husband to the wife was fraudulent as against creditors, judgments against the husband are admissible, notwithstanding irregularities therein, to show that the husband was a debtor at the time of the making of the gift. Cone v. Belcher, 57 C. A. 493, 124 S. W. 149.

A judgment determining the rights of parties in land held res judicata of a subsequent action between the same parties or their privies, involving the same facts as appeared in the former case. Whitmire v. Powell, 103 T. 232, 125 S. W. 889.

A judgment dissolving an injunction and dismissing the costs without determining the right of defendant to damages resulting from the issuance of the injunction held res judicata on the right of defendant to recover such damages. Hermann v. Allen, 103 T. 382, 128 S. W. 115.

A former decision that findings by the court are supported by the evidence held not to conclude appellate court in a subsequent appeal in another case. Speer v. Allen (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 231.

A judgment is conclusive as to all subsidiary issues necessarily involved. Richardson v. Trout (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 677.

A judgment held not to estop one from recovering title to land less an undivided three-eighths interest vested in the adverse party by a prior judgment. Halloway v. Hall (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 488.

A judgment, even if its correctness be questioned, should, in a subsequent suit involving the same fund, be held to be conclusive and binding. United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. v. Adoue & Lobit, 104 T. 379, 137 S. W. 648, 138 S. W. 383, 37 L. R. A. (N. S.) 409.

In an action for specific performance of a contract for the sale of land, a judgment foreclosing vendor's lien notes, held not to estop the purchaser from setting up that plaintiff's title was otherwise defective. Roos v. Thigpen (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 1180.

A judgment, denying plaintiff's foreclosure of a mortgage upon defendant's plea that the land mortgaged was his homestead, is, in a later suit by plaintiff to recover such land, conclusive that the land was a homestead. Holt v. Abby (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 173.

To be res judicata, the very point in issue in the subsequent suit must have been actually adjudicated, or subject to adjudication, under the pleadings in the former suit. Middleton v. Nibling (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 968.

A decree issuing an injunction against the issuance of an execution on the judgment, held a bar to a suit against the clerk for refusal to issue it. Kruegel v. Jones (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 989.

A judgment in bankruptcy proceedings, to which the beneficiary under a trust deed, executed by the bankrupt, was a party, held res judicata of whether the trustor was estopped, by recitals in a trust deed, from asserting a homestead in part of the land covered thereby. Deaton v. Southern Irr. Co. (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 294.

A decree of divorce held not res judicata on the question of subjecting husband's share in the homestead to debts due the wife. Shook v. Shook (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 682.

A judgment in a suit by defendants against a bank to set aside a deed of trust, in which the bank reconvened and sued out sequestration, and defendant and her husband gave a replevy bond against them for the land, and against the husband and the sureties for rent collected, but discharging defendant from liability on the bond, held to bar an action against her on the bond. Grayson County Nat. Bank v. Wandelohr, 105 T. 226, 146 S. W. 1186.

A judgment in an action for 150 acres held not to estop defendant from relying on limitations in a subsequent action for a tract within the 150 acres. Cole v. Webb (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 245.

In determining the question of res adjudicata, the court should look to both counts of the petition on which judgment was rendered. Carver Bros. v. Merrett (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 633.

All matters put in litigation by the pleadings and which could have been adjudicated in the suit are concluded by the judgment. Whitman v. Aldrich (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 464.

43. —— Matters in issue and essentials of adjudication.—Where there has been a plea in reconvention, and testimony thereon introduced, a verdict for plaintiff and judgment thereon are res judicata as to the matters in issue between the parties. Bemus v. Donigan, 18 C. A. 125, 43 S. W. 1052.

A judgment in a court of law held not to preclude a defendant from thereafter asserting equitable rights. Owens v. Heidbreder (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 1079.

A judgment recovered by the company's agent in his own name for earned premium on a fire insurance policy held not to be res judicata that the premium was not paid the company. Hartford Fire Ins. Co. v. Cameron, 18 C. A. 237, 45 S. W. 158.

In an action on replevin bonds given by mortgagee in foreclosing a mortgage, the judgment in the foreclosure suit held conclusive that the proceeds of a sale by mortgagee of the property replevied were a substitute for the return of the property under the bond. Cameron v. Hinton (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 24.

A judgment of a United States court determining that the property attached by a United States marshal did not belong to plaintiff was a bar to a subsequent action in the state court against the marshal's sureties for executing another writ against the same property in favor of another creditor. Sonnentheil v. Moody (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 1001.

A judgment for a city for taxes held not a bar in another suit for taxes which had been assessed at the time of its rendition. Harris v. City of Houston (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 579.

A judgment in an action of trespass, in which certain notes were pleaded merely to prevent a recovery of the land, while they were unpaid, and as to which no adjudication was had, held not res judicata of a subsequent action on the notes. Noel v. Clark, 25 C. A. 136, 60 S. W. 356.

A judgment for taxes on one of several parcels of a person's land held not res judicata of an action for taxes on the other parcels. Harris v. City of Houston (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 440.

In an action to recover for ties delivered in August, a judgment in a prior action allowing a recovery for ties delivered in September held not res judicata as to defendant's liability for the August delivery. Haralson v. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 788.

A judgment in an action against the city by a taxpayer to set aside certain judgments and tax sales held not an adjudication which would prevent the taxpayer from suing the city for the value of his property, acquired by it and sold to an innocent purchaser. City of Houston v. Walsh, 27 C. A. 121, 66 S. W. 106.

An action for damages to real property by the clogging of a sewer held not barred by a prior judgment for injuries prior to those complained of. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Charwaine, 30 C. A. 633, 71 S. W. 401.

A judgment sustaining the validity of a mortgage lien held conclusive against a plea of usury in an action to foreclose a mortgage. W. C. Belcher Land Mortg. Co. v. Norris, 34 C. A. 111, 78 S. W. 390.

A judgment foreclosing a lien on threshing machinery for nonpayment of the price held not a bar to the buyer's remedy for breach of warranty. Standefer v. Aultman & Taylor Machinery Co., 34 C. A. 160, 78 S. W. 552.

In absence of fraud, judgment on foreclosure of mechanic's lien held conclusive, in suit to correct mistake in instrument creating lien, of amount of debt and liability of property. Silliman v. Taylor, 35 C. A. 490, 80 S. W. 651.

A judgment convicting plaintiff of selling liquor without a license, affirmed on appeal, held conclusive evidence of probable cause in an action for malicious prosecution. Kruegel v. Stewart (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 365.

A judgment establishing the validity of a mortgage, in which the defense of usury, subsequently pleaded to an action to foreclose, was not raised, held not res judicata of such defense. Norris v. W. C. Belcher Land Mortg. Co., 98 T. 176, 82 S. W. 500, 83 S. W. 799.

The damages to land due to the negligent construction of a railroad track held temporary and recurrent, authorizing the landowner to recover for the loss of the use of the land as often as the injury happens. Gulf, B. & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Roberts (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 1052.

A judgment in a former action to recover installments due on an entire contract for the manufacture and delivery of law reports for which payments were to be made in installments held a bar to all causes of action that had accrued at the time of the trial. Ben C. Jones & Co. v. Gammel-Statesman Pub. Co. (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 191.

Recovery of damages against a carrier for delay in furnishing cars in which to ship cattle held no bar to a subsequent action for independent negligence occurring after the transportation of other cattle, part of the same herd, but not included in the first action, had begun. Texas & P. R. Co. v. Scoggin & Brown, 42 C. A. 335, 95 S. W. 651.

Where plaintiff bought land, relying on defendant's representation of title which was false, plaintiff's failure to demand a rescisison in a suit by third persons to establish their title held no bar to a subsequent suit for such relief. Olschewske v. King, 43 C. A. 474, 96 S. W. 665.

A judgment foreclosing a distress warrant held not to estop plaintiff, in a subsequent proceeding to recover damages, from showing that the grounds authorizing the distress proceedings did not exist. Morgan v. Tims, 44 C. A. 308, 97 S. W. 832.

Recovery for the breach of a contract held not limited to causes of action accruing subsequent to a former judgment rendered in an action for a breach of the same contract. Ben C. Jones & Co. v. Gammel-Statesman Pub. Co., 100 T. 320, 99 S. W. 701, 8 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1197.

A judgment for one installment of rent held not res judicata in action for other installments. Davidson v. Hirsch, 45 C. A. 631, 101 S. W. 269.

A suit by heirs of a deceased partner against the surviving partner to recover debts of the firm, the issue in a prior partition suit among the heirs of the deceased partner to determine their claims to which the surviving partner was a party held not an estoppel to the issue presented in the second suit. Wylie v. Langhorne, 45 C. A. 618, 101 S. W. 527.

Defendant, not having made any claim therefor in his answer, held not entitled to a set-off or counterclaim. White v. Davenport (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 1036.

A judgment held not res judicata as to a certain question involved in the construction of a trust deed. Parrish v. Mills (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 184.

A judgment rendered against obligors in a replevy bond in summary proceedings as provided by statute without service of citation held as conclusive as other judgments. Lane v. Moon, 46 C. A. 625, 103 S. W. 211.

Where a jury improperly considered an account by plaintiffs against defendant which was not pleaded as an offset to defendant's claim against plaintiffs in a prior action, the verdict held not res judicata of plaintiffs' right of action on the account. Kerr v. Blair, 55 C. A. 349, 118 S. W. 791.

"Matter in issue" defined. Id.

A former judgment is only conclusive of such matters as were essential to be determined. Manning v. Green, 56 C. A. 579, 121 S. W. 721.

Judgments for title and possession of land only held not conclusive as to the rights of defendants as holders of a purchase-money note reserving a lien on the land. Id.

Where, in a prior action between parties to a suit in which an accounting was had, the court rendered judgment fixing their rights in respect to all transactions between them, which judgment was affirmed on appeal, this judgment was conclusive against any claim one might bring against the other in a subsequent suit based on transactions involved in the first suit. Fant v. D. Sullivan & Co. (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 691.

A final judgment held to determine finally the issues raised by the pleadings and pending, unless the court excludes certain issues from the scope of its action. Hermann v. Allen, 103 T. 382, 128 S. W. 115.

A mere failure to adduce evidence of a claim put in issue by a pleading cannot be urged to limit the effect of the judgment rendered. Id.

The question whether a particular issue was tried in the cause in which a judgment was rendered held to arise where it is claimed that a party to the second action is estopped on a question common to both actions, and which was decided in the first. Id.

A judgment in a former action held not res judicata between the parties. Delaune v. Beaumont Irr. Co. (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 174.

A judgment in favor of an assignee of a former judgment is not conclusive on the judgment debtor as to the ownership of the original judgment, where the debtor did not have at the time of the later judgment, but afterwards acquired, a right of set-off against the original judgment. Trammell v. Chamberlain (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 429.

A judgment for defendant, rendered in a suit by a wife to recover damages for sales of liquor to her husband, "about August 3d to 10th, 1908," held not a bar to a recovery for sales to him after that date. Goodrich v. Wallis (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 878.

Estoppel of a judgment extends only to points directly, and not to matters incidentally or collaterally, involved. Berger v. Kirby (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1122.

A decision that a preferential rate is not unreasonable held not res judicata in a subsequent suit. Galveston Chamber of Commerce v. Railroad Commission of Texas (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 737.

Where two suits seek the same relief, but on a different state of facts, an adjudication in one is no bar to a recovery on the other. Id.

A judgment in a former suit by an original vendor against the maker of the purchase money notes and several subvendees, foreclosing the vendor's lien and selling the land, held not to bar a subsequent action against another subvendee to recover the balance of the purchase price. Middleton v. Nibling (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 968.

A judgment for the debt in favor of the holder of a vendor's lien note or mortgage debt will not prevent a subsequent suit to foreclose the lien, if foreclosure is not asked in the former suit. Id.

Judgment of divorce held res judicata against defendant on question not expressly in issue under the pleadings, where the evidence offered showed that defendant considered the question in issue. Shook v. Shook, 145 S. W. 699.

A judgment in favor of sureties on a replevy bond in a summary proceeding against them held to bar a subsequent action on the bond. Grayson County Nat. Bank v. Wandelohr, 105 T. 226, 146 S. W. 1186.

Where, in a former suit for the settlement of water rights, the question whether the location and original construction of the headworks of one irrigation system were such as to endanger the safety of the other system was not raised by the pleadings, the decree would not preclude the determination of the question in a subsequent suit. Biggs v. Miller (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 632.

44. —— Personal status and right.—Foreign decree awarding custody of infant child in divorce suit held res judicata of all questions relating to the fitness of the parties at all times prior to such decree. Wilson v. Elliott, 96 T. 472, 73 S. W. 946; Id., 96 T. 472, 75 S. W. 368.

A judgment establishing the validity of a state land certificate held not to establish the claim of the petitioner to the land as the sole heir of the person to whom a certificate was granted. Kirby v. Hayden, 44 C. A. 207, 99 S. W. 746.

In trespass to try title, in which defendant claimed through L., the patentee of the land, a judgment in an action by another against L.'s unknown heirs to which defendant was not a party held not admissible to establish L.'s death. Nugent v. Wade (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 883.

A decree establishing the validity of a state land certificate rejected by the board of commissioners appointed under Act Jan. 29, 1848, held conclusive on the question of heirship. Houston Oil Co. of Texas v. Hayden, 104 T. 175, 135 S. W. 1149.

45. —— Title or claim to property.—See notes under Art. 7758.

The opinion of a court remanding a cause for a new trial is not res adjudicata as to the question of title. Best v. Nix, 25 S. W. 130, 6 C. A. 349.

Easement of purchaser of lot shown by plat to abut on street held not affected by judgment for the grantor against city for recovery of the land included in street. Nicholson v. Campbell, 15 C. A. 317, 40 S. W. 167.

A decree foreclosing a mortgage on a homestead held res judicata, though the mortgage included the homestead by mistake. Ayres v. Parrish, 15 C. A. 541, 40 S. W. 435.

Where the title to property was determined in a claim suit from which no appeal was taken, the same question cannot be raised in a subsequent action. Carson v. McCormick Harvesting Mach. Co., 18 C. A. 225, 44 S. W. 406.

A judgment in trespass to try title held not a bar to plaintiff's subsequently asserting title because it showed on its face not to have adjudicated the question of title. Brown v. Reed, 20 C. A. 74, 48 S. W. 537.

Judgment in action to recover land, and to declare tax deed conveying it to defendant fraudulent, held not res judicata in suit by same person against certain of the same defendants and others to recover other lands and declare fraudulent the same deed. West v. Cole (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 151.

Decree of foreclosure held not to bar a title acquired by a party to the action during its pendency, but before judgment. Rogers v. Southern Pine Lumber Co., 21 C. A. 48, 51 S. W. 26.

A judgment for plaintiff, which decreed to him only a part of the land sued for, held not an adjudication of the title of the tract sued for except as to the part decreed to him. City of Liberty v. Paul (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 657.

A judgment in an action on an issue as to the validity of a sale by a trustee under a trust deed held no bar to an action to foreclose the trust deed. American Freehold Land-Mortg. Co. v. Macdonell, 93 T. 398, 55 S. W. 737.

Where plaintiff based his action for a parcel of land belonging to a certain tract on the same title as he asserted to entire tract, the judgment estopped him from asserting the same title in an action for the tract. Hanrick v. Gurley, 93 T. 458, 54 S. W. 347, 55 S. W. 119, 56 S. W. 330.

Action to try title held improperly dismissed on ground that it appeared by petition that the matter sought to be litigated had been previously adjudicated in former suit between the parties. Manius v. Petri (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 733.

Judgment in an action to recover land held to adjudicate all the issues in another action between the defendant in that action and a third party to recover an undivided one-half of the same land, and hence, though not res judicata of such issues, established a complete and valid title in the party recovering the judgment. Cooper v. Mayfield, 94 T. 107, 58 S. W. 827.

Where a judgment in divorce has fixed the status of certain property as community property, it is not error in a subsequent action to refuse to submit to the jury the question of the property being the separate property of the wife. Boyd v. Ghent (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 723.

Where suit was brought to obtain personal judgment against the maker of notes secured by a vendor's lien on realty, judgment for defendant held not to destroy the lien. Douglass v. Blount (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 429.

Order setting aside property to heirs as a homestead held not to bar an action to foreclose a trust deed thereon. Leslie v. Elliott, 26 C. A. 578, 64 S. W. 1037.

Judgment in other suit held not res adjudicata on issue as to the boundary between plaintiff's and defendant's land. Griffin v. Barbee, 29 C. A. 325, 68 S. W. 698.

A judgment in an action to set aside a former judgment and for the recovery of land, and which disposed of all the land in accordance with the previous judgment, held to have determined the rights of a party thereto not bound by such prior judgment. Watts v. Bruce, 31 C. A. 347, 72 S. W. 258.

A judgment held res judicata as to existence of landlord's lien. Bond v. Carter (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 45.

In ejectment, a judgment by a grantee from a grantor in plaintiff's chain of title against defendant's predecessors in interest held not res judicata. Lochridge v. Corbett, 31 C. A. 676, 73 S. W. 96.

A judgment of divorce held not res judicata on an issue involving the wife's rights as assignee of a policy on the life of the husband. Hatch v. Hatch, 35 C. A. 373, 80 S. W. 411.

Where the supreme court took jurisdiction of a mandamus petition, and determined issues concerning the title to land thereon, such judgment estopped the parties thereto to relitigate such issues in a subsequent action of trespass to try title. Tolleson v. Wagner, 35 C. A. 577, 80 S. W. 846.

Judgment in action involving right to possession of chattel held res judicata. American Cotton Co. v. Frank Heierman & Bro., 37 C. A. 312, 83 S. W. 845.

A judgment entered by consent involving the land in controversy held to merge all defenses existing at the time the judgment was rendered. Hamilton v. Blackburn, 43 C. A. 153, 95 S. W. 1094.

A certain judgment held not a bar to an action to cancel a vendor's lien on lands. McKinley v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 112.

Where the judgment under which defendant claims was a foreclosure of a tax lien against "unknown owners and M.," reciting that they "own or claim some right to, or interest in," the land, defendant cannot dispute the right of plaintiffs as heirs of M. to redeem such interest. Jackson v. Maddox, 53 C. A. 478, 117 S. W. 185.

A mortgage foreclosure judgment establishes conclusively both the debt and the lien. Blair v. Guaranty Savings, Loan & Investment Co., 54 C. A. 443, 118 S. W. 608.

In an action to recover land sold, the verdict and judgment in favor of plaintiff for land unconditionally held conclusive of all issues. Crain v. National Life Ins. Co. of United States, 56 C. A. 406, 120 S. W. 1098.

An unappealed-from decree enjoining a judgment creditor from requiring the issuance of execution on his judgment, on the ground that he was not the owner thereof, bars him from subsequently demanding the issuance of such execution. Kruegel v. Murphy & Bolanz (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 680.

Where, before an agreed judgment was entered in an action to recover land, there had been a judicial determination that part of the land disposed of by such judgment was acquired by limitations by another, the latter's title to such part was superior to that acquired by plaintiff under the agreed judgment. Rodriguez v. Priest (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 1187.

A judgment in an action involving title to real estate held an adjudication that a party thereto was not liable on the replevy bond given in the action. Grayson County Nat. Bank v. Wandelohr (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1168.

A former judgment held conclusive as to plaintiff's title to land. Hill v. Walker (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 1159.

Judgment in action for divorce and partition held res judicata as to title in subsequent action between the parties. Shook v. Shook (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 699.

Judgment, in suit by a grantor's wife awarding her the title and possession of her homestead and canceling the deed attempting to convey the homestead, held conclusive against the grantee's right to recover title or interest in remainder in the homestead. McCracken v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 693.

A part of a judgment, not supported by any pleading in the case, was void, so that it could not be set up as a defense to an action. Byrd v. Wehrhan (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 284.

One against whom a judgment for possession of land and rents was recovered held not entitled to relitigate his liability to plaintiff in a subsequent action by other claimants to the land of which he did not know. Smith v. Banks (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 449.

A judgment in favor of a person claiming a homestead in land for the possession thereof, and for rents, precluded the defendants or any one else for them from disputing her rights of homestead or her right to the rent. Id.

A judgment in a suit to remove a cloud against the executor and heirs of B. did not affect parties who had acquired B.'s title prior to the institution of such suit. Wagner v. Geiselman (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 524.

A judgment in a former suit, which affirmatively shows that its effect is limited to lands derived through one conveyance, is not conclusive between the same parties as to lands derived through a different conveyance, though such lands were within the pleadings in the former case. Whitman v. Aldrich (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 464.

46. —— Rights and liabilities under contracts.—Where the amount of the indebtedness of an insolvent corporation has been established by a judgment in the court in which the receiver subsequently sues the stockholders to recover balances unpaid on their stock subscriptions, such amount so established is res judicata in the latter suit. Cole v. Adams, 19 C. A. 507, 49 S. W. 1052.

An action to recover money paid on a note is barred by a decree refusing an injunction restraining the sale of security held for the note, when the same grounds are alleged in the action as in the petition for injunction. Stuart v. Tenison Bros. Saddlery Co., 21 C. A. 530, 53 S. W. 83.

The recovery of judgment on notes given for the price of a building does not preclude the owner from claiming damages for defects then known to exist, where it was agreed that such matters should be subsequently adjusted. J. S. Mayfield Lumber Co. v. Carver, 27 C. A. 467, 66 S. W. 216.

Judgment in an action on an indivisible contract is a bar to a prosecution of another action on the same contract, though the action in which the judgment was rendered was filed after the suit in which such judgment was pleaded was begun. Mallory v. Dawson Cotton Oil Co., 32 C. A. 294, 74 S. W. 953.

In an action to recover from vendor money paid for land, contract for the sale of which was forfeited by the state, a judgment in trespass to try title by plaintiff against a third person held not to estop defendant as to any defense on the issues of consideration for the money paid, or representations made inducing the money to be paid. Slaughter v. Cooper (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 897.

A judgment foreclosing a mechanic's lien for repairs to a dwelling house pursuant to a contract providing for repairs for a specified sum is res judicata on the issue whether the contract was fully performed. Taylor v. Silliman, 49 C. A. 285, 108 S. W. 1011.

A judgment for defendant in an action on an express contract is no bar to a suit to recover on a quantum meruit. Champion v. Johnson County (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 1146.

A cause of action on a written contract and a cause of action for the breach thereof held distinct, and a judgment in an action on the contract will not bar a subsequent action for damages for the breach thereof. Berry Bros. v. Fairbanks, Morse & Co., 51 C. A. 558, 112 S. W. 427.

A suit upon one contract held not a bar to a suit on another relating to the same subject-matter. Peacock v. Coltrane (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 389.

A prior judgment in an action by defendant to recover damages from plaintiff for breach of contract held not res judicata against plaintiffs' right to sue defendant on an account. Kerr v. Blair, 55 C. A. 349, 118 S. W. 791.

Judgment in an injunction suit held res judicata of a claim that defendant was required to make certain repairs to plaintiff's property under a contract for the erection of a building on plaintiff's land in case of removal. Hermann v. Allen (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 794.

Where, in an action to recover part of a tract of land, where the defendant admitted that plaintiff was entitled to the proceeds of the sale of the land in excess of $4,000, a judgment, decreeing that plaintiff "has no interest whatever in the land herein sued for," and decreeing title to defendant, did not preclude plaintiff's right under the agreement admitted by defendant. Childress v. Tate (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 843.

Judgment for defendant in action under contract, on ground that the contract was void, held not to prevent a subsequent recovery on quantum meruit for the value of the labor and materials furnished under the contract. Whitney v. Parish of Vernon (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 264.

A judgment in an action on a contract, rendered after the court had excluded the parts of the petition which stated another cause of action, is not a bar to an action on the latter cause of action. Peacock v. Coltrane (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1087.

47. Conformity to pleadings and proof in general.—A judgment must conform to the pleadings. Hall v. Jackson, 3 T. 305; Pinchain v. Collard, 13 T. 333; Gammage v. Alexander, 14 T. 414; Chrisman v. Miller, 15 T. 160; Dennison v. League, 16 T. 399; McKey v. Welch, 22 T. 390; Lemmon v. Hanley, 28 T. 219; Goff v. Hauser, 33 T. 430; Lewis v. Nichols, 38 T. 54; Ellis v. Singletary, 45 T. 27; Norvell v. Phillips, 46 T. 162; Boles v. Linthicum, 48 T. 220; Railroad Co. v. Pfeuffer, 56 T. 66; Handel v. Elliott, 60 T. 145; Wallace v. Bogel, 62 T. 636; Dunlap v. Southerlin, 63 T. 38; Osborne v. Barnett, 1 App. C. C. § 131; Jones v. Brazile, 1 App. C. C. § 299; Rogers v. Harrison, 1 App. C. C. § 495; McArnis v. McIntyre, 1 App. C. C. § 514; Blum v. Ferguson, 1 App. C. C. § 581; Peet v. Hereford, 1 App. C. C. §§ 871, 875; Galveston & W. Ry. Co. v. Galveston Electric Co. (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 1140.

Judgment must conform to the nature of the case proved. Lynch v. Elkes, 21 T. 229; Storey v. Nichols, 22 T. 87; Menard v. Sydnor, 29 T. 257; Crawford v. Stevens (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 79.

It is manifest error to render judgment for land, a portion of which is not embraced in the description given in the pleadings of the land in controversy. Throckmorton v. Davenport, 55 T. 236.

Plaintiff sued for land in which defendants set up homestead rights. On the trial it was admitted that title had been in one of the defendants. The defendants asked a judgment in their favor on the question of title, and prayed that the cloud cast by plaintiff's claim be thereby removed. The plaintiff, in support of his title, offered on the trial an execution and judgment against the defendant in whom title was admitted, and under which plaintiff purchased, which were excluded because sale was made after the return day of the execution. Plaintiff thereupon took a nonsuit, to which defendant excepted, he asking a judgment on the admission that the title was in him, but offering no testimony. The court refused to render a judgment in defendant's favor, and he appealed from the order dismissing the case. To the counterclaim of defendants the plaintiff had pleaded a general denial by way of supplemental petition. Held, that no error was committed in allowing the nonsuit and refusing a judgment for defendant on his counterclaim, he having no evidence to support it. Block v. Weiller, 61 T. 692.

When the boundary lines of the survey of land are not established so as to correspond with the description of the land contained in the petition, the plaintiff fails in his action and the verdict should be for defendant. Jones v. Andrews, 62 T. 652.

Judgment must conform to the pleadings and verdict. Railway Co. v. Logan, 3 App. C. C. § 186.

A judgment not responsive to the pleadings should be set aside. Lee v. British & American Mortg. Co., 16 C. A. 671, 40 S. W. 1041.

Though a distress warrant may be sued out for rent not due, no judgment can be recovered therefor. Miller v. Lancaster (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 198.

Judgment for debt refused, where petition filed by a creditor did not pray for that specific relief. Tenney v. Ballard, Webb & Burnette Hat Co., 17 C. A. 144, 43 S. W. 296.

A recovery for the death of an employé, based upon the incapacity of fellow servants generally, and upon the faulty condition of a switch yard, held erroneous under the pleadings. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Beall (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 605.

Where plaintiff sues on vendor's lien, and judgment is rendered for defendant for more than the lien on a claim for damages, a judgment quieting title in defendant is proper. Herring v. Mason, 17 C. A. 559, 43 S. W. 797.

A judgment framed in accordance with the allegations in a pleading, but varying from the verdict, held valid. Williams v. Cleveland, 18 C. A. 133, 44 S. W. 689.

A judgment in favor of one not a party is erroneous. Johnson v. Block (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 85.

Judgment for the land less certain plots held to conform with the evidence. Smith v. Olsen, 92 T. 181, 46 S. W. 631.

A conveyance of an undivided interest in 200 acres of a survey, where found void, as to the grantor's creditors, in an action for its cancellation, excepting 40 acres included in the grantor's homestead, does not require the court to designate the 40 acres as some particular part of the survey. Doyle v. First Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 480.

Judgment held to properly conform to petition where allegations were not denied. Quinlan's Estate v. Smye, 21 C. A. 156, 50 S. W. 1068.

A judgment which is neither authorized by the pleading nor the verdict held erroneous. Clark v. Clark, 21 C. A. 371, 51 S. W. 337.

Where a verdict against a railroad company for damages for failure to deliver shipment did not mention the statutory penalty, and plaintiff's petition made no issue thereon, it was error to enter judgment for such penalty. Gulf & I. Ry. Co. v. Gregory (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 310.

A judgment for the full amount of a note held erroneous, where the record shows that the plaintiff had received money for the use of defendant to an amount nearly as great as the amount of the note and all other accounts owing by defendant. Reed v. Corry (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 157.

A verdict in a landlord's suit for rent and wages which failed to specify the amount recovered for each was not sufficient to support a judgment foreclosing the landlord's lien. Miller v. Newbauer (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 974.

The pleadings in an action against the maker and indorser of a note held sufficient to authorize judgment in favor of the maker against the indorser for the proceeds retained by the latter. Branch v. Wilkens (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 1083.

A decree restraining the purchase of a water and light plant by a city held too comprehensive, in including prohibitions of the settlement of certain claims. City of Austin v. McCall (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 192.

A finding of the market value of plaintiff's lots immediately before an injury thereto and immediately after included injury to the shrubbery and dwelling, and, judgment having been entered thereon, defendant could not complain of failure to enter judgment on findings as to damages to shrubbery. Texarkana & Ft. S. Ry. Co. v. Spencer, 28 C. A. 251, 67 S. W. 196.

In suit by landlord against tenant for rent, the rent having been payable in part of the crops, judgment for sum of money as value of landlord's part of crops held erroneous, as not warranted by verdict. Gore v. Gardner (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 520.

Where defendant showed a deed to himself of a part thereof and possession in predecessors in title for more than 10 years, but did not identify the land, judgment held properly given for plaintiff for the whole tract. Thompson v. Dutton (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 996.

Judgment against persons as sureties cannot be sustained on appeal, the answer not admitting they were sureties, and there being no evidence of it, though the question was not raised below. Parham v. Shockler (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 839.

In an action for damages for false representations on a sale of personalty, the verdict held not such as to render judgment for plaintiff on the merits erroneous. Von Boeckmann v. Loepp (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 849.

Where only one issue was submitted to the jury by consent, a judgment for plaintiff could not be sustained, unless supported by the pleadings and evidence on such issue. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Fenn, 33 C. A. 352, 76 S. W. 597.

A judgment for plaintiff, based on evidence not admissible under the pleadings, is erroneous. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Byrd, 34 C. A. 594, 79 S. W. 40.

A petition in an action on a note held to support a judgment for the amount thereof, with interest and attorney's fees. McAnally v. Vickry (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 857.

Where damages were recovered against a constable and his sureties in different amounts, the court had no jurisdiction to render judgment against the sureties for the amount of the verdict against the constable. Black v. Moore, 35 C. A. 613, 80 S. W. 867.

Where no witness estimated the value of a horse at more than $35, a judgment on a verdict for $60 could not be sustained. Nolan v. Sevine, 36 C. A. 489, 81 S. W. 990.

In an action on a note, the jury having found in favor of defendant on a plea of payment, it was error for the court, on defendant's remitting the amount found to have been overpaid to render a judgment in favor of plaintiff on the note, which did not conform to the verdict. Eastham v. Patty & Brockington, 37 C. A. 336, 83 S. W. 885.

In an action against several defendants for damages for burning grass, plaintiff was entitled to recover against all the defendants, or any one whose liability he established. Dunn v. Newberry (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 626.

Judgment in suit for reformation of a conveyance held erroneous in awarding plaintiff recovery of all the land. Bourland v. Schulz, 39 C. A. 572, 87 S. W. 1167.

In an action for loss of baggage, a judgment would not be rendered in favor of one of the defendants on an issue raised by the pleadings, but not tried. Gregory v. Webb, 40 C. A. 360, 89 S. W. 1109.

Under the petition and evidence in an action for the destruction of crops, the recovery held limited to plaintiff's interest in the crops, and not to include his tenant's interest therein. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. McMurrough, 41 C. A. 216, 91 S. W. 320.

Judgment against widow on debt of her deceased husband held a personal judgment against her, and erroneous. Breck v. Coffield, 42 C. A. 24, 91 S. W. 594.

A transferror of a note made a party defendant with the maker held not entitled to complain that certain relief was not given him. Harris v. Cain, 41 C. A. 139, 91 S. W. 866.

Plaintiff held not entitled to recover for ejection from defendant's train on a different theory than that pleaded by him. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Riney, 41 C. A. 398, 92 S. W. 54.

In action against firm, judgment against member of the firm held improper. King v. Monitor Drill Co., 42 C. A. 288, 92 S. W. 1046.

In an action for putting in a well for defendant, certain credits held properly disallowed defendant in view of pleading. Hahl v. Deutsch, 42 C. A. 1, 94 S. W. 443.

Where the petition in an election contest attacked a vote on the ground that the voter had not paid his poll tax, the court had no authority to declare the vote illegal because the voter lived in another precinct. Bigham v. Clubb, 42 C. A. 312, 95 S. W. 675.

In an action to set aside a judgment allowing certain claims against a decedent's estate, a judgment allowing claimant one-half of the amount paid on certain notes on which he was surety with deceased held error. Smart v. Panther, 42 C. A. 262, 95 S. W. 679.

Facts proven but not alleged cannot form the basis of a recovery. Smith v. First Nat. Bank, 43 C. A. 495, 95 S. W. 1111.

Where plaintiff prayed reformation of a deed as preliminary to having the deed declared a mortgage and foreclosed, but it was not entitled to such principal relief, it could not obtain reformation. Goodbar & Co. v. Bloom, 43 C. A. 434, 96 S. W. 657.

Judgment held limited in amount to the only item pleaded as to which there was any evidence. Garrett & Co. v. Josey, 44 C. R. 1, 97 S. W. 139.

Judgment for minor son of one killed by a railway train at a street crossing held supported by pleadings. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Murray (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 144.

Evidence in an action to recover money loaned held to sustain judgment. Meredith v. Miller (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 430.

A judgment in a boundary suit, referring to a tract of land as descriptive of the line in controversy held erroneous, where the verdict made no reference to it. Battles v. Barnett (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 817.

In a suit against state officers to enjoin the collection of occupation taxes, to which the state was not a party, defendants had no such right of action for taxes as entitled them to a judgment therefor. Texas Co. v. Stephens, 100 T. 628, 103 S. W. 481.

On a bill of interpleader in an action to recover a bank deposit, the court should have rendered judgment for the full amount of the deposit less an amount awarded to the bank as an attorney's fee for filing the bill. McCormick v. National Bank of Commerce (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 747.

Under pleadings wherein the only claims set up by the parties were to the land itself, and no charges on it of any kind were alleged, it was error to render judgment charging the land with money advanced by a party to improve it. Allen v. Allen, 101 T. 362, 107 S. W. 528.

An objection to a judgment for want of an alleged necessary allegation in the petition held properly overruled if such allegation appeared by reasonable intendment. Postal Telegraph-Cable Co. v. Sunset Const. Co. (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 265.

Facts not pleaded cannot be made the basis of a recovery. Kennedy v. Pearson (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 280.

Where defendant in an action on a note was entitled to a deduction of $50 for a partial failure of consideration, a judgment for plaintiff for the full amount of the note and 6 per cent. interest from a specified date with a deduction of $50 therefrom held erroneous. Taylor v. McFatter (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 395.

In an action against individuals as trustees of a church, the court, in view of the petition and the disclaimer of counsel during trial, properly refused to render a personal judgment against the individuals. Owens v. Caraway (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 474.

A petition held to authorize a judgment for plaintiff for the land described. Hildebrandt v. Hoffman (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 785.

A judgment held not objectionable as giving to plaintiff more land than he claimed in the petition. Id.

Statement of pleadings necessary to support judgment. Hart v. Hunter, 52 C. A. 75, 114 S. W. 882.

Plaintiff cannot recover land not embraced by the tract sued for, though the evidence warranted a finding that the deed under which he claims included the strip. Raley v. Magendie (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 174.

A judgment held to be within the pleadings. Hackbarth v. Gordon (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 591.

The specific finding on which a judgment is based being unsupported by the evidence, the judgment is erroneous. White v. McCullough, 56 C. A. 383, 120 S. W. 1093.

The court in directing a purchaser in a contract of sale of real estate to repay a third person the sum deposited by him on his contract with the purchaser for an interest in a part of the real estate of the vendor held not authorized under the evidence to direct the vendor to pay the sum to the purchaser. Smith v. Pitts, 57 C. A. 97, 122 S. W. 46.

In an action by an indorsee against makers and indorsers of a note secured by fire policies, held, that the court, on the pleadings, had no power to foreclose the lien on the policies. Mayhew & Co. v. Harrell, 57 C. A. 509, 122 S. W. 957.

A judgment must be supported by pleadings as well as proof. Fields v. Florence (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 187; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Richardson, 143 S. W. 722; Staley v. Gillean, 147 S. W. 323; Busch v. Broun, 152 S. W. 683.

A judgment cannot be entered upon a petition or answer which manifestly discloses no cause of action or grounds of defense, though its verity be admitted or proved, even though the opposite party did not except to the pleading. Singletary v. Goeman (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 436.

Answer to interrogatory, in an action to quiet title, held not sufficient basis for a judgment for defendant. Darden v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 944.

Facts proven, but not alleged, cannot be made the basis of a judgment. Hughes v. McFarland (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 172.

Petition in trespass to try title held not to authorize judgment for the value of a house removed by defendant. Payne v. Godfrey (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 163.

In trespass to try title, an original judgment held authorized by the pleadings and sufficiently to describe the land awarded. Louisiana & Texas Lumber Co. v. Stewart (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 199.

Judgment for particular tracts is not authorized where the parties have only shown undivided interests in the tract in controversy. Turner v. Pope (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 420.

Where plaintiff shows title to one-half of the survey in controversy, and defendants show title to an equal part of the other half, and there is no evidence showing the relative values of the plaintiff's one-half and the defendants' one-half, or of any agreement by plaintiff's grantor to a partition attempted to be made by defendant's predecessor, the court is not authorized to adjudge that defendants had title and possession of the particular quarter claimed by them respectively. Id.

Evidence offered cannot be considered in support of a judgment, unless the pleadings are sufficient to support it. Kindell-Clark Drug Co. v. Myers (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 463.

Where facts stated in a plea are sufficient to entitle defendant to maintain an action thereon, and are so pleaded, they are sufficient both to destroy plaintiff's right to recover and to entitle defendant to affirmative relief. Jones v. Wagner (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 280.

Judgment reforming a deed in a suit of trespass to try title held unauthorized under the pleadings. Pannell v. Askew (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 364.

In scire facias proceedings a bail bond introduced in evidence held insufficient to support judgment under the pleading. Huntley v. State (Cr. App.) 143 S. W. 1166.

Where a defendant pleads that he was a surety on the contract sued on, and there is no conflict in the evidence on this issue, a recovery against him should be only as surety and not as principal debtor. McKinley v. Davidson (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 576.

Where party to contract did not allege mutual mistake, but merely alleged that he was mistaken, relief on the ground of mutual mistake held error. Versyp v. Versyp (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 705.

Where indorsers were joined as defendants, and one of them prayed for judgment over against the first indorser, and alleged that he agreed to deposit a sum to be held in escrow, to be paid to the second indorser on his death, and that the fund had been garnished, and the prayer was for all legal and equitable relief, the petition was sufficient to support a judgment subjecting the deposit to the payment of the notes. Gray v. Altman (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 760.

A part of a judgment, not supported by any pleading, is void. Byrd v. Wehrhan (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 284.

A judgment unsupported by testimony is fundamentally erroneous. Norvell-Shapleigh Hardware Co. v. Lumpkin (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 1194.

Where facts essential to a cause of action are not pleaded, a judgment for plaintiff cannot be sustained. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Stracner (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 845.

In an action on a contract of sale of land, where defendant filed a cross-action for damages from the vendor's failure to furnish water for irrigation purposes, but made no claim that the individual plaintiff executed the contract other than for the plaintiff corporation, a judgment against him individually was erroneous. Judson v. Bell (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 169.

In trespass to try title, necessarily involving the construction of the deed under which plaintiffs claim, a judgment that, under the deed, one of the plaintiffs took absolute title in fee was not objectionable as a judgment reforming the deed. Vaughn v. Pearce (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 171.

Where, in a suit for conversion of cotton, defendant pleaded an agreement that the cotton was to be sold, and plaintiff and defendant divide the proceeds, and the court found that under the agreement plaintiff was entitled to the value of that alleged to have been converted, the judgment was not erroneous on the ground that plaintiff sued for conversion, and recovered under the agreement. First Nat. Bank v. Mineola State Bank (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 603.

In action for death of mule struck by train, where plaintiff did not allege the engineer's failure to keep a proper lookout while the court found such failure, and that it, with other acts of negligence, was the proximate cause of the death, the petition did not support the judgment. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Graham (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 653.

In an action against a carrier for the amount overpaid by plaintiff upon a draft with bill of lading attached showing a shipment of 62,000 pounds of corn, tried without a jury and without any finding of fact, a judgment generally for plaintiff held not to be a finding that but 46,000 pounds were originally delivered. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Watson (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 438.

48. —— Issues raised by pleadings.—In an action to recover the value of property it is error to give judgment for the property itself. T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Logan, 3 App. C. C. § 186.

A judgment based on a verdict returned in response to an issue not presented by the pleadings will be reversed. Graham v. McCarty, 69 T. 323, 7 S. W. 342.

A recital in the note on which suit is brought of the vendor's lien is sufficient to support a judgment of foreclosure. Fant v. Wickes, 10 C. A. 394, 32 S. W. 126.

Whatever the evidence may be, it cannot support a judgment on an issue not made by the pleadings. Maddox v. Summerlin, 92 T. 483, 49 S. W. 1033, 50 S. W. 567.

A judgment that plaintiff recover the land held authorized by the pleadings in an action to cancel a deed, where defendant set up an affirmative claim. Blackman v. Schierman, 21 C. A. 517, 51 S. W. 886.

Where two carriers were jointly sued for damages to cattle shipped over both roads, a judgment against one was properly entered under the statute relating to discontinuances in actions based on joint liability. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Lee (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 54.

In an action against a principal and sureties, judgment against the sureties held supported by the pleadings and proof. Robinson v. Chamberlain, 29 C. A. 170, 68 S. W. 209.

Where bondholders of an electric company were sued as such, the fact that they answered as bondholders did not justify the rendition of a judgment against them under such appellation. Standard Light & Power Co. v. Muncey, 33 C. A. 416, 76 S. W. 931.

Where no issue was made in the pleadings as to the location on the ground of the lands involved, the court had no authority to enter judgment describing the lands. Smithers v. Smith, 35 C. A. 508, 80 S. W. 646.

In a suit on notes given for purchase price of land, held, that a decree granting equitable relief, as against a plea setting up failure of consideration, was proper. Williams v. Finley (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 736.

In an action to cancel deed, plaintiff held not entitled to foreclosure of vendor's lien not set up in pleading. Cecil v. Henry (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 216.

In a suit to quiet title as against a vendee in default, a decree adjusting the rights of the parties held proper. McCullough v. Rucker, 53 C. A. 89, 115 S. W. 323.

In an action to recover lands, allegations showing plaintiff's right to recover the entire survey cannot sustain a judgment for the whole, when the petition expressly limits the claim asserted to an undivided three-fourths of the survey. Neyland v. Craig, 56 C. A. 234, 120 S. W. 538.

No facts having been pleaded on which equitable relief could be based, none could be given. Hoffman v. Buchanan, 57 C. A. 368, 123 S. W. 168.

In an action by a surviving husband against the daughter of his deceased wife to quiet title to certain property, a judgment for defendant held to have no basis in the pleadings in the case. Darden v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 944.

The court, in a suit to cancel a deed of land in trust for specified purposes, held not authorized to find that the conveyance was in fraud of the grantor's creditors, unless the petition made out a prima facie case of fraud. Smith v. Olivarri (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 235.

A general judgment for defendant in trespass to try title, in which the location of a boundary line was the only issue, held valid, though the answer did not attempt to fix the boundary line. Provident Nat. Bank v. Webb (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 426.

A judgment for plaintiff in trespass to try title by an assignee of vendor's lien notes against subsequent purchasers of land held improper in view of the pleadings. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Blount (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 566.

A judgment for defendant in an action on an insurance policy based on evidence of a breach of a stipulation against other insurance without defendant's consent is void where defendant failed to plead such breach. Ginners' Mut. Underwriters of San Angelo, Tex., v. Wiley & House (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 629.

A judgment in garnishment proceedings relieving the garnishees from the effect of a judgment held ineffective, as beyond the scope of the pleadings. Looney v. Pope (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1170.

Where owner by adverse possession did not in his pleadings attack a release of his interests to the record owner because the land was his homestead, a judgment setting aside the release because it was not executed by plaintiff's wife could not be sustained. Davis v. Moye (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 962.

Where the record shows a breach of a valid contract entitling plaintiffs to a judgment for at least nominal damages, and for such actual damages as they may have sustained, a judgment for defendant will be reversed. Ben C. Jones & Co. v. Gammel-Statesman Pub. Co. (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 317.

Where the most that appears from the pleadings and the agreement of the parties filed in trespass to try title is that there was a dispute between the parties as to the location of a line separating lands owned by them, what the dispute is not appearing, they do not present an issue to try, and do not support a judgment determining the boundary line. Cramer v. Barfield (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 256.

49. —— Prayer for relief in general.—The fact that a petition sought to reform a policy, and the evidence failed in that respect, held not to deprive plaintiffs of the judgment to which they were entitled otherwise under the pleadings and proof. Wagner v. Westchester Fire Ins. Co., 92 T. 549, 50 S. W. 569.

A decree ordering a delivery of property is improper, where the petition does not pray therefor. Smith v. So Rill (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 38.

A judgment foreclosing a trust deed on church property, in an action between opposing factions, was erroneous, where no such relief was prayed, and the holder of the title was not a party. First Baptist Church of Paris v. Fort, 93 T. 215, 54 S. W. 892, 49 L. R. A. 617.

Partition should not be decreed among defendants, in absence of pleading praying such relief. Greer v. Bringhurst, 23 C. A. 582, 56 S. W. 947.

Where plaintiff demands a money judgment, an allegation in the answer that the defendant is entitled under an agreement to be paid one-tenth the value of the lands in controversy is not sufficient to authorize a decree granting her an undivided interest therein. McLane v. Mackey (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 944.

Where a petition only asks for a money judgment, but the answer asks for a money judgment and general relief, a judgment giving each of the parties an undivided interest in the property involved in a suit will be sustained under the prayer for general relief. Id.

Where, in trespass to try title, no equitable relief was asked, purchase money at a void sale under judgment after death of sole defendant will not be returned before decreeing title in his heirs. Fleming v. Ball, 25 C. A. 209, 60 S. W. 985.

There is no error in refusing relief not asked for in the pleadings. Johnson v. Brown (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 485.

In an action on a fire insurance policy, and cross-action by the company, held, that it was not entitled to judgment against its local agent who issued the policy. Continental Fire Ass'n v. Norris, 30 C. A. 299, 70 S. W. 769.

Where the only prayer for judgment for attorney's fees covered by an indemnity bond given defendant bank was in the event judgment should be rendered against the bank and in favor of plaintiff, and plaintiff was beaten, a judgment in favor of the bank for such attorney's fees was erroneous. Great Council of Texas, Improved Order of Red Men, v. Adams (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 560.

In an action against a building and loan association for the cancellation of a lien and to declare plaintiff's debt usurious, held proper, under general prayer for relief, to cancel stock issued to plaintiff. American Mut. Bldg. & Sav. Ass'n v. Cornibe, 35 C. A. 385, 80 S. W. 1026.

Neither a special nor general prayer held sufficient to entitle plaintiff to foreclosure of an alleged lien. Russell v. Deutschman (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 1164.

A prayer for general and special relief in a suit to set aside a judgment foreclosing a vendor's lien held to authorize a judgment setting aside a sale thereunder. McLean v. Stith, 50 C. A. 323, 112 S. W. 355.

Upon judgment for defendant, plaintiff held not entitled to complain that the boundaries of a part of the land not claimed by defendant were not adjudicated; he not having asked that relief in his pleadings. De Roach v. Clardy, 52 C. A. 233, 113 S. W. 22.

In trover for a piano, which plaintiff had purchased from defendant, though the answer did not allege that any stated amount was overdue when defendant took the piano, where the petition admitted that $40 was then due, it was error to permit plaintiff to recover the full value of the piano. Thos. Goggan & Bros. v. Garner (Civ. App.) 119 S. W. 341.

Where waiver of a breach of insurance conditions was not pleaded, evidence admitted to show such waiver furnishes no basis for a judgment. Mecca Fire Ins. Co. of Waco v. Moore (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 441.

In an action by devisees against an executor and one to whom he granted land of the estate, to cancel the deed, etc., a prayer for a personal judgment against the executor on the ground that the amount received from the land and timber was applied to his personal debt held not so incidental to the principal relief demanded as to authorize the district court to enter such judgment. Berry v. Hindman (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1181.

Under a prayer for general relief, plaintiff may recover whatever the facts alleged and proved will justify. Jordan v. Massey (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 804.

In an action against a tenant for advances and for the enforcement of a landlord's lien, an instruction as to plaintiff's right of recovery held erroneous. Precker v. Slayton (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1160.

Under the allegations of the petition in an action for breach of a contract, held that, the rescission and cancellation of the contract could not be awarded as relief. Connally & Shaw v. Saunders (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 975.

Judgment for a passenger, in an action wherein the petition alleged that the carrier's servants wrongfully and negligently put her off the train at a place which was not her destination, and in so doing acted willfully and maliciously, cannot stand, where the only cause of action which the evidence tended to prove was the negligence of the carrier's servants in announcing the name of the station at which the passenger left the train, and in permitting her to leave the train at that point. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Richardson (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 722.

A petition alleging a cause of action against the "E. & C. Grain Company, a partnership composed of E. & C.," justifies a judgment against the partnership and the individual members. Early & Clement Grain Co. v. Fite (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 673.

Plaintiff's pleading, setting out facts and circumstances showing that a sale agreement was induced by fraud, stating the relation of the parties to the suit, and praying such equitable relief as he is entitled to under the pleading and proof, was sufficient to warrant either a total rescission, placing all parties in statu quo, or recovery of damages from fraud alleged. Hagelstein v. Blaschke (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 718.

Where defendant in an action for delinquent taxes made his vendors parties, and prayed for judgment over against them, if plaintiff recovered judgment for taxes, penalties, and costs, judgment against the vendors for the taxes, penalties, and interest was proper. Gordon v. State (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 867.

Under a prayer for equitable relief, the court was empowered to adjust the equities between the parties, and dispose of all the matters involved in the cause. Brasfield v. Young (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 180.

Where, pending a suit, the administrator sold the land and the purchaser was made a party thereto, the court under the prayer for general relief could cancel the administrator's deed upon finding that the administrator had no title. Groesbeck v. Wiest (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 258.

50. —— Amount demanded.—A verdict for interest, where there is no prayer therefor in the petition, will be disregarded. Goggan v. Evans, 12 C. A. 256, 33 S. W. 891.

Where, in a suit to recover attorney's fees, the undisputed evidence showed that they were worth the sum demanded, a judgment for a less sum was erroneous. Clarke v. Faver (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 1009.

Petition in action on life policy as to attorney's fees held to sustain judgment therefor. Washington Life Ins. Co. v. Gooding, 19 C. A. 490, 49 S. W. 123.

In personal injury action, where evidence would authorize recovery for greater amount than that claimed in petition, it is error to instruct jury to allow for amount shown by evidence. City of Dallas v. Jones, 93 T. 38, 49 S. W. 577, 53 S. W. 377.

Where deed to son conveyed 62 acres of land, and execution was levied on 26 acres as debtor's property, it was error, on decreeing the conveyance fraudulent at the instance of the execution creditor, to cancel the whole deed. Walters v. Cantrell (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 790.

In an action for injuries plaintiff cannot recover for expenses incurred for medicine, but not paid, where the petition only set up a claim for sums expended. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Reasor, 28 C. A. 302, 68 S. W. 332.

Amount of judgment for breach of contract to accept materials for building held in excess of findings of law and fact. Herry v. Benoit (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 359.

Where a verdict in replevin was for $874.50, a judgment against defendant in excess of the verdict and in excess of the amount claimed in the petition was erroneous. Dysart v. Terrell (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 986.

In an action against a railroad for the killing of a mule, the value of the mule, as alleged, held the limit of recovery, without interest. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. McMillan, 37 C. A. 483, 84 S. W. 296.

Interest held not recoverable as an element of damages, unless specifically pleaded, or unless the amount sued for covers the interest and such other sum as may be included in the recovery. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dawson Bros. (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 298.

A judgment held excessive in awarding interest from a time prior to that from which it was prayed. Carter Brick Co. v. Clement (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 434.

Plaintiff held entitled to judgment for the damages specifically demanded, notwithstanding a general averment of damage in a less amount. Ellis v. National Exch. Bank, 38 C. A. 619, 86 S. W. 776.

A verdict for the purchase of articles sold and not delivered held to include interest, rendering it error for the court to add interest thereto. Houston v. Booth (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 887.

In action for damages for delay in delivering telegram, judgment held limited to damages which were sufficiently alleged. Rich v. Western Union Telegraph Co., 101 T. 466, 108 S. W. 1152.

Plaintiff having sued for a specified sum upon an account and for conversion could not recover a greater sum. Morris v. Smith, 51 C. A. 357, 112 S. W. 130.

Under a petition to recover, under a parol gift of land, 200 acres described, held recovery may be had of a less amount, on evidence that plaintiff took possession of the smaller amount only. Combest v. Wall (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 354.

In an action on notes, the maker under the pleadings held entitled to judgment for the principal, interest, and attorney's fees. Davis v. Kuehn (Civ. App.) 119 S. W. 118.

In an action against a carrier for loss of goods in transit, the court held not authorized to award as damages freight overpaid. Texas S. S. Co. v. Depree Commission Co. (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 621.

In an action against defendants to recover their proportional liability on notes paid by the plaintiffs, held, that judgment for plaintiffs properly included the attorney's fees stipulated in the notes. Webster v. Frazier (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 609.

A judgment for the amount of the claim sued on, together with interest on the claim properly allowed, is not excessive, because it includes interest. Chapa v. Compton (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 1175.

A money judgment cannot exceed the amount demanded in the petition. First Bank of Springtown v. Hill (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 652; Anderson v. Crow, Id. 1080.

Where plaintiff sued for $1,900 and alleged that $800 of it was secured by mortgage on a stallion, it was error to allow a foreclosure on the stallion for the whole amount sued for. Whitten v. Whitten (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 277.

51. —— On counterclaim.—See notes under Title 27.

Where defendant by cross-action brought in its warrantor, but there were no findings of fact and no evidence to support a money judgment on the cross-bill, such a judgment was erroneous as not conforming to the evidence. Masterson v. Crosby (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 173.

52. Conformity to verdict or findings in general.—Judgment must conform to the verdict. Claiborne v. Tanner, 18 T. 68; Jackson v. State, 21 T. 668; Bledsoe v. Wills, 22 T. 650; McConkey v. Henderson, 24 T. 212; Slade v. Young, 32 T. 668; Smith v. Chenault, 35 T. 78; Johnson v. Newman, 35 T. 166; Longcope v. Bruce, 44 T. 434; Handel v. Elliott, 60 T. 145; Morrison v. Van Bibber, 25 T. Sup. 153; Letot v. Peacock (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 1121; G. C. Williams & Co. v. Smith, 98 S. W. 916; Tipton v. Tipton, 47 C. A. 619, 105 S. W. 830; Johnson v. Gary (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 237.

A general verdict for the plaintiff only supports a judgment for the land described in the petition. Edwards v. Smith, 71 T. 156, 9 S. W. 77.

A judgment not conforming to the verdict will be reversed on appeal. Carter v. Bolin (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 1084.

Verdict in suit to determine boundaries held not to show location of plaintiff's boundary so as to sustain judgment. Muncy v. Mattfield (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 345.

Conclusions of fact held not sufficient, under the allegations of the petition, to support the judgment. Matador Land & Cattle Co. v. State (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 256.

Where the evidence authorizes the court to direct a verdict, the court may, in rendering judgment, go further than the verdict in adjusting the equities of the parties. Smith v. Smith, 23 C. A. 304, 55 S. W. 541.

A judgment entered on a verdict for certain real estate "more or less" held to support a judgment for a tract differing in description from the verdict but conforming to evidence, where there is no controversy as to its identity. Carothers v. Lange (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 580.

When a judge made a finding locating a portion of a certain boundary, which the jury had stated it could not determine, and the judgment would have been against the plaintiff if the finding had not been made, it was not error of which the plaintiff could complain. Childress County Land & Cattle Co. v. Baker, 23 C. A. 451, 56 S. W. 756.

In an action by the executrix of an attorney against another attorney to recover a share of a fee defendant had contracted to pay deceased and failed to do so, evidence held to sustain a judgment for plaintiff. Aycock v. Baker (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 273.

The judgment held not to conform to the verdict. Hillen v. Williams, 25 C. A. 268, 60 S. W. 997; Oklahoma City & T. R. Co. v. Magee (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 901.

Where findings of court and jury as to the value of property are at variance, a judgment based thereon must be set aside. Miller-Stone Mach. Co. v. Balfour, 25 C. A. 413, 61 S. W. 972.

Where defendant also claimed title, a finding against defendant's claim and disagreement as to plaintiff's does not entitle plaintiff to judgment that he is the owner. Secord v. Eller (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 933.

Where the jury are directed, if they find for plaintiff, to authorize foreclosure of a lien, and they omit from their verdict any reference to the lien, the court cannot enter judgment foreclosing the lien. Ablowich v. Greenville Nat. Bank, 95 T. 429, 67 S. W. 79, 881.

Where the court instructed the jury to return a verdict against both defendants for the land in controversy and a certain sum for damages, and the jury obeyed the instruction, and neither defendant objected to the instruction or verdict, it was error for the court to render judgment against both defendants for the land and one only for damages. Weinert v. Simang, 29 C. A. 435, 68 S. W. 1011.

Finding in trespass to try title, where the general issue was pleaded, held not to authorize judgment for plaintiffs. Morrow v. Fleming, 29 C. A. 547, 69 S. W. 244.

Where there was only one defendant, a verdict "for plaintiff" against the "G., H. & S. A. Ry." authorized a judgment against the "Galveston, Harrisburg & San Antonio Railway Company." Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Hubbard (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 112.

Findings that the parties claimed from common source and that defendants were innocent purchasers justified judgment for defendants. Conner v. Downs, 32 C. A. 588, 75 S. W. 335.

In a proper case the judge may direct the verdict, but he cannot disregard a verdict properly returned and give such judgment as the party is entitled to upon the undisputed evidence. Henne & Meyer v. Moultrie, 97 T. 216, 77 S. W. 608.

Compromise judgment in action for personal injuries held not to be sustained. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Black (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 1071.

Where a legatee unsuccessfully maintained an action on the theory that he could subject real estate to the payment of his legacy, held, that he could not recover on a theory unsupported by the pleadings and evidence. Moerlein v. Heyer, 100 T. 245, 97 S. W. 1040.

The court in rendering judgment held required to consider all the findings. Montgomery v. Montgomery (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 1145.

A judgment must be rendered in accordance with the verdict upon the issue made by the pleadings, and the trial court has no power to render a judgment for only part of the items of damage allowed in the verdict. Rich v. Western Union Telegraph Co. (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 93.

The court may not pass on any issue of fact on which the jury has failed to return a finding, no matter how conclusive the evidence may be. Smith v. Pitts, 57 C. A. 97, 122 S. W. 46.

Where the legal effect of a decree was to set aside a verdict and former judgment in part, and the court had power to vacate the former judgment, if not satisfied, by vacating it in part, he vacated it in its entirety. Cobb v. Works (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 349.

In an action on notes given for bank stock, the action of the court in foreclosing a lien on the stock held error. Nixon v. First State Bank (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 882.

In an action by devisees against the executor and his grantee of estate land, in which the deed was canceled as void for want of authority to execute it, held error to render judgment against the executor's grantee, requiring the application of money received by him for the timber on the land sold, to the payment of a mortgage debt of the estate for payment of which the deed provided. Berry v. Hindman (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1181.

The trial court has no power to enter judgment upon facts well pleaded and undisputably proved unless the issue presented and proved has been found by the verdict in favor of the party for whom judgment is rendered. Oklahoma City & T. R. Co. v. Magee (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 901.

In an action by a mortgagor for the title and possession of the mortgaged premises, where his supplemental petition sought a redemption from the mortgage and the facts therein were generally denied by defendant, a general verdict for plaintiff will not warrant a judgment of redemption, that issue not having been submitted to the jury in the charge. Burks v. Burks (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 337.

A verdict which merely awarded defendant damages on his plea of reconvention, without disposing of plaintiff's claim, was insufficient to support a judgment. Hedrick v. Smith (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 305.

In an action against partners, members of the Palace Electric Garage, where the jury returned a verdict against the partners, by name, composing the firm of the Palace Garage, the court properly entered the judgment against the Palace Electric Garage. Cooper v. Knight (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 349.

Plaintiff sued to recover $322, the price of pumping machinery. Defendant filed a cross-action for $250, for breach of warranty. A judgment on a verdict for plaintiff for $160, and that defendant take nothing, held to dispose of all the issues. A. S. Cameron Steam Pump Works v. Lubbock Light & Ice Co. (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 717.

Where the pleadings by a landlord to recover possession and rent put the plaintiff's title in issue, a general verdict for the defendant would result in a judgment in his favor for both the title and possession of the premises, and a requested instruction authorizing such result is properly refused. Patterson v. Ellis (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 300.

Decree for abatement of a slaughterhouse as a nuisance allowed the plaintiff held proper though there was evidence that the premises had been made cleanly before trial, in view of the verdict that it was a nuisance. Nations v. Harris (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 334.

Where defendant relied on a subsequent written contract superseding the oral contract sued on, but the court admitted evidence of the oral contract as alleged, plaintiff was entitled to recover unless the subsequent written contract was binding on him. Granger v. Kishi (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 1161.

53. —— Special verdict and findings.—Where a special verdict entitled a party to a judgment, the court must either set aside the verdict or render judgment thereon, but cannot render judgment contrary thereto. Scott v. Farmers' & Merchants' Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 485.

A judgment based on the undisputed evidence, but in conflict with a special finding of the jury, held to be unwarranted. Waller v. Liles, 96 T. 21, 70 S. W. 17.

Judgment for possession of cattle, in an action for possession and for damages, held erroneously entered, where the verdict contained only a finding for plaintiff for damages. Hines v. Shafer (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 562.

Judgment for defendant on plea in reconvention held unauthorized by verdict. Union Carpet Lining Co. v. George F. Miller & Co., 38 C. A. 575, 86 S. W. 651.

Verdict in an action against the principal and surety on a building contractor's bond held to sustain a judgment against both. McKenzie v. Barrett, 43 C. A. 451, 98 S. W. 229.

A judgment in action to foreclose chattel mortgage held erroneous as not in conformity to the verdict. G. C. Williams & Co. v. Smith (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 916.

Where the findings of a jury upon two special issues are clearly contradictory, held, that a judgment dependent upon the verdict upon either of the issues cannot be sustained. J. S. Brown Hardware Co. v. Catrett, 45 C. A. 647, 101 S. W. 559.

Findings in an action to recover compensation for personal services held to warrant a judgment for plaintiff. Gate City Roller Rink Co. v. McGuire (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 436.

In an action for injuries to an employé, an affirmative finding on one issue as to negligence held to support a judgment for plaintiff. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Callahan (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 129.

In a suit to foreclose a vendor's lien, a decree foreclosing the lien held proper in view of the findings of the jury and the court, unless the evidence showed as a matter of law that the vendor contracted to waive the lien at the time of sale. Wittliff v. Biscoe (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 1153.

A judgment rendered as to parties interested in a special issue submitted to the jury, but not answered, held invalid. Lipscomb v. Harwell (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 867.

A judgment for plaintiff in an action for fraudulent representations was authorized where the jury specially found that the defendant knew the representations made were untrue at the time of their making, and that the defendant did not in good faith believe his statements to be true, though another finding answered the question whether the statements were untrue in the negative, as the inconsistency must have been created by a clerical error of the jury in transcribing its verdict. Houston v. Darnell Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1061.

Where, in replevin for various articles, the jury found for plaintiff in one sum and did not fix the value of each article, the court had no jurisdiction to render judgment fixing the value separately. Ratliff v. Gordon (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 196.

The refusal to render a judgment for a particular party exclusively on the verdict of the jury on special issues is not error, unless it appears from the verdict that all issues of fact made by the pleadings and the evidence were determined, and that such party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law solely on the findings. Eisenstadt Mfg. Co. v. Copeland (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 713.

A finding that attorneys were entitled to part of land under a deed held to involve a finding that the deed was not one upon a contingency for one-half of the land recovered by the grantor in an action, and hence it was improper to limit their recovery to one-half the land. Morris v. Short (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 633.

The verdict fixing the boundary in trespass to try title should definitely locate the boundary line, and a verdict which merely recited that the jury "find a verdict for plaintiff" was insufficient to support a judgment describing the boundaries as described in the petition. Johnson v. Gary (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 237.

54. —— Amount awarded.—Where the verdict was merely for defendants for damages in a certain amount, it was error to deduct from said amount the amount of the note sued on. Thomas Mfg. Co. v. Griffin, 16 C. A. 188, 40 S. W. 755.

Where there is no evidence to sustain a valuation of property on which a judgment is based, the judgment must be reversed. Sabine Land & Improvement Co. v. Perry (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 327.

In an action for negligence causing the death of a husband and father, a judgment that the wife recover a certain sum, and that such sum be divided in specific amounts between the wife and child, held to conform to a verdict finding for the wife an entire sum, to be divided between her and her child in specific amounts. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 24 C. A. 180, 58 S. W. 622.

Where a verdict in replevin for several articles found the aggregate value thereof, it was insufficient to sustain a judgment for the separate value of each article. Dysart v. Terrell (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 986.

A judgment including previous interest held error, where the court's conclusion of law was to the effect that plaintiff was entitled to recover the face of a benefit certificate sued on, with interest from the date of the judgment. Endowment Rank Supreme Lodge K. P. v. Townsend, 36 C. A. 651, 83 S. W. 220.

Where the jury found a certain amount due a party, it was the province of the court to render judgment therefor. Reasonover v. Riley Bros. (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 220.

55. —— Parties.—A verdict awarding title to the cause of action to an intervener authorizes a judgment against plaintiff, though he is not named therein. May v. Martin, 32 C. A. 132, 73 S. W. 840.

Judgment in favor of party impleaded, on his establishing his right to the fund in question, held proper. Ellis v. National Exch. Bank, 38 C. A. 619, 86 S. W. 776.

In an action for injuries to a minor, an objection that the judgment was in favor of the next friend for the use and benefit of the minor, while the verdict awarded damages to the minor by name, held to be without merit. Gulf Cooperage Co. v. Abernathy, 54 C. A. 137, 116 S. W. 869.

In an action on replevy bond and supersedeas bond in trespass to try title against husband and wife, where the wife was not a proper party and the husband was not made a party because insolvent, judgment should be rendered against sureties alone. Wilson v. Dickey (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 437.

56. —— Interest and attorney's fees.—On a verdict in favor of plaintiff for the principal of a note, judgment cannot be rendered for interest and attorney's fees in addition. Freiberg v. Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., 4 App. C. C. § 142, 16 S. W. 784.

Where, in an action on notes, the jury find for attorney's fees, but fail to fix the amount, the court can, without evidence, fix it. Banks v. House (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 1022.

In an action for the balance due on the purchase price of goods, where plaintiffs did not claim interest, and the verdict did not find any interest in their favor, judgment awarding interest from the date of the sale is improper. Butler v. Holmes (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 52.

A judgment for interest on a sum found by the jury as plaintiff's damages in an action by a shipper against a railroad company for injuries to animals, held unauthorized. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Addison, 96 T. 61, 70 S. W. 200.

In rendering judgment for damages, it is error to include interest from the date of their infliction, when the jury do not find for such interest. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Lane (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 847.

Allowance of interest in a judgment in a builder's action for compensation held properly made. Ripley v. Wenzel (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 897.

Where the jury returned a verdict for a specific sum, the inclusion of interest in the judgment was improper. Knights of Maccabees of the World v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 718; St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Ewing, 145 S. W. 1028.

In an action for conversion, the court properly included in the judgment interest from the date of the conversion, although it made no specific finding that plaintiff was entitled to recover interest. First Nat. Bank v. Mineola State Bank (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 603.

57. —— Alder of judgment.—Where the verdict is found upon special issues the appellate court cannot look beyond it to any fact apparent in the record in aid of the judgment. Kuhlman v. Medlinka, 29 T. 391; Ledyard v. Brown, 27 T. 406; Raines v. Calloway, Id. 685; Sharp v. Baker, 22 T. 306; Collins v. Cook, 40 T. 238; Mabry v. Harrison, 44 T. 286; Mussina v. Shepherd, Id. 626; Frost v. Frost, 45 T. 342; McShan v. Myers, 1 U. C. 100.

58. —— Alder of verdict.—The court in entering a judgment on a verdict cannot look to the evidence to aid or supplement the verdict. Blakeley v. El Paso B. & L. Ass'n (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 292.

59. —— Notwithstanding the verdict.—A motion for judgment non obstante veredicto in favor of the plaintiff will be sustained only when the verdict of the jury is for the defendant upon facts that present no defense. Templeton v. Gibbs (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 736.

Judgment non obstante veredicto held proper in an action against a city for interest on bonds, where the answer showed the money to have been deposited at a bank other than that agreed upon with the purchasers of the bonds. City of Brownwood v. Noel (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 890.

A party aggrieved by a special verdict cannot move the court for judgment notwithstanding such verdict. Scott v. Farmers' & Merchants' Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 485.

Judgment non obstante veredicto will not be entered in favor of plaintiff, against a defendant who has obtained a favorable verdict, on a verdict rendered against his codefendant. Davis v. Pullman Co., 34 C. A. 621, 79 S. W. 635.

A trial court held without authority to enter judgment non obstante veredicto where the case was submitted to a jury and a verdict returned. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. James, 41 C. A. 560, 91 S. W. 654.

An affirmative answer to a special interrogatory submitting an immaterial issue held properly ignored and judgment rendered for plaintiff. Hicks v. Armstrong (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 1195.

A judgment notwithstanding the verdict is improper. Hicks v. Armstrong (Civ App.) 142 S. W. 1195; Pacific Express Co. v. Rudman, 145 S. W. 268; Fant v. Sullivan, 152 S. W. 515; Tobin v. McComb, 156 S. W. 237.

60. Disposition of rights of parties.—Judgment that plaintiff recover disposes of plea in set-off. Hoefling v. Dobbin (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 58.

Where suit is brought on a debt secured by mortgage, part of which is due and part not, upon default of payment of first note suit may be maintained for the foreclosure of the lien by the sale of the entire property if the land is not properly susceptible of division. The decree should be so rendered as to make equitable provision for the payment of all the notes embraced in the mortgage lien, and it should be so shaped if the matter is not concluded by the rebatement of the interest on the notes not due as that the court shall have control of the case and the title of the land until the notes secured by the mortgage lien are satisfied. Warren v. Harrold, 92 T. 417, 49 S. W. 364.

Where the plaintiff has prayed for general relief, he may recover whatever the facts alleged and proved entitle him to, although he may have prayed for a special relief, for which the facts of his petition as alleged do not constitute an appropriate predicate. Wagner v. Westchester Fire Ins. Co., 92 T. 549, 50 S. W. 569.

The court has the right to judicially ascertain the amount due upon unmatured notes and provide for payment of same. And where an insurance policy is payable in installments, if suit is brought before all are due, court can in the judgment provide for their payment when the unmatured ones become due. New York Ins. Co. v. English (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 442, 443.

A judgment against several makers of a note, liable as between themselves to contribute to those paying the note their equal part ratably distributed between the solvent makers, must provide for contribution from the solvent makers in the event the sheriff collects the whole judgment, or more than the pro rata share, from one maker. Twichell v. Askew (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1072.

61. —— Judgment for infants.—See Title 37, Chapter 22.

62. —— Objections, grounds of.—See notes under Art. 2019.

63. Dormancy of judgment.—See notes under Title 54.

64. Revival of.—See notes under Art. 5696.

An excess of 59 cents in the judgment above the amount due will not be noticed in supreme court, no action of the court below having been requested relative thereto. Washington Life Ins. Co. v. Gooding, 19 C. A. 490, 49 S. W. 123.

A proper judgment will not be reversed because a bad reason is given therefor. Avery et al. v. Popper et al., 92 T. 337, 49 S. W. 219, 50 S. W. 122, 71 Am. St. Rep. 849.

Judgment in action to revive former judgment, although it did not state that former judgment was revived, but stated that last judgment was substituted for former, held valid. Bludworth v. Poole, 21 C. A. 551, 53 S. W. 717.

In a proceeding by scire facias to revive a judgment, the entry should be that plaintiff have execution. Taylor v. Doom, 43 C. A. 59, 95 S. W. 4.

A judgment held valid in so far as it revives a former judgment, though invalid in so far as it seeks to increase the amount thereof. Id.

In determining whether a judgment on scire facias sufficiently identifies the judgment, the statements contained in the writ may be looked to. Delaune v. Beaumont Irr. Co. (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 518.

A judgment on a scire facias held erroneous, in so far as it undertook to adjudicate the amount of costs for which an execution was directed to issue. Id.

Rule 62a for courts of civil appeals (149 S. W. x), does not require the affirmance of a judgment notwithstanding the erroneous submission of a ground of negligence not alleged in the petition in view of Arts. 1524 and 1827, and this article. Ft. Worth & D. Ry. Co. v. Wilkinson (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 203.

Under the statute providing that a dormant judgment may be revived by a scire facias or an action of debt thereon, a new judgment may be rendered in a proceeding by scire facias to revive a judgment. Collin County Nat. Bank v. Hughes (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1181.

65. Non-residents, judgments in suits against.—See notes under Title 37, Chapter 23.

66. Injunctions against.—See notes under Art. 4643.

67. Execution on.—See notes under Title 54.

68. Sequestration.—See notes under Title 122.

69. Foreign judgments.—Recitals of appearances in judgments are conclusive only in courts of domestic jurisdiction. League v. Scott, 25 C. A. 318, 61 S. W. 521.

A valid judgment of a state court is binding on the courts of another state. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Swartz, 53 C. A. 389, 115 S. W. 275.

A judgment of a federal court sued upon in the courts of the state in which the judgment of the federal court was entered is entitled under the provision of the federal Constitution as to full faith and credit to the effect given judgments of the state courts of equal authority. Edwards v. Smith (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 1161.

The comity between foreign governments to recognize judgments defined. Banco Minero v. Ross & Masterson (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 224.

A judgment of a foreign court held without effect in the courts of Texas. Id.

Manner of determining the force of a foreign judgment defined. Id.

One voluntarily appearing in the court of a foreign country held not precluded from urging in the courts of Texas the invalidity of such judgment on other grounds than that of lack of jurisdiction over his person. Id.

A finding by the United States circuit court of appeals, in trespass to try title, that the evidence made a question for the jury held without effect, upon trial of another suit on the same cause of action between the same parties in the state court. Tompkins v. Creighton-McShane Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 306.

Though a judgment of a federal court fixing water rights was entered in a suit, in which all the parties to a cause in the state court concerning the same water rights were parties, it would not necessarily abate the cause, for though the federal decree was res adjudicata, it would not deprive the state court of jurisdiction to enforce it. Biggs v. Miller (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 632.

70. —— Limitation of actions on.—See notes under Art. 5691.

Art. 1995. [1336] [1336] For or against one or more plaintiffs, etc.

—Judgment may, in a proper case, be given for or against one or more of several plaintiffs, and against or for one or more of several defendants or intervenors.

Joint and several judgments.—In a suit against several defendants for the recovery of a debt, it is not necessary that the plaintiff should prove that all of the defendants are bound in order to recover against any of them. Keithley v. Seydell, 60 T. 78; Stevens & Anderson v. Gainsville Nat. Bank, 62 T. 499.

Where plaintiff sues joint tort-feasors, and asks joint judgment, it is not error, where judgments are rendered separately against them for different amounts. Rowan v. Daniel, 20 C. A. 321, 49 S. W. 686.

Though plaintiff sued several for a joint tort, he may recover against one; the evidence only connecting him with the wrong. Williams v. Goff (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 428.

Where a verdict for damages for injuries caused by falling into an unprotected trench had been rendered against a gas company, the fact that the city, which was a joint tort-feasor, had been released by the jury, did not justify a reversal against the gas company; it being ultimately liable. San Antonio Gas Co. v. Singleton, 24 C. A. 341, 59 S. W. 920.

Though the verdict found a joint liability against both defendants, the judgment properly decreed a joint and several liability. Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Crump, 32 C. A. 222, 74 S. W. 335.

One, suing for a nuisance created by a salt company, held entitled to recover only for the injuries inflicted by the salt company, and not for injury suffered from the acts of a railroad company. Southern Salt Co. v. Roberson (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 107.

Where a plea was available to any party regardless of the others, the court did not err in acting upon the plea because a party defendant had not been served with citation. Miller v. Drought (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 145.

In a suit by several complainants to restrain the location of a cemetery, because it would pollute their wells and springs, it was error to decide the case on the theory that, if any of the complainants were entitled to an injunction, it was immaterial whether all were or not. Elliott v. Ferguson, 101 T. 317, 107 S. W. 51.

In an action against joint wrongdoers, held, that one defendant could not complain that the other defendants were acquitted. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 453.

In an action against joint tort-feasors, a dismissal as to one did not affect the liability of the other. Equitable Life Assur. Soc. of United States v. Lester (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 499.

A verdict for plaintiff in an action for negligence against two held not to authorize a joint judgment against both for the total of the sums awarded. City of Ft. Worth v. Williams, 55 C. A. 289, 119 S. W. 137.

Individual liability of joint tort-feasors stated. Haubelt Bros. v. Hirsch (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 435.

Joint tort-feasors are liable, severally as well as jointly, for the whole damage resulting from the wrongful act. Moore & Savage v. Kopplin (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1033.

In an action for injuries against two defendants, a verdict having been rendered for a single sum against both, it was error to render judgment against each for one-half the amount of the verdict. Citizens' Ry. & Light Co. v. Case (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 621.

A joint verdict against several railroads controlled by one of the roads justifies a joint and several judgment against the railroads. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Cox (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 265.

Where, in an action for injury to personal property in transportation against two railroad companies, defendant D. Company prayed for recovery over against defendant B. Company, a verdict in favor of plaintiff for $179 against the D. Company and a judgment over against the B. Company for only $50 was not necessarily erroneous. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Jordan (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 676.

Contribution.—A railroad company which raised the grade of a street without authority, and the contractor doing the work, held not joint tort feasors, so as to preclude the latter from recovering over against the former in an action by an abutter for damages. Denison & P. Suburban Ry. Co. v. James, 20 C. A. 358, 49 S. W. 660.

Failure to apply for joint judgment.—Where separate judgments were rendered against connecting carriers, and plaintiff did not apply for a joint judgment, he was not entitled to such relief on appeal. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Lawson, 55 C. A. 388, 119 S. W. 921.

Time to object to judgment.—An objection that a judgment improperly awarded execution jointly and severally against defendants named held not available when made for the first time on appeal. Sanger Bros. v. Corsicana Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 737.

Judgment for a party and third person.—A judgment in favor of plaintiff and of another, who was not a party to the action, held a nullity. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Skeeter Bros., 44 C. A. 105, 98 S. W. 1064.

—— For wife alone.—Where husband and wife sue for damages to wife's separate property, a judgment in favor of wife alone is irregular. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Red Cross Stock Farm, 22 C. A. 114, 53 S. W. 834.

Judgment for each defendant.—A separate judgment in favor of each individual defendant held proper in restitution where a mandatory injunction was improperly issued. Texas Land & Irrigation Co. v. Sanders, 101 T. 616, 111 S. W. 648.

Effect of judgment for cotenant.—Judgment in favor of one of several cotenants held to inure to the benefit of all. Schriver v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 231.

Confession of judgment by one defendant.—A confession of judgment by one of two defendants, jointly sued, held not to affect the other's right to dismissal. Loudon v. Robertson (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 783.

Art. 1996. [1453] [1449] Several counts, some good and others bad.—Where there are several counts in the petition, and entire damages are given, the verdict or judgment, as the case may be, shall be good, notwithstanding one or more of such counts may be defensive. [Act May 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 105. P. D. 1460.]

Validity of verdict or judgment.—A verdict cannot be set aside as to one count of the declaration and retained as to the other, and judgment rendered on the latter portion of the verdict. Hume v. Schintz, 16 C. A. 512, 40 S. W. 1067.

Where there are two or more issues, on either of which the judgment may rest, and only one is complained of, the judgment may rest upon the others, when supported by any evidence. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ratley (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 407.

Where a case is tried by the judge, a general judgment rendered without any statement of the grounds of its rendition will be sustained on appeal if it may rest upon any ground. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Kropp (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 819.

Where a plaintiff seeks relief under several causes of action, and verdict is on one without mentioning others, and the judgment conforms thereto, held to dispose of all other causes of action the same as if expressly disallowed. Crain v. National Life Ins. Co. of United States, 56 C. A. 406, 120 S. W. 1098.

Where the verdict is general, and there were two theories presented on which the case was tried, an erroneous instruction on one theory will require a reversal of the case. St. Louis, B. & M. Ry. Co. v. Yznaga (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 267.

In an action against a railroad company for setting separate fires on separate days, judgment for plaintiff held not subject to reversal for insufficiency of the evidence to show the cause of one of the fires. Gulf, T. & W. Ry. Co. v. Lowrie (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 367.

Evidence of total loss of logs occurring at two different times held insufficient to support a judgment for the loss occasioned at one of these times, where the loss at either time was not proven with reasonable accuracy. Burr's Ferry, B. & C. R. Co. v. Allen (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 358.

Art. 1997. [1337] [1337] But one final judgment.—Only one final judgment shall be rendered in any cause, except where it is otherwise specially provided by law.

Essentials of final judgment.—A judgment is final, notwithstanding something remains to be done to give it effect. Merle v. Andrews, 4 T. 200; Cannon v. Hemphill, 7 T. 184; McFarland v. Hall, 17 T. 690; White v. Mitchell, 60 T. 164.

A judgment is final when the whole of the matter in controversy is disposed of. Warren v. Shuman, 5 T. 441; Dyer v. Sullivan, 18 T. 770; Spiva v. Williams, 20 T. 443; Fitzgerald v. Fitzgerald, 21 T. 415; McAlpin v. Bennet, 21 T. 535; Barnett v. Caruth, 22 T. 174, 73 Am. Dec. 255; Martin v. Wade, 22 T. 224; Holt v. Wood, 23 T. 474, 76 Am. Dec. 72; Green v. Banks, 24 T. 522; Neyland v. White, 25 T. 319; Stafford v. King, 30 T. 277; Linn v. Arambould, 55 T. 611; Eastham v. Sallis, 60 T. 576; Parker v. Spencer, 61 T. 155; Ewing v. Cohen, 63 T. 482; Lay v. Bellinger, 1 App. C. C. § 24; Giersa v. Yocum, 1 App. C. C. § 310; Horton v. McKeehan, 1 App. C. C. § 467. As to all the parties. Rhone v. Ellis, 30 T. 30; Simpson v. Bennett, 42 T. 241; Stewart v. State, 42 T. 242; Boles v. Linthicum, 48 T. 220; Rodrigues v. Trevino, 54 T. 198. But see Burton v. Varnell, 5 T. 139; Burnett v. Sullivan, 58 T. 535; Stephenson v. Tennant, 1 App. C. C. § 543; Hensley v. B. S. F. Co., 1 App. C. C. § 720; Rutta v. Laffera, 1 App. C. C. § 823.

There can be no final judgment in a case against several defendants until the case is finally disposed of as to all. Wooters v. Kauffman, 67 T. 488, 3 S. W. 465; citing Martin v. Crow, 28 T. 614; Hulme v. Janes, 6 T. 242, 55 Am. Dec. 774; and explaining Roberts v. Heffner, 19 T. 130.

In a suit against an agent by his principal, who was joined with other defendants, when a recovery is sought for the value of property belonging to the principal, and sold and converted by the agent and the purchasers, his codefendants, and the codefendants ask no judgment over against the agent in the event of a recovery against themselves, it is not error to enter judgment on a verdict returned, under instructions, against the codefendants alone, and in favor of the agent. Coleman v. Colgate, 69 T. 88, 6 S. W. 553.

When several causes have been consolidated, the judgment to be final must dispose of the litigation as to all parties in such suit. Mills v. Paul, 1 C. A. 419, 23 S. W. 189.

A final judgment must dispose of all issues as to all parties. Railway Co. v. Reynolds (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 846.

A decree held final, though reserving power in the court to modify it in certain respects. Graham v. Coolidge, 30 C. A. 273, 70 S. W. 231.

A judgment for plaintiff is not final unless it disposes of the matters pleaded by defendant setting up a cross-action against codefendant. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Epps & Matsler (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 1012; Same v. Harlan (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 1013.

—— Actions against partnership.—See notes under Art. 2006.

In a suit against a partnership it is not necessary to enter a discontinuance as to the partner not served. Burnett v. Sullivan, 58 T. 535.

But when both are served, the case must be disposed of as to both. Stephenson v. Tennant, 1 App. C. C. § 543.

—— Judgments which are final.—Where a minor sues by next friend, a judgment in favor of the minor, without in express terms disposing of the next friend, is a final judgment from which an appeal can be taken. Railway Co. v. Stuart, 1 C. A. 642, 20 S. W. 962.

In suit against two defendants, judgment reciting that plaintiffs shall "take nothing by this suit, and that defendant H. go hence without day," held final as to both defendants. Moore v. Powers, 16 C. A. 436, 41 S. W. 707.

The omission of an order of dismissal as to a party that died pending suit, and before judgment, did not preclude the judgment from being final. Wilson v. Smith, 17 C. A. 188, 43 S. W. 1086.

Judgment on foreclosure of vendor's lien held final, though no disposition of a cross action was made thereon as to a third party who had not been served nor brought in by leave of court. Harris v. Sanders (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 29.

A judgment, allowing plaintiff a reasonable sum during pendency of a suit to establish his rights under a will, is such a final judgment as that an appeal will lie therefrom. McCreary v. Robinson, 92 T. 408, 49 S. W. 212.

Where a party sues to recover real estate, personalty and moneys received, and obtains judgment for a certain sum of money, such judgment is final, though no disposition of the real estate is made therein. Davies et al. v. Thompson et al., 92 T. 391, 49 S. W. 215.

A judgment sustaining a general demurrer to the petition is final, where the petition is not amended, and the judgment is not set aside or appealed from. Winter v. Texas Land & Loan Co. (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 802.

The finality of a judgment held not open to question on the ground that the verdict did not dispose of the plea of minority of one of the defendants. S. W. Slayden & Co. v. Palmo (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 908.

A judgment held a final adjudication and cannot be set aside at a subsequent term, in the absence of equitable grounds therefor. Kuteman v. Carroll (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 222.

Where a defendant sued for debt pleads in reconvention for damages, the general verdict in favor of plaintiff, and judgment in accordance therewith, finally disposes of all matters in issue. Crain v. National Life Ins. Co. of United States, 56 C. A. 406, 120 S. W. 1098.

Plaintiff and defendant planned to build a mill, and secured donations of a specified five acres of ground and certain moneys, and entered into a partnership agreement that each was to have an undivided interest of one-half in said donations, and plaintiff was to have one-fourth interest in the mill property after its completion. All the obligations assumed in constructing the mill had been discharged out of profits thereof, and the plaintiff sued defendant for misappropriation, and prayed for an undivided one-half interest in said five acres of land, for an undivided one-fourth interest in the mill plant and for his proper share of the accumulated profits. Held, that a judgment following a verdict finding "for the plaintiff in the sum of $2,500 and one-fourth undivided paid out interest in the * * * mill plant" was final, and that it adjudicated the plaintiff's right in the undivided five acres of land, which will be held, under the circumstances, to be part of the mill plant. Kendrick v. Lunsford (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 480.

A judgment for defendants removing a cloud from title and that plaintiff suing to remove a cloud on his title shall take nothing against defendants or either of them, in a suit by an heir against coheirs and the administrator, is a final judgment as to all the parties, though it inadvertently omits the name of the administrator. Straight v. Goodwin (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 425.

—— Judgments not final.—A judgment against one of several defendants is not final, although their defenses are independent. Nasworthy v. Draper, 29 S. W. 557, 9 C. A. 650; Reid v. Cavitt, 10 C. A. 373, 30 S. W. 575.

Where defendant pleads in reconvention, a judgment in his favor for costs, without any reference to his plea in reconvention, is not a final judgment. American Road Mach. Co. v. City of Crockett (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 251.

A judgment in favor of an intervener held to show that no final judgment had been rendered in the cause prior to his intervention. Campbell v. Upson (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 358.

A default judgment against a defendant duly cited, who fails to appear, and which does not dispose of the issue as to a codefendant appearing and obtaining a continuance, is not a "final judgment," and there is no warrant for abstracting it. Blankenship & Buchanan v. Herring (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 882.

An order refusing to set aside an order for alimony and to quash an execution to enforce it, though issued after the dismissal of the suit, is not a "final judgment." Dawson v. Dawson (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 513.

Number of judgments.—But one final judgment can be rendered. Martin v. Crow, 28 T. 613.

In an action of trespass to try title against several defendants, each claiming a separate part of the land, there may be more than one final judgment. It would follow that the fate of the judgment in favor of one or more of the defendants is not dependent upon the result of a motion for new trial or to vacate the judgment made by the other defendants. Such motion may be allowed as to one or more defendants without affecting the judgment as to others, and in such case as to others the judgment would be final. Boone v. Hulsey, 71 T. 176, 9 S. W. 531.

In an action on an open verified account, an individual defendant held a party, so that judgment against him and in favor of the other defendants disposed of all the defendants to the suit. Rotan Grocery Co. v. Tatum (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 342.

—— Fees.—See notes under Art. 3907.

Effect of new trial.—See notes under Art. 2019.

When a new trial is granted as to some of the parties, the original judgment becomes interlocutory. Long v. Garnett, 45 T. 400; Lay v. Bellinger, 1 App. C. C. § 23.

An order granting a new trial on the motion of one only of several parties jointly and severally sued vacates the judgment as to all. Railway Co. v. James, 73 T. 12, 10 S. W. 744, 15 Am. St. Rep. 743.

An order granting a new trial requires a retrial of the whole cause. Schintz v. Morris, 13 C. A. 580, 35 S. W. 516, 825.

Where the action is for false imprisonment and malicious prosecution, and there is a finding for plaintiff on the charge of false imprisonment, and for the defendant on the other branch of the case, the court can not grant a new trial to the defendant on the first branch of the case and permit the verdict in his favor on the other branch to stand. Hume v. Schintz, 16 C. A. 512, 40 S. W. 1067.

A judgment must be treated as an entirety. A new trial granted as to some of the judgment debtors operates to set aside the judgment as a whole. Levy v. Gill (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 84; St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Smith, 99 S. W. 172.

Defendant, by agreeing to severance of action as to him, after judgment in his favor, and new trial granted, and by going to trial on severed action, waives rights under original judgment. Parker v. Stephens (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 878.

Where, in a joint action against connecting carriers for injury to goods shipped, there is judgment against one carrier, but in favor of the other, a new trial granted the former does not entitle plaintiff to new trial against the other. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Moore, 103 T. 349, 127 S. W. 797, affirming Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Moore (Civ. App.) 119 S. W. 697.

Granting a new trial vacates the judgment rendered on the prior one. Wolf v. Sahm (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 733.

A setting aside of a final judgment as against one of several defendants sets it aside as to all. Danner v. Walker-Smith Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 295.

—— Of reversal.—See notes under Art. 2019.

A reversal on the appeal of one defendant held to require a new trial as to another defendant against whom the verdict was not rendered. Oriental Inv. Co. v. Sline, 17 C. A. 692, 41 S. W. 130.

If a judgment in favor of a minor suing for injuries is reversed, a judgment for his mother, suing for loss of services, must also be reversed, both actions having been consolidated, and tried together. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnson, 91 T. 569, 44 S. W. 1067.

It is within the appellate court's discretion to reverse as to one and affirm as to the other of two joint tort feasors, who might have been sued separately, but were joined and included in one judgment. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Enos, 92 T. 577, 50 S. W. 928.

Where a judgment has been affirmed in favor of all the defendants except one, and reversed as to that one, and remanded, for the purpose of trying the issues between him and plaintiff, proof tendered by plaintiff of its original cause of action against all the defendants is inadmissible. New York & T. Land Co. v. Votaw (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 125.

When a case is reversed by the court of civil appeals and remanded back to the trial court, it occupies on the docket the same attitude (towards all parties concerned therein) as if it had not been tried. It constitutes the granting of a new trial, which by operation of law opens up the entire case. Lauchheimer & Sons v. Coop (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 60, 61.

Where all the claimants to the proceeds of certain policies were not parties to an appeal, the appellate court on reversal could not render judgment finally disposing of the funds. Nixon v. Malone (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 577; New York Life Ins. Co. v. Same (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 585; Mutual Life Ins. Co. v. Same, Id.; Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co. v. Same, Id.

Where, in trespass to try title, plaintiffs and interveners pooled their issues, the erroneous exclusion of evidence as against interveners held to require a reversal as against both interveners and plaintiffs. Kirby v. Hayden, 44 C. A. 207, 99 S. W. 746.

In an action against two railroads, a judgment in favor of one not appealed from by plaintiff held conclusive notwithstanding a reversal of the judgment in general terms on appeal by the other defendant. Colorado & S. Ry. Co. v. Hamm, 47 C. A. 196, 103 S. W. 1125.

The reversal of a judgment as to the sureties in an action on a guardian's bond held not to affect plaintiff's rights as against the executrix of the deceased guardian not appealing. Moore v. Hanscom, 101 T. 293, 108 S. W. 150.

Where the court presented several distinct items to the jury separately, and their findings thereon in favor of defendant are supported by the evidence, in reversing a judgment for defendant for an error relating to a different branch of the case, the judgment will be affirmed as to the other items. Benjamin v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 49 C. A. 473, 108 S. W. 408.

A cause held a proper one to be reversed as to all defendants, where the court made an erroneous ruling as to one defendant. Williams v. Texas & N. O. R. Co., 52 C. A. 217, 114 S. W. 877.

Where, in an action against several joint tort-feasors, there was no pleading by one of defendants claiming contribution, and he asserted no right on appeal to relief against the judgment, it would be affirmed as to him, though reversed as to the other defendants. Wimple v. Patterson (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 1034.

Where two defendants were sued for the same debt, which it was claimed one of them had assumed and agreed to pay, that the verdict in favor of such defendant is against the weight of evidence is no reason for setting aside the verdict in favor of the other, which is supported by the evidence of both plaintiffs. Bowman v. Saigling, 102 T. 485, 119 S. W. 295.

Error in trespass to try title, in which the west and south boundaries were in dispute, in authorizing a finding for defendant if the west boundary was as claimed by him, without requiring a finding as to the other disputed boundary, held not to require reversal of the entire judgment for defendant where the evidence supported the finding as to the west boundary. Miles v. Eckert (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1137.

In trespass to try title, where the amount of land in controversy is very small, the claimants very numerous, and the evidence somewhat unsatisfactory, an appellate court may, in its discretion, affirm as to those whose rights have been properly determined, and reverse and remand as to those whose evidence appears to be insufficient. Hess v. Webb, 103 T. 46, 123 S. W. 111.

Where a judgment against connecting carriers must be reversed as to one, it will be reversed as to both, where appellee does not ask a severance. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Peacock (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 463.

Where the rights of one party are dependent on those of another, the appellate court will treat the judgment appealed from as an entirety, and where a reversal is required as to one party, it will reverse the judgment as a whole. Ferguson v. Dickinson (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 221.

An appellee presenting cross-assignments held not entitled to relief demanded against two defendants, only one of whom appealed. St. Louis, B. & M. Ry. Co. v. True Bros. (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 837.

Where the judgment was reversed as to part of the defendants, it was necessary to reverse as to all who contested plaintiffs' claim of title. Burnham v. Hardy Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 330.

A reversal and remand for new trial as to one of several appellants requires a reversal as to all of them, but, where some of the parties below have not appealed and the cause of action is severable, their acquiescence in the judgment will be considered as a voluntary severance, and the judgment will be affirmed as to them, though reversed as to those who appealed. Danner v. Walker-Smith Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 295.

A reversal as to two of the defendants, jointly sued and jointly liable, would work a reversal as to all of the defendants and a vacation of the entire judgment against them. Beckwith v. Powers (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 177.

And the court could not affirm as to a third defendant, although no error was assigned to the direction of a verdict for it. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Crowder (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 281.

Art. 1998. [1338] [1338] Judgment may pass title, etc.—Where the judgment is for the conveyance of real estate, or for the delivery of personal property, the decree may pass the title to such property without any act to be done on the part of the party against whom the judgment is rendered. [Act May 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 120. P. D. 1481.]

Judgment for personalty or value.—Ordinarily a judgment is rendered for each specific article sued for or its value. Blakely v. Duncan, 4 T. 184; Cheatham v. Riddle, 8 T. 162; Hoeser v. Kraeka, 29 T. 459.

In suits for specific personal property, the judgment should be for the recovery of the property or its value. Lang v. Dougherty, 74 T. 226, 12 S. W. 29.

A seller held entitled to a money judgment for the goods sold. Caldwell v. Dutton, 20 C. A. 369, 49 S. W. 723; Corbett v. Sayers, 29 C. A. 68, 69 S. W. 108.

A plaintiff having established his right to one-third of the property in question, he was entitled to judgment against all defendants in respect thereto, and also for such a charge on their several interests for rents received as was warranted by the evidence. Kalteyer v. Wipff, 92 T. 673, 52 S. W. 63.

Judgment in replevin held not satisfied without delivery or tender of the entire property or its value as stated therein. Pauls v. Mundine, 37 C. A. 601, 85 S. W. 43.

In a suit for specific property the inquiry is, not what is its special value, but whether it has a special value to plaintiff, in order that the court may enforce the delivery of the property to him, instead of a satisfaction of the judgment therefor by paying its value. Hammond v. Decker, 46 C. A. 232, 102 S. W. 455.

Passing of title.—A judgment for the value of personal property passes title to the defendant. Railway Co. v. McKinsey, 78 T. 298, 14 S. W. 645, 22 Am. St. Rep. 54.

A tender of property to plaintiff in whose favor an alternative judgment was rendered held ineffective, the officer being the proper party to receive the property. Childs v. Wilkinson, 15 C. A. 687, 40 S. W. 749.

Where separate value of articles replevied is not shown, it is not necessary that the judgment fix such value. Byrne v. Lynn, 18 C. A. 252, 44 S. W. 311, 544.

A judgment held to conclusively establish that defendant city had conveyed land to co-defendant, and to just as effectually pass title as a voluntary conveyance. Gordon v. Thorp (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 357.

A judgment for plaintiff for the value of property need not declare in terms its effect to vest title to the property in defendant. Smith v. So Rill (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 38.

In an action of replevin of a stock of shoes, the judgment in plaintiff's favor should permit the defendant to return any of the property pro tanto in satisfaction of the judgment. Clopton v. Goodbar (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 972.

Plaintiffs having recovered upon a warranty all the chattel would have been worth if it had been of the kind represented, the judgment restores to the defendant property in the chattel when satisfied. Ash v. Beck (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 53.

Where a machine was sold by fraud, the purchaser, in an action for the price, was entitled to a return of payments and a cancellation of the notes for the purchase price. Hallwood Cash Register Co. v. Berry, 35 C. A. 554, 80 S. W. 857.

A seller held entitled to recover the goods sold, and the buyer to recover personalty accepted by the seller in part payment. Jesse French Piano & Organ Co. v. Williams (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 948.

Right to specific performance.—A party seeking to enforce the specific performance of a contract for the conveyance of land must show that he has done or offered to do, or is then ready and willing to do, all that is essential and material. Herman v. Gieseke (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 1006.

Art. 1999. [1339] [1339] Court shall enforce its own decrees, and may in certain cases do so by contempt process.—The court shall cause its judgments and decrees to be carried into execution; and, where the judgment is for personal property, and it is shown by the pleadings and evidence and the verdict, if any, that such property has an especial value to the plaintiff, the court may award a special writ for the seizure and delivery of such property to the plaintiff; and the court may, in addition to the other relief granted in such case, enforce its judgment by attachment, fine and imprisonment. [Act May 11, 1846, p. 200, sec. 17. P. D. 1420.]

Writ of possession.—A writ of possession for the seizure and delivery of specific property is regarded by Art. 3728 as of the nature of an execution, and may be levied as provided for by Art. 7769 upon personal property claimed by a person not a party to that writ. Lackey v. Campbell (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 46.

Enforcement by mandamus.—In a proceeding to enforce a judgment by mandamus, the validity of the cause of action on which it is based, cannot be attacked collaterally. City of Sherman v. Langhan, 92 T. 13, 42 S. W. 961, 39 L. R. A. 258.

Entry of as condition precedent to enforcement.—Entry of a judgment for street improvements in a book of the city collector held not a condition precedent to liability for the assessment. Bennison v. City of Galveston, 18 C. A. 20, 44 S. W. 613.

Measure of relief.—The district court in all cases within the scope of its jurisdiction has authority to grant any measure of relief, whether in law or equity, that could at common law be granted either by a court of law or equity. Teas v. Robinson, 11 T. 776; Shulte v. Hoffman, 18 T. 678; Tucker v. Anderson, 25 T. Sup. 158; Voigtlander v. Brotze, 59 T. 286.

—— Lost instruments.—In a suit to establish a lost certificate of stock, transferable by indorsement, the judgment should provide for ample indemnity to the company, and the cause should remain on the docket until from lapse of time or otherwise the risk to the company had ceased. Galveston City Co. v. Sibley, 56 T. 269.

Where note is lost after maturity, indemnity should be required. Wiedenfeld v. Gallagher (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 333.

—— Specific performance.—In a suit for the specific performance of a verbal contract for the purchase of land, judgment was rendered in favor of plaintiffs for the land, and required plaintiffs to pay money to the defendants, but gave no execution for its collection. On appeal the judgment was affirmed, and the supreme court say, in the opinion, if the plaintiffs fail to pay as directed, the defendants may ask and have all orders necessary to their protection. Smith v. Miller, 66 T. 74, 17 S. W. 399.

—— Contempt.—Though part of an order was invalid, defendant was in contempt in not obeying the valid part. Ex parte Tinsley (Cr. App.) 40 S. W. 306, 66 Am. St. Rep. 808.

In proceedings for contempt in failing to obey an order of court, respondent may question such order only in so far as he can show it to be absolutely void. Lytle v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 41 C. A. 112, 90 S. W. 316.

Recovery of property or value.—See notes under Art. 1998.

Ownership of judgment, jurisdiction of court to determine.—The question of the ownership of a money judgment, as between adverse claimants, could be determined by a court other than that which rendered the judgment, and such determination would be binding upon the parties to the action to determine ownership. Kruegel v. Rawlins, 103 T. 86, 124 S. W. 419.

Art. 2000. [1340] [1340] Judgment of foreclosure of liens.—Judgments for the foreclosure of mortgages and other liens shall be that the plaintiff recover his debt, damages and costs, with a foreclosure of the plaintiff's lien on the property subject thereto, and, except in judgments against executors, administrators and guardians, that an order of sale shall issue to the sheriff or any constable of the county where such property may be, directing him to seize and sell the same as under execution, in satisfaction of the judgment; and, if the property can not be found, or if the proceeds of such sale be insufficient to satisfy the judgment, then to make the money, or any balance thereof remaining unpaid, out of any other property of the defendant, as in case of ordinary executions. [Act May 13, 1846, p. 303, sec. 119. P. D. 1480.]

See Bailey v. Block, 104 T. 101, 134 S. W. 323.

1. Action for foreclosure.
2. —— Condition precedent.
3. Compensation of officers.
4. Deficiency, levy for.
5. Distinction between mortgage and conditional deed.
6. Election of remedies.
7. Execution, issuance of.
8. —— Staying.
9. Findings authorizing foreclosure.
10. Foreclosure of several liens.
11. Jurisdiction of foreclosure suits.
12. Levy on nonmortgaged property.
13. Parties.
14. Personal and foreclosure judgments.
15. Priority of liens.
16. Recovery of possession by purchaser.
17. Requisites and validity of judgment.
18. —— Against deceased taxpayer or mortgagor.
19. —— Against husband and wife.
20. Conformity of judgment to pleadings, proof and verdict.
21. Conclusiveness of judgment.
22. Revocation of power of sale.
23. Sales under foreclosure.
24. —— Validity.
25. Collateral security.
26. Satisfaction.

1. Action for foreclosure.—This article provides the only judicial remedy for a mortgagee in the courts of Texas, viz., a suit upon a debt, judgment for the recovery of the debt, a foreclosure of the mortgage lien and a sale of the mortgaged property for the satisfaction of the judgment. Laing v. Queen City Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 136.

A petition in a suit to foreclose a vendor's lien on separate tracts under distinct contracts, held insufficient to sustain foreclosure against both tracts. Dishman v. Frost (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 358.

2. —— Conditions precedent.—This statute applies to and should be followed in all cases in which there is no other defendant than the judgment debtor; but it is not to be so construed as to compel a plaintiff to obtain a personal judgment against his debtor as a prerequisite to a judgment of foreclosure against a purchaser from the debtor. Slaughter v. City of Dallas (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 219.

3. Compensation of officers.—Under this article and Arts. 3747 and 7101, a court may allow a sheriff compensation in a proceeding against him to recover money collected by him under an order of sale, in which he filed an answer, claiming compensation for taking care of live stock levied on, which was equivalent to a motion to retax costs. Coleman Nat. Bank v. Futch (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 957.

4. Deficiency, levy for.—Under this article and Art. 3734 a sheriff holding an order of sale under mortgage foreclosure cannot estimate in advance the proceeds that will probably result from the sale, and levy execution for the probable balance on other property, the judgment provided for and the writ thereunder being contingent as to any deficiency until it is rendered certain by sale of the mortgaged property; and a sale of mortgagor's general property under a foreclosure judgment before exhausting the mortgaged property is void. Bailey v. Block, 104 T. 101, 134 S. W. 323.

5. Distinction between mortgage and conditional deed.—Mortgage distinguished from a conditional deed. See Alston v. Cundiff, 52 T. 462; Loving v. Milliken, 59 T. 423; Gibbs v. Penny, 43 T. 560; Hart v. Eppstein, 71 T. 752, 10 S. W. 85; Gray v. Shelby, 83 T. 408, 18 S. W. 809; Baker v. Collins, 23 S. W. 493, 4 C. A. 520.

6. Election of remedies.—A mortgagee cannot sue to foreclose and exercise a power of sale at the same time; but, having abandoned his suit to foreclose, he may sell under the power. Openshaw v. Dean (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 989.

7. Execution, issuance of.—A valid execution can be issued under a judgment which does not in terms authorize the issuance of an execution. Ryan v. Raley, 48 C. A. 187, 106 S. W. 751.

8. —— Staying.—In a suit upon two notes, one due and the other not due, and to foreclose vendor's lien on land, judgment may be rendered on both notes with foreclosure of lien. When a part of the note not due remains unsatisfied after the common security has been exhausted, execution on the balance should be stayed until its maturity. Davis v. McGaughey (Civ. App.) 32 S. W. 447.

9. Findings authorizing foreclosure.—Where there is no finding as to the lien a judgment of foreclosure is unauthorized. Morgan v. Richardson (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 171.

A verdict finding a valid lien authorizes a judgment of foreclosure. Warner v. Mortgage Co. (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 817.

Judgment foreclosing a vendor's lien held valid, though the findings of the court stated the land to be in the wrong county. Ferguson v. McCrary, 20 C. A. 529, 50 S. W. 472.

In a suit to foreclose a chattel mortgage, a judgment of foreclosure against a certain defendant is not authorized, in the absence of a finding in favor of plaintiff for a foreclosure against such defendant. Martin v. Berry Bros. (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 712.

10. Foreclosure of several liens.—The holder of several liens on the same property can have but one foreclosure. The purchaser takes title against the liens not foreclosed, although knowing of such other liens. Vieno v. Gibson, 85 T. 432, 21 S. W. 1028.

11. Jurisdiction of foreclosure suits.—The language "and if the property cannot be found" contemplates the probable loss or destruction or removal of the property and supports the conclusion that it is not the mere present locality of the property mortgaged but its value that confers jurisdiction upon the court to try the controversy. The existence of the lien, the value of the property, and the amount of the original debt are the issues presented in the petition, and not the present locality of the property so far as the jurisdiction of the court is concerned. McDaniel v. Staples (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 598.

12. Levy on nonmortgaged property.—Even if, under this article, a levy on other property of the judgment debtor may not properly be had, till after sale of the lien property, though the lien property be insufficient to satisfy the judgment, yet, the order conferring authority for sale of other property to satisfy any part of the judgment remaining unsatisfied by sale of the lien property, sale thereof after sale of the lien property, though on a levy made before sale of the lien property, would be but an irregularity, for which the sale could not be collaterally attacked. Bailey v. Block (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 955.

13. Parties.—As to parties to suits for foreclosure of liens, see Maulding v. Coffin, 25 S. W. 480, 6 C. A. 416.

On foreclosure of vendor's lien, the rights of a third person claiming adversely cannot be determined. Whitaker v. Big Sandy Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 263.

A judgment in an action to foreclose the lien of a trust deed of land would not be set aside because one having joint interest with defendant and the grantee were not made parties defendant. Phelps v. Farmers' Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 1003.

A foreclosure judgment against community property held valid, though heirs of a deceased member of the community were not made parties in the action. Barrett v. Eastham, 28 C. A. 189, 67 S. W. 198.

The holder of a mechanic's lien for improvements on a building was not bound by a judgment in a suit brought to foreclose a prior mortgage, to which he was not a party. Citizens' Nat. Bank v. Strauss, 29 C. A. 407, 69 S. W. 86.

A judgment in a suit to foreclose a delinquent tax lien held a judgment against all of the parties to the suit. Ball v. Carroll, 42 C. A. 323, 92 S. W. 1023.

Foreclosure of a vendor's lien did not affect the rights of one not made a party thereto. Gamble v. Martin (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 386.

Under this article and Arts. 3732, 6631, 6632 an estate which was surety on notes secured by a vendor's lien should be made a party defendant in an action against the principal debtor on the notes and to foreclose the lien, in order to enable the executrix of the estate to protect the equitable rights of the estate; and hence the principal could not be proceeded against alone in the district court for a personal judgment, and the claim afterwards prosecuted against the estate in the probate court. Hume v. Perry (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 594.

Decree foreclosing vendor's lien held inoperative as to purchaser from the vendee, who was not a party to the suit. Ross v. Bailey (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 961.

14. Personal and foreclosure judgments.—One who holds a mortgage on land may, in the first instance, as between himself and the original mortgagor, or a subsequent purchaser with notice, obtain both a personal judgment against the mortgagor and a decree of foreclosure. Delespine v. Campbell, 52 T. 4.

Agreement between parties in action to enforce vendor's lien, held to justify personal judgment against defendant. Ward v. Wilson, 17 C. A. 28, 43 S. W. 833.

In action to recover rent and foreclose a lien, a general verdict will not support judgment of foreclosure. Scoggins v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 216.

Refusal on foreclosure to give judgment in favor of mortgagor for the full amount of the mortgage against one who had assumed the mortgage held proper. Devine v. United States Mortg. Co. of Scotland (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 585.

In an action on a note and to foreclose a lien on land, where there is no proof that a lien existed, it is error to enter judgment for foreclosure. Murray v. Dallas Homestead & Loan Ass'n (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 604.

A verdict which failed to show that property sought to be subject to a landlord's lien was so situated as to be subject thereto would not support a judgment foreclosing the lien thereon. Miller v. Newbauer (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 974.

In an action to foreclose a mortgage, judgment for the debt was properly entered against the mortgagor, and for foreclosure against an assignee of the property in whose possession it was. Johnson v. Brown (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 485.

A judgment in a suit on a vendor's lien note establishing a lien on the land, but not against defendant, held proper. Brandenburg v. Norwood (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 587.

In a suit by a vendor who had expressly retained a lien to recover the land, a decree rendering judgment for the purchase money and for foreclosure of the lien held proper. Branch v. Taylor, 40 C. A. 248, 89 S. W. 813.

A judgment for the foreclosure of a chattel mortgage for a specific amount held proper. Roche v. Dale, 43 C. A. 287, 95 S. W. 1100.

In an action on a note given for the purchase money of land, defendants held not entitled to equitable relief. Bolden v. Hughes, 48 C. A. 496, 107 S. W. 91; Id. (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 93.

In foreclosure of a chattel mortgage, where it is impossible to reach the property to satisfy the debt, the court may decree a personal judgment against defendant without foreclosure. McDaniel v. Staples (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 596.

In an action to foreclose a vendor's lien, no judgment except for foreclosure held to be rendered against a defendant succeeding to the rights of the purchaser under the pleadings in the case. Dolinski v. First Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 276.

A judgment against a vendee of land for taxes is personal and not a judgment in rem. Lippincott v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1070.

In an action to declare an absolute deed a mortgage and to recover the land, or, if that relief could not be granted, that plaintiff be given a judgment for the amount received by defendant on a sale of the land to codefendant less the amount of the mortgage debt, the court on finding that the deed was a mortgage had jurisdiction to render the money judgment as prayed. Beauchamp v. Parrish (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 333.

A personal judgment held properly entered against a wife in an action on a debt incurred by husband and wife to build a house on the wife's separate estate. Cain v. Bonner (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 702.

In action to foreclose vendor's lien, judgment held not to be rendered against assignor of lien for the amount remaining unsatisfied after a sale because of his unauthorized release of the lien. Busch v. Broun (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 683.

15. Priority of liens.—The mere fact that one of two promissory notes, secured by a lien on land, first matures, will not, of itself, entitle the assignee to priority, but to equality only, of payment from the proceeds of the security. Delespine v. Campbell, 45 T. 632; Robertson v. Guerin, 50 T. 323; Delespine v. Campbell, 52 T. 4; Salmon v. Downs, 55 T. 243; Wooters v. Hollingsworth, 58 T. 371.

A judgment in favor of the holder of a promissory note which forecloses a mortgage lien executed to secure the same, cannot affect the security afforded by the mortgage to one not a party to the proceeding, and who holds another unpaid note, jointly secured by the same mortgage. Delespine v. Campbell, 52 T. 4.

A judgment in a suit to foreclose a mortgage held to finally classify and fix the rank of the demands. St. Louis Union Trust Co. v. Texas Southern Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 296; Orient Trust Co. v. St. Louis Union Trust Co., 126 S. W. 310.

16. Recovery of possession by purchaser.—Where the sheriff fails to put the purchaser of mortgaged property under a judgment of foreclosure in possession, the clerk may issue another execution directing the sheriff to dispossess the defendant and persons claiming under him. Morris v. Morgan, 92 T. 92, 45 S. W. 1002.

Where a writ of possession is issued, the sheriff has the right to execute it as many times as necessary until the day he is required to return the writ. Smith v. State, 46 Cr. App. 267, 81 S. W. 936, 108 Am. St. Rep. 991.

17. Requisites and validity of judgment.—A vendee sold part of a tract of land on which the vendor's lien remained. In a suit to foreclose the lien with the proper parties, the court can protect the purchaser from the vendee by adjusting the equities between him and those claiming by purchase under him. Ballard v. Carter, 71 T. 161, 9 S. W. 92.

In foreclosing a mechanic's lien, when the original owner of the house and a purchaser under attachment levied after the mechanic's lien was fixed are made defendants, the decree should direct that whatever remains from the proceeds of sale, after satisfying the mechanic's lien, should be paid to the purchaser under attachment. Trammell v. Mount, 68 T. 210, 4 S. W. 377, 2 Am. St. Rep. 479.

This article prescribes the form of decree to be rendered foreclosing a mortgage without regard to whether it be personal property or realty. Frankel v. Byers, 71 T. 308, 9 S. W. 160.

When judgment in action by an assignee against mortgagor for debt may require that land be first exhausted before issuance of execution against the mortgagor. Harris v. Masterson, 91 T. 171, 41 S. W. 482.

Judgment on foreclosure of chattel mortgage held not objectionable. Oxsheer v. Watt (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 121.

In action to foreclose vendor's lien secured by note providing for attorney's fees on collection, the court can render judgment foreclosing the fees as well as the principal. Bozman v. Masterson (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 758.

A decree foreclosing a vendor's lien held to sufficiently describe the lands. Edling v. Burnett, 19 C. A. 287, 46 S. W. 907.

A judgment of foreclosure containing an insufficient description held sufficient, where the land was described in another deed, to which it referred as containing a better description. Sanger v. Roberts, 92 T. 312, 48 S. W. 1.

Where a trust deed is sought to be foreclosed for a part of the debt before maturity of the remainder, foreclosure should only be decreed for the amount due. Warren v. Harrold, 92 T. 417, 49 S. W. 364.

Judgment of foreclosure of vendor's lien against a party in possession and his remote warrantor, who was also a lienor of equal standing with plaintiff, held not defective in not making the warrantor share equally with plaintiff in the proceeds of the foreclosure sale. Lewis v. Ross (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 504.

Where, under a mortgage valid as between the parties, the mortgagee is given possession, a decree adjudging it fraudulent as to a creditor is not erroneous because such mortgagee remains in possession until the premises are sold. Schultze v. Schultze (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 56.

A decree foreclosing a vendor's lien on land owned by a corporation held not invalid because of the release from liability of an intermediate purchaser. Fox v. Robbins (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 597.

Judgment in an action on a mortgage note held not a judgment foreclosing the mortgage, so as to aid description in sheriff's deed. Edrington v. Hermann (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 936.

In action on a vendor's lien note, the holder of another note of the series not being a party held error to enter judgment that, if the land should bring enough to satisfy the entire debt, a sum to satisfy the outstanding note should be paid to the owner thereof. Soule v. Ratcliff, 33 C. A. 260, 76 S. W. 583.

In action on purchase-money notes and to foreclose vendor's lien, judgment on notes, with stay of execution and order of sale, held to sufficiently protect purchaser's rights on discovery of defect in title. McLean v. Connerton (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 238.

Description of land in the judgment in suit to enforce taxes held insufficient to sustain sale thereunder. Peareson v. Branch (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 222.

Where vendor's lien notes given for the price of land reserved interest and attorney's fees, it was error for the court, on foreclosure of such lien, to refuse to allow interest and attorney's fees. Smith v. Ellis, 39 C. A. 211, 87 S. W. 856.

In an action to impose a lien on certain sugar manufacturing machinery and the land on which it was located, a judgment in favor of plaintiff for the entire relief demanded held error. Id.

Certain judgment and sale of land thereunder in tax suit held void. Crosby v. Terry, 41 C. A. 594, 91 S. W. 652.

A judgment foreclosing a mortgage cannot require a purchaser of the mortgaged premises, not assuming the debt, to pay the debt. Rabb v. Texas Loan & Investment Co. (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 77.

In a suit to foreclose a mortgage given by the heirs of a deceased owner to secure the payment of his debts, a judgment directing the order of sale of the premises held erroneous. Adams v. Bartell, 46 C. A. 349, 102 S. W. 779.

A judgment in proceedings to sell land for nonpayment of taxes held not void for error in description and in giving the wrong name of the patentee. Wren v. Scales, 55 C. A. 62, 119 S. W. 879.

Where the instrument through which plaintiff claimed was a mortgage executed by defendant to plaintiff's grantor to secure a debt, judgment should have been rendered for plaintiff for the amount of the debt with a foreclosure of the lien; the mortgage debt not being paid and the petition praying for that relief. Moorhead v. Ellison, 56 C. A. 444, 120 S. W. 1049.

A judgment foreclosing a vendor's lien on an entire tract instead of on an undivided half thereof held void as to an undivided half. Keller v. Lindow (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 304.

A judgment foreclosing a vendor's lien and ordering sale held not improper in failing to order a part of the excess, if any, to be paid to the holder of a life estate, where no showing has been made as to the value of such life estate. Shannon v. Buttery (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 858.

A judgment in tort for removing a building from land securing vendor's lien notes, held not to constitute double recovery. Bowden v. Bridgman (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1043.

18. —— Against deceased taxpayer or mortgagor.—In giving judgment against two mortgagors, the estate of one of whom was then in probate, unless it appeared that the mortgage was a partnership transaction and covered partnership property, only the interest of the mortgagor living should have been ordered sold, and the judgment should have been certified to the county court for observance. Watson v. Blymer Mfg. Co., 66 T. 558, 2 S. W. 353.

There can be no judgment against an estate as an estate. Perry v. Whiting, 56 C. A. 550, 121 S. W. 903.

19. —— Against husband and wife.—In an action against husband and wife on notes for land, the judgment for the debt should be against the husband alone, and for foreclosure of the lien should be against both. Sigal v. Miller (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 1012.

Where a wife is a party to a foreclosure of a mortgage given by her husband, but a superior prior adverse title to the land claimed by her is not attacked, it is error to award a writ of possession against her. Branch v. Wilkens (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 1083.

In a suit to foreclose a mortgage executed by a married woman to secure a note executed by her, no personal judgment can be rendered against her. Adams v. Bartell, 46 C. A. 349, 102 S. W. 779.

Where at the time a woman executing a note and mortgage to secure the same was single, a judgment of foreclosure and a personal judgment against her were proper. Id.

20. Conformity of judgment to pleadings, proof, and verdict.—See note under Art. 1994.

In a suit for taxes against several jointly, a several judgment is not sustained by a petition which does not even allege generally which defendants own the several tracts or the amount of taxes assessed against each tract. Borden v. City of Houston, 26 C. A. 29, 62 S. W. 426.

Where a decree for tax sale of an entire league referred to an exhibit in the petition therefor which showed that in no one year had the entire league been reported sold for taxes or delinquent, it was void, as beyond the jurisdiction of the court. Schaffer v. Davidson, 44 C. A. 100, 97 S. W. 858.

Where a defendant in an action for delinquent taxes prayed that its vendors should be made parties, and that, if plaintiff should recover taxes, penalties, and costs or any part thereof, the defendant should recover judgment over against the vendors for such amount under their warranty, judgment could be rendered against the vendors for taxes, penalties, and costs. Gordon v. State (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 867.

21. Conclusiveness of judgment.—See also notes under Art. 1994.

A judgment foreclosing a tax lien cannot be impeached by collateral attack. Bean v. City of Brownwood (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 1036.

Judgment foreclosing a tax lien not void on its face, held conclusive of the correctness of the assessment. Houssels v. Taylor, 24 C. A. 72, 58 S. W. 190.

Copy of a foreclosure judgment held not admissible in evidence over the objection of defendant, who was an incumbrancer, and not a party to or notified of the foreclosure. First Nat. Bank v. Hicks, 24 C. A. 269, 59 S. W. 842.

Judgment foreclosing a supposed tax lien and deed to the purchaser and writ of possession held inadmissible in trespass to try title brought against the purchaser by the owner of the land, who was not the person against whom it was taxed. Mumme v. McCloskey, 28 C. A. 83, 66 S. W. 853.

Where plaintiff's deed to land in controversy was filed for record February 12, 1904, and a suit to try title brought December 21, 1904, plaintiff's rights could not be affected by a tax judgment rendered January 3, 1905, to which plaintiff was not a party. Bradley v. Janssen (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 506.

Where members of a firm owning land as partnership property mortgaged the same to secure a firm debt, a sale under foreclosure passed the title to the whole property as against the estate of one of the partners, deceased. Thompson v. Bender, 51 C. A. 81, 111 S. W. 170.

Where a suit to foreclose a lien for taxes was brought solely against an estate, and citation was addressed to such estate, and judgment rendered against it, the owner of the property was not bound. Perry v. Whiting, 56 C. A. 550, 121 S. W. 903.

A married woman not a party to an action to foreclose a vendor's lien on an undivided half interest in land occupied by herself and husband as a homestead held not bound by the judgment foreclosing the lien on the entire land, and she may sue in trespass to try title. Keller v. Lindow (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 304.

A stranger to a materialman's foreclosure suit given a mortgage prior to judgment held not affected by a nunc pro tunc amendment of the judgment after the term. General Electric Co. v. Canyon City Ice & Light Co. (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 78.

22. Revocation of power of sale.—The power of sale in a deed of trust is not revoked by the death of the mortgagor. Openshaw v. Dean (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 989.

23. Sales under foreclosure.—In a suit to foreclose a vendor's lien on one of four notes, the other notes not being due, the judgment should provide for payment of the other notes from the sale. Tidwell v. Starr (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 778.

On foreclosure of vendor's lien on an indorsed note the judgment should provide that execution be first levied on the property of the maker. Id.

In foreclosure sales the order is for a sale as under execution. Ostrom v. Arnold (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 632.

24. —— Validity.—When the district court has obtained jurisdiction of the property in controversy by a proceeding substantially in rem, it has the power, in order to execute the decree of foreclosure, to designate some officer to make the sale at the time, place and in the manner usual in foreclosure sales in this state; and a sale made accordingly is not void, as would be an ordinary execution sale of land made in violation of the mandatory statute. Buse v. Bartlett, 1 C. A. 335, 21 S. W. 52.

Irregularity in selling a mortgagor's general property on judgment in foreclosure, under this article, before exhausting the mortgaged property, is subject to collateral attack. Bailey v. Block, 104 T. 101, 134 S. W. 323.

25. Collateral security.—In an action on collateral note, the court can render judgment for the amount of the debt, instead of the full amount of the note. Green v. Scottish-American Mortg. Co., 18 C. A. 286, 44 S. W. 319.

In a suit on a note and to foreclose the lien on bonds put up as collateral, as shown by a contract in evidence, it is not necessary that the bonds themselves be introduced in evidence. McIlhenny v. Planters' & Mechanics' Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 282.

In an action on a note secured by pledge of an unmatured vendor's lien note, the court properly foreclosed the lien on the note pledged and ordered the same sold to satisfy the judgment on the note sued on, instead of foreclosing the vendor's lien. City Loan & Trust Co. v. Sterner, 57 C. A. 517, 124 S. W. 207.

A creditor held not entitled to a personal judgment against the landlord of a third person who is indebted to the debtor on a note secured by cotton raised on the landlord's premises. Clements v. Dowdy (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 942.

The seller of property, to whom the purchasers had given their notes for the price, secured by a pledge of notes given to them by buyers from them, sued on all the notes, asking, as did also the pledgors, that the rights of all parties be adjusted. Judgment was rendered against all the defendants, execution to be levied first against the makers of the collateral notes; any balance unsatisfied to be collected from the pledgors. Held, that the makers of the collateral notes had no ground of complaint. Daugherty v. Wiles (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1089.

26. Satisfaction.—Certain amounts held to operate as a satisfaction pro tanto of a judgment enforcing the contract to assume notes. Continental State Bank of Beckville v. Trabue (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 209.

Art. 2001. [1341] [1340a] Writ of possession awarded.—When any order foreclosing a lien upon real estate is made in a suit having for its object the foreclosure of such lien, in any court having jurisdiction, such order shall have all the force and effect of a writ of possession, as between the parties to such suit of foreclosure and any person claiming under the defendant to such suit by any right acquired pending such suit; and the court shall so direct in the judgment providing for the issuance of such order; and the sheriff or other officer executing such order of sale shall proceed by virtue of said order to place the purchaser of the property sold under the same in possession thereof within thirty days after the day of sale. [Acts of 1885, p. 10.]

Amendment of judgment.—When there is a judgment for plaintiff foreclosing a vendor's lien and granting an order of sale, the judgment can be amended at a subsequent term by providing that the officer executing the order of sale shall put the purchaser in possession within thirty days after the day of sale. Johnston v. Fraser (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 50.

Assistance, writ of.—Prior to the amendment of February 10, 1885, it was held that the district court had power to grant relief in favor of a purchaser at foreclosure sale made under its judgment, when the defendant refuses to surrender the premises by the issuance of a writ of assistance, to place the plaintiff in possession, without requiring him to institute proceedings for that purpose. Voigtlander v. Brotze, 59 T. 286.

Sufficiency of description of land.—The land ordered to be sold should be identified by the description in the judgment. Hurt v. Moore, 19 T. 269; Castro v. Illies, 22 T. 479, 73 Am. Dec. 277; Wofford v. McKinna, 23 T. 36, 76 Am. Dec. 53; Seguin v. Maverick, 24 T. 526, 76 Am. Dec. 117; Pressley v. Testard, 29 T. 199; Davenport v. Chilton, 25 T. 518; Gear v. Hart, 31 T. 135; Schmidt v. Mackey, 31 T. 659; Hearne v. Erhard, 33 T. 60; Townsend v. Ratcliff, 50 T. 148; Norris v. Hunt, 51 T. 609; Steinbeck v. Stone, 53 T. 382; Knowles v. Torbitt, 53 T. 557; Waters v. Spofford, 58 T. 115; Bowles v. Beal, 60 T. 322.

Art. 2002. [1342] [1341] Judgment on appeal, etc., from county court.—Judgments on appeal or certiorari from any county court sitting in probate shall be certified to such county court for observance. [Act May 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 60. P. D. 1460.]

Art. 2003. [1343] [1342] On appeal, etc., from justice's court.—Judgments on appeal or certiorari from any justice's court shall be enforced by the county court.

Art. 2004. [1344] [1343] Judgments against executors, etc.—Where a recovery of money is had against an executor, administrator or guardian, as such, the judgment shall state that it is to be paid in the due course of administration, and no execution shall issue on such judgment, but the same shall be certified to the county court, sitting in matters of probate, to be there enforced in accordance with law. [Act May 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 118. P. D. 1479.]

See Cunningham v. Taylor, 20 T. 126; Heath v. Garrett, 46 T. 23.

Liability of devisees and legatees.—See notes under Art. 3235.

Judgment for or against, administrators, executors or devisees and legatees.—In determining whether a judgment against one as "executor" was against him individually, the pleadings may be examined. Croom v. Winston, 18 C. A. 1, 43 S. W. 1072.

In action against the maker of a note and administrator of indorser, the administrator cannot object to judgment because it was against both as principals. Williams v. Planters' & Mechanics' Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 617.

Tax judgment against executors held not void, on the theory that judgment was rendered within a year of decedent's death, where date of death of decedent did not appear from pleadings. Ross v. Drouilhet, 34 C. A. 327, 80 S. W. 241.

A judgment in a suit against independent executors to recover taxes due on city lots is not rendered void, but at most voidable, if erroneous at all, by failure to serve one of the executors. Id.

In suit by executors to set aside tax judgment and sale, contention that such judgment and order of sale were directed against defendants personally, and not as executors, held without merit. Id.

It was proper for a judgment against an independent executrix to contain an award of execution against the estate. Hartz v. Hausser (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 63.

A foreclosure decree against the mortgagor's administrator was sufficient to bind the property of the estate against which the foreclosure was had. Flack v. Breman, 45 C. A. 473, 101 S. W. 537.

Judgment for an administrator in an action to recover money belonging to the estate held inadequate. Manchester v. Bursey, 48 C. A. 633, 107 S. W. 557.

Sufficiency of description of land.—An inaccuracy in the description of the property in a petition and judgment for plaintiff, in a proceeding to state aside an administrator's deed, held immaterial. Kalteyer v. Wipff (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 1055.

Enforcement of judgment.—A judgment against an independent executrix held properly enforced by execution, instead of being certified to the probate court for payment in due course of administration. Ellis v. Mabry, 25 C. A. 164, 60 S. W. 571.

A judgment in a suit to fix defendant's liability as executor and legatee under a will does not authorize execution for the sale of any property other than that received by defendant from the testator's estate. Texas Savings-Loan Ass'n v. Banker, 26 C. A. 107, 61 S. W. 724.

In action in district court against administrators and others to foreclose vendor's lien, judgment against administrators for deficiency held to be enforced by county court under the probate statutes, and not by an execution issued by the district court. Stewart v. Webb (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 537.

Art. 2005. [1345] [1344] Against executors acting independently of probate court.—The preceding article shall not apply to judgments against an executor who has been appointed and is acting under a will dispensing with the action of the county court in reference to such estate; but such judgment shall be enforced against the property of the testator in the hands of such executor, by execution, as in other cases.

See notes under Art. 2004.

Art. 2006. [1347] [1346] Against partners when all not sued.—Where the suit is against several partners jointly indebted upon contract, and the citation has been served upon some of such partners, but not upon all, judgment may be rendered therein against such partnership and against the partners actually served, but no personal judgment or execution shall be awarded against those not served. [Act Feb. 5, 1858, p. 110, sec. 2. P. D. 1514.]

See Alexander v. Stern, 41 T. 193; Burnett v. Sullivan, 58 T. 535.

Appearance by partner.—The entry of an appearance and the filing of a general denial by one partner confers jurisdiction to foreclose an attachment and to render any other judgment affecting only the firm estate. Sanger Bros. v. Overmier, 64 T. 57; Henderson v. Banks, 70 T. 398, 7 S. W. 815.

A person doing business in a partnership name as sole member, who is sued in that name, is liable on a judgment rendered in such name, where he appeared and answered in person. Easterwood v. Burnitt (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 934.

Dismissal as to a partner.—See notes under Art. 1863.

In an action against a firm after dismissal as to one member judgment can only be rendered against the remaining personally served. Glasscock v. Price, 92 T. 271, 47 S. W. 965. This judgment reforms Id. (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 415.

Judgment held to show on its face that a defendant not served was a member of defendant firm. Glasscock v. Price (Sup.) 47 S. W. 965.

The partners not served ought not to be dismissed from the case, since to bind the partnership property the judgment should be rendered against all for the interests of those not served are as much affected as those served. Staacke Bros. v. Walker & Chilcoat (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 409.

Where, in an action against a firm, the court sustained a plea of privilege on behalf of the only partner served, and dismissed him from the suit, the court thereby deprived itself of the right to render judgment against the firm. Ketelsen & Degetau v. Pratt Bros. & Seay (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 1172.

A judgment against a firm held void because of the dismissal of the action as to a partner. McManus v. Cash & Luckel, 101 T. 261, 108 S. W. 800.

Dissolution of partnership.—The dissolution of the partnership before suit does not affect the creditor's right to such judgment, so long as there is partnership property which could be subjected to execution upon a judgment obtained by service upon all the partners. Alexander v. Stern, 41 T. 193.

Parties.—In an action by a firm on a firm contract, one of the partners was a proper party, though not individually interested in the contract sued on because of an agreement between himself and the other partner, so that the court could not direct a finding for defendant because such partner had no individual interest in the contract. Floore v. J. T. Burgher & Co. (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 1152.

In an action on an open verified account against an individual and a firm consisting of that individual and others, the individual was party to the suit for all purposes which could affect him, either individually or as a partner in the firm, so that a judgment against him and in favor of the other defendants disposed of all the defendants to the suit. Rotan Grocery Co. v. Tatum (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 342.

Petition.—A judgment against a nonresident firm was unsustainable, where the petition did not allege the names of the partners. Perry-Rice Grocery Co. v. W. E. Craddock Grocery Co., 34 C. A. 442, 78 S. W. 966.

Judgments, validity.—Partnership property may be subjected to the debts of the partnership by service of citation on one member of the firm; and when the petition and citation authorizes the inference that this is the purpose of the suit, a judgment against the partnership is valid. Alexander v. Stern, 41 T. 193.

A partner cannot complain because judgment is rendered against him alone on a firm note, in an action against the firm. Hoxie v. Farmers' & Mechanics' Nat. Bank, 20 C. A. 462, 49 S. W. 637.

This article should be considered in connection with Art. 1863, and under these statutes judgment be rendered against the firm and the member served with citation. Blumenthal v. Youngblood, 24 C. A. 266, 59 S. W. 290.

In an action against the partners for a partnership debt, service upon one partner only is sufficient to sustain a judgment against the firm under which the interest of all its members in the property of the partnership and the separate property of the member served may be subjected, but not the separate property of those not served. Staacke Bros. v. Walker & Chilcoat (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 409.

Judgment may be rendered against the partnership in a case when one partner has been served with citation, as well as against the partner cited. State v. Cloudt (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 416.

In an action against a firm the fact that judgment was rendered against the firm alone did not invalidate it. Ketelsen & Degetau v. Pratt Bros. & Seay (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 1172.

Where the petition in an action against a firm was sufficient to support a judgment against each partner personally, as well as against the firm, a partner against whom a personal judgment was rendered could not complain because no such judgment was rendered against the copartners. First Bank of Springtown v. Hill (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 652.

In an action against the original members of a copartnership and the assignees of their interest therein, who, with knowledge of the firm's obligations, had assumed those of their assignors, to recover purchase money because of the firm's breach of its contracts for the sale of land, held, that there was no error in a judgment that the original partners recover over against their assignees amounts which they were required to pay on the judgment. Kinney County Land Co. v. Cubbage (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 591.

Right of purchaser at execution sale.—A purchaser at execution sale of the interest of a partner in firm property held not prevented from recovery for failure to prove the extent of his interest or the value of the goods converted between the sale and trial; the trustee in bankruptcy of the debtor partner having intervened. Jones v. Meyer Bros. Drug Co., 25 C. A. 234, 61 S. W. 553.

Art. 2007. [1348] [1347] Confession of judgment.—Any person indebted, or against whom a cause of action exists, may, without process, appear in person or by attorney, and confess judgment therefor in open court; but in such case a petition should be filed and the justness of the debt or cause of action be sworn to by the person in whose favor the judgment is confessed. [Act May 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 116. P. D. 1477.]

See Douglas v. State, 58 Cr. R. 122, 124 S. W. 933, 137 Am. St. Rep. 930.

Absence of affidavit.—A judgment without affidavit is erroneous but not void. Hopkins v. Howard, 12 T. 7.

Admissions in answer.—Where an answer is filed admitting the debt and consenting to a judgment the justness of the debt need not be sworn to. Lanier v. Blunt (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 202.

Affidavit by attorney.—The affidavit cannot be made by an attorney. Montgomery v. Barnett, 8 T. 143. See Art. 11.

Agreement of parties.—See Arts. 1881, 2008.

This article applies to judgments entered by agreement of parties. Lauderdale v. R. & T. A. Ennis Stationery Co. (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 834.

Where a judgment setting aside certain orders in probate has been entered by agreement, neither the parties to the record at that time, nor those claiming through them by purchase subsequent to that judgment, can be heard to claim that it should not have been entered without other parties before it. Kalteyer v. Wipff, 92 T. 673, 52 S. W. 63.

Where an agreement for judgment was filed, and the court ordered "judgment as per agreement filed," a judgment entered thereon is valid, though it does not recite that evidence was heard. Day v. Johnson, 32 C. A. 107, 72 S. W. 426.

Where a defendant corporation stipulates for the entry of a certain judgment after an action has been brought, held, it is immaterial whether it appears at the rendition of judgment. Forty-Acre Spring Live Stock Co. v. West Texas Bank & Trust Co. (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 417.

A stipulation, made pending a suit, agreeing that a certain judgment might be entered, held equivalent to a confession of judgment and binding on a defendant corporation. Id.

A judgment by consent cures all errors except those resulting from lack of jurisdiction which parties could not confer by a recorded agreement, and it is no objection that pleadings do not support relief granted. Parks v. Knox (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 203.

Applicability of provision.—It does not apply to a stipulation in a bond that a suit may be brought in the county in which a contract is to be performed. Ft. Worth Board of Trade v. Cook, 25 S. W. 330, 6 C. A. 324.

This article and Arts. 2008, 2009, have no application to a confession of judgment in an action of trespass to try title. Hunt v. Wright (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1007.

Construction of power of attorney.—As to construction of power, see Strasburger v. Hiedenheimer, 63 T. 5; Ludiker v. Ratto, 2 App. C. C. § 116.

Filing of power of attorney.—The power of attorney must be on file when the judgment is rendered. Grubbs v. Blum, 62 T. 426.

Requisites of judgment.—It is not necessary to recite that a judgment is confessed for a stated sum; the amount due can be ascertained by reference to the petition (Little v. Crittenden, 10 T. 192), and the judgment must conform to its allegations (Storey v. Nichols, 22 T. 87; Janson v. Bank, 48 T. 599; Frazier v. Woodward, 61 T. 449).

Service of process.—When process has been served judgment may be confessed without compliance with the directions of this article. Rankin v. Filburn, 1 App. C. C. § 797; citing Merritt v. Clow, 2 T. 582; Flannagan v. Bruner, 10 T. 257; Chambers v. Hodges, 23 T. 104; Gerald v. Burthee, 29 T. 202; Schroeder v. Fromme, 31 T. 602; Cruger v. Sullivan, 11 C. A. 377, 32 S. W. 448.

Withdrawal of answer.—When process has been served, and the answer is withdrawn and a judgment is rendered by nil dicit, it will have the same effect as a judgment by confession, and operates as a waiver of all errors except such as relate to the jurisdiction of the court. Cartwright v. Roff, 1 T. 78; Burton v. Lawrence, 4 T. 373; Wheeler v. Pope, 5 T. 262; Prewitt v. Perry, 6 T. 260; Flannagan v. Bruner, 10 T. 257; Storey v. Nichols, 22 T. 93; Garner v. Burleson, 26 T. 348; Goss v. Pilgrim, 28 T. 263; Gilder v. McIntyre, 29 T. 89; Lessing v. Cunningham, 55 T. 231; Graves v. Cameron, 77 T. 273, 14 S. W. 59.

And is binding on the sureties of a replevin bond given in the case. Garner v. Burleson, 26 T. 348.

A withdrawal of an answer after the overruling of an exception to the petition does not operate as a waiver of error in the judgment on the exception. Janson v. Bank, 48 T. 599.

Art. 2008. [1349] [1347a] The acceptance of service and waiver of process.—The acceptance of service and waiver of process, provided for in article 1880, and the entry of appearance in open court as provided for in article 1881, or the confession of judgment as provided for in article 2007, shall not in any action be authorized by the contract or instrument of writing sued on, or any other instrument executed prior to the institution of such suit, nor shall such acceptance or waiver of service be made until after suit brought. [Acts of 1885, p. 33.]

Agreement for filing petition and taking judgment.—An agreement endorsed on the original petition, before filing, waiving citation and agreeing, "that petition may be filed and judgment taken at any time," is void. O'Neal v. Clymer, 21 C. A. 386, 52 S. W. 619.

Applicability of provision.—This article and Arts. 2007, 2009, have no application to a confession of judgment in an action of trespass to try title. Hunt v. Wright (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1007.

Guardian's acceptance of service.—The fact that the alleged guardian accepted service of the petition before suit was filed does not render the judgment void, this article having been enacted long after the acceptance of service here considered. Logan v. Robertson (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 397.

Presumption.—In view of this article it will be presumed, as to a case where service was waived and judgment rendered, that the waiver was executed after suit was instituted by filing the petition. Philadelphia Underwriters' Agency of the Fire Ass'n of Philadelphia v. Neurenberg (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 357.

Art. 2009. [1350] [1348] Confession of, by attorney.—When the judgment is confessed by attorney, the power of attorney shall be filed, and a recital of the contents of the same be made in the judgment. [Id.]

See notes under Art. 2007.

Applicability of provision.—This article and Art. 2007 have no application to a confession of judgment in an action of trespass to try title. Hunt v. Wright (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1007.

Art. 2010. [1351] [1349] Releases errors, but may be impeached, etc.—Every judgment by confession duly made shall operate as a release of all errors in the record thereof, but such judgment may be impeached for fraud or other equitable cause. [Id. sec. 117. P. D. 1478.]

Art. 2011. [1352] [1350] Other judgments, when authorized by law.—The court may render such other judgment and in such form as may be authorized by law.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

REMITTER AND AMENDMENT OF JUDGMENT

Article 2012. [1353] [1351] Remitter of excess in verdict.—Any party in whose favor a verdict has been rendered may in open court remit any part of such verdict; and such remitter shall be noted on the docket and entered in the minutes, and execution shall thereafter issue for the balance only of such judgment, after deducting the amount remitted. [Act May 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 133. P. D. 52.]

Amount of remittitur.—The entire amount recovered, either as damages or in the nature of an offset, may be remitted. Railway Co. v. Wilkes, 68 T. 617, 5 S. W. 491, 2 Am. St. Rep. 515; Beard v. Miller, 4 App. C. C. § 76, 16 S. W. 655.

Where, in an action by the seller to rescind a sale against defendants, who had replevied the goods, the jury entered a general verdict against all defendants, the court was authorized to enter judgment against each for a less sum on plaintiff entering a remittitur. Bonner v. Springfield Wagon Co. (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 1032.

Curing by remittitur in general.—A remitter will cure the error only in cases where the measure of damage is matter of law. Thomas v. Womack, 13 T. 580; Hughs v. Brooks, 36 T. 379; Hardeman v. Morgan, 48 T. 103; Hoskins v. Huling, 2 App. C. C. § 156. And see T. & N. O. R. R. Co. v. White, 55 T. 251; Heidenheimer v. Schlett, 63 T. 394; Railway Co. v. Redeker, 75 T. 310, 12 S. W. 855, 16 Am. St. Rep. 887.

A remitter cannot be filed where the error of excessiveness is not ascertainable by fixed methods of calculation. Railway Co. v. Coon, 69 T. 730, 7 S. W. 492; Nunnally v. Taliaferro, 82 T. 289, 18 S. W. 149; Railway Co. v. Wilkes, 68 T. 617, 5 S. W. 491, 2 Am. St. Rep. 515; Railway Co. v. Perry, 8 C. A. 78, 27 S. W. 496; Lang v. Dougherty, 74 T. 226, 12 S. W. 29; Kaufman v. Armstrong, 74 T. 65, 11 S. W. 1048; Railway Co. v. Redeker, 75 T. 310, 12 S. W. 855, 16 Am. St. Rep. 887.

Where in an action for damages the verdict shows the items and amount of each allowed, and some of them are without allegations in whole or in part to sustain them, a remittitur will be allowed on appeal as to such items. Railway Co. v. Measles, 81 T. 474, 17 S. W. 124.

Objection to judgment because of uncertainty as to fees to be paid receiver held removed by his remitter of fees. Watson v. Williamson (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 793.

Statement of when error as to damages may be cured by remittitur. Suderman & Dolson v. Kriger, 50 C. A. 29, 109 S. W. 373.

A remittitur of special damages cures errors in respect thereto occurring in the trial. Steger v. Barrett (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 174.

——Curing misconduct of counsel.—The misconduct of counsel for plaintiff in a personal injury action in his argument to the jury held cured by a remittitur of the excessive portion of the verdict returned. Producers' Oil Co. v. Barnes (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1023.

—— Curing error in instructions.—A charge giving an erroneous measure of damages held cured by a remittitur. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Wheeler, 52 C. A. 603, 116 S. W. 83.

A remittitur of the amount claimed for medical attendance and medicine obviated any error in the submission of such elements of damage. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Sampson (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 692; St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Haynes (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 934; Weatherford, M. W. & N. W. Ry. Co. v. White, 55 C. A. 32, 118 S. W. 799; Citizens' Ry. Co. v. Hall (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 434.

Errors in instructions as to damages are cured by a remittitur of the entire amount of damages. Nations v. Harris (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 334.

Excessive verdict.—A verdict is not excessive unless it be so large as to shock the moral sense and to evidence prejudice, sympathy or corruption. Trinity County Lumber Co. v. Denham (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 553.

Where excess in a verdict has been stricken out by remittitur, judgment will not be reversed because of the original excess. Gulf, B. & K. C. Ry. Co. v. O'Neill, 32 C. A. 411, 74 S. W. 960.

—— Curing excessiveness.—A remitter of part of the damages will not be allowed in cases in which the amount of an excessive verdict evinces a disregard of the evidence by the jury, and shows that prejudice influenced their verdict. Railway Co. v. Wilkes, 68 T. 617, 5 S. W. 491, 2 Am. St. Rep. 515.

Error of jury in returning larger verdict than demanded held curable by remittitur. Geisberg v. Mutual Building & Loan Ass'n (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 478.

Where a trial court is of opinion that a verdict is excessive, it may require a reduction thereof. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Connell, 27 C. A. 533, 66 S. W. 246.

Irregularity in the method of arriving at verdict held cured by a remittitur of everything in excess of a sum agreed on by all the jurors. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gentry (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 226.

A verdict in replevin for certain animals which was excessive, in so far as it found the value of the animals, held cured by a remittitur of the excess. Lewter v. Lindley (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 178.

Error in calculation by the jury finding a greater amount due plaintiff than he was entitled to held cured by a remittitur reducing the recovery to the proper amount, so that judgment was properly entered for the amount as reduced. Matson v. Jarvis (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 941.

The necessity of granting a new trial on the ground of the excessiveness of the verdict may be obviated by the court suggesting a remittitur. Freeman v. Ortiz (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 113.

Invading province of jury.—The trial judge cannot overrule a motion for new trial in a suit for damages for personal injury, on the ground that a remitter has been entered by the plaintiff, when the motion is based on the fact that the damages awarded were excessive. The judge cannot thus invade the province of a jury by measuring the damages for which they should have returned a verdict. Railway Co. v. Coon, 69 T. 730, 7 S. W. 492.

Time of offer of remittitur.—An offer by appellee (plaintiff below) to remit part of the damages recovered and to dismiss as to one of two appellants comes too late on a motion for rehearing on appeal. Sanger Bros. v. Henderson, 1 C. A. 412, 21 S. W. 114.

Where plaintiff's recovery was excessive, the filing of a remittitur of such excess in the trial court after the court of civil appeals had obtained jurisdiction on writ of error was unavailable. New York Life Ins. Co. v. Herbert, 48 C. A. 95, 106 S. W. 421.

Any error in an action on a contract to sell land and divide the profits with plaintiff, with reference to the foreclosure of an attachment lien against defendant was cured by the remittitur of such lien filed by plaintiff in the trial court before defendant removed the transcript on appeal. Snow v. Rudolph (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 249.

Remittitur by a successful plaintiff can be filed and acted upon before as well as after entry of the judgment. William M. Rice Institute v. Freeman (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 688.

Effect of remission of actual damages.—The remission of actual damages before entry of judgment by one who had recovered a verdict for actual and exemplary damages deprives the court of power to render judgment for exemplary damages. Smith v. Dye (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 858.

Action of appellate court.—See notes under Arts. 1551, 1630–1632.

Art. 2013. [1354] [1352] Remitter of excess in judgment in open court.—Any person in whose favor a judgment has been rendered may in open court remit any part of such judgment; and such remitter shall be noted on the docket and entered in the minutes, and execution shall thereafter issue for the balance only of such judgment, after deducting the amount remitted. [Id.]

Curing of error by remittitur.—See notes under Art. 2012.

Plaintiff, after judgment rendered before a justice, can remit any part of the amount recovered. Ball v. Hines (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 332.

Error in awarding more than the petition claimed may be cured by a remittitur in accordance with this article and articles to and including Art. 2018. Shepherd & Davenport v. McEvoy (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 285.

A judgment of a justice for plaintiff, appealed to the county court, is not open to the objection of not being final, because not making disposition of an item claimed by defendant; a remittitur of the amount of such item having been made from the verdict, which was for plaintiff for full amount, and judgment being entered for the balance. Gibson v. Singer Sewing Mach. Co. (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 285.

——Effect of.—Remittitur of part of amount sued on, filed after appeal from judgment of justice, held not binding on plaintiff in the county court, where judgment was annulled by the appeal. Hall v. Miller, 21 C. A. 336, 51 S. W. 36.

Art. 2014. [1355] [1353] Remitter in vacation.—Any party may make such remitter in vacation by executing and filing with the clerk a release in writing, signed by him or by his attorney of record, and attested by the clerk with the seal of his office. Such release shall constitute a part of the record of the cause, and any execution thereafter issued shall be for the balance only of the judgment, after deducting the amount remitted. [Id.]

See notes under Arts. 2012, 2013.

Art. 2015. [1356] [1354] Mistakes in judgments corrected in open court.—Where there shall be a mistake in the record of any judgment or decree, the judge may, in open court, and after notice of the application therefor has been given to the parties interested in such judgment or decree, amend the same according to the truth and justice of the case, and thereafter the execution shall conform to the judgment as amended. [Act May 11, 1846, p. 200, sec. 13. P. D. 49.]

See notes under Art. 2016.

Authority to reform or vacate judgment.—Until the adjournment of the term a court has full control over its judgments, and can, upon its own motion, set aside or reform the same, or grant a new trial, according to the justice of the case, upon the merits, as well as for matters of form. M. P. R. Co. v. H. F. M. Co., 2 App. C. C. § 572, citing Wood v. Wheeler, 7 T. 13; Puckett v. Reed, 37 T. 308; Bryorly v. Clark, 48 T. 345; Hooker v. Williamson, 60 T. 524; Grubbs v. Blum, 62 T. 426; Nowlin v. Hughes, 2 App. C. C. § 313.

During term time the district court has jurisdiction to alter, modify, or correct its judgments rendered during the term. Henderson v. Banks, 70 T. 398, 7 S. W. 815; Ex parte Ogden, 63 Cr. R. 380, 140 S. W. 345.

As to the period of time within which a judgment may be opened and corrected, see De Camp v. Bates (Civ. App.) 37 S. W. 644, and cases cited.

The trial court may, at a subsequent term, make a judgment final when the recitals in the original judgment furnish the necessary data. Doty v. Caldwell (Civ. App.) 38 S. W. 1025.

The district court has no jurisdiction to correct an erroneous judgment for costs after the term, on motion to retax costs. Hedgecoxe v. Conner (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 322.

The district court can, after the adjournment of a term at which a judgment has been rendered, amend the judgment by the correction of a mistake therein. Mansel v. Castles (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 299.

Where an order shows a court's action in sustaining a general demurrer to the petition, but it is not carried into the minutes, amendment by an entry nunc pro tunc is proper. Winter v. Texas Land & Loan Co. (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 802.

Court rendering judgment enforcing trust for maintenance out of rents of devised lands, and retaining jurisdiction to enforce payment of future allowances, thereby retains jurisdiction to modify judgment; recitals of fact therein not being res judicata. McCreary v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 682.

Where a judgment of dismissal for failure to comply with a rule for costs is insufficient as originally entered, the clerk can, during the term, correct the defect and enter a proper judgment. Edwards v. Middleton, 28 C. A. 316, 66 S. W. 570.

A judgment which, through mistake, forecloses a vendor's lien on the wrong land, will not be corrected in equity, in the absence of a showing that the complainant has been injured by the mistake. McLane v. San Antonio Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 63.

A court may in vacation correct its minutes, so as to make them speak the truth with reference to a judgment actually rendered by it at a term. Baum v. Corsicana Nat. Bank, 32 C. A. 531, 75 S. W. 863.

A court cannot amend its judgment after the adjournment of the term, except as provided by statute. Smallwood v. Love (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 400.

A court has power, after an adjournment for the term, to correct its minutes by the entry of an order actually rendered, but omitted from the minutes. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Roberts, 98 T. 42, 81 S. W. 25.

Court held to have power to entertain suit to correct record after term at which judgment was entered, and after appeal had been perfected. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Walker, 39 C. A. 53, 87 S. W. 194.

Where, in response to plaintiff's motion for a new trial, defendant, for whom a general verdict was directed, admitted certain indebtedness, it was not error for the court to reform the judgment so as to give plaintiff judgment for the full amount which could have been found due under the evidence, without submitting the issue to the jury. Alabama Oil & Pipe Line Co. v. Sun Co. (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 202.

The court held to have the power to correct an error any time before the end of the trial, though at a term to which the cause is continued. Wells v. Moore, 42 C. A. 47, 93 S. W. 220.

Where a judgment was rendered establishing the validity of certain railroad bonds, foreclosing the mortgage securing them and appointing a receiver, held, that the court had jurisdiction, after term at which order of sale was made, to suspend the enforcement of the foreclosure judgment lien in order to effect the proper administration of the property. United States & Mexican Trust Co. v. Young, 46 C. A. 117, 101 S. W. 1045.

A mistaken call for course, in a description in the judgment and petition, held subject to correction, where the course intended would be plainly inferred. Poitevent v. Scarborough (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 443.

The court may reform or amend its judgment so as to make it speak its will. Varn v. Varn (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 639.

The court foreclosing a chattel mortgage held entitled at a succeeding term to enter a judgment conforming to the one actually pronounced. Port Huron Engine & Thrasher Co. v. McGregor, 103 T. 529, 131 S. W. 398.

Entry of judgment held to be only a correction of a form of judgment making it speak the judgment actually rendered, and not to be an amendment or change in the judgment. Owens v. Vander Stucken (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 491.

Under this article the trial court may, after an appeal has been taken, amend an order made in vacation extending the time for filing bills of exception and statements of fact, but such amendment cannot be made during vacation as it does not fall within Art. 2016. Brown v. Gatewood (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 950.

A court's jurisdiction over its judgment records does not end with the term; the case being regarded as pending until the judgment is correctly recorded. Coleman v. Zapp, 105 T. 491, 151 S. W. 1040.

—— Judgments and mistakes which may or may not be corrected.—If after judgment against several it shall appear that one of the defendants had not been served with process, and that as to him jurisdiction had not attached, the judgment may be reformed so as to relieve the party not served from its operation, and continue in force against the other defendants. If the defendant not properly before the court is a partner with a defendant who was properly served, and the suit is on a claim due from the partnership, it is proper to so reform the judgment as to exempt from individual liability the partner not served, and render the judgment against the partnership and the members thereof individually on whom service was obtained. Henderson v. Banks, 70 T. 398, 7 S. W. 815.

The district court cannot correct after the term at which it rendered its judgment by taxing the costs against the other party. Hedgecoxe v. Conner (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 322.

Change of entry of judgment held erroneously made, and that the original entry should be restored. Meyer Bros. Drug Co. v. Coulter, 18 C. A. 685, 46 S. W. 648.

A personal judgment against a nonresident of whom jurisdiction was acquired by publication may be corrected by restricting it to the fund attached by the garnishment. Austin Nat. Bank v. Bergen (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 1037.

The mistake in a judgment which the court may amend after adjournment must be one growing out of a clerical error, and not one that is judicial in its nature, and the amendment must be made simply by correcting the judgment, not by setting aside and entering another judgment. Mansel v. Castles (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 299.

A judgment for costs against one as trustee cannot be corrected, to make it against him personally, on motion after adjournment of the term. Sass v. Hirschfeld, 23 C. A. 1, 56 S. W. 602.

Where orders and proceedings of a probate court were omitted from the minutes, the court had power to order that such proceedings be entered nunc pro tunc. Alexander v. Barton (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 71.

Where certain minors, joined as defendants, were not necessary parties, plaintiff was entitled, after judgment erroneously entered against such minors, to dismiss as to them without prejudice. Butner v. Norwood (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 78.

In a condemnation proceeding, where the commissioners proceeded and made award under a mistake, held, that the award and judgment might be reformed. Getzendaner v. Trinity & B. V. Ry. Co., 43 C. A. 66, 102 S. W. 161.

Where the clerk has merely failed to make the notation of file on an information, the court is authorized, on sufficient showing, to order the file mark indorsed thereon by the clerk nunc pro tunc. Starbeck v. State, 53 Cr. App. 192, 109 S. W. 162.

Where, in an action to abate a nuisance created by the operation of a corn elevator and sheller, the jury found that the plant could not be operated so as not to become a nuisance, the court did not err in refusing to reform the judgment so as to allow defendant to operate the plant. Stark v. Coe (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 373.

Where the name of a partner is omitted from entry of judgment for a firm, it should be corrected by an amendment on leave first granted by canceling the old entry and making a new one. Benge v. Panhandle Land Co. (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 318.

A judgment which is not supported by a sufficient verdict cannot be amended. Hedrick v. Smith (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 305.

Judgment against a partnership and the individual partners is properly reformed, so as to exempt a partner who was not served without affecting the judgment in other respects. Frerich v. Hering (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 1164.

Evidence justifying correction.—When an order has been made or a judgment rendered which is not entered in the minutes of the court, the entry can be made nunc pro tunc upon proper notice to the adverse party when the terms of the order are established by memoranda upon the judge's docket and other competent evidence. Burnett v. State, 14 T. 455, 65 Am. Dec. 131; Wheeler v. Goffe, 24 T. 660; Rhodes v. State, 29 T. 188; Russell v. Miller, 40 T. 494; Ximenes v. Ximenes, 43 T. 458; Camoron v. Thurmond, 56 T. 22; Blum v. Neilson, 59 T. 378.

At a subsequent term the record cannot be amended or corrected, except by reference to some entry upon the docket or memorandum found among the files of the case. Parol evidence cannot be admitted to correct and amend the record. Evans v. Smith, 22 C. A. 472, 54 S. W. 1050.

Amendment of judgment in vacation, where there is nothing in the record whereby it may be amended held not authorized by statute. Segal v. Armistead, 25 C. A. 562, 62 S. W. 1073.

To authorize the entry of an order or judgment of a court nunc pro tunc an entry must somewhere be found and produced in court apparently made by authority of the court. It must be in some book or record required by law to be kept in that court. Tillman v. Peoples, 28 C. A. 233, 67 S. W. 201; Wheeler v. Duke, 29 C. A. 20, 67 S. W. 911.

A justifiable reliance by plaintiff on a previous mistake in the description of land to be foreclosed, made by another party to the action, held to justify a correction of the decree resulting therefrom. San Antonio Nat. Bank v. McLane, 96 T. 48, 70 S. W. 201.

Under this article the court, on petition to correct a mistake in a judgment, may act on its own recollection, or on such legal evidence as to it may seem proper, and evidence consisting of formal bills of exception, duly made and filed, is sufficient. Partridge v. Wooton (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 412.

Notice.—Court can correct a judgment at the term at which it is entered without notice. Carothers v. Lange (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 580.

A party in court, with actual knowledge of an amendment of the judgment, may not complain because of the absence of a formal motion therefor, and the service of notice on him. Varn v. Varn (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 639.

Where, in a criminal proceeding, judgment nisi on a witness' appearance bond was rendered against the surety, its amendment after the term to show that it was a bond that was given instead of a recognizance and to also correct the Christian name of the principal, was invalid, where notice had not been given the surety as required by this article and Art. 2016. Gause v. State, 60 Cr. R. 221, 131 S. W. 605.

Rights of third persons.—A stranger to a judgment, although he may have purchased property affected by the lien of the judgment, has no right to institute a direct proceeding to set the judgment aside. Estey & Camp v. Williams (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 470.

An amendment of a judgment by a nunc pro tunc order after the term at which the judgment was rendered, so as to have the judgment include in the foreclosure of a materialman's lien block 40, in addition to block 24, alone included by the original judgment, and which alone the recorded account, by which the lien was fixed, purported to cover, was ineffective against a stranger, who prior to the judgment was given a deed of trust on block 40. General Electric Co. v. Canyon City Ice & Light Co. (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 78.

The right of a party to have a judgment entry corrected or amended to speak the truth cannot be exercised to the prejudice of innocent third persons. Coleman v. Zapp, 105 T. 491, 151 S. W. 1040.

Necessity and requisites of application.—Petition to reform and correct judgment held demurrable; no fraud or mistake in the procuring being alleged. Eck v. Warner, 25 C. A. 338, 60 S. W. 799.

The only way a final judgment can be attacked or impeached after the expiration of the term is by original bill on the ground of fraud or mutual mistake. To sustain such action it must be shown (1) that the mistake did not result from the fault or negligence of him seeking relief or his attorneys in conducting the original suit; (2) that after the mistake was carried into the judgment that reasonable diligence was used to discover the error and when discovered that such diligence was used to have it corrected; and (3) that he has suffered material injury or been deprived of a substantial and valuable right. McLane v. San Antonio Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 66, 67.

Petitioner, in suit to correct record, expunging order allowing appeal without payment of or security for costs, held not required to tender or meet issue whether appellants were unable to pay costs or give security therefor. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Walker, 39 C. A. 53, 87 S. W. 194.

Petition in suit to correct record held not required to be supported by affidavit. Id.

A judge has authority without motion to correct a form of judgment from his recollection thereof. Owens v. Vander Stucken (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 491.

Time for application.—An application to correct a judgment by parol testimony on the ground of mistake, made 26 years after the alleged mistake occurred, with no allegation of ignorance, comes too late. Where it is sought to correct a mistake in a judgment by application in the court where it occurred, the application, by analogy to a bill of review, would be limited to two years from the time of the discovery of such mistake. Milam Co. v. Robertson, 47 T. 235; Weaver v. Shaw, 5 T. 289; Connolly v. Hammond, 51 T. 647; Smith v. Fly, 24 T. 352, 76 Am. Dec. 109; Kuhlman v. Baker, 50 T. 636; Munson v. Hallowell, 26 T. 475, 84 Am. Dec. 582; Alston v. Richardson, 51 T. 6; Williamson v. Wright, 1 U. C. 711.

Sufficiency of excuse for delay in bringing action to correct a judgment. McCray v. Freeman, 17 C. A. 268, 43 S. W. 37.

A motion and petition in intervention in foreclosure, seeking to have the decree reformed, held insufficient as a motion for new trial, because too late. Graham v. Coolidge, 30 C. A. 273, 70 S. W. 231.

A petition to correct a clerical error in a judgment, not brought for more than four years after the entry thereof, without excuse for not proceeding earlier, held a stale demand. Rogers v. Waggoner (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 561.

A delay of six years after entry of a judgment in applying to correct it nunc pro tunc by adding an omitted part does not bar the relief where the parties had not changed their positions and no rights had intervened. Coleman v. Zapp, 105 T. 491, 151 S. W. 1040.

Review of orders.—Order overruling motion to correct judgment so as to make it conform to verdict is not subject to review on appeal. Gordon v. McCall (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 219.

Action of appellate court.—See notes under Arts. 1551, 1630-1632.

Art. 2016. [1357] [1355] Misrecitals, etc., corrected in vacation or term time, in certain cases.—Where, in the record of any judgment or decree of any court, there shall be any mistake, miscalculation or misrecital of any sum or sums of money, or of any name or names, and there shall be among the records of the cause any verdict or instrument of writing whereby such judgment or decree may be safely amended, it shall be the duty of the court in which such judgment or decree shall be rendered, and the judge thereof in vacation, on application of either party, to amend such judgment or decree thereby, according to the truth and justice of the case; but the opposite party shall have reasonable notice of the application for such amendment. [Act May 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 132. P. D. 51. Act to adopt and establish R. C. S., passed Feb. 21, 1879.]

See notes under Art. 2015.
See, also, Coleman v. Zapp, 135 S. W. 730.

Affirmance of corrected judgment.—Where there was small error in a judgment, which was corrected in the court below upon the application of the plaintiff, after a writ of error was sued out but before the transcript was taken out of the clerk's office, the defendant in error having filed in the supreme court a transcript of the corrected judgment, it was affirmed with damages. Marx v. Brown, 42 T. 111; Grier v. Powell, 14 T. 320.

As against a defendant, which filed no brief in the appellate court, held plaintiff, not having complained below, could not have the judgment reformed so as to be against such defendant for the whole amount of the verdict, though he would have been entitled thereto below. Ft. Worth Light & Power Co. v. Moore, 55 C. A. 157, 118 S. W. 831.

Amendments allowable.—The miscalculation of interest can be remedied speedily and with little expense by pursuing the remedy provided in this article. Where the excess of the judgment is trivial and insignificant the maxim, de minimis non curat lex, should apply. Ellis v. National City Bank, 42 C. A. 83, 94 S. W. 438.

A mistake or miscalculation in a judgment can be corrected at any time on application of either party after the opposite party has been given notice of the application for such amendment. When an attempt was made in a suit to revive a judgment to correct a mistake in the judgment, if the attempt was ineffectual, the revival of the former judgment was not affected thereby. The court seems to hold that the mistake could be corrected in the suit to revive. Taylor v. Doom, 43 C. A. 59, 95 S. W. 5.

—— Not allowable.—Material matter, changing the liabilities and rights of the parties and substituting a judgment different in substance and effect, cannot be added by amendment. Smith v. Fox, 4 App. C. C. § 63, 15 S. W. 196.

—— How made.—Swift v. Faris, 11 T. 18; Trammell v. Trammell, 25 T. Sup. 261; Russell v. Miller, 40 T. 494.

Amendments during term.—An amendment of a judgment made on the last day of the term, but which is of a character authorized by statute to be made at any time, is not, when the case was first submitted for determination by the judge on the law and the facts more than three days before the close of the term, violative of rules for the government of district courts. McPherson v. Johnson, 69 T. 485, 6 S. W. 798.

—— After term.—A mistake in a judgment may be corrected after the close of the term, and even after an appeal is perfected. De Hymel v. Mortgage Co., 80 T. 493, 16 S. W. 311.

—— In vacation.—In certain matters a judge may in vacation amend a judgment or decree. But in vacation he has no authority except as is given him by statute, or such as may be reasonably implied as incidental and necessary to the performance of that expressly given. He cannot enter judgment nunc pro tunc during vacation, nor can any such power be implied. Accousi v. Stowers Furniture Co. (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 1105.

Where a judgment is rendered in favor of plaintiff and another who is not a party to the suit, the judgment may be corrected in vacation so as to speak the truth, when there is in the record any verdict or instrument in writing whereby the judgment may be safely amended. Houston E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Skeeter Bros., 44 C. A. 105, 98 S. W. 1065.

Under Art. 2015 the trial court may, after an appeal has been taken, amend an order made in vacation extending the time for filing bills of exception and statements of fact, but such amendment cannot be made during vacation as it does not fall within the provision of this article. Brown v. Gatewood (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 950.

—— Pending appeal.—An amendment of a judgment may be made pending an appeal, and a transcript of the amendatory proceedings may be filed in the appellate court. McNairy v. Castleberry, 6 T. 286; Ramsey v. McCauley, 9 T. 106, 58 Am. Dec. 134; Thomson v. Bishop, 29 T. 154; Cowan v. Ross, 28 T. 227; De Hymel v. Mortgage Co., 80 T. 493, 16 S. W. 311.

—— Limitation.—There is no limitation as to the time within which the amendment may be made. Ramsey v. McCauley, 9 T. 106, 58 Am. Dec. 134; Russell v. Miller, 40 T. 494; Thompson v. Bishop, 29 T. 154; Burke v. Thomson, 29 T. 158. See Art. 5690.

Appellate courts, amendments by.—Where there was a judgment by default in a suit on a note, the amount of the judgment was corrected in the supreme court by reference to the record. McNairy v. Castleberry, 6 T. 286.

A mistake in the entry of a judgment may be corrected in the appellate court. Wortham v. Harrison, 8 T. 141.

Appellate court cannot amend the record so as to correct a mistake in the judgment made in the court below. The proper practice is to sue out a writ of certiorari in the appellate court, have the mistake corrected by the court below and bring the judgment as corrected to the appellate court on certiorari. Railroad Co. v. Easthan, 54 S. W. 648.

Authority to make corrections.—Where a judgment, decree or order of the court has not been entered in the minutes, the court has power at a subsequent term to ascertain the fact of such act and omission by proper evidence and make the entry nunc pro tunc. Blum v. Neilson, 59 T. 380; Chestnut v. Pollard, 77 T. 86, 13 S. W. 852; Camoron v. Thurmond, 56 T. 28; Ximenes v. Ximenes, 43 T. 463; Frank v. Tatum (Civ. App.) 23 S. W. 311.

Basis for correction.—Judgment was corrected to correspond with the award on which it was based. Swift v. Faris, 11 T. 18.

Judgment cannot be corrected by a verdict which the court refused to receive. Messner v. Hutchins, 17 T. 597.

The memoranda upon the judge's docket, and his written opinion in the case, may serve as a basis for correcting a judgment. Ximenes v. Ximenes, 43 T. 458.

Time of hearing.—The motion cannot be heard before the time designated in the notice. McNairy v. Castleberry, 6 T. 286. Four days' notice is reasonable. Coffee v. Black, 50 T. 117.

Art. 2017. [1358] [1356] Correction made in vacation to be certified to clerk, etc.—The judge making such correction in vacation shall embody the same in a judgment, and shall certify thereto and deliver the same to the clerk, who shall enter the same in the minutes. Such judgment shall constitute a part of the record of the cause, and any execution thereafter issued shall conform to the judgment as corrected.

See notes under Arts. 2012, 2013, 2015, 2016.

Authority of court.—An order of the judge, made in vacation, after trial and adjournment, incorporating certain depositions in the record, was without authority and ineffectual for that purpose. Continental Lumber & Tie Co. v. Wilroy (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 840.

Art. 2018. [1359] [1357] Correction or remitter operates to cure error.—A remitter or correction made as provided in any of the six preceding articles shall, from the making thereof, cure any error in the verdict or judgment by reason of such excess. [Id. sec. 133. P. D. 52.]

See notes under preceding articles of this chapter.

Action of appellate court.—See notes under Arts. 1551, 1630-1632.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

NEW TRIALS AND ARREST OF JUDGMENT

Article 2019. [1370] [1368] New trials, etc., may be granted.—New trials may be granted and judgments may be set aside or arrested on motion for good cause, on such terms and conditions as the court shall direct. [Act May 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 109. P. D. 1470.]

See Gilliland v. Ellison (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 168.

I. IN GENERAL

1. In general.—The rule that a verdict will not be set aside as against the evidence merely because the court may arrive at a different conclusion does not apply in the trial court, and the judge should set aside a verdict when necessary to attain the ends of justice. Texas & P. R. R. Co. v. Casey, 52 T. 112; Simonton v. Forrester, 35 T. 584.

2. Necessity of motion for new trial.—The ruling of the court upon the sufficiency of evidence to support the verdict will not be considered in the absence of a motion for new trial. A different rule prevails as to the rulings upon exceptions to the pleadings, the admission of evidence, and the giving or refusing instructions. Clarke v. Pearce, 80 T. 150, 15 S. W. 787; Marsalis v. Crawford, 8 C. A. 485, 28 S. W. 371; Degener v. O'Leary, 85 T. 171, 19 S. W. 1004.

When the verdict is for the plaintiff generally, and the judgment is for the land described in the plaintiff's petition, if the judgment is not in accordance with the evidence as to the quantity of land to which title has been established, that fact should first have been made the subject of a motion for new trial. Blassingame v. Davis, 68 T. 595, 5 S. W. 402.

3. Arrest of judgment.—A judgment will not be arrested on the ground that the description of the land in controversy in the petition is uncertain. Halsell v. Belcher, 6 C. A. 322, 25 S. W. 156.

Defendant's exceptions to verdict, because not showing separate value of the articles replevied, held not to avail him on motion in arrest of judgment, where there was no evidence of such separate value. Byrne v. Lynn, 18 C. A. 252, 44 S. W. 311, 544.

In an action by plaintiffs in their official capacity as trustees of a school district, it was not error to decline to arrest a judgment on the ground, then first raised, that plaintiffs could not prosecute the suit in such capacity. Thompson v. Kimbrough, 23 C. A. 350, 57 S. W. 328.

Plaintiff's failure to file the note sued on with the clerk held not ground for arrest of judgment, where it was promptly corrected. Hess v. Schaffner (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1024.

4. Setting special verdict aside in part.—See notes under Art. 1986.

5. Effect of setting aside nonsuit.—When a judgment entered on a nonsuit taken by the plaintiff is set aside and the cause reinstated, the case stands in all respects as it would had a judgment not been rendered. Childs v. Mays, 73 T. 76, 11 S. W. 154.

6. In justices' courts.—See notes under Title 41, Chapter 14.

7. Guardianship proceedings.—See notes under Title 64, Chapter 16.

II. GROUNDS FOR NEW TRIAL

8. In general.—The trial court may grant a new trial on the ground of surprise, but it will not be granted on appeal simply upon unsworn averments. Beauchamp v. Railway Co., 56 T. 239; Brownson v. Reynolds, 77 T. 254, 13 S. W. 986; Phillips v. Wheeler, 10 T. 543, 544; Buford v. Bostick, 50 T. 370; Chinn v. Taylor, 64 T. 389.

In the trial of a suit to open a decree on the ground that it was procured by perjury, plaintiff must show the testimony produced on the former trial and that it was false. McMurray v. McMurray, 78 T. 584, 14 S. W. 895; Id., 67 T. 665, 4 S. W. 357.

An applicant for new trial on the ground of surprise must show that he has a meritorious case and that gross injustice would be done by refusing a new trial. Sheppard v. Avery (Civ. App.) 32 S. W. 791.

A nonresident defendant held entitled to a new trial because of accident or mistake. Beck v. Avondino, 20 C. A. 330, 50 S. W. 207.

Where defendant knew that the attorney employed by it to defend a suit had died, and it thereafter had ample time in which to employ other counsel, it was proper to refuse a new trial on the ground that defendant had not been represented by counsel. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Wofford (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 627.

A defeated party held not entitled to a new trial on the ground of surprise. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hays, 40 C. A. 162, 89 S. W. 29.

Filing of answer fraudulently by another attorney during absence of defendant's attorneys held not ground for new trial. Roberts v. Fitzgerald (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 704.

Plaintiff held not entitled to a new trial on the ground of defendant's fraud in not disclosing his defense of estoppel. Daugherty v. Templeton, 50 C. A. 304, 110 S. W. 553.

9. Discretion of court.—Review of discretion, see post.

Refusal of a new trial because of alleged parol agreement between attorneys not to take the case up until a certain day held within the discretion of the trial court. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Bunrock (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 70.

The granting or refusal of new trial on the ground of newly-discovered evidence is within the sound discretion of the trial court. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Kief (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 625; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Moore, 31 C. A. 371, 72 S. W. 226; Pitman v. Holmes, 34 C. A. 485, 78 S. W. 961; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Kahn (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 816; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Scarborough, 104 S. W. 408; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Davenport, 110 S. W. 150; Daugherty v. Templeton, 50 C. A. 304, 110 S. W. 553; Kaack v. Stanton, 51 C. A. 495, 112 S. W. 702; Delancey v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 259.

The refusal of a new trial for evidence consisting of statements of the party's own witness contrary to the latter's testimony on the trial was not an abuse of discretion. Phifer v. Mansur & Tebbetts Implement Co., 26 C. A. 57, 61 S. W. 968.

The trial court held not to have abused its discretion in refusing to investigate allegations in a supplemental motion for a new trial. Wofford & Rathbone v. Buchel Power & Irrigation Co., 35 C. A. 531, 80 S. W. 1078.

The trial court held not to have abused its discretion in refusing a new trial. Kaack v. Stanton, 51 C. A. 495, 112 S. W. 702; Kidd v. McCracken (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 839.

The trial court in a personal injury action held not to have abused its discretion in overruling a motion for a new trial, based on evidence, discovered after trial, that plaintiff had formerly been insane. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bailey, 53 C. A. 295, 115 S. W. 601.

The granting of a motion for a new trial rests largely within the discretion of the trial court. Id.

Error in refusing permission to file an amended motion for a new trial, based on newly discovered evidence, does not require a reversal, unless the trial court abused its discretion. Ramseaur v. Ball (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 590.

A denial of a motion for new trial, on the ground of the absence of a witness, held not an abuse of discretion, where defendant knew from the petition the importance of the testimony, did not ask a continuance to obtain it, and did not show diligence. Scott v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 336.

10. Absence of party.—Unexpected absence of party where his attendance was necessary. Spencer v. Kinnard, 12 T. 180; Dorn v. Best, 15 T. 62; Montgomery v. Carlton, 56 T. 431. But otherwise where absence was owing to ignorance of time of holding court. Bolls v. Galloway, 1 App. C. C. § 724.

The arrest and detention from the courtroom of a party whose suit is being tried, and who is thereby deprived of the benefit of his own testimony, is sufficient in a suit to obtain a second trial to excuse the failure to present evidence on the former trial; and this though the party was represented by counsel. The failure of such a party to move for a new trial after his release cannot be excused by the fact that his counsel refused to file the proper motion, and that he could procure the services of no other attorney. The court, on proper application, would have assigned counsel. McGloin v. McGloin, 70 T. 634, 8 S. W. 305.

Defendant, in an action which was heard and decided against her in the absence of herself and counsel, held entitled to a new trial. Howard v. Emerson (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 49.

Where defendant and her attorneys were excusably absent on the day of trial, it was error to refuse a new trial; she and her attorneys being without fault. Fitzgerald v. Wygal, 24 C. A. 372, 59 S. W. 621.

Motion by defendant for a new trial, on the ground of his failure to attend the trial, held properly denied on the showing made. Millar v. Smith, 28 C. A. 386, 67 S. W. 429.

Ground for new trial, where first trial was in absence of defendant and counsel, held not shown. Verschoyle v. Darragh (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 1099.

An application for a new trial held properly refused. McAnally v. Vickry (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 857.

Defendant held not entitled to new trial after judgment against him in his absence, where he should have appeared at the trial and presented his defense. Ranson v. Leggett (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 668.

A motion for a new trial of an action in which plaintiff obtained judgment in defendant's absence held properly denied for lack of diligence. Cato v. Scott (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 667.

In a suit to enjoin a sale of land held, that the court erred in denying defendant's motion for a new trial. Hornbuckle v. Luther, 47 C. A. 352, 105 S. W. 995.

The showing for new trial for absence of defendant held sufficient. Dinwiddie v. Tims, 52 C. A. 72, 114 S. W. 400.

Denial of a new trial for unavoidable absence of defendant and his counsel held erroneous on the showing made. Hargrove v. Cothran, 54 C. A. 5, 118 S. W. 177.

Defendant's absence from the trial held not ground for a new trial. Reid v. Clarkson (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 216.

Where a nonresident plaintiff and his nonresident attorney did not appear when the case was called for trial, and plaintiff showed no reason for his absence, except that his attorney, who was taken ill the day before the trial, had not advised him of the time to attend, denial of a new trial after judgment by default was not an abuse of the trial court's discretion. Drummond v. Lewis (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 266.

11. Absence, withdrawal, or neglect of attorney.—That the attorney failed to find certain documentary evidence he supposed to be in his possession is not ground for new trial. Kilgore v. Jordan, 17 T. 341.

Unexpected absence of counsel as ground for new trial. Goodhue v. Meyers, 58 T. 405; Watson v. Newsham, 17 T. 437; Foster v. Martin, 20 T. 118; Power v. Gillespie, 27 T. 370; Goldstein v. Manney (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 686.

That a case was heard out of its regular order, but not at an earlier date than it would have been on its regular call, is not a ground for a new trial on account of the absence of counsel. I. & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Miller, 28 S. W. 233, 9 C. A. 104.

The fact that an attorney "failed to appear" held not sufficient to justify setting aside judgment. Woolley v. Sullivan (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 919.

Mistake of one's counsel will not relieve one from an adverse judgment. Wilson v. Smith, 17 C. A. 188, 43 S. W. 1086.

The fact that a party's attorney failed to adduce all necessary and material facts known to him is not ground for new trial, no collusion being shown. Malry v. Grant (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 614.

New trial on ground of absence of defendants' attorney held properly refused. Besson v. Richards, 24 C. A. 64, 58 S. W. 611; Cromer v. Sgitcovich, 28 C. A. 193, 66 S. W. 882; Roberts v. Fitzgerald (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 704; Balfour v. Tuck, 115 S. W. 841.

Party seeking new trial on the ground of withdrawal of attorney held to have the burden of showing absence of notice of withdrawal. Ranson v. Leggett (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 668.

If defendants' failure to be represented by counsel at trial was due to their negligence or laches, a new trial on that ground will not be granted. Balfour v. Tuck (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 841.

Where nonresident attorneys of defendant were notified that the case would not be set down for trial on any particular day, and that it was necessary to watch the docket and try the case when it was reached, and were advised that the court on a designated day would set the jury docket, denial of new trial on the ground of the absence of the attorneys at the trial was not an abuse of discretion. Niagara Fire Ins. Co. v. Lollar (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1140.

The absence of an attorney, by reason of illness or other cause, is not ground for new trial, unless the party was diligent and without fault, and unless injustice will result from a refusal, which is established by exhibiting a good cause of action or a meritorious defense. Drummond v. Lewis (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 266.

12. Absence of witness.—Unauthorized absence of a witness after the trial commenced as ground for new trial. Cotton v. State, 4 T. 260; Spillars v. Curry, 10 T. 143.

Where a party has a meritorious defense, and has suffered injustice from being compelled to go to trial in the absence of a witness, a continuance on that account having been properly refused. Chilson v. Reeves, 29 T. 275; Young v. Gibson, 2 T. 418; Hagerty v. Scott, 10 T. 525. See Stanley v. Epperson, 45 T. 644.

A new trial will not be granted because the witness failed to reach court who resided in another state and whose excuse is that she was detained on account of the sudden, severe illness of her husband, etc., no excuse being shown why her deposition was not taken. Lehde v. Lehde, 17 C. A. 240, 42 S. W. 585.

New trial for absence of witnesses held properly denied. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Dickens (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 124; Dowell v. Dergfield, 39 C. A. 635, 87 S. W. 1051.

13. Misconduct of parties or others.—Presence of bystanders inside bar and their applause held not ground for new trial, when such demonstrations were promptly stopped. Jones v. Smith, 21 C. A. 440, 52 S. W. 561.

Plaintiff's remark to a juror privately, during the trial, that "them fellows are trying to beat" him out of his land, was sufficient ground for setting aside a verdict in his favor. Larson v. Levy (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 52.

The treating of a juror to a cigar by plaintiff's son, after a verdict, is not a sufficient ground. Id.

Fact that in action for personal injuries plaintiff had epileptic fit in presence of jury held not ground for reversing verdict in his favor. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Hitzfelder, 24 C. A. 318, 66 S. W. 707.

Where plaintiff's son, who acted as her agent, was guilty of misconduct affecting the jury, of which she had no knowledge, it was error to assess a penalty against plaintiff therefor. Clark v. Elmendorf (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 538.

In a suit for delay in delivering a message announcing the death of the son of plaintiff's wife, she was not guilty of misconduct in appearing as a witness in mourning, and in giving way to her emotions during her examination in chief. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Shaw, 40 C. A. 277, 90 S. W. 58.

The giving of a drink of whisky to a juror held not ground for a new trial. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Gray (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 729.

14. Misconduct of counsel.—New trial will be granted where the attorney of the successful party has in argument used invective language and added statements of fact not in evidence damaging to the credit of a material witness. Wichita Valley Mill & Elevator Co. v. Hobbs, 23 S. W. 923, 5 C. A. 34.

Remarks of counsel are harmless, on sustaining of objection and an instruction to the jury to disregard them. Tyler Chair & Furniture Works v. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 350.

Remarks of defendant's counsel in argument, derogatory to the reputation of plaintiff, cannot be urged as ground for new trial, when not objected to at the time. Id.

Improper remarks by counsel in argument are not ground for new trial where the court reprimanded counsel and the jury were not influenced. Sherman, S. & S. Ry. Co. v. Bell (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 147.

A judgment may be set aside on the ground of fraud of attorneys after the term at which it is rendered. Watson v. Texas & P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 830.

The court held required to set aside a verdict because of prejudicial remarks of counsel, though no objection was made to them at the time. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Rehm, 36 C. A. 553, 82 S. W. 526.

Whenever the rule which requires argument to be confined to the evidence and argument of opposing counsel is violated, a new trial should be granted, unless it appears probable that the verdict was not influenced by the improper argument. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. McCarty, 40 C. A. 364, 89 S. W. 805.

Misconduct of counsel in suggesting that the defense of a personal injury suit was being carried on by an insurance company held cause for a new trial. Beaumont Traction Co. v. Dilworth (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 352.

Where improper remarks of counsel were withdrawn when objected to, and the court instructed the jury not to consider them, they were not ground for a new trial. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Parks (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 510.

A defeated party held not entitled to complain of the court's failure to pass on an objection to a statement of testimony in the argument of opposing counsel where the court passed on the objection provisionally, and left the matter open, and it was not afterwards called to his attention till the motion for a new trial. Southern Pac. Co. v. Hart, 53 C. A. 536, 116 S. W. 415.

That defendant's counsel on cross-examination asked part of a question whether witness' father had been indicted held not such misconduct as to authorize a new trial. Clegg v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 104 T. 280, 137 S. W. 109.

15. Misconduct of trial judge.—That, when a charge was read, a bystander, who was near the jury, could not understand the contents, held no ground for new trial. Houston City St. Ry. Co. v. Medlenka, 17 C. A. 621, 43 S. W. 1028.

The refusal to grant a new trial because of a prejudicial remark of the trial court held erroneous. Riddle v. Riddle (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 970.

An admonition by the judge against smoking in the courtroom held proper. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Duncan, 55 C. A. 440, 121 S. W. 362.

16. Misconduct of jury.—See notes under Art. 2021.

17. Misconduct of officer in charge of jury.—A verdict will be set aside when the officer in charge of the jury interfered with its deliberations. Dansby v. State, 34 T. 392.

18. Misconduct of witness.—Intoxication of witness. Land v. Miller, 7 T. 463.

That witness has purposely withheld from the party information of a material fact. King v. Gray, 17 T. 62; Williams v. Arnis, 30 T. 37.

19. Disqualification of juror.—See notes under Art. 2021.

20. Surprise in respect to evidence.—Where party failed to establish his case by reason of the exclusion of evidence supposed to be admissible. Guffey v. Mosely, 21 T. 408. But not where clearly inadmissible. Read v. Allen, 63 T. 154.

That the party has been misled by the statement of a witness, who did not testify as expected in reference to a material and important fact. Delmas v. Margo, 25 T. 1, 78 Am. Dec. 516; Laird v. Bass, 50 T. 412; Beauchamp v. I. & G. N. Ry. Co., 56 T. 239. But see Dotson v. Moss, 58 T. 152; Richards v. Smith, 67 T. 610, 4 S. W. 571.

The exclusion of evidence supposed to be admissible is not ground for new trial on the ground of surprise, unless the party has a meritorious defense and gross injustice will otherwise be done. Buford v. Bostick, 50 T. 371; Dotson v. Moss, 58 T. 152.

That the party inadvertently failed to introduce material evidence. Griffith v. Eliot, 60 T. 334.

If the defendant is surprised by the evidence introduced by the adverse party he should promptly ask for leave to withdraw his announcement of ready for trial. When this is not done there is no error in overruling the motion for a new trial. Railway Co. v. Booton, 4 App. C. C. § 233, 15 S. W. 909.

Defendant's surprise at the testimony of plaintiff's witnesses is not ground for granting a new trial, when such testimony is adduced to issues clearly indicated by plaintiff's pleading, the purpose of the application being to enable defendant to be prepared with testimony to disprove its allegations. Railway Co. v. Shearer, 1 C. A. 343, 21 S. W. 133.

A party is not entitled to a new trial on account of surprise at the evidence of a witness who had not been summoned by and did not testify for him, and had not stated to him or his counsel what his evidence would be. Taylor Water Co. v. Dillard, 9 C. A. 667, 29 S. W. 662.

New trial on ground of surprise held not properly denied, where evidence admitted at first trial of the case was excluded on second trial as not the best evidence. Keeter v. Case (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 528.

Where the court's erroneous holding that a party's evidence made a prima facie case probably misled such party to refrain from adducing further testimony, the case will, on reversal, be remanded for a new trial. Rhodes v. Alexander, 19 C. A. 552, 47 S. W. 754.

A new trial should not be granted on the ground that one of the defendants was not placed on the stand, because defendants believed plaintiff would call him. Clardy v. Wilson, 27 C. A. 49, 64 S. W. 489.

A party held not entitled to new trial on the ground of surprise in the evidence of a witness. Texas Cent. Ry. Co. v. Yarbro, 32 C. A. 246, 74 S. W. 357; Presidio County v. Clarke, 38 C. A. 320, 85 S. W. 475; Daugherty v. Templeton, 50 C. A. 304, 110 S. W. 553.

A new trial will not be granted on the ground of surprise, where it appears that the evidence might have been anticipated and met had the defeated party been diligent in preparing his case. Daugherty v. Templeton, 50 C. A. 304, 110 S. W. 553.

In trespass to try title, in which defendant relied on adverse possession, plaintiff was not entitled to a new trial on the ground of surprise as to the boundaries of defendant's claim, where a plat used in evidence without objection showed the location of the land, and plaintiff made no effort to meet the case made by defendant. Moore v. Loggins (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 183.

21. Error in rulings on evidence.—The admission of incompetent evidence, when it is material, not merely cumulative, and not supplied by legal testimony, is ground for a new trial. Patton v. Gregory, 21 T. 513; Smith v. Hughes, 23 T. 249; Dignowitty v. Alexander, 25 T. Sup. 162; Hunter v. Hubbard, 26 T. 537; Dailey v. Starr, 26 T. 562; Sacra v. Stewart, 32 T. 185; Evans v. Pigg, 28 T. 586; Burnham v. Walker, 1 App. C. C. § 903.

When there is a conflict of evidence the exclusion of material evidence is ground for new trial. Rogers v. Crain, 30 T. 284.

The admission of evidence not objected to, if there is no motion to exclude, is not ground for new trial. Collins v. Cook, 40 T. 238.

22. Insufficiency of evidence.—That the evidence is not reasonably sufficient to support the verdict. Edrington v. Kiger, 4 T. 89; Mitchell v. Matson, 7 T. 3; Clark v. Davis, 7 T. 556; Sims v. Chance, 7 T. 561; Wells v. Barnett, 7 T. 584; Willis v. Lewis, 28 T. 185; Guerin v. Patterson, 55 T. 124; Chandler v. Meckling, 22 T. 41; Moore v. Anderson, 30 T. 224; Railway Co. v. Simmons (Civ. App.) 28 S. W. 825.

That there is a preponderance of evidence against the verdict and injustice may have resulted from local prejudice or other cause. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Bracken, 59 T. 71; Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Schmidt, 61 T. 282. Also see Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Wallen, 65 T. 568.

A new trial will not be granted where two witnesses conflict in their testimony, and there are collateral circumstances tending to support each. First Nat. Bank v. Borden (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 658.

A new trial because the verdict was against the weight of the evidence held improperly refused. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Moore, 16 C. A. 51, 41 S. W. 70.

A verdict for injury received by one crossing street in the night at a place other than a crossing, when evidence did not show whether the dangerous condition of the street could be seen, will not be set aside because the evidence did not show that she looked before stepping into the dangerous place. City of Dallas v. Webb, 22 C. A. 48, 54 S. W. 398.

Where the verdict is clearly against the preponderance of evidence, it should be set aside. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Loeffler (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 558.

A verdict in an action on a note will not be set aside on the ground that the undisputed evidence showed that defendants were entitled to a certain credit, where such contention rested only on defendant's testimony. Morgan v. E. Bement & Sons, 24 C. A. 564, 59 S. W. 907.

Where findings of fact had evidence to support them, it was not error to deny a new trial on the ground that the findings were against the evidence. Insurance Co. of North America v. Bell, 25 C. A. 129, 60 S. W. 262.

On an issue whether a purchaser of goods had paid for the same, a verdict for defendant held against the weight of the evidence. Preston v. Barber, 31 C. A. 383, 72 S. W. 225.

Verdict for defendants in action on liquor dealer's bond, breached by permitting minors to enter and remain in saloon, held in disregard of evidence, so that it was error to refuse new trial. State v. Dittfurth & Friederichs (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 52.

In an action for injuries to a servant, motion for a new trial on the ground that defendant was not guilty of negligence in the selection of its servants, and that the servant who caused plaintiff's injury was properly instructed with reference to his duties, held properly denied. Consumers' Cotton Oil Co. v. Jonte, 36 C. A. 18, 80 S. W. 847.

In an action against a carrier for injuries to a shipment of cattle, held not error to refuse a new trial on the ground that the verdict is against the evidence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. House & Watkins, 40 C. A. 105, 88 S. W. 1110.

Denial of a new trial held proper under the evidence. St. Louis & S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Foster (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 450.

In a suit by a county against its judge and his sureties on his official bond, defendants on their motion for a new trial held entitled to have the verdict against them set aside for being contrary to the evidence. Lane v. Delta County (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 866.

A defendant held entitled to a new trial in trespass to try title where, under the issues submitted, a judgment for plaintiff could only have rested on an erroneous assumption that plaintiff had proved superior title through a common source. San Antonio Machine & Supply Co. v. Campbell (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 770.

Mere conflicting statements of witnesses for a party held not sufficient ground for setting aside a verdict in his favor. South Texas Telephone Co. v. Tabb, 52 C. A. 213, 114 S. W. 448.

In an action for the death of a railroad engineer by derailment at a curve, the weight of the evidence held to preclude the setting aside of a verdict for plaintiffs upon the ground that it was clearly against the preponderance of the evidence. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 106.

Where, in an action against a railroad company, for personal injuries sustained on its track, the evidence was sufficient to sustain a finding of negligence by the company, the trial court properly refused to set aside a verdict for plaintiff. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Endsley (Civ. App.) 119 S. W. 1150.

A verdict for a servant should not be set aside because defendant's evidence tended to show contributory negligence and assumption of risk; they being jury questions. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Sanchez, 57 C. A. 87, 122 S. W. 44.

In an action against connecting carriers for delay in the shipment of live stock, evidence held to call for a new trial against one carrier on whose line an unexplained delay occurred. Williams & Hawkins v. Gulf & I. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 390.

Where the evidence was conflicting, but sustained the verdict, a new trial on the ground that it was against the preponderance of the evidence was properly denied. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Cartwright (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 630.

23. Verdict defective or not responsive.—That the verdict is not responsive to the issue is a ground. Kessler v. Zimmerschitte, 1 T. 50; Ford v. Taggart, 4 T. 492; Hall v. York, 16 T. 18; Brown v. Horless, 22 T. 645; Brook v. Moreland, 32 T. 380. But see King v. Bremond, 25 T. 637.

That the verdict is uncertain. Mays v. Lewis, 4 T. 38; Harrell v. Babb, 19 T. 148; Bradshaw v. Mayfield, 24 T. 481; Smith v. Tucker, 25 T. 594; Burnett v. Harrington, 58 T. 359.

Where special questions involving vital issues are not definitely answered by the jury, a new trial should be ordered. Oaks v. West (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 1033.

24. Inadequate or excessive damages.—See notes under Art. 2022.

25. Denial of continuance.—Even if denial of continuance for absent witness was not an abuse of discretion, held error to have refused new trial. Low, Hudson & Gray Water Co. v. Hickson, 32 C. A. 457, 74 S. W. 781.

That the court refused to delay the trial to enable defendant to examine the transcript of the testimony of certain of defendant's witnesses at a former trial held not ground for a new trial. Pullman Co. v. Vanderhoeven, 48 C. A. 414, 107 S. W. 147.

26. Denial of change of venue.—Refusal to grant new trial for the denial of a motion for change of venue on the ground of local prejudice held error. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Nicholson (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 693.

27. Dismissal for want of prosecution.—New trial granted when case has been dismissed for want of prosecution, where plaintiff had no knowledge of the dismissal, is without laches, and has a meritorious cause of action. Smith v. Patrick (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 535.

28. Equitable grounds.—A party held entitled to a new trial on equitable grounds. Kruegel v. Porter (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 801.

29. Bar of limitations.—It is not reversible error to refuse to grant a new trial in order to permit the defendant to plead and prove limitation to a demand otherwise just and legal. Polk v. Herndon, 42 C. A. 441, 93 S. W. 532.

30. Lost records.—Where the lower court found it impossible to supply the lost records of a trial, thereby depriving a defeated party, who was in no way responsible for the loss, of his full rights on appeal, a new trial should have been granted. Fire Ass'n of Philadelphia v. McNerney (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 1053.

31. Erroneous taxation of costs.—Error in taxing costs held not ground for new trial. Lumpkin v. Woods (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1139.

32. Failure of consideration.—Where notes are given for legal services performed and to be performed in a certain criminal case, and judgment is entered thereon, a new trial will be granted, on showing presentment of indictment and inability of payee to perform, he having become a judge. Ablowich v. Greenville Nat. Bank, 22 C. A. 272, 54 S. W. 794.

33. Newly discovered evidence.—Newly discovered evidence is ground for a new trial. Mitchell v. Bass, 26 T. 377; Railway Co. v. Forsyth, 49 T. 171; Wolf v. Mahan, 57 T. 171; Davis v. Zumwalt, 1 App. C. C. § 598; Ratto v. St. P. L. & M. Ins. Co., 2 App. C. C. § 118; Railway Co. v. Barron, 78 T. 425, 14 S. W. 698; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Reagan (Civ. App.) 34 S. W. 796.

Refusal of new trial held improper. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Burroughs, 27 C. A. 422, 66 S. W. 83; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Clark, 35 C. A. 189, 79 S. W. 827; Douglas v. Walker, 42 C. A. 213, 92 S. W. 1026.

Newly discovered evidence, to authorize a new trial, must be such as will likely change the result, and such as the applicant could not have discovered by due diligence prior to the rendition of the judgment. Fitzgerald v. Compton, 28 C. A. 202, 67 S. W. 131.

Motion properly denied. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Kingston, 30 C. A. 24, 68 S. W. 518; City of El Paso v. Ft. Dearborn Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 799; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Moore, 31 C. A. 371, 72 S. W. 226; Collins v. Weiss, 32 C. A. 282, 74 S. W. 46; Duckworth v. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co., 33 C. A. 66, 75 S. W. 913; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Huff (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 249; San Antonio Foundry Co. v. Drish, 38 C. A. 214, 85 S. W. 440; Neal v. Whitlock, 45 C. A. 457, 101 S. W. 284; Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Hardison (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 541; St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Wiggins, 48 C. A. 449, 107 S. W. 899; Daugherty v. Templeton, 50 C. A. 304, 110 S. W. 553.

A new trial will not be granted for newly discovered evidence, where such evidence is cumulative, or for impeachment, or when it is not shown that it came to knowledge of applicant since trial, and could not have been discovered before by exercise of proper diligence. Pelly v. Denison & S. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 542; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Scarborough, 101 T. 436, 108 S. W. 804.

Where evidence was discovered before the termination of the trial, but after submission to the jury, it was not available as a ground for a new trial. Oakes v. Prather (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 557.

A party held not entitled to insist that testimony was newly discovered. Johnson v. Scrimshire, 42 C. A. 611, 93 S. W. 712.

Refusal of new trial held not error where due diligence was not exercised and the evidence was not material and was merely cumulative. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Parks (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 510.

Testimony held not newly discovered. El Paso & Southwestern R. Co. v. Barrett, 46 C. A. 14, 101 S. W. 1025.

A new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence, not merely cumulative, but of such a character as probably to change the result on another trial, should be granted, where the failure to procure the evidence at the trial was not due to negligence of the moving party. Postal Telegraph-Cable Co. v. S. A. Pace Grocery Co. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 1172.

Newly discovered evidence held not ground for new trial, where cumulative, and diligence in discovering testimony was not shown. Gilliland v. Ellison (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 168.

New trial asked for newly discovered evidence held properly refused. Reid v. Clarkson (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 216.

That a witness for plaintiff admitted, immediately after he had testified, that the purpose of his testimony was to hurt defendant's attorney was not ground for a new trial, where such statements were known and might have been put in evidence during the trial. Callen v. Collins (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 673.

A party to a judgment is charged by law with notice thereof, and hence the existence of a former judgment between the parties cannot be said to be a newly discovered fact warranting the vacation of the judgment. Ben C. Jones & Co. v. Gammel-Statesman Pub. Co. (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 317.

34. —— Cause of action or defense.—A party seeking a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence must show that he has a meritorious cause of action or defense, which must be stated. Cochrane v. Middleton, 13 T. 275; Foster v. Martin, 20 T. 118; Aldridge v. Mardoff, 32 T. 204.

New trial will not be granted for new evidence on an issue not raised at the trial. Jones' Estate v. Neal, 44 C. A. 412, 98 S. W. 417.

35. —— Materiality and admissibility.—The newly discovered evidence justifying a new trial must be material and not merely cumulative. Wolf v. Mahan, 57 T. 171; Madden v. Shapard, 3 T. 49; Land v. Miller, 7 T. 463; Steinlein v. Dial, 10 T. 268; Shaw

v. State, 27 T. 750; Kilgore v. Jordan, 17 T. 341; Stewart v. Hamilton, 19 T. 96; Hopkins v. Clark, 20 T. 64; Frizzell v. Johnson, 30 T. 31; Ziegler v. Stefanek, 31 T. 29; Yeiser v. Bardett, 29 S. W. 912; Jester v. Frances (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 245.

New trial of action for malicious prosecution, for newly discovered evidence that after the trial plaintiff had been acquitted of the criminal charge, denied. Von Koehring v. Witte, 15 C. A. 646, 40 S. W. 63.

A new trial will not be granted for newly-discovered evidence where such evidence would be inadmissible on a new trial. Gonzales v. Adoue (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 543.

The refusal of a new trial for newly discovered evidence, which consisted of statements of plaintiff's agent not shown to have been authorized nor to have been part of the res gestæ of the transaction in controversy, was proper. Phifer v. Mansur & Tebbetts Implement Co., 26 C. A. 57, 61 S. W. 968.

Newly discovered testimony, consisting wholly of the conclusions and impressions of a witness, is insufficient to authorize a new trial. Saunders v. Saunders (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 797.

New trial will not be granted to enable a party to introduce in evidence a letter book of his adversary, where the latter offered to produce the book on the trial. Texas Cotton Products Co. v. McMillan (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 846.

New trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence properly denied. Savage v. Cowan (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 319; Ayers v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 116 S. W. 612.

A new trial will not be granted for newly discovered evidence which is immaterial. Hermann v. Allen (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 794; Saxton v. Corbett, 122 S. W. 75.

Newly discovered evidence held material. Thomason v. Mason (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1075.

36. —— Cumulative evidence.—Newly discovered evidence which is cumulative is not ground for new trial. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brown, 16 C. A. 93, 40 S. W. 608; Alexander v. Lovitt (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 927; Russell v. Anderson, 83 S. W. 237; Dowell v. Dergfield, 35 C. A. 635, 87 S. W. 1051; St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Ross (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 1105; Upson v. Campbell, 99 S. W. 1129; Priddy v. O'Neal, 142 S. W. 35.

It is not error to refuse a new trial for newly discovered evidence, cumulative of evidence adduced on the trial. Smith v. Seymore (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 816; Taylor v. San Antonio & A. P. R. Co., 36 C. A. 658, 83 S. W. 738; Northern Texas Traction Co. v. Lewis, 37 C. A. 197, 83 S. W. 894; San Antonio Traction Co. v. Parks (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 510; Cain v. Corley, 44 C. A. 224, 99 S. W. 168; Keller v. Lindow (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 304.

Newly discovered evidence, with which to impeach the credit of a witness who had already been impeached, is merely cumulative, and no ground for a new trial. Luke v. City of El Paso (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 363.

Books which would only assist the letters of their keeper, read on the trial, held cumulative evidence, and not ground for new trial. Bridges v. Williams, 28 C. A. 38, 66 S. W. 484.

Denial of a new trial held error, though the new evidence was cumulative, and due diligence had not been exercised to obtain it. Halliday v. Lambright, 29 C. A. 226, 68 S. W. 712.

A new trial asked for newly discovered cumulative evidence held properly refused. Oakes v. Prather (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 557; Berger v. Kirby, 135 S. W. 1122.

In an action for injuries to a passenger, alleged newly discovered evidence submitted as a ground for a new trial held not objectionable as cumulative. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith, 38 C. A. 507, 86 S. W. 943.

That newly discovered evidence would be cumulative is not of itself an insuperable reason for refusing a new trial. El Paso & Southwestern R. Co. v. Barrett, 46 C. A. 14, 101 S. W. 1025.

A new trial will not be granted for newly discovered evidence, where the same is merely cumulative and intended for impeachment. Houston Lighting Power Co. v. Hooper, 46 C. A. 257, 102 S. W. 133.

A new trial will not be granted for newly discovered evidence, which is merely cumulative. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Wiggins, 48 C. A. 449, 107 S. W. 899; Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Adams (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 876.

It is not error to refuse a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence which is cumulative only and which will probably not affect the result on another trial. Keck v. Woodward, 53 C. A. 267, 116 S. W. 75.

Denial of a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence consisting of the testimony of witnesses who could only repeat what they had testified to on the trial, and further state some facts impeaching the testimony of the successful party, was within the discretion of the trial court. St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Clifford (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1163.

Where no case was made, though a fact was conceded as established, newly discovered evidence to establish the fact was not ground for a new trial. Fant v. Sullivan (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 515.

A motion for a new trial for newly discovered evidence of a fact sustained by practically undisputed evidence in the case was properly refused. Thompson & Tucker Lumber Co. v. Platt (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 268.

37. —— Impeachment of witness.—The newly discovered evidence justifying a new trial must not merely be impeaching evidence. Scranton v. Tilley, 16 T. 183; Dansby v. State, 34 T. 292; Metzger v. Wendler, 35 T. 378; Halbert v. Hendrix (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 911; Moore v. Temple Grocer Co., 43 S. W. 843; Ellis v. Harrison, 52 S. W. 581; Smith v. Seymore, 59 S. W. 816; Flynt v. Taylor, 91 S. W. 864; Jones' Estate v. Neal, 44 C. A. 412, 98 S. W. 417; El Paso & S. W. R. Co. v. Murtle, 49 C. A. 273, 108 S. W. 998.

A new trial for newly discovered testimony will not be granted when its object is merely to contradict an inference deducible from the testimony of the successful party, and when the affidavit of the impeaching witness is not filed and it is not shown that his testimony could be obtained on another trial. Gassoway v. White, 70 T. 475, 8 S. W. 117.

New trial will not be granted for case of newly discovered evidence in order to give the defeated party an opportunity to attack a witness for the successful party. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hays, 40 C. A. 162, 89 S. W. 29.

That one of plaintiff's witnesses had stated in the presence of two affiants that, though summoned, he knew nothing about the case, did not as a matter of law entitle defendant to a new trial for newly discovered evidence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Davenport, 102 T. 369, 117 S. W. 790.

A new trial will not be granted for newly discovered evidence going merely to contradiction. Kennon v. Miller (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 986.

Newly discovered impeaching testimony is not ground for a new trial, where the testimony sought to be impeached is corroborated. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Dumas (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 543.

That plaintiff's witness, immediately after giving his testimony, stated that he testified to hurt defendant's attorney was not alone ground for new trial. Callen v. Collins (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 673.

38. —— Mitigation of damages.—The newly discovered evidence justifying a new trial must not be merely in mitigation of damages. Ham v. Taylor, 22 T. 225; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Brown, 16 C. A. 93, 40 S. W. 608.

A new trial held properly denied for new evidence which would only reduce the amount of recovery. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gist, 31 C. A. 662, 73 S. W. 857.

39. —— Credibility and probable effect.—A party seeking a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence must show that there will probably be a different result on another trial. Land v. Miller, 7 T. 463; Ables v. Donley, 8 T. 331; Welch v. Nasboe, 8 T. 189; Stewart v. Hamilton, 19 T. 96; Vardeman v. Edwards, 21 T. 737; Frizzell v. Johnson, 30 T. 31; Ziegler v. Stefanek, 31 T. 29; Pippin v. Sherman, S. & S. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 961; San Antonio Gas Co. v. Singleton, 24 C. A. 341, 59 S. W. 920; Thoma v. Galveston Dry Goods Co. (Civ. App.) 119 S. W. 715; City of Ft. Worth v. Lopp, 134 S. W. 824; Delancey v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 149 S. W. 259; Huggins v. Carey, 149 S. W. 390; Mott v. Spring Garden Ins. Co., 154 S. W. 658.

It was not error to refuse to grant a new trial, on the ground of newly-discovered evidence, where it was alleged that the evidence is of admissions of plaintiff made at a time when the evidence on the trial of the case showed that he was insensible, and there had been other evidence to the same effect introduced at the trial. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Marchand, 24 C. A. 47, 57 S. W. 860.

Where cross affidavits showed that the reputation for truth and veracity of the witness on whose evidence a new trial was asked was bad, a new trial will not be granted. San Antonio Gas Co. v. Singelton, 24 C. A. 341, 59 S. W. 920.

Newly discovered evidence which could have been given by numerous other persons held not ground for new trial. Bond v. International & G. N. R. Co., 55 C. A. 119, 118 S. W. 867.

A new trial will not be granted for newly discovered evidence, the subject of which is to contradict an inference from the evidence of the successful party. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Adams (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 876.

To obtain a new trial for newly discovered evidence, it must appear that the prospective evidence is probably true. Delancey v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 259.

40. Harmless error.—When it is evident that an irregularity was committed on the trial of the cause, either in the introduction of testimony or in permitting writings to be taken by the jury in their retirement which should have been withheld from them, yet, if on an inspection of the record no other judgment could properly have been rendered, it will afford no ground for reversal. Beeks v. Odom, 70 T. 183, 7 S. W. 702.

When the trial in the lower court is without a jury, the admission of irrelevant testimony is usually not a ground of reversal; but if it is manifest that such testimony had a controlling effect upon the action of the trial judge, the case will be reversed on appeal because of such testimony. Moore v. Kennedy, 81 T. 144, 16 S. W. 740.

The admission of incompetent evidence is immaterial when no other verdict could have been rendered on the competent evidence. Nelson v. Walker (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 160.

III. RIGHT TO NEW TRIAL AND PREREQUISITES TO GRANTING THEREOF

41. Persons entitled to apply for new trial.—A new trial will not be granted on the application of parties against whom an erroneous judgment has been remitted. Mitchell v. Bloom (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 406.

42. Estoppel.—Failure to apply for a directed verdict held not to estop defendant to claim, on a motion for a new trial and on appeal, that there was no evidence to sustain a verdict for plaintiff. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Hanson (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 63.

43. Diligence.—One seeking a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence must show that the evidence has come to his knowledge since the trial, stating the facts, and that it was not from want of diligence that the evidence was not sooner discovered. Madden v. Shapard, 3 T. 49; Shaw v. State, 27 T. 750; Campbell v. State, 29 T. 490; Frizzell v. Johnson, 30 T. 31; Traylor v. Townsend, 61 T. 144; Kilgore v. Jordan, 17 T. 341; Burnley v. Rice, 21 T. 171; Vardeman v. Edwards, 21 T. 737; Gregg v. Bankhead, 22 T. 245; Buford v. Bostick, 50 T. 371; Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Devainy, 63 T. 172; Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Hollis, 2 App. C. C. § 220; Brown v. Grinnan, 2 App. C. C. § 415; Fears v. Albea, 69 T. 437, 6 S. W. 286, 5 Am. St. Rep. 78; Moores v. Wills, 69 T. 109, 5 S. W. 675; Adams v. Half (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 334; Castleman v. Norwood (Civ. App.) 36 S. W. 941.

The absence of a party who could have established material facts not known to his attorney is not ground for a new trial. Helm v. Weaver, 69 T. 143, 6 S. W. 420.

Plaintiff's attorney, being misled by statements of his witnesses before announcement, failed on their testifying to different facts to ask for continuance, and proceeded with the trial. Held, that he could not afterwards seek a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence. Gregory v. Railway Co., 21 S. W. 417, 2 C. A. 279.

A new trial should be granted for newly discovered material evidence where due diligence is shown. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hamilton, 17 C. A. 76, 42 S. W. 358.

New trial will not be granted on ground of newly discovered evidence where the existence of such evidence was known before trial closed. City of San Antonio v. Kreusel, 17 C. A. 594, 43 S. W. 615.

Or no previous effort was made to obtain it. State v. Zanco's Heirs, 18 C. A. 127, 44 S. W. 527.

New trial for newly discovered evidence cannot be had where no diligence is shown. Ford v. Addison (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 110; Pride v. Whitfield, 51 S. W. 1100; Gonzales v. Adoue, 56 S. W. 543; Clardy v. Wilson, 27 C. A. 49, 64 S. W. 489; Halbert v. Texas Tie & Lumber Preserving Co. (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 592; Sherman v. Crawford, 127 S. W. 1075; Milwaukee Mechanics' Ins. Co. v. Frosch, 130 S. W. 600; Ikland v. Ikland, 139 S. W. 925.

New trial will not be granted because of filing of amended petition without notice, where defendant asked for nothing on account thereof until such motion. Pride v. Whitfield (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 1100.

New trial for newly discovered evidence held properly denied for want of diligence. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rack, 21 C. A. 667, 52 S. W. 988.

Or where no reason is shown why it was not introduced on the original trial. Cavitt v. Reed (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 349; Saunders v. Saunders, 62 S. W. 797.

Where it does not appear that newly discovered evidence could not have been obtained on the trial by ordinary diligence, or that it could have had any influence on the verdict, a new trial will not be granted. Belknap v. Groover (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 249; Berger v. Kirby, 135 S. W. 1122.

Cumulative evidence of passengers as to the starting of a fire claimed to have been set by defendant's train held not ground for new trial where no excuse was offered for failure to produce it at the trial. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Jordan (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 619.

Where facts were communicated to attorneys the night of October 9th, and trial was had at 10 o'clock a. m. October 10th, a motion for new trial, based on such facts, held properly overruled. Dathe v. Ohnsteadt (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 685.

A new trial should not be granted for newly discovered evidence, where the plaintiff could have discovered it before trial. Pippin v. Sherman, S. & S. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 961.

Due diligence in the discovery of evidence relied on for a new trial held not sufficiently shown. San Antonio Gas. Co. v. Singleton, 24 C. A. 341, 59 S. W. 920.

Newly discovered evidence held no ground for new trial, no diligence being shown. Simonton v. Perry (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 1090.

A new trial for newly discovered evidence was properly refused, where the existence of such evidence was known, but not the whereabouts of the witnesses, and no continuance was requested. Johnson v. Brown (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 485.

Where the application for a new trial does not show that proper diligence was used to discover the new evidence, an order denying the application will not be disturbed. Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Newport, 26 C. A. 583, 65 S. W. 657.

Where defendants discovered during trial that certain expected evidence could not be obtained, but failed to ask for a continuance, they could not, after verdict, assign the lack of such evidence as grounds for a new trial. Bridges v. Williams, 28 C. A. 38, 66 S. W. 120.

Where it appears from the affidavits in support of a motion for new trial that the evidence claimed to be newly discovered, and for which the new trial is asked, either was or should have been known before the trial, and no diligence is shown to excuse its absence, the motion should be denied. McBride v. Puckett (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 242.

An application for continuance for testimony of a witness may not be abandoned, and a new trial sought for such testimony as newly discovered. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bowles, 32 C. A. 118, 72 S. W. 451.

Affidavits for a new trial on ground of newly discovered evidence held not to show due diligence in securing evidence before trial. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Blanchard (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 88.

Motion for new trial for newly discovered evidence held properly refused for want of diligence. Parham v. Shockler (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 839.

Where junior applicant for purchase of public land gave no excuse for failure to prove that prior lease was in existence at time of award to senior applicant, refusal of new trial on this ground held not error. Davis v. Tillar, 32 C. A. 383, 74 S. W. 921.

Showing of diligence on motion for a new trial on the ground of newly discovered witness held not to entitle moving party to a new trial as a matter of law. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Blanchard, 96 T. 616, 75 S. W. 6.

New trial for newly discovered evidence held properly denied for lack of diligence. Pelly v. Denison & S. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 542.

Diligence held not shown, so as to entitle party to new trial, in action of trespass to try title, on ground of newly discovered evidence. Kenson v. Gage, 34 C. A. 547, 79 S. W. 605.

Where alleged newly discovered evidence was known before the trial, it was no excuse for plaintiff's failure to offer the same that it was necessary for the witness to obtain certain data. Oakes v. Prather (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 557.

On motion for new trial, held that the applicant was negligent in not procuring the alleged new evidence at the trial. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Ross (Civ. App.) 89 S. W. 1105.

Where a party is surprised at the exclusion of evidence offered by him, he should apply for a continuance, and, failing to do so, is not entitled to a new trial on the ground of such surprise. Flynt v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 864.

Defendant held not guilty of negligence in failing to produce the testimony at the trial. Douglas v. Walker, 42 C. A. 213, 92 S. W. 1026.

Diligence held not shown entitling one to new trial for newly discovered evidence. Jones' Estate v. Neal, 44 C. A. 412, 98 S. W. 417.

Refusal of new trial for newly discovered evidence held not error, where it appears there was no diligence. Belton & Temple Traction Co. v. Henry, 45 C. A. 272, 99 S. W. 1032.

A new trial held properly denied. Chew v. Jackson, 45 C. A. 656, 102 S. W. 427.

A party applying for a new trial on the ground of newly discovering evidence must satisfy the court that the evidence could not have been discovered before the trial by the exercise of proper diligence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Davenport (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 150.

The facts in support of a motion for a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence held not to show proper diligence in the discovery of the evidence before the trial. Id.

Where the materiality of the testimony of an absent witness was discovered during the trial, and no continuance was sought to procure the same, it is too late to urge the absence of the witness as a ground for new trial. Daugherty v. Templeton, 50 C. A. 304, 110 S. W. 553.

In trespass to try title denial of a motion for new trial for newly discovered evidence held not error. Houston Oil Co. of Texas v. Kimball (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 662.

An application for a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence held properly denied on the showing made. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Crump, 102 T. 250, 115 S. W. 26.

Plaintiff, not having asked a postponement to enable him to secure important witnesses, held not entitled to a new trial in order to avail himself of their evidence. De Hoyos v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 52 C. A. 543, 115 S. W. 75.

An application for a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence, held not to show sufficient diligence in the discovery of the evidence. Keck v. Woodward, 53 C. A. 267, 116 S. W. 75.

A motion for a new trial on the ground of surprise held properly overruled. Bond v. International & G. N. R. Co., 55 C. A. 119, 118 S. W. 867.

A refusal of a new trial for lack of diligence in procuring the evidence on which the motion was based held not error. Id.

A motion for a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence is properly overruled where no excuse for not knowing of the witness sooner is shown. Id.

An application for a new trial for newly discovered evidence held insufficient for want of an affidavit of diligence. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Adams (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 876.

There was not sufficient diligence to entitle defendants to a new trial where the judgment was entered September 24th and the court adjourned October 25th, and on October 24th defendants filed their motion for new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence consisting of an affidavit, which was made by the witness on October 8th, as plaintiffs did not have sufficient time after the filing of the affidavit to contest it. Houston Oil Co. v. Kimball, 103 T. 94, 122 S. W. 533.

Where a master sued by a servant for personal injuries knew a long time before the trial that the servant would undertake to show by expert testimony the fact that the injuries sustained caused his mental incapacity, the failure of the master to consult expert alienists on the subject until after the trial was inexcusable, and he could not obtain a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence that the mental incompetency was due to other causes. Alamo Dressed Beef Co. v. Yeargan (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 721.

Where, in a boundary suit, no seasonable motion or request to have a surveyor appointed to locate the boundaries is made, a new trial will not be granted in order that such survey might be made. Pratt v. Slade (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 648.

Plaintiff could not obtain a new trial for alleged newly discovered evidence which the court gave plaintiff ample opportunity to procure and of which he declined to avail himself. Bond v. Garrison (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 839.

Denial of a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence held not erroneous; a lack of diligence being shown. Keller v. Lindow (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 304.

Diligence exercised by attorneys for a city to discover evidence before trial which was put forward as newly discovered evidence on an application for a new trial held insufficient. City of Ft. Worth v. Lopp (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 824.

A new trial for newly discovered evidence held properly denied. Kidd v. McCracken (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 839.

In a suit to recover land, certain facts held not to entitle defendant to a new trial. Crane v. Wood (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 444.

Application for a new trial for newly discovered evidence held properly denied for want of diligence. Cannon v. Producers' Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 803.

New trial asked on the ground of newly discovered evidence held properly refused, where no diligence to discover the testimony before trial was shown. Funk v. Miller (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 24.

Where a case had been pending in the trial court for over five years, and had been set down for trial a number of times, but for various reasons had been postponed, defendant, who went to trial without seeking a postponement or continuance, did not show such diligence as to entitle him to a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence. Priddy v. O'Neal (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 35.

Tax records held not newly discovered evidence to sustain a motion for a new trial. Kennon v. Miller (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 986.

Where a defendant, who knew from the petition the importance of a third person's testimony, did not seek a continuance to obtain his evidence, nor show diligence to obtain it, a motion for new trial on the ground of the absence of the third person was addressed to the discretion of the trial court; and its denial was not an abuse of discretion. Scott v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 336.

It is not error to refuse a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence which will not compel a different finding, where sufficient diligence to discover the testimony is not shown. Guillory v. Allums (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 685.

A new trial held properly denied on the ground of the insufficiency of the affidavit to show due diligence. St. Louis, & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Clifford (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1163.

To obtain a new trial for newly discovered evidence, it must appear that failure to have the evidence at the trial was not due to want of diligence. Delancey v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 259.

Alleged newly discovered evidence, consisting of the testimony of a person that a witness at the trial was not at the place of the accident, was not ground for a new trial, where it appeared that the proffered witness was with a third person, and such third person testified at the trial, as the proffered testimony could have been ascertained by proper inquiry. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Dumas (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 543.

Where an action of trespass to try title was commenced in April, 1905, and tried in January, 1912, it could not be said that the trial court abused its discretion in denying a new trial for newly discovered evidence, consisting of public records of the same court, for lack of diligence. Wagner v. Geiselman (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 524.

Where it was claimed that an operation on plaintiff's wife was rendered necessary by an electric shock for which defendant was liable, and, though defendant could have procured the testimony of plaintiff's physician to the contrary, it did not do so, it was not entitled to a new trial for newly discovered evidence thereof. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Davis (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1146.

Where defendant's answer clearly indicated his defense and plaintiffs did not apply for a continuance in order to procure rebutting testimony, they could not claim that they were surprised by his testimony as a ground for new trial. Tripp Bros. v. McCormack (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 443.

A new trial cannot be allowed on the ground of newly discovered evidence, where defendant and his counsel were in possession of such facts that they could easily have discovered it before trial. Swearingen v. Bray (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 953.

44. Codefendants.—Where plaintiff sued three persons as members of a partnership for goods sold to the firm and after judgment against one of them moved for judgment against the others, notwithstanding verdict in their favor, and, this being denied, plaintiff filed a motion to set aside the judgment for the codefendants and for a new trial as to them, which motion was overruled, and all the defendants joined in the original motion for new trial and in amended motions, all claiming they were entitled to a new trial because of plaintiff's admission that the judgment was erroneous by his motion that judgment as to the two defendants discharged be set aside, the defendant cast was not entitled to a new trial because plaintiff claimed that he should have had judgment against the other two defendants as well. Garza v. Alamo Live Stock Commission Co. (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 687.

45. Conditions on granting new trial.—The grant of a new trial must be absolute and unconditional. Secrest v. Best, 6 T. 199; Hargood v. Boero (Civ. App.) 23 S. W. 403.

A petition for a new trial by minor children of an insolvent decedent held sufficient to entitle them to an allowance for a year's support, although they were not entitled to have the judgment set aside. Woolley v. Sullivan, 92 T. 28, 45 S. W. 377.

An order granting a conditional new trial is not void. Strait v. Cole (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 1092.

The court can make an order granting a new trial on condition that all costs be paid before the adjournment of the term, and if the condition is complied with, the effect of the order is to grant a new trial. Town v. Guerguin, 93 T. 608, 57 S. W. 565.

46. —— Reduction of recovery.—A new trial held properly denied on remittitur of excess of verdict. McCormick Harvesting Mach. Co. v. Wesson (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 725; Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Jackson, 61 S. W. 440; Galveston, H. & N. Ry. Co. v. Wallis, 47 C. A. 120, 104 S. W. 418; Roscoe, S. & P. Ry. Co. v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 872; Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Skinner, 128 S. W. 715.

The court may require as a condition precedent to overruling motion for new trial a remittitur of damages deemed excessive. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Price, 44 C. A. 217, 99 S. W. 120.

47. —— Waiver of objections to conditions.—The grant of a new trial must be absolute and unconditional, but the objection is waived by a continuance at a succeeding term. Gorman v. McFarland, 13 T. 237; San Antonio v. Dickman, 34 T. 647.

48. Release of claim as affecting new trial.—A motion for a new trial, after judgment for plaintiff in action for negligent death, brought for sole benefit of deceased's widow, his mother being living, cannot be defeated by the mother's renouncing her claim. El Paso & N. E. R. Co. of Texas v. Whatley (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 589.

IV. RULING ON APPLICATION AND EFFECT THEREOF

49. Construction and operation of order in general.—Where a case had been upon the jury docket and verdict and judgment had been set aside, the case remained upon the docket for trial without any order of the court in terms granting a new trial. Cobb v. Works (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 349.

An order held to involve the fact that a new trial has been granted by the court making it. Wolf v. Sahm (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 733.

The error in a verdict in favor of a father bringing one action in his own behalf for injuries to a minor child and as next friend of the child held not to affect the verdict in favor of the child. Freeman v. Harrison (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 686.

50. Order for judgment in place of new trial.—The trial judge may not set aside part of the jury's findings, substitute his own therefor, and thereupon render judgment. Arkansas Fertilizer Co. v. City Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 1179.

51. Setting aside order.—Court can rescind an order awarding a new trial and reinstate the judgment. Hume v. John B. Hood Camp, Confederate Veterans (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 643.

A court may set aside an order for new trial without first passing on an application for change of venue. Watson v. Williamson (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 793.

52. Effect of granting of new trial.—See notes under Art. 1997.

53. Proceedings at new trial.—Judgment for plaintiff in trespass to try title having been set aside, and new trial granted at suit of defendant, held proper to change style of case to that of the original suit. McCorkle v. Everett, 16 C. A. 552, 41 S. W. 136.

Statements contained in an application for writ of error held not to estop plaintiff from introducing further evidence on a subsequent trial. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Choate, 22 C. A. 618, 56 S. W. 214.

A verdict on which no judgment was rendered, because the findings on special issues submitted did not dispose of all the material issues involved, held not conclusive on another trial at a subsequent term, though such findings were not set aside. Hall v. Reese's Heirs, 24 C. A. 221, 58 S. W. 974.

On a second trial, plaintiff may proceed to trial on his pleadings as they stood on the first trial, including his trial amendment. City of San Antonio v. Ashton (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 757.

In an action to set aside judgment, the court after granting a new trial will try the case upon the allegations of the new petition and answer, and render final judgment in the new proceeding. Lyon-Taylor Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 605.

54. New Judgment.—In a case tried by the court it may grant a new trial, and without rehearing the evidence render another judgment. Taylor v. Gribble (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 765.

V. REVIEW BY APPELLATE COURTS

55. Review of discretion of trial court.—The granting of a new trial is not ordinarily the subject of revision on appeal. Sweeney v. Jarvis, 6 T. 36; Hughes v. Maddox, 6 T. 90; Parrot v. Underwood, 10 T. 48; Goss v. McClaren, 17 T. 115, 67 Am. Dec. 646; Freeman v. Miller, 53 T. 372; Briggs v. Lane, 1 App. C. C. § 962; Marx v. Epstein, 1 App. C. C. § 1317.

The decision of the trial judge on a question of fact involved in the motion for new trial will not be revised on appeal. W. U. T. Co. v. Pells, 2 App. C. C. § 46.

A trial court's refusal of a new trial will not be disturbed unless clearly wrong. Phifer v. Mansur & Tebbetts Implement Co., 26 C. A. 57, 61 S. W. 968.

Every presumption must be indulged in favor of the trial court's ruling on a motion for a new trial. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Scarborough, 101 T. 436, 108 S. W. 804.

The action of the trial court in overruling a motion for a new trial after consideration of affidavits and counter affidavits on the question whether an argument by counsel upon which an instruction was based was actually made at the trial will not be reviewed. Norton v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 1044.

One moving for a new trial for newly discovered evidence, as shown by affidavits attached to the motion, must show that the affidavits were brought to the trial court's attention in order to have reviewed his ruling denying the motion. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Alexander (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 135.

Unless the discretion of court in ruling on motion for new trial has been abused, the ruling will not be disturbed. Hobrecht v. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 579.

56. Necessity of motion for new trial.—An assignment of error raising the question as to the insufficiency of the evidence will not be considered in the absence of a motion for a new trial. Railway Co. v. Worley (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 478; Degener v. O'Leary, 85 T. 171, 19 S. W. 1004; White v. Wadlington, 78 T. 159, 14 S. W. 296; Clark v. Pearce, 80 T. 151, 15 S. W. 787; Harrell v. Cattle Co., 73 T. 616, 11 S. W. 863; Railway Co. v. Ryan, 82 T. 571, 18 S. W. 219; Cason v. Connor, 83 T. 26, 18 S. W. 668.

An assignment of error relating to matter not presented in the motion for new trial will not be considered. City of Ysleta v. Babbitt, 28 S. W. 702, 8 C. A. 432; Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Hartfield (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 418.

Failure to consider evidence must be raised in a motion for new trial. Peoples v. Terry (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 846.

Under rule 70 (84 Tex. 718), an objection to the ruling on a motion for continuance cannot be raised on appeal, after a motion for new trial in which no complaint was made of the ruling. Lion Ins. Co. v. Wicker (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 294.

Where defendant moves for a new trial on ground of error in judgment awarding plaintiff future allowances for maintenance, she cannot, on appeal, question propriety of judgment as to allowances to its date. McCreary v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 682.

That verdict is contrary to evidence, when not raised on motion for new trial, cannot be made basis of assignment of error. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ball, 25 C. A. 500, 61 S. W. 327.

An assignment complaining of a verdict on a ground not called to the attention of the trial court on the motion for new trial cannot be considered. Von Carlowitz v. Bernstein, 28 C. A. 8, 66 S. W. 464.

Where a party aggrieved by a special verdict does not move to set it aside and grant a new trial, and does not, on appeal, assign as error the overruling of such motion, error, if any, is waived. Scott v. Farmers' & Merchants' Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 485.

Errors of law are not waived on appeal because not complained of in the motion for new trial. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Sivells, 28 C. A. 497, 67 S. W. 517.

Where the motion for a new trial was overruled at the special request of counsel representing appellant, assignments of error by appellant relating to the question of damages and the amount thereof raise no question on appeal. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Williams, 38 C. A. 405, 86 S. W. 38.

An objection to the assessment of damages on the dissolution of an injunction will not be reviewed where the attention of the trial court was not called thereto in motion for new trial. Wm. Cameron & Co. v. Jones, 41 C. A. 4, 90 S. W. 1129.

The refusal of instructions and the admission of evidence may be reviewed on appeal, notwithstanding the attention of the trial court was not directed thereto by motion for new trial. McFadden v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 41 C. A. 350, 92 S. W. 989.

Objection to judgment not conforming to verdict need not be raised by motion for a new trial in order to justify reversal on appeal. Letot v. Peacock (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 1121.

The action of the trial court on a motion for a new trial held not to form the basis of an assignment of error in view of the insufficiency of the grounds specified in the motion. Wallis v. Turner (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 61.

An assignment of error should be overruled where the matter complained of was not called to the attention of the trial court by motion for new trial. Morris v. Morris, 47 C. A. 244, 105 S. W. 242.

It is not necessary that an alleged error in overruling a demurrer to the petition be made a ground for a new trial in order to predicate an assignment of error thereon. Stockton v. Brown (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 423.

No motion for a new trial for the insufficiency of evidence is necessary to enable the court on appeal from a judgment in a case tried without a jury to review the case upon the facts. West Bros. v. Thompson & Greer, 48 C. A. 362, 106 S. W. 1134.

Under rule 24 as amended in 1912 (142 S. W. xii), assignments of error cannot be reviewed unless they were embodied in a motion for a new trial filed in the trial court. Davidson v. Patton (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 757.

The only purpose of the amendments of 1912 to rules 24 and 25 (142 S. W. xii) is to require a motion for new trial in all cases as a prerequisite to the consideration of assignments of error based thereon. Nunn v. Veale (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 758.

Rules 24 (142 S. W. xii) and 71a (145 S. W. vii) require a motion for new trial in every case except such cases as by statute do not require a motion. Murphy v. Earl (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 486.

Jurisdiction of the trial court may be raised on appeal without presenting the question in motion for new trial. O'Bannon v. Pleasants (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 719.

Assignments based on errors not complained of in the motion for new trial as required by rules 23 and 24 (142 S. W. xii) cannot be reviewed. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Gray (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 229.

Under Art. 1991 and rule 71a (145 S. W. vii), making a motion for a new trial a prerequisite to an appeal unless the error complained of is fundamental, except in cases where the statute does not require such motion, assignments of error were reviewable in a case wherein the court on request filed separate conclusions of fact and law, though no motion for new trial was filed below. American Rio Grande Land & Irrigation Co. v. Mercedes Plantation Co. (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 286.

Under rules 24, 25, as amended (142 S. W. xii), no question can be raised that has not been presented in a motion for new trial. Morrow v. Harvey (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 206.

An objection may be first taken in the court of civil appeals to a petition which does not state a cause of action. Thompson v. Price (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 288.

Prior to the adoption of rule 71a (145 S. W. vii), it was not necessary to file a motion when the grounds of reversal related to any ruling of the trial court, though the matters complained of must have been called to the attention of the trial court in such a motion. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Lee (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 748.

Rules 24 and 25 (142 S. W. xii), as amended in 1912, considered with rule 71a (145 S. W. vii), held intended to change the rules of practice and procedure as established by former decisions of the supreme court. Id.

57. —— Trial by court.—The rule requiring an assignment of error questioning the sufficiency of evidence to be brought to the attention of the trial court in motion for new trial does not apply where the facts are found by the court. Griffin v. McKinney (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 78; D. E. Foote & Co. v. Heisig & Norvell (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 362; Greer v. Featherston, 95 T. 654, 69 S. W. 69, overruling Gillett v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 61; Black v. Black (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 928.

A jury having been waived a motion for new trial was not necessary to entitle the defeated party to a revision of the judgment. Greer v. Featherston, 95 T. 654, 69 S. W. 72; Frenzell v. Lexington Land, Abstract & Investment Co. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 907.

Generally a question of fact will not be reviewed unless called to the trial court's attention by motion for new trial, though the case was tried to the court. R. B. Godley Lumber Co. v. Teagarden (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1109.

58. —— Sufficiency and scope of motion.—An objection, on motion for new trial, that the verdict and judgment are contrary to the evidence, held insufficient on which to base assignments of error. Texas Farm & Land Co. v. Story (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 933.

An objection not presented by the motion for a new trial is not entitled to be considered on appeal. Cohen v. Grimes, 18 C. A. 327, 45 S. W. 210.

A motion stating that the verdict was contrary to the law and evidence is too general to call the attention of the court to a question raised. Voelcker v. McKay (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 424.

A motion held not to allow defendant to complain of the insufficiency of the evidence. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Thigpen (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 836.

The sufficiency of the evidence to sustain an attachment, not raised on motion for a new trial, held not reviewable on appeal. Dodd v. Presley (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 73.

Error relating to the sufficiency of the evidence is not well assigned unless raised by motion for new trial specifically stating the grounds relied on. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Norman (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 594.

An assignment of error, attacking the verdict on the ground of plaintiff's failure to prove a certain matter, will not be considered when not raised in motion for new trial. Riske v. Rotan Grocery Co. (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 708.

An assignment of error held justified by the matters set out in motion for new trial. Wallis v. Turner (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 61.

An objection to the verdict, not urged in a motion, held not reviewable on appeal. Friar v. Orange & N. W. Ry. Co., 45 C. A. 564, 101 S. W. 274.

A complaint in a motion for new trial that the verdict is contrary to law and evidence, and is unsupported thereby, held too general to present any question for review by the trial court or on appeal. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Vandeventer, 48 C. A. 366, 107 S. W. 560.

A motion held not to present for review objections that the verdict and the judgment thereon were contrary to the law and the evidence. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Kalitta (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 175.

Where a motion for new trial failed to claim that plaintiff assumed the risk, such contention could not be made on appeal. Texas Mexican Ry. Co. v. Trijerina, 51 C. A. 100, 111 S. W. 239.

A motion for new trial held too general to require the court on appeal to review the sufficiency of the evidence. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Schubert (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 708; Grand Temple and Tabernacle in State of Texas of Knights and Daughters of Tabor of International Order of Twelve v. Johnson, 156 S. W. 532.

A question held not reviewable because not shown to have been raised by the motion for new trial. King v. Murray (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 255.

Question of the sufficiency of evidence cannot be raised on appeal under an assignment complaining of the refusal of a peremptory instruction. City of San Antonio v. Ashton (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 757.

Assignments in motion of errors in the admission of evidence and the refusal of requests to charge held to justify a review thereof notwithstanding rule 68 (67 S. W. xxv). Pope v. Ansley Realty Co. (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1103.

To assign excessive damages as error in a personal injury action, that ground must have been assigned in the motion for new trial. Texas Mexican Ry. Co. v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 565.

Grounds insufficiently stated under rules 67 and 68 (67 S. W. xxv), so as to preclude their being considered in the trial court, may not be reviewed on appeal. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Hartfield (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 418.

A ground that the verdict is excessive, without pointing out wherein it is excessive, is too general. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Matlock (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1067; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Fesmire, 150 S. W. 201; Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Suitor, 153 S. W. 185.

That a ground referred by mistake to the wrong bill of exceptions does not preclude a review of the ground, where the trial court evidently knew the point raised. Metropolitan St. Ry. Co. v. Roberts (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 44.

A motion which did not point out wherein the evidence was insufficient to support the verdict held too general. Combest v. Glenn (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 112.

Appellants held not entitled to complain of the judgment for a reason not assigned as ground for new trial. St. Louis, S. F. & T. Ry. Co. v. Drahn (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 357.

Under the amendments to rules 24 and 25 (142 S. W. xii), grounds specified need not be more specific than the assignments of error based thereon, and may be held sufficient, even if more general than assignments of error are permitted to be. Nunn v. Veale (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 758.

A ground that the court erred in refusing to give special charge No. 1, requested by defendant, is sufficient. Id.

Rules 24 (142 S. W. xii) and 67 (142 S. W. xxii) require appellant to present to the trial court in the motion every point which he intends to assign as error in the court on appeal, so that the court on appeal must ignore assignments of error not distinctly set forth in the motion for new trial. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Emerson (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 468.

Rule 24 (142 S. W. xii) means that the court of civil appeals should not consider an assignment of error unless the error was made the ground of a motion in the court below, whether the case was tried by the court with or without a jury, and such error should not be considered unless it is so fundamental that the court would act upon it without being assigned as provided for by rule 23. Astin v. Mosteller (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 495.

Where no complaint was made as to the findings in the motion for a new trial, they cannot be considered on appeal, under rule 24 (142 S. W. xii). Sheffield v. Rousey (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 653.

Under the amended rules, an objection to the charge not included in the motion is not available. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Poindexter (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 581.

Rule 24 (142 S. W. xii) applies, whether the case is tried by the court with or without a jury. Wright v. Wright (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1015.

In an action against a fraternal order for damages alleged to have been caused by a fall during the initiation of plaintiff, in which it was in issue whether plaintiff was being initiated or was only taking the obligation, in which latter ceremony defendant did not authorize the use of swords, a motion to set aside the verdict for plaintiff and grant a new trial, because the undisputed evidence was that plaintiff was being obligated in defendant's order, and that defendant did not authorize the use of swords during that ceremony, and that the verdict against defendant was contrary to the law and the evidence, was not adequate to raise on appeal the question whether the evidence, upon the whole case, was sufficient to support the verdict. Grand Temple and Tabernacle in State of Texas of Knights and Daughters of Tabor of International Order of Twelve v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 532.

Where, in an action on a note, defendant did not, in the motion, attempt to raise any issue as to the attorney's fees therein provided except that the note was not introduced in evidence, no other objection can be heard in the appellate court. Peck v. Morgan (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 917.

It is not necessary that the action or ruling of the court in the giving and refusing of charges be included in the motion for a new trial. State Mut. Fire Ins. Co. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 950.

59. —— Amended motion.—Though assignments of error were not embraced in the original motion for a new trial, but only in an amended motion filed more than two days after judgment, held, that they may be considered on appeal. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Green, 42 C. A. 216, 95 S. W. 694.

60. —— Review of rulings on pleadings.—Motion for new trial is not necessary that errors of law appearing on the record, in overruling demurrers may be assigned. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Givens (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 676.

The overruling of exceptions to the petition held reviewable in the absence of a motion for new trial. Trotti v. Kinnear (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 326.

The error in overruling a general demurrer to the answer is not fundamental error and cannot be considered without motion for new trial. Murphy v. Earl (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 486.

Fundamental error committed by sustaining a general demurrer to a sufficient complaint was reviewable without a motion for new trial. Bailey v. Arnold (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 531.

Any error in sustaining a demurrer to a sole defense held fundamental, within rule 71a (145 S. W. vii). American Nat. Ins. Co. v. Briggs (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 909.

Any ruling which appears of record, such as the overruling of special demurrers to the petition, may be considered on appeal, though not assigned in motion for a new trial pursuant to rule 24 (142 S. W. xii). Peck v. Morgan (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 917.

The overruling of a general demurrer going to the foundation of the action, if error, is fundamental and need not be assigned in the motion for a new trial. Davis v. Parks (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 449.

61. —— Review of rulings on admissibility of evidence.—No specification of error in the motion for a new trial is necessary to a review on appeal of the admissibility of evidence. City of Austin v. Forbis, 99 T. 234, 89 S. W. 405.

Motion is not necessary that errors of law appearing on the record, in admitting evidence, may be assigned. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Givens (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 676.

62. —— Review of rulings on direction of verdict and submission to jury.—Error in refusal to direct a verdict for the plaintiff, when directed upon the insufficiency of the evidence to sustain a recovery by the defendant, is not reviewable when not presented below by the plaintiff by motion for new trial. Buckingham v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 290.

An objection that the court erred in refusing to give a peremptory instruction for defendant on the ground that it was not shown that plaintiff's assignor lived in the precinct where the suit was brought could not be reviewed, where it was not set up as a ground for new trial, as required by rule 25 (142 S. W. xii). Caruthers v. Link (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 330.

63. —— Review of rulings on instructions.—A motion for new trial is not required to render available error in instructions. Farenthold v. Tell, 52 C. A. 110, 113 S. W. 635.

64. —— Review of sufficiency of evidence and verdict or findings.—To raise an objection that the verdict is not supported by the evidence, there must be a motion for new trial on that particular ground. Texas Farm & Land Co. v. Story (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 933; Herring v. Herring, 51 S. W. 865.

The appellate court will not reverse a judgment because of an erroneous verdict unless the same objection was presented in the motion for a new trial as is urged in the appellate court. Payton v. Love, 20 C. A. 613, 49 S. W. 1109.

An assignment of error, predicated on the insufficiency of the evidence on a special issue, to which the court's attention was not directed on motion for new trial, cannot be considered on appeal. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Ilse (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 564.

The sufficiency of the evidence is not reviewable, where not raised in motion for new trial. Cushman v. Masterson (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 1031; Valentine v. Sweatt, 34 C. A. 135, 78 S. W. 385; Hausmann v. Trinity & B. V. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 1052; Dean v. Cate, 39 C. A. 187, 87 S. W. 234; Moore v. Pierson (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 1007; Liljeblad v. Sasse & Powell, 49 C. A. 512, 108 S. W. 787; International & G. N. R. Co. v. Miller (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 109; Badu v. Satterwhite, 125 S. W. 929; Warren v. Warren, 145 S. W. 272; Grand Temple and Tabernacle in State of Texas of Knights and Daughters of Tabor of International Order of Twelve v. Johnson, 156 S. W. 532.

That the evidence does not support the verdict cannot be assigned as error when not raised in motion for new trial. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Owens (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 210.

A special verdict is conclusive between the parties as to the facts found unless set aside on motion for new trial, and cannot be questioned on appeal unless such motion was made. Fant v. Sullivan (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 515.

65. —— Review of amount of recovery and the awarding of costs.—An assignment of error that the verdict is excessive cannot be considered when it was not embraced in the motion for a new trial. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Zantzinger (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 677.

Error in rendering judgment for costs, not brought to the attention of the trial court in motion for a new trial, nor by motion to retax is not available on appeal. Cunningham v. McDonald (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 871; Grieb v. Stahl, 155 S. W. 988.

Excessiveness of the verdict is not reviewable when not raised on motion for new trial. Dickinson Creamery Co. v. Lyle (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 904.

A claim that under the evidence plaintiff should not have been allowed as much as he was, not having been presented in the motion for new trial, cannot be considered on appeal. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Montgomery (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 813.

Alleged error in rendering judgment for costs will not be reviewed, where the matter was not called to the trial court's attention by motion to retax or otherwise. Walter Box Co. v. Blackburn (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 220.

66. Exceptions and objection in trial court.—An exception should be taken to an order continuing a motion for new trial. Peoples v. Terry (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 846.

Threatening and abusive language of plaintiff on witness stand towards defendant and his counsel, followed by like conduct of plaintiff's counsel, is not ground for new trial, in absence of objections at the time. Jones v. Smith, 21 C. A. 440, 52 S. W. 561.

Exceptions not made at trial should be overruled, when urged on motion for new trial. Grand Lodge A. O. U. W. v. Bollman, 22 C. A. 106, 53 S. W. 829.

That a building association has no right to sue, because it has not paid its franchise tax, cannot be made the ground for a new trial unless the objection is raised before motion for new trial. Frazier v. Waco Bldg. Ass'n, 25 C. A. 476, 61 S. W. 132.

Objection to evidence cannot be first raised on motion for new trial. White v. Pyron (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 82.

Where neither defendant nor his attorney knew that a prejudicial remark of the trial court was heard by the jury, the failure to except to the remark at the time held not to prevent a review of the trial court's refusal to grant a new trial. Riddle v. Riddle (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 970.

A motion for a new trial because of illegal depositions is not to be denied because of no objection at trial, where facts were unknown to moving party at time of trial. Doss v. Soap (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 38.

A cross-assignment of error based on the rendition of judgment to which no objection was interposed at the trial, will not be reviewed. Armstrong v. King (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 629.

VI. OPENING DEFAULT JUDGMENTS

67. Nature of suit to set aside.—A suit to set aside a default judgment is in the nature of a bill of review for a new trial after the term and after the time allowed for appeal or writ of error, the petition setting up the defects in the proceedings, alleging a meritorious defense, and giving an excuse for the delay, and hence is a direct, and not a collateral, attack on the judgment. Le Master v. Delhart Real Estate Agency, 56 C. A. 302, 121 S. W. 185.

68. Right to vacation in general.—The refusal of the trial court to set aside a judgment by default, where the defendant's failure to answer in time was due to a mistake of his attorney, and defendant had a meritorious defense, was error. Springer v. Gillespie (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 369.

Excuse for failing to answer held sufficient, and defense meritorious, requiring setting aside of default. Clewis v. Snell (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 910.

A judgment by default for failure of attorneys to sign their answer should have been set aside on defendant's motion, showing a reasonable excuse and that he had meritorious defense. Fidelity & Casualty Co. of New York v. Lopatka, 24 C. A. 536, 60 S. W. 268.

A motion to set aside a judgment rendered in absence of defendant's counsel, accompanied by an affidavit of merits, held sufficient to authorize setting the judgment aside. Scottish Union & National Ins. Co. v. Tomkies, 28 C. A. 157, 66 S. W. 1109.

A default judgment on a vendor's lien note, given on conveyance of realty with covenant of general warranty, cannot be set aside, on the ground of alleged newly discovered evidence as to the existence of a cloud on the title, where a superior outstanding title is not shown. Fitzgerald v. Compton, 28 C. A. 202, 67 S. W. 131.

A motion to set aside a default judgment in a suit on a vendor's lien note, because of the discovery of evidence as to defect of title, is in effect a motion for a new trial, and must be tested by the rules applicable thereto. Id.

In the absence of fraud on the part of an agent of a foreign corporation, on whom service of a suit against the corporation was made, equity will not set aside the default judgment rendered against it. Bankers' Union of the World v. Nabors, 36 C. A. 38, 81 S. W. 91.

Where the petition or service is so defective as not to support a judgment by default, the judgment, on assignment of either defect, should be reversed on writ of error, or set aside by the trial court on motion. El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Kelly (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 855.

In an action against a telegraph company, a default judgment having been rendered for failure to answer, that defendant's New York attorney was moving his office, that confusion reigned on that account, that a new filing and indexing system was being adopted, and that a large number of claims were passing through the hands of defendant's agents in Texas and being submitted to defendant's New York attorney, was no excuse for defendant's lack of diligence, and was not ground for setting aside the judgment. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Skinner (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 715.

A default judgment will not be set aside on the ground of the inexcusable failure of defendant's attorney to put in a defense, unless plaintiff caused the neglect of duty. Stringer v. Robertson (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 502.

Under certain conditions, held, that a default judgment for plaintiff would be set aside on motion. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. Anderson, 105 T. 1, 141 S. W. 513.

A nonresident defendant, who did not attempt to engage counsel until a few days before the beginning of the term at which the case was to be tried, did not exercise sufficient diligence to warrant the setting aside of his default because he was unrepresented by counsel. Booker v. Coulter (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 335.

Where a nonresident defendant knew, at least a month before trial, that he could not be present, and that his defense could only be established by his evidence, a default will not be set aside, on failure to have his deposition taken, to allow him to present his defense. Id.

A defendant who, more than a month before the end of the term at which the default judgment was taken, filed his application to vacate the judgment, and pleaded as an excuse for the default a compromise and settlement of the claim sued on and a promise by plaintiff to dismiss the action, showed a reasonable excuse for defaulting and a meritorious defense, necessitating the vacating of the judgment. General Accident, Fire & Life Assur. Corporation v. Lacy (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1170.

69. Pleadings to sustain judgment.—Pleading against one who was impleaded as warrantor, held insufficient to support money judgment against him by default. McCullar v. Murchison (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 545.

A petition containing an averment that the note sued on was executed by defendant held insufficient to sustain judgment by default. Ramsey v. Drennan (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 587.

A petition not good on general demurrer will not support a judgment by default. Ishmel v. Potts (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 615.

A petition for negligent delay in delivering a death message held sufficient to sustain a judgment against the telegraph company by default. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Skinner (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 715.

A petition which states no cause of action will not support a default judgment. American Bonding & Trust Co. v. Garrett (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 398.

An allegation that plaintiffs were the owners of certain insured property at the time of the insurance is a sufficient allegation of insurable interest at the time of the loss to sustain a judgment by default. Liverpool & London & Globe Ins. Co. v. McCollum (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 775.

70. Discretion of court and review.—A judgment refusing to set aside a default decree will be affirmed where the evidence for the motion does not show abuse of discretion. Colbert v. Brown (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 521.

Setting aside a judgment by default is within the sound discretion of the court, and every presumption must be indulged on appeal in favor of the correctness of its judgment in so doing. Belknap v. Groover (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 249.

The setting aside of a judgment by default is a matter largely in the discretion of the court, and will rarely be reviewed on appeal. Watts v. Bruce, 31 C. A. 347, 72 S. W. 258; El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Kelly (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 855.

Denial of a motion to open a default judgment held an abuse of discretion. Evans v. Terrell (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 684.

A motion to set aside a default judgment is addressed to the discretion of the trial court. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Pearce (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 911; Gillaspie v. City of Huntsville, 151 S. W. 1114.

A court on appeal held entitled to revise an act of a trial court in refusing a motion to set aside a default because not filed in time, where the motion shows a good excuse and a prima facie defense. Berhns v. Harris (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 495.

71. Excuses for default.—A party's mistaken belief that he had employed an attorney to take charge of the case held not to entitle him to a vacation of a default judgment. Ames Iron Works v. Chinn, 20 C. A. 382, 49 S. W. 665.

A defendant held entitled to the vacation of a judgment by default where his attorney was prevented from making an appearance by reason of sickness. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Jennings (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 288.

Where no sufficient excuse appeared for failing to answer, the citation being served on defendant's principal attorney 12 days before appearance day, motion to set aside a default judgment was properly denied. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Davidson, 25 C. A. 134, 60 S. W. 278.

An excuse for failure to appear, presented on motion for new trial after judgment by default, held insufficient to authorize its reversal. Flanagan v. Holbrook (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 321.

The refusal to set aside a judgment by default held not error, where no excuse was shown for not presenting the defense at the trial. Calvert, W. & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Driskill, 31 C. A. 200, 71 S. W. 997.

Facts held not to constitute a sufficient showing of diligence to justify the vacation of a default judgment. Texas Fire Ins. Co. v. Berry, 33 C. A. 228, 76 S. W. 219.

Facts held not to show that a party against whom a default judgment was entered was misled as the result of accident or mistake. Kansas City Life Ins. Co. v. Warbington (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 988.

Where a judgment was rendered for defendant because of the absence of plaintiff's counsel, a new trial should be granted on a showing that counsel's failure to be in attendance when the case was called was due to his mistaken belief that the court convened a week later and that plaintiff has a meritorious cause of action. Robinson v. Collier, 53 C. A. 285, 115 S. W. 915.

The court held required to set aside a default judgment on the showing made. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Pearce (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 911; Same v. Faulkner, 118 S. W. 747.

Facts held not to sustain a motion to vacate a default judgment entered for defendant's failure to answer within the time prescribed. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Skinner (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 715.

A defendant against whom a default judgment has been rendered held not guilty of negligence precluding his right to sue to set aside the judgment. Crosby v. Di Palma (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 321.

To justify vacation of a judgment entered against plaintiff in a prior action by default, she was bound to show that she was prevented from making a defense by the fraud of the adverse party, without negligence, and that she had a good defense. Keller v. Keller (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 581.

A quarantined defendant held to have an excuse for failure to file an answer until after the time limit. Berhns v. Harris (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 495.

A defendant who on appearance day suggested that his wife was a necessary party, and left the courtroom without answering to the merits, expecting the court according to custom to take cognizance of the pleading filed, and to have him called when the case should be reached, no such custom being proved, did not present a valid excuse for failing to answer in time. Gillaspie v. City of Huntsville (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1114.

A defendant who, before the end of the term, filed his application to vacate a default judgment and pleaded as an excuse a compromise and settlement of the claim and a promise by plaintiff to dismiss the action, showed a reasonable excuse for defaulting. General Accident, Fire & Life Assur. Corporation v. Lacy (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1170.

72. Meritorious cause of action or defense.—Motion to set aside a default judgment against a carrier for goods destroyed in transportation, which did not allege that the flood causing the damage was unprecedented, but that it was extraordinary and unusual, held not to state a defense to the action. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Davidson. 25 C. A. 134, 60 S. W. 278.

Where a judgment by default recited that defendant appeared and answered, an action to set it aside on the ground that the appearance was unauthorized, unaccompanied by an affidavit of merits, held properly dismissed. Chambers v. Gallup, 30 C. A. 424, 70 S. W. 1009.

To set aside a judgment by default, a meritorious defense must be shown. Bartlett v. S. M. Jones Co. (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 705.

A defendant who defaults may not complain of the judgment against him, where the attention of the court was not called to his plea, and where he did not move for a new trial, showing a meritorious defense. Chapa v. Compton (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 1175.

A default judgment will not be vacated, on the ground that defendant was not represented by counsel, where had he been represented by counsel, the result could not have been changed. Booker v. Coulter (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 335.

Where on the day following rendition of judgment by default defendant filed a motion to set aside and an answer to the merits, the court should have looked to the allegations of the answer to determine whether defendant had a meritorious defense. Gillaspie v. City of Huntsville (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1114.

73. Time for application.—See notes under Art. 2023.

VII. OPENING AND VACATING JUDGMENTS

74. Authority of court.—A rehearing of a case may be granted after the term, when it is shown by specific allegation and proof that the judgment was obtained by fraud, mistake or accident; that the party has a meritorious cause of action or defense; that he has not in any way contributed to the result by want of due diligence; that there is sufficient excuse for not having made an application for a new trial during the term; that there is good cause to believe that a different result will be attained; and that otherwise he will sustain substantial and irreparable injury. Johnson v. Templeton, 60 T. 238; Gross v. McClaran, 8 T. 341; Spencer v. Kinnard, 12 T. 180; Cook v. De la Garza, 13 T. 431; Goss v. McClaren, 17 T. 107, 67 Am. Dec. 646; Caperton v. Wanslow, 18 T. 125; Fisk v. Miller, 20 T. 572; Burnley v. Rice, 21 T. 171; Vardeman v. Edwards, 21 T. 737; Gregg v. Bankhead, 22 T. 245; Chambers v. Shaw, 23 T. 165; Seguin v. Maverick, 24 T. 526, 76 Am. Dec. 117; Yturri v. McLeod, 26 T. 84; Power v. Gillespie, 27 T. 370; Plummer v. Power, 29 T. 6; Davis v. Terry, 33 T. 426; Metzger v. Wendler, 35 T. 378; Taylor v. Fore, 42 T. 256; Bryorly v. Clark, 48 T. 345; Overton v. Blum, 50 T. 417; Masterson v. Ashcom, 54 T. 324; Williams v. Nolan, 58 T. 708; Anderson v. Sutherland, 59 T. 409; McMurray v. McMurray, 67 T. 665, 4 S. W. 357; Smith v. Patrick (Civ. App.) 36 S. W. 762.

A party cannot have a judgment vacated after the term, in the absence of fraud, accident, or wrongful act of the opposite party, unmixed with fault on his part. Wilson v. Smith, 17 C. A. 188, 43 S. W. 1086.

That a judgment sought to be vacated for fraud had been classified by the county judge as a valid claim against the estate of the debtor did not deprive the court of jurisdiction of the suit to vacate. Eatwell v. Roessler, 36 C. A. 621, 82 S. W. 796.

A judgment rendered by a court of competent jurisdiction will not be set aside at a subsequent term, unless the party applying therefor has been deprived by fraud, accident or mistake of the opportunity of presenting his cause on the trial. Hockwald v. American Surety Co. (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 181; Bernstein v. Same, Id.; Allen v. Same, Id.; Levy v. Same, Id.

Rule as to reopening judgments after term stated. Sperry v. Sperry (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 419.

The power to set aside at the same term at which they are rendered its judgments and orders is one inherent in every court of general jurisdiction, and it is not taken away by the statutory provisions regulating the subject of new trials and the setting aside of defaults. Cohen v. Moore, 101 T. 45, 104 S. W. 1053.

Though there is no statutory authority for new trial after adjournment, the district court, in the exercise of its equitable powers, may then re-examine a case on the merits where the judgment was obtained by fraud, mistake, or accident, without negligence on the part of the party against whom it was rendered. Robbie v. Upson (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 406.

75. Nature of relief.—A suit to set aside a judgment voidable on a showing of the facts alleged in the petition, and to annul deeds forming in part the basis thereof, held an equitable suit for a new trial. Owens v. Foley, 42 C. A. 49, 93 S. W. 1003.

The remedy of a foreign corporation seeking to escape from a judgment rendered against it in a garnishment proceeding held in equity to set aside the judgment. American Surety Co. v. Bernstein, 101 T. 189, 105 S. W. 990; Same v. Hockwald, 101 T. 197, 105 S. W. 992; Same v. Allen, Id.

76. Judgments which may be vacated.—A judgment rendered on a compromise in an action for the recovery of land held not subject to be set aside for representations inducing it consisting of the allegations of the pleadings. Watts v. Bruce, 31 C. A. 347, 72 S. W. 258.

Or because defendant did not represent all the title adverse to plaintiffs. Id.

77. Venue.—Where a judgment is fair on its face and at most voidable, a suit to set it and a sale made thereunder aside, for irregularities in its procurement, must be brought in the court in which it was rendered. Ross v. Drouilhet, 34 C. A. 327, 80 S. W. 241.

78. Parties.—See notes under Title 37, Chapter 5.

79. Persons entitled to relief.—Proceeding to set aside a judgment cannot be maintained by one whose rights are not affected by the judgment. McGhee v. Romatka, 18 C. A. 436, 44 S. W. 700.

A party against whom a judgment is rendered is not precluded from suing to set the judgment aside from the fact that her attorney in the prior action consented to the judgment by virtue of his general employment. Cetti v. Dunman, 26 C. A. 433, 64 S. W. 787.

Where, after judgment, proceedings are instituted to restrain an interference with the property, the presentation of a motion to dissolve the injunction is not a waiver of the right to have the judgment reopened. Dallas Oil & Refining Co. v. Portwood (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 1017.

Where the injured party could not have secured a review of a fraudulent judgment on appeal, she may have it set aside by a court of equity. De Garcia v. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 275.

A person, having a right to set aside a decree in a direct proceeding, may assign the right of action, and the assignee may maintain a suit to set the decree aside. Clevenger v. Mayfield (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 1062.

Where a judgment against one of the defendants was void for want of service, it was proper for the court to vacate the same, though such defendant had no further interest in the controversy. Bryson & Hartgrove v. Boyce, 41 C. A. 415, 92 S. W. 820.

80. Persons against whom relief may be granted.—In order to set aside a judgment against a minor, where service is regularly had on him, and he is represented by a guardian ad litem, it must be shown that fraud, collusion, or prejudicial error was committed. Johnson v. Johnson, 38 C. A. 385, 85 S. W. 1023.

Where a widow in an action for the death of her husband joined minor children without their knowledge or consent, no matter how fraudulent her conduct as against the children, the judgment against defendant could not be set aside where it had no knowledge of the fraud. Taylor v. San Antonio Gas & Electric Co. (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 674.

81. Failure to resort to other remedies.—A party held not entitled to maintain a suit to vacate a judgment undertaking to adjudicate his rights in an action to which he was not a party where he knew of the judgment in time to move for a new trial or to appeal. Cage & Crow v. Owens (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 1191.

Failure of a person not named as a party, and not summoned, against whom a judgment was rendered, to move for a new trial or appeal, held no objection to her right to sue to vacate the judgment. Owens v. Cage & Crow, 101 T. 286, 106 S. W. 880.

82. Laches.—Corporation held not chargeable with laches in not bringing a suit to vacate a decree for fraudulent service of process during the term of office of the officers through whom the fraud was committed. Fox v. Robbins (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 815.

In a suit by a corporation to vacate a decree for fraud of its officers in acknowledging the service of process, the defense of laches cannot be set up against a stockholder who was non compos mentis from the time of the rendition of the decree sought to be vacated till the commencement of the suit. Id.

Where a party to a judgment has knowledge, before the expiration of the term of its rendition, of a mistake authorizing its correction, but fails to ask such correction, he cannot afterwards maintain a suit in equity for such relief. McLane v. San Antonio Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 63.

83. Grounds for relief in general.—Where a judge of an adjoining county was called in to try cases which the judge of the district court was disqualified from hearing, and he tried another case also, held, that it was no ground for vacating the judgment after the term, in the absence of fraud. Wilson v. Smith, 17 C. A. 188, 43 S. W. 1086.

When judgment is rendered against tenants, ousting them from possession, in a proceeding of which their landlord had no notice, he may by suit not only restrain the execution of the writ of possession, but is entitled to have the case reopened and defeat the original action in a trial de novo. Moser v. Hussey, 67 T. 456, 3 S. W. 688.

Failure of defendant's attorney to represent her on the trial will not warrant setting aside the judgment after the close of the term. Woolley v. Sullivan, 92 T. 28, 45 S. W. 377.

Where a description of boundaries in a decree to foreclose vendor's lien, although erroneous, is sufficient to pass title, plaintiff cannot have the decree vacated, and the cause reinstated, in order to correct such description. Mansel v. Castles, 93 T. 414, 55 S. W. 559.

In an action to set aside a judgment against a homestead on certain vendor's lien notes fraudulently assigned by plaintiff's husband, an instruction that the transfer for which the notes were given was simulated held proper. Cetti v. Dunman, 26 C. A. 433, 64 S. W. 787.

Defendants in a suit on a note were not entitled to have judgment set aside to enable them to plead in set-off a judgment which they had failed to plead on the first trial. Carver v. J. S. Mayfield Lumber Co., 29 C. A. 434, 68 S. W. 711.

A judgment will be set aside on application of a landlord, showing that the action was against a tenant and that he had no notice thereof. Dallas Oil & Refining Co. v. Portwood (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 1017.

To set aside a judgment, it is not sufficient to show a meritorious defense, but freedom from negligence must also be shown. White v. Powell, 38 C. A. 38, 84 S. W. 836.

Where defendant suffered a judgment, which he might have avoided by proving a discharge in bankruptcy, he cannot obtain relief in equity against the judgment. Id.

One suing to set aside a judgment held bound to show a right to another trial, and that a hearing of his bill will probably have a different result. Owens v. Foley, 42 C. A. 49, 93 S. W. 1003.

To entitle a party to relief from a judgment rendered at a term which has expired, it must be shown that he was prevented from urging objections which would have prevented the rendition of the judgment. Jordan v. Brown (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 398.

Where judgment was rendered against husband and wife, the wife was entitled, in a suit to set it aside, to show that she did not authorize an appearance for her, was not a party, and that the same was invalid in so far as it affected her homestead and separate property. Owens v. Cage & Crow, 101 T. 286, 106 S. W. 880.

Setting aside of an original judgment in trespass to try title under the facts held not to be deemed error. Louisiana & Texas Lumber Co. v. Stewart (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 199.

Party held not entitled to maintain action in equity to vacate judgment rendered against him upon his failure to appear at the date set for trial, and to procure a new trial, because copies of papers were used where he had withdrawn the original from the files of the court. Robbie v. Upson (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 406.

84. Fraud, perjury, or other misconduct.—Corporation held entitled to a decree vacating a decree of foreclosure for fraud in the service, without showing that such decree of foreclosure was unjust. Fox v. Robbins (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 815.

Fraudulent acceptance of service by president and secretary of a corporation may be made the basis of a suit to vacate the decrees rendered in the original suit. Id.

False representations of defendant's counsel to plaintiff's counsel, relied on by the latter, held a ground for setting aside a judgment entered by consent against plaintiff. Cetti v. Dunman, 26 C. A. 433, 64 S. W. 787.

One against whom a judgment has been rendered on perjured testimony may maintain a suit in equity to set it aside. Avocato v. Dell'Ara (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 443.

False statements by plaintiff and others to defendant's attorney held not ground for setting aside judgment. Gilbert v. Cooper, 43 C. A. 328, 95 S. W. 753.

85. Evidence, sufficiency of.—In a suit to set aside a judgment taken in absence of defendant's attorney, held, that a finding that the attorney was not sufficiently diligent could not be disturbed. Padgitt v. Evans (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 513.

A judgment against a husband, wife, and third person, decreeing the husband to be a surety of the latter, held, in a suit to set the judgment aside, not to show that the debt was one not authorizing a judgment binding on the separate property of the wife. Bergstrom v. Kiel, 28 C. A. 532, 67 S. W. 781.

In order to entitle plaintiff to have a judgment set aside for fraud and collusion between her coplaintiffs and defendant, defendant's complicity in the fraud must be established. De Garcia v. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 670.

Evidence held to justify the setting aside of a judgment on the ground of fraud and mistake. Jordan v. Brown (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 398.

A false recital in a judgment held not sufficient ground for the setting aside of the judgment on the ground of fraud. Hockwald v. American Surety Co. (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 181; Bernstein v. Same, Id.; Allen v. Same, Id.; Levy v. Same, Id.

86. Findings.—See notes under Art. 1985.

87. Proceedings after remand from appellate court.—See notes under Art. 2117.

Art. 2020. [1371] [1369] Motion for new trial, etc., requisites of. —Every such motion shall be in writing and signed by the party or his attorney, and shall specify the ground upon which it is founded, and may be amended under leave of the court, and no grounds other than those specified shall be heard or considered. [Acts 1846, p. 363. Acts 1905, p. 21.]

See Eastern Ry. Co. of New Mexico v. Montgomery (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 885.

Motion for new trial.—The newly discovered evidence, if documentary, must be set out in the motion for new trial. Madden v. Shapard, 3 T. 49.

A motion for new trial must show that the party has a meritorious cause of action or defense, that injustice has been done, that a different result will probably be attained on a new trial, and that the party, if present at the trial, applied for a continuance as soon as the fact was known, or has not otherwise been guilty of culpable negligence. Montgomery v. Carlton, 56 T. 431; Contreras v. Haynes, 61 T. 103.

A motion for new trial based upon newly discovered testimony is defective when it is not stated from whom the information was obtained as to the desired testimony, nor accompanied by the affidavit of such witness, nor good reason for its absence shown. Russell v. Nall, 79 T. 664, 15 S. W. 635.

To authorize a new trial because of newly discovered evidence, the motion must show good reason why it was not obtained at the trial. Briggs v. Rush, 20 S. W. 771, 1 C. A. 19.

A motion for new trial on the ground of the insufficiency of the evidence must specifically show in what particulars the evidence is insufficient. Railway Co. v. Commander (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 263; Railway Co. v. Lancaster (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 490.

A motion for a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence, which fails to show diligence on the applicant's part to discover such evidence before the trial, is insufficient. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Funderburk, 30 C. A. 22, 68 S. W. 1006; Edwards v. Anderson, 31 C. A. 131, 71 S. W. 555.

An application for a new trial for newly discovered evidence held insufficient. King v. Hill (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 550; White v. Holmes, 129 S. W. 872.

—— Specification of errors.—Grounds not specified will not be considered. Hillebrant v. Brewer, 6 T. 45, 55 Am. Dec. 757; King v. Gray, 17 T. 62; Ellis v. McKinley, 33 T. 675; Dockery v. Tyler C. & L. Co. (Civ. App.) 34 S. W. 660; Suggs v. Terry (Civ. App.) 34 S. W. 354.

When the case has been tried by the judge, the motion must specify the error of law or fact complained of. Rule 69, 84 T. 718.

A motion for new trial because the verdict is contrary "to the first paragraph of the court's charge, and the evidence supporting the same," is too general. First Nat. Bank v. Routh, 18 C. A. 250, 44 S. W. 44.

An assignment of error in a motion for a new trial that "the jury found contrary to the evidence" is insufficient. Cohen v. Grimes, 18 C. A. 327, 45 S. W. 210.

Grounds of motion for new trial held too general to be of avail. Branch v. Simons (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 40; Payton v. Love, 20 C. A. 613, 49 S. W. 1109; Moody v. Hahn, 25 C. A. 474, 62 S. W. 940; Wofford & Rathbone v. Buchel Power & Irrigation Co., 35 C. A. 531, 80 S. W. 1078; Moore v. Woodson, 44 C. A. 503, 99 S. W. 116; Pritchard Rice Milling Co. v. Jones (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 817.

A motion for new trial, stating that the evidence does not support the verdict, is too general. Texas Midland R. R. v. Johnson, 20 C. A. 572, 50 S. W. 1044.

A motion and petition in intervention, filed in a foreclosure proceeding, seeking to have the decree reformed, held insufficient, in an equitable suit for a new trial, for failure to set up sufficient grounds. Graham v. Coolidge, 30 C. A. 273, 70 S. W. 231.

A specification in a motion for a new trial that the verdict and judgment is contrary to the law and the evidence is too general for an assignment of error. Dodd v. Presley (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 73; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Norman, 91 S. W. 594.

Where a specification in a motion for new trial is that "the court erred in the testimony set out in defendant's first, second, third and fourth bills of exceptions because the testimony set out in each of said bills was subject to the objections urged against it in said bills," it was sufficient under this article and rules 67 and 68 of the district and county courts. City of Austin v. Forbes, 99 T. 234, 89 S. W. 406.

Under district and county courts rule 68 (67 S. W. xxv), adopted pursuant to this article, a ground of a motion for new trial that the verdict is contrary to the law and the evidence does not present any question. Springer v. Riley (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 577.

A motion for new trial on the ground that the verdict is excessive under the undisputed evidence must specify wherein the verdict is excessive. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Matlock (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 1067; Peacock v. Coltrane (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1087.

Grounds of motion for new trial that the verdict is contrary to the law, that it is not supported by the evidence, and that it is contrary to the great preponderance of the evidence are too general. Alexander v. Louisiana & Texas Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 235.

—— Joint application.—If a case was properly tried, the court should overrule motions for a new trial, though requested by all the parties. Tolar v. South Texas Development Co. (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 911.

—— Amended and supplemental motions.—A motion may be amended by showing additional causes. Dowell v. Winters, 20 T. 793.

An amended motion for new trial for newly discovered evidence held properly overruled as filed too late. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Scarborough, 101 T. 436, 108 S. W. 804.

There is no known law which authorizes or permits the filing of a supplemental motion for a new trial. Sinsheimer v. Edward Weil Co. (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 187.

—— Affidavits and other evidence.—When a motion for new trial based on matter outside of the record is supported by affidavit, counter affidavit may be received. Davis v. Ransom, 57 T. 333.

The statement of facts in a motion for a new trial verified by the affidavit of a party, if not controverted, is taken as true. Durham v. Flannagan, 2 App. C. C. § 22.

A release by a necessary plaintiff not joined cannot be established by ex parte affidavits produced in answer to a motion for new trial but such proof must be made during the trial under the rules governing the admission of evidence and subject to cross-examination. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Wilson, 85 T. 516, 22 S. W. 578.

An affidavit that the facts stated in a motion for a new trial are "true to the best of affiant's knowledge and belief" is insufficient to require such facts to be taken as true, though not controverted. Scheffel v. Scheffel, 37 C. A. 504, 84 S. W. 408.

A motion for a new trial on the ground that the court was absent during the argument should be supported by affidavits. Dehougne v. Western Union Tel. Co. (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 1066.

Alleged error in that the judge went into the jury room and instructed the jury as to their verdict held not supported by the affidavits of jurors. Tyer v. Timpson Handle Co. (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 250.

An affidavit under a motion for new trial is insufficient, where it does not appear who made the affidavit. Funk v. Miller (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 24.

—— Affidavits as to newly discovered evidence.—The newly discovered evidence, if oral, must be shown by affidavit of witness, or its absence accounted for. Glascock v. Manor, 4 T. 7; Edrington v. Kiger, 4 T. 89; Spillars v. Curry, 10 T. 143; Steinlein v. Dial, 10 T. 268; Campbell v. State, 29 T. 490; Burnley v. Rice, 21 T. 171; Wisson v. Baird, 1 App. C. C. § 711; Wright v. Bennett, 1 App. C. C. § 1078; Fort v. Cameron, 1 App. C. C. § 1112.

New trial for newly discovered evidence, supported by affidavit of defendant's counsel that it was new to him, held properly denied, where affidavits of other agents employed to procure evidence showing that they did not know of it were not produced. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rack, 21 C. A. 667, 52 S. W. 988.

Refusal to grant new trial on statement, unsupported by affidavit and deemed insufficient by the trial court, will not be disturbed on appeal. Marrast v. Smith (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 707.

Affidavits for a new trial on ground of newly discovered evidence held too general to support the motion. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Blanchard (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 88.

Affidavits on motion for a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence held insufficient. Campbell Real Estate Co. v. Wiley (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 251.

A motion for a new trial on the ground of alleged newly discovered evidence held properly overruled, where the facts alleged to have been newly discovered were not verified. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith, 38 C. A. 507, 86 S. W. 943.

On a motion for a new trial for newly discovered evidence, the affidavit of person looking up the witnesses held necessary. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Sloan (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 243.

On a motion for new trial, allegations as to the evidence being newly discovered and the diligence used must be supported by affidavit. Houston Lighting Power Co. v. Hooper, 46 C. A. 257, 102 S. W. 133.

On an application for a new trial for newly discovered evidence, the affidavit of the new witness must be filed, and show that the testimony will be available on another trial. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Adams (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 876.

Absence of an affidavit of an absent witness on a motion for a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence held ground for denying the motion. Weinman v. Spencer (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 209.

A motion for new trial for newly discovered evidence held properly denied for an insufficient affidavit. Austin Electric Ry. Co. v. Faust (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 449.

An affidavit made upon a motion for a new trial for newly discovered evidence held too indefinite. Kidd v. McCracken (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 839.

A new trial, asked on the ground of newly discovered evidence, was properly refused, where there was no supporting affidavit of the witness, and its absence was not explained, and where no diligence to discover the testimony before the trial was shown. Funk v. Miller (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 24.

Where a newly discovered witness refused to make an affidavit that he heard plaintiff make certain admissions, an affidavit by defendant that such witness would testify to hearing those admissions was not ground for new trial for newly discovered evidence. Priddy v. O'Neal (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 35.

In the absence of an affidavit the court cannot consider the motion for new trial for newly discovered evidence. Ginners' Mut. Underwriters of San Angelo, Tex., v. Wiley & House (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 629.

A motion for a new trial for newly discovered evidence not verified by affidavit is ineffective. Morrison v. Hammack (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 494.

—— Counter affidavits.—Counter affidavits showed that the newly discovered evidence was in part immaterial, in part cumulative, and would not have affected the result. New trial was properly refused. Eddy v. Newton (Civ. App.) 22 S. W. 533.

Where a new trial is asked on the ground of newly discovered evidence, cross-affidavits showing that the reputation of the witness for truth and veracity was bad are permissible. San Antonio Gas Co. v. Singleton, 24 C. A. 341, 59 S. W. 920.

A motion for a new trial held properly refused where the newly discovered witness gave a counter affidavit qualifying the original so as to leave it of no probable importance, and the excuse for not sooner discovering the evidence is incredible. Bond v. International & G. N. R. Co., 55 C. A. 119, 118 S. W. 867.

—— Hearing on motion.—Where no proof had been offered to support an allegation on the trial, it was proper to refuse to hear such proof on the motion for a new trial. Williams v. Sapieha (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 947.

Where a plaintiff's right of recovery depended upon the date of her marriage, held, that her marriage license, certified to by a clerk in another state, should have been considered in support of a motion for a new trial. Halliday v. Lambright, 29 C. A. 226, 68 S. W. 712.

—— Motion to reconsider.—Defendant's motion to reconsider and grant new trial held insufficient. Kruegel v. Bolanz (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 435.

Opening default.—It was error to set aside a default judgment entered at a previous term without a written motion, under this and the preceding article. State v. Quillen (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 660.

An amended petition held not to be ground for setting aside a default judgment. Le Master v. Dalhart Real Estate Agency, 56 C. A. 302, 121 S. W. 185.

—— Affidavits and other evidence on application.—On application to open a default judgment, it must reasonably appear that proof of the facts relied on in defense will be made, and that they constitute a defense. El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Kelly (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 855.

The facts relied on must be stated, and their existence must be sworn to, or the name and residence of the witness who is to prove the same, and, if practicable, his affidavit, must be given. Id.

Affidavit in support of motion to open default judgment held hearsay, and insufficient. Id.

Affidavit in support of motion to open default judgment held to state mere conclusions, and to be insufficient. Id.

Where the only witnesses to an accident are nonresidents, defendant, on moving to open a default, may depose to facts narrated to it by such witnesses. El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Kelley, 99 T. 87, 87 S. W. 660.

A showing of jurisdiction of defendant corporation held not overcome by its general superintendent's affidavit, which was properly stricken. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. Neil P. Anderson & Co. (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 182.

A motion to set aside a default must be denied, where the allegation of a meritorious defense is not supported by affidavit. Booker v. Coulter (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 335.

—— Hearing and determining, and effect of granting relief.—Where a judgment by default is set aside, leave to answer to the merits will be granted. Belknap v. Groover (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 249.

An order setting aside a default held to limit the hearing to the merits. Erwin v. Archenhold Co., 34 C. A. 55, 77 S. W. 823.

In a direct attack on a default judgment by suit to set it aside, whether the judgment is absolutely void need not be determined, but only whether defects complained of are available in a direct proceeding as an appeal, writ of error, or for injunction. Le Master v. Delhart Real Estate Agency, 56 C. A. 302, 121 S. W. 185.

In a suit to set aside a default, held, that the petition was sufficient to entitle plaintiff to a submission on the merits of the issue, whether the facts sufficiently excused his failure to prosecute with the usual legal remedy by appeal or error. Id.

Motion to set aside a default judgment against a corporation on the ground that it had not done business in the state held properly overruled. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. Neil P. Anderson & Co. (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 182.

Where on the day following rendition of judgment by default defendant filed a motion to set aside and an answer to the merits, the court should have looked to the allegations of the answer to determine whether defendant had a meritorious defense, but could not hear proof to determine their truth. Gillaspie v. City of Huntsville (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1114.

The court on a motion to open a default may take testimony on the merits of the defense interposed where no objection is made to a trial of the issue in that way. General Accident, Fire & Life Assur. Corporation v. Lacy (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1170.

The court on motion to open a default may not as a general rule pass on the merits of a defense in support of the motion. Id.

Art. 2021. [1371] [1369] Misconduct of jury, etc., as ground of motion; evidence.—Where the ground of the motion is misconduct of the jury or of the officer in charge of same, or because of any communication made to the jury, or because the jury received other testimony, the court shall hear evidence thereof; and it shall be competent to prove such facts by the jurors or others, by examination in open court; and, if the misconduct proven, or the testimony received, or the communication made, be material, a new trial may, in the discretion of the court, be granted. [Id.]

Disqualification of jury.—That the jury was summoned by the son of the successful party cannot be made a ground for new trial, without excusing failure to make objection before trial. Rector v. Hudson, 20 T. 234.

The incompetency of a juror, such as inability to speak the English language, cannot be made a ground for new trial, unless the objection was made at the proper time, or good cause is shown for not so making it. Boetge v. Landa, 22 T. 105.

That a juror was not sworn cannot be made a ground for new trial, where the affidavit does not show that the counsel of the party complaining was ignorant of the fact at the trial. Powell v. Halry, 28 T. 52.

A verdict will not be set aside for disqualification of juror when it is not shown that the objecting party did not show such fact at the time of the trial. Wooters v. Craddock (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 916.

Where a juror on his voir dire remained silent as to his relationship to the plaintiff, held, that there was no negligence in defendant's failure to discover such relationship, and a new trial should have been granted. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Elliott, 22 C. A. 31, 54 S. W. 410.

Refusal of new trial for disqualification of a juror by failure to pay his poll tax held no ground for reversal on appeal. Alexander & Kneeland v. Von Koehring (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 629.

Where a juror had stated before trial that plaintiff ought to recover the full amount of his demand, but stated on his voir dire that he had formed or expressed no opinion on the merits, held reversible error to deny defendant's motion for a new trial. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Dickens, 54 C. A. 637, 118 S. W. 612; Id. (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 618.

That a juror knew one of the parties to the action and a witness was not a disqualification. Makey v. Dryden (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 633.

The rule, that to obtain a new trial on the ground of the disqualification of a juror, it is necessary to negative the knowledge of the disqualification until after the trial does not apply where the disqualification involves the prejudice of the juror, which he only could know. Id.

The court held required to grant a new trial on the ground of the prejudice of a juror against the negro race. Id.

Reliance on what a juror professes on his voir dire held not negligence precluding a new trial on discovery of a disqualification. Id.

Evidence held to show no relationship within the third degree between juror and party. Gilliland v. Ellison (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 168.

Where a juror stated in his affidavit that the jury considered that defendant ought to pay the amount of the judgment, defendant was not entitled to a new trial because the juror did not know who were plaintiffs and who were defendants because of his inability to understand English. Garza v. Alamo Live Stock Commission Co. (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 687.

Misconduct of jury.—The mere dispersion of the jury over night, without permission of the court, is not ground for new trial. Burns v. Paine, 8 T. 159; Edrington v. Kiger, 4 T. 89.

The misconduct of the jury. Beazley v. Denson, 40 T. 416. See Ellis v. Ponton, 32 T. 434. To the prejudice of the party complaining. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Pells, 2 App. C. C. § 47.

A verdict will be set aside where some of the jurors, during the trial, took dinner with the successful party. Marshall v. Watson, 16 C. A. 127, 40 S. W. 352.

It is not error to refuse plaintiff a new trial because jury, while out, inspected a book from which plaintiff's agent had testified, and which contained nothing but the entry he had already testified to, especially when it was sent to the jury by plaintiff's agent. Fields v. Haley (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 115.

Where defendants were notified of misconduct of a juror before submission of the case, but made no objection, they could not object to an adverse verdict on such ground. Clark v. Elmendorf (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 538.

The court, in a suit to recover real estate defendant on the ground of adverse possession, properly denied defendant a new trial on the ground that a juror expressed disapproval of one holding land by limitations. Webb v. Lyerla, 43 C. A. 124, 94 S. W. 1095.

Conduct of a juror held not ground for reversal. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Cook (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 121; Yanez v. San Antonio Traction Co., 126 S. W. 1176; Makey v. Dryden, 128 S. W. 633.

A motion for new trial, alleging that remarks of counsel influenced improperly the jury in finding its verdict, and containing the affidavit of jurors substantiating the allegation, does not involve misconduct of the jury under this law. Maffi v. Stephens, 49 C. A. 354, 108 S. W. 1010.

Where the jury agreed to write the amount each was willing to assess, that the amounts should be added and divided by 12, and that the result should be their verdict, the verdict must be set aside. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hawkins, 50 C. A. 128, 109 S. W. 221.

The court held not authorized to set aside a verdict as a quotient verdict, in the absence of a showing that it was arrived at in compliance with a previously formed agreement. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Light, 54 C. A. 481, 117 S. W. 1058.

That a juror stated during deliberation that he favored heavy damages because plaintiff's attorneys would get half of it held not such misconduct as to require a new trial. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Gray (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 729.

Where a quotient verdict was experimental only, the court did not abuse its discretion in refusing a new trial on that ground. Eastern Ry. Co. of New Mexico v. Montgomery (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 885.

A reference in a jury room to the existence of insurance on the cotton destroyed held not ground for new trial. M. H. Wolfe & Co. v. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 347.

Where a verdict is not complained of as unsupported by the evidence, but rather as to the grounds on which the verdict was found, such objection does not amount to an allegation of misconduct of the jury within this article. Garza v. Alamo Live Stock Commission Co. (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 687.

Averaging jurors' estimates of damages held not ground for a new trial, where it did not appear that there was any prior agreement that the average should constitute their verdict, or that it was returned as their verdict. Armstrong Packing Co. v. Clem (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 576.

This article includes a communication made by the judge, but a new trial will not be granted unless injury resulted therefrom. Whitaker v. Browning (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1197.

Supporting affidavit.—New trial on the ground of misconduct of the jury held properly denied, where not sworn to or supported by affidavit. Stubblefield v. Stubblefield (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 965.

And no sufficient excuse for failure to secure such proof was shown. Houston, E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Eddings (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 902.

Burden of proof.—Notwithstanding this article, the offending party has the burden of showing, to the court's satisfaction, that the juror was not influenced by improper conduct. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Gray (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 729.

The burden of proof rests on the party seeking to impeach the verdict to show misconduct. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Cassanova (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1190.

Admissibility of evidence of misconduct or to impeach verdict.—The misconduct of the jury justifying a new trial may not be shown by affidavits of jurors. Mason v. Russell, 1 T. 721; Burns v. Paine, 8 T. 159; Little v. Birdwell, 21 T. 597, 73 Am. Dec. 242; Boetge v. Landa, 22 T. 105; Thomae v. Zushlag, 25 T. 225; Johnson v. State, 27 T. 758; Brennan v. State, 33 T. 266; Davis v. State, 43 T. 189; St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Ricketts, 96 T. 68, 70 S. W. 315; McGrew v. Norris (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 1143; Dallas Consol. Electric Street R. Co. v. Kelley, 142 S. W. 1005.

Affidavits of jurors will not be received to impeach their verdict. Whitlow v. Moore, 1 App. C. C. § 1053; Newcomb v. Babb, 2 App. C. C. § 760; Railway Co. v. Gordon, 72 T. 44, 11 S. W. 1033; Gurley v. Clarkson (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 360; Dennis v. Neal, 71 S. W. 387.

Affidavits of jurors as to the grounds of their verdict will not be heard. Bank v. Bates, 72 T. 137, 10 S. W. 348; Haley v. Cusenbary (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 587.

The jurors cannot show, on a motion for new trial, on what particular charge or ruling they rested their verdict. Wood v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 15 C. A. 322, 40 S. W. 24.

On a motion for a new trial in an action for personal injuries, it is not error to reject evidence that the verdict was made up by casting secret ballots in which the jurors voted different amounts. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Lyons (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 161.

Case held not one in which the verdict could be impeached by affidavit of a juror. Moore v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 30 C. A. 266, 69 S. W. 997.

Jurors cannot impeach their verdict by showing that it was arrived at by lot. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Hawk, 30 C. A. 142, 69 S. W. 1037.

Evidence of jurors will not be allowed to impeach their verdict. Galloway v. Floyd, 36 C. A. 379, 81 S. W. 805.

The verdict of a jury in a civil case cannot be disputed by affidavits of jurymen as to what took place during their deliberations. Flynt v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 864.

The court may disregard the evidence of jurors impeaching their verdict. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Gentry (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 226.

But a jurors' testimony is competent to prove misconduct, where it is given in open court. Foley v. Northrup, 47 C. A. 277, 105 S. W. 231, 232; Texas & N. O. Ry. Co. v. Bellar (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 327; San Antonio & A. P. R. Co. v. Wells, 146 S. W. 645.

Testimony of jurors showing misconduct on the part of the jury is properly disregarded by the court where the motion for a new trial contains no allegation as to misconduct. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Bellar, 51 C. A. 154, 112 S. W. 323.

On motion for new trial, it was discretionary with the trial judge to refuse to allow movants to have any juror brought in to testify to a juror's prejudice against movants, or as to his conduct on the trial, in the absence of an affidavit by a juror as to the particular juror's misconduct or incompetency. Milwaukee Mechanics' Ins. Co. v. Trosch (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 600.

This act probably justifies the use of affidavits as a part of a motion for new trial, requested on the ground of the misconduct of the jury in disregarding the evidence. Lohmuller v. Lohmuller (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 751.

Sufficiency of proof.—An affidavit, on motion for new trial, because of disqualification of juror, is insufficient, when based on information and belief. Texas Farm & Land Co. v. Story (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 933.

Evidence held not to show misconduct. Moore v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas, 30 C. A. 266, 69 S. W. 997; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Gibson (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 469; Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Bellar, 51 C. A. 154, 112 S. W. 323; Southern Pac. Co. v. Hart, 53 C. A. 536, 116 S. W. 415; City of Ft. Worth v. Lopp (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 824.

Evidence of a single juror, contradicted by another juror, that it was agreed that whichever party received the most votes should win, held not to impeach the verdict. Kalteyer v. Mitchell (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 462.

Evidence held to show that juror was prejudiced, so that defendant had not had a trial before a fair and impartial jury. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Dickens, 54 C. A. 637, 118 S. W. 612; Id. (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 618.

Evidence held to sustain a finding that the misconduct did not affect the verdict. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Blalack (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 706.

Discretion of court and review.—Refusal of new trial held not an abuse of discretion. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Blue, 46 C. A. 239, 102 S. W. 128; Kalteyer v. Mitchell, 102 T. 393, 117 S. W. 794, 132 Am. St. Rep. 889; Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. of Texas v. Brown (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 1172; Freeman v. McElroy, 149 S. W. 428.

An order refusing a new trial on the ground of misconduct of jurors will be disturbed only for abuse of discretion. Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Blue, 46 C. A. 239, 102 S. W. 128; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Hays (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 416; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Brown, 140 S. W. 1172; San Antonio Traction Co. v. Cassanova, 154 S. W. 1190.

It is within the discretion of the court to grant or refuse a new trial on the ground of misconduct of the jury. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Blue, 46 C. A. 239, 102 S. W. 128, 129;

Foley v. Northrup, 47 C. A. 277, 105 S. W. 231, 232; Mt. Franklin Lime & Stone Co. v. May (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 756.

The court did not abuse its discretion in refusing to set aside a verdict on the ground that it was reached by lot, where there was testimony sufficient to support a finding that it was not so reached. Chicago, R. I. & G. Ry. Co. v. Swann (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1164.

The refusal of a new trial because of the misconduct of the juror was within the trial court's discretion; the court's finding on an issue of fact in such case being entitled to the same weight as a jury finding. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Gray (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 729.

Refusal of a new trial held an abuse of discretion. Hobrecht v. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 579.

Denial of new trial, asked for on the ground of misconduct of the jury in their discussion in the jury room, will not be disturbed, where the discretion of the trial court in that respect is reasonably exercised. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Pingenot (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 93.

The discretion to grant a new trial for the misconduct of a juror conferred on the trial court by this article, is reviewable by the supreme court, and, where the evidence before the trial judge leaves it reasonably doubtful as to the effect of the misconduct on the amount of the verdict, the supreme court will exercise its authority and set aside the judgment of the refusal to grant a new trial, but, where the judge acted fairly in the investigation, his ruling will not be disturbed. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Gray, 105 T. 42, 143 S. W. 606.

The judgment of the court on the testimony adduced has the same force and effect as a judgment in any other case on the facts. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Cassanova (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1190.

Where, on a motion for new trial for misconduct of jurors, in an action for personal injuries in which the recovery was $10,000, the jurors are examined, as provided by this article, and their testimony shows that it was discussed among them the cause of hospital and doctors' bills and the percentage which the lawyers would get, some saying that they would get one-half, etc., and at least two of the jurors admitted that they considered it in their verdict, and two of the jurors were not called, it was an abuse of discretion of the trial court to overrule the motion. Id.

Art. 2022. [1452] [1448] New trials granted where damages too small, etc.—New trials may be granted as well when the damages are manifestly too small as when they are too large. [Act May 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 111. P. D. 1472.]

Applicability of statute.—This article applies to actions ex delicto as well as to those ex contractu. Allison v. Railway Co. (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 425.

In an action for damages for delay in the delivery of a telegram, only remedy of plaintiffs, on striking out of items of damages, where petition was sufficient, held to be to have a new trial granted. Rich v. Western Union Telegraph Co., 101 T. 466, 108 S. W. 1152.

Inadequacy or excessiveness.—That the damages are too small or too large. International & G. N. R. R. Co. v. Stewart, 57 T. 166; Glasscock v. Shell, 57 T. 215; Thomas v. Chapman, 62 T. 193; Gatewood v. Laughlin, 2 App. C. C. § 151; Burnes v. Merchants & Planters Oil Co. (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 1063; also see East L. & R. R. Ry. Co. v. Smith, 65 T. 167; Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Dorsey, 66 T. 148, 18 S. W. 444; Texas Inst. Co. v. Lewis (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 486.

A verdict will not be set aside as excessive, unless it is so large as to indicate passion, prejudice or improper conception of the measure of damages. Railway Co. v. Parr (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 861.

Evidence held not to show that verdict for $1,000 for personal injuries was so small as to warrant the court of civil appeals in setting same aside, on the ground that it indicated that it was the result of passion, prejudice or mistake. Farley v. M., K. & T. Ry. Co., 34 C. A. 81, 77 S. W. 1040.

The jury in a personal injury action may exercise much latitude in fixing the amount of damages, and the court will interfere only when the discretion has been abused. Texas & G. Ry. Co. v. Hall (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 71.

Where, in an action against a telegraph company for delay in delivering a death message, resulting in plaintiff's failure to attend the funeral of her daughter, there being no evidence as to plaintiff's acts and conduct at the time, evidence that she thought she was damaged by reason of not being at the funeral, that she "suffered in a way" and "guessed she had suffered $5,000, and more too," was insufficient to sustain a default judgment for that amount, which was grossly excessive, and should be reduced to $1,000 as a condition to the denial of a new trial. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Skinner (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 715.

Evidence in a personal injury case held not to show the verdict was "manifestly" too small, so as to make it an abuse of discretion not to award a new trial under this article. Jackson v. Dallas Fair Park Amusement Ass'n (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1181.

Art. 2023. [1373] [1371] Time of making motion.—All motions for new trials, in arrest of judgment, or to set aside a judgment, shall be made within two days after the rendition of verdict, if the term of court shall continue so long; if not, then before the end of the term. [Id. sec. 112. P. D. 1473.]

In general.—A motion may be made within two days after the execution of a writ of inquiry. Edwards v. James, 13 T. 52; Roseboro v. Thompson, 1 App. C. C. § 19.

A judgment by default entered on a petition not good on general demurrer may be set aside on motion during the term, although the motion was not filed within two days after entry of judgment. Ishmel v. Potts (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 615.

Where plaintiff filed an application to have a judgment set aside, the service of which was accepted by the defendant and an agreement indorsed thereon that the matter might be presented by motion, held, that plaintiff's delay in filing the application after learning of the judgment was waived by the defendant's indorsement on the application. McCord-Collins Commerce Co. v. Stern (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 341.

A motion to set aside a judgment, though not filed within two days after the judgment, will be entertained, where movant had no notice of the proceeding until after the judgment and used due diligence in presenting the motion. Dallas Oil & Refining Co. v. Portwood (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 1017.

A motion to set aside a judgment, not filed within two days after rendition, may be stricken out, where the defendant was present and did not object. Calvert, W. & B. V. Ry. Co. v. Driskill, 31 C. A. 200, 71 S. W. 997.

A motion to set aside a default judgment is governed by the same rules as those applicable to the granting of new trials, and must be filed within two days after the rendition of judgment, or show a sufficient excuse for the delay. El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Kelly (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 855.

Rights of one who fails to file a motion to set aside a judgment by default within the time prescribed by law defined. El Paso & S. W. Ry. Co. v. Kelley, 99 T. 87, 87 S. W. 660.

A quarantined defendant held to have an excuse for failure to file a motion to set aside a default until after the time limit. Berhns v. Harris (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 495.

Discretion of court.—The court may, within its discretion, entertain a motion filed after the expiration of two days (Aldrige v. Mardoff, 32 T. 205; Maloy v. State, 33 T. 599; Gill v. Rogers, 37 T. 628; Linn v. Le Compte, 47 T. 440; George v. Taylor, 55 T. 97; Davis v. Zumwalt, 1 App. C. C. § 597); and on newly-discovered grounds after a motion has been overruled (Bryorly v. Clark, 48 T. 345).

Where a motion for a new trial was not filed until five days after judgment for plaintiff, it was within the discretion of the court to grant or refuse the same. Cato v. Scott (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 667.

Under the facts the granting of a motion for a new trial held not to have been beyond the court's jurisdiction. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Hugen, 45 C. A. 326, 100 S. W. 1000.

Notwithstanding the statute, the judge trying the cause has the discretion to consider a motion for new trial filed more than two days after judgment. Hargrove v. Cothran, 54 C. A. 5, 118 S. W. 177.

In a suit for divorce, a motion for a new trial, though filed more than two days after the entry of a decree, should not have been dismissed for that reason, but should have been treated as a bill of review. Dickinson v. Dickinson (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 205.

Action of the trial court in limiting party's time in which to present motion for a new trial, and requiring him to state its substance instead of reading it, held not reversible error; those matters being largely in the discretion of the trial court. Kruegel v. Nitschman (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 319.

Failure to enter on docket.—Party not prejudiced by failure of clerk to enter motion on the docket. Roseboro v. Thompson, 1 App. C. C. § 19.

Petition or bill of review.—County court in probate, see notes under Art. 3206.

A new trial cannot be granted after the term under this article. A party prevented from making his defense by fraud, accident, or mistake must bring a new suit to reopen the case. Eddleman v. McGlathery, 74 T. 280, 11 S. W. 1100.

A new trial will not be granted after the term unless the applicant can show that he was prevented from making a valid defense to the action in which the judgment was rendered against him by fraud, accident, or the act of the opposite party, unmixed with fault or negligence on his part. He must be able to impeach the justice and equity of the verdict of which he complains, and to show also that there is good ground to suppose that a different result would be attained by a new trial. Merrill v. Roberts, 78 T. 28, 14 S. W. 254; Weaver v. Vandervanter, 84 T. 691, 19 S. W. 889.

A new trial held properly granted after term at which judgment was rendered, the court having been misled by an agreement of counsel entered into by mistake. McCorkle v. Everett, 16 C. A. 552, 41 S. W. 136.

Circumstances under which a default was taken held such that there was no error in refusing a new trial after the term had expired, and dissolving an injunction against execution of the judgment. Wilson v. Woodward (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 385.

It was proper to refuse defendant's application for a new trial, made two years after judgment, where it claimed the same defense as set up and determined at the trial. Luther v. Western Union Tel. Co., 25 C. A. 31, 60 S. W. 1026.

Where an application to have a previous judgment set aside, which was in the form of a motion for a new trial, was not filed until seven months after the rendering of the judgment, held error for the court to sustain a demurrer thereto on the ground of delay in filing the same. McCord-Collins Commerce Co. v. Stern (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 341.

Defendant in a divorce suit held not entitled to maintain suit to set aside the decree therein for fraud, as his remedy was by appeal. Richards v. Minster, 29 C. A. 85, 70 S. W. 98.

A showing on a motion for a new trial after judgment of dismissal held not to show an excuse for the failure to file the motion in time. Fant v. Jones, 36 C. A. 138, 81 S. W. 338.

Where the law of a foreign country was not proved, the fact that, if it had been proved, defendant could not have recovered, was no ground for the filing of petition for review. Avocato v. Dell'Ara (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 830.

Complainants held precluded by want of diligence from maintaining a petition for review to set aside a decree on the ground that it was obtained by perjured testimony. Id.

That plaintiff's counsel failed to file a statement of facts on appeal within the time required by law, which rendered the appeal ineffective, held no ground for petition for review. Id.

That a decree partitioning partnership property was erroneous in certain specified particulars which could have been corrected on appeal held no ground for a petition for review. Id.

Power of a court to set aside a judgment except on equitable grounds terminates with the term in which it was rendered. Kempner v. First Nat. Bank, 44 C. A. 500, 99 S. W. 112.

Judgment held erroneously set aside at the term of court following the one at which it was rendered. Harry Bros. Co. v. Thompson Davis Power Co., 45 C. A. 189, 99 S. W. 720.

A judgment against a receiver held final, and not to be vacated at subsequent term by motion, though the suit in which it was rendered was retained on the docket. Malone v. Johnson, 45 C. A. 604, 101 S. W. 503.

In an action to reopen a judgment granting a divorce and adjudicating property rights, the allegations of the petition as to community ownership of certain property held insufficient to show a meritorious defense. Sperry v. Sperry (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 419.

A suit in the nature of a bill of review brought to set aside as void a judgment rendered in a cross-action held not to operate as an appeal from the judgment so as to permit the setting aside of the judgment as voidable. Mueller v. Heidemeyer, 49 C. A. 259, 109 S. W. 447.

A motion for a new trial will not be entertained after the adjournment of the term at which the case was tried, unless an original proceeding is instituted for that purpose and sufficient cause is shown. Carter v. Kieran (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 272.

One seeking by bill of review to set aside a judgment on the ground that her husband was not a party should show that circumstances did not exist which authorized her to proceed without joinder of her husband. Lee v. British-American Mortgage Co., 51 C. A. 272, 115 S. W. 320.

An application for a new trial after the term held in the nature of a suit in equity to vacate the judgment for fraud, accident, or mistake. Kruegel v. Cobb (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 723.

An application for new trial after the term at which judgment was rendered because of alleged perjured testimony must show that the perjury was not discovered until after the term. Id.

In a suit to set aside a judgment after the term for denial of a meritorious defense, the complaint must show that complainant did not know of the defense, and that his ignorance was not the result of negligence. Id.

To maintain suit for new trial of a cause determined at a previous term, it must appear that failure to apply therefor at that term was not caused or contributed to by plaintiff's negligence, and that he has a meritorious case, and will suffer irreparable injury. White v. Holmes (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 872.

To obtain a new trial after expiration of the term, one must show, among other things, not only that he was not negligent, but that he used diligence to prevent the judgment. Bradford v. Malone, 49 C. A. 440, 130 S. W. 1013.

The trial court has jurisdiction to grant a new trial on equitable grounds, or to reinstate a case at a subsequent term to that at which final judgment was rendered. Jirou v. Jirou (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 493.

The district courts, in the exercise of their equitable powers, may, on application for a new trial after the term at which the judgment was obtained reopen the case, and on the merits, grant such relief as justice may demand. Kruegel v. Porter (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 801.

Bill to review judgment held not maintainable because plaintiff had not used due diligence to have matter properly disposed of in original action. Shook v. Shook (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 699.

—— Practice.—Parties, see notes under Chapter 5 of this title.

Pleading, see notes under Art. 1827—171.

Upon application for a new trial after the end of the term at which a judgment was rendered, the proper practice is that the entire case can be tried upon its merits, and a decree to follow disposing of the case. Browning v. Pumphrey, 81 T. 163, 16 S. W. 870.

In an application for a new trial made subsequent to the term at which the judgment was obtained, complainant is not confined to the rules of practice prescribed by statute, but the proceeding may be treated as in the nature of an original suit in equity; and if it appears that the judgment was obtained by fraud, accident, or mistake, without any want of diligence of the person against whom it was rendered, or that by either of such means the complaining party, without fault, was denied a meritorious defense, the judgment may be reopened and a re-examination of the cause had on its merits, and such relief granted as justice and equity may demand. Kruegel v. Cobb (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 723.

The party bringing an action to vacate a judgment against him and for a rehearing and new trial has the burden of pleading and proving the facts entitling him to a new trial and to a recovery on the merits, and of affirmatively establishing that the judgment should be set aside. Robbie v. Upson (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 406.

Art. 2024. [1372] [1370] Not more than two new trials, except, etc.—Not more than two new trials shall be granted to either party in the same cause, except when the jury have been guilty of some misconduct or have erred in matter of law. [Id. P. D. 1470.]

In general.—A new trial will be granted as often as the court errs in its rulings upon the trial, or the jury disregards the law when correctly given by the trial court. Collins v. Ballow, 72 T. 330, 10 S. W. 248; Rains v. Hood, 23 T. 555.

Where there is some evidence of negligence on defendant's part, a third verdict for plaintiff is conclusive. Wiley v. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co., 103 T. 336, 127 S. W. 166.

Under this article an order granting a third new trial generally is not void, so as to permit mandamus to control the trial judge's action; there being grounds in the motion under which a third new trial would be proper. Wright v. Swayne, 104 T. 440, 140 S. W. 221.

Errors of law.—That the jury has been misled by the charge of the court (Austin v. Talk, 20 T. 164; Id., 26 T. 127), or that the verdict is without evidence to support it, is an error of law (Gibson v. Hill, 23 T. 77; Randall v. Collins, 58 T. 231).

Art. 2025. [1374] [1372] Determined when.—All motions for new trials, in arrest of judgment, or to set aside a judgment, shall be determined at the term of the court at which such motion shall be made. [Id.]

Presumptions.—Where there is no entry disposing of the motion for a new trial the presumption is that the motion was abandoned, and such motion is discharged by an adjournment of the court. Laird v. State, 15 T. 317; Thomas v. Neel, 4 App. C. C. § 291, 18 S. W. 138; Laclede Nat. Bank v. Betterton, 24 S. W. 326, 5 C. A. 355.

Time for hearing and decision in general.—A motion for new trial cannot be taken under advisement to a succeeding term, but it must be determined during the term at which it is made, or it will be discharged by operation of law. McKean v. Ziller, 9 T. 58; Luther v. W. U. Tel. Co., 25 C. A. 31, 60 S. W. 1029; Clements v. Buckner, 35 C. A. 497, 80 S. W. 235.

A motion must be determined on motion day of each week, unless postponed for good cause to a subsequent day not later than two entire days before the adjournment of court, at which time all motions previously filed must be determined. Rule 71, 84 T. 718.

This provision is peremptory, and it is not in the power of the court to postpone the motion to a succeeding term. Lightfoot v. Wilson, 11 C. A. 151, 32 S. W. 331; Luther v. W. U. Tel. Co., 25 C. A. 31, 60 S. W. 1026.

The requirement of this article is mandatory, defeating an agreement by counsel to take a motion up at a subsequent term. Bradford v. Malone, 49 C. A. 440, 130 S. W. 1013.

Defendant is not entitled to open a judgment of the county court on appeal from justice court, in a suit which stood for trial, where plaintiff's attorney told defendant's attorneys that he desired to take the case up, but was referred from one of them to the other, where defendant's attorneys were immediately notified that judgment had been taken, where motion for new trial was not made within two days, and when made five days after judgment was not passed upon at the same term, as required by this article. Id.

Rehearing.—Where during the term at which a judgment was rendered defendant's formal motion for new trial was overruled, his motion filed to reconsider and grant new trial, and this continued by consent of court until the next term, the court on the next term properly overruled the motion to reconsider. Kruegel v. Bolanz (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 435.

A party held entitled to obtain a rehearing at a subsequent term by proving that the judgment was secured by fraud or was due to accident or mistake, but only if the result was not caused or contributed to by his own negligence. McGregor v. Port Huron Engine & Thresher Co. (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1128.

Death of party.—The death of a party suspends action upon a pending motion for a new trial until his representatives are made parties. Wamble v. Graves, 1 App. C. C. § 481.

Postponement.—Refusal to postpone the hearing of a motion for new trial held not error. Hayes v. Gallaher, 21 C. A. 88, 51 S. W. 280.

An application to postpone the hearing of a motion for a new trial and to issue a commission to take the deposition of a witness to be used thereon held properly denied. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smith, 38 C. A. 507, 86 S. W. 943.

Art. 2026. [1375] [1373] Bill of review in suits by publication.—In cases in which judgment has been rendered on service of process by publication, where the defendant has not appeared in person or by an attorney of his own selection, a new trial may be granted by the court upon the application of the defendant for good cause shown, supported by affidavit, filed within two years after the rendition of such judgment. [Id. sec. 129. P. D. 1489.]

Cited, Miles v. Dana, 13 C. A. 240, 36 S. W. 848; Wolf v. Sahm, 55 C. A. 564, 121 S. W. 561; Wiseman v. Cottingham (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 817.

Applicability of statute in general.—This article does not apply where the nonresident has actual notice of the suit. Roller v. Ried (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 655.

Justices of the peace have authority to issue citation by publication, to render judgment based on service obtained by such process, and under this article a suit may be brought in justice court to set aside a judgment based on service obtained by publication. Brown v. Dutton, 38 C. A. 294, 85 S. W. 454.

The action contemplated by this article is a new proceeding, and not a mere motion for new trial. Id.

This article does not apply when defendant has been personally served or has appeared. Kruegel v. Cobb (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 723.

A defendant who actually appeared in a suit is not within this article, though there was a subsequent issuance of citation and service thereof by publication. Crosby v. Di Palma (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 321.

The statutes do not provide for a bill of review, except in cases in which judgment has been rendered on service of process by publication, where the defendant has not appeared in person or by an attorney of his own selection, as authorized by this article, and in certain other specified cases. Robbie v. Upson (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 406.

Nature of proceeding.—A proceeding under this article is not an original suit, but is in fact and substance a motion for a new trial and a continuance of the former suit, and no appeal lies from an order vacating the former judgment. Wolf v. Sahm, 55 C. A. 564, 120 S. W. 1116.

Parties.—The word "parties" is used as contradistinguished from the word "persons" and means parties to the original suit, and a purchaser on execution under the judgment and his grantees need not be served. Glaze v. Johnson, 27 C. A. 116, 65 S. W. 664.

Limitations.—Where there was personal service of process, a bill of review must be filed within two years. Best v. Nix, 25 S. W. 130, 6 C. A. 349.

The limitation prescribed in this article does not apply to a direct attack to vacate the judgment for fraud upon the jurisdiction and in the cause of action. Heidenheimer v. Loring, 26 S. W. 99, 6 C. A. 560. See Best v. Nix, 25 S. W. 130, 6 C. A. 349.

An equitable proceeding to correct and reform a judgment on account of fraud or mutual mistake, is not barred by the two-year statute. McLane v. San Antonio Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 65.

A suit to procure the setting aside of a judgment against plaintiff for delinquent taxes and the sale of the land thereunder is not controlled by this article, but by Art. 5690, the four-year statute of limitations. State v. Dashiell, 32 C. A. 454, 74 S. W. 781.

Defendants in partition held not entitled to have the judgment reopened on a bill of review filed more than two years afterwards; there being no showing of fraud. Allen v. Foster, 32 C. A. 332, 74 S. W. 800.

A direct proceeding to vacate a judgment rendered on publication service on account of fraud, is not barred until four years after the fraud is or should have been discovered, and should be brought under Art. 5690, and not under this article. Rose v. Darby (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 800.

The right to open up a judgment after the adjournment of the term at which it was rendered is statutory, and must be availed of within the time limited; that is, within two years. Bean v. Dove, 33 C. A. 377, 77 S. W. 244.

—— Suspension of.—Limitation is not suspended by writ of error. Best v. Nix, 25 S. W. 130, 6 C. A. 349.

Petition or motion.—Allegation that defendant at the institution of the suit was a resident of the state, that he had no notice of the suit, and that he had a good defense, held sufficient. Mussina v. Moore, 13 T. 7.

Allegation and proof that the fact which authorized service by publication did not exist, or that the party has a meritorious defense, entitle him to a new trial. Mussina v. Moore, 13 T. 7; Kitchen v. Crawford, 13 T. 516; Snow v. Hawpe, 22 T. 168; Seguin v. Maverick, 24 T. 526, 76 Am. Dec. 117; Schleicher v. Markward, 61 T. 99.

Plaintiff claimed as purchaser at execution sale under a judgment obtained by himself against the defendant. The defendant pleaded the want of actual notice of the proceeding under which the judgment was obtained, which was rendered on service by publication, that the claim sued on was fraudulent and unjust, specifying in what, and prayed that the judgment be vacated. Held that, the parties being the same in both proceedings, the averments of the answer were sufficient to support it as a bill of review, and, if properly supported by evidence, to authorize the reopening of the judgment, and the setting aside the sale of the land. Cundiff v. Teague, 46 T. 475.

The application must show facts which would call for the rendition of a different judgment. Keator v. Case (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 1099. See Schleicher v. Markward, 61 T. 99; Snow v. Hawpe, 22 T. 168.

A bill for a new trial must present issues involved in the original action. Woolley v. Sullivan (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 919.

The motion for new trial must set forth facts which if true would require the setting aside of the judgment assailed and the rendition of a different judgment. Tinsley v. Corbett, 27 C. A. 633, 66 S. W. 913.

Where judgment has been obtained by a husband against his wife for divorce on service by publication and the property rights have been adjudicated and afterwards the wife brings suit to set aside the judgment so far as it concerns the property, it is not necessary that she should either show fraud in procuring the judgment or that the facts upon which service by publication was had were untrue. The affidavit to the petition is sufficient if made on information and belief. Bracht v. Bracht (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 895.

Affidavit.—A bill of review to set aside a judgment held insufficient. Bracht v. Bracht (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 895; Lee v. British-American Mortg. Co., 51 C. A. 272, 115 S. W. 320.

An affidavit to a petition to set aside a judgment is sufficient, if made on information and belief. Bracht v. Bracht (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 895.

Cumulative remedy.—This remedy is additional to the remedy by writ of error, and is the only bill of review known to our law. Chrisman v. Miller, 15 T. 159; Doty v. Moore, 16 T. 591; Yturri v. McLeod, 26 T. 84; Lewis v. San Antonio, 26 T. 316; Cundiff v. Teague, 46 T. 475.

The remedy by petition for review, provided by this article, to obtain a new trial of an adverse decree, is additional to the remedy by writ of error, and not preclusive thereof; the remedies being concurrent. Kruegel v. Cobb (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 723.

Grounds for relief.—A judgment will not be set aside in order to allow defendant to plead limitation to a demand which was otherwise just and legal, when service was obtained by publication and the attorney appointed to represent defendant did not plead limitation, which he might have done. Polk v. Herndon, 42 C. A. 440, 93 S. W. 532.

Under this article, defendant, cited by publication in a divorce action, was entitled to have a default judgment therein set aside on proof that plaintiff's cause of action was barred by limitations when he commenced suit. Fred v. Fred (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 900.

Trial on pleadings.—A proceeding under this article should be tried on the pleadings had therein, and not on those in the main action. Brown v. Dutton, 38 C. A. 294, 85 S. W. 455, 456; Bargna v. Bargna (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1156.

Burden of proof.—Under this article the burden is upon the one instituting the proceedings to show that the judgment in the original suit was erroneous. Bargna v. Bargna (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1156.

Appeal, right of.—A suit to set aside a judgment rendered on service of citation by publication in the district or county court should be tried on the pleadings of the parties in such suit, separate from the original case, and either party may appeal from the judgment in such action or proceeding, and the method of appeal or practice on such appeal will be controlled by the judgment rendered therein, without reference to the judgment rendered in the original case. Brown v. Dutton, 38 C. A. 294, 85 S. W. 455, 456.

Judgments not based on service by publication.—See notes under Art. 2023.

Art. 2027. [1376] [1374] Petitions, etc., necessary in such cases.—In the cases mentioned in the preceding article, a petition shall be filed and service of process made upon the parties adversely interested in the judgment, as in other cases. [Id.]

Citation, service of.—On bill of review against a judgment awarding recovery of land, brought by heirs who were not personally served, it was not necessary to cite defendants in the original suit, who were not interested adversely to the heirs. Wiseman v. Cottingham (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 817.

Art. 2028. [1377] [1375] Execution, etc., not suspended, unless, etc.—In the cases mentioned in the two preceding articles, process on such judgment shall not be suspended, unless the defendant or party applying therefor shall give bond, with two or more good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the clerk, in double the amount of the judgment, or value of the property adjudged, payable to the plaintiff in the judgment, conditioned that the party will prosecute his petition for new trial to effect, and will perform such judgment as may be rendered by the court, should its decision be against him. [Id.]

Art. 2029. [1378] [1376] Sale under such execution not avoided, but, etc.—Where, in such case as is mentioned in the three preceding articles, property has been sold under the judgment and execution before the process was suspended, the defendant, should he defeat the plaintiff's action, shall not recover the property so sold, but shall have judgment against the plaintiff in the judgment for the proceeds of such sale. [Id.]

Operation in general.—The reversal of a judgment after property has been sold under it, and bought by the person in whose favor the judgment was originally rendered, puts an end to the title. Stroud v. Casey, 25 T. 755, 78 Am. Dec. 556; Peticolas v. Carpenter, 53 T. 23; Burns v. Ledbetter, 54 T. 374; Id., 56 T. 282; Adams v. Odom, 74 T. 206, 12 S. W. 34, 15 Am. St. Rep. 827.

When the plaintiff has purchased at execution sale, and the judgment is afterwards reversed, the defendant may recover from him the property itself, or, if it has been alienated, its value. If the purchase was made by a third party, his right and possession will not be disturbed, but the defendant must look to the plaintiff, who caused the seizure and sale, for reimbursement. The measure of defendant's damages is its full value. Cleveland v. Tufts, 69 T. 580, 7 S. W. 72.

Where a judgment creditor purchased land of the debtor at the execution sale, and the land was afterwards sold on execution against such judgment creditor, and the first judgment was thereafter reversed on writ of error, the title of the second purchaser was thereby extinguished. Cordray v. Neuhaus, 25 C. A. 247, 61 S. W. 415.

Where a judgment was reversed on appeal, unless plaintiff filed a remittitur, and thereafter the remittitur was filed and the judgment affirmed and entered in the district court, such subsequent entry did not validate a sale made under execution issued on the original judgment. Flanary v. Wade, 102 T. 63, 113 S. W. 8.

An execution issued on a judgment which had been reversed, and a levy thereunder and sale were void, and no title passed to the purchaser. Id.

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

COSTS AND SECURITY THEREFOR

[See Fees, Title 58, Chapter 4.]

[In addition to the notes under the particular articles, see also notes on the subject in general, at end of chapter.]

Article 2030. [1421] [1420] Each party responsible to officers for his own costs.—Each party to any suit shall be responsible to the officers of the court for the costs incurred by himself; and no sheriff or constable shall be compelled to execute any process in civil cases coming from any county other than the one in which he is an officer, unless the fees allowed him by law for the service of such process shall be paid in advance; provided, that when affidavit is filed, as provided for in article 2052 of this chapter, the clerk issuing the process shall indorse thereon the words, "pauper oath filed," and sign his name officially below them; and the sheriff or constable in whose hands such process is placed for service shall serve the same as in other cases. [Acts 1887, p. 102.]

Administration of decedents' estates.—See Title 52, Chapters 27, 31.

Appeal or writ of error, costs on, in general.—See notes under Art. 2046.

Apportionment of costs.—See notes under Arts. 2046, 2048.

Attorney's fees.—See notes under Art. 2035, and Title 37, Chapter 24.

Condemnation of land.—See Title 78, Chapter 1.

Divorce.—See Title 68, Chapter 4.

Fees against party cast.—See Title 58, Chapter 4.

Garnishment proceedings.—See Art. 307.

Guardianship proceedings.—See Title 64, Chapter 20.

Parties entitled.—See notes under Art. 2035.

Parties liable.—See notes under Art. 2035.

—— Primary liability.—Each party to an action, being primarily liable for the costs incurred by him (Art. 2030), and if costs cannot be collected by the party against whom they have been adjudged the other is liable only for the costs incurred by him (Art. 2031), defendant against whom costs have been adjudged is liable only for such amount of plaintiff's costs as plaintiff is primarily liable for. Wichita Mill & Elevator Co. v. State, 57 C. A. 165, 122 S. W. 427.

Jury fees.—See Title 75, Chapter 8.

Discrimination between litigants.—The clerk of court cannot discriminate between litigants and charge fees against one at a higher rate than he would be entitled to charge the other if the latter had been cast in the suit. Wichita Mill & Elevator Co. v. State, 57 C. A. 165, 122 S. W. 427.

Art. 2031. [2491] [2427] Each party liable for costs incurred by him.—Each party to a suit shall be liable for all costs incurred by him; and, in case the costs cannot be collected of the party against whom the same have been adjudged, execution may issue against any party in such suit for the amount of costs incurred by such party, but no more.

In general.—Each party is responsible for the fees due his witnesses. Anderson v. McKinney, 22 T. 653.

As to execution against successful party for all costs, see Simpson v. Trimble, 44 T. 310.

The plaintiff who recovers judgment for costs, and his sureties, are liable to the officers for so much only of the costs as was incurred in his behalf. Tarlton v. Weir, 1 App. C. C. § 146.

In a suit against minors who owned no property from which costs could be collected, and for whose defense a guardian ad litem had been appointed, the costs incurred as compensation for the services of the guardian ad litem were the result of the suit brought by the plaintiff, and after the return of nulla bona on an execution against the minors, an execution to collect it could properly issue against the plaintiff. Ashe v. Young, 68 T. 123, 3 S. W. 454.

The party to whom costs are due shall first use proper diligence to collect them from the party against whom they are adjudged before they can be demanded of the opposite party who incurred them. Insolvency might excuse failure of effort to collect them. Beacham v. Withers, 25 C. A. 575, 62 S. W. 1084.

Each party to an action, being primarily liable for the costs incurred by him (Art. 2030), and if costs cannot be collected by the party against whom they have been adjudged the other is liable only for the costs incurred by him (Art. 2031), defendant against whom costs have been adjudged is liable only for such amount of plaintiff's costs as plaintiff is primarily liable for. Wichita Mill & Elevator Co. v. State, 57 C. A. 165, 122 S. W. 427.

Art. 2032. [1422] [1420a] Officers may demand payment of costs up to adjournment of each term.—It shall be lawful for the clerks of the district and county courts and justices of the peace to demand payment of all costs due in each and every case pending in their respective courts, up to the adjournment of each term of said courts. [Acts of 1879, ch. 81, p. 90.]

Applicability of statute.—This article applies only to pending suits up to the adjournment of a term of court in which no final judgment has been rendered, and gives no remedy for costs incurred after the lapse of the term at which final judgment is rendered. Wilson v. Simpson, 68 T. 306, 4 S. W. 839.

Execution, issuance of.—See, also, notes under Arts. 2033, 2034.

Under this article and article 2033, land, the subject-matter of litigation, may be seized and sold for officer's costs, and the purchaser may intervene in the suit and claim the property under a sheriff's deed. Brown v. Renfro, 63 T. 600.

Ownership of judgment for costs.—A judgment in favor of the officers of court for costs incurred by the successful party belongs to such officers and cannot be offset by a claim against the party. Ruddell v. Sparks, 79 T. 308, 15 S. W. 239.

Payment of costs, liability of clerk and sureties.—The county clerk can receive the fees and costs due the county judge after final judgment, and if he fails to account therefor the sureties on his bond are liable. Scott v. Hunt, 92 T. 389, 49 S. W. 210.

Art. 2033. [1423] [1420b] May put bill of costs in hands of officer for collection, when. Same to have force of execution. Appeal not to prevent issuance of execution for costs.—Should any party against whom costs have been taxed under the provisions of this chapter fail or refuse to pay the same within ten days after demand for payment, it shall be lawful for the clerk or justice of the peace to make out a certified copy of the bill of costs then due, as herein provided for, and place the same in the hands of the sheriff or constable for collection; and such certified bill of costs shall have the force and effect of an execution. The removal of a case by appeal shall not prevent the district clerk, county clerk or justice of the peace from issuing his execution for costs at the end of the term at which the appeal is taken. [Id. R. S. 1879, 1420b.]

Applicability of statute.—This article gives a remedy for the collection of costs incurred before final judgment in case a demand for their payment has not been complied with, but no remedy is given for costs incurred after the lapse of the term at which final judgment is rendered. Wilson v. Simpson, 68 T. 306, 4 S. W. 839.

Bill of costs as execution.—A bill of costs incurred after final judgment and the end of the term, and made by reason of suing out a writ of error, does not have the force and effect of an execution, and any sale made thereunder as under execution is void. Wilson v. Simpson, 68 T. 306, 4 S. W. 839.

Corporation courts.—See Title 22, Chapter 5.

Execution for costs.—See notes under Arts. 2034, 3714.

Art. 2034. [1424] [1420c] Officer to levy for costs, when. Costs demanded of attorney when. Fees for collecting costs, when allowed.—It shall be lawful for the sheriff or constable, upon demand and failure to pay said bill of costs, to levy upon a sufficient amount of property of the person from whom said costs may be due to satisfy the same, and sell such property according to the law governing sales under execution; provided, where such party is not a resident of the county where such suit is pending, then payment of such costs may be demanded of his attorney of record; and neither the clerk nor justice of the peace shall be allowed to charge any fee for making out such certified bill of costs, nor shall the sheriff or constable be allowed any fees for collecting said costs, unless he is compelled to make a levy; and, in case of levy or sale, he shall charge and collect the same fees as are allowed for collecting money under other executions. [Id. R. S. 1879, 1420c.]

Execution for costs.—See, also, notes under Arts. 2032, 2033, 3714.

After judgment and appeal the clerk may issue execution against a party for the costs incurred by him. Extence v. Stewart (Civ. App.) 23 S. W. 295.

The duty to issue an execution imposed on the clerk by Art. 3714 does not arise until application is made for the writ by the owner of the judgment, and where a judgment has been transferred in writing and filed and entered on the margin of the minutes of the court where the judgment was recorded in accordance with Art. 6833, only the transferee may apply for the issuance of an execution, and Arts. 2032-2034, do not give any officer of the court any interest in the judgment. Arthur v. Driver (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 891.

Sales under execution.—A sale under a partition judgment, directing the sheriff to pay the costs out of the proceeds, charging the parties with their proportionate shares, held not a sale under execution to satisfy a judgment for costs. Menard v. MacDonald, 52 C. A. 627, 115 S. W. 63.

Art. 2035. [1425] [1421] Successful party to recover of his adversary.—The successful party to a suit shall recover of his adversary all the costs expended or incurred therein, except where it is or may be otherwise provided by law. [Id. sec. 122. P. D. 1483.]

See Art. 3722.

1. Adjudging costs in final judgment.
2. Persons entitled to costs.
3. —— Stakeholder.
4. Persons and funds liable for costs in general.
5. —— Parties in election contests.
6. —— Next friend.
7. —— Guardianship proceedings.
8. —— Injunction.
9. —— Quo warranto as civil action.
10. Disclaimer.
11. Dismissal.
12. Amended pleading.
13. Tender.
14. Payment before or after commencement of action.
15. Attorney's fees as costs.
16. Guardian ad litem, fees of, as costs.
17. Officers' fees, liability for.
18. Stenographer's fees.
19. Witnesses' fees.
20. Taking depositions.
21. Transfer of cause.
22. Costs of prior appeal.
23. Apportionment of costs.
24. Discretion and review.

1. Adjudging costs in final judgment.—A final judgment need not necessarily adjudge the costs against either party. City of Vernon v. Montgomery (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 606.

Costs do not necessarily follow a judgment, save in so far as the judgment conforms to the pleadings and determines issues raised thereby. Focke v. Buchanan (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 820.

Where it was decreed that plaintiff "recover of and from all the defendants the costs incurred in this suit," there is no basis for a claim that costs incurred by reason of making certain persons parties were assessed. Griffith v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 756.

2. Persons entitled to costs.—In a suit to foreclose a lien on land, a judgment for plaintiff carries all costs, including such as were incurred at the instance of defendant. Bellamy v. McCarthy, 75 T. 293, 12 S. W. 849.

In a suit by several tenants in common against another who did not disclaim, but pleaded not guilty, on recovery by plaintiff costs are taxable against the defendant. King v. Bock, 80 T. 156, 15 S. W. 804.

Where the defendant litigates the title to the whole or to part of the land, in the event the plaintiff recovers any part of the land so litigated, he is entitled to recover costs. Dutton v. Thompson, 85 T. 115, 19 S. W. 1026.

In an action of trespass to try title, judgment considered, and held, that defendant, as prevailing party, should recover all the costs. Hitchcock v. Blagge (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 931.

Where the only issue left in trespass to try title is as to improvements in good faith, and defendants recover, costs are properly taxed to plaintiff. Cahill v. Benson, 19 C. A. 30, 46 S. W. 888.

In an action on contract, wherein defendants allege a set-off for an admitted breach of a prior contract, they are not entitled to costs merely because they are entitled to nominal damages for the breach. Downey v. Hatter (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 32.

A judgment for defendants, with costs, held proper because plaintiffs failed in the real object of the action, though their title was proven. Brown v. Reed, 20 C. A. 74, 48 S. W. 537.

Plaintiff, suing to recover land in his own name, held liable for costs of the action prior to setting up title on behalf of judgment creditors for whom he sought to recover the property. Matula v. Lane (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 112.

Defendant held entitled to costs, where petition alleges conversion, and the court finds no liability therefor as to him. Perkins v. Davidson, 23 C. A. 31, 56 S. W. 121.

Where plaintiff sued for the entire tract, and defendant denied his right to any of it, plaintiff, having recovered a portion, was entitled to costs. Wade v. Boyd, 24 C. A. 492, 60 S. W. 360.

An insurance company, in an action to compel it to make a loan to plaintiff according to the terms of a policy issued to plaintiff and claimed by his divorced wife, held entitled to its costs and attorney's fees. Hatch v. Hatch, 35 C. A. 373, 80 S. W. 411.

Where plaintiff sued for one strip of land, and failed, and defendant sued by cross-action for another strip of land, and likewise failed each party should pay his own costs in the trial court. City of Houston v. Finnigan (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 470.

Plaintiff being successful in an action to set aside a tax sale, held entitled to costs Rogers v. Moore (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 114.

The payee, of a note having broken a promise to renew, held not entitled to recover costs and attorney's fees. Beaumont Carriage Co. v. Price & Johnson (Civ. App.) 104 S. W. 499.

Relator, though entitled to mandamus, held not entitled to costs where his negligence was the cause of the controversy. Patton v. Terrell, 101 T. 221, 105 S. W. 1115.

Where plaintiff's right to the possession of cattle sequestered was not disputed, and no evidence was offered traversing the affidavit for the writ, he was entitled to the costs of the proceeding. Rudolph v. Snyder, 47 C. A. 438, 106 S. W. 763.

Taxing all the costs to one of the plaintiffs in trespass to try title who got nothing, while all the other parties got less than claimed, held error. Yarborough v. Whitman, 50 C. A. 391, 110 S. W. 471.

A seller suing for the balance due for goods sold and delivered who recovers judgment in any amount is entitled to a judgment for costs. Moroney Hardware Co. v. Goodwin Pottery Co. (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1088.

The fact that a party suing for the recovery of an entire survey recovered only a part did not prevent a judgment imposing all the costs against defendant. Duren v. Bottoms (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 376.

In an action to set aside an execution sale, and cancel a constable's deed, costs were properly allowed plaintiffs, although they had not paid the judgment on which execution was issued. Guy v. Edmundson (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 615.

It is error to adjudge costs against plaintiff recovering part of the land in controversy. Fewell v. Kinsella (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1174.

Defendants, in trespass to try title, who pleaded not guilty to plaintiffs' claim to the whole tract in controversy, may not complain that plaintiffs recover costs of suit on judgment for only one-third of the tract sued for, where defendants did not disclaim. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

3. —— Stakeholder.—Statement as to how attorney's fees of a stakeholder should be taxed. Red River Nat. Bank v. De Berry, 47 C. A. 96, 105 S. W. 998.

An owner, as against several conflicting claims for materials furnished to a contractor, held a mere stakeholder of a fund, and hence on a bill of interpleader to require them to litigate their claims was entitled to costs and a reasonable attorney's fee out of the fund. Beilharz v. Illingsworth (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 106.

4. Persons and funds liable for costs in general.—A party who recovers judgment on a plea in reconvention is responsible for costs if the suit was rightfully brought. Cyrus v. Hicks, 20 T. 483; Dearborn v. Phillips, 21 T. 449.

A judgment for costs, in an action relating to land, cannot be taxed against a nonresident cited by publication. Hardy v. Beaty, 84 T. 562, 19 S. W. 778, 31 Am. St. Rep. 80.

When one is a proper party to a suit foreclosing a mechanic's lien, on the question of the right of foreclosure, although not liable upon the issue of debt, the costs may be adjudged against him, as well as the other defendant. Lindsley v. Parks, 17 C. A. 527, 43 S. W. 277.

Sureties who are made parties by citation, and contest their liability, held liable to pay the costs of such litigation, they having been held liable. McLeod Artesian Well Co. v. Craig (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 934.

Plaintiff suing on two causes of action held not liable to costs, where the one decided against him, being incident to the other, on which he recovered, necessitated no additional costs. Caffey's Ex'rs v. Cooksey, 19 C. A. 145, 47 S. W. 65.

A county bringing interpleader held liable for costs of the action, the rights of all claimants being susceptible of adjudication in a suit pending. Harris County v. Donaldson, 20 C. A. 9, 48 S. W. 791.

Taxation of costs against a creditor who was defeated in a suit for the vacation of prior attachment liens held proper. Mallette v. Ft. Worth Pharmacy Co., 21 C. A. 267, 51 S. W. 859.

A purchaser pendente lite does not, by virtue of his purchase, assume the personal liability of his grantor for costs. Kalteyer v. Wipff, 92 T. 673, 52 S. W. 63.

Where defendant did not disclaim title to any part of the land in controversy, and judgment was awarded against him, except as to a homestead therein, costs were properly adjudged against him. Frank v. Zigmond, 22 C. A. 161, 54 S. W. 271.

The taxation of all the costs on the losing party is not error. West End Dock Co. v. Galveston City Co. (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 752.

A party having no title and not having disclaimed held not entitled to complain of a judgment against him for costs in an action to foreclose a tax lien. League v. State, 93 T. 553, 57 S. W. 34.

Where plaintiff in good faith and without collusion files a bill of interpleader, asking that the court determine the ownership of a fund which he does not own, and which is adversely claimed, he is entitled to his necessary costs and attorney's fees out of the fund when the same is distributed. Bolin v. St. Louis & S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 444.

Where the amount due on an insurance policy is more than sufficient to pay the claim of one of the interpleading parties who appealed, an allowance to the company of attorney's fees and costs is not error. Stevens v. Germania Life Ins. Co., 26 C. A. 156, 62 S. W. 824.

In trespass to try title, held, that all the costs were properly adjudged against plaintiff. Rountree v. Haynes (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 435.

Taxation of costs against a constable, incurred by reason of other parties being made defendants in a suit for damages for the sale of exempt property, held error. Baughn v. Allen (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 1063.

On appeal from a judgment for defendants in mandamus to compel the approval of the county judge's bond, costs held not taxable to plaintiff on the ground that the appeal was made necessary by his failure to make necessary parties. Gouhenour v. Anderson, 35 C. A. 569, 81 S. W. 104.

Where upon the whole case judgment is rendered for plaintiff, it is proper to render judgment against defendant for all costs. This does not include costs of prior appeal, for with that the district court had nothing to do. Masterson v. F. W. Heitmann & Co., 38 C. A. 476, 87 S. W. 231.

In an action to recover property conveyed to one of defendants, part of which was sold by him to the other defendant, held that the subsequent purchaser should only be held liable for costs incident to the litigation about the tract purchased by him. Dashiell v. Johnson, 99 T. 546, 91 S. W. 1085.

Where insurance companies filed an answer in good faith in the nature of a bill of interpleader, they were entitled to a reasonable allowance by the court for costs and attorneys' fees to be paid out of the fund on payment thereof into court. Nixon v. Malone (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 577; New York Life Ins. Co. v. Same, 95 S. W. 585; Mutual Life Ins. Co. v. Same, Id.; Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co. v. Same, Id.

There is no rule for taxing those costs against a defendant which he has incurred himself, but the general rule is to tax all the costs against all the defendants. Braun & Ferguson Co. v. Paulson (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 617.

In trespass to try title against husband and wife, costs held improperly allowed against wife. Walker v. Dickey, 44 C. A. 110, 98 S. W. 658.

Taxation of costs against all the defendants jointly held not error. Moore v. Woodson, 44 C. A. 503, 99 S. W. 116.

In a suit to enjoin the sale of property levied on by virtue of an execution issued on the judgment and to have the judgment declared a nullity, the costs held properly assessed against the holder of the judgment. Lane v. Moon, 46 C. A. 625, 103 S. W. 211.

Under the facts, held it could not be said there was an abuse of discretion in awarding all the costs against one defendant. Thomas v. Ellison, 102 T. 354, 116 S. W. 1141.

A defendant who though a mere trustee for codefendants confessing judgment, controverted plaintiff's right to recover, held liable for costs. Zeno v. Adoue, 54 C. A. 36, 117 S. W. 1039.

The fact that a party suing for the recovery of an entire survey recovered only a part did not prevent a judgment imposing all the costs against defendant. Duren v. Bottoms (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 376.

In a suit against two connecting carriers, held, that costs incurred by a successful defendant should have been taxed against plaintiff who appeared to have caused the suit against defendant, and not against the other defendant, against whom judgment was rendered. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Shirley (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 687.

Under this article and Art. 2048, the court, removing at the suit of a purchaser against the vendor a cloud on the title consisting of the vendor's lien securing purchase-money notes, which the vendor had transferred without transferring the lien, and which the purchaser had paid, may not tax the costs in favor of the vendor, refusing to release the lien, merely because a transferee of the notes had executed a release, which the purchaser had accepted. Caldwell v. Dillard (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 853.

Defendants in an action of trespass to try title held not liable for the fee of a guardian ad litem appointed for other defendants. Buckley v. Runge (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 533.

Under this article a county judge and a county clerk who act upon an invalid order of the commissioners' court and refuse to issue a warrant against the county, in the absence of a showing that they have any funds as officers, are properly taxed with the costs in their individual capacity, where the relator in proceedings for mandamus against them has prevailed. August A. Busch & Co. v. Cauffield (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1108.

Plaintiff, and not codefendant, held liable for defendant's attorney fees and costs as damages for wrongfully making defendant a party. Cooksey v. Jordan (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 1175.

In a proceeding to enforce vendor's lien notes on land, where it appeared that junior liens of other defendants who had placed improvements on the land, increasing its value, could not be satisfied, the costs of the entire proceeding will not be imposed on plaintiffs, although they are successful. Quinn v. Dickinson (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 993.

Where, in a suit to set aside a cloud on title, defendants filed a cross-petition to foreclose and were successful, complainant was liable for costs of both proceedings. James v. Midland Grocery & Dry Goods Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1073.

In an action to construe a will, where the judgment awarded a guardian ad litem for infants $500, and on appeal the judgment was reversed and the case dismissed, and, plaintiff having failed to pay the costs on appeal, the guardian paid them to secure a mandate, held, that the guardian was authorized to pay the costs and recover them from plaintiff. Thompson v. Morrow (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 706.

A clerk of the county court who filed apparently contradictory affidavits in a case as to the papers filed for record with him, which papers were lost after delivery for filing with him will be required to pay the cost of citation on him to bring up the papers. Parrish v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 453.

Suit against the comptroller to reinstate a retail liquor license annulled by him being to all intents and purposes one against the state costs should be assessed against him as comptroller, and not personally. Lane v. Hewgley (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 911.

5. —— Parties in election contests.—Under this article and Arts. 3077, 3078, citizens of a city instituting a contest of an election on the adoption of a new charter are, when unsuccessful, liable for the legal costs, but, where they allege fraud in accumulating the costs, the court must determine the facts and relieve them from costs fraudulently incurred. Altgelt v. Callaghan (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1166.

6. —— Next friend.—A person suing as next friend is liable for costs. Johnson v. Taylor, 43 T. 121.

7. —— Guardianship proceedings.—See, also, Title 64, Chapter 20.

A guardian of an insane person, who in an action on the bond of a prior guardian joins as parties defendant persons not liable, is liable to the cost accruing thereby. Moore v. Hanscom, 101 T. 293, 108 S. W. 150.

8. —— Injunction.—Where an injunction was perpetuated on grounds that did not exist when it was granted, costs were taxed against the plaintiff. Tucker v. Brackett, 28 T. 336.

9. —— Quo warranto as civil action.—Quo warranto proceeding instituted by a private counsel on relation of a person claiming an office, and in which the district attorney takes no part, except to sign the information, is a civil action. Hussey v. Heim, 17 C. A. 153, 42 S. W. 859.

10. Disclaimer.—When a disclaimer is made in the last answer to only a part of the land claimed in the first answer, costs accruing prior to the filing of the last disclaimer go against defendant. Vogt v. Bexar County, 16 C. A. 567, 42 S. W. 127.

A disclaimer in trespass to try title entitles the plaintiff to a judgment for the land and the defendant to a judgment for costs. If, however, it is shown that the defendant was in possession when the suit was brought, he will not be entitled to his costs. Wootters v. Hall, 67 T. 513, 3 S. W. 725; Johnson v. Schumacher, 72 T. 334, 12 S. W. 307; McDaniel v. Martin (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 1041.

A disclaimer may relieve a party to a suit from liability for all costs incurred after it is filed, but not from costs previously incurred, if the party disclaiming is in possession, or set up claim when the suit was brought. Capt v. Stubbs, 68 T. 222, 4 S. W. 467.

Where, on disclaimer save as to part of the land sued for, the defendant recovers any part of the land in controversy, he is entitled to his costs. Herring v. Swain, 84 T. 523, 19 S. W. 774.

In trespass to try title, where defendant first disclaims as to a part, and afterwards again disclaims as to a portion of that part, and plaintiff proceeds to trial of the issues raised by the second disclaimer, and judgment goes for defendant, plaintiff is entitled to costs up to the time of the second disclaimer. Bexar County v. Vogt, 91 T. 285, 43 S. W. 14.

Costs up to the date of an admission in an amended answer of part of plaintiff's claim were rightly charged to defendant, and costs thereafter to plaintiff. Williams v. Cleveland, 18 C. A. 133, 44 S. W. 689.

Where in trespass to try title the defendants disclaimed as to a portion of the premises sued for and were successful as to the remainder, they were liable for costs up to the time of the disclaimer. Barnes v. Lightfoot, 26 C. A. 113, 62 S. W. 564.

Where before trial defendants in trespass to try title disclaimed, they were entitled to costs incurred by them after the filing of the disclaimer. Hamilton v. Saunders, 37 C. A. 141, 84 S. W. 253.

11. Dismissal.—Judgment for costs will be rendered in suit dismissed for want of jurisdiction. Baines v. Mensing, 75 T. 200, 12 S. W. 984.

When suit is dismissed as to some of the defendants costs should not be taxed against the other defendants. Clark v. Adams, 80 T. 674, 16 S. W. 552.

An action of interpleader by an insurance company held, under the facts, properly dismissed with costs to the company. Nixon v. Malone, 100 T. 250, 98 S. W. 380; Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co. v. Same, Id.; Mutual Life Ins. Co. of New York v. Same, Id.; Nixon v. New York Life Ins. Co., Id.

A plaintiff dismissing his action is liable for costs. Bruce v. Knodell (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 433.

12. Amended pleading.—After the reversal of a judgment in the action of trespass to try title, the defendant by amendment disclaimed as to part of the land sued for, and on trial made good the claim to the balance. Plaintiff was entitled to costs up to the time of amendment. Keyser v. Meusback, 77 T. 64, 13 S. W. 967.

An amendment to a petition to cancel a conveyance as fraudulent held not to be such a change in the cause of action as to justify taxation to plaintiff of all the costs accruing prior to the amendment. Lancaster v. Richardson (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 409.

Where original petition alleged date of eviction December 1st, but amended petition as last day of December, held proper to charge costs against plaintiff up to the time of filing the amended petition. Wade v. Boyd, 24 C. A. 492, 60 S. W. 360.

Where an amendment to a petition only changes the original by omitting a part of the amount claimed therein, all the costs up to the time of the filing of the original petition should not be taxed to plaintiff. Watson v. Boswell, 25 C. A. 379, 61 S. W. 407.

A successful plaintiff should not be charged with the costs up to the filing of an amended petition which does not change the cause of action. Keas v. Gordy, 34 C. A. 310, 78 S. W. 385.

Amendment to petition in suit to quiet title held not to impose on plaintiff the burden of costs up to the amendment. McCarthy v. Woods (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 405.

13. Tender.—A tender after suit will not relieve defendant from costs. Simon v. Allen, 76 T. 398, 13 S. W. 296.

A bank, withholding money by virtue of the instructions of a party to an agreement, but offering to pay it under the direction of the court, held not subject to costs in a suit for the money. Barnett v. Pyle, 35 C. A. 22, 79 S. W. 1093.

A demand held capable of being made certain by mere computation, so that a plea of tender is good. Moore v. Studebaker Bros. Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 570.

14. Payment before or after commencement of action.—Plaintiff's right to recover costs cannot be defeated by payment by defendant of plaintiff's demand after commencement of suit. Altgelt v. City of San Antonio (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 761.

Where usury was the sole question in the case, and the suit was commenced after defendant had tendered payment of the full amount for which he was liable, the plaintiff is chargeable with the costs of the litigation. Burkitt v. McDonald, 26 C. A. 426, 64 S. W. 694.

15. Attorney's fees as costs.—Where a petition is dismissed on demurrer going to the merits, recovery of attorney's fees prayed for cannot be granted. Beaumont Pasture Co. v. Sabine & E. T. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 543.

Judgment against plaintiffs for costs including attorney's fees to guardian ad litem, for infants not served with citation, will be set aside as to such fees. Maury v. Keller (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 59.

Where a trial resulted in favor of a nonresident defendant, it was error to tax any part of the costs, allowed to an attorney appointed to represent him, against him or his property. Williams v. Sapieha (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 947.

A bank joined in an action to determine the ownership of a fund represented by a check on the bank held entitled to attorney's fees. Newton v. Dickson, Moore & Smith, 53 C. A. 429, 116 S. W. 143.

16. Guardian ad litem, fees of, as costs.—See notes under Art. 1942.

Fees of a guardian ad litem are taxed as costs against the losing party. Tutt's Heirs v. Morgan, 18 C. A. 627, 46 S. W. 122.

17. Officers' fees, liability for.—A witness is not liable to the clerk for the latter's issuance of a certificate of attendance for such witness; the fee therefor being properly taxed as costs. Texas M. Ry. Co. v. Parker, 28 C. A. 116, 66 S. W. 583.

18. Stenographer's fees.—Stenographer's fees should be taxed in the bill of costs against the losing party. Killfoil v. Moore (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 1024.

Party to a cause, moving for order that stenographer transcribe notes taken on trial, that he might make up a statement of facts, held not entitled to complain of court's refusal to grant the motion. Allen v. Hazzard, 33 C. A. 523, 77 S. W. 268.

Where a party makes a motion to have the stenographer transcribe his notes of the evidence and file the same in order that he may prepare a statement of facts, he is liable for this expense. Id.

19. Witnesses' fees.—Where the depositions of witnesses subpœnaed by defendant are taken, and they are discharged by defendant, but are told to stay by plaintiff, but do not testify, their fees after discharge cannot be taxed against defendant. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Willis (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 625.

The prevailing party may have costs taxed for the daily attendance of his witnesses at the trial, though they reside in another county. Secord v. Eller (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 933.

The fees of a witness attending the trial of a case, though not subpœnaed, held properly taxable against the losing party. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Richmond, 28 C. A. 513, 67 S. W. 1029.

Fees of witnesses whose names were illegally inserted by a deputy sheriff in the subpœna issued for witnesses held improperly taxed against defendant. Manuel v. State, 45 Cr. R. 96, 74 S. W. 30.

Minor stepchildren of plaintiff, recovering judgment for injuries to his wife, the mother of the children, held entitled to witness fees taxed as costs against defendant. Northern Texas Traction Co. v. Grimes (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 803.

Parties to an action or those vitally interested in the decision of the case may not charge for their attendance on the trial. Altgelt v. Callaghan (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1166.

20. Taking depositions.—Where a party filed interrogatories and had them crossed, but did not take depositions, he was properly assessed with the costs of such proceeding. Griffith v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 756.

21. Transfer of cause.—Where an action was originally instituted in the district court, and by agreement of parties was transferred to the county court, either court having jurisdiction of the subject-matter, the losing party must pay costs incurred in the district court as well as in the county court. Kostoryz v. Leary (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 456.

22. Costs of prior appeal.—Where judgment is rendered on the whole case it is proper to render judgment against the defendant for all costs. This does not include costs for prior appeal, for with that the district court had nothing to do. Masterson v. F. W. Heitman & Co., 38 C. A. 476, 87 S. W. 231.

23. Apportionment of costs.—See notes under Art. 2048.

24. Discretion and review.—See notes under Art. 2048.

Art. 2036. [1426] [1422] Taxes on law proceedings.—All taxes imposed on law proceedings shall be included in the bill of costs. [Id. sec. 124. P. D. 1484.]

Art. 2037. [1427] [1423] Fees of only two witnesses to any fact.—There shall not be allowed in any cause the fees of more than two witnesses to any one fact. [Id. sec. 127. P. D. 1487.]

Burden of proof on retaxation of costs.—The burden of proof is on the party seeking to have the costs retaxed to show affirmatively the number of witnesses called to testify to the same "fact" and not to the same issue. Many facts may be proved to establish a single issue, and the statute allows witness fees for two witnesses called to establish each fact. Railroad Co. v. White (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 530.

A party objecting to witness' fees taxed as costs held bound to show that the witnesses objected to were subpœnaed and in attendance to testify to the same fact testified to by two other witnesses. J. B. Wallis & Co. v. Wallace (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 43.

Liability for fees.—The statute does not relieve a party who compels a witness to attend court under process procured by him from paying their fees. When judgment is rendered against him, he can invoke the statute so as to defeat payment of witnesses summoned by the opposite party. Frick Co. v. Wright (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 611.

Art. 2038. [1428] [1424] Costs of motions.—On all motions, the court may give or refuse costs at its discretion, except where it is otherwise provided by law. [Id. sec. 121. P. D. 1482.]

Discretion of trial court.—This article vests in the district judge a discretion which is not subject to revision by the court of civil appeals, unless it appears from the evidence that the trial judge has abused his discretion. Moore v. Rogers, 100 T. 361, 99 S. W. 1024.

Exceptions to ruling.—Under this article and articles to 2048, inclusive, unless plaintiff excepts to the ruling of the court, adjudging costs against him as a condition of granting permission to withdraw his announcement and continue the case for purpose of amending his pleadings, at the term at which it was made he is held to have waived it. Cox v. Patten (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 68.

Fees on motion for security.—See Title 58, Chapter 4.

Art. 2039. [1429] [1425] Costs where exception is sustained.—Where a pleading is excepted to, if such exception be sustained, all the costs of such exception and of the pleading adjudged to be insufficient, shall be taxed against the party filing such insufficient pleadings. [Id. secs. 122, 123. P. D. 1483, 12.]

Art. 2040. [1430] [1426] Where exception overruled.—If such exception be overruled, all costs of such exception shall be taxed against the party taking the exception. [Id.]

Art. 2041. [1431] [1427] Costs of several suits, etc.—Where any plaintiff shall bring in the same court several suits against the same defendant for causes of action which should have been joined, he shall recover the costs of one action only; and the costs of the other actions shall be adjudged against him, unless sufficient reasons appear to the court for instituting several actions. [Id. sec. 49. P. D. 1452.]

Liability for costs in general.—Where a cause of action was improperly severed, and two suits filed, the costs of one up to the time of consolidation should be taxed to plaintiff. Avery v. Popper (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 951.

Art. 2042. [1432] [1428] Where demand reduced by payments, etc.—Where the plaintiff's demand is reduced by payment to an amount which would not have been within the jurisdiction of the court, the defendant shall recover his costs. [Act Jan. 2, 1860, p. 5, sec. 1. P. D. 3446.]

Reduction by payment.—Under this article the county court, in an action on notes, successfully defended by proof of settlement, save a balance of $52.50, which was tendered in connection with the plea of settlement, properly taxed the costs against plaintiff; the settlement being a payment of plaintiff's demand pro tanto. Reed v. Walker (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 607.

Art. 2043. [1433] [1429] Costs in action of assault and battery, etc.—In all civil actions for assault and battery, slander and defamation of character, if the verdict or judgment shall be for the plaintiff, but for a less sum than twenty dollars, the plaintiff shall not recover his costs, but each party shall be taxed with the costs incurred by him in such suit. [Act May 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 106. P. D. 1467.]

Art. 2044. [1434] [1430] Cost of new trials.—The costs of all new trials may either abide the event of the suit or may be taxed against the party to whom the new trial is granted, as may be adjudged by the court at the time of granting such new trial. [Id. sec. 113. P. D. 1474.]

Art. 2045. [1435] [1431] Where judgment is arrested, etc.—When the judgment is arrested or the verdict set aside because of the insufficiency of the pleadings of the party in whose favor the verdict or judgment was rendered, the cost thereof shall be taxed against the party whose pleadings shall have been so adjudged insufficient. [Id. sec. 114. P. D. 1475.]

Art. 2046. [1436] [1432] On appeal and certiorari.—In cases of appeal or certiorari taken by the party against whom the judgment was rendered in the court below, if the judgment of the court above be against him, but for a less amount, such party shall recover the costs of the court above, but shall be adjudged to pay the costs of the court below; if the judgment be against him for the same or a greater amount than in the court below, the adverse party shall recover the costs of both courts. [Act Aug. 13, 1870, p. 87, sec. 12. P. D. 6349.]

See Phillips v. Sass, 1 App. C. C. § 246; Phillips v. Atkins, 1 App. C. C. § 293; I. & G. N. R. R. Co. v. Johnson, 1 App. C. C. § 354; Handel v. Kramer, 1 App. C. C. § 828; Anderson v. Levyson, 1 App. C. C. § 928; Lullamire v. Kaufman County, 3 App. C. C. § 325.

Definitions—"Judgment."—The word "judgment" as used in this article does not include costs. Ball v. Chase (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 934.

Costs on appeal or writ of error in general.—Where, on appeal from a joint judgment, there is a reversal as to one defendant and affirmance as to the other, the costs incurred in prosecuting the action against the former should not be taxed to the latter. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Enos, 92 T. 577, 50 S. W. 928.

Where a case in court of appeals is transferred to another district without motion of either party, and supreme court, on certificate, decides that the case was not transferable, defeated party is not liable for costs in supreme court and court to which case was transferred. Tabor v. Chapman, 21 C. A. 366, 50 S. W. 1035.

Assessment of costs of an appeal against defendant held erroneous under this article. Ladonia Dry-Goods Co. v. Conyers (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 967.

Where a successful defendant in error pays the costs in the supreme court to procure a mandate to trial court, he is entitled to judgment of the supreme court to enforce payment of such costs by plaintiff in error. Summerhill v. Darrow (Sup.) 62 S. W. 1054.

An appellee held not taxable with costs of appeal. Blackwell v. Farmers' & Merchants' Nat. Bank, 97 T. 445, 79 S. W. 518.

Where on the whole case judgment is rendered for plaintiff, it is proper to render judgment against defendant for all costs; but this does not include costs of prior appeal, for with that the district court had nothing to do. Masterson v. F. W. Heitmann & Co., 38 C. A. 476, 87 S. W. 227.

In an action on a note by an indorsee thereof as collateral security, the maker held liable for costs in the trial court and in the court on appeal. Martin v. German American Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 131.

An error held not within the rule providing for the taxation of costs of an appeal against appellant. Sullivan v. Fant, 51 C. A. 6, 110 S. W. 507.

Discretion of court, good cause.—On appeal from the justice's court to the county court, where the justice's judgment is reduced, appellant, unless for good cause stated in the record, is entitled to recover the costs of the county court. Railway Co. v. Sumrow, 4 App. C. C. § 330, 18 S. W. 135.

Where plaintiff, recovering judgment in justice court, recovered on defendant's appeal to the county court a judgment for a less sum, it was error to tax the costs of both courts against defendant, in the absence of a reason therefor. American Express Co. v. Adams (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 1039.

If a plaintiff recovers judgment in the justice court and the case is appealed to the county court where he recovers a less sum, the costs of the county court should be adjudged against him unless for good reason the court changes the placing of costs fixed by the statute. Julius Kessler & Co. v. Burckell (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 174.

—— Presumptions.—Where no reasons are, as required by Art. 2048, stated on the record for adjudging costs other than as provided by this article, it will be presumed on appeal that good cause did not exist. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. King, 57 C. A. 583, 122 S. W. 925.

Amount of recovery as affecting right to costs.—See Title 27.

It is error to compute interest during an appeal, so as to impose costs upon appellant, when the recovery was in fact reduced by appeal. Railway Co. v. Weimers, 74 T. 564, 12 S. W. 281. See Hotchkiss v. Chevaillier, 12 T. 224; Phillips v. Sass, 1 App. C. C. § 246; Railway Co. v. Johnson, 1 App. C. C. § 355; Handel v. Kramer, 1 App. C. C. § 828; Railway Co. v. Taylor, 2 App. C. C. § 416; Railway Co. v. Duncan, 3 App. C. C. § 235.

An appellant who relieves himself of the judgment against him in the justice's court is entitled to recover the costs incurred in the county court. Pruitt v. Kelley, 4 App. C. C. § 175, 15 S. W. 119.

When the judgment for the appellee in the county court is less in amount than the judgment of the justice's court, appellant is entitled to costs accruing in the county court. Jackson v. Phillips (Civ. App.) 35 S. W. 745.

Defendant should recover costs of county court where judgment for plaintiff was less than in justice court. Pardue v. Recer (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 112.

Where, on appeal, the judgment is only reduced 80 cents, costs of appeal will be taxed against appellant. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Davidson, 25 C. A. 134, 60 S. W. 278.

Where in justice court defendant recovered on a counterclaim which, on appeal by plaintiff to the county court was denied, the costs of that court should be taxed against the defendant. As to the counterclaim he was plaintiff, and in the appellate court his recovery was less than in the lower court. Cunningham v. Skinner (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 510.

The costs of both the justice and county courts held properly taxed against the party defeated in both courts. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bennett (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 137.

On appeal by defendant from justice court to county court, a reduction of the judgment from $199.75 to $199 entitles appellant to costs in the county court. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Giles (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 282.

Costs will not be taxed against appellee on reformation of the judgment by reducing the amount, if the error in computation was not drawn to the trial court's attention. Goldman v. Broyles (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 283.

Under this article costs of the county court are improperly awarded against one appealing from a judgment of a justice court, where the amount recovered against him in the county court is less than that awarded in the justice court. Goodwin v. Biddy (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 739.

Affirmance as affecting costs.—A judgment of the supreme court affirming a judgment of the court of civil appeals includes the judgment for the costs included in the judgment of the latter court, though such costs are not specifically mentioned. Summerhill v. Darrow (Sup.) 62 S. W. 1054.

Costs of appeal held chargeable against appellee, notwithstanding affirmance of the judgment. White v. Glover, 31 C. A. 8, 71 S. W. 319.

A successful litigant who appealed and the sureties on his appeal bond held not liable for the costs in the district court adjudged against his adversary, though the judgment was affirmed. Lodwick Lumber Co. v. Jones, 51 C. A. 145, 110 S. W. 930.

A plaintiff in good faith attempting to remit damages to which he was not entitled held not liable to costs on affirmance of a judgment in his favor. Freeman v. Fuller (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1194.

Modification as affecting costs.—Where judgment on appeal is given remitting an excess, costs will be taxed against the prevailing party. Barnes v. Darby, 18 C. A. 468, 44 S. W. 1029.

Reformation of clerical error in judgment on appeal held not to affect appellant's liability for costs of appeal. Broll v. Wishert (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 1089.

Appellant held not entitled to costs on modification of judgment. D. June & Co. v. Doke, 35 C. A. 240, 80 S. W. 402.

Defendant, not attempting to have judgment erroneously allowing part of recovery to plaintiffs' attorneys corrected below, will not be permitted to profit in the matter of costs by the reformation of the judgment by the court of civil appeals. Shippers' Compress & Warehouse Co. v. Davidson Co., 35 C. A. 558, 80 S. W. 1032.

A party appealing from a judgment erroneous on account of a miscalculation held not entitled to costs. Sweet v. Lyon, 39 C. A. 450, 88 S. W. 384.

Where an appeal from an injunction decree was otherwise not well taken, defendant held not entitled to be relieved from costs on appeal by the modification of the decree in a matter not brought to the attention of the trial court. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Miller (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 177.

Costs held not allowable on appeal for reformation of judgment on a ground not urged below. White v. Manning, 46 C. A. 298, 102 S. W. 1160.

Where there was error requiring a remittitur to cure, costs of the appeal should be taxed against the appellee. Weatherford, M. W. & N. W. Ry. Co. v. White, 55 C. A. 32, 118 S. W. 799.

The failure of an appellant to assign in the court of civil appeals error in a judgment held to require the taxation of costs against him. Cooksey v. Jordan, 104 T. 618, 143 S. W. 141.

Where a writ of error results in the reformation of a judgment correcting errors by the trial court, costs will be allowed the plaintiff in error, although the judgment was in the main affirmed. McCaghren v. Balch (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 680.

Reversal as affecting costs.—An insurer defending a suit on an accident policy by an administrator, and impleading the beneficiary, for whom judgment was rendered for the full amount of the policy, and on appeal having judgment reduced, held entitled to recover the costs in the court below. General Accident, Fire & Life Assur. Corporation v. Stedman (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 692.

Where a person was required to appeal to the district court to obtain relief from an erroneous judgment of the county court appointing another a guardian, the costs of the district court should be taxed against the latter. Threatt v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1137.

That the county court, instead of dismissing a suit brought by appellant for want of jurisdiction, which it did not have, rendered judgment that appellant take nothing, and that the court of civil appeals instead of dismissing appellant's appeal reversed the judgment and dismissed the case, was not ground for adjudging costs against appellee, but costs should be adjudged against appellant in both courts. Consumers' Fertilizer Co. v. J. M. Badt & Co. (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 226.

Acts or omissions of parties affecting right.—Costs were taxed against defendants on their appeal, although they were successful. Moore v. Waco Building Ass'n, 19 C. A. 68, 45 S. W. 974.

A successful appellant held liable for costs of appeal, because he failed to give the court below opportunity to correct its error. Bimel Carriage Co. v. Rosette, 20 C. A. 273, 48 S. W. 888.

Costs of appeal held taxable against appellant, where separate appeals were without reason taken by defendants, and on appeal by another the judgment was reversed. Capitol Freehold Land & Investment Co. v. Babcock, 28 C. A. 471, 67 S. W. 428.

Where an objection to a judgment that the recovery is in excess of that warranted by the findings is first raised on appeal, the costs of the appeal will be adjudged against the appellant. Herry v. Benoit (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 359.

Where defendant in error concedes error in the judgment by offering a remittitur, the costs in the appellate court will be taxed against him. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Craig, 42 C. A. 486, 92 S. W. 1033.

Where the only error consisted of an erroneous taxation of costs, which could have been corrected if presented to the trial court, appellant was not entitled to costs on appeal. American Express Co. v. Adams (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 1039.

Appellant would be required to pay the costs of an appeal though the judgment was reformed because of an error in the judgment not called to the attention of the trial court. McCormick v. National Bank of Commerce (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 747.

On appeal by plaintiff to the county court from the justice's court, where he had purposely so shaped the trial that defendant received judgment, to enable him to appeal, held, that defendant was entitled to costs in the county court, though plaintiff obtained the judgment. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Milliron, 53 C. A. 325, 115 S. W. 655.

In trespass to try title, where the court, on rendering judgment for defendant, awarded him a writ of possession which was not justified by the pleadings, and plaintiff did not call the error to the attention of the court, the reformation of the judgment in that respect on appeal will not relieve plaintiff from the costs of appeal. McKee v. West, 55 C. A. 460, 118 S. W. 1135.

A defendant failing to call attention to clerical error held liable for the costs in the appellate and trial courts. Blain v. Lowery (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 247.

Appellant, failing to call the attention of the trial court to an error in the judgment, held liable for the costs on appeal. Davidson v. Wills, 56 C. A. 548, 121 S. W. 540.

Where a remittitur is entered in the county court reducing the amount of a judgment recovered in a justice's court, the costs should, under this article, be taxed against the one who entered the remittitur. McIntyre v. Emerson (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 947.

Under this article and Art. 2048, where a default judgment was rendered against defendant in a justice's court in an action on a note, and he took the case by certiorari to the county court on the ground that certain credits should have been allowed, which court reduced the judgment by that amount, the fact that plaintiff instructed the justice of the peace to credit his judgment with the amount of such credits and he failed to do so was not cause for refusing to allow defendant costs in the county court; he having been compelled to take the case there in order to have his credits allowed. Clayton v. McMakin (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 568.

In a stated case, where appellants secured the reformation of a judgment, held, that they were not entitled to any costs. Shannon v. Buttery (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 858.

An erroneous finding that appellee still owed $17.25, instead of $23.25, which could have been corrected on motion for new trial if it had been made, held not ground for taxing him with costs on appeal. Hudson v. Jones (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 197.

In an action on a liquor dealer's bond, where interest was improperly allowed by the judgment, the defendant, who failed to call that error to the attention of the trial court, will be taxed with the costs of appeal. Adams v. State (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1086.

Costs on appeal will not be awarded to an indorser, appealing from a judgment which fails to require that execution be first levied on the property of the maker, where he did not call it to the court's attention and his principal reliance for a reversal was on other ground, and though the judgment was reformed as to the mode of its enforcement. Abney v. Citizens' Nat. Bank of Hillsboro (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 734.

Apportionment of costs.—When the county court fails to tax the cost properly in a case appealed from the justice court the error will be corrected in the court of civil appeals and the costs taxed properly, but the cost in the latter court will be taxed against appellant, because he should have brought the matter to the attention of the county court. Bimel Carriage Co. v. Rosette, 20 C. A. 273, 48 S. W. 888.

Plaintiff recovered judgment in justice court and on defendant's appeal to county court plaintiff recovered judgment for a less amount. Costs of both courts were taxed against defendant which was error in absence of a reason therefor. Defendant instead of moving in trial court to correct this error appealed to court of civil appeals, and for failure to move in trial court the costs of appellate court are properly taxed against appellant, while the costs of the county court are taxed against appellee. American Express Co. v. Adams (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 1039.

Under the facts, the apportionment of costs on separate appeals by several defendants determined. Nixon v. Malone, 100 T. 250, 98 S. W. 380; Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co. v. Same, Id.; Mutual Life Ins. Co. of New York v. Same, Id.; Nixon v. New York Life Ins. Co., Id.

In trespass to try title, in which defendant brought in as a party his vendor, and sought to recover on his warranty, the question of costs determined. Schwartz v. Jones, 57 C. A. 603, 122 S. W. 956.

Where appellant's right to recover any part of the land sued for in trespass to try title was contested, upon recovering in the court of civil appeals of one-half the land, appellant is entitled to costs both below and on appeal. Atteberry v. Burnett (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 1028.

Where judgment on appeal perpetuated an injunction in favor of plaintiff, and further granted defendants relief against plaintiff, held, its costs should be apportioned. Continental State Bank of Beckville v. Trabue (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 209.

Expenses of record.—When the statement of facts is made out in violation of the rules, the costs of the entire statement may be taxed against appellant, or the statement may be stricken from the transcript. Hawkins v. Lee, 22 T. 544; Wynne v. Logan, Sup. Court, Austin Term, 1884.

On defendant's appeal from a judgment rendered in favor of plaintiff, plaintiff will be required to pay the cost of making up that part of the record which embraced documents improperly annexed to the petition. Whitley v. General Electric Co., 18 C. A. 674, 45 S. W. 959.

A statement of facts will not be stricken out for the reason that it is not in strict compliance with rules 72 to 78, but the costs of the appellate court should be taxed against the appellant. Williams v. House (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 960.

Where a statement of facts on appeal was unnecessarily voluminous, held that, while the presentation of the case made it unnecessary to strike it out, the cost of copying it in the transcript should be adjudged against appellant. Louisiana Western Extension Ry. Co. v. Carstens, 19 C. A. 190, 47 S. W. 36.

Where the rule of court forbidding an appellant to set out instruments offered in evidence in full in the record on appeal is violated, the cost of such unnecessary statements will be taxed to appellant. Mutual Reserve Fund Life Ass'n v. Lovenberg, 24 C. A. 355, 59 S. W. 314.

Where, on appeal on a motion for a retaxation of costs, there were included in the transcript 50 pages of pleading which were unnecessary, appellant will be compelled to pay for the transcribing of such matter. McLennan County v. Graves, 26 C. A. 49, 62 S. W. 122.

Where an appellant allows matters not necessary to a review of the questions presented to be inserted in the transcript, the costs of such immaterial matter should be taxed against him. McLennan County v. Graves, 94 T. 635, 64 S. W. 861.

In an action on a benefit certificate, defendant, though successful on appeal, held not entitled to tax costs for a statement of facts containing a large amount of unnecessary matter. Sovereign Camp Woodmen of the World v. Hicks, 37 C. A. 424, 84 S. W. 425.

On appeal, held, that the unsuccessful appellee should not be required to pay more than three-fourths of the transcript fee. Medearis v. Granberry (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 790.

Where a transcript on appeal contained much unnecessary matter, the only error found by the appellate court being in the denial of a motion to retax costs, appellee held chargeable only with so much of the costs of the transcript as was sufficient to have brought the denial of the motion to retax up for review. Wall v. Melton (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 358.

Where the transcript on appeal contains pleas and bills of exception not made the basis of any assignments of error, appellants should be charged with the cost thereof. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Williams, 43 C. A. 549, 96 S. W. 1087.

Under Art. 2070, providing that when an appeal is taken it shall not be necessary to copy the statement of facts in the transcript, but that the original shall be sent up as part of the record, where appellant has the statement of facts so copied, it should be charged with the cost thereof, though it obtains a reversal of the judgment. Greenville Water Co. v. Beckham (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 709.

Appellee's abandoned pleadings should not be included in the transcript, not having been introduced as evidence, so that he will be taxed with the cost of including them therein. Baum v. McAfee (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 984.

Neither the statute nor court of civil appeals rule 101 (67 S. W. xxvii) contemplates the incorporation of cross-assignments of error in the transcript, so that appellee will be taxed with the cost of including cross-assignments of error therein. Id.

A statement of facts which erroneously embodies a preliminary statement made by counsel to the jury of the facts expected to be proved on the trial, and which improperly contains copies in full of numerous instruments of unquestioned validity, and which set forth numerous questions and answers of witnesses, does not so flagrantly violate Art. 2070, requiring the stenographer on the request of appellant to make up a duplicate statement of facts consisting of the evidence stated in narrative form, etc., and the rules of court relating to the statement of facts, as to require the court on appeal to strike the statement from the record, but the court will merely impose on appellant the cost of so much thereof as is unnecessary to comply with the law and the rules. Chaison v. McFaddin, 132 S. W. 524.

Where the appellee in trespass to try title files a supplemental or additional transcript identical with that filed by appellant, the cost of filing it should be assessed to him. Lefevre v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 212.

An appellant is liable for the costs of an attempted appeal which he fails to perfect. Dillard v. First Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 682.

An appellant, who was responsible for making and presenting a statement of facts not legally filed, was chargeable with the costs of the statement and all orders and motions in reference thereto. Hines v. Sparks (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 289.

Where improper matter is copied in the record on appeal, the proper practice held to tax the cost incident to and including such matter against a party taking out the transcript. Tucker Produce Co. v. Stringer (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1001.

Where appellant included in the transcript pleadings which could not be considered, he was taxable with the costs of including same. Wynn v. R. E. Edmonson Land & Cattle Co. (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 310.

An attorney for appellant who was the cause of an incorrect transcript being certified to the court of civil appeals and negligently permitted the papers in the case to be lost will be taxed with all the costs of the proceeding in an attempt to procure a correct transcript, except that part taxed against the clerk of the court, who was also negligent in the matter. Parrish v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 453.

Where the copies of appellant's brief were in typewriting, single-spaced, and, with the exception of one copy, so blurred as to make it very difficult to read portions thereof, but appellee did not complain of the noncompliance with the rules, the court on its own motion would direct the clerk to prepare copies of the brief for its use, and tax the costs thereof against appellant. State Mut. Fire Ins. Co. v. Cathey (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 935.

Damages for appeal or writ of error for delay.—See notes under Arts. 1627, 1629.

Taxation of costs on appeal or error.—A motion in the supreme court to retax costs on the ground that they are illegal, unjust, and extortionate, but which does not point out the specific items objected to, is too general to be considered. Summerhill v. Darrow (Sup.) 62 S. W. 1054.

A motion in the original cause held the proper remedy, after a judgment on appeal, to secure a correction of the taxation of costs. Hall v. Reese's Heirs, 26 C. A. 395, 64 S. W. 687.

Motion to retax costs and to strike out a part of the record held not filed in proper time. Yeager v. Scott & Sanford (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1088.

Art. 2047. [1437] [1433] Same subject.—In cases of appeal or certiorari taken by the party in whose favor the judgment was rendered in the court below, if the judgment of the court above be in his favor for a greater amount, such party shall recover the costs of both courts; if the judgment be in his favor, but for the same or a less amount than in the court below, he shall recover the costs of the court below and pay the cost of the court above. [Id.]

See notes under Arts. 2046, 2048.

Art. 2048. [1438] [1434] Court may otherwise adjudge costs.—The court may, for good cause, to be stated on the record, adjudge the costs otherwise than as provided in the preceding articles of this chapter.

See Railway Co. v. Henderson, 83 T. 70, 18 S. W. 432, and notes under Arts. 2035, 2046.

Power of court in general.—The court may direct the costs to be made out of the defendant, and, in case that cannot be done, then to be made out of plaintiff. Latham v. Taylor, 15 T. 247.

Where a suit is brought against minors owning no property from which costs may be collected and for whose defense a guardian ad litem has been appointed, equity may, in the absence of statute, allow compensation to the guardian as costs charged to the successful party, the plaintiff. Ashe v. Young, 68 T. 123, 3 S. W. 454.

Plaintiff held properly charged with costs. Kent v. Berryman, 15 C. A. 487, 40 S. W. 33.

Rendering a judgment for costs against plaintiff, where he had obtained the relief sought, held not an abuse of discretion. Hays v. Tilson, 18 C. A. 610, 45 S. W. 479.

In a suit of trespass to try title where the court adjudged the surplus to be divided between plaintiff and defendant and upon a survey no surplus was found, the defendant should recover all costs, no reason being shown why it should be otherwise as might be the case under Art. 2048. Hitchcock v. Blagge (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 931.

What is good cause for adjudging costs otherwise than provided is not stated, and it must in a great measure rest in the sound discretion of the trial court. Morrow v. Terrell, 21 C. A. 28, 50 S. W. 734.

The fact that the defendant, who lost in justice court, and on appeal lost in county court, but for less amount, made another a party defendant without cause, is no reason for adjudging costs differently than provided in the statute. Ladonia Dry Goods Co. v. Conger (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 968.

State court held to have no right to abate a cause, or to refuse to try the same until costs incurred in a suit pending in the federal court and pleaded in abatement are paid, after dismissal of the federal suit. Harby v. Patterson (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 63.

Taxing costs rests largely in the discretion of the trial court, and its ruling in regard thereto will not be revised, unless the record shows abuse of such discretion. Cox v. Patten (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 64; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Davis (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 598.

Plaintiff sued in justice court for $180. All the evidence showed that if he was entitled to recover at all he was entitled to recover the $180, yet he asked the court to render judgment for only $110, which was done. He then appealed to the county court and recovered judgment for $180. As a matter of law the appellee in the county court was entitled to judgment against the appellant for the costs of the county court under this article. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Wheeler, 99 T. 428, 90 S. W. 482.

Under this article the court can for good cause shown, to be stated in the record, adjudge the costs otherwise than is provided in Art. 2035. Brown v. Humphrey, 43 C. A. 23, 95 S. W. 25.

Where the judge gives a good reason for adjudging the costs otherwise than is provided in the statute, the action of the court will not be disturbed. Beaumont Rice Mills v. Bridges, 45 C. A. 439, 101 S. W. 514.

Where the plaintiff was successful in a suit against several defendants and the court adjudged the costs as to one defendant who was a non-resident and was cited by publication for whom an attorney was appointed, against the plaintiff, for the reason as stated by the court that the judgment was for plaintiff's benefit, such cause was not a good cause as contemplated by this article. Bruce v. Knodell (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 434.

Plaintiff in trespass to try title recovered judgment for costs which were adjudged against him. If there was "good cause" for this it was not "stated on the record." It was therefore erroneous to so adjudge the costs. Perry v. Rogers, 52 C. A. 594, 114 S. W. 900.

Where a plaintiff purposely so shapes the trial of his case in the justice court that judgment could not be rendered in his favor with a view of appealing to the county court and there casting the entire costs upon the defendant, as a matter of law the court should tax the costs of the county court against him (the plaintiff). Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Milliron, 53 C. A. 325, 115 S. W. 658.

Taxation of costs against plaintiff, in trespass to try title, in rendering judgment for him on an alternative demand, and for defendant for possession of the land, held to be in the discretion of the court, and not reviewable. Patton v. Minor (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 920.

Whether good cause, within this article and Art. 2035, was shown for awarding costs against the successful party was largely in the trial court's discretion, which cannot be disturbed on appeal in absence of clear abuse thereof. Pickerell v. Irby (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 332.

Under this article and Art. 2035, the court, removing at the suit of a purchaser against the vendor a cloud on the title consisting of the vendor's lien securing purchase-money notes, which the vendor had transferred without transferring the lien, and which the purchaser had paid, may not tax the costs in favor of the vendor, refusing to release the lien, merely because a transferee of the notes had executed a release, which the purchaser had accepted. Caldwell v. Dillard (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 853.

Under this article and Art. 2035, where the motion of plaintiff, who was cast in the suit, to retax the costs on the ground that the fees of a large number of witnesses summoned by defendant, and not used by either party, were erroneously taxed to plaintiff was denied, an assignment of error based thereon will not be considered, in the absence of a showing that the trial court's discretion was abused. Hastings v. Townsend (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1143.

Under this article, where the court stated that the suit had resulted in an adjustment of the equities between tenants in common and in partition of the property between plaintiffs, who claimed an undivided half interest therein and sought partition and an accounting and an adjustment of the equities as to the rents, and that part of the defendants, the defendants in error, pleaded a general denial, that new parties were brought in and numerous pleadings filed so that the case finally became one of numerous and complicated issues as to the equities of the parties in the rents, it properly adjudged that such defendants in error recover their costs. Grieb v. Stahl (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 988.

Where plaintiff, on appeal from a justice to the county court, was successful, he was entitled to recover costs in that court unless the trial court, for good cause to be stated in the record, adjudged otherwise. Conner v. Skinner (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 567.

In trespass to try title against an administrator, where a purchaser from the administrator pending the suit was brought in as a defendant, the court did not err in refusing to adjudge all of the costs against the successful plaintiff. Groesbeck v. Wiest (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 258.

Apportionment of costs.—In a suit where judgment is in part for one party and in part for another party, the costs may be apportioned. Cannon v. Hemphill, 7 T. 184; Payne v. Benham, 16 T. 364; Wheatley v. Griffin, 60 T. 209.

Costs will be apportioned if the facts of the case require it as a matter of equity. Walling v. Kinnard, 10 T. 508, 60 Am. Dec. 216.

The jury has no authority to apportion the costs. Garrett v. McMahan, 34 T. 307; Flores v. Coy, 1 App. C. C. § 804.

In suits for partition, the costs should be apportioned between the parties. Gray v. King, 39 T. 616.

When an action alleges two causes of action for damages done at different times, and a recovery is had on the last cause of action, costs accruing by reason of the first cause of action should be taxed against the plaintiff. Railway Co. v. Oliver (Civ. App.) 37 S. W. 642.

Where a party sues to recover land, and recovers less than he sued for, the costs can be apportioned on the amounts that plaintiff recovered and failed to recover, as this is in part a judgment for one party and in part a judgment for the other. Morrow v. Terrell, 21 C. A. 28, 50 S. W. 734.

In an action by a city to annul a lease as ultra vires, held, the city should not have been taxed with half the costs. Weekes v. City of Galveston, 21 C. A. 102, 51 S. W. 544.

The court can otherwise apportion the costs, if good cause exists for not following the ordinary rule; but the reason for so adjusting the costs must be stated in the record. City of Houston v. Stewart, 40 C. A. 499, 90 S. W. 54.

Where the court has apportioned part of the costs to each party, the one complaining should show that he has suffered injury thereby, to have the court's action revised. Rudolph v. Snyder, 47 C. A. 438, 106 S. W. 764.

An apportionment of costs held proper. Sutherland v. Kirkland (Civ. App). 134 S. W. 851.

Under this article and Art. 2035, where an alleged widow sued for wrongful death of a decedent, joining a minor daughter as a party plaintiff, and it was ultimately determined that she could not recover at all, and the judgment was sustainable only so far as it awarded damages to the daughter, the costs should be equally divided between the defendant and the alleged widow. Ft. Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Robertson (Sup.) 138 S. W. 107.

Plaintiff purchased lumber from defendant E., for the purchase price of which E. had given defendant bank his notes, and plaintiff assumed the notes, but failed to pay them; whereupon E. undertook to recover the lumber by force, and plaintiff sued out an injunction, making the bank a party. The judgment on appeal directed that the injunction be perpetuated, and was in favor of the bank against E. and plaintiff, foreclosing the lien on the lumber, and in favor of E. against plaintiff for the sum plaintiff undertook to pay to the bank, less payments made thereon. Held, that the costs in the trial court for the injunction suit should be adjudged in favor of plaintiff against E., while the other costs in that court should be adjudged in favor of E. and the bank against plaintiff; costs on appeal being evenly divided against E. and plaintiff. Continental State Bank v. Trabue (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 209.

Presumptions.—Where no reasons are, as required by this article, stated on the record for adjudging costs other than as provided by Art. 2046, it will be presumed on appeal that good cause did not exist. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. King, 57 C. A. 583, 122 S. W. 925.

Art. 2049. [1439] [1435] Clerk may require security for costs.—The clerk may require from the plaintiff in a suit security for costs before issuing any process therein, but he shall file the petition and enter the same properly on the docket. [Act March 20, 1848, p. 184, sec. 23. P. D. 3833.]

Time of motion for costs.—Motion for costs is not prematurely made, because filed before appearance day of term to which suit is brought. Frazer v. Moore, 28 C. A. 427, 67 S. W. 428.

Art. 2050. [1440] [1436] Defendant or any officer may require security.—The plaintiff in any civil suit may, at any time before final judgment, upon motion of the defendant or any officer of the court interested in the costs accruing in such suit, be ruled to give security for the costs; and, if such rule be entered against the plaintiff and he fail to comply therewith on or before the first day of the next term of the court, the suit shall be dismissed. [Act March 16, 1848, p. 106, sec. 1.]

Right to security.—Action of plaintiffs' attorneys in making deposits on costs held not to prevent the filing of a motion to require security for costs. Edwards v. Middleton, 28 C. A. 316, 66 S. W. 570.

Additional security, right to.—When a plaintiff has once complied with a rule to give security for costs, he cannot be ruled to give further security, unless it be affirmatively shown to the court that the security already given is insufficient, or is otherwise objectionable. Holshausen v. Hollingsworth, 32 T. 86.

When the plaintiff has executed a bond payable to the officers of the court he cannot be compelled to execute another payable to the defendant. Gonzales v. Batts, 20 C. A. 421, 50 S. W. 403.

Persons from whom security may be required.—An attorney of the plaintiff having a contingent fee is not a party, and cannot be ruled to give security. Railway Co. v. Scott (Civ. App.) 28 S. W. 457.

Where defendant appeals from a judgment of a justice, plaintiff cannot be required to give security for costs. Taylor v. American Brewing Ass'n (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 111; Wells Fargo & Co. Express v. Bilkiss (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 798.

Where plaintiff files an affidavit in forma pauperis, his attorney, who has an interest in the recovery by assignment, is not required to give security for costs. The Oriental Ins. Co. v. Barclay, 16 C. A. 193, 41 S. W. 117.

Plaintiff's attorney, though owner of part of cause of action, cannot be treated as party, for the purpose of giving security for costs. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Reeves, 35 C. A. 162, 79 S. W. 1099.

—— Board of health.—See Title 66, Chapter 1.

Time for application for security.—Plaintiff, after filing petition, may be ruled for costs at any time before final judgment. Frazer v. Moore, 28 C. A. 427, 67 S. W. 428.

Rules governing motions.—See Arts. 2118–2123.

Notice of motion for security.—Notice must be given to the party. Houston v. Sublett, 1 T. 523; Holshausen v. Hollingsworth, 32 T. 86.

Plaintiff could not raise the objection that he had no notice of a motion to require him to give security for costs where the uncontradicted testimony of the clerk was that plaintiff's attorney was in court, and heard the motion presented and the court's order thereon. Frazer v. Moore, 28 C. A. 427, 67 S. W. 427.

Time to give security.—Security may be given at any time before the case is actually dismissed. Hays v. Cage, 2 T. 501; Cook v. Ross, 46 T. 263.

The statute is complied with by a tender of bond at any time before actual dismissal. Posey v. Aiken, 17 C. A. 44, 42 S. W. 368.

Deposit as compliance.—The deposit of money with the clerk is a sufficient compliance with the rule. Henderson v. Riley, 1 App. C. C. § 483.

It is within the discretion of the trial court to accept a deposit by plaintiff, in lieu of a cost bond, to cover the costs in the trial court. Hulme v. Levis-Zuloski Mercantile Co. (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 781.

Liability on bond.—The fact that, on appeal from the justice court to the county court, the clerk of the county court did not indorse a bond given in justice court for costs as filed by him, did not prevent the bond operating as one for costs in the county court. Glameyer v. Hamilton (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 471.

A bond given by plaintiff for the payment to officers of the court of all costs in the suit was security for witness fees. Id.

Though the form of a bond given by plaintiff in justice court was to pay the costs in said court, it should be construed as security for all costs accruing on appeal to the county court. Id.

—— Remedy of sureties on retaxation of costs.—Where the sureties on a bond for costs desire the retaxation of the costs, the proper practice is by motion in the suit. Glameyer v. Hamilton (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 471.

Rule for security as basis for dismissal for noncompliance.—The entry of "rule for costs" on the judge's docket is not a sufficient foundation to support a judgment of dismissal for noncompliance. Shackleford v. Wallace, 4 T. 239.

The entry of the rule is a prerequisite to a dismissal. Marks v. Fields (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 664.

Dismissal for failure to give security.—There was no error in refusing a motion to vacate an order dismissing a cause for plaintiff's failure to comply with an order to give security for costs, where plaintiff did not offer any proof tending to show that he had a meritorious cause of action, or show any excuse for his failure to comply with the order. Frazer v. Moore, 28 C. A. 427, 67 S. W. 427.

Failure to give a cost bond as required held not to require the court to order a dismissal of its own motion. Gilmer v. Beauchamp, 40 C. A. 125, 87 S. W. 907.

Costs on dismissal for failure to give security.—When a suit is dismissed on account of the plaintiff's failure to give security, the defendant is entitled to a judgment against the plaintiff for his costs, including the fees of his witnesses. Anderson v. McKinney, 22 T. 653.

Failure to give bond, immaterial error.—When judgment is rendered for plaintiff, failure to give bond is immaterial error. Gipson v. Williams (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 824.

Art. 2051. [1441] [1437] Judgment on cost bond.—All bonds given as security for costs shall authorize judgment against all the obligors in such bond for the said costs, to be entered in the final judgment of the cause. [Id. sec. 2.]

Execution for costs.—See notes under Arts. 2032-2034, 3714.

Enforcement of bonds, parties.—The clerk of the district court may prosecute a suit on a cost bond made payable to the officers of the court, without joining as plaintiffs the witnesses in the case. Bodeman v. Reinhard (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 1051.

Judgment on cost bond.—This article only authorizes judgment against all the obligors for the costs to be entered in the final judgment. Bodeman v. Reinhart (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 1051.

By execution of cost bond the sureties authorized the rendition of judgment against them for the costs of the suit. Judgment must be entered on the cost bond before execution can be issued for the costs. Glameyer v. Hamilton (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 471.

Art. 2052. [1442] [1438] Affidavit of inability to give.—A party who is required to give security for costs may file with the clerk or justice of the peace an affidavit that he is too poor to pay the costs of court and is unable to give security therefor; and it shall thereupon be the duty of the clerk or justice of the peace to issue process and to perform all other services required of him, in the same manner as if the security had been given; provided, any party to the suit, the clerk or justice of the peace, shall have the right to contest by proof the inability of the party to pay the costs or his inability to give security for the same. [Acts 1879, p. 91. Acts 1846, p. 363. Acts 1907, p. 4.]

See St. L. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Williams (Civ. App.) 37 S. W. 992.

Application of statute.—Person whose property was incumbered beyond its value held within statute. Meyer v. Weber (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 627.

Authority to take affidavit.—When the affidavit is made in another county than that in which the case is tried, it must be presented to the county judge of the county in which suit is pending, and he must certify that the fact required to be verified by affidavit had been proved before him, and then the affidavit and certificate must be filed with the clerk of the court in which the case was tried subject to a contest. Wooldridge v. Roller, 52 T. 447; Hearne v. Prendergast, 61 T. 627; Kirk v. Ivey, 2 App. C. C. § 38.

The affidavit must be made before a county judge residing in this state. Harvey v. Cummings, 62 T. 186.

The affidavit may be sworn to before the attorney of the party making it, who is a notary. Ryburn v. Moore, 72 T. 85, 10 S. W. 393.

Cost bond on appeal or error.—See Title 37, Chapter 20.

Court's action.—The affidavit must be called to the attention of the court for its action thereon. Graves v. Horn (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 303.

Sufficiency of affidavit of inability.—That affiant is unable to pay the costs, etc., without adding "or any part thereof," is sufficient. Stewart v. Heidenheimer, 55 T. 644, overruling Wooldridge v. Roller, 52 T. 447. And see Williams v. Moody, 1 App. C. C. § 805; Kirk v. Ivey, 2 App. C. C. 39. "That affiant is unable to give bond for supersedeas, as required by law," insufficient. Sharp v. Arlege, 1 App. C. C. § 632.

The affidavit must identify the judgment as required under Art. 2097. Holmes v. McIntyre, 61 T. 9.

An affidavit not in conformity with the statute will not perfect the appeal. Stamps v. McClelan, 1 App. C. C. 743; Young v. Bickley, 1 App. C. C. § 1073.

—— Waiver of defects.—The defect in an affidavit not in conformity with the statute, and thereby not perfecting an appeal, is not cured by waiver or consent of parties. Kirk v. Ivey, 2 App. C. C. § 37.

Release by affidavit from payment of costs.—A party making the affidavit is not thereby released from payment of costs. McPherson v. Johnson, 69 T. 484, 6 S. W. 798.

Determination of ability to give security.—Plaintiff's homestead held not to be considered in determining his ability to pay costs or give security therefor. Kruegel v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 483.

Evidence held not to support a judgment that a plaintiff was able to pay or give security for costs. Id.

Art. 2052a. Contest of affidavit, and trial of same.—Such contest may be tried before the trial of the cause, at such time as may be designated by the court; provided that notice of such contest shall be given by noting it on the docket at the term of the court at which the affidavit of inability to give security is filed. [Id. P. D. 1429.]

Art. 2053. [1442] [1438] Deposit in lieu of cost bond.—In lieu of a bond for costs, the party required to give the same may deposit with the clerk of the court, or with the justice of the peace, such amount of money as the court or justice of the peace from time to time may designate as sufficient to pay the costs that have accrued. [Acts 1907, p. 4.]

See notes under Art. 2050.

Art. 2054. [1443] [1439] No security to be required of executors, etc.—Executors, administrators and guardians appointed by the courts of this state shall not be required to give security for costs in any suit brought by them in their fiduciary character. [Act March 16, 1848, p. 106, sec. 4. P. D. 1503.]

See Daniels v. Gregg, 13 T. 384.

Administration of decedents' estates.—See, also, notes under Title 52, Chapter 31.

When suit is brought (or defense is made) to determine his further right to administer the estate it cannot be said that it is brought in his fiduciary character, but is an assertion upon his part of a right as an individual to retain possession of the estate as its legal representative and if he is cast in the suit the costs must be adjudged against him personally. Lanius v. Fletcher (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 170, 171.

Art. 2055. [1444] [1440] No security required of state.—The state shall not, in any case, be required to give security for costs.

Art. 2056. [1445] [1441] Security may be required of intervenors, etc.—The provisions of this chapter relating to security for costs by the plaintiff shall also apply to an intervenor, and to a defendant who seeks a judgment against the plaintiff on a counter claim after the plaintiff shall have discontinued his suit under the provisions of this title relating to discontinuance.

Art. 2057. [1446] [1442] Costs may be secured by other bonds, etc.—When the costs are secured by the provisions of an attachment or other bond filed by the party required to give security for costs, no further security shall be required.

DECISIONS RELATING TO SUBJECT IN GENERAL

Taxation of costs.—An order reinstating a cause on the docket "upon the condition of plaintiff paying all costs accrued" operates to tax the plaintiff with the costs and is not conditional on their prepayment. Hall v. Mackay, 78 T. 248, 14 S. W. 615.

Where a judgment has been rendered for all costs, and an execution has been awarded therefor, the limitation applicable to costs taxed by the clerk, but not approved by the court, held applicable to a judgment and not to an account. Ross v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 498.

If one is entitled to recover money paid to a sheriff to regain possession (under a replevy writ) of sequestered property he should have the item taxed as costs. Rudolph v. Snyder, 47 C. A. 438, 106 S. W. 764.

Retaxation.—A motion to retax costs will not be denied because the motion is based on a statute which does not authorize the relief sought. McLennan County v. Graves, 26 C. A. 49, 62 S. W. 122.

A trial court has jurisdiction of a motion to retax the sheriff's fees on an execution sale at a term subsequent to the term at which the judgment was entered. McLennan County v. Graves, 94 T. 635, 64 S. W. 861.

Where there was a final settlement and satisfaction of a judgment in the trial court, costs cannot be retaxed without a showing of equitable grounds for opening the case and setting aside the settlements. Patton v. Cox (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 871.

The court in which a judgment was rendered in a cause transferred from another county has jurisdiction to retax the costs, when costs that should have been taxed were omitted by mistake of the clerk. Patton v. Cox, 97 T. 253, 77 S. W. 1025.

On a motion to retax costs, the court held to possess jurisdiction to approve the charge for services in protecting property taken under a writ of sequestration. Ross v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 498.

The burden is on one who contests an allowance of costs to show its impropriety. Worley v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 794.

Witnesses need not be notified of a motion to retax costs as to witness' fees. Wall v. Melton (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 358.

Though a court has no jurisdiction over its judgment after the term, a party against whom costs have been improperly assessed by the clerk may move to retax after adjournment, so as to relieve himself of improper items, though not to have his opponent taxed therewith. Archer v. Cole (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 1183.

Objections to allowance for review on appeal.—The failure of the trial court to tax the costs of an amended pleading properly will not be revised on appeal when no objection is made in the trial court. Dalton v. Rainey, 75 T. 516, 13 S. W. 34.

No relief can be had on appeal against a judgment so far as it relates to costs, unless an effort to correct such judgment as to costs was made before the trial court. Harris v. Munroe Cattle Co., 84 T. 674, 19 S. W. 869; Bridge v. Samuelson, 73 T. 522, 11 S. W. 539; Jones v. Ford, 60 T. 127; Allen v. Woodson, Id. 651; Wiebusch v. Taylor, 64 T. 53; Castro v. Illies, 11 T. 39; Railway Co. v. Crane (Civ. App.) 32 S. W. 11.

The taxation of costs not objected to below will not be reviewed on appeal. Tutt's Heirs v. Morgan, 18 C. A. 627, 42 S. W. 578, 46 S. W. 122.

An attaching creditor held not entitled to relief on appeal from the excessive portion of a receiver's costs. Byrne v. First Nat. Bank, 20 C. A. 194, 49 S. W. 706.

Where a motion to retax costs is not made in the trial court, the taxation thereof will not be reviewed on appeal. De Cordova v. Rodgers (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 1042.

Objection to taxation of costs held not available on appeal, where not raised in the trial court. Hoskins v. Velasco Nat. Bank, 48 C. A. 246, 107 S. W. 598.

Where the question of cost is not raised in the trial court, that question will not be reviewed. Lone Star Salt Co. v. Blount, 49 C. A. 138, 107 S. W. 1163.

An appellant cannot have a retaxation of costs on an affirmance on the merits where he did not object below. Swearingen v. Myers (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 664.

Questions reviewable.—An appeal involving only costs held dismissable. Jeter v. Gouhenour, 37 C. A. 643, 84 S. W. 1091.

CHAPTER NINETEEN

BILLS OF EXCEPTIONS AND STATEMENTS OF FACTS

[See Chapter 11 of this Title—Stenographic Reporters.]

Article 2058. [1360] [1358] Exception to rulings taken, when.—Whenever, in the progress of a cause, either party is dissatisfied with any ruling, opinion or other action of the court, he may except thereto at the time the same is made or announced, and at his request time shall be given to embody such exception in a written bill. [Act May 13, 1846, p. 363, sec. 101. P. D. 217.]

See Baum v. McAfee (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 984.

1. Reservation of exceptions.—See particular subjects, such as Pleading, Evidence, Trial, Instructions, etc.

2. —— Time for exception.—See, also, particular subjects, such as Pleading and Evidence.

Objection to the action of the court in the progress of a cause must be taken at the time. Owens v. Railway Co., 67 T. 679, 4 S. W. 593; Davis v. State, 75 T. 420, 12 S. W. 957; Campbell v. Cook (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 977.

In order to entitle a party to a reversal because of his inability to obtain a bill of exceptions, without his fault, it must appear that timely exceptions were taken to the rulings complained of. London v. Crow, 46 C. A. 190, 102 S. W. 177.

3. Office of bill of exceptions.—The office of a bill of exceptions is to show the proceedings of the court which do not otherwise appear of record under rule 53 for the government of district and county courts (67 S. W. xxiv). Alvord Nat. Bank v. Waples-Platter Grocer Co., 54 C. A. 225, 118 S. W. 232.

4. Necessity of bill of exceptions, statement of facts, or conclusions of law and facts.—Where there is no statement of facts, conclusions of facts, nor bill of exceptions which can be considered, judgment will be affirmed. Maury v. Keller (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 59.

Where the record contains neither statement of facts, conclusions by the court, nor bill of exceptions, there is nothing for the court to review. Shaw v. Schuch (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 688.

5. —— Bill of exceptions or statement of facts.—Where there is no statement of facts or bill of exceptions, the appellate court will consider only the sufficiency of the pleadings to support the judgment. Armstrong v. Dreaper (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 1024.

On appeal, in the absence of a statement of facts or bill of exceptions, rulings on evidence and instructions cannot be reviewed. Moore v. State (Cr. App.) 61 S. W. 487.

The court on appeal will assume that the judgment is supported by evidence, where the record contains no statement of facts nor bill of exceptions. Heil v. Martin (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 430.

Where the record contains neither findings of fact nor bills of exceptions, the only question for determination is whether there is evidence to support the judgment. Holler v. Scott (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 839.

In the absence of a statement of facts and bill of exceptions, questions of fact cannot be considered on appeal. Lewis v. State (Cr. App.) 80 S. W. 621.

Assignments of error based upon matters which should appear in a statement of facts or bill of exceptions cannot be considered in the absence thereof. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Kinser (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 243.

An objection that the charge erroneously placed the burden of proof on plaintiffs could not be reviewed, in the absence of a statement of facts or bill of exceptions. Aultman, Miller & Co. v. Moore & Bridgeman (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 17.

Assignments of error held not reviewable in absence of statement of facts and bill of exceptions. Faison v. Meyenberg, 44 C. A. 555, 98 S. W. 1066; Kruegel v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 774.

An assignment of error held not to be considered on appeal, in the absence of a statement or a bill of exceptions to the court's action. Pierce v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 979.

Where no exception was taken to the conclusions of the court or to the judgment rendered thereon, and there is neither a statement of facts nor bill of exceptions in the record, errors of the court not fundamental and apparent on the face of the record cannot be reviewed on appeal. Owens v. Caraway (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 474.

Where there is no fundamental error apparent in the record, containing no statement of facts or bill of exceptions, the judgment must be affirmed. Green v. Cook (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 776.

One moving for a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence, and relying on affidavits, must show by bill of exception or statement of facts that the affidavits were brought to the attention of the court. Ayers v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 612.

In the absence of a statement of facts and bills of exception, questions going to the admission of evidence cannot be considered on appeal. Brown v. Gatewood (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 950.

Where an appeal is taken from a conviction without a statement of facts or bills of exception, the contention that the verdict is unsupported by the evidence cannot be reviewed. Williams v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 1163.

Assignments of error, based on rulings upon the special exceptions to pleading, could not be reviewed, in the absence of a statement of facts and bill of exceptions. Smyer v. Ft. Worth & Denver City Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 336.

6. —— Bill of exceptions.—See, also, notes under "Decisions Not Reviewable without Bill of Exceptions," post.

An assignment relative to the admission or exclusion of testimony must be accompanied with a bill of exceptions. Spicer v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 21 S. W. 314; Swearingen v. Reed, 21 S. W. 383, 2 C. A. 364.

A bill of exceptions is not necessary to present an objection that appellant's bill of exceptions was presented and allowed after the time for its presentment had expired. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Holden, 23 C. A. 144, 55 S. W. 603.

7. —— Statement of facts.—See notes under Art. 2068.

Finding as to whether there had been ratification of agent's acts is conclusive, where there is no statement of facts. Greer v. First Nat. Bank of Marble Falls (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 1045.

8. —— Conclusions of law and facts.—See Art. 2075.

9. Decisions not reviewable without bill of exceptions—In general.—See, also, Art. 1607.

An assignment of error, which is not presented by a bill of exceptions approved by the trial judge, cannot be considered. McCord v. Hames, 38 C. A. 239, 85 S. W. 504.

In the absence of a bill of exceptions, an assignment of error will not be considered. Seguin Milling & Power Co. v. Guinn (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 456.

An assignment of error not based on a bill of exceptions will be overruled. Dromgoole Bros. v. Lissauer & Co. (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 1154.

10. —— Refusal to remove to federal court.—Refusal to grant a motion to remove a cause from a state to the federal circuit court is not reviewable in the absence of a bill of exceptions. Paris & G. N. R. Co. v. Boston (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 944.

11. —— Rulings as to pleadings.—Rulings upon exceptions to oral pleadings held not reviewable, unless the pleadings are shown by bill of exceptions. Postal Telegraph Co. of Texas v. L. W. Levy & Co. (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 134.

Error assigned, in the action of a court upon special exceptions, held waived by a failure to show the action of the court by a bill of exceptions, where not apparent from the record. Harrington & Overton v. Chambers (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 662.

Orders of the trial court on exceptions should be entered on the minutes with the exception to the ruling, and bills of exception to such orders should not be taken. Reasonover v. Riley Bros. (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 220.

Assignments of error, based on rulings upon the special exceptions to pleading, could not be reviewed in the absence of a statement of facts and bill of exceptions. Smyer v. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 336.

12. —— Denial of plea of privilege.—A judgment overruling defendant's plea of privilege will not be revised where the evidence is not preserved by bill of exceptions. Campbell v. Cates (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 268.

Under district and county court rule 55 (142 S. W. xxi), an order denying a plea of privilege, which amounts to a motion for a change of venue, cannot be reviewed without a bill of exceptions. American Warehouse Co. v. Ray (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 763.

A plea of privilege is in reality only a motion for a change of venue, and consequently, under the direct provisions of district court rule 55 (142 S. W. xxi), the error in overruling such a plea cannot be considered unless a bill of exceptions is taken thereto and properly presented. Levy v. Lupton (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 362.

13. —— Placing party under rule.—A party held not entitled on writ of error to complain of the court's action in placing him under the rule where he did not except at the time and save his exception by a proper bill. Bonneville v. Dum (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 431.

14. —— Interlocutory proceedings.—In the absence of any bill of exceptions on appeal, it will be presumed that facts alleged in a motion to dismiss as to one of defendants, which was granted, were proven. Scalfi v. Graves, 31 C. A. 667, 74 S. W. 795.

15. —— Denial of continuance.—A bill of exceptions must be reserved to review an adverse ruling against a continuance. Philipowski v. Spencer, 63 T. 604; Waites v. Osborn, 66 T. 648, 2 S. W. 665; Moss v. Katz, 69 T. 411, 6 S. W. 764; Yeiser v. Burdett, 10 C. A. 155, 29 S. W. 912; Jones v. League (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 283.

Rulings on motion for continuance can be reviewed only when preserved by bill of exceptions. Moore v. Masterson, 19 C. A. 308, 46 S. W. 855.

The rule providing that, in the absence of a bill of exceptions, the overruling of applications for continuance will not be reviewed, held not in conflict with the statute. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Bowles, 32 C. A. 118, 72 S. W. 451.

Under district court rule No. 55 (67 S. W. xxiv), the denial of a continuance cannot be reviewed unless brought into the record by a bill of exceptions. Scalfi v. Graves, 31 C. A. 667, 74 S. W. 795; Posey v. White House Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 931; Cranfill v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 143 S. W. 233, 234.

Refusal of a continuance cannot be reviewed, in the absence of a bill of exceptions. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Klaus, 34 C. A. 492, 79 S. W. 58; Smith v. Hughes, 39 C. A. 113, 86 S. W. 936; Posey v. Whitehouse Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 931; Davis v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 777; Gayle v. Gayle (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 1187.

A ruling denying a continuance will not be reviewed in the absence of a bill of exceptions. Gray v. Frontroy, 40 C. A. 302, 89 S. W. 1090; Carter v. Kieran (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 272; Henderson v. Midkiff, 127 S. W. 898; Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Shirley, 155 S. W. 663.

To take advantage on appeal of the wrongful overruling of a motion for a continuance, it is necessary that a bill of exceptions should be preserved. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Crump (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 1013.

Where no bill of exceptions is reserved to the refusal to continue a case, such refusal will not be reviewed, even though the record shows that exception was reserved to the refusal. El Paso & N. E. Ry. Co. v. Sawyer, 56 C. A. 195, 119 S. W. 107; City of San Antonio v. Ashton (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 757.

Overruling a motion for continuance held not reviewable, in the absence of a reference in the brief or a bill of exceptions. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Roberts (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 691.

An assignment of error to the overruling of defendant's first application for a continuance cannot be considered if it is not sustained by bill of exceptions. Albrecht v. Lignoski (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 354.

Action of the court in overruling a motion to continue the cause and in striking the case from the jury docket is not reviewable, when not presented in bills of exceptions, as required by rules of court. Barton v. R. P. Ash & Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 608.

Under rule 70 for county and district courts (142 S. W. xxii), held, that the action of the district court in overruling a motion for a continuance, not presented by a bill of exceptions, would not be reviewed. Marshall & E. T. Ry. Co. v. Blackburn (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 625.

16. —— Postponement of trial.—In the absence of a bill of exceptions taken to the refusal of the trial court to postpone the trial, an assignment relating to such refusal must be overruled. Old River Lumber Co. v. Skeeters (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 511.

17. —— Rulings regarding jurors.—Overruling a motion for a new trial on the ground of interest of juror cannot be reviewed where there is no bill of exceptions raising the question or any reference to it in the statement of facts. Texas Farm & Land Co. v. Story (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 933.

A bill of exceptions is necessary to present error in refusing to allow a defendant to strike the jury list. Buckley v. Runge (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 533.

Where no bill of exceptions was preserved to the action of the court in overruling a peremptory challenge to a juror, as required by rules of district courts 53, 54, and 55 (142 S. W. xxi), held, that the assignment would be overruled. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Dumas (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 543.

The action of the trial court in organizing the jury cannot be reviewed, where not verified by a bill of exceptions. Rodriquez v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 1167.

18. —— Conduct of trial.—After the retirement of the jury a witness was recalled, and a written question submitted to him, which he answered. Held, the action of the court in this respect could not be revised, when no objection thereto was saved by the bill of exceptions. Martin-Brown Co. v. Wainscott, 66 T. 131, 1 S. W. 264.

An assignment complaining of remarks of counsel cannot be sustained, in the absence of a bill of exceptions reserved to the court's action permitting them. Meyer v. Wolnitzek (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 1058.

Remarks of the trial court cannot be complained of for the first time on appeal where no bill of exceptions was taken thereto and they were not made the basis of an application for the new trial. Ross v. Moskowitz (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 86.

Error assigned to a remark by the judge in the presence of the jury cannot be reviewed in the absence of a bill of exceptions. Williams v. Brice (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 183.

Assignments of error based on a refusal to permit a withdrawal of announcement of ready for trial held not to be sustained where not based on a bill of exceptions, and no excuse was offered for having gone to trial without attending to these matters. Merchants' & Farmers' Nat. Bank of Cisco v. Johnson, 49 C. A. 242, 108 S. W. 491.

An assignment of error presenting objections to part of counsel's argument cannot be considered on appeal where not preserved by bill of exceptions approved by the court; affidavits presented in the motion for a new trial not being a sufficient substitute. Colorado Canal Co. v. McFarland & Southwell, 50 C. A. 92, 109 S. W. 435.

Where no bill of exceptions was reserved to the alleged action of the lower court in refusing a party the right to open and conclude the argument, and the record otherwise does not show that the request was in any way disposed of, an assignment of error in relation thereto cannot be considered. Moore v. Kirby, 52 C. A. 200, 115 S. W. 632.

Appellants, to obtain review of statements of trial court as to their contentions, held required to save the point by bill of exceptions. Davis v. Mills (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 1064.

Objections to remarks claimed to have been made by counsel for the state are not reviewable, where there is no bill of exceptions showing that the remarks were made, nor that they were excepted to if made. Kirby v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 455.

Alleged improper conduct of a witness for the state while testifying in a criminal prosecution cannot be reviewed, in the absence of a bill of exceptions showing his acts. Marlow v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 610.

Remarks by the court stated in the motion for new trial cannot be reviewed where no bill of exceptions was reserved. Clary v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 919.

In the absence of a bill of exceptions showing that the court gave its "regular and customary lecture to the jury," or, if he did, what he said at the time, any error in giving such a "lecture" cannot be considered on appeal. Holmes v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 926.

19. —— Rulings on evidence.—Objections to evidence must be made in the trial court and reserved by bill of exceptions, and if not so made they are waived. Ford v. Cowan, 64 T. 129.

When it is sought to reverse a judgment on the ground that a witness was permitted to testify as an expert without first being shown to be such, it should be shown by bill of exceptions or otherwise that examination was made touching his capacity to testify as an expert, or that no examination into his qualification was made. Otherwise the presumption will obtain that the court became satisfied of the competency of the witness. Hardin v. Sparks, 70 T. 429, 7 S. W. 769.

In the absence of a bill of exceptions, an assignment of error as to the admission of evidence is not available. Morgan v. Oliver (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 111; Ellis v. Marshall Car Wheel & Foundry Co., 41 C. A. 501, 95 S. W. 689; Galveston, H. & S. A. R. Co. v. Pingenot (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 93.

Exception taken to action of court excluding evidence must be presented by bill of exceptions, so that the appellate court may have the excluded evidence before it while considering the case, but where the exception is to admission of evidence, it need not be presented by bill, because it is contained in the statement of facts, and thus it becomes a part of the record. Home Circle Society No. 2 v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 322.

The action of the trial court in permitting a witness to testify as an expert cannot be reviewed on appeal, unless the evidence upon which the court acted in admitting the opinion is before the appellate court by bill of exceptions or otherwise. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Warner, 42 C. A. 280, 93 S. W. 489.

Alleged error in the reception of evidence cannot be reviewed on appeal in the absence of a bill of exceptions. Feagan v. Barton-Parker Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 1076; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Jowers, 110 S. W. 946; Morris v. Simmons, 138 S. W. 800; Posey v. White House Lumber Co., 142 S. W. 931; Bost v. State, 64 Cr. R. 464, 144 S. W. 589; Hayes v. Groesbeck (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 327; St. Louis Union Trust Co. v. Missouri Pac. Ry. Co., Id. 346; Hogue v. State (Cr. App.) 146 S. W. 705; Gamble v. Martin (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 327; Royal Casualty Co. v. Nelson, 153 S. W. 674.

The exclusion of testimony will not be reviewed on appeal where no bill of exceptions was reserved to the ruling. Holmes v. Adams (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 816.

Where there are no separate bills of exception in the record, and the reference to the page of the transcript of the evidence indicated shows no objection to testimony of the kind urged, the alleged error cannot be considered on appeal. Bluestein v. Collins (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 687.

An assignment of error complaining of the admission of evidence not supported by a bill of exceptions need not be considered. Sullivan v. Solis, 52 C. A. 464, 114 S. W. 456; Bangle v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 374.

Error in the admission of a letter will not be reviewed where no bill of exceptions was reserved. Moore v. Kirby, 52 C. A. 200, 115 S. W. 632.

In the absence of bill of exceptions taken to the admission of testimony over the objections of the party complaining, the error, if any, is not reviewable on appeal. Old River Lumber Co. v. Skeeters (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 511.

In the absence of a bill of exceptions showing answers to questions made the subject of assignments of error, the propriety of the questions will not be reviewed. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Stocker (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 972.

A contention that plaintiff's evidence in trespass to try title was not confined to the allegations of his abstract of title cannot be reviewed, where no bill of exceptions was reserved. Hayes v. Groesbeck (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 327.

The admission of immaterial evidence on defendant's part cannot be reviewed where plaintiff failed to object thereto at the time or to request the court to exclude it, and, if his request was overruled, to preserve his objections by a proper bill of exceptions. Hardesty v. Cavin (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 367.

Matters relating to admission and rejection of testimony cannot be considered on appeal, in the absence of bills of exception. Robison v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 912; Smyer v. Ft. Worth & Denver City Ry. Co., 154 S. W. 336.

Where there is no bill of exceptions showing that testimony mentioned in an assignment of error was excluded, the court's action cannot be reviewed. Walker v. Metropolitan St. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 1142.

An assignment of error to the exclusion of evidence cannot be considered where the bills of exception were stricken. Wood v. Dean (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 363.

20. —— Depositions.—Bill of exception must be taken to the exclusion of depositions. Noell v. Bonner (Civ. App.) 21 S. W. 553.

Under rule 55 (67 S. W. xxiv), the refusal of a court to strike out answers to interrogatories will not be reviewed where the matter is not presented by a bill of exceptions. Borden v. Le Tulle Mercantile Co. (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 128.

The trial court's action in overruling an objection to a deposition on the ground that it was taken without notice to the adverse party cannot be reviewed, where it is not shown by a bill of exceptions or by the statement of facts that the facts on which the objection was based were properly presented to the court. Houston E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Lacy (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 414.

21. —— Submission of issues.—The refusal to submit special issues is not ground for complaint, where no bill of exceptions was reserved. Texas Loan Agency v. Fleming, 18 C. A. 668, 46 S. W. 63.

The refusal to submit a jury case on special issues cannot be reviewed in the absence of a bill of exceptions. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Cody, 92 T. 632, 51 S. W. 329.

An assignment of error, complaining of a refusal to submit the case to the jury on special issues, is not reviewable, where there is no bill of exceptions to such action. Galveston, H. & S. A. R. Co. v. Robinett (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 263.

Denial of a jury trial of issues of fact raised by a plea of privilege cannot be reviewed, in the absence of the bill of exceptions. Kolp v. Shrader (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 860.

22. —— Instructions.—See, also, Arts. 1974, 2061.

The giving of a charge as to remark of counsel held not to be regarded as error, in the absence of bill of exceptions showing circumstances. Creager v. Yarborough (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 376.

In order to predicate error on the failure of the court to instruct the jury not to consider certain testimony, a bill of exceptions must be reserved to the ruling. City of San Antonio v. Wildenstein, 49 C. A. 514, 109 S. W. 231.

An objection to the instructions, not presented by the motion for a new trial or by bill of exceptions, could not be reviewed. Coleman v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 1177.

23. —— Verdict or findings.—Assignments of error complaining of the insufficiency of the evidence will not be reviewed in the absence of a statement of facts and bill of exceptions. McKenzie & Ferguson v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 1071.

Under rule 53 for district and county courts (142 S. W. xxi), held, that no bill of exceptions is necessary to present for review the action of the trial court in refusing to accept a verdict of the jury. Hill v. Hanan & Son (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 648.

24. —— Exceptions to auditor's report.—Where the report of an auditor was not in the record, and there was no bill of exceptions, errors assigned for overruling exceptions to the report cannot be reviewed on appeal. Herbert v. Harbert (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 594.

25. —— Matters pertaining to judgment.—See, also, Art. 1991.

An assignment of error in the denial of a motion for judgment on the findings cannot be considered, where the record on appeal contains neither bill of exceptions nor order of court showing that the motion was made and overruled. Stephenville Oil Mill v. McNeill, 57 C. A. 252, 122 S. W. 911.

In the absence of a statement of facts and bill of exceptions, an objection that the judgment was rendered in an action prematurely brought was unsustainable. Rudolph v. Fisher (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 341.

26. —— Failure to file conclusions of law and fact.—To revise the action of the trial court for failure to file conclusions, such failure must be brought to the attention of the appellate court by proper bill of exceptions, showing that the trial judge had notice of the request to file the same. Bank v. Stout, 61 T. 571; Fuller v. Follis (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 368.

An assignment based on the failure of a judge to file his conclusions of law and fact will not be considered in the absence of a bill of exceptions. Hess v. Dean, 66 T. 663, 2 S. W. 727.

The failure of the trial judge to file conclusions of fact and of law when requested will not be considered on appeal without a bill of exceptions taken before the adjournment of the court. Landa v. Heermann, 85 T. 1, 19 S. W. 885.

Waiver of failure to file conclusions of law and fact will be presumed, where no bill of exception thereto is reserved. American Cent. Ins. Co. v. Green, 16 C. A. 531, 41 S. W. 74.

The conclusions of fact and of law must be filed before adjournment of the court, and a failure of the trial judge to so file will not be reviewed on appeal without a bill of exceptions. Maury v. Keller (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 60.

Where there is no bill of exceptions showing the failure of the trial court to file conclusions of fact, its failure so to do will not be considered on appeal. Barrett v. Barrett (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 951.

In order to have the action of a trial judge reviewed for a refusal to file conclusions, a bill of exceptions should be taken. Wetz v. Wetz, 27 C. A. 597, 66 S. W. 869.

A failure to file conclusions could not be reviewed in the absence of bill of exceptions. Kemp v. Everett (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 897.

The failure of the trial court to file conclusions of law and facts within the required time can only be raised on appeal where the matter is brought up by bill of exceptions. Jacobs v. Nussbaum & Scharff (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 484; Velasco Fish & Oyster Co. v. Texas Co., 148 S. W. 1184.

The objection that conclusions of fact and law were not filed by the trial court within the time fixed by Art. 2075 cannot be taken advantage of, unless the matter is shown by bill of exceptions. Old River Lumber Co. v. Skeeters (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 511.

The court's failure to file conclusions of fact and law can only be reviewed when incorporated in the record by bill of exceptions. Boyette v. Glass (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 819; Dunlap v. Broyles, 141 S. W. 289; Demetri v. McCoy, 145 S. W. 293.

27. —— Motions for new trial.—An unverified statement in a motion for new trial that counsel made certain remarks cannot be made the basis of error in the absence of a bill of exceptions. Timmony v. Burns (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 133.

In the absence of a bill of exceptions or certificate of the judge, the judgment will not be reversed merely on the unsupported allegations in a motion for new trial. Scheffel v. Scheffel, 37 C. A. 504, 84 S. W. 408.

In the absence of a statement of facts in the record, the action of the court in overruling a motion for a new trial is not reviewable. Carter v. Kieran (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 272.

Matter presented as a ground for a new trial, not preserved by a bill of exceptions, cannot be considered on appeal. Alexander v. State (Cr. App.) 119 S. W. 683.

In the absence of a bill of exceptions, the grounds stated in a motion for a new trial cannot be reviewed. Coleman v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 1177.

28. Substitutes for bill of exceptions.—The office of the bill of exceptions is to show the proceedings of the court which do not otherwise appear of record, and, the mode of its authentication being provided by law, the mere statement of the judge, although written by him and signed officially, cannot be received as its substitute. Owens v. Railway Co., 67 T. 679, 4 S. W. 593.

The exception noted in the judgment refusing a continuance will not supply the place of a proper bill of exceptions. Simpson v. Texas Tram & Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 655.

Where a remark of counsel alleged to have wrongfully influenced the jury in returning a verdict is not incorporated in a bill of exceptions or other proper certificate, an allegation in the motion for a new trial, and supporting affidavit of the jurors, are not sufficient to supply the fact as a part of the record on appeal. Maffii v. Stephens, 49 C. A. 354, 108 S. W. 1008.

Affidavits presented in the motion for new trial, objecting to part of counsel's argument, are not a sufficient substitute for a bill of exceptions. Colorado Canal Co. v. McFarland & Southwell, 50 C. A. 92, 109 S. W. 435.

Even though the trial court wrongfully refused to give a bill of exceptions, ex parte affidavits improperly placed in the transcript cannot be considered on appeal in place of the bill of exceptions. Priddy v. O'Neal (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 35.

Exception noted in the judgment refusing a continuance does not supply the place of a bill of exceptions. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Shirley (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 663.

29. Reserving exceptions in statement of facts.—See, also, notes under Arts. 2068 and 2069.

Exceptions may be reserved in the statement of facts filed during the term, but they must conform to the rules applicable to bills of exception. Howard v. Houston, 59 T. 76; G., C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Eddins, 60 T. 656.

Rulings on the exclusion of evidence must be preserved by bill of exceptions, and not in the statement of facts. Home Circle Soc. No. 1 v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 84; Scott v. Llano County Bank, 85 S. W. 301.

Where a party does not object to the incorporation of a bill of exceptions in the statement of facts, and the bill has otherwise been seasonably and properly drawn, approved and signed and filed he cannot upon appeal complain that it is not in compliance with the rules. In this case the evidence excluded at the trial was incorporated in the statement of facts, and was not presented by a separate bill of exceptions. Stephens v. Herron, 99 T. 63, 87 S. W. 328.

Parties excepting to the admission of testimony over objection may reserve their exceptions in the statement of facts. Texarkana & Ft. S. R. Co. v. Rosebrook-Josey Grain Co., 52 C. A. 156, 114 S. W. 436.

30. Requisites, contents, and sufficiency of bill.—See Art. 2059 and notes.

31. Settlement of bill during trial.—Though the statute makes it proper for the court when an objection is made and a bill of exceptions is taken to stop the trial a sufficient length of time to then and there prepare, sign, and approve the bill, the refusal to suspend the trial for that purpose is not reversible error, where the party complaining is subsequently given his bill in full. Kearse v. State (Cr. App.) 151 S. W. 827.

32. Filing, time for filing, and effect of failure to file or file in time.—See Art. 2073 and notes.

Art. 2059. [1361] [1359] Requisites of bills of exceptions.—No particular form of words shall be required in a bill of exceptions; but the objection to the ruling or action of the court shall be stated with such circumstances, or so much of the evidence as may be necessary to explain it, and no more, and the whole as briefly as possible.

Requisites and sufficiency of bill of exceptions—In general.—Objections to evidence were not considered because of insufficiency of bill of exceptions. Wright v. Solomon (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 58.

Bill of exceptions to the suppression of a second deposition of witness, and to the same interrogatories on ground of conflict, held insufficient. White v. Houston & T. C. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 382.

Bill of exceptions, complaining of the acceptance of jurors who had not paid their poll tax, held defective. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Lester (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 401.

Under rules for the district court 41 (67 S. W. xxiii) defendant's bill of exceptions on appeal held to properly present questions raised by objection to improper language in argument to jury. St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Boyd, 40 C. A. 93, 88 S. W. 509.

A bill of exceptions held not complete in itself, and insufficient to present the objection relied on. Veatch v. Gray, 41 C. A. 145, 91 S. W. 324.

A bill of exception held insufficient to present for review the trial court's action in overruling a motion to quash a deposition on the ground the certificate of the deposition officer did not comply with the law. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Sauter, 46 C. A. 309, 103 S. W. 201.

In an action against a carrier for injury caused to one falling from a train, plaintiff's bill of exceptions under complaint against the exclusion of testimony held insufficient to show error. Walling v. Trinity & Brazos Valley Ry. Co., 48 C. A. 35, 106 S. W. 417.

—— Certainty and definiteness.—Bill of exceptions held too indefinite. Freeman v. State, 44 Cr. R. 496, 72 S. W. 1001.

Assignment of errors based upon bill of exceptions sc general that the court cannot specifically decide the question will not be passed upon. Runnells v. Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co., 49 C. A. 150, 107 S. W. 647.

—— Scope and contents in general.—A bill of exception to the denial of a continuance must show whether it is a first or subsequent application. Arnold v. Hockney, 51 T. 46. The grounds upon which the action of the court is based must be fully stated. T. & P. Ry. Co. v. Hardin, 62 T. 367.

When the record shows no statement of facts from which the materiality of excluded testimony can be determined, and the bill of exceptions based on such exclusion fails to state enough of the facts established in the case to make intelligible the ruling of the court in reference to the issue made by the pleadings, the exception will be disregarded on appeal. Stark v. Ellis, 69 T. 543, 7 S. W. 76.

Where overruling a motion for continuance is assigned as error, a bill of exceptions should show whether it was the first or some other application. Watkins v. Atwell (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 404.

Where the bill of exceptions to a refusal of a continuance neither includes the application nor brings the same before the appellate court, an assignment based on the refusal is of no avail. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Partin, 33 C. A. 173, 76 S. W. 236.

On objection to depositions, that the opposite party was not served with notice of interrogatories, his bill of exceptions must negative waiver of notice. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Murtishaw, 34 C. A. 447, 78 S. W. 953.

A party moving for new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence as shown by affidavits must show by the bill of exceptions or statement of facts that the affidavits were brought to the attention of the court. Colville v. Colville (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 870.

Appellants, to obtain review of statements of trial court as to their contentions, held required to insert facts in the bill of exceptions enabling the court to determine what the contention was. Davis v. Mills (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 1064.

A judgment will not be reversed on the ground that the trial court abused its discretion in permitting court decisions to be read to the jury, where such decisions are not set out in the bill of exceptions. Lanham v. Lanham (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 635.

—— Setting forth errors.—Error in not permitting a certain fact to be proved by a particular person is not shown by a bill of exceptions in which it does not appear that such person was offered as a witness on that subject. Hurst v. McMullen (Civ. App.) 47 S. W. 666.

Objections to evidence as secondary will not be considered, where bill of exceptions does not distinctly state that the statement testified to was in writing. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Calnon, 20 C. A. 697, 50 S. W. 422.

An assignment alleging error in a refusal to submit the case by special issues will not be considered, where the bill of exceptions does not show that a request for such submission was made in time. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Williams (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 89.

Where the bill of exceptions fails to show that the testimony complained of was introduced in evidence, the court on appeal will disregard the assignment of error. Jamison v. Dooley, 34 C. A. 428, 79 S. W. 91; Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Halsell, 35 C. A. 126, 80 S. W. 140; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Rogers (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 364.

A bill of exceptions should state facts in such a manner as to exclude any reasonable hypothesis upon which the decision of the trial court can be sustained. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Lester (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 401.

An assignment of error to the sustaining of an oral objection to an answer in a deposition held insufficient where the bill of exceptions failed to show that the deposition had been on file a sufficient time to require a motion in writing to suppress. Seiber v. Johnson Mercantile Co., 40 C. A. 600, 90 S. W. 516.

An assignment of error cannot be sustained where the bill of exceptions fails to show that the ruling complained of was made by the court. Rice v. Dewberry (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 715.

Assignment of error in striking out part of answer of witness held not to be considered, where bill of exceptions failed to show that any part of the answer was admitted in evidence. Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Sloss, 45 C. A. 153, 100 S. W. 354.

A bill of exceptions held not to show error in overruling a challenge for cause to a juror. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Owens (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 210.

Arts. 1991, 1992, and 2075 require in a cause tried by the court conclusions of law and fact to be filed within 10 days after the term on request of either party. Held, that a bill of exceptions, complaining of the failure of the judge to file the conclusions "during the term" where 18 days had elapsed at the time the bill was taken, would not be ignored. Sutherland v. Kirkland (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 851.

An assignment of error to the rejection of evidence will be overruled if the bill of exceptions on which it is based fails to show that the objection to the evidence was improperly sustained. McKenzie v. Beason (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 246.

Under this article and rule 59 (67 S. W. xxiv) for district and county courts, requiring bills of exception to state enough of the evidence or facts in the case to explain the rulings excepted to, where a bill of exceptions to alleged improper remarks of counsel does not show that they were not called out by the evidence or in response to argument of the opposing counsel, it will be presumed that counsel complied with rule 39 (67 S. W. xxiii), requiring counsel to confine themselves in argument to the evidence and the argument of opposing counsel. Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. v. West (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 206

A bill of exception reciting that defendant excepted to the charge because it failed to instruct upon all the law applicable to the case, in that the evidence called for a charge upon dying declarations, and the sanity of deceased when he made such declaration; because there was testimony that a man with a gunshot wound in his stomach would rarely be in his sane mind five to seven hours afterwards, presents no matter for review where it does not attempt to show that the declarant was in such wounded condition, nor show that it had been several hours from the time of the shot to the making of his declaration or that the declaration was in any way affected by the declarant's condition. Galan v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 1171.

—— Showing prejudice to appellant.—Bill of exceptions, complaining of the refusal of the court to permit the attorneys of defendant to consult together with reference to their peremptory challenges, held to fail to show prejudicial error. Citizens' Ry. & Light Co. v. Johns, 52 C. A. 489, 116 S. W. 62.

Where a bill of exceptions to the action of the trial court in allowing defendant to take peremptory challenges failed to show that the defendant challenged more than six jurors, and that some juror who was unchallenged by the plaintiff was taken off of the jury by such action, there is nothing to show that the plaintiff was injured. Hannay v. Harmon (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 406.

Where bills of exceptions complaining of the remarks of the county attorney in his argument did not explain the circumstances under which the remarks were made or show what the record contained so that the court could determine whether they were improper, and showed that the court, at the request of accused, specially charged the jury not to consider the remarks, the record did not show that the remarks were grounds for reversal. O'Neal v. State (Cr. App.) 146 S. W. 938.

—— Setting forth objections and exceptions.—Only the grounds stated in the bill for the exclusion of evidence will be noticed on appeal. Kimmarle v. Railway Co., 76 T. 686, 12 S. W. 698; Ellis v. Garvey, 76 T. 371, 13 S. W. 320.

In passing upon the admissibility of evidence the appellate court will be confined to the precise objections raised in the bill of exceptions. Miner v. Powers (Civ. App.) 38 S. W. 400.

Remarks of counsel will not be reviewed where a bill of exceptions does not show objection made at the time. Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 584.

In the supreme court no objections to evidence will be considered except those presented in the trial court and shown by the bill of exceptions. Wheeler v. Tyler, 91 T. 356, 43 S. W. 876.

Held, that a ruling rejecting evidence offered to meet an objection to the admission of other evidence could be considered, though the bill of exceptions failed to state the ground of the objection to the introduction of such evidence. Bailey v. Crittenden (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 404.

Where the bill of exceptions does not state the objection to testimony offered, the court cannot say there was error in its exclusion. Green v. White, 18 C. A. 509, 45 S. W. 389; Paine v. Dorough (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 369.

A bill of exceptions to the exclusion of testimony must show the ground of objection on which the evidence was excluded. Grinnan v. Rousseaux, 20 C. A. 19, 48 S. W. 58, 781; Southern Kansas Ry. Co. of Texas v. Crump, 32 C. A. 222, 74 S. W. 335.

Rulings on evidence will not be reviewed where the objections or the ground of the ruling do not appear in the bill of exceptions. Texas Brewing Co. v. Dickey, 20 C. A. 606, 49 S. W. 935; Edwards v. Annan (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 299; Whisenant v. Schawe, 141 S. W. 146.

An assignment of error to the exclusion of evidence cannot be reviewed, where the grounds of the objection to the evidence are not stated in the bill of exceptions. Herndon v. De Cordova, 22 C. A. 202, 54 S. W. 401; Lindsey v. State, 27 C. A. 540 (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 332; San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Josey, 71 S. W. 606; Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v. Gibbs, 34 C. A. 131, 78 S. W. 398; Irvin v. Johnson, 56 C. A. 492, 120 S. W. 1085; St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Blocker (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 156; Armstrong v. Burt, Id. 172; Stratton v. Riley, 154 S. W. 606.

A bill of exceptions to exclusion of evidence which fails to show the objections made cannot be considered. Schoch v. City of San Antonio (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 893; Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. James, 39 C. A. 408, 87 S. W. 730; Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Pearce, 43 C. A. 387, 95 S. W. 1133; Linn v. Waller (Civ. App.) 98 S. W. 430; Hill v. Hanan & Son (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 648.

A bill of exceptions to the exclusion of evidence will not be considered, unless it shows the grounds on which the evidence was excluded. International & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Jones (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 978; Progressive Lumber Co. v. Marshall & E. T. Ry. Co. (Sup.) 155 S. W. 175.

Where a bill of exceptions does not state the ground on which the trial court refused a continuance, error based on such refusal will not be reviewed. Doxey v. Westbrook (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 787.

In absence of objections shown by bill of exceptions to admission of evidence, error in overruling motion for new trial, based on certain improper evidence, cannot be reviewed. Phillips v. Texas Loan Agency, 26 C. A. 505, 63 S. W. 1080.

A bill of exceptions, reciting an objection to certain testimony, but not stating the grounds therefor, is sufficient to authorize a review thereof. Gunnels v. Cartledge, 26 C. A. 623, 64 S. W. 806.

Errors in the admission of evidence are reviewable on appeal, though the bill of exceptions does not show the objection made in the trial court. Kingsbury v. Waco State Bank, 30 C. A. 387, 70 S. W. 551.

Only the grounds set forth in the bill of exceptions for the exclusion of evidence will be noticed in the appellate court, though other grounds are embodied in the assignments of error. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v. Gibbs, 34 C. A. 131, 78 S. W. 398.

Objection on ground not stated as a fact in bill of exceptions will not be considered by appellate court. Ward v. Cameron, 97 T. 466, 80 S. W. 69.

Bills of exception to the exclusion of evidence, merely stating that plaintiff objected, held insufficient. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Jarrell, 38 C. A. 425, 86 S. W. 632.

When an assignment of error is predicated upon the admission of testimony, only such objections as were presented below and stated in the bill of exceptions will be considered. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Birdwell (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 1067; Same v. Henderson, Id.

Where neither the briefs nor bill of exceptions taken at the time of excluding evidence discloses what the objection was which the trial court sustained to the evidence offered, the ruling is not reviewable on appeal. Jones v. Humphreys, 39 C. A. 644, 88 S. W. 403.

The ruling of the court in excluding evidence will not be considered where the bill of exceptions fails to show the objections urged to its admission. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Hays, 40 C. A. 162, 89 S. W. 29; Haring v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 389; Day v. Becker, 145 S. W. 1197; Hill v. Hanan & Son, 146 S. W. 648; Porter v. Langley, 155 S. W. 1042.

The admission of testimony objected to will not be reviewed on appeal where the bill of exceptions did not specify the objection. Buckler v. Kneezell (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 367; Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Terry, 43 C. A. 591, 97 S. W. 325; Stratton v. Riley (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 606.

A rule excluding testimony is not reviewable where the bill of exceptions taken fails to state the grounds of objections to the testimony. St. Louis, I. M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Dodson (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 523; Walker v. Texas & N. O. R. Co., 51 C. A. 391, 112 S. W. 430.

The only objections to evidence that will be considered on appeal are those made in the trial court, as shown by the bill of exceptions. Jones' Estate v. Neal, 44 C. A. 412. 98 S. W. 417.

Where the bill of exceptions fails to disclose the objections made to the evidence in question, the rulings cannot be considered on appeal. San Antonio Traction Co. v. Lambkin (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 574; First Nat. Bank v. Powell, 149 S. W. 1096.

A bill of exceptions held not to show that objection was made before judgment. Harris v. Harris, 50 C. A. 188, 109 S. W. 1138.

Error in admitting a document in evidence will not be considered on appeal, where the bill of exceptions does not show that any exception was taken to the ruling. Foley v. Houston Belt & Terminal Ry. Co., 50 C. A. 218, 110 S. W. 96.

A bill of exceptions to the admission of evidence must be limited to the particular objection made. Maricle v. McAlister Fuel Co., 55 C. A. 178, 121 S. W. 221.

Error in the admission or exclusion of evidence cannot be reviewed unless the bill of exceptions contains the objection made to the court's rulings. First Nat. Bank v. Pearce (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 285.

A bill of exceptions not showing the grounds of objection to the exclusion of evidence held not to sustain an assignment of error. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Holzer (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1062.

Objection to the admission of testimony cannot be considered on appeal unless the bill of exceptions shows that the objection was made at the trial. Wright v. Giles (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1163; Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Maxwell, 130 S. W. 722.

Assignments of error as to the admission of evidence cannot be considered, where the bill of exceptions does not show the objections overruled. Thos. Goggan & Bros. v. Synnott (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 1184.

Exclusion of depositions cannot be reviewed where the bill of exceptions fails to show the nature of the objection sustained. Porter v. Norman (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1173.

A bill of exceptions complaining of the exclusion of certain evidence is insufficient, where it does not state the grounds of objection. Rader v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 718.

Where the bill of exceptions shows no objection to the admission of evidence, the court is precluded from considering assignments of error based on the admission of the evidence. Armstrong v. Burt (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 172.

Where objection is made to the introduction of certain evidence, but the bill of exceptions fails to show what the objection was, it will not be considered. Whisenant v. Schawe (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 146.

Admission of evidence cannot be complained of; the bill of exceptions showing no exception was reserved thereto. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Grenig (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 135.

Refusal to allow testimony held not reviewable, where the bill of exceptions does not show the ground of objection to the testimony. Campbell v. Prieto (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 668.

In absence of a bill of exceptions showing objection to the admission of evidence, error in admitting it cannot be reviewed. Hayes v. Groesbeck (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 327.

Alleged error in excluding questions asked a witness will not be considered, in the absence of the ground of objection in the bill of exceptions, where they might properly have been excluded on the ground that they were leading. Freeman v. Moreman (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1045.

Where bills of exception to the sustaining of objections to testimony do not dispose of the objections urged to the testimony, but merely recited that objections were made and the testimony excluded, the rulings could not be reviewed. First Nat. Bank v. Powell (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1096.

Bills of exception to the refusal to give a special charge which did not assign reasons why the court erred in failing to give the charge or why it should have been given are too indefinite to be considered on appeal. Holmes v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 926.

An assignment of error complaining of the exclusion of testimony will not be considered where the bill of exceptions does not show the objection made in the trial court, and does not state the questions propounded to elicit the evidence sought. Porter v. Langley (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1042.

—— Incorporating evidence in general.—See, also, Art. 2060.

Admitting or rejecting evidence, and the testimony must be set out (Brothers v. Mundel, 60 T. 240; Whitaker v. Gee, 61 T. 217; Railway Co. v. Rowland (Civ. App.) 23 S. W. 421; Railway Co. v. Knippa (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 730; Beeks v. Odom, 70 T. 183, 7 S. W. 702; Calhoun v. Quinn (Civ. App.) 21 S. W. 705; Tevis v. Armstrong, 71 T. 59, 9 S. W. 134; Noell v. Bonner (Civ. App.) 21 S. W. 553; Ortiz v. Navarro, 10 C. A. 195, 30 S. W. 581; Alamo Ins. Co. v. Lancaster, 28 S. W. 126, 7 C. A. 677); with such other facts as are necessary to show its competency, when it does not otherwise appear (article 1362; Bowles v. Beal, 60 T. 322; Lockett v. Schurenberg, 60 T. 610), and the grounds of objection thereto (Kimmarle v. Railway Co., 76 T. 686, 12 S. W. 698; Ellis v. Garvey, 76 T. 371, 13 S. W. 320; Rule 58, 47 T. 627; Herndon v. Casiano, 7 T. 322; Trigg v. Moore, 10 T. 197; Hamilton v. Rice, 15 T. 382; Fulton v. Bayne, 18 T. 50; Butler v. Dunagan, 19 T. 559; Rector v. Hudson, 20 T. 234; Stiles v. Giddens, 21 T. 783; Crain v. Crain, 21 T. 790; Hill v. Baylor, 23 T. 261; Tucker v. Willis, 24 T. 247; Bohanan v. Hans, 26 T. 445; Carter v. Eames, 44 T. 544; Ragsdale v. Robinson, 48 T. 379; Johnson v. Crawl, 55 T. 571; Bonart v. Waag, 61 T. 33; Whitaker v. Gee, 61 T. 217; Endick v. Endick, 61 T. 559; Willis v. Donac, 61 T. 588; Beeman v. Jester, 62 T. 431; H., E. & W. T. Ry. Co. v. Adams, 63 T. 200; G., H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Gage, 63 T. 568). The action of the trial court in excluding testimony will not be revised on appeal, when the bill of exceptions does not show what the evidence would have been. Moss v. Cameron, 66 T. 412, 1 S. W. 177; Ware v. Shafer, 27 S. W. 764, 88 T. 44. It will not be decided on appeal whether or not a question was proper, when the record fails to show that it was answered. Vance v. Upson, 66 T. 476, 1 S. W. 179; Snow v. Price, 1 App. C. C. § 1343; M. P. Ry. Co. v. Rountree, 2 App. C. C. § 387; McKay v. Overton, 65 T. 82; Cannon v. Cannon, 66 T. 682, 3 S. W. 36; Still v. Focke, 66 T. 715, 2 S. W. 59.

One who excepts, in the trial of a cause in trespass to try title, to the action of the court in excluding a judgment which, in its proper connection, would be admissible, can derive no benefit on appeal from the exception, when there is nothing in the record to show that he had by evidence connected himself with it. Stark v. Ellis, 69 T. 543, 7 S. W. 76.

Where error is assigned as to the admission or exclusion of evidence, the appellate court should be furnished with a full statement of the facts proven on the trial; or at least the bill of exceptions should show with certainty the materiality of the evidence when considered in connection with all that has been proven upon the trial. Bupp & Robbins v. O'Connor & Co., 1 C. A. 328, 21 S. W. 619.

Where bill of exceptions does not disclose answers to questions objected to, the error will not be considered. Herring v. Mason, 17 C. A. 559, 43 S. W. 797; Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Stocker (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 972.

Where the bill of exceptions does not show testimony objected to, the appellate court may disregard the assignment of error. Fields v. Haley (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 115.

A bill of exceptions taken to the admission of evidence is defective, where it fails to show what the answer of the witness to the question objected to was. Gipson v. Morris, 36 C. A. 593, 83 S. W. 226.

Failure of the bill of exceptions to show the date of a deed held to preclude on appeal an objection to its rejection as evidence of the value of property. Cane Belt R. Co. v. Turner, 44 C. A. 42, 97 S. W. 1066.

A bill of exceptions as to rulings on evidence is not sufficient to form the basis of an assignment of error, where it fails to state what evidence of the witnesses was objected to or what their testimony was. Southwell v. Church, 51 C. A. 547, 111 S. W. 969.

A bill of exceptions complaining of the admission or exclusion of evidence must set out the evidence objected to and the objections and thus show that the party complaining was damaged by the ruling complained of. Longworth v. Stevens (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 257.

Overruling of an objection to a question asked a witness is not reviewable, where the bill of exception does not disclose what the answer was. Goodwin v. Biddy (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 739; Porter v. Langley (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1042.

In the absence of a statement of facts, the bills of exception must show on their face that they contain all of the evidence introduced at trial on the matters complained of, in order to review such matters. Williams v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 185; Wood v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 194.

Bills of exception to the effect that the evidence called for a charge on justifiable homicide when committed to prevent a felony, and as to the law applicable to communicated threats, presented nothing for review, when they did not set forth the evidence upon which such exceptions were based. Galan v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 1171.

Parties have the right to have all evidence which was submitted in a trial to the court embodied in a statement of facts or bill of exceptions. Reed v. Robertson (Sup.) 156 S. W. 196.

—— Setting forth evidence excluded.—When testimony is offered and excluded, the bill of exceptions must show what the evidence would have been. Milliken v. Smoot, 64 T. 171; Maury v. Smith (Civ. App.) 37 S. W. 463; Lindsey v. Singletary, 43 S. W. 273.

Rulings excluding questions to a witness will not be reviewed where the bill of exceptions fails to show what answers would have been given. McAuley v. Harris, 71 T. 632, 9 S. W. 679; Manly v. Conn (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 160; Chimene v. Baker, 32 C. A. 520, 75 S. W. 330; Long v. Red River, T. & S. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 1048; Mullen v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 1000; Meredith v. Miller (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 430; Thompson v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 48 C. A. 284, 106 S. W. 910; Milmo Nat. Bank v. Cobbs, 53 C. A. 1, 115 S. W. 345; Couturie v. Crespi (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 257; Guilmartin v. Padgett, 138 S. W. 1143; Southern Pac. Co. v. Sorey, 142 S. W. 119; Pecos & N. T. Ry. Co. v. Stoker, Id. 972; Hill v. Hanan & Son, 146 S. W. 648; Biggs v. Miller, 147 S. W. 632; Stratton v. Riley, 154 S. W. 606; Zarate v. Villareal, 155 S. W. 328.

A bill of exceptions to the ruling of the court sustaining objections to a question asked a witness must fairly show what it was expected would be the answer of the witness (Railway Co. v. Locker, 78 T. 279, 14 S. W. 611), and upon what objection, and that exception was taken to its exclusion (Fox v. Brady, 1 C. A. 590, 20 S. W. 1024).

Bill of exceptions must show character of evidence excluded. Ivey v. Bondies (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 916.

The materiality of excluded evidence cannot be inquired into unless its nature appears in the bill of exceptions. Nairn v. State (Cr. App.) 45 S. W. 703.

The sustaining of objection to question cannot be held error where the bill of exceptions does not show what the answer would be. Ford v. Addison (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 110; Stier v. Latreyte, 50 S. W. 589; Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. Birk, 44 C. A. 615, 99 S. W. 753; Irvin v. Johnson, 56 C. A. 492, 120 S. W. 1085; Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

Unless bill of exceptions discloses what witness would have said in answer to proper question, its exclusion cannot be regarded as prejudicial. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Wallace, 21 C. A. 394, 53 S. W. 77.

Where the bill of exceptions does not show the ground of the objection to the testimony of the witness, or what his evidence would have been, it cannot be considered on appeal. Herndon v. De Cordova, 22 C. A. 202, 54 S. W. 401.

Where neither the bill of exceptions nor the assignment of error discloses what certain evidence offered would have shown, if admitted, its materiality or sufficiency will not be reviewed. First Nat. Bank v. Hicks, 24 C. A. 269, 59 S. W. 842.

Relevancy of proposed testimony in an action for malicious prosecution held not reviewable, where bill of exceptions failed to show what the answers would have been. Curlee v. Rose, 27 C. A. 259, 65 S. W. 197.

Error in excluding a receipt, the contents of which is not set out in the bill of exceptions, will not be considered. Blackwell v. Mayfield (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 659.

A bill of exception relating to the exclusion of evidence must state the question asked the witness, the exception made thereto and what it was expected to prove by the witness. Adams v. Missouri, K. & T. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 1007.

Where the answer given to a question is not shown in the bill of exceptions or record, an assignment of error to the admission of such question will be overruled. Wells Fargo Exp. Co. v. Williams (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 314.

An assignment based on a bill of exceptions, which fails to show the answer which a witness was expected to give to the question, amounts to nothing. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Meeks (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 329.

A bill of exceptions to the exclusion of an answer to a question asked on cross-examination need not show what answer the witness was expected to make. Long v. Red River, T. & S. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 1048.

A bill of exceptions to the exclusion of evidence is insufficient where it fails to state what the excluded evidence would have shown. City of Houston v. Potter, 41 C. A. 381, 91 S. W. 389.

Refusal to permit leading questions held not to be considered on appeal, where the bill of exceptions does not set out questions nor expected answers. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Currie (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 1100.

Where an objection to a question propounded to a witness is sustained, the bill of exceptions should show what the answer would have been in order to form a basis for a review of the trial court's action in refusing to allow the question asked. Bluestein v. Collins (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 687.

A ruling on an objection to a question will not be reviewed on appeal where the answer does not appear in the bill of exceptions. Selkirk v. Watkins (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 1161.

Where a bill of exceptions to the action of the court in sustaining an objection to a hypothetical question does not disclose what the witness would have answered, no prejudice from the ruling of the court is shown. El Paso Electric Ry. Co. v. Bolgiano (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 388.

The court of civil appeals cannot review a ruling excluding testimony, where it does not appear from the bill of exceptions what the witness would have testified to. Boyd v. Schreiner (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 100.

Before error can be predicated on the refusal to permit a witness to testify, it must appear from the bill of exceptions what the testimony would have been and that the testimony would have been beneficial to the party complaining. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Neiser, 54 C. A. 460, 118 S. W. 166.

The refusal of the court to admit certain testimony will not be considered on appeal where the bill of exceptions fails to show what the answer of the witness would have been to the question, or what appellant expected to show by the witness. Hatsfeld v. Walsh, 55 C. A. 573, 120 S. W. 525.

A bill of exceptions complaining of the exclusion of evidence should set forth sufficient proper evidence to enable the court to say that there was error. Hackbarth v. Gordon (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 591.

Where a bill of exceptions does not allege what the answer to a question put to a witness would have been, the court on appeal cannot say whether the person offering witness was injured by the exclusion of the answer. Carroll v. Mitchell-Parks Mfg. Co. (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 446.

The court on appeal held not required to review the exclusion of instruments offered in evidence, when not in the bill of exceptions. Howard v. McBee (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 450.

A bill of exceptions to a ruling excluding an answer which did not show what witness' answer would have been, and contained no ground of objection to the ruling, will not be considered. Ward v. State (Cr. App.) 146 S. W. 931.

Bills of exceptions showing that certain questions were propounded, but failing to show the answers of the witness, or what it was expected to be proven, present no question for review. Stevens v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 944.

A bill of exceptions to the exclusion of certain testimony which does not show for what purpose it was offered will not be considered. Progressive Lumber Co. v. Marshall & E. T. Ry. Co. (Sup.) 155 S. W. 175.

—— Setting forth questions asked.—A bill of exception relating to the exclusion of evidence must state the question asked the witness. Adams v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 1007.

A bill of exceptions to the admission of certain testimony, failing to set out the questions, held insufficient. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Paschall, 41 C. A. 357, 92 S. W. 446.

An assignment of error complaining of the exclusion of testimony will not be considered, where the bill of exceptions does not state the questions propounded. Porter v. Langley (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1042.

—— Necessity of specific exception.—A bill of exception, complaining of all of the evidence, some of which is admissible, presents nothing for review. Dolan v. Meehan (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 99.

Where the bill of exceptions reserved to the dismissal of part of plaintiff's cause of action assigns no reason for the objection, it is insufficient to raise the point on appeal. Wells Fargo & Co. Express v. Bilkiss (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 798.

Where part of the evidence, admission of which is excepted to by a bill of exceptions going to the whole of the evidence, is admissible, the objection to the evidence will not be considered. Lanham v. Lanham (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 635.

—— Insertion of documents.—An application for continuance need not be copied into the bill of exceptions. Wilborn v. Elmendorf (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 1059.

An assignment of error based on the refusal of the court to consider a will as evidence will not be considered, where the bill of exceptions or statement of facts does not contain a copy of the will. Mattfeld v. Huntington, 17 C. A. 716, 43 S. W. 53.

Where a bill of exceptions to the overruling of an application for continuance did not contain the motion or sufficiently identify it, as required by rules 55 and 86 (67 S. W. xiv, xvi), the ruling could not be reviewed. Chicago, R. I. & T. Ry. Co. v. Long, 32 C. A. 40, 74 S. W. 59.

—— Defect not cured by brief.—A defect in a bill of exceptions held not cured by statements in appellee's brief. Howard v. McBee (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 450.

Striking out bill.—A bill of exceptions will not be stricken out because too voluminous. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Eaten (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 562.

Substitutes for bill of exceptions.—A mere statement of facts on the issue presented by a motion for a change of venue held not a substitute for a bill of exceptions for the purpose of reviewing the court's action in granting the change. Panhandle & G. Ry. Co. v. Kirby (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 498.

Conflict between bill of exceptions and statement of facts.—See, also, notes under Art. 2068.

In case of conflict as to the examination of a witness between the bill of exceptions and a statement of facts not agreed to by the parties, but made up by the court alone, the bill will control. Hamilton v. Dismukes, 53 C. A. 129, 115 S. W. 1181.

Operation and effect of bill.—A bill of exceptions showing that a party "claimed that he had pleaded" a certain issue orally held not sufficient to establish the fact that such oral plea was made. Stanger v. Dorsey, 22 C. A. 573, 55 S. W. 129.

A bill of exceptions, reciting that a deposition was admitted in evidence after a motion to suppress had been overruled, is conclusive of such admission on appeal. Avocato v. Dell'Ara (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 296.

