1. COMMISSION MERCHANTS

Art. 1274. "Commission Merchant" Defined

Any person, firm or corporation pursuing, or who shall pursue the business of selling produce, or goods, wares or merchandise of any kind upon consignment for a commission, shall be held to be a commission merchant.

Art. 1275. Bond of Every commission merchant shall make bond in the sum of three thousand dollars, with a solvent surety company doing business in this State or with two or more good and sufficient sureties, who are residents of this State, and who shall make affidavit that they in their own right, over and above all exemptions, are worth the full amount of the bond they sign as sureties, payable to the county judge of each county in which such commission merchant maintains an office, and to the successors in office of such county judge as trustees for all persons who may become entitled to the benefits of this subdivision; conditioned that such commission merchant will faithfully and truly perform all agreements and contracts entered into with consignors for said produce, goods, wares or merchandise, will promptly receive and sell such produce, goods, wares or merchandise, and will on receipt of such produce, goods, wares or merchandise class the same, and if such class as made by such commission merchant is not as high as that made and sent to him by the consignor, he (the commission merchant) will immediately notify the consignor of such fact and of the class made by him; and as soon as sold will send to the consignor a full and complete account of sales of same, giving an itemized account thereof, and the price received, the dates of sales, and shall, within five days after said produce, goods, wares or merchandise are sold, send to the consignor the full amount received for the same, less the commission due said commission merchant under the contract of assignment, such bond to be approved by the county judge of the county in which said commission merchant maintains an office, and by said judge filed for record in the county clerk's office as chattel mortgages are now authorized to be filed by law.

Repeal

Acts 1971, 62nd Leg., p. 2721, ch. 886, effective June 14, 1971, relating to the microfilming of records by counties, and classified as article 1941(a), provided in section 2 that all laws or parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this Act are hereby repealed, to the extent of conflict only, including but not limited to this article.

Art. 1275a. Penalty

Whoever shall pursue the business of selling produce or goods, wares or merchandise of any kind upon consignment for commission, without first making and filing the bond required by the laws regulating commission merchants, shall be fined not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars.

Art. 1276. Suits on Bond

Such bond shall be made and filed for record in each county in which such commission merchant maintains an office, and in which county suits may be maintained upon such bond by any person claiming to have been damaged by a breach of its condition. Said bond shall not become void upon the first recovery thereon, but may be sued upon until the amount thereof is exhausted. When said bond by suits of recovery has been reduced to the sum of fifteen hundred dollars, said commission merchant shall be required to enter into a new bond in the sum of three thousand dollars as required in the first instance. Said new bond shall be liable for all future contracts, agreements or consignments thereafter entered into by said commission merchant and consignor of such produce, cotton, sugar, goods, wares or merchandise, and upon failure of said commission merchant to give said new bond as above required, he shall cease doing business in this State.

Art. 1277. Unlawful Interest in Sales

No factor or commission merchant to whom any cotton, sugar, produce or merchandise of any kind is consigned for sale on commission or otherwise, shall purchase the same or reserve any interest whatever therein upon the sale of same, either directly or indirectly, in his own name or in the name or through the instrumentality of another, for his own benefit or for the benefit of another, or as a factor or agent of any other person, without express written license from the owner or consignor of such cotton, sugar, produce or other merchandise, or some person authorized by him, under a penalty of forfeiture of one-half the value of cotton, sugar, produce or other merchandise so purchased or sold, to be recovered by the owner of the same by suit in the county where the sale took place, or wherein the offending party resides.

Art. 1278. Account of Sales

Upon the shipment of any produce, cotton, sugar, goods, wares or merchandise, consigned for sale to any factor or commission merchant, it is hereby made his duty that such commission merchant will faithfully and truly perform all agreements and contracts entered into with consignors for said produce, cotton, sugar, goods, wares and merchandise; that said commission merchant will promptly receive and sell such produce, cotton, sugar, goods, wares or merchandise, in accord with the contract of consignment and will on receipt of such produce, cotton, sugar, goods, wares or merchandise class the same, and if such class as made by such commission merchant is not as high as that made and sent to him by the consignor, he, (the commission merchant) will immediately notify the consignor of such fact and of the class made by him and as soon as sold will send to the consignor a full and complete account of sales of same, giving an itemized account thereof, and the price received, the dates of sales, and shall, within five days after said produce, cotton, sugar, goods, wares or merchandise are sold, send to the consignor the full amount received for the same, less the commission due said commission merchant under the contract of consignment; and if cotton, sugar, or other produce sold by weight, the weight of same in gross, and the tare allowed, and be accompanied by the certificate or memorandum, signed by the weigher who weighed the same, of the weight and condition as required by law, and upon failure of said commission merchant to comply with any one of the provisions of this article, he and the bondsmen required by the subdivision shall be liable for all actual damages incurred by the consignor by reason thereof, and in addition thereto a penalty of not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars, to be recovered by the consignor in a suit filed for said actual damages and for said penalty.

Art. 1279. False Charges

No commission merchant or factor shall be permitted to make any charge for mending or patching, or roping bales, or for cooperage or repairing bales, or for labor, or hauling, or cartage, or for storage, marking or weighing, unless the same has been actually done; and, in case of any such charge, a bill of particulars shall be rendered notwithstanding any usage or custom to the contrary to make such charge, by rate or average; and the person offending against any provision of this article shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars, to be recovered by suit by the owner or consignor.

Art. 1280. Duties of Shipper

Each consignor of produce, goods, wares, or merchandise in this State consigning produce, goods, wares, or merchandise to commission merchants to be sold on commission shall, when he consigns such produce, goods, wares or merchandise, send to such commission merchant a written statement in which such consignor shall state the amount, the quality or class, the condition of such produce, goods, wares or merchandise so consigned, and if said merchant, on receipt of same, fails to promptly notify said consignor of any objection he may have to the class, quality or quantity so consigned, then such statement shall be prima facie evidence of the fact that said consignment of such produce, goods, wares or merchandise is truly stated in said statement by the consignor to said commission merchant. When such produce, goods, wares or merchandise is received by said commission merchant, such merchant shall give to the agent of the railroad or other carrier so delivering such produce, goods, wares or merchandise, a receipt for same which receipt shall state the quality, quantity, grade and condition of such produce, goods, wares or merchandise, and said agent of the railroad or other carrier shall keep such receipt on file in his office subject to the inspection of any one interested in such shipment, for six months from the date of such receipt.

Art. 1539. Legislature May Create Counties

The Legislature shall have power to create counties for the convenience of the people.

Art. 1540. Area Required

In the territory of the State exterior to the counties now existing, no new county shall be created with a less area than nine hundred square miles in a square form unless prevented by pre-existing boundary lines. If the State lines render this impracticable in border counties, the area may be less.

Art. 1541. Division of Exterior Territory

The territory referred to in the preceding article may at any time, in whole or in part, be divided into counties in advance of population, and attached for judicial and land surveying purposes to the most convenient organized county.

Art. 1542. Created Out of Other Counties

Within the territory of any county or counties now existing no new county shall be created with less area than seven hundred square miles. No such county now existing shall be reduced to a less area than seven hundred square miles.

Art. 1543. Line of New County

No new county shall be created so as to approach nearer than twelve miles of the county seat of any county from which it may, in whole or in part be taken.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1544. County from Existing County

Counties of less area than nine hundred, but of seven hundred or more square miles, within counties now existing, may be created by a two-thirds vote of each house of the legislature, taken by yeas and nays, and entered on the journals.

Art. 1545. Existing Counties Reduced

Any county now existing may be reduced to an area of not less than seven hundred square miles by a like two-thirds vote of each house of the legislature, taken by yeas and nays, and entered on the journals.

Art. 1546. Liability of New County

When any part of a county is stricken off and attached to, or created into another county, the part stricken off shall be obligated to pay its proportion of all existing liabilities of the county from which it was taken, in such manner as the law shall provide.

Art. 1547. Pro Rata of Indebtedness

Any county which has been or may hereafter be created by the Legislature out of any other county or counties, shall be held liable for its proportion of all the liabilities of the county or counties from which it was taken, existing at the date of its creation as such new county, according to the proportionate value of the property in the excised territory, and the value of the property remaining in the old county. A suit to recover the same may be brought in the district court by the parent county, either in such parent county, or in the newly created county; and the court shall have power to make any order or render any judgment necessary to carry out and satisfy its decree therein. The provisions of this article shall not apply to any county, the claims against which have already been placed before courts having jurisdiction thereof and tried or dismissed under laws that were at such time constitutional.

Art. 1548. Apportionment of Indebtedness

Where any suit has been, or shall be, brought to enforce payment of the indebtedness created by the parent county or counties, or for the pro rata share of the excised territory, the assessment rolls of the parent county or counties for the year in which such new county was created shall be conclusive evidence of the property and value thereof remaining in the parent county, and in the excised territory at the date of the creation of such new county; provided that when the new county was organized and made assessment rolls for the same year as that in which it was created, such rolls shall be taken as conclusive evidence of the property therein and the taxable values thereof at the date of the creation of such new county, and the assessment rolls of the parent county for the same year shall be conclusive evidence of the property and the value thereof remaining in the parent county at the date of the creation of such new county.

Art. 1549. Suits and Special Tax

All suits brought under this law shall be given precedence upon the dockets of the courts. If the plaintiff shall recover, the commissioners court of the newly created county shall levy a special tax on all property in the territory taken from the plaintiff county sufficient to pay off the judgment, and, if the first levy be insufficient, to make said levy annually till said judgment is satisfied, and the judgment of the court shall order said commissioners court to make such levies.

Art. 1550. Non-residents to Pay

The Comptroller shall assess and collect from the non-residents of unorganized counties such rate of taxation, to pay the pro-rata share of the debt due by such unorganized county, as the commissioners court of the parent county shall levy on property in said parent county to pay such debt, and a certified statement of the commissioners court making the levy in the parent county, giving the amount of the levy, shall be authority for his action.

Art. 1551. When Territory Added

When the territory taken is added to and made a part of an organized county, the commissioners court of such county shall levy and have collected on all property in such territory a tax sufficient to pay their pro-rata of the indebtedness, said tax not to exceed the constitutional limit; and the commissioners court of the county to which any unorganized county may be attached for judicial purposes shall levy and have collected on all property in such unorganized county owned or held by resident citizens a tax for the purpose of paying such indebtedness.

Art. 1552. Tax for Pro Rata Indebtedness

When any county has organized, the commissioners court of such county shall levy and have collected on all property in this county such rate of taxation to pay the pro rata share of the debt due by such county as the commissioners court of the parent county shall levy on property in said parent county to pay such debt.

Art. 1553. County Bonds Held by School Funds

When any new county has been created wholly out of an existing county, if any bonds were legally issued by the parent county prior to the severance of a part of its territory, such of said bonds and the coupons due thereon as are held by the school fund of this State shall be apportioned by the Comptroller between the parent county and the new county on the basis now provided by law.

Art. 1554. Levy of Tax for Debt

The commissioners court of the parent county, or of any county created out of the parent county, which has now or may hereafter be organized, shall levy and have collected on all property in such county a tax to pay such county's pro rata share of the debt. The commissioners court of a county to which any unorganized county may be attached for judicial purposes shall levy and have collected on all property in said unorganized county owned by resident citizens thereof a tax for the purpose of paying said county's part of the debt. It shall be the duty of the Comptroller to assess and collect on all property in such unorganized counties owned by non-residents, a tax to pay said counties' pro rata part of said debt. Nothing herein shall be held to authorize the levy and collection of any tax in excess of that now allowed by the Constitution of this State.

Art. 1555. Detachment by Vote

No part of any existing county shall be detached from it and attached to another existing county until the proposition for such change has been submitted to a vote of the electors of both counties, and shall have received a majority of those voting on the question in each.

Art. 1556. Election Ordered

An election for such purpose shall be ordered by the county judge, or county judges of the county or counties from which it is proposed to detach any proportion¹ thereof, or to attach any portion thereto, upon the written application of not less than fifty qualified voters of said county or counties.

¹ So in enrolled bill. Should probably read "portion".

Art. 1557. Application

Such application shall designate particularly by metes and bounds, the portion of the territory proposed to be detached, and shall show the number of square acres contained within said bounds, and the number of square acres remaining in the county or counties from which it is proposed to detach such part or parts, and the distance on a direct line of the county seat of any such county or counties from the nearest boundary line of the territory which it is proposed shall be detached.

Art. 1558. Notices of Election

The notices of such election shall contain substantially the boundaries and statements contained in the application, and in order of election.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1559. Question to be Voted Upon

The question to be voted upon at such election shall be, for or against the proposition, and the ballots shall be, "For the proposition," or "Against the proposition."

Art. 1560. Law Governing Such Elections

Such election shall be governed by the law governing other elections so far as applicable, and not in conflict with any provisions of this chapter.

Art. 1561. Returns of Election

The returns of such election shall be made to the county judge or county judges of the county or counties in which the election takes place; and such judge or judges shall estimate the vote and make duplicate statements of the same, and shall officially certify to such statements, and one of said statements, together with a copy of the application so certified, he shall seal in an envelope, writing his name across the seal, and endorsing upon the package "Election returns of _____ County," and direct and transmit the same by mail or other safe conveyance to the Speaker of the House of Representatives at the seat of government, in time for the same to be received as early as practicable during the next session of the Legislature.

Art. 1562. Subsequent Election

When any such election has been held in a county, and the proposition to detach a portion thereof has been defeated, no other election for the same purpose shall be ordered or held within five years thereafter.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

CHAPTER TWO. ORGANIZATION OF COUNTIES

Art.

- 1563. Old County Shall Organize New One.
- 1564. Election to be Ordered When and by Whom.
- 1565. County Commissioners May Act.
- 1566. Unorganized County.
- 1566a. Appraisers of Taxable Property in Unorganized Counties.
- 1567. Disorganized Counties.
- 1568. Organization of Attached County.
- 1569. Certificates of Election.
- 1570. Delivery to New Officers.
- 1571. Elections in Unorganized Counties.

Art. 1563. Old County Shall Organize New One

Whenever any new county shall hereafter be established, the commissioners court of the county from which the territory of such new county, or the greater part thereof was taken, at least one month previous to the general election next after such new county shall have been established shall lay off and divide such new county into convenient precincts for the election of justices of the peace and other precinct officers, defining particularly the boundaries of such precincts; and shall also designate convenient places in such new county where elections shall be held, and shall cause a record thereof to be made by the clerk. A copy thereof shall be transmitted to the county judge of such new county when elected.

Art. 1564. Election to be Ordered When and by Whom

It shall be the duty of the county judge of every county from which any new county has been so taken at least one month previous to the general election of county officers next after such new county has been established, to order an election to be held in such new county or¹ said general election day, for all county officers authorized to be elected by the people of such new county, and to appoint a presiding officer for each place designated in such new county, for holding elections; such order of elections shall specify the number of precincts, their boundaries, and the officers to be elected in such county. Such presiding officers shall hold such elections in accordance with the laws regulating elections, and shall make their returns to the county judge who ordered such election, who shall open and examine such returns and give certificates to the persons elected.

Art. 1565. County Commissioners May Act

In any case where the office of county judge shall be vacant, any two of the county commissioners shall be authorized to perform each duty required of the county judge under this chapter.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1566. Unorganized County

Until a new county is legally organized, the territory thereof shall remain in all respects subject to the county from which the same has been taken.

Art. 1566a. Appraisers of Taxable Property in Unorganized Counties

Sec. 1. The sum of Two Thousand ($2,000.00) Dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, be, and the same is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the State Treasury, not otherwise appropriated, to each of the counties in this State to which an unorganized county is attached for judicial purposes, to be used by said county through its Commissioners' Court for the employment of a skilled appraiser, with the consent and approval of the Comptroller of Public Accounts of the State of Texas, to assist in the appraisal of taxable property situated in any such unorganized county, of which fund herein provided for, not exceeding One Thousand ($1,000.00) Dollars, shall be available for each calendar year, for each such county, for the years 1927 and 1928.

Sec. 2. After said appraiser has completed his work of the appraisal of the properties in the unorganized county, he shall make a report in duplicate to the Commissioners' Court of the county to which such unorganized county is attached for judicial purposes, stating therein in detail the values placed upon all classes of property by him in said unorganized county.

Sec. 3. After the Commissioners' Court has finally passed on the values fixed by said appraiser in his report, they shall certify their action to the Comptroller of Public Accounts, furnishing him with a duplicate of the report filed by the appraiser, and showing the action of the court had thereon, together with a certificate showing the extent of the services performed by the appraiser, and the value thereof, which shall be authority for the Comptroller to draw his warrant in favor of said appraiser for the amount shown to be due.

Art. 1567. Disorganized Counties

All legally organized counties that, from any cause, may have lost, or may hereafter lose, their county organization, shall be, for all judicial and surveying purposes, and for the registration of deeds, mortgages and all other instruments that are now, or may hereafter be, required or permitted by law to be recorded attached to the organized county whose county seat is nearest to the county seat of such disorganized county, and so remain attached until such disorganized county shall again be legally organized.

Art. 1568. Organization of Attached County

When any unorganized or disorganized county has been attached to another county for judicial or other purposes, and desires to be organized or reorganized, a petition expressing such desire, signed by not less than seventy-five qualified voters residing in such county, may be presented to the commissioners court of the county to which such unorganized or disorganized county is attached, and thereupon said court shall proceed without delay to the organization or reorganization of such county in the same manner as hereinbefore provided for the organization of new counties.

Art. 1569. Certificates of Election

The county judge of the county conducting the organization of another county shall issue certificates of election to the officers elected in such organized or reorganized county, and approve the bonds of such officers.

Art. 1570. Delivery to New Officers

All officers of the county from which a new county has been created or to which any such newly organized or reorganized county has been attached, and all other persons who may have in their possession any books, records, maps, or other property belonging to such newly organized or reorganized county, shall deliver the same to the proper officers of such newly organized or reorganized county within five days after such officers have been legally qualified.

Art. 1571. Elections in Unorganized Counties

Where a county is not organized and there is no officer in the same authorized by law to organize such county, the county judge of the nearest county which is organized may order elections for county officers in any such county, and appoint the presiding officers and managers and clerks of election.

 1581h. Unclaimed Funds in Custody of County or Precinct Officer.

Art. 1572. County a Body Corporate

Each county which now exists or which may be hereafter established, shall be a body corporate and politic.

Art. 1573. Suits Against

No county shall be sued unless the claim upon which such suit is founded shall have first been presented to the commissioners court for allowance, and such court shall have neglected or refused to audit and allow the same, or any part thereof.

Art. 1574. Jurors

In any suit instituted by or against any county, the inhabitants of the county so suing or being sued may if otherwise competent, be jurors or witnesses.

Art. 1575. Execution Against County

No execution shall be issued on any judgment against any county. When a judgment is rendered against a county the commissioners court of such county shall settle and pay such judgment in like manner and pro rata as other similar claims are settled and paid by said court.

Art. 1576. Validity of Deed, etc.

All deeds, grants and conveyances heretofore or hereafter made and duly acknowledged, or proven, and recorded as other deeds of conveyance, to any county, or to the courts or commissioners of any county, or any other person or persons, by whatever form of conveyance, for the use and benefit of any county, shall be good and valid to vest in such county in fee simple or otherwise all such right, title, interest and estate as the grantor in any such instrument had at the time of the execution thereof in the lands conveyed and was intended thereby to be conveyed.

1577. Sale or Lease of Real Estate

The Commissioners Court may, by an order to be entered on its minutes, appoint a Commissioner to sell or lease any real estate of the county at public auction, and notice of said public auction shall be advertised at least twenty (20) days before the day of sale, by the officer, by having the notice thereof published in the English language once a week for three (3) consecutive weeks preceding such sale or lease in a newspaper in the county in which the real estate is located and in the county which owns the real estate, if they are not the same. If the real estate is sold, the deed of such Commissioner made in conformity to such order for and in behalf of the county, duly acknowledged and proven and recorded, shall be sufficient to convey to the purchasers all the right, title, and interest and estate which the county may have in and to the premises to be conveyed. Provided, however, that where abandoned seawall or highway right-of-way property is no longer needed for seawall or highway purposes and the county decides to sell or lease said right-of-way property, it shall be sold or leased with the following priorities: (1) to abutting or adjoining landowners; (2) to the original grantor, his heirs or assigns of the original tract from whence said right-of-way was conveyed; (3) for public use only to the United States Government, or to the State of Texas, or to any city within the established limits of which said property is located; or (4) at public auction as provided above; unless in the deed of conveyance under which the county originally acquired title to the property, the sale or lease thereof to the public is restricted or prohibited; provided, however, that where the Commissioners Court determines that the said abandoned seawall or highway right-of-way property shall be sold or leased to an adjoining or abutting landowner, or to the original grantor, his heirs or assigns, then the said Commissioners Court shall in addition to publication of notice of sale as provided above, appoint an appraiser who shall determine and report to the Commissioner of Sale the fair market and fair lease value of the property to be sold or leased, and the Commissioner shall not sell or lease said property for an amount less than that so determined, which said amount shall be reported to the Commissioners Court prior to sale and shall, if deemed reasonable, be approved by them prior to sale, the Commissioners Court being specifically authorized to reject any offers of purchase or sale or lease, whether at public auction or not, if deemed unreasonable, all costs of said sale, including the fee for appraisal, to be added to the price of sale and paid by the purchaser at such sale; provided further, whenever any real property, or interest therein, is owned by any county and is sold, leased, or exchanged hereunder and is being used by a public utility or common carrier having the right of eminent domain for right-of-way and easement purposes, the sale, lease, exchange, conveyance and surrender of possession herein provided for shall be and remain in all things subject to the right and continued use of such public utility or common carrier. The Commissioners Court may also provide for conveyance of any such real estate of the county subject to such restrictions, conditions, and limitations as the Commissioners Court may deem necessary or proper; however, every such conveyance of seawall right-of-way property shall contain a restriction that no structure may be placed within 50 feet or such greater distance as the Commissioners Court may provide of the landward boundary of the seawall right-of-way retained by the county. In the order and in the notice of public auction, the Commissioners Court shall give a substantial statement of any such restrictions, conditions, and limitations. Nothing contained in this Article shall authorize any Commissioners Court to dispose of any lands given, donated, or granted to such county for the purpose of education in any other manner than shall be directed by law.

Art. 1577a. Validation of Sales When Commissioner Not Appointed

In all cases wherein the Commissioners Court of any county, acting as such court or through some individual or individuals appointed by it for such purpose, has sold, or attempted to sell, any land, or interests in land, belonging to such county; and where such Commissioners Court shall have failed to appoint a Commissioner to sell and dispose of such real estate belonging to said county, at public auction; and where such Commissioners Court gave notice of its intention to sell such lands, describing the same, by publication of such notice in some newspaper published in the county, having a general circulation therein, once a week for a period of three (3) consecutive weeks, designating the time and place after such publication where such Commissioners Court would receive and consider bids for the same; and where, on the date specified in such notice, such Commissioners Court received and considered any and all bids submitted for the purchase of said lands, or any portion thereof which were advertised for sale; and where such Commissioners Court, in its discretion, awarded such land, or any part thereof to the highest bidder submitting a bid therefor; and where the consideration thus bid and accepted was received by such county; and where such Commissioners Court or some person or persons thereunto authorized by order of such Commissioners Court, made, executed, acknowledged and delivered to such successful bidder a deed or other instrument of conveyance purporting to convey to such purchaser the said property; and where more than three years have elapsed since the date of the execution and delivery of such deed or instrument of conveyance: that such sales and conveyances, or attempted sales and conveyances, are hereby in all things validated. Provided that nothing in this Act shall be construed as validating any sale or attempted sale of any lands given, donated or granted to such county for the purpose of education, made in any other manner than is directed by law; and provided further, that this Act shall not apply to any sale or conveyance the validity of which is involved in any litigation pending at the time this Act becomes effective.

Art. 1577b. Validation of Sales and Conveyances; Purchasers in Adverse Possession

In all cases where the County Court or Commissioners Court in any county of this State acting as such court has sold or attempted to sell land or interest therein belonging to said County to any person, firm or corporation and where the County Court or Commissioners Court has made, executed, acknowledged, and delivered to any such person, firm or corporation an instrument of conveyance purporting to convey to a purchaser title to such property, and where such purchaser or his successors have held peaceable and adverse possession, using, enjoying and cultivating such property for a period of ten (10) years or more, then such sales, attempted sales and conveyances are hereby validated.

Art. 1577c. Validation of Sales or Conveyances of Abandoned Right-of-Way Property

Sec. 1. In all cases where the Commissioners Court in any county of this State has sold or conveyed or attempted to sell or convey, in accordance with the provisions of and priorities established in Article 1577, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as last amended by Chapter 133, page 447, Acts of the 53rd Legislature, Regular Session, 1953, the right, title and interest of any such county in and to abandoned right-of-way property no longer needed for highway or road purposes, such sales or conveyances and attempted sales and conveyances hereby are in all things validated and the right, title and interest in such abandoned right-of-way property conveyed by any such county hereby are confirmed in the grantee in such sale or conveyance.

Sec. 2. This Act shall not apply to any sale or conveyance or attempted sale or conveyance the validity of which is involved in litigation pending at the time this Act becomes effective.

Art. 1578. Contracts with a County Valid

Any note, bond, bill, contract, covenant, agreement or writing, made or to be made, whereby any person is or shall be bound to any county, or to the court or commissioners of any county, or to any other person or persons, in whatever form, for the payment of any debt or duty or the performance of any matter or thing to the use of any county, shall be valid and effectual to vest in said county any right, interest and action which would be vested in any person if any such contract had been made directly with him.

Art. 1578a. Contracts with United States for Improvements in Counties of 240,000 to 260,000

Sec. 1. Any county in this State is authorized and empowered, within the discretion of its governing body, to contract with the United States Government, or its agencies, for the joint construction or improvement of roads, bridges, or other county improvements, and for the maintenance of the same, and to pay the county's portion of such expense out of available county funds.

Sec. 2. The provisions of this Act shall apply only to counties having a population in excess of 240,000 inhabitants and less than 260,000 inhabitants, according to the latest preceding or any future federal census.

Art. 1579. Suits on Writings by County

Suits may be begun and prosecuted on such notes, bonds, bills, contracts, covenants, agreements, and writings, in the name of such county, or in the name of the person to whom they were made, for the use of the county, as fully and as effectually as any person may or can sue on like instruments made to him.

Art. 1580. Agents to Contract for County

The commissioners court may appoint an agent or agents to make any contract on behalf of the county for the erection or repairing of any county buildings, and to superintend their erection or repairing, or for any other purpose authorized by law. The contract or acts of such agent or agents, duly executed and done, for and on behalf of the county, and within his or their powers, shall be valid and effectual to bind such county to all intents and purposes.

"Section 1. (a) In all counties of this state having a population of seventy-four thousand (74,000) or more inhabitants according to the last preceding Federal Census, a majority of a Board composed of the judges of the District Courts and the County Judge of such county, may appoint a suitable person who shall act as the county purchasing agent for such county, who shall hold office, unless removed by said judges, for a period of two (2) years, or until his successor is appointed and qualified, who shall execute a bond in the sum of Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000), payable to said county, for the faithful performance of his duties.

"(b) It shall be the duty of such agent to make all purchases for such county of all supplies, materials and equipment required or used by such county or by a subdivision, officer, or employee thereof, excepting such purchases as may by law be required to be made by competitive bid, and to contract for all repairs to property used by such county, its subdivisions, officers, and employees, except such as by law are required to be contracted for by competitive bid. All purchases made by such agent shall be paid for by warrants drawn by the county auditor on the county treasurer of such county as in the manner now provided by law.

"(c) It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, other than such purchasing agent, to purchase any supplies, materials and equipment for, or to contract for any repairs to property used by, such county or subdivision, officer, or employee thereof, and no warrant shall be drawn by the county auditor or honored by the county treasurer of any such county for any purchases except by such agent and those made by competitive bid as now provided by law; provided that the county purchasing agent may lawfully cooperate with the purchasing agent for any incorporated city or cities in such county to purchase such items in volume as may be necessary, and the County Treasurer shall honor any warrant drawn by the county auditor to reimburse any city purchasing agent making such purchase for the county.

"(d) On the first day of July of each year, such purchasing agent shall file with the county auditor and each of said judges of such county an inventory of all property of the county and of each subdivision, officer, or employee thereof then on hand, and it shall be the duty of the county auditor to examine carefully such inventory and to make an accounting for all property purchased or previously inventoried and not appearing in such inventory.

"(e) In order to prevent unnecessary purchases, such agent shall have authority and it shall be his duty to transfer county supplies, materials and equipment from any subdivision, department, officer, or employee of the county when such supplies, materials, or equipment are not actually needed or used by such division, department, officer, or employee that may require such supplies and materials, or the use of such equipment and such agent shall furnish to the county auditor a list of such supplies, materials, and equipment so transferred.

"(f) Such agent shall receive as compensation for his services a salary of not less than Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) per year, payable in equal monthly installments. The salary of the county purchasing agent shall be paid out of the General Fund and/or the Road and Bridge Fund of such county by warrants drawn on the county treasurer and shall be set by the Board as designated in Section 1(a) of this Act.

"(g) Said agent may have assistants to aid in the performance of his duties as county purchasing agent.

"(h) Said agent and said assistants may have such help, equipment, supplies and traveling expenses with the approval of said Board of judges, as they may deem advisable, the amount of said expenses to be approved by said Board."

Art. 1581. Costs in Suit Against County

When the plaintiff in any suit against a county shall fail to recover a greater amount than the commissioners court of such county shall have allowed to such plaintiff on the presentation of his claim to such court, such plaintiff shall pay all costs of such suit.

Art. 1581a. Ineffective

This article, derived from Acts 1933, 43rd Leg., p. 784, ch. 232, which related to adoption of county home rule charters and which was adopted in anticipation of the amendment to Const. art. IX, section 3 (adopted Aug. 26, 1933) providing for County Home Rule, was made ineffective by Acts 1933, 43rd Leg., 1st C.S. p. 249, ch. 91, § 21, set out as article 1606a § 21, which provides that this article shall not have effect after the instant at which this Act (article 1606a) may be in effect, but all procedures taken thereunder (relating to the formulation, circulation, presentation and prosecution of petitions, including all orders and notices of commissioners courts relative to such petition conventions held or other acts done) hereby are validated, to the same effect as though the same has been done hereunder.

Art. 1581b. Additional Law Enforcement Officers

Sec. 1. In all counties in this state having five thousand (5,000) or more cattle, sheep and goats rendered for taxation, such counties may employ certain additional law enforcement officers as hereinafter provided.

Sec. 2. To aid in the enforcement of all penal laws of this state, and ferreting out and detecting any violation thereof, the Commissioners Court of counties having five thousand (5,000) or more cattle, sheep, and goats rendered for taxation may, if they deem it necessary, and are hereby authorized to, employ in addition to the officers now provided for by law as many other competent and discreet persons as in the judgment of said court is necessary, and shall fix the compensation; provided, however, no such person, or persons, shall be paid in excess of Five ($5.00) Dollars per day, while in actual service. Such court shall designate the duties to be performed by all such persons and shall require them to make monthly reports in writing to said court as to the manner in which they have performed such duties.

Sec. 3. If the Commissioners Court of several counties shall determine that it would be more economical and efficient to employ one or more men to serve the several counties, they may do so; provided, however, that the individual or individuals employed shall receive the compensation set out in Section 2 of this Act and that the salary and expenses of such officer or officers shall be pro-rated among the counties.

Art. 1581b-1. Personal Injury Claims by Precinct and County Law Enforcement Officials; Subrogation by County

A county which has paid medical expenses, doctor bills, hospital bills, or salary for a sheriff, deputy sheriff, constable, deputy constable or other county or precinct law enforcement official under the provisions of Article III, Section 52e, Constitution of the State of Texas, shall be subrogated to the law enforcement official's right of recovery for personal injuries occasioned by the negligence or wrong of another to the extent of the amount of payments made by the county under Article III, Section 52e, Constitution of the State of Texas. The fact that the law enforcement official has a claim for damages for personal injuries is not a ground for the county to deny the payment of medical expenses, doctor bills, and hospital bills.

Art. 1581c. Relinquishing to Donors Lands Donated to County for County Purposes

Sec. 1. Commissioners Courts of the respective counties in this State are authorized and empowered to abandon and relinquish to the donors of such lands and their successors in the title, all lands donated to their county for county seats, courthouses and other county purposes, in all cases where such land has been abandoned and not used for more than forty (40) years for the purpose of such donation, at the date of the order of such Court abandoning and relinquishing the same, provided, however, that the provisions of this Act shall not apply unless it is shown that such donors and their successors in title have been in actual continuous, open, peaceful and adverse possession of such lands for a period of forty (40) years next preceding the order of such court abandoning, relinquishing or conveying of such realty by the Commissioners Court.

Sec. 2. All orders and judgments of the respective Commissioners Courts in this State abandoning or conveying or relinquishing lands which had been conveyed to their respective counties for county seat, courthouse or other county purpose, heretofore made, in cases where such land has not been used for the purpose of its donation for more than forty (40) years are hereby validated.

Sec. 3. Commissioners Courts of the respective counties in this State are authorized and empowered to reconvey and relinquish to the donors of such land, or to their successors in the title, all lands which were donated and conveyed to any such counties for county seat, county court, or other county purposes, which lands have been or may be abandoned and unused for such county purpose for a period of more than forty (40) years, as for failure of consideration of such grant to any such county. [Acts 1947, 50th Leg., p. 378, ch. 212.]

Art. 1581d. Airports; Counties of 6141 to 6150 Inhabitants

Sec. 1. All counties in this State having a population of not less than six thousand one hundred forty-one (6,141) and not more than six thousand one hundred fifty (6,150) inhabitants according to the last preceding Federal Census, and having an assessed valuation of not less than Twenty-one Million ($21,000,000.00) Dollars according to the last approved tax rolls, are hereby authorized to acquire by purchase or otherwise an airport not to exceed six hundred forty (640) acres in area to be located not more than five (5) miles from the heaviest populated area in the county.

Sec. 2. Each county acquiring land to be used for an airport under the provisions of this Act may acquire such land to be used for airport purposes without the acquisition of any or all mineral interest thereunder.

Sec. 3. No airport acquired under this Act shall be located on any land which is owned by the State of Texas or in which the State of Texas has any interest, mineral or otherwise.

Sec. 4. If any provision of this Act shall be held invalid, such invalidity shall not affect the remaining provisions; and the Legislature hereby declares that it would have enacted such remaining portion despite such invalidity.

Art. 1581d-1. Airstrips; Counties of 24,600 to 24,700

Sec. 1. This Act shall apply in any county having a population of not less than twenty-four thousand, six hundred (24,600) nor more than twenty-four thousand, seven hundred (24,700), according to the last preceding federal census.

Sec. 2. As used in this Act, the term "airstrip" means any area of land or water used, or intended for use, for the landing and take-off of aircraft, and any appurtenant area used, or intended for use, for airport buildings, or other airport facilities, or rights-of-way.

Sec. 3. The Commissioners Court, in any county to which this Act applies, may authorize the use of equipment, machinery, and employees of the county to construct, establish, and maintain any public airstrip in such county. The cost of the use of equipment, machinery, and employees of the county as herein authorized shall be financed out of appropriate county funds.

Art. 1581e. Flood Control, Powers Respecting

Sec. 1. All counties in this State shall have the right of eminent domain to condemn and acquire real property and easements and right-of-ways over and through all public and private lands for the making and digging of canals, drains, levees and improvements in the county for flood control purposes and for drainage as related to flood control, and for providing necessary outlets for waters in such counties. No appeal from the finding and assessment of damages by the Special Commissioners appointed for that purpose shall suspend the work for which the land, right-of-way, easement, or other property is acquired. Where, in the judgment of the Commissioners Court, the acquisition of the fee in the land is necessary, condemnation of the fee title may be had; provided, however, that the counties shall not have authority to condemn the fee of, as distinguished from an easement or right-of-way over, across or upon, any property lawfully used or occupied by any public utility, railroad, canal, levee or other person, concern, corporation or body politic devoting its property to a public use.

Sec. 2. The proceedings with respect to condemning lands or interests therein, or other property, for the uses above specified shall be controlled by the statutes regulating such proceedings by counties in other cases, as provided in Article 3264, Revised Statutes of Texas, 1925, et seq.

Sec. 3. The Commissioners Court of any county in this State may contract and agree with any other county, political subdivision, governmental unit, or municipal corporation for the joint acquisition of right-of-ways, or joint construction or maintenance of canals, drains, levees and other improvements for flood control, and drainage as related to flood control, and for making necessary outlets, and maintaining them. Such contracts shall contain such terms, provisions and details as the governing bodies of the respective political subdivisions shall determine to be necessary under all of the facts and circumstances, and may provide that such works may be maintained jointly, or by either one (1) of such political subdivisions, under its exclusive direction and control, with such contributions toward the expense of such maintenance as the other county or political subdivision may agree to make.

Sec. 3a. Where, in the opinion of the Court, it becomes necessary to condemn an easement, as against persons who also have the power of eminent domain, all expenses involved in the acquisition, construction, and maintenance of the flood control or drainage project shall be the obligation of the county, flood control district or drainage district, as the case may be.

Art. 1581e-1. Flood Insurance; Participation in Federal Program by Gulf Coast Counties; Control of Flood Damage

Sec. 1. The State of Texas recognizes the personal hardships and economic distress caused by flood disasters since it has become uneconomical for the private insurance industry alone to make flood insurance available to those in need of such protection on reasonable terms and conditions. Recognizing the burden on the nation's resources, Congress enacted the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968,¹ whereby flood insurance can be made available through coordinated efforts of the Federal Government and the private insurance industry, by pooling risks, and through the positive cooperation of state and local government. The purpose of this Act is to evidence a positive interest in securing flood insurance coverage under this Federal program, and to so procure for those citizens of Texas desiring to participate; and to promote the public interest by providing appropriate protection against the perils of flood losses and encouraging sound land use by minimizing exposure of property to flood losses.

Sec. 2. Any county bordering on the Gulf of Mexico or the tidewater limits thereof may determine and describe the boundaries of flood, or rising water prone, areas. The suitability of such determination shall be conclusively established when the commissioners court of such county shall have made a finding in a resolution passed by it that an area or areas located within the boundaries of such county are flood, or rising water prone, areas.

Sec. 3. For the purposes of this Act, the phrase, "flood, or rising water prone, area" shall mean an area that is subject to or exposed to flooding by the Gulf of Mexico or its tidal waters, including lakes, bays, inlets, and lagoons, which results in damage to land or property.

Sec. 4. The commissioners court of any such county shall have the power and authority to enact and enforce regulations which regulate, restrict, or control the management and use of land, structures, and other development in flood, or rising water prone, areas in such a manner as to reduce the danger of damage caused by flood losses. This power and authority may include, but shall not be limited to, requirements for flood-proofing of structures which are permitted to remain in, or be constructed in, flood or rising water prone, areas; regulations concerning minimum elevation of any structure permitted to be erected in, or improved in, such areas; specifications for drainage; and any other action which is feasible to minimize flooding and rising water damage.

Art. 1581f. Payment for Relocation of Water Lines Owned by Water Control and Improvement Districts

The counties of the State of Texas are hereby authorized to pay for the relocation of water lines owned by water control and improvement districts when such relocation is necessary to complete the construction or improvement of Farm-to-Market Roads as defined by Subsection 4-b of Article XX of

Chapter 184, Acts of the Forty-seventh Legislature, Regular Session, 1941, as amended,¹ provided the water control and improvement district which owns the water lines to be relocated agrees to repay the county for the cost of relocating the water lines within twenty (20) years with interest thereon at a rate equal to that paid by the county on their Road and Bridge Fund time warrants.

Art. 1581g-1. County Industrial Commissions in Certain Counties

The county judge of any county having a population of not less than 13,300 nor more than 13,350, or not less than 22,600 nor more than 23,000, or not less than 17,900 nor more than 18,100, or not less than 14,650 nor more than 14,800, according to the last preceding federal census, may appoint a County Industrial Commission to consist of at least seven residents of the county and who are currently serving or have served in the past on the Industrial Foundation Committee, Commissioners Court, City Council or school boards, who have exhibited interest in the industrial development of the county to serve for a term of two years. The county is hereby authorized to pay the necessary expenses of such commission. Such commission shall investigate, study, and undertake ways and means of promoting and encouraging the prosperous development of business, industry, and commerce within said county. Such Commission shall promote and encourage the location and development of new businesses and industries in such county as well as the maintenance and expansion of existing businesses. Such commission shall cooperate with, and utilize the services of, the Texas Industrial Commission. The data obtained shall be available to the commissioners court.

Art. 1581g-2. County Industrial Commissions

Establishment of Commission

Sec. 1. (a) The county judge of any county may appoint a County Industrial Commission.

(b) The commission shall consist of at least seven residents of the county who have exhibited interest in the industrial development of the county. Members serve for a term of two years.

Expenses

Sec. 2. The county may pay the necessary expenses of the commission.

Duties of Commission

Sec. 3. The County Industrial Commission shall investigate and undertake ways and means of promoting the prosperous development of business, industry, and commerce within the county. The commission shall promote the location and development of new businesses and industries in the county as well as the maintenance and expansion of existing businesses.

Cooperation with Texas Industrial Commission

Sec. 4. The commission shall cooperate with and utilize the services of the Texas Industrial Commission.

Art. 1581h. Unclaimed Funds in Custody of County or Precinct OfficerDefinition

Sec. 1. In this Act, "person" includes any private legal entity.

Funds Covered by Act

Sec. 2. (a) This Act applies to any funds in the custody or control of a county or precinct officer, including a court, that a person is entitled to receive on demand. That a court must enter an order directing that the funds be paid or that an officer must perform a ministerial act for them to be paid does not remove the funds from the coverage of this Act.

(b) This Act does not apply to a claim, the validity of which is unquestioned, if there is a controversy regarding the amount of funds a person is entitled to receive.

Notice

Sec. 3. (a) If a county or precinct officer has custody or control of funds covered by this Act, he has no knowledge of any controversy about who is entitled to receive the funds, and the person entitled to receive them does not claim them within one year after becoming entitled to them, the officer shall give the person a written notice stating:

- (1) that the officer holds funds belonging to the person;
- (2) the amount of the funds; and
- (3) that the funds will become subject to escheat to the county if the person does not claim them within the time prescribed by law.

(b) Except as provided by Subsection (d) of this section, the officer shall send the notice to the person at the person's last known address by certified mail, delivery restricted to addressee. If no address is available or if the letter is returned undelivered, the officer shall publish the notice in a newspaper of general circulation in the county once a week for at least two consecutive weeks.

(c) The cost of postage, if notice is given by mail, and the cost of newspaper publication, if notice by publication is required, shall be deducted from the funds to which the notice applies. If notice by publication is given for more than one item of funds in a single advertisement, an equal share of the cost of the advertisement shall be paid from each item of funds.

(d) If the cost that would be assessable for giving notice equals or exceeds the funds to which the notice applies, notice shall be given by posting it at the courthouse at or near the place where notices of meetings of public bodies are posted. The notice must remain posted for at least 14 consecutive days.

Petition for Escheat

Sec. 4. (a) If funds are not claimed within four years after notice is given, they are subject to escheat to the county served by the county or precinct officer having custody or control of the funds.

(b) When funds become subject to escheat to the county, the county attorney, or the criminal district attorney in a county without a county attorney, shall file a sworn petition in the district court stating the amount of the unclaimed funds, the name of the person entitled to receive them, and the facts or circumstances causing the funds to be subject to escheat. The petition shall request that the funds be escheated to the county and that a writ of possession for the funds be issued in behalf of the county.

Citation

Sec. 5. Citation is issued and served in the manner provided by law for civil suits generally.

Citation by Publication

Sec. 6. Citation in each case shall also be issued by publication, in the manner provided by law for other civil suits. The citation shall direct any person who may have a claim for the funds to appear and answer. The citation shall contain a brief statement of the contents of the petition.

Appearance by Claimants

Sec. 7. The defendant and any other person claiming an interest in the funds may appear and plead to the proceedings.

Default Judgment

Sec. 8. Judgment shall be rendered by default in behalf of the county if no person appears and pleads in the time prescribed by law.

Trial

Sec. 9. The court shall try all issues of fact and law raised by the pleadings in the manner applicable to civil suits generally.

Judgment for County

Sec. 10. If it appears from the facts found that the funds are subject to escheat, judgment shall be rendered that the county recover the funds, and, in the discretion of the court, recover the costs against the defendant. A writ of possession shall issue in the manner applicable to other judgments for the recovery of personal property. The writ of possession shall specify the exact amount of the unclaimed funds in the custody or control of the county or precinct officer.

Costs Against County

Sec. 11. Court costs may not be charged against the county unless the defendant obtains a favorable judgment. The costs incurred by the defendant may be charged against the county in the manner applicable to civil suits generally.

Appeal

Sec. 12. A party who has appeared in the proceedings, including the county attorney or criminal district attorney on behalf of the county, may appeal the judgment.

Disposition of Funds

Sec. 13. The funds recovered by the county under this Act shall be delivered to the county treasurer, who shall deposit them to the credit of the county general fund.

Section 6 of the 1981 amendatory act provided:

"If on the effective date of this Act a county or precinct officer holds funds covered by Chapter 321, Acts of the 66th Legislature, Regular Session, 1979 (Article 1581h, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), as amended by this Act, that have been in his custody or control for at least one year, he has no knowledge of any controversy about who is entitled to receive the funds, and the funds have not been claimed by the person entitled to receive them, the officer shall give the notice required by Section 3 of that law within 90 days after the effective date of this Act."

CHAPTER FOUR. COUNTY LINES

- Art.
1582. Survey Made.
1583. Marking Boundary.
1584. Natural Objects.
1585. Notice to Other Counties.
1586. Oath and Bond of Surveyors.
1587. Return and Record of Field Notes.
1588. Absence of Surveyor.
1589. Land Commissioner to Direct Survey.
1590. Division of Expense.
1591. Suit to Establish Boundary.
1592. Marking Line on Map.
1592a. Repealed.

Art. 1582. Survey Made

Whenever it appears to the satisfaction of the county court of any county, or notice shall be given such court by the Land Commissioner that the boundary or any part thereof, of the county is not sufficiently definite and well defined, such court shall appoint an experienced and competent practical surveyor, whose duty it shall be to ascertain by actual survey the boundary, or any part thereof, of said county, and to make and establish the lines and corners in the manner herein prescribed. The court, in the order making the appointment, shall specify the line or lines to be run, and the corners to be established and marked; and shall in all things conform to the law defining the boundaries of said county.

Art. 1583. Marking Boundary

The initial corners of the surveys herein provided for shall be designated by posts, mounds or stone monuments; the posts shall be of hewn cedar, cypress or bois d'arc, at least eight inches in diameter, five feet long, and set in the ground not less than three feet; the mounds shall be of stone when practicable, otherwise of earth, and not less than two feet high; at the end of each mile in said boundary a like post, mound or stone monument shall be established; the initial corners shall be described on the post or monument established there.

Art. 1584. Natural objects

In the field notes of the survey of the lines ordered to be run, the surveyor shall give accurate description of all prominent natural objects crossed by, or adjacent to said lines, as well as of the corners and lines of surveys on or near said boundaries.

Art. 1585. Notice to Other Counties

The court making such order shall cause a copy thereof to be sent to the county courts of the counties interested in such boundary, stating the time and place, which time shall not be later than twenty days after the meeting of the county court of the county notified, for the commencement of the survey; and such notice shall be given at least ten days before the meeting of said county court; and the court so notified shall appoint an experienced and competent practical surveyor to proceed at the time and place to assist in running and establishing such line.

Art. 1586. Oath and Bond of Surveyors

Such surveyors shall take the oath of office prescribed by law for county surveyors, and shall, before entering upon the duties herein prescribed, enter into bond in the sum of one thousand dollars, with two or more sureties to be approved by the county judge, payable to the county judge or his successors in office, conditioned for the faithful performance of his duty.

Art. 1587. Return and Record of Field Notes

When the line shall have been surveyed and marked as herein provided, it shall be the duty of the surveyor to make due return of the field notes and map to the county court; which field notes and map shall be recorded by the clerk, and a certified copy thereof returned to the general land office.

Art. 1588. Absence of Surveyor

If either of the surveyors appointed to run and mark such line shall fail to attend at the time and place appointed, the one in attendance shall proceed alone to perform the duties assigned and make his report to the county court of the county employing him, which being approved by such court, shall be recorded as evidence of the line in question. The line so surveyed and marked shall thereafter be regarded as the true boundary line between the counties.

Art. 1589. Land Commissioner to Direct Survey

If the surveyors above provided for fail to agree as to the true boundary line between their respective counties, the facts of such disagreement, with a full statement of the questions at issue between them, shall be by them reported to the Land Commissioner, who shall examine the disputed matter at once; and from such data as the maps and archives of his office furnish, shall designate to such surveyors the line to be run stating at what specific point they shall begin and to what specific point they shall run, adhering as nearly as possible to the line designated in the act creating such county line, which instructions shall be authority for said surveyors to run such line. The line so run as above directed shall thereafter be the true dividing line between said counties.

Art. 1590. Division of Expense

The expense of surveying and marking such line shall be divided between the counties interested, in proportion to the frontage of each county upon the line, and paid for by each county as proportioned. The surveyors appointed as herein provided shall receive for their services three dollars per mile for each mile run. The expense of establishing the posts, mounds, or stone monuments shall be paid by the counties interested, and they shall be erected under the supervision and direction of the surveyor.

Art. 1591. Suit to Establish Boundary

Notwithstanding any preceding article of this chapter, any county in this State may bring suit against any adjoining county or counties, for the purpose of establishing the boundary line between them. Such suit shall be brought in the district court of the county in an adjoining judicial district whose boundaries are not affected by the suit, and whose county seat is nearest the county seat of the county suing. Said court shall try said cause as other causes, and shall have jurisdiction to determine where such boundary line is located, and, if necessary, shall order the same to be remarked and resurveyed. If, in the trial of any such cause, it is found that the boundary line between the counties involved has never been established and marked, or if marked has become indefinite and undefined, said court shall have power to re-establish the same and order it marked. Any boundary line so established by such judgment shall thereafter be regarded as the true boundary line between the counties in question; provided, that if it shall be found in any such cause that the boundary line in question has been heretofore established under the law then in force, the same shall be declared to be the true line, and shall be resurveyed and established as such.

Art. 1592. Marking Line on Map

It shall be unlawful for the Land Commissioner to mark, fix or place on any of the maps in said office any contested county line at any definite point thereon, until a certified copy of the final judgment of the court is filed in the General Land Office, together with a certified copy of the field notes of the line so established by such judgment.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1592a. Repealed by Acts 1977, 65th Leg., p. 2690, ch. 871, art. I, § 2(a)(4), eff. Sept. 1, 1977

Acts 1977, 65th Leg., ch. 871, repealing this article, enacts the Natural Resources Code.

 1605a-5. Auxiliary Courthouses and Facilities.

Art. 1593. Election for County Seats

In the organization of any county or counties now existing, or hereafter created by the Legislature, it shall be the duty of the county judge holding the election in such county for county officers thereof to order an election for the location of a county seat therein, which shall be conducted in the same manner as that regulating the election of the officers of such new county. The place receiving a majority of all the votes cast by the electors voting on the location of such county seat shall thereafter be the county seat of such county, subject to be removed as other county seats. When any county has been organized, and no county seat has been located, the county judge of such county shall order an election for the location of a county seat.

Art. 1594. Vote Necessary

No county seat first established in a newly organized county shall be located at any point more than five miles from the geographical center of any county in this State, unless by a two-thirds vote of all the electors voting on the subject in said county.

Art. 1595. Election for Removal of

No county seat situated within five miles of the geographical center of any county shall be removed except by a vote of two-thirds of all the electors in said county voting on the subject; nor shall any county seat be removed from a point more than five miles from the geographical center of any county to any other point more than five miles from such center, nor from a point within five miles of the geographical center to any other point within five miles of such center, except by a two-thirds vote of all the electors in said county voting on the subject. No person shall be allowed to vote except he be a bona fide citizen of the county in which he offers to vote. A majority of said electors, however, voting at such election may remove a county seat from a point more than five miles from the geographical center of the county to a point within five miles of such center; in either event the center to be determined by a certificate from the Land Commissioner.

Art. 1596. Proceedings for Removal of County Seat

When it becomes desirable to remove the county seat of any county, the county judge of said county, upon the written application of not less than one hundred freeholders and qualified voters, who are resident citizens of said county shall make a written order upon the minutes of said commissioners court for the holding of an election at various voting precincts in said county on a day therein named, which shall not be less than thirty nor more than sixty days from date of order, for the purpose of submitting the question to the electors of said county. When a county seat has been established for more than ten years, it shall require two hundred freeholders and qualified voters to make said application. In counties having less than three hundred and fifty legal voters, to be determined by the number of votes cast at the last preceding general election such application may be made by one hundred resident freeholders and qualified voters of said county. When a county seat has been established for more than forty years, it shall require a majority of the resident freeholders and qualified voters of said county to make the application, said majority to be ascertained by the county judge from the assessment rolls thereof. In counties having not more than 150 qualified voters, such application shall be held sufficient when it shall have been signed by a majority of the resident freeholders and qualified voters of said county, said majority to be ascertained by the county judge from the assessment rolls thereof. In the event of the failure, refusal or inability of the county judge to perform any duty imposed upon him by this article such duty may be performed by any two county commissioners of the county.

Art. 1597. Geographical Center

The Land Commissioner, upon being notified by the county judge that a proposition is submitted to the people of his county, or that it is desirable on the part of the people thereof, that the center of such county shall be designated, preliminary to the removal of any county seat, shall from the maps, surveys and other data on file in his office, designate the center of such county, and shall certify the same to such county judge, who shall cause the same to be spread upon the records of deeds of his county.

Art. 1598. Who May Vote and Form of Ballot

All persons who are qualified voters under the Constitution and laws of the State shall be entitled to vote at said election. On each ticket, the voter shall write or cause to be written or printed: "For removal to .(6)" (inserting the name of the place); or, should the voter be in favor of the county seat remaining where it is, he shall write or cause to be written or printed on his ticket: "For remaining at .(6)" (inserting the name of the place.)

Art. 1599. Election

The county judge or commissioners shall order said election in each voting precinct in said county, which shall be conducted as near as may be, as elections for county officers. The officers holding the elections shall make return thereof to the authority ordering said election within ten days after the same was held, who shall then proceed to open said returns and count the same, and declare the result, which shall be entered upon the records of said commissioners court, and shall also state the name of the place from which, and the name of the place to which, the same is removed. A certified copy of such entry shall thereupon be recorded in the proper record deeds of such county.

Art. 1600. County Seats Removed, When

When such entry has been made, the county seat, if the election be held to move the county seat from a point within five miles of the geographical center, to a point more or less than five miles from the geographical center, or from a point more than five miles from the geographical center, to any other point more than five miles from such center, shall be removed to the place receiving the votes of two-thirds of all the electors voting on the subject; and such place shall thereafter be the county seat of such county. If the election be held to move the county seat from a point more than five miles from the geographical center to a point within five miles of such center, then the county seat shall be moved to the place receiving a majority of all the electors in the county voting at such election, and such place shall thereafter be the county seat of such county.

Art. 1601. Subsequent Election

Whenever an election for the location or removal of a county seat has been voted on by the electors of any county, and the question settled, it shall not be lawful for a like application to be made for the same purpose within ten (10) years thereafter. Provided that an application may be made and an election held to remove the county seat from a location more than five (5) miles from a railroad operating as a common carrier, to a location on a railroad within two (2) years thereafter; and further provided that no county seat of any county in the State of Texas shall be moved from its present location until all bonds, warrants, and evidence of debt of every kind, character, and description issued by said county and incurred for the construction of existing courthouse or courthouses, shall have been paid in full provided that the provisions of this Act shall not apply to counties where the county seat is at the time of the passage of this Act located more than fifteen (15) miles air-line from a railroad.

Art. 1602. Courts Shall Hold at Seat

All terms of the district, county and commissioners court shall be held at the county seat.

Art. 1603. Buildings to be Provided

The county commissioners court of each county, as soon as practicable after the establishment of a county seat, or after its removal from one place to another, shall provide a court house and jail for the county, and offices for county officers at such county seat and keep the same in good repair.

Art. 1604. Place of Holding Court

Until the county seats of new counties are established, as required under this chapter, the courts of such new counties shall be held at such place as may be appointed by the commissioners court of such county.

Art. 1605. Location of Offices

(a) The County Judge, Sheriff, Clerks of the District and of the County Courts, County Treasurer, Assessor and Collector of Taxes, County Surveyor and County Attorney of the several counties of this State, shall keep their offices at the county seats of their respective counties; provided, however, that in all counties having a city or cities, other than the county seats, within their boundaries, having a population of five thousand (5,000) and over, and in counties of over three hundred fifty thousand (350,000), according to the last Federal Census, the Assessor and Collector of Taxes when authorized by order of the Commissioners Court may maintain a branch office in said city or cities, and may appoint one or more Deputies for said offices, and the salaries to be paid said Deputies together with the office rent and other expenses incidental to maintaining said offices shall be considered as a part of the necessary expenses of the Assessor and Collector of Taxes and shall be paid in the manner now provided by law for the payment of the expenses of the Assessor and Collector of Taxes; and provided further that in all counties having a population of more than seventy thousand (70,000), according to the last Federal Census, and containing one or more cities or towns, other than the county seat, which has in excess of one thousand (1,000) inhabitants, according to the last Federal Census, said Tax Assessor and Collector with the consent and approval of the Commissioners Court may maintain a branch office and may appoint a Deputy Tax Collector in each such town or city, who shall have the right to collect taxes from all persons who desire to pay their taxes to him, and to issue a valid receipt therefor. Such Deputy shall enter into such bond, payable to the County Judge of the County, as the Tax Assessor and Collector and Commissioners Court of the county may require. The period of time such branch offices shall be maintained, and the salary of such Deputy Collector and the period of time he shall hold such office shall be fixed by the Commissioners Court and such Deputy Collector shall be subject to all of the terms and provisions of the law relating to Deputy Tax Collectors. The Tax Collector shall remain liable on his bonds for all taxes collected by such Deputy, and nothing herein shall be construed as a limitation on the liability of the bonds of either the Tax Collector or such Deputy. Nothing contained herein shall be construed as making it mandatory upon the Assessor and Collector of Taxes and the Commissioners Courts of such counties to maintain such branch offices and appoint such Deputies, but the establishment of such branch offices and the appointment shall wholly be within the discretion of the Commissioners Courts of such counties. When such branch office or offices are established and a Deputy or Deputies are appointed hereunder, the salary or salaries to be paid and expense necessary to maintain said office or offices shall be considered as a part of the necessary expenses of the Assessor and Collector of Taxes, and shall be paid as now provided by law for the payment of the expenses of the Assessor and Collector of Taxes.

(b) If any branch office is established under this Article or under any other law permitting the establishing of subcourthouses, office buildings, or branch offices and if the Assessor and Collector of Taxes maintains at least one (1) full-time, permanent employee at the subcourthouse, office building, or branch office, boat certificates of number and boat and outboard motor certificates of title shall be issued or the applications for those certificates shall be accepted as provided by Subchapters B and B-1, Chapter 31, Parks and Wildlife Code, as amended,¹ at the subcourthouse, office building, or branch office.

Art. 1605a. Branch Office Buildings in Cities of 15,000 or More Outside County Seat

Sec. 1. The Commissioners Court of each county of this State shall have the power and the authority to provide, maintain, and repair an office building and/or jail in one or more cities, other than the county seat, having a population of Fifteen Thousand (15,000) or more, according to the last preceding federal census in the same manner as the Commissioners Court may now provide for and maintain a courthouse and jail at the county seat, and upon the acquisition or construction of such office building, the Commissioners Court may authorize, in the same manner as authorized by Article 1605, the maintaining of branch offices in each of said cities, except the District Clerk, County and District Judges, County Clerk, and County Treasurer, provided that all officers shall keep all original records at the county seat, and deputies may be provided as authorized in Article 1605. The Commissioners Court shall have the care and custody of such buildings and may place such limitations as it may see fit on the authorization and maintenance of branch offices.

Sec. 2. Said office building and/or jail may be provided for, maintained and repaired by the issuance of bonds as is provided by Chapters 1 and 2, Title 22, Revised Civil Statutes, 1925, and all amendments thereto,¹ or to provide, maintain, the repair the same through the issuance of evidences of indebtedness in the same manner as courthouses and jails at the county seats, and the taxes may be levied therefor in the same manner and subject to the same limitations as for courthouses and jails at the county seat; provided, however, that the cost of any such office building and/or jail shall not exceed more than two percent of the taxable values of the county for the last preceding year.

Sec. 3. All acts heretofore taken and proceedings heretofore adopted by the Commissioners Court in any county providing for the purchasing of a site and erecting and equipping an office building for county officers in any city other than the county seat of such county, all evidences of indebtedness heretofore authorized to finance the same, and all tax levies heretofore made in behalf of such evidences of indebtedness are in all things confirmed, approved and validated; provided, however, nothing in this Act shall validate any evidence of indebtedness the validity of which is in question in a court of competent jurisdiction on the effective date of this Act if the ultimate decision of the court is against the validity thereof.

Art. 1605a-1. Branch Office Buildings in Counties of Over 110,000 Having City of Over 10,000 Outside County Seat

Sec. 1. This Act shall apply only to those counties which may now or hereafter have a population in excess of 110,000, and which county, at the same time, contains one or more incorporated cities whose area is not contiguous to the county seat, which have a population in excess of 10,000.

Sec. 2. The Commissioners Court of any county to which this Act applies is hereby authorized to acquire land for and to purchase, construct, repair, equip and improve buildings and other permanent improvements to be used as a county branch office building; provided that such building may not be located at the county seat or in a city contiguous to the county seat, nor shall such building be constructed in any city having a population of less than 10,000.

Sec. 3. To pay the costs of acquiring land for and of purchasing, constructing, repairing, equipping and improving such buildings and other permanent improvements, the Commissioners Court of each county to which this Act applies is hereby authorized to issue negotiable bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the county and to levy and collect taxes in payment of either of such obligations out of the permanent improvement fund. The certificates or bonds shall be authorized by an order of the Commissioners Court, shall mature in not exceeding 40 years, shall bear interest at a rate not to exceed five per cent per annum which interest shall be evidenced by coupons attached to the bonds or certificates. They shall be signed by the County Judge, attested by the County Clerk and registered by the County Treasurer. The certificates or bonds authorized to be issued under the provisions of this Act, and the records relating to their issuance, shall be submitted to the Attorney General of Texas for examination, and if they have been issued in accordance with the constitution and laws of the State of Texas, he shall approve them, and thereupon they shall be registered by the Comptroller of Public Accounts; and after they have been approved and registered and delivered to the purchaser, they shall be incontestable. Such obligations shall be fully negotiable and are hereby declared to be negotiable instruments.

Sec. 4. Any bonds authorized under the provisions of this Act may be issued only upon compliance with Chapter I of Title 22, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended, governing the issuance of bonds by political subdivisions. Certificates of indebtedness authorized under the provisions of this Act may be issued only if a notice of intention to issue the certificates is given in the manner provided by Section 2 of Chapter 163, Acts of the 42nd Legislature, 1931 (Bond and Warrant Law of 1931),¹ and no petition is presented in the manner prescribed by Section 4 of that Act² or the result of the election called under said Section 4 permits the issuance of the certificates.

Sec. 5. It is the purpose and intent of this Act to permit the construction of a county branch office building in cities other than the county seat where the administration of the affairs of the county will not be impaired and where the acquisition of such office space can be located in a city whose population is sufficient to justify the establishment of such facilities. Nothing in this Act shall be construed as permitting a branch office to be established away from the county seat if other provisions of the laws in force and effect prohibit such establishment. The provisions of this Act shall be construed to accomplish this purpose and should any sentence, clause, paragraph or portion of this law be construed as in contravention of the constitution, its invalidity shall not affect the remainder of the provisions of the Act.

Art. 1605a-2. Office Buildings Outside County Seat in Counties of 25,000 to 25,050

Sec. 1. In all counties having a population of more than 25,000 but less than 25,050, according to the last preceding federal census, the Commissioners Court of each said county shall have the power and authority to construct, operate and maintain an office building and/or jail at a city other than the county seat in the same manner as such Commissioners Court may not provide for and maintain a court house and jail at the county seat. The Commissioners Court may authorize the maintenance of a branch office of the county tax assessor and collector, a jail, and a justice court in such buildings. However, all county officers shall keep all original records at the county seat. The Commissioners Court shall have the care and custody of such buildings and may place such limitations as it may see fit on the authorization and maintenance of such facilities. When authorized to maintain such branch office, the assessor and collector of taxes may appoint one or more deputies for said offices. The expenses incidental to maintaining said facilities shall be considered as a part of the necessary expenses of the county. Said deputy assessor-collectors shall have the right to collect taxes from all persons who desire to pay their taxes to them, and to issue a valid receipt therefor. Such deputy shall enter into such bond, payable to the County Judge of the county, as the tax assessor and collector and Commissioners Court of the county may require. The period of time such branch offices shall be maintained, and the salary of such deputy collector and the period of time he shall hold such office shall be fixed by the Commissioners Court and such deputy collector shall be subject to all of the terms and provisions of the law relating to deputy tax collectors. The tax collectors shall remain liable on his bonds for all taxes collected by such deputy, and nothing herein shall be construed as a limitation on the liability of the bonds of either the tax collector or such deputy. Nothing contained herein shall be construed as making it mandatory upon the assessor and collector of taxes and the Commissioners Courts of such counties to maintain such branch offices and appoint such deputies, but the establishment of such branch offices and the appointment shall wholly be within the discretion of the Commissioners Courts of such counties. When such branch office or offices are established and a deputy or deputies are appointed hereunder, the salary or salaries to be paid and expense necessary to maintain said office or offices shall be considered as a part of the necessary expenses of the assessor and collector of taxes, and shall be paid as now provided by law for the payment of the expenses of the assessor and collector of taxes.

Sec. 2. Said office building and/or jail may be provided for, maintained and repaired by the issuance of bonds as is provided by Chapters 1 and 2, Title 22, Revised Civil Statutes, 1925, as amended, or it may be provided for, maintained, and repaired through the issuance of evidences of indebtedness in the same manner as courthouses and jails at the county seats, and the taxes may be levied therefor in the same manner and subject to the same limitations as for courthouses and jails at the county seat.

Art. 1605a-3. Counties and Cities; Joint Construction, Ownership and Maintenance of Buildings; Contracts

Sec. 1. This Act shall be applicable in any county in which there is an incorporated city having a population of not less than two thousand (2,000) which is located more than 10 (ten) miles from the county seat, and shall apply to such city.

Sec. 2. Any county and city to which this Act is applicable are authorized jointly to own, construct, equip, enlarge and maintain a building in such city to be used for branch offices and library of the county, the justice of the peace, and for a city hall. The cost of construction thereof shall be paid from current income and funds on hand as provided in the budgets or tax levies of the county and the city.

Sec. 3. The county and the city shall specify by contract the amount or the proportionate part of money to be contributed by each for such construction and equipment; the account or accounts in which such money is to be deposited; the party which shall award construction and other contracts or that such contracts are to be awarded by action of both parties; and the manner in which disbursements from such account shall be authorized. Such contract may provide for the appointment of a committee or a board to operate and maintain the building, or that one of the parties shall perform that service; and may specify the portion of the operation and maintenance expenses to be contributed annually by the county and the city.

Sec. 4. Annual expenses for the operation and maintenance of the building shall be budgeted by the county and by the city.

Sec. 5. Title to the land upon which the building is to be constructed shall be placed jointly in the county and the city.

Art. 1605a-4. Branch Offices for Tax Assessors and Collectors in Counties of 38,200 to 39,000

Sec. 1. In any county which has a population of not less than 38,200 inhabitants but not more than 39,000 inhabitants according to the last preceding federal census, the Commissioners Court may provide for, operate, and maintain a branch office for the county tax assessor and collector for any length of time the commissioners consider necessary.

Sec. 2. (a) If the branch office is maintained in a building which is owned by the county, the commissioners court shall operate and maintain the building in the same manner in which it operates and maintains the county courthouse. The commissioners court shall have care and custody of the building and may place any limitations on the use and maintenance of the building which it finds necessary.

(b) If the commissioners court does not wish to construct a building or purchase office space for the branch office, the commissioners court may rent or lease a sufficient amount of office space for the branch office.

Sec. 3. (a) After the commissioners court has authorized the creation of a branch office, the county tax assessor and collector may appoint one or more deputies to work in the office. The commissioners court shall determine the length of time for which the deputies will serve and the salaries to be paid to the deputies.

(b) Each deputy shall execute a bond in any amount required by the commissioners court, payable to the county judge, conditioned on the faithful performance of their duties. The county tax assessor and collector is liable under his bonds for all taxes collected by any deputy under this Act, and this Act shall not be construed as a limit on the liability of the bonds of the county tax assessor and collector or his deputies.

(c) Any deputy appointed under this Act may collect taxes from any person who desires to pay his taxes and may issue a valid receipt for the taxes.

(d) Any deputy appointed under this Act is subject to the terms and provisions of the law relating to deputy tax collectors.

Sec. 4. Expenses incurred in providing office space, in operating and maintaining the branch office, and in paying the salaries of the deputies are considered part of the necessary expenses of the county tax assessor and collector and shall be paid in the same manner as other expenses of the county tax assessor and collector.

Sec. 5. Any actions taken by the commissioners court and the county tax assessor and collector and his deputies which relate to providing, operating, and maintaining a branch tax office before the effective date of this Act and any expenditures made by the county in connection with a branch tax office before the effective date of this Act are validated.

Art. 1605a-5. Auxiliary Courthouses and Facilities

Auxiliary Courthouses and Facilities

Sec. 1. (a) The commissioners court of a county may provide one or more of the following facilities in any part of the city, town, or village designated as the county seat, including a part of the municipality added to the municipality after it became the county seat, but not including a part of the municipality that is outside the county:

- (1) auxiliary courthouses;
- (2) jails;
- (3) parking garages;
- (4) district, county, and precinct administrative and judicial offices and courtrooms; or
- (5) any facility related to the administration of civil or criminal justice.

(b) The authority of the commissioners court to provide a facility under this Act includes the authority to acquire necessary sites and to purchase, construct, equip, or enlarge one or more facilities, as well as to repair and maintain the facilities provided.

(c) The commissioners court by order may designate a facility acquired or constructed under this Act as a courthouse of the county, but an auxiliary facility provided under this Act may not replace the courthouse at the county seat.

Holding of Court

Sec. 2. (a) Any district, county, or other court required by law to hold its terms at the county seat may hold its terms at a court facility provided under this Act, even though the facility is located in a part of the municipality designated as the county seat that was added to the municipality after it became the county seat.

(b) This section does not apply to the terms of the commissioners court.

Offices

Sec. 3. Any district, county, or precinct officer who is required by law to maintain an office at the county seat may maintain an office and keep official records at a facility provided under this Act, but the officer must continue to maintain an office at the county seat.

Auxiliary Courts within the County

Sec. 4. In addition to auxiliary courthouses and facilities within a municipality designated as the county seat, the commissioners court of a county may authorize specific geographic locations within the county and outside the limits of a municipality designated as the county seat as auxiliary courts for purposes of conducting nonjury proceedings and may designate those locations as auxiliary county seats for such purposes.

Previous Actions Validated

Sec. 5. If before the effective date of this Act the commissioners court of a county undertook to provide a facility covered by this Act or to acquire land for a facility covered by this Act, and the location of the proposed facility or the land was in a part of the city, town, or village designated as the county seat that was not a part of the municipality when it was designated as the county seat, all governmental acts and proceedings of the commissioners court relating to that undertaking, including any evidences of indebtedness authorized and any tax levies made for the evidences of indebtedness, are validated. This section does not apply to any matter that, on the effective date of this Act:

- (1) is involved in litigation, if the litigation ultimately results in the matter being held invalid by a final judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction; or
- (2) has been held invalid by a final judgment of a court of jurisdiction.

Effect on Other Laws

Sec. 6. (a) This Act does not limit authority of a commissioners court under any other law with regard to providing facilities of the type covered by this Act.

(b) To the extent this Act conflicts with Article 1602 or 1605, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended, or any other statute, this Act prevails.

CHAPTER SIX. COUNTY BOUNDARIES

Art. 1606. Boundaries as Established, Adopted, and Acts Creating Continued in Force

The county boundaries of the counties in this State as now recognized and established are adopted as the true boundaries of such counties, and the acts creating such counties and defining the boundaries are continued in force.

CHAPTER SEVEN. COUNTY HOME RULE

Art.

1606a. County Home Rule.

1606b. Bexar County; Manner of Determining Result.

Art. 1606a. County Home RulePurpose of Act

Sec. 1. The purpose of this Act is to provide an enabling Act under the recent Constitutional Amendment adopted and known as Section 3 of Article 9 of the Constitution of the State of Texas, hereinafter sometimes referred to as "the amendment," in order that the counties coming within the provision of such article may adopt, upon a vote of the qualified resident electors of such counties, a Home Rule Charter in accordance with the terms and provisions of such portion of the Constitution.

Precinct and County Conventions; Delegates to Select Charter Drafting Commission

Sec. 2. This Act shall apply to any qualified county of Texas, desiring to adopt a Home Rule Charter under the powers, and within the limitations, expressed by Section 3 of Article IX of the Constitution of Texas; and, the people of any qualified county who may desire to move for the adoption of a county charter, under such Constitutional provisions, shall proceed thereto by calling a convention in each voting precinct of the county for the purpose of choosing a delegate and an alternate delegate to a county wide convention; which convention shall be charged with the duty to select a Charter Drafting Commission to be composed of persons considered capable of drafting, or to give aid in drafting, a charter deemed to conform to the will and needs of the qualified resident electors of the county; and, to be subject to rejection or adoption by vote of the people of the county; all to be done in keeping with the provision of said amendment and under the procedural safeguards by this Act provided.

Qualifications of Petitioners and Electors; Notice

Sec. 3. All persons hereinafter referred to as the signers of petitions, as participating in precinct or county conventions and as voting in elections, to be held hereunder, shall be understood to mean resident qualified electors of the affected county. Where the publication of notice is required, unless otherwise provided as to a given case, such notice shall be given by publication in one or more newspapers, having general circulation in the county, at least one day in each of two (2) consecutive weeks, and to give not less than fourteen (14) days from the first day of such publication to the day of any proposed act to which such notice may relate, excluding the day of first publication and the day of the proposed act. The mailing of notice, as later in this Act may be required, unless otherwise provided as to a given case, shall be given by depositing in the United States Mail written notice properly stamped and appropriately addressed to the person or persons proper to have notice of a given matter, giving advice of the time and place at which any given proposed act is to be considered or done. Not less than two (2) nor more than ten (10) business days (to be exclusive of the day of the mailing of the notice and the day of a proposed act) may run between the mailing of such notice and any desired meeting for the performance of an act to be done hereunder, all as hereinafter will be required; provided, however, calls for meetings of the Charter Drafting Commission (hereinafter provided for) shall be as established by it, as being reasonable, fitting and necessary.

Form and Requisites of Petition; Qualifications of Petitioners; Number of Signatures Required

Sec. 4. Proponents of the adoption of a county charter hereunder, subject to the further provisions of this Section, may procure and present to the commissioners' court of the county (hereinafter designated as the "Court") one or more petitions, bearing the true date upon which the circulation thereof began, seeking the calling of precinct and county conventions (as hereinafter provided for), and identical petitions signed by different qualified persons shall be considered as one petition. Only persons who are resident qualified voters of the county, owning real estate subject to the county's tax, may validly sign the petitions hereby provided for. The minimum number of signatures required upon such petitions shall be determined upon the county population basis, as given in the Federal Census issued next prior to the date of a given petition, and to be as follows: Counties of five thousand (5,000) population or under, one hundred (100); counties of five thousand and one (5,001) to ten thousand (10,000), two hundred (200); counties of ten thousand and one (10,001) to twenty-five thousand (25,000), three hundred (300); counties of twenty-five thousand and one (25,001) to seventy-five thousand (75,000), four hundred (400); counties of seventy-five thousand and one (75,001) to one hundred fifty thousand (150,000), five hundred (500); counties of one hundred fifty thousand and one (150,001) or more, six hundred (600). Any form of petition which indicates the desire to proceed for adoption of a Home Rule Charter for the county (which hereinafter may be referred to as the "Charter"), under said Section 3 of Article IX of the Constitution shall be sufficient. Upon the delivery of such petition it shall be the duty of the clerk of said court to mark the day of filing thereon, and thereafter, as soon as may be done, to record the same in the minutes of the court as a part of the order which the court must enter in compliance with the petition.

Calling Precinct Charter Conventions; Designation of Time and Place for Precinct and County Conventions

Sec. 5. At the first meeting of the court after the filing of any such petition, or at any time not to exceed ten (10) days after the filing of such petition, it shall be the duty of the court to enter its order to execute said petition by calling a precinct charter convention (hereinafter provided for) in each voting precinct of the county, as defined and designated at the time any such petition may bear date, for the purpose of selecting one delegate and an alternate from each precinct to participate in a county convention (hereinafter provided for). The court's call shall fix the time for holding such precinct conventions, for a time not less than twenty (20) days nor more than thirty (30) days after the date of the calling order, and shall fix the time for the holding of the county convention for a time not less than ten (10) days nor more than twenty (20) days after the time set for holding precinct conventions.

The call shall designate for each precinct a place therein for the holding of its convention and shall specify the time for opening such conventions at ten (10) o'clock of the morning. Such call also shall specify a place in the county seat (preferably a designated room in the county courthouse) for the holding of the county convention, and shall designate an opening hour therefor not earlier than ten (10) o'clock of the morning and not later than two (2) o'clock of the afternoon.

Form of Notice Calling Precinct Charter Convention; Publication; Errors

Sec. 6. The form of the call provided for in Section 5 hereof shall be in form substantially as follows:

NOTICE

State of Texas, County of _____

To Each Resident Qualified Elector of This County:

Complying with a petition seeking the adoption of a County Home Rule Charter, filed with the county commissioners' court of this county on the _____ day of _____, 19____, we issue and publish this call for precinct conventions and a county convention to provide a commission to draft a proposed charter to be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this county. You respectively hereby are notified to be present at ten (10) o'clock in the morning on the _____ day of _____, 19____, at the place hereinafter designated for the county voting precinct in which you may reside, for the purpose of participating in a precinct convention for the election of one delegate and one alternate to represent your precinct in a county convention to be held in (name place, city or town and designate the place therein) and to convene at _____ o'clock _____ m., on the _____ day of _____, 19____.

In the precinct convention each qualified person present and participating (to exclude all persons who are not qualified voters residing in the precinct) shall be entitled to one vote each on each question presented, and all questions shall be determined by a majority of the votes cast. Organization shall be effected by choice of a temporary chairman and a temporary secretary, to be followed by selection of a permanent chairman and a permanent secretary. The procedure shall be under Robert's Rules of Order or other orderly procedure. All votes save those incident to organization shall be by written ballot. The convention by majority vote, will choose one delegate and one alternate to participate in the county convention, both of whom must reside in the county voting precinct to be represented by them. When the delegate and the alternate shall have been chosen, the chairman and the secretary of the convention, in the presence of the convention shall sign the credentials of the delegate and the alternate, both of whom shall countersign the credentials for identification, if required by the county convention. The credentials shall be sufficient if in form substantially as follows:

To County Convention:

This certifies to you that _____ (whose post office address is _____), as delegate, and _____ (whose post office address is _____), as alternate, will be authorized to represent precinct number _____ in your proceeding.

_____	_____
Chairman.	Secretary.
Countersigned:
_____	_____
Delegate.	Alternate Delegate.

The credentials so executed shall be placed in an envelope bearing the secretary's name written across the closed seal, and delivered by the delegate, or the alternate, to the temporary secretary of the county convention at the time of its convening. Whereupon, the persons so certified shall be entitled to represent your precinct in the county convention. The official county voting precinct numbers and the respective places for holding the several precinct conventions follow, viz.:

Precinct No.	Place of Convention.
(Here Designate)	(Here Designate)
Commissioners' Court of _____ County, Texas.

Attest:

By _____ County Judge.

Clerk.
(Seal.)

Said notice, as soon as may be done, shall be published as provided in Section 3 of this Act. No error in the form of the notice or the printing thereof which is not harmfully misleading, after the exercise of reasonable diligence to know the truth, shall invalidate the call for the conventions.

Precinct Convention

Sec. 7. The precinct convention shall be held, organized and shall proceed to a conclusion as specified in the convention call written in Section 6 hereof.

County Convention; Procedure

Sec. 8. The county convention shall convene at the time and place designated in the call therefor (or other well known adequate place, if it be not convenient to occupy the place originally designated), and shall proceed to temporary organization as provided for precinct conventions. The temporary chairman shall call for the presentation of credentials of delegates and their alternates, whereupon the temporary chairman and temporary secretary, in the presence of all persons present who may desire to supervise, shall open the credentials and shall prepare a written permanent roll of all persons shown by the credentials to be authorized to participate in the further proceedings of the convention. The convention shall then proceed to permanent organization by electing a permanent chairman and secretary. Upon the roll shall be noted those delegates (and alternates for absent delegates) who may be present for participation in the convention. Procedure shall be in accordance with Robert's Rules of Order. The presence at roll call for the opening session of the convention of fifty-one (51), or more, per centum of the total number of authorized delegates shall constitute a quorum for the conduct of business during such session and until final adjournment and dissolution of the convention.

All questions shall be decided by a majority of the votes cast thereon. An alternate shall be permitted to participate in the proceedings of the convention only in the absence or nonparticipation of the delegate for whom such alternate was chosen. All votes other than votes on organization shall be by written ballot bearing the voter's name and precinct number. The respective yeas and nays upon every question shall be recorded by name in the presence of the convention, the result of each ballot shall be declared to the convention in an audible voice and shall be recorded in the convention's journal, in a manner showing each issue decided by each ballot taken. The convention may recess from time to time, but may not adjourn, until the work is ended; provided that, the time and place for resuming its session after a recess thereof shall be announced prior to such recess, or written notice of reassembly given as provided in Section 3 of this Act. The business of the convention shall be dispatched with all possible diligence, and no compensation or expense shall be allowed to any member of the convention.

Manner of Choosing Charter Drafting Commission and Number of Members

Sec. 9. (a) When the convention shall have been organized, the members, by ballot shall determine whether the Charter Drafting Commission (which hereinafter may be referred to as the "Commission") to be chosen shall consist of three (3), five (5), seven (7), nine (9), eleven (11), thirteen (13) or fifteen (15) members. This having been determined, the chairman of the convention, from the membership of the convention, shall appoint a nominating committee of five (5) persons, who shall retire and prepare a list, alphabetically arranged, of proposed members of the commission to be chosen, which list shall bear twice as many names of persons as there are to be members of the Drafting Commission, and regional representation may properly be made a consideration in the nominations. The persons to be named by the nominating committee may or may not be members of the convention, but they shall be persons deemed to have peculiar fitness for the drafting of, or to aid in the drafting of, a charter to control the county government.

(b) When the nominating committee shall have reported, they shall be discharged and the secretary of the convention will furnish to each present member of the convention a true copy of the nominations, together with a ballot slip on which shall be written the number of names to be voted for. From the names nominated by the committee, each voting member of the convention shall select from those nominated persons (equal in number to the membership of the Drafting Commission) preferred by the voting member for service on the commission, indicating the choice by crossing out the names of those nominated persons not preferred by the voter. There may be as many ballots as are required to obtain a majority vote for a number of nominees equal to the membership of the Drafting Commission. Those persons receiving in consecutive order from high to low, the highest number of votes shall be elected for service: In case of a tie vote, balloting shall continue until the tie is broken. The results of each ballot shall be tallied and canvassed by the secretary, in the presence of the convention and the result audibly declared. The Drafting Commission so chosen shall be given their written credentials, signed by the chairman and secretary of the convention. Written minutes of all proceedings of the convention shall be kept in a journal, audibly read in the presence of the convention, and if found without majority sustained objection, they shall be approved and signed by the chairman and the secretary of the convention (safely to be preserved for disposition as later in this Act is provided), and thereupon the convention shall be adjourned, subject to recall only as hereinafter is provided for.

Journals

Sec. 10. The County Charter Convention and the Charter Drafting Commission each shall cause to be kept a daily journal correctly reflecting their respective proceedings, and showing the yea and nay votes on all substantive questions, which shall be adequately identified in the journals. These journals must be preserved as permanent records and filed as archives in the records of the administrative body of the county, as hereinafter provided for.

Drafting Commission; Rules; Vacancy in Office; Procedure

Sec. 11. (a) Within ten (10) days after their election the Drafting Commission shall convene at some convenient time and place in the county seat, known in advance to all members of the commission, for organization, which shall be as for organization of a precinct convention. The commission may adopt all necessary reasonable rules to control notice of meetings and its procedure, save that, attendance of a majority of the commission's membership shall be required to constitute a quorum for business, and all questions shall be decided by a majority vote of those members in attendance. So long as there be not vacancies to destroy a lawful quorum of the commission, it lawfully may transact its business and perform its duties; however, in case of a vacancy of a membership either through inability or failure or refusal of a member to act, the commission may certify the vacancy to the commissioners' court, whereupon it shall become the duty of the court to fill the vacancy on the commission by a majority supported order entered of record in its minutes.

(b) The Drafting Commission shall be empowered to employ one clerk, who shall be a competent stenographer and who shall fill the office of secretary of the commission. The commission shall be authorized to make reasonable compensation to its secretary, but not, in any event, to exceed Six Dollars ($6.00) per day of actual service, and ratably for a fraction of a day. The commission shall be authorized to incur all other reasonable expense necessary to facilitate its work, but not in any event to exceed Three Dollars ($3.00) per day (exclusive of the cost to publish notices, as required by this Act) for the full period from the first meeting day of the commission until it may have been discharged. The expenses so incurred, and the cost to publish the notices by this Act required, shall be paid under orders signed by the chairman and the secretary of the Drafting Commission, addressed to the commissioners' court of the county, and, if the vouchers accompanying such orders be found to support the same, it shall be the duty of the court promptly to make payment thereof by warrants drawn on the county's General Fund, whether budgeted therein, or not. No member of the Drafting Commission shall have compensation for service on the commission.

(c) The Drafting Commission shall diligently pursue its labors and at a time not less than sixty (60) days nor more than one hundred and eighty (180) days after their organization, they shall have prepared a complete proposed county charter. It shall be the duty of the secretary of the commission, at all reasonable times, to make available to any interested person the minutes of any prior meeting of the commission and any written proposals pending before the commission.

(d) In the preparation of the charter, any complete section thereof may be written in two (2) alternate and elective forms, for submission to a vote of the people. The proposed charter having been completed, there shall be written at the end thereof the words, "We hereby recommend the adoption of the foregoing proposed charter, subject to such later revisions as may grow out of our public hearings hereon," to be followed by the date of the certificate and the signatures of at least a majority of the Drafting Commission: Substantial compliance as to form of the certificate shall be deemed sufficient.

(e) In case a Charter Drafting Commission, from any cause whatever, fails to complete a proposed charter hereunder, within the time limit hereinbefore specified, such commission shall automatically expire, and, upon the written request of any ten (10) signers of the original petition for the adoption of a county charter, it shall be the duty of the county judge to reconvene the county convention by giving the written notice specified in Section 3 of this Act. The convention being reassembled shall proceed to the selection of a Charter Drafting Commission of the number originally fixed, in the same manner as provided for selection of the membership of the defaulting commission. The substitute commission shall proceed in time and manner as provided for the original commission. Further, in such case, the secretary of the defaulting commission shall safely keep all records of the prior commission and deliver the same to the substitute commission, or its secretary. This procedure to remedy default of a commission may be exercised as many times as may be necessary to procure the submission of a charter to the electorate.

(f) When a proposed charter has been completed and certified, the Drafting Commission, within ten (10) days shall cause the same to be published in full, in the manner provided in Section 3 of this Act. Said publication further shall provide for five (5) or more public hearings before the commission, the first of which must be not less than fourteen (14) days nor more than twenty (20) days after the first publication of the notice. The time and place of each proposed hearing shall be stated in the notice, and all of the same must be held within thirty (30) days after the date of the first hearing. At such hearings all qualified resident electors of the county may appear and be heard to express their views in an orderly manner, within Robert's Rules of Order, and such other reasonable limitations as the commission may adopt for the timely, efficient and orderly disposition of business. When said public hearings have been concluded, the commission, within ten (10) days, shall make such revision of the proposed charter as by them may be deemed for the betterment thereof.

Form of Charter Election Report and Notice to Commissioners' Court; Amendments

Sec. 12. Within five (5) days after a proposed county charter finally has been approved for submission to the qualified electors of the county, it shall be the duty of the Charter Drafting Commission to prepare its report announcing the conclusion of its labors and to make requisition for the holding of a charter election hereunder, which shall be addressed to the commissioners' court of the county and filed with said court within said five (5) days. Such report and requisition in form shall be substantially as follows:

To the Honorable Commissioners' Court of _____ County, Texas:

We present herewith two (2) true and certified multiples of a proposed charter to provide for the government of this county, as provided for by Section 3, Article IX, of the Constitution of Texas. We also transmit to you the journals of proceedings of the county convention and of this Charter Drafting Commission. By law, you are required to safely keep said proposed charter and said journals as permanent records, in the archives of the county, where they at all reasonable times shall be open to inspection by the public.

We hereby request that, and under the provisions of an Act of the Legislature of Texas to provide proceedings for adopting Home Rule Charters for counties it now is required that, you by order (to be entered of record in your minutes; to which one copy of the proposed charter shall be attached as an exhibit, and as part thereof) will call an election submitting said proposed charter to a vote of the qualified electors of this county for adoption or rejection, as their votes may determine, under the provisions of said Section 3, Article IX, of the Constitution.

This we pray you to do in time, manner, form and after due execution of all appropriate formalities required by the applicable law.

Executed in _____, Texas, on this, the _____ day of _____ A.D. 19____, by the undersigned, who constitute a majority, or more, in number of the Charter Drafting Commission of this county.

Substantial conformity to the foregoing form shall be deemed sufficient, and the same may be amended, as a matter of right, to cure any substantive defect therein.

Charter Election; Procedure

Sec. 13. (a) In compliance with the notice and request provided for by Section 12 hereof, an appropriate order shall be entered by the court at a time within ten (10) days after said request is delivered to the court. Upon delivery of such request, the clerk of the court shall endorse on the presented proposed charter, and accompanying request the day and hour of the receipt of the same.

(b) By said order the court shall call an election, in which no other question may be submitted to the electors. Said election shall be held at a time not less than thirty (30) days nor more than forty (40) days after the entry of the court's order therefor.

(c) Publication of notice of said election, the holding thereof, the canvass of the returns and the declaration of the results thereof (save in those things peculiarly appropriate to the object of the election, and which peculiar matters are specifically provided for herein), shall be had, done and performed in accordance with the then effective provisions of the law regulating the holding of general elections in the State of Texas. Those additional things required and deemed peculiarly appropriate to such election are as follows, viz.:

1. There shall be printed as many copies of the proposed charter as there were voters in the last preceding general election in the county, plus twenty-five per centum (25%) thereof, which copies on or before the second day succeeding the first publication of the notice of the election, shall be placed, for distribution, on request, to qualified voters of the county, at each polling place designated in the notice of election.

2. The notice of the election shall contain a full copy of the proposed charter and to include alternate and elective provisions, if any such have been submitted to the electorate, which distinct and alternate provisions shall be printed in the order given them in the proposed charter.

3. Ballots at least equal to one and one-half the vote cast in the last general election in the county shall be provided for the charter election. Distribution thereof to voting precincts changed or created later than the last general election held in the county shall be according to an estimate of the vote to be cast therein at the charter election. To each of the precincts remaining as at the last general election there shall be distribution of ballots approximately equal to one and one-half times the votes cast therein at the last general election. After the day upon which a petition for submitting a proposal to adopt a county home rule charter, or to amend the same, is started in circulation (the commissioners' court being advised thereof by writing filed with its clerk), no county voting precinct may be redefined, consolidated or created, until a time subsequent to the election called for by the petition so filed.

4. There shall be printed on said ballots, exclusive of all other things, the following, viz.:

"County Home Rule Charter Ballot for Adoption of Charter

Against Adoption of Charter"

Next there shall be printed in full there on elective alternate charter provisions which may have been submitted for determination by the electors; and, in case any such elective charter provisions have been submitted, the same shall be printed in full on the ballot, in the forward progressive order in which they appear in the proposed charter. Indication of the will of the voter shall be by crossing out those propositions or provisions which are not favored. In case a voter crosses out both of two related alternate provisions, or if the voter fails to cross out one of two related alternate charter provisions, the vote to adopt or reject the charter shall nevertheless be counted on that issue.

5. No proposal to consolidate or merge the government of a governmental agency or entity, or any division or function thereof, with the government of the county for administration thereby, shall be voted on at an election held for the original adoption of a charter hereunder. However, it is provided that any such charter may contain provision whereby such consolidations may be submitted to the voters of the county.

Canvassing Returns and Declaring Results of Election; Contest Procedure

Sec. 14. The canvassing of the returns and the declaring of the result of the election shall be by the commissioners' court of the county and the charter drafting commission jointly sitting as a board for such purpose and the result as declared shall be spread on the minutes of the commissioners' court. Contest of an election held hereunder may judicially be determined as is, or may be, provided by the laws of Texas relating to contest of general elections, subject to these conditions, viz.:

(a) Written notice of such contest must be filed with the commissioners' court and with the clerk of the county charter commission within ten (10) days after the declaration of the result.

(b) In case of such notice, within five (5) days the members of the commissioners' court and the charter drafting commission shall reassemble as a joint board of review, for the public opening of those ballot boxes as to which the notice of proposed contest has specified exception, examination and recount of the ballots cast in each such voting precinct, revision, if any be required, in the tally sheets from the respective precincts in which error in the tally or returns, or illegal voting, may have been specified in the notice of proposed contest. Matters not specified in such notice of contest may not be inquired into by the board, nor later reviewed by a court. The board may hear evidence, subpoena witnesses and enforce their attendance by attachment to be issued by the clerk of any court of record on request of the board, and administer oaths to witnesses. The hearing shall be concluded as speedily as may be consistent with the object of the hearing. Having concluded the taking of evidence, the board publicly shall revise or reaffirm the tally to conform to their findings of the truth, and enter of record in the minutes of the commissioners' court their redeclaration of the result of the election. Thereupon the ballots shall be appropriately resealed in the boxes from which they were taken and, or, otherwise preserved as required by the general applicable law. A certified copy of the findings of the joint board of review must be received in evidence in any judicial proceeding contesting an election held hereunder, and shall constitute prima facie proof of the correctness of the declaration of the result of the election, as recorded by the joint board of review.

(c) The time consumed in re-examination of the returns by the Joint Board of Review, as herein provided for, shall not be computed in determining the time within which a petition initiating an election contest in a court of appropriate jurisdiction must be filed. Such time shall be computed from the day on which the Joint Board of Review announce their decision.

(d) Upon performance of the duties hereinbefore prescribed for the Charter Drafting Commission, without other or further act, it shall be dissolved, subject only to its right to designate one of its members to be a special fiscal agent, with the duty to terminate all pecuniary business matters which have been incident to the performance of the duties of the commission, to procure payment of all outstanding lawful accounts created by the commission, in the manner provided in subdivision (b) of Section 11 of this Act.

Adoption of Charter; Resubmission After Rejection; Amendments

Sec. 15. If the election results in a constitutional majority of the votes cast in the election being for the charter, the same shall be declared to be adopted and to be in effect after such procedures, at such time and under such conditions, as may be provided for in the adopted charter. If the proposal to adopt a charter be defeated in any such election, no other proposal for the adoption of a charter for the county hereunder may be initiated at a time less than twelve (12) months next succeeding the day of the defeat of the prior proposal. However, in case a charter adopted for a given county does not provide a time limitation (which may not exceed two (2) years) for a time at which such charter may be amended, and any home rule charter adopted hereunder may be amended at any time.

Majority of Votes Cast Outside Cities and Towns Necessary for Adoption

Sec. 15a. No county home rule charter may be adopted by any county save upon a favoring vote of the resident qualified electors of the affected county. In elections submitting to the voters a proposal to adopt a charter the vote cast by the qualified electors residing within the limits of all the incorporated cities and towns of the county shall be separately kept and collectively counted and the votes of the qualified electors of the county who do not reside within the limits of any incorporated city or town likewise shall be separately kept and separately counted, and unless there be a favoring majority of the votes cast within and a favoring majority of the votes cast without such collective cities and towns, the charter shall not be adopted.

Administrative Body

Sec. 16. In case there be adoption of a county home rule charter providing for an administrative body styled other than a "Commissioners' Court," and, or, "County Judge" (as a member of the court), and thereafter there be occasion to proceed for the amendment of such charter, the quoted designations, as they appear in this Act shall be held to conform to the appropriately related designations as contained in the charter.

Expenses of Proponents

Sec. 17. In case there be not available to a given county funds to liquidate the expenses incurred because of the exercise of power under this Act, the proponents of a proposed charter may, in writing filed with the court, designate a fiscal agent through whom the proponents may pay all such lawful and proper expenses as may accrue, preserving proper vouchers therefor. Upon presentation of the itemized verified account of such expenses, accompanied by the appropriate vouchers, the commissioners court may approve or disapprove the same, or approve the part thereof found to be proper, and on such approval the court shall pay the same to the designated fiscal agent, or his successor, as soon as money lawfully may be applied thereto, and any other law to the contrary shall be without effect. The county shall have no responsibility for the restitution of such money by the fiscal agent to the several contributing proponents, as their several interests may be.

Constitutional Rights and Powers of Counties Recognized

Sec. 18. Nothing in this Act contained is intended to deny to the counties of Texas any right or power which in the absence of this Act might lawfully be enjoyed and exercised under the provisions of said Section 3 of Article IX, of the Constitution. On the contrary, all such rights and powers hereby are expressly recognized.

Charter Provisions Ineffective Against State's Governmental Powers

Sec. 19. Nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to authorize county charter provisions which would impair the operation of the General Laws of the State relating to the judicial, tax, fiscal, educational, police, highway and health systems of the State, or any department of the State's superior government; and, no charter provision having such vice may have effect as against the State.

Partial Unconstitutionality

Sec. 20. If any provision, section, part, subsection, sentence, clause, phrase, or paragraph of this Act be declared invalid or unconstitutional, the same shall not affect any other portion or provision hereof, and all other provisions shall remain valid and unaffected by any invalid provision, if any.

Proceedings Under Anticipatory Enabling Act Validated

Sec. 21. The anticipatory enabling Act passed at the Regular Session of the Forty-third Legislature (known as Chapter 232 of the General Laws of the Regular Session of the Forty-third Legislature)¹ shall not have effect after the instant at which this Act may be in effect, but all procedures taken thereunder (relating to the formulation, circulation, presentation and prosecution of petitions, including all orders and notices of commissioners courts relative to such petition, conventions held or other acts done) hereby are validated, to the same effect as though the same had been had and done hereunder.

Art. 1606b. Bexar County; Manner of Determining Result

Sec. 1. Authority is hereby conferred upon Bexar County to adopt a "Home Rule Charter" in accordance with the provisions of Section 3 of Article IX of the Constitution of Texas by a favoring vote of the resident qualified electors of said County, and it shall not be necessary for the votes cast by the qualified electors residing within the limits of all the incorporated cities and towns of the county to be separately kept nor separately counted from those cast by qualified electors of the county who do not reside within the limits of any incorporated city or town, and a favoring majority of the votes of such electors cast in the county as a whole shall determine the result of such election.

Sec. 2. The authority hereby granted is by a two-thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) vote of the total membership of each House of the Legislature.

CHAPTER EIGHT. COUNTY FIRE MARSHAL

Art. 1606c. Office of County Fire Marshal

Establishment of Office; Compensation; Facilities; Exemption from Liability

Sec. 1. The Commissioners Court of any county may, at its option and if it deem advisable, by proper order set up and establish the office of County Fire Marshal for such period of time as it may desire, but not to exceed the term for which the members of said court are elected; said court may provide for such compensation to be paid the County Fire Marshal as in its judgment it may deem advisable. Authority is granted to such Commissioners Court to provide office facilities, equipment, transportation, assistants and professional services as it may deem necessary for said County Fire Marshal for the proper execution of his duties. Except in cases of gross neglect or wilful malfeasance in office, said County Fire Marshal, his assistants or employees, shall not be answerable in damages, for any acts or omissions, to any persons in the performance of his or their duties. The provisions of this Act shall not apply to any state agency authorized to prevent and extinguish forest and grass fires.

Investigation of Fires

Sec. 2. It shall be the duty of the said County Fire Marshal to investigate the cause, origin and circumstances of every fire occurring within the county, outside of any incorporated city, town or village, by which property has been destroyed or damaged, and he shall especially make investigation as to whether such fire was the result of carelessness or design. Such investigation shall begin within twenty-four hours, not including Sunday, after the County Fire Marshal receives notice or information of any such fire.

Record of Fires

Sec. 3. The County Fire Marshal shall keep or cause to be kept in his office a record of all fires occurring within the county, outside of any incorporated city, town or village, together with all facts, statistics and circumstances, including the origin of the fire and the estimated amount of the loss, which may be determined by his investigation. Such record shall be kept in a legible and permanent form and be so preserved that the same may be at all times accessible and open for inspection.

Witnesses and Evidence; Filing of Criminal Charges; Contempt

Sec. 4. When in his opinion further investigation is necessary, the County Fire Marshal shall have the power to subpoena witnesses to appear before him and testify as to their knowledge of facts and circumstances surrounding the fire or attempt at setting of the fire; he shall be empowered to administer oaths and affirmations to any person appearing as a witness before him; he shall take and preserve written statements, affidavits and depositions as he shall deem fit; he shall file in courts of competent jurisdiction any charges of arson, attempt to commit arson, or any other crime or conspiracy to defraud, against any and all persons whom he shall deem guilty; he shall require the production before him of any book, paper or document deemed pertinent to such investigation and shall file misdemeanor charges in courts of competent jurisdiction against any witness who refuses to be sworn, who refuses to appear and testify, or who fails and refuses to produce before him any book, paper or document touching on any matter under examination when called upon by the County Fire Marshal to do so. Any person found guilty of such conduct of contempt of the proceedings held by the County Fire Marshal shall upon conviction be fined not more than Twenty-five ($25.00) Dollars and costs in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Privacy of Examinations; Service of Process

Sec. 5. The investigations and examinations may be conducted by said County Fire Marshal in private; all persons may be excluded from being present except the persons under examination; and the witnesses may be kept separate and apart from each other and not allowed to communicate with each other until they shall have been examined. All process shall be served by any Constable or Sheriff and the same shall be signed by the County Fire Marshal in his official capacity.

Oath and Bond; Qualifications

Sec. 6. The said County Fire Marshal shall qualify by taking the oath prescribed by the Constitution and giving such good and sufficient bond as the Commissioners Court of the county may prescribe and fix, conditioned for the faithful and strict performance of his duties of office. He shall not be interested, directly or indirectly, in the sale of any firefighting apparatus or equipment or fire extinguisher of any kind, nor be engaged in any manner of fire insurance business.

Right of Entry; Investigation of Dangerous Conditions; Order

Sec. 7. He shall have the authority to enter and examine any and all buildings or structures where a fire has occurred, in the performance of his duties of office, day or night, and examine any adjacent buildings or premises, but this authority shall be exercised with reason and discretion and with a minimum burden upon the persons living in said buildings. It shall be his duty when called upon, or when he has reason to believe that it is in the interest of safety and fire-prevention, to enter any premises and inspect the same, and if he find that because of inflammable substance being present, dangerous or dilapidated walls, ceilings or other parts of the structure existing, improper lighting, heating or other facilities being used that endanger life, health or safety, or if because of chimneys, wiring, flues, pipes, mains or stoves, or any substance he shall find stored in any building, he believes that the safety of said building or that of its occupants is endangered and that it will likely promote or cause fire or combustion, he shall be empowered to order the said situation rectified forthwith and the owner or occupant of the said structure shall comply with the orders of the said County Fire Marshal or shall be adjudged guilty of contempt of said order and of a Class B misdemeanor; and each recurring refusal to so rectify such conditions shall be deemed as a separate offense and violation of such order.

Enforcement of Regulations; Cooperation with State Fire Marshal and Municipal Fire Chiefs

Sec. 8. The County Fire Marshal shall be charged with enforcing all State and county regulations that pertain to fire or other combustible explosions or damages caused by fire or explosion of any kind; he shall coordinate the work of the various fire-fighting and fire-prevention units within the county, provided that, he shall have no authority to enforce his orders or decrees within the corporate limits of any incorporated city, town or village within the county and shall act in a cooperative and advisory capacity there only when his services are requested; he shall cooperate with the State Fire Marshal in the carrying out of the purposes of fire prevention, fire fighting or post-fire investigation. If called upon by any city or State Fire Marshal or the Fire Chief of any incorporated city, town or village to aid in an investigation or to take charge of same, he shall act in the capacity requested.

Civil Rights and Actions

Sec. 9. No action taken by the County Fire Marshal shall affect the rights of a policy-holder or any company in respect to a loss by reason of any fire so investigated; nor shall the result of any such investigation be given in evidence upon the trial of any civil action upon such policy; nor shall any statement made by any insurance company, its officers, agents or adjusters, nor by any policy-holder or anyone representing him, made with reference to the origin, cause or supposed origin or cause of the fire to the Fire Marshal or to anyone acting for him, or under his direction, be admitted in evidence or be made the basis for any civil action for damages.

1. GENERAL PROVISIONS

Art. 1607. Finance Ledger

Each commissioners court shall procure a well-bound ledger and index, to be known as the finance ledger, and shall cause to be entered therein a full and orderly statement of the condition of the county finances. The county clerk shall open and keep in said book an account with each officer of the county, district or State, who may be authorized or required by law to receive or collect all money or other property for the use of, or belonging to the county, and shall state at the top of each page of said account the name of such officer and his office. The clerk shall keep such other accounts as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this title, and shall conveniently index each. And items shall be entered daily under their respective heads. All reports and vouchers shall be filed with said clerk and carefully preserved, and briefly noted in the proper account upon the ledger. Said finance ledger shall be at all times subject to the inspection of the public.

Art. 1608. Quarterly Statement

Said clerk shall balance each account so kept, and make a sworn tabular statement at each regular term of the commissioners' court for the three months preceding the month when such court meets in regular session, to be presented to said court during the second day of its term, specifying therein the names of the creditors of said county, and the items of indebtedness, with their respective dates of accrual, and also the names of persons to whom moneys have been paid, with the amounts paid each, the names of persons for whom moneys have been received, with the date of receipt and for what account received, during the quarter for which such statement is prepared; said statement shall also separately show the amount to the credit or debit of each fund.

Art. 1609. Exhibit Published

Immediately after the first regular term of said court in each year said clerk shall publish once in some weekly newspaper published in his county, or if there be no paper published therein, then by posting four copies of such exhibit, one in each commissioners precinct, one of which shall be at the court house door, the other three at public places in such precincts, an exhibit showing the aggregate amount paid out of each fund for the four preceding quarters, and the balance to the credit or debit of each fund; also the amount of indebtedness of said county, with their respective dates of accrual, and to whom and for what due; also the amount to the debit or credit of each officer or other persons with whom an account is kept. The cost for publishing the same shall be paid by order of said court out of the general fund of the county.

Art. 1610. Account with Tax Collector

The accounts of the tax collector shall be kept as follows: A separate account shall be kept for each separate fund that may be upon the tax rolls; each account shall state the name of the collector, the character of the fund entered therein, and the year for which the same is assessed; and the taxes assessed for each year shall be kept separate and distinct.

Art. 1610-1. Oaths and Acknowledgments Taken by Assessor-Collector

The county assessor-collector or an employee of the assessor-collector may administer oaths and take acknowledgments relating to any document required or authorized to be filed with the office of county assessor-collector, including:

- (1) a bill of sale and application for transfer of a motor vehicle or trailer;
- (2) an application for a certificate of title concerning a motor vehicle;
- (3) an affidavit and application to register a rebuilt motor vehicle;
- (4) a notice of the installation of a new or different motor in a motor vehicle;
- (5) an affidavit concerning the weight of any motor vehicle;
- (6) an affidavit with reference to the application for the registration of a light delivery truck, motor bus, semitrailer, or trailer;
- (7) an application for the replacement of license plates;
- (8) an affidavit as to the weight and application for the registration of a commercial farm truck;
- (9) an affidavit and application for the reregistration of a motor vehicle that has not been used for the current registration year; and

(10) an affidavit required for payment of the motor vehicle sales and use tax under Chapter 152, Tax Code.

Art. 1611. Receipts for Tax Rolls

Whenever the tax rolls are ready for delivery to the tax collector, the court or officer having control of the same shall take from the collector a written receipt for the same, specifying the amount therein assessed and due the county, stating separately the amount assessed to each fund, and shall deliver said receipt to the county clerk, who shall charge the collector with the amount stated in said receipt in the proper account; and said amounts shall be treated as debts due the county by the collector.

Art. 1612. Collector's Credits

The collector shall discharge said indebtedness within the time prescribed by law, by filing with said clerk receipts for the same, as follows:

1. The commission due the collector.
2. The assessor's receipt for commissions due such assessor, if any, are to be paid by the county.
3. Proper vouchers for such payments as he may be required to pay out of any money on hand.
4. The county treasurer's receipt for the money paid into the treasury.

Art. 1613. Indigent and Delinquent Tax Accounts

The collector shall make separate lists of the indigent and delinquent taxpayers, showing their names, and the amount due by each taxpayer. The court shall carefully examine said list, and shall make an order and enter the same upon its minutes, stating the names and amounts that are adjudged uncollectible; and the collector shall have credit for the amounts included in said order in the proper accounts, only after said order has been made and entered.

Art. 1614. Shall Deliver Tax Rolls to Successor

On leaving office the tax collector shall deliver to his successor the tax rolls in his possession, and shall receive from his successor a written receipt for the amount of taxes due on the tax rolls so delivered, specifying the amount of each fund and each year separately, and also the amount due on the indigent and delinquent list; and deliver said receipts to the county clerk, who shall enter those allowed by the court to the credit of the collector presenting them, and shall charge the amounts so credited to the successor in office of such collector, in the proper accounts.

Art. 1615. Occupation Tax

Said collector shall collect all occupation taxes due the county without assessment and give the party paying the tax a written receipt, stating his name, the occupation paid for, the time such occupation is to be pursued, and the amount collected for the State and for the county. On presentation of such receipt, the county clerk shall issue to the payee therein a license in the name of the State or county or both, in accordance with the tax so paid, authorizing said payee to pursue such occupation during the time for which the tax is paid. The clerk shall keep an occupation tax account with the collector of the county, in which he shall charge the collector with all licenses issued for the county. The collector shall have credit in said account for his commissions, and the amount paid into the treasury upon filing the proper receipt of the county treasurer with such clerk. Said clerk shall, at the end of every month, make two reports, one of licenses issued on taxes paid to the State which he shall forward to the Comptroller by mail; the other of licenses issued on taxes paid to the county and file the same in his office. Such reports shall recite the information contained in the tax collector's receipt for such tax, and shall be dated and signed under the clerk's official seal.

Art. 1616. Account with Sheriff

An account shall be kept with the sheriff charging him with all judgments, fines, forfeitures and penalties, payable to and rendered in any court of the county, the collection of which he is by law made chargeable. The sheriff may free himself from liability from such charge, by:

1. Producing the receipt of the county treasurer showing the payment of such judgment, fine, forfeiture or penalty.
2. Showing to the satisfaction of the commissioners court that the same cannot be collected, or that the same has been discharged by imprisonment or labor, or by escape, without his fault or neglect, and obtaining an order from said court allowing the same.

Art. 1617. Officers to Report Collections

Each district clerk, county clerk, county judge, county treasurer, sheriff, district and county attorney, constable and justice of the peace, who shall collect or handle any money for the use of the county, shall make a full report to the commissioners court, at each regular term thereof, of all fines imposed and collected and all judgments rendered and collected for the use of the county, and all jury fees collected in their respective courts in favor of, or for the use of the county; and at the same time present their receipts and vouchers showing what disposition has been made of the money collected, fines imposed and judgments rendered. Said court shall carefully examine said reports, receipts and vouchers and, if found correct, shall cause the clerk to enter the same on the finance ledger, and, if found to be incorrect, shall summon said officer before them, and have the same corrected. Said reports, receipts, and vouchers shall be filed in the county clerk's office.

Art. 1618. Collections: Form of Report

The reports required by the preceding article shall state fully:

1. The name of the party fined and the amount of the fine, or the name of the party against whom judgment was rendered and the amount of such judgment.
2. The style and number of the cases in which fines have been imposed or judgments rendered, and the date thereof.
3. The amount of jury fees collected, and the style and number of the case in which each jury fee was collected and from whom collected.

Art. 1619. Accounts of Justice

Fines imposed and judgments rendered by justices of the peace shall be charged against the justice imposing or rendering the same. He may discharge said indebtedness by filing with the county clerk the treasurer's receipt for the amount thereof, or by showing to the satisfaction of the commissioners court that he has used due diligence to collect the same without avail, or that the same have been satisfied by imprisonment or labor.

Art. 1620. Report of Attorneys

The district attorney of each district shall, at each term of the district court for each county in his district, make a report to the county clerk, of all moneys received by him since the last term of the district court for such county for the use of such county. Each county attorney shall make a similar report to the said clerk at the end of each month.

Art. 1621. Judgment Sold

Whenever the proceeds of any judgment revert to and belong to any county, if the principal and sureties thereon are insolvent so that under any existing process of law said judgment or any part thereof cannot be collected, the commissioners court is hereby constituted a board to dispose of such judgment, and may offer for sale, by such advertising as it deems necessary and to the best interests of the county, all the right of the county to such judgment.

If the amount bid on same at public sale shall not be deemed sufficient, said court shall refuse to accept the same, and shall dispose of said judgment in any manner deemed most advantageous to the interest of the county. Upon sale said court shall make a proper assignment of said judgment to the purchaser.

Art. 1622. Collections: Report to Clerk

When any officer collects money belonging to, and for the use of, any county, he shall, except where otherwise provided in this title, forthwith report the same to the proper county clerk stating fully from whom collected, the amount collected, the time when collected, and by virtue of what authority or process collected. On making such report, such amount shall be charged to such officer, and he may discharge himself therefrom by producing the receipt of the proper county treasurer therefor.

Art. 1623. Estray Account

When an application to estray an animal is filed with the county clerk, said clerk shall keep an estray account on the debit side of said finance ledger showing, the date of the application, the name of the person estraying, and a brief description of the animal to be estrayed. The amount of such charge shall be left blank until said person shall file his account of the sale thereof. Upon the filing of said account, the net amount due the county from such sale shall be entered in the blank. When the receipt of the county treasurer is presented to the clerk, showing any amount paid into the treasury on account of such sale, the same shall be entered on the credit side of the account, showing the date, name of payer, amount paid and a brief description of the estray, and such amount shall be charged on the debit side of the county treasurer's account.

Art. 1624. Account with County Treasurer

An account with the county treasurer shall be kept in said ledger, in which such treasurer shall be charged separately with the amount of each fund for which he gives a receipt to the sheriff, collector, or other person paying the same into the treasury; and such treasurer shall have credit for all moneys paid out by him, when the commissioners court has approved his reports of the same and for his legal commissions.

Art. 1625. Claim Registers

Each county treasurer shall keep a well-bound book in which he shall register all claims against his county in the order of presentation, and if more than one is presented at the same time he shall register them in the order of their date. He shall pay no such claim or any part thereof, nor shall the same, or any part thereof, be received by any officer in payment of any indebtedness to the county, until it has been duly registered in accordance with the provisions of this title. All claims in each class shall be paid in the order in which they are registered.

Art. 1626. Claims Classified

Claims against a county shall be registered in three classes, as follows:

1. All jury scrip and scrip issued for feeding jurors.
2. All scrip issued under the provisions of the road law or for work done on roads and bridges.
3. All the general indebtedness of the county, including feeding and guarding prisoners, and paupers' claims.

Art. 1627. Registering Claims

Said treasurer shall enter each claim in the register, stating the class to which it belongs, the name of the payee, the amount, the date of the claim, the date of registration, the number of such claim, by what authority issued, and for what service the same was issued, and shall write on the face of the claim its registration number, the word, "registered," the date of such registration, and shall sign his name officially thereto.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1628. Classification of County Funds

The funds received by the county treasurer shall be classed as follows, and shall be appropriated, respectively, to the payment of all claims registered in the first, second and third classes:

1. All jury fees, all money received from the sale of estrays, and all occupation taxes.
2. All money received under any of the provisions of the road and bridge law, including the penalties recovered from railroads for failing to repair crossings, and all fines and forfeitures.
3. All money received, not otherwise appropriated herein or by the commissioners court.

Art. 1629. Other Classes of Funds

The commissioners court may cause such other accounts to be kept, creating other classes of funds, as it may deem proper, and require the scrip to be issued against the same and registered accordingly.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1630. Transfer of Funds

The commissioners court by an order to that effect may transfer the money in hand from one fund to another, as it may deem necessary and proper, except that the funds which belong to class first shall never be diverted from the payment of the claims registered in class first, unless there is an excess of such funds.

Art. 1630a. Road and Bridge Fund Set Aside From Other Funds in Certain Counties; Budgeting of Fund

That in all counties having a population of fifty thousand, nine hundred and fifty (50,950) to fifty-one thousand, one hundred (51,100), inclusive, according to the last preceding Federal Census, the Commissioners Court shall annually set aside from all other county funds the Road and Bridge Fund and shall budget this Road and Bridge Fund into three (3) equal amounts, and the total expenditures from the Road and Bridge Fund for any four-month period of the fiscal year may not exceed one-third of the annual budget; provided that nothing in this Act shall be construed as repealing or affecting the Uniform Budget Law, County Budgets, being Sections 10, 11, 12, and 13 of House Bill No. 768, Acts of 1931, Forty-second Legislature, page 339, Chapter 206.¹

Art. 1630b. Change Fund in Counties of Over 600,000 Population

Sec. 1. The Commissioners Court of any county having a population of over 600,000 by the last preceding Federal Census may set aside from the General Fund an amount to be approved by the County Auditor for the use by any county or district official collecting public funds as a change fund, which said fund is to be used only for making change in connection with collections due and payable to the county, State of Texas or any political subdivision for which collections are often made by such county or district official.

Sec. 2. The bond of each and every public official who receives such a change fund shall cover his responsibility for the correct accounting and disposition of said change fund.

Sec. 3. It shall be unlawful to use such change fund for making loans or advances, or for cashing checks or warrants of any kind.

Sec. 4. The Commissioners Court shall upon recommendation of the County Auditor increase or decrease such change funds at any time.

Art. 1630c. Change Fund in Counties of 600,000 or Less Population

Sec. 1. The Commissioners Court of any county having a population of not more than six hundred thousand (600,000), by the last preceding Federal Census, may set aside from the General Fund amounts not to exceed One Hundred Dollars ($100) for any one collecting office for use by any county or district official collecting public funds as a change fund, which said fund is to be used only for making change in connection with collections due and payable to the county, the State of Texas or any political subdivision for which collections are lawfully made by said county or district official.

Sec. 2. The bond of each and every public official who receives such a change fund shall cover his responsibility for the correct accounting and disposition of said change fund.

Sec. 3. It shall be unlawful to use such change fund for making loans or advances, or for cashing checks or warrants of any kind.

Sec. 4. The Commissioners Court shall, within its discretion, have the right to recall any part or all of said change funds at any time.

Art. 1631. Report of Claims

At the end of each month the county treasurer shall file in the office of the county clerk a report showing the total amount of claims registered by him during said months stating each class separately. He shall enter the same upon the ledger under the head of "Registered indebtedness of the county," keeping a separate account of each class of indebtedness, and, from the reports of the treasurer of disbursements made, credit said accounts with the total amount of vouches of each class of claims paid.

Art. 1632. Receipt of Payee

The county treasurer or any other officer disbursing money for the county, or receiving county claims in payment of dues of any kind, shall require the party receiving payment of, or credit for the same, his agent or attorney, to receipt in writing upon the face of such claim for the amount so paid or received thereon.

Art. 1633. Report of Claims Collected

Every officer who shall collect any fine, penalty, forfeiture, judgment, tax or other indebtedness due the county in claims against the county, shall keep a descriptive list of such claims, and shall when he reports such collection, file with his report a list stating the party in whose favor each claim was issued, the class and register number thereof, the name of the party paying in such claim, and the amount received, and for what purpose received. Such claims and report shall be turned over to the county treasurer who shall give a proper receipt for the same, and he shall file said list with his report in the office of the county clerk.

Art. 1634. Accounts of Treasurer

The county treasurer shall keep accurate detailed accounts showing all the transactions of his office. And all warrants by him paid off shall be punched at the time he pays them; and the vouchers relating to and accompanying each report shall be presented to the commissioners court with the corresponding report, when said court shall compare the vouchers with the report, and all proper vouchers shall be allowed and the treasurer credited with the amount thereof.

Art. 1635. Claim Canceled

When a claim presented as a voucher has been found by the court to be correct, the court shall cause the same to be canceled by writing or stamping upon the fact¹ thereof the word, "canceled," and the clerk shall attest the same by his official signature.

¹ So in enrolled bill. Should probably read "face".

Art. 1636. To Inspect Treasurer's Accounts

When the commissioners court has compared and examined the quarterly report of the treasurer, and found the same correct, it shall cause an order to be entered upon the minutes of the court, stating the approval thereof, and reciting separately the amount received and paid out of each fund by the treasurer since the preceding treasurer's quarterly report, and the balance of such fund, if any, remaining in the treasurer's hands and the court shall cause the proper credit to be made in the accounts of the treasurer, in accordance with said order. Said court shall actually inspect and count all the actual cash and assets in the hands of the treasurer belonging to the county at the time of the examination of his said report. Prior to the adjournment of each regular term of the court, the county judge and each commissioner shall make affidavit that the requirements of this article have been in all things fully complied with by them at said term of said court, and that the cash and other assets mentioned in said county treasurer's quarterly report made by said treasurer to said court, and held by him for the county, have been fully inspected and counted by them giving the amount of said money and other assets in his hands. Such affidavits shall be filed with the county clerk and recorded in the minutes of said court the term at which the same were filed; and the same shall be published in some newspaper published in the county if there be a newspaper published in the county, for one time.

Art. 1637. To Examine Finance Accounts

The commissioners court shall, at each regular term, examine all accounts and reports relating to the finances of the county, and compare the same with the vouchers accompanying them, and cause such corrections to be made as are necessary, in order to make said accounts and reports correct, and shall cause all orders made by them, appertaining to said accounts and reports, to be properly entered upon the minutes of said court and noted upon said accounts and reports.

Art. 1638. Finance Committee

At each term of the district court, the district judge, upon request of the grand jury, may appoint a committee consisting of three citizens of the county, men of good moral character and intelligence, and experienced accountants, to examine into the condition of the finances of the county. Said committee shall examine all the books, accounts, reports, vouchers and orders of the commissioners court relating to the finances of the county that have not been examined and reported upon by a previous committee; count all the money in the office of the county treasurer belonging to the county, and make such other examination as it deems necessary and proper in order to ascertain the true condition of the finances of the county. The court shall, if necessary, upon the application of said committee, send for persons and evidence to aid in such investigation.

Art. 1639. Report of Committee

Said committee shall, at the earliest practicable day after its appointment, make to said district court a detailed written report stating whether the books and accounts required to be kept by the provisions of this title are correctly kept in accordance with said provisions, and setting forth fully the condition of the finances of the county, the state of each officer's account, and specifying all irregularities, omissions and malfeasance of any kind that they may discover. Said report shall be signed and sworn to by said committee and filed in the office of the district clerk, and the attention of the grand jury called thereto as soon after the filing of the same as practicable.

Art. 1640. Pay of Committee

Said committeemen shall each be entitled to receive for their services three dollars for each day, not to exceed five days, that they may be engaged in the performance of their duties as such, to be paid out of the county treasury upon the certificate of the district judge stating the number of days served.

Art. 1641. Audit by Accountant

Any Commissioners Court, when in its judgment an imperative public necessity exists therefor, shall have authority to employ a disinterested, competent and expert public accountant to audit all or any part of the books, records, or accounts of the county; or of any district, county or precinct officers, agents, or employees, including auditors of the counties, and all governmental units of the county, hospitals, farms, and other institutions of the county kept and maintained at public expense, as well as for all matters relating to or affecting the fiscal affairs of the county. The resolution providing for such audit shall recite the reasons and necessity existing therefor such as that in the judgment of said court there exists official misconduct, willful omission or negligence in records and reports, misapplication, conversion or retention of public funds, failure in keeping accounts, making reports and accounting for public funds by any officer, agent or employee of the district, county or precinct, including depositories, hospitals, and other public institutions maintained for the public benefit, and at public expense; or that in the judgment of the court, it is necessary that it have the information sought to enable it to determine and fix proper appropriation and expenditure of public moneys, and to ascertain and fix a just and a proper tax levy. The said resolution may be presented in writing at any regular or called session of the Commissioners Court, but shall lie over to the next regular term of said court, and shall be published in one issue of a newspaper of general circulation published in the county; provided if there be no such newspaper published in the county, then notice thereof shall be posted in three public places in said county, one of which shall be at the court house door, for at least ten days prior to its adoption. At such next regular term said resolution shall be adopted by a majority vote of the four Commissioners of the court and approved by the County Judge. Any contract entered into by said Commissioners Court for the audit provided herein shall be made in accordance with the statutes applicable to the letting of contracts by said court, payment for which may be made out of the public funds of the county in accordance with said statutes. The authority conferred on county auditors contained in this title as well as other provisions of statutes relating to district, county and precinct finances and accounts thereof shall be held subordinate to the powers given herein to the Commissioners Court. Provided that in addition to the emergency powers granted herein, there is also conferred upon the Commissioners Court the authority to provide for and cause to be made an independent audit of the aforesaid accounts and officials when the court, by order duly entered at any regular term, finds that the interest of the public would be best served thereby. Any contract entered into by said Commissioners Court for the audit provided herein shall be made in accordance with the statutes applicable to the letting of contracts by said court, payment for which may be made out of the public funds of the county in accordance with said statutes. The authority conferred on county auditors contained in this title as well as other provisions of statutes relating to district, county and precinct finances and accounts thereof shall be held subordinate to the powers given herein to the Commissioners Court.

Art. 1641a. Public Accountant in Certain Counties

In counties of a population of not less than 298,000 and not more than 355,000, according to the last Federal Census, that the Grand Jury of any County or the State Auditor when in the judgment of either, an imperative public necessity exists therefor, shall have authority to employ a disinterested, competent and expert public accountant for the same purposes authorized by Article 1641, or for any other necessary purpose; provided, however, that same shall not be made more than once every two years, except for the purposes of supplementing any audit theretofore made. The same notice shall be given as provided in the preceding Article, one week prior to the making of said contract with such Auditor, and the same shall be paid for out of the general funds of said County.

Art. 1641b. Independent Audit of Finances and Offices in Counties of 40,000 to 100,000

Sec. 1. At any term of the District Court of any county in this State upon request of the grand jury of such county, the district judge of such county shall appoint an auditor, who shall be of good moral character and intelligence and an experienced accountant, to examine into the condition of the finances of said county. Said auditor shall examine all the books, accounts, reports, vouchers and orders of the Commissioners Court relating to the finances of the county, or such part thereof as may be ordered and directed by said district judge. Said auditor shall count all the money in the office of the county treasurer belonging to the county and make such other examination as he deems necessary and proper, or as may be ordered by said district judge in order to ascertain the true condition of the finances of the county. The Court shall, if necessary, upon the application of such auditor, summons witnesses and compel their attendance and require such witnesses to give such testimony as said auditor may desire; and said judge shall require the production of all books, records and any other evidence that such auditor may request or desire to aid in such investigation; and the said district judge shall have authority to punish for contempt any person violating any of the said orders of said district judge or any process issued under the provisions of this Act.

Sec. 2. Said auditor shall, at the earliest practicable date after his appointment, make to the said District Court a detailed written report stating the true condition of the finances of said county and whether the books and accounts required to be kept by the provisions of law, are correctly kept in accordance with said provisions, and setting forth fully the condition of the finances of the county, and the state of each officer's account included within the scope and provisions of the order of said district judge; and shall point out and specify all irregularities, omissions and malfeasance of any kind that he may discover. Said report shall be signed and sworn to by said auditor and filed in the office of the district clerk of said county and the attention of the grand jury shall be called thereto as soon after the filing of said report as practicable.

Sec. 3. Said auditor shall be entitled to receive for his services a sum not to exceed Twenty-five Dollars ($25) per day for the time that may be reasonably required in the performance of his duties under the provisions hereof. Said sum shall be paid out of the county treasury upon the certificate of the district judge, stating the number of days served and the total amount due such auditor as herein provided.

Sec. 3a. This Act shall apply in counties having not less than forty thousand (40,000) population nor more than one hundred thousand (100,000) population, according to the last preceding Federal Census.

Art. 1641c. Special Audit of County Records on Petition of Voters; Employment of Auditor

Sec. 1. In every county of this state there shall be a special audit of all the county records upon the filing of a petition of at least thirty per cent (30%) of the qualified voters residing in such county who voted in the last general election for Governor of Texas with any district judge having jurisdiction in the county.

Sec. 2. Upon receipt of such petition the district judge shall determine its validity and if he finds that thirty per cent (30%) of the qualified voters residing in the county who voted in the last general election for Governor of Texas have requested an audit of the county records he shall immediately employ a person having the qualifications prescribed by law for county auditors to prepare a special audit of all of the county records. The person so employed to prepare such special audit shall receive as compensation for his services a reasonable fee to be fixed by the district judge and paid out of the general fund or the officers' salary fund of the county.

Sec. 3. After the preparation of the audit it shall be filed with the district judge employing the auditor, and a copy shall be filed with the State Auditor.

Sec. 4. The provisions of this Act shall be cumulative of all other laws.

Art. 1641d. Annual Independent Audit of Books, Records and Accounts in Counties of 350,000 or More

Sec. 1. In every county in the State of Texas having a population of 350,000 inhabitants or more, according to the last preceding Federal Census, an annual independent audit shall be made of all books, records, and accounts of the district, county, and precinct officers, agents or employees, including regular auditors of the counties and all governmental units of the county hospitals, farms, and other institutions of the county, and all matters pertaining to the fiscal affairs of the county.

Sec. 2. In all counties in which this Act applies, the first independent audit shall be made in 1960 and completed prior to December 31, 1960, and thereafter an annual independent audit shall be made of all office books and records enumerated in Section 1 of this Act.

Sec. 3. The Commissioners Court in all counties affected by this Act shall employ a disinterested, competent, experienced public accountant or certified public accountant to audit all of the above records and accounts enumerated in Section 1 of this Act.

Sec. 4. At the regular meeting of the Commissioners Court in January, 1960, and at the regular meeting of the Commissioners Court in January each year thereafter, the Court shall enter into a contract with a disinterested, competent, experienced public accountant or certified public accountant to audit all the books and records of the county that are enumerated in Section 1 of this Act. It shall not be necessary that the Commissioners Court advertise for competitive bids before selecting the public accountant or certified public accountant to prepare the audit or audits required by the provisions of this Act, and the consideration specified in each contract shall be paid out of the general fund of the respective county.

Sec. 5. The audits provided for in this Act shall be in addition to any special audits that may be prepared pursuant to the provisions of Articles 1638, 1641 and 1641c, or any regular or special audit report that may be prepared by the regular county auditor.

Art. 1641e. Biennial Independent Audit of Books, Records and Accounts in Counties of 160,000 to 170,000

Sec. 1. In every county in the State of Texas having a population of not less than 160,000 inhabitants nor more than 170,000 inhabitants according to the last preceding federal census, a biennial independent audit shall be made of all books, records, and accounts of the district, county, and precinct officers, agents or employees, including regular auditors of the counties and all governmental units of the county hospitals, farms, and other institutions of the county, and all matters pertaining to the fiscal affairs of the county.

Sec. 2. In all counties in which this bill applies, the first independent audit shall be made in 1962 and completed prior to December 31, 1962, and thereafter a biennial independent audit shall be made of all office books and records enumerated in Section 1 of this Act. Thereafter, said audit shall be made on the even-numbered years in such counties and the audit report shall be completed before December 31st of such year.

Sec. 3. The Commissioners Court in all counties affected by this Act shall employ a disinterested, competent, experienced public accountant or certified public accountant to audit all of the above records and accounts enumerated in Section 1 of this Act.

Sec. 4. At the first regular meeting of the Commissioners Court in January 1962, and at the regular meeting of the Commissioners Court in January every two (2) years thereafter, the Court shall enter into a contract with a disinterested, competent, experienced public accountant or certified public accountant to audit all the books and records of the county that are enumerated in Section 1 of this Act. It shall not be necessary that the Commissioners Court advertise for competitive bids before selecting the public accountant or certified public accountant to prepare the audit or audits required by the provisions of this Act, and the consideration specified in each contract shall be paid out of the general fund of the respective county.

Sec. 5. Nothing in this Act shall be construed so as to prevent any county coming under the provisions of this Act from having an annual independent audit made of the records covered by this Act, provided that when such annual independent audit reports covering such books, accounts and records are completed prior to December 31st of each year such annual independent audits may be considered as compliance with the audits provided by this Act.

Sec. 6. The audits provided for in this Act shall be in addition to any special audits that may be prepared pursuant to the provisions of Articles 1638, 1641 and 1641c, or any regular or special audit report that may be prepared by the regular county auditor.

Art. 1642. Requisites of Report

All reports required under any provision of this title shall be in writing and sworn to by the officer making the same, before some officer authorized to administer oaths; and all such monthly reports shall be filed within five days after the end of each month.

Art. 1643. Warrants Attested

All warrants or scrip issued against the county treasurer by any judge or court shall be signed and attested by the clerk or judge of the court issuing the same, under his official seal. No justice of the peace shall have authority to issue warrants against the treasury for any purpose whatever, except as provided in the Code of Criminal Procedure.

Art. 1644. Compensation of Clerk

The clerk shall receive annually as compensation for the labor performed in keeping the finance ledger and making the quarterly statement required by this title, the sum of five dollars for each one thousand dollars tax assessed as due the county, to be paid quarterly on order of the commissioners court out of the general fund of the county; provided, the same be not less than one hundred nor more than two hundred and fifty dollars per annum.

Art. 1644a. Expenses of Survey for Drainage, etc., or Water Control

In any county in this State having taxable values of two hundred ninety million dollars or more, according to the latest approved tax rolls of the county, the Commissioners' Court may spend not to exceed $15,000.00 in any one year out of the general fund of the county for the purpose of making a preliminary engineering survey relating to drainage, reclamation, conservation, levee improvement, or water control.

Art. 1644a-1. Surveys of Water Resources for Use Within County; Expenditure for by Certain Counties; Referendum

Sec. 1. Any county of this State having a river flowing through or forming a part of the boundary of such county is hereby authorized to make expenditures from the General Fund or any other available fund of the county for the purpose of conducting investigations and assembling information relative to the present and prospective water needs of its inhabitants and the feasibility of developing the water resources of the river for uses within the county upon approval of such expenditure at an election as hereinafter provided.

Sec. 2. Before any expenditure authorized in Section 1 is incurred, the Commissioners Court shall fix the maximum amount of the expenditure and shall submit to the qualified taxpaying voters of the county, at an election ordered for that purpose, the proposition of whether such expenditure shall be incurred. The election shall be ordered and conducted in accordance with the General Election laws of this State. The ballots at the election shall have printed thereon the propositions:

"FOR the expenditure of county funds for the purpose of making a survey of water resources, in an amount not to exceed _____ Dollars."

"AGAINST the expenditure of county funds for the purpose of making a survey of water resources, in an amount not to exceed _____ Dollars."

If a majority of the ballots cast are in favor of such expenditure, the Commissioners Court shall have authority to contract for professional services and incur such other expenses as may be necessary, not to exceed the maximum amount fixed for this purpose. If the majority of the ballots cast are opposed to such expenditure, the Commissioners Court shall not be authorized to make any expenditure for this purpose, and no further election shall be held for a period of two (2) years thereafter. [Acts 1955, 54th Leg., p. 973, ch. 378.]

Art. 1644b. Authorizing Counties to Purchase Property to Satisfy Claims

Sec. 1. That any county in this State whose population according to the last preceding United States Census did not exceed Fifteen Thousand (15,000), having at the time of the passage of this Act, any claim for money against any person, partnership, corporation, joint stock or other association, and whose claim shall amount to at least fifty (50%) per cent of all the claims against such debtor, and the property of such person, partnership, corporation, joint stock or other association shall be sold, within two years from the date this Act shall become effective, under any proceedings in bankruptcy, receivership, or in any other judicial proceeding whatever, and the Commissioners' Court of such county shall be of the opinion that it is necessary or advisable, in the protection of the interests of such county so to do, the said Commissioners' Court be, and is hereby authorized to purchase any or all of the property of such debtor or debtors so sold, within two years from the date this Act shall become effective, when offered for sale by any trustee in bankruptcy, receiver, or by any other officer under the order of any court for such price as the Commissioners' Court may deem advisable and for the best interests of the county, and to have such property by said trustee in bankruptcy, receiver, or other judicial officer conveyed and transferred to the county.

Sec. 2. The Commissioners' Court of any such county is hereby expressly authorized and empowered to borrow money on the credit of the county, and to execute or cause to be executed the obligations of the county therefor, for the purpose of making such purchase or purchases; and it is further expressly authorized to pledge, hypothecate or mortgage any property so purchased to secure the payment of all sums so borrowed.

Sec. 3. The said Commissioners' Court is hereby expressly granted the full power and authority to determine upon what terms, for what length of time and at what rate of interest said sums shall be borrowed.

Sec. 4. Said Commissioners' Court is further hereby expressly authorized to liquidate all assets so purchased for the use and benefit of the county, in any manner that a private individual might liquidate such assets, and to sell and convey all or any of the properties so acquired, either for cash or upon credit, for such length of time and at such rate of interest as said court may deem advisable and to sue upon any obligations so acquired or contracted to said county, and to pay any and all expenses and costs incurred in connection with all or any of the foregoing matters from said property or the proceeds of the sale or liquidation thereof, the net proceeds received by said county to be paid to and for the use and benefit of the respective funds of the county to which said original claim belonged pro rata.

Art. 1644c. Counties, Cities, and Other Subdivisions of State Authorized to Borrow Money from Federal Agencies

Sec. 1. All counties of this State in which there has been damage to public and private property from a tropical hurricane during the year, 1933, and cities, towns, independent school districts, common school districts, water improvement districts, water control and improvement districts, navigation districts, drainage districts, and any and all other public municipal corporations, organized and existing under the Constitution and Laws of this State located in such counties; and all private corporations, created under the Laws of Texas, providing for corporations without capital stock, and the shareholders of which are prohibited from receiving any income of any kind from such corporation, are hereby expressly authorized and empowered to borrow money, and to receive grants and other aid from the Government of the United States, from the Federal Emergency Administrator of Public Works, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Federal Reserve Banks, and any and all other agencies of the Government of the United States, which now are or hereafter may be authorized to make such loans or grants on such terms and in such amounts as may be agreed upon with the lending agency.

Sec. 2. The several counties, cities, towns, and other public municipal corporations above enumerated and described, are further hereby expressly authorized and empowered to issue warrants or other obligations of such counties, cities, towns or other public municipal corporations, in evidence of money borrowed from the Government of the United State or from its agencies, which warrants or obligations may draw interest at any rate not to exceed six per centum (6%) per annum, and may be payable within such time and on such terms as may be agreed upon between the lending agency and the public municipal corporation to which the loan is made; and such counties, cities, towns, and other public municipal corporations are further expressly authorized to pledge the taxes and/or revenues provided for such counties, cities, towns, and other public municipal corporations, under the Constitution and Laws of this State, in payment of such loans made to them by the Government of the United States, or any agency of such Government. Provided, however, that the powers to issue warrants or other obligations by the governing boards of the public municipal corporations herein enumerated or referred to shall be contingent upon an affirmative authorizing vote by a majority of the qualified voters voting in an election called for that purpose under conditions set forth in the statutes governing special elections, except where the warrants or other evidences of obligations are issued for funds to be used to repair damage caused by any tropical hurricane during the year 1933.

Sec. 3. All funds granted or lent to counties, cities, towns, or other public municipal corporations of this State by the Government of the United States or any agency of such Government shall be administered by the officers of such public municipal corporation in the same manner that construction and maintenance funds of such corporations are required to be administered under the Constitution and Laws of this State.

Sec. 4. All funds granted or lent to non-profit corporations by the Government of the United States, or any agency of such Government, shall be administered by the officers of such non-profit corporation in accordance with its by-laws and under such rules and regulations as the lending agency may prescribe; and may be lent by such corporations to persons, firms, and corporations that have been injured or damaged by a tropical hurricane during the year, 1933.

Art. 1644c-1. Authority to Borrow Money in Counties of 8,300 to 8,600

Sec. 1. All counties of this State having a population of more than eight thousand, three hundred (8,300) but less than eight thousand, six hundred (8,600) according to the last preceding United States Census, are hereby expressly authorized and empowered to borrow money from any source, public or private, in any amount not to exceed the aggregate principal amount of One Hundred and Sixty-five Thousand Dollars ($165,000). By the term "aggregate principal amount" is meant the total of the sums so borrowed by any county under the provisions of this Act, and not the balance owing and due by any county at any one time.

Sec. 2. Such counties are further hereby expressly authorized and empowered to issue time warrants and/or other obligations of such counties in evidence of money borrowed, which warrants or obligations may draw interest at any rate not to exceed four percent (4%) per annum, and may be payable within such time, not to exceed ten (10) years, and on such terms as may be agreed upon between the lending agency and the county to which the loan is made; and such counties are further expressly authorized to levy taxes and to pledge any taxes and/or revenues provided for such counties, under the Constitution and Laws of this state, in payment of such loans.

Sec. 3. The Commissioners Court of any such county qualifying under Section 1 is empowered with authority to approve the issuance of such warrants or obligations which may be in any amount or amounts, providing that the total of such warrants or obligations does not exceed One Hundred and Sixty-five Thousand Dollars ($165,000). No such warrants or obligations shall be issued, sold or delivered after five years from the effective date of this Act.

Sec. 4. Such warrants or obligations, upon approval by the Commissioners Court, shall be signed by the county judge and county clerk of such county.

Sec. 5. Such warrants or obligations, when issued and signed in accordance with the provisions of this Act, shall constitute valid obligations of such counties.

Sec. 6. This Act shall be cumulative of all other Laws, General and Special, relating to the subject matter hereof.

Art. 1644d. Validation of Purchases by Counties to Satisfy Claims

All purchases, pursuant to Legislative enactment of the property of any debtor or debtors, at any sale under any proceedings bankruptcy, receivership or in any other judicial proceeding whatever, heretofore made by any county in this State whose population did not exceed fifteen thousand (15,000) according to the last United States Census, and which had a claim or claims for money against any such person, partnership, corporation, joint stock or other associations, amounting to at least fifty (50) per cent of all the claims against such debtor, and where the Commissioners Court of any such county has deemed it necessary or advisable to so purchase said property to protect the interest of such county, and all conveyances, transfers and assignments to any such county of real and personal property so purchased, and the liquidation of such assets by the Commissioners Court of any such county heretofore done, and all sales, conveyances, transfers and assignments of real and personal property, oil, gas and mineral leases, and other transfers, conveyances and assignments made by any such county to any and all purchasers in connection therewith, whether such sales were made at public or private sale, be and the same are here and now in all things fully and completely validated, ratified and confirmed. [Acts 1935, 44th Leg., p. 231, ch. 94, § 1.]

Art. 1644e. Fiscal Year

Sec. 1. The commissioners court of a county at a regular meeting may adopt an order making the fiscal year of the county a one-year period beginning on October 1 of each year.

Sec. 2. The fiscal year of a county is a calendar year unless the commissioners court has adopted a fiscal year that begins on October 1 pursuant to Section 1 of this Act.

Sec. 3. If the commissioners court of a county adopts a fiscal year that begins on October 1, it may revert to a fiscal year based on a calendar year by adopting an order to that effect at a regular meeting.

Sec. 4. If a law prescribes a certain date or month each year for taking action with regard to a county budget, and the law is based on the assumption that the county fiscal year is a calendar year, in counties that have a fiscal year that begins on October 1 the law shall be construed as prescribing a date or month three months earlier than the date or month specified in the law.

Art. 1644f. Contracts for Deposit of Public Funds in Counties of Less Than 200,000

The commissioners court of any county with a population of less than 200,000 is hereby authorized at the February regular term thereof to enter into a contract with any banking corporation, association, or individual banker in such county for the depositing of the public funds of such county in such bank or banks; provided, however, that such commissioners court is required at the February regular term thereof next following each general election to enter into such contracts for the depositing of public funds. Notice that such contracts will be made by the commissioners court shall be published by and over the name of the county judge once each week for at least 20 days before the commencement of such term in some newspaper published in said county, and if no newspaper be published therein, then in any newspaper published in the nearest county. In addition thereto, notice shall be published by posting same at the courthouse door of said county.

2. COUNTY AUDITOR

Art. 1645. Appointment in Certain Counties; Term of Office; Compensation

Sec. 1. In any county having a population of 10,000 inhabitants or over according to the last preceding Federal Census, there shall be appointed every two years an auditor of accounts and finances, the title of said office to be County Auditor, who shall hold his office for two years and who shall receive as compensation for his services an annual salary from the County General Fund of not more than the amount allowed or paid the Assessor-Collector of Taxes in his county, such salary of the County Auditor to be fixed and determined by the District Judge or District Judges making such appointment and having jurisdiction in the county, a majority ruling, said annual salary to be paid monthly out of the General Fund of the county. The action of the District Judge or District Judges in determining and fixing the salary of the County Auditor shall be made by order and recorded in the minutes of the District Court of the county and the Clerk thereof shall certify the same for observance to the Commissioners Court which shall cause the same to be recorded in its minutes.

Sec. 2. In addition to the procedure for the appointment of a County Auditor prescribed by Article 1646, a County Auditor may be appointed in a county in which the office is not required under Section 1 of this article if the District Judge or District Judges having jurisdiction in the county, by majority vote, determine that the county's financial circumstances warrant the appointment. The provisions of Section 1 of this article relating to salary and term of office apply to a County Auditor appointed under this section. A County Auditor appointed under this section shall qualify for office and perform the duties of a County Auditor as provided by law.

Sec. 3. At least once every two years, the Commissioners Court of a county not having the office of County Auditor shall have conducted an independent audit of the books, records, and accounts of the county's officers, agents, and employees and of any other matters relating to the county's fiscal affairs.

Art. 1645a-6. County Auditors in Counties of 14,850 to 14,920 Population; Qualification; Salary

Sec. 1. From and after the effective date of this Act in all counties in this State having a population of not less than fourteen thousand, eight hundred and fifty (14,850), and not more than fourteen thousand, nine hundred and twenty (14,920), according to the last preceding Federal Census, or any subsequent Federal Census, the Commissioners Court in such counties, if they shall determine that an Auditor is a public necessity in the dispatch of the county business, and shall enter an order upon the minutes of said Court, fully setting out the reasons and necessities for such Auditor, and shall cause said order to be certified to the District Judge having jurisdiction in the counties hereinabove set out, said Judge shall, if such reasons be considered good and sufficient, appoint a County Auditor as provided in Article 1647 of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas of 1925, and upon the appointment by said Judge of such Auditor, such Auditor shall qualify by taking the oath of office and giving the bond as now provided in Article 1649 of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas of 1925.

Sec. 2. When the Auditor, as hereinabove provided, shall have qualified by taking the oath and giving the bond, as provided in Section 1 hereof, he shall be authorized to perform all the duties now required of Auditors generally in counties of this State, as provided in Title 34 of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, and amendments thereto not in conflict herewith, and shall receive a salary not to exceed Two Thousand, Four Hundred Dollars ($2,400) per annum, said salary to be paid in equal monthly installments and shall be paid from the County General Fund, of such counties, the Jury Fund, the Road and Bridge Fund, the Permanent Improvement Fund, in proportion and on the percentage of levies made for each respective Fund, and in proportion that such levies bear to the total salary of such Auditor.

Sec. 3. This Act shall be deemed cumulative of all general provisions now authorizing the employment of Auditors, and it is not intended by this Act to repeal any law, or parts of law, not in conflict herewith.

Art. 1645a-7. Abolition of Office of County Auditor in Counties of 25,500 to 25,610

No County having a population of not less than twenty-five thousand five hundred fifty (25,550), nor more than twenty-five thousand six hundred ten (25,610), according to the last preceding or any future Federal Census, shall have a County Auditor, and the office of County Auditor is hereby abolished in any and all such Counties, and the duties of the office of County Auditor in such Counties shall be performed by such other officers of the County, as may be provided by General Law.

Art. 1645a-8. County Auditors in Counties of 25,450 to 25,500; Appointment; Compensation; Term of Office

In any county having a population of not less than twenty-five thousand, four hundred and fifty (25,450) nor more than twenty-five thousand, five hundred (25,500) according to the last preceding Federal Census, there shall be biennially appointed an auditor of accounts and finances, the title of said officer to be "County Auditor," who shall hold his office for two (2) years and who shall receive as compensation for his services the sum of Eighteen Hundred Dollars ($1800) per annum payable in equal monthly installments out of the General Fund of the county upon order of the Commissioners Court.

Art. 1645a-9. Office Abolished in Counties of 3,000 to 25,500

No County Auditor shall hereafter be appointed in any county having a population of not more than twenty-five thousand, five hundred (25,500) and not less than three thousand (3,000) where no such County Auditor has been appointed by the District Judge prior to the effective date of this Act, except upon the petition of the County Commissioners Court and in all such counties the duties of such County Auditor in such County shall be performed by other officers as may be prescribed by general law.

Art. 1645a-10. Auditors in Counties of 2,000,000 or More; Election by Judges; Term of Office

Sec. 1. In any county having a population of 2,000,000 or more, according to the last preceding federal census, the district judges having jurisdiction in the county, shall nominate candidates for the office of county auditor. Each judge may nominate as many candidates as he wishes. The office of county auditor shall be filled by the candidate receiving a two-thirds vote of the district judges having jurisdiction in the county at a meeting held for that purpose and the vote of a district judge shall not be counted unless he is present at the meeting.

Sec. 2. The term of office of the county auditor in counties to which this Act applies is two years, beginning on January 1 of odd-numbered years. The initial appointee under this Act shall be appointed within 20 days after this Act takes effect and shall serve for the unexpired portion of the term of office specified in this section.

Sections 3 and 4 of the 1971 Act provide:

"Sec. 3. As used in this Act, 'the last preceding federal census' means the 1970 census or any future decennial federal census. This is despite any legislation that has been or may be enacted during any session of the 62nd Legislature delaying the effectiveness of the 1970 census for general state and local governmental purposes.

"Sec. 4. If any provision of this Act or the application thereof to any person or circumstances is held invalid, such invalidity shall not affect other provisions or applications of the Act which can be given effect without the invalid provision or application, and to this end the provisions of this Act are declared to be severable."

Art. 1645a-12. Abolition of Office of County Auditor in McCulloch County; Election; Audit

Sec. 1. The office of county auditor of McCulloch County is abolished.

Sec. 2. The Commissioners Court of McCulloch County shall require that an annual audit of their books and records be made by an outside Certified Public Accounting Firm selected by the commissioners court with the approval of the district judge of the state judicial district in which McCulloch County is located. Such annual audit shall verify, among other things, that all expenditures of funds authorized by the Court were made according to applicable law.

Sec. 3. This Act takes effect only if and when an election is called and held by the commissioners court in which the ballots are printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition, "Abolishing the office of county auditor," and in which a majority of the qualified voters of the county voting on the proposition vote in favor of the proposition as shown by the official canvass of the returns of the election by the commissioners court.

In counties having more than one hundred and ninety thousand (190,000) and not more than two hundred thousand (200,000) inhabitants according to the last Federal Census where there is a city and county hospital to care for the city and county patients, and where a financial record for such hospital must be kept and reports made to the city and county, the Auditor shall, in addition to the regular duties performed by him as required by law, keep such financial record of such hospital, and make such report to the executive bodies of the city and county, the Mayor and City Councilmen for the city, and the County Judge and County Commissioners for the county.

Art. 1645g. Audits and Reports Respecting Certain Monies by County Auditors in Counties of 320,000 to 350,000 Population

All County Auditors in counties having a population of more than three hundred and twenty thousand (320,000) and less than three hundred and fifty thousand (350,000) persons by the last preceding Federal Census or any future Federal Census are hereby authorized, empowered and directed to make a complete audit of any and all monies, property or funds of whatsoever kind or character received, expended or disposed of in any manner by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the County Board of Trustees and/or County Superintendent of Schools in any such county. A copy of the auditor's report shall be filed with the Commissioners Court and with the County or District Attorney at the end of each fiscal year.

Art. 1645h. County Auditor as Purchasing Agent in Counties of 41,680 to 42,100; Salary

In all counties having a population according to the last preceding Federal Census of not less than forty-one thousand, six hundred and eighty (41,680) inhabitants and not more than forty-two thousand, one hundred (42,100) inhabitants, the County Auditor, in addition to the regular duties performed by him as now required by law, shall act as Purchasing Agent for the County, and shall receive a salary of Thirty-seven Hundred and Fifty Dollars ($3750) per annum, payable in twelve (12) equal monthly installments out of the General Revenues of the county.

Art. 1646. Auditors for Other Counties

When the Commissioners' Court of a county not mentioned and enumerated in the preceding Article shall determine that an Auditor is a public necessity in the dispatch of the county business, and shall enter an order upon the minutes of said Court fully setting out the reason for and necessity of an Auditor, and shall cause such order to be certified to the District Judge or District Judges having jurisdiction in the county, said Judge or Judges shall, if said reason be considered good and sufficient, appoint a County Auditor as provided in the preceding Article, who shall qualify and perform all the duties required of County Auditors by the laws of this State, and who shall receive as compensation for his services as County Auditor an annual salary of not more than the annual total compensation and/or salary allowed or paid the Assessor and Collector of Taxes in his county, and not less than the annual salary allowed such County Auditor under the General Law provided in Article 1645, Revised Civil Statutes, as said Article existed on January 1, 1940, such salary of the County Auditor to be determined and fixed by the District Judge or District Judges having jurisdiction in the county, a majority thereof ruling, said annual salary to be paid monthly out of the general fund of the county. The action of said District Judge or District Judges in determining and fixing the salary of the County Auditor shall be made by order and recorded in the minutes of the District Court of the county, and the Clerk thereof shall certify the same for observance to the Commissioners' Court which shall cause the same to be recorded in its minutes; after the salary of the County Auditor has been fixed by the District Judge or District Judges, no change in such salary shall thereafter become effective until the beginning of the next ensuing fiscal year of the county; provided, however, any increase in the salary of any such County Auditor, over and above the annual salary allowed such County Auditor under the general law provided in Article 1645, as said Article existed on January 1, 1940, shall only be allowed or permitted with the express consent and approval of the Commissioners' Court of the county whose County Auditor is affected or may be affected by the provisions of this Act; such consent and approval of such Commissioners' Court shall be made by order of such Court and recorded in the minutes of the Commissioners' Court of such County. Provided, said District Judge or District Judges shall have the power to discontinue the services of a County Auditor as provided for in this Article at any time after the expiration of one (1) year from the appointment, when it is clearly shown that such Auditor is not a public necessity, and his services are not commensurate with his salary.

Art. 1646a. County Auditors

The commissioners' court of any county under twenty-five thousand population according to the last United States census may make an arrangement or agreement with one or more other counties whereby all counties, parties to the arrangement or agreement, may jointly employ and compensate a special auditor or auditors for the purposes specified in Articles 1645 and 1646. The county commissioners' court of every county affected by this article may have an audit made of all the books of the county, or any of them, at any time they may desire whether such arrangements can be made with other counties or not; provided the district judge or grand jury may order said audit if either so desires.

Art. 1646b. Joint Employment of County Auditor in Counties Under 25,000 Population

Sec. 1. The Commissioners Court of any county under twenty-five thousand (25,000) population according to the last United States Census may make an arrangement or agreement with one or more other such counties whereby all counties, parties to the arrangement or agreement, may jointly employ and compensate an auditor for said counties, respectively.

After such agreement or arrangement has been entered into by and between the Commissioners Courts of said counties, and they shall have determined that an auditor is a public necessity in the disposition of county business, and shall have entered an order upon the minutes of the Courts to that effect, they shall cause said orders to be certified to the District Judge or District Judges having jurisdiction in the respective counties. Said Judge or Judges shall, if said orders be considered good and sufficient, appoint a qualified person who shall act as county auditor for each of said counties. Such auditor shall qualify and perform all of the duties required of county auditors by the laws of this State, and in addition to the regular duties performed by him as required by law, shall act as purchasing agent for each of said counties.

Such county auditor shall be appointed for a term of two years from and after such appointment. The annual salary to be paid such county auditor by each county, shall be fixed by the District Judge or District Judges at a sum not in excess of Three Thousand ($3,000.00) Dollars for each county. Provided, that where such county auditor serves more than two counties under such arrangement or agreement, his total annual compensation shall not exceed Seven Thousand Five Hundred ($7,500.00) Dollars from all of said counties. Such annual salary shall be paid out of the General Fund of the counties in twelve equal monthly payments.

The action of the District Judge or District Judges in making such appointment and in determining and fixing the salary of the county auditor shall be made by order entered and recorded in the minutes of the District Courts of the counties entering into such arrangement or agreement, and the District Clerk of said counties shall certify the same for observance to the Commissioners Courts of said counties which shall cause the same to be recorded in their minutes. Provided, said District Judge or District Judges shall have the power to discontinue the services of the county auditor at any time after the expiration of one year from his appointment when in their opinion such county auditor is no longer a public necessity and his services are not commensurate with his salary. In all matters herein required to be done by the District Judges a majority action shall control.

Sec. 2. The provisions of this law shall be cumulative of all other provisions of the laws pertaining to county auditors.

Art. 1647. Appointment

The district judges having jurisdiction in the county, shall appoint the county auditor at a special meeting held for that purpose, a majority ruling; provided, that if a majority of such judges fail to agree upon the selection of some person as auditor, then either of said judges shall certify such fact to the Governor, who shall thereupon appoint some other district judge to act and vote with the aforesaid judges in the selection of such auditor. The action shall then be recorded in the minutes of the district court of the county and the clerk thereof shall certify the same to the commissioners court, which shall cause the same to be recorded in its minutes together with an order directing the payment of the auditor's salary.

Art. 1648. Qualification

Said auditor shall be a citizen of the county of at least two years residence, and must be a man of unquestionable good moral character and intelligence, thoroughly competent in public business details; and he must be a competent accountant of at least two years experience in auditing and accounting. The judges making such appointment must first carefully investigate and consider the qualifications of said person. If no such qualified citizen of the county can be procured, said judges may appoint a qualified citizen from another county.

Art. 1649. Bond and Oath

The Auditor shall within twenty days of his appointment and before he enters upon the duties of his office make bond with two or more good and sufficient personal sureties or a good and sufficient surety bond in the minimum sum of $5,000 payable to the District Judge or District Judges conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties to be approved by the District Judge or District Judges having jurisdiction of the county, a majority ruling. He shall also take the official oath and an additional one in writing stating that he is in every way qualified under the provisions and requirements of this title and giving fully the positions of private or public trust he has heretofore held and the length of service under each. He shall further include in his oath that he will not be personally interested in any contracts with the county.

Art. 1650. Organization

The County Auditor of any county of this State may, at any time, with the consent of the District Judge or District Judges having jurisdiction as hereinafter provided, appoint a first assistant and other assistants who shall be authorized to discharge such duties as may be assigned to them by the County Auditor and provided for by law. In counties where only one assistant is appointed, such assistant shall be authorized to act for the County Auditor during his absence or unavoidable detention with respect to such duties as are required by law of the County Auditor. In counties in which more than one assistant shall be appointed, the County Auditor may designate the assistant who shall be authorized to act for him during his absence or unavoidable detention. All of said assistants shall take the usual oath of office for faithful performance of duty and may be required to give such bond as the County Auditor may determine, which bond shall be paid for by the County and shall run in favor of the county and of the County Auditor as their interest may appear.

The County Auditor shall prepare a list of the number of deputies sought to be appointed, their duties, qualifications and experience, and the salaries to be paid each, and shall certify the list to the District Judge, or in the event of more than one District Judge in the county, to the District Judges, and the District Judge or the District Judges shall then carefully consider the application for the appointment of said assistants and may make all necessary inquiries concerning the qualifications of the persons named, the positions sought to be filled and the reasonableness of the salaries requested, and if, after such consideration, the District Judge, or in the event of more than one District Judge, a majority of the District Judges shall approve the appointments sought to be made or any number thereof, he or they shall prepare a list of the appointees so approved and the salaries to be paid each and certify said list to the Commissioners Court of said county. The Commissioners Court shall thereupon order the amount paid from the General Fund of said county upon the performance of the services; and said Court shall appropriate adequate funds for the purpose. Temporary assistants as may be needed may be appointed in cases of bona fide emergencies, the number of such temporary assistants, their salaries and the duration of employment to be recommended by the County Auditor but to be determined by the District Judge or by a majority of the District Judges as the occasion may require; in like manner the District Judge or a majority of the District Judges may authorize the appointment of additional regular assistants when in their judgment a necessity exists therefor. The County Auditor shall have the right to discontinue the services of any assistant employed in accordance with the provisions of this Article, but no assistant shall be employed except in the manner herein provided. The District Judge or District Judges giving consent to the Auditor to appoint an assistant or assistants shall annually have the right to withdraw such consent and change the number of assistants permitted.

The County Auditor shall be authorized to provide himself with all necessary ledgers, books, records, blanks, stationery, equipment, telephone and postage at the county's expense, but all purchases thereof shall be made in the manner provided for by law.

Art. 1650a. Mileage Expenses

The commissioners court may reimburse the county auditor for expenses incurred in traveling to and from the county seat in his personal automobile to perform his official duties and to attend conferences and seminars relating to the performance of his official duties. However, the commissioners court may not reimburse the auditor for expenses incurred in traveling between his personal residence and county office, or for expenses incurred in any other travel of a personal nature. The commissioners court by order shall fix the rate of reimbursement at a reasonable rate. Reimbursement shall be made monthly from the appropriate county funds on submission of sworn expense reports by the county auditor.

In all counties having a population of 2,000,000 or more according to the last preceding or any future federal census, the commissioners court may reimburse the county auditor and his assistants for expenses incurred in traveling to and from the county seat in their personal automobiles to perform official duties and to attend conferences and seminars relating to the performance of official duties. However, the commissioners court may not reimburse the auditor or his assistants for expenses incurred in traveling between their personal residence and county office, or for expenses incurred in any other travel of a personal nature. The commissioners court by order shall fix the rate of reimbursement at a reasonable rate. Reimbursement shall be made monthly from the appropriate county funds on submission of sworn expense reports by the county auditor and his assistants.

Art. 1652. Repealed by Acts 1969, 61st Leg., p. 514, ch. 178, § 1, eff. Sept. 1, 1969

Art. 1653. To Examine Accounts

He shall have continual access to and shall examine all the books, accounts, reports, vouchers and other records of any officer, the orders of the commissioners court, relating to finances of the county, and all vouchers given by the trustee of all common school districts of the county and shall inquire into the correctness of same.

Art. 1654. To Examine Reports

All reports of collections of money for the county required to be made to the commissioners court shall also be carefully examined and reported on by him. He shall at least once in each quarter check the books and examine all the reports of the tax collector, the treasurer and all other officers, in detail, verifying the footings and correctness of same, and shall stamp his approval thereon, or note any differences, errors or discrepancies. He shall carefully examine the quarterly report of the treasurer, of all the disbursements, together with the canceled warrants which have been paid, and shall verify the same with the register of warrants issued as shown on the books of the auditor.

Art. 1655. To Count Cash

The auditor, without giving any notice beforehand, shall examine fully into the condition of, or inspect and count the cash in the hands of the county treasurer, or in the bank in which he may have placed same for safe keeping, not less than once in each quarter, and oftener if desired, and shall see that all balances to the credit of the various funds are actually on hand in cash, and that none of said funds are invested in any manner, except as the law may authorize.

Art. 1656. To Prescribe Forms and Rules

He shall prescribe and prepare the forms to be used by all persons in the collection of county revenues, funds, fees and all other moneys, and the mode and manner of keeping and stating their accounts, and the time, mode and manner of making their reports to the auditor, also the mode and manner of making their annual report of office fees collected and disbursed, and the amount refunded to the county in excess of those allowed under the general fee bill law. He shall have power to adopt and enforce such regulations not inconsistent with the constitution and laws, as he may deem essential to the speedy and proper collection, checking and accounting of the revenues and other funds and fees belonging to the county.

Art. 1656a. County Auditor in Certain Counties to Prescribe Accounting System; Deposit of Funds in County Depository

The County Auditor in counties having a population of one hundred ninety thousand (190,000) or more according to the last preceding or any future Federal Census shall prescribe the system of accounting for the county and the forms to be used by the District Clerk, the District Attorney and all county and precinct officers and by all persons in the collection and disbursement of county revenues, funds, fees, and all other moneys collected in an official capacity whether belonging to the county, its subdivisions or precincts, or to, or for the use or benefit of, any person, firm, or corporation; he shall prescribe the mode and manner in which the District Clerk, the District Attorney and all county and precinct officers shall keep their accounts, and he shall have the power to require all officers to furnish monthly, annual, or other reports under oath of all moneys, taxes, or fees of every nature received, disbursed, or remaining on hand; and in connection with such reports he shall have the right to count the cash on hand with such officer, or to verify the amount on deposit in the bank in which such officer may have placed the same for safekeeping. He shall have the power to adopt and enforce such regulations not inconsistent with the Constitution and laws as he may deem essential to the speedy and proper collection and checking of, and accounting for, the revenues and other funds and fees belonging to the county or to any person, firm, or corporation for whom any of said officers may have made collections, or for whose use or benefit they may have received or may hold such funds. All of the fees, commissions, funds, and moneys herein referred to shall be turned over to the County Treasurer by such officer as collected, and such money shall be deposited in the county depository in a special fund to the credit of such officer and draw interest for the benefit of the county, which funds, when so deposited in such depository, shall be secured by the bond of such depository. Thereafter the officer may draw checks on the County Treasurer to disburse said funds in the payment of salaries and expenses authorized by law or in payment to the county or to the persons, firms, or corporations to whom said funds may belong. The Treasurer and the depository shall make no payment unless such check is countersigned by the County Auditor. The deposit of funds in the County Treasury shall not in any wise change the ownership of any fund so deposited except to indemnify said officer and his bondsmen or other owners of such funds for such funds during the period of deposit with the county. At the close of any fiscal year or accounting period now or hereafter fixed by law, the County Auditor shall audit, adjust, and settle the accounts of such officer. In the event the County Auditor shall be unable to obtain proper reports or an adequate accounting from any District Attorney, District Clerk, county or precinct officer as herein provided, either during or after his term of office, the County Auditor shall have authority to enforce an accounting thereof, and to take such steps at the expense of the county as are necessary in his judgment to protect the interests of the county or of the persons, firms, or corporations entitled to such funds.

Art. 1656b. Reports to County Auditor by County and District Clerks as to Trust Funds; Countersigning Checks

In all counties having a population of one hundred ninety thousand (190,000) or more, according to the last preceding or any future Federal Census, and in which the Commissioners Court may have provided, or shall hereafter provide, for a depository for the trust funds of the County Clerk and of the District Clerk, said officers shall each make to the County Auditor in such form as he may prescribe such monthly or other reports under oath as he may require to reflect properly all trust funds received and disbursed by such officer, including all moneys remaining on hand at the time of such report. All checks issued for the disbursement of said funds shall be issued in accordance with the laws providing for trust fund depositories and such checks shall be submitted to the County Auditor for his counter-signature prior to delivery or payment, and said County Auditor shall countersign said checks only upon written evidence of the order of the Judge of the Court in which said funds have been deposited, authorizing the disbursement of such funds.

Art. 1656c. State Comptroller of Public Accounts to Prescribe Uniform System of Accounts

Sec. 1. The State Comptroller of Public Accounts shall prescribe and prepare the forms to be used by all county officials in the collection of county revenues, funds, fees, and other moneys, and in the disbursement of all funds, and shall prescribe the mode and manner of keeping and stating their accounts, which forms shall be so prepared, as in the judgment of the Comptroller will meet the needs of counties of different sizes in the State.

Sec. 2. In order that a modern and uniform system of accounts, properly suited to the needs of the counties in keeping their financial records may be prescribed, the Comptroller is hereby authorized and directed to make a survey and study of the financial records, reports, books and forms now in use by the counties of this State and to make such revisions and prescribe such forms as he may deem necessary.

Art. 1657. Deposits

Sec. 1. Except as provided in Section 2 of this article, all deposits that are made in the county treasury shall be upon a deposit warrant issued by the county clerk in triplicate; said warrants shall authorize the treasurer to receive the amount named, for what purpose, and to which fund the same shall be applied. The treasurer shall retain the original; and the duplicate shall be signed and returned to the county clerk for the county auditor and the triplicate signed and returned to the depositor. The auditor shall then enter same upon his books, charging the amounts to the county treasurer and crediting the party depositing same. The treasurer shall not, under any circumstances, receive any money in any other manner than that named herein.

Sec. 2. The commissioners court of a county may adopt an order relieving the county clerk of all duties prescribed in Section 1 of this article. If an order of that type is adopted, the county treasurer shall receive all deposits that are made in the county treasury. The county treasurer shall prepare a triplicate receipt for all moneys received, retain one copy of the receipt, and transmit the original to the county auditor and a copy to the depositor. The county auditor shall prescribe for the county treasurer a system for receiving and depositing all moneys received which is not inconsistent with this section.

Art. 1657a. Relieving Clerk of Certain Duties Prescribed by Article 1657 in Counties of over 2,000,000

In counties containing a population in excess of 2,000,000 inhabitants according to the last preceding federal census, the county clerk is relieved of all duties prescribed by Article 1657, Revised Civil Statutes of the State of Texas, 1925. The county treasurer shall prepare a triplicate receipt for all moneys received, retain one copy of the receipt, and transmit the original and duplicate to the county auditor and the depositor, respectively. The county auditor shall prescribe for the county treasurer a system for receiving and depositing all moneys received; provided that such system shall not be inconsistent with the provisions of this Act.

Art. 1658. Bids for Supplies

Bids shall be asked for all supplies of stationery, books, blanks, records, and other supplies for the various officers for which the county is required to pay, and the purchase made from the lowest bidder, after filing said bid with the auditor for record.

Art. 1659. Bids for Material

Supplies of every kind, road and bridge material, or any other material, for the use of said county, or any of its officers, departments, or institutions must be purchased on competitive bids, the contract to be awarded to the party who, in the judgment of the commissioners court, has submitted the lowest and best bid. The county auditor shall advertise the bidding at least once a week for two consecutive weeks in at least one newspaper published and circulated in the county. The advertisements shall state where the specifications are to be found, and shall give the time and place for receiving the bids. Publication of the first advertisement shall precede the last day for receiving bids by at least 14 days. All such competitive bids shall be kept on file by the county auditor as a part of the records of his office, and shall be subject to inspection by any one desiring to see them. Copies of all bids received shall be furnished by the county auditor to the county judge and to the commissioners court; and when the bids received are not satisfactory to the said judge or county commissioners, the auditor shall reject said bids and readvertise for new bids. In cases of emergency, purchases not in excess of $1,000 may be made upon requisition to be approved by the commissioners court without advertising for competitive bids.

Art. 1659a. Counties of 900,000 or More; Bids for Supplies or Materials; Advertising; Filing

In all counties having a population of nine hundred thousand (900,000) or more, according to the last preceding or any future Federal Census, supplies of every kind, road and bridge material, or any other material, for the use of said county, or any of its officers, departments, or institutions must be purchased on competitive bids, the contract to be awarded to the party who, in the judgment of the Commissioners Court, has submitted the lowest and best bid. Where the total expenditure for any such purchase or any such contract shall exceed Two Thousand Dollars ($2,000), advertisements for bids for such supplies and material, according to specifications giving in detail what is needed, shall be made by the county purchasing agent once each week for two (2) successive weeks in a daily newspaper published and circulated in the county. Such advertisements shall state where the specifications are to be found, and shall state the time and place for receiving such bids. All bids shall be publicly opened on the day and time appointed. A copy of such competitive bids shall be kept on file after opening by the county auditor as a part of the records of his office, and shall be subject to inspection by anyone desiring to see them. All bids received shall be furnished by the county purchasing agent to the Commissioners Court; and when the bids received are not satisfactory to the Commissioners Court, the Commissioners Court shall reject that bid or bids and readvertise for new bids.

In the event of an emergency which precludes the obtaining of bids in accordance with the foregoing provisions, or in the case of a public calamity, where it becomes necessary to appropriate supplies or other materials to preserve the property of the county, or to relieve the necessity of its citizens, the Commissioners Court may by order specifically setting forth the nature of the emergency or public calamity permit the purchase of supplies, road and bridge materials, or any other materials without first taking bids in the manner described above.

All bids taken pursuant to the provisions of this article which shall exceed the amount of Two Thousand Dollars ($2,000) may be secured by a certified check, cashiers check, or a bid bond, in the amount of 5 percent of the amount of the bid, payable to the county and conditioned in the case of a bid bond that the successful bidder will supply the materials or supplies described in the bid. In addition, if so described in the specifications to which the bid is directed, a bidder shall condition the bid bond which shall be required in the specifications upon the further condition that the successful bidder will enter into a performance bond for the supplying of the supplies, road and bridge materials, or any other materials, if awarded the contract for which the bid is submitted. The bond, if one is required by the Commissioners Court, shall be in a sum equal to the amount of money to be paid by the county under the contract and shall be executed by a surety company authorized to do business in Texas and having an agent within the county, and having a capital stock of $100,000 or more. All bonds which may be tendered hereunder shall be filed with the office of the County Clerk.

Art. 1659b. Counties of 800,000 to 900,000; Bids for Supplies or Materials; Advertising; Filing

In all counties having a population of not less than 800,000 nor more than 900,000, according to the last preceding federal census, and having an assessed valuation of $800,000,000 or more, supplies of every kind, road and bridge material, or any other material, for the use of said county, or any of its officers, departments, or institutions must be purchased on competitive bids, the contract to be awarded to the party who, in the judgment of the commissioners court, has submitted the lowest and best bid. Where the total expenditure for any such purchase or any such contract shall exceed $1,000, advertisements for bids for such supplies and material, according to purchasing specifications giving in detail what is needed, shall be made by the purchasing agent, if the county has no purchasing agent then by the county auditor, once each week for two successive weeks in a daily newspaper published and circulated in the county. Such advertisements shall state where the specifications are to be found, and shall give the time and place for receiving such bids. Where the amount to be expended shall be $1,000, or less, it shall not be necessary to advertise for bids, but sealed bids shall be asked from as many as three persons, firms, or corporations, or as many more as shall offer to bid, based on written specifications filed with the purchasing agent or auditor as the case may be, at least 48 hours before the time of opening said sealed bids. All such competitive bids shall be kept on file by the purchasing agent or auditor, as the case may be, as a part of the records of his office, and shall be subject to inspection by anyone desiring to see them. Copies of all bids received shall be furnished by the purchasing agent or auditor to the commissioners court; and when the bids received are not satisfactory to the commissioners court, the purchasing agent or auditor shall reject said bids and readvertise for new bids, where the amount to be expended exceeds $1,000, or ask for new bids, where the amount to be expended shall be $1,000 or less. In cases of emergency, purchases or contracts not in excess of $1,000 may be made upon requisition to be approved by the commissioners court, without advertising for competitive bids or asking for competitive bids.

Art. 1660. Approval of Claims

All claims, bills and accounts against the county must be filed in ample time for the auditor to examine and approve same before the meetings of the commissioners court. No claim, bill or account shall be allowed or paid until it has been examined and approved by the county auditor. The auditor shall examine the same and stamp his approval thereon. If he deems it necessary, all such accounts, bill, or claims must be verified by affidavit touching the correctness of the same. The auditor is hereby authorized to administer oaths for the purposes of this law.

Art. 1661. Requisites of Approval

Sec. 1. He shall not audit or approve any such claim unless it has been contracted as provided by law, nor any account for the purchase of supplies or materials for the use of said county or any of its officers, unless, in addition to other requirements of law, there is attached thereto a requisition signed by the officer ordering same and approved by the county judge. Said requisition must be made out and signed and approved in triplicate by the said officers, the triplicate to remain with the officer desiring the purchase, the duplicate to be filed with the county auditor, and the original to be delivered to the party from whom said purchase is to be made before any purchase shall be made. All warrants on the county treasurer, except warrants for jury service, must be countersigned by the county auditor.

Sec. 2. The county judge of a county having an auditor may waive by his own written order the approval of the county judge on requisitions. The order shall be recorded in the minutes of the Commissioners Court. If the county judge's approval is waived, all claims must be approved by the Commissioners Court in open court.

Art. 1662. Register of Warrants

He shall keep a register of all warrants issued by the judges or the district or county clerks on the county treasurer, and their dates of payment by the treasurer. Such clerks or judges shall daily furnish the auditor an itemized report specifying the warrants that have been issued, their numbers, their several amounts, the names of the persons to whom payable, and for what purpose, on forms prepared by the auditor.

Art. 1663. Accounts with Officers

He shall keep an account with each person named in the preceding articles and in doing so he shall relieve the county clerk of keeping the finance ledger. His books shall show the detailed items of the indebtedness against all of said officers and the manner of discharging same. He shall require all persons who shall have received any moneys belonging to the county, or having the disposition or management of any property of the county to render statements to him.

Art. 1663a. Penalty

A county official or other person from whom the county auditor is entitled to receive reports, statements, or other information under the provisions of Subdivision 2 of this Title who willfully refuses to comply with any reasonable request of the county auditor concerning those reports, statements, or other information is guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction is punishable by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $200, removal from office, or both a fine and removal from office.

Art. 1663b. Private Business Operation on Public Property; Records and Reports of Receipts and Disbursements

Sec. 1. No county official, his agents, servants, deputies, or employees shall operate a private business on public property unless he shall:

(a) keep an accurate and detailed record of all monies received and disbursed by him; and

(b) file with the county auditor, or the auditing authority of the county, a report covering all of said receipts and disbursements during the immediately preceding calendar year on or before January 1 of each year; and

(c) make available to the county auditor all records of said receipts and disbursements, provided however that this Act shall not apply to compensation received by justices of the peace and official court reporters for performance of an act not required by law of such official.

Sec. 2. Any and all monies received and required to be reported under Section 1 of this Act together with any interest thereon which has been paid by any financial institution as a result of the deposit of said funds over and above any disbursements required to be reported under Section 1 of this Act shall be delivered to the county treasurer at the time of filing said report or at such other regular intervals throughout the year as may be prescribed by the county auditor or auditing authority of the county, provided, however, that this section shall not be applicable to any person, firm or corporation operating or doing business under or by virtue of any written contract with the county.

Sec. 3. If any county official covered by Section 1 of this Act has not complied with Sections 1 and 2 of this Act by February 1 of each year the county auditor shall notify the county or district attorney. The county or district attorney shall, or any qualified voter of the county may, file in the district court of the county a petition for a writ of mandamus to compel compliance with Sections 1 and 2 of this Act.

Sec. 4. In addition to the remedies provided in Section 3 of this Act, any county official, his agents, servants, deputies, or employees, failing to comply with any provision of Section 1 or 2 of this Act or falsifying any records or reports required in Section 1 or 2 of this Act shall be guilty of official misconduct and subject to removal under Title 100, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925 as amended.¹

Art. 1664. General Accounts

He shall keep a general set of books showing all the transactions of the county relating to accounts, contracts, indebtedness of the county, and its receipts and disbursements of all kinds, and shall make tabulated reports of said funds and accounts for each regular meeting of the commissioners court.

Art. 1665. Reports to Commissioners

The County Auditor shall make monthly and annual reports to the Commissioners Court and District Judge or District Judges of his county setting forth all the facts of interest and showing the aggregate amounts received and disbursed out of each fund, the condition of each account on the books, the amounts of county, district and school funds on deposit in the County Depository, showing further the amount of bonded and other indebtedness of the county, together with such other information and suggestions as he may deem proper or that said Commissioners Court or District Judge or District Judges may require. Said annual report shall be made to include all transactions during the year ending December 31st of each year and shall be completed and filed at a regular or special term of the Commissioners Court in the following April and copies of such reports shall be filed with the District Judge or District Judges of said county. Each time an annual audit is delivered to the Commissioners Court and the District Judge or District Judges, as the case may be, the County Auditor shall send a report to the bonding company of each district, county or precinct officer showing the condition of that particular office.

Art. 1666. Budget

He shall prepare an estimate of all the revenues and expenses, and annually submit it to the commissioners court, which court shall carefully make a budget of all appropriations to be set aside for the various expenses of the county government in each branch and department. He shall open an account with each appropriation in said budget, and all warrants drawn against same shall be entered to said account. He shall carefully keep an oversight of same to see that the expenses of any department do not exceed said budget appropriations, and keep said court advised of the condition of said appropriation accounts from time to time.

Art. 1666a. Budget; Counties Over 225,000

(a) The County Auditor in all counties having a population in excess of two hundred and twenty-five thousand (225,000) as shown by the last preceding or any future United States Census shall serve as the budget officer for the Commissioners Courts in each county, and on or immediately after January 1st of each year he shall prepare a budget to cover all proposed expenditures of the county government for the current fiscal and calendar year. Such budget shall be carefully itemized so as to make possible as clear a comparison as practicable between expenditures included in the proposed budget and actual expenditures for the same or similar purposes for the preceding year. The budget shall be so prepared as to show with reasonable accuracy each of the various projects for which appropriations are set up in the budget, and the estimated amount of money carried in the budget for each of such projects. The budget shall contain a complete financial statement of the county, showing all outstanding obligations of the county, the cash on hand to the credit of every and each fund of the county government, the funds received from all sources during the previous year, the funds and revenue estimated by the Auditor to be received from all sources during the previous year, the funds and revenue estimated by the Auditor to be received from all sources during the ensuing year, together with a statement of all accounts and contracts on which sums are due to or by the county as of December 31st of the year preceding, except taxes and court costs. Until a budget has been adopted by the Commissioners Court no payments shall be made during the current year except for emergencies and for obligations legally incurred prior to January 1st of such year for salaries, utilities, materials, and supplies. A copy of the budget shall be filed with the Clerk of the County Court, and it shall be available for inspection by the taxpayer.

(b) The Commissioners Court in each county shall provide for a public hearing on the county budget, which hearing shall take place on some date to be named by the Commissioners Court within seven (7) calendar days after the filing of the budget and prior to January 31st of the current year. Public notice shall be given that on the date of said hearing the budget as prepared by the County Auditor will be considered by the Commissioners Court. Said notice shall name the hour, the date, and the place the hearing shall be conducted, and shall be published once in a newspaper of general circulation in said county. Any taxpayer of such county shall have the right to be present and participate in said hearing. At the conclusion of the hearing, the budget as prepared by the County Auditor shall be acted upon by the Commissioners Court. The Court shall have authority to make such changes in the budget as in its judgment the facts and the law warrant and the interest of the taxpayers demand, provided the amounts budgeted for current expenditures from the various funds of the county shall not exceed the balances in said funds as of January 1st plus the anticipated revenue for the current year for which the budget is made, as estimated by the County Auditor. Upon final approval of the budget by the Commissioners Court, a copy of such budget as approved shall be filed with the County Auditor, the Clerk of the Court, and the State Auditor, and no expenditures of the funds of the county shall thereafter be made except in strict compliance with said budget. Said Court may upon proper application transfer an existing budget surplus during the year to a budget of like kind and fund, but no such transfer shall increase the total of the budget.

(c) In like manner when any bond issue of the county is submitted at an election or anticipation warrants are to be issued against future revenues and a tax levied for said warrants a budget of proposed expenditures shall be adopted and upon the receipt of the proceeds of the sale of any bonds or warrants expenditures shall be made therefrom in the manner hereinafter provided for expenditures for general purposes.

(d) The County Auditor shall certify to the Commissioners Court receipt of all public or private grant or aid money available for disbursement but not included in the current budget. On certification, the Commissioners Court shall adopt a special budget for the limited purpose of expending the grant or aid money for its intended purpose.

(e) Upon the adoption of any general or special budget as hereinbefore provided and its certification, the County Auditor of each county thereupon shall open an appropriation account for each main budgeted or special item therein and it shall be his duty to charge all purchase orders or requisitions, contracts, and salary and labor allowances to said appropriations. Requisitions issued or contracts entered into conformably to the laws of the State of Texas by proper authority for work, labor, services, or materials and supplies shall nevertheless not become effective and binding unless and until there has been issued in connection with such item the certificate of said County Auditor that ample budget provision has been made in the budget therefor and funds are, or will be, on hand to pay the obligation of the county or officer when due. The amount set aside in any budget for any purchase order or requisition, contract, special purpose, or salary and labor account shall not be available for allocation for any other purpose unless an unexpended balance remains in the account after full discharge of the obligation or unless the requisition, contract, or allocation has been cancelled in writing by the Commissioners Court or county officer for a valid reason.

(f) The County Auditor shall make to the Commissioners Court not less than monthly a complete report showing the financial condition of the county. Said report shall be in such form as may be prescribed by said County Auditor and shall set forth all facts of interest concerning the financial condition of the county and shall contain a consolidated balance sheet. The report shall contain a complete statement of the balances on hand at the beginning and close of the month and the aggregate receipts to and aggregate disbursements from each fund, the transfers to and from each fund, the bonded and warrant indebtedness with the rates of interest due thereon, a summarized budget statement showing for each officer, department, or institution budgeted the expenses paid from the budget during the month and for the period of the fiscal year inclusive of the month for which said report is made, also the encumbrances against said budgets, and the amounts available for further expenditures, together with such other information as such officer may deem necessary to reflect the true condition of the finances of such county or the Commissioners Court thereof may require. The County Auditor shall publish once in a daily newspaper published in said county a condensed copy of said report showing the condition of funds and budgets together with such recommendations as he may deem desirable.

(g) In the preparation of the budget, the County Auditor shall have authority to require of any district, county, or precinct officer of the county such information as may be necessary to properly prepare the budget.

Repeal of Conflicting Laws

Acts 1977, 65th Leg., p. 1278, ch. 500, classified as art. 1666b, and providing for a budget officer in certain counties over 1,200,000, provides in § 12 that to the extent that any provisions of the Act conflict with provisions in this article, such provisions in this article are repealed to the extent of the conflict.

Art. 1666b. Budget Officers in Certain Counties
Over 1,200,000

Authorization to Appoint

Sec. 1. In the preparation of the county budget, the commissioners court in counties having a population in excess of 1,200,000, as shown by the last preceding United States Census, may appoint a budget officer to prepare a county budget for the current fiscal and calendar year.

Abolition of Office

Sec. 2. A county which has established an office of county budget officer may abolish such office only by formal action of the commissioners court taken after February 1 and before June 1, at which time the county auditor shall assume all lawful responsibilities as the chief budget officer of the county.

Preparation of Budget

Sec. 3. Such budget shall be carefully itemized so as to make possible as clear a comparison as practicable between expenditures included in the proposed budget and actual expenditures for the same or similar purposes for the preceding year. The budget shall be so prepared as to show with reasonable accuracy each of the various projects for which appropriations are set up in the budget and the estimated amount of money carried in the budget for each of such projects.

Contents of Budget

Sec. 4. The county budget officer shall obtain from the county auditor the necessary information so that the budget will contain a complete financial statement of the county showing all outstanding obligations of the county, the cash on hand to the credit of every and each fund of the county government, the funds received from all sources during the previous year, the funds and revenue estimated by the auditor to be received from all sources during the previous year, the funds and revenue estimated by the auditor to be received from all sources during the ensuing year, together with a statement of all accounts and contracts on which sums are due to or by the county as of December 31 of the year preceding, except taxes and court costs.

Limitation on Payments; Budget Available for Public Inspection

Sec. 5. Until a budget has been adopted by the commissioners court, no payments shall be made during the current year except for emergencies and for obligations legally incurred prior to January 1 of such year for salaries, utilities, materials, and supplies. A copy of the budget shall be filed with the clerk of the county court and the county auditor, and it shall be available for inspection to the public.

Public Hearings; Changes in Budget

Sec. 6. The commissioners court in each county shall provide for a public hearing on the county budget, which hearing shall take place on some date to be named by the commissioners court within seven calendar days after the filing of the budget and prior to January 31 of the current year. Public notice shall be given that on the date of said hearing the budget as prepared by the county budget officer will be considered by the commissioners court. Said notice shall name the hour, the date, and the place the hearing shall be conducted and shall be published once in a newspaper of general circulation in said county. Any taxpayer of such county shall have the right to be present and participate in said hearing. At the conclusion of the hearing, the budget as prepared by the county budget officer shall be acted upon by the commissioners court. The court shall have authority to make such changes in the budget as in its judgment the facts and the law warrant and the interest of the taxpayers demand, provided the amounts budgeted for current expenditures from the various funds of the county shall not exceed the balances in said funds as of January 1, plus the anticipated revenue for the current year for which the budget is made as estimated by the county auditor.

Filing of Budget Upon Final Approval

Sec. 7. Upon final approval of the budget by the commissioners court, a copy of such budget as approved shall be filed with the county auditor, the clerk of the court, and the state auditor, and no expenditures of the funds of the county shall thereafter be made except in strict compliance with said budget. Said court may upon proper application transfer an existing budget surplus during the year to a budget of like kind and fund, but no such transfer shall increase the total of the budget.

Obtaining Necessary Information

Sec. 8. In the preparation and/or monitoring of the budget, the county budget officer shall have authority to require of the county auditor or any district, county, or precinct officer of the county such information as may be necessary to properly prepare and/or monitor the budget.

Assistance to Commissioners Court

Sec. 9. The county budget officer may also assist the commissioners court in the performance of their duties with regard to the efficiency and effectiveness of county operations.

Employment of Personnel

Sec. 10. The commissioners court of counties covered by this Act are hereby authorized to appoint and employ such other persons they deem necessary to assist the county budget officer in the performance of his duties.

County Auditor to Retain Certain Duties

Sec. 11. All duties heretofore conferred upon county auditors by Chapter 1, page 144, General Laws, Acts of the 46th Legislature, 1939, as amended (Article 1666a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), not expressly conferred upon the county budget officer by this Act shall continue to be the duties of the county auditor and shall be performed by the county auditor.

Conflicting Provisions Repealed

Sec. 12. To the extent that any provisions of this Act conflict with provisions in Chapter 1, page 144, General Laws, Acts of the 46th Legislature, 1939, as amended (Article 1666a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), concerning the preparation of the county budget, such provisions in Article 1666a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes, are repealed to the extent of the conflict.

Art. 1667. Improvement District Finances

In all counties which have or may have a County Auditor and containing a population of one hundred ten thousand (110,000) or more, as shown by the preceding Federal Census, and in all counties having a population of not less than thirty-eight thousand (38,000) nor more than thirty-eight thousand three hundred fifty (38,350), according to the last Federal Census, and in which counties there exists or in which there may be created any improvement, navigation, drainage, or road or irrigation district, or any other character of district having for its purpose the expenditure of public funds for improvement purposes, or for improvements of any kind whether derived from the issuance of bonds or through any character of special assessment, the County Auditor shall exercise such control over the finances of said district as hereinafter provided.

Art. 1668. Improvement Districts: Supplies

All purchases for supplies and materials, and all contracts for labor on behalf of any such districts shall be made in accordance with the law governing such districts, provided, that the commissioners or other governing body be authorized, without the taking of bids in cases of emergency to make purchases or contracts not to exceed the sum of fifty dollars, upon requisition signed by at least two members of the governing body of such district. A requisition shall be issued therefor, executed in triplicate, one copy to be delivered to the person or corporation from whom the purchase is made, one to be delivered to the county auditor, and one to remain on file with the governing body of such district before any purchase shall be made.

Art. 1669. Improvement Districts: Expenditures

All bills for supplies, materials, labor, work or anything necessary to the carrying out of the purposes of any such district shall be contracted in accordance with the law creating and governing such district, except as may be otherwise provided herein. The proper officers of said districts shall file all bills with the county auditor before payment, and he shall audit and approve the same, provided said bills have been contracted in accordance with law and are found by him to be correct, and no bill shall be paid until the same has been audited and approved by the county auditor as provided by this article. All warrants in payment of bills of any such districts shall be drawn and signed in accordance with the law governing the issuance of warrants of such district, and shall be countersigned by the county auditor, and no treasurer or other depository of any such districts shall pay out any money except upon warrants so duly countersigned. He shall countersign warrants for the investment of funds only when invested in the manner authorized by law. He shall keep an accurate account of all balances on hand in the various district funds.

Art. 1670. Improvement Districts: Forms; Regulation of Collections and Disbursements

The county auditor, in counties having a population of 330,000 or more, as shown by the last preceding Federal Census, or which may hereafter have such population, shall be required to prescribe the accounting system for all navigation, drainage, and other improvement districts in such county and to revise such systems from time to time when he shall deem it necessary. He shall prescribe the forms to be used by the officers and employees of such districts in the payment of all bills, the collection and disbursement of moneys, the keeping of accounts, and he shall prescribe the time, mode, and manner of making reports to the auditor of collections, disbursements, and statistics. The county auditor shall have the power to adopt such regulations not inconsistent with the Constitution and Laws of this State as he may deem essential to the speedy and proper collection of, and accounting for, the revenues of such districts and the checking of their disbursements. He shall make monthly and annual reports similar in all respects to those required of him concerning county finances.

Art. 1671. Improvement Districts: Reports

The county auditor shall check all reports required by law to be filed by any district officer, and within thirty days after the filing thereof shall make a detailed report to the commissioners court showing his finding thereon and the condition of such district as shown by said report, and as shown by the records of his office. He shall keep a set of books, showing all receipts and expenditures of the funds of such districts. It shall not be lawful for the treasurer or other depository to receive money for said district without executing proper receipts upon forms to be provided by the county auditor. All books, accounts, records, bills and warrants in the possession of any officer of any such district, or in the possession of any other person legally charged with their custody, shall at all times be subject to the inspection of the county auditor.

Art. 1672. Improvement Districts: Compensation

The county auditor shall receive for his services in auditing the affairs of such districts, such compensation as the commissioners court may prescribe, which shall be paid by the county out of the general fund and repaid to the county by such districts by warrants drawn upon the proper funds of such district. In such counties which have or may have as many as five such districts, the compensation allowed the county auditor for his services on behalf of such districts shall be not less than the sum of twelve hundred dollars per annum, to be prorated among the districts in such proportion as the commissioners court may determine.

Art. 1673. Pay of Assistants

In all counties having a population of 330,000 or more, as shown by the preceding Federal Census, the county auditor is authorized to apply to the district judges of his county for such assistants as may be needed by him to enable him to properly keep the financial accounts of such districts, and to audit their receipts and disbursements, and to make such reports as are required by law, or as may be necessary. Said application shall be made under oath, stating the necessity for such assistants and the salaries authorized. The district judges shall hear such application and designate the number of assistants to be allowed and their rates of pay. Such assistants shall take the usual oath of office and shall be paid from the funds of the navigation district or from the funds of the other improvement districts, as may be designated in the order of the district judges allowing such assistants.

Art. 1674. Provisions Controlling

The provisions of this subdivision are cumulative, and, where conflicting with any existing law, the provisions of this subdivision shall control.

Art. 1675. County Clerk's Duties

Where the provisions of this subdivision impose upon the auditor like duties as are required of the county clerk, the provisions of this law shall prevail, and to such extent only is the county clerk relieved of his duties.

Art. 1676. Removal of Auditor

An auditor appointed under the provisions of law, who has been sufficiently proven guilty of official misconduct, or has proven to be incompetent to faithfully discharge the duties required of him, after due investigation by the same power which appointed him, may be removed, and his successor appointed.

Art. 1676a. Auditors in Certain Counties: Duties, Powers, Reports

Sec. 1. In all counties having a County Auditor and containing a population of not less than seventy-five thousand (75,000), and not more than eighty thousand (80,000), as shown by the last preceding Federal Census, and in which there are Navigation Districts, Water Improvement Districts and Water Control and Improvement Districts, the County Auditor shall not exercise control over the finances and affairs of such Navigation Districts, Water Improvement Districts, and Water Control and Improvement Districts (or other districts created for improvement or conservation purposes, which are not administered by the Commissioners Court of such counties), but he shall annually, between July 1st and October 1st, carefully audit all books, accounts, records, bills and warrants of any such District for the year ending the 30th of June preceding, and file his report of such audit with the County Clerk of such county.

Sec. 2. The officers and directors of each such District shall, on or before the 10th of each month, make and file with the County Auditor a report in writing, authenticated by such officers and directors, showing the total amount of moneys collected for and expended from the various funds of such District for the calendar month next preceding.

Sec. 3. The method of audit hereby provided for Navigation Districts, Water Improvement Districts, Water Control and Improvement Districts, and all other Districts created for improvement and conservation purposes in counties containing a population of not less than seventy-five thousand (75,000), nor more than eighty thousand (80,000), as shown by the last preceding Federal Census, and not directly administered by the Commissioners Court of such counties, shall supersede all other provisions for auditing the receipts and expenditures of such districts otherwise prescribed by law, and all laws and parts of laws in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Sec. 4. Only the provisions of this Act and of Articles 1672 and 1673 shall apply in counties having a population of not less than seventy-five thousand (75,000), and not more than eighty thousand (80,000), according to the last preceding Federal Census, which contain Navigation Districts, Water Improvement Districts, and Water Control and Improvement Districts.

Sec. 5. If any provision of this Act is held to be unconstitutional or otherwise invalid, same shall not affect the validity of any other provision hereof.

Art. 1676b. Auditors in Counties of 83,000 to 83,350 Having Navigation Districts and Other Districts

Audit; Report

Sec. 1. In all counties having a County Auditor and containing a population of not less than eighty-three thousand (83,000) and not more than eighty-three thousand, three hundred and fifty (83,350), as shown by the last preceding Federal Census, and in which there are Navigation Districts, Water Improvement Districts, and Water Control and Improvement Districts, the County Auditor shall not exercise control over the finances and affairs of such Navigation Districts, Water Improvement Districts, and Water Control and Improvement Districts (or other districts created for improvement or conservation purposes, which are not administered by the Commissioners Courts of such counties), but he shall annually, between July 1st and October 1st, carefully audit all books, accounts, records, bills, and warrants of any such district for the year ending the 30th of June preceding, and file his report of such audit with the County Clerk of such county.

Monthly Report

Sec. 2. The officers and directors of each such district shall, on or before the 10th of each month, make and file with the County Auditor a report in writing, authenticated by such officers and directors, showing the total amount of moneys collected for and expended from the various funds of such district for the calendar month next preceding.

Other Laws Superseded—Repeal

Sec. 3. The method of audit hereby provided for Navigation Districts, Water Improvement Districts, Water Control and Improvement Districts, and all other districts created for improvement and conservation purposes in counties containing a population of not less than eighty-three thousand (83,000), nor more than eighty-three thousand, three hundred and fifty (83,350), as shown by the last preceding Federal Census, and not directly administered by the Commissioners Courts of such counties, shall supersede all other provisions for auditing the receipts and expenditures of such districts otherwise prescribed by law, and all laws and parts of laws in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Exclusiveness of Provisions

Sec. 4. Only the provisions of this Act and of Articles 1667, 1672, and 1673 of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas of 1925, shall apply in counties having a population of not less than eighty-three thousand (83,000), and not more than eighty-three thousand, three hundred and fifty (83,350), according to the last preceding Federal Census, which contain Navigation Districts, Water Improvement Districts, and Water Control and Improvement Districts.

Partial Invalidity

Sec. 5. If any provision of this Act is held to be unconstitutional, or otherwise invalid, same shall not affect the validity of any other provision hereof.

[Acts 1941, 47th Leg., p. 409, ch. 238.]

1. COUNTY FREE LIBRARIES

Art. 1677. Authority to Establish

The commissioners court of any county may establish, maintain, and operate within their respective counties, county free libraries in the manner and with the functions prescribed in this title. The said court shall also have the power and authority to establish in co-operation with another county or counties a joint free county library for the benefit of the co-operative counties.

Art. 1678. Territory

The commissioners court of any county may establish county free libraries for that part of such county lying outside of the incorporated cities and towns already maintaining free public libraries and for such additional parts of such counties as may elect to become a part of or to participate in such county free library system. On their own initiative, or when petitioned to do so by a majority of the voters of that part of the county to be affected, said court shall proceed to establish and provide for the maintenance of such library according to the further provisions of this title. The county library shall be located at the county seat in the court house, unless more suitable quarters are available.

Art. 1679. Tax for Maintenance

The Commissioners Courts are hereby authorized to set aside annually from the General Tax Fund, or the Permanent Improvement Fund of the county, as the said Court may determine, sums for the maintaining of free county libraries and for the erection of permanent improvements and the securing of land for free county libraries, but not to exceed twelve cents (12c) on the One Hundred Dollar ($100) valuation of all property in such county outside of all incorporated cities and towns already supporting a free public library, and upon all property within all incorporated cities and towns already supporting a free library, and upon all property within all incorporated cities and towns already supporting a free public library which have elected to become a part of such free library systems provided in Title 35 of the Revised Civil Statutes, for the purpose of maintaining county free libraries and for purchasing property therefor.

Art. 1680. Gifts and Bequests

The commissioners court is authorized and empowered to receive on behalf of the county any gift, bequest, or devise for the county free library, or for any branch or subdivision thereof. The title to all property belonging to the county free library shall be vested in the county, but where the gifts or bequests shall be made for the benefit of any branch or branches of the county free library, such gifts or bequests shall be administered as designed by the donor.

Art. 1681. Existing Libraries

In any county where a farmers' county library has been established as provided by former laws the same shall continue to operate as a farmers' county library, unless a county free library shall be established as provided for in this title, in which case the former shall merge with and become a part of the latter.

Arts. 1682, 1682a. Repealed by Acts 1981, 67th Leg., p. 2846, ch. 764, § 2, eff. Sept. 1, 1981

Section 3 of the 1981 repealing act provided:

"The State Board of Library Examiners is abolished and its records and other property are transferred to the Texas State Library and Archives Commission."

Art. 1683. County Librarian

Upon the establishment of a county free library the Commissioners Court shall biennially appoint a County Librarian who shall hold office for a term of two (2) years subject to removal for cause after a hearing by said Court. No person shall be eligible to the office of County Librarian unless prior to his appointment he has received from the Texas State Library and Archives Commission a certificate of qualification for office; and when any County Librarian has heretofore received a certificate of qualification for office from the Texas State Library and Archives Commission, and has served as County Librarian for any county in this State, said Librarian may be employed or reemployed by any county as Librarian without further examination and issuance of certificate from said Texas State Library and Archives Commission. The County Librarian shall, prior to entering upon the duties of his office, file with the county Clerk the official oath and make a bond upon the faithful performance of his duties with sufficient sureties approved by the County Judge of the county of which the Librarian is to be the County Librarian, in such sum as the Commissioners Court may determine.

Art. 1684. Salary and Expenses

The salary of the librarian and assistants shall be fixed by said court at the time they fix the salary of the appointive county officers. The county librarian and assistants shall be allowed actual and necessary traveling expenses incurred in the business of the library.

Art. 1685. Duty of Librarian

The librarian shall endeavor to give an equal and complete service to all parts of the county through branch libraries and deposit stations in schools and other locations where suitable quarters may be obtained, thus distributing printed matter, books, and other educational matter as quickly as circumstances will permit. The county librarian shall have the power to make rules and regulations for the county free library, to establish branches and stations throughout the county, to determine the number and kind of employes of such library, and, with the approval of the commissioners' court, to appoint and dismiss such employes. The county librarian shall, subject to the general rules adopted by the commissioners' court, build up and manage according to accepted rules of library management, a library for the people of the county and shall determine what books and other library equipment shall be purchased.

Art. 1686. Report of Librarian

The librarian of each county library shall, on or before the first day of October in each year, report to the commissioners court and to the State Librarian the operation of the county library during the year ending August 31st preceding. Such report shall be made on blanks furnished by the State Librarian, and shall contain a statement of the condition of the library, its operation during the year, and such financial and book statistics as are kept in well regulated libraries.

Art. 1687. Supervision of Library

The county library shall be under the general supervision of the commissioners court. Such libraries shall also be under the supervision of the State Librarian, who shall, from time to time, either personally or by one of his assistants, visit the county free libraries and inquire into their condition, advising with the librarians and said court and rendering such assistance in all matters as he may be able to give.

Art. 1688. Repealed by Acts 1969, 61st Leg., p. 362, ch. 130, § 1, eff. Sept. 1, 1969

Art. 1689. Funds for Library

All funds of the county free library shall be in the custody of the county treasurer, or other county official, who may discharge the duties commonly delegated to the county treasurer. They shall constitute a separate fund to be known as the county free library fund, and shall not be used except for library purposes. The Commissioners Court may contract with privately-owned libraries which serve areas within the county not adequately served by the county free library to provide county free library services in such areas, and may require by such contract that such library submit to such reasonable regulation as is required of governmental libraries.

Art. 1690. Joinder with City

After the establishment of a county free library the governing body of any incorporated city or town in the county, maintaining a free public library, may notify the commissioners court that such city or town desires to become a part of the county free library system, and thereafter such city or town shall be a part thereof, and its inhabitants shall be entitled to the benefits of such county free library, and the property within such town or city shall be included in computing the amount to be set aside as a fund for county free library purposes.

Art. 1691. Contract with City

The commissioners court wherein a county free library has been established under the provisions of this title, shall have full power and authority to enter into contracts with any incorporated city or town maintaining a public free library, and such incorporated city or town shall through its governing body, have full power to enter into contracts with such county to secure to the residents of such incorporated city or town the same privileges of the county free library as are enjoyed by the residents of such county outside of such incorporated city or town, or such privileges as may be agreed upon in such contract, upon such consideration to be named in the contract as may be agreed upon, the same to be paid into the county library fund, and thereupon the residents of such incorporated city or town shall have the same privileges with regard to said county free library as are had by the residents of such county outside of such incorporated city or town, or such privileges as may be agreed upon by contract.

Art. 1692. Withdrawal of City

The governing body of such incorporated city or town may at any time after two years notify the commissioners court that such city or town no longer desires to be a part of the county free library system and thereafter such city or town shall cease to participate in the benefits of such county free library system, and the property situated in said city or town shall no longer be assessed in computing the fund to be set aside for county free library purposes. The governing body of such city or town shall give the commissioners court six months notice and publish at least once a week for six successive weeks prior to either giving or withdrawing such notice in a county newspaper designated by the governing body, and circulated throughout such city or town, notice of such contemplated action, giving date and place of meeting at which such contemplated action is proposed to be taken.

Art. 1693. Contract with Another County

The commissioners court of any county, wherein a county free library has been established under the provisions of this title, shall have full power and authority to enter into contracts or agreements with the commissioners court of any other county to secure to the residents of such other county such privileges of such county free library as may, by such contract, be agreed upon, the same to be paid into the county free library fund, and thereupon the inhabitants of such other county shall have the privilege of such county free library as may by such contract be agreed upon; and the commissioners court shall have full power and authority to enter into a contract with the commissioners court of another county wherein a county free library has been established, under the provisions of this title and shall have power to provide for and to set aside a county free library fund, in the manner already set out, for the purpose of carrying out such contract. But the making of such contract shall not bar the commissioners court of such county from establishing a county free library therein, and upon the establishment of such county free library such contract may be terminated upon such terms as may be agreed upon by the parties thereto, or may continue for the term thereof.

Art. 1694. Contract with Established Library

Instead of establishing a separate county free library, upon petition of a majority of the voters of the county, the commissioners court may contract for library privileges from some already established library. Such contract shall provide that such established library shall assume the functions of a county free library within the county with which the contract is made, including incorporated cities and towns therein, and shall also provide that the librarian of such established library shall hold or secure a county librarian's certificate from the Texas State Library and Archives Commission. Said court may contract to pay annually into the library fund of said established library such sum as may be agreed upon, to be paid out of the county library fund. Either party to such contract may terminate the same by giving six months notice of intention to do so. Property acquired under such contract shall be subject to division at the termination of the contract upon such terms as are specified in such contract.

Art. 1695. Combined Counties

Where found to be more practicable, two or more adjacent counties may join for the purposes of this law and establish and maintain a free library under the terms and provisions above set forth for the establishment and maintenance of a county free library. In such cases the combined counties shall have the same powers and be subject to the same liabilities as a single county as provided in this law. The commissioners courts of the counties which have combined for the establishment and maintenance of a free library shall operate jointly in the same manner as does the commissioners court of a single county in carrying out the provisions of this law. If any county desires to withdraw from such combination it shall be entitled to a division of property in such proportion as agreed upon in the terms of combination at the time such joint action was taken.

Art. 1696. Termination of Library

A county free library may be disestablished upon petition of a majority of the voters of that part of the county maintaining a county free library, asking that said library system be no longer maintained. The commissioners court upon the termination of existing contracts shall call in all books and movable property of the defunct county free library, and have same inventoried and stored under lock and seal in some dry and suitable place in the county court house.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1696a. Acquisition of Land; Construction, Repair, Equipment and Improvement of Buildings; Bond Issues; Taxes

Sec. 1. The Commissioners Court of any county in this State is hereby authorized to acquire land for and to purchase, construct, repair, equip and improve buildings, and other permanent improvements to be used for county library purposes. Such building or buildings and other permanent improvements may be located in the county at such place or places as the Commissioners Court may determine. Payment for such buildings and repairs and improvements and other permanent improvements shall be made from the Constitutional Permanent Improvement Fund.

Sec. 2. To pay the costs of acquiring land for and of purchasing, constructing, repairing, equipping and improving such buildings and other permanent improvements, the Commissioners Court is hereby authorized to issue negotiable bonds of the county and to levy and collect taxes in payment thereof, the issuance of such bonds and the levy and collection of taxes to be in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 1, Title 22, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended,¹ governing the issuance of bonds by cities, towns, and/or counties in this State.

Art. 1696b. Issuance of Bonds for Public LibraryIssuance of Bonds

Sec. 1. The commissioners court of a county by order may authorize the issuance and sale of negotiable bonds in the name of the county to finance in whole or part the purchase or acquisition by any other method, construction, improvement, enlargement, equipment, or repair of a public library building.

Manner of Repayment of Bonds

Sec. 2. (a) The commissioners court shall provide for the payment of the principal of and interest on the bonds by pledging all or any part of designated revenues from the operation of the library building or from the lease of space in the building.

(b) The commissioners court shall charge rent for the lease of space in the library building and shall establish fees in connection with the operation of the building to provide sufficient revenue to pay all expenses related to the ownership and operation of the building, including the expense of paying the principal of and interest on the bonds and the expense of creating and maintaining any required bond reserve funds.

(c) The owners of the bonds do not have any right to demand payment of the principal of and interest on the bonds out of any funds raised by taxation.

Form of Bonds

Sec. 3. (a) A county may issue its bonds in various series or issues.

(b) Bonds may mature serially or otherwise not more than 40 years from their date and shall bear interest at any rate permitted by the constitution and laws of the state.

(c) A county's bonds and interest coupons, if any, are investment securities under the terms of Chapter 8 of the Business & Commerce Code, and may be issued registrable as to principal or as to both principal and interest and may be made redeemable before maturity, at the option of the county, or may contain a mandatory redemption provision.

(d) A county's bonds may be issued in the form, denomination, and manner and under the terms, conditions, and details as provided by the commissioners court in the orders authorizing their issuance. The bonds shall be signed and executed as provided by the commissioners court in the orders authorizing their issuance.

Provisions of Bonds

Sec. 4. (a) In the orders authorizing the issuance of bonds, including refunding bonds, the commissioners court may provide for the flow of funds, the establishment and maintenance of the interest and sinking fund, the reserve fund, and other funds, and may make additional covenants with respect to the bonds, the pledged revenues, and the operation and maintenance of the library building, the revenue of which is pledged.

(b) The orders authorizing the issuance of bonds may also prohibit the further issuance of bonds or other obligations payable from the pledged revenue or may reserve the right to issue additional bonds to be secured by a pledge of and payable from the revenue on a parity with or subordinate to the lien and pledge in support of the bonds being issued.

(c) The orders may contain other provisions and covenants as the commissioners court may determine.

(d) The commissioners court may adopt and have executed any other proceedings or instruments necessary and convenient in the issuance of bonds.

Approval by Attorney General; Registration by Comptroller

Sec. 5. (a) The bonds must be submitted to the attorney general for examination.

(b) If the attorney general finds that the bonds have been authorized in accordance with law, he shall approve them, and they shall be registered by the comptroller of public accounts.

(c) After the approval and registration of bonds, the bonds are incontestable in any court or other forum, for any reason, and are valid and binding obligations in accordance with their terms for all purposes.

Refunding Bonds

Sec. 6. (a) The commissioners court by order may authorize the issuance of bonds to refund all or any part of its outstanding bonds issued under this Act, including matured but unpaid interest coupons.

(b) Refunding bonds shall mature serially or otherwise not more than 40 years from their date and shall bear interest at any rate or rates permitted by the constitution and laws of the state.

(c) Refunding bonds may be payable from the same source as the bonds being refunded or from other additional sources.

(d) The refunding bonds must be approved by the attorney general as in the case of other bonds and shall be registered by the comptroller on the surrender and cancellation of the bonds being refunded.

(e) The orders authorizing the issuance of the refunding bonds may provide that they be sold and the proceeds deposited in the place or places at which the bonds being refunded are payable, in which case the refunding bonds may be issued before the cancellation of the bonds being refunded. If refunding bonds are issued before cancellation of the other bonds, an amount sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on the bonds being refunded to their maturity dates, or to their option dates if the bonds have been duly called for payment prior to maturity according to their terms, shall be deposited in the place or places at which the bonds being refunded are payable. The comptroller shall register the refunding bonds without the surrender and cancellation of bonds being refunded.

(f) A refunding may be accomplished in one or in several installment deliveries. Refunding bonds and their interest coupons are investment securities under Chapter 8 of the Business & Commerce Code.

(g) In lieu of the method set forth in Subsections (a)-(f) of this section, a county may refund bonds, notes, or other obligations as provided by the general laws of the state.

Bonds as Investments

Sec. 7. The bonds are legal and authorized investments for:

- (1) banks;
- (2) savings banks;
- (3) trust companies;
- (4) savings and loan associations;
- (5) insurance companies;
- (6) fiduciaries;
- (7) trustees;
- (8) guardians; and
- (9) sinking funds of cities, counties, school districts, and other political subdivisions of the state and other public funds of the state and its agencies, including the permanent school fund.

Bonds as Security for Deposits

Sec. 8. The bonds are eligible to secure deposits of public funds of the state and cities, counties, school districts, and other political subdivisions of the state. The bonds are lawful and sufficient security for deposits to the extent of their value when accompanied by all unmatured coupons.

Tax Status of Bonds

Sec. 9. Since the operation of a library building is an essential public function, the bonds issued by the county, any transaction relating to the bonds, and profits made in the sale of the bonds, are free from taxation by the state or by any city, county, special district, or other political subdivision of the state.

Art. 1702h. County Law Libraries in All CountiesAuthority to Establish

Sec. 1. The Commissioners Courts of all counties within this State shall have the power and authority, by first entering an order for that purpose, to provide for, maintain and establish a County Law Library.

Establishment on Initiative of Commissioners Court; Appropriations

Sec. 2. The Commissioners Court of any county may establish and provide for the maintenance of such County Law Library on its own initiative, and appropriate a sum not to exceed $20,000 to establish properly such library, and shall appropriate each year such sum as may be necessary to properly maintain and operate such County Law Library, which shall be established, maintained and operated at the county seat.

Gifts and Bequests

Sec. 3. The Commissioners Court of such county is hereby authorized and empowered to receive on behalf of such county any gift or bequest for such County Law Library. The title of all of such property shall be vested in the county. Where any gift or bequest is made with certain conditions, and accepted by the county, these conditions shall be administered as designated by the donor.

Costs; Law Library Fund

Sec. 4. For the purpose of establishing County Law Libraries after the entry of such order, there shall be taxed, collected, and paid as other costs, a sum set by the Commissioners Court not to exceed $10 in each civil case, except suits for delinquent taxes, hereafter filed in every county or district court; provided, however, that in no event shall the county be liable for said costs in any case. Such costs shall be collected by the clerks of the respective courts in said counties and paid by said clerks to the County Treasurer to be kept by said Treasurer in a separate fund to be known as the "County Law Library Fund." Such fund shall not be used for any other purpose.

Managing Committee

Sec. 5. The Commissioners Court of such counties may vest the management of such library in a committee to be selected by the Bar Association of such county, but the acts of such committee shall be subject to the approval of the Commissioners Court.

Salaries

Sec. 6. The salary of the custodian or librarian and such other employees or assistants as may be necessary shall be fixed by the Commissioners Court and shall be paid out of the funds collected under this Act, or from appropriations made under this Act.

Administration of Fund; Space; Rules

Sec. 7. Such fund shall be administered by the Commissioners Court, or under its direction, for the purchase and lease of library materials, the maintenance of the Law Library, and the acquisition of all furniture, shelving and equipment necessary thereto, in a place convenient and accessible to the Judges and litigants of such county. The Commissioners Court shall provide suitable space for housing the law library and may, with the advice of the committee referred to in section 5 of this Act, use funds collected under this Act for the acquisition of such space. Priority in the use of such funds shall be given to providing books, periodicals, other library materials, and staff for the law library. The Commissioners Court of the counties affected by this Act shall make rules for the use of books in said library.

Custody and Use of Funds; Claims

Sec. 8. All funds for the County Law Library shall be in the custody of the County Treasurer of such county, or other official who may discharge the duties commonly delegated to county treasurers. They shall constitute a separate fund and shall not be used for any other purpose than those of such County Law Library. Each claim against the County Law Library shall be acted upon and allowed or rejected in like manner as other claims against the county.

Partial Invalidity

Sec. 9. If any section, paragraph, clause, phrase, sentence, or portion of this Act be held invalid or unconstitutional, such invalidity shall not affect the remainder thereof.

1713. Shall Not Pay Out Money, Except.
1714. To Examine Dockets, Accounts, etc.

Art. 1703. Election and Term

A county treasurer shall be elected at each regular general election for a term of two years.

Art. 1704. Bond

The county treasurer before entering upon the duties of his office, and within twenty days after he has received his certificate of election, shall give a bond payable to the county judge of his county, to be approved by the commissioners court, in such sum as such court may deem necessary, conditioned that such treasurer shall faithfully execute the duties of his office and pay over according to law all moneys which shall come into his hands as county treasurer, and render a true account thereof to said court at each regular term of said court.

Art. 1704-A. Premium on Bond; Payment by Commissioners' Courts of Certain Counties

In every county in the State of Texas having a population of not less than nineteen thousand ten (19,010), nor more than nineteen thousand seventy (19,070), and not less than twenty-three thousand eight hundred (23,800), nor more than twenty-four thousand (24,000), and not less than fifty-four thousand (54,000), nor more than fifty-four thousand five hundred (54,500), according to the last preceding Federal Census, the Commissioners' Court of such counties is hereby authorized to pay out of the General Fund of such counties the premium on the official surety bond now required of such County Treasurers.

Art. 1705. New Bond

The commissioners court, whenever they may consider the bonds, or either of the bonds, of a county treasurer, from any cause, insufficient or doubtful, shall require such treasurer to give another bond or bonds, or to give additional bond or bonds, as the case may be.

Art. 1705a. Continuing Education

Sec. 1. Not later than two years after the day on which a person first takes office as county treasurer, the county treasurer must successfully complete a course of instruction in the performance of the duties of county treasurer.

Sec. 2. A county treasurer must successfully complete a continuing education course in the performance of the duties of county treasurer at least one time in any 24-month period.

Sec. 3. A course required by this article must include at least 20 classroom hours of instruction in an accredited public institution of higher education.

Section 3 of the 1983 Act provides:

"A person who takes office as county treasurer before the effective date of this Act and is serving as county treasurer on the effective date of this Act must successfully complete a course of instruction required by Article 1705a, Revised Statutes, not later than two years after the effective date of this Act."

Art. 1706. Office Declared Vacant

If the person elected treasurer fails to give the bonds required by this title and take the official oath within twenty days after receiving his certificate of election, it shall be the duty of the county judge to declare the said office vacant; and, should a treasurer fail to give another or an additional bond or bonds when required to do so, as provided in the preceding article, within twenty days after notice of such requirement, he shall be removed from said office in the manner provided by law.

Art. 1707. Vacancy, How Filled

In case of vacancy in the office of the county treasurer, the commissioners court of the county in which such vacancy occurs shall fill such vacancy by appointment, such appointment to be made by a majority vote of the commissioners present, at a regular or special term of such court. Such appointment shall continue in force until the next general election.

Art. 1708. Appointee: Oath and Bond

The person appointed to fill the vacancy, as provided in the preceding article, shall, before entering upon the discharge of the duties of such office, and within twenty days after he has been notified of such appointment, take the oath and give the bonds required, as in the case of an election to such office.

Art. 1709. Duties

The County Treasurer, as chief custodian of county finance, shall receive all moneys belonging to the county from whatever source they may be derived; keep and account for the same in a designated depository or depositories; and pay and apply or disburse the same, in such manner as the Commissioners Court may require or direct, not inconsistent with constituted law. Said court may provide funds for adequate personnel and proper media that would enable the treasurer to perform such constituted duties. Upon failure to perform such duties the treasurer shall be guilty of dereliction of duty and subject to prosecution.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84. Amended by Acts 1971, 62nd Leg., p. 1654, ch. 467, § 1, eff. May 27, 1971.]

Art. 1709a. Receipt, Safekeeping and Disbursement of Moneys

Sec. 1. [Amends article 1709].

Sec. 2. From and after the effective date of this Act, the County Treasurer in each county of this State shall receive all moneys belonging to the county from whatever source they may be derived. Clarification as to moneys and mode and manner of receipt thereof not inconsistent with existing laws follows:

(a) All fees, commissions, funds and moneys belonging to the county shall be turned over to the County Treasurer by the officer who collected them, in the manner prescribed in Chapter 98, Acts of the 43rd Legislature, 1933, as amended (Article 1656a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes). Such deposit of funds in the county treasury shall not in any wise change the ownership of any fund so deposited, except to indemnify said officer and his bondsman or other owners of such funds during the period of deposit with the county.

(b) All deposits that are made in the county treasury shall be upon deposit warrant issued by the County Clerk in triplicate; said warrants shall authorize the treasurer to receive the amount named, for what purpose, and to which fund the same shall be applied. The treasurer shall retain the original; the duplicate shall be signed and returned to the clerk and the triplicate signed and returned to the depositor as provided in Article 1657, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925. In each county of this State having a County Auditor the County Clerk shall give his copy to the auditor, who then shall enter same upon his books as a check and balance, charging the amounts to the County Treasurer and crediting the same to the depositing party. The treasurer shall not under any circumstances receive any money in any other manner than that named herein; except that in counties of whose population exceeds 1,200,000 the County Clerk is relieved of all duties prescribed by Article 1657, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925. In such counties the County Treasurer shall prepare a triplicate receipt for all moneys received, retain one copy of the receipt and transmit the original and the duplicate to the county auditor and the depositor respectively, as provided in Chapter 235, Acts of the 60th Legislature, 1967 (Article 1657a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes).

Sec. 3. From and after the effective date of this Act, the County Treasurer in each county of this State shall safekeep and account for all moneys belonging to the county; clarification as to mode and manner of safekeeping not inconsistent with existing laws follows:

(a) All moneys deposited with the County Treasurer by such officer as collected shall be deposited in the county depository, in a special fund to the credit of such officer as provided in Chapter 98, Acts of the 43rd Legislature, 1933, as amended (Article 1656a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes); any interest accrued therefrom shall benefit the county in accordance with all laws. All such funds so deposited shall be secured by the bond of such depository.

(b) Liability of Treasurer. The County Treasurer shall not be responsible for any loss of the county funds through failure or negligence of any depository; but nothing in this Act shall release any County Treasurer, for any loss resulting from any official misconduct or negligence on his part, nor from any responsibility for the funds of the county until a depository shall be selected and the funds deposited therein, nor for any misappropriation of such funds by him (Article 2557, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended).

(c) The County Treasurer before entering upon the duties of his office, and within twenty days after he has received his certificate of election, shall give a bond payable to the County Judge of his county, to be approved by the Commissioners Court, in such sum as such court may deem necessary, conditioned that such treasurer shall faithfully execute the duties of his office and pay over according to law all moneys which shall come into his custody as County Treasurer and render a true account thereof to said court in accordance with Article 1704, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925.

(d) In counties having auditors, all reports of collections of moneys for the county required to be made to the Commissioners Court shall also be carefully examined and reported on by the auditor as provided in Article 1654, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925. He shall at least once in each quarter check the books and examine all reports of the treasurer, in detail, verifying the footings and correctness of same, and shall stamp his approval thereon, or note any difference, errors or discrepancies; he shall carefully examine the quarterly report of the treasurer, of all the disbursements, together with the cancelled warrants which have been paid, and shall verify the same with the register of warrants issued, as shown in the accounts of the auditor.

(e) Furthermore, the auditor, without giving any notice beforehand, shall examine fully into the condition of, or inspect and count the cash in the hands of the treasurer, or in the banks in which he may have placed same for safekeeping, not less than once each quarter and oftener if desired in accordance with Article 1655, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925; and shall see that all balances to the credit of the various funds are actually on hand in cash and that none of said funds are invested in any manner except as the law may authorize.

Sec. 4. From and after the effective date of this Act the County Treasurer in each county shall disburse all moneys belonging to the county, for whatever purpose they may be claimed, and shall pay and apply the same as required by law. No moneys shall be expended or withdrawn from the county treasury except by checks or warrants drawn on the county treasury, whether such moneys are in a county depository as required by law or not. Clarification of mode and manner of disbursement not inconsistent with existing laws follows:

(a) Claims: The County Treasurer shall enter each claim in a permanent bound register, in the manner provided in Article 1627, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, stating the class, the name of the payee, and the number of the claim. On the face of such claim shall be placed the word "Registered," the date actually registered, and the official signature or approved facsimile of the County Treasurer.

(b) The treasurer shall pay no such claim, nor shall any part thereof be received by any officer in payment of any indebtedness to the county, until it has been duly registered, in accordance with the provisions of Article 1625, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925. All claims in each class shall be paid in the order in which they are registered.

(c) In counties having a County Auditor, all claims, bills, and accounts against the county must be filed in ample time for the auditor to examine and approve same before the meetings of the Commissioners Court. No claim, bill, or account shall be allowed or paid until it has been examined and approved by the County Auditor as provided in Article 1660, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925. Said auditor shall examine the same and stamp his approval thereon.

(d) Warrants: It shall be the duty of the County Treasurer, upon presentation to him of any warrant, check, voucher, or order drawn by the proper authority, if there be funds sufficient for payment thereof on deposit in the account against which such warrant is drawn, to endorse upon the face of such instrument his order to pay same to the payee named therein and to charge the same on his books to the fund upon which it is drawn as provided in Article 2554, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended. The County Treasurer is not authorized to issue nor is the county depository authorized to pay a check drawn on the county depository to take up a warrant drawn by a proper authority, but the County Treasurer must, when such a warrant is presented to him, endorse it and deliver it to the payee for the payee to present to the county depository for payment. The County Treasurer shall not make any endorsement upon any instrument designated as a "time deposit" until after the notice is duly given and the time has expired as required in the contract with said depository which designated said funds as "time deposits." In case any bonds, coupons, or other instruments of any county by the terms thereof are payable at any place other than the county treasury nothing herein contained shall prevent the Commissioners Court of such county from so ordering the treasurer to place a sufficient sum at the place where such debts shall be payable at the time and place of their maturity, provided such payments shall be made in the manner prescribed by law. All warrants issued or drawn by any officer under the provisions of this Act shall be subject to all laws and regulations providing for auditing and countersigning and all such laws and regulations are hereby continued in full force and effect.

(e) All warrants issued against the County Treasurer by any judge or court shall be signed and attested by the clerk or judge of the court issuing the same under his official seal as provided in Article 1643, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925. No Justice of the Peace shall have authority to issue warrants against the County Treasurer for any purpose whatever, except as provided in the Code of Criminal Procedure.

(f) In each county having an auditor, the County Treasurer and the depository shall make no payment unless such warrant is countersigned by the auditor as provided in Chapter 98, Acts of the 43rd Legislature, 1933, as amended (Article 1656a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes) to validate the same as a proper and budgeted item of expenditure.

(g) The only exception to the auditors' countersigning is that of warrants for jury service, as provided in Article 1661, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925.

Sec. 5. All existing laws pertaining to the duties and responsibilities of the County Auditors of the State of Texas shall in no way be affected or changed by this law. Reference to various articles mentioned herein pertaining to County Auditors is intended for the purpose of clarification only and for no other reason.

Sec. 6. If any provision of this Act or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid, such invalidity shall not affect other provisions or applications thereto, and the provisions of this Act are declared to be severable.

Art. 1710. Accounts

The county treasurer shall keep a true account of the receipts and expenditures of all moneys which shall come into his hands by virtue of his office, and of the debts due to and from his county; and direct prosecutions according to law for the recovery of all debts that may be due his county, and superintend the collection thereof.

Art. 1711. Report to Commissioners Court

He shall render a detailed report at every regular term of the commissioners court of his county of all the moneys received and disbursed by him, of all debts due to and from his county, and of all other proceedings in his office, and shall exhibit to said court at every such term all his books and accounts for their inspection and all vouchers relating to the same, to be audited and allowed.

Art. 1712. Deliver Money, etc., to Successor

He shall deliver the moneys, securities, and all other property of the county in his hands, together with all documents, instruments of writing, papers and books belonging to, or for the use of the county, to his successor in office, and perform all such other acts as may be required of him by said commissioners court.

Art. 1713. Shall Not Pay Out Money, Except

The county treasurer shall not pay any money out of the county treasury except in pursuance of a certificate or warrant from some officer authorized by law to issue the same; and, if such treasurer shall have any doubt of the legality or propriety of any order, decree, certificate or warrant presented to him for payment, he shall not pay the same, but shall make report thereof to the commissioners court for their consideration and direction.

Art. 1714. To Examine Dockets, Accounts, etc.

He shall examine the accounts, dockets and records of the clerks, sheriff, justices of the peace, constables and tax collector of his county, for the purpose of ascertaining whether any moneys of right belonging to his county are in their hands which have not been accounted for and paid over according to law, and shall report the same to the commissioners court at their next term, to the end that suit may be instituted for the recovery thereof.

 1718. Appointment of Clerk.
 1719. Vacancy in Vacation.
 1720. Duties of Clerk.
 1721. Deputy Clerks.
 1722. Repealed.
 1723. Stenographers and Bailiff.
 1724. Reporter.
 1725. Reports.

Art. 1718. Appointment of Clerk

The Supreme Court shall appoint for a term of four years one clerk who shall reside at Austin. Such appointment shall be recorded in the proceedings of the Court. Such appointee shall first give bond in the sum of five thousand dollars, to be approved by the Court, payable to the Governor and conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties of his office. He may be removed by the Court for neglect of duty or misconduct in office, after ten days' previous notice of the motion specifying the particular charges of negligence or misconduct in office preferred, and the Court shall determine the law and facts. The Court may whenever necessary appoint a clerk pro tempore.

Art. 1719. Vacancy in Vacation

If the office of clerk becomes vacant in vacation, an appointment shall be made by the Chief Justice and one of the Associates. The appointee shall give the prescribed bond and oath, the bond to be approved by any judge of the Court. Such appointment shall continue until a regular appointment shall be made.

Art. 1720. Duties of Clerk

The clerk shall:

1. Collect and pay into the State Treasury all fees and costs collected by him over and above the salaries allowed him and his deputies, under rules prescribed by the Comptroller and approved by the Judges of the Supreme Court and recorded in the minutes of the Court.

2. Procure a seal for the use of the Court, which shall have a star of five points, with the words, "Supreme Court of the State of Texas" engraved thereon.

3. File and carefully preserve the transcripts of all records certified to said Court, and all papers relative thereto, and shall docket all causes in the order in which the Court shall direct, and shall faithfully record the proceedings and decisions of said Court, and certify its judgments to the courts from which the cases were brought.

Art. 1721. Deputy Clerks

When authorized by the Court by an order recorded in the minutes, the clerk may appoint three deputies, who may discharge the duties required by Law of the clerk, and who shall give bond in like sum and conditions required by the clerk, to be approved by the Court. The compensation of such deputies shall be unanimously agreed upon by the Judges and their action recorded in the Minutes of the Court, such compensation not to exceed Two Thousand Dollars a year for each of said deputies, to be paid out of the fees collected by the clerk of the Supreme Court. The Court in its discretion may dispense with the services of one or more of such deputies, temporarily or permanently.

Art. 1722. Repealed by Acts 1971, 62nd Leg., p. 2360, ch. 722, § 10, eff. June 8, 1971

See, now, article 5444b.

Art. 1723. Stenographers and Bailiff

The Court may appoint not more than three stenographers, at a salary to be fixed by the Court, not exceeding one hundred and fifty dollars per month, and may appoint a bailiff to attend the sitting of the Court.

Art. 1724. Reporter

The Court shall appoint to serve at the will of the Court one or more licensed attorneys to report the decisions of the Supreme Court. The reporter shall obtain from the proper clerk the records of cases to be reported, with the briefs and opinions therein, as soon as such cases are finally disposed of and the opinions are recorded, which shall be returned after the report thereof is completed. He shall under the direction of the Court, without delay, prepare for publication such decisions with appropriate syllabus and statements when necessary, with proper index, table of cases cited and cases reported, and shall, from time to time, deliver the same to the Board of Control for publication.

Art. 1725. Reports

The Court shall designate the cases to be reported; and only those designated shall be reported and published. Only the main propositions made in the briefs and considered by the Court in the opinion, with the authorities cited in support of such propositions, shall be incorporated in the report. Each volume shall be copyrighted in the name of the reporter, who shall immediately on delivery of the edition transfer and assign the same to the State. It shall be electrotyped, and the plates shall be owned by the State and preserved by the Board of Control.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

CHAPTER THREE. TERMS AND JURISDICTION

- Art.
 1726. Terms of Supreme Court.
 1727. Adjournment.
 1728. Appellate Jurisdiction.
 1729. Writ of Error or Certificate.
 1730. Court to Make Rules.
 1731. Rules of Practice.
 1731a. Rules of Practice; Power of Supreme Court in Civil Judicial Proceedings.
 1732. Jurisdictional Facts.
 1733. May Issue Writs.
 1734. May Issue Mandamus, etc.
 1735. To Issue Only by Supreme Court.
 1735a. Mandamus in Connection with Elections and Political Party Conventions.
 1736. Repealed.
 1737. Habeas Corpus.
 1738. Transfer of Causes.
 1738a. Direct Appeals in Injunction Cases Involving Validity of Statute.

Art. 1726. Terms of Supreme Court

The Supreme Court shall hold one term each year at the city of Austin, commencing on the first Monday in October, and ending on the last Saturday in the next June.

Art. 1727. Adjournment

The Court may adjourn from day to day, or for such period as it deems necessary to the ends of justice and the determination of the business before them; and there shall be no discontinuance of any suit, process or matter returned to, or pending in, the Supreme Court, although a quorum of the Court may not be in attendance at the commencement or on any other day of the term. If a sufficient number of the judges shall not attend on any day of the term, any judge of the Court, or the bailiff attending, may adjourn the Court from time to time.

Art. 1728. Appellate Jurisdiction

The Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, except in criminal law matters, co-extensive with the limits of the State, extending to all questions of law arising in the following cases when same have been brought to the Court of Appeals from appealable judgment of trial courts:

1. Those in which the judges of the Courts of Appeals may disagree upon any question of law material to the decision.

2. Those in which one of the Courts of Appeals holds differently from a prior decision of another Court of Appeals, or of the Supreme Court upon any question of law material to a decision of the case.

3. Those involving the construction or validity of statutes necessary to a determination of the case.

4. Those involving the revenues of the State.

5. Those in which the Railroad Commission is a party.

6. In any other case in which it is made to appear that an error of substantive law has been committed by the Court of Appeals which affects the judgment, but excluding those cases in which the jurisdiction of the Court of Appeals is made final by statute.

Art. 1729. Writ of Error or Certificate

All causes mentioned in the preceding article may be carried to the Supreme Court either by writ of error or by certificate from the Court of Appeals, but the Court of Appeals may certify any question of law arising in any such case at any time they may choose, whether before or after the decision of the case in said Court.

Art. 1730. Court to Make Rules

The Supreme Court shall from time to time make and promulgate suitable rules, forms and regulations for carrying into effect the articles in this title relating to the jurisdiction and practice of said Court.

Art. 1731. Rules of Practice

The Court may make and enforce all necessary rules of practice and procedure, not inconsistent with the law, for the government of said Court and all other courts of the State, so as to expedite the dispatch of business in said courts.

Art. 1731a. Rules of Practice; Power of Supreme Court in Civil Judicial Proceedings

Repeal of Practice and Procedure Laws

Sec. 1. In order to confer upon and relinquish to the Supreme Court of the State of Texas full rule-making power in civil judicial proceedings, all laws and parts of laws governing the practice and procedure in civil actions are hereby repealed, such repeal to be effective on and after September 1, 1941. Provided, however, that no substantive law or part thereof is hereby repealed.

Supreme Court to Make Rules for Practice and Procedure

Sec. 2. The Supreme Court is hereby invested with the full rule-making power in the practice and procedure in civil actions. Such rules shall not abridge, enlarge or modify the substantive rights of any litigant. Such rules, after promulgation by the Supreme Court, shall be filed with the Secretary of State and a copy thereof mailed to each elected member of the Legislature on or before December 1st immediately preceding the next Regular Session of the Legislature and shall be reported by the Secretary of State to the Legislature, and, unless disapproved by the Legislature, such rules shall become effective upon September 1, 1941; provided, however, the Supreme Court may, from time to time after September 1, 1941, promulgate any specific rule or rules or any amendment or amendments to any specific rule or rules and make the same effective, except as hereinafter provided, at such time as the Supreme Court may deem expedient in the interest of a proper administration of justice, the same to remain in effect unless and until disapproved by the Legislature. Any such specific rule or rules, or any such amendment or amendments to any specific rule or rules, shall be filed by the Clerk of the Supreme Court with the Secretary of State, and a copy thereof mailed by the said Clerk to each registered member of the State Bar of Texas, at least sixty (60) days before the effective date thereof, and reported by the Secretary of State to the next succeeding Regular Session of the Legislature in the same manner as hereinabove provided.

Supreme Court to File List of Laws Repealed by Its Rules

Sec. 3. At the time it files the rules, the Supreme Court shall file with the Secretary of State a list of all articles or sections of the General Laws of the State of Texas, and parts of articles and sections of such General Laws, which, in its judgment, are repealed by Section 1 of this Act. Such list giving the construction of the Supreme Court as to the General Laws and parts of laws repealed by Section 1 shall constitute, and have the same weight and effect, as any other decision of the Supreme Court.

Rules to be Published with Supreme Court Reports

Sec. 4. Such rules shall be published in the official reports of the Supreme Court; and the Supreme Court is authorized to adopt such method as it may deem expedient for the printing and distributing of such rules.

Severability of this Act

Sec. 5. If any sentence, paragraph or section of this Act shall be held invalid or unconstitutional, such holding shall not invalidate any other sentence, paragraph or section hereof, and the Legislature hereby expressly declares that it would have passed such remaining sentences, paragraphs, and sections despite such invalidity.

Art. 1732. Jurisdictional Facts

It shall have the power upon affidavit or otherwise, as the Court may determine, to ascertain such matters of fact as may be necessary to the proper exercise of its jurisdiction.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1733. May Issue Writs

The Supreme Court or any Justice thereof, shall have power to issue writs of procedendo, certiorari and all writs of quo warranto or mandamus agreeable to the principles of law regulating such writs, against any district judge, or Court of Appeals or justices thereof, or any officer of the State Government, except the Governor or the Court of Criminal Appeals or the judges thereof.

Art. 1734. May Issue Mandamus, etc.

Said Court or any judge thereof in vacation may issue the writ of mandamus to compel a judge of the district court to proceed to trial and judgment in a cause agreeably to the principles and usages of law, returnable to the Supreme Court on or before the first day of the term, or during the session of the same, or before any judge of the said Court as the nature of the case may require.

Art. 1735. To Issue Only by Supreme Court

The Supreme Court only shall have power, authority or jurisdiction to issue the writ of mandamus or injunction or any other mandatory or compulsory writ or process against any of the officers of the executive departments of the government of this state and also the Board of County and District Road Indebtedness to order or compel the performance of any act or duty which, by the laws of this state, they, or either of them, are authorized to perform, whether such act or duty be judicial, ministerial or discretionary.

Art. 1735a. Mandamus in Connection with Elections and Political Party Conventions

The Supreme Court or any court of appeals shall have jurisdiction and authority to issue the writ of mandamus, or any other mandatory or compulsory writ or process, against any public officer or officer of a political party, or any judge or clerk of an election, to compel the performance, in accordance with the laws of this state, of any duty imposed upon them, respectively, by law, in connection with the holding of any general, special, or primary election or any convention of a political party. Any proceeding seeking to obtain such a writ shall be conducted in accordance with the rules pertaining to original proceedings in the court wherein the petition is filed. When presented to a court of appeals, any petition pertaining to an election on an office or proposition which is voted on by the voters of the entire state shall be presented to the court of the supreme judicial district in which the respondent resides, or in which one of the respondents resides, if there is more than one, and any petition pertaining to an election on an office or proposition which is voted on by the voters of only a portion of the state shall be presented to the court of a supreme judicial district in which the territory covered by the election or a portion thereof is located. A petition presented to a court of appeals which pertains to a precinct or county convention shall be presented to the court of the supreme judicial district in which the precinct or county is located; a petition pertaining to a district convention shall be presented to the court of a supreme judicial district in which the district or a portion thereof is located; and a petition pertaining to a state convention shall be presented to the court of a supreme judicial district in which the respondent resides, or in which one of the respondents resides, if there is more than one.

Art. 1736. Repealed by Acts 1971, 62nd Leg., p. 2536, ch. 831, § 6, eff. Aug. 30, 1971

See, now, article 1911a.

Art. 1737. Habeas Corpus

The Supreme Court or any of the Justices thereof, either in term time or in vacation, may issue writs of habeas corpus in any case where any person is restrained in his liberty by virtue of any order, process or commitment issued by any court or judge on account of the violation of any order, judgment or decree theretofore made, rendered or entered by such court or judge in any civil cause. Said Court or any Justice thereof, either in term time or in vacation, pending the hearing of application for such writ, may admit to bail any person to whom the writ of habeas corpus may be so granted.

Art. 1738. Transfer of Causes

The Supreme Court may, at any time, order cases transferred from one Court of Appeals to another, when, in the opinion of the Supreme Court, there is good cause for such transfer. And the Courts of Appeals to which such cases shall be transferred shall have jurisdiction over all such cases so transferred, without regard to the District in which the cases were originally tried and returnable upon appeal. Provided that the Justices of the Court to which such cases are transferred shall, after due notice to the parties or their counsel, hear oral argument on such cases at the place from which the cases have been originally transferred. All opinions, orders and decisions in such transferred cases shall be delivered, entered and rendered at the place where the Court to which such cases are transferred regularly sits as the law provides. The actual and necessary travelling and living expenses of the Justices of said Courts in hearing oral arguments at the place from which such cases are transferred shall be borne by the state, and for payment thereof the Legislature shall make appropriation. If requested by all parties or their attorneys, a transferred case may be heard in the regular place of the court to which said case has been transferred.

Art. 1738a. Direct Appeals in Injunction Cases Involving Validity of Statute

Appeals may be taken direct to the Supreme Court of this State from any order of any trial court granting or denying an interlocutory or permanent injunction on the ground of the constitutionality or unconstitutionality of any statute of this State. It shall be the duty of the Supreme Court of this State to prescribe the necessary rules of procedure to be followed in perfecting such an appeal.

CHAPTER FOUR. WRIT OF ERROR

Art.

- 1739 to 1747. Repealed.
- 1748. Designation of Appeals Justices.
- 1749. Justices to Assemble.
- 1750. Effect of Granting or Denying Writ.
- 1751. Disqualification of Justice.
- 1752. Supreme Court May Also Act.
- 1753. Powers.
- 1754. Expenses of Designated Justices.

Arts. 1739 to 1747. Repealed by Rules of Civil Procedure (Acts 1939, 46th Leg., p. 201, § 1)

Art. 1748. Designation of Appeals Justices

The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court or any two Justices thereof may, by a writing recorded in the minutes of the Supreme Court, designate three of the Justices of the Courts of Appeals to act as hereinafter provided. Such powers may be exercised from time to time in the same manner as long as reason therefor may exist, and the personnel of the designated Justices of the Courts of Appeals may be changed as often as may be advisable, by relieving one, or more, and designating another, or others, in order to interfere as little as possible with the work of the Courts of Appeals. Not more than one Justice shall be designated to serve at any one time from any one of these courts.

Art. 1749. Justices to Assemble

The Justices of the Courts of Appeals so designated, upon receiving notice thereof, shall assemble together at Austin and take up, consider and act upon applications for writs of error as may be so referred to them, by granting, refusing or dismissing the same in accordance with the practice of the Supreme Court; and then such designated Justices may make such orders and give such directions, incidental to the consideration and disposition of the application.

Art. 1750. Effect of Granting or Denying Writ

The granting of an application shall admit the cause into the Supreme Court to be proceeded with by the Court as provided by law. The refusal or dismissal of an application shall have the effect of denying the admission of the cause into the Supreme Court, except that motions for rehearing may be made to such designated Justices in the same way as such motions to the Supreme Court have been heretofore allowed. The refusal or dismissal of any application shall not be regarded as a precedent or authority.

Art. 1751. Disqualification of Justice

No one of such Justices shall participate in acting upon an application in a cause decided during his incumbency by the court of which he is a member.

Art. 1752. Supreme Court May Also Act

The Supreme Court shall still have power to act upon applications for writs of error, when deemed by it expedient. In any cause in which the Justices of the Courts of Appeals shall have disagreed or shall have declared void a statute of the State, the application for writ of error shall be passed upon by the Supreme Court.

Art. 1753. Powers

The powers herein conferred upon the Justices of the Supreme Court and of the Courts of Appeals are declared to be incidental to the offices held by them respectively.

Art. 1754. Expenses of Designated Justices

Such designated Justices shall have all actual and necessary expenses incurred in the discharge of such additional duties, paid out of the State Treasury from warrants drawn by the Comptroller, upon itemized accounts of such expenses, verified by the affidavit of the claimant.

CHAPTER FIVE. PROCEEDINGS IN THE SUPREME COURT

Art.

1755 to 1759. Repealed.
1760. Death of Parties No Abatement.
1761 to 1765. Repealed

Arts. 1755 to 1759. Repealed by Rules of Civil Procedure (Acts 1939, 46th Leg., p. 201, § 1)

Art. 1760. Death of Parties No Abatement

If any party to the record in a cause pending in the Supreme Court dies after the writ of error has been served and before such cause has been decided by the Supreme Court, such cause shall not abate by such death; but the court shall proceed to adjudicate such cause and render judgment therein as if all the parties thereto were living, and such judgment shall have the same force and effect as if rendered in the life time of all the parties thereto.

Arts. 1761 to 1765. Repealed by Rules of Civil Procedure (Acts 1939, 46th Leg., p. 201, § 1)

CHAPTER SIX. JUDGMENT

CHAPTER SEVEN. COMMISSION OF APPEALS

Art.

1781 to 1800. Expired or Repealed.

Art.

1800a. Appointment of Members of Commission of Appeals; Salaries.

Arts. 1781 to 1788. Expired

Arts. 1789 to 1791. Repealed by Rules of Civil Procedure (Acts 1939, 46th Leg., p. 201, § 1)

Arts. 1792 to 1798. Expired

Art. 1799. Repealed by Rules of Civil Procedure (Acts 1939, 46th Leg., p. 201, § 1)

Art. 1800. Expired

Art. 1800a. Appointment of Members of Commission of Appeals; Salaries

Composition; Qualifications; Duties; Salaries

Sec. 1. The Supreme Court of this State is hereby authorized to appoint a Commission, to be composed of six attorneys at law, having those qualifications fixed by the laws and Constitution of this State for the judges of the Supreme Court of Texas, which Commission shall be for the aid and assistance of said court in disposing of the business before it; and such Commission shall discharge such duties as may be assigned it by said Court. Each member of said Commission shall receive for his services the same salary, paid in the same manner as are the salaries of the members of the present Commission of Appeals.

Present Members Continued Until Expiration of Terms; Appointments by Supreme Court

Sec. 2. The present members of the Commission of Appeals shall continue in office until the expiration of the terms for which each of them has been appointed. Upon the expiration of the terms of office of the present members of the Commission of Appeals the Supreme Court of this State shall appoint six Commissioners hereinbefore provided for, two of whom shall serve for a period of two years, two for four years and two for six years from the date of their appointment, such terms to be designated by the Supreme Court, and thereafter the Supreme Court shall every two years appoint two Commissioners whose terms of office shall be for a period of six years.

Vacancy Filled by Supreme Court

Sec. 3. In case of a vacancy on said Commission of Appeals by the death, resignation or removal of any member thereof, it shall be the duty of the Supreme Court to fill the same by appointment, and the person so appointed shall continue in office for the unexpired portion of the term for which the Commissioner so vacating his office had been appointed.

Supreme Court to Prescribe Rules and Regulations and Adopt Opinions

Sec. 4. The Commission of Appeals shall hear the submission of causes under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Supreme Court and such court may adopt the opinion prepared by any member of the said Commission and make the same the judgment of the Supreme Court.

Hearing Applications for Writs of Error

Sec. 5. Two of said Commissioners designated by the Supreme Court acting with one member of the Supreme Court shall be authorized to pass upon all applications for writs of error presented from the Courts of Civil Appeals, and the action of said two Commissioners and one member of the Supreme Court in passing upon such applications shall be given the same force and effect as if the same were passed upon by the Supreme Court; provided, upon any application in which the three judges are not unanimous, the same shall be determined by the Supreme Court.

Additional Costs

Sec. 6. Repealed by Rules of Civil Procedure (Acts 1939, 46th Leg., p. 201, § 1). See Vernon's Texas Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 519 (Repealed, effective Feb. 1, 1946).

Term and Place of Sessions

Sec. 7. The Commission shall hold its sessions in Austin at the same time and place as the Supreme Court, but it shall continue work during the vacation of the Supreme Court in midsummer. The judges of the Commission may take a vacation, not to exceed eight weeks during said period.

Stenographers; Salaries

Sec. 8. The Commission shall appoint stenographers not exceeding four, each of whom shall receive an annual salary not to exceed Fifteen Hundred Dollars, to be paid in monthly installments, on warrants approved by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

Additional Compensation of Clerk of Supreme Court

Sec. 9. The Clerk of the Supreme Court shall perform the duties of clerk of said Commission and shall be allowed for services rendered to said Commission by him and his deputies, an additional compensation of Fifteen Hundred Dollars per annum, to be paid out of the fees of his office.

Seal

Sec. 10. Said Commission of Appeals shall have a seal, being a star with five points and the words "Commission of Appeals of the State of Texas" around the same.

Dockets; Certiorari; Procedure

Sec. 11. Regular dockets and minutes of all proceedings by or before said Commission of Appeals shall be kept and the records and proceedings of courts of record and all cases shall be docketed in the order in which they are transferred or referred by the Supreme Court. Said Commission shall have the right to issue writs of certiorari to perfect the record, and such process as the Supreme Court might issue to make parties, and shall have power to punish for contempt. All laws and rules regulating practice and procedure in the Supreme Court shall be of force in the practice and proceedings of the Commission of Appeals so far as applicable. It is the intention of this Act to make more elastic the operation of the Commission of Appeals in order to expedite the disposition of causes in the Supreme Court and the Supreme Court is given full authority to assign such duties to the Commission of Appeals or the members thereof as it may deem proper in order to facilitate the dispatch of business before the Supreme Court.

Salaries of Commissioners and Clerical Help

Sec. 12. The salaries of the six Commissioners, stenographers, porters, clerical help and other expenses essential to carry on the work of the Commission of Appeals shall be paid out of the appropriation made to take care of the salaries and expenses of the present Commission as it now exists.

Abolition

Const. Art. 5, § 2, as amended Aug. 25, 1945, in effect, abolished the Commission of Appeals and provided that the "judges of the Commission of Appeals who may be in office at the time this amendment takes effect shall become Associate Justices of the Supreme Court and each shall continue in office as such Associate Justice of the Supreme Court until January 1st next preceding the expiration of the term to which he has been appointed and until his successor shall be elected and qualified."

1811e. Appointment of Commissioners and Commission of Court of Criminal Appeals.

Art. 1801. Judges

(a) The Court of Criminal Appeals shall consist of eight judges and one presiding judge. The judges shall have the same qualifications and receive the same salaries as the justices of the Supreme Court, and the presiding judge shall have the same qualifications and receive the same salary as the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. The presiding judge and the Judges shall be elected by the qualified voters of the state at a general election and shall hold their offices for a term of six years. In case of a vacancy in the office of a judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals, the governor shall, with the advice and consent of the Senate, fill said vacancy by appointment until the next succeeding general election.

(b) For the purpose of hearing cases, the Court of Criminal Appeals may sit in panels of three judges, the designation thereof to be under rules established by the court. In a panel of three judges, two judges shall constitute a quorum and the concurrence of two judges shall be necessary for a decision. The presiding judge, under rules established by the court, shall convene the court en banc for the transaction of all other business and may convene the court en banc for the purpose of hearing cases. The court must sit en banc during proceedings involving capital punishment and other cases as required by law. When convened en banc, five judges shall constitute a quorum and the concurrence of five judges shall be necessary for a decision.

Art. 1802. Presiding Judge

All writs and processes issuing from said court shall bear test in the name of the presiding judge and the seal of the court.

Art. 1803. Disqualification of Judge

When any member thereof shall be disqualified under the Constitution and laws of this State to hear and determine any case in said court, the same shall be certified to the Governor who shall immediately commission a person learned in the law to act instead.

Art. 1804. Term of Court

The Court of Criminal Appeals may sit for the transaction of business at any time during the year and each term shall begin and end with each calendar year.

Art. 1805. Seal of Court

The court shall use a seal having thereon a star with five points with the words, "Court of Criminal Appeals of Texas" engraved thereon.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1806. May Ascertain Facts

Said court shall have power upon affidavit or otherwise to ascertain such matters of fact as may be necessary to the exercise of its jurisdiction.

Art. 1807. Mandate

When the court from which an appeal has or may be taken has been or shall be deprived of jurisdiction over any case pending such appeal, and when such case has or may be determined by a court of appeals or the Court of Criminal Appeals, the mandate of said appellate court shall be directed to the court to which jurisdiction has been, or may be, given over such case.

Art. 1808. Clerk

Said court shall appoint a clerk for said court, who shall:

1. Hold his office for four years unless sooner removed by the court for good cause, entered in its minutes.

2. Take and subscribe the official oath and give the same bond to be approved by said court as may be required of the clerk of the Supreme Court.

3. Perform as such clerk the like duties and be subject to the same liabilities as may be required of or prescribed for the clerk of the Supreme Court. [Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1809. Deputy Clerk

The court, or such clerk with the approval of the court, may designate any stenographer employed by said court to act as deputy clerk during the absence, illness or disability of said clerk. Such stenographer shall receive no extra compensation for such services, and shall discharge the duties of the clerk in the name of his principal as deputy clerk, signing his name after that of said principal as deputy clerk. [Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1810. Reporter and Reports

Said court shall appoint a reporter of such of its decisions as the law requires to be published, and may remove him for inefficiency or neglect of duty. The clerk shall deliver to the reporter the original opinions when recorded and the record in each case to be reported, taking receipt therefor, and the reporter shall return them when he finishes using them. The volumes of such decisions shall be numbered in continuation of the present reports, styled Texas Criminal Reports, and be printed and disposed of in like manner as the reports of the Supreme Court.

Art. 1811. State Prosecuting Attorneys

The Court of Criminal Appeals shall appoint an attorney to represent the State in all proceedings before said Court, to be styled "State Prosecuting Attorney," who shall take and subscribe the official oath, hold office for a term of two (2) years and until his successor is appointed and qualified, and who shall have had at least five (5) years experience as a practicing attorney in this State in criminal cases. The State Prosecuting Attorney may also appoint one or more Assistant State Prosecuting Attorneys. Assistant State Prosecuting Attorneys shall have the same duties and the same term of office as the State Prosecuting Attorney. For good cause, the Court of Criminal Appeals shall have power to remove from office State Prosecuting Attorneys. District and county attorneys may provide assistance to the State Prosecuting Attorney in representing the State before the Court of Criminal Appeals. The State Prosecuting Attorney may provide assistance to district and county attorneys in representing the State before the Courts of Appeals when requested to do so by the district or county attorney. The State Prosecuting Attorney may also represent the State in any stage of a criminal case before the Courts of Appeals when, in his judgment, the interests of the State so require.

Art. 1811e. Appointment of Commissioners and Commission of Court of Criminal Appeals

Sec. 1. (a) The presiding judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals may, with the concurrence of a majority of the judges of the Court of Criminal Appeals, designate and appoint a retired appellate judge or district judge who has consented to be subject to appointment, or an active appellate judge or district judge, to sit as a commissioner of the Court of Criminal Appeals, with the designated judge's consent. The presiding judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals may designate and appoint as many commissioners as he deems necessary to aid and assist the court in disposing of the business before it.

(b) A commissioner shall discharge the duties which may be assigned him by the court and may be appointed to serve either for a certain period of time or for a particular case or cases.

(c) All opinions of the commissioner shall be submitted to the Court of Criminal Appeals and shall receive the approval of the court, or a majority of the court. When approved by the court, the opinion shall have the same weight and legal effect as if prepared by the Court of Criminal Appeals of Texas.

(d) The compensation of a judge while sitting as a commissioner of the court shall be paid out of moneys appropriated from the General Revenue Fund for such purpose in an amount equal to the salary of the judges of the Court of Criminal Appeals, in lieu of retirement allowance or in lieu of the compensation he receives as an active judge of another court. A judge sitting as a commissioner of the court also shall receive his actual travel expense to and from Austin, Texas, and per diem of $25 per day while he is assigned to the Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin.

Sec. 1a. (a) In addition to the authority granted under the provisions of Section 1 of this Act, the Court of Criminal Appeals of this State may appoint a Commission to be composed of two attorneys-at-law, having those qualifications fixed by the laws and Constitution of this State for the Judges of the Court of Criminal Appeals of Texas, which Commission shall be for the aid and assistance of said Court in disposing of the business before it; and such Commission shall discharge such duties as may be assigned it by the said Court. On September 1, 1971, and thereafter every two years, the Court of Criminal Appeals may appoint two Commissioners for terms of two years each. Each member of said Commission shall receive for his services such salary as is now or may hereafter be provided by law. Two stenographers for said Commission shall be appointed by the court.

(b) In case of a vacancy on said Commission in aid of the Court of Criminal Appeals of Texas by the death, resignation, or removal of any member thereof, the Court of Criminal Appeals may fill the same by appointment, and the person so appointed shall continue in office for the unexpired portion of the term for which the Commissioner so vacating his office has been appointed.

(c) All opinions of said Commissioners shall be submitted to the Court of Criminal Appeals and shall receive the approval of said Court, or a majority of them, before handed down as opinions of said Court, and when so approved and handed down, shall have the same weight and legal effect as if originally prepared and handed down by said Court of Criminal Appeals of Texas.

Art. 1812. Membership

(a) Each Court of Appeals shall consist of a Chief Justice and, in each respective district, the following number of Associate Justices:

(1) First	8
(2) Second	5
(3) Third	2
(4) Fourth	6
(5) Fifth	12

(i) The transition from a six judge court to a 13 judge court shall be as follows:

(1) September 1, 1981. Six additional justices shall be added by appointment by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate making a total at that time of 12 justices. The justices elected to this position in 1982 shall serve an initial term to end December 31, 1984, or when their successors have qualified.

(2) January 1, 1983. One additional justice shall be added by appointment by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate making a total at that time of 13 justices. The justice elected to this position in 1984 shall serve an initial term to end December 31, 1984, or when his successor has qualified.

(ii) In no event shall the total justices authorized by this Act exceed a total of 13 justices in this particular court.

(6) Sixth	2
(7) Seventh	3
(8) Eighth	3
(9) Ninth	2
(10) Tenth	2
(11) Eleventh	2
(12) Twelfth	2
(13) Thirteenth	5
(14) Fourteenth	8

(b) Each Court of Appeals shall sit in panels of not less than three Justices. A majority of a panel shall be a quorum for the transaction of business, and the concurrence of a majority of a panel shall be necessary for a decision. If more than one panel is used, the Justices of the court shall periodically rotate among the panels as provided by rules established by the respective courts. Permanent civil and criminal panels without rotation shall not be established. The Chief Justice of each respective court, under rules established by the court, shall convene the court en banc for the transaction of all other business and may convene the court en banc for the purpose of hearing cases. When convened en banc, a majority of the membership of the court shall constitute a quorum and the concurrence of a majority of the court sitting en banc shall be necessary for a decision. Effective September 1, 1982, the Court of Appeals for the Third Supreme Judicial District shall consist of a Chief Justice and five Associate Justices and may sit in panels of not less than three Justices.

(c) When additional Justices of a Court of Appeals are elected and qualified, they shall draw lots for their terms of office, as provided by law for Justices of the Courts of Appeals after the initial creation of such courts.

(d) A Justice of the Court of Appeals may be assigned temporarily to another Court of Appeals by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court regardless of whether a vacancy exists in the Court of Appeals to which he is assigned. A qualified retired Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court, of the Court of Criminal Appeals, or of a Court of Appeals may be assigned by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court to a Court of Appeals for active service regardless of whether a vacancy exists. When a regular or retired Justice or Judge is assigned pursuant to this paragraph out of the county of his residence, he shall, in addition to all other compensation permitted or authorized by law, receive the same expenses and per diem as that allowed a District Judge assigned pursuant to Chapter 156, Acts of the 40th Legislature, Regular Session, 1927 (Article 200a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), to be paid by the state upon certificates of approval by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court or the Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals to which the Justice is assigned. A regular Justice assigned to a Court of Appeals sitting out of the county of his residence shall receive pro rata for the time serving on assignment, additional compensation from the county or counties paying additional compensation pursuant to Chapter 297, Acts of the 62nd Legislature, Regular Session, 1971 (Article 6819a-18a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), to an Associate Justice of the Court of Appeals to which the regular Justice is assigned. A retired Justice or Judge shall receive pro rata for the time serving on assignment from money appropriated from the general revenue fund for such purpose an amount representing the difference between all of the judicial retirement benefits of such Justice or Judge and the salary paid by the state to an Associate Justice of a Court of Appeals, and from the county or counties paying additional compensation pursuant to Chapter 297, Acts of the 62nd Legislature, Regular Session, 1971 (Article 6819a-18a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), to an Associate Justice of the Court of Appeals to which assigned a pro rata amount of that additional compensation for the time serving on assignment.

Section 2 of the 1977 amendatory act provided:

"This Act takes effect on approval by the qualified voters of this state of an amendment to the Texas Constitution providing that each court of civil appeals shall consist of a chief justice and not less than two associate justices."

S.J.R. No. 45 proposing such amendment was approved by the voters in an election held November 7, 1978.

WTSC Civil Statutes—3

Art. 1812a. Second Supreme Judicial District; Membership

Notwithstanding Section (a), Article 1812, Revised Statutes, the Court of Appeals for the Second Supreme Judicial District is composed of a chief justice and six associate justices.

Art. 1813. Election and Term of Office; Special Commissioner Appointed When Justice Disabled or Called into Active Military Service

(a) The Justices of each Court of Appeals shall be elected at the general election by the qualified voters of their respective districts. Upon their qualification, after the first election after the creation of any Court of Appeals, the Justices shall draw lots for the terms of office; those drawing number one (1) shall hold for the term of two (2) years; those drawing number two (2) shall hold for a term of four (4) years; and those drawing number three (3) shall hold office for six (6) years. Each of said offices shall be filled by election at the next general election before the respective terms expire; and the person elected shall thereafter hold his office for six (6) years.

(b) After any Justice of any Court of Appeals has become totally disabled to discharge any of the duties of his office, by reason of illness, physical or mental, and has remained in such condition continuously for a period of not less than one (1) year, and if it is probable that such illness will be permanent, and is of such a nature that it will probably continue to incapacitate such Justice for the balance of his term of office, it shall be the duty of the other Justices of the Court of which such incapacitated Justice is a member to certify such facts to the Governor. Upon receipt of such certificate by the Governor, he shall make proper investigation touching the matters therein contained and if he shall determine that the facts contained in such certificate are true, and that a necessity exists therefor, he shall forthwith appoint a Special Commissioner having the requisite qualifications of a member of such Court to assist the same. Such Special Commissioner, when so appointed, may sit with such Court, hear arguments on submitted cases, and write opinions thereon if directed to do so by the Court; and said opinions, if adopted by the Court, shall become thereupon the opinions of the Court.

(c) The Commissioner herein provided for, when appointed by the Governor, shall receive the same compensation as the regular Justices of the Court of Appeals, and he shall serve until the death or expiration of the term of the disabled member; provided that in no event shall the term of service continue for a longer time than two (2) years under the same appointment; and provided further, that in the event the disabled Justice shall recover from his disability, the term of such Special Commissioner shall immediately end. In the event of such recovery, a majority of the Justices of said Court shall certify such fact to the Governor, and such certificate shall be conclusive evidence of the recovery of said disabled Justice.

(d) Whenever any Justice of any Court of Appeals is called or ordered into the active military service of the United States, it shall be the duty of the other Justices of the Court of which such Justice is a member, to certify that fact to the Governor. Upon receipt of such certificate by the Governor, he shall make proper investigation touching the matters therein contained, and if he shall determine that the facts contained in such certificate are true, and that a necessity exists therefor, he shall forthwith appoint a Special Commissioner having the requisite qualifications of a member of such Court to assist the same. Such Special Commissioner, when so appointed, may sit with such Court, hear arguments on submitted cases, and write opinions thereon if directed to do so by the Court; and said opinions, if adopted by the Court, shall become thereupon the opinions of the Court.

(e) Such Special Commissioner, when so appointed by the Governor, shall receive the same compensation as the regular Justices of the Court of Appeals, and shall serve until the Justice who has been so called or ordered into the active military service of the United States is discharged from such military service, or until the expiration of the term of office of such Justice; provided that in no event shall the term of service of such Special Commissioner continue for a longer period than two (2) years under the same appointment; and provided further that when such Justice so called or ordered into the active military service of the United States is discharged from such active military service, the term of such Special Commissioner shall immediately end. When the active military service of such Justice shall have terminated, the other Justices of such Court of Appeals shall certify that fact to the Governor, and their certificate shall be conclusive evidence of the facts so certified.

(f) Nothing in this Act shall be considered as giving any members of any Court of Appeals, or the Governor, the power or authority to remove or suspend any member of the Court of Appeals from office, or to in any manner interfere with him in his Constitutional rights and powers.

Art. 1814. Qualifications of Judges

No person shall be eligible to serve in the office of Justice of a Court of Appeals unless the person is licensed to practice law in this state and at the time of election is a citizen of the United States and of this state, has attained the age of thirty-five years, is a resident of the district from which he is elected, and has been a practicing lawyer, or a lawyer and judge of a court of record together, at least ten years.

Art. 1815. Special Judge

If all or any two members of any Court of Civil Appeals shall be disqualified to determine any cause in such court, that fact shall be certified to the Governor, who shall immediately commission the requisite number of persons, learned in the law, to try and determine said cause.

Art. 1816. Terms of Court

The term of each Court of Appeals of the State of Texas shall begin and end with each calendar year.

Art. 1817. Location of Courts

A Court of Appeals shall be held at the following places, respectively:

1. In the First Supreme Judicial District, in the city of Houston;
2. In the Second Supreme Judicial District, in the city of Fort Worth;
3. In the Third Supreme Judicial District, in the city of Austin;
4. In the Fourth Supreme Judicial District, in the city of San Antonio;
5. In the Fifth Supreme Judicial District, in the city of Dallas;
6. In the Sixth Supreme Judicial District, in the city of Texarkana;
7. In the Seventh Supreme Judicial District, in the city of Amarillo;
8. In the Eighth Supreme Judicial District, in the city of El Paso;
9. In the Ninth Supreme Judicial District, in the city of Beaumont;
10. In the Tenth Supreme Judicial District, in the city of Waco;
11. In the Eleventh Supreme Judicial District, in the city of Eastland;
12. In the Twelfth Supreme Judicial District, in the city of Tyler;
13. In the Thirteenth Supreme Judicial District, in the city of Corpus Christi; and
14. In the Fourteenth Supreme Judicial District, in the city of Houston.

The cities of Beaumont and Waco, and Eastland County, respectively, shall furnish and equip suitable rooms for the respective Courts of Appeals therein, and the justices thereof, and the County of Harris shall furnish and equip suitable rooms in Houston for the Courts of Appeals for the First and Fourteenth Supreme Judicial Districts, and for the justices thereof, all without cost or expense to the state. The city of Tyler and Smith County and the city of Corpus Christi and Nueces County, respectively, shall furnish and equip suitable rooms and a library for the respective Courts of Appeals located therein, and for the justices thereof, all without cost or expense to the state.

Art. 1817a. First and Fourteenth Judicial Districts, Places Where Business Transacted: Dockets Equalized

(a) The Courts of Appeals for the First and the Fourteenth Supreme Judicial Districts may transact their business in any county in the First Supreme Judicial District as each court shall determine it necessary and convenient.

(b) All civil and criminal cases directed to a Court of Appeals within the First Supreme Judicial District shall be filed in either the First or Fourteenth Court of Appeals as provided by this Act. The trial clerk shall write the numbers of the two Courts of Appeals on identical slips of paper and place the slips in a container. When a notice of appeal or appeal bond is filed, the trial court clerk shall draw a number from the container at random, in a public place, and shall assign the case and any companion cases to the Court of Appeals for the corresponding number drawn. Subject to the provisions of Article 1738, Revised Statutes, the clerks of the First and the Fourteenth Supreme Judicial Districts may from time to time equalize the dockets of the two courts by transferring cases from one court to the other. The court to which the case is transferred has jurisdiction over the matter.

(c) The First and Fourteenth Courts of Appeals shall establish a central clerk's office and offices for judges and other support personnel in Houston. The Courts of Appeals may establish offices for the clerks, judges, and other support personnel of the courts in other counties in the courts' district as each court determines necessary and convenient.

(d) Each of the judges on the Courts of Appeals shall designate on the records of the court in which the judge serves the county of his permanent residence. The county of a judge's permanent residence is the judge's permanent post of duty.

"Sec. 6. This Act takes effect on September 1, 1967."

Art. 1817a-1. First and Fourteenth Supreme Judicial Districts; Reimbursement of Harris County

Sec. 1. The counties other than Harris County composing the First and Fourteenth Supreme Judicial Districts shall annually reimburse Harris County for the costs incurred by Harris County during its previous fiscal year for:

(1) supplemental salaries and fringe benefits for the justices for those courts; and

(2) furnishings, equipment, supplies, and utility expenses for those courts.

Sec. 2. (a) Each county shall pay a share based on the proportion its population bears to the total population of all the counties in those districts according to the most recent federal census.

(b) A county shall pay its share not later than the 60th day after the beginning of the county's fiscal year.

Sec. 3. The Commissioners Court of Harris County shall provide each county liable for the expenses with a statement of that county's share. The statement must be approved by the chief justices of the courts of appeal of the First and Fourteenth Supreme Judicial Districts.

Sec. 4. This Act applies to reimbursement of expenses incurred in the fiscal year 1984 and thereafter.

Art. 1817b. Thirteenth Supreme Judicial District, Places Where Business Transacted

The Court of Appeals for the Thirteenth Supreme Judicial District may transact its business at the county seat of any of the counties within its district, as the Court shall determine is necessary and convenient, providing that all cases originating in Nueces County shall be heard and transacted in such county.

[Acts 1975, 64th Leg., p. 2357, ch. 726, § 1, eff. Sept. 1, 1975. Amended by Acts 1981, 67th Leg., p. 780, ch. 291, § 37, eff. Sept. 1, 1981.]

Section 2 of the 1975 Act provided: "All laws or parts of laws in conflict herewith are hereby repealed to the extent of such conflict."

Art. 1817c. Place for Transaction of Business by Sixth Supreme Judicial District

The Court of Appeals for the Sixth Supreme Judicial District may transact its business either in the city of Texarkana or in the courthouse building of the county seat of any of the counties within its district, as the court determines is necessary or convenient, except that all cases originating in Bowie County shall be heard and transacted in the city of Texarkana.

Art. 1817d. Eighth Supreme Judicial District, Places Where Business Transacted

The Court of Civil Appeals for the Eighth Supreme Judicial District may transact its business at the county seat of any of the counties within its district, as the court shall determine it necessary and convenient, providing that all cases originating in El Paso County shall be heard and transacted in said county.

Section 2 of the 1981 Act provides:

"All laws or parts of laws in conflict herewith are hereby repealed to the extent of such conflict."

Art. 1817e. Place for Transaction of Business by the Third Supreme Judicial District

The Court of Appeals for the Third Supreme Judicial District may transact its business at the county seat of any of the counties within its district, as the court determines is necessary and convenient, except that all cases originating in Travis County shall be heard and transacted in that county.

Art. 1817f. Second Supreme Judicial District, Places Where Business Transacted

The Court of Appeals for the Second Supreme Judicial District may transact its business in any county in the district as the court determines is necessary or convenient.

Art. 1818. Adjournment

Such courts may adjourn from day to day or for such time as they may deem proper. If a quorum is not present at the first or any day of the term, any judge of the court or the bailiff thereof may adjourn the court from time to time until a quorum shall be in attendance, but the court shall not be finally adjourned for the term.

Art. 1819. Civil Jurisdiction Defined

The appellate jurisdiction of the Courts of Appeals shall extend to all civil cases within the limits of their respective districts of which the District Courts and County Courts have or assume jurisdiction when the amount in controversy or the judgment rendered shall exceed One Hundred Dollars ($100) exclusive of interest and costs; provided, however, that if any Court of Appeals having jurisdiction of a cause, matter or controversy requiring immediate action shall, by reason of the illness or absence or unavailability of such number of judges that reduces the membership of the court below three (3), be unable to take such immediate action, then the nearest available Court of Appeals may take such action as may be required in regard to said cause, matter or controversy under such rules as the Supreme Court may prescribe.

Section 149 of the 1981 amendatory act provides, in part: "This Act takes effect on September 1, 1981. Appeals to the courts of appeals filed on or after that date shall be filed in the court of appeals having jurisdiction."

Art. 1820. Judgment Conclusive on Facts

The judgments of the Courts of Appeals in civil cases shall be conclusive in all cases on the facts of the case.

Art. 1821. Judgment Conclusive on Law

Except as herein otherwise provided, the judgments of the Courts of Appeals in civil cases shall be conclusive on the law and facts, nor shall a writ of error be allowed thereto from the Supreme Court in the following cases, to wit:

1. Any civil case appealed from the County Court or from a District Court, when, under the Constitution a County Court would have had original or appellate jurisdiction to try it, except in probate matters, and in cases involving the Revenue Laws of the State or the validity or construction of a Statute.

2. All cases of slander.

3. All cases of divorce or child custody, support, or reciprocal support.

4. All cases of contested elections of every character other than for State officers, except where the validity of a Statute is questioned by the decision.

5. In all appeals from interlocutory orders appointing receivers or trustees, or such other interlocutory appeals as may be allowed by law.

6. In all appeals from orders or judgments in suits where a temporary injunction has been granted or refused or when a motion to dissolve has been granted or overruled.

7. In all other cases as to law and facts except where appellate jurisdiction is given to the Supreme Court and not made final in said Courts of Appeals.

It is provided, however, that nothing contained herein shall be construed to deprive the Supreme Court of jurisdiction of any civil case brought to the Court of Appeals from an appealable judgment of the trial court in which the judges of the Courts of Appeals may disagree upon any question of law material to the decision, or in which one of the Courts of Appeals holds differently from a prior decision of another Court of Appeals or of the Supreme Court upon a question of law, as provided for in Subdivisions (1) and (2) of Article 1728.

Art. 1822. Inquiry into Jurisdiction

Said courts shall have power, upon affidavit or otherwise as by the courts may be thought proper, to ascertain such matters of fact as may be necessary to the proper exercise of their jurisdiction.

Art. 1823. Writs of Mandamus, etc.

Said courts and the judges thereof may issue writs of mandamus and all other writs necessary to enforce the jurisdiction of said courts.

Art. 1824. May Mandamus District Courts

Said Courts or any Justice thereof, in vacation, may issue all writs of Mandamus agreeable to the principles of law regulating such writs, against any Judge of a District or County Court.

Art. 1824a. May Issue Writs of Habeas Corpus

Whenever any person is restrained in his liberty within a supreme judicial district, the court of appeals of such district, or any of the justices thereof, shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the supreme court to issue the writ of habeas corpus whenever it appears that such restraint of liberty is by virtue of any order, process, or commitment issued by any court or judge on account of the violation of any order, judgment, or decree theretofore made, rendered, or entered by such court or judge in a divorce case, wife or child support case, or child custody case. Said court or any justice thereof, pending the hearing of application for such writ, may admit to bail any person to whom the writ of habeas corpus may be so granted.

1836b, 1836c. Repealed.

Art. 1827. Appointment of Clerk

Each Court of Appeals shall appoint for a term of two years one Clerk who shall reside within a county which is a part of the Supreme Judicial District of the Court of Appeals making the appointment. Such appointment shall be recorded in the minutes of the court. Whenever the necessity occurs, the court may appoint a Clerk Pro Tem.

Art. 1828. Bond

The clerk shall first make a bond for five thousand dollars payable to the Governor, conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties of his office, to be approved by any judge of his court. [Acts 1925, S.B. 84. Amended by Acts 1957, 55th Leg., 2nd C.S., p. 173, ch. 16, § 1.]

Art. 1829. Removal

The clerk may be removed by the court for neglect of duty or malfeasance in office on motion specifying the particular charge preferred. In such case the court shall determine the law and the facts after having given such clerk ten days previous notice of the hearing.

Art. 1830. Seal of Court

Each clerk shall procure a seal for the use of the court, which shall have a star of five points with "Court of Appeals of the State of Texas" engraved thereon.

Art. 1831. Records and Judgments

(a) Each clerk shall file and carefully preserve all records certified to his court and all papers relative thereto; docket all causes in the order in which they are filed; record the proceedings of said court, except opinions and orders on motions, and certify their judgments to the proper courts.

(b) Upon the issuance of the mandate in each case, the clerk shall notify the attorneys of record in the case that:

(1) exhibits submitted to the court by a party may be withdrawn by that party or the party's attorney of record;

(2) exhibits on file with the court will be destroyed 10 years after final disposition of the case or at such earlier time as may be ordered by the court.

(c) No sooner than 60 and no later than 90 days after final disposition of a case, the clerk shall remove and destroy all duplicate papers in the file on record of that case.

(d) The clerk shall, after any civil case in said court has been finally disposed of for a period of ten years, destroy all records filed in said court in connection therewith except:

(1) those records which contain highly concentrated, unique, and valuable information unlikely to be found in any other source available to researchers, as determined by the clerk or other person designated by the court, which records may be transferred to a public or private library or other agency concerned with the preservation of historical documents, which library or agency may then determine which records to preserve; and

(2) indexes, original opinions, minutes, and general court dockets, unless these documents are microfilmed, microfiched, or otherwise reduced for permanent retention, in which case the original documents shall be destroyed.

(e) The clerk shall retain other records of the court, such as financial records, administrative correspondence, and other materials not related to particular cases for the period of time specified by order of the court.

Art. 1831b. Reproduction, Recording, and Retention of Records

Plan for Reproduction

Sec. 1. The clerks of the courts of appeals may, pursuant to their duty to preserve indexes, original opinions, minutes, and general court dockets, provide a plan for the reproduction by microfilm or other process which correctly and legibly reproduces or which forms a medium of copying or reproducing these records. The plan shall be in writing and shall include provisions for maintenance, retention, security, and retrieval of all records so microfilmed or otherwise duplicated.

Contents of Plan; Standards

Sec. 2. The plan shall include setting standards for:

(1) organizing, identifying, coding, and indexing so that the image produced during the microfilming or other duplicating process can be certified as a true and correct copy of the original and may be retrieved rapidly;

(2) materials used in the microfilming or other process which correctly and legibly reproduces or which forms a medium of copying or reproducing all records as authorized by this Act, and all processes of development, fixation, and washing of the photographic duplicates to be of quality approved for permanent photographic records by the United States Bureau of Standards; and

(3) permanent retention of the records and security provisions to guard against physical loss, alterations, and deterioration.

Adoption of Plan

Sec. 3. The clerk or clerks may present the plan in writing to the justices of the court of appeals. If a majority of such justices determine that the plan meets the requirements set forth in Section 2 of this Act, they shall so inform the clerks in writing, and the clerks may adopt the plan. The decision of the justices shall be entered in the minutes of the court, and thereafter all reproductions of original documents of the court made in accordance with the plan shall be considered to be the original records for all purposes and shall be so accepted by courts and administrative agencies in this state. All transcripts, exemplifications, copies, or reproductions on paper or on film of an image or images of any microfilmed or otherwise duplicated record shall be deemed to be certified copies of the original for all purposes.

Destruction of duplicated originals

Sec. 4. Upon certification of the clerk to the court that all requirements have been met and are on record as provided by this plan, the clerk may destroy the indexes, original opinions, minutes, and general court dockets which have been microfilmed or otherwise duplicated.

Art. 1832. Librarian

Each clerk shall be librarian in charge of the library of his court, and shall take charge of, keep in good order and make catalogs of the books thereof.

Art. 1833. Deputy Clerks

With the approval of the court, each clerk may appoint such deputies as may be provided by the appropriations act of the legislature. Each deputy shall give bond to the clerk for the faithful discharge of his duty.

Art. 1834. Disposition of Costs

Each clerk of a Court of Appeals shall collect and pay into the State Treasury all costs collected by him, under such regulations as the Comptroller may prescribe and the justices of said Court approve.

Art. 1835. Report of Costs Collected

Each clerk shall, within ten days after the first day of January and July, make a sworn report to his court showing the amount of costs collected by him during the previous six months, the causes in which the same were collected, and the disposition made of such costs. This report shall be filed with the financial records of said court.

Art. 1836. Stenographers

Each court may appoint one stenographer who shall be sworn to keep secret all matters which may come to his knowledge as such stenographer, and who shall give bond for two thousand dollars payable to the State of Texas, conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties, to be approved by the Chief Justice of said Court.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1836a. Purchase of Law Books From Fees

Sec. 1. Deleted by Acts 1981, 67th Leg., p. 785, ch. 291, § 49, eff. Sept. 1, 1981.

Sec. 1-a. The Clerks of the Courts of Appeals shall be and are hereby authorized to purchase additional law books for the use of said Courts out of the fees collected by said Courts; such expenditures shall not exceed annually the specific amounts of such fees additionally authorized for such purpose in the General Appropriation Acts of the Legislature made biennially for the support and maintenance of the Judiciary Department of the State Government. Provided, however, that all such fees collected by any clerk or other officer of any Court of Appeals within this State shall be deposited in the State Treasury to the credit of the court so collecting and depositing same, and the expenditures out of said fund for the foregoing purposes shall be upon a warrant drawn upon the State Treasury by the State Comptroller, as may be provided for in the General Appropriation Bill for the Judiciary of this State.

- 1890. Failure of Officers to Act.
- 1891. Record of the Election.
- 1892. Effect of Such Record.
- 1893. Other Elections for Special Judge.

Art. 1884. Election and Qualification

For each judicial district there shall be elected at the general election for a term of four years a judge who shall be at least twenty-five years of age, a practicing attorney or a judge of a court in this State for four years and a resident of the district in which he is elected for two years next before his election. He shall reside in his district during his term of office.

Art. 1885. Disqualification

No change of venue shall be necessary because of the disqualification of a district judge, but he shall immediately certify his disqualification to the Governor, whereupon the Governor shall designate some district judge in an adjoining district to exchange and try such case or cases, and he shall notify both of said judges of such order; and such judges shall exchange districts for the purpose of disposing of such case or cases. If said judges be prevented from exchanging districts, the parties or their counsels may agree upon an attorney of the court for the trial thereof, and failing to agree, such fact shall be certified to the Governor by the district judge, or the special judge, whereupon the Governor shall appoint a person legally qualified to act as judge in the trial of the case.

Art. 1886. Record of Agreement

Whenever a special judge is agreed upon for the trial of a particular cause, the clerk shall enter in the minutes of the court, as a part of the proceedings in such cause, a record showing:

1. That the judge of the court was disqualified to try the cause; and
2. That such special judge (naming him) was, by consent agreed upon by the parties to try the cause; and
3. That the oath prescribed by law has been duly administered to him.

Art. 1887. Special Judge, When

Should the judge of a district court on the first or any future day of a term, fail or refuse to hold the court, the practicing lawyers of the court present may elect from among their number a special judge who shall hold the court and proceed with the business thereof.

Art. 1888. Voting for Special Judge

Such election shall be by ballot, and each practicing lawyer in attendance at such court shall be entitled to participate in such election and shall be entitled to one vote. A majority of the votes of the lawyers participating shall be necessary to the election of such special judge.

Art. 1889. Election for Special Judge

The election shall be conducted as follows: The sheriff or constable shall make proclamation at the court house door that the election of a special judge of the court is about to be made by the practicing lawyers present; the clerk shall then make a list of the practicing lawyers present; and such lawyers shall then organize and hold the election.

Art. 1890. Failure of Officers to Act

Should the sheriff, constable, and clerk, or either of them, fail or refuse to act, the said practicing lawyers may nevertheless proceed to organize themselves into such electoral body, and appoint a sheriff and clerk pro tempore to do the duties of such officers respectively.

Art. 1891. Record of the Election

The clerk shall enter upon the minutes of the court a record of the election of such special judge, showing:

1. The names of all the practicing lawyers present and participating in such election.

2. The fact that the public proclamation was made at the court house door that such election was about to take place.

3. The number of ballots polled at such election and the number polled for each person, and the result of the election.

4. That the oath prescribed by law has been duly administered to the special judge.

Art. 1892. Effect of Such Record

The record of such proceedings, substantially complying with the requirements of the law, shall be conclusive evidence of the election and qualification of such special judge.

Art. 1893. Other Elections for Special Judge

Like elections may be held from time to time during the term of the court to supply the absence, failure or inability of the judge, or of any special judge, to perform the duties of the office.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

- 1904. Use of Court Seal.
- 1905. Seal of the Court.

Art. 1894. Election and Power

A clerk of the district court of each county shall be elected at each general election for a term of two years. Each such clerk shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations required in the discharge of their official duties, to take the depositions of witnesses, and generally to perform all such duties as are or may be imposed upon them by law.

Increase in Term of Office

Const. Art. 5, § 9 was amended in November, 1954, to increase the term of office of clerks of district court from two to four years.

Art. 1895. Vacancy

Whenever a vacancy occurs in the office of district clerk, it shall be filled by the district judge of such county; and such appointee shall give bond and qualify and may hold his office until the next general election. Where a vacancy occurs in a county having two or more district courts, the vacancy shall be filled by the judges of such courts; and if they fail to agree, the Governor, upon the certificate of such judges, shall order a special election to fill such vacancy.

Art. 1896. Clerk Pro Tem

Where a district clerk is a party to any pending or proposed suit, motion or proceeding in his court, the district judge in whose court the same may be pending or proposed, shall, on application of any person interested, or on his own motion, appoint a clerk pro tempore for the purposes of such suit, motion or proceeding. Such temporary clerk shall take an oath to faithfully and impartially perform the duties of such appointment, and shall also enter into bond, payable to the State of Texas, in an amount to be fixed by the judge and to be approved by him, conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties under such appointment. Such appointee shall perform each duty required by law of the clerk in the particular suit, motion or proceeding in which he may be appointed.

Art. 1897. Bond, Oath, and InsuranceBond and Oath

Sec. 1. Each district clerk shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, give bond either with two or more good and sufficient sureties or with a surety company authorized to do business in Texas as a surety to be approved by the commissioners court in an amount equal to not less than $5,000 nor less than 20 percent of the maximum amount of fees collected in any year during the previous term of office immediately preceding the term of office for which the bond is to be given, but in no event to exceed $100,000, conditioned for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office. Said clerk shall also take and subscribe the official oath which shall be endorsed on the bond, and the bond and oath so taken and approved shall be filed and recorded in the office of the county clerk.

Deputies and Employees; Bond

Sec. 2. Each district clerk shall obtain a surety bond covering his deputy or a schedule surety bond or a blanket surety bond covering his deputies, if more than one, and all employees of his office. Each deputy and each employee shall be covered for the same conditions and in the same amount as the district clerk.

Beneficiaries of Bonds

Sec. 3. The bond covering the district clerk shall be made payable to the governor and the bond or bonds covering the deputies and the employees of the district clerk shall be made payable to the governor for the use and benefit of the district clerk.

Errors and Omissions Insurance

Sec. 4. (a) Each district clerk shall obtain an errors and omissions insurance policy, covering the district clerk and the deputy or deputies of the district clerk against liabilities incurred through errors and omissions in the performance of the official duties of said district clerk and the deputy or deputies of said district clerk; with the amount of the policy being in an amount equal to a maximum amount of fees collected in any year during the previous term of office immediately preceding the term of office for which said insurance policy is to be obtained, but in no event shall the amount of the policy be for less than $10,000 or more than $700,000.

(b) Commissioners courts of each county may establish a contingency fund for the purpose of providing coverage to the extent required by this article where it is determined by the district clerk that insurance coverage is unavailable to provide such coverage. District clerks of those counties where a contingency fund is established may collect an additional filing fee to be determined by the commissioners court in an amount not to exceed $5 for each suit filed. When the contingency fund has reached an amount equal to that required by Subsection (a) of this section, the contingency fee shall no longer be collected.

Burglary, Theft, Robbery, etc. Insurance

Sec. 5. Each district clerk shall obtain an insurance policy to cover any loss due to burglary, theft, robbery, counterfeit currency, and destruction, with the amount of policy being in an amount not to exceed $20,000.

Payment of Premiums

Sec. 6. The premiums for the bonds and the insurance policies required by this article to be given or to be obtained by the district clerk of each county shall be paid by the commissioners court of the county out of the general fund of the county.

Art. 1898. Deputies

The district clerk may, in writing, under his hand and the seal of his court, appoint one or more deputies. The appointment shall be recorded in the office of the county clerk. Such deputies shall take the official oath, and shall act in the name of their principal, and may do and perform all such official acts as may be lawfully done and performed by such clerk in person. If the clerk does not reside at the county seat he shall have a deputy residing there.

Art. 1899. To Record Proceedings

Such clerks shall keep a fair record of all the acts done, and proceedings had, in their respective courts; enter all judgments of the court, under direction of the judge, and keep a record of all executions issued and the returns thereon, in record books to be kept for the purpose.

Art. 1899a. Records of District Clerk

Sec. 1. The District Clerk may, pursuant to his duty to keep a fair record of acts and proceedings, provide a plan for the reproduction by microfilm or other process which correctly and legibly reproduces or which forms a medium of copying or reproducing all records, acts, proceedings held, minutes of the court or courts, and including all registers, records, and instruments for which the District Clerk is or may become responsible by law. The plan shall be in writing and shall include provisions for maintenance, retention, security, and retrieval of all records so microfilmed or otherwise duplicated.

Sec. 2. Any such plan shall provide for the following requirements:

(1) All original instruments, records, and minutes shall be recorded and released into the file system within a specified minimum time period after presentation to the clerk;

(2) Original paper records may be used during the pendency of any legal proceeding;

(3) The plan shall include setting standards for organizing, identifying, coding, and indexing so that the image produced during the microfilming or other duplicating process can be certified as a true and correct copy of the original and may be retrieved rapidly.

(4) All materials used in the microfilming or other process which correctly and legibly reproduces or which forms a medium of copying or reproducing all public records, as herein authorized, and all processes of development, fixation, and washing of said photographic duplicates, shall be of quality approved for permanent photographic records by the United States Bureau of Standards.

(5) The plan shall provide for permanent retention of the records and shall provide security provisions to guard against physical loss, alterations, and deterioration.

Sec. 3. The clerk may present such plan in writing to the District Judge or Judges of the county in which the clerk is located. If the Judge, or a majority of the Judges, determine that the plan meets the requirements set forth in Section 2 of this Act, they shall so inform the clerk in writing, and the clerk may adopt the plan. The decision of the Judge or Judges shall be entered in the minutes of the court or courts, and thereafter all recordings and orders of the court in accordance with the plan shall be considered to be the original records for all purposes and shall be so accepted by courts and administrative agencies in this State. All transcripts, exemplifications, copies, or reproductions on paper or on film of an image or images of any microfilmed or otherwise duplicated record shall be deemed to be certified copies of the original for all purposes.

Sec. 4. In any hearing, proceeding, or trial in which instruments and records have been filed with or left in the possession of the District Clerk, and upon certification of the clerk to the Librarian of the State that all requirements have been met and are on record as provided by this plan, the clerk may destroy such instruments and records after one year has elapsed following the time at which the judgment has become final and times for appeal, writ of error, bill of review under Rule 329, Texas Rules of Civil Procedure and certiorari has expired without having been perfected, or mandate which is finally decisive of such matters has been issued, further providing, that after these requirements are reached and prior to the actual destruction of the instruments and records by the clerk, any party or parties or the State Librarian by petitioning the court may move for the return of such instruments and records.

Art. 1899b. Recording Proceedings of More Than One Court

Combining the Minutes: Civil and Criminal Separate

Sec. 1. (a) All district clerks who have duties in more than one district court are authorized to combine all the minutes of the civil business of the several courts into one record book.

(b) All aforesaid district clerks are also authorized to combine the criminal minutes in the same manner.

(c) The civil minutes are to be kept in a book separate from the criminal minutes.

Manner of Entry

Sec. 2. Entry of all business in the minutes of both the civil book and the criminal book are to be made sequentially, regardless of the district court from which the business originates.

Art. 1899c. Record of Drug-Related Felony Convictions and Periodic Notification of Licensing Boards

Sec. 1. Each district clerk shall maintain, in addition to other required records, a current listing of the full names of all persons convicted of felonies under the Texas Controlled Substances Act, as amended (Article 4476-15, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), or Chapter 425, Acts of the 56th Legislature, Regular Session, 1959, as amended (Article 4476-14, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), in the county in which the district clerk holds office. Such listing shall include the names of all persons whose convictions are on appeal or have not become final, as well as those who have received suspended sentences or probation following an adjudication or plea of guilt, but shall not include the name of any defendant whose prosecution is deferred during a period of probation with no plea or adjudication of guilt.

Sec. 2. At least once each calendar month, the district clerk shall send two certified copies each to the Texas State Board of Medical Examiners, the Texas State Board of Podiatry Examiners, the State Board of Dental Examiners, the State Board of Pharmacy, and the State Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners, of all names added to the listing maintained pursuant to Section 1 of this article since the last previous such transmittal of certified copies.

Art. 1900. Report of Fines and Jury Fees

On the last day of each term of the court, the clerk shall make a written statement showing all moneys received by him for jury fees and fines, with the name of each party from whom received, up to the date of such statement, and since his previous statement; and also the name of each juror who has served at such term, the number of days he served, and the amount due him for such services. Such statement shall be examined, corrected, approved, and signed by the presiding judge. Such statement, when so approved and signed shall be recorded in the minutes of the court.

Art. 1901. Custody and Care of Records; Removal of Old Records; Deposit in Museum

District Clerks shall have the custody of records pertaining to or lawfully deposited in their offices and shall carefully attend to the arrangement and preservation of the same; provided however, that records dated before 1860 in counties having a population of not less than ninety-eight thousand, two hundred and ten (98,210) and not more than ninety-nine thousand, two hundred and ten (99,210) according to the last preceding Federal Census may be removed under the following conditions:

That upon the application of the curator of any museum located in the county where the records are deposited, said museum to be maintained and operated by or in connection with a recognized higher educational institution of learning and upon the proper substitution of certified copies by the curator making application to the District Clerk, said records may be removed and placed in the care and custody of such curator, or his successor, all of which shall be without expense to the State.

Art. 1901a. Destruction of Records by Shredding

Any records, ballots, stubs, lists, or papers which the district clerk or county clerk of any county in this state is required or authorized to destroy by burning may alternatively be destroyed by shredding at the discretion of the clerk.

Art. 1902. Indexes to Judgments

They shall provide and keep in well bound books, as part of the records, full and complete alphabetical indexes of the names of the parties to all suits filed in their courts; showing in full the names of all the parties, indexed and cross-indexed, so as to show the name of each party under the proper letter; and a reference shall be made opposite each name to the page of the minute book upon which is entered the judgment in each case.

Art. 1903. Joint Clerk; Separation of County and District Clerk Offices; Election

Sec. 1. Except as provided by Section 2 of this Article, in counties having a population of less than eight thousand (8,000), according to the last preceding Federal Census, there shall be elected a single clerk who shall perform the duties of the district clerk and the county clerk, unless a majority of the qualified voters of the county who participate in a special election, called by the Commissioners Court for that purpose, vote to keep the offices of county and district clerk separate. The Commissioners Court may submit to the qualified voters of such counties, at an election held at least thirty (30) days before any regular primary election immediately preceding the expiration of the constitutional term of office of said clerk, the question of whether the offices of district and county clerk shall be separate or joint. The same question may again be submitted immediately prior to the expiration of each subsequent constitutional term of office of the separate clerk. Notice of such special election shall be published in a newspaper of general circulation in the county at least twenty (20) days prior to such election. No special election as provided herein shall prevent any county clerk, district clerk or joint clerk from serving the full term of office to which he was elected.

Sec. 2. The Commissioners Court of a county having a population of more than seven thousand, six hundred (7,600) and less than eight thousand (8,000), according to the most recent federal census, shall determine whether the county is to have a separate district clerk and county clerk or is to have a single clerk to perform the duties of the district clerk and county clerk. However, the commissioners court may not take any action to prevent a district clerk, county clerk, or joint clerk from serving the full term of office to which he was elected.

Art. 1904. Use of Court Seal

When a joint clerk has been elected, he shall, in performing the duties of district clerk use the seal of said court to authenticate his official acts as clerk of the district court.

Art. 1905. Seal of the Court

Each district court shall be provided with a seal, having engraved thereon a star of five points in the center and the words, "District Court of _____ County, Texas." The impress of which shall be attached to all process, except subpoenas, issued out of such court, and shall be kept by the clerk and used to authenticate his official acts.

Art. 1907. Repealed by Acts 1975, 64th Leg., p. 2197, ch. 701, § 7, eff. June 21, 1975

See, now, Probate Code, § 5.

Art. 1908. Over Commissioners Courts

Such court shall also have appellate jurisdiction and general supervisory control over the commissioners court, with such exceptions and under such regulations as may be prescribed by law.

Art. 1909. General Jurisdiction

Such court shall have general original jurisdiction over all causes of action, for which a remedy or jurisdiction is not provided by law or the constitution, and such other jurisdiction, original and appellate as may be provided by law.

Art. 1910. Motions Against Sheriffs, Attorneys, etc.

The district court shall have power to hear and determine all motions against sheriffs and other officers of the court for failure to pay over moneys, collected under the process of said court, or other defalcation of duty in connection with such process and of motions against attorneys for moneys collected by them and not paid over.

Art. 1911. Repealed by Acts 1971, 62nd Leg., p. 2536, ch. 831, § 6, eff. Aug. 30, 1971Art. 1911a. Contempt; Power of Courts; Penalties*Inherent Power and Authority of Courts

Sec. 1. A court possesses inherently all powers necessary for the exercise of its jurisdiction and the enforcement of its lawful orders, including authority to issue such writs and orders as may be necessary or proper in aid of its jurisdiction. It has the duty to require that proceedings shall be conducted with dignity and in an orderly and expeditious manner and to so control the proceedings that justice is done. A court has the power to punish for contempt.

Penalties for Contempt

Sec. 2. (a) Every court other than a justice court or municipal court may punish by a fine of not more than $500, or by confinement in the county jail for not more than six months, or both, any person guilty of contempt of the court.

(b) A justice court or municipal court may punish by a fine of not more than $100, or by confinement in the county or city jail for not more than three days, or both, any person guilty of contempt of the court.

(c) Provided, however, an officer of a court held in contempt by a trial court, shall, upon proper motion filed in the offended court, be released upon his own personal recognizance pending a determination of his guilt or innocence by a judge of a district court, other than the offended court. Said judge to be appointed for that purpose by the presiding judge of the Administrative Judicial District wherein the alleged contempt occurred.

Confinement to Enforce Order

Sec. 3. Nothing in this Act affects a court's power to confine a contemner in order to compel him to obey a court order.

Work-Release Sentence or Probation

Sec. 4. Section 5, Article 42.03, Code of Criminal Procedure, 1965, as amended, and Section 14.12, Family Code, as amended, apply when a person is punished by confinement for contempt of court for disobedience of court order to make periodic payments for the support of a child.

Art. 1912. Judgments Transferred and Enforced

When a district clerk shall receive from the county clerk a certified copy of a judgment rendered in any civil or criminal case in the county court where the civil and criminal jurisdiction, or either, of the county court has been transferred to the district court, he shall immediately record such judgments in the minutes of the district court; and the said district court shall enforce said judgments by execution or otherwise, as other judgments rendered in said district court are enforced.

Art. 1913. Other Jurisdiction

Subject to the limitations stated in this chapter, the district court is authorized to hear and determine any cause which is cognizable by courts, either of law or equity, and to grant any relief which could be granted by said courts, or either of them.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1914. To Grant All Remedial Writs

Judges of the district courts may either in term time or in vacation, grant writs of mandamus, injunction, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari and supersedeas, and all other writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of the court.

Art. 1915. Powers in Vacation

Judges of the district courts may in vacation, by consent of the parties, exercise all powers, make all orders, and perform all acts, as fully as in term time, and may, by consent of the parties, try any civil case, except divorce cases, without a jury and enter final judgment. All such proceedings shall be conducted under the same rules as if done in term time; and the right of appeals and writ of error shall apply as if the acts had been done in term time.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1916. May Alternate, etc.

A judge of the district court may hold court for or with any other district judge; and the judges of such courts may exchange districts whenever they deem it expedient.

Art. 1916a. Exchange of Benches by Judges of the 51st, 119th and 340th Judicial Districts

Sec. 1. The provisions of this Act authorize the exchange of benches without formal order by the judges of the 51st Judicial District, the 119th Judicial District, and the 340th Judicial District and are applicable in each county in those districts, including the counties in which the districts do not overlap.

Sec. 2. The judges of those courts may, in their discretion, exchange benches from time to time, and any of the judges may, in his own courtroom, try and determine any case or proceeding pending in any of the other courts without having the case transferred, or may sit in any of the other courts and there hear and determine any case there pending, and each judgment and order shall be entered in the minutes of the court in which the case is pending. The judges may try different cases filed in the same court at the same time and each may occupy his own courtroom or the room of any other court. In case of absence, sickness, or disqualification of any of those judges, any of the other of those judges may hold court for him. Any of the judges may hear any part of any case or proceeding pending in any of those courts and determine the same or may hear and determine any question in any case, and any other of those judges may complete the hearing and render judgment in the case. Any of those judges may hear and determine motions, petitions for injunction, application for appointment of receivers, interventions, pleas of privilege, pleas in abatement, all dilatory pleas, motions for new trials and all preliminary matters, questions, and proceedings and may enter judgment or order thereon in the court in which the case is pending without having the case transferred to the court of the judge acting, and the judge in whose court the case is pending may thereafter proceed to hear, complete, and determine the case or other matter or any part thereof and render final judgment thereon. Any of the judges of those courts may issue restraining orders and injunctions returnable to any of the other judges or courts.

Art. 1917. Appointing Attorney

Judges of district courts may appoint counsel to attend to the cause of any party who makes affidavit that he is too poor to employ counsel to attend to the same.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1918. Repealed by Rules of Civil Procedure

Art. 1918a. Court Coordinator System in Counties over 700,000

The criminal district courts and the district courts of general jurisdiction giving preference to criminal cases in counties with a population in excess of 700,000 according to the last preceding federal census may establish and maintain a court coordinator system. The district courts shall, by rule, designate the duties to be performed by the coordinators to improve criminal justice and expedite the processing of criminal cases through the district courts. The court coordinators in each county shall cooperate with administrative judges and state agencies having duties in the area of the operation of the courts to promote uniform and efficient administration of justice in the state. The court coordinators serve by appointment of the district courts and at the pleasure of the district courts, and shall receive reasonable compensation to be determined by the judges of those courts, not to exceed 70 percent of the salary paid by the state to the judges of those courts. The district courts may appoint appropriate staff and supporting personnel according to the needs of each local jurisdiction. The commissioners court of each county shall provide from the fines and fees collected by these courts the necessary funding for the court coordinator system on order and directive of the district courts to be served, provided that if said fines or fees are insufficient to provide the total funding for this program the county shall provide the additional funds needed.

Art. 1918b. Masters in Suits Affecting Parent-Child Relationship and Certain Contempt Proceedings

Appointment of Master

Sec. 1. (a) The judge of a district court, court of domestic relations, or other court having jurisdiction of suits affecting the parent-child relationship under Title 2, Family Code, as amended,¹ may appoint a master to perform the duties authorized by this Act if the commissioners court of a county in which the court has jurisdiction authorizes the employment of a master. Except as provided by Subsection (d) of this section, the master shall be appointed by the judge and serves at the will of the judge.

(b) If the court exercises jurisdiction in more than one county, the master may serve only in a county in which the commissioners court has authorized the master's appointment.

(c) If more than one district court, court of domestic relations, or other court having jurisdiction of suits affecting the parent-child relationship has jurisdiction in a county, the commissioners court may authorize the appointment of a master for each court or may authorize one or more masters to share service with two or more courts.

(d) If a master serves more than one court, the master's appointment must be made with the unanimous approval of all the judges under whom the master serves, and the master's services may be terminated by a majority vote of all the judges for whom the master serves.

Qualifications of Master

Sec. 2. To be eligible for appointment as a master under this Act, a person must be a resident of Texas and must be licensed to practice law in this state.

Compensation of Master

Sec. 3. The master is entitled to a salary as determined by the commissioners court of the county in which he or she serves. If the master serves in more than one county, the master's salary shall be determined by agreement of the commissioners courts of the counties. The salary shall be paid from the county fund available for payment of officers' salaries.

Referral of Cases to Master

Sec. 4. (a) The judge of a court having a master appointed as provided in this Act may refer to the master any civil case involving motions:

(1) for contempt for the failure or refusal to pay child support, temporary support, or separate maintenance or for failure or refusal to comply with court orders concerning the possession of or access to children who have been the subjects of suits affecting the parent-child relationship; or

(2) to modify the decree in a suit affecting the parent-child relationship providing for the support, conservatorship, or possession of or access to a child.

(b) To refer a case to a master, the judge shall issue an order of referral specifying the duties of the master.

Powers of Master

Sec. 5. (a) Except as provided by Subsection (b) of this section, a master to whom a case is referred may:

- (1) conduct hearings;
- (2) hear evidence;
- (3) compel the production of relevant evidence;
- (4) rule on the admissibility of evidence;
- (5) issue summons for the appearance of witnesses;
- (6) examine witnesses;

- (7) swear witnesses for the hearing;
- (8) make findings of fact on the evidence;
- (9) formulate conclusions of law;
- (10) recommend the judgment to be made in the case;
- (11) regulate all proceedings in a hearing before the master; and
- (12) do all acts and take all measures necessary and proper for the efficient performance of the duties required in the order of referral.

(b) The order of referral may limit the powers of the master and direct the master to report only on specific issues, do particular acts, or receive and report on evidence only. The order may set the time and place for the hearing, prescribe a closing date for the hearing, and provide for a date for the filing of the master's report.

Witnesses Appearing Before Master

Sec. 6. (a) A witness appearing before the master is subject to the penalties of perjury if the witness is duly sworn.

(b) If a witness after being duly summoned fails to appear or having appeared refuses to answer questions, on certification of the refusal to the referring court, the court may issue attachment against the witness and may fine or imprison the witness.

Findings; Notice

Sec. 7. On the conclusion of the hearing in each case, the master shall transmit to the referring judge all papers relating to the case, together with the findings and a statement that notice of the findings and of the right to a hearing before the judge has been given to all adult principals, minors, or parents, guardians, or custodians of any minor whose case has been heard by the master. This notice may be given at the hearing or otherwise as the referring court directs.

Action on Master's Report

Sec. 8. After the master's report is filed, the referring court may adopt, modify, correct, reject, or reverse the master's report or recommit it for further information, as the court may deem proper and necessary in the particular circumstances of the case. If judgment has been recommended, the court in its discretion may approve the recommendation and hear further evidence before rendition of judgment.

Hearing

Sec. 9. Adult principals or a minor child or his parents, guardians, or custodians are entitled to a hearing by the judge of the referring court if within three days after receiving notice of the findings of the master they file a request with the court for a hearing. The referring court may allow the hearing at any time.

Decree Upon Adoption by Court

Sec. 10. If no hearing before the judge of the referring court is requested or the right to such hearing is waived, the findings and recommendations of the master become the decree of the court when adopted by an order of the judge.

Notice of Time and Place of Hearing

Sec. 11. Prior to the hearing by the master, the parties litigant shall be given due notice as provided by law of the time and place of the hearing.

Jury Trial

Sec. 12. In a proceeding in which a jury trial has been demanded, the master shall refer the case back to the referring court for a full hearing before the court and jury, subject to the usual rules of the court in such cases.

Section 13 of the 1979 Act provided:

"In the event of the passage of S.B. No. 785 [vetoed] and H.B. No. 467, [this article] 66th Legislature, Regular Session, 1979, the provisions of S.B. No. 785 shall apply to the district courts in Dallas County."

Art. 1918c. Magistrates in District Courts of Dallas County

Appointment of Magistrates

Sec. 1. (a) The judges of the district courts of Dallas County that give preference to criminal cases and the judges of the criminal district courts of Dallas County may appoint magistrates to perform the duties authorized by this Act. Each magistrate shall be appointed by the judges and serves at the will of the judges.

(b) The judges of the district courts designated in Subsection (a) of this section may appoint magistrates only with the consent and approval of the Commissioners Court of Dallas County.

(c) The judges may authorize one or more magistrates to share service with two or more courts as the judges deem appropriate and necessary.

(d) Each magistrate's appointment must be made with the unanimous approval of all the judges under whom the magistrate serves, and the magistrate's services may be terminated by a majority vote of all the judges for whom the magistrate serves.

Qualifications of Magistrates

Sec. 2. To be eligible for appointment as a district court magistrate under this Act, a person must be a resident of Texas and must be licensed to practice law in this state, for at least four years.

Compensation of Magistrates

Sec. 3. Each district court magistrate for criminal cases is entitled to a salary to be determined by the Commissioners Court of Dallas County, which salary shall not be less than the salary authorized to be paid to masters for family law cases appointed under Chapter 719, Acts of the 66th Legislature, Regular Session, 1979 (Article 1918b, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes). The salary shall be paid from the county fund available for payment of officers' salaries.

Referral of Cases to Magistrates

Sec. 4. (a) The judge of a court having a magistrate appointed as provided by this Act may refer to the magistrate any criminal case for proceedings involving:

- (1) negotiated pleas of guilty before the court;
- (2) bond forfeitures;
- (3) pretrial motions;
- (4) postconviction writs of habeas corpus;
- (5) conducting examining trials;

(6) any other matters that the judge deems necessary and proper, except as otherwise provided by Subsection (b) of this section.

(b) In no event may a judge refer to a magistrate a criminal case permitting the magistrate to preside over a trial on the merits, either with or without a jury.

(c) To refer a case to a magistrate, the judge shall issue an order of referral specifying the duties of the magistrate.

Powers of Magistrates

Sec. 5. (a) Except as provided by Subsections (b) and (c) of this section, a magistrate to whom a case is referred may:

- (1) conduct hearings;
- (2) hear evidence;
- (3) compel the production of relevant evidence;
- (4) rule on the admissibility of evidence;
- (5) issue summons for the appearance of witnesses;
- (6) examine witnesses;
- (7) swear witnesses for the hearing;
- (8) make findings of fact on the evidence;
- (9) formulate conclusions of law;
- (10) rule on pretrial motions;
- (11) recommend the rulings, orders, or judgment to be made in the case;
- (12) regulate all proceedings in a hearing before the magistrates; and

(13) do all acts and take all measures necessary and proper for the efficient performance of the duties required in the order of referral.

(b) The order of referral may limit the powers of the magistrate and direct the magistrate to report only on specific issues, do particular acts, or receive and report on evidence only. The order may set the time and place for the hearing, prescribe a closing date for the hearing, and provide for a date for the filing of the magistrate's findings.

(c) A magistrate appointed under this Act to whom a case is referred may not enter a ruling on any issue of law or fact of which the determination thereon could result in dismissal or require the dismissal of a pending criminal prosecution. A magistrate may, however, make findings, conclusions, and recommendations on such issues, within the scope of the order of referral.

(d) An order of referral may designate proceedings for more than one case over which the magistrate shall preside, may direct the magistrate to call the court's docket, and may set forth general powers and limitations of authority of the magistrate applicable to all such cases.

(e) Upon the request of either party to the case to be considered, a court reporter shall be provided by the court to record the proceedings before the magistrate.

Witnesses Appearing Before Magistrates

Sec. 6. A witness appearing before a magistrate is subject to the penalties of perjury if the witness is duly sworn. If a witness after being duly summoned fails to appear or having appeared refuses to answer questions, on certification of the refusal to the referring court, the court may issue attachment against the witness and may fine or imprison the witness.

Adoption of Action by Magistrates

Sec. 7. (a) On the conclusion of the proceedings, the magistrate shall transmit to the referring court all papers relating to the cases involved, together with the findings, conclusions, orders, recommendations, or other actions taken.

(b) The referring court may modify, correct, reject, or reverse any action taken by the magistrate, or recommit it for further information, as the court may deem proper and necessary in the particular circumstances of the case.

(c) If no modification, correction, rejection, reversal, or recommitment is made by the referring court, the actions taken by the magistrate become the decree of the court.

(d) The referring court shall, at the conclusion of each term during which the services of a magistrate are used, enter a decree upon the minutes adopting the actions of the magistrate with respect to all cases of which the court approves of the magistrate's actions. The court shall determine whether or not the nonprevailing party is able to defray the costs of the magistrate and, if it is determined that the party can, shall tax as costs the fees of the magistrate, against the nonprevailing party.

Judicial Immunity

Sec. 8. The magistrate shall enjoy the full judicial immunity of a district judge.

Savings Provisions

Sec. 9. Nothing in this Act is intended to violate any provision of the Constitution of the United States or the Constitution of Texas, and all acts done under this Act shall be done in a manner that conforms to the constitutions. If any word, phrase, paragraph, subparagraph, sentence, clause, part, portion, or provision of this Act or the application thereof to any person, situation, or circumstances is held to be invalid or unconstitutional, the remainder of this Act shall nevertheless be valid, and the legislature declares that this Act would have been enacted without the invalid or unconstitutional word, phrase, paragraph, subparagraph, sentence, clause, part, portion, or provision. All of the terms and provisions of this Act are to be liberally construed to effectuate the purposes, powers, rights, functions, and authorities set forth in this Act.

Art. 1918d. Masters in Certain Courts in Travis County

Appointment

Sec. 1. (a) A majority of the judges of the courts in Travis County having jurisdiction of suits arising under Title 1, 2, or 4, Family Code,¹ or having jurisdiction of suits brought in connection with Rule 308-A, Texas Rules of Civil Procedure, or Chapter 46, Human Resources Code, may determine that one or more full-time or part-time masters are needed to serve those courts.

(b) The judges shall issue an order reflecting that determination and specifying the number of masters needed.

¹ Family Code, § 1.01 et seq., 11.01 et seq., or 71.01 et seq.

Compensation

Sec. 2. The commissioners court shall set the compensation for masters and shall determine the total amount to be paid by the county as compensation for masters.

Appointment by Individual Judge

Sec. 3. Subject to the determinations of need and to available funds from the county, each judge may appoint one or more masters to serve his court. Judges may act together in making an appointment for a master to serve their courts.

Qualifications

Sec. 4. A master must be a citizen and resident of this state who has been licensed to practice law in this state for at least four years.

Order

Sec. 5. The order appointing a master shall be entered in the minutes of the district court and must state:

- (1) the master's name and state bar identification number;
- (2) the court or courts the master will serve; and
- (3) the date the master's services are to begin.

Termination of Employment

Sec. 6. (a) A master who serves a single court serves at the will of the judge.

(b) The employment of a master who has been appointed to serve two courts may be terminated by either of the judges.

(c) The employment of a master who has been appointed to serve more than two courts may be terminated by a majority of the judges of the courts which the master serves.

(d) A master's employment may be terminated only by written order signed by the appropriate judges. The order must state:

- (1) the master's name and state bar identification number;
- (2) the court or courts ordering termination; and
- (3) the date the master's employment is to end.

Withdrawal of Appointment for a Particular Court

Sec. 7. At the discretion of the judge of a court for which a master has been appointed, the appointment to serve that court may be withdrawn by written order. The order must state:

- (1) the master's name and state bar identification number;
- (2) the court ordering the withdrawal of the master's services; and
- (3) the date the master's services are to end as to that court.

Case That May be Referred

Sec. 8. A judge may refer to a master any civil case or portion of a civil case brought:

- (1) under Title 1, 2, or 4, Family Code;
- (2) in connection with Rule 308-A, Texas Rules of Civil Procedure; or
- (3) in connection with Chapter 46, Human Resources Code.

Method of Referral

Sec. 9. A case may be referred as provided by published local rules or by written orders. A referral may limit the power or uses of a master.

Effect on Temporary Restraining Order

Sec. 10. A referral of a case or a portion of a case to a master does not affect a party's right to have a court grant or extend a temporary restraining order and does not prevent a temporary restraining order from expiring. Until a judge signs an order concerning the findings and recommendations of a master, the findings and recommendations do not affect an existing temporary restraining order or the expiration or extension of that order.

Masters in Chancery

Sec. 11. This Act does not prohibit a court from appointing masters in chancery as provided by Rule 171, Texas Rules of Civil Procedure.

Powers

Sec. 12. (a) Unless limited by published local rule or written order, a master may perform all acts and take all measures necessary and proper to perform the tasks assigned in a referral.

(b) A master may administer oaths.

Failure to Comply With Summons or Order

Sec. 13. If a person, attorney, party, or witness fails to comply with a summons or order, the master may certify in writing that failure to the referring court for appropriate action.

Referees

Sec. 14. A master appointed under this Act may serve as a referee in accordance with Subsection (g) of Section 51.04 and Section 54.10, Family Code. A referee appointed in accordance with Subsection (g), Section 51.04, Family Code, may be appointed to serve as a master under this Act.

Judicial Immunity

Sec. 15. A master appointed as provided by this Act has the same judicial immunity as that of a district judge.

Court Reporter

Sec. 16. A court reporter need not be provided during hearings conducted by a master, except that a referring judge may require a reporter at contempt hearings. A party may provide a reporter or electronic recording device at the party's expense.

Findings and Recommendations

Sec. 17. Before a hearing conducted by a master is concluded, the master shall announce in open session the findings and recommendations he will make to the court and shall write the findings and recommendations on the docket sheet of the case.

Notice of Right to Trial De Novo

Sec. 18. Immediately after announcing and recording his findings and recommendations and while the hearing is still in session, the master shall inform all those present of the right to a de novo hearing before a judge as provided by this Act.

Request for Trial De Novo

Sec. 19. (a) A party, adult principal, minor, parent, guardian, or custodian is entitled to a hearing de novo by a judge of the referring court if, not later than the fifth day after the findings and recommendations of the master are announced and recorded, a written request for a trial de novo is filed with the court. The right to a de novo hearing exists even if a judge has entered an order approving the findings and recommendations of the master within the five-day period.

(b) A request for a de novo hearing covers all matters tried, found, or recommended by the master. A person requesting a de novo hearing, however, may file pleadings with the court restricting its request to particular findings or recommendations made by the master.

Master's Report

Sec. 20. After a hearing is concluded, the master shall send a written signed report to the referring judge containing his findings and recommendations and a statement that he has complied with Sections 17 and 18 of this Act.

Court Action on Report

Sec. 21. After receipt of the master's report, the court shall promptly approve or disapprove it in its entirety or set the matter for a hearing before a court.

Effect of Request for De Novo Hearing

Sec. 22. (a) A request for a de novo hearing does not stay, suspend, or affect the authority of a judge to sign an order approving a master's findings and recommendations, and the order controls the rights of the parties until another order is made pursuant to a de novo hearing.

(b) A request for a de novo hearing does not stay, suspend, or prevent enforcement or contempt proceedings brought pursuant to an order approving a master's findings and recommendations.

Jury Demand

Sec. 23. A jury demand does not affect the authority of a master to handle pretrial matters referred to him.

Art. 1918e. Court Administrator and Masters in District and Certain County Courts of Jefferson County

Application

Sec. 1. This Act applies to the district courts and to the county courts at law that give preference to criminal cases in Jefferson County.

Court Administrator System; Appointment

Sec. 2. (a) The courts may establish a court administrator system to improve criminal justice and to expedite the processing of criminal cases.

(b) The court administrator is appointed by and serves at the pleasure of the judges of the courts subject to this Act.

Duties of Administrator

Sec. 3. (a) The courts shall designate by rule the duties of the court administrator.

(b) To promote uniform and efficient administration of justice, the court administrator shall cooperate with administrative judges and state agencies having duties relating to the operation of the courts.

Staff of Administrator

Sec. 4. (a) The courts may appoint the necessary staff and supporting personnel for the administrator.

(b) As part of the staff, the courts may appoint witness coordinators who, in addition to other duties designated by the court administrator, shall execute criminal process. On appointment, each witness coordinator shall be commissioned as a peace officer by the courts.

Compensation; Facilities; Equipment

Sec. 5. The court administrator and members of the staff shall receive reasonable compensation, facilities, and equipment as determined by the commissioners court of the county.

Appointment of Masters; Compensation

Sec. 6. (a) The judge of a court subject to this Act may appoint a master to perform the duties authorized by this Act. To be eligible to serve as a master, an appointee must be a magistrate, as that term is defined by Article 2.09, Code of Criminal Procedure, 1965, of the county and must be licensed to practice law in this state. Appointment as a master is not valid unless the person appointed agrees to serve in that capacity.

(b) A magistrate who is appointed to serve as a master is not entitled to receive additional compensation for performance of services as a master.

Referral of Cases

Sec. 7. (a) A judge may refer to a master any proceeding in a criminal case relating to:

(1) a negotiated plea of guilty or nolo contendere;

(2) a bond forfeiture;

(3) a pretrial motion;

(4) a postconviction writ of habeas corpus;

(5) an examining trial; or

(6) any other matter that the judge considers proper.

(b) Notwithstanding Subsection (a) of this section, a judge may not refer any case for trial on the merits to a master.

(c) To refer a case, the judge shall issue a written order of referral that specifies the duties of the master in the case.

Powers of Master

Sec. 8. A master to whom a case is referred may:

(1) conduct a hearing;

(2) hear evidence;

(3) compel production of relevant evidence;

(4) rule on the admissibility of evidence;

(5) issue summons for the appearance of a witness;

(6) examine a witness;

(7) swear a witness for a hearing;

(8) make findings of fact on evidence;

(9) formulate conclusions of law;

(10) rule on pretrial motions;

(11) recommend a ruling, order, or judgment to be made in a case;

(12) regulate any proceeding in a hearing before him; and

(13) take any action necessary and proper for the efficient performance of duties required by the order of referral.

Papers Transmitted to Judge

Sec. 9. At the conclusion of a proceeding, the master shall transmit to the referring court any papers relating to the case, including the master's findings, conclusions, orders, recommendations, and a statement as to any other actions taken.

Judicial Action on Master's Report

Sec. 10. The referring court may modify, correct, reject, reverse, or recommit for further proceedings any action taken by a master. If the referring court does not take any action, the actions of the master are adopted by the referring court and become the decree in the case.

CHAPTER FOUR. TERMS OF COURT

Art.

1919. Terms of Court; Continuous Sessions; Rules and Regulations; Proceedings Validated.
- 1919a. Terms of District Court in Unorganized County Being Organized.
1920. Special Terms.
1921. Summoning Juries.
1922. Repealed.
1923. Extension of Term.
1924. Extension in Certain Counties.
1925. Effect of Extension.
1926. Repealed.

Art. 1919. Terms of Court; Continuous Sessions; Rules and Regulations; Proceedings Validated

Sec. 1. All district courts in this State, including all criminal district courts, whenever and however created, shall hold at least two (2) terms of court per year in each county wherein they sit. Notwithstanding the provisions of any law, the terms of all district courts in the State, civil and criminal, shall be continuous and shall begin on the day now or hereafter fixed by law and shall continue until the day fixed by law for the beginning of the next succeeding term. It shall be no objection to the commencement of a term of court that the first day falls upon a legal holiday, nor that the Judge is not present in the county upon the day set for the commencement of the term of court. The Judge of the district may hold as many sessions of court in any county as is deemed proper and expedient for the dispatch of business, and may adopt such rules and regulations relating thereto as are permitted by, and not contrary to, the Statutes of this State and the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure prescribed by the Supreme Court of Texas.

Sec. 2. In all judicial districts in Texas containing more than one (1) county, the district court may hear and determine all preliminary and interlocutory matters in which a jury may not be demanded, and unless there is objection from some party to the suit, hear and determine any noncontested or agreed cases and contests of elections, pending in his district, and may sign all necessary orders and judgments therein in any county in his judicial district, and may sign any order or decree in any case pending for trial or on trial before him in any county in his district at such place as may be convenient to him, and forward such order or decree to the clerk for filing and entry. Any district judge assigned to preside in a court of another judicial district, or who may be presiding in exchange or at the request of the regular Judge of said court may in like manner hear, determine and enter any such orders, judgments and decrees in any such case which is pending for trial or has been tried before such visiting judge; provided that all contested divorce cases, all default judgments, and all cases in which any of the parties have been cited by publication shall be tried in the county in which filed.

Art. 1919a. Terms of District Court in Unorganized County Being Organized

Whenever any unorganized county within this State has become organized or may hereafter become organized, there being no time fixed by law for holding District Court in such counties, the District Judge in whose Judicial District such county is situated shall fix times to hold at least two terms of court each year in each of such counties, by a written declaration, to be forwarded by the District Judge to the District Clerk of the County, and by him spread on the minutes of the District Court. When the times are so fixed they shall not be changed, except by an act of the Legislature.

Art. 1920. Special Terms

Whenever a district judge deems it advisable to hold a special term of the district court in any county in his district, such special term may be held; and such judge may convene such term at any time which may be fixed by him. Such district judge may appoint jury commissioners, who may select and draw grand and petit jurors in accordance with the law. Such jurors may be summoned to appear before such district court at such time as may be designated by the judge thereof. In the discretion of the district judge, a grand jury need not be drawn or empaneled. No new civil cases can be brought to a special term of the district court.

Art. 1921. Summoning Juries

The juries for a special term shall be summoned in accordance with the law regulating juries at regular terms of court. At a special term all proceedings may be had in any case which could be had at any regular term of such court. All process issued to a previous regular term or to such special term, and all orders, judgments and decrees, and all proceedings had in any case, civil or criminal, which would be lawful if had at a regular term, shall have the same force and effect; and any proceeding had may be appealed from as if the case were tried at a regular term.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1922. Repealed by Rules of Civil Procedure (Acts 1939, 46th Leg., p. 201, § 1)

Art. 1923. Extension of Term

Whenever a district court shall be in the midst of the trial of a cause when the time for the expiration of the term of said court arrives, the judge presiding shall have the power and may, if he deems it expedient, extend the term of said court until the conclusion of such pending trial. The extension of such term shall be shown in the minutes of the court before they are signed. If the term is extended as herein provided, no term of court in any other county shall fail because thereof, but the term of court therein may be opened and held as provided by law when the district judge fails to appear at the opening of a term of court.

Art. 1924. Extension in Certain Counties

A district court in a judicial district composed of more than one county and having terms of court fixed by law in counties in which there is a city of one hundred and thirty-five thousand population, or over, according to the preceding Federal census, may, by an order of the judge thereof made and entered of record in the minutes of said court, have any of such terms of court in such last described counties extended for such length of time as such judge may deem advisable for the transaction of the business of such court.

Art. 1925. Effect of Extension

If any term of court is extended as provided in the preceding article, no term of such court as fixed by law shall fail, but same shall be opened and held as provided by law. When a new term shall run concurrently in time and in the same county with an extended term, the minutes of both such terms may be recorded together during the time such terms so run concurrently. While such new term is open, each entry made in the minute records of said court, during such time shall be presumed to be the minutes of proceedings of such new term unless otherwise shown in such minutes.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1926. Repealed by Rules of Civil Procedure (Acts 1939, 46th Leg., p. 201, § 1)

CHAPTER FOUR A. FAMILY DISTRICT COURTS

Art.
1926a. Family District Court Act.

Art. 1926a. Family District Court Act

SUBCHAPTER A. GENERAL PROVISIONS

Short Title

Sec. 1.01. This Act may be cited as the Family District Court Act.

Purpose

Sec. 1.02. (a) This Act substitutes district courts of general jurisdiction, to be called family district courts, for the existing domestic relations courts and special juvenile courts. It also restructures existing juvenile boards in certain counties and provides for the future creation and organization of juvenile boards in other counties. Subchapter A contains general provisions applicable to all family district courts, now or later created, and Subchapter B creates the new family district courts. Subchapter C contains temporary provisions.

(b) This Act is designed so that future legislatures may create new family district courts by adding a section to Subchapter B without repeating the general provisions of Subchapter A relating to jurisdiction, terms, personnel, facilities, and administration of all family district courts.

Jurisdiction

Sec. 1.03. (a) A family district court has the jurisdiction and power provided for district courts by the constitution and laws of this state. Its jurisdiction is concurrent with that of other district courts in the county in which it is located.

(b) A family district court shall have primary responsibility for cases involving family law matters. These matters include but are not limited to:

- (1) adoptions;
- (2) birth records;
- (3) divorce and marriage annulment;
- (4) child welfare, custody, support and reciprocal support, dependency, neglect, and delinquency;
- (5) parent and child; and
- (6) husband and wife.

(c) This Act does not limit the jurisdiction of other district courts nor relieve them of responsibility for handling cases involving family law matters.

Terms of Court

Sec. 1.04. The terms of a family district court begin on the first Monday in January and the first Monday in July of each year. Each term of court continues until the next succeeding term begins.

Judge

Sec. 1.05. (a) A family district court judge's qualifications and term of office are the same as those prescribed by the constitution and laws of this state for district judges. A family district court judge is elected in the same manner as a district judge.

(b) A family district court judge is entitled to the same compensation and allowances provided by the state and county for the other district judges in his county.

Court Officials, Personnel, and Facilities

Sec. 1.06. (a) Each family district court judge may appoint an official court reporter. The reporter must have the qualifications prescribed by law for that office and is entitled to the same compensation, fees, and allowances provided by law for other official court reporters in the county.

(b) The district attorney, criminal district attorney, or county attorney, and the sheriff and district clerk shall serve each family district court in his county in the same manner he serves the district court or courts of his county.

(c) The commissioners court of the county in which a family district court is located shall provide the physical facilities and the deputy clerks, bailiffs, and other personnel necessary to operate the family district court.

County Juvenile Board

Sec. 1.07. (a) Except as otherwise provided in this section, when a family district court is created in a county, that county's juvenile board is composed of the county judge, the family district court judge or judges, the district judge or judges whose jurisdiction includes the county, and the judges of all other courts in the county having jurisdiction over juvenile matters. Except in counties where there is only one family district court judge, the members of the juvenile board shall select a family district court judge to serve as chairman of the board. The juvenile board has the powers and duties prescribed by law.

(b) The juvenile board shall appoint a chief juvenile probation officer who shall serve as the chief administrative officer of the family district court at the pleasure of the juvenile board. Subject to approval of the juvenile board, the chief juvenile probation officer shall select as many assistant probation officers and other personnel as are necessary to perform the duties assigned him by the juvenile board.

(c) The commissioners court may compensate juvenile board members for their duties performed on the juvenile board beyond such compensation as is otherwise provided for by law, and this compensation is in addition to all other compensation paid by the state or county to district, family district, and county judges. On recommendation of the juvenile board, the commissioners court shall also:

(1) fix the compensation of the chief juvenile probation officer and the members of his staff; and

(2) provide the physical facilities necessary to operate the juvenile board.

(d) The creation of a family district court in a county also creates a juvenile board in that county if one does not exist.

(e) This Act does not affect the composition or organization of any juvenile board existing on the effective date of the Act, except that the judges of the courts of domestic relations and of the juvenile courts are replaced by the family district court judges.

Sec. 1.08. Repealed by Acts 1981, 67th Leg., p. 2063, ch. 453, § 3(13), eff. Sept. 1, 1981.

He shall possess the same qualifications as are required of a judge of the district court, and shall receive the same salary as is now, or may hereafter, be paid to the district judges, to be paid in like manner. He shall have and exercise all the powers and duties now or hereafter to be vested in and exercised by district judges in criminal cases. The judge of said court may exchange with any district judge, as provided by law in cases of district judges, and in case of disqualification or absence of the judge, a special judge may be selected, elected, or appointed, as provided by law in cases of district judges.

Sec. 4. Said court shall have a seal of like design as the seal now provided by law for district courts, except that the words "Criminal District Court of Dallas County" shall be engraved around the margin thereof, which seal shall be used for all the purposes for which the seals of the district courts are required to be used; and certified copies of the orders, proceedings, judgments, and other official acts of said court, under the hand of the clerk and attested by the seal of said court, shall be admissible in evidence in all the courts of this state in like manner as similar certified copies from courts of record are now or may hereafter be admissible.

Sec. 5. The sheriff, the county attorney, and the clerk of the district court of Dallas county, as heretofore provided for by law, shall be the sheriff, county attorney, and clerk, respectively, of said criminal district court, under the same rules and regulations as are now, or may hereafter be, prescribed by law for the government of sheriffs, county attorneys, and clerks in the district courts of the state; and said sheriff, county attorney, and clerk shall respectively receive such fees as are now or may hereafter be prescribed by law for such offices in the district courts of the state, to be paid in the same manner.

Sec. 6. Said court shall hold four terms each year for the trial of causes and the disposition of business coming before it, one term beginning the first Monday of January, one term beginning the first Monday of April, one term beginning the first Monday of July, and one term beginning the first Monday of October. A grand jury shall be impaneled in said court for each term thereof; and jury commissioners shall be appointed for drawing jurors for said court, as is now or may hereafter be required by law in district courts, and under like rules and regulations.

Sec. 7. The trials and proceedings in said court shall be conducted according to the laws governing the pleadings, practice, and proceedings in criminal cases in the district courts.

Art. 1926-12. Criminal Judicial District of Dallas County

There is hereby created and established a Criminal Judicial District of Dallas County, Texas, to be composed of the County of Dallas, Texas, alone, and the Criminal District Court of Dallas county, and the Criminal District Court No. 2 of Dallas county, Texas, shall have and exercise all the Criminal Jurisdiction of such courts, of and for said Criminal District of Dallas county, Texas, that are now conferred by law on said Criminal District Courts. [1925 C.C.P.]

Saved from repeal, see Code of Criminal Procedure of 1965, art. 54.02.

Art. 1926-13. Criminal District Court No. 2 of Dallas County

Sec. 1. There is hereby created and established at the city of Dallas a criminal district court to be known as the "Criminal District Court No. 2 of Dallas County," which court shall have and exercise concurrent jurisdiction with the criminal district court of Dallas county, Texas, as now given and exercised by the said criminal district court of Dallas county under the Constitution and laws of the State of Texas.

Sec. 2. From and after the time this law shall take effect the criminal district court of Dallas county, and the criminal district court No. 2 of Dallas county shall have and exercise concurrent jurisdiction with each other in all felony causes and in all matters and proceedings of which the said criminal district court of Dallas county now has jurisdiction; and either of the judges of said criminal district court may in their discretion transfer any cause or causes that may at any time be pending in his court to the other criminal district court by an order or orders entered upon the minutes of his court; and where such transfer or transfers are made the clerk of such district court shall enter such cause or causes upon the docket to which such transfer or transfers are made, and, when so entered upon the docket, the judge shall try and dispose of said causes in the same manner as if such causes were originally instituted in said court.

Sec. 3. The judge of said criminal district court No. 2 of Dallas county shall be elected by the qualified voters of Dallas county for a term of four years, and shall hold his office until his successor shall have been elected and qualified. He shall possess the same qualifications as are required of the judge of a district court, and shall receive the same salary as is now or may hereafter be paid to the district judges, to be paid in like manner. He shall have and exercise all the powers and duties now or hereafter to be vested in and exercised by district judges of the criminal district court of Dallas county. The judge of said court may exchange with any district judge, as provided by law in cases of district judges, and, in case of disqualification or absence of a judge, a special judge may be selected, electd or appointed as provided by law in cases of district judges; provided, that the Governor, by and with the consent of the Senate, if in session, shall appoint a judge of said court, who shall hold the office until the next general election, after the passage of this law, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified.

Sec. 4. Said court shall have a seal of like design as the seal now provided by law for district courts, except that the words "Criminal District Court No. 2 of Dallas County" shall be engraved around the margin thereof, which seal shall be used for all the purposes for which the seals of the district courts are required to be used; and certified copies of the orders, proceedings, judgments and other official acts of said court, under the hand of the clerk and attested by the seal of said court, shall be admissible in evidence in all the courts of this State in like manner as similar certified copies from courts of record are now or may hereafter be admissible.

Sec. 5. The sheriff, county attorney and the clerk of the district court of Dallas county, as heretofore provided for by law, shall be the sheriff, county attorney and clerk, respectively, of said criminal district court under the same rules and regulations as are now or may hereafter be prescribed by law for the government of sheriffs, county attorneys and clerks of the district courts of the State; and said sheriff, county attorney and clerk shall respectively receive such fees as are now or may hereafter be prescribed by law for such officers in the district courts of the State to be paid in the same manner.

Sec. 6. Said court shall hold four terms each year for the trial of causes and the disposition of business coming before it, one term beginning the first Monday of April, one term beginning the first Monday of July, one term beginning the first Monday of October, and one term beginning the first Monday of January. The grand jury shall be impaneled in said court for each term thereof unless otherwise directed by the judge of said court, and the procedure for drawing jurors for said court shall be the same as is now or may hereafter be required by law in district courts, and under the same rules and regulations. The trials and proceedings in said court shall be conducted according to the laws governing the pleadings, practice and proceedings in criminal cases in the district courts. [1925 C.C.P.]

Saved from repeal, see Code of Criminal Procedure of 1965, art. 54.02.

Art. 1926-15. Criminal District Court No. 5 of Dallas County

A. There is hereby created, effective October 1, 1965, in and for Dallas County, Texas, one additional Criminal Judicial District to be known as Criminal Judicial District No. 5, and the court of said district shall be known as the Criminal District Court No. 5 of Dallas County, Texas. The limits of said district shall be coextensive with the limits of Dallas County, Texas.

B. The Criminal District Court No. 5 shall have and exercise the powers conferred by the constitution and laws of the State of Texas on the judges of the existing Criminal District Courts of Dallas County, Texas, and the jurisdiction of said court shall be concurrent with that of the existing Criminal District Courts of Dallas County, Texas. The said court shall have and exercise, in addition to the jurisdiction now conferred by law on said court, concurrent jurisdiction coextensive with the limits of Dallas County in all actions, proceedings, matters and causes, both civil and criminal, of which district courts of general jurisdiction are given jurisdiction by the constitution and laws of the State of Texas.

C. The terms of said Criminal District Court No. 5 shall begin on the first Monday of January, April, July, and October of each year respectively, and each of said terms of said court shall continue until the convening of the next succeeding term.

D. The Judge of said Criminal District Court No. 5 is authorized to appoint an official court reporter for such court, and said court reporter shall have the qualifications now required by law for official shorthand reporters. Such reporter shall perform the duties as required by law and such duties as may be assigned to the court reporter by the judge of such court and shall receive as compensation for his services the compensation now allowed or hereinafter allowed for the official shorthand reporters for the District Courts of Dallas County, Texas, under the laws of this state.

E. The district clerk shall equalize the dockets of the Criminal District Courts of Dallas County by transferring cases from the Criminal District Court, the Criminal District Court No. 2, the Criminal District Court No. 3, and the Criminal District Court

No. 4 to the Criminal District Court No. 5 hereby created.

F. The judge of any of the District Courts in Dallas County may in his discretion try and dispose of any causes, matters or proceedings for any other judge of said courts. Either of the judges of said District Courts of Dallas County may at his discretion at termtime or in vacation transfer a case or cases to said other district court with the consent of the judge of said other district court by order entered in the minutes of his court. When such transfer is ordered, the District Clerk of Dallas County shall certify all orders made in said case and such certified copies of such orders together with the original papers shall be filed among the papers of the case thus transferred and the fees thereof shall be taxed as part of the costs of said suit and the clerk of said court shall docket any such case in the court to which it shall be transferred, and when so entered, the court to which same shall have been thus transferred shall have like jurisdiction therein as in cases originally filed in said court. All process and writs issued out of the district court from which any such transfer is made shall be returnable to the court to which said transfer is made.

G. The District Attorney of Dallas County shall also be the district attorney for the additional Criminal District Court hereby created.

H. The District Clerk of Dallas County, Texas shall also act as District Clerk for the Criminal District Court No. 5 hereby created.

I. The Sheriff of Dallas County, either in person or by deputy shall attend the Criminal District Court No. 5 as required by the judge thereof, and the sheriff and constables of the several counties of this state, with executing processes issued out of said court, shall receive fees as provided by General Law for executing processes issued out of district courts.

J. All processes, writs, bonds, recognizances or other obligations issued out of the District Courts or Criminal District Courts of Dallas County are hereby made returnable to the said District Courts of Dallas County as required by law and all bonds executed and recognizances entered by and in said courts shall bind the parties for their appearance or to fulfill the obligations of such bonds or recognizances at the terms of such courts as fixed by law and this Act, and all processes heretofore returned or hereafter returned to the District Courts of Dallas County shall be valid.

K. Except as herein otherwise provided, the laws and parts of laws applicable to District Courts and Criminal District Courts of Dallas County shall be applicable to the Criminal District Court No. 5 created by this Act.

L. If any provision of this Act is held unconstitutional or invalid, such invalidity shall not affect the remaining provisions of this Act. Except as otherwise provided in this Act all laws now in effect with respect to Judicial District Courts and Criminal District Courts of Dallas County shall apply respectively to the Criminal District Court No. 5 created by this Act.

M. The Governor shall appoint a suitable person as Judge of the Criminal Court No. 5 of Dallas County created by this Act, who shall hold office until the next general election and until his successor has been duly elected and qualified. At the first general election after the creation of said court provided for herein, the judge of said court shall be elected for a term of four (4) years. Such person so appointed and elected shall have the qualifications provided by the constitution and the laws of this state for district judges.

A sum of $16,000 for the fiscal year ending August 31, 1966, and a sum of $16,000 for the fiscal year ending August 31, 1967, is hereby appropriated from the General Revenue Fund for the salary of the Judge of the Criminal Court No. 5 of Dallas County. The salary shall be paid as provided by law.

Saved from repeal, see Code of Criminal Procedure of 1965, art. 54.02.

The Special Criminal District Court of Dallas County, a temporary court under Acts 1954, 53rd Leg., 1st C.S., p. 105, ch. 51, art. 3, § 1 which provided that such court should cease to exist on Aug. 31, 1956, was established as permanent criminal District Court No. 3 of Dallas County by Acts 1955, 54th Leg., p. 711, ch. 256, § 1 (art. 1926-14, ante). See, also, Article 199, Judicial District 14, etc.

JURISDICTION

Art. 1926-21. Concurrent Jurisdiction of Criminal District Courts with County Court at Law

Sec. 1. The Criminal District Court and Criminal District Court No. 2 of Dallas County shall have and exercise original concurrent jurisdiction with each other and with the County Court of Dallas County at Law in all matters and proceedings relative to misdemeanor causes of which the County Court of Dallas County at Law now has jurisdiction and either of the judges of said Criminal District Courts and the judge of said County Court of Dallas County at Law may, in his discretion, or upon the motion of the county attorney of Dallas county, transfer by written order or orders, entered upon the minutes of said court, any misdemeanor cause or misdemeanor causes that may at any time be pending in either of said courts to either of the other of said courts, as should, in his discretion, be transferred or as may be prayed for in the motion of the county attorney.

Sec. 2. Upon the transfer of any such cause or causes from said County Court of Dallas County at Law to either of said Criminal District Courts it shall be the duty of the county clerk of Dallas County to prepare and forward with the papers in said cause or causes so transferred a bill of the cost then accrued which said cost shall follow said cause or causes, and be taxed in said cause or causes with any other cost that may accrue in said cause or causes in either of said Criminal District Courts to which said cause or causes may be transferred; provided that the county clerk of Dallas County making such a bill of cost shall receive the sum of 50 cents for the preparation and forwarding of said bill of cost, in each cause so transferred, which said sum and cost shall be taxed in said cause and collected as other cost in the manner now provided by law; and the clerk of the District Court of Dallas County shall likewise, upon the transfer of any such cause from either of said Criminal District Courts to the County Court of Dallas County at Law, prepare such bill of cost and forward same as provided therein, and shall receive the same compensation as herein provided for the county clerk of Dallas County in such cases.

Sec. 3. The clerk of the District Court of Dallas County shall keep for each of said Criminal District Courts a misdemeanor docket and a misdemeanor motion docket in like manner as is now provided for by law for the County Court of Dallas County at Law, and upon any such cause or causes being transferred from the County Court of Dallas County at Law or from one of said Criminal District Courts to the other, said cause or causes shall be docketed as now provided by law for the County Court of Dallas County at Law.

Sec. 4. In trial of causes transferred to either of the Criminal District Courts of Dallas County from the County Court of Dallas County at Law, the trials, pleadings and practice shall be the same as in trial of other causes over which the Criminal District Courts of Dallas County now have jurisdiction.

Sec. 5. The county attorney of Dallas county and all other officers shall receive the same fees in misdemeanor causes in said Criminal District Courts as are now provided by law in the County Court of Dallas County at Law and in all other matters of cost tax in said causes in said Criminal District Courts, the item shall in no event be greater than that provided by law for such items in the County Court of Dallas County at Law, and all such cost in such causes shall be paid to the officers of the court in which same is accrued.

Sec. 6. [General repealer.]

Sec. 7. All misdemeanor causes of which the County Court of Dallas County now has jurisdiction may be filed originally with the clerk of the district [court] of Dallas¹ county, in either the Criminal District Court of Dallas County or the Criminal District Court No. 2 of Dallas County, in the same manner as is now provided by law for the filing of such causes with the county clerk of Dallas county in the County Court of Dallas County at Law.

Sec. 7a. Said Criminal District Courts shall have jurisdiction on all bail bonds and recognizances taken in proceedings had before such courts; in all causes transferred to said courts from either of them or that may be transferred to said courts from the County Court of Dallas County at Law; and may enter forfeitures thereof; and final judgment and enforce the collection of same by proper process in the manner as provided by law in said bail bond proceedings; and all bail bonds, recognizances or other obligations taken for the appearance of defendants, parties and witnesses, in either the County Court of Dallas County at Law or Criminal District Court of Dallas County or Criminal District Court No. 2 of Dallas County, shall be binding on all such defendants, parties and witnesses and their sureties for appearance in either of said courts in which said cause may be pending or to which same may be transferred.

Art. 1926-22. Jurisdiction Increased

Sec. 1. In addition to the jurisdiction now conferred upon the Criminal District Court of Dallas County, and upon the Criminal District Court No. 2 of Dallas County, by the Constitution and laws of the State of Texas, said Courts shall hereafter have and exercise civil jurisdiction in suits, causes and matters of:

(1) Divorce, as provided in Chapter 4, Title 75, of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, of 1925, and any amendments thereof, heretofore or hereafter made thereto.

(2) Dependent and delinquent children, as provided in Title 43, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, of 1925, and any amendments thereof, heretofore or hereafter made thereto.

(3) Adoption, as provided in Title 3, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, of 1925, and any and all amendments heretofore or that may hereafter be made thereto.

(4) Habeas Corpus proceedings in civil matters.

Sec. 2. In all matters pertaining to the additional jurisdiction herein conferred upon said Courts, all the officers of said Courts shall have the same powers, rights and duties that are now or that may hereafter be conferred upon the same or similar officers in the other District Courts of Dallas County, Texas; and all fees and costs in such matters shall be the same as now or that may hereafter be provided in the same or similar matters in the other District Courts of Dallas County, Texas.

Sec. 3. Any Judge of any District Court of Dallas County may at his discretion transfer any cause or causes set out in Section 1 hereof that may at any time be pending in his Court to any other District Court of Dallas County by an order or orders entered upon the minutes of his Court; and the presiding Judge of the District Courts of Dallas County may in like manner assign any case in his Court or in any of the District Courts in Dallas County involving or pertaining to the matters set out in Section 1 hereof to any other Judge or Court, including the Criminal District Courts of Dallas County, or may assign any Judge to try any of said causes in any of said Courts, and the Judge in whose Court an assigned case is pending shall transfer the case to the Court to which it is assigned, and the Judge of the Court to which it is assigned shall receive and try the case. When such transfer or transfers are made the Clerk of such Court shall enter such cause or causes upon the docket to which said transfer or transfers are made, and, when so entered upon the docket, the Judge shall try and dispose of said cause or causes in the same manner as if such cause or causes were originally instituted in said Court.

Sec. 4. The trials and proceedings in said Courts in such matters shall be conducted according to the laws governing the pleadings, practice and proceedings in civil cases in the District Courts and in conformity with the provisions of Article 2092, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, of 1925, and all appeals in such civil cases shall be to the Court of Civil Appeals for the Fifth Supreme Judicial District of Texas in the manner now or that may hereafter be provided by law.

JUDGES; CRIMINAL DISTRICT ATTORNEYS

Art. 1926-26. Judges of Criminal District Courts May Sit in Either Court

From and after the time this law shall take effect the Criminal District Court of Dallas County, Texas, and the Criminal District Court Number Two of Dallas County, Texas, and the respective judges thereof, shall have and exercise concurrent jurisdiction with each other in all felony cases, and in all misdemeanor cases in which said courts have, or may hereafter have, concurrent jurisdiction with the County Court of Dallas County at Law, and in all matters and proceedings of which either of said criminal district courts of Dallas County, Texas, now have jurisdiction; and either of the judges of said criminal district courts may, in his discretion, in the absence of the judge of the other criminal district court from his courtroom, or from the County of Dallas, Texas, try and dispose of any cause or causes that may be pending in such criminal district court as fully as could such absent judge were he personally present and presiding. And either of said judges may receive in open court from the foreman of the grand jury any bill or bills of indictment in the court to which such bill or bills of indictment may be returnable, entering the presentment of such bill or bills of indictment in the minutes of the proceedings of such court, and may hear and receive from any impaneled petit jury any report, information or verdict, and make and cause to be entered any order or orders in reference thereto, or with reference to the continuation of the deliberation of such petit jury or their final discharge, as fully and completely as such absent district judge could do if personally present and presiding over such court; and may make any other order or orders in such courts respecting the causes therein pending or the procedure pertaining thereto, as the regular judge of said criminal district court could make if personally present and presiding.

[1925 C.C.P.]

Saved from repeal, see Code of Criminal Procedure of 1965, art. 54.02.

Art. 1926-27. Criminal District Attorney; Duties; Salary; Fees; Accounting; Assistants; Oath; Powers; Report of Expenses; Election

Sec. 1. See article 199 (14th Dist.).

Sec. 2. There shall be elected by the qualified electors of the Criminal Judicial District of Dallas county, Texas, an attorney for said district, who shall be styled the "Criminal District Attorney of Dallas county," and who shall hold his office for a period of two years and until his successor is elected and qualified. The said Criminal District Attorney shall possess all the qualifications and take the oath and give the bond required by the Constitution and laws of this State, of other district attorneys.

Sec. 3. It shall be the duty of said Criminal District Attorney or his assistants, as hereinafter provided to be in attendance upon each term of the "Criminal Court of Dallas County" and the "Criminal District Court No. 2 of Dallas County" and to represent the state in all matters pending before said courts. And he shall have exclusive control of all criminal cases wherever pending, or in whatever court in Dallas County that now has jurisdiction of criminal cases, as well as any or all courts that may hereafter be created and given jurisdiction in criminal cases, and he shall have the fees therefor fixed by law. He shall also have control of any and all cases heard on habeas corpus before any civil district court of Dallas County, as well as before the Criminal Court of said county. The Criminal District Attorney of Dallas County shall have and exercise in addition to the specific powers given and the duties imposed upon him by this Act, all such powers, duties and privileges within said Criminal District of Dallas County as are by law now conferred, or which may hereafter be conferred upon district and county attorneys in the various counties and judicial districts of this state.

It is further provided that he and his assistants shall have the exclusive right and it shall be their sole duty to perform the duties provided for in this Act, except in cases of absence from the county of the Criminal District Attorney and his assistants, or their inability or refusal to act; and no other person shall have the power to perform the duties provided for in this Act, or to represent the state in any criminal case in Dallas County, except in case of the absence from Dallas County, or the inability or refusal to act of the Criminal District Attorney and his assistants.

Sec. 4. The said Criminal District Attorney of Dallas County shall be commissioned by the Governor and shall receive a salary of $500.00 per annum, to be paid by the state, and in addition thereto shall receive the following fees in felony cases, to be paid by the state; for each conviction of felonious homicide, where the defendant does not appeal or dies, or escapes after appeal and before final judgment of the Court of Criminal Appeals, or where, upon appeal, the judgment is affirmed, the sum of forty dollars. For all other convictions in felony cases, where the defendant does not appeal, or dies, or escapes, after appeal, and before final judgment of the Court of Criminal Appeals, or where, upon appeal, the judgment is affirmed the sum of thirty dollars; provided, that in all convictions of felony, in which punishment is fixed by the verdict and judgment by confinement in the House of Correction and Reformatory, his fee shall be fifteen dollars. For representing the state in each case of habeas corpus where the defendant is charged with felony, the sum of twenty dollars. For representing the state in examining trials, in felony cases, where indictment is returned, in each case, the sum of five dollars. The Criminal District Attorney shall also receive such fees for other services rendered by him as is now, or may hereafter be authorized by law to be paid to other district and county attorneys in this state for such services.

Sec. 5. The Criminal District Attorney of Dallas County shall retain out of the fees earned and collected by him the sum of three thousand five hundred dollars per annum and in addition thereto one fourth of the gross excess of all such fees in excess of three thousand five hundred dollars per annum to an amount not in excess of two thousand dollars. The three fourth remaining to be applied first to the payment of the salaries of the Assistant District Attorneys and extra assistant District Attorneys and stenographer as hereinafter provided for. The remainder to be paid into the treasury of Dallas County; provided that in arriving at the amount collected by him he shall include the fees arising from all classes of criminal cases whether felony or misdemeanor arising in any of the courts in Dallas County now existing, or which may hereafter be created including habeas corpus hearing and fines and forfeitures; provided that after the 30th day of November and before the first day of January following of each year, he shall make a full and complete report and accounting to the county judge of Dallas County of all of such fees so collected by him; provided that in addition to the above he shall receive ten per cent. for the collection of delinquent fees as is now provided by law relating to the collection of delinquent fees by county and district attorneys. Such fees however, to be included in the reports herein provided for and to be taken into consideration in arriving at the total maximum compensation provided in this Act.

Sec. 6. The Criminal District Attorney of Dallas County may appoint two assistant criminal district attorneys who shall each receive a salary of not to exceed eighteen hundred dollars per annum payable monthly, and four additional assistant district attorneys who shall each receive a salary of not to exceed fifteen hundred dollars a year payable monthly. He may appoint a stenographer who shall receive a salary of not more than twelve hundred dollars per annum payable monthly.

In addition to the assistant criminal district attorneys and stenographer above provided for, said Criminal District Attorney of Dallas County may, with the approval of the county judge and commissioners court of Dallas county, appoint as many additional extra assistant district attorneys as may be necessary to properly administer the affairs of the office of Criminal District Attorney and enforce the law, upon the Criminal District Attorney making application under oath addressed to the county judge of Dallas county, setting out the need therefor; provided, the county judge, with the approval of the commissioners court, may discontinue the services of any one or more of said extra assistant criminal district attorneys so appointed, the salary of said extra assistant criminal district attorney to be fixed by the commissioners court of Dallas county.

Sec. 7. The assistant criminal district attorneys and the extra assistant criminal district attorneys above provided for, when so appointed, shall take oath of office and be authorized to represent the state before said criminal district court, and in all other courts of Dallas county, in which the criminal district attorney of Dallas county is authorized by this Act to represent the state, such authority to be exercised under the direction of said criminal district attorney, and which said assistants shall be subject to removal at the will of the said criminal district attorney. Each of said assistant criminal district attorneys shall be authorized to administer oaths, file information, examine witnesses before the grand jury and generally perform any duty devolving upon the criminal district attorney of Dallas county, and to exercise any power conferred by law upon the said criminal district attorney when by him so authorized. The criminal district attorney of Dallas county shall be paid the same fees for services rendered by his assistants as he would be entitled to receive if the services shall have been rendered by himself.

Sec. 8. The criminal district attorney of Dallas county is authorized, with the consent of the county judge and county commissioners of Dallas county, to appoint not to exceed two assistants in addition to his regular assistant criminal district attorneys, provided for in this Act, which two assistants shall not be required to possess the qualifications prescribed by law for district or county attorneys, and who shall perform such duties as may be assigned to them by the criminal district attorney, and who shall receive as their compensation one hundred dollars per month each, to be paid in monthly installments out of the county funds of Dallas county, Texas, by warrants drawn on such county fund; and provided further, that the criminal district attorney of Dallas county shall be allowed a sum of money by order of said commissioners court of Dallas county, as in the judgment of the commissioners court may be deemed necessary, to the proper administration of the duties of such office not to exceed, however, the amount of fifty dollars per month. Such amount as may be thus necessarily incurred shall be paid by the commissioners court upon affidavit made by the criminal district attorney of Dallas county, showing the necessity for such expenditure and for what the same was incurred. The commissioners court may also require any other evidence as in their opinion may be necessary to show the necessity for such expenditure, but they shall be the sole judge as to the necessity for such expenditure and their judgment allowing same shall be final.

Sec. 9. The criminal district attorney shall at the close of each month of the tenure of such office make, as a part of the report required by this Act, an itemized and sworn statement of the actual and necessary expenses incurred by him in the conduct of his said office, such as stamps, stationery, books, telephone, traveling expenses and other necessary expenses. If such expenses be incurred in connection with any particular case such statement shall name such case. Such expense account shall be subject to the audit of the county auditor and if it appears that any item of such expenses was not incurred by such officer or that such item was not necessary thereto, such item may be by the said auditor rejected, in which case the correction of such item may be adjudicated in any court of competent jurisdiction. The amount of such expense shall be deducted by the criminal district attorney of Dallas county in making such a report from the amount if any due by him to the county under the provisions of this Act.

Sec. 10. The criminal district attorney of Dallas county, as provided for in this Act, shall be elected by the qualified electors of the criminal judicial district of Dallas county at the next general election, and it is provided and directed that the present county attorney of Dallas county, Texas shall continue in office and assume the duties and be known as the criminal district attorney of Dallas county, Texas, and proceed to organize and arrange the affairs of the office of criminal district attorney of Dallas county, and appoint assistants as provided for in this Act and receive the fees provided for in this Act for such office until the next general election and until the criminal district attorney of Dallas county shall be elected and qualified.

TARRANT COUNTY

Art. 1926-41. Criminal District Court for Tarrant County

Sec. 1. There is hereby created and established at the city of Ft. Worth a Criminal District Court to be known as "Criminal District Court of Tarrant County,"¹ which Court shall have and exercise, from and after the taking effect of this Act, original and exclusive jurisdiction over all criminal cases of the grade of felony in the county of Tarrant of which district courts, under the Constitution and laws of this State, have original and exclusive jurisdiction, and shall have and exercise such concurrent jurisdiction with the county court of Tarrant county over misdemeanor cases as is hereinafter provided by this Act.

Sec. 2. From and after the time this Act shall take effect, the county court of Tarrant county and the Criminal District Court of Tarrant county created by this Act, shall have and exercise concurrent jurisdiction with each other in all misdemeanor cases of which the county court of Tarrant county may now, or may hereafter have exclusive jurisdiction; and of such misdemeanor cases as shall be filed in said county court on appeal from justices' or recorders' courts; and either the judge of said Criminal District Court, or the judge of said county court of Tarrant county, may upon motion of the county attorney of Tarrant county, or other officer representing the State in said courts, in his discretion transfer any cause or causes that may at any time be pending in his court to the other court by an order or orders entered upon the minutes of his court; and where such transfer or transfers, are made, the clerk of the court making such transfer shall certify to the clerk of the court to which such transfer is made a statement of the cause or causes so transferred giving the style and number of the same to the clerk of the court to which such transfer is made and shall accompany such statement with all the papers in said cause or causes so transferred and upon receipt of such statement and the papers in such cause or causes so transferred, the clerk of the court to which such transfer is made shall enter such cause or causes upon the docket of the court to which such transfer or transfers are made, and when so entered upon the docket, the judge of the court to which such transfer or transfers are made shall dispose of said cause or causes in the same manner as if such cases were originally instituted in said court.

Sec. 3. Said court shall have jurisdiction over all bail bonds and recognizances taken in proceedings had before said court, or that may be returned to said court from other courts, and may enter forfeitures thereof and final judgments, and enforce the collection of the same by proper process in the same manner as is provided by law in district courts.

Sec. 4. The said Criminal District Court of Tarrant county shall have a seal similar to the seal of the district court with the words "Criminal District Court of Tarrant county"¹ engraved thereon, an impression of which seal shall be attached to all writs and other processes, except subpoenas, issuing from said court, and shall be used in the authentication of the official acts of the clerk of said court.

Sec. 5. The practice in said court shall be conducted according to the laws governing the practice in the district court, and the rules of pleading and evidence in the district court shall govern insofar as the same may be applicable.

Sec. 6. All laws regulating the selection, summoning and impaneling of grand and petit jurors in the district court shall govern and apply in the Criminal District Court in so far as the same may be applicable.

Sec. 7. All rules of criminal procedure governing the district and county courts shall apply to and govern said Criminal District Court.

Sec. 8. Said Criminal District Court of Tarrant County shall try all misdemeanor cases coming before it with six jurors instead of twelve jurors, unless a jury be waived by the defendant.

Sec. 9. Said Court shall hold four terms each year for the trial of causes and the disposition of business coming before it, one term beginning the first Monday of April, one term beginning the first Monday of July, one term beginning the first Monday of October, one term beginning the first Monday of January. Each term shall continue until the term ends by operation of law or the business is disposed of. The grand jury shall be impanelled in said court for each term thereof, unless otherwise directed by the judge of said Court.

Sec. 10. Whenever the Criminal District Court of Tarrant County shall be engaged in the trial of any cause when the time for expiration of the terms of said court as fixed by law shall arrive, the judge presiding shall have the power, and may, if he deems it expedient, continue the term of said court until the conclusion of such pending trial; in such case, the extension of such term shall be shown on the minutes of the court before they are signed.

Sec. 11. The sheriff, county attorney, and the clerk of the district court of Tarrant county shall be the sheriff, county attorney and clerk, respectively, of said Criminal District Court under the same rules and regulations as are now, or may hereafter be prescribed by law for the government of sheriffs, county attorneys, and clerks of the district courts of this State; and said sheriff, county attorney and clerk shall respectively receive such fees as are now, or may hereafter be prescribed for such officers in the district courts of the State, to be paid in the same manner, provided that the clerk of the court herein created, shall receive as compensation for his services the sum of $125.00 (one hundred and twenty-five dollars) per month, to be paid as all the salaries of other clerks of criminal district courts in this State.

Sec. 12. In all such matters over which said Criminal District Court has jurisdiction, it shall have the same power within said district as is conferred by law upon the district court, and shall be governed by the same rule in the exercise of said power.

Sec. 13. Appeals and writs of error may be prosecuted from said Criminal District Court to the court of criminal appeals in criminal cases and to the courts of civil appeals in the same manner and form as from district courts in like cases.

Sec. 14. From and after the taking effect of this Act, the district courts of Tarrant county as now constituted, shall be, and they are hereby deprived and divested of all jurisdiction in all criminal cases, and of all jurisdiction given the Criminal District Court of Tarrant county by this Act, and all criminal causes pending in said district courts at the time of the taking effect of this Act and all matters pertaining to criminal cases pending therein over which the court herein created is given jurisdiction, shall be, by the judges of the other district courts ordered transferred to and entered upon the docket of said Criminal District Court, and when so entered upon the docket, the judge of said Criminal District Court shall try and dispose of same in the same manner as if such cases were originally instituted therein. Provided that the other district courts of Tarrant county shall have jurisdiction concurrently with this court to empanel grand juries and to receive their bills of indictment and make proper transfer of same to the Criminal District Court.

Sec. 15. The judge of said Criminal Court of Tarrant county¹ shall be elected by the qualified voters of Tarrant county for a term of four years, and shall hold his office until his successor shall have been elected and qualified. He shall possess the same qualifications as are required of the judge of a district court, and shall receive the same salary as is now, or may hereafter be paid, to the district judges to be paid in like manner. He shall have and exercise all the powers and duties now or hereafter to be vested in and exercised by district judges of this State in criminal cases. Provided, that the Governor, by and with the consent of the Senate, if in session, shall appoint a judge of said court who shall hold the office until the next general election after the passage of this Act, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified.

Sec. 16. The judge of said criminal district court may exchange districts with or hold court for any district judge, as provided by law in cases of district judges, and in case of disqualification or absence of a judge, a special judge may be selected.

Sec. 17. All orders heretofore made and all process heretofore issued in any criminal cause so transferred are hereby validated and made of full force and effect in the Criminal District Court of Tarrant county.

Art. 1926-42. Criminal District Court No. 1 of Tarrant County

Sec. 1. There is hereby created and established a Criminal Judicial District of Tarrant County, Texas, to be composed of the County of Tarrant, Texas, alone and which shall be co-extensive with the territorial boundaries and limits of said Tarrant County, and the Criminal District Court of Tarrant County, Texas,¹ shall have and exercise all of the criminal jurisdiction of and for said Criminal District of Tarrant County, Texas, which is now conferred by law on said Criminal District Court.

Sec. 2. There shall be elected by the qualified electors of the Criminal Judicial District of Tarrant County, Texas, an Attorney for said District who shall be styled the "Criminal District Attorney of Tarrant County" and who shall hold his office for a period of two years and until his successor is elected and qualified. The said Criminal District Attorney shall possess all the qualifications and take the oath and give the bond required by the Constitution and laws of this State, of other District Attorneys.

Sec. 3. It shall be the duty of said Criminal District Attorney or his assistants as herein provided to be in attendance upon each term and all sessions of the Criminal District Court of Tarrant County¹ and of all sessions and terms of the County Court of Tarrant County, Texas, held for the transaction of criminal business, and to represent the state in all matters pending before said courts, and to represent Tarrant County in all matters pending before such courts, the Commissioners Court of Tarrant County and Justice Courts and any other courts where said Tarrant County has pending business of any kind or matter of concern or interest; provided, however, the Commissioners Court may employ the services of the Criminal District Attorney or his assistants, or if the court elects to do so it may employ special counsel of its own choice, learned in the law, to represent the county in all condemnation proceedings for the acquisition of right-of-way for highways and proper purposes where the right of eminent domain is given to the county; and particularly with authority to render aid and work with the Commissioners Court, the county engineer and other county employees in the preparation of documents necessary in the acquisition of rights-of-way for the county, or in cases where the county is required to obtain right-of-way for state highways, or to assist in the acquisition of such rights-of-way. Such employment may be made for such time and on such terms as the Commissioners Court may deem proper and expedient; provided, however, that the compensation for such employment shall be paid out of the Road and Bridge fund of Tarrant County. The Criminal District Attorney of Tarrant County shall have and exercise in addition to the specific powers given and the duties imposed upon him by this Act, all such powers, duties and privileges within such criminal district of Tarrant County as are by law now conferred, or which may hereafter be conferred upon district and county attorneys in the various counties and judicial districts of this state except in regard to condemnation proceedings where the Commissioners Court elects to hire a special counsel.

Sec. 4. Said Criminal District Attorney of Tarrant County shall be commissioned by the Governor and shall receive as salary and compensation the following and no more:

A salary of Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars from the State of Texas, as provided in the Constitution of the State of Texas, for the salary of District Attorney, and so much of the fees, commissions and perquisites earned by said office to make up the total compensation to the sum of Six Thousand ($6,000) Dollars; provided, that the amount of such salary, fees and perquisites to be received and retained by him shall never exceed the sum of Six Thousand ($6,000) Dollars in any one year; and, provided, further, that all salaries, fees, commissions and perquisites so earned and received by such office in excess of $6,000 during each and every fiscal year shall be paid into the County Treasury of said county in accordance with the terms and provisions of the maximum fee bill, except as to such portion of such excess as shall be used and expended in the payment of salaries to deputies, as hereinafter provided.

Sec. 5. The Criminal District Attorney of Tarrant County, for the purpose of conducting the affairs of such office, shall be and is hereby authorized, by and with the written consent of the county judge of said county, to appoint such assistant district attorneys who shall have all the qualifications of the criminal district attorney, as are necessary to perform the duties and affairs of such office, not to exceed six in number, two of whom shall receive a salary not to exceed three thousand dollars each per annum; two of whom shall receive a salary not to exceed twenty-five hundred dollars each per annum; one of whom shall receive a salary not to exceed twenty-one hundred dollars per annum; one of whom shall receive a salary not to exceed fifteen hundred dollars per annum. Said criminal district attorney shall also be authorized, with the consent of the county judge of said county, to appoint, not to exceed two assistants who shall not be required to possess the qualifications prescribed by law for criminal district attorneys, who shall perform such duties as may be assigned to them by said criminal district attorney, and who shall receive as their compensation a salary not to exceed twenty-one hundred dollars each per annum. All salaries above mentioned shall be payable monthly, and the said salaries to be paid only out of the fees of office collected by said district attorney, said fees of office to be the same as are now allowed and permitted by law to be paid to the county and district attorneys of this State. The fixing of the amount of salaries to be paid by said criminal district attorney to said assistants shall be fixed and regulated by the commissioners court of said county by an order passed at a regular session of said court and duly spread upon the minutes of said court; provided that the two assistants to the district attorney who are not required to have the qualifications of a criminal district attorney shall, so far as Tarrant County is concerned, be in lieu of the assistants of like character provided for in any statutes of this State.

Sec. 6. The Assistant Criminal District Attorneys above provided for when so appointed shall take the oath of office as such, and be authorized to represent the State before the Criminal District Court of Tarrant County in which the Criminal

District Attorney of Tarrant County is authorized by this Act to represent the State, or to represent Tarrant County. Each of said Assistant Criminal District Attorneys shall be authorized to administer oaths, file information, examine witnesses before the Grand Jury, and generally to perform any duty devolving upon the Criminal District Attorney of Tarrant County, and to exercise any power conferred by law upon such Criminal District Attorney when by him so authorized and directed.

Sec. 7. Said Criminal District Attorney of Tarrant County shall be clothed with all the powers and vested with all the rights and privileges conferred upon County Attorneys and District Attorneys of this state, and shall receive no salary or compensation or perquisites or fees of any character save those provided in Section 4 of this Act. All fees or commissions from all sources, including fees and commissions in all criminal and civil cases, and for the prosecution of all tax suits, and from every other source, shall be turned over to the County Treasurer of said County by the said District Attorney, subject only to the payment of the salary of himself and his deputies, as provided in this Act.

Sec. 8. The Criminal District Attorney of Tarrant County, as provided for in this Act shall be elected by the qualified voters of the Criminal Judicial District of Tarrant County at the next general election, but it is provided and directed that the present County Attorney of Tarrant County shall continue in office and assume the duties and be known as the "Criminal District Attorney of Tarrant County" and shall proceed to organize and arrange the affairs of the office of the Criminal District Attorney of Tarrant County, and appoint Assistants as provided for in this Act, and receive the compensation and salary provided for in this Act for such office until the next general election, and until his successor shall be elected and qualified. Provided this Act shall not be construed as, creating any Court additional to those now existing in Tarrant County.

Art. 1926-42a. Change of Name to Criminal District Court No. 1 of Tarrant County

(a) The name of the Criminal District Court of Tarrant County, created by Chapter 80, General Laws, Acts of the 36th Legislature, 2nd Called Session, 1919 (Articles 52-64 through 52-87, Vernon's Texas Code of Criminal Procedure),¹ is changed to the Criminal District Court No. 1 of Tarrant County.

(b) Wherever the name "Criminal District Court of Tarrant County" appears in the statutes of this state, or in any document, the name refers to the Criminal District Court No. 1 of Tarrant County. [Acts 1967, 60th Leg., p. 1792, ch. 682, § 1, eff. Aug. 28, 1967.]

¹ See, now, articles 1926-41 and 1926-42.

Art. 1926-43. Criminal District Court No. 2 of Tarrant County

Sec. 1. That there is hereby created and established at the City of Fort Worth, a Criminal District Court to be known as the "Criminal District Court No. 2 of Tarrant County", which Court shall have and exercise concurrent jurisdiction with the Criminal District Court of Tarrant County¹ under the constitution and laws of the State of Texas.

Sec. 2. From and after the time this law shall take effect, the Criminal District Court of Tarrant County and the Criminal District Court No. 2 of Tarrant County shall have and exercise concurrent jurisdiction with each other in all felony and misdemeanor causes, and in all matters and proceedings of which the said Criminal District Court of Tarrant County¹ has jurisdiction; and either of the Judges of said Criminal District Courts may in their discretion transfer any cause or causes that may at any time be pending in his court to the other Criminal District Court by an order or orders entered upon the minutes of his court; and where such transfer or transfers are made the Clerk of such Criminal District Court shall enter such cause or causes upon the docket to which said transfer or transfers are made, and, when so entered upon the docket, the Judge of that court shall try and dispose of said causes in the same manner as if such causes were originally instituted in said court; and the said Criminal District Court No. 2 of Tarrant County, Texas, shall have and exercise original and concurrent jurisdiction over misdemeanor cases as is hereafter provided by this Act.

Sec. 3. From and after the date this Act shall take effect the Criminal District Court No. 2 of Tarrant County, Texas, shall have and exercise original and concurrent jurisdiction of all misdemeanor cases of which the County Courts at Law Nos. 1 and 2 now have concurrent jurisdiction, and of such misdemeanor cases as shall be filed in said County Courts at Law of Tarrant County, Texas, on appeal from Justices or Recorders Courts and either the Judge of said Criminal District Court No. 2 or the Judge of said County Court at Law, may, upon motion of the District Attorney of Tarrant County, or other officer representing the state in said court, in his discretion, transfer any cause or causes that may at any time be pending in his court to the other court by an order or orders upon the minutes of his court; and where such transfer or transfers are made, the Clerk of the court making such transfer shall certify to the Clerk of the court to which such transfer or transfers are made, and when so entered upon the docket the Judge of the court to which such transfer or transfers are made, shall dispose of said cause or causes in the same manner as if such cases were originally instituted in said court.

Sec. 4. Immediately after this Act takes effect the Clerk of the County Courts at Law Nos. 1 and 2, Tarrant County, Texas, shall transfer all civil cases which may be pending in the County Court at Law No. 1 to the County Court at Law No. 2, and all misdemeanor cases which may be pending in said County Courts at Law Nos. 1 and 2 to the Criminal District Court No. 2 of Tarrant County, Texas; and the office of Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Tarrant County, Texas, shall be abolished and the said County Court at Law No. 2 shall hereafter be known as the County Court at Law of Tarrant County, Texas. All process and orders issued by the court transferring any case under the provisions of this Act shall be valid for all purposes in the court to which such case is transferred as if originally issued or made by the court to which such case is transferred.

Sec. 5. The Judge of the said Criminal District Court No. 2 of Tarrant County, Texas, shall be elected by the qualified voters of Tarrant County for a term of four years, and shall hold his office until his successor shall have been elected and qualified. He shall possess the same qualifications as required of the Judge of a District Court, and shall receive the same salary as is now or may hereafter be paid to the District Judges and to be paid in like manner. He shall have and exercise all the powers and duties now or hereafter to be vested in and exercised by District Judges of the Criminal District Court of Tarrant County. The Judge of said court may exchange with any District Judge, as provided by law in cases of District Judges, and, in case of disqualification or absence of a Judge, a Special Judge may be selected, elected or appointed as provided by law in cases of District Judges; provided, that the Governor, under the authority now provided by law, upon this Act becoming effective shall appoint a Judge of said court, who shall hold the office until the next general election after the passage of this law, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified. Either of the Judges of said Criminal District Courts may, in his discretion, in the absence or inability to serve of the Judge of the other Criminal District Court from his court room or from the County of Tarrant, Texas, try and dispose of any cause or causes that may be pending in such Criminal District Court as fully as could such absent Judge were he personally present and presiding. And either of said Judges may receive in open court from the Foreman of the grand jury any bill or bills of indictment in the court to which such bill or bills of indictment may be returnable, entering the presentment of such bill or bills of indictment in the minutes of the proceedings of such court, and may hear and receive from any empaneled petit jury any report, information or verdict, and make and cause to be entered any order or orders in reference thereto, or with reference to the continuation of the deliberation of such petit jury or their final discharge, as fully and completely as such other District Judge could do if personally present and presiding over such court; and make any other order or orders in such courts respecting the causes therein pending or the procedure pertaining thereto as the regular Judge of said Criminal District Court could make if personally present and presiding.

Sec. 6. Said court shall have a seal of like design as the seal now provided by law for District Courts, except that the words "Criminal District Court No. 2 of Tarrant County" shall be engraved around the margin thereof, which seal shall be used for all the purposes for which the seal of the District Courts are required to be used; and certified copies of the orders, proceedings, judgments and other official acts of said court, under the hand of the Clerk and attested by the seal of said court shall be admissible in evidence in all the courts of this state in like manner as similar certified copies from the courts of record are now or may hereafter be admissible.

Sec. 7. The Sheriff, Criminal District Attorney and Clerk of the District Courts of Tarrant County, as heretofore provided by law, shall be the Sheriff, District Attorney and Clerk, respectively, of said Criminal District Court No. 2 of Tarrant County under the same rules and regulations as are now or may hereafter be prescribed by law for the government of Sheriffs, District Attorneys and Clerks of the District Courts of the state; and said Sheriff, Criminal District Attorney and Clerk shall, respectively, receive such fees as are now or may hereafter be prescribed by law for such offices in the District Courts of the state and to be paid in the same manner.

Sec. 8. The County Commissioners Court shall have authority to authorize the employment of such additional Deputy District Clerks as in their judgment shall be required, and to pay out of the General Fund of the county for their services such Deputy or Deputies to be appointed by the District Clerk of Tarrant County, Texas, and to be removable at the will of the Clerk, and to be paid a salary not to exceed the compensation allowed by law to other Deputy District Clerks. The Criminal District Attorney may appoint an Assistant Criminal District Attorney, in addition to those now provided by law, to attend said court. Said Assistant shall have the authority and shall qualify as provided by law for Assistant Criminal District Attorneys, and shall be removable at the will of the Criminal District Attorney, and shall receive a salary not to exceed the maximum salary allowed Assistant Criminal District Attorneys; said salary to be payable as is provided by law.

Sec. 9. Said court shall hold four terms each year for the trial of causes and the disposition of business coming before it; one term beginning the first Monday in January, one term beginning the first Monday in April, one term beginning on the first Monday in July, and one term beginning the first Monday in October, of each year. The trials and proceedings in said court shall be conducted according to the law governing the practice and proceedings in felony and misdemeanor cases. The District Judges of the Criminal District Courts of Tarrant County may alternately appoint Grand Jury Commissioners and empanel grand juries.

Sec. 10. All laws regulating the selection, summoning and empaneling of grand and petit jurors in the District Courts shall govern and apply in the Criminal District Court No. 2 of Tarrant County, insofar as the same may be applicable. Provisions of the articles commonly known as the "Jury Wheel Law" shall remain in full force and effect insofar as the same may be applicable.

Sec. 10a. The salary for such District Judge shall be the same as the salary provided for other District Judges in this state. There is hereby appropriated to pay the salary of such Judge for the biennium beginning September 1, 1947, the sum of Six Thousand ($6,000.00) Dollars for each year of such biennium, which said salary shall be paid in monthly installments out of the General Revenue Fund of the state in the same manner as provided for other District Judges in House Bill No. 244, Acts of the Regular Session, 50th Legislature, 1947.

Saved from repeal, see Code of Criminal Procedure of 1965, art. 54.02.

Art. 1926-44. Criminal District Court No. 3 of Tarrant County

A. Creation and Jurisdiction. The Criminal District Court No. 3 of Tarrant County is created. Its jurisdiction is identical with that provided by law for the Criminal District Court of Tarrant County¹ and the Criminal District Court No. 2 of Tarrant County and shall be exercised concurrently.

B. Terms of Court. The terms of the Criminal District Court No. 3 begin on the first Monday in April, the first Monday in July, the first Monday in October, and the first Monday in January of each year. Each term of court continues until the next succeeding term convenes.

C. Judge. As soon as practicable after the effective date of this Act, the Governor shall appoint to the Criminal District Court No. 3 a person qualified to serve as a District Judge under the Constitution and laws of this state. The judge appointed holds office until the next general election at which his successor is duly elected and until he qualifies; and each elected successor holds office for a term of four years. The judge appointed and his successor is entitled to the same compensation and allowances provided by law for District Judges of Tarrant County, Texas.

D. Appropriation. A sum of $16,000.00 for the fiscal year ending August 31, 1966, and a sum of $16,000.00 for fiscal year ending August 31, 1967, is hereby appropriated from the General Revenue Fund for the salary of the Judge of the Criminal District Court No. 3 of Tarrant County. The salary shall be paid as provided by law.

E. Court Officials. (a) The Judge of the Criminal District Court No. 3 may appoint an official court reporter, who must meet the qualifications prescribed by law for that office and who is entitled to the same compensation, fees, and allowances provided by law for the official district court reporters of Tarrant County, Texas.

(b) The Sheriff, Criminal District Attorney, and District Clerk of Tarrant County, Texas, shall serve as Sheriff, Criminal District Attorney, and Clerk, respectively, of the Criminal District Court No. 3. The Commissioners Court of Tarrant County, Texas, may employ as many additional deputy sheriffs, assistant criminal district attorneys, and deputy clerks as are necessary to serve the court created by this Act. Those serving shall perform the duties, and are entitled to the same compensation, fees, and allowances, prescribed by law for their respective offices in Tarrant County, Texas.

F. Practice. (a) The rules of practice and procedure applicable to the District Courts of this state govern practice in the Criminal District Court No. 3, and the judge of said court shall have the same power as any other District Judge in Tarrant County.

(b) The judges of all three criminal district courts in Tarrant County may freely transfer causes to and from the dockets of their respective courts. The judges may also freely exchange benches and courtrooms with each other and with the judges of the 17th, 48th, 67th, 96th, and 153rd judicial districts and with any other District Court in Tarrant County, so that if a judge is ill, disqualified, or otherwise absent, another judge may hold court for him without the necessity of transferring the cause involved.

(c) The Criminal District Judges of Tarrant County shall each appoint two officers of each of the said courts to act as Bailiffs for said courts and no less than three (3) Bailiffs shall be assigned regularly to each of the Criminal District Courts of Tarrant County, Texas, with the judge of each court, respectively, appointing two (2) Bailiffs and the Sheriff of such county appointing one (1) Bailiff for each of said courts, and the Sheriff of such county shall appoint such Bailiff for each court in the same manner as is now authorized by law.

The Judges of County Criminal Courts Nos. 1 and 2 of Tarrant County shall each appoint one officer to act as a Bailiff for said courts and no less than two (2) Bailiffs shall be assigned regularly to each of the said County Criminal Courts, with the judge of each of said courts respectively appointing one (1) Bailiff for each of said courts and the Sheriff of Tarrant County shall appoint one (1) Bailiff for each of said courts in the same manner as now authorized by law. The Bailiffs appointed under the provisions hereof by the said courts shall be paid a salary out of the general fund of the county of such courts as may be set by the judges of said courts with the approval of the Commissioners Court of Tarrant County. The Bailiffs so appointed by each of the said courts of Tarrant County shall perform such duties as are required by the judges. The said Bailiffs thus appointed by each of the judges, under the provisions hereof, are subject to removal without cause at the will of the judge in whose court such Bailiff or Bailiffs may be assigned. Bailiffs thus appointed by any such judge or judges, under the provisions hereof shall be duly deputized by the Sheriff of such county upon the request of the Criminal District Judges in the manner now authorized by law, and such Bailiffs shall be in addition to all other deputies now authorized by law.

TRAVIS COUNTY

Art. 1926-51. Criminal District Court of Travis County

Secs. 1 to 4. See Art. 199 (26th and 53rd Dists.).

Sec. 5. The criminal district court of Travis and Williamson Counties, as now created by law shall when this bill takes effect, be known as the Criminal District Court of Travis County, Texas, and shall exercise, have and enforce all the powers and jurisdiction which it now has within and for Travis County and, in addition thereto, shall have and exercise all of the jurisdiction, powers, and functions of a district court under the Constitution and laws of the State of Texas; provided, however, that it shall not exercise or have any jurisdiction or powers as such other than is incident to a district court of general jurisdiction, it being the purpose of this Act to take Williamson County out of the district of said criminal district court as now organized and confine its jurisdiction exclusively to Travis County. The said criminal district court, when this bill becomes effective, shall have the right and power to certify and transfer to the Fifty-third Judicial District Court either civil or criminal cases and the Fifty-third Judicial District Court shall have the right to certify and transfer to the criminal district court of Travis County for trial civil cases. Civil cases may be filed or instituted in either the criminal district court of Travis County or in the Fifty-third Judicial District Court in Travis County and both of said courts, or either of them, shall have the right, power and jurisdiction to try either civil or criminal cases within its jurisdiction under the Constitution and General Laws of the State. The Criminal District Court of Travis County shall continue, as now provided by law, to select jury commissioners and impanel grand juries and exercise all of the other powers, functions and jurisdiction now conferred upon it by law, it being the purpose of this Act, not to repeal the Act hereby amended otherwise than is herein specifically done, and this Act is in addition to and cumulative of the Act hereby amended.

Sec. 5a. The Criminal District Court of Travis County shall hold its terms at the following time, to-wit: On the first Monday in February and may continue in session to and including the last Saturday in March; on the first Monday in April and may continue in session to and including the last Saturday in May; on the first Monday in June and may continue in session to and including the last Saturday in August; on the first Monday in October and may continue in session to and including the last Saturday in November; on the first Monday in December and may continue in session to and including the last Saturday in January.

Sec. 6. The district clerk of Travis County shall be the clerk of the district courts for the Fifty-third Judicial District and of the Criminal District Court of Travis County and shall perform all of the duties of clerk of the said two courts.

Sec. 7. [Not included.]

Sec. 8. At the general election, next preceding the taking effect of this Act, there shall be elected, a district judge for the Criminal District Court of Travis County who shall qualify as soon as the Act takes effect, and his term of office shall be four years, and he shall continue in office until his successor is elected and qualified.

Sec. 9. Upon the taking effect of this Act, the respective judges of each of the said three district courts shall, each for his respective court, appoint an official court reporter who shall have the qualifications and be subject to the same regulations and receive the same compensation as is now, or may hereafter be, fixed by law, for court reporters in district courts.

Sec. 10. The office of district attorney of Travis and Williamson Counties from and after the first day of January, 1927, shall cease to exist, and there shall be elected a district attorney for the Fifty-third Judicial District at the next general election after the passage of this Act, and at each general election thereafter. He shall represent the State in all criminal cases in all of the district courts of Travis County, and perform such other duties as are or may be provided by law governing district attorneys; and he shall receive, in addition to the five hundred ($500.00) dollars per annum allowed by law to district attorneys, the same per diem and compensation provided by law for district attorneys in judicial districts of this State composed of two or more counties.

Sec. 11. Grand juries for the Criminal District Court of Travis County shall be organized at each of the terms of said court. And grand juries for the Twenty-sixth Judicial District Court shall be organized at the January, May and September terms of the said court; provided, however, that the judge of the district court for the Twenty-sixth Judicial District may, when deemed necessary, organize and impanel grand juries at any other term of said court by entering an order therefor.

Sec. 12. [Not included.]

Sec. 13. Upon the taking effect of this Act the district clerk of Williamson County shall transfer all causes pending on the docket of the said Criminal District Court in Williamson County to the docket of the Twenty-sixth Judicial District Court; and that all causes so transferred shall be disposed of as though originally filed in the said court to which they were so transferred.

Sec. 14. Either judge of the Fifty-third Judicial District or the Criminal District Court of Travis County may, in his discretion, at any time, transfer any cause pending on the docket of his court to the other District Court in Travis County, and when the said transfer is so made the said cause so transferred shall be disposed of by the court to which the same was so transferred as though originally filed in the said court.

Sec. 15. All writs, processes, bonds, recognizances and orders in civil and criminal cases and matters, issued, executed, entered into, or required prior to the taking effect of this Act, in the Twenty-sixth Judicial District Court, and in the Criminal District Court of Travis and Williamson Counties, respectively, and returnable to terms of said courts, as heretofore fixed by law, in the counties of Travis and Williamson, are hereby made returnable to the next ensuing terms of the respective courts to which they are required to be transferred, under the provisions of this Act, and shall be as valid and binding as if no change had been made in said courts, or in the time of holding same; and all juries drawn and selected under existing laws shall be as valid as if no change had been made in said courts or in the time of holding same; and at the last term of the Criminal District Court for Travis and Williamson Counties held in Williamson and Travis Counties, under existing laws, the judge of said criminal district court shall provide for the drawing and selection of a grand jury for the proper terms of court in Travis and Williamson Counties, to be held after this Act takes effect; and the said petit and grand juries so drawn and selected shall be required to appear and serve and their acts shall be valid as if no change had been made in said courts, or in the times of holding said courts.

Sec. 16. This Act shall not be construed to in anywise or in any manner affect judgments or orders rendered or made in the Twenty-sixth Judicial District Court in Travis County, or rendered or made in the Criminal District Court for Travis and Williamson Counties, in either of said counties prior to the taking effect of this Act; but it is provided that after this Act becomes effective as a law the Twenty-sixth Judicial District shall have jurisdiction of all judgments, orders and matters over which the Criminal District Court of Travis and Williamson Counties had or could exercise jurisdiction in Williamson County under the law as it now exists; and after this Act becomes effective as a law the Fifty-third Judicial District Court and the Criminal District Court of Travis County shall have jurisdiction of all judgments, orders and matters over which the Criminal District Court for Travis and Williamson Counties and the Twenty-sixth Judicial District had or could exercise jurisdiction in Travis County under the law as it now exists.

Sec. 17. It is provided that this Act shall take effect and be in force on and after January first, 1925.

JEFFERSON COUNTY

Art. 1926-61. Criminal District Court of Jefferson County

Sec. 1. That there is hereby created and established at the County Seat of Jefferson County, a criminal District Court to be known as "Criminal District Court of Jefferson County," which court shall have and exercise, from and after the taking effect of this Act, original and exclusive jurisdiction over all criminal cases of the grade of felony in the County of Jefferson of which district courts, under the Constitution and laws of this State, have original and exclusive jurisdiction, and shall have and exercise such concurrent jurisdiction with the county court of Jefferson County at law over misdemeanor cases as is hereinafter provided by this Act.

Sec. 2. From and after the time this Act shall take effect the County Court of Jefferson County at Law and the Criminal District Court of Jefferson County created by this Act, shall have and exercise concurrent jurisdiction with each other in all misdemeanor cases of which the County Court of Jefferson County at Law may now, or may hereafter have exclusive jurisdiction; and of such misdemeanor cases as shall be filed in said County Court on appeal from Justices' or Recorders' Courts; and either the Judge of said Criminal District Court, or the Judge of said County Court of Jefferson County at Law may upon motion of the County Attorney of Jefferson County, or other officer representing the State in said Courts, in his discretion transfer any cause or causes that may at any time be pending in his court to the other court by an order or orders entered upon the minutes of his court; and where such transfer or transfers are made, the Clerk of the Court making such transfer shall certify to the Clerk of the Court to which such transfer is made, a statement of the cause or causes so transferred, giving the style and number of the same to the Clerk of the Court to which such transfer is made and shall accompany such statement with all the papers in said cause or causes so transferred and upon receipt of such statement and the papers in such cause or causes so transferred, the Clerk of the Court to which such transfer is made shall enter such cause or causes upon the docket of the court to which such transfer or transfers are made, and when so entered upon the docket, the Judge of the Court to which such transfer or transfers are made, shall dispose of said cause or causes in the same manner as if such cases were originally instituted in said Court.

Sec. 3. Said Court shall have jurisdiction over all bail, bond and recognizances taken in proceedings had before said court, or that may be returned to said court from other courts, and may enter forfeitures thereof and final judgments and enforce the collection of the same by proper process in the same manner as is provided by law in District Courts.

Sec. 4. The said Criminal District Court of Jefferson County shall have a seal similar to the seal of the District Court with the words "Criminal District Court of Jefferson County" engraved thereon, an impression of which seal shall be attached to all writs and other processes, except subpoenas, issuing from said court, and shall be used in the authentication of the official acts of the Clerk of said Court.

Sec. 5. The practice in said court shall be conducted according to the laws governing the practice in the District Court, and the rules of pleading and evidence in the District Court shall govern in so far as the same may be applicable.

Sec. 6. All laws regulating the selecting, summoning and impaneling of grand and petit jurors in the District Court shall govern and apply in the Criminal District Court in so far as the same may be applicable.

Sec. 7. All rules of criminal procedure governing the District and County Courts shall apply to and govern said Criminal District Court.

Sec. 8. Said Criminal District Court of Jefferson County shall try all misdemeanor cases coming before it with six jurors instead of twelve jurors, unless a jury be waived by the defendant.

Sec. 9. Said Court shall hold four terms each year for the trial of causes and the disposition of business coming before it, one term beginning the first Monday of April, one term beginning the first Monday of July, one term beginning the first Monday of October, one term beginning the first Monday of January. Each term shall continue until the term ends by operation of law or the business is disposed of. The grand jury shall be impaneled in said Court for each term thereof, unless otherwise directed by the Judge of said Court.

Sec. 10. Whenever the Criminal District Court of Jefferson County shall be engaged in the trial of any cause when the time for expiration of the terms of said court as fixed by law shall arrive, the Judge presiding shall have the power, and may if he deems it expedient, continue the term of said court until the conclusion of such pending trial; in such case, the extension of such term shall be shown on the minutes of the Court before they are signed.

Sec. 11. The Sheriff, County Attorney, and the Clerk of the District Court of Jefferson County shall be the sheriff, County Attorney and Clerk, respectively, of said Criminal Court under the same rules and regulations as are now, or may hereafter be prescribed by law for the government of sheriffs, county attorneys and clerks of the District Courts of this State; and said Sheriff, County Attorney and Clerk shall respectively receive such fees as are now, or may hereafter be prescribed for such officers in the District Courts of the State, to be paid in the same manner.

Sec. 12. In all such matters over which said Criminal District Court has jurisdiction, it shall have the same power within said District as is conferred by law upon the District Court, and shall be governed by the same rules in the exercise of said power.

Sec. 13. Appeals and writs of error may be prosecuted from said Criminal District Court to the Court of Criminal Appeals and to the Courts of Civil Appeals in the same manner and form as from the District Courts in like cases.

Sec. 14. From and after the taking effect of this Act, the District Courts of Jefferson County as now constituted, shall be, and they are hereby deprived and divested of all jurisdiction in all criminal cases, and of all jurisdiction given the Criminal District Court of Jefferson County by this Act, and all criminal cases pending in said District Courts at the time of the taking effect of this Act, and all matters pertaining to criminal cases pending therein over which the Court herein created is given jurisdiction, shall be, by the Clerk of the District Courts transferred to and entered upon the docket of said Criminal District Court, and when so entered upon the docket, the judges of said Criminal District Court shall try and dispose of same in the same manner as if such cases were originally instituted therein.

Sec. 15. The Judges of said Criminal District Court of Jefferson County shall be elected by the qualified voters of Jefferson County for a term of four years, and shall hold office until his successor shall have been elected and qualified. He shall possess the same qualifications as are required of the Judge of the District Court, and shall receive the same salary as is now, or may hereafter be paid, to the District Judges, to be paid in like manner. He shall have and exercise all the powers and duties now or hereafter to be vested in and exercised by District Judges of this State in criminal cases. Provided, that the Governor, by and with the consent of the Senate, if in session, shall appoint a Judge of said Court who shall hold the office until the next general election after the passage of this Act, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified.

Sec. 16. The Judge of said Criminal District Court may exchange Districts with or hold court for any District Judge, as provided by law in cases of District Judges, and in case of disqualification or absence of a Judge, a special Judge may be selected.

Saved from repeal, see Code of Criminal Procedure of 1965, art. 54.02.

Art. 1926-62. Jurisdiction Increased

Sec. 1. In addition to the jurisdiction now conferred upon the Criminal District Court of Jefferson County by the Constitution and laws of the State of Texas, said Court shall hereafter have and exercise civil jurisdiction in suits, causes, and matters of:

(1) Divorce, as provided in Chapter 4, Title 75, of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas of 1925, and any amendments thereof, heretofore or hereafter made thereto;

(2) Dependent and delinquent children, as provided in Title 43, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas of 1925, and any amendments thereof, heretofore or hereafter made thereto;

(3) Adoption, as provided in Title 3, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas of 1925, and any and all amendments heretofore or that may hereafter be made thereto;

(4) Habeas corpus proceedings in civil matters.

Sec. 2. In all matters pertaining to the additional jurisdiction herein conferred upon said Court, all the officers of said Court shall have the same powers, rights, and duties that are now or that may hereafter be conferred upon the same or similar officers in the other District Courts of Jefferson County, Texas, and all fees and costs in such matter shall be the same as now or that may hereafter be provided in the same or similar matters in the other District Courts of Jefferson County, Texas.

Sec. 3. The Judges of the District Courts of Jefferson County and the Judge of the Criminal Court of Jefferson County shall elect one of their number as the presiding Judge of all the District Courts of Jefferson County including the Criminal District Court of Jefferson County; and the presiding Judge of the District Courts of Jefferson County may assign any cases in his Court, or in any of the District Courts in Jefferson County involving or pertaining to the matters set out in Section 1 hereof to any Judge or Court, including the Criminal District Court of Jefferson County, or may assign any Judge to try any of said causes in any of said Courts, and the Judge in whose Court an assigned case is pending shall transfer the case to the Court to which it is assigned, and the Judge of the Court to which it is assigned shall receive and try the case. When such transfer or transfers are made, the Clerk of such Court shall enter such cause or causes upon the docket to which said transfer or transfers are made, and when so entered upon the docket, the Judge shall try and dispose of said cause or causes in the same manner as if such cause or causes were originally instituted in said Court.

Sec. 4. The trials and proceedings in said Courts in such matters shall be conducted according to the laws governing the pleadings, practice, and proceedings in civil cases in the District Courts and in conformity with the provisions of Article 2092, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, of 1925, and all appeals in such civil cases shall be to the Court of Civil Appeals for the Ninth Supreme Judicial District of Texas in the manner now or that may hereafter be provided by law.

Sec. 5. During each term of said court the court may sit at any time in Port Arthur, Texas to try, hear and determine any civil non-jury cases over which it has jurisdiction as to the matters set out in Section 1, 3, and 4 hereof, and may hear and determine motions, arguments and such other non-jury civil matters over which said court may have jurisdiction; provided further, that nothing herein shall be construed to deprive the court of jurisdiction to try non-jury civil cases and hear and determine motions, arguments and such other non-jury civil matters at the county seat at Beaumont, Texas.

The District Clerk of Jefferson County or his deputy shall wait upon the said court when sitting at Port Arthur, Texas and shall be permitted to transfer all necessary books, minutes and records to Port Arthur, Texas while the court is in session there, and likewise to transfer all necessary books, minutes, records and papers from Port Arthur, Texas to Beaumont, Texas at the end of each session in Port Arthur, Texas.

The Sheriff of Jefferson County or his deputy shall be in attendance upon the court while sitting at Port Arthur, Texas, and perform such duties as he may be directed to perform, either as required by law or under order of the court.

The official court reporter of said court shall be in attendance upon the court while sitting at Port Arthur, Texas and perform such duties as he may be directed to perform, either as required by law or under the order of the court.

The Commissioners Court of Jefferson County, Texas is hereby authorized to provide suitable quarters for said court while sitting at Port Arthur, Texas, which said quarters shall be located within the sub-courthouse in Port Arthur, Jefferson County, Texas.

Saved from repeal, see Code of Criminal Procedure of 1965, art. 54.02.

Art. 1926-63. Criminal Judicial District of Jefferson County

Sec. 1. There is hereby created and established a Criminal Judicial District of Jefferson County, Texas, to be composed of the County of Jefferson, State of Texas alone, and which District is coextensive with the territorial boundaries and limits of Jefferson County, Texas.

Sec. 2. There shall be elected by the qualified electors of the Criminal Judicial District of Jefferson County, Texas, at the regular election in November, 1950, and at the regular November election each four (4) years thereafter, an attorney for said District who shall be styled "Criminal District Attorney of Jefferson County" and who shall hold his office for a period of four (4) years and until his successor is elected and qualified. The said Criminal District Attorney of Jefferson County shall possess all the qualifications and take the oath and give the bond required by the Constitution and laws of this State of other District Attorneys.

Sec. 3. It shall be the duty of said Criminal District Attorney of Jefferson County, or his assistants, as herein provided, to be in attendance upon each term and all sessions of the Criminal District Court of Jefferson County, all other District Courts in Jefferson County, Texas, and of all inferior courts of Jefferson County, except corporation or municipal courts of Jefferson County, held for the transaction of criminal business, and to represent the State of Texas in all matters pending before said Courts and to represent Jefferson County in all matters pending before such Courts or any other Court where Jefferson County has pending business of any kind, matter or interest. The Criminal District Attorney of Jefferson County shall have and exercise, in addition to the specific powers given and the duties imposed upon him by this Act, all powers, duties and privileges within such Criminal Judicial District of Jefferson County, Texas, as are by law now conferred, or which may hereafter be conferred upon District and County Attorneys in the various counties and Judicial Districts of this State. He shall collect such fees, commissions and perquisites as are now, or may hereafter be provided by law for similar services rendered by District or County Attorneys of this State.

Sec. 4. (a) The Criminal District Attorney of Jefferson County shall be commissioned by the Governor and may receive as compensation a salary in an amount not more than the total salary, including all supplements, paid to the highest paid district judge in the district. The salary shall be fixed by the Commissioners Court of Jefferson County, to be paid out of the Officer's Salary Fund of Jefferson County if adequate; if inadequate the Commissioners Court shall transfer necessary funds from the General Fund of the County to the Officer's Salary Fund.

(b) Jefferson County shall receive annually from the State of Texas under the provisions of this Act an amount equal to the amount paid district attorneys by the State of Texas, and shall be paid by the comptroller of public accounts as appropriated by the legislature in 12 equal installments. Such funds shall be paid into the salary fund of Jefferson County.

(c) The Criminal District Attorney of Jefferson County shall not engage in the private practice of law in that he shall not appear and practice as an attorney at law in any court of record in this state except in behalf of the State of Texas or Jefferson County as herein provided.

Sec. 5. The Criminal District Attorney of Jefferson County, for the purpose of conducting the affairs of this office, shall appoint such Assistant Criminal District Attorneys, Investigators, Court Reporters, Stenographers, Secretaries and other employees as he may deem adequate and necessary with the approval of the Commissioners Court of such County. All Assistant Criminal District Attorneys, Investigators, Court Reporters, Stenographers, Secretaries and other employees so appointed shall be paid such salaries, and receive such other compensation and reimbursement as may be set by the Criminal District Attorney and the Commissioners Court of Jefferson County. All of the salaries shall be paid from the Officer's Salary Fund if adequate; if inadequate, the Commissioners Court may pay such salaries out of the General Fund, the Jury Fund, or any other fund available for the purpose.

Sec. 6. The Assistant Criminal District Attorneys of Jefferson County, and Investigators, when so appointed, shall take the Constitutional Oath of Office, and said Assistant Criminal District Attorneys shall exercise any and every power and perform any and every duty conferred and imposed by law upon the Criminal District Attorney of Jefferson County under the supervision and direction of the Criminal District Attorney of Jefferson County.

Whenever a judge of the county court is disqualified to try a civil case pending in the county court, and the parties shall fail at the first term of the court to agree upon a special judge, the judge shall certify his disqualification to the Governor and the failure to agree upon another to try the same, whereupon the Governor shall appoint some person, learned in the law to try such case.

Art. 1932. Special Judge in Probate Matter

When a county judge is disqualified to act in any probate matter, he shall forthwith certify his disqualification therein to the Governor, whereupon the Governor shall appoint some person to act as special judge in said case, who shall act from term to term until such disqualification ceases to exist. A special judge so appointed shall receive the same compensation as is now or may hereafter be provided by law for regular judges in similar cases, and the Commissioners' Court shall, at the beginning of each fiscal year, include in the budget of the county, a sufficient sum for the payment of the special judge or judges appointed by the Governor to act for the regular county judge.

Art. 1933. Appointment by Wire

Whenever the county judge or the special judge shall be disqualified from trying a case, the parties or their counsel may agree upon an attorney for the trial thereof; and, if they shall fail to agree upon an attorney at or before the time it is called for trial, or if the trial of the case is pending and the county judge should become unable to act, or is absent, and a special judge is selected who is disqualified to proceed with the trial, and the parties then fail to select or agree upon a special judge who is qualified, the county judge or special judge presiding shall certify the fact to the Governor immediately, whereupon the Governor shall appoint a special judge, qualified to try same. Such appointment may be made by telegram or otherwise. The special judge shall proceed to the trial or disposition of such case. Any special judge agreed upon or appointed to try cases shall receive the same pay for his services as is provided by law for county judges.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1933a. Appointment of Special County Judges in Certain Counties

Application and Construction of Act

Sec. 1. The provisions of this Act apply only to counties in which there is no statutory county court at law or statutory probate court, and in which all duties of the county court devolve upon the county judge. The provisions hereof are cumulative of all other provisions of law for appointment or election of special county judges, and existing provisions are repealed hereby only to the extent of any conflict.

Pending Matter

Sec. 2. The county judge may at any time appoint a special county judge, with respect to any pending matter, whether of civil or criminal nature, in accordance with the provisions following:

(a) Such action may be taken on the motion of any counsel of record in such pending matter, or on the court's own motion.

(b) All counsel of record are entitled to notice and hearing on such motion.

(c) If the county judge finds that good cause exists therefor, he shall appoint a special county judge, at his discretion, except: (1) the person so appointed must be a duly licensed attorney at law; (2) the person so appointed must be the person agreed upon by all counsel of record in the pending matter, if they are able to so agree; and (3) due consideration shall be given by the court to such recommendations as may be made by the attorneys of such court for the further implementation of this Act and the accomplishment of the purposes hereof.

(d) The motion for, and order appointing, the special county judge, shall be noted in the docket, and may be reduced to writing and filed among the papers in the pending cause.

(e) Thereafter, the special county judge, while sitting in the matter in which he is so appointed, shall have and exercise all powers of a county judge in relation to the matter involved.

Absence of County Judge or Excessive Case Load

Sec. 3. (a) The county judge may appoint a retired judge to sit as a special county judge during a period when the county judge is absent by reason of physical incapacitation or absence from the county. The special county judge shall sit in all matters that may be docketed on any of the court's dockets and shall have and exercise all powers of a county judge in relation to the matters involved. The cumulative time a special county judge or special county judges appointed under this subsection may sit shall not exceed a total of 15 working days during a calendar year without the consent of the commissioners court.

(b) If a county judge finds that the dockets of the county court reflect a case load which the judge deems to be in excess of that which can be disposed of properly in a manner consistent with the efficient administration of justice, the judge, acting with the consent of the commissioners court, may appoint a retired judge as a special county judge to share the bench for such periods of time as may be authorized by the commissioners court. The special county judge shall sit in such matters as the county judge may authorize and shall have and exercise all powers of a county judge in relation to the authorized matters.

(c) The order appointing a special county judge under this section shall be noted in the docket of the county court.

(d) A retired judge appointed under this section shall be a former judge who, prior to the appointment, has served at least eight years as the county judge of a county in this state or who has served as a district judge of this state, and who has qualified for the judicial retirement system.

Compensation

Sec. 4. A special county judge who is appointed under this Act shall be compensated by the commissioners court at the rate of $\frac{1}{365}$ of the annual salary of the county judge for each day that the judge sits as special county judge.

Powers Not Exercisable

Sec. 5. A special county judge who is appointed under this Act may not exercise any of the powers of the county judge as member and presiding officer of the commissioners court or relating to the general administration of county business.

Section 3 of the 1975 Act, the emergency provision, provides, in part:

"The purpose of this Act is to improve the administration of justice in county courts, in view of the problems inherent in the crowded condition of the dockets of constitutional county courts, in the numerous and diverse nature of other nonjudicial duties devolving upon county judges, and in the fact county judges are not required to be licensed attorneys although confronted by questions of increasing legal complexity. * * *

Art. 1934. Election of Judges

If a county judge fails to appear at the time appointed for holding the court, or should he be absent during the term or unable or unwilling to hold the court, a special county judge may be elected in like manner as is provided for the election of a special district judge. The special county judge so elected shall have all the authority of the county judge while in the trial and disposition of any case pending in said court during the absence, inability, or such refusal of the county judge. Similar elections may be held at any time during the term, to supply the absence, failure or inability of the county judge, or any special judge, to perform the duties of the office. When a special county judge shall have been so elected, the clerk shall enter upon the minutes of the court, a record such as is provided for in like cases in the district court.

Art. 1934b. Court Administrator System for County Courts in Certain Counties

Sec. 1. County criminal courts or county courts at law having jurisdiction in both criminal and civil actions and proceedings in counties having more than one county criminal court or more than one county court at law having jurisdiction in both criminal and civil actions and proceedings may establish and maintain a court administrator's system if approved by the commissioners court. Upon approval, Sections 2, 3, and 4 of this Act shall apply.

Sec. 2. The county criminal courts or the county courts at law having jurisdiction in both criminal and civil actions and proceedings shall, by rule, designate the duties to be performed by the court administrator. The court administrator shall cooperate with the administrative judges and state agencies having duties relating to the operation of the courts to perform uniform and efficient administration of justice.

Sec. 3. (a) The court administrator shall be appointed by the judges of the county criminal courts or the judges of the county courts at law having jurisdiction in both criminal and civil actions and proceedings and shall serve at the pleasure of those courts. The court administrator shall receive reasonable compensation to be determined by the commissioners court not to exceed 70 percent of the salary paid by the county to the judges of those courts.

(b) The judges of those courts shall appoint appropriate staff and supporting personnel according to the needs of each local jurisdiction.

Sec. 4. The commissioners court of each county shall provide from the fines collected by these courts the necessary funding for the court administration system on order and directive of the courts to be served by the court administrator. If the fines are insufficient to provide the total funding for this program, the county shall provide the additional funds needed.

Art. 1934c. Court Manager and Coordinator System for Courts Having Criminal Jurisdiction in Counties Over 2,000,000

Courts having the same jurisdiction over criminal justice that are now or may be hereafter vested in county courts having jurisdiction in criminal actions and proceedings under the constitution and laws of Texas in counties with a population in excess of 2,000,000 according to the last preceding federal census may establish and maintain a court manager and coordinator system. The courts shall, by rule, designate and set out the qualifications of and duties to be performed by the court manager and coordinators to improve criminal justice and expedite the processing of criminal cases through the county courts. The court manager and coordinators in each such county shall cooperate with state agencies having duties in the operation of the courts to promote uniform and efficient justice in the state. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to diminish the statutory duties and powers conferred on the clerk of the court, sheriff, district attorney, or any officer of the courts. The court manager and coordinators shall serve by and at the pleasure of the courts, and shall receive reasonable compensation, to be determined by the judges of the courts, not more than 60 percent for the court manager and 50 percent for the coordinators of the salary paid to the judges of the courts, provided that commissioners courts, by order, may compensate the court manager in an amount in excess of that provided herein. The courts may appoint a court manager, coordinators, appropriate staff, and supporting personnel according to the needs of each local jurisdiction. The commissioners court of each such county shall provide from the fines collected by these courts the necessary funding for the court manager and coordinator system on order and directive of the courts to be served provided that if the said fines are insufficient to provide the total funding for this program the county shall provide the additional funds needed.

[Acts 1977, 65th Leg., p. 1891, ch. 752, § 1, eff. Aug. 29, 1977. Amended by Acts 1981, 67th Leg., p. 566, ch. 237, § 23, eff. Sept. 1, 1981; Acts 1983, 68th Leg., p. 140, ch. 35, § 1, eff. April 26, 1983.]

Section 2 of the 1983 amendatory act provides:

"If any provision, section, or clause of this Act or application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid, such invalidity shall not affect the provisions or applications hereof which can be given effect without the invalid provision, section, or clause, and to this end the provisions of this Act are declared to be severable."

Art. 1934d. Ministerial Practices and Procedures in Courts Having Criminal Jurisdiction in Counties Over 2,000,000

Sec. 1. The judges of courts having the same jurisdiction over criminal matters that are now or may be vested in county courts having jurisdiction in criminal actions and proceedings under the constitution and laws of Texas in counties with a population in excess of 2,000,000 according to the last preceding federal census and in which there are nine or more such courts may select from their number a presiding judge.

(a)(1) The presiding judge shall be selected by a vote of two-thirds of the judges of such courts, for a term of six months, and shall serve until his successor is selected. The selection of such presiding judge may be cancelled and another presiding judge selected to serve the unexpired term of the regularly selected presiding judge by a vote of two-thirds of the judges of such courts. Selection of the presiding judge shall be during the month immediately preceding the term such judge is to serve.

Each judge of courts included in this Act shall enter on the minutes of his court an order reciting each selection of a presiding judge.

(2) A co-presiding judge may be selected in the same manner the presiding judge is selected as set out herein and have the same duties and responsibilities as the presiding judge when the presiding judge is absent or disabled for any reason.

(b) The presiding judge shall have the following duties and responsibilities pertaining to courts included in this Act:

(1) The presiding judge shall preside at any session of the judges of the courts and be ex officio member of all committees created by the judges in session pertaining to the common goal of the courts in achieving more equal and efficient justice and orderly dispatch of business.

(2) The presiding judge shall be the chief administrator of the office of county court manager and county court coordinators; pretrial release services in all misdemeanor cases; and all other court-related ministerial services in all misdemeanor cases as promulgated by the judges having jurisdiction thereof.

(c) In the event that the judge of any court governed by the provisions of this Act is absent, or is for any cause disabled from presiding, the presiding judge of the courts may appoint a special judge whose qualifications shall be the same as the qualifications of the regular judge, and while serving the special judge shall have the same duties and powers as the regular judge. The provisions of Articles 30.04, 30.05, and 30.06, Code of Criminal Procedure, 1965, relating to the oath, compensation, and record of appointment of certain special judges shall apply to the appointment of a special judge under this section.

Sec. 2. The judges of courts included in this Act may also adopt rules, not inconsistent with the Code of Criminal Procedure and the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure for practice and procedure in such courts. A rule may be adopted by a two-thirds vote of the judges and upon adoption shall be entered verbatim on the minutes of each of the courts. The clerk of the court shall supply copies of the rules so adopted to every interested person.

Increase in Term of Office

Const. Art. 5, § 20 was amended in November, 1954 to increase the term of office of county clerks from two to four years.

Art. 1936. Clerk Pro Tem.

Where a county clerk shall be a party to any motion or proceeding in his court, the county judge shall, on his own motion, or on application of any person interested, appoint a clerk pro tempore for the purposes of such suit, motion or proceeding. The person so appointed shall take the oath to faithfully and impartially perform the duties of such appointment, and shall also enter into bond, payable to the State of Texas, in such amount as may be required by the judge, to be approved by him, and conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties under such appointment. The person so appointed shall perform all the duties required by law of the clerk in the particular suit, motion or proceeding in which he may be appointed.

Art. 1937. Bond, Oath and Insurance

Sec. 1. Each county clerk shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, give bond either with four or more good and sufficient sureties or with a surety company authorized to do business in Texas as a surety, to be approved by the Commissioners Court in an amount equal to not less than Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) nor less than twenty per cent (20%) of the maximum amount of fees collected in any year during the previous term of office immediately preceding the term of office for which the bond is to be given, but in no event to exceed Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000), conditioned for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office. Said clerk shall also take and subscribe the official oath which shall be endorsed on the bond, and the bond and oath so taken and approved shall be recorded in the county clerk's office, and deposited in the office of the clerk of the District Court. A certified copy of such bond may be put in suit in the name of the county for the use of the party injured.

Sec. 2. Each county clerk shall obtain a surety bond covering his deputy; or a schedule surety bond or a blanket surety bond covering his deputies, if more than one, and all employees of his office. Each deputy and each employee, shall be covered for the same conditions and in the same amount as the county clerk.

Sec. 3. The bond covering the county clerk shall be made payable to the county and the bond or bonds covering the deputies and the employees of the county clerk shall be made payable to the county for the use and benefit of the county clerk.

Sec. 4. Each county clerk shall obtain an errors and omissions insurance policy, covering the county clerk and the deputy or deputies of the county clerk against liabilities incurred through errors and omissions in the performance of the official duties of said county clerk and the deputy or deputies of said county clerk; with the amount of the policy being in an amount equal to a maximum amount of fees collected in any year during the previous term of office immediately preceding the term of office for which said insurance policy is to be obtained, but in no event shall the amount of the policy be for less than Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000) or more than Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000).

Sec. 5. The premiums for the bonds and the errors and omissions policies required by this Act to be given, or to be obtained, by the county clerk of each county shall be paid by the Commissioners Court of the county out of the general fund of the county.

Art. 1941(a). Microfilm Records of County Clerks

Microfilming Authorized

Sec. 1. County clerks and county recorders and clerks of county courts are hereby authorized, in their sole discretion, to adopt and thereafter to use exclusively, for the purpose of recording, preserving and protecting public records in their custody and control, or for the purpose of obtaining economical recording costs for such public records, or for the purpose of reducing and conserving the space required for filing, storing and safekeeping of such public records, or for the purpose of providing efficient retrieval of such public records, or for any similar purpose or purposes, a microphotograph or microfilm process or processes which accurately and permanently copies or reproduces, or forms a medium for copying or reproducing the original record on a film, in lieu of any other process, processes, method, or methods authorized or required, for filing, for filing and registering, or for filing and recording all instruments of writing, legal documents, papers or records authorized, permitted or required to be filed or to be filed and registered or to be filed and recorded in the offices of county clerks, or of county recorders, or of clerks of county courts; subject to the conditions and requirements hereinafter set out and specified in this Act.

Official Public Records

Sec. 2. (a) Said instruments of writing, legal documents, papers or records authorized, permitted or required to be filed, or filed and registered, or filed and recorded in the offices of said county clerks and county recorders and clerks of county courts, shall be divided into seven types or classes of records for recording by microphotograph or microfilm process or processes as described herein below. The recording and indexing of said instrument of writing, legal document, paper, or record in an Official Public Record which is on microfilm imparts notice in like manner and effect as if recorded in separate books or films and as if recorded in each Official Public Record described hereinbelow. Each of said classes or types of records shall be recorded on a separate series of rolls of microfilm, or on a separate series of discrete groups of separate and individual discrete microfilm images. Each of such rolls of microfilm shall be deemed to be a bound volume or book and each image on each of said rolls shall be properly identified for indexing purposes; and each of such separate series of discrete groups of separate and individual discrete microfilm images shall be deemed to be a bound volume or book and each discrete image of each of said discrete groups shall be properly identified for indexing purposes.

(b) The said seven types or classes of records for recording on microfilm shall be as follows:

(1) Records relating to or affecting real property, the microfilm records of which shall be known as "Official Public Records of Real Property";

(2) Records relating to or affecting receivables, chattels and personal property, the microfilm records of which shall be known as "Official Public Records of Personal Property and Chattels";

(3) Records relating or incidental to matters in probate, the microfilm records of which shall be known as "Official Public Records of Probate Courts";

(4) Records relating or incidental to matters in county civil courts, the microfilm records of which shall be known as "Official Public Records of County Civil Courts";

(5) Records relating or incidental to matters in county criminal courts, the microfilm records of which shall be known as "Official Public Records of County Criminal Courts";

(6) Records relating or incidental to matters in Commissioners Court, the microfilm records of which shall be known as "Official Public Records of Commissioners Court"; and

(7) Records relating to or affecting persons, business entities and/or agencies of government, other than property records, both real and personal, court proceedings and court records as described in Subparagraphs (1) thru (6) above, the microfilm records of which shall be known as "Official Public Records of Governmental, Business and Personal Matters."

(c) Releases, transfers, assignments and other actions relating to any instruments of writing, legal document, paper, or record, which has been recorded in an Official Public Record, shall be made by separate instruments of writing, documents, papers or records filed, or filed and registered, or filed and recorded in the same manner provided for herein for said original instrument of writing, legal document, paper or record; and no entry, marginal or otherwise, shall be made on any record, or index, or records, or indexes, previously made.

Microfilm Records Deemed Original Records; Certified Copies

Sec. 3. The microfilm records provided for in this Act shall be deemed to be original records for all purposes and shall be so accepted by all courts and administrative agencies of this State; and transcripts, exemplifications, copies, or reproductions on paper or on film of an image or images of said microfilm records, when issued and certified to by said clerk, shall be deemed to be certified copies of the originals for all purposes and shall be so accepted by all courts and administrative agencies of this State.

Indices

Sec. 4. (a) Each such instrument of writing, legal document, paper or record which is recorded in an Official Public Record, as provided in Sections 2(a)(1) thru 2(a)(7) hereinabove, shall be indexed and cross-indexed in the indices to the Public Record in which it is recorded in the full and perfect alphabetical order of the names of the parties as definitely identified therein in each such instrument of writing, legal document, paper or record.

(b) In addition to the names of the parties, each entry in an index for the appropriate Official Public Record described in Sections 2(a)(1), 2(a)(2) and 2(a)(7) shall include: an abbreviated description of the nature of such instrument of writing, legal document, paper or record as shown therein, including the name of the record in which it would have been recorded under existing laws pertaining to bound volume records and to other records in the Recorder's office; the time and date of filing; the location of the recorded image or images on microfilm by roll number, or by group number, and image number or numbers, or by other suitable data; an abbreviated description of the property, if any, or an abbreviated description of a lien or mortgage, if any, or of other reference, if any, to former recorded data, or such additional information as will properly identify each index entry as pertaining to the particular type of record to which the index applies.

(c) In addition to the names of the parties in actions in county courts, each entry in an index for the appropriate Official Public Record described in Sections 2(a)(3) thru 2(a)(6) shall include the nature of the cause or action, the date the cause or action was opened or taken, the court in which the cause or action lies, the docket number, such other data which would assist in further identifying the cause or action being indexed, and the location of the recorded image or images on the microfilm by roll number, or by group number, and image number or numbers, or by other suitable data.

(d) Such alphabetical indices shall be revised periodically throughout each year so that there will be a full and perfect alphabetical index to each of said Public Records for each full calendar year.

(e) Registers shall be kept up to date of court docket numbers in perfect numerical sequence for each type Court Record, and shall include essentially the same data as is contained in the indices.

(f) Such other Registers of file numbers shall be kept as will be of assistance to the public, and shall include essentially the same data as is contained in the indices.

(g) No marginal entry or entries shall be required to be made by said clerks on indices previously completed.

Standards for Microfilm Records

Sec. 5. Should a Public Records Commission of Texas be authorized by law, all microfilming shall be done in accordance with reasonable rules and regulations, and under the general supervision, of said Commission; otherwise the county clerk shall establish the reasonable rules and regulations and have complete control of the microfilming in the county clerk's office in accordance with the following:

(a) Each original negative roll, and each original negative discrete image, of microfilmed records shall meet all of the requirements for archival quality, for density, for resolution and for definition, of the Public Records Commission of Texas, if there be one, otherwise of the United States Bureau of Standards.

(b) For each roll, or part of a roll, of microfilm to be an official original record, the first image on the roll, or part of a roll, shall be of a Title Page showing the name of the Official Record, the starting identification number, the date, and a certificate of the county clerk signed by the camera operator; and the last image on the roll, or part of a roll, shall be of a Certificate of Legality and Authenticity certifying that "the microfilming of the images between the Title Page and the Certificate of Legality and Authenticity has been in strict accordance with Article 1941(a), Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes, and that each image is a true, correct, and exact copy of the page or pages of the identified instrument of writing, legal document, paper, or record which had been filed for record on the date and at the time stamped on each; that no splice was made in the original negative film between the Title Page and this Certificate"; followed by the name of the Official Record, the starting image identification number of the Title Page and the ending image identification number of the Certificate of Legality and Authenticity, the date microfilmed and the certificate of the county clerk signed by the camera operator, if the camera operator is a deputy county clerk, or otherwise signed by the county clerk in person.

(c) For each separate and individual image of a discrete group of discrete images of a microfilm record to be an official original record, the first image of the discrete group shall be of a Title Page showing the name of the Official Record, the starting identification number, the date, and a certificate of the county clerk signed by the camera operator; and the last image of the discrete group shall be of a Certificate of Legality and Authenticity certifying "that the discrete numbered microfilm images between the Title Page and the Certificate of Legality and Authenticity have been made in strict accordance with Article 1941(a), Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes, and that each image is a true, correct, and exact copy of the page or pages of the identified instrument of writing, legal document, paper, or record which had been filed for record on the date and at the time stamped on each; that no microfilm image or images were substituted for any original discrete microfilm image or images between the Title Page and this Certificate"; followed by the name of the Official Record the starting image identification number of the Title Page and the ending image identification number of the Certificate of Legality and Authenticity, the date microfilmed and the certificate of the county clerk signed by the camera operator, if the camera operator is a deputy county clerk, or otherwise signed by the county clerk in person.

(d) At least one additional negative copy of each roll, or part of a roll, or of each discrete image of a group of discrete images, of the original negative microfilm shall be made. The original negative of each roll, or part of a roll, or of each discrete image of a group of discrete images, of microfilm shall be the security record and, in the absence of other statutory provisions, shall be stored in a fireproof and burglarproof safe or locker outside of, and at a distance from, the courthouse. One negative copy of each roll, or part of a roll, or of each discrete image of a group of discrete images, of microfilm shall be used for making positive film prints and for no other purpose. Either negative copies or positive copies of film shall be used on projection devices or readers.

(e) All original negative microfilm now in an office of a county clerk and which negative microfilm is of archival quality, or which is made into negative film of archival quality, and which has thereon the certificates of the county clerk is hereby designated original records for all purposes and shall be so accepted by all courts and administrative agencies of this State.

(f) Each image on each roll, or each discrete image of a group of discrete images, of microfilm shall be of such a size that its image can be projected with clear legibility and without distortion onto a view screen or view glass with such projected image being as large as, or larger than, the original instrument of writing, legal document, paper or record from which it was made.

(g) Each image on a microfilm record shall be identified by a number by which it can be located quickly and easily, and which number shall be used in indexing such image.

(h) Cameras used for microfilming shall meet or exceed the then current standards of the United States Bureau of Standards for the documentation of permanent records.

(i) Suitable means shall be furnished for the public to quickly and easily locate and project onto a viewing screen or viewing glass the complete image of a desired record. Such projected image shall be as large as, or larger than, the instrument of writing, legal document, paper or record of which it is an image.

Checking and Proving Microfilm Records; Return of Original Instruments; Disposition of Printed Records

Sec. 6. (a) Each county clerk and county recorder and clerk of county courts, whenever the original paper record is not retained in the files of the county clerk, shall inspect and check each filmed image on each roll of microfilm, or each filmed image of the discrete group of filmed images against the original instrument of writing, legal document, paper or record for accuracy and clarity. A county clerk may reproduce from microfilm onto paper records each filmed image on each roll of microfilm, or each filmed image of the discrete group of filmed images, for the purpose of inspecting and checking each filmed image for accuracy and clarity. Should a microfilm image be defective in any respect, the original instrument of writing, legal document, paper or record, from which said defective filmed image was made, shall be remicrofilmed on a subsequent roll of microfilm, or on a subsequent discrete image or images of a subsequent discrete group of individual images, to obtain acceptable images on microfilm. A record need not be reproduced if it is transferred to the custody of the state librarian pursuant to state law.

(b) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary provided by any other statute or statutes, when an instrument of writing, legal document, paper, or record has been microfilmed and said microfilm has been proven satisfactory by inspecting and checking as provided herein, said clerk is hereby authorized to, and shall, return each such instrument of writing, legal document, paper or record, excepting those involved in or relating to court matters and proceedings, to the party or parties who filed it.

(c) Original instruments of writing, original legal documents, original papers and original records, which have been filed relating to court matters and proceedings and which have been recorded on microfilm records, shall be retained in the files of the docket to which they relate until a written order of the court closes such docket, after which all of the records in such docket shall be microfilmed in time sequence to provide all of such records of a docket in an unbroken continuous sequence on one roll of microfilm, or in an unbroken continuous sequence of discrete images in a group of discrete images.

(d) Upon the certificate of a county clerk of a county to the Commissioners Court of the county that the original negative microfilm of a designated microfilm record fully meets the requirements of the Bureau of Standards of the United States Government for archival quality, for density, for resolution and for definition of said original negative microfilm and, further, that microfilm film prints from said negative have been satisfactorily used by the public for five years, or more, said Commissioners Court may authorize by order of said court the disposal of the original paper records from which said microfilm records were made.

Art. 1946. Report Fines and Jury Fees

On the last day of each term of the county court, the clerk shall make a written statement showing all moneys received by him for jury fees and fines since his last statement, with the names of the parties from whom received; and the name of each juror who has served at such term; the number of days he served, and the amount due him for such service. Such statement shall be examined and corrected by the presiding judge, and be approved and signed by him. When so approved and signed it shall be recorded in the minutes of the court.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1947. Jury Fees and Fines

The clerk shall pay to the county treasurer all jury fees and fines received by him to the use of the county.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1948. Shall Use Seal

Where in any county a joint clerk shall have been elected, he shall, in performing the duties of county clerk, use the seal of said court to authenticate his official acts as such clerk.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

The county court shall also have jurisdiction in cases brought up from the justice courts by certiorari.

Art. 1954. Motions Against Officers

The county court may hear and determine all motions against sheriffs and other officers of the court for failure to pay over moneys collected under the process of said court, or other defalcation of duty in connection with such process.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1955. Repealed by Acts 1971, 62nd Leg., p. 2536, ch. 831, § 6, eff. Aug. 30, 1971

See, now, article 1911a.

Art. 1956. Law and Equity Powers

Subject to the limitation stated in this chapter, the county court is authorized to hear and determine any cause which is cognizable by courts, either of law or equity, and to grant any relief which could be granted by said courts, or either of them.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1957. To Grant Remedial Writs

The county judge, either in term time or vacation, may grant writs of mandamus, injunction, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari and supersedeas, and all other writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of the court.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1958. Appointing Attorneys

The county judge may appoint counsel to attend to the cause of any party who makes affidavit that he is too poor to employ counsel to attend to the same.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1959. Additional Authority

The county court and the county judge shall also have such authority as may be vested in them by law.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1960. Changed Jurisdiction; Eminent Domain

Where the jurisdiction of a county court has been taken away, altered or changed by existing laws, the jurisdiction shall remain as established, until otherwise provided by law. The county courts shall have no jurisdiction in eminent domain cases.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84. Amended by Acts 1971, 62nd Leg., p. 2537, ch. 832, § 7, eff. June 9, 1971.]

Art. 1960-1. County Court; Exclusive Jurisdiction of Misdemeanors, Except, etc.

The county courts shall have exclusive original jurisdiction of all misdemeanors, except misdemeanors involving official misconduct, and except cases in which the highest penalty or fine that may be imposed under the law may not exceed two hundred dollars, and except in counties where there is established a criminal district court.

[1925 C.C.P.]

Saved from repeal, see Code of Criminal Procedure of 1965, art. 54.02.

Art. 1960-2. Power to Forfeit Bail Bonds

County courts shall have jurisdiction in the forfeiture and final judgment of all bonds and recognizances taken in criminal cases, of which criminal cases said courts have jurisdiction.

[1925 C.C.P.]

Saved from repeal, see Code of Criminal Procedure of 1965, art. 54.02.

Art. 1960-3. Power to Issue Writs of Habeas Corpus

The county courts, or judges thereof, shall have the power to issue writs of habeas corpus in all cases in which the constitution has not conferred the power on the district courts or judges thereof; and, upon the return of such writ, may remand to custody, admit to bail or discharge the person imprisoned or detained, as the law and nature of the case may require.

[1925 C.C.P.]

Saved from repeal, see Code of Criminal Procedure of 1965, art. 54.02.

Art. 1960-4. Appellate Jurisdiction

The county courts shall have appellate jurisdiction in criminal cases of which justices of the peace and other inferior tribunals have original jurisdiction.

[1925 C.C.P.]

Saved from repeal, see Code of Criminal Procedure of 1965, art. 54.02.

CHAPTER FOUR. TERMS OF COURTArt.

1961. Terms of Court.

1962. Other Terms.

1963. Probate Business.

1964. Judge Failing to Appear.

Art. 1961. Terms of Court

The County Court shall hold at least four terms for both Civil and Criminal business annually, and such other terms each year as may be fixed by the Commissioners' Court. After having fixed the times and number of the terms of a County Court, they shall not change the same until the expiration of one year. Until, or unless otherwise provided, the term of the County Court shall be held on the first Monday in February, May, August and November, and may remain in session three weeks; provided said court shall be open at all times for the transaction of probate business.

Art. 1962. Other Terms

The commissioners court may, at a regular term thereof, by an order entered upon its records, provide for more terms of the county court for the transaction of civil, criminal and probate business, and fix the times at which each of the four terms required by the Constitution, and the terms exceeding four, if any, shall be held, not to exceed six annually, and may fix the length of each term. When the number of the terms of the county court has been fixed, the court shall not change the order before one year from the date of entry of the original order fixing such terms.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1963. Probate Business

Said court shall dispose of probate business either in term time or vacation under such regulations as may be prescribed by law.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1964. Judge Failing to Appear

If the county judge fails to appear at the time appointed for holding his court and no election of a special judge is had, the sheriff of the county, or, in his default, any constable of the county, shall adjourn the court from day to day for three days. If the judge should not appear on the fourth day and no special judge is elected, the sheriff or constable as the case may be, shall adjourn the court until the next regular term thereof.

JURISDICTION OF PROBATE COURTS

Art. 1970a-1. Probate Courts Specially Created; Jurisdiction as to Mentally Ill, Mentally Retarded and Persons Afflicted with Tuberculosis.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

Art. 1965. Minutes

The Minutes of the proceedings of each preceding day of the session shall be read in open court on the morning of the succeeding day, except on the last day of the session, on which day they shall be read, and if necessary be corrected, and signed in open Court by the County Judge. Each Special Judge shall sign the Minutes of such proceedings as were had before him; provided the Probate Minutes of said Court shall be approved and signed by the presiding Judge on the first day of each month, except, however, that if the first day of the month falls on a Sunday, then such approval shall be entered on the preceding day.

Art. 1966. Seal of the Court

Each county court shall be provided with a seal, having engraved thereon a star of five points in the center, and the words, "County Court of County, Texas," the impress of which shall be attached to all process, except subpoenas, issued out of such court, and shall be used to authenticate the official acts of the clerk and of the county judge.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1967. Repealed by Acts 1929, 41st Leg., 1st C.S., p. 107, ch. 48, § 4

Art. 1968. When Case is Transferred

Whenever a cause shall be transferred from the county court to the district court, the clerk shall immediately make out a transcript of all the proceedings had in said cause in the county court, and shall transmit the same, duly certified as such, together with a bill of the costs which have accrued in said court, and all the original papers in the cause, to the clerk of the district court.

Art. 1969. Jurisdiction Taken Away

Each clerk of the county court where the civil and criminal jurisdiction, or either, of the county courts has been transferred to the district court, shall make out a certified copy of all judgments remaining unsatisfied, which have been rendered in civil or criminal cases in the county court, and transmit the same to the clerk of the district court of their respective counties.

Art. 1969a-1. Exchange of Judges in County Courts at Law and County Criminal Courts in Counties of Over 300,000 Population

In any county in this State having a population in excess of three hundred thousand (300,000), according to the last preceding Federal Census, and in which there may be now, or at any future time, one or more county courts at law and one or more county criminal courts, the judges of such county criminal courts and such county courts at law may hold court for or with one another; to the extent necessary to enable the judge of any such county criminal court to hold court for or with the judge of any such county court at law, the same civil jurisdiction is hereby conferred on such county criminal court as now exists or may hereafter be conferred upon the county courts at law under the Constitution and laws of this State.

Art. 1969a-2. Judges of County Courts at Law Authorized to Act for County Judge

Sec. 1. The Judge of any County Court at Law in any county having a population of less than seven hundred thousand (700,000) inhabitants, according to the last preceding or any future Federal Census, may act for the County Judge of the county in any juvenile, lunacy, probate and condemnation proceeding or matter and also may perform for the County Judge any and all other ministerial acts required by the laws of this State of the County Judge, during the absence, inability or failure of the County Judge for any reason to perform such duties; and any and all such acts thus performed by the Judge of the County Court at Law, while acting for the County Judge, shall be valid and binding upon all parties to such proceedings or matters the same as if performed by the County Judge. Provided that the powers thus given the Judges of the County Courts at Law of this State shall extend to and include all powers of the County Judge except his powers and duties in connection with the transaction of the business of the County, as presiding officer of the Commissioners Court and as the budget officer for the Commissioners Court.

Sec. 2. The absence, inability or failure of the County Judge to perform any of the duties hereinabove set forth shall be certified by the County Judge or the Commissioners Court to the Judge of any such County Court at Law, and when such certification is for the purpose of conferring powers to do some judicial act, such certificate shall be spread upon the minutes of the appropriate Court.

Sec. 3. Notwithstanding the additional powers and duties conferred upon the Judges of the County Courts at Law of this State no additional compensation or salary shall be paid to them, but the compensation or salary of such Judges of the County Courts at Law shall remain the same as now, or as may be hereafter fixed by law.

Sec. 4. It is not intended by this Act to repeal any law providing for the election and/or appointment of a special County Judge, but this Act shall be cumulative of, and in addition to such law or laws.

Sec. 5. If any part, section, subsection, paragraph, sentence, clause, phrase or word of this Act shall be held by the Courts to be unconstitutional or invalid, such holding shall not in any manner affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Act.

Art. 1969a-3. County Judges, Acting for Judge of County Court at Law

Sec. 1. The County Judge of any county in this State having a population of five hundred thousand (500,000) inhabitants or more, according to the last preceding or any future Federal Census, if such County Judge is a duly licensed attorney at law, may act for the judge of any County Court at Law of such counties in any case, civil or criminal, and also in any matter and proceeding of which such County Court at Law may now or hereafter have jurisdiction, during the absence or inability of the Judge of the County Court at Law to perform such duties.

Sec. 2. The absence or inability of the Judge of the County Court at Law to perform any of the duties set forth in Section 1 shall be certified by the Judge of the County Court at Law or the Commissioners Court to the County Judge and when such certification is for the purpose of conferring powers to perform some judicial act, such certificate shall be spread on the minutes of the appropriate court.

Sec. 3. That any act performed pursuant to this Act by the County Judge for the Judge of the County Court at Law shall be valid and binding upon all parties to such proceeding and matters the same as if performed by the Judge of the County Court at Law.

Sec. 4. Notwithstanding the additional duties herein conferred upon the County Judge, he shall not be entitled to, nor shall he receive, any additional compensation for performing such additional duties and services and his compensation shall remain the same as now or may hereafter be set by law.

Sec. 5. It is not intended by this Act to repeal any law providing for the election or appointment of a special judge of any County Court at Law, and this Act shall be cumulative of and in addition to such law.

Section 6 of Acts 1955, 54th Leg., p. 520, ch. 156 was a separability clause.

Art. 1969b. Assignment of Judges of Statutory Probate Courts

Application

Sec. 1. This Act applies to the assignment of a judge of a statutory probate court.

Definition

Sec. 2. "Statutory probate court" has the meaning given that term by Section 3, Texas Probate Code.

Presiding Judge of Statutory Probate Courts

Sec. 3. The judges of the statutory probate courts shall elect from their number a presiding judge of the statutory probate courts.

Term

Sec. 4. The presiding judge serves for a term of four years from the date of qualification as the presiding judge.

Facilities

Sec. 5. The commissioners court of the county in which the presiding judge resides shall provide adequate quarters in the county courthouse for the operations of the presiding judge and for the preservation of records related to the presiding judge's office.

Assistant Presiding Judge

Sec. 6. The presiding judge shall appoint an assistant presiding judge of statutory probate courts. The assistant presiding judge may assign probate judges as provided by this Act and perform the duties of the office of presiding judge:

(1) on the death or resignation of the residing judge and until a successor presiding judge is elected;

(2) when the presiding judge is unable to perform the duties of the office for a period of time because of absence, disabling illness, or other incapacity; and

(3) in a particular matter if the presiding judge disqualifies himself from performing the duties of presiding judge in that matter.

Assignment of Judges

Sec. 7. Judges may be assigned in the manner provided by this Act to hold court in a constitutional county court, statutory probate court, county court at law exercising probate jurisdiction, or any statutory court exercising probate jurisdiction when:

(1) the regular judge requests assignment of another judge to his court;

(2) the regular judge is absent or is disabled or disqualified for any cause;

(3) the regular judge is present or is trying cases as authorized by the constitution and laws of this state; or

(4) the office of the regular judge is vacant by reason of death, resignation, or other cause.

Judges Subject to Assignment

Sec. 8. A judge or retired judge of a statutory probate court may be assigned as provided by this Act by the presiding judge.

Meetings

Sec. 9. (a) The presiding judge shall call and preside over an annual meeting of the judges of the statutory probate courts on a date and at a time and place in this state designated by the presiding judge.

(b) The presiding judge of the statutory probate courts may call and convene additional meetings of the judges of the statutory probate courts that he considers necessary for the promotion of the orderly and efficient administration of justice.

(c) At the meeting, the judges shall:

(1) study the statistics reflecting the condition of the dockets of the probate courts of the state to determine the need for the assignment of judges under this Act; and

(2) compare the local rules of court to achieve the uniformity of rules that is practical and consistent with local conditions.

(d) The expenses of a judge attending these meetings shall be paid as provided by Section 13 of this Act.

Jurisdiction, Powers, and Duties of Assigned Judge

Sec. 10. A judge assigned as provided by this Act has the jurisdiction, powers, and duties given by Sections 5 and 5A, Texas Probate Code, to the regular judge of the court to which he is assigned.

Compensation and Expenses

Sec. 11. (a) Except as provided by this Act, the salary, compensation, and expenses of a judge while assigned under this Act shall be paid in accordance with state law.

(b) The daily compensation of a retired judge for purposes of this Act shall be set at an amount equal to $\frac{1}{365}$ th of the annual salary of a judge of a statutory probate court in the county in which the assigned judge served immediately preceding his retirement.

(c) While assigned under this Act, a judge shall receive reasonable and necessary expenses for travel, lodging, and food. The assigned judge shall furnish the presiding judge, for certification, an accounting of those expenses with a statement of the number of days the judge served.

(d) The presiding judge shall certify to the county judge in the county in which the assigned judge served:

(1) the actual expenses approved under Subsection (c) of this Act; and

(2) a determination of the assigned judge's salary.

(e) The county in which the assigned judge served shall pay out of the general fund of the county:

(1) actual expenses certified under Subsection (c) of this Act to the assigned judge; and

(2) the salary certified under Subsection (c) of this Act to the county in which the assigned judge serves, or if the assigned judge is retired, to the assigned judge.

Per Diem

Sec. 12. In addition to all compensation and expenses authorized by this Act and other law, a judge who is assigned to a court outside the county of the judge's residence is entitled to receive $25 for each day or fraction of a day served. The county in which the judge served shall pay the compensation from the general fund of the county on certification of the presiding judge of the statutory probate courts.

Expenses at Meetings

Sec. 13. When required to attend an annual or special meeting prescribed by this Act, a judge, in addition to all other compensation allowed by law, shall receive his actual and necessary travel expenses going to and returning from the place of the meeting and his actual and necessary expenses while attending the meeting. On certification by the presiding judge, the judge's county of residence shall pay the expenses from the general fund of the county.

Effective Date

Sec. 14. This Act becomes effective only if a constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to enact laws providing for assignment of judges of statutory courts to other statutory county courts with probate jurisdiction and to county courts is proposed by the 68th Legislature and adopted by the voters. This Act is effective on the date the amendment becomes a part of the Texas Constitution.

Acts 1983, 68th Leg., p. 6719, H.J.R. No. 70, proposing the addition of Const. Art. 5, § 16a, which authorized the legislature to provide by law for a system for judges of statutory probate courts with probate jurisdiction to hold court in any county for any other statutory court judge with probate jurisdiction or for a judge of constitutional county court was approved by the voters at an election held November 8, 1983.

Art. 1970. County Courts at Law

All county courts at law and all similar courts by whatever name known, which now exist, shall be continued in force, together with their organization, jurisdiction, duties, powers, procedure and emoluments that now exist by law, until otherwise changed by law.

Art. 1970a. Amount in Controversy

All county courts at law, county civil courts, and other statutory courts exercising civil jurisdiction corresponding to the constitutional jurisdiction of the county court in civil cases shall have jurisdiction concurrent with that of the district court when the matter in controversy shall exceed in value Five Hundred Dollars ($500) and shall not exceed Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) exclusive of interest.

ACTS CREATING COUNTY COURTS AT LAW AND SIMILAR COURTS, AND AFFECTING PARTICULAR COUNTY COURTS, AND DECISIONS THEREUNDER

DALLAS COUNTY

Art. 1970-1. Creation

There is hereby created a court to be held in Dallas county, to be called the "County Court of Dallas County, at Law."¹

¹Name of County Court of Dallas County at Law changed to "County Court of Dallas County, at Law No. 1," see art. 1970-2.

Art. 1970-2. Name of County Court of Dallas County at Law Changed

The County Court of Dallas County at Law shall hereafter be known and designated as the County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 1. The judge and all officers of the County Court of Dallas County at Law shall continue as such respective officers of the County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 1, and all of the jurisdiction and powers of the County Court of Dallas County at Law and of the judges thereof, shall be preserved and continued as the County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 1. No change in the organization of the County Court of Dallas County at Law is effected hereby except the change of name, nor shall this section in any way effect¹ any case pending in said court. All process issued out of the County Court of Dallas County at Law before this Act takes effect, and all bonds executed and recognizances entered of record in said court shall bind the parties for their appearance or to fulfil the obligation of such bonds and recognizances in the County Court of Dallas County at Law and the acts of the judge thereof, shall be as valid and binding as before this Act takes effect, and remain unaffected thereby. All pleadings, process, writs, bonds and recognizances in the County Court of Dallas County at Law may be amended at any time under the direction of the judge, to conform to this change in name.

¹So in enrolled bill. Should probably read "affect".

Art. 1970-3. Jurisdiction of Said Court

The County Court of Dallas County at Law¹ shall have original and concurrent jurisdiction with the County Court of Dallas County in all matters and causes, civil and criminal, original and appellate, over which, by the general laws of the State, county courts have jurisdiction, except as provided in Section 3 of this Act;² but this provision shall not affect jurisdiction of the commissioners court, or of the county judge of Dallas county as the presiding officer of such commissioners court, as to roads, bridges, and public highways, and matters of eminent domain which are now within the jurisdiction of the commissioners court or the judge thereof.

²Article 1970-4.

Art. 1970-4. Jurisdiction Retained by County Court of Dallas County

The County Court of Dallas County shall retain, as heretofore, the general jurisdiction of a probate court; it shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of executors, administrators and guardians; transact all business appertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, including the settlement, partition and distribution of estates of deceased persons; and to apprentice minors as provided by law; and the said court, or the judge thereof, shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of said court; and also to punish contempts under such provisions as are or may be provided by general law governing county courts throughout the State. The county judge of Dallas county shall be the judge of the County Court of Dallas County. All ex officio duties of the county judge shall be exercised by the said judge of the County Court of Dallas County except in so far as the same shall, by this Act, be committed to the judge of the County Court of Dallas County, at Law.¹

Art. 1970-13. Fees and Salary of Judge

The judge of the county court of Dallas county, at law,¹ shall collect the same fees as are now established by law relating to county judges, all of which shall be by him paid monthly into the county treasury, and he shall receive an annual salary of three thousand dollars per annum,² payable monthly, to be paid out of the county treasury by the commissioners' court.

² Now $5,000. See article 1970-31. See, also, article 1970-30, relative to fees.

Art. 1970-14. Salary of County Judge of Dallas County

The county judge of Dallas county shall hereafter receive from the county treasury, in addition to the fees allowed him by law, such a salary, for the ex-officio duties of his office, as may be allowed him by the commissioners' court, not less than twelve hundred dollars per year.

[Acts 1907, p. 115, § 13.]

Art. 1970-15. County Court of Dallas County, at Law, No. 2, Created

There is hereby created a court to be held in Dallas county, Texas, to be known and designated as the "County Court of Dallas County, at Law, No. 2."

Art. 1970-16. Jurisdiction

The County Court of Dallas County at Law, No. 2, shall have exclusive concurrent civil and criminal jurisdiction of all cases, original and appellate, over which by the laws of the State of Texas, the existing County Court of Dallas County at Law,¹ of Dallas county, Texas, would have original and appellate jurisdiction; provided all civil and criminal cases appealed from the several justice's courts of Dallas county shall be by the county clerk, filed in the County Court of Dallas County, at Law, and the County Court of Dallas County, at Law, No. 2, alternately as said appealed cases are received by said clerk from the several justices of the peace in said county, except in cases wherein the judge of either of said courts, at law, has granted the writ of certiorari, in which case the same shall be docketed in the court so granting said writ, and shall not be transferred from said court.

Art. 1970-17. Courts How Designated; Transfer of Cases

The County Court of Dallas County at Law¹ shall be known and designated as the "A" Court and the County Court of Dallas County at Law, No. 2, shall be known and designated as the "B" Court. The county clerk shall number consecutively all cases filed in said courts, affixing immediately following the number of all cases falling in the County Court of Dallas County, at Law, the letter "A," and immediately following the number of all cases falling in the County Court of Dallas County, at Law, No. 2, the letter "B," and he shall make up the trial docket of each of said courts with respect to said numbers. The judge of either of said courts shall have the power to transfer to the other court any case pending upon the docket of his court, except in cases where the writ of certiorari has been granted; provided there shall never be transferred from the docket of one of said courts to that of the other a sufficient number of cases to reduce the number of cases on the docket of the court from which said case was transferred to a less number than the number of cases pending upon the docket of the court to which the same is transferred, without the consent of the judge to which said case is transferred. It shall be the duty of the judge to whose court said case is transferred to receive and try the case, and he shall not have the power to retransfer the same back to the court from which it came except he be disqualified to try the same, in which case it shall be his duty to retransfer the said case.

Art. 1970-18. Jurisdiction of Other County Courts

Nothing in this Act shall be construed as in anywise altering or changing the present jurisdiction provided by law of the County Court of Dallas County, at Law,¹ nor of the County Court of Dallas County, except that the jurisdiction of the County Court of Dallas County at Law, is hereby made concurrent with the jurisdiction of the County Court of Dallas County, at Law, No. 2, as relates to the civil and criminal jurisdiction of said County Court of Dallas County at Law, as prescribed by the laws of the State of Texas.

Art. 1970-19. Power to Issue Writs

The said County Court of Dallas County, at Law, No. 2, or the judge thereof, shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all other writs and process necessary to the enforcement of its jurisdiction; and also power to punish for contempts under such provisions as are or may be provided by the general laws governing county courts throughout the State.

Art. 1970-20. Terms of Court

The terms¹ of the County Court of Dallas County, at Law, No. 2, and the practice therein and appeals and writs of error therefrom, shall be as prescribed by the law relating to the county courts. The terms¹ of the County Court of Dallas County, at Law, No. 2, shall be held five times each year on the second Monday in January, March, May, September and November, and each term of said court shall extend over a period of two months; provided, further there shall be a term of said court convened by the judge thereof not later than two weeks after he has qualified as such, as provided by law, and such term when so convened, shall continue until the beginning of the ensuing term, as provided herein.

Art. 1970-21. Judge; Qualifications; Salary

There shall be elected in said county by the duly qualified voters thereof at each general election a judge of the County Court of Dallas County, at Law, No. 2, who shall be a licensed attorney in this State, well informed in the laws of the State, who shall have resided in, and been actively engaged in the practice of law in Dallas county for a period of not less than four years prior to such general election, who shall hold his office for two years and until his successor shall be duly qualified. The judge of said court shall receive a salary of three thousand ($3,000.00) dollars per annum,¹ payable monthly out of the county treasury by the commissioners' court.

¹ Now $5,000. See article 1970-31.

Art. 1970-22. Special Judge

A special judge of the County Court of Dallas County, at Law, No. 2, may be appointed or elected as provided for by the laws relating to county courts and the judges thereof.

[Acts 1917, ch. 101, § 8.]

Art. 1970-23. Jurors

The jurisdiction and authority now vested by law in the county court for the appointment of jury commissioners and the selection and service of jurors shall be exercised by the County Court of Dallas County, at Law, No. 2.

[Acts 1917, ch. 101, § 9.]

Art. 1970-24. Vacancy

Any vacancy in the office of the County Court of Dallas County, at Law, No. 2, shall be filled by the commissioners' court of Dallas county until the next regular election.

Art. 1970-25. Transfer of Cases

It shall be the duty of the judge of the County Court of Dallas County, at Law,¹ to immediately transfer from the docket of the County Court of Dallas County, at Law, to the docket of the County Court of Dallas County, at Law, No. 2, one-half of the civil cases pending upon said docket, which shall be done by beginning with the oldest case pending upon the docket of his court and transferring every second case without reference to whether any particular case be pending upon the jury or non-jury docket of said court.

¹ Name changed to County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 1. See article 1970-2.

Art. 1970-26. Qualifications of Judges

The judge of the County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 1 and the judge of the County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 2, shall each be a licensed attorney, well informed in the law, who shall have resided in and been actively engaged in the practice of law in Dallas County, or been judge of a court therein, for a period of at least four years prior to the general election at which he is elected.

[Acts 1923, 38th Leg., ch. 24, § 2.]

Art. 1970-27. Holding Court For or With Other Judge

The judge of the County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 1, and the judge of the County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 2, may hold court for or with one another.

Art. 1970-28. Terms of Court

The terms of the County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 1, shall be held six times each year, on the first Monday in January, March, May, July, September and November and each term shall continue to the commencement of the following term. The terms of the County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 2, shall be held six times each year on the first Monday in February, April, June, August, October and December, and each term shall continue to the commencement of the following term.

Art. 1970-29. Current Term of County Court at Law No. 2; Effect of Change of Terms

The term of the County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 2, current at the time of the taking effect of this Act, shall continue until the commencement of the following term as fixed by this Act. All process issued out of said court before this Act takes effect is hereby made returnable to the terms of this court as fixed by this Act. All bonds heretofore executed and recognizances entered of record in said court shall bind the parties for their appearance or to fulfil the obligation of such bonds and recognizances at the terms of the said court as fixed by this Act. All process heretofore returned, as well as all bonds, and recognizances heretofore taken in this court, and all judgments, writs and decrees thereof, shall be as valid as if no change had been made in the time of the holdings of this court.

Art. 1970-30. Oath of Office; Bond; Fees

The judge of the County Court of Dallas¹ at Law No. 1, and the judge of the County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 2, shall each take the oath of office prescribed by the law relating to county judges, but no bond shall be required of them. They shall be enabled to collect the same fees as are stipulated by law relating to county judges, all of which shall be collected by the county clerk of Dallas County, paid by him monthly into the county treasury of Dallas County, in accordance with the orders of the commissioners' court.

¹ So in enrolled bill. Word "County" should probably be inserted.

Art. 1970-31. Salaries of Judges of County Courts at Law

The Judge of the County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 1 and the Judge of the County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 2 shall each receive a salary of Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000.00) per annum, payable monthly, out of the Treasury of Dallas County, under the orders of the Commissioners' Court and said Judges shall devote their entire time to the duties of their offices, and shall not engage in the practice of law while in office.

[Acts 1923, 38th Leg., ch. 176, § 1. Amended by Acts 1929, 41st leg., 1st C.S., p. 60, ch. 26, § 1.]

Art. 1970-31.1. County Courts of Dallas County at Law Nos. 3 and 4

Sec. 1. There are hereby created two (2) County Courts to be held in Dallas County, Texas, to be known as and designated as "County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 3" and "County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 4," and the seal of said Courts shall be the same as provided by law for County Courts except the seal shall contain the words "County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 3" and "County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 4."

Sec. 2. The Courts hereby created shall have exclusive, concurrent civil jurisdiction of all cases, original and appellate, over which by the laws of the State of Texas the existing County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 1 and County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 2 have original and appellate jurisdiction; in addition thereto, it is hereby specifically provided that the County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 1, the County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 2, the County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 3, and the County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 4 shall have concurrent and coextensive and equal jurisdiction over all civil, administrative and ministerial acts and over the filing and disposition of all proceedings in eminent domain matters; provided that the Judge of any County Court at Law of Dallas County may sit for the Judge of any other County Court at Law of Dallas County when such Judge is unavailable for the performing of any of the administrative acts in connection with eminent domain proceedings, but the performing of the same shall not transfer the cause or proceedings from the Court for which the act was performed; provided all civil cases appealed from the several Justice Courts of Dallas County shall be by the County Clerk filed in the several County Courts of Dallas County at Law consecutively as said appealed cases are received by said Clerk from the several Justices of the Peace in said County, except in cases wherein the Judge of either of said County Courts at Law has granted a writ of certiorari, in which case the same shall be docketed in the Court so granting said writ and shall not be transferred from said Court.

Sec. 3. The County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 3 shall be known and designated as the "C" Court and the County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 4 shall be known and designated as the "D" Court. The County Clerk shall number consecutively all cases filed in the County Courts of Dallas County at Law affixing immediately following the number of all cases the letter A, B, C or D, according to which County Court at Law of Dallas County said case is assigned, and each case so filed shall be filed in rotation in each of the County Courts of Dallas County at Law with the letter designation being used to denote the Court in which the case is filed. The Judge of either of said County Courts of Dallas County at Law shall have the power to transfer to any of the other of said Courts any case pending upon the docket of said Court except where a writ of certiorari has been granted; provided that such cases so transferred shall be for the purpose of equalizing the dockets of each of said County Courts of Dallas County at Law and each of the Judges of said Courts shall together at least once a year, transfer cases from one to the other in order to equalize said dockets.

Sec. 4. All of the County Courts of Dallas County at Law and the respective Judges thereof shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, super-sedeas and all other writs and processes necessary to the enforcement of their jurisdiction, and also power to punish for contempt under such provisions as are or may be provided by the General Laws governing county courts throughout the State.

Sec. 5. The terms of the County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 3 shall be held six (6) times each year on the first Monday in January, March, May, July, September and November, and each term shall continue until the business is disposed of. The terms of the County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 4 shall be held six (6) times each year on the first Monday in February, April, June, August, October and December, and each term shall continue until the business is disposed of.

Sec. 6. The Judge of the County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 3 and the Judge of the County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 4, shall be a licensed attorney in this State and informed in the laws of the State, who shall have resided in and actively engaged in the practice of law in Dallas County for a period of not less than four (4) years prior to the general election, and such Judge shall hold his office for four (4) years and until his successor shall be duly qualified. The Judges of said Courts shall receive the same salary now provided by law or hereafter provided by law to be paid to the Judges of other County Courts of Dallas County at Law. As soon as possible after the effective date of this Act, the Commissioners Court of Dallas County shall appoint a Judge to each of said Courts to function on the same date, who shall hold office until January 1st following the next general election or until his successor shall be duly qualified. The successor shall hold office for a period of four (4) years.

Sec. 7. It shall be the duty of the Judges of the County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 1 and the County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 2 to immediately transfer from their dockets one half (½) of the civil cases pending upon said dockets to the Courts hereby created, which shall be done by beginning with the oldest case pending upon the docket of said Courts and transferring every second case without reference to whether any particular case be pending upon the jury or nonjury docket of said Courts.

Sec. 8. In case of disqualification, an overcrowded docket, sickness or absence from the County of any of the Judges of the County Courts of Dallas County at Law Number 1, Number 2, Number 3 or Number 4, any other Judge of said Courts may exchange benches with said Judge, and when so exchanging benches with any of the other Judges of the County Courts at Law shall have all of the power and jurisdiction of the Court and Judge for whom he is sitting while so exchanging benches, and may sign orders, judgments and decrees or other process of any kind as "Judge Presiding" when acting for such disqualified or absent Judge upon request, or in an emergency without request, or for any other good cause shown. This shall be in addition to the provisions hereinabove made for performing administrative matters for each other.

Sec. 9. Except as herein otherwise provided, all laws applicable to County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 1 and County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 2 shall be applicable to County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 3 and County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 4. [Acts 1963, 58th Leg., p. 720, ch. 263.]

Art. 1970-31.2. County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 5

Sec. 1. On January 1, 1979, there is created a county court to be held in Dallas County to be known as "County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 5." The seal of the court shall be the same as provided by law for county courts, except the seal shall contain the words "County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 5."

Sec. 2. The court hereby created shall have exclusive, concurrent civil jurisdiction of all cases, original and appellate, over which by the laws of the State of Texas the existing County Courts of Dallas County at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4 have original and appellate jurisdiction. In addition thereto, it is specifically provided that the County Courts of Dallas County at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 shall have concurrent and coextensive and equal jurisdiction over all civil, administrative, and ministerial acts and over the filing and disposition of all proceedings in eminent domain matters. The judge of any county court at law of Dallas County may sit for the judge of any other county court at law of Dallas County when such judge is unavailable for the performing of any of the administrative acts in connection with eminent domain proceedings, but the performing of the same shall not transfer the cause or proceedings from the court for which the act was performed. All civil cases appealed from the several justice courts of Dallas County shall be filed by the county clerk in the several county courts of Dallas County at law consecutively as the appeal cases are received by the clerk from the several justices of the peace in the county, except in cases wherein the judge of any one of the county courts at law has granted a writ of certiorari, in which case the same shall be docketed in the court so granting the writ and shall not be transferred from that court.

Sec. 3. The County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 5 shall be known as the "E" Court. The county clerk shall number consecutively all cases filed in the county courts of Dallas County at law affixing immediately following the number of all cases the letter A, B, C, D, or E, according to which county court of Dallas County at law the case is assigned, and each case so filed shall be filed in rotation in each of the county courts of Dallas County at law with the letter designation being used to denote the court in which the case is filed. The judge of any one of the county courts of Dallas County at law shall have the power to transfer to any of the other of those courts any case pending on the docket of the court, except where a writ of certiorari has been granted, provided that the cases so transferred shall be for the purpose of equalizing the dockets of each of the county courts of Dallas County at law. Each of the judges of those courts shall together at least once a year transfer cases from one to another in order to equalize the dockets.

Sec. 4. All of the county courts of Dallas County at law and the respective judges thereof shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, and supersedeas and all other writs and processes necessary to the enforcement of their jurisdiction, and also power to punish for contempt under such provisions as are or may be provided by the general laws governing county courts throughout the state.

Sec. 5. The terms of the County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 5 shall be held six times each year on the first Monday in January, March, May, July, September, and November, and each term shall continue until the business is disposed of.

Sec. 6. (a) The judge of the County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 5 shall be a licensed attorney in this state, informed in the laws of the state, and shall have resided in and shall have been actively engaged in the practice of law in Dallas County for a period of not less than four years prior to his election or appointment. The commissioners court shall fix the salary of each of the judges of the county courts of Dallas County at law at not less than $1,000 less per annum than the total annual salary, including supplements, received by judges of the district courts in Dallas County, which shall be paid in 12 equal monthly installments.

(b) At the general election in 1978 and every fourth year thereafter, there shall be elected by the qualified voters of Dallas County a judge of the court created in this Act for regular terms of four years beginning on January 1, 1979, as provided in Article V, Section 30, and Article XVI, Section 65, of the Texas Constitution.

(c) A vacancy in the office of judge shall be filled by appointment by the Commissioners Court of Dallas County, and the appointee shall hold office until the next general election and until his successor is duly elected and has qualified.

Sec. 7. After this court is created, it shall be the duty of the judges of the county courts of Dallas County at law to transfer immediately from their dockets a portion of the civil cases pending on their dockets to the court hereby created, which shall be done by beginning with the oldest case pending on the docket of each court and transferring cases without reference to whether any particular case is pending on the jury or nonjury docket of that court.

Sec. 8. In case of disqualification, an overcrowded docket, sickness, or absence from the county of any of the judges of the County Courts of Dallas County at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5, any other judge of those courts may exchange benches with that judge, and, when exchanging benches with any of the other judges of the county courts at law, shall have all of the power and jurisdiction of the court and judge for whom he is sitting while exchanging benches and may sign orders, judgments, and decrees or other process of any kind as "Judge Presiding" when acting for a disqualified or absent judge on request, or in an emergency without request, or for any other good cause shown. This authority is in addition to the provisions hereinabove made for performing administrative matters for each other.

Sec. 9. Except as otherwise provided in this Act, all laws applicable to County Courts of Dallas County at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4 shall be applicable to County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 5.

Section 15 of article 1 of the 1973 Act read:

"If any provision of the Act is held unconstitutional or invalid, such invalidity shall not affect the remaining provisions of this Act. Except as otherwise provided in this Act all laws now in effect with respect to county criminal courts of Dallas County, Texas shall apply respectively to the court created by this Act."

Art. 1970-31.14. County Criminal Court No. 5 of Dallas County

Sec. 1. There is hereby created a court to be held in Dallas County, Texas, to be known and designated as "County Criminal Court Number Five of Dallas County, Texas."

Sec. 2. The County Criminal Court Number Five of Dallas County, Texas, shall have, and the same is hereby vested with concurrent jurisdiction within the said county of all criminal matters and causes, original and appellate that is now vested in the county courts having jurisdiction in civil and criminal cases under the Constitution and Laws of Texas, except as provided in Section 3 of this Act.

Sec. 3. The County Court of Dallas County, Texas, shall retain as heretofore its jurisdiction as a juvenile court and the general jurisdiction of a probate court; it shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and habitual drunkards, and grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of administrators, executors and guardians. The county judge of Dallas County shall be the judge of the County Court of Dallas County, Texas, and all ex officio duties of the county judge shall be exercised by the said judge of the said county court, except insofar as the same shall, by this Act, be committed to the judge of the County Criminal Court Number Five of Dallas County, Texas; and except such as have heretofore been conferred upon the judges of the county courts at law of Dallas County, Texas.

Sec. 4. The County Criminal Court Number Five of Dallas County, Texas, or the judge thereof shall have the power to issue writs of habeas corpus and grant injunctions for the enforcement of the penal laws, in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said court or any court or tribunal inferior to said court; and shall also have power to punish for contempt under such provisions as are now or may be provided by the general law governing county courts throughout the state.

Sec. 5. The terms of the County Criminal Court Number Five of Dallas County, Texas, and the practice therein and appeals therefrom shall be as prescribed by law relating to the county courts. The terms of said county criminal court number five shall be held not less than four times each year and the Commissioners Court of Dallas County, Texas, shall fix the time at which said court shall hold its terms, until the same may be changed according to law.

Sec. 6. As soon as may be after the passage of this Act, there shall be appointed by the Commissioners Court of Dallas County in accordance with the law, a judge of the county criminal court number five, hereby created, who shall be well informed in the laws of the state and who shall hold his office until the next succeeding general election and until his successor shall have duly qualified. The judge of said court elected at any general election shall hold office for four years and until his successor shall have duly qualified; provided, that no person shall be eligible for judge of said court unless he shall be a citizen of the United States and of this state, who shall have been a practicing lawyer of this state or a judge of a court in said state for four years next preceding his appointment or election, and who shall have resided in the county of Dallas for two years next preceding his appointment or election.

Sec. 7. The judge of the County Criminal Court Number Five of Dallas County, Texas, shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by the law relating to county judges.

Sec. 8. A special judge of the County Criminal Court Number Five of Dallas County, Texas, may be appointed or elected as provided by the laws relating to county courts and the judges thereof.

Sec. 9. The county clerk of Dallas County, Texas, shall be the clerk of the County Criminal Court Number Five of Dallas County, Texas; and the seal of said court shall be the same as provided for county courts, except that the seal shall contain the words "The County Criminal Court Number Five, Dallas County, Texas." The sheriff of Dallas County, Texas, shall, in person or by deputy, attend said court when required by the judge thereof. The Judge of the County Criminal Court Number Five of Dallas County shall have an administrative assistant to aid him in the performance of his duties. The salary of the administrative assistant shall be set by the Commissioners Court of Dallas County.

Sec. 10. The judge of the County Criminal Court Number Five of Dallas County, Texas, shall collect the same fee provided by law for county judges in similar cases, all of which shall be paid by him monthly into the county treasury, and the judge of said court shall receive a salary as fixed by the commissioners court, which shall be the same salary fixed by the commissioners court for the judges of the other county criminal courts of Dallas County, Texas, the same to be paid monthly out of the county treasury by the commissioners court; such judge shall devote his entire time to the duties of his office and shall not engage in the practice of the law while in office.

Sec. 11. The judge of the County Criminal Court Number Five of Dallas County, Texas, may be removed from office in the same manner, and for the same causes as any other county judge may be removed under the laws of this state.

Sec. 12. For the purpose of preserving a record in all cases for the information of the court, jury, and parties, the judge of the County Criminal Court Number Five of Dallas County, Texas, shall appoint an official shorthand reporter, who shall be well skilled in his profession, shall be a sworn officer of the court and who shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court; the provisions of the general laws of Texas relating to the appointment of stenographers for the district courts shall, and is hereby made to apply in all its provisions, insofar as they are applicable to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed and said reporter shall be entitled to the same fees and salary and shall perform the same duties and shall take the same oath as are in said laws provided for the stenographers of district courts of this state, and also be governed by any other laws covering the stenographers of the district courts of this state; provided, that the official shorthand reporter of said court shall not be required to take testimony in cases where neither party litigant nor the judge demands it; but where the testimony is taken by said reporter a fee of $3 shall be taxed by the clerk as costs in the case, the said $3, when collected, to be paid into the county treasury of Dallas County, Texas.

Sec. 13. As soon as may be after this Act takes effect, the clerk of the County Criminal Court of Dallas County, Texas, and the clerk of the County Criminal Court Number Two of Dallas County, Texas, and the clerk of the County Criminal Court Number Three of Dallas County, Texas may transfer to the docket of the County Criminal Court Number Five of Dallas County, Texas, hereby created, any of the criminal cases then pending in the County Criminal Court Number One of Dallas County, Texas, and the County Criminal Court Number Two of Dallas County, Texas, and the County Criminal Court Number Three of Dallas County, Texas, and thereafter the judge of either of said courts may in his discretion transfer any cause or causes that may at any time be pending in his court to the other courts by an order or orders entered in the minutes of his court, and the judge of the court to which such transfer or transfers are made shall dispose of said cause or causes in the same manner as if such cause or causes were originally instituted in said court.

Sec. 14. The judge of County Criminal Court of Dallas County, Texas, and the judge of County Criminal Court Number Two of Dallas County, Texas, and the judge of County Criminal Court Number Three of Dallas County, Texas, and the judge of County Criminal Court Number Four of Dallas County, Texas, and the judge of County Criminal Court Number Five of Dallas County, Texas, may, in their discretion, exchange benches and sit and hear cases in the court in which the case or proceeding is then pending, and try or otherwise dispose of same.

Section 15 of article 2 of the 1973 Act read:

"If any provision of the Act is held unconstitutional or invalid, such invalidity shall not affect the remaining provisions of this Act. Except as otherwise provided in this Act all laws now in effect with respect to county criminal courts of Dallas County, Texas shall apply respectively to the court created by this Act."

Art. 1970-31.15. County Criminal Courts Nos. 6 and 7 of Dallas County

Sec. 1. On September 1, 1977, there are created two courts to be held in Dallas County to be known and designated as the "County Criminal Court Number 6 of Dallas County, Texas," and the "County Criminal Court Number 7 of Dallas County, Texas."

Sec. 2. The County Criminal Courts Nos. 6 and 7 of Dallas County shall have and the same are vested with concurrent jurisdiction within the county of all criminal matters and causes, original and appellate, that is now vested in the county courts having jurisdiction in civil and criminal cases under the Constitution and laws of Texas, except as provided in Section 3 of this Act.

Sec. 3. Each of the County Criminal Courts Nos. 6 and 7 of Dallas County, or the judge thereof, shall have the power to issue writs of habeas corpus and grant injunctions for the enforcement of the penal laws in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of that court or any court or tribunal inferior to that court and shall also have power to punish for contempt under such provisions as are now or may be provided by the general law governing county courts throughout the state.

Sec. 4. The terms of the County Criminal Courts Nos. 6 and 7 of Dallas County and the practice therein and appeals therefrom shall be as prescribed by law relating to the county courts. The terms shall be held not less than four times each year and the Commissioners Court of Dallas County shall fix the time at which the courts shall hold their terms until the same may be changed according to law.

Sec. 5. As soon as practicable after the creation of these courts, there shall be appointed by the Commissioners Court of Dallas County in accordance with the law a judge of each court created in this Act, who shall be well informed in the laws of the state and who shall hold his office until the next succeeding general election and until his successor shall have duly qualified. At the general election in 1978 and every fourth year thereafter, there shall be elected by the qualified voters of Dallas County a judge of each of the county criminal courts of Dallas County created in this Act for a regular term of four years as provided in Article V, Section 30, and Article XVI, Section 65, of the Texas Constitution. No person shall be eligible for judge of a court created in this Act unless he shall be a citizen of the United States and of this state, who shall have been a practicing lawyer of this state or a judge of a court in this state for four years next preceding his appointment or election and who shall have resided in the county of Dallas for two years next preceding his appointment or election.

Sec. 6. Each judge of a court created in this Act shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by the law relating to county judges.

Sec. 7. A special judge of each of the courts created in this Act may be appointed or elected as provided by the laws relating to county courts and the judges thereof.

Sec. 8. The county clerk of Dallas County shall be the clerk of the courts created in this Act. The seals of the County Criminal Courts Nos. 6 and 7 of Dallas County shall be the same as provided for county courts, except that the seals shall contain the words "The County Criminal Court, Number Six, Dallas County, Texas," and the words "The County Criminal Court, Number Seven, Dallas County, Texas," respectively. The sheriff of Dallas County shall in person or by deputy attend each court created in this Act when required by the judge thereof. The judge of each court created in this Act shall have an administrative assistant to aid him in the performance of his duties. The salary of the administrative assistant shall be set by the Commissioners Court of Dallas County.

Sec. 9. The judge of each court created in this Act shall collect the same fee provided by law for county judges in similar cases, all of which shall be paid by him monthly into the county treasury. The commissioners court shall fix the salary of each of the judges of the county criminal courts of Dallas County at not less than $1,000 less per annum than the total annual salary, including supplements, received by judges of the district courts in Dallas County, which shall be paid in 12 equal monthly installments out of the county treasury by the commissioners court. The judge shall devote his entire time to the duties of his office and shall not engage in the practice of the law while in office.

Sec. 10. The judge of each court created in this Act may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as any other county judge may be removed under the laws of this state.

Sec. 11. For the purpose of preserving a record in all cases for the information of the court, jury, and parties, the judge of each court created in this Act shall appoint an official shorthand reporter, who shall be well-skilled in his profession, shall be a sworn officer of the court, and who shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court. The provisions of the general laws of Texas relating to the appointment of stenographers for the district courts shall and are hereby made to apply, in all their provisions insofar as they are applicable, to the official shorthand reporters herein authorized to be appointed, and the reporters shall be entitled to the same fees and salary and shall perform the same duties and shall take the same oath as are provided for the stenographers of district courts of this state and shall also be governed by any other laws covering the stenographers of the district courts of this state. The official shorthand reporter of each of these courts shall not be required to take testimony in cases where neither party litigant nor the judge demands it. Where the testimony is taken by the reporter, a fee of $3 shall be taxed by the clerk as costs in the case to be paid into the county treasury of Dallas County.

Sec. 12. As soon as practicable after the creation of these courts, the clerk of the county criminal courts of Dallas County may transfer to the dockets of the courts created by this Act any of the criminal cases then pending in the County Criminal Court or the County Criminal Court No. 2, 3, 4, or 5 of Dallas County, and thereafter the judge of any of these courts may in his discretion transfer any cause or causes that may at any time be pending in his court to the other courts by an order or orders entered in the minutes of his court, and the judge of the court to which such transfer or transfers are made shall dispose of the cause or causes in the same manner as if the cause or causes were originally instituted in his court.

Sec. 13. The judges of the County Criminal Court of Dallas County and the County Criminal Courts Nos. 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7 may, in their discretion, exchange benches and sit and hear cases in the court in which the case or proceeding is then pending and try or otherwise dispose of same.

Where the testimony is taken by the reporter, a fee of $3 shall be taxed by the clerk as costs in the case, the $3, when collected, to be paid into the county treasury of Dallas County.

Transfer of Cases

Sec. 12. As soon as practicable after this Act takes effect, the clerk of the County Criminal Courts of Dallas County may transfer to the docket of the County Criminal Court No. 10 any of the criminal cases then pending in those courts, and thereafter the judge of any of those courts may in the judge's discretion transfer any cause or causes that may at any time be pending in his or her court to the other courts by an order or orders entered in the minutes of that judge's court, and the judge of the court to which such transfer or transfers are made shall dispose of the cause or causes in the same manner as if the cause or causes were originally instituted in his or her court.

Exchange of Benches

Sec. 13. The judges of the County Criminal Courts of Dallas County may, in their discretion, exchange benches and sit and hear cases in the court in which the case or proceeding is then pending, and try or otherwise dispose of same.

Effective Dates

Sec. 14. Except as provided by Subsection (b) of Section 5 of this Act, this Act takes effect on January 1, 1981.

The County Judge of Dallas County shall be the Judge of the County Court of Dallas County, Texas, and all ex-officio duties of the county judge shall be exercised by the said Judge of the said County Court, except as insofar as the same shall, by this Act, be committed to the Judge of the County Criminal Court of Appeals of Dallas County, Texas; and except such as to have heretofore been conferred upon the Judges of the County Court at Law No. 1 and the County Court of Law No. 2 of Dallas County, Texas.

Sec. 5. The County Criminal Court of Appeals, of Dallas County, Texas, or the Judge thereof shall have the power to issue writs of habeas corpus and grant injunctions for the enforcement of the penal laws, in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said court or any court or tribunal inferior to said court; and shall also have power to punish for contempt under such provisions as are now or may be provided by the General Law governing County Courts throughout the State.

Sec. 6. The terms of the County Criminal Court of Appeals, of Dallas County, Texas, and the practice therein and appeals therefrom shall be prescribed by law relating to the county courts. The terms of said County Criminal Court of Appeals, shall be held not less than four (4) times each year and the Commissioners Court of Dallas County, Texas, shall fix the time at which said court shall hold its terms until the same may be changed according to law.

Sec. 7. As soon as may be after the passage of this Act, there shall be appointed by the Commissioners Court of Dallas County in accordance with the law, a Judge of the County Criminal Court of Appeals, hereby created, who shall be well informed in the laws of the State and who shall hold his office until the next succeeding General Election and until his successor shall have duly qualified. The Judge of said court elected at any General Election shall hold office for four (4) years and until his successor shall have duly qualified; provided, that no person shall be eligible for Judge of said court unless he shall be a citizen of the United States and of this State, who shall have been a practicing lawyer of this State or a Judge of a court in said State for four (4) years next preceding his appointment or election, and who shall have resided in the County of Dallas for two (2) years next preceding his appointment or election.

Sec. 8. The Judge of the County Criminal Court of Appeals, of Dallas County, Texas, shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by the law relating to county judges.

Sec. 9. A special Judge of the County Criminal Court of Appeals, of Dallas County, Texas, may be appointed or elected as provided by the laws relating to county courts and the Judges thereof.

Sec. 10. The county clerk of Dallas County, Texas, shall be the clerk of the County Criminal Court of Appeals, of Dallas County, Texas, the seal of said court shall be the same as provided for county courts, except that the seal shall contain the words "The County Criminal Court of Appeals, Dallas County, Texas." The Sheriff of Dallas County, Texas, shall in person or by deputy, attend said court when required by the Judge thereof. The Judge of the County Criminal Court of Appeals of Dallas County shall have an administrative assistant to aid him in the performance of his duties. The salary of the administrative assistant shall be set by the Commissioners Court of Dallas County.

Sec. 11. The Judge of the County Criminal Court of Appeals, of Dallas County, Texas, shall collect the same fee provided by law for county Judges in similar cases, all of which shall be paid by him monthly into the County Treasury, and the Judge of said court shall receive a salary as fixed by the Commissioners Court of not less than Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000) nor more than Fourteen Thousand, Four Hundred Dollars ($14,400) per annum, to be paid monthly out of the County Treasury by the Commissioners Court; such Judge shall not engage in the practice of law while in office.

Sec. 12. The Judge of the County Criminal Court of Appeals, of Dallas County, Texas, may be removed from office in the same manner, and for the same causes as any other county Judge may be removed under the laws of this State.

Sec. 13. For the purpose of preserving a record in all cases for the information of the Court, jury, and parties, the Judge of the County Criminal Court of Appeals, of Dallas County, Texas, shall appoint an official shorthand reporter, who shall be well skilled in his profession, shall be a sworn officer of the court and who shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court; the provisions of the General Laws of Texas relating to the appointment of stenographers for the District Courts shall, and is hereby made to apply in all its provisions, insofar as they are applicable to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed and said reporter shall be entitled to the same fees and salary and shall perform the same duties and shall take the same oath as are in said laws provided for the stenographers of District Courts of this State, and also be governed by any other laws covering the stenographers of the District Courts of this State; provided that the official shorthand reporter of said court shall not be required to take testimony in cases where neither party litigant nor the Judge demands it; but where the testimony is taken by said reporter a fee of Three Dollars ($3) shall be taxed by the clerk as costs in the case, the said Three Dollars ($3), when collected, to be paid into the County Treasury of Dallas County, Texas.

Sec. 14. As soon as may be after this Act takes effect the clerk of the County Criminal Court of Dallas County, Texas, and the clerk of the County Criminal Court No. 2 of Dallas County, Texas, and the clerk of the County Criminal Court No. 3 of Dallas County, Texas, may transfer to the docket of the County Criminal Court of Appeals of Dallas County, Texas, hereby created, any of the criminal cases then pending in the County Criminal Court of Dallas County, Texas, and the County Criminal Court No. 2 of Dallas County, Texas, and the County Criminal Court No. 3 of Dallas County, Texas, and thereafter the Judge of either of said courts may in his discretion, transfer any cause or causes that may at any time be pending in his Court to the other Courts by an order or orders, entered in the minutes of his Court, and the Judge of the Court to which such transfer or transfers are made shall dispose of said cause or causes in the same manner as if such cause or causes were originally instituted in said court.

Sec. 15. The Judge of County Criminal Court of Dallas County, Texas, and the Judge of County Criminal Court No. 2 of Dallas County, Texas, and the Judge of County Criminal Court No. 3 of Dallas

County, Texas, and the Judge of County Criminal Court of Appeals of Dallas County, Texas, may, in their discretion, exchange benches and sit and hear cases in the court in which the case or proceeding is then pending, and try or otherwise dispose of same.

Art. 1970-31.21. County Criminal Court of Appeals No. 2 of Dallas County

Creation

Sec. 1. There is created a court to be held in Dallas County to be called County Criminal Court of Appeals No. 2 of Dallas County, Texas.

Jurisdiction

Sec. 2. The County Criminal Court of Appeals No. 2 shall have and is vested with concurrent jurisdiction within the county of all appeals from criminal convictions had under the laws of the State of Texas and the municipal ordinances of the municipalities located in Dallas County in the justice courts and municipal courts in the county, which jurisdiction is concurrent with the jurisdiction of the County Criminal Court of Appeals of Dallas County. The County Criminal Court of Appeals No. 2 shall have and is vested with concurrent jurisdiction within the county of all criminal matters and causes, original and appellate, that is now vested in the county courts having jurisdiction in civil and criminal cases under the constitution and laws of Texas.

Writ Power

Sec. 3. The County Criminal Court of Appeals No. 2, or the judge thereof, shall have the power to issue writs of habeas corpus and grant injunctions for the enforcement of the penal laws in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the court or any court or tribunal inferior to the court and shall also have power to punish for contempt under such provisions as are now or may be provided by the general law governing county courts throughout the state.

Terms

Sec. 4. The terms of the County Criminal Court of Appeals No. 2 and the practice therein and appeals therefrom shall be as prescribed by law relating to the county courts. The terms shall be held not less than four times each year and the Commissioners Court of Dallas County shall fix the times at which the court shall hold its terms until the same may be changed according to law.

Judge

Sec. 5. (a) No person is eligible for judge of the County Criminal Court of Appeals No. 2 unless the person is a citizen of the United States and of this state who shall have been a practicing lawyer of this state or a judge of a court in this state for four years next preceding the appointment or election and who shall have resided in the County of Dallas for two years next preceding the appointment or election.

(b) At the primaries and general election in 1980, there shall be elected by the qualified voters of Dallas County a judge of the County Criminal Court of Appeals No. 2 for a two-year term beginning on January 1, 1981. At the general election in 1982, the judge shall be elected by the qualified voters of the county for a four-year term as provided in Article V, Section 30, and Article XVI, Section 65, of the Texas Constitution.

(c) A vacancy in the office shall be filled by appointment by the Commissioners Court of Dallas County, and the appointee shall hold office until the next general election and until his or her successor is duly elected and qualified.

Bond and Oath

Sec. 6. The judge of the County Criminal Court of Appeals No. 2 shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by the law relating to county judges.

Special Judge

Sec. 7. A special judge of the County Criminal Court of Appeals No. 2 may be appointed or elected as provided by the laws relating to county courts and the judges thereof.

Court Officials and Seal

Sec. 8. The county clerk of Dallas County shall be the clerk of the County Criminal Court of Appeals No. 2. The seal of the court shall be the same as provided for county courts, except that the seal shall contain the words "The County Criminal Court of Appeals No. 2 of Dallas County, Texas." The sheriff of Dallas County shall in person or by deputy attend the court when required by the judge. The judge of the County Criminal Court of Appeals No. 2 shall have an administrative assistant to aid the judge in the performance of his or her duties. The salary of the administrative assistant shall be set by the Commissioners Court of Dallas County.

Fees and Compensation

Sec. 9. The judge of the County Criminal Court of Appeals No. 2 shall collect the same fees provided by law for county judges in similar cases, all of which shall be paid by the judge monthly into the county treasury. The judge of the court shall receive a salary as fixed by the commissioners court at an amount that is at least equal to the sum that is $1,000 less per annum than the total annual salary, including supplements, received by judges of the district courts in Dallas County, which shall be paid in 12 equal monthly installments out of the county treasury by the commissioners court. The judge shall devote his or her entire time to the duties of the office and shall not engage in the practice of the law while in office.

Removal

Sec. 10. The judge of the County Criminal Court of Appeals No. 2 may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as any other county judge may be removed under the laws of this state.

Court Reporter

Sec. 11. For the purpose of preserving a record in all cases for the information of the court, jury, and parties, the judge of the County Criminal Court of Appeals No. 2 shall appoint an official court reporter, who shall have the qualifications provided by law, shall be a sworn officer of the court, and shall hold the office at the pleasure of the court. The provisions of the general laws of Texas relating to the appointment of official court reporters for the district courts shall apply in all provisions, insofar as they are applicable, to the official court reporter herein authorized to be appointed. The reporter shall be entitled to the same fees and salary and shall perform the same duties and shall take the same oath as are provided for the official court reporters of district courts of this state and shall be governed by any other laws covering the official court reporters of the district courts of this state. The official court reporter of this court shall not be required to take testimony in cases where neither party litigant nor the judge demands it. Where the testimony is taken by the reporter, a fee of $3 shall be taxed by the clerk as costs in the case, the $3, when collected, to be paid into the county treasury of Dallas County.

Transfer of Cases

Sec. 12. (a) As soon as practicable after this Act takes effect, the clerk of the county criminal courts in Dallas County may transfer to the docket of the County Criminal Court of Appeals No. 2 any of the criminal cases then pending in the County Criminal Court of Appeals of Dallas County, and thereafter the judge of either of those courts may in the judge's discretion transfer any cause or causes that may at any time be pending in his or her court to the other court by an order or orders entered in the minutes of that judge's court, and the judge of the court to which such transfer or transfers are made shall dispose of the cause or causes in the same manner as if the cause or causes were originally instituted in his or her court. However, no case may be transferred from one court to another without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred, and no case may be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred.

(b) In cases transferred to either of the county criminal courts of appeals, all processes, writs, bonds, recognizances, or other obligations issued or made in the cases shall be returned to and filed in the court to which the transfer is made. All bonds executed and recognizances entered into in those cases shall bind the parties for their appearance or to fulfill the obligations of the bonds or recognizances at the terms of the court to which the cases are transferred as fixed by law. All processes issued or returned before transfer of the cases, as well as all bonds and recognizances taken before transfer, shall be valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

(c) All new appeals from convictions had under the laws of the State of Texas and ordinances of the municipalities located in Dallas County in justice courts and municipal courts in the county, filed with the county clerk of Dallas County, irrespective of the court or judge to which the appeal is addressed, shall be filed by the clerk alternately in the County Criminal Court of Appeals of Dallas County, Texas, and the County Criminal Court of Appeals No. 2 of Dallas County, Texas.

Exchange of Benches

Sec. 13. The judges of the county criminal courts and county criminal courts of appeals of Dallas County may, in their discretion, exchange benches and sit and hear cases in the court in which the case or proceeding is then pending and try or otherwise dispose of same.

Effective Dates

Sec. 14. Except as provided by Subsection (b) of Section 5 of this Act, this Act takes effect on January 1, 1981.

Art. 1970-31.30. Retired Judges as Substitutes in Dallas County

Sec. 1. (a) When the regular judge of a county court at law, county criminal court, county criminal court of appeals, or probate court for Dallas County is absent or is from any cause disabled or disqualified from presiding, the presiding judge of the First Administrative Judicial District may appoint a retired judge to sit for the regular judge, provided the retired judge:

- (1) voluntarily retired from office;
- (2) resides within the First Administrative Judicial District;
- (3) certifies his willingness to serve;
- (4) has previous judicial experience; and
- (5) otherwise meets the qualifications required of the regular judge.

(b) When the docket of a county court at law, county criminal court, county criminal court of appeals, or probate court for Dallas County becomes so excessive that the presiding judge deems it an emergency, he may appoint a retired judge who meets the qualifications set out in Subsection (a) of this section to sit for the regular judge for as long as the emergency exists.

Sec. 2. A retired judge appointed to sit for a regular judge under the provisions of this Act shall execute the bond and take the oath of office which is required by law for the regular judge for whom he is sitting.

Sec. 3. A retired judge appointed under the provisions of this Act has all the power and jurisdiction of the court and the regular judge for whom he is sitting and may sign orders, judgments, decrees, or other process of any kind as "Judge Presiding" when acting for the regular judge.

Sec. 4. A retired judge appointed to sit for the regular judge under the provisions of this Act shall receive for the services actually performed the same amount of compensation which the regular judge is entitled to receive for such services. The amount to be paid for such services shall be paid out of the county funds on certification by the presiding judge of the First Administrative Judicial District that the retired judge has rendered the services and is entitled to receive the compensation. No part of the amount paid to a retired judge sitting for the regular judge shall be deducted or paid out of the salary of the regular judge.

Sec. 5. The provisions of the Act are cumulative of all laws pertaining to the election or appointment of a special judge, and if, in addition to a retired judge appointed to sit temporarily for a regular judge, a special judge is needed, he shall be appointed or elected as now authorized by law.

Art. 1970-31a. Probate Court of Dallas County

Sec. 1. There is hereby created a County Court to be held in and for Dallas County, to be called the Probate Court of Dallas County.

Sec. 2. The Probate Court of Dallas County shall have the general jurisdiction of a Probate Court within the limits of Dallas County, concurrent with the jurisdiction of the County Court of Dallas County in such matters and proceedings. It shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of executors, transact all business appertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis and common drunkards, including the settlement, partition and distribution of estates of deceased persons, lunacy proceedings and the apprenticing of minors as provided by law.

Sec. 3. On the first day of the initial term of said Probate Court of Dallas County there shall be transferred to the docket of said Court, under the direction of the County Judge and by order entered on the Minutes of the County Court of Dallas County, such number of such proceedings and matters then pending in the County Court of Dallas County as shall be, as near as may be, one half in number of the total of all of the same then pending, and all writs and processes theretofore issued by or out of said County Court of Dallas County in such matters or proceedings shall be returnable to the Probate Court of Dallas County as though originally issued therefrom. All such new matters and proceedings filed on said day, or thereafter filed, with the County Clerk of Dallas County, irrespective of the Courts or Judge to which the matter or proceeding is addressed, shall be filed by said Clerk alternately in said respective Courts in the order in which the same are deposited with him for filing, beginning first with the County Court of Dallas County. The County Judge of Dallas County, in his discretion, may, by an order entered upon the Minutes of the County Court of Dallas County, on or after the first day of the initial term of said Probate Court of Dallas County, transfer to said Probate Court any such matter or proceeding then or thereafter pending in the County Court of Dallas County, and all processes extant at the time of such transfer shall be returned to and filed in the Court to which such transfer is made and shall be as valid and binding as though originally issued out of the Court to which such transfer may be made.

Sec. 4. The County Court of Dallas County shall retain, as heretofore, the powers and jurisdiction of said Court existing at the time of the passage of this Act, and shall exercise its powers and jurisdiction as a Probate Court with respect to all matters and proceedings of such nature other than those provided in Section 3 of this Act to be transferred to and filed in the Probate Court of Dallas County. The County Judge of Dallas County shall be the Judge of the County Court of Dallas County, and all ex-officio duties of the County Judge of Dallas County, as they now exist, shall be exercised by the County Judge of Dallas County, except in so far as the same shall by this Act expressly be committed to the Judge of the Probate Court of Dallas County. Nothing in this Act contained shall be construed as in anywise impairing or affecting the jurisdiction of the County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 1, or the County Court of Dallas County at Law No. 2.

Sec. 5. The practice and procedure in the Probate Court of Dallas County shall be the same as that provided by law generally for the County Courts of this State; and all Statutes and laws of the State, as well as all rules of court relating to proceedings in the County Courts of this State, or to the review thereof or appeals therefrom, shall, as to all matters within the jurisdiction of said Court, apply equally thereto.

Sec. 6. The Probate Court of Dallas County shall have power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, execution, attachment, and all writs and process necessary to the exercise and enforcement of the jurisdiction of said Court, and also the power to punish for contempt under such provisions as are or may be provided by the general laws governing County Courts throughout the State.

Sec. 7. There shall be two (2) terms of said Probate Court of Dallas County in each year, and the first of such terms shall be known as the January-June Term; it shall begin on the first Monday in January and shall continue until and including Sunday next before the first Monday in July; and the second of such terms, which shall be known as the July-December Term, shall begin on the first Monday in July and shall continue until and including Sunday next before the first Monday in the following January. The initial term of said Court shall begin on the first Monday after the effective date of this Act.

Sec. 8. There shall be elected in said County by the qualified voters thereof, at the General Election, for a term of two (2) years and until his successor shall have been duly qualified, a Judge of the Probate Court of Dallas County, who shall be well informed in the laws of the State, and shall have been a duly licensed and practicing member of the Bar of this State for not less than five (5) consecutive years prior to his election. A Judge of said Court shall be appointed by the Commissioners Court of Dallas County as soon as may be after the passage of this Act, who shall hold office from the date of his appointment until the next General Election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 9. The Judge of the Probate Court of Dallas County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by the laws relating to County Judges.

Sec. 10. Any vacancy in the office of the Judge of the Probate Court of Dallas County may be filled by the Commissioners Court of Dallas County by the appointment of a Judge of said Court, who shall serve until the next General Election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 11. In case of the absence, disqualification or incapacity of the Judge of the Probate Court of Dallas County, the County Judge of Dallas County shall sit and act as Judge of said Court, and may hear and determine, either in his own courtroom or in the courtroom of said Court, any matter or proceeding there pending, and may enter any orders in such matters or proceedings as the Judge of said Court might enter if personally presiding therein.

Sec. 12. In the case of the absence, disqualification or incapacity of the Judge of the Probate Court of Dallas County and the County Judge of Dallas County, a Special Judge of the Probate Court of Dallas County may be appointed or elected, as provided by the general laws relating to County Courts and to the Judges thereof.

Sec. 13. The County Clerk of Dallas County shall be the Clerk of the Probate Court of Dallas County. The seal of such Court shall be the same as that provided by law for County Courts except that the seal shall contain the words "Probate Court of Dallas County, Texas." The Sheriff of Dallas County shall in person or by deputy attend the said Court when required by the Judge thereof. The Judge of the Probate Court of Dallas County shall have an administrative assistant to aid him in the performance of his duties. The salary of said administrative assistant shall be set by the Commissioners Court of Dallas County.

Sec. 14. The Judge of the Probate Court of Dallas County shall collect the same fees as are now or hereafter established by law relating to County Judges as to matters within the jurisdiction of said Court, all of which shall be paid by him into the County Treasury as collected, and from and after the date of his qualification as Judge of said Court he shall receive an annual salary to be fixed by order of the Commissioners Court of Dallas County, of not less than Six Thousand, Five Hundred Dollars ($6,500) nor more than Eight Thousand, Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars ($8,250), payable monthly, to be paid out of the County Treasury by the Commissioners Court.

Sec. 15. All laws and parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this Act are hereby repealed to the extent of such conflict only. As to all other laws and parts of laws, this Act shall be cumulative.

Sec. 16. If any section, paragraph, sentence, clause, phrase or word contained in this Act shall be held unconstitutional by the Courts of this State, the invalidity of such portion of the Act shall not be construed to affect any other part of the Act.

[Acts 1951, 52nd Leg., p. 293, ch. 174. Amended by Acts 1969, 61st Leg., p. 1667, ch. 530, § 1, eff. June 10, 1969.]

Art. 1970-31b. Probate Court No. 2 of Dallas County

Sec. 1. There is hereby created a County Court to be held in and for Dallas County to be called the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County.

Sec. 2. Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County shall have the general jurisdiction of the Probate Court within the limits of Dallas County concurrent with the jurisdiction of the Probate Court of Dallas County and of the County Court of Dallas County in such matters and proceedings. It shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and administrative, settle accounts of executor, transact all business pertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis and common drunkards, including the settlement, partition and distribution of estates of deceased persons, lunacy proceedings and the apprenticing of minors as provided by law.

Sec. 3. On the first day of the initial term of said Probate Court Number two of Dallas County there shall be transferred to the docket of said Court under the jurisdiction of the County Judge and of the Judge of the Probate Court of Dallas County and by order entered on the minutes of the County Court of Dallas County and of the Probate Court of Dallas County such number of such proceedings and matters then pending in the Probate Court of Dallas County and in the County Court of Dallas County as will equalize the number of such cases pending on the dockets of each of said three (3) Courts, and all writs and processes theretofore issued by or out of said Probate Court of Dallas County and said County Court of Dallas County in such matters or proceedings shall be returnable to the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County as though originally issued therefrom. All such new matters and proceedings filed on said day or thereafter filed with the County Clerk of Dallas County irrespective of the Courts or Judge to which the matter or proceeding is addressed, shall be filed by said Clerk in rotation in said respective Courts in the order in which the same are deposited with him for filing.

Sec. 4. The County Court of Dallas County shall retain as heretofore the powers and jurisdiction of said Court existing at the time of the passage of this Act and shall exercise its own powers and jurisdiction as the Probate Court with respect to all matters and proceedings of such nature other than those provided hereinabove to be transferred to and filed in the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County. The County Judge of Dallas County shall be the Judge of the County Court of Dallas County and all ex officio duties of the County Judge of Dallas County as they now exist shall be exercised by the County Judge of Dallas County except insofar as the same shall have been committed heretofore to the Judge of the Probate Court of Dallas County, or as the same shall by this Act expressly be committed to the Judge of the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County. Nothing in this Act shall be construed as in anywise impairing or affecting the jurisdiction of the County Court of Dallas County, the Probate Court of Dallas County, the County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 1 or the County Court of Dallas County at Law Number 2, or any other County Court of Dallas County at Law heretofore or hereafter created.

Sec. 5. There shall be two (2) terms of said Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County in each year and the first term shall be known as the January-June term, which shall begin on the first Monday in January and shall continue until and including Sunday next before the first Monday in July, and the second of such terms shall be known as the July-December term and shall begin on the first Monday in July and continue until and including Sunday next before the first Monday in the following January. The initial term of said Court shall begin on the first Monday after the effective date of this Act.

Sec. 6. There shall be elected in said County by the qualified voters thereof at the general election for a term of two (2) years and until his successor shall have been duly qualified, a Judge of the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County who shall be well-informed on the laws of the State and shall have been a duly licensed and practicing member of the Bar of this State for not less than five (5) consecutive years prior to his election. A Judge of said Court shall be appointed by the Commissioners Court of Dallas County as soon as may be possible after the passage of this Act, who shall hold office from the date of his appointment until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 7. The Judge of the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by the laws relating to County Judges.

Sec. 8. Any vacancy in the office of the Judge of Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County may be filled by the Commissioners Court of Dallas County by appointment of a Judge of said Court who shall serve until the next general election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 9. In case of the absence, disqualification or incapacity of the Judge of of the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County, the County Judge of Dallas County shall sit and act as Judge of said Court and may hear and determine either in his own courtroom or in the courtroom of said Court any matter or proceeding there pending and may enter such orders in such matters or proceedings as the Judge of said Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County might enter if personally presiding therein.

Sec. 10. The Judge of the Probate Court of Dallas County may sit for the Judge of the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County and the Judge of the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County may sit for the Judge of the Probate Court of Dallas County on any matters or proceedings pending in either of said Courts. In the case of the absence, disqualification or incapacity of the County Judge of Dallas County, the Judge of the Probate Court of Dallas County and the Judge of Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County, a special Judge of the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County may be appointed or elected as provided by the General Laws relating to County Courts and to the Judges thereof.

Sec. 11. The County Clerk of Dallas County shall be the Clerk of the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County. The seal of such Court shall be the same as that provided by law for County Courts except that the seal shall contain the words "Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County, Texas." The Sheriff of Dallas County shall in person or by deputy attend the said Court when required by the Judge thereof. The Judge of the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County shall have an administrative assistant to aid him in the performance of his duties. The salary of said administrative assistant shall be set by the Commissioners Court of Dallas County.

Sec. 12. The Judge of the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County shall collect the same fees as are now or hereafter established by law relating to County Judges as to matters within the jurisdiction of said Court, all of which shall be paid by him into the County Treasury as collected and from after the date of his qualification as Judge of said Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County he shall receive an annual salary to be fixed by order of the Commissioners Court of Dallas County which shall be the same salary as that paid to the Judge of the Probate Court of Dallas County.

Sec. 13. All laws and parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this Act are hereby repealed to the extent of such conflict only. All other laws applicable to the Probate Court of Dallas County shall be applicable to Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County. As to all other laws and parts of laws this Act shall be cumulative.

Sec. 13a. Regardless of any provisions of this Act to the contrary notwithstanding, the provisions of this Act shall not become effective until January 1, 1965.

[Acts 1963, 58th Leg., p. 723, ch. 265. Amended by Acts 1969, 61st Leg., p. 1667, ch. 530, § 2, eff. June 10, 1969.]

Art. 1970-31c. Probate Court No. 3 of Dallas County

Sec. 1. There is created a county court to be held in and for Dallas County to be called the Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County.

Sec. 2. Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County shall have the general jurisdiction of the probate court within the limits of Dallas County concurrent with the jurisdiction of the Probate Court of Dallas County, the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County, and of the County Court of Dallas County in such matters and proceedings. It shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and administrative, settle accounts of executors, transact all business pertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, including the settlement, partition, and distribution of estates of deceased persons, lunacy proceedings, and the apprenticing of minors as provided by law. It is the intention of this Act that the Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County shall have the primary responsibility, at all times, for all mental illness proceedings.

Sec. 3. On the first day of the initial term of Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County there shall be transferred to the docket of the court under the jurisdiction of the county judge and of the judges of the Probate Court of Dallas County and the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County, and by order entered on the minutes of the County Court of Dallas County and of the Probate Court of Dallas County and of the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County, such number of such proceedings and matters then pending in the Probate Court of Dallas County, in the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County, and in the County Court of Dallas County as will equalize the number of such cases pending on the dockets of each of said four courts, with the Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County having responsibility, at all times, for all mental illness proceedings. However, should an emergency or an overcrowded docket preclude the Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County from effectively diminishing the number of mental illness proceedings before it, such cases may be transferred, with the concurrence of the judge of one or more of the other probate courts in Dallas County, to the dockets of one or more of the other probate courts of Dallas County. All writs and processes theretofore issued by or out of the Probate Court of Dallas County, Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County, and County Court of Dallas County in such matters or proceedings shall be returnable to the Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County as though originally issued therefrom. All new mental illness proceedings filed on said day or thereafter filed with the County Clerk of Dallas County irrespective of the court or judge to which the matter or proceeding is addressed, shall be filed by the clerk in the Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County in the order in which the same are deposited with him for filing.

Sec. 4. The County Court of Dallas County shall retain as heretofore the powers and jurisdiction of the court existing at the time of the passage of this Act and shall exercise its own powers and jurisdiction as a probate court with respect to all matters and proceedings of such nature other than those provided hereinabove to be transferred to and filed in the Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County. The County Judge of Dallas County shall be the Judge of the County Court of Dallas County and all ex officio duties of the County Judge of Dallas County as they now exist shall be exercised by the County Judge of Dallas County except insofar as the same shall have been committed heretofore to the Judge of the Probate Court of Dallas County, or to the Judge of the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County, or as the same shall by this Act expressly be committed to the Judge of the Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County. Nothing in this Act shall be construed as in anywise impairing or affecting the jurisdiction of the County Court of Dallas County, the Probate Court of Dallas County, the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County, the County Courts of Dallas County at Law Numbers 1, 2, 3, and 4, or any other County Court at Law of Dallas County heretofore or hereafter created.

Sec. 5. There shall be two terms of Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County in each year and the first term shall be known as the January-June term, which shall begin on the first Monday in January and shall continue until and including Sunday next before the first Monday in July, and the second of such terms shall be known as the July-December term and shall begin on the first Monday in July and continue until and including Sunday next before the first Monday in the following January. The initial term of the court shall begin on the first Monday after the effective date of this Act.

Sec. 6. The Judge of the Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County shall be well informed on the laws of the state and shall have been a duly licensed and practicing member of the bar of this state for not less than five consecutive years prior to his election. A judge of the court shall be appointed by the Commissioners Court of Dallas County as soon as may be possible after the passage of this Act, who shall hold office from the date of his appointment until the next general election and until his successor is duly elected and has qualified. At the general election in 1978 and every fourth year thereafter, there shall be elected by the qualified voters of Dallas County a judge of the Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County for a regular term of four years as provided in Article V, Section 30 and Article XVI, Section 65 of the Texas Constitution.

Sec. 7. The Judge of the Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by the laws relating to county judges.

Sec. 8. Any vacancy in the office of the Judge of Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County may be filled by the Commissioners Court of Dallas County by appointment of a judge of the court who shall serve until the next general election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 9. In case of the absence, disqualification, or incapacity of the Judge of the Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County, the County Judge of Dallas County shall sit and act as judge of the court and may hear and determine either in his own courtroom or in the courtroom of the court any matter or proceeding there pending and may enter such orders in such matters or proceedings as the Judge of said Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County might enter if personally presiding therein.

Sec. 10. The Judge of the Probate Court of Dallas County and the Judge of the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County may sit for the Judge of the Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County, and the Judge of the Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County may sit for the Judge of the Probate Court of Dallas County and the Judge of the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County on any matters or proceedings pending in any of the courts. In the case of the absence, disqualification, or incapacity of the County Judge of Dallas County, the Judge of the Probate Court of Dallas County, the Judge of the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County, and the Judge of the Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County, a special judge of the Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County may be appointed or elected as provided by the general laws relating to county courts and to the judges thereof.

Sec. 11. The County Clerk of Dallas County shall be the Clerk of the Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County. The seal of the court shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts except that the seal shall contain the words "Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County, Texas." The Sheriff of Dallas County shall in person or by deputy attend the court when required by the judge thereof. The Judge of the Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County shall have an administrative assistant to aid him in the performance of his duties. The salary of the administrative assistant shall be set by the Commissioners Court of Dallas County.

Sec. 12. The Judge of the Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County shall collect the same fees as are now or hereafter established by law relating to county judges as to matters within the jurisdiction of the court, all of which shall be paid by him into the county treasury as collected and from after the date of his qualification as Judge of said Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County he shall receive an annual salary to be fixed by order of the Commissioners Court of Dallas County which shall be the same salary as that paid to the Judge of the Probate Court of Dallas County and the Judge of the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County.

Sec. 13. All laws and parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this Act are repealed to the extent of such conflict only. All other laws applicable to the Probate Court of Dallas County and the Probate Court Number 2 of Dallas County shall be applicable to Probate Court Number 3 of Dallas County. As to all other laws and parts of laws this Act shall be cumulative.

TARRANT COUNTY

Art. 1970-32. Creation

There is hereby created a court to be held in Tarrant county, Texas, to be known and designated as the "County Court of Tarrant County for Civil Cases."¹

[Acts 1909, p. 48, § 1.]

¹Name changed to County Court at Law No. 2 of Tarrant County, Texas. See article 1970-62.

Art. 1970-33. Jurisdiction of Said Court

(a) The County Court at Law No. 1 of Tarrant County shall have jurisdiction of all civil matters and causes, original and appellate, over which by the general laws of the state of Texas, the county court of said county would have jurisdiction, and its jurisdiction is concurrent with that of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Tarrant County in civil matters and causes, original and appellate. This provision shall not affect the jurisdiction of the commissioners' court or of the county judge of Tarrant county as the presiding officer of said court as to roads, bridges and public highways, and matters which are now within the jurisdiction of the commissioners' court or of the judge of the county court of Tarrant county. The county judge of Tarrant County shall be the judge of the county court of Tarrant County, and all ex officio duties of the county judge shall be exercised by the judge of the county court of Tarrant County.

(b) The County Court at Law No. 1 of Tarrant County has jurisdiction concurrent with the district court in civil cases when the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $20,000, exclusive of mandatory damages and penalties, attorney's fees, interest, and costs.

(c) In addition to the other jurisdiction conferred by law on the County Court at Law No. 1 of Tarrant County, the County Court at Law No. 1 has concurrent jurisdiction with the district court in Tarrant County in nonjury suits and causes involving family law matters, including adoptions; birth records; removal of disability of minority or coverture; change of name of persons; divorce and marriage annulment cases, including the adjustment of property rights, custody and support of minor children involved, temporary support pending final hearing, and every other matter incident to divorce or annulment proceedings; independent actions involving child welfare, custody, support and reciprocal support, dependency, neglect, and delinquency; and independent actions involving controversies between parent and child and between husband and wife. The provisions of this subsection do not diminish the jurisdiction of the district court in Tarrant County, and the district court shall retain and continue to exercise the jurisdiction that is conferred by law on district courts.

(d) The county clerk of Tarrant County is the clerk of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Tarrant County, except that the district clerk of Tarrant County shall serve as clerk of the County Court at Law No. 1 in the cases enumerated in Subsection (c) of this section. The district clerk may establish a separate docket for the County Court at Law No. 1 for family law matters filed originally in the district courts of Tarrant County. All cases of concurrent jurisdiction enumerated in Subsection (c) of this section shall be instituted in the district courts of Tarrant County but may be transferred between the district courts of Tarrant County and the County Court at Law No. 1 of Tarrant County. However, no case may be transferred from one court to the other without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred, and no case may be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred. Practice and procedure, rules of evidence, and all other matters pertaining to the conduct of trials and hearings in the county court at law involving the matters of concurrent jurisdiction enumerated in Subsection (c) of this section shall be governed by the laws and rules pertaining to district courts as well as county courts.

Art. 1970-34. Jurisdiction of Criminal Cases

In addition to the jurisdiction heretofore conferred by law upon the County Court of Tarrant County for Civil Cases,¹ of Tarrant County, Texas, and the judge thereof, the said County Court of Tarrant County for Civil Cases shall have jurisdiction within Tarrant County of all criminal matters and causes, original and appellate, over which the County Court at Law of Tarrant County now has jurisdiction, and the jurisdiction of said courts, over such matters, within said county, shall be concurrent, provided, that the jurisdiction of the County Court of Tarrant County shall remain as now fixed by law, and be in no wise affected by this Act.

Art. 1970-35. Jurisdiction Retained by County Court of Tarrant County

The county court of Tarrant county shall retain, as heretofore the jurisdiction of all criminal cases, its jurisdiction as a juvenile court, its jurisdiction in matters pertaining to liquor licenses, forfeitures and bonds, the general jurisdiction of a probate court; it shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of administrator, executors and guardians, transact all business pertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, including the settlement, partition and distribution of estates of deceased persons, and shall apprentice minors as provided by law. The county judge of Tarrant county shall be the judge of the county court of Tarrant county; and all ex officio duties of the county judge shall be exercised by the said judge of the county court of Tarrant county, except in so far as the same shall, by this chapter, be committed to the judge of the county court of Tarrant county for civil cases.¹

Art. 1970-36. Both Courts May Issue Writs

Both the said county court of Tarrant county and the county court of Tarrant county for civil cases,¹ or either of the judges thereof, shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas and all other writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of said courts, and also power to punish for contempts under such provisions as are, or may be, provided by the general laws governing county courts throughout the state, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said courts, or of any court or tribunal inferior to said courts.

Art. 1970-37. Terms, Practice, etc., of County Court of Tarrant County for Civil Cases

The terms of the county court of Tarrant county for civil cases,¹ and the practice therein, and appeals and writs of error therefrom, shall be as prescribed by law relating to the county courts. The terms of the county court of Tarrant county for civil cases shall be held not less than four times each year; and the commissioners' court of Tarrant county shall fix the time at which said court shall hold its terms, until the same may be changed according to law.

Art. 1970-38. Judge to be Elected When, etc.; Qualifications; Term; Vacancies How Filled

At each general election there shall be elected by the qualified voters of Tarrant county a judge of the county court of Tarrant county for civil cases,¹ who shall be well informed in the laws of this state, who shall hold his office for two years, and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified; provided, that no person shall be eligible for judge of the county court of Tarrant county for civil cases, unless he shall be a citizen of the United States and of this state, who shall have been a practicing lawyer of this state, or a judge of a court in this state, for four years next preceding his election, and who shall have resided in the county of Tarrant for two years next preceding his election. All vacancies in said office shall be filled by appointment by the governor until the next general election thereafter.

Art. 1970-39. Bond and Oath of Judge

The judge of the county court of Tarrant county for civil cases¹ shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by the law relating to county judges.

¹ See note under art. 1970-32.

Art. 1970-40. Special Judge Elected or Appointed How

A special judge of the county court of Tarrant county for civil cases¹ may be appointed or elected as provided by law relating to county courts and to the judges thereof.

¹ See note under art. 1970-32.

Art. 1970-41. Clerk of; Seal; Sheriff to Attend When, etc.

The county clerk of Tarrant county shall be the clerk for the county court of Tarrant county for civil cases.¹ The seal of said court shall be the same as that provided for county courts, except that the seal shall contain the words, "County Court of Tarrant County for Civil Cases." The sheriff of Tarrant county shall, in person or by deputy, attend the court when required by the judge thereof.

¹ See note under art. 1970-32.

Art. 1970-42. Selection, etc., of Juries by the Two Courts Jointly

The jurisdiction and authority now vested by law in the county court of Tarrant county for the selection and service of jurors shall be exercised by the two courts jointly and not separately.

[Acts 1909, p. 48, § 10.]

Art. 1970-43. Fees; Salary of Judge of County Court of Tarrant County for Civil Cases

The judge of the county court of Tarrant county for civil cases¹ shall collect the same fees provided by law for county judges in similar cases, all of which shall be paid by him monthly into the county treasury; and he shall receive a salary of three thousand dollars annually,² to be paid monthly out of the county treasury by the commissioners' court.

² Now $5,000. See article 1970-61.

Art. 1970-44. Removal of Judge

The judge of the county court of Tarrant county for civil cases¹ may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as any other county judge may be removed under the laws of this state.

¹ See note under art. 1970-32.

Art. 1970-45. Salary of County Judge of Tarrant County

The county judge of Tarrant county shall hereafter receive from the county treasury in addition to the fees allowed him by law, such a salary, for the ex officio duties of his office, as may be allowed him by the commissioners' court.

Art. 1970-45a. Compensation of Certain Tarrant County Judges

Effective January 1, 1978, the judges of the county criminal courts of Tarrant County, the probate court of Tarrant County, and the county courts at law of Tarrant County may be paid annually a sum that is at least equal to that sum which is $8,000 less than the total annual salary as of January 1, 1978, including supplements, of any district judge in Tarrant County. Effective January 1, 1979, they may be paid annually a sum that is at least equal to that sum which is $5,500 less than the total annual salary as of January 1, 1979, including supplements, of any district judge in Tarrant County. Effective January 1, 1980, they may be paid annually a sum that is at least equal to that sum which is $3,000 less than the total annual salary as of January 1, 1980, including supplements, of any district judge in Tarrant County. Effective January 1, 1981, they may be paid annually a sum that is at least equal to that sum which is $1,000 less than the total annual salary, including supplements, of any district judge in Tarrant County. If the annual salary of any district judge in Tarrant County is increased within any calendar year, the salary of the judge of each county court of Tarrant County included in this Act may be increased in an equal amount so that the variance between the salaries of the judges of the county courts and the judges of the district courts does not exceed the amounts specified in this Act.

Art. 1970-46. Court Created

That there shall be created a court to be held in Tarrant County, Texas, to be known and designated as the "County Court at Law" of Tarrant County, Texas.¹

Art. 1970-47. Jurisdiction

The County Court at Law of Tarrant County, Texas, shall have exclusive jurisdiction within said county of all criminal matters and causes, original and appellate, that is now vested in the County Courts having jurisdiction in civil and criminal cases under the Constitution and laws of Texas, except as provided in Section 3 of this Act;¹ and said County Court at Law shall have and exercise, in civil matters and causes, concurrent and equal jurisdiction with the County Court of Tarrant County for civil cases, said concurrent jurisdiction to extend to all causes and matters of which jurisdiction has heretofore vested in the County Court of Tarrant County for civil cases, or the judge thereof.

Art. 1970-48. Same; Juvenile and Probate Matters

The County Court of Tarrant County shall retain exclusively as heretofore its jurisdiction as a juvenile court, the general jurisdiction of a probate court; it shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, and grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of administrators, executors and guardians; transact all business pertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, including the settlement, partition and distribution of the estates of deceased persons; and of apprenticed minors as provided by law. The County Judge of Tarrant County shall be the judge of the County Court of Tarrant County, Texas, and all ex-officio duties of the County Judge shall be exercised by the said judge of the said County Court, except insofar as the same shall, by this Act, be committed to the Judge of the County Court at Law of Tarrant County, Texas,¹ and except such as have heretofore been conferred upon the judge of the County Court of Tarrant County for civil cases.²

Art. 1970-58. Transfer of Causes

As soon as may be after this Act takes effect, the Clerk of the County Court of Tarrant County, Texas, shall transfer to the docket of the County Court at Law of Tarrant County, Texas,¹ all of the criminal cases then pending in the County Court of Tarrant County. The clerk shall note such transfers when made on the minutes of the County Court of Tarrant County, Texas. Thereafter, all new criminal cases filed in said county and coming within the jurisdiction of the County Court shall be placed on the docket of said County Court at Law. Until such time as the Commissioners' Court shall direct, no civil cases shall be filed in or transferred to said County Court at Law; but when directed to do so by said Commissioners' Court, the clerk of said county shall transfer from the docket of the County Court of Tarrant County for civil cases² to the docket of said County Court at Law a sufficient number of civil cases to equalize the dockets of said two courts, and shall thereafter place new civil cases, as they are filed, on the docket of said County Court at Law in a ratio to be prescribed by said Commissioners' Court, which ratio may be changed or modified from time to time by order of said Commissioners' Court.

² Name changed to County Court at Law No. 2 of Tarrant County, Texas. See article 1970-62.

Art. 1970-62. Designations of Courts

From and after the passage and the taking effect of this Act the said County Court at Law of Tarrant County shall be known and designated as the "County Court at Law No. 1" of Tarrant County, Texas, and the said County Court of Tarrant County for Civil Cases shall be known and designated as the "County Court at Law No. 2" of Tarrant County, Texas.

[Acts 1925, 39th Leg., ch. 206, p. 680, § 5.]

Art. 1970-62.1. Transfer of Eminent Domain Jurisdiction from County to District Courts

Neither the County Court of Tarrant County, the County Court at Law of Tarrant County nor the judges of the courts have any jurisdiction over matters of eminent domain.

[Acts 1971, 62nd Leg., p. 50, ch. 27, § 1, eff. March 18, 1971.]

Section 2 of the 1971 act appears as a note under art. 1906. Sections 3 to 6 thereof provided:

"Sec. 3. All proceedings in matters of eminent domain pending to the County Court or County Court at Law of Tarrant County when this Act takes effect are transferred to the district courts, and all writs and process relating to those matters issued by or out of the County Court or County Court at Law of Tarrant County are returnable to the district courts of Tarrant County.

"Sec. 4. After this Act takes effect, should a judgment be entered by the court of civil appeals or the supreme court remanding for a new trial or for further proceedings any cause in matters of eminent domain that was appealed from the County Court or County Court at Law of Tarrant County, the cause shall be remanded to the district courts, and all jurisdiction in respect to that cause vests in the district courts.

"Sec. 5. Within 10 days after this Act takes effect the county clerk of Tarrant County shall file with the district clerk of the Tarrant County all original papers in causes transferred by this Act to the district court, with all judges' dockets and certified copies of any interlocutory judgment or other order entered in the minutes of the county court in those causes, and the district clerk shall immediately docket all such causes on the dockets of the district courts in a manner to equalize case loads, and all such causes shall stand on the docket of the district court in the same order in which they appeared on the docket of the county court, and each such case shall take its place on the docket of the district court in the same manner in the same priority as other civil cases are assigned to such docket, with the position on such docket to be determined in the same manner as though such cases had been committed to the district court in the first instance. It shall not be necessary for the district clerk to refile any papers theretofore filed by the county court, but papers in a cause bearing the file mark of the county clerk prior to the time of the transfer shall be held to have been filed in the cause as of the date filed without being refiled by the district clerk. The county clerk in cases so transferred shall accompany the papers with a certified bill of cost, and against all cost deposits, if any, the county clerk shall charge accrued fees due him and the remainder of the deposit he shall pay to the district court as a deposit in the particular cause for which it was deposited. Credit shall be given litigants for all jury fees paid in the county court.

"Sec. 6. This Act shall not be construed to in anywise or manner affect final judgments heretofore rendered by the County Court or County Court at Law of Tarrant County pertaining to matters of eminent domain, and the county court shall retain jurisdiction to enforce those final judgments and the county clerk of Tarrant County shall issue all writs of execution and orders of sale and proceedings thereunder and his act in so doing shall be valid and binding to all intents and purposes the same as if no transfer of jurisdiction had been made by this Act."

Art. 1970-62.2. County Court at Law No. 2 of Tarrant County

Sec. 1. (a) There is created a court to be held in Tarrant County to be known and designated as the "County Court at Law No. 2 of Tarrant County."

(b) The County Court at Law of Tarrant County shall be hereafter known and designated as the "County Court at Law No. 1 of Tarrant County."

Sec. 2. (a) The County Court at Law No. 2 of Tarrant County has jurisdiction of all civil matters and causes, original and appellate, over which by the general laws of the state the county court of the county would have jurisdiction, and its jurisdiction is concurrent with that of the County Court at Law of Tarrant County in civil matters and causes, original and appellate. This provision does not affect the jurisdiction of the commissioners court or of the county judge of Tarrant County as the presiding officer of that court as to roads, bridges, and public highways, and matters which are now within the jurisdiction of the commissioners court or of the judge of the county court of Tarrant County. The county judge of Tarrant County shall be the judge of the county court of Tarrant County, and all ex officio duties of the county judge shall be exercised by the judge of the county court of Tarrant County.

(b) In addition to the other jurisdiction conferred by law on the County Court at Law No. 2 of Tarrant County, the County Court at Law No. 2 has concurrent jurisdiction with the district court in Tarrant County in nonjury suits and causes involving family law matters, including adoptions; birth records; removal of disability of minority or coverture; change of name of persons; divorce and marriage annulment cases, including the adjustment of property rights, custody and support of minor children involved, temporary support pending final hearing, and every other matter incident to divorce or annulment proceedings; independent actions involving child welfare, custody, support and reciprocal support, dependency, neglect, and delinquency; and independent actions involving controversies between parent and child and between husband and wife. The provisions of this subsection do not diminish the jurisdiction of the district court in Tarrant County, and the district court shall retain and continue to exercise the jurisdiction that is conferred by law on district courts.

(c) The County Court at Law No. 2 of Tarrant County has jurisdiction concurrent with the district court in civil cases when the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $20,000, exclusive of mandatory damages and penalties, attorney's fees, interest and costs.

Sec. 3. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Tarrant County, or its judge, has the power to issue writs of injunction, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas and all other writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of the court, to punish for contempts under such provisions as are, or may be, provided by the general laws governing county courts throughout the state, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the court, or of any court or tribunal inferior to that court.

Sec. 4. (a) The judges of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Tarrant County and the County Court at Law No. 2 of Tarrant County may transfer cases to and from the dockets of their respective courts. However, no case may be transferred from one court to another court without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred, and no case may be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred.

(b) The judges of the county courts at law with civil jurisdiction may freely exchange benches and courtrooms with each other so that if one is ill, disqualified, or otherwise absent, the other may hold court for him without the necessity of transferring the case involved. Either judge may hear all or any part of a case pending in a county court at law and may rule and enter orders on and continue, determine, or render judgment on all or any part of the case without the necessity of transferring it to his own docket. However, the judge of any court may not sit or act in a case unless it is within the jurisdiction of his court. Each judgment and order shall be entered in the minutes of the court in which the case is pending.

(c) In cases transferred to any of the courts by order of the judge of one of the other courts, all processes, writs, bonds, recognizances or other obligations issued or made in the cases shall be returned to and filed in the court to which transfer is made. All bonds executed and recognizances entered into in those cases shall bind the parties for their appearance or to fulfill the obligations of such bonds or recognizances at the terms of the court to which the cases are transferred as fixed by law. All processes issued or returned before transfer of the cases as well as all bonds and recognizances before taken in the cases shall be valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

Sec. 5. The terms of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Tarrant County are the same as the terms for the County Court at Law No. 1 of Tarrant County. The practice in the court, and appeals and writs of error therefrom, shall be as prescribed by the laws relating to county courts, except that practice and procedure, rules of evidence, and all other matters pertaining to the conduct of trials and hearings in the county court at law involving the matters of concurrent jurisdiction with the district court enumerated in Section 2(b) of this Act shall be governed by the laws and rules pertaining to district courts as well as county courts.

Sec. 6. (a) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Tarrant County must be a citizen of the United States and of this state, who shall have been a practicing lawyer of this state, or a judge of a court in this state, for four years next preceding his election or appointment, and who shall have resided in the county of Tarrant for two years next preceding his election or appointment.

(b) At the primaries and general election in 1978, there shall be elected by the qualified voters of Tarrant County a judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 for a four-year term beginning on January 1, 1979. Every four years thereafter, this judge shall be elected by the qualified voters of Tarrant County for a four-year term as provided in the Texas Constitution. A vacancy in the office shall be filled by appointment by the Commissioners Court of Tarrant County until the next general election.

Sec. 7. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by the law relating to county judges.

Sec. 8. A special judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 may be appointed or elected as provided by law relating to county courts and to the judges thereof.

Sec. 9. The county clerk of Tarrant County shall be the clerk for the County Court at Law No. 2, except that the district clerk of Tarrant County shall serve as clerk of the County Court at Law No. 2 in the cases enumerated in Section 2(b) of this Act. The district clerk may establish a separate docket for the County Court at Law No. 2 for family law matters filed originally in the district courts of Tarrant County. All cases of concurrent jurisdiction enumerated in Section 2(b) of this Act shall be instituted in the district courts of Tarrant County but may be transferred between the district courts of Tarrant County and the County Court at Law No. 2 of Tarrant County. However, no case may be transferred from one court to the other without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred, and no case may be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred. The seal of the court shall be the same as that provided for county courts, except that the seal shall contain the words, "County Court at Law No. 2 of Tarrant County." The sheriff of Tarrant County shall, in person or by deputy, attend the court when required by the judge thereof.

Sec. 10. The jurisdiction and authority now vested by law in the County Court at Law of Tarrant County for the selection and service of jurors shall be exercised by the County Court at Law No. 2.

Sec. 11. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Tarrant County shall collect the same fees provided by law for county judges in similar cases, all of which shall be paid by him monthly into the county treasury. The commissioners court may fix the amount of compensation to be paid to the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Tarrant County, such compensation to be paid monthly out of the county treasury, provided however, that any such compensation shall be equal to the compensation as provided by law and fixed by the commissioners court for the judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Tarrant County. The judge shall not engage in the practice of law while in office.

Sec. 12. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Tarrant County may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as any other county judge may be removed under the laws of this state.

Sec. 13. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Tarrant County shall appoint an official shorthand reporter, who shall be well skilled in his profession, shall be a sworn officer of the court, and who shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court. The provisions of the general laws of Texas relating to the appointment of reporters for the district courts shall apply in all their provisions, insofar as they are applicable, to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed, and the reporter is entitled to the same fees and salary and shall perform the same duties and shall take the same oath as provided for the reporters of district courts of this state, and shall be governed by any other laws covering the reporters of the district courts of this state.

Sec. 14. With the exception of Subsection (b), Section 6, the provisions of this Act take effect on January 1, 1979.

Art. 1970-62a. County Criminal Court No. 1 of Tarrant County

Sec. 1. That there shall be created a Court to be held in Tarrant County, Texas, to be known and designated as "The County Criminal Court of Tarrant County, Texas."

Sec. 2. The County Criminal Court of Tarrant County, Texas, shall have and same is hereby vested with concurrent jurisdiction within the said County of all criminal matters and causes, original and appellate, that is now vested in the County Courts having jurisdiction in civil and criminal cases under the Constitution and Laws of Texas, except as provided in Section 3 of this Act.

Sec. 3. The County Court of Tarrant County, Texas, shall retain as heretofore its jurisdiction as a juvenile court, the general jurisdiction of a probate court; it shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compose men-tis, and habitual drunkards, and grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of administrators, executors and guardians, transact all business pertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compose mentis, and common drunkards, including the settlements, partition and distribution of the estates of deceased persons; and of apprenticing minors as provided by law. The County Judge of Tarrant County shall be the Judge of the County Court of Tarrant County, Texas, and all ex officio duties of the County Judge shall be exercised by the said Judge of the said County Court, except as in so far as the same shall, by this Act, be committed to the Judge of the County Criminal Court of Tarrant County, Texas; and except such as have heretofore been conferred upon the Judge of the County Court at Law of Tarrant County, Texas.

Sec. 4. The County Criminal Court of Tarrant County, Texas, or the Judge thereof, shall have the power to issue writs of habeas corpus and grant injunctions for the enforcement of the penal laws, in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said Court or any court or tribunal inferior to said Court; and shall also have power to punish for contempt under such provisions as are now or may be provided by the general law governing county courts through the State.

Sec. 5. The terms of the County Criminal Court of Tarrant County, Texas, and the practice therein and appeals therefrom shall be as prescribed by law relating to the county courts. The terms of said County Criminal Court shall be held not less than four (4) times each year and the Commissioners Court of Tarrant County, Texas, shall fix the time at which said Court shall hold its terms, until the same may be changed according to law.

Sec. 6. As soon as may be after the passage of this Act, there shall be appointed by the Commissioners Court of Tarrant County in accordance with the law, a Judge of the County Criminal Court, hereby created, who shall be well informed in the laws of the State and who shall hold his office until the next succeeding General Election and until his successor shall have duly qualified. The Judge of said Court elected at any General Election shall hold office for two (2) years and until his successor shall have duly qualified; provided, that no person shall be eligible for Judge of said Court unless he shall be a citizen of the United States and of this State, who shall have been a practicing lawyer of this State or a Judge of a court in said State for four (4) years next preceding his appointment or election, and who shall have resided in the County of Tarrant for two (2) years next preceding his appointment or election.

Sec. 7. The Judge of the County Criminal Court of Tarrant County, Texas, shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by the law relating to county Judges.

Sec. 8. A special Judge of the County Criminal Court of Tarrant County, Texas, may be appointed or elected as provided by the laws relating to county courts and the Judges thereof.

Sec. 9. The County Clerk of Tarrant County, Texas, shall be the Clerk of the County Criminal Court of Tarrant County, Texas, the seal of said Court shall be the same as provided for county courts, except that the seal shall contain the words "The County Criminal Court, Tarrant County, Texas." The Sheriff of Tarrant County, Texas, shall in person or by deputy, attend said Court when required by the Judge thereof. As soon as may be after the passage of this Act the Sheriff of Tarrant County, Texas, shall appoint two (2) deputy sheriffs in addition to the staff now authorized for the sheriff's office; such two (2) deputy sheriffs shall conform to the qualifications generally prescribed for deputy sheriffs. Said two (2) deputy sheriffs shall receive a salary as fixed by the Commissioners Court in an amount not exceeding the maximum salary now authorized for deputy sheriffs, to be paid monthly out of the County Treasury by the Commissioners Court from any fund available for this purpose.

Sec. 10. The Judge of the County Criminal Court of Tarrant County, Texas, shall collect the same fee provided by law for county Judges in similar cases, all of which shall be paid by him monthly into the County Treasury, and the Judge of said Court shall receive a salary as fixed by the Commissioners Court not to exceed Eight Thousand, Nine Hundred Dollars ($8,900) per annum, to be paid monthly out of the County Treasury by the Commissioners Court; such Judge shall devote his entire time to the duties of his office, and shall not engage in the practice of law while in office.

Sec. 11. The Judge of the County Criminal Court of Tarrant County, Texas, may be removed from office in the same manner, and for the same causes as any other county Judge may be removed under the laws of this State.

Sec. 12. As soon as may be after the passage of this Act there shall be appointed by the Criminal District Attorney of Tarrant County one (1) Assistant Criminal District Attorney who shall conform to the qualifications generally prescribed for Assistant Criminal District Attorneys, such appointment to be in addition to the staff authorized for the Criminal District Attorney of Tarrant County at the time of the passage of this Act. Said additional Assistant Criminal District Attorney shall receive a salary as fixed by the Commissioners Court not less than Five Thousand, Four Hundred Dollars ($5,400) per annum, nor more than Six Thousand Dollars ($6,000) per annum, to be paid monthly out of the County Treasury by the Commissioners Court from any funds available for this purpose.

Sec. 13. As soon as may be after the passage of this Act there shall be appointed by the Criminal District Attorney of Tarrant County in accordance with the law one (1) Criminal Investigator who shall conform to the qualifications generally prescribed for Criminal Investigators, such appointment to be in addition to the staff authorized for the Criminal District Attorney of Tarrant County at the time of the passage of this Act. Said additional Criminal Investigator shall receive a salary as fixed by the Commissioners Court not less than Three Thousand, Six Hundred Dollars ($3,600) per annum, nor more than Four Thousand, Two Hundred Dollars ($4,200) per annum, plus the usual automobile allowance, to be paid monthly out of the County Treasury by the Commissioners Court from any funds available for this purpose.

Sec. 14. For the purpose of preserving a record in all cases for the information of the Court, jury and parties, the Judge of the County Criminal Court of Tarrant County, Texas, shall appoint an official shorthand reporter, who shall be well skilled in his profession, shall be a sworn officer of the Court and who shall hold his office at the pleasure of the Court; the provisions of the General Laws of Texas relating to the appointment of stenographers for the District Courts shall, and is hereby made to apply in all its provisions, in so far as they are applicable to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed, and said reporter shall be entitled to the same fees and salary and shall perform the same duties and shall take the same oath as are in said laws provided for the stenographers of District Courts of this State, and also be governed by any other laws covering the stenographers of the District Courts of this State; provided, that the official shorthand reporter of said Court shall not be required to take testimony in cases where neither party litigant nor the Judge demands it; but where the testimony is taken by said reporter a fee of Three Dollars ($3) shall be taxed by the clerk as costs in the case, the said Three Dollars ($3), when collected, to be paid into the County Treasury of Tarrant County, Texas.

Sec. 15. As soon as may be after this Act takes effect the Clerk of the County Court at Law of Tarrant County, Texas, and the Clerk of the Criminal District Court of Tarrant County, Texas, and the Clerk of the Criminal District Court No. 2 of Tarrant County, Texas, may transfer to the docket of the County Criminal Court of Tarrant County, Texas, hereby created, any of the criminal cases then pending in any of the said Courts and which may properly come within the jurisdiction of the County Criminal Court of Tarrant County, Texas, hereby created, and thereafter the Judge of any of the four (4) said Courts may, in his discretion, transfer any cause or causes that may at any time be pending in his Court to any of the other Courts by an order or orders entered in the minutes of his Court, provided however, that the Court to which any such cause is transferred would have had proper jurisdiction of such cause or causes if such cause or causes had been originally instituted in said Court; and the Judge of the Court to which such transfer or transfers are made shall dispose of said cause or causes in the same manner as if such cause or causes were originally instituted in said Court.

[Acts 1953, 53rd Leg., p. 909, ch. 375.]

Art. 1970-62b. County Criminal Court No. 2 of Tarrant County

Sec. 1. There shall be created a court to be held in Tarrant County, Texas, to be known and designated as "The County Criminal Court No. 1 of Tarrant County, Texas."

Sec. 2. Art. 1970-62c. County Criminal Court No. 3 of Tarrant County

Sec. 1. There is hereby created a county court to be held in and for Tarrant County, Texas, to be called the County Criminal Court No. 3 of Tarrant County, Texas.

Sec. 2. The County Criminal Court No. 3 of Tarrant County shall have, and same is hereby vested with, concurrent jurisdiction within said County of all criminal matters and causes, original and appellate, that are now vested in the county courts having jurisdiction in civil and criminal cases under the Constitution and laws of Texas. Each of the County Criminal Courts Nos. 3 and 4 of Tarrant County have concurrent jurisdiction within the County of all appeals from criminal convictions under the laws of the State of Texas and the municipal ordinances of the municipalities located in Tarrant County that are appealed from the justice courts and municipal courts in the County. The county clerk of Tarrant County shall alternatively file the appeals from the justice and municipal courts from convictions under the laws of the State and the ordinances of the municipalities in the County Criminal Court No. 3 and the County Criminal Court No. 4, regardless of the court or the judge to which the cases are addressed.

Sec. 3. Repealed by Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 802, ch. 360, § 4, eff. Aug. 27, 1979.

Sec. 4. The County Court of Tarrant County, Texas, shall retain, as heretofore, its jurisdiction as a juvenile court and its general jurisdiction as a probate court. It shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis and habitual drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of administrators, executors and guardians, and transact all business pertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, including the settlement, partition and distribution of the estates of deceased persons and the apprenticing of minors as provided by law. The county judge of Tarrant County, Texas, shall be judge of the County Court of Tarrant County, Texas, and all ex officio duties of the county judge shall be exercised by the said judge of said County Court except insofar as the same shall, by this Act, be committed to the judge of the County Criminal Court No. 3 of Tarrant County, Texas, and except such as have heretofore been conferred upon the judge of the County Court at Law of Tarrant County, Texas.

Sec. 5. The County Criminal Court No. 3 of Tarrant County, Texas, or the judge thereof, shall have the power to issue writs of habeas corpus and grant injunctions for the enforcement of the penal laws in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said Court or any court or tribunal inferior to said Court, and shall also have power to punish for contempt under such provisions as are now or may be provided by the General Law governing County Courts throughout the State.

Sec. 6. The terms of the County Criminal Court No. 3 of Tarrant County, Texas, and the practice therein and appeals therefrom shall be as prescribed by law relating to the County Courts. The terms of said County Criminal Court No. 3 shall be held not less than four (4) times each year, and the Commissioners Court of Tarrant County, Texas, shall fix the time at which said Court shall hold its terms until the same may be changed according to law.

Sec. 7. As soon as may be after the passage of this Act, there shall be appointed by the Commissioners Court of Tarrant County, in accordance with the law, a judge of the County Criminal Court No. 3 hereby created, who shall be well informed in the laws of the State and who shall hold his office until the next succeeding General Election and until his successor shall have duly qualified. At the next General Election there shall be elected a judge of the County Criminal Court No. 3 who shall hold office for the unexpired term. The judges of said Court elected at the General Election in 1966 and thereafter shall hold office for four (4) years and until their successors shall have duly qualified; provided that no person shall be eligible for judge of said Court unless he shall be a citizen of the United States and of this State who shall have been a practicing lawyer of this State or a judge of a Court in said State for four (4) years next preceding his appointment or election, and who shall have resided in the County of Tarrant for two (2) years next preceding his appointment or election.

Sec. 8. The judge of the County Criminal Court No. 3 of Tarrant County, Texas, shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by the law relating to county judges.

Sec. 9. A special judge of the County Criminal Court No. 3 of Tarrant County, Texas, may be appointed or elected as provided by the laws relating to County Courts and the judges thereof.

Sec. 10. The County Clerk of Tarrant County, Texas, shall be the clerk of the County Criminal Court No. 3 of Tarrant County, Texas. The seal of said Court shall be the same as provided for County Courts except that the seal shall contain the words "The County Criminal Court No. 3 of Tarrant County, Texas." The sheriff of Tarrant County, Texas, shall in person or by deputy, attend said Court when required by the judge thereof.

Sec. 11. The judge of the County Criminal Court No. 3 of Tarrant County, Texas, shall collect the same fee provided by law for county judges in similar cases, all of which shall be paid by him monthly into the County Treasury, and the judge of said Court shall receive a salary of Twelve Thousand Dollars ($12,000) per annum, to be paid monthly out of the County Treasury by the Commissioners Court; such judge shall not engage in the practice of law while in office.

Sec. 12. The judge of the County Criminal Court No. 3 of Tarrant County, Texas, may be removed from office in the same manner, and for the same causes as any other county judge may be removed under the laws of this State.

Sec. 13. For the purpose of preserving a record in all cases for the information of the Court, jury and parties, the judge of the County Criminal Court No. 3 of Tarrant County, Texas, shall appoint an official shorthand reporter, who shall be well skilled in his profession, shall be a sworn officer of the Court and who shall hold his office at the pleasure of the Court; the provisions of the General Laws of Texas relating to the appointment of stenographers for the District Courts shall, and is hereby made to, apply in all its provisions insofar as they are applicable to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed, and said reporter shall be entitled to the same fees and salary and shall perform the same duties and take the same oath as are in said laws provided for the stenographers of District Courts of this State, and he shall also be governed by any other laws covering the stenographers of the District Courts of this State; provided that the official shorthand reporter of said Court shall not be required to take testimony in cases where neither party litigant nor the judge demands it, but where the testimony is taken by said reporter, a fee of Three Dollars ($3) shall be taken by the clerk as costs in the case, the said Three Dollars ($3), when collected, shall be paid into the County Treasury of Tarrant County, Texas.

Sec. 14. As soon as may be after this Act takes effect, the clerk of the County Criminal Court of Tarrant County, Texas, and the clerk of the County Criminal Court No. 1 of Tarrant County, Texas, may transfer to the docket of the County Criminal Court No. 3 of Tarrant County, Texas, hereby created, any of the criminal cases then pending in the County Criminal Court of Tarrant County, Texas, and the County Criminal Court No. 1 of Tarrant County, Texas, and thereafter the judge of either of said Courts may, in his discretion, transfer any cause or causes that may at any time be pending in his Court to the other Courts by an order or orders entered in the minutes of his Court, and the judge of the Court to which such transfer or transfers are made shall dispose of said cause or causes in the same manner as if such cause or causes were originally instituted in said Court.

Sec. 15. The judge of the County Criminal Court of Tarrant County, Texas, and the judge of the County Criminal Court No. 1 of Tarrant County, Texas, and the judge of the County Criminal Court No. 3 of Tarrant County, Texas, may, in their discretion, exchange benches and sit and hear cases in the Court in which the case or proceeding is then pending, and try or otherwise dispose of same.

Sec. 16. The County Criminal Court of Tarrant County, Texas, and the County Criminal Court No. 1 of Tarrant County, Texas, shall hereafter be referred to and known as the County Criminal Court No. 1 of Tarrant County, and the County Criminal Court No. 2 of Tarrant County, respectively and all references in this Act or existing laws to the County Criminal Court of Tarrant County or the County Criminal Court No. 1 of Tarrant County shall, hereafter, refer to the County Criminal Court No. 1 of Tarrant County and County Criminal Court No. 2 of Tarrant County respectively.

Sec. 17. All laws and parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this Act are hereby repealed to the extent of such conflict only. As to all other laws and parts of laws, this Act shall be cumulative.

Sec. 18. If any Section, paragraph, sentence, clause, phrase or word contained in this Act shall be held unconstitutional by the Courts of this State, the invalidity of such portion of the Act shall not be construed to affect any other part of the Act.

[Acts 1963, 58th Leg., p. 682, ch. 251. Amended by Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 800, ch. 360, §§ 1, 4, eff. Aug. 27, 1979.]

Section 3 of the 1979 amendatory act provided:

"When this Act becomes effective, the judges of the County Criminal Court No. 3 of Tarrant County and the County Criminal Court No. 4 of Tarrant County, together with the clerk of the courts, shall make a just and fair division of all the cases pending on the dockets of those courts, including those cases appealed from criminal convictions under the laws of the State of Texas and the municipal ordinances of the municipalities located in Tarrant County that were appealed from the justice courts and the municipal courts in the county. After the division is made, the clerk of the courts shall transfer to the docket of each court all cases allotted to the court in the division made by the judges. In cases transferred as provided by this Act, all processes, writs, bonds, recognizances or other obligations issued or made in the cases shall be returned to and filed in the court to which transfer is made. All bonds executed and recognizances entered into in those cases shall bind the parties for their appearance or to fulfill the obligations of such bonds or recognizances at the terms of the court to which the cases are transferred as fixed by law. All processes issued or returned before transfer of the cases as well as all bonds and recognizances before taken in the cases shall be valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made."

Art. 1970-62d. County Criminal Court No. 4 of Tarrant County

Sec. 1. There is created a county court to be held in and for Tarrant County to be called the County Criminal Court No. 4 of Tarrant County.

Sec. 2. The County Criminal Court No. 4 of Tarrant County shall have and same is vested with concurrent jurisdiction within the county of all criminal matters and causes, original and appellate, that is vested in the county courts having jurisdiction in criminal cases under the constitution and laws of Texas. Each of the County Criminal Courts Nos. 3 and 4 of Tarrant County have concurrent jurisdiction within the county of all appeals from criminal convictions under the laws of the State of Texas and the municipal ordinances of the municipalities located in Tarrant County that are appealed from the justice courts and municipal courts in the county. The county clerk of Tarrant County shall alternately file the appeals from the justice and municipal courts from convictions under the laws of the state and the ordinances of the municipalities in the County Criminal Court No. 3 and the County Criminal Court No. 4 regardless of the court or the judge to which the cases are addressed.

Sec. 3. The County Criminal Court No. 4 of Tarrant County, or its judge, has the power to issue writs of injunction and all writs necessary for the enforcement of the jurisdiction of the court. It may issue writs of habeas corpus in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the court or of any other court of inferior jurisdiction in the county. The court and judge have the power to punish for contempt as prescribed by law for county courts. The judge of the County Criminal Court No. 4 has all other powers, duties, immunities, and privileges provided by law for county court judges.

Sec. 4. The terms of the County Criminal Court No. 4 of Tarrant County and the practice therein and appeals therefrom shall be as prescribed by law relating to the county courts. The terms of the County Criminal Court No. 4 shall be held not less than four times each year, and the Commissioners Court of Tarrant County shall fix the time at which the court shall hold its terms until the same may be changed according to law.

Sec. 5. As soon as possible after the passage of this Act, there shall be appointed by the Commissioners Court of Tarrant County a judge of the County Criminal Court No. 4, who shall be well informed in the laws of the state and who shall hold his office until the next succeeding general election and until his successor has qualified. At the next general election, there shall be elected a judge of the County Criminal Court No. 4 who shall hold office for the unexpired term. The judge of the court elected at the general election in 1978 and thereafter shall hold office for four years and until his successor has qualified. No person is eligible to be judge of the court unless he is a citizen of the United States and of this state who has been a practicing lawyer of this state or a judge of a court in this state for four years next preceding his appointment or election, and who shall have resided in the County of Tarrant for two years next preceding his appointment or election.

Sec. 6. The judge of the County Criminal Court No. 4 of Tarrant County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by the law relating to county judges.

Sec. 7. A special judge of the County Criminal Court No. 4 of Tarrant County may be appointed or elected as provided by the laws relating to County Courts and the judges thereof.

Sec. 8. The County Clerk of Tarrant County, Texas, shall be the clerk of the County Criminal Court No. 4 of Tarrant County. The seal of the court shall be the same as provided for county courts except that the seal shall contain the words "The County Criminal Court No. 4, Tarrant County, Texas." The sheriff of Tarrant County shall in person or by deputy attend the court when required by the judge thereof.

Sec. 9. The judge of the County Criminal Court No. 4 of Tarrant County shall collect the same fees provided by law for county judges in similar cases, all of which shall be paid by him monthly into the county treasury. The judge of the County Criminal Court No. 4 shall receive the same compensation as provided by law and fixed by the commissioners court for the judges of the County Criminal Courts Nos. 1, 2, and 3 of Tarrant County, to be paid monthly out of the county treasury by the commissioners court. The judge shall not engage in the practice of law while in office.

Sec. 10. The judge of the County Criminal Court No. 4 of Tarrant County may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as any other county judge may be removed under the laws of this state.

Sec. 11. For the purpose of preserving a record in all cases for the information of the court, jury, and parties, the judge of the County Criminal Court No. 4 of Tarrant County shall appoint an official shorthand reporter, who shall be well skilled in his profession, shall be a sworn officer of the court, and who shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court. The provisions of the general laws of Texas relating to the appointment of stenographers for the district courts shall apply in all their provisions, insofar as they are applicable, to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed, and the reporter is entitled to the same fees and salary and shall perform the same duties and shall take the same oath as provided for the stenographers of district courts of this state, and shall be governed by any other laws covering the stenographers of the district courts of this state.

Sec. 12. After this Act becomes effective, the judges of the County Criminal Courts Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4 of Tarrant County shall make a just and fair division of the cases pending on the dockets of the County Criminal Courts Nos. 1, 2, and 3, and after such division is made the clerk shall transfer to the docket of the County Criminal Court No. 4 of Tarrant County all cases allotted to the County Criminal Court No. 4 of Tarrant County in the division so made by the judges. Thereafter, the judge of a county criminal court in Tarrant County may, in his discretion, transfer any cause that may at any time be pending in his court to the other courts by an order or orders entered in the minutes of his court. However, no case may be transferred from one court to another court without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred, and no case may be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred. The judge of the court to which such transfer or transfers are made shall dispose of the cause or causes in the same manner as if such cause or causes were originally instituted in that court. In cases transferred to any one of the county criminal courts in Tarrant County, as provided in this Act, all process extant at the time of the transfer shall be returned to and filed in the court to which the transfer is made, and shall be as valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

Sec. 13. The judges of the County Criminal Courts Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4 of Tarrant County may, in their discretion, exchange benches and sit and hear cases in the court in which the case or proceeding is then pending, and try or otherwise dispose of same.

Section 3 of the 1979 amendatory act provided for the division of cases pending on the dockets of County Criminal Courts Nos. 3 and 4 upon the effective date of the amendment; see note under art. 1970-62c.

Art. 1970-62e. County Criminal Courts Nos. 5 and 6 of Tarrant County

Creation

Sec. 1. The County Criminal Court No. 5 of Tarrant County and the County Criminal Court No. 6 of Tarrant County are created on the dates determined as provided by Section 18 of this Act.

Jurisdiction

Sec. 2. A court created by this Act has concurrent jurisdiction within the county of all criminal matters and causes, original and appellate, that is vested in the county courts having jurisdiction in criminal cases under the constitution and laws of Texas. A court created by this Act has concurrent jurisdiction within the county of all appeals from criminal convictions under the laws of this state and the municipal ordinances of the municipalities located in Tarrant County that are appealed from the justice courts and municipal courts in the county. The county clerk of Tarrant County shall alternately file the appeals from the justice and municipal courts from convictions under the laws of this state and the ordinances of the municipalities in the County Criminal Court No. 3, County Criminal Court No. 4, and the courts created by this Act, regardless of the court or the judge to which a case is addressed.

Writ Power

Sec. 3. A court created by this Act or its judge, has the power to issue writs of injunction and all writs necessary for the enforcement of the jurisdiction of the court. It may issue writs of habeas corpus in cases in which the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the court or of any other court of inferior jurisdiction in the county. The court and judge have the power to punish for contempt as prescribed by law for county courts. The judge of a court created by this Act has all other powers, duties, immunities, and privileges provided by law for county court judges.

Terms

Sec. 4. The terms of the courts created by this Act and the practice in those courts and appeals from them are as prescribed by law relating to the county courts. The courts created by this Act shall hold at least four terms each year, and the Commissioners Court of Tarrant County shall fix the time at which the courts shall hold terms until the terms are changed according to law.

Judge

Sec. 5. (a) Beginning at the first general election following creation of a court under this Act at which county court at law judges are regularly elected, and every four years thereafter, the qualified voters of the county shall elect a judge for the court. The judge serves until his successor is elected and has qualified.

(b) The commissioners court shall appoint a person to fill a vacancy in the office of the judge of a court created by this Act. The appointee holds office until the next succeeding general election and until his successor is elected and has qualified.

(c) A judge must be a citizen of the United States and of this state who has been a practicing lawyer of this state or a judge of a court in this state for four years next preceding his appointment or election, and must have resided in Tarrant County for two years next preceding his appointment or election.

Bond

Sec. 6. The judge of a court created by this Act shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to county judges.

Special Judge

Sec. 7. A special judge of a court created by this Act may be appointed or elected as provided by the laws relating to appointment of a special county judge.

Clerk

Sec. 8. The county clerk serves as the clerk of the courts created by this Act.

Seal

Sec. 9. The seal of the courts created by this Act shall be the same as provided for county courts except that the seals shall contain the words "The County Criminal Court No. 5, Tarrant County, Texas," and "The County Criminal Court No. 6, Tarrant County, Texas."

Sheriff

Sec. 10. The sheriff of Tarrant County shall in person or by deputy attend the courts if required by the judge of a court.

Fees

Sec. 11. The judges of the courts created by this Act shall collect the same fees provided by law for county judges in similar cases. The judges shall pay the fees monthly into the county treasury.

Compensation

Sec. 12. The judges of the courts created by this Act are entitled to receive the same compensation as provided by law and fixed by the commissioners court for the other judges of the county criminal courts of Tarrant County. The commissioners court shall pay the salary monthly out of the county treasury.

Private Practice

Sec. 13. The judges may not engage in the practice of law while in office.

Removal of Judge

Sec. 14. The judge of a court created by this Act may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes that a county judge may be removed under the laws of this state.

Shorthand Reporter

Sec. 15. For the purpose of preserving a record in all cases for the information of the court, jury, and parties, the judges of the county criminal courts created by this Act shall each appoint an official shorthand reporter, who must be well skilled in his profession. The reporter is a sworn officer of the court who holds his office at the pleasure of the court. The general law relating to stenographers for district courts applies to the official shorthand reporter. A reporter is entitled to the same fees and salary and shall perform the same duties and shall take the same oath as provided for the stenographers of district courts.

Transfer of Cases

Sec. 16. The judge of a county criminal court in Tarrant County may transfer any case that is pending in his court to another county criminal court by an order entered in the minutes of his court. However, a case may not be transferred from one court to another court without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred, and a case may not be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred. The judge of the court to which a transfer is made shall dispose of the case in the same manner as if the case were originally instituted in that court. In cases transferred to a county criminal court in Tarrant County, as provided in this Act, all process extant at the time of the transfer shall be returned to and filed in the court to which the transfer is made, and shall be as valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

Exchange of Benches

Sec. 17. The judges of the county criminal courts of Tarrant County may exchange benches and sit and hear cases in the court in which the case or proceeding is pending and may try or otherwise dispose of the case or proceeding.

Date of Creation

Sec. 18. (a) The County Criminal Court No. 5 of Tarrant County is created on January 1, 1984, or on an earlier date determined by the commissioners court by an order entered on its minutes.

(b) The County Criminal Court No. 6 of Tarrant County is created on January 1, 1986, or on an earlier date determined by the commissioners court by an order entered on its minutes.

Initial Appointment of Judge

Sec. 19. The commissioners court shall appoint a person to fill the vacancy existing on the creation of the office of judge as provided by Section 5(b) of this Act.

Initial Transfer of Cases

Sec. 20. After a court is created under this Act, the judges of the county criminal courts of Tarrant County shall make a fair division of the cases pending on the dockets of those courts. At the judges' direction the clerk shall transfer cases to the court created by this Act.

Effective Date

Sec. 21. This Act takes effect September 1, 1983.

Sec. 4. The County Court of Harris County shall retain, as heretofore, the powers and jurisdiction of said court existing at the time of the passage of this Act, and shall exercise its powers and jurisdiction as a Probate Court with respect to all matters and proceedings of such nature other than those transferred to or filed in the said Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County or Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County. The County Judge of Harris County shall be the judge of the County Court of Harris County, and all ex officio duties of the County Judge of Harris County, as they now exist, shall be exercised by the County Judge of Harris County, except in so far as the same are expressly committed by statute to the judge of the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County or to the judge of the Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County. Nothing contained in this Act shall be construed as in any wise impairing or affecting the jurisdiction of the County Civil Court at Law No. 1 of Harris County or the County Civil Court at Law No. 2 of Harris County.

Sec. 5. The practice and procedure in the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County shall be the same as that provided by law generally for the county courts of this state; and all statutes and laws of the state, as well as all rules of court relating to proceedings in the county courts of this state, or to the review thereof or appeals therefrom, shall, as to all matters within the jurisdiction of said court, apply equally thereto.

Sec. 6. The Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County shall have power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, execution, attachment, and all writs and process necessary to the exercise and enforcement of the jurisdiction of said court, and also the power to punish for contempt under such provisions as are or may be provided by the general laws governing County Courts throughout the state.

Sec. 7. There shall be two (2) terms of said Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County in each year, and the first of such terms shall be known as the January-June Term, shall begin on the first Monday in January and shall continue until and including Sunday next before the first Monday in July; and the second of such terms, which shall be known as the July-December Term, shall begin on the first Monday in July and shall continue until and including Sunday next before the first Monday in the following January.

Sec. 8. The Judge of the Probate Court of Harris County shall continue as judge of the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County until December 31, 1970, and until his successor is duly qualified. There shall be elected in said county by the duly qualified voters thereof at the general election of 1970, and at the general election every four (4) years thereafter, a judge of the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County who shall hold his office for four (4) years and until his successor shall be duly qualified. The judge of the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County shall be well informed in the laws of the state and shall have been a duly licensed and practicing member of the bar of this state for not less than five (5) consecutive years prior to his election.

Sec. 9. The judge of the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County shall execute a bond in the sum of One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000), payable as required by law, and take the oath relating to county judges as provided by law.

Sec. 10. Any vacancy in the office of the judge of the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County may be filled by the Commissioners Court of Harris County by the appointment of a judge of said court, who shall serve until the next general election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 11. In the case of the absence, disqualification or incapacity of the judge of the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County, the County Judge of Harris County or the judge of the Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County shall sit and act as judge of said court, and may hear and determine, either in his own courtroom or in the courtroom of said court, any matter or proceeding there pending, and enter any order in such matters or proceedings as the judge of said court may enter if personally presiding therein.

Sec. 12. In the case of the absence, disqualification or incapacity of the judge of the said Probate Court No. 1 and the judge of the Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County and the County Judge of Harris County, a Special Judge of the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County may be appointed or elected as provided by the general laws relating to county courts and the judges thereof.

Sec. 13. Repealed by Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 1639, ch. 686, § 3, eff. Aug. 27, 1979.

Sec. 14. The county clerk of Harris County shall be the clerk of the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County. The seal of the court shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts except that the seal shall contain the words "Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County, Texas," and said seal shall be judicially noticed. The sheriff of Harris County shall, in person or by deputy, attend the court when required by the judge thereof.

Sec. 15. The judge of the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County shall collect the same fees as are now or hereafter established by law relating to county judges as to matters within the jurisdiction of said court, all of which shall be paid to him into the County Treasury as collected, and he shall receive an annual salary in the amount, and to be fixed, as is now or hereafter established by law for probate judges.

Sec. 16. The primary purpose of this Act is to change the name of the Probate Court of Harris County, Texas, to Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County, Texas, and none of the provisions hereof shall be construed as creating a new court. All processes extant in the Probate Court of Harris County on the effective date of this Act shall be returnable to and filed in the said court, the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County, and all of such processes so returned to and filed in the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County shall be valid and binding.

Art. 1970-110a.2. Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County

Sec. 1. [Classified as art. 1970-110a.1, now repealed].

Sec. 2. There is hereby created a County Court to be held in and for Harris County, to be called the "Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County, Texas."

Sec. 3. Said Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County shall have the general jurisdiction of a Probate Court within the limits of Harris County, concurrent with the jurisdiction of the County Court of Harris County, Texas, in such matters and proceedings, and also concurrent with and in all things equal to that heretofore conferred upon the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County, Texas. It shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of executors, transact all business appertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis and common drunkards, including the settlement, partition and distribution of estates of deceased persons, lunacy proceedings and the apprenticing of minors as provided by law.

Sec. 4. On the first day of the initial term of said Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County, Texas, there shall be transferred to the docket of said Court, under the direction of the County Judge and by order entered on the Minutes of the County Court of Harris County, Texas, such number of such proceedings and matters then pending in the County Court of Harris County, Texas, as shall be, as near as may be, four-fifths in number of the total of all of same then pending, and all writs and processes theretofore issued by or out of said County Court of Harris County in such matters or proceedings shall be returnable to the Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County, Texas, as though originally issued therefrom. All such new matters and proceedings filed on said day, or thereafter filed, with the County Clerk of Harris County, irrespective of the Courts or Judge to which the matter or proceeding is addressed, shall be filed by said Clerk alternately in said Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County and said Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County in the order in which the same are deposited with said

Clerk for filing, beginning first with the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County, filing the next with the Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County, and continuing alternately thereafter, and further, said Clerk shall keep separate dockets for each of said Courts. The County Judge of Harris County, in his discretion, may, by an order entered upon the Minutes of the County Court of Harris County, on or after the first day of the initial term of said Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County, transfer to said Probate Court No. 2 any such matter or proceeding then or thereafter pending in the County Court of Harris County and all processes extant at the time of such transfer shall be returned to and filed in the Court to which such transfer is made and shall be as valid and binding as though originally issued out of the Court to which such transfer may be made. Each of the Judges of the County Court and said Probate Courts No. 1 and 2 may, at any time, with the consent of the Judge of the County Court or the Judge of the Probate Court to which transfer is to be made by an order entered upon the Minutes of the County Court or of such Probate Court of Harris County, transfer to said County Court or other Probate Court any such matter or proceeding then or thereafter pending in such County or Probate Court of Harris County, and all processes extant at the time of such transfer shall be returnable to and filed in the County Court or the Probate Court to which such transfer is made and shall be as valid and binding as though originally issued out of the County Court or the Probate Court to which such transfer may be made.

Sec. 5. The County Court of Harris County shall retain, as heretofore, the powers and jurisdiction of said Court existing at the time of the passage of this Act, and shall exercise its powers and jurisdiction as a Probate Court with respect to all matters and proceedings of such nature, except those matters and proceedings provided in Section 4 of this Act to be transferred to and filed in said Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County and those matters and proceedings heretofore transferred to and filed either originally or subsequently, in the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County in accordance with Section 4, Chapter 520, Acts of 1949, 51st Legislature, Regular Session. The County Judge of Harris County shall be the Judge of the County Court of Harris County, and all ex-officio duties of the County Judge of Harris County as they now exist shall be exercised by the County Judge of Harris County. Nothing contained in this Act shall be construed as in any wise impairing or affecting the jurisdiction of the County Civil Court at Law No. 1 of Harris County, or of the County Civil Court at Law No. 2 of Harris County, or the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, or 4 of Harris County, Texas.

Sec. 6. The practice and procedure in the Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County shall be the same as that provided by law generally for the county courts of this State; and all statutes and laws of the State as well as all Rules of Court relating to proceedings therefrom, shall, as to all matters within the jurisdiction of said Court, apply equally thereto.

Sec. 7. The Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County shall have power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, execution, attachment, and all writs and process necessary to the exercise and enforcement of the jurisdiction of said Court, and also the power to punish for contempt under such provision as are or may be provided by the General Laws governing county courts throughout the State.

Sec. 8. The initial term of the Probate Court No. 2 shall begin on the first Monday next after the first day of the first calendar month following the effective date of this Act and shall continue until and including Sunday next before the first Monday in January, of the following year. Thereafter there shall be two (2) terms of said Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County in each year, and the first of such terms shall be known as the January-June Term, and shall begin on the first Monday in January and shall continue until and including Sunday next before the first Monday in July, and the second of such terms, which shall be known as the July-December Term, shall begin on the first Monday in July and shall continue until and including Sunday next before the first Monday in the following January.

Sec. 9. The term of office of the Judge of the Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County shall be for a period of four (4) years; said Judge shall be elected as provided by the Constitution and laws of the State for the election of Judges of County Probate Courts. A Judge of said Court shall be appointed by the Commissioners Court of Harris County as soon as practicable after the passage of this Act, who shall hold office from the date of his appointment until the General Election next before the first full term of office of said Judge, as herein provided and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified. The Judge of said Court shall be well informed in the laws of the State, and shall have been a duly licensed and practicing member of the Bar of this State for not less than five (5) consecutive years.

Sec. 10. The Judge of the Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County shall execute a bond in the amount of $100,000.00; take the oath of office as required by the laws relating to County Judges.

Sec. 11. Any vacancy in the office of the Judge of the Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County may be filled by the Commissioners Court of Harris County by the appointment of a Judge of said Court, who shall serve until the next General Election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 12. In the case of the absence, disqualification or incapacity of the Judge of the Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County, the County Judge of Harris County or the Judge of the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County, shall sit and act as Judge of said Court, and may hear and determine, either in his own courtroom or in the courtroom of said Court, any matter or proceeding there pending, and enter any order in such matters or proceedings as the Judge of said Court may enter if personally presiding therein.

Sec. 13. In case of the absence, disqualification or incapacity of the Judge of the Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County or the Judge of the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County and the County Judge of Harris County, a Special Judge of the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County or of the Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County as the need may demand, may be appointed or elected, as provided by the General Laws relating to county courts and to the Judge thereof.

Sec. 14. Repealed by Acts 1975, 64th Leg., p. 1119, ch. 421, § 2, eff. June 19, 1975.

Sec. 15. The County Clerk of Harris County shall be the Clerk of the Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County. The seal of the Court shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts except that the seal shall contain the words "Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County, Texas.", and said seal shall be judicially noticed. The Sheriff of Harris County shall, in person or by deputy, attend the Court when required by the Judge thereof.

Sec. 16. The Judge of the Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County shall collect the same fees as are now or hereafter established by law relating to County Judges or to matters within the jurisdiction of said Court, all of which shall be paid by him into the County Treasury as collected. From and after the date he becomes duly qualified thereafter, he shall receive an annual salary equal to the salary of the Judge of the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County, Texas, and payable in like manner.

Acts 1967, 60th Leg., p. 1835, ch. 712, § 1 was codified as article 1970-110a.1; sections 17 and 18 of the act provided:

"Sec. 17. All laws and parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this Act are hereby repealed to the extent of such conflict only. As to all other laws or parts of laws, this Act shall be cumulative.

"Sec. 18. The provisions of this Act are severable. If any provision of this Act or the application thereof to any person or circumstance shall be held to be invalid or unconstitutional, the remainder of the Act and the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances shall not thereby be rendered invalid or unconstitutional, nor be affected thereby."

Art. 1970-110a.3. Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County

Sec. 1. There is created a county court to be held in and for Harris County, to be called the "Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County, Texas."

Sec. 2. The Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County shall have the general jurisdiction of a probate court within the limits of Harris County, concurrent with the jurisdiction of the County Court of Harris County, Texas, in probate, administrations, guardianship, and mental illness proceedings, and also concurrent with and in all things equal to that heretofore conferred on the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County, Texas, and Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County, Texas. It shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of executors, transact all business appertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, including the settlement, partition, and distribution of estates of deceased persons, lunacy proceedings, and the apprenticing of minors as provided by law. It is the intention of this Act that the Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County shall have the primary responsibility at all times for all mental illness proceedings.

Sec. 3. On the first day of the initial term of the Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County, Texas, there shall be transferred to the docket of said court, under the jurisdiction of the county judge and the judges of the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County, and the Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County, and by order entered on the minutes of the County Court of Harris County, and of the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County, and of the Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County, such number of such proceedings and matters then pending in the County Court of Harris County, in the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County, and in the Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County, as will equalize the number of such cases pending on the dockets of each of said four courts with the Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County having responsibility at all times for all mental illness proceedings. All writs and processes theretofore issued by or out of the County Court of Harris County, the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County, and the Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County, in such matters and proceedings shall be returnable to the Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County as though originally issued therefrom. All new mental illness proceedings filed on said day or thereafter with the County Clerk of Harris County irrespective of the court or judge to which the matter or proceedings is addressed, shall be filed by the clerk in the Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County in the order in which the same are deposited with him for filing. All other new matters and proceedings filed on said day, or thereafter filed, with the County Clerk of Harris County, irrespective of the courts or judge to which matter or proceeding is addressed, shall be filed by said clerk so that the cases ending in 0 and 5 shall be filed in the Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County and all other cases or matters ending in an odd number shall be filed in the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County, and all other cases or matters ending in an even number shall be filed in the Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County, and in the order in which the same are deposited with said clerk for filing, and further said clerk shall keep separate dockets for each of said courts. Each of the judges of the County Court and said Probate Courts Nos. 1, 2, and 3 of Harris County may, at any time, with the consent of the judge of the county court or probate court to which transfer is to be made, by an order entered on the minutes of the county court or of such probate court of Harris County, transfer to said county court or other probate court any such matter or proceeding then or thereafter pending in such county or probate court of Harris County, and all processes extant at the time of such transfer shall be returnable to and filed in the county court or the probate court to which such transfer is made and shall be as valid and binding as though originally issued out of the county court or the probate court to which such transfer may be made.

Sec. 4. The County Court of Harris County shall retain, as heretofore, the powers and jurisdiction of said court existing at the time of the passage of this Act, and shall exercise its powers and jurisdiction as a probate court with respect to all matters and proceedings of such nature, except those matters and proceedings transferred to or filed in said Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County or Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County or Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County. The County Judge of Harris County shall be the Judge of the County Court of Harris County, and all ex officio duties of the County Judge of Harris County as they now exist shall be exercised by the County Judge of Harris County. Nothing contained in this Act shall be construed as in anywise impairing or affecting the jurisdiction of the County Civil Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, or 3 of Harris County, or the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, or 9 of Harris County, Texas, or any other county court at law of Harris County heretofore or hereafter created.

Sec. 5. The practice and procedure in the Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County shall be the same as that provided by law generally for the county courts of this state, and all statutes and laws of the state, as well as all rules of court relating to proceedings therefrom, shall, as to all matters within the jurisdiction of said court, apply equally thereto.

Sec. 6. The Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County shall have power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, execution, attachment, and all writs and process necessary to the exercise and enforcement of the jurisdiction of said court, and also the power to punish for contempt under such provisions as are or may be provided by the general laws governing county courts throughout the state.

Sec. 7. The initial term of the Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County shall begin on the first Monday next after the first day of the first calendar month following the effective date of this Act and shall continue until and including Sunday next before the first Monday in January of the following year. Thereafter there shall be two terms of said Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County in each year, and the first of such terms shall be known as the January-June Term, and shall begin on the first Monday in January and shall continue until and including Sunday next before the first Monday in July, and the second of such terms, which shall be known as the July-December Term, shall begin on the first Monday in July and shall continue until and including Sunday next before the first Monday in the following January.

Sec. 8. When this Act becomes effective, the Commissioners Court of Harris County shall appoint a judge to the Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County. The judge appointed serves until the next general election and until his successor has been duly elected and has qualified. At the general election in 1978 and every fourth year thereafter, there shall be elected by the qualified voters of Harris County a judge of the Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County for a regular term of four years as provided in Article V, Section 30, and Article XVI, Section 65 of the Texas Constitution. The judge of said court shall be well informed in the laws of the state and shall have been a duly licensed and practicing member of the bar of this state for not less than five consecutive years prior to his appointment or election.

Sec. 9. The Judge of the Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County shall execute a bond in the amount of $100,000 and take the oath of office as required by the laws relating to county judges.

Sec. 10. Any vacancy in the office of the Judge of the Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County may be filled by the Commissioners Court of Harris County by the appointment of a judge of said court, who shall serve until the next general election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 11. In the case of the absence, disqualification, or incapacity of the Judge of the Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County, the County Judge of Harris County or the Judge of the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County or the Judge of the Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County, may sit and act as judge of said court, and may hear and determine, either in his own courtroom or in the courtroom of said court, any matter or proceeding there pending, and enter any order in such matters or proceedings as the judge of said court may enter if personally presiding therein.

Sec. 12. In case of the absence, disqualification, or incapacity of the Judge of the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County, the Judge of the Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County, the Judge of the Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County, or the County Judge of Harris County, a special judge of the Probate Court No. 1 of Harris County or of the Probate Court No. 2 of Harris County or of the Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County, as the need may demand, may be appointed or elected, as provided by the general laws relating to county courts and to the judges thereof.

Sec. 12a. Within 10 days after the effective date of this section, the judges of the Probate Courts Nos. 1, 2, and 3 of Harris County shall draw lots for terms as presiding judge of the courts of probate of Harris County. The judge of the court drawing lot number one shall act in that capacity until the first Tuesday after the first Monday of January, 1980. The judge of the court drawing lot number two shall serve for the six-month period ending on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of July, 1980. The judge of the court drawing lot number three shall serve for the six-month period ending on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of January, 1981. Thereafter, the judges shall continue to serve in rotation as presiding judge for periods of six months. No judge may serve two consecutive terms as presiding judge. It is the duty of the presiding judge of the courts of probate of Harris County to equalize as nearly as possible the dockets of the Probate Courts Nos. 1, 2, and 3, so that each of the courts will have an equal number of the probate cases pending in Harris County. It is the duty of the presiding judge of the courts of probate of Harris County to call a conference twice during each six-month term for the purpose of consultation and counsel as to the state of business in probate matters in Harris County and to arrange for the disposition of the business pending on the probate docket of each of the courts with probate jurisdiction in Harris County. In order to carry out the duties of presiding judge, the presiding judge of the courts of probate of Harris County has the power to transfer to or from any of the Probate Courts Nos. 1, 2, or 3 any case the presiding judge deems proper.

Sec. 12b. (1) Should there be created additional probate courts in Harris County, the judge of each new probate court shall serve as presiding judge for a period of six months with the first such six-month period to commence on the day following the expiration date of the term of the presiding judge of the most recently created probate court of Harris County.

(2) If two or more new probate courts are created in Harris County, at the same time, then the judge of each of the new probate courts shall draw lots for the purpose of determining the order of rotation to be used in the selection of the presiding judge.

Sec. 13. The County Clerk of Harris County shall be the Clerk of the Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County. The seal of the court shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts except that the seal shall contain the words "Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County, Texas," and said seal shall be judicially noticed. The Sheriff of Harris County shall, in person or by deputy, attend the court when required by the judge thereof.

Sec. 14. The Judge of the Probate Court No. 3 of Harris County shall collect the same fees as are now or hereafter established by law relating to county judges or to matters within the jurisdiction of said court, all of which shall be paid by him into the county treasury as collected. He may receive an annual salary equal to the salary of the judges of the Probate Courts Nos. 1 and 2 of Harris County, Texas, and payable in like manner.

Sec. 15. The provisions of this Act shall take effect September 1, 1977.

Art. 1970-110b. County Criminal Court at Law No. 2

Sec. 1. There is hereby created a Court to be held in Harris County, Texas, to be called the "County Criminal Court at Law No. 2."

Hereafter wherever the name of County Court at Law No. 3 appears in this Act creating said Court it shall be read and understood as meaning and referring to "County Criminal Court No. 2 of Harris County, Texas."

Sec. 2. The County Criminal Court at Law No. 2 of Harris County, Texas, shall have and it is hereby granted the same jurisdiction over criminal matters that is now or may be vested in county courts having jurisdiction in criminal actions and proceedings under the Constitution and laws of Texas, and shall have appellate jurisdiction in all appeals in criminal cases from justice courts and corporation courts within Harris County, Texas, and the judges of said court shall have the same powers, rights and privileges as to criminal matters as are or may be vested in the judges of county courts having criminal jurisdiction; provided that said court shall have no jurisdiction over any of those matters which is now vested exclusively in the County Civil Court at Law No. 1 or in the judge thereof.

Sec. 3. At each General Election, there shall be elected a judge of the County Court at Law No. 3 of Harris County, Texas, who shall have been a duly licensed and practicing member of the Bar of this State for not less than five (5) years, and who shall hold his office for two (2) years and until his successor shall have been duly qualified; and he shall be compensated as provided by law, and shall be paid out of the county treasury by the Commissioners Court in equal monthly installments; but such judge shall not collect any fee from the county for disposing of any criminal case, as provided in the Code of Criminal Procedure of Texas. Said Court or the judge thereof shall have the power to issue writs of habeas corpus in criminal misdemeanor cases, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of its jurisdiction. When this Act becomes effective the Commissioners Court of Harris County shall appoint a judge of the County Court at Law No. 3 of Harris County, Texas, who shall have the qualifications herein prescribed and shall serve until the next General Election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified. Any vacancy thereafter occurring in the office of the judge of said County Court at Law No. 3 of Harris County, Texas, shall be filled by the Commissioners Court of Harris County, the appointee thereof to hold office until the next succeeding General Election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 4. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 3 of Harris County, Texas, shall appoint an official shorthand reporter for such court, who shall be well skilled in his profession and shall be a sworn officer of the court and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court and all of the provisions of Chapter 13, Title 42, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended, and as the same may hereafter be amended and all other provisions of the Law relating to "official court reporters" shall and is hereby made to apply in all its provisions, in so far as they are applicable to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed, and in so far as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, and such official shorthand reporter shall be entitled to the same compensation as applicable to official shorthand reporters in the District Courts of Harris County, Texas, paid in the same manner that compensation of official shorthand reporters of the District Courts of Harris County is paid.

Sec. 5. The county clerk of Harris County, Texas, shall act as and be the clerk of said County Court at Law No. 3 of Harris County, Texas, in civil matters and the district clerk of Harris County, Texas, shall act as and be the clerk of said County Court at Law No. 3 of Harris County, Texas, in criminal matters. The county clerk shall receive and collect the same fees which he now receives and collects as clerk of the County Court at Law of Harris County, Texas, and the County Court at Law No. 2 of Harris County, Texas, in civil matters and causes. The district clerk shall receive and collect such fees as he now receives and collects in criminal matters as clerk of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Harris County, Texas.

Sec. 6. The sheriff of Harris County, either in person or by deputy, shall attend said court when required by the judge thereof; and the various sheriffs and constables of this State executing process issued out of said court shall receive the fees now or hereafter fixed by law for executing process issued out of county courts.

Sec. 7. The seal of the County Court at Law No. 3 of Harris County, Texas, shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts, except that such seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law No. 3 of Harris County, Texas," and said seal shall be judicially noticed.

Sec. 8. A special judge of said court may be appointed or elected in the manner and instances now or hereafter provided by law relating to county courts and judges thereof.

Sec. 9. The terms of the court hereby created shall begin on the first Monday of the months of June, August, October, December, February and April of each year. The session of said court shall be held in such place as may be provided therefor by the Commissioners Court of Harris County.

Sec. 10. When this Act becomes effective all civil actions or proceedings having numbers ending with 3, 6 and 9 pending on the docket of the County Court at Law of Harris County, Texas, shall be transferred to and docketed in the County Court at Law No. 3 of Harris County, Texas, by the county clerk and jurisdiction of such civil actions and proceedings so transferred is hereby conferred upon the County Court at Law No. 3 of Harris County, Texas. All criminal cases of even numbers pending on the docket of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Harris County, Texas, on the effective date of this Act shall be transferred to and docketed in the County Court at Law No. 3 of Harris County, Texas, by the district clerk and jurisdiction of such causes so transferred is hereby conferred upon the County Court at Law No. 3 of Harris County, Texas.

Sec. 11. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 3 of Harris County, Texas, may exchange benches with the judges of the County Court at Law of Harris County, Texas, and the County Court at Law No. 2 of Harris County, Texas, in the same manner that the judges of the County Court at Law of Harris County, Texas, and the County Court at Law No. 2 of Harris County, Texas, are authorized to exchange benches under the provisions of Section 5 of Senate Bill No. 144, Chapter 16 and Section 5 of the Senate Bill No. 143, Chapter 24, Acts of the Forty-first Legislature, Regular Session, 1929.

The district clerk shall receive and collect such fees as he now receives and collects in criminal matters as clerk of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4 of Harris County, Texas.

(f) The sheriff of Harris County, either in person or by deputy, shall attend said courts when required by the judges thereof; and the various sheriffs and constables of this state executing process issued out of said courts shall receive the fees now or hereafter fixed by law for executing process issued out of county courts.

(g) The seals of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 5, 6, and 7 of Harris County, Texas, shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts, except that such seals shall contain the words "County Criminal Court at Law No. 5 of Harris County, Texas," and the words "County Criminal Court at Law No. 6 of Harris County, Texas," and the words "County Criminal Court at Law No. 7 of Harris County, Texas," respectively, and said seals shall be judicially noticed.

(h) A special judge of each of said courts may be appointed or elected in the manner and instances now or hereafter provided by law relating to county courts and judges thereof.

(i) The terms of the courts hereby created shall begin on the first Monday of the months of June, August, October, December, February, and April of each year. The sessions of said courts shall be held in such places as may be provided therefor by the Commissioners Court of Harris County.

(j) When this Act becomes effective, the district clerk of Harris County, Texas, shall alternately file the first 300 cases to be filed in the said County Criminal Court at Law No. 5, and the said County Criminal Court at Law No. 6, and the said County Criminal Court at Law No. 7, with 100 cases being filed in each of the three said courts. Thereafter, cases shall be filed in rotation so thereafter of every seven cases filed, each of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7 shall each receive one case.

(k) The judges of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 5, 6, and 7 of Harris County, Texas, may exchange benches with each other and with the judges of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4 of Harris County, Texas, in the same manner that the judges of the County Criminal Court at Law No. 1 of Harris County, Texas, and the County Criminal Court at Law No. 2 of Harris County, Texas, and the County Criminal Court at Law No. 3 of Harris County, Texas, and the County Criminal Court at Law No. 4 of Harris County, Texas, are authorized to exchange benches. The judges of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7 of Harris County, Texas, may transfer criminal causes between said courts by entry of an order on the docket of the court from which the cause is transferred, provided that no cause shall be transferred without the consent of the judge of the court to which transferred.

(l) The practice in said County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 5, 6, and 7, and in cases of appeal and writs of error therefrom and thereto, shall be the same as is now or may hereafter be prescribed for county courts.

(m) In cases transferred to any one of the County Criminal Courts at Law of Harris County, Texas, as provided in this Act, all process extant at the time of such transfer shall be returned to and filed in the court to which such transfer is made, and shall be as valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which such transfer may be made. [Acts 1973, 63rd Leg., p. 582, ch. 251, § 1, eff. Aug. 27, 1973.]

Art. 1970-110c.3. County Criminal Court at Law Nos. 8 and 9 of Harris County

(a) There are hereby created two courts to be held in Harris County, Texas, to be called the "County Criminal Court at Law No. 8 of Harris County, Texas," and the "County Criminal Court at Law No. 9 of Harris County, Texas."

(b) The County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 8 and 9 of Harris County, Texas, shall have, and they are hereby granted the same jurisdiction over criminal matters that is now or may be vested in county courts having jurisdiction in criminal actions and proceedings under the constitution and laws of Texas, and shall have appellate jurisdiction in all appeals in criminal cases from justice courts and corporation courts within Harris County, and the judges of said courts shall have the same powers, rights, and privileges as to criminal matters as are or may be vested in the judges of county courts having criminal jurisdiction; provided that said courts shall have no jurisdiction over any of those matters which are now vested exclusively in the County Court of Harris County, or in the judge thereof.

(c) When this Act becomes effective, the Commissioners Court of Harris County shall appoint a judge of the County Criminal Court at Law No. 8 of Harris County, Texas, and a judge of the County Criminal Court at Law No. 9 of Harris County, Texas, who shall have the qualifications herein prescribed and shall serve until the next general election and until their successors shall be duly elected and qualified. At the general election in 1978 and every fourth year thereafter, there shall be elected by the qualified voters of Harris County a judge of each of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 8 and 9 of Harris County for a regular term of four years as provided in Article V, Section 30, and Article XVI, Section 65 of the Texas Constitution. The judge shall have been a duly licensed and practicing member of the bar of this state for not less than five years; and he shall be compensated as provided by law, and shall be paid out of the county treasury by the commissioners court in equal monthly installments; but such judge shall not collect any fee from the county for disposing of any criminal case, as provided in the Code of Criminal Procedure of Texas. Any vacancy occurring in the office of the judge of said County Criminal Court at Law No. 8 of Harris County, Texas, or in the office of the judge of said County Criminal Court at Law No. 9 of Harris County, Texas, shall be filled by the Commissioners Court of Harris County, the appointee thereof to hold office until the next succeeding general election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified. Said courts or the judges thereof shall have the power to issue writs of habeas corpus in criminal misdemeanor cases, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of its jurisdiction.

(d) The judges of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 8 and 9 of Harris County, Texas, shall each appoint an official shorthand reporter for his court, who shall be well skilled in his profession and shall be a sworn officer of the court and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court and all of the provisions of Chapter 13, Title 42, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended, and as the same may hereafter be amended and all other provisions of the law relating to official court reporters shall and are hereby made to apply in all its provisions, insofar as they are applicable to the official shorthand reporters herein authorized to be appointed, and insofar as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, and such official shorthand reporters shall be entitled to the same compensation as applicable to official shorthand reporters in the district courts of Harris County, Texas, paid in the same manner that compensation of official shorthand reporters of the district courts of Harris County is paid.

(e) The district clerk of Harris County, Texas, shall act as and be the clerk of said County Criminal Court at Law No. 8 of Harris County, Texas, and of said County Criminal Court at Law No. 9 of Harris County, Texas. The district clerk shall receive and collect such fees as he now receives and collects in criminal matters as clerk of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7 of Harris County, Texas.

(f) The sheriff of Harris County, either in person or by deputy, shall attend said courts when required by the judges thereof; and the various sheriffs and constables of this state executing process issued out of said courts shall receive the fees now or hereafter fixed by law for executing process issued out of county courts.

(g) The seals of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 8 and 9 of Harris County, Texas, shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts, except that such seals shall contain the words "County Criminal Court at Law No. 8 of Harris County, Texas," and the words "County Criminal Court at Law No. 9 of Harris County, Texas," respectively, and said seals shall be judicially noticed.

(h) A special judge of each of said courts may be appointed or elected in the manner and instances now or hereafter provided by law relating to county courts and judges thereof.

(i) The terms of the courts hereby created shall begin on the first Monday of the months of June, August, October, December, February, and April of each year. The sessions of said courts shall be held in such places as may be provided therefor by the Commissioners Court of Harris County.

(j) When this Act becomes effective, the district clerk of Harris County, Texas, shall alternately file the first 200 cases to be filed in the said County Criminal Court at Law No. 8, and the said County Criminal Court at Law No. 9, with 100 cases being filed in each of the two said courts. Thereafter, cases shall be filed in rotation so thereafter of every 9 cases filed, each of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, and 9 shall each receive one case.

(k) The judges of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 8 and 9 of Harris County, Texas, may exchange benches with each other and with the judges of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7 of Harris County, Texas, in the same manner that the judges of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7 of Harris County, Texas, are authorized to exchange benches. The judges of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, and 9 of Harris County, Texas, may transfer criminal causes between said courts by entry of an order on the docket of the court from which the cause is transferred, provided that no cause shall be transferred without the consent of the judge of the court to which transferred.

(l) The practice in said County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 8 and 9 and in cases of appeal and writs of error therefrom and thereto, shall be the same as is now or may hereafter be prescribed for county courts.

(m) In cases transferred to any one of the County Criminal Courts at Law of Harris County, Texas, as provided in this Act, all process extant at the time of such transfer shall be returned to and filed in the court to which such transfer is made, and shall be as valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which such transfer shall be made.

Art. 1970-110c.4. County Criminal Court at Law No. 10 of Harris County

(a) There is hereby created a court to be held in Harris County, Texas, to be called the "County Criminal Court at Law No. 10 of Harris County, Texas."

(b) The County Criminal Court at Law No. 10 of Harris County, Texas, shall have and it is hereby granted the same jurisdiction over criminal matters that is now or may be vested in county courts having jurisdiction in criminal actions and proceedings under the constitution and laws of Texas and shall have appellate jurisdiction in all appeals in criminal cases from justice courts and corporation courts within Harris County, and the judge of said court shall have the same powers, rights, and privileges as to criminal matters as are or may be vested in the judges of county courts having criminal jurisdiction; provided that said court shall have no jurisdiction over any of those matters which are now vested exclusively in the County Court of Harris County or in the judge thereof.

(c) When this Act becomes effective, the Commissioners Court of Harris County shall appoint a judge of the County Criminal Court at Law No. 10 of Harris County, Texas, who shall have the qualifications herein prescribed and shall serve until the next general election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified. At the general election in 1982 and every fourth year thereafter, there shall be elected by the qualified voters of Harris County a judge of the County Criminal Court at Law No. 10 of Harris County for a regular term of four years as provided in Article V, Section 30, and Article XVI, Section 65, of the Texas Constitution. The judge shall have been a duly licensed and practicing member of the bar of this state for not less than five years, and he shall be compensated as provided by law and shall be paid out of the county treasury by the commissioners court in equal monthly installments, but such judge shall not collect any fee from the county for disposing of any criminal case, as provided in the Code of Criminal Procedure of Texas. Any vacancy occurring in the office of the judge of said County Criminal Court at Law No. 10 of Harris County, Texas, shall be filled by the Commissioners Court of Harris County, the appointee thereof to hold office until the next succeeding general election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified. Said court or the judge thereof shall have the power to issue writs of habeas corpus in criminal misdemeanor cases and all writs necessary to the enforcement of its jurisdiction.

(d) The judge of the County Criminal Court at Law No. 10 of Harris County, Texas, shall appoint an official shorthand reporter for his court, who shall be well skilled in his profession and shall be a sworn officer of the court and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court; and all of the provisions of Chapter 13, Title 42, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended, and as the same hereafter be amended and all other provisions of the law relating to official court reporters shall and are hereby made to apply in all its provisions insofar as they are applicable to the official shorthand reporters herein authorized to be appointed and insofar as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act; and such official shorthand reporters shall be entitled to the same compensation as applicable to official shorthand reporters in the district courts of Harris County, Texas, paid in the same manner that compensation of official shorthand reporters of the district courts of Harris County is paid.

(e) The district clerk of Harris County, Texas, shall act as and be the clerk of said County Criminal Court at Law No. 10 of Harris County, Texas. The district clerk shall receive and collect such fees as he now receives and collects in criminal matters as clerk of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, and 9 of Harris County, Texas.

(f) The sheriff of Harris County, either in person or by deputy, shall attend said court when required by the judge thereof, and the various sheriffs and constables of this state executing process issued out of said court shall receive the fees now or hereafter fixed by law for executing process issued out of county courts.

(g) The seal of the County Criminal Court at Law No. 10 of Harris County, Texas, shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts, except that such seal shall contain the words "County Criminal Court at Law No. 10 of Harris County, Texas," and said seal shall be judicially noticed.

(h) A special judge of said court may be appointed or elected in the manner and instances now or hereafter provided by law relating to county courts and judges thereof.

(i) The terms of the court hereby created shall begin on the first Monday of the months of June, August, October, December, February, and April of each year. The sessions of said court shall be held in such place as may be provided therefor by the Commissioners Court of Harris County.

(j) The judges of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, and 10 of Harris County, Texas, may make such rules governing the random filing, numbering, and docketing of cases by the clerk, the assignment thereof for trial and the distribution of the work of such courts as in their discretion is deemed necessary or desirable for the orderly equalization of the dockets and dispatch of the business of the courts. The clerk, with the approval of the judges of the courts, may utilize mechanical or electronic means in the random filing, numbering, and docketing of the cases.

(k) The judge of the County Criminal Court at Law No. 10 of Harris County, Texas, may exchange benches with the judges of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, and 9 of Harris County, Texas, in the same manner that the judges of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, and 9 of Harris County, Texas, are authorized to exchange benches. The judges of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, and 10 of Harris County, Texas, may transfer criminal causes between said courts by entry of an order on the docket of the court from which the cause is transferred; provided that no cause shall be transferred without the consent of the judge of the court to which transferred.

(l) The practice in said County Criminal Court at Law No. 10 and in cases of appeal and writs of error therefrom and thereto shall be the same as is now or may hereafter be prescribed for county courts.

(m) In cases transferred to any one of the County Criminal Courts at Law of Harris County, Texas, as provided in this Act, all process extant at the time of such transfer shall be returned to and filed in the court to which such transfer is made and shall be as valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which such transfer shall be made.

Art. 1970-110c.5. County Criminal Court at Law Nos. 11 and 12 of Harris County

Sec. 1. (a) There are hereby created two courts to be held in Harris County, Texas, to be called the "County Criminal Court at Law No. 11 of Harris County, Texas," and the "County Criminal Court at Law No. 12 of Harris County, Texas."

(b) The County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 11 and 12 of Harris County, Texas, shall have and they are hereby granted the same jurisdiction over criminal matters that is now or may be vested in county courts having jurisdiction in criminal actions and proceedings under the constitution and laws of Texas and shall have appellate jurisdiction in all appeals in criminal cases from justice courts and municipal courts within Harris County, and the judges of said courts shall have the same powers, rights, and privileges as to criminal matters as are or may be vested in the judges of county courts having criminal jurisdiction, provided that said courts shall have no jurisdiction over any of those matters which are now vested exclusively in the County Court of Harris County or in the judge thereof.

(c) When this Act becomes effective, the Commissioners Court of Harris County shall appoint a judge of the County Criminal Court at Law No. 11 of Harris County, Texas, and a judge of the County Criminal Court at Law No. 12 of Harris County, Texas, who shall have the qualifications herein prescribed and shall serve until the next general election at which time these offices appear on the ballot as provided by Article XVI, Section 65, of the Texas Constitution and until their successors shall be duly elected and qualified, and every fourth year thereafter there shall be elected by the qualified voters of Harris County a judge of each of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 11 and 12 of Harris County for a regular term of four years as provided in Article V, Section 30, and Article XVI, Section 65, of the Texas Constitution. The judge shall have been a duly licensed and practicing member of the bar of this state for not less than five years, and he shall be compensated as provided by law and shall be paid out of the county treasury by the commissioners court in equal monthly installments, but such judge shall not collect any fee from the county for disposing of any criminal case, as provided in the Code of Criminal Procedure of Texas. Any vacancy occurring in the office of the Judge of said County Criminal Court at Law No. 11 of Harris County, Texas, or in the office of the County Criminal Court at Law No. 12 of Harris County, Texas, shall be filled by the Commissioners Court of Harris County, the appointee thereof to hold office until the next succeeding general election at which these offices appear on the ballot as provided by Article

XVI, Section 65, of the Texas Constitution and until their successors shall be duly elected and qualified. Said courts or the judges thereof shall have the power to issue writs of habeas corpus in criminal misdemeanor cases and all writs necessary to the enforcement of its jurisdiction.

(d) The judges of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 11 and 12 of Harris County, Texas, shall each appoint an official court reporter for his court, who shall be well skilled in his profession and shall be a sworn officer of the court and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court and all of the provisions of Chapter 13, Title 42, Revised Statutes, as amended, and as the same may hereafter be amended and all other provisions of the law relating to official court reporters shall and are hereby made to apply in all its provisions insofar as they are applicable to the official court reporters herein authorized to be appointed and insofar as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, and such official court reporters shall be entitled to the same compensation as applicable to official court reporters in the district courts of Harris County, Texas, paid in the same manner that compensation of official court reporters of the district courts of Harris County, Texas.

(e) The district clerk of Harris County, Texas, shall act as and be the clerk of said County Criminal Court at Law No. 11 of Harris County, Texas, and of said County Criminal Court at Law No. 12 of Harris County, Texas. The district clerk shall receive and collect such fees as provided by law.

(f) The sheriff of Harris County, either in person or by deputy, shall attend said courts when required by the judges thereof, and the various sheriffs and constables of this state executing process issued out of said courts shall receive the fees now or hereafter fixed by law for executing process issued out of county courts.

(g) The seals of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 11 and 12 of Harris County, Texas, shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts, except that such seals shall contain the words "County Criminal Court at Law No. 11 of Harris County, Texas," and the words "County Criminal Court at Law No. 12 of Harris County, Texas," respectively, and said seals shall be judicially noticed.

(h) A special judge of each of said courts may be appointed or elected in the manner and instances now or hereafter provided by law relating to county courts and judges thereof.

(i) The terms of the courts hereby created shall begin on the first Monday of the months of June, August, October, December, February, and April of each year. The sessions of said courts shall be held in such places as may be provided therefor by the Commissioners Court of Harris County.

(j) When this Act becomes effective the district clerk shall transfer all cases pending in County

Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, and 10 of Harris County, Texas, ending in the numeral 1 of the cause number to County Criminal Court at Law No. 11 of Harris County, Texas, and ending in the numeral 6 of the cause number to County Criminal Court at Law No. 12 of Harris County, Texas. Thereafter, the judges of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, and 12 of Harris County, Texas, may make such rules governing the random filing, numbering, and docketing of cases by the clerk, the assignment thereof for trial, and the distribution of the work of such courts as in their discretion is deemed necessary or desirable for the courts. The clerk with the approval of the judges of the courts may utilize mechanical or electronic means in the random filing, numbering, and docketing of the cases.

(k) The judges of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 11 and 12 of Harris County, Texas, may exchange benches with each other and with the judges of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, and 10 of Harris County in the same manner that the judges of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, and 10 of Harris County, Texas, are authorized to exchange benches. The judges of the County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, and 12 of Harris County, Texas, may transfer criminal causes between said courts by entry of an order on the docket of the court from which the cause is transferred, provided that no cause shall be transferred without the consent of the judge of the court to which transferred.

(l) The practice in said County Criminal Courts at Law Nos. 11 and 12 and in cases of appeal and writs of error therefrom and thereto shall be the same as is now or may hereafter be prescribed for county courts.

(m) In cases transferred to any one of the County Criminal Courts at Law of Harris County, Texas, as provided in this Act, all process extant at the time of such transfer shall be returned to and filed in the court to which such transfer is made and shall be as valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which such transfer shall be made.

Sections 2 to 4 of the 1983 Act provide:

"Sec. 2. If any provision, section, or clause of this Act or application thereof to any person or circumstances is held invalid, such invalidity shall not affect the provisions or applications hereof which can be given effect without the invalid provision, section, or clause, and to this end the provisions of this Act are declared to be severable.

"Sec. 3. The provisions of this Act pertaining to County Criminal Court at Law No. 11 of Harris County, Texas, shall become effective on June 1, 1983.

"Sec. 4. The provisions of this Act pertaining to County Criminal Court at Law No. 12 of Harris County, Texas, shall become effective on September 1, 1983."

Art. 1970-110d. County Civil Court at Law No. 2 of Harris County

(a) There is hereby created a court to be held in Harris County, Texas, to be called the "County Civil Court at Law No. 2 of Harris County, Texas," and the seal of said Court shall be the same as provided by law for county courts except the seal shall contain the words "County Civil Court at Law No. 2."

(b) The County Civil Court at Law No. 2 of Harris County, Texas, shall have, and it is hereby granted the same jurisdiction over civil matters, proceedings and cases, that is now or may be vested in the County Civil Court at Law No. 1, and shall have jurisdiction in civil actions, and the judge thereof to exercise equal administrative and ministerial jurisdiction in matters of the filing and disposition of proceedings in eminent domain, concurrently and coextensively with the judge presiding in County Civil Court at Law No. 1, under the Constitution and laws of Texas, and this Court shall have appellate jurisdiction likewise in appeals of civil cases from the justice courts within Harris County, and the Judges of said Court shall have the same powers, rights and privileges as to civil matters as are or may be vested in the judges of county courts having civil jurisdiction, provided that the said Court shall have no jurisdiction over any of those matters which is now vested exclusively in the County Court of Harris County, or in the Judge thereof.

(c) The County Civil Court at Law No. 2 of Harris County shall have jurisdiction in all civil matters and causes, original and appellate, except probate matters, over which, by the Constitution and general laws of the State of Texas, the County Court of said County would have formerly had jurisdiction, and shall have equal and like jurisdiction over civil cases, and civil proceedings in the same manner as jurisdiction has been heretofore exercised in civil cases and civil proceedings and in eminent domain by the County Civil Court at Law No. 1.

That County Civil Courts at Law (No. 1 and No. 2) shall have special jurisdiction in matters of eminent domain and the Judges thereof shall have sole administrative and ministerial jurisdiction to file and dispose of proceedings in eminent domain concurrently and coextensively when filed in either of said Civil Courts or with the respective Judges thereof.

(d) The terms of the County Civil Court at Law No. 2 of Harris County, and the practice therein and appeals and writs of error therefrom shall be as prescribed by laws relating to county courts. The terms of the Harris County Civil Court at Law No. 2 for civil cases shall be held as now established for the terms of the County Civil Court at Law No. 1 of Harris County until the same be changed in accordance with the law.

Said Court shall hold six (6) terms a year, beginning respectively on the first Monday in January, in March, in May, in July, in September, and in November of each year, and each term shall continue until the business is disposed of.

(e) The Judge of the said Harris County Civil Court at Law No. 2, shall be elected at the General Election by the qualified voters of Harris County for a term of four (4) years and shall hold his office until his successor shall have been elected and qualified. He shall have been a duly licensed and practicing member of the Bar of this State for not less than five (5) years; and he shall be compensated as provided by law, and shall be paid out of the county treasury by the Commissioners Court in equal monthly installments; and when this Act becomes effective the Commissioners Court of Harris County shall appoint a Judge to the County Civil Court at Law No. 2 of Harris County who shall have the qualifications herein prescribed, and shall serve until the next General Election, and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified. Any vacancy thereafter occurring in the office of Judge of said Harris County Civil Court at Law No. 2, shall be filled by the Commissioners Court of Harris County, the appointee thereof to hold office until the next succeeding General Election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

(f) The Judge of the Harris County Civil Court at Law No. 2 shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by the law relating to county judges.

(g) A special Judge of the Harris County Civil Court at Law No. 2 may be appointed or elected as provided by law relating to county courts and to the judges thereof.

(h) The County Clerk of Harris County shall be the Clerk of the Harris County Civil Court at Law No. 2. The Sheriff of Harris County shall, in person or by deputy, attend the said Court when required by the Judge thereof.

Said County Clerk shall keep separate dockets for each of said Civil Courts, No. 1 and No. 2, and shall tax the official court reporter's fee as costs in civil actions filed in each of said Courts in like manner as said fee is taxed in civil cases in the district courts.

The County Clerk shall after the effective date of this Act, file all civil cases and civil proceedings exclusively in the County Civil Courts at Law No. 1 and No. 2 and shall file said civil cases alternately in each of said Courts as presented for filing.

(i) In case of disqualification, an overcrowded docket, sickness or absence from the county, of any of the Judges of the County Civil Courts at Law No. 1 or No. 2, of County Criminal Courts at Law Numbers 1, 2 or 3, any other Judge of said Courts may exchange benches with any other County Court at Law Judge of Harris County, Texas, and when so exchanging benches with any other of the said County Court at Law Judges of Harris County, the Judge of County Civil Court at Law No. 2 of Harris County, Texas, shall have all power and jurisdiction of the County Civil or County Criminal Courts at

Law, and of the judge thereof, while so exchanging benches; and in like manner the Judges of said County Civil or Criminal Courts at Law of Harris County, Texas, shall have all the power and jurisdiction of any other of said Civil or Criminal County Courts at Law and of the Judges thereof while so exchanging benches, and may sign orders, judgments and decrees, or other process as "Judge Presiding" when acting for such disqualified or absent judge upon request or in an emergency, or for good cause shown.

That the salary of the Judge of said County Civil Court at Law No. 2 and the salaries of all County and Civil and Criminal Court Judges mentioned herein, to wit: County Civil Court at Law No. 1; County Criminal Court at Law No. 1; County Criminal Court at Law No. 2 and County Criminal Court at Law No. 3 shall be not less than Thirteen Thousand, Two Hundred Dollars ($13,200) or more than Fifteen Thousand, Six Hundred Dollars ($15,600), per annum, payable in twelve (12) equal monthly installments out of the General Fund of Harris County, Texas.

(j) That the Judge of the County Civil Court at Law No. 2, of Harris County, Texas, may appoint and discharge an Official Court Reporter in the same manner as such a reporter is appointed or discharged by the district courts, and who shall receive the same salary as the reporters of the District Courts of Harris County, Texas, the same to be paid by the County Treasurer out of the General Fund of the County, and in addition to said salary the compensation for transcript fees as provided by law.

Art. 1970-110e. County Civil Court at Law No. 3 of Harris County

(a) There is hereby created a court to be held in Harris County, Texas, to be called the "County Civil Court at Law No. 3 of Harris County, Texas," and the seal of said court shall be the same as provided by law for county courts except the seal shall contain the words "County Civil Court at Law No. 3."

(b) The County Civil Court at Law No. 3 of Harris County, Texas, shall have, and it is hereby granted the same jurisdiction over civil matters, proceedings and cases, that is now or may be vested in the County Civil Courts at Law Nos. 1 and 2, and shall have jurisdiction in civil actions, and the judge thereof to exercise equal administrative and ministerial jurisdiction in matters of the filing and disposition of proceedings in eminent domain, concurrently and coextensively with the judge presiding in County Civil Court at Law No. 1 and the judge presiding in County Civil Court at Law No. 2, under the constitution and laws of Texas, and this court shall have appellate jurisdiction likewise in appeals of civil cases from the justice courts within Harris County, and the judges of said court shall have the same powers, rights and privileges as to civil matters as are or may be vested in the judges of county courts having civil jurisdiction, provided that the said court shall have no jurisdiction over any of those matters which is now vested exclusively in the County Court of Harris County, or in the judge thereof.

(c) The County Civil Court at Law No. 3 of Harris County shall have jurisdiction in all civil matters and causes, original and appellate, except probate matters, over which, by the constitution and general laws of the State of Texas, the county court of said county would have formerly had jurisdiction, and shall have equal and like jurisdiction over civil cases, and civil proceedings in the same manner as jurisdiction has been heretofore exercised in civil cases and civil proceedings and in eminent domain by the County Civil Court at Law No. 1 and the County Civil Court at Law No. 2. The County Civil Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, and 3 shall have special jurisdiction in matters of eminent domain and the judges thereof shall have sole administrative and ministerial jurisdiction to file and dispose of proceedings in eminent domain concurrently and coextensively when filed in either of said civil courts or with the respective judges thereof.

(d) The terms of the County Civil Court at Law No. 3 of Harris County, and the practice therein and appeals and writs of error therefrom shall be as prescribed by laws relating to county courts. The terms of the Harris County Civil Court at Law No. 3 for civil cases shall be held as now established for the terms of the County Civil Courts at Law Nos. 1 and 2 of Harris County until the same be changed in accordance with the law.

Said court shall hold six terms a year, beginning respectively on the first Monday in January, in March, in May, in July, in September, and in November of each year, and each term shall continue until the business is disposed of.

(e) The judge of the said Harris County Civil Court at Law No. 3 shall be elected at the general election by the qualified voters of Harris County for a term of four years and shall hold his office until his successor shall have been elected and qualified. He shall have been a duly licensed and practicing member of the bar of this state for not less than five years; and he shall be compensated as provided by law, and shall be paid out of the county treasury by the commissioners court in equal monthly installments; and when this Act becomes effective the Commissioners Court of Harris County shall appoint a judge to the County Civil Court at Law No. 3 of Harris County who shall have the qualifications herein prescribed, and shall serve until the next general election, and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified. Any vacancy thereafter occurring in the office of judge of said Harris County Civil Court at Law No. 3, shall be filled by the Commissioners Court of Harris County, the appointee thereof to hold office until the next succeeding general election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

(f) The judge of the Harris County Civil Court at Law No. 3 shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by the law relating to county judges.

(g) A special judge of the Harris County Civil Court at Law No. 3 may be appointed or elected as provided by law relating to county courts and to the judges thereof.

(h) The County Clerk of Harris County shall be the clerk of the Harris County Civil Court at Law No. 3. The Sheriff of Harris County shall, in person or by deputy, attend the said court when required by the judge thereof.

Said county clerk shall keep separate dockets for each of said Civil Courts Nos. 1, 2, and 3, and shall tax the official court reporter's fee as costs in civil actions filed in each of said courts in like manner as said fee is taxed in civil cases in the district courts.

The county clerk shall after the effective date of this Act, file all civil cases and civil proceedings exclusively in the County Civil Courts at Law No. 1 and No. 2 and No. 3 and shall file said civil cases alternately in each of said courts as presented for filing.

(i) In case of disqualification, an overcrowded docket, sickness or absence from the county, of any of the judges of the County Civil Courts at Law No. 1 or No. 2 or No. 3, or county criminal courts at law, and any other judge of said courts may exchange benches with any other county court at law judge of Harris County, Texas, and when so exchanging benches with any other of the said county court at law judges of Harris County, the Judge of County Civil Court at Law No. 3 of Harris County, Texas, shall have all power and jurisdiction of the county civil or county criminal courts at law, and of the judge thereof, while so exchanging benches; and in like manner the judges of said county civil or criminal courts at law of Harris County, Texas, shall have all the power and jurisdiction of any other of said civil or criminal county courts at law and of the judges thereof while so exchanging the benches, and may sign orders, judgments and decrees, or other process as "Judge Presiding" when acting for such disqualified or absent judge upon request or in an emergency, or for good cause shown.

(j) The Judge of the County Civil Court at Law No. 3 of Harris County, Texas, may appoint and discharge an official court reporter in the same manner as such a reporter is appointed or discharged by the district courts, and who shall receive the same salary as the reporters of the district courts of Harris County, Texas, the same to be paid by the county treasurer out of the general fund of the county, and in addition to said salary the compensation for transcript fees as provided by law. [Acts 1973, 63rd Leg., p. 584, ch. 251, § 2, eff. Aug. 27, 1973.]

Art. 1970-110f. County Civil Court at Law No. 4 of Harris County

(a) There is hereby created one court to be held in Harris County, Texas, to be called the "County Civil Court at Law No. 4 of Harris County, Texas." The seal of the court shall be the same as provided by law for county courts, except the seal shall contain the words "County Civil Court at Law No. 4."

(b) The county civil court at law of Harris County created in this Act shall have the same jurisdiction over civil matters, proceedings, and cases that is now or may be vested in the County Civil Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, and 3 and shall have jurisdiction in civil actions, and the judge thereof exercises equal administrative and ministerial jurisdiction in matters of the filing and disposition of proceedings in eminent domain, concurrently and coextensively with the judge presiding in County Civil Court at Law No. 1 and the judge presiding in County Civil Court at Law No. 2 and the judge presiding in County Civil Court at Law No. 3, under the constitution and laws of Texas. The court created in this Act shall have appellate jurisdiction likewise in appeals of civil cases from the justice courts within Harris County. The judge of this court shall have the same powers, rights, and privileges as to civil matters as are or may be vested in the judges of county courts having civil jurisdiction, except that the court created in this Act shall have no jurisdiction over any of those matters which are now vested exclusively in the County Court of Harris County or in the judge thereof.

(c) The county civil court at law of Harris County created in this Act shall have jurisdiction in all civil matters and causes, original and appellate, except probate matters, over which, by the constitution and general laws of the State of Texas, the county court of the county would have formerly had jurisdiction, and shall have equal and like jurisdiction over civil cases and civil proceedings in the same manner as jurisdiction has been heretofore exercised in civil cases and civil proceedings and in eminent domain by the County Civil Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, and 3. The County Civil Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4 shall have special jurisdiction in matters of eminent domain, and the judges thereof shall have sole administrative and ministerial jurisdiction to file and dispose of proceedings in eminent domain concurrently and coextensively when filed in either of these civil courts or with the respective judges thereof.

(d) The terms of the county civil court at law of Harris County created in this Act and the practice therein and appeals and writs of error therefrom shall be as prescribed by laws relating to county courts. The terms of the Harris County civil court at law created in this Act for civil cases shall be held as now established for the terms of the County Civil Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, and 3 of Harris County until the same be changed in accordance with the law.

The court created in this Act shall hold six terms a year, beginning respectively on the first Monday in January, in March, in May, in July, in September, and in November of each year, and each term shall continue until the business is disposed of.

(e) As soon as practicable after this Act becomes effective, the Commissioners Court of Harris County shall appoint a judge to the county civil court at law of Harris County created in this Act, who shall have the qualifications herein prescribed and shall serve until the next general election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified. At the general election in 1978 and every fourth year thereafter, there shall be elected by the qualified voters of Harris County a judge of each of the county civil courts at law of Harris County created in this Act for a regular term of four years as provided in Article V, Section 30, and Article XVI, Section 65, of the Texas Constitution. The judge shall have been a duly licensed and practicing member of the bar of this state for not less than five years. The judge shall be compensated as provided by law and shall be paid out of the county treasury by the commissioners court in equal monthly installments. A vacancy occurring in the office of a judge of the Harris County civil court at law created in this Act shall be filled by the Commissioners Court of Harris County, the appointee thereof to hold office until the next succeeding general election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

(f) The judge of the Harris County civil court at law created in this Act shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by the law relating to county judges.

(g) A special judge of the Harris County civil court at law created in this Act may be appointed or elected as provided by law relating to county courts and to the judges thereof.

(h) The County Clerk of Harris County shall be the clerk of the Harris County civil court at law created in this Act. The Sheriff of Harris County shall, in person or by deputy, attend the court when required by the judge thereof.

The county clerk shall keep separate dockets for each of the County Civil Courts Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4 and shall tax the official court reporter's fee as costs in civil actions filed in each of these courts in like manner as the fee is taxed in civil cases in the district courts.

Beginning as soon as practicable after the effective date of this Act, the county clerk shall file all civil cases and civil proceedings exclusively in the County Civil Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4 and shall file the civil cases alternately in each of these courts as presented for filing.

(i) In case of disqualification, an overcrowded docket, sickness, or absence from the county of any of the judges of the County Civil Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4 or county criminal courts at law, any other judge of these courts may exchange benches with any other county court at law judge of Harris County, and when so exchanging benches with any other of the county court at law judges of Harris County, the judge of the county civil court at law of Harris County created in this Act shall have all power and jurisdiction of the county civil or county criminal courts at law, and of the judge thereof, while so exchanging benches. In like manner, the judges of the county civil or criminal courts at law of Harris County shall have all the power and jurisdiction of any other of these civil or criminal county courts at law, and of the judges thereof, while so exchanging benches, and may sign orders, judgments and decrees, or other process as "Judge Presiding" when acting for the disqualified or absent judge upon request or in an emergency or for good cause shown.

(j) The judge of the county civil court at law of Harris County created in this Act may appoint and discharge an official court reporter in the same manner as such a reporter is appointed or discharged by the district courts. An official court reporter shall receive the same salary as the reporters of the district courts of Harris County, to be paid by the county treasurer out of the general fund of the county, and in addition to the salary shall receive the compensation for transcript fees as provided by law.

JEFFERSON COUNTY

Art. 1970-111. County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 1

There is hereby created a court to be held in Beaumont, Jefferson County, Texas, to be called the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 1. A reference to the "County Court of Jefferson County at Law" in this Act means the "County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 1."

[Acts 1915, ch. 29, § 1. Amended by Acts 1983, 68th Leg., p. 4253, ch. 678, § 21, eff. June 19, 1983.]

Art. 1970-112. Jurisdiction

The County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 1 shall have jurisdiction in all matters and cases, civil and criminal, original and appellate, over which by the general laws of the State the County Court of said County would have jurisdiction, except as hereinafter provided in Section 3 of this Act, and all cases pending in the County Court of said County other than probate matters such as are provided in Section 3 of this Act shall be and the same are hereby transferred to the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 1, and all writs and process, civil and criminal, heretofore issued by or out of said County Court, other than those pertaining to matters which are hereby exempt by this Act that are to remain in the County Court of Jefferson County, shall be and the same are thereby made returnable to the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 1. The jurisdiction of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 1, and of the Judge thereof, shall extend to all matters of eminent domain of which jurisdiction as heretofore vested in the County Court or in the County Judge; but this provision shall not affect the jurisdiction of the Commissioners Court or the County Judge of Jefferson County as the presiding officer of said Commissioners Court as to roads, bridges and public highways, or matters of eminent domain which are now in the jurisdiction of the Commissioners Court or the Judge thereof. The County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 1, in addition to the jurisdiction provided by law, shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the district court in all civil matters and cases when the matter in controversy shall exceed $500 and not exceed $50,000, exclusive of interest.

[Acts 1915, c. 29, § 2. Amended by Acts 1919, ch. 27, § 2; Acts 1971, 62nd Leg., p. 1859, ch. 547, § 1, eff. June 1, 1971; Acts 1983, 68th Leg., p. 4253, ch. 678, § 22, eff. June 19, 1983.]

Art. 1970-112A. Transfer of Cases to and from County Court and County Courts at Law

(a) The judge of the county court and the judges of the county courts at law of Jefferson County may transfer cases to and from the dockets of their respective courts in matters within their jurisdiction. A case of concurrent jurisdiction between the district courts and the county courts at law may be instituted in or transferred between the district courts and the county courts at law. A case may not be transferred from one court to another without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred. A case may not be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred.

(b) If a case is transferred as provided by this section, all processes, writs, bonds, recognizances, or other obligations issued or made in the case shall be returned to and filed in the court to which transfer is made. All bonds executed and recognizances entered into in the case bind the parties for their appearance or to fulfill the obligations of the bonds or recognizances at the terms of the court to which the cases are transferred as provided by law. All processes issued or returned before transfer of the case and all bonds and recognizances taken before transfer shall be valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

Art. 1970-113. Jurisdiction of Other Courts

The County Court of Jefferson County shall retain, as heretofore, general jurisdiction of the probate court, and all jurisdiction conferred by law now over probate matters, and the judge of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law may act for the judge of the county court in any juvenile, lunacy or probate matter, and also may perform for the county judge any and all ministerial acts required by the laws of this state of the county judge, and any and all acts thus performed by the judge of the County Court at Law while acting for the county court shall be valid and binding upon all parties to such proceedings or matters, the same as if performed by the county judge, provided that the powers thus given the judge of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law shall extend to and include all powers of the county judge except his powers and duties in connection with the transaction of the business of the county as presiding officer of the Commissioners Court, and the County Court of Jefferson County as now and heretofore existing shall have all the jurisdiction which it now has, save and except that which is given to the County Court of Jefferson County at Law by this Act, but the county court as now existing shall have no other jurisdiction, civil or criminal. The county judge of Jefferson County shall be judge of the county court for the county, and all ex officio duties of the county judge shall be exercised by said judge of the County Court of Jefferson County, except insofar as the same shall by this Act be committed to the County Court of Jefferson County at Law. Nothing in this Act shall be so construed as to require that the County Judge of Jefferson County shall be an attorney.

[Acts 1915, ch. 29, § 3. Amended by Acts 1919, ch. 27, § 3; Acts 1963, 58th Leg., p. 472, ch. 169, § 1.]

Art. 1970-114. Terms of Court

There shall be four terms of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law, each year, the first of said terms beginning on the first Monday of July; one term beginning on the first Monday of October; one term beginning on the first Monday of January; one term beginning on the first Monday of April; with each of said terms beginning on the first Monday, as aforesaid, and to continue until and including Sunday next before the first Monday of the term immediately following.

[Acts 1915, ch. 29, § 4. Amended by Acts 1919, ch. 27, § 4; Acts 1949, 51st Leg., p. 7, ch. 7, § 1.]

Art. 1970-115. Election of Judge; Tenure; Qualifications

There shall be elected in Jefferson County by the qualified voters thereof at each general election of a Judge of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law, who shall hold his office for two years and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified. No person shall be elected Judge of said Court who has not been a resident citizen of Jefferson County, Texas, for at least two years prior to his election, and shall possess all of the qualifications for the office that are now required by the General Laws of the State of Texas for District Judges.

[Acts 1915, ch. 29, § 5. Amended by Acts 1919, ch. 27, § 5; Acts 1949, 51st Leg., p. 7, ch. 7, § 2.]

Art. 1970-116. Appointment of Judge

When this Act shall become effective the present Judge of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law, shall continue to be the Judge of said Court and shall hold his office until the next general election of county officers or until his successor is elected and qualified.

[Acts 1915, ch. 29, § 7. Amended by Acts 1919, ch. 27, § 7.]

Art. 1970-117. Disqualification of Judge

When the Judge of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law, is disqualified to try any case pending in the County Court of Jefferson County at Law, the parties or their attorneys in such a case may agree on the selection of a Special Judge to try such case, but if the parties or their attorneys fail to agree upon the selection of a Special Judge to try such case, it shall be the duty of the Judge of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law, to certify to the Governor that he is disqualified to try such case and the failure of the parties or their attorneys to agree upon the selection of a Special Judge to try such a case. Whereupon, the Governor shall proceed to appoint a Special Judge, learned in the law, to try such case.

[Acts 1915, ch. 29, § 8. Amended by Acts 1919, ch. 27, § 8.]

Art. 1970-118. Issuance of Writs

The County Court of Jefferson County at Law, or the Judge thereof, shall have power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas and all writs necessary to the enforcement of jurisdiction of said Court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in such cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said Court, or of any other Court in said county of inferior jurisdiction to said County Court at Law.

Art. 1970-119. Clerk, Seal, and Sheriff

The County Clerk of Jefferson County, Texas, shall be the Clerk of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law, and the Seal of said Court shall be the same as provided by law for County Courts, except the Seal shall contain the words "County Court of Jefferson County at Law," and the Sheriff of Jefferson County, Texas, shall, in person, or by deputy, attend such Court when required by the Judge thereof, and the County Clerk of Jefferson County, Texas, is hereby authorized and directed to appoint a deputy, who shall be acceptable to the Judge of said Court to specially attend the sessions of said Court and to attend to all matters pertaining to the County Court of Jefferson County at Law and said deputy shall receive a salary not to exceed the maximum salary paid other deputies in the County Clerk's office with the rating of head of a department, said salary to be paid out of the County Treasury of Jefferson County upon order of the Commissioners Court of said County. For the purpose of preserving a record in any matter or proceeding heard in said Court for the information of the Court, Jury, or Parties, the Judge of said Court is hereby authorized to appoint an official shorthand reporter for such Court, who shall be well skilled in his profession, who shall be a sworn officer of the Court and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the Court, and the provisions of Chapter 13, of Title 40, of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, of 1925, relating to the appointment of a stenographer for the District Courts shall apply, in all its provisions in so far as applicable, to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed by the Judge of said Court, and such reporter shall be entitled to the same fees and shall perform the same duties as provided in said Title, except in addition to the lawful fees for transcribing testimony and preparing statement of facts he shall receive a salary of One Hundred, Twenty-five Dollars ($125) per month, which salary shall be paid monthly out of the County Treasury of said County, upon order of the Commissioners Court.

Art. 1970-120. Selection of Jurors

The Jurisdiction or authority now vested by law in the District Courts of this State for the drawing, selection and service of jurors shall be exercised by the County Court of Jefferson County at Law, provided a panel of not exceeding twenty-four jurors shall be drawn for any one week of said Court, and juries selected in the trial of any case shall not exceed six.

Art. 1970-121. Vacancy in Office of Judge

Any vacancy in the office of the Judge of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law, may be filled by the County Commissioners Court, and when so filled the Judge shall hold office until the next general election and until his successor is elected and qualified.

[Acts 1915, ch. 29, § 12. Amended by Acts 1919, ch. 27, § 12.]

Art. 1970-122. Salary of Judge; Assessment and Collection of Fees

The judge of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 1 shall receive an annual salary fixed by the Commissioners Court at an amount that is at least equal to the sum that is $1,000 less than the total annual salary, including supplements, received by the judges of the District Courts in Jefferson County, which shall be paid in twelve (12) equal monthly installments out of the County Treasury of Jefferson County as ordered by the Commissioners Court of said county. The judge of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 1 shall assess the same fees as are now prescribed by law relating to county judges' fees, all of which shall be collected by the clerk of the court and paid into the County Treasury on collection and no part of which shall be paid to said judge, who shall instead draw a salary as herein provided.

[Acts 1915, ch. 29, § 13. Amended by Acts 1919, ch. 27, § 13; Acts 1931, 42nd Leg., p. 750, ch. 295; Acts 1933, 43rd Leg., Spec.Laws, p. 49, ch. 42; Acts 1937, 45th Leg., p. 776, ch. 377, § 1; Acts 1949, 51st Leg., p. 7, ch. 7, § 3; Acts 1951, 52nd Leg., p. 4, ch. 4, § 1; Acts 1955, 54th Leg., p. 1176, ch. 455, § 1; Acts 1963, 58th Leg., p. 472, ch. 169, § 2; Acts 1967, 60th Leg., p. 179, ch. 94, § 1, eff. Art. 1970-123. Appeals from Lower Courts

All cases appealed from the Justices Courts and Recorders Courts in Jefferson County, Texas, shall be made direct to the County Court of Jefferson County at Law, under the provisions heretofore governing such appeals.

Art. 1970-124. Fees of County Judge

The County Judge of Jefferson County, at the time this Act goes into effect, shall receive the same compensation in ex-officio salary and fees as he would have received had this Act, creating the County Court of Jefferson County at Law, not been enacted, said Compensation to be computed and allowed and ordered paid by the Commissioners Court of said County out of the general fund of said county.

Art. 1970-125. Special Judge; Election; Compensation

Should the Judge of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law on the first or any future day of a term, fail or refuse to hold the Court, a majority of the practicing attorneys present in said Court shall proceed to elect from among their number a Special Judge in the same manner prescribed by law for the election of Special Judges of County Courts; and such Special Judge shall be entitled to receive a fee of Three Dollars ($3.00) for each case tried by him, the same to be paid by the County Treasurer upon the order of the Commissioners' Court of Jefferson County, Texas.

Art. 1970-126. Act Not Repealed

Nothing in this Act shall be construed in any manner to affect or repeal the Court at Law, created for the city of Port Arthur in Jefferson County, Texas, passed by the Fourth Called Session of the Thirty-fifth Legislature and known as House Bill No. 112.

[Acts 1919, ch. 27, § 16a.]

Art. 1970-126a. County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2

Sec. 1. There is hereby created a court to be held in Beaumont, Jefferson County, Texas, to be called the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2.

Sec. 2. The County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2, shall have, and it is hereby granted, the same jurisdiction and powers in all actions, matters, and proceedings of every nature that are now conferred by law upon and vested in the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 1, and the Judge thereof. Provided, however, that the jurisdiction of the said County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 1, the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2, and any other County Court at Law in Jefferson County over all such actions, matters and proceedings, civil and criminal, shall be concurrent. The County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2, in addition to the jurisdiction provided by law, shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the district court in all civil matters and cases when the matter in controversy shall exceed Five Hundred Dollars ($500) and not exceed Fifty Thousand Dollars ($50,000), exclusive of interest.

Sec. 3. The terms of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2 shall be the same and identical with the terms of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law as the same now exists or may exist in the future.

Sec. 4. From and after the passage and taking effect of this Act, civil and criminal actions, matters and proceedings may be filed in the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2 in the same manner and under the same conditions, circumstances and instances as now obtain for the filing of actions, matters and proceedings, civil and criminal, in the County Court of Jefferson County at Law, and all such actions, matters and proceedings shall be docketed in the order in the Court in which filed or in such manner as may be determined by the Judges of the said County Court of Jefferson County at Law and County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2 by an order duly made by such Judges entered upon the minutes of each such Court.

Sec. 4A. (a) The judge of the county court and the judges of the county courts at law of Jefferson County may transfer cases to and from the dockets of their respective courts in matters within their jurisdiction. A case of concurrent jurisdiction between the district courts and the county courts at law may be instituted in or transferred between the district courts and the county courts at law. A case may not be transferred from one court to another without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred. A case may not be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred.

(b) If a case is transferred as provided by this section, all processes, writs, bonds, recognizances, or other obligations issued or made in the case shall be returned to and filed in the court to which transfer is made. All bonds executed and recognizances entered into in the case bind the parties for their appearance or to fulfill the obligations of the bonds or recognizances at the terms of the court to which the cases are transferred as provided by law. All processes issued or returned before transfer of the case and all bonds and recognizances taken before transfer shall be valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

Sec. 5. At the next General Election after the effective date of this Act, and at each applicable General Election thereafter, there shall be elected in Jefferson County by the qualified voters thereof, a Judge of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2, who shall possess all of the qualifications which are now required of the Judge of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law, who shall hold his office for four (4) years and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified. When this Act becomes effective the Commissioners Court of Jefferson County, Texas, shall appoint a Judge of said County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2 who shall have the qualifications herein described and he shall serve until the next General Election and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified. Any vacancy thereafter occurring in the office of the Judge of said County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2, shall, in like manner as hereinabove provided, be filled by the Commissioners Court of Jefferson County, Texas, the appointee thereof to hold office until the next succeeding General Election and until a successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 6. The County Clerk of Jefferson County, Texas, shall be the Clerk of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2, and the seal of said Court shall be the same as provided by law for County Courts except the seal shall contain the words "County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2," and the Sheriff of Jefferson County, Texas, shall, in person, or by deputy, attend such Court when required by the Judge thereof, and the County Clerk of Jefferson County, Texas, is hereby authorized and directed to appoint a deputy, who shall be acceptable to the Judge of said Court to specially attend the sessions of said Court and to attend to all matters pertaining to the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2. For the purpose of preserving a record in any matter or proceeding heard in said County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2 for the information of the Court, jury, or parties, the Judge of said Court is hereby authorized to appoint an official shorthand reporter for such Court, who shall be well-skilled in his profession, who shall be a sworn officer of the Court and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the Court, and all provisions of the General Laws of this state relating to the appointment of a stenographer for the District Courts shall apply, in all its provisions so far as applicable, to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed by the Judge of said Court, and such reporter shall be entitled to the same fees and shall perform the same duties as provided in said General Laws, except in addition to the lawful fees for transcribing testimony and preparing statements of facts he shall receive a salary the same and equal to that of the official shorthand reporter of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law which salary shall be paid monthly out of the County Treasury of said County upon order of the Commissioners Court of said County.

Sec. 7. The jurisdiction or authority now vested by law in the District Court for this state for the drawing, selection and service of jurors shall be exercised by the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2, and the drawing, selection and service of jurors for said Court shall be the same in practice and procedure as in the County Court of Jefferson County at Law.

Sec. 8. The judge of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2 shall receive an annual salary fixed by the Commissioners Court at an amount that is at least equal to the sum that is $1,000 less than the total annual salary, including supplements, received by the judges of the District Courts in Jefferson County, which shall be paid in twelve (12) equal monthly installments out of the County Treasury of Jefferson County as ordered by the Commissioners Court of said county. The judge of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2 shall assess the same fees as are now prescribed by law relating to county judges' fees, all of which shall be collected by the clerk of the court and paid into the County Treasury on collection and no part of which shall be paid to said judge who shall instead draw a salary as herein provided.

Sec. 9. All cases appealed from the Justices Courts and Recorders Courts in Jefferson County, Texas, shall be made direct to either the County Court of Jefferson County at Law or the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2 (the jurisdiction of such courts being concurrent) under the provisions heretofore governing such appeals.

Sec. 10. The Judges of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law and of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2 may at any time exchange benches, and may at any time sit and act for and with each other in any civil or criminal case, matter or proceeding now or hereafter pending in either of said Courts, and any and all of such acts thus performed by the Judges of said Courts shall be valid and binding upon all parties to such cases, matters and proceedings.

Sec. 11. Each of the Judges of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law and of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2 may, with the consent of the Judge of the Court to which transfer is to be made, transfer civil or criminal actions or proceedings from his respective Court to the other Court by the entry of an order to that effect upon the docket. On the effective date of this Act, or thereafter, the County Court of Jefferson County at Law, and the Judge thereof, shall transfer to the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2 any civil or criminal action or proceeding pending on the docket of said Court as may be necessary in order that the now overcrowded docket of said Court may be relieved, and said County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2, and the Judge thereof, shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine said civil or criminal matters, and render and enter the necessary and proper orders, decrees and judgments therein. No cause shall be transferred without the consent of the Judge of the Court to which it is transferred.

Sec. 12. Special Judges may be appointed or elected for either or both the County Court of Jefferson County at Law and the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2, and in the same manner as may now or hereafter be provided by the General Laws of this state relating to the appointment and election of the Special Judge or Judges of the several district and county courts of this state; and every such Special Judge thus appointed or elected for either of said two courts shall receive for the services he may actually perform as a Special Judge the same amount of pay which the regular Judge of said court would be entitled to receive for such services. The amount to be paid to such Special Judge shall be paid out of a general fund of Jefferson County, Texas, by warrants drawn upon the County Treasury of said County and upon orders of the Commissioners Court of Jefferson County, Texas, but no part of the amount paid the Special Judge shall be deducted from or paid out of the salary of either of the regular Judges of said respective Courts.

Sec. 13. The County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2, or the Judge thereof, shall have power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas and all writs necessary to the enforcement of jurisdiction of said Court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in such cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said Court, or of any other Court in said county of inferior jurisdiction to said County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2.

WTSC Civil Statutes—6

Art. 1970-126b. County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 3

Creation

Sec. 1. On the date determined under Section 18 of this Act, the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 3 is created. It shall sit in Beaumont, Texas.

Jurisdiction

Sec. 2. (a) The County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 3 has the same jurisdiction and powers in all actions, matters, and proceedings as the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 1 and the judge of that court. The jurisdiction of those courts at law is concurrent.

(b) The County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 3 has concurrent jurisdiction with the district court in all civil matters and cases in which the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $50,000, excluding interest.

Terms

Sec. 3. The terms of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 3 are the same as the terms of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2.

Filing and Docketing of Cases

Sec. 4. Cases may be filed in the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 3 in the same manner that cases are filed in the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 1. Cases shall be docketed in the order in the court in which filed or in a manner as may be determined by the judges of the county courts at law in Jefferson County by an order entered on the minutes of each court.

Preference

Sec. 5. The County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 3 shall give preference to criminal cases.

Judge

Sec. 6. (a) At the next general election at which county court at law judges are regularly elected after the creation of the court, and every fourth year thereafter, the qualified voters of Jefferson County shall elect the judge of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 3 for a regular term of four years.

(b) The judge of the court created by this Act must meet the same qualifications as those prescribed by law for the judge of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 1.

Vacancy

Sec. 7. A vacancy in the office of judge of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 3 shall be filled by appointment of the commissioners court. The appointee must have the qualifications of the regular judge. The appointee holds office until the next succeeding general election and until a successor is elected and has qualified.

Clerk

Sec. 8. The county clerk serves as the clerk of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 3.

Seal

Sec. 9. The seal of the court created by this Act is the same as provided by law for county courts, except that the seal shall contain the words "County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 3."

Personnel

Sec. 10. (a) The county sheriff shall attend the court in person or by deputy if required to attend by the judge.

(b) The county clerk shall appoint a deputy acceptable to the judge to attend the sessions of the court and to attend to all matters pertaining to the court.

(c) The judge may appoint an official shorthand reporter for the court. The reporter must be well skilled in his profession. The reporter is a sworn officer of the court who holds his office at the pleasure of the court. The laws relating to the appointment of a stenographer for a district court apply to the official shorthand reporter for the court created by this Act. The reporter is entitled to the same fees and shall perform the same duties as provided by law for district court stenographers, except that in addition to the lawful fees for transcribing testimony and preparing statements of facts, the reporter receives the same salary as the official shorthand reporter of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 1. The salary shall be paid monthly out of the county treasury on order of the commissioners court.

Juries

Sec. 11. The jurisdiction vested in the district court for the drawing, selection, and service of jurors shall be exercised by the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 3. The drawing, selection, and service of jurors for the court created by this Act shall be the same in practice and procedure as in the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 2.

Salary of Judge

Sec. 12. The commissioners court shall set the annual salary of the judge of the court created by this Act at an amount that is at least equal to the sum that is $1,000 less than the total annual salary, including supplements received by the judges of the district courts in Jefferson County. The commissioners court shall pay the judge's salary in 12 monthly installments out of the county treasury. The judge of the County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 3 shall assess the same fees as are now prescribed by law relating to county judges' fees.

The clerk of the court shall collect the fees and pay them into the county treasury. Fees may not be paid to the judge.

Appeals

Sec. 13. An appeal from the justice courts or municipal courts in Jefferson County must be made directly to any of the county courts at law in Jefferson County.

Exchange of Benches

Sec. 14. The judges of the county courts at law in Jefferson County may exchange benches and may sit and act for and with each other in any civil or criminal case, matter, or proceeding pending in any of the courts. An act performed by a judge sitting for another as provided by this section is valid and binding on all parties to the case, matter, or proceeding.

Transfer of Cases

Sec. 15. (a) A judge of a county court at law in Jefferson County may transfer, with the consent of the judge of the court to which transfer is made, civil or criminal actions or proceedings from his court to another court by entering an order to that effect on the docket. A case may not be transferred without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred.

(b) The judge of the county court and the judges of the county courts at law in Jefferson County may transfer cases to and from the dockets of their respective courts in matters within their jurisdiction. A case of concurrent jurisdiction between the district courts and the county courts at law may be instituted in or transferred between the district courts and the county courts at law. A case may not be transferred from one court to another without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred. A case may not be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred.

(c) If a case is transferred to another court, all processes, writs, bonds, recognizances, or other obligations issued or made in the case shall be returned to and filed in the court to which transfer is made. All bonds executed and recognizances entered into in those cases bind the parties for their appearance or to fulfill the obligations of the bonds or recognizances at the terms of the court to which the cases are transferred as provided by law. All processes issued or returned before transfer of the case and all bonds and recognizances taken before transfer shall be valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

Special Judge

Sec. 16. A special judge may be appointed or elected for a county court at law in Jefferson County as provided by law for the appointment and election of a special judge of a district or county court. A special judge appointed or elected receives for the services he performs as a special judge the same amount of compensation that the regular judge would be entitled to receive for the services. The compensation of the special judge shall be paid out of a general fund of the county by warrants drawn on the county treasury and on orders of the commissioners court. The compensation of the special judge may not be deducted from or paid out of the salary of the regular judge.

Writs

Sec. 17. The County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 3 or the judge has the authority to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all writs of habeas corpus in cases in which the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the court or of any other court in the county of inferior jurisdiction.

Date of Creation

Sec. 18. The County Court of Jefferson County at Law No. 3 is created on January 1, 1986, or on an earlier date determined by the commissioners court by an order entered on its minutes.

[Acts 1983, 68th Leg., p. 4248, ch. 678, §§ 1 to 18, eff. June 19, 1983.]

Sections 19 and 20 of the 1983 Act provide:

"Sec. 19. Appointment of initial judge. As provided by Section 7 of this Act, the commissioners court shall appoint a person to fill the vacancy existing on the creation of the office of judge. The appointee holds office until the next succeeding general election and until his successor is elected and has qualified.

"Sec. 20. Initial transfer of cases. To relieve the overcrowded dockets of the county courts at law in Jefferson County, those courts shall transfer, as provided by Section 15 of this Act, as many pending cases as necessary to the docket of the court created by this Act."

EL PASO COUNTY

Art. 1970-127. Court Created

There is hereby created a court to be held in El Paso county, Texas, to be known and designated as the "El Paso County Court at Law."

Art. 1970-127a. Change of Name

The name of the El Paso County Court at Law is changed to the "County Court at Law No. 1 of El Paso County, Texas."

[Acts 1965, 59th Leg., p. 1629, ch. 698.]

Art. 1970-127b. Jurisdiction and Administration of County Courts at Law

Application

Sec. 1. This Act applies only to county courts at law in El Paso County.

Jurisdiction

Sec. 2. (a) Except as limited by Subsection (b) of this section, in addition to jurisdiction conferred by other law, a county court at law has the jurisdiction provided by the constitution and law for district courts.

(b) A county court at law does not have jurisdiction of:

- (1) felony cases;
- (2) suits in behalf of the state to recover penalties, forfeitures, or escheat;
- (3) misdemeanors involving official misconduct;
- (4) contested elections; or
- (5) appeals.

(c) A county court at law does not have general supervisory control over the county commissioners court.

(d) A county court at law may not issue writs of habeas corpus in felony cases.

(e) This section does not diminish the jurisdiction of the district courts but only gives concurrent jurisdiction to the county courts at law as provided by this section. The district courts retain and shall continue to exercise the jurisdiction conferred by law on those courts.

Clerk

Sec. 3. The county clerk serves as clerk of the county courts at law except that, in matters within the concurrent jurisdiction of the county courts at law and the district court, the district clerk serves as clerk of the court. All matters within the concurrent jurisdiction of the county courts at law and the district courts shall be filed with the district clerk. The district clerk shall establish a separate docket for each county court at law.

Juries; Procedure

Sec. 4. (a) If a jury trial is requested in a case that is within a county court at law's jurisdiction as provided by Subsection (a) of Section 2 of this Act, the jury shall be composed of six persons unless the constitution requires a 12-person jury. Failure to object before a six-person jury is seated and sworn constitutes waiver of a 12-person jury.

(b) On request of the judge of a county court at law, jurors regularly impanelled for a week by the district courts may be made available and shall serve for the week in the county court at law.

(c) The judges of the county courts at law may adopt rules governing the filing and numbering of cases, the assignment of cases for trial, and the distribution of the work of the circuit courts that they consider necessary or desirable for the orderly dispatch of the business of those courts.

(d) In matters within their concurrent jurisdiction, the judges of the county courts at law and district courts may adopt the rules governing the filing and numbering of cases, the assignment of cases for trial, and the distribution of the work of those courts that they consider necessary or desirable for the orderly dispatch of the business of those courts. The rules must receive an affirmative vote of a majority of the judges of the district courts and a majority of the judges of the county courts at law. If it is numerically impossible to obtain a majority of either the district court judges or the county court at law judges, the vote of the presiding judge of the district courts in El Paso County is considered to be the vote of a majority of the district court judges or the vote of a majority of the county court at law judges.

Transfer of Cases

Sec. 5. (a) On motion of a party, on agreement of the parties, or on their own motion, the judges of the county courts at law and district courts in El Paso County may transfer civil cases and proceedings to and from the dockets of their respective courts, except that a case or proceeding may not be transferred from one court to another without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred and may not be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred. If a judge is disqualified in a case or proceeding, he shall transfer the case or proceeding from his court to one of the other courts.

(b) When a case is transferred from one court to another as provided by this section, all processes, writs, bonds, recognizances, or other obligations issued from the transferring court are returnable to the court to which the case is transferred as if originally issued by that court. The obligees in all bonds and recognizances taken in and for a court from which a case is transferred and all witnesses summoned to appear in a court from which a case is transferred are required to appear before the court to which the case is transferred as if originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

Exchange of Benches

Sec. 6. The judges of the county courts at law and the district court judges in El Paso County may freely exchange benches or hold court for each other when they deem it expedient. The judges may make rules under Section 4 of this Act relating to the exchange of benches and holding court for each other.

Judges

Sec. 7. A judge of a county court at law must:

- (1) be a citizen of the United States;
- (2) have resided in the county for at least four years prior to his election or appointment; and
- (3) be licensed to practice law in this state and have actively practiced law for at least five consecutive years prior to his appointment or election.

Judge's Salary

Sec. 8. The commissioners court of El Paso County shall fix the annual salary of each judge of a county court at law at a sum that is at least equal to the amount that is $3,000 less than the total annual salary, including supplements, received by the judges of the district courts in that county. The annual salary shall be paid in equal monthly installments.

Renamed or Successor Courts

Sec. 9. If the 68th Legislature, Regular Session, 1983, renames the county courts at law of El Paso County or creates successor courts, this Act applies to the renamed or successor courts.

[Acts 1983, 68th Leg., p. 4239, ch. 675, eff. Sept. 1, 1983.]

Art. 1970-128. Jurisdiction

The El Paso County Court at Law shall have jurisdiction of all civil matters and causes, original and appellate over which by the General Laws of the State of Texas the County Court of said county would have jurisdiction, except as provided in Section 3, of this Act;¹ and the El Paso County Court at Law of said county shall have jurisdiction in all criminal matters and causes, original and appellate over which by the General Laws of this State the County Court has jurisdiction, except as provided in Section 3, of this Act (Art. 1811-135); and all civil and criminal writs and processes heretofore issued by and out of said County Court be, and the same are hereby made returnable to the El Paso County Court at Law of El Paso County, Texas. The jurisdiction of El Paso County Court at Law and the judge thereof shall extend to all matters of eminent domain of which jurisdiction has heretofore rested in the County Court of El Paso County, Texas, or the judge thereof, but this provision shall not effect² the jurisdiction of the Commissioners' Court or the County Judge of El Paso County as presiding judge of said court as to roads, bridges and public highways and matters of eminent domain which are now within the jurisdiction of the Commissioners' Court or of the judge of the County Court of El Paso County, Texas.

Art. 1970-130. Power to Issue Writs

Both the said County Court of El Paso County, and the El Paso County Court at Law or either of the judges thereof shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, sequestration, attachments, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas and all other writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of said courts; and also power to punish for contempt under such provisions as are, or may be provided by the general laws governing county courts throughout the State, and to issue writs of habeas corpus, in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said courts or of any court or tribunal inferior to said courts.

Art. 1970-131. Terms of Court

The terms of the El Paso County Court at Law and the practice therein and appeals and writs of error therefrom shall be, as prescribed by law relating to county courts. The terms of the El Paso County Court at Law shall be held not less than four times each year, and the commissioners court of El Paso county shall fix the time at which said court shall hold its terms, until the same shall be changed according to law.

Art. 1970-132. Appointment of Judge; Election; Qualifications of Judge

The Governor shall appoint some suitable person who is a resident citizen of El Paso county as judge of the El Paso County Court at Law, as herein constituted, who shall hold such office until the next general election after his appointment, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified, and all vacancies in said office shall also be filled by appointment by the Governor until the next general election thereafter. At the first general election in said county and at each general election thereafter there shall be elected by the qualified voters a judge of the El Paso County Court at Law, who shall be well informed in the laws of this State, who shall hold his office for two years and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified; provided that no person shall be eligible for judge of the El Paso County Court at Law by election, unless he shall be a citizen of the United States and of this State; who shall have been a practicing lawyer of this State or a judge of a court in this State for at least four years next preceding his election, and who shall have resided in the county of El Paso for two years next preceding his election.

Art. 1970-133. Bond and Oath of Judge

The judge of the El Paso County Court at Law shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to county judges.

Art. 1970-134. Special Judge

A special judge of the El Paso County Court at Law may be appointed or elected as provided by laws relating to county courts and the judges thereof.

Art. 1970-135. Clerk, Seal; Sheriff

The county clerk of El Paso county shall be the clerk of the El Paso County Court at Law; the seal of said court shall be the same as that provided for county courts, except that the seal shall contain the words "El Paso County Court at Law." The sheriff of El Paso county shall, in person or by deputy attend the court when required by the judge thereof.

Art. 1970-136. Official Shorthand Reporter; Appointment; Term of Office, Oath; Duties

For the purpose of preserving a record in all cases for the information of the court, jury and parties, the Judge of the County Court at Law of El Paso County, Texas shall appoint an official shorthand reporter for such court, who shall be well skilled in his profession, shall be a sworn officer of the court and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court and the provisions of Chapter Eleven of Title 37 of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas of 1911 relating to the appointment of stenographers for the district courts, shall and it is hereby made to apply in all its provisions, insofar as they are applicable, to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed by the Judge of the County Court at Law of El Paso County, Texas and he shall be entitled to the same fees and shall perform the same duties and shall take the same oath as are in said Chapter Eleven of Title 37 provided for the stenographers of district courts of this State, and also be governed by any other laws covering the stenographers of district courts of this State, and in addition thereto receive a salary of Eighteen Hundred ($1,800.00) dollars annually, to be paid monthly out of the County Treasury upon order of the Commissioners' Court.

[Acts 1918, 4th C.S., ch. 14, § 3. Amended by Acts 1927, 40th Leg., p. 270, ch. 191, § 1.]

Art. 1970-136a. Reporter for County Court

For the purpose of preserving a record of all hearings had before the County Judge of El Paso County, Texas; for the information of the court and parties that may be interested therein, the Judge of the County Court of El Paso County, Texas, shall appoint an official shorthand reporter for such court who shall be well skilled in his profession, shall be a sworn officer of the court, and shall hold office at the pleasure of the County Judge, and all provisions of the Civil Statutes of the State of Texas, relating to the appointment of stenographers for district courts, shall, and it is hereby made and applied in all its provisions in so far as they are applicable to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed by the County Judge of El Paso County, Texas, and such shorthand reporter shall receive a salary of Twelve Hundred ($1,200.00) dollars annually, to be paid monthly out of the County Treasury of El Paso County upon orders of the Commissioners' Court.

Art. 1970-137. Juries

The jurisdiction and authority now vested by law in the County Court of El Paso County, for the selection and service of jurors shall be exercised by each of said courts, but juries summoned for either of said courts may by order of the judge of the court in which they are summoned be transferred to the other court for service therein and may be used therein as if summoned for the court to which they may be thus transferred.

Art. 1970-138. Compensation of Judge

There shall be taxed and collected by the El Paso County Court at Law the same fees provided by law for County Judges in similar cases, all of which shall be paid by the clerk monthly into the County Treasury. The Judge of the El Paso County Court at Law shall receive an annual salary of not less than Fifty-five Hundred ($5500.00) Dollars and not more than Eight Thousand ($8000.00) Dollars; the amount of the salary to be fixed by the Commissioners Court of El Paso County and to be paid monthly out of the County Treasury upon order of the Commissioners Court.

Art. 1970-140. Salary of County Judge

The county judge of El Paso county shall hereafter receive from the county treasury, in addition to the fees allowed him by law, such a salary, for the ex-officio duties, not exceeding in the aggregate of fees and salary that which the existing laws provide for.

Art. 1970-141. Repeal; Partial Invalidity of Act

All laws and parts of laws in conflict herewith be, and the same are hereby repealed, and it is further enacted that if any of the provisions of this Act shall be held void or in conflict with any provisions of the Constitution of this State the fact that such provisions may be held void shall in no wise affect any other provisions of this Act.

Art. 1970-141.1. County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County

Sec. 1. There is hereby created an additional County Court at Law in El Paso County, Texas, to be known and designated as the "County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County, Texas."

Sec. 2. The County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County, Texas, shall have and is hereby granted the same jurisdiction over criminal matters that is now or may be vested in County Courts having jurisdiction in criminal actions and proceedings under the Constitution and laws of Texas, and shall have appellate jurisdiction in appeals in criminal cases from Justice Courts and Corporation Courts within El Paso County, and the judges of said Court shall have the same powers, rights and privileges as to criminal matters as are or may be vested in the judges of County Courts having criminal jurisdiction. Said County Court at Law No. 2 shall have and is hereby granted the same jurisdiction and powers in criminal matters and civil actions or proceedings that are now or may be conferred by law upon and vested in the County Court at Law of El Paso County, Texas; and each of the judges of said County Courts at Law may with the consent of the judge of the Court to which transfer is to be made, transfer civil or criminal actions or proceedings from his respective Court to the other Court by the entry of an order to that effect upon the docket, and the said County Court at Law of El Paso County, and the judge thereof, shall transfer to the said County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County, any civil or criminal action or proceeding pending on the docket of said Court on the effective date of this Act as may be necessary in order that the now overcrowded dockets of said Court may be relieved, and said County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County, and the judge thereof, shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine said civil or criminal matters, and render and enter the necessary and proper orders, decrees, and judgments therein. No cause shall be transferred without the consent of the judge of the Court to which it is transferred.

Sec. 3. The County Court at Law of El Paso County and County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County shall henceforth have general jurisdiction of Probate Courts within the limits of El Paso County concurrent with jurisdiction of the County Court of El Paso County in such matters and proceedings. Such County Court at Law and County Court at Law No. 2 shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots and lunatics, persons non compos mentis and drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts with administrators, executors and guardians, transact all business pertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis and drunkards; including the settlement, partition and distribution of estates of deceased persons, the apprenticing of minors as provided by law, and conduct lunacy proceedings. Said County Court at Law and County Court at Law No. 2 shall have no jurisdiction over any other of those matters which are now vested exclusively in the County Court of El Paso County, or in the judge therein.

The County Court of El Paso County, the El Paso County Court at Law and the County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County, or either of the judges thereof shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, sequestration, attachments, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas and all other writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of said Courts; and also power to punish for contempt under such provisions as are, or may be provided by the General Laws governing County Courts throughout the State, and to issue writs of habeas corpus, in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said Courts or of any Court or tribunal inferior to said Courts.

The judges of the County Court of El Paso County, County Court at Law of El Paso County, and County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County may with the consent of the judge of the Court to which transfer is to be made, transfer probate matters or proceedings from his respective Court to the other Court by the entry of an order to that effect upon the docket, to enable the efficient and justiciable disposition of the probate matters and proceedings in El Paso County, Texas.

The judges of the County Court, County Court at Law and County Court at Law No. 2 may collectively make and publish rules from time to time governing the docketing and disposition of probate matters and proceedings in their Courts not inconsistent with the laws of the State of Texas or the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure and for the purpose of efficient and justiciable disposition of such probate matters and proceedings. A copy of such rules and changes shall be filed with the County Clerk of El Paso County, Texas, and one (1) copy of such rules and changes shall be available in each such Court for the examination of participants in any probate matters filed.

Sec. 4. The terms of the County Court at Law of El Paso County and the County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County, Texas, shall commence on the first Monday in January and July and said Courts may continue in session until the Sunday next preceding the Monday for the convening of the next regular term of Court.

The judges of the County Court at Law of El Paso County, and the County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County may divide each term of Court into as many sessions as they deem necessary for the disposition of business, and may extend a particular term of Court whenever practicable for the efficient and justiciable disposition of individual proceedings and matters.

Sec. 5. The judge of the County Court at Law of El Paso, Texas, and the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County shall be a citizen of the United States and of this State, who shall have been a practicing attorney of this State for at least five (5) years next preceding his election or appointment and who shall have resided in the County of El Paso for at least two (2) years next preceding his election or appointment.

Judges of the County Court at Law of El Paso County and the County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County shall each receive an annual salary of not less than Five Thousand, Five Hundred Dollars ($5,500) and not more than Eight Thousand Dollars ($8,000), the amount of the salary to be fixed by the Commissioners Court of El Paso County and to be paid monthly out of the County Treasury upon order of the Commissioners Court; such judges shall not collect any fee from the County for disposing of any criminal case.

Sec. 6. Within sixty (60) days after the effective date of this Act, the senior district judge in and for El Paso County, Texas, shall call an election of the licensed attorneys practicing in El Paso County, Texas, for the purpose of electing a panel of three (3) qualified nominees for the office of judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County, Texas. Notice of the time of such election shall be prominently posted in the district clerk's office and the county clerk's office at least one (1) week prior to the date of such nominations. A candidate for the office of judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County, Texas, may be nominated for said panel by a written nomination from one (1) of said licensed attorneys or the candidate himself filed prior to the date of said election with the said senior district judge. At the said called election, the senior district judge shall present said written applications and nominations and shall receive further oral nominations at that time; the senior district judge shall not permit nominations to be closed until it is apparent no further nominations are forthcoming. Said attorneys then present shall then vote by secret ballot from the written and oral nominees and applicants, their respective three (3) preferences marked in order of their preference, which vote shall be counted according to preference.

The panel of the three (3) candidates receiving the highest number of votes and the results of said election shall be certified by the said senior district judge and submitted to the county judge of El Paso County, Texas, as a recommendation only, but such recommendation shall not be binding on the Commissioners Court in their appointment as hereinafter provided. Within one (1) week from the receipt of said panel by the said county judge, the Commissioners Court of El Paso County, Texas, shall appoint a judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County, Texas, who shall serve beginning September 1, 1955, until the next general election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified. Thereafter said office shall be filled at general election as provided by law except in case of vacancy. In case of vacancy said office shall be filled by appointment by the Commissioners Court in the same manner.

After the effective date of this Act a vacancy occurring in the office of the judge of the County Court at Law of El Paso County, Texas, shall likewise be filled by appointment by the Commissioners Court from a panel of three (3) nominees elected in the same manner as in the County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County, Texas, which appointed judge shall serve until the next general election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified, as now provided by law.

Sec. 7. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County, shall execute bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to county judges.

Sec. 8. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County, Texas, shall appoint an official court reporter for such Court, who shall be well skilled in his profession and shall be a sworn officer of the Court and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the Court and all of the provisions of Chapter 13, Title 42, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended, and as the same may hereafter be amended and all other provisions of the law relating to "official court reporters" shall and is hereby made to apply in all its provisions, in so far as they are applicable to the official court reporter herein authorized to be appointed, and in so far as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, and such official court reporter shall be entitled to the same compensation as applicable to official court reporters in the District Courts of El Paso County, Texas, paid in the same manner that compensation of official court reporters of the District Courts of El Paso County are paid.

Sec. 9. The county clerk of El Paso County, Texas, shall act as and be the clerk of said County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County, Texas, in civil and criminal matters. The county clerk shall receive and collect the same fees which he now receives and collects as clerk of the County Court at Law of El Paso County, Texas. Said clerk shall keep separate dockets for each of said Courts; and shall tax the official court reporter's fee as costs in civil actions in each of said Courts in like manner as said fee is taxed in civil cases in the District Courts.

Sec. 10. The sheriff of El Paso County, either in person or by deputy, shall attend said Court when required by the judge thereof; and the various sheriffs and constables of this State executing process issued out of said Court shall receive the fees now or hereafter fixed by law for executing process issued out of County Courts.

Sec. 11. The seal of the County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County, Texas, shall be the same as that provided by law for County Courts, except that such seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County, Texas," and said seal shall be judicially noticed.

Sec. 12. A special judge of said Court may be appointed or elected in the manner and instances now or hereafter provided by law relating to County Courts and judges thereof.

Sec. 13. The judges of the County Court at Law and County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County shall have the power to make and publish rules as to the docketing and disposition of criminal and civil cases in their Courts not inconsistent with the laws of the State of Texas or the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure.

The judges of the County Court at Law of El Paso County, Texas, and the County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County, Texas, with mutual consent may exchange benches with one another or act as presiding judge of the other Court in individual proceedings or actions in the absence or disqualification of the other judge.

Sec. 14. In cases transferred to any one of the County Courts at Law by order of the judge of one of said Courts as provided in Section 2 of this Act, all process extant at the time of such transfer shall be returned to and filed in the Court to which such transfer is made, and shall be as valid and binding as though originally issued out of the Court to which such transfer may be made.

[Acts 1955, 54th Leg., p. 82, ch. 53.]

Art. 1970-141.2. County Court at Law No. 3 of El Paso County

Sec. 1. There is hereby created an additional County Court at Law in El Paso County, Texas, to be known and designated as the "County Court at Law No. 3 of El Paso County, Texas."

Sec. 2. The County Court at Law No. 3 of El Paso County, Texas, shall have the same jurisdiction over criminal matters that is now or may be vested in county courts having jurisdiction in criminal actions and proceedings under the Constitution and laws of Texas, and shall have appellate jurisdiction in appeals in criminal cases from justice courts and corporation courts within El Paso County, and the judge of the court shall have the same powers, rights and privileges as to criminal matters as are or may be vested in the judges of county courts having criminal jurisdiction. The County Court at Law No. 3 shall have and is hereby granted the same jurisdiction and powers in criminal matters and civil actions or proceedings that are now or may be conferred by law upon and vested in the County Court at Law No. 1 of El Paso County, Texas, and the County Court at Law No. 2 of El Paso County, Texas; and each judge of the county courts at law may with the consent of the judge of the court to which transfer is to be made, transfer civil or criminal actions or proceedings from his respective court to the other court by the entry of an order to that effect upon the docket, and the judges of the County Courts at Law No. 1 and No. 2 of El Paso County, shall transfer to the County Court at Law No. 3 of El Paso County, any civil or criminal action or proceeding pending on the docket of said court on the effective date of this Act as may be necessary in order that the now overcrowded dockets of the court may be relieved, and the County Court at Law No. 3 of El Paso County, and the judge thereof, shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine civil or criminal matters, and render and enter the necessary and proper orders, decrees, and judgments therein. No cause may be transferred without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred.

Sec. 3. (a) The County Courts at Law of El Paso County shall henceforth have general jurisdiction of probate courts within the limits of El Paso County concurrent with jurisdiction of the County Court of El Paso County in such matters and proceedings. The County Courts at Law shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, and lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts with administrators, executors, and guardians, transact all business pertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and drunkards; including the settlement, partition, and distribution of estates of deceased persons, the apprenticing of minors as provided by law, and conduct lunacy proceedings. The county courts at law shall have no jurisdiction over any other of those matters which are now vested exclusively in the County Court of El Paso County, or in the judge therein.

(b) The County Court of El Paso County, and the County Courts at Law of El Paso County, or each of the judges thereof shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, sequestration, attachments, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all other writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of the courts; and also power to punish for contempt under such provisions as are, or may be provided by the general laws governing county courts throughout the state, and to issue writs of habeas corpus, in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the courts or of any court or tribunal inferior to the courts.

(c) The judges of the County Court of El Paso County and the County Courts at Law of El Paso County may with the consent of the judge of the Court to which transfer is to be made, transfer probate matters or proceedings from his respective court to the other court by the entry of an order to that effect upon the docket, to enable the efficient and justiciable disposition of the probate matters and proceedings in El Paso County, Texas.

(d) The judges of the county court and the county courts at law may collectively make and publish rules from time to time governing the docketing and disposition of probate matters and proceedings in their courts not inconsistent with the laws of the State of Texas or the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure and for the purpose of efficient and justiciable disposition of probate matters and proceedings. A copy of the rules and changes shall be filed with the County Clerk of El Paso County, Texas, and one copy of the rules and changes shall be available in each court for the examination of participants in any probate matters filed.

Sec. 4. (a) The terms of the County Courts at Law of El Paso County shall commence on the first Monday in January and July and the courts may continue in session until the Sunday next preceding the Monday for the convening of the next regular term of court.

(b) The judges of the County Courts at Law of El Paso County may divide each term of court into as many sessions as they deem necessary for the disposition of business, and may extend a particular term of court whenever practicable for the efficient and justiciable disposition of individual proceedings and matters.

Sec. 5. (a) The judge of each County Court at Law of El Paso County, Texas, shall be a citizen of the United States and of this state, who shall have been a practicing attorney of this state for at least five years next preceding his election or appointment and who shall have resided in the County of El Paso for at least two years next preceding his election or appointment.

(b) The judges of the county courts at law now in existence or which shall hereafter be created in El Paso County and the judge of the county court shall receive an annual salary in an amount not to exceed nine-tenths of the total annual salary, including supplements, paid any district judge sitting in El Paso County. The salary shall be paid out of the general fund of El Paso County in equal monthly installments by warrants drawn on the county treasury on orders of the Commissioners Court of El Paso County. The judge of the county court and the judges of each county court at law in El Paso County shall not collect any fee from the county for disposing of any criminal case.

Sec. 6. The Commissioners Court of El Paso County, Texas, shall appoint a judge of the County Court at Law No. 3 of El Paso County, Texas, who shall serve beginning September 1, 1969, until the next general election and until his successor is elected and has qualified. Thereafter the office shall be filled at general election as provided by law except in case of vacancy. In case of vacancy the office shall be filled by appointment by the Commissioners Court.

Sec. 7. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 3 of El Paso County, shall execute bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to county judges.

Sec. 8. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 3 of El Paso County, Texas, shall appoint an official court reporter for the court, who shall be well-skilled in his profession and shall be a sworn officer of the court and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court and all of the provisions of Chapter 13, Title 42, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended, and as hereafter amended, and all other provisions of the law relating to "official court reporters" shall apply in all their provisions, in so far as they are applicable to the official court reporter herein authorized to be appointed, and in so far as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, and the official court reporter shall be entitled to the same compensation as applicable to official court reporters in the district courts of El Paso County, Texas, paid in the same manner that compensation of official court reporters of the district courts of El Paso County are paid.

Sec. 9. The county clerk of El Paso County, Texas, shall be the clerk of the County Court at Law No. 3 of El Paso County, Texas, in civil and criminal matters. The county clerk shall receive and collect the same fees which he now receives and collects as clerk of the County Courts at Law No. 1 and No. 2 of El Paso County, Texas. The clerk shall keep separate dockets for each court; and shall tax the official court reporter's fee as costs in civil actions in each court in like manner as the fee is taxed in civil cases in the district courts.

Sec. 10. The sheriff of El Paso County, either in person or by deputy, shall attend the court when required by the judge; and the various sheriffs and constables of this state executing process issued out of said court shall receive the fees now or hereafter fixed by law for executing process issued out of county courts.

Sec. 11. The seal of the County Court at Law No. 3 of El Paso County, Texas, shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts, except that the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law No. 3 of El Paso County, Texas," and the seal shall be judicially noticed.

Sec. 12. A special judge of the court may be appointed or elected in the manner and instances now or hereafter provided by law relating to county courts and judges thereof.

Sec. 13. (a) The judges of the County Courts at Law No. 1, No. 2, and No. 3 shall have the power to make and publish rules as to the docketing and disposition of criminal and civil cases in their courts not inconsistent with the laws of the State of Texas or the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure.

(b) The judges of the County Courts at Law of El Paso County, Texas, with mutual consent may exchange benches with one another or act as presiding judge of the other court in individual proceedings or actions in the absence or disqualification of the other judge.

Sec. 14. In cases transferred to any one of the county courts at law by order of the judge of one of said courts as provided in Section 2 of this Act, all process extant at the time of the transfer shall be returned to and filed in the court to which such transfer is made, and shall be as valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

Art. 1970-141.3. County Court at Law No. 4 of El Paso County

Sec. 1. There is created a County Court at Law in El Paso County, to be known and designated as the "County Court at Law No. 4 of El Paso County, Texas."

Sec. 2. The County Court at Law No. 4 of El Paso County shall have the same jurisdiction over criminal matters that is now or may be vested in county courts having jurisdiction in criminal actions and proceedings under the constitution and laws of Texas, and shall have appellate jurisdiction in appeals in criminal cases from justice courts and municipal courts within El Paso County. The judge of the court shall have the same powers, rights, and privileges as to criminal matters as are or may be vested in the judges of county courts having criminal jurisdiction. The County Court at Law No. 4 of El Paso County shall have the same jurisdiction and powers in criminal matters and civil actions or proceedings that are now or may be vested in the County Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, and 3 of El Paso County. The judge of each of the county courts at law may with the consent of the judge of the court to which transfer is to be made, transfer civil or criminal actions or proceedings from his respective court to the other court by the entry of an order to that effect on the docket. The judges of the County Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, and 3 of El Paso County shall transfer to the County Court at Law No. 4 of El Paso County any civil or criminal action or proceeding pending on the docket of the court on the effective date of this Act as may be necessary in order that the now overcrowded dockets of the courts may be relieved, and the County Court at Law No. 4 of El Paso County, and the judge thereof, shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine civil or criminal matters, and render and enter the necessary and proper orders, decrees, and judgments therein. No cause may be transferred without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred.

Sec. 3. (a) The county courts at law of El Paso County shall have the general jurisdiction of probate courts within the limits of El Paso County concurrent with jurisdiction of the County Court of El Paso County in such matters and proceedings. The county courts at law shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts with administrators, executors, and guardians, transact all business pertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and drunkards, including the settlement, partition, and distribution of estates of deceased persons, and the apprenticing of minors as provided by law, and conduct lunacy proceedings. The county courts at law shall have no jurisdiction over any other of those matters which are now vested exclusively in the County Court of El Paso County, or in the judge therein.

(b) The judges of the County Court of El Paso County and the county courts at law of El Paso County may, with the consent of the judge of the court to which transfer is to be made, transfer probate matters or proceedings from his respective court to the other court by the entry of an order to that effect on the docket.

(c) The judges of the county court and the county courts at law may collectively make and publish rules from time to time governing the docketing and disposition of probate matters and proceedings in their courts not inconsistent with the laws of the State of Texas or the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure and for the purpose of efficient and justiciable disposition of probate matters and proceedings. A copy of the rules and changes shall be filed with the County Clerk of El Paso County, and one copy of the rules and changes shall be available in each court for the examination of participants in any probate matters filed.

(d) The County Court of El Paso County and the county courts at law of El Paso County, or each of the judges thereof, have the power to issue writs of injunction, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all other writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of the courts, and also have the power to punish for contempt under such provisions as are or may be provided by the general laws governing county courts throughout the state, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the courts or of any court or tribunal inferior to the courts.

Sec. 4. (a) The terms of the county courts at law of El Paso County shall commence on the first Monday in January and July and the courts may continue in session until the Sunday next preceding the Monday for the convening of the next regular term of court.

(b) The judges of the county courts at law of El Paso County may divide each term of court into as many sessions as they deem necessary for the disposition of business, and may extend a particular term of court whenever practicable for the efficient and justiciable disposition of individual proceedings and matters.

Sec. 5. (a) The judge of each county court at law of El Paso County shall be a citizen of the United States and of this state, who shall have been a practicing attorney of this state for at least five years next preceding his election or appointment and who shall have resided in the County of El Paso for at least two years next preceding his election or appointment.

(b) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 4 of El Paso County may receive an annual salary to be fixed by the commissioners court. The salary may be paid out of the general fund of El Paso County in equal monthly installments by warrants drawn on the county treasury on orders of the Commissioners Court of El Paso County. The judge of the county court and the judges of each county court at law in El Paso County shall not collect any fee from the county for disposing of any criminal case.

Sec. 6. When this Act becomes effective, the Commissioners Court of El Paso County shall appoint a judge of the County Court at Law No. 4 of El Paso County who shall serve until the next general election and until his successor is elected and has qualified. Beginning at the general election in 1978 and every fourth year thereafter, there shall be elected by the qualified voters of the county a judge of the County Court at Law No. 4 for a regular term of four years as provided by the Texas Constitution. In case of vacancy, the office shall be filled by appointment by the commissioners court, and the appointee shall hold office until the next succeeding general election and until his successor is elected and has qualified.

Sec. 7. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 4 of El Paso County shall execute bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to county judges.

Sec. 8. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 4 of El Paso County shall appoint an official court reporter for the court, who shall be well-skilled in his profession and shall be a sworn officer of the court and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court. All of the provisions of Chapter 13, Title 42, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended,¹ and as hereafter amended, and all other provisions of the law relating to official court reporters, shall apply in all their provisions, insofar as they are applicable, to the official court reporter herein authorized to be appointed, and insofar as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act. The official court reporter shall be entitled to the same compensation as the official court reporters in the district courts of El Paso County, to be paid in the same manner that compensation of official court reporters of the district courts of El Paso County is paid.

Sec. 9. The county clerk of El Paso County shall be the clerk of the County Court at Law No. 4 of El Paso County in civil and criminal matters. The county clerk shall receive and collect the same fees which he now receives and collects as clerk of the County Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, and 3 of El Paso County. The clerk shall keep separate dockets for each court and shall tax the official court reporter's fee as costs in civil actions in each court in like manner as the fee is taxed in civil cases in the district courts.

Sec. 10. The sheriff of El Paso County, either in person or by deputy, shall attend the court when required by the judge. The various sheriffs and constables of this state executing process issued out of this court shall receive the fees now or hereafter fixed by law for executing process issued out of county courts.

Sec. 11. The seal of the County Court at Law No. 4 of El Paso County shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts, except that the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law No. 4 of El Paso County, Texas," and the seal shall be judicially noticed.

Sec. 12. A special judge of the court may be appointed or elected in the manner and instances now or hereafter provided by law relating to county courts and judges thereof.

Sec. 13. (a) The judges of the county courts at law of El Paso County shall have the power to make and publish rules as to the docketing and disposition of criminal and civil cases in their courts not inconsistent with the laws of the State of Texas or the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure.

(b) The judges of the county courts at law of El Paso County with mutual consent may exchange benches with one another or act as presiding judge of the other courts in individual proceedings or actions in the absence or disqualification of the other judge.

Sec. 14. In cases transferred to any one of the county courts at law by order of the judge of one of the other county courts at law, all process extant at the time of the transfer shall be returned to and filed in the court to which such transfer is made, and shall be as valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

Art. 1970-141.4. County Court at Law No. 5 of El Paso County

Sec. 1. There is created a County Court at Law in El Paso County, to be known and designated as the "County Court at Law No. 5 of El Paso County, Texas."

Sec. 2. The County Court at Law No. 5 of El Paso County shall have the same jurisdiction over criminal matters that is now or may be vested in county courts having jurisdiction in criminal actions and proceedings under the constitution and laws of Texas and shall have appellate jurisdiction in appeals in criminal cases from justice courts and municipal courts within El Paso County. The judge of the court shall have the same powers, rights, and privileges as to criminal matters as are or may be vested in the judges of county courts having criminal jurisdiction. The County Court at Law No. 5 of El Paso County shall have the same jurisdiction and powers in criminal matters and civil actions or proceedings that are now or may be vested in the County Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4 of El Paso County. The judge of each of the county courts at law may, with the consent of the judge of the court to which transfer is to be made, transfer civil or criminal actions or proceedings from his respective court to the other court by the entry of an order to that effect on the docket. The judges of the County Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4 of El Paso County shall transfer to the County Court at Law No. 5 of El Paso County any civil or criminal action or proceeding pending on the docket of the court on the effective date of this Act as may be necessary in order that the now overcrowded dockets of the courts may be relieved, and the County Court at Law No. 5 of El Paso County and the judge thereof shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine civil or criminal matters and render and enter the necessary and proper orders, decrees, and judgments therein. No cause may be transferred without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred.

Sec. 3. (a) The county courts at law of El Paso County shall have the general jurisdiction of probate courts within the limits of El Paso County concurrent with jurisdiction of the County Court of El Paso County in such matters and proceedings. The county courts at law shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and drunkards, grant letters testamentary, and of administration, settle accounts with administrators, executors, and guardians, transact all business pertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and drunkards, including the settlement, partition, and distribution of estates of deceased persons, and the apprenticing of minors as provided by law, and conduct lunacy proceedings. The county courts at law shall have no jurisdiction over any other of those matters which are now vested exclusively in the County Court of El Paso County or in the judge therein.

(b) The judges of the County Court of El Paso County and the county courts at law of El Paso County may, with the consent of the judge of the court to which transfer is to be made, transfer probate matters or proceedings from their respective courts to the other court by the entry of an order to that effect on the docket.

(c) The judges of the county court and the county courts at law may collectively make and publish rules from time to time governing the docketing and disposition of probate matters and proceedings in their courts not inconsistent with the laws of the State of Texas or the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure and for the purpose of efficient and justiciable disposition of probate matters and proceedings. A copy of the rules and changes shall be filed with the county clerk of El Paso County, and one copy of the rules and changes shall be available in each court for the examination of participants in any probate matters filed.

(d) The County Court of El Paso County and the county courts at law of El Paso County, or each of the judges thereof, have the power to issue writs of injunction, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all other writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of the courts, and also have the power to punish for contempt under such provisions as are or may be provided by the general laws governing county courts throughout the state, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the courts or of any court of tribunal inferior to the courts.

Sec. 4. (a) The terms of the county courts at law of El Paso County shall commence on the first Monday in January and July, and the courts may continue in session until the Sunday next preceding the Monday for the convening of the next regular term of court.

(b) The judges of the county courts at law of El Paso County may divide each term of court into as many sessions as they deem necessary for the disposition of business and may extend a particular term of court whenever practicable for the efficient and justiciable disposition of individual proceedings and matters.

Sec. 5. (a) The judge of each county court at law of El Paso County shall be a citizen of the United States and of this state, who shall have been a practicing attorney of this state for at least five years next preceding his election or appointment and who shall have resided in the County of El Paso for at least two years next preceding his election or appointment.

(b) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 5 of El Paso County may receive an annual salary to be fixed by the commissioners court. The salary may be paid out of the general fund of El Paso County in equal monthly installments by warrants drawn on the county treasury on orders of the Commissioners Court of El Paso County. The judge of the county court and judges of each county court at law in El Paso County shall not collect any fee from the county for disposing of any criminal case.

Sec. 6. When this Act becomes effective, the Commissioners Court of El Paso County shall appoint a judge of the County Court at Law No. 5 of El Paso County who shall serve until the next general election and until his successor is elected and has qualified. Beginning at the general election in 1982 and every fourth year thereafter, there shall be elected by the qualified voters of the county a judge of the County Court at Law No. 5 for a regular term of four years as provided by the Texas Constitution. In case of vacancy, the office shall be filled by appointment by the commissioners court, and the appointee shall hold office until the next succeeding general election and until his successor is elected and has qualified.

Sec. 7. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 5 of El Paso County shall execute bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to county judges.

Sec. 8. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 5 of El Paso County shall appoint an official court reporter for the court, who shall be well skilled in his profession and shall be a sworn officer of the court and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court. All of the provisions of Chapter 13, Title 42, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended,¹ and as hereafter amended, and all other provisions of the law relating to official court reporters shall apply in all their provisions, insofar as they are applicable, to the official court reporter herein authorized to be appointed, and insofar as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act. The official court reporter shall be entitled to the same compensation as the official court reporters in the district courts of El Paso County, to be paid in the same manner that compensation of official court reporters of the district courts of El Paso County is paid.

Sec. 9. The county clerk of El Paso County shall be the clerk of the County Court at Law No. 5 of El Paso County in civil and criminal matters. The county clerk shall receive and collect the same fees which he now receives and collects as clerk of the County Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4 of El Paso County. The clerk shall keep separate dockets for each court and shall tax the official court reporter's fee as costs in civil actions in each court in like manner as the fee is taxed in civil cases in the district courts.

Sec. 10. The sheriff of El Paso County, either in person or by deputy, shall attend the court when required by the judge. The various sheriffs and constables of this state executing process issued out of this court shall receive the fees now or hereafter fixed by law for executing process issued out of county courts.

Sec. 11. The seal of the County Court at Law No. 5 of El Paso County shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts except that the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law No. 5 of El Paso County, Texas," and the seal shall be judicially noticed.

Sec. 12. A special judge of the court may be appointed or elected in the manner and instances now or hereafter provided by law relating to county courts and judges thereof.

Sec. 13. (a) The judges of the county courts at law of El Paso County shall have the power to make and publish rules as to the docketing and disposition of criminal and civil cases in their courts not inconsistent with the laws of the State of Texas or the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure.

(b) The judges of the county courts at law of El Paso County with mutual consent may exchange benches with one another or act as presiding judge of the other courts in individual proceedings or actions in the absence or disqualification of the other judge.

Sec. 14. In cases transferred to any one of the county courts at law by order of the judge of one of the other county courts at law, all process extant at the time of the transfer shall be returned to and filed in the court to which such transfer is made and shall be as valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

EASTLAND COUNTY

Art. 1970-141a. Eminent Domain and Probate Jurisdiction; Civil and Criminal Jurisdiction Transferred

Sec. 1. The County Court of Eastland County shall retain and continue to have and exercise the general jurisdiction in matters of eminent domain, general jurisdiction of probate courts, and all other jurisdiction now or hereafter conferred by the Constitution and laws of this State, except as is hereinafter provided, and shall retain all jurisdiction and power to issue all writs necessary to the enforcement of its jurisdiction, and to punish contempts; but said County Court shall have no civil jurisdiction and no criminal jurisdiction except jurisdiction to receive and enter pleas of guilty in misdemeanor cases, and except as to final judgments referred to in Section 2 hereof.

Sec. 2. The District Court having jurisdiction in Eastland County shall have and exercise jurisdiction in all matters and cases of a civil nature and in all matters of a criminal nature, except as to such jurisdiction that the County Court has to receive and enter pleas of guilty in misdemeanor cases as is provided in Section 1 hereof, whether the same be of original jurisdiction or of appellate jurisdiction, over which, by the general laws of the State of Texas now existing and hereinafter enacted the County Court of said county would have had jurisdiction and all pending civil and criminal cases be, and the same are, hereby transferred to the District Court having jurisdiction in Eastland County, Texas, and all writs and process heretofore issued by or out of said County Court in all pending civil or criminal cases be, and the same are, hereby made returnable to the District Court sitting in Eastland County, Texas. However, there shall not be transferred to said District Court jurisdiction over any judgments, either in civil or criminal cases, rendered prior to the time this Act takes effect and which have become final, but as to such judgments the said County Court shall retain jurisdiction for the enforcement thereof by all appropriate process.

Sec. 3. The County Attorney of Eastland County shall represent the State in all misdemeanor cases before the District Court of Eastland County, and shall receive therefor the same fees to which he would be entitled under the law as County Attorney had said cases been tried in the County Court.

Sec. 4. The clerk of the County Court of Eastland County is, and he is hereby required within twenty (20) days after this Act takes effect to file with the clerk of the District Court of said county all original papers in cases here transferred to the said District Court, and all Judges' dockets and certified copies of any interlocutory judgment, or other order entered in the minutes of the County Court in said cases so transferred; and the district clerk shall immediately docket all such cases on the docket of the District Court of Eastland County in the same manner and place as each stands on the docket of the County Court. It shall not be necessary that the district clerk refile any papers theretofore filed by the county clerk, nor shall he receive any fees for the filing of the same, but papers in said case bearing the file mark of the county clerk, prior to the time of said transfer, shall be held to have been filed in the case as of the date filed without being refiled by the district clerk. Said county clerk in cases so transferred shall accompany the papers with a certified bill of cost and against all costs deposits, if any, the county clerk shall charge accrued fees due him, and the remainder of the deposit he shall pay to the district clerk as a deposit in the particular case for which the same was deposited. Credit shall also be given the litigants for all jury fees paid in the County Court.

Arts. 1970-142 to 1970-152. Unconstitutional

These articles, Acts 1919, 2nd C.S., ch. 16, §§ 1 to 11, creating County Court at Law for Eastland County, were held unconstitutional and void in State v. Gillette's Estate, Com.App., 10 S.W.2d 984.

WICHITA COUNTY

Arts. 1970-153 to 1970-166. Repealed by Acts 1933, 43rd Leg., Spec.Laws, p. 86, ch. 65

Art. 1970-166a. Jurisdiction of Wichita County Court at Law Transferred to Wichita County Court

Immediately upon the taking effect of this Act, as provided for in Section 2,¹ all jurisdiction of all matters and causes, civil and criminal, original and appellate, which is now within the jurisdiction of the County Court of Wichita County at Law will at once be transferred to, conferred upon, and will vest in the County Court of Wichita County and all powers heretofore existing in the County Court of Wichita County at Law are hereby, with the effective date of this Act, conferred on the County Court of Wichita County, and all powers now and heretofore existing in the Judge of the County Court of Wichita County at Law are hereby, upon the effective date of this Act, conferred on the County Judge of Wichita County, and all cases pending at the effective date of this Act in the County Court of Wichita County at Law shall be and the same are hereby, on said effective date, transferred to the County Court of Wichita County, and all writs and processes, civil and criminal, issued by or out of the County Court of Wichita County at Law prior to the effective date of this Act, shall be and the same are hereby made returnable to the County Court of Wichita County as fully and effectively as if they had been originally issued out of said County Court. The County Clerk of Wichita County shall, upon the effective date of this Act, transfer all matters and causes, civil and criminal, original and appellate, then in the County Court of Wichita County at Law to the County Court of Wichita County.

¹Section 2 of Acts 1933, 43rd Leg., Spec.Laws, p. 86, ch. 65, provides that this Act shall have no force and shall not disturb the operation of the County Court of Wichita County at Law until and after January 1, 1935.

Art. 1970-166b. Jurisdiction in Civil Cases Transferred to District Courts

Sec. 1. That the County Court of Wichita County shall retain and continue to have and exercise the general criminal jurisdiction, both original and appellate, the general jurisdiction in matters of eminent domain, and the general jurisdiction of Probate Courts, and all jurisdiction other than in civil matters, jurisdiction of which is here conferred on the District Courts of Wichita County, Texas, now or hereafter conferred upon such County Court by the Constitution and Laws of the State, and shall retain all jurisdiction and power to issue all writs necessary to the enforcement of its jurisdiction, and to punish contempts; but said County Court shall have no civil jurisdiction, except as to final judgments referred to in Section 2 hereof.

Sec. 2. That the District Courts having jurisdiction in said Wichita County shall have and exercise jurisdiction in all matters and cases of a civil nature, whether the same be of original jurisdiction or of appellate jurisdiction, over which, by the General Laws of the State of Texas now existing and hereinafter enacted, the County Court of said County would have had jurisdiction, and that all pending civil cases be and the same are hereby transferred to the District Court for the Eighty-ninth Judicial District of Texas, sitting in Wichita County, Texas, and all writs and process heretofore issued by or out of said County Court in said civil cases be and the same are hereby made returnable to the next term of the District Court, in and for the Eighty-ninth Judicial District of Texas, sitting in Wichita County, Texas. Provided, however, that there shall not be transferred to said District Courts jurisdiction over any judgments, even in civil cases, rendered prior to the time this Act takes effect and which have become final, but as to such judgments the said County Court shall retain jurisdiction for the enforcement thereof by execution, order of sale, or other appropriate process. Provided further, however, that as to any civil case on appeal from said County Court, should a judgment be entered by the Court of Civil Appeals or the Supreme Court remanding the case for a new trial or for further proceedings, same shall be remanded to one of the District Courts having jurisdiction in Wichita County, Texas, and all jurisdiction in respect to said particular case shall thereafter vest in the District Courts sitting in and having jurisdiction of Wichita County, Texas.

Sec. 3. That the fact that the cases of which the District Courts are given jurisdiction have been transferred by this Act to the District Court in and for the Eighty-ninth Judicial District shall not be construed to limit the jurisdiction of the other District Courts sitting in and having jurisdiction in said County, but the said District Court in and for the Eighty-ninth Judicial District shall have power to transfer any or all of said cases to said other District Courts, under the applicable provisions of the laws governing the transfer of cases among said District Courts, and all applicable provisions of law in regard to the transfer and retransfer governing cases now pending in said District Courts shall govern the cases so transferred, as well as cases subsequently filed under the jurisdiction here conferred upon said District Courts; and that, as to cases subsequently filed, same may be filed in either of said District Courts which are here given jurisdiction thereof.

Sec. 4. That the Clerk of the County Court of said Wichita County be and is hereby required, within twenty (20) days after this Act takes effect, to file with the Clerk of the District Court of said County, all original papers in cases here transferred to the said District Courts, and all Judges' dockets and certified copies of any interlocutory judgment or other order entered in the Minutes of the County Court in said cases so transferred, and the District Clerk shall immediately docket all such cases on the docket of the said District Court for the Eighty-ninth Judicial District of Texas, and all such cases shall stand on the docket of said Court in the same manner and place as each stands on the docket of the County Court.

Provided, further, that it shall not be necessary that the District Clerk refile any papers theretofore filed by the County Clerk, nor shall he receive any fees for the filing of same, but papers in said case bearing the file mark of the County Clerk, prior to the time of said transfer shall be held to have been filed in the case as of the date filed without being refiled by the District Clerk. Said County Clerk in cases so transferred shall accompany the papers with a certified bill of cost, and against all cost deposits, if any, the County Clerk shall charge accrued fees due him, and the remainder of the deposit he shall pay to the District Court as a deposit in the particular case for which same was deposited. Credit shall also be given the litigants for all jury fees paid in the County Court.

Art. 1970-166c. Concurrent Jurisdiction with District Courts in Juvenile Delinquency, Child Neglect or Dependency Proceedings

Sec. 1. The County Court of Wichita County, Texas, has jurisdiction concurrent with the district courts in Wichita County of all cases involving juvenile delinquency, child neglect, or dependency proceedings, if the judge of the County Court of Wichita County possesses qualifications equal to those required to serve as a district court judge in the State of Texas and if the judge of the County Court of Wichita County is designated by the Wichita County Juvenile Board to preside as judge of the juvenile court.

Sec. 2. When the county judge is so qualified and is designated by the Wichita County Juvenile Board to preside over such proceedings, the jurisdiction of the county court extends to contempt proceedings growing out of or ancillary to such cases, and a district court in Wichita County may transfer to the county court any such case of juvenile delinquency, child neglect, or dependency on its docket, with the consent of the Wichita County Court.

[Acts 1973, 63rd Leg., p. 1365, ch. 519, eff. June 14, 1973.]

Art. 1970-166d. County Court at Law of Wichita County

Creation

Sec. 1. The County Court at Law of Wichita County is created on the date determined by Section 10 of this Act.

Jurisdiction

Sec. 2. (a) The County Court at Law of Wichita County has jurisdiction concurrent with the County Court of Wichita County over all criminal and juvenile proceedings, original and appellate, prescribed by the constitution and general laws of this state for county courts, and prescribed by Chapter 762, Acts of the 61st Legislature, Regular Session, 1969, as amended (Article 1200aa, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), and by Chapter 519, Acts of the 63rd Legislature, Regular Session, 1973 (Article 1970-166c, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes).

(b) The County Court at Law of Wichita County has civil jurisdiction concurrent with the district courts of Wichita County over civil suits, causes, and proceedings when the amount in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $10,000, exclusive of interest, and, without regard to the value of the estate or matter in question, over suits, causes, and proceedings involving dissolution of marriage by divorce or annulment, including the adjustment of property rights, suits affecting the parent-child relationship, suits concerning adoptions, suits for protection of children in an emergency, suits for removal of disabilities of minority or for change of name, suits involving delinquent children or children in need of supervision, suits brought under the authority of the Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act or the Uniform Interstate Compact on Juveniles and all other jurisdiction, powers, and authorities now or hereafter placed in the district or county courts under the juvenile or child welfare laws of this state.

(c) The County Court at Law of Wichita County has no jurisdiction other than that specifically set forth in this section. The concurrent civil jurisdiction granted to the County Court at Law of Wichita County does not include causes or proceedings, original or appellate, concerning eminent domain, roads, bridges and public highways, or the general administration of county business which is now within the jurisdiction of the commissioners court of Wichita County. The County Court at Law of Wichita County has jurisdiction concurrent with the County Court of Wichita County over probate and mental health proceedings during the absence of the county judge or the inability of the county judge to perform any of his duties relating to such proceedings. The absence or inability of the county judge shall be certified by the county judge or the commissioners court to the judge of the county court at law. When certification is for the purpose of conferring power to perform a judicial act, the certificate shall be spread on the minutes of the appropriate court. Notwithstanding the additional powers and duties conferred on the judge of the county court at law during the absence or inability of the county judge, no additional compensation or salary shall be paid to him, but the compensation or salary of the judge of the county court at law shall remain as fixed by law. The provisions of this subsection relating to the powers and duties of the judge of the county court at law during the absence or inability of the county judge do not repeal the law providing for the election or appointment of a special county judge but are cumulative of and in addition to all law providing for a special county judge.

(d) The County Court at Law of Wichita County and the duly qualified judge of the court have the power to issue writs and orders as may be necessary in aid of its jurisdiction or the enforcement of its lawful orders.

(e) The provisions of this section do not diminish the jurisdiction of the several district courts of Wichita County, and the district courts shall retain and continue to exercise the jurisdiction that they now have or that may be hereafter conferred upon them by law.

Terms

Sec. 3. The County Court at Law of Wichita County shall hold two continuous terms which commence on the first Monday in January and on the first Monday in July of each year. Each term of court continues until the next succeeding term begins.

Judge

Sec. 4. (a) The judge of the County Court at Law of Wichita County shall be at least 25 years of age and shall be a citizen of the United States and of this state who is licensed to practice law in this state, has been a practicing lawyer or a judge of a court in this state or both combined for four years, and has been a resident of Wichita County for two years. The judge shall reside in Wichita County during his or her term of office.

(b) During his or her term of office, the judge of the County Court at Law of Wichita County shall not engage in the private practice of law.

(c) When this court is created, the commissioners court of Wichita County shall appoint a judge of the County Court at Law of Wichita County, who shall serve until the next general election after he or she takes office and until his or her successor is duly elected and has qualified. Beginning at the general election in 1982 and every fourth year thereafter, there shall be elected by the qualified voters of Wichita County a judge of the county court at law for a regular term of four years as provided in Article V, Section 30, and Article XVI, Section 65, of the Texas Constitution.

(d) A vacancy occurring in the office of the judge of the County Court at Law of Wichita County shall be filled by the commissioners court of Wichita County, and the appointee shall hold office until the next general election and until his or her successor is elected and has qualified.

(e) The judge of the County Court at Law of Wichita County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office prescribed by law for county judges.

The judge may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as a county judge.

(f) The judge of the County Court at Law of Wichita County may receive a salary not to exceed 90 percent of the total annual salary paid to the judges of the district courts having jurisdiction in Wichita County to be set by the commissioners court and to be paid out of the county treasury by the commissioners court. The salary may be paid in equal monthly installments. The judge of the County Court at Law of Wichita County may be entitled to traveling expenses and necessary office expenses, including administrative and clerical help, in the same manner as is allowed the county judge of Wichita County. The judge of the county court at law is a member of the Juvenile Board of Wichita County. The judge of the County Court at Law of Wichita County shall assess the same fees as are now prescribed or may be established by law relating to county judge's fees, all of which shall be collected by the clerk of the court and shall be paid into the county treasury on collection, and no part of which shall be paid to the judge.

(g) A special judge of the County Court at Law of Wichita County with the same qualifications as the regular judge may be appointed or elected in the manner provided by law for the appointment or election of a special county judge. If a judge of the County Court at Law of Wichita County is disqualified to try a case pending in his or her court, the parties or their attorneys may agree on the selection of a special judge for the case. A special judge is entitled to the same rate of compensation as the regular judge.

Personnel

Sec. 5. (a) The county attorney and sheriff of Wichita County shall serve as county attorney and sheriff, respectively, of the County Court at Law of Wichita County. The district clerk of Wichita County shall serve as clerk of the County Court at Law of Wichita County in cases enumerated in Subsection (b) of Section 2 of this Act, and the county clerk of Wichita County shall serve as clerk of the County Court at Law of Wichita County in cases enumerated in Subsection (a) of Section 2 of this Act. These officials, either personally or by the appointment of a deputy or assistant, shall perform the duties and responsibilities of their office and are entitled to the compensation, fees, and allowances prescribed by law for their respective offices. The commissioners court may employ as many deputy sheriffs and bailiffs as are necessary to serve the court.

(b) The judge of the County Court of Law of Wichita County shall appoint an official court reporter who shall have the same qualifications and whose duties shall in every respect be the same as now provided by law. The official court reporter is entitled to the compensation fixed by the commissioners court of Wichita County.

Transfer of Cases and Judges

Sec. 6. (a) As soon as practicable after this court is created, the county clerk may establish a separate docket for the court created by this Act from among pending matters filed originally in the county court of Wichita County and shall transfer those matters to the docket of the court created by this Act. Equalization of case load shall be the primary object in establishing the initial case docket for the County Court at Law of Wichita County. As soon as practicable after this court is created, the district clerk shall establish a separate docket for the County Court at Law of Wichita County. The transfer of any pending matters originally filed in the district courts prior to the date the County Court at Law of Wichita County is created shall be in accordance with the provisions of Subsection (b) of this section.

(b) The judge of the county court and the judge of the county court at law may transfer cases to and from the dockets of their respective courts, in matters within their jurisdiction, in order that the business may be equally distributed between them. All cases of concurrent jurisdiction enumerated in Subsection (b) of Section 2 of this Act may be instituted in or transferred between the district courts of Wichita County and the County Court at Law of Wichita County. However, no case may be transferred from one court to another without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred, and no case may be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred.

(c) In cases transferred to the county court at law as provided by Subsection (a) of this section and in cases transferred to any of the courts in Wichita County by order of the judge of another court, all processes, writs, bonds, recognizances, or other obligations issued or made in the cases shall be returned to and filed in the court to which the transfer is made. All bonds executed and recognizances entered into in those cases shall bind the parties for their appearance or to fulfill the obligations of the bonds or recognizances at the terms of the court to which the cases are transferred as are fixed by law. All processes issued or returned before transfer of the cases as well as all bonds and recognizances before taken in the cases shall be valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

(d) The county judge and the judge of the County Court at Law of Wichita County may freely exchange benches and courtrooms with each other in matters within their jurisdiction so that if one is ill, disqualified, or otherwise absent, the other may hold court for him or her without the necessity of transferring the case involved. Either judge may hear all or any part of a case pending in the county court or county court at law, but only in matters within their jurisdiction, and may rule and enter orders on and continue, determine, or render judgment on all or any part of the case without the necessity of transferring it to his or her own docket. The district judges and the judge of the County Court at Law of Wichita County may freely exchange benches and courtrooms with each other in matters within their concurrent jurisdiction so that if one is ill, disqualified, or otherwise absent, another may hold court for him or her without the necessity of transferring the case involved. Any of those judges may hear all or any part of a case pending in the district court or county court at law, but only in matters within their jurisdiction, and may rule and enter orders on and continue, determine, or render judgment on all or any part of the case without the necessity of transferring it to his or her own docket. However, a judge may not sit or act in a case unless it is within the jurisdiction of his or her court. Each judgment and order shall be entered in the minutes of the court in which the case is pending. The provisions providing for the exchange of benches by and between the judges are cumulative of and in addition to the provisions herein provided for the selection and appointment of a special judge of the County Court at Law of Wichita County.

Practice and Procedure

Sec. 7. (a) Practice in the County Court at Law of Wichita County shall conform to that prescribed by general law for county courts, except that practice and procedure, rules of evidence, issuance of process and writs, and all other matters pertaining to the conduct of trials and hearings in the County Court at Law of Wichita County involving those matters of concurrent jurisdiction enumerated in Subsection (b) of Section 2 of this Act shall be governed by the provisions of this Act and the laws and rules pertaining to district courts, general and special, as well as county courts. If a case enumerated in Subsection (b) of Section 2 of this Act is tried before a jury, the jury shall be composed of six members and shall be privileged to render verdicts by a five to one margin in civil cases and a unanimous verdict in criminal cases.

(b) The laws which govern the drawing, selection, service, and pay of jurors for county courts apply to the County Court at Law of Wichita County.

(c) Jurors regularly impaneled for a week by the district court or courts may, on request of either the county judge or the judge of the county court at law, be made available and shall serve for the week in either the county court or county court at law.

Courtroom

Sec. 8. The commissioners court of Wichita County shall furnish and equip a suitable courtroom and office space for the court created by this Act.

Seal

Sec. 9. The seal of the court created by this Act shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts, except the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law of Wichita County."

Date of Creation

Sec. 10. The County Court at Law of Wichita County is created on January 1, 1982, or on a date determined by the commissioners court by an order entered on its minutes, after the provisions of Section 8 of this Act shall be fully complied with, whichever date is earlier.

[Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 424, ch. 195, eff. Aug. 27, 1979. Amended by Acts 1981, 67th Leg., p. 553, ch. 233, § 1, eff. May 28, 1981.]

Art. 1970-166e. County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita CountyCreation

Sec. 1. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County is created on the date determined by Section 10 of this Act.

Jurisdiction

Sec. 2. (a) The County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County has concurrent jurisdiction with the county court over all criminal and juvenile proceedings, original and appellate, prescribed by the constitution and general laws of this state for county courts, and prescribed by Chapter 762, Acts of the 61st Legislature, Regular Session, 1969, as amended (Article 1200aa, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), and by Chapter 519, Acts of the 63rd Legislature, Regular Session, 1973 (Article 1970-166c, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes). The County Court at Law No. 2 shall have concurrent jurisdiction over probate and mental health matters with the county court.

(b) The County Court at Law No. 2 of the Wichita County has concurrent civil jurisdiction with the district courts of Wichita County over civil suits, causes, and proceedings in which the amount in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $10,000, exclusive of interest, and, without regard to the value of the estate or matter in question, over suits, causes, and proceedings involving dissolution of marriage by divorce or annulment, including the adjustment of property rights, suits affecting the parent-child relationship, suits concerning adoptions, suits for protection of children in an emergency, suits for removal of disabilities of minority or for change of name, suits involving delinquent children or children in need of supervision, suits brought under the authority of the Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act, as amended (Chapter 21, Family Code) or the Uniform Interstate Compact on Juveniles, as amended (Chapter 25, Family Code) and all other jurisdiction, powers, and authorities placed in the district or county courts under the juvenile or child welfare laws of this state.

(c) The County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County has no jurisdiction other than that specifically set forth in this section. The concurrent civil jurisdiction granted to the County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County does not include a cause or proceeding, original or appellate, concerning eminent domain, roads, bridges and public highways, or the general administration of county business that is within the jurisdiction of the commissioners court of Wichita County.

(d) The County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County and the judge may issue writs and orders as necessary in aid of its jurisdiction or the enforcement of its lawful orders.

(e) The provisions of this section shall not diminish the jurisdiction of the several district courts of Wichita County, and the district courts shall retain and continue to exercise the jurisdiction they now have or may hereafter be conferred upon them by law. The provision in Subsection (a) of this section for concurrent jurisdiction over probate matters shall not diminish or deprive the several district courts of Wichita County of the probate jurisdiction presently vested in them, including probate jurisdiction as presently vested by Subsections (a), (b), and (d) of Section 5 of the Probate Code.

Terms

Sec. 3. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County shall hold two continuous terms that begin on the first Mondays in January and July of each year. Each term of court continues until the next succeeding term begins.

Judge

Sec. 4. (a) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County must be at least 25 years of age, be a citizen of the United States and of this state, be licensed to practice law in this state, have been a practicing lawyer or a judge of a court in this state or both combined for four years, and have been a resident of Wichita County for two years. The judge must reside in Wichita County during his or her term of office.

(b) During his or her term of office, the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County may not engage in the private practice of law.

(c) When this court is created, the Commissioners Court of Wichita County shall appoint a judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County, who shall serve until the next general election after he or she takes office and until his or her successor is duly elected and has qualified. Beginning at the next general election following creation of the court and every fourth year thereafter, there shall be elected by the qualified voters of Wichita County a judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 for a regular term of four years as provided by Article V, Section 30, and Article XVI, Section 65 of the Texas Constitution.

(d) A vacancy occurring in the office of the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County shall be filled by the commissioners court. The appointee holds office until the next general election and until his or her successor is elected and has qualified.

(e) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office prescribed by law for county judges. The judge may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as a county judge.

(f) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County may receive a salary not to exceed an amount equal to 90 percent of the total annual salary paid to the judges of the district courts having jurisdiction in Wichita County. The commissioners court shall set the salary and pay it out of the county treasury. The salary may be paid in equal monthly installments. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County is entitled to traveling expenses and necessary office expenses, including administrative and clerical help, in the same manner as the county judge. The judge of the county court at law is a member of the juvenile board of Wichita County. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County shall assess the same fees as prescribed by law relating to a county judge's fees. The clerk of the court shall collect the fees and shall pay them into the county treasury on collection. None of the fees may be paid to the judge.

(g) A special judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County with the same qualifications as the regular judge may be appointed or elected in the manner provided by law for the appointment or election of a special county judge. If a judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County is disqualified to try a case pending in his or her court, the parties or their attorneys may agree on the selection of a special judge for the case. A special judge is entitled to the same rate of compensation as the regular judge.

Personnel

Sec. 5. (a) The county attorney and sheriff of Wichita County serve as county attorney and sheriff, respectively, of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County. The district clerk of Wichita County serves as clerk of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County in cases enumerated in Subsection (b) of Section 2 of this Act. The county clerk of Wichita County serves as clerk of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County in cases enumerated in Subsection (a) of Section 2 of this Act. These officials, either personally or by the appointment of a deputy or assistant, shall perform the duties and responsibilities of their office and are entitled to the compensation, fees, and allowances prescribed by law for their respective offices. The commissioners court may employ as many deputy sheriffs and bailiffs as are necessary to serve the court.

(b) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County shall appoint an official court reporter who must have the same qualifications and whose duties are the same as now provided by law for that office. The official court reporter is entiled to the compensation fixed by the commissioners court.

Transfer of Cases; Exchange of Benches

Sec. 6. (a) As soon as practicable after this court is created, the county clerk may establish a separate docket for the court created by this Act from among pending matters filed originally in the County Court of Wichita County and the County Court at Law No. 1 and shall transfer those matters to the docket of the court created by this Act. Equalization of caseloads shall be the primary object in establishing the initial docket for the County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County. As soon as practicable after this court is created, the district clerk shall establish a separate docket for the County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County. The transfer of any pending matters originally filed in the district courts prior to the date the County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County is created shall be in accordance with the provisions of Subsection (b) of this section.

(b) The judge of the county court and the judges of the county courts at law may transfer cases to and from the dockets of their respective courts, in matters within their jurisdiction, in order that the business may be equally distributed between them. All cases of concurrent jurisdiction enumerated in Subsection (b) of Section 2 of this Act may be instituted in or transferred between the district courts of Wichita County and the county courts at law of Wichita County. However, a case may not be transferred from one court to another without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred, and a case may not be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred.

(c) In cases transferred to a county court at law as provided by this Act and in cases transferred to any of the courts in Wichita County by order of the judge of another court, all processes, writs, bonds, recognizances, or other obligations issued or made in the cases shall be returned to and filed in the court to which the transfer is made. All bonds executed and recognizances entered into in those cases shall bind the parties for their appearance or to fulfill the obligations of the bonds or recognizances at the terms of the court to which the cases are transferred as are fixed by law. All processes issued or returned before transfer of the cases and all bonds and recognizances before taken in the cases are valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

(d) The county judge and the judges of the county courts at law of Wichita County may freely exchange benches and courtrooms in matters within their jurisdiction so that if one is ill, disqualified, or otherwise absent, another may hold court for him or her without the necessity of transferring the case involved. Any of those judges may hear all or any part of a case pending in the county court or a county court at law, but only in matters within the judge's jurisdiction, and may rule and enter orders on and continue, determine, or render judgment on all or any part of the case without the necessity of transferring it to his or her own docket. The district judges and the judges of the county courts at law of Wichita County may freely exchange benches and courtrooms in matters within their concurrent jurisdiction so that if one is ill, disqualified, or otherwise absent, another may hold court for him or her without the necessity of transferring the case involved. Any of those judges may hear all or any part of a case pending in the district court or a county court at law, but only in matters within the judge's jurisdiction, and may rule and enter orders on and continue, determine, or render judgment on all or any part of the case without the necessity of transferring it to his or her own docket. Each judgment and order shall be entered in the minutes of the court in which the case is pending. The provisions providing for the exchange of benches by and between the judges are cumulative of the law relating to the selection and appointment of a special judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County.

Practice and Procedure

Sec. 7. (a) Practice in the County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County shall conform to that prescribed by general law for county courts, except that practice and procedure, rules of evidence, issuance of process and writs, and all other matters pertaining to the conduct of trials and hearings in the County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County involving those matters of concurrent jurisdiction enumerated in Subsection (b) of Section 2 of this Act are governed by this Act and the laws and rules pertaining to district courts, general and special, as well as county courts. If a case enumerated in Subsection (b) of Section 2 of this Act is tried before a jury, the jury must be composed of six members and may render verdicts by a concurring vote of at least five jurors in civil cases and a unanimous verdict in criminal cases.

(b) The laws governing the drawing, selection, service, and pay of jurors for county courts apply to the County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County.

(c) Jurors regularly impaneled for a week by the district court or courts may, on request of either the county judge or a judge of a county court at law, be made available and shall serve for the week in either the county court or a county court at law.

Courtroom

Sec. 8. The commissioners court shall furnish and equip a suitable courtroom and office space for the court created by this Act.

Seal

Sec. 9. The seal of the court created by this Act is the same as that provided by law for county courts, except that the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County."

Date of Creation

Sec. 10. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Wichita County is created on a date determined by the commissioners court by an order entered on its minutes, after the provisions of Section 8 of this Act shall be fully complied with.

Effective Date

Sec. 11. This Act takes effect September 1, 1983.

[Acts 1925, S.B. 84.]

Art. 1970-223a. County Court at Law of Harrison County

Creation and Jurisdiction

Sec. 1. (a) On the effective date of this Act, as provided in Section 8 of the Act, the County Court at Law of Harrison County is created. It sits in Marshall.

(b) The County Court at Law has the same jurisdiction over all causes and proceedings, civil, criminal, and probate, original and appellate, as that prescribed by law for county courts, and its jurisdiction is concurrent with that of the County Court of Harrison County. The County Court at Law also has jurisdiction concurrent with the District Court in civil cases when the amount in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $50,000, excluding interest, and in eminent domain cases and proceedings as provided by general law, regardless of the amount in controversy.

(c) The County Court at Law, or its Judge, may issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all writs necessary for the enforcement of the jurisdiction of the court; and may issue writs of habeas corpus in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the court, or of any other court in the county of inferior jurisdiction. The Court and Judge also have the power to punish for contempt as prescribed by law for county courts.

(d) The County Judge of Harrison County is the Judge of the County Court of Harrison County. All ex officio duties of the County Judge shall be exercised by the Judge of the County Court of Harrison County unless by this Act committed to the Judge of the County Court at Law of Harrison County.

(e) The Judge of the County Court at Law of Harrison County is a member of the Harrison County Juvenile Board.

Terms of Court

Sec. 2. The terms of the County Court at Law of Harrison County are the same as those of the County Court of Harrison County.

Judge

Sec. 3. (a) At the next general election after the effective date of this Act there shall be elected a Judge of the County Court at Law of Harrison County who must have been a duly licensed and practicing member of the State Bar of Texas for not less than three years, be well informed in the laws of this state, and who must have resided in and been actively engaged in the practice of law in Harrison County for a period of not less than two years prior to the general election. The Judge elected holds office for either two years or four years, his first elected term ending in compliance with the provisions of Article 16, Section 65(a), Constitution of the State of Texas, and until his successor has been duly elected and has qualified. During his term of office, the Judge may not appear and plead as an attorney at law in the County Court at Law of Harrison County or in any court with jurisdiction inferior to that of the county court at law.

(b) When this Act becomes effective, the Commissioners Court of Harrison County shall appoint a Judge to the County Court at Law of Harrison County. The Judge appointed must have the qualifications prescribed in Subsection (a) of this Section and serves until January 1st of the year following the next general election and until his successor has been duly elected and qualified. Any vacancy occurring in the office of the Judge of the County Court at Law may be filled in like manner by the Commissioners Court and the appointee holds office until January 1st of the year following the next general election and until his successor has been duly elected and qualified.

(c) The Judge of the County Court at Law shall execute a bond and take the oath of office prescribed by law for county judges. He may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as a county judge.

(d) The Judge of the County Court at Law is entitled to receive the same salary as the Criminal District Attorney of Harrison County and, in addition to this salary, the Commissioners Court of Harrison County may pay him the full supplemental compensation paid to other members of the Harrison County Juvenile Board. Such salary and any additional compensation approved by the commissioners for his services on the Juvenile Board shall be paid in equal monthly installments out of the county treasury on order of the Commissioners Court. The Judge of the County Court at Law shall assess the fees prescribed by law for county judges, which shall be collected by the clerk of the court and paid into the county treasury, and which may not be paid to the Judge.

(e) A special judge of the County Court at Law may be appointed in the manner provided by law for the appointment of a special county judge when the Judge of the County Court at Law of Harrison County is disqualified. A special judge must have the same qualifications as the Judge of the County Court at Law and is entitled to the same rate of compensation as the regular judge.

Court Officials and Personnel

Sec. 4. (a) The County Clerk and Sheriff of Harrison County, Texas, shall serve as clerk and sheriff, respectively, of the County Court at Law of Harrison County. The Commissioners Court of Harrison County may employ as many additional deputy sheriffs and clerks as are necessary to serve the court created by this Act. Those serving shall perform the duties, and are entitled to the compensation, fees, and allowances, prescribed by law for their respective offices in Harrison County.

(b) The Judge of the County Court at Law may appoint an official court reporter, who must meet the qualifications prescribed by law for that office and who is entitled to the compensation fixed by the Commissioners Court of Harrison County, and shall serve at the pleasure of the Judge of the County Court at Law.

Practice

Sec. 5. (a) Practice in the County Court at Law of Harrison County shall conform to that prescribed by law for the County Court of Harrison County.

(b) The Judges of the County Court and the County Court at Law may transfer cases to and from the dockets of their respective courts so that the business may be equally distributed between them. However, no case may be transferred from one court to the other without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred; and no case may be transferred to the County Court at Law unless it is within the jurisdiction of that Court.

(c) The County Judge and the Judge of the County Court at Law may freely exchange benches with each other so that if one is ill, disqualified, or otherwise absent, the other may hold court for him without the necessity of transferring the case involved. Either judge may hear all or any part of a case pending in the County Court or County Court at Law; and he may rule and enter orders on and continue, determine, or render judgment on all or any part of the case without the necessity of transferring it to his own docket. However, the Judge of the County Court at Law may not sit or act in a case unless it is within the jurisdiction of his court.

(d) The jurisdiction and authority now vested by law in the County Court of Harrison County and the judge thereof, for the drawing, selection and service of jurors shall also be exercised by the County Court at Law of Harrison County and the judge thereof; but jurors summoned for either of said courts may by order of the judge of the court in which they are summoned be transferred to the other court for service therein and may be used therein as if summoned for the court to which they may be thus transferred. Upon concurrence of the Judge of the County Court at Law of Harrison County and the Judge of the County Court of Harrison County jurors may be summoned for service in both courts and shall be used interchangeably in both such courts. All summons for petit jurors for all civil and criminal cases under existing laws at the time this Act takes effect, shall be as valid as if no change had been made and the persons constituting such jury panels shall be required to appear and serve at the ensuing term of said courts as fixed by this Act, and their acts as jurors shall be as valid as if they had been selected as jurors in the court for which they were originally drawn.

Representation of the State

Sec. 6. The Criminal District Attorney of Harrison County shall represent the State in all prosecutions in the County Court at Law of Harrison County, as provided by law for such prosecutions in County Court, and shall be entitled to the same fees as now prescribed by law for such prosecutions in the County Court.

Facilities and Equipment

Sec. 7. (a) The Commissioners Court of Harrison County shall furnish and equip a suitable courtroom and office space for the County Court at Law.

(b) The County Court at Law shall have a seal identical with the seal of the County Court at Harrison County, except that it contains the words "County Court at Law of Harrison County."

Effective Date

Sec. 8. This Act becomes effective upon order of the Commissioners Court of Harrison County duly entered in its minutes.

Said county court shall have appellate jurisdiction in civil cases over which justice's courts of said county have original jurisdiction when the judgment of the court appealed from or the amount in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, exclusive of interest, and said county court shall have the power to hear and determine cases brought up from the justice's courts by certiorari under the provisions of law relating thereto.

[Acts 1913, p. 83, § 2.]

Art. 1970-288. Power to Grant Writs, etc.

The county judge of said county shall have authority either in term time or in vacation, to grant writs of mandamus, injunction, sequestration, garnishment, attachment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all other writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of said court, and shall also have power to issue writs of habeas corpus in all cases in which the constitution and laws have not exclusively conferred the power on the district judge or district court thereof.

Art. 1970-289. Jurisdiction of Probate Court

Said court shall have, as now, the general jurisdiction of a probate court; shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration; settle accounts of executors, administrators and guardians; transact all business pertaining to the estates of deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, including the partition, settlement, and distribution of estates of deceased persons; apprentice minors as provided by law; and to issue all writs necessary to the enforcement of its jurisdiction, orders and decrees; and generally to exercise all the powers in probate matters conferred upon such courts by the constitution and laws of the state.

[Acts 1913, p. 83, § 4.]

Art. 1970-290. Forfeited Bonds, etc., in Criminal Cases

Such court shall have jurisdiction in the forfeiture of all bonds and recognizances taken in criminal cases of which said court has original or appellate jurisdiction.

[Acts 1913, p. 83, § 5.]

Art. 1970-291. Jurisdiction of Certain Misdemeanors; Appellate Jurisdiction in Criminal Cases

Said court shall have and exercise exclusive jurisdiction of all misdemeanors, except misdemeanors involving official misconduct, and except misdemeanors in which the highest penalty that may be imposed by law is a fine, without imprisonment, that does not exceed two hundred dollars; and said court shall have appellate jurisdiction of criminal cases in which justice's courts and other inferior tribunals of said county have original jurisdiction.

[Acts 1913, p. 83, § 6.]

Art. 1970-292. Jurisdiction of District Court

The district court of said county shall no longer have jurisdiction of misdemeanors, except misdemeanors involving official misconduct, and shall no longer have jurisdiction of civil cases of which the county court of said county, by the provisions of this Act, has original or appellate jurisdiction.

[Acts 1913, p. 83, § 7.]

Art. 1970-293. District Clerk to Deliver Transcripts, etc., to County Clerk

It shall be the duty of the district clerk of said county, within thirty days after this Act shall take effect, to make full and complete transcript of orders on the criminal and civil dockets then pending before the district court of said county, of which cases, by the provisions of this Act, original and appellate jurisdiction is given to said county court, and to file said transcript together with the original papers in each case, in the county court of said county, and the county clerk shall enter said cases on the respective dockets of said county court as appearance cases for trial by said court.

Art. 1970-294. Motions Against Sheriffs and Other Officers; Contempts; Other Powers

The said court shall also have the power to hear and determine all motions against sheriffs and other officers of the court for failure to pay over moneys collected under the process of said court, or other defalcations of official duty in connection with said process, and shall have power to punish by fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, and by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding three days, any person guilty of contempt of said court, and all other powers and jurisdictions conferred on county courts by the constitution and general laws of the state of Texas.

Art. 1970-295. Terms of Court

The terms of said court shall commence on the third Monday in February, and on the third Monday in May, and on the third Monday in September, and on the third Monday in November of each year, and shall continue in session for three weeks at each term, or until the business may be disposed of; provided, that the county commissioner's court of said county may hereafter change the terms of said court whenever it may be deemed necessary.

[Acts 1913, p. 83, § 10.]

EDWARDS COUNTY

Art. 1970-296. Edwards County Court; Act Repealed

That Chapter 30 of the General Laws of the Regular Session of the Thirty-seventh Legislature be and the same is hereby repealed, and any and all laws which now stand repealed by reason of said Chapter 30 are hereby revived.

[Acts 1923, 38th Leg., ch. 61, § 1.]

SHELBY COUNTY

Art. 1970-297. Shelby County Court; Jurisdiction Restored

Chapter 8 of the General Laws of the Fourth Called Session of the Thirty-sixth Legislature is hereby repealed, and hereafter the county court of Shelby County, Texas, shall have the same jurisdiction tion and shall be subject to the same provisions as county courts generally throughout the State under the General Laws of the State of Texas.

The jurisdiction of the district court in Shelby County is hereby conformed to the change herein made of the jurisdiction of the county court, and hereafter said district court shall have the same jurisdiction as district courts under the Constitution and General Laws. It shall be the duty of the district clerk of said county within thirty days after this Act shall take effect to make full and complete transcripts of all orders on the civil and criminal dockets in cases then pending before the district court of said county of which cases by the provisions of this Act original or appellate jurisdiction is given to said county court, and to deliver said transcripts together with all original papers and a certified bill of costs in each case to the county clerk of said county and said county clerk shall take charge of said transcripts and papers and file the same and enter said cases on the proper docket. All process heretofore issued from the district court of said court¹ in cases transferred under this Act to the county court shall be returnable to the first term of the county court, and all civil cases transferred shall be entered as appearance cases upon the docket of said county court.

McLENNAN COUNTY

Art. 1970-298. Repealed by Acts 1933, 43rd Leg., Spec.Laws, p. 110, ch. 83, § 1

Art. 1970-298a. Jurisdiction of McLennan County Court at Law Transferred to McLennan County Court; Salary of Judge

Sec. 2. All jurisdiction of all matters and causes, civil and criminal, original and appellate, which is now within the jurisdiction of the County Court at Law of McLennan County, is hereby transferred and conferred on the County Court of McLennan County, and all powers heretofore residing in said County Court at Law of McLennan County are hereby conferred on the County Court of McLennan County, and all powers heretofore residing in the Judge of the County Court at Law of McLennan County are hereby conferred on the County Judge of McLennan County, and all cases now pending in the County Court at Law of McLennan County, shall be, and the same are hereby transferred to the County Court of McLennan County, and all writs and processes, civil and criminal heretofore issued by or out of the County Court at Law of McLennan County, or the County Court of said County, shall be and the same are hereby made returnable to the County Court of McLennan County.

Sec. 3. The Judge of the County Court of McLennan County shall assess such fees as are or may be established by law relating to county judges, all of which shall be collected by the clerk of said court, and be by him paid monthly into the County Treasury, and the judge of said County Court shall receive an annual salary of Three Thousand ($3,000.00) Dollars, per year to be paid out of the County Treasury by the Commissioners' Court, provided that said Commissioners' Court may, if and when it sees fit, by order duly entered on the minutes of said Court, pay the County Judge of McLennan County a larger amount of salary, but not to exceed Three Thousand Six Hundred ($3600.00) Dollars, per year, all to be paid monthly out of the County Treasury and from the general fund of said County.

[Acts 1933, 43rd Leg., Spec.Laws, p. 110, ch. 83.]

Art. 1970-298b. County Court at Law of McLennan County

Sec. 1. There is hereby created a Court to be held in McLennan County, to be called the County Court at Law of McLennan County.

Sec. 2. (a) The County Court at Law of McLennan County shall have jurisdiction in all matters and causes, civil and criminal, original and appellate, over which by the general laws and Constitution of the State, the County Court of the county would have jurisdiction.

(b) The jurisdiction of the County Court at Law of McLennan County and the Judge thereof shall extend to all matters of eminent domain, but this provision shall not affect the jurisdiction of the Commissioners Court, or of the County Judge of McLennan County as the presiding officer of the Commissioners Court as to roads, bridges, and public highways, and matters of eminent domain which are now within the jurisdiction of the Commissioners Court or the Judge thereof.

(c) Except as provided in Subsection (b) of this section, the County Court at Law of McLennan County and the Judge thereof shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the County Court of McLennan County and the Judge thereof in all matters and causes over which by the general laws and Constitution of the State the County Court would have jurisdiction.

Sec. 3. The County Court of McLennan County shall have the jurisdiction given County Courts under the Constitution and general laws of this State. The County Court, and the Judge thereof, shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of the court, and also to punish contempts under such provisions as are or may be provided by law governing County Courts throughout the State. The County Judge of McLennan County shall be the Judge of the County Court of McLennan County. All ex officio duties of the County Judge shall be exercised by the Judge of the County Court of McLennan County, except insofar as the same shall by this Act be committed to the Judge of the County Court at Law of McLennan County.

Sec. 3a. (a) The Judge of either the County Court at Law of McLennan County or the County Court of McLennan County may, in his discretion, either in term time or in vacation, on motion of any party or on agreement of the parties, or on his own motion, transfer any cause on his docket, to the docket of the other Court.

(b) The Judges of the Courts may, in their discretion, exchange benches from time to time. Whenever a Judge of one of the Courts is disqualified, he shall transfer the case from his Court to the other Court.

(c) Either Judge may, in his own courtroom, try and determine any case or proceeding pending in either Court, without having the case transferred, or may sit in the other Court, without having the case transferred, or may sit in the other Court and there hear and determine any case there pending. Each judgment and order shall be entered in the minutes of the Court in which the case is pending.

(d) In case of absence, sickness, or disqualification of either Judge, the other Judge may hold Court for him. Either of the Judges may hear any part of any case or proceeding pending in either of the Courts and determine the same or may hear and determine any question in any case, and either Judge may complete the hearing and render judgment in the case.

(e) In cases transferred to either of the Courts by order of the Judge of the other Court, all processes, writs, bonds, recognizances or other obligations issued or made in the cases shall be returned to and filed in the Court to which transfer is made. All bonds executed and recognizances entered into in those cases shall bind the parties for their appearance or to fulfill the obligations of such bonds or recognizances at the terms of the Court to which the cases are transferred to as are fixed by law.

(f) All processes issued or returned before transfer of the cases as well as all bonds and recognizances before taken in the cases shall be valid and binding as though originally issued out of the Court to which the transfer is made.

Sec. 4. The terms of the County Court at Law of McLennan County, shall be held as follows, to-wit:

On the first Mondays in January, March, May, July, September and November in each year, and each term of said Court shall continue in session until and including the Saturday next preceding the beginning of the next succeeding term thereof. The practice in said Court, and appeals and writs of error therefrom, shall be as prescribed by the laws relating to County Courts.

Sec. 5. There shall be elected in McLennan County by the qualified voters thereof, at each general election, a Judge of the County Court at Law of McLennan County, who shall be a qualified voter in said county, and who shall be a regularly licensed attorney at law in this State, well informed in the laws of this State, and who shall have resided in and been actively engaged in the practice of law in this State or as the Judge of a Court for a period of not less than five (5) years next preceding such general election, who shall hold his office for two (2) years, and until his successor shall have been duly qualified.

Sec. 6. The Judge of the County Court at Law of McLennan County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to County Judges.

Sec. 7. A Special Judge of the County Court at Law of McLennan County may be appointed or elected when and under such circumstances as are provided by law relating to County Courts and to the Judges thereof, who shall receive the sum of Ten ($10.00) Dollars per day for each day he so actually serves, to be paid out of the General Fund of the county by the Commissioners Court.

Sec. 8. The Court created by this Act and the Judges thereof shall have power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, and supersedeas, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of said Court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said Court or of any other Court or tribunal inferior to said Court.

Sec. 9. The Clerk of the County Court of McLennan County shall be the Clerk of the County Court at Law of McLennan County. The seal of said Court shall be the same as that provided by law for County Courts except that the seal shall contain the words "Clerk of the County Court at Law of McLennan County". The Sheriff of McLennan County shall in person or by deputy attend the said Court when required by the Judge thereof.

Sec. 10. (a) The judge of the County Court at Law of McLennan County is authorized to appoint an official shorthand reporter for the court. A person is eligible for appointment who is well skilled in his profession. Upon appointment the reporter is to serve as a sworn officer of the court, holding his office at the pleasure of the court.

(b) The reporter is not required to take testimony in a case unless a party to the case or the judge demands that testimony be taken. In cases in which the reporter is required to take testimony, the court clerk shall tax a $3 fee as costs in the case. The clerk shall deposit fees collected under this Section in the treasury of McLennan County. The reporter shall be available for matters being considered in the County Court if a reporter is requested by the litigants before that court and the request is approved by the Judge of the County Court at Law.

(c) The reporter is entitled to receive the same compensation as the official shorthand reporters of the District Courts in McLennan County, which compensation is to be paid in the same manner as is the compensation of the official shorthand reporters of the District Courts in McLennan County. The county judge, the county auditor, the Commissioners Court and any other officials of McLennan County charged with preparing and approving the county budget are authorized to amend the budget of McLennan County to provide for paying compensation to the reporter.

(d) Except where inconsistent with this Act, all General Laws relating to court reporters apply to the official court reporter of the County Court at Law of McLennan County.

Sec. 11. Any vacancy in the office of the Judge of the Court created by this Act shall be filled by the Commissioners Court of McLennan County until the next general election. The Commissioners Court of McLennan County shall, as soon as may be, after this Act shall take effect, appoint a Judge of the County Court at Law of McLennan County, who shall serve until the next general election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 12. The Judge of the County Court at Law of McLennan County shall assess the same fees as are or may be established by law relating to County Judges, all of which shall be collected by the clerk of said court and be by him paid monthly into the County Treasury; and the Judge of said County Court at Law shall receive an annual salary of not more than Twenty Thousand Dollars ($20,000), payable monthly, to be paid out of the County Treasury by the Commissioners Court.

Sec. 14. The County Judge of McLennan County shall receive an annual salary of Six Thousand, Six Hundred ($6,600.00) Dollars to be paid monthly out of the County Treasury, out of the general fund of the county. Said County Judge shall assess the same fees, in matters within the jurisdiction of the County Court, as are or may be prescribed by law relating to County Judge's fees, all of which shall be collected by the Clerk of the Court and shall be by him paid into the County Treasury monthly, for the use and benefit of the general fund; provided that the Commissioners Court of McLennan County may, if and when it sees fit, pay the County Judge a larger amount of annual salary, to be paid monthly out of the County Treasury in accordance with Chapter 320, page 601, 51st Legislature, Acts 1949.¹

Art. 1970-298c. Compensation of Judge

Sec. 1. The Commissioners Court of McLennan County may fix the total annual compensation of the judge of county court-at-law at an amount not to exceed $14,000 a year. In all other respects, the compensation of the judge of county court-at-law is governed by the General Law.

[Acts 1965, 59th Leg., p. 227, ch. 99.]

Art. 1970-298d. County Court at Law No. 2 of McLennan County

Sec. 1. The County Court at Law No. 2 of McLennan County is created on the date determined by the provisions of Section 11 of this Act.

Sec. 2. (a) The County Court at Law No. 2 of McLennan County has jurisdiction in all matters and causes, civil, criminal, and probate, original and appellate, over which by the general laws and constitution of the state the county court of the county would have jurisdiction, and its jurisdiction is concurrent with that of the County Court of McLennan County and the County Court at Law of McLennan County. This provision does not affect the jurisdiction of the commissioners court, or of the county judge of McLennan County as the presiding officer of the commissioners court, as to roads, bridges, and public highways, and matters that are now within the jurisdiction of the commissioners court or the county judge as presiding officer. The county judge of McLennan County shall be the judge of the County Court of McLennan County. All ex officio duties of the county judge shall be exercised by the judge of the County Court of McLennan County, except insofar as the same shall by this Act be committed to the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of McLennan County.

(b) The County Court at Law No. 2 of McLennan County has jurisdiction concurrent with the district court in eminent domain cases and in civil cases when the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $5,000, exclusive of interest, as provided by general law.

Sec. 3. The County Court at Law No. 2 of McLennan County or its judge has the power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, and supersedeas, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of the court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the court or of any other court or tribunal inferior to that court. The court and judge have the power to punish for contempt as prescribed by law for county courts.

Sec. 4. (a) The judges of the county court and the county courts at law may transfer cases to and from the dockets of their respective courts. However, no case may be transferred from one court to another court without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred, and no case may be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred.

(b) The county judge and the judges of the county courts at law may freely exchange benches and courtrooms with each other so that if one is ill, disqualified, or otherwise absent, the other may hold court for him without the necessity of transferring the case involved. Either judge may hear all or any part of a case pending in the county court or in a county court at law and may rule and enter orders on and continue, determine, or render judgment on all or any part of the case without the necessity of transferring it to his own docket. However, the judge of either court may not sit or act in a case unless it is within the jurisdiction of his court. Each judgment and order shall be entered in the minutes of the court in which the case is pending.

(c) In cases transferred to either of the courts by order of the judge of one of the other courts, all processes, writs, bonds, recognizances, or other obligations issued or made in the cases shall be returned to and filed in the court to which transfer is made. All bonds executed and recognizances entered into in those cases shall bind the parties for their appearance or to fulfill the obligations of such bonds or recognizances at the terms of the court to which the cases are transferred as are fixed by law. All processes issued or returned before transfer of the cases, as well as all bonds and recognizances before taken in the cases, shall be valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

Sec. 5. The terms of the County Court at Law No. 2 of McLennan County shall be held on the first Mondays in January, March, May, July, September, and November in each year, and each term of the court shall continue in session until and including the Saturday next preceding the beginning of the next succeeding term. The practice in the court, and appeals and writs of error therefrom, shall be as prescribed by the laws relating to county courts.

Sec. 6. Regardless of whether the court is created prior to January 1, 1979, beginning at the general election in 1978 and every fourth year thereafter, there shall be elected by the qualified voters in McLennan County, for a term beginning on January 1 following each election, a judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of McLennan County, who shall be a qualified voter in the county, who shall be a regularly licensed attorney at law in this state, who shall be well informed in the laws of this state, who shall have resided in and been actively engaged in the practice of law in this state or as the judge of a court for a period of not less than five years next preceding such general election, and who shall hold his office until his successor shall have been duly qualified.

Sec. 7. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of McLennan County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to county judges.

Sec. 8. A special judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of McLennan County may be appointed or elected when and under such circumstances as are provided by law relating to county courts and to the judges thereof, who shall receive for each day he actually serves the same compensation as provided for a special judge of the County Court at Law of McLennan County, to be paid out of the general fund of the county by the commissioners court.

Sec. 9. The clerk of the County Court of McLennan County shall be the clerk of the County Court at Law No. 2 of McLennan County. The seal of the court shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts except that the seal shall contain the words "Clerk of the County Court at Law No. 2 of McLennan County." The sheriff of McLennan County shall in person or by deputy attend the court when required by the judge thereof.

Sec. 10. (a) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of McLennan County is authorized to appoint an official shorthand reporter for the court. A person is eligible for appointment who is well skilled in his profession. On appointment the reporter is to serve as a sworn officer of the court, holding his office at the pleasure of the court.

(b) The reporter is not required to take testimony in a case unless a party to the case or the judge demands that testimony be taken. In cases in which the reporter is required to take testimony, the court clerk shall tax a $3 fee as costs in the case. The clerk shall deposit fees collected under this section in the treasury of McLennan County. The reporter shall be available for matters being considered in the county court if a reporter is requested by the litigants before that court and the request is approved by the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of McLennan County.

(c) The reporter may receive the same compensation as the official shorthand reporters of the district courts in McLennan County, which compensation is to be paid in the same manner as is the compensation of the official shorthand reporters of the district courts in McLennan County. The county judge, the county auditor, the commissioners court, and any other officials of McLennan County charged with preparing and approving the county budget are authorized to amend the budget of McLennan County to provide for paying compensation to the reporter.

(d) Except where inconsistent with this Act, all general laws relating to court reporters apply to the official court reporter of the County Court at Law No. 2 of McLennan County.

Sec. 11. Any vacancy in the office of the judge of the court created by this Act shall be filled by the Commissioners Court of McLennan County until the next general election. The County Court at Law No. 2 of McLennan County is created on January 1, 1979, or on a date determined by the commissioners court by an order entered in its minutes, whichever date is earlier. If the court is created prior to January 1, 1979, the commissioners court shall appoint a judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of McLennan County, who shall serve for a term ending on December 31, 1978, and until his successor is duly elected and has qualified.

Sec. 12. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of McLennan County shall assess the same fees as are or may be established by law relating to county judges, all of which shall be collected by the clerk of the court and be paid monthly by him into the county treasury, and the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of McLennan County may receive an annual salary equal to the annual salary of the judge of the County Court at Law of McLennan County, payable monthly out of the county treasury by the commissioners court.

HARRISON COUNTY

Art. 1970-299. Jurisdiction of County Court of Harrison County

Sec. 1. Hereafter the County Court of Harrison County, Texas, shall have the same jurisdiction and shall be subject to the same provisions as County Courts generally throughout the State, under the Constitution and General Laws of the State of Texas.

Sec. 2. The Jurisdiction of the District Court of the Seventy-first Judicial District of Texas is hereby conformed to the change herein made of the County Court of Harrison County, and hereafter said District Court shall have the same jurisdiction as District Courts generally throughout the State as provided and conferred by the Constitution and General Laws of the State of Texas.

[Acts 1927, 40th Leg., p. 150, ch. 99.]

EDWARDS COUNTY

Art. 1970-300. Changing Jurisdiction of County Court of Edwards County

Sec. 1. Hereafter the county court of Edwards County shall have no civil or criminal jurisdiction and shall have jurisdiction in probate matters only. The civil and criminal jurisdiction heretofore vesting in said county court is hereby transferred to the district court of said county.

Sec. 2. It shall be the duty of the county clerk of said county within thirty days after this Act shall take effect to make a full and complete transcript of all orders on the civil and criminal docket in said county court in all civil and criminal matters, and shall transfer the same together with all other papers and records in connection with such cases and matters, to the clerk of the district court of said county. Said county clerk shall also prepare certified bills of costs in each such case and deliver the same to said district clerk, and the district clerk shall take charge of such transcripts, papers and cost bills and file and enter the same in said cases on the proper docket. All process heretofore issued from the county court in said county in cases transferred by this Act to the district court shall be returnable to the first term of the district court after this Act takes effect, and all cases transferred by this Act shall be entered as appearance cases upon the docket of the district court.

Art. 1970-300a. Jurisdiction of Edwards County Court Increased; Terms of Court

Sec. 1. Hereafter the County Court of Edwards County, Texas, in addition to its present jurisdiction, shall have civil and criminal jurisdiction as provided by the General Laws for County Courts.

Sec. 2. This Act shall not be construed to in anywise or any manner affect judgments heretofore rendered by the District Court pertaining to matters and causes which by this Act are made returnable to the County Court, and the Clerk of the District Court of said county shall issue all executions and orders of sale and proceedings thereunder, which shall be as valid and binding to all intents and purposes as though the change had not been made as directed in this Act.

Sec. 3. Jurisdiction of the District Court of Edwards County, Texas, shall be such as provided by the Constitution and General Laws of the State, consistent with the change in jurisdiction of the County Court herein made.

Sec. 4. The County Court of Edwards County, Texas, shall, in addition to the civil and criminal jurisdiction conferred upon County Courts by the Constitution and General Laws of this State, have and exercise concurrent jurisdiction with the Justice Courts in all criminal and civil matters which, by the General Laws of this State, is conferred upon Justice Courts.

Sec. 5. No appeal or writ of error shall be taken to the Court of Civil Appeals from a final judgment of said County Court in civil cases, of which said court has appellate, original or concurrent jurisdiction with Justice Court, where the amount in controversy does not exceed One Hundred ($100.00) Dollars, exclusive of interest and costs.

Sec. 6. This Act shall not be construed to deprive the Justice Court of jurisdiction now conferred upon it by law, but is only to give concurrent and original jurisdiction to said County Court over such matters as are specified in this Act; nor shall this Act be construed to deny the right of appeal from the Justice Court to said County Court, in any case originally brought in the Justice Court where the right of appeal exists under the Constitution and General Laws of this State.

Sec. 7. The District Clerk of Edwards County is required, within thirty (30) days after this Act takes effect, to make a full and complete transcript of all entries upon the criminal and civil dockets of said court, of any cases then pending before the District Court of said county, of which cases, by the provisions of this Act, original and appellate jurisdiction is given to said County Court, and to file said transcript, together with the original papers in each case, in the County Court of said county; and the County Clerk shall enter said cases on the respective dockets of said County Court as appearance cases for trial by said court, and said cases shall be disposed of in the same manner as if same had been originally filed in the County Court, and all processes now issued and returnable to said District Court shall be returnable to said County Court; all processes heretofore issued by the District Court in said cases, as well as all bonds and recognizances heretofore taken in the District Court, shall be as valid as if no changes had been made as to the jurisdiction of said respective courts; and all bonds executed and recognizances entered in said District Court shall bind the parties to the next term of the County Court after this law becomes effective.

Sec. 8. The terms of said County Court shall commence on the first Monday in January, and on the first Monday in May, and on the first Monday in August, and on the first Monday in November of each year; and each of said terms shall continue in session until the Saturday before the Monday on which a new term commences; provided that the Commissioners Court of said county may hereafter change the terms of said court whenever it may be deemed necessary by said Commissioners Court.

Sec. 9. All laws and parts of laws in conflict with this Act are hereby expressly repealed insofar as they relate to Edwards County, Texas.

[Acts 1949, 51st Leg., p. 261, ch. 140.]

BEXAR COUNTY

Art. 1970-301. County Courts at Law Nos. 1 and 2 of Bexar County

Sec. 1. From and after the passage and taking effect of this Act the county court of Bexar County for civil cases shall be known and designated as the "County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas." The present judge and all officers of the county court of Bexar County for civil cases shall continue as such respective judge and officers of the County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, until the expiration of their present terms of office and until their successors shall have been duly elected or appointed and qualified.

Sec. 2. From and after the passage and taking effect of this Act the county court of Bexar County for criminal cases shall be known and designated as the "County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas." The present judge and all officers of the county court of Bexar County for criminal cases shall continue as such respective judge and officers of the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, until the expiration of their present terms of office and until their successors shall have been duly elected or appointed and qualified.

Sec. 3. Said County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, and the judge thereof, shall have and exercise the same jurisdiction, original and appellate, heretofore conferred on said county court of Bexar County for civil cases, and the judge thereof, and in addition thereto, shall have jurisdiction within Bexar County, Texas, of all such subject matters and causes, original and appellate, over which the county court of Bexar County for criminal cases has heretofore had jurisdiction; and the authorized jurisdiction of said courts, namely, the County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, and the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, over all such matters, within said county, shall be concurrent.

Sec. 4. Said County Court at Law No. 2 of Bexar County, Texas, and the judge thereof, shall have and exercise the same jurisdiction, original and appellate heretofore conferred on said county court of Bexar County for criminal cases, and the judge thereof, and in addition thereto, shall have jurisdiction within Bexar County, Texas, of all such subject matters and causes, original and appellate, over which the county court of Bexar County for civil cases has heretofore had jurisdiction; and the authorized jurisdiction of said courts, namely, the County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, and the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, over all such matters, within said county, shall be concurrent.

Sec. 4-A. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Bexar County, Texas, upon proper certification of the County Judge of Bexar County, Texas, because of conflicting duties, or absence or inability to act; or upon the failure or refusal of such County Judge to act for any reason or cause, shall also be authorized and empowered to act for and in the place and stead of said such County Judge in any probate proceeding or matter, and also may perform for the County Judge of Bexar County any and all other ministerial acts required by the laws of this State of said County Judge of Bexar County, Texas, including the granting or denying of applications for beer and wine licenses and other authority given the County Judge as set forth in the Alcoholic Beverage Code, and upon any such certification, the Judge of said County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, shall give preference and priority to all such actions, matters, and proceedings so certified, and any and all such acts thus performed by the Judge of said County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, shall be valid and binding upon all parties to such actions, matters, and proceedings the same as if performed by the County Judge of Bexar County, Texas. Provided, that the powers thus conferred on the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, shall extend to and include all powers of the County Judge of Bexar County, Texas, except his powers and duties in connection with the transaction of the business of the County as presiding officer of the Commissioners Court, and in connection with the budget of Bexar County. And provided further that the provisions of this paragraph shall be in addition to and cumulative of the provisions of Chapter 355, Acts of the 52nd Legislature, Regular Session, 1951 (Article 1969a-2, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes).

Notwithstanding the additional powers and duties conferred upon the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, by the provisions of this paragraph, no additional compensation or salary shall be paid to said Judge, but the compensation or salary of such Judge shall remain the same as now, or as may be hereafter, fixed by law.

Sec. 5. From and after the passage and taking effect of this Act, civil and criminal cases, within the jurisdiction of said courts, may be filed in either the County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, or in the County Court at Law No. 2 of Bexar County, Texas.

Sec. 6. Whenever the judge of said County Court at Law No. 1, or the judge of said County Court at Law No. 2 of Bexar County, Texas, may deem it advisable or expedient he may transfer any case or cases pending in the court over which he presides to the other of said county courts at law, and the written order upon the minutes of said court so transferring such case, signed by the judge thereof making the transfer, shall be authority for the clerk of said court to make such transfer.

Sec. 7. It shall be the duty of the judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Bexar County, Texas, as soon as practicable after the passage and taking effect of this Act to transfer as aforesaid from the docket of said court to the docket of said County Court at Law No. 2 of Bexar County, Texas, approximately one-half of the civil cases pending upon said docket, which shall be done by transferring every alternate case without reference to whether any particular case be pending upon the jury or nonjury of said court; provided, this section is directory in nature.

Sec. 8. It shall be the duty of the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Bexar County, Texas, as soon as practicable after the passage and taking effect of this Act, to transfer as aforesaid from the docket of said court to the docket of said County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, approximately one-half of the criminal cases pending upon said docket, which shall be done by transferring every alternate case without reference to whether any particular case be pending upon the jury or nonjury docket of said court; provided, this section is directory in nature.

Sec. 9. The Judges of the two County Courts at Law of Bexar County, Texas, may at any time exchange benches, and may at any time sit and act for and with each other in any civil or criminal case, matter or proceeding now and hereafter pending in either of the said County Courts at Law of Bexar County, Texas; and any and all such acts thus performed by the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, or by the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, shall be valid and binding upon all parties to such cases, matters and proceedings.

Sec. 10. All writs, processes, judgments and decrees, civil and criminal, heretofore issued by or out of the said county court of Bexar County for civil cases or the said county court of Bexar County for criminal cases, as well as all bonds and recognizances taken in either of said courts, and all other acts and proceedings had therein, shall be as valid and enforceable and binding as if no change had been made in the name, designation, jurisdiction or time of the holding of either of said courts, and each and all of the same are, respectively, hereby made returnable and effective in that one of said county courts at law which shall have jurisdiction of the cause in conformity with the terms and provisions of this Act.

Sec. 11. The Judges of the County Courts at Law, Nos. 1 and 2, of Bexar County, Texas, shall each take the oath of office prescribed by the Constitution of Texas, but no bond shall be required of either of said Judges. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, shall receive an annual salary of Six Thousand ($6,000.00) Dollars, and the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, shall receive an annual salary of Six Thousand ($6,000.00) Dollars. Said salary shall be paid to each of said Judges in equal monthly installments out of the General Fund of Bexar County, Texas, by warrants drawn upon the County Treasury of said county upon orders of the Commissioners' Court of Bexar County, Texas.

Sec. 12. The County Court of Bexar County, Texas, and the Judge thereof shall have and retain the same jurisdiction, powers, fees, and perquisites of office as conferred on said County Court of Bexar County, or the Judge thereof, at and before the time of the passage and taking effect of this Act; and this Act shall in no wise affect said County Court. Provided, however, that the maximum fees of the office of the County Judge shall not exceed Six Thousand, Five Hundred Dollars ($6,500.00), even though more than one person may perform the duties of said County Judge, in which case the total shall be divided in accordance with services performed. Provided, however, that a County Judge shall not draw a salary amounting to more than Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000.00) per annum and providing that no more than the aggregate sum of Fifteen Hundred Dollars ($1500.00) shall be paid in any one (1) year to special judges for said county.

Sec. 13. The County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, shall hold six terms of court each year commencing on the first Monday in January, March, May, July, September and November, and each term shall continue until the business shall have been disposed of; and the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, shall hold six terms of court each year, commencing on the first Monday in February, April, June, August, October and December, and each term shall continue until the business shall have been disposed of; provided, no term of either of said courts shall continue beyond the date fixed for the commencement of its new term, except upon an order entered on its minutes during the term extending the term for any particular causes therein specified.

Sec. 14. Special judges may be appointed or elected for either or both of the County Courts at Law of Bexar County, Texas, and in the same manner as may now or hereafter be provided by the general laws of this state relating to the appointment and election of a special judge or judges of the several district and county courts of this state; and every such special judge thus appointed or elected for either of said two courts shall receive for the services he may actually perform as such special judge the same amount of pay which the regular judge of said court would be entitled to receive for such services. The amount to be paid to such special judge shall be paid out of the general fund of Bexar County, Texas, by warrants drawn upon the county treasury of said county upon orders of the Commissioners' Court of Bexar County, Texas; but no part of the amount paid to any special judge shall be deducted from or paid out of the salary of either of the regular judges of said respective County Courts at Law.

Sec. 15. The County Clerk of Bexar County, Texas, shall be the clerk of the County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, and also the clerk of the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas. The seal of said courts shall be the same as provided by law for County Courts, except that the seal of the County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, shall contain the words "County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas", and the seal of the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, shall contain the words "County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas." The County Clerk of Bexar County, Texas, shall, upon the taking effect of this Act or as soon thereafter as may be possible, appoint a deputy for each of the said County Courts at Law; provided, however, that the persons thus appointed must be acceptable to the respective judges of said courts, and such appointment for each of said courts must be confirmed in writing by the Judge thereof before it becomes effective. The said two deputies thus appointed shall, before assuming their respective duties, take the oath of office prescribed by the Constitution of Texas, Article 16, Section 1 thereof; and the County Clerk of Bexar County, Texas, shall have the power and authority to require said deputies to furnish bonds in such amount, conditioned and payable as may be prescribed by said clerk or provided by law. The said two deputies shall act in the name of their principal and they, and each of them, may do and perform all such official acts as may be lawfully done and performed by the said County Clerk in person; and it shall be the duty of each of said two deputies to attend all sessions of the County Court at Law of Bexar County, Texas, to which he has been appointed, and perform such services in and for said courts as are usually performed by the County Clerk and their deputies in the several County Courts of this State; and said two deputies shall also perform any and all other services that may from time to time be assigned them by the Judges of said courts. The County Clerk of Bexar County, Texas, and his several deputies, including the two deputies to be appointed for said courts as hereinabove provided, shall, in all cases, both civil and criminal, pending in said courts when this Act takes effect, and also in all such cases thereafter filed in said courts, tax and assess and collect the same fees and costs, and in the same manner, as now provided by law for the County Courts of this state and the Judges thereof in similar cases; and all such fees and costs, when collected by said County Clerk and his several deputies, as well as any and all other sums of money received by said County Clerk and his deputies in their official capacity, shall by said Clerk and deputies be deposited in such fund, or paid to the proper person or persons entitled to the same, and in the manner, as may be provided by law. The said two deputies to be appointed for said two courts are authorized to act for one another in any matter pertaining to the clerical business of said courts, and it shall be their duty to thus act for one another when requested to do so by the Judges of said Courts or by the said County Clerk; but such deputies acting for one another shall not be entitled to receive, nor shall they receive, any additional compensation. The said two deputies shall, from and after their said appointment, confirmation and qualification, as herein provided, continue as such respective deputies at the pleasure of the Judges of said courts; and should either of said Judges for any reason whatsoever not further desire the services of said deputy clerk, the County Clerk of Bexar County, Texas, shall, upon request of such Judge or Judges, appoint another deputy for such court or courts, such appointment, however, to be made in the manner as hereinabove provided. In the event of a vacancy caused by any reason whatsoever the County Clerk of Bexar County, Texas, shall immediately appoint another deputy for the court in which a vacancy may occur, such appointment, however, shall be with written approval and confirmation of the Judge of the Court in which a vacancy may occur. The salary of the deputy clerk appointed for each of the said County Courts at Law of Bexar County, Texas, shall be determined and fixed by the respective Judges of said courts in any amount not exceeding Two Thousand Five Hundred ($2,500.00) Dollars annually; said annual salaries to be paid to said deputy clerks in equal monthly installments out of each fund of Bexar County, Texas, as provided by law for the payment of the salaries of the several deputies of the County Clerk of Bexar County, Texas, and such payment of said salaries shall be made in the manner provided by law. However, before such monthly salaries are paid to said deputies the Judges of said courts shall cause to be filed with the County Clerk of Bexar County, Texas, or with the proper officer of said county, a written statement, signed by said Judges, certifying that said two deputies have performed the services required of them and that they are entitled to receive their said salaries, and such salaries of said deputies shall be paid to them only upon such certificate being signed and filed by said Judges. Provided that nothing contained in this section of this Act is intended to change or alter the duties and powers that have heretofore been and are now being exercised by the County Clerk of Bexar County, Texas, except as herein specifically and expressly stated.

Sec. 15-A. The Sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, shall, by and through deputies to be appointed as hereinafter provided, attend all sessions of the County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, and the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas; and the Sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, shall, upon the taking effect of this Act, or as soon thereafter as may be possible, appoint one deputy for each of the said County Courts at Law of Bexar County, Texas; provided, however, that the persons thus appointed as such deputies must be acceptable to the Judges of said courts, and said appointments for each of said courts must be approved and confirmed in writing by the judge of said court before same becomes effective. The said deputy sheriffs shall, before assuming their respective duties, take the oath of office prescribed by the Constitution of Texas, Article 16, Section 1 thereof; and the Sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, shall have the power and authority to require said deputies to furnish bonds in such amount, conditioned and payable as may be prescribed by said Sheriff or provided by law. The said two deputies shall act in the name of their principal and they may do and perform all such official acts as may be lawfully done and performed by the Sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, in person. The said two deputies shall, from and after their said appointment, confirmation and qualification, as hereinabove provided, continue as such respective deputies at the pleasure of the Judges of said courts; and should either of said Judges, for any reason whatsoever, not further desire the services of said deputy sheriffs, the Sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, shall, upon request of such Judge, appoint another deputy for such court, such appointment, however, to be made in the manner as hereinabove provided. It shall be the duty of the said two deputies, who are to be appointed as herein provided, to attend all sessions of the said two courts and also perform and render such services in and for said courts, and for the Judges thereof, as are usually and generally performed and rendered by Sheriffs and their deputies in and about the several district and county courts throughout this state, and including the serving of any and all process, subpoenas, warrants and writs of any and all kinds and nature, in both civil and criminal cases, matters and proceedings; and it shall be the duty of said deputy sheriffs to also perform and render any and all other services that may from time to time be assigned them, or to either of them, by the Judges of said courts. The said two deputies shall have, possess and enjoy the same rights, powers, authority and privileges that the Sheriffs and their deputies throughout this state now or may hereafter have, possess and enjoy. The said deputy sheriff of the said County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, and the said deputy sheriff of the said County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, are authorized and empowered to act for one another, and it shall be their duty to so act for one another when required to do so by either of the Judges of said courts or by said Sheriff; but said deputies thus acting for one another shall not be entitled to receive, nor shall they receive, any additional compensation. The Sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, shall, in the event of a vacancy caused by any reason whatsoever, immediately appoint another deputy for such court in which a vacancy may occur, such appointment, however, to be subject to the approval and written confirmation of the Judge of the court in which such vacancy may exist. The salary of the said deputy appointed for each of said County Courts at Law of Bexar County, Texas, shall be determined and fixed by the Judge of said court in any sum not exceeding Two Thousand Five Hundred ($2,500.00) Dollars annually. The said annual salaries to be paid to said two deputies, when fixed by said Judges as herein provided, shall be paid to them in equal monthly installments out of such fund of Bexar County, Texas, as provided by law for the payment of the salaries of the several deputies of the Sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, and such payment of said salaries shall be made in the manner provided by law. However, before such monthly salaries are paid to said deputy sheriffs the Judges of said courts shall cause to be filed with the Sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, or with the proper officer of said county, a written statement, signed by said Judges, certifying that said two deputies have performed and rendered the services required of them and that they are entitled to receive their said salaries. Provided that nothing contained in this section of this Act is intended to change or alter the duties and powers of the Sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, except as herein specifically and expressly stated.

Sec. 16. The term of the County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, current at the time of the taking effect of this Act shall continue until the commencement of the next following term of said court, in the month as fixed by this Act, in the year 1927, or until any earlier adjournment thereof. All process issued out of said court before this Act takes effect, and not theretofore returnable, or returnable on some special date, is hereby made returnable to the terms of court as fixed by this Act. All bonds heretofore executed in said court shall bind the parties to fulfill the obligation of such bonds at the terms of court, and to that one of said county courts at law having jurisdiction of the cause, in conformity with this Act. All writs and process heretofore issued and returned, as well as all bonds heretofore taken in said county court of Bexar County for civil cases, and all judgments, writs and decrees thereof, shall be as valid and binding, and enforceable, as if no change had been made in the jurisdiction or the time of the holdings of said court, or in the name and designation of said court.

Sec. 17. The term of the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, current at the time of the taking effect of this Act, shall continue until the commencement of the next following term of said court in the month as fixed by this Act, in the year 1927, or until any earlier adjournment thereof. All process issued out of said court before this Act takes effect, and not theretofore returnable, or returnable on some special date, is hereby made returnable to the terms of court as fixed by this Act. All bonds and recognizances heretofore executed and taken in said court shall bind the parties to fulfill the obligations of such bonds and recognizances at the terms of court, and to the one of said county courts at law having jurisdiction of the cause, in conformity with this Act. All writs and processes heretofore issued and returned, as well as all bonds and recognizances heretofore executed and taken in said county court of Bexar County for criminal cases, and all judgments and writs and decrees thereof shall be as valid and binding and enforceable as if no change had been made in the jurisdiction or the time of the holdings of said court, or in the name and designation of said court.

Sec. 18. There shall be appointed by the county attorney of said county, in addition to the assistants now provided by law, one special assistant, for the purpose of conducting the duties of his office in said courts. Such assistant county attorney shall be paid a salary of three thousand ($3,000.00) dollars annually, in equal monthly installments, by said county, upon warrants drawn against the general fund by orders of the commissioners court.

Sec. 19. For the purpose of preserving a record in all cases for the information of the court, jury and parties, the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, may appoint an official shorthand reporter for said court who shall be well skilled in his profession, shall be a sworn officer of the court, and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court; and the provisions of the law relating to the appointment of stenographers for the district courts of this State shall, and they are hereby made to apply in all their provisions, in so far as they are applicable, to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed, and said reporter shall be entitled to the same fees and salary, and shall perform the same duties, and shall take the same oath as now provided by the General Laws of this State covering the stenographers of the district courts of this State; and in all cases pending in said County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, at the time of the passage and taking effect of this Act, and in all civil cases that may hereafter be filed in said court in which an answer has been filed or may be filed, and also in all other cases, civil and criminal, where either party litigant, or the court, should require the official shorthand reporter to take down the testimony, a stenographer's fee of three ($3.00) dollars shall be taxed by the clerk of said court as costs in this case, the same to be in addition to all other costs, and said fee, when so collected by said clerk, shall be by him paid into the treasury of Bexar County in the same manner as now required of district clerks under similar circumstances.

Sec. 20. The Act of the Legislature of the State of Texas, enacted by the Thirty-second Legislature, Regular Session, known as House Bill No. 111, Chapter 10, approved February 20, 1911, found on pages 15, 16 and 17, of the Session Laws of said Legislature, creating the county court of Bexar County for civil cases, and each provision of said Act, and the amendment to said Act passed by the Thirty-eighth Legislature of the State of Texas, known as House Bill No. 367, found on pages 73 and 74, of the Session Laws of the said Legislature, authorizing the appointment of an official shorthand reporter for said court, shall, except in so far as in conflict herewith, remain in full force and effect, and apply to the County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas.

Sec. 21. The Act of the Legislature of the State of Texas, enacted by the Thirty-fourth Legislature, Regular Session, known as Senate Bill No. 323, Chapter 39, approved March 5, 1915, as found on pages 78, 79, 80 and 81, of the Session Laws of said Legislature, creating the county court of Bexar County for criminal cases, and each provision of said Act, shall, except in so far as in conflict herewith, remain in full force and effect, and apply to the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas.

Sec. 21-A. The terms of office of the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, and of the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, shall be two years. The present Judge of each of said courts shall continue as such Judge thereof until the expiration of his present term of office, and until his successor shall have been duly elected or appointed and qualified, as hereinafter provided. At the next general election to be held within this state and in Bexar County, Texas, after the taking effect of this Act, to-wit, the first Tuesday in the month of November, A.D. 1938, and every two years thereafter, at each general election, there shall be elected by the qualified voters of said county a Judge of each of said courts, both of whom shall be well informed in the laws of this State, and who shall hold their respective offices for a term of two years and until their successors shall have been duly elected or appointed and qualified; provided, however, that no person shall be eligible for Judge of either the said County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, or the said County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, unless he shall be a citizen of the United States and of this state, and shall have been a practicing lawyer of Bexar County, Texas, for at least four years next preceding his election, or is or has been a Judge of a court in this State. Should there be a vacancy in the office of Judge of either of said courts such vacancy shall be filled by appointment by the Commissioners' Court of Bexar County, Texas, and the person or persons thus appointed shall hold such office until their successor, or successors, who shall be elected at the next general election to be held in Bexar County, Texas, after such appointment, shall have qualified according to law; and the person thus appointed shall have the qualifications hereinbefore specified for a Judge of said courts.

Sec. 21-B. The practice in said County Courts at Law of Bexar County, Texas, shall be the same as prescribed by laws relating to County Courts. Appeals and writs of error may be taken from judgments and orders of said two County Courts at Law of Bexar County, Texas, and from judgments and orders of the Judges thereof, in civil and criminal cases, and in the same manner as now is, or may hereafter be, prescribed by laws relating to appeals and writs of error from judgments and orders of the County Courts throughout this state, and the respective Judges thereof, in similar cases. And appeals may be taken from interlocutory orders of the said two County Courts at Law appointing a receiver, and also from orders of the said two County Courts at Law overruling a motion to vacate or an order appointing a receiver; provided, however, that the procedure and manner in which such appeals from interlocutory orders are taken shall be governed by the laws relating to appeals from similar orders of the District Courts throughout this state.

Art. 1970-301d. County Court at Law No. 3 of Bexar County

Sec. 1. There is hereby created a Court to be held in Bexar County, Texas, to be known and designated as the "County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas."

Sec. 2. The County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, shall have, and it is hereby granted, the same jurisdiction over criminal matters that is now or may be vested in county courts having jurisdiction in criminal actions, matters and proceedings under the Constitution and Laws of Texas, and shall have appellate jurisdiction in all appeals in criminal cases from justice courts and corporation courts within Bexar County, Texas, and the Judge of said Court shall have the same powers, rights, privileges as to criminal matters as are now or may be vested in the Judges of county courts having criminal jurisdiction.

The County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, shall have, and it is hereby granted, the same jurisdiction and powers in civil actions, matters and proceedings that are now or may be conferred by law upon and vested in the County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, and in the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, and the Judges thereof. Provided, however, that the jurisdiction of said County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, and the jurisdiction of said County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, and the jurisdiction of said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, over all such actions, matters and proceedings, civil and criminal, within said Bexar County, shall be concurrent.

The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 3 of Bexar County, Texas, upon proper certification of the County Judge of Bexar County, Texas, because of conflicting duties, or absence or inability to act; or, upon the failure or refusal of such County Judge to act for any reason or cause, shall also be authorized and empowered to act for and in the place and stead of said such County Judge in any lunacy, probate and condemnation proceeding or matter, and also may perform for the County Judge of Bexar County any and all other ministerial acts required by the laws of this State of said County Judge of Bexar County, Texas, and upon any such certification, the Judge of said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, shall give preference and priority to all such actions, matters and proceedings so certified, and any and all such acts thus performed by the Judge of said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, shall be valid and binding upon all parties to such actions, matters and proceedings the same as if performed by the County Judge of Bexar County, Texas. Provided, that the powers thus conferred on the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, shall extend to and include all powers of the County Judge of Bexar County, Texas, except his powers and duties in connection with the transaction of the business of the County as presiding officer of the Commissioners Court, and in connection with the budget of Bexar County. And provided further that the provisions of this paragraph shall be in addition to and cumulative of the provisions of House Bill No. 748, Acts 1951, Regular Session, Fifty-second Legislature, Page 601, Chapter 355.

Notwithstanding the additional powers and duties conferred upon the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, by the provisions of this paragraph, no additional compensation or salary shall be paid to said Judge, but the compensation or salary of such Judge shall remain the same as now, or as may be hereafter, fixed by law.

Sec. 3. From and after the passage and taking effect of this Act, civil and criminal actions, matters and proceedings may be filed in said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, in the same manner and under the same conditions, circumstances and instances as now obtain for the filing of actions, matters and proceedings, civil and criminal, in the County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, and in the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, and all such actions, matters and proceedings shall be docketed in the order in the Court in which filed, or in such other manner as may be determined by a majority of the Judges of said County Court at Law by an order duly made by them and entered upon the minutes of each such County Court at Law.

Sec. 4. The Clerk of said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, shall keep a separate docket for said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, the same as is now or may be provided by law for the keeping of dockets for the County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, and the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas; he shall tax the official Court Reporter's fee as costs in civil actions in said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, in like manner as said fee is taxed in civil cases in the District Courts of this State. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, and the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, and the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, and each of them may, with the consent of the Judge of the Court to which transfer is to be made, transfer civil or criminal actions, matters and proceedings from his respective court to any one of the other courts by the entry of an order to the effect upon the docket of such court; and the Judge of the County Court at Law to which any such action, matter or proceeding, civil or criminal, shall have been transferred, shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine said matter or matters and render and enter the necessary and proper orders, decrees and judgments therein, and in the same manner and with the same force and effect as if such case, action, matter or proceeding had been originally filed in said County Court at Law, to which transferred. Provided, however, that no cause, action, matter, case or proceeding shall be transferred without the consent of the Judge of the Court to which transferred.

Sec. 5. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, together with the Judges of the County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, and County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, may, at any time, exchange benches, and may, at any time, sit and act for and with each other in any civil or criminal case, matter or proceeding now, or hereafter, pending in either of said County Courts at Law of Bexar County, Texas; and any and all such acts thus performed by the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, or by the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, or by the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, shall be valid and binding upon all parties to such cases, matters and proceedings.

Sec. 6. The practice in said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, shall be the same as prescribed by law relating to County Courts and County Courts at Law. Appeals and writs of error may be taken from judgments and orders of said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, and from judgments and orders of the Judge thereof, in civil and criminal cases, and in the same manner as now is, or may hereafter be, prescribed by law relating to appeals and writs of error from judgments and orders of the County Courts and County Courts of Law throughout this State, and the respective judges thereof, in similar cases. And appeals may also be taken from interlocutory orders of said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, appointing a receiver, and also from orders of said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, overruling a motion to vacate or an order appointing a receiver; provided, however, that the procedure and manner in which such appeals from interlocutory orders are taken shall be governed by the laws relating to appeals from similar orders of the District Courts throughout this State.

Sec. 7. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, shall appoint an official shorthand reporter for such Court, who shall be well-skilled in his profession and shall be a sworn officer of the Court, and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the Court and all of the provisions of Chapter 13, Title 42, of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended, and as the same may hereafter be amended and all other provisions of the law relating to "official court reporters" shall, and the same are hereby made to, apply in all its provisions, in so far as they are applicable to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed, and in so far as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, and such official shorthand reporter shall be entitled to the same compensation as applicable to official shorthand reporters in the District Courts of Bexar County, Texas, and paid in the same manner that compensation of official shorthand reporters of said District Court of Bexar County is paid.

Sec. 8. The County Clerk of Bexar County, Texas, shall be the clerk of the County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, in addition to his duties as they are now, or may hereafter be, prescribed by law. The seal of said Court shall be the same as provided by law for County Courts, except that the seal of the County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, shall contain the words "County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas." The County Clerk of Bexar County, Texas, shall, upon taking effect of this Act, or as soon thereafter as may be possible, appoint a deputy for said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas; provided, however, that the person so appointed must be acceptable to the Judge of said Court, and such appointment must be confirmed in writing by the Judge of said Court before the same becomes effective. Said deputy so appointed shall take the oath of office prescribed by the Constitution of Texas, and the County Clerk of Bexar County, Texas, shall have power and authority to require said deputy to furnish bond in such amount, conditioned and payable as may be prescribed by law. Said deputy shall act in the name of his principal and he may do and perform all such official acts as may be lawfully done and performed by said County Clerk of Bexar County in person; it shall be the duty of said deputy to attend all sessions of said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, and perform such services in and for said Court as are usually performed by the County Clerk and his deputies of the several County Courts of this State; and said deputy shall also perform any and all other services that may, from time to time, be assigned him by the Judge of said Court. Said deputy shall, in all cases, both civil and criminal, that may be filed in said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, or that may be transferred to said Court from the County Court at Law No.

1, of Bexar County, Texas, or that may be transferred to said Court from the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, tax and assess and collect the same fees and costs, and in the same manner, as now provided by law for the County Courts of this State and the Judges thereof in similar cases; and all such fees and costs, when collected by said County Clerk and his deputies, as well as any and all other sums of money received by said County Clerk and his deputies in their official capacity, shall by said Clerk and his deputies be deposited in such fund, or paid to the proper person or persons entitled to the same, and in the manner as may be provided by law. The deputy appointed hereunder is hereby authorized to act for the deputy appointed by the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, and he shall also be authorized to act for the deputy appointed by the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, and each and all of said deputies shall be, and they are hereby, authorized to act for each other, in any matter pertaining to the clerical business of said Court, and it shall be the duty of said deputies to thus act for one another when requested to do so by the Judges of the several County Courts at Law of Bexar County, but they shall receive no additional compensation for so serving. Said deputy so appointed shall, from and after his said appointment, confirmation and qualification, as herein provided, continue as such deputy at the pleasure of the Judge of said County Court at Law No. 3, Bexar County, Texas, and should said Judge, for any reason whatsoever, not further desire the services of such deputy, the County Clerk of Bexar County, Texas, shall, upon request of such Judge, appoint another deputy for such Court; such appointment, however, to be made in the manner as hereinabove provided. In the event of a vacancy caused by any reason whatsoever, the County Clerk of Bexar County, Texas, shall immediately appoint another deputy for said Court, such appointment, however, to be made in the same manner as hereinabove provided. The salary of the deputy appointed for said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, shall be determined and fixed by the Judge of said Court but shall not exceed the salary now being paid to, or that in the future may be paid to, the deputy for County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, or the deputy for the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas; said annual salary to be paid to said deputy in equal monthly installments out of such fund of Bexar County, Texas, as provided by law for the payment of the salaries of the several deputies of the County Clerk of Bexar County, Texas, and such payment of said salary shall be made in the manner provided by law. However, before such monthly salary is paid to said deputy, the Judge of said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, shall cause to be filed with the County Clerk of Bexar County, Texas, or with the proper officer of said County, a written statement, signed by the Judge, certifying that said deputy has performed the services required of him and that he is entitled to receive said salary and such salary of said deputy shall be paid to him only upon certificate being signed and filed by said Judge. Provided, that nothing contained in this section of this Act is intended to change or alter the duties and powers that have heretofore been and are now being exercised by the County Clerk of Bexar County, Texas, except as herein specifically and expressly stated.

Sec. 9. The Sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, shall, by and through a deputy to be appointed as hereinafter provided, attend all sessions of said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, and said Sheriff shall, upon the taking effect of this Act, or as soon thereafter as may be possible, appoint one (1) deputy for said Court, provided, however, that the person thus appointed must be acceptable to the Judge of said Court and said appointment of said deputy must be approved and confirmed in writing by said Judge before the same becomes effective. The deputy sheriff so appointed shall, before assuming his duties, take the oath of office prescribed by the Constitution of Texas, and the Sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, shall have the power and authority to require said deputy to furnish bond in such amount, conditioned and payable as may be prescribed by law. Said deputy shall act in the name of his principal and he may do and perform all such official acts as may be lawfully done and performed by the Sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, in person. Said deputy shall, from and after his appointment, confirmation and qualification, as hereinabove provided, continue as such deputy at the pleasure of the Judge of said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, and should said Judge for any reason whatsoever, not further desire the services of said deputy sheriff, the Sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, shall, upon request of such Judge, appoint another deputy for such court; such appointment, however, to be made in the same manner as hereinabove provided. It shall be the duty of the deputy sheriff appointed as herein provided, to attend all sessions of said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, and also perform and render such services in and for said Court, and for the Judge thereof, as are usually and generally performed and rendered by Sheriffs and their deputies in and about the several district and County Courts of this State, and including the serving of any and all process, subpoenas, warrants and writs of any and all kinds, nature and character, in both civil and criminal cases, matters and proceedings; and it shall be the duty of said deputy sheriff to also perform and render any and all other services that may, from time to time, be assigned to him, by the Judge of said Court. Said deputy sheriff shall have, possess and enjoy the same rights, powers, authority and privileges that the Sheriffs and their deputies throughout this State now or may hereafter have, possess and enjoy; and said deputy sheriff is authorized and empowered to act for the deputy sheriff of the County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, and he is also authorized and empowered to act for the deputy sheriff of the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, and all of said deputy sheriffs may, and they are hereby authorized and empowered to, act for one another, and it shall be their duty to act for one another when required to do so by either of the Judges of said Courts or by said Sheriff; but said deputy thus acting for another shall not be entitled to receive, nor shall they receive, any additional compensation. The Sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, shall, in the event of a vacancy caused by any reason whatsoever, immediately appoint another deputy for such court, such appointment, however, to be subject to the approval and written confirmation of the Judge of said Court. The salary of the deputy sheriff appointed for said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, shall be determined and fixed by the Judge of said Court but shall not exceed the salary now being paid to, or that in the future may be paid to, the deputy sheriff for County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, or the deputy sheriff for County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas; and said annual salary shall be paid to such deputy sheriff in equal monthly installments out of such fund of Bexar County, Texas, as provided by law for the payment of the salaries of the several deputies of the Sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, and such payment of said salary shall be made in the manner provided by law. However, before such monthly salary is paid to said deputy sheriff, the Judge of said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, shall cause to be filed with the Sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, or with the proper officer of said County, a written statement, signed by said Judge, certifying that said deputy sheriff has performed and rendered the services required of him and that he is entitled to receive his salary. Provided, that nothing contained in this Section of this Act is intended to change or alter the deputies and powers of the Sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, except as herein specifically and expressly provided.

Sec. 10. At the next General Election after the effective date of this Act there shall be elected a Judge of the County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, who shall have been a duly licensed and practicing member of the State Bar of Texas for not less than five (5) years, well informed in the laws of the State, who shall have resided in and been actively engaged in the practice of law in Bexar County, Texas, for a period of not less than four (4) years prior to such General Election, and who shall hold his office for four (4) year and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified. When this Act becomes effective, the Commissioners Court of Bexar County, Texas, shall appoint a Judge of said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, who shall have the qualifications herein prescribed and who shall serve until the next General Election and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified. Any vacancy thereafter occurring in the office of the Judge of said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar

County, Texas, shall, in like manner as hereinabove provided, be filled by said Commissioners Court of Bexar County, Texas, the appointee thereof to hold office until the next succeeding General Election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 11. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, shall take the oath of office prescribed by the Constitution of Texas, but no bond shall be required of such Judge. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, shall receive and shall be paid the same salary as is now, or as may hereafter be, prescribed by law for the Judges of the County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, and of the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas. Said salary shall be paid to said Judge in equal monthly installments out of the General Fund of Bexar County, Texas, by warrants drawn upon the County Treasury of said County upon orders of the Commissioners Court of Bexar County, Texas.

Sec. 12. A special judge may be appointed or elected for the County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, and in the same manner as may now or hereafter be provided by the general laws of this State relating to the appointment and election of a special judge, or judges, of the several District and County Courts and County Courts at Law of this State; and every such special judge thus appointed or elected for said Court shall receive for the services he may actually perform as such special judge the same amount of pay which the regular judge of said court would be entitled to receive for such services; and said amount to be paid to such special judge shall be paid out of the General Fund of Bexar County, Texas, by warrants drawn upon the County Treasury of said County upon orders of the Commissioners Court of Bexar County, Texas; but no part of the amount paid to any special judge shall be deducted from or paid out of the salary of the regular judge of said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas.

Sec. 13. The County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, or the Judge thereof, shall have power to grant all writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of said Court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in such cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said Court, or of any other Court in said County of inferior jurisdiction to said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas.

Sec. 14. The County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, shall hold six (6) terms of court each year, commencing on the first Monday in January, March, May, July, September and November of each year and each term shall continue until the business of said Court shall have been disposed of; provided, however, that no term of said Court shall continue beyond the date fixed for the commencement of its new term, except upon an order entered on its minutes during the term extending the term for any particular causes therein specified.

Sec. 15. For the purpose of disposing of the business of said County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, there shall be appointed by the Criminal District Attorney of Bexar County, Texas, in addition to the assistants now provided by law, one assistant for the purpose of conducting the duties of his office in said Court. Said assistant shall be paid the same salary as is now, or may be hereafter, paid to the assistants serving in County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, and in County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, the same to be paid in equal monthly installments, by said County, upon warrants drawn against the General Fund by orders of the Commissioners Court.

Art. 1970-301e. Salaries of Judges

From and after the effective day of this Act the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1, of Bexar County, Texas, and the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2, of Bexar County, Texas, and the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 3, of Bexar County, Texas, shall each receive an annual salary of not less than Twelve Thousand Dollars ($12,000) nor more than Sixteen Thousand Dollars ($16,000). Such annual salary to be paid to each of said judges shall be determined and fixed by the Commissioners Court of Bexar County, Texas, and, when so determined and fixed, such annual salary shall be paid to each of said judges in equal monthly installments by warrants drawn on the County Treasury of Bexar County, Texas, upon orders of the Commissioners Court of said County.

[Acts 1961, 57th Leg., p. 523, ch. 249, § 1.]

Art. 1970-301e.1. County Courts at Law Nos. 4 and 5 of Bexar County

Sec. 1. There is created the "County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas."

Sec. 2. The County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, has the same jurisdiction, powers, and duties, and concurrent jurisdiction, powers, and duties in all civil and criminal actions, proceedings, and matters, original and appellate, over which by the constitution and general laws of this state, the County Courts at Law Numbers 1, 2, and 3 of Bexar County, have jurisdiction, and has concurrent jurisdiction with the district courts when the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $5,000, exclusive of interest, as provided in Article 1970a, Revised Statutes.

Sec. 3. Civil and criminal actions, matters, and proceedings may be filed in the County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, in the same manner and under the same conditions, circumstances, and instances as now obtain for the filing of actions, matters, and proceedings, civil and criminal, in the County Courts at Law Numbers 1, 2, and 3 of Bexar County, and all such actions, matters and proceedings shall be docketed in the order in the court in which filed, or in such manner as may be determined by a majority of the judges of the said county courts at law and the County Judge of Bexar County, Texas.

Sec. 3a. From and after the passage and taking effect of this Act, probate matters and proceedings may be filed in said County Court at Law Number 4 of Bexar County, Texas, in the same manner and under the same circumstances and conditions as now obtain for the filing of such matters and proceedings in the County Court of Bexar County, Texas, or with the county judge, and all such matters and proceedings shall be docketed in the order in which filed in said court, or in such other manner as may be determined by the judge of the County Court at Law Number 4 of Bexar County, Texas, and the County Judge of Bexar County, Texas. Notwithstanding the provisions of Chapter 502, Acts of the 59th Legislature, 1965 (Article 1970-75a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), it is the intention of this Act that the said County Court at Law Number 4 of Bexar County, Texas, shall give preference and priority to probate matters and proceedings.

Sec. 4. The clerk of said County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, shall keep a separate docket for said County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, the same as is now or may be provided by law for keeping of dockets for the county courts at law of Bexar County, Texas; the clerk shall tax the official court reporter's fee as costs in civil actions in said County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, in like manner as said fee is taxed in civil cases in the district courts of this state. The judges of the County Courts at Law Numbers 1, 2, 3, and 5 of Bexar County, Texas, and each of them may, with the consent of the judge of the court to which transfer is to be made, transfer civil or criminal actions, matters, and proceedings from his respective court to any one of the other courts by the entry of an order to the effect upon the docket of such court; and the judge of the county court at law to which any such action, matter, or proceeding, civil or criminal, shall have been transferred, shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine said matter or matters and render and enter the necessary and proper orders, decrees, and judgments therein, and in the same manner and with the same force and effect as if such case, action, matter, or proceeding had been originally filed in said county court at law to which transferred. Provided, however, that no cause, action, matter, case, or proceeding shall be transferred without the consent of the judge of the court to which transferred.

Sec. 5. The judges of the County Courts at Law Numbers 1, 2, 3, and 5 of Bexar County, Texas, may, at any time, exchange benches, and may, at any time, sit and act for and with each other in any civil or criminal case, matter, or proceeding now, or hereafter, pending in any of said county courts at law of Bexar County, Texas; and any and all such acts thus performed by the judge of the County Court at Law Number 1 of Bexar County, Texas, or by the judge of the County Court at Law Number 2 of Bexar County, Texas, or by the judge of the County Court at Law Number 3 of Bexar County, Texas, or by the judge of the County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, shall be valid and binding upon all parties to such cases, matters, and proceedings.

Sec. 6. The practice in said County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, shall be the same as prescribed by law relating to county courts and county courts at law. Appeals and writs of error may be taken from judgments and orders of said County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, and from judgments and orders of the judge thereof, in civil and criminal cases, and in the same manner as now is, or may hereafter be, prescribed by law relating to appeals and writs of error from judgments and orders of the county courts and county courts at law throughout this state, and the respective judges thereof, in similar cases. Appeals may also be taken from interlocutory orders of said County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, appointing a receiver, and also from orders of said County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, overruling a motion to vacate or an order appointing a receiver; provided, however, that the procedure and manner in which such appeals from interlocutory orders are taken shall be governed by the laws relating to appeals from similar orders of the district courts throughout this state.

Sec. 7. The judge of the County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, shall appoint an official shorthand reporter for such court, who shall be well skilled in his profession and shall be a sworn officer of the court, and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court and all of the provisions of Chapter 13, Title 42, Revised Statutes,¹ and as the same may hereafter be amended and all other provisions of the law relating to "official court reporters" shall, and the same are hereby made to, apply in all its provisions, insofar as they are applicable to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed, and insofar as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, and such official shorthand reporter shall be entitled to the same compensation as applicable to official shorthand reporters in the district courts of Bexar County, Texas, and paid in the same manner that compensation of official shorthand reporters of said district court of Bexar County is paid.

Sec. 8. The county clerk of Bexar County, Texas, shall be the clerk of the County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, in addition to his duties as they are now, or may hereafter be, prescribed by law. The seal of said court shall be the same as provided by law for county courts, except that the seal of the County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, shall contain the words "County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas." The county clerk of Bexar County, Texas, shall, on the effective date of this Act, or as soon thereafter as may be possible, appoint a deputy for said County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas. Said deputy so appointed shall take the oath of office prescribed by the Constitution of Texas, and the county clerk of Bexar County, Texas, shall have power and authority to require said deputy to furnish bond in such amount, conditioned, and payable as may be prescribed by law. Said deputy shall act in the name of his principal and he may do and perform all such official acts as may be lawfully done and performed by said county clerk of Bexar County in person; it shall be the duty of said deputy to attend all sessions of said county court at law to which he is appointed and perform such services in and for said court as are usually performed by the county clerk and his deputies of the several county courts of this state; and said deputy shall also perform any and all other services that may, from time to time, be assigned him by the judge of said court. Said deputy shall, in all cases, both civil and criminal, that may be filed in said county court at law to which he is appointed, or that may be transferred to said court from another county court at law of Bexar County, Texas, tax and assess and collect the same fees and costs, and in the same manner, as now provided by law for the county courts of this state and the judges thereof in similar cases; and all such fees and costs, when collected by said county clerk and his deputy, as well as any and all other sums of money received by said county clerk and his deputy in their official capacity, shall by said clerk and his deputy be deposited in such fund, or paid to the proper person or persons entitled to the same, and in the manner as may be provided by law. The deputy appointed hereunder is hereby authorized to act for the deputy of any other county court at law of Bexar County, Texas, and each and all of said deputies shall be, and they are hereby, authorized to act for each other, in any matter pertaining to the clerical business of said court, and it shall be the duty of said deputies to thus act for one another when requested to do so by the judges of the several county courts at law of Bexar County, but they shall receive no additional compensation for so serving. In the event of a vacancy caused by any reason whatsoever, the county clerk of Bexar County, Texas, shall immediately appoint another deputy for said court. The salary of the deputy appointed for said County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, shall be determined and fixed as prescribed by law for the deputies of the several county courts at law of Bexar County, but shall not exceed the salary now being paid to, or that in the future may be paid to, the deputies for the County Courts at Law Numbers 1, 2, and 3 of Bexar County, Texas; said annual salary to be paid to said deputy in equal monthly installments out of such fund of Bexar

County, Texas, as provided by law for the payment of the salaries of the several deputies of the county clerk of Bexar County, Texas, and such payment of said salary shall be made in the manner provided by law. Provided, that nothing contained in this section of this Act is intended to change or alter the duties and powers that have heretofore been and are now being exercised by the county clerk of Bexar County, Texas, except as herein specifically and expressly stated.

Sec. 9. The sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, shall, by and through a deputy to be appointed as hereinafter provided, attend all sessions of said County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, and said sheriff shall appoint the deputy. The deputy sheriff so appointed shall, before assuming his duties, take the oath of office prescribed by the Constitution of Texas, and the sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, shall have the power and authority to require said deputy to furnish bond in such amount, conditioned, and payable as may be prescribed by law. Said deputy shall act in the name of his principal and he may do and perform all such official acts as may be lawfully done and performed by the sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, in person. It shall be the duty of the deputy sheriff appointed as herein provided, to attend all sessions of said county court at law to which he is appointed, and also perform and render such services in and for said court, and for the judge thereof, as are usually and generally performed and rendered by sheriffs and their deputies in and about the several district and county courts of this state, and including the serving of any and all process, subpoenas, warrants, and writs of any and all kinds, nature, and character, in both civil and criminal cases, matters, and proceedings; and it shall be the duty of said deputy sheriff to also perform and render any and all other services that may, from time to time, be assigned to him by the judge of said court. Said deputy sheriff shall have, possess, and enjoy the same rights, powers, authority, and privileges that the sheriffs and their deputies throughout this state now or may hereafter have, possess, and enjoy; and said deputy sheriff is authorized and empowered to act for the deputy sheriff of any other county court at law of Bexar County, Texas, and all of said deputy sheriffs may, and they are hereby authorized and empowered to, act for one another, and it shall be their duty to act for one another when required to do so by either of the judges of said courts or by said sheriff; but said deputy thus acting for another shall not be entitled to receive, nor shall he receive, any additional compensation. The sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, shall, in the event of a vacancy caused by any reason whatsoever, immediately appoint another deputy for such court. The salary of the deputy sheriff appointed for said County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, shall be determined and fixed as prescribed by law for the deputy sheriffs for the several county courts at law of Bexar County, but shall not exceed the salary now being paid to, or that in the future may be paid to, the deputy sheriffs for the County Courts at Law Numbers 1, 2, and 3 of Bexar County, Texas; and said annual salary shall be paid to such deputy sheriff in equal monthly installments out of such fund of Bexar County, Texas, as provided by law for the payment of the salaries of the several deputies of the sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, and such payment of said salary shall be made in the manner provided by law. Provided, that nothing contained in this section of this Act is intended to change or alter the duties and powers of the sheriff of Bexar County, Texas, except as herein specifically and expressly provided.

Sec. 10. The judge of the County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, shall be elected at the general election at which county court at law judges are regularly elected by the qualified voters of Bexar County for a term of four years as provided by Article V, Section 30, and Article XVI, Section 65, of the Texas Constitution. The judge shall hold office until his successor shall have been elected and qualified. He shall have been a duly licensed and practicing member of the bar of this state for at least four years; he shall take the oath of office prescribed by the Constitution of Texas, but no bond shall be required of such judge. The judge of the County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, shall receive and shall be paid the same salary as is now, or as may hereafter be, prescribed by law for the judges of the several county courts at law of Bexar County, Texas, in equal monthly installments out of the general fund of Bexar County, Texas, by warrants drawn on the county treasurer of said county upon orders of the Commissioners Court of Bexar County.

Sec. 11. Any vacancy in the office of the judge of the County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, shall be filled by appointment made by the Commissioners Court of Bexar County, and the judge so appointed shall serve until January 1 following the next general election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 12. A special judge may be appointed or elected for the County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, in the same manner as may now or hereafter be provided by the general laws of this state relating to the appointment and election of a special judge, or judges, of the several district and county courts and county courts at law of this state and every such special judge thus appointed or elected for said court shall receive for the services he may actually perform as such special judge the same amount of pay which the regular judge of said court would be entitled to receive for such services; and said amount to be paid to such special judge shall be paid out of the general fund of Bexar County, Texas, by warrants drawn upon the county treasury of said county upon orders of the Commissioners Court of Bexar County, Texas; but no part of the amount paid to any special judge shall be deducted from or paid out of the salary of the regular judge of said County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas.

Sec. 13. The County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, or the judge thereof, shall have power to grant all writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of said court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in such cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said court, or of any other court in said county of inferior jurisdiction.

Sec. 14. The County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, shall hold six terms of court each year, commencing on the first Monday in January, March, May, July, September, and November of each year and each term shall continue until the business of said court shall have been disposed of; provided, however, that no term of said court shall continue beyond the date fixed for the commencement of its new term, except upon an order entered on its minutes during the term extending the term for any particular causes therein specified.

Sec. 15. For the purpose of disposing of the business of said County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, there shall be appointed by the criminal district attorney of Bexar County, Texas, in addition to the assistants now provided by law, one assistant for the County Court at Law Number 5 of Bexar County, Texas, for the purpose of conducting the duties of his office in said court. Said assistant shall be paid the same salary as is now, or may be hereafter, paid to the assistants serving in County Courts at Law Numbers 1, 2, and 3 of Bexar County, the same to be paid in equal monthly installments, by said county, upon warrants drawn against the general fund by orders of the commissioners court.

Sec. 16. The judge of the County Court at Law Number 4 of Bexar County, Texas, may appoint an administrative assistant or assistants to aid him in the performance of his duties in matters probate. The salary of said administrative assistant or assistants shall be set by the Commissioners Court of Bexar County to be paid out of the General Fund of Bexar County, Texas, by warrants drawn on the county treasurer of said county upon orders of the Commissioners Court of Bexar County.

Art. 1970-301e.2. County Courts at Law Nos. 4 and 6 of Bexar County

Creation

Sec. 1. The County Courts at Law Numbers 4 and 6 of Bexar County are created effective July 1, 1983.

Jurisdiction

Sec. 2. (a) The courts created by this Act have the same jurisdiction of civil and criminal cases as that of the County Courts at Law Numbers 1, 2, 3, and 5 of Bexar County.

(b) The courts created by this Act do not have jurisdiction over causes and proceedings concerning roads, bridges, and public highways and the general administration of county business that is within the jurisdiction of the commissioners court. The judge of the county court retains and shall exercise all ex officio duties of the county judge.

(c) The courts created by this Act shall give preference to criminal matters and appeals de novo from the municipal and justice courts.

Powers and Duties

Sec. 3. (a) The courts created by this Act or the judge of a court created by this Act may issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all writs necessary for the enforcement of the jurisdiction of the court. They may issue writs of habeas corpus in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the court or of any other court of inferior jurisdiction in the county.

(b) The courts created by this Act or the judge of a court created by this Act may punish for contempt as prescribed by general law.

(c) The judge of a court created by this Act has all other powers, duties, immunities, and privileges provided by law for county court judges, except that the judge does not have any authority over the administrative business of the county that is performed by the county judge of the county.

Terms of Court

Sec. 4. The terms of the courts created by this Act begin on the first Mondays in January, March, May, July, September, and November of each year. Each term of court continues until the next succeeding term begins.

Judge

Sec. 5. (a) The judge of a court created by this Act must:

- (1) be a citizen of the United States;
- (2) reside in the county;
- (3) be licensed to practice law in this state; and
- (4) have actively practiced law for at least four years prior to election or appointment.

(b) Subject to Section 8(c), Chapter 427, Acts of the 54th Legislature, 1955 (Article 3883i, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), the commissioners court shall set the annual salary of each judge of a court created by this Act. The annual salary shall be paid in equal monthly installments from county funds.

(c) The commissioners court shall appoint a person to fill a vacancy in the office of the judge of a court created by this Act. The appointee holds office until the next succeeding general election and until his successor is elected and has qualified.

(d) At the general election in 1986 and every fourth year thereafter, the qualified voters of the county shall elect the judges of the courts created by this Act for regular terms of four years as provided by Article V, Section 30, and Article XVI, Section 65, of the Texas Constitution.

(e) The judge of a court created by this Act shall take the oath of office prescribed by the constitution of this state.

Court Officials, Personnel, and Facilities

Sec. 6. (a) The judge of a court created by this Act shall appoint an official court reporter. The reporter must be well skilled in his profession and have the qualifications prescribed by law for that office. The reporter shall be a sworn officer of the court and serves at the pleasure of the judge. The reporter is entitled to the same compensation, fees, and allowances as the court reporters of the district courts in the county.

(b) The judge of a court created by this Act may appoint a court coordinator or administrative assistant for the court. A court coordinator or administrative assistant performs the duties prescribed by the judge and cooperates with the administrative judges and state agencies for the uniform and efficient operation of the courts and the administration of justice. The court coordinator or administrative assistant is entitled to be paid from county funds the compensation, fees, and allowances that are set by the commissioners court or as otherwise provided by law. This section is cumulative of the provisions of the law that relate to a court administrator's system for county courts with criminal jurisdiction in certain counties.

(c) The criminal district attorney shall attend the courts created by this Act as required by the judges of the courts.

(d) The county clerk serves as the clerk of the courts created by this Act. The county clerk shall appoint a deputy for each county court at law created by this Act. The deputy shall take the oath of office prescribed by the constitution of this state. The county clerk may require a deputy to furnish bond in an amount, conditioned, and payable as prescribed by law. The deputy shall act in the name of his principal and may perform all official acts that may be performed by the county clerk. The deputy shall attend all sessions of the county court at law to which he is appointed and perform the services in and for the court that are usually performed by the county clerk and his deputies in the county courts of this state. The deputy shall perform any services that may, from time to time, be assigned him by the judge of the court. The deputy shall, in all cases, both civil and criminal, that may be filed in the county court at law to which he is appointed or that may be transferred to that court from another county court at law of Bexar County, tax, assess, and collect the same fees and costs and in the same manner as provided by law for the county courts of this state and the judges of those courts in similar cases. The clerk and the clerk's deputies shall deposit or pay all fees and costs received in their official capacity as provided by law. A deputy may act for the deputy of any other county court at law of Bexar County when requested to do so by the judges of the county courts at law of Bexar County. A deputy acting for another deputy is not entitled to receive additional compensation. In the event of a vacancy, the county court of Bexar County shall immediately appoint another deputy for the court. The annual salary of the deputy appointed for each of the courts created by this Act is the same as the annual salary of the deputies of the other county courts at law of Bexar County. The salary shall be paid in equal monthly installments out of county funds. Nothing in this section of this Act alters the duties and powers of the county clerk of Bexar County, except as specifically stated.

Special Judge

Sec. 7. (a) If the regular judge of a court created by this Act is absent or is from any cause disabled or disqualified from presiding, a special judge may be appointed or elected in the manner provided by law for special judges of county courts.

(b) A special judge shall take the oath of office that is required by law for the regular judge and has all the power and jurisdiction of the court and of the regular judge for whom he is sitting. A special judge may sign orders, judgments, decrees, or other process of any kind as "Judge Presiding" when acting for the regular judge.

(c) A special judge is entitled to receive for the services actually performed the same amount of compensation that the regular judge is entitled to receive for the services. The compensation shall be paid out of county funds. None of the amount paid to a special judge for sitting for the regular judge may be deducted or paid out of the salary of the regular judge.

Separate Dockets

Sec. 8. The clerk of a court created by this Act shall keep a separate docket for the court. Cases shall be docketed in the order filed or in any manner as determined by a majority of the judges of the county courts at law of Bexar County and the judge of the county court.

Reporter's Fees

Sec. 9. The official court reporter's fee shall be taxed as costs in civil actions in the same manner as that fee is taxed in civil cases in the district courts of this state.

Transfer of Cases

Sec. 10. A judge of a county court at law of Bexar County may transfer with the consent of the judge of the court to which transfer is to be made civil or criminal actions, matters, and proceedings from his court to any one of the other courts by the entry of an order on the docket of the court. The judge of the county court at law to which a case is transferred has jurisdiction to hear and determine the case and render and enter the necessary and proper orders, decrees, and judgments. A case may not be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which transferred.

Exchange of Benches

Sec. 11. (a) The judges of the county courts at law of Bexar County may exchange benches with each other so that if one is absent, disabled, or disqualified, another may hold court for him without the necessity of transferring the case. A judge may hear all or any part of a case pending in a county court at law and may rule and enter orders on and continue, determine, or render judgment on all or any part of the case without the necessity of transferring it to his own docket. A judge may not sit or act in a case unless it is within the jurisdiction of his court. Each judgment and order shall be entered in the minutes of the court in which the case is pending.

(b) When a case is transferred from one court to another as provided by this section, all processes, writs, bonds, recognizances, or other obligations issued from the transferring court are returnable to the court to which the case is transferred as if originally issued by that court. The obligees in all bonds and recognizances taken in and for a court from which a case is transferred and all witnesses summoned to appear in a court from which a case is transferred are required to appear before the court to which the case is transferred as if originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

Practice and Procedure

Sec. 12. The practice in the courts created by this Act shall conform to that prescribed by law relating to county courts and county courts at law. Appeals and writs of error may be taken from judgments and orders of the courts created by this Act and from judgments and orders of the judges, in civil and criminal cases, in the same manner as prescribed by law relating to appeals and writs of error from judgments and orders of the county courts and county courts at law. Appeals may be taken from interlocutory orders of the courts created by this Act appointing a receiver, overruling a motion to vacate, or overruling an order appointing a receiver, but the procedure and manner in which appeals from interlocutory orders are taken is governed by the laws relating to appeals from similar orders of the district courts.

Sheriff and Deputy Sheriff

Sec. 13. The sheriff of Bexar County or the sheriff's appointed deputy shall attend all sessions of the courts created by this Act. The sheriff shall appoint one deputy for each of the courts. Before assuming his duties, the deputy sheriff shall take the oath of office prescribed by the constitution of this state. The sheriff may require the deputy to furnish bond in an amount, conditioned, and payable as prescribed by law. The deputy shall act in the name of his principal and may perform all official acts that the sheriff may perform. The deputy sheriff shall attend all sessions of the county court at law to which he is appointed and shall perform services in and for the court and for the judge that are usually performed by sheriffs and their deputies in the district and county courts, including the serving of process, subpoenas, warrants, and writs in both civil and criminal cases. The deputy sheriff shall perform the services that the judge assigns to him. The deputy sheriff has the powers, authority, and privileges that the sheriffs and their deputies in this state have. The deputy sheriff shall act for the deputy sheriff of any other county court at law of Bexar County when required to do so by a judge of the courts or by the sheriff. A deputy acting for another is not entitled to receive any additional compensation. The sheriff of Bexar County shall immediately appoint a deputy to fill a vacancy in the office of deputy sheriff for a court created by this Act. The salary of the deputy sheriffs appointed for the courts created by this Act shall be the same as the salaries of the other deputy sheriffs for the county courts at law of Bexar County. The annual salary shall be paid in equal monthly installments out of county funds. Nothing in this section alters the duties and powers of the sheriff of Bexar County, except as specifically stated.

Seal

Sec. 14. The seals of the courts created by this Act are the same as provided by law for county courts, except that the seal of the County Court at Law Number 4 of Bexar County shall contain the words "County Court at Law Number 4 of Bexar County, Texas," and the seal of the County Court at Law Number 6 of Bexar County shall contain the words "County Court at Law Number 6 of Bexar County, Texas."

Initial Appointment of Judges

Sec. 15. The commissioners court shall appoint a person to fill each vacancy existing on creation of the offices of judge. The appointee holds office until the next succeeding general election and until his successor is elected and has qualified.

Redesignation of Courts

Sec. 16. The County Court at Law Number 6 of Bexar County, Texas, shall hereafter be called and known as the "Probate Court No. 1 of Bexar County, Texas" and the County Court at Law Number 4 of Bexar County, Texas, shall hereafter be called and known as the "Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County, Texas."

Probate Jurisdiction

Sec. 17. (a) Probate Court No. 1 of Bexar County and Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County have the general jurisdiction of a probate court within the limits of Bexar County, concurrent with the jurisdiction of the county court in probate matters and proceedings. Each probate court may probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of executors, administrators, and guardians, transact all business relating to deceased persons, hear and determine all matters affecting minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, including the settlement, partition, and distribution of estates of deceased persons, lunacy proceedings, and the apprenticing of minors as provided by law.

(b) All those matters filed with the county clerk, regardless of the court or judge to which the matter or proceeding is addressed, shall be filed by the clerk alternately in Probate Court No. 1 of Bexar County and Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County. Every odd-numbered case shall be filed in Probate Court No. 1 of Bexar County and every even-numbered case shall be filed in Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County. The clerk shall keep separate dockets for each of the courts.

Jurisdiction Relating to Mental Health, Alcoholism, and Narcotic Addiction

Sec. 18. (a) The Probate Court No. 1 of Bexar County and the Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County have general jurisdiction, concurrent with the jurisdiction of the county court, to hear and determine all actions, cases, matters, or proceedings instituted under:

(1) the Texas Mental Health Code (Article 5547-1, et seq., Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes);

(2) Chapter 411, Acts of the 53rd Legislature, Regular Session, 1953 (Article 5561c, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes); and

(3) Chapter 543, Acts of the 61st Legislature, Regular Session, 1969 (Article 5561c-1, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes).

(b) All matters for which the courts have jurisdiction under Subsection (a) of this section filed with the county clerk, regardless of the court or judge to which the matter or proceeding is addressed, shall be filed by the clerk alternately in Probate Court No. 1 of Bexar County and Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County. Every odd-numbered case shall be filed with Probate Court No. 1 of Bexar County and every even-numbered case shall be filed with Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County, but the judges of the statutory probate courts and the county judge may determine another manner for filing cases. The clerk shall keep a separate docket for each court.

Eminent Domain Jurisdiction

Sec. 19. (a) Probate Court No. 1 of Bexar County and Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County have eminent domain jurisdiction.

(b) All actions, cases, matters, or proceedings of eminent domain arising under Title 52, Revised Statutes,¹ or under Chapter 186, General Laws, Acts of the 39th Legislature, Regular Session, 1925 (Article 6674n, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), shall be filed and docketed in Probate Court No. 1 of Bexar County, and Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County.

¹ Article 3264 et seq. (generally repealed; see, now, V.T.C.A. Property Code, § 21.001 et seq.).

County Court Jurisdiction Concurrent

Sec. 20. The county court retains its powers and jurisdiction existing on the effective date of this Act and shall exercise its powers and jurisdiction as a probate court with respect to all probate matters and proceedings other than those transferred to or filed in Probate Court No. 1 of Bexar County or Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County. The county judge is the judge of the County Court of Bexar County and shall exercise all ex officio duties of the county judge of Bexar County, except insofar as those duties are expressly committed by statute to the judge of Probate Court No. 1 of Bexar County or to the judge of Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County.

Probate Court No. 2: General Jurisdiction

Sec. 21. (a) Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County has the same jurisdiction, powers, and duties, and concurrent jurisdiction, powers, and duties in all civil and criminal actions, proceedings, and matters, original and appellate, over which, by the constitution and general laws of this state, the County Courts at Law Numbers 1, 2, and 3 of Bexar County have jurisdiction, and has concurrent jurisdiction with the district courts in which the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $5,000, exclusive of interest. Probate Court No. 2 shall give preference and priority to probate matters and proceedings.

(b) The practice in civil and criminal matters in Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County shall be the same as prescribed by law for county courts. Appeals and writs of error may be taken from judgments and orders of Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County and from judgments and orders of the judge, in civil and criminal cases, and in the same manner as prescribed by law relating to appeals and writs of error from judgments and orders of the county courts in similar cases. Appeals may be taken from interlocutory orders of Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County, appointing a receiver, and from orders overruling a motion to vacate or an order appointing a receiver. The procedure and manner in which appeals from interlocutory orders are taken shall be governed by the laws relating to appeals from similar orders of the district courts.

Practice and Procedure

Sec. 22. The practice and procedure in Probate Courts Nos. 1 and 2 of Bexar County shall be the same as that provided by general law for the county courts. All statutes and rules of court relating to proceedings in the county courts, or to the review of or appeals from county courts, apply to Probate Courts Nos. 1 and 2 of Bexar County.

Power of Courts

Sec. 23. The Probate Courts Nos. 1 and 2 of Bexar County may issue writs of injunction, mandamus, execution, attachment, and all writs and process necessary to the exercise and enforcement of the jurisdiction of the court, and may punish for contempt as provided by general law for county courts.

Terms of Courts

Sec. 24. The Probate Courts Nos. 1 and 2 of Bexar County shall each hold six terms of court each year, beginning on the first Monday in January, March, May, July, September, and November. Each term continues until the business of the court is completed, but a term of court may not continue beyond the date fixed for the beginning of its new term unless an order is entered on the minutes during the term extending the term for a particular cause specified in the order.

Judges

Sec. 25. Each judge serves a four-year term. Each judge shall be elected as provided by the constitution and laws of this state for the election of judges of county probate courts. Each judge must be well informed in the laws of this state and must have been a licensed and practicing member of the bar of this state for at least five years. Each judge shall take the oath of office prescribed by the Constitution of Texas, but no bond shall be required of the judge.

Vacancy

Sec. 26. A vacancy in the office of the judge of Probate Court No. 1 of Bexar County or Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County shall be filled by appointment by the commissioners court. The appointee serves until the next general election and until his successor is elected and has qualified.

Absence of Judge

Sec. 27. In the case of the absence, disqualification, or incapacity of the judge of Probate Court No.

1 of Bexar County or Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County, the county judge or the judge of the other statutory probate court shall sit and act as judge, and may hear and determine, either in his own courtroom or in the courtroom of the court, any pending matter or proceeding, and enter any order in that matter or proceeding that the judge of the court may enter.

Transfer of Cases

Sec. 28. (a) Each of the judges of the statutory probate courts and the judge of the county court may transfer a case for which the statutory probate courts are given jurisdiction by Section 17 or 18 of this Act to the county court or to a statutory probate court.

(b) Each of the judges of the county courts at law of Bexar County and the judge of Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County may transfer civil or criminal actions, matters, or proceedings among their courts.

(c) A case may not be transferred without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred.

(d) The judge transferring the case shall enter an order to that effect on the minutes of his court.

(e) The judge of the court to which a case is transferred has the jurisdiction to hear and determine the case and enter the necessary orders, decrees, and judgments as if the case had been originally filed in his court.

(f) Processes are returnable to and may be filed in the court to which transfer is made and are valid and binding as if originally issued out of the court to which transfer is made.

Fees

Sec. 29. The judges of Probate Courts Nos. 1 and 2 of Bexar County shall collect the same fees established by law relating to county judges as to matters within the jurisdiction of the court. The judges shall pay the fees into the county treasury as collected. The judge is entitled to receive an annual salary in the amount fixed as provided by law for probate judges. The salary shall be paid in 12 equal monthly installments.

County Clerk

Sec. 30. The county clerk serves as the clerk of Probate Courts Nos. 1 and 2 of Bexar County.

Seal

Sec. 31. The seal of each court shall be the same as provided by law for county courts, except that the seal of Probate Court No. 1 of Bexar County shall contain the words "Probate Court No. 1 of Bexar County, Texas," and the seal of Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County shall contain the words "Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County, Texas."

Deputy Clerk

Sec. 32. The county clerk of Bexar County shall appoint a deputy clerk for Probate Court No. 1 of Bexar County and a deputy clerk for Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County. The person appointed to a court must be acceptable to the judge, and the appointment must be confirmed in writing by the judge before the appointment becomes effective. The deputy clerk shall take the oath of office prescribed by the Constitution of Texas. The county clerk may require the deputy clerk to furnish a bond in an amount, conditioned, and payable as prescribed by law. The deputy clerk acts in the name of the county clerk and he may perform all official acts that may be lawfully done and performed by the county clerk. The deputy clerk shall attend all sessions of the court to which he is appointed and shall perform services in and for the court as are usually performed by the county clerk and his deputies in and for the county courts. The deputy clerk shall perform any other services that may be assigned him by the judge. The deputy clerk shall tax, assess, and collect fees and costs in the same manner as provided by law for county courts. Fees and costs collected by the county clerk and his deputies, as well as any and all other sums of money received by them in their official capacities, shall be deposited in the proper fund or paid to the proper person entitled to them in the manner prescribed by law. The deputy clerk serves at the pleasure of the judge of the court. The salary of the deputy clerk shall be fixed by the judge but may not exceed the salary paid to the deputies for the county courts at law of Bexar County. The annual salary shall be paid in equal monthly installments as provided by law for the payment of the salaries of the deputies of the county clerk. Nothing in this section changes the duties and powers of the county clerk except as specifically set out.

Sheriff

Sec. 33. The county sheriff, by and through a deputy, shall attend all sessions of Probate Court No. 1 of Bexar County and Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County. The sheriff shall appoint one deputy for each of the courts. The person appointed to a court must be acceptable to the judge, and the appointment must be approved and confirmed in writing by the judge before it becomes effective. The appointed deputy sheriff shall take the oath of office prescribed by law. The sheriff may require the deputy to furnish a bond in an amount, conditioned, and payable as prescribed by law. The deputy shall perform all official acts that the sheriff may lawfully perform. The deputy sheriff serves at the pleasure of the judge. The deputy shall attend all sessions of the court to which he is appointed and shall perform the services in and for the court, and for the judge, that are usually performed by sheriffs and their deputies in the district and county courts, including the serving of any process, subpoenas, warrants, and writs of any kind, nature, or character, in civil matters and proceedings. The deputy shall perform any other services that may be assigned to him by the judge. The deputy has the same rights, powers, authority, and privileges that the sheriffs and their deputies throughout this state have. The deputy sheriffs of the probate courts and county court may act for each other. The deputies shall act for one another when required to do so by any of the judges or by the sheriff. A deputy acting for another is not entitled to receive any additional compensation. The salary of the deputy sheriff appointed for a court shall be fixed by the judge, but the salary may not exceed the salary paid to the deputy sheriffs for the county courts at law of Bexar County. The annual salary shall be paid in equal monthly installments as provided by law for the payment of the salaries of the deputies of the county sheriff. Nothing in this section changes the duties and powers of the sheriff of Bexar County except as herein specifically provided.

Court Reporter

Sec. 34. The judge of Probate Court No. 1 of Bexar County and the judge of Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County may each appoint an official court reporter. The reporter must be well skilled in his profession. The reporter is a sworn officer of the court and holds his office at the pleasure of the court. The reporter must have the qualifications prescribed by law for that office. The official reporter is entitled to the same amount of compensation paid to official reporters in the district courts of Bexar County. The reporter's salary shall be paid in the same manner that compensation of official reporters of the district courts of Bexar County is paid.

Administrative Assistants

Sec. 35. The judge of Probate Court No. 1 of Bexar County and the judge of Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County may each appoint an administrative assistant and an auditor to aid him in the performance of his duties. The judge of each court sets the salary of the administrative assistant and the salary of the auditor. The appointment of an administrative assistant and auditor and the salary are evidenced by an order entered in the minutes of each court. The appointment and the amount of salary continue in effect from year to year until changed by order of the judge of the court in which the administrative assistant and auditor serve. The salary of each auditor and assistant shall be paid monthly out of the general fund of Bexar County or out of any other fund available for the purpose. [Acts 1983, 68th Leg., p. 1914, ch. 355, §§ 1 to 35, eff. Aug. 29, 1983.]

Sections 37 and 38 of the 1983 Act provide:

"Sec. 37. Judges serving in redesignated courts.

"(a) The judge of the County Court at Law Number 6 of Bexar County is the judge of Probate Court No. 1 of Bexar County. The judge serves until December 31, 1986, and until his successor is elected and has qualified.

"(b) The judge of the County Court at Law Number 4 of Bexar County is the judge of Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County. The judge serves until December 31, 1986, and until his successor is elected and has qualified.

"Sec. 38. Transfer of pending cases

"(a) Any other matters pending in County Court at Law Number 6 of Bexar County shall be transferred to County Courts at Law Numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6. The primary objective in transferring these matters shall be equalization of the case loads.

"(b) All matters pending in County Court at Law Number 4 of Bexar County on the first day of the initial term of Probate Court No. 2 that are in the jurisdiction of the Probate Court No. 2 of Bexar County shall be transferred to that court.

"(c) All processes, writs, bonds, recognizances, or other obligations issued or made in a case transferred under this section shall be returned to and filed in the court to which the transfer is made. Bonds executed and recognizances entered into in those cases bind the parties for their appearance or to fulfill the obligations of the bonds or recognizances and are valid as if issued out of the court to which the case is transferred."

Art. 1970-301g. County Court of Bexar County for Criminal Cases

Sec. 1. There is hereby created a court to be held in Bexar County, Texas to be called the "County Court of Bexar County for Criminal Cases."

Sec. 2. The County Court of Bexar County for Criminal Cases shall have exclusive jurisdiction of all criminal matters and causes, original and appellate, over which, by the General Laws of the State of Texas, the County Court of said county would have jurisdiction, and the same are hereby transferred to the County Court of Bexar County for Criminal Cases; and all criminal writs and processes heretofore issued by or out of said County Court, be, and the same are hereby made returnable to the County Court of Bexar County for Criminal Cases.

Sec. 3. The jurisdiction hereby transferred to the County Court of Bexar County for Criminal Cases shall include all criminal cases and matters, the forfeiture of bonds in criminal cases, all proceedings in relation thereto; but the County Court of Bexar County shall retain, as heretofore, the jurisdiction of all cases of eminent domain; the general jurisdiction of a probate court; it shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of administrators, executors and guardians; transact all business pertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, including the settlement, partition and distribution of estates of deceased persons, and to apprentice minors, as provided by law. The county judge of Bexar county shall be the judge of the County Court of Bexar County, and all ex-officio duties of the county judge shall be exercised by the said judge of the County Court of Bexar County, except in so far as the same shall, by this Act and by Act of the Thirty-second Legislature, General Laws pages 15-17, House Bill No. 111, Chapter 10, be committed to the judge of the County Court of Bexar County for Civil Cases. The county judge of Bexar County shall retain authority to determine all matters relating to or arising out of or connected with the granting or revoking of liquor licenses, and all matters appertaining thereto, try all applications for liquor licenses and shall approve all liquor bonds as may be provided by law. He shall also retain jurisdiction of the Juvenile Court.

Sec. 4. The said County Court of Bexar County for Criminal Cases, and the judge thereof shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, certiorari, supersedeas mandamus, and all other writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of said court; and also power to punish for contempt under such provisions as are or may be provided by the General Laws governing County Courts throughout the State; and to issue writs of habeas corpus in cases within the jurisdiction of said court.

Sec. 5. The County Court of Bexar County for Criminal Cases shall hold at least four terms for criminal business annually as may be provided by the Commissioners Court of Bexar County under authority of law, and such other terms each year as may be fixed by the Commissioners Court of Bexar County; provided the Commissioners Court having fixed the terms of said court, shall not change the same until the expiration of one year.

Sec. 6. There shall be elected in said county by the qualified voters thereof, at each general election, a judge of the County Court of Bexar County for Criminal Cases, who shall be learned in the laws of the State, who shall hold his office for two years, and until his successor shall have been duly qualified.

Sec. 7. The judge of the County Court of Bexar County for Criminal Cases shall execute a bond in the sum of five thousand ($5,000.00) dollars and take the oath of office as required by the law relating to county judges.

Sec. 8. Special judge of the County Court of Bexar County for Criminal Cases may be appointed or elected as provided by laws relating to County Courts, and to the judges thereof, and shall receive salary and compensations similar to the judge of the court hereby created, but which shall be prorated and paid to him only for the actual number of dates he actually serves.

Sec. 9. The county clerk of Bexar County shall be the clerk of the County Court of Bexar County for Criminal Cases. The seal of said court shall be the same as that provided for County Courts, except that the seal shall contain the words "County Court of Bexar County for Criminal Cases." The sheriff of Bexar County shall in person or by deputy attend the court when required by the judge thereof.

Sec. 10. The jurisdiction and authority now vested by law in the County Court of Bexar County, and the County Court of Bexar County for Civil Cases, for the selection and service of jurors shall be exercised by each of the three courts within their jurisdiction.

Sec. 11. Any vacancy in the office of the judge of the court created by this Act may be filled by the Commissioners Court of Bexar County until the next general election. The Commissioners Court of the county shall, as soon as may be, after this Act shall take effect, appoint a judge of the County Court of Bexar County for Criminal Cases, who shall serve until the next general election, and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 12. [Not included.]

Sec. 13. The judge of the County Court of Bexar County for Criminal Cases may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as any other county judge may be removed under the laws of this State.

Sec. 14. The provisions of this law are not intended to in any manner affect the jurisdiction of the County Court of Bexar County for Civil Cases, and this law is intended to create another court somewhat similar to said County Court of Bexar County for Civil Cases, but the court hereby created to have jurisdiction of criminal matters only.

MENARD COUNTY

Art. 1970-302. Jurisdiction and Time for Holding Menard County Court

Sec. 1. Hereafter the County Court of Menard County, Texas, in addition to its present jurisdiction, shall have civil and criminal jurisdiction as provided by the General Laws for county courts.

Sec. 2. This Act shall not be construed to in anywise, or in any manner affect judgments heretofore rendered by the District Court pertaining to matters and causes which, by this Act are made returnable to the County Court, and the Clerk of the District Court of said county shall issue all executions and orders of sale and proceedings thereunder, which shall be as valid and binding to all intents and purposes as though the change had not been made as directed in this Act.

Sec. 3. The jurisdiction of the District Court of Menard County shall be such as provided by the Constitution and General Laws of this State, consistent with the change in jurisdiction of the County Court herein made.

Sec. 4. The County Court of Menard County shall, in addition to the civil and criminal jurisdiction conferred upon County Courts by the Constitution and General Laws of this State, have and exercise concurrent jurisdiction with the Justices Courts in all criminal and civil matters which, by the General Laws of this State, is conferred upon Justice Courts.

Sec. 5. No appeal or writ of error shall be taken to the Court of Civil Appeals from a final judgment of said Court in civil cases, of which Court has appellate, original or concurrent jurisdiction with the Justices Courts, where the amount in controversy does not exceed one hundred dollars, exclusive of interest and costs.

Sec. 6. This Act shall not be construed to deprive the Justices Courts of jurisdiction now conferred upon them by law, but is only to give concurrent and original jurisdiction to said county court over such matters as are specified in this Act, nor shall this Act be construed to deny the right of appeal from the Justice Court to said County Court in any case originally brought in the Justice Court, where the right of appeal exists under the Constitution and General Laws of the State.

Sec. 7. It shall be the duty of the District Clerk of Menard County, Texas, within thirty days after this Act shall take effect, to make full and complete transcripts of orders on the criminal and civil dockets then pending before the District Court of said County of which cases, by the provisions of this Act, original and appellate jurisdiction is given to said County Court and to file said transcript, together with the original papers in each case in the County Court of said County and the County Clerk shall enter said cases on the respective dockets of said County Court as appearance cases for trial by said Court.

Sec. 8. The terms of said Courts shall commence on the first Monday in January, and on the first Monday in May and on the first Monday in August and the first Monday in November of each year and each of said terms shall continue in session for six weeks, or until the business may be disposed of; provided, that the County Commissioners' Court of said County may hereafter change the terms of said Court whenever it may be deemed necessary by said Commissioners' Court.

STERLING COUNTY

Art. 1970-303. Jurisdiction and Time for Holding Sterling County Court

Sec. 1. Hereafter the County Court of Sterling County, Texas, in addition to its present jurisdiction, shall have civil and criminal jurisdiction as provided by the General Laws for county courts.

Sec. 2. This Act shall not be construed to in anywise, or in any manner affect judgments heretofore rendered by the District Court pertaining to matters and causes which, by this Act are made returnable to the County Court, and the Clerk of the District Court of said county shall issue all executions and orders of sale and proceedings thereunder, which shall be as valid and binding to all intents and purposes as though the change had not been made as directed in this Act.

Sec. 3. The jurisdiction of the District Court of Sterling County shall be such as provided by the Constitution and General Laws of this State, consistent with the change in jurisdiction of the County Court herein made.

Sec. 4. The County Court of Sterling County shall, in addition to the civil and criminal jurisdiction conferred upon County Courts by the Constitution and General Laws of this State, have and exercise concurrent jurisdiction with the Justices Courts in all criminal and civil matters which, by the General Laws of this State, is conferred upon Justice Courts.

Sec. 5. No appeal or writ of error shall be taken to the Court of Civil Appeals from a final judgment of said Court in civil cases, of which Court has appellate, original or concurrent jurisdiction with the Justices Courts, where the amount in controversy does not exceed one hundred dollars, exclusive of interest and costs.

Sec. 6. This Act shall not be construed to deprive the Justices Courts of jurisdiction now conferred upon them by law, but is only to give concurrent and original jurisdiction to said County Court over such matters as are specified in this Act, nor shall this Act be construed to deny the right of appeal from the Justice Court to said County Court in any case originally brought in the Justice Court, where the right of appeal, exists under the Constitution and General Laws of the State.

Sec. 7. It shall be the duty of the District Clerk of Sterling County, Texas, within thirty days after this Act shall take effect, to make full and complete transcripts of orders on the criminal and civil dockets then pending before the District Court of said County of which cases, by the provisions of this Act, original and appellate jurisdiction is given to said County Court and to file said transcript, together with the original papers in each case in the County Court of said County and the County Clerk shall enter said cases on the respective dockets of said County Court as appearance cases for trial by said Court.

Sec. 8. The terms of said Courts shall commence on the first Monday in January, and on the first Monday in May and on the first Monday in August and the first Monday in November of each year and each of said terms shall continue in session for six weeks, or until the business may be disposed of; provided, that the County Commissioners' Court of said County may hereafter change the terms of said Court whenever it may be deemed necessary by said Commissioners' Court.

Art. 1970-303a. Jurisdiction of Sterling County Court Diminished; Civil and Criminal Causes Transferred to District Court

Sec. 1. The county court of Sterling County shall have and exercise the general jurisdiction of a probate court, shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle the accounts of executors, administrators, and guardians, transact all business pertaining to the estates of deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis and common drunkards, including the partition, settlement and distribution of estates of deceased persons, and to apprentice minors as provided by law, and to issue all writs necessary for the enforcement of its own jurisdiction; to punish contempt under such provisions as are now or may be provided by general law governing county courts throughout the State, but the said county court of Sterling county shall have no other jurisdiction, civil or criminal, whatsoever.

Sec. 2. That the District Court of Sterling county shall have and exercise jurisdiction in all civil and criminal matters and causes over which, by the laws of this State, the county court of said Sterling County would have jurisdiction, except as provided in Section 1 of this Act; all causes, other than probate matters and such as are provided by Section 1 of this Act, be and the same are hereby transferred to the District Court of Sterling County, and all writs and process relating to any civil and criminal matters included in the subject matter of jurisdiction prescribed in Section 1 of this Act, issued by or out of said County Court of Sterling County, be and the same are hereby made returnable to the next term of the District Court of said county after this Act takes effect.

Sec. 3. That the county clerk of Sterling County be and he is hereby required, within thirty days after this Act takes effect, to make a full and complete transcript of all entries upon his civil and criminal docket heretofore made in cases which by Section 2 of this Act, are required to be transferred to the District Court of said County, together with all the papers pertaining to such case, a certified bill of costs in each case and all such cases shall be immediately docketed by the District Court as appearance cases for the next succeeding term, and all criminal cases shall be docketed and disposed of in the same manner as if the same had been originally filed in and triable in said District Court, and all process now issued and returnable to said County Court shall be returnable to said District Court.

Sec. 4. That this Act shall not be construed to in anywise or manner affect judgments heretofore rendered by said County Court of Sterling County pertaining to matters and causes which by Section 2 of this Act are transferred to the District Court of said county, but the County Clerk of said county shall issue all executions, and orders of sale, and proceedings thereunder, and this Act in so doing shall be valid and binding to all intents and purposes, the same as if no change had been made as by Section 2 therein contemplated.

[Acts 1933, 43rd Leg., Spec.Laws, p. 63, ch. 52.]

IRION COUNTY

Art. 1970-304. Jurisdiction and Time for Holding Irion County Court

Sec. 1. Hereafter the County Court of Irion County, Texas, in addition to its present jurisdiction, shall have civil and criminal jurisdiction as provided by the General Laws for County Courts.

Sec. 2. This Act shall not be construed to in anywise, or in any manner affect judgments heretofore rendered by the District Court pertaining to matters and causes which by this Act are made returnable to the County Court, and the Clerk of the District Court of said county shall issue all executions and orders of sale and proceedings thereunder, which shall be as valid and binding to all intents and purposes as though the change had not been made as directed in this Act.

Sec. 3. The jurisdiction of the District Court of Irion County shall be such as provided by the Constitution and General Laws of this State, consistent with the change in jurisdiction of the County Court herein made.

Sec. 4. The County Court of Irion County shall, in addition to the civil and criminal jurisdiction conferred upon County Courts by the Constitution and General Laws of this State, have and exercise concurrent jurisdiction with the Justices Courts in all criminal and civil matters which, by the General Laws of this State, is conferred upon Justice Courts.

Sec. 5. No appeal or writ of error shall be taken to the Court of Civil Appeals from a final judgment of said Court in Civil cases, of which Court has appellate, original or concurrent jurisdiction with the Justices Courts, where the amount in controversy does not exceed one hundred dollars, exclusive of interest and costs.

Sec. 8. The terms of said Courts shall commence on the first Monday in January, and on the first Monday in May, and on the first Monday in August and the first Monday in November of each year, and each of said terms shall continue in session for six weeks, or until the business may be disposed of; provided, that the County Commissioners' Court of said County may hereafter change the terms of said Court whenever it may be deemed necessary by said Commissioners' Court.

CAMERON COUNTY

Art. 1970-305. County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County

Sec. 1. There is hereby created a court to be held in Brownsville, Cameron County, Texas, which shall be known as the County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County.

Sec. 2. (a) The County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County shall have and exercise the jurisdiction in all matters and cases, civil and criminal, original and appellate, over which by the general laws of the State, the County Court of said County would have jurisdiction.

(b) The County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County has jurisdiction concurrent with the district court in eminent domain cases and in civil cases in which the matter in controversy exceeds Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) and does not exceed Twenty Thousand Dollars ($20,000.00), exclusive of interest, as provided by general law.

Sec. 3. The County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County shall have and exercise original concurrent jurisdiction with the Justice Courts in all civil and criminal matters which by the general laws of this State is conferred upon Justice Courts.

Sec. 4. No appeal or writ of error shall be taken to the Court of Civil Appeals from any final judgment of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County in Civil cases of which said court has appellate or original concurrent jurisdiction with the Justice Court, where the judgment or amount in controversy does not exceed One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) exclusive of interest and costs.

Sec. 5. (a) This Act shall not be construed to deprive the Justice Courts of the jurisdiction conferred upon them by law, but only to give concurrent original jurisdiction to the County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County over such matters as are specified in this Act, nor shall this Act be construed to deny the right of appeal to the County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County from the Justice Court where the right of appeal to the County Court exists by law.

(b) This Act does not diminish the jurisdiction of the District Courts but only gives concurrent jurisdiction to the County Courts at Law over the matters specified in Section 2(b) of this Act. The District Courts retain and shall continue to exercise the jurisdiction conferred by law on District Courts.

(c) This Act does not affect the jurisdiction of the Commissioners' Court nor of the County Judge of Cameron County as the presiding officer of the Commissioners' Court as to roads, bridges, and public highways, and the general administration of county business that is within the jurisdiction of the Commissioners' Court or the Judge of the County Court of Cameron County.

(d) The County Court of Cameron County shall have and retain concurrently with the County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County and the County Court at Law No. 2 of Cameron County the general jurisdiction of a probate court but shall have no other jurisdiction, civil or criminal. The County Judge of Cameron County shall be the Judge of the County Court of Cameron County, and all ex officio duties of the County Judge shall continue to be exercised by the Judge of the County Court of Cameron County.

Sec. 6. (a) The Judge of the County Court of Cameron County and the Judges of the County Courts at Law in Cameron County may transfer cases to and from the dockets of their respective Courts, except that a case may not be transferred from one Court to another without the consent of the Judge of the Court to which it is transferred and may not be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the Court to which it is transferred. The County Judge and the Judges of the County Courts at Law may exchange benches and court-rooms with each other so that if one is absent, disabled, or disqualified, another Judge may hold court for him without the necessity of transferring the case. A Judge may hear all or any part of a case pending in the County Court or a County Court at Law and may rule and enter orders on and continue, determine, or render judgment on all or any part of the case without the necessity of transferring it to his own docket. A Judge may not sit or act in a case unless it is within the jurisdiction of his Court. Each judgment and order shall be entered in the minutes of the Court in which the case is pending.

(b) When a case is transferred from one Court to another as provided by this section, all processes, writs, bonds, recognizances, or other obligations issued from the transferring Court are returnable to the Court to which the case is transferred as if originally issued by that Court. The obligees in all bonds and recognizances taken in and for a Court from which a case is transferred, and all witnesses summoned to appear in a Court from which a case is transferred, are required to appear before the Court to which the case is transferred as if originally issued out of the Court to which the transfer is made.

Sec. 7. The County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County shall hold six (6) terms of Court each year, commencing on the first Monday in January, March, May, July, September, and November of each year and each term shall continue until the business of said Court shall have been disposed of; provided, however, that no term of said Court shall continue beyond the date fixed for the commencement of its new term, except upon an order entered on its minutes during the term extending the term for any particular causes therein specified.

Sec. 8. There shall be elected in Cameron County by the qualified voters of the county a Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County who must be a citizen of the United States, must have resided in Cameron County for at least two years prior to the Judge's election or appointment, and must be a licensed attorney in this State who has been actively engaged in the practice of law or has been a Judge of a Court in this State, or both combined, for at least four years prior to the Judge's election or appointment. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 is elected for a term of four years as provided by Article V, Section 30, and Article XVI, Section 65, of the Texas Constitution. The Judge shall continue to perform the duties of the office until his successor is elected and qualified.

Sec. 9. The County Attorney of Cameron County shall represent the State in all prosecutions pending in the County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County, and shall be entitled to the same fee as now prescribed by law for such prosecutions in the County Courts.

Sec. 10. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 may not engage in the private practice of law during his term of office.

Sec. 11. A Special Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County may be appointed or elected as provided by the law relating to County Courts and to the Judges thereof. A Special Judge shall be compensated in the same manner as provided for Special Judges of the County Courts.

Sec. 12. The County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County, or the Judge thereof, shall have power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas and all writs necessary to the enforcement of jurisdiction of the court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the court, or of any other court of the county of inferior jurisdiction to the County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County.

Sec. 13. The County Clerk of Cameron County shall be the clerk of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County. The seal of the court shall be the same as that provided by law for County Courts, except the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County," and the Sheriff of Cameron County shall in person or by deputy attend the court when required by the judge thereof, and the County Clerk of Cameron County is authorized, if it becomes necessary, in his judgment, to appoint a deputy to specially attend to the matters pertaining to the County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County.

Sec. 14.(a) The laws that govern the drawing, selection, and service of jurors for County Courts apply to the County Courts at Law. Jurors summoned for a County Court at Law or the County Court may, by order of the Judge of the Court in which they are summoned, be transferred to any of the other Courts for service and may be used as if summoned for the Court to which they may be transferred. On concurrence of the Judges of the County Courts at Law and the County Judge, jurors may be summoned for service in all of those Courts and shall be used interchangeably in all of those Courts. Jurors regularly impaneled for the week by the District Court may, at the request of either the Judge of the County Court or the Judge of a County Court at Law, be made available by the District Judge in the numbers requested and shall serve for the week in the County Court or the County Court at Law.

(b) Practice in the County Court at Law No. 1 shall conform to that prescribed by law for the County Court, except that the practice and procedure, rules of evidence, issuance of process, and all other matters pertaining to the conduct of trials and hearings in the County Court at Law No. 1 involving matters of concurrent jurisdiction with the District Courts shall be governed by the laws and rules pertaining to District Courts. A jury is composed of 12 members, except that a jury is composed of six members in a misdemeanor criminal case or any other case where the Court has concurrent jurisdiction with the County Court.

Sec. 15. Any vacancy in the office of the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County may be filled by the Commissioners' Court, and when so filled the Judge shall hold office until the next general election and until his successor is elected and qualified.

Sec. 16. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County may receive an annual salary, the amount of which shall be fixed by the Commissioners' Court of Cameron County. The salary shall be paid out of the County Treasury of Cameron County on the order of the Commissioners' Court and shall be paid monthly in equal installments. The amount may not exceed the sum that is equal to 90 percent of the total annual salary paid a District Court Judge having jurisdiction in Cameron County. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County shall assess the same fees as are prescribed by law relating to the County Judge's fees, all of which shall be collected by the clerk of the court and shall be paid into the county treasury on collection, no part of which shall be paid to the Judge, but he shall draw the salary as specified in this section.

Sec. 17. All cases appealed from the Justice Court and other inferior courts in Cameron County, Texas, shall be made direct to the County Courts at Law of Cameron County, under the provisions heretofore governing such appeals.

Sec. 18. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as any County Judge may be removed under the laws of this State.

Section 2 of the 1971 amendatory act provided:

"In any matter or proceeding within the jurisdiction of both the County Court at Law of Cameron County and the County Court of Cameron County, any transfer from the docket of one court to the docket of the other, exchange of benches by the judges of the two courts or any other similar action authorized by this Act prior to the effective date of this Act is hereby validated."

Section 7 of the 1983 amendatory act provided:

"If the 68th Legislature, Regular Session, enacts a uniform statutory court act renaming the county courts at law as circuit courts and repealing the law governing the county courts at law in Cameron County (compiled as Articles 1970-305, 1970-305a, 1970-305b, and 1970-305c, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), this Act has no effect, and the uniform act governs those courts."

The 68th Legislature did not enact a uniform statutory court act.

Art. 1970-305a. Name Changed to County Court at Law of Cameron County

Sec. 1. The name of the "County Court of Cameron County at Law," created by House Bill No. 91, Chapter 59, Acts of the Fortieth Legislature, First Called Session, 1927, codified as Article 1970-305 of Vernon's Civil Statutes of the State of Texas, is hereby changed to County Court at Law of Cameron County.

Sec. 2. All laws heretofore or hereafter enacted by the Legislature, applicable or relating to the "County Court of Cameron County at Law" shall hereafter be applicable and relate to the County Court at Law of Cameron County.

[Acts 1951, 52nd Leg., p. 115, ch. 70.]

Art. 1970-305b. Repealed by Acts 1983, 68th Leg., p. 5497, ch. 1034, § 6, eff. June 19, 1983

See, now, art. 1970-305, § 16.

Art. 1970-305c. County Court at Law No. 2 of Cameron County

Creation

Sec. 1. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Cameron County is created. It shall sit in Brownsville, Texas.

Jurisdiction

Sec. 2. (a) The County Court at Law No. 2 of Cameron County shall have and exercise jurisdiction in all matters and causes, civil and criminal, original and appellate, over which by the general laws of the state, the county courts have jurisdiction, and shall have jurisdiction concurrent with the County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County in matters and causes, civil and criminal, original and appellate.

(b) The County Court at Law No. 2 of Cameron County shall have and exercise original concurrent jurisdiction with the justice courts and with the County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County in all civil and criminal matters which by the general laws of this state is conferred on justice courts. No appeal or writ of error shall be taken to the court of civil appeals from any final judgment of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Cameron County in civil cases of which the court has appellate or original concurrent jurisdiction with the justice court, where the judgment or amount in controversy does not exceed $100, exclusive of interest and costs. This Act does not deprive the justice courts of the jurisdiction conferred on them by law, but gives concurrent original jurisdiction to the county courts at law of Cameron County over the matters specified in this subsection. This Act does not deny the right of appeal to the county courts at law of Cameron County from the justice court where the right of appeal to the county court exists by law. All cases appealed from the justice court and other inferior courts in Cameron County shall be made direct to the county courts at law under the provisions governing such appeals.

(c) The County Court at Law No. 2 of Cameron County shall also have the general jurisdiction of a probate court within the limits of Cameron County, concurrent with jurisdiction of the County Court of Cameron County and the County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County in such matters and proceedings.

(d) The County Court at Law No. 2 of Cameron County has jurisdiction concurrent with the district court in eminent domain cases and in civil cases when the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $20,000, exclusive of interest, as provided by general law.

(e) The County Court of Cameron County shall have and retain concurrently with the County Court at Law No. 1 of Cameron County and the County Court at Law No. 2 of Cameron County the general jurisdiction of a probate court but shall have no other jurisdiction, civil or criminal. The county judge of Cameron County shall be the judge of the County Court of Cameron County, and all ex officio duties of the county judge shall continue to be exercised by the judge of the County Court of Cameron County unless by this Act committed to the judges of the county courts at law. The county courts at law do not have jurisdiction over causes and proceedings concerning roads, bridges, and public highways or the general administration of county business which is within the jurisdiction of the commissioners court or the presiding judge of the commissioners court.

(f) This Act does not diminish the jurisdiction of the district courts but only gives concurrent jurisdiction to the county courts at law over the matters specified in Subsection (d) of this section. The district courts retain and shall continue to exercise the jurisdiction conferred by law on district courts.

Writ Power

Sec. 3. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Cameron County, or the judge thereof, shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of jurisdiction of the court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in such cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the court or of any other court in the county of inferior jurisdiction to the County Court at Law No. 2.

Terms

Sec. 4. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Cameron County shall hold six terms of court each year, commencing on the first Monday in January, March, May, July, September, and November of each year, and each term shall continue until the next succeeding term begins.

Judge

Sec. 5. (a) There shall be elected in Cameron County, by the qualified voters of the county, a judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 who must be a citizen of the United States, must have resided in Cameron County for at least two years prior to the judge's election or appointment, and must be a licensed attorney in this state who has been actively engaged in the practice of law or has been a judge of a court in this state, or both combined, for at least four years prior to the judge's election or appointment. Beginning at the general election in 1982 and every fourth year thereafter, there shall be elected a judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 for a regular term of four years as provided in Article V, Section 30, and Article XVI, Section 65, of the Texas Constitution. A vacancy in the office of the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Cameron County shall be filled by appointment of the Commissioners Court of Cameron County, and when so filled, the judge shall hold the office until the next general election and until his or her successor is elected and has qualified.

(b) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to county judges.

(c) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as provided by law for county judges.

(d) A special judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 may be appointed or elected as provided by law relating to county courts and to the judges thereof, who shall be compensated in the same manner as provided for special judges of the county courts.

(e) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 may not engage in the private practice of law during his term of office.

Compensation

Sec. 6. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Cameron County may receive an annual salary, the amount of which shall be fixed by the Commissioners Court of Cameron County. The salary shall be paid out of the county treasury of Cameron County on the order of the commissioners court and shall be paid monthly in equal installments. The amount shall not exceed 90 percent of the amount paid a district court judge having jurisdiction in Cameron County.

Personnel

Sec. 7. (a) The county clerk, county attorney, and sheriff of Cameron County shall serve as clerk, county attorney, and sheriff, respectively, for the County Court at Law No. 2. These officials, either personally or by the appointment of a deputy or assistant, shall perform the duties and responsibilities of their offices and are entitled to the compensation, fees, and allowances prescribed by law for their respective offices.

(b) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 shall appoint an official shorthand reporter for the court who shall have the qualifications provided by law for official court reporters, shall be a sworn officer of the court, and shall hold office at the pleasure of the judge. The duties of the reporter shall be the same as provided by general law for official court reporters, and the salary of the reporter shall be set by the commissioners court and paid monthly by the commissioners court out of any funds available for the purpose. All other provisions of the law relating to official court reporters shall apply insofar as they are applicable to the court reporter authorized by this Act and insofar as they are not inconsistent with this Act.

Jurors

Sec. 8. (a) The jurisdiction and authority vested by law in the county court and the judge thereof for the drawing, selection, and service of jurors shall also be exercised by the county courts at law and the judges thereof. Jurors summoned for a county court at law or the county court may, by order of the judge of the court in which they are summoned, be transferred to any of the other courts for service and may be used as if summoned for the court to which they may be transferred. On concurrence of the judges of the county courts at law and the county judge, jurors may be summoned for service in all of those courts and shall be used interchangeably in all of those courts.

(b) Jurors regularly impaneled for the week by the district court or courts may, on request of either the county judge or the judge of a county court at law, be made available by the district judge or judges in such numbers as may be requested for service for the week in either or both of the county courts at law or the county court, and such jurors shall serve in the county court and county court at law the same as if they had been drawn and selected as is otherwise provided by law.

Transfer of Cases; Exchange of Benches

Sec. 9. (a) The judges of the county court and the county courts at law may transfer cases to and from the dockets of their respective courts. However, no case may be transferred from one court to another court without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred, and no case may be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred. In cases transferred to any of the courts by order of the judge of one of the other courts, all processes, writs, bonds, recognizances, or other obligations issued or made in the cases shall be returned to and filed in the court to which transfer is made. All bonds executed and recognizances entered into in those cases shall bind the parties for their appearance or to fulfill the obligations of such bonds or recognizances at the terms of the court to which the cases are transferred as fixed by law. All processes issued or returned before transfer of the cases, as well as all bonds and recognizances taken before the transfer, shall be valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

(b) The county judge and the judges of the county courts at law may freely exchange benches and courtrooms with each other in matters within their jurisdiction so that if one is ill, disqualified, or otherwise absent, the other may hold court for him or her without the necessity of transferring the case involved. Any judge may hear all or any part of a case pending in the county court or a county court at law, but only in matters within his or her jurisdiction, and may rule and enter orders on and continue, determine, or render judgment on all or any part of the case without the necessity of transferring it to his or her own docket. However, the judge of any court may not sit or act in a case unless it is within the jurisdiction of his or her court. Each judgment and order shall be entered in the minutes of the court in which the case is pending. This provision providing for the exchange of benches by and between the judge of the county court and the judges of the county courts at law is cumulative of and in addition to the provisions in this Act for the selection and appointment of a special judge of the county court at law.

Seal

Sec. 10. The seal of the court shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts, except the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law No. 2 of Cameron County, Texas."

Practice and Procedure

Sec. 11. Practice in the county courts at law shall conform to that prescribed by law for the county court, except that the practice and procedure, rules of evidence, issuance of process, and all other matters pertaining to the conduct of trials and hearings in the county courts at law involving matters of concurrent jurisdiction with the district courts shall be governed by the laws and rules pertaining to district courts. A jury is composed of 12 members, except that a jury is composed of six members in a misdemeanor criminal case or any other case in which the court has concurrent jurisdiction with the county court.

Section 7 of the 1983 amendatory act provided:

"If the 68th Legislature, Regular Session, enacts a uniform statutory court act renaming the county courts at law as circuit courts and repealing the law governing the county courts at law in Cameron County (compiled as Articles 1970-305, 1970-305a, 1970-305b, and 1970-305c, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), this Act has no effect, and the uniform act governs those courts."

The 68th Legislature did not enact a uniform statutory court act.

BOWIE COUNTY

Art. 1970-306. Jurisdiction of Bowie County Court Diminished

Sec. 1. That the County Court of Bowie County shall have and exercise the general jurisdiction of probate courts, shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons¹ non compos mentis and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of executors, administrators and guardians, transact all business appertaining to the estates of deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis and common drunkards, including the partition, settlement and distribution of estates of deceased persons, and to apprentice minors as prescribed by law, and to issue all writs necessary to the enforcement of its jurisdiction, and to punish contempts under such provisions as are or may be provided by general law governing County Courts throughout the State; but said County Court shall have no other jurisdiction, civil or criminal.

Sec. 2. That the District Courts of said County shall have and exercise jurisdiction in all matters and causes, civil and criminal, over which, by General Laws of the State of Texas, the County Court of said County would have jurisdiction, except as provided in Section 1 of this Act, and that all cases other than probate matters and such as are provided in Section 1 of this Act be and the same are hereby transferred to the District Courts of said County, and all writs and process, civil and criminal, heretofore issued by or out of said County Court, other than those appertaining to matters over which by Section 1 of this Act jurisdiction is given to the County Court of said County, be and the same are hereby made returnable to the next term of the District Courts in and for said County.

Sec. 3. That the Clerk of the County Court of said Bowie County be and he is hereby required, within twenty days after this Act takes effect, to file with the Clerk of the District Court of said County all original papers in all of said causes, both civil and criminal, and all dockets and orders and proceedings had in all such causes, and said District Clerk shall immediately docket all of such causes on the docket or dockets of the District Courts of said County, and all of such causes, both civil and criminal shall stand on the dockets of said District Courts in the same manner and place as each individual case stood on the docket of the County Court of said County.

KERR COUNTY

Art. 1970-307. Jurisdiction and Time for Holding County Court of Kerr County

Sec. 1. That the County Court of Kerr County shall hereafter have exclusive original jurisdiction in civil cases where the matter in controversy shall exceed in value two hundred dollars, and shall not exceed five hundred dollars exclusive of interest, and that it shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the District Court of said County when the matter in controversy shall exceed five hundred dollars and not exceed one thousand dollars.

Sec. 2. Said County Court shall have appellate jurisdiction in civil cases over which Justice's Courts of said County have original jurisdiction when the judgment of the Court appealed from or the amount in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, exclusive of interest, and said County Court shall have the power to hear and determine cases brought up from the Justice's Courts by certiorari under the provisions of law relating thereto.

Sec. 3. The County Judge of said County shall have authority either in term time or in vacation, to grant writs of mandamus, injunction, sequestration, garnishment, attachment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all other writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of said Court, and shall also have power to issue writs of habeas corpus in all cases in which the Constitution and laws have not exclusively conferred the power on the District Judge or District Court thereof.

Sec. 4. Said Court shall have, as now, the general jurisdiction of a probate court; shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration; settle accounts of executors, administrators, and guardians; transact all business pertaining to the estates of deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, including the partition, settlement, and distribution of estates of deceased persons; apprentice minors as provided by law; and to issue all writs necessary to the enforcement of its jurisdiction, orders, and decrees; and generally to exercise all the powers in probate matters conferred upon such courts by the Constitution and laws of the State.

Sec. 5. Such Court shall have jurisdiction in the forfeiture of all bonds and recognizances taken in criminal cases of which said Court has original or appellate jurisdiction.

Sec. 6. Said Court shall have and exercise exclusive jurisdiction of all misdemeanors, except misdemeanors involving official misconduct, and except misdemeanors in which the highest penalty that may be imposed by law is a fine, without imprisonment, that does not exceed two hundred dollars; and said Court shall have appellate jurisdiction of criminal cases in which Justice Courts and other inferior tribunals of said County have original jurisdiction.

Sec. 7. The District Court of said County shall no longer have jurisdiction of misdemeanors, except misdemeanors involving official misconduct, and shall no longer have jurisdiction of civil cases of which the County Court of said County, by the provisions of this Act, has original or appellate jurisdiction.

Sec. 8. It shall be the duty of the District Clerk of said County, within thirty days after this Act shall take effect, to make full and complete transcript of orders on the criminal and civil dockets then pending before the District Court of said County, of which cases, by the provisions of this Act, original and appellate jurisdiction is given to said County Court, and to file said transcript together with the original papers in each case, in the County Court of said County, and the County Clerk shall enter said cases on the respective dockets of said County Court as appearance cases for trial by said Court.

Sec. 9. The said Court shall also have the power to hear and determine all motions against sheriffs and other officers of the Court for failure to pay over moneys collected under the process of said Court, or other defalcations of official duty in connection with said process, and shall have power to punish by fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, and by imprisonment in the County jail not exceeding three days, any person guilty of contempt of said Court, and all other powers, and jurisdictions conferred on County Courts by the Constitution and General Laws of the State of Texas.

Sec. 10. The terms of said Court shall commence on the first Monday in February, and on the first Monday in May, and on the first Monday in August, and on the first Monday in November, in each year, and shall continue in session for three weeks at each term, or until the business may be disposed of; provided, that the County Commissioners' Court of said County may hereafter change the terms of said Court whenever it may be deemed necessary.

WASHINGTON COUNTY

Art. 1970-308. Jurisdiction of Washington County Court

Sec. 1. The county court of Washington County shall have and exercise original concurrent jurisdiction with the justices' courts in all civil matters which by the general laws of this State is conferred upon said justice of the peace courts.

Sec. 2. Said county court shall also have and exercise such jurisdiction over and pertaining to all matters, things and proceedings as is by the General Laws of this State conferred upon county courts.

Sec. 3. No appeal or writ of error shall be taken to the Court of Civil Appeals from any final judgment of said county court in civil cases of which said court has appellate jurisdiction or original concurrent jurisdiction with the justices' court where the judgment or amount in controversy does not exceed one hundred dollars exclusive of interest and costs.

Sec. 4. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to deprive the justices' courts of the jurisdiction now conferred upon them by law or in any manner to impair or alter their jurisdiction, but only to give original concurrent jurisdiction to said county court over such matters as are specified in Section 1 of this Act; nor shall this Act be construed to deny the right of appeal from the Justices' court to said county court in any case originally brought in any justice court where the right of appeal now exists by General law.

POTTER COUNTY

Art. 1970-311. Jurisdiction of Potter County Court at Law Diminished; Transfer of Causes to County Court and Justice Court

Sec. 2. All causes of action pending in the County Court of Potter County at Law on the effective date of this Act over which the County Court of Potter County would have had jurisdiction under general law had it not been for the creation of said County Court of Potter County at Law, are hereby transferred to the County Court of Potter County, and all process, writs, and bonds, civil and criminal, issued in said causes prior to and executed subsequent to the taking effect of this Act, shall be returnable to the County Court of Potter County. And all bonds executed and recognizances entered into in the County Court of Potter County at Law shall bind the parties for their appearance and to fulfill the obligations of such bonds and recognizances at the terms of the County Court of Potter County; and all process of every nature heretofore issued and returned or executed prior to the taking effect of this Act and returned before or after the taking effect of this Act, as well as all bonds and recognizances heretofore or hereafter taken or entered into in the County Court of Potter County at Law, shall all likewise be as valid and binding in the County Court of Potter County as they would have been in the County Court of Potter County at Law had this Act not been passed.

Sec. 3. All causes of action pending in the County Court of Potter County at Law over which any Justice Court of Potter County would have had jurisdiction under general law had it not been for the creation of said County Court of Potter County at Law, shall be and the same are hereby transferred to the proper Justice Court, and all process, writs, and bonds, civil and criminal, issued prior to and/or executed subsequent to the taking effect of this Act out of such causes, shall be and the same are hereby made returnable to the proper Justice Court. And all bonds executed and recognizances entered into in the County Court of Potter County at Law in such cases shall bind the parties for their appearance and to fulfill the obligations of such bonds and recognizances at the terms of the proper Justice Court to which said causes are hereby transferred, and all process of every nature whatsoever issued in said causes as well as all bonds and recognizances, shall all likewise be valid and binding in such Justice Court as they would have been in the County Court of Potter County at Law had this Act not been passed.

[Acts 1933, 43rd Leg., Spec.Laws, p. 65, ch. 54.]

Art. 1970-311a. County Court at Law of Potter County Created, etc.

Sec. 1. There is hereby created a court to be held in Amarillo, Potter County, Texas, which shall be known as the County Court at Law of Potter County.

Sec. 2. The County Court at Law of Potter County shall have original and concurrent jurisdiction with the County Court of Potter County, in all matters and causes, civil and criminal, original and appellate, over which by the General Laws of this state, County Courts have jurisdiction, except as provided in Section 6 of this Act; but this provision shall not affect jurisdiction of the Commissioners Court or the County Judge of Potter County, Texas as the presiding officer of the Commissioners Court as to roads, bridges and public highways, and matters of eminent domain, which are now within the jurisdiction of the Commissioners Court or the judge of Potter County.

With the consent of the other, the judge of either of such courts shall have the power to transfer to the other court any case over which the courts have concurrent jurisdiction pending upon the docket of his court except in cases where the writ of certiorari has been granted.

Sec. 3. The County Court at Law of Potter County shall have and exercise original concurrent jurisdiction with the Justice Courts in all civil matters which by the General Laws of this state is conferred upon Justice Courts. Neither the County Court at Law of Potter County nor the judge thereof shall have jurisdiction to act as a coroner nor to preside at inquests, nor have jurisdiction of claims which come within the jurisdiction of the Small Claims Court as prescribed by Article 2460a of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas.

Sec. 4. No appeal or writ of error shall be taken to the Court of Civil Appeals from any final judgment of the County Court at Law of Potter County in civil cases of which said court had appellate or original concurrent jurisdiction with the Justice Court where the judgment or amount in controversy would not exceed One Hundred ($100.00) Dollars, exclusive of interest and costs.

Sec. 5. This Act shall not be construed to deprive the Justice Courts of jurisdiction now conferred upon them by law, but only to give concurrent original jurisdiction to the County Court at Law of Potter County over such matters as are specified in this Act; nor shall this Act be construed to deny the right of an appeal to the County Court at Law of Potter County from the Justice Court, where the right of appeals to the County Court now exists by law.

Sec. 6. The County Court of Potter County shall retain, as heretofore, the general jurisdiction of a Probate Court; it shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of executors, administrators and guardians; transact all business appertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, including the settlement, partition and distribution of estates of deceased persons; and to apprentice minors as provided by law; and the said court, or the judge thereof, shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of said court; and also to punish contempts under such provisions as are or may be provided by General Law governing County Courts throughout the state. The County Judge of Potter County shall be the judge of the County Court of Potter County. All ex officio duties of the County Judge shall be exercised by the judge of the County Court of Potter County except in so far as the same shall, by this Act, be committed to the judge of the County Court at Law of Potter County.

Sec. 7. The terms of the County Court at Law of Potter County shall be as prescribed by the laws relating to the County Courts. The terms of the County Court at Law of Potter County shall be held as now established for the terms of the County Court of Potter County and the same may be changed in accordance with the laws governing the change in the terms of the County Court of Potter County.

Sec. 8. There shall be elected in Potter County by the qualified voters thereof, at each general election, a judge of the County Court at Law of Potter County. No person shall be elected or appointed judge of the court who is not a resident citizen of Potter County. He shall also be a licensed attorney of the State of Texas and shall have been a licensed attorney of the State of Texas for at least two years immediately prior to his appointment or election. The person elected such judge shall hold his office for four years and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 9. The County Attorney of Potter County shall represent the state in all prosecutions in the County Court at Law of Potter County, as provided by law for such prosecutions in County Courts, and shall be entitled to the same fees as now prescribed by law for such prosecutions in the County Courts.

Sec. 10. As soon as this Act becomes effective the Commissioners Court of Potter County shall appoint a judge of the County Court at Law of Potter County, who shall hold his office until the next general election and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified, and shall provide suitable quarters for the holding of said court.

Sec. 11. The judge of the County Court at Law of Potter County may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as any County Judge may be removed under the laws of this state.

Sec. 12. The judge of the County Court at Law of Potter County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to County Judges.

Sec. 13. A special judge of the County Court at Law of Potter County may be appointed or elected as provided by law relating to County Courts and to the judge thereof. He shall receive the sum of Thirty ($30.00) Dollars per day for each day he so actually serves, to be paid out of the general fund of the county by the Commissioners Court.

Sec. 14. In the case of the disqualification of the judge of the County Court at Law of Potter County to try any case pending in his court, the parties or their attorneys may agree on the selection of a special judge to try such case or cases where the judge of the County Court at Law of Potter County is disqualified. In case of the selection of such special judge by agreement of the parties or their attorneys, such special judge shall draw the same compensation as that provided in Section 13 of this Act.

Sec. 15. The County Court at Law of Potter County, or the judge thereof, shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, superseas, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of jurisdiction of the court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in such cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said court or of any other court in said county of inferior jurisdiction to the County Court at Law.

Sec. 16. The County Clerk of Potter County shall be the clerk of the County Court at Law of Potter County, and the seal of the court shall be the same as that provided by law for County Courts, except the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law of Potter County."

Sec. 17. The sheriff of Potter County shall in person or by deputy attend the County Court at Law of Potter County when required by the judge thereof.

Sec. 18. The jurisdiction and authority now vested by law in the County Court of Potter County and the judge thereof, for the drawing, selection and service of jurors and talesmen shall also be exercised by the County Court at Law of Potter County and the judge thereof; but jurors and talesmen summoned for either of said courts may by order of the judge of the court in which they are summoned be transferred to the other court for service therein and may be used therein as if summoned for the court to which they may be thus transferred. Upon concurrence of the judge of the County Court at Law of Potter County and the judge of the County Court of Potter County jurors may be summoned for service in both courts and shall be used interchangeably in both such courts. All summons for petit jurors for all civil and criminal cases under existing laws at the time this Act takes effect, shall be as valid as if no change had been made and the persons constituting such jury panels shall be required to appear and serve at the ensuing term of said courts as fixed by this Act, and their acts as jurors shall be as valid as if they had been selected as jurors in the court for which they were originally drawn.

Sec. 19. Any vacancy in the office of the judge of the County Court at Law of Potter County shall be filled by the Commissioners Court, and when so filled the judge shall hold office until the next general election and until his successor is elected and qualified.

Sec. 20. The judge of the County Court at Law of Potter County shall receive the same salary and be paid from the same fund and in the same manner as is now prescribed or may be established by law for the County Judge of Potter County, to be paid out by the County Treasurer of Potter County, Texas, on the order of the Commissioners Court of said county, and said salary shall be paid monthly in equal installments.

Sec. 21. The judge of the County Court at Law of Potter County shall assess the same fees as are prescribed by law relating to the County Judge's fees all of which shall be collected by the clerk of the court and shall be paid into the County Treasury on collection, no part of which shall be paid to the judge, but he shall draw the salary as above specified in this Act.

Sec. 22. The judge of the County Court at Law of Potter County may appoint an official shorthand reporter for such court who shall be well skilled in his profession and shall be a sworn officer of the court and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court. Such reporter shall take the oath required of official court reporters and shall receive a salary as set by the Commissioners Court of Potter County to be paid out of the County Treasury of Potter County, as other county officials are paid, in equal monthly installments. All other provisions of Chapter 13, Title 42, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended and as the same may hereafter be amended, and all other provisions of the law relating to official court reporters shall be and is hereby made to apply in all its provisions in so far as they are applicable to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed and in so far as they are not inconsistent with this Act.

Sec. 23. The laws of the State of Texas, the rules of procedure and the rules of evidence shall be applicable to and control trials and proceedings in the County Court at Law of Potter County, and shall be applicable to and govern the proceedings in and appeals to and appeals from the County Court at Law of Potter County.

[Acts 1955, 54th Leg., p. 219, ch. 56.]

Art. 1970-311b. County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County

Sec. 1. There is created a court to be held in Amarillo, Potter County, Texas, which shall be known as the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County.

Sec. 2. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County shall have original and concurrent jurisdiction with the County Court of Potter County and the County Court at Law of Potter County in all matters and causes, civil, criminal, and probate, original and appellate, over which by the general laws of this state, county courts have jurisdiction. This provision shall not affect the jurisdiction of the commissioners court or the county judge of Potter County as the presiding officer of the commissioners court as to roads, bridges and public highways, and matters which are now within the jurisdiction of the commissioners court or the judge of Potter County.

Sec. 3. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County shall have and exercise original concurrent jurisdiction with the justice courts in all civil matters which by the general laws of this state is conferred on justice courts. Neither the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County nor the judge thereof shall have jurisdiction to act as a coroner or to preside at inquests, or have jurisdiction of claims which come within the jurisdiction of the Small Claims Court as prescribed by Chapter 309, Acts of the 53rd Legislature, Regular Session, 1953, as amended (Article 2460a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes).

Sec. 4. No appeal or writ of error shall be taken to the Court of Civil Appeals from any final judgment of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter

County in civil cases of which the court had appellate or original concurrent jurisdiction with the justice court where the judgment or amount in controversy would not exceed $100, exclusive of interest and costs.

Sec. 5. This Act shall not be construed to deprive the justice courts of jurisdiction now conferred on them by law, but only to give concurrent original jurisdiction to the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County over such matters as are specified in this Act; nor shall this Act be construed to deny the right of an appeal to the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County from the justice court, where the right of appeals to the county court now exists by law.

Sec. 6. The County Court of Potter County shall retain the general jurisdiction of a probate court. It shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of executors, administrators, and guardians, transact all business appertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, including the settlement, partition, and distribution of estates of deceased persons, and to apprentice minors as provided by law; and the court, or the judge thereof, shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of the court, and also to punish contempts under such provisions as are or may be provided by general law governing county courts throughout the state. The County Judge of Potter County shall be the judge of the County Court of Potter County. All ex officio duties of the county judge shall be exercised by the judge of the County Court of Potter County except in so far as the same shall, by this Act, be committed to the judges of the County Courts at Law of Potter County.

Sec. 7. The terms of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County shall be as prescribed by the laws relating to the county courts. The terms of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County shall be held as now established for the terms of the County Court of Potter County and the same may be changed in accordance with the laws governing the change in the terms of the County Court of Potter County.

Sec. 8. No person may be elected or appointed judge of the court who is not a resident citizen of Potter County. He also shall have been a licensed attorney of the State of Texas for at least four years immediately prior to his appointment or election. The person elected judge shall hold his office for four years and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 9. The County Attorney of Potter County shall represent the state in all prosecutions in the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County, as provided by law for such prosecutions in county courts, and shall be entitled to the same fees as now prescribed by law for such prosecutions in the county courts.

Sec. 10. As soon as this Act becomes effective, the Commissioners Court of Potter County shall appoint a judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County, who shall hold his office until the next general election and until his successor is duly elected and has qualified. At the general election in 1978 and every fourth year thereafter, there shall be elected by the qualified voters of Potter County a judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 for a regular term of four years as provided in Article V, Section 30, and Article XVI, Section 65, of the Texas Constitution. The commissioners court shall provide suitable quarters for the holding of the court.

Sec. 11. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as any county judge may be removed under the laws of this state.

Sec. 12. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to county judges.

Sec. 13. A special judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County may be appointed or elected as provided by law relating to county courts and to the judge thereof. He shall receive a sum of money for each day he actually serves equal to the compensation for each day paid to the regular judge of County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County, to be paid out of the general fund of the county by the commissioners court.

Sec. 14. In the case of the disqualification of the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County to try any case pending in his court, the parties or their attorneys may agree on the selection of a special judge to try the case or cases in which the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County is disqualified. In case of the selection of a special judge by agreement of the parties or their attorneys, the special judge shall draw the same compensation as that provided in Section 13 of this Act.

Sec. 15. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County, or the judge thereof, shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of jurisdiction of the court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in such cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the court or of any other court in the county of inferior jurisdiction to the County Court at Law No. 2.

Sec. 16. The county clerk of Potter County shall be the clerk of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County, and the seal of the court shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts, except the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County."

Sec. 17. The sheriff of Potter County shall in person or by deputy attend the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County when required by the judge thereof.

Sec. 18. The jurisdiction and authority now vested by law in the County Court of Potter County and the judge thereof, for the drawing, selection, and service of jurors and talesmen shall also be exercised by the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County and the judge thereof; but jurors and talesmen summoned for either of the county courts at law or county court may by order of the judge of the court in which they are summoned be transferred to one of the other courts for service therein and may be used therein as if summoned for the court to which they may be thus transferred. On concurrence of the judges of the county courts at law of Potter County and the judge of the county court of Potter County, jurors may be summoned for service in all county courts and shall be used interchangeably in all such courts. All summons for petit jurors for all civil and criminal cases under existing laws at the time this Act takes effect shall be as valid as if no change had been made, and the persons constituting such jury panels shall be required to appear and serve at the ensuing term of the courts as fixed by this Act, and their acts as jurors shall be as valid as if they had been selected as jurors in the court for which they were originally drawn.

Sec. 19. Any vacancy in the office of the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County shall be filled by the commissioners court, and when so filled the judge shall hold office until the next general election and until his successor is elected and has qualified.

Sec. 20. The judges of the County Court at Law of Potter County and the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County may each be paid an annual salary of not more than the total salary paid any District Judge in and for Potter County to be paid out of the general fund of Potter County by the County Treasurer of Potter County, on the order of the commissioners court of the county.

Sec. 21. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County shall assess the same fees as are prescribed by law relating to the county judge's fees, all of which shall be collected by the clerk of the court and shall be paid into the county treasury on collection, no part of which shall be paid to the judge, but he shall draw the salary as specified in Section 20 of this Act.

Sec. 22. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County may appoint an official shorthand reporter for such court who shall be well skilled in his profession and shall be a sworn officer of the court and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court. The reporter shall take the oath required of official court reporters and shall receive a salary as set by the Commissioners Court of Potter County to be paid out of the county treasury of Potter County, as other county officials are paid, in equal monthly installments. All other provisions of Chapter 13, Title 42, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended and as the same may hereafter be amended, and all other provisions of the law relating to official court reporters are hereby made to apply in all provisions, insofar as they are applicable, to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed and insofar as they are not inconsistent with this Act.

Sec. 23. The laws of the State of Texas, the rules of procedure and the rules of evidence shall be applicable to and control trials and proceedings in the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County, and shall be applicable to and govern the proceedings in and appeals to and appeals from the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County.

Sec. 24. The County Clerk of Potter County shall distribute the cases filed, both civil and criminal. All cases with even numbers shall be filed and docketed in the County Court at Law of Potter County and all cases with odd numbers shall be filed and docketed in the County Court at Law No. 2 of Potter County. With the consent of the judge of the court to which a case is transferred, the judge of either county court at law or the county court shall have the power to transfer to the other courts any case pending upon the docket of his court over which the courts have concurrent jurisdiction, except in cases where the writ of certiorari has been granted. The judges of the county courts at law may, in their discretion, exchange benches and sit and hear cases in the court in which the case or proceeding is then pending, and try or otherwise dispose of same.

Sec. 25. The effective date of this Act is January 1, 1977.

GILLESPIE COUNTY

Art. 1970-312. Jurisdiction of County Court of Gillespie County Increased

Sec. 1. Hereafter the County Court of Gillespie County, Texas, in addition to its present jurisdiction, shall have civil and criminal jurisdiction as provided by the General Laws for county courts.

Sec. 2. This act shall not be construed to in anywise or in any manner affect judgments heretofore rendered by the District Court pertaining to matters and causes which by this Act are made returnable to the County Court, and the Clerk of the District Court of said county shall issue all executions and orders of sale and proceedings thereunder, which shall be as valid and binding to all intents and purposes as though the change had not been made as directed in this Act.

Sec. 3. The jurisdiction of the District Court of Gillespie County shall be such as provided by the Constitution and General Laws of this State, consistent with the change in jurisdiction of the County Court herein made.

Sec. 4. The County Court of Gillespie County shall, in addition to the civil and criminal jurisdiction conferred upon County Courts by the Constitution and General Laws of this State, have and exercise concurrent jurisdiction with the Justices Courts in all criminal and civil matters which, by the General Laws of this State, is conferred upon Justice Courts.

Sec. 5. No appeal or writ of error shall be taken to the Court of Civil Appeals from a final judgment of said County Court in civil cases, of which said Court has appellate, original or concurrent jurisdiction with Justices Courts, where the amount in controversy does not exceed One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) exclusive of interest and costs.

Sec. 6. This Act shall not be construed to deprive the Justices Court of jurisdiction now conferred upon them by law, but is only to give concurrent and original jurisdiction to said County Court over such matters as are specified in this Act, nor shall this Act be construed to deny the right of appeal from the Justice Court to said County Court in any case originally brought in the Justice Court where the right of appeal exists under the Constitution and General Laws of the State.

Sec. 7. It shall be the duty of the District Clerk of Gillespie County, Texas, within thirty (30) days after this Act shall take effect, to make full and complete transcripts of orders on the criminal and civil docket then pending in the District Court of said County of which cases, by the provisions of this Act, original or appellate jurisdiction is given to said County Court and to file said transcript, together with the original papers in each case in the County Court of said County and the County Clerk shall enter said cases on the respective dockets of said County Court as appearance cases for trial by said Court.

Sec. 8. The terms of said County Court of Gillespie County shall commence on the first Monday in January, first Monday in April, first Monday in July and first Monday in October each year and each of said terms shall continue in session for three weeks, or until the business may be disposed of; providing that the Commissioners Court of said County may hereafter change the terms of said Court and the length of the terms whenever it may be deemed necessary by said Commissioners Court. [Acts 1933, 43rd Leg.Spec.Laws, p. 84, ch. 64.]

DUVAL COUNTY

Art. 1970-313. Jurisdiction of County Court of Duval County Increased

Sec. 1. The county court of Duval County shall, from and after the passage of this Act have, as now, general jurisdiction of the probate court and generally exercise all powers in probate matters conferred upon such courts by the Constitution and laws of the State, and keep and maintain all jurisdiction which it now has and exercises in all civil matters.

Sec. 2. Said court shall also have and exercise exclusive jurisdiction of all misdemeanors, except misdemeanors involving official misconduct, and except misdemeanors in which the highest penalty which may be imposed by law is a fine without imprisonment and does not exceed Two Hundred ($200) Dollars, and shall have appellate jurisdiction of all criminal cases in which justice courts and other inferior tribunals of said county have original jurisdiction, and the district court of said county shall no longer have jurisdiction of misdemeanors, except misdemeanors involving official misconduct.

Sec. 3. That Chapter 3, of the General Laws of the Regular Session of the Twenty-sixth Legislature be, and the same is hereby repealed.

Sec. 4. The district clerk of Duval County is hereby required within thirty days after this Act takes effect, to make a full and complete transcript of all entries upon the criminal docket of said court in cases now pending therein, which, under this Act, are now within the jurisdiction of the county court, and shall transfer all such cases, together with the papers pertaining thereto, and a certified bill of the costs in each case, to the county clerk of Duval County, and all such cases shall be immediately docketed by the county clerk; all such cases so transferred from the district court to the county court shall stand on the docket of said court as appearance cases for the next succeeding term and shall be docketed and disposed of in the same manner as if same had been originally filed in the county court and all processes now issued and returnable to said district court shall be returnable to said county court; all processes heretofore issued by the district court in said cases as well as all bonds and recognizances heretofore taken in the district court shall be as valid as though no change had been made as to the jurisdiction of said respective courts, and all bonds executed and recognizances entered in said district court shall bind the parties for their appearance to the next term of the county court after this law becomes effective.

Sec. 5. This Act shall not be construed to in any manner affect judgments heretofore rendered by the district court of Duval County in causes, which by this Act, are transferred to the county court of said county, and the district clerk of said county shall issue all executions and orders of sale and the proceedings thereunder shall be as valid and binding to all intents and purposes as though this Act had not been passed. [Acts 1933, 43rd Leg., 1st C.S., p. 163, ch. 60.]

GILLESPIE COUNTY

Art. 1970-318. Gillespie County Court; Probate Jurisdiction Conferred; Civil and Criminal Jurisdiction Diminished

Sec. 1. That hereafter the County Court of Gillespie County, Texas, shall have and exercise the general jurisdiction of a Probate Court; shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards; grant letters testamentary and of administration; settle accounts of executors, administrators, and guardians and transact all business pertaining to estates of deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, including the partition and distribution and settlement of estates of deceased persons; and to apprentice minors as required by law and all matters of eminent domain over which the County Courts have jurisdiction under the General Laws of this State; and to issue all writs necessary to the enforcement of its jurisdiction; and to punish contempt under such provisions as are, or may be provided by General Law covering County Courts throughout the State; but said County Court shall have no other jurisdiction, civil or criminal.

Sec. 2. That the District Court or Courts of said County shall have and exercise jurisdiction in all matters and causes, civil and criminal, over which, by the General Laws of this State, the County Court would have jurisdiction, except as provided in Section 1 of this Act and excepting all causes and matters, civil and criminal, over which by the General Laws of the State, the Justice Courts of said County would have jurisdiction; and that all causes, other than probate matters and such as are provided in Section 1, be and the same are hereby transferred to the District Court or Courts of said County; and writs and processes, civil and criminal, heretofore issued out or by said County Court other than those pertaining to matters which by Section 1 of this Act, jurisdiction is given to the County Court, be and the same are hereby made returnable to the next term of the District Court or Courts of said County.

Sec. 3. That the Clerk of the County Court of Gillespie County, Texas, be and he is hereby required immediately after this Act becomes effective, to make full and complete transcripts of all the entries on his dockets, civil and criminal, heretofore made in causes, which by Section 2 are transferred to the District Court or Courts of said County, and file the same, together with all original papers of all of said causes and proceedings with the Clerk of the District Court or Courts of said County which shall include all judgments, both civil and criminal, that remain uncollected and not satisfied; and for the purpose of carrying into effect this Act, the Court having jurisdiction of such matters shall have full and ample power to enforce the same by issuing execution or other process required by law and all of such causes under this Act transferred to the District Court, shall be immediately docketed by the Clerk of said Court, and shall stand on the dockets of said Courts as appearance cases for the next term of said Court; for each of said transcripts, the County Clerk shall receive Twenty-five (25) Cents per one hundred (100) words, and Fifty (50) Cents for certificate thereto to be taxed against the party cast in the suit, if a civil suit and if criminal, against the defendant if convicted.

Sec. 4. This Act shall not be construed in any wise or in any manner as affecting judgments rendered by the County Court pertaining to matters and causes which by this Act are made returnable to the District Court but the Clerk of the District Court of said County shall issue all executions and orders of sale and proceedings thereunder shall be as valid and binding to all intents and purposes as though the change had not been made in this Act. [Acts 1937, 45th Leg., p. 136, ch. 458.]

Art. 1970-318a. Civil and Criminal Jurisdiction Restored

Sec. 1. Hereafter the County Court of Gillespie County, Texas, in addition to its present jurisdiction, shall have civil and criminal jurisdiction as provided by the General Laws for county courts.

Sec. 2. This Act shall not be construed to in anywise or in any manner affect judgments heretofore rendered by the District Court pertaining to matters and causes which, by this Act are made returnable to the County Court, and the Clerk of the District Court of said county shall issue all executions and orders of sale and proceedings thereunder, which shall be as valid and binding to all intents and purposes as though the change had not been made as directed in this Act.

Sec. 3. The jurisdiction of the District Court of Gillespie County shall be such as provided by the Constitution and General Laws of this State, consistent with the change in jurisdiction of the County Court herein made.

Sec. 4. The County Court of Gillespie County shall, in addition to the civil and criminal jurisdiction conferred upon county courts by the Constitution and General Laws of this State, have and exercise concurrent jurisdiction with the justices courts in all criminal and civil matters which, by the General Laws of this State, is conferred upon justices courts.

Sec. 5. No appeal or writ of error shall be taken to the Court of Civil Appeals from a final judgment of said court in civil cases, of which court has appellate, original or concurrent jurisdiction with the justices courts, where the amount in controversy does not exceed One Hundred ($100.00) Dollars, exclusive of interest and costs.

Sec. 6. This Act shall not be construed to deprive the justices courts of jurisdiction now conferred upon them by law, but is only to give concurrent and original jurisdiction to said county court over such matters as are specified in this Act, nor shall this Act be construed to deny the right of appeal from the justice court to said county court in any case originally brought in the justice court, where the right to appeal exists under the Constitution and General Laws of the State.

Sec. 7. It shall be the duty of the District Clerk of Gillespie County, Texas, within thirty (30) days after this Act shall take effect, to make full and complete transcripts of orders on the criminal and civil dockets then pending before the District Court of said county of which cases, by the provisions of this Act, original and appellate jurisdiction is given to said county court and to file said transcript, together with the original papers in each case in the county court of said county and the County Clerk shall enter said cases on the respective dockets of said county court as appearance cases for trial by said court.

Sec. 8. The terms of said courts shall commence on the first Monday in January, and on the first Monday in May, and on the first Monday in August, and the first Monday in November, of each year; and each of said terms shall continue in session for six weeks, or until the business may be disposed of; provided, that the County Commissioners Court of said county may hereafter change the terms of said court whenever it may be deemed necessary by said Commissioners Court.

[Acts 1951, 52nd Leg., p. 770, ch. 421.]

KENDALL COUNTY

Art. 1970-319. County Court of Kendall County; Civil and Criminal Jurisdiction

Sec. 1. That the County Court of Kendall County shall hereafter have exclusive original jurisdiction in civil cases where the matter in controversy shall exceed in value two hundred dollars ($200.00) and shall not exceed five hundred dollars ($500.00) exclusive of interest and shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the district court of said county when the matter in controversy shall exceed five hundred dollars ($500.00) and not exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000.00).

Sec. 2. Said county court shall have appellate jurisdiction in civil cases over which justices' court have original jurisdiction when the judgment of the court appealed from or the amount in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars ($20.00), and said county court shall have power to hear and determine cases brought up from the justice's court by certiorari under the provisions of the title of the Revised Civil Statutes relating thereto.

Sec. 3. The county judge of said county shall have authority, either in term time or vacation, to grant writs of mandamus, injunction, sequestration, garnishment, attachment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all other writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of said court, and shall also have power to issue writs of habeas corpus in all cases in which the Constitution has not exclusively conferred the power on the district court or judge thereof.

Sec. 4. Said county court shall have jurisdiction in the forfeiture and judgment of all bonds and recognizances taken in criminal cases of which criminal cases said court has jurisdiction.

Sec. 5. Said county court shall have exclusive original jurisdiction of all misdemeanors, except misdemeanors involving official misconduct, and except cases in which the highest penalty or fine that may be imposed under the law may not exceed two hundred dollars, and said courts shall also have appellate jurisdiction in criminal cases of which justices of the peace and other inferior tribunals of said county have jurisdiction.

Sec. 6. The District Court of Kendall County shall no longer have jurisdiction of cases of which the county court of said county by the provisions of this Act has exclusive original or appellate jurisdiction, and it shall be the duty of the clerk of the district court of said county within thirty days from the passage of this Act to make a full and complete transcript of all orders on his dockets in cases now pending before said district court of which cases by the terms of this Act exclusive jurisdiction is given to the county court, and to deliver said transcripts, together with the original papers and a certified bill of costs, to the clerk of said county court, and said county clerk shall enter said case or cases on his dockets for trial by said county court.

Sec. 7. The county court of said county shall hereafter hold its regular terms for civil and criminal business as provided in the Constitution and General Laws of the State, and process heretofore issued from the district court of said county in cases to be transferred under this Act to the county court shall be returnable to the first term of the county court, and all civil cases transferred shall be entered as appearance cases upon the dockets of said county court.

Sec. 8. The county court of said Kendall County shall have, as now, the general jurisdiction of probate courts for the probate of wills, appointments of guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis and common drunkards, and for the issuance of letters testamentary and of administration, settlement of accounts of administrators and guardians and the settlement of distribution of decedent's estates, and the apprenticeship of minors, and all other necessary powers conferred by law on courts of probate.

Sec. 9. That all laws and parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this Act be and the same are hereby repealed.

[Acts 1915, 34th Leg., 1st C.S., p. 55, ch. 27.]

GLASSCOCK COUNTY

Art. 1970-320. Glasscock County Court; Civil and Criminal Jurisdiction Diminished

Sec. 1. The County Court of Glasscock County shall have and exercise the general jurisdiction of a Probate Court, shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle the accounts of executors, administrators, and guardians, transact all business pertaining to the estates of deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, including the partition, settlement, and distribution of estates of deceased persons, and to apprentice minors as provided by law, and to issue all writs necessary for the enforcement of its own jurisdiction; to punish contempt under such provisions as are now or may be provided by General Law governing County Courts throughout the State, but the said County Court of Glasscock County shall have no other jurisdiction, civil or criminal, whatsoever.

Sec. 2. That the District Court of Glasscock County shall have and exercise jurisdiction in all civil and criminal matters and causes over which, by the laws of this State, the County Court of said Glasscock County would have jurisdiction, except as provided in Section 1 of this Act; all causes other than probate matters and such as are provided by Section 1 of this Act be and the same are hereby transferred to the District Court of Glasscock County, and all writs and process relating to any civil or criminal matters included in the subject matter of jurisdiction prescribed in Section 1 of this Act, issued by or out of said County Court of Glasscock County, be and the same are hereby made returnable to the next term of the District Court of said County after this Act takes effect.

Sec. 3. That the County Clerk of Glasscock County be and he is hereby required, within thirty (30) days after this Act takes effect, to make a full and complete transcript of all entries upon his civil and criminal docket heretofore made in cases which by Section 2 of this Act are required to be transferred to the District Court of said County, together with all the papers pertaining to such cases, a certified bill of costs in each case, and all cases shall be immediately docketed by the District Court as appearance cases for the next succeeding term, and all criminal cases shall be docketed and disposed of in the same manner as if the same had been originally filed in and triable in said District Court, and all process now issued and returnable to said County Court shall be returnable to said District Court.

Sec. 4. That this Act shall not be construed to in anywise or manner affect judgments heretofore rendered by said County Court of Glasscock County pertaining to matters and causes which by Section 2 of this Act are transferred to the District Court of said County, but the County Clerk of said County shall issue all executions, and orders of sale, and proceedings thereunder, and this Act in so doing shall be valid and binding to all intents and purposes, the same as if no change had been made as by Section 2 therein contemplated.

[Acts 1939, 46th Leg., p. 191.]

STEPHENS COUNTY

Art. 1970-321. Stephens County Court; Civil and Criminal Jurisdiction Diminished

Sec. 1. That the County Court of Stephens County shall retain and continue to have and exercise the general jurisdiction in matters of eminent domain, and the general jurisdiction of Probate Courts, and all jurisdiction other than in civil and criminal matters, jurisdiction of which is here conferred on the District Court of Stephens County, Texas, now or hereafter conferred upon such County Court by the Constitution and Laws of the State, and shall retain all jurisdiction and power to issue all writs necessary to the enforcement of its jurisdiction, and to punish contempts; but said County Court shall have no civil or criminal jurisdiction, except as to final judgments referred to in Section 2 hereof.

Sec. 2. That the District Court having jurisdiction in said Stephens County shall have and exercise jurisdiction in all matters and cases of a civil and criminal nature, whether the same be of original jurisdiction or of appellate jurisdiction, over which, by the General Laws of the State of Texas now existing and hereinafter enacted, the County Court of said County would have had jurisdiction, and that all pending civil and criminal cases be and the same are hereby transferred to the District Court for the Ninetieth Judicial District of Texas, sitting in Stephens County, Texas, and all writs and process heretofore issued by or out of said County Court in said civil or criminal cases be and the same are hereby made returnable to the next term of the District Court, in and for the Ninetieth Judicial District of Texas, sitting in Stephens County, Texas. Provided, however, that there shall not be transferred to said District Court jurisdiction over any judgments, even in civil or criminal cases, rendered prior to the time this Act takes effect and which have become final, but as to such judgments the said County Court shall retain jurisdiction for the enforcement thereof by execution, order of sale, or other appropriate process. Provided further, however, that as to any civil or criminal case on appeal from said County Court, should a judgment be entered by the Court of Civil Appeals or the Supreme Court, or the Court of Criminal Appeals, remanding the case for a new trial or for further proceedings, same shall be remanded to the District Court of Stephens County, Texas, and all jurisdiction in respect to said particular case shall thereafter vest in the District Court sitting in and having jurisdiction of Stephens County, Texas.

Sec. 3. That the County Attorney of Stephens County, Texas, shall represent the State in all misdemeanor cases before the District Court of Stephens County, Texas, and shall receive therefor the same fees to which he would be entitled under the law as County Attorney had said cases been tried in the County Court.

Sec. 4. That the Clerk of the County Court of said Stephens County be and is hereby required, within twenty (20) days after this Act takes effect, to file with the Clerk of the District Court of said County, all original papers in cases here transferred to the said District Court, and all Judges' dockets and certified copies of any interlocutory judgment or other order entered in the Minutes of the County Court in said cases so transferred, and the District Clerk shall immediately docket all such cases on the docket of the said District Court for the Ninetieth Judicial District of Texas, and all such cases shall stand on the docket of said Court in the same manner and place as each stands on the docket of the County Court. Provided, further, that it shall not be necessary that the District Clerk refile any papers theretofore filed by the County Clerk, nor shall he receive any fees for the filing of same, but papers in said case bearing the file mark of the County Clerk, prior to the time of said transfer, shall be held to have been filed in the case as of the date filed without being refiled by the District Clerk. Said County Clerk in cases so transferred shall accompany the papers with a certified bill of cost, and against all cost deposits, if any, the County Clerk shall charge accrued fees due him, and the remainder of the deposit he shall pay to the District Court as a deposit in the particular case for which same was deposited. Credit shall also be given the litigants for all jury fees paid in the County Court. [Acts 1939, 46th Leg., p. 198.]

MARION COUNTY

Art. 1970-322. County Court of Marion County; Jurisdiction in Criminal Matters; Fee of County Judge

Sec. 1. In addition to the jurisdiction heretofore conferred by law upon the County Court of Marion County, Texas, and the County Judge of Marion County, Texas, the said County Court shall have jurisdiction within Marion County of all criminal matters and causes of misdemeanor over which the District Court of Marion County, Texas, now has jurisdiction, and the jurisdiction of said Courts over such matters shall be concurrent, provided that the jurisdiction of the District Court of Marion County, Texas, shall be and remain as now fixed by law and be in nowise affected by this Act; and provided further, that the jurisdiction hereby conferred upon the County Judge of Marion County, Texas, shall extend to and only to those cases in which pleas of guilty are entered by the defendant in any cases of misdemeanor filed in said Court.

Sec. 2. The County Judge of Marion County, Texas, shall receive a fee of Three Dollars ($3) for each and every case tried before him in which a plea of guilty is entered, and the fees of the other offices of the Court shall be and remain as is now provided by the laws of this State.

[Acts 1939, 46th Leg., p. 194.]

Art. 1970-322a. County Court of Marion County; Concurrent Jurisdiction of Certain Criminal Matters

Sec. 1. (a) In addition to the jurisdiction heretofore conferred by law upon the County Court of Marion County, Texas, and the County Judge of Marion County, Texas, the said County Court shall have jurisdiction within Marion County of all criminal matters and causes of misdemeanor over which the District Courts of Marion County, Texas, now has jurisdiction, and the jurisdiction of said Courts over such matters shall be concurrent, provided that the jurisdiction of the District Courts of Marion County, Texas, shall be and remain as now fixed by law and be in nowise affected by this Act; and provided further, that the jurisdiction hereby conferred upon the County Judge of Marion County, Texas, shall extend to and only to those cases in which pleas of guilty are entered by the defendant in any cases of misdemeanor filed in said Court.

(b) The County Attorney of Marion County shall continue to represent the state in all criminal matters pending before the District Courts in Marion County.

Sec. 3. The County Judge of Marion County, Texas, shall receive a fee of Three ($3.00) Dollars for each and every misdemeanor case tried before him, and the fees of the other officers of the court shall be and remain as is now provided by the laws of this state.

Sec. 4. The County Attorney of Marion County shall represent the state in all misdemeanor and felony cases before the District Court of Marion County, Texas.

[Acts 1947, 50th Leg., p. 214, ch. 121. Amended by Acts 1969, 61st Leg., p. 519, ch. 181, §§ 1, 3, eff. May 9, 1969; Acts 1975, 64th Leg., p. 1857, ch. 581, § 3, eff. Sept. 1, 1975; Acts 1981, 67th Leg., p. 56, ch. 25, § 11, eff. April 8, 1981.]

Section 2 of the Act of 1947 provided:

"The Clerk of the District Court of Marion County, Texas, shall, and is hereby required within twenty (20) days after this Act takes effect, to file with the Clerk of the County Court of said county, all the original misdemeanor cases, judges' dockets and certified copies of any interlocutory judgments or other orders entered in the minutes of the District Court in said cases so transferred; and the County Clerk of Marion County, Texas, shall immediately docket all such cases on the docket of the District Court. It shall not be necessary that the County Clerk shall re-file any papers theretofore filed by the District Clerk, nor shall he receive any fees for the filing of the same, but papers in said case bearing the file mark of the District Clerk prior to the time of said transfer, shall be held to have been filed in the case as of the date filed, without being re-filed by the County Clerk. Said District Clerk, in cases so transferred, shall accompany the papers with a certified bill of cost, and against all cost deposits, if any, the District Clerk shall charge accrued fees due him, and the remainder of the deposit he shall pay to the County Clerk as a deposit in the particular case for which the same was deposited. Credit shall also be given the litigants for all jury fees paid in the District Court."

Section 2 of the amendatory act of 1969 provided:

"(a) All misdemeanor cases, except those in which pleas of guilty were filed, docketed in the County Court of Marion County, Texas, prior to the effective date of this Act shall be transferred to the docket of the District Court of Marion County, Texas. The Judge of the District Court of Marion County, Texas, shall have the power to try all cases and determine all ancillary matters as if the cases had been originally filed in that court.

"(b) All writs and processes issued prior to the effective date of this Act, by the County Court of Marion County, Texas, in cases transferred to the District Court of Marion County, Texas, shall be returnable to the district court as if issued from that court.

"(c) All bonds returnable to the County Court of Marion County, Texas, in cases transferred to the District Court of Marion County, Texas, shall be returnable to the court to which the case is transferred."

PANOLA COUNTY

Art. 1970-323. Repealed by Acts 1947, 50th Leg., p. 42, ch. 31, § 7Art. 1970-323a. Panola County Court; Panola District Court; Jurisdiction; Transfer of Dockets

Sec. 1. The County Court of Panola County, Texas, from and after the effective date of this Act, shall have and exercise jurisdiction in all probate, civil and criminal matters, as provided in the Constitution of the State of Texas and the general law governing county Courts throughout the State.

Sec. 2. That the District Court of Panola County, Texas, shall have and exercise the general jurisdiction, both original and appellate, in all civil and criminal matters and causes, as provided in the Constitution of the State of Texas and in the general law governing the jurisdiction of district Courts throughout the State.

Sec. 3. All causes pending in the County Court of Panola County and in the District Court of Panola County, the jurisdiction of which is changed by this Act, shall be and the same are hereby transferred in conformity with the provisions of this Act to the Court having jurisdiction of such cause under the provisions hereof, and all writs and process relating to such causes which have been issued by or out of either of said Courts shall be and the same are hereby made returnable to the next term of the Court having jurisdiction of said cause under the provisions of this Act.

Sec. 4. This Act shall not be construed to in anywise or in any manner affect judgments heretofore rendered by the District Court of Panola County pertaining to matters and causes which by this Act are made returnable to the County Court of Panola County, and the Clerk of the District Court of said County shall issue all executions and orders of sale and proceedings thereunder, which shall be as valid and binding to all intents and purposes as though the change had not been made as directed in this Act.

Sec. 5. This Act shall not be construed to in anywise or in any manner affect judgments heretofore rendered by the County Court of Panola County pertaining to matters and causes which by this Act are made returnable to the District Court of Panola County, and the Clerk of the County Court of said County shall issue all executions and orders of sale and proceedings thereunder which shall be as valid and binding to all intents and purposes as though the change had not been made as directed by this Act.

Sec. 6. The clerks of the respective Courts shall transfer the dockets of all cases the jurisdiction of which is changed by the provisions of this Act to the Court having such jurisdiction after the effective date of this Act, and shall transfer all Court papers and do such other things as may be necessary to fully transfer all said causes and matters to the Court having jurisdiction of same under the provisions of this Act.

[Acts 1947, 50th Leg., p. 42, ch. 31.]

Art. 1970-323b. County Court at Law of Panola County

Creation

Sec. 1. The County Court at Law of Panola County is created.

Jurisdiction

Sec. 2. (a) The County Court at Law of Panola County has concurrent jurisdiction with the district court in:

(1) cases in which the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $50,000, excluding interest;

(2) appeals of final rulings and decisions of the Industrial Accident Board, regardless of the amount in controversy;

(3) eminent domain cases and proceedings, regardless of the amount in controversy; and

(4) cases and proceedings involving adoptions, birth records, or removal of disability of minority or coverture; change of names of persons; child welfare, custody, support and reciprocal support, dependency, neglect, or delinquency; paternity; termination of parental rights; divorce and marriage annulment, including the adjustment of property rights, custody and support of minor children involved therein, temporary support pending final hearing, and every other matter incident to divorce or annulment proceedings; independent actions involving child support and custody of minors and wife or child desertion; and independent actions involving controversies between parent and child, between parents, and between spouses.

(b) The court created by this Act has concurrent jurisdiction with the county court in:

(1) all civil and criminal cases and proceedings, original and appellate, prescribed by law for county courts; and

(2) probate matters and proceedings.

(c) The court created by this Act has concurrent jurisdiction with the county and district courts in juvenile matters and proceedings as provided by Chapter 178, Acts of the 66th Legislature, Regular Session, 1979 (Article 2338-1.1, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes).

(d) The court created by this Act has concurrent jurisdiction with the justice court in all criminal matters for which jurisdiction is conferred on justice courts by the general laws of this state. This section does not deny the right of appeal to the court created by this Act from the justice court where the right of appeal to the county court exists by law.

(e) The court created by this Act does not have jurisdiction over causes and proceedings concerning roads, bridges, and public highways and the general administration of county business that is within the jurisdiction of the commissioners court. The judge of the county court retains and shall exercise all ex officio duties of the county judge.

(f) This section does not diminish the jurisdiction of the district courts and justice courts but only gives concurrent jurisdiction to the court created by this Act over the matters specified in Subsections (a)-(d). The district courts and justice courts retain and shall continue to exercise the jurisdiction conferred by law on those courts.

(g) Article 1951, Revised Statutes, does not apply to the court created by this Act. Neither Article 1951 nor Section 4, Chapter 832, Acts of the 62nd Legislature, Regular Session, 1971 (Article 3266a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), affects or diminishes the jurisdiction of the court created by this Act.

Powers and Duties

Sec. 3. (a) The County Court at Law of Panola County or its judge may issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all writs necessary for the enforcement of the jurisdiction of the court. It may issue writs of habeas corpus in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the court or of any other court of inferior jurisdiction in the county.

(b) The court created by this Act or its judge may punish for contempt as prescribed by general law.

(c) The judge of the court created by this Act has all other powers, duties, immunities, and privileges provided by law for county court judges, except that the judge does not have any authority over the administrative business of the county that is performed by the county judge of the county.

Terms of Court

Sec. 4. The terms of the County Court at Law of Panola County begin on the first Mondays in January and July of each year. Each term of court continues until the next succeeding term begins.

Judge

Sec. 5. (a) The judge of the County Court at Law of Panola County must be a citizen of the United States, have resided in the county for at least one year prior to election or appointment, be licensed to practice law in this state, and have actively practiced law for at least four years prior to election or appointment.

(b) The commissioners court shall fix the annual salary of the judge of the court created by this Act at a sum that is at least equal to the amount that is $1,000 less than the total annual salary, including supplements, received by the judges of the district courts in the county. The annual salary shall be paid in equal monthly installments.

(c) The commissioners court shall appoint a person to fill a vacancy in the office of the judge of the court created by this Act. The appointee holds office until the next succeeding general election and until his successor is elected and has qualified.

(d) Beginning at the first general election following creation of the court at which county court at law judges are regularly elected, and every fourth year thereafter, the qualified voters of the county shall elect the judge of the court created by this Act for a regular term of four years as provided by Article V, Section 30, and Article XVI, Section 65, of the Texas Constitution.

(e) The judge shall take the oath of office prescribed by the constitution of this state. While in office, the judge may not receive from a law firm any money other than money earned before taking office.

(f) The judge may not engage in the private practice of law.

Court Officials, Personnel, and Facilities

Sec. 6. (a) The judge may appoint a court coordinator or administrative assistant for the court created by this Act. A court coordinator or administrative assistant performs the duties prescribed by the judge and cooperates with the administrative judges and state agencies for the uniform and efficient operation of the courts and the administration of justice. The court coordinator or administrative assistant is entitled to be paid from county funds the compensation, fees, and allowances that are set by the commissioners court or as otherwise provided by law. This section is cumulative of the provisions of the law that relate to a court administrator's system for county courts with criminal jurisdiction in certain counties.

(b) The criminal district attorney or county attorney and the sheriff of the county shall attend the court created by this Act as required by the judge of the court. The county clerk serves as clerk of the court except that, in matters within the concurrent jurisdiction of the court created by this Act and the district court, the district clerk serves as clerk of the court.

(c) The commissioners court shall provide the physical facilities and the deputy clerks, bailiffs, and other personnel necessary to operate the court created by this Act.

Special Judge

Sec. 7. (a) If the regular judge of the County Court at Law of Panola County is absent or is from any cause disabled or disqualified from presiding, the presiding judge of the administrative judicial district in which the county is located may appoint a person licensed to practice law in this state to sit as a special judge.

(b) To be eligible for appointment as a special judge, the person must meet the qualifications required of the regular judge, except that the only residency requirement for a person who is a retired judge of a district court or county court at law is that the retired judge must reside in the administrative judicial district.

(c) A special judge shall take the oath of office that is required by law for the regular judge and has all the power and jurisdiction of the court and of the regular judge for whom he is sitting. A special judge may sign orders, judgments, decrees, or other process of any kind as "Judge Presiding" when acting for the regular judge.

(d) A special judge is entitled to receive for the services actually performed the same amount of compensation that the regular judge is entitled to receive for the services. The compensation shall be paid out of county funds on certification by the presiding judge of the administrative judicial district that the special judge has rendered the services and is entitled to receive the compensation. None of the amount paid to a special judge for sitting for the regular judge may be deducted or paid out of the salary of the regular judge. Section 42.104, Title 110B, Revised Statutes, does not apply to a retired judge of a district court who is appointed a special judge under this section.

Transfer of Cases; Exchange of Benches

Sec. 8. (a) The judge of the county court and the judge of the county court at law in Panola County may transfer cases to and from the dockets of their respective courts, except that a case may not be transferred from one court to another without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred and may not be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred. The county judge and the judge of the county court at law in Panola County may exchange benches and courtrooms with each other so that if one is absent, disabled, or disqualified, the other may hold court for him without the necessity of transferring the case. Either judge may hear all or any part of a case pending in the county court or a county court at law and may rule and enter orders on and continue, determine, or render judgment on all or any part of the case without the necessity of transferring it to his own docket. A judge may not sit or act in a case unless it is within the jurisdiction of his court. Each judgment and order shall be entered in the minutes of the court in which the case is pending.

(b) On motion of a party, on agreement of the parties, or on their own motion, the judges of the county court at law in Panola County and the district courts in the county may transfer civil cases and proceedings to and from the dockets of their respective courts, except that a case or proceeding may not be transferred from one court to another without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred and may not be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred. If a judge is disqualified in a case or proceeding, he shall transfer the case or proceeding from his court to one of the other courts.

(c) When a case is transferred from one court to another as provided by this section, all processes, writs, bonds, recognizances, or other obligations issued from the transferring court are returnable to the court to which the case is transferred as if originally issued by that court. The obligees in all bonds and recognizances taken in and for a court from which a case is transferred, and all witnesses summoned to appear in a court from which a case is transferred, are required to appear before the court to which the case is transferred as if originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

Juries; Practice and Procedure

Sec. 9. The drawing of jury panels, selection of jurors, and practice in the County Court at Law of Panola County shall conform to that prescribed by general law for county courts, except that practice, procedure, rules of evidence, issuance of process and writs, juries, and all other matters pertaining to the conduct of trials and hearings in the court created by this Act involving those matters of concurrent jurisdiction with district courts shall be governed by the laws and rules pertaining to district courts.

Seal

Sec. 10. The seal of the court created by this Act is the same as that provided by law for county courts, except that the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law of Panola County."

Initial Appointment of Judge

Sec. 11. The commissioners court shall appoint a person to fill the vacancy existing on the creation of the office of judge as provided by Section 5(c) of this Act.

Effective Date

Sec. 12. This Act takes effect January 1, 1984. [Acts 1983, 68th Leg., p. 5665, ch. 1074, eff. Jan. 1, 1984.]

TRAVIS COUNTY

Art. 1970-324. County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County

Sec. 1. That there is hereby created a Court to be held in Austin, Travis County, Texas, to be called the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County, Texas, in lieu of the present County Court at Law of Travis County, Texas.

Sec. 2. The County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County, Texas, shall have and exercise jurisdiction in all matters and causes, civil and criminal, original and appellate, over which by the General Laws of the State the County Court of said County would have jurisdiction. The jurisdiction of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County, Texas, and of the Judge thereof shall extend to all matters of which jurisdiction has heretofore vested in the County Court or in the County Judge or in the County Court at Law of Travis County, Texas; and such County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County, Texas, shall exercise and have concurrent jurisdiction with the County Court or County Judge or any other numbered County Court at Law of Travis County, now or hereafter created, as to all probate matters. The County Court at Law No. 1 has jurisdiction concurrent with the district court in civil cases when the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $20,000, exclusive of interest.

Sec. 3. The County Court of Travis County shall have and retain, as heretofore, jurisdiction now conferred by law over probate matters; but such jurisdiction shall hereafter be concurrent as herein provided; but the County Court of said County as now existing shall have no jurisdiction over other matters civil or criminal. The County Judge of Travis County shall be the Judge of the County Court of said County, and all ex officio duties of the County Judge shall be exercised by said Judge of the County Court of Travis County, except insofar as the same shall by this Act or otherwise be committed exclusively to the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County, Texas, now or hereafter created.

Sec. 4. The County Judge of Travis County, in his discretion, may from time to time, by order or orders entered upon the minutes of the County Court of Travis County transfer to the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County or to any other numbered County Court at Law of Travis County, now or hereafter created, any such probate matter or proceeding then pending in the County Court of Travis County and all processes extant at the time of such transfer shall be returned to and filed in the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County or any other numbered County Court at Law of Travis County, having jurisdiction thereof, now or hereafter created, and shall be as valid and binding as though originally issued out of said County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County or any other numbered County Court at Law of Travis County, now or hereafter created. The County Court of Travis County shall have and retain concurrently with the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County and any other numbered County Court at Law of Travis County, now or hereafter created, the general jurisdiction of a Probate Court and the jurisdiction now conferred or which may be conferred by law over probate matters.

Sec. 5. The terms of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County, Texas, shall be held in the Courthouse of Travis County as follows, to wit: Beginning on the first Mondays in January, March, May, July, September and November in each year, and each term of said Court shall continue in session until the convening of the next succeeding term. The practice in said Court, and appeals and writs of error therefrom shall be as prescribed by the laws of this state relating to County Courts except as herein expressly provided.

Sec. 6. The present Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County, Texas, shall serve as the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County, Texas, until the General Election in 1966 and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified. The person elected Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County, Texas, at the General Election in 1966 shall serve for a term of four (4) years, and there shall be elected every four (4) years thereafter a Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County, Texas. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County, Texas, must be a qualified voter in Travis County, must be a regularly licensed attorney at law in this state, and must be a resident of Travis County, Texas, who shall have been actively engaged in the practice of law for a period of not less than four (4) years next preceding the General Election.

Sec. 7. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to County Judges.

Sec. 8. A Special Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County, may be appointed or elected as provided by law relating to County Courts and to the Judges thereof, who shall receive the same compensation per day for each day he so actually serves as the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County, Texas, to be paid out of the General Funds of the County by the Commissioners Court.

Sec. 9. Any vacancy in the office of the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County shall be filled by the Commissioners Court, and when so filled, the Judge shall hold office until the next General Election and until his successor is elected and qualified. The Commissioners Court of Travis County, Texas, shall provide suitable quarters for the holding of said County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County, Texas.

Sec. 10. In the case of the disqualification of the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County to try any case pending in his Court, the parties or their attorneys may agree on the selection of a Special Judge to try such case or cases where the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County is disqualified.

Sec. 11. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as any County Judge or Judge of any County Court at Law may be removed under the laws of this State.

Sec. 12. When either party to a civil case pending in the County Court or County Court at Law No. 1, or any other numbered County Court at Law of Travis County, now or hereafter created, applies therefor, the Judge thereof shall appoint a competent stenographer, to report the oral testimony given in such case. Such stenographer shall take the oath required of official court reporters, and shall receive not less than Ten Dollars ($10) per day, to be taxed and collected as costs. In such cases, the provisions of this title with respect to the preparation of the statement of facts, the time to be allowed therefor, and for the presentation to the opposite party, and the approving and filing thereof by the Court, shall apply to all statements of facts in civil cases tried in said Court, and all provisions of law governing statement of facts and bills of exception to be filed in District Court and the use of same on appeal, shall apply to civil cases tried in said Courts.

Sec. 13. The County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County, and the Judge thereof, shall have power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of jurisdiction of said Court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in such cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said Court, or of any other Court in said County of concurrent or inferior jurisdiction to said County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County.

Sec. 14. All cases appealed from the justice courts and other inferior courts in Travis County, Texas, shall be made direct to the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County, or to any other numbered County Court at Law of Travis County, now or hereafter created.

Sec. 15. The County Clerk of Travis County, Texas shall be the Clerk of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County. The seal of said Court shall be the same as that provided by law for County Courts, except the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County." The Sheriff of Travis County shall in person or by deputy attend the said Court when required by the Judge thereof. The County Attorney of Travis County shall represent the State in all prosecutions pending in said County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County, and he shall be entitled to the same fee as now prescribed by law for such prosecution in the County Courts.

Sec. 16. The jurisdiction and authority now vested by law in the County Court of Travis County for the drawing, selection, and service of jurors shall be exercised by said County Court at Law No. 1 or by any other numbered County Court at Law of Travis County, now or hereafter created, but juries summoned for either or any of said Courts may by order of the Judge of the Court in which they are summoned be transferred to any of the other Courts for service therein and may be used therein as if summoned for the Court to which they may be thus transferred.

Text of § 17 as amended by Acts 1971, 62nd Leg., p. 1444, ch. 401, § 1

Sec. 17. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County, Texas, may be paid by the Commissioners Court of Travis County a yearly salary not less than the amount paid District Judges from the general revenue fund of the State of Texas and not more than the total salary, including supplements, paid any District Judge sitting in Travis County, Texas. The salary shall be paid out of the general fund of the County in equal monthly installments by warrants drawn upon the County Treasurer upon Orders of the Commissioners Court of Travis County, Texas. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 shall assess the same fees and costs as are now prescribed by law for County Judges, to be deposited in the County treasury as prescribed by law.

Text of § 17 as amended by Acts 1971, 62nd Leg., 1st C.S., p. 11, ch. 1, § 1

Sec. 17. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County, Texas, may be paid by the Commissioners Court a yearly salary not less than $19,000 and not more than the amount paid District Judges from the general revenue fund of the State of Texas. The salary shall be paid out of the general fund of the County on equal monthly installments by warrants drawn upon the County Treasurer upon Orders of the Commissioners Court of Travis County, Texas. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 shall assess the same fees and costs as are now prescribed by law for County Judges, to be deposited in the County Treasury as prescribed by law.

Art. 1970-324a. County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County

Sec. 1. That there is hereby created a Court to be held in Austin, Travis County, Texas, to be called the County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County, Texas, in addition to the present County Court at Law of Travis County, Texas. The effective date of this Act shall be January 1, 1964.

Sec. 2. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County, Texas, shall have and exercise jurisdiction in all matters and causes, civil and criminal, original and appellate, over which by the General Laws of the State, the County Court of said County would have jurisdiction. The jurisdiction of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County, Texas, and of the Judge thereof, shall extend to all matters of which jurisdiction has heretofore vested in the County Court or in the County Judge or in the County Court at Law of Travis County, Texas; and such County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County, Texas, shall exercise and have concurrent jurisdiction with the County Court or County Judge or any other numbered County Court at Law of Travis County, now or hereafter created, as to all probate matters. The County Court at Law No. 2 has jurisdiction concurrent with the district court in civil cases when the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $20,000, exclusive of interest.

Text of § 3 as amended by Acts 1971, 62nd Leg., p. 1445, ch. 401, § 2, eff. Aug. 30, 1971

Sec. 3. The County Court of Travis County shall have and retain, as heretofore, jurisdiction now conferred by law over probate matters; and such jurisdiction shall hereafter be concurrent as herein provided; but the County Court of said County as now existing shall have no jurisdiction over other matters civil or criminal. The County Judge of Travis

County shall be the Judge of the County Court of said County, and all ex officio duties of the County Judge shall be exercised by said Judge of the County Court of Travis County, except insofar as the same shall by this Act or otherwise be committed exclusively to the County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County, Texas, now or hereafter created.

Text of § 3 as amended by Acts 1971, 62nd Leg., 1st C.S., p. 12, ch. 1, § 2, eff. June 7, 1971

Sec. 3. The County Court of Travis County shall have and retain, as heretofore, jurisdiction now conferred by law over probate matters; but such jurisdiction shall hereafter be concurrent as herein provided; but the County Court of said County as now existing shall have no jurisdiction over other matters civil or criminal. The County Judge of Travis County shall be the Judge of the County Court of said County, and all ex officio duties of the County Judge shall be exercised by said Judge of the County Court of Travis County, except insofar as the same shall by this Act or otherwise be committed exclusively to the County Court at Law No. 1 of Travis County, Texas, now or hereafter created.

Sec. 4. The County Judge of Travis County, in his discretion, may from time to time, by order or orders entered upon the minutes of the County Court of Travis County transfer to the County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County or any other County Court at Law of Travis County, now or hereafter created, any such probate matter or proceeding then pending in the County Court of Travis County and all processes extant at the time of such transfer shall be returned to and filed in the County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County or any other County Court at Law of Travis County, now or hereafter created, until otherwise provided by law, and shall be as valid and binding as though originally issued out of said County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County or any other such County Court at Law of Travis County. The County Court of Travis County shall have and retain concurrently with the County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County and any other County Court at Law of Travis County, now or hereafter created, the general jurisdiction of a Probate Court and of jurisdiction now conferred or which may be conferred by law over probate matters.

Sec. 5. The terms of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County shall be held in the courthouse of Travis County as follows, to-wit: Beginning on the first Mondays in January, March, May, July, September, and November in each year, and each term of said Court shall continue in session until the convening of the next succeeding term. The practice in said Court, and appeals and writs of error therefrom, shall be as prescribed by the laws relating to County Courts, except as herein expressly provided.

Sec. 6. The present Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County, Texas, shall serve as the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County, Texas, until the General Election in 1966 and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified. The person elected Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County, Texas, at the General Election in 1966 shall serve for a term of four (4) years, and there shall be elected every four (4) years thereafter a Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County, Texas. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County, Texas, must be a qualified voter in Travis County, Texas, must be a regularly licensed attorney at law in this state, and must be a resident of Travis County, Texas, who shall have been actively engaged in the practice of law for a period of not less than four (4) years next preceding the General Election.

Sec. 7. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to County Judges.

Sec. 8. A Special Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County, may be appointed or elected as provided by law relating to County Courts and to the Judges thereof, who shall receive such compensation as may be provided by law for Special Judges of County Courts or County Courts at Law, whichever is the greater, to be paid out of the general funds of the County by the Commissioners Court.

Sec. 9. Any vacancy in the office of the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County shall be filled by the Commissioners Court, and when so filled, the Judge shall hold office until the next general election and until his successor is elected and qualified. The Commissioners Court of Travis County, Texas, shall provide a suitable quarters for the holding of said County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County, Texas.

Sec. 10. In the case of the disqualification of the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County to try any case pending in his Court, the parties or their attorneys may agree on the selection of a Special Judge to try such case or cases where the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County is disqualified. Otherwise, a Special Judge may be appointed or elected as is now or may hereafter be provided by law for County Judges or for Judges of County Courts at Law.

Sec. 11. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as any County Judge or Judge of a County Court at Law may be removed under the laws of this state.

Sec. 12. When either party to a civil case pending in the County Court or County Court at Law No. 2, or any other County Court at Law of Travis County, now or hereafter created, applies therefor, the Judge thereof shall appoint a competent stenographer, to report the oral testimony given in such case. Such stenographer shall take the oath required of official Court reporters, and shall receive not less than Ten Dollars ($10.00) per day, to be taxed and collected as costs. In such cases, the provisions of this title with respect to the preparation of the statement of facts, the time to be allowed therefor, and for the presentation to the opposite party, and the approving and filing thereof by the Court, shall apply to all statements of facts in civil cases tried in said Courts, and all provisions of law governing statement of facts and bills of exception to be filed in District Courts and the use of same on appeal, shall apply to civil cases tried in said Courts.

Sec. 13. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County, and the Judge thereof, shall have power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of jurisdiction of said Court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in such cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said Court, or of any other Court in said County of concurrent or inferior jurisdiction to said County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County.

Sec. 14. All cases appealed from the Justice Courts and other inferior Courts in Travis County, Texas, shall be made direct to the County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County, or to any other County Court at Law of Travis County, now or hereafter created until otherwise provided by law.

Sec. 15. The County Clerk of Travis County, Texas, shall be the Clerk of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County. The seal of said Court shall be the same as that provided by law for County Courts, except the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County." The Sheriff of Travis County shall in person or by deputy attend the said Court when required by the Judge thereof. The County Attorney of Travis County shall represent the state in all prosecutions pending in said County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County, and he shall be entitled to the same fee as now prescribed by law for such prosecution in the County Courts.

Sec. 16. The jurisdiction and authority now vested by law in the County Court of Travis County for the drawing, selection, and service of jurors shall be exercised by said County Court at Law No. 2 or by any other County Court at Law of Travis County, but juries summoned for either or any of said Courts may by order of the Judge of the Court in which they are summoned be transferred to any of the other Courts for service therein and may be used therein as if summoned for the Court to which they may be thus transferred.

Sec. 17. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County, Texas, may be paid by the Commissioners Court of Travis County a yearly salary not less than the amount paid District Judges from the general revenue fund of the State of Texas and not more than the total salary, including supplements, paid any District Judge sitting in Travis County, Texas. The salary shall be paid out of the general fund of the County in equal monthly installments by warrants drawn upon the County Treasurer upon Orders of the Commissioners Court of Travis County, Texas. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 shall assess the same fees and costs as are now prescribed by law for County Judges, to be deposited in the County Treasury as prescribed by law.

Art. 1970-324a.1. County Court at Law No. 3 of Travis County

Sec. 1. That there is hereby created a court to be held in Austin, Travis County, Texas, to be called the County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County, Texas, in addition to the present county courts at law of Travis County, Texas. The effective date of this Act shall be January 1, 1974.

Sec. 2. The County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County, Texas, shall have and exercise jurisdiction in all matters and causes, civil and criminal, original and appellate, over which by the general laws of the state the county court of said county would have jurisdiction. The jurisdiction of the County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County, Texas, and of the judge thereof, shall extend to all matters of which jurisdiction has heretofore vested in the county court or in the county judge or in the county courts at law of Travis County, Texas; and such County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County, Texas, shall exercise and have concurrent jurisdiction with the county court or county judge or any other numbered county court at law of Travis County, now or hereafter created, as to all probate matters. The County Court at Law No. 3 has jurisdiction concurrent with the district court in civil cases when the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $20,000, exclusive of interest.

Sec. 3. The County Court of Travis County shall have and retain, as heretofore, jurisdiction now conferred by law over probate matters; and such jurisdiction shall hereafter be concurrent as herein provided; but the county court of said county as now existing shall have no jurisdiction over other matters civil or criminal. The County Judge of Travis County shall be the judge of the county court of said county, and all ex officio duties of the county judge shall be exercised by said judge of the County Court of Travis County, except insofar as the same shall by this Act or otherwise be committed exclusively to the county courts at law of Travis County, Texas, now or hereafter created.

Sec. 4. The County Judge of Travis County, in his discretion, may from time to time, by order or orders entered upon the minutes of the County Court of Travis County transfer to the County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County or any other county court at law of Travis County, now or hereafter created, any such probate matter or proceeding then pending in the County Court of Travis County and all processes extant at the time of such transfer shall be returned to and filed in the County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County or any other county court at law of Travis County, now or hereafter created, until otherwise provided by law, and shall be as valid and binding as though originally issued out of said County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County or any other such county court at law of Travis County. The County Court of Travis County shall have and retain concurrently with the County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County and any other county court at law of Travis County, now or hereafter created, the general jurisdiction of a probate court and of jurisdiction now conferred or which may be conferred by law over probate matters.

Sec. 5. The terms of the County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County shall be held in the courthouse of Travis County as follows, to wit: beginning on the first Mondays in January, March, May, July, September, and November in each year, and each term of said court shall continue in session until the convening of the next succeeding term. The practice in said court, and appeals and writs of error therefrom, shall be as prescribed by the laws relating to county courts, except as herein expressly provided.

Sec. 6. The Commissioners Court of Travis County, Texas, shall appoint a Judge of the County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County, Texas, who shall serve until the next general election, and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified. The person elected Judge of the County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County, Texas, shall serve for a term of four years, and there shall be elected every four years thereafter a Judge of the County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County, Texas. Such judge must be a qualified voter in said county, must be a regularly licensed attorney at law in this state, and must be a resident of Travis County, Texas, who shall have been actively engaged in the practice of law for a period of not less than four years next preceding such general election.

Sec. 7. The Judge of the County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to county judges.

Sec. 8. A Special Judge of the County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County may be appointed or elected as provided by law relating to county courts and to the judges thereof, who shall receive such compensation as may be provided by law for special judges of county courts or county courts at law, whichever is the greater, to be paid out of the general funds of the county by the commissioners court.

Sec. 9. Any vacancy in the office of the Judge of the County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County shall be filled by the commissioners court, and when so filled, the judge shall hold office until the next general election and until his successor is elected and qualified. The Commissioners Court of Travis County, Texas, shall provide a suitable quarters for the holding of said County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County, Texas.

Sec. 10. In the case of the disqualification of the Judge of the County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County to try any case pending in his court, the parties or their attorneys may agree on the selection of a special judge to try such case or cases where the Judge of the County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County is disqualified. Otherwise, a special judge may be appointed or elected as is now or may hereafter be provided by law for county judges or for judges of county courts at law.

Sec. 11. The Judge of the County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as any county judge or judge of a county court at law may be removed under the laws of the state.

Sec. 12. When either party to a civil case pending in the County Court or County Court at Law Number 3, or any other county court at law of Travis County, now or hereafter created, applies therefor, the judge thereof shall appoint a competent stenographer, to report the oral testimony given in such case. Such stenographer shall take the oath required of official court reporters, and shall receive not less than $10 per day, to be taxed and collected as costs. In such cases, the provisions of this title with respect to the preparation of the statement of facts, the time to be allowed therefor, and for the presentation to the opposite party, and the approving and filing thereof by the court, shall apply to all statements of facts in civil cases tried in said courts, and all provisions of law governing statement of facts and bills of exception to be filed in district courts and the use of same on appeal shall apply to civil cases tried in said courts.

Sec. 13. The County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County, and the judge thereof, shall have power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of jurisdiction of said court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in such cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said court, or of any other court in said county of concurrent or inferior jurisdiction to said County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County.

Sec. 14. All cases appealed from the justice courts and other inferior courts in Travis County, Texas, shall be made direct to the County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County, or to any other county court at law of Travis County, now or hereafter created, until otherwise provided by law.

Sec. 15. The County Clerk of Travis County, Texas, shall be the Clerk of the County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County. The seal of said court shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts, except the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County." The Sheriff of Travis County shall in person or by deputy attend the said court when required by the judge thereof. The County Attorney of Travis County shall represent the state in all prosecutions pending in said County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County, and he shall be entitled to the same fee as now prescribed by law for such prosecution in the county courts.

Sec. 16. The jurisdiction and authority now vested by law in the County Court of Travis County for the drawing, selection, and service of jurors shall be exercised by said County Court at Law Number 3 or by any other county court at law of Travis County, but juries summoned for either or any of said courts may by order of the judge of the court in which they are summoned be transferred to any of the other courts for service therein and may be used therein as if summoned for the court to which they may be thus transferred.

Sec. 17. The Judge of the County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County, Texas, may be paid by the commissioners court a yearly salary not less than $19,000 and not more than the amount paid district judges from the general revenue fund of the State of Texas. The salary shall be paid out of the general fund of the county in equal monthly installments by warrants drawn upon the county treasurer upon orders of the Commissioners Court of Travis County, Texas. The Judge of the County Court at Law Number 3 shall assess the same fees and costs as are now prescribed by law for county judges, to be deposited in the county treasury as prescribed by law.

Sec. 18. The Judge of the County Court at Law Number 3 of Travis County, Texas, shall not engage in the private practice of law while holding the office of judge of the said court.

Art. 1970-324a.2. County Court at Law No. 4 of Travis County

Creation

Sec. 1. The County Court at Law Number 4 of Travis County is created. The court shall sit in Austin, Texas.

Jurisdiction of County Court at Law

Sec. 2. The County Court at Law Number 4 of Travis County shall have and exercise jurisdiction in all matters and causes, civil and criminal, original and appellate, over which by the general laws of the state the county court of the county would have jurisdiction, and its jurisdiction is concurrent with the other county courts at law of Travis County. The County Court at Law Number 4 of Travis County shall have and exercise jurisdiction concurrent with the County Court of Travis County and the other county courts at law of Travis County over all probate matters and proceedings. The County Court at Law Number 4 has jurisdiction concurrent with the district court in civil cases when the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $20,000 exclusive of interest.

Jurisdiction of County Court

Sec. 3. The County Court of Travis County shall have and retain jurisdiction conferred by law over probate matters, and such jurisdiction shall be concurrent with the county courts at law. The County Court of Travis County shall have no jurisdiction over other matters, civil or criminal. The county judge of Travis County shall be the judge of the county court of the county, and all ex officio duties of the county judge shall be exercised by the judge of the County Court of Travis County, unless by this Act, or otherwise, committed exclusively to the county courts at law of Travis County.

Filing and Transfer of Cases; Exchange of Benches

Sec. 4. On the first day of the initial term of the County Court at Law Number 4, there shall be transferred to the docket of that court, under the direction of the county judge and by order entered upon the minutes of the County Court of Travis County, all mental health and probate actions, matters, and proceedings then pending in the County Court of Travis County, and all writs and processes theretofore issued by or out of either the County Court of Travis County or any of the county courts at law of Travis County in such actions, matters, and proceedings shall be returnable to the County Court at Law Number 4 of Travis County as though originally issued therefrom. All new mental health and probate actions, matters, and proceedings filed on or after the first day of the initial term of the County Court at Law Number 4 with the county clerk of Travis County, irrespective of the court or judge to which the matter or proceeding is addressed, shall be filed by the clerk in the County Court at Law Number 4. The county judge of Travis County may sit at any time for the judge of the County Court at Law Number 4 with regard to mental health and probate actions, matters, and proceedings. No mental health or probate proceeding had in either of the courts, or any order entered therein, shall be invalid because of a failure of the clerk to file new matters and proceedings as provided by this section. The judge of either of those courts, in his discretion, may, on or after the first day of the initial term of the County Court at Law Number 4, transfer to any other county court at law of Travis County, any mental health or probate matter or proceeding then or thereafter pending in those courts, and all processes extant at the time of the transfer shall be returned to and filed in the court to which the transfer is made and shall be as valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made. No application, pleading, motion, order, judgment, oath, bond, citation, return of citation, or any other mental health or probate matter or proceeding shall be invalid because of any reference therein to either of the courts by the name of the other, and any reference therein to either of the courts by the name of the other shall be legally sufficient for every purpose.

Terms; Practice and Procedure

Sec. 5. The terms of the County Court at Law Number 4 shall begin on the first Mondays in January, March, May, July, September, and November in each year, and each term of the court shall continue until the convening of the next succeeding term. The practice in the court, and appeals and writs of error from the court, shall be as prescribed by the laws relating to county courts, except as expressly provided by this Act.

Judge

Sec. 6. The Commissioners Court of Travis County shall appoint a judge of the County Court at Law Number 4, who shall serve until the next general election, and until his or her successor is elected and has qualified. Beginning at the general election in 1982 and every four years thereafter, a judge of the County Court at Law Number 4 shall be elected by the qualified voters of the county for a regular term of four years. The judge must be a qualified voter in the county, must be a regularly licensed attorney at law in this state, and must be a resident of Travis County, who shall have been actively engaged in the practice of law for a period of not less than two years next preceding the judge's election or appointment.

Bond and Oath

Sec. 7. The judge of the County Court at Law Number 4 shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to county judges.

Vacancy; Quarters

Sec. 8. Any vacancy in the office of the judge of the County Court at Law Number 4 shall be filled by the commissioners court, and when so filled, the judge shall hold office until the next general election and until his successor is elected and has qualified. The commissioners court shall provide suitable quarters for the holding of the County Court at Law Number 4.

Disqualification

Sec. 9. In the case of the disqualification of the judge of the County Court at Law Number 4 to try any case pending in the court, the parties or their attorneys may agree on the selection of a special judge to try the case, or the judges of the county courts at law may exchange benches or transfer a case to another county court at law, as provided by law. A special judge may be appointed or elected as provided by law for county judges or for judges of county courts at law, who shall receive such compensation as may be provided by law for special judges of county courts or county courts at law, whichever is the greater, to be paid out of the general funds of the county by the commissioners court.

Removal

Sec. 10. The judge of the County Court at Law Number 4 may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as any county judge or judge of a county court at law may be removed under the laws of the state.

Court Reporter

Sec. 11. The judge of the County Court at Law Number 4 shall appoint an official court reporter who shall have the same qualifications and whose duties shall in every respect be as provided by law for official court reporters. The official court reporter is entitled to the compensation fixed by the commissioners court.

Writ Power

Sec. 12. The County Court at Law Number 4 and the judge thereof, shall have power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of jurisdiction of the court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the court or of any other court in the county with concurrent or inferior jurisdiction to the County Court at Law Number 4.

Appealed Cases

Sec. 13. All cases appealed from the justice courts and other inferior courts in Travis County shall be made direct to the County Court at Law Number 4 or to any other county court at law of Travis County.

Personnel; Seal

Sec. 14. The county clerk of Travis County shall be the clerk of the County Court at Law Number 4. The seal of the court shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts, except the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law Number 4 of Travis County." The sheriff of Travis County shall in person or by deputy attend the court when required by the judge of the court. The county attorney of Travis County shall represent the state in all prosecutions pending in the County Court at Law Number 4, and shall be entitled to the same fee as now prescribed by law for such prosecution in the county courts.

Jurors

Sec. 15. The jurisdiction and authority now vested by law in the County Court of Travis County for the drawing, selection, and service of jurors shall be exercised by the County Court at Law Number 4 or by any other county court at law of Travis County, but juries summoned for either or any of the courts may, by order of the judge of the court in which they are summoned, be transferred to any of the other courts for service therein and may be used in any of those courts as if summoned for the court to which they are transferred.

Compensation

Sec. 16. The judge of the County Court at Law Number 4 may be paid by the commissioners court a yearly salary in an amount determined by the commissioners court, but not more than 90 percent of the amount paid district judges from the General Revenue Fund of the state. The salary shall be paid out of the general fund of the county in equal monthly installments by warrants drawn upon the county treasurer upon orders of the commissioners court. The judge of the County Court at Law Number 4 shall assess the same fees and costs as are now prescribed by law for county judges, to be deposited in the county treasury as prescribed by law.

Private Practice Prohibited

Sec. 17. The judge of the County Court at Law Number 4 shall not engage in the private practice of law while holding the office of judge of the court.

[Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 826, ch. 373, eff. Jan. 1, 1980. Amended by Acts 1981, 67th Leg., p. 502, ch. 208, § 4, eff. May 28, 1981.]

Art. 1970-324b. Exchange of Benches of County Courts at Law of Travis County

The Judge of each of the County Courts at Law of Travis County may, in his discretion, either in term-time or in vacation, on motion of any party or on agreement of the parties, or on his own motion, transfer any cause, civil or criminal, on his docket, to the docket of the other County Court at Law; and the Judges of said Courts may, in their discretion, exchange benches from time to time; and whenever a Judge of one of said Courts is disqualified, he shall transfer the case from his Court to the other County Court at Law, and either Judge may, in his own courtroom, try and determine any case or proceeding pending in either County Court at Law, without having the case transferred, or may sit in the other County Court at Law and there hear and determine any case there pending; and each judgment and order shall be entered in the minutes of the Court in which the case is pending; and the Judges may try different cases in the same Court at the same time and each may occupy his own courtroom or the room of any County Court at Law. In case of absence, sickness, or disqualification of either Judge of the County Courts at Law, the other Judge of the County Court at Law may hold Court for him. Either of said Judges may hear any part of any case or proceeding pending in either of said County Courts at Law and determine the same or may hear and determine any question in any case and either Judge may complete the hearing and render judgment in said case. In cases transferred to any one of the County Courts at Law by order of the Judge of one of said Courts, all process, writs, bonds, recognizances or other obligations issued or made in said cases shall be returned to and filed in the Court to which transfer is made. All bonds executed and recognizances entered into in said cases shall bind the parties for their appearance or to fulfill the obligations of such bonds or recognizances at the terms of the Court to which the cases are transferred to as are fixed by law and by this Act. And all processes issued or returned before transfer of said cases as well as all bonds and recognizances before taken in said cases shall be valid and binding as though originally issued out of the Court to which such transfer may be made.

[Acts 1965, 59th Leg., p. 175, ch. 69, § 6, eff. April 8, 1965.]

Art. 1970-324c. Practice of Law by Judges of County Courts at Law of Travis County

The Judges of the County Court at Law No. 1 and the County Court at Law No. 2 of Travis County, Texas shall not engage in the private practice of law while holding the office of judge of said courts.

[Acts 1967, 60th Leg., p. 1196, ch. 532, § 3, eff. Jan. 1, 1968.]

Art. 1970-324d. Eminent Domain Cases in Travis County

Sec. 1. The County Courts at Law shall have concurrent original jurisdiction over eminent domain proceedings with the County Court of Travis County and the administrative and ministerial jurisdiction to file and dispose of proceedings in eminent domain concurrently and coextensively with the County Court and other County Courts at Law of Travis County now or hereafter created.

Sec. 2. Eminent domain cases filed in Travis County shall be assigned in rotation to the County Courts at Law by the County Clerk.

NAVARRO COUNTYArt. 1970-326. County Court of Navarro County; Jurisdiction

Sec. 1. The County Court of Navarro County shall have and exercise the general jurisdiction of a Probate Court, shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards; grant letters testamentary and of administration; settle the accounts of executors, administrators and guardians; transact all business pertaining to the estates of deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, including the partition, settlement, and distribution of estates of deceased persons pending in such courts; to conduct lunacy hearings; to apprentice minors, as provided by law; and to issue all writs necessary for the enforcement of its own jurisdiction; to punish contempt under such provision as now or may be provided for by General Law governing County Courts throughout the State; but neither said County Court of Navarro County, nor the Judge thereof, shall have any jurisdiction over matters of eminent domain, or other original civil jurisdiction; and the said County Court of Navarro County shall have criminal jurisdiction under such provisions as are now or may be provided for by General Law governing County Courts throughout the State; and said County Court shall have such appellate jurisdiction, save as to eminent domain, as is now or may hereafter be given it by law; provided, however, that all future statutes pertaining to probate matters enacted by the Legislature of the State of Texas, shall be operative in said Navarro County, as fully as though this statute had not been enacted.

Sec. 2. That the District Court of Navarro County and the presiding judge thereof shall have and exercise original jurisdiction in matters of eminent domain and in all civil matters and causes over which, by the laws of this State, the County Court of Navarro County would have had original jurisdiction, but for the provisions set out in Section 1 of this Act; all causes, other than probate matters, criminal matters and cases appealed from the Justice of the Peace Courts, as are provided in Section 1 of this Act shall be and the same are hereby transferred to the District Court of Navarro County, and all writs and process relating to such civil matters and causes included in the subject matter of jurisdiction prescribed in this Act, issued by or out of said County Court of Navarro County be and the same are hereby made returnable to the next term of the District Court of said County after this Act takes effect.

Sec. 3. That the County Clerk of Navarro County be and he is hereby required, within thirty days after this Act takes effect, to make a full and complete transcript of all entries upon his civil docket heretofore made in cases which by Section 2 of this Act are required to be transferred to the District Court of said County, to prepare a certified bill of costs in each case, and to transmit the same together with all the papers pertaining to such cases to the Clerk of the District Court of said county; all such cases shall be immediately docketed by the District Clerk as appearance cases for the next succeeding term of such District Court, and all process now issued and returnable to said County Court shall be returnable to said District Court.

Sec. 4. That this Act shall not be construed to in anywise or manner affect final judgments heretofore rendered by said County Court of Navarro County pertaining to matters and causes which by Section 2 of this Act are transferred to the District Court of said County; but such County Court shall retain jurisdiction to enforce said final judgments and the County Clerk of said County shall issue all writs of execution and orders of sale, and proceedings thereunder, and his act in so doing shall be valid and binding to all intents and purposes, the same as if no change had been made as set out in Section 2.

GRAYSON COUNTY

Art. 1970-332. Grayson County; County Court at Law; Jurisdiction; Terms; Judge; Prosecutor; Writs; Clerk and Court Reporter

Sec. 1. There is hereby created a Court to be held in Sherman, Grayson County, Texas, which shall be known as the County Court at Law of Grayson County.

Sec. 2. The County Court at Law of Grayson County shall have and exercise the jurisdiction in all matters and cases, civil and criminal, original and appellate, over which by the General Laws of the State, the County Court of said County would have jurisdiction except as herein provided in Section 3 of this Act, and all cases pending in the County Court of said County, other than probate matters such as are provided in Section 3 of this Act, at the time this Act shall become effective, shall be and the same are hereby transferred to the County Court at Law of Grayson County, and all writs and process, civil and criminal, heretofore issued by or out of the said County Court other than those pertaining to matters which are hereby exempt from this Act that are to remain in the County Court of Grayson County shall be and the same are hereby made returnable to the County Court at Law of Grayson County.

Sec. 3. The County Court at Law of Grayson County shall have and exercise original concurrent jurisdiction with the Justice Courts in all civil and criminal matters which by the General Laws of this State are conferred upon Justice Courts.

Sec. 4. No appeal or writ of error shall be taken to the Court of Civil Appeals from any final judgment of said County Court at Law of Grayson County in civil cases of which said Court has appellate or original concurrent jurisdiction with the Justice Court, where the judgment or amount in controversy does not exceed One Hundred Dollars ($100) exclusive of interest and costs.

Sec. 5. This Act shall not be construed to deprive the Justice Courts of the jurisdiction now conferred upon them by law, but only to give concurrent original jurisdiction to the said County Court at Law of Grayson County over such matters as are specified in this Act, nor shall this Act be construed to deny the right of appeal to the County Court at Law of Grayson County from the Justice Court where the right of appeal to the County Court now exists by law. The jurisdiction of the County Court at Law of Grayson County, and the Judge thereof, shall extend to all matters of eminent domain of which jurisdiction has heretofore vested in the County Court of Grayson County or in the County Judge; but this provision shall not affect the jurisdiction of the Commissioners Court nor of the County Judge of Grayson County as presiding officer of said Commissioners Court as to roads, bridges, and public highways, or matters of eminent domain which are now in the jurisdiction of the Commissioners Court or the Judge of the County Court of Grayson County.

Sec. 6. The County Court of Grayson County shall have and retain, as heretofore, the general jurisdiction of the Probate Court and all jurisdiction now conferred by law over probate matters, and the Court herein created shall have no other jurisdiction than that named in this Act, and the County Court of Grayson County as now and heretofore existing shall have all jurisdiction which it now has, save and except that which is given the County Court at Law of Grayson County in this Act, but the County Court now existing shall have no jurisdiction over other matters, civil or criminal. The County Judge of Grayson County shall be the Judge of the County Court of said County, and all ex officio duties of the County Judge shall be exercised by said Judge of the County Court of Grayson County, except in so far as the same shall by this Act be committed to the County Court at Law of Grayson County.

Sec. 7. The terms of the County Court at Law of Grayson County, and the practice therein, and the appeals and writs of error therefrom shall be as prescribed by the laws relating to County Courts. The terms of the County Court at Law of Grayson County shall be held in the Courthouse of Grayson County, and shall begin on the first Monday in February, April, June, August, October and December of each year and shall continue in session until the Saturday before the first Monday in April, June, August, October, December and February of each year.

Sec. 8. There shall be elected in Grayson County by the qualified voters thereof at each general election a Judge of the County Court at Law of Grayson County, who shall be a qualified voter in said County, and who shall be a regularly licensed attorney at law in this State, and who shall be a resident of Grayson County, Texas, and shall have been actively engaged in the practice of law for a period of not less than one (1) year next preceding such general election, who shall hold such office for two (2) years and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 9. The County Attorney of Grayson County shall represent the State in all prosecutions pending in said County Court at Law of Grayson County, and shall be entitled to the same fee as now prescribed by law for such prosecutions in the County Courts.

Sec. 10. As soon as this Act becomes effective the Governor shall appoint a Judge of the County Court at Law of Grayson County, who shall hold his office until the next general election.

Sec. 11. In the case of the disqualification of the Judge of the County Court at Law in any case pending in this Court, the County Judge shall sit in such case, or, the parties or their attorneys may agree on the selection of a Special Judge to try such case or cases; and in default of such agreement a majority of the practicing lawyers of Grayson County shall elect a Judge to try such cases where the County Judge at Law is disqualified.

Sec. 12. The County Court at Law of Grayson County, or the Judge thereof, shall have power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of jurisdiction of said Court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in such cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said Court, or of any other Court in said County of inferior jurisdiction to said County Court at Law.

Sec. 13. The County Clerk of Grayson County shall be the Clerk of the County Court at Law of Grayson County, and the Seal of said Court shall be the same as that provided by law for County Courts, except the Seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law of Grayson County."

Sec. 14. The jurisdiction or authority now vested by law in the County Court for the selection and service of jurors shall be exercised by the County Court at Law of Grayson County and all petit jurors for all civil and criminal cases under existing laws at the time this Act takes effect, shall be as valid as if no change had been made and the persons constituting such juries shall be required to appear and serve at the next ensuing terms of said Courts as fixed by this Act, and their acts as jurors shall be as valid as if they had served as jurors in the Court for which they were originally drawn.

Sec. 15. Any vacancy in the office of the Judge of the County Court at Law of Grayson County may be filled by the Commissioners Court, and when so filled the Judge shall hold office until the next general election and until his successor is elected and qualified.

Sec. 16. (a) The Judge of the County Court at Law of Grayson County may receive an annual salary up to an amount equal to the total annual salary of the County Attorney of Grayson County to be paid out of the County Treasury of Grayson County, Texas, on the order of the Commissioners Court of said County, and said salary shall be paid monthly in equal installments. The Judge of the County Court at Law of Grayson County shall assess the same fees as are now prescribed by law relating to the County Judge's fee, all of which shall be collected by the Clerk of the Court and shall be paid into the County Treasury on collection, no part of which shall be paid to the said Judge, but he shall draw the salary as above specified in this Section.

(b) The Judge of the County Court at Law of Grayson County may not actively engage in the private practice of law while serving as judge of the county court at law.

Sec. 17. All cases appealed from the Justice Court and other inferior Courts in Grayson County, Texas, shall be made direct to the County Court at Law of Grayson County, under the provisions heretofore governing such appeals.

Sec. 18. The Judge of the County Court at Law of Grayson County may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as any County Judge may be removed under the laws of this State.

Sec. 18A. The Judge of the County Court at Law of Grayson County may appoint an official shorthand reporter for his court in the manner now provided for district courts in this State who shall have the same qualifications and whose duties shall in every respect be the same as now provided by law. Said official shorthand reporter shall receive a salary of not more than the compensation paid the official shorthand reporters of the district courts of Grayson County, Texas, said salary to be fixed, determined, set and allowed by the commissioners court of Grayson County, and shall be in addition to transcript fees, fees for statement of facts and all other fees. Said salary when so fixed and determined by the commissioners court shall be paid monthly out of the general fund, or the jury fund, or out of any fund available for the purpose as may be determined by the commissioners court, in the same manner as salaries of other county officers are paid. From and after passage of this Act, all provisions relating to official shorthand reporters and their duties in district courts shall in all respects govern, except that the salary of the official shorthand reporter as provided for in this Act shall be fixed and determined by the commissioners court of Grayson County.

Sec. 19. All laws and parts of laws in conflict herewith, if any, are hereby repealed.

Sec. 20. If any part, section, paragraph, sentence, or clause contained in this Act shall be held by the Courts to be unconstitutional, such holding shall not affect the validity of the remaining portion of this Act, and the Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed such remaining portion despite such invalidity.

Art. 1970-332a. County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County

Sec. 1. On the date determined by the provisions of Section 19 of this Act, there is created a court to be held in Sherman, Grayson County, Texas, which shall be known as the County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County.

Sec. 2. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County shall have and exercise the jurisdiction in all matters and cases, civil, criminal, juvenile, and probate, original and appellate, over which by the general laws of this state county courts have jurisdiction, and has jurisdiction concurrent with the County Court at Law of Grayson County in matters and cases, civil and criminal, original and appellate. The County Court of Grayson County shall have and retain, as heretofore, the general jurisdiction of a probate court and has jurisdiction concurrent with the County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County in probate matters and cases. The provisions of this Act do not affect the jurisdiction of the Commissioners Court nor of the County Judge of Grayson County as presiding officer of the commissioners court as to roads, bridges, and public highways, or matters which are now in the jurisdiction of the Commissioners Court or the Judge of the County Court of Grayson County. The County Judge of Grayson County shall be the judge of the county court of the county, and all ex officio duties of the county judge shall be exercised by the judge of the County Court of Grayson County, except insofar as the same shall by this Act be committed to the County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County.

Sec. 3. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County has jurisdiction concurrent with the district court in eminent domain cases and in civil cases when the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $5,000, exclusive of interest, as provided by general law.

Sec. 4. (a) The County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County shall have and exercise original concurrent jurisdiction with the justice courts in all civil and criminal matters which by the general laws of this state are conferred upon justice courts.

(b) No appeal or writ of error shall be taken to the court of civil appeals from any final judgment of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County in civil cases of which the court has appellate or original concurrent jurisdiction with the justice court, where the judgment or amount in controversy does not exceed $100, exclusive of interest and costs.

(c) This Act shall not be construed to deprive the justice courts of the jurisdiction now conferred upon them by law, but only to give concurrent original jurisdiction to the County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County over such matters as are specified in this Act, nor shall this Act be construed to deny the right of appeal to the County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County from the justice court where the right of appeal to the county court now exists by law.

Sec. 5. The terms of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County, and the practice therein, and the appeals and writs of error therefrom shall be as prescribed by the laws relating to county courts. The terms of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County shall be held in the Courthouse of Grayson County, and shall begin on the first Monday in February, April, June, August, October, and December of each year, and shall continue in session until the Saturday before the first Monday in April, June, August, October, December, and February of each year.

Sec. 6. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County shall be a qualified voter in Grayson County, shall be a regularly licensed attorney at law in this state, shall be a resident of Grayson County, and shall have been actively engaged in the practice of law for a period of not less than one year next preceding his appointment or election.

Sec. 7. At the general election in 1978 and every four years thereafter, a judge shall be elected for a regular four-year term by the qualified electors of Grayson County.

Sec. 8. Any vacancy in the office of the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County may be filled by the commissioners court, and when so filled the judge shall hold office until the next general election and until his successor is elected and qualified.

Sec. 9. In the case of the disqualification of the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 in any case pending in this court, the county judge or the judge of the County Court at Law of Grayson County may sit in such case, or, the parties or their attorneys may agree on the selection of a special judge to try such case or cases; and in default of such agreement a majority of the practicing lawyers of Grayson County shall elect a judge to try such cases where the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 is disqualified.

Sec. 10. (a) The judges of the county court and the county courts at law may transfer cases to and from the dockets of their respective courts. However, no case may be transferred from one court to another court without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred, and no case may be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred.

(b) In cases transferred to either of the courts by order of the judge of one of the other courts, all processes, writs, bonds, recognizances, or other obligations issued or made in the cases shall be returned to and filed in the court to which transfer is made. All bonds executed and recognizances entered into in those cases shall bind the parties for their appearance or to fulfill the obligations of such bonds or recognizances at the terms of the court to which the cases are transferred as fixed by law. All processes issued or returned before transfer of the cases, as well as all bonds and recognizances taken before the transfer, shall be valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

Sec. 11. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County, or the judge thereof, shall have power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of jurisdiction of the court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in such cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the court, or of any other court in the county of inferior jurisdiction to the County Court at Law No. 2.

Sec. 12. The County Attorney of Grayson County shall represent the state in all prosecutions pending in the County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County, and shall be entitled to the same fee as now prescribed by law for such prosecutions in the county courts.

Sec. 13. The County Clerk of Grayson County shall be the clerk of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County, and the seal of the court shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts, except the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County."

Sec. 14. The jurisdiction or authority now vested by law in the county court for the selection and service of jurors shall be exercised by the County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County.

Sec. 15. (a) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County may receive an annual salary up to an amount equal to the total annual salary of the County Attorney of Grayson County to be paid out of the county treasury of Grayson County on the order of the commissioners court of the county, and the salary shall be paid monthly in equal installments. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County shall assess the same fees as are now prescribed by law relating to the county judge's fee, all of which shall be collected by the clerk of the court and shall be paid into the county treasury on collection, no part of which shall be paid to the judge, but he shall draw the salary as specified in this section.

(b) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County may not actively engage in the private practice of law while serving as judge of the county court at law.

Sec. 16. All cases appealed from the justice court and other inferior courts in Grayson County, Texas, shall be made direct to the County Court at Law of Grayson County or the County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County, under the provisions heretofore governing such appeals.

Sec. 17. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as any county judge may be removed under the laws of this state.

Sec. 18. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County may appoint an official shorthand reporter for his court in the manner now provided for district courts in this state who shall have the same qualifications and whose duties shall in every respect be the same as now provided by law. The official shorthand reporter shall receive a salary of not more than the compensation paid the official shorthand reporters of the district courts of Grayson County. The salary shall be fixed, determined, set, and allowed by the commissioners court of Grayson County, and shall be in addition to transcript fees, fees for statement of facts, and all other fees. The salary when so fixed and determined by the commissioners court shall be paid monthly out of the general fund, or the jury fund, or out of any fund available for the purpose as may be determined by the commissioners court, in the same manner as salaries of other county officers are paid. From and after passage of this Act, all provisions relating to official shorthand reporters and their duties in district courts shall in all respects govern, except that the salary of the official shorthand reporter as provided for in this Act shall be fixed and determined by the commissioners court of Grayson County.

Sec. 19. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County is created on January 1, 1979, or on a date determined by the Commissioners Court of Grayson County by an order entered on its minutes, whichever date is earlier. If the County Court at Law No. 2 is created on January 1, 1979, the office of the judge is initially filled by the judge elected at the general election in 1978. If the County Court at Law No. 2 is created on an earlier date by order of the commissioners court, the governor shall appoint a judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Grayson County, who shall serve until the next general election and until his successor shall be duly elected and has qualified.

HILL COUNTY

Art. 1970-333. Hill County; Jurisdiction; Clerk's Duties; Shorthand Reporter; County Attorney's Duties

Sec. 1. The County Court of Hill County shall have and exercise the general jurisdiction of a probate Court, shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards; grant letters testamentary and of administration; settle the accounts of executors, administrators and guardians; transact all business pertaining to the estates of deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, including the partition, settlement and distribution of estates of deceased persons pending in such Court; to conduct lunacy hearings; to apprentice minors as provided by law, and to issue all writs necessary for the enforcement of its own jurisdiction; to punish contempt under such provisions as now or may be provided for by General Law governing County Courts throughout the State; and in addition thereto, the County Court of Hill County and the Judge thereof, subject to the conditions stated in this Act, shall have jurisdiction over matters of original civil jurisdiction, original criminal jurisdiction, appellate civil jurisdiction, and appellate criminal jurisdiction as are normally exercised by County Courts under the Constitution and General Laws of this State; provided, however, that all future Statutes pertaining to probate matters enacted by the Legislature of the State of Texas, shall be operative in said Hill County as fully as though this Statute had not been enacted.

Sec. 2. The Judge of the 66th District Court in Hill County will be the presiding Judge, insofar as the District Court and the county court are concerned, over original and appellate jurisdiction in all civil and criminal matters in causes over which by the laws of this State the County Court of Hill County would have original or appellate jurisdiction; and all such causes will be filed with the District Clerk of Hill County in the District Court. The Judge of the District Court may, in his discretion, assign to the County Court of Hill County, for trial and disposition, cases, or portions of cases, of original and appellate jurisdiction in civil and criminal matters and causes over which, by the General Laws of this State, the County Court of Hill County would have original or appellate jurisdiction. The assignments shall be made by docket notation. The purpose and intent of this Statute is to vest the 66th District Court and the County Court of Hill County with concurrent jurisdiction over matters of original and appellate jurisdiction in all civil and criminal matters over which, by the General Laws of this State, the County Court of Hill County would have original or appellate jurisdiction, subject to the control over assignments of the cases, or parts of the cases, by the District Court, as provided in this section.

Sec. 3. The District Clerk of Hill County shall continue to perform all the clerical functions of the County Court of Hill County as to all matters and causes over which the District Court and County Court have concurrent jurisdiction, as provided in this Act. Insofar as all cases over which the District Court and County Court have concurrent jurisdiction, the Clerk shall charge fees at the rate set by law for County Court cases.

Sec. 4. The Judge of the County Court of Hill County may appoint an official shorthand reporter for his Court in the manner provided for District Courts in this State, who shall have the same qualifications and whose duties shall in every respect be the same as now provided by law. In addition to transcript fees, fees for statement of facts and all other fees, the official shorthand reporter shall receive a salary to be fixed by the Commissioners Court of Hill County in an amount not more than the compensation paid the official shorthand reporter of the District Court in Hill County and to be paid out of the General Fund, or the Jury Fund, or out of any fund available for the purpose, as may be determined by the Commissioners Court, in the same manner as salaries of other County officers are paid. All provisions relating to official shorthand reporters and their duties in District Courts shall in all respects govern, except that the salary of the official shorthand reporter shall be fixed and determined by the Commissioners Court of Hill County.

Sec. 5. The duties of the County Attorney of Hill County shall not be changed or affected by this Act, and the County Attorney shall perform the same duties as were performed prior to the passage of this Act.

[Acts 1947, 50th Leg., p. 470, ch. 271. Amended by Acts 1975, 64th Leg., p. 657, ch. 274, § 1, eff. May 20, 1975.]

Art. 1970-333a. Jurisdiction Restored; Jurisdiction of District Court

Sec. 1. There is hereby restored to the County Court of Hill County, original jurisdiction in matters of eminent domain which had been transferred to the District Court of Hill County by the provisions of House Bill No. 648, Acts of the 50th Legislature, Regular Session, 1947, Chapter 271 (codified in Vernon's Civil Statutes as Article 1970-333), and original jurisdiction in matters of eminent domain is hereby transferred from the District Court of Hill County to the County Court of Hill County.

From and after the effective date of this Act, the County Court of Hill County shall have and exercise original jurisdiction in matters of eminent domain.

Sec. 2. The District Court of Hill County is hereby required within thirty days after this Act takes effect to file with the Clerk of the County Court of Hill County all original papers in cases or proceedings here transferred to the County Court of Hill County, and all dockets and certified copies of any interlocutory judgment or other order entered in the minutes of the District Court in said cases or proceedings so transferred, and the Clerk of the County Court shall immediately docket all such cases on the docket of the County Court of Hill County and all such cases or proceedings shall stand on the docket of said court in the same manner and place as each stands on the docket of the District Court. It shall not be necessary that the Clerk of the County Court refile any papers theretofore filed by the District Clerk, but papers in said case or proceeding bearing the file marks of the District Clerk prior to the time of such transfer shall be held to have been filed in the case or proceeding as of the date filed, without being refiled by the Clerk of the County Court. The District Clerk in cases or proceedings so transferred shall accompany the papers with the certified bill of costs, and against all costs deposits, if any, the District Clerk shall charge accrued fees to him and the remainder of the deposit he shall pay to the County Court as a deposit in the particular case for which the same was deposited. Credit shall be given litigants for all jury fees paid in the District Court.

Sec. 3. All writs and process relating to such cases or proceedings issued by or out of the District Court of Hill County are hereby made returnable to the next term of the County Court of Hill County after this Act takes effect. Any case or proceeding on appeal which has been transferred by this Act to the County Court, should a judgment be rendered by the Court of Civil Appeals or the Supreme Court remanding the case or proceeding for a new trial or for further proceedings, shall be remanded to the County Court of Hill County, and all jurisdiction in respect to said particular case or proceeding shall vest in the County Court of Hill County.

Sec. 4. This Act shall not be construed to in anywise or manner affect final judgments heretofore rendered by the District Court of Hill County pertaining to matters transferred by the provisions of this Act to the County Court, but the District Court shall retain jurisdiction to enforce said final judgments.

[Acts 1955, 54th Leg., p. 674, ch. 243.]

KENT COUNTY

Art. 1970-334. Kent County; Concurrent Jurisdiction of County Court with Justices' Courts

Sec. 1. The County Court of Kent County, shall have and exercise concurrent jurisdiction with the Justices' Courts in all civil matters, which, by the General Laws of this State, is conferred upon Justices' Courts.

Sec. 2. Said County Court shall also have and exercise such jurisdiction over and pertaining to all matters and things and proceedings as by the General Laws of this State is conferred upon the County Court.

Sec. 3. No appeal or writ of error shall be taken to the Court of Civil Appeals from any final judgment of said County Court in civil cases of which said Court has appellate or original concurrent jurisdiction with the Justice Court where the amount in controversy does not exceed One Hundred Dollars ($100) exclusive of interest and costs.

Sec. 4. This Act shall not be construed to deprive the Justice Courts of the jurisdiction now conferred upon them by law, but only to give concurrent original jurisdiction to said County Court over such matters as are specified in Section 1 of this Act, nor shall this Act be construed to deny the right of appeal from the Justice Court to said County Court in any case originally brought in the Justice Court where the right of appeal now exists by law.

[Acts 1947, 50th Leg., p. 791, ch. 392.]

JOHNSON COUNTY

Art. 1970-335. Johnson County; Jurisdiction of County Court Diminished; Jurisdiction of District Court

Sec. 1. The County Court of Johnson County shall have and exercise the general jurisdiction of a probate court, shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards; grant letters testamentary and of administration; settle the accounts of executors, administrators, and guardians; transact all business pertaining to the estates of deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, including the partition, settlement, and distribution of estates of deceased persons pending in such Court; to conduct lunacy hearings; to apprentice minors as provided by law, and to issue all writs necessary for the enforcement of its own jurisdiction; to punish contempt under such provisions as now or may be provided for by General Law governing County Courts throughout the State; and in addition thereto, said County Court of Johnson County and the Judge thereof, subject to the conditions hereinafter stated, shall have jurisdiction over matters of eminent domain and other original civil jurisdiction, and original criminal jurisdiction and appellate civil jurisdiction and appellate criminal jurisdiction as are normally exercised by County Courts under the Constitution and General Laws of this State; provided, however, that all future Statutes pertaining to probate matters enacted by the Legislature of the State of Texas shall be operative in Johnson County as fully as though this Statute had not been enacted.

Sec. 2. The Judge of the District Court of Johnson County will be the presiding Judge, insofar as said District Court and said County Court are concerned, over original jurisdiction in matters of eminent domain, as well as original and appellate jurisdiction in all civil and criminal matters in causes over which by the laws of this State the County Court of Johnson County would have original or appellate jurisdiction; and all such causes will be filed with the District Clerk of Johnson County in said District Court. The Judge of the District Court of Johnson County may, in his discretion, assign to the County Court of Johnson County, for trial and disposition, cases, or portions thereof, of eminent domain as well as cases of original and appellate jurisdiction in civil and criminal matters and causes over which, by the General Laws of this State, the County Court of Johnson County would have original or appellate jurisdiction. Such assignments shall be made by docket notation. The purpose and intent of this Statute is to vest the District Court of Johnson County and the County Court of Johnson County with concurrent jurisdiction over matters of eminent domain as well as original and appellate jurisdiction in all civil and criminal matters over which, by the General Laws of this State, the County Court of Johnson County would have original or appellate jurisdiction, subject to the control over assignments of such cases, or parts thereof, by the said District Court, as hereinabove set out.

Sec. 3. The District Clerk of Johnson County shall continue to perform all the clerical functions of and for the County Court of Johnson County, insofar as all matters and causes over which the said District Court and County Court have concurrent jurisdiction, as hereinabove set out. Insofar as all cases over which the said District Court and County Court have concurrent jurisdiction, as hereinabove set out, said Clerk shall charge fees at the rate set by law for County Court cases.

Sec. 4. The duties of the County Attorney of Johnson County shall not be in any manner changed or affected by this Act; and said County Attorney shall have and perform the same duties as were had and performed prior to the passage of this Act.

[Acts 1949, 51st Leg., p. 185, ch. 102. Amended Acts 1971, 62nd Leg., p. 26, ch. 11, § 1, eff. March 4, 1971.]

COUNTIES OF 225,000 INHABITANTS.

Art. 1970-336. Salary of Judge in Counties Having Only One County Court at Law

Sec. 1. In all counties in this State having a population of not less than two hundred and twenty-five thousand (225,000) inhabitants according to the last preceding Federal Census and having within said county only one County Court at Law the salary of the Judge of said County Court at Law shall be Seven Thousand, Four Hundred Dollars ($7,400) per annum. Said salary shall be paid out of the County General Fund in twelve (12) equal monthly installments. The Commissioners Court of the county out of whose funds said salary is paid may, if it so elects, order such payments to be made out of the Jury Fund.

Sec. 2. The term "County Court at Law" as used in this Act shall mean and include County Courts at Law having jurisdiction over civil cases only or criminal cases only or both civil and criminal cases.

Sec. 3. If any section, sentence, clause, phrase or part of this Act be held for any reason to be invalid, such invalidity shall not affect the remainder of this Act.

Sec. 4. All laws or parts of laws fixing the salaries of Judges of County Courts at Law in any county having not less than two hundred and twenty-five thousand (225,000) population and having within said county only one County Court at Law as herein defined to the extent that they conflict with this Act are hereby repealed, but to the extent of the conflict only; it being intended that, and this Act shall control as to the amount of the salary in such counties over any classification by population of such counties heretofore made.

[Acts 1949, 51st Leg., p. 452, ch. 244.]

BLANCO COUNTY

Art. 1970-337. Jurisdiction Extended; Civil and Criminal; Concurrent with Justices Court

Sec. 1. Hereafter the County Court of Blanco County, Texas, in addition to its present jurisdiction, shall have civil and criminal jurisdiction as provided by the General Laws for county courts.

Sec. 2. This Act shall not be construed to in anywise, or in any manner affect judgments heretofore rendered by the District Court pertaining to matters and causes which, by this Act are made returnable to the County Court, and the Clerk of the District Court of said county shall issue all executions and orders of sale and proceedings thereunder, which shall be as valid and binding to all intents and purposes as though the change had not been made as directed in this Act.

Sec. 3. The jurisdiction of the District Court of Blanco County shall be such as provided by the Constitution and General Laws of this State, consistent with the change in jurisdiction of the County Court herein made.

Sec. 4. The County Court of Blanco County shall, in addition to the civil and criminal jurisdiction conferred upon County Courts by the Constitution and General Laws of this State, have and exercise concurrent jurisdiction with the Justices Courts in all criminal and civil matters which, by the General Laws of this State, is conferred upon Justice Courts.

Sec. 5. No appeal or writ of error shall be taken to the Court of Civil Appeals from a final judgment of said Court in civil cases, of which Court has appellate, original or concurrent jurisdiction with the Justices Courts, where the amount in controversy does not exceed One Hundred Dollars ($100), exclusive of interest and costs.

Sec. 6. This Act shall not be construed to deprive the Justices Courts of jurisdiction now conferred upon them by law, but is only to give concurrent and original jurisdiction to said county court over such matters as are specified in this Act, nor shall this Act be construed to deny the right of appeal from the Justice Court to said County Court in any case originally brought in the Justice Court, where the right of appeal exists under the Constitution and General Laws of the State.

Sec. 7. It shall be the duty of the District Clerk of Blanco County, Texas, within thirty (30) days after this Act shall take effect, to make full and complete transcripts of orders on the criminal and civil dockets then pending before the District Court of said County of which cases, by the provisions of this Act, original and appellate jurisdiction is given to said County Court and to file said transcript, together with the original papers in each case in the County Court of said County and the County Clerk shall enter said cases on the respective dockets of said County Court as appearance cases for trial by said Court.

Sec. 8. The terms of said Courts shall commence on the first Monday in January, and on first Monday in May and on the first Monday in August and the first Monday in November of each year and each of said terms shall continue in session for six weeks, or until the business may be disposed of; provided, that the County Commissioners Court of said County may hereafter change the terms of said Court whenever it may be deemed necessary by said Commissioners Court.

ELLIS COUNTY

Art. 1970-338. Repealed by Acts 1969, 61st Leg., p. 2135, ch. 739, § 7, eff. June 12, 1969

Art. 1970-338A. Original and Appellate Jurisdiction in Misdemeanor Cases

Sec. 1. The County Court of Ellis County, Texas, and the County Judge thereof shall have and exercise original and appellate jurisdiction in all misdemeanor cases over which the laws of this state has conferred jurisdiction in the County Court. All misdemeanor cases now pending in the District Court of Ellis County, Texas, and all writs and processes relating to such criminal cases issued by or out of said District Court of Ellis County are hereby made returnable to the next term of the County Court of Ellis County after this Act takes effect; provided further, however, that as to any misdemeanor case on appeal from said District Court should a judgment be entered by the Court of Criminal Appeals remanding the case for a new trial or for further proceedings, same shall be remanded to the County Court of Ellis County and all jurisdiction in and to said particular case shall thereafter rest in the County Court of Ellis County, Texas.

Sec. 2. The District Clerk of Ellis County be and he is hereby required, within thirty days after this Act takes effect, to file with the County Clerk of said county all original papers in misdemeanor cases here transferred to said County Court, together with all Judge's dockets and certified copies of any interlocutory judgment or other order entered in the minutes of the District Court in said misdemeanor cases so transferred, and the County Clerk shall immediately docket all such cases on the docket of said County Court of Ellis County, Texas, and all such misdemeanor cases shall stand on the docket of said County Court in the manner and place as each stands on the docket of the District Court. Providing further, that it shall not be necessary that the County Clerk re-file any papers theretofore filed by the District Clerk; but papers in said case bearing the file mark of the District Clerk prior to the time of the said transfer shall be held to have been filed in the case as of the date filed without being re-filed by the County Clerk. Said District Clerk in misdemeanor cases so transferred shall accompany the papers with a certified bill of costs.

Sec. 3. All unfinished business and all final judgments heretofore rendered by the District Court of Ellis County pertaining to misdemeanor cases shall likewise be transferred to said County Court and the County Clerk of said county shall issue all writs of process thereunder, and his act in doing so shall be valid and binding to all intents and purposes the same as if no change had been made in said criminal jurisdiction.

[Acts 1959, 56th Leg., p. 50, ch. 26.]

Art. 1970-338B. Jurisdiction of Courts; Transfer of Cases; Judgments

Sec. 1. That the County Court of Ellis County, Texas, from and after the effective date of this Act, shall have and exercise jurisdiction in all probate, civil, and criminal matters, as provided in the Constitution of the State of Texas and the general law governing county courts throughout the state.

Sec. 2. The District Court of Ellis County, Texas, shall have and exercise the general jurisdiction, both original and appellate, in all civil and criminal matters and causes, as provided in the Constitution of the State of Texas and in the general law governing the jurisdiction of district courts throughout the state.

Sec. 3. All causes pending in the County Court of Ellis County and in the District Court of Ellis County, the jurisdiction of which is changed by this Act, shall be and the same are hereby transferred in conformity with the provisions of this Act to the court having jurisdiction of such cause under the provisions hereof, and all writs and process relating to such causes which have been issued by or out of either of said courts shall be and the same are hereby made returnable to the next term of the court having jurisdiction of said cause under the provisions of this Act.

Sec. 4. This Act shall not be construed to in anywise or in any manner affect judgments heretofore rendered by the District Court of Ellis County pertaining to matters and causes which by this Act are made returnable to the County Court of Ellis County, and the clerk of the district court of said county shall issue all executions and orders of sale and proceedings thereunder, which shall be as valid and binding to all intents and purposes as though the change had not been made as directed in this Act.

Sec. 5. This Act shall not be construed to in anywise or in any manner affect judgments heretofore rendered by the County Court of Ellis County pertaining to matters and causes which by this Act are made returnable to the District Court of Ellis County, and the clerk of the county court of said county shall issue all executions and orders of sale and proceedings thereunder which shall be as valid and binding to all intents and purposes as though the change had not been made as directed by this Act.

Sec. 6. The clerks of the respective courts shall transfer the dockets of all cases the jurisdiction of which is changed by the provisions of this Act to the court having such jurisdiction after the effective date of this Act, and shall transfer all court papers and do such other things as may be necessary to fully transfer all said causes and matters to the court having jurisdiction of same under the provisions of this Act.

Sec. 7. Chapter 355, Acts of the 51st Legislature, Regular Session, 1949 (Article 1970-338, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), together with any and all other acts or laws and parts of acts or laws in conflict herewith are hereby expressly repealed.

Art. 1970-338C. County Court at Law of Ellis County

Creation

Sec. 1. The County Court at Law of Ellis County is created.

Jurisdiction

Sec. 2. (a) The court created by this Act has concurrent jurisdiction with the county court in all cases and proceedings, civil, criminal, original and appellate, prescribed by law for county courts.

(b) The court created by this Act has concurrent jurisdiction with the district court in eminent domain cases and in civil cases in which the amount in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $20,000, excluding interest.

(c) The court created by this Act has concurrent jurisdiction with the district court in cases and proceedings involving family law matters, including adoptions, birth records, removal of disability of minority or coverture, change of name of persons, divorce and marriage annulment cases, including the adjustment of property rights, custody and support of minor children involved, temporary support pending final hearing, other matters incident to divorce or annulment proceedings, independent actions involving child welfare, custody, support and reciprocal support, dependency, neglect, and delinquency, and independent actions involving controversies between parent and child and between husband and wife.

(d) The court created by this Act, the county court, and the district court have concurrent jurisdiction over juvenile matters and proceedings as provided by Chapter 178, Acts of the 66th Legislature, Regular Session, 1979 (Article 2338-1.1, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes). Any of those courts may be designated a juvenile court.

(e) The court created by this Act does not have jurisdiction over causes and proceedings concerning roads, bridges, and public highways and the general administration of county business that is within the jurisdiction of the commissioners court or county court.

(f) The court created by this Act has the general jurisdiction of a probate court within Ellis County, and its jurisdiction is concurrent with the county court in probate, administrations, guardianship, and proceedings related to mental illness.

(g) This section does not diminish the jurisdiction of the district court.

Powers and Duties

Sec. 3. (a) The court created by this Act or its judge may issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all writs necessary for the enforcement of the jurisdiction of the court. It may issue writs of habeas corpus in the cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the court or of any other court in the county of inferior jurisdiction.

(b) The court and judge may punish for contempt as prescribed by law for county courts.

(c) The judge of the court created by this Act has all other powers, duties, immunities, and privileges provided by law for county court judges, except that the judge does not have any authority over the administrative business of the county that is performed by the county judge. The court created by this Act or its judge is a magistrate and conservator of the peace.

County Judge

Sec. 4. The county judge of Ellis County is the judge of the County Court of Ellis County. All ex officio duties of the county judge shall be exercised by the judge of the county court except for duties given by this Act to the judge of the court created by this Act.

Terms

Sec. 5. The terms of the court created by this Act begin on the first Mondays in March, June, September, and December of each year. Each term of court continues until the next term begins.

Judge

Sec. 6. (a) The judge of the court created by this Act must have been a duly licensed and practicing member of the State Bar of Texas for at least four years, must be well informed in the laws of this state, and must have resided and been actively engaged in the practice of law in the county for at least two years immediately preceding the election. Beginning at the general election for state and county officers in 1986 and every fourth year thereafter, the qualified voters of the county shall elect a judge who holds office for four years as provided in Article V, Section 30, and Article XVI, Section 65, of the Texas Constitution.

(b) The judge may not engage in the private practice of law while serving.

(c) The commissioners court shall appoint a person with the qualifications prescribed in Subsection (a) of this section to fill a vacancy in the office of the judge of the court created by this Act. The judge appointed serves until the next general election and until his successor is elected and has qualified.

(d) The judge shall execute a bond and take the oath of office prescribed by law for county judges. He may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as a county judge.

(e) The commissioners court shall fix the salary of the judge at an amount that is not less than an amount equal to 90 percent of the annual salary of the district judge. The salary shall be paid by the county treasurer by order of the commissioners court in equal monthly installments. The judge is entitled to traveling expenses and necessary office expenses, including administrative and clerical personnel, in the same manner as is allowed the county judge.

Special Judge

Sec. 7. (a) A special judge of the court created by this Act may be appointed or elected as provided by law for county courts. A special judge is entitled to the same amount of compensation as the regular judge.

(b) If a judge of the court created by this Act is disqualified to try a case pending in his court, the parties or their attorneys may agree on the selection of a special judge for the case. The special judge selected is entitled to the same amount of compensation as the regular judge.

Court Officials and Personnel

Sec. 8. The county attorney, county clerk, and sheriff serve as county attorney, clerk, and sheriff of the court created by this Act, except that the district clerk serves as clerk of the county court at law in matters enumerated in Section 2(c) of this Act. The district clerk shall establish a separate docket for the court created by this Act. The commissioners court may employ the assistant district attorneys, deputy sheriffs, and bailiffs necessary to serve the court created by this Act. Those serving shall perform the duties, and are entitled to the compensation, fees, and allowances prescribed by law for their respective offices in Ellis County.

Court Reporter

Sec. 9. The judge of the court created by this Act may appoint an official court reporter who serves at the pleasure of the judge. The court reporter is entitled to the compensation fixed by the commissioners court in an amount not less than the compensation paid to the court reporter of the district court. The official court reporter must have the qualifications prescribed by law for district court reporters.

Seal

Sec. 10. The seal of the court created by this Act is the same as that provided by law for county courts, except that the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law of Ellis County."

Practice

Sec. 11. Practice in the court created by this Act shall conform to that prescribed by law for the county court, except that practice and procedure, rules of evidence, issuance of process and writs, and all other matters pertaining to the conduct of trials and hearings in the county court at law involving those matters of concurrent jurisdiction with the district court enumerated in Section 2(c) of this Act shall be governed by the provisions of this Act and the laws and rules pertaining to district courts. If a case within the district court's jurisdiction enumerated in Section 2(c) of this Act is tried before a jury, the jury shall be composed of 12 members, in all other cases the jury shall be composed of six members.

Transfer of Cases; Exchange of Benches

Sec. 12. (a) The judges of the county court and the court created by this Act may transfer cases to and from the dockets of their respective courts in order that the business may be equally distributed. Cases of concurrent jurisdiction between the district court and the court created by this Act, except those enumerated in Section 2(c) of this Act, may be instituted in either the district court or the court created by this Act. A case within the concurrent jurisdiction of the district court and the court created by this Act enumerated in Section 2(c) of this Act must be instituted in the district court and may be transferred between the district court and county court at law. A case may not be transferred from one court to the other without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred. A case may not be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred.

(b) The county judge and the judge of the court created by this Act may freely exchange benches and courtrooms so that if one is ill, disqualified, or absent, the other may hold court for him without the necessity of transferring the case or proceeding. Either judge may hear all or any part of a case or proceeding pending in the county court or the court created by this Act, and may rule or enter orders on and continue, determine, or render judgment on all or any part of the case or proceeding without the necessity of transferring it to his own docket. The judge of the court created by this Act may not sit or act in a case or proceeding over which exclusive jurisdiction is vested in the county court.

(c) In a case transferred from one court to another as provided by this section, all processes, writs, bonds, recognizances, or other obligations issued or made in the case are returnable to and shall be filed in the court to which the transfer is made. All bonds executed and recognizances entered into in that case bind the parties for their appearance or to fulfill the obligations of the bonds or recognizances at the terms of the court to which the case is transferred as are fixed by law. All processes issued or returned before transfer of a case and all bonds and recognizances before taken in a case are valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

Jurors

Sec. 13. (a) The jurisdiction and authority vested by law in the county clerk and the county judge for the drawing, selection, and service of jurors and talesmen shall be also exercised by the court created by this Act and its judge. Jurors and talesmen summoned for either court may by order of the judge of the court to which they are summoned be transferred to the other court for service. If the judge of the court created by this Act and the county judge agree, jurors may be summoned for service in both courts and used interchangeably.

(b) On request of either the county judge or the judge of the court created by this Act, jurors regularly impaneled for a week by the district court or courts may be made available and shall serve for the week in either the county court or the court created by this Act.

Initial Appointment of Judge

Sec. 14. As provided by Section 6(c) of this Act, the commissioners court shall appoint a person to fill the vacancy existing on the creation of the office of judge.

Effective Date

Sec. 15. This Act takes effect September 1, 1983.

[Acts 1983, 68th Leg., p. 2502, ch. 439, eff. Sept. 1, 1983.]

NUECES COUNTY

Art. 1970-339. County Court at Law No. 1 of Nueces County

Sec. 1. There is hereby created a Court to be held in Corpus Christi, Nueces County, Texas, to be called the County Court at Law of Nueces County, Texas.

Sec. 2. The County Court at Law No. 1 of Nueces County, Texas, shall have and exercise concurrent jurisdiction with the County Court of Nueces County, Texas, in all matters and causes, civil and criminal, original and appellate, over which the County Court of Nueces County, Texas, would have jurisdiction under the general laws of Texas. Such jurisdiction shall extend to all matters of eminent domain of which jurisdiction has heretofore been vested in the County Court of Nueces County or in the County Judge; provided, however, that nothing herein shall affect the jurisdiction of the commissioners court or of the County Judge of Nueces County as the presiding officer of such commissioners court, as to roads, bridges, and public highways which are now within the jurisdiction of the commissioners court or the presiding judge thereof. Said court shall also have the general jurisdiction of a probate court within the limits of Nueces County, Texas, concurrent with jurisdiction of the County Court in such matters and proceedings. County Court at Law No. 1 of Nueces County, Texas, shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of executors, and transact all business pertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, including the settlement, partition and distribution of estates of deceased persons, the apprenticing of minors as provided by law, and the conduct of lunacy proceedings.

Sec. 3. The County Court at Law of Nueces County shall have and exercise original concurrent jurisdiction with the Justice Courts in all civil and criminal matters which by the General Laws of this State are conferred upon Justice Courts.

Sec. 3a. The County Court at Law No. 1 of Nueces County has jurisdiction concurrent with the district courts in eminent domain cases, as provided by general law, and in civil cases when the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $20,000, exclusive of interest. The County Court at Law No. 1 may be designated a juvenile court, as provided by Chapter 178, Acts of the 66th Legislature, Regular Session, 1979 (Article 2338—1.1, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes).

Sec. 4. The County Court of Nueces County shall have and retain concurrently with the County Court at Law No. 1 of Nueces County the general jurisdiction of a Probate Court with jurisdiction now conferred or which may be conferred by law in the future over probate matters, but shall have no other jurisdiction, civil or criminal, original or appellate.

All ex officio duties of the County Judge shall be exercised and retained by the Judge of the County Court of Nueces County, except insofar as same shall by this Act be committed to the County Court at Law No. 1 of Nueces County.

Sec. 5. The County Court at Law No. 1 of Nueces County shall hold four (4) terms of Court each year in the Courthouse of Nueces County, said terms to be as follows: One term beginning on the first Monday in January, one term beginning on the first Monday in April, one term beginning on the first Monday in July, and one term beginning on the first Monday in October; and each of said terms shall continue until and including the Sunday next before the first Monday of the term immediately following.

Sec. 6. There shall be elected in Nueces County by the qualified voters thereof a Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Nueces County, who shall be a qualified voter in said county, a resident of said county, a regularly licensed attorney at law in this State, and who shall have been actively engaged in the practice of law for a period of not less than five (5) years next preceding the election to select such Judge. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 shall hold his office for a term of four years, and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified. The present Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 having been elected in 1966, he shall continue in such capacity for the full term of four years to which he was elected, and his successor shall be elected in the general election to be held in 1970 for the term of four years, and a like election shall be held every four years thereafter.

Sec. 7. The Judge of the County Court at Law of Nueces County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to County Judges.

Sec. 8. A special judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Nueces County may be appointed or elected as provided by law relating to County Courts and to the judges thereof, who shall receive the sum of Twenty-five Dollars ($25) per day for each day he so actually serves, to be paid out of the General Fund of the County by the Commissioners Court.

Sec. 9. As soon as this Act becomes effective, the Commissioners Court of Nueces County shall appoint a Judge to the County Court at Law of Nueces County, who shall hold his office as Judge of the County Court at Law of Nueces County until the next general election and until his successor is elected and qualified. Any subsequent vacancies in the office of the Judge of the County Court at Law of Nueces County shall be filled by appointment by the Commissioners Court of Nueces County and when so filled, the Judge of the County Court at Law shall hold office until the next general election and until his successor is elected and qualified.

Sec. 10. In the case of the disqualification of the Judge of the County Court at Law of Nueces County to try any case pending in his Court, the parties or their attorneys may agree on the selection of a Special Judge to try such case or cases where the Judge of the County Court at Law of Nueces County is disqualified.

Sec. 11. The Judge of the County Court at Law of Nueces County may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as any other County Judge may be removed under the laws of this State.

Sec. 12. The Judge of the County Court at Law is authorized to appoint an official shorthand reporter for such County Court at Law; such official shorthand reporter shall receive the same compensation as provided in Article 2326, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas; the Judge of the County Court at Law of Nueces County shall have the authority to terminate the employment of such official shorthand reporter at any time.

Sec. 13. The County Court at Law of Nueces County, and the Judge thereof, shall have power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of jurisdiction of said Court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in such cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said Court, or of any other Court in said county of inferior jurisdiction to said County Court at Law of Nueces County.

Sec. 14. All cases appealed from the Justice Courts and other inferior Courts in Nueces County, Texas, shall be made direct to the County Court at Law of Nueces County, under the provisions heretofore governing such appeals.

Sec. 15. The County Clerk of Nueces County, Texas shall be the Clerk of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Nueces County, Texas. The Seal of said Court shall be the same as that provided by law for County Courts, except the Seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law No. 1 of Nueces County." The Sheriff of Nueces County shall in person or by deputy attend the said Court when required by the Judge thereof. The County Attorney of Nueces County shall represent the State in all prosecutions pending in said County Court at Law No. 1 of Nueces County, and he shall be entitled to the same fees as now prescribed by law for such prosecutions in the County Courts.

Sec. 16. The jurisdiction and authority now vested by law in the County Court of Nueces County, for the drawing, selection, and service of jurors, shall be exercised by said Court; but juries summoned for either of said Courts may by order of the Judge of the Court in which they are summoned be transferred to the other Court for service therein and may be used therein as if summoned for the Court to which they may be thus transferred.

Sec. 17. (a) The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Nueces County may receive an annual salary in an amount equal to $1,000 less than the salary paid by the State of Texas to a District Judge exercising jurisdiction in Nueces County.

(b) The salary shall be paid in the same manner and from the same fund as prescribed by law for payment of the salary of the County Judge of Nueces County.

(c) The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Nueces County shall assess the fees prescribed by law for County Judges, which shall be collected by the Clerk of the Court and paid into the County Treasury and which may not be paid to the Judge.

"Sec. 16. The division of functions, responsibilities, and jurisdiction between the Court of Domestic Relations and the County Court at Law No. II of Nueces County, Texas, as achieved in the foregoing sections of this Act, shall come into legal existence on July 1, 1967, and the present consolidated court shall maintain its present legal status, perform its present legal duties, and shall receive its present compensation until on and after said date. The present Judge now holding the consolidated position as Judge of both of said courts shall continue thereafter as Judge of the Domestic Relations Court of Nueces County, serving in that capacity for the full term of years to which he was elected in 1966. A Judge for the County Court at Law No. II of Nueces County shall be appointed by the commissioners court of Nueces County as soon as practicable after the effective date of this Act, and the person so appointed shall qualify for such office on July 1, 1967, or as soon thereafter as practicable, and shall hold office until December 31, 1968. Candidates for the position of Judge of the County Court at Law No. II shall be nominated by the respective political parties of Texas in the political primaries to be held in May and June of 1968 in the same manner and under the same legal provisions as govern the holding of all other primary elections, and the selection of a Judge for the full term of four years shall occur in the general election to be held in 1968, and every four years thereafter.

"Sec. 17. The provisions of this Act shall be severable. Should any section, paragraph, sentence, clause, or other part hereof, be declared for any reason unconstitutional or void, such declaration shall not affect or impair the remaining provisions hereof, and the Legislature specifically declares that it would have passed this Act notwithstanding the absence of such portion as may be declared unconstitutional or void.

"Sec. 18. All laws or parts of laws in conflict herewith are hereby repealed to the extent of such conflict."

Sections 5 and 6 of the 1977 Act provide as follows:

"Sec. 5. The provisions of this Act shall be severable. Should any section, paragraph, sentence, clause, or other part hereof, be declared for any reason unconstitutional or void, such declaration shall not affect or impair the remaining provisions hereof, and the legislature specifically declares that it would have passed this Act notwithstanding the absence of such portion as may be declared unconstitutional or void."

"Sec. 6. All laws or parts of laws in conflict herewith are hereby repealed to the extent of such conflict."

Art. 1970-339A. County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County

Sec. 1. There is hereby created a Court to be held in Corpus Christi, Nueces County, Texas, to be called the County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County, Texas.

Sec. 2. The name of the County Court at Law of Nueces County, created by Acts, 1949, Fifty-first Legislature, Page 692, Chapter 362, known and cited as Article 1970-339, Vernon's Annotated Civil Statutes of the State of Texas, is hereby changed to County Court at Law No. 1 of Nueces County, Texas, and all laws heretofore or hereafter enacted by the Legislature applicable or relating to the County Court at Law of Nueces County shall hereafter be applicable and shall relate to the County Court at Law No. 1 of Nueces County.

Sec. 3. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County shall have and exercise jurisdiction in the matters and causes, civil and criminal, original and appellate, over which the County Court at Law No. 1 of Nueces County has jurisdiction according to the provisions of Sections 2 and 3 of Acts, 1949, Fifty-first Legislature, page 692, Chapter 362, known and cited as Article 1970-339, Vernon's Annotated Civil Statutes of the State of Texas. Its jurisdiction shall be concurrent with that of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Nueces County, except that each Court shall give priority to cases according to the provisions contained in this Act.

Sec. 3a. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County has jurisdiction concurrent with the district courts in eminent domain cases, as provided by general law, and in civil cases when the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $20,000, exclusive of interest. The County Court at Law No. 2 may be designated a juvenile court, as provided by Chapter 178, Acts of the 66th Legislature, Regular Session, 1979 (Article 2338-1.1, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes).

Sec. 4. The County Court of Nueces County shall have and retain concurrently with the County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County the general jurisdiction of a Probate Court with jurisdiction now conferred or which may be conferred by law in the future over probate matters, but shall have no other jurisdiction, civil or criminal, original or appellate. All ex officio duties of the County Judge shall be exercised and retained by the Judge of the County Court of Nueces County, except insofar as same shall by this Act be committed to the County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County.

Sec. 5. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County shall hold four (4) terms of Court each year in the Courthouse of Nueces County, said terms to be as follows: One term beginning on the first Monday in January, one term beginning on the first Monday in April, one term beginning on the first Monday in July, and one term beginning on the first Monday in October; and each of said terms shall continue until and including the Sunday next before the first Monday of the term immediately following.

Sec. 6. There shall be elected in Nueces County by the qualified voters thereof a Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County, who shall be a qualified voter in said county, a resident of said County, a regularly licensed attorney at law in this State, and who shall have been actively engaged in the practice of law for a period of not less than five (5) years next preceding the election to select such Judge. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County shall hold his office for a term of four years, and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified. As soon as practicable after the effective date of this Act, the commissioners court of Nueces County shall appoint a suitable person to be Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2, who shall take office on July 1, 1967 and shall hold office until December 31, 1968 and until his successor has been duly elected and qualified. His successor shall be elected in the general election to be held in 1968, for the term of four years, and a like election shall be held every four years thereafter.

Sec. 7. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to County Judges.

Sec. 8. A special Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County may be appointed or elected as provided by law relating to County Courts and to the Judges thereof, who shall receive the sum of Twenty-five Dollars ($25) per day for each day he so actually serves, to be paid out of the General Fund of the County by the Commissioners Court.

Sec. 9. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County, Texas, as herein created, shall come into legal existence on January 1, 1955, and said Court shall have no legal status, shall perform no duties, and shall receive no compensation until on or after said date. The first Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County shall be elected by the qualified voters of Nueces County at the General Election to be held in November, 1954, and the person so elected shall qualify for such office on January 1, 1955, or as soon thereafter as practicable. Candidates for the position of Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 shall be nominated by the respective political parties of Texas in the primaries to be held in July and August of 1954 in the same manner and under the same legal provisions as govern the holding of all other primary elections.

Sec. 10. Any vacancy in the office of the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County shall be filled by appointment by the commissioners court of Nueces County, and the Judge so appointed shall hold office until the next general election and until his successor is duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 11. In the event that the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County is disqualified for any reason to try any case pending in his Court, the parties or their attorneys may agree upon the selection of a special Judge to try such case or cases in the same manner and under the same provisions of law as govern the selection of Special Judges for County Courts of the State of Texas.

Sec. 12. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as any other County Judge may be removed under the laws of this State.

Sec. 13. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 is authorized to appoint an official shorthand reporter for such County Court at Law. Such official shorthand reporter shall receive the same compensation provided for in Article 2326, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County shall have the authority to terminate the employment of such official shorthand reporter at any time.

Sec. 14. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County, and the Judge thereof, shall have power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of said Court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in such cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said Court, or of any other Court in said County of inferior jurisdiction to said County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County.

Sec. 15. All cases appealed from the Justice Courts and other inferior Courts in Nueces County, Texas, shall be made direct to the County Courts at Law of Nueces County, Texas, under the provisions heretofore governing such appeals; provided, however, that such appeals shall be assigned to the proper Court and shall be docketed and heard in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

Sec. 16. The County Clerk of Nueces County, Texas, shall be the Clerk of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County, Texas. The Seal of said Court shall be the same as that provided by law for County Courts, except the Seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County." The Sheriff of Nueces County shall in person or by deputy attend the said Court when required by the Judge thereof. The County Attorney of Nueces County shall represent the State in all prosecutions pending in said County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County, and he shall be entitled to the same fees as now prescribed by law for such prosecutions in the County Courts.

Sec. 17. The jurisdiction and authority now vested by law in the County Court of Nueces County and the County Court at Law No. 1 of Nueces County, for the drawing, selection, and service of jurors, shall be exercised by said Court; but juries summoned for any of said Courts may by order of the Judge of the Court in which they are summoned be transferred to either of the other Courts for service therein and may be used therein as if summoned for the Court to which they may be thus transferred.

Sec. 18. (a) The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County may receive an annual salary in an amount equal to $1,000 less than the salary paid by the State of Texas to a District Judge exercising jurisdiction in Nueces County.

(b) The salary shall be paid in the same manner and from the same fund as prescribed by law for payment of the salary of the County Judge of Nueces County.

(c) The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County shall assess the fees prescribed by law for County Judges, which shall be collected by the Clerk of the Court and paid into the County Treasurer and which may not be paid to the Judge.

Sec. 19. On or before January 1, 1955, the County Clerk of Nueces County shall establish a separate docket for County Court at Law No. 1 and a separate docket for County Court at Law No. 2. The present docket of the County Court at Law shall become the docket of the County Court at Law No. 1. All criminal cases on which original jurisdiction is vested by law at the County Court level shall be retained by the Clerk on the docket of the County Court at Law No. 1. All civil cases, plus all criminal cases which have been appealed to the County Court level from inferior Courts, shall be transferred by the County Clerk to the docket of the County Court at Law No. 2. Thereafter, as new cases are filed with the County Clerk, he shall docket said cases as follows: All criminal cases on which original jurisdiction is vested by law at the County Court level shall be docketed in the County Court at Law No. 1; and all civil cases, plus all criminal cases appealed from Courts of inferior jurisdiction, shall be docketed in the County Court at Law No. 2. Each of said Courts shall give preference to the cases which are originally docketed in their Court.

Sec. 20. Each of the judges of said County Courts at Law may, with the consent of the Judge of the Court to which transfer is to be made, transfer any case, action or proceeding from his Court to the other Court by the entry of an order to that effect upon the docket, and the Court to which such case, action or proceeding is transferred shall have full power and authority to hear and determine same in the same manner and with the same legal effect as if said case had been originally docketed in his Court.

Sec. 21. The Judges of said County Courts at Law may exchange benches from time to time and hear and determine any case, action or proceeding pending in the other Court in the same manner and with the same legal effect as if said case were originally docketed in the Court of the Judge hearing same. The Judge of either of said Courts may issue restraining orders, injunctions, and other extraordinary writs returnable to the other Judge or Court, and either of said Judges may hear and determine preliminary matters with respect to cases, actions or proceedings pending in the other Court; provided, however, that every judgment and order shall be entered in the minutes of the Court in which the case is pending.

Sec. 22. The practice of said County Courts at Law, and in cases of appeal and writs of error therefrom and thereto, shall be the same as is now or may hereafter be prescribed for County Courts.

Sec. 23. All process issued out of the County Court at Law of Nueces County, Texas, prior to the time when the County Clerk shall transfer cases from the present docket to the docket of the County Court at Law No. 2, as provided in Section 19 of this Act shall be returned to and filed in the appropriate County Court at Law as herein provided for; and such process shall be equally as valid and binding upon the parties as though such process had originally been issued out of the County Court at Law to which it is returned. Likewise, in cases hereafter transferred from one of the County Courts at Law to the other by order of the judge of one of said Courts as provided for in Section 20 of this Act, all process extant at the time of such transfer shall be returned to and filed in the Court to which such transfer is made, and shall be as valid and binding as though originally issued out of the Court to which such transfer may be made.

Secs. 24 to 26. [Amend. art. 1970-339, §§ 5, 8, 15]

Sec. 27. Acts 1949, Fifty-first Legislature, Page 692, Chapter 362, known and cited as Article 1970-339, Vernon's Annotated Civil Statutes of the State of Texas, as amended, creating the County Court at Law of Nueces County shall be liberally construed in order that the provisions of same will be harmonized and made consistent with the provisions of this Act.

[Acts 1954, 53rd Leg., 1st C.S., p. 42, ch. 14. Amended by Acts 1955, 54th Leg., p. 5, ch. 5, §§ 3, 4; Acts 1967, 60th Leg., p. 437, ch. 200, §§ 5, 6, 7, 8, eff. Art. 1970-339B. County Courts at Law Nos. 1 and 2 of Nueces County; Eminent Domain Jurisdiction Concurrent with County Court

The Judge of the County Court of Nueces County, Texas, shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the Judges of County Court at Law No. 1 of Nueces County, Texas, and County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County, Texas, to file the statement in eminent domain proceedings and to appoint Special Commissioners, and, where no objections are filed to the award, to cause the decision of the Commissioners to be recorded in the Minutes of the County Court, to make same the judgment of the Court, and to issue necessary process to enforce the same. In all such proceedings where objections to the decision of the Commissioners are filed, the proceedings shall be filed in the County Court at Law No. 1 of Nueces County, Texas, or County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County, Texas.

Art. 1970-339C. County Court at Law No. 3 of Nueces County

Creation and Jurisdiction

Sec. 1. (a) On January 1, 1975, the County Court at Law No. 3 of Nueces County is created.

(b) The Court created by this Act has the same jurisdiction over all causes and proceedings, civil, criminal and probate, original and appellate, including eminent domain proceedings, prescribed by law for either the County Court at Law No. 1 of Nueces County or the County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County.

(c) The judge of the court created by this Act may issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, super-sedeas, and all writs necessary for the enforcement of the jurisdiction of the court. The judge of the court may issue writs of habeas corpus in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the court or of any other court of inferior jurisdiction in the county.

(d) The County Court at Law No. 3 of Nueces County has jurisdiction concurrent with the district courts in eminent domain cases, as provided by general law, and in civil cases when the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $20,000, exclusive of interest. The County Court at Law No. 3 may be designated a juvenile court, as provided by Chapter 178, Acts of the 66th Legislature, Regular Session, 1979 (Article 2338—1.1, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes).

County Court

Sec. 2. The County Court of Nueces County shall have and retain concurrently with the court created by this Act and the other county courts at law in Nueces County the general jurisdiction of a probate court. The county court shall have no other jurisdiction, civil or criminal, original or appellate. All ex officio duties of the county judge shall be exercised and retained by the judge of the County Court of Nueces County, except as provided by this Act or otherwise provided by law.

Terms of Court

Sec. 3. The terms of the court created by this Act are the same as those of the County Court at Law No. 1 and County Court at Law No. 2 of Nueces County.

Judge

Sec. 4. (a) The judge of the court created by this Act shall be a resident of and qualified voter in Nueces County. He shall be a licensed attorney in this State, who has been actively engaged in the practice of law for a period of not less than five years next preceding his election.

(b) At the general election in 1974, there shall be elected a judge of the court created by this Act for a four-year term beginning on January 1, 1975. Every four years thereafter, this officer shall be elected for a regular four-year term as provided in Section 30, Article V, and Section 65, Article XVI, Constitution of Texas.

(c) Any vacancy occurring in the office of the judge of County Court at Law No. 3 shall be filled by the commissioners court of Nueces County, and the appointee shall hold office until the next general election and until his successor is elected and has qualified.

(d) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 3 shall execute a bond and take the oath of office prescribed by law for county judges. He may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as a county judge.

(e) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 3 may receive an annual salary in an amount equal to $1,000 less than the salary paid by the state to a district judge exercising jurisdiction in Nueces County. The salary shall be paid in the same manner and from the same fund as prescribed by law for payment of the salary of the county judge of Nueces County. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 3 shall assess the fees prescribed by law for county judges, which shall be collected by the clerk of the court and paid into the county treasury and which may not be paid to the judge.

(f) A special judge of County Court at Law No. 3 may be selected in the manner provided by law for selection of a special county judge. A special judge is entitled to compensation at a rate of $25 for each day he actually serves, to be paid out of the general fund of the county by the commissioners court.

Court Officials and Personnel

Sec. 5. (a) The county attorney, county clerk, and sheriff of Nueces County shall serve as county attorney, clerk, and sheriff, respectively, for the court created by this Act. The Nueces County commissioners court may employ as many deputy sheriffs and bailiffs as are necessary to serve the court. Those serving shall perform the duties and are entitled to the compensation, fees, and allowances prescribed for their respective offices in Nueces County.

(b) The judge of County Court at Law No. 3 may appoint an official shorthand reporter. The reporter serves at the pleasure of the judge and is entitled to the compensation fixed for the shorthand reporters for the other county courts at law in Nueces County.

Transfer of Cases; Exchange of Benches

Sec. 6. (a) As soon as practicable following the date specified in Section 1(a) of this Act, the Nueces County Clerk shall establish a separate docket for the court created by this Act from among pending matters filed originally in the other county courts at law in the county and shall transfer those matters to the docket of the court created by this Act. Thereafter, as new cases are filed with the County Clerk, he shall equalize the dockets of the three county courts at law, consistent with the docketing preferences assigned by law for the County Court at Law No. 1 and County Court at Law No. 2.

(b) With the consent of the judge of the court to which transfer is to be made, any of the judges of the county courts at law in Nueces County may transfer any case, action, or proceeding from his court to either of the other courts by the entry of an order to that effect upon the docket. The court to which the case, action, or proceeding is transferred shall have full power and authority to hear and determine the matter in the same manner and with the same legal effect as if the case had been originally docketed in his court.

(c) In cases transferred under authority of Subsections (a) or (b) of this section, all processes, writs, bonds, recognizances or other obligations issued or made in the cases shall be returned to and filed in the court to which transfer is made. All bonds executed and recognizances entered into in those cases shall bind the parties for their appearance or to fulfill the obligations of such bonds or recognizances at the terms of the court to which the cases are transferred as are fixed by law. All processes issued or returned before transfer of the cases as well as all bonds and recognizances before taken in the cases shall be valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

(d) The judges of the county courts at law in Nueces County may exchange benches from time to time and hear and determine any case, action, or proceeding in any of the other county courts at law in the county in the same manner and with the same legal effect as if the matter were originally docketed in the court of the judge hearing it. The judge of any of the courts may issue restraining orders, injunctions, and other extraordinary writs returnable to any other of the judges or courts. Any of the judges may hear and determine preliminary matters with respect to cases, actions, or proceedings pending in the other courts. Every judgment and order shall be entered in the minutes of the court in which the case is pending.

Practice; Juries

Sec. 7. (a) Practice in County Court at Law No. 3 shall conform to that prescribed by general law for county courts.

(b) The laws which govern the drawing, selection, service, and pay of jurors for county courts apply to the court created by this Act. Juries summoned for the County Court of Nueces County or any of the county courts at law in that county, by order of the judge of the court in which they are summoned, may be transferred to any of the other courts for service therein and may be used therein as if summoned for the court to which they are transferred.

Facilities

Sec. 8. The commissioners court of Nueces County shall furnish and equip a suitable courtroom and office space for the court created by this Act.

Seal

Sec. 9. The seal of the court created by this Act shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts, except the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law No. 3 of Nueces County."

Art. 1970-339D. County Court at Law No. 4 of Nueces County

Creation

Sec. 1. The County Court at Law No. 4 of Nueces County is created on the date determined under Section 11 of this Act.

Jurisdiction

Sec. 2. (a) The court created by this Act has the same jurisdiction over all causes and proceedings, civil, criminal, and probate, original and appellate, including eminent domain proceedings, prescribed by law for the County Courts at Law Nos. 1, 2, and 3 of Nueces County.

(b) The judge of the court created by this Act may issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all writs necessary for the enforcement of the jurisdiction of the court. The judge of the court may issue writs of habeas corpus in cases in which the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the court or of any other court of inferior jurisdiction in the county.

(c) The County Court at Law No. 4 of Nueces County has concurrent jurisdiction with the district courts in eminent domain cases, as provided by general law, and in civil cases in which the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $20,000, exclusive of interest.

County Court

Sec. 3. The county court has concurrently with the court created by this Act and the other county courts at law in Nueces County the general jurisdiction of a probate court. The county court has no other jurisdiction, civil or criminal, original or appellate. All ex officio duties of the county judge shall be exercised and retained by the judge of the county court, except as provided by this Act or otherwise provided by law.

Terms

Sec. 4. The terms of the court created by this Act are the same as those of the other county courts at law of Nueces County.

Judge

Sec. 5. (a) The judge of the court created by this Act must be a resident of and qualified voter in Nueces County. He must be a licensed attorney in this state, who has been actively engaged in the practice of law for at least five years immediately preceding his election or appointment.

(b) At the first general election at which county court at law judges are regularly elected after creation of the court, the qualified voters of the county shall elect a judge of the court created by this Act for a four-year term. Every four years thereafter, the judge shall be elected for a regular four-year term as provided by Article V, Section 30, and Article XVI, Section 65, of the Texas Constitution.

(c) The commissioners court shall appoint a person to fill a vacancy occurring in the office of the judge of the County Court at Law No. 4. The appointee holds office until the next general election and until his successor is elected and has qualified.

(d) The judge of County Court at Law No. 4 shall execute a bond and take the oath of office prescribed by law for county judges. He may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as a county judge.

(e) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 4 is entitled to receive an annual salary in an amount equal to $1,000 less than the salary paid by the state to a district judge exercising jurisdiction in Nueces County. The salary shall be paid in the same manner and from the same fund as prescribed by law for payment of the salary of the county judge. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 4 shall assess the fees prescribed by law for county judges. The clerk of the court shall collect the fees and pay them into the county treasury. Fees may not be paid to the judge.

(f) If the regular judge of County Court at Law No. 4 is absent or is from any cause disabled or disqualified from presiding, a special judge may be appointed by the commissioners court. The person appointed must be recommended by the regular judge of the county court at law, or, if the judge is unable for any reason to recommend a person, by the board of directors of the Nueces County Bar Association. A special judge is entitled to the same rate of compensation as the regular judge. A special judge has all the powers, duties, and immunities of the regular judge.

Court Officials and Personnel

Sec. 6. (a) The county attorney, county clerk, and sheriff of Nueces County shall serve as county attorney, clerk, and sheriff, respectively, for the court created by this Act. The commissioners court may employ as many deputy sheriffs and bailiffs as are necessary to serve the court. Those officials serving shall perform the duties and are entitled to the compensation, fees, and allowances prescribed for their respective offices in Nueces County.

(b) The judge of County Court at Law No. 4 may appoint an official shorthand reporter. The reporter serves at the pleasure of the judge and is entitled to the compensation fixed for the shorthand reporters for the other county courts at law in Nueces County.

Transfer of Cases; Exchange of Benches

Sec. 7. (a) With the consent of the judge of the court to which transfer is to be made, the judge of any of the county courts at law in Nueces County may transfer any case, action, or proceeding from his court to either of the other courts by the entry of an order to that effect upon the docket. The court to which the case, action, or proceeding is transferred has full power and authority to hear and determine the matter in the same manner and with the same legal effect as if the case had been originally docketed in his court.

(b) In cases transferred as provided by this section, all processes, writs, bonds, recognizances or other obligations issued or made in the cases shall be returned to and filed in the court to which transfer is made. All bonds executed and recogni-zances entered into in those cases bind the parties for their appearance or to fulfill the obligations of the bonds or recognizances at the terms of the court to which the cases are transferred as are fixed by law. All processes issued or returned before transfer of the cases and all bonds and recognizances before taken in the cases are valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

(c) The judges of the county courts at law in Nueces County may exchange benches from time to time and hear and determine any case, action, or proceeding in any of the other county courts at law in the county in the same manner and with the same legal effect as if the matter were originally docketed in the court of the judge hearing it. The judge of any of the courts may issue restraining orders, injunctions, and other extraordinary writs returnable to any other of the judges or courts. Any of the judges may hear and determine preliminary matters with respect to cases, actions, or proceedings pending in the other courts. Every judgment and order shall be entered in the minutes of the court in which the case is pending.

Practice; Juries

Sec. 8. (a) Practice in County Court at Law No. 4 shall conform to that prescribed by general law for county courts.

(b) The laws that govern the drawing, selection, service, and pay of jurors for county courts apply to the court created by this Act. Juries summoned for the county court or any of the county courts at law in Nueces County, by order of the judge of the court in which they are summoned, may be transferred to any of the other courts for service in that court and may be used as if summoned for the court to which they are transferred.

Facilities

Sec. 9. The commissioners court shall furnish and equip a suitable courtroom and office space for the court created by this Act.

Seal

Sec. 10. The seal of the court created by this Act shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts, except the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law No. 4 of Nueces County."

Date of Creation

Sec. 11. The county Court at Law No. 4 of Nueces County is created on January 1, 1986, or on an earlier date determined by the commissioners court by an order entered in its minutes.

Initial Appointment of Judge

Sec. 12. The commissioners court shall appoint a person to fill the vacancy existing on the creation of the office of judge as provided by Subsection (c) of Section 5 of this Act. The appointee must have the qualifications required of the regular judge.

Initial Transfer of Cases

Sec. 13. As soon as practicable following creation of the court, the county clerk shall establish a separate docket for the court created by this Act from among pending matters filed originally in the other county courts at law in the county and shall transfer those matters to the docket of the court created by this Act. Thereafter, as new cases are filed with the county clerk, the clerk shall equalize the dockets of the county courts at law, consistent with the docketing preferences assigned by law for the other county courts at law.

Creation of Court in Uniform Act

Sec. 14. If H.B. 36 or S.B. 457, Acts of the 68th Legislature, Regular Session, 1983 (enacting a uniform statutory court act), becomes law and creates the Circuit Court No. 4 of Nueces County, the uniform act governs that court, and this Act has no effect.¹

¹ Neither H.B. 36 nor S.B. 457 became law.

Effective Date

Sec. 15. This Act takes effect September 1, 1983.

LUBBOCK COUNTY

Art. 1970-340. County Court at Law No. 1 of Lubbock County

Sec. 1. There is hereby created a Court to be held in Lubbock, Lubbock County, Texas, which shall be known as the County Court of Lubbock County at Law.

Sec. 1a. The name and designation of the court created by this Act is hereby changed to the "County Court at Law No. 1 of Lubbock County" and wherever the name "County Court at Law of Lubbock County" shall appear in this Act it shall be deemed to refer to the "County Court at Law No. 1 of Lubbock County."

Sec. 2. The County Court at Law No. 1 of Lubbock County, Texas, shall have and exercise jurisdiction in all matters and causes, civil and criminal, original and appellate, over which by the General Laws of the State, the County Court of said County would have jurisdiction, and the County Court at Law No. 1 shall have and exercise jurisdiction as to all probate matters concurrently with the County Court and any other numbered County Court at Law of Lubbock County. The County Court at Law No. 1 has jurisdiction concurrently with the district court in eminent domain cases, as provided by general law; but this provision shall not affect the jurisdiction of the Commissioners Court or of the County Judge of Lubbock County as the presiding officers of such Commissioners Court, as to roads, bridges, and public highways, and matters of emiment domain which are now in the jurisdiction of the Commissioners Court or the Judge thereof.

Sec. 2a. In addition to the jurisdiction now conferred upon the County Court at Law No. 1 of Lubbock County, by the Constitution and Laws of the State of Texas, said court shall hereinafter have and exercise concurrent civil jurisdiction with the district courts in Lubbock County, in suits, causes, and matters involving adoptions, removal of disability of minority and coverture, and all divorce and marriage annulment cases, including the adjustment of property rights and custody and support of minor children involved therein, alimony pending final hearing, and any and every other matter incident to divorce or annulment proceedings as well as independent actions involving child support and custody of minors, and change of name of persons. This court and the judges thereof shall have the power to issue writs of habeas corpus, mandamus, injunction, and all writs necessary to enforce their jurisdiction.

Sec. 2b. In addition to the jurisdiction now conferred upon the County Court at Law No. 1 of Lubbock County by the Constitution and Laws of the State of Texas said court shall hereinafter have and exercise concurrent civil jurisdiction with the district courts in Lubbock County in all civil cases and matters when the matter in controversy shall exceed Five Hundred Dollars ($500) and not exceed Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000), exclusive of interest.

Sec. 2c. After the effective date of this amendment all cases of concurrent jurisdiction enumerated or included in Section 2a of this Act may be instituted in or transferred between the district courts of Lubbock County and the County Court at Law No. 1 of Lubbock County. The District Clerk of Lubbock County shall be the clerk of the County Court at Law No. 1 in all those cases enumerated in Section 2a.

Sec. 2d. Practice and procedure, rules of evidence, issuance of process and writs, and all other matters pertaining to the conduct of trials and hearings in this court involving those matters of concurrent jurisdiction enumerated in Section 2a of this Act shall be governed by the provisions of this Act and the laws and rules pertaining to district courts, general or special, as well as county courts. In cases in which this court has concurrent jurisdiction with the district courts as herein provided, juries shall be composed of 12 members. Nothing in this Act shall diminish the jurisdiction of the several district courts in Lubbock County and the county court of Lubbock County, and such courts shall retain and continue to exercise such jurisdiction as is now or may be hereafter conferred by law, and the jurisdiction given herein is concurrent with the jurisdiction of said courts.

Sec. 2e. The County Court at Law No. 1 in only those cases of concurrent jurisdiction enumerated in Section 2a of this Act, shall have the same terms of court as those district courts sitting only in Lubbock County as are presently established or as they may hereinafter be changed. In all cases, other than those of concurrent jurisdiction enumerated in Section 2a of this Act, the terms of this court shall be unchanged.

Sec. 2f. Article 1951, Revised Statutes, does not apply to the County Court at Law No. 1 of Lubbock County. Neither Article 1951 nor Section 4, Chapter 832, Acts of the 62nd Legislature, Regular Session, 1971 (Article 3266a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), affects or diminishes the jurisdiction of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Lubbock County.

Sec. 3. The County Court at Law of Lubbock County shall have and exercise original concurrent jurisdiction with the Justice Courts in all civil and criminal matters which by the General Laws of this State is conferred upon Justice Courts.

Sec. 4. No appeal or writ of error shall be taken to the Court of Civil Appeals from any final judgment of said County Court of Lubbock County at Law in civil cases of which said Court had appellate or original concurrent jurisdiction with the Justice Court, where the judgment or amount in controversy would not exceed One Hundred Dollars ($100), exclusive of interest and costs.

Sec. 5. This Act shall not be construed to deprive the Justice Courts of jurisdiction now conferred upon them by law, but only to give concurrent original jurisdiction to said County Court of Lubbock County at Law over such matters as are specified in this Act, nor shall this Act be construed to deny the return of an appeal to the County Court of Lubbock County at Law from the Justice Court, where the return of appeals to the County Court now exists by law.

Sec. 6. The County Court of Lubbock County shall have and retain the general jurisdiction of the Probate Court concurrently with the County Courts at Law of Lubbock County; but the County Court now existing shall have no jurisdiction over other matters, civil or criminal. The County Judge of Lubbock County shall be the Judge of the County Court of said County, and all ex-officio duties of the County Judge shall be exercised by said Judge of the County Court of Lubbock County, except in so far as the same shall by this Act be committed to the County Court at Law No. 1 of Lubbock County.

Sec. 7. The jurisdiction and authority now vested by law in the Court of Lubbock County for drawing, selection and service of jurors shall be exercised by said Court by jury summons for either the County Court of Lubbock County or the County Court at Law of Lubbock County may, by the Judge of the Court in which they are summoned, be transferred to the other County Court for service therein and may be used in such other Court as if summoned for jury service for the Court to which they may be thus transferred.

Sec. 8. The terms of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Lubbock County begin on the first Monday in January and the first Monday in July of each year. Each term of court continues until the next succeeding term begins.

Sec. 9. There shall be elected in Lubbock County by the qualified voters thereof, at each general election, a Judge of the County Court at Law of Lubbock County, who shall be a regularly licensed attorney at law in this State. No person shall be elected or appointed Judge of said Court who has not been a resident citizen of said Lubbock County for the immediate preceding two years and a practicing attorney of the State of Texas for at least five years immediately prior to his appointment or election. The person elected such Judge shall hold his office for two years, and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 10. The County Attorney of Lubbock County shall represent the State in all prosecutions in said County Court at Law of Lubbock County, as provided by law for such prosecutions in County Courts, and shall be entitled to the same fees as now prescribed by law for such prosecutions in the County Courts.

Sec. 11. As soon as this Act becomes effective the Commissioners Court of Lubbock County shall appoint a Judge of the County Court at Law of Lubbock County, who shall hold his office until the next general election and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified, and shall provide suitable quarters for the holding of said Court.

Sec. 12. The Judge of the County Court at Law of Lubbock County may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as any County Judge may be removed under the laws of this State.

Sec. 13. The Judge of the County Court at Law of Lubbock County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to County Judges.

Sec. 14. A special Judge of the County Court at Law of Lubbock County may be appointed or elected as provided by law relating to County Courts and to the Judge thereof, who shall receive the sum of Fifteen Dollars ($15) per day for each day he so actually served, to be paid out of the general fund of the County by the Commissioners Court.

Sec. 15. In the case of the disqualification of the Judge of the County Court at Law of Lubbock County to try any case pending in his Court, the parties or their attorneys may agree on the selection of a special Judge to try such case or cases where the Judge of the County Court at Law of Lubbock County is disqualified. In case of the selection of such special Judge by agreement of the parties or their attorneys, such special Judge shall draw the same compensation as that provided in Section 14 of this Act.

Sec. 16. The County Court at Law of Lubbock County, or the Judge thereof, shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, superseas, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of jurisdiction of said Court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in such cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said Court, or of any other Court in said County of inferior jurisdiction to said County Court at Law.

Sec. 17. The County Clerk of Lubbock County shall be the Clerk of the County Court at Law of Lubbock County, and the seal of said Court shall be the same as that provided by law for County Courts, except the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law of Lubbock County."

Sec. 18. The Sheriff of Lubbock County shall in person or by deputy attend the said Court when required by the Judge thereof.

Sec. 19. The jurisdiction of authority now vested by law in the County Court for the selection and service of jurors shall be exercised by the County Court at Law of Lubbock County. All petit jurors summoned for all civil and criminal cases under existing laws at the time this Act takes effect, shall be as valid as if no change had been made and the persons constituting such jury panels shall be required to appear and serve at the ensuing term of said Courts as fixed by this Act, and their acts as jurors shall be as valid as if they had been selected as jurors in the Court for which they were originally drawn.

Sec. 20. Any vacancy in the office of the Judge of the County Court at Law of Lubbock County shall be filled by the Commissioners Court, and when so filled the Judge shall hold office until the next general election and until his successor is elected and qualified.

Sec. 21. After the effective date of this amendment, the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Lubbock County shall receive an annual salary in an amount not less than three-fourths ($\frac{3}{4}$) of the total annual salary paid to the Judge of the 99th Judicial District of Texas by the State of Texas. This sum shall be paid in equal monthly installments out of the General Fund of Lubbock County on orders from the Commissioners Court.

Sec. 22. The Judge of the County Court at Law of Lubbock County shall assess the same fees as are now prescribed by law relating to the County Judge's fees, all of which shall be collected by the clerk of the Court and shall be paid into the County Treasury on collection, no part of which shall be paid to the said Judge, but he shall draw the salary as above specified in this Act.

Sec. 23. The Judge of the County Court at Law of Lubbock County, Texas, shall appoint an official shorthand reporter for such Court who shall be well skilled in his profession and shall be a sworn officer of the Court and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the Court. Such reporter shall take the oath required of official Court Reporters and shall receive a salary as set by the Commissioners Court of Lubbock County, Texas, of not less than Three Thousand Dollars ($3,000) per annum, to be paid out of the County Treasury of Lubbock County, Texas, as other County officials are paid, in equal monthly installments. All other provisions of Chapter 13, Title 42, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended and as the same may hereafter be amended and all other provisions of the law relating to official Court Reporters shall be and is hereby made to apply in all its provisions in so far as they are applicable to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed and in so far as they are not inconsistent with this Act.

Sec. 24. The laws of Texas and the rules of procedure and rules of evidence governing trials in and appeals from all proceedings in County Courts shall be applicable to, govern and control proceedings in and appeals from the County Court at Law of Lubbock County.

Sec. 25. All cases appealed from the Justice Court and other inferior Courts of Lubbock County, Texas, shall be made direct to the County Court at Law of Lubbock County, under the provisions governing appeals to County Courts.

Sec. 26. The Judge of the County Court at Law of Lubbock County is authorized to appoint an official interpreter for such County Court at Law. And the County Commissioners shall by resolution fix the compensation of said official interpreter and provide for the payment of such compensation and shall prescribe the duties of such official interpreter. The Judge of the County Court at Law of Lubbock County shall have authority to terminate the employment of such interpreter at any time. The official interpreter so appointed by the Judge of the said County Court at Law shall take the constitutional oath of office, and in addition thereto shall make oath that as such official interpreter he will faithfully interpret all testimony given in the County Court at Law, and which oaths shall qualify him for service as official interpreter of such Court in all cases before such Court during his term of office.

Sec. 27. If any part, section, paragraph, sentence, or clause contained in this Act shall be held by the Courts to be unconstitutional, such holding shall not affect the validity of the remaining portion of this Act, and the Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed such remaining portion despite such invalidity.

Art. 1970-340.1. County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County

Sec. 1. There is hereby created a Court to be held in Lubbock, Lubbock County, Texas, which shall be known as the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County, Texas.

Sec. 2. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County, Texas, shall have and exercise jurisdiction in all matters and causes, civil and criminal, original and appellate, over which by the General Laws of the State, the County Court of said County would have jurisdiction, and the County Court at Law No. 2 shall have and exercise jurisdiction as to all probate matters concurrently with the County Court and any other numbered County Court at Law of Lubbock County. The County Court at Law No. 2 has jurisdiction concurrently with the district court in eminent domain cases, as provided by general law; but this provision shall not affect the jurisdiction of the Commissioners Court or of the County Judge of Lubbock County as the presiding officers of such Commissioners Court, as to roads, bridges, and public highways, and matters of eminent domain which are now in the jurisdiction of the Commissioners Court or the Judge thereof.

Sec. 2a. In addition to the jurisdiction now conferred upon the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County, by the Constitution and Laws of the State of Texas, said court shall hereinafter have and exercise concurrent civil jurisdiction with the district courts in Lubbock County, in suits, causes, and matters involving adoptions, removal of disability of minority and coverture, and all divorce and marriage annulment cases, including the adjustment of property rights and custody and support of minor children involved therein, alimony pending final hearing, and any and every other matter incident to divorce or annulment proceedings as well as independent actions involving child support and custody of minors, and change of name of persons. This court and the judges thereof shall have the power to issue writs of habeas corpus, mandamus, injunction, and all writs necessary to enforce their jurisdiction.

Sec. 2b. In addition to the jurisdiction now conferred upon the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County by the Constitution and Laws of the State of Texas said court shall hereinafter have and exercise concurrent civil jurisdiction with the district courts in Lubbock County in all civil cases and matters when the matter in controversy shall exceed Five Hundred Dollars ($500) and not exceed Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000), exclusive of interest.

Sec. 2c. After the effective date of this amendment all cases of concurrent jurisdiction enumerated or included in Section 2a of this Act may be instituted in or transferred between the district courts of Lubbock County and the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County. The District Clerk of Lubbock County shall be the clerk of the County Court at Law No. 2 in all those cases enumerated in Section 2a.

Sec. 2d. Practice and procedure, rules of evidence, issuance of process and writs, and all other matters pertaining to the conduct of trials and hearings in this court involving those matters of concurrent jurisdiction enumerated in Section 2a of this Act shall be governed by the provisions of this Act and the laws and rules pertaining to district courts, general or special, as well as county courts. In cases in which this court has concurrent jurisdiction with the district courts as herein provided, juries shall be composed of 12 members. Nothing in this Act shall diminish the jurisdiction of the several district courts in Lubbock County and the county court of Lubbock County, and such courts shall retain and continue to exercise such jurisdiction as is now or may be hereafter conferred by law, and the jurisdiction given herein is concurrent with the jurisdiction of said courts.

Sec. 2e. The County Court at Law No. 2 in only those cases of concurrent jurisdiction enumerated in Section 2a of this Act, shall have the same terms of court as those district courts sitting only in Lubbock County as are presently established or as they may hereinafter be changed. In all cases, other than those of concurrent jurisdiction enumerated in Section 2a of this Act, the terms of this court shall be unchanged.

Sec. 2f. Article 1951, Revised Statutes, does not apply to the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County. Neither Article 1951 nor Section 4, Chapter 832, Acts of the 62nd Legislature, Regular Session, 1971 (Article 3266a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), affects or diminishes the jurisdiction of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County.

Sec. 3. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County shall have and exercise original concurrent jurisdiction with the Justice Courts in all civil and criminal matters which by the General Laws of this State is conferred upon Justice Courts.

Sec. 4. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County shall have concurrent original jurisdiction with the County Court at Law No. 1 of Lubbock County. The Judges in either County Court at Law may try cases in the other County Court at Law and cases may be transferred by the respective Judges from one (1) Court to the other County Court at Law.

Sec. 5. No appeal or writ of error shall be taken to the Court of Civil Appeals from any final judgment of said County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County in civil cases of which said Court had appellate or original concurrent jurisdiction with the Justice Court, where the judgment or amount in controversy would not exceed One Hundred Dollars ($100), exclusive of interest and costs.

Sec. 6. This Act shall not be construed to deprive the Justice Courts of jurisdiction now conferred upon them by law, but only to give concurrent original jurisdiction to said County Courts at Law of Lubbock County over such matters as are specified in this Act, nor shall this Act be construed to deny the return of an appeal to the County Courts at Law of Lubbock County from the Justice Court, where the return of appeals to the County Court at Law or the County Court now exists by law.

Sec. 7. The County Court of Lubbock County shall have and retain the general jurisdiction of the Probate Court concurrently with the County Courts at Law of Lubbock County; but the County Court now existing shall have no jurisdiction over other matters, civil or criminal. The County Judge of Lubbock County shall be the Judge of the County Court of said County, and all ex officio duties of the County Judge shall be exercised by said Judge of the County Court of Lubbock County, except in so far as the same shall by this Act be committed to the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County.

Sec. 8. The jurisdiction and authority now vested by law in the County Court of Lubbock County and the County Court at Law No. 1 of Lubbock County, for the drawing, selection, and service of jurors, shall be exercised by said Court; but juries summoned for any of said Courts may by order of the Judge of the Court in which they are summoned be transferred to either of the other Courts for service therein and may be used therein as if summoned for the Court to which they may be thus transferred.

Sec. 9. The terms of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County begin on the first Monday in January and the first Monday in July of each year. Each term of court continues until the next succeeding term begins.

Sec. 10. There shall be elected in Lubbock County by the qualified voters thereof, at each general election, a Judge for the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County, who shall be a regularly licensed attorney at law in this State. No person shall be elected or appointed Judge of said Court who has not been a resident citizen of said Lubbock County for the immediate preceding two (2) years and a practicing attorney of the State of Texas for at least five (5) years immediately prior to his appointment or election. The person elected as such Judge shall hold his office for four (4) years and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 11. The County Attorney of Lubbock County shall represent the State in all prosecutions in said County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County, as provided by law for such prosecutions in County Courts, and shall be entitled to the same fees as now prescribed by law for such prosecutions in the County Courts.

Sec. 12. As soon as this Act becomes effective the Commissioners Court of Lubbock County shall appoint a Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County, who shall hold his office until the next general election and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified, and shall provide suitable quarters for the holding of said Court.

Sec. 13. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as any County Judge may be removed under the laws of this State.

Sec. 14. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to County Judges.

Sec. 15. A special Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County may be appointed or elected as provided by law relating to County Courts and to the Judge thereof, who shall receive the sum of Fifteen Dollars ($15) per day for each day he so actually served, to be paid out of the general fund of the County by the Commissioners Court.

Sec. 16. In the case of the disqualification of the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County to try any case pending in his Court, the parties or their attorneys may agree on the selection of a special Judge to try such case or cases where the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County is disqualified. In case of the selection of such special Judge by agreement of the parties or their attorneys, such special Judge shall draw the same compensation as that provided in Section 15 of this Act.

Sec. 17. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County, or the Judge thereof, shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of jurisdiction of said Court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in such cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said Court, or of any other Court in said County of inferior jurisdiction to said County Court at Law No. 2.

Sec. 18. The County Clerk of Lubbock County shall be the Clerk of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County, and the seal of said Court shall be the same as that provided by law for County Courts, except the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law of Lubbock County."

Sec. 19. The Sheriff of Lubbock County shall in person or by deputy attend the said Court when required by the Judge thereof.

Sec. 20. The jurisdiction and authority now vested by law in the County Court and in the County Court at Law No. 1, of Lubbock County for the selection and service of jurors shall also be exercised by the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County. All petit jurors summoned for all civil and criminal cases under existing laws at the time this Act takes effect, shall be as valid as if no change had been made and the persons constituting such jury panels shall be required to appear and serve at the ensuing term of said Courts as fixed by this Act, and their acts as jurors shall be as valid as if they had been selected as jurors in the Court for which they were originally drawn.

Sec. 21. Any vacancy in the office of the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County shall be filled by the Commissioners Court, and when so filled the Judge shall hold office until the next General Election and until his successor is elected and qualified.

Sec. 22. After the effective date of this amendment, the Judge of the County Court of Lubbock County and the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County shall receive an annual salary in an amount not less than three-fourths ($\frac{3}{4}$) of the total annual salary paid to the Judge of the 99th Judicial District of Texas by the State of Texas. This sum shall be paid in equal monthly installments out of the General Fund of Lubbock County on orders from the Commissioners Court.

Sec. 23. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County shall assess the same fees as are now prescribed by law relating to the County Judge's fees, all of which shall be collected by the clerk of the Court and shall be paid into the County Treasury on collection, no part of which shall be paid to the said Judge, but he shall draw the salary as above specified in this Act.

Sec. 24. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County, Texas, shall appoint an official shorthand reporter for such Court who shall be well-skilled in his profession and shall be a sworn officer of the Court and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the Court. Such reporter shall take the oath required of official Court Reporters and shall receive a salary as set by the Commissioners Court of Lubbock County, Texas, of not less than Three Thousand Dollars ($3,000) per annum, to be paid out of the County Treasury of Lubbock County, Texas, as other County officials are paid, in equal monthly installments. All other provisions of Chapter 13, Title 42, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended and as the same may hereafter be amended and all other provisions of the law relating to official Court Reporters shall be and are hereby made to apply in all their provisions in so far as they are applicable to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed and in so far as they are not inconsistent with this Act.

Sec. 25. The laws of Texas and the rules of procedure and rules of evidence governing trials in and appeals from all proceedings in County Courts shall be applicable to, govern and control proceedings in and appeals from the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County.

Sec. 26. All cases appealed from the Justice Court and other inferior Courts of Lubbock County, Texas, shall be made direct to the County Court at Law No. 1 or No. 2 of Lubbock County, under the provisions governing appeals to County Courts.

Sec. 27. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County is authorized to appoint an official interpreter for such County Court at Law. And the County Commissioners shall by resolution fix the compensation and shall prescribe the duties of such official interpreter. The Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County shall have authority to terminate the employment of such interpreter at any time. The official interpreter so appointed by the Judge of the said County Court at Law shall take the constitutional oath of office, and in addition thereto shall make oath that as such official interpreter he will faithfully interpret all testimony given in the County Court at Law No. 2 and which oaths shall qualify him for service as official interpreter of such Court in all cases before such Court during his term of office.

HIDALGO COUNTY

Art. 1970-341. County Court at Law of Hidalgo County

Sec. 1. There is hereby created a Court to be held in and for Hidalgo County, Texas, which shall be known as the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County, Texas, and which shall be a court of record.

Sec. 2. Said County Court at Law of Hidalgo County, Texas, shall have and exercise jurisdiction in all matters and causes civil and criminal, original and appellate, over which by the General Laws of the State, the County Court of Hidalgo County, Texas, would have jurisdiction; and all cases pending in the County Court of said County, except as hereafter provided, shall be and the same are hereby transferred to the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County, and all writs and process, civil and criminal, heretofore issued by or out of the County Court of Hidalgo County except those pertaining to matters as hereafter provided to remain in the County Court of Hidalgo County, shall be and the same are hereby made returnable to the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County; and all cases pending in the District Court of the 92nd Judicial District which cases involve matters over which, by General Law, the County Court of Hidalgo County would have exclusive original jurisdiction, shall be and the same are hereby transferred to the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County, and all writs and processes heretofore issued by or out of the said District Court of the 92nd Judicial District pertaining to such cases shall be and the same are made returnable to the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County.

The jurisdiction of the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County and of the Judge thereof shall extend to all matters of eminent domain of which jurisdiction has heretofore been vested in the County Court of Hidalgo County or in the County Judge; but this provision shall not affect the jurisdiction of the Commissioners Court or of the County Judge of Hidalgo County as the presiding officer of said Commissioners Court as to roads, bridges, and public highways and matters of eminent domain which are now within the jurisdiction of the Commissioners Court or the presiding Judge thereof.

Sec. 2A. The County Court at Law of Hidalgo County has concurrent civil jurisdiction with the district court in cases in which the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $20,000, excluding interest.

Sec. 3. The County Court at Law of Hidalgo County shall also have the general jurisdiction of a probate court within the limits of Hidalgo County, concurrent with jurisdiction of the County Court of Hidalgo County in such matters and proceedings. Such County Court at Law of Hidalgo County shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of executors, transact all business appertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis and common drunkards, including the settlement, partition and distribution of estates of deceased persons, the apprenticing of minors as provided by law, and conduct lunacy proceedings.

As soon as may be practical but not later than one month after the effective date of this Act, there shall be transferred to the probate docket of the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County, under the direction of the County Judge and by order entered on the minutes of the County Court of Hidalgo County, such number of such probate proceedings and matters pending on the effective date of this Act in the County Court of Hidalgo County as shall be, as near as may be, one half (½) in number of the total of all of same then pending, and all writs and processes theretofore issued by or out of said County Court in Hidalgo County in such matters or proceedings shall be returnable to the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County as though originally issued therefrom. All such new probate matters and proceedings filed after the effective date of this Act with the County Clerk of Hidalgo County irrespective of the Court or Judge to which the matter or proceeding is addressed shall be filed by said Clerk alternately in said respective courts in the order in which same are deposited with him for filing, beginning first with the County Court of Hidalgo County. The County Judge of Hidalgo County, in his discretion, may from time to time, by order or orders entered upon the minutes of the County Court of Hidalgo County transfer to the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County any such probate matter or proceeding then pending in the County Court of Hidalgo County, and all processes extant at the time of such transfer shall be returned to and filed in the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County, and shall be as valid and binding as though originally issued out of said County Court at Law of Hidalgo County.

Sec. 4. The County Court of Hidalgo County shall have and retain concurrently with the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County the general jurisdiction of a probate court and of jurisdiction now conferred or which may be conferred by law over probate matters, but shall have no other jurisdiction criminal or civil, original or appellate. The District Court of the 92nd Judicial District shall have and retain all jurisdictions conferred by Acts, 1931, Forty-second Legislature, Page 876, Chapter 370, (Article 199, Section 92, Vernon's Annotated Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925), save and except jurisdiction over all civil matters which, by general law the County Court of Hidalgo County would have exclusive original jurisdiction and said jurisdiction over all civil matters which by general law, the County Court of Hidalgo County would have exclusive original jurisdiction is hereby transferred from said District Court of the 92nd Judicial District to the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County. The County Judge of Hidalgo County shall be the Judge of the County Court of Hidalgo County and all ex-officio, executive, ministerial and administrative duties of the County Judge of Hidalgo County, as they now exist, shall continue to be exercised by the County Judge of Hidalgo County. Administrative, executive, ministerial and ex-officio duties of the County Judge shall include the duty of the County Judge to preside over and be a member of the Commissioners Court of Hidalgo County, to receive and hear applications for license as a dealer in beer or wine, to process applications to State Tuberculosis Sanatoriums, and the like; this listing of duties shall not be construed or deemed to be exclusive but is given to be illustrative only of administrative, executive, ministerial and ex-officio duties to be exercised by the County Judge of Hidalgo County, the only limitation being that he shall no longer act in any proceeding of a judicial nature save in probate matters.

Sec. 5. The County Court at Law of Hidalgo County shall sit in the County seat of Hidalgo County and shall hold continuous terms which commence on the first Monday in January and on the first Monday in July of each year. Each term of court continues until the next succeeding term begins. The practice in said Court, and appeals and writs of error thereto and therefrom, shall be as prescribed by the laws and rules relating to County Courts.

Sec. 6. There shall be elected in Hidalgo County by the qualified voters thereof, at each general election, a Judge of the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County who shall be a regularly licensed attorney at law in this State, and who shall be a resident citizen of Hidalgo County, and shall have been actively engaged in the practice of law in this State for a period of not less than four (4) years next preceding such general election, who shall hold his office for two (2) years and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified. As soon as this Act becomes effective, the Commissioners Court of Hidalgo County shall appoint a Judge to the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County who shall hold this office as such Judge until the next general election and until his successor is elected and qualified; any subsequent vacancies in the office of the Judge of the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County shall be filled by appointment of the Commissioners Court of Hidalgo County and when so filled, the said Judge shall hold his office until the next general election and until his successor is elected and qualified.

Sec. 7. The Judge of the County Court at Law shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to County Judges.

Sec. 8. A Special Judge of the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County may be appointed or elected as provided by law relating to County Courts and to the Judges thereof, who shall be compensated in the same manner as provided for special judges of the County Courts. In probate matters, in the absence, disqualification or incapacity of the Judge of the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County, the County Judge of Hidalgo County may sit and act as Judge of the County Court at Law, and may hear and determine, either in his own courtroom or in the courtroom of the County Court at Law any matter or proceedings there pending, and enter any orders in such matters or proceedings as the Judge of the County Court at Law may enter if personally presiding therein. Likewise, in probate matters, the Judge of the County Court at Law, may, in the absence, disqualification or incapacity of the County Judge, sit and act as Judge of the County Court, and may hear and determine, either in his own courtroom or in the courtroom of the County Court, any matter or proceeding there pending and enter any orders in such matters or proceedings as the County Judge may enter if personally presiding therein. The signature of either Judge on an order shall be conclusive that all conditions have been met or complied with to qualify him to act for the other in such probate matters.

Sec. 9. The Judge of the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as provided by law for County Judges.

Sec. 10. The Judge of the County Court at Law shall appoint an official shorthand reporter for such Court who shall be well skilled in his profession, shall be a sworn officer of the Court and shall hold office at the pleasure of said Judge. The duties of such reporter shall be the same as provided by general law for reporters of the District Courts and the salary of the reporter shall be set by the Judge as provided by general law for reporters of District Courts and paid monthly by the Commissioners Court out of any funds available for the purpose. The clerk of the Court shall tax as costs in each case, civil, criminal and probate where a record or any part thereof is made of the evidence in said case by the reporter, a stenographer's fee of Three Dollars ($3). Said fee shall be paid as other costs in the case and paid by the clerk, when collected, into the general fund of the County.

Sec. 11. (a) The Judge of the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County is entitled to receive an annual salary, the amount of which shall be fixed by the Commissioners Court of Hidalgo County. The salary shall be paid in the same manner and from the same fund as prescribed by law for payment of the salary of the County Judge of Hidalgo County.

(b) The judge of the county court at law shall assess the fees prescribed by law for county judges, which shall be collected by the clerk of the court and paid into the county treasury, and which may not be paid to the judge.

Sec. 12. The official interpreter of the District Courts of Hidalgo County shall serve as official interpreter of the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County, Texas, but if such official interpreter be not available when needed for service in said County Court at Law, the Judge of said Court is authorized to appoint an interpreter who shall serve only temporarily and who shall be paid not to exceed Five Dollars ($5) per day out of the general fund of the County on certificate of said Judge. Upon concurrence of the County Commissioners Court, the Judge of the County Court at Law may appoint an official interpreter for such Court as provided by general law.

Sec. 13. The County Court at Law of Hidalgo County, or the Judge thereof, shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, superseadeas, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of jurisdiction of said Court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in such cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said Court, or of any other Court in said County of inferior jurisdiction to said County Court at Law, and to punish for contempt under such provisions as are or may be provided by general laws governing County Courts, and said Judge shall have all other powers, duties, immunities and privileges as are or may be provided by general law for Judges of Courts of Record and for Judges of County Courts at Law, and he shall be a magistrate and a conservator of the peace.

Sec. 14. The County Clerk of Hidalgo County shall be the Clerk of the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County, and as clerk of such Court he shall have the same powers, duties, privileges and immunities as provided by law for County Clerks and the seal of said Court shall be the same as that provided by law for County Courts, except the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law of Hidalgo County, Texas."

Sec. 15. The sheriff of Hidalgo County shall in person or by deputy attend the said County Court at Law when required by the Judge thereof.

Sec. 16. The jurisdiction and authority now vested by law in the County Court of Hidalgo County and the Judge thereof, for the drawing, selection and service of jurors and talesmen shall also be exercised by the County Court at Law and the Judge thereof; but jurors and talesmen summoned for either of said Courts may by order of the Judge of the Court in which they are summoned, be transferred to the other Court for service therein and may be used therein as if summoned for the Court to which they may be thus transferred. Upon concurrence of the Judge of the County Court at Law and the County Judge, jurors may be summoned for service in both Courts and shall be used interchangeably in both such Courts.

Jurors regularly impaneled for the week by the District Court or Courts may on request of either the County Judge or the Judge of the County Court at Law, be made available by the District Judge or Judges in such numbers as may be requested, for service for the week in either or both the County Court or the County Court at Law and such jurors shall serve in the County Court and County Court at Law the same as if they had been drawn and selected as is otherwise provided by law.

Sec. 17. All laws and parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this Act are hereby repealed to the extent of such conflict only. As to all other laws and parts of laws, this Act shall be cumulative.

Sec. 18. If any part or parts of this Act shall be held unconstitutional, such unconstitutionality shall not affect the validity of the remaining parts of this Act. The Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed the remaining parts of this Act if it had known that such invalid part or parts thereof would be so declared unconstitutional.

Section 3 of the 1983 amendatory act provided:

"If a uniform statutory court act repealing the law governing the county courts at law in Hidalgo County and renaming those courts as circuit courts is enacted by the 68th Legislature, Regular Session, and becomes law, this Act has no effect, and those courts are governed by the uniform act."

The 68th Legislature did not enact a uniform statutory court act.

Art. 1970-341a. County Court at Law No. 2 of Hidalgo County

Sec. 1. There is created a court to be held in and for Hidalgo County, which shall be known as the County Court at Law No. 2 of Hidalgo County, and which shall be a court of record.

Sec. 2. (a) The County Court at Law No. 2 of Hidalgo County shall have and exercise jurisdiction in all matters and causes civil and criminal, original and appellate, over which by the general laws of the state, the county courts have jurisdiction, and shall have jurisdiction concurrent with the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County in matters and cases, civil and criminal, original and appellate. The county court at law does not have jurisdiction over causes and proceedings concerning roads, bridges, and public highways or the general administration of county business which is within the jurisdiction of the commissioners court or the presiding judge of the commissioners court.

(b) The County Court at Law No. 2 of Hidalgo County has jurisdiction concurrent with the district court in eminent domain cases and in civil cases when the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $20,000, exclusive of interest, as provided by general law.

Sec. 3. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Hidalgo County shall also have the general jurisdiction of a probate court within the limits of Hidalgo County, concurrent with jurisdiction of the County Court of Hidalgo County and the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County in such matters and proceedings. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Hidalgo County shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of executors, transact all business appertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, including the settlement, partition, and distribution of estates of deceased persons, the apprenticing of minors as provided by law, and conduct lunacy proceedings.

Sec. 4. The County Court of Hidalgo County shall have and retain concurrently with the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County and the County Court at Law No. 2 of Hidalgo County the general jurisdiction of a probate court and of jurisdiction now conferred or which may be conferred by law over probate matters but shall have no other jurisdiction criminal or civil, original or appellate. The County Judge of Hidalgo County shall be the judge of the County Court of Hidalgo County and all ex officio, executive, ministerial, and administrative duties of the County Judge of Hidalgo County shall continue to be exercised by the County Judge of Hidalgo County, but he shall not act in any proceeding of a judicial nature save in probate matters.

Sec. 5. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Hidalgo County shall sit in the county seat of Hidalgo County and shall hold continuous terms which commence on the first Monday in January and on the first Monday in July of each year. Each term of court continues until the next succeeding term begins. The practice in the court and appeals and writs of error to and from the court shall be as prescribed by the laws and rules relating to county courts.

Sec. 6. There shall be elected in Hidalgo County, by the qualified voters of the county, a judge of the County Court at Law No. 2, who shall be a regularly licensed attorney at law in this state, and who shall be a resident citizen of Hidalgo County, and who shall have been actively engaged in the practice of law in this state for a period of not less than four years next preceding his election, and who shall hold his office for four years and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified. As soon as this Act becomes effective, the Commissioners Court of Hidalgo County shall appoint a judge to the County Court at Law No. 2 of Hidalgo County, who shall hold this office as judge until the next general election and until his successor is elected and qualified. Beginning at the general election in 1978 and every fourth year thereafter, there shall be elected a judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 for a regular term of four years as provided in Article V, Section 30 and Article XVI, Section 65 of the Texas Constitution. A vacancy in the office of the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Hidalgo County, shall be filled by appointment of the Commissioners Court of Hidalgo County, and when so filled, the judge shall hold his office until the next general election and until his successor is elected and qualified.

Sec. 7. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to county judges.

Sec. 8. (a) A special judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Hidalgo County may be appointed or elected as provided by law relating to county courts and to the judges thereof, who shall be compensated in the same manner as provided for special judges of the county courts.

(b) The judges of the county court and the county courts at law may transfer cases to and from the dockets of their respective courts. However, no case may be transferred from one court to another court without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred, and no case may be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred. In cases transferred to either of the courts by order of the judge of one of the other courts, all processes, writs, bonds, recognizances, or other obligations issued or made in the cases shall be returned to and filed in the court to which transfer is made. All bonds executed and recognizances entered into in those cases shall bind the parties for their appearance or to fulfill the obligations of such bonds or recognizances at the terms of the court to which the cases are transferred as fixed by law. All processes issued or returned before transfer of the cases, as well as all bonds and recognizances taken before the transfer, shall be valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

(c) The county judge and the judges of the county courts at law may freely exchange benches and courtrooms with each other in matters within their jurisdiction so that if one is ill, disqualified, or otherwise absent, the other may hold court for him without the necessity of transferring the case involved. Any judge may hear all or any part of a case pending in the county court or a county court at law, but only in matters within his jurisdiction, and may rule and enter orders on and continue, determine, or render judgment on all or any part of the case without the necessity of transferring it to his own docket. However, the judge of any court may not sit or act in a case unless it is within the jurisdiction of his court. Each judgment and order shall be entered in the minutes of the court in which the case is pending. This provision providing for the exchange of benches by and between the judge of the county court and the judges of the county courts at law is cumulative of and in addition to the provisions herein provided for the selection and appointment of a special judge of the county court at law.

Sec. 9. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Hidalgo County may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as provided by law for county judges.

Sec. 10. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 shall appoint an official shorthand reporter for the court who shall be well skilled in his profession, shall be a sworn officer of the court, and shall hold office at the pleasure of the judge. The duties of the reporter shall be the same as provided by general law for reporters of the district courts, and the salary of the reporter shall be set by the judge as provided by general law for reporters of district courts and paid monthly by the commissioners court out of any funds available for the purpose. The clerk of the court shall tax as costs in each case, civil, criminal, and probate where a record or any part thereof is made of the evidence in said case by the reporter, a stenographer's fee of $3. The fee shall be paid as other costs in the case and paid by the clerk, when collected, into the general fund of the county.

Sec. 11. (a) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Hidalgo County may receive an annual salary, the amount of which shall be fixed by the Commissioners Court of Hidalgo County. The salary shall be paid in the same manner and from the same fund as prescribed by law for payment of the salary of the County Judge of Hidalgo County.

(b) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 shall assess the fees prescribed by law for county judges, which shall be collected by the clerk of the court and paid into the county treasury and which may not be paid to the judge.

Sec. 12. The official interpreter of the district courts of Hidalgo County shall serve as official interpreter of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Hidalgo County, but if the official interpreter is not available when needed for service in the County Court at Law No. 2, the judge of that court is authorized to appoint an interpreter who shall serve only temporarily and who shall be paid not to exceed $5 per day out of the general fund of the county on certificate of the judge. On concurrence of the county commissioners court, the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 may appoint an official interpreter for the court as provided by general law.

Sec. 13. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Hidalgo County, or the judge thereof, shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of jurisdiction of the court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in such cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the court or of any other court in the county of inferior jurisdiction to the County Court at Law No. 2, and to punish for contempt under such provisions as are or may be provided by general laws governing county courts. The judge shall have all other powers, duties, immunities, and privileges as are or may be provided by general law for judges of courts of record and for judges of county courts at law, and he shall be a magistrate and a conservator of the peace.

Sec. 14. The county clerk of Hidalgo County shall be the clerk of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Hidalgo County, and as clerk of the court, he shall have the same powers, duties, privileges, and immunities as provided by law for county clerks. The seal of the court shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts, except the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law No. 2 of Hidalgo County, Texas."

Sec. 15. The sheriff of Hidalgo County shall in person or by deputy attend the County Court at Law No. 2 when required by the judge.

Sec. 16. The jurisdiction and authority now vested by law in the County Court at Hidalgo County and the judge thereof for the drawing, selection, and service of jurors and talesmen shall also be exercised by the County Court at Law No. 2 and the judge thereof; but jurors and talesmen summoned for either of the county courts at law or the county court may by order of the judge of the court in which they are summoned be transferred to either of the other courts for service therein and may be used therein as if summoned for the court to which they may thus be transferred. Upon concurrence of the judges of the county courts at law and the county judge, jurors may be summoned for service in all of those courts and shall be used interchangeably in all of those courts.

Jurors regularly impaneled for the week by the district court or courts may on request of either the county judge or the judge of either of the county courts at law be made available by the district judge or judges in such numbers as may be requested for service for the week in either or all of the county courts at law or the county court, and such jurors shall serve in the county court and county court at law the same as if they had been drawn and selected as is otherwise provided by law.

Section 3 of the 1983 amendatory act provided:

"If a uniform statutory court act repealing the law governing the county courts at law in Hidalgo County and renaming those courts as circuit courts is enacted by the 68th Legislature, Regular Session, and becomes law, this Act has no effect, and those courts are governed by the uniform act."

The 68th Legislature did not enact a uniform statutory court act.

Art. 1970-341b. County Court at Law No. 3 of Hidalgo County

Creation

Sec. 1. The County Court at Law No. 3 of Hidalgo County is created. It is a court of record.

Jurisdiction

Sec. 2. (a) The County Court at Law No. 3 of Hidalgo County shall have and exercise jurisdiction in all matters and causes, civil and criminal, original and appellate, over which by the general laws of the state the county courts have jurisdiction and shall have jurisdiction concurrent with the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County and the County Court at Law No. 2 of Hidalgo County in matters and cases, civil and criminal, original and appellate. The county court at law does not have jurisdiction over causes and proceedings concerning roads, bridges, and public highways or the general administration of county business which is within the jurisdiction of the commissioners court or the presiding judge of the commissioners court.

(b) The County Court at Law No. 3 of Hidalgo County shall also have the general jurisdiction of a probate court within the limits of Hidalgo County, concurrent with jurisdiction of the County Court of Hidalgo County, the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County, and the County Court at Law No. 2 of Hidalgo County in such matters and proceedings. The County Court at Law No. 3 of Hidalgo County shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of executors, transact all business appertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, including the settlement, partition, and distribution of estates of deceased persons, the apprenticing of minors as provided by law, and conduct mental health proceedings.

(c) The County Court at Law No. 3 of Hidalgo County has jurisdiction concurrent with the district court in eminent domain cases and in civil cases when the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $20,000, exclusive of interest, as provided by general law.

(d) The County Court of Hidalgo County shall have and retain concurrently with the County Court at Law of Hidalgo County and the County Courts at Law Nos. 2 and 3 of Hidalgo County the general jurisdiction of a probate court and of jurisdiction conferred by law over probate matters but shall have no other jurisdiction, criminal or civil, original or appellate. The county judge of Hidalgo County shall be the judge of the County Court of Hidalgo County and all ex officio, executive, ministerial, and administrative duties of the county judge of Hidalgo County shall continue to be exercised by the county judge of Hidalgo County, but he or she shall not act in any proceeding of a judicial nature, except in probate matters.

Writ Power

Sec. 3. The County Court at Law No. 3 of Hidalgo County or the judge thereof shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, superseas, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of jurisdiction of the court and to issue writs of habeas corpus in such cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the court or of any other court in the county of inferior jurisdiction to the County Court at Law No. 3 and to punish for contempt under such provisions as are provided by general laws governing county courts. The judge shall have all other powers, duties, immunities, and privileges as are provided by general law for judges of courts of record and for judges of county courts at law, and he or she shall be a magistrate and a conservator of the peace.

Terms

Sec. 4. The County Court at Law No. 3 of Hidalgo County shall sit in the county seat of Hidalgo County and shall hold continuous terms which commence on the first Monday in January and on the first Monday in July of each year. Each term of court continues until the next succeeding term begins. The practice in the court and appeals and writs of error to and from the court shall be as prescribed by the laws and rules relating to county courts.

Judge

Sec. 5. (a) There shall be elected in Hidalgo County by the qualified voters of the county a judge of the County Court at Law No. 3, who shall be a regularly licensed attorney at law in this state and who shall be a resident citizen of Hidalgo County and who shall have been actively engaged in the practice of law in this state for a period of not less than four years next preceding his or her election and who shall hold the office for four years and until his or her successor is elected and has qualified. As soon as this court is created, the Commissioners Court of Hidalgo County shall appoint a judge to the County Court at Law No. 3 of Hidalgo County, who shall hold the office as judge until the next general election and until his or her successor is elected and has qualified. Beginning at the general election in 1982 and every fourth year thereafter, there shall be elected a judge of the County Court at Law No. 3 for a regular term of four years as provided in Article V, Section 30, and Article XVI, Section 65, of the Texas Constitution. A vacancy in the office of the judge of the County Court at Law No. 3 of Hidalgo County shall be filled by appointment of the Commissioners Court of Hidalgo County, and when so filled, the judge shall hold the office until the next general election and until his or her successor is elected and has qualified.

(b) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 3 shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to county judges.

(c) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 3 of Hidalgo County may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as provided by law for county judges.

(d) A special judge of the County Court at Law No. 3 of Hidalgo County may be appointed or elected as provided by law relating to county courts and to the judges thereof, who shall be compensated in the same manner as provided for special judges of the county courts.

Compensation

Sec. 6. (a) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 3 of Hidalgo County may receive an annual salary, the amount of which shall be fixed by the Commissioners Court of Hidalgo County. The salary shall be paid in the same manner and from the same fund as prescribed by law for payment of the salary of the county judge of Hidalgo County. The amount paid shall not exceed 90 percent of the amount paid a district court judge having jurisdiction in Hidalgo County.

(b) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 3 shall assess the fees prescribed by law for county judges, which shall be collected by the clerk of the court and paid into the county treasury and which may not be paid to the judge.

Personnel

Sec. 7. (a) The county clerk of Hidalgo County shall be the clerk of the County Court at Law No. 3 of Hidalgo County and as clerk of the court shall have the same powers, duties, privileges, and immunities as provided by law for county clerks.

(b) The criminal district attorney and sheriff of Hidalgo County shall serve as district attorney and sheriff, respectively, for the county court at law. These officials, either personally or by the appointment of a deputy or assistant, shall perform the duties and responsibilities of their offices and are entitled to the compensation, fees, and allowances prescribed by law for their respective offices.

(c) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 3 shall appoint an official shorthand reporter for the court who shall have the qualifications provided by law for official court reporters, shall be a sworn officer of the court, and shall hold office at the pleasure of the judge. The duties of the reporter shall be the same as provided by general law for reporters of the district courts, and the salary of the reporter shall be set by the judge as provided by general law for reporters of district courts and paid monthly by the commissioners court out of any funds available for the purpose. The clerk of the court shall tax as costs in each case, civil, criminal, and probate where a record or any part of a record is made of the evidence in the case by the reporter a stenographer's fee of $3. The fee shall be paid as other costs in the case and paid by the clerk, when collected, into the general fund of the county.

(d) The official interpreter of the district courts of Hidalgo County shall serve as official interpreter of the County Court at Law No. 3 of Hidalgo County, but if the official interpreter is not available when needed for service in the County Court at Law No. 3, the judge of that court is authorized to appoint an interpreter who shall serve only temporarily and who shall be paid not to exceed $5 per day out of the general fund of the county on certificate of the judge. On concurrence of the county commissioners court, the judge of the County Court at Law No. 3 may appoint an official interpreter for the court as provided by general law.

Jurors

Sec. 8. (a) The jurisdiction and authority now vested by law in the County Court at Hidalgo County and the judge thereof for the drawing, selection, and service of jurors shall also be exercised by the County Court at Law No. 3 and the judge thereof. Jurors summoned for any of the county courts at law or the county court may by order of the judge of the court in which they are summoned be transferred to any of the other courts for service and may be used as if summoned for the court to which they may be transferred. Upon concurrence of the judges of the county courts at law and the county judge, jurors may be summoned for service in all of those courts and shall be used interchangeably in all of those courts.

(b) Jurors regularly impaneled for the week by the district court or courts may, on request of either the county judge or the judge of any of the county courts at law, be made available by the district judge or judges in such numbers as may be requested for service for the week in either or all of the county courts at law or the county court, and such jurors shall serve in the county court and county court at law the same as if they had been drawn and selected as is otherwise provided by law.

Transfer of Cases; Exchange of Benches

Sec. 9. (a) The judges of the county court and the county courts at law may transfer cases to and from the dockets of their respective courts. However, no case may be transferred from one court to another court without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred, and no case may be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred. In cases transferred to any of the courts by order of the judge of one of the other courts, all processes, writs, bonds, recognizances, or other obligations issued or made in the cases shall be returned to and filed in the court to which transfer is made. All bonds executed and recognizances entered into in those cases shall bind the parties for their appearance or to fulfill the obligations of such bonds or recognizances at the terms of the court to which the cases are transferred as fixed by law. All processes issued or returned before transfer of the cases, as well as all bonds and recognizances taken before the transfer, shall be valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

(b) The county judge and the judges of the county courts at law may freely exchange benches and courtrooms with each other in matters within their jurisdiction so that if one is ill, disqualified, or otherwise absent, the other may hold court for him or her without the necessity of transferring the case involved. Any judge may hear all or any part of a case pending in the county court or a county court at law, but only in matters within his or her jurisdiction, and may rule and enter orders on and continue, determine, or render judgment on all or any part of the case without the necessity of transferring it to his or her own docket. However, the judge of any court may not sit or act in a case unless it is within the jurisdiction of his or her court. Each judgment and order shall be entered in the minutes of the court in which the case is pending. This provision providing for the exchange of benches by and between the judge of the county court and the judges of the county courts at law is cumulative of and in addition to the provisions in this Act for the selection and appointment of a special judge of the county court at law.

Seal

Sec. 10. The seal of the court shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts, except the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law No. 3 of Hidalgo County, Texas."

Date Created

Sec. 11. The County Court at Law No. 3 of Hidalgo County is created on January 1, 1980, or on a date determined by the commissioners court by an order entered in its minutes, whichever date is earlier.

GALVESTON COUNTY

Art. 1970-342. Probate and County Court of Galveston County

Sec. 1. The Probate Court of Galveston County provided by Section 1, Chapter 187, Acts of the 53rd Legislature, Regular Session, 1953, shall hereafter be known as the "County Court No. 2 of Galveston County." The court shall have, in addition to its present jurisdiction, civil and criminal jurisdiction as provided by the Constitution and General Laws for county courts and as provided herein.

Sec. 1a. The County Court No. 2 of Galveston County shall be known hereafter as the "Probate Court at Galveston County," and the seal of the court shall be the same as now provided by law except that the seal shall contain the words "Probate Court of Galveston County, Texas." Wherever the name "County Court No. 2 of Galveston County" appears in this Act, it shall hereafter be understood to mean "Probate Court of Galveston County."

Sec. 1b. (a) The name of the Probate Court of Galveston County is changed to the "Probate and County Court of Galveston County," and the seal of the court shall contain the words "Probate and County Court of Galveston County."

(b) In addition to all other jurisdiction granted by law to the Probate and County Court of Galveston County, the court has jurisdiction concurrent with the district court in eminent domain cases and in civil cases when the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $10,000, exclusive of interest.

(c) The judge of the Probate and County Court of Galveston County shall appoint an official shorthand reporter for the Probate and County Court, who shall be well-skilled in his profession and shall be a sworn officer of the court and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court. All of the provisions of Chapter 13, Title 42, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended, and all other applicable provisions of the law relating to "official court reporters" shall apply to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed. The official shorthand reporter shall be entitled to the same compensation, to be paid in the same manner, as provided for the official shorthand reporters of the district courts of Galveston County. The court reporter shall be required primarily to report cases in the Probate and County Court of Galveston County but may be made available, when not engaged in a jury trial in that court, to report jury trials in the County Court of Galveston County and to the district attorney for examining trials in justice courts.

Text of subsec. (d) as added by Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 783, ch. 345, § 5

(d) In addition to all other jurisdiction granted by law to the probate and county court, the court has concurrent jurisdiction with the district courts and the County Courts Nos. 1 and 2 of Galveston County in juvenile matters and proceedings, and notwithstanding any other provision of the law relating to the designation of juvenile courts, each of these courts may serve as a juvenile court. All juvenile matters and proceedings shall be filed originally with the district clerk on the docket of the 306th District Court. The district clerk shall act as clerk in all juvenile proceedings, shall maintain all records, and upon order of the judge of the 306th District Court shall transfer juvenile matters and proceedings to the docket of the court designated therein.

Whenever possible, the court which presides over the initial hearing shall maintain exclusive jurisdiction over the case until final disposition.

Text of subsec. (d) as added by Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 1641, ch. 686, § 10

(d) In addition to all other jurisdiction granted by law to the probate and county court, the court has concurrent jurisdiction with the district courts and the County Courts Nos. 1 and 2 of Galveston County in juvenile matters and proceedings, and notwithstanding any other provision of the law relating to the designation of juvenile courts, each of these courts may serve as a juvenile court. All juvenile matters and proceedings shall be filed originally with the district clerk on the docket of the 306th District Court. The district clerk shall act as clerk in all juvenile proceedings, shall maintain all records, and shall transfer juvenile matters and proceedings to the other courts so that the County Courts Nos. 1 and 2, the Probate and County Court, and the 306th District Court will rotate trying all juvenile cases and holding detention hearings and other associated matters during a three-month period of each year, beginning with the County Court No. 1 during the first quarter of each year, the County Court No. 2 during the second quarter, the Probate and County Court during the third quarter, and the 306th District Court during the fourth quarter, except that the judge of the 306th District Court upon his own order may retain jurisdiction of or transfer to one of the other courts, that is, County Courts Nos. 1 and 2 and the Probate and County Court, any such case as the judge of the 306th District Court may determine serves the needs of justice.

Whenever possible, the court which presides over the initial hearing shall maintain exclusive jurisdiction over the case until final disposition.

Sec. 2. The county clerk of Galveston County shall be the clerk of the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County. The court shall have a seal consisting of a star of five (5) points with the words "County Court No. 2, Galveston County, Texas" engraved thereon. The sheriff of Galveston County may appoint a deputy to attend the court when required by the judge thereof.

Sec. 3. All cases over which County Court No. 2 has jurisdiction may be instituted in or transferred to the County Court No. 2. The county judge and the district judges of Galveston County may transfer to County Court No. 2 all cases pending in their respective courts of which the court has jurisdiction, including all filed papers and certified copies of all orders theretofore entered in said cases, with the consent of the Judge of the County Court No. 2.

All cases and matters over which the County Court No. 2 is given jurisdiction may be transferred by the Judge thereof to the county or district courts having jurisdiction under the laws of this state, with the consent of the judge of the court concerned. All cases and matters over which the County Court No. 2 and the County Court of Galveston County have concurrent jurisdiction and over which the district courts also have jurisdiction may be transferred to one of the district courts of Galveston County with the consent of the judge thereof.

Provided that the Judge of the County Court and the Judge of County Court No. 2 shall have authority to transfer any case pending for trial from the docket of such court to the docket of such other court, and during the absence, illness, or inability of either judge to preside in his own court the judge of the other court shall be and is hereby authorized to act for such judge absent for any of the above reasons in the trial or other disposition of cases on the docket of such other court.

All writs or process issued by a court prior to the time any case is transferred shall be returned and filed in the court to which the case is transferred and shall be as valid and binding upon the parties to such transferred case as though such writ or process had been issued out of the court to which transferred, and all waivers of process and other instruments executed prior to the transfer of any case shall also be as valid and binding as though executed after such transfer.

Sec. 4. In the event of a vacancy in this office the Governor shall appoint some suitable person who is a resident citizen of Galveston County as Judge of the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County as herein constituted, who shall hold such office until the next general election after his appointment, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified, and all vacancies in said office shall also be filled by appointment by the Governor until the next applicable general election thereafter. At the first general election in said county and at each applicable general election thereafter there shall be elected by the qualified voters a Judge of the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County who shall be well informed in the laws of this state, who shall hold his office for four (4) years and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified; provided that no person shall be eligible for Judge of the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County by election, unless he shall be a citizen of the United States and of this state; who shall have been a practicing lawyer of this state or a judge of a court in this state for at least four (4) years next preceding his election, and who shall have resided in the County of Galveston for two (2) years next preceding his election.

Sec. 4a. Any vacancy occurring in the office of Judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Galveston County shall be filled by the Commissioners Court of Galveston County, Texas, and the appointee shall hold office until the next succeeding general election, and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 5. The Judge of the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to county judges.

Sec. 6. A special judge of the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County may be appointed or elected as provided by laws relating to county courts and the judges thereof.

Sec. 7. The terms of the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County and the practice therein and appeals and writs of error therefrom shall be, as prescribed by law relating to county courts. The County Court No. 2 of Galveston County shall hold at least four (4) terms for both civil and criminal business annually, and such other terms each year as may be fixed by the Commissioners Court. After having fixed the times and number of terms of the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County, the Commissioners Court shall not change the same until the expiration of one (1) year. Until otherwise provided by the Commissioners Court, the term of the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County shall be held on the first Monday in March, June, September and December.

Sec. 8. Both the said County Court of Galveston County, and the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County or either of the judges thereof shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, sequestration, attachments, garnishment, certiorari, superseas and all other writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of said courts; and also power to punish for contempt under such provisions as are, or may be provided by the General Laws governing county courts throughout the state, and to issue writs of habeas corpus, in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said courts or of any court or tribunal inferior to said courts.

Sec. 9. The Commissioners Court of Galveston County shall fix the yearly salary of the Judge of the Probate Court of Galveston County at a sum not less than 90 percent of the total salary, including supplements, paid any District Judge sitting in Galveston County. The salary shall be paid out of the general fund of the County in equal monthly installments by warrants drawn upon the County Treasury upon orders of the Commissioners Court of Galveston County, Texas.

Sec. 10. The Judge of the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as any other county judge may be removed under the laws of this state.

Art. 1970-342a. County Court No. 1 of Galveston County

Sec. 1. There is hereby created on the effective date of this Act, a Court to be held in Galveston County, Texas, to be known and designated as the "County Court No. 1 of Galveston County."

Sec. 2. (a) The County Court No. 1 of Galveston County shall have, and it is hereby granted, the same jurisdiction over criminal matters that is now or may be vested in county courts having jurisdiction in criminal actions, matters, and proceedings under the constitution and laws of Texas, and shall have appellate jurisdiction in all appeals in criminal cases from justice courts and corporation courts within Galveston County, Texas, and the judge of said court shall have the same powers, rights, and privileges as to criminal matters as are now or may be vested in the judges of county courts having criminal jurisdiction.

(b) The County Court No. 1 of Galveston County shall have, and it is hereby granted, the same jurisdiction and powers in civil actions, matters, and proceedings that are now or may be conferred by law upon and vested in the County Court of Galveston County, Texas, and in the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County, and the judges thereof. Provided, however, that the jurisdiction of said County Court of Galveston County, Texas, the jurisdiction of said County Court No. 2 of Galveston County, and the jurisdiction of the County Court No. 1 of Galveston County, over all such actions, matters, and proceedings, civil and criminal, within Galveston County, shall be concurrent.

(c) In addition to the other jurisdiction granted in this section, the County Court No. 1 of Galveston County has jurisdiction concurrent with the district court in eminent domain cases and in civil cases when the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $10,000, exclusive of interest.

Text of subsec. (d) as added by Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 783, ch. 345, § 6

(d) In addition to all other jurisdiction granted by law to the County Court No. 1, the court has concurrent jurisdiction with the district courts, the probate and county court, and the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County in juvenile matters and proceedings, and notwithstanding any other provision of the law relating to the designation of juvenile courts, each of these courts may serve as a juvenile court. All juvenile matters and proceedings shall be filed originally with the district clerk on the docket of the 306th District Court. The district clerk shall act as clerk in all juvenile proceedings, shall maintain all records, and upon order of the judge of the 306th District Court shall transfer juvenile matters and proceedings to the docket of the court designated therein.

Whenever possible, the court which presides over the initial hearing shall maintain exclusive jurisdiction over the case until final disposition.

Text of subsec. (d) as added by Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 1641, ch. 686, § 12

(d) In addition to all other jurisdiction granted by law to the County Court No. 1, the court has concurrent jurisdiction with the district courts, the probate and county court, and the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County in juvenile matters and proceedings, and notwithstanding any other provision of the law relating to the designation of juvenile courts, each of these courts may serve as a juvenile court. All juvenile matters and proceedings shall be filed originally with the district clerk on the docket of the 306th District Court. The district clerk shall act as clerk in all juvenile proceedings, shall maintain all records, and shall transfer juvenile matters and proceedings to the other courts so that the County Courts Nos. 1 and 2, the Probate and County Court, and the 306th District Court will rotate trying all juvenile cases and holding detention hearings and other associated matters during a three-month period of each year, beginning with the County Court No. 1 during the first quarter of each year, the County Court No. 2 during the second quarter, the Probate and County Court during the third quarter and the 306th District Court during the fourth quarter, except that the judge of the 306th District Court upon his own order may retain jurisdiction of or transfer to one of the other courts, that is, County Courts Nos. 1 and 2 and the Probate and County Court, any such case as the judge of the 306th District Court may determine serves the needs of justice.

Whenever possible, the court which presides over the initial hearing shall maintain exclusive jurisdiction over the case until final disposition.

Sec. 3. (a) Upon the effective date of this Act, the pending civil and criminal cases on the docket of the County Court of Galveston County and the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County, save and except probate matters, mental illness cases, condemnation cases and alcoholic hearings, shall be automatically transferred to the County Court No. 1 of Galveston County. Thereafter, civil and criminal cases, except matters described in Subsection (b) of this Section, shall be filed and docketed in the County Court No. 1 of Galveston County.

(b) Probate matters, mental illness cases, and alcoholic hearings shall continue to be filed and docketed in the County Court of Galveston County and the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County in the same manner as they have been heretofore filed and docketed. Condemnation cases may be filed and docketed in the County Court of Galveston County, the Probate and County Court of Galveston County, County Court No. 1 of Galveston County, or County Court No. 2 of Galveston County.

Sec. 4. The clerk of the County Court No. 1 of Galveston County shall keep a separate docket for the court, in the same manner as now or may be provided by law for the keeping of dockets for the County Court of Galveston County, Texas, and the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County. He shall tax the official court reporter's fee as costs in civil actions in said County Court No. 1 of Galveston County in like manner as the fee is taxed in civil cases in the district courts of this state. The Judge of the County Court of Galveston County, Texas, the Judge of the County Court No. 1 of Galveston County, and the Judge of the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County may, with the consent of the judge of the court to which transfer is to be made, transfer civil or criminal actions, matters, and proceedings from his respective court to any one of the other courts by entry of an order to that effect upon the docket of his court; and the judge of the court to which any such action, matter, or proceeding, civil or criminal, shall have been transferred, shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine said matter or matters and render and enter the necessary and proper orders, decrees and judgments therein, and in the same manner and with the same force and effect as if such case, action, matter, or proceeding had been originally filed in the court to which transferred. Provided, however, that no cause, action, matter, case, or proceeding shall be transferred without the consent of the judge of the court to which transferred.

Sec. 5. The Judge of the County Court No. 1 of Galveston County, together with the Judges of the County Court of Galveston County, Texas, and the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County, may, at any time, exchange benches and may, at any time, sit and act for and with each other in any civil or criminal case, matter, or proceeding now, or hereafter, pending in their courts; and any and all such acts thus performed by any of said judges shall be valid and binding upon all parties to such cases, matters, and proceedings.

Sec. 6. The practice in said County Court No. 1 of Galveston County shall be the same as prescribed by law relating to county courts and county courts at law. Appeals and writs of error may be taken from judgments and orders of said County Court No. 1 of Galveston County, and from judgments and orders of the judge thereof, in civil and criminal cases, and in the same manner as now is, or may hereafter be, prescribed by law relating to such appeals and writs of error. Appeals may also be taken from interlocutory orders of said County Court No. 1 of Galveston County, appointing a receiver, or from orders overruling a motion to vacate or appointing a receiver; provided, however, that the procedure and manner in which such appeals from interlocutory orders are taken shall be governed by the laws relating to appeals from similar orders of the district courts throughout this state.

Sec. 7. The judge of the County Court No. 1 of Galveston County shall appoint an official shorthand reporter for the County Court No. 1, who shall be well-skilled in his profession and shall be a sworn officer of the court, and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court. All of the provisions of Chapter 13, Title 42, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended, and all other applicable provisions of the law relating to "official court reporters" shall apply to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed. Such official shorthand reporter shall be entitled to the same compensation, to be paid in the same manner, as provided for the official shorthand reporters of the district courts of Galveston County, Texas. Said court reporter shall be required primarily to report cases in the County Court No. 1 of Galveston County, but may be made available, when not engaged in a jury trial in said court, to report jury trials in the Probate and County Court of Galveston County.

Sec. 8. The County Clerk of Galveston County shall be the Clerk of the County Court No. 1 of Galveston County. The court shall have a seal consisting of a star of five points with the words "County Court No. 1 of Galveston County" engraved thereon. The Sheriff of Galveston County shall appoint a deputy to attend the court when required by the judge thereof.

Sec. 9. The Criminal District Attorney of Galveston County, Texas, shall represent the state in all prosecutions in the County Court No. 1 of Galveston County as provided by law for prosecutions in county courts, and shall be entitled to the same fees as in other cases.

Sec. 10. At the next general election after the effective date of this Act, there shall be elected a Judge of the County Court No. 1 of Galveston County, who shall have been a duly licensed and practicing member of the State Bar of Texas for not less than five years; who shall be well-versed in the laws of the state; who shall have resided in and been actively engaged in the practice of law in Galveston County, Texas, for a period of not less than four years prior to such general election; and who shall hold his office for four years and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified. When this Act becomes effective, the Governor shall appoint a Judge of the County Court No. 1 of Galveston County, who shall have the qualifications herein prescribed and who shall serve until the next general election and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified. Any vacancy thereafter occurring in the office of the Judge of the County Court at Law No. 1 of Galveston County shall be filled by the Commissioners Court of Galveston County, Texas, and the appointee shall hold office until the next succeeding general election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 11. (a) The Judge of the County Court No. 1 of Galveston County shall take the oath of office prescribed by the Constitution, but no bond shall be required of him.

(b) The Commissioners Court of Galveston County shall fix the yearly salary of the Judge of the County Court No. 1 of Galveston County at a sum not less than 90 percent of the total salary, including supplements, paid any District Judge in and for Galveston County. The salary shall be paid to each Judge in equal monthly installments out of the General Fund of Galveston County, Texas, by warrants drawn upon the County Treasury upon orders of the Commissioners Court of Galveston County, Texas.

Sec. 12. A special judge may be appointed or elected for the County Court No. 1 of Galveston County in the same manner as may now or hereafter be provided by the General Laws of this state relating to the appointment and election of special judges. Every such special judge thus appointed or elected for said court shall receive for the services he may actually perform the same amount of pay which the regular judge of said court would be entitled to receive for such services.

Sec. 13. The County Court No. 1 of Galveston County, or the judge thereof, shall have power to grant all writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of the court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in such cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the court, or of any other court in Galveston County of inferior jurisdiction to the County Court No. 1 of Galveston County.

Sec. 14. The County Court No. 1 of Galveston County shall hold six terms of court, commencing on the first Monday in January, March, May, July, September, and November of each year, and each term shall continue until the business of the court is disposed of; provided, however, that no term of the court shall extend beyond the date fixed for the commencement of the succeeding term except pursuant to an order entered upon the minutes during the term to be extended.

Art. 1970-342b. County Court No. 2 of Galveston County

Sec. 1. There is created on the effective date of this Act a court to be held in Galveston County to be known as the "County Court No. 2 of Galveston County."

Sec. 2. (a) The County Court No. 2 of Galveston County shall have the same jurisdiction over criminal matters that is now or may be vested in county courts having jurisdiction in criminal actions, matters, and proceedings under the constitution and laws of Texas and shall have appellate jurisdiction in all appeals in criminal cases from justice courts and municipal courts within Galveston County. The judge of the court shall have the same powers, rights, and privileges as to criminal matters as are now or may be vested in the judges of county courts having criminal jurisdiction.

(b) The County Court No. 2 of Galveston County shall have the same jurisdiction and powers in civil actions, matters, and proceedings that are now or may be conferred by law upon and vested in the County Court of Galveston County, the County Court No. 1, the Probate and County Court of Galveston County, and the judges thereof. The jurisdiction of the County Court of Galveston County, the Probate and County Court, and the County Courts Nos. 1 and 2 of Galveston County over all such actions, matters, and proceedings, civil and criminal, within Galveston County shall be concurrent.

(c) In addition to the other jurisdiction granted in this section, the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County has jurisdiction concurrent with the district court in eminent domain cases and in civil cases when the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $10,000, exclusive of interest.

Text of subsec. (d) as added by Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 783, ch. 345, § 7

(d) In addition to all other jurisdiction granted by law to the County Court No. 2, the court has concurrent jurisdiction with the district courts, the probate and county court, and the County Court No. 1 of Galveston County in juvenile matters and proceedings, and notwithstanding any other provision of the law relating to the designation of juvenile courts, each of these courts may serve as a juvenile court. All juvenile matters and proceedings shall be filed originally with the district clerk on the docket of the 306th District Court. The district clerk shall act as clerk in all juvenile proceedings, shall maintain all records, and upon order of the judge of the 306th District Court shall transfer juvenile matters and proceedings to the docket of the court designated therein.

Whenever possible, the court which presides over the initial hearing shall maintain exclusive jurisdiction over the case until final disposition.

Text of subsec. (d) as added by Acts 1979, 66th Leg., p. 1643, ch. 686, § 14

(d) In addition to all other jurisdiction granted by law to the County Court No. 2, the court has concurrent jurisdiction with the district courts, the probate and county court, and the County Court No. 1 of Galveston County in juvenile matters and proceedings, notwithstanding any other provision of the law relating to the designation of juvenile courts, each of these courts may serve as a juvenile court. All juvenile matters and proceedings shall be filed originally with the district clerk on the docket of the 306th District Court. The district clerk shall act as clerk in all juvenile proceedings, shall maintain all records, and shall transfer juvenile matters and proceedings to the other courts so that the County Courts Nos. 1 and 2, the Probate and County Court, and the 306th District Court will rotate trying all juvenile cases and holding detention hearings and other associated matters during a three-month period of each year, beginning with the County Court No. 1 during the first quarter of each year, the County Court No. 2 during the second quarter, the Probate and County Court during the third quarter, and the 306th District Court during the fourth quarter, except that the judge of the 306th District Court upon his own order may retain jurisdiction of or transfer to one of the other courts, that is, County Courts Nos. 1 and 2 and the Probate and County Court, any such case as the judge of the 306th District Court may determine serves the needs of justice.

Whenever possible, the court which presides over the initial hearing shall maintain exclusive jurisdiction over the case until final disposition.

Sec. 3. (a) Criminal cases shall be filed and docketed sequentially in the County Court No. 1 of Galveston County and the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County. Civil cases shall be filed and docketed sequentially in the County Court No. 1, the County Court No. 2, and the Probate and County Court of Galveston County. Upon the effective date of this Act, the civil cases now filed and docketed in County Court No. 1 shall be refiled in an equal and proportionate manner among the County Court No. 1, the County Court No. 2, and the Probate and County Court of Galveston County. The criminal cases now filed and docketed in County Court No. 1 shall be refiled in an equal and proportionate manner between County Court No. 1 and County Court No. 2.

(b) Probate matters, mental illness cases, and alcoholism hearings, shall continue to be filed and docketed in the County Court of Galveston County and the Probate and County Court of Galveston County in the same manner as they have been heretofore filed and docketed, except as may otherwise be agreed upon by consent of all judges of the county courts of Galveston County and the county probate court. Condemnation cases may be filed and docketed in the County Court of Galveston County, the Probate and County Court of Galveston County, County Court No. 1 of Galveston County, or County Court No. 2 of Galveston County.

Sec. 4. The clerk of the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County shall keep a separate docket for the court in the same manner as now or may be provided by law for the keeping of dockets for the County Court of Galveston County and the County Court No. 1 and the Probate and County Court of Galveston County. He shall tax the official court reporter's fee as costs in civil actions in the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County in like manner as the fee is taxed in civil cases in the district courts of this state. The judge of the County Court of Galveston County and the judges of the Probate and County Court and the County Courts Nos. 1 and 2 of Galveston County may, with the consent of the judge of the court to which transfer is to be made, transfer civil or criminal actions, matters, and proceedings from his respective court to any one of the other courts by entry of an order to that effect upon the docket of his court. The judge of the court to which any such action, matter, or proceeding, civil or criminal, shall have been transferred shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine the matter or matters and render and enter the necessary and proper orders, decrees, and judgments therein, and in the same manner and with the same force and effect as if the case, action, matter, or proceeding had been originally filed in the court to which transferred. However, no cause, action, matter, case, or proceeding shall be transferred without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred.

Sec. 5. The judge of the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County, together with the judges of the County Court of Galveston County, the County Court No. 1, and the Probate and County Court of Galveston County, may at any time exchange benches and may at any time sit and act for and with each other in any civil or criminal case, matter, or proceeding now or hereafter pending in their courts, and all such acts thus performed by any of the judges shall be valid and binding on all parties to such cases, matters, and proceedings.

Sec. 6. The practice in the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County shall be the same as prescribed by law relating to county courts and county courts at law. Appeals and writs of error may be taken from judgments and orders of the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County, and from judgments and orders of the judge thereof, in civil and criminal cases and in the same manner as now is or may hereafter be prescribed by law relating to such appeals and writs of error. Appeals may also be taken from interlocutory orders of the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County appointing a receiver or from orders overruling a motion to vacate or appointing a receiver. The procedure and manner in which the appeals from interlocutory orders are taken shall be governed by the laws relating to appeals from similar orders of the district courts throughout this state.

Sec. 7. The judge of the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County shall appoint an official shorthand reporter for the County Court No. 2, who shall be well skilled in his profession and shall be a sworn officer of the court and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court. All of the provisions of Chapter 13, Title 42, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended, and all other applicable provisions of the law relating to "official court reporters" shall apply to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed. The official shorthand reporter shall be entitled to the same compensation, to be paid in the same manner, as provided for the official shorthand reporters of the district courts of Galveston County. The official shorthand reporter shall be required primarily to report cases in the County Court No. 2 of Galveston

County but may be made available, when not engaged in a jury trial in that court, to report jury trials in the Probate and County Court of Galveston County.

Sec. 8. The county clerk of Galveston County shall be the clerk of the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County. The court shall have a seal consisting of a star of five points with the words "County Court No. 2 of Galveston County" engraved thereon. The sheriff of Galveston County shall appoint a deputy to attend the court when required by the judge.

Sec. 9. The criminal district attorney of Galveston County shall represent the state in all prosecutions in the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County as provided by law for prosecutions in county courts and shall be entitled to the same fees as in other cases.

Sec. 10. There shall be elected a judge of the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County, who shall have been a duly licensed and practicing member of the State Bar of Texas for not less than five years, who shall be well versed in the laws of the state and who shall have resided in and been actively engaged in the practice of law in Galveston County for a period of not less than four years prior to his election. When this Act becomes effective, the commissioners court shall appoint a judge of the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County, who shall have the qualifications prescribed in this section and who shall serve until the next general election and until his successor shall have been duly elected and have qualified. Beginning at the general election in 1978 and every fourth year thereafter, there shall be elected by the qualified voters of the county a judge of the County Court No. 2 for a regular term of four years as provided by the Texas Constitution. A vacancy thereafter occurring in the office of the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Galveston County shall be filled by the Commissioners Court of Galveston County, and the appointee shall hold office until the next succeeding general election and until his successor shall be duly elected and have qualified.

Sec. 11. (a) The judge of the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County shall take the oath of office prescribed by the constitution, but no bond shall be required of him.

(b) The Commissioners Court of Galveston County may fix the yearly salary of the judge of the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County at the same salary paid all judges of other county courts and the Probate and County Court of Galveston County. The salary shall be paid to each judge in equal monthly installments out of the General Fund of Galveston County by warrants drawn on the county treasury on orders of the Commissioners Court of Galveston County.

Sec. 12. A special judge may be appointed or elected for the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County in the same manner as may now or hereafter be provided by the general laws of this state relating to the appointment and election of special judges. Every special judge appointed or elected for the court shall receive for the services he may actually perform the same amount of pay which the regular judge of the court would be entitled to receive for such services.

Sec. 13. The County Court No. 2 of Galveston County, or the judge thereof, shall have power to grant all writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of the court and to issue writs of habeas corpus in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the court or of any other court in Galveston County of inferior jurisdiction to the County Court No. 2 of Galveston County.

Sec. 14. The County Court No. 2 of Galveston County shall hold six terms of court commencing on the first Monday in January, March, May, July, September, and November of each year, and each term shall continue until the business of the court is disposed of. No term of the court shall extend beyond the date fixed for the commencement of the succeeding term, except pursuant to an order entered on the minutes during the term to be extended.

Sec. 15. The judge of the County Court No. 2 shall be a member of the Juvenile Board of Galveston County and shall have the same jurisdiction over juvenile proceedings as the judges of the County Court No. 1, the Probate and County Court, and the Court of Domestic Relations for Galveston County, with juvenile proceedings filed sequentially in the County Court No. 1, the Probate and County Court, the County Court No. 2, and the Court of Domestic Relations.

TAYLOR COUNTY

Art. 1970-343. County Court at Law of Taylor County

Sec. 1. There is hereby created a court in and for Taylor County, to be called the County Court at Law of Taylor County. It is expressly provided that the provisions of this Act shall not become effective until the Commissioners Court of Taylor County enters an order adopting the same.

Sec. 2. The County Court at Law of Taylor County shall have jurisdiction in all matters and causes, civil and criminal, original and appellate, over which, by the general laws of the State, the County Court of said county would have jurisdiction except as provided in Section 3 of this Act; and all cases now pending in the County Court of said county, other than probate matters and such as are provided in Section 3 of this Act, are hereby transferred to the County Court at Law of Taylor County, and all writs and process, civil and criminal, heretofore issued by or out of the County Court of said county, other than pertaining to matters over which, by Section 3 of this Act, jurisdiction remains in the County Court of Taylor County, are hereby made returnable to the County Court at Law of Taylor County. The jurisdiction of the County Court at Law of Taylor County and the Judge thereof shall extend to all matters of eminent domain of which jurisdiction has been heretofore vested in the County Court or in the County Judge, but this provision shall not affect the jurisdiction of the Commissioners Court, or of the County Judge of Taylor County as the presiding officer of such Commissioners Court as to roads, bridges, and public highways, and matters of eminent domain which are now within the jurisdiction of the Commissioners Court or the Judge thereof. The County Court at Law of Taylor County shall be the Juvenile Court of Taylor County and shall exercise the jurisdiction conferred on juvenile courts by Chapter 204, Acts of the Forty-eighth Legislature,¹ as heretofore or hereafter amended. All cases pending in the Juvenile Court of Taylor County on the effective date of this Act, along with all the books and records thereof, shall be transferred to the County Court at Law of Taylor County. The County Court at Law of Taylor County and the Judge thereof shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the County Court of Taylor County and the Judge thereof in the trial of insanity cases and the restoration thereof, approval of applications for admission to State Hospitals and Special Schools where admissions are by application, and the power to punish for contempt.

Sec. 3. The County Court of Taylor County shall retain, as heretofore, the general jurisdiction of a probate court; it shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of executors, administrators and guardians, transact all business appertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, including the settlement, partition and distribution of estates of deceased persons, and to apprentice minors as provided by law; and the said Court and the Judge thereof shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of said Court, and also to punish contempts under such provisions as are or may be provided by law governing County Courts throughout the State; but said County Court of Taylor County shall have no other jurisdiction, civil or criminal. The County Judge of Taylor County shall be the Judge of the County Court of Taylor County. All ex-officio duties of the County Judge shall be exercised by the said Judge of the County Court of Taylor County, except in so far as the same shall by this Act be committed to the Judge of the County Court at Law of Taylor County.

Sec. 4. The terms of the County Court at Law of Taylor County shall be held as follows:

On the third Mondays in February, April, June, August, October, and December in each year, and each term of said Court shall continue in session until and including the Saturday next preceding the beginning of the next succeeding term thereof. The practice in said Court, and appeals and writs of error therefrom, shall be as prescribed by the laws relating to county courts.

Sec. 5. There shall be elected in Taylor County by the qualified voters thereof, at a general election, a Judge of the County Court at Law of Taylor County, who shall be a qualified voter in said county and who shall be a regularly licensed attorney in this State, well informed in the laws of this State, and who shall have resided in and been actively engaged in the practice of law in this State or as the Judge of a Court for a period of not less than three (3) years next preceding such general election, who shall hold his office for four (4) years, and until his successor shall have been duly qualified. Any vacancy in the office of the Judge of the Court created by this Act shall be filled by the Commissioners Court of Taylor County until the next general election. The Commissioners Court of Taylor County shall, upon the adoption of this Act, appoint a Judge of the County Court at Law of Taylor County, who shall serve until the next general election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 5a. When the Judge of the County Court at Law is ill, disqualified, or otherwise absent, a County Judge of Taylor County with the qualifications required of the Judge of the County Court at Law of Taylor County may, at the request of the Judge of the County Court at Law, sit and hold court in the County Court at Law. When the Judge of the County Court is ill, disqualified, or otherwise absent, the Judge of the County Court at Law may, at the request of the County Judge, sit in the County Court to hear and determine any probate matter pending in the County Court. If either of the Judges is incapable of requesting the services of the other Judge, either the Judge of the County Court or of the County Court at Law may hold court for the other Judge without the Judge's request. The provisions of this section are cumulative of and in addition to the provisions provided in this Act for the election and appointment of a Special Judge of the County Court at Law.

Sec. 6. The Judge of the County Court at Law of Taylor County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to County Judges.

Sec. 7. A Special Judge of the County Court at Law of Taylor County may be appointed or elected when and under such circumstances as are provided by law relating to County Courts and to the Judges thereof, who shall receive a reasonable fee as determined by the Commissioners Court for each day he so actually serves, to be paid out of the General Fund of the county by the Commissioners Court.

Sec. 8. The Court created by this Act and the Judges thereof shall have power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, and supersedeas, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of said Court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said Court or of any other Court or tribunal inferior to said Court.

Sec. 9. The clerk of the County Court of Taylor County shall be the clerk of the County Court at Law of Taylor County. The seal of said Court shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts except that the seal shall contain the words "Clerk of the County Court at Law of Taylor County." The sheriff of Taylor County shall in person or by deputy² attend the said Court when required by the Judge thereof.

Sec. 10. Upon authorization by the Commissioners Court, the Judge of the County Court at Law of Taylor County may appoint a secretary for such County Court at Law. Such secretary shall receive the same compensation as is now allowed to the secretary of the Judge of the County Court, to be paid out of the treasury of Taylor County as other county officials are paid, in equal monthly installments. The Judge of the County Court at Law of Taylor County shall have the authority to terminate the employment of said secretary at any time.

Sec. 11. Upon authorization by the Commissioners Court, the Judge of the County Court at Law of Taylor County may appoint an official shorthand reporter for such court, who shall be well skilled in his profession and shall be a sworn officer of the Court and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the Court. Such reporter shall take the oath required of official court reporters and shall receive a salary as set by the Commissioners Court of Taylor County, to be paid out of the county treasury of Taylor County as other county officials are paid, in equal monthly installments. All other provisions of Chapter 13, Title 42, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended and as they may hereafter be amended, and all other provisions of the law relating to official court reporters shall apply in so far as they may be made applicable to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed and in so far as they are not inconsistent with this Act.

Sec. 12. The Judge of the County Court at Law of Taylor County shall assess the same fees as are or may be established by law relating to County Judges, all of which shall be collected by the clerk of said court and be by him paid monthly into the county treasury. The Judge of said County Court at Law shall receive an annual salary which shall be fixed by the Commissioners Court of Taylor County at an amount not less than the salary paid to the County Judge of Taylor County, and which shall be payable monthly, out of the county treasury of Taylor County.

Art. 1970-343a. County Court at Law No. 2 of Taylor CountyCreation

Sec. 1. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Taylor County is created on the date determined under Section 16 of this Act.

Jurisdiction

Sec. 2. (a) The county court at Law No. 2 of Taylor County has jurisdiction concurrent with County Court at Law No. 1 of Taylor County in eminent domain and in all matters and causes, civil and criminal, original and appellate, provided by law for county courts other than the probate jurisdiction reserved to the county court by Chapter 177, Acts of the 54th Legislature, Regular Session, 1955 (Article 1970-343, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes).

(b) This act does not affect the jurisdiction of the commissioners court or of the county judge as the presiding officer of the commissioners court as to roads, bridges, and public highways and matters of eminent domain that are now in the jurisdiction of the commissioners court or the judge.

(c) The County Court at Law No. 2 of Taylor County and the judge have concurrent jurisdiction with the county court and the County Court at Law of Taylor County in the trial of cases involving insanity, approval of applications for admission to state hospitals and special schools if admissions are by application, and the power to punish for contempt.

Terms

Sec. 3. The terms of the County Court of Law No. 2 of Taylor County begin on the third Mondays in February, April, June, August, October, and December in each year, and each term continues until and including the Saturday next preceding the beginning of the next term. The practice in the court and appeals and writs of error from the court are as prescribed by the laws relating to county courts.

Judge

Sec. 4. (a) Beginning at the next general election at which county court at law judges are regularly elected after creation of the court, the qualified voters in Taylor County shall elect the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Taylor County. The judge must be a qualified voter in the county, be a regularly licensed attorney in the state, be well informed in the laws of the state, and have resided in and been actively engaged in the practice of law in the state or as the judge of a court for at least three years immediately preceding his general election. The judge serves a term of four years and until his successor is duly qualified.

(b) A vacancy in the office of the judge of the court created by this Act shall be filled by the Commissioners Court of Taylor County until the next general election.

(c) On creation of the court, the Commissioners Court of Taylor County shall appoint a judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Taylor County who shall serve until the next general election and until his successor is duly elected and qualified.

Bond; Oath

Sec. 5. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Taylor County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to county judges.

Special Judge

Sec. 6. A special judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Taylor County may be appointed or elected as provided by law for appointment or election of special judges for county courts. The special judge is entitled to a reasonable fee as determined by the commissioners court for each day served, to be paid out of the general fund of the county by the commissioners court.

Exchange of Benches

Sec. 7. When the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Taylor County is ill, disqualified, or absent, a county judge of Taylor County or a judge of a county court at law in Taylor County with the qualifications required of the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Taylor County may, at the request of the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Taylor County, sit and hold court in the County Court at Law No. 2 of Taylor County. If the judge of the county court is ill, disqualified, or absent, the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Taylor County may, at the request of the county judge, sit in the county court to hear and determine any probate matter pending in the county court. If one of the judges is incapable of requesting the services of another judge, the judge of the county court or of the county court at law may hold court for the other judge without the judge's request. The provisions of this section are cumulative of and in addition to the provisions provided in this Act for the election and appointment of a special judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Taylor County.

Writ Power

Sec. 8. The court created by this Act and the judge may issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, and supersedeas and other writs necessary for the enforcement of the jurisdiction of the court. It may issue writs of habeas corpus in cases in which the offense charged is in the jurisdiction of the court, the County Court at Law of Taylor County, or of any court of inferior jurisdiction in the county.

Clerk

Sec. 9. The clerk of the County Court of Taylor County shall be the clerk of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Taylor County.

Seal

Sec. 10. The seal of the court shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts except the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law No. 2 of Taylor County."

Sheriff

Sec. 11. The sheriff of Taylor County shall in person or by deputy attend the court if required to attend by the judge.

Secretary

Sec. 12. On authorization by the commissioners court, the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Taylor County may appoint a secretary for the court. The secretary receives the same compensation as is now allowed to the secretary of the judge of the county court, to be paid out of the treasury of Taylor County as other county officials are paid in equal monthly installments. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Taylor County may terminate the employment of the secretary at any time.

Court Reporter

Sec. 13. On authorization by the commissioners court, the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Taylor County may appoint an official shorthand reporter for the court. The reporter must be well skilled in his profession and shall be a sworn officer of the court. The reporter holds office at the pleasure of the court. The reporter shall take the oath required of official court reporters and shall receive a salary set by the commissioners court, to be paid out of the treasury of Taylor County as other county officials are paid in equal monthly installments. The court reporter must have the qualifications prescribed by law for that office, and all other provisions of the law relating to official court reporters, not inconsistent with this Act, apply to the official reporter.

Fees

Sec. 14. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Taylor County shall assess the same fees as a county judge may assess. The clerk of the court shall collect the fees and pay them monthly into the county treasury.

Salary

Sec. 15. The Commissioners Court of Taylor County shall fix the annual salary of the judge of the court created by this Act at an amount not less than the salary paid to the County Judge of Taylor County. The salary is payable monthly out of the county treasury.

Date of Creation

Sec. 16. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Taylor County is created on January 1, 1988, or on an earlier date determined by the commissioners court by an order entered on its minutes.

HUNT COUNTY

Art. 1970-344. Expired

TARRANT COUNTY

Art. 1970-345. Probate Court No. 1 of Tarrant County

Sec. 1. There is hereby created in and for Tarrant County, Texas, effective September 1, 1957, a county court to be called Probate Court of Tarrant County.

Sec. 1a. The name of the Probate Court of Tarrant County is changed to the "Probate Court No. 1 of Tarrant County," and the seal of the court shall contain the words "Probate Court No. 1 of Tarrant County." Wherever the name "Probate Court of Tarrant County" appears in the statutes, it shall mean "Probate Court No. 1 of Tarrant County."

Sec. 2. The Probate Court of Tarrant County shall have the general jurisdiction of a Probate Court within the limits of Tarrant County, concurrent with the jurisdiction of the County Court of Tarrant County in such matters and proceedings. It shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis and habitual drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of executors, transact all business appertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis and habitual drunkards, including the settlement, partition and distribution of estates of deceased persons, lunacy proceedings and the apprenticing of minors as provided by law.

Sec. 3. On the first day of the initial term of said Probate Court of Tarrant County there shall be transferred to the docket of said court, under the direction of the county judge and by order entered on the minutes of the County Court of Tarrant County, such number of such proceedings and matters then pending in the County Court of Tarrant County as shall be, as near as may be, one-half in number of the total of all of the same then pending, and all writs and processes theretofore issued by or out of said County Court of Tarrant County in such matters or proceedings shall be returnable to the Probate Court of Tarrant County as though originally issued therefrom. All such new matters and proceedings filed on said day, or thereafter filed with the County Clerk of Tarrant County, irrespective of the court or judge to which the matter or proceeding is addressed, shall be filed by said clerk alternately in said respective courts in the order in which the same are deposited with him for filing, beginning first with the County Court of Tarrant County. No proceeding had in either of said courts, nor any order entered therein, shall be invalid because of any failure of said clerk to file new matters and proceedings alternately as above provided. The judge of either of said courts, in his discretion, may, by an order entered upon the minutes, on or after the first day of the initial term of said Probate Court of Tarrant County, transfer from either of said courts to the other, any such matter or proceeding then or thereafter pending therein, and all processes extant at the time of such transfer shall be returned to and filed in the court to which such transfer is made and shall be as valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which such transfer may be made. No application, pleading, motion, order, judgment, oath, bond, citation, return of citation, or any other matter or proceeding shall be invalid because of any reference therein to either of said courts by the name of the other, and any reference therein to either of said courts by the name of the other of said courts shall be legally sufficient for every purpose.

Sec. 4. The County Court of Tarrant County shall retain, as heretofore, the powers and jurisdiction of said Court existing at the time of the passage of this Act, and shall exercise its powers and jurisdiction as a Probate Court with respect to all matters and proceedings of such nature other than those provided in Section 3 of this Act to be transferred to and filed in the Probate Court of Tarrant County. The County Judge of Tarrant County shall be the Judge of the County Court of Tarrant County, and all ex officio duties of the County Judge of Tarrant County, as they now exist, shall be exercised by the County Judge of Tarrant County, except in so far as the same shall by this Act expressly be committed to the Judge of the Probate Court of Tarrant County. Nothing in this Act contained shall be construed as in anywise impairing or affecting the jurisdiction of the County Court at Law of Tarrant County.

Sec. 5. The practice and procedure in the Probate Court of Tarrant County shall be the same as that provided by law generally for the county courts of this State; and all Statutes and Laws of the State, as well as all rules of court relating to proceedings in the County Courts of this State, or to the review thereof or appeals therefrom, shall, as to all matters within the jurisdiction of said Court, apply equally thereto.

Sec. 6. The Probate Court of Tarrant County shall have power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, execution, attachment, and all writs and process necessary to the exercise and enforcement of the jurisdiction of said Court, and also the power to punish for contempt under such provisions as are or may be provided by the general laws governing County Courts throughout the State.

Sec. 7. There shall be two (2) terms of said Probate Court of Tarrant County in each year, and the first of such terms shall be known as the January-June Term; it shall begin on the first Monday in January and shall continue until and including Sunday next before the first Monday in July; and the second of such terms, which shall be known as the July-December Term, shall begin on the first Monday in July and shall continue until and including Sunday next before the first Monday in the following January. The initial term of said Court shall begin on the first Monday after the effective date of this Act.

Sec. 8. There shall be elected in said County by the qualified voters thereof, at the General Election, for a term of four (4) years and until his successor shall have been duly qualified, a Judge of the Probate Court of Tarrant County, who shall be well informed in the laws of the State, and shall have been a duly licensed and practicing member of the Bar of this State for not less than five (5) consecutive years prior to his election. A judge of said Court shall be appointed by the Commissioners Court of Tarrant County as soon as may be after the passage of this Act, who shall hold office from the date of his appointment until the next General Election, and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 9. The Judge of the Probate Court of Tarrant County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by the laws relating to the County Judges.

Sec. 10. Any vacancy in the office of the Judge of the Probate Court of Tarrant County may be filled by the Commissioners Court of Tarrant County by the appointment of a Judge of said Court, who shall serve until the next General Election, and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 11. In case of the absence, disqualification or incapacity of either the Judge of the Probate Court of Tarrant County, or the County Judge of Tarrant County, or in the discretion of either of them for any other reason, the County Judge of Tarrant County may sit and act as Judge of the Probate Court of Tarrant County, and the Judge of the Probate Court of Tarrant County may sit and act as Judge of the County Court of Tarrant County, with respect to any matters referred to in Section 2 of this Act, and either of said judges may hear and determine, either in his own courtroom or, with the consent of the judge thereof, in the courtroom of the other of said courts, any matter or proceeding pending in either of said courts, and may enter any orders in such matters or proceedings as the judge of said other court might enter if personally presiding therein.

Sec. 12. In case of the absence, disqualification or incapacity of the Judge of the Probate Court of Tarrant County and the County Judge of Tarrant County, a Special Judge of the Probate Court of Tarrant County may be appointed or elected, as provided by the general laws relating to the County Courts and to the Judges thereof.

Sec. 13. The County Clerk of Tarrant County shall be the Clerk of the Probate Court of Tarrant County. The seal of the Court shall be the same as that provided by law for County Courts, except that the seal shall contain the words "Probate Court of Tarrant County." The sheriff of Tarrant County shall, in person or by deputy, attend the said Court when required by the Judge thereof.

Sec. 14. The Judge of the Probate Court of Tarrant County shall collect the same fees as are now or hereafter may be established by law relating to County Judges as to matters within the jurisdiction of said Court, all of which shall be paid by him into the County Treasury as collected, and from and after the effective date of this Act, the Judge of said Court shall receive, upon qualifying, an annual salary to be fixed by order of the Commissioners Court of Tarrant County, of not less than Sixteen Thousand Dollars ($16,000), payable out of the County Treasury by the Commissioners Court.

Sec. 15. The Commissioners Court of Tarrant County shall provide the following employees for the Judge of the County Probate Court of Tarrant County: (a) a secretary to be paid not less than Four Thousand, One Hundred and Forty Dollars ($4,140) per annum, and (b) a chief clerk to be paid not less than Six Thousand Dollars ($6,000) per annum, at salaries to be fixed by the Commissioners Court but not less than the figures indicated, which salaries shall be paid monthly out of the County Treasury by the Commissioners Court from any funds available for this purpose, provided, however, that the Judge of the County Probate Court of Tarrant County is hereby authorized to employ, supervise, and terminate each and every one of said employees. The Commissioners Court of Tarrant County may also provide such other and additional clerical assistance as may be required to properly carry on the business of said Court at salaries to be fixed by the Commissioners Court.

Sec. 15a. No action taken, nor any order made or entered, nor any application, pleading, motion, bond, citation, return of citation filed, nor any other proceeding had in the County Court of Tarrant County or in the Probate Court of Tarrant County, heretofore or hereafter, shall ever be held invalid because done in either of said courts when it should have been done in the other of said courts, or because of erroneous reference therein to either of said courts by the name of the other of said courts, and as against any complaint or charge of such nature, all of the same heretofore done are hereby validated for every purpose.

Sec. 16. The Commissioners Court of Tarrant County is hereby authorized to amend the county budget for the fiscal year of 1957, if necessary, from and at the effective date of this Act for the balance of said fiscal year, in order to provide for the salaries of the Judge of the Probate Court and employees authorized in this Act.

[Acts 1957, 55th Leg., p. 1204, ch. 400. Amended by Acts 1959, 56th Leg., p. 739, ch. 334, §§ 1, 2, 3; Acts 1961, 57th Leg., p. 1083, ch. 485, § 1; Acts 1967, 60th Leg., p. 2093, ch. 782, § 1, eff. Aug. 28, 1967; Acts 1981, 67th Leg., p. 2101, ch. 485, § 14, eff. Sept. 1, 1981.]

Art. 1970-345a. Probate Court No. 2 of Tarrant County

Creation

Sec. 1. The Probate Court No. 2 of Tarrant County is created.

Jurisdiction

Sec. 2. (a) The Probate Court No. 2 of Tarrant County has the general jurisdiction of a probate court within the limits of Tarrant County, and its jurisdiction is concurrent with the jurisdiction of the County Court of Tarrant County and the Probate Court of Tarrant County in such matters and proceedings.

(b) The County Court of Tarrant County shall retain the powers and jurisdiction of that court existing on the effective date of this Act. The county judge of Tarrant County shall be the judge of the County Court of Tarrant County, and all ex officio duties of the county judge of Tarrant County shall be exercised by the county judge of Tarrant County.

Writ Power

Sec. 3. The Probate Court No. 2 of Tarrant County shall have power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, execution, attachment, and all writs and process necessary to the exercise and enforcement of the jurisdiction of the court, and also the power to punish for contempt under the provisions provided by the general laws governing county courts throughout the state.

Terms

Sec. 4. There shall be two terms of the Probate Court No. 2 of Tarrant County in each year. The first term shall be known as the January-June term and shall begin on the first Monday in January and shall continue until and including Sunday next before the first Monday in July. The second term shall be known as the July-December term and shall begin on the first Monday in July and shall continue until and including Sunday next before the first Monday in the following January. The initial term of the court shall begin on the first Monday after the effective date of this Act.

Judge

Sec. 5. (a) The judge of the Probate Court No. 2 of Tarrant County shall be well informed in the laws of the state and shall have been a duly licensed and practicing member of the bar of this state for not less than five consecutive years prior to his election or appointment.

(b) When the court is created, a judge of the court shall be appointed by the Commissioners Court of Tarrant County, who shall hold office from the date of his appointment until the next general election and until his successor is elected and has qualified. Beginning at the general election in 1982 and every fourth year thereafter, there shall be elected by the qualified voters of the county, for a term of four years and until his successor is elected and has qualified, a judge of the Probate Court No. 2 of Tarrant County, as provided by Article V, Section 30, and Article XVI, Section 65, of the Texas Constitution.

(c) After the initial appointment, a vacancy in the office of the judge of the Probate Court No. 2 of Tarrant County may be filled by the Commissioners Court of Tarrant County by the appointment of a judge who shall serve until the next general election and until his successor is elected and has qualified.

(d) The judge of the Probate Court No. 2 of Tarrant County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by the laws relating to the county judges.

(e) In case of the absence, disqualification, or incapacity of the judge of the Probate Court No. 2 of Tarrant County, a special judge of the Probate Court No. 2 of Tarrant County may be appointed or elected, as provided by the general laws relating to the county courts and to the judges thereof.

(f) The judge of the Probate Court No. 2 of Tarrant County shall collect the fees that are established by law relating to county judges as to matters within the jurisdiction of the court, all of which shall be paid by him into the county treasury as collected. The judge shall receive an annual salary to be fixed by order of the Commissioners Court of Tarrant County in an amount equal to the annual salary of the judge of the Probate Court of Tarrant County and payable out of the county treasury by the commissioners court.

Personnel

Sec. 6. (a) The county clerk of Tarrant County shall be the clerk of the Probate Court No. 2 of Tarrant County. The sheriff of Tarrant County shall, in person or by deputy, attend the court when required by the judge.

(b) The Commissioners Court of Tarrant County shall provide a secretary and a chief clerk for the judge of the Probate Court No. 2 of Tarrant County, at salaries to be fixed by the commissioners court, which salaries shall be paid monthly out of the county treasury by the commissioners court from any funds available for this purpose. The judge of the Probate Court No. 2 of Tarrant County is authorized to employ, supervise, and terminate each of the employees. The Commissioners Court of Tarrant County may also provide such other and additional clerical assistance as may be required to properly carry on the business of the court at salaries to be fixed by the commissioners court.

Transfer of Cases and Judges

Sec. 7. (a) The judge of the county court and each of the judges of the Probate Court of Tarrant County and the Probate Court No. 2 of Tarrant County may transfer cases to and from the dockets of their respective courts, in matters within their jurisdiction, in order that the business may be equally distributed between them. However, no case may be transferred from one court to another without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred, and no case may be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred. In cases transferred to any of those courts by order of the judge of another court, all processes, writs, bonds, or other obligations issued or made in the cases shall be returned to and filed in the court to which the transfer is made. All processes issued or returned before transfer of the cases shall be valid and binding as though originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

(b) The county judge and the judges of the Probate Court of Tarrant County and the Probate Court No. 2 of Tarrant County may freely exchange benches and courtrooms with each other in matters within their jurisdiction so that if one is ill, disqualified, or otherwise absent, another may hold court for him without the necessity of transferring the case involved. Any of the judges may hear all or any part of a case pending in the county court, the Probate Court of Tarrant County, or the Probate Court No. 2 of Tarrant County, but only in matters within their jurisdiction, and may rule and enter orders on and continue, determine, or render judgment on all or any part of the case without the necessity of transferring it to his own docket. However, a judge may not sit or act in a case unless it is within the jurisdiction of his court. Each judgment and order shall be entered in the minutes of the court in which the case is pending. The provisions providing for the exchange of benches by and between the judges are cumulative of and in addition to the provisions provided for the selection and appointment of a special judge of the probate courts.

Practice and Procedure

Sec. 8. (a) The practice and procedure in the Probate Court No. 2 of Tarrant County shall be the same as that provided by law generally for the county courts of this state. All statutes and laws of the state, as well as all rules of court relating to proceedings in the county courts of this state, or to the review thereof or appeals therefrom, shall, as to all matters within the jurisdiction of the court, apply equally thereto.

(b) The laws that govern the drawing, selection, service, and pay of jurors for county courts apply to the Probate Court No. 2 of Tarrant County.

(c) All new probate matters and proceedings filed on or after the effective date of this Act with the county clerk of Tarrant County, irrespective of the court or judge to which the matter or proceeding is addressed, shall be filed by the clerk alternately in the county court, the Probate Court of Tarrant County, and the Probate Court No. 2 of Tarrant County in the order in which the same are deposited with him for filing. No proceeding had in any of those courts, nor any order entered therein, shall be invalid because of any failure of the clerk to file new matters and proceedings alternately.

Seal

Sec. 9. The seal of the court shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts, except that the seal shall contain the words "Probate Court No. 2 of Tarrant County."

[Acts 1981, 67th Leg., p. 2096, ch. 485, §§ 1 to 9, eff. Sept. 1, 1981.]

ECTOR COUNTY

Art. 1970-346. County Court at Law of Ector County

Sec. 1. There is hereby created a court to be held in Odessa, Ector County, Texas, which shall be known as the County Court at Law of Ector County, and which shall be a court of record.

Sec. 2. The County Court at Law of Ector County shall have original and concurrent jurisdiction with the County Court of Ector County in all matters and causes, civil and criminal, original and appellate, over which by the General Laws of this state, county courts have jurisdiction, except as provided in Section 5 of this Act; but this provision shall not affect jurisdiction of the Commissioners Court or the county judge of Ector County, as the presiding officer of the Commissioners Court as to roads, bridges and public highways, and matters of eminent domain which are now within the jurisdiction of the Commissioners Court or the presiding judge thereof.

Sec. 2a. The County Court at Law of Ector County shall have jurisdiction concurrent with that of the district court in civil cases when the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $20,000, exclusive of interest.

Sec. 3. The County Court at Law of Ector County has concurrent civil jurisdiction with the district court in cases in which the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $50,000, excluding interest, in appeals of final rulings and decisions of the Industrial Accident Board, regardless of the amount in controversy, in eminent domain cases and proceedings as provided by general law and in cases and proceedings involving family law matters, including adoption; birth records; removal of disability of minority or coverture; change of names of persons; divorce and marriage annulment, including the adjustment of property rights, custody and support of minor children involved, temporary support pending final hearing, and every other matter incident to divorce or annulment proceedings; paternity; termination of parental rights; independent actions involving child welfare, custody, support and reciprocal support, dependency, neglect, and delinquency; and independent actions involving controversies between parents, between parent and child, and between spouses.

Sec. 4. The County Court at Law of Ector County shall also have the general jurisdiction of a probate court within the limits of Ector County, concurrent with jurisdiction of the County Court of Ector County in such matters and proceedings. Such County Court at Law of Ector County shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of executors, transact all business appertaining to deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis and common drunkards, including the settlement, partition and distribution of estates of deceased persons, the apprenticing of minors as provided by law, and conduct lunacy proceedings.

The County Court at Law of Ector County shall have the jurisdiction conferred upon probate courts specially created by the Legislature in Article 1970a-1, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, as the same now stands or may hereafter be amended, and all other provisions of the law relating to probate courts, whether specially created by the Legislature or otherwise, shall be and are hereby made to apply in all their provisions insofar as they are applicable to the County Court at Law of Ector County and insofar as they are not inconsistent with this Act.

Sec. 5. The County Judge of Ector County shall be the judge of the county court of Ector County. All ex-officio duties of the county judge shall be exercised by the judge of the County Court of Ector County except insofar as the same shall, by this Act, be committed to the judge of the County Court at Law of Ector County.

Sec. 6. (a) The respective judges of the County Court of Ector County and of the County Court at Law of Ector County shall, from time to time as occasion may require, transfer cases from one of such courts to the other of such courts in order that the business may be equally distributed among them, that the judges thereof may at all times be provided with cases to be tried or otherwise considered, and that the trial of no case need be delayed because of the disqualification of the judge in whose court it is pending; provided, however, that no case shall be transferred from one court to the other without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred; and provided further, that no case may be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred.

(b) On motion of a party, on agreement of the parties, or on their own motion, the judges of the County Court at Law of Ector County and the district courts in Ector County may transfer civil cases and proceedings to and from the dockets of their respective courts, except that a case or proceeding may not be transferred from one court to another without the consent of the judge of the court to which it is transferred and may not be transferred unless it is within the jurisdiction of the court to which it is transferred. If a judge is disqualified in a case or proceeding, he shall transfer the case or proceeding from his court to another of the courts.

(c) When a case is transferred from one court to another as provided by this section, all processes, writs, bonds, recognizances, or other obligations issued from the transferring court are returnable to the court to which the case is transferred as if originally issued by that court. The obligees in all bonds and recognizances taken in and for a court from which a case is transferred, and all witnesses summoned to appear in a court from which a case is transferred, are required to appear before the court to which the case is transferred as if originally issued out of the court to which the transfer is made.

Sec. 7. In probate matters, in the absence, disqualification or incapacity of the judge of the County Court at Law of Ector County the County Judge of Ector County may sit and act as judge of the County Court at Law, and may hear and determine, either in his own courtroom or in the courtroom of the County Court at Law any matter or proceedings there pending, and enter any orders in such matters or proceedings as the judge of the County Court at Law may enter if personally presiding therein. Likewise, in probate matters, the judge of the County Court at Law may, in the absence, disqualification or incapacity of the county judge sit and act as judge of the county court, and may hear and determine, either in his own courtroom or in the courtroom of the county court, any matter or proceeding there pending and enter any orders in such matters or proceedings as the county judge may enter if personally presiding therein. The signature of either judge on any order shall be conclusive that all conditions have been met or complied with to qualify him to act for the other in such probate matters.

Sec. 8. The judge of the County Court at Law of Ector County and the judge of the County Court of Ector County may, at any time, exchange benches, and may, at any time, sit and act for and with each other in any civil or criminal case, matter or proceeding of which the said courts have concurrent jurisdiction, pending now, or hereafter, in either the County Court at Law of Ector County or the County Court of Ector County; and any and all such acts thus performed by the judge of the County Court of Ector County or the judge of the County Court at Law of Ector County shall be valid and binding upon all parties to such cases, matters and proceedings.

Sec. 9. The terms of the County Court at Law of Ector County shall be as prescribed by the laws relating to the county courts. The terms of the County Court at Law of Ector County shall be held as now established for the terms of the County Court of Ector County and the same may be changed in accordance with the laws governing the change in the terms of the County Court of Ector County.

Sec. 10. At the next general election after the effective date of this Act there shall be elected a judge of the County Court at Law of Ector County who shall have been a duly licensed and practicing member of the State Bar of Texas for not less than five (5) years, well informed in the laws of the state, who shall have resided in and been actively engaged in the practice of law in Ector County, Texas, for a period of not less than two (2) years prior to such general election, and who shall hold his office for four (4) years and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified. When this Act becomes effective, the Commissioners Court of Ector County, Texas, shall appoint a judge of said County at Law of Ector County, who shall have the qualifications herein prescribed and who shall serve until the next general election and until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified. Any vacancy thereafter occurring in the office of the judge of said County Court at Law of Ector County shall in like manner, as hereinabove provided, be filled by said Commissioners Court of Ector County, the appointee thereof to hold office until the next succeeding general election and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 11. The county attorney of Ector County shall represent the state in all prosecutions in the County Court at Law of Ector County, as provided by law for such prosecutions in county courts, and shall be entitled to the same fees as now prescribed by law for such prosecutions in the county courts.

Sec. 12. The judge of the County Court at Law of Ector County may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as any county judge may be removed under the laws of this state.

Sec. 13. The judge of the County Court at Law of Ector County shall execute a bond and take the oath of office as required by law relating to county judges.

Sec. 14. A special judge of the County Court at Law of Ector County may be appointed or elected as provided by law relating to county courts and to the judge thereof. He shall receive the sum of Thirty Dollars ($30.00) per day for each day he so actually serves, to be paid out of the general fund of the county by the Commissioners Court.

Sec. 15. In the case of the disqualification of the judge of the County Court at Law of Ector County to try any case pending in his court, the parties or their attorneys may agree on the selection of a special judge of the County Court at Law to try such case or cases where the judge of the County Court at Law of Ector County is disqualified. In case of the selection of such special judge by agreement of the parties or their attorneys, such special judge shall draw the same compensation as that provided in Section 14 of this Act.

Sec. 16. The County Court at Law of Ector County, or the judge thereof, shall have the power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, superseas, and all writs necessary to the enforcement of jurisdiction of the court, and to issue writs of habeas corpus in such cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of said court or of any other court in said county of inferior jurisdiction to the County Court at Law, and also the power to punish for contempt under such provisions as are or may be provided by the general laws governing county courts throughout the state, and said judge shall have all other powers, duties, immunities and privileges as are or may be provided by general law for judges of courts of record and for judges of County Courts at Law, and he shall be a magistrate and a conservator of the peace.

Sec. 17. (a) The county clerk of Ector County shall be the clerk of the County Court at Law of Ector County, except that, in matters within the concurrent jurisdiction of the county court at law and the district courts, the district clerk serves as clerk of the court. In matters within their concurrent jurisdiction, the judges of the county courts at law and the district courts may adopt the rules governing the filing and numbering of cases, the assignment of cases for trial, and the distribution of the work of those courts that they consider necessary or desirable for the orderly dispatch of the business of those courts.

(b) The seal of the county court at law shall be the same as that provided by law for county courts, except the seal shall contain the words "County Court at Law of Ector County."

Sec. 18. The sheriff of Ector County shall in person or by deputy attend the County Court at Law of Ector County when required by the judge thereof.

Sec. 19. The jurisdiction and authority now vested by law in the county clerk of Ector County and the judge thereof, for the drawing, selection and service of jurors and talesmen shall also be exercised by the County Court at Law and the judge thereof; but jurors and talesmen summoned for either of said courts may by order of the judge of the court in which they are summoned, be transferred to the other court for service therein and may be used therein as if summoned for the court to which they may be thus transferred. Upon concurrence of the judge of the County Court at Law and the county judge, jurors may be summoned for service in both courts and shall be used interchangeably in both such courts.

Sec. 20. Jurors regularly impaneled for the week by the district court or courts, if there be more than one, may on request of either the judge of the county court or the judge of the County Court at Law, be made available by the district judge or judges in such numbers as may be requested, for service for the week in either or both the county court or the County Court at Law and such jurors shall serve in the county court and County Court at Law the same as they had been drawn and selected as is otherwise provided by law.

Sec. 21. The judge of the County Court at Law of Ector County shall appoint an official shorthand reporter for such court who shall be well skilled in his profession and shall be a sworn officer of the court and shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court. Such reporter shall take the oath required of official court reporters and shall receive a salary as set by the Commissioners Court of Ector County to be paid out of the county treasury of Ector County, as other county officials are paid in equal monthly installments. All other provisions of Chapter 13, Title 42, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended and as the same may hereafter be amended, and all other provisions of the law relating to official court reporters shall be and are hereby made to apply in all their provisions insofar as they are applicable to the official shorthand reporter herein authorized to be appointed and insofar as they are not inconsistent with this Act.

Sec. 22. The judge of the County Court at Law of Ector County shall receive the same salary and be paid from the same fund and the same manner as is not prescribed or may be established by law for the county judge of Ector County, to be paid out of the county treasury of Ector County, Texas, on the order of the Commissioners Court of said county, and said salary shall be paid monthly in equal installments.

Sec. 23. The judge of the County Court at Law of Ector County shall assess the same fees as are prescribed by law relating to the county judge's fees, all of which will be collected by the clerk of the court and shall be paid into the county treasury on collection, no part of which shall be paid to the judge, but he shall draw the salary as above specified in this Act.

Sec. 24. (a) The laws of the State of Texas, the rules of procedure and the rules of evidence shall be applicable to and control trials and proceedings in the County Court at Law of Ector County, and shall be applicable to and govern the proceedings in and appeals to and appeals from the County Court at Law of Ector County. Practice in the county court at law shall conform to that prescribed by law and the rules for county courts, except that procedure, evidence, issuance of process and writs, juries, and all other matters pertaining to the conduct of trials and hearings in the county court at law involving those matters of concurrent jurisdiction with the district courts shall be governed by the law and rules pertaining to district courts.

(b) This Act does not diminish the jurisdiction of the district courts or the county court, and those courts retain and continue to exercise the jurisdiction that is conferred by law on district courts and county courts, respectively. The jurisdiction conferred by this Act is concurrent with the jurisdiction of those courts.

Art. 1970-346a. County Court at Law No. 2 of Ector County

Creation

Sec. 1. The County Court at Law No. 2 of Ector County is created as provided by this Act.

Jurisdiction

Sec. 2. (a) The County Court at Law No. 2 has the same civil, criminal, and probate jurisdiction, original and appellate, over all causes and proceedings that is prescribed by law for county courts, and that jurisdiction is concurrent with the jurisdiction of the County Court of Ector County and the County Court at Law of Ector County.

(b) The district courts, county court, and county courts at law in Ector County have jurisdiction over juvenile matters as provided by general law, and each court may be designated a juvenile court.

(c) The County Court at Law No. 2 has jurisdiction concurrent with the district court in eminent domain proceedings as provided by general law and in civil cases when the matter in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $50,000, excluding interest. The County Court at Law No. 2 has concurrent civil jurisdiction with the district court in suits and proceedings involving family law matters, including adoptions; birth records; removal of disability of minority or coverture; change of name of persons; divorce and marriage annulment, including the adjustment of property rights, custody and support of minor children involved, temporary support pending final hearing, and every other matter incident to divorce or annulment proceedings; paternity; termination of parental rights; independent actions involving child welfare, custody, support and reciprocal support, dependency, neglect, and delinquency; and independent actions involving controversies between parents, between parent and child, and between spouses. The County Court at Law No. 2 has concurrent civil jurisdiction with the district court in appeals of final rulings and decisions of the Industrial Accident Board, regardless of the amount in controversy.

(d) This Act does not diminish the jurisdiction of the district court or the county court in Ector County, and those courts retain and continue to exercise the jurisdiction that is conferred by law on district courts and county courts, respectively. The jurisdiction conferred by this Act is concurrent with the jurisdiction of those courts.

(e) This Act does not affect the jurisdiction of the commissioners court or of the county judge as the presiding officer of the commissioners court as to roads, bridges, public highways, and the general administration of county business that is within the jurisdiction of the commissioners court. The county judge of Ector County is the judge of the County Court of Ector County and retains and shall perform all ex officio duties and executive and administrative functions of the county judge.

Writ Power

Sec. 3. The County Court at Law No. 2 or its judge may issue writs of injunction, mandamus, sequestration, attachment, garnishment, certiorari, supersedeas, and all writs necessary for the enforcement of the jurisdiction of the court and may issue writs of habeas corpus in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the court or of any other court of inferior jurisdiction in the county. The court and the judge may punish for contempt as prescribed by general law.

Terms

Sec. 4. The County Court at Law No. 2 has the same terms of Court as the terms of the County Court in Ector County.

Judge

Sec. 5. (a) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 must have resided and practiced law in Ector County for at least two years prior to the judge's appointment or election, and must be a licensed attorney in this state who has been actively engaged in the practice of law for at least five years prior to the judge's appointment or election.

(b) The commissioners court shall appoint a judge to fill the initial vacancy in the office of the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 when the court is created and shall fill a subsequent vacancy in the office of the judge in the same manner. The appointee to fill either the initial or a subsequent vacancy holds office until the next general election after the appointment and until his successor is elected and qualified.

(c) Beginning at the general election in 1986, the judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 is elected by the qualified voters of Ector County for a regular term of four years as provided by Article V, Section 30, and Article XVI, Section 65, of the Texas Constitution. The judge shall continue to perform the duties of the office until his successor is elected and qualified.

(d) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 shall take the oath of office prescribed by the constitution of this state and shall execute a bond as required by the law relating to county judges.

(e) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 may be removed from office in the same manner and for the same causes as a county judge.

(f) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 shall receive the same salary as the county judge, which shall be paid from the same fund and in the same manner as the salary of the county judge.

The salary shall be paid monthly in equal installments. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 is entitled to traveling expenses and necessary office expenses, including administrative and clerical help, in the same manner that is allowed the county judge. The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 shall assess the same fees that are prescribed by law relating to the county judge's fees. The fees shall be collected by the clerk of the court and paid into the county treasury on collection. The fees may not be paid to the judge.

(g) A special judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 may be appointed or elected in the manner provided by law for the appointment or election of a special county judge. A special judge of a county court at law in Ector County must have the same qualifications and is entitled to the same rate of compensation as the regular judge.

Court Officials and Personnel

Sec. 6. (a) The county attorney, county clerk, and sheriff of Ector County shall serve as county attorney, clerk, and sheriff, respectively, for the County Court at Law No. 2, except that the district clerk of Ector County shall serve as clerk of the county court at law in cases where that court has concurrent jurisdiction with the district court. In matters within their concurrent jurisdiction, the judges of the county courts at law and the district courts may adopt the rules governing the filing and numbering of cases, the assignment of cases for trial, and the distribution of the work of those courts that they consider necessary or desirable for the orderly dispatch of the business of those courts.

(b) The judge of the County Court at Law No. 2 shall appoint an official court reporter who shall have the same qualifications and whose duties shall in every respect be as provided by law for official court reporters. The official court reporter is entitled to the compensation fixed by the commissioners court.

Practice and Procedure

Sec. 7. (a) Practice in the County Court at Law No. 2 shall conform to that prescribed by law and the rules for county courts, except that procedure, evidence, issuance of process and writs, juries, and all other matters pertaining to the conduct of trials and hearings in the county court at law involving matters of concurrent jurisdiction with the district court shall be governed by the law and rules pertaining to district courts.

(b) The judges of the county court and the county courts at law may transfer cases to and from the dockets of their respective courts so that the business may be equally distributed between them. On motion of a party, on agreement of the parties, or on their own motion, the judges of the county courts at law in Ector County and the district courts in Ector County may transfer civil cases and proceedings to and from the dockets of their respective
