Art. 7019. Coast counties may buy and lease causeways and bridges.—The commissioners' court of any county bordering on the Gulf of Mexico that has within its limits an island that is separated from the mainland by a bay or arm of the sea, that is over one mile in width, shall have the right and authority to purchase a roadway upon and along any causeway and bridge that may be constructed across any such bay or arm of the sea, and to operate and maintain the same as a public highway; and said commissioners' court shall also have the right and authority to lease for a period not to exceed thirty years, a roadway upon and along any such causeway and bridge for a public highway, and to make such terms and conditions, and to pay such amounts of money as may be agreed upon with the company owning or operating such causeway and bridge. [Acts 1905, p. 424, sec. 1.]

Art. 7020. Funds available for the purpose.—For the purpose of paying for the purchase or lease of a roadway, as provided for in the preceding article, the commissioners' court shall have the right to levy and collect such taxes as are now or may hereafter be authorized by law.
and also to appropriate out of county revenue funds, levied and collected for county revenue purposes, such additional amounts as may be necessary, from time to time, to pay the obligations that may be incurred under the provisions of this chapter. [Id. sec. 2.]

DECISIONS RELATING TO BRIDGES IN GENERAL

CHAPTER NINE A

CAUSEWAYS ACROSS ARMS OF GULF OF MEXICO

Art. 7020a. Authority to purchase, build, operate, etc.—Any person, corporation or association of persons is hereby authorized to purchase, build, construct, own, maintain, and operate a combination bridge, dam, dike, causeway and roadway across any arm of the gulf of Mexico, or inlet thereof, or any of the salt water bays, wholly within the limits of the state of Texas, for the purpose of providing a causeway, roadway or highway for vehicles, teams, pedestrians, railroads, and for every character of inland transportation. [Acts 1913, p. 331, sec. 1.]

Art. 7020b. Authority to lease right of way to cities and towns and railroad corporations.—That any person, corporation or association of persons, that may hereafter purchase, build or construct any combination bridge, dam, dike, causeway or roadway, under the provisions of this Act, shall have the right and are hereby authorized to lease right of way over said causeway, or on or over said causeway and highway to cities and towns for public utilities owned and operated by said cities and towns, and also to corporations for the construction by such corporation or corporations of a railroad track or tracks over which steam and electric trains and cars may be operated for the transportation of freight and passengers; such right not to be granted in such way as to obstruct or interfere with the use of such causeway, roadway or highway for pedestrians teams and vehicles, or to permit a monopoly. The said grant or lease of such rights of way to railroad corporations to be for such time and on such terms and conditions as may be prescribed by the railroad commission of Texas. [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7020c. Lessee corporation may contract; may issue bonds, etc.—Any corporation or corporations contracting as provided in section 2 [Art. 7020b] of this Act with owner or owners of said roadway, causeway or highway for the right of way over any part of said structure shall have the right to make and enter into any contract or contracts with said owner or owners subject to the approval of the railroad commission of Texas for the payment to the said owner or owners of all sums of money due thereunder, and to this end for this purpose shall have the right to issue and sell its or their bonds to the extent of the amount of such corporation or corporations obligations to the said owner or owners; provided that no such bond or bonds shall be issued by any railroad company or other corporation without first obtaining the

Art. 7020d. Statement of location to be filed.—Every person, corporation or association of persons who has begun the construction or may hereafter construct any bridge, dam, dike, causeway, roadway or highway as herein provided, in, over and across any arm of the gulf of Mexico or inlet thereof, or any of the salt water bays, wholly within the limits of the state of Texas, shall within ninety days after this Act goes into effect, or within ninety days after commencement of such construction, file and cause to be recorded in the office of the county clerk of the county where the bridge, dam, dike, causeway or roadway, or the greater part thereof may be situated, or to which said county may be attached for judicial purposes, in a well bound book to be kept by said clerk for that purpose, a sworn statement in writing showing the location of said proposed dam, dike, bridge, causeway or roadway, the name of the same, the size of the same, the name of said stream or bay or arm of the gulf or inlet thereof or salt water bay over which said bridge, dam, dike causeway or roadway is to be built, the time when the work was commenced and the name of the owner or owners thereof, together with a map showing the location of said dam, dike, bridge, causeway or roadway. [Id. sec. 4.]

Art. 7020e. Claimant's right to relate back to time of filing statement, etc.—By compliance with the provisions of the preceding section the claimant's right to build and construct said dam, dike, causeway and roadway will relate back to the time of filing said statement and map, as provided in the preceding section, and the first in time shall be the first in right; provided, that any location of bridges, ferries or causeways heretofore made shall not be prejudiced by the passage of this Act; and provided, further, that the filing of said statement and map shall be considered as taking "formal action." [Id. sec. 5.]

Art. 7020f. Purchase or condemnation of approaches.—The person, corporation or association of persons, filing the statement and map as provided in this Act, may acquire by purchase or condemnation in accordance with the method now prescribed by law for condemnation by railroads all necessary approaches to said dam, dike, causeway or roadway that he or it deems necessary. [Id. sec. 6.]

Art. 7020g. Land under water, etc., granted.—The land under water to be occupied by such causeway bridge structure and approaches thereof is hereby granted absolutely to the person corporation or association of persons filing said statement and map and building said causeway or roadway, (and five hundred feet more on each side of such structure is also granted with the right only to dredge therefrom or beyond same for material for causeways if required in construction and maintenance). [Id. sec. 7.]

Art. 7020h. Use of tracks by railroad, how charged for.—The use of such tracks on such causeway structure by any railroad shall never be charged for by the railroad company or companies except as a part of the mileage of the road at statutory rates, and be otherwise according to the general laws of the state of Texas. [Id. sec. 8.]

Art. 7020i. Corporations may be formed; powers; tolls and charges.—Corporations may be formed and chartered under the provisions of this Act, and of the general corporation laws of the state of Texas, for the purpose of purchasing, constructing, owning, maintaining and operating bridges, dams, dikes, causeways, roadways and highways, with appurtenances thereto, over any arm of the gulf of Mexico or inlet thereof or any of the salt water bays, wholly within the limits of the state of Texas, to be used as highways for railroads, vehicles, teams, pedestrians and for all other means of inland transportation. All such corporations shall have full power and authority to make contracts with other persons or corporations conveying to said other persons or corporations the right of easement of user of any portion of any bridge, roadway or causeway constructed in, over and across any arm of the gulf of Mexico, or inlet thereof, or any of the salt water bays wholly within the limits of the state of Texas, and shall have full power and authority to charge, demand and receive reasonable and just tolls and charges for the use of said portions of said bridge, causeway or roadway, but all said roadways or causeways or bridges so constructed shall remain open for trains, vehicles, teams, pedestrians, railroads and for all other means of inland transportation of freight and passengers, and the tolls and charges for the use of same shall be equal, just and uniform to all persons, corporations, cities and towns as herein provided without discrimination as to the amount charged, or delay in handling same. [Id. sec. 9.]

Art. 7020j. Powers of railroad commission.—Any corporation organized under the provisions of this Act shall be subject to the regulation and control of the railroad commission as to all the powers and provisions of this Act. [Id. sec. 9a.]

Art. 7020k. Federal regulations.—That nothing in this Act shall be construed to be in conflict with or contrary to federal regulations. [Id. sec. 10.]

CHAPTER TEN FERRIES

Art. 7021. Who are entitled to license to keep. Every person owning the land fronting upon any water course, navigable stream, lake or bay, shall be entitled to the privilege of keeping a public ferry over or across such water course, stream, lake or bay; if he owns the lands on both sides or banks, he shall be entitled to the sole and exclusive right of ferriage at such place; if he owns the lands on one side only, he shall have the privilege of a public ferry from his own shore, with the privilege of landing his boat and passengers on the opposite shore, with the consent of the owner of the land on said shore; if such consent can not be obtained, he may apply to the commissioners’ court for the establishment of a public road from said opposite shore; and said court shall act on such applications as in other cases. [Act Jan. 23, 1850; P. D. 3841.]

In general.—As to preference right to establish ferries, see Tugwell v. Eagle Pass Ferry Co., 74 T. 480, 9 S. W. 120, 18 S. W. 654.
Franchises.—Power to grant.—The county court is authorized to establish public ferries. Art. 2241; Tugwell v. Eagle Pass Ferry Co., 74 T. 480, 9 S. W. 120, 18 S. W. 654.
This chapter does not restrict the right to establish public ferries given by Art. 2241.
Burrow v. Gonzales County, 6 C. A. 252, 23 S. W. 829.
Art. 7021  ROADS, BRIDGES AND FERRIES (Title 119)

Necessity of acquiring franchise.—No one is permitted to keep a public ferry and charge fees without a license. Tugwell v. Eagle Pass Ferry Co., 74 T. 459, 9 S. W. 120, 13 S. W. 654.

One has no right to operate a ferry so as to charge compensation without procuring a license therefor from the commissioners' court, and hence he has no legal right to have the public road kept open for his benefit. Parsons v. Hunt, 98 T. 450, 84 S. W. 646.

Exclusive license.—Parties having an exclusive license within certain limits may by injunction restrain others operating without a license within the limits. Tugwell v. Eagle Pass Ferry Co., 74 T. 460, 9 S. W. 120, 13 S. W. 654.

Right of landing.—The operator of a private ferry without license cannot land his boat on property condemned for a public road under the statute, without the consent of the riparian owner. Buford v. Smith, 2 C. A. 178, 21 S. W. 168.

Bridge and ferry corporations.—See Title 55, Chapter 20.

Art. 7022. [4798] Shall not be for hire without license.—No person shall keep any ferry over or across any water course, navigable stream, lake or bay, so as to charge any compensation for crossing the same, without first procuring a license from the commissioners' court of the county in which such ferry is situated. [Id. P. D. 3842.]

Art. 7023. [4799] Where stream is part of state boundary.—When a water course, navigable stream, lake or bay makes a part of the boundary line of this state, if any tax or charge shall be assessed or collected by any such adjoining state for the privilege of a ferry landing on the shore or bank of such state from this state, then the same tax or charge may be assessed and collected by the commissioners' court for the like privilege of landing on the bank or shore of this state. [Id. P. D. 3842.]

In general.—Construing this article and Arts. 7022, 7023, it would seem that those articles only had reference to ferries operated across streams wholly in this state, and that the commissioners' court of Lamar county would have to look alone to this article for authority to tax a ferry across Red river, the boundary between the Indian Territory and Texas. The record is silent as to whether the Indian Territory levies a tax for landing on that side and it is also silent as to whether Lamar county has levied a tax for landing on this side. It follows that appellee is not required to procure a license from Lamar county for keeping and operating a ferry. Parsons v. Hunt (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 122.

This article seems to provide for a system of retaliation rather than of reciprocity and its validity may be seriously doubted. It was not intended to provide either for the establishment or regulation of ferries. Parsons v. Hunt, 98 T. 450, 84 S. W. 646.

Art. 7024. [4800] License, how obtained.—Any person wishing to establish a ferry across any water course, navigable stream, lake or bay in this state, shall apply to the commissioners' court of the county in which such ferry site may be; and, on the applicant showing that he is the lawful owner of such land as the ferry is sought to be established on, and also satisfying the court that the public convenience will be promoted thereby, such court shall grant such license. [Id. P. D. 3844.]

Art. 7025. [4801] Rates of ferriage shall be established, etc.—When a commissioners' court shall establish a ferry, they shall state in their record the rates of toll or ferriage which may be demanded for ferrying passengers, carriages, wagons, carts, beasts and such other property as is usually transported by ferries; and the said courts may, at their first term in each year, and shall at any other term, upon the petition of twenty respectable citizens of the county, revise, and, if deemed expedient, change the rates of toll or ferriage at all ferries that have been or may be established in their county. [Act Jan. 5, 1854; P. D. 3845.]

Art. 7026. [4802] Change of rates.—All changes of the rates of ferriage shall be entered of record and notice thereof furnished by the county clerks to the owners of ferries affected by such change; provided, no change of rate shall take effect until the expiration of thirty days from the day on which said change may be made. [Id.]

Art. 7027. [4803] When owner refuses to keep ferry at the established rates.—Where any owner of a ferry shall refuse to keep up the same at the rates allowed by the commissioners' court, said court may issue a license to any one who will do so; but in all such cases the party receiving such license shall be bound to take the ferry-boat in use at said ferry, if desired by the owner, at such valuation as two respectable citizens of the vicinity, one to be chosen by each party, shall place upon it. [Id.]

Art. 7028. [4804] License and bond to be renewed annually.—The owners of all ferries shall annually obtain a renewal of their license, and shall annually enter into bond, payable to the county judge of their county, in such sum as the commissioners' court shall direct, not less than one thousand dollars, with two or more good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by such county judge, conditioned that the owner of such ferry will at all times keep good and sufficient boats for the use of such ferry, and will also keep the banks on each side of the ferry in good repair and so graded and leveled that the rise shall not exceed one foot in every seven feet from the water's edge to the top of the bank, and that said ferry shall be well attended at all times, and that he will comply with all the requisitions of the law relating to or governing ferries, which bond shall be filed and recorded in the office of the clerk of the county court. [Act Jan. 23, 1850. P. D. 3846, 3847.]

Art. 7029. [4805] License not to issue until, etc.—Upon producing the receipt of the county treasurer for the payment of the tax assessed by the commissioners' court for the privilege of such ferry, and executing the bond required by the preceding article, such commissioners' court shall grant a license to such applicant for the term of one year from the date of such license; and no license for any ferry that has been or may hereafter be established shall be granted until such payment shall be made and bond executed. [Id. P. D. 3848.]

Art. 7030. [4806] Rates of, to be delivered to person obtaining license.—In all cases where any person shall obtain a license for a ferry, the clerk of the court shall make out and deliver to such person a copy of the rates of toll or ferriage established by the court for such ferry, which shall be under his hand and official seal. [Id. P. D. 3849.]

Art. 7031. [4807] Rates of, to be posted at the ferry.—Every owner of a ferry licensed shall keep a list of the rates of toll or ferriage established for his ferry posted up, either at the ferry or ferry house, for the inspection of all persons. If any such owner shall fail or neglect to do so, he shall forfeit and pay the sum of four dollars for every such neglect, which may be recovered before any justice of the peace of the county on the complaint of any person, one-half of said amount to go to the county and the other half to the prosecutor; and every week that he shall so fail or neglect shall be deemed a separate offense, for which he shall be liable as aforesaid. [Id. P. D. 3850.]

Art. 7032. [4808] Where ferryman delays or refuses, etc., to cross person.—If any person licensed to keep a ferry shall, on being tendered his lawful fees, refuse or neglect, without any reasonable cause, to cross any person, his horse or other property usually transported by such ferry, every such ferryman shall, for every delay of thirty minutes, forfeit and pay to the person injured the sum of two dollars, to be recovered by action before any justice of the peace for the county in which the ferry is situated, with costs of suit; and the oath of the party shall be received in evidence of the fact. [Id. P. D. 3851.]

Art. 7033. [4809] Duties of ferryman.—Every licensed ferryman shall at all times keep good and sufficient boats for the use of such ferry, and shall keep the banks on each side of the ferry in good repair, and so graded and leveled that the rise shall not exceed one foot in every seven feet from the water's edge to the top of the bank; and shall give ready and due attendance on all passengers, horses, wagons and other property. [Id. P. D. 3852.]
Art. 7034. [4810] Where ferryman charges more than, etc.—If any licensed ferryman shall charge and receive from any person a higher rate of toll or ferriage than has been established for his ferry by the commissioners’ court, he shall forfeit and pay to such person five dollars for every such offense, to be recovered by action before any justice of the peace of the county in which the ferry is established, with costs of suit; and the oath of the complainant shall be received in evidence. [Id. P. D. 3853.]

Art. 7035. [4811] Penalty for keeping, etc., without license.—If any person shall keep any ferry over any water course, navigable stream, lake or bay, for which he shall charge any person any money or other valuable thing, without complying with the provisions of this chapter in relation to paying the tax, obtaining license and entering into bond, he shall forfeit and pay to every other person having a licensed ferry on the same water course, stream, lake or bay in the same county five dollars for every person so ferried, and the same sum for every wagon or other article so transported which may be subject to a separate charge, to be sued for and recovered before any justice of the peace of the county, with costs of prosecution; and shall, moreover, forfeit and pay a like sum in like manner to the county, which may be sued for and recovered in like manner by the county treasurer. [Id. P. D. 3854.]

Art. 7036. [4812] Proceedings against sureties of ferryman.—In all cases where a recovery shall be had against the ferryman for violation of this law, if after judgment execution shall be returned that no estate of such ferryman can be found whereon to levy and make the money demanded in such execution, the justice to whom such execution is so returned shall cite the sureties of such ferryman to appear and show cause why judgment should not be rendered against them for the amount of the execution that is not satisfied, and unless such cause is shown judgment shall be so entered and execution shall issue therefor. [Id. P. D. 3855.]

Art. 7037. [4813] Suit on bond.—Any person injured by breach of the bond of any ferryman shall have the right to sue thereon in his own name; and no such bond shall be void on the first recovery, but may be sued on from time to time until the whole penalty is recovered. [Id. P. D. 3856.]

Art. 7038. [4814] Temporary license.—Any person wishing to establish a public ferry between the regular terms of the commissioners’ court may obtain a temporary license for such ferry from the county judge, which shall authorize him to keep such ferry until the next regular term of the commissioners’ court for the county, and to charge and receive for such time such rates of toll or ferriage as are charged at other ferries on the same water course, stream, lake or bay. [Id. P. D. 3857.]

Art. 7039. [4815] License tax.—The commissioners’ courts of the several counties shall have power to assess and collect an annual tax for the privilege of each and every ferry in their county, which tax shall not exceed one hundred dollars per annum. [Id. P. D. 3858.]

Art. 7040. [4816] Where stream is part of county boundary.—If any water course, navigable stream, lake or bay shall form a portion of the boundary of any county, so that one bank shall be in one county and the other in a different county, at the place where it is proposed to establish a ferry, or where a ferry has been established, the application for a license shall be made to the commissioners’ court of the county wherein the applicant resides or has his ferry house, and upon the granting of such license by the said court, the person or persons so licensed shall have the right to own and operate a ferry upon the same terms and conditions and with the same rights and privileges as are provided by this chapter for the owners or keepers of ferries operated exclusively in one county, and no county tax shall be assessed and collected upon a ferry by any other commissioners' court than the one granting the license therefor. [Id. P. D. 3859.]

In general.—The commissioners' court of one county having granted a license to operate a ferry across a river which is the boundary line of two counties and opened a public road from the county seat to the ferry, the crossing at which the ferry is operated is the crossing of a public road as that term is used in Art. 1279 and the maintenance of such ferry is not prohibited by the latter article. Alabama Ferry Co. v. Leathers (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 118.

Art. 7041. [4817] Charges on cattle, etc., swimming stream.—The commissioners' court shall not authorize a charge of more than one cent per head on cattle or horses swimming rivers at licensed ferries, including the use of pens and boats necessary for the control of such stock. [Act Jan. 9, 1862. P. D. 3862.]

CHAPTER ELEVEN
SPECIAL ROAD TAX

[See "Bonds, County and Municipal," Title 18, Chapter 2, and see Appendix for list of local road laws.]

Art. 7042. Election for road tax, how ordered. Art. 7045. Duty of commissioners' court upon obtaining result of election, etc.
7043. Same subject. 7046. No bonds to issue.
7044. Who qualified to vote, etc.

Article 7042. Election for road tax, how ordered; defined districts. —The commissioners' court of any county shall, upon presentation to it at any regular session of a petition signed by two hundred qualified voters of said county, or a petition of fifty qualified voters of any political subdivision, or defined district, now or hereafter to be described or defined in a county; said petitioners being property tax payers of said county or said political subdivision or defined district, to order an election to determine whether there shall be levied upon the property within said county or political subdivision or defined district, now or hereafter to be described or defined, of said county, by said commissioners court, a road tax, not to exceed fifteen cents on the one hundred ($100.00) dollars worth of property, under the provisions of the amendment of 1889 to the constitution of the state of Texas, adopted in 1890, order said election as hereinafter provided. It shall not be necessary to give any notice of such petition before the court can act on the same, but the court may act thereon without notice, and may make an order for such election, fixing the amount to be levied, not to exceed fifteen cents on the one hundred dollars, the election to take place at any time thereafter, not less than twenty nor more than ninety days from the date of making the order therefor. Upon petition signed by a majority of the qualified tax paying voters of any portion of any county or of any political subdivision of any county, to the county commissioners court, requesting that such portion of said county, or political subdivision shall be created as a defined district, the said county commissioners court shall declare such territory a defined district and spread the order for same upon the minutes of said court; provided the petition aforesaid shall define by metes and bounds the territory desired to be incorporated in such defined district. [Acts 1891, p. 51, sec. 1. Acts 1913, p. 30, sec. 1, amending Art. 7042, Rev. St. 1911.]

Note.—Acts 1913, p. 30, sec. 1, enacts that Chapter 11, Title 119, of the Revised Statutes be so amended that it shall read as set forth in articles numbered 7042–7046. Power to levy road tax.—No election is necessary to authorize the levy by the commissioners' court of 15c on the $100 road and bridge tax. Jefferson Iron Co. v. Hart, 18 C. A. 525, 45 S. W. 321.

An assessment of taxes by a county for road and bridge purposes greater than 15 cents on the $100 was unauthorized. State v. Fulmore (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 418.
Art. 7043. Same.—It shall not be necessary to give any formal notice of such election, except the county judge shall issue his election proclamation; and the fact that such election is to be held shall be published in the newspapers of the county or political subdivision or defined district, now or hereafter to be described or defined as fully as practicable, and tickets for the election shall be printed by the county and sent to each voting precinct by the county judge before the election opens, and as long before such time as practicable. The expenses of the election shall be paid for by the county. If an election be ordered within ninety days of a general election, it shall be held on the day of the general election, and as elections on other questions are held, but otherwise the commissioners court shall order a special election to determine whether said tax shall be levied, which shall be conducted as other elections and as the officers conduct the same shall be appointed as in other cases. [Acts 1891, p. 51, sec. 2. Acts 1913, p. 30, sec. 1, amending Art. 7043, Rev. St. 1911.]

Art. 7044. Who are qualified to vote; manner of voting.—Only qualified voters who pay a property tax in the county or political subdivision or defined district, now or hereafter to be described or defined shall be permitted to vote at each election. The tickets printed and to be voted shall have written or printed on them the words: For the Tax, and Against the Tax, and those who favor the tax shall vote the ticket For the Tax, and those who oppose the tax shall vote the ticket Against the Tax. [Acts 1891, p. 51, sec. 3. Acts 1913, p. 30, sec. 1, amending Art. 7044, Rev. St. 1911.]

Art. 7045. Duty of commissioners' court upon obtaining result of election.—If at any such election the majority of the qualified voters voting thereat shall vote for such tax, it shall not be necessary to make further proclamation of that fact than to count the votes, as in other cases, and officially announce the result, and the commissioners' court shall thereby be authorized and required to levy a road tax in the same manner that other taxes are levied, in the amount specified in said order for such election, never to exceed fifteen cents on the one hundred dollars worth of property. Such levy shall be made at the same time other county taxes are levied, if such election is held in time therefor, but otherwise it may be made at any time before the rolls are made out. If, at the election, the proposition for said tax shall carry, no petition for its repeal shall be granted in less than two years. But if it fail to carry, another petition may be granted in one year, but not sooner; and the order granting the second or any subsequent petition may fix a greater or less rate of levy, not to exceed fifteen cents on the one hundred dollars worth of property, and if no greater rate is levied for any one year the commissioners' court may lower the rate for the next year without a petition therefor. An election to repeal the levy may be ordered and held as in other cases, but there must be satisfactory proof presented to said commissioners' court that there is great dissatisfaction with such tax and that it is probable that a majority of the citizens of the county or political subdivision or defined district, now or hereafter to be described or defined, who are authorized to vote for said tax would vote for the repeal of the law, and unless such proof be made the petition to repeal shall not be granted. [Acts 1891, p. 51, sec. 4. Acts 1913, p. 30, sec. 1, amending Art. 7045, Rev. St. 1911.]

Art. 7046. No bonds to issue.—No bonds shall ever be issued under the provisions of this chapter. [Acts 1891, p. 51, sec. 5. Acts 1913, p. 30, sec. 1, amending Art. 7046, Rev. St. 1911.]

Issuance of bonds.—See Title 18, Chapter 2.

Rural credit union defined; capital stock; entrance fees.—In this Act the words "rural credit union" shall mean a cooperative association formed for the purpose of promoting thrift among its members, and to enable them, when in need, to obtain for productive purposes moderate loans of money for short periods and at reasonable rates of interest. The capital stock of rural credit unions organized under the provisions of this Act shall be divided into shares of twenty-five dollars. Entrance fees of rural credit unions may be fixed by the board of directors at such an amount as may be prescribed by the by-laws. [Acts 1913, p. 162, sec. 1.]

Art. 7046b. Powers of union.—A rural credit union may receive the savings of its members in payment for shares; may lend to its members at reasonable rates of interest not to exceed six per cent. per annum, or invest as hereinafter provided the funds so accumulated and may undertake such other activities relating to the purposes of the association as its by-laws may authorize. [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7046c. May incorporate, how; powers of state banking board; powers and duties of state banking commissioner; penalties.—Ten or more citizens of this state may associate themselves together, by articles of agreement, and form a rural credit union, and upon the approval of the state banking board may become a corporation upon complying with such provisions of the Act regulating state banks as may be applicable to the transaction of the business herein authorized to be done. The state banking board may permit the formation of such corporation when it is satisfied that the proposed field of operation is favorable to the success of a rural credit union, and that the standing of the proposed members is such as to give assurance that its affairs will be administered in accordance with the spirit of this Act, and it shall be the duty of the commissioner of banking to issue a charter to said rural-credit union to do business in conformity with the provisions of this Act. The state bank commissioner, or his deputy, shall have authority to examine the accounts, books and papers of rural credit unions herein authorized to be organized. Any rural credit union violating the provisions of this Act shall be subject to the forfeiture of its charter, and any officer or member misapplying or embezzling funds belonging to such rural credit union, shall be subject to prosecution and punishment as already provided for violating the provisions of the state banking laws. [Id. sec. 3]

Art. 7046d. Who may transact business as rural credit union.—No person, partnership, association or corporation, except corporation formed under the provisions of this Act, shall hereafter transact business under any name or title which contains the three words "rural credit union," except those expressly authorized herein to be formed. [Id. sec. 4.]

Art. 7046e. Powers and duties of state bank commissioner.—The state bank commission shall require such rural credit unions to keep such books as he may deem necessary for the proper conduct of their business; may make examination and report of the transaction of such rural credit unions' business and institute necessary proceedings for the prosecution of any officer or director misapplying the rural credit unions' funds. The rural credit unions shall be subject to the general supervision of the state bank commissioner. [Id. sec. 5.]

Art. 7046f. By-laws.—The by-laws of the rural credit unions shall prescribe:

(a) The name of the corporation.
(b) The purpose for which it is formed.
(c) The conditions of residence or occupation which qualify persons for membership.
(d) The par value of the shares of capital stock.
(e) The conditions on which shares may be paid in, transferred and withdrawn.
(f) The conditions on which deposits may be received and withdrawn.
(g) The method of receipting for money paid on account of shares or deposited.
(h) The number of directors and number of members of the credit committee.
(i) The duties of the several officers.
(j) The fines; if any, which may be charged for failure to meet obligations of the association punctually.
(k) The date of the annual meeting of members.
(l) The manner in which members shall be notified of meetings.
(m) The number of members which will constitute a quorum at meetings.
(n) Such other regulations as may seem necessary. [Id. sec. 6.]

Art. 7046g. By-laws to be approved, etc.—No such credit union shall receive deposits or payments on account of shares, or make any loans until its by-laws have been approved in writing by the state bank commissioner, nor shall any amendments to its by-laws become operative until they have been so approved. [Id. sec. 7.]

Art. 7046h. Fiscal year; meetings; who may vote, etc.—The fiscal year of every such association shall end at the close of business on the 31st day of December. The annual meeting of the association shall be held at such time and place as the by-laws prescribe. Special meetings may be held by order of the directors or of the supervisory committee, and the clerk shall give notice of such special meetings upon request, in writing, of ten members. Notice of all meetings of the association shall be given in the manner prescribed by the by-laws. No person shall be entitled to vote who has not been a member for more than three months but this restriction shall not apply during the first twelve months of the existence of the association, nor shall any member vote by proxy or have more than one vote. At the annual meeting, the members shall upon recommendation of the board of directors, declare dividends and fix the amount of the entrance fee. At any meeting the members may decide upon any question of interest to the association, and upon appeal of two members may reverse decisions of the credit committee or board of directors; and, by a three-fourths vote of those present, provided the notice of the meeting shall have specified the question to be considered may amend the by-laws. [Id. sec. 8.]

Art. 7046i. Directors; credit and supervisory committees.—At the annual meeting the members shall elect a board of directors of not less than five members from which a credit committee of not less than three members may be selected. A supervisory committee of three members shall also be elected.

No member of the board of directors shall be a member of the supervisory committee, nor shall one person be a member of more than one of said committees, and all members thereof, as well as all officers whom they may elect shall be sworn, and shall hold their several offices until others are elected and qualified, in their stead; and a record of every such qualification shall be filed and preserved with the records of the association. [Id. sec. 9.]

Art. 7046j. Executive officers; powers and duties of directors.—At their first meeting the board of directors shall elect from their number a president, a vice-president, a clerk and a treasurer who shall be the executive officers of the association. The board of directors shall have the general management of the affairs, funds and records of the association, and shall meet as often as may be necessary.

It shall be their special duty—
(a) To act upon all applications for membership.
(b) To act upon the expulsion of members.
(c) To fix the amount of surety bond which shall be required of each officer having custody of the funds.
(d) To determine the rate of interest on loans.
(e) To fill vacancies in the board of directors or in the credit committee of the association until the election and qualification of officers to fill said vacancies.
(f) To make recommendations to meetings of the members relative to the amount of entrance fee; the maximum number of shares which may be held by, and the maximum amount which may be lent to, any one member; the dividend to be declared; amendments to the by-laws and any other matters which in their opinion, the members should decide. [Id. sec. 10.]

Art. 7046k. Loans; powers and duties of credit committee.—The credit committee shall approve every loan or advance made by the association. Every application for a loan shall be made in writing and shall state the purpose for which the loan is desired, and the security offered. No loan shall be made unless the credit committee is satisfied that it promises to benefit the borrower, nor unless it has received the unanimous approval of those members of said committee who were present when it was considered, nor if any member of said committee shall disapprove thereof; but applicant for a loan may appeal from the decisions of the credit committee to the board of directors. [Id. sec. 11.]

Art. 7046l. Powers and duties of supervisory committee.—The supervisory committee shall inspect the securities, cash and accounts of the association and supervise the acts of its board of directors, credit committee and officers. At any time the supervisory committee, by a unanimous vote, may suspend the credit committee or any officer elected by the board of directors, and by a majority vote may call a meeting of the shareholders to consider any violation of this act or of the by-laws, or any practice of the association which, in the opinion of said committee, is unsafe or unauthorized. Within seven days after the suspension of the credit committee the supervisory committee shall cause notice to be given of a special meeting of the members to take such action...
Art. 7046m  RURAL CREDIT UNIONS

relative to such suspension as may seem necessary. The supervisory committee shall fill vacancies in their own number until the next annual meeting. [Id. sec. 12.]

Art. 7046m. Capital stock.—The capital of the association shall be unlimited in amount. Shares of capital stock may be subscribed for and paid in in such manner as the by-laws shall prescribe. [Id. sec. 13.]

Art. 7046n. Shares and deposits of minor or in trust.—Shares may be issued and deposits received in the name of a minor and such shares and deposits may, in the discretion of the directors, be withdrawn by such minor or by his parent or guardian, and in either case payments made on such withdrawals shall be valid. If shares are held or deposits made in trust the name and residence of the beneficiary shall be disclosed and the account shall be kept in the name of such holder as trustee for such person. If no other notice of the existence and terms of such trust has been given in writing to the association, such shares or deposits may, upon the death of the trustee, be withdrawn by the person for whom the amount of such shares was paid in or for whom such deposit was made, or by his legal representative. [Id. sec. 14.]

Art. 7046o. Funds, how lent and deposited.—The capital, deposits and surplus funds of the association shall be either lent to the members for such purposes and upon such security and terms as the credit committee shall approve, or deposited to the credit of the association in savings banks or trust companies incorporated under the laws of this state, as in national or state banks located therein, such depositories to be approved by the commissioner of banking. [Id. sec. 15.]

Art. 7046p. Loans may be repaid, when; fines for failure to pay. —A borrower may repay the whole or any part of his loan on any day on which the office of the association is open for the transaction of business for failure to pay the interest or any instalment required by the terms of the loan, the borrower may be fined if the by-laws so prescribe. [Id. sec. 16.]

Art. 7046q. No compensation to directors or committee men; loans, to whom and for what purposes and amounts.—No member of the board of directors or of the credit or supervisory committee shall receive any compensation for his services as a member of said board or committees, nor shall any member of the credit or supervisory committee, either directly or indirectly, borrow from or become surety for any loan or advance made by the association, except upon the approval of two-thirds of the members of the association. No loan shall be granted except for productive purposes or urgent needs, nor for a longer period than eight months; nor shall any loan be renewed for a sum as large as the original amount. Loans to any one member shall not exceed $200.00. [Id. sec. 17.]

Art. 7046r. Expulsion of members.—The board of directors may expel from the association any member who has not carried out his engagements with the association, or has been convicted of a criminal offense, or neglects or refuses to comply with the provisions of this Act or of the by-laws of the association, or who habitually neglects to pay his debts, or shall become insolvent or bankrupt, or shall have deceived the association with regard to the use of borrowed money; but no member shall be expelled until he has been informed in writing of the charges against him, and an opportunity has been given to him, after reasonable notice to be heard thereon. [Id. sec. 18.]

Art. 7046s. Repayments to members withdrawn or expelled, etc.— The amounts paid in on shares or deposited by members who have withdrawn or have been expelled shall be paid to them, but in the order of withdrawal or expulsion, and only as funds therefor become available.
and after deducting any amounts due [due] by said members to the association; but such expulsion shall not operate to relieve a member from any remaining liability to the association. [Id. sec. 19.]

Art. 7046t. Duty of supervisory committee before dividend.—Immediately before a meeting of the directors called to recommend the declaration of a dividend, the supervisory committee shall make a thorough audit of the receipts, disbursements, income, assets and liabilities of the association for the fiscal year, and shall make a full report thereon to the directors, said report shall be read at the annual meeting and shall be filed and preserved with the records of the association. [Id. sec. 20.]

Art. 7046u. Dividends, how declared and paid.—At the annual meeting a dividend may be declared from income which has been actually collected during the fiscal year next preceding, or during the months which have elapsed since the association began business, and which remains after the deduction of all expenses, losses and the amount required to be set apart as a guaranty fund. Such dividend shall be paid on all fully paid shares outstanding at the close of the fiscal year, but shares which become fully paid during the year shall be entitled only to a proportional part of said dividend, calculated from the first day of the month following such payment in full. Dividends due to a member shall be paid to him in cash or credited to the account of partly paid shares for which he has subscribed. [Id. sec. 21.]

Art. 7046v. Guaranty fund.—Immediately before the payment of each dividend, there shall be set apart as a guaranty fund twenty per cent. of the net income which has accumulated during the fiscal year. Said fund and the investments thereof belong to the association and shall be held to meet contingencies or losses in its business. All entrance fees shall be added at once to the guaranty fund. But upon recommendation of the board of directors the members at an annual meeting may increase, and whenever said fund equals or exceeds the amount of capital stock actually paid in, may decrease the proportion of profits which is required by this section to be set apart as a guaranty fund. [Id. sec. 22.]

Art. 7046w. Dissolution.—At any meeting specially called to consider the subject the members upon the unanimous recommendation of the board of directors may vote to dissolve the association, provided at least two-thirds of the members are present at such meeting, and provided not more than ten members, either in person or by written notice, object thereto.

A committee of three shall thereupon be elected to liquidate the assets of the association, and each share of the capital stock, according to the amount paid in thereon, shall be entitled to its proportion of the proceeds after all debts of the association have been paid. [Id. sec. 23.]

Art. 7046x. Annual report to bank commissioner.—Within twenty days after the last business day of December in each year, ever [every] such association shall make to the bank commissioner a report in such form as he may prescribe signed by the president, treasurer and a majority of the supervisory committee who shall certify and make oath that the report is correct according to their best knowledge and belief.

Any such association which neglects to make the said report within the time herein prescribed shall forfeit to the state five dollars for each day during which such neglect continues. [Id. sec. 24.]

CHAPTER FIVE

GENERAL PROVISIONS

Art. 7086. Salaries not to be changed during term of office.—The salaries of officers shall not be increased nor diminished during the term of office of the officers entitled thereto.

Application.—This article applies to officers whose salaries are fixed by law. Orr v. Davis, 9 C. A. 628, 20 S. W. 249.

This article does not apply to officers whose salaries are not fixed by law, and does not apply to orders of the commissioners' courts auditing and fixing the amounts payable for ex officio services. Collingsworth v. Myers (Civ. App.) 35 S. W. 414.

An ordinance increasing the salary of a city attorney after his election, but before he qualified, held not to increase during his term, within the charter provision prohibiting such an increase. Riggins v. Richards (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 84.

Assignments of or liens upon salaries.—It is against public policy for a public officer to assign or give a lien on his unearned official compensation, whether salary or fees. National Bank v. Fink, 56 T. 302, 24 S. W. 286, 40 Am. St. Rep. 828; Id. (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 397.

Right to salary.—An office is property, and he who legally its incumbent is entitled to its emoluments during the term for which he is elected or appointed. Bastrop County v. Hearn, 70 T. 562, 8 S. W. 302.

Insufficient appropriation.—The appropriation of a less sum than is fixed by law as the salary of an officer does not operate as a repeal of the statute fixing the salary. State v. Steele, 57 T. 200.

Art. 7087. Salaries payable monthly.—Officers entitled to salaries may demand monthly payment of the same; and upon filing with the comptroller of public accounts proper vouchers, the comptroller shall issue his warrant upon the treasurer for the amount of salary due to the officer applying therefor; and the treasurer shall pay such warrant out of the fund appropriated for the payment of the same.

Effect of veto of appropriation.—The attorney general being, under Const. art. 4, § 23, and this article, entitled to a warrant for his salary, drawn by the comptroller upon the treasury, regardless of whether there was an appropriation for the payment of such a warrant, the acts of the governor in wrongfully vetoing and mutilating the appropriation bill cannot affect this right. Lightfoot v. Lane, 104 T. 447, 140 S. W. 89.

Art. 7088. Required to produce evidence of qualifications to comptroller, when.—The comptroller of public accounts, the state treasurer, county commissioners' courts, county treasurers, and any and all other officers of this state, or of any municipal division thereof, whether herein enumerated or not, who are authorized or required by law to audit, or pay, or order to be paid, claims due from the state, or any county or municipal division thereof, to any person or persons, as a salary, or as fees, compensation, perquisites or emoluments for official services rendered by such person, as an officer thereof, shall, upon the demand of any citizen of this state, before auditing, paying, or ordering to be paid, any such claims as aforesaid, require such person presenting such claim to produce the certificate of his election or appointment to such office directed by the laws of this state to be issued to such officer; or, if his claim be founded upon the judgment or decree of a court of this state, authorized by the laws of this state to hear and determine the claims of persons to office, then a copy of the record of such judgment or decree certified under the hand and seal of the legal custodian of such record to be a true copy thereof. [Acts 1881, p. 7, sec. 1.]
Art. 7090. [4860] Who entitled to compensation.—No person shall be held by the laws of this state entitled to pay for services as an officer thereof, or of any county, or municipal division thereof, or to exercise any of the powers of jurisdiction of an officer thereof, unless he shall have been elected, appointed or adjudged entitled thereto, as specified in article 7089; and the official acts of any person claiming a right to exercise such power or jurisdiction, contrary to the provisions of this law, are and shall be held to be null and void. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7091. Enumeration in this title not to affect provisions found elsewhere.—The enumeration of various officers and their salaries in this title shall not operate to repeal or affect provisions of law found elsewhere in the statutes, or any appropriation bills permitting or authorizing the existence, or prescribing the compensation of other officers.
TITLE 121

SEALS AND SCROLLS

Art. 7092. Private seals and scrolls dispensed with.

Art. 7093. Unsealed instruments held to import consideration.

Article 7092. [4862] Private seals and scrolls dispensed with.—No private seal or scroll shall be necessary to the validity of any contract, bond or conveyance, whether respecting real or personal property, or any other instrument of writing, whether official, judicial or private, except such as are made by corporations, nor shall the addition or omission of a seal or scroll in any way affect the force and effect of the same. [Act April 28, 1873. Act Feb. 2, 1858. P. D. 5087.]

Conveyances prior to enactment.—A conveyance of land, not under seal, but signed by the grantor in 1845, is not, by reason of the absence of a seal, a nullity. Tom v. Sayers, 64 T. 333; Miller v. Alexander, 8 T. 36; Id., 13 T. 497, 66 Am. Dec. 73; Martin v. Weyman, 26 T. 460.

Effect of article.—The common-law rule as to deeds is not changed by the above article. The undisclosed principal is not liable for a mortgage assumed by an agent who takes the deed to himself. Sanger v. Warren, 91 T. 472, 44 S. W. 477, 66 Am. St. Rep. 913.

Certificates of deposit.—The execution and delivery of certificates of deposit pass title to them, and the right of which they are the evidences. Cowen v. First Nat. Bank, 94 T. 547, 83 S. W. 534.

Assignments by corporation.—Corporations being exempt from the operation of this statute, an assignment for the benefit of creditors executed by the president of a private corporation without attaching the corporate seal cannot convey the land of the corporation. Shropshire v. Behrens, 77 T. 275, 13 S. W. 1043.

Art. 7093. [4863] Unsealed instruments held to import consideration, etc.—Every contract in writing hereafter made shall be held to import a consideration in the same manner and as fully as sealed instruments have heretofore done.

Cited, Harris v. Caton, 26 T. 333.

A written receipt, by the terms of which plaintiffs released their claim for damages for breach of contract for the sale of 200 head of cattle imports a consideration, and when pleaded is not subject to attack by demurrer, either general or special, upon the ground of failure to show consideration. Warren v. Gentry, 21 C. A. 151, 50 S. W. 1025.

A written contract imports a consideration, which, where none is expressed, may be shown under proper allegations. Ash v. Heck (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 66. It is presumed that county bonds rest upon a valuable consideration. Martin County v. Gillespie County, 39 C. A. 307, 71 S. W. 421.

An order of the commissioners' court entered on its minutes, reducing the rate of interest on a note given for school lands, held a written contract which imported a consideration. Delta County v. Blackburn (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 902.

One dollar held insufficient consideration.—Recital of a consideration of one dollar in an oil and gas lease and payment thereof held not a sufficient consideration to support the contract. Great Western Oil Co. v. Carpenter, 43 C. A. 255, 86 S. W. 57.

Presumptions and burden of proof.—See Art. 3687, Rule 12.

Pleading.—See Art. 1387, § 101; Art. 1910, § 44.

Release.—A carrier of cattle can for a consideration imported by the written contract, as provided by this article, secure a release for damages already incurred, and the court is not authorized to assume it was without consideration, or executed under duress. Texas Cent. R. Co. v. Shirley (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 687.

SEQUESTRATION

[For venue in damage cases growing out of sequestration, see Art. 1830.]

Art. 7094. Writ of, may be issued by whom and for what causes.
7095. Affidavit, and what it shall state.
7096. Petition must be filed, when.
7097. Bond for the writ.
7098. Writ may issue when claim is not due, when; etc.
7099. Writ of, and its requisites.
7100. Duty of officer while he retains custody of property.
7101. Compensation of officer.
7102. Officer expending money may retain property until, etc.
7103. Defendant may repel by giving bond.
7104. Bond in case of personal property.
7105. In case of real estate.
7106. Return of bond and judgment thereon.

[In addition to the notes under the particular articles, see also notes on the subject in general, at end of Title.]

Article 7094. [4864] In what cases to be issued.—Judges and clerks of the district and county courts, and justices of the peace, shall, at the commencement or during the progress of any civil suit, before final judgment, have power to issue writs of sequestration, returnable to their respective courts, in the following cases:

1. When a married woman sues for divorce, and makes oath that she fears her husband will waste her separate property, or their common property, or the fruits or revenue produced by either, or that he will sell or otherwise dispose of the same so as to defraud her of her just rights, or remove the same out of the limits of the county during the pendency of the suit.

2. When a person sues for the title or possession of any personal property of any description, and makes oath that he fears the defendant or person in possession thereof will injure, ill-treat, waste or destroy such property, or remove the same out of the limits of the county during the pendency of the suit.

3. When a person sues for the foreclosure of a mortgage or the enforcement of a lien upon personal property of any description, and makes oath that he fears the defendant or person in possession thereof will injure, ill-treat, waste or destroy such property, or remove the same out of the county during the pendency of the suit.

4. When any person sues for the title or possession of real property, and makes oath that he fears the defendant, or person in possession thereof will make use of his possession to injure such property, or waste or convert to his own use the fruits or revenue produced by the same.

5. When any person sues for the title or possession of any property from which he has been ejected by force or violence, and makes oath of such fact.

6. When any person sues for the foreclosure of a mortgage or the enforcement of a lien on real estate, and makes oath that he fears the defendant or person in possession thereof will make use of such possession to injure such property, or waste or convert to his own use the timber, rents, fruits or revenue thereof.

7. When any person sues to try the title to any real property, or to remove cloud upon the title to any such real property, or to foreclose a lien upon any such real property, or for a partition of real property, and makes oath that the defendant, or either of them in the event there be more than one defendant, is a non-resident of this state. [Acts 1887, p. 30.]

See Long v. Riley (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 79.

Historical.—The seventh clause of this article was added by the amendment of March 17, July 4, 1887 (20th Leg., p. 30).

Dunhill v. Willis, 65 T. 65.

Commencement and propriety of suit.—Splitting a cause of action on a note held not to render the actions void, and not to invalidate sequestration writs issued before consolidated property against property, is not a trial of right of property, but it is a trial of the right to possession of the property. Avery v. Popper, 92 T. 297, 49 S. W. 219, 71 Am. St. Rep. 849.

Suit concerning real property.—Sequestration may issue in any suit for title or possession of real property. Lamb v. Temp. Hall Co., 2 C. A. 259, 21 S. W. 713.

A vendor of land held not entitled to take possession thereof by writ of sequestration upon the purchaser's failure to pay a purchase-money note because of misrepresentations in inducing the sale. Buckingham v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 652.

Action for damages.—Plaintiff, seeking damages, and not recovery of property, held not entitled to have the property sequestered. Houston v. Booth (Civ. App.) 197 S. W. 851.

Suit to recover sequestered property.—While an ordinary suit for the recovery of property, in which the property is seized by writ of sequestration, involves a trial of the right to possession of the property, it is not a trial of right of property within Arts. 7769-7796, and the jurisdiction of the court of such suit is not determined by section 8, article 5, of the constitution, relating to the technical action of the trial of right of property. Morrow v. Short, 3 App. C. C. § 31.

Divorce.—Pending suit for divorce by a wife she may obtain a writ of sequestration. Wright v. Wright, 3 T. 168.

Injunction.—A party made an assignment for benefit of his creditors, but the assignee failed to qualify and tendered his resignation, whereupon the court at the instance of certain named creditors appointed plaintiff assignee who demanded the property from the assignor. The assignor refused to deliver possession and continued to sell the property. The plaintiff brought injunction suit to restrain assignor from disposing of the assigned goods. The court holds that the injunction was properly dissolved because plaintiff had an adequate remedy at law under this article and subdivision. Frasier v. Coleman (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 663. And see Mitchell v. Burnett, 67 C. A. 131, 132 S. W. 657.

Notice.—A purchaser held not entitled to notice of the vendor's intention to take possession of land upon the purchaser's refusal to pay a purchase-money note. Buckingham v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 652.

Art. 7095. [4865] Affidavit, and what it shall state.—No sequestration shall issue in any case until the party applying therefor shall file an affidavit in writing stating:

1. That he is the owner of the property sued for, or some interest therein, specifying such interest, and is entitled to the possession thereof; or,

2. If the suit be to foreclose a mortgage or enforce a lien upon the property, the fact of the existence of such mortgage or lien, and that the same is just and unsatisfied, and the amount of the same still unsatisfied, and the date when due.

3. The property to be sequestered shall be described with such certainty that it may be identified and distinguished from property of a like kind, giving the value of each article of the property and the county in which the same is situated.

4. It shall set forth one or more of the causes named in the preceding article entitling him to the writ. [Acts 1866, p. 120. F. D. 505a.]

See Long v. Riley (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 79.

Sufficiency of affidavit.—A sequestration proceeding will be quashed when the affidavit does not identify the property, state its value or the county in which it was to be found. Huxkins v. Leitner, 4 App. C. C. § 16, 14 S. W. 1016.

An affidavit filed with the petition is not invalid because not stating who were the defendants or who possessed the property sought to be sequestered, these facts appearing in the petition. Watts v. Overstreet, 78 T. 571, 14 S. W. 794.

If the affidavit fails to state the value of each item of property, and the county in which the property is situated, it should be quashed; and an intervenor who has purchased property and assumed the payment of the notes sued on may move to quash. McSpadden v. La Force (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 163.

Where a suit was commenced before a justice, and the affidavit in sequestration alleged plaintiff's ownership, held a sufficient claim or demand on the part of plaintiffs. Bali v. Chase (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 564.
An affidavit for sequestration need not name defendants, nor allege name of person in possession. Whitaker v. Sanders (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 396.

The court shall quash a writ of sequestration issued on an affidavit for four plaintiffs, when the suit is for six, and when the plaintiffs failed to amend. White v. Simonson (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 1073.

An affidavit for a writ of sequestration, alleging that defendants would make use of their possession to waste or convert the revenue of the property, held objectionable for duplicity. Clark v. Elmendorf (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 558.

An affidavit in sequestration proceedings that plaintiff fears that defendant will make use of his possession to convert to his own use the fruits "or" revenues produced by the property held not to be rendered indefinite or uncertain by the use of the word "or." Hurbut v. Gainor, 45 C. A. 448, 103 S. W. 409.

Grounds for the writ of sequestration which are not inconsistent may be joined conjunctively in an application for the writ, but they cannot be stated in the alternative. Id. An affidavit for sequestration held bad for duplicity. Lester v. Hicks (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 395.

Description of property.—The petition for sequestration showed that the logs in controversy were cut off of certain tracts of land. One of the methods which the law has required for the identification of logs floated or rafted is a brand. The logs in question were described by a brand as well as otherwise, and whether the brand had, at the time, been so recorded as to make it, under the statute, evidence of ownership, it was, under the facts of this case, sufficient to identify the logs, the other matters of description required by the statute having been fully given. Boykin v. Rosenfield Co., 69 T. 115, 9 S. W. 318.

An affidavit, the description in which clearly indicates that the property sued for is a portion of a tract, it being stated sufficiently to be distinguished from property of a like kind, is good. Clopton v. Goodbar (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 972.

A petition for a writ of sequestration directing the seizure of an undivided one-fifth of the land in possession of defendants on a certain tract of land held fatally defective, Gravity Canal Co. v. Sisko, 43 C. A. 194, 95 S. W. 724.

Value of property.—The value of each article must be stated with certainty. Morgan v. Turner, 4 C. A. 192, 23 S. W. 284.

An affidavit for sequestration sufficiently sets out the value of property sought to be seized where the debt due was the only amount mentioned, and the value of the property is alleged to be the amount "above set forth." McMillan v. Moon, 13 C. A. 227, 44 S. W. 414.

An affidavit in sequestration proceedings need not state the value of each acre sued for. Caruthers v. Hadley (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 89.

Where the basis for a writ of sequestration was a sworn petition, which contained no allegation of value, as required by the statute to be stated in the affidavit of plaintiff in possession, the trial court erred in not quashing and dismissing the proceedings. Cleghon v. Boxley (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 433.

Where the affidavit does not state the value of the property, a writ of sequestration should be quashed. Butts v. Lucia (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 686.

An agent.—An affidavit made by an agent of a nonresident plaintiff, alleging that "agent" fears the removal of defendant's property, is sufficient. Cahn v. Jaffray, 12 C. A. 324, 34 S. W. 372.

The law requiring plaintiff, before a writ of sequestration issues, to make oath that he fears defendant or the person in possession will remove the property out of the limits of the county pending the suit, and art. 11, permitting an affidavit required of a party to be made by his agent, the affidavit of the agent of plaintiff corporation that it has such fear is sufficient. Tyson v. First State Bank & Trust Co. of Santa Anna (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 1086.

Demurrer to petition.—The affidavit filed under this article is so far a part of the petition as to allow a general demurrer with reference to it, when the facts stated in it have reference to the allegations in regard to the same facts contained in the petition. Johnson v. Dowling, 1 App. C. 1090.

Supplemental petition.—Under this article and Art. 7099, a supplementary petition asking issuance of the writ to a different county from that designated in the original affidavit and petition must be verified. Bemis v. Wills, 10 C. A. 626, 31 S. W. 837.

Removal for use affidavit.—The truth of the allegations of an affidavit for sequestration cannot be put in issue for purpose of abating the writ; but the remedy for their falsity is by suit on the bond. Tyson v. First State Bank & Trust Co. (Civ. App.) 164 S. W. 1085.

Cost.—See Title 37, Chapter 18. Art. 7096. [4866] Petition must be filed, when.—If the suit be in the district or county court, no writ of sequestration shall issue, unless a petition shall have been first filed therein, as in other suits in said courts. [Id. p. 122, sec. 4.]

Effect of delay.—Delay in filing suit for possession of land, after making an affidavit for a writ of sequestration thereon, held not to authorize the quashing of the affidavit for the writ. Duncan v. Jonett (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 981.

Art. 7097. [4867] Bond for the writ.—Nor shall a writ of sequestration issue in any case until the party applying therefor has filed with the judge, clerk or justice of the peace to whom he applies, a bond payable to the defendant for a sum of money not less than double the value of the property to be sequestered, as stated in his affidavit, with 4620.
two or more good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by such judge, clerk, or justice of the peace, as the case may be, conditioned, that the plaintiff or person suing out such writ will pay to the defendant all such damages as may be awarded against him, and all costs in case it shall be decided that such sequestration was wrongfully issued. [Act March 15, 1848, P. D. 5096-7.]

Necessity of bond.—When sequestration is sought against several who are jointly sued, it is not necessary that the plaintiff should execute bond separately to each defendant. Boykin v. Rosenfield, 69 T. 115, 9 S. W. 318.

The bond is an essential part of sequestration proceedings, and, where not filed until the day following the issuance of the writ, a motion to quash the sequestration proceedings should have been sustained. Nickell v. Carter, 23 C. A. 570, 56 S. W. 769.

Requisites and sufficiency of bond.—A sequestration bond for a sum less than double the value of the property sequestered is void, and on appeal by the sureties a judgment against them will be set aside. Flynn v. Lynch, 1 App. C. C. § 787.

The parties to the suit must be properly stated. Rohrbough v. Leopold, 68 T. 254, 4 S. W. 460.

The fact that the sequestration bond recites three parties as principal, and is signed by only one of them, does not vitiate the bond, it appearing that the party who did sign repaid the property. McLeod Artesian Well Co. et al. v. Craig (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 834.

A sequestration bond signed by a woman as principal, conditioned to pay all charges and damages adjudged against "them" is defective. Id.

That plaintiff's name, "Hurlbut," was written, in that portion of a bond given in sequestration stating its condition, as "Hulbert," held not to render the bond invalid. Hurlbut v. Gainor, 45 C. A. 538, 103 S. W. 400.

Liability on bond.—If the owner of property incumbered by a lien so acts as to compel the lienholder, in his own protection, to sequestrate it, such owner is not entitled to a credit for the value of the rents of the property during the time it is held by the officer of the court to the order of the writ. Humpage v. McRae, 70 T. 726, 8 S. W. 296.

The parties are bound by the terms of the bond, and their liability is not conditioned on the regularity of the sequestration proceedings. Remis v. Wells, 10 C. A. 626, 31 S. W. 857; Cahn v. Jaffray, 12 C. A. 324, 94 S. W. 372; Fligo v. Citizens' Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 38 S. W. 327.

Where one asks damages for loss of time by reason of a wrongful sequestration of his crops, he must show that he sought other employment. Brown v. Leath, 17 C. A. 883, 45 S. W. 655.

A property wrongfully seized, and the owner afterwards buys it from the person seizing it, is error to allow him as damages for the seizure a greater amount than he paid for the crop. Id.

He was not required, however, to hire out his children, in order to make up for their loss of time. Id.

A refusal to quash a defective sequestration bond is immaterial, where defendant has reprieved the property sequestered, and plaintiff has recovered judgment. McLeod Artesian Well Co. v. Craig (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 834.

Where plaintiff was awarded a chattel that he had sequestrated, it was error to adjudge costs against the sureties on the sequestration bond. Meyer v. Hill (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 333.

Where writ of sequestration is quashed at plaintiff's cost, and property returned to defendant, it was error to award more than nominal damages to defendant in a suit on the sequestration bond. Lacy v. Gentry (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 944.

A mesne damages for wrongful sequestration held the value of the property seized. Wheat v. Ball (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 181.

Where proceeds of a sale of sequestered property were deposited with the clerk, the amount so deposited should be deducted from the judgment recovered by defendant in an action for wrongful sequestration. Id.

Owner of sequestered property held entitled to damages, if the sequestration was wrongfully sued out. Bledsoe v. Palmer (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 97.

In the absence of a finding that a writ of sequestration was wrongfully sued out, plaintiff is chargeable only with the net amount recovered by him from the land while in his possession. Moore v. Brown (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 310.

Where a party takes possession of land under sequestration process, and judgment is subsequently rendered against him, the principal and sureties on his reprieve bond are liable for rents collected by him after taking possession. Flynn v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 864.

In a sequestration suit, if plaintiff fails to recover the property sued for, defendant is entitled to a judgment restoring the same to his possession, or for its value if the same cannot be returned. Rea v. P. E. Schow & Bros., 42 C. A. 600, 93 S. W. 706.

A judgment for $400 actual damages for the wrongful suing out of a sequestration held excessive. Falls City Clothing Co. v. Cannon (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 159.

A writ of sequestration sued out by a vendee prior to the expiration of a lease of the land ejecting the lessee's wife held wrongful, entitling her to damages. Elam v. Carter, 55 C. A. 649, 119 S. W. 914.

If a writ of sequestration was properly sued out, the sureties on the bond would not be liable in damages for any abuse in the execution of the writ not authorized by them. Buckingham v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 552.

Where a writ of sequestration is wrongfully sued out in aid of the foreclosure of a chattel mortgage and the mortgaged property is seized thereunder, the mortgagee is lia-
sequestration (Title 122)

The bondsmen on the replevin bond of plaintiff in sequestration do not have to be cited before judgment can be rendered on the bond; they making themselves parties by making the bond and having it returned and filed in the case. Morris v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 1147.

The value of the defendant's time while attending court or any such incidental expense is not an element of actual damage. Harris v. Finberg, 46 T. 79. See Vance v. Lindsey, 60 T. 256.

Writs of sequestration and attachment stand upon similar footing in regard to the right of the defendant to recover damages for their wrongful use. Simpson v. Lee (Civ. App.) 34 S. W. 1053; Casey v. Hanrick, 69 T. 44, 6 S. W. 495; Moore v. Smith (Sup.) 19 S. W. 781; Gentry v. Bowser, 2 C. A. 388, 21 S. W. 569.

The measure of damages in actions on bonds or for wrongful sequestration.—A party whose property has been wrongfully seized under a writ of sequestration is not confined to his action on the bond; he may recover damages in an ordinary suit against the person at whose instance the writ was issued, and who, irrespective of the bond, is liable for the damages. Fertle v. T. Fernandez, 35 T. 584.

The plaintiff in a proceeding by sequestration who by his conduct ratifies the conduct of a sheriff who has abused the process of the court by the oppressive and harsh manner in which he executed it, so that injury thereby resulted to the defendant, is responsible therefor. Casey v. Hanrick, 69 T. 44, 6 S. W. 495.

Value of property sequestered, for which plaintiff is liable where suit is decided adversely, is the value at date of trial, with 6 per cent. interest. Norwood v. Interstate Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 927.

Value of sequestered property, for which plaintiff is liable where decision is adverse, is the value at time and place of seizure. Norwood v. Interstate Nat. Bank, 82 T. 258, 48 S. W. 3.

The measure of damages for wrongful sequestration is their value at the time of the trial. E. F. Avery & Sons v. Dickson (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 602.

Where defendants' staves were wrongfully seized on a writ of sequestration sued out by plaintiff and sold by the sheriff, held, that he was entitled to recover their full value at the time of seizure. Louis Werner Stave Co. v. Pickering, 55 C. A. 632, 119 S. W. 333.

Exemplary damages.—When the issuing out and levy of the writ is malicious, exemplary damages may be awarded. Where it is merely unlawful, only the damages can be recovered. Harris v. Finberg, 46 T. 79. And see Vance v. Lindsey, 60 T. 256.

Sureties on bonds are not liable for exemplary damages on account of malice of principal. McArthur v. Barnes, 10 C. A. 318, 31 S. W. 212.

Where one procures a writ of sequestration to obtain property that does not belong to him, he is liable for exemplary damages. Land v. Klein, 21 C. A. 3, 50 S. W. 628.

Items of damage alleged in an action for wrongful sequestration held not proper elements of actual damages, but proper on the issue of exemplary damages. Wheat v. Ball (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 181.

Exemplary damages for the wrongful suing out of a writ of sequestration can only be had in case of actual damages. Rogers v. O'Barr & Dinwiddie (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 583.

A verdict for exemplary damages for a wrongfull sequestration is authorized only where the writ was sued out wrongfully, maliciously, and without probable cause. Lynch v. Burns (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 1084.

In reformation for damages, actual and exemplary, for a wrongful sequestration, certain evidence held admissible on the question of exemplary damages. Falls City Clothing Co. v. Cannon (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 129.

Where plaintiffs had the legal title to a house and lot, the holding of possession by defendant under a wrongful contract, which he refused to surrender, constituted probable cause for suing out a writ of sequestration, and hence defendant is not entitled to exemplary damages. Cobb v. Johnson, 101 T. 440, 108 S. W. 811.

To entitle a party to exemplary damages for wrongfully suing out a writ of sequestration, both malice and want of probable cause must exist. Webb v. J. L. Wighton & Co., 55-C. A. 413, 118 S. W. 856.

On the vacation of an attachment, evidence of plaintiff's good faith in suing out the same is material only as against a claim for exemplary damages. Ricketson v. Best (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 554.
The obligation of a sequestration bond is that the person suing out the writ will pay to the defendant all such damages as may be awarded against him, and all costs in case the court decides that the sequestration was wrongfully issued, but the surety is not liable for exemplary damages, unless based on some special conduct of plaintiff in which the surety participated. Springer v. Riley (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 577.

The party neither being in possession of, nor having an interest in, such property is not entitled to recover against the sureties, as such, on a sequestration bond. Morris v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 677.

Judgment.—Judgment for wrongful sequestration should state values separately. B. F. Avery & Sons v. Dickson (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 662.

The court, in an action on a sequestration bond, the court rendering judgment on the bond held authorized to render judgment for the surety against the principal. Springer v. Riley (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 677.

Discharge of sureties.—General questions as to sureties, see Title 105.

A writ of sequestration is only an auxiliary process, and if the plaintiff recovers in the action the refusal of the court to quash a writ of sequestration will not be revised on appeal, although the defendant may have repleived the property; but otherwise as to the sureties in the replevy bond who appeal from the judgment overruling the motion to quash the writ. Cheatham v. Riddle, 8 T. 162; Trammell v. Trammell, 20 T. 466. And see Hendrick v. Cannon, 7 T. 248; Martin v. Sykes, 25 T. Sup. 197.

The sureties on a sequestration bond are released when the writ is quashed after the goods have been repleived. Mitchell v. Bloom, 91 T. 634, 45 S. W. 558.

If sequestration had been quashed when the sureties on the replevy bond are discharged. Mitchell v. Bloom (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 496.

Art. 7098. [4868] Writ may issue when claim is not due, when, etc.—When any person has a mortgage or lien upon personal property of any description, and makes affidavit and gives bond as required in the two preceding articles, the writ of sequestration may issue, although the right of action upon such mortgage or lien has not accrued; and the same proceeding shall be had thereon as in other cases of sequestration, except that no final judgment shall be rendered against the defendant until the right of action on such mortgage or lien shall have accrued. [Id. P. D. 5098.]

In general.—When property subject to a valid lien has been sold under a subsequent judgment and execution, and the purchaser attempts, by removing the property from the county or otherwise, to impair or defeat the right of the lienholder, the latter may bring suit on his claim, whether due or not, on his making the debtor and the purchaser under execution parties to the suit, and sequester the property. Sparks v. Face, 60 T. 293.

Art. 7099. [4869] Writ and its requisites.—The writ of sequestration may be directed to the sheriff or any constable of any county where-in the property is alleged to be situated, which allegation may be made either in the original or in a supplemental affidavit. It shall command the sheriff or any constable to take into his possession the property, describing the same as it is described in the affidavit, if to be found in the county, and keep the same subject to the future order of the judge, court or justice of the peace who issued the writ, unless the same is repleived according to law. [Act Nov. 9, 1866. Id. p. 124, sec. 4.]

Sufficiency of writ.—Indorsement on writ of sequestration nunc pro tunc of date of issuance held proper. Whitaker v. Sanders (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 638.

A writ of sequestration issued against J. M. Peters, when defendant's name is M. J. Peters, is void. Watt v. Parlin & Grendoff Co., 44 C. A. 439, 98 S. W. 429.

Execution of writ.—The property must be taken into actual possession by the officer. Elliott v. Long, 77 T. 467, 14 S. W. 145.

The officer executing the writ may remove the defendant therein, his family, goods and property, bodily, from the premises, unless he removes of his own accord. Patton v. Slade, 15 C. A. 156, 36 S. W. 832.

Where a sheriff takes the property described in the writ from the possession of one who owns the property, but who is not a party to the suit, he is liable on his bond for damages to the person from whom he has so taken the property. The sequestration law requires no bond to secure any person but the defendant. There is no provision for the protection of the rights of any but the parties to the suit. Vickery v. Crawford, 92 T. 372, 55 S. W. 566, 49 L. R. A. 773, 77 Am. St. Rep. 691.

Motion to quash.—A motion to quash the writ may be filed after pleas to the merits and at any time before the case has been disposed of. Wheeler v. Wheeler, 65 T. 273.

A motion to quash sequestration proceedings may be made at any time before the case is disposed of. Gravity Canal Co. v. Sisk, 43 C. A. 194, 96 S. W. 724.

The right of sequestration, for such a writ of sequestration as is there described, was such as to make it certain that the party might be further protected. Hearn v. Harless (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 613.
Art. 7099  SEQUESTRATION

Variance.—A variance in the description of the property as contained in the writ and petition is fatal. Woessney v. Fly, 58 T. 191. But where such a variance exists the writ may be amended by the petition. Query, if the bond had followed the mistake in the writ. Porter v. Miller, 7 T. 468. And see Whittenberg v. Lloyd, 49 T. 633; Brack v. McMahan, 61 T. 1. Void writ.—Moving a house and contents, under a void writ of sequestration, held to be conversion. Crawford v. Thomason (Tex. Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 181.

Art. 7100. [4870] Duty of officer while he retains custody of property.—The officer executing a writ of sequestration, while he retains custody of the property sequestered, shall take care of and manage the same in a prudent manner, and if he confides the same to the custody of other persons he shall be responsible for their acts in regard thereto, and shall be responsible to the party injured for any neglect or mismanagement by himself, or by those to whom he has confided the custody or management of the property. [Act Nov. 9, 1866, p. 121, sec. 3]

Officer's custody of property.—An officer has the right to hold property seized under a writ until ordered by the court to dispose of it, or until a final disposition of the cause. Thompson v. Graves, 4 App. C. C. § 7, 15 S. W. 35.

Art. 7101. [4871] Compensation of officer.—The officer retaining custody of property by virtue of a writ of sequestration shall be entitled to receive a just compensation and all reasonable charges therefor, to be determined by the judge or justice from whose court the writ issued, to be taxed in the bill of costs against the party cast in the suit, and collected in the same manner as the other costs in the case. [Id.]

Right of officer.—Under Arts. 2000, 3747, and this article, a court might properly allow a sheriff's compensation in a proceeding against him to recover money collected by him under an order of sale, in which the sheriff filed an answer, claiming compensation for taking care of live stock levied on, which was equivalent to a motion to retax costs. Coleman Nat. Bank v. Futch (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 957.

Taxation as costs.—See Title 37, Chapter 15.

Art. 7102. [4872] Officer expending money may retain property until, etc.—If the officer be compelled to expend any sum of money in the security, management or care of the property, he may retain possession of said property until said money be refunded by the party offering to replevy said property, his agent or attorney. [Id.]

Art. 7103. [4873] Defendant may replevy by giving bond.—When property has been sequestered, the defendant shall have the right to retain possession of the same by delivering to the officer executing the writ his bond, payable to the plaintiff, with two or more good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by such officer, for an amount of money not less than double the value of the property to be repleived. [Act Feb. 8, 1860. P. D. 5100.]

Persons entitled to replevy.—The defendant alone has the right to replevy. Harris v. Shackleford, 6 T. 133; Halle v. Oliver, 52 T. 443.

The right to give a replevy bond is limited to the parties to the suit. Halle v. Oliver, 52 T. 443.

A writ of sequestration was levied upon property in possession of one not the defendant in the writ, who gave a bond that the defendant would return the property. It was not a claim or replevy bond, and no judgment could be rendered against the sureties thereon. Lang v. Dougherty, 74 T. 226, 12 S. W. 29.

Validity of bond.—In a suit against B. the property in controversy was found in the possession of C. The sequestration bond recited on its face that it was given by C. as principal, and B. and another as sureties, conditioned that C. should have the property forthcoming, etc. C. was not a party to the suit, but the bond was signed first by B., the defendant. Held, that the bond must be treated as properly executed by the defendant. Pait v. McCutchen, 43 T. 291.

A writ of sequestration was improvidently issued, there can be no liability on a replevy bond given to secure the property. McSweeney v. Ellerman (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 270.

Adequacy of remedy.—Under this article defendant can retain possession of the sequestered property by giving bond, in which case he is not required under Art. 712 to se­questrate, and it is not an adequate legal remedy to save and collect for a mortgage creditor the rents thereof, and apply them to the discharge of his debts, and to keep the property in such repair as to be rented annually, and hence it is a proper case for the appointment of a receiver. De Barrera v. Frost, 33 C. A. 629, 77 S. W. 652.

Reversal of Judgment.—When a judgment in favor of the plaintiff is reversed on appeal from the justice court, and rendered in favor of the defendant, it inures to the benefit of the sureties on the replevy bond, who are thereby discharged from all liability on the bond. McKay v. Irion, 4 App. C. C. § 184, 15 S. W. 123.

Necessity against principals.—Two principals in a replevin bond in a sequestration proceeding jointly and severally bound thereby, the sureties are bound if judgment goes against either principal. Wandeloh v. Grayson County Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 412.

Art. 7104. [4874] Bond in case of personal property.—If the property to be replevied, as provided in the preceding article, be personal property, the condition of the bond shall be that the defendant will not remove the same out of the county, or that he will not waste, ill-treat, injure, destroy or sell or dispose of the same, according to the plaintiff's affidavit, and that he will have such property, with the value of the fruits, hire or revenue thereof, forthcoming to abide the decision of the court, or that he will pay the value thereof and of the fruits, hire or revenue of the same in case he shall be condemned so to do. [Id.]

Form of bond.—The negative condition of the bond is limited to the particular act stated in the affidavit. Krall v. Printing Press Co., 79 T. 556, 15 S. W. 555.

Sufficiency of bond.—The fact that the bond recites three persons as principals, and is executed by one only, does not invalidate it, if the person who executed it was the plaintiff in replevin. McLeod Artesian Well Co. v. Craig (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 934.

Where writ of sequestration is quashed, judgment of the replevin discharge the replevy bond. Avery v. Popper (Sup.) 48 S. W. 572.

Where replevin bond, though not in full compliance with the statute, is less onerous than statute prescribes, and is in substantial compliance with it, it is valid. Whittaker v. Sanders (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 628.

Rights to property replevied.—Property replevied by the defendant is subject to seizure under any other valid writ. Krall v. Printing Press Co., 79 T. 556, 15 S. W. 555.

By giving a replevin bond the defendant is not authorized to sell the property so as to give a good title to the purchaser. He must satisfy the judgment or return the property in satisfaction of the judgment. Crawford v. Southern Rock Island Pow. Co. (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 281.

Rights of sureties.—The sureties on the replevy bond have no right to return the property to the officer who levied the writ. Krall v. Printing Press Co., 79 T. 556, 15 S. W. 555.

Sureties on a replevin bond given in proceedings to foreclose a chattel mortgage could not complain that the judgment for plaintiff did not in terms foreclose the mortgage. McLeod Artesian Well Co. v. Craig (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 934.

Where property has been sequestered, rights of sureties on a replevy bond stated. Wandeloh v. Grayson County Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 413.

Sureties upon bonds given to replevy property in sequestration proceedings held concluded by judgment rendered against principal, except as to certain matters in the absence of collusion between principal and adverse party or other like circumstances. Wandeloh v. Grayson County Nat. Bank, 102 T. 20, 108 S. W. 1154.

Liability on bond.—Final judgment for slave property was given against the defendant and property, as replevy bond. The property in slave, having ceased to be such, it was held that the party in whose hands the property was left by the replevy bond was relieved from liability thereon. Fait v. McCutchon, 48 T. 391.

The sureties in a replevy bond are not liable for the value of the use of property prior to the time of the execution of the bond. Gunn v. Pickering, 4 App. C. C. § 275, 17 S. W. 1115.

The liability of the obligors is not conditioned upon the regularity of the sequestration proceedings, and the sureties are liable when judgment is for the plaintiff, notwithstanding the writ of sequestration is quashed. Bevils v. Wallis, 10 C. A. 624, 31 S. W. 827, citing Sexton v. Hindman, 2 App. C. C. § 462; Jacobs v. Daughtery, 78 T. 652, 15 S. W. 160.

The defendant who has replevied the property is not released from his liability on his bond by the fact that the property was taken from his possession by process in another suit, nor is the plaintiff required to follow the property. Cohen v. Adams, 13 C. A. 318, 35 S. W. 303.

Measure of liability on replevin bond held the value of the property at the date of the approval of the bond, with interest. McLeod Artesian Well Co. v. Craig (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 934.

The rights of plaintiff in foreclosure proceedings, on a bond given by defendant, to replevin the mortgaged property, does not depend on pleadings. Id.

Plaintiff, having alleged the value of the property, is not entitled to judgment on defendant's replevin bond exceeding the sum alleged. Monday v. Vance (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 346.

In an action on a replevin bond, the measure of damages is the value of the property replevied at the time of the trial and special damages. Talcott v. Rose (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 1069.

The value of the property sequestered and retained by a defendant under replevy bond is determined by its market value at time of trial when the question arises in the original suit and under the statutes. Luede v. Hooper, 95 T. 172, 68 S. W. 56.

The measure of damages is the market value of the property at the time of the trial and not at time and place defendant took possession of it. Wood v. Fuller, 34 C. A. 178, 78 S. W. 236.

Sureties on a replevin bond held not liable for costs. Pipkin v. Tinch (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 1077.
Art. 7104

SEQUESTRATION (Title 122)

The sureties on a defendant's replevin bond are not liable for the value of the use or hire of the property which accrued prior to the time the property was replevied. Bateman v. Hipp, 51 C. A. 465, 111 S. W. 971.

The sureties on a replevin bond are not liable for the costs in the suit. McIntyre v. Emerson (Civ. App.) 182 S. W. 947.

Under the provisions of this article and Arts. 7107, 7107, 7108, 7129 and 7149, the delivery or tender of the property must be made to the sheriff of the county or constable of the precinct in which the judgment is rendered and not to the one from whom it was replevied, in order to avoid liability upon a replevin bond. Texas Fidelity & Bonding Co. v. Castle (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 869.

Effect of quashing of writ.—Where sequestration was levied and goods replevied, and writ of sequestration quashed, sureties on the replevin bond were released. Mitchell v. Bloom, 91 T. 634, 45 S. W. 558.

The sureties on a replevin bond, the property being replevied by defendant, the quashing of the sequestration does not discharge the replevin bond. Aver v. Popper (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 951.

Dismissal of suit.—No right of recovery on defendant's replevin bond where plaintiff voluntarily dismisses his suit without establishing any right against defendant. Bullock v. Traweek (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 724.

Liability of purchaser pending suit.—Plaintiff, in sequestration held not to have elected to pursue the defendant, who had given a replevin bond pending suit, so as to enjoin him from proceeding against the purchaser of the property. Crawford v. Southern Rock Island Plow Co., 33 C. A. 510, 77 S. W. 280.

In sequestration, where defendant replevis the goods and sells them pending suit, motion for execution against the purchaser, after judgment for plaintiff, held not prejudicial to the purchaser. Id.

Art. 7105. [4875] In case of real estate.—If the property be real estate, the condition of such bond shall be that the defendant will not injure the property, and that he will pay the value of the rents of the same in case he shall be condemned so to do. [Id.]

Form of bond.—When the levy is upon both personal and real property, a replevin bond conditioned as required by the statute in cases of levy of personal property alone is invalid. Haile v. Oliver, 52 T. 443.

A bond drawn in accordance with Art. 7104 is invalid as replevin bond for real estate. A bond for the replevis of real estate should be drawn under this article and a replevin bond for real estate insufficient under the statute is not enforceable as a common-law bond. Broussard v. Hinds (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 865.

A vendor's claim for rents in possession of an administratrix of the deceased purchaser under her replevy bond held the rental value of the land. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Texas Land & Mortgage Co., 40 C. A. 489, 90 S. W. 197.

For the purpose of recovery on a replevin bond in a sequestration proceeding the amount of rents collected by the principal may be shown, but not what he did with it. Wandeloh v. Grayson County Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 415.

If the defendant filed against the sureties on a replevin bond given in a sequestration proceeding for rents accruing prior to the execution of the bond. Id.

Sureties on a replevin bond, given by defendant to retain possession of certain land pending an action to determine the right to its possession, held liable for removal of crops or rent, however judgment for plaintiff and permit execution to perfect an appeal, which was not completed. Love v. Perry (Civ. App.) 111 S. W. 203.

Termination of liability.—The replevin bond stands security for the rents pending the litigation which does not necessarily stop with the judgment in the trial court, but may be continued at the option of the defendant party until action is secured by the courts of last resort on appeal or writ of error. Fidelity & Deposit Co. v. Texas Land & Mortgage Co., 40 C. A. 489, 90 S. W. 199, 200.

Art. 7106. [4876] Return of bond and judgment thereon.—The bond provided for in the three preceding articles shall be returned with the writ to the court from whence the writ issued, and in case the suit is decided against the defendant final judgment shall be entered against all the obligors in such bond, jointly and severally, for the value of the property replevied, and the value of the fruits, hire, revenue or rent thereof, as the case may be. [Id.]

In general.—To authorize a summary judgment against the sureties, the bond must, in essential requisites, conform to the statute. If, however, the departure from the conditions prescribed by statute makes the bond less onerous, summary judgment may be rendered thereon against the sureties. James v. Reynolds' Adm'rs, 3 T. 250; Hansis v. Horton, 5 T. 103; Harris v. Shackelford, 6 T. 103.

Replevin bond held not a statutory bond, so that it was error to render summary judgment against the sureties thereon. Marlan v. Lemaire (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 215.

When property has been replevied in a sequestration suit and judgment is rendered for plaintiff, and the property is not returned to the sheriff within ten days after the judgment, it is proper to render judgment against the obligors in the reprieve bond. Pipkin v. Tinch (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 1077.

Evidence held to show that judgment against sureties on a reprieve bond given in a sequestration proceeding represented no rents accruing before the bond was executed. Wandelohr v. Grayson County Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 413.

Citation or notice.—Where a judgment has been rendered in reprieve, and the case has been put on appeal, and the mandate has been returned, and an order of sale has been issued in the lower court and returned stating that no property can be found, it is proper for the lower court to enter judgment on the bond without notice to the sureties. Cabell v. Floyd, 21 C. A. 135, 36 S. W. 475.

Jury against a person not a party to the suit, not cited, and who neither appeared nor answered, but who gave a bond to retain possession of property levied on under a writ of sequestration, could not be sustained. Vickery v. Griffin (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1087.

Pleadings, findings and evidence to support judgment.—Where, in an action on a reprieve bond, the verdict does not find the value of the property, no judgment against the bondsmen can be entered. Talcott v. Rose (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 1099.

In an action to recover certain articles of personality, or their value, in which there was no evidence of their value, and the jury did not find it, it was error to state the value of each of the articles in the judgment. Lewter v. Lindley (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 776.

There is no need to plead on the reprieve bond or to allege the value of rents in order for the court to render judgment thereon. The court is authorized to render judgment on the bond without further pleading as to liability. Wandelohr v. Grayson Co. Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 415.

Where a sequestration writ issues, and defendant repives the property, and judgment goes against him, it is the duty of the court to render judgment on the reprieve bond; and this though there is no reference in the pleadings to the issuance of such proceedings. Tyson v. First State Bank & Trust Co. of Santa Anna (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1086.

Consent judgment.—Sureties are bound by a judgment entered by agreement of the parties. Siddall v. Goggan, 68 T. 708, 5 S. W. 668.

Judgment on appeal.—This statute is mandatory and a failure to enter judgment as therein provided, when shown on appeal, will require a reversal of the case. The jury in a vendee for rent suit must find the value of each article (or animal) reprieved as the defendant is entitled to return the same and have its value credited pro tanto on the judgment. Martin v. Berry Bros. (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 712.

Where a reprieve bond is given in an attachment case conditioned as required by this article, the appellate court, in reversing the judgment of the lower court quashing the attachment and vacating the lien, cannot render judgment on the bond, but can only foreclose the attachment lien, and leave the plaintiff to pursue his remedy against the sheriff for the value of the property, and the plaintiff, or his codefendant or sureties on the bond, Norvell-Shapleigh Hardware Co. v. Hall N. & M. Works (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 1094.

Requisites of Judgment.—The verdict and judgment against persons who have reprieved property should find the value of the several items of property reprieved, as the obligors have the right under Art. 7107 to return the entire property or any portion thereof in satisfaction of the judgment in whole or in part. Cook v. Haisell, 65 T. 1; B. F. Avery & Sons v. Dickson (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 662; Lewter v. Lindley, 81 S. W. 777; Bateman v. Hipp, 111 S. W. 973; Owens v. Vander Stucken, 133 S. W. 491.

A party who reprieved sequestered property, and disposed of it all, is not prejudiced by failure of the judgment to fix the value of each article reprieved. Avery v. Popper (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 951.

A verdict and judgment against the principal and sureties on a reprieve bond should find the value of the several items of property reprieved at the date of the trial. Meyers v. Bloon, 20 C. A. 554, 56 S. W. 217.

Where a judgment in reprieve declared that the property had been disposed of and could not be returned, it was not necessary to find the value of each separate article. Pipkin v. Tinch (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 1077.

Sureties on reprieve bond in sequestration proceeding held liable on judgment being rendered against one of the principals and themselves, though such judgment was not rendered against the other principal. Wandelohr v. Grayson County Nat. Bank, 102 T. 30, 108 S. W. 1154.

The failure to render judgment against a wife, who with her husband were principals on a reprieve bond, held error as to the sureties on the bond. Wandelohr v. Grayson County Nat. Bank, 102 T. 20, 113 S. W. 1046.

The right of a party against whom judgment has been rendered on a reprieve bond to have the judgment fix the value of the different items of property separately is waived, where such party does not assign the omission of the judgment to fix the values separately as error. Owens v. Vander Stucken (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 491.

Remedies aside from statute.—Failure to enter judgment for defendant on reprieve bond in action decided adversely to plaintiff held not to estop defendant from recovering value of property reprieved. Norwood v. Interate Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 927.

The liability of sureties on reprieve bond, in an action of trespass to try title, not having been enforced in the original suit, an independent suit may be maintained on the bond. Wilson v. Dickey (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 487.

Art. 7107. [4877] Defendant may discharge judgment by return of property, etc.—The defendant shall have the right, at any time within ten days after the rendition of the judgment provided for in the preceding article, to deliver to the sheriff or constable of the court in which such judgment is rendered, the property, or any portion thereof, which he has bound himself to have forthcoming to abide the decision of the court, and the sheriff or constable to whom such possession is tendered shall receive such property, if the same has not been injured or dam-gaged since the replevy, and receipt to the defendant therefor, and shall immediately deliver such property to the plaintiff; and the defendant in such judgment shall, upon filing with the papers in the cause the receipt of the sheriff or constable, be credited by the clerk or justice of the peace upon such judgment with the value of the property so returned.

See Cook v. Halsell, 65 T. 1; Hoezer v. Kraeka, 29 T. 450; Blakely’s Adm'r v. Duncan, 4 T. 184; Watts v. Overstreet, 78 T. 571, 14 S. W. 704; Herder v. Schwab Clothing Co. (Civ. App.) 37 S. W. 784; Ratliff v. Gordon, 149 S. W. 196.

In general.—In an action on a replevin bond, it was erroneous to render judgment in default of a restoration of the property prior to the date of judgment, and also improper not to find the value of each article repleved, and to fail to give defendants an opportunity to return all or a part of the property within 10 days after judgment and receive

If defendant whose cattle had been sequestered did not desire to pay therefor upon an adverse judgment, he may discharge the obligations of his replevin bond by returning the cattle, under this article. Reasonover v. Riley Bros. (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 220.

Order for return.—An order is not necessary to enable the defendant to return the

To whom delivered.—Where judgment is against the defendant, a tender of the property must be made to the officer and not to the plaintiff. Childs v. Wilkinson, 15 C. A.
687, 40 S. W. 749.

If a tender were made to the plaintiff, and accepted, he would be estopped. Id.

Delivery or tender of the property must be made to the sheriff of the county or constable of the precinct in which the judgment is rendered and not to the one from whom it was repleved, in order to avoid liability upon a replevy bond. Texas Fidelity & Bonding Co. v. Cagle (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 689.

Art. 7108. [4878] When the property has been injured, etc.—If the property tendered back by the defendant has been injured or dam-gaged while in his possession under such bond, the sheriff or constable to whom the same is tendered shall not receive the same, unless the defendant at the same time tenders the reasonable amount of such injury or damage, to be judged of by such sheriff or constable.

To whom tender shall be made.—Under this article and Arts. 7103, 7106, 7107, 7129 and 7140, the delivery or tender of the property must be made to the sheriff of the county or constable of the precinct in which the judgment is rendered and not to the one from whom it was repleved, in order to avoid liability upon a replevy bond. Texas Fidelity & Bonding
Co. v. Cagle (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 689.

Art. 7109. [4879] Execution shall issue, when.—If the property be not returned and received, as provided in the two preceding articles, execution shall issue upon said judgment for the amount due thereon, as in other cases.

Art. 7110. [4880] Plaintiff may replevy, when, and his bond.—
When the defendant fails to replevy the property within ten days after the levy of the writ, if such defendant, his agent or attorney, is present in the county, or within twenty days if absent from the county at the time of such levy, the officer having the property in possession shall deliver the same to the plaintiff upon his giving bond payable to the defendant in a sum of money not less than double the value of such property, with two or more good and sufficient sureties to be approved by such officer, ‘conditioned for the forthcoming of such property, together with the fruits, hire, revenue and rent of the same, to abide the decision of the court. [Act Nov. 9, 1866, p. 122, sec. 3. P. D. 5101a.]

In general.—In an action on replevy bonds given by plaintiff in a foreclosure suit, held, that defendant was estopped by an agreement with plaintiff before the foreclosure suit, in which defendant consented to a private sale of the property afterwards repleved. Camer-

Where the officer in replevin has accepted plaintiff’s bond, and delivered the property to him, the court on petition of defendant may not require the officer to accept defendant’s bond and deliver to him the property. Keasler Lumber Co. v. Clark, 181 S. W. 346.

Liability of plaintiff.—Plaintiff in replevin and his sureties hold liable, though the

A plaintiff who replevies the property of the defendant is required to account for “the fruits, hire, revenue and rent of the property and is liable to a judgment for "the value"
Title 122) SEQUESTRATION

Art. 7115

Right to possession.—The plaintiff to whom property has been delivered by virtue of a replevy bond has a possessory right thereto, and may recover the property or its value if wrongfully taken from him, pending the suit, by the defendant therein. But the defendant, for the purpose of estimating the damages recoverable in the action, may prove the ownership of the property to be in himself. Fowler v. Stonum, 6 T. 60; Wilkins v. Weller, 1 App. C. C. § 876.

Art. 7111. [4881] Bond shall be returned, and the proceedings thereon if forfeited.—The bond provided for in the preceding article shall be returned with the writ, and, in case the suit is decided against the plaintiff, final judgment shall be entered against all the obligors in such bond jointly and severally, for the value of the property repleived, and for the value of the fruits, hire, revenue or rent thereof, as the case may be, and the same rules which govern the discharge or enforcement of a judgment against the obligors in the defendant’s replevy bond, as hereinbefore provided, shall be applicable to and govern in case of a judgment against the obligors in the plaintiff’s replevy bond.

In general.—When personal property is seized under a writ of sequestration, the defendant, if successful, is entitled to judgment for its value at the time of trial, in the absence of allegation and proof of special damage accruing by plaintiff’s acts. Watts v. Overstreet, 78 T. 571, 14 S. W. 704; Mortgage Co. v. Shelton, 8 C. A. 550, 29 S. W. 494; Halbert v. San Saba, Springs Land & Live-Stock Ass’n (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 636.

When plaintiff in sequestration fails to establish his cause, defendant, without any plea in replevin bond, is entitled to affirmative relief under this article. Morris v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 165 S. W. 677.

Dismissal by plaintiff.—Refusal of motion of plaintiff in sequestration to dismiss the case, unless he returns the piano for which he had given replevin bond, is harmless; the court has the power under the statute to render judgment on the replevin bond, though plaintiff be permitted to dismiss the case. Morris v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 677.

Art. 7112. [4882] Defendant not required to account for hire, etc., when.—In suits for the enforcement of a mortgage or lien upon property, the defendant, should he replevy the property, shall not be required to account for the fruits, hire, revenue or rent of the same, but this exemption shall not apply to the plaintiff in case he shall replevy the property. [P. D. 5100.]

Owner’s right to rents.—If the owner of property incumbered by a lien so acts as to compel the lienholder, in his own protection, to sequestrate it, such owner is not entitled to a credit for the value of the rents of the property during the time it is held by the officer in obedience to the writ. Bumpass v. Morrison, 70 T. 756, 8 S. W. 596.

Receiver.—A receiver should not be appointed on the ex parte application of a mortgagee in a case where the pleadings disclose that the mortgage on the premises is invalid. Rogers v. Southern Pine & Lumber Co., 21 C. A. 48, 61 S. W. 26.

Art. 7113. [4883] Property likely to waste, etc., may be sold, when.—If after the expiration of ten days from the levy of a writ of sequestration the defendant has failed to replevy the same, if the plaintiff or defendant shall make affidavit in writing that the property levied upon, or any portion thereof, is likely to be wasted or destroyed, or greatly depreciated in value, by keeping, and if the officer having possession of such property shall certify to the truth of such affidavit, it shall be the duty of the judge or justice of the peace to whose court the writ is returnable, upon the presentation of such affidavit and certificate, either in term time or in vacation, to order the sale of said property, or so much thereof as is likely to be so wasted, destroyed or depreciated in value by keeping, but either party may replevy the property at any time before such sale. [Id. P. D. 5099a.]

Art. 7114. [4884] Order of sale in such case.—The judge or justice granting the order provided for in the preceding article shall issue an order directed to the officer having such property in possession, commanding such officer to sell such property in the same manner as under execution. [Id.]

Art. 7115. [4885] Return of order of sale.—The officer making such sale shall, within five days thereafter, return the order of sale to the court from whence the same issued with his proceedings thereon, and shall, at the time of making such return, pay over to the clerk or justice of the peace the proceeds of such sale. [Id.]
Art. 7116. [4886] Where debt is not due, property may be sold, when, etc.—If the suit in which the sequestration issued be for a debt or demand not yet due, and the property sequestered be likely to be wasted, destroyed or greatly depreciated in value by keeping, the judge or justice of the peace shall, under the regulations hereinbefore provided, order the same to be sold, giving credit on such sale until such debt or demand shall become due. [Act March 15, 1884. P. D. 5098.]

Art. 7117. [4887] Purchaser shall give bond, etc.—In the case of a sale, as provided for in the preceding article, the purchaser of the property shall execute his bond, with two or more good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the officer making the sale, and payable to such officer, in a sum not less than double the amount of the purchase money, conditioned that such purchaser shall pay such purchase money at the expiration of the time given. [Id.]

Art. 7118. [4888] Bond shall be returned and judgment, etc., thereon, when.—The bond provided for in the preceding article shall be returned by the officer taking the same to the clerk or justice of the peace from whose court the order of sale issued, with such order, and shall be filed among the papers in the cause; and, in case the purchaser does not pay the purchase money at the expiration of the time given, judgment shall be rendered against all the obligors in such bond for the amount of such purchase money, interest thereon and all costs incurred in the enforcement and collection of the same; and execution shall issue thereon in the name of the plaintiff in the suit, as in other cases, and the money when collected shall be paid to the clerk or justice of the peace to abide the final decision of the cause. [Id.]

DECISIONS RELATING TO SUBJECT IN GENERAL

Right of action in replevin.—One cannot recover in replevin on mere proof of prior possession unless defendant was a mere trespasser. Murray v. Lyons (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 621.

Recovery of exempt property.—In an action to recover certain personal property, or its value, the statute of exemptions held immaterial. Ricketson v. Best (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 588.

Evidence.—In sequestration, evidence tending to show that defendant did not own the property involved held immaterial. Rea v. Schow & Bros., 42 C. A. 600, 93 S. W. 706.

In an action wherein a seller of furniture on the installment plan sequestered it, evidence held to sustain a finding that the furniture had been paid for. Daniel v. De Ortis (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 486.
TITLE 123
SHERIFFS AND CONSTABLES

[See Code of Criminal Procedure.]

CHAPTER ONE OF SHERIFFS

ELECTION AND QUALIFICATION

Article 7119. [4890] Election and term of office.—There shall be elected by the qualified voters of each county one sheriff, who shall hold his office for two years, and until his successor shall be elected and qualified. [Const., art. 5, sec. 23. Act May 12, 1846, p. 265, sec. 1. P. D. 5108.]

Art. 7120. [4891] Vacancies, how filled.—Should a vacancy occur in the office of sheriff, the commissioners’ court of the county shall fill such vacancy by appointment; and the person appointed, after qualifying in the manner prescribed by law for persons elected to said office, shall discharge the duties of sheriff for the unexpired term and until the election and qualification of his successor. [Id.]

Art. 7121. [4892] Oath and bond.—Every person elected to the office of sheriff shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, give a bond with two or more good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the commissioners’ court of his county, for such sum as may be directed by such court, not less than five nor more than thirty thousand dollars, payable to the governor and his successors in office, conditioned that he will account for and pay over to the persons authorized by law to receive the same all fines, forfeitures and penalties that he may collect for the use of the state or any county, and that he will well and truly execute and due return make of all process and precepts to him lawfully directed, and pay over all sums of money collected by him by virtue of any such process or precept to the persons to whom the same are due, or their lawful attorney, and that he will faithfully perform all such duties as may be required of him by law, and shall also take and subscribe the oath of office prescribed by the constitution, which shall be indorsed on said bond, together with the certificate of the officer administering the same, which bond and oath shall be recorded in the office of the clerk of the county court and deposited in said office. Said bond shall not be void on the first recovery, but may be sued on from time to time. in the name of any person injured until the whole amount thereof is recovered. [Act May 12, 1846, p. 265, sec. 2. P. D. 5109.]

Liability on bond—in general.—Liability in general, see Art. 7120.

To charge the sureties on a sheriff's bond, the act complained of must not only be such as to render the sheriff liable, but as to the sheriff and not as to him as sheriff under a claim of right by him to do it in his official capacity. Heidenheimer v. Brent, 69 T. 533.

An officer in whose hands a writ of attachment is placed must execute it, although he may have knowledge of the insufficiency of the cause of the action and that it was sued out maliciously; and he is not liable on his official bond. Rice v. Miller, 70 T. 613, 8 S. W. 317, 8 Am. St. Rep. 656; Blum v. Strong, 71 T. 321, 6 S. W. 167.

Where no execution is void, recovery thereon cannot be had against the sureties of the officer executing the writ. Jones v. Hess (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 46.

It matters not that the (sheriff)'s bond declared on did not name all the specific conditions prescribed in this article if the condition inserted in the bond and to which the breach was assigned, was broad enough to cover them all, or at least the act of malfeasance complained of. Lasater v. Waites (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 519.

Where sheriff, in opening county road, cut fences not in line of road, he and his bondsmen held liable. Morgan v. Oliver (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 111.

Where a sheriff wrongfully arrested and imprisoned a person under a void warrant, the sureties on the sheriff's official bond were liable. Roberts v. Brown, 45 C. A. 306, 94 S. W. 388.

A sheriff taking without authority of law the property of another held not entitled to defeat the claim of the owner by showing that the property was sold and the proceeds applied to the satisfaction of a debt due from the owner. Nash v. Noble, 46 C. A. 369, 103 S. W. 736.

Money received.—To render the sureties of a sheriff responsible for money received, it must be shown that it came into his hands as sheriff by virtue of some process or lawful authority, and that he then failed to pay it over. Heidenheimer v. Brent, 69 T. 533.

When the parties to a suit authorize the sheriff to sell attached property without reference to the legal proceedings pending, the sureties on such bond are not liable for the funds arising from such sale and appropriated by the sheriff. Brent v. Hohorst, 1 App. C. C. § 343.

The question of a sheriff's right to costs for the sale of land for delinquent taxes held properly determined in an action against the sheriff for failure to pay over the amount received. City of San Antonio v. Campbell (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 130.

One claiming title to property attached as the property of a debtor and obtaining a judgment directing the clerk of the trial court to turn over to him the proceeds of a sale of the property may recover from the sheriff and the sureties on his indemnity bond the full value of the property, where the clerk did not turn over any of the proceeds because they had been paid out on the judgment in the judgment in the suit in the trial court of the mandate. Griffin v. Terry (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 116.

Fines and costs.—A county judge has no authority to remit the fine of a prisoner and order the sheriff to discharge him from custody so as to relieve the sheriff from liability on his bond for the fine and costs. Spradley v. State, 23 C. A. 20, 56 S. W. 114, 445.

Release of attached property.—A sheriff is responsible in damages where he has released, on an insufficient replevy bond, property seized under an attachment. Barclay v. Scott, 1 App. C. C. §§ 119, 111.

Levy and failure to levy.—The existence of prior liens does not justify the failure of the officer to make a levy. Smothers v. Field, 65 T. 435.

A sheriff must execute a writ of attachment in his hands, although he knows that the property thus attached was taken without authority, and he is not liable on his bond therefore. Rice v. Miller, 70 T. 613, 8 S. W. 317, 8 Am. St. Rep. 659.

Art. 7122. [4893] May act without a commission.—When any person elected or appointed sheriff, in accordance with the preceding article, shall have given bond and taken the oath of office he may enter at once upon the discharge of his duties, and his acts shall be as valid in law before receiving his commission from the governor as afterward. [Act Dec. 20, 1836, p. 179, sec. 2. P. D. 5102.]

Art. 7123. [4894] Neglect to qualify.—When any person elected sheriff shall neglect, refuse or fail from any cause whatever to give bond and take the oath of office within twenty days after notice of his election, the office shall be deemed vacant; and the county commissioners' court shall proceed to appoint a sheriff to fill the vacancy, who shall hold his office for the unexpired term. [Acts 1885, p. 89.]

Application.—This article does not undertake to provide for all cases of vacancy and does not apply to a case where a man has been duly elected to the office, but has died without receiving a certificate of his election and without qualifying. And when such an event happens the incumbent does not hold over, but the commissioners' court can declare a vacancy and elect some one to the office. Maddox v. York, 21 C. A. 623, 54 S. W. 24.

Provision mandatory.—This article is mandatory; and therefore if a sheriff fails or refuses to qualify within twenty days after he has been notified of his election the office thereby becomes vacant. State v. Box, 24 C. A. 439, 73 S. W. 895.
Art. 7124. [4895] Failure to give new bond when required.—
Whenever any of the sureties of a sheriff shall die, remove permanently from the state, become insolvent, or be released from liability in accordance with law, or whenever the commissioners' court shall deem the sheriff's bond insufficient, said court shall cite said sheriff to appear at a time to be named in such citation, not less than ten nor more than thirty days after issuing such citation, and give a new bond with good and sufficient security; and, if such sheriff neglect or refuse to appear and give such bond on or before the designated time, he shall cease to exercise the functions of his office, and shall be removed from office by the judge of the district court in the mode prescribed by law for the removal of county officers. [Acts 1836, p. 178. P. D. 5110.]

POWERS, DUTIES AND LIABILITIES

Art. 7125. [4896] May appoint deputies, etc.—Sheriffs shall have the power, by writing, to appoint one or more deputies for their respective counties, to continue in office during the pleasure of the sheriff, who shall have power and authority to perform all the acts and duties of their principals; and every person so appointed shall, before he enters upon the duties of his office, take and subscribe to the oath of office prescribed by the constitution, which shall be indorsed on his appointment, together with the certificate of the officer administering the same; and such appointment and oath shall be recorded in the office of the county clerk and deposited in said office; provided, that the number of deputies appointed by the sheriff of any one county shall be limited to not exceeding three in the justice precinct in which is located the county site of such county; and a list of these appointments shall be posted up in a conspicuous place in the clerk’s office so that all can see them; provided, further, that no person shall be appointed a deputy sheriff who stands convicted for a felony; and an indictment for a felony of any deputy sheriff appointed shall operate a revocation of his appointment as such deputy sheriff; provided, that any sheriff may appoint one deputy in addition to the above enumerated for each justice precinct in addition to the precinct where the county site is situated; and all sheriffs having more deputies than are provided for in this law shall make the number of his deputies conform to the provisions of the same. [Acts 1889, p. 23.]

In general.—A sheriff cannot appoint or detail deputies to act as guards or watchmen over railroad property, except to prevent threatened injury thereto. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Stan, 157 Tex. 514, 132 S. W. 214, 132 S. W. 522.

Powers of deputy.—Where the evidence shows that the alleged appointment of a deputy sheriff was only verbal and that he had qualified, and there is no evidence that he believed that he was a duly appointed officer, he cannot claim immunity when charged with unlawfully carrying a pistol. Baker v. State, 53 Cr. R. 27, 198 S. W. 684.

Service and return of writs.—All writs, including attachments, are directed to the sheriff or any constable, but may be executed by a deputy sheriff, who makes his return in the name of the principal. So far as the public is concerned, there is no difference between the power and duties of the sheriff and his deputy; either can perform and be compelled to perform the same acts that are required of the other. Heye v. Moody, 67 T. 615, 4 S. W. 242.

Service of subpoena.—A deputy sheriff may serve a subpoena in a cause in which the sheriff is a party. Blum v. Bassett, 67 T. 194, 3 S. W. 33.

Levy.—The act of a deputy in making the levy of an attachment upon a stock of goods was the act of the sheriff, and amounted to the same thing as if he had made the levy himself. As the goods were in the possession of the sheriff under a former attachment, it was, of course, proper for him to levy a subsequent writ upon them, subject to the previous levy made by his deputy. Heye v. Moody, 57 T. 615, 4 S. W. 242.

Duration of office.—A deputy sheriff, who was appointed by the sheriff in November, 1908, but was not reappointed upon the re-election of the sheriff in November, 1908, could not lawfully act as deputy sheriff after the expiration of the earlier term of the sheriff. Trinkle v. State, 59 Cr. R. 267, 137 S. W. 1900.

De facto deputies.—One to whom constable, having no right to appoint deputy, delivers prisoner is not a de facto deputy. Messer v. State, 57 Cr. R. 635, 40 S. W. 483.

Service made of a writ of garnishment by a de facto officer acting under color of authority is valid. Trammell v. Shelton, 18 C. A. 366, 45 S. W. 319.

The appointment of a person as deputy sheriff constitutes him a de facto officer, though not made in writing as the statute provides, and though he does not give bond or take oath. Broach v. Garth (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 594.
Where there was no showing that a deputy sheriff, who refused to take the oath of office, exercised the duties thereof or was reputed in the community to be a deputy sheriff, he was not an officer de facto. Brown v. State, 43 Cr. R. 411, 66 S. W. 547.

See, also, notes under Art. 3687, Rule 13.

Art. 7126. [4897] Responsible for their acts.—Sheriffs shall be responsible for the official acts of their deputies, and they shall have power to require from their deputies bond and security; and they shall have the same remedies against their deputies and sureties as any person can have against a sheriff and his sureties. [Acts 1846, p. 265. P. D. 5113.]

See Giraud v. Ellis (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 967.

Responsibility for official acts.—In seeking to fix upon the sheriff liability for acts of his deputy, it is only required to show that the wrongful act complained of was one which the deputy might, under proper circumstances, do as an officer, and that in fact it was done under color of or by virtue of his official station. Luck v. Zapp, 1 C. A. 828, 21 S. W. 418.

The deputy sheriff, acting in his official capacity, and by virtue of an execution from a justice’s court, ejected plaintiff from her house, removed her goods therefrom and nailed it up. The sheriff was told that it was her homestead, and appealed to to release the levy, and refused. The act done by the deputy was wrongful, and the sheriff and his sureties are liable therefor. Id.

A charge in the allegations that a levy was made by the deputy sheriff instead of by the sheriff as alleged in the original petition does not state a new cause of action. Harrington v. Patten, 18 C. A. 147, 44 S. W. 60.

A sheriff arresting by deputy, under a warrant, the wrong person by mistake held liable for damages. Clark v. Winn, 19 C. A. 114, 66 S. W. 215.

In legal contemplation as between the sheriff and the aggrieved party, the acts of his deputy are the acts of the sheriff, and if the original petition was defective in charging that the acts were done by the sheriff when in fact they were performed by his deputy, yet the petition was sufficient to stop the running of the statute of limitation. Cox v. Patten (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 65, 66.

When a deputy sheriff summons assistance in making an arrest when there is no resistance or ground to expect it, he is not acting in the performance of an official act or duty and the sheriff is not responsible for his act. Maddox v. HUDGENS, 21 C. A. 361, 72 S. W. 415.

A statement made by a sheriff on hearing of certain acts of his deputies held not to amount to a ratification of their acts. Brown v. King, 41 C. A. 558, 59 S. W. 1017.

Where certain deputy sheriffs sought to effect the arrest of certain parties for shooting a pistol in a public place and within the view of such officers, their acts were none the less done in their official capacity because one of the persons injured in effecting his arrest was guilty of such offense. Kii v. Smiley. 101 C. 93, 66 S. W. 326.

When parties fire off pistols on a public road at night within 250 yards of deputy sheriffs who see the flashes and hear the reports, this violation of law occurs “within their presence,” and they are authorized to arrest the parties without warrants, and if in attempting to arrest, they shoot an innocent man, they are acting officially and the sheriff will be liable for damages.” Id.

An act of a deputy sheriff, proceeding without a warrant or without an offense being committed in his presence, is not the act of the sheriff. Brown v. Wallis (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 1068.

In an action against a sheriff for injuries inflicted by his deputies, proof of the existence of facts warranting the exercise of authority by them is essential to recover. Id.

In an action against a sheriff for personal injuries inflicted by his deputies, evidence held not to show that any offense was committed in the presence of his deputies. Id.

In an action against a sheriff for personal injuries inflicted by his deputies, evidence held to show that the deputies were not acting in an official capacity. Brown v. Wallis, 103 S. W. 1068, 12 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1019.

Notice to a deputy sheriff of the post office address of a judgment debtor against whom the sheriff has an execution is notice to the sheriff. Snouffer v. Heiseig (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 912.

Art. 7127. [4898] May employ guards.—Whenever in any county it may become necessary to employ guards for the safe keeping of prisoners and the security of jails, the sheriff may, with the approval of the commissioners’ court, or in case of emergency, with the approval of the county judge, employ such number of guards as may be necessary; and his account therefor, duly itemized and sworn to, shall be allowed by said commissioners’ court and paid out of the county treasury. [Id.]

“Guard.—A private citizen to whom a constable delivers a prisoner to assist him in procuring bail is not a guard under this article, and the prisoner is not guilty of an offense for trying to bribe him. Messer v. State, 37 Cr. R. 635, 40 S. W. 488.

The commissioners’ court.—Where a sheriff went into the room in the court house occupied by the commissioners’ court and three commissioners were in there at the time, and he asked what he should do about the two guards at the jail and one of the commissioners said for him to go ahead and pay them and make out his account and the commissioners this was an approval by the commissioners’ court (the court being in session at the time), of the employment of the guards, though no order was entered upon the minutes, nor was any motion made or voted by the commissioners present. And even were this not true the action of the court in afterwards ratifying what the sheriff had done in employing the guards during the county for the payment of the guards. Ledbetter v. Dallas County, 51 C. A. 146, 111 S. W. 195.

See McDade v. Waller County, 3 App. C. C. §§ 110, 111.

Art. 7128. [4899] Shall receive prisoners from constables, etc.—It shall be the duty of sheriffs to receive from constables and other officers all persons who shall be apprehended by such constables or other officers for offenses against the state, and them safely keep, subject to the order of the proper court. [Act Dec. 20, 1836, p. 179, sec. 14. P. D. 5104.]

Art. 7129. [4900] To attend upon courts.—Each sheriff shall attend upon all district, county and commissioners' courts for his county; and, in counties where the supreme court and court of appeals shall hold their sessions, the sheriffs of such counties shall attend upon such court. [Act May 12, 1846, p. 265, sec. 13. P. D. 51.]

Fee for attendance.—See Art. 3664.

Art. 7130. [4901] Shall execute all legal process.—Each sheriff shall execute all process and precepts directed to him by legal authority, and make return thereof to the proper court, or on before the day to which the same is returnable; and any sheriff who shall fail so to do, or who shall make a false return on any process or precept shall, for every such offense, be liable to be fined by the court to which such process is returnable, as for a contempt, not exceeding one hundred dollars, at the discretion of the court; which fine shall go to the county treasury; and such sheriff shall also be liable to the party injured for all damages he may sustain. [Id. sec. 8. P. D. 5115.]

Historical.—The act of March 31, June 30, 1885 (19th Leg., p. 90), contains the following provision: Whenever the sheriff, constable, or a deputy of either, has been sued for damages for any act done in their official character, and they have taken indemnifying bonds for such acts so done by them, upon which said acts suit for damages are based, the said sheriffs, constables or their deputies shall have the right to make the parties, principal and surety on such bond of indemnity, parties defendant in suit for damages, and the cause may be continued for the purpose of obtaining service on such parties made in said cause. This provision is now incorporated in Art. 1444.

 Custody of property.—Sheriff held entitled to retain money claimed by different parties, and have question of title thereto determined by the court, and could not be subjected to statutory penalty for failing to pay over the same. W. T. Rickards & Co. v. J. H. Bemis & Co. (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 239.

A sheriff held liable for rent of a building used by him until he disposed of certain goods levied on, without regard to the validity of the sale of the goods by the attachment defendant to plaintiff. Hooks & Hines v. Pafford, 34 C. A. 516, 78 S. W. 991.

The failure of an officer levying execution to make an inventory of the property levied upon makes him liable for resulting damages. Mara v. Branch (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 661.

Wrongful levy or other taking of property.—See, also, Art. 3769.

When the plaintiff in execution or his attorney withholds from the officer knowledge in his position which would enable him to make a levy, that fact would exonerate him from liability. Batte v. Chandler, 53 T. 613.

If property seized by a sheriff under a writ of sequestration belongs to a stranger to the suit, but in possession of the property, the officer cannot justify by a plea that he did not know that such person was the owner. Campbell v. Ulch, 24 C. A. 616, 60 S. W. 272.

An officer who, in executing civil process, has effected a lawful entry into a dwelling house, and acquired a right to use force in making a levy but who voluntarily leaves, is not entitled to re-enter by force. Hillman v. Edwards, 24 C. A. 308, 65 S. W. 788.

An officer, having in his hands an order for the sale of specific property, held not entitled to effect a forcible entry into the dwelling of the defendant for the purpose of seizing it. Id.

An officer, in order to execute civil process, cannot climb through an open window of the defendant's dwelling, if that is an unusual place of entry. Id.

Plaintiff in execution and the officer levying on property held guilty of a tort in levying on exempt property, and the officer was liable for the consequences resulting from his levy and sale of exempt property. Bailey v. Hopkins (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 624.

Process or order of court as protection from liability.—A sheriff knowing the insufficiency of the cause of action must execute a writ of attachment, and for so doing he is not liable on his bond. Rice v. Miller, 70 T. 615, 8 S. W. 317, 8 Am. St. Rep. 630.

A writ of attachment, regular and valid on its face, will protect the officer who executes it. Randall v. Rosenthal (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 822; Tlerney v. Frazier, 57 T. 437.

A writ of sequestration under which a wrongful seizure was made will not relieve the officer from liability for actual damages. Land v. Klein, 21 C. A. 3, 50 S. W. 638.

A writ of sequestration, under which a sheriff seized property of a stranger to the suit, held no protection in a suit against the officer by the owner to recover damages for the seizure. Vickery v. Crawford, 93 T. 373, 58 S. W. 560, 49 L. R. A. 773, 77 Am. St. Rep. 891.

A sheriff held not liable in damages for the levy of an execution fraudulently issued out of the district court of another county, where the execution is fair and regular on its face. Campbell (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 909.

Where a sheriff levied an attachment after the return day, he was a mere trespasser, and the process afforded no justification. Jordan v. Henderson, 39 C. A. 83, 36 S. W. 961.

Art. 7130  SHERIFFS AND CONSTABLES  (Title 123)

A writ of restitution being fair and regular on its face, and issuing out of a court of competent jurisdiction, though issued on an irregular and void judgment, it will protect a constable in ousting the tenant. Wilson v. Moore, 67 C. A. 418, 123 S. W. 577.

An order of the county commissioners' court requiring a sheriff to open a road purchased, sold, and his bondmen from liability for acts within the order. Morgan v. Oliver (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 156.

A ministerial officer in possession of property lawfully received must exercise reasonable diligence to preserve it for restoration to the person entitled or for disposition thereof by law. Worsham v. W. & P. Votgsberger (App.) 78 S. W. 239.

Actions for penalty.—Makers of sheriff's indemnity bond held entitled to contest right of plaintiffs to recover statutory penalty from sheriff for failure to pay over proceeds of execution sale. W. T. Rickards & Co. v. J. H. Bemis & Co. (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 239.

Actions against officers.—Even if the acts of a sheriff in levying upon property constituted a conversion thereof, the owner by voluntarily reclaiming the property waived his right of action against the sheriff for the conversion. First State Bank of Hamlin v. Jones & Nixon (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 145; Id. (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 671.

A sheriff, against whom a petition had been filed by a judgment creditor, for the sheriff's failure to make return on an execution upon the judgment, held not entitled to object that the petition did not show the status of the plaintiff. Waxahachie Nursery Co. v. Sansom (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 422.

Filing of a general denial held to be a waiver of defendant's right to object that the petition did not show the status of the plaintiff. Id.

Evidence.—Evidence, in an action against a sheriff for oppressive and excessive levy of execution, held not to sustain a finding that certain articles claimed to have been levied upon merchandise. Mara v. Branch (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 661.

In a suit against an officer for levying an attachment of goods in his possession under a distress warrant, the amount for which the distress warrant was levied should be deducted from the amount of damages recovered. Block v. Swendsen, 251 N. W. 818.

Writ commanding sheriff to seize certain property, and deliver to third person, does not relieve him from actual damages; the property being owned by plaintiff, and he not being a party to the judgment. Lackey v. Campbell (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 46.

Measure of damages for illegal seizure of a cow by sheriff held to be the value of the cow at the time of seizure; the milk of which plaintiff was deprived not being an item of damage. Id.

The owner of exempt property seized by an officer under an execution held entitled to recover, in addition to the property or its value, interest from the time of the wrongful taking to the trial or the value of the use of the property for such period. Bailey v. Hopkins (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 624.

An officer who knowingly levies on exempt property and who sells the same held guilty of a malicious tort authorizing punitive damages. Id.

An officer levying on exempt property held liable for the use of the property from the time of the levy to the trial. Id.

Suit by deputy.—A deputy sheriff may sue in his own name on a promise to indemnify. Heidenheimer v. Johnston, 1 App. C. C. § 646.

Mandamus.—Under this article, held, that for want of statutory authority a sheriff could not demand an indemnity bond as a condition to executing a regular writ of execution issued on a valid judgment in forcible detainer proceedings, so that, on his refusal to execute the writ without a bond, he could be compelled to do so by mandamus. Duncan v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 686.

Art. 7131.  [4902] And all legislative process.—Sheriffs are required also to execute all subpoenas and other process issued by the speaker of the house of representatives, or the president of the senate, or chairman of a committee of either house of the legislature, to them directed, under like pains and penalties as are incurred by failure to execute process issued by a court; and for such services they shall receive the fees prescribed by law for similar services in the courts, to be paid on the certificate of the authority issuing such process. [Act March 28, 1873, p. 19.  P. D. 7102a et seq.]

Art. 7132.  [4903] To discharge all duties imposed by law.—Sheriffs shall also do and perform all such duties as may be imposed upon them by the Penal Code and Code of Criminal Procedure, or other laws.

Art. 7133.  [4904] List of fugitives to be sent to adjutant general.  —It shall be the duty of each sheriff in this state, upon the close of any regular term of the district court in his county, or within thirty days thereafter, to make out and forward by mail to the adjutant general of this state a certified list of all persons who, after indictment for a felony, have fled from said county. Such lists shall contain the full name of each of such fugitives, with a description giving his age, height, weight, color and occupation, the complexion of skin and the color of eyes and hair, and any peculiarities in person, speech, manner or gait that may serve to identify such fugitive, so far as the sheriff may be able to give them, and shall state the offense with which such person is charged. The adjutant general shall prescribe, have printed and forward to the sheriffs of the several counties the necessary blanks upon which are to be made the lists herein required. [Acts 1887, p. 44, sec. 1. Amend. 1895, Gen. Jour. No. 97, p. 484.]

Art. 7134. [4905] Shall indorse all process.—Every sheriff and deputy sheriff or constable shall indorse on all process and precepts coming to their hands the day and hour on which they received them, the manner in which they executed them, and state at what time and place the process was served, as well as the distance actually traveled in serving such process, and shall sign their returns officially. [Act May 12, 1846, p. 265, sec. 14. P. D. 5121. Amend. Acts 1903, p. 81.]

Art. 7135. [4906] May summon posse comitatus.—Whenever a sheriff or any of his deputies shall meet with resistance in the execution of any legal process, they shall call to their aid the power of the county; and any person who shall neglect or refuse to aid and assist any sheriff or deputy in the execution of any legal process when summoned so to do shall be deemed guilty of a contempt of court, and shall be fined in a sum not exceeding ten dollars, to be recovered on motion of such sheriff or his deputy, and proof of such neglect or refusal before the court from which such process issued, three days' notice of such motion being given to the party accused, and in addition thereto may be punished criminally as prescribed in the Penal Code. [Id. sec. 10. P. D. 5117.]

Resistance a prerequisite.—It is in case of resistance alone that authority is given to summon assistance and where there is no resistance nor ground to expect it an officer is not acting in performance of an official act when he summons assistance and when a deputy sheriff so summons assistance the sheriff is not responsible. Maddox v. Hugheson, 81 C. A. 291, 72 S. W. 415.

Art. 7136. [4907] Unfinished business.—When any sheriff shall from any cause vacate his office, all unfinished business whatsoever in his hands shall be transferred to his successor, and be completed by him in the same manner as if commenced by himself. [Act May 12, 1846, p. 265, sec. 15. P. D. 5122.]

CHAPTER TWO OF CONSTABLES

Art. 1. ELECTION, QUALIFICATION, ETC.

7137. Election and term of office.

7138. Only one deputy.

7139. Appointed, how, in unorganized counties.

7140. Vacancies, how filled.

7141. Bond and oath.

7142. May act without commission.

7143. Neglect to qualify.

[In addition to the notes under the particular articles, see also notes of decisions relating to subject in general, at end of chapter.]

1. ELECTION, QUALIFICATION, ETC.

Article 7137. [4908] Term of office.—There shall be elected at each general election by the qualified voters of each justice's precinct a constable for such precinct, who shall hold his office for the term of two years, and until his successor is elected and qualified; provided, that, when in any such justice's precinct there may be a city of eight thousand or more inhabitants, such constable may appoint no more than

Who is deputy.—A private citizen appointed by a constable to take charge of a prisoner, in a city in which a constable has no power to appoint a deputy, is not a deputy constable. Messer v. State, 27 Cr. R. 635, 40 S. W. 486.

Art. 7138. Only one deputy.—Be it further provided, that, in cities and towns of twenty-five hundred or more inhabitants, said constable may appoint no more than one deputy, who shall qualify in such manner as is required by law. [id.]

Art. 7139. [4909] Appointed, how, in unorganized counties.—The commissioners’ courts of the several counties to which unorganized counties are attached for judicial purposes shall have power to appoint a constable for each of the unorganized counties attached to said counties for judicial purposes, in accordance with the provisions of the law now in force authorizing such appointment in organized counties. [Acts 1879, p. 89.]

Art. 7140. [4910] Vacancies, how filled.—Vacancies in the office of constable shall be filled by the commissioners’ court until the next succeeding general election.

Art. 7141. [4911] Bond and oath.—Every person who may be elected to the office of constable shall, before entering upon the duties of the office, give a bond with two or more good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the commissioners’ court of his county, for such sum as may be directed by said court, not less than five nor more than fifteen hundred dollars, payable to the governor and his successors in office, conditioned for the faithful performance of all the duties required of him by law; and shall also take and subscribe the oath of office prescribed by the constitution, which shall be indorsed on said bond, together with the certificate of the officer administering the same; which bond and oath shall be recorded in the office of the clerk of the county court, and deposited in said office; said bond shall not be void on the first recovery, but may be sued on from time to time in the name of the party injured until the whole amount thereof is recovered. [Act May 12, 1874, p. 251, sec. 2. P. D. 981.]

Bond.—A constable’s bond, running to the county judge, instead of to the governor, as required by statute, is enforceable as a common-law obligation, despite the defect. Hines v. Norris (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 791.

— Liability on.—Where a constable, while arresting a person charged with a misdemeanor, wrongfully kills such person, the sureties on his official bond are liable for the damages recovered for such act. Moore v. Lindsay, 31 C. A. 13, 71 S. W. 298.

A constable’s sureties held not liable for his sale of exempt property, where he acted under a chattel mortgage and not in his official capacity. Baughn v. Allen (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 1063.

Sureties on the official bond of a constable held liable for damages recovered against him for wrongfully killing a person accused of a misdemeanor while attempting to arrest him. Black v. Moore, 55 C. A. 613, 80 S. W. 867.

Art. 7142. [4912] May act without commission.—Whenever any person is elected or appointed to the office of constable and has given bond and taken the oath prescribed in the preceding article, he may enter at once upon the duties of the office, and his acts shall be as valid in law as if he had been duly commissioned.

Art. 7143. [4913] Neglect to qualify.—Whenever any person elected constable shall neglect or refuse to give bond and take the oath of office as required in the preceding articles within twenty days after notice of his election, the office shall be deemed vacant; and the commissioners’ court of the county shall fill the same as in other cases of vacancy. [Act May 12, 1846, p. 251, sec. 4. P. D. 983.]

Statute directory.—Time within which an officer must qualify is directory only. Flatan v. State, 56 T. 93.

Art. 7144. [4914] Failure to give new bond.—Whenever any of the sureties of a constable shall die, remove permanently from the state, or become insolvent, or are released from liability in accordance with law, or whenever the commissioners’ court shall deem the bond of any constable to be insufficient, said court shall cite said constable to appear at a time to be named in such citation, not less than ten nor more than thirty days after issuing such citation, and give a new bond, with good and sufficient security; and, if such constable shall neglect or refuse to appear and give such bond at the designated time, he shall cease to exercise the functions of his office, and shall be removed from office by the judge of the district court in the mode prescribed by law for the removal of county officers. [Id. sec. 3. P. D. 982.]

2. POWERS, DUTIES AND LIABILITIES

Art. 7145. [4915] Duties in general.—Each constable shall execute and return according to law all process, warrants and precepts to him directed and delivered by any lawful officer, and shall attend upon all justices' courts held in his precinct, and shall perform all such other duties as may be required of him by law. [Id. sec. 8. P. D. 987.]

Summoning defendants.—Where a sheriff was plaintiff in a suit it was not error to appoint a constable to execute the precept for summoning defendants. Houston Printing Co. v. Moulden, 15 C. A. 574, 41 S. W. 381.

Civil process.—A constable held personally liable for the value of an exempt mule sold under a chattel mortgage, where the proceeds of the sale of two nonexempt mules were sufficient to satisfy the debt. Baughn v. Allen (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 1063.

Process can be delivered by an attorney to a constable as well as by a lawful officer, and a constable has the same right to execute civil process issued out of the county and district courts as the sheriff has within the limits of the county in which the precinct of the justice of the peace of which he is constable is embraced. Medlin v. Seideman, 39 C. A. 553, 88 S. W. 261.

Art. 7146. [4916] May summon posse comitatus.—When any constable shall meet with resistance in the execution of any lawful process, or in the arrest of offenders, he may call to his aid any citizen of the county who may be convenient; and any person who shall fail or refuse to obey such call may be fined as for a contempt by any justice of the peace, in a sum not exceeding ten dollars, on motion of such constable, three days’ notice thereof having been given to the party accused, and may also be punished criminally as prescribed in the Penal Code. [Id. sec. 7. P. D. 986.]

Art. 7147. [4917] Failure to execute or return process.—If any constable shall fail or refuse to execute and return, according to law, any process, warrant, or precept to him lawfully directed and delivered, he shall be fined for a contempt, on motion of the party injured, before the court from which such process, warrant or precept issued, in any sum not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred, with costs; which fine shall be for the benefit of the party injured; and said constable shall have ten days’ notice of such motion. [Id. sec. 11. P. D. 990.]

In general.—A constable held to have the same duties and powers in connection with the execution and return of civil process within the county to which his precinct belongs as the sheriff. Medlin v. Seideman, 39 C. A. 553, 88 S. W. 260.

A constable levying a writ of attachment is not liable with the attachment plaintiff for the wrongful suing out of the writ in the absence of any evidence to show that the officer participated in the procurement of the writ. Faroux v. Cornwall, 40 C. A. 539, 90 S. W. 837.

Art. 7148. [4918] Failure to pay over collections.—If any constable shall receive from any person any bonds, bills, notes or accounts for collection, and shall give his receipt therefor, in his official capacity, and shall fail to pay to such person, on demand, any amount he may have collected on the same, such constable and his sureties shall be responsible on his official bond for all such amounts as he may have collected on such bonds, bills, notes or accounts not paid over. [Id. sec. 12. P. D. 991.]

Art. 7149. [4919] May execute process, where.—Every constable may execute any process, civil or criminal, throughout his county and elsewhere, as may be provided for in the Code of Criminal Procedure, or other law. [Id. sec. 14. P. D. 993.]

District court process.—A constable can execute all process issued from the district court. Texas Land & Immigration Co. v. Masterson, 11 C. A. 483, 33 S. W. 376.

Art. 7150. [4920] Unfinished business.—Whenever any constable shall vacate his office, all unfinished business remaining in his hands shall be transferred to his successor, and be completed by him in the same manner as if commenced by himself. [Id. sec. 13. P. D. 992.]

DEcisions RELATING TO SUBJECT IN GENERAL

Rewards for fugitives.—A constable who arrests a person for misdemeanor held not entitled to recover a reward for the conviction of any one committing such misdemeanor. Southwestern Telegraph and Telephone Co. v. Priest, 31 C. A. 346, 73 S. W. 141.

Prior knowledge of a reward offered by a sheriff for the arrest and return of an escaped prisoner and performance in accordance therewith are essential to a right to recover. Broadnax v. Ledbetter, 100 T. 376, 99 S. W. 1111, 9 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1067.

Liability of railroad for hired deputy.—The liability of a railroad company for the act of one appointed a deputy sheriff and stationed at its railroad yards held for the jury. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Parsons (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 240.

The fact that one is a deputy sheriff does not entitle him to any more rights or privileges in the yards of a railroad company than any other person except while in the performance of official duty. Id.

A finding that a railroad company had the right to control the conduct of one appointed a deputy sheriff and to discharge him from the service held warranted under the evidence. Id.

The right to eject trespassers from private property held not to belong to an officer as such. Id.

The fact that one is a deputy sheriff does not relieve his employer from liability for his conduct while acting as employé in the performance of a service personal to the employer. Id.

That one was a deputy sheriff does not show that his act in injuring a trespasser was official. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Parsons, 102 T. 157, 113 S. W. 514, 132 Am. St. Rep. 857.

In an action against a railway company for injury to a trespasser inflicted by a deputy sheriff and watchman, whether the latter's acts were official or those of a servant must be determined by all the circumstances and evidence. Id.

STEVEDORES

Article 7150a. Contracting stevedore and stevedore defined.—A contracting stevedore, within the meaning of this Act, is any person, firm, association of persons, or corporation that contracts with any ship, agent, owners, masters, managers or captains of vessels, or with any other person or corporation, for the purpose of loading or unloading, or of having loaded or unloaded any vessel, ship or water craft; a stevedore within the meaning of this Act is any laborer who performs any of the actual labor in loading and unloading any ship, vessel or water craft whatsoever while in the service or employ of a contracting stevedore as above mentioned. [Acts 1913, p. 153, sec. 1.]

Art. 7150b. License and bond; penalty.—It shall hereafter be unlawful for any contracting stevedore to engage in the business or pursue the occupation of loading and unloading or having loaded or unloaded by the employment of labor therefor any ship, vessel or water craft in this state without first obtaining the license and executing the bond as hereinafter provided, and any such person who pursues said occupation without first qualifying as provided by this Act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined in any sum not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars for each day he shall pursue such occupation or business without thus qualifying and any member of a firm or association or any manager of a corporation who come within the meaning of a contracting stevedore who shall thus offend shall be amendable [amenable] to prosecution hereunder. [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7150c. Bond.—Each contracting stevedore as contemplated by this Act is hereby required to make bond in the sum of five thousand dollars, entered into with two or more good and sufficient sureties, who are residents of this state, or with any good and sufficient surety bonding Co. authorized to transact business in this state, payable to the county judge of the county in which such stevedore pursues his occupation and to his successor in office, as trustee for all persons who may become entitled to the benefits of this Act, said bond to be conditioned that said contracting stevedore will promptly on Saturday of each week pay each laborer his wages for labor performed in loading and unloading any such ship, vessel or water craft according to the scale of wages agreed upon, and that all agreements entered into with said laborers and each of them in respect to the loading and unloading of said water craft, as above mentioned, will be faithfully and truly performed, which bond shall be approved by the county clerk of the county in which said contracting stevedore is pursuing said business or occupation and by him shall be filed and recorded. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7150d. Bond and license in each county, etc.; suits on bond.—The bond and license hereinafter provided for shall be made in each county in which said contracting stevedore pursues said occupation, in which county suits may be maintained upon such bond by any person to whom wages are due and unpaid for such labor as is hereinbefore mentioned; provided, that the same shall not become free upon the first recovery, but may be sued upon until the full amount thereof is exhausted, or suits sufficient to exhaust the bond or [are] pending, and when so exhausted said contracting stevedore shall make and file a new bond in amount and conditioned as provided for the first, and his failure so to do shall render him amendable [amenable] to prosecution as if no bond had ever been given in the first instance. [Id. sec. 4.]

Art. 7150e. License, how granted.—Said contracting stevedore shall, before beginning business as before stated, file his application in writing for a license to pursue the occupation of a contracting stevedore for the county mentioned, and on approval of the bond hereinbefore provided for by the county clerk and payment of a license fee of five dollars the clerk shall grant to him a license to pursue said occupation upon such form as the county commissioners court may designate, the said license fee to be paid into the general fund of the county. [Id. sec. 5.]

Art. 7150f. New bonds and licenses; time within which to qualify,—Said contracting stevedore shall be and he is hereby required to execute a new bond and to obtain the issuance of a new license at the expiration of each year from the former, every two years from the issuance of the former license, and all contracting stevedores who may be engaged in the occupation herein defined at any port, sub-port or other place where ships, vessels or water crafts are loaded or unloaded, at the time this law becomes effective, shall have thirty days from and after the going into effect of this law to qualify thereunder by executing the bond and obtaining the license as required herein. [Id. sec. 6.]
STOCK LAWS

CHAPTER ONE OF MARKS AND BRANDS

Article 7151. [4921] Owners of stock to have mark and brand.—Every person who has cattle, hogs, sheep or goats shall have an ear mark and brand differing from the ear mark and brand of his neighbors, which ear mark and brand shall be recorded by the clerk of the county court where such cattle, hogs, sheep or goats shall be; and no person shall use more than one brand, but may record his brand in as many counties as he may think necessary. [Act March 20, 1848, p. 156, sec. 1. P. D. 4655.]

Constitutional and statutory provisions.—Acts 1874, c. 37 (House Bill No. 16), provides by section 20 that the place on the animal on which the brand should be burned should be designated, but section 44 exempted certain counties. Held that, under Const. 1869, art. 12, § 18, providing that no law shall be revised or amended by reference to its title, but in such cases the act revised or section amended shall be re-enacted and published at length, chapter 108 of the acts of the same session, which provided that House Bill No. 16 should apply to the exempted counties, is invalid and these articles remain in force in the exempted counties. Dugat v. State (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 789.

Article 7152. [4922] County brands.—The several counties in this state shall have a brand for horses and cattle, said brand to be known and designated as the "county brand." The county brand of each county in the state shall be as follows:

Art. 7153. [4923] Owner may put county brand on his stock.—The owners of all horses and cattle, in addition to their private brand, may place said county brand on all horses and cattle owned by them, and shall be placed upon the neck of all animals so branded. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7154. [4924] When stock removed from county may be counterbranded.—Whenever any horses or cattle branded with the county brand are removed to another county, the owners of such stock may counterbrand with said county brand, and a bar under said county brand shall be used and known as the “county brand,” and when so counterbranded the brand of the county in which said stock may be newly located may be placed on said stock. [Id. sec. 4.]

Effect of new brand.—Though the statute provides that an individual shall have but one mark and brand for his cattle, yet, if cattle be removed by the owner from a county in which his brand is recorded, and for any reason he causes to be recorded a different brand in the county to which the cattle are removed, the new brand does not invalidate the old one, nor deprive the owner of any benefit accruing from its registration. McClure v. Sheck’s Heirs, 68 T. 426, 4 S. W. 552.

Art. 7155. [4925] Secretary of state to furnish lists of brands.—It shall be the duty of the secretary of state to furnish a printed list of the county brands to the county clerks of this state, who shall securely post the same in their office. [Id. sec. 7.]

Art. 7156. [4926] Brands of minors.—Minors owning cattle or hogs, separate from that of the father or guardian, may have a brand and mark, which shall be recorded; the father or guardian shall be responsible for the proper use of such mark and brand of any such minor. [Acts 1848, p. 156. P. D. 4600.]

Minors.—Ever since 1848 we have had a statute in Texas providing that minors owning live stock shall be held responsible for the proper use of such mark and brand. Coke & Reardon v. Ikard, 39 C. A. 406, 87 S. W. 889.

Art. 7157. [4927] When stock to be branded.—Cattle shall be marked with the ear mark of the owner on or before they are twelve months old; hogs, sheep and goats shall be marked with the ear mark of the owner on or before they are six months old. [Id. sec. 2. P. D. 4656.]

Art. 7158. [4928] Disputes, how settled.—If any dispute shall arise about any ear mark or brand, it shall be decided by reference to the book of marks and brands kept by the clerk of the county court, and the ear mark and brand of the oldest date shall have the preference. [Id. sec. 3. P. D. 4657.]

Art. 7159. [4929] Marks and brands to be recorded.—It shall be the duty of the clerks of the county courts in their respective counties to keep a well-bound book, in which they shall record the marks or brands of each individual who may apply to them for that purpose, noting in every instance the date on which the brand or mark is recorded; which record shall be subject to the examination of every citizen of the county at all reasonable office hours, free of charge for such examination. [Id. sec. 4. P. D. 4658.]

Certificate of record.—A certificate of the county clerk of Y. county to a copy taken from the record of marks and brands was as follows: “The State of Texas, County of Young, I, Chas G. Jolin, clerk of the county court in and for said county, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the record and brand of Wilkins Bros.” Held, in a criminal case, sufficient to show that the mark and brand was recorded in Young county. Byrd v. State, 26 T. 374, 9 S. W. 769; Thompson v. State, 26 T. 446, 9 S. W. 766.

Evidence of ownership.—See Art. 7160.

Art. 7160. [4930] Unrecorded brands no evidence; proviso.—No brands, except such as are recorded by the officers named in this chapter, shall be recognized in law as any evidence of the ownership of the cattle, horses or mules, upon which the same may be used; provided, that this shall not apply in criminal cases. [Acts 1848, p. 156, sec. 5. P. D. 4659. Acts 1913, p. 129, sec. 1, amending Art. 7160, Rev. St. 1911.]

Recorded brands as evidence.—The record of marks and brands is evidence and notice of title. Poag v. State, 40 T. 151; Allen v. State, 42 T. 517; Schneider v. Fowler, 1 App. C. C. § 856. See Art. 7169.

The record of a mark and brand, in the county where the stock is found to be, is constructive notice of title to the stock in person in whose name the mark and brand is recorded. Schneider v. Fowler, 1 App. C. C. § 856.

The owner of stock had his brand recorded in T. county, where he then lived. Afterward the stock ran in T. and C. counties and in an adjoining county. It was held that the record of the brand in T. county was evidence of ownership of stock stolen in C. county. Thompson v. State, 26 T. 466, 9 S. W. 768.

A parcel sale of a recorded mark and brand is as effectual to pass the title as would a verbal transfer of real estate, which is likewise governed exclusively by statutory provisions. Rankin v. Bell, 85 T. 28, 19 S. W. 874.

The record of a second brand while the first remains unadjudicated is not admissible to prove ownership of the cattle branded. Unsell v. State, 29 Cr. R. 330, 45 S. W. 1032.

Where a brand is recorded in one county it can be used as evidence in any other county. Walton v. State, 41 Cr. R. 454, 55 S. W. 568.

Under this article a brand properly recorded is, in a prosecution for theft of cattle, evidence of ownership. Dugat v. State (Cr. App.) 148 S. W. 789.

Unrecorded brands as evidence.—Under Art. 3988, providing that no gift of chattels shall be valid unless by deed or will, duly acknowledged and recorded, unless actual possession be taken and retained by the donee, and this article, no title passed to cattle which were branded with a peculiar brand by the owner, pursuant to his express intention that they and their issue should belong to his niece where the latter never had actual possession of the cattle which continued to run on the donor’s range and to be looked after him, and the brand was not recorded. Eldridge v. McDow (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 518.

In a prosecution for the theft of a cow, an unrecorded brand cannot be introduced to establish ownership. Powers v. State (Cr. App.) 152 S. W. 909.

Identification.—Cattle can be identified by unrecorded marks. Gregory v. Nunn (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 1053.

A brand not recorded in accordance with the requirements of the statute is not admissible in evidence to identify an animal in a prosecution for theft. Steed v. State, 43 Cr. R. 667, 67 S. W. 330.

Mistake in registration.—The fact that a registered stallion sold as such was by mistake deregistered from the stud book as having a star, when he had none, would not damage the purchaser beyond the cost of correcting the mistake in registration, in absence of special damage. National State Bank of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, v. Ricketts (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 416.

PROTECTION OF LIVE STOCK

Art. 7161. Inspection for glanders, etc.
Art. 7162. Report to county judge, duty of inspector.
Art. 7163. Condemned animals to be killed.
Art. 7164. Payment for animals killed, fee, etc.
Art. 7165. Law cumulative.
Art. 7166. Bounties for killing certain animals.
Art. 7167. Scalars and affidavits, etc., to be presented to commissioners' court.

Art. 7168. Scalp defined; powers and duties of court, etc.
Art. 7168a. Court to make statement; duties of comptroller and county treasurer.
Art. 7168b. Laws repealed; trespass not permitted.
Art. 7168c. Appropriation.
Art. 7169. [Superseded].

Article 7161. [4931] County judge to order inspection when glanders, etc., exist.—If at any time it shall come to the knowledge of any county judge of any county in this state, by affidavit of any credible citizen of his county, stating that affiant has reason to believe and does believe that glanders or farcy exists among any horses, mules, jacks or jennets in said county, naming owner or owners of such animal or animals so infected, if known, if unknown, so stating, it shall be the duty of such county judge, upon the filing of said affidavit, to immediately appoint three disinterested and intelligent citizens of said county, whose duty it shall be to carefully and minutely examine said animal or animals so reported to be diseased with glanders or farcy; said three citizens, before entering upon the duties required of them by this chapter, shall take an oath before some officer legally qualified to administer oaths that they will discharge their duties as prescribed by this chapter in a fair and impartial manner. [Acts 1892, S. S., p. 11, sec. 1.]

Fees of Inspectors.—See Title 58, Chapter 3.

Constitutionality.—Title 124, c. 2, providing for appraisal and destruction of diseased horses, held constitutional. Chambers v. Gilbert, 17 C. A. 106, 43 S. W. 630.

This article and Arts. 7162, 7163 and 7164 are not in conflict with art. 1, sec. 17 of the constitution, because they do not amount to the taking of property for public use. Livingston v. Ellis County, 30 C. A. 18, 88 S. W. 724.

Art. 7162. [4932] Report of county judge; duty of inspector.—If, after carefully and minutely examining the animal or animals so reported to be affected with glanders or farcy, said three citizens shall be of the opinion that the animal or animals so examined by them are diseased with glanders or farcy, they shall condemn the same; and it shall be their duty to appraise such animal or animals at their just and full value at the time of such examination and condemnation, and shall forthwith report their action in writing to the county judge, giving in said report the number of animals condemned, if any, the owner or owners of same if known, and if unknown so stating it, with the appraised value of same. But if the said citizens have any reasonable doubt as to the diseased animals being affected with glanders or farcy, before condemning as above provided for, they shall require the owner or owners to have said diseased animals separated from contact with all other animals subject to contagion, for a reasonable time; and, when they are fully satisfied that the disease is glanders or farcy, then they shall proceed to condemn and destroy said animals as provided for in this article. [Id. sec. 2.]

Report of commissioners.—The report of commissioners appointed by the county judge to appraise horses afflicted with glanders held not objectionable, as not returning the value of the animals as diseased. Maynard v. Freeman ( Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 234.

Art. 7163. [4933] Condemned animals killed.—The county judge, upon the receipt of the report named in the preceding article, shall issue his order to the sheriff or any constable of his county, commanding him to seize said diseased animal or animals and take same to some secluded place and kill them and bury or burn the carcass. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7164. [4934] Payment for animals killed; fee, etc.—After said animal or animals are killed, as provided in the preceding article, the party owning such animal or animals so killed may present his claim to the commissioners' court of the county where said animal or animals were killed, for the value of such animal or animals at the time the same were killed (if such animal or animals had any value); and the amount of such claim, or so much thereof as may be allowed by said court, shall be paid out of the general revenue of the county, as other claims against such county. The sheriff or constable killing, burying or burning said animal or animals shall be paid by the county such sum as the commissioners' court thereof may determine the service worth. [Id. sec. 4. Amended Acts 1899, p. 303.]

Art. 7165. [4935] Law cumulative.—This law is cumulative of all other laws now in force for the prevention of glanders and farcy. [Acts 1892, S. S., p. 11, sec. 6.]

Art. 7166. [4936] Bounties for killing certain animals.—That hereafter when any person shall kill in this state any coyote, lobo or other wolf, panther, Mexican lion, tiger, leopard or wild cat, he shall be paid the sum of five ($5.00) dollars for each lobo wolf, or grey or timber wolf, panther, Mexican lion, tiger or leopard, and the sum of one ($1.00) dollar for each coyote wolf, and one ($1.00) dollar for each wild cat so killed. [Acts 1903, p. 113, sec. 1. Acts 1911, p. 44, sec. 1.]

Constitutionality.—The provision for the payment of bounties for the destruction of animals is constitutional. Weaver v. Scurry County (Civ. App.) 28 S. W. 836.

This chapter does not conflict with the constitution that forbids the legislature, cities or counties from granting public moneys to individuals. Chambers v. Gilbert, 17 C. A. 110, 42 S. W. 630.

Art. 7167. [4937] Scalps and affidavit, etc., to be presented to commissioners' court.—The scalps of said animals killed shall be presented by the person or persons having killed said animals in person to the commissioners court of the county in which said animal or animals were killed, accompanied by a written affidavit before the county judge of said county, or any other officer authorized to administer oaths, stating when and where he killed said animal, and the kind of each, that affiant in person and no other killed said animal or animals. [Acts 1903, p. 113, sec. 2. Acts 1911, p. 44, sec. 2.]

Art. 7168. [4938] Scalp defined; powers and duties of court, etc.—Such scalp shall consist of the entire hide of said animal, including the scalp and both ears, so that the court may sufficiently identify the class of animals so killed; the court may in all cases when it is not satisfied as to the sufficiency of the evidence before it under this Act reject any and all claims. The commissioners court shall immediately take and pass upon said hide, slit both ears of said hide, and may return same to the owner; but in no case shall any commissioners court in this state be authorized under this Act to issue warrant for bounty on any hide when presented with either ear of same disfigured in the least, cut, slit or any defect whatsoever. Both ears must be absolutely whole, and such commissioners court shall issue certificate signed by at least three members of said court, and attested by the signature of the clerk of said court, and under the seal of said court, showing the kind of animals killed and the number of each, and the name of the party who killed same, and the amount due such party. The clerk of the court shall issue a warrant on the county treasury for the amount specified, and payable to the order of the party named in such certificate. [Acts 1903, p. 113, sec. 3. Acts 1911, p. 44, sec. 3.]

Art. 7168a. Court to make statement; duties of comptroller and county treasurer.—It shall be the duty of the commissioners court of the several counties of this state, at each regular session of each year, to make an itemized statement, showing the several amounts paid, to whom and when paid, by order of said court under this provision of this Act; said statement shall be entered upon the minutes of said court, and a certified copy of each statement shall be entered upon the minutes of said court, and a certified copy of such statement shall be transmitt-
CHAPTER THREE OF THE SALE, SLAUGHTER AND SHIPMENT OF ANIMALS

Article 7170. [4940] Bill of sale to be always taken.—Upon the sale, alienation or transfer of any horse, mare, mule, gelding, colt, jack, jennet, cow, calf, ox, or beef steer by any person in this state, the actual delivery of such animals shall be accompanied by a written transfer from the vendor, or party selling, to the purchaser, giving the number, marks and brands of each animal sold and delivered. [Act Nov. 13, 1866, p. 223, sec. 1. P. D. 7445.]

See Hughes v. State (Cr. App.) 149 S. W. 173.

Application.—For a sale of live stock running at large in the range, a bill of sale is required by the statutes as evidence of title, and in default of it the prima facie presumption obtains that the possession by one claiming to be a purchaser is illegal. If the live stock consists of cattle running at large, a bill of sale and record thereof are absolutely prerequisite to the acquisition of title; and if the instrument be not recorded it does not take effect in favor of any one for any purpose. Black v. Vaughan, 70 T. 47, 7 S. W. 604.

It follows that a parol transfer of cattle in the range is a nullity; but it does not follow that a parol agreement to transfer in the manner prescribed by the statute is void, if founded upon a valid consideration and unmixed with fraud. An agreement in parol to transfer stock cattle on the range, if founded upon valuable consideration, may be enforced. Prude v. Campbell, 85 T. 4, 19 S. W. 880.

These provisions do not apply to a sale without the limits of this state where actual possession passed and the cattle were brought into this state. Pt. W. Nat. Bank v. Daugherty, 81 T. 301, 16 S. W. 1028.

Removal after bill of sale.—Where a bill of sale is properly made and registered in the county of the residence of the parties, the removal of the stock to another county does not defeat the sale. Blum v. Light, 81 T. 414, 16 S. W. 1090.

Transfer by parol.—A parol agreement to transfer stock cattle on the range, founded upon a sufficient consideration, may be enforced. Prude v. Campbell, 85 T. 4, 19 S. W. 890.

Actual delivery.—The title to property passes on purchase and delivery without a bill of sale, when the purchase is bona fide, upon sufficient consideration, and no evasion of the law is intended. Wells v. Littlefield, 59 T. 556.

Sale of stock running loose on the range, not in writing and not accompanied by actual delivery, is void. Black v. Vaughan, 70 T. 50, 7 S. W. 604; Bank v. Emery, 78 T. 498, 15
Art. 7170  STOCK LAWS

— Diligence.—On the sale of cattle by marks and brands in number "more or less," the vendor must use that skill, energy and diligence in delivering that a good business man would use. Day v. Cross, 55 T. 596.

— Damages for nondelivery.—In a contract for the delivery of cattle, the purchase money not being paid, the measure of damages for failure to deliver is the difference between the contract and market price at the time and place of delivery with interest to the time of trial. Day v. Cross, 59 T. 596.

Sale of stock.—Facts held to show title in defendant to cattle taken possession of in satisfaction of previous advances to buyer. Wilson v. Carroll (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 222.

Evidence held to show that title to cattle passed to plaintiff on his passing on them as merchantable and defendant's tender of delivery. Maud v. Copplinger, 23 C. A. 128, 54 S. W. 137.

Where the bill of sale of cattle clearly passed the title, if the seller owned them at the time of sale the intent of the parties was immaterial. Eldridge v. McDow, 46 C. A. 578, 102 S. W. 435.

A buyer of an animal having no market value held entitled to relief without returning or tendering a return thereof. Partridge v. Wooton (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 412.

Where one purchased, paid for, and secured possession of a horse, he acquired title, though a bill of sale of the horse was issued to another as security for money borrowed to pay the seller. Barnett v. Ward (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 637.

Without possession and possession of a horse passed as consideration for contract which was breached, held, that subsequent purchasers could not be held as for conversion, though the horse was fraudulently sold to them. Ross v. Head (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1077.

Rights and liabilities on sale of diseased stock.—Where plaintiff bought diseased hogs from defendant, who represented them as sound, plaintiff held entitled to rescind the sale. McKee v. Carter v. Cole (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 269.

Plaintiff was not entitled to recover the consideration paid for hogs, where the hogs were not diseased at time of sale, but began to die soon after. Cole v. Carter, 22 C. A. 457, 54 S. W. 914.

Plaintiff was not entitled to recover consideration paid for diseased hogs, if he bought them on his own judgment after a personal inspection. Id.

Evidence held to justify a finding that a horse was diseased at the time he was sold with warranty of health. Robinson v. Snow (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 328.

In an action for breach of warranty of soundness of a horse, a charge that if, though warranted sound and proven unsound, the vendee could have discovered the defect on examination, the vendor was not liable, held error. McAfee v. Meadows, 32 C. A. 106, 75 S. W. 813.

Where plaintiff charged defendant with knowingly selling him a gandered horse, defendant's liability depended on his knowledge that the horse was diseased. Griffin v. Al- lison (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1088.

Where defendant sold hogs infected with cholera, represented that they were sound, and the buyer relied on the representation and gave a note for the price, which the seller transferred to a bona fide purchaser, the seller was liable to the buyer on the death of the hogs soon after the purchase. Terrell v. Landrum (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 647.

Sellar's failure to furnish registration papers.—Where the seller of cattle agreed to furnish registration papers, and failed to do so within a reasonable time, there was a breach of the contract entitling the seller to damages. Miller v. Mosely (Civ. App.) 91 S. W. 648.

Where the seller of cattle failed to deliver registration papers as agreed, the purchaser was entitled to nominal damages. Id.

Where the seller of cattle failed to furnish registration papers as agreed, he could not justify his breach on the ground that the purchaser should have procured the papers from other sources. Id.

In action for breach of contract whereby the seller of cattle agreed to deliver registration papers, the measure of damages determined. Id.

Conversion.—Facts held to constitute a conversion of plaintiff's cattle by defendant. Uvalde Nat. Bank v. Dockery (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 29.

Evidence held insufficient to sustain a finding as to the number of plaintiff's cattle converted by defendant. Id.

Art. 7171. [4941] Possession prima facie illegal, without.—Upon the trial of the right of property of any animal, such as is mentioned in the preceding article, in any court of this state, the possession of such animal without the written transfer therein specified shall be deemed prima facie illegal. [Id.]

Rebuttal of presumption.—The presumption of the illegality of such sale may be rebutted. Swan v. Larkin, 9 C. A. 421, 28 S. W. 217.

Art. 7172. [4942] Stock animals sold by mark and brand, etc.—Persons may dispose of stock animals of the kind mentioned in article 7170, as they run in the range, by the sale and delivery of the brands and marks; but in every such sale the purchaser, in order to acquire title thereto, shall have his conveyance or bill of sale of such stock recorded in the county clerk's office, in a book to be kept by him for that purpose; and such sale or transfer shall be noted on the record of original marks and brands in the name of the vendee or purchaser. [Id.]

Application of law.—This article does not apply where the vendee named in the bill of sale not recorded has received and actually taken possession of the cattle, since a court of equity under such circumstances will require the purchaser to do equity without regard to defects attending the attempted transmission of title. Panhandle Nat. Bank v. Smery, 78 T. 498, 16 S. W. 23.

This provision does not apply to a judicial sale of cattle on the range, and the title of a purchaser is not defeated by the fact that the bill of sale is not so executed as to entitle it to record stock. Holloway v. Cabell, 3 C. A. 330, 22 S. W. 551.

This article does not apply to a sale of cattle which the vendor has placed in a pasture and designates in the sale by number and brand. Nance v. Barber, 7 C. A. 111, 26 S. W. 161.

As to sale of stock by brand, see Scofield v. Douglass (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 817; Swan v. Larkin, 28 S. W. 217, 8 C. A. 421.

By statute, title to cattle running on the range passes by sale of the mark and brand.

— Record.—A written transfer of cattle, accompanied by an actual delivery, is not required to be recorded under this article. Boutwell v. Hiltpold, 4 App. C. C. § 65, 15 S. W. 601.

Horses on range.—Horses on the range rounded up and under control of a herder are not within the purview of this article. Scofield v. Douglass (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 817.

Sale and actual delivery.—Without selling the mark and brand it is competent to prove a sale and actual delivery of branded cattle, not including the whole of the stock so branded; but such sale passes no title to the brand as evidence of title. Rankin v. Bell, 86 T. 28, 19 S. W. 874.

A verbal sale of cattle running at large, following by reduction to possession, is valid against a subsequent attachment against the vendor. Davis v. National Bank, 7 C. A. 41, 26 S. W. 222.

A sale by brands and marks by an unrecorded bill of sale, where there is a delivery of possession with intent to convey the stock only, without any right to the brand, is valid. Rainwater-Boogher Hat Co. v. O’Neal, 7 C. A. 242, 26 S. W. 492.

Art. 7173. [4943] Butchers to report to commissioners’ court.—

Every person in this state engaged in the slaughter and sale of animals for market shall make a regular report, under oath, to the county commissioners’ court of the county, giving the number, color, age, marks and brands of every animal slaughtered, which report shall be made to each regular meeting of the court, and be filed with and kept on file by the county clerk for the inspection of any one interested. Each report shall be accompanied by the bill of sale or written conveyance to the butcher for every animal that he has purchased for slaughter, and, if any of the animals slaughtered have been raised by himself, it shall be so stated in the report. Said butcher’s report so made to the commissioners’ court may be destroyed within the discretion of the county clerk after a period of six years. [Id. p. 224, sec. 3. P. D. 6557. Amended Acts 1907, p. 239.]

Power of cities to regulate butchers.—See Title 22, Chapter 4.

Art. 7174. Butchers to register with county clerk.—Before engaging in the business of slaughter and sale of animals for market, every person, firm, or corporation desiring to so engage, must first register his name, or their names, with the county clerk, indicating their purpose to engage in such business; and upon failure to so first register their names they may be punished as provided for in the Penal Code for this offense; provided, nothing in this law shall be construed to apply to slaughter houses in this state slaughtering as many as three hundred cattle per day. [Acts 1907, p. 239.]

Art. 7175. [4944] Bill of sale and description to be recorded before driving.—Any person who shall purchase animals of any class named in article 7170, for the purpose of driving to market out of the county where purchased, or out of the state, shall, before moving the animals out of the county where purchased, deposit with the clerk of the county court, for record, a bill of sale and correct list of the number, marks, brands and kind of animals, signed and acknowledged by the vendor or vendors, which, together with the postoffice or place of abode of the vendee, shall be recorded in the book kept by the clerk for that purpose, and with his certificate of record, under seal attached, shall be returned to the purchaser upon payment of the recording fees. [Id. pp. 223, 224, sec. 2.  P. D. 6556.]

Art. 7176. [4945] Owners to file sworn descriptive lists.—Persons intending to drive stock raised by themselves to market out of the county where raised, or out of the state, shall, before driving, deposit with the clerk of the county court for record a correct list of such animals, with a particular description of their marks and brands, verified by their own affidavit; which list the county clerk shall record and certify, as in other cases of registration, and return to the owner. [Id. p. 224, sec. 2.]

Art. 7177. [4946] Register of cattle shipped or slaughtered to be kept.—The commanders or agents of all vessels, and the agents of all railroads on which cattle are exported from the state, and the proprietors or agents of all establishments for the slaughter of cattle within the state, shall keep a register of all cattle shipped or slaughtered, with the marks, brands and general description of such animals, and the names of the persons shipping or selling the same, the dates of their shipments or purchase, and the county from which they were driven. [Act Sept. 5, 1850, p. 27, sec. 1.  P. D. 460.]

Art. 7178. [4947] County clerk to make a copy.—Such register shall be deposited with the clerk of the county court of the county where the cattle were shipped or slaughtered on the first day of each month; and such clerk shall at once copy the same in a well-bound book to be kept for that purpose, and return the original to the party depositing it. The record kept by the county clerk shall be open at all times to public inspection without charge. [Id. sec. 2.  P. D. 461.]

Art. 7179. [4948] Butchers' bond, etc.—Every person, before he shall set up and carry on the trade of a butcher or slaughterer of cattle in the state of Texas, shall file a bond, to be approved by the county judge of the county in which he desires to carry on the business, in a sum of not less than five hundred dollars nor more than five thousand dollars, payable to the state of Texas, conditioned that he shall keep a true and faithful record, in a book kept for that purpose, of all cattle purchased or slaughtered by him, with a description of the animal, including marks, brands, age, weight, and from whom purchased, and the date thereof; that he will have the hide and ears of such animal inspected by the inspector or some magistrate of the county within five days after it is slaughtered; and that he will not purchase any cattle that has been slaughtered by another, unless the hide and ears of such slaughtered animal accompanies said animal offered for sale; and that he will not purchase any animal that has been slaughtered by another when the ear marks or brands on the hide accompanying such animal when offered for sale have been changed, mutilated or destroyed. [Acts 1889, p. 84.]

Change in law.—Art. 7305, exempting Mitchell county from the operation of Arts. 7255 et seq., relating to the inspection of hides and animals, did not repeal as to such county Penal Code, art. 1364 et seq., originally taken from this article, relating to the sale, slaughter, and shipment of animals, which article of the Penal Code requires the filing of a bond with the county clerk by one carrying on the business of a butcher and slaughterer of animals for market. Grable v. State, 62 Cr. R. 108, 138 S. W. 775.

Art. 7180. [4949] Shall keep a record, etc.—Every person who shall carry on the business of butcher or slaughterer of cattle shall keep a true and faithful record, in a book kept for that purpose, of all cattle purchased or slaughtered by him, together with a description of each animal, including mark, brand, age, weight and from whom purchased and the date thereof, and shall have the hide and ears of such animal or animals inspected by the inspector or some magistrate of the county within five days after such animal is slaughtered. [Id. sec. 3.]
CHAPTER FOUR OF ESTRAYS

Art. 7185. [4954] Who may take up stray animals.
Art. 7186. Oath, appraisement and bond.
Art. 7187. Ownership, how proved.
Art. 7188. Proof of respectability, when.
Art. 7189. When take up not entitled to compensation.
Art. 7190. Estrays not to be used until.
Art. 7191. When county commissioners to return.
Art. 7192. County clerk to record papers, etc.
Art. 7193. Two or more animals to be in one entry.
Art. 7194. Clerk to advertise.
Art. 7195. Property in estrays, etc.
Art. 7196. Return of sale.

Article 7185. [4954] Who may take up stray animal, etc.—Hereafter when any stray horse, mare, gelding, filly, colt, mule, jack, jennet or work ox shall be found on the plantation or land of any citizen or his lessee for one year or more, such citizen or lessee may forthwith advertise the same (describing the animal's color and specifying the marks and brands, if any, also, giving the age and flesh marks of every kind) at three public places in the county in which such citizen resides, one of which notices shall be at the court house door, for at least twenty days, and shall also deliver to the clerk of the county court a copy of said notice which shall be by him securely posted up in his office; after the expiration of which time, if no owner apply, it shall be the duty of the take-up of said animal or animals to appear before some justice of the peace in said county and estray the same. [Act Oct. 26, 1866, p. 54. P. D. 6810.]

Art. 7186. [4955] Oath, appraisement and bond.—Any citizen, entitled to estray any animal, as provided in the preceding article, shall make oath that the animal which he proposes to estray was taken upon his plantation, or on his lands adjoining the same; that the marks and brands thereof have not been altered or disfigured since the same was taken up; that notice has been given as the law requires, and that no owner has been found; which affidavit shall be sworn to and subscribed by the person estraying, and attested by the justice and filed; whereupon the said justice shall cause to appear before him, by summons or otherwise, two disinterested householders of his county, who are in no way related to the person estraying, commanding them, after being sworn, to value and appraise the same and certify the valuation, together with a particular description of the animal, including stature, marks, brands, color and age, under oath, which shall be attested by said justice, who shall thereupon require of the take-up a bond, with two or more good and sufficient sureties, in double the value of such animal or animals, payable to the county judge of the county and his successors in office, conditioned that the take-up shall comply with the provisions of this chapter, which bond, affidavit and appraisement shall be transmitted by such justice to the clerk of the county court within twenty days thereafter, for which said justice shall receive the same fees that are allowed for similar services by law. [Act Oct. 26, 1866. P. D. 6811.]

Art. 7187. [4956] Ownership, how proven, etc.—At any time within twelve months, and before the sale of any estrays, it shall be lawful for the owner of any estray animal enumerated in the first article of this chapter to prove his property by the affidavit of any respectable witness, which shall specify a particular description of the animal claimed, including the kind, marks, brands, stature, color and age of the same, which certificate may be sworn to and subscribed before any officer authorized by law to administer oaths in the county where such animal may have been estrayed, which certificate shall be delivered to the take-up and by him filed in the office of the county clerk of such county, and on the delivery of such certificate and the payment of all costs incurred in posting such estray or estrays, to the take-up, such owner shall be entitled to demand and receive the animal. [Id. P. D. 6812.]

Art. 7188. [4957] Proof of respectability, when required.—When the respectability of the witness named in the preceding article is not known to the officer administering the oath, the party claiming the estray shall produce satisfactory evidence of the respectability of such witness, certified to by a notary public, county clerk or county judge of the county in which such witness resides. [Id.]

Art. 7189. [4958] When take-up not entitled to compensation.—If the owner of any animal which has been estrayed in accordance with the provisions of this chapter be a resident citizen of the county in which such animal has been estrayed, and shall have had his mark and brand recorded in said county, and the animal so estrayed shall be in the mark and brand of the owner at the time it was taken up, then and in that case the taker-up shall not be entitled to receive any compensation for expense incurred in estraying said animal. [Id.]

Art. 7190. [4959] Estray not to be used until, etc.—Any animal taken up as an estray according to the provisions of the preceding articles shall not be used for any purpose whatsoever until the party taking up such animal shall have given bond as required by article 7186. [Id. P. D. 6810.]

Art. 7191. [4960] When county commissioner to return estrays.—If any estray of any kind shall be found running at large and not estrayed, and the owner of the same be unknown, it shall be the duty of the county commissioners, or any of them, to return the same, with a full description thereof, to the county clerk of their respective counties, who shall advertise the same in the manner specified in this chapter, and if such animal shall not be proven away by the owner within the time allowed by law the commissioner returning the same, or his successor in office, shall proceed to sell such animal and report the sale thereof to the clerk of the county court, and after paying the clerk’s fee and retaining twenty per cent of the proceeds of such sale, he shall pay the remaining sum into the county treasury. [Id. P. D. 6813.]

Art. 7192. [4961] County clerk to record papers.—It shall be the duty of the clerk of the county court to record the papers transmitted to him, as provided in article 4571 [7186] in a separate book, to be kept by him for that purpose, for which he shall be entitled to demand and receive the same fees that are allowed by law for similar services, to be paid in all cases by the taker-up. [Id. P. D. 6814.]

Art. 7193. [4962] Two or more animals to be in one entry.—When two or more animals are taken up at the same time by the same person, they shall be included in the same entry, and no more fees (including fees for posting and advertising hereinafter mentioned) shall be charged than is allowed by law for one such animal. [Id.]

Claim satisfied by proceeds of one.—Allegations of a petition in an action for the wrongful sale of mares by a city poundkeeper, showing that two mares belonging to plaintiff were advertised together and one expense account made out against both, and that the first one sold for enough to pay off the city's entire claim, sufficiently showed an illegal sale of the second mare as against a general demurrer. Bell v. City of San Angelo (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1195.

Art. 7194. [4963] Clerk to advertise, etc.—The clerk of the county court shall cause a statement of the appraisement and a description of the animals so estrayed to be advertised at least three times in some newspaper published in the county where such animal was estrayed, if there be one; and if there be no newspaper published in the county, then the clerk shall cause the same to be advertised in the newspaper nearest to the county, and also by posting up notices at three public places in the county, one of which shall be at the court house door thereof; and the printer of such notice shall furnish the said clerk with a copy of the paper containing said notice, and it shall be the duty of the said clerk to file and preserve the same in his office for the inspection of all persons who may be interested; and for such publication the printer shall be entitled to receive from the party estraying the same the sum of two dollars, to be collected by the county clerk and paid to the order of the printer. [Id.]

Art. 7195. [4964] Property in estrays, etc., sales, etc.—The property of every stray horse, mare, gelding, filly, colt, mule, jack, jennet or work ox taken up as aforesaid and not proven away within twelve months after such appraisement shall be deemed vested in the county wherein such estray or estrays may have been posted, and the taker-up shall immediately thereafter proceed to sell the same for cash to the highest bidder at the court house door of the county, after giving notice of the same as required in the case of sheriffs' sales; and within ten days after such sale, he shall, after deducting the expenses incurred in estraying said animals, pay into the county treasury seventy-five per cent of the proceeds of the same, and retain the other twenty-five per cent for his own use and benefit. [Id. P. D. 6815.]

Art. 7196. [4965] Return of sale.—Whenever a sale of an estray shall be made according to the provisions of the preceding article, the taker-up shall make a return of such sale, duly sworn to by him, to the clerk of the county court of the county in which the sale was made, who shall file the same in his office. [Id.]

Art. 7197. [4966] Sales made on first Monday.—All sales of estrays, horses, mares, fillies, geldings, colts, mules, jennets or work oxen shall be made on the first Monday in the month, and between the hours of one and three o'clock p. m. of said day. [Id.]

Art. 7198. [4967] Hogs, sheep, etc., how estrayed, etc.—Any citizen taking up any stray hogs, sheep, goats or cattle, other than work oxen, shall proceed in the same manner as is required in the case of horses, etc., except advertising in a newspaper; and any person estraying the same, at the expiration of six months from the day of appraisement, shall proceed to give notice as in the case of sheriffs' or constables' sales, and sell such estrays where they were taken up; provided, there be not less than three adult bidders in attendance at said sale, beside the family of the taker-up. [Id. P. D. 6816.]

Art. 7199. [4968] Not to be estrayed until after four months.—No animal enumerated in article 7198, except work oxen, shall be subject to be estrayed, unless the same shall have been known to the taker-up as being an estray for at least four months previous to the time of estraying the same. [Id. Amended Acts 1899, p. 234.]

Art. 7200. [4969] Names of bidders to be given.—In making the returns of sales under this title, when the sale has been made at the residence of the taker-up or other place than at the court house door of the county, the taker-up shall, in all cases, give the names of at least three of the bidders who were present at said sale, who were not members of his family. [Acts 1866, p. 54. P. D. 6817.]

Number of persons present.—The sale of an estray is illegal when there are less than three persons present bidding besides the family of the person estraying the animal. Floyd v. State (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 631.

Art. 7201. [4970] Taker-up liable for damages, when.—If any person estraying an animal enumerated in this chapter shall send or take away the same out of the county in which the same was taken up and estrayed, or sell or otherwise dispose of the same, he and his sureties shall be liable upon their bond in an action for damages in favor of the party injured. [Id. P. D. 6818.]

Art. 7202. [4971] Taker-up may use, when.—The taker-up of an estray may use the same in moderation, after having executed bond as provided in article 7186, but should he abuse or injure the same he and his sureties shall be liable upon his bond in damages for such abuse or injury, and may be sued therefor by the owner for his own use, or by the county judge for the use of the county.

Art. 7203. [4972] Death, etc., of estray to be reported.—Whenever an estray animal shall be found dead, or shall escape, the taker-up shall, without delay, make report thereof, in writing, to the clerk of the county court, under oath; which report shall be recorded by said clerk in a book to be kept by him for that purpose; and any person who shall make a false report shall be liable on his bond, together with his sureties, for the value of the animal or animals estrayed; and shall also be liable to be indicted and punished as for perjury. [Id. P. D. 6819. P. C. 188.]
Art. 7204. [4973] Proceeds of sale, how disposed of.—All moneys arising from the sales of estrays, under the provisions of this chapter, shall be paid to the county treasurer, and shall be by him applied exclusively to the jury fund of the county. [Id. P. D. 6820.]

Stray accounts.—See Title 29, Chapter 1.

Art. 7205. [4974] If take-up refuse to deliver, liable for damages.—If any person having in charge an estray shall refuse to deliver the same to the owner thereof, on his complying with the requisitions of this chapter, such owner shall be entitled to his action therefor with damages. [Id. P. D. 6821.]

Art. 7206. [4975] Owner may reclaim money in twelve months.—At any time within twelve months after the sale of any estray made under the provisions of this chapter, the owner of such estray may apply to the county treasurer of the county in which such estray has been sold, and upon proof of such ownership shall be entitled to receive from said treasurer the amount deposited on account of such sale, after paying such costs as may be necessary to establish his right thereto. [Id. P. D. 6822.]

Art. 7207. [4976] County clerk to send notice of estray, etc.—Whenever any person shall estray any animal on which any county brand may be found, it shall be the duty of the county clerk of the county in which said estray may be to immediately send a notice containing a full description of said animal, together with the marks and brands, to the county clerk of the county to which the county brand may belong; and it shall be the duty of the county clerk of said county brand to record said notice in a book kept for that purpose, and post the same on the court house door; and it shall further be his duty to ascertain from his record of brands to whom said animal may belong, and to notify said owner by letter or otherwise; and for such services he shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar from said owner; and the county clerk furnishing the notice shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar from said owner. [Acts 1883, p. 76, sec. 5.]

Art. 7208. [4977] Liability for failure.—Any county clerk who shall fail to send a notice as required in article 7207 of this chapter, the county clerk so failing shall become liable to the original owner of said estray in an amount equal to the value of said estray. [Id. sec. 6.]

CHAPTER FIVE

OF THE MODE OF PREVENTING HOGS AND CERTAIN OTHER ANIMALS FROM RUNNING AT LARGE IN COUNTIES AND SUBDIVISIONS

Art. 7220. Commissioners' court to order election.—Up-on the written petition of fifty freeholders of any county, or upon the petition of twenty freeholders of any subdivision of a county, the commissioners' court of such county shall order an election to be held in said county or subdivision, on some day named in the order, for the purpose of enabling the freeholders of such county or subdivision to determine whether hogs, sheep or goats shall be permitted to run at large in such county or subdivision. [Const., art. 16, sec. 22. Act Aug. 15, 1876, p. 150, sec. 1. Amended Acts 1909, p. 164.]

See Posey v. Coleman (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 337.

Filing petition.—The petition can properly be filed with the clerk and during vacation and the order issued at the ensuing term. Kirkland v. Guinn, 26 C. A. 25, 62 S. W. 1101.

Where a law pertaining to local option elections provided that petitions therefor should be filed with the county clerk, an omission of a like requirement in an act in relation to stock law elections passed at the same session of the legislature held not to show that petition was not to be filed with clerk. Id.

Where statute provides that a term of court shall begin on a certain day, it begins with such day, and not at the particular hour at which the court is accustomed to meet. In determining the time at which application for election under stock law must be filed. Barlow v. State, 47 Cr. R. 114, 60 S. W. 375.

Subdivisions.—When an election has been held in a subdivision of a county, no other subdivision can be carved out of said county so as to include the first subdivision and make it a part of the second subdivision for the purpose of holding an election therein, nor for any other purpose except in cases of elections for the whole county. Gilley v. Haddock, 4 App. C. C. § 218, 16 S. W. 714.

Art. 7210. [4979] Election may be ordered in subdivisions, when.

Whenever there is territory between two subdivisions of a county which have adopted the stock law, and in such intervening territory there is less than fifty freeholders, an election shall be ordered on the petition of a majority of the freeholders residing in such intervening territory, and the election shall be held as provided by law in other cases relating to the adoption of the stock law. [Acts 1881, p. 110.]

Art. 7211. [4980] Requisites of petition.—Such petition shall set forth clearly the class or classes of animals enumerated in the preceding articles which the petitioners desire shall not run at large in such county or subdivision, as the case may be; and, if the petition be from the freeholders of a subdivision of any county, such subdivision shall be particularly described and the boundaries thereof designated. [Acts 1876, p. 150.]

Description.—A description of an election district to determine whether stock may be allowed to run at large held not effective. Jones v. Carver, 29 C. A. 265, 67 S. W. 780.

A stock law election under the acts of the 26th legislature held void where the petition for election fails to describe the limits of the justice precinct for which it is to be held by metes and bounds. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Tolbert, 190 T. 482, 101 S. W. 206.

A petition for election in a subdivision of a county, e. g., a justice precinct, must particularly describe the subdivision and designate the boundaries thereof, and an election without such a petition is a nullity. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Tolbert, 44 C. A. § 199, 101 S. W. 1015.

Under this article a stock-law election is invalid where the petition, the order of commissioners' court, the notices of election, and the proclamation of the county judge ordering an election contained no particular description by metes and bounds of the subdivision in which the election was to be held. Ex parte Gulledge, 57 Cr. R. 156, 122 S. W. 21.

Validity of election.—An election is void where the petition was to determine whether "hogs, sheep, and goats," should be restrained, and the order of court read "hogs, sheep, or goats." McElroy v. State, 23 Cr. R. 526, 47 S. W. 269.

Where a petition and order for a local option election to put the stock law in force in the justice precinct excepted a portion thereof, the fact that one of the polling places selected was within the excepted territory did not invalidate the election. Ex parte Stein, 61 Cr. R. 320, 136 S. W. 136.

Art. 7212. [4981] Election, how ordered and conducted.—Upon the filing of such petition, the commissioners' court, at its next regular term thereafter, shall pass an order directing an election to be held throughout the county, or the particular subdivision thereof, as the case may be, on a day to be designated in the order, not less than thirty days from the date of such order; which election shall be held and conducted.
and the returns thereof made in accordance with the laws regulating general elections, in so far as the same are applicable. [Id.]

Application to city.—Under a city charter, held, that an election ordered by the commissioners' court to determine whether hogs, sheep, and goats should run at large within the city, and could not prevent a saloon from being open on the day it was held. Reuter v. State, 43 C. R. 572, 67 S. W. 695.

Term of court.—Such order must be made at the term held under Art. 2274. McHan v. Connell, 4 App. C. C. § 203, 18 S. W. 284.

This article only authorizes making the order for the election at the next regular term of the commissioners' court after the filing of the petition for the election. Robertson v. State, 44 C. R. 270, 70 S. W. 542.

If the petition was left unfiled or thereon. But not marked filed until during the term at which the order was made, the order will not be invalid for said reason. Guinn, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Campbell (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 539.

Art. 7213. [4982] Notice, how given.—Immediately after the passage of an order for an election by the commissioners' court, the county judge shall issue an order for such election and cause public notice thereof to be given for at least thirty days before the day of election, by publication of the order therefor in some newspaper published in the county, if there be one; if no newspaper be published in the county, then by posting copies of such order at the court house door, and at some public place in each justice's precinct, if the election be ordered for the whole county, or at three public places in the subdivision, if the election be ordered for a subdivision. [Id.]

Art. 7214. [4983] Requisites of the order.—The order of the county judge shall specify:
1. The petition and the action of the commissioners' court.
2. The class of animals it is proposed shall not run at large.
3. The territorial limits to be affected.
4. The day of election.
5. The places at which polls are to be opened. [Id.]

Sufficiency of order.—A variance in the description of territory contained in the published notice of election and the description in the order for election held a mere irregularity, and insufficient to invalidate the election held thereunder. Kirkland v. Guinn, 25 C. A. 58, 62 S. W. 1101.

An order for an election, made by the county judge in obedience to a prior order of the commissioners' court, to determine whether hogs, sheep, "or" goats should be permitted to run at large, is void, because in the alternative. Reuter v. State, 43 C. R. 572, 67 S. W. 695.

An order on a petition for an election as to whether animals shall be permitted to run at large in a given territory held not void. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 106.

Art. 7215. [4984] Voting places.—If the election is ordered for the whole county, the same shall be held at the usual voting places in the several election precincts; but, if the election is ordered for any particular subdivision, the county judge shall designate the particular places in such subdivision at which the polls shall be opened. [Id. sec. 3.]

Validity of election.—Where a petition and order for election to adopt the stock law within a justice precinct excepted that portion of the precinct within an incorporated town, and electors living within that portion were not permitted to vote at the election, the fact that one of the polling places selected was the courthouse located within the excepted portion, was not such an irregularity as would invalidate the election. Ex parte Stein, 61 C. R. 329, 135 S. W. 136.

Art. 7216. [4985] Managers to be appointed, when.—If the election be for a division of the county, the county judge shall, at the time he issues the order for such election, appoint proper persons as managers of said election, all of whom shall be freeholders of the county and qualified voters; and such managers may appoint their own clerks. [Id. pp. 150, 151, sec. 4.]

Art. 7217. [4986] Freeholders only to vote.—No person shall vote at any election under the provisions of this chapter, unless he be a freeholder and is also a qualified voter under the constitution and laws. [Const., art. 16, sec. 23. 1d. p. 150, sec. 2.]

Freeholders.—Purchasers of land in possession or with right of possession are voters although the land is not paid for. Hannah v. Shepherd (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 137.
Art. 7217. STOCK LAWS

Where a law authorizing a county election to adopt a local live-stock law does not forbid freeholder citizens of incorporated cities from voting, they are not disqualified. Roberson v. State, 45 Cr. R. 595, 63 S. W. 884.

An order of the commissioners' court, authorizing a county election to adopt a local live-stock law, held not invalid for failure to limit the right of freeholders alone to vote in the county. Id.

Persons to whom land has been conveyed to enable them to vote at an election held not freeholders and qualified voters. Jones v. Carver, 29 C. A. 268, 67 S. W. 780.

Art. 7218. [4987] Manner of voting.—All votes at any election in pursuance of this chapter shall be by ballot; and voters desiring to prevent the animal designated in the order from running at large shall place upon their ballots the words, "For the stock law," and those in favor of allowing such animals to run at large shall place upon their ballots the words, "Against the stock law." [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7219. [4988] Returns of election.—On or before the tenth day after any election under the provisions of this chapter, the persons holding such election shall make due return of all the votes cast at their respective voting places for and against said proposition to the county judge of the county, who shall tabulate and count said returns and ascertain the result of said election. [Id. p. 151, sec. 4.]

Declaration of result.—The commissioners' court has no statutory authority to declare the result of the election; but this is the duty of the county judge, in the presence of the parties named in the statute. Unless the provisions of the statutes are complied with the election is invalid. King v. State (Cr. App.) 74 S. W. 772.

Art. 7220. [4989] Returns, how opened.—The returns shall be opened, tabulated and counted by the county judge in the presence of the county clerk and at least one justice of the peace of the county, or two respectable freeholders of the county. [Id. sec. 4.]

Count.—The county judge must open, tabulate, and count the vote in the mode prescribed in this article, else the law will not be valid. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Campbell (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 599.

Art. 7221. [4990] Proclamation of the result, and its effect.—If a majority of the votes cast at such election shall be, "For the stock law," the county judge shall immediately issue his proclamation declaring the result; which proclamation shall be posted at the court house door, and after the expiration of thirty days from its issuance it shall be unlawful to permit to run at large within the limits designated any animal of the class mentioned in said proclamation. [Id.]

Validity.—Where a petition and order for an election to determine whether the stock law should be put in force within a justice precinct excepted that portion included within an incorporated town, and the majority of the voters outside the town voted in the affirmative, the fact that an order subsequently entered putting the law in force declared that it was in force in the entire precinct did not render it invalid, in so far as it applied to the incorporated town. Ex parte Stein, 61 Cr. R. 350, 125 S. W. 185.

Proclamation.—The county judge must publish the result of an election held to determine whether stock should be permitted to run at large. King v. State (Cr. App.) 74 S. W. 773.

Art. 7222. [4991] Stock may be impounded, when.—If any stock forbidden to run at large shall enter the inclosed lands, or shall, without being herded, roam about the residence, lots or cultivated land of any person other than the owner of such stock, without his consent, in any county or subdivision in which the provisions of this chapter have become operative in the manner provided in the preceding articles, the owner, lessee or person in lawful possession of such lands may impound said stock and detain the same until his fees and all damages occasioned by said stock are paid to him. [Acts 1887, p. 56.]

In general.—Under Stock Law (Acts 1899, p. 221, c. 128) § 13, the bare presence of stock at large on a railroad track held to be negligence on the part of the owner. Red River, T. & S. Ry. Co. v. Dooley, 55 C. A. 364, 80 S. W. 666.

Animals held not running at large within the law prohibiting animals from running at large. International & G. N. R. Co. v. Seiders, 50 C. A. 568, 110 S. W. 997.

A complaint for violating the stock law alleging the same to have been in force in the justice precinct, when, in fact, it was not in force, except in the territory outside an incorporated town in such precinct, held fatally defective. Ex parte Stein, 61 Cr. R. 339, 135 S. W. 136.

Action for illegal sale.—In an action to recover hogs taken up and impounded by defendant for trespass, plaintiff held entitled to judgment, subject to defendant's lien for the damages found by the court. Whitaker v. Miller (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 882.

In an action for the possession or for the value of mares taken up and sold by a city poundkeeper, or for the net proceeds of the sale, a demurrer to the petition was impro perly sustained, since, even if the sale was legal in every respect, plaintiff was entitled to recover the proceeds in excess of the expenses chargeable. Bell v. City of San Angelo (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1195.

The owner of animals illegally sold by a city poundkeeper may recover them, or their value from the person holding under the illegal sale. Id.

Action for damages.—Action for damages from animals running at large is maintainable; the remedy by impounding being cumulative. Frazer v. Bedford (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 675.

Under the stock law, the owner of animals prohibited from running at large is conclusively negligent, if they so run, and liable for their trespass on premises sufficiently fenced to turn animals authorized to so run. Id.

Criminal prosecution.—The fact that a local law prohibiting the running at large of live stock contains a civil remedy does not preclude a criminal prosecution for a violation. Roberson v. State, 42 Cr. R. 690, 63 S. W. 884.

Art. 7223. [4992] Not to be impounded, when.—No animals shall be impounded, unless they have entered upon the inclosed lands or be found roaming about the residence, lots or cultivated land of another; and whenever any stock is impounded notice thereof shall at once be given to the owner, if known, and such owner shall be entitled to their possession upon payment of fees and damages. [Id.]

Historical.—Old articles 4605-4607 (Arts. 7222-7225 herein) were held unconstitutional in Armstrong v. Traylor, 87 T. 698, 30 S. W. 440, and the law was amended by the act of 1895. See Nass v. Maxwell (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 561.

Art. 7224. [4993] Fees and damages.—Any owner, lessee, or person in lawful possession of enclosed lands shall be entitled to the following fees for impounding stock, to-wit: Ten cents per day per head for hogs, ten cents per day per head for goats, and five cents per head per day for sheep. The damages done by such stock, if any, and the fees due to the taker-up of stock, if any, may be assessed by any three disinterested freeholders of the subdivision in which said stock is taken up, who shall upon the application of the taker-up of the stock be appointed by the justice of the peace of the precinct in which such subdivision is situated. Where said justice shall fail or refuse to make appointment, or where the stock law has been adopted by an entire county, said freeholders shall be appointed by the county judge of the county. Said freeholders, after being duly sworn to discharge with impartiality the duties devolving upon them by said appointment, shall proceed after hearing the evidence to determine whether or not any trespass prohibited by the provisions of this chapter has been committed, and to ascertain the damages, if any, occasioned thereby, and the fees due to the taker-up of the stock by reason of said trespass, and shall make an assessment of damages and fees, in writing, and signed by said freeholders, or two of them, and verified by the affidavit of said freeholders, to the effect that said assessment is just and that they have no bias in favor of or prejudice against any party interested therein, and shall file said assessment with the justice of the peace, which shall be final; provided, that the owner of the stock, if known, shall have five days' notice of the time and place of the meeting of said freeholders, and if the owner is unknown then a written notice thereof shall be posted in two public places in said subdivision, and one at the door of the court house of the county; and provided, further, that nothing in this chapter shall be construed to deprive the taker-up of the stock to enforce by suit in a court of competent jurisdiction any claim he may have for such fees and damages, and to subject the stock so taken for the payment of the same under the provisions of this chapter. [Amend. 1895, p. 84.]

Art. 7225. [4994] Stock may be sold, when.—After the filing of the assessment, as provided for in the preceding article, the constable of the precinct shall sell such stock at public auction for cash, after having given notice of such sale as in constables' sales of personal property, and apply the proceeds of such sale, after deducting the expenses

thereof, to the satisfaction of said fees and damages, and shall pay the balance, if any remains, to the owner of such stock. The justices and constables shall receive for their services the same compensation as is allowed for like services in civil cases. [Id.]

Art. 7226. [4995] May be sold, when and how.—If no owner can be found of stock so impounded, the taker-up may make affidavit before a justice of the peace of the county, describing the stock impounded by him, and that the owner is unknown to affiant, which affidavit shall be forthwith delivered to the county clerk by such justice, to be kept in his office for inspection. After the filing of such assessment, the constable of the precinct shall sell such stock as in case where the owner is known; and, if anything remains after satisfying the expenses of said sale and the fees and damages due to the taker-up, he shall report the same under oath to the clerk of the county court, and pay the same over to the county treasurer, to be received and disbursed by him as in case of sales of estrays; or the taker-up may at his option, after the expiration of five days, estray such stock, according to the laws regulating estrays in this state. [Id.]

Art. 7227. [4996] Lawful fence.—After the adoption of the stock law in any county or subdivision, any fence within such county or subdivision shall be deemed a lawful fence if it be sufficient to keep out the classes of stock not affected by the provisions of this chapter; and no person within such county or subdivision shall be required to fence against stock not permitted to run at large. [Acts 1876, p. 150, sec. 5.]

See Fences.

Applies to railroads.—The statute relating to fencing after the stock law has been adopted held to apply to railroad companies. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Tolbert (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 508.

Art. 7228. [4997] Subsequent elections in case of defeat.—Whenever an election is held under the provisions of this chapter for any county or subdivision, and the proposition for a stock and fence law, as herein provided, is defeated, no other election for such purpose shall be held within that locality for the space of twelve months thereafter. But the defeat of the proposition for a county shall not prevent another election from being held immediately thereafter for any subdivision of such county; nor shall a defeat of the proposition for any subdivision prevent an election from being held immediately thereafter for the entire county. [Id. sec. 5.]

Art. 7229. [4998] May be impounded when fence law in force; lawful fence.—Should any stock not permitted to run at large enter any enclosure of any owner or lessee of land, entitled to the benefit of this chapter, without his or their consent, it shall be lawful for the owner or lessee of said enclosure to impound said stock; and it shall be the duty of the owner or lessee of said land to give notice immediately to the owner of said stock of their impounding and detention; and the owner of said stock shall be entitled to the possession of his or her stock on payment of expenses incurred in impounding and keeping said stock; provided, that in such county or subdivision said owners or lessees shall not be required to fence against the stock not permitted to run at large; and any fence in said county or subdivision which is sufficient to keep out ordinary stock permitted to run at large under this chapter shall be deemed a lawful fence. Three barbed wires with posts not more than thirty feet apart, and one or more stays between them, or pickets four feet high and not more than six inches apart, shall constitute a lawful fence. If boards or rails are used, then three boards to be not less than five inches wide and one inch thick, or four rails shall constitute a lawful fence; provided, that all fencing built under the provisions of this chapter shall be four feet high. [Acts 1879, p. 66, sec. 6. Amended Acts 1901, p. 290.]

In this chapter, unless otherwise provided, the word "fence," as used herein, shall be deemed to mean any栅栏, fence, or inclosure, natural or artificial, sufficient to prevent the freeholders of any county, or subdivision of a county, where the stock law prevails from deciding by a majority vote whether or not three barbed wires without a board or plank shall constitute a lawful fence in such county or subdivision of same; the election for such purpose to be conducted in the same manner and under the same rules and regulations as elections provided for in the act authorizing the passage of stock and fence laws, approved August 15, 1876.

No election until lapse of two years.—After the adoption of the stock law in any county or subdivision, no election under the preceding articles shall be held within the same prescribed limits in less than two years after an election under this title has been held therein; but at the expiration of that time the commissioners' court of each county in the state, whenever petitioned to do so by a majority of the freeholders, who are qualified voters under the constitution and laws of a county which has formerly adopted the stock law, or by a majority of the freeholders, who are qualified voters under the constitution and laws of the subdivision of a county which has formerly adopted the stock law, shall order another election to be held by the freeholders, who are qualified voters under the constitution and laws of such county, or subdivision, to determine whether hogs, sheep and goats shall be permitted to run at large in such county, or subdivision, which election shall be ordered, held, notice thereof given, the votes returned and counted in all respects as provided by this title for a first election. [Acts 1899, p. 80.]

Art. 7233. [5001b] Proclamation to be issued.—If, in a county or subdivision which has formerly adopted the stock law, a majority of the legal votes cast at such election shall be "Against the stock law," the county judge shall immediately issue his proclamation declaring the result; which proclamation shall be posted at the court house door, and after the expiration of one hundred and eighty days from its issuance it shall be lawful to permit to run at large, within the limits designated, any animal of the class mentioned in said proclamation; if a majority of the legal votes cast at such election shall be "For the stock law," he shall so state in his proclamation, and the operation of the law shall be in no way affected by such election. [Id.]

Art. 7234. [5001c] In cases where there are less than fifty freeholders.—Whenever there is territory between two subdivisions of a county which have adopted a stock law, or when there is territory adjoining a subdivision which has adopted a stock law, and in such territory there are less than fifty freeholders, an election shall be ordered on a petition of a majority of the freeholders residing in such territory; and the election shall be held as provided by law in other cases relating to the adoption of the stock law. And in cases where there are no freeholders on such intervening or adjoining territory, then, on the petition of the owner or owners of the land to the commissioners' court, the said commissioners' court shall issue an order extending the stock law to said territory, and the same shall be included in the territory of such adjoining subdivision; and any person or persons who own enclosed lands adjoining any other lands which have been added to territory in which a stock law prevails, shall have the same right; and on petition of the owner or owners of such land to the commissioners' court, the said commissioners' court shall issue an order extending the stock law to said territory, and the same shall be included in the territory of such adjoining subdivisions. [Id. Amended Acts 1907, p. 150.]

Extension to adjoining territory.—The stock law can be extended to territory adjoining a subdivision of a county which has adopted the stock law, where it is part of another subdivision of the county in which election has been held within a year and the stock law defeated. Where conditions exist which entitle owner of land to have same placed under stock law, the commissioners' court has no discretion and can be compelled by mandamus to grant the application and enter an order extending the stock law to the adjoining territory. Stokes v. Winfree, 23 C. A. 690, 57 S. W. 918.

The fact that land to which the stock law was sought to be extended constituted a part of a subdivision which had within 12 months rejected the stock law does not prevent the annexation of the land to an adjoining subdivision, which had adopted the law, and authorize an extension thereof, as provided by article 7234. [Id.]

7247. Election to put law in operation.—Upon the written petition of one hundred freeholders of any of the following counties: Anderson, Atascosa, Austin, Bastrop, Baylor, Bee, Bell, Bexar, Blanco, Borden, Bosque, Brazos, Brewster, Brown, Burnet, Caldwell, Calhoun, Callahan, Cameron, Camp, Cass, Castro, Cherokee, Childress, Coleman, Collin, Colorado, Cooke, Comanche, Concho, Coryell, Cottle, Crosby, Cochran, Crane, Dallas, Dallam, Dawson, Deaf Smith, Delta, Denton, DeWitt, Donley, Eastland, Ector, Ellis, Erath, Falls, Fannin, Fayette, Floyd, Foard, Franklin, Fisher, Freestone, Gaines, Guadalupe, Garza, Glasscock, Gillespie, Gonzales, Grayson, Hale, Hamilton, Hansford, Harrison, Hays, Haskell, Hall, Hardeman, Hartley, Henderson, Hidalgo, Hill, Hood, Hopkins, Howard, Hockley, Hunt, Jack, Jackson, Jones, Johnson, Kaufman, Knox, Kerr, Kendall, Lamar, Lavaca, Lee, Limestone, Lynn, Llano, Lubbock, Mason, McLennan, McCulloch, Moore, Lampasas, Martin, Medina, Midland, Milam, Mitchell, Montague, Morris, Navarro, Ochiltree, Palo Pinto, Nolan, Nueces, Parker, Pecos, Raines, Randall, Red River, Reeves, Mills, Robertson, Rockwall, Rusk, Runnels, San Patricio, San Saba, Scurry, Sherman, Smith, Somervell, Starr, Swisher, Tarrant, Taylor, Titus, Travis, Upshur, Victoria, Val Verde, Van Zandt, Waller, Washington, Williamson, Wilson, Wise, Ward, Wharton, Sterling, Wood, Wheeler, Winkler, Wichita, Wilbarger, and Young, or upon the petition of fifty freeholders of any such subdivision of a county may be described in the petition, and defined by the commissioners court of any of the above named counties, the commissioners court of said county shall order an election to be held in such county or such subdivision of a county as may be described in the petition and defined by the commissioners court on the day named in the order, for the purpose of enabling the freeholders of such county or such subdivision of a county as may be described in the petition and defined by the commissioners court to determine whether horses, mules, jacks, jennets and cattle shall be permitted to run at large in such county or such subdivision of a county as may be described in the petition and defined by the commissioners court; provided that where there is an application for an election to include an entire county there shall not be less than twelve freeholders from each justice precinct of said county as signers to the petition for such election.

And provided further that the provisions of this section shall not apply to Wharton county as a whole, but shall apply only to such subdivision thereof as may be designated in the manner herein provided. [Acts 1909, p. 121, sec. 1. Acts 1911, p. 172, sec. 1. Acts 1913, p. 131, sec. 1, amending Art. 7235, Rev. St. 1911.]

Note.—Acts 1911, p. 172, amends section 1 of chapter 57, Acts 30th Leg. The act amended was incorporated in Rev. St. 1911 as article 7235. Acts 1913, p. 131, does not refer to the amendatory act of 1911, but purports in its title to amend article 7235, Rev. St. 1911.

Defect in petition.—The fact that the petition for an election contains the word "Jennies" instead of "Jennets" will not invalidate the election. Graves v. Rudd, 26 C. A. 564, 66 S. W. 63.

A petition for an election in a justice's precinct which merely gives the number of the precinct is insufficient. It must give the boundaries. Cox v. State (Cr. App.) 88 S. W. 812.
Several petitions constituting one.—A number of petitions signed by the requisite number of freeholders in compliance with the law constitutes one petition and upon it the court can make the necessary orders. Graves v. Rudd, 26 C. A. 554, 65 S. W. 63.

Filing.—The petition for the election must be filed prior to the regular term at which it is acted upon and not during that term. Cox v. State (Cr. App.) 88 S. W. 812.

Art. 7235a. Election in Harris county.—Upon the written petition of twenty (20) freeholders of any such subdivision of Harris county as may be described in the petition and defined by the commissioners' court of Harris county, the commissioners' court of said county shall order an election to be held in such subdivision of said county as may be described in the petition and defined by the commissioners' court on the day named in the order, for the purpose of enabling the freeholders of such subdivision of Harris county as may be described in the petition and defined by the commissioners' court, to determine whether horses, mules, jacks, jennets and cattle shall be permitted to run at large in such subdivision of Harris county, as may be described in the petition and defined by the commissioners' court. Provided no subdivision of the county described in any such petition shall extend further than three miles from the boundaries of any incorporated city or town. [Acts 1913, p. 157, sec. 1.]

Art. 7235b. Provisions applicable.—Upon the filing of such petition, the order of the commissioners' court thereon, the holding of such election, the return thereof, and all other action in respect thereto shall be as prescribed in the general law, title 124, chapter 5, of the Revised Statutes of Texas of 1911. [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7236. Election to repeal law.—Upon the written petition of two hundred freeholders of any of the above named counties, or upon the written petition of fifty freeholders of any subdivision of the above named counties, if the law be in force in that subdivision only, the commissioners' court shall be authorized and required to order an election on the date therein named to determine whether or not said law be repealed; provided, that such petition be not filed within less than two years from the date this law goes into effect; and provided, further, that such petition be signed by at least twenty-four freeholders from each justice precinct in such county. But if this law becomes operative over any of the above named counties, as prescribed, it can in no case be repealed by any subdivision, except by a two-thirds majority of the votes cast by the freeholders of such counties, at an election held in accordance with the provisions of this chapter. [Acts 1909, p. 121, sec. 2.]

Art. 7237. Intervening territory: election in.—Whenever there is territory between two subdivisions of a county which have adopted the stock law, and in such intervening territory there are less than fifty freeholders, an election shall be ordered on the petition of a majority of the freeholders residing in such intervening territory; and the election shall be held as provided by law in other cases relating to the adoption of the stock law. [Acts 1899, p. 220, sec. 2.]

Art. 7238. Petition shall state what.—Such petition shall set forth clearly the class or classes of animals enumerated in the first article of this chapter, which the petitioners desire shall not run at large in such county, or subdivision, as the case may be; and, if the petition be from the freeholders of a subdivision of any county, such subdivision shall be particularly described and the boundaries thereof designated. [Id. sec. 3.]

Requisites.—The petition must set forth clearly the "class or classes" of stock which are to be prohibited from running at large, and no legal election can be held until this section has been complied with. The commissioners' court cannot order an election under this law of its own motion. It must be ordered upon petition. Ex parte Kimbrell, 47 Cr. R. 333, 83 S. W. 333.

Art. 7239. Order for election by commissioners' court.—Upon the filing of such petition, the commissioners' court at the next regular term thereafter shall pass an order directing an election to be held throughout the county, or the particular subdivision thereof, as the case may be, on a day to be designated in the order, not less than thirty days from the date of such order; which election shall be held and conducted and the returns thereof made in accordance with the laws regulating general elections, in so far as the same are applicable. [Id. sec. 4.]

In general.—In a prosecution for violating the local stock law, information held defective for not alleging that the commissioners' court made an order directing an election to be held to determine whether horses, cattle, etc., should be permitted to run at large. Hill v. State, 68 Cr. R. 79, 124 S. W. 840.

In a prosecution for violating the local stock law, it was essential to allege and prove the precedent steps, required by law, by which the stock law was adopted. Id.

That an order declaring the stock law in force in a justice precinct erroneously included an incorporated town not within the petition and order for election would not render it invalid as to the balance of the territory. Ex parte Stein, 61 Cr. R. 320, 135 S. W. 136.

Art. 7240. County judge to issue order and notice.—Immediately after the passage of an order for an election by the commissioners' court, the county judge shall issue an order for such election and cause public notices thereof to be given for at least thirty days before the day of election, by publication of the order therefor in some newspaper published in the county, if there be one, if no newspaper be published in the county, then by posting copies of such order at the court house door and at some public place in each justice's precinct, if the election be ordered for the whole county, or at three public places in the subdivision, if the election be ordered for a subdivision. [Id. sec. 5.]

Form and publication of notice.—The notices of election provided for in this section need not run in the name of the state. The proceeding is special and Art. 2280 does not apply. Graves v. Rudd, 26 C. A. 554, 66 S. W. 63.

Notice in this case was given by publishing three weeks, as required by section 42 of the Terrell election law (1903). This was not legal. Notice must be given as required in this section (6) of the law itself, that is, by publication for 30 days. Ex parte Kimbrell, 47 Cr. R. 333, 83 S. W. 333.

Art. 7241. Recitals in order.—The order of the county judge shall specify:
1. The petition and the action of the commissioners' court.
2. The class of animals it is proposed shall not run at large.
3. The territorial limits to be affected.
4. The day of election.
5. The places at which polls are to be opened. [Id. sec. 6.]

Art. 7242. Election places.—If the election is ordered for the whole county, the same shall be held at the usual voting places in the several election precincts; but, if the election is ordered for any particular subdivision, the county judge shall designate the particular places in such subdivision at which the polls shall be opened. [Id. sec. 7.]

Art. 7243. Officers of election.—If the election be for a subdivision of the county, the county judge shall, at the time he issues the order for such election, appoint proper persons as managers of said election, all of whom shall be freeholders of the county and qualified voters; and such managers may appoint their own clerks. [Id. sec. 8.]

Art. 7244. Qualifications of electors.—No person shall vote at any election under the provisions of this chapter, unless he be a freeholder and is a qualified voter under the constitution and laws. [Id. sec. 9.]

Art. 7245. Election by ballot, form of.—All votes at any election, in pursuance of this chapter, shall be by ballot, and voters desiring to prevent the animals designated in the order from running at large shall place upon their ballots the words, "For the Stock Law," and those in favor of allowing such animals to run at large shall place upon their ballots the words, "Against the Stock Law." [Id. sec. 10.]

Art. 7246. Election returns.—On or before the tenth day after any election under the provisions of this chapter, the persons holding such election shall make due return on all votes cast at their respective voting places for and against said proposition to the county judge of the county, who shall tabulate and count said returns and ascertain the results of said election. [Id. sec. 11.]

Art. 7247. Same, effect of.—The returns shall be opened, tabulated and counted by the county judge in the presence of the county clerk and at least one justice of the peace of the county, or by [of] two respectable freeholders of the county, and an order showing the result shall be duly recorded in the minutes of the commissioners' court in the said county. And the order showing the result of said election thus determined, certified and recorded, shall be held to be prima facie evidence that all the provisions of law have been complied with in presenting the petition, the action of the court thereon ordering the election, the giving of notice and holding said election, and in counting and returning the votes and declaring the result thereof, and, if said election be then declared to be in favor of the stock law, then after thirty days from said date, it shall be prima facie evidence that the proclamation required by law has been made and published as required by law. [Acts 1907, p. 123, sec. 12.]

Art. 7248. Proclamation and time law goes into effect.—If a majority of the votes cast at such election shall be “For the Stock Law,” the county judge shall immediately issue his proclamation declaring the result, which proclamation shall be posted at the court house door, and, after the expiration of thirty days from its issuance, it shall be unlawful to permit to run at large, within the limits designated, any animal of the class mentioned in said proclamation. [Acts 1899, p. 220, sec. 13.]

Form of proclamation.—The fact that the order declaring the result used the words “or cattle” instead of “and cattle” is of no consequence. Graves v. Rudd, 26 C. A. 554, 65 S. W. 63.

Art. 7249. Impounding stock.—If any stock forbidden to run at large shall enter the enclosed lands, or shall, without being herded, roam about the residence, lots or cultivated lands of any person other than the owner of such stock without his consent, in any county or subdivision in which the provisions of this chapter have become operative in the manner provided in the preceding article, the owner, lessee or person in lawful possession of such lands may impound such stock and detain the same until his fees and all damages occasioned by said stock are paid to him. [Id. sec. 14.]

Trespassing stock.—One is authorized to impound stock that have escaped from their owner's inclosure and are found trespassing upon land and hold the same until the fees and damages are paid as provided by the terms of the law. Graves v. Rudd, 26 C. A. 554, 65 S. W. 64, 65.

The owners of stock must keep them confined at their peril, else they will be held liable to account for the damages which their stock may inflict. Frazer v. Bedford (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 573, 574.

Where the owner of the stock turns it into a field surrounded by a fence which is insufficient to hold it to his knowledge, and because of the condition of the fence the stock stray from the owner's field onto the cultivated land of another in the possession of a tenant they are trespassing thereon and can be impounded. Houston & T. C. Ry. Co. v. Hollingsworth, 29 C. A. 306, 68 S. W. 726, 727.

Remedy.—The owner of trespassing cattle is unconditionally liable to the owner of the land injured and the latter can sue therefor in the court having jurisdiction. The remedy provided in this law is not exclusive but cumulative. Frazer v. Bedford (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 573.

Lessees of school lands.—Lessees of inclosed school land cannot prevent parties from driving stock through their inclosed lands, this being a condition allowed by law when they leased the land. Rugby-Coleman L. & C. Co. v. Matador L. & C. Co., 26 C. A. 820, 63 S. W. 914.

Art. 7250. Same.—No animals shall be impounded, unless they have entered upon the enclosed lands or be found roaming about the residence, lots or cultivated land of another, and, whenever any stock is impounded, notice thereof shall be given to the owner, if known, and such owner shall be entitled to their possession upon payment of fees and damages. [Id. sec. 15.]

Art. 7251. Fees for impounding.—Any owner, lessee or person in lawful possession of enclosed lands shall be entitled to the following fees for impounding stock, to-wit: Twenty-five cents per day per head.
for horses and mules, fifteen cents per day per head for cattle, and ten cents per day per head for jacks and jennets. The damages done by such stock, if any, and the fees due to the taker-up of stock, if any, may be assessed by any three disinterested freeholders of the subdivision in which said stock is taken up, who shall, upon the application of the taker-up of the stock, be appointed by the justice of the peace of the precinct in which such subdivision is situated. When such justice shall fail or refuse to make appointments, or when the stock law has been adopted by an entire county, said freeholders shall be appointed by the county judge of the county. Said freeholders, after being duly sworn to discharge with impartiality the duties devolving upon them by said appointment, shall proceed after hearing the evidence to determine whether or not any trespass prohibited by the provisions of this chapter has been committed, and to ascertain the damages, if any, occasioned thereby, and the fees due the taker-up of the stock by reason of said trespass, and shall make an assessment of damages and fees in writing and signed by said freeholders, or two of them, and verified by the affidavit of said freeholders to the effect that said assessment is just, and that they have no bias in favor of or prejudice against any party interested therein, and shall file said assessment with the justice of the peace, which shall be final; provided, that the owner of the stock, if known, shall have five days notice of the time and place of the meeting of said freeholders, and if the owner is unknown, then a written notice thereof shall be posted in two public places in said subdivision, and one at the door of the court house of the county; and provided, further, that nothing in this chapter shall be construed to deprive the taker-up of the stock to enforce, by suit in a court of competent jurisdiction, any claim he may have for such fees and damages, and to subject the stock so taken up for the payment of the same under the provisions of this chapter. [Id. sec. 16.]

Art. 7252. Sale of impounded stock; fees.—After the filing of the assessment, as provided for in the preceding article, the constable of the precinct shall sell such stock at public auction for cash, after having given notice of such sale, as in constables' sales of personal property, and apply the proceeds of such sale, after deducting the expenses thereof, to the satisfaction of said fees and damages, and shall pay the balance, if any remains, to the owner of such stock. The justices and constables shall receive for their services the same compensation as is allowed for like service in civil cases. [Id. sec. 17.]

Recovery of proceeds.—Demurrer to a petition to recover proceeds of sale of mares taken up and sold by a poundkeeper held improperly sustained, where, if the sale was legal, plaintiff was entitled to the proceeds. Bell v. City of San Angelo (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1195.

Art. 7253. Unknown owner.—If no owner can be found of stock so impounded, the taker-up may make affidavit before a justice of the peace of the county, describing the stock impounded by him, and that the owner is unknown to affiant; which affidavit shall be forthwith delivered to the county clerk by such justice to be kept in his office for inspection. After the filing of such assessment, the constable of the precinct shall sell such stock as in case when the owner is known; and, if anything remains after satisfying the expenses of said sale and the fees and damages due to the taker-up, he shall report the same under oath to the clerk of the county court, and pay the same over to the county treasurer, to be received and disbursed by him as in case of sales of estrays; or the taker-up may, at his option, after the expiration of five days, estray such stock according to the laws regulating estrays in this state. [Id. sec. 18.]

Art. 7254. Lawful fence, what constitutes.—After the adoption of the stock law in any county, or subdivision, any fence within such county or subdivision shall be deemed a lawful fence if it be sufficient to keep out the classes of stock not affected by the provisions of this chapter. [Id. sec. 19.]

Art. 7255. Second election when proposition is defeated.—Whenever an election is held under the provisions of this chapter for any county or subdivision, and the proposition of a stock law as herein provided is defeated, no other election for such purpose shall be held within that locality for the space of twelve months thereafter; but the defeat of the proposition for a county shall not prevent another election from being held immediately thereafter for any subdivision of such county, nor shall a defeat of the proposition for any subdivision prevent an election from being held immediately thereafter for the entire county.

TRESPASSING ANIMALS

Trespass by animals.—The defendant, in an action for wrongfully pasturing cattle on plaintiff's lands, held under the evidence to be a mere trespasser, and liable for damages. Forst v. Rothe (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 575.

Where plaintiff's crops were destroyed by defendant's cattle breaking through plaintiff's fence, plaintiff was not restricted to the remedy specially provided in case of a breach of a statutory fence. Burch v. Samples (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 81.

Petition in an action for damages from trespasses by stock held to allege a common-law liability by the stock owner, grounded upon his negligence in knowingly permitting breachy animals to run at large, as well as a liability under the statute. Posey v. Coleman (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 937.

Injury to animals.—Where plaintiff's horse trespassed on defendant's land, and fell into an open well, defendant was not liable therefor, in the absence of gross negligence. McCutchen v. Gorsline, 39 C. A. 146, 86 S. W. 1044.

Fences.—See notes under Title 59.

Article 7256. [5002] Inspector to be elected.—Each organized county, not expressly excepted herein, shall constitute an inspection district for the inspection of hides and animals; and at each general election an officer to be styled, "Inspector of hides and animals," shall be elect ed by the qualified voters of such county in the same manner as other county officers are elected. [Const., art. 16, sec. 23. Act Aug. 23, 1876, p. 265, sec. 1.]

Art. 7257. [5003] Governor may appoint in unorganized county.
—The governor is authorized to appoint a hide inspector for each unorganized county in this state. [Acts 1879, p. 89.]

Art. 7258. [5004] Term of office.—Inspectors of hides and animals shall hold their offices for the term of two years and until the election and qualification of their successors in office. [Act Aug. 23, 1876, p.

Art. 7259. [5005] Vacancies, how filled.—In case of a vacancy in such office, the commissioners' court shall fill the same by appointment for the unexpired term; and until such vacancy is filled by such appointment the sheriff of the county shall discharge the duties of the office.
[Act Aug. 19, 1876, p. 217, sec. 1.]

Art. 7260. [5006] Bond and oath.—Every person elected to the office of inspector of hides and animals, before entering on the duties of his office, shall enter into a bond, with two or more good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the county commissioners' court of the county constituting his district, which bond shall be in a sum to be fixed by said court, not less than one thousand dollars, nor more than ten thousand dollars, payable to the county judge, conditioned that he shall well and truly perform the duties of his office, in accordance with the provisions of this chapter; and he shall also take and subscribe the oath of office prescribed by the constitution, which shall be indorsed on or attached to said bond, together with the certificate of the official administering the same, which bond and oath shall be deposited and recorded in the office of the clerk of the county court of the county. The bond herein provided for shall not be void for want of form or on the first recovery, but may be sued on from time to time, in the name of any person injured by a breach thereof, until the whole penalty shall have been recovered. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7261. [5007] Appointees also to give bond.—Persons appointed to fill vacancies in the office of inspector shall give bond and take the oath in like manner as prescribed in the preceding article, and shall not enter upon the duties of the office until such bond is given and approved and such oath is taken; but a sheriff acting temporarily as inspector, pending a vacancy in such office, shall not be required to give ad­ tional bond, but his official bond as sheriff shall extend to and include the faithful and proper performance of his duties as inspector ad interim.

Art. 7262. [5008] Seal of office.—The county commissioners' court of each county shall furnish to the inspector for such county a seal of office, having upon it the words, "Inspector of Hides and Animals,—— county, Texas" [the blank to be filled with the name of the county], and each inspector and his deputy shall certify their official acts with the impress of such seal. Upon his retirement from office, the inspector shall deliver such seal, together with the books, papers and recdords of his office, to his successor. [Act Aug. 23, 1876, p. 296, sec. 6.]

Art. 7263. [5009] Deputies may be appointed.—Every inspector shall have power to appoint as many deputies as shall be necessary to perform the duties imposed on them by this chapter; and such deputies shall have the same power and authority to perform the duties of their office as their principal; and the inspectors shall require bond and security of their deputies for the faithful performance of their duties; and the said deputies shall, before entering upon their duties, take and subscribe the oath prescribed by the constitution, which, together with the certificate of the officer administering the same, shall be indorsed upon the bonds. [Id. p. 295, sec. 4.]

Art. 7264. [5010] Appointment to be recorded.—The appointment of each deputy shall be in writing, with the seal of the inspector thereon, and shall, with their bonds and oath of office, be recorded by the clerk of the county court of the county constituting their district; and the inspectors shall be responsible to any persons injured thereby for the official acts of each of their deputies, and they shall have the same remedies against their deputies and their sureties as any person can have against the inspectors and their sureties. [Id. pp. 295, 296, sec. 5.]

Art. 7265. [5011] Meaning of terms.—Whenever in this chapter the word "inspector" is used, it shall be taken and deemed to be "the inspector of hides and animals," the words "deputy inspector" shall be taken to mean the "deputy inspector of hides and animals," and the words "county," "district" or "inspection district" shall be held to include each organized county in this state not herein excepted, together with any unorganized county that may be attached for judicial purposes to any such county. [Id. p. 301, sec. 27.]

Art. 7266. [5012] May authenticate instruments.—Every inspector shall have authority to authenticate bills of sale of animals, and give certificates of acknowledgment of the same under his hand and seal.
[Id. p. 302, sec. 30.]

Art. 7267. [5013] Inspections and record thereof.—It shall be the duty of the inspector, in person or by deputy, to faithfully examine and inspect all hides or animals known or reported to him as sold, or as leaving or going out of the county for sale or shipment, and all animals driven or sold in his district for slaughter, packeries or butcheries; and the inspector shall keep a record, in a well-bound book, in which he shall record a correct statement of the number, ages, marks and brands of all animals inspected by him, and the number, mark and brand of all hides inspected by him, and whether the same are dry or green, and the name or names of the vendor or vendors, and of the purchaser or purchasers thereof. [Id. p. 296, sec. 7.]

Constitutionality.—The cattle and hide inspection acts are constitutional. Limburger
v. Barker, 17 C. A. 602, 43 S. W. 616.

Inspection where sold.—Although cattle are inspected in the counties from which they were brought, nevertheless the law requires them to be inspected again when sold for slaughter in a different county. Limburger v. Barker, 17 C. A. 602, 43 S. W. 616.

Art. 7268. [5014] Monthly returns to county clerk.—He shall return a certified copy of all entries made in such record during each month to the clerk of the county court of the county on the last day of each month, which report shall be filed among the records of the county court. The book of records herein provided for shall at all times be open for the inspection of any person interested therein. [Id.]

Art. 7269. [5015] Exemptions from inspection.—The provisions of this chapter shall not be so construed as to include sheep, goats, swine, or hides of either, nor to involve the re-inspection of salted hides in packeries or other slaughter houses taken from animals previously inspected and returned, as provided in the preceding articles. [Id.]

Art. 7270. [5016] Shall not certify unbranded animals, etc.—No inspector shall grant any certificate of inspection of any unbranded hides or animals, or of hides or animals upon which the marks and brands can not be ascertained, and he shall prevent the same from being taken or shipped out of the county, unless they are identified by proof or by a bill of sale signed by the owner of such hides or animal, and acknowledged before some officer authorized to authenticate instruments for record in this state. [Id. sec. 8.]
Art. 7271. [5017] May seize certain animals, etc.—Every inspector shall have power to and may seize and sequestrate all unmarked or unbranded calves or yearlings, and all calves or yearlings freshly marked or branded, and on which the fresh marks or brands are unhealed, which are about to be slaughtered, or driven or shipped out of the county, unless such animals are accompanied by the mothers thereof, or are identified by the presentation of a bill of sale from the person proved to be the owner thereof, signed by him or his legally authorized agent, and acknowledged before some officer authorized to authenticate instruments for record in this state. [Id. sec. 9.]

Art. 7272. [5018] Also unbranded hides and animals.—Every inspector shall have power to and may seize and sequestrate all unbranded animals or hides, and animals and hides upon which the mark or brand cannot be ascertained, which are about to be taken or shipped out of the county, or which animals are to be slaughtered, unless such animals or hides are identified as provided in the preceding article. [Id. sec. 10.]

Art. 7273. [5019] Procedure in cases of seizure.—When the inspector has seized any hides or animals, as provided for in the two preceding articles, he shall report the fact to some judge of the district or county court, or justice of the peace, according as the value of the property seized may come within the jurisdiction of either of said courts; and it shall be the duty of said judge or justice to issue or cause to be issued a citation addressed, “To all whom it may concern,” setting forth a seizure of said property, with a description of the same, commanding them to appear at a day named in said citation to show cause why the said property should not be forfeited to the county wherein the same was seized and sold for the benefit of said county; said citation shall be directed to the sheriff or any constable of said county, who shall cause certified copies of the same to be posted in three public places in said county for a period of ten days before the day mentioned in said citation. Upon the proof of the posting of said citation, as herein required, it shall be the duty of the judge or justice of the peace issuing said citation to proceed to condemn the property mentioned in said citation, unless satisfactory proof should be made of the ownership of said property, or other sufficient cause be shown why the same should not be condemned; and in case of condemnation he shall order the same to be sold by the inspector at public auction to the highest bidder. The inspector shall be entitled to retain one-fourth of the net proceeds of such sale, after deducting therefrom all expenses connected therewith, and he shall immediately pay the remaining three-fourths thereof into the county treasury; and all sums so paid in shall be placed to the credit of the general fund of such county. [Id. p. 304, sec. 44.]

Art. 7274. [5020] Bill of sale to be taken.—Every person who shall buy or drive any animal or animals for sale or shipment out of any county, or who shall buy or drive any animal or animals for slaughter, shall, at the time of purchasing and before driving the same, procure a bill of sale from the owner or owners thereof, or from his or their legally authorized agent; which bill of sale shall be in writing, properly signed and acknowledged before some officer authorized to authenticate instruments for record in this state. Such bill of sale shall distinctly enumerate the number, kind and age of animals sold, together with all the marks and brands discernable on said animals; and said animals shall, before leaving the county in which they have been gathered, be inspected by the inspector of such county or his deputy. [Id. p. 297, sec. 11.]

Validity of sale.—A verbal sale of cattle running in the range will pass title against a subsequent attachment if reduced to possession prior to the levy. Davis v. Dallas National Bank, 7 C. A. 41, 20 S. W. 222.

A sale of horses running on the range, without actual delivery or a bill of sale, is a nullity and passes no title. Hickman v. Hickman, 8 C. A. 59, 27 S. W. 31.

Art. 7275. [5021] Also in sale of hides.—Every person who shall purchase any hides of cattle shall, at the time of purchasing the same, obtain from the owner thereof, or from his legally authorized agent, a bill of sale in writing, certified to by the inspector, or by any officer authorized to take acknowledgments, which bill of sale shall recite in full the marks and brands of each hide, the weight thereof, and whether the same is dry or green. [Id. sec. 12.]

Art. 7276. [5022] Certificate of inspection to be given.—Whenever an inspector shall have inspected any animal or animals, as herein provided, he shall, on the presentation of a bill of sale or power of attorney from the owner or owners of such animal or animals, or his or their agent, duly authorized in writing, which bill of sale, power of attorney or authority shall be in writing, duly signed and acknowledged by the person executing the same before some officer authorized to authenticate instruments for record in this state, and on payment to said inspector of his legal fees, deliver to the purchaser of the animals mentioned in such bill of sale or power of attorney, or his agent, a certificate setting forth that he has carefully examined and inspected such animal or animals, and that said purchaser has in all respects complied with the provisions of this chapter, which certificate shall not be complete until the same and bill of sale herein provided for shall be recorded in the office of the clerk of the county court of the county, and be certified to by said clerk under his hand and seal. Such certificate shall be then delivered to the purchaser or purchasers, and shall protect him or them from the payment of inspection fees in any other district for the animals therein described, except from the county from which the same may be exported. [Id. sec. 13.]

Art. 7277. [5023] Same subject.—Any person or persons driving cattle in his or their own mark and brand shall be entitled to the certificate of inspection provided for in the preceding article, on payment of fees to the inspector, and on presentation to the inspector of the certificate of the clerk of the county court of the county where such mark and brand is recorded, to the effect that the mark and brand named therein is duly recorded in his office as the mark and brand of the person so driving such cattle. [Id. sec. 14. Amend. 1895, Sen. Jour., No. 101a, p. 484.]

Art. 7278. [5023a] Road brand.—Any person or persons who shall drive any cattle to market beyond the limits of this state shall, before removing such cattle from the county where the same are gathered, place upon each and every animal so to be driven a large and plain road brand, composed of any device he may choose, which brand shall be branded on the left side of the back behind the shoulder; and every person or persons using or causing to be used any road brand shall place the same on record as in the case of other brands, in the county from which the animals are to be driven, and before their removal from such county. [Acts 1876, p. 295. Sen. Jour. 1895, p. 484.]

Art. 7279. [5023b] Exportation of cattle to Mexico.—Any person intending to drive or ship any animals to the Republic of Mexico may ship the same from any point on the coast of Texas, or may drive or ship them across the Rio Grande river at any point where a custom house of the United States is located, and shall not drive or ship such animals across the Rio Grande at any other point or points; and he shall cause all such animals to be inspected by the inspector of the district in which the point of shipment or place at which they are to be driven across... said river is situated; such inspection shall be made before shipment from the state or passage across said river of said animals. [Id.]

Art. 7280. [5023c] Herds in transit may be inspected.—Whenever a drove of cattle may be passing through any county, it shall be the duty of the inspector, if called upon to do so by any person, to stop and inspect said drove without any unnecessary detention of the same; and he shall exercise the same powers and perform the same duties in the inspection of such cattle as are prescribed in articles 7267, 7271 and 7272. [Id.]

Art. 7281. [5023d] Fees, how paid.—If any cattle be found in said drove not included in the certificate of the inspector of the county in which the drove may have been gathered, the fees of the inspector shall be paid out of the proceeds of the sale of said cattle, but if no cattle shall be found in said drove except those covered by the inspector's certificate, then the inspector's fee shall be paid by the person at whose instance and request said drove was inspected. [Id. Sen. Jour., 1895, p. 485.]

Art. 7282. [5023e] Hides imported from Mexico.—The hides of all cattle imported into this state from Mexico shall be inspected by the inspector of hides and animals of any county or district into which the same may be introduced or imported; and, should the importer of said hides fail or refuse to pay the inspection fees as required by law, the inspector is hereby authorized to retain possession of said hides and sell a sufficient number thereof, after public notice of three days, to the highest and best bidder, to pay said inspection fees and all necessary expenses in connection therewith. [Id.]

Art. 7283. [5023f] Horses and mules.—Horses and mules imported from Mexico into this state shall be inspected in accordance with the provisions of the preceding article, and with like authority to retain and sell as therein provided for a failure to pay the inspection fees. [Id.]

Art. 7284. [5023g] Suspicious hides to be seized.—Should an inspector of hides and animals find among hides imported from Mexico any hides which, from the brand or from other evidence, he has reason to believe have been stolen from the lawful owner, it shall be his duty to separate said hides from the others undergoing inspection, and to notify any person he believes to be interested therein to come forward and institute suit for the recovery of the same. [Id.]

Art. 7285. [5023h] Procedure upon seizure.—Should no person appear to claim said hides, the inspector shall, within twenty-four hours, make oath before the county judge of the county, or before a justice of the peace of the county, that he has reason to believe that said hides have been stolen; whereupon said county judge or justice of the peace shall issue a citation, directing the importer or party claiming the same to appear before him at his office within a time specified, not to exceed twenty-four hours, to show cause why said hides should not be condemned.

Art. 7286. [5024] Importer to recover on proof.—Should said importer or claimant make proof that he is the lawful owner of said hides by showing a bill of sale from the owner of the same, or his legally authorized agent, and by showing a complete chain or transfer of title from the original owner of the brand to himself, or his firm, as the case may be, the county judge or justice of the peace shall direct that the same be delivered to said importer or claimant upon his paying the inspection fees. [Id.]

Art. 7287. [5025] Hides to be sold, if not proven away.—Should the importer or claimant of said hides fail to establish his claim as the lawful owner of the same, or to any number of said hides so seized, it shall be the duty of the county judge or the justice of the peace to direct that said hides be sold at public auction by the inspector of hides and animals, or his deputy, after a notice of ten days, published in a newspaper, should there be one published in said county, or if no newspaper be published in the county, then by notice in writing, posted at the court house and two or more other places in said county, and the said hides shall be sold to the highest and best bidder. [Id.]

Art. 7288. [5026] Fees of inspector in such cases.—The inspector of hides and animals shall retain twenty-five per cent of the purchase money, after having deducted and paid all necessary expenses incurred by reason of said sale, and he shall deposit the remainder of said purchase money with the county treasurer, and take his receipt therefor; and said county treasurer shall place one-half of said sum of money to the credit of the school fund and the other half to the credit of the jury fund of said county. [Id.]

Art. 7289. [5027] Hides to be delivered to true owner, etc.—Should any person appear either by himself, his agent or attorney, and claim any hides imported from Mexico at any time before said hides shall have been sold as above directed, and should said claim be established before the county judge or a justice of the peace of said county, such hides shall be delivered to the claimant, and all costs accruing therein shall be paid by the importer; provided, that at any time before proceedings shall have been commenced as above directed, the importer may be permitted to pay the lawful owner, his agent or attorney, for any hides imported by him from Mexico and presented in any county of this state for inspection, and upon such payment, and the fees for inspection, such hides shall be released. [Id.]

Art. 7290. [5028] Revised list of marks and brands.—The clerk of the county court in each county shall transcribe the list of all recorded marks and brands in his county and revise the same. Such revised list shall be written in a well-bound book, kept for that purpose only, and shall be arranged as follows, viz.: All brands of the letter class shall be placed in alphabetical order, following which shall be the numeral, character and device brands in the order of the date of their registration. Opposite each brand shall be stated the marks corresponding to said brand, the name of the owner of the brand, his place of residence; if the same be sold, the name of the person to whom sold, and his residence; the date of registration of brands and marks, particulars relating thereto. Before each brand shall be placed its number, commencing at one for the first brand on the revised list; and the name of the owner of each brand shall be indexed, reference being had in such index to the list number of the brand or brands of such owner; and all new brands and marks placed on record shall be immediately recorded and indexed in said book, which shall at all times be open to the inspection of all persons; provided, that the provisions of this article shall apply only to counties in which the work of transcribing the records has not already been done in accordance with law. [Id. p. 300, sec. 23.]

Art. 7291. [5029] Same brand, etc., not to be recorded twice, etc.—In all cases where application for registration of any mark or brand shall be made, the clerk of the county court shall receive and record the same, unless an examination of the recorded list of marks and brands shows that a similar mark and brand is already upon record in such county, in which event he shall refuse to register or give any certificate for the same; provided, that if such applicant shall have previously had such mark and brand recorded in some other county, and shall have a certificate from the clerk of the county in which said brand had been recorded, stating that said brand and mark had been recorded in said county at some time anterior to the time of the registration of the similar mark and brand in the county in which the applicant may desire to have his brand recorded, then said brand and mark shall be recorded; and the clerk shall, on the record, make a minute setting forth said facts. [Id. sec. 24.]

Art. 7292. [5030] In the county where cattle range.—All marks and brands of cattle shall be recorded in the county or counties in which they usually range; provided, that when cattle are gathered near the county line the bills of sale of the same shall be recorded in both counties; and, when any stock of cattle is sold, the fact shall be noted on the record opposite or near the record of its mark and brand, giving the name of the vendor and vendee and date of sale, and this shall be done as often as there is a sale. It is made the duty of the inspector to procure certified copies of the marks and brands of this county for himself and his deputies, and, monthly, to have added thereto the marks and brands that may be recorded. [Id. p. 301, sec. 28.]

Art. 7293. [5031] Only one mark and brand to be used.—No person owning and claiming stock shall, in originally marking and branding animals, make use of more than one mark and brand; provided, that any person may own and possess animals in many marks and brands, the same having been by him acquired by purchase; and bills of sale in writing, properly acknowledged, from the previous owner or owners of his or their legally constituted agent, shall be sufficient evidence of such purchase, but the increase of such animals, or of any animal counterbranded by such person from other stocks of cattle owned by him, shall be branded or counterbranded by one and the same brand; and when marked by such person shall be marked in one and the same mark. [Id. p. 300, sec. 22.]

Art. 7294. [5032] Counterbranding.—In all cases where the counterbranding of any cattle shall be deemed necessary or, expedient, the person so counterbranding shall counterbrand the existing brand of the animal by which the owner thereof is then known, or by which it is then claimed and owned, by branding below the said brand its facsimile, that is, similar letters, characters or numbers, as the case may be; and he shall also place on said animals the brand of the then owner thereof; but no person shall change or alter the ear marks of any animal, but in counterbranding shall leave the ears bearing the same mark or marks as before counterbranding. [Id. sec. 21.]

Art. 7295. [5033] Authority to gather, etc.—Any person having marks and brands recorded in the office of the clerk of the county court may file with the inspector a list of his recorded marks and brands, certified by the clerk under his seal, to which certified list shall be attached the names of any person or persons whom the owner of said stock may wish to authorize to gather, drive or otherwise handle his stock; and the filing of said list with the inspector shall be deemed sufficient authority to the person or persons named in such list to gather, drive or otherwise handle any animals of the marks and brands therein described. [Id. p. 209, sec. 20.]

Art. 7296. [5034] Inspections to be personal.—In making inspections, the inspector shall not trust to the statement or representations of any persons, but he shall in person carefully inspect and examine each animal or hide separately so as to identify the marks and brands, and in case of animals, the ages and sexes. [Id. p. 301, sec. 29.]

Art. 7297. [5035] Certificate of inspection.—He shall also carefully examine the bills of sale and lists of brands and marks for the cattle inspected by him; and, if satisfied that the person claiming the cattle inspected has correct bills of sale or chain of transfer in writing from the recorded owner, or is the owner himself in whole or part of the mark and brand of each animal in his drove or herd which should be inspected, and that he has none other in said herd or under his control to be carried with it, he will then, and not until then, make out a certificate, which he shall first enter in his record, under his hand and seal, containing the number of cattle in each mark and brand, with their respective ages and sexes, thus inspected, and that they appear to be the property of the person for whom they were inspected, naming him or her, as appears by bills of sale from the recorded owner of the marks and brands on the cattle inspected by him, or the owner of the brand and mark himself or herself, and that he has none other in his herd or under his control that should be inspected; and that he intends to drive or ship them, naming the place in the state, for sale or slaughter; or, if out of the state, he shall then name the place on the border of the state through which it is proposed to drive or ship such stock. [Id.]

Art. 7298. [5036] Inspection before exportation.—Whenever any person shall be about to drive or ship any stock out of the state, if the inspector shall believe, or is informed by any credible person, that said person has other stock in his herd than those covered by his original certificate of inspection, or by subsequent purchase duly attested by proper bill of sale, the inspector at said point of shipment, or border county where said person leaves the state, shall be authorized to inspect said stock in the same manner as in the original inspection; and, if any stock is found in said herd other than those covered by his original certificate of inspection, or by subsequent purchase duly and properly authenticated by bill of sale, the fees of said inspection shall be paid as provided in article 7281 of this chapter, provided, that the said inspector shall in no case be authorized to receive or demand more than three cents per head for each head of cattle inspected; but if not, then said fees shall be paid by the person at whose instance said inspection was made; and, if said inspection is made by the inspector, at his own instance, and no stock is found in said herd, except those properly accounted for under the provisions of this article, then said inspector shall receive no fees for said inspection. [Acts 1879, S. S., ch. 22.]

Art. 7299. [5037] Certificate, where filed.—One of these certificates the inspector shall immediately remit by mail, postage paid, to the first inspector, and the party owning the cattle shall deposit the other with him in two months from the date of the original inspection, both to be kept by him in his office. [Id.]

Art. 7300. [5038] Seizure of cattle not inspected originally.—But if the inspector at the point of destination shall find, upon inspection, that the owner of the herd or person in charge has in his herd other cattle besides those inspected originally in the county from which said herd was driven, he shall seize said cattle and take them into possession, and thereupon the same proceedings shall be had as are prescribed in article 7271. [Id.]

Art. 7301. [5039] Writ of sequestration if necessary.—If the person in charge of any such cattle shall refuse to deliver the same into the possession of the inspector, such inspector may apply for and obtain a writ of sequestration from any justice of the peace, county judge or district judge, according as the value of such cattle may come within the jurisdiction of either. Such writ may be obtained upon the affidavit of the inspector, stating that he believes such cattle have been unlawfully acquired, and shall issue without bond, and be forthwith executed by the sheriff or any constable of the county; and thereupon the proceedings referred to in the preceding article shall be had before the officer issuing the writ, either in term time or in vacation. [Id.]

Art. 7302. [5040] Proceeds paid into county treasury subject to claims.—The net proceeds of the sale of cattle condemned under the two preceding articles, save one-fourth of such proceeds retained by the inspector for his compensation, shall be paid into the county treasury, subject to the claim of the true owner of such cattle; and if no claim be set up and established thereto within one year from the date of its deposit, such proceeds shall pass into the general fund of the county, and all claims thereto shall thereafter be barred. [Id.]

Art. 7303. [5041] Description, etc., of cattle also filed.—At the time such proceeds are originally deposited in the county treasury the inspector shall accompany such deposit with a certified statement, under his hand and seal, of the number of cattle sold, the mark and brand of each animal, the amount for which each sold. [Id.]

Art. 7304. [5042] Change of destination.—If the owner of the inspected herd should desire to sell, slaughter or ship the cattle, or any of them, at any other place than the destination named in the original certificate of inspection, he may do so by first having his herd inspected at the point of destination therein named and a new certificate of inspection issued to him at that point, naming the new point of destination or shipment; and upon his arrival at such new point of destination like proceedings shall be had in the way of inspection, comparison and return of the certificates of inspection as are prescribed for the original point of destination. [Id.]

Note.—Acts 1911, p. 13, excepting Starr and Atascosa counties, is omitted as those counties are included in Acts 1913, p. 85.

Art. 7305a. Other counties exempted.—That the counties of Stonewall, Kent, Scurry and Fisher be, and the same are hereby exempt from the provisions and operations of articles 7256 to 7305 inclusive of chapter 7, title 124, of the Revised Civil Statutes of 1911 relative to the inspection of hides and animals. [Acts 1913, p. 87, sec. 1.]

Note.—Section 2 repeals all laws in conflict, etc.

LOCAL OPTION AS TO HIDE AND ANIMAL INSPECTION

Art. 7306. Commissioners’ court to order election, when.—Whenever twenty-five of the qualified voters of each justice precinct in any county, or a majority thereof, shall petition the commissioners’ court for an election to determine whether such county shall have a hide and animal inspector, said court shall, either at general or special term, order such election to be held after thirty days notice having been given by posting such notice in each of such justice precincts and by publishing same in some newspaper published in said county, if there be one so published. It shall be the duty of the clerk of said court to prepare said notices and the sheriff to put up same and make return of such posting and file with said clerk, showing time and place of such posting. [Acts 1909, p. 127, sec. 1.]

Art. 7307. Result to be declared, etc.—The commissioners' court at the time of ordering said election shall appoint two persons to act as judges, designating one of such as presiding judge, and two persons to act as clerks, who shall hold said election, count the votes and foot up same, showing the number of votes for and against the issue; the result shall be prepared in duplicate and sealed up, one copy for the commissioners' court and the other to be retained by the presiding judge; and the presiding judge shall deliver or cause to be delivered one copy of the result of said election to the clerk of the county court for said commissioners' court within five days after said election. Within five days after such delivery of such returns to said clerk, the commissioners' court shall count the votes and declare the results and enter the same on the election record. The county shall pay the expenses of holding such election. [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7308. Ballots.—The election shall be held under the law as now provided for holding local and general elections, and all qualified voters shall be entitled to vote, and each ballot shall have written or printed on same, "For Inspector," or, "Against Inspector." [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7309. In case election is carried.—If at such election a majority of the votes cast be "For Inspector," then the persons holding such offices shall retain same to the next general election until his successor is elected and inducted into office as now provided by law; but, in counties having no inspector, the commissioners' court shall appoint one to serve until the next general election, who shall give bond and take the oath of office as now provided by law. [Id. sec. 4.]

Art. 7310. Fees of inspector.—Such inspector as herein provided for shall be entitled to such fees for his services as are now provided by law; provided, that no inspector herein provided for shall be entitled to any fee, unless he shall make a personal inspection of each animal or hide to be inspected as provided by law. [Id. sec. 5.]

Art. 7311. Election not to be held oftener than two years.—No election shall be held oftener than every two years under this law. [Id. sec. 6.]

7314c. Owners and caretakers to treat live stock, etc.
7314d. Duties of commissioners' court and county judge.
7314e. Tick eradication in certain counties; election to determine, etc.

Art. 7315. When governor shall proclaim quarantine.
7316. Commission to purchase supplies.
7317. Railways to keep clean stock cars.
7318. Infection to be reported.
7319. Compensation of commissioners.
7320. Sheriffs and constables subject to commission.
7321. Appropriation for purposes of this chapter.
7322. [Repealed.]
7323. Concurrence of two commissioners necessary.
7324. Law cumulative.
Article 7312. [5043a] Commission created; oath, bond and term of office.—There shall be appointed by the governor, and with the consent of the senate, a live stock sanitary commission of the state of Texas, composed of three members. Before entering upon the duties of their office, said commissioners shall take and subscribe to the usual oath of office and file the same with the secretary of state; and they shall also, before entering upon the performance of their duties, execute a bond, to be approved by the state comptroller, in the sum of ten thousand dollars each, conditioned that they will faithfully perform the duties of their office, which said bond they shall file with the secretary of state. The term of office of said commissioners shall be for a period of two years next from the day of their qualification, and until their successors shall have been appointed and qualified. [Acts 1893, p. 70.]

Art. 7313. [5043b] Qualifications of commissioners.—The commissioners, whose appointment is provided for in the preceding article, shall each be practical live stock raisers in the state of Texas, and shall have been actively engaged in said business for at least five years next preceding the date of their appointment, and shall be bona fide residents of and stock raisers in the particular section of the state from which they may be appointed. One of said commissioners shall be appointed from the west, one from the south, and one from the eastern portion of said state. [Id.]

Art. 7314. [5043c] Duties and powers of the commission; transporting live stock in certain cases, etc., prohibited; state veterinarian, etc.—It shall be the duty of the commission provided for in article 7312 to protect the domestic animals of the state from all contagious, infectious diseases of a communicable character, whether said diseases exist in Texas or elsewhere; and for this purpose it is hereby authorized and empowered to establish, maintain and enforce such quarantine lines and sanitary rules and regulations as it may deem necessary. It shall also be the duty of said commission to co-operate with the live stock sanitary commission and officers of other states and with the United States secretary of agriculture in establishing such interstate quarantine lines, rules and regulations as shall best protect the live stock industry of this state against Texas splenetic fever and other contagious, infectious and communicable diseases of live stock. It shall also be the duty of said live stock sanitary commission to quarantine any district, county or part of county within this state when it shall determine the fact that cattle or other live stock in such district, county or part of county, are affected with any contagious, infectious or communicable disease, or with the agency of transmission of such diseases, and to give written or printed notice of the establishment of such quarantines to the proper officers of railroads and express companies doing business in or through such quarantine district, county or part of county within this state, and to publish notice of the establishment of such quarantine in such newspapers in the quarantine district, county or part of county as the live stock sanitary commission may select, or give notice in such other ways as it deems necessary. And no railroad or express company shall receive for transportation or transport from any quarantine district, county or part of county in this state into any other district, county or part of county within this state, any cattle or live stock except as hereinafter provided. Nor shall any person, company, or corporation deliver for transportation to any railroad or express company, any cattle or other live stock of or from a quarantined area except as hereinafter provided. Nor shall any person, company or corporation drive on foot or cause to be driven on foot or transport in private conveyance or cause to be transported in private conveyance, from a quarantined district, county or part of county into any other district, county or part of county of this state any cattle or other live stock, except as hereinafter provided. It shall be the duty of the live stock sanitary commission of Texas, and it is hereby authorized and directed, to make and promulgate rules and regulations which shall permit and govern the inspection, disinfection, certification, treatment, handling and method and manner of delivery and shipment of cattle and other live stock from a quarantined district, county or part of county into any other district, county or part of county in this state, and the live stock sanitary commission of Texas shall give notice of such rules and regulation by proclamation issued by the governor, and the said live stock sanitary commission of Texas is hereby especially empowered with the authority to employ a state veterinarian, and assistant state veterinarians in time of emergency, and inspectors or other persons as it may deem necessary to the performance of the duties imposed upon said commission. The live stock sanitary commission, the state veterinarian, assistant state veterinarians, and inspectors acting under authority or direction of the commission, are hereby empowered and it is made their duty to enter upon premises of any person, or persons, company or corporation, within the state, for the purpose of inspecting, quarantining or disinfecting premises or live stock thereon. Whenever any person shall move any animal which is quarantined or which is by law or by the rules and regulations of the live stock sanitary commission prohibited from being so moved, across any quarantine line, out of any quarantined district, or of quarantined premises in violation of the law or of the rules and regulations of the live stock sanitary commission or without its consent, the said commission, the chairman thereof, or any inspector acting under his direction, shall be authorized [authorized] and empowered to seize such animal or animals and call to their aid the sheriff of the county in which they may be found or through which they may have moved, in violation of the law or the rules and regulations of the live stock sanitary commission, and it will be the duty of said sheriff to return such animal or animals to the place, county or quarantined area from which so moved. [Acts 1893, p. 70. Acts 1913, p. 353, sec. 1.]

Note.—While Acts 1913, p. 353, in section 9 expressly repeals Art. 7322, and the act contains no other repealing clause, its subject-matter covers the subject-matter of Art. 7314, as it appears in Rev. St. 1911, and hence supersedes such article.

Historical.—The law of this article is changed by Art. 7322 so that the authority of the commission is limited to the adoption of the quarantine line established by the United States department of agriculture. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Masterson, 95 T. 265, 66 S. W. 355.

Constitutionality.—This law is in no sense a regulation of commerce. It originated in a desire to protect the stock interests of Texas. It but provides for the suspension of introduction of cattle, etc., for a very limited time, and is not unconstitutional as an interference with interstate commerce. Railroad Co. v. Smith, 20 C. A. 451, 49 S. W. 627.

Art. 7314a. Moving live stock from quarantined district, etc.—That cattle or other live stock may be moved from a quarantined district, county or part of county, or from quarantined premises into any other district, county, part of county, or premises, under and in compliance with the rules and regulations of the live stock sanitary commission, as proclaimed by the governor, but it shall be unlawful to move or allow to move any cattle or other live stock from any quarantined district, county, part of county or premises, to any other district, county, part of county or premises, in manner, method or conditions other than those prescribed by the live stock sanitary commission and proclaimed by the governor. [Acts 1913, p. 353, sec. 2.]

Art. 7314b. Further duties and powers of commission, etc.—It is further [further] provided that the live stock sanitary commission shall have the power, and it is hereby made its duty to as far as possible eradicate Texas or splenetic fever, the scabies, anthrax, tuberculosis, hog cholera, glanders and other infectious, contagious or communicable diseases of live stock, and for this purpose it is empowered to establish special quarantined districts, where such diseases or the infection of such diseases are known to exist, and notice of the establishment of such special quarantined districts shall be given as provided for in article 7314. The live stock sanitary commission shall have power to quarantine premises or pastures located in such special quarantined districts, and the domestic live stock thereon situated in such quarantined districts, or elsewhere when, to their knowledge, such pastures or premises or the live stock located thereon are infected with or have been exposed to a contagious, infectious or communicable disease or the infection thereof, and no live stock shall be moved to or from such special quarantined district, pastures or premises, in a manner, method or other condition other than those prescribed by the live stock sanitary commission. It will be the duty of the live stock sanitary commission to prescribe methods for dipping or otherwise treating or disinfecting such premises and the live stock thereon, as in their opinion are necessary for the eradication of the disease or the infection of the disease for which they are quarantined and when any person, company or corporation, owning, controlling or caring for such live stock, shall fail or refuse to dip or otherwise treat such live stock or disinfect premises at such time and in such manner as directed by the live stock sanitary commission, then the live stock sanitary commission shall have power to call upon the sheriff of the county in which such live stock are found, and it will be the duty of said sheriff, together with the inspector, to dip or otherwise treat such live stock in a manner and at such time as the live stock sanitary commission shall direct; and the said sheriff shall keep said cattle in his custody subject to such quarantine instruction as he shall receive from such officers. No officer who shall seize such live stock for dipping or treatment shall be liable to the owner thereof for damages for such taking, or by reason of such dipping or treatment; provided, the dipping or treatment has been done in accordance with the methods approved by the said live stock sanitary commission. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7314c. Owners and caretakers to treat live stock, etc.—It shall be the duty of any person in any county who is the owner or caretaker of any live stock located in a special quarantined area established under the authority of section 3 [Art. 7314b] of this Act, known by the live stock inspector to be infected with ticks (margaropus analatus) or scabies infection are exposed to infection or agent of transmission of any other infectious, contagious or communicable disease to treat such live stock and at such times and in such manner as shall be directed by the live stock sanitary commission. [Id. sec. 4.]

Art. 7314d. Duties of commissioners' court and county judge.—It shall be the duty of the commissioners court to co-operate with and assist the live stock sanitary commission in protecting the live stock of their respective counties from all contagious, infectious or communicable diseases, whether such exists within or outside of the county, and in other ways protecting the live stock interest of their counties. It shall be the duty of said commissioners' court to co-operate with the live stock sanitary commissioner [commission] and the officers working under the authority or direction of said commission in the suppression and eradication of contagious, infectious or communicable diseases. Provided, when it becomes necessary to disinfect any premises under order of the live stock sanitary commission, the county judge shall have such disinfecting done at the expense of the county, and in no case shall the owner, or lessee or tenant of the premises be held answerable to any of the provisions of this Act by reason of the fact that the county fails to disinfect the premises, as herein provided. [Id. sec. 5.]

Note.—Sections 6 and 7 are purely criminal and are omitted.

Art. 7314e. Tick eradication in certain counties; election to determine, etc.—It shall be the duty of the commissioners court of any county lying and being situated south or east of the federal quarantine line to order an election in said county when petitioned to do so by seventy-five resident land owners of the county for the purpose of determining whether the county shall take up the work of tick eradication in said county. Said election to be ordered not less than thirty days nor more than sixty days after the filing of said petition. At said election the ballots shall have printed upon them, "For Tick Eradication in ______ County," and "Against Tick Eradication in ______ County." The officers of said election shall hold said election and make returns thereof as provided by law, in case of other elections as nearly as may be. Said returns shall be made returnable to the county judge of the county. The commissioner's court shall meet and canvass said returns as soon as practicable after such election and if they shall find that a majority of all the votes were in favor of tick eradication under the direction of the live stock sanitary commission, they shall so certify and cause publication of same to be made in a newspaper published in said county. The county judge shall so notify the live stock sanitary commission and upon receipt of such notice from the county judge of the county so holding such election, the live stock sanitary commission shall cause to be issued a supplement proclamation signed by the governor proclaiming a quarantine around said county, and the citizens of said county, in co-operation with, and under the direction of, the live stock sanitary commission, shall begin the work of tick eradication within thirty days of the issuance of the said supplemental proclamation. Should the commissioner's court find that a majority of the votes cast were against tick eradication, then the county judge shall so notify the live stock sanitary commission and on and after such notice by the county judge of the county judge of the county holding such election the live stock sanitary commission shall be denied the right to take up the work of tick eradication in said county, and the provisions of this Act with reference to tick eradication and the establishment of special quarantines in reference thereto shall not be in effect in said county. [Id. sec. 8.]

Art. 7315. [5043d] When the governor shall proclaim quarantine.
—When the commission shall have determined the quarantine lines and other regulations necessary to prevent the spread among domestic animals of Texas of any malignant, contagious, or infectious disease found to exist among the live stock of this state, or elsewhere, and given their orders as hereinbefore provided, prescribing quarantine and other regulations, they shall notify the governor of the state of Texas, who shall issue his proclamation, proclaiming the boundary of such quarantine around such diseased stock, and the orders, rules, and regulations prescribed by the commission; and such commission shall give such notice as may to them seem best to make the quarantine established by them effective. [Acts 1893, p. 70.]

Art. 7316. [5043e] Commission to purchase supplies, etc.—The commission provided for in this chapter shall have power to purchase such supplies and material as may be necessary to carry into full effect all orders by them given, as hereinbefore provided; which said supplies and material and wages, and expenses of the veterinarian hereinafter provided for, shall be paid out of the moneys hereinafter appropriated, on the warrant of the comptroller, issued to said commissioners, upon their filing with the comptroller an itemized account thereof, properly verified by affidavit; provided, that no material or supplies may be purchased by the commissioners, except such as may be necessary to carry into effect the quarantine and other regulations prescribed by them. And such commissioners shall have the power to employ a competent veterinarian to assist them in the investigation of the diseases amongst the live stock of this state, whenever they may deem the services of one necessary; provided, that the compensation of such veterinarian shall not exceed the sum of ten dollars per day and actual expenses while so employed; and provided, further, that the expenditures for the compensation of veterinarians shall not exceed nine hundred dollars in any one year. [Id.]

Art. 7317. [5043f] Railways to keep clean transporting cars.—It shall be the duty of the railway corporations doing business in the state to cleanse and disinfect the cars used by them in transporting live stock in or through this state, at such times and places as the commissioners may designate, whenever, in the opinion of the commissioners, any such order may be necessary to prevent the spread of infectious or contagious disease; and such corporations violating the provisions of this article shall be liable to a penalty of five hundred dollars for each offense, to be recovered in a civil action, to be prosecuted under the direction of the attorney general in the name of the state of Texas. [Id.]

Art. 7318. [5043g] Knowledge or suspicion of infection to be reported.—It shall be the duty of any owner or person in charge of any domestic animal or animals, who discovers, suspects or has reason to believe that any of his domestic animals, or domestic animals in his charge, are affected with any contagious or infectious disease, to immediately report such fact, belief or suspicion to the commission and to the sheriff and county clerk of the county in which said domestic animals are found.

Art. 7319. [5043h] Compensation of commissioners.—The commissioners appointed by the governor, as hereinbefore provided, shall receive five dollars per day for the time by them necessarily employed in the discharge of the duties required by this chapter; and said commissioners, hereinbefore provided for, shall receive in addition thereto the actual and necessary traveling expenses incurred by them and paid in the discharge of the duties required of them by the provisions of this chapter; which said per diem and expenses shall be drawn from the treasury on the warrant of the comptroller, to be issued to said commissioners on their filing with the comptroller an itemized account thereof, properly verified by affidavit.

Art. 7320. [5043i] Sheriffs and constables subject to orders of commissioners.—The live stock sanitary commission shall have power to call upon any sheriff, deputy sheriff, or constable to execute their orders, and such officers shall obey the orders of said commissioners; and the officer or officers performing these duties shall each be entitled to two dollars and fifty cents per day for himself and horse, which payment shall be made upon a sworn account, approved by said commissioners; provided, said expenses under this article shall not exceed in any event five hundred dollars per annum. [Id.]

Art. 7321. [5043j] Appropriation for purposes of this chapter.—The sum of twenty thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated, out of the general revenue fund not otherwise appropriated, for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this chapter; provided, that the exhaustion of the appropriation herein made shall terminate the liability of the state for the two years next following, and absolve it from any future claims of any and all persons who may have claims, real or pretended, under the provisions of this chapter. [Id.]

In general.—The power of the sanitary commission in regard to prescribing quarantine lines is limited by the provisions of this article. Beyond this they have no power to prescribe quarantine lines, and any attempt on their part to do so is ineffective. Trent v. State (Cr. App.) 78 S. W. 367.

The action of the live stock sanitary commission in establishing a quarantine line, independent of the federal quarantine line, was ultra vires and void, under Art. 7322. Id. 4585
CHAPTER NINE

VETERINARY MEDICINE AND SURGERY

Art. 7324a. Practitioners must comply, etc. — That no person shall practice veterinary medicine or veterinary surgery in any of their departments, including veterinary dentistry, within this state, unless and until such persons shall have complied in all respects with the provisions of this Act. [Acts 1911, p. 132, sec. 1.]

Constitutionality of act. — The regulation of the practice of veterinary medicine, surgery, and dentistry is within the police powers of the state. Pistole v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 618.

This act, being a police regulation and not a tax measure, is not violative of Const. art. 8, §§ 1, 2, requiring taxation to be equal and uniform. 1d.

This act is not violative of Const. U. S. art. 4, § 2, providing that the citizens of each state shall be entitled to the privileges and immunities of citizens of the several states, nor of the due process and equal protection provisions of the fourteenth amendment, despite the provisions of Arts. 7324g, 7324h, 7324i, and 7324m. 1d.

Arts. 7324a-7324e are not violative of Const. art. 1, §§ 3, 17, 19, providing that all men shall have equal rights, that private property shall not be taken for public use without adequate compensation, and that no citizen of the state shall be deprived of property, privileges, or immunities, except by due process of law. 1d.

The title of this act: "An act to regulate the practice of veterinary medicine, surgery and dentistry; creating a board for the examination of applicants for the practice of veterinary medicine, surgery and dentistry; prescribing their powers, duties and qualifications; said board to be known as the 'State Board of Veterinary Examiners'; prescribing penalties for a violation of the provisions of this act, and declaring an emergency"—is not open to the objection that it is too general, and does not embrace the provisions of the act. 1d.

Art. 7324b. State board of veterinary medical examiners. — That there shall be a board to be known as the "State Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners," said board to consist of seven qualified veterinarians, who shall be graduates of legally organized and recognized veterinary colleges, of good standing in their profession, and who have had not less than two years' actual practice of veterinary medicine or veterinary surgery in the state of Texas. It shall be the duty of this board to examine into the qualifications of all applicants for certificates of license to practice veterinary medicine or veterinary surgery in this state. The members of said board shall be appointed by the governor within sixty days after the passage of this Act, from a list of eligible practitioners furnished by the state veterinary medical association, no two members of which shall be graduates of the same college, and shall hold office for a term of two years; but all vacancies by death, resignation or removal shall be filled by the governor for the unexpired term. [Id. sec. 2.]

See Pistole v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 615.

Number and qualifications of members of board.—In the trial of one for violating this act by practicing without a license, it was no defense that the board of examiners consisted of only five members, and that three of the five were graduates of the same school; the presumption being, that the governor has not violated his sworn duty, such board being at least a de facto board and the section of the statute requiring that no two members of the board shall be graduates of the same college would not disqualify the board, though more than two of them were graduates of a particular college, where the members so graduating were also graduates of other and diverse colleges. Pistole v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 618.

Art. 7324c. Officers; rules and regulations; quorum.—The members of said board shall meet in Austin, Texas, and organize within thirty days after date of appointment by electing from their own number a president and secretary-treasurer. Said board is authorized to adopt such rules and regulations as may be necessary and proper for the efficient operation of the board, to have a seal and power to administer oaths and to take testimony. Four members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business or examination of applicants, and a majority of those present shall be necessary to reject an application. [Id. sec. 3.]

See Pistole v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 618.

Art. 7324d. Meetings; examinations; certificates of license and temporary license.—That the regular meetings of the board shall be held during the third week in June of each year for the transaction of business, and the examination of applicants at such places as may be determined by the board, but other meetings may be held as necessary upon the call of the president and secretary. Due notice of all examinations shall be made public a sufficient time before they are held. All examinations shall be held under uniform rules and regulations to be adopted by the board. All examination papers shall be examined, graded and passed upon as soon as practicable, and if the applicant is thereupon found worthy and competent by the board, it shall issue to him a certificate of license to practice veterinary medicine, surgery and dentistry in this state. Provided, however, that in order to prevent any inconvenience, the secretary of the board may grant a certificate of temporary license to any applicant whose application is accompanied by the application fee hereinafter prescribed. Said applicant shall be permanently located at some designated place in this state, and must present satisfactory evidence that he possesses the necessary qualifications. Said temporary license shall entitle the holder thereof to practice until the next examination following the issue. [Id. sec. 4.]

See Pistole v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 618.

Art. 7324e. Application for license; preliminary requirements; subjects of examination; practice without license, when.—That any person desiring to practice veterinary surgery in this state shall make application for license to said state board of veterinary medical examiners upon blanks furnished by said board for such purpose. Said application shall be accompanied by the fee hereinafter prescribed and by satisfactory proof that the applicant is of good standing and character. His diploma shall be submitted for inspection by the board. When these preliminary requirements are satisfied, the applicant shall present himself before the board for examination upon the following subjects: Veterinary anatomy, veterinary pathology, chemistry, veterinary surgery, veterinary obstetrics, veterinary materia medica, veterinary sanitary science and police and veterinary practice. Provided, that until January first, 1912, persons who have been engaged in the practice of veterinary surgery or any of the branches thereof, including veterinary dentistry, in the state of Texas, as their principal occupation for at least one year immediately prior to the passage and approval of this Act, and are of good moral character, shall be entitled to a certificate of license on application to the board, presentation of satisfactory evidence and payment of the regular application fee hereinafter prescribed. Such license to expire at the end of one year from date of issuing. Provided that nothing in this Act shall prohibit any person who has practiced veterinary surgery for five years prior to the enactment of this law from practicing in their county or residence only, without license by making affidavit before the district clerk of his county that he has practiced veterinary surgery for five years, but if such person shall move from such county of residence he shall comply with all the requirements of this Act before he shall be allowed to practice. [Id. sec. 5.]
See Pistole v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 618.

Art. 7324f. Records.—That the board of veterinary medical examiners shall keep a record of their proceedings in a book provided for that purpose, which book shall be kept open for inspection, and shall record the name of each applicant, his age, the school from which he graduated, with the date and the degree conferred, the time granting a certificate of license, the names of the members of the board present; and where a certificate of license is refused to any applicant under authority of this Act, the fact and ground of such refusal shall be entered upon the minutes of the board, and shall be communicated in writing to such applicant. [Id. sec. 6.]

Art. 7324g. Fees.—That every person applying to said board for a license to practice shall accompany such application with a fee of five dollars, which fee shall in no case be refunded; provided, the payment of a license fee of five dollars shall not be required of those who have practiced veterinary surgery in Texas for as much as one year before this Act shall become operative. All fees shall be held in the custody of the secretary-treasurer who shall give bond in the sum of two thousand dollars for their safe keeping. [Id. sec. 7.]
See Pistole v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 618.

Art. 7324h. License to be recorded, etc.—That any person receiving a certificate of license from the board of veterinary medical examiners shall forthwith have it recorded in the office of the district clerk of the county in which he makes his residence, and shall display it in his regular place of business. The date of recording shall be recorded thereon, and said license, when so recorded, shall not be collaterally questioned, except as hereinafter provided. Until the license is recorded the holder shall not exercise any of the rights or privileges therein conferred; and in case said license is not recorded within three months from its date of issue it shall become invalid. The district clerk shall be paid his fee for recording such certificate by holder thereof. Any registered veterinarian removing his residence from one county in this state into another county in order to practice shall in like manner record his certificate of license in the county to which he removes. Practitioners who have registered in the county in which they reside may go from one county to another on professional business without being required to register. [Id. sec. 8.]
See Pistole v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 618.

Art. 7324i. Duties of district clerk, etc.—That the district clerk of each county shall keep a complete list of the certificates of licenses recorded by him, together with the date of each and the date of recording. He shall further record the name of the veterinary college which conferred the diploma on which the certificate is based, and the date when conferred; and the district clerk shall hereafter, beginning on the first Monday in June, 1911, and annually thereafter, report to the secretary of the board a list of such registers, for which service the district clerk shall be paid out of the funds of the board twenty-five cents for each name so reported. The register of the district clerk of each county shall be open to inspection during business hours. [Id. sec. 9.]

Art. 7324j. Compensation of members of board.—That the members of said board shall receive as compensation for their service ten dollars per day while in the actual service of the board; and also their actual hotel and traveling expenses of each meeting of the board shall be paid out of any moneys in the treasury of the board upon the certificate of the president and secretary-treasurer. It shall not be lawful for the board, or any member thereof, in any manner whatever or for any purpose to charge or obligate the state for the payment of any money, and said board shall look alone to the revenue derived from the operation of this Act for the compensation prescribed. If said revenue is not sufficient to pay each member in full, together with the necessary expenses of the board, then the amount available shall be prorated among the members. [Id. sec. 10.]

Art. 7324k. Revocation of license.—That the board shall have the right and power to revoke any license upon evidence that it was secured by fraud or that the holder of the license has been guilty of unprofessional or dishonorable conduct. [Id. sec. 11.]

Note.—Section 12 makes it a misdemeanor to practice without a license, and is omitted.

Constitutionality.—See notes under Art. 7324a.

Art. 7324l. Practicing defined; not applicable to whom.—That any person shall be regarded as practicing veterinary medicine, surgery or dentistry within the meaning of this Act who professes publicly to be a veterinary surgeon or dentist, or who appends to his name any initials or title implying qualifications to practice or who shall treat, operate on or prescribe for any physical ailment in or any physical injury to or deformity of any domestic animal for which he shall receive compensation, either directly or indirectly. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to interfere with or punish veterinarians in the United States army or in the United States bureau of animal industry, while so commissioned, or any lawfully qualified veterinarians residing in other states or countries meeting registered veterinaries of this state on consultation, or any veterinarian residing on the border of a neighboring state and duly authorized under the laws thereof to practice extends [extending] into the limits of this state; provided, that such practitioner shall not open any office or appoint a place to meet patients within the limits of Texas. Nothing in this Act shall apply to persons gratuitously treating animals. It is further provided that the operations known as "dehorning," "castrating," and "spaying" shall not be regarded as the practice of veterinary surgery, nor the vaccination of cattle for blackleg as the practice of veterinary medicine, and nothing in this Act shall be construed to prohibit any one whosoever from performing any of these operations on any wild or domestic animal. [Id. sec. 13.]

See Pistole v. State (Cr. App.) 160 S. W. 618.

Art. 7324m. Reciprocal arrangements with other states.—That the board of veterinary medical examiners shall be empowered to make reciprocal arrangements with similar boards of other states whereby due credit for state and territorial license will be allowed in the state of Texas, and vice versa. But no such arrangements shall be made with any state where a satisfactory standard of requirements is maintained. [Id. sec. 14.]

Art. 7324n. Power of grand jury, etc.—That the grand jury of each county in this State is hereby given inquisitorial power over all offenses against or violations of this Act, and the judges of the state district courts shall give the same in their charges to the grand juries, and it shall be the duty of the board of veterinary medical examiners or any member thereof, to report any violation of this Act to the proper authority. [Id. sec. 15.]

Art. 7324o. Penalty for issue of license in certain cases.—That it shall be a misdemeanor and shall disqualify from office for the board of medical examiners to issue a certificate of license to any person, only as set forth and prescribed from office; the governor shall appoint a new board in full, as provided in this Act. [Id. sec. 16.]

Decisions Relating to Subject in General

Liability of carrier.—Where cattle were shipped from a point quarantined against, held the duty of the carrier to use ordinary care to prevent the cattle from escaping from its pens. Reynolds v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 569.

In an action against a carrier for alleged negligence in allowing diseased cattle to escape from its pens into plaintiff's pasture, evidence held insufficient to warrant a finding of negligence. Id.

Sale of impure animal food.—The measure of damages for selling unsound feed for cattle, whereby they were made sick, held to be their diminished market value at the time and place they were injured. Houston Cotton Oil Co. v. Trammell (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 244.

In an action for the death of stock caused by unwholesome bran sold plaintiff by defendant, proof respecting an implied warranty held to make out a case for plaintiff. Houk v. Berg (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 1176.

Covenant in lease.—The clause not to overstock the pasture, made in an agreement by the landlord in taking cattle to pasture, is a continuing covenant. That the owner of the stock inspected the pasture before the contract does not relieve the owner from his covenant, and the consequent damages for so doing. McAuley v. Harris, 71 T. 632, 9 S. W. 679.

TITLE 125
SUPPLIES FOR PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS

[See Acts 1909, p. 275, providing for supplying electric lights, etc., to public institutions at the capital.]

CHAPTER ONE
STATE PURCHASING AGENT FOR ELEEMOSYNARY INSTITUTIONS

Art. 7325. State purchasing agent; appointment; forbidden to receive rebates, etc.—The state purchasing agent shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, every two years, and shall hold his office for the term of two years from the date of his qualification, and until his successor is appointed and qualified. Said purchasing agent shall receive an annual salary of two thousand dollars, which shall not be increased or diminished during his term of office, and he shall not receive, directly or indirectly, any extra compensation in the way of commissions or otherwise. Said agent shall not be interested in or in any manner connected with, any contract or bid for furnishing supplies or articles of any kind to any of said institutions, or to any other department or institution of the state, or with any person, firm or corporation who is interested in, or in any manner connected with, any kind of contract with the state or any of its institutions and departments, nor shall he collect or be paid his salary, or any part thereof, while he is in any manner or degree indebted to the state, or in arrears in his accounts and reports as such agent. Neither shall said agent accept or receive from any person, firm or corporation to whom any contract may be awarded, directly or indirectly, by rebate, gift or otherwise, any money or other thing of value whatever, nor shall he receive any promise, obligation or contract for future reward or compensation from any such party. [Acts 1899, p. 138, sec. 1.]

Art. 7326. Oath; bond; forbidden to be concerned in sale of merchandise, etc., to state.—Upon being appointed and confirmed as aforesaid, said agent shall take the constitutional oath of office, and enter into a bond, with two or more good and sufficient sureties, payable to the state of Texas, in the sum of fifty thousand dollars, to be approved by the governor of the state, and conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties, and that he will correctly and honestly pass upon and award all bids and contracts for supplies, and will fully and accurately account to and pay over to the state, or to the persons authorized to receive the same, all moneys, merchandise and articles of value that shall come into and pass through his hands as such agent, or for which he may be responsible; and also conditioned that he will honestly, faithfully and accurately disburse and account for all moneys controlled or handled by him in the performance of his duties. It is unlawful and within the conditions of said bond for said agent to sell or be in any manner concerned in the sale of any merchandise, supplies or other articles to any of the institutions herein named, or to any other department or institution of the state. It shall also be within the conditions of said bond and the same shall provide that said purchasing agent shall not accept or receive, directly or indirectly, by rebate, commissions or in any other manner whatever any money or other thing of value from any person, firm or corporation to whom said agent may award any contract, directly or indirectly. The said bond shall be filed in the office of the comptroller, and recoveries may be had on the same until exhausted. [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7327. Storekeepers; appointment; bond; duty.—There shall be appointed by the superintendents, with the advice and consent of the boards of managers, of said institutions, storekeepers and accountants, one for each of said institutions, who shall hold their offices for two years from date of qualification, or until their successors shall have qualified, unless sooner removed by the boards of managers at the suggestion of the superintendent, or upon the complaint of the purchasing agent, for inefficiency, incompetency, neglect of duty or other adequate cause affecting their faithful and satisfactory performance of duty. Said storekeepers or accountants shall receive a compensation not to exceed the sum of nine hundred dollars per annum, to be charged and paid as part of the current expenses of said institutions; and they shall not be entitled to charge, collect or receive any other compensation or commutation or commission, unless their own individual board and lodging, if they shall be required to reside within the institutions to which they are attached. Each of said storekeepers or accountants shall, before entering upon the performance of his duties, make and file with the comptroller of public accounts a bond in the sum of ten thousand dollars, payable to the state of Texas, to be approved by the governor and filed with the comptroller, which bond shall be conditioned for the full, faithful, accurate and honest performance of his duties; and it shall not be lawful for said storekeepers or accountants to sell or be in any way concerned in the sale of any merchandise, supplies or other articles to any of the institutions herein named, or to have any interest in any bid or contract therewith, or with any other institution or department of the state government. The offices or positions of steward, quartermaster or other similar position heretofore existing in any and all of said named institutions are abolished, and said storekeepers or accountants shall hereafter perform all the duties, except such as may be inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter heretofore imposed upon such abolished officers or employes, as well as such other duties as may be required of them by the management of said institutions. They shall also keep the purchasing agent constantly advised as to the amount and character of supplies on hand, and the amount and character required in order to keep the institutions constantly provided for. They shall also furnish any other information respecting such matters as may be desired by the said purchasing agent. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7328. Manner of contracting for supplies.—It shall be the duty of the purchasing agent aforesaid to contract for all supplies, merchandise and articles of every description needed for the maintenance and operation of said institutions, except those supplies that are of a strictly perishable character, basing his contract or contracts upon estimates to be furnished him by the superintendents and approved by the boards of said institutions respectively, by the first day of May of each year, for an entire year; and all such contracts shall be made after full notice by advertisement of not less than four weeks in at least four of the leading papers of the state, to be selected by said agent and within the limit of appropriations made by the legislature for such purposes, regard being had to the appropriation for each institution. Such advertisement shall call for sealed bids or proposals to furnish the aggregate of the desired articles and supplies as estimated for by such institutions, naming the articles and supplies and the quantities and character required; and all such bids or proposals shall be for the entire period of one year; such supplies, articles and merchandise to be delivered at such times, in such quantities, and to such institutions as said agent may from time to time designate; and, should the supplies, or any portion thereof, as contracted for, be not sufficient for the year for which the contract or contracts shall be made, then the contractor or contractors shall be required to furnish such additional supplies at the prices named for similar articles under the contract or contracts; provided, that should said purchasing agent at any time discover that he could purchase the same supplies for less money for any one year by buying the same for a less length of time than one year, he shall have the authority to make such purchases for a shorter length of time, but not less than three months. It being the purpose of this chapter to authorize and require said purchasing agent to make such contracts upon such terms as will secure the best and cheapest rates for the state in the purchase of supplies and articles of necessity for said institutions, and to that end he shall reserve the right to reject any and all bids, or to accept, any bid in part or reject it in part; and if none of the bids and proposals are deemed advantageous and satisfactory, he may buy in the open market until a proper and satisfactory bid is offered. The period for which such bids or proposals are invited shall be clearly stated in said advertisements, as well as the terms and conditions contemplated by the provisions of this chapter. When the same article is estimated for by two or more institutions, but of different brands or grades, the purchasing agent may determine which of the brands or grades shall be purchased, so as to produce uniformity in use by all the institutions; provided, that other things being equal, supplies offered by bidders who have an established local business in this state shall have preference. [Id. sec. 4.]

Art. 7329. Bids, submission of.—Any and all bids or proposals under this chapter shall be accompanied by a good and sufficient bond or a certified check, in such sum as the said purchasing agent may require, the same to be stated in the advertisements aforesaid; and the said agent may, if he deems it advisable, advertise for the various articles and supplies needed separately or together, and may accept the bid or bids for the same to be furnished separately or all by one bidder, as may be most advantageous to the state, and when purchases are made by the state purchasing agent, preference shall be given to state or home products, all things being equal. [Id. sec. 5.]

Art. 7330. Bids, opening and acceptance of.—All bids shall be opened on the date and at the place specified in the advertisement for the same, and such opening and inspection of the bids shall be made by the purchasing agent in the presence of the governor and comptroller of public accounts and of the superintendent and board of managers, if they desire to be present. The supplies and articles furnished under all bids and contracts shall be such as are called for by requisitions of the superintendents of the several institutions named, and equal to and of the same quality as the sample furnished purchasing agent; and all supplies furnished by contract as provided herein shall be equal to the sample which is required by article 7328 to accompany the bid. And when the supplies delivered under contract do not come up to the sample, the superintendent shall refuse to accept the same. The estimates furnished said purchasing agent as aforesaid, upon which he makes his advertisements and contracts, shall, as nearly as practicable, state the quantity and quality of the articles and supplies needed, and when possible, the brand of the same, and copies of such estimates shall be filed with the comptroller and be open to public inspection. [Id. sec. 6.]

Art. 7331. Invoices, payment of.—Invoices of all supplies of whatever kind shall be furnished in triplicate by the contractor or seller at the time of each delivery of said supplies, two of which shall be transmitted to the storekeeper of the institution to which supplies are sent, and one by the same mail to the purchasing agent. As soon as the supplies shall have been received and examined by the storekeeper of the institution to which the same shall have been shipped, and if he shall find them to correspond in every particular with the invoices transmitted him and the samples by which the supplies were sold, he shall transmit to the purchasing agent one of said invoices with a certificate thereon that the supplies received correspond in every particular with the invoice and the sample by which the supplies were sold; and if the purchasing agent shall, upon further examination, find such invoice to be correct, he shall transmit it with his approval to the comptroller; and when such invoice so approved by the storekeeper of the institution to which the supplies named therein have been furnished, and by the purchasing agent, shall have been further approved by the comptroller, he shall draw his warrant for the amount due on the invoice, or upon so much thereof as has been allowed, upon the state treasury, and it shall be charged against the institution so furnished. And the contractor or seller, to the invoice to be transmitted by him to the storekeeper, thence to the purchasing agent, and thence to the comptroller, shall append an affidavit made and subscribed to by him before any officer having a seal and authorized to administer oaths, that the invoice is correct, and that it corresponds in every particular to the supplies furnished and shipped. [Id. sec. 7.]

Art. 7332. Successful bidder must give bond.—When any bid shall have been accepted, the purchasing agent shall require of the successful bidder a bond payable unto the state, with good and sufficient sureties, in the sum not less than one-third of the amount of the bid, to be approved by the comptroller, conditioned that he will fully, faithfully and accurately execute the terms of the contract into which he has entered, said bond to be filed in the office of the comptroller, and recoveries may be had on such bond until exhausted. [Id. sec. 8.]

Art. 7333. Emergency purchases.—In case any temporary and unforeseen exigency should arise in any of the institutions named, and it shall be made to appear upon the written statement of the superintendent to the board of managers of such institution that a serious detriment will be caused to the service if the method of purchase, as hereinbefore defined, shall be pursued, then such board, if upon examination it shall deem an immediate purchase necessary, may by appropriate order, to be approved by the governor and duly entered upon its minutes, authorize the purchase of such supplies as may be needed to meet such temporary and unforeseen exigency, and which are not embraced in any existing contract; and the superintendent may thereupon direct the storekeeper to purchase the same in open market. A report of such purchase, together with a copy of the application of the superintendent, and the order of the board, shall be transmitted to the purchasing agent, and he shall transmit the same, with his endorsement thereon, to the comptroller, and upon it the comptroller shall issue his warrant upon the treasury of the state for the amount so expended. The provisions of this article shall only apply to articles and supplies that are not of a strictly perishable character. [Id. sec. 9.]
Art. 7334. Purchases must accord with appropriations.—All purchases by contract or otherwise, as herein authorized, shall be in accordance with such appropriations as have been made by the legislature for the support of the several institutions respectively. [Id. sec. 10.]

Art. 7335. Purchase of perishables.—The governor, comptroller, and purchasing agent shall frame and transmit to each institution a system of rules and regulations for the purchase of such supplies as are strictly perishable in their character, and to which conformity by all the institutions is hereby required. [Id. sec. 11.]

Art. 7336. Purchasing agent's clerk.—The purchasing agent shall have authority to appoint one clerk to assist him in his duties, with a salary not to exceed one thousand dollars per annum, and shall make an annual report to the governor at the end of each fiscal year covering all his acts and doings; and such report shall be laid before the legislature at its next session thereafter. [Id. sec. 12.]

Art. 7337. Institutions contemplated by this chapter.—The institutions herein contemplated are those for the care of the insane, the deaf and dumb, the blind, the orphans, the Confederate home, and all others of a charitable and eleemosynary character, to be hereafter established under state patronage and control. [Id. sec. 13.]

Art. 7338. Payment only on affidavit.—No account for goods, wares or merchandise purchased by any officers to whom this chapter refers shall be paid, unless sworn to as required by article 3712, which affidavit shall further state that no commission or other compensation has been or will be paid as a consideration for such purchase, and that affiant knows such facts. [Id. sec. 15.]

OF THE MODE OF SUPPLYING FUEL TO THE EXECUTIVE AND OTHER DEPARTMENTS

Art. 7339. [2929] Board of contractors; duration of contract. —The attorney general, treasurer, and secretary of state are constituted a board of contractors, and required to contract with any suitable person or persons, firm or firms, who are residents of and doing business in this state, to furnish such fuel as may be required by law or needed by any department of the state government, except the judicial department; and said contracts shall be for the term of one year, and until a new contract shall be made and approved. [Act Aug. 21, 1876, p. 273, sec. 1. Const., art. 16, sec. 21.]

Art. 7340. [2930] Advertisement for proposals.—The secretary of state shall every year, and at such other times as are necessary, advertise for thirty days in one or more newspapers published in the city of Austin, and having the largest circulation, for sealed proposals for furnishing such fuel, and shall in said advertisement state a time and place when and where said proposals shall be received and opened and contract awarded, not exceeding forty days from the date of the first publication of said advertisement; and he shall in said advertisement give such specifications and estimates of the probable amount and quality of fuel that will be required as may be practicable. [Id. sec. 2.]
Art. 7341. [2931] Proposals, how made.—All proposals shall be sealed and addressed to the secretary of state, and shall be indorsed with the statement that they are proposals for fuel, and when received shall be filed carefully away by the secretary of state in his office, and the seals thereof shall not be broken until the day named in the advertisement for awarding the contract, and shall be opened in the presence of the contracting board and such bidders as may desire to be present. [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7342. [2932] Contract awarded to lowest bidder.—The bids shall be examined by the contracting board, a careful comparison made, and the contract awarded to the lowest and most responsible bidder, whose bid shall be below such maximum rates as are hereinafter prescribed. [Id.]

Art. 7343. [2933] Bids to be guaranteed.—Each bid shall be accompanied by a guarantee, signed by at least two responsible citizens, guaranteeing that if the contract be awarded to said bidder that he or they will enter into contract, and give a good and sufficient bond to carry out the same. [Id.]

Art. 7344. [2934] Contractor's bond.—The party to whom any contract is awarded shall immediately after such award enter into bond in such sum as may be prescribed by the board of contractors, payable to the state, and with good and sufficient sureties to be approved by the board, conditioned for the faithful performance of such contract; which bond shall be deposited in the office of the secretary of state.

Art. 7345. [2935] Rescission of contract.—At any time after a contract has been made and entered into with any person or firm, as herein provided, the legislature may annul said contract if not executed, and may alter or amend by enactment the maximum rates for such fuel. The board of contractors shall have power and is hereby required when the legislature is not in session to cancel the contract whenever the party or parties fail to comply with the contract as promptly as the exigencies of the public service demand; and it shall be their duty to let out a new contract in the manner herein provided. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7346. [2936] No officer to be interested in contracts.—No member or officer of any department of the government shall be in any way interested in said contracts; and all such contracts shall be in writing and signed by the board of contractors, and approved in writing by the governor, secretary of state, and comptroller. [Id. p. 274, sec. 5.]

Art. 7347. [2937] Rate for fuel.—The rate paid for fuel in said contracts shall not exceed six dollars and ten cents per cord for dry cedar, and five dollars and ten cents per cord for dry oak and other kinds of wood, except cedar. [Id. sec. 6.]

Art. 7348. [2938] Record of proceedings.—The secretary of state shall keep a record of his proceedings and the proceedings of the board of contractors; and a majority of said board shall be competent to do business. [Id. sec. 4.]
CHAPTER ONE

OF THE LEVY OF TAXES AND PAYMENT OF OCCUPATION TAXES

Art. 7349. Board constituted.—The governor, comptroller of public accounts, and treasurer of this state, are constituted a board to calculate the ad valorem tax to be levied and collected each year for state and public free school purposes. [Acts 1907, p. 464, sec. 1.]

Taxes constituting school fund.—See Title 48, Chapter 9.
Art. 7350. Tax assessor to make certificate to comptroller.—It shall be the duty of the tax assessor of each county in this state to make to the comptroller of public accounts, on or before the fifteenth day of July of each year a statement, showing as nearly as can be ascertained from his inventories or assessments, the total amount of property in each county subject to taxation; provided, that the tax for state and public free school purposes shall not be calculated and carried out upon said rolls. [Id. Amended Acts 1909, p. 371, sec. 2.]

Art. 7351. Method of ascertaining tax rate.—Within five days after the comptroller of public accounts has received such certified statements from every assessor within this state, said board shall meet for the purpose of calculating the ad valorem rate for taxes to be collected for the state and public free school purposes. In calculating said rates, the board shall calculate the same by the following rules and upon the following basis: They shall find, by adding together all the property subject to taxation in all the counties as shown by the certified statements returned by the assessors, the total valuation of all property within this state subject to ad valorem taxes. They shall find, by adding together the sums appropriated by the legislature, which will or which may become due by the state during the following fiscal year, the total sum which will or which may become due by the state, during the following fiscal year. They shall find, by adding all sums paid into the state treasury as taxes for state purposes from all sources other than as ad valorem taxes during the first half of the current calendar year and the latter half of the last preceding calendar year, the total sum paid into the state treasury from said sources during said time. They shall find, by subtracting from the total sum which will or which may become due by the state during the next succeeding fiscal year the total sum which was paid into the state treasury as taxes for state purposes during the first half of the current calendar year and the latter half of the last preceding calendar year, the total sum for state purposes which must be collected by ad valorem taxes. They shall add to such remainder twenty per cent of said remainder. They shall divide the total sum for state purposes which must be collected by ad valorem taxes added to twenty per cent of such total sum by the quotient of the total valuation of all property within this state divided by one hundred. The quotient shall be the number of cents on the one hundred dollars valuation to be collected for the current year for state purposes; provided, that said quotient shall not be run to more than three decimals; and provided, that the rate for state purposes shall never exceed the rate fixed by law on the one hundred dollars valuation of property. In calculating the rate to be collected for public free school purposes, the said board shall take into consideration the number of children in the state within the scholastic age to be determined from the most recent official school census; and shall fix a rate that will yield and produce for such fiscal year four dollars per capita for all the children within the scholastic age, as shown by said scholastic census; provided, the rate so fixed for any year shall never exceed the rate fixed by law. [Acts 1907, p. 464, sec. 3.]

Art. 7352. Comptroller to certify rate to tax assessor.—It shall be the duty of the comptroller of public accounts to certify to the assessor of taxes of each county in this state, through registered letter, the rate of taxes for state purposes and for public free school purposes for the current year, and shall also publish immediately such rate for thirty days in some newspaper published in the state and having a general circulation therein; and as soon as such tax assessor has received notice of such rate he shall calculate the taxes due the state for state purposes, and also the taxes due for public free school purposes, on all taxable property within his county, as set out in article 7351, and shall carry the same out upon the copies of the tax rolls of the county to be delivered to the tax collector and to the clerk of the county court and to be returned to the comptroller of public accounts, as provided by law. After he has so completed the said copies of the tax rolls, he shall return to the comptroller of public accounts a copy of same. [Id. sec. 4.]

Art. 7353. Commissioners' court to calculate the county rate, when. — The commissioners' courts of the several counties of this state, all the members thereof being present, at either a regular or special session, may at any time after the tax assessors of their respective counties have forwarded to the comptroller of public accounts the certificate required in article 7350 and prior to the time when the tax collector of such county shall have begun to make out his receipts, calculate the rate and adjust the taxes levied in their respective counties for general purposes to the taxable values shown by the assessment rolls. [Id. sec. 5.]

Art. 7354. [5048] Poll tax.—There shall be levied and collected from every male person between the ages of twenty-one and sixty years, resident within this state, on the first day of January of each year (Indians not taxed, and persons insane, blind, deaf and dumb or those who have lost one hand or foot, excepted) an annual poll tax of one dollar and fifty cents, one dollar for the benefit of free schools, and fifty cents for general revenue purposes; provided, that no county shall levy more than twenty-five cents poll tax for county purposes. [Acts 1882, p. 18.]

Constitutionality.—Under section 3, article 7, of the constitution a poll tax is levied on every male inhabitant between the ages of 21 and 69 years, and the exceptions of the persons and the classes of persons named in this article could be held to be invalid and unavailing, so that the law and tax could stand and the attempted exceptions fail. Solon v. State, 54 Cr. R. 261, 114 S. W. 359.

This article, not being violative of Const. art. 8, § 1, requiring taxation to be equal and uniform, the classification being uniform and resting upon a substantial basis and reason, Sp. Laws 1897, p. 155, c. 110, § 15, amended by Sp. Laws 1905, p. 263, c. 30, § 15, providing that any person in the county subject to payment of a poll tax who shall fail to pay it before a certain time shall be subject to road duty for a period of three days during the year, etc., is not violative of the section of the constitution. Bluitt v. State, 56 Cr. R. 525, 121 S. W. 169.

Construction of statute.—The law exempting those from payment of a poll tax who have lost a hand or foot does not exempt one who has lost part of his fingers or whose foot is useless. Bingham v. Clubb, 42 C. A. 312, 95 S. W. 675.

Place of payment of tax.—See notes under Art. 7616.

Property liable for delinquent tax.—As to the liability of exempt property to seizure and sale for delinquent poll tax, see Ring v. Williams, 13 C. A. 609, 35 S. W. 733.

Poll tax in cities.—See Art. 925.

Art. 7355. [5049] Occupation taxes.—There shall be levied on and collected from every person, firm, company or association of persons pursuing any of the occupations named in the following numbered subdivisions of this article, an annual occupation tax, which shall be paid annually in advance, except where herein otherwise provided, on every such occupation or separate establishment, as follows:

Section 1. Itinerant merchants.—From every merchant who may remove from place to place and offer for sale "bankrupt stocks" of goods, or advertising "fire sales," or "water and fire damaged stocks for sale," for a limited period of time, there shall be collected one hundred dollars per month for the first month, or less than a month, for each and every place where such business is located; and for each additional month that such sales are continued, at any given place, said merchant shall pay an additional sum of twenty dollars; provided, that where they remain for six months in one place, in addition to the one hundred dollars charged for the first month, they shall pay an additional sum of ten dollars per month; and provided, further, that, if they remain in one place for the period of twelve months, they shall be required to pay, in addition to the one hundred dollars for the first month, the sum fixed in the preceding paragraph, according to class and amount of goods sold in one year.

Sec. 2. Traveling vendors of patent medicines.—From every traveling person selling patent or other medicines, one hundred dollars; and no traveling person shall so sell until said tax is paid; provided, that this tax shall not apply to commercial travelers, drummers or salesmen making sales, or soliciting trade for merchants engaged in the sale of drugs or medicines by wholesale.

Sec. 3. Auctioneers.—From every auctioneer, an annual tax of ten dollars.

Sec. 4. Ship brokers and agents.—From every person, firm or association of persons following the occupation of ship brokers or ship agents, an annual tax of ten dollars.

Sec. 5. Persons selling on commission.—From every person, firm or association of persons selling on commission, ten dollars.

Sec. 6. Itinerant physicians, etc.—From every itinerant physician, surgeon, oculist or medical or other specialist of any kind, traveling from place to place in the practice of his profession, except dentists practicing from place to place in the county of their residence, an annual tax of fifty dollars.

Sec. 7. Shooting gallery.—From every person or firm keeping a shooting gallery at which a fee is paid or demanded, an annual tax of thirty dollars in each county.

Sec. 8. Billiard and pool tables.—From every billiard or pool table, or any thing of the kind used for profit, twenty dollars; and any such table used in connection with any drinking saloon or other place of business where intoxicating liquors, cigars or other things of value are sold or given away, or upon which any money or other thing of value is paid, shall be regarded as used for profit.

Sec. 9. Nine and ten pin alleys.—From every nine or ten pin alley, or any other alley used for profit, by whatever name called, constructed or operated upon the principle of a bowling alley, and upon which balls, rings or other devices are used as [or] substitutes thereof are rolled, without regard to the number of pins used, or whether pins are used or not, or whether the balls, rings or other device are rolled by hand or with a cue or any other device, one hundred dollars. Any such alley used in connection with any drinking saloon, or any drug store, or with any drug store where intoxicating liquors are sold or given away, or upon which money or anything of value is paid, shall be regarded as used for profit.

Sec. 10. Hobby horses, etc.—From all persons keeping or using for profit any hobby horse, flying-jenny, or device of that character, with or without name, fifteen dollars for each county wherein the same are kept or used.

Sec. 11. Foot peddlers.—From every foot peddler, five dollars in each county in which he peddles; from every peddler with one horse or one pair of oxen, the sum of seven dollars and fifty cents in the county in which he peddles; from every peddler with two horses or two pair oxen, ten dollars in each county in which said occupation is pursued; from every peddler with sail or other boat in streams along coasts or bays of this state, ten dollars in each county in which said occupation is pursued; provided, that nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to include traveling vendors of literature or traveling vendors of poultry, vegetables, fruits or other country produce exclusively, and fruit trees exclusively.

Sec. 12. Clock peddlers.—From every person or firm who peddles out clocks, agricultural implements, cooking stoves or ranges, wagons, buggies, carriages, surreys and other similar vehicles, washing machines and churns, an annual tax of two hundred and fifty dollars, to be paid in each county in which said occupation is pursued; provided, that a merchant shall not be required to pay this special tax for selling the articles named in this chapter when sold in his place of business.

Sec. 13. Theaters.—From every theater or dramatic representation for which pay for admission is demanded or received in towns or cities of fifteen hundred inhabitants or less, one dollar; in towns and cities of fifteen hundred and not over three thousand, two dollars; in towns and cities of over three thousand and not less than five thousand, three dollars; in towns and cities of over five thousand and not over ten thousand, four dollars, and in towns and cities of over ten thousand inhabitants, five dollars per day for every day they may perform; provided, that theatrical or dramatic representations given by performers for instruction only, or entirely for charitable purposes, shall not be herein included; provided, however, that this tax shall not be collected where the performances are exhibited in regularly recognized opera houses or theaters; but in lieu of said tax the managers of said opera houses or theaters shall pay an annual occupation tax of twenty-five dollars.

Sec. 14. Circus.—From every circus or wild west show wherein, among other acts, broncho-busting; rough-riding, equestrian or acrobatic feats are performed or exhibited for which pay for admission is demanded or received, for each day or part thereof on which performances or exhibitions are given, where an admission fee of 75 cents or over is charged, $225; for each day or part thereof on which performances or exhibitions are given where an admission fee of any sum from 50 cents to 75 cents is charged, $200; for each day or part thereof on which performances or exhibitions are given where an admission fee of 50 cents or less is charged, $150; provided, that the amount of fee charged for reserved seats shall be considered as a part of such admission fee; provided that where there is a combination of circus and menageries, wild west and menagerie or circus or wild west and other exhibitions, the highest tax fixed by this act for any division or department of the combination shall be collected; provided, further, that every show or exhibition which advertises itself as a circus, wild west show or menagerie or a combination of any of them, shall be held and construed to be such for the purposes of the levy and collection of occupation taxes provided for herein. [Acts 1911, p. 142, sec. 1.]

Note.—Acts 1911, p. 142, amends subdivision 23, art. 5049, Rev. St. 1895, as amended by Acts 56th Legislature, Called Session, ch. 15, p. 49. The provision amended was incorporated in Rev. St. 1911 as subdivision 14, Art. 7355.

Sec. 15. Menagerie, etc.—From every menagerie, wax-works, side show or exhibition, whether connected with a circus or not, where a separate fee for admission is demanded or received, ten dollars for every performance or exhibition in which fees for admission are received.

Sec. 16. Acrobatic performances.—From every exhibition where acrobatic feats are performed and an admission fee charged for profit, not connected with the circus or theater, ten dollars for each performance.

Sec. 17. Sleight of hand performances.—From every sleight of hand performance or exhibition of legerdemain, not connected with a theater or circus, twenty-five dollars.

Sec. 18. Wax-works, etc.; benevolent associations exempt.—From every menagerie, wax-works or exhibition of any kind where a separate fee for admission is demanded or received, ten dollars for every day on which fees for such admission are received; provided, that exhibitions by associations organized for promotion of art, science, charity or benevolence, shall be exempt from taxation; and provided, further, that persons who form a museum composed entirely of the products of Texas shall have the right to exhibit the same for a fee without paying any occupation tax.

Sec. 19. Concerts, etc.; exemptions.—From every concert where a fee for admission is demanded or received, two dollars; provided, that entertainments when given by the citizens for charitable purposes, or for the support or aid of literary or cemetery associations are exempt.

Sec. 20. Insurance adjusters and general agents.—From each and every person acting as general adjuster of losses, or agents of fire and marine insurance companies, who may transact any business as such in this state, an annual occupation tax of fifty dollars. By "general agent," as used in this law, is meant any person or firm, representative of any insurance company in this state, or who may exercise a general supervision over the business of such insurance company in this state, or over the local agency thereof in this state, or any subdivision thereof.

Sec. 21. Lightning rod agents.—From every person, firm or association of persons, dealing in lightning rods, an annual tax of thirty-six dollars to the state and eighteen dollars as county tax to the county in which such business is carried on; and upon every person canvassing for the sale of lightning rods, an annual tax of one hundred dollars to the state and fifty dollars as county tax, in each county in which such canvassing is done.

Sec. 22. Cotton brokers and commission merchants.—From every person, firm or association of persons following the occupation of cotton broker, cotton factor, or commission merchant, in a city of ten thousand inhabitants or over, thirty-five dollars; and in all cities and towns of less than ten thousand inhabitants, an annual tax of eighteen dollars; provided, that a merchant who pays an occupation tax under this law shall not be considered as a cotton broker. A "commission merchant," in the meaning of this article, is every person, firm or association of persons, receiving country produce, horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, grain, corn, hay, lumber, shingles, wood, coal, goods, wares and merchandise, or anything else for sale, to be accounted for to the owner when sold, and charging a commission therefor.

Sec. 23. Pawnbrokers.—From every pawnbroker, an annual tax of one hundred and fifty dollars.

Sec. 24. Sewing machine dealers.—From every person, firm, agency, or association of persons dealing in sewing machines, an annual tax of fifteen dollars to the state and seven dollars as a county tax in every county where such business may be carried on; provided, that a merchant who pays an occupation tax, as required by this article, shall not be required to pay this special tax to sell sewing machines when sold in his place of business.

Sec. 25. Gas companies.—From each gas company, manufacturing gas in towns and cities of ten thousand or more inhabitants, thirty-five dollars; in a city or town of less than ten thousand inhabitants, twenty dollars.

Sec. 26. Electric light companies.—From each electric light company operating an electric light plant in a town or city of ten thousand inhabitants or more, thirty-five dollars; in a city or town of less than ten thousand inhabitants, twenty dollars.

Sec. 27. Waterworks companies.—From each waterworks company operating a waterworks plant in a town or city of ten thousand inhabitants or more, thirty-five dollars; in a city or town of less than ten thousand inhabitants, twenty dollars.

Sec. 28. Money lenders.—From every person, firm, or association of persons loaning money as agent or agents for any corporation, firm or association, either in this state or out of it, an annual occupation tax of one hundred and fifty dollars for the state, for the principal office, and a county tax of fifteen dollars from each agent for each county in which he may do business, and no additional occupation tax shall be levied by any county, city or town in this state.

Sec. 29. Credit associations.—From each person, party, partnership or corporation engaged in the business of inquiring into and reporting upon the credit or standing of persons engaged in business in this state, or acting as agent or business manager in this state for any such person, party, partnership, joint stock association, or corporation, three hundred dollars; and provided, further, that no county, city or town shall levy or collect any occupation tax upon or from any such person, party, partnership, joint stock association, or corporation. The payment of this tax, evidenced by the receipt of the comptroller of public accounts, shall exempt the company or party paying the same from the payment of this tax in any other county; and payment of such tax shall not be required of any sub-agent or correspondent of the party or company carrying on such business in this state.

Sec. 30. Skating rinks.—From each and every owner or keeper of any skating rink used for profit, twenty-five dollars.

Sec. 31. Ball parks.—From every manager of a base ball park in a city or town containing five thousand or more inhabitants, where an admission fee is charged, twenty-five dollars.

Sec. 32. Ice dealers.—From each person or corporation, who are wholesale dealers, selling imported or home-made ice to the trade to be sold again, in cities and towns of twenty thousand inhabitants, or more, fifty dollars; in cities and towns of less than twenty thousand inhabtants, or more than ten thousand inhabitants, thirty dollars; in cities and towns of less than ten thousand inhabitants, and more than five thousand inhabitants, twenty dollars; in cities and towns of less than five thousand inhabitants, ten dollars.

Sec. 33. Race tracks.—From every owner or manager of every race track, one mile or more in length, used for profit, one hundred dollars; from each owner or manager of every race track, one-half mile or less in length, fifty dollars per annum; provided, this shall not apply to race tracks owned by private individuals and used only for training purpose, or in connection with agricultural fairs and expositions.

Sec. 34. Street car companies.—From every street car company in this state, two dollars per mile on each mile of track owned by said company or corporation.

Sec. 35. Phonographs, etc.—From each owner or manager of every phonographic, electric battery, graphophone or other like machines or instruments, where a fee is charged, an annual tax of twenty-five dol­ ers; provided, that when an electric battery is used by a regularly authorized physician on a patient no tax shall be charged.

Sec. 36. Moving picture shows.—From each owner or keeper of every kinetoscope, cinetograph or similar machine or instrument used for profit, which shows the life-like motions of persons or animals, an annual occupation tax of twenty-five dollars.

Sec. 37. Panorama or view shows.—From each owner, manager or keeper of every panorama or view show, used for profit, exhibiting in a wagon, room, tent or elsewhere, an annual occupation tax of ten dolors and a county occupation tax of two dollars per annum. A panorama or view show, in the meaning of this act, is a show exhibiting pictures, statuary or other works of art which are to be viewed through stereosopic or magnifying lenses.

Sec. 38. Medicine shows, etc.—From each owner, manager or keeper of every show or company of persons giving exhibitions of music, songs, recitations, sleight of hand, gymnastic, dancing or other kinds of performances in a tent, house or elsewhere, which said exhibitions are used for profit by sale of medicines, electric belts or other articles of value, whether charge is made only for seats or not, an annual occupation tax of fifty dollars and a county occupation tax of two dollars and fifty cents for every such performance or exhibition; provided, this tax shall not be assessed when these performances are given inside the grounds of any state or county fair during the time that said state or county fair is giving its annual exhibition.

Sec. 39. Brokers.—From every person, firm or association of persons selling on commission, if in a city of more than ten thousand inhabitants, fifty dollars; if in a city or town of less than ten thousand inhabitants, twenty-five dollars. This article is intended to cover every person, firm or association of persons selling on samples only, and who do not carry any stock of merchandise or anything else on hand; provided, that this tax shall not apply to commercial travelers or salesmen making sales or soliciting trade from merchants.

Sec. 40. Cigarette dealers.—From all dealers in cigarettes in this state, the sum of ten dollars per annum, a cigarette being within the meaning of this act the same as defined by the laws of the United States government; provided, that this tax shall be in addition to the occupation tax levied on merchants, and any other tax levied under the law; and provided, further, that each dealer shall be required to procure an annual license from the county clerk of the county where he proposes to sell cigarettes, which shall be granted for no shorter or longer period than one year; and provided, further, that the license shall describe the house and locality where the dealer proposes to sell cigarettes. [Acts 1897, 1 S. S., p. 49.]

1. Section 2.—See, also, Art. 871;
A salesman making sales for a wholesale drug house is exempt from paying the tax required by this subdivision. Needham v. State, 51 Cr. R. 248, 103 S. W. 357.
Where the affidavit and information fail to negative one of the exceptions they are fatally defective. In this case they omit the words "or salesman making sales." Huffman v. State, 65 Cr. R. 144, 115 S. W. 578.
One who, after the expiration of his license as a traveling vendor of medicine, continued to sell medicine from his home, his store, and one other place, and advertised his medicine while traveling in a wagon to sell other articles, but sold no medicine from the wagon, is not required to take a new license. Peoples v. State (Cr. App.) 152 S. W. 168.
2. Section 3.—See, also, Art. 872.
A state has power to levy occupation tax on pool table run in connection with a saloon, regardless of any profit to owner thereof. Wright v. State, 41 Cr. R. 200, 53 S. W. 640.
3. Section 12.—Imposition of a peddler's license by Acts Sp. Sess. 25th Leg. p. 54, amending Rev. St. 1896, art. 5049, subd. 40, superseded by this subdivision, held unconstitutional, under Const. art. 8, §§ 1, 2. Ex parte Overstreet, 38 Cr. R. 474, 46 S. W. 855.
A person acting as manufacturer's agent, taking orders for stoves to be shipped from factory from another state in three separate parcels, and to be delivered and set up by an employe of the manufacturer, is not engaged in peddling stoves within the statute. Hardin v. State (Cr. App.) 78 S. W. 27.
An information which fails to allege that the stoves were cooking stoves or ranges is defective. Id.
4. Section 13.—See Ex parte Lingenfelter, 142 S. W. 555.
5. Section 14.—The word "circus" is to be understood in its common and ordinary acceptance and embraces the character of exhibition commonly known as a circus and does not mean such an exhibition as the Wild West Show, the main features of which were the tricks and characters popular to the west in the not very distant past. Therefore the defendant Cody was not required to pay a license under this subdivision, but was only required to pay the tax required by subdivisions 15, 16, of this article. State v. Cody (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 267.
Art. 7355

TAXATION

6. See part Bockhorn, 64 Cr. R. 370, 132 S. W. 555.

Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show is not a "circus" within the meaning of Art. 7355, subd. 14, but subdivisions 15, 16, fix the license tax for exhibitions given by above-named show. State v. Cody (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 267.

7. Section 24.—See Ex parte Lingenfelder, 64 Cr. R. 30, 132 S. W. 555.

8. In this subdivision the word "dealer" is used in the sense of one who buys and sells at his place of business, and one who pays the dealer's tax is not authorized to make sales by canvassing, so that the act is not in violation of Const. art. 8, § 1, that all taxes shall be equal and uniform upon the same class of subjects. Camp v. State, 61 Cr. R. 229, 135 S. W. 146.

9. Section 29.—Acts 25th Leg. 1st Called Sess. c. 18, amending article 5049, subd. 29, Rev. St. 1896, and providing that from every person, firm, agency, or association of persons dealing in sewing machines an annual tax of $15 to the state and $7 to the county in every county where such business is carried on shall be paid, provided that a merchant who pays an occupation tax as required by the act shall not be required to pay the special tax to sell sewing machines when sold in his place of business, and also levying a tax of $3 upon merchants for the state, with a tax of $1.60 for the county was in violation of Const. art. 8, §§ 1, 2, for inequality and nonuniformity. Ex parte Bockhorn, 62 Cr. R. 661, 135 S. W. 766.

Since an unconstitutional act is void from its inception, neither conferring rights, imposing duties, nor affording protection, Acts 25th Leg. 1st Called Sess. c. 18, art. 5049, subd. 29, imposing a license tax on sellers of sewing machines, unconstitutional in its inception as discriminating and nonuniform was not rendered valid by the subsequent repeal of the part of the act rendering it unconstitutional by Acts 26th Leg. c. 55. 1d.

10. Section 32.—One who manufactures and sells his product is not a dealer within the meaning of this law and is not taxable as such a dealer. Egan v. State (Cr. App.) 68 S. W. 278.

12. Definition.—"Occupation," as used in a statute imposing a license, held to mean a calling, trade, or vocation engaged in for profit. Shed v. State (Cr. App.) 155 S. W. 624.

13. Occupation taxes, what are.—A tax levied on a corporation for the exercise of any privilege or the carrying on of its business is an occupation tax under Const. art. 8, § 1. State v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 100 T. 153, 97 S. W. 71. Unless mainly imposed for revenue, a license fee is not a tax, but the price paid for the privilege of exercising a franchise. Ex parte Denny, 69 Cr. R. 579, 129 S. W. 1115. Sums imposed in the regulation of the business of running vehicles for hire are license fees and not occupation taxes. 1d.

14. Liability for other taxes.—Where a statute imposes an occupation tax, it will generally be assumed that the tax is to be the only one on that occupation. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. State, 102 T. 570, 120 S. W. 997.

15. Validity of statutes in general.—The legislature in the exercise of its police power held entitled to impose special burdens on occupations and individuals, provided the classification is reasonable and all within the class are treated alike, notwithstanding Const. art. 11, § 14, State v. Tex. P. Ry. Co. (Cr. App.) 6049, 78 W. 256.

A statute imposing an unreasonable tax on a legitimate business under the guise of an occupation tax is unconstitutional; but this rule does not apply to occupations which are detrimental to the health, morals, or good order of society. Caswell & Smith v. State (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1169.

17. Other taxes and licenses.—Taxes on law proceedings.—See Title 37, Chapter 18.

18. Inspection tax on milk products.—See Title 92.

19. Licenses to physicians and surgeons.—See Title 96, Chapter 1.

20. License fee for embalmers.—See Title 66, Chapter 4.

21. Hunting licenses.—See Title 63, Chapter 3.

22. Licenses for plumbers.—See Title 22, Chapter 9.

23. Licenses to make and sell scales and measures.—See Title 133.

24. License for ferries.—See Title 113, Chapter 10.

25. Decisions under former acts.—Attorneys.—The payment of license tax by lawyer imposed by subdivision 12, art. 5049, Rev. St. 1896, is not a condition precedent to his right to practice law. Ft. W. & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Carlock & Gillespie, 33 C. A. 592, 75 S. W. 932.

26. Brokers and bankers.—The fact that the state has no authority to enforce the tax against national banks does not make subdivision 6, art. 5049, Rev. St. 1896, void for discrimination and uniformity is to be equal and uniform among subjects within the limits of the authority of the state to tax. Brooks v. State (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 1033, 1034.

27. Insurance agents.—Repeal of law requiring insurance agent to procure a license in each county in which he does business held to exempt from punishment a person who had offended against the provisions of such repealed law. Eichlitz v. State, 39 Cr. R. 498, 46 S. W. 643.

28. Land agents.—Nonpayment of tax as affecting right to commissions.—One who has not paid his occupation tax imposed by subdivision 11, art. 5049, Rev. St. 1896, is not thereby prevented from recovering his commissions. Amato v. Dreyfus (Civ. App.) 34 S. W. 450; J. B. Watkins Land Mortgage Co. v. Thetford, 43 C. A. 638, 66 S. W. 72.
29. — Merchants.—That an eleventh-class merchant runs a dry store in connection with his business as merchant does not relieve him from paying a tax as such merchant. Edwards v. State (Cr. App.) 69 S. W. 144.

30. — Photograph gallery.—Subdivision 6, art. 5049, Rev. St. 1895 is constitutional. Photography is not a mechanical pursuit. The tax is not levied on the vocation of a photographer but on the owner of a photographic gallery. Mullinnix v. State, 42 Cr. R. 536, 69 S. W. 768.

31. — Recovery of tax on gross earnings.—Subdivision 42, art. 5049, Rev. St. 1895, makes it the duty of the comptroller to collect the tax upon the gross earnings of railroad companies, but it does not make it his duty to bring suit therefor. Suit must be brought in the name of the state and by its principal law officer the attorney general or some other law officer whose duty it is to represent the state in legal proceedings. Lewright v. Love, 26 T. 157, 65 S. W. 1889.

Art. 7356. Tax on dealers in cannon crackers, etc.—There shall be levied upon every person, firm or corporation engaged in the occupation of selling cannon crackers, or toy pistols used for shooting or exploding cartridges, within this state, an annual tax of five hundred dollars, and counties and incorporated cities or towns in which such business shall be located shall have the power to levy a tax of one-half the above amount as now provided by law in addition to the above tax, and such person, firm or corporation so selling such cannon crackers shall be required to pay an additional tax in the above amount and take out an additional license for each separate establishment or place in which such cannon crackers shall be sold. By the term, "cannon cracker," is meant any fire cracker or other combustible package more than two inches in length, and more than one inch in circumference commonly sold and exploded for purposes of amusement. Nothing in this article shall be so construed as to prohibit the sale of or to place a tax on the sale of cartridges, combustible packages or explosives commonly used for fire arms or artillery, mining, excavating earth or stone, scientific purposes or for any public or private work. [Acts 1909, p. 174.]

Art. 7357. [5050] County ad valorem, etc.—The commissioners' courts of the several counties of this state shall have the power to levy, for county revenue purposes, a tax of one-fourth of one per cent, and, for roads and bridges, fifteen cents on the one hundred dollars valuation of all property subject to a state tax by the provisions of this title; and, for the payment of debts incurred prior to September, 1883, and for the erection of public buildings and other permanent improvements, they shall have power to levy a tax not to exceed twenty-five cents on the one hundred dollars valuation in any one year; and, for the improvement of public roads, a tax not to exceed fifteen cents on the one hundred dollars valuation under the restrictions provided in chapter seven of title ninety-seven, and shall have power to levy a special tax for the further maintenance of public free schools, and the erection within each school district of school buildings therein in counties not exempt from the district school system; provided, that two-thirds of the qualified property taxpaying voters of the district, voting at an election to be held for that purpose, shall vote such tax not to exceed in any one year twenty cents on the one hundred dollars valuation of the property subject to taxation in such district, and shall have the right to levy one-half of the occupation tax levied by the state upon all occupations not herein otherwise specially exempted; provided, any one wishing to pursue any of the vocations named in this chapter, upon which a county occupation tax may be levied, may do so by paying the same quarterly; and provided, further, the receipt of the proper officer under seal shall be prima facie evidence of the payment of such taxes as are herein named; and provided, further, the provisions of this law shall not be deemed to affect the provisions of any law specially authorizing any commissioners' court to levy a different rate of tax; and provided, further, no person shall be allowed license for selling intoxicating or spirituous liquors, or for keeping any nine or ten pin alley, or billiard, bagatelle, pigeon-hole, jenny-lind, devil-among-the-tailors table, or anything of the kind used for profit, for a period of less than twelve months; and provided, further, the mayor and board of aldermen of any incorporated town or city shall in no case levy a greater tax on any occupation than that authorized by this chapter to be levied by the county commissioners' court; and be it further provided, that in all cases where any dealer in merchandise, wares or goods of any kind, subject to ad valorem or occupation taxes, or both, under the provisions of this law, who shall after the rendition of said merchandise, wares or goods for taxation, or after becoming liable for any occupation tax, become bankrupt or make assignment of said merchandise, wares or goods, then the collector of taxes shall at once present to the receiver or assignee of said dealer for payment of the amount due for said taxes by said dealer; and in case of failure of said receiver or assignee to at once pay the amount of said taxes, the said collector shall levy upon, seize and sell from the said merchandise, wares or goods, enough to satisfy the amount of said taxes; and said taxes until paid shall constitute a prior lien on said merchandise, goods and wares in default of said taxes. [Acts 1885, p. 105. Acts 1891, p. 51.]

This article confers authority upon the commissioners' courts of counties to levy taxes and the language, "And shall have the right to levy one-half of the occupation tax levied by the state upon all occupations not herein otherwise specially exempted," applies only to the subjects mentioned in that article which specified a number of occupations that were subject to taxation. It was not intended to confer upon the court the power to levy tax upon all occupations which might thereafter be made the subject of taxation by the statute. The authority to tax was limited to those named, but not exempted. There is no law authorizing the levy upon a railroad of any occupation tax for the exercise of its franchise to operate and carry on its business as a carrier. State v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 100 T. 153, 97 S. W. 78.

Time to exercise. See notes under Art. 2344.

Art. 7358. [5051] Taxes payable in what. The taxes herein levied by this chapter are hereby made payable in the currency or coin of the United States; provided, that persons holding scrip issued to themselves for services rendered the county may pay their county ad valorem taxes in such scrip. [Acts 1897, 1 S. S., p. 38.]

Payment of taxes. County scrip received for taxes is no longer evidence of a debt. Wharton County v. Ahlberg, 84 T. 12, 19 S. W. 291.

Art. 7359. [5052] Collector to keep books, etc. The collector of taxes shall keep a book of such size and character as may be necessary, in which shall be entered quarterly, at the following dates, to-wit, January 1, April 1, July 1 and October 1, or within ten days thereafter, in which to require the returns to be made under the provisions of this chapter, the several amounts as shown by such returns for which and upon which any person, firm or association of persons is or may be liable to a tax upon occupations under article 7355; and within fifteen days from the time of receiving and making up the several amounts and the sums due upon such amounts as occupation tax, the collector shall forward to the comptroller of public accounts a transcript or duplicate of the return and the amount as shown by his record, this transcript and record from which it is taken to show the amount of such quarterly returns and the tax due thereon from every person, firm or association of persons liable to such tax; provided, that nothing contained in this article is intended to affect the liability, which, in the absence of this statute, would be incurred under any special enactment of this state. [Acts 1879, p. 143.]

Art. 7360. [5053] Tax collector to be furnished books, etc.—The comptroller of public accounts shall be authorized and required to furnish tax collectors the necessary books and blanks required to be used by such collectors under the provisions of this chapter. [Id. sec. 7.]

Art. 7361. [5054] Tax to be paid before occupation begins.—The payment of the specific tax herein provided for shall be required by the collector of taxes to be made before any person, firm or association of persons shall be allowed to engage in any occupation requiring a license under the provisions of this chapter, this payment to be made for a period not less than three months. All arrears of taxes that may be due by reason of any such business having been carried on shall be a lien upon all the stock and fixtures owned or used in or making a part of any business or vocation liable to such tax under the provisions of this chapter, and which lien shall authorize the collector to sell, after due notice, so much stock or other personal property of any person, firm or association of persons owing taxes under the provisions of this chapter, as will satisfy such claim, together with the cost of such proceeding. [Id. sec. 9.]

Interest on delinquent taxes.—Interest is not allowable on taxes from the respective dates when they become due, but from the date of the judgment holding parties liable for taxes. Brooks v. State (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 1035.

Art. 7362. [5055] Occupation tax receipts furnished collectors.—The comptroller shall cause occupation tax receipts for each occupation to be printed, with his signature, for all occupations payable to the collectors, annual receipts for those that are paid annually, and quarterly receipts for all that can be paid quarterly; such receipts shall state the name of the occupation and the amount of the tax, and have blanks for the year, month and name of licensee, and also have a blank space for signature of the collector; these receipts shall each have a stub attached, stating briefly the substance of the attached receipt, and shall be bound in books; and he shall forward to each collector a proper number of said receipts, and charge him with the amount represented therein, and cause him to account therefor. The collector, whenever collecting any occupation tax, shall fill the blanks in the receipt and stub by writing thereon the time for which he collects and the name of the licensee, and shall sign the receipt and stub officially; and no person shall pursue any occupation, unless he has a receipt, signed as herein provided, by the comptroller and collector; and every person, firm or corporation keeping an office or having a local place of business shall keep posted up in a conspicuous place his or their said licenses. [Id. sec. 9.]

Art. 7363. Account of occupation tax receipts by collectors.—When the comptroller furnishes collectors with blank occupation tax receipts, he shall furnish the commissioners' courts with the numbers and value of the receipts furnished to their respective collectors; and such courts shall charge their respective collectors with the number and such proportion of the value of the receipts so furnished as shall apply to the county tax, when such collectors shall make their settlements with the comptroller. The comptroller shall furnish the commissioners' court with the numbers and value of the receipts returned, and with the amount of the occupation taxes collected by their respective collectors. [Acts 1897, 1 S. S., p. 49, sec. 2.]

Art. 7364. [5056] License, transfer of.—Any person, firm, corporation or association of persons, who shall be the legal owners or holders of any unexpired occupation license issued in accordance with the laws of this state, shall be and are hereby authorized to transfer the same on the books of the officer by whom the same was issued. [Acts 1885, p. 27, sec. 1.]

Validity of transfer of license.—It would seem that where an occupation-tax license has been sold by the party to whom it was issued, a right therein may pass to the vendee, although the transfer may not have been entered as provided by statute on the books of the officer who issued it. Cox v. Trent, 1 C. A. 639, 29 S. W. 1118.

A transfer by deed without entry on the books of the officer is valid as between the parties. Michelson v. White (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 891.

The failure of the purchaser of an unexpired license to have the transfer thereof made upon the books of the officer by whom it was issued, and his failure to file with the county clerk an application designating therein the particular house in which he proposed to conduct his business under the unexpired license, and his failure to have such designation made in the license, does not render void his "liquor dealer's" bond. Faulkner v. Cassidy, 29 C. A. 415, 87 S. W. 906.

Art. 7365. [5057] Purchaser of unexpired license may pursue occupation, when, etc.—The assignee or purchaser of such unexpired occupation license shall be authorized to pursue such occupation under such unexpired license for and during the unexpired term thereof; provided, that such assignee or purchaser shall, before following such occupation, comply in all other respects with all the requirements of the law provided for in original applications for such licenses; and provided, further, that nothing in this law shall be so construed as to authorize two or more persons, firms, corporations or associations of persons to follow the same occupation under one license at the same time; and provided, further, that whenever any person, firm, corporation or association of persons following an occupation shall be closed out by legal process, the occupation license shall be deemed an asset of said person, firm, corporation or association of persons, and sold as other property belonging to said person, firm, corporation or association; and the purchaser thereof shall have the right to pursue the occupation named in said license, or transfer it to any other person; provided, such occupation license shall under no circumstances be transferred more than one time. [Id. sec. 2.]

Transfer by legal process.—The statute treats a liquor license as assignable property, and subject to be disposed of by legal process. Nicolini v. Langermann (Civ. App.) 104 S. W. 601.

Mortgaged liquor license and rights of parties.—A liquor license may be mortgaged Nicolini v. Langermann (Civ. App.) 104 S. W. 601.

And the fact that the purchaser of a mortgaged liquor license had it transferred to his firm, instead of to himself, did not affect the mortgagee's right to sue him alone. Id.

Where the debt secured by a mortgage on a liquor license was less than the market value of the license, it was error to allow a recovery of its market value. Id.

REVENUE AGENT

Art. 7366. [5058] Powers and duties of state revenue agent.—The governor is authorized to appoint a suitable person as revenue agent for the state, for the purpose of securing a better enforcement of the revenue laws of the state. The agent provided for herein shall be known as the state revenue agent. Said revenue agent shall be subject to the directions of the governor, who may, whenever in his judgment the public service demands it, direct the said revenue agent to investigate books and accounts of the assessing and collecting officers of this state, and all officers and persons disbursing, receiving or having in their possession public funds, and to make such other investigations and perform such other duties in the interest of the public revenues as the governor may direct. Whenever any such investigation is ordered by the governor, the revenue agent shall report to him in writing the results of such investigation, and point out the particulars, if any, wherein the revenue laws have been violated, their enforcement neglected, together with the names of the parties delinquent therein. Whereupon the governor shall institute civil and criminal proceedings through the attorney general in the name of the state against such delinquent parties who are reported by such agent to be delinquent. Said revenue agent shall have power at any time to examine and check up all and any disbursements or expenditures of money appropriated for any of the state institutions or for any other purpose or for improvements made by the state on state property or money received and disbursed by any board authorized by law to receive and disburse any state money. Said revenue agent shall also have power and authority, and it is hereby made his duty, to fully investigate any and all state institutions when so directed by the governor or required by information coming to the knowledge of said agent. He shall investigate the manner of conducting the same and the policy pursued by those in charge thereof, and the conduct or efficiency of any person employed therein by the state. He shall examine into and report upon the character and manner as well as the amount of expenditures thereof. He shall also investigate and ascertain all sums of money due the state from any source whatever, the ascertainment and collection of which does not devolve upon other officers of this state under existing law; and he shall report all such facts to the governor, who shall proceed therein as provided by this or any other law of this state. [Acts 1891, p. 87. Amended Acts 1899, p. 26.]

Art. 7367. [5059] Shall have access to books, etc.—When said revenue agent, acting under the direction of the governor, calls on any person connected with the public service to inspect his accounts, records or books, said officers or official so called upon shall submit to said agent all books, records and accounts so called for without delay. [Id.]

Art. 7368. [5060] Compensation, etc.—Said revenue agent shall receive as compensation for his services not exceeding two thousand dollars per annum, together with his actual traveling expenses, which shall be paid on the approval of the same by the governor; provided, said revenue agent shall not be allowed traveling expenses for any service connected with the examination and investigation of the accounts of any institution in Travis county. [Id.]

Article 7369. Express companies.—Each and every individual, company, corporation or association doing an express business, by railroad or water, in this state, shall, on or before the first day of March of each year, make a report to the comptroller of public accounts under oath of the individual or of the president, treasurer or superintendent of such company, corporation or association, showing the amount of gross receipts from charges and freights within this state paid to or collected by such individual, company, corporation or association on account of money, goods, merchandise or other character of freight carried within this state during the twelve months next preceding. Said individuals, companies, corporations or associations, at the time of making said report, shall pay to the treasurer of the state of Texas an occupation tax for the year beginning on said date equal to two and one-half per cent of said gross receipts as shown by said report. [Acts 1907, p. 479, sec. 1.]

Constitutionality in general.—Acts 1905, c. 148, substantially re-enacted by Acts 1907, p. 479, embodied in this chapter. Imposing an occupation tax on gross receipts of persons and corporations engaged in certain businesses fully discussed and held constitutional and therefore valid. Texas Co. v. Stephens, 100 T. 628, 103 S. W. 481; Southwestern Oil Co. v. State, 100 T. 647, 103 S. W. 489.

Amount of tax.—Where an occupation tax imposed by Acts 29th Leg. c. 148, was levied against a business in the state, it was proper that sales and deliveries outside the state should be included in fixing the volume of the business to fix the amount of the tax. Texas Co. v. Stephens, 100 T. 628, 103 S. W. 481.

Where a person or corporation carries on several different businesses on which a tax is imposed by Acts 29th Leg. p. 355, c. 148, each business is subject to tax, but operations which are a mere incident to a business are not subject to tax as a separate business. Id.

Art. 7370. Telegraph companies.—Each and every individual, company, corporation or association owning, operating, controlling or managing any telegraph lines in this state, or owning, operating, controlling or managing what is known as wireless telegraph stations, for the transmission of messages, or aerograms and charging for the transmission of such messages or aerograms, shall make quarterly, on the first days of January, April, July and October of each year, a report to the comptroller of public accounts under oath of the individual, or of the president, treasurer or superintendent of such companies, corporation or association, showing the gross amount received from all business within this state during the preceding quarter, in the payment of telegraphic or aerograms charges, including the amount received on full rate messages and aerograms and half rate messages and aerograms, and from the lease or use of any wires or equipment within the state during said quarter. Said individuals, companies, corporations and associations, at the time of making said report, shall pay to the treasurer of the state of Texas an occupation tax for the quarter beginning on said date equal to two and three-fourths per cent of said gross receipts as shown by said report. [Id. sec. 2.]

Constitutionality.—An occupation tax imposed on a telegraph company, which graduates the tax according to the business done, regardless of a distinction between business done wholly within the state and business done in part without the state, is free from the objection that it regulates or obstructs interstate commerce. W. U. T. Co. v. State, 66 T. 314.

Art. 7371. Gas, electric lights, power or waterworks.—Each and every individual, company, corporation or association, owning, operating or managing or controlling any gas, electric light, electric power or waterworks or water and light plant, within this state and charging for gas, electric lights, electric power or water, shall make quarterly, on the four days of January, April, July and October of each year, a report to the comptroller of public accounts under oath of the individual or of the president, treasurer or superintendent of such company, corporation or association, showing the gross amount received from the business done within this state in the payment of charges for gas, electric lights, electric power and water for the quarter next preceding. Said individual, company, corporation or association, at the time of making said report for any town or city of ten thousand inhabitants and less than twenty-five thousand inhabitants, shall pay to the treasurer of the state of Texas an occupation tax for the quarter beginning on said date equal to one-fourth of one per cent of said gross receipts, as shown by said report; and, for any town or city of twenty-five thousand inhabitants or more, the said individual, company, corporation or association, at the time of making said report, shall pay to the treasurer of the state of Texas an occupation tax for the quarter beginning on said date an amount equal to one-half of one per cent of said gross receipts as shown by said report; provided, that nothing herein shall apply to any gas, electric light, electric power or waterworks or water and light plant within this state owned by any city or town. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7372. Collecting or commercial agency.—Each and every individual, company, corporation or association, owning, operating, managing or controlling any collecting agency, commercial agency, or commercial reporting credit agency within this state, and charging for collections made, or business done, or reports made, shall make quarterly, on the first days of January, April, July and October of each year, a report to the comptroller of public accounts under oath of the individual or of the president, treasurer, or superintendent of such company, corporation or association, showing from business done within this state the gross amount received in the payment of charges for collections made and business done and reports made during the quarter next preceding. Such individuals, companies, corporations or associations at the time of making said report shall pay to the treasurer of the state of Texas an occupation tax for the quarter beginning on said date equal to one-half of one per cent of said gross receipts as shown by said report. [Id. sec. 4.]

Art. 7373. Car companies.—Each and every individual, company, corporation or association, residing without the state of Texas, or incorporated under the laws of any other state or territory, or nation, and owning stock cars, refrigerator and fruit cars of any kind, tank cars of any kind, coal cars of any kind, furniture cars or common box cars and flat cars, and leasing, renting or charging mileage for the use of such cars within the state of Texas, shall make quarterly, on the first days of January, April, July and October of each year, and report to the comptroller of public accounts under oath of the individual or of the president, treasurer or superintendent of such company, corporation or association, showing the amount of gross receipts from such rentals, or mileage, or from other sources of revenue received from business done within this state, during the quarter next preceding. Said individuals, companies and corporations, and associations, at the time of making said report, shall pay to the treasurer of the state of Texas an occupation tax for the quarter beginning on said date equal to three per cent of said gross receipts as shown by said report. [Id. sec. 5.]

Art. 7374. Pipe line companies.—Each and every individual, company, corporation or association whether incorporated under the laws of this state, or of any other state or territory, or of the United States, or of any foreign nation, which owns, manages, operates, leases or rents any pipe line or pipe lines within this state, whether such pipe line or pipe lines be used for transmission of oil, natural or artificial gas, whether such oil or gas be for illuminating or fuel purposes, or for steam, for heat or power, or for any other purpose, and whether such pipe line or pipe lines be used for the transmission of articles by pneumatic or other power, shall, on or before the first days of January, April, July and October of each year, pay to the state of Texas an occupation tax equal to two per cent of its gross receipts, if such pipe line or pipe lines lie wholly within this state; and, if such pipe line or pipe lines lie partly within and partly without the state, such individuals, companies, corporations and associations shall pay a tax equal to two per cent of such proportion of its gross receipts, as the length of such line or lines within the state bears to the whole length of such line or lines; provided, that if satisfactory evidence is submitted to the comptroller of public accounts at any time prior to the date fixed by this article for the payment of the tax herein imposed, that any other proportion more fairly represents the proportion which the gros receipts of any pipe line or pipe lines for any quarter within this state bears to its total gross receipts, it shall be his duty to collect for such quarter from every such pipe line or pipe lines a tax equal to such other proportion of two per cent of its total gross receipts. For the purpose of determining the amount of such tax, the individual or the president, treasurer or superintendent of such company, association or corporation, shall quarterly, on the dates aforesaid, make a report to the comptroller of public accounts, under oath of the individual or of the president, treasurer or superintendent of such company, corporation or association, showing the gross receipts of such pipe line or pipe lines from every source whatsoever for the quarter next preceding, and shall immediately pay to the state treasurer an occupation tax for the quarter beginning on said date, calculated on the gross receipts so reported. [Id. sec. 6.]

In general.—As to taxation on pipe line companies under Acts 29th Leg. p. 358, c. 148, re-enacted with modifications in 1907 and embodied in this article. Texas Oil Co. v. Stephens, 100 T. 628, 103 S. W. 481.

Art. 7375. Sleeping, palace or dining car companies.—Every sleeping car company, palace car company, or dining car company doing business in this state, and each individual, company, corporation or association leasing or renting, owning, controlling or managing any palace cars, dining cars, or sleeping cars within this state for the use of the public, for which any fare is charged, shall, on the first days of January, April, July and October of each year, report to the comptroller of public accounts, under oath of the individual or of the president, treasurer or superintendent of such company, corporation or association, showing the amount of gross receipts earned from any and all sources whatever within this state, except from receipts derived from buffet service, during the quarter next preceding. Said individuals, companies, corporations and associations, at the time of making said report, shall pay to the treasurer of the state of Texas an occupation tax for the quarter beginning on said date equal to five per cent of said gross receipts as shown by said report. The tax herein provided for shall be in lieu of all other taxes now levied upon sleeping car, palace car or dining car companies, except the tax of twenty-five cents on the one hundred dollars of the capital stock of such car companies as provided by law. [Id. sec. 7.]

Art. 7376. Insurance companies.—Every insurance company transacting the business of fire, marine, marine inland, accident, credit, title, live stock, fidelity, guaranty, surety, casualty, or any other kind or character of insurance business other than the business of life insurance, within this state, and other than fraternal benefit associations, at the time of filing its annual statement, shall report to the commissioner of insurance and banking the gross amount of premiums received in the state upon property, and from persons residing in this state during the preceding year, and each of such companies shall pay an annual tax upon such gross premium receipts as follows: Shall pay a tax of two and six-tenths per cent, provided, that any company doing two or more kinds of insurance business herein referred to, shall pay the tax herein levied upon its gross premiums received from each of said kinds of business; and the gross premium receipts where referred to in this Act are understood to be the premium receipts reported to the commissioner of insurance and banking by the insurance companies upon the sworn statement of two principal officers of such companies, less return premiums paid policy holders, and the premiums paid for reinsurance in companies authorized to do business in this state. Upon receipt by him of sworn statements, showing the gross premium receipts by such companies, the commissioner shall certify to the state treasurer the amount of taxes due [by] each company, which tax shall be paid to the state treasurer for the use of the state on or before the first of March following, and the receipt of the treasurer shall be evidence of the payment of such taxes. No such insurance company shall receive a permit to do business in this state until such taxes are paid. If any such insurance company shall have as much as one-fourth of its entire assets, as shown by said sworn statement, invested in any or all of the following securities: Real estate in the state of Texas, bonds of this state or of any county, incorporated city or town of this state, or other property in this state in which by law such companies may invest their funds, then the annual tax of any such companies shall be one per cent of its said gross premium receipts; and if any such company shall invest as aforesaid as much as one-half of its assets, then the annual tax of such company shall be one-half of one per cent of its gross premium receipts, as above defined; and provided, further, that no occupation tax shall be levied on insurance companies herein subjected to a gross premium receipt tax by any county, city or town. Provided, also, that all mutual fraternal benevolent associations, now or hereafter doing business in this state under the lodge system and on the assessment plan, whether organized under the laws of this state or a foreign state or country, are exempt from the provisions of this section.

The taxes aforesaid shall constitute all taxes and license fees collectible under the laws of this state against any such insurance companies, and no other occupation or other taxes shall be levied on or collected from any insurance company by any county, city or town, but this Act shall not be construed to prohibit the levy and collection of state, county and municipal taxes upon the real and personal property of such companies. Provided, that purely co-operative or mutual fire insurance companies carried on by the members thereof solely for the protection of their own property, and not for profit, shall be exempt from the provisions of this bill. Provided, that in addition to the tax above prescribed, each company doing the business herein referred to and affected by the provisions of the Act of the Fourth Called Session of the Thirty-first Legislature, approved September 6, 1910, and published as chapter 8, General Laws of said session, shall pay its pro rata share of the charge or cost of maintaining the state insurance board as provided by section 28 of said Act, approved September 6, 1910, and published as chapter 8 of the General Laws of the Fourth Called Session of the Thirty-first Legislature; and provided, further, that portion of section 28 of the state insurance board law which reads as follows: "Provided that the collections from insurance companies provided for in this section shall not be made for any year during which any such company shall be liable under the laws of this state to the payment of an occupation tax at a rate of two and one-half per cent or more of the gross premiums received, less deductions for reinsurance and return premiums on cancelled policies," be and the same is hereby repealed. [Acts 1911, p. 216, sec. 1.]

Note.—Acts 1911, p. 216, sec. 1, amends Acts 1907, ch. 18 (p. 497), sec. 8, so as to add as above. Acts 1911, p. 216, sec. 2, repeal all laws in conflict, etc. Said section 8 was contained in Rev. Civ. Stat. 1911, art. 7876, which is superseded hereby. Acts 1910, ch. 3, was repealed by Acts 1913, p. 195. See note to Act 4503.

Definitions—"Gross amount of premiums received."—The words "gross amount of premiums received," in the statute imposing a tax on insurance companies on the premiums received, held to include the sums paid for reinsurance and the sums returned to policy holders on the cancellation of policies as therein provided. Fire Ass'n of Philadelphia v. Love, 101 T. 375, 108 S. W. 355, 810.

Taxes on life insurance companies.—See notes under Title 71, Chapter 3.

Construction and operation of statute.—Acts 1907, p. 482, § 8, embodied in this article, must prevail so far as there is a conflict between it and paragraph 7 of article 3084, Rev. St. 1895. The act of 1907 prescribes with certainty what the report of the fire insurance company shall be on the subject of the gross receipts and its terms are not modified by the former law. Life Association v. Love, 101 T. 375, 108 S. W. 350, 810.

An insurance company organized under the laws of another state has not complied with the Acts 1907, c. 170, re-enacted with modifications in 1908, embodied in article 375 et seq., when it shows that it is exempt from the provisions of the act, so as to entitle it to compute its per cent tax rate upon its gross receipts. The fact that it is exempt for two years from complying with the act of April 24, 1907 (sections 3 and 6), is not a compliance with the act. Kansas City Life Ins. Co. v. Love, 101 T. 531, 109 S. W. 865.

The tax assessed for 1908 upon an insurance company, is not a tax on the gross re-receipts of the company for 1907 during which year up to August 14th, the rate prescribed by a previous law prevailed, but it was an occupation tax for 1908 based on the receipts of 1907, and affected in no way the tax payable in 1907. Id.

Art. 7377. Wholesale dealer in oils; “wholesale dealer” defined.—Each and every individual, company, corporation or association created by the laws of this state, or any other state or nation, which shall engage in his own name, or in the name of others, or in the name of its representatives, or agents in this state in the business of wholesale dealers in coal oil, naphtha, benzine or any other mineral oils refined from petroleum, shall make quarterly, on the first days of January, April, July and October of each year, a report to the comptroller of public accounts, under oath of the individual or of the president, treasurer or superintendent of such company, corporation or association, showing the gross amount collected and uncollected from any and all sales made within this state of any of said articles during the quarter next preceding. Said individuals, companies, corporations and associations, at the time of making said report, shall pay to the treasurer of the state of Texas an occupation tax for the quarter beginning on said date equal to two per cent of said gross receipts and amount uncollected from said sales as shown by said report. A wholesale dealer, within the meaning of this article, is any individual, company, firm, partnership, corporation or association who buys any of the articles hereinbefore mentioned, either in his own name or in the name of others, or in the name of their representative or agent, and sells same either in his name, or in the name of others, or in the name of their representatives or agents, to any person, firm, corporation or association to be sold again. [Acts 1907, p. 479, sec. 9.]

Definitions—“Wholesale dealer.”—One engaged in the wholesale oil business is a wholesale dealer whether he buys the oil to sell again or buys crude oil and refines it into different petroleum products and sells them. Texas Co. v. Stephens, 100 T. 628, 103 S. W. 481.

Constitutionality.—Acts 25th Leg. p. 364, c. 148, § 9, substantially re-enacted in 1907 and embodied in this article, is not invalid. Texas Co. v. Stephens, 100 T. 628, 103 S. W. 481.

Amount of tax.—In determining the amount of a tax, wholesale sales to consumers and to retailers are properly included in fixing the volume of business. Texas Oil Co. v. Stephens, 100 T. 628, 103 S. W. 481.

Art. 7378. Interurban and electric railway companies.—Each and every individual, company, corporation or association, owning, operating or controlling any interurban, trolley, traction or electric street railway in this state and charging for transportation on said railway, shall make quarterly, on the first days of January, April, July and October of each year, a report to the comptroller of public accounts, under oath of the individual or of the president, treasurer or superintendent of such company, corporation or association, showing the amount of gross receipts from said charges for transportation on said railway paid to or uncollected by said individuals, company, corporation or association for the quarter next preceding. Said individual, company, corporation or association, at the time of making said report, if in or if connecting any town or city of less than twenty thousand inhabitants, shall pay to the treasurer of the state as an occupation tax for the quarter beginning on said date equal to one-half of one per cent of said gross receipts as shown by said report; if in a city of more than twenty thousand inhabitants, said individual, company or corporation or association, at the time of making said report, shall pay to the treasurer of the state of Texas an occupation tax for the quarter beginning on said date equal to three-fourths of one per cent of said gross receipts as shown by said report; provided, that in ascertaining the population of any city or town, the same shall be ascertained by the last United States census; and provided, further, that where any interurban railroad shall connect any town having a population of more than twenty thousand with another of a less population, that it shall be liable for the taxes measured by the population of the largest town; provided, further, that the provisions of this chapter shall not apply to any street railway or traction company wholly within any town of less than ten thousand inhabitants. [Id. sec. 10.] See Eppstein v. State (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1124.

In general.—This is but an additional tax to the one levied under Art. 7555, subd. 24, the last-named article not being repealed. Dallas Consol. Electric St. Ry. Co. v. State, 102 T. 570, 120 S. W. 997, affirming (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 881.

Art. 7379. Wholesale dealers in or distributors of liquors; “wholesale dealer” defined.—Each and every individual, company, corporation or association created by the laws of this state or any other state, who shall engage in his own name or in the name of others, or in the name of its representatives or agents in this state, in the business of a wholesale dealer or a wholesale distributor of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors or medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication, shall make quarterly, on the first days of January, April, July and October of each year, a report to the comptroller of public accounts, under oath of the individual or of the president, treasurer or superintendent of such company, corporation or association, showing the gross amount collected and uncollected from any and all sales made within this state of any of said articles during the quarter next preceding. Said individuals, companies, corporations and associations, at the time of making said report, shall pay to the treasurer of the state of Texas an occupation tax for the quarter beginning on said date, equal to one half of one per cent of said gross receipts from said sale as shown by said report.

A wholesale dealer or distributor, within the meaning of this section, is any individual, company, association or corporation selling any of the articles hereinafter mentioned in any quantity, for cash or on credit, either in his own name or in the name of others, or in the name of its representatives or agents, to retail dealers or to consumers, not to be drunk on the premises, or who deliver on consignment to their agents for retail or for delivery to consumers, provided the above shall not apply to sales to consumers, where the liquor sold is delivered to the purchaser in person, at the dealers place of business and at time of sale, and where the amount sold does not exceed one gallon.

For the purpose of ascertaining the amount of gross receipt tax due each quarter by each and every individudal, company, corporation, or association created by the laws of this state or in any other state, who shall engage in his own name or in the name of others, or in the name of its representatives or agents in this state, in the business of a wholesale dealer or a wholesale distributor of spirituous, vinous or malt liquor or medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication, it shall be the duty of each and every individual, company, corporation or association selling any of the articles hereinafter mentioned either in his own name or in the name of others, or in the name of its representatives or agents, to keep a plain, legible record of the date of each and every such sale or consignment, the name and address of the retail dealer or individual to whom sold or consigned, the quantity, the price, and the manner in which shipment or delivery was made; and this record shall be subject to the inspection of the comptroller of [or] the state revenue agent or their representatives at any time they see proper to investigate said records.

Any person, company, corporation or association, or any receiver or receivers failing to keep a record as provided for in this Act, shall forfeit and pay to the state of Texas a penalty not exceeding one thousand dollars. [Acts 1907, p. 479, sec. 11. Acts 1913, p. 33, sec. 1, amending Art. 7379, Rev. St. 1911.]

Definitions—“Gross receipts.”—In this article the term "gross receipts," though ordinarily meaning the gross amount of cash received, includes the gross amount collected.

Art. 7380. Dealers in pistols.—Each and every individual, company, corporation or association created by the laws of this state or any other state, who shall engage in his own name or in the name of others, or in the names of its representatives or agents in this state, in the business of a wholesale or retail dealer of pistols, shall make quarterly, on the first days of January, April, July and October of each year, a report to the comptroller of public accounts, under oath of the individual or of the president, treasurer or superintendent of said company, corporation or association, showing the gross amount collected and uncollected from any and all sales made within this state of all such firearms during the quarter next preceding. Such individuals, companies, corporations and associations, at the time of making said report, shall pay to the treasurer of the state of Texas an occupation tax for the quarter beginning on said date equal to fifty per cent of said gross receipts from sales of all firearms as shown by said report. [Acts 1907, p. 479, sec. 12.]

Police power.—This article is a valid exercise of the police power, since the immediate and direct result of the pursuit of the business of selling pistols may be regarded as harmful to the best interests of society, and, though the statute imposes a tax, it does not lose its character as a police regulation. Caswell & Smith v. State (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1169.

Impairing the right to bear arms.—This article is not violative of Const. Bill of Rights, § 25, guaranteeing to every citizen the right to bear arms, since the act does not infringe or attempt to infringe the right of the citizen to bear arms, nor does it prohibit a dealer in the state from selling them; and, even if it did, the statute would not be violative of the constitutional guaranty. Caswell & Smith v. State (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1169.

Art. 7381. Text or law book publishers.—Each and every individual, company, corporation or association, whether incorporated under the laws of this state, or of any other state or nation, engaged in publishing, printing, or selling text books used in the schools of this state, or law books of any character, or owning, controlling or managing any such business, as text books or law book purchasers, within the state or out of it, and having state agencies within this state for the purpose of selling any book or books to be used in any of the schools of this state, or any law books, shall make quarterly, on the first days of January, April, July and October of each year, a report to the comptroller of public accounts, under oath of the individual or of the president, treasurer or superintendent of such company, corporation or association, or of the person owning, controlling or managing any such business, showing the gross amount received from such business done within this state from any and all sources during the quarter next preceding. Said individuals, companies, corporations and associations, at the time of making said report, shall pay to the treasurer of the state of Texas an occupation tax for the quarter beginning on said date equal to one per cent of said gross receipts, as shown by said report. [Id. sec. 13.]

Art. 7382. Telephone companies.—Each and every individual, company, corporation or association owning, operating, managing or controlling any telephone line or lines or any telephones within this state, and charging for the use of the same, shall make quarterly, on the first days of January, April, July and October of each year, a report to the comptroller of public accounts, under oath of the individual or of the president, treasurer or superintendent of such company, corporation or association, showing the gross amount received from all business within this state during the preceding quarter, in the payment of charges for the use of its lines or lines, telephone and telephones, and from the lease or use of any wires or equipment within this state during said quarter.
Said individuals, companies, corporations and associations, at the time of making said report, shall pay to the treasurer of the state of Texas an occupation tax, for the quarter beginning on said date, equal to one and one-half per cent of said gross receipts, as shown by said report. [Id. sec. 14.]

Art. 7383. Oil well companies.— Each and every individual, company, corporation or association, whether incorporated under the laws of this or any other state or territory, or of the United States, or any foreign country, which owns, controls, manages or leases any oil well within this state, shall make quarterly, on the first days of January, April, July and October of each year, a report to the comptroller of public accounts under oath of the individual or of the president, treasurer or superintendent of such company, corporation or association, showing the total amount of oil produced during the quarter next preceding and the average market value thereof during said quarter. Said individuals, companies, corporations and associations, at the time of making said report, shall pay to the treasurer of the state of Texas an occupation tax for the quarter beginning on said date equal to one-half of one per cent of the total amount of all oil produced, at the average market value thereof, as shown by said report. [Id. sec. 15.]

Nature of tax imposed.—The tax imposed on operators of oil wells by Acts 29th Leg. p. 558, ch. 148, is an occupation tax.

Constitutionality of statute.—The penalties provided for are disproportionate to the amount of the taxes and it was proper for the court to refuse to render judgment for the penalties. Producers' Oil Co. v. Stephens, 44 C. A. 327, 99 S. W. 157.

That part of Acts 29th Leg. c. 148, re-enacted with modifications in 1907 and embodied in this article, imposing one per cent. tax on the gross products of the wells, is not unconstitutional. Producers' Oil Co. v. Stephens, 44 C. A. 327, 99 S. W. 157; Texas Oil Co. v. Stephens (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 160.

Art. 7384. Terminal companies.— Each and every individual, company, corporation or association, whether incorporated under the laws of this or any other state, or territory, or of the United States, or any foreign country, which owns, controls, manages or leases any terminal companies, or any railroad doing a terminal business within this state, shall make quarterly, on the first days of January, April, July and October of each year, a report to the comptroller of public accounts, under oath of the individual or of the president, treasurer or superintendent of such company, corporation or association, showing the total amount of its gross receipts from all sources whatever within this state, during the quarter next preceding, and the average market value thereof during said quarter. Said individuals, companies, corporations and associations, at the time of making said report, shall pay to the treasurer of the state of Texas an occupation tax for the quarter beginning on said date equal to one per cent of the total amount of its gross receipts from all sources whatever, as shown by said report. [Id. sec. 16.]

Art. 7385. Tax to be paid when business is begun after beginning of quarter.—If any individual, company, corporation, firm or association, in this chapter mentioned, shall begin and engage in any business for which there is an occupation tax herein imposed, on or after the beginning day of the quarter for which said tax is imposed, then, and in all such cases, the amount of such tax for said beginning quarter shall be and is hereby fixed at the sum of fifty dollars, payable to the treasurer of the state of Texas in advance, but for the next succeeding quarter, and all other succeeding quarters, the tax shall be determined by reports to the comptroller of public accounts of the business for the preceding quarter, or part thereof, as herein otherwise in this chapter provided; and reports and payments of such tax shall be made subject to all other provisions of this chapter. [Id. sec. 17.]

Art. 7386. Penalty for failure to report.—Any person, company, corporation or association, or any receiver or receivers, failing to make report for thirty days from the date when said report is required by this chapter to be made, shall forfeit and pay to the state of Texas a penalty of not exceeding one thousand dollars. [Id. sec. 18.]

Art. 7387. Penalty for failure to pay tax.—Any person, company, corporation or association, or any receiver or receivers, failing to pay any tax for thirty days from the date when said tax is required by this chapter to be paid, shall forfeit and pay to the state of Texas a penalty of ten per cent upon the amount of such tax. [Id. sec. 19.]

Art. 7388. Penalties to be recovered by attorney general.—The penalties provided for by this chapter shall be recovered by the attorney general in a suit brought by him in the name of the state of Texas; and venue and jurisdiction of such suit is hereby conferred upon the courts of Travis county, Texas. [Id. sec. 20.]

Legislative power.—The legislature has the power under the constitution to create causes of action in favor of the state and to make it the exclusive duty of the attorney general to prosecute such suits. Brady v. Brooks, 99 T. 356, 89 S. W. 1552.

Art. 7389. Permit not granted until tax is paid.—No individual, company, corporation or association, failing to pay all taxes imposed by this chapter, shall receive a permit to do business in this state, or continue to do business in the state, until the tax hereby imposed is paid. The receipt of the treasurer of the state of Texas shall be evidence of the payment of such tax. [Id. sec. 21.]

Art. 7390. Tax in addition to all other taxes.—Except as herein stated, all taxes levied by this chapter shall be in addition to all other taxes now levied by law; provided, that nothing herein shall be construed as authorizing any county or city to levy an occupation tax on the occupations and business taxed by this chapter. [Id. sec. 22.]

Art. 7391. Comptroller may require additional reports.—If for any reason the comptroller of public accounts is not satisfied with any report from any such person, company, corporation, co-partnership or association, he may require additional or supplemental reports containing information and data upon such matters as he may need or deem necessary to ascertain the true and correct amount of all taxes due by any such person, firm, or corporation. Every statement or report required by this chapter shall have affixed thereto the affidavit of the president, vice-president, secretary or treasurer of the person, corporation, co-partnership or association, or one of the persons or members of the partnership making the same, to the effect that the statement is true. The comptroller shall prepare blanks to be used in making the reports required by this chapter. [Id. sec. 23.]

Art. 7392. Revenue agent to examine books, etc.—If the comptroller has reason to believe, or does believe, that any individual, company, corporation, association, receiver or receivers, subject to the provisions of this chapter, has made a false return or has failed or omitted to make a full return of gross receipts, or other statement of business done, required by any of the provisions of this chapter, he shall report the same in writing to the governor; and it shall be the duty of the governor to immediately require the revenue agent of the state of Texas to examine any books, papers, documents, or other records or evidence showing or tending to show such unlawful act or omission. Said revenue agent shall check the report made with such books, papers, documents or other records or evidence, and make his report to the comptroller; and, if it appears from said report that any false or incorrect return has been made, or that any individual, or the president, treasurer or superintendent of any company, corporation or association, or any member of any firm required by this chapter to make reports, has failed or omitted to make a full return, as required by law, then the comptroller shall notify such individual, or the president, treasurer or superintendent of any company, corporation or association, or receiver or receivers of any company, corporation or association, or any member of any firm, to make forthwith an additional or supplemental report; and, if any such individual or the president, treasurer or superintendent of any company, corporation or association, or any member of a firm, or any receiver or receivers of any company, corporation or association making said original report, shall fail or refuse to make said additional or supplemental report, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be punished as provided in the Penal Code; and venue of such prosecution is fixed in Travis county, Texas. If it appears from the report of the state revenue agent, or if the comptroller has reason to believe or does believe, that any individual, or any president, treasurer or superintendent of any company, corporation or association, or any receiver of any corporation or association, or any member of any firm, has wilfully and deliberately made a false report, the comptroller shall report the matter to the grand jury of Travis county, Texas, for its action; and venue of any offense arising out of such transaction is hereby fixed in Travis county, Texas. Said state revenue agent, in the performance and discharge of the duties imposed upon him by this article, shall have the right to examine, either by himself or by any person acting under his direction, any books, papers, documents, records or evidence which he may believe material and proper to examine. [Id. sec. 24.]

This law, though invalid as imposing a tax for the part of the year prior to the time it took effect, was not void as to remainder of the year, but the court will give effect to it for the remainder of the year. State v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 100 T. 153, 97 S. W. 78.

This law does not apply to the Texas & Pacific Railway Company, because its charter was granted by congress, and is thus constituted an "agency" of the United States government, the operation of which cannot be hindered by taxation by the state. The tax imposed by this act is an occupation tax. An agency of the United States government for the carrying on of its business cannot be taxed by the state in which it operates. State v. Texas & P. Ry. Co., 100 T. 279, 98 S. W. 834.

The statute imposing on railroads a gross earnings tax held enforceable, though it cannot apply to a railroad incorporated under an act of congress. State v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. of Texas (Sup.) 100 S. W. 146.

The title of the statute imposing a gross earnings tax on railroads held sufficiently broad to embrace railroads owning a line within and one without the state. Id.

The statute imposing on railroads a tax on their gross receipts imposes a tax on the gross receipts of railroads derived from whatever source. Id.

Penalties for failure to pay taxes.—A state, seeking to recover taxes from railroads in excess of the sum actually due, held not entitled to recover the penalties imposed on railroads failing to pay taxes. State v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 100 T. 153, 97 S. W. 71.

Right of action.—The legislature has the power under the constitution to create causes of action in favor of the state and to make it the exclusive duty of the attorney general to prosecute such suits. Brady v. Brooks, 99 T. 966, 99 S. W. 1053.

Article 7393. Tax to be paid by domestic corporations.—Except as herein provided, each and every private domestic corporation heretofore chartered, or that may hereafter be chartered, under the laws of this state, shall on or before the first day of May of each year, pay in advance to the secretary of state a franchise tax for the year following, which shall be computed as follows, viz: Fifty cents on each one thousand dollars, or fractional part thereof, of the authorized capital stock of such corporation, unless the total amount of capital stock of such corporation issued and outstanding, plus its surplus and undivided profits, shall exceed its authorized capital stock; and in that event the franchise tax of such corporation for the year following shall be fifty cents on each one thousand dollars of capital stock of such corporations issued and outstanding, plus its surplus and undivided profits; provided, that such franchise tax shall not in any case be less than ten dollars; provided, that, where the authorized capital exceeds one million dollars, such franchise tax shall be fifty cents for each one thousand dollars up to and including one million dollars, and for each additional one thousand dollars, in excess of one million dollars, it shall be twenty-five cents. [Acts 1907, p. 503, sec. 1.]

Amount of tax.—When a corporation's authorized capital exceeds $1,000,000, the excess of the stock over that amount, plus surplus and undivided profits, is subject to a franchise tax of 36 cents on the $1,000; the term "excess," in the act, being intended to embrace capital, surplus, and undivided profits. Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. McDonald (Sup.) 148 S. W. 287.

Art. 7394. Tax to be paid by foreign corporations.—Except as herein provided, each and every foreign corporation, authorized, or that may hereafter be authorized to do business in this state, shall on or before the first day of May of each year, pay in advance to the secretary of state a franchise tax for the year following, which shall be computed as follows, viz: One dollar on each one thousand dollars, or fractional part thereof, of the authorized capital stock of the corporation up to and including one hundred thousand dollars, and two dollars on each five thousand dollars or fractional part thereof of such stock in excess of one hundred thousand dollars and up to and including one million dollars, and two dollars on each twenty thousand dollars, or fractional part thereof, of such stock in excess of one million dollars, and up to and including ten million dollars, and two dollars on each fifty thousand dollars of such stock in excess of ten million dollars, unless the total amount of the capital stock of such corporation issued and outstanding, plus its surplus and undivided profits, shall exceed its authorized capital stock; and in that event the franchise tax of such corporation for the year following shall be two dollars on each one thousand dollars, or fractional part thereof, of the authorized capital stock of such corporation, issued and outstanding, plus its surplus and undivided profits, up to and including one hundred thousand dollars, and two dollars on each five thousand dollars, or fractional part thereof, of such stock, surplus and undivided profits in excess of one hundred thousand dollars, and up to and including one million dollars, and two dollars on each twenty thousand dollars, or fractional part thereof, of such stock, surplus and undivided profits in excess of one million dollars, and up to and including ten million dollars, and two dollars on each fifty thousand dollars of such stock, surplus and undivided profits in excess of ten millions dollars; provided, that such franchise tax shall not in any case be less than twenty-five dollars. [Id. sec. 2.]

Nature of tax imposed.—A franchise tax, imposed by a state on a foreign corporation, held not a property tax, but a mere license or privilege to do business within the state. Gaar, Scott & Co. v. Shannon, 52 C. A. 634, 115 S. W. 361.

Construction and validity of statute.—A provision in a charter of a corporation, fixing a specified sum as taxes, held not a contract that no greater tax shall not be laid, within the constitution forbidding laws impairing the obligation of contracts. Gaar, Scott & Co. v. Shannon, 53 C. A. 634, 115 S. W. 361.

Acts 1906, chs. 38, 62, re-enacted with modifications in 1907 and embodied in this chapter, impose a like tax on all foreign corporations and do not discriminate in favor of domestic corporations subject to a less tax. The law is constitutional. Id.

Fees for permit to do business.—See notes under Art. 3837.

Art. 7395. Only part of tax to be paid, when.—Whenever a private domestic corporation is chartered in this state, and whenever a foreign corporation is authorized to do business in this state, and such corporation shall be required to pay in advance to the secretary of state, as its franchise tax from that time down to and including the thirtieth day of April next following, only such proportionate part of its annual franchise tax, as hereinabove prescribed, as the period of time between the date of filing of its articles of incorporation or the issuance of its permit to do business, as the case may be, and on the first day of May next following, bears to a calendar year. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7396. Certain affidavits may be required.—For the purpose of determining the amount of the first franchise tax payment required by this chapter of any domestic corporation which may be hereafter chartered, or of any foreign corporation which may hereafter apply for a permit to do business within this state, and also for the purpose of determining the correctness of any report which is provided for in this chapter, the secretary of state may, whenever he may deem it necessary or proper to protect the interests of the state, require any one or more of the officers of such corporations to make and file in the office of the secretary of state an affidavit or affidavits in writing, which shall be subscribed by such officer, and by him sworn to before some officer who is by law duly authorized to administer oaths, and verified by his seal of office, setting forth fully the facts concerning the amount of the surplus and undivided profits, respectively, if any, of such domestic or foreign corporation; and until the secretary of state shall be fully satisfied as to the amount of such surplus and undivided profits, respectively, if any, he shall not file the articles of incorporation of such proposed domestic corporation, or issue such permit, or accept such franchise tax. [Id. sec. 4.]

Art. 7397. Reports to be filed, etc.—For the purpose of ascertaining and determining the amount of any annual franchise tax prescribed by this chapter, excepting only the first tax to be paid by any domestic corporation which may hereafter be chartered, or of any foreign corporation which may hereafter be authorized to do business in this state, the president, vice-president, general manager, secretary, treasurer and superintendent of each and every domestic or foreign corporation embraced within the provisions of this chapter, shall annually and between the first and tenth days of March, and also whenever called upon by the secretary of state to do so, report to the secretary of state, in writing, and under oath, as required by the preceding article, the total amounts of the capital stock issued and outstanding, and the surplus and undivided profits, respectively, if any, of such corporation on the first day of March next preceding; and the secretary of state may ascertain such facts from other sources: and, if the true aggregate of such amounts shall exceed the authorized capital stock of such corporation as disclosed by its then current original or amended articles of incorporation, the amount of its annual franchise tax for the year beginning the first day of May next thereafter shall be thereon collected and paid; otherwise, its annual franchise tax shall be calculated and paid upon the amount of its authorized capital stock as shown by its aforesaid original or amended articles of incorporation. The making and filing by any one of such officers of such corporation of the record required by this article shall relieve the other officers of such corporation from the duty of making any report required by this article, except such report or reports as may be required by the secretary of state. [Id. sec. 5.]

Note.—This article seems to be superseded in part by Arts. 7397a-7397e.

Art. 7397a. Reports to be filed; basis of tax.—All corporations that are now required by law to pay an annual franchise tax, shall, between the first day of January and the first day of February of each and every year, be required to make a report to the secretary of state, on blanks furnished by him, which report shall give the authorized capital stock of the corporation, the capital stock issued and outstanding, the surplus and undivided profits of the corporation, the names and addresses of all the officers and directors of the corporation, the amount of mortgages, bonded or other indebtedness of each corporation, and the amount of the last annual, semi-annual or quarterly dividend. If the capital stock issued and outstanding plus the surplus and undivided profits shall exceed the authorized capital stock, the franchise tax shall be based on this amount instead of the authorized capital, but if it shall be less, then the franchise tax shall be based on the amount of capital stock, but no corporation shall be required to pay a greater rate of franchise tax by reason of its having a surplus than a corporation that has no surplus. [Acts 1913, p. 327, sec. 1.]

See Art. 7397.

Art. 7397b. Penalty for failure to make report, etc.—Any corporation which shall fail or refuse to make the report as provided in section one hereof [Art. 7397a], shall be subject to a fine of ten dollars for each and every day after the first day of February that they shall fail to make such report. The attorney general of this state is hereby empowered and directed to bring suit against such corporation in either of the district courts of Travis county, in the name of the state of Texas for the collection of such penalties that may be due by reason of such failure. [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7397c. Reports privileged, etc.—The reports required by this Act shall be deemed to be privileged and not for the inspection of the general public, but any party or parties who are interested in the subject matter of any report, may, upon valid request in writing made to the secretary of state, secure a copy of same. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7397d. May be made by what officers; how executed, etc.—The following officers of each and every corporation shall be deemed competent to make the report required by this Act: The president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer or general manager, and all reports provided for in this Act shall be signed officially and sworn to before some officer authorized by law to administer oaths. [Id. sec. 4.]

Art. 7397e. Laws repealed, etc.—All laws and parts of laws in conflict with this Act are hereby repealed, but where this Act is not in conflict with any existing law, it shall be held to be amendatory thereof. [Id. sec. 5.]

Art. 7398. Supplemental tax to be paid when capital increased.—In the event of increase in the authorized capital stock of any domestic or foreign corporation, it shall also pay in advance a supplemental franchise tax thereon for the remainder of the year down to and including the thirtieth day of April next thereafter, the amount of which shall be determined as is provided in article 7395 in case of the first franchise tax payment to be made under this chapter by a domestic corporation which may be hereafter authorized to do business within this state. [Acts 1907, p. 503, sec. 6.]

Art. 7399. Failure to pay tax; charter forfeited, when; penalty. Any corporation, either domestic or foreign, which shall fail to pay any franchise tax provided for in this chapter when the same shall become due and payable under the provisions of this chapter, shall thereupon become liable to a penalty of twenty-five per cent of the amount of such franchise tax due by such corporation; and, if the amount of such tax and penalty be not paid in full on or before the first day of July thereafter, such corporation shall for such default forfeit its right to do business in this state; which forfeiture shall be consummated without judicial ascertainment by the secretary of state entering upon the margin of the record kept in his office relating to such corporation, the words, "right to do business forfeited," and the date of such forfeiture; and any corporation whose right to do business shall be thus forfeited shall be denied the right to sue or defend in any other courts of this state, except in a suit to defend the charter of such corporation; and, in any suit against such corporation on a cause of action arising before such forfeiture, no affirmative relief shall be granted to such corporation, unless its right to do business in this state shall be revived as provided by this chapter. And each and every director and officer of any corporation whose right to do business within this state shall be so forfeited shall, as to any and all debts of such corporation which may be created or incurred, with his knowledge, approval and consent, within this state, after such forfeiture by any such directors or officers, and before the revival of the right of such corporation to do business, be deemed and held liable thereon in the same manner and to the same extent as if such directors and officers of such corporation were partners. [Id. sec. 8.]

Grounds for forfeiture.—The failure of a corporation to pay the franchise tax mentioned in the article prior to its amendments embodied in this article does not authorize the secretary of state to declare forfeiture of its charter, but its dissolution can only be effected by a suit brought by the state for that purpose. Rippstein v. Haynes Medina Valley Ry. Co. (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 314.

Sufficiency of forfeiture.—Under this article as originally enacted in 1897 an entry by the secretary in his ledger: "Penalty notice returned. Charter forfeited for 1897 tax. Charter filed March 17, 1899"—is insufficient to forfeit the corporation's right to sue. Harvey v. Provident Inv. Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1127.

Effect of forfeiture.—That a corporation's right to do business had been forfeited for failure to pay franchise tax as required by this article did not destroy its corporate existence, though it assigned its assets, and ceased to do business. Maloney Mercantile Co. v. Johnson County Savings Bank, 56 C. A. 397, 121 S. W. 889.

As the common-law right to defend should not be denied except upon the clearest necessity, the inhibition in this article against affirmative relief would be construed as implying that defensive relief might be granted, so that, in an action upon bills of exchange against a corporation whose right to do business has been forfeited, it could be heard upon its plea of non est factum and other purely defensive relief. Id.

Where, at the time a corporation was sued, it had not failed to pay its franchise tax, a condition precedent to its right to do business in the state, it would not be deprived of the right to defend the action by afterwards failing to pay such tax. J. T. Stark Grain Co. v. Harry Bros. Co., 67 C. A. 529, 122 S. W. 947.

Liability of directors.—A director of a corporation, the franchise of which had been forfeited for failure to pay the franchise tax, could not be made individually liable on an account for goods sold to the corporation, where plaintiff's petition did not specially plead the facts showing such forfeiture and personal liability under this article. Smith v. Briggs-Weaver Machinery Co. (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 984.

Art. 7400. Notice of forfeiture.—The secretary of state shall, during the month of May of each year, notify each domestic and foreign corporation which may be or become subject to a franchise tax under any law of this state, which has failed to pay such franchise tax on or before the first day of May, that unless such overdue tax together with said penalty thereon shall be paid on or before the first day of July following, the right of such corporation to do business in this state will be forfeited without judicial ascertainment. Such notice may be either written or printed and shall be verified by the seal of the office of the secretary of state, and shall be addressed to such corporation and mailed to the postoffice named in its articles of incorporation as its principal place of business, or to any other known place of business of such corporation; and a record of the date of mailing such notice shall be kept by the secretary of state. Such notice and said record thereof shall constitute legal and sufficient notice thereof for all the purposes of this chapter. Any corporation whose right to do business may have been forfeited, as provided in this chapter, shall be relieved from such forfeiture by paying the secretary of state any time within six months after such forfeiture the full amount of the franchise tax and penalty due by it, together with an additional amount of five per cent of such tax for each month, or fractional part of a month, which shall elapse after such forfeiture; provided, that such amount shall in no case be less than five dollars. When such tax and all such penalties shall be fully paid to the secretary of state, he shall revive and reinstate the right of the corporation to do business within this state by cancelling the words, "right to do business forfeited," upon his record and endorsing thereon the word, "revived," and the date of such revival. If any domestic corporation whose right to do business within this state shall hereafter be forfeited under the provisions of this chapter, shall fail to pay the secretary of state, on or before the first day of January next following the revival, amounts necessary to entitle it to have its right to do business revived under the provisions of this chapter, such failure shall constitute sufficient grounds for the forfeiture, by judgment of any court of competent jurisdiction, of the charter of such domestic corporation. [Id. sec. 9.]

Art. 7400a. Cancellation of forfeiture in certain cases; forfeiture by judgment, when, etc.—Every private corporation heretofore chartered under the laws of this state, whose charter or right to do business, and every foreign corporation whose right to do business within this state has heretofore been forfeited as provided by law, solely and only because of its failure to pay, within the time provided by law any franchise tax or taxes and penalty or penalties prescribed by law for failure to pay such tax or taxes when due, shall be permitted and authorized to pay to the secretary of the state on or before the first day of September, A. D., 1913, the aggregate amount of its franchise tax or taxes and the penalty or penalties thereon as provided by law, calculated for the entire period of time beginning with the day upon which the first unpaid franchise tax payment became due and ending with the day of such payment; and upon such payment being made to the secretary of state, he shall cancel such previous forfeiture of the right of such corporation to do business within this state and shall endorse upon the margin of the record kept in his office relating to such corporation the word "Revived," and the date of such revival. Failure of any such domestic corporation to pay such aggregate amount on or before the first day of September, A. D., 1913, shall constitute sufficient grounds for the forfeiture by a judgment of any court of competent jurisdiction of the charter of such domestic corporations; provided; that none of the provisions of this section shall apply to any corporation whose right to do business within this state, or whose charter may have been legally forfeited for any other reason than that of failure to pay such franchise tax or taxes and such penalty or penalties.

Provided that this Act shall not in any manner affect any litigation by or against any corporation which cause of action or defense to any cause of action originated since the forfeiture of the charter or cancellation or permit and prior to the time of taking advantage of this Act. [Acts 1907 (1st Ex. Sess.) ch. 23, sec. 10. Amended Acts 1911, p. 91, sec. 1. Acts 1913, p. 334, sec. 1.]
Art. 7401. Foreign corporations may withdraw.—Should any foreign corporation which may have or hereafter obtain a permit to do business within this state desire at any time to withdraw from doing busi-ess in this state, it may surrender such permit to the secretary of state, who shall thereupon mark or stamp such permit, “surrendered,” dating and signing same officially, and shall endorse upon the record of such permit in his office the word, “surrendered,” and the date thereof; and thereafter such corporation may, by complying with the provisions of this chapter, secure a new permit to do business in this state without having made any further payment of franchise tax under such old permit.

Art. 7402. No business to be done after forfeiture; penalty.—In any and all cases in which the charter, or right to do business, of any private domestic corporation, heretofore or hereafter chartered under the laws of this state, or the permit of any foreign corporation, or its right to do business within this state, shall have been or shall hereafter be forfeited, it shall be unlawful for any person or persons who were or shall be stockholders, or officers, of such corporation at the time of such forfeiture to do business within this state, in or under the corporate name of such corporation, or to use signs or advertisements of such corporation or similar to the signs or advertisements which were used by such corporation before such forfeiture; and each and every person who may violate any of the provisions of this article shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished as provided in the Penal Code; provided, the inhibition and penalties prescribed by this article shall not apply where the right of such corporation to do business within this state has been revived in the manner provided by law and is at the time in good standing: [Id. sec. 12.]

Art. 7403. Certain corporations not required to pay tax, when.—
The franchise tax imposed by this chapter shall not apply to any insurance company, surety, guaranty or fidelity company, or any transportation company, or any sleeping, palace car and dining car company which now is required to pay an annual tax measured by their gross receipts, or to corporations having no capital stock and organized for the exclusive purpose of promoting the public interest of any city or town, or to corporations organized for the purpose of religious worship, or for providing places of burial not for private profit, or corporations organized for the purpose of holding agricultural fairs and encouraging agricultural pursuits, or for strictly educational purposes, or for purely public charity. [Id. sec. 13.]

Art. 7404. Attorney general to bring suit, when.—The attorney general shall be authorized, and it shall be his duty, to bring suit there for against any and all such corporations which may be or become subject to or liable for any and all franchise tax or taxes or penalties under this or any former law; and, in case there may now be or shall hereafter exist valid grounds for the forfeiture of the charter of any domestic private corporation, or failure to pay any franchise tax or franchise taxes or penalty or penalties to which it may have become or shall hereafter be or become subject or liable under this or former law, it shall be his duty to bring suit for a forfeiture of such charter; and, for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this chapter by civil suits, venue is hereby conferred upon the courts of Travis county concurrently with the courts of the county in which the principal office of such corporation may be located as shown by its articles or amended articles of incorporation. Such courts shall also have authority to restrain and enjoin a violation of any and all of the provisions of this chapter. In any and all cases in which any court having jurisdiction thereof shall make and enter judgment forfeiting the charter of any such corporation, the court may appoint a receiver thereof and may administer such receivership under the laws regulating receiverships. [Id. sec. 14.]

Nature of procedure.—A proceeding for judgment of ouster from corporate franchises, dissolution of a corporation, for unpaid franchise taxes and penalties, and for a receiver to wind up the corporation is not maintainable under Art. 6398, but must be had under this article. Oriental Oil Co. v. State (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 722.

Persons entitled to sue for forfeiture and for taxes.—Under this article and Arts. 7400, 7401, the authority of the Attorney General is exclusive, and a suit instituted by a county attorney is illegal. Oriental Oil Co. v. State (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 722.

Art. 7405. Forfeiture of charter by court; duty of clerk.—Upon the rendition by the district court of any judgment or for forfeiture under the provisions of this chapter, the clerk of that court shall forthwith mail to the secretary of state a certified copy of such judgment; and, upon receipt thereof, he shall endorse upon the record of such charter in his office the words, “judgment of forfeiture,” and the date of such judgment. In event of an appeal from such judgment by writ of error or otherwise, the clerk of the court from which such appeal is taken shall forthwith certify to the secretary of state the fact that such appeal has been perfected, and he shall endorse upon the record of such charter in his office the word, “appealed,” and the date upon which such appeal was perfected. When final disposition of such appeal shall be made, the clerk of the court making such disposition thereof shall forthwith certify such disposition and the date thereof to the secretary of state, who shall briefly note same upon the record of such charter in his office and the date of such final disposition. [Id. sec. 15.]

Review of proceedings.—A proceeding for ouster and unpaid franchise taxes must be had under Art. 7404, and not under Art. 6398; and hence, as this article contemplates review of the judgment by writ of error, a motion to dismiss the writ to the judgment, because proceedings under Art. 6398 were reviewable only by appeal, must be denied. Oriental Oil Co. v. State (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 722.

Even if the proceeding for ouster and for delinquent franchise taxes be construed to be both under Art. 6398 and under Art. 7404, the writ of error would stand as to everything in the judgment, except the naked item of ouster. Id.

Art. 7406. Payment of tax by corporations in process of liquidation.—In case a corporation is actually in process of liquidation, such corporation shall only be required to pay a franchise tax calculated upon the difference between the amount of stock actually issued and the amount of liquidating dividends actually paid upon such stock; provided, that the president and secretary of such corporation shall make affidavit as to the total amount of capital stock issued and as to the amount of liquidating dividends actually paid and that such corporation is in an actual bona fide state of liquidation. [Id. sec. 15a.]

Decisions Relating to Subject in General

Recovery of tax paid under protest.—A foreign corporation paying a franchise tax under protest, on the ground of the illegality of the statute imposing the tax, held not entitled to recover the same, on the ground that it was only doing an interstate business, and was not subject to the franchise tax. Gaar, Scott & Co. v. Shannon, 52 C. A. 634, 118 S. W. 561.

STATE INTANGIBLE TAX BOARD

Art. 7407. State tax board, of whom composed; tax commissioner, appointment of.

Art. 7415. Statement of intangible assets; to contain what.

Art. 7416. Statement of intangible assets; to contain what.

Art. 7417. Date of receipt to be endorsed on statement; board may demand additional statements.

Art. 7418. Statements placed before board, when.

Art. 7419. Duties and powers of board in passing upon statements.

Article 7407. State tax board, of whom composed; tax commissioner, appointment of.—There is hereby created a state tax board, which shall be composed of the comptroller of public accounts, the secretary of state and a third member, to be known as tax commissioner of the state of Texas. Except as herein otherwise provided, such tax commissioner shall be appointed by the governor in accordance with and subject to the provisions of section 12 of article 4 of the constitution of Texas, and shall hold his office for two years and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified, and shall receive an annual salary of two thousand five hundred dollars, in equal installments payable at the end of each month. A majority of said board shall constitute a quorum to do business. A record of the proceedings of said board shall be kept at the state capitol, and shall be open to the inspection of the public. [Acts 1909, p. 469.]

Constitutionality.—Acts 1905, c. 146, p. 351, re-enacted with modifications and additions and embodied in this chapter, is not unconstitutional, and an injunction will not lie to restrain the state tax board from exercising or attempting to exercise any of the powers and functions conferred on it by the act. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Shannon, 100 T. 375, 100 S. W. 138, 10 L. R. A. (N. S.) 681, affirming (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 627.

This act, Acts 1907, c. 17, embodied in this chapter, is not repugnant to or violative of article 8, sections 11, 14, of the state constitution. Lively v. M., K. & T. Ry., 100 T. 545, 120 S. W. 862.

Art. 7408. Bond of tax commissioner.—Before the tax commissioner shall enter upon or proceed with the discharge of his official duties, he shall execute a bond payable to the state of Texas, at Austin, in Travis county, Texas, in the sum of ten thousand dollars, with two or more good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the governor, conditioned for the faithful discharge of his official duties as such tax commissioner, and shall take and subscribe the oath of office prescribed by the constitution of this state, which bond and oath shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state. [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7409. Secretary.—The state [tax] board may employ for not more than four months in each year a secretary, who shall be an expert stenographer, and who shall receive for his services as secretary and stenographer a salary of one hundred dollars per month. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7410. Duties of board.—It shall be the duty of said tax board—
(a) To make such rules and regulations as said board shall deem proper with respect to its own meetings and procedure, and to effectually carry out the purposes for which said board is constituted.
(b) To examine all books, papers and accounts and to interrogate under oath, or otherwise, any and all persons whom said board, or any member thereof, may desire to examine for the purpose of obtaining or acquiring any and all information that may in any manner aid in securing a compliance with any tax law or revenue law of this state by any and all persons, companies, corporations or associations liable to taxation or to pay any license fee under any law of this state, which is now in force, or which may hereafter be enacted.
(c) To make diligent investigation and inquiry concerning the revenue laws and systems of other states and countries, so far as the same are made known by published reports, or statistics, or can be ascertained by correspondence with officers thereof; and, with the aid of information thus or otherwise obtained, together with experience and observation of the operation of the laws of this state, to recommend to the legislature at each regular session thereof, such amendments, changes or modifications of the laws of this state, and such additional laws as may to said board, or any member thereof, seem necessary or proper to remedy injustice or irregularity in taxation, and to facilitate the assessment of taxes and collection of public revenues.

(d) To report to the legislature, at each regular session thereof, the whole amount of state revenues collected in this state for all purposes, and the sources thereof, the amount of such revenues which may be lost to the state through failure to make collection and the cause of such losses, a summary of the proceedings of said board since the date of its last report, and such other matters concerning the public revenues as said board, or any member thereof, may deem to be of public interest. [Id. sec. 4.]

Art. 7411. Same.—Said tax board, or any member thereof, or the state revenue agent under the direction of said board or of the governor of Texas, shall, at least once in each year, visit such counties of the state as said board, or the said governor, may direct, for the purpose of investigating into and aiding in the enforcement of all revenue laws of this state, and especially those concerning the rendition, assessment and collection of taxes. [Id. sec. 5.]

Art. 7412. Powers of board.—Each member of said state tax board shall have power to administer oaths and to subpoena and examine witnesses, and to issue subpoenas duces tecum, and shall have access to and power to order the production before such board, or any member thereof, of any and all books, documents and papers which may be in the possession or under the control of any person, company, corporation or receiver, assignee, trustee in bankruptcy, or bailee, whenever such board, or any member thereof, may consider same necessary or proper in the prosecution of any injury [inquiry] under or in the execution of any provision of this chapter; and all such process shall be served under the provisions of law governing the service of process in civil cases, in so far as applicable. [Id. sec. 6.]

Art. 7413. Failure to obey subpoena; penalty.—Any person who shall disobey any such subpoena, or subpoena duces tecum, issued by any member of said board, or any such order of said board, or who shall fail or refuse to attend as by such subpoena directed, or to testify when so required to do so by any member of said board, under the provisions of this chapter, shall be deemed guilty of contempt, and may be punished therefor by said board under the provisions of laws applicable to the district courts in such cases. [Id. sec. 7.]

Art. 7414. Tax on intangible assets; law applies to whom.—Each and every incorporated railroad company, ferry company, bridge company, turn-pike or toll company, doing business wholly or in part within the state of Texas, whether incorporated under the laws of this state, or of any other state, territory, or foreign country, and every other individual, company, corporation or association doing business of the same character in this state, in addition to the ad valorem taxes on intangible properties which are or may be imposed upon them, respectively, by law, shall pay an annual tax to the state, beginning with the first day of January of each year, on their intangible assets and property, and local taxes thereon to the counties in which its business is carried on; which additional tax shall be assessed and levied upon such intangible assets and property in the manner provided in this chapter. The county or counties in which such taxes are to be paid, and the manner of the apportionment of the same, shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of this chapter. [Id. sec. 8.]

Valuation for assessments.—Intangible assets of a railroad company must be assessed at the same uniform rate as all other property in the county, in this case (Dallas county) at 66% cents on the dollar. Lively v. M., K. & T. Ry., 102 T. 545, 120 S. W. 852.

Review of assessment.—It is not necessary for a railroad company to apply to the board of equalization of the county for relief in the matter of assessing its intangible
Art. 7415. Same.—Between the second day of January and the first day of March of each year, every individual, company, corporation and association embraced within the provisions of the next preceding article of this chapter, or coming within its scope and intent, shall make out and deliver into the possession of said tax commissioner a statement containing the information required of it by this chapter, which statement shall be duly verified by the affidavit of the individual, or one of the officers of the company, corporation or association in whose behalf it is made, or by the receiver, assignee, or trustee in bankruptcy thereof. [Id. sec. 9.]

Art. 7416. Statement to contain what.—Each such statement shall show the following items and particulars as the same stood on the first day of January next preceding, to-wit:
(a) The name of the individual, company, corporation, or association making such statement, and the character of its business.
(b) If incorporated, the authority by which it was incorporated and the purposes of its incorporation as expressed in its original or amended articles of incorporation or articles of association.
(c) The locality of its principal office and the amount and kind of business done by it in this state and the total gross receipts derived from its business within this state, including a due proportion of its interstate business, if it has done any business of that character.
(d) Its total authorized capital stock and the number of shares thereof which have been issued and are outstanding, and the par face value of each such share, and the amount of the capital actually employed in the aforesaid business within the state.
(e) The market value of said shares of stock, or, if they have no market value, the actual value thereof.
(f) The assessed value and also the true value of all the tangible property owned by such individual, company, corporation or association in each county in this state and the total assessed value and also the true value thereof.
(g) The assessed value and also the true value of the tangible property of such individual, company, corporation or association, outside of this state, and not specifically used in the business of such individual, company, corporation or association, same to be given by states, and the total assessed value and also the true value of the same.
(h) A statement of each and every existing lien, mortgage or other charge upon the whole, or any part, of the property of such individual, company, corporation or association, and of the property thereby charged or encumbered, and of the amount of unpaid debt secured by each such mortgage, lien or charge, and of the interest charged thereon, and to what extent such interest has been paid, and of the true and fair market value of every such debt.
(i) A statement of the gross receipts and net income and earnings for the next preceding twelve months, including therein all interest on investments, and all rents, fruits, revenues and receipts from every source whatsoever, and a statement of the income used for repairs, and of the amounts used for betterments, and the amount used for extensions within that period of time.
(j) Every such railroad company shall also show in each statement made by it:
1. The total length of all lines of said company, whether within or without this state.
2. The total length of such lines as are within the state.
3. The length of its lines in each of the counties in this state into which its lines extend. [Id. sec. 10.]
Art. 7417. Date of receipt to be endorsed on statement; board may demand additional statements.—The tax commissioner shall receive all tax statements rendered to him under the provisions of this chapter, and shall endorse upon each the date of receipt thereof, signing such endorsement officially. Said state tax board shall examine all such statements as soon as may be practicable; and, if said board shall deem any of them insufficient, or shall believe other or further information necessary or proper, said board shall at once demand of such individual, company or corporation, or association, such additional statements and such further information as it may think proper. [Id. sec. 11.]

Art. 7418. Statements placed before board, when.—On the first Monday after the first day of March of each year, or as soon thereafter as may be practicable, said tax commissioner shall place before said state tax board all such statements, facts and information as may have come into its possession or knowledge under the provisions of this chapter. [Id. sec. 12.]

Art. 7419. Duties and powers of board in passing upon statement.—Said state tax board shall thereupon carefully examine and consider the said statements, facts and information; and, if they deem it advisable to do so, shall hear evidence, and shall require such individual, company, corporation or association to make such additional reports, if any, as such board may deem proper, and shall otherwise secure further additional information so far as may be in their power, to show the true value of the properties aforesaid, and the true value of that portion of every such property which is situated within the state and within the respective counties thereof, sufficient to enable said board to make the preliminary estimate herein provided for; and, for that purpose as well as for the purpose of carrying into effect any and all the provisions of this chapter, said board, and each member thereof, may require and compel, as provided in this chapter, any and all such individuals, companies, corporations and associations, and the officers and agents thereof, and such receivers, trustees in bankruptcy, assignees and bailees, to appear before such board at a time or times to be designated by said board, with any and all such books, papers, documents and information as said board may require, and to submit themselves to examination by said board. Upon consideration of such statements and information and such additional evidence, books, papers, documents and information, if any, said state tax board shall make in accordance with the provisions of this chapter, a preliminary estimate, valuation and apportionment of the true value of the intangible property within this state, of each of said individuals, companies, corporations, or associations, and shall, on or before the thirty-first day of May of each year, by registered mail, notify each and every such individual, company, corporation, or association, receiver or assignee, trustee in bankruptcy, or other person holding such property for the benefit of creditors, of such preliminary estimate, valuation and apportionment, and the amounts thereof; and all such individuals, companies, corporations, associations, receivers, assignees, trustees and other persons shall have fifteen days from the time of mailing such notice by registered mail to appear before such state tax board, at Austin, in Travis county, Texas, on a date to be fixed in such notice, and request of such board a change or changes in such valuation and apportionment, or either, or a cancellation of such valuation and apportionment; and said individuals, companies, corporations, associations, receivers, assignees, trustees and other persons may appear before such board, in person or by attorney, or in person and by attorney, and introduce evidence. Said board may, upon its own motion, or upon the written request of any interested party, and each member of said board may summon, swear and examine witnesses under the same rules which govern the summoning, swearing and examination of witnesses in the district courts of this state; and such board shall have the same jurisdiction, authority and power, under the same penalties, to require the production and to secure the examination of any and all books, documents and papers of such individuals, companies, corporations and associations, receivers, assignees, trustees and other persons as is now or may hereafter be conferred by the laws of this state upon the railroad commission of Texas. Upon or after such hearing, said board may change such valuation and apportionment, or either, or cancel such valuation and apportionment, as said board may deem just and proper in the premises. [Id. sec. 13.]

Art. 7420. Same.—In so far as the other evidence and information adduced before said state tax board does not make it appear to the members of said board to be improper or unjust to do so, said board shall, in fixing the true value of the entire property of such individual, company, corporation or association embraced within the provisions of this chapter, take as a basis therefor the aggregate market or true value of all its shares of stock, adding thereto the aggregate market or true value of all indebtedness secured by any mortgage, lien or other charge upon its property or assets, and the sum so produced shall be deemed and treated as the true value of said entire property. And where the individual, company, corporation or association does business and has property, both within this state and outside of it, in ascertaining the true value of its property within this state, said tax board shall next ascertain from said statements, reports and evidence, if any, or otherwise, the true value, in the locality where the same is situated, of each such several pieces of real estate situated outside of this state, and of its other properties, if any, outside thereof, and not specifically used in the business of said individual, company, corporation or association, and the aggregate of said value shall be deducted from the gross value of the property as above ascertained; and the result of said deduction and the sum or value thereby obtained shall be deemed and treated as the true value of all property of such individual, company, corporation or association in actual use in its business. Said tax board shall then fix the true value of the property of such individual, company, corporation or association within this state, using as a basis and being guided so far as it shall not believe it unjust to do so, by the proportion which it finds to exist between the total lines or total receipts within this state and outside of it, and lines controlled or operated, or the receipts obtained, entirely within this state, so that there shall be apportioned to this state, as the true value of the property within its borders of each individual, company, corporation and association doing business within and outside of its limits, such proportion of the true value of all the property of such individual, company, corporation or association which is specifically used in its business, as is borne by its total lines or total receipts within this state when compared with the total lines or total receipts both inside and outside of the state of Texas. From the entire value of the property within this state, when ascertained as directed by this chapter, said state tax board shall deduct the true value of all the tangible property of such individual, company, corporation or association within this state, as so ascertained by said state tax board, and the residue and remainder of value shall be by said state tax board fixed, determined and declared as the true value of the intangible properties owned and held by such individual, company, corporation or association within this state. Said state tax board shall apportion the sum of the said total taxable values within this state to the counties in which such individual, company, corporation or association does business, in proportion to the amount of business done in and the receipts derived from each such county, except that, in case of a railroad company, the apportionment to each county shall be in proportion to the line or lines of such individual, company, corporation or association therein. In apportioning the value of the aforesaid properties, said state tax board shall have the right and it shall be its duty to make use of and consider all evidence which may be put before it and all material facts at its command; and, if it shall believe that some method of calculation other than that specifically prescribed in this chapter is necessary in order to produce just and lawful results, said board shall follow that method of calculation which it believes best calculated, under all circumstances, to bring about a just, fair, equitable and lawful valuation and apportionment of such property. [Id. sec. 14.]

Art. 7421. Unincorporated companies and individuals; capital, how ascertained.—Whenever any person, or association of persons, not being a corporation, nor having a capital stock, shall engage in this state in any character of business embraced within the provisions of article 7414, then the capital and property, or the certificate or other evidences of the rights or interests of such person or association of persons engaged in such business, shall be deemed and treated as the capital stock of such person, or association of persons, for the purpose of taxation, and for all other purposes, under this chapter, and shall be estirated and valued; and the intangible property of such person or association of persons, when ascertained, shall be apportioned, distributed, assessed and taxed under the provisions of this chapter, in like manner as if such person or association of persons were a corporation; and each such person and association of persons shall, annually, within the time and in the manner provided in this chapter, make the statements and reports and furnish and supply the information required by this act of the aforesaid companies, corporations and associations, and shall be subject in like manner as the aforesaid companies, corporations and associations to all the terms and provisions of this chapter, including penalties. [Id. sec. 15.]

Art. 7422. Board to certify amount of intangible assets to assessors.
—Thereafter, and not later than the twentieth day of June of each year, said state tax board shall make, in accordance with the provisions and requirements of this chapter, a final valuation and apportionment of the intangible assets aforesaid, of each and every such individual, company, corporation and association, and shall, as soon after such twentitheth day of June as practicable, certify to the tax assessor of each county in this state to which any portion of such intangible assets of any such individual, company, corporation or association is found by said board to be apportionable for taxation and so apportioned, the amount thereof, as fixed, determined and declared by said board, and thereunto apportioned by said board, together with the name and place of residence or place of business of the owner or owners of the property embraced in such valuation and apportionment; provided, that such final valuation and apportionment of such intangible assets, properly apportionable and apportioned by such state tax board to any unorganized county shall be by said board so certified to the tax collector of the county to which such unorganized county is attached for judicial purposes. It shall be the duty of the tax assessor of such county, upon receiving such certificate or certificates of said state tax board, to place, set down and list, upon forms prescribed by the comptroller of public accounts for such purpose, upon the tax rolls of his county, and of each unorganized county which is attached to his county for judicial purposes, as the case may be, any and all such intangible assets, at the value so fixed, determined, declared and certified by said state tax board. Such county tax assessor shall extend and prorate upon said rolls the state and county taxes upon all such intangible assets in the same manner as taxes upon other property are extended and prorated. Said assessment, valuation and apportionment of such intangible assets so fixed, determined, de-declared and certified by such state tax board shall not be subject to review, modification or change by the tax assessor of such county, nor by the board of equalization of such county; and the state and county taxes thereon shall be collected by the tax collector of such county and accounted for by him in the same manner and under the same penalties as taxes upon other property. All state and county ad valorem taxes upon all intangible property in this state belonging to any individual, company, corporation or association embraced by this chapter, shall be assessed under its provisions and not otherwise; but ad valorem taxes upon all other property of any and all such individuals, companies, corporations and associations shall be assessed as is now or as may hereafter be provided by law. [Id. sec. 16.]

Art. 7423. Failure of tax assessor to comply; penalty.—Any county tax assessor who shall violate or in any respect fail to comply with any of the provisions of this chapter, and any member of any board of equalization and any county tax assessor who shall modify or change, or vote to modify or change, in any manner whatsoever the finding, valuation or apportionment of any of said intangible assets as so fixed, determined, declared and certified by said state tax board, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished as provided in the Penal Code. [Id. sec. 17.]

Art. 7424. Failure to make statement, etc.; penalty.—Every individual, company, corporation and association, embraced within the provisions of this chapter, which shall fail to make any return, statement and report provided for by this chapter, within fifteen days after the day on which it is required by this chapter to be made, or to make any additional report or statement, or to furnish any additional information which may be required by said state tax board, or any member thereof, under the provisions of this chapter, within fifteen days after the mailing of a registered notice or demand therefor in writing, signed by any member of said board and addressed to such individual, company or corporation or association, at its proper postoffice address or principal place of business, shall forfeit and pay to the state of Texas not more than five thousand dollars, which amount may be recovered by suit which may be brought therefor in behalf of the state by the attorney general; and venue of such suits is hereby fixed within the county of Travis, in said state; and the courts of said county are hereby vested with jurisdiction of said causes. [Id. sec. 18.]

Art. 7425. Receivers and trustees in bankruptcy to make reports, etc.—If the property of any such individual, company, corporation or association be in the hands of any receiver, assignee, trustee in bankruptcy, or other person holding under any court, or for the benefit of any creditor or creditors, then the statements, reports, information, books and papers aforesaid shall be furnished by such receiver, assignee, trustee or other person, by some officer or agent acting under him, in the same manner and to the same extent as is hereinbefore provided in cases where an individual, company or association is in possession; and as to such receiver, assignee, trustee in bankruptcy or other person, officer or agent, all of the provisions of this chapter, in so far as they are applicable, shall apply and govern. [Id. sec. 19.]

Art. 7426. Persons complying with this chapter relieved of other taxes.—Whenever any individual, company, corporation or association, embraced within article 7414, shall pay in full, and within the year for which same may be assessed, all its state and county taxes for that year upon all its intangible properties as determined, fixed and assessed under the provisions of this chapter, such individual, company, corporation or association shall thereby be relieved from liability for and from payment of any and all occupation taxes measured by gross receipts.
for or accruing during that year under any law of this state; but no such individual, company, corporation or association shall be entitled to any such exemption, except for the year for which it shall, before same shall become delinquent, pay all its aforesaid intangible state and county taxes for that year. [Id. sec. 21.]

CHAPTER FIVE

TAX ON LIQUOR DEALERS

Art. 7427. Tax to be collected.—There shall be collected from every person, firm or association of persons selling spirituous, vinous, or malt liquors, or medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication, in this state, not located in any county, or subdivision of a county, justice precinct, city or town where local option is in force under the laws of Texas, an annual tax of three hundred and seventy-five dollars on each separate establishment as follows: For selling such liquors or medicated bitters in quantities of one gallon or less than one gallon, three hundred and seventy-five dollars; for selling such liquors or medicated bitters in quantities of one gallon or more than one gallon, three hundred and seventy-five dollars; provided, that in selling one gallon the same may be made up of different liquors in unbroken packages aggregating not less than one gallon; for selling malt liquors exclusively sixty-two dollars and fifty cents; provided, further, that nothing in this article shall be so construed as to exempt druggists who sell spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, or medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication, on the prescription of a physician or otherwise, from the payment of the tax herein imposed; provided, further, that this article shall not apply to the sale by druggists of tinctures and drug compounds, in the preparation of which such liquors or medicated bitters are used and sold on the prescription of a physician or otherwise, and which tinctures and compounds are not intoxicating beverages prepared in the evasion of the provisions of this chapter nor the local option law. The commissioners' courts of the several counties in this state shall have the power to levy and collect from every person or asso-citation of persons selling spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, or medicated bitters, a tax equal to one-half of the state tax herein levied; and where any such sale is made in any incorporated city or town, such city or town shall have the power to levy and collect a tax upon such sale equal to that levied by the commissioners' court of the county in which such city or town is situated; provided, that where any special charter gives the right to any city to refuse a license for the sale of intoxicating liquors, no license issued on behalf of the state or county shall become operative therein until a license therefor has been issued by such city. [Acts 1909, 1 S. S., p. 293, sec. 1.]

Applicability in general.—The statute imposing an occupation tax on the occupation of selling malt liquors does not apply to one following the occupation in a local option district. Hall v. State, 48 Cr. R. 514, 90 S. W. 503.

There is no repugnancy between Acts 1907, c. 138, p. 259, re-enacted with modifications and additions in 1909 and embodied in this chapter, and the general Sunday law, and both may and can stand in perfect harmony. Ex parte Wright, 56 Cr. R. 504, 120 S. W. 869.

Sales are in T. county so as not to subject one to the occupation tax of pursuing the business of selling intoxicating liquors in C. county, where he sends circulars from T. county to C. county, soliciting orders, and on orders being received delivers the liquor in the county for him, the seller not being undertaking to deliver in C. county. State v. Texas Brewing Co. (Sup.) 167 S. W. 1166.

Saloon limits fixed by city ordinance.—An ordinance of a city prohibiting saloons within certain described limits does not contravene this article, giving one the right to sell liquors who has paid state and county occupation tax. Geronaiik v. State, 60 Cr. R. 653, 106 S. W. 374.

Where the charter of a city defines limits within which saloons shall not be kept, one can be enjoined under Acts 1907, p. 166, from keeping a saloon within said limits, even though he has obtained a license under this law. Paul v. State, 48 C. A. 25, 105 S. W. 451.

The provisions of a city charter empowering the board of commissioners to fix saloon limits for the city were not repealed by Acts 1907, p. 258. Ex parte King, 55 Cr. R. 383, 107 S. W. 549.

Contracts—Validity of.—Where a license to carry on a business is required for the sole purpose of raising revenue, and a statute inflicts a penalty by way of securing payment of the license named, a sale without a license is not invalid and the price of the goods may be recovered. Eberstadt v. Jones, 19 C. A. 480, 48 S. W. 558.

Clubs.—A country club held not a person, under the law, engaged in the occupation or business of selling intoxicating liquors. And the possession of an internal revenue liquor license by a club held not to fix on the officers thereof the liabilities of a retail liquor dealer. State v. Duke, 104 T. 355, 137 S. W. 564, 138 S. W. 356.

Organized clubs are not required or permitted to take out a license for sales of liquors to members as an incident to their organization and not as a business for profit. Adams v. State (Cr. App.) 145 S. W. 340.

A social club may sell liquors to its members, without taking out a license. Truevant v. State (Cr. App.) 145 S. W. 1191.

A social club organized in Oklahoma, but which has not complied with the laws of Texas by filing its charter, etc., may not sell liquor in Texas, without a license; there being no in the law of Oklahoma permitted a club to sell liquor without a license. Pace v. State (Cr. App.) 156 S. W. 1192.

Druggists.—In view of past legislation, which at all times exempted druggists from any of the requirements applicable to liquor dealers, except the payment of the tax, the second clause of Art. 7428, though applying generally to all persons selling in quantities less than a gallon, would not include druggists, and hence the requirements of an application, petition, and bond would not refer to druggists, and this is so, since otherwise there was no necessity of placing a proviso that druggists should not be exempt from payment of the annual tax, and since Arts. 7425, 7446, and 7452 were special provisions applying only to liquor sold to be drunk on the premises, and would not affect druggists who cannot sell for that purpose. Kirk v. Morley (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1109.

Refunding license tax in local option district.—See Title 83.

Art. 7428. "Retail liquor dealer" defined.—A "retail liquor dealer" is a person or firm permitted by law, being licensed under the provisions of this law, to sell spirituous, vinous and malt liquors, and medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication, in quantities of one gallon or less, which may be drunk on the premises. Any person who sells intoxicating liquors in quantities less than one gallon shall be governed by the provisions of this law and be required to take out license hereunder. [Acts 1909, 1 S. S., p. 294, sec. 2.]

See Ex parte Townsend, 64 Cr. R. 360, 144 S. W. 628.

Definitions—"Retail liquor dealer."—One sale of liquor taken from a licensed saloon by an employee of the saloon keeper would not constitute the employé a "retail liquor dealer," under this article. Cassidy v. State, 58 Cr. R. 464, 128 S. W. 690.

Druggists.—See notes under Art. 7427.
Art. 7429. "Retail malt dealer" defined.—A "retail malt dealer" is a person or firm permitted by law, being licensed under the provisions of this law, to sell malt liquors capable of producing intoxication, exclusively in quantities of one gallon or less, which may be drunk on the premises. [Id. sec. 3.]

See Ex parte Townsend, 64 Cr. R. 350, 144 S. W. 628.

Art. 7430. Liquor dealer's license.—No person shall, directly or indirectly, sell spirituous or vinous liquors capable of producing intoxication, in quantities of one gallon or less, without taking out a license as a retail liquor dealer. [Id. sec. 4.]

Nature of license.—See notes under Art. 7425.
Revocation of license.—See notes under Arts. 7434, 7436.

Art. 7431. Malt dealer's license.—No person shall sell, directly or indirectly, malt liquor capable of producing intoxication, in quantities of one gallon or less, without taking out a license as a retail malt dealer; provided, that this article shall not apply to a retail liquor dealer, and that a retail liquor dealer's license shall be construed to embrace a retail malt dealer's license. [Id. sec. 5.]

Nature of license.—See notes under Art. 7435.
Revocation of license.—See notes under Arts. 7434, 7436.

Art. 7432. Right of wine growers to sell wine.—This law shall not be so construed as to deny the right of wine growers to sell wine of their own production in any quantity without license; provided, that such wine grower shall not permit nor suffer any wine so sold by him to be drunk on his premises; and provided, further, that this article shall not be so construed as to give any wine grower the right to sell any wine to any minor without the permission of the parent, master or guardian of such minor first had and obtained, or any habitual drunkard, after being notified by any relative of such drunkard not to make such sale, gift or disposition. [Id. sec. 6.]

Constitutionality.—This article does not make an unreasonable discrimination in favor of producers of native wines, and is not void under the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States. Douthit v. State, 38 T. 344, 83 S. W. 796, affir­ming Douthit v. State, 36 C. A. 356, 52 S. W. 363.

Art. 7433. Transfer of license, etc.—No retail liquor dealer nor retail malt dealer shall carry on said business at more than one place at the same time under the same license, nor shall any such license be voluntarily assigned more than once; but, before the assignee of such license can engage in business thereunder, he shall comply with the provisions of this law, as required of the original licensee; and provided, further, that the sale of such license, whether in the name of the original licensee or assignee, may be made under execution or mortgage; and the purchaser of such license at such sale shall have the right to surrender such license to the state or county which issued the tax receipt which is the basis therefor, and shall receive therefor the pro rata unearned portion of such license; provided, further, that, should said original licensee, or his assignee, desire to change the place designated in said license, he may do so by applying to the county judge as in case of original application for license as provided in article 7435 of this chapter, but it shall not be necessary to furnish another certificate from the comptroller of public accounts. [Id. sec. 7.]

Temporary transfer of place of business as affecting right to conduct business.—Right to conduct liquor business at the place specified in the license held not lost by temporary transfer of business to another place, without transfer of license. McLeod v. State, 33 C. A. 170, 76 S. W. 216.

Art. 7434. Forfeiture of license.—Any person or firm having a license as a retail liquor dealer, or a retail malt dealer, who shall violate any of the provisions of this law, or the provisions or conditions of the liquor dealer's bond required by this law to be given by such person or firm, shall forfeit his or their license as a retail liquor dealer, or retail malt dealer, as the case may be; and, if affidavit is filed by any property paying citizen in the office of the clerk of the county court that such person or firm, having either of such licenses, has been guilty of violating any of the provisions of this law, or the provisions or conditions of said liquor dealer's bond, it shall be the duty of the judge of said county court to immediately cause to be issued a notice in writing to such person or firm so having such license, notifying them of the filing of such affidavit; and it shall also be the duty of the judge of said county court to set a time for the hearing of said affidavit and evidence upon the same at a time not less than six days nor more than ten days after the date of filing of said affidavit; and, upon the hearing of said affidavit and the proof for and against the same, if it shall be determined that said person or firm so having such license has violated any of the provisions of this law, or any of the provisions or conditions of their said liquor dealer's bond, then it shall be the duty of the judge of said court to enter an order on the minutes of said court declaring the said license forfeited, and said license shall be canceled from said date. In case it is determined that the said person or firm so having such license has violated any of the provisions of this law, or any of the provisions or conditions of his said liquor dealer's bond, it shall be the duty of the clerk of said court to immediately notify the comptroller of public accounts of the state of Texas, at Austin, Texas, of the result of such hearing. It shall be the duty of the county attorney to prosecute all complaints made as hereinbefore provided for, or in any other manner in this law provided for, against any person or firm engaged in the business of a retail liquor dealer, or a retail malt dealer, as the case may be, at the time which is designated by the county judge for the hearing of said complaint. In case either party make affidavit showing good cause why he can not at that time try the matters in issue, then said hearing may be postponed for a time not to exceed three days; and provided that no more than two postponements shall be granted to either party. [Id. sec. 8.]

Grounds for revocation of license.—An agreement relating to obtaining a liquor license held contrary to law, so that the state may, at its election, cancel the license. Leon Mercantile Co. v. Anderson, 66 C. A. 481, 121 S. W. 868.

Nature of proceedings to revoke.—A proceeding to revoke a retail liquor license for violation of law, is administrative and not judicial; the power being vested in the county judge rather than in the county court, and no appeal lies from his order, for want of statutory provision therefor. Hernandez v. State (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 170. And it is not a suit by the state to recover a forfeiture, within the constitution, as affecting the jurisdiction of the court of civil appeals. Id.

Constitutional provisions, applicability of.—A liquor license is a permit, and not a vested property or contract right, and is revocable by the state, though subject to sale or revocation. Baldacchi v. Goodwin (Civ. App.) 118 Tex. 105, 48 S. W. 2d 165.

One procuring a liquor license is charged with notice of the right to revoke it, and cannot assert that his constitutional rights are invaded, when the state seeks to exercise such right. Id.

—— Effect of revocation.—Where two licenses were issued to sell intoxicating liquors at two different places in the same county, the revocation of one license for a violation of the liquor law does not ipso facto revoke the other license, so as to render retailer's sales under it illegal. Ex parte Hewgley (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 1174.

Jurisdiction on certiorari.—Under Const. art. 5, § 8, a district court has no jurisdiction to remove before it, by certiorari, proceedings by a county judge to cancel a liquor license; such proceedings being administrative or ministerial, and not Judicial. State v. De Silva, 105 T. 96, 145 S. W. 330.

Druggists.—See notes under Art. 7427.

Art. 7435. Application for license.—Any person or persons desiring to obtain a retail liquor dealer's license in this state or a retail malt dealer's license shall, before filing his or their petition for such license with the county judge as now provided by this law, make application under oath to the comptroller of public accounts of this state for a permit to apply for a license to engage in such business, which application shall be in form substantially as follows:

To the Comptroller of Public Accounts of the State of Texas:

I, or we, .......... and .......... of the county of .........., state of Texas, hereby apply for a permit to apply for a license to engage in the business of retail liquor dealer or dealers (or retail malt dealer or dealers under the laws of this state, said business to be conducted at No. ...... street, in .......... in the county of .......... state of Texas; that there is now no statute or ordinance of the city in force prohibiting the retail sale of liquors at said place that I, or we, have resided for the past two years in .......... county, state of Texas, and during said time have been engaged in the business of ..........; that I am, or we are, not disqualified under the laws of this state from engaging in the proposed business; that no other person or corporation is in any manner interested in or to be interested in the proposed business; that I, or we, have not, since the first day of May, A. D. 1909, as owner, or as the representative, agent or employé of any other person, kept open any saloon or place of business where spirituous, vinous or malt liquors or medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication, were sold, or sold, aided, or advised any other person selling in or near any such house or place of business any such liquor after 12 o'clock midnight on Saturday, and between that hour and 5 o'clock a. m. of the following Monday of any week; and have not since the 1st day of July A. D. 1913, as owner or as the representative, agent or employé of any other person kept open any saloon or place of business where spirituous, vinous or malt liquors or medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication were sold, or sold, aided or advised any other person in selling in or near any such house or place of business any such liquor after 9:30 o'clock p. m. on Saturday and between that hour and 6 o'clock a. m. of the following Monday of any week or between the hours of 9:30 p. m. and 6 o'clock a. m. of the following morning of any week; or since said date, either in person or by agent or employé, knowingly sold or permitted to be sold or given away in or near any such place of business, any spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, or medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication, to any person under the age of 21 years, or to any student of any institution of learning, or to any habitual drunkard, after having been notified in writing through the sheriff or other peace officer, by the wife, sister, father, mother or daughter of such person not to sell to such habitual drunkard; or permitted any person not over the age of 21 years to enter and remain in such house or place of business, or permitted any games prohibited by the laws of this state to be played, dealt or exhibited in or about such house or place of business, or rented or let any part of the house or place of business in which such business was conducted to any person or persons for the purpose of conducting any game or games prohibited by the laws of this state; or knowingly sold or given away any adulterated or impure liquors of any kind, or sold or permitted, aided or advised in selling under a retail malt dealer's license any other liquors than those defined by the law as malt liquors. And if the permission herein sought be granted and the said retail license be issued, I or we, will not either in person, or knowingly by an agent, employé or representative, during the year for which such license shall run, keep open house or place where liquors shall be sold under such license or transact any business in such house or place of business after 9:30 o'clock p. m. on Saturday and between that hour and 6 o'clock a. m. on the following Monday of any week; or between the hours of 9:30 p. m. and 6 a. m. of the following morning of any week day; or knowingly sell in or near any such place of business, or give away, or permit to be given away, any spirituous, vinous or malt liquors or medicated bitters, capable of producing intoxication, to any person under the age of 21 years, or to any student of any institution of learning, or to any habitual drunkard, after having been notified in writing, through the sheriff or other peace officer, by the wife, mother, father, daughter or sister not to sell to such habitual drunkard; or to permit any person not over the age of 21 years to enter and remain in such house or place of business; or permit any game prohibited by the laws of this state to be played, dealt or exhibited in or about such house or place of business, or rent or let any part of the house or place of business in which such business is conducted to any person or persons, for the purpose of conducting any game or games prohibited by the laws of this state; or knowingly sell or give away any impure liquor or adulterated liquors of any kind; and if the application be for a retail malt dealer’s license, it shall further state that he or they under the said license, will not sell any other liquors than those defined by law as “malt liquors.” And it is hereby agreed that if the license to be applied for be issued, that the same will be issued upon condition that it shall remain in force only so long as I, or we, observe and carry out each and all of the declarations herein made, and that in the event, I, or we, violate any of the promises or do or perform any one or more of the acts which it is herein declared shall not be done or performed, or in the event that I, or we, violate any law of this state relating to the regulation, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors that either the county judge or the comptroller of public accounts of the state of Texas, in the manner provided in this law, may rescind, cancel and annul the said state and county license granted in pursuance of this application, and that all money paid for such license shall be forfeited to the state and county or city to whom paid; and I, or we, will at once, upon the cancellation of such license, close up the place where such business is being conducted, and cease to do such business, and will not within five years from that date, again, either as owner, agent, representative or employe of any other person, attempt to enter into or engage in the retail liquor business, unless the order of the comptroller cancelling and rescinding such license shall be annulled, in case such license shall have been cancelled by the comptroller.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, .........., within and for the county of .......... state of Texas, by ..........., on this, the .... day of .......... 19....

That upon receiving such application, it shall be the duty of the comptroller to file the same and keep it as a permanent record in his office, to examine and act upon the same; and, if he is satisfied that such applicant is entitled to such permit, he shall, upon the payment to him by the applicant of $2.00, issue to him such permit, under his hand and the seal of his office, which together with a copy of such application, duly certified to under the hand and seal of the comptroller, shall be delivered by him to the applicant; and the said permit, together with the certified copy of said application, shall be filed with the county judge, together with the petition for license to be filed with the county judge, and shall remain a permanent record in the office of the county judge; and no petition for a license shall be entertained by the county judge until said certified copy and permit have been filed with him by the applicant. [Acts 1909, 1 S. S., p. 294, sec. 9. Acts 1913, S. S., p. 55, sec. 1, amending Art. 7435, Rev. St. 1911.]

Definitions—“Place.”—The word “place” used in the provision in regard to the contents of the application does not mean house, but only the general locality in which the business was to be carried on, either city, town, village or hamlet as the case might be. Green v. Southard, 94 T. 470, 61 S. W. 706.

“Interested.”—An owner of property who leases it for a saloon for a specified sum per month, and a part of the profits of the business, is not interested in the business within this article; the word “interested” meaning an interest in the business itself. Doyle v. Scott (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 839.

Requisites of application.—Where the houses in a town were not numbered, an application for a liquor license and the bond for the sale of liquor in such town was not ob-
Art. 7436. Comptroller may revoke license.—In addition to the power conferred by this law upon the county judge to cancel or revoke license, the comptroller of public accounts of the state of Texas shall likewise have power to cancel or revoke such license in the following manner:

If the comptroller shall at any time be advised, or receive information, that any person or persons to whom a retail liquor dealer's license, or retail malt dealer's license, has been issued, has violated any of the conditions and provisions set out in the application filed with the comptroller for a permit to apply for such license, as provided in the preceding article, it shall be his duty to at once institute an inquiry and ascertain, if possible, the names and residences of all persons who know and will testify to the facts concerning such violation; and, if it shall be necessary in making such inquiry to do so, he may call to his aid the state revenue agent, whose duty it shall be, upon the request of the comptroller, to make a careful investigation of the charges and ascertain the names of the persons by whom such facts can be proven; and neither the comptroller nor the state revenue agent shall disclose the name of any person who shall become an informer, or who shall aid in securing the names of such witnesses, or evidence relating to such matters. [Acts 1909, 1 S.S., p. 294, sec. 9a.]

Validity of statute in general.—This article is constitutional. Lane v. Schultz & Buss (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1009.

Delegating judicial power.—A proceeding for the revocation of a liquor license under this article and Arts. 7437, 7438, 7441, 7442, is ministerial, not involving the guilt or innocence of the licensee, except as incidental to the ascertainment of the facts authorizing the revocation; and the statute is not violative of Const. art. 1, § 2, as delegating power which may be exercised only by the judiciary. Baldacchi v. Goodlet (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 335.

A proceeding, authorized by this article and Arts. 7437, 7438, 7441, 7442, for the revocation by the comptroller of public accounts of liquor licenses for violations of the law by liquor dealers is not a suit by the state for a “forfeiture” or “penalty,” within Const. art. 5, § 5, conferring on the district court exclusive jurisdiction of such suits; for, though an official act may be judicial as involving the exercise of discretion and judgment, yet, when discretion is conferred on an executive officer in the discharge of administrative or executive duties, the acts of the officer are not judicial. Id.

Disqualification of officer.—The comptroller of public accounts is not disqualified from proceeding, under this article and Arts. 7437, 7438, 7441, 7442, for the revocation of a liquor license, merely because he has expressed an opinion by publicity declaring that on the receipt of depositions to be taken he will forfeit the license, especially where he states that he will decide the question according to the preponderance of the credible testimony adduced on the hearing. Baldacchi v. Goodlet (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 325.
Notice.—Under this article and Arts. 7437, 7438, 7441, 7442, a five-day notice of the time and place of investigation is sufficient. Baldacchi v. Goodlet (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 325.

Effect of revocation.—Where two licenses were issued authorizing relator to sell intoxicating liquors at two different places in the same county, the revocation of one license for a violation of the liquor law does not ipso facto revoke the other license, when no notice of a declaration of a forfeiture has been given, so as to render relator’s sales made under the authority of the second license illegal. Ex parte Hewgley (Cr. App.) 160 S. W. 1174.

Judicial review.—In the absence of anything in the statute indicating it, the suit against the comptroller, authorized by Art. 7443, to reinstate a retail liquor license annulled by him is not required to be heard solely on the depositions taken under authority of the comptroller, pursuant to Arts. 7436-7442, in the proceedings for the annulment. Lane v. Hewgley (Civ. App.) 158 S. W. 911.

Art. 7437. Same.—Upon securing the names of such witnesses, it shall be the duty of the comptroller to, in his discretion, either notify the county judge of the proper county of the alleged violation of this law by the licensee, or to issue a commission addressed to an officer to be selected by the comptroller, who is authorized under the laws of this state to take depositions in the county in which the place of business is located, where he is advised such violation occurred, stating therein the violation of the law charged, and the name or names of the persons charged therewith, and directing him to take the deposition of the witnesses named in the commission, and the depositions of such other persons as may be required or necessary, and, when such depositions are taken, to return the same to the comptroller in like manner as is provided by law governing the taking of depositions in civil suits in this state; provided, that if the comptroller shall notify the county judge as above provided, it shall be his duty to proceed at once to cause to be instituted against such licensee the proper proceedings in his court as provided by this law, and, if the county judge shall within ten days after receiving such notice cause to be instituted against such licensee the proper proceedings in his court, then the comptroller shall proceed no further in the premises; but, if the county judge shall upon receiving such notice, fail or refuse to cause such proceedings to be instituted against the licensee, or should the comptroller elect to proceed himself without notifying the county judge, then, in either of such cases, the comptroller shall proceed himself as in this law provided. [Id. sec. 9b.]

See notes under Art. 7436.

Art. 7438. Same.—Upon receipt of said commission, such officer shall set a day for taking the depositions of the witnesses, and shall issue a subpoena commanding them to appear before him and testify on said day, and place the same in the hands of the proper officers for service on said witnesses; and shall also notify the county attorney of such county of the time when and the place where said depositions shall be taken, requesting him to appear at said time and place and interrogate said witnesses; and he shall also notify the person or persons who are charged with having conducted such business in violation of the law, and whose conduct is to be investigated, of the character of the charge, and of the time and place where said investigation will be conducted, and that he or they shall have the right to appear in person, or by attorney, and cross examine the said witnesses, and, if they so desire, to testify themselves or to offer the testimony of other witnesses relating to the matter under investigation; and the person whose conduct is to be investigated shall have the right to all proper process to compel the attendance of witnesses whose testimony he may desire. [Id. sec. 9c.]

See notes under Art. 7436.

Art. 7439. Same.—If the said witnesses shall fail to obey the said subpoena, then the said officer shall issue and cause to be served upon them attachments to compel their attendance; and he may punish them for contempt for failure to attend and testify as provided by law in case of taking depositions in civil suits in this state. [Id. sec. 9d.]
Art. 7440. Same.—If the county attorneys shall fail or refuse to appear and conduct the examination of said witnesses, the said officer authorized to take such depositions may appoint some practicing attorney of said county to act in the absence of the county attorney, as special county attorney; and the said officer taking the depositions shall have the power, independently of the county attorney or any other person, to interrogate the witnesses so as to develop fully the facts. [Id. sec. 9e.]

Art. 7441. Same.—At the time fixed, the said officer shall proceed to take the depositions of said witnesses in answer to oral questions to be propounded to them, and shall cause the questions and answers to be written down, and the depositions to be subscribed and sworn to by the witnesses, respectively, as provided by law for taking depositions; and such officers shall make a thorough investigation of the facts relating to the charges and he may summon other witnesses than those whose names have been furnished to him; and, when the taking of the testimony is concluded, and the depositions subscribed and sworn to by the witnesses, he shall certify thereto and shall seal up the commission together with the depositions in an envelope or package in like manner as is required by law in returning depositions in civil suits in this state, and deposit the same in the postoffice, postage prepaid, addressed to the comptroller of public accounts of the state of Texas at Austin, Texas. [Id. sec. 9f.]

Art. 7442. Same.—Upon receipt of the said depositions, the comptroller shall, open and proceed to consider the same, and, if he shall determine from the preponderance of the credible evidence therein contained, that at any time after the issuance of said license the house or place where the business of selling liquors under said license was conducted was kept open and business conducted therein after 9:30 p.m. on Saturday and between that hour and 6 o'clock a.m., on the following Monday of any week, or between the hours of 9:30 p.m. and 6 a.m. of the following morning of any week day, or that any intoxicating liquors or medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication were knowingly sold, permitted to be sold or given by the holder or holders of such license to any person under the age of 21 years, or to any student of any institution of learning, or to any habitual drunkard after having been notified in writing through the sheriff, or other peace officer, by the wife, mother, father, daughter or sister of such habitual drunkard not to sell same to him, or that any person not over the age of twenty-one years had been permitted to enter and remain in such house or place of business, or that games prohibited by laws of this state had been permitted to be played, dealt or exhibited in or about such house or place of business, or that the person or persons holding such license had rented or let any part of the said house or place of business where such business is conducted to any person or persons for the purpose of conducting any game or games prohibited by the laws of this state, or that the person or persons holding such license had knowingly sold or given away any adulterated or impure liquors of any kind, or sold or knowingly permitted to be sold, or aided or advised in selling, under a retail malt dealer's license, any other liquors than those defined by law as malt liquors, he shall rescind, vacate and withdraw such license, and shall issue a certificate in triplicate under his hand and the seal of said office, declaring the rescission of such license, theretofore issued, to such person or persons, one copy of which certificate shall remain on file in his office, and one copy shall be forwarded by the comptroller by mail to the county judge of the county where the place of business of the person or persons whose license is withdrawn and rescinded is located, and the other copy shall be forwarded by mail to the person or persons whose license has been so rescinded and withdrawn; and it shall be unlawful thereafter for such person or persons to continue such business, and any attempt to do so shall subject him or them to the penalty herein provided for pursuing such business without a license; and any person or persons whose license has been so rescinded and withdrawn shall forfeit to the state, county and city all money paid therefor, and they shall never have any claim against the state, county or city on account of any money paid for such license. [Acts 1909, 1 S. S., p. 294, sec. 9g. Acts 1913, S. S., p. 57, sec. 1, amending Art. 7442, Rev. St. 1911.]

See notes under Art. 7486.

Art. 7443. Same.—Any person feeling himself aggrieved by the action of the comptroller in vacating, annulling and rescinding such license under this law, may bring suit in the district court of the county of his residence in Texas against the comptroller to reinstate such license, but the business conducted under such license shall be suspended during the pendency of such suit, and shall not be reopened, unless the order of the comptroller shall be set aside by final judgment of the proper court; but, if such order shall be by a final judgment set aside, then such licensee shall have the right to pursue such occupation under such license without paying any additional tax for a period to be added to the time of the license equal to the time his right to do business was suspended. [Acts 1909, 1 S. S., p. 294, sec. 9h.]

In general.—Under this article, the right to relief from the acts of the comptroller is limited by the act except where an act of the comptroller is outside of his granted powers. Lane v. Schultz & Buss (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1009.

Constitutionality of provision in general.—Const. art. 5, § 8, as amended in 1891, giving district courts "such other jurisdiction * * * as may be provided by law," authorizes this article. Lane v. Hewgley (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 911.

Action for reinstatement of license as "civil case."—An action under this article, is a "civil case," within Const. art. 5, § 6, conferring on courts of civil appeals appellate jurisdiction in all civil cases of which the district or county courts have original or appellate jurisdiction, a civil case being a proceeding in a court of justice by one party against another for the enforcement or protection of a private right, or for the redress or prevention of a private wrong, and hence the comptroller could appeal from a judgment reinstating such a license (citing 2 Words and Phrases, 1183). Lane v. Hewgley (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 348.

It is not necessary that this article should expressly provide for an appeal; such suit being a civil action, and Art. 2078 providing that an appeal may be taken to the court of civil appeals from every final judgment of the district court in civil cases. Lane v. Hewgley (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 911.

Judicial review.—In the absence of anything in the statute indicating it, the suit against the comptroller, authorized by this article to reinstate a retail liquor license annulled by him is not required to be heard solely on the depositions taken under authority of the comptroller, pursuant to Arts. 7436-7442, in the proceedings for the annulment. Lane v. Hewgley (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 911.

Art. 7444. Same.—The county attorney, or his substitute, shall receive five dollars per day for attending the taking of depositions and interrogating the witnesses during the time necessarily consumed in the investigation herein provided for; the officer taking the deposition shall receive the same fees as are provided by the law for taking depositions, and the witnesses shall receive the same fees provided in criminal cases, the amount of which shall be fixed by the certificate of the officer taking the depositions, and shall be paid by the state upon warrants issued by the comptroller. [Id. sec. 91.]

Art. 7445. Number of licenses limited.—The comptroller of public accounts of the state of Texas shall not issue any permits to any person or firm for any city or town or justice precinct of any county in excess of the number of permits actually issued and existing on the twentieth day of February, 1909, in such city or town, or justice precinct, respectively, unless such number of permits are less than one for each five hundred inhabitants, in which event he shall, if applied for, issue permits not exceeding one for each five hundred inhabitants of such city or town or justice precinct. In case the number of permits issued and existing on the twentieth day of February, 1909, for each said city or town or justice precinct is in excess of one for each five hundred inhabitants, the number of permits existing on the twentieth day of February, 1909, as applied for, shall be granted; but that number shall not be increased until the number of inhabitants of such city or town or justice precinct increases to the extent that the permits issued and actually in existence on February 20, 1909, is less than one for each five hundred inhabitants; but the provisions of this article shall not apply to hotels now in existence, or which may hereafter be opened, when located in the business section of a city or town having a population of over twenty thousand; and provided that in granting permits for licenses as a retail liquor dealer, or a retail malt dealer, the comptroller of public accounts shall give preference to those applicants who apply for a permit to do business at the places and locations in said city or town, or justice precinct, where permits had heretofore been issued and granted; provided, further, that at least one permit may be issued in any city, town or justice precinct, where local option is not in force. The population of each city, town and justice precinct in the state shall be ascertained by the commissioners' court of such county at the August term thereof of each and every year in the following manner: It shall be the duty of the superintendent of public instruction for such county, upon the request of such commissioners' court, to inform such commissioners' court of the total school census of each city and town and justice precinct; and it shall be the duty of the commissioners' court in determining the population of such city, town or justice precinct to estimate the population at the rate of six persons for every one name on such scholastic census, and upon such basis, at the August term of said court of each year, to ascertain and determine the population of such city, town and justice precinct, and to enter an order and decree upon the minutes of said court finding and determining what such population is, and shall send a certified copy thereof to the comptroller of public accounts of the state of Texas. [Id. sec. 9j.]

Number of licenses in general.—This article only restricts the number of permits in localities where not more than the stated number were engaged in business on February 20, 1909, and does not require that issuance of permits up to the number of persons engaged in such business on that date can only be made to the persons then engaged in such business, but if the applications exceed the persons then engaged in such business, applicants for renewal licenses should be preferred. Moss v. Warren (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 1167.

Art. 7446. Petition for license.—Any person or firm desiring a license as a retail liquor dealer, or as a retail malt dealer, may, in vacation or in term time, file a petition with the judge of the county court of the county in which he desires to engage in such business, which petition shall have attached thereto as exhibits the permit and copy of application required by article 7435, and shall state that the applicant is a law-abiding, taxpaying male citizen of the state of Texas, over the age of twenty-one years, and has been a resident of the county wherein such license is sought for more than two years next before the filing of such petition; and that his license as a retail liquor dealer, or retail malt dealer, has not been revoked or forfeited within five years next before the filing of such petition; that he desires a license as a retail liquor dealer, or as a retail malt dealer, as the case may be, specifically stating the place where such business is to be conducted, describing with reasonable certainty the house or place wherein the same is to be conducted, and, if the place of business be in any block or square of any town or city where there are more bona fide residences than there are business houses in said block or square, or in any block where there is a church or school, then said petition shall be accompanied with written consent of a majority of the bona fide householders or residents in said block or square, who have resided for at least six months preceding such application, and those within three hundred feet of such place of business. Upon the filing of the petition herein provided for, the county judge shall set the same for hearing at a time not less than ten or more than twenty days from the filing of same, and if, upon the trial or hearing thereof, he finds that facts stated in said petition are true and that the same is accompanied by the permit aforesaid, he shall grant a license such as prayed for; provided, however, that, upon the filing of such petition, the clerk of the county court shall give notice of the filing thereof, by posting on the court house door a written notice of such petition, together with the substance thereof; and the petition when filed shall remain with said clerk until the same is acted upon by the county judge and shall be open to the inspection of any person desiring to see the same. And any resident taxpaying citizen residing or owning property in the block or square where said business is to be conducted, or any such citizen residing or owning property within three hundred feet of the proposed place of business, or the county or district attorney shall be permitted to contest the facts stated in such petition and the applicant's right to obtain the license sought, upon giving security for all costs which may be incurred in such suit, should the same be decided in favor of applicant; provided, no county nor district attorney shall be required to give bond for such costs, but the county or state, as the case may be, shall be liable therefor. [Id. sec. 10.]

Former law.—Acts 1907, ch. 138, is not in conflict with an ordinance of a city making limits within which intoxicating liquors shall not be sold, when the charter of the city authorises such ordinance. Andrews v. City of Beaumont, 51 C. A. 623, 113 S. W. 618, 617.

Requisites of petition in general.—In petition to county judge for license to sell liquors it must be shown that applicant is entitled thereto. One requisite is that the place where the liquor is to be sold is not in local option territory. Harrison v. Dickinson, 52 C. A. 85, 113 S. W. 776.

Residence of applicant.—The requirement of two years' residence does not conflict with the constitution of the United States and is a reasonable exercise of the police power of the state. De Grazier v. Stephens, 101 T. 394, 105 S. W. 993, 16 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1033, 16 Ann. Cas. 1059.

Time of hearing.—This article requires the judge to pass on the application in vacation, and not at a regular term. Moss v. Warren (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 1157.

Druggists.—See notes under Art. 4727.

Art. 7447. License not to be granted for business within three hundred feet of a church.—The county judge shall in no case grant a license in any village, town or city, where the proposed place of business is within three hundred feet of a church, school or other educational or charitable institution, the measurements to be along the property lines of the street fronts, and from front door to front door, and in a direct line across intersections where they occur; provided, the proposed place of business is not within a business block, or within three hundred feet thereof, as such block is defined in the preceding article. [Id. sec. 10a.]

Art. 7448. Judge shall hear petition, etc.—Upon the hearing of the petition, as provided in article 7446, the county judge shall determine the truth or falsity of the facts alleged, and shall render his judgment granting or refusing the license accordingly, and shall cause the same to be recorded at length in a book kept for that purpose, which book shall be a record of said court and shall be preserved by the clerk as an archive of his office. [Id. sec. 11.]

Art. 7449. Clerk to furnish certified copy of judgment.—Upon the granting of a license by the county judge, as provided by law, the clerk shall furnish the applicant with a certified copy of the judgment, which, when exhibited to the county tax collector of the license tax herein provided for, said collector shall receive said license tax and issue to such applicant his receipt therefor, showing the amount paid, date of payment, for what paid, whether retail liquor dealer's or retail malt dealer's license, and where such business is to be conducted. [Id. sec. 12.]

Art. 7450. Clerk to issue license, when.—Upon the presentation to the county clerk by the applicant of the tax collector's receipt provided for in the preceding article, and delivery to him of the bond provided for in article 7452 of this chapter, he shall examine such bond and receipt; and, if such bond conforms to the provisions of said article 7452, and if the said receipt conforms to the judgment authorizing the same, he shall issue to the applicant the proper license, which shall be by him signed, be under the seal of his office, be dated, state on its face for what it is issued, the date when it will expire, by whom and where such business is to be conducted, and shall describe the place where the same is to be kept. [Id. sec. 13.]

Art. 7451. Regulating hours of closing, etc.—Every person or firm having a license under the provisions of this law, who may be engaged in or who may hereafter engage in the sale of intoxicating liquors to be drunk on the premises in any locality of this state, other than where local option is in force, shall close and keep closed their houses and places of business and transact no business herein or therefrom from and after 9:30 o'clock p. m. on Saturday and between that hour and 6:00 o'clock a. m. on the following Monday of any week; or between the hours of 9:30 p. m. and 6:00 a. m. of the following morning of any week day, and shall close and keep closed their houses and places of business and transact no business therein or therefrom from and after 9:30 p. m. Saturday until 6:00 a. m. of the following Monday of each week; and between the hours of 9:30 p. m. and 6:00 a. m. of any week day. [Acts 1909, 1 S. S., p. 294, sec. 14. Acts 1913, S. S., p. 58, sec. 1, amending Art. 7451, Rev. St. 1911.]

Affidavit charging violation of provision.—An affidavit, stating that a certain person had a retail license to sell liquor at a certain place on a certain date, and that on such date, at a prohibited time, he sold liquor, in violation of this article, was sufficient to authorize the county court to issue the notice provided for in section 8, informing him, in effect, that the matter of canceling his license would be heard at a certain time. State v. De Silva, 105 T. 95, 146 S. W. 330.

Art. 7452. Bond.—Every person or firm desiring to engage in the sale of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, or medicated bitters, capable of producing intoxication to be drunk on the premises, shall, before engaging in such sale, be required to enter into a bond in the sum of five thousand dollars; provided, however, that any person or firm dealing exclusively in malt liquors shall be required to give bond only in the sum of one thousand dollars, with at least two good, lawful and sufficient sureties, and the sureties required by law on the bonds of liquor dealers shall make affidavit, before some officer authorized to administer oaths, that they, in their own right, over and above all exceptions, are each worth the full amount of the bond they sign as sureties; and no county judge shall approve any such bond unless the affidavit as provided for in this article shall have been duly made. The approval of any such bond by the county judge without such affidavit shall make said county judge liable for any penalty recovered on such liquor dealer’s bond; and any person who shall make any false affidavit, as required by this law, shall be punished as provided for in the Penal Code of this state; provided, that nothing herein shall prevent the making of such bond by a surety company, as permitted by law, payable to the state of Texas, to be approved as to security by the county judge; which bond shall be conditioned that said person or firm so selling spirituous, vinous or malt liquors or medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication, in any quantity, to be drunk on the premises, shall not, either in person or knowingly by any agent, employee or representative, during the year for which such license shall run, keep open the house or place where liquors shall be sold under such license for the sale thereof, or transact such business in such house or place of business, after 9:30 o’clock p. m. on Saturday and between that hour and 6 o’clock a. m. on the following Monday of any week, or between the hours of 9:30 p. m. and 6 a. m. of the following morning of any week day, and that such person or firm shall keep an open, quiet and orderly house or place for the sale of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, or medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication, and that such person or firm, or his or their agent or employé, will not sell or permit to be sold in his or their house or place of business, nor give nor permit to be given any spirituous, vinous, or malt liquors, or medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication, to any person under the age of 21 years, or to a student of any institution of learning, or any habitual drunkard, after having been notified in writing, through the sheriff or other peace officer, by the wife, father, mother, daughter or sister of such habitual drunkard, said notice shall be in force and effect for a period of two years, not to sell to any such person, and that he or they will not permit any person under the age of 21 years to enter and remain in such house or place of business; that he or they will not permit any games prohibited by the law of this state to be played, dealt or exhibited in or about such house or place of business, and that he or they will not rent or let any part of the house or place in which he or they have undertaken to sell spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, or medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication, in any quantity, to be drunk on the premises, to any person or persons for the purpose of running or conducting any game or games prohibited by the laws of this state, and that he or they will not adulterate the liquors sold by them in any manner, mixing the same with any drug, and that he or they will not knowingly sell or give away any impure or adulterated liquors of any kind, and that he or they will not violate any law of this state relating to the regulation, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors, which said bond shall be filed in the office of the county clerk of the county where such business is conducted, and shall be recorded by such clerk in a book to be kept for such purpose; for which service said clerk shall be entitled to a fee of seventy-five cents; which said bond may be sued on at the instance of any person or persons aggrieved by the violations of its provisions, and such person shall be entitled to recover the sum of five hundred dollars as liquidated damages for such infraction of the conditions of such bond; and the said bond shall not be void on the first recovery, but may be sued on until the full penal sum named therein shall have been recovered. In addition to civil proceedings for individual injuries brought on said bond, as above indicated, if any person or firm shall violate any of the conditions of the bond herein required, it shall be the duty of the county and district attorneys, or either of them, to institute suit thereupon; or any person owning real property in the county may institute suit thereupon in the name of the state of Texas, for the use and benefit of the county, but no compensation shall be allowed such citizen, and he may be required to give security for costs; and the amount of five hundred dollars as a penalty shall be recovered from the principals and sureties upon the liquor dealer's bond, upon the breach of any of the conditions thereof; and thereafter when any recovery is had by any person or by any county or district attorney, for the use and benefit of the county in any action in any court of competent jurisdiction, upon the bond of any person or firm engaged in the sale of spirituous, vinous, or malt liquors or medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication, or malt liquors exclusively, to be drunk on the premises, in any locality other than where local option is in force, upon the ground that such licensee sold, or permitted to be sold, or gave or permitted to be given, any such liquors to a minor in his place of business, or permitted a minor to enter or remain in his place of business, or sold such liquor to any habitual drunkard, after having been notified in writing not to sell to such habitual drunkard, or that such licensee permitted prostitutes or lewd women to enter and remain in his place of business, or permitted any games prohibited by the law to be played, dealt or exhibited in or about his place of business, or of renting or letting his place of business, or any part thereof, for such purpose or purposes, the license of such person or firm shall, by reason of such recovery, be forfeited, revoked and cancelled; and that court entering judgment of recovery shall also enter an order declaring forfeited, revoked and cancelled such license; and the unearned portion of the occupation tax paid thereon shall not be refunded, but shall be forfeited to the state and county, city or town to which the money for the same may have been paid. And any person or firm who shall sell any such liquors or medicated bitters in any quantity, to be drunk on the premises, without first giving bond, as required by law, or who shall sell the same after said license shall have been forfeited, revoked or cancelled, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor; and, on conviction shall be fined in the same amount provided for sales where no license has been obtained. An open house in the meaning of this chapter, is one in which no screens or other device is used or placed inside or outside of such house or place of business for the purpose of or that will obstruct the view through the open door or place of entrance into any such house or place where intoxicating liquors are sold to be drunk on the premises. A quiet house or place of business, in the meaning of this chapter, is one in which no music, loud or boisterous talking, yelling or indecent or vulgar language is allowed, used or practiced, or any other noise calculated to disturb or annoy any person residing or doing business in the vicinity of such house or place of business, or those passing along the streets or public highways. By an orderly house, is meant one in which no prostitutes or lewd women are allowed to enter or remain; and it is further provided that said house must not contain any vulgar or obscene pictures. Any surety on such bond may relieve himself from further liability thereon by giving the principal in said bond notice in writing that he will no longer remain as surety thereon, and filing with the county judge an affidavit that such notice has been given; and, if within five days after such notice the principal fails to make a new bond, he shall cease to pursue said business until a new bond is given. Any person who shall continue to pursue said business after such notice is given and such affidavit is filed, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished as provided in cases where no license has been procured; provided, that where the sale was made in good faith, or the minor permitted to enter and remain in good faith, with the belief that the minor was of age, and there is good ground for such belief, that shall be a valid defense to any recovery on such bond; provided, further, that where the sale to any habitual drunkard is made in good faith, with the belief that he is not an habitual drunkard, and there are good grounds for such belief, that shall be a valid defense to any recovery on such bond; provided, the provisions of this law shall apply to suits by the state or of any individual. Provided, that no license shall be issued under this law to any person who has been convicted of a felony and served such term of conviction. [Acts 1909, 1 S. S., p. 294, sec. 15. Acts 1913, S. S., p. 58, sec. 1, amending Art. 7452, Rev. St. 1911.]

1. Former law.—Art. 5000, Rev. St. 1895, superseded by this article, is not repealed by Acts 1907, c. 138, p. 258, known as the Baskin-McGregor law, regulating the sale of liquor. The latter law only repeals laws in conflict with it. It re-enacts that part of this law relating to sale of liquor to habitual drunkards. County v. Haupt, 47 C. A. 462, 108 W. N. S. (App.) 105 S. W. 1015—1016; Price v. Whitcomb (Civ. App.) 339, 107 S. W. 133; Markus v. Thompson, 51 C. A. 229, 111 S. W. 1076; Farenthold v. Tell, 52 C. A. 110, 113 S. W. 635.

Where a liquor dealer continued his business after the passage of Acts 1909, c. 17, section 35 of which provides for the determination of existing liquor licenses, without taking out a new license, it will be presumed that he accepted the terms of the law, so that he would be liable for the penalties prescribed in the law and in his bond for acts in violation of the terms of his bond committed thereafter. Adams v. State, 105 T. 374, 150 S. W. 591.

3. Definitions—"Enter and remain."—While the entry of a minor into a saloon with the purpose of attempting to induce his father, who was intoxicated, to leave the saloon, does not constitute a breach of the liquor dealer's bond, conditioned that he would not permit a minor to remain in his saloon, where evidence showed that the father frequented a resortant to defendant's saloon, and there became intoxicated, and that his minor sons on various occasions came to the saloon to take their father away, it was a question of the condition of the bond whether such condition was broken. In view of the fact that the word "remaining" does not mean a tarrying after the execution of some purpose unlawful in itself, and the expression "enter and remain" means to stay for some indefinite length of time, that is, longer than is required for an immediate exit. Haynes v. Hardcastle (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 717.

4. "House or place of business."—The words "house or place of business" included an arbor kept by defendant for the purpose of selling liquors. So held in suit on bond for keeping a disorderly house. See case for sufficiency of petition. Whittcomb v. State, 132 S. W. 276, 2 C. A. 301.

5. "Open house."—The intention of the statute is that no obstruction, partial or otherwise, shall be placed in a retail liquor dealer's place of business to prevent those passing along the street from seeing what is taking place inside the place of business. Any screen or device which materially defeats that object is unlawful. Componovo v. State (Civ. App.) 39 S. W. 1114.

6. "Quiet, orderly house."—A quiet, orderly house or place for the sale of liquor, within the condition of a bond, is one in which no music, loud or boisterous talking, yelling, or indecent, vulgar language is allowed, or any other noise calculated to disturb persons residing or doing business in the vicinity. Adams v. State (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1096.

Disturbances of the peace, committed in an enclosure in the rear of a saloon, held covered by the liquor dealer's bond, conditioned for his keeping a quiet, orderly house. Id.

7. "Vulgar"—"Obscene."—See this case for definition of the words "vulgar" and "obscene" by the trial court held to be erroneous, and also a proper definition by the appellate court. Bailey v. State, 47 C. A. 426, 105 S. W. 343, 344.

8. Validity of bond in general.—A bond payable to the county judge instead of to the state is void. State v. Vinson, 23 S. W. 807, 5 C. A. 315.

A bond is not invalidated by the omission of the name of the county in which the business is to be carried on. State v. Settle (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 764.

A liquor dealer's bond held not defective because not reciting that the liquors were to be drunk on the premises. McMonigal v. State (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 1038.

If the license is void the bond fails with it and is also void. Southard v. Green (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 841.

The fact that the house is not designated in the license does not render the bond invalid, although the statute requires the house to be designated in the license. Green v. Southard, 94 T. 476, 61 S. W. 705; Douthit v. State, 98 T. 344, 35 S. W. 796.

Under the word "through doors opening out," etc., does not make the bond more onerous than the law requires. State v. Wharton, 26 C. A. 262, 63 S. W. 915.

When license was issued to sell liquors at a certain place in a city and afterwards the licensee determined to have the license transferred to another particular place but by some means a different place was designated in the license than the one where the business was carried on, the sureties on the bond were not liable for the dealer's selling liquor to an habitual drunkard. It would be otherwise if the license had been changed to cover the place to which the dealer removed. Saffro v. Cobun, 32 C. A. 79, 73 S. W. 829, 830.

Where a person engaged in the exclusive sale of malt liquors voluntarily gave bond in the sum of $5,000, such bond was not more oppressive or burdensome than the bond required by statute, so as to render same void, but it was enforceable as against the sureties in the extent of the statutory penalty. In this case the bond that he was required to give was $1,000. Mendor v. Adams, 33 C. A. 167, 76 S. W. 239, 240.

The fact that one intended to sell other than malt liquors, and did so sell, and paid the tax thereon, but not render the bond prescribed by statute of $5,000, void as a malt liquor dealer's bond. Jones v. State (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 1012.

Liquor dealer's bond held not void for failure to particularly designate the house in which liquor was to be sold. Morris v. Mills (Civ. App.) 82 S. W. 334.

A bond and the bond on which the action was brought were in legal form and properly issued, it was immaterial that the application for the license was defective. Castellano v. Marks, 37 C. A. 275, 83 S. W. 729.

That for an application for liquor license, in describing the place of business, included two separate places, did not preclude a recovery in an action on the bond. Cox v. Thompson, 37 C. A. 607, 85 S. W. 34.

A bond intended to be taken as a statutory liquor dealer's bond held not good as a common-law bond. Id.

The validity of a liquor dealer's bond is not affected, because purporting to bind the heirs and legal representatives of the obligors. McLaury v. Watesky, 39 C. A. 394, 87 S. W. 1045.

A bond with a bonding company as surety instead of two individuals as sureties is in compliance with Art. 4928, and sufficient. Taggart v. Hillman, 42 C. A. 71, 93 S. W. 245; Taggart v. Graham (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 246.

Where the first part of the bond shows that the principal desired to sell spirituous, vinous and malt liquors, the bond is not fatally defective, because in the condition it is not specified what he is not to sell. The first part shows that the sales referred to are intoxicating liquors. Edgar v. State, 46 C. A. 171, 102 S. W. 440.

A liquor dealer's bond not signed by the principal until after it had been approved and filed and the acts complained of had been committed held invalid. State v. Teague, 50 C. A. 535, 111 S. W. 234.

10. — Estoppel.—See notes under Art. 3587, Rule 37.

11. — Approval and filing.—It is not enough that the bond be approved by the county judge. Until it is filed for record it has no force, and no recovery can be had on it for violations of its provisions where the tax had been paid and the bond given and approved, but not filed for record. Allen v. Houck & Dieter Co. (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 994, 995.

The failure of the county judge to approve the bond held not to render it invalid, where the issuance of the license and the conduct of the business were otherwise proved. Munoz v. Brassel (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 417.

12. Termination of liability on bond.—A right of action to recover the statutory penalty for infractions of a liquor dealer's bond is terminated by the taking effect of a local option law in the county before the trial of the action. Long v. A. L. Green & Co. (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 79.

Right to recover on a liquor dealer's bond the statutory penalty for selling intoxicants to a minor is held not terminated by the taking effect of local option. Kerr v. Mohr, 47 C. A. 1, 103 S. W. 210.

Where the bond of a liquor dealer was conditioned to secure the performance of the duties imposed by a liquor license, the obligation of the company signing as surety terminated when the license ceased to exist as authority to the licensee to sell liquor. Adams v. State, 105 T. 374, 150 S. W. 591.

The statute does not apply to a minor who is sent by his employer to a saloon to buy beer. Laiing v. State, 23 S. W. 1040, 9 C. A. 135.

A retail liquor dealer and the sureties on his bond are liable for the acts of the dealer's employé in allowing a minor to enter and remain in the dealer's place of business. Manning v. Morris, 23 C. A. 502, 67 S. W. 906.

The statute authorizing a recovery of liquidated damages by the person aggrieved in case of a breach of a liquor dealer's bond is penal in its nature, and should be strictly construed. Choate v. Viha, 40 C. A. 556, 59 S. W. 1082.

Then the illegal sales are made in his name, but by his agents or employés. Edgar v. State, 46 C. A. 171, 102 S. W. 440.

A suit by an aggrieved party on a liquor dealer's bond to recover statutory liquidated damages for breaches thereof is in the nature of recovery of statutory penalties. Jesse v. De Shag (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 1011.

In an action on a liquor dealer's bond to recover statutory penalties held unnecessary to expressly prove the issuance of the saloon license. Munoz v. Brassel (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 417.
In an action on a retail liquor dealer's bond, plaintiff's motives in instituting the same held, Farenthold v. Tell, 52 S. W. 635.

An action cannot be maintained on a liquor dealer's bond without proof that at the time of the breach the liquor dealer had a valid license to sell. Hillman v. Gallagher (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 600.

A dram shop keeper held liable on his bond for acts committed in a new building erected after the execution of the bond on the lot described therein. McElroy v. Sparkman (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 529.

A liquor dealer accepting the terms of the statute and continuing in business after its passage without taking out a new license, held liable for the penalties prescribed therein and in his bond for acts committed in violation of the terms of his bond. Adams v. State, 105 T. 374, 150 S. W. 591.

Sales contrary to notice. — The notice to the dealer not to sell liquor to persons named in this section should be in writing and made by delivering to the dealer either the original notice or a copy thereof. Merely reading the notice to the person to be served is not sufficient. Rengan v. State, 16 S. W. 644.

As to sale to habitual drunks; provisions of statute considered. Campbell v. Jones, 21 S. W. 723, 2 C. A. 263.

Wife can recover on the bond although she gave notice before the bond was executed, and where defendant's state of business and notice is different from that stated in the license. Rintleman v. Hahn, 20 C. A. 244, 49 S. W. 174.

Where a wife has given a liquor dealer notice not to sell whisky to her husband and she thereafter consents to such a sale she cannot recover on the bond for a breach thereof. Thompson, 21 C. A. 144, 50 S. W. 641.

That a wife either failed to give or withdrew notice to one saloon keeper against selling liquor to her husband does not affect her right of action against other saloon keepers to whom such notice has been given. Tarkington v. Brunett (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 274.

In a prosecution for violation of the local option law by sale to an habitual drunkard, defendant held entitled to a certain instruction on the question whether the sale was to the drunkard, or to a third person, for whom the drunkard acted as agent. Douthitt v. State (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 190.

A bond of a liquor dealer conditioned, as required by this article, that he will not sell liquor to any habitual drunkard after having been notified in writing by the wife of the drunkard not to sell to him, is breached by a sale made at any time, however short, after notice has been given in the statutory manner. McNell v. Lewis (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 305.

Under this article a wife suing on the bond may prove that the dealer was notified not to sell to her by the direct testimony of the officer giving the notice. Id.

Revocation or withdrawal of notice. — A notice not to sell intoxicating liquor to a person not an habitual drunkard may be withdrawn. Farenthold v. Tell, 52 C. A. 110, 113 S. W. 635.

To render a revocation of a notice not to sell liquor to plaintiff's husband available as a defense, it must be shown that the revocation was by plaintiff. Id.

In an action on a retail liquor dealer's bond, held no defense that notices to other liquor dealers than defendant not to sell to plaintiff's husband had been revoked. Id.

In an action for damages through the sale of liquors to plaintiff's husband, it was immaterial that plaintiff withdrew notice to saloonmen not to sell to her husband; such withdrawal not having been communicated to defendant. Birkman v. Fahrenthold, 53 C. A. 335, 114 S. W. 428.

Sales to minors or permitting minors to enter and remain in saloon.—A liquor dealer is charged with notice of minor. McGuire v. Glass, 4 App. C. C. § 32, 15 S. W. 127; State v. Meyer (Civ. App.) 23 S. W. 427.

A liquor dealer's bond is violated where a minor is permitted to enter and drink a glass of soda water. Qualls v. Sayles, 18 C. A. 400, 45 S. W. 839.

An action by the state on a liquor dealer's bond for permitting a minor to work in the saloon held not barred by the consent of the father of such minor. McMonigal v. State (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 126.

A father may recover a penalty under the statute for selling intoxicating liquors to his minor son, though the sales were not made on the exact day as alleged, or though he did not consent. Kruger v. Spachek, 12 C. A. 307, 54 S. W. 265.

Where a minor was a partner in the business, held, an action could not be maintained for breach of a saloon keeper's bond in allowing him to remain in the saloon and act as bartender. State v. Jordan, 23 C. A. 136, 56 S. W. 601.

To recover on a liquor dealer's bond, plaintiff sought to recover damages for an unlawful sale of liquor to his son, it was not necessary for plaintiff to put defendant's license in evidence. Lucas v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 64 S. W. 313.

To render a liquor dealer and his sureties liable to a parent whose minor child is permitted by the saloon keeper to "enter and remain" in the saloon, it is necessary that such minor both "enter" and "remain." Cox v. Thompson, 32 C. A. 572, 75 S. W. 819;

There is no civil liability for selling liquor to a minor, where the liquor dealer believed and had good reason to believe that the minor was over 21 years of age. Tinkle

The bond is not breached by permitting minor to enter a saloon and remain momentarily, where proprietor called a minor into the saloon to have him fix a gasoline lamp, and the minor came in, looked at the lamp, walked around it, examining it, said that he could not fix it, and walked out. Douthit v. State, 98 T. 344, 83 S. W. 797, reversing

The law requires more of a dealer than that he will not knowingly permit liquors be given to a minor in his place of business. It is his duty, if reasonably within his power, to prevent its sale. Thus, Simmons, 38 C. A. 212 Co. v. Simmons.
A seller of intoxicating liquors held not liable on his bond for the giving of liquor to a minor in his place of business by a third person. Holly v. Simmons, 99 T. 230, 89 S.
W. 770.

In an action on a liquor dealer's bond to recover a statutory penalty for permitting plaintiff's minor son to enter saloon, charges as to the necessity to a recovery, of defendant's knowledge of the minor's presence held properly refused. Munoz v. Braswell (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 417.

A liquor dealer's liability for selling liquor to a minor is statutory; the bond being

A saloon keeper who sells liquor to a minor is liable on his bond under the provision relating to sale, and not to that relating to permitting minors to 'enter and remain' in the saloon, and there is no liability under the latter provision where the minor enters and stays only momentarily, and does not in fact remain in the saloon. Haynes v.
Habersettle (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 717.

The bond of minors in entering a saloon to induce their father, who was Intoxicated, leave the same, could not be said as matter of law not to be a breach of the condition of the liquor dealer's bond against permitting minors to "enter and remain" in his saloon, where it appeared that the father had repeatedly resorted to defendant's saloon, and had entered the saloon on many occasions under similar circumstances. Id.

18. Sales to students.—To constitute a breach of a liquor dealer's bond by sale of whiskey to college students, the students need not be minors. Daniels v. College, 20 C.
A. 162, 50 S. W. 265.

A dealer's bond obligating him not to sell to students is broken by such a sale, whether or not he had been notified not to sell to the student. Id.

In an action on a bond given by a liquor dealer, obligating him not to sell to a student, it is immaterial where liquors so sold were drunk. Id.

19. Permitting music in saloon.—A liquor seller's bond is forfeited by his permit-

20. Allowance of gambling.—In an action for breach of liquor bond in permitting plaintiffs' minor son to gamble in saloon, want of consent of plaintiffs held infeasible from fact that plaintiffs were then in a distant state. Krick v. Dow (Civ. App.) 84 S.
W. 245.

21. Defenses in general.—In a suit against a retail liquor dealer and the sureties on his official bond for knowingly permitting a minor to enter upon and remain in the retail liquor dealer's place of business, it was held that the consent of the parent to the employment of his minor child in such a place of business did not protect the liquor dealer against the enforcement of the penalty of the bond. Goldsticker v. Ford, 62 T. 385.

The fact that the seller had reason to believe and did believe that the minor to whom he sold liquor was 21 years old and with no intention of violating the law is not a defense to an action on the bond. But such belief is a defense in a criminal pro-

That liquor sold to a minor was sold by an employé of the liquor dealer is no defense.

In an action by a college under the civil damage laws for a sale to a student, a compromise with the student's father held no defense. Daniels v. College, 20 C. A. 162, 50 S.
W. 265.

Where liquor dealers unlawfully sell liquor to a minor, whose father sues on their bond, and they do not deny the execution of the same, it is proper to admit the applica-

Knowledge of the fact that the parties to whom the beer is sold are students of an institution of learning is not material to a saloon keeper's liability on his bond. Peacock
v. Limburger, 95 T. 238, 66 S. W. 785.

Emancipation of minor held not to affect parent's action on liquor dealer's bond for permitting minor to enter and remain in saloon. Cox v. Thompson, 98 T. 468, 73
S. W. 950; Price v. Wakeham, 48 C. A. 339, 107 S. W. 132. Or for selling the minor liquor. Id.

The fact that a liquor dealer in good faith believes a minor, whom he permits to enter and remain in his saloon, to be of age, is no defense to an action permitting such entry and remaining. Cox v. Thompson, 32 C. A. 572, 75 S. W. 819.

Where a minor enters a saloon to procure a drink, and remains no longer than necessary for said purpose, the saloon keeper, who honestly believed him to be of age, is not liable for permitting a minor to enter and remain in saloons. Id.

If a minor enters a saloon for a lawful purpose, and leaves after he accomplishes it, without liability attaches to the saloon keeper, under statute giving parent right of action when minor enters and remains in a saloon. Id.

Consent of a parent to certain liquor dealer's selling liquor to his minor son held no defense to an action for a sale to him by another dealer. Roach v. Springer (Civ. App.)
75 S. W. 932, 80 C. A. 725.

What a minor, when purchasing liquor, said as to his father's consent, is not admissible in an action by the father against the liquor dealer for making the sale. Id.

Good faith in believing that a minor, entering and remaining in one's saloon, was an adult is no defense. The change in the law allowing good faith in believing that the person was an adult applies to sales to a minor and not to allowing him to enter and remain. 1893, 29 C. A. 144, 50 S. W. 641.

Wife of habitual drunkard may sue on liquor dealer's bond for the act of the dealer in selling liquor to her husband. Burlew v. Schiller, 41 C. A. 205, 92 S. W. 814.

A mother of a minor held entitled to maintain an action on a liquor dealer's bond for allowing her minor son to enter and remain in a saloon. In violation of the law and the liquor dealer's bond, held, without further showing, a person "aggrieved," who could sue on the bond. White v. Manning, 46 C. A. 298, 102 S. W. 1168.

One held not barred from recovery on a liquor dealer's bond, for sale to his minor son and allowing him to remain in the saloon, because he had occasionally permitted the son to drink beer in his presence. 1d.

A mother is entitled to sue on the bond where liquor is sold to her son who is a habitual drunkard, and she needed not give notice to the dealer not to sell, to entitle her to sue. Coughry v. Haupt, 47 C. A. 452, 106 S. W. 517.

In an action on a liquor dealer's bond for permitting a minor to enter and remain in his saloon, brought by the minor's father, it was unnecessary for the father to prove that he was aggrieved by defendant's act. Markus v. Thompson, 51 C. A. 239, 111 S. W. 1074.

23. Persons entitled to sue.—A suit on the bond may be brought by the party aggrieved or by the state. McGuire v. Glass, 4 App. C. C. § 51, 15 S. W. 127.

A married woman cannot maintain an action for the recovery of liquors sold in violation of the statute prohibiting the sale of liquor to a minor. Wartelsky v. McGee, 10 C. A. 220, 30 S. W. 69.

Where a wife has given notice not to sell to her husband, she may sue and recover the damages allowed by the state without showing any damages to her person or property by a sale contrary to such notice. Fay v. Williams (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 497.

Under Act May 6, 1893, sec. 9 (Rev. St. 1895, art. 5060g), re-enacted with modifications in this article, a widow can recover damages against a saloon keeper and his bondsmen for liquor sold to her minor son. Frobose v. Peavy (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 300.

A father may recover on a liquor dealer's bond for sales to the minor without showing that he is aggrieved. Qualls v. Sayles, 18 C. A. 400, 45 S. W. 839.

The state can bring an action on a liquor dealer's bond for permitting a minor to work in his place of business, although the father hired him. McMonigal v. State (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 1038.

A wife held authorized to prosecute on a liquor dealer's bond required by Rev. St. 1909, art. 5230, substantially identical with this article, without joining her husband. Wright v. Tipton, 95 T. 108, 46 S. W. 629.

A wife, having once notified a liquor dealer not to sell to her husband, need not renew the notice, to entitle her to recover damages for sales made to her husband under a subsequent license. Rintleman v. Hahn, 20 C. A. 244, 49 S. W. 174.

A college may sue as the aggrieved party, on a dealer's bond, for sales to a student. Daniels v. College, 20 C. A. 562, 50 S. W. 205.

A wife can recover on liquor dealer's bond, though her reputation for chastity be bad. Tipton v. Thompson, 21 C. A. 148, 50 S. W. 641.

Wife of habitual drunkard may sue on liquor dealer's bond for the act of the dealer in selling liquor to her husband. Burlew v. Schiller, 41 C. A. 205, 92 S. W. 814.

A mother of a minor held entitled to maintain an action on a liquor dealer's bond for allowing her minor son to enter and remain in a saloon, in violation of the law and the liquor dealer's bond, held, without further showing, a person "aggrieved," who could sue on the bond. White v. Manning, 46 C. A. 298, 102 S. W. 1168.

One held not barred from recovery on a liquor dealer's bond, for sale to his minor son and allowing him to remain in the saloon, because he had occasionally permitted the son to drink beer in his presence. 1d.

A mother is entitled to sue on the bond where liquor is sold to her son who is a habitual drunkard and she needed not give notice to the dealer not to sell, to entitle her to sue. Coughry v. Haupt, 47 C. A. 452, 106 S. W. 517.

In an action on a liquor dealer's bond for permitting a minor to enter and remain in his saloon, brought by the minor's father, it was unnecessary for the father to prove that he was aggrieved by defendant's act. Markus v. Thompson, 51 C. A. 239, 111 S. W. 1074.
A widow who for many years has had the care, nurture and maintenance of her brother, a minor and orphan, and has had the responsibility of the correct rearing and training of said minor (who is eighteen years old at time of bringing suit) stands in loco parentis towards said minor and is entitled to sue on liquor dealer's bond for selling liquor to said minor as "one aggrieved." Saunders v. Alvido & Laserra, 52 C. A. 366, 113 S. W. 993.

The court may assume that a mother, who is the only surviving parent of a minor child, is the person aggrieved by a dramshop keeper permitting the minor to enter and remain in his saloon. McElroy v. Sparkman (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 529.

24. Persons liable—Social club.—A social club dispensing spirituous liquors to its members and acting in good faith is not within this article. State v. Austin Club, 89 T. 20, 33 S. W. 113, 30 L. R. A. 500.

25. Druggists.—See notes under Art. 7475.

27. District court held to have jurisdiction of an action to recover liquidated damages on a liquor dealer's bond for selling liquor to a minor. Coburn v. Gill (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 974.

A suit on a liquor dealer's bond by a father for selling liquors to his son, does not abate on the death of the principal in the bond (the liquor dealer) although an action by the state on such bond for penalties for a breach of the bond does abate on the happening of such an event. Nolan v. Tennison, 21 C. A. 332, 60 S. W. 1028.

The state may show the discovery of the recovery as liquidated damages should not control in the interpretation of this article. Considering the caption and all the provisions of the law it is held to be penal and the sum to be recovered as penalty, and an action on the bond for the recovery of the bond does not survive, and on death of the principal in the bond the action abates as to the sureties. Johnson v. Rolls, 97 T. 453, 79 S. W. 515.

In an action on a liquor dealer's bond to recover a penalty for permitting plaintiff's minor son to enter a saloon, an action begun by the father and mother may be continued by the latter alone on the former's death. Munoz v. Brassel (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 417.

28. Pleading.—See Title 37.

29. Limitations.—See Art. 5857.

31. Amount of recovery—In general.—A father held entitled to recover a separate penalty as liquidated damages for each infractions of defendant's liquor bond. Coburn v. Gill (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 974.

The statute relating to actions on a liquor dealer's bond held to authorize the state to recover more than one penalty, where there has been more than one breach. Jones v. State (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 1010.

The bond can be entirely exhausted by the county and district attorneys, or either of them, in the name of the state, for the penalty, for the use and benefit of the county. There may be a recovery for more than one breach of the bond. Douthitt v. State, 36 C. A. 396, 85 S. W. 353.

The state can have successive recoveries upon the bond until it is exhausted, either by suits in its own behalf or by suits brought by parties aggrieved, or by both. Douthitt v. State, 89 T. 344, 53 S. W. 767.

In an action by the state on a liquor dealer's bond, in which more than one breach is alleged, the state may recover more than one penalty. Douthitt v. State (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 159.

The state held entitled to recover on a liquor dealer's bond a penalty of $500 for each violation up to the penalty of the bond. Hawthorne v. State, 39 C. A. 122, 87 S. W. 839.

There may be several actionable breaches of a liquor dealer's bond for permitting the same minor to be in his saloon on the same day. Markus v. Thompson, 51 C. A. 355, 111 S. W. 1074.

32. Interest on judgments on liquor dealers' bonds.—See notes under Art. 4973.

33. Evidence—Sufficiency of.—In an action to recover the penalty for selling liquor to plaintiff's husband, evidence held not to establish his habitual drunkenness. Herley v. Kettle (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 48.

Evidence held not to sustain a judgment for infractions of a liquor dealer's bond, by selling liquor to a minor and permitting him to remain in the saloon. Dickson v. Holt, 90 C. A. 297, 78 S. W. 342.

The petition and the proof in a suit on a liquor dealer's bond held, as against a general denial, to import the allegation and proof that a license had been issued to the principal in the bond. Earl v. State, 33 C. A. 161, 76 S. W. 207.

Evidence held not to justify recovery on a liquor dealer's bond, though sale was to a minor. Tinkle v. Sweeney, 97 T. 190, 77 S. W. 669.

Evidence held not to show breach of condition of liquor dealer's bond relative to minors entering and remaining in place of business. Tinkle v. Sweeney (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 245.

Evidence held not to show that a minor entered and remained in a saloon, within the statute. Ghio v. Stephens (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 1084.

In an action to recover a statutory penalty on a liquor dealer's bond, plaintiff is required to establish his case only by a preponderance of the evidence. Cox v. Thompson, 87 C. A. 607, 85 S. W. 34.

In an action on a liquor dealer's bond, evidence held to justify a finding that the principal defendant knowingly permitted liquors to be given to minors. A. E. Holly & Co. v. Simons, 38 C. A. 124, 85 S. W. 355.

In an action on a liquor dealer's bond, evidence held to establish a breach in permitting games to be exhibited and played about his place of business. Hawthorne v. State, 89 C. A. 122, 87 S. W. 899.
In an action against a retail liquor dealer and the sureties on his bond for the statutory penalty for selling liquor to a minor, evidence held not to raise the issue of a sale in good faith under the statute. Creel v. Gordon, 44 C. A. 367, 98 S. W. 387.

That a minor was allowed to remain in a saloon, in violation of the liquor dealer's bond, held sufficiently proved. White v. Manning, 46 C. A. 298, 102 S. W. 1166.

In an action on a dramshop keeper's bond, evidence held to justify a finding that the keeper permitted a minor to enter and remain in his saloon. McElroy v. Sparkman (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 529.

In an action on a liquor dealer's bond for selling liquor by the dealer to an habitual drunkard, evidence held to show that notice was given to the dealer not to sell liquor. McNeil v. Lewis (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 305.

34. Objections for insufficiency of evidence.—Objection to sufficiency of evidence in action for penalty for breach of liquor dealer's bond cannot be first raised on appeal. Cox v. Thompson, 37 C. A. 607, 85 S. W. 34.

Art. 7453. Unearned portion returned in case of death.—In the event of the death of any licensee under this law leaving an unearned portion of any license issued under this law, the heirs, executors, administrators or legal representatives of such deceased person may present the license of such person to the state and county and receive payment of the unearned portion of such license tax collected by them, respectively. [Acts 1909, 1 S. S., p. 294, sec. 16.]

Art. 7454. Clerk to make out statement.—The clerk of the county court shall make out a statement of all such licenses granted by him and the amount paid the collector on each for state and county taxes and report the same to the comptroller of public accounts of the state. [Id. sec. 17.]

Art. 7455. Duty of clerk to certify forfeitures, etc.—Hereafter, when the license issued to any person or firm to engage in the sale of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, or medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication, or malt liquors exclusively, to be drunk on the premises, in the locality other than where local option is in force, has been declared forfeited, by either the county or district court, revoked or canceled, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the county or district court to immediately certify such forfeiture under the seal of such court to the comptroller of public accounts of the state of Texas, which said certificate shall state the date of such forfeiture, the number and the nature of the cause, and the name and residence of the licensee or defendant, the name of the person and style of the firm, and the names and places of residence of the individual members of any such firm, or the name and place of residence of any such person, as the case may be, as shown by the application for license filed by such person or firm in the county court; for which service the clerk shall receive a fee of one dollar, to be taxed against the defendant or defendants. And it shall be the duty of the comptroller, upon receiving any such certificate, to file and record the same in a book to be kept by him for such purpose, and he shall likewise record all such forfeitures by him made; and thereafter no permit or license shall be issued to any such person or firm, or to any member of any such firm, to engage in the sale of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, or medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication, or malt liquors exclusively, within the period of five years from and after the date of entry of such forfeiture. [Id. sec. 18.]

Art. 7456. Act of servant deemed to be act of master.—Any sale, gift or other disposition of intoxicating liquors knowingly made to any minor, or to any habitual drunkard, or on any Sunday or election day by an agent, clerk or other person acting for any retail liquor dealer or retail malt dealer, or other person, shall be deemed and taken to be for all purposes of this law as the act of such retail liquor dealer or retail malt dealer or other person. [Id. sec. 20.]
Art. 7457. No license issued to person whose license has been revoked, until five years.—No retail liquor dealer’s, nor retail malt dealer’s license shall be issued to any person whose license as either a retail liquor dealer or retail malt dealer has been revoked or forfeited within five years before the filing of his application for license, or who has had in his employ in his business of retail liquor dealer, or retail malt dealer, any person whose license has been revoked or forfeited within five years next before the filing of such application. [Id. sec. 22.]

Art. 7458. License not to be issued, when.—No license shall be granted to any person as a retail liquor dealer, or as a retail malt dealer, who shall have carried on any such business after the expiration of his license previously issued and without having received a license for such purpose, or whose license shall have been revoked or forfeited under the provisions of this law, within five years before the filing of his application for such license. No license shall be issued to any person to do business as a retail liquor dealer, or retail malt dealer, in any house or building used for the purpose of prostitution, or as a house of assignation, or as a house of ill-fame, or gambling house. If, after a license has been issued to a retail liquor dealer, or retail malt dealer, the building in which the same is located shall be used for the above mentioned purposes, or any of them, with the knowledge and consent of such licensee, his license may be revoked, as hereinbefore provided. [Id. sec. 23.]

Denial of license and judicial relief.—Refusal of a liquor license on the ground that the place where it is proposed to open the saloon is unsuitable held not an abuse of discretion. Ex parte Abrams, 66 Cr. R. 465, 120 S. W. 883, 18 Ann. Cas. 45; Ex parte Clark, 66 Cr. R. 494, 120 S. W. 892; Ex parte Parker, 66 Cr. R. 544, 120 S. W. 892.

An applicant for a liquor license in the city of Texarkana held not entitled to a license because the city council had discriminated against him in refusing him a license under a provision of the charter which it had violated in other instances. Id.

Mandamus will not lie to compel a county judge to issue a liquor license, where the proceedings to obtain it were taken under a law enacted in 1907 (Acts 1907, c. 138), and before the hearing on appeal that law had been repealed by Acts 1909, c. 17, embodied in this chapter. Lyttleton v. Downer (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 994.

Art. 7459. Law not to conflict with local option law.—This law, or any of the provisions thereof, shall not be construed to be in conflict with any local option law now or hereafter to be in force in this state, and no license to any retail liquor or retail malt dealer shall be issued or shall be effective at any place where local option law is in force and operation. [Id. sec. 27.]

See, in dissenting opinion, Moreno v. State, 64 Cr. R. 660, 143 S. W. 156.

Application in general.—The provisions of this law do not apply to local option territory, and are not to be construed to be in conflict with any local option law. Snead v. State, 55 Cr. R. 683, 117 S. W. 987.

Art. 7460. License to be posted.—Any license required by this law shall be posted in some conspicuous place in the house where the business or occupation for which such license is necessary is carried on before engaging in such business or occupation. [Id. sec. 28.]

Manner of proving issuance of license.—Whether or not a license to sell intoxicants had been issued to accused is a fact which may be proved otherwise than by the exhibition of the license, this being particularly true in view of this article. Woods v. State (Cr. App.) 151 S. W. 296.

Art. 7461. List of licenses to be delivered to grand jury.—The county clerk of any county in this state where intoxicating liquors are sold, having a population of more than fifty thousand inhabitants, shall make out a list of all persons then having a license under the provisions of this law, and shall deliver the same to each grand jury impaneled in such county. Said list shall be arranged in alphabetical order, shall give the names of the persons to whom same were issued, the date of its issue, the date it will expire, stating whether the same is a retail liquor dealer’s, or retail malt dealer’s license, and shall describe where said license was to be used. [Id. sec. 30.]
Art. 7462. District judge to charge law to grand jury.—The judges of the district courts in this state shall give this law in special charge to each grand jury impaneled in their respective districts. [Id. sec. 31.]

Art. 7463. Fees of officers.—The county clerk, county judge and other officers shall receive for services rendered in the carrying out of this law such fees as are now allowed by law for similar services. [Id. sec. 32.]

Art. 7464. In case of forfeiture, may dispose of stock in bulk.—In case the license of any retail liquor dealer, or retail malt dealer, is forfeited under any of the provisions of this law, nevertheless such licensee shall be authorized to sell or dispose of in bulk any stock of intoxicating liquors he may have on hand at the time such license is forfeited. [Id. sec. 33.]

Art. 7465. “Intoxicating liquor” defined.—The term “intoxicating liquor,” as used in this law, shall be construed to mean fermented, vinous or spirituous liquors, or any composition of which fermented, vinous or spirituous liquors is a part; and all of the provisions of this law shall be liberally construed as remedial in character. [Id. sec. 34.]

Definitions:—“Intoxicating liquor.”—Where, in a prosecution for the sale of intoxicating liquor in local option territory, there is no evidence raising the issue that the article sold, which was beer, was not intoxicating, but the case was tried on the theory that it was intoxicating and prohibited, there was no error in refusing an instruction based on the theory that the beer sold was not an intoxicating liquor, the courts will take judicial knowledge that beer is an intoxicating liquor. Moreno v. State, 64 Cr. R. 660, 143 S. W. 156.

Art. 7466. Law to be valid, even though part is held to be invalid.—If, for any reason, any article or part of this chapter shall be held by the courts to be unconstitutional or invalid, then that fact shall not invalidate any other part of this chapter, but the same shall be enforced without reference to the parts, if any, which shall be so held to be invalid, unless the entire chapter shall be held to be invalid. [Id. sec. 35a.]

Termination of licenses.—The Intent of Acts 1907, p. 255, ch. 138, is that those having licenses under the old law (Slayes' Ani. St. 1897, arts. 5060a-5060) should have a reasonable time in which to comply with the provisions of this law, during which they could continue to sell under the old law, and would merely be awarded a reasonable time to comply with the new law. Two months is not a reasonable time. Ex parte Vaccarezza, 52 Cr. R. 105, 105 S. W. 1120; Barckell v. State (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 192; Ex parte Vaccarezza, 52 Cr. R. 311, 106 S. W. 392; Williams v. State, 52 Cr. R. 371, 107 S. W. 1126.

CHAPTER SIX

TAX ON SALE OF INTOXICATING LIQUORS IN LOCAL OPTION TERRITORY

Art. 7467. Tax for selling intoxicating liquors on prescription in local option territory.

7468. Counties may levy.

7469. Prerequisites to issue of license to sell.

7470. License to issue when.

Article 7467. [5060a] Tax for selling intoxicating liquors on prescription in local option territory.—There shall be collected from every person, firm, corporation or association of persons, for every separate establishment selling vinous, malt or spirituous liquors or medicated bitters, within this state and located within a county, subdivision of a county, justice precinct, town or city, in which local option is in force...
under the laws, the sum of two hundred dollars; provided, the same shall not be sold in such locality, except on prescription and in compliance with the laws governing sales in such localities; provided, further, that nothing in this article shall be so construed as to exempt druggists who sell spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, or medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication, on the prescription of a physician or otherwise, in either locality as above set forth, from the payment of the tax herein imposed; provided, further, that this article shall not apply to the sale by druggists of tinctures and drug compounds, in the preparation of which such liquors or medicated bitters are used and sold on the prescription of a physician or otherwise, and which tinctures and compounds are not intoxicating beverages prepared in the evasion of the provisions of this chapter nor the local option law. [Acts 1897, p. 223.]

See Ex parte Flake (Cr. App.) 149 S. W. 146.

Legislative power.—The legislature can require parties in local-option districts to pay tax for privilege of selling liquors. Sneary v. State, 40 Cr. R. 597, 52 S. W. 547, 53 S. W. 544.

Construction and operation.—A person engaged in the sale of liquors in a county or subdivision of a county where the local option law is in force is not liable to the occupation tax imposed by general laws of 1893 on retail liquor dealers. Rathburn v. State (Civ. App.) 32 S. W. 45.

Each one of the occupations named in this article is separate and distinct from the others and requires a license to pursue or engage in the particular business of selling in quantities from one gallon or under gallon in local option precinct, as the case may be. Williamson v. State, 41 Cr. R. 461, 55 S. W. 569.

Before a party can sell liquor in a local option territory he must have the required license to sell on prescription. Watson v. State, 42 Cr. R. 13, 57 S. W. 102; Snead v. Same, 55 Cr. R. 583, 117 S. W. 986.

If the malt liquor sold in a local option territory is not intoxicating, a license tax for the sale thereof is not required. Ex parte Gray (Cr. App.) 83 S. W. 438.

One cannot be punished for selling liquor after he has been notified by the county judge to file a new bond when the sale is under a physician's prescription, regular in form and under a license and under a bond which has not been annulled. Holland v. State. 51 Cr. R. 197, 101 S. W. 1904.

Art. 7468. [5060b] Counties may levy.—The commissioners' courts of the several counties in this state shall have the power to levy and collect from every person or association of persons selling spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, or medicated bitters, a tax equal to one-half the state tax herein levied; and where any such sale is made in any incorporated city or town, such city or town shall have the power to levy and collect a tax upon such sale equal to that levied by the commissioners' court of the county in which such city or town is situated. [Acts 1893, p. 177.]

Art. 7469. Prerequisites to the issue of license to sell.—Every person, firm, corporation or association of persons, desiring to engage in the business of selling spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, or medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication, in this state, in any county, justice precinct, school district, town, city, or other subdivision of a county where the qualified voters thereof have, by a majority vote, determined that the sale of such intoxicating liquors shall be prohibited therein, except for sacramental and medicinal purposes, shall, before engaging in such business, and in addition to all the requirements of law now in force, file with the county judge of the county in which the said business is to be pursued, an application in writing for a license to engage therein, and shall state the county and the particular portion thereof in which the said business is to be pursued, and describe the building in which it is to be pursued; said application shall give the name, residence and address of every person connected with the said association, corporation, or other applicant, and shall state that each person so connected with said applicant is a bona fide resident of the county where said business is to be pursued; said application shall have attached thereto a petition addressed to said county judge, requesting that a license be granted to said applicant or applicants, naming them, authorizing them to engage in the business of selling such liquors on prescriptions of physicians in a justice precinct and building to be named therein; said petition to be signed in person by a majority of the qualified voters of the justice precinct where said business is to be conducted at the time said petition is filed; said majority of qualified voters to be determined by the poll tax receipts and the exemption certificates issued by the tax collector of said county. There shall be attached to said petition an affidavit from some credible person or persons to the effect that every name signed to said petition is the genuine signature of the person represented to have signed the same. Upon the filing of said application for license and said petition with the county judge, the said judge shall set the same down for hearing, either in term time or in vacation, for some day not less than ten nor more than fifteen days from the day the same is filed; and said judge shall at once notify the county attorney of the day said hearing will be had. Upon the day so designated, or at some time thereafter to which the same may be postponed, the said county judge shall hear the said matter; and the county attorney, or any bona fide citizen of said justice precinct, may appear and contest the genuineness of the signatures to said petition, and whether or not a majority of the qualified voters have signed the same; and upon such hearing, if the said judge is convinced that the applicant or applicants have complied with all the requirements of law, he shall make his order authorizing the issuance of said license by the county clerk of said county, when the said applicant or applicants shall have paid all occupation taxes, given the required bond, and met all other requirements of existing laws concerning said business; but in no case shall such license be issued for a longer or shorter period than one year. [Acts 1910, 3 S. S., p. 35.]

Art. 7470. [5060d] License to issue, when.—After the county judge has entered an order authorizing the issuance of a license, as provided in article 7469, and the applicant shall have complied with the provisions of said order, the county clerk of said county shall issue to said applicant a license to sell spirituous, vinous, or malt liquors, or medicated bitters, at the place and in the manner and quantities set forth in the application, and no sale shall be made until such license is procured. The receipt of the tax collector shall be evidence of the payment of the tax. For issuing licenses herein provided for, county clerks shall be entitled to charge a fee of twenty-five cents for each license. [Acts 1893, p. 177.]

Art. 7471. [5060e] License to issue for one year, and shall designate place of sale, etc.—No license shall be granted for a longer or shorter period than one year. The particular place and house in which the liquors are to be sold shall be designated in the license, and no license shall authorize any person to sell spirituous, vinous, or malt liquors, or medicated bitters, at any other place or house than that designated in the license; provided, that if any person, or association of persons, having a license to sell such liquors, desires to change his or their place of business, such change may be made by presenting the license to the clerk of the county and having the new place of business inserted therein, but in no case to admit of the temporary closing of one place of business to sell at another place. [Id.]

Requisites of license.—See notes under Art. 7435.

Art. 7472. Licenses to be posted.—The license provided for in this chapter, and the occupation tax receipts, together with the internal revenue receipt issued by the United States, shall be posted by the licensee in a conspicuous place in his or their place of business; and, on failure to so post such license, receipt or internal revenue receipt, he or they so failing shall be considered as having no license and subject to all the pains and penalties as if no such license had issued.
Art. 7473. [5060f] County clerk to report applications for license to state revenue agent.—The county clerk in each and every county in this state shall, between the first and tenth day in each month, forward to the state revenue agent a sworn statement, giving the names of all persons who have filed applications for license during the preceding month; and the tax collector of each county shall keep a register in which shall be entered the names of all persons paying taxes under this chapter, with the date of payment, and shall, between the first and tenth day of each month, make to the state revenue agent a sworn report, giving the names of all persons who have paid a liquor tax during the preceding month, and the character of tax paid by each. The reports provided for in this article shall be made upon blank forms to be furnished by the comptroller. [Acts 1893, p. 177.]

Art. 7474. [5060i] Producers of domestic wines exempt.—The provisions of this chapter shall not apply to wines produced from grapes grown in this state, while the same is in the hands of the producers or manufacturers thereof.

Art. 7475. [5060j] Dealer must give bond before license will issue. —Every person, firm, corporation or association of persons, before engaging in the sale of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, or medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication, in any county, subdivision of a county, justice precinct, town or city, in which local option is in force, shall enter into a bond in the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars, with at least two good and sufficient sureties, payable to the state of Texas, to be approved by the county judge of the county in which such sales are to be made, conditioned that said person, firm, corporation or association of persons, so selling spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, or medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication, shall not sell in any quantity, except on the prescription of a regular practicing physician, addressed to such person, firm, corporation or association of persons, written with ink on white paper in the handwriting of such physician, dated, numbered and signed by such physician, giving his and applicant's place of residence, and certifying on his honor, that he has in person carefully examined the applicant or patient, and that he finds him or her actually sick, giving the malady or disease with which he or she is suffering, as near as he can ascertain, and that he or she is in immediate need of an alcoholic stimulant, such as prescribed; and there shall not be sold more than one quart on any one prescription, which shall be sold at one time and in one package, and delivered to the purchaser at time of sale; and that he or they shall not permit the same to be drunk on the premises where sold, nor on any other premises owned or controlled by him or them; and that he or they shall not sell more than once on the same prescription, and shall not sell on any prescription bearing the same number of another prescription given by the same physician and dated during the same year; and that he or they shall not sell on a prescription bearing date more than three days prior to the date of its presentation nor upon the prescription of a physician not known to him or them to be a regular practicing physician, authorized under the laws of Texas to practice his profession, nor permit a minor to remain on his premises or his place of business, except the house or place of business of a regular pharmacist; and that he or they shall not permit any games prohibited by the laws of this state to be played, dealt or exhibited in or about such house or place of business; and that he or they shall not rent or let any part of the house or place of business or premises in which or on which they are selling such liquors or medicated bitters, to any one, for the purpose of carrying on any business in violation of the local option laws, or the penal laws of the state; and that he or they shall not adulterate the liquors or medicated bitters sold by him or them, nor knowingly sell or give away such adulterated liquors; and that he or they shall keep an open, orderly house, and shall not use any screen or other device for the purpose of or which shall obstruct the view through the door or doors opening out on the street or alley; which said bond shall be filed in the office of the county clerk of the county where such business is carried on, and recorded by him in a book to be kept for that purpose; and for recording same he shall receive a fee of seventy-five cents. For every breach or violation of any of the provisions of said bond, the person, firm, corporation or association of persons, and the sureties on said bond, shall be liable in damages to any person, firm, corporation or association of persons injured thereby. In addition to the proceedings by parties sustaining damages by the violation, it shall be the duty of the county and district attorneys to institute suit in the name of the state of Texas for each and every infraction or violation thereof, for the use and benefit of the county; and the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars shall be recovered for each infraction, against the principal and sureties on said bond, as liquidated damages; which said sum shall be paid into the county treasury and become a part of the road fund of said county. Said bond shall not be void on the first recovery, but may be sued upon for each infraction thereof until the full penal sum named therein shall be exhausted. If said bond shall be exhausted, or become in danger of being exhausted by suits, said person, firm, corporation or association of persons shall be required to execute another bond; notice of such requirement shall be given by the county judge of the county, and such parties shall have ten days after notice to comply, and upon failure to do so shall be subject to all the pains and penalties from the time such notice was given as if no bond had been given in the first instance; provided, that, in case the county judge shall fail to give the notice herein required, then any citizen of the county, over the age of twenty-one years, may do so; and in case of failure to execute another bond within the time required, as above set forth, said person may bring suit in the district court of the county to require such person, firm, corporation or association of persons to execute a new bond; provided, further, that, in case the sureties on such bond shall become insolvent, or found to be insolvent after the execution of such bond, it shall be the duty of the county judge of the county to require of them a new bond, the same as above set forth; and, in case of his failure to do so, any citizen, as above set forth, may proceed in the district court aforesaid to compel them to execute such bond; and in case the insolvency of said sureties or either of them is established, which shall be done under the rules of evidence governing other like cases, or in case it is shown that said bond is exhausted or in danger of being exhausted by suit, said court shall enter up its judgment requiring said parties to enter into a new bond within ten days from the date of the judgment, and adjudge the cost against defendants, and assess a reasonable attorney's fee against them as cost. In case of an appeal from such judgment, the bond shall be in an amount sufficient to cover all costs and damages, to be fixed by the judge trying the cause; and, in addition to the conditions now required in appeal bonds, be conditioned further to pay all damages occasioned by the breach or violation of the local option and penal laws of the state from the date of the institution of the suit until the final termination of such suit. In case appellants are cast in the suit and the same is finally determined against him or them, said appeal bond may be sued upon and recoveries had the same as provided in this chapter and article for suits and recovery on the original bond; provided, further, that, when suit is instituted hereunder by a citizen, the suit shall be prosecuted without bond for cost or appeal bond. [Acts 1897, p. 223.]

In an action on a prescription liquor dealer's bond, the court properly charged that a sale made on a prescription bearing the same number of another prescription, given by the same physician, and dated during the same year, was a violation of the bond, whether given to the same or different persons. Edgar v. State, 46 C. A. 171, 102 S. W. 439.

CHAPTER SEVEN

TAXATION

Art. 7477

In an action on a prescription liquor dealer's bond, the court properly charged that a sale made on a prescription bearing the same number of another prescription, given by the same physician, and dated during the same year, was a violation of the bond, whether given to the same or different persons. Edgar v. State, 46 C. A. 171, 102 S. W. 439.

TAX ON DEALERS IN NON-INTOXICATING MALT LIQUORS

Art. 7476. Amount of tax.—There is hereby levied upon all firms, persons, associations of persons and corporations, selling non-intoxicating malt liquors, an annual state tax of two thousand dollars. Counties, incorporated cities and towns where such sales are made may levy an annual tax of not exceeding one thousand dollars upon all such persons, firms or corporations; provided, that this article shall not prevent the sale of such proprietary remedies as "malt extract," "malt medicine" and "malt and iron" manufactured and used exclusively as medicine and not as a beverage, when sold upon the prescription of a regular practicing physician; provided, further, that not more than one sale shall be made upon any one prescription. [Acts 1909, p. 51, sec. 1.]

This chapter is a valid exercise of the state's police power, and not invalid as imposing a prohibitive tax, and as preventing pursuit of a lawful business. Ex parte Townsend, 64 Cr. R. 350, 144 S. W. 628.

This chapter is not invalid as imposing different rates in different parts of the state from those established by chapter 5, which applies only to the sale of intoxicating liquors. 1d.

Art. 7477. Application for license to state what; must be paid in advance.—Each person and each firm and each corporation and each association of persons desiring to engage in the business mentioned in the preceding article, before engaging in same, shall file with the county clerk of the county in which the business is proposed to be pursued an application in writing for a license to engage therein and shall state the place or house in which said business is to be pursued, and, if within the corporate limits of any incorporated city or town, that fact shall be so stated; and any such person or firm or corporation or association of persons shall pay to the tax collector of the county the entire amount of annual tax levied by the state and the entire amount of the annual tax upon such business as may be levied by the commissioners' court of said county, and, if the business is to be pursued in an incorporated city or town, shall pay to the collector of taxes of such city or town the tax that may be levied on such business by said city or town; and all such taxes shall be paid in advance; and no license shall be issued by the county clerk until the person, or firm, or corporation, or association of persons, applying therefor shall exhibit receipts showing the payment of all taxes levied and authorized by this chapter; and the county clerk shall be entitled to charge a fee of twenty-five cents for the issuance of such license; and it shall be unlawful to carry on business under said license in more than one place at the same time, or in any place other than that named in said application for said license, unless the party carrying on said business shall first file with the county clerk of the county in which said business is carried on a written statement showing such change of place of business. [Acts 1909, p. 51. Amended 2 S. S., p. 397.]

See Ex parte Townsend, 64 Cr. R. 350, 144 S. W. 628.
Art. 7478. County clerk required to report licenses.—The county clerk is hereby required to make report of all licenses issued by authority of this chapter, as in other cases. [Acts 1909, p. 51, sec. 3.]

CHAPTER EIGHT

TAX ON PERSONS SOLICITING ORDERS OR OPERATING COLD STORAGE FOR INTOXICATING OR NON-INTOXICATING BEVERAGES IN LOCAL OPTION DISTRICTS

Article 7479. Amount of tax for soliciting orders.—In all counties, justice precincts, towns, cities or other subdivisions of a county, where the qualified voters thereof have by a majority vote determined that the sale of intoxicating liquors shall be prohibited therein, there is hereby levied upon all firms, persons, associations of persons and corporations that pursue the business of selling, or offering for sale, any intoxicating liquors by soliciting or taking orders therefor in any quantities whatever, in any such county, justice precinct, town, city, or other subdivision of a county, an annual state tax of four thousand dollars; and each county and also each incorporated city or town may levy an annual tax not exceeding two thousand dollars in any such county or incorporated city or town where such business is pursued. [Acts 1909, p. 53, sec. 1.]

Constitutionality.—This chapter is general, and not local or special, within the prohibition of Const. art. 3, §§ 56, 67. Edmanson v. State, 64 Cr. R. 413, 145 S. W. 887.

And is a valid exercise of the police power. Id.

And is not unconstitutional as levying an excessive tax on the occupation. Id.

And does not contravene Const. art. 8, § 2, requiring all occupation taxes to be equal and uniform on the same class of persons within the limits of the authority levying the tax. Id.

Art. 7480. Amount of tax for keeping cold storage.—In all counties, justice precincts, towns, cities or other subdivisions of a county, where the qualified voters thereof have by a majority vote determined that the sale of intoxicating liquors shall be prohibited therein, there is hereby levied upon all firms, persons, associations of persons and corporations that pursue the business of keeping, maintaining or operating what is commonly known as a "cold storage," or any place by whatever name known or whether named or not, where intoxicating or non-intoxicating liquors or beverages are kept on deposit for others, or where any such liquors are kept for others under any kind or character of bailment, an annual tax of two thousand dollars. Counties, incorporated cities and towns, where such business is located, may each levy an annual tax of not exceeding one thousand dollars upon each such place so kept, run, maintained or operated. [Id. sec. 2.]

Definitions—“Nonintoxicating liquors and beverages.”—The words “nonintoxicating liquors and beverages.” In this article considered in connection with the evil intended to be corrected and with the history of the legislation upon the same subject, have reference to alcoholic or spirituous fluids, either distilled or fermented, and do not include liquids such as water, milk, etc. Ex parte Flake (Cr. App.) 149 S. W. 146.

Constitutionality.—This article is authorized by state constitution, which provides a mode whereby it may be determined whether the sale of intoxicating liquors shall be prohibited in a given territory, since such provision implies that it is within the power, and is the duty of the legislature to enact all laws necessary to enforce prohibition in localities where it is adopted. Ex parte Flake (Cr. App.) 149 S. W. 146.

And does not violate Const. art. 3, § 35, providing that, no statute shall contain more than one subject, though it provides for the regulation and prohibition of the liquor traffic in prohibition territory; such object and purpose constituting but one subject. Id.

And is a police regulation, and not a revenue measure, though incidentally revenue may be derived from its enforcement. Id.
TAXATION

The classification by this article is reasonable, and based on what is for the best interest of the state and the welfare of its citizens. Id.

The fact that the license prescribed by this article is so large as to be prohibitive of the business, does not render it violative of Const. art. 1, § 19, by depriving citizens of the state of their property rights, privileges, and immunities. Id.

This article bears equally upon all citizens seeking to do such cold storage business in local option territory, and hence does not deprive citizens of their equal right to transact business. Id.

Uniformity of taxes.—The fact that this article applies only to local option territory does not render it violative of Const. art. 8, §§ 1, 2, providing that taxes shall be uniform throughout the state. Ex parte Flake (Cr. App.) 149 S. W. 146.

Right to question validity.—One charged with violating this article, by storing "intoxicating liquors" in local option territory without having obtained a license, could not complain or raise the question as to what other liquors the statute does or does not apply. Ex parte Flake (Cr. App.) 149 S. W. 146.

Art. 7481. Application for license.—Each person and each firm and each corporation and each association of persons desiring to engage in the business mentioned in articles 7479 and 7480 of this chapter in said local option territory, before engaging in same shall file with the county clerk of the county in which the business is to be pursued an application in writing for a license to engage therein, and shall state the county, or portion of the county, in which the business is to be pursued; and, if within the corporate limits of any incorporated city or town, that fact shall be so stated; and any such person or firm or corporation or association of persons shall pay to the tax collector of the county the entire amount of annual tax levied for the state, and the entire amount of the annual tax upon such business as may be levied by the commissioners' court of said county, and, if the business is to be pursued in an incorporated city or town, shall pay to the collector of taxes of such city or town the tax that may be levied on such business by said city or town; and all such taxes shall be paid in advance; and no license shall be issued by the county clerk until the person or firm or corporation or association of persons applying therefor shall exhibit receipts showing the payment of all taxes levied and authorized by this chapter, and the county clerk shall be entitled to charge a fee of twenty-five cents for the issuance of such license. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7482. County clerk to report licenses issued.—The county clerk shall be and is hereby required to make report of all licenses issued by authority of this chapter as in other cases. [Id. sec. 4.]

CHAPTER NINE

OCCUPATION TAX ON HANDLING LIQUORS C. O. D.

Art. 7483. Amount of tax.
Art. 7484. Penalty for failure to pay tax.
Art. 7485. No one required to keep office for handling liquors C. O. D.

Article 7483. Amount of tax.—Any person, firm or corporation doing business in this state shall, at each office or place kept, operated or maintained by such person, firm or corporation at which intoxicating liquors legally deliverable are delivered upon payment of purchase money therefor, commonly designated as shipments C. O. D., pay annually for each office or place so kept an annual occupation tax to the state of Texas of five thousand dollars; and any county or any incorporated city or town, wherein such office or place is located, may levy an annual occupation tax upon such person, firm or corporation herein referred to for each of said offices, not to exceed one-half of the amount hereby levied by the state, such tax to be due and payable annually. [Acts 1907, p. 3.]

Constitutionality.—This chapter is valid as a police regulation of the handling of liquors, since the legislature had authority to abrogate the C. O. D. feature of the liquor traffic, or impose any burden thereon which tended to prevent the evasion of the local option statutes. L. Craddock & Co. v. Wells-Fargo Company Express (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 59.

And is not in violation of Const. art. 8, §§ 1, 2, providing that taxation and all occupation taxes shall be equal and uniform, upon the class of subjects within the limits of the authority levying the tax, since the delivery of liquor C. O. D. constitutes a business in itself, and is not necessarily a part of an express company's business. Id.

Statute as revenue law.—This chapter is a revenue law, and not prohibited by Const. art. 8, § 48, providing that the legislature shall not levy taxes or impose burdens on the people except to raise revenue sufficient for the economical administration of the government. L. Craddock & Co. v. Wells-Fargo Company Express (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 59.

Rights and liabilities of express companies.—This chapter was sufficient to warrant an express company in refusing to carry liquor in that manner, since it could either pay the license tax or refuse to carry the liquor C. O. D. L. Craddock & Co. v. Wells-Fargo Company Express (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 59.

Where an express company had contracted to carry packages of intoxicating liquor C. O. D. for plaintiff, and the legislature by this chapter rendered this business unlawful, the express company was thereby excused from collecting the price and plaintiff on ordering the goods returned cannot recover the return charges paid on such packages on the ground that defendant's failure to perform the contract of transportation deprived plaintiff of all benefit thereunder. Id.

Art. 7484. Penalty for failure to pay tax.—The maintaining or operating such office or offices, place or places, by any person, firm or corporation in this state without paying the occupation tax required in section one [article 7483] of this chapter shall subject such person, firm or corporation so operating and maintaining such office or offices, place or places, to pay to the state of Texas the sum of fifty dollars, and to the county and any incorporated city or town in which said offices or places are located, each the sum of fifty dollars for each day such office or offices, place or places, may be maintained or operated, and for each office or place so operated; and the state or county, or any incorporated city or town, may sue for and recover, either jointly or severally, each the said sum, for each day that each of said offices or places may be maintained and operated without prepayment of the aforesaid occupation tax. [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7485. No one required to keep office.—No person, firm or corporation shall be required to keep, operate or maintain any office at which intoxicating liquors are deliverable upon the payment of the purchase price thereof, nor shall any such person, firm or corporation be compelled to receive, transport or deliver any intoxicating liquors, the purchase price of which, or any part thereof, is to be paid said person, firm or corporation on delivery. [Acts 1907, p. 149, sec. 2a.]

Art. 7486. Invalidity of part not to affect whole chapter.—In the event any article of this chapter should be attacked, or for any reason held invalid, such action shall not affect the force or legality of the other articles of this chapter. [Acts 1907, p. 149, sec. 2c.]

Article 7487. Property subject to the tax.—All property within the jurisdiction of this state, real or personal, corporeal or incorporeal, and any interest therein, whether belonging to inhabitants of this state or not, which shall pass absolutely or in trust by will, or by the laws of descent of this or any other state, or by deed, grant, sale or gift made or intended to take effect in possession or enjoyment after the death of the grantor or donor, shall upon passing to or for the use of any person except the father, mother, husband, wife or direct lineal descendants of the testator, intestate, grantor or donor, or any public corporation or charitable, educational or religious organization within this state when such bequest, gift or devise is to be used for charitable, educational or religious purposes within this state, be subject to a tax for the benefit of the state, as follows:

1. If passing to or for the use of a lineal ascendant or a brother or sister, or a lineal descendant of a brother or sister, the tax shall be two per cent on any value in excess of two thousand dollars, and not exceeding ten thousand dollars; two and one-half per cent of any value in excess of ten thousand dollars, and not exceeding twenty-five thousand dollars; three per cent on any value in excess of twenty-five thousand dollars, and not exceeding fifty thousand dollars; three and one-half per cent on any value in excess of fifty thousand dollars, and not exceeding one hundred thousand dollars; four per cent on any value in excess of one hundred thousand dollars, and not exceeding five hundred thousand dollars; and five per cent on any value in excess of five hundred thousand dollars.

2. If passing to or for the use of an uncle or aunt, or a lineal descendant of an uncle or aunt of the decedent, the tax shall be three per cent on any value in excess of one thousand dollars, and not exceeding ten thousand dollars; four per cent on any value in excess of ten thousand dollars, and not exceeding twenty-five thousand dollars; five per cent on any value in excess of twenty-five thousand dollars, and not exceeding fifty thousand dollars; six per cent on any value in excess of fifty thousand dollars, and not exceeding one hundred thousand dollars; seven per cent on any value in excess of one hundred thousand dollars, and not exceeding five hundred thousand dollars; and eight per cent on any value in excess of five hundred thousand dollars.

3. If passing to or for the use of any other person, natural or artificial, the tax shall be four per cent of any value in excess of five hundred dollars, and not exceeding ten thousand dollars; five and one-half per cent on any value in excess of ten thousand dollars, and not exceeding twenty-five thousand dollars; seven per cent on any value in excess of twenty-five thousand dollars, and not exceeding fifty thousand dollars; eight and one-half per cent on any value in excess of fifty thousand dollars, and not exceeding one hundred thousand dollars; ten per cent on any value in excess of one hundred thousand dollars, and not exceeding five hundred thousand dollars; and twelve per cent on any value in excess of five hundred thousand dollars. [Acts 1907, p. 496, sec. 1.]

Art. 7488. Property passing in two or more estates.—If the property passing as aforesaid shall be divided into two or more estates, as an estate for years or for life and a remainder, the tax shall be levied on each estate or interest separately according to the value of the same at the death of the decedent. The value of estates for years, estates for life, remainders and annuities shall be determined by the "Actuaries' Combined Experience Tables," at four per cent compound interest.

Art. 7489. Property bequeathed to executor or trustee in lieu of commission, taxed when.—If a testator bequeaths or devises to his executor or trustee property in lieu of the latter's commission, the value of such property in excess of reasonable compensation, as determined by Art. 7490. Inventory to be filed when; penalty.—Every executor, administrator and trustee of the estate of a decedent leaving property subject to taxation under this chapter, whether such property passes by will or by the laws of descent or otherwise, shall, within three months after his appointment, make and file an inventory thereof in the county court having jurisdiction of the estate of the decedent. Any executor, administrator or trustee, refusing or neglecting to comply with the provisions of this article, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one thousand dollars, to be recovered in an action brought in behalf of the state by the district or county attorney upon notice from the judge of the county court.

Art. 7491. County court to appoint administrator.—If within three months after the death of a decedent leaving property subject to taxation under this chapter, no application for letters testamentary or of administration shall be made, it shall be the duty of the county court to appoint an administrator. It shall be the duty of the county attorney to report to the judge of the county court all such estates, whether the property subject to taxation passes by will or by laws of descent or otherwise. For each decedent's estate thus reported, the county attorney shall receive a compensation of ten per cent of the tax payable, but not to exceed twenty dollars in any one estate. Such payment shall be made by the collector of taxes, on the certificate of the county judge, out of the taxes paid him on property belonging to such estate.

Art. 7492. Appraisers appointed; notice to be given, etc.—Said tax shall be assessed upon the actual or market value of the property. The judge of the county court having jurisdiction of the estate of the decedent shall, as often as and whenever occasion may require, appoint two competent disinterested persons as appraisers to fix the value of property subject to said tax. The appraisers, being first sworn, shall forthwith give notice to all persons known to have a claim or interest in the property to be appraised, including the executor, administrator or trustee, and the collector of taxes of the county, of the time and place when they will appraise the same. At such time and place they shall appraise such property at its actual or market value at the time of the death of the decedent, and shall thereupon make report thereof in writing to said county judge, who shall file such report. Each appraiser shall be paid, on the certificate of the county judge, two dollars for each day employed in such appraisal, together with his actual necessary expenses incurred therein, which payments shall be made by the collector of taxes out of any moneys in his hands received under this chapter; provided, however, that upon the agreement of the parties interested to dispense with the appointment of appraisers, the county judge shall himself appraise the property and make and file a report thereof. If the same decedent shall leave property subject to this tax to more than one person, a separate appraisal and report shall be made for the property of each person.

Art. 7493. County judge to regulate tax.—Immediately upon the filing of the report of the appraisement, the county judge shall calculate and determine the amount of tax due on such property under this chapter, and shall in writing certify such amount to the collector of taxes, to the executor, administrator or trustee, and to the person to whom or for whose use the property passes. Said tax shall be a lien upon such property from the death of the decedent until paid, and shall bear interest from such death until paid, unless payment shall be made within six months after such death, in which case no interest shall be charged.

Art. 7494. Property withheld until tax paid.—If such property be in the form of money, the executor, administrator or trustee shall deduct the amount of the tax therefrom before paying it to the party entitled thereto; if it be not in the form of money, he shall withhold the property until the payment by such party of the amount of tax; in any case the executor, administrator or trustee shall be liable for the amount of the tax and shall have the right, in case of neglect or refusal after due notice of the party entitled to the property to pay such amount, to sell, at public sale, after due notice to such party, the property, or so much thereof as may be necessary. Out of the sum realized on such sale, the executor, administrator or trustee shall deduct the amount of the tax and the expenses of the sale, and shall pay the balance to the party entitled thereto.

Art. 7495. Tax charged on real estate, when.—Whenever any legacy subject to said tax shall be charged upon or payable out of real estate, the heir or devisee, before paying the legacy, shall deduct the amount of the tax therefrom, and pay the amount so deducted to the executor, administrator or trustee; the amount of the tax shall remain a charge on such real estate until paid, and the payment thereof shall be enforced by the executor or trustee in the same manner as the payment of the legacy itself could be enforced.

Art. 7496. Tax paid, when.—All taxes received under this act by any executor, administrator or trustee, shall be paid by him within thirty days thereafter to the collector of taxes of the county whose county court has jurisdiction of the estate of the decedent. Upon such payment, the collector shall make duplicate receipts thereof; he shall deliver one to the party making payment, the other he shall send to the comptroller of public accounts, who shall charge the collector with the amount thereof, and shall countersign and affix his seal of office to such receipt and transmit same to the party making payment.

Art. 7497. Collector to sue for, when.—In case such tax shall not be paid to the collector of taxes within six months after the county judge has notified the amount thereof as hereinbefore provided, the collector shall commence an action to recover the amount of such tax against the executor, administrator or trustee, and the party to whom or for whose use the property has passed; provided, that the county judge may by certificate to the collector extend such time of payment whenever the circumstances of the case require.

Art. 7498. Collector pays to state treasurer.—The collector of taxes of each county shall, on or before the fifteenth day of each month, pay to the state treasurer all taxes received by him under this law before the first day of that month, deducting therefrom all lawful disbursements made by him under this act, and also his compensation at the rate of one per cent of all taxes collected under this act.

Art. 7499. Tax deposited to credit of general fund.—The moneys received by the state treasurer under this chapter shall be deposited in the state treasury to the credit of the fund now there existing and known as the general revenue fund.

Art. 7500. Tax refunded when.—Whenever any debts shall be proven against the estate of a decedent after the distribution of property on which the tax has been paid, and a refund is made by the distributee, a due proportion of the tax so paid shall be repaid to him by the executor, administrator or trustee, if still in his hands, or by the collector of taxes, if it has been paid to him. The collector shall pay such sums upon the order of the county judge out of any money in his possession under this law; and the comptroller of public accounts shall credit the collector with all sums so paid out by him.

Art. 7501. Final account not allowed until tax is paid.—No final account of an executor, administrator or trustee shall be allowed by the county judge, unless such account shows and said judge finds that all taxes imposed under this law on any property or interest passing through his hands as such have been paid; and the receipt of the collector of taxes for such taxes shall be the proper voucher for such payment.

Art. 7502. Appointment of administrator dispensed with.—If for any reason administration of the estate of a decedent, leaving property subject to taxation under this law, shall not be necessary in this state, except in order to carry out the provisions of this chapter, it shall be in the discretion of the county judge, upon the filing of a satisfactory inventory of the taxable property by the trustee or owner, to dispense with the appointment of an administrator. Upon the filing of such inventory, the appraisement and other proceedings required by this chapter shall be had as in other cases.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

OF THE PROPERTY SUBJECT TO TAXATION AND THE MODE OF RENDERING THE SAME

Art. 7503. [5061] All property to be taxed.—All property, real, personal or mixed, except such as may be hereinafter expressly exempted, is subject to taxation, and the same shall be rendered and listed as herein prescribed. [Act Aug. 21, 1876, p. 275, sec. 1.]

In general.—The essentials of a valid tax are: (1) a levy by competent legislative authority, and (2) a valid assessment of the property upon which such tax is levied, by the officer or tribunal to whom this duty is committed by law. George v. Dean, 47 T. 72.

In construing a legislative act which incorporated within city limits property used exclusively for rural purposes, it will be conclusively presumed, on a question of taxation, that the legislature, in passing the act, determined with a view solely to the public good the benefit to accrue to the public and to the property owner. It would be a usurpation of power by the judiciary were it to assume the right to revise the legislative action because of the inequality of benefits resulting from municipal taxation of such property. Norris v. City of Waco, 57 T. 685.

Taxes are within the meaning of the constitution (art. 8, sec. 1) "equal and uniform," when no person or class of persons in the territory is taxed at a higher rate than are other persons in the same district upon the same value or thing, and when the objects of taxation are the same, by whomsoever owned or whatever they be. Id.
Taxation defined.—Taxation defined. City of Austin v. Nalle, 102 T. 536, 120 S. W. 896.

Power to tax.—The power of a state as to the mode, form, and extent of taxation of lands within its jurisdiction is limited only by the federal constitution. Hutcheson v. Storrie (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 785.

The power to tax for governmental purposes is limited by the constitution only. Stratton v. Commissioners' Court of Kinney County (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 1170.

Property subject to taxation in general.—A state may tax all property, real and personal, within its jurisdiction, irrespective of the domicile of the owner. State v. Pittman & Dep't Co. of Maryland, 25 C. A. 214, 89 S. W. 644.

The state can exercise its power to impose taxes on all property within its jurisdiction and such taxes may be imposed on all property, tangible and intangible, with a permanent situs and location within the state. Hall v. Miller (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 165.

Property held by agent.—This article and Art. 7509 are broad enough to include every species of property held by an agent for any person or corporation that could possibly exist. Jesse French Piano and Organ Co. v. City of Dallas (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 942.

Art. 7504. [5062] Real property includes what.—Real property, for the purpose of taxation, shall be construed to include the land itself, whether laid out in town lots or otherwise, and all the buildings, structures and improvements, or other fixtures of whatsoever kind thereon, and all the rights and privileges belonging or in any wise appertaining thereto, and all mines, minerals, quarries and fossils in and under the same. [Id. sec. 2.]

In general.—One locating two surveys under a Confederate land scrip cannot demand a patent until the land commissioner has selected one of them for the school fund, and hence until then his survey is not taxable. Abney v. State, 20 C. A. 101, 47 S. W. 1043.

The plain purpose of this article is to require that in assessing real estate for taxation, whether held by a natural person or a corporation, not only is the land itself included as mere land together with the improvements thereon, but also all franchises and privileges appurtenant thereto, and all the advantages for a profitable prosecution of the business to which it is appropriated. As a rule the value of improved real estate is proportional to the net income which it will yield. State v. Austin & N. W. Ry. Co., 94 T. 530, 62 S. W. 1090.

The rendition by a corporation under the general law included its franchise to exist as a corporation and its franchise to do business in the operation of the railroad. It was not the intention of the legislature to tax the franchise of a railroad as a property separate from its real estate. State v. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co., 100 T. 153, 97 S. W. 71.

Minerals contained in land are property, and when severed from the land by a proper conveyance may be taxed separately from the land itself. State v. Downman (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 787.

Art. 7505. [5063] Personal property includes what.—Personal property shall, for the purposes of taxation, be construed to include all goods, chattels and effects, and all moneys, credits, bonds and other evidences of debt owned by citizens of the state, whether the same be in or out of the state; all ships, boats and vessels belonging to inhabitants of this state, if registered in this state, whether at home or abroad, and all capital invested therein; all moneys at interest, either within or without this state, due the person, to be taxed over and above what he pays interest for, and all other debts due such person over and above their indebtedness; all public stock and securities; all stock in turnpikes, railroads, canals and other corporations (except national banks) out of the state, owned by inhabitants of this state; all personal estate of moneyed corporations, whether the owners thereof reside in or out of this state, and the income of any annuity, unless the capital of such annuity be taxed within the state; all shares in any bank organized or that may be organized under the law of the United States; all improvements made by persons upon lands held by them, the title to which is still vested in the state of Texas, or in any railroad company, or which have been exempted from taxation for the benefit of any railroad company, or any other corporations, or any other corporation whose property is not subject to the same mode and rule of taxation as other property. [Acts 1879, ch. 40, p. 39, sec. 3.]

In general.—This article was not intended to limit the broad terms of Art. 7503, but was passed to remove any doubt as to the taxable character of personal property about which contention might probably arise. Jesse French Piano & Organ Co. v. City of Dallas (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 946.

The object of this article was to amplify and increase the scope, if possible, of Art. 7503 and not to confine taxation to the property of inhabitants (of the state). Hall v. Miller (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 169.
This article and the act of 1905, levying taxes for general revenue (Acts 1905, p. 436, ch. 54), the legislature intended to enlarge the tax law, so as to embrace property which otherwise might escape taxation. Hence vendor lien notes held in Texas for collection are taxable although owned by a nonresident. Hall v. Miller, 102 T. 289, 115 S. W. 1169.

TAXABLE PERSONAL PROPERTY.—This article and Acts 7503, 7504, subject to taxation, in addition to tangible personal, all money belonging to the taxpayer and any excess that may exist of his credits over his indebtedness. Griffin v. Heard, 78 T. 607, 14 S. W. 892.

Cattle shipped into the state under bill of lading allowing their being fed therein for an indefinite period held taxable in the state while being fattened at the owner's pens. Waggoner v. Whaley, 21 C. A. 1, 50 S. W. 152.

Municipal bonds and securities bear a concrete form and tangible status, and constitute property which may acquire a situs for purposes of taxation other than domicile of its owner. State v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 35 C. A. 214, 80 S. W. 544.

The term "personal property" includes bonds, notes, credits, and choses in action. Id.

The law requires foreign corporations engaged in the surety and guaranty business in this state to deposit with the state treasurer, in order to be permitted to transact business here, good securities of the cash market value of $50,000. This property, under this article, is properly subject to assessment and rendition for taxes, and to the payment of taxes thereon. The fact that the property is also subject to taxation in the state of Maryland, the domicile of the corporation owning the property, does not make the payment of taxes on it in Texas double taxation within the meaning of the law. Id.

Fact that property of foreign corporation is taxed in state of its creation does not prevent its taxation here, where its situs here is such as to give this state jurisdiction. Id.

Legal fiction that personal property attaches to the owner, and is subject only to laws of his domicile, does not extend to a case of property situated in another jurisdiction, which assumes control over it for taxation purposes. Id.

Notes given for the purchase price of land within the state and left by a nonresident connection held to have a situs within the state for purposes of taxation. Hall v. Miller (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 165.

Bonds and notes owned by nonresident are taxable where they have acquired a situs within the state, and are used in the state in connection with the business carried on for the owner. Hall v. Miller, 102 T. 289, 115 S. W. 1169.

Vendor lien notes given for lands in Texas payable in Texas and held in Texas for collection are subject to taxation in Texas under this article, although the owner thereof is a nonresident, and although the money paid on the notes as they mature is withdrawn from the state. Id.

Personal property which has its permanent situs within the state is subject to taxation therein, regardless of the domicile of the owner. But personal property of a nonresident only temporarily within the state is not subject to taxation. Carmody v. Clayton (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1067.

Where one who had lived within the state for more than 12 years kept his personal property there, except when away on short trips, taking it out of the state only at the time of assessment, the property had a permanent situs in the state and was subject to taxation therein, though the owner still retained his citizenship in a foreign state. Id.

Within the purview of the tax laws, one who has lived within a state for over 12 years, though expressing an intention at some future time to leave, is a citizen, even though he has never exercised political rights within the state, and claims to be a citizen of a foreign state. Id.

DEDUCTIONS OF INDEBTEDNESS.—This article standing alone permits the deduction of all indebtedness, but this article is modified by Art. 7523, which specifically designates certain classes of indebtedness which shall not be deducted. Primm v. Fort, 23 C. A. 605, 57 S. W. 86, 972.

And an owner of national bank stock held not entitled to deduct his indebtedness from the value of his stock for the purpose of taxation. Id.

Art. 7506. [5064] Definition of terms.—The term, "money," or, "moneys," wherever used in this title shall, besides money or moneys, include every deposit which any person owning the same or holding in trust and residing in this state, is entitled to withdraw in money on demand.

"Credits."—The term, "credits," wherever used in this title, shall be held to mean and include every claim and demand for money or other valuable thing, and every annuity or sum of money receivable at stated periods, due or to become due, and all claims and demands secured by deed or mortgage, due or to become due.

"Tract or lot."—The term, "tract or lot," and, "piece or parcel," of real property, and piece and parcel of land, wherever used in this title, shall each be held to mean any quantity of land in possession of, owned by or recorded as the property of the same claimant, person, company or corporation.

"Singular and plural."—Every word importing the single number only may extend to and embrace the plural, and every word importing the plural number may be applied and limited to the singular number; and every word implying the masculine gender only may be extended and applied to females as well as males.

"Oath."—Wherever the word, "oath," is used it shall be held to mean oath or affirmation; and the word, "swear," may be held to mean affirm.

"Town or district."—The words, "town or district," wherever used shall be held to mean village, city, ward or precinct, as the case may be.

"Value."—The term, "true and full value," wherever used shall be held to mean the fair market value, in cash, at the place where the property to which the term is applied shall be at the time of assessment, being the price which could be obtained therefor at private sale, and not at forced or auction sale.

"Person."—The term, "person," shall be construed to include firm, company or corporation. [Acts 1876, p. 275, sec. 4.]

In general.—Deposit in bank subject to sight check is cash. Campbell v. Wiggins, 20 S. W. 730, 2 C. A. 1.

In prosecution for perjury for making false statement in assequing money in bank the indictment should allege that the money rendered was in said bank payable on demand as required by this article. Parker v. State, 44 Cr. R. 147, 69 S. W. 76.

Art. 7507. [5065] Exemption from taxation.—The following property shall be exempt from taxation, to-wit:

1. Schools and churches.—Public school houses and houses used exclusively for public worship, the books and furniture therein and the grounds attached to such buildings necessary for the proper occupancy, use and enjoyment of the same, and not leased or otherwise used with a view to profit. All public colleges, public academies, all buildings connected with the same, and all the lands immediately connected with public institutions of learning, and all endowment funds of institutions of learning and religion not used with a view to profit, and when the same are invested in bonds or mortgages, or in land or other property which has been, or shall hereafter be, bought in by such institutions under foreclosure sales made to satisfy or protect such bonds or mortgages; provided, that such exemption of such land and property shall continue only for two years after the purchase of the same at such sale by such institutions and no longer; and all buildings used exclusively and owned by persons or associations of persons for school purposes. This provision shall not extend to leasehold estate of real property held under authority of any college or university of learning.

1a. Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations.—That, Young Men's Christian Association Buildings, and Young Women's Christian Association Buildings, used exclusively for the purpose of furthering religious work, and acting under the approval and cooperation of the state and international Young Men's Christian Association committees and the Young Women's Christian Association committees, the books and furniture contained in such buildings, and the grounds attached thereto necessary for the proper occupancy of such buildings, use and enjoyment of the same, and not leased or otherwise used with a view to profit other than for the purpose of maintaining the buildings and association, and all endowment funds of the above mentioned religious institutions, not used with a view to profit, but for the purpose of maintaining the association and buildings in doing religious work, shall be exempt from taxation. [Acts 1913, p. 153, sec. 1.]

2. Cemeteries.—All lands used exclusively for graveyards or grounds for burying the dead, except such as are held by any person, company or corporation with a view to profit, or for the purpose of speculating in the sale thereof.

3. Public property.—All property, whether real or personal, belonging exclusively to this state, or any political subdivision thereof, or the United States, except that in each county in this state, where the state of Texas has heretofore or may hereafter acquire and own land for the purpose of establishing thereon state farms and employing thereon convict labor on state account, it shall be the duty of the penitentiary board or board of penitentiary commissioners, or other officers of the penitentiary having the managing of same, to render said land for taxes to the tax assessor of said county; and the taxes on same shall be assessed and collected in the manner required by law for the assessment and collection of other taxes; provided, that said taxes shall be assessed and collected for county purposes only; and said county taxes shall be paid annually out of the revenue derived from such state farms respectively, by the officer or officers having the management thereof, and same shall be charged to the expense account of operating such farm; and no debt shall be created against the general revenue of the state in case of the failure to pay said taxes out of the revenues of any such farm; and provided, further, that in arriving at the amount to be paid in taxes to the counties the value of the land only shall be considered and not the value of the buildings and other improvements owned by the state and situated on said land.

4. County buildings.—All buildings belonging to counties for holding courts, for jails, or for county officers, with the land belonging to and on which such buildings are erected.

5. Poor-houses.—All lands, houses and other buildings belonging to any county, precinct or town, used exclusively for the support or accommodation of the poor.

6. Public charities.—All buildings belonging to institutions of purely public charity, together with the lands belonging to and occupied by such institutions not leased or otherwise used with a view to profits, unless such rents and profits and all moneys and credits are appropriated by such institutions solely to sustain such institutions and for the benefit of the sick and disabled members and their families and the burial of the same, or for the maintenance of persons when unable to provide for themselves, whether such persons are members of such institutions or not. An institution of purely public charity under this act is one which dispenses its aid to its members and others in sickness or distress, or at death, without regard to poverty or riches of the recipient, also when the funds, property and assets of such institutions are placed and bound by its laws to relieve, aid and administer in any way to the relief of its members when in want, sickness and distress, and provides homes for its helpless and dependent members and to educate and maintain the orphans of its deceased members or other persons.

7. Fire engines.—All fire engines and other implements owned by towns and cities used for the extinguishment of fires, with the buildings used exclusively for the safekeeping thereof.

8. Market houses, etc.—All market houses, public squares, or other public grounds, town or precinct houses or halls used exclusively for public purposes, and all works, machinery or fixtures belonging to any town used for conveying water to such town.

9. Public libraries.—All public libraries and personal property belonging to the same.

10. Furniture.—All household and kitchen furniture not exceeding at their true and full value two hundred and fifty dollars to each family, in which may be included one sewing machine. [Acts 1876, p. 275, sec. 24.]

Equal and uniform taxation.—Taxation is "equal and uniform" when the objects and rates of taxation are the same for all persons. Norris v. City of Waco, 87 S. 635.
School buildings and grounds as exempt.—A schoolhouse used and occupied for a boarding school, but in which the owner resides with his family, is not exempt from taxation. Red v. Johnson, 53 T. 284.

The word "building" is construed to embrace the land used in connection with it. It has been the policy of the state to encourage educational enterprises by exempting them from the burdens of government, and there is nothing to warrant the inference that the framers of the constitution, in the use of the word "building," intended to discriminate against private schools. Ground used for the recreation of the students and to supply the school table with vegetables, which was necessary and used for the proper and economical conduct of the school, is exempt. Cassiano v. Ursuline Academy, 64 T. 673.

The exemption of buildings used for school purposes includes the lots upon which they are situated, but does not apply to land included in a farm cultivated in connection with a boarding school. St. Edward's College v. Morris, 82 T. 1, 17 S. W. 512; Cassiano v. Ursuline Academy, 64 T. 676; Red v. Morris, 72 T. 554, 10 S. W. 651; Morris v. Masons, 68 T. 588, 5 S. W. 519.

A house used for school purposes and a residence is not within the statute. Edmunds v. City of San Antonio, 14 C. A. 155, 36 S. W. 496.

Buildings in which plaintiff conducted a school and in which he resided with his family are not used exclusively for school purposes, and exempt from taxation. City of San Antonio v. Seeley (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 688.

Public property—School lands.—School lands of a county are not subject to taxation. The leasehold cannot be taxed as the property of the lessee. Daugherty v. Thompson, 71 T. 192, 9 S. W. 99; Davis v. Burnett, 77 T. 3, 18 S. W. 613; Land & Cattle Co. v. Board, 80 T. 489, 16 S. W. 512.

— Property of municipal corporations.—In the absence of any statute controlling the subject, such property as a municipal corporation owns and uses for a public purpose is not affected by general laws regulating taxation. Galveston Wharf Co. v. Galveston, 67 T. 14.

The exemption of "public property used for public purposes" applies to property ownership of which is in the state or some one of its municipal subdivisions. St. Edward's College v. Morris, 82 T. 1, 17 S. W. 512.

— State lands.—Until the commissioner of the land office selects one of the two surveys made by virtue of a Confederate land certificate the title to the land remains in the state and is not subject to taxation. Abney v. State, 20 C. A. 161, 47 S. W. 1044.

— Property of United States.—See Art. 5277.

— Legal tender notes and United States bonds.—Legal tender notes and United States bonds belonging to corporations or individuals are exempt from taxation. Rosenberg v. Weeke, 67 T. 578, 4 S. W. 890. But see Art. 7531.

Art. 7508. [5066] When property to be rendered.—All property shall be listed for taxation between January 1 and April 30 of each year, when required by the assessor, with reference to the quantity held or owned on the first day of January in the year for which the property is required to be listed or rendered. Any property purchased or acquired on the first day of January shall be listed by or for the person purchasing or acquiring it. If any property has, by reason of any special law, contract or fact, been exempt or has been claimed to be exempted from taxation for any period or limit of time, and such period of exemption shall expire between January 1 and December 31 of any year, said property shall be assessed and listed for taxes as other property; but the taxes assessed against said property shall be for only the pro rata of taxes for the portion of such year remaining. [Acts 1909, p. 373.]

Art. 7509. [5067] How to be rendered.—All property shall be listed or rendered in the manner following:

1. By the owner.—Every person of full age and sound mind, being a resident of this state, shall list all of his real estate, moneys, credits, bonds or stock of joint stock or other companies (when the property of such company is not assessed in this state), moneys loaned or invested, annuities, franchises, royalties, and all other property.

2. As agent.—He shall also list all lands or other real estate, all moneys and other personal property invested, loaned or otherwise controlled by him as agent or attorney, or on account of any other person, company or corporation whatsoever, and all moneys deposited subject to his order, check, or drafts and credits due from or owing by any person, body corporate or politic.

3. Minor.—The property of a minor child shall be listed by his guardian, or by the person having such property in charge.

4. Wife.—The property of a wife, by her husband, if of sound mind; if not, by herself.
5. Idiot.—The property of an idiot or lunatic, by the person having charge of such property.

6. Cestui que trust.—The property of a person for whose benefit it is held in trust by the trustee of the estate; of a deceased person, by the executor or administrator.

7. Receivers.—The property of corporations whose assets are in the hands of receivers, by such receivers.

8. Corporations.—The property of a body politic or corporate, by the president or proper agent or officer thereof.

9. Copartnership.—The property of a firm or company, by a partner or agent thereof.

10. Manufactories.—The property of manufacturers and others in the hands of an agent, by such agent, in the name of his principal, as real, personal and merchandise.

11. Nurseries.—The stock of nurseries, growing and otherwise, in the hands of nurserymen shall be listed and assessed as merchandise. [Id. sec. 7.]

See notes under Arts. 7503-7506, 7527.

Owner.—Who is.—A seller of cattle under an unexecuted contract held liable for taxes assessed before delivery. Edwards v. Irvin (Cliv. App.) 46 S. W. 1026.

County school land sold on an executory contract held to be taxable to the purchaser. Taber v. State, 38 C. A. 335, 85 S. W. 835.

The owner of property on January 1st of any year held personally liable for taxes of that year. C. B. Carwell & Co. v. Habberzettle, 38 C. A. 492, 87 S. W. 911.

A vendor's lien is for the purpose of taxation considered the owner, though a vendor's lien is retained for the price. Harvey v. Provident Inv. Co. (Cliv. App.) 156 S. W. 1127.

Rendering by agent.—Under this article and Art. 7503, notes taken by agents of a foreign corporation selling pianos from a store kept in the state held liable to taxation in the state. Jesse French Piano & Organ Co. v. City of Dallas (Cliv. App.) 61 S. W. 942.

Art. 7510. [5068] Where to be rendered.—All property, real and personal, except such as is required to be listed and assessed otherwise, shall be listed and assessed in the county where it is situated; and all personal property, subject to taxation and temporarily removed from the state or county, shall be listed and assessed in the county of the residence of the owner thereof, or in the county where the principal office of such owner is situated. [Acts 1897, p. 203.]

Place of rendering for assessment.—If one whose pasture lies partly in the county of his residence and partly in an adjacent county renders for taxation his cattle feeding on the pasture and pays taxes thereon in the county of his residence and where the herd feeding in the pasture is controlled, he complies with the statute. Court v. O'Connor, 65 T. 334; Hardesty v. Fleming, 57 T. 400. A property belonging either to a corporation or a natural person, must be assessed and the taxes thereon paid in the county where it is situated, unless such county has not been organized, in which event the assessment must be made and the taxes collected in the county to which it is attached for judicial purposes. Cattle Co. v. Faught, 89 T. 402, 5 S. W. 484.

Personal property, except when otherwise provided, is taxable where the owner resides. Tangible personal property in a town or city is subject to taxation at that place. Intangible personal property, such as credits, are taxable at the place of the residence of the owner. Ferris v. Kimble, 75 T. 476, 15 S. W. 689; Connor v. City of Waxahachie (Sup.) 13 S. W. 30.

Under this article cattle held taxable in the county where being pastured on January 1st, and not in the county where the owner resides. Clumppit v. Johnson, 17 C. A. 381, 42 S. W. 856.

For purpose of taxation the situs of intangible property of a railroad, consisting of franchise, good will, etc., is considered as located wherever its tangible property is distributed. State v. Austin & N. W. R. Co. (Cliv. App.) 69 S. W. 886.

The assessor of one county has no right to assess money of a party which is in a bank of a county other than that in which the assessor resides. Parker v. State, 44 Cr. R. 147, 69 S. W. 76.

When the property is physical in character, it must be taxed in the county where actually situated or located. City of Galveston v. J. M. Guffey Petroleum Co., 51 C. A. 642, 113 S. W. 585.

Art. 7511. [5069] To be rendered in but one county.—Lands lying on county boundaries, which have not been accurately and legally surveyed, determined or fixed, shall not be assessed or taxed in more than one county. [Acts 1879, p. 153. Amend. 1895, No. 104, Sen. Jour., p. 485.]
Art. 7512. [5070] Live stock, when and how rendered.—All persons, companies and corporations owning pastures in this state which lie on county boundaries shall be required to list for assessment all live stock of every kind owned by them in said pastures in the several counties in which such pastures are situated, listing in each county such portion of said stock as the land in such county is of the whole pasture. All persons, companies and corporations owning any kind of live stock in pasture not their own shall list said live stock in the several counties in which such pastures are situated in the same manner; and in both cases the tax upon such live stock shall be paid to the tax collectors of the several counties in which such live stock is listed and assessed. [Acts 1889, p. 29.]

In general.—When a pasture lies partly in two counties, the owner may render the stock in the county of his residence. Court v. O'Connor, 65 T. 234.

Place of taxation of cattle moved and pastured on lands in another county with intent to have them removed to the county of the residence of the owner determined. Clampitt v. Johnson, 17 C. A. 251, 42 S. W. 886.

An assessment of live stock by the assessor of the county of the owner’s residence, made under Art. 7566, held in violation of Const. Art. 8, § 11, where the situs of the stock was fixed in other counties by this article. Cammock v. Matador Land & Cattle Co., 40 C. A. 421, 70 S. W. 496.

In this article the legislature intended to fix the situs of live stock where running on the range in pastures located on the borders of different counties, and the stock must be assessed in each county in such proportion as the land in the county bears to the whole pasture. Id.

Art. 7513. [5071] Taxes not to be paid twice, etc.—Any lands which may have been assessed in any county according to the abstract of land titles, and the taxes paid thereon according to law, shall not be afterwards subject to the payment of taxes for the same period in a different county, although a subsequent survey and determination of the county boundaries may show said lands to be in a different county from that in which they were originally assessed; and any sales of such lands for alleged delinquency shall be illegal and void. [Acts 1879, p. 153, sec. 2.]

Double taxation.—The franchise of a railroad is not taxable as a property separate from its real estate; to so tax it would be double taxation. State v. Austin & N. W. Ry. Co., 94 T. 530, 62 S. W. 1061.

Where a telegraph company has paid taxes on its real and personal property, a taxation of its franchise is double taxation. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. Meerscheidt (Civ. App.) 65 S. W. 381.

An assessment of mineral rights severed from the ownership of the surface held not invalid because the owners of the surface were required to pay the same tax as other owners who had not severed the mineral rights in their land. State v. Downman (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 787.

Remedy to prevent.—As to the remedy to prevent a double assessment, see Rosenberg v. Weekes, 67 T. 578, 4 S. W. 599; Chisholm v. Adams, 71 T. 678, 10 S. W. 336.

Art. 7514. [5072] Vessels, where listed.—All persons, companies and corporations in this state owning steamboats, sailing vessels, wharf boats and other water crafts shall be required to list the same for assessment and taxation in the county in which the same may be enrolled, registered or licensed, or kept when not enrolled, registered or licensed. [Acts 1876, p. 277.]

Jurisdiction to assess.—A city has no jurisdiction to assess for taxation vessels which have acquired an actual situs at another place, although enrolled in the United States customhouse in such city. City of Galveston v. J. M. Giffey Petroleum Co., 51 C. A. 942, 113 S. W. 585.

For the purpose of taxation, vessels may acquire an actual situs, and the place of enrollment and registration is not controlling, if the actual situs is elsewhere. Id. Coasting vessels that have no physical situs, but ply from point to point in the state, are taxable in the county of their owners’ domicile, although they were enrolled in the county of Galveston. State v. Higgins Oil & Fuel Co. (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 618.

Art. 7515. [5073] Railroads, telegraphs, etc.—All railroad, telegraph, plank road and turnpike companies shall list all of their real and personal property, giving the number of miles of roadbed and line in the county where such roadbed and line is situated, at the full and true value, except when such company may own personal property or real estate in an unorganized county or district, then they shall list such property to the comptroller. [Id. sec. 11.]

Valuation of railroad.—See notes under Art. 7524.

Art. 7516. [5074] Listing for others.—Persons required to list property on behalf of others shall list it in the same manner in which they are required to list their own, but they shall list it separately from their own, specifying in each case the name of the person, estate, company or corporation to whom it belongs. [Id. p. 278, sec. 12.]

Art. 7517. [5075] Shall list under oath.—Each person required by law to list property shall make and sign a statement, verified by his oath, as required by law, of all property, both real and personal, in his possession, or under his control, and which he is required to list for taxation, either as owner or holder thereof, or as guardian, parent, husband, trustee, executor, administrator, receiver, accounting officer, partner, agent or factor. [Id. sec. 13.]

Art. 7518. [5076] The statement and its requisites.—Such statement shall truly and distinctly set forth:

1. The name of the owner, and a description sufficient for the identification of any real estate belonging to such owner.
2. The number of acres.
3. The value of the land.
4. The number of the lot or lots.
5. The number of the block.
6. The value of town lots.
7. The name of the city or town.
8. The number of miles of railroad in the county.
9. The value of railroads and appurtenances.
10. Number of miles of telegraph in the county.
11. Value of telegraph and appurtenances in the county.
12. Number and amount of land certificates and value thereof.
13. Number of horses and mules and the value thereof.
14. Number of cattle and the value thereof.
15. Number of jacks and jennets and value thereof.
16. Number of sheep and value thereof.
17. Number of goats and value thereof.
18. Number of hogs and dogs and value thereof.
19. Number of carriages, buggies, wagons, automobiles, bicycles, motor cycles, or other vehicles of whatsoever kind and the value of each one thereof.
20. Number of sewing machines, and knitting machines and value thereof.
21. Number of clocks and watches and value thereof.
22. Number of organs, melodeons, piano fortes, and all other musical instruments of whatsoever kind and value thereof.
23. The value of household and kitchen furniture over and above the amount of two hundred and fifty dollars.
24. Office furniture and the value thereof.
25. The value of gold and silver plate.
26. The value of diamonds and jewelry.
27. Every annuity or royalty, the description and value thereof.
28. Number of steamboats, sailing vessels, wharf boats, barges or other water craft, and the value thereof.
29. The value of goods, wares and merchandise of every description which such person is required to list as a merchant (in hand on the first day of January of each year.)
30. Value of materials and manufactured articles which such person is required to list as a manufacturer.
31. Value of manufacturers' tools, implements and machinery other than boilers and engines, which shall be listed as such.
32. Number of steam engines, including boilers, and the value thereof.
33. Amount of moneys of bank, banker, broker or stock jobber.
34. Amount of credits of bank, banker, broker or stock jobber.
35. Money on hand or on deposit, in or out of the state, with banks, trust companies, corporations, firms or individuals, and subject to order, check or draft, including certificates of deposit.
36. Amount of credits other than of bank, banker, broker or stock jobber.
37. Amount and value of bonds and stocks other than United States bonds.
38. Amount and value of shares of capital stock companies and associations not incorporated by the laws of this state.
39. Value of all property of companies and corporations other than property hereinbefore enumerated.
40. Value of stock and furniture of saloons, hotels and eating houses.
41. Value of every billiard, pigeon hole, bagatelle or other similar tables, together with the number thereof.
42. Every franchise, the description and value thereof.

Application in general.—This article, in prescribing the requisites of an assessment for state and county taxes, does not apply to assessments for city taxes. Eustis v. City of Henrietta, 90 T. 468, 39 S. W. 567.

Assessment in cities.—See notes under Title 22, Chapter 7.

Bank deposits.—Deposit in bank subject to slight check regarded as cash. Campbell v. Wiggins, 60 S. W. 760, 2 C. A. 1.

Intangible corporate assets.—If a company have intangible assets, although it have no real estate, they may be assessed and valued as provided in this article. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Shannon, 100 T. 379, 100 S. W. 145.

Real estate.—Under this article the three essential requirements are the name of the owner, if known, the description of the property, and its value, and hence, where an owner of city lots listed them for assessment as 15 acres of the J. survey, valued at $3,000, and this assessment was not objected to either by the assessor or the board of equalization, and the owner paid taxes levied on such assessment, a subsequent assessment of the property by lots and blocks to unknown owners constituted a double assessment, in violation of Art. 7694, which the city had no right to make. McMickle v. Rochelle (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 74.

Art. 7519. [5077] Certain credits and stocks not to be listed.—No person shall be required to list or render a greater portion of his credits than he believes will be received or can be collected, or to include in his statement as a part of his personal property which is required to be listed any share or portion of the capital stock or property of any company or corporation which is required to list or return its capital and property for taxation. [Id. sec. 14.]

Art. 7520. [5078] Rendition of real estate.—Persons listing or rendering real estate shall make a statement, duly signed and under oath, which shall truly and distinctly set forth:
1. The name of the owner, abstract number, number of survey, the number of the certificate, the name of the original grantee, the number of acres, and the true and full value thereof.
2. The number of the lot and block and the true and full value thereof, together with the name of the town or city.
3. When the name of the original grantee, or abstract number, or number of certificate, or number of survey is unknown, say “unknown,” and give such description so that land or lot can be identified and the true and full value thereof can be determined. [Id. p. 279, sec. 15.]

Art. 7521. [5079] Assessment of personal property by rendition by banker, broker, etc.—Every bank, whether of issue or deposit, banker, broker, dealer in exchange, or stock jobber, shall at the time fixed by this chapter for listing personal property, make out and furnish the assessor of taxes a sworn statement showing:
1. If a national bank, the president or some other officer of such bank shall furnish to the assessor of the county in which such bank is located a list of the names of all the shareholders of the stock, together with the number and amount of the shares of each stockholder of stock in said bank; and the shareholders of the stock in national banks shall render to the tax assessor of the county in which said bank is located the number of their shares and the true and full value thereof. All shares of stocks in national banks not rendered to the assessor of taxes in the county where such bank is located within the time prescribed by law for listing property for taxes shall be assessed by the assessor against the owner or owners thereof as unrendered property is assessed; but the tax roll shall show the name of the owner or owners thereof as per statement furnished by the president or other officers of said bank.

2. National banks shall render all other bonds and stocks of every kind, except United States bonds, and all shares of capital stocks or joint stock or stocks of other companies or corporations held as an investment or in any way representing assets, together with all other personal property belonging or pertaining to said bank, except such personal property as is specially exempted from taxation by the laws of the United States.

3. National banks shall be required to render all of their real estate as other real estate is rendered; and all the personal property of said national banks herein taxed shall be valued as other personal property is valued.

4. All other banks, bankers, brokers or dealers in exchange, or stock jobbers shall render their list in the following manner:
   (1) The amount of money on hand or in transit or in the hands of other banks, bankers, brokers or others subject to draft, whether the same be in or out of the state.
   (2) The amount of bills receivable, discounted or purchased and other credits due or to become due, including accounts receivable, interest accrued but not due, and interest due and unpaid.
   (3) From the aggregate amount of the items named in the first and second of the last two subdivisions shall be deducted the amount of money on deposit.
   (4) The amount of bonds and stocks of every kind, except United States bonds, and all shares of capital stocks or joint stocks of other companies or corporations held as an investment or in any way representing assets.
   (5) All other property belonging or appertaining to said bank or business, including both personal property and real estate, shall be listed as other personal property and real estate. [Acts 1895, p. 37.]

Application of statute in general.—Art. 7521 operates to except incorporated state banks from the provisions of this article in so far as it provides a basis of assessing the personal property of such banks, and provides a means of taxing the personal property of state banking corporations in the hands of the shareholders, so that a state bank as a corporation is not liable for any taxes except those assessed against its real property, and an assessment against such a bank by a city of a personal tax on its stock, surplus, and undivided profits was unauthorized. City of Marshall v. State Bank of Marshall (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1983.

Property subject to taxation.—All the property, both real and personal of a bank chartered under the laws of Texas is subject to taxation. To tax the shares of such a bank, which are but evidence of an interest in property already taxed, would be in effect to impose a double taxation. The fact that the bank fails to render its property for taxation will not authorize an assessor to list for taxation its shares of stock. Gillespie v. Gaston, 67 T. 593, 4 S. W. 248.

In Rev. St. 1879, Art. 4684 (re-enacted with modifications in this article), "the amount of money on deposit" is meant the amount of debt due depositors, and not money belonging to others and held by the bank as bailee. The words "except United States treasury notes" refer to money on hand or in transit, and not to "money in the hands of other banks, bankers or brokers, or others, subject to draft." Griffin v. Heard, 78 T. 607, 14 S. W. 892.

Assessment of bank property.—The real estate of a bank is to be taxed in its own name, and its personal property in the names of its shareholders. Engelke v. Schlenker, 75 T. 659, 12 S. W. 999.
Art. 7522. [5080] Assessment of real estate by banks.—Every banking corporation, state or national, doing business in this state shall, in the city or town in which it is located, render its real estate to the assessor of taxes at the time and in the manner required of individuals. At the time of making such rendition the president or some other officer of said bank shall file with said assessor a sworn statement showing the number and amount of the shares of said bank, the name and residence of each shareholder, and the number and amount of shares owned by him. Every shareholder of said bank shall, in the city or town where said bank is located, render at their actual value to the assessor of taxes all shares owned by him in such bank; and in case of his failure so to do, the assessor shall assess such unrendered shares as other unrendered property. Each share in such bank shall be taxed only for the difference between its actual cash value and the proportionate amount per share at which its real estate is assessed. The taxes due upon the shares of banking corporations shall be a lien thereon, and no banking corporation shall pay any dividend to any shareholder who is in default in the payment of taxes due on his shares; nor shall any banking corporation permit the transfer upon its books of any share, the owner of which is in default in the payment of his taxes upon the same. Nothing herein shall be so construed as to tax national or state banks, or the shareholders thereof, at a greater rate than is assessed against other moneyed capital in the hands of individuals. [Acts 1885, p. 106.]

In general.—The object of this statute was to incorporate in the law of this state the provision of the federal statute for the protection of national banks; adding thereto so much as was necessary to accord the same protection to state banks. Primm v. Fort. 23 C. A. 606, 57 S. W. 86, 972.

This article operates to except incorporated state banks from the provisions of Art. 7521 in so far as that article provides a basis of assessing the personal property of such banks, and provides a means of taxing the personal property of state banking corporations in the hands of the shareholders, so that a state bank as a corporation is not liable for any taxes except those assessed against its real property, and an assessment against such a bank by the city of a personal tax on its stock, surplus, and undivided profits was unauthorized. City of Marshall v. State Bank of Marshall (Civ. App.) 327 S. W. 1088.

Art. 7523. [5081] No deductions in certain cases.—No person, company or corporation shall be entitled to any deduction on account of any bond, note or obligation of any kind given to any mutual insurance company, nor on account of any unpaid subscription to any religious, literary, scientific or charitable institution or society, nor on account of any subscription to or installment payable on the capital stock of any company, whether incorporated or unincorporated. [Acts 1876, p. 280, sec. 17.]

In general.—Under no circumstances can the owners of national bank stock be permitted to deduct their indebtedness from the value of their stock for the purpose of taxation. Primm v. Fort. 23 C. A. 606, 57 S. W. 92, 972.

Art. 7524. [5082] Assessment by railroads.—It shall be the duty of every railroad corporation in this state to deliver a sworn statement, on or before the thirtieth day of April of each year, to the assessor of each county and incorporated city or town, into or through which any part of their road may run or in which they own or are in possession of real estate, a classified list of all real estate owned by or in possession of said company in said county, town or city, specifying:

1. The whole number of acres of land, lot or lots, exclusive of their right of way and depot grounds, owned, possessed or appropriated for their use, with a valuation affixed to the same.

2. The whole length of the railroad and the value thereof per mile, which valuation shall include right of way, roadbed, superstructure, depots and grounds upon which said depots are situated, and all shops and fixtures of every kind used in operating said road.

3. All personal property of whatsoever kind or character, except the rolling stock belonging to the company or in their possession in each respective county, listing and describing the said personal prop-

TAXATION

Property in the same manner as is now required of citizens of this state. [Acts 1909, p. 373.]

Intangible personal property.—The value of a railroad is not the mere value of its right, privileges, immunities, good will, contracts, and franchises to do and carry on its business at a lump sum, is invalid. Each specific article of property must be valued by itself. There is no law for assessing the railroad by the vague description of rights, privileges, immunities, good will, contracts, and franchises, as the property of any individual or corporation. 1d.

Manner of assessing railroad.—A railroad is assessed as an entirety, and not as so many distinct miles of road or distinct parts of the surveys over which it passes. State v. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co., 43 C. A. 535, 96 S. W. 70.

Art. 7525.
[5083]

It shall be the duty of every railroad corporation in this state to deliver a sworn statement, on or before the first day of April in each year, to the assessor of the county in which its principal office is situated, setting forth the true and full value of the rolling stock of said railroad, together with the names of all the counties through which it runs, and the number of miles of roadbed in each of said counties; and said statement shall be submitted to the board of equalization of the county in which its principal office is situated for review, as is provided by article 7564 of this Code, and the other laws of this state, in respect to boards of equalization, on the first Monday in June in each year, or as soon thereafter as practicable; and such board shall certify such final valuation when made without delay to the comptroller of public accounts, who shall proceed at once to apportion the amount of such valuation among the said counties in proportion to the distance such roads shall run through any such county, and shall certify such apportionment to the assessors of such counties, and the same shall constitute part of the tax assets of such counties; and the assessor of each of said counties shall list and enter the same upon the rolls for taxation as other personal property situated in said county. And said railroad corporation shall also report in a separate sworn statement all rolling stock operated by it, under rental, hire, lease, or other form of contract, which it does not render for taxation, giving the true and full value of such rolling stock and the amount paid or promised to be paid for rental, hire, lease or use under other form of contract, together with the name of person, firm, corporation or association owning such rolling stock, and together with the postoffice address of such person or firm, or if it be a corporation or association, then the city, county and state of its principal office; and if from said statement it appear that said rolling stock belongs to any person residing in the state of Texas, or to any firm doing business in the state of Texas, or to any corporation or association organized under the laws of the state of Texas, then said statement shall be certified by the tax assessor to whom it is made to the tax assessor of the county in which such person lives, or such firm does business, or such corporation or association has its principal office; and said statement shall be, by the tax assessor to whom it is certified, submitted to the board of equalization of the county for review, and the same shall be equalized by the board of equalization of such county, and certified to the comptroller, and apportioned by the comptroller in the same manner as other rolling stock is certified and apportioned under the preceding provisions of this article; and, if it appears from said statement that the person, firm, corporation or association owning such rolling stock is a non-resident of the state of Texas, then said statement shall be submitted to the board of equalization of the county in which the principal office of the railroad company using the same under rental, hire, lease or other form of contract is situated, which statement shall be reviewed by said board of equalization, and said property assessed against the owner, and certified to the comptroller, and the valuation of said property assessed against the owner, and certified to the comptroller, and the valuation.
apportioned against said owner by the comptroller in the same manner as rolling stock belonging to the railroad corporation furnishing the list. [Acts 1885, p. 30. Amended Acts 1907, p. 192.]

In general.—Under this article and Art. 939, and Const. art. 8, §§ 5, 8, a city containing the principal office of a railroad company was not, for that reason, authorized to levy municipal taxes on all the railroad's rolling stock, or on a small portion of which would necessarily be within the city on the last day of January of each year; the term "lying or being within the limits of any city or incorporated town," etc., when applied to tangible movable property, meaning only such property as is actually and physically within the limits of the city. City of Tyler v. Coker (Civ. App.) 124 E. W. 729.

Art. 7526. [5084] Assessments and collections of corporate property.—All property of private corporations, except in cases where some other provision is made by law, shall be assessed in the name of the corporation; and in collecting the taxes on the same the personal property of such corporation shall be liable to be seized whenever the same may be found in the county, and sold in the same manner as the property of individuals may be sold for taxes. All statements and lists made by corporations that are required to be sworn to shall be verified by the affidavit and signature of the secretary of said corporation, and, if they have no secretary, the officer who discharges the duties of secretary of said corporation. [Acts 1876, p. 280, secs. 20, 21.]

Art. 7527. [5085] Assessments in owner's name.—All real property subject to taxation shall be assessed to the owners thereof in the manner herein provided; but no assessment of real property shall be considered illegal by reason of the same not being listed or assessed in the name of the owner or owners thereof. [Id. sec. 21.]

In general.—Where the name of the owner was unknown, the act of 1848 required lands to be assessed by a description thereof, one of the essential particulars of which was the name of the grantee. Yenda v. Wheeler, 9 T. 408.

See what is said in this case as to land being taxed in the name of the present owner instead of in the name of the original grantee. Pitts v. Booth, 15 T. 453.

When there is an abstract number, the name of original grantee, number of acres and value, and there being no certificate or survey number, a mistake in the name of the owner will not affect the tax lien on the land. Taber v. State, 33 C. A. 255, 85 S. W. 835.

Art. 7528. [5086] Lien for taxes.—All taxes upon real property shall be a lien upon such property until the same shall have been paid. And should the assessor fail to assess any real estate for any one or more years, the lien shall be good for every year that he should fail to assess for; and he may, in listing property for taxes any year thereafter, assess all the back taxes due thereon, according to the provisions of this title. [Id. sec. 22.]

Liens.—Taxes assessed against a homestead are a lien thereon, and it may be sold therefor, notwithstanding Const. art. 16, § 50, protecting the homestead against forced sale, and prohibiting that no mortgage, deed of trust, or other lien on the homestead shall be valid; the words "other lien" including only those created by contract. City of San Antonio v. Toepferwein, 104 T. 42, 133 S. W. 416.

Foreclosure.—Under this article and Art. 5843, and Const. art. 8, § 15, where defendants, in adverse possession of certain land, had not been in possession for the 10 years required to confer title when the state instituted suit to foreclose its lien for unpaid taxes, so that they were not proper parties to such action, they were still bound by the judgment, though not served with notice, as provided by Art. 7685, and hence were not entitled to hold the land as against the purchaser from the state and those claiming under him. Patton v. Minor, 108 T. 176, 125 S. W. 6.

Art. 7529. [5087] Leasehold interests in public lands.—Property held under a lease for a term of three years or more, or held under a contract for the purchase thereof, belonging to this state, or that is exempt by law from taxation in the hands of the owner thereof, shall be considered for all the purposes of taxation, as the property of the person so holding the same, except as otherwise specially provided by law. Timber held by persons or corporations, heretofore or hereafter purchased from the state under the various laws for that purpose, shall likewise be subject to assessment for taxes, and the value thereof for taxation shall be ascertained as the value of other property is ascertained. And, should the owner of such timber fail or refuse to pay the taxes assessed against it, the same shall be sold for the taxes thereon, as provided in this title for the sale of personal property for taxes, provided the same can be found by the collector; but, if the timber cannot be found, then the collector shall collect the taxes due as the taxes on other personal property are collected; provided, further, that the commissioner of the general land office shall furnish by the first of January each year to the various commissioners' courts and the tax assessors of the state of Texas a full and complete list of all timber sold by the state belonging to the school funds, giving the number of acres, price and to whom sold, in the respective counties where the timber so sold is situated. In case of the sale of such timber for taxes as herein provided, the purchaser shall take and hold the same under the same terms and conditions as the original purchaser thereof from the state.  [Acts 1905, p. 72.]

In general.—School lands leased for a term of years cannot be assessed against the lessee at the value of the land, but only at the value of the leasehold determined as provided by Art. 7530. Daugherty v. Thompson, 71 T. 192, 9 S. W. 99.

The lessee for a term of years of city water-works is liable for taxes on the value of the leasehold interest, and not on the value of the property leased. State v. Taylor, 72 T. 297, 12 S. W. 176.

A lease in which the state reserves the right to sell and thereby terminate the lease at any time is not such title as contemplated in this article. See Art. 7503. Trammell v. Faught, 74 T. 557, 12 S. W. 317.

The timber growing upon county lands after it has been sold is taxable as well as timber purchased from the state and growing upon public lands of the state. Montgomery v. Peach River Lumber Co., 54 C. A. 143, 117 S. W. 1063.

Art. 7530. [5088] Valuation of property for taxation.—Each separate parcel of real property shall be valued at its true and full value in money, excluding the value of crops growing or ungathered thereon.

In determining the true and full value of real and personal property, the assessor shall not adopt a lower or different standard of value because the same is to serve as a basis of taxation, nor shall he adopt as a criterion of value the price for which such property would sell at auction or a forced sale, or in the aggregate with all the property in his county; but he shall value each tract or lot by itself, and at such sum and price as he believes the same to be fairly worth in money at the time such assessment is made.

In valuing any real property on which there is a coal or other mine, or stone or other quarry, or springs possessing medicinal properties, the same shall be valued at such a price as such property, including a mine or quarry or spring, would probably sell at a fair voluntary sale for cash.

Taxable leasehold estates shall be valued at such a price as they would bring at a fair voluntary sale for cash.

Personal property of every description shall be valued at its true and full value in money.

Money, whether in possession or on deposit, or in the hands of any member of the family, or any other person whatsoever, shall be entered in the statement at the full amount thereof.

Every credit for a sum certain, payable either in money or property, of any kind, shall be valued at the full value of the same so payable. If for a specified article or for a specified number or quantity of property of any kind, it shall be valued at the current price of such property at the place where payable. Annuities or moneys payable at stated periods shall be valued at the price that the person listing the same believes them to be worth in money.  [Id. sec. 24.]

Definitions.—"Cash market value."—Where in a suit to restrain the collection of taxes on bank stock, because assessed at a higher rate than other property in the county, the evidence showed that land had a market value in the county and what it was, an instruction that the true cash market value of a commodity such as bank stock or land in the amount of cash upon its equivalent for which the commodity can be bought or sold in due course of trade was not objectionable for failing to make a distinction between cash market value and the real or intrinsic value of property, since the law contemplates that all property shall be taxed according to its reasonable market value, where it has a market value. Porter v. Langley (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1942.

Valuation of property for taxation.—The general rule is that the owner of real estate leased is taxed upon the entire value of the property. This satisfies the constitutional requirement that all property in this state, whether owned by natural persons or corporations other than municipal, shall be taxed according to its value. Daugherty v. Thompson, 71 T. 192, 9 S. W. 99.

When a leasehold is taxed its value should be deducted from the taxable interest of the owner. Id.
The legality of an assessment of a tax on the property of a national bank which does not exceed its true value is not affected by the custom of the assessor to assess other property at a uniform valuation less than its true value. Engelke v. Schlenker, 76 T. 569, 12 S. W. 965.
A bank may accumulate United States treasury notes over its counter and such sum be exempt from taxation; otherwise if the treasury notes had been procured for the special purpose of avoiding taxation by the exchange of taxable money or property. Griffin v. Heard, 78 T. 607, 14 S. W. 892. See Arts. 7521, 7527.
Deposit in bank subject to sight check is cash, and as such is not subject to set-off by the liabilities of the taxpayer. Campbell v. Wiggins, 2 C. A. 1, 20 S. W. 720.
Under this article, the several tracts owned by a property owner should be assessed separately, and not as a whole. Luftkin Land & Lumber Co. v. Noble (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 1093.

Art. 7531. [5088a] United States paper money taxable.—Circulating notes of national banking associations and United States legal tender notes and other notes and certificates of the United States, payable on demand and circulating or intended to circulate as currency, and gold, silver and other coin, shall be hereafter subject to taxation as money on hand or in deposit, under the laws of this state. [Acts 1895, p. 49.]
Former law.—Legal tender notes and United States bonds of a corporation or an individual are not taxable. Rosenberg v. Weekes, 67 T. 578, 14 S. W. 895.

Art. 7532. [5088b] Assessed as money on hand.—The assessor of taxes shall assess the same in the same manner as money on hand or on deposit or other personal property, as provided for in the general assessment laws of this state. [Id.]

Article 7533. [5089] Election and term of assessor.—There shall be elected the qualified electors of each county within this state, at the same time and under the same law regulating the election of state and county officers, an assessor of taxes, who shall hold his office for two years, and until his successor is elected and qualified. [Const., art. 8, sec. 14. Act Aug. 21, 1876, p. 265, sec. 1.]

Assessment for taxes by cities.—See notes under Title 22, Chapter 7.
Assessment of benefits for drainage.—See notes under Title 47.
Assessment for taxes for improvement districts.—See Title 83, Chapter 2.
Assessment for taxes for construction of sea walls.—See Title 83, Chapter 3.
Assessment in irrigation district.—See Title 73, Chapter 3.
Assessment for taxes for navigation districts.—See Title 96.

Art. 7534. [5090] Vacancies, how filled.—In case of a vacancy in the office of assessor of taxes, the same shall be filled by the county commissioners' court for the unexpired term only, and until the election and qualification of an assessor at the succeeding general election; and the person appointed to fill such vacancy shall qualify in the same manner as is prescribed by law for assessors of taxes, and shall have all the rights and perform all the duties required by law of the assessor elected.

Art. 7535. [5091] Oath and bond.—Every assessor of taxes, within twenty days after he shall have received notice of his election or appointment, and before entering upon the duties of his office, shall execute a bond, payable to the governor and his successors in office, in a sum which shall be equal to one-fourth the amount of the state tax of the county, as shown by the last preceding assessment, but not to exceed ten thousand dollars, with at least three good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the commissioners' court of his county, conditioned that he will faithfully discharge all the duties of said office; and shall take and subscribe the oath prescribed by the constitution, which oath, together with said bond, shall be recorded in the office of the clerk of the county court of said county, and be forwarded by the county judge of the county to the comptroller, to be deposited in his office. [Id. p. 266, sec. 2.]

Art. 7536. [5092] Purview of the bond.—Said bond shall be deemed to extend to the faithful performance of the duties of his office as assessor of taxes for and during the full term for which he was elected or appointed, and shall not become void upon the first recovery, but suit may be maintained thereon until the whole amount thereof be recovered. [Id.]

Art. 7537. [5093] New bond.—Assessors of taxes may be required to furnish a new bond and additional security whenever, in the opinion of the commissioners' court, it may be advisable; and, should any assessor of taxes fail to give a new bond and additional security when required, he shall be suspended from the further discharge of his duties by the commissioners' court of his county, and be removed from office in the mode prescribed by law for the removal of county officers. [Id.]

Art. 7538. [5094] Bond for county taxes.—The assessor of taxes shall give a like bond with like conditions to the county judges of their respective counties and their successors in office, in a sum not less than one-fourth of the amount of the county tax of the county, as shown by the last preceding assessment, but not to exceed five thousand dollars, with at least three good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the commissioners' court of his county; which bond shall be recorded and deposited in the county clerk's office of the county. A new bond and additional security may be required, and the assessor of taxes may be removed from office for a failure to furnish a new bond or additional security in the manner prescribed by law. [Id. sec. 3]

Art. 7539. [5095] May appoint deputies.—Each assessor of taxes may appoint one or more deputies to assist him in the assessment of taxes, and may require such bond and security from the person so appointed as he deems necessary for his indemnity; and the assessor of taxes shall in all cases be liable and accountable for the proceedings and misconduct of his deputies. [Id. p. 267, sec. 7]

Art. 7540. [5096] Authority of deputies.—The deputies appointed in accordance with the provisions of the preceding article shall do and perform all the duties imposed and required by law of assessors of taxes; and all acts of such deputies done in conformity with law shall be as binding and valid as if done by the assessor of taxes in person. [Id. sec. 8]

Authority of de facto deputy assessors.—The acts of de facto deputy assessors, in raising the valuation of property listed for taxes, are not rendered invalid because they may have been legally disqualified from acting as deputies by reason of their holding other offices. T. & P. R. R. Co. v. Harrison County, 54 T. 119.

Art. 7541. [5097] May administer oaths.—Assessors of taxes are hereby authorized and empowered to administer all oaths necessary to obtain a full, complete assessment of all taxable property situated in their respective counties. [Id. p. 266, sec. 4]

Art. 7542. [5098] The oath.—The assessor of taxes shall also require each person rendering a list of taxable property to him for taxation, under the assessment laws, to subscribe to the following oath or affirmation, which shall be written or printed at the bottom of each inventory, to-wit: “I, ........ .........., (filling the blank with the name of the person subscribing) do solemnly swear (or affirm) that the above inventory rendered by me contains a full, true and complete list of all taxable property owned or held by me in my own name (or for others, as the case may be, naming the person or firm for whom he rendered the list) in this county, subject to taxation in this county, and personal property not in this county subject to taxation in this county by the laws of this state, on the first day of January, A. D. 19.. (filling the blank with the year), and that I have true answers made to all questions propounded to me touching the same. So help me God.” [Id. p. 267, sec. 5. Amended Acts 1897, p. 204.]

Administering oath.—It is the imperative duty, under penalty of a fine, for the assessor to administer the oath as contained in this article after the property has been rendered according to the other provisions of the law on taxation. Parker v. State, 44 Cr. R. 147, 69 S. W. 78.
To predicate perjury on this article, it should be alleged in the indictment that the oath was administered setting out the oath and the evidence should establish the allegations of the indictment. Id.

Under this article and Arts. 7547, 7576, 7677, tax rolls are to be made up from lists by the assessors made out from information furnished by the property owners. Lofton v. Miller, 55 C. A. 253, 118 S. W. 911.

Art. 7543. [5099] Where and how the oath may be made.—The owner or agent who is required under the laws of this state to render any property for taxation may render the same in the county where the same is situated by listing the same and making oath thereto, as required in this title, before any officer authorized to administer oaths in this state, or any officer out of this state that is authorized by law to take acknowledgments of instruments for record in this state, and may forward the same to the assessor of the county by mail or otherwise, and the assessor shall enter the said property on his tax rolls. If the assessor is satisfied with the valuation as rendered in said list, he shall so enter the same; if he is not satisfied with the valuation, he shall refer the same to the board of equalization of the county for their action, and shall immediately notify, by mail or otherwise, the person from whom he received said list that he has referred said valuation to the board of equalization. [Acts 1876, p. 267, sec. 5.]

Art. 7544. [5100] Penalty for failure to attest oath, etc.—The assessor of taxes, for every failure or neglect to administer the oath or affirmation prescribed in article 5098 to each person rendering a list of taxable property to him, unless the person refuses to qualify, shall forfeit fifty dollars, to be deducted out of his commissions upon full and satisfactory information furnished the county judge; and for each and every failure or neglect to attest the oath subscribed to as provided in said article, shall forfeit the sum of fifty dollars upon satisfactory information furnished the county judge. The forfeitures imposed by this article shall be deducted from the assessor’s commissions on the assessment for county taxes. [Id. sec. 6.]

Art. 7545. [5101] Fraud upon the public revenue.—Any evasion by means of artifice or temporary or fictitious sale, exchange or pretended transfer upon any bank books, of gold and silver coin, bank notes or other notes or bonds subject to taxation under the laws of this state for United States nontaxable treasury notes or any notes or bonds not so subject to taxation, and any such pretended sale, exchange or transferral not made in good faith, and by actual exchange and delivery of the funds so sold, exchanged or transferred and made only by entry on bank books, or by any express or implied understanding not to immediately make a bona fide and permanent sale, shall be deemed prima facie to be a fraud upon the public revenue of this state. [Acts 1891, p. 39, sec. 1.]

Art. 7546. [5102] Taxpayer to make oath.—All assessors of taxes in this state shall require all taxpayers when assessed by them to make oath as to any such sale, exchange or transfer made by them on the first day of January or within sixty days before said first day of January of any year for which any such assessment is made, as to the good faith and bona fide business transaction of any such sale, exchange or transfer, as above set forth, if any such should have been made by them; and, if it should be disclosed that any such pretended sale, exchange or transfer has been made for the purpose of evading taxation, then and in that event the assessor shall list and render against such person the coin, bank notes or other notes or bonds subject to taxation under the laws of this state; provided, that if any person shall make a false afdavit as to any of the foregoing facts he shall be deemed guilty of perjury and be punished as is now provided by law. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7547. [5103] When assessments to be made.—Assessors of taxes shall, between the first day of January and the thirtieth day of April of each year, proceed to take a list of taxable property, real and personal, in his county and assess the value thereof in the manner following, to-wit: By calling upon the person, or by calling at the office, place of business or the residence of the person and listing the property required by law in his name, and requiring such person to make a statement under oath as prescribed by article 7542, of such property in the 1909, p. 373.]

In general.—Under this article and Arts. 7542, 7547, 7576, 7577, tax rolls are to be made up from lists by the assessors, made out from information furnished by the prop-

Art. 7548. [5104] Irregular assessments valid.—Should any property be listed or assessed for taxation after the thirtieth day of April of any year, or should the assessor of taxes or his deputy fail to administer the requisite oath or attest the same in the mode prescribed by law, or should the party rendering property for taxation fail to subscribe to the list, yet the assessment shall, nevertheless, be as valid and binding to all intents and purposes as if made in strict pursuance of law. [Id.]

Art. 7549. [5105] If taxpayer is absent, etc.—If any person, who is required by this title to list property, shall be sick or absent when the assessor calls for a list of his property, the assessor shall leave at the office, or usual place of residence or business of such person, a written or printed notice requiring such person to meet him and render a list of his property at such time and place as the assessor of taxa may designate in said notice. The assessor of taxes shall carefully note in a book the date of leaving such notice. [Id. p. 268, sec. 10.]

Art. 7550. [5106] Or refuses to list.—In every case where any person whose duty it is to list any property for taxation has refused or neglected to list the same when called on for that purpose by the assessor of taxes, or has refused to subscribe to the oath in regard to the truth of his statement of property, or any part thereof, when required by the assessor of taxes, the assessor shall note in a book the name of such person who refused to list or to swear; and in every case where any person required to list property for taxation has been absent or unable from sickness to list the same, the assessor of taxes shall note in a book such fact together with the name of such person. [Id. sec. 11.]

Art. 7551. [5107] Duty of assessor in such cases.—In all cases of failure to obtain a statement of real and personal property from any cause, it shall be the duty of the assessor of taxes to ascertain the amount and value of such property and assess the same as he believes to be the true and full value thereof; and such assessment shall be as valid and binding as if such property had been rendered by the proper owner thereof. [Id. sec. 12.]

Art. 7552. [5108] Commissioner of general land office to furnish abstracts to assessors.—The commissioner of the general land office shall furnish to each assessor of taxes in this state a correct abstract of all the surveys of land and number of acres therein in their respective counties; and on the first day of January of each year said commissioner of the general land office shall furnish said assessors an additional list of all new valid surveys in his county during the year; provided, that, in case the records of the land office do not show the quantity of acres in a survey, the surveyor of the district shall furnish said assessor a certified statement of the number of acres therein. [Acts 1879, p. 24.]

Art. 7553. [5109] Books to be furnished assessors; how to be filled by assessors.—The commissioners' courts of each county in this state shall procure and furnish the assessor of said county three well-bound books of not less than six hundred and forty pages each, and an index book for same, and such other stationery as may be necessary; said books to be of the best material and make, and shall have printed headings as per following form: [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7554. [5110] How to be filled by assessor.—The blanks to be filled by the assessor with the abstract number, name of party to whom the certificate was issued, the number, class and character of the certificate, the name of the party to whom the patent issued, number of volume of patent, the month, day and year it was issued, and the number of acres each survey contains; which whole survey shall stand as a debit against the assessor. [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7555. [5111] Blocks and lots in cities.—Each assessor shall be required to make an abstract of all the blocks or subdivisions of each of the cities or towns or villages of his county, in a book or books of at least four hundred and eighty pages each, to be furnished him by the commissioners' court of his county for that purpose, with an index book to the same, which said book or books shall have a blank space for a diagram or plot of each block or subdivision, giving the number of the lots as per form following:

And the said assessor shall draw a plot of each block in the blank space left for that purpose, giving the number of each lot. And the whole of said block or subdivision shall be a debit against the assessor. [Id. sec. 3.]

Object of provision.—The purpose of this article and of Art. 7562 is to cause property to be so described by the assessor as to identify it. Haynes v. State, 44 C. A. 492, 99 S. W. 408.

Description of property.—The lots of land must be definitely and distinctly described, and parol proof cannot supply the deficiency in the description or boundaries. These must be ascertained from what is written. The question is not one of intention, but of fact. What did the assessor do? On what specific lot was the tax laid? These questions must be answered from the record. House v. Stone, 64 T. 677.

Where two lots belong to one owner and form one parcel of land, they may be assessed for taxation together, in the absence of any constitutional or statutory provision to the contrary. Guerguin v. City of San Antonio, 19 C. A. 98, 80 S. W. 140.

Where there was only one location of land in the county for a certain volunteer, and that of a tract of 299 acres, a description of the tract on the tax roll as his location of 320 acres, the tract being otherwise identified, was sufficient. Barrett v. Spence, 28 C. A. 344, 67 S. W. 921.

Tax assessment held not invalid because stating that tract contained less number of acres than it did in fact. Kenson v. Gage, 34 C. A. 547, 79 S. W. 665.

Where assessor adopted rendition by state treasurer of property for taxation, he made such rendition his assessment, and it sufficiently complied with the law. State v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 35 C. A. 214, 80 S. W. 544.

Where the land is sufficiently identified therein, the assessment for taxation is valid, though it contains no certificate or survey number. Taber v. State, 38 C. A. 255, 85 S. W. 586.

Unless the several lots of a taxpayer are used together for one purpose and as one piece of property, he is entitled to have each lot assessed separately. City of Houston v. Stewart, 40 C. A. 495, 90 S. W. 42.

But a taxpayer held not entitled to complain of the assessment of several lots in bulk. Id. A description in tax roll as "owner unknown, abstract No. — , certificate No. — , survey No. — ; original grantee, — ; acres in grant, — ; city or town of Dallas; number of lot, 4; number of block, L; value, $100; Cockrell's Fairland Addition"—is sufficient. Haynes v. State, 44 C. A. 492, 99 S. W. 405.

An assessment held to sufficiently describe the property sought to be assessed. Slaughter v. City of Dallas (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 218.

No more particularity of description of property is required in a tax assessment than in a conveyance or a partition decree. Slaughter v. City of Dallas, 101 T. 315, 107 S. W. 48.

An assessment of a city lot held invalid for uncertainty of description. Id. The rigid observance of statutory requirements respecting the description of property listed for taxation by an assessor, does not apply to lists filed by the property owner. McMickle v. Rochelle (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 74.

Sufficiency of description as against purchaser.—An assessment of real estate which sufficiently describes the property as against the owner is sufficient as against a subsequent purchaser. Slaughter v. City of Dallas (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 218.

Misdescription of property as ground for injunctive relief against tax.—See notes under Art. 4643.

Art. 7556. [5112] Duties of assessor as to same.—Each assessor in this state, when he shall have made the assessment of his county for each year, shall, on the first day of June of each year, or as soon thereafter as practicable, carry from each person's assessment the number of acres and its value on each survey of lands, lots or blocks to that particular survey, lot or block found on the abstract books provided in articles 5110, 5111 and 5119 [7554, 7555 and 7563]; and that all the parts of each survey or block placed on said abstract books shall be a credit to the assessor on that particular survey. And said assessor shall deduct the total number of acres rendered on each survey or block from the total number of acres of the whole survey or block as is shown by said abstract; and, if any part is left unrendered, then he shall assess the same to the owner or owners thereof, if known, and, if unknown, then to "unknown owners," and the value thereof shall be affixed by him, sanctioned by the board of equalization; provided, that the owner or owners of any survey and grant of land may show by a survey, to be made by the county surveyor of the county, that the survey and grant in which they are interested does not contain the full complement of acres, showing how many acres are in fact embraced within the calls of the particular survey and grant. [Id. sec. 4.]

Art. 7557. [5113] To be kept in office.—The assessor's abstracts shall be kept in his office at the county seat of his county, as records of his office, and shall be at all times subject to the inspection of the public. The index book shall show the original grantee, the number of acres, the abstract number, and the volume and page in which each survey is placed. [Id. sec. 5.]

Art. 7558. [5114] Lands not on abstract to be placed there.—Should there be any survey of lands, lots or blocks not on the abstract book or books which are by law subject to taxation, the assessor shall enter such lands, lots or blocks on the assessment list as though the same appeared on said abstract books. [Id. sec. 6.]

Art. 7559. [5115] Certificate from board of equalization.—Each assessor of taxes shall procure from the board of equalization of his county a certificate that all the surveys and parts of surveys of lands in his county, and all the lots and blocks of the cities and towns of his county, are rendered for taxation; which certificate shall be forwarded to the comptroller of this state before he shall issue to said assessor a draft on the tax collector of his county. And the same rule shall apply to the commissioners' court before they issue drafts on the county treasurer for his pay for assessing the county taxes. [Id. sec. 7.]

Art. 7560. [5116] Substitute to be employed if assessor fails.—The board of equalization or the county commissioners' court shall, if the assessor fails to perform the duties required by this chapter within a reasonable time, employ some other competent person to have the requirements of this law carried out, and the compensation therefor shall be deducted from the assessor's pay for that year. [Id. sec. 8.]

Art. 7561. [5117] Unorganized counties.—The comptroller of this state shall be required to have this law carried out in the unorganized counties of this state, where lands are located. [Id. sec. 9.]

Art. 7562. [5118] Manner and form of assessing.—The manner and form for assessing property for taxation shall be substantially as follows, to-wit:

1. The name of the owner.
2. Abstract number.
3. From whom and how acquired.
4. The name of the original grantee.
5. The number of acres.
6. The value of the land.
7. The number of the lot or lots.
8. The number of the block.
10. The name of the city or town.
11. Number of miles of railroad in the county.
12. The value of railroads and appurtenances, including the proportionate amount of rolling stock to the county after the assessment of such rolling stock and its apportionment among the several counties by the comptroller as hereinafter provided.
13. Number of miles of telegraph in the county.
15. Number and amount of land certificates, and value thereof.
16. Number of horses and mules and value thereof.
17. Number of cattle and value thereof.
18. Number of jacks and jennets, and value thereof.
19. Number of sheep and value thereof.
20. Number of goats and value thereof.
21. Number of hogs and value thereof.
22. Number of carriages, bicycles or tricycles, buggies or wagons of whatsoever kind and value thereof.
23. Number of sewing machines and knitting machines and the value thereof.
24. Number of clocks and watches and the value thereof.
25. Number of organs, melodeons, piano fortes, and all other musical instruments of whatsoever kind and value thereof.
26. The value of household and kitchen furniture over and above the amount of two hundred and fifty dollars.
27. Office furniture and the value thereof.
28. The value of gold and silver plate.
29. The value of diamonds and jewelry.
30. Every annuity or royalty, the description and value thereof.
31. Number of steamboats, sailing vessels, wharves, boats, barges, or other water craft, and the value thereof.
32. The value of goods and merchandise of every description which such person is required to list as a merchant in hand on the first day of January of each year.
33. The value of material and manufactured articles which such person is required to list as a manufacturer.
34. The value of manufactures, tools, implements and machinery other than boilers and engines, which shall be listed as such.
35. Number of steam engines and boilers and value thereof.
36. The amount of moneys of bank, banker, broker, stock jobber or any other person.
The amount of solvent credits of bank, banker, broker, stock jobber or any other person.

The amount and value of bonds and stocks other than United States bonds.

The amount and value of shares of capital stock companies and associations not incorporated by the laws of this state.

The value of property of companies and corporations other than property hereinbefore enumerated.

The value of stock and furniture of saloons, hotels and eating houses.

The value of every billiard, pigeon hole, bagatelle, and other similar table, together with the number thereof.

Every franchise, the description and value thereof.

The value of all other property not enumerated as above. [Acts 1895, p. 38.]

Delegation of power to make assessment.—The assessment of taxes is a quasi judicial act which the comptroller may not delegate to a clerk, and, where an assessment for taxation is made by a clerk, a tax sale is void. Morrow v. Conoway (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 490.

Name of owner.—In assessing property for taxation the name of the owner must be given. Connell v. State (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 981.

Franchises.—The franchises of a railroad appurtenant to the use of its property are a part of its real estate and not subject to a separate tax. State v. Austin & N. W. R. Co., 94 T. 530, 62 S. W. 1050.

The description on the assessment roll of a city, “The • • Company franchise,” is not sufficient. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. City of San Antonio, 32 C. A. 101, 73 S. W. 899.

Valuation.—The primary meaning of figures in the columns of tax rolls set apart for values held to be dollars, where there was nothing to show what they denoted. Conklin v. City of El Paso (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 879.

Art. 7563. [5119] Assessment of property not rendered.—If the assessor of taxes discovers any real property in his county subject to taxation which has not been listed to him, he shall list and assess such property in the manner following, to wit:

1. The name of the owner; if unknown, say “unknown.”
2. Abstract number and number of certificate.
3. Number of the survey.
4. Name of the original grantee.
5. Number of acres.
6. The true and full value thereof.
7. The number of lot or lots.
8. The number of the block.
9. The true and full value thereof.
10. The name of the city or town, and give such other description of the lot or lots or parcels of land as may be necessary to better describe the same; and such assessment shall be as valid as if rendered by the owner thereof. [Acts 1876, p. 269, sec. 14.]

In general.—The authority for the officer’s making the assessment is that the property has not been listed to him as declared in the statute, and the assessment should show in some appropriate manner that it was done by the assessor in accordance with such authority, and that the assessment thus made was of property within the category of such as was thus subject to taxation and had accordingly been assessed by him.

House v. Stone, 64 T. 677.

Any requisite of this article need not be complied with, where good cause is shown for such noncompliance. State v. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co., 43 C. A. 533, 96 S. W. 70.

The purpose of this article and Art. 7555 is to cause the property to be so described by the assessor as that it can be identified. The latter has reference more particularly to personal property and should not be made to control over this article in assessing property which has been laid out into lots and blocks and made an addition to a city or town. It is sufficient if the description in the tax rolls taken in connection with the map addition is enough to identify the property on the ground. Haynes v. State, 44 C. A. 492, 99 S. W. 406.
Name of owner.—The listing of the property on the tax rolls under a wrong name and omitting to give the survey number are fatal to the assessment and render the tax sale void. Pfueffer v. Bodies, 42 C. A. 55, 93 S. W. 222.

Description of property.—The lots into which town or city blocks are subdivided are generally regarded as separate and distinct tracts or parcels of land, as much so as separate and distinct though adjoining surveys or grants in the country; and each lot should be separately assessed. State v. Baker, 49 T. 763.

The failure of an assessor in listing property for taxation to give the survey number of the grant as required by this article renders subsequent proceedings to enforce collection of the tax illegal, unless good cause can be shown why the requirement of the statute in this regard was not complied with. It would be a sufficient description, when an entire survey is assessed, to give the owner’s name if known, or to state that it is unimproved, the abstract number of original grantee and number of acres; but when only a portion of a survey is assessed, some further description is necessary in order to identify the particular portion assessed. Morgan v. Smith, 70 T. 637, 8 S. W. 528.

The assessment rolls are defective if they fail to give either the certificate or survey number of the tract, and no good reasons are shown why they were not given. State v. Farmer (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 86.

When there are two tracts of land containing the same number of acres and having the same original grantee, the abstract number is not a sufficient description for the purpose of assessment. State v. Farmer, 94 T. 232, 59 S. W. 543, affirming (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 84.

This article simply requires that the number of miles of roadbed in the county and the full and true value thereof be given. The assessor could not be required to give a more particular description of the property in listing it for back taxes than the owner was required to give in rendering the same. State v. St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co., 43 C. A. 533, 26 S. W. 70.

Art. 7564. [5120] Boards of equalization.—The commissioners’ courts of the several counties of this state shall convene and sit as boards of equalization on the second Monday in May of each year, or as soon thereafter as practicable before the first day of June, to receive all the assessment lists or books of the assessors of their counties for inspection, correction or equalization and approval.

1. They shall cause the assessor to bring before them at such meeting all said assessment lists, books, etc., for inspection, and see that every person has rendered his property at a fair market value, and shall have power to send for persons, books and papers, swear and qualify persons, to ascertain the value of such property, and to lower or raise the value on the same.

2. They shall have power to correct errors in assessments.

3. They shall equalize improved lands in three classes, first-class to embrace the better quality of land and improvements, the second class to embrace the second quality of lands and improvements, and the third-class to embrace lands of but small or inferior improvements. The unimproved lands shall embrace first, second and third class, and all other property made as nearly uniform as possible.

4. After they have inspected and equalized as nearly as possible, they shall approve said lists or books and return same to the assessors for making up the general rolls, when said board shall meet again and approve the same, if same be found correct.

5. Whenever said board shall find it their duty to raise the assessment of any person’s property, it shall be their duty to order the county clerk to give the person written notice who rendered the same, that they desire to raise the value of the same. It shall be their duty to cause the county clerk to give ten days written notice before their meeting by publication in some newspaper, but, if none is published in the county, then by posting a written or printed notice in each justice’s precinct, one of which must be at the court house door.

6. The assessors of taxes shall furnish to the board of equalization, on the first Monday in May of each year, or as soon thereafter as practicable, a certified list of names of all persons who either refuse to swear or to qualify or to have signed the oath or affirmation as required by law, together with the assessment of said person’s property made by him through other information; and the board of equalization shall examine, equalize and correct assessments so made by the assessor, and when so revised, equalized and corrected, the same shall be approved.

Art. 7565. [5120a] Assessment of real property for previous years.

If the assessor of taxes shall discover in his county any real property which has not been assessed or rendered for taxation for any year since 1870, he shall list and assess the same for each and every year for which it has not been assessed, in the manner prescribed in the preceding article; and such assessment shall be as valid and binding as though it had been rendered by the owner thereof; but no such real property shall be assessed by the assessor, unless he has ascertained by the certificate of the comptroller of public accounts the fact that the records of his office do not show that the property has been rendered or assessed for the year in which he assesses it. [Acts 1876, p. 265, sec. 15. Id. 1895, Sen. Jour., p. 486.]

Note.—The words “preceding article” would seem to refer to Art. 7563.

Art. 7566. [5121] Assessment of back taxes on personal property.

If the assessor of taxes shall discover in his county any property, or, outside of his county but belonging to a resident of the county, and... personal property which has not been assessed or rendered for taxation every year for two years past, he shall list and assess the same for each and every year thus omitted which it has belonged to said resident, in the manner prescribed for assessing other property; and such assessment shall be as valid and binding as though it had been rendered by the owner thereof. [Acts 1887, p. 127.]

Applicability.—This article is not effective as to assessing stock outside of the county in which it is situated, since Art. 7512 has been added to the statutes providing for listing stock in the county in which it is situated. Cammack v. Matador Land & Cattle Co., 50 C. A. 451, 70 S. W. 455, 456.

Validity of assessment.—An assessment under this article which does not assess the property in the owner's name is void. Connell v. State (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 980.

Personal property must be assessed in the same manner prescribed for assessment for other property. Id.

Art. 7567. [5121a] Unlisted property; supplemental roll.—Collectors of taxes of counties, cities and towns, when any taxpayer applies to them for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of his taxes, and the collector finds that his name or his property does not appear on the tax roll, shall, and it is hereby made their duty to, assess said taxpayer then and there, collect the taxes and enter the same upon a supplemental tax roll to be made by him. He shall make out, on forms to be furnished by the comptroller, three copies of such supplemental roll, one copy to be delivered to the comptroller of public accounts, one to be delivered to the county clerk, and one to be filed in the collector's office. Said supplemental tax roll shall be made out and delivered to the county commissioners' court with all other papers pertaining to the final settlement of said tax collector, and the same shall be examined and approved by the county commissioners' court, in like manner as upon the tax roll of the tax assessor. The collectors of taxes are hereby authorized and empowered to administer all oaths necessary to obtain a full and correct assessment of all taxable property assessed by them under this act. The oath shall be the same as is administered by tax assessors under existing law. The collector of taxes shall receive the following compensation for his services on all assessments made by him under this act, to-wit: For assessing the state and county taxes, four cents for each one hundred dollars of property so assessed, and for assessing the poll tax, five cents for each poll; which fee shall be paid in the same way as the tax assessor's fee in article 5133 [7583]. [Acts 1895, p. 103.]

Art. 7568. [5122] Assessor to follow instructions.—The assessors of taxes, in the execution of their duties, shall use the forms and follow the instructions which shall from time to time be prescribed by the comptroller of public accounts, and furnished to them by the county judge in pursuance of law. [Acts 1876, p. 265.]

See Woolen v. State (Cr. App.) 150 S. W. 1165.

In general.—A general order by the comptroller directing the tax upon cattle feeding in a pasture which lies in two counties to be paid in the county where the owner resides is valid. Court v. O'Connor, 65 T. 334.

Persons rendering their property for taxation in accordance with such regulations comply with the law and their property is free from taxation in any other county than the one in which it is rendered. Id.

A direction to an assessor to assess mineral rights severed from the surface in a conveyance held not to render such assessment invalid for inequality. State v. Downman (Civ. App.) 184 S. W. 787.

Art. 7569. [5123] Equalization of assessments.—Hereafter when any person, firm or corporation renders his, their or its property in this state for taxation to any tax assessor, and makes oath as to the kind, character, quality and quantity of such property, and the said officer accepting said rendition from such person, firm or corporation of such property is satisfied that it is correctly and properly valued according to the reasonable cash market value of such property on the market at the time of its rendition, he shall list the same accordingly; but, if the assessor is satisfied that the value is below the reasonable cash market value of such property, he shall at once place on said rendition opposite each piece of property so rendered an amount equal to the reasonable cash market value of such property at the time of its rendition, and, if such property shall be found to have no market value by such officer, then at such sum as said officer shall deem the real or intrinsic value of the property; and, if the person listing such property or the owner thereof is not satisfied with the value placed on the property by the assessor he shall so notify the assessor, and if desiring so to do may make oath before the assessor that the valuation so fixed by said officer on said property is excessive; then it shall be the duty of such officer to furnish such rendition, together with his valuation thereon and the oath of such person, firm or officer of any corporation, if any such oath has been made, to the commissioners' court of the county in which said rendition was made, which court shall hear evidence and determine the true value of such property as is hereinafter provided; and in this connection it is provided that such officer or court shall take into consideration what said property could have been sold for any time within six months next before the rendition of said property. [Id. p. 270, sec. 17. Amended Acts 1907, p. 459.]

Art. 7570. [5124] Boards may equalize without complaint.—The boards of equalization shall have power, and it is made their official duty, to supervise the assessment of their respective counties, and, if satisfied that the valuation of any property is not in accordance with the laws of the state, to increase or diminish the same and to affix a proper valuation thereto, as provided for in article 7569 of this chapter; and, when any assessor in this state shall have furnished said court with the rendition as provided for in article 7569 of this chapter, it shall be the duty of such court to call before it such persons as in its judgment may know the market value or true value of such property, as the case may be, by proper process, who shall testify under oath the character, quality and quantity of such property, as well as the value thereof. Said court, after hearing the evidence, shall fix the value of such property in accordance with the evidence so introduced and as provided for in article 7569 of this chapter; and their action in such case or cases shall be final. [Id.]

Remedy against illegal acts of assessor.—The remedy against the illegal act of an assessor in raising an assessment without authority is by application to the board of equalization. Duck v. Peeler, 74 T. 263, 11 S. W. 1111.

Art. 7571. [5124a] Penalty for neglect of duty by assessor.—If any tax assessor in this state shall fail, refuse or neglect to place upon any rendition as provided for in article 7569 of this chapter, the true value or market value in accordance with the method of fixing such value as provided for herein, or shall fail, refuse or neglect to return to the commissioners' court such rendition, together with the oath of the owner or person listing such property for taxes when such oath has been made, as provided for in this chapter, or, if the assessor accepts the rendition from any person rendering property for taxation without reading to such person the oath and having it signed and sworn to as provided by law, such failure, refusal or neglect shall be deemed misdemeanor on the part of such officer, and shall be cause for his removal from office. [Acts 1907, p. 459.]

Art. 7572. [5124b] Oath of assessor.—Every tax assessor and deputy tax assessor in this state, in addition to the oath prescribed by the constitution of this state, shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, take and subscribe to the following oath: "I, ______, tax assessor (or deputy tax assessor, as the case may be) in and for ______ county, Texas, do solemnly swear that I will personally view and inspect all the real estate and improvements thereon subject to taxation lying in said county that may be rendered to me for taxation by any corporation or individual, or by their agent or representative, as fully as may be practicable, and that I will, as fully as is practicable, view and inspect all
Art. 7573. Oath of board.—When a commissioners' court in this state convenes as a board of equalization, before considering the subject of equalization of property values for the purposes of taxation, each member of the court, including the county judge, shall take and subscribe to the following oath: "I, __________, a member of the board of equalization of _______ county, for the year A. D. __________, hereby solemnly swear that, in the performance of my duties as a member of such board for said year, I will not vote to allow any taxable property to stand assessed on the tax rolls of said county for said year at any sum which I believe to be less than its true market value, or, if it has no market value, then its real value; that I will faithfully endeavor and as a member of said board will move to have each item of taxable property which I believe to be assessed for said year at less than its true market value, or real value, raised on the tax rolls to what I believe to be its true cash market value, if it has a market value, if not, then to its real value; and that I will faithfully endeavor to have the assessed valuation of all property subject to taxation within said county stand upon the tax rolls of said county for said year at its true cash market value, or, if it has no market value, then its real value. I further solemnly swear that I have read and understand the provisions contained in the constitution and laws of this state relative to the valuation of taxable property, and that I will faithfully perform all the duties required of me under the constitution and laws of this state. So help me God." Said oath shall be filed and recorded in the commissioners' court record as a part of the proceedings of that term of court. [Id.]

Remedy for unlawful discrimination.—Under this article and Const. art. 8, § 1, requiring all property to be taxed in proportion to its value, where bank stock is assessed at full value and land at 50 per cent. of its value, there is an unlawful discrimination against holders of bank stock, entitling them to enjoin the collection of the taxes on bank stock. Porter v. Langley (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1042.

Art. 7574. Neglect of duty cause for removal from office; attorney general to file suit.—If, in passing upon the value of any property by a commissioners' court sitting as a board of equalization in this state, the court shall fix a value upon any property for the purpose of taxation and a minority of said court do not concur in the judgment of the court, the clerk shall record in the minutes of the court the names of the members, including the county judge, who do not concur in fixing such values (if the county judge shall cast the deciding vote in such matter); and, if any tax assessor or members of any commissioners' court in this state shall knowingly fail or refuse to fix the value of property rendered for taxes in compliance with this chapter, and all other laws of this state, such failure, neglect or refusal shall constitute malfeasance in office on the part of such assessor or member or members of said court, and such failure, neglect or refusal shall be cause for his or their removal from office. Whenever the fact is brought to the knowledge of the attorney general of this state that any tax assessor, deputy tax assessor, county judge, or member of the commissioners' court, has failed, refused or neglected to comply with the provisions of this chapter, he shall at once file suit for the removal from office of such officer or officers thus offending. Such proceedings for the removal of such officer or officers herein provided for shall be brought in the district court of the county of such officer's residence; and such suit shall be brought by the attorney general of the state or under his direction. [Id. art. 5124e, R. S. 1895.]

Tax roll.—See notes under Art. 7576.

Art. 7575. [5125] Assessor to furnish list of delinquents.—The assessor of taxes shall furnish the board of equalization on the first Monday in June of each year, or as soon thereafter as practicable, a certified list of names of all persons who either refused to swear or to qualify, or to sign the oath or affirmation, as prescribed in this title; also a list of the names of those persons who refused to render a list of taxable property as required by this title. And should any person so failing or refusing to take the oath prescribed, or to render a list of their property, or to subscribe to the oath, as required by the provisions of this title, fail to give satisfactory reasons for such failure or refusal to the board of equalization within one month from the date of the filing of said list by the assessor, as required by this article, the board of equalization shall return a list of all persons who have failed to give satisfactory reasons for such failure or refusal to render, qualify or subscribe to the oath or affirmation, as the case may be, to the assessor of taxes, who shall present the said list to the grand jury of his county next impaneled after the board of equalization has furnished him with the list above required. [Acts 1876, p. 270, sec. 18.]

Art. 7576. [5126] And submit lists to board of equalization.—The assessor of taxes shall submit all the lists of property rendered to him prior to the first Monday in June to the board of equalization of his county on the first Monday in June, or as soon thereafter as practicable, for their inspection, approval, correction or equalization; and, after the board of equalization shall have returned the corrected and approved lists of taxable property, the assessor of taxes shall proceed to assess all the unrendered property of his county as provided for in this title, and shall proceed to make out and prepare his rolls or books of all the real and personal property listed to him, in the form and manner prescribed by the comptroller of the state. [Id. sec. 20.]

Tax roll.—Under this article and Arts. 7542, 7547, 7577, tax rolls are to be made up from lists by the assessors, made out from information furnished by property owners. Lofton v. Miller, 55 C. A. 263, 118 S. W. 911.

Art. 7577. [5127] Shall make out rolls in triplicate.—As soon as the board of equalization shall have examined, corrected and approved the assessor's list, the assessor of taxes shall prepare and make out a roll or book, as may be required by the comptroller, from the list so corrected and approved, and three exact copies of the same, the original to be furnished to the collector of taxes, the second to the comptroller of public accounts, and the third to be filed in the county clerk's office for the inspection of the public. He shall also prepare a roll or book, and two exact copies thereof, to be distributed, the first to the collector of taxes, the second to the comptroller, the third to be filed in the county clerk’s office, of all the real and personal property which has not been listed to him.  [Id. sec. 19.]

See notes under Art. 7584.

Art. 7578.  [5128] Also rolls of unrendered property.—The assessor of taxes shall, after his list of unrendered real and personal property shall have been examined, corrected and approved by the board of equalization as provided by law, prepare and make out his rolls or books of all unrendered real and personal property listed by him in the manner and form prescribed by the comptroller of the state.  [Id. p. 271, sec. 21.]

Art. 7579.  [5129] And add up columns.—The assessor of taxes shall add up and note the aggregate of each column on his roll or book, and he shall also make in each book or roll, under proper headings, a tabular statement showing the footings of the several columns upon each page, and he shall add up and set down under the respective headings the total of the several columns.  [Id. sec. 22.]

Art. 7580.  [5130] Return and oath.—The assessor of taxes shall, on or before the first day of August of each year for which the assessment is made, return his rolls or assessment books of the taxable property rendered to him or listed by him for that year, after they have been made in accordance with the provisions of this title, to the county board of equalization, verified by his affidavit, substantially on the following form:
The State of Texas, {
       ........ County.
    I, ................................ assessor of .............. county, do solemnly swear that the rolls (or books) to which this is attached contain a correct and full list of the real and personal property subject to taxation in ............. (fill the blank with the name of the county) county, so far as I have been able to ascertain the same; that I have sworn every person listing property to me in the county, or caused the same to be done in manner and form as provided by law, and that the assessed value set down in the proper column opposite the several kinds and descriptions of property is the true and correct valuation thereof as ascertained by law, and the footings of the several columns in said books and the tabular statement returned is correct, as I verily believe.
[Id. sec. 23; Amend. Acts 1897, p. 204.]

Proof of endorsement.—Parol evidence is not admissible to prove the indorsement on the assessor’s tax roll required by this article.  Clayton v. Rehm, 67 T. 53, 2 S. W. 45.

Supplemental roll.—Necessity of affidavit.—A supplemental roll for a given year is not admissible in evidence when it lacks the affidavit of the assessor, required by this ar-

Remedy against illegal acts of assessor.—See notes under Art. 7570.

Art. 7581.  [5131] All lists, etc., filed in county clerk’s office.—The assessor of taxes shall at the same time deliver to the board of equalization all the lists, statements of all property which shall have been made out or received by him, and arranged in alphabetical order, together with the roll withdrawn to aid him in the past assessment.  The lists and statements shall be filed in the county clerk’s office, and remain there for the inspection of the public.  [Acts 1870, p. 271, sec. 24.]

Admissibility of lists.—See notes under Art. 7500.

Art. 7582.  [5132] Rolls, how distributed.—After the board of equalization shall have examined the rolls or assessment books and made all corrections, if any be necessary, the assessor shall send one copy of each to the comptroller of public accounts, one copy of each to the collector of his county, and he shall file the other copies in the county clerk’s office until the next assessment, when the assessor shall have the right to withdraw them and use as provided in this title.  [Id. sec. 25.]

Accrual of liability of taxpayer.—An assessment roll does not fix any liability on the taxpayer or his property until the list has been approved by the board of equalization.

Chisholm v. Adams, 71 T. 678, 10 S. W. 330.

Art. 7583. Compensation.—Each assessor of taxes shall receive the following compensation for his services, which shall be estimated upon the total values of the property assessed, as follows: For assessing the state and county tax, on all sums for the first two million dollars or less, five cents for each one hundred dollars of property assessed; and on all sums in excess of two million dollars and less than five million dollars, two and one-fourth cents on each one hundred dollars; and on all sums in excess of five million dollars, one and seven-tenths cents on each one hundred dollars; one-half of the above fees shall be paid by the state and one-half by the county; and for assessing the poll tax, five cents for each poll, which shall be paid by the state. The commissioners' court may allow to the assessor of taxes such sums of money, to be paid monthly from the county treasury, as may be necessary to pay for clerical work, taking assessments and making out the tax rolls of the county, such sums so allowed to be deducted from the amount allowed to the assessor as compensation upon the completion of said tax rolls; provided, the amount allowed the assessor by the commissioners' court shall not exceed the compensation that may be due by the county to him for assessing. [Acts 1883, p. 33. Amended Acts 1897, 1 S. S., p. 8, sec. 8.]

Compensation.—See Art. 5871.
Conclusiveness of order fixing compensation.—On order of the county commissioners' court approving a tax roll the determination as to assessor's compensation could not be attacked in a suit by him against the county to recover the amount due. Dimmit County v. Cavender (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 881.

Art. 7584. [5134] How paid by state.—The comptroller, on receipt of the rolls, shall give the assessor an order on the collector of his county for the amount due him by the state for assessing the state taxes, to be paid out of the first money collected for that year. [Id. sec. 27.]

Art. 7585. [5135] By the county.—The commissioners' court shall issue an order on the county treasurer of their county, to the assessor, for the amount due him for assessing the county tax of their county, to be paid out of the first money received from the collector on the rolls of that year. [Id. sec. 28.]

Effect of order.—The order of the commissioners' court approving the assessment rolls is tantamount to an adjudication of the amount the assessor is entitled to receive as compensation, and cannot be attacked by him in a suit against the county for his fees nor inquired into. Dimmitt County v. Cavender (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 882.

Art. 7586. [5136] Penalties for neglect of duty.—Should any assessor of taxes fail or neglect to make out and return his rolls or books to the commissioners' court in the time and manner provided for in this chapter, it shall be competent for the commissioners' court to deduct from his compensation such amount as they may deem proper and right for such neglect or failure; and, should his rolls or books, when presented for approval to the commissioners' court, prove to be imperfect or erroneous, the court shall have the same corrected or perfected, either by the assessor or some other person than the assessor of taxes. Such person so employed by the commissioners' court shall be entitled to such part of the commissions to which such assessor is entitled as the court may allow; and said court shall so certify to the comptroller, who shall pay such person in the same manner as the assessor of taxes is paid; and the amount so paid shall be deducted by the comptroller from the commissions of the assessor of taxes, whose duty it was to have performed such work. [Id. sec. 29. See Acts 1879, ch. 47.]

Art. 7587. [5137] Lands of non-residents in unorganized counties, etc.—Lands lying in and owned by non-residents of unorganized counties, and lands lying in the territory not laid off into counties, shall be assessed by the comptroller of public accounts in accordance with such regulations as he may adopt and establish for that purpose. [Const., art. 8, sec. 12.]

In general.—Acts 1895, c. 42 (amended in 1897 and embodied in chapter 15 of this article), providing for the collection of taxes, did not repeal Arts. 7594-7596, originally enacted in 1879, since the act of 1895 only sought to regulate the collection of taxes such as had been and were thereafter to be assessed and collected by local officers, who, before the passage of that act, were not empowered to collect any of the taxes, provision for the collection of which was made by Arts. 7587-7604, also dating from 1879. Wolffarth v. De Lay (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 617.

Proceedings constituting due process of law.—The proceedings provided for by Arts. 7587-7604, relating to the sale of lands of nonresidents in unorganized counties for non-payment of taxes, and the notice of sale prescribed thereby, when substantially complied with, constitute due process of law. Wolffarth v. De Lay (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 617.

PROPERTY IN UNORGANIZED COUNTIES

Art. 7588. [5138] Lands in unorganized counties.—All lands and other property situated in the unorganized counties of this state, owned by residents of such unorganized counties, shall be assessed by the assessor of the organized county to which such unorganized county is attached for judicial purposes, and the taxes collected by the collector of such organized county; and the same remedies for the enforcement of the assessment and collection of such taxes shall apply as the law directs for the assessment and collection of the taxes on property situated in organized counties of this state. [Acts 1879, p. 141.]

In general.—Acts 24th Leg. c. 42 (amended in 1897 and embodied in chapter 15 of this article), concerning collection of delinquent taxes, and relating to the residents of counties unorganized county or counties with those previously rendered to him by non-residents, makes out a list of all unrendered lands situated in such unorganized county, and place such value upon the lands thus found to be unrendered as he, as a sworn officer, may deem just and fair; provided, nothing in this law shall be so construed as to prevent the comptroller from receiving the assessment and taxes due at any time prior to the completion of the unrendered list of such unorganized county. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7590. [5140] Same.—The comptroller may at any time prior to the return of the assessment rolls to his office of the organized county to which such unorganized county or counties are attached for judicial purposes, receive the assessment of and collect the taxes on any lands situated in such unorganized county or counties which are owned by non-residents thereof. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7591. [5141] Same.—As soon as the tax rolls of the organized county to which unorganized counties are attached for judicial purposes shall have been received by the comptroller, he shall, by comparing the lands rendered to the assessor of the organized county by the residents of such unorganized county or counties with those previously rendered to him by non-residents, make a list of all unrendered lands situated in such unorganized county, and place such value upon the lands thus found to be unrendered as he, as a sworn officer, may deem just and fair; provided, nothing in this law shall be so construed as to prevent the comptroller from receiving the assessment and taxes due at any time prior to the completion of the unrendered list of such unorganized county. [Id. sec. 4.]

In general.—The provisions of this article must be complied with before the comptroller can make a valid sale. Keenan v. Slaughter, 49 C. A. 180, 108 S. W. 706.

Art. 7592. [5142] Same.—After the completion of the unrendered list provided for in this chapter, the owner or owners must pay according to the value and assessment made thereon by the comptroller. [Id. sec. 5.]

Art. 7593. [5143] May appeal from comptroller's assessment.—Assessment of lands rendered to the comptroller under the provisions of this chapter shall be made by the party rendering the same under oath as to their value; but if the comptroller thinks the valuation too low he shall object, and, if the comptroller and the party rendering the land cannot agree, then the comptroller shall assess the same at such value as he as a sworn officer may think it is worth; and, if the party rendering feels that the assessment is too high, he may appeal to the board of equalization, which for such purposes shall consist of the governor, attorney general and the secretary of state, and their decision shall be final.  [Id. sec. 6.]

Art. 7594.  [5144] May levy upon and sell, when.—Three months after the completion of the unrendered list of each unorganized county respectively, the comptroller shall proceed to levy upon and advertise all lands in such counties upon which the taxes are due and unpaid, giving notice of the amount due upon each separate tract of land, and giving such description of the land upon which taxes are due and unpaid as he may be in possession of; such notice to be given by publication in some weekly newspaper published in the state for four consecutive weeks; said notice to state that on a certain day therein named the comptroller will proceed to sell the land therein described, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to pay the state and county taxes due, and the cost of advertising the same.  [Id. sec. 7.]

In general.—Acts 1895, c. 42 (amended in 1897 and embodied in chapter 15 of this title), providing for the collection of taxes, did not repeal this article and Arts. 7595, 7596, originally enacted in 1879, since the act of 1895 only sought to regulate the collection of taxes such as had been and were thereafter to be assessed and collected by local officers, who, before the passage of that act, were not empowered to collect any of the taxes, provision for the collection of which was made by Acts 7857-7604, also dating from 1879.  Wolffarth v. De Lay (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 617.

Notice of sale—Requirements of.—Under this article the notice need not be addressed to the owner or to the unknown owner or to the nonresident owner or owners. Wolffarth v. De Lay (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 617.

Under this article the fact that a notice published contained a description of some 500 sections of land arranged in columns and printed in 26-point type did not render the notice void.  Id.

Though under this and the following articles the comptroller is only authorized to levy on and sell those lands owned by nonresidents at the time of the assessment, and this article does not in terms or substance provide to whom the notice of sale shall be addressed, nor its form, a notice addressed to “all parties interested,” and which contains all other necessary requisites, is sufficient.  Id.

A notice of sale of delinquent tax lands in unorganized counties by the comptroller was not void because it contained a description of some 500 sections arranged in columns and was printed in 26-point type.  Id.

In general.—The provisions of this article must be complied with before the comptroller can make a valid sale.  Keenan v. Slaughter, 49 C. A. 180, 108 S. W. 705.

Art. 7595.  [5145] Sale.—The sale shall commence on the day named in said notice, and may continue from day to day (Sundays and legal holidays excepted) until completed; such sale shall be had in front of the comptroller’s office, in the city of Austin, between the hours of eight o’clock a. m. and four o’clock p. m. of each day.  [Id. sec. 8.]

See notes under Art. 7594.

In general.—The provisions of this article must be complied with before the comptroller can make a valid sale.  Keenan v. Slaughter, 49 C. A. 180, 108 S. W. 705.

Art. 7596.  [5146] May be bought by state, when.—Should there be no purchaser of said lands, then the comptroller shall bid the same in to the state for the taxes due thereon and the costs of sale, and make a deed to the state to the same, including in one deed all lands bid in for the state or any one else.  [Id. sec. 9.]

See notes under Art. 7594.

Art. 7597.  [5147] Redemption.—Should the lands bid in by the comptroller for the state not be redeemed by the owner thereof or his agent within two years, by the party redeeming the same paying double the amount for which the said land was sold, then the said lands thus sold and unredeemed shall become vacant and revert to and become a part of the public free school fund, to be sold and disposed of as other lands belonging to the public free school fund are to be sold and disposed of by law.  [Id. sec. 10.]
Art. 7598. [5148] Tax deed.—The comptroller shall give to the purchaser of any lands, the sale of which is provided for in this chapter, a deed to the same, giving in such deed such description of the land as may be necessary to identify the same, or such description as he may be in possession of. [Id. sec. 11.]

Description.—See notes under Chapter 15 of this title.

Art. 7599. [5149] List of purchasers to be kept in office.—The comptroller shall keep a list of the purchaser or purchasers of all such lands in his office, showing the name and postoffice of the purchaser or purchasers, together with the amount and description of the land sold and the amount for which it was sold, and the date of sale. [Id. sec. 12.]

Art. 7600. [5150] Deed shall vest good title, when.—The deed given to the purchaser or purchasers by the comptroller under the provisions of this chapter shall vest a good and sufficient fee simple title in the purchaser or purchasers, subject to be impeached only for actual fraud; provided, the former owner or owners thereof do not redeem the same within two years from the date of the deed, either by paying to the purchaser or purchasers double the amount for which said land was sold, or by making a tender of the same to him or his agent, or by depositing with the comptroller before the expiration of the two years double the amount for which such land was sold, to be paid by the comptroller, when called upon, to the purchaser or purchasers thereof. [Id. sec. 13.]

Art. 7601. [5151] County taxes to be paid, where.—All county taxes collected under the provisions of article 5147 [7597] shall be paid into the county treasury of the organized county to which the unorganized county is attached for judicial purposes. [Id. sec. 14.]

Art. 7602. [5152] Comptroller to keep taxes of unorganized counties until.—All county taxes, other than taxes to pay pro rata of indebtedness to parent county, due unorganized counties, collected by the comptroller, shall be kept by him to the credit of such unorganized county until the total sum to the credit of the county shall reach the sum of five thousand dollars. Then he shall, upon the demand of the treasurer of the former unorganized county, when the same shall have organized, pay said sum, or whatever amount is held to the credit of said county, over to said treasurer. And all county taxes collected by the comptroller after the amount to the credit of such unorganized county shall reach the amount of five thousand dollars shall be paid into the county treasury of the organized county to which the unorganized county is attached for judicial purposes. [Id. sec. 15. Amended Acts 1897, p. 43.]

Art. 7603. [5152a] Same.—Where the amount to the credit of any unorganized county now exceeds five thousand dollars the comptroller shall keep said sum to be paid to the treasurer of such unorganized county when the same shall organize; and all county taxes, other than taxes collected to pay pro rata of indebtedness to parent county, hereafter collected by the comptroller in such counties, shall be paid into the county treasury of the organized county to which such county is attached for judicial purposes. [Acts 1897, p. 43.]

Art. 7604. [5153] Special deposit to be made by comptroller.—All money received by the comptroller on deposit for the redemption of land sold and bought by individuals shall be by him deposited in the state treasury as a special deposit, subject to the order of the party to whom the conditional deed to such land was given. So also shall all county taxes collected by the comptroller under the provisions of this law be

Article 7605. [5154] Election and term of collector.—In each county having ten thousand inhabitants, to be determined by the last preceding census of the United States, there shall be elected by the qualified voters, at the same time and under the same law regulating the election of state and county officers, a collector of taxes, who shall hold his office for two years and until his successor is elected and qualified. [Const., art. 8, sec. 16. Act Aug. 21, 1876, p. 259, sec. 1.]

Collectors in cities, towns and villages.—See Title 22, Chapters 7, 14.

Art. 7606. [5155] Vacancies, how filled.—Should the office of collector of taxes from any cause become vacant before the expiration of said term, it shall be the duty of the commissioners' court in the county in which such vacancy shall occur, to appoint a collector of taxes, who shall be qualified in the same manner and subject to like bonds as the collector of taxes elected; and the collector of taxes so appointed shall hold his office for and during the unexpired term of his predecessor and until his successor shall have been qualified; and the collector of taxes so appointed shall have all the rights and perform all the duties required by law of the collector of taxes elected. [Id.]
Art. 7607. [5156] Sheriff a collector, when.—In each county having less than ten thousand inhabitants, the sheriff of such county shall be the collector of taxes, and shall have and exercise all the rights, powers and privileges, be subject to all the requirements and restrictions, and perform all the duties imposed by law upon collectors; and he shall also give the same bonds required of a collector of taxes elected. [Const., art. 8, sec. 16. Id. sec. 2.]

In general.—In determining whether a sheriff elected in 1830 was, under section 16, article 8, of the constitution of 1876, also ex officio collector of taxes by reason of his county containing less than ten thousand inhabitants, “under the last preceding census of the United States,” the list of the enumerator taking the tenth census for the county, if duly certified as such, and filed in the office of the county clerk, prior to his election, will govern. Nelson v. Edwards, 55 T. 388.

Injunction against collection of taxes.—See notes under Art. 4643.

Art. 7608. [5157] Bond and oath.—Every collector of taxes, within twenty days after he shall have received notice of his election or appointment, and before entering upon the duties of his office, shall give a bond based upon unincumbered real estate of the sureties subject to execution, payable to the governor and his successors in office, in a sum which shall be equal to the whole amount of the state tax of the county as shown by the last preceding assessment, with at least three good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the commissioners’ court of his county, which shall be further subject to the approval of the comptroller, and shall take and subscribe the oath prescribed by the constitution, which, together with said bonds, shall be recorded in the office of the clerk of the county court of said county and be forwarded by the county judge of the county to the comptroller to be deposited in his office. Said bond shall be conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties of his office as collector of taxes for and during the full term for which he was elected or appointed, and shall not become void upon the first recovery, but suit may be maintained thereon until the whole amount thereof be recovered. [Id. sec. 3.]

Bonds.—Evidence, see notes under Art. 3687, Introductory, § 53.

A tax collector for whom plaintiffs were sureties on his bond to the state, was not their agent so as to bar an action by plaintiffs for his wrong. Boos v. Ferrell (Civ. App.) 182 S. W. 200.

Approval.—Upon an actual approval of a tax collector’s bond by the comptroller it is not necessary to its validity that the approval should be indorsed upon it. Ogleby v. State, 73 T. 658, 11 S. W. 573.

Liability in general.—As to liability of collector and sureties for failure to collect taxes on county bonds, see Art. 694.

A tax collector does not occupy the state the relation of a mere bailiff for him who reposes much care of the public so much as a true collector who would take of his own; he is bound to account for and pay over the public money that he collects, less his commission, or his securities must pay it for him. Boggs v. State, 46 T. 10.

Neither the sheriff, as tax collector, nor his securities can set up the fact that no legal levy of taxes was made in an action against them for not paying over, when it is shown that the taxes were collected by the officer and were not paid over. Webb County v. Gonzales, 69 T. 465, 6 S. W. 781, following Morris v. State, 47 T. 583, and other cases cited.

In a suit against a defaulting tax collector, in the absence of evidence showing when his collections were made, or that he was in default before the end of the fiscal year, interest, under the provisions of this chapter, should be required of him on the amount for which he was in default, only, from the end of the fiscal year for which the collections were made. Cordray v. State, 55 T. 140.

Where a tax collector issued receipts to his creditors for taxes which he did not collect, the sureties on his bond were liable therefor. Ward v. Marion County, 25 C. A. 361, 62 S. W. 557, 63 S. W. 155.

Sureties of a defaulting tax collector held not entitled to claim the judgment recovered by the state against a taxpayer as a judgment recovered for their own use. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. State, 45 C. A. 550, 97 S. W. 142.

Liability for money received by a sheriff as such is not covered by his bond as ex officio tax collector. American Bonding & Trust Co. v. Garrett (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 398.

Payments by collector.—A payment upon a draft upon the collector on account of state funds subject to the same rules as to the use of state funds, and the effect of using them in such payments, as if made directly to the treasury. That the comptroller was ignorant of the source from which funds have been received, which have been by him, without instruction from the collector, applied to his indebtedness for taxes for former years, does not deprive the sureties on the collector’s bond, at the time such taxes were collected, of the benefit of the payment of such funds into the treasury by their principal. State v. Middleton, 57 T. 135.
TAXATION

Taxes collected and paid into the treasury cannot lawfully be applied to the discharge of a pre-existing debt of the tax collector on a former account. The collector cannot authorize, nor can the comptroller apply it to the injury of the sureties of the collector. Id.

Art. 7609. [5158] New bond.—The collector of taxes may be required to furnish a new bond or additional security whenever, in the opinion of the commissioners' court or comptroller of public accounts, it may be advisable. Should any collector of taxes fail to give a new bond and additional security, when required, he shall be suspended from office by the commissioners' court of his county, and immediately thereafter be removed from office in the manner prescribed by law. [Id.]

In general.—If the necessity arises, additional security may be required, and the collector cannot further discharge his official duties until further security is furnished. Orange County v. T. & N. O. Ry. Co., 25 C. A. 361, 80 S. W. 671.

Time to give new bond.—An officer required to give a new bond is entitled to a reasonable time therefor. Poe v. State, 72 T. 625, 10 S. W. 737.

Art. 7610. [5159] Bond for county taxes.—Collectors of taxes shall give a like bond, with like conditions, to the county judges of their respective counties and their successors in office, in a sum not less than the whole amount of the county tax of the county, as shown by the last preceding assessment, with at least three good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the commissioners' court of his county; which bond shall be recorded and deposited in the office of the clerk of the county court. A new bond and additional security may be required; and, for a failure to give such new bond or additional security, the collector of taxes may be removed from office in the manner prescribed by law. [Id.

Art. 7611. [5160] All bonds to be first approved.—No collector of taxes shall enter upon the discharge of the duties of the office until all the bonds required of him by law for the collection of any taxes, state, county or special, shall have been given and approved.

Art. 7612. [5161] May appoint deputies.—Each collector of taxes may appoint one or more deputies to assist him in the collection of taxes, and may take such bond and security from the person so appointed as he deems necessary for his indemnity; and the collectors, in all cases, shall be liable and accountable for his proceedings and misconduct in office. [Id. sec. 9.]

Liability of deputies in favor of collector.—Evidence, in an action by a tax collector for the recovery of money alleged to have been misappropriated by a deputy, held to warrant a finding that a certain amount sought to be recovered was received during the deputy's absence. Hutton v. Graham (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 1185.

Evidence held to sustain a judgment for defendant. Id.

Art. 7613. [5162] Rolls to be a warrant.—When the collector of taxes of any county shall have received the assessment rolls or books of the county, he shall receipt to the commissioners' court for the same; and said rolls or books shall be full and sufficient authority for the county collector of taxes to receive and collect the taxes therein levied. [Id. sec. 5.]

Art. 7614. [5163] Collector for all taxes.—The collector of taxes shall be the receiver and collector of all taxes assessed upon the tax list in his county, whether assessed for the state or county, school, poorhouse or other purpose; and he shall proceed to collect the same according to law, and place the same when collected to the proper fund.
and pay the same over to the proper authorities, as hereinafter provided. [Id. sec. 6.]

Authority of collector.—A tax collector and his deputy collecting taxes in a district in which he has no authority to act is liable in actual damages as a trespasser. Wright v. Jones, 1 C. A. 456, 88 S. W. 249.

The duty of the tax collector to collect all taxes due the county and the state is one of the governmental ministerial functions which he alone can exercise. Stringer v. Franklin County (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 1168.

Amount and method of payment.—Payment for taxes with a warrant calling for current money is equivalent to a payment with the money itself, and is good. Ostrum v. City of San Antonio, 30 C. A. 462, 71 S. W. 304.

The giving of credit to a tax collector held not to have amounted to payment of taxes. Figures v. State (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 412.

A tax collector has no legal authority to agree with a taxpayer to substitute his responsibility for that of the taxpayer. Graves v. Bullen, 53 C. A. 261, 115 S. W. 1177.

A tax collector was not bound to accept a part of taxes due upon the owner's claim that the amount tendered was the whole amount due. Lufskin Land & Lumber Co. v. Noble (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1093.

Art. 7615. [5164] Collections, when to begin.—The collector of taxes of each county shall begin the collection of taxes annually on the first day of October, or so soon thereafter as he may be able to obtain the proper assessment rolls, books or data upon which to proceed with the business; and he shall post up notices—not less than three—at public places in each voting or magistrate's precinct in his county, at least twenty days previous to the day said taxpayers are required to meet him for the purpose of paying their taxes, stating in said notice the times and places the same are required to be paid; and it shall be the duty of said collector, or his deputy, to attend at such times and places for the purposes aforesaid, and shall remain at each place at least two days; and, if the collector shall, from any cause, fail to meet the taxpayers at the time and place specified in the first notice, he shall, in like manner, give a second notice. [Id. sec. 7.]

Authority to collect.—A taxpayer cannot pay his taxes to the tax collector of the county, so as to relieve him from liability to the county for his taxes, and from the tax lien, before the assessment rolls have been delivered to the collector, although the rolls had been duly made, and passed on and approved by the board of equalization; and although the collector had been duly elected, had qualified and was acting as tax collector, when he received the taxes (which he did not pay over to the county). A county tax collector has no authority to receive taxes before the assessment rolls have been delivered to him. The public must take notice of the authority under which a public officer acts. Orange County v. T. & N. O. Ry. Co., 35 C. A. 361, 80 S. W. 670.

It is contemplated by the law that taxes are due and payable on October 1st for that year. The fact that seizure of property for taxes cannot be made prior to January 1st indicates that the purpose of the taxpayer or not that the taxes of year are not sooner due and payable. Wall v. Club & Cattle Co. (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 536.

Payment of taxes to the county collector before the tax rolls are delivered to him and before he has any warrant to receive them held not a payment of the taxes as against Davis v. State, 149 N. O. R. Co. 142, 96 S. W. 412.

And a contract between an attorney general and the bondmen of adefaulting tax collector held no defense to the state's action against the taxpayer to recover the tax. [Id.]

Place of payment.—See notes under Art. 7616.

Art. 7616. [5165] Shall keep office at county seat.—The collector of taxes shall keep his office at the county seat of his county; and it shall be the duty of every person who has failed to attend and to pay his taxes at the times and places in his precinct named by the collector, as provided in the preceding article, to call at the office of the collector and pay the same before the last day of December of the same year for which the assessment is made. [Acts 1887, p. 127.]

Place of payment.—Under this article, Arts. 2943—2945, 2957, 7615, and Terrell's Election Law, § 152 (Acts 29th Leg. 1st Called Sess. c. 11), providing that all poll taxes shall be paid on or before the 1st day of February of each year, and making it a penal offense for the collector to receive poll taxes and antedate the receipts therefor after such time, payment by a citizen of his poll tax at any other place than the office of the collector does not in law constitute a payment of the tax, so as to entitle the taxpayer to a receipt on which he can vote, unless made to a deputy in a town of 10,000 inhabitants other than the county seat, and payment of poll taxes by citizens not residing in such a town on January 30, 1912, to a private agent authorized to pay the same to the tax collector and receive the receipts, which did not reach the tax collector until the 1st and 2d days of February, 1912, did not entitle the taxpayers to receipts dated as of January 31, 1912, so as to enable them to vote thereon. Davis v. Riley (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 314.
Art. 7617. [5166] Tax receipt and its requisites.—The collector of taxes or his deputy, whenever any tax is paid, shall give to the person paying the same a receipt therefor, specifying the amount of state ad valorem tax, amount of state poll tax, the amount of county ad valorem tax, the amount of county poll tax, and the year or years for which such tax was levied; said receipt shall also show the number of acres of land in each separate tract, number, abstract and name of original grantee; the said receipt shall have a duplicate stub showing the name of the person, the date, the amount of each separate tax and the date of payment. The collector of taxes shall provide himself with a seal, on which shall be inscribed a star with five points, surrounded by the words, “Collector of taxes, ——— County” [the blank to be filled with the name of the county], and shall impress said seal to each receipt given by him for taxes collected on real estate; and said receipt having the seal attached shall be admissible to record in the county in which the property is situated in same manner as deeds duly authenticated, and when so recorded shall be full and complete notice to all persons of the payment of said tax. [Acts 1876, p. 261, sec. 10]

Payment of taxes—Evidence and presumptions.—See, also, notes under Art. 3887, Rule 5, §§ 6, 65, and Rule 19. Evidence in trespass to try title, in which defendants’ defense was limitations, based on the payment of taxes on the land, held not to show a payment. Lofton v. Miller, 55 C. A. 253, 118 S. W. 911.

Recovery of taxes notwithstanding receipts.—Though tax receipts have been made out and delivered to taxpayers, the county may still recover the taxes indicated in such receipts if not actually paid. Graves v. Bullen, 55 C. A. 261, 115 S. W. 1177.

Art. 7618. [5167] Quarterly reports; requisites of; duties of collector.—1. At the end of each month, the collector of taxes shall, on forms to be furnished by the comptroller of public accounts, make an itemized report under oath to the comptroller, showing each and every item of ad valorem, poll and occupation taxes collected by him during said month, accompanied by a summarized statement showing full disposition of all state taxes collected.

2. He shall present such report, together with the tax receipt stubs, to the county clerk, who shall, within two days, compare said report with said stubs; and, if same agree in every particular as regards names, dates, and amounts, he (the clerk) shall certify to its correctness, for which examination and certificate he shall be paid by the commissioners’ court twenty-five cents for each certificate and twenty-five cents for each two hundred taxpayers on said report.

3. The collector of taxes shall then immediately forward his reports so certified to the comptroller, and shall pay over to the state treasurer all moneys collected by him for the state during said month, excepting such amounts as he is allowed by law to pay in his county, reserving only his commissions on the total amount collected; and, to enable him to do so, he may, at his own risk, send the same to the state treasurer at the least cost to the state, on which he shall be allowed credit by the comptroller upon filing receipts showing actual amount of exchange paid; provided, that the state treasurer shall accept no payment other than money orders or direct cash payments, which may be made through express companies; banks, or any other source. The state treasurer, whenever he may receive a remittance from a collector of taxes, shall promptly pay the money so remitted to the state treasury, on the deposit warrant of the comptroller, and the money when so deposited shall be a credit to the said collector of taxes.

4. The collector of taxes shall pay over to the state treasurer all balances in his hands belonging to the state, and finally adjust and settle his account with the comptroller on or before the first day of May of each year; and, to enable him to do so, the commissioners’ court shall convene on or before the third Monday in April for the purpose of examining and approving his final settlement papers.
5. The allowance of a delinquent and insolvent list to the collector, in accordance with article 7621, shall not absolve any taxpayer or property thereon from the payment of taxes; but it shall be the duty of the collector to use all necessary diligence to collect the amounts due thereon, after it is allowed by the commissioners' court; and he shall issue special tax receipts therefor, to be furnished by the comptroller; which blank receipts shall be numbered and charged to the collector, who shall account for same at his next annual settlement, in the same manner as occupation tax receipts; he shall also make itemized monthly reports of such collections, using special blanks for that purpose.

6. To enforce the prompt and speedy collection and remittance of taxes, and to provide for the proper accounting of same, the comptroller shall prescribe and furnish the forms to be used by collectors of taxes, and the mode and manner of keeping and stating their accounts, and shall adopt such regulations as he may deem necessary in regard thereto. It shall be his imperative duty to enforce a strict observance of all the provisions of these articles.

7. It shall be the duty of the comptroller to notify the district attorney of the district, or the county attorney of the county, in which the collector resides, and the sureties on the bond of the collector, of any failure to comply with any of the provisions of this article. [Acts 1893, p. 90.]

Duties of comptroller of public accounts.—See Title 65, Chapter 2.

Art. 7619. [5168] Duties of clerk and collector.—1. The collector of taxes shall at the end of each month make like reports to the commissioners' court of all the collections made for the county, conforming as far as applicable and in like manner to the requirements as to the collection and report of taxes collected for the state. The county clerk shall likewise, within two days after the presentation of said report by the collector, examine said report and stubs, and certify to their correctness as regards names, dates and amounts; for which examination and certificate he shall be paid by the collector of taxes fifty cents each month, which amount shall be allowed to the collector by the commissioners' court.

2. The clerk shall file said report intended for the commissioners' court, together with the tax receipt stubs, in his office for the next regular meeting of the commissioners' court.

3. The collector of taxes shall immediately pay over to the county treasurer all taxes collected for the county during said month, after reserving his commissions for collecting the same, and take receipts therefor, and file with the county clerk.

4. At the next regular meeting of the commissioners' court, the collector of taxes shall appear before said court and make a summarized statement, showing the disposition of all moneys, both of the state and county, collected by him during the previous three months. Said statement must show that all taxes due the state have been promptly remitted to the state treasury at the end of each month, and all taxes due the county have been paid over promptly to the county treasurer, and shall file proper vouchers and receipts showing same.

5. The commissioners' court shall examine such statement and vouchers, together with the itemized report and tax receipt stubs filed each month, and shall compare the same with the tax rolls and tax receipt stubs. If found correct in every particular, and if the collector of taxes has properly accounted for all taxes collected, as provided above, the commissioners' court shall enter an order approving said report, and the order approving same shall be recorded in the minutes, as other proceedings of said court.

6. The collector of taxes shall finally adjust and settle his account with the commissioners' court for the county taxes collected, at the same time and in the same manner as is provided in the foregoing article in his settlement with the state. [Id.]

Limitations.—See notes at end of Title 87, § 43.

Art. 7620. [5169] Report not to be approved, unless.—If any collector of taxes shall have failed at the end of each month, or within three days thereof, to promptly remit to the state treasurer the amount due by him to the state, or pay over to the county treasurer the amount due by him to the county, the commissioners’ court; at the next regular meeting, shall ascertain the facts; and, if the collector of taxes fails or refuses to pay or remit the same and file proper vouchers therefor, as provided in the foregoing article, the commissioners’ court shall not approve his reports and accounts, but shall ascertain the amounts due by him, both to the state and county, and enter an order requiring him to pay the same to the proper treasurers, as is provided in articles 7658 and 7659 of the Revised Statutes, and notify such collector, as is provided for in article ........ [article 7660], under penalty for failure to do so, in section 4 of said article [as provided for in the Penal Code]. Whenever the collector of taxes shall fail or refuse to remit to the state treasurer the amounts due the state, when requested, the comptroller shall notify him under articles [7658], 7659, 7660 and 7661, and for such failure be subject to the penalties provided in the Penal Code. [Acts 1893, p. 90.]

Art. 7621. [5170] List of delinquents and insolvents to be made out.—The collector of taxes shall make out on forms, to be furnished for that purpose by the comptroller of public accounts, between April 1 and 15 of each year, list of delinquent or insolvent taxpayers, the caption of which shall be, the “list of delinquent or insolvent taxpayers.” In this list he shall give the name of the person, firm, company, or corporation from whom the taxes are due, in separate columns; and he shall post one copy of these delinquent or insolvent lists at the court house door of the county, and one list at the court house door, or where court is usually held, in each justice precinct in his county; and the collector of taxes, upon the certificate of the commissioners’ court that the persons appearing on the insolvent or delinquent lists have no property out of which to make the taxes assessed against them, or that they have moved out of the county, and that no property can be found in the county belonging to such persons, out of which to make the taxes due, shall be entitled to a credit on final settlement of his accounts for the amounts due by the persons, firms, companies, or corporations certified to by the commissioners’ court, as above provided for. [Id.]

Art. 7622. [5171] Collector to endeavor to collect delinquent list.—The allowance of an insolvent list to the collector in accordance with the provisions of the preceding article shall not absolve any taxpayer or property thereon from the payment of taxes; but it shall be the duty of the collector to use all necessary diligence to collect the amounts due on the insolvent list after it is allowed, and report and pay over to the proper officers all amounts collected on the same. [Id. p. 262, sec. 13.]

Art. 7623. [5172] Non-residents.—Non-residents of counties, owing state or county taxes, are hereby authorized to pay the same to the comptroller of public accounts; provided, that all taxes due by said non-residents shall be paid at the comptroller’s office on or before the first day of January next after the assessment of such taxes; provided, further, that the collectors of taxes shall be entitled to the commissions on all moneys paid by non-residents to the comptroller of public accounts, due their counties respectively. [Acts 1879, p. 41.]

In general.—Nonresidents can pay taxes to the comptroller, and a levy cannot be made before expiration of time within which comptroller can send his list of delinquent taxes to county collector. Allen v. Courtney, 24 C. A. 88, 50 S. W. 290, 291.
Art. 7624. [5173] Forced collections to begin, when.—If any person shall fail or refuse to pay the taxes imposed upon him or his property by law, until the first day of January next succeeding the return of the assessment roll of the county to the comptroller, the collector of taxes shall, by virtue of his tax roll, seize and levy upon and sell so much personal property belonging to such person as may be sufficient to pay his taxes, together with all costs accruing thereon; provided, there shall be no levy on property when the owner thereof has the right to pay at the comptroller's office, until a list of the persons who have paid their taxes at said office has been furnished the collector of taxes by the comptroller. The comptroller shall forward said list of paid taxes on or before the first day of February of each year; and the tax collector shall, immediately on receipt of said list from the comptroller, levy on and sell the property of such non-residents as have not paid their taxes, in accordance with the law regulating the sale of property for taxes. [Acts 1887, p. 127.]

Enjoining collection of taxes.—See notes under Art. 4643.

Art. 7625. [5174] Personal property may be pointed out.—If any person shall point out to the collector of taxes sufficient personal property belonging to him to pay all taxes assessed against him before the first day of January of any year, the collector shall immediately levy upon and sell such property so pointed out, in accordance with the laws regulating tax sales of a similar class of property. [Id.]

Art. 7626. [5175] When property about to be removed from county.—If it comes to the knowledge of the collector that any personal property assessed for taxes on the rolls is about to be removed from the county, and the owner of such property has not other property in the county sufficient to satisfy all assessments against him, the collector shall immediately levy upon a sufficiency of such property to satisfy such taxes and all costs, and the same sell in accordance with the law regulating sales of personal property for taxes, unless the owner of such property shall give bond, with sufficient security, payable to and to be approved by the collector, and conditioned for the payment of the taxes due on such property, on or before the first day of January next succeeding. [Id.]

Art. 7627. [5175a] Tax lien superior to assignment, attachment, inheritance or devise, except.—In all cases where a taxpayer makes an assignment of his property for the payment of his debts, or where his property is levied upon by creditors, by writs of attachment or otherwise, or where the estate of a decedent is or becomes insolvent, and the taxes assessed against such person or party, or against any of his estate remains unpaid in part or in whole, the amount of such unpaid taxes shall be a first lien upon all such property; provided, that, when taxes are due by an estate of a deceased person, the lien herein provided for shall be subject to the allowances to widows and minors, funeral expenses, and expenses of last sickness; and such unpaid taxes shall be paid by the assignee, when said property has been assigned by the sheriff out of the proceeds of sale in case such property has been seized under attachment or other writ, and by the administrator or other legal representative of decedents; and, if said taxes shall not be paid, all said property may be levied on by the tax collector and sold for such taxes in whomsoever's hands it may be found. [Report Joint Committee, 1895, No. 111, Sen. Jour., p. 486.]

In general.—This article does not apply to a tax in favor of a municipal corporation incorporated under the general laws of this state. It creates a lien upon personal property when the conditions named in it exist. Such a lien does not exist independent of this article. People's Nat. Bank v. City of Ennis (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 832.

This article does not amount to exemption, for it does not undertake to repeal any other legislation on the subject. Its purpose is to aid in collection of taxes, and is not for the benefit of individuals. State v. Jordan, 25 C. A. 17, 59 S. W. 826, 66 S. W. 1005.
Priority of liens.—This article has no bearing on the question as to the superiority of the landlord’s lien, under Art. 5477, over the claim of the children of a deceased tenant for an allowance in lieu of exemptions, under Art. 3414. Champion v. Shumate, 30 T. 527, 34 S. W. 128, 362, 40 S. W. 394.

Liability for proceeds.—The court has authority to order taxes paid out of the proceeds of property sold under the foreclosure of a mechanic’s lien. Kahler v. Betterton (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 289.

Art. 7628. Execution on property in other counties than that where tax is due.—Whenever it shall appear to the collector of taxes in any county in this state that any person who is delinquent in the payment of his or her taxes has no property in his county out of which said amount of taxes can be collected, it shall be the duty of such collector to make out from the assessment list a true and complete list or schedule of the taxes due by said delinquent, which shall be certified to under the official seal and signature of said collector, and to forward the same to the collector of taxes of any county or counties where he shall have reason to believe said delinquent has property of any description, and, if said property is in any of the unorganized counties of this state, then to the collector of the county to which said unorganized county is attached for judicial purposes; and, when received by said collector, he shall at once proceed to the collection of said tax by seizure and sale, in the same manner as if said taxes were originally assessed and due in his said county, and shall report to the collector from whom said list was received the taxes so collected by him. [Acts 1905, p. 317.]

Art. 7629. Tax collector not allowed credit for delinquents, when.—No tax collector in this state shall be allowed credit for lists of delinquent or insolvent taxpayers, as provided by article 7621 of the Revised Statutes of this state, until he makes oath in writing that he has exhausted all resources to collect said delinquent taxes under this chapter and under articles 7624, 7625, 7626 and 7627. [Id.]

In general.—This article has reference to credits to which the tax collector is entitled for his lists of delinquent taxpayers as provided in Art. 7621, and not to fees he is entitled to receive in suits for the collection of taxes. Unknown Owner v. State, 55 C. A. 800, 118 S. W. 804.

Art. 7630. [5176] All property liable for taxes.—All real and personal property held or owned by any person in this state shall be liable for all state and county taxes due by the owner thereof, including taxes on real estate, personal property and poll tax; and the collector of taxes shall levy on any personal or real property to be found in his county to satisfy all delinquent taxes, any law to the contrary notwithstanding. [Acts 1879, p. 46.]

Levy before sale for delinquent taxes.—To constitute title or color of title all prerequisites must be shown and a levy must precede a sale for delinquent taxes. Allen v. Courtney, 24 C. A. 86, 58 S. W. 200, 201.

Art. 7631. [5177] Sales of property, how made.—In making sales of personal property for taxes, the collector shall give notice of the time and place of sale, together with a brief description of the property levied on and to be sold, for at least ten days previous to the day of sale, by advertisements in writing to be posted at the court house door, and at two other public places in the county; and such sale shall take place at the court house door of the county in which the assessment is made, by public auction. [Acts 1876, p. 259, sec. 15.]

Art. 7632. [5178] If property is insufficient.—If personal property levied upon prove insufficient to satisfy the taxes and penalties due and costs accrued thereon, the collector shall levy upon and sell so much other personal taxable property belonging to the person as will be sufficient to satisfy such taxes, penalties and costs in the same manner as an original levy and sale; and, in all cases of sales for taxes, if there be an excess remaining in the hands of the collector, after satisfying all taxes, penalties and costs, the same shall be paid over to the original
Art. 7633. [5179] Sales of real property, when made.—If the delinquent is not possessed of a sufficiency of personal property in the county, subject to seizure and sale, to satisfy all taxes due by him, the collector of taxes shall seize so much of the real estate of such delinquent, situated in the county, as will be sufficient to satisfy such taxes and all costs, and the same sell in accordance with the provisions of the succeeding article. [Id. sec. 16.]

Art. 7634. [5180] Advertisements of real property for sale, etc.—In making sales of real property for taxes, the collector shall advertise the same for sale in some newspaper published in the county where the land is to be sold, for three successive weeks, if there be one; and the publisher of such newspaper shall receive as compensation not exceeding twenty-five cents for each tract or parcel of land so advertised, to be taxed as other costs of sale against such land; provided, the cost of advertising in a newspaper shall be deducted from the fees allowed the collector for advertising; and provided, that the comptroller shall allow the collector twenty-five cents per tract for each tract of land bid off by the state; and, if there be no newspaper published in the county, or, there being a newspaper published in the county, and the publisher thereof refuses to publish the advertisement at the price herein fixed, then advertisement shall be made by posting the same for thirty days previous to the day of sale, at the court house door and three other public places in the county where the land or lots are situated, giving in said advertisement such description as is given to the same on the tax rolls in his hands, stating the name of the owner, if known, and if unknown say “unknown,” together with time, place and terms of sale; said sale to be for cash, to the highest bidder, at public outcry, at the court house door, and between legal hours, on the first Tuesday of the month. [Acts 1881, p. 15.]

Contracts for publication.—See notes under Art. 7637. Where publishers of newspapers agree to submit bids for publishing delinquent tax lists at a certain price, and to share the proceeds, a contract with one of them at the price so fixed is void. City of Wichita Falls v. Skeen, 18 C. A. 632, 45 S. W. 1067.

Necessity and requisites of notice.—A failure to give the notice required by law of the place of sale vitiates the sale. Henderson v. White, 49 T. 106, 5 S. W. 374.

A sale of land for taxes advertised in the name of “J. A. Rogers,” instead of “J. A. Rogers,” held not voidable only. Moore v. Rogers, 100 T. 361, 99 S. W. 1023.

Proof of notice of sale.—See notes under Art. 3687, Introductory, § 54.

Art. 7635. [5181] List to be posted.—Prior to the sale of any real property for taxes in any county in this state, the collector of taxes shall advertise the same by posting a list of the names of the delinquents for thirty days as follows: One copy at the court house door of the county, and a copy at two other public places in the county where the lands or lots are situated. [Acts 1879, S. S., p. 46.]

Posting of lists.—Where a tax law requires copies of the assessment roll to be posted at certain places, a failure on the part of the assessor or collector to post the copies as required will invalidate the tax sale. Yenda v. Wheeler, 9 T. 408.

A failure of the assessor and collector to post a list of delinquent taxable, as prescribed by the statute, is a fatal objection to a tax title. Pitts v. Booth, 15 T. 405.

Art. 7636. [5182] May be continued from day to day.—As far as may be practicable, all the lands and town lots levied upon for taxes shall be advertised in one notice and be sold on the same day; and such sales may be continued from day to day until concluded; but at the close of each day’s sale the collector of taxes shall make proclamation of such continuance on the following day. No sale shall be considered complete until the payment of the purchase money; and, if the same is not paid before the completion of the tax sales, the collector shall resell the property, and continue such sale until the same is complete. [Acts 1876, p. 289.]
Art. 7637. [5183] Homesteads liable only for their own taxes.—No real estate set apart, used or designated as a homestead shall be sold for taxes other than the taxes due on such homestead. [Id.]

Liability of homestead.—The homestead is not protected by the constitution from forced sale for lawful taxes that may be due on it. While that instrument throws the most ample protection around the homestead, it clearly intends that in return it shall bear its just proportionate share of the burdens imposed by government, and it is liable as other real property to all taxes, state, county or municipal, that are justly and lawfully laid on the property of the citizen. Lufkin v. Galveston, 58 T. 545.

The homestead is exempt from forced sale for taxes, except such as are assessed against the homestead itself, and a sale of it for other taxes as well as those assessed against it is inhibited by the constitution. Wright v. Straub, 64 T. 64.

Where the amount of taxes for which a homestead is alleged to have been bought is greater than the amount allowed by the Constitution, the sale is void. Hayes v. Taylor, 17 C. A. 445, 43 S. W. 314.

Taxes assessed against a homestead are a lien thereon, and it may be sold therefor, notwithstanding Const. art. 15, § 50, protecting the homestead against forced sale, and providing that no mortgage, deed of trust, or other lien on the homestead shall be valid; the words “other lien” including only those created by contract. City of San Antonio v. Toeppelewain, 104 T. 46, 153 S. W. 416.

Liability for costs.—Costs of sale may be charged against a homestead sold under execution for taxes. Bean v. City of Brownwood (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 1036.

Costs of a tax foreclosure suit of a homestead are a lien on the property so foreclosed. City of San Antonio v. Berry, 92 T. 119, 48 S. W. 496, affirming Berry v. City of San Antonio (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 273.

Art. 7638. [5184] Sales of land, how made.—The collector of taxes, in making sales for taxes due upon real estate, shall sell at auction, at the time and place appointed, so much of said real estate as may be necessary to pay the taxes and penalties due and all costs accruing thereon, and shall offer said real estate to the bidder who will pay the taxes and penalties due, and costs of sale and execution of deed, for the least amount of said real estate, who shall be deemed the highest bidder.

Should a less amount of said real estate than the whole tract or parcel of said real estate levied upon be sold for the taxes and penalties due and all costs of sale and execution and deed, the collector shall, in making his deed to the purchaser, begin at some corner of said tract or parcel of land or town lot and designate the same in a square as near as practicable. [Id. p. 263, sec. 17.]

In general.—This article does not apply to sales by the sheriff under foreclosure as provided by Chapter 15 of this title. Masterson v. State, 17 C. A. 61, 43 S. W. 1003.

Art. 7639. [5185] The tax deed and its requisites.—The collector of taxes shall execute and deliver to the purchaser, upon the payment of the amount for which the estate was sold, and costs and penalties, a deed for the real estate sold, which deed shall vest a good and perfect title to said land in the purchaser, if not redeemed in two years, as hereinafter provided; which deed shall state the cause of sale, the amount sold, the price for which the real estate was sold, the name of the person, firm, company or corporation on whom the demand for the taxes was made, provided, the name is known, and if unknown say “unknown,” the same description of the land as is given in the tax rolls, and such other description as may be practicable for better identification; and when real estate has been sold he shall convey, subject to the right of redemption provided for in Article 7641, all the right and interest which the former owner had therein at the time when the assessment was made. [Const., art. 8, sec. 13. Id. sec. 18.]

See notes under Chapter 15 of this title.

Former law.—The declaration in the twenty-fifth section of the tax law of 1849 (Hend.) that the tax deed should be good and effectual, both in law and equity, must be regarded as giving no special sanction to the conveyance, beyond that derived from the general principles of the law. (But query, if the doctrine had not been firmly established.) And hence, notwithstanding that provision, it is necessary for a plaintiff, claiming under a tax sale made by virtue of that law, to allege and prove that all the prerequisites were performed. Hadley v. Tankersley, 8 T. 12.

Where an assessment under the act of 1841 purported to be made in the name of the owner, but the name was not that of the owner and did not appear to be so, except from the county map, the tax sale was invalid, although the records of the county did not contain anything to show who was the true owner, other than the map aforesaid. Yenda v. Wheeler, 9 T. 405.

Constraining the act of March 30, 1848 (Hart. Dig. art. 3145), which provided that a tax collector's deed, "when recorded according to law, shall be prima facie evidence that all the requisites of the law have been complied with in making such sale," held, that such deed was not thereby made evidence of a compliance with the prerequisites to the acquisition and exercise of the power to sell. The statute applied only to the proceeds of the power to sell when first acquired. Terrell v. Bente, 64 T. 121, citing Devine v. McCulloch, 15 T. 491; Kelly v. Medlin, 26 T. 56, and other cases.

One claiming land under a tax sale made under the act of 1840 (Early Laws, art. 711) must aver and prove compliance on the part of the officer who executed the deed with all the essential requisites of the law for a valid tax sale. Telfener v. Dillard, 70 T. 135, 7 S. W. 847.

Validity of tax deeds in general.—See, also, notes under Art. 5675.

Whether assumes to convey under his name an unknown owner, without reference to the derivation of title or to the person under whom he claimed, and the proceedings have been otherwise regular, it may be effectual: but where the officer undertakes to convey a particular title, the purchaser takes the title so conveyed; nonetheless will pass by the deed. Yenda v. Wheeler, 9 T. 498; Wheeler v. Yenda, 11 T. 563.

Where a tax deed was admitted in evidence without objection, without evidence of the facts necessary to give the assessor and collector power to sell, and the court charged the jury that the tax deed was prima facie evidence that all the requisites of the law had been complied with, but the jury found against such title, under the charge of the court on another point, a question being made in this court whether the finding on such charge sustained, the court said it was not necessary to decide the question, because the party did not prove the facts necessary to give the assessor and collector power to sell, and affirmed the judgment. Devine v. McCulloch, 15 T. 488.

A collector's deed to property subject to taxation, and sold in accordance with law, does not convey which can only be impeached for actual fraud. Such a deed would, therefore, constitute a cloud upon the title of land regularly sold, but not liable for the tax, to prevent or remove which equity may be invoked. Cassiano v. Ursuline Academy, 64 T. 673.

To be of any force a tax title must be proved to be the consummation of a valid sale. State taxes are levied by general law and are not required to be proved; county taxes are levied by the commissioners' court, and the levy must be proved or the sale will not appear to have been made for a legal demand. Greer v. Howell, 64 T. 683.

A tax deed was attacked upon the following, among other grounds: 1. The tax rolls failed to show the number of the certificate by virtue of which the land was located. 2. The notice of sale fails to show when the land would be sold. 3. The deed made by the collector describes the land sold for taxes as being one hundred and sixty acres, patented to H. F. Heath; but, on the record, it is seen that the boundaries by metes and bounds, and excepting out of said tract eighty acres on which the taxes were paid by H. F. Heath. These objections are well taken. Henderson v. White, 69 T. 102, 5 S. W. 574.

A legal assessment, advertisement and tax sale of land must be clearly shown before any rights can be acquired under a tax title. Railway Co. v. Poiindexter, 70 T. 98, 7 S. W. 316.

The petition alleged the existence of a void tax sale and that it was a cloud upon plaintiff's title. On the trial a tax deed for the land was produced, and there was no testimony to any fact upon which the legality of the tax sale could be based. Held, that it did not devolve upon the plaintiff to further show the invalidity of the tax deed. It being void, no testimony was required to authorize the court to treat it as invalid. Davis v. Ward, 72 T. 112; T. 72, 9 S. W. 110T. 106.

A tax sale of land for an amount greater than the tax collector is authorized by law to charge as fees is void. Eustis v. City of Henrietta, 91 T. 325, 43 S. W. 259.

Where several lots are separately assessed, tax deed showing the sale of them in group, All is to courthouse, 24 C. A. 86, 30 S. W. 498.

A tax sale and the rights acquired thereunder are to be determined by the law in force at the time of the sale. Bente v. Sullivan, 62 C. A. 464, 118 S. W. 350.

A tax sale made during the civil war held not void. Wright v. Giles (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1162.

Right to exercise power to sell.—The power of the officer to sell land for the non-payment of taxes is a naked power, not coupled with an interest: and in all such cases the law requires that every prerequisite to the exercise of that power must precede its exercise; that the agent must pursue the power or his act will not be sustained by him. Yenda v. Wheeler, 9 T. 468.

Tax deed as evidence of title.—It is settled that tax titles, when in every respect complete, may constitute perfect assurances of title; they may constitute the basis of a good title under the statute of limitations independent of any judicial determination as titles. Though invalid, a tax title is not necessarily without meritorious consideration, if the owner had reasonable grounds for believing that his title was good. Hatchett v. Conner, 39 T. 104; House v. Stone, 64 T. 677.

A tax deed is of itself no evidence of title in the purchaser at tax sale. Pratt v. Jones, 64 T. 694; Dawson v. Ward, 71 T. 72, 9 S. W. 106.

Claimant under tax deed must show county levied by the county commissioner's court, and has power to sell. Hatton v. Washington, 25 C. A. 104, 41 S. W. 135. But tax deed held conclusive upon the purchaser claiming thereunder as to the facts relating to the sale therein stated. Eustis v. City of Henrietta, 91 T. 325, 43 S. W. 259.

Tax deeds are not evidence of title without proof of compliance with the prerequisites of the law. Boyd v. Miller, 22 C. A. 165, 54 S. W. 411.

Unless evidence is offered to show that the requirements of the law with reference to taxes for which said taxes had been levied, so that a valid conveyance could be made, a tax deed is no evidence of title. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 322.

TAXATION

[5186] Sales to be reported to commissioners' court. —When the collector of taxes shall have made sale of any real estate under this chapter, it shall be his duty to make immediate return of said sale to the commissioners' court, stating in said return the land sold, the name of the owner, if known, and if unknown, state the fact, the time of sale, the amount for which said sale was made, together with the name of the purchaser, which return shall be entered of record on the minute books of said court. [Id.]

Art. 7641. [5187] Redemption of land sold for taxes.—The owner of real estate sold for the payment of taxes, or his heirs or assigns or legal representatives, may, within two years from the date of sale, redeem the estate sold by paying or tendering to the purchaser, his heirs or legal representative, double the amount of money paid for the land. [Id. sec. 19.]

See notes under Arts. 7605-7607.

In general.—A tender to the purchaser at tax sale, under the third section of the act of June 2, 1873 (18th Leg. p. 187), concerning taxes, which is similar in terms to this article, the full amount of the purchase money paid for land at such sale, within twelve months, with one year's interest on the same, at the rate of 5 per cent, per annum, worked ipso facto an immediate redemption of the land by the original owner, and left the purchaser at tax sale without title. Burns v. Ledbetter, 64 T. 374.

An owner of land sold for taxes may redeem by payment of the required amount to the purchaser, even when such purchaser has transferred his interest. Turner v. Smith, 56 C. A. 1, 119 S. W. 922.

Art. 7642. Redemption within two years, when.—That the owner or any one having an interest in lands or lots heretofore sold to the state, or any city, or town, under decree of court in any suit or suits brought for the collection of the taxes thereon, or by the collector of taxes, or otherwise, shall have the right at any time within two years after the taking effect of this Act, to redeem the same upon the payment of the amount of taxes for which sale was made, together with all costs, penalties and interest now required by law, and also the payment of all taxes, interest, penalties and costs on or against said lands or lots at the time of said redemption. And where lands or lots shall hereafter be sold to the state, or to any city or town for taxes under decree of court in any suit or suits brought for collection of taxes thereon, or by a collector of taxes, or otherwise, the owner having an interest in such lands or lots shall have the right at any time within two years from the date of sale to redeem the same after such sale upon payment of the amount of taxes for which sale was made, together with all costs and penalties required by law, and also the payment of all the taxes, interest, penalties and costs on or against said lands or lots at the time amending Art. 7642, Rev. St. 1911.]

Art. 7643. [5188] Redemption from private purchasers.—Any person having the right to redeem any land sold at tax sale may do so by payment, within the time prescribed by law, to the collector of taxes of the county in which the said land was sold, of the amount which the law requires to be paid; provided, that the owner of said land, or his agent, shall first have made affidavit before some officer authorized by law to administer oaths, that he has made diligent search in the county where said land is situated for the purchaser thereof at the tax sale, and has failed to find him, or that the purchaser at such tax sale is not a resident of the county in which the land is situated, or that he and the purchaser can not agree on the amount of redemption money. In such cases only shall the owner or agent be authorized to redeem the same by the payment to the collector of taxes. [Acts 1879, S. S., p. 29.]

Art. 7644. [5189] Receipt of collector, notice when.—It shall be the duty of any collector of taxes, to whom payment is made under the provisions of this chapter, to give a receipt therefor, signed by him officially, in the presence of two witnesses; which said receipt, when duly recorded, shall be notice to all persons that the land therein described has been redeemed; and the collector of taxes shall, on demand, pay over to the purchaser at said tax sale the money thus received by him. [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7645. [5190] Relief, when.—Any person whose land has been rendered for taxation, whether the same was rendered in the name of the original grantee or not, and has also been placed upon the unre-dered rolls for the same year, shall be entitled to relief upon complying with the requirements hereinafter indicated. [Acts 1881, p. 107.]

Art. 7646. [5191] Same.—If any such lands shall have been sold for the taxes charged upon the unrendered rolls, and bought by the state, the owner thereof, his agent or attorney, shall present to the tax colclector of the county in which the land is situated a sworn statement to the effect that the same land has been rendered for taxation, and placed upon the regular assessment rolls for the year mentioned. Said affidavit shall contain an accurate description of the land, and be accompanied with the certificate of the assessor that the same is true and correct; and the tax collector shall thereupon present such person with a written statement, officially signed, that said tax has been canceled, and make a note of the same upon the unrendered rolls; provided, the provisions of this article shall apply to such lands at any time after the colclector shall receive the rolls until the same shall have gone into the hands of a private purchaser; and if the owner shall have paid the taxes charged upon the unrendered rolls at any time previous he shall be entitled to the warrant of the comptroller for the amount so paid, in the same manner as is provided in article 7647 of this chapter, in cases of redemption from individual purchasers; provided further, that the tax collector shall make no charge whatever for the duties herein mentioned. [Acts 1881, p. 107, sec. 2.]

Art. 7647. [5192] Certificate of redemption from collector.—When the owner of such lands shall have redeemed the same from a private purchaser, it shall be the duty of the tax collector to furnish him a certificate to that effect; and, upon presentment of said certificate to the comptroller, the comptroller shall issue to him a warrant upon the treasury of the state for the amount of such tax. This warrant shall be receivable for all taxes to the state. For issuing the certificate provided for in this article, the tax collector shall be allowed the sum of fifty cents, to be paid by the applicant. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7648. [5193] Lands to be bid in for state, when.—Should the collector of taxes fail to make sale of any real estate for want of a purchaser, he shall bid the same off for the state for the taxes and penalties due and all costs accruing thereon, and execute a deed to the state; and one deed shall include all tracts of land bid off to the state at such tax sale, and make due return thereof, under such forms and directions as the comptroller may furnish and direct; and, after sale and purchase by the state of any real estate, it shall not be lawful for said collector to levy upon or advertise or sell the same for any remaining or accrued taxes due thereon until the same shall have been redeemed by the owner or is sold by the state. Said collector shall, on final settlement of his accounts with the commissioners' court and the comptroller of public accounts, be entitled to a credit for the amount of taxes due the state and county, respectively, for which the land and lots were bid off to the state. [Acts 1879, S. S., p. 36, sec. 1.]

Presumption as to validity of sale.—See notes under Art. 3687, Rule 14.

Art. 7649. [5194] May redeem, how.—The owner, or his agent, of any lands that may have been conveyed to the state under the provisions of the foregoing article, desiring to redeem the same, may do so by depositing with the collector of the county in which the lands were sold double the amount of the purchase money and all accrued taxes thereon, within two years from the date of the deed to the state; and it shall be the duty of such collector to execute a receipt to such owner, or agents, giving therein the amount of money received, and a description of the land so as to identify the same, and sign and seal the same officially; and, upon presentation of such receipt to the comptroller of public accounts, he shall execute to the owner a relinquishment under his signature and seal of office, which may be admitted to record in like manner with other conveyances of land. [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7650. [5195] If not redeemed.—In case said land shall not have been redeemed as provided in article 7648 [7649], then the same may be sold as provided by article 7648. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7651. [5196] May redeem by paying costs, etc.—The owner of real estate which has been bought in by the state for taxes, his heirs or assigns, may redeem the same at any time prior to the sale thereof, by the payment to the collector of the county in which such real estate is situated, or to the comptroller, if in an unorganized county, of the amount designated by the comptroller as due thereon with costs of advertisement; and provided, further, that if it shall at any time appear to the satisfaction of the comptroller that any land has been sold to the state for taxes which have been paid, or that the sale has not been made in accordance with the law authorizing the sale of land for taxes, he shall, upon the payment of the amount that may be due thereon, cancel such sale; and in all cases he shall deliver to the owner of the land, or his agent, a certificate under seal of his department, setting forth the fact that such land has been redeemed, or that such sale has been canceled; which certificate shall release the interest of the state, and the same may be recorded in the proper county as other conveyances of real estate are recorded. [Id. sec. 7.]

Art. 7652. [5197] Commissioners' court to sit as a board of inquiry, when.—The commissioners' courts of the several counties in this state shall, at the regular terms of said courts, sit as a court of inquiry in cases where land has been erroneously rendered for taxes; and any land owner whose land has been or may be sold to the state for taxes may appear before said court in person or by proxy and show to the satisfaction of a majority of said court that the taxes for which his or her lands have been sold have been paid, although the same was rendered in an incorrect abstract number or survey or original grantee; thereupon said commissioners’ court shall issue to the said land owner a certificate setting forth fully said facts, which certificate shall be signed officially by the county judge of said county; and, upon the presentation of said certificate to the comptroller of public accounts, he shall execute and deliver to said land owner a valid deed relinquishing all the right, title and interest the state may have acquired in and to said land by reason of such tax sale. [Acts 1889, p. 31.]

Art. 7653. [5202] Collector to file complaint, when.—It shall be the duty of the tax collector to make an affidavit before any justice of the peace against any person, firm or association of persons engaged in or pursuing any occupation on which, under the laws of this state, a tax is imposed, who fails or refuses to pay the same. [Acts 1887, p. 127.]

Art. 7654. Compensation.—There shall be paid for the collection of taxes, as compensation for the services of the collector, beginning with the first day of September of each year, five per cent on the first ten thousand dollars collected for the state, and four per cent on the next ten thousand dollars collected for the state, and one per cent on all collected over that sum; for collecting the county taxes, five per cent on the first five thousand dollars of such taxes collected, and four per cent on the next five thousand dollars collected, and one and one-fourth per cent on all such taxes collected over that sum; and, in counties owing subsidies to railroads, the collectors shall receive only one per cent for collecting such railroad tax; and, in cases where property is levied upon and sold for taxes, he shall receive the same compensation as allowed by law to sheriffs or constables upon making a levy and sale in similar cases, but in no case to include commissions on such sales. [Acts 1883, p. 101, sec. 1. Amended Acts 1897, 1 S. S., p. 8, sec. 9.]

Former law.—See Title 58, Chapter 3. County tax collectors entitled to same compensation for selling property for taxes as sheriff gets for execution sales. Eustis v. Henrietta, 91 T. 355, 49 S. W. 259.

Fees.—A person duly elected to the office of tax collector held entitled to the office and emoluments as soon as he had taken the oath of office and qualified. Graves v. Bullen, 63 C. A. 261, 116 S. W. 1177.

Art. 7655. [5207] For occupation tax.—And on all occupations and license taxes collected, five per cent. [Acts 1883, p. 101, sec. 2.]

Art. 7656. [5208] Compensation for one levy only, etc.—In making levies upon different tracts of land belonging to the same individual, corporation or company, the collector shall be entitled to charge for only one levy; and in all cases of advertisement of lands for tax sales he shall be entitled to charge for any one tract the exact proportion of the amount paid for the whole advertisement which said tract bears to all other tracts advertised, and no more. And, for any greater charge under this article, the collector shall be deemed guilty of extortion and be punished as provided in the Penal Code.

Compensation.—Facts held to show that a tax sale was not in excess of the costs authorized by law. Eustis v. City of Henrietta. (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 726. A county or city tax collector can charge for only one levy no matter how many pieces of property belonging to the same man are included in the levy. Eustis v. Henrietta, 91 T. 355, 49 S. W. 259.

Art. 7657. [5209] Taxes upon lands of non-residents in unorganized counties.—The taxes upon lands lying in and owned by non-residents of unorganized counties, and upon lands situated in the territory not laid off into counties, shall be paid and collected at the office of the Art. 7658. [5210] Payment of moneys.—All tax collectors and other officers or appointees authorized to receive public moneys shall account for all moneys in their hands belonging to the state, and pay the same over to the state treasurer whenever and as often as they may be directed so to do by the comptroller of public accounts; provided, that tax collectors shall have thirty days from the date of such direction within which to comply with the same. [Acts 1879, S. S., p. 5.]

Reports and remittances.—See notes under Art. 967. The collector's reports and remittances of taxes collected on account of the state and the county are independent of each other. T. & L. C. C. v. Hemphill County (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 334.

After the collection, the collector is required under penalties to promptly report and remit all taxes collected by him to the state and county treasurers, without excepting cases in which suits, however promptly filed, may be instituted for the recovery thereof. Id.

Certain facts held not to excuse a county tax collector disobeying an order of the commissioners' court to make a payment. Bailey v. Aransas County, 46 C. A. 547, 102 S. W. 1159.

Transfer of funds to public depositories.—See Title 44.

Art. 7659. [5211] Same.—All tax collectors and other officers or appointees authorized to receive public moneys shall account for all moneys in their hands belonging to their respective counties, cities or towns, and pay the same over to the respective county treasurers or city treasurers, whenever and as often as they may be directed so to do by the respective county judges, or county commissioners' courts, or mayor or board of aldermen; provided, that tax collectors shall have ten days from the date of such direction within which to comply with the same. [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7660. [5212] Notification to pay, etc.—The notification and direction provided for in the two preceding articles may be verbal, written, or by telegram; and, if written or by telegram, proof of the deposit in the postoffice or telegraph office of such notification and direction, with postage or charges duly prepaid and correctly addressed, shall be prima facie evidence of the fact of such notification and direction having been given, and of the time when the same was given. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7661. [5212a] Duty of district and county attorneys to sue for taxes on personal property.—Hereafter it shall be the duty of the district or county attorney of the respective counties of this state, by order of the commissioners' court, to institute suit in the name of the state for the recovery of all money due the state and county as taxes due and unpaid on unrendered personal property; and, in all suits where judgments are obtained under this act, the person owning the property on which there are taxes due the state and county shall be liable for all costs; provided, such suits may be brought for all taxes so due and unpaid for which such delinquent taxpayer may be in arrears for and since the year 1886; and provided, further, the state and county shall be exempt from liability for any costs growing out of such action; provided, all suits brought under this article for the recovery of taxes due on personal property shall be brought against the person or persons who owned the property at the time such property should have been listed or assessed for taxation; provided, that no suit shall be brought until after demand is made by the collector for taxes due; and provided, further, that no suit shall be brought for an amount less than twenty-five dollars. [Report Joint Committee, Sen. Jour., 1895, p. 486, No. 113.]

In general.—This article was not intended to create any liability for taxes, but only to provide an additional method of collecting taxes from the persons already liable. That is to say, the taxes are not due from the person sued within the meaning of this article until there has been a valid assessment against him either as known or unknown owner. Connell v. State (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 980.

Right of action.—No right of action exists for the nonpayment of an ad valorem property tax until assessment has been made as provided by law. Connell v. State (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 980.

Jurisdiction of courts.—See notes under Art. 1765.
Art. 7662. [5212b] Limitation not available to delinquent taxpayer.—No delinquent taxpayer shall have the right to plead in any court or in any manner rely upon any statute of limitation by way of defense against the payment of any taxes due from him or her either to the state or any county, city or state [town]. [Acts 1895, S. S.]

Historical.—This article is the same as section 16 of the act of July 4, 1879, which, it seems, was omitted from the Revised Statutes of 1895, which went into effect September 1, 1895. There was, therefore, no law on the subject from September 1, 1895, to October 9th following, the date of the passage of the above article. See Hernandez v. City of San Antonio (Civ. App.) 39 S. W. 1022.

In general.—The two-years limitation does not operate against a claim for taxes, when wrongful statute, forbidding its operation, was omitted from the Revision, but reinstated within the two years. Abney v. State, 20 C. A. 101, 47 S. W. 1045.

Statute of limitations cannot be pleaded as a bar against the recovery of delinquent taxes. Id.

DECISIONS RELATING TO SUBJECT IN GENERAL

Recovery of taxes paid.—A tax was imposed by the legislature, and in the ordinary course of business paid by persons taxed without any question having been made as to its legality or the irregularity of the collection of that part of it claimed by the county. In a suit to recover back a portion of the tax claimed to have been illegally assessed, held: (1) That the plaintiffs did not have the right to bring their suit at any time within two years to recover back that portion of the tax claimed to be illegal. (2) The tax being voluntarily paid, it was not, under the circumstances, contrary to good conscience for the county to retain it. Galveston County v. Gorham, 49 T. 275.

Where illegally assessed taxes are paid under protest after seizure, the money paid may be recovered back in a suit promptly brought against the officer before he is required to pay it out. Hardesty v. Fleming, 57 T. 289.

In an action against a county and the tax collector to recover taxes paid on an alleged illegal valuation of the property, it was error for the court to grant a recovery for the county taxes paid, since such action was a collateral attack on the judgment of the commissioners' court fixing the value of the land. Texas Land & Cattle Co. v. Hemphill County (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 333.

Recovery of illegal costs.—See notes under Art. 1827, § 188. Conditions precedent.—After the entire property of a private corporation had been listed by it for taxation, the county assessor, without authority of law, made a further assessment on the corporation for property that it did not own, and the land of the corporation was advertised by the collector for sale, to satisfy said illegal assessment; thereupon the corporation paid the illegal tax under protest. Five months after payment a claim for the return of the money was presented to the commissioners' court, and in nine months more suit was brought against the county. Held: (1) That under section 13, article 5, of the constitution of 1876, and section 18 of the act of August, 1876, regulating the duties of tax collectors, a tax sale of the property of the corporation would have constituted a cloud on it's title. (2) The taxes having been paid under protest to prevent the sale and consequent cloud on the title, the payment was so far compulsory as to allow of a recovery back, if sought with reasonable promptness. (3) Expressions of opinion in Red v. Johnson, 53 T. 284, noted and explained. (4) The necessity for action was sufficiently immediate and urgent to remove the payment made to the collector from the class of voluntary payments. (5) That an application for relief has been made to the county commissioners' court, and refused, would not bar a recovery back of the taxes illegally paid under protest. The question was not one of valuation, but of an illegal collection of money, to relieve against which the county court or board of equalization had no jurisdiction. Galveston Gas Co. v. County of Galveston, 54 T. 287.

The right to recover back taxes paid under protest exists, although the taxpayer had not appeared before the board of equalization and contested the assessment. Hardesty v. Fleming, 57 T. 396.

Refunding of taxes.—Whether a purchaser of land at tax sale whose title is invalid, but who neither knew, nor by proper diligence could have known, when he purchased, the invalidity of his deed, is entitled to have refunded to him taxes which were a charge upon the land before the entering of a decree canceling the tax deed, quære. Stewart v. Kemp, 64 T. 248.

Reimbursement for taxes paid in trespass to try title.—See notes at end of Title 128.

Article 7663. [5213] Back taxes on unrendered lands.—In all cases where lands or real estate have not been assessed for taxation for any year since the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy, the same shall be assessed and the taxes thereon collected in the mode prescribed in this chapter. [Act Aug. 19, 1876, p. 214, sec. 1.]

Art. 7664. [5214] Comptroller to prepare list each year.—On the first day of July of each year, the comptroller of public accounts shall cause to be prepared a list of all unrendered lands in each county subject to taxation and not assessed, in which shall be specified the name of the original grantee, the abstract number, the number of acres, the year for which such lands were unrendered, and the rate of state and county taxes for such year. [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7665. [5215] And forward same to boards of equalization.—Upon completion of such lists, the comptroller shall forward the same to the board of equalization of the respective counties, with the verification that the said list is a true and correct statement of all the unrendered land and real estate in —— county for the year ——, as shown by the records of his office. [Id.]

Art. 7666. [5216] The board to value such lands.—Upon receipt of such list or lists by the board of equalization of such county, it shall be their duty to value each and every tract of land or parcel of real estate so mentioned and described in the said lists at their true and full value, as near as can be ascertained, for the year it was omitted to have been rendered. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7667. [5217] And cause three rolls to be made.—When the board of equalization shall have completed the valuation, they shall cause to be made out three separate rolls, in such manner as may be prescribed by the comptroller; they shall place one in the hands of the collector of taxes, forward one to the comptroller of the state, and file one in the office of the county clerk for the inspection of the public. [Id. sec. 4.]

Art. 7668. [5218] Collector to give notice.—Upon receipt of the rolls by the collector of taxes, he shall advertise in some weekly newspaper published in his county, and, if no paper is published in his county, by posting printed circulars in not less than eight public places in his county, for four consecutive weeks, that the rolls for the collection of taxes on unrendered land and real estate have been placed in his hands, and that unless the taxes are paid within sixty days after the date of said notice he will proceed to collect the same as provided by law for the collection of delinquent taxes. [Id. p. 215, sec. 5.]

Art. 7669. [5219] And enforce collections after sixty days.—After the expiration of said sixty days, if the taxes on any such lands are not paid, the collector of taxes shall proceed to enforce the collection of said taxes in the mode provided in the preceding chapter for the enforced collection of delinquent taxes; and he shall be entitled to the same fees and penalties as are allowed him for the collection of other delinquent taxes. [Id. sec. 6.]

Art. 7670. [5220] Comptroller to make out list of lands sold to state, etc.—It shall be the duty of the comptroller of public accounts, on or before the first day of each year, to make out and forward to the collector of taxes in each county of the state a full and complete list of all real estate situated in said county that has been previously, at tax sales, bid off to the state for taxes assessed in the county where the land is situated, since the thirty-first day of December, 1876, the owners of which
Art. 7671. [5221] Sale, when and how made.—It shall be the duty of each collector of taxes, within ninety days after receipt of said list, to call to his aid the county surveyor of his county, and, near as may be, ascertain if any lands contained in said list do not in fact exist in said county, or are embraced in other surveys conflicting therewith, and upon which the taxes have been paid; and, after deducting the same from said list, he shall proceed to sell each tract of land therein described, whether belonging to residents or non-residents, for the payment of such sums of money as may be designated on said list as due thereon, together with all costs that may accrue in advertising and selling the same as herein provided. [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7672. [5222] Advertisement of sale and redemption by owner.—The collector of taxes shall, prior to the sale of any real estate that has been previously bid off to the state at-tax sales, the owners of which have failed to redeem the same, advertise the real estate to be sold in some newspaper published in the county for six successive weeks, if there be such newspaper published therein, otherwise he shall post advertisements of said sale at the court house door and at one public place in each justice's precinct of his county for at least six weeks, giving in said advertisement, whether published or posted, such description of the lands to be sold as shall be given on the comptroller's list, and stating the time, place and terms of sale, which shall be between legal hours on the first Tuesday of some specified month at the court house door at public outcry, to the highest bidder for cash; provided, that no real estate shall in any case be sold for less than the amount designated by the comptroller as due thereon, together with all costs of advertisements and sale; and provided, further, that no sales shall be made under the provisions of this chapter until six months after the same goes into effect; and provided, further, that the former owner of any such real estate, his heirs or assigns, may redeem the same at any time prior to the sale thereof, by the payment to the collector of the county in which such real estate is situated, or to the comptroller, if in an unorganized county, of the amount designated by the comptroller as due thereon, with costs of advertisement; and provided, further, that, if it shall at any time appear to the satisfaction of the comptroller that any land has been sold to the state for taxes which have been paid, or that the sale has not been made in accordance with the law authorizing the sale of land for taxes, he shall, upon the payment of the amount that may be due thereon, cancel such sale; and in all cases he shall deliver to the owner of the land, or his agent, a certificate under seal of his department, setting forth the fact that such land has been redeemed, or that such sale has been canceled, which certificate shall release the interest of the state, and the same may be recorded in the proper county as other conveyances of real estate are recorded. [Acts 1884, S. S., p. 31. Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7673. [5223] Land sold, how.—At the time and place appointed for said sale, the collector of taxes shall offer for sale each separate parcel of the real estate advertised, and shall sell the same to the bidder who will offer the largest amount of money therefor. [Acts 1879, p. 79, sec. 4.]

Art. 7674. [5224] Sale may be continued, etc.—If the sale of the real estate advertised as provided herein shall not be completed on the day it is commenced, said sale may be continued for ten consecutive days, from day to day, by announcement of the tax collector to that effect; and the said collector may, if there be on any day a less number than three bidders present, adjourn said sale to the first Tuesday in the following month. [Id. sec. 5.]

Art. 7675. [5225] Deed executed, when and how.—When a sale has been made of any real estate as herein provided, the collector of taxes, upon payment of the amount bid for the same, shall make, execute and deliver to the purchaser a deed for such real estate, specifying in said deed the cause and date of sale, the number of acres sold, if the same can be ascertained, the name of the person, firm, corporation or company in whose name the land was assessed, and all such descriptive information as may be necessary to identify the property conveyed; provided, that the purchaser may, after payment, as described in this article, ask a delay of sixty days within which to have said real estate surveyed by the county surveyor, said survey to be made at the expense of the purchaser, and, upon a certificate from the collector directed to the surveyor that the person named in the certificate has purchased and paid for the same, not to exceed one dollar for each survey, to be paid for out of the sale of such survey. [Id. sec. 6.]

Art. 7676. [5226] Same.—When a survey has been made, as provided in the preceding article, and a copy of the field-notes, certified to as true and correct by the county surveyor, filed with the collector of taxes, the said collector shall thereupon make, execute and deliver to the purchaser a deed to said real estate, which deed shall, in addition to the requisite hereinbefore named, contain the field-notes certified by the county surveyor. [Id. sec. 7.]

Art. 7677. [5227] Effect of deed, etc.—Deeds made, executed and delivered by collectors of taxes under the authority of this chapter shall be held to vest a good and perfect title to the real estate therein described in the purchaser, and may be impeached only by frauds; provided, that the former owner shall have two years from the date of said deed to redeem the same by paying to the purchaser double the amount paid for said land by the purchaser at such sale, together with all subsequent taxes paid by the purchaser, with eight per cent interest on the amount of such subsequent taxes. [Id. sec. 8.]

Art. 7678. [5228] Report of sales.—Within thirty days after sales made under the provisions of this chapter, the collector of taxes shall make a report to the commissioners' court of his county, and also to the comptroller of public accounts, giving in said reports such description of the real estate sold as is given in the comptroller's list, and stating the amounts due the state, county and collector respectively, and the amount for which said land was sold, and the name of the party to whom each tract was sold. [Id. sec. 9.]

Art. 7679. [5229] Proceeds of sale paid to whom.—Collectors of taxes shall, within sixty days after payments for real estate sold under the provisions of this chapter, after deducting from the proceeds of sale all costs due to them or their predecessors in said office, pay into the county treasury of the county in which said real estate is situated the amount of taxes shown by the comptroller's list to be due to said county, and the balance of said proceeds shall be paid by him into the treasury of the state within the said sixty days, in such manner as may be directed by the comptroller of public accounts. [Id. sec. 10.]

Art. 7680. [5230] Collections applied, how.—Taxes collected by state or county, by sales made under the provisions of this chapter, shall be placed to the credit of the different funds for which originally assessed under the direction respectively of the comptroller of public accounts and the commissioners' court of the county in which the sale is made; the balance of the proceeds, after satisfying all taxes, penalties and costs accrued, shall, under the direction of the comptroller, be placed in the treasury of the state as a special tax sale fund, and be subject to be reclaimed by the owner or owners of the land on proof as required in case of escheated estates. [Acts 1884, p. 31.]

Art. 7681. [5231] Costs deducted by collector, etc.—The collector of taxes shall be entitled to deduct and retain out of the proceeds of sale of each separate parcel of real estate sold, as hereinbefore provided:
1. Such amount as may be designated in the comptroller's list as costs due thereon to the collector.
2. If the advertisement of sale is published in a newspaper, such a proportion of the actual amount paid for advertising as the number of acres in such separate parcel sold bears to the whole number of acres advertised; or, if the advertisements are posted, the sum of one dollar.
3. Two dollars for every deed made, executed and delivered under the provisions of this chapter. [Acts 1879, p. 79, sec. 12.]

Art. 7682. [5232] Unsold land reported to comptroller.—If, after the expiration of ninety days after the receipt by the collector of taxes of the comptroller’s list, any real estate described in said list shall remain unsold, it shall be the duty of the said collector to make separate reports of such fact to the commissioners' court of his county and the comptroller of public accounts respectively; and the said parcels of real estate shall be embraced in the next list furnished by the comptroller of public accounts to the collector of taxes. [Id. sec. 13.]

[In addition to the notes under the particular articles, see also notes on the subject in general, at end of chapter.]

Article 7683. All land and improvements subject to taxation.—For the purpose of taxation, real property shall include all lands within the state, and all buildings and fixtures thereon and appertaining thereto, except such as are expressly exempted by law. [Acts 1895, p. 50. Amended Acts 1897, p. 132.]

See notes under Chapters 13, 12.

In general.—This act provides an additional remedy for the collection of taxes and does not render nugatory Chapter 13, relating to the collection of taxes in general. Masterson v. State, 17 C. A. 91, 42 S. W. 1003.

Though a sale has been made by the collector to the state, under Rev. St. 1895, tit. 104, c. 4 (re-enacted with modifications in Chapter 13 of this title), the lien continues to exist on the land, and may be foreclosed under Acts 1895, p. 50 (amended in 1897 and embodied in this chapter), relating to the collection of delinquent taxes. Id.

This article is not retroactive and does not apply to taxes which became due prior to its enactment. Conklin v. City of El Paso (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 878.

Acts 1886, c. 42, amended in 1897 and embodied in this chapter, did not repeal Arts. 7594-7596, originally enacted in 1879, since the act of 1895 only sought to regulate the col.
section of taxes such as had been and were thereafter to be assessed and collected by local officers, and the application of the 19th section to the passage of that act, were not the provisions of any of the taxes, provision for the collection of which was made by Arts. 7537-7604. Wolffarth v. De Lay (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 617. Acts 24th Leg. c. 43, amended in 1897 and embodied in this chapter, do not repeal Acts 19th Leg. c. 133 (Arts. 7537-7604), referring to nonresidents of unorganized counties owning land therein, authorizing the comptroller to assess and collect such taxes, and pointing out the method to be pursued. De Lay v. Wolffarth (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 1030.

Consolidation of actions.—Refusal to consolidate actions under this article and Art. 7700, for the collection of delinquent taxes on separate tracts assessed in separate assessments, either to third persons as owners or to unknown owners, brought in the same court on the same day, against one claiming to own all the tracts at the time of the commencement of the actions, is not an abuse of discretion conferred by Art. 2132, authorizing the court, in its discretion, to consolidate actions. McFaddin v. State (Civ. App.) 159 S. W. 991.

Art. 7684. Delinquent taxes a lien on land.—All lands or lots which have been returned delinquent or reported sold to the state, or to any city or town, for taxes due thereon since the first day of January, A. D. 1885, or which may hereafter be returned delinquent or reported sold to the state, or to any city or town, shall be subject to the provisions of this act; and said taxes shall remain a lien upon the said land, although the owner be unknown, or though it be listed in the name of a person not the actual owner; and though the ownership be changed, the land may be sold under the judgment of the court for all taxes, interest, penalty and costs shown to be due by such assessment for any preceding year. [Id. sec. 2.]

Lien for delinquent taxes.—A tax lien cannot be defeated on the ground that the land was dedicated to the public use, unless the public claims the land under the dedication. Taylor v. State, 19 C. A. 86, 46 S. W. 81.

The state can enforce a tax lien on lands already bought by it for taxes. Id.

Where an assessment was void for uncertainty of description, the fact that a subsequent purchaser of the land had knowledge that such taxes were unpaid did not give the state the right to enforce a lien for their nonpayment. State v. Farmer, 94 T. 232, 59 S. W. 541.

Inadequacy of price held that purchaser of land could not be protected as an innocent purchaser. Green v. Robertson, 30 C. A. 226, 70 S. W. 345.

That the owner of a lot who bought it subject to taxes, was an innocent purchaser could not be set up as a defense against a suit to enforce the tax lien. Toepperwein v. City of San Antonio (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 699.

The lien on a lot securing subsequently accruing taxes, which a purchaser assumed, could not be enforced except by a suit against him. Id.

A wife and her husband having parted with all their interest in a lot, it was not subject to be administered as a part of her estate, and a tax lien on it could not be enforced through such proceeding. Id.

A purchaser of land subject to a lien for taxes and penalties held not personally liable for the taxes and penalties. City of San Antonio v. Toepperwein, 104 T. 43, 133 S. W. 416, affirming Toepperwein v. City of San Antonio (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 699.

Liens against homestead.—See notes under Art. 7637.

Consequences of judgment.—Where the holder of a vendor's lien on certain land was not a party to a suit by the state against the purchaser for taxes, the legal title remaining in the vendor, a judgment against the purchaser had no adverse effect on the vendor's interest notwithstanding this article. Lippincott v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 1879.

Art. 7685. Lands delinquent to be listed by tax collector.—It shall be the duty of the commissioners' court of each county in this state immediately upon the taking effect of this chapter to cause to be prepared by the tax collector, at the expense of the county (the compensation for making out the delinquent tax record to be fixed by the commissioners' court), a list of all lands, lots or parts of lots sold to the state for taxes since the first day of January, 1885, and which have not been redeemed, in their respective counties and unorganized counties attached thereto, and to have such lists recorded in books to be called the "Delinquent Tax Record," showing when the lands or lots were reported delinquent or sold to the state for taxes, also the name of the owner at the time of such sale or delinquency, if known, the number of acres, the amount of taxes due when first sold, and the amount of all taxes assessed against the owner thereof and returned delinquent for each year as shown by the records of the tax collector's office; and, in making up the list or lists contemplated by this chapter, corrections and omissions in the description of any real estate embraced in such list.
or lists shall be made, so that, when the corrections are made and the omissions supplied, the description will be such as is given in the abstracts of all the titled and patented lands in the state of Texas, or, as required in section 12 of this act [article 7694 of this chapter], such as may be furnished by the commissioner of the general land office, and it shall be required, in bulk assessments, to apportion to each tract or lot of land separately, its pro rata share of the entire tax, penalty and cost. The list for each county, when certified to by the county judge, and assessment rolls and books on file in the tax collector's office, shall be prima facie evidence that all the requirements of the law have been complied with by the officers charged with any duty thereunder, as to the regularity of listing, assessing, levying of all the taxes therein mentioned, and reporting as delinquent or sold to the state any real estate whatsoever, and that the amount alleged against said real estate is a true and correct charge; and, in cases in which the description of the property in said list or assessment rolls or books is not sufficient to properly identify the same, and of which property there is a sufficient description in the inventories in the assessor's office, then said inventories shall be admissible as evidence of the description of said property. This delinquent tax record for each county shall be delivered to and preserved by the county clerk in his office; and the commissioners' court shall cause a duplicate of same to be sent to the comptroller; provided, that, where the records are incomplete in any county, it shall be the duty of the comptroller to furnish such county with a certified copy of the delinquent list for any year or years. [Id. sec. 3.]

See Mote v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1105.

Contracts for delinquent tax lists.—The purpose of this article is to empower the commissioners' court to require the tax collector to prepare the list; but, as such duty is not one of the governmental functions annexed to the office, the commissioners' court may employ another to do the work. Stringer v. Franklin County (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 1163.

The commissioners' court of a county has no authority, under this article, to allow an individual, as compensation for preparing delinquent tax lists, the right to collect and retain all that portion of the taxes shown on the delinquent lists to belong to the county, since such a contract attempts to transfer the official duty of the tax collector in collecting delinquent taxes, and since it is an effort to barter to private individuals the county sources of revenue. Id.

A contract employing an individual to prepare delinquent tax lists, as authorised by this article, in consideration of the right to collect and retain all of the delinquent taxes shown by the delinquent lists to be due to the county, if valid at all, operates as an assignment to the individual of the claims and liens which the county had against the property included in the delinquent lists; and a subsequent attempt by the commissioners' court to require the individual to have performed the services in ineffectual, and the county is not liable on account thereof, and if the collector of taxes interferes and asserts his legal right to collect the delinquent taxes, the county is not liable for more than the sum appropriated by it. Id.

The fact that the considerations agreed on in a contract employing an individual to prepare delinquent tax lists, under this article, is in excess of the authority of the commissioners' court, and for that reason unenforceable, does not preclude a recovery of the reasonable value of the services, on the commissioners' court failing to exercise the statutory authority to fix the compensation. Id.

Conclusiveness of lists.—The delinquent list alone which the tax collector has made of lands sold to the state for taxes, is not prima facie evidence that the requirements of the law have been complied with in regard to assessment, but it is so only when taken in connection with the assessment rolls and other books on file in the tax collector's office. Rouse v. State (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 32.

The list referred to in this article is not enough of itself to make prima facie case. Watkins v. State (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 353.

Allowance of fees.—See notes under Art. 7691.

Art. 7686. Delinquent tax lists to be recorded by county clerks.—On receipt of such delinquent tax record containing a complete list of the lands or lots that have been reported delinquent or sold to the state for taxes for any year or number of years since January 1, 1883, and containing also the data and information mentioned in article 7685 of this chapter, it shall be the duty of the county clerk of each of the counties of this state, respectively, to certify the same to the commissioners' court for examination and correction, and shall thereafter cause the same to be recorded in a book, which book shall be labeled the “Delinquent Tax Record of .......... County.” The delinquent tax record shall be arranged numerically as to abstract numbers, and shall be accompanied by an index showing the names of delinquents in alphabetical order. [Id. sec. 4.]

Art. 7687. Delinquent tax list to be published.—Upon the completion of said delinquent tax record by any county in this state, it shall be the duty of the commissioners' court to cause the same to be published in some newspaper published in the county, for three consecutive weeks; but, if no newspaper is published in the county, such list may be published in a newspaper outside of the county, to be designated by the commissioners' court, by contract duly entered into, and a publisher's fee of twenty-five cents shall be taxed against such tract or parcel of land so advertised; which fee, when collected, shall be paid into the county treasury; and the commissioners' court of said county shall not allow for said publication a greater amount than twenty-five cents for each tract of land so advertised; and said publication, and any other publications in a newspaper provided for in this act, may be proved by the affidavit of the printer of the newspaper in which the publication was made, his foreman, or principal clerk, annexed to a copy of the publication, specifying the times when and the paper in which the publication was made; provided, that all corrections made in said record, under this article, be noted in the minutes of the commissioners' court, and shall be certified by the county clerk to the comptroller, who shall note the same upon his delinquent tax record; provided, that in the event such delinquent tax record be not published correctly in accordance with the copy furnished such newspaper, then no compensation shall be allowed for such publication. [Id. sec. 5.]

See Mote v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1105.

Contracts for publication.—Provisions of a contract of a county for publishing a delinquent tax list recited, and held not to constitute a claim against the county. Lillard v. Freestone County, 23 C. A. 363, 57 S. W. 338.

As the commissioners' court of a county has no power to contract to pay the cost of publication of a notice to nonresident taxpayers, it cannot ratify such a contract when made by the county attorney. Baldwin v. Travis County, 40 C. A. 149, 88 S. W. 489.

Art. 7688. Suits to foreclose tax liens on delinquent lands.—Twenty days after the publication of such notice, or as soon thereafter as practicable, the commissioners' court, or the county judge acting for said court, shall file a list of all lands so advertised for taxes due for any year or number of years, the tax on which remains unpaid, with the county clerk of the county in which such lands are located, or if unorganized, then with the county clerk of the county to which said unorganized county may be attached for judicial purposes, and are to be sold under the provisions of this act, for all the taxes, interest, penalty, and costs, and shall cause suit to be filed in the name of the state of Texas, in the district court of said county, or if unorganized, then in the district court of the county to which said unorganized county is attached for judicial purposes, stating therein, by apt reference to lists or schedules annexed thereto, a description of all lands or lots in such county upon which taxes and penalty have remained unpaid for any year or number of years since the first day of January, 1885, and the total amount of such taxes, with interest computed thereon to the time fixed for the sale thereof at the rate of six per cent per annum, and shall pray for judgment for the payment of the several amounts so specified therein, and in default thereof, that such lands be sold to satisfy said judgment for all taxes, interest, penalty and costs, and for such other relief to which the state may be entitled under the law and facts. All suits to enforce the collection of taxes, as provided in this chapter, shall take precedence and have priority over all other suits pending in the district court. The petition in such suits shall be signed by the attorney bringing the suit, and shall be verified by the affidavit of said attorney, or the county judge, to the effect that the averments contained in said petition are true to the best knowledge and belief of affiant; and the pleadings of the defendant, except those of law, shall be verified by like affidavit of the defendant, his agent or attorney. The county collector, county clerk and county assessor shall furnish all affidavits, certified copies of the records of their respective offices, and such other evidence as may be in their possession by virtue of such office, as may be applied for by the county attorney. [Id. sec. 6.]

In general.—The rule that, to authorize a sale for taxes, it is necessary that the law regarding assessments must be strictly complied with and that the omission to give the number of the certificate or survey in the description, is, in the absence of some reason, is wholly statutorial, and in cases of suits for taxes and the deficiency of liens, and hence in such a suit the description in the assessment was sufficient where the abstract and certificate numbers, the name of the original grantee, the number of acres, and the value were all properly given, though the survey number was omitted. State v. Adams (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 674.

The right to sue for delinquent taxes and to foreclose a lien therefor, is wholly statutorial, and the statute expressly removes from the jurisdiction of the district court specified cases. Mote v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 166 S. W. 1105.

Petition.—Requisites of, in general.—See, also, notes under Art. 1827, §§ 62, 188.

The petition in a tax collection suit must conform to the law in every substantial requirement, or it will entirely fail to have any efficiency. It is the first step taken towards collecting delinquent taxes. Young v. Jackson, 50 C. A. 351, 110 S. W. 77.

Verification.—It is error to render judgment by default on an amended petition not sworn to although the original petition was verified. Cockrell v. State, 23 C. A. 668, 55 S. W. 579.

This article, so far as it required a verification of the petition, is directory and not mandatory, and a failure to verify the petition is not a jurisdictional defect. Todd v. State (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 754.

Defenses.—A taxpayer is entitled to show want of authority to levy a tax as a defense to an action to recover it. Conklin v. City of El Paso (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 879.

In a suit to recover taxes, fraud of board of equalization in making assessment may be pleaded. Mann v. State, 18 C. A. 701, 46 S. W. 652.

Answer alleging fraud in assessment, and seeking to have the same set aside, held proper. Id.

Objections to answer.—How raised.—If answer was not sworn to, or was defectively sworn to, objection on that account should have been specially made, when the defect could have been amended. The question could not be properly raised upon objection to the evidence. State v. Quillen (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 661.

Taxes recoverable.—In a suit by the state alone, recovery can be had for the county taxes also. The remedy by foreclosure is applicable as well to county as to state taxes. Masterson v. State, 17 C. A. 91, 42 S. W. 1003.

Interest on delinquent taxes.—Where judgment is rendered foreclosing state's tax lien it is proper to make the judgment bear six per cent. interest. League v. State, 93 T. 655, 67 S. W. 34, 25.

Art. 7689. Proceedings in suits to foreclose tax lien.—The proper persons shall be made parties defendant in such suits, and shall be served with process and other proceedings had therein as provided by law for suits of like character in the district courts of this state; and, in case of foreclosure, an order of sale shall issue, and the land sold thereunder as in other cases of foreclosure; but, if the defendant or his attorney shall, at any time before the sale, file with the sheriff or other officer in whose hands any such order of sale shall be placed a written request that the property described therein shall be divided and sold in less tracts than the whole, together with a description of such subdivisions, then such officer shall sell the lands in said subdivisions as the defendant may request, and in such case shall only sell as many subdivisions, as near as may be, to satisfy the judgment, interest, penalties and costs; and, after the payment of the taxes, interest, penalties and costs adjudged against it, the remainder of the purchase price, if any, shall be paid by the sheriff to the clerk of the court out of which said execution or other final process issued, to be retained by him subject to the order of the court for the period of two years, after which time the court may order the same to be paid to the state treasurer, who shall hold same in trust to be paid to the owner against whom said taxes were assessed; provided, any one claiming the same shall make proof of his claim to the satisfaction of the state treasurer, within ten years after the sale of said lands or lots, after which the same shall be governed by the law regulating escheats; provided, that no suit shall be brought to enforce such lien upon any land that a sufficient description to identify the same can not first be had; and provided, further, that, if there shall be no bidder for such land, that the county attorney shall bid said property off to the state for the amount of all taxes, penalties, interest and costs adjudged against said property; and, in the absence of the county attorney, the sheriff is authorized to bid to the state, when there are no bidders, and it shall be the duty of the district clerk to immediately make report of such sale in duplicate, one to the comptroller of public accounts, and one to the commissioners' court, on blanks to be prescribed and furnished by the comptroller. And, in all such cases where the property is bid off to the state, it shall be the duty of the sheriff to make and execute deeds to the state, using forms to be prescribed and furnished by the comptroller, showing in each case, the amount of taxes, interest, penalty and costs for which sold, and the clerk's fee for recording deeds as hereinafter provided. He shall cause such deeds to be recorded in the records of deeds, by the county clerk of his county, and when so recorded shall forward the same to the comptroller; and the county clerk shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar for recording each such deed to the state, to be taxed as other costs. And, when lands thus sold to the state shall be redeemed, it shall be the duty of the collector of taxes, when any such redemption is made, to make the proper distribution of the moneys received by him in such redemption, paying to each officer the amount of costs found to be due, and to the state and county the taxes, interest and penalties due each respectively. [Id. sec. 7.]

In general.—The law governing judgments of foreclosure in other cases is found in Art. 3006, and judgments must provide that an order of sale issue, etc. Houssels v. Taylor, 24 C. A. 72, 58 S. W. 192.

This article requires sales under tax liens to be made as in other cases of foreclosure. Formerly such sales were made as under execution and no notice to the defendant in the suit was required other than that obtained from posted notices. In 1895 the statute was amended so as to require further notice to be given "by delivering to the defendant in execution" a copy of the posted notice. By the act of 1903 the manner of giving notices was changed by requiring publication thereof in a newspaper and also a written notice to the defendant or his attorney of such sale either in person or by mail. A notice properly mailed is sufficient even though the defendant does not receive it. Rogers v. Moore, 100 T. 220, 97 S. W. 665.

Parties.—The wife need not be made a party in foreclosing a tax lien on a homestead. Bean v. City of Brownwood (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 1036.

In an action to foreclose a tax lien upon a homestead, the wife is presumed to have only a homestead right. Id.

The wife is not a necessary party in foreclosing a lien for taxes on her husband's homestead. City of San Antonio v. Berry, 92 T. 319, 48 S. W. 496, affirming Berry v. City of San Antonio (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 273.

Where defendants filed answers in a suit for taxes against unknown owners, and judgment against unknown owners, an appeal by defendants will not be dismissed on the ground that they were not parties to the judgment. Watkins v. State (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 632.

That suits for taxes were brought against unknown owners held not prejudicial to defendants, where they appeared and filed answers. Id.

Where the owner of land is in the actual occupation thereof, the state cannot deprive him of title by a suit for delinquent taxes against an unknown owner and without actual notice to him. Hollywood v. Welhausen, 28 C. A. 641, 68 S. W. 329.

In a suit under the delinquent tax act, all parties claiming any interest in the property must be made parties and be served with citation. Ball v. Carroll, 43 C. A. 223, 93 S. W. 1023.

Citation.—Sufficiency and service of. —Judgment for sale of land for taxes held not subject to collateral attack, in trespass to try title, on account of insufficiency of citation. Keen v. Hall, 4731 34 C. A. 547, 72 S. W. 606.

The citation served by publication in an action for delinquent state and county taxes may be addressed directly to defendants, and it need not be addressed to any officer nor require any officer to make return thereof. Gibbs v. Scales (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 188.

There can be no citation to an estate, as an estate, to appear to defend an action to foreclose a lien for taxes. Perry v. Whiting, 56 C. A. 550, 121 S. W. 903.

Evidence. —Introduction of tax roll showing an assessment of a mineral interest severed from the ownership of the surface of the land, held to establish a prima facie case for the state. In re Mahan, State v. Dowman (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 787.

In an action to recover taxes on a mineral interest in certain land, evidence held insufficient to warrant a finding that an assessment of the surface included the mineral interest. Id.

In an action to foreclose a tax lien, evidence held to show that the 94½ acres, against which a foreclosure was sought, was a part of the 183 acres shown by a delinquent list; and hence the list was properly received in evidence. McMahan v. State (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 714.

A judgment directing sale of several tracts of land to pay taxes in gross does not violate article 8, section 15, state Constitution, as this article gives the owner the option to require the sheriff to sell each tract separately. Masterson v. State, 17 C. A. 91, 43 S. W. 1003.
An execution sale of several tracts of land in gross for taxes for which a judgment of foreclosure in gross has been rendered is not void. Ryon v. Davis, 33 C. A. 660, 76 S. W. 59.
Under this article and Arts. 6842, 7698, a judgment in proceedings to sell land for nonpayment of taxes held void, as residence of owner might have been ascertained from the records, and process was served as upon an unknown owner. Wren v. Scales, 55 C. A. 62, 119 S. W. 879.
Order of sale.—The requirement that land in towns and cities should be sold by lots is directory, and does not limit the power of the court to order the sale in the mode deemed most conducive to the interest of the parties. Oppenheimer v. Reed, 11 C. A. 367, 39 S. W. 326.
Issuing of two orders of sale on only one judgment held proper. Bean v. City of Brownwood (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 1026.

Notice of sale.—Sheriff's failure to notify nonresident owner or attorney of tax sale held, under facts, not to affect sale's validity. Crosby v. Bonnowsky, 29 C. A. 455, 89 S. W. 212.
Contention that property owners had not sufficient notice of sale for taxes held without merit. Ross v. Drouilhet, 24 C. A. 327, 89 S. W. 241.
Where the judgment and order of sale are valid and there is no fraud, a sale by the sheriff under execution will be upheld where he mailed notice to the judgment debtor, though he did not receive it. Rogers v. Moore (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 113.
The tax judgment and sale, held, that city attorney was not bound under agreement with plaintiffs to delay sale under judgment longer than he had. Ross v. Drouilhet, 34 C. A. 327, 89 S. W. 241.
County attorney as purchaser.—A county attorney who conducted the suit for taxes and obtains judgment of foreclosure can buy the land for himself at foreclosure sale. The statute requires the land to be bid in for the state only 'when there are no bidders. Gibbs v. Scales (Civ. App.) 318 S. W. 190.
Disposition of proceeds of sale.—Where the proceeds of a tax sale are insufficient to pay both taxes and costs, the entire costs made by either party must be first paid. City of San Antonio v. Campbell (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 130.
Where there was a surplus on a sale of land for taxes, purchasers were not entitled thereto, nor were they responsible for the sheriff's misappropriation thereof. Moore v. Rogers, 106 T. 361, 99 S. W. 1023.

Art. 7690. Sheriff to execute deeds.—In all cases in which lands have been sold, or may be sold, for default in the payment of taxes, it shall be lawful for the sheriff selling the same, or any of his successors in office, to make a deed or deeds to the purchaser or to any other person to whom the purchaser may direct the deed to be made, and any such deed held in any court of law or equity in this state to vest a good and perfect title in the purchaser thereof, subject to be impeached only for actual fraud. [Id. sec. 8.]

See Wright v. Giles (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1163.

Former law.—To establish a tax deed given 45 years before as evidence, it was unnecessary to show compliance with the prerequisites to a sale since under Sayles' Early Laws of Texas, art. 2966, p. 458, the deed is prima facie evidence of such compliance. Wright v. Giles (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1163.

Title of purchaser at tax sale.—Where plaintiff claimed title to land, and defendant by answer in chancery claimed title to land by sheriff's tax deed, he could not object to decree on ground that plaintiff had not shown title. Murphy v. Williams (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 695.

Without an order of sale the sheriff can make no valid sale, and his deed 'vests a good and perfect title' only when he sells by virtue of an order of sale. Houssels v. Taylor, 24 C. A. 75, 58 S. W. 192.

A purchaser at a tax sale held a tenant in common with certain owners of undivided interests in the land, entitled only to a lien against the interests for taxes paid by him. Niday v. Cochran, 43 C. A. 293, 93 S. W. 1097.

This article does not alter the rights of the party purchasing at tax sale or vest in him any title other than that of the unknown owner, as was the case under the former law. The constitutional provision declaring that a tax deed shall be held to vest good and perfect title the purchaser does not in fact vest in the purchaser ownership of the land as against those not claiming under the unknown owner but adversely to him, and the provisions of this article do not alter the rule and cut off such adverse claimants. Patton v. Minnor (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 922.

Proof by purchaser.—A claimant of lands under a sale for delinquent taxes held bound to prove that the taxes were duly assessed, were a charge on the land, and that the successive steps were taken which led to a lawful sale, at which he or his assignor became the purchaser. Lamberida v. Barnum (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 808.

Art. 7691. Attorneys to represent state; fees, etc.—The county attorney, or district attorney in counties where there is no county attorney, shall represent the state and county in all suits against delinquent taxpayers that are provided for in this act, and all sums collected shall be paid immediately to the county collector. In no case shall the compensation for said county attorney be greater than three dollars for the first tract in one suit, and one dollar for each additional tract, if more than one tract is embraced in same suit to recover taxes, interest, penalty and costs; provided, that those county attorneys, who may have herebefore or may hereafter institute said suits, shall be entitled to an equal division with their successors in office of the fees allowed herein on all suits instituted by them, where the judgment has not been obtained prior to the vacation of their office. The collector of taxes, for preparing the delinquent list and separating the property previously sold to the state from that reported to be sold as delinquent for the preceding year, and certifying the same to the commissioners' court shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar for each correct assessment of the land to be sold, said fee to be taxed as costs against the delinquent. The sheriff shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar for selling and making deed thereto to each purchaser of land that he sells under judgment for taxes, which fee shall be taxed as costs of suit; and the district clerk shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar and fifty cents in each case, to be taxed as costs of suit. And the county clerk for making out and recording the data of each delinquent assessment, and for certifying the same to the commissioners' court for correction, and for noting the same in the minutes of the commissioners' court, and for certifying the same, with corrections, to the comptroller, and noting the same on his delinquent tax record, shall receive the sum of one dollar, to be taxed as costs against the land in each suit; provided, that in no case shall the state or county be liable for such fees, but in each case they shall be taxed as costs against the land to be sold under judgment for taxes and paid out of the proceeds of sale of same after the taxes, penalty and interest due thereon to the state are paid; provided, that where two or more unimproved city or town lots belonging to the same person and situated in the same city or town shall all be included in the same suit and costs, except those of advertising, which shall be twenty-five cents for every ten lots, or any number less than ten, taxed against them collectively just as if they were one tract or lot; and provided, further, that where suits have been brought by the state against delinquents to recover tax due by them to the state and county, the said delinquent may pay the amount of the tax, interest, penalties and all accrued costs to the county collector during the pendency of such suit; and the county attorney shall receive as compensation therefor two dollars for the first tract and one dollar for each additional tract embraced in said suit; and the district clerk shall receive only one dollar, and the sheriff only one dollar in each case; but these fees shall be in lieu of the fees provided for such officers where suits are brought as hereinbefore provided. [Id. sec. 9.]

Costs in general.—The fees allowed to the officers named in this article can be charged for each year that the taxes are delinquent. State v. Wolfe (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 657.

Under this article officers are entitled to a fee for each tract assessed, though the delinquent taxpayer has listed several tracts in one rendition. Houston Oil Co. of Texas v. State (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 886.

The right of county collectors and county clerks to fees for preparing delinquent tax lists, etc., does not depend on their having been called on by the commissioners' court to perform that service. Id.

Division of costs.—If the suit is commenced by one county attorney and his term expires before judgment is rendered, and another is elected his successor, during whose term judgment is rendered, the attorney's fee should be divided equally between the attorney who filed the suit and the one in office when judgment was rendered. Swayne v. Terrell, 20 C. A. 31, 48 S. W. 218.

Unimproved Lots.—Where unimproved lots are included in one suit for taxes thereon, they are to be treated as one lot in taxing costs, and not as separate lots and costs taxed for each lot. Raht v. State, 48 C. A. 106, 106 S. W. 900.
Under this article the costs provided for would be assessed in the same manner where a delinquent taxpayer paid his taxes without a suit therefor, as where a suit had been instituted to collect them. Typer & Knudson v. Tom (Civ. App. 192 S. W. 880).

In an action by a delinquent taxpayer to recover costs collected upon payment of the taxes, upon the theory that but one charge should have been made by each officer performing service for all the lots, it was held that the statute for the same purpose provided; in one separately, where plaintiff alleged that a certain sum was the highest sum collected on any one lot and offered to allow defendants a credit for that amount, and alleged that the lots were all owned by plaintiff and were unimproved and all situated in the same town, and alleged that the sum paid between that sum and the amount averred as the highest sum collected on any one lot, as the amount sued for, the petition was sufficient, though neither the costs alleged to have been wrongfully collected, nor those which defendants had lawful authority to collect, were itemized, nor the names of officers other than the tax collector for whom the lots were collected were alleged, nor the amount tendered by plaintiff to the tax collector, nor that the amount legally due was tendered. Id.

The statute, where delinquent taxes were owing on several lots owned by the same person, unimproved and situated in the same town, the lots should be grouped into one group and the costs, upon payment, taxed against them collectively, limiting each officer performing a service mentioned in the statute to one charge for the entire group; and where the lots had been purchased in four groups from four different persons, if any of the costs are legally taxable against the former owner, the rule for taxing the costs against all the lots collectively would apply to the group of lots purchased from such person, and such costs should be taxed against the group as a whole. Id.

Art. 7692. Assessor to list unpaid taxes annually, etc.—If any person shall fail or refuse to pay the taxes imposed upon him or his property by law until the thirty-first day of January next succeeding the return of the assessment rolls of the county to the comptroller, a penalty of ten per cent on the entire amount of such taxes shall accrue; which penalty, when collected, shall be paid proportionately to the state and county; and the collector of taxes shall, by virtue of his tax rolls, seize and levy upon and sell so much personal property belonging to such person as may be sufficient to pay his taxes, together with the penalty above provided, interest and all costs accruing thereon. If no personal property be found for seizure and sale, as above provided, the collector shall, on the thirty-first day of March of each year for which the state and county taxes, for the preceding year only, remain unpaid, make up a list of the lands and lots on which the taxes for such preceding year are delinquent, charging against the same all taxes and penalties assessed against the owner thereof. Said list shall be made in triplicate and shall be presented to the commissioners' court for examination and correction of any errors that may appear; and, when so examined and corrected by the commissioners' court, such lists in triplicate shall be approved by said court, and one copy thereof shall be filed with the county clerk, and one copy retained and preserved by the collector, and one copy forwarded to the comptroller with his annual settlement reports. When such list of lands and lots, delinquent for the preceding year only, is corrected, as provided for in this article, then such list shall be immediately advertised, as provided for in section 5 of this act [article 7687 of this chapter], and, after such advertisement, suit shall be instituted against delinquents for all taxes and penalties due, in the district court as above provided; and such list, as furnished by the tax collector, and corrected by the commissioners' court, and the assessment rolls or books on file in the collector's office, or either said list or assessment rolls or books, shall be prima facie evidence that all the requirements of the law have been complied with by the officers or courts charged with any duty hereunder as to the regularity of listing, assessing, levying all taxes therein mentioned, and reporting as delinquent any real estate whatsoever, and that the amount alleged against said real estate is a true and correct charge; and, in cases in which the description of the real estate in said list or assessment rolls or books is not sufficient to identify the same, and of which property there is a sufficient description in the inventories of the assessor's office, then said inventories shall be admissible as evidence of the description of said property. In the counties where the delinquent tax record for former years has not been furnished, as provided for in article 7685, the collector of taxes shall also at the same time, make in triplicate a list of all lands and lots that have been previously sold to the state for taxes of former years, which have not been redeemed and on which the taxes are delinquent for the preceding year, and shall present the same to the commissioners' court for examination and correction of any error that may appear; and, when so examined and corrected by the commissioners' court, such lists, in triplicate, shall be approved by said court, and one copy thereof shall be filed with the county clerk, one retained and preserved by the collector, and one copy forwarded to the comptroller with his annual settlement reports. [Id. sec. 10.]

See Stringer v. Franklin County (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 1168; Mote v. Thompson, 156 S. W. 1106.

Former law.—The provision as to the tax collection on March 31st of each year, making a list of delinquent taxes has no reference whatever to the time when taxes are delinquent. The state and county taxes on land for 1901 are delinquent in March, 1902, if not paid before that time. Clark v. Ellendorf (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 539.

Constitutionality.—The fact that this act allows the judgment to include costs and penalties does not violate the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States, securing to every citizen equality before the law. The act applies equally to all citizens. Masterson v. State, 17 C. A. 91, 42 S. W. 1003.

List of delinquent taxes.—The list referred to in this article is not the one dealt with in Art. 7685. Watkins v. State (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 535.

Conditions precedent to collection of delinquent taxes.—Proceedings can be had to enforce collection of delinquent taxes even before the comptroller has prepared the delinquent tax record. Masterson v. State, 17 C. A. 91, 42 S. W. 1003.

Sale in gross.—A sale in gross of different tracts of land for the payment of delinquent taxes and penalties is valid under article 5, section 15, state constitution. Masterson v. State, 17 C. A. 91, 42 S. W. 1003.

Costs, interest and penalties.—Taxpayer failing to pay legal portion of taxes assessed held liable to the interest and penalties allowed by statute. State v. Fulmore (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 418.

A national bank, tendering payment of taxes legally due from it before the time fixed for the accrual of penalty, held not liable for the penalty for nonpayment of taxes, in an action to recover an amount exceeding that which was legally due. First Nat. Bank v. City of Lampasas, 33 C. A. 580, 78 S. W. 45.

Under this article the right to fees for preparing delinquent tax lists, etc., prescribed by Art. 7691, does not depend on their having been called on by the commissioners' court to perform the services for which they claim compensation. Houston Oil Co. of Texas v. State (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 856.

Art. 7693. Law available to incorporated cities and towns.—Any incorporated city or town or school district shall have the right to enforce the collection of delinquent taxes due it under the provisions of this chapter. [Id. sec. 11.]

In general.—This act was not intended to take away the express authority given to any city by special charter to bring an ordinary suit to recover its taxes. Its purpose was merely to authorize cities, towns and school districts to accept the benefits of this act should they see proper to proceed in the manner pointed out therein. And this law has only a future effect and is not intended to operate upon existing suits. City of San Antonio v. Berry, 92 T. 319, 48 S. W. 496.

Art. 7694. Exemptions from this chapter.—Real estate which may have been rendered for taxes and paid under erroneous description given in assessment rolls, or lands that may have been doubly assessed and taxes paid on one assessment, or lands which may have been assessed and taxes paid thereon in a county other than the one in which they are located, or lands which may have been sold to the state and upon which taxes have been paid and through error not credited in the assessment rolls, shall not be deemed subject to the provisions of this chapter. When called upon, the commissioner of the general land office shall furnish the county judge of any county compiling its own delinquent tax record, officially, with such information as may be necessary to enable him to determine the validity or locality of such surveys and grants as have not been shown by the printed abstracts of the land office. [Id. sec. 12.]

Applicability in general.—The provisions of this chapter do not apply where a person has assessed and paid taxes on his property, but under an erroneous description. Hollywood v. Wilkinson, 58 C. A. 541, 66 S. W. 550, 551.

In view of Art. 7618, the three essential requirements were the name of the owner, if known, the description of the property, and its value, and hence, where an owner of city lots listed them for assessment as 15 acres of the J. survey, valued at $3,000, and this assessment was not objected to either by the assessor or the board of equalization, and the owner paid taxes levied on such assessment, a subsequent assessment of the property by the board of assessors was required to conform to the requirements of the act of 1895, embodied in this chapter. Conklin v. City of El Paso (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 879.

The statutes providing for the redemption of land from sale for taxes should be liberally construed. Jackson v. Maddox, 52 C. A. 478, 117 S. W. 187.

A right of redemption is a legal right to redeem a tax lien. A decree that the purchaser at tax sale shall be placed in possession within 30 days, and that defendant be debared from asserting any claim in conflict with the tax lien foreclosed, does not deprive him of his equity of redemption. Guer­guin v. City of San Antonio, 19 C. A. 98, 50 S. W. 140.

The purchaser at foreclosure of tax lien sale is not entitled to possess until expiration of two years from the date of deed. City of Marlin v. Green, 34 C. A. 421, 78 S. W. 704, 79 S. W. 40.

The only right acquired by a purchaser at a foreclosure sale under a tax lien is subject to the right of the debtor to redeem within two years by paying double the amount of the bid, and this takes away a reason for the court's interfering that might otherwise be sufficient in a case where valuable property is bought at such sale for unconscionable price. Under the operation of this law the alleged inadequacy of price paid loses most of its force. Rogers v. Moore, 100 T. 230, 97 S. W. 636.

The refusal of a person holding under a judgment in proceedings to sell property for nonpayment of tax to allow part of the property to be redeemed held not a wrongful refusal of permission to redeem. Blanton v. Nunley, 55 C. A. 457, 119 S. W. 881.

Sale of land for taxes held not to affect the owner's title and possession until the right of redemption expires. Turner v. Smith, 56 C. A. 1, 119 S. W. 932.

Where land is sold for taxes under a decree in foreclosure, the former owner has two years to redeem. Berry v. City of San Antonio (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 879, and it was error to permit the vendee to assert the effect of a writ of possession. League v. State (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 262.

A judgment for the sale of land for delinquent taxes should withhold the writ of possession until the expiration of the time for redemption. Ryone, v. Texas, 32 C. A. 769, 75 S. W. 59. And the owner's title is not extinguished until the time for redemption has expired. Bente v. Sullivan, 52 C. A. 454, 115 S. W. 350.

The owner of land is entitled to possession during the two years allowed for redemption. Masterson v. State, 17 C. A. 91, 42 S. W. 1003.

Persons entitled to redeem. The mere fact that a tender was made through an agent not known to purchaser to have an interest in the land cannot affect the question. The real owner is given the right by statute to redeem and there is no law which requires him to exhibit his evidences of right at the time of redemption. Logan's Heirs v. Logan, 31 C. A. 295, 72 S. W. 413.

One joint owner has the right to sell the property double the amount of his proportionate share to redeem his interest, but unless authorized by the other joint owners he has no right to redeem theirs. Hill v. Harris, 49 C. A. 365, 108 S. W. 488.

The heirs of one who held the possession of land by a tenant and who had a deed to the land, have such interest as entitles them to redeem the land sold for taxes. Jackson v. Maddox, 53 C. A. 478, 117 S. W. 185.

Sufficiency of redemption. Sale of land by other claimants to purchaser at tax sale held not a redemption, inuring to benefit of a claimant. Kenson v. Gage, 34 C. A. 547, 79 S. W. 605.

Amount necessary to redeem. One entitled to redeem from a tax sale is liable to the purchaser for interest on the amount due only from the date of the sale to the time he tenders such amount to the purchaser and offers to redeem. Blair v. Guaranty Sav­ings, Loan & Investment Co., 54 C. A. 448, 118 S. W. 608.

Title acquired by redemption. Redemption from tax sale held not to give new title.
but simply to relieve land from the sale which has been made. Bente v. Sullivan, 53 C. A. 464, 115 S. W. 250.

Persons benefited by redemption.—One's redemption of land at a tax sale inures to the benefit of his equitable cotenants. Henyan v. Trevino (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 458.

Art. 7697. May redeem from state, when and how.—The owner or any one having an interest in lands or lots heretofore sold to the state, or any city or town, under decree of court in any suit or suits brought for the collection of the taxes thereon, or by a collector of taxes or otherwise, shall have the right within two years from the twelfth day of August, 1909, to redeem the same upon the payment of the amount of taxes for which sale was made, together with all costs, penalties and interest now required by law, and also the payment of all taxes, interest, penalties and costs on or against said lands or lots at the time of said redemption. And, where lands or lots shall hereafter be sold to the state, or to any city or town, for taxes under decree of court, in any suit or suits brought for collection of taxes thereon, or by a collector of taxes or otherwise, the owner having an interest in such lands or lots shall have the right to redeem the same within two years after such sale, upon payment of the amount of taxes for which sale was made, together with all costs, penalties and interest now required by law, and also the payment of all the taxes, interest, penalties, cost on or against said land or lots at the time of redemption. [Acts 1909, 2 S. S., p. 400.]

Art. 7698. Proceedings against delinquents, unknown or non-resident.—Wherever the owner or owners of any lands or lots returned delinquent or reported sold to the state, or that may hereafter be reported sold or returned delinquent for the taxes due thereon for any year or number of years, are non-residents of the state, or the name of the owner or owners of said land or lots be unknown, then, upon affidavit setting out that the owner or owners are non-residents, or that the owner or owners are unknown to the attorney for the state, and after inquiry can not be ascertained, said parties shall be cited and made parties defendant by notice in the name of the state and county, directed to all persons owning or having or claiming any interest in the following described land delinquent to the state of Texas and county of ———, for taxes, to-wit: (here set out description of the land as contained on the assessment roll and such further description obtainable in the petition), which said land is delinquent for taxes for the following amounts, $—— for state taxes, and $—— for county taxes, and you are hereby notified that suit has been brought by the state for the collection of said taxes, and you are commanded to appear and defend such suit at the ——— term of the district court of ——— county, and state of Texas, and show cause why judgment shall not be rendered condemning said land (or lot), and ordering sale and foreclosure thereof for said taxes and costs of suit, which notice shall be signed by the clerk and shall be published in some newspaper published in said county one time a week for three consecutive weeks. If there is no newspaper published in the county, then notice may be given by publication in a paper in an adjoining county. A maximum fee of two and one-half cents per line (seven words to count a line) for each insertion may be attached for publishing the citation as above provided for. If the publication of such citation can not be had for the compensation provided for in this article, then publication of the citation herein provided may be made by posting a copy at three different places in the county, one of which shall be at the court house door. It shall be lawful in all cases to set forth in the petition the name of all parties interested as far as ascertained, and make them parties, and also to join and make defendants all persons having or claiming any legal or equitable interest in the land described in the petition; and such suit, after such publication, shall be proceeded with as in other cases; and, whether any party or parties make defense or not on the trial of said case, the state and county shall be entitled to prove the amount of taxes due, and shall have a decree for the sale of said land or lot as in those cases where defendant owners have been personally served and defend suit; and a sale of said land or lot shall be had and be as binding as where defendants were personally served with process. In all suits for taxes due, the defendant shall be entitled to credits he can show due him for any year or number of years for which he may be able to produce receipts; but the state shall have judgment and foreclosure of tax lien for any year or years sued for where the defendant can not offer receipt or other positive proof showing the payment of the claim for the taxes. [Acts 1897, p. 132, sec. 15.]

In general.—Prior to this law there was no provision of law for citing an unknown person in any case, except the unknown heirs of a known person. Dunn v. Taylor, 42 C. A. 241, 94 S. W. 350.

A suit to enforce a lien for delinquent taxes assessed against the property of an unknown owner held a proceeding in rem, not in a strictly judicial, but rather a step in administration proceedings, requiring the appearance of jurisdictional facts. Young v. Jackson, 60 C. A. 351, 110 S. W. 74.

Facts held to show that certain lots in an addition belonging to an investment company could not be sold under the statute as belonging to unknown owners. Harvey v. Provident Inv. Co. (Civ. App.) 158 S. W. 1127.

Constitutionality.—The notice to nonresidents and unknown owners of lands sought to be subjected to taxation provided for by this article meets requirement of "due process of law," or what is the same thing "the law of the land" required by the constitution. Young v. Jackson, 50 C. A. 351, 110 S. W. 77, 78.

Affidavit as prerequisite to citation by publication.—To invoke process by publication in the manner called for it is allowed, and the party seeking it must make a certain affidavit, and unless this is done the service will not be legal. For instance in case of unknown heirs he must make oath that the names of the heirs are unknown. Dunn v. Taylor, 42 C. A. 241, 94 S. W. 350.

An affidavit by publication is not authorized unless the attorney for the state files an affidavit that the owners of the land are nonresidents of the state, or that the name of the owner is unknown and after inquiry cannot be ascertained, and of course a judgment without citation may be shown to be invalid if properly attacked. Stoneman v. Bilby, 49 C. A. 228, 96 S. W. 52.

An affidavit of publication of a notice of tax foreclosure proceedings held sufficient on collateral attack, notwithstanding the absence of the clerk's seal from the juris, and the affidavit not void, but subject to amendment. Young v. Jackson, 50 C. A. 351, 110 S. W. 74.

Under this article the affidavit is a prerequisite to the filing of the suit and citation by publication is unauthorized except on the filing of the affidavit, and the judgment without it is subject to collateral attack. Mote v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 158 S. W. 1160.

Requisites of petition, notice or citation.—See, also, notes under Art. 1827, § 188.

A notice directed to the sheriff or any constable, instead of to all persons owning or claiming any interest in the land, etc., is fatally defective. A substantial compliance with the statute is essential to give jurisdiction. Earnest v. Glaser, 32 C. A. 378, 74 S. W. 606.

The statute gives the form of citation to be issued. The date of filing suit does not appear in the form, therefore the citation is sufficient without it. Kensley v. Gage, 34 C. A. 647, 79 S. W. 696.

The command to the sheriff to publish the notice to unknown owners preceding the notice and the command to him to make his return following the notice do not invalidate the citation by publication. State v. Unknown Owner, 47 C. A. 385, 103 S. W. 1116.

The notice by publication of suit against unknown owners to foreclose tax lien must so describe the land as to identify it and the unknown owners. Where the suit is for taxes on the Netherly survey and the citation as issued calls it the Wetherby survey and as published the Wetherby, it is no notice at all to the unknown owners. Harris v. Hill, 54 C. A. 437, 117 S. W. 908.

An action under this article need not recite the file number of the suit under Art. 1852, nor state the amount of the costs. Unknown Owner v. State, 55 C. A. 300, 118 S. W. 803.

Validity and conclusiveness of judgment.—See, also, notes under Art. 7689.

Where an order of publication in a tax suit summoned "George Eels and his unknown heirs," and there was a final judgment against "George Eels," and a dismissal as to the "unknown heirs of George Ellis," the suit stood dismissed as to the "heirs of George Eells." Eells v. Blair (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 462.

A judgment rendered under due publication in a tax suit against the owner of land and his unknown heirs, in which the suit was dismissed as to the heirs and the land ordered sold, held valid. Id.

In a suit for taxes against nonresidents, it is error to enter judgment for the gross sum due against several owners of different tracts without stating what amount of taxes was adjudged to be a lien on each separate tract. Borden v. City of Houston, 26 C. A. 29, 62 S. W. 428.

A judgment for taxes against the "unknown heirs" of a former owner is void as to the owner under grant from the deceased, and who had no notice of the suit. Green v. Robertson, 30 C. A. 336, 70 S. W. 345.

Where the owner of land is in occupation thereof, the state cannot deprive him of title by tax foreclosure suit against unknown owners. Bingham v. Matthews, 39 C. A. 41, 86 S. W. 731.
TAXATION

Art. 7700

A citation and judgment in a proceeding to sell land of an unknown owner for taxes held void. Bowden v. Patterson, 51 C. A. 178, 111 S. W. 182.

A judgment in a suit to foreclose a tax lien held a judgment against all unknown owners made parties. Sellers v. Simpson, 53 C. A. 205, 115 S. W. 888.

But is not binding upon persons in possession, but not served with process. Id.

Where the judgment in a tax suit does not show that the court determined that due service was made on the owners of the land, and the record shows a fatally defective notice, the judgment may be collaterally attacked. Harris v. Hill, 54 C. A. 437, 117 S. W. 907.

A person in possession claiming adversely to the owner whose title has been perfected by the ten-year statute who has no notice of a tax suit against the unknown owner is not affected by such suit or any judgment obtained therein. Patton v. Minor (Civ. App.) 117 S. W. 922.

Under this article the recital in a judgment of due notice to defendant, "an unknown person," was conclusive against a collateral attack, though it appeared that the citation was directed to an unknown person, and not to all persons owning or claiming any interest in the land. Carr v. Miller (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 1158.

A judgment of an attorney to represent a defendant served by publication and to direct the case to stand continued did not render the judgment absolutely void. Id.

Under Const. art. 8, § 15, and Arts. 7258, 5883, where defendants, in adverse possession of certain land, had not been in possession for the 10 years required to confer title when the state instituted suit to foreclose its lien for unpaid taxes, so that they were not proper parties to such action, they were still bound by the judgment, though not served with notice, as provided by this article, and hence were not entitled to hold the land as against the purchaser from the state and those claiming under him. Patton v. Minor, 108 T. 176, 125 S. W. 6.

Owners of land holding under recorded deeds and decree of partition are not unknown owners, and they are not bound by a judgment for delinquent taxes rendered in a suit against unknown owners. Nunley v. Whitlow, 105 T. 316, 129 S. W. 1119, affirming Bliant v. Nunley, 55 C. A. 427, 119 S. W. 881.

In a suit to quiet title, where plaintiff's deed was on record, and gave his residence as in a certain county of the state, a judgment for taxes against the "unknown owner" did not bar plaintiff's title, since he was not an unknown owner, he was not a party to the proceedings. Scales v. Wren, 103 T. 384, 127 S. W. 164, affirming Wren v. Scales, 55 C. A. 62, 119 S. W. 879.

A judgment against unknown owners, foreclosing a tax lien, is not invalid because it is against "defendant," instead of "defendants." Mangum v. Kenley (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 316.

Judgment against unknown owners, foreclosing a tax lien, is binding on the real owners. Id.

That the minutes of the term at which a judgment foreclosing a tax lien against the unknown owner of land was rendered had never been approved by the trial court, and that no attorney was appointed to represent such owner, as required by statute, were mere irregularities which could not be urged on collateral attack on the judgment and sale held pursuant thereto. Jameson v. O’Neill (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 680.

Where the record owner of real estate rendered the same for taxes and the tax had been made on the owners of the land, and the suit was for delinquent taxes rendered in an action against unknown owners was void, because beyond the jurisdiction of the court. Mote v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1105.

Title of purchaser.—Sale under judgment in suit against unknown owners to enforce taxes held ineffectual against the owners who were in possession.Pearson v. Branch (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 392.

The fact that a deed at a delinquent tax sale only purported to convey the interest of an owner named and his unknown heirs held not to affect the claim of the purchaser under the unknown owners, made parties. Ball v. Carroll, 42 C. A. 323, 92 S. W. 1028.

Art. 7699. Similar proceedings by city or town.—In any incorporated city or town, in which any lots or blocks of land situated within the corporate limits of said city or town have been returned delinquent or reported sold to said city or town for the taxes due thereon, the city council may prepare lists of delinquents in the same manner as is provided for in article 7685, and; when such lists shall be certified to as correct by the mayor of said city or town, the city council may direct the city attorney to file suit in the district court of the county in which said city or town is situated, for the recovery of the taxes due on said property, together with penalty, interest and costs of suit; which suits may be brought in the same manner as is provided in article 7687 of this chapter, for the bringing of suits by the county attorney. [Id. sec. 16.]

Art. 7700. Lands to be platted and numbered.—In counties in which the subdivisions of surveys are not regularly numbered, and in cities or towns in which the blocks or subdivisions are not numbered, or are so irregularly numbered as to make it difficult or impossible for the assessor to list the same, the commissioners' court of such counties may have all the blocks and subdivisions of surveys platted and numbered so as to identify each lot or tract, and furnish the assessor with maps showing such numbering; and an assessment of any property by such numbering on said maps shall be sufficient description thereof for all purposes; and such maps, or a certified copy of same or any part thereof, shall be admissible as evidence in all courts; provided, that the cost of making said survey and plats shall be defrayed by the county in which said property is situated, and of which the said commissioners' court ordered the said surveys and plat made; provided, that the cost of any map of a town or city shall be paid by such town or city when ordered by the town or city. [Id. sec. 17.]

DECISIONS RELATING TO SUBJECT IN GENERAL

Setting aside tax sale—Grounds.—Misappropriation of the price by the officer is no ground for setting aside a sale for taxes. Bean v. City of Brownwood (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 1036.

Estoppel.—See notes under Art. 3657, Rule 37.

Procedure.—Proceeding by property owners for relief from void tax sale held properly brought in the form of a motion to set aside the judgment and sale. Crosby v. Terry, 41 C. A. 594, 91 S. W. 652.

Conditions precedent.—A tax deed cannot be avoided unless the taxes are paid or tendered, though the collector made excessive charges for costs of sale. Eustis v. City of Henrietta (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 720.

Where tax sale was void, owners on moving to set aside the same were only required to tender taxes and costs justly chargeable to them. Crosby v. Terry, 41 C. A. 594, 91 S. W. 652.

Party holding tax title based on void decree held not entitled to have amount paid by him refunded by owner of land. Schaffer v. Davidson, 44 C. A. 100, 97 S. W. 855.

Where a sale of land for taxes was fatally defective, but not fraudulent, it would only be set aside on the restoration to the purchasers of the full amount of their bid. Moore v. Rogers, 100 T. 361, 99 S. W. 1023.

Findings.—Refusal to find that an owner of land sold for taxes would have designated a fractional portion for sale if he had been served with notice held proper in an action to set aside the sale. Bean v. City of Brownwood (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 1036.

Rights and liabilities of parties.—Where a tax sale is void, the owner is only liable for taxes due under the laws in force at the time the taxes became due. Conklin v. City of El Paso (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 379.

Where defendant claimed title to land by sheriff's tax deed, and prayed that, if sale was void, he be decreed to have lien on land for taxes paid, his lien should not have been decreed for double the amount paid. Murphy v. Williams (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 695.

Where plaintiff asserted title to land which defendant claimed by sheriff's deed under tax foreclosure, a set-off of rental value of land against taxes paid by defendant was not required, when defendant had received no rent and improvements by tenant exceeded rental value. Id.

On the setting aside of a tax sale for irregularity in the order of sale and advertisement, held, the purchaser was properly allowed the amount of his bid at the sale. Rogers v. Moore (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 114.

Plaintiff held not entitled to recover from a tax collector the expense of having set aside judgments against her land for taxes; his neglect of duty not being the proximate cause of the suits. Coleman v. Lytle, 49 C. A. 42, 107 S. W. 562.

Compensation for improvements by claimant under void tax title.—See notes under Art. 7760.

Reimbursement for taxes paid in trespass to try title.—See notes at end of Title 125.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

EVIDENCE OF TITLE TO REDEEM LAND

Article 7701. Evidence of title to redeem land.—In all cases where lands in this state have been or may be sold for taxes, and the owner of the land, at the time of such sale, shall desire to redeem the same, under the provisions of the constitution of this state, or of laws enacted on that subject, it shall be sufficient to entitle such owner to redeem from the purchaser or purchasers thereof for him to have had a paper title to such land, or to have been in possession of such land in person or by tenant, at the time of the institution of the suit under which the sale was made, or when such sale was made; and the existence of such facts and conditions shall be sufficient prima facie evidence of ownership to entitle the party so claiming ownership to the right to redeem such land; and he shall not be required to deraign title from the sovereignty, nor shall any hiatus or defect in his chain of title defeat the offered redemption. Nothing herein contained shall be held to limit the right of one offering to redeem to prove ownership otherwise than herein provided, nor prevent any one having the superior title from redeeming such land within two years from the date of the tax sale by paying to the person who had previously redeemed such lands all amounts paid by him with legal interest. [Acts 1905, p. 118.]

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

ASSESSMENT AND COLLECTION OF TAXES IN CERTAIN CASES

Art. 7702. Property omitted from tax rolls, etc., list of.
Art. 7703. Property listed to be assessed, how.
7704. To be advertised.
7705. Assessments reduced, when.
7706. Commissioners' court may contract for collection.
7707. Bulk assessments validated, when.

Art. 7708. Delinquent tax record to be published.
Art. 7709. Property listed by comptroller, when.
Art. 7710. List to be posted.
Art. 7711. Lands not rendered to be assessed, how.
Art. 7713. Supplemental tax rolls to be prepared.
Art. 7714. Fees of assessor.

Article 7702. Property omitted from tax rolls, etc., list of.—Whenever the commissioners' court of any county in this state shall discover, through notice from the tax collector or otherwise that any real property has been omitted from the tax rolls for any year or years since 1884, or shall find that any previous assessments on any real property for the years mentioned are invalid, or have been declared invalid for any rea son by any district court in a suit to enforce the collection of taxes on said properties, they may, at any meeting of the court, order a list of such properties to be made in triplicate and fix a compensation therefor; the said list to show a complete description of such properties, and for what years such properties were omitted from the tax rolls, or for what years the assessments are found to be invalid, and should be canceled and re-assessed, or have been declared invalid, and thereby canceled by any district court in a suit to enforce the collection of taxes; provided, that no re-assessment of any property shall be held against any innocent purchaser of the same, if the tax records of any county fail to show any assessment (for any year so re-assessed) by which said property can be identified and that the taxes are unpaid. The above exception, with the same limitation, shall also apply as to all past judgments of district courts canceling invalid assessments. [Acts 1905, p. 318, sec. 1.]

Art. 7703. Property listed to be assessed, how.—When said list has been made up in the manner prescribed in article 7701 [7702] the com missioners' court may, at any meeting, order a cancellation of such prop erties in said list that are shown to have been previously assessed, but which assessments are found to be invalid and have not been canceled by any former order of the commissioners' court, or by decree of any district court; and shall then refer such list of properties to be assessed or re-assessed to the tax assessor, who shall proceed at once to make an assessment of all said properties, from the data given by said list (the certificate of the state comptroller as to assessments or re-assessments made by the tax assessor shall not be necessary as required under article 7675, Revised Statutes, but he shall furnish all blank forms needed, that uniformity may be had in all counties), and when completed shall submit the same to the commissioners' court, who shall pass upon the valuations fixed by him; and, when approved as to the values, shall cause the taxes to be computed and extended at the tax rate in effect for each separate year mentioned in said list; and, in addition thereto, shall cause to be added a penalty equal in amount to what would be six per cent interest to the date of making said list from the date such properties would have been delinquent had same been properly rendered by the owner thereof at the time and for the years stated in said list; provided, that the certificate of any tax collector of this state, given during his term of office, that all taxes have been paid to the date of such certificate on any certain piece of property, which is fully described in such certificate, or if the tax rolls of any county fail to show any assessments against such property sufficient to identify it, and that the same was unpaid at the dates such rolls may have been examined to ascertain the condition of any property as to taxes unpaid, this shall be a bar to any re-assessment of such property under this act for any years prior to the date of such certificate, or such examinations; provided, that the prop-eerty referred to, when re-assessed, shall be held by an innocent purchaser, who has relied upon the correctness of such certificate, or the tax rolls heretofore referred to. [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7704. List to operate a lien on property.—The said list, when complete in all respects, as directed in the preceding articles, and filed with the tax collector, shall constitute a valid lien against all the properties mentioned in said list for the full amount of taxes, penalties, officers' costs, advertising and six per cent interest from the date of said list to the date of the payment of the full sum due on each separate piece of property. A copy of said list and all cancellation orders shall be furnished to the state comptroller, and a copy filed with the county clerk. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7705. To be advertised.—The commissioners' court shall proceed to have such list of properties advertised in the manner provided in article 7687; after which, suit may be filed in the same manner as provided by law for the enforced collection of delinquent taxes. [Id.
sec. 4.]

Art. 7706. Assessments reduced, when.—In all cases of delinquent taxes of unrendered and unknown property, where there appears to be an assessment of the same at a valuation excessive and unreasonable, the commissioners' court of any county shall be authorized to correct or reduce such values on the request of the tax collector with a full statement of the facts in each case; which statement and the action had thereon and the name of each commissioner voting for or against the reduction in valuation asked for shall be entered upon the minutes of the court; and a certified copy of the action had thereon shall be furnished to the comptroller of the state, and, when the values are so corrected or reduced, payment of taxes shall be accepted in accordance with such reduction, to which shall be added interest, penalty, advertising and costs, as provided by law. [Id. sec. 5.]

Art. 7707. Commissioners' court may contract for collection.—If the commissioners' court of any county in this state shall deem it expedient to contract with any person to enforce the collection of any delinquent state and county taxes, or to make up a list of properties referred to in this chapter, and to enforce the collection of taxes thereon for a per cent of the taxes, penalty and interest actually collected and paid to the collector of taxes, the state comptroller shall be authorized to join in said contract and allow the same per cent for state taxes that is contracted to be paid by the commissioners' court for the collection of county taxes, which shall not exceed ten per cent, except in case of absolute necessity to employ an attorney to push the filing and prosecution of tax suits, and to pay for report of an abstract company as to the owner of property assessed as unknown or unrendered, and as to the holder of any liens against the same, in which case fifteen per cent additional may be allowed. It shall be the duty of the county attorneys of the several counties, or of the district attorney where there is no county attorney, to actively assist the person with whom the contract is made, by filing and pushing to a speedy conclusion all necessary suits for the collection of delinquent taxes under any contract; provided, that where any district or county attorney shall fail or refuse and in good faith to prosecute such suits, he shall not be entitled to any fees from such suits; provided, that where any district or county attorney fails or refuses to bring these suits when requested to do so by the commissioners' court, or by the person having a contract herein provided for, then the contractor shall be authorized to employ some other attorney to file these suits in the name of the state, in the same manner provided by law now to enforce the collection of delinquent taxes. [Id. sec. 6.]

Contracts for delinquent lists and taxes.—The commissioners' court is authorized to make a contract with a party to collect the delinquent back taxes and pay him a commission for his services, and can order the tax collector to pay the commission earned under his contract, and it is the duty of the tax collector to obey the order. Bailey v. Aransas County, 46 C. A. 547, 102 S. W. 1159.

The county attorney cannot contract to prepare delinquent tax lists and collect delinquent taxes. Stringer v. Franklin County (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 1166.

Art. 7708. Bulk assessments validated, when.—In all suits to enforce the collection of delinquent taxes, where the assessment of any property for any year is invalid by reason of the failure of the assessor to comply with the provisions of law for the description of any lot, block or tract of land, or to give a separate value on each lot, block or tract of land, known as "bulk assessments," or to enter upon the lists (similar to that used for the listing of rendered property, to be signed by the owner) all items of property assessed to unknown owners, all such assessments are hereby validated and given the same force and effect as if the descriptions, the separate valuations, and the listing were in all respects strictly in compliance with law; provided, as to description, that the descriptions given are sufficient to identify the property, as to separate values, that the valuations and the taxes shown upon the tax rolls (in what are called "bulk assessments") can be fairly prorated to each separate lot, block or tract of land; and, as to listing, that the valuation given on the tax rolls upon properties assessed as unknown are found to have been entered upon the assessor's block book as the original assessment, instead of listing as in rendered assessments, and then entering upon the tax rolls. [Id. sec. 7.]

Validity.—This article curing defective assessments, is valid. Haynes v. State, 44 C. A. 492, 99 S. W. 409.

Art. 7709. Delinquent tax record to be published.—The various counties of this state which have not heretofore made and published a delinquent tax record, under the provisions of chapter 103, acts of the regular session of the twenty-fifth legislature, are hereby authorized and it shall be their duty to make and publish the same to date hereof, and, when so done, it shall have the same force and effect as if made and published under that act; and any county which has heretofore made a delinquent tax record for any number of years is hereby authorized and empowered to re-compile the same to date hereof, and may compile each year thereafter under the provisions of said act. [Id. sec. 8.]
Art. 7710. Property listed by comptroller, when.—Whenever it shall appear to the comptroller of public accounts of the state, from an inspection of the tax rolls of any county of the state, or otherwise, that any lands in such county subject to taxation have not been assessed for taxation for any year since and including the year 1900, it shall be his duty and he is hereby required to make a list of such lands and send the same to the tax collector of such county by registered letter, properly addressed, accompanying such list with instructions to such tax assessor to assess such lands for taxes for the years for which they have not been assessed as shown by said list. [Acts 1905, p. 321, sec. 1.]

Art. 7711. List to be posted.—Upon receipt of such list, the tax assessor shall immediately post a copy of such notice and list at the court house door of his county, noting upon such copy the date of such posting; and the owners of the lands embraced in such list shall have the right, at any time within twenty days of such posting, to render the same to the tax assessor for the taxes for the years for which they have not been assessed for taxes, or for any of such years as shown by such notice, in the same manner as is provided for the rendition of other property for taxes under the provisions of the general laws for that purpose. [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7712. Lands not rendered to be assessed, how.—Should any of the said lands remain unrendered by the owners or owner thereof, under the provisions of article 7711, for any of the years for which the same have not been assessed according to said notice and lists, for twenty days after the date of the posting of such notice, it shall be the duty of the tax assessor, and he is hereby required, immediately upon the expiration of such time, to assess for taxes at their true value such lands so remaining unrendered and unassessed for each of the years since and including the year 1900, and including the year such lists are made up by the comptroller, listing the same in the name of unknown owners, and charging up to said lands the taxes, state and county, for which they are liable for each of such years, valuing such lands at their true and full value as provided in article 7530, Revised Civil Statutes. If any of said lands are lands purchased from the state as belonging to the school fund, the university, or any of the asylums of the state, and held under such contract of purchase upon which a part of the purchase money is still due, such lands being unpatented, no deduction shall be made in the value of said lands for, or on account of, such unpaid purchase money, but they shall be valued at their full and true value as though paid out and patented. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7713. Duty of commissioners' court.—The tax assessor shall make up lists showing such assessments, and deliver the same to the county judge, who shall at once, unless a regular session is held within ten days thereafter, call a meeting of the commissioners' court in special session, as a board of equalization, for the purpose of passing upon said assessment lists in the manner provided in case of regular assessments, in so far as the provisions of the statute with regard thereto are applicable. It shall be the duty of the commissioners' court without delay to act upon said supplemental assessment lists, as to the value of the property embraced, and, when said values have been equalized as required by law, to approve the same, and to approve the rolls made up by the tax assessor in accordance therewith; provided, that the commissioners' court shall have no authority to alter said assessment lists, or in any way interfere with such assessments, except as to the values of property embraced therein, in equalizing the same as provided by law, and to strike therefrom any lands that have been already assessed for taxes at their true market value for the years for which they are assessed on said supplemental rolls and such taxes paid. [Id. sec. 4.]
Art. 7714. Supplemental tax rolls to be prepared.—After such supplemental assessment lists, as are herein provided for, have been passed upon by the board of equalization as herein provided, supplemental tax rolls shall be prepared by the tax assessor and approved by the commissioners' court as is required by law in case of the regular assessment for taxes; and thereafter the taxes due according to such supplemental rolls shall be collected as in case of other taxes, and, if not paid, such proceedings shall be had for their collection as in case of other taxes. [Id. sec. 5.]

Art. 7715. Fees of assessor.—For making the supplemental assessments provided herein, the tax assessor shall be entitled to the same fees to be paid in the same manner as is provided by law in case of regular assessments. This chapter is cumulative of all other laws upon the same subject. [Id. sec. 7.]

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN OF MUNICIPAL TAXES TO PAY SUBSIDIES IN AID OF RAILROADS AND OTHER INTERNAL IMPROVEMENTS

| Article 7718 | [5233] Such taxes, how applied.—All taxes levied, assessed and collected for the purpose of paying the interest and principal of bonds heretofore issued by cities or towns to aid in the construction of railroads and other works of internal improvement, shall be applied solely to the objects for which they were levied, under the direction of the comptroller, as follows: First, to the payment of expenses of assessing and collecting the same; second, to the payment of the annual interest of such bonds, and not less than two per cent of the principal; and, if there be any excess on hand after making the above payments for the current year, it shall be used in the purchase and cancellation of said bonds. [Act Aug. 18, 1876, p. 174, sec. 1.]

| Art. 7717. | [5234] To be collected by city officers.—All such taxes shall be assessed and collected by the same officers whose duty it is to assess and collect the other municipal taxes, who shall receive the same rates of commission allowed for assessing and collecting the ad valorem tax of such city. The same remedies shall be used to enforce the assessment, collection and paying over such taxes as are or may hereafter be provided by law to enforce the assessment, collection and paying over of other municipal taxes. [Id. sec. 2.]

See notes under Art. 7718.

Art. 7718. [5235] Bond of the officer.—The officer whose duty it is to collect the aforesaid taxes shall give bond, with two or more sufficient sureties, to be approved by the mayor and board of aldermen of such city, in a sum fifty per cent greater than the estimated annual amount of said taxes; which bond shall be payable to the state, and shall be conditioned for the faithful assessing, collecting and paying over of said tax into the state treasury, as provided by law; and said assessor shall be amenable and subject to all laws enacted to secure the honest and faithful performance of the duties of collectors of taxes. [Id. sec. 3.]

Liability on bond.—A city has no right of action on the bond of its tax collector for a claim arising from collection of taxes, which by this article he is required to pay into the state treasury. House v. City of Dallas, 96 T. 594, 74 S. W. 902.
Art. 7719. [5236] Taxes may be paid in what.—It shall be lawful for the collector to receive in payment of the taxes herein specified current money or the matured coupons of the bonds for the payment of which such tax may have been levied. [Id. sec. 4.]

Art. 7720. [5237] To be paid over every month.—The collector of taxes levied under the provisions of this chapter shall pay over to the state treasurer, at the beginning of each and every month, all monies or coupons he may have collected during the preceding month, deducting his legal commissions on the amount so paid, and shall make a report of his collections to the mayor and city council at its first regular meeting in each month. [Id. sec. 5.]

Art. 7721. [5238] If insufficient, additional levy to be made.—If it shall be ascertained, at any time, that the tax which has been levied for the payment of the city bonds issued under the provisions of law is insufficient to pay the annual interest and two per cent annually of the principal of such bonds, besides the expenses of assessing, collecting and paying over such tax, it shall be the duty of the comptroller to inform the mayor of said city of the fact; and it shall be the duty of the city council, and they shall, upon such information, levy such additional tax, and cause the same to be collected, as will be sufficient to make such payments; which levy shall be continued in force until the whole amount of principal and interest of said bonds shall have been fully paid. [Id. sec. 6.]

CHAPTER NINETEEN
NEW COUNTIES

Art. 7722. When new counties are created. 7725. Compensation of collector.
7724. To be verified.

Article 7722. [5239] When new counties are created, etc.—Where any county now or hereafter created out of a part of any one or more organized counties, or when any unorganized county may be organized by the election and qualification of its officers, it shall be the duty of the person in charge of the assessor's roll in the county or counties from which such new county or any part of it, has been taken, or to which such unorganized county has been attached for judicial purposes, to allow such person as the commissioners' court of the newly organized county may appoint for that purpose access to the rolls for the purpose of making the transcripts hereinafter provided for. [Acts 1885, p. 107, sec. 1.]

Special tax to pay judgments.—See notes under Title 28, Chapter 1.

Art. 7723. [5240] Transcripts of unpaid assessments.—It shall be the duty of the person so appointed to make from such assessor's rolls two transcripts of the unpaid assessments, both on person and property, in that portion of the county included within the limits of the new county, or, as the case may be, in the limits of the former unorganized county. [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7724. [5241] To be verified.—The collector of the county from which such territory has been taken, or to which such unorganized county has been attached, shall examine and verify the transcripts herein provided for and attest their correctness over his official signature. For such service he shall receive twenty dollars from the county for which the transcript has been made, to be paid on the order of its commissioners' court. He shall also have the commissioners' court of his county to approve the transcript rolls, and shall deliver one of them to the collector of the new county; the other he shall forward to the comptroller; and, when received by the comptroller, it shall authorize him to give the proper credit to the collector of the old county and to charge the same to the collector of the new county. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7725. [5242] Compensation of collector.—The collector of such new county shall receive the same compensation, and shall have the same authority to collect and enforce the collection of the taxes found to be due by such transcripts as is enjoyed by the collectors of the other counties in this state. [Id. sec. 4.]

Art. 7726. [5243] Compensation for transcribing rolls.—The person selected by the commissioners' court of the new county to make such transcripts shall receive for his services such compensation as he may agree on with such commissioners' court. [Id. sec. 5.]

DECISIONS RELATING TO SUBJECT IN GENERAL

Delegation of authority.—The general rule of constitutional law that a sovereign power conferred upon one branch of the government cannot be delegated applies to taxation, but does not prevent delegating authority to municipal corporations provided such authority is subject to recall. Stratton v. Commissioners' Court of Kinney County (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 1170.

Construction of statutes in general.—Revenue laws are to be construed fairly for the government and justly for the citizen, and so as to carry out the intention of the legislature gathered from the language used, read in connection with the general purpose of the law. Eppstein v. State (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1124.

Tax on sale of harmful articles.—In the absence of constitutional limitation, a legislature holds empowered to prohibit or place a prohibitive tax on sale of harmful articles. Ex parte Townsend, 64 Cr. R. 350, 144 S. W. 628.

Revocation or suspension of license.—The revocation or suspension of a license to follow a lawful occupation is penal in effect, and the imposition of such penalty involves all the elements of a judicial proceeding. Wichita Electric Co. v. Hinckley (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1192.

Title 127

Timber

Article 7727. [5244] Log brands.—Any person engaged in floating or rafting timber upon the waters of any river or creek of this state shall have a log brand with which to brand every log or stick that he may float or haul and put into the waters for sale or market, the same to be distinctly branded. [Acts 1879, p. 81, sec. 1.]

Art. 7728. [5245] To be recorded.—He shall have said brand recorded in every county in which he cuts any of said timber, and in the county where he proposes to sell or market said timber, by the county clerk, in a book to be kept by said clerk for that purpose, for which said clerk shall receive a fee the same as is by law allowed for recording stock brands. [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7729. [5246] Written report to be filed with county clerk.—Any persons who float any logs or timber in this state shall, on the first day of April, first day of July, first day of September, and on the first day of January of each year, or within fifteen days of said dates, make a written report under oath showing the number of logs cut or floated during the next preceding three months, the survey or surveys of land from which they were cut or carried, and the number cut from each, and a description of the brand placed thereon, and shall file the same with the county clerk of the county in which the timber was cut; and such clerk shall record the same in a book kept for that purpose, and index it, and receive therefor the sum of fifty cents from the party presenting the same; provided, that this law shall not apply to pickets, posts, rails or firewood. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7730. [5247] Evidence of ownership, how proved.—A certificate under the hand of the county clerk, containing a description of a log brand and the name of the owner thereof, with a transfer on the back of it signed and acknowledged by such owner, or proved as other instruments for record, shall be prima facie evidence that the person to whom the transfer is made owns the logs described thereon. [Id. sec. 4.]

Decisions Relating to Subject in General

Under the facts, held that plaintiff could recover of defendants for standing timber which they bought of him and removed, though his title to the land failed. Richburg v. Patten, 46 C. A. 82, 101 S. W. 886.

A contract for sale of the timber on the vendors' lands in a certain part of the state held to sufficiently describe the property. Hughes v. Adams, 55 C. A. 197, 119 S. W. 334.

Purchaser of standing timber held to have relied on his own judgment, and not to be entitled to hold seller liable for misrepresentation. Huber v. Hill (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 219.

In action on note for price of standing timber, court held not to have erred in refusing to find that there was no timber on the land when the contract was made. Id.

Contract for sale of standing timber, having sufficiently identified the land, held not invalidated by failure to attach map thereto. Id.

Where a contract of sale of standing timber failed because of the vendor's inability to make good title, the purchaser held entitled to recover only the purchase money paid. Id.

A contract of sale of timber held to make the obligations of the parties mutual and dependent promises. Id.
Title 127

TIMBER

If plaintiff was the first to refuse to proceed under a contract for the cutting and delivery of logs, he could not sue defendant for breach of the contract. Hardman v. Hampton Bros., 104 T. 580, 146 S. W. 987.

The purchasers of standing timber having used only such means for removing it as was expressly authorized by the grant, without unnecessary injury to the land, are not liable for any injury to the land. Davidson v. Bodan Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 700.

An agreement that logs should be paid for according to scaling and classification by the buyer held binding upon the seller, in the absence of fraud or bad faith, though the court did not expressly state that such scaling should be conclusive. Cudlip v. C. E. Cummings Export Co. (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 444.

Evidence held to show that the purchaser of standing timber, who had done nothing for 11 years, had not cut the timber within a reasonable time, and that it had reverted. Houston Oil Co. v. Texas & Boykin (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 1176.

An instrument executed by plaintiffs' grantor, after his conveyances reserving the timber and a vendor's lien, releasing the land from such lien, and quiet claiming and conveying the said interest in the present title, and if at the present time, it is true, then the instrument, held to be only a release of the vendor's lien, and not a conveyance of the timber thereon. Alf Bennett Lumber Co. of Texas v. Fall (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 209.

Limitation as to time.—Where one purchases timber as personalty, if a time within which to remove it is fixed by his contract, he must remove it within that time, and if no time is fixed, he must remove it within a reasonable time, to be determined with reference to the circumstances of the case. Beauchamp v. Williams (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 130.

If a purchaser of standing timber as personalty fails to remove it within a time fixed, or within a reasonable time if none is fixed, he forfeits his right to the timber not so removed. Id.

A reasonable time within which to remove timber purchased held not, as matter of law, to have expired before a certain date. Id.

When standing timber is sold as personalty and no time is fixed in the deed or bill of sale in which severance must be made, the law implies that a reasonable time was intended. Montgomery County Development Co. v. Miller-Vidor Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1015.

A purchaser's failure to remove standing timber within the fixed time, or within a reasonable time, if none is fixed, forfeits his right to the timber not removed. Houston Oil Co. v. Bellington (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 1194.

Where a contract for the sale of timber provided that the grantee and his assigns should have a reasonable time within which to remove necessary houses, sheds, and other improvements erected on the land, he was entitled to a reasonable time, after the expiration of the last extension of lumber rights under the contract, in which to remove the buildings and improvements. Lancaster v. Roth (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 597.

Where growing timber is sold and a time limit fixed for its removal, the vendee loses all not removed within the time agreed on, whether the contract is regarded as a sale of the timber in specie or as a mere license to cut and remove. Id.

Under a contract for the sale and removal of standing timber to be cut, sold, and removed within a specified time, the grantee and his assigns, on the expiration of the time specified, did not forfeit to the grantor the logs and lumber remaining in the mill yard, but was entitled to remove the same. Id.

A grantee of standing timber held not excused for failure to remove the same within the contract period, as extended by the fact that weather conditions prevented the operation of his mill because of inability to obtain water. Id.

Sale by owner of undivided interest.—An owner of an undivided interest in a tract of land has no right to sell to another an undivided interest in the timber on the whole tract separate from his undivided interest. Hunter v. Hodgson (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 637.

Forestry.—If timber is cut, and sold and removed, and in the right to cut such land is reserved to the mortgagor, the mortgage can convey a good title to the timber and to any of its products. American Nat. Bank of Paris v. First Nat. Bank. 52 C. A. 619, 114 S. W. 176.

Conveyance as conversion.—If timber was a part of the realty when conveyed, its conveyance could not be a conversion thereof. Berry v. Hindman (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1181.

Ownership by tenants in common.—Tenants in common and each of them have the right to cut grass and marketable timber, but not to despoil the land. Gillum v. Railway Co., 23 S. W. 716, 717, 4 C. A. 622.

Where one tenant in common without authority sells all the timber on the land, his co-tenant is entitled to recover from him and from purchasers with notice his share of the value of the timber taken. Collier v. Wm. Cameron & Co., 55 C. A. 153, 117 S. W. 915.

A buyer of timber from an adult and infant owners held to become a tenant in common with the infant's interest, and as the infant's heirs could go on the land and appropriate at least a part of the timber. Hatton v. Bodan Lumber Co., 57 C. A. 478, 123 S. W. 163.

Deed of timber construed.—A deed held one of standing trees as an interest in land without any limitation as to time of removal. Lodwick Lumber Co. v. Taylor, 100 T. 270, 98 S. W. 338, 123 Am. St. Rep. 803.

A deed of standing timber held to give right to cut it at any time. Lodwick Lumber Co. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 125.

A deed of standing timber held to give right to cut it at any time. Lodwick Lumber Co. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 125.

A deed of standing timber held to give right to cut it at any time. Lodwick Lumber Co. v. Taylor (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 125.

A deed conveying timber after lumbering, construed, and held not to have passed any interest in the land, and to have provided for forfeiture of the timber on failure to remove it within a specified time. Carter v. Clark & Bolce Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 278.

A deed providing that defendant "has bargained and sold * * * all the mer-

Deed of the merchantable pine timber upon land held a sale of the timber as per sonal property, and in the absence of an specified time for removal, to give the purchaser a reasonable time therefor. Houston Oil Co. of Texas v. Hamilton (Civ. App.) 153
S. W. 1194.

A deed to standing timber construed, and held not to give a grantee an interest in the land, so as to entitle him to remove timber after the period designated in the deed.
North Texas Lumber Co. v. McWhorter (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1152.

possession, to recover against a trespasser for cutting trees, where decedents were not in actual possession at the time of the trespass. Beauchamp v. Williams (Civ. App.)
115 S. W. 139.

Evidence.—In trespass for cutting timber, a finding of gross negligence authorizing a judgment for the manufactured value of the timber cut held warranted.
Emporia Lumber Co. v. League (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 1187.

Evidence in an action for trespass held not to show that a time was agreed upon within which timber sold should be removed from the land. Beauchamp v. Williams (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 139.

Evidence held to support a finding that defendants committed a timber trespass intentionally, and not through mistake in the land lines. Ryp v. Less, 55 C. A. 492, 118 S. W. 1084.

Evidence, in an action for taking timber, held to warrant a finding that the taking was willful as affecting plaintiff's right to recover the value of the timber in its manu-

Where defendant on plaintiff's premises cut timber believing it to belong to defendant, defendant was liable only for the value of the timber at the time it was secured; but if such employés were negligent, or the trespass was intentional, defendant was liable for the value of the timber in its converted condition. Messer v. Walton, 42 C. A. 488, 92 S. W. 1057.

Where a trespasser removes timber from land and converts it into lumber, the landowner is entitled to recover the value of the lumber. C. R. Cummings & Co. v.

Where timber is cut on the land of another the trespasser is liable for the full value of the property at the time and place of demand or of suit brought. Ryp v. Less, 55 C. A. 492, 118 S. W. 1084.

Defendant held not liable for the value of timber cut as enhanced by his own expenditures, where he acted in good faith in investigating the title, and believed that

One recovering for a willful and wrongful taking of timber is entitled to recover its value in its manufactured state, e. g., where the timber is manufactured into staves.

In order to warrant a recovery of the manufactured value of trees taken by one person from the land of another, the trespass must have been willful and without the belief in good faith that the taker was entitled to make the appropriation. De Witz

Logging contracts.—The refusal of a party to a logging contract to tell the other party whether he intended to finish out his contract held not a repudiation or breach of it, where he was at the same time, by acts as well as words, carrying out his obligations

The refusal of an employer to pay his employés as required by two logging contracts was a breach of the contracts, and entitled the employés to cease performance and recover what was at the time due them. 1d.

The refusal of an employer to carry out his obligations under two certain logging contracts, by refusing to pay what was due the employés under either, held a breach of both contracts, and that the employer's store account could not be set off against one of them alone. 1d.

In an action for damages for breach of a contract to cut and deliver logs, evidence held to show that defendants intended to abandon the contract, but made no move to so prior to plaintiff's breach. Hardeman-King Lumber Co. v. Hampton Bros., 104
T. 685, 142 S. W. 967.
TITLE 128
TRESPASS TO TRY TITLE

CHAPTER ONE
THE PLEADINGS AND PRACTICE

Article 7731. [5248] Method of trying titles to land, etc.—All fictitious proceedings in the action of ejectment are abolished, and the method of trying titles to lands, tenements or other real property shall be by action of trespass to try title. [Act Feb. 5, 1840, sec. 1. P. D. 5292.]

One in whose favor an action of "forcible entry and detainer" might be brought may, in lieu thereof, maintain an action for trespass to try title. Thurber v. Conners, 57 T. 96; McDannell v. Cherry, 64 T. 177.

This action, taking the place of the common-law action of ejectment, may be used where the object is to recover possession of land unlawfully withheld from the owner, and to which he has the right of immediate possession, whether the defendant claims under title or is a mere trespasser. Hays v. T. & P. R. R. Co., 80 T. 357.

The owner of land in possession may maintain an action of trespass to try title to determine adverse and conflicting claims. Edrington v. Butler (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 143.

Where plaintiff claims title by settlement location, survey and return of field notes, his action is not merely for possession, but an action of trespass to try title. Carnes v. Barnes, 26 C. A. 610, 64 S. W. 878.

Trespass to try title held not in the nature of suit for specific performance, so as to be barred by limitations. Turner v. Cochran, 39 C. A. 549, 70 S. W. 1024.

The form of an action of trespass to try title is a special statutory proceeding. Meade v. Logan (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 188.

A suit to recover an undivided one-third interest in land, plaintiff admitting that defendant owned the remaining interest, was one of trespass to try title, though, in addition to seeking to recover the one-third interest, plaintiff asked for a partition of that interest. Blythe v.纳税人 (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1074.

Boundary disputes.—A dispute as to boundaries may be determined in an action of trespass to try title, but only where facts are alleged sufficient to support that action. When, in addition to the confusion of boundaries, there is sufficient equity to give jurisdiction to a court of equity, the statutory action of trespass to try title may be used and the dispute as to boundary determined therein. Nye v. Hawkins, 62 T. 650.
Disputes as to boundaries may be determined in trespass to try title. Weaver v. Vanderwatern, 84 T. 621, 19 S. W. 889; Mahurin v. McClung (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 1046; Rountree v. Haynes (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 435.

Equities and rights of vendor and purchaser.—The equities and rights of the vendor and vendee may be determined in this action. Kauffman v. Brown, 83 T. 41, 18 S. W. 425.

Where a grantor retained a vendor's lien for land conveyed to another in consideration of an annuity, and the grantee defaulted in a payment, the other heirs of the grantor may recover the land, unless the grantee tender the amount of the payment, less the amount due him by inheritance. McCaa v. Poor (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 47.

Trespass to try title may be maintained by vendor against vendee-grantee who assumed to pay lien notes, and who had acquired ownership of the notes as security. Smith v. Cottingham, 20 C. A. 303, 49 S. W. 146.

Where a vendor retains a lien in a trust deed and in the purchase-money notes, and the vendee dies before the price is paid on default made therein the vendor may recover the land by trespass to try title. Curran v. Texas Land & Mortgage Co., 24 C. A. 499. 69 S. W. 466.

Foreclosure.—Plaintiff claiming under a deed which is in fact a mortgage cannot have a foreclosure in a suit in form of an action of trespass to try title. Duty v. Graham, 12 T. 427, 62 Am. Dec. 534; Hannay v. Thompson, 14 T. 144; Parker v. Weaver, 19 T. 419; McKey v. Welch, 22 T. 390; Mann v. Falcon, 28 T. 274; Eddington v. Newland, 57 T. 627; Pratt v. Goodwin, 61 T. 331.

One who receives a deed absolute on its face for money loaned, but who executes contemporaneously an instrument binding himself to reconvey on payment of purchase money, is but a mortgagee; not being entitled as such to the possession of the premises, his remedy is to foreclose, and this cannot be done in the form of an action of trespass to try title. Eddington v. Newland, 57 T. 627.

The action could not be maintained by grantee in a deed which was intended as a mortgage, the remedy being a suit to foreclose. Wiggins v. Wiggins, 16 C. A. 335, 40 S. W. 643.

A mortgagor held not entitled to bring trespass to try title. Hume v. Le Compte (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 934.

Redemption from Incumbrance.—To entitle one to enforce redemption from incumbrance, he must sue for that purpose, alleging equities authorizing recovery, and the right cannot be enforced in trespass to try title. Parks v. Worthington, 39 C. A. 421, 57 S. W. 750.

Recovery of school land leased by county.—Trespass to try title cannot be maintained by a county to recover school land leased by it, unless the lease is void on its face; the remedy being in equity. Midland County v. Slaughter (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 613.

Removal of cloud on title.—The levy of an attachment upon the land of a person who is not a party to the suit will not support an action to remove a cloud upon title. Heath v. Bank (Civ. App.) 22 S. W. 778; Carlin v. Hudson, 12 T. 302, 62 Am. Dec. 521; Ferguson v. Herring, 49 T. 150; Furinton v. Davis, 56 T. 456, 1 S. W. 343; Spencer v. Rosen­thal, 58 T. 4; Mann v. Wallis, 76 T. 614, 12 S. W. 1128; Kennard v. Mabry, 76 T. 458, 14 S. W. 272.

Railroad right of way.—Where the statute provides a summary remedy by which lands can be condemned to the use of a railway company and damages assessed to the owner, such remedy does not interfere with the owner's right to an action of trespass to try title where the railway company occupies the land without resorting to the statutory method of condemning it. Railroad Co. v. Perris, 26 T. 588; Railroad Co. v. Pef­fer, 56 T. 96; Railroad Co. v. Benito, 59 T. 326, citing Hayes v. T. & P. R. R. Co., 62 T. 397.

One who permits a railway company to enter upon his land and clear a right of way for its roadbed without objection, under verbal authority from him so to do, cannot afterward maintain an action in trespass to try title to recover the strip so used for operating the road. T. & St. L. R. R. Co. v. Jerrell, 60 T. 267.

Art. 7732. [5249] Rules in other cases observed how far.—The trial shall be conducted according to the rules of pleading, practice and evidence in other cases in the district court, and conformably to the principles of trial by ejectment, except as herein otherwise expressly provided. [Id. sec. 2. P. D. 5293.]

Art. 7733. [5250] The petition shall state what.—The petition shall state:

1. The real names of the plaintiff and defendant and their residence, if known.

2. It shall describe the premises by metes and bounds, or with sufficient certainty to identify the same, so that from such description possession thereof may be delivered, and shall also state the county or counties in which the same are situated.

3. The interest which the plaintiff claims in the premises, whether it be a fee simple or other estate; and, if he claims an undivided interest, he shall state the same and the amount thereof.

4. That he was in possession of the premises or entitled to such pos­sion.
TRESPASS TO TRY TITLE  Art. 7733

5. That the defendant afterward unlawfully entered upon and possessed him of such premises, stating the date, and withholds from him the possession thereof.

6. If rents and profits or damages are claimed, such facts as show the plaintiff to be entitled thereto and the amount thereof.

7. It shall conclude with a prayer for the relief sought.  [Id. sec. 1. P. D. 5292.]

Petition.—It is no misjoinder of causes of action to claim in the same suit judgment for the land and for damages committed on the premises, such as destroying timber, tearing down fences, etc.  Hillman v. Baumbach, 21 T. 263.

A plaintiff seeks to recover lost land on default in payment of purchase money must show an ability and willingness to make a valid title.  Kauffman v. Brown, 83 T. 41, 18 S. W. 425.

A complaint which alleges that defendant claims a tax sale was void, and which asks judgment to quiet such title, does not allege a void tax sale, nor admit that the tax was paid by the sale alleged.  Conklin v. City of El Paso (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 879.

Where partition is desired, the interest of the several parties should be stated in the petition.  Nehring v. McMurrain (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 1032.

Plaintiff, a corporation, may show identity with grantee named in deed in chain of title.  Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Ennis-Calvert Compress Co., 23 C. A. 441, 56 S. W. 867.

The allegations in a petition held sufficient.  Sanders v. Rawlings (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 41.

Where a petition shows that plaintiffs seek to recover as foreign executors and also in their own right, their alleged right as executors should be stricken out on exceptions, but the suit should not be dismissed.  Id.

Plaintiff held not precluded by his pleadings from attacking defendant’s title as being through a sale by a substitute trustee without authority.  Bemis v. Williams, 32 C. A. 393, 74 S. W. 332.

The allegations in a petition held sufficient.  Sanders v. Rawlings (Civ. App.) 77 S. W. 41.

A petition to quiet possession of land held not open to the objection that plaintiff asserted inconsistent rights.  McCurry v. McCurry (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 35.

A paragraph of the supplemental petition averring coverture in replication to defendant’s pleas of limitation was good against a general demurrer.  McAllen v. Alonzo, 46 C. A. 449, 102 S. W. 475.

Where an action of trespass to try title went off on demurrer to the petition, and one of the instruments contained ambiguous language, when sought to be applied to the subject-matter, its construction must be arrived at in accordance with the intent of the original parties.  West v. Hermann, 47 C. A. 131, 104 S. W. 428.

A plaintiff in trespass to try title who claims title and who shows that defendant’s possession is under an executory contract of purchase held not required to allege certain facts.  Glenn v. Rhine, 53 C. A. 69, 116 S. W. 370; Hammons v. Ciwer (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 889.

A petition held insufficient in not alleging the date of an agreement on which it was based to excuse for failure to allege the same.  Id.

Petition held not to warrant a judgment for value of the land.  Broussard v. Mayumi (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 320.

VERN.S.CIV.ST.—298  4753
Petition in trespass to try title, or, in the alternative, for damages from the taking of land by a misdescription of the same, filed by a person not desirous of the title, not supported by a representation of claim for damages to commissioners' court for approval. Harbinson v. Cottle County (Civ. App.) 147 S. W. 719.

Petition held sufficient to justify a judgment for the value of lots sold by defendant to the plaintiff, 983 S. W. 234. Padgett v. Williams' Ad'm'r (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 973.

Description of premises.—In boundary suits the petition should set out the land in dispute by metes and bounds. Edwards v. Smith, 71 T. 156, 9 S. W. 77; Davis v. Smith, 61 T. 18; Porter v. Miller, 76 T. 593, 18 S. W. 384. The petition should describe the land sued for in fact it is situated on the ground. Roche v. Lovell, 74 T. 191, 11 S. W. 1079; Stephens v. Motl, 81 T. 115, 16 S. W. 731; Id., 82 T. 81, 18 S. W. 99; Halley v. Fontaine (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 260. In a suit to establish boundary lines, the petition should describe the boundaries by natural signs and lines. Richardson v. Powell, 85 T. 588, 18 S. W. 1227.

Description of the land set forth in petition, and the evidence to support it held sufficient to identify the land claimed by defendant with that sued for. Bateman v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 234.

Land being sufficiently described, held, misdescription in naming adjoining surveys would be rejected. Bayne v. Denny, 21 C. A. 435, 55 S. W. 983.

In trespass to try title, where the petition described the land as situated on "Corinth" street, and the citation as on "Corinth" street, the variance did not render the citation void. Swain v. Mitchell, 27 C. A. 62, 66 S. W. 61.

A petition to correct a description in a deed of trust held good. Bracken v. Bounds (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 335.

Where the petition in trespass to try title, the description of the land given in the petition is so inaccurate and incomplete as not to identify the land, and it is impossible for the land in dispute to be contained in the description given, the petition is demarurable. Thomas v. Hawkins, 47 C. A. 592, 105 S. W. 1175.

Statement of the proper practice in boundary suits as to description of the corners and in pleadings. Provident Nat. Bank v. Webb (Civ. App.) 158 S. W. 426.

Plaintiff's deed held to sufficiently describe the land to render it certain that it comprehended the land sued for under the petition. Wadsworth v. Vinyard (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 1171.

A petition in trespass to try title held not bad on demurrer for describing several tracts. Guilmartin v. Padgett (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1143.

Where the description in the petition in trespass to try title correctly describes the land in controversy, other descriptions may be rejected. Id.

Interest or ownership.—It is not necessary for the plaintiff, in an action of trespass to try title, to state the evidence of his title; but if the petition purports to do so, the essential elements of the title must be stated. Hughes v. Lane, 8 T. 598. And where plaintiff claims title as resulting from a parol gift of the land in controversy, he should also allege the facts necessary to establish title, as valuable improvements, etc. Montgomery v. Cariot, 56 T. 361.

When plaintiff in an action of this character pledges his title specially, and any link in the chain is dependent upon a fact resting in parol, such as heirship, etc., the fact should be alleged. But should the petition be in the statutory form, he will be permitted to adduce any competent parol evidence to establish his title, the facts proposed to be established not being specially pleaded. Edwards v. Barwise, 69 T. 24, 5 S. W. 577.

A petition alleging ownership of land in plaintiffs, and an adverse claim by the defendant, is sufficient without alleging possession or right of possession in the plaintiffs. Tevis v. Armstrong, 71 T. 59, 9 S. W. 134.

In stating the requisites of the petition this article only requires the plaintiff to state the interest he claims in the premises—whether fee simple or other estate—and does not require him to plead his title. Stevens v. Stoner (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 954.

Possession of plaintiff.—The petition must state that plaintiff was in possession when the right of action accrued, or when ousted, or that he was entitled to such possession. Stephens v. Motl, 82 T. 81, 18 S. W. 99.

When plaintiff in trespass to try title held required only to state in his petition that he is seized and possessed of the property and entitled to the immediate possession of it without indicating how or when he acquired title. Meade v. Logan (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 138.

An allegation that one held land under a tax deed is equivalent to alleging that he was in possession. Han Lona v. Clever (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 859.

Though plaintiff is not required to plead his title, yet if he does so and it is insufficient, a general demurrer should be sustained. National Lumber & Creosoting Co. v. Maria (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 335.

The petition must state that plaintiff was in possession when the right of action accrued or that when ousted he was entitled to possession. State v. Dayton Lumber Co. (Sup.) 155 S. W. 1178.

Adverse possession or claim.—Where the leading object of an action is to recover land, the additional allegation of the adverse claim being a cloud upon plaintiff's title will not change the character of the action from trespass to try title. Sheppard v. Cummings, 44 T. 502.

An allegation of some adverse possession or claim is a necessary part of the petition in an action to try title. See opinion for allegations held insufficient to constitute the statutory action. Nye v. Hawkins, 65 T. 600.

A general objection to an averment of ousted hold properly overruled. Willoughby v. Long (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 646.

If answer to subdivision 5, an answer which alleges no ousted by plaintiff nor possession by him is insufficient as a cross-action. Barnes v. Williams' Ad'm'r (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 973.
Chap. 1)

TRESPASS TO TRY TITLE

Art. 7733

Damages.—Under this subdivision a plaintiff cannot recover damages for injury to the land sued for in showing such injury and a plea claiming damages for the unlawful ejection of plaintiff and withholding of the premises by defendant only authorizes such damages as directly resulted from the ejection of plaintiff and the withholding of possession by defendant, and does not authorize a recovery for damages for the cutting and removal of timber on the land. Kirby v. Hayden (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 993.

Prayer for relief.—Plaintiff may so frame his petition as to secure a foreclosure of a lien, if on the trial what he believes to constitute title should in the judgment of the court be only a mortgage. A prayer asking the alternative relief without setting forth the facts which constitute it a mortgage is not sufficient. Nye v. Gribble, 70 T. 458, 8 S. W. 608.

Limitation.—A plaintiff, relying on an exception to the running of the statute of limitations, must specially plead it. Hughes v. Lane, 25 T. 356.

The petition need not specifically plead by limitation. Benavides v. Molino (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 260.

Amendment.—A plaintiff setting up a chain of title to the land sued for in his original petition may, by amendment, describe a tract of different location, and by other chain of title, and such amendment relieves the plaintiff from the allegations in his original petition as to his title, and he may support his title to the land described by any competent testimony. Hunter v. Morse, 49 T. 219. See Art. 7732.

If the facts set forth as the basis of recovery are the same in an original and in an amended pleading filed for in the amendment, the relief prayed for in the amendment may be different, because cause of action remains the same, and the defense of limitation, if not valid against the original petition, will not prevail against the amendment. If a new party plaintiff is made after the filing of the original petition, limitation runs as to such party up to the date of such entry. Turner v. Dillard, 77 T. 219, 77 W. 447.

A mistake in a description of the land claimed by the plaintiff cannot be corrected in this action. Such a correction can be made only in a suit for that purpose with the proper parties. Washington v. White v. 201.

A title acquired after commencement of a suit may be set up by amendment. Ballard v. Carmichael, 83 T. 355, 18 S. W. 734.

Issues, proof and variance.—See, also, notes under Art. 7740.

Where neither party is required to plead his title specially, yet if either one pleads, he will be held to the sufficiency of the title offered. Frey v. Poole, 11 T. 538; Turner v. Ferguson, 59 T. 508; Custard v. Musgrove, 47 T. 219; Cummins v. Denton, 1 U. C. 181; Railway Co. v. Whitaker, 68 T. 630, 5 S. W. 448.

In an action for the recovery of land, partial discrepancies between the description of the land as given in the title offered in evidence do not raise a question of variance between the allegations of the petition and the evidence offered in support of it, but a question of the identity of the land described in the petition and that described in the title. Therefore such discrepancies are not material, if it appear from the whole description in the title to be the same land described in the petition. Smith v. Chatham, 14 T. 322.

The defendant in an action of trespass to try title, having at the first trial relied upon one title, should not have been permitted, at a second trial granted him upon appeal, to set up a new and different title. The rights of the parties were fixed when the demise was laid. Menifee v. Hamilton, 32 T. 495.

Where plaintiffs in their pleadings do not set out the commencement or derivation of their title, an error in the title, or proof of evidence of heirship, or proof of title, does not appear to have been error or misconduct, nor that there was no allegation of heirship in the pleadings. It would be different if plaintiff had undertaken to specifically set out their title and had failed to aver heirship. Bridges v. Cundiff, 45 T. 449.

An alleged joint title in trespass to try title is not supported by titles in severality to the individual plaintiff. Teal v. Terrell, 48 T. 491.

Plaintiff, who alleges a valid judgment against himself and execution sale of land and purchase thereof by defendant, is bound thereby, unless he shows that the sale was void or passed no title. Hill v. Allison, 51 T. 390.

A defendant in trespass to try title claimed, under a sheriff's sale, land described in the petition as lying and situated in the county of Dallas, state of Texas, known and designated as the northeast quarter of section 17, in township No. 3, south of the first base line, and range 1, east of the first meridian, located by virtue of Peters' colony certificate No. 275. He offered in evidence, in addition to the judgment and original execution, a writ of venditioni exponas and sheriff's return, to show levy and sale, in both of which the land was described as in the petition, except that section "7" appeared instead of section "17." The evidence was excluded. Held, it was error to treat the question thus presented as one of variance. Freeman v. Brundage, 57 T. 233.

If it is not set forth in his petition as his title, it is not necessary that he should state the fact that the written evidence of any link in the chain has been lost. Being himself a competent witness under the statute, he may testify to the loss of a missing deed without being required to first file the stipulatory affidavits required at common law. Parks v. Caudle, 60 T. 164.

When the boundary lines of the land sued for are not established so as to correspond with the description in the petition, the verdict should be for defendant. Jones v. Andrews, 62 T. 652.

The establishment of the boundary of plaintiff's land is necessary when he establishes his claim to any part of the land sued for, and is an issuable fact in such case, without the necessity of special pleading for that purpose. Koenigheim v. Miles, 67 T. 112, 3 S. W. 81.
When the defendant disclaims title, but sets up title in himself to an adjoining tract of land, in order to determine whether the two surveys conflict, he may pray that he may have judgment for costs if they do not, and for his improvements made in good faith if a conflict exists, evidence deraigning plaintiff's title is unnecessary. Mynders v. Ralston, 68 T. 498, 4 S. W. 854; King v. Haleuy, 75 T. 153, 12 S. W. 1112; Etter v. M. & T. R. R., 77 T. 219, 18 S. W. 973.

It was insisted that the court erred in refusing to permit defendant to prove that there were other joint owners to the land beside the plaintiff. The petition alleged that plaintiff was the sole owner of the land in question. If, plaintiff had fully complied with the statute in setting forth his title; and the court did not err in refusing to permit the defendant to prove that there were other joint owners of the land beside the plaintiff, defendant not offering to connect himself with such title. Gaither v. Han­ric, 58 T. 92, 8 S. W. 619.

The plaintiff may introduce in evidence a deed forming a link in his chain of title, though it bears date subsequent to the alleged entry as charged in the petition, if executed before the institution of the suit. Jenkins v. Adams, 71 T. 1, 8 S. W. 666.

Under the fee plaintiff may show a contract of sale by which the vendor retained the legal title and the right to rescind until payment and under which plaintiff took possession and paid all installments. Land Co. v. Wood, 71 T. 486, 19 S. W. 340.

When the plaintiff sets out his title in his petition, he is confined in his evidence thereto. Joyner v. Johnson, 84 T. 465, 19 S. W. 522.

When the defendant pleads his title specially and asks affirmative relief, and plaintiff, that he set forth deed, the proof of it will not be admitted, and if admitted will not authorize a recovery by virtue thereof, in the absence of its being alleged in the plaintiff's pleadings. Lapowski v. Smith, 1 C. A. 391, 20 S. W. 957.

Fledgling and proof held not at variance. Kent v. Berryman, 15 C. A. 487, 40 S. W. 33. Title by custom only common source may be shown without pleading the nature thereof. Webster v. McCarty, 16 C. A. 160, 40 S. W. 522.

The fact that the title deeds of the defendant in trespass to try title do not accurately describe the land does not make on that variance the purchaser in the description of the land sued for and recovered. Fugere v. Willis & Bro. Smith, 17 C. A. 542, 43 S. W. 325.

Where defendant claims as the only heir of her deceased mother, and pleads overture to bar limitations, defendant can show that plaintiff is not the sole heir. Hardy v. Brown (Civ. App.), 46 S. W. 325.

Where the land described in plaintiff's pleadings is not that embraced in his chain of title, it is proper to direct verdict for defendant. Sayers v. Davis (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 520.

Under a petition in the general form of trespass to try title, plaintiff is not entitled to prove mistake, or any other fact entitling him to relief, unless specifically pleaded. Matula v. State Co. (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 24.

An allegation of fee-simple ownership is established by a trust deed; the legal title in a trust deed being in the trustee. Matula v. Lane, 22 C. A. 391, 55 S. W. 594.

Where plaintiffs pleaded title, alleging a trust, in that they furnished the money, they cannot recover, where defendant bought the land with his own money, though there be other evidence of a trust. Perkins v. Davidson, 23 C. A. 31, 56 S. W. 121.

Where plaintiff based his right on a tax sale of defendant's land, it was not necessary for him to set forth defendant's title at the time of the sale. Collins v. Ferguson, 22 C. A. 552, 56 S. W. 295.

Where plaintiff's petition failed to allege that the land was a homestead, and defendant pleaded a verbal purchase, plaintiff was precluded from introducing evidence to show that the land was a homestead. Fields v. Rye, 24 C. A. 541, 60 S. W. 608.

Party claiming title by virtue of a sale under a foreclosure of a mortgage given by the grantee in a power of attorney giving authority to lease and sell such land cannot introduce such power in evidence to prove his title. First Nat. Bank v. Hicks, 24 C. A. 269, 59 S. W. 842.

There is no provision in this article that the facts establishing the title must be pleaded. If the petition is in statutory form plaintiff can adduce any competent oral evidence to establish title, although the fact to be established be not specially pleaded. Benavides v. Molino (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 361.

The description of the land given in a petition in trespass to try title contained an additional description, but did not tend to vary the description stated in the instruments of title relied on. Held, that there was no variance. Frazier v. Waco Bldg. Ass'n, 25 C. A. 476, 61 S. W. 153.

A question as to the minority of plaintiff's remote granter should not be made an issue when it can bring no advantage. Gillum v. Fuqua (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 55.

In an action of trespass to try title, held, that there was no variance between the complaint and the proof. Travis v. Hall, 27 C. A. 95, 65 S. W. 1077.

Where a county, sued in trespass to try title, justifies its entry and claim by virtue of a condemnation proceeding, proof of service of notice therein is admissible without special pleadings. Bowie County v. Powell (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 247.

A variance in trespass to try title held not to defeat the right of plaintiff to recover. Anderson v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 297.

Where plaintiff in trespass to try title alleged that the levy of the execution through sale under which he claimed was made on July 11th, but the sheriff's return showed that the levy was on July 8th, the variance was immaterial, and not calculated to mislead defendant. Weinert v. Simang, 29 C. A. 435, 68 S. W. 101.

When the claim under which the deed executed by an agent was made, may show ratification by the principal of the agent's act, without pleading such ratification. Kirkpatrick v. Tarlton, 29 C. A. 276, 69 S. W. 179.
Where plaintiff shows common source, there is no issue in the first instance as to the existence of title in the plaintiff grantor. J. Gordon v. Hall, 29 C. A. 239, 65 S. W. 319.

Discrepancy between deeds offered in evidence and description of land given in plea held not to create a variance. Fischer v. Gidding (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 85.

A claim that defendants should have been confined to the issue of res judicata held under Tennyson v. Tyrrell, 23 C. A. 443, 76 S. W. 57.

The fact of defendant's occupancy of a certain "home section" held to have been put in issue. Corrigan v. Fitzsimmons (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 68.

An admission, in a petition of intervention in trespass to try title, held to bring a certain issue into the case, and cure a failure of the answer to aver the facts. Eddy v. Bosley, 34 C. A. 116, 78 S. W. 556.

Defendant having specially pleaded, his title held confined to evidence thereof. Tie­mann v. Cobb, 35 C. A. 258, 90 S. W. 250.

Certain evidence held admissible in support of cross-bill impleading another and alleging him to be the real party in interest. Jinks v. Moppin (Civ. App.) 80 S. W. 390.

In a suit by "W. M. Read" to establish a title to school land, an application for a writ of possession, "W. M. Read" held admissible. Gothal v. Read, 35 C. A. 481, 81 S. W. 126.

Where the petition attacked the sheriff's deed, under which defendant claimed, as void, plaintiff was not entitled to relief on a showing that the deed was merely voidable. Temple v. Branch Saw Co., 39 C. A. 606, 85 S. W. 442.

In a formal suit in trespass to try title, the plaintiff may prove any character of title except that of limitation; no effort being made to plead his title specifically. Arthur v. Ridge, 40 C. A. 157, 89 S. W. 17.

Evidence held to require submission of the question whether plaintiff or defendants claimed as heirs of the real person for whose services the warrant was issued. Kirby v. Boas, 41 C. A. 282, 91 S. W. 642.

In action of trespass to try title it was proper to show defendant's possession, claim of ownership, and ouster by writ of sequestration. Latta v. Wiley (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 422.

An issue as to the consideration for a deed executed by the original owner to a party to the suit held immaterial. Carlisle v. Gibbs, 44 C. A. 183, 98 S. W. 192.

It is for plaintiff to prove the validity of his title, where it appears that defendant was in possession as plaintiff's tenant. Berry v. Jago, 45 C. A. 6, 100 S. W. 815.

Allegations of a supplemental petition held sufficiently broad to warrant the admission of certain evidence. Id.

Where plaintiff is not seeking the enforcement of any equity, he may introduce evidence to establish his title, although the fact proposed to be established was not specially pleaded. Bumpass v. McLendon, 45 C. A. 519, 101 S. W. 491.

The rule confining a party to a title specially pleaded is inapplicable to a title by limitation. McCadams v. Hooks, 47 C. A. 79, 104 S. W. 432; City of San Antonio v. Rowley, 48 C. A. 378, 106 S. W. 783.

The fact that defendant specially pleaded his title only limits him to proof of the title pleaded, and does not relieve plaintiff from showing a title enabling him to recover. Hutcheson v. Chandler, 47 C. A. 124, 104 S. W. 434.

Defendants not held not entitled under the pleadings to attack a deed by showing that it was fraudulent. Garrison v. Richards (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 861.

Where, in a suit to recover an interest in land, plaintiff bases his right to recover on a deed which he attacked as a forgery, he cannot show that he had a right to the land by virtue of a resulting or express trust. Robbins v. Hubbard (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 773.

Under general allegations as to title, any title may be proved. Meade v. Logan (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 188; Pierce v. Texas Rice Development Co., 52 C. A. 205, 114 S. W. 857.

An admission by defendant in compliance with district and county court rule No. 31 (67 S. W. xxii) held an admission of every character of title which plaintiff may show he possessed. Logan v. Logan (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 188.

Where plaintiffs claimed under deeds describing land as part of a survey remaining after a prior conveyance of 790 acres, it was proper to admit a deed from a former owner of the survey conveying 640 acres. Evalde County v. Oppenheimer, 53 C. A. 187, 115 S. W. 904.

An inquiry in trespass to try title as to priority of liens under which the parties claim held immaterial. J. M. West Lumber Co. v. Lyon (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 662.

Plaintiff held not bound by the date of the eviction pleaded, but entitled to prove that he was evicted on an earlier date. Saxton v. Corbett (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 75.

The suit, which was brought on or about January 1, 1903, and on or about the same date and in the possession of the land in fee, and that on that date defendants unlawfully entered on the premises and with force and arms ejected plaintiff therefrom and unlawfully withheld, and still withheld, from plaintiff the rightful possession, plaintiff was not entitled to do so to the dates of the possession and eviction pleaded, but was entitled to prove that the eviction occurred in 1901. Id.

Where plaintiff showed a superior right to defendants by prior possession, and defendants undertook to defeat plaintiff's prima facie title, or to substantiate their own title held which was clearly based on ownership of the premises, plaintiff's evidence was sufficient to show that one of the links in defendants' chain was insufficient without defeating his own prima facie right. Id.

Though the controversy on the trial was, in the main, one merely as to the boundary line between parts of a survey, owned, respectively, by plaintiff and defendant, the eff­fect of defendant's plea of not guilty was to require plaintiff to prove that he had the title to the land he sought to recover. Dean v. Furrh (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 421.

Under an ordinary petition in trespass to try title, plaintiff's equities in the property in controversy, conveyed by him to defendant in trust for legitimate purposes, cannot be proved, but the equities must be specially pleaded. Smith v. Olivarrri (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 225.

Certain defendants held not entitled to recover any part of the land sued for not embraced in a deed, to which their claim was limited. Bond v. Garrison (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 639.

A public easement in land which is the subject of litigation between individual parties is not involved in the suit, unless expressly brought into it by the parties. Henyan v. Trevino (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 458.

Plaintiff held entitled to show that one formerly in possession of the land was his tenant at will. Crane v. Wood (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 444.

Under the ordinary pleadings in trespass to try title, neither party can introduce evidence of an equitable right. Packard v. De Miranda (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 211.

Plaintiff described the land and did not seek the recovery of any land west thereof, the fact that defendant inclosed and claimed land west of the described land was immaterial. Cole v. Webb (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 245.

Where in a previous action the same parties, involving the same land, defendants claimed under a deed from M. evidence that such deed was a forgery is admissible, even though defendants in the present action claimed under a lost deed from plaintiffs' ancestor. Rice v. Taliaferro (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 242.

Art. 7734. [5251] Indorsement on petition.—The plaintiff shall indorse on his petition that the action is brought as well to try the title as for damages. [Id. sec. 2. P. D. 5293.]

Effect of failure to indorse.—The omission to indorse the petition cannot control the nature of a suit necessarily involving plaintiff's title. Dangerfield v. Paschal, 20 T. 638; Bone v. Walters, 14 T. 564; Shannon v. Taylor, 16 T. 413.

Exception.—Where a suit's character and object could have been mistaken, by which the defendant is about to be misled in their defenses they should have excepted to the petition on that ground. Dangerfield v. Paschal, 20 T. 558; Bone v. Walters, 14 T. 564; Shannon v. Taylor, 16 T. 413.

An objection for want of an indorsement cannot be made by a general exception. Day Co. v. State, 68 S. 626.

Art. 7735. [5252] Warrantor, etc., may be made a party.—When a party is sued for lands, the real owner or warrantor may make himself, or may be made, a party defendant in the suit, and shall be entitled to make such defense as if he had been the original defendant in the action.

See Lamar County v. Talley (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 272.

Intervention or bringing in of warrantor or others.—While one who purchases during the suit, involving title to the land bought need not make a party, but is bound by the decree against the person from whom he bought, there is no rule which will forbid making the purchaser from the defendant a party, at the will or with the consent of the plaintiff. Jamison v. Halbert, 47 T. 180.

When the title to real estate is directly involved in a suit pending, any one who has an interest in the property at the time of the commencement of the action has a right, on application made at the proper time and manner, to intervene. But when the title is not directly involved (as where the land has been levied on under attachment to satisfy a debt), then a third party in possession, in order to intervene, should allege such facts as would authorize a court of equity to grant him a writ of injunction. Whitman v. Willis, 51 T. 421; Carlin v. Hudson, 12 T. 203; Ferguson v. Herring, 49 T. 136.

Upon the institution of suit against the vendee of land with warranty, he may implead his warrantor in the same suit. If the warrantor does not reside, McCrerey v. Douglass, 5 C. A. 494, 24 S. W. 367; Johns v. Hardin, 51 T. 37, 16 S. W. 623; Kirby v. Estell, 75 T. 644, 12 S. W. 807; Norton v. Collins, 1 Co. 272, 12 S. W. 1113.

A purchaser from defendant after suit may properly make himself a party defendant. Land Co. v. Wood, 71 T. 460, 9 S. W. 340.

Warrantors should not be brought in at such a time or in such a manner as unreasonably to delay the trial. Kirby v. Estill, 76 T. 484, 12 S. W. 907.

No judgment can be rendered against a warrantor who is not made a party to the suit. Greening v. Keel, 84 T. 328, 19 S. W. 435; Simon v. Day, 84 T. 520, 19 S. W. 601.

The defendant has the right to implead his warrantor in a suit pending in a county in which he does not reside. McCrerey v. Douglass, 5 C. A. 494, 24 S. W. 367; Johns v. Hardin, 51 T. 37, 16 S. W. 623; Kirby v. Estell, 75 T. 644, 12 S. W. 807; Meade v. Jones, 13 C. A. 320, 35 S. W. 310.

A warrantor of defendant may be made a party to answer on his warranty. Stark v. Hmouth (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 761.

Answer impleading warrantors held sufficient to entitle defendant, of whom land was recovered by plaintiff, to recover his damages. Sullivan v. Creamer (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 451.

Attempt of grantee of defendant in trespass to try title to become a party without leave of court held futile. Riviere v. Wilkens, 33 C. A. 454, 72 S. W. 608.

It was error to render judgment against plaintiff's vendor, who defaulted when cited on his bond, not served on him, and whose amended petition claiming special damages not claimed in original. Coreth v. McNatt, 33 C. A. 473, 75 S. W. 33.

Under the statute authorizing defendants to implead their warrantor, it is improper to grant a seaverance as to a warrantor impleaded by defendants. Cobb v. Robertson, 99 T. 139, 86 S. W. 746, 122 Am. St. Rep'd. 609.

When warrantors are cited by defendants to appear and defend and judgment is in favor of all defendants and plaintiff appeals his appeal bond must be made payable to all the defendants. Appellant court will grant time in which to file new bond. Appel v. Childress, 53 C. A. 607, 116 S. W. 129.
Defendant in trespass to try title may file his cross-action against his warrantors independent of his answer at any time after he has been cited in the pending suit. Houston Oil Co. of Texas v. Davis (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 808.

Defendant cannot delay the case beyond a reasonable time to enable him to bring in his warrantors by proper pleading and citation. Id.

1. A matter of right to file his cross-action until he is required to file his answer to the action before filing his cross-action, in pleading his warrantors as defendants for the cross-action can be set up in an independent pleading, and may be filed at any time after he is properly served with citation in the pending suit. Id.

The defendant under a warranty deed, on being sued for the land, can vouch the grantor into the suit and maintain against him a cross-action on the warranty. McLean v. Moore (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 1074.

Process.—Where the defendant sets up his title and asks that his vendor be made a party to defend the title conveyed, the vendor must be served not only with a copy of the writ and of plaintiff's petition, but also with a copy of the defendant's answer and cross-bill, in which prayer is made to make such new defendant. Crain v. Wright, 60 T. 516.

Where defendant pleaded over against the executors of the estate of his grantor on the warranty of title, and they did not appear, judgment could not be rendered against them without service of citation requiring them to answer in the original suit. Bonnar v. Morris (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 663.

Defenses by warrantor.—A warrantor whose deed conveyed no title, when sued by the former owner with his vendee as codefendant may set up title acquired by limitation by such vendee since the sale. Branch v. Baker, 70 T. 190, 7 S. W. 596.

A vendor of land who gives a general warranty of title, when made a party defendant in a suit against his vendee, must defend that title. Defenses of limitation available to the vendee, or of the sufficiency of any part of the title which he warrants, must be urged by him. Brown v. Hearon, 66 T. 63, 17 S. W. 395.

A warrantors may present the defense of limitations so as to protect his vendees, but when he relies upon their possession and not his own he should plead the statute in that form. Land & Mortgage Co. v. Bridgeman, 1 C. A. 388, 21 S. W. 141.

Liability of warrantor.—See, also, notes under Arts. 1108, 1112, 1113.

As to liability of warrantor on breach of covenant. See Clark v. Mumford, 65 T. 531; Buchanan v. Kauffman, 65 T. 236.

Where rents are recovered or set off against improvements, the warrantor is liable for interest for the time rents were recovered. Boone v. Knox, 80 T. 644, 14 S. W. 448, 26 Am. St. Rep. 767.

A warrantor may not only be required to defend the title, but the warrantee may also plead over against him and recover on the warranty in the same suit if the title fall. Embry v. Harden, 31 T. 97, 16 S. W. 623; Kirby v. Estill, 75 T. 482, 12 S. W. 687; Crain v. Wright, 60 T. 515.

In an action against parties in possession under warranty deeds executed to them by one affected with notice of a superior equity, the warrantor was made party by the defendants. It appeared that the defendants had paid but a part of the purchase money and had executed their negotiable notes for the remainder, and that their warrantor still held these notes. The defendants being innocent purchasers recovered the land, and the plaintiffs showing title against their vendor were entitled to recover of the defendants the unpaid purchase money. Tate v. Kramer, 1 C. A. 427, 23 S. W. 256.

As to the amount of recovery by a remote vendee on breach of warranty. Hollingsworth v. Mexia, 14 C. A. 363, 37 S. W. 456.

Art. 7736. [5253] Landlord may become defendant.—When such action shall be commenced against a tenant in possession, the landlord may enter himself as the defendant, or he may be made a party on motion of such tenant; and he shall be entitled to make the same defense as if the suit had been originally commenced against him. [Id. sec. 5. P. D. 5296.]

See Lamar County v. Talley (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 272.

Operation and effect of judgment against tenant.—See, also, note under Art. 7758. In an action of trespass to try title wherein the defendant set up a previous judgment obtained against the tenant of the present plaintiff, and claimed that the same was conclusive against him, it was held that, notwithstanding this and the following article, where the landlord is not a party, and has no notice of the pendency of the suit, he is not bound. Reed v. Allen, 56 T. 176.

A suit prosecuted to effect against the tenant breaks the continuity of the possession, and the judgment may be used to defeat limitation when asserted by the landlord. Stout v. Taul, 71 T. 438, 9 S. W. 359.

Reopening case and setting aside judgment.—See notes under Arts. 2019-2039.

Art. 7737. [5254] The possessor shall be defendant.—The defendant in the action shall be the person in possession, if the premises are occupied, or some person claiming title thereto in case they are unoccupied.

See notes under Art. 7736.

Possession of defendant in general.—The owner of land has such seizin by reason of his title, whether legal or equitable, as will support an action of trespass to try title; and he may elect to consider himself ousted, and bring suit against an adverse claimant of the land, even though such claimant has never been in actual possession. Titus v.
Johnson, 59 T. 224. As to the distinction in possession by the owner and a trespasser, see, Whitehead v. Poley, 28 T. 290; Cantagrel v. Von Lupin, 58 T. 676; Parker v. Bains, 59 T. 15; Evitts v. Roth, 61 T. 85.

One who has recovered judgment in forcible entry and detainer brought by him cannot be regarded as a mere trespasser, in a subsequent action of trespass to try title by right against him by defendant in the forcible entry and detainer suit. Corrigan v. Fitzsimmons (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 83.

Tenant holding over.—See notes under Art. 7742.

Occupation by army officer.—Army officers occupying land without the consent of the owner, and with authority of law stand under the same liability as would a private citizen. That such occupation was taken as military officers and under orders from their superiors would not affect such liability. Stanley v. Schwabey, 85 T. 348, 19 S. W. 264.

Art. 7738. [5255] May join as defendants, whom.—The plaintiff may join as a defendant with the person in possession, any other person who, as landlord, remainderman, reversioner or otherwise; may claim title to the premises, or any part thereof, adversely to the plaintiff.

Purchaser from defendant.—A defendant answered, denying that he was in possession, and after averring that he had sold and conveyed the land after the filing of the petition, but before service of citation on him, and without knowledge that he was sued, asked that his vendee be made a party defendant. Held: (1) The answer was properly disregarded by the court. (2) The refusal to make defendant's vendee a party, even if he might properly have been a party, was not an error of which the defendant could be cast in the Stewart v. Kemp, 54 T. 245.

Possessor under wife's claim.—A defendant in possession by virtue of his wife's claim to the property has no right to suspend proceedings in the cause until his wife can be made a party by virtue of her claim. His possession can be stopped without the necessity of making her a party. Her rights would not be concluded by the judgment, and the disadvantage which might result from her nonjoinder as a defendant would affect the plaintiff alone. Thomas v. Quarles, 64 T. 491.

In several defenses.—When, in trespass to try title, the interest of the defendant is separate and distinct from that of defendants in the land sued for, it is not error to allow a severance after a joint answer filed by all the defendants. Snider v. Metweli, 69 T. 487.

Where defendants claim separate tracts of land sued for they may sever in their defense. Nor is such right lost by their pleading jointly not guilty. Such right will be protected in favor of an actual settler residing upon the lands against a subsequent purchaser. . . Wood, 71 T. 460, 9 S. W. 349.

A refusal to set aside an order of severance in the action of trespass to try title, granted by consent, not a ground for a new trial. Grigsby v. May, 84 T. 241, 19 S. W. 348.

Art. 7739. [5256] May file plea of "not guilty" only.—The defendant in such action may file only the plea of "not guilty," which shall state in substance that he is not guilty of the injury complained of in the petition filed by the plaintiff against him, except that if he claims an allowance for improvements he shall state the facts entitling him to the same as provided in the succeeding chapter. [Act Feb. 2, 1844. Id. sec. 5. P. D. 5307.]

Plea or answer and subsequent pleadings.—The plea of not guilty puts in issue not only the title of the plaintiff, but also the possession of the defendant, and imposes on the plaintiff the necessity of proving everything requisite to sustain his right of action. Stroud v. Springfield, 28 T. 649.

A defendant pleading specially facts admissible under the plea of not guilty cannot thereby prevent a discontinuance of the suit by a nonsuit by plaintiff. Hoodless v. Winter, 80 T. 638, 36 S. W. 427.

Defendant may plead the statute of frauds against a parol agreement set up to defeat his title. Sanborn v. Murphy, 86 T. 437, 25 S. W. 610.

Plea setting up homestead rights held not to state a defense, and therefore not to restrict defendants to proof of such title. Wiggins v. Wiggins, 16 C. A. 335, 46 S. W. 648.

Defendant can plead false representations by plaintiff, and ask judgment for damages therefor, and for cancellation of deed given plaintiff in exchange for the land sued for. Herring v. Mason, 17 C. A. 559, 48 S. W. 787.

It is a sufficient answer to a defense that the title to several of the small tracts had failed, to allege and prove that it was not the intention of either vendee or vendor to include in the deed the land to which the title had failed. Elder v. First National Bank of Galveston, 91 T. 432, 44 S. W. 62.

Where the petition does not show whether legal or equitable title will be relied on, a plea of stale demand is not demurrable. McCennoo v. Thompson, 19 C. A. 539, 47 S. W. 537.

Permission to withdraw an answer, and dismissing as to defendants whose answer was so withdrawn, held erroneous, when such defendants were necessary parties. Parker v. Nusheauer, 21 C. A. 180, 50 S. W. 646.

An answer alleging that plaintiff purchased the land on foreclosure, agreeing to loan defendant the amount of the deed from the trustee was a mortgage, held not subject to general demurrer. Delaney v. Campbell (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 519.

Any equity acquired by defendant under a contract of purchase held a matter of defense which must be specially pleaded. Glenn v. Rhine, 25 C. A. 291, 115 S. W. 91.

Plea of general denial, not guilty, statute of limitations, and want of consideration for the contract on which plaintiff's title is based, have the legal effect of admitting possession in plaintiff. Wright v. Riley (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 1134.
Where the deed to adjoining land was pleaded, and a mistake therein alleged merely to identify the land in suit, defendant was not bound to allege that the mistake was made, or that it was the result of negligence. Snow v. Gallup, 57 C. A. 572, 123 S. W. 222.

An answer held not defective, in that it alleged a mistake in the description of a deed from the common grantor of adjoining land to W. solely to identify the land in controversy. 4761.

Where one defendant sued for the land answered by general denial and plea of not guilty, but did not disclaim plaintiffs were entitled to a verdict for the land as against him if they proved title in themselves. Bender v. Brooks (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 653.

An answer held not a cross-action for affirmative relief. Crosby v. DI Palma (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 321.

In trespass to try title involving an award of school land, defendant's answer held sufficient as a plea to remove a cloud from his title. Barnes v. Williams' Adm'r (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 978.

An answer held insufficient as a plea to quiet title on account of discrepancy in the description of the lands claimed. 4761.

A defendant pleading special defenses in addition to the plea of "not guilty" will be held to have waived his plea of "not guilty" unless he specially pleaded, the plea of "not guilty" is not being considered merely as requiring plaintiff to make out his case. It is not error to refuse permission to the defendant, after the trial has begun, to withdraw special defenses pleaded. Such action, if permitted, would change the effect of the plea of "not guilty." Shields v. Hunt, 45 T. 462.

Where a defendant files a special plea setting out his title, he is confined in his defense to that title, and the general denial or plea of "not guilty" is thereby waived. This rule is not applicable to a plea by the defendant of title under the statute of limitations. Custard v. Musgrove, 47 T. 317.

Where a defendant pleads not guilty, and also files a disclaimer to the entire tract, the plea should be disregarded. Herring v. Swain, 84 T. 533, 19 S. W. 774.

A cross-action attacking plaintiff's title on the ground of fraud does not waive a plea of not guilty. Campbell v. Antis, 21 C. A. 161, 51 S. W. 345.

Where evidence tended to show a parcel portion of land sued for, it was not necessary that defendant plead such partition in order to authorize a submission thereof to the jury and warrant a finding thereof. Long v. Long, 30 C. A. 558, 70 S. W. 557.

Affirmative relief and cross-actions.—The defendant may by his pleadings set up his own right and claim to the land and by appropriate allegations seek an affirmative recovery against the plaintiff. Eger v. Power, 5 T. 501; Bradford v. Hamilton, 7 T. 571; Smith v. Talbert, 7 T. 451, 12 S. W. 294; De La Vega v. League, 64 T. 308; Short v. Hepburn, 89 T. 623, 55 S. W. 1056.

The defendant, by plea of reconvention, claim that the land be decreed to him, that the title of the plaintiff be annulled, and that he have judgment for the mesne profits. Eger v. Power, 5 T. 501.

When the answer of the defendant is in the nature of a cross-bill, praying that his title be quieted, if the decree be in his favor, it may adudge title in him for the amount of land described in his answer, though it be for a larger number of acres than set out in plaintiff's petition. Pearson v. Boyd, 82 T. 541.

As to the right of a defendant, who had filed pleadings alleging facts sufficient to support a decree removing cloud from title, in the absence of the plaintiff and his attorneys, see Browning v. Pumphrey, 81 T. 163, 16 S. W. 376.

When the defendant is entitled to proceed to judgment upon his affirmative pleadings this right cannot be impaired by plaintiff's taking a nonsuit. Giraud v. Ellis (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 967.

When a special plea is filed a cross-bill asking for title and possession, he is not entitled to a judgment by default where the plaintiff fails to appear at the trial. Clements v. Clements, 18 C. A. 617, 46 S. W. 61.

Defendant is not entitled to recover land not described in plaintiff's petition, under a plea of reconvention. Cissel v. Lewis, 50 C. A. 415, 50 S. W. 429.

A cross-action setting up plaintiff's fraud in obtaining a deed to the land under an execution sale, and setting up facts in regard thereto which incidentally show defendant's title, held not a special plea of title. Campbell v. Antis, 21 C. A. 161, 51 S. W. 343.

Where defendant filed a cross bill on the appearance day of the ensuing term, it was proper, on failure of plaintiff to appear, to render judgment for defendant. Harris v. Schlnke (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 72.

When defendant by cross-bill sets up title in himself, the court cannot enter judgment on the cross-bill without service of it on plaintiff. In the absence of his appearance. Harris v. Schlnke, 95 T. 88, 65 S. W. 172.

Defendant held bound by his admission in his cross-action to establish the boundaries between himself and plaintiff, that plaintiff owned the land up to a certain boundary, notwithstanding the fact that plaintiff failed to prove title to the land in controversy. Cox v. Seale (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 606.

Defendant, after pleading not guilty as to a part of the land not claimed by plaintiff, could seek affirmative relief by having disputed boundaries between them established.

A cross-action by defendant in trespass to try title against his co-defendant held proper. Halle v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 1088.

On cross-bill, defendant, who claimed under a warranty deed, on warranty stating that defendant paid a certain amount for the interest acquired, entitled to judgment against defendant, which Montgomery v. Weatherford (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 352.

Where defendant's cross-bill did not claim an item for delinquent taxes against the cross-defendant, defendant's grantor, defendant was not entitled to recover such item. Wood v. Warren (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 301.

Pleading limitation.—See notes under Art. 5706.

Issues, proof and variance.—See notes under Arts. 7733 and 7740.

Art. 7740. [5257] What proof may be made under such plea.—Under such plea of "not guilty," the defendant may give in evidence any lawful defense to the action, except the defense of limitation, which shall be specially pleaded. [Id.]

Defenses in general.—A stranger in possession of real property cannot defend against a purchaser from a married woman on the ground that the title is still in the married woman, in want of a conveyance with the statute respecting the sale of property of married women. Fisk v. Miller, 13 T. 224.

Where defendant has no title, he cannot show in defense that plaintiff had not paid a valuable consideration for title. Ann Berta Lodge v. Levertor, 42 T. 18.

When the petition disclosed that the defendant held title to the undivided half of a tract of land as to which there was a controversy, and of which plaintiff alleged that he had been wrongfully dispossessed by the defendant, held that, although there was a prayer for partition, the suit was an action of trespass to try title; and that under a plea of "not guilty" defendant could set up any matter of defense denying the title of plaintiff, or showing that defendant had acquired title to the land in controversy. Watson v. Hewitt, 45 T. 472.

Though a defendant is confined in his defense to the special matters as pleaded (McDannell v. Horrell, 1 U. C. 521), yet this does not relieve the plaintiff from the necessity of proving his title, or preclude the defendant from showing that the land sued for is not embraced in the description given in plaintiff's deeds (Koenighelm v. Miles, 67 T. 115, 2 S. W. 51).

Where the grantor retained a vendor's lien, it is no defense to trespass to try title against the grantee, who has defaulted in a payment, that an action for the debt is barred by the statute of limitations. McRae v. Poor (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 47.

Defendant cannot defend plaintiff's right to possession of a house on the land which he was to have on payment of an indebtedness, which he had refused to pay, by asserting a claim of homestead. Kay v. Hathaway, 21 C. A. 466, 51 S. W. 663.

An execution sale of real estate, made without sufficient publication of notice, cannot be attacked in an action of trespass to try title; and that under a plea of "not guilty" defendant could set up any matter of defense denying the title of plaintiff, or showing that defendant had acquired title to the land in controversy. Watson v. Hewitt, 45 T. 472.

Where no direct attack is made on a sheriff's deed held by defendant, the plaintiff cannot recover by showing mere inadequacy of consideration. Id.

Possession of land is alone insufficient to sustain a judgment as against a party showing a title thereto. Yarbrough v. De Martin, 25 C. A. 276, 67 S. W. 177.

Question whether a certain title bond conveyed the legal or equitable title held in material. Tenzler v. Tyrrell, 32 C. A. 448, 75 S. W. 57.

Defendant's plea that he had been in possession "for more than 10 years preceding the filing of suit" did not limit the time of possession to the 10 years next preceding the suit. Campbell Real Estate Co. v. Wiley (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 251.

Plaintiff, being guilty of irregularities affecting defendant's rights held not entitled to maintain trespass to try title. Cobb v. Gooch, 40 C. A. 52, 88 S. W. 401.

An admission by defendant in the language of district and county court rule No. 31 (67 S. W. xxiii) held to operate as an admission of the fact that plaintiff was at the time of the trial a fee-simple owner of the property, rendering the defense of limitations unavailable. Mohler v. Eagan (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 185.

Establishment of outstanding legal title in the estate of a decedent under which defendant claimed was a complete defense. Millwee v. Phelps, 33 C. A. 195, 115 S. W. 591.

When the defendant adduced no affirmative relief, title acquired by defendant after suit brought is available to defeat plaintiff's claim of ownership. Murphy v. Lutrell, 56 C. A. 149, 120 S. W. 905.

The filing of a suit which was subsequently turned into a suit for specific performance held no defense to plaintiff's right to specific performance. Durham v. Breathitt, 57 C. A. 38, 121 S. W. 890.

Where defendant showed a good paper title to land included in the boundaries of a described lease, as the land in dispute was within such lease, he was entitled to recover without reference to his plea of limitation. Cole v. Webb (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 245.

Title or Right of possession of third person.—A mortgagee, notwithstanding the terms of the conveyance, remains the real owner of the fee, and being entitled to the posses—

TRESPASS TO TRY TITLE

Art. 7740

An outstanding equity cannot be plead in defense, unless the defendant is shown to be connected with it. Johnson v. Timmons, 50 T. 521; Tapp v. Corey, 64 T. 594.

When the plaintiff exhibits a title derived through mesne conveyance and a voidable judgment of the defendant is a recovery by plaintiff cannot destroy a defense through which plaintiff claims, with which defendant has no connection, and in which he discloses no interest. Capt v. Stubbs, 82 T. 222, 4 S. W. 467.

A defendant who was a trespasser when suit is brought may acquire an outstanding title, and set it up as a defense or as a basis for affirmative relief. Ballard v. Carmichael, 53 T. 355, 18 S. W. 734.

Where an outstanding title does not cover the entire tract, but leaves an undivided interest in plaintiff, he is entitled to recover the entire tract as against a trespasser showing no title. Ford v. Ballard, 1 C. A. 376, 21 S. W. 146.

An outstanding equity with which defendant does not connect himself will not avail as a defense against the legal title asserted by plaintiff. Tarlton v. Kirkpatrick, 1 C. A. 197, 21 S. W. 406.

A sale of an interest in the land to plaintiff's attorney as a fee held not an outstanding title which can avail defendant. Mealy v. Lipp, 16 C. A. 163, 40 S. W. 824.

Defendants cannot avail themselves of any benefit of a deed from one of plaintiffs, who are tenants in common, to a third person, without connecting themselves with such title. Hintze v. Krabbesnicht (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 38.

A defendant can not defeat plaintiff's claim by proof of an outstanding legal title, without connecting himself with such title. Pool v. Unknown Heirs of Foster (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 923.

Where defendant specially pleads his title he cannot prove a superior outstanding title in the absence of an allegation setting it up. Hayes v. Gallaher, 21 C. A. 88, 51 S. W. 280.

Bond conditioned to make a conveyance on demand held not a conveyance which can be pleaded by persons not connecting themselves therewith as an outstanding title. Caudle v. Williams (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 560.

To show valid outstanding title to land sued for, superior to that of plaintiff, is a good defense. La Fice v. Caddenhead, 21 C. A. 363, 53 S. W. 66.

Equity in good faith does not deprive defendant of advantage of defense of outstanding title. Buckner v. Vancelleve, 34 C. A. 312, 78 S. W. 541.

Plaintiff held entitled to recover on a showing that the state had parted with title and that he had been given a deed and had entered into possession. Cook v. Spencer (Civ. App.) 21 S. W. 513.

Plaintiff must recover on the strength of his own title and proof of a superior outstanding title in a third person is a good defense, though the defendant may not claim under such title. Mann v. Hossack (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 767.

Where defendant relies on an outstanding title in a third person, in order to render the defense complete it is necessary for him to show that such title is a valid one. Holland v. Ferris (Civ. App.) 107 S. W. 102.

Defendant held not entitled to show application by and to award to another. Trimble v. Burroughs, 52 C. A. 266, 113 S. W. 551.

An outstanding valid, legal, but not an equitable title in a third person with which defendant is not connected, may be pleaded in bar of trespass to try title. Id.

Owner of a part of a land in controversy did not show an outstanding title in such patentee sufficient to bar plaintiff's recovery based on possession. Saxton v. Corbett (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 75.

Equitable defenses in general.—If one who is sued for title to land has equities which entitle him to demand payment of a debt before surrendering possession, he should set them up in his answer. This case distinguished from that of a mortgagee who seeks to recover property of the mortgagee rightfully in possession under a deed absolute on its face. There the burden of showing payment of the debt is on the plaintiff, and it must do so as against the plea of not guilty. Fuller v. O'Neal, 69 T. 349, 6 S. W. 181, 6 Am. St. Rep. 59; Groesbeeck v. Crow, 85 T. 200, 20 S. W. 49.

Certain misrepresentations of plaintiff's grantor to defendant, a prior grantee, held an estoppel. Mars v. Morris (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 492.

Heirs of an estate held not authorized to maintain trespass to try title, notwithstanding irregularities in an administrator's sale, in view of their subsequent dealings with the estate and failure to restore the purchase money. Wilkin v. Geo. W. Owens & Bros. (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 552.

Res judicata.—Proof under plea of not guilty, see post.

The appellant brought this suit to try title to a parcel of land in the city of San Antonio; the appellee, defendant below, pleaded former adjudication of the title in a suit brought by the present appellee against the present appellant for the abatement of a nuisance as it appeared by the record of the former suit that the title was therein adjudicated, the plea of res judicata was a good defense. Lewis v. San Antonio, 26 T. 316.

State demand and laches.—Equitable defenses in general, see ante.

Loss of the former in instituting suit and in paying taxes will not defeat his action where there has not been actual adverse possession for a sufficient time to support a plea of limitation. Williams v. Conger, 49 T. 532; Moss v. Berry, 53 T. 622; Murphy v. Wolder, 58 T. 235; Mast v. Tibbles, 60 T. 801; Satterwhite v. Rosser, 61 T. 166.

The doctrine of stale demand held to have no application. Bremer v. Case, 60 T. 151.

The defendant in trespass to try title cannot interpose, by exception, the defense of stale demand against a legal title evidenced by a patent from the state pleaded by plaintiff, when the petition states no act of possession or claim by the defendant. Mast v. Tibbles, 60 T. 301.

Stale demand has no application where a plaintiff asserts his legal title, asking no equitable relief, and he can only be defeated by the general law of limitation applicable to purely legal demands. Fletcher v. Ellison, 1 C. C. 661.

The doctrine of stale demand can have no application as against one holding the legal title, even where he may have acquired it by an equitable right. Harvey v. Cummings, 25 T. 559, 5 S. W. 518; League v. Henecke (Civ. App.) 28 S. W. 220.

A mere failure to pay taxes, or laches, or delay of the owner in bringing suit for the recovery of the estate or legal title, with which he has a title, where there has not been actual adverse possession for a sufficient length of time to support the plea of limitation. House v. Brent, 69 T. 27, 7 S. W. 65; Williams v. Conger, 49 T. 602.

The doctrine of stale demand has no application to a legal title. It has no application to the claims of the true owner of land when set up by one claiming the land under a tax deed when no compliance with the steps prerequisite to its validity is shown. Telfener v. Dillard, 70 T. 133, 7 S. W. 849; New York & Texas Land Co. v. Hyland, 25 S. W. 206, 2 C. A. 601.

Where recovery of land is sought against strangers to the title, who are trespassers without color of title and show no connection with the legal title, and the time of possession does not touch the defense of a recovery, Wright v. Dunn, 73 T. 290, 11 S. W. 350; Moss v. Berry, 53 T. 632; Murphy v. Weldaer, 58 T. 236.

The objection that a claim of a legal title cannot be sustained by a plaintiff against defendants claiming under a transfer of a headright certificate, who are in possession of the land and have been ever since the land was located, Staley v. Hanika (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 20.

One having equitable title by an instrument entitled to record held not barred by limitations in setting it up as a defense. Tompkins v. Broocks (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 78.

Delay of more than 30 years in bringing action to recover real estate held to bar claim as a stale demand. Hasseldenz v. Dofflemeyer (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 830.

A stranger to a title under a headright certificate held not entitled to invoke the doctrine of stale demand against one claiming an equitable title under such certificate. McCoy v. Pease, 19 C. A. 657, 48 S. W. 208.

Delay in bringing an action to assert the legal title to land claimed by inheritance from ancestor does not make it subject to the objection of being a stale demand. Texas Tram & Lumber Co. v. Gwin (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 110.

Grantee of a bond for title prior to the issuance of a patent to his grantor held entitled to recover against his grantor's heirs, though such grantee was guilty of laches, in the absence of proof of possession by either party. Neyland v. Ward, 22 C. A. 369, 54 S. W. 604.

Where plaintiff shows a legal title sufficient to maintain the action, the doctrine of laches does not apply. Tinsley v. Magnolia Park Co. (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 629.

Where both parties in trespass to try title rely on equitable titles, the plea of stale demand is not available as a defense. Sipple v. Shirley, 27 C. A. 97, 64 S. W. 1012.

An action on a title, that is, a suit in trespass to try title, that is, a suit to recover a trust deed, on which plaintiff's title depended, had ceased, the claim having become stale from lapse of time after default and before sale, cannot be first urged on appeal. Thompson v. Cobb, 95 T. 140, 65 S. W. 1090, 93 Am. St. Rep. 820.

When defendant asserts equitable title without invoking affirmative relief, the doctrine of stale demand does not apply. Whissler v. Cornelius, 34 C. A. 511, 79 S. W. 360.

Action of trespass to try title, though regarded as one to enforce specific performance of a contract to convey land, held not shown to be on a stale demand. Betzer v. Gorr, 25 C. A. 405, 59 S. W. 671.

Stale demand is no defense, whether plaintiff's title be legal or equitable, if it be a title, as distinguishable from a mere equitable right to acquire title. Id.

Where the title asserted by plaintiff is sufficient to sustain an action of trespass to try title, the defense of stale demand is not available, whether plaintiff's title is legal or equitable. Lyster v. Leighten, 36 C. A. 62, 81 S. W. 1033.

Laches of plaintiffs held not available to defendants holding under absolutely void conveyances. Goff v. Johnston, 42 C. A. 349, 94 S. W. 131.

A claim to the legal title to land held not defeated by the defense of stale demand. Hunter v. Hodgson (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 637.

Where defendants rest upon their title and do not seek affirmative relief, pleas of the one-year statute of limitations, laches, and stale demand, are not available. Kirby v. Cartwright, 28 C. A. S. 105 8 W. 742.

Defendant holding land under a contract to convey held not guilty of laches. Id.

An heir of the vendee held not entitled to recover the land on the vendee's prior possession after an abandonment for more than 90 years. Evans v. Ash, 60 C. A. 84, 105 S. W. 396.

Stale demand is no defense, whether plaintiff's title be legal or equitable, if it be a title, as distinguishable from a mere equitable right to acquire title. Id.

Where the title asserted by plaintiff is sufficient to sustain an action of trespass to try title, the defense of stale demand is not available, whether plaintiff's title is legal or equitable. Oyster v. Leighten, 36 C. A. 62, 81 S. W. 1033.

Laches of plaintiffs held not available to defendants holding under absolutely void conveyances. Goff v. Johnston, 42 C. A. 349, 94 S. W. 131.

A claim to the legal title to land held not defeated by the defense of stale demand. Hunter v. Hodgson (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 637.

Where defendants rest upon their title and do not seek affirmative relief, pleas of the one-year statute of limitations, laches, and stale demand, are not available. Kirby v. Cartwright, 28 C. A. S. 105 8 W. 742.

Defendant holding land under a contract to convey held not guilty of laches. Id.

An heir of the vendee held not entitled to recover the land on the vendee's prior possession after an abandonment for more than 90 years. Evans v. Ash, 60 C. A. 84, 105 S. W. 396.

Stale demand is no defense, whether plaintiff's title be legal or equitable, if it be a title, as distinguishable from a mere equitable right to acquire title. Id.
Delay in bringing an action to try title to land based on plaintiff's prior possession operating to bar a suit to try title when the plaintiff had the necessary intent, without animus revertendi, in cases where the possession was not continued when the adverse entry took place, in which the question of intent to return becomes important; unreasonable delay in itself not being a bar to the action. Id.

An action for trespass under evidence of title by the plaintiff is not barred by the doctrine of stale demand. Snow v. Gallup, 57 C. A. 872, 123 S. W. 222.

Facts which may be proved in an action at law without being specially pleaded cannot, when pleaded as a defense, convert it into an equitable one, which may be defeated by the doctrine of stale demand. Id.

An action held not barred by stale demand. Hardy Oil Co. v. Burnham (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 221.

Defense of stale demand held not available in trespass to try title based on equitable title. Lowry v. McDaniel (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 710.

A person's assertion of title to land as against a stranger to the legal title is not affected by the doctrine of stale demand. Mitchell v. Stanton (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1083.

If the title alleged is sufficient, only adverse possession by defendant under the statute of limitations relating to the recovery of land will bar the action; the defense of stale demand not being available. Montgomery v. Trueheart (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 284.

Staleness of demand is no defense to trespass to try title. Early v. Compton (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 694; Sabine Valley Timber & Lumber Co. v. Cagle, Id. 697.

One claiming land by virtue of a certificate, and its location and survey, through patents, as a holder, at the original homestead, is the title, and the doctrine of stale demand has no application, even if the heirs have an equitable title. Broussard v. Cruse (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 347.

Proof under plea of not guilty or general issue.—Where the defendant pleads not guilty and gives in evidence facts which go to confuse and avoid the plaintiff's right of action, the plaintiff may rebut the evidence, when necessary, by the reviewing of previous corresponding allegations, to prove any facts which answer the facts proved by the defendant. Hunt v. Turner, 9 T. 385, 60 Am. Dec. 167; Rivers v. Poote, 11 T. 662.

It is competent for the defendant to prove that the plaintiff's survey does not include the land alleged and claimed in controversy, even though the defendant were a mere trespasser. Dalby v. Booth, 16 T. 663.

Where defendants were permitted, under the plea of not guilty, to offer evidence of title by purchase from the sheriff at sheriff's sale under a warrant against the plaintiff, it was competent for the plaintiff to rebut such evidence by proving that the judgment was obtained by fraud; and under such circumstances it was not incumbent on the plaintiff to plead any facts showing the nullity of such judgment, or of the title set up under it. Rodriguez v. Lee, 20 T. 33.

The defendants, under the plea of not guilty, had the right to set up a superior outstanding title, although they did not claim under it. Paschal's Dig. art. 5397, note 1153; King v. Elson, 20 T. 246; Kauffman v. Shellworth, 64 T. 179.

The plea of not guilty is an answer to the entire petition, and entitles the defendant to prove any defense, whether legal or equitable. The defendants in the present case proved representations of the plaintiff which were deemed to estop the latter from claiming the land in controversy against the defendants. Ragnsdale v. Gohike, 36 T. 388; Johnson v. Butler, 35 T. 591; Wright v. Doherty, 30 T. 34; Grossbeck v. Crow, 85 T. 200, 20 S. W. 49; McKamey v. Thorp, 61 T. 648.

In an action of trespass to try title in the ordinary form, with the plea of "not guilty," the plaintiff proved the defendant's title, and the court instructed the jury as to the rules of evidence in a title action. In controversy, which was sold under a decree foreclosing the vendor's lien, and which equities grew out of the relation of the parties prior to such sale, will not be inquired into. The equities must be set out in the pleadings. Rippeteo v. Dwyer, 49 T. 498; Ayres v. Duprey, 21 T. 693, 56 Am. Dec. 657.

The defendant may, under the plea of "not guilty," set up any matter of defense except limitation, or that which involves affirmative equitable relief, both of which must be specially pleaded. Williams v. Barnett, 52 T. 130; Dalby v. Booth, 16 T. 563.

When the plea "not guilty" and a special plea (other than limitation) are filed, the plaintiff cannot rebut evidence admitted under the special plea in the absence of a pleading. In avoidance of evidence admissible under the general issue, he can submit testimony without such allegations. Defendants, after pleading "not guilty," pleaded specially that the sheriff's deed under which plaintiff claimed was void. On the trial the defendants showed a chain of title from the government to themselves. Held, that the plaintiff could show fraud in the acquisition of defendant's apparent title, and that the jury had not prejudice the fraud in his pleadings; the defendants having pleaded nothing to render it necessary. McSween v. Yett, 60 T. 183. See Rivers v. Poote, 11 T. 662.

Under a plea of not guilty the defendant may prove an outstanding title in a third party, whether of plaintiff, to bar a recovery. See Bowers v. House, 61 T. 639.

The defendant has the right, under the plea of not guilty, to prove such facts as may show that the plaintiff has no right to recover. Wittbecker v. Walters, 69 T. 470, 6 S. W. 788. And when the plaintiff claims the property as homestead, testimony of witnesses as to declarations of the plaintiff showing intention to abandon it as a homestead is admissible without any foundation on the part of the defendant arguing against such a conclusion, other plea than that of "not guilty" is required to admit evidence which disputes and controverts the homestead claim. Penderson v. Love, 3 T. 60; Blair v. Cisneros, 10 T. 4765.
TRESPASS TO TRY TITLE

(Title 128)

When land is sold to be paid for at a future time, and a deed is executed to the vendee, who executes a mortgage to secure payment of purchase money, the legal title remains with the vendor until the land is paid for. If before payment the vendor executes a deed of conveyance for the same land to a third party, and transfers to him the unpaid notes of the first purchaser, such party is subrogated to the rights of the vendor under the mortgage, and being in possession may, in a suit by the first purchaser, in trespass to try title, show, under the plea of not guilty, that the original purchase money remains unpaid, and defeat a recovery either of the land or the possession. Crafts v. Daugherty, 69 T. 477, 6 S. W. 856.

The defense of estoppel can be made under the plea of not guilty. Scarbrough v. Alcorn, 74 T. 344; Tinnen, 28 S. W. 732; Eddie v. T. 77; Parker v. Cockrell (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 221; Mars v. Morris (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 430.

The defendant, under the plea of not guilty, may introduce evidence of title by estoppel. Dooley v. Montgomery, 72 T. 429, 10 S. W. 451, 2 L. R. A. 715; Guest v. Guest, 74 T. 969, 12 S. W. 531.

The heisiphip of parties allowed to make themselves plaintiffs as heirs of the decesant is put in issue by the plea of not guilty. Musselman v. Stroth, 83 T. 473, 18 S. W. 587.

An absolute deed may be shown to be a mortgage. Herring v. White, 25 S. W. 1016, 6 C. A. 358.

Matter of estoppel is admissible in evidence under the plea of not guilty, in the absence of special pleading, and need not be stated in the abstract. Parker v. Cockrell (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 221.

Under a general denial, defendant can introduce a deed conveying title to him. Robb v. Robb (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 92.

Where no affirmative relief is sought, any matter of defense except limitations may be proven under plea of not guilty. Lumkins v. Coates (Civ. App.) 42 S. W. 580.

Under a plea of not guilty it is not necessary to make proof of actual possession by the defendant. Miller v. Knowles (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 927.

Under the plea of not guilty no defense can be made except that of limitation. Talley v. Merrill, 18 A. 661, 45 S. W. 477.

Under plea of not guilty, defendant may show any facts to defeat the plaintiff's recovery. Hardy v. Brown (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 395.

Defendant, under a plea of not guilty, may show that a deed absolute in form, under which title is claimed, is a mortgage. Herring v. White, 25 S. W. 1016.

Under the plea of not guilty parties can properly be allowed to prove circumstances tending to raise the presumption of a grant by the ancestor of the plaintiff. Herndon v. Burnett, 21 C. A. 25, 60 S. W. 581.

Where there is a special answer not pleading collusion between plaintiff and his grantor in the purchase of school lands, such issue cannot be proven under the plea of not guilty. Abilen Live-Stock Co. v. Guinn (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 895.

Evidence of defendant's right to affirmative equitable relief is inadmissible under a plea of not guilty. Matthews v. Moses, 21 C. A. 194, 52 S. W. 114.

Evidence of consideration for deed, fraud or mistake inducing its execution through ignorance that the deed conveyed title held admissible under plea of not guilty, without being specially pleaded. Salazar v. Ybarra (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 303.

A plea of not guilty presents only the question of title and right of possession. Central Coast Water Rights Ass'n, 96 T. 48, 64 S. W. 904.

Defendant by pleading not guilty, was not prevented, when failing in this plea, from falling back on his defense of title by limitation or conveyance. Morrow v. Fleming, 29 C. A. 547, 69 S. W. 244.

A deed of land subject to a deed of trust can urge that a sale thereunder by a substituted trustee was illegal, under plea of not guilty. Bracken v. Bounds, 96 T. 300, 71 S. W. 547.

Defendant, though a trespasser, may, under the plea of not guilty, show that a river forming plaintiff's boundary had, through avulsion, changed its channel. Rodriguez v. Hernandez, 35 C. A. 78, 79 S. W. 445.

Defendant, under a plea of not guilty, may prove an outstanding superior title in a third person. Lamberda v. Hurnum (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 698.

In trespass to try title, declarations to show heirship to the alleged donee of the land under whom defendants claimed held admissible under the general issue. Kirby v. Boaz, 41 C. A. 282, 91 S. W. 642.

In trespass to try title by a county to recover school lands, evidence admissible on the issue of abandonment or estoppel was admissible under the plea of not guilty. Lamar County v. Tailey (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 1069.

Defendant may show under a plea of not guilty that the testimony is in other parties, and a deed held admissible for that purpose. Mars v. Morris (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 430.

Defendant under a plea of not guilty may offer in evidence a judgment as res judicata of plaintiff's rights as showing a superior title against plaintiff, and plaintiff would not be required to allege matters in avoidance before giving evidence to that effect. Robbins v. Hubbard (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 773.

The plea of not guilty is sufficient to set in the defense of estoppel, although an abstract issue of estoppel may be the ground of defense. The defendant in response to plaintiff's demand therefor. Daugherty v. Templeton, 50 C. A. 304, 110 S. W. 555.

A defense held an independent equitable defense not to be shown under plea of not guilty. Kellogg v. Southworth (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 929.

Under a plea of not guilty, defendant could prove to identify the land in controversy, that a deed to adjoining land was defective in omitting the closing call. Snow v. Gallop, 57 C. A. 672, 123 S. W. 222.

Defendant held not entitled to prove an equity in himself under the pleadings. Smith v. Oliverarri (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 225.

Where the location of a boundary is disputed, the defenses of estoppel and agreed boundary may be presented under the plea of not guilty. Roberts v. Arlington Realty Co. (Civ. App.) 121 S. W. 155.

Where the petition is in the statutory form and the answer a plea of not guilty, equitable relief cannot be obtained by either party, though equities arise from the evidence. Roth v. Schroot (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 260.

In trespass to try title for a tract claimed by plaintiff as heir of A., but devised to her by L., defendants claiming that she was estopped to claim as heir by having elected to stand under the will, evidence to show that all the property devised to plaintiff in fact belonged to her father, and had been placed in A.'s name in trust for the father, so that L. had no title thereto, was admissible as against the objection that it was an effort to prove a trust without pleading it. Packard v. De Miranda (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 211.

Under the plea of "not guilty," defendant may interpose the defense of alienage by an heir, without mention of defeasance of estoppel may have been filed. Defendant.

Where the land is claimed under a constable's sale which defendant alleges to have been fraudulent on account of a conspiracy between the plaintiff and H., the administrator of an estate, and who was holding the land at the time, it was proper to allow proof that defendant had paid taxes on it. McConnell v. Miller (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 672.

Under a plea of not guilty, evidence was admissible that the south boundary of the land claimed had been agreed on by the predecessors in title of the parties hereto as the correct boundary between the surveys. Sanders v. Moore (Civ. App.) 157 S. W. 441.

Adverse possession and limitation of actions relating to land.—See notes under Arts. 5672-5684.

Pleading limitation.—See notes under Art. 5706.

Art. 7741. [5258] Answer taken as admitting possession.—Such plea or any other answer to the merits shall be an admission by the defendant, for the purpose of that action, that he was in possession of the premises sued for, or that he claimed title thereto at the time of commencing the action, unless he states distinctly in his answer the extent of his possession or claim, in which case it shall be an admission to such extent only. [Act Feb. 5, 1840, sec. 6. P. D. 5297.]

In general.—An answer to the merits admits, for the purposes of the suit, that the defendant is in possession of the land described in the petition, but cannot be construed into an admission within the meaning of that term of law as against the plaintiff claims. Hence the latter fact must be established by evidence before the plaintiff can recover. Echols v. McKie, 69 T. 41.

The object of this article is to relieve the plaintiff from proving a trespass when the defendant admits he was in possession, but the clause was not intended to relieve the plaintiff from the necessity of showing title in himself to the land he may seek to recover. Cook v. Dennis, 65 T. 246.

By plea of not guilty defendants admit that they are in possession of the land referred to in the petition, and the effect of a judgment against them is to oust them from that possession. Plummer v. Marshall (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 1162.

Art. 7742. [5259] What is sufficient title, etc.—All certificates for headright, land scrip, bounty warrant, or any other evidence of right to land recognized by the laws of this state which have been located and surveyed, shall be deemed and held as sufficient title to authorize the maintenance of the action of trespass to try title. [Act Feb. 5, 1841, sec. 23. P. D. 5303.]

Title to support action.—A right to the use of land entitles the user to an action against one attempting to appropriate it. Lewis v. San Antonio, 7 T. 283.

A mortgagee cannot recover possession as against the mortgagee without satisfying the mortgage. Hannay v. Thompson, 14 T. 142.

To entitle the plaintiff to recover, even against a naked possessors, he must show that he was in the possession of the land in controversy, not only as against the defendant, but as against all other persons. Hooper v. Hall, 35 T. 82; Chinn v. Taylor, 64 T. 858; Maverick v. Flores, 71 T. 110, 8 S. W. 636.

Plaintiff must recover, if at all, on the strength of his own title, and not on the weakness of that of defendant. Hillman v. Meyer, 35 T. 583; Jones v. Lee (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 195; Soape v. Doss, 18 C. A. 649, 45 S. W. 387; Willoughby v. Townsend Id. 861; Allen v. Worsham (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 157; Renner v. Patterson, 51 S. W. 867; Smith v. Rother, 51 S. W. 764; Trey v. Lowrie, 40 C. A. 321, 89 S. W. 961; Jaggars v. Stringer, 47 C. A. 671, 125 S. W. 151; Brown v. Orange County, 48 C. A. 470, 107 S. W. 607; De Roach

When suit is brought to recover land allotted to plaintiff in partition, his right to recover against a defendant showing no title will not be defeated by showing the invalidity of the proceedings under which the partition was made. Truehart v. McMichael, 46 T. 292.

The fact that it appears from plaintiff's evidence that he holds in trust for another is immaterial. Fitch v. Bover, 51 T. 336.

The fact that the plaintiff represents herself in her petition as the sole surviving heir of the original title will not defeat his recovery against a trespasser or wrongdoer in a case where the evidence reveals the existence of other heirs not made parties. Pilcher v. Kirk, 55 T. 208.

A less estate in land than a fee simple may form the basis for the action of trespass to try title. Thurber & Co. v. Conners, 57 T. 36.

One having an interest in land for a term of years may maintain an action of trespass to try title against his tenant holding over, though the damages claimed may be less than $500. Id.

An action may be maintained by the landlord against his tenant who holds over after the expiration of the term. And in such an action the plaintiff is entitled to recover upon the production of his lease as evidence of title. The defendant cannot deny plaintiff's title or set up a lease obtained from a third party. Juneman v. Franklin, 67 T. 411, 3 S. W. 665; Tyler v. Davis, 61 T. 674.

The plaintiff showing title under an heir to whom the land was sold for was allotted in the partition, the exclusion of the partition deed would not defeat the right to recover against that heir. Ammons v. Dwyer, 78 T. 625; White v. McCulloch, 1902. 1049.

Where plaintiff's title rests on execution sale, the court has jurisdiction to determine its validity. Houghton v. Rice, 15 C. A. 561, 40 S. W. 1067.

Plaintiff's title is sufficiently shown where he proves that defendant went into possession as a tenant of his ancestor, and retained such possession. Hintze v. Krabbeschmidt (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 38.

A plaintiff who has parted with his title before the suit was brought can not maintain an action of trespass to try title for the use of another. Smith v. Olsen (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 874.

Where the only issue was the location of a division line, plaintiff was not required to prove a superior title to the entire tract claimed by him. Wardlow v. Harmon (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 828.

During existence of life estate, remaindermen are not entitled to judgment for land or rents in trespass to try title. Adams v. Ramsey, 19 C. A. 294, 46 S. W. 265.

Where parties do not claim from a common source, plaintiff must show a perfect chain of title to the land through his ancestor. Hardy v. Brown (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 836.

One claiming under a junior survey cannot maintain trespass against those claiming under an older conflicting survey, though they are mere trespassers. Lockwood v. Ogden (Civ. App.) 50 S. W. 1077.

A party claiming property under an execution sale, void because made after the return day thereof, cannot maintain trespass to try title thereto. Snodgrass v. Rutherford (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 1064.

Held error to instruct that plaintiff could not recover unless the jury found that the title to the whole of the land was in her. Scales v. Marshall (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 335.

A trustee holding the naked legal title may maintain trespass to try title, though entire beneficial ownership be in another. Aldridge v. Pardee, 24 C. A. 256, 60 S. W. 798.

A judgment debtor under a judgment against a judgment debtor under a judgment is entitled to recover against him in an action of trespass to try title. Frazier v. Waco Bldg. Ass'n, 25 C. A. 476, 61 S. W. 132.

When plaintiffs show title to an undivided interest in the land, and defendant shows no title, plaintiffs are entitled to recover the entire tract. Wilcoxon v. Howard, 26 C. A. 281, 62 S. W. 802.

Where, in an action of trespass to try title to community property of plaintiff's parents, the defendant claimed through a valid execution sale against plaintiff's father, plaintiff's claim to the property by inheritance from her parents is ineffectual. Travis v. Hall, 27 C. A. 95, 65 S. W. 1077.

A claimant to land under an alleged executed parol agreement for sale or gift thereof held to have failed to establish her title. Newcomb v. Cox, 27 C. A. 533, 66 S. W. 333.

Interest of plaintiff held sufficient to support recovery, notwithstanding outstanding title to undivided interest. City of Eiel Paso v. Ft. Dearborn Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 798.

The owner of a mere easement is not entitled to maintain ejectment or trespass to try title, as against the fee owner of land rightfully in possession. Cornick v. Arthur, 31 C. A. 579, 73 S. W. 410.

A city held to have acquired title to land dedicated for a public market, so as to be able to maintain trespass to try title. Hoffson v. City of Galveston, 33 C. A. 52, 75 S. W. 370.

Plaintiff cannot recover land on evidence of an unlawful scheme by which her husband sought to acquire title through defendant. Pinkston v. West (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 1014.

An action of trespass to try title to land may be maintained in his own name by one holding the land in trust for another. Lewis v. Brown, 35 C. A. 139, 87 S. W. 704.

No court has under the sole heir of a former vendor, was not entitled to recover without discharging the vendor's lien to secure the purchase money, which had never been paid. Wall v. Club Land & Cattle Co. (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 584.

Plaintiff can only recover on proving a title from the common source. Moore v. Kempner, 41 C. A. 86, 91 S. W. 836.
One claiming land under a purchaser at a sale on the foreclosure of the vendor's lien held not required to pay the purchase price in order to recover the land in trespass to try title. Houston Club Land & Cattle Co. v. Wall, 99 T. 691, 64 S. W. 778, 122 Am. St. Rep. 666; Id. (Sup.) 92 S. W. 984.

The fact that the legal title to land was conveyed to a plaintiff for the purpose of bringing an action against trespassers held not to defeat a recovery. Dean v. Jago, 46 C. A. 389, 103 S. W. 195.

An owner of the fee of a street may maintain trespass to recover the title and possession against a trespasser. Cocke v. Texas & N. O. R. Co., 46 C. A. 363, 103 S. W. 407. Plaintiff being the owner in fee simple of land not acquired by adverse possession.

Plaintiff being the owner of an undivided interest in the land sued for, as against a defendant who is a trespasser without any title thereto, may recover the whole tract sued for, although he has not acquired the other interests. Jett v. Hunter, 51 C. A. 92, 111 S. W. 176.

In trespass to try title as to a part of a lot, a judgment against defendant in favor of a city pleaded against defendant in estoppel did not vest title in plaintiffs or in any way affect them, and hence a finding that defendant agreed to such judgment would not support a judgment in plaintiffs' favor. Connor v. Weik (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 650.

Where plaintiff's title is invalid, the question of limitations raised by defendant's pleading does not arise. Pohle v. Robertson, 54 C. A. 326, 116 S. W. 861.

A conveyance of land on the part of the grantor and the grantee, in the absence of a written conveyance or failing delivery of a written conveyance, when made by the defendant to the plaintiff, is sufficient to bar a subsequent action by the defendant, under an oral conveyance, for the recovery of the land. McMechen v. Hamm, 12 T. 859, 87 S. W. 859.

The purchaser at a foreclosure sale held entitled to recover in trespass to try title from one claiming under a subsequent judgment. Taylor v. Davidson (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1018.

The plaintiff to maintain the action must prove ownership. Wadsworth v. Vinyard (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 171.

Plaintiff must show title from the sovereignty of the soil. Williams v. Kuykendall (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1153.

Plaintiff is not entitled to recover on a defective title merely because defendant fails to object in the trial court to the defect in the proof of title. Skov v. Coffin (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 450.

Plaintiff held not entitled to recover. Staley v. King Bank & Mercantile Co. (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 308.

A plaintiff who has fixed his judgment lien upon land, but has neither foreclosed the lien nor bought the property under execution sale, has no such title as will support trespass to title against the land subject to his lien. Elliott v. Williams (Civ. App.) 150 S. W. 318.

Failure of the acknowledgment of a deed by a married woman to state that she did not wish to retract, will not defeat a suit by her remote grantee against a mere intruder, where she lived near the land, and for over 50 years neither she nor her heirs ever questioned the deed. Spivy v. March, 105 T. 472, 151 S. W. 1097, 45 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1193.

Title acquired after commencement of suit.—Equitable title, see post.

The plaintiff instituted his suit on an equitable title, and after the commencement of the suit acquired the legal title in conformity with his equitable right, there could be no valid objection to his introducing his legal title in evidence at the trial. Ballard v. Perry, 28 T. 348.

Pending the suit, may buy from heirs of a party whose undivided interest he had claimed through a defective administration sale, and such purchase would meet the plea of outstanding title to such interest if it could be made in such case. Keys v. Houston & Great Northern R. R. Co., 50 T. 189.

A plaintiff cannot recover upon a title acquired after commencement of the suit. Ballard v. Carmichael, 83 T. 355, 18 S. W. 734.

Where plaintiff was the equitable owner of the land when the suit was brought, it was proper to admit in evidence a deed conveying to her the legal title, though executed after suit brought. Vineyard v. Brundrett, 17 C. A. 147, 42 S. W. 232.

Defendant who negates to set up a title acquired after suit brought, cannot maintain a subsequent action between the same parties on such subsequent title. McCray v. Freeman, 17 C. A. 268, 42 S. W. 37.

Title to land acquired by plaintiff during a trial for its recovery held not available, where not set up by supplemental petition. Matula v. Lane (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 193.

The right of plaintiff, having a superior title, to recover in trespass to try title, is not defeated by the fact that a deed in his chain of title was not acknowledged until after suit was brought. Walker v. Downs (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 725.

A plaintiff held not entitled to sustain a recovery on a title acquired through limitations after the commencement of the action. Erp v. Tillman, 108 Tex. 574, 131 S. W. 1057.

Adverse possession.—See notes under Arts. 5672-5684.

Interest in public lands.—See notes under Title 79.

A person who claims title by several conveyances of undivided interests in lands may dispossess a trespasser if one of the conveyances was effectual. Maxson v. Jennings, 19 C. A. 700, 48 S. W. 781.

The right of plaintiff, having a superior title, to recover, held not defeated by the fact that a deed in his chain of title referred to another deed to describe the property, and gave an erroneous page of the record in which it was to be found. Walker v. Downs (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 725.
TRESPASS TO TRY TITLE

(Title 128)

Plaintiff cannot recover on a deed of defendant's homestead which was not signed by his wife. Pinkston v. West (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 1014.

Plaintiff held entitled to recover all the land within his survey, unless he had lost any part thereof by laches. Ernest v. Lake, 45 C. A. 468, 101 S. W. 479.

Plaintiff, on showing that he was the owner of a special act certificate on which the land was located, and under which title conveyed by the patent inured to his benefit, was entitled to recover, whether the title be legal or equitable. Broussard v. Cruse (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 347.

Equitable title.—Plaintiff may recover though having only an equitable title at commencement of action, the legal title being thereafter conveyed to her. O'Connor v. Vineyard (Civ. App.) 48 S. W. 55.

One who asserts equitable title to land cannot defeat the legal title without showing that the holder of the same was not a bona fide purchaser for value. Fordtran v. Perry (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 1000.

A bond for title to land after the payment of the purchase price is an equitable title, which is sufficient on which to base trespass to try title against the grantor. Wright v. Riley (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 1354.

Title acquired under a parol contract of sale held sufficient. Lowry v. McDaniel (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 710.

Reversion of an equitable title in land after termination of a trust to sell and convey will support trespass to try title. Montgomery v. Trueheart (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 24.

A plaintiff in trespass to try title may rely on a title under a bond for deed, making no mention of a consideration, and without proving any consideration for a conveyance, as against a defendant in possession, who does not show any title nor right to possession, but who is a mere trespasser. Randell v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 717.

One who pays off and delivers a deed to him by mistake, but claims, conveyed to defendant C., having been the agent of defendant P., who furnished the consideration, so that he never had title, but held it in trust for defendant P., judgment in trespass to try title was properly against plaintiff; the superior title being shown in defendant P. Yarbrough v. Clarkson (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 964.

Common source.—See notes under Art. 7749.

The doctrine that proof of possession of land is alone sufficient to entitle the occupant to maintain an action of trespass against a wrongdoer is founded on the fact that possession is prima facie evidence of title. But if the title be in another, the right of the possessor to recover is limited to the amount of damage to the possessor interest; if the damage be beyond this, and to the freehold, the possessor or tenant at sufferance cannot maintain an action for its recovery. I. & G. N. Ry. Co. v. Ragsdale, 67 T. 24, 2 S. W. 515.

Prior possession, as title against a trespasser, cannot avail one who is not shown to be in possession of the very land sued for. Soppe v. Doss, 13 C. A. 649, 45 S. W. 387.

One who has any such possession that he cannot be dispossessed by an intruder under mere color of title. Watkins v. Smith, 91 T. 589, 45 S. W. 560.

Actual possession held to have a presumption of title, justifying plaintiff's recovery, though it had not been continued long enough to give title by limitation. Allen v. Boggess, 44 T. 83, 65 S. W. 833.

Trespass to try title is an appropriate action for the recovery of the mere possession of lands. Stokes v. Riley, 29 C. A. 373, 65 S. W. 704.

Where parties claimed from a common source, but both failed to connect themselves with the source, plaintiff, having had possession, held entitled to recover against defendant as a mere trespasser. Estes v. Turner, 30 C. A. 365, 70 S. W. 1007.

Prior possession will not support a judgment for plaintiff, where the title to the land in question is admitted in the state. Corrigan v. Fleshammons (Civ. App.) 75 S. W. 68.

A widow and children of a deceased owner held entitled to recover land of which he died seized subject to a judgment in favor of a purchaser from the administrator of deceased for the value of improvements made thereon. Fowler v. Agnew (Civ. App.) 85 S. W. 36.

Where in an action to recover realty, based on a written lease to a bank, the owner of the premises being a party prays for possession for the use of the bank, he is entitled to recover, though the lease to the bank was void. Lechenger v. Merchants' Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 638.

Where defendant ousted plaintiffs under a writ of sequestration from inclosed land of which they were in possession and then dismissed the suit, plaintiffs were entitled to recover under the same title to such possession, in the absence of proof of title in defendant. McCoads v. Hooks, 47 C. A. 79, 104 S. W. 432.

Prior possession to entitled plaintiff in trespass to try title to recover as against a trespasser must have existed at the time of entry. Romine v. Littlejohn (Civ. App.) 196 S. W. 439.

Where a city had title to land dedicated to it as a street, and had not lost it by limitation, in taking possession of the land it was not a trespasser against whom the actual possessor could recover by merely showing his possession. City of San Antonio v. Rowley, 43 C. A. 376, 106 S. W. 722.
Where plaintiffs against trespassers show title by prior possession, recovery by them will not be defeated because they have not been in actual possession for several years. Teagarden v. Patten, 48 C. A. 571, 107 S. W. 909.

In an action of trespass to try title, a finding that plaintiff and the persons under whom he claims fenced in the land in controversy with other lands and cultivated a portion of that land as trespassing, and that plaintiff since his purchase of the land had repaired the fences, had a portion of the land cultivated, and was in possession of the land when defendants took possession thereof as complained of by plaintiff in his petition, though when defendants took possession a portion of the wires of the fences were broken by the high waters of a river forming its boundary, when such river last overflowed prior to the time, when defendants took possession, is sufficient to show prior possession good as against a mere trespasser. Plummer v. Marshall (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 1163.

Prior possession by plaintiff as mortgagee held sufficient against a naked trespasser. Frazer v. Seureau (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 649.

Proof of prior possession by plaintiff will not entitle him to recover where both parties are trespassers on the land. March v. Spivy (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 529.

For a plaintiff to prevail he must establish his right to possession. State v. Dayton Lumber Co. (Sup.) 156 S. W. 1178.

Title of covenent or joint tenant.—The right of one tenant in common to recover the entire tract of land from one having no title is not affected by the Revised Statutes, but the same exists as recognized in Croft v. Bains, 10 T. 523, and Watrous v. McGrew, 16 T. 510. Pilcher v. Kirk, 60 T. 162; Ney v. Mumme, 66 T. 369, 17 S. W. 407.

It is well settled by adjudicated cases and by elementary authorities that one joint tenant or tenant in common can maintain trespass to try title or ejectment against a mere trespasser. Holmes, 32 T. 417; Alexander v. Gilliam, 39 T. 227; Read v. Allen, 56 T. 176; Sowers v. Peterson, 59 T. 217.

The plaintiff, on showing title either in severalty or in common with others not joined in the suit, can recover against a mere trespasser. Guilford v. Love, 49 T. 715.

If there were other joint owners, plaintiff would be entitled to recover their interest as against a stranger. Pilcher v. Kirk, 65 T. 205.

The right of a tenant in common to maintain an action for the recovery of the entire property against a wrongdoer is not affected by the statute which requires the plaintiff to state in his petition the interest which he claims in the property. Telfener v. Dillard, 70 T. 139, 7 S. W. 847.

Action by two tenants in common. Title of one was clear, that of the other disputed; defendant exhibited no title. Held, on appeal by defendant from a judgment of a land in favor of both the plaintiffs, that inasmuch as one tenant in common could recover against a trespasser, it was immaterial whether both plaintiffs showed title or but one. Flannagan v. Nasworthy, 1 C. A. 470, 29 S. W. 839.

While one tenant in common can recover from a stranger the whole property, he can recover from his cotenant in possession only the interest he really owns; and the rule, so far as it pertains to another cotenant defendant of a bad disclaimer. Before one tenant can make his cotenant liable to him for the use of the common property, he must show that he has been refused joint occupancy. Bennett v. Land & Cattle Co., 1 C. A. 321, 21 S. W. 136.

One of several joint owners may recover the entire tract against a stranger to the title. Hill v. Smith, 25 S. W. 1079, 6 C. A. 312.

Plaintiff may recover as against a trespasser an undivided interest. Webster v. McCarty, 16 C. A. 160, 40 S. W. 823.

If there were other joint owners, plaintiff would be entitled to recover the land, as against one holding without title. Hintze v. Krabbeneschmidt (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 38.

An agreement between joint owners that either may sell to pay purchase money notes, and that the legal title, if either dies before notes are due, shall vest in the survivor to sell, to pay notes, is not a power of attorney, but a mere contract to give the survivor all interest in the land to accomplish the purpose stated. Carleton et al. v. Hausler et al., 20 C. A. 276, 49 S. W. 118.

Where nonresident stockholders in a foreign corporation, that has obtained no permit to do business in Texas, but has acquired lands in the state, seek to have a receiver appointed for the corporation on account of various misdeeds of the company, their request will be denied because they have a remedy under this article which allows a tenant in common to recover title or possession. They can bring sequestration suit under Art. 709a. Trammell v. Texaco, 24 C. A. 669, 64 S. W. 747; Alexander v. Schuchert, 54 C. A. 590.

Plaintiffs as tenants in common held entitled to recover the entire land as against mere possessors without title. Logan v. Robertson (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 395.

Plaintiffs as tenants in common held entitled to recover against defendants having no title. Hughes v. Wright & Vaughan (Civ. App.) 97 S. W. 12.

One claiming land under a deed from a person having title to an undivided one-fourth interest therein may recover the entire tract from a person having no title to the land. Hutcherson v. Chandler, 47 C. A. 124, 104 S. W. 494.

TRESPASS TO TRY TITLE
(TITLE 128)

Plaintiff held entitled to recover as against defendant who showed no interest therein; plaintiff being at least a joint owner with others. Isbell v. Southworth (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 689.

Contract to purchase.—The plaintiff alleged ownership in fee of the land sued for. On the trial plaintiff offered, to support his title, a contract of sale by which possession of the land was conceded, the purchase money payable in installments, the right to receive any of the installments to plaintiff and reciting that the vendor retained the legal and equitable title in the land until it should be paid for. The vendee entered into possession and paid all the installments due upon the land. Held, that such title was sufficient to recover against one not showing a better title. Land Co. v. Wood, 71 T. 469, 9 S. W. 340.

A contract held only an executory agreement to convey land, giving plaintiff no present interest, and not sufficient to support an action of trespass to try title. Fruslecke v. Ramanski (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 771.

The title, whether legal or equitable, under a contract to convey land which contains an acknowledgment of the receipt of the purchase money, will support or defend against an action of trespass to try title. Kirby v. Cartwright, 48 C. 3, 106 S. W. 742.

Possession, construction of improvements, and cultivation of land under a parol contract to convey held sufficient to sustain trespass to try title or to defeat an action brought by the holder of the legal title or those holding under him. Emporia Lumber Co. v. Tucker (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1082.

Title acquired under a parol contract of sale, the price being paid, and the purchaser being placed in possession and making valuable improvements on the land, with the knowledge and consent of the vendor, is sufficient to sustain an action of trespass to try title. Lowery v. McDaniel (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 718.

Presumptions burden of proof and admissibility of evidence.—See notes under Art. 3857.

Weight and sufficiency of evidence.—If plaintiff in his petition seeks to avoid the effect of an execution sale, and defendant by set-off to establish that the defendant’s purchase occurred while he was plaintiff’s tenant and bound by the lease to deliver possession at the end of the term, evidence of such lease, tenancy and possession will not, of itself, authorize a recovery. Hill v. Allison, 51 T. 396.

A defendant to a trespass to title was held to recover in the absence of any evidence to show payment of purchase money by plaintiff, except such as appeared from the recitals of his chain of title. Bremer v. Case, 60 T. 151.

When the defendant asserts title to any part of the land claimed by plaintiff, or relies upon the plea of “not guilty,” it is necessary for the plaintiff to show that his title extends to the land claimed in his pleadings; and, having done this, he is entitled to a judgment, unless superior title in the defendant in some way be shown. McNama v. Meunsch, 66 T. 68, 17 S. W. 397.

Evidence held to sustain a finding that plaintiff had failed to establish any trust. Hendricks v. Huffmeyer, 90 T. 671, 40 S. W. 1.

An answer filed in a suit in another state by the trustee of a company holding the title, admitting that one under whom plaintiff claimed was entitled to the land, held not to show title in plaintiff. Story v. Jones, 16 C. A. 65, 40 S. W. 417.

Evidence held that defendant has more land than he is entitled to, without locating the excess or showing that it was taken from plaintiff, does not warrant recovery. Rosson v. Miller, 15 C. A. 603, 40 S. W. 861.

Evidence held not to show fraud in that a grantee was given possession of a tract other than that purchased. Niemann v. Silber (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 712.

Evidence held to show a sufficient conveyance of legal title, as against defendant trespassers. Rector v. Erath Cattle Co., 18 C. A. 412, 46 S. W. 427.

Evidence held insufficient to entitle defendant to recover on his cross-bill. Clements v. Clements, 18 C. A. 617, 46 S. W. 61.

It is error to submit the question as to whether or not a deed was executed, where, to be availing, it would be necessary to determine whether it was executed either before or after deed executed at a known time, where there is no evidence as to when the former was executed. Texas Tram & Lumber Co. v. Gwin (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 110.

Evidence held insufficient to establish a claim of title based on a contract for services performed in locating land in question. Herndon v. De Cordova (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 401.

One cannot recover by proving that he owns an undivided portion of the land, without establishing his title. Davidson, 53 C. 3, 56 S. W. 12.

Plaintiff held entitled to judgment upon proof of title and admission of defendant of attempt to enter therein under claim that same is a highway. City of San Antonio v. Sullivan, 23 C. A. 619, 57 S. W. 42.
TRESPASS TO TRY TITLE

Art. 7742

Where defendant admits that the land in question was devised to him, and that decedent's will had been duly probated in another state, it is not error to proceed to judgment against the defendant alone. Bonner v. Ogilvie, 24 C. A. 237, 58 S. W. 1027.

Where an owner of land gave a deed of a part thereof, reserving 600 acres as previously agreed, to be conveyed to W., in an action by the grantee to recover the reserved tract from one to whom another heir had conveyed it, held, that the identity of the land was sufficiently established. Bartell v. Kelesy (Civ. App.) 59 S. W. 631.

Evidence held to show that plaintiff had the fee-simple title to the land and right of possession to two-thirds thereof, while defendant had the other third during the life of another. Scales v. Marshall (Civ. App.) 60 S. W. 336.

Evidence held to show a sale of a certificate of headright under which plaintiffs claimed to plaintiffs' grantors. Anderson v. Wynne (Civ. App.) 62 S. W. 119.

Facts held to show plaintiff entitled to the land in question. Hamilton v. McAuley, 27 C. A. 266, 65 S. W. 206.

The evidence of the title to real estate in the owners thereof held sufficient, in an action to recover the land under a mortgage thereon given by the person obtaining the patent to the land from the state as agent of the owner, to authorize judgment in their favor. Taylor v. Flynt, 35 C. A. 219, 67 S. W. 247.

In trespass to try title by a trustee under a will, evidence held to show title in the trustee with the right of possession. Eskridge v. Louisville Trust Co., 29 C. A. 571, 69 S. W. 957.

Evidence held to show certain facts on which plaintiff's title was based. Year v. Crenshaw, 30 C. A. 399, 70 S. W. 579.

Evidence held to justify a finding that the property constituted the homestead of defendant and her husband and was acquired under a pariol partition. Long v. Long, 30 C. A. 468, 76 S. W. 587.

Evidence held to show that a purchaser from defendant after the suit was instituted purchased with actual notice of plaintiff's claim. Turner v. Cochran, 30 C. A. 549, 70 S. W. 1025.

Evidence held to sustain a finding that defendant's grantor, who claimed a prior settlement, had failed to continue his settlement as required by law. Bates v. Bratton (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 38.

Evidence held to support a finding as to identity of the individual in whose right a headright certificate was issued. Lynch v. Pittman, 31 C. A. 553, 73 S. W. 862.

Defendant's evidence held not to have overcome plaintiff's prima facie case. Binlon v. Harris, 32 C. A. 371, 74 S. W. 580.

Evidence held to show that the uncle of the ancestor of plaintiff's grantor was the owner of the land in question when he deeded it to a third person. Henry v. Thomas (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 599.

Evidence held to make prima facie title in plaintiff. Walker v. Marchbanks, 32 C. A. 303, 74 S. W. 829.

Evidence held to show that plaintiff's ancestor had parted with his interest with notice of a previous conveyance of an interest by his co-tenants, and received his due proportion of the proceeds. Bays v. Stone, 38 C. A. 146, 76 S. W. 56.

Circumstantial evidence held to support a finding as to the contents of the report of commissioners to partition an estate. Johnson v. Franklin (Civ. App.) 76 S. W. 611.

In an action by the state against defendants claiming under a Spanish grant, evidence held to sustain finding of trial court that defendants were entitled to all the lands held by them under the grant. State v. Texas Land & Cattle Co., 34 C. A. 469, 78 S. W. 967.

Where consolidations to purchase under affidavit, facts held not to show conclusively that the state had no title at the time of plaintiff's purchase. Jones v. Wright (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 669.

Plaintiff's abandonment of the land held not to require a verdict for defendant. Id.

Id.

Evidence held that the reservation of title in plaintiff's chain of title was a power of attorney by a husband and wife to sell the land in question, that plaintiff failed to state that the power purported to be signed by the husband and wife held immaterial. Barclay v. Waller, 37 C. A. 342, 83 S. W. 721.

Evidence held to justify a finding that the name of a corporate grantee was a misnomer only, and intended for a corporation under whom plaintiff claimed title. Cobb v. Bryan, 37 C. A. 339, 83 S. W. 857.

A judgment for plaintiff held not affirmative on appeal, notwithstanding error, on the ground that the evidence showed plaintiff's prior possession sufficient to entitle her to recover against defendant, who failed to prove title. Id.

Evidence held to justify a presumption of grant of the land in controversy by the Spanish government, under and from whom plaintiffs claimed and deraigned title. Ortiz v. State (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 45.

Evidence held insufficient to show a gift of the land, in support of defendants' claim of title. Tannery v. McMinn (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 640.

Evidence held insufficient to entitle plaintiff to a charge that the burden of proof was on defendants to establish their case by clear and positive testimony held erroneous. Matador Land & Cattle Co. v. Cooper, 39 C. A. 99, 87 S. W. 235.

Evidence held not to raise an issue as to the location of a boundary line between two surveys. Greene v. Greene, 39 C. A. 129, 87 S. W. 701.

Evidence held not to show estoppel in favor of purchaser against real owner. Id.

A charge for plaintiff held to be erroneous in conventional proceeding, without requiring plaintiff to prove his right to possession, held properly refused. Freeman v. Slay (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 494.

A finding as to the date plaintiff took possession of land sought to be recovered held erroneous. Roos v. Basham, 41 C. A. 551, 91 S. W. 656.

A finding not to have shown title to the land in controversy sufficient to warrant a judgment in his favor. Ball v. Carroll, 42 C. A. 323, 92 S. W. 1023.
A plaintiff held required to show that the land in controversy was not included in a conveyance, as having been previously disposed of.

Evidence held to require a finding that plaintiffs' ancestor, and not the ancestor of defendants, was the person to whom the land was patented. Dorsey v. Olive Sternenberg & Co., 42 C. A. 556, 94 S. W. 413.

A party to prevail held required to show certain facts. Taylor v. Doom, 43 C. A. 59, 95 S. W. 4.

That parties have shown their right to inherit through paternal ancestor of last ownership, but do not show that his maternal kindred are extinct held not to defeat their right to recovery. Gorham v. Settegast, 44 C. A. 254, 98 S. W. 665.

In trespass to try title, proof of title required of one claiming by collateral descent stated. Id.

Evidence held to support a finding of the jury locating the disputed boundary line in accordance with defendant's contention. Brodbent v. Carper (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 188.

The finding of the jury on a special issue held not sustained by the evidence. J. S. Brown Hardware Co. v. Catrett, 45 C. A. 647, 101 S. W. 559.

Evidence held insufficient to show a gift inter vivos of the land to the plaintiff. Combest v. Wegg (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 147.

Evidence held sufficient to establish a parol partition of an estate. Haines v. West (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 436.

Evidence held not sufficient to sustain a verdict for defendant on the issues presented. Talbert v. Rice, 47 C. A. 318, 102 S. W. 446.

Evidence held to warrant a finding that the land was located in a lot as designated on the plat of the survey. Cochran v. Kapner (Civ. App.) 103 S. W. 499.

Certain proof held not to prove that a survey as represented by the plat was not actually made by the surveyor on the ground. In ejectment plaintiff's possessor rights held limited by his inclusion. McAdams v. Hooks, 47 C. A. 79, 104 S. W. 432.

Evidence held insufficient to show title in plaintiff essential to a recovery. Jaggers v. Stringer, 47 C. A. 571, 106 S. W. 151.

In trespass to try title a defendant held entitled to recover under conditions stated. Mars v. Morris (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 430.

Evidence held insufficient to establish plaintiff's right to recover by reason of prior possession. Romine v. Littlejohn (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 439.

Evidence held sufficient to show that the person under whom plaintiffs claimed was the person to whom a certain county warrant was issued by the republic of Texas. Sanger v. McCon, 45 C. A. 290, 106 S. W. 752.

A power of attorney reciting that G. was dead, and that B. was his heir, introduced as the basis of the introduction of a deed by the attorney in fact, held not to militate against a finding that the evidence did not show that B. ever had any title to the property. Brown v. Orange County of the same. 48 C. A. 470, 107 S. W. 607.

Evidence held to sustain findings that a certain deed was signed and delivered to plaintiff's ancestor at a certain time, and that a quitclaim deed executed by the same grantor to defendant was made for the purpose of ratifying the former deed. Jackson v. Tonnell, 49 C. A. 169, 108 S. W. 178.

Evidence held to show that the grantee, under whom plaintiff claimed as heir, had voluntarily abandoned the land and agreed to rescind the sale by which he obtained possession of the land. Evans v. Ashe, 50 C. A. 54, 106 S. W. 1190.

Evidence held insufficient to sustain a finding that certain persons under whom defendant claimed title were tenants in common with plaintiffs of one-third of the land. Morgan v. White, 50 C. A. 315, 110 S. W. 491.

Evidence held to show that the certificates of the block claimed by plaintiffs were not filed with the district surveyor until after the filing of the certificates by defendant of the same block. Smyth v. Saigling (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 560.

Evidence held to show that defendant's right to recover was based on the theory that he had purchased the premises from a third person who had acquired title from a former owner. Daugherty v. Templeton, 50 C. A. 304, 110 S. W. 553.

Where plaintiff introduced deeds to show chain of title, but was unable to show the relationship of certain grantors to the prior grantee, introduction of the same deed by defendant held insufficient to overcome the hiatus. San Antonio Machine & Supply Co. v. Campbell (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 770.

A judgment for plaintiff held authorized, though the sheriff's deed was not introduced in evidence. Pasto v. Cotton, 51 C. A. 186, 111 S. W. 1079.

Evidence held to support a finding that defendants were in possession through their tenants when the land was levied upon under execution against their grantor. Savage v. Cowan (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 313.

Evidence held to sustain a finding that certain notes were paid, and that a deed passed. Millwee v. Phelps, 53 C. A. 195, 115 S. W. 831.

Certain evidence introduced by plaintiff held to reduce his claim to an equitable one. White v. McCullough, 66 C. A. 383, 120 S. W. 1093.

A plaintiff claiming certain land by prior possession, he was also entitled to show that one of the links in defendant's chain of title was insufficient without defeating his own prima facie right based on possession. Saxton v. Corbett (Civ. App.) 122 S. W. 78.

Evidence held insufficient to establish an estoppel under the title of plaintiffs. Brooks v. Payne (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 463.
Evidence held insufficient to compel a finding by the trial court that a transfer of the land was made in accordance with a valid order of the probate court or under a valid deed.

If defendant stands on plaintiff's claim of title to make out a case, a prima facie case is sufficient to entitle plaintiff to a judgment.

Where plaintiff claimed through a deed describing the land conveyed as consisting of 177 acres of the C. survey, but the evidence showed that there were two C. surveys, one of 177 acres and one of a larger tract, held that it could not be said that plaintiff wholly failed to show that the land claimed was the 177-acre tract of the C. survey referred to in the deed. Long v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 40.

Evidence held to sustain a finding that a witness moved from the land in the latter part of 1831. Bond v. Garrison (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 839.

A plaintiff who shows title from the sovereignty to himself is prima facie entitled to recovery. Coler v. Alexander (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 664.

Evidence held not to sustain a finding that the land was worth $520, when it was conveyed to defendant. Rogers v. Blackshear (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 938.

Evidence held to sustain a finding that the patentee transferred the certificate to the persons through whom defendants claimed. Allen v. Clearman (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 1140.

Facts held to make out a prima facie case for defendant. Wright v. Giles (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1163.

Plaintiff held to have a sufficient title, unless barred by the statute of limitations. Wadsworth v. Vinyard (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 1171.

Proof of an outstanding title in a third person when a common grantor conveyed to defendant held not sufficient to defeat plaintiff's claim. Caruthers v. Hadley (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 787.

A plaintiff held not to have connected himself with the title of the original grantee. Griffin v. Ray (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 248.

Evidence held not to raise the issue of plaintiff's prior possession.

To show title under a tax deed, one must put in evidence, not only the judgment and sheriff's deed, but also the order of sale. Lumpkin v. Woods (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1128.

In a suit by several to establish a covenancy, failure of some of the plaintiffs to establish interests held not to affect the measure of recovery. Henyan v. Trevino (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 458.

Plaintiff held to show title under the sovereignty of the soil. Edwards v. Smith (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 1161.

Evidence held to show plaintiff's title to only five-sevenths of the land. Guilmathin v. Padgett (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1143.

Evidence held to justify a finding that plaintiff had title.

Evidence held to sustain a finding that title under which plaintiffs claim was extinguished by conveyance. Surghenor v. Ducey (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 22.

Evidence held to sustain findings. Surghenor v. Ayers (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 28.

There is no one who has any interest in an estate held mere title. Southern Pine Lumber Co. v. Arnold (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 917.

Evidence, where plaintiff claimed under a trustee's sale under a trust deed executed by defendant, held to sustain a finding that the presumption that notice of sale was duly posted was not overcome. Roe v. Davis (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 959.

Evidence held to support a finding as to the boundaries of land awarded in partition. Morse's Heirs v. Williams (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 1186.

Evidence held to show that plaintiff's predecessors in interest recognized the defendant's title. Addington v. Howard (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 263.

A plaintiff held not required to establish title in addition to a deed. Ferrell v. Delano (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1639.

The evidentiary value of circumstances essential to authorize a presumption that a missing conveyance in a chain of title was made held derived from their tendency to show an acquiescence in the title asserted by the claimant. Baldwin v. McCullogh (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 203.

Evidence held to sustain a finding for defendant. Childress v. Tate (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 843.

The possessors of title of plaintiff and her transferees was prima facie evidence of title and sufficient to entitle them to recover against defendant, in the absence of evidence sufficient to defeat their right. Adels v. Joseph (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1154.

The evidence of title by third persons by limitation was insufficient to overcome the prima facie case made by the evidence of the possession of plaintiff and her transferees, in the absence of testimony to connect defendant with such limitation title.

A plaintiff, claiming a title and possession of property, must remove every possibility of showing affirmatively this relationship to the person under whom he claims, but also that no other heirs exist to impede the descent, and, to do this, must negative the coming into existence of such other heirs. Steedman v. Kirby Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 273.
Art. 7743. [5260] Either party may demand abstract of title.—
After answer filed, either party may, by notice in writing, duly served on the opposite party, or his attorney of record, not less than ten days before the trial of the cause, demand an abstract in writing of the claim or title to the premises in question upon which he relies.

Abstract of title—Necessity of demand therefor.—The plaintiff, unless an abstract is demanded, is not required to give the defendant notice of the source from which he claims title, and if he gives the defendant notice of the loss of a particular deed, or of any file thereof, to be used in evidence, he is not thereby estopped from showing title in some other way. Stanley v. Epperson, 45 T. 656.

When a party desires to know, in advance of trial, the muniments of title relied on by the adverse party, he may call for an abstract of his title. A preliminary inquiry by the court into his sources of title, and an order requiring him to elect which of the two sources of title he would rely on, was held error. Hammond v. Connolly, 63 T. 63.

Evidence under abstract.—A defendant is not entitled to exclude from evidence, for want of due proof of its execution, a deed offered by plaintiff, where it is shown by abstract of title filed in that suit by the defendant, and offered in evidence by the plaintiff, that such deed is also a link in defendant's chain of title, and a common source of title of both parties. Wichita Land & Cattle Co. v. Ward, 1 C. A. 307, 21 S. W. 138.

Testimony of an abstractor, explanatory of his system, and of what was indicated by the large entries in certain columns, held not incompetent as at variance with the abstract. Robbins v. Ginnochlo (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 34.

The abstract of title filed by plaintiff in trespass to try title stated that he relied on "a copy of an execution, while the instrument read in evidence was a copy of an alleged execution. Held, that there was no variance. Frazier v. Weco Bldg. Ass'n, 25 C. A. 476, 61 S. W. 132.

Where a deed was not embraced in the abstract of title filed in the case, but the record of the deed was not discovered until a short time before it was offered in evidence, its admission was proper. Taffinder v. Merril ( Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 936.

Under this and the following articles a plaintiff, who in attempting to comply with the demand for an abstract of title filed an abstract which stated that a deed in his chain of title had been recorded in the deed records in a designated county, in volume 5, while in fact it had been recorded in a book lettered "V," could not introduce the deed in evidence. Coler v. Alexander (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 664.

This article only requires the abstract to show the party's own chain of title, and it need not contain evidence which only tends to destroy his adversary's title, so that defendant's abstract was not required to contain the proceedings by which the decree under which plaintiff's claim was set aside, in order to admit evidence of such proceedings. Wolf v. Wilhelm (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 216.

Under an abstract of chain of title filed by defendant in trespass to try title, pursuant to this article, stating that he claimed under the 3, 5, and 10 year limitations, he could testify that he and his father, under whom he claimed, rented the land by written lease. Id.

Evidence admissible without filing.—Where plaintiff's suit is based wholly on a transaction between his decedent and defendant's deceased ancestors, evidenced by a deed and note, both of which are specially pleaded by plaintiff, they are admissible in evidence without an abstract of title having been filed. This article and Art. 4064 do not apply to such a case. Holden v. Hughes, 48 C. A. 496, 107 S. W. 92, 93.

Art. 7744. [5261] Abstract must be filed in twenty days, etc.—
Such abstract of title shall be filed with the papers of the cause within twenty days after the service of the notice, or within such further time as the court on good cause shown may grant; and, in default thereof, no evidence of the claim or title of such opposite party shall be given on trial.

Filing defensive evidence.—This statute gives the right to a litigant to have his opponent exhibit his title whether in writing or otherwise, but in no sense requires one to file his defensive evidence that only tends to rebut, destroy and annul his adversary's title, but upon which he does not rely to support his own title. Wolf v. Wilhelm (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 216.

Waiver of abstract.—Plaintiff's right to the filing of an abstract held waived, where the case was called for trial before the expiration of 20 days from the notice, and no postponement was asked. Crosby v. Ardon (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 799.

Postponement of trial.—If the cause is called for trial before the expiration of twenty days, plaintiff may, on showing diligence in making demand, ask delay of the trial for the absence of the abstract. Barth v. Green, 78 T. 678, 15 S. W. 112.

Art. 7745. [5262] Abstract shall state what.—The abstract mentioned in the two preceding articles shall state:
1. The nature of each document or written instrument intended to be used as evidence, and its date; or,
2. If a contract or conveyance, its date, the parties thereto and the date of the proof or acknowledgment, and before what officer the same was made; and,
3. Where recorded, stating the book and page of the record.
4. If not recorded in the county when the trial is had, copies of such instrument, with the names of the subscribing witnesses, shall be included.

If such unrecorded instrument be lost or destroyed, it shall be sufficient to state the nature of such instrument and its loss or destruction.

Instruments included.—A power of attorney under which a deed was executed must be included in an abstract of title. Smith v. Powell, 23 S.W. 1109, 5 C.A. 373.

A will not embraced in the abstract filed is not admissible in evidence. Marlin v. Kosinski (Civ. App.) 27 S.W. 1042.

This article was intended to be very comprehensive and include not only deeds to and contracts for the land vesting title in or securing a right to the party filing the abstract or those under whom he claims but also all other documents or written instruments intended to be used as evidence on the issue of title, and a lease falls within the latter class. Hayes v. Groesbeck (Civ. App.) 69 S.W. 237.

Art. 7746. [5263] Amended abstract.—The court may allow either party to file an amended abstract of titles, under the same rules which authorize the amendment of pleadings so far as they are applicable; but in all cases the documentary evidence of title shall, at the trial, be confined to the matters contained in the abstract of titles.

Filing amended abstract.—Amended abstracts of title can be filed under the same rules which authorize amendment of pleadings so far as applicable. Stokes v. Riley, 29 C.A. 372, 68 S.W. 704.

Evidence admissible under abstract.—Under this article plaintiff could not introduce in evidence a deed of trust not set out in his abstract of title, though he introduced a deed by the trustee, shown by the abstract, reciting that the deed was executed in pursuance of a power contained in the deed of trust. Skov v. Coffin (Civ. App.) 137 S.W. 450.

Art. 7747. [5264] Surveyor appointed, etc.—The presiding judge of the court may, either in term time or in vacation, at his own discretion, or on motion of either party to the action, appoint a surveyor, who shall survey the premises in controversy pursuant to the order of the court, and report his action under oath to such court; and, if said report be not rejected for good cause shown, the same shall be admitted as evidence on the trial. [Act Feb. 5, 1840, sec. 3. P.D. 5294.]

In general.—Boundaries of plaintiff’s survey may be settled in one suit against the respective owners of adjoining tracts. Muncy v. Mattfield (Civ. App.) 40 S.W. 345.

The surveyor may adopt a previous survey if he knows it to be correct, but it is not the duty of the court to oblige him to adopt one shown to be incorrect. Horton v. Face, 9 T. 81.

To determine to whom a strip claimed belonged, held necessary to determine whether the boundary line between the surveys of the respective parties was located so as to include it within the survey owned by plaintiff or by defendant. Provident Nat. Bank v. Webb (Civ. App.) 128 S.W. 426.

Where there was no dispute as to the boundaries, and the land had been surveyed and marked, it was proper to refuse to order a survey. Carlock v. Willard (Civ. App.) 149 S.W. 363.

Where defendant pleads title in himself, and the land is sufficiently described in the petition, it is not error to refuse an order of survey on motion of defendant. Id.

Form of report.—The surveyor is not authorized to determine any question of fact or to report evidence. In making a survey by the field notes, he must report such natural and artificial objects as indicate the true location of the lines on the ground. Schunior v. Russell, 83 T. 83, 18 S.W. 484. See Stans v. Smith, 3 C.A. 656, 30 S.W. 362; Westbrook v. Guderian, 3 C.A. 406, 22 S.W. 59; Schaeffer v. Berry, 63 T. 706.

Admissibility and effect of report.—The report of the surveyor appointed by the court to locate a tract the boundaries of which as given are inconsistent with each other is not conclusive, but may be contradicted by testimony at the trial. Bass v. Mitchell, 22 T. 385.

A line established on the ground will control a call for course and distance. Woods v. Robinson, 58 T. 655; Oliver v. Mahoney, 61 T. 610; Ayers v. Harris, 64 T. 296.

When there has been no actual survey a different rule prevails. Booth v. Upsur, 26 T. 64; Boon v. Hunter, 63 T. 532; Jones v. Andrews, 62 T. 652.

The report of a surveyor appointed by the court in a cause in which the boundary of a survey is in controversy is entitled to no greater weight than the testimony of a witness cognizant of the facts referred to in the report. McClinch v. Freeman, 69 T. 445, 4 S.W. 369; Kerlicks v. Meyer, 84 T. 158, 19 S.W. 379.

The report of a surveyor who has been appointed by the court during the progress of a suit is admissible in evidence only in suits instituted to try title to land. Wheeler v. Boyd, 69 T. 293, 6 S.W. 614; Bellamy v. McCarthy, 72 T. 393, 104 S.W. 69.

Under this article the report of a surveyor appointed to run a boundary is admissible in an action to establish the boundary. Wardlow v. Harmon (Civ. App.) 45 S.W. 328.

Continuance and new trial for survey.—Where no seasonable motion or request to have a surveyor appointed to locate the boundaries is made, a new trial will not be...
Art. 7747  TRESPASS TO TRY TITLE  (Title 128

granted in order that such survey might be made. Pratt v. Slade (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 648.

Where it appeared that a survey had been made by both parties to determine the true location of the block of surveys containing the land in question, the court did not err in refusing a continuance on the day the cause was called for trial to enable an official surveyor to be appointed by the court to make the same survey. Adams v. Burrell (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 681.

Compensation of surveyor.—This article makes no provision for compensation of the surveyor appointed by the court. It cannot be said that the court abused its discretion in allowing him $20 per day for time engaged. Harris County Irr. Co. v. Hornberger, 42 C. A. 450, 94 S. W. 148.

That the surveyor's report and map were not admitted in evidence was no reason for refusing him compensation: the survey and map having been used by all parties on the trial. Harris County Irr. Co. v. Hornberger, 42 C. A. 460, 94 S. W. 145.

Art. 7748. [5265] Survey unnecessary when.—Where there is no dispute as to the lines or boundaries of the land in controversy, or where the defendant admits that he is in possession of the lands or tenements included in the plaintiff's claim or title, an order of survey shall be unnecessary. [Id. sec. 6. P. D. 5308.]

Art. 7749. [5266] Common source of title, proof of.—It shall not be necessary for the plaintiff to deraign title beyond a common source, and proof of a common source may be made by the plaintiff by certified copies of the deeds showing a chain of title to the defendant emanating from and under such common source; but before any such certified copies shall be read in evidence they shall be filed with the papers of the suit three days before the trial, and the adverse party served with notice of such filing as in other cases; provided, that such certified copies shall not be evidence of title in the defendant, unless offered in evidence by him; and the plaintiff shall not be precluded from making any legal objection to such certified copies, or the originals thereof, when introduced by the defendant. [Act Sept. 28, 1871, p. 3, sec. 1. P. D. 6829.]

See, also, notes under Art. 7749.

Title from common source in general.—A defendant cannot defeat the rule of common source by a declaration that he does not claim under it. Burns v. Goff, 79 T. 236, 14 S. W. 1099.

Where defendant seeks to hold land as within the boundaries of his deed, it enables plaintiff to deraign his title from the source from which the defendant's title has come. Ruth v. Heerman, 24 S. W. 664, 5 C. A. 655.

A deed purporting to convey to defendant's predecessor the interest of the one under whom plaintiff claims does not show a claim of common source. Hendricks v. Huffmeyer, 99 T. 577, 40 S. W. 1.

Where a conveyance is made by persons having different titles, one holding under their grantee holds under two distinct titles. Story v. Birdwell (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 847.

Instruction that original vendee was common source of title held erroneous. Haney v. Brown (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 55.

Where one holds under a conveyance from a grantor who had prior to making such conveyance conveyed to a third person whose interest had been sold to plaintiff under execution, they hold under a common source. Parsons v. Hart, 19 C. A. 300, 46 S. W. 866.

Defendants could not be regarded as innocent purchasers of the land in controversy, where one deed forming a part of their claim of title was absolutely void. Wren v. Holland, 33 C. A. 87, 76 S. W. 894.

A deed prior in time from the common grantor held superior unless fraudulent as against the subsequent grantee. Clark v. Bell, 48 C. A. 49, 89 S. W. 38.

Both parties held to claim from a common source. Lutercher v. Allen, 43 C. A. 102, 95 S. W. 572.

Where adjoining owners have purchased from a common vendor, and each claims that his tract extends over that claimed by the other, the vendor is the common source of title. Young v. Trahan, 43 C. A. 611, 97 S. W. 147.

Defendants, claiming from a common source of title with plaintiffs by an invalid or insufficient conveyance, are merely trespassers. Branch v. Deussen (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 184.

Where there is a dispute between purchasers from a common vendor regarding a boundary line, the vendor is the common source of title as to the parcel in controversy. San Antonio Machine & Supply Co. v. Campbell (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 776.

Where a plaintiff fails to connect himself by a complete chain of title with the common source, he cannot recover. Id.

The doctrine of common source of title may be invoked where defendant is in possession of the land sued for. Woodward v. Ross (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 158.

A grantor for himself, and as attorney in fact for third persons, conveyed real estate to a grantee. Evidence by notes. The grantor assigned the notes, none of which were ever paid, and quitclaimed his interest in the land to the assignee, who brought trespass to try title against a defendant, who claimed under a deed from the grantee. Held, that both parties claimed under a common source of title within this indictable, to defeat a defendant in possession, it must prove an outstanding title, and must prove that, the grantor had no power of attorney to sell the interests of the third persons. 1d.

Agreement as to common source.—An agreement between the litigants that they claimed under a source such as is not an regular chain of title leading up to such common source; much less is it an admission that a deed offered in evidence is in the line of title. The effect of such an agreement is to relieve the plaintiffs from the necessity of tracing their title back to the government. Tapp v. Coreys, 64 T. 594.

When defendant agreed that a certain party was the common source of title to the land in controversy, he was precluded from claiming any interest in the land not derived from that source. Crabtree v. Whitesell, 65 T. 111.

Deraigning title beyond common source.—When the defendant claims title through a sheriff’s deed under judgment and execution against the plaintiff, the defendant is not required to deraign title beyond himself, as a common source; nor is he required to allege the common source of title in order to introduce evidence of it. Wilson v. Palmer, 18 T. 592; Pearson v. Planagan, 53 T. 266; Stegall v. Huff, 54 T. 192; Kerr v. Hill (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 1089; Johnson v. Foster, 34 S. W. 821.

Where the evidence showed that both parties claimed title from a common source, the fact that the appellee filed an abstract of his title reaching back to the sovereignty of the state was not sufficient to estop the plaintiff by proof, did not alter the rule entitling him to recover, if he showed the older title under the common source. Sellman v. Hardin, 58 T. 86.

The defendant relied on a title derived from the plaintiff. Held, it was immaterial whether or not the plaintiff established a complete chain of title down to himself from the original grantee. The parties claimed under a common source, and it was sufficient if the evidence did not show that the plaintiff had parted with his title by reason of any of the deeds from the defendant claimed. Calder v. Ramsey, 66 T. 218, 18 S. W. 502.

When the defendant claims under two paper titles, plaintiff cannot recover by showing simply a superior title from a common source in one of them only. Starr v. Kennedy, 5 C. A. 502, 27 S. W. 26; Howard v. Masterson, 77 T. 41, 13 S. W. 635.

Where both parties in an action to recover real estate claim under a common source of title, it is not necessary for plaintiff to show title from the government. Tinsley v. Magnolia Park Co. (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 628.

In trespass to try title, held unnecessary for plaintiff to show a regular chain of title from the state. Young v. Tranah, 45 C. A. 611, 97 S. W. 147.

Where plaintiffs’ ancestor, through whom both parties claimed as a common source, had prior possession of the land, plaintiffs need not connect themselves with the sovereignty of the soil. Stephenville Oil Mill Co. v. McNell, 57 C. A. 252, 122 S. W. 911.

Under this article plaintiff can stand on the common source, and recover upon proving the superiority of his title from such source. Long v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 40.

Notwithstanding defendant’s plea of not guilty, plaintiff need not prove title from the sovereignty of the soil, where defendant’s special plea alleges title emanating from plaintiff. Cofrin v. Maxwell (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 655.

Effect of common source or claim thereunder in general.—A defendant having filed an abstract of his title, in which he claims under a common source with the plaintiff, will not be heard to attack the chain of title between the common source and the sovereignty. Evans v. Foster, 70 T. 46, 15 S. W. 170. See Howard v. Masterson, 77 T. 41, 13 S. W. 635.

Where plaintiffs prove common source and a superior title under it, they may recover, unless defendants show a superior title which they have acquired, or that title never vested in the common source. Smith v. Davis, 18 C. A. 863, 47 S. W. 101.

That defendant claimed title through the same person as plaintiffs would not bind him to such person as a common source, where he also claimed independent thereof. Mayfield v. Robinson, 23 C. A. 385, 55 S. W. 399.

Where parties claimed title under a common grantor, who derived title directly from the original grantee, it was error to exclude evidence of a prior deed showing that such grantee had no title when he conveyed to the common grantor. Ferguson v. Ricketts, 53 T. 545, 57 S. W. 19.

Where both parties claimed under a deed of an executor, held not necessary for plaintiff to show that he had authority to execute the deed. Wade v. Boyd, 24 C. A. 493, 69 S. W. 360.

Where both parties claimed under an executor, defendant could not say that the executor was without authority to execute the deed. Id.

Where plaintiff shows that his claim of title and that of defendant is from a common source, he will not be permitted to attack the title of such common source. Skov v. Coffin. (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 459.

Showing outstanding or paramount title.—When the evidence shows that both parties claim under a common source, the defendant is not estopped from proving the existence of a superior outstanding title with which he is not connected beyond the common source of title. Rice v. Railway Co., 24 S. W. 1099, 6 C. A. 355.

Defendant claiming under a common source cannot show a superior outstanding title with which he is not connected. Pfouts v. Thompson (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 904.

A defendant claiming land under a common source cannot show a superior outstanding title. Easterwood v. Dunn, 19 C. A. 320, 47 S. W. 265.

Mere possession held not to show title in defendant paramount to common source. Id.

Where defendant pleaded title under a common source inferior to that of plaintiff plaintiff was entitled to recover, though a superior outstanding title was shown back of the common source. Tiemann v. Cobb, 38 C. A. 269, 89 S. W. 250.

Record of a lost deed and assignment of patent and payment of taxes held insufficient to establish grant by a person not claiming under him. Schultz v. Tony Lumber Co., 36 C. A. 448, 82 S. W. 533.

The fact that plaintiff shows that both he and defendant claim from the same grantor, and that plaintiff has the superior title from such source, held not to estop defendant from proving a claim through another source. Gilmer v. Beauchamp, 49 C. A. 125, 87 S. W. 907.

Common source of title does not preclude a party from proving title superior to such common source, if he shows an outstanding title or one acquired under virtue of the statute of limitations. Stubbs v. Hansan (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 406.

A party claiming as heir of a former owner held not prevented from asserting that his mother had an equitable title to one-half of the land in controversy. Taylor v. Dorem, 43 C. A. 89, 96 S. W. 4.

Where both parties claim title under a common grantor, one party to defeat a recovery by the other must show that his title is superior to that of the common grantor held, and that the common grantor was without title. Cooke v. Texas & N. O. R. Co., 46 C. A. 363, 163 S. W. 407.

Where defendant relied upon a grant to another as an outstanding title, but it did not appear by whom the grant was made, or in what right it was made, the evidence was insufficient to show a valid outstanding title in third persons. Holland v. Nance, 102 T. 177, 134 S. W. 346; Same v. Harris, Id.

Certain evidence held not to show that there was any outstanding title against the land in controversy. Hoencke v. Lomax, 55 C. A. 193, 118 S. W. 817.

If land is held under the common source by a continuous and unbroken chain, it is conclusively shown that his title is superior to that of either he or plaintiff could have acquired under a grantee from the common source of the remaining part. Roberts v. Blount (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 933.

When defendant has a superior right to land outside that which he may have under a common source, he is not precluded from showing it, but must show that the common source was without title. Id.

Where both parties claimed through a common grantor, proof of a conveyance to a third party before the conveyance of the common grantor would not prevent plaintiff from recovering. Long v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 40.

Where the parties derive title from a common source, evidence of title in some one antecedent of the claimant is not of itself sufficient to defeat the right of the claimant depending upon a regular chain of transfers from the common source. Plummer v. Marshall (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 1162.

Where the parties claim under a common source, defendants cannot show an outstanding title with which they can show no connection. Wright v. Giles (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1163.

Defendant may defeat the action by proving an outstanding title in a third person and also, or in entire, to that of the common source, and which never vested in the common source. Caruthers v. Hadley (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 757.

Defendant may show a superior title to that held by the common source, and to do so may attack the validity of a deed under which the common source claims. Word v. Houston Oil Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 804.

When the common source has been shown by the introduction of deeds or other muniments of title, the defendant cannot defeat the plaintiff’s recovery by merely showing an outstanding title anterior to the common source, but must go further, and show that the common source has no title. Long v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 945.

Proof of common source.—See, also, notes under Art. 7745.

Where both parties claim title under a common source, and plaintiff shows title from such common source and that defendant is in possession, such evidence is sufficient, and it devolves upon the defendant to show either the nullity of plaintiff’s deed or prove a superior title in himself. Stephens v. Hix, 33 T. 566.

This article seems to dispense with proof of inability of a plaintiff to produce original deeds or other papers to show that a defendant claims under a common source. But a party cannot offer in evidence a certified copy of the patent to show title in himself, over objections of the adverse party, without showing a compliance with the requirements of Art. 3700. R. G. & E. P. R. Co. v. Milmo Nat. Bank, 72 T. 467, 10 S. W. 563.

The provision as to the use of copies of deeds simply changed the common-law rule of evidence, that such copies cannot be used without first accounting for absence of the originals, and does not change the rule as to the effect of the evidence when introduced. Ogden v. Bosse, 86 T. 326, 24 S. W. 798.

Evidence held to show common source. Webster v. McCarty, 16 C. A. 160, 40 S. W. 823.

Evidence considered, and held insufficient to entitle plaintiff to recover. Sage v. Clopper, 19 C. A. 502, 48 S. W. 36.

Evidence held to show that a small tract of land conveyed by a common grantor was included in a later grant of a larger tract by the same grantor. Payton v. Caplen (Civ. App.) 39 S. W. 224.

Certain facts held not to show common source. Moore v. Kemper, 41 C. A. 86, 91 S. W. 326.

Plaintiff, in making proof of common source of title, held to have the right to introduce his evidence for that purpose only. Young v. Trahan, 43 C. A. 611, 97 S. W. 147.

Evidence held to show that the parties claimed under a common source. Wright v. Giles (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1163.

Chap. 1) TRESPASS TO TRY TITLE Art. 7752

That plaintiffs and defendant claim under the same deed is sufficient proof of common source. Watson v. Harris (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 327.

This article establishes a rule of evidence and of burden of proof, and not one of pleading or estoppel, and proof by plaintiff that defendant has a deed or chain of title from the person under whom plaintiff claims establishes prima facie that defendant is claiming under a common source; but the defendant is not precluded from showing that he holds a superior title to that held by the prima facie common source, or that there is an outstanding superior title. Word v. Houston Oil Co. of Texas (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 384.

Evidence held insufficient to show that the common source had title at the time he made the conveyance to plaintiff. Long v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 945.

— Presumptions, burden of proof and admissibility of evidence in general.—See notes under Art. 3687.

Art. 7750. [5267] Judgment by default.—If the defendant, has been personally served with citation according to law, fails to appear and answer by himself or attorney within the time prescribed by law for other actions in the district court, the proper judgment by default may be entered against him and in favor of the plaintiff for the title to the premises, or the possession thereof, or for both, according to the petition, and for all costs, without any proof of title by the plaintiff.

Judgment against defendant.—In a suit to cancel deeds and remove cloud from title where the defendant accepts service and enters appearance, but files no answer or other pleading, judgment by default may be entered and the defendant cannot assail plaintiff's title in the appellate court. Wandelohr v. Greysen Co. Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 192 S. W. 747.

Plaintiff held entitled to judgment against defaulting defendants. State v. Gallardo (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 664.

Judgment against plaintiff.—See notes under Art. 7739.

Art. 7751. [5268] Proof ex parte, when made.—If the defendant has been cited only by publication, and fails to appear and answer by himself, or by attorney of his own selection, or if any defendant, having answered, fails to appear by himself or attorney when the case is called for trial on its merits, the plaintiff shall make such proof as will entitle him prima facie to recover, whereupon the proper judgment shall be entered.

Art. 7752. [5269] When defendant claims part only.—Where the defendant claims part of the premises only, the answer shall be equivalent to a disclaimer of the balance.

Disclaimer in general.—See, also, notes under Art. 3687, Rule 37, § 24.

A disclaimer by the defendant as to part of the land sued for is not to the prejudice of the plaintiff, and the allowance of such disclaimer by the court, after the parties announced themselves ready for trial, is therefore not an error for which the judgment in favor of the defendant for the remainder of the land will be reversed. Whitehead v. Foley, 28 T. 1.

A disclaimer is an admission upon the record of the plaintiff's right and a denial of the assertion of title on the part of the defendant. Wooters v. Hall, 67 T. 513, 3 S. W. 725; Herring v. Swain, 94 T. 523, 19 S. W. 774.

When the defendant files only a disclaimer, evidence which under a proper plea establishing matter of defense would be admissible should be excluded. Thrmond v. Brownson, 69 T. 597, 6 S. W. 778.

After a defendant has withdrawn his answer and disclaimer, he has the right to be heard at the trial to object to plaintiff's introducing proof of title to land not claimed in the petition. Etter v. Dignowitty, 77 T. 212, 13 S. W. 973.

Where, in a suit against a defendant claiming title, and his tenant, the latter disclaimer, on judgment in favor of the former the plaintiff is not entitled to judgment against the tenant. Smithwick v. Kelly, 79 T. 564, 15 S. W. 486.

Where the defendant pleads not guilty and at the same time files a disclaimer as to the entire land sued for, it seems that the plea should be disregarded. Herring v. Swain, 94 T. 523, 19 S. W. 774.

Where the plaintiff sues the children of his deceased wife for their interest in the community property, a disclaimer by one of the defendants, in the absence of a special direction by him, inures to the benefit of his co-defendants and not to that of the plaintiff. Robinson v. Moore, 1 C. A. 93, 20 S. W. 994.

Rights of defendant, disclaiming as to part of the strip in controversy, to raise the question as to the effect of the purchase from the state under the "Scrap Act." Cox v. Finks (Civ. App.) 41 S. W. 96.

A disclaimer in a former action to all land except that claimed by metes and bounds held to estop the assertion of title to other adjoining land. Scanlan v. Hitcher, 19 C. A. 689, 48 S. W. 765.

Answer of defendants held a disclaimer, within this article, of a part of the land sued for, Stipe v. Shirley, 35 C. A. 223, 76 S. W. 307.

Certain heirs, having filed a disclaimer in a suit to set aside an exchange of property for failure of title, held not thereafter entitled to claim any rights therein. Milby v. Hester, 42 C. A. 514, 94 S. W. 178.
A judgment for plaintiff held proper on disclaimer by defendant. Hildebrandt v. Honea (Civ. App.) 112 S. W. 785.

In trespass to try title to land purchased at tax sale, defendant, claiming title, held liable for the value of a house removed from the land and the value of the use made of the house prior to the removal. Cavins v. Trice, 55 C. A. 533, 119 S. W. 896.

Defendant held, in a suit for land, held not to estop him, in a subsequent suit by a third party, from asserting the defense of limitations. Webb v. Cole, 56 C. A. 185, 120 S. W. 945.

By disclaimer, defendants held to waive the right to question plaintiff's title to a particular section. Elwood, Arnett & Arnett v. Copeland (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 148.

Where one defendant sued for the land answered by general denial and plea of not guilty, but did not disclaim, plaintiffs were entitled to a verdict for the land as against him. D'Averdan v. Brooks (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 653.

Where the plaintiff claimed damages, held that the defendant's disclaimer of title did not devest the court of jurisdiction to try the issue of damages. Coombes v. Bradford (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 849.

Where a party files a disclaimer, he is no longer a party to the suit, unless, in addition to land, it is sought to recover damages. Williams v. Neill (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 943.

Disclaimers and agreement of defendants held sufficient to authorize a verdict for plaintiff as to timber cut from the land in controversy. Kirby v. Conn (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 232.

Judgment for part disclaimed.—In case of a disclaimer, the judgment is for plaintiff for all the land sued for as to which defendant disclaims. Snyder v. Compton (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 73.

Upon defendant's filing a disclaimer the court may render judgment for the land disclaimed. Bush v. Manghum, 14 C. A. 621, 37 S. W. 458.

Plaintiff held entitled to judgment for that portion of the land sued for included in defendant's disclaimer. Pouns v. Zachery, 46 C. A. 604, 103 S. W. 284.

Costs on disclaimer.—See notes under Art. 2035.

Withdrawal of disclaimer.—A disclaimer is not withdrawn by being omitted from a subsequent amended answer, for the consent of the court is essential to such withdrawal. Scanlan v. Hitchler, 19 C. A. 689, 48 S. W. 762.

When plaintiff proves part.—Where the defendant claims the whole premises, and the plaintiff shows himself entitled to recover part, the plaintiff shall recover such part and costs.

Recovery by plaintiff.—One having sued for the whole of a tract of land may nevertheless recover an undivided interest. Williams v. Davis, 56 T. 256.

When against several defendants the evidence discloses that none of them were in possession of a part of the premises sued for, and, all having answered, failed to disclaim as to any part of the land, and the plaintiff exhibits a perfect title, the judgment should be against all the defendants for all the land to which he establishes his right, and for the costs of suit. Koenigheim v. Miles, 67 T. 113, 2 S. W. 81.

A plaintiff is entitled to recover an undivided interest in a tract of land of which he claims the whole. Schmidt v. Talbert, 74 T. 451, 12 S. W. 284; Murrell v. Wright, 78 T. 819, 15 S. W. 156.

Where the petition was in the usual form, and the answer pleaded not guilty, and plaintiff proved her fee-simple title and right of possession of two-thirds of the land, judgment for plaintiff, without her showing right of possession to entire tract. Scales v. Marshall (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 336.

Under this article a plaintiff, in an action for the whole of a specified tract, who shows himself entitled to an undivided interest, can recover it. Holloway v. Hall (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 483.

Under this article and the following article, where plaintiffs claimed the whole tract, and defendants pleaded not guilty, on proof that the whole tract was held in common, and that defendants had a two-thirds interest in the tract, plaintiffs may recover the one-third interest proved by them and be put into possession with the defendants as tenants in common, and hence a judgment for defendants for all the land was erroneous. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

Costs.—Costs in general, see Title 37, Chapter 18.

When defendant does not disclaim, but contests plaintiff's right to any part of the land, the latter, on recovering judgment for a part, is entitled to costs. Galveston Land & Imp. Co. v. Perkins (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 256.

When plaintiff shows himself entitled to recover part of the premises, he shall recover such part and costs. Brown v. Humphrey, 43 C. A. 33, 95 S. W. 25.

Under Art. 2048 and this article, a defendant held not entitled to costs. Lumpkin v. Williams, 56 C. A. 160, 119 S. W. 917.

May recover a part, etc., when.—When there are two or more plaintiffs or defendants, any one or more of the plaintiffs may recover against one or more of the defendants the premises, or any part thereof, or any interest therein, or damages, according to the rights of the parties.

Recovery of part.—That an interventer may show title to an undivided interest in the land sued for does not affect the right of the plaintiff to recover, who shows title to the remaining interest, as against defendant, who is a mere trespasser. Roosevelt v. Davis, 49 T. 453.
in an action by tenants in common against another tenant in common who pleaded limitation, the plaintiff was entitled to a verdict of title, and the judgment for possession was reversed. Railroad Co. v. Prather, 75 T. 55, 12 S. W. 969.

in an action against joint trespassers, a judgment against each of the defendants severally is not to the prejudice of the defendants, and therefore is not reversible error. Lastovica v. Sulit (Civ. App.) 33 S. W. 909.

When plaintiffs join claiming in a common right, and it is established that one only is entitled to recover, such one can recover according to his rights as shown by the evidence either in whole or in part or against one or all of the defendants. Anderson v. Anderson, 95 T. 367, 67 S. W. 405.

In a suit by several to establish a cotenancy in land to which defendant acquired the legal title, the issue which he was employed by means under a contract for one-half of the recovery, failure of some of the plaintiffs to establish an interest did not affect the right of the successful plaintiffs to a joint one-half interest. Henny v. Trevino (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 458.

Single or separate judgment.—Where several defendants sear in their defense, presenting different defenses, there should be distinct judgments; and on appeal an appeal bond should be given for each judgment; otherwise the appeal will be dismissed. Chambers v. Fisk, 9 T. 261.

Where defendants sever, several judgments may be rendered, and a judgment in favor of one or more is not dependent upon the result of a motion for new trial made by the other defendants. Boone v. Hulsey, 71 T. 176, 9 S. W. 531. See Hamilton v. Prescott, 73 T. 665, 11 S. W. 648.

Art. 7755. [5272] The judgment, etc.—Upon the finding of the jury, or of the court where the case is tried by the court, in favor of the plaintiff for the whole or any part of the premises in controversy, the judgment shall be that the plaintiff recover of the defendant the title or possession, or both, as the case may be, of such premises, describing them, and where he recovers the possession, that he have his writ of possession.

Judgment in general.—See, also, notes under Art. 1994. Where generally joined is the title, and the plaintiff proves the better title to any part of the land claimed by him, he is entitled to judgment for that part. Scott v. Rhea, 5 T. 258.

The fact that there is verdict and judgment for only one of the plaintiffs below furnishes a ground for reversal. Biencourt v. Parker, 27 T. 558.

Where several tracts are sued for and are described in the petition by the date and name of the patentee and number of acres in each tract, a verdict for plaintiff, less two of the tracts, described by name of the grantee, is sufficiently certain to allow of a judgment thereon. Wood v. Welder, 42 T. 396.

A clause in a judgment removing cloud and quieting defendant's title to the premises sued for adds nothing to the force of the usual entry, that the plaintiff take nothing by his verdict, etc. French v. Olive, 67 T. 490, 5 S. W. 668; Railway Co. v. McGhee, 49 T. 481.

Plaintiff claimed title to an undivided one-third of a survey; and for possession of the entire tract in the event the defendant failed to show title to two-thirds of it. The verdict was for plaintiff "for one-third of the property in dispute." The judgment entry was for defendant's one-third of the entire tract. The verdict was rendered under a charge which instructed the jury to find "for plaintiff one-third of the land described in the petition." Held, that the entire property was in dispute, and there was no error in the judgment. Edwards v. Darwise, 59 T. 84, 6 S. W. 677. See Wright v. Dunn, 75 T. 298, 12 S. W. 330; Carley v. Parton, 25 T. 99, 12 S. W. 950; Snow v. Starr, 75 T. 411, 12 S. W. 673.

Where a plaintiff establishes title to an undivided interest in the land sued for, if the defendant is a naked trespasser the judgment should award possession to plaintiff. If defendant does not appear to be a trespasser, the judgment should admit plaintiff to possession to the extent of his interest. Murrell v. Wright, 78 T. 519, 13 S. W. 156.

A judgment for defendant should be that plaintiff take nothing and for costs against him. Warren v. Fredericks, 43 T. 380, 18 S. W. 700.

On a verdict for defendant, who had pleaded not guilty, for more land than was claimed by plaintiff, the judgment should be that plaintiff take nothing of defendant and that defendant recover costs. Musseman v. Strohl, 83 T. 475, 18 S. W. 857.

Where two owned an undivided title in the tract, and W. the other half, and L. successfully pleaded limitations as to west half, held, that plaintiff could recover from W. an undivided half interest in east half. Harris v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 858.

Where defendants had not set out the particular tract which they claimed by adverse possession, the court cannot carve the same from a larger tract. Simpson v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 1078.

When defendants hold jointly, and judgment was rendered against plaintiff on pleas of not guilty and the statute of limitations, defendants in default are entitled to same judgment as answering defendants. Greer v. Bringhurst, 23 C. A. 552, 56 S. W. 947.

Where one sues for an undivided interest of 155 acres out of a survey of 640, his recovery by verdict for one tract owned by persons other than the owners of the remainder. Chaney v. Saunders, 24 C. A. 379, 59 S. W. 836.

Expenses of securing prior judgment against outside parties, which judgment is pleaded by defendant in trespass to try title, held not a lien on plaintiff's recovery. Gordon v. Hall, 29 C. A. 340, 69 S. W. 219.
Judgment in an action to recover an undivided interest in land held to entitle plaintiff one in ten to a share of a specific part of the tract claimed by one defendant in severalty. Puckett v. McDanel, 96 T. 94, 70 S. W. 735.

Judgment decreeing that one-half of the recovery should inure to the benefit of plaintiff's attorneys held erroneous. White v. Simonton, 34 C. A. 464, 79 S. W. 621.

In an action to recover an entire tract of land, plaintiff may recover the whole or any part thereof, according to his proof of title. Zimpelman v. Power, 35 C. A. 265, 85 S. W. 89.

A defect in a judgment for defendants held not to arise from the fact that the pleas of limitation were joint while the pleas of improvements were several. Elcan v. Childress, 40 C. A. 193, 89 S. W. 84.

A judgment vesting title to all the land sued for in defendant held error. McDonald v. C. S. A. 215, 99 S. W. 392.

Plaintiff held not entitled to recover anything on account of a judgment establishing his right to an easement in the land. Founs v. Zachery, 46 C. A. 604, 103 S. W. 234.

Where defendant simply pleads not guilty, the appropriate judgment for defendant is that plaintiff is entitled to a further adjudication of title and right of possession would add nothing thereto. McKee v. West, 55 C. A. 460, 113 S. W. 1135.

The usual judgment that plaintiff take nothing by his suit construed. Hackbarth v. Gordon (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 591; Mcaffen v. Crafts, 129 S. W. 41; Drummond v. Lewis, 167 S. W. 266.

Where the petition is in the statutory form and the answer a plea of not guilty, equitable relief cannot be obtained by either party. Roth v. Schroeter (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 203.

A verdict and judgment held too indefinite. Louisiana & Texas Lumber Co. v. Swartz (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 195.

One held authorized to sue in one action for two or more tracts of land. Guilmartin v. Ford (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1145.

A plaintiff who recovered more land than his deed called for held not entitled to complain of the judgment. Fewell v. Kinsella (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 1174.

In trespass to try title, brought by children of a former marriage against minor children, held not to be a bar to a action by the plaintiff to recover an undivided interest in the land separately owned by the father, held that plaintiffs cannot complain of a judgment making their title subject to the conditions of such decree; it being subject to modification on their application. Simonton v. W. 192; Hackbarth v. Hackbarth v. 459. Uniform 209; Sale (Civ. App.) 648.

Plaintiff held not entitled to recover an entire tract of land, to which was not proven by defendants. Zarate v. Villareal (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 328.

Description of land.—Description of premises in judgment held sufficient. Adams v. Maurer (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 22.

A judgment for land held not to sufficiently describe it. Giddings v. Fischer, 97 T. 184, 77 S. W. 209; Downs v. Powell, 54 C. A. 119, 116 S. W. 873.

A judgment assessing the value of the improvements made by defendants, but failing to describe the specific portion of the land in controversy, held sufficient. Campbell v. McCaleb (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 129.

A judgment for defendant held to sufficiently describe the portion of the land to which he was entitled. Pratt v. Slade (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 648.

Partition.—In trespass to try title and partition, judgment establishing title cannot be entered merely to perpetuate evidence until the right to partition accrues. Brown v. Reed, 20 C. A. 74, 48 S. W. 537.

Partition of the land in suit cannot be decreed when the owner of an undivided interest is a party. Carnes v. Swift (Civ. App.) 56 S. W. 85.

A judgment assessing the value of the improvements made by defendants, but failing to describe the specific portion of the land in controversy, held sufficient. Campbell v. McCaleb (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 129.
Art. 7756. [5273] Damages, etc., when recovered.—Where it is alleged and proved that one of the parties is in possession of the premises, the court or jury, if they find for the adverse party, shall assess the damages for the use and occupation of the premises, and, if special injury to the property be alleged and proved, the damages for such injury shall also be assessed, and the proper judgment shall be entered thereon, on which execution may issue; but damages shall not be assessed under this article for use and occupation, or for injuries done over two years prior to the commencement of the suit. [Id. sec. 1.]

Defendant.—The real owner of land cannot recover damages against one who, claiming the land as owner, sold it to another who committed a trespass upon the land, unless it appeared that he acted in concert with his vendee in the illegal act, or that the injury was the natural and proximate result of some act done by him. McClanahan v. Stephens, 67 Tex. 312.

Charge held not to exclude consideration of claims for destruction of planks and posts on the land. Kent v. Berryman, 15 C. A. 487, 40 S. W. 33.

Charge held not to exclude consideration of claim for damages for allowing "grass" to grow upon the land. Id.

Defendant can recover damages for false representations of plaintiff as to water supply on the land in suit deeded to him by plaintiff. Herring v. Mason, 17 C. A. 559, 48 S. W. 799.

Where defendant set up rights under a contract, and plaintiff claimed damages for breach of such contract, equity would award plaintiff such damages, on vesting title in defendant, although they were barred by limitations. San Antonio & A. P. Ry. Co. v. Gurley (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 796.

Where defendant sets up rights under a contract for a sale of the land, plaintiff may recover damages for breach of the contract.

A payment of such damages will be required as a condition precedent to the vesting of title in defendant. Id.

Failure to answer by denial only establishes right to recover, but leaves question of damages open. Texas Land & Cattle Co. v. Nations (Civ. App.) 68 S. W. 915.

In trespass to try title by a vendor, the court held to properly allow the purchaser credit on unpaid notes for the value of timber cut and rent while the vendor was wrongfully in possession. Moore v. Brown, 46 C. A. 523, 103 S. W. 242.

Where plaintiff in open court withdrew its claim for damages from cutting ties on the land, judgment on that issue was unnecessary. Haynes v. Texas & N. O. R. Co., 51 C. A. 49, 111 S. W. 427.

Plaintiff, recovering part of the larger tract, and having it fairly set off by the court, must take it as it is, without right to damage for timber cut on the larger tract. Louisiana & Texas Lumber Co. v. Kennedy (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 989.

Plaintiff was entitled, as a matter of law, to interest upon the value of the timber unlawfully cut by defendant from the time it was taken. Callen v. Collins (Civ. App.) 154 S. W. 673.

In trespass to try title against an individual claiming the land under deed from a patentee and a lumber company which had cut and removed timber therefrom with his consent and permission, such consent and permission made the individual defendant a joint trespasser with the lumber company, and liable to plaintiff for damages. Kirby v. Conn (Civ. App.) 158 S. W. 232.

Effect of disclaimer.—See notes under Art. 7755.

Use and occupation.—If no answer be filed, the allegations of the petition are taken pro confesso by default, and nothing more is needed for the jury, under a writ of inquiry, to determine, from the evidence, the amount of the unliquidated damages for the mesne profits. There is no occasion, in such a case, for the plaintiff to adduce any proof of his title. Caldwell v. Fraim, 32 T. 310.

One of several tenants in common recovering land held by a trespassor, or by one without license from any of the owners, can recover rents pro rata against such occupant. Whitaker v. Alliday, 71 T. 623, 9 S. W. 483.

Where an action in the form of trespass to try title is in effect an equitable suit to rescind a sale of land whereof the buyer in the plaintiff in the title, the plaintiff is not entitled to recover rents beyond the time when he manifested a purpose to rescind or the time when defendant took possession. Cassin v. La Salle County, 1 C. A. 127, 21 S. W. 122.

Before one tenant can make his cotenant liable to him for the use of the common property, he must show that he has been refused joint occupancy. Bennett v. Land & Cattle Co., 1 C. A. 221, 21 S. W. 126.

A judgment for plaintiff entitles a recovery for the value of the use of the land from the time of filing the suit. Illig v. De la luz Garcia (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 857.

Damages for the use and occupation of the premises can be recovered only by showing the period during which defendant was in possession. Parsons v. Hart, 19 C. A. 300, 46 S. W. 856.

Value of use and occupation of land cannot be had, where no claim therefor is asserted in the petition. Poester v. Eoff, 19 C. A. 405.

Where defendant, in fencing land belonging to him, inclosed various tracts belonging to plaintiff, and used the entire inclosure for pastureage, defendant is liable for the reasonable rental value of plaintiff's land so used, though he never disputed plaintiff's title or right. Hastings v. O'Connor (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 587.

Defendant, in possession of land under a voidable deed from a county, purporting to convey the fee simple with covenants of warranty, held not liable for rent until the county repudiated the deed and demanded possession. Club Land & Cattle Co. v. Dallas County, 26 C. A. 449, 64 S. W. 872.

VERN.S.CIV.ST.—300 4785
Verdict in regard to amount of rent will be stricken out on appeal, in absence of evidence when defendant took possession of premises. Hart v. Meredith, 27 C. A. 271, 65 S. W. 507.

Tenants in common can recover such part only of the rents as is proportionate to their interest. Logan v. Robertson (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 295.

Plaintiff held entitled, on a finding in her favor, to recover reasonable value of rents and revenues arising from use of land in suit. Field v. Field, 39 C. A. 1, 87 S. W. 728.

The plaintiff having recovered judgment for title and possession, judgment also for value of rent, if defendant's possession was properly rendered. Byrson & Hartgrove v. Boyce (Civ. App.) 92 S. W. 823.

Defendants unlawfully withholding from plaintiff the possession of the latter's land held liable for the sum which plaintiff's lessee had agreed to pay for the use of the land. Blaisdell v. Hendy, 46 C. A. 134, 101 S. W. 355.

In trespass to try title by a vendor, the court held to properly allow the purchaser credit on unpaid notes for the value of timber cut and rent while the vendor was wrongfully in possession. Moore v. Brown, 46 C. A. 523, 108 S. W. 242.

For a judgment for the possessor of the premises against the defendant. Repealed and replaced by a decree determining title to half the lot with improvements to be in plaintiff, in so far as it was awarded title to half the property, he could not complain of that part awarding plaintiff one-half the rental value. Sarro v. Bell (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 24.

A successful plaintiff was properly denied recovery for rents, where no formal demand for possession was made or refused. Burns v. Parker (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 705.

Under this article and Art. 7750, plaintiff, who established a title against defendant, who had been in possession and occupation for less than a year, and who set up a claim for improvements, was entitled to recover the rental value of the property from the beginning of defendant's possession to the date of the trial. Smith v. Cook (Civ. App.) 142 S. W. 28.

Where plaintiff sued out a writ of sequestration, and defendant reprieved the property which it was found belonged to intervenor, plaintiff was not entitled to recover rents on the sequestration bond, either for himself or for intervenor's benefit. Deutschmann v. Ryan (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1146.

Art. 7757. [5274] Considered with claim for improvements, when. When the defendant or person in possession has claimed an allowance for improvements in accordance with the provisions of the succeeding chapter, the claim for use and occupation and damages mentioned in the preceding article shall be considered and acted on in connection with such claim by the defendant or person in possession.

Art. 7758. [5275] Final judgment conclusive.—Any final judgment rendered in any action for the recovery of real estate shall be conclusive as to the title or right of possession established in such action upon the party against whom it is recovered, and upon all persons claiming from, through or under such party, by title arising after the commencement of such action.

Res judicata.—An action prosecuted to judgment against the tenant of a nonresident landlord does not conclude the question of title against such owner, even if he had knowledge of the pendency of the suit. Such action would stop the running of the statute of limitations, or would be conclusive between the parties to the suit and those claiming under them by title made subsequent to the filing of the suit. Stout v. Taul, 114 S. W. 329.

A judgment in favor of defendant pleading not guilty is conclusive of title in his favor. Hoodless v. Winter, 80 T. 638, 16 S. W. 427.

Judgment in favor of one tenant in common for title does not affect the claims of the other tenants as against themselves. Such judgment without partition does not constitute the defendants joint tenants in the interest in the land not recovered. Gray v. Kauffman, 82 T. 65, 17 S. W. 513.

A judgment, repealing the calls in the patent settles nothing. Richardson v. Powell, 83 T. 588, 19 S. W. 292.

The questions of boundary and title may be adjudicated in an action of trespass to try title, but an adjudication of the question of boundary will not bar an action to determine the title. Freeman v. McNinch, 24 S. W. 327, 6 C. A. 65.

A judgment for or against two or more joint parties ordinarily determines nothing as to their respective rights and liabilities as against each other in their own subsequent controversy. Sandoval v. Rosser, 26 S. W. 933, 935, 86 T. 682.

A final judgment must determine all the issues. Reed v. Liston, 8 C. A. 118, 27 S. W. 913.

A judgment held a bar, though it does not fix the boundary, which was the main question in dispute. New York & T. Land Co. v. Votaw, 16 C. A. 585, 43 S. W. 139; Votaw v. New York & T. Land Co., Id.

A defense of res judicata is not defeated by the fact that the judgment pleaded is based on a verdict induced by an erroneous charge.

A decree does not affect the result of the suit when the grantee is not made a party either by amendment or intervention. Mealy v. Lipp, 31 T. 182, 42 S. W. 544.

A judgment recovered on a disclaimer held to estop defendant from setting up a title acquired prior thereto in a subsequent similar action for the same land. Eastwood v. Dunn, 19 C. A. 230, 47 S. W. 286.

A party in whose favor title and possession of land have been adjudged held not precluded thereby from afterwards instituting another action in trespass to try title. Zapeda v. Rahm, 19 C. A. 644, 48 S. W. 212.
Prior judgment held conclusive of the title as between the parties at the time it was rendered. Id. Where plaintiff files amended petition against defendants as to whom cause of action was severed after judgment in their favor, setting up after-acquired title, such judgment is not conclusive as to such question. Parker v. Stephens (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 578.

A judgment determining title held not conclusive on an issue of boundaries. Wood v. Cahill, 21 C. A. 38, 50 S. W. 1071.

Plea in reconvention setting up record of federal court in an action between plaintiff and defendant's predecessor in title, and showing that plaintiff is claiming the same land to which it was adjudged it then had no title, is good. New York & T. Land Co. v. Votaw (Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 125.

There is no error in the conclusion of law that defendant acquired title to the land as innocent purchaser of the federal court. A judgment that the property, as to title to the lands was raised in that case, and decided in favor of defendant's predecessor in title, and the land now in controversy is a part of the land then in issue. Id.

Though judgment against defendant is imperative as to defendant not served, it is valid as between defendant served and plaintiffs, and precludes latter from recovering land. Maury v. Keller (Civ. App.) 53 S. W. 59.

Judgment as to location of boundary held a bar to a subsequent suit involving the same question, though the action was in the form of trespass to try title. Birdseye v. Shaeffer (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 897.

Held, that a judgment in former action to try title to the same land determined the title. Carnes v. Carnes, 26 C. A. 610, 64 S. W. 577.

A contention that defendant was not stopped by the judgment in a former action on the ground that he was plaintiff's codefendant therein held without merit. Id.

When the title to the land itself is adjudicated, plaintiff is stopped by the judgment and whatever evidence of title was issued by the state to him or those claiming under him, under his homestead pre-emption claim, inures to benefit of him in whom title was vested in the suit. Id.

Judgment against tenants held not conclusive on landlord, who was not joined with them. Hart v. Meredith, 27 C. A. 271, 66 S. W. 507.

Continued possession of land adjudged to belong to another held not to affect the conclusiveness of the judgment, as far as title to the date of its rendition is concerned. Weisman v. Thomson (Civ. App.) 78 S. W. 728.

Judgment of foreclosure of tax lien was obtained against Snowball, and land sold by sheriff. A writ of certiorari to Moore. Snowball sued to recover the property, and in addition to usual allegations in trespass to try title, alleged that the judgment obtained in the tax suit was void because no citation had been served on defendant; also that the judgment and sale were void because they directed that the property be sold in bulk for the whole amount of taxes, although part of the taxes were due on homestead, and it could not be sold for taxes due on other property, and also that tax judgment and proceedings thereunder were a cloud on plaintiff's title. Defendant pleaded general denial, not guilty, and that there was no judgment or sale obtained, and prayed judgment for the property. Judgment for property was rendered in favor of defendant. Plaintiff brought second suit to set aside sheriff's sale on account of irregularities which conduced to sacrifice the property for grossly inadequate price, the petition expressly affirming the title both legal and equitable to be in Moore, but seeking as a matter of affirmative equitable relief to regain title on account of the equity mentioned as would be done by reconveyance in equity. Defendant among other pleas, pleaded res adjudicata. Majority of supreme court hold that the plea of res judicata cannot be sustained. In a very lengthy opinion Judge Brown dissents. Moore v. Snowball, 98 P. 15, 81 S. W. 7, 66 L. R. A. 745, 107 Am. St. Rep. 556.

A judgment in a former action of trespass to try title held a judgment of dismissal only, which was not a bar to a subsequent action for the same cause. Logan v. Stephens County (Civ. App.) 81 S. W. 109.

The fact that the land was the community homestead of the defendants and their wives was no defense, judgment against the husbands bound the wives' interest in the community property, though they were not parties to the suit. Brown v. Humphrey, 15 C. A. 22, 96 S. W. 23.

A judgment against a husband held conclusive on the wife, where the fact that the property was occupied as their community homestead was no defense. Breath v. Flowers, 42 C. A. 516, 99 S. W. 28.

A compromise judgment by which a third person was to convey defendants' title to lands to plaintiffs held to estop defendants from a subsequent assertion of title. Townsend v. Scourie, 44 C. A. 141, 99 S. W. 133.

A judgment in favor of the owner of the fee, and against a trespasser in possession, held not to affect the right of the municipality to the use of the property as a street. Cocke v. Texas & N. R. Co., 46 C. A. 383, 103 S. W. 407.

This article restricts the conclusive effect of a judgment to the parties in legal effect before the court; and the judgment against a defendant is not conclusive on his prior grantee not made a party to the suit, and not taking part therein. Elliott v. Morris, 49 C. A. 527, 121 S. W. 299.

This article held, that a judgment in an action against a tenant in possession is not conclusive against the landlord as to the title. Lamar County v. Talley (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 272.

A general judgment for defendant held res judicata in a subsequent action between the parties to the same land, these involving the same issue did not fix the boundary. Provident Nat. Bank v. Webb (Civ. App.) 128 S. W. 428.

The rule that, where the petition is in the statutory form and the answer a plea of not guilty, equitable relief cannot be obtained, does not apply where the right of recovery is on an incontestable title. Both v. Schroeter (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 682.

Counsel for a county argued that the case involving one tract of land should be continued to await the decision in a suit involving another tract, and the county was defeated in the last-mentioned suit and thereafter the other suit was dismissed in conformity with another agreement. Held, that the judgment determining the rights of the parties to the last-named tract was not conclusive on the right of the county to the first tract. Talley v. Lamar County, 104 T. 295, 137 S. W. 1125.
A judgment for plaintiff held not res judicata of a subsequent action against plaintiff by the former defendant as a creditor to plaintiff's husband, attacking his deed to plaintiff as in fraud of creditors. Lane v. Kiehn (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 983.

A judgment held to merely deny a recovery to plaintiff, without vesting any title
The judgment that plaintiffs take nothing, and that defendant recover of and from them the land in controversy, and that a certain road is the boundary between the parties, is a final one, though the parties agreed that the only question involved was as to the dividing line between their properties, thus eliminating, and depriving the court

Art. 7759. [5276] Former laws shall govern, when.—Nothing under this title shall be so construed as to alter, impair or take away the rights of parties, as arising under the laws in force before the introduction of the common law, but the same shall be decided by the principles of the law, or laws, under which the same accrued, or by which the same were regulated or in any manner affected. [Id. sec. 6. P.

Old law governing.—Except as to the course of practice or procedure, the provisions of the old law are to govern in such a suit. The parties may, in its prosecution or defense, plead and prove the same matters that they could have urged had the cause been tried under the former law. Steed v. Petty, 65 T. 499.

CLAIM FOR IMPROVEMENTS

Art. 7760. Suggestion of improvements in good faith. —

Art. 7765. On failure of plaintiff, defendant may pay, etc., and keep premises.

7761. Issue as to,

7766. Defendant failing to pay, etc., within six months, writ to issue.

7762. Rents and profits to be offset against.

7763. Judgment for excess, etc.

7764. Writ of possession not to issue for a year, unless, etc.

in general, at end of chapter.]

Article 7760. [5277] Suggestion of improvements in good faith.—
The defendant in any action of trespass to try title may allege in his pleadings that he and those under whom he claims have had adverse possessions in good faith of the premises in controversy for at least one year next before the commencement of such suit, and that he and those under whom he claims have made permanent and valuable improvements on the lands sued for during the time they have had such possession, stating the improvements and their value respectively, and stating also the grounds of such claim. [Act Feb. 5, 1840, P. D. 5300.]

Rights of parties as to improvements in general.—The statute which secures to possessors of real property in good faith reimbursement from the true owner for permanent and valuable improvements made on the property by the former is consistent with equity and the civil law, and not inconsistent with the constitution.
Saunders v. Wilson, 19 T. 194; Scott v. Mather, 14 T. 235.

In suits for the recovery of sales of land the parties should set up their respective equities, for rents and profits on the one hand, and for the value of improvements, interest of purchase money, if paid, etc., on the other. Where the purchase money has been paid, and no fraud or injustice has been committed by either party, and the vendor is unable to make the title, the rule is to restore the land to the vendor without profits, and the purchase money to the vendee without interest. But if in such case the vendee had made valuable improvements, there should be an allowance for the value of such improvements. Where a rescission is sought, the right to the value of improvements and the measure of its allowance depend upon principles of equity, and not on the provisions of the statute regulating the action of trespass to try titles: and in such cases the purchaser should be allowed payment for all substantial Im-

Under this article a plaintiff who recovers judgment against a defendant in possession of land made valuable improvements reasonable in itself, under which he may obtain the possession after doing equity. Equity requires that he shall first pay the excess of value of the improvements over the rents, and the law in requiring this does not delay the plaintiff in his remedy; but the courts will not by construction extend the operation of the statutes in favor of a possessor in good faith beyond this. Van Valkenburgh v. Ruby, 68 T. 139, 3 S. W. 746.

The right of a vendee to recover for improvements in an action by the vendor to rescind an executory contract for its sale is determined by general equitable rules. Patrick v. Jeffers, 56 T. 339; Dechert v. Deutscher Verein, 72 T. 339, 12 S. W. 205.

It is error to make payment of one-half the value of improvements a condition precedent to plaintiff's right to partition. Spicer v. Henderson (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 27. Where improvements have acquired the interest of plaintiff's tenant in common held entitled to his improvements so far as they can be allotted without injury to plaintiff. Mahon v. Barnett (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 24.

Where no charge was requested as to a separate finding as to improvements on each of the tracts in one inclusion, it was insufficient. Cahill v. Benson, 19 C. A. 30, 46 S. W. 888.

A charge that one should not be allowed for improvements to land never in his possession is properly refused where he never made any such improvements. Id.

One has an equitable right independent to that of the statute to recover the value of improvements placed on another's land in good faith. Wood v. Cahill, 21 C. A. 38, 50 S. W. 1071.

The court held to have jurisdiction to adjust an indubitably between the parties, growing out of a house built on the land, although the amount was not within its jurisdiction. Kay v. Hathaway, 21 C. A. 486, 51 S. W. 663.

A contention that a holding contrary to the theory of a gift to defendant would operate as a fraud, because of improvements made, held untenable. Meurin v. Kopplin (Civ. App.) 100 S. W. 954.

Neither the owner of land nor his purchaser held liable to one who made improvements thereon. Overton v. Meggs (Civ. App.) 106 S. W. 256.

A defendant cannot claim his improvements for two buildings as improvements in good faith, when the evidence only shows the aggregate value of four buildings. Veeder v. Gilmer, 47 C. A. 464, 105 S. W. 331.

The purchaser of a lot held not entitled to claim compensation as for improvements made thereon in good faith. Werkheler v. Foard (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 883.

Statutory provisions concerning compensation for improvements held not to apply to contest between city and county involving jail building. City of Victoria v. Victoria County, 103 T. 477, 129 S. W. 503.

It may be proper not to allow a party the value of certain improvements. Sutherland v. Kirkland (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 851.

Possession and good faith as grounds for compensation.—A mistake of boundary, where the defendant has failed to employ the legal means (a survey by the surveyor) to ascertain the boundaries of his land, cannot constitute the foundation for a possession in good faith, under the statute. Sartain v. Hamilton, 12 T. 219, 62 Am. Dec. 524.

A purchase at administrator's sale, where it proves to be invalid, may constitute the basis for a claim for valuable improvements made in good faith. Burdett v. Sillsbee, 15 T. 604.

If the true owner stands by and suffers improvements to be made on his land, without raising his title to the improvements, Saundere v. Wilson, 19 T. 202.

A claim for improvements made in good faith will not be maintained if made not as a true possessor but as a vendee whose purchase is based solely upon a good faith trust in the land. Cole v. Brown, 56 S. W. 683; House v. Stone, 84 T. 678; Johnson v. Schumacher, 72 T. 324, 13 S. W. 297.

A defendant who makes improvements on the premises after suit brought has no right to claim that he acted in good faith. This is so, though he may have sequestered and reprieved the premises; and no tenant of his having notice of the suit has any greater rights than himself. Henderson v. Ownby, 56 T. 647, 42 Am. Rep. 831.

The claim of a defendant in possession under a void judicial sale, for the value of necessary and beneficial repairs made by him on improved real estate, and which have enhanced the value of the property, is bad upon a higher equity than if the improvements were merely ornamental or new. See statement and opinion for a case in which such a claim was allowed. French v. Grenet, 57 T. 273.

A purchaser at a sale, made under a decree of court which had no jurisdiction, may still be a purchaser in good faith, and be entitled under the statute to compensation for improvements made on land purchased before eviction. Id.

It would seem that when the defect in a title exists in the power under which it is executed and is such as the true owner could waive by parol or his acts done in pais, any act or conduct of his which would lead the purchaser to believe that the defect was waived, or that the true owner had acquiesced in his possession and improvement of the property, would constitute the purchaser a possessor in good faith. Cole v. Bammel, 62 T. 109.

See opinion for evidence held sufficient to sustain the presumption of law that there was a lack of good faith on the part of a claimant for the value of improvements. House v. Stone, 64 T. 678.

It is a question of fact to be determined whether the claimant did in good faith believe his own to be the true and superior title. The application of the maxim that "every man is held to know the law" is not as to this class of cases recognized, but expressly disallowed by our courts. House v. Stone, 67 T. 579; Sartain v. Hamilton, 12 T. 220, 62 Am. Dec. 524; Hill v. Spear, 48 T. 583; Dorn v. Dunham, 24 T. 359; Hutchins v. Bacon, 46 T. 499; Thompson v. Comstock, 59 T. 318; Sellman v. Lave, 55 T. 919.

Tax titles when in every respect complete may constitute perfect assurance of title; they may constitute the basis of good title under the statute of limitations; and under certain circumstances they are to be deemed colorable titles. Though invalid, a tax title is not necessarily void; if the owner had reasonable grounds for believing that his title was good. House v. Stone, 64 T. 678.

The existence of good faith is established by evidence tending to show that the improvements were made by one believing himself to be the owner of the land, with grounds for such belief as would ordinarily be satisfactory to one unlearned in the law, but of ordinary intelligence, after proper inquiry. Van Valkenburg v. Ruby, 68 T. 438, 3 S. W. 746; Holstein v. Adams, 72 T. 485, 10 S. W. 560; Louder v. Schulte, 78 T. 198, 14 S. W. 205, 207.

To constitute one a possessor in good faith he must not only believe that he is the true owner and have reasonable grounds for that belief, but he must be ignorant that his title is contested by one having or claiming a better right, unless he has strong grounds to believe that the adverse claim is destitute of legal foundation. Parrish v. Jackson, 69 T. 614, 7 S. W. 458; Pilcher v. Kirk, 60 T. 163; Sartain v. Hamilton, 12 T. 219, 62 Am. Dec. 624; Houston v. Snead, 15 T. 307; Dorn v. Dunham, 24 T. 366; Hutchins v. Bacon, 46 T. 458; House v. Stone, 64 T. 78; Gaither v. Harrick, 69 T. 92, 6 S. W. 619.

Where the plaintiff and defendant claim the land in controversy from the same grantor, and the junior claimant holds the title, the senior claim being invalid, the junior and better title has all the rights of the common source, and the claimant under the imperfect title cannot tack his possession to the common grantor so as to make out a claim for improvements as a good-faith possessor for twelve months. Whittaker v. Alladay, 71 T. 623, 9 S. W. 485.

An imperfect deed may be a sufficient basis for the claim for valuable improvements made by a good-faith possessor under such deed. Coker v. Roberts, 71 T. 598, 9 S. W. 656.

One cannot be an innocent purchaser under a void sale; e. g., under a probate sale of property over which the court had no jurisdiction. Henderson v. Lindley, 76 T. 185, 12 S. W. 379.

Possession under void deeds held not to entitle the defeated party to payment for improvements. Crumbley v. Busse, 11 C. A. 319, 32 S. W. 488; Simpson v. Johnson (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 1076.

Where defendants used ordinary care, and believed there were no adverse claims, held they were entitled to remuneration for improvements. McCown v. Terrell (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 54.

Where defendant is in possession under a contract of sale, and is insolvent and unable to fulfill it, he cannot recover for improvements made. First Nat. Bank v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 483.

Evidence held insufficient to show a purchase in good faith entitling defendant to the value of improvements. Settegast v. O'Donnell, 16 C. A. 6, 41 S. W. 64.

Evidence held insufficient to sustain defendant's plea of improvements in good faith. Gilley v. Williams (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 1094.

Defendants cannot recover for improvements, where they entered under a contract providing for a deed to land. In consideration of the improvements they might place upon it. Hintze v. Krabbenschmidt (Civ. App.) 44 S. W. 38.

Improvements on the land of another not made in good faith, or while in possession, cannot be allowed. Ferguson v. Cochran (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 39.

Defendant is not entitled to recovery of damages for improvements made in bad faith. Simpson v. Johnson, 92 T. 159, 46 S. W. 628.

On an issue of good faith in making improvements, a charge that the law does not protect one taking his chances on defeating an adverse claim, and that one is bound to use diligence in investigating his title, held properly refused. Cahill v. Benson, 19 C. A. 30, 46 S. W. 888.

Facts held sufficient to take the question of good faith in making improvements to the jury.

Where defendant shows improvements made in good faith, he is entitled to judgment for their value. Boyd v. Miller, 22 C. A. 165, 54 S. W. 411.

In trespass to try title between vendor and purchaser, involving a dispute as to land conveyed where the latter erected improvements against vendor's protest, held, that the decision in the latter's favor as to the title was conclusive against the purchaser's plea of good faith in making the improvements. Bell v. Wright, 94 T. 407, 60 S. W. 587.

Where defendant admits on the trial that a portion of the improvements were made after adverse parties were told by the defendant that they owned the land, a finding that the improvements were not made in good faith is justified. Wilcoxen v. Howard, 26 C. A. 281, 62 S. W. 802.

This statute does not restrict recovery to one who claims title by purchase but it protects any person who takes and holds possession after inquiry into the good faith believing the property to be his. Rowan v. Rainey, 35 C. A. 593, 65 S. W. 1032.

Where one who purchases land in good faith, believing he acquires good title, is ejectcd therefrom, he is entitled to compensation for improvements made thereon. Stevenson v. Henry, 64 C. A. 577, 94 S. W. 299.

Defendant held entitled to a personal judgment against plaintiff for the value of improvements. Morris v. Wells, 27 C. A. 363, 66 S. W. 248.

Valuable improvements, made on land, after death of the owner, in reliance on a promise made by the owner that after death the land was to belong to the party making the offer.

the improvement, held insufficient to perfect title in claimant. Newcomb v. Cox, 27 C. A. 583, 66 S. W. 238.

Invalid power of attorney of married woman to sell her separate real property, and deed from the attorney in fact, held admissible as basis for claim for improvements made in good faith by the grantees. Nolan v. Moore (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 785.

Undoubtedly he had no notice that he was not entitled to allowance as for improvements in good faith. Texas & N. O. R. Co. of 1874 v. Barber, 31 C. A. 84, 71 S. W. 393.

One who acquires land with the hope that he may perfect title by the statute of limitations does not act in such good faith as to entitle him to reimbursement for improvements made by him. Staley v. Stone, 41 C. A. 299, 92 S. W. 1617.

The trustee in a resulting trust arising from the fact that he employed the funds of another to take title in his own name is not entitled to the value of improvements. Pearce v. Dyess, 45 C. A. 406, 101 S. W. 549.

Railroad company, acquiring railroad property held by a married woman and issuing stock to her for her interest, but never receiving a legal transfer, held not entitled to recover for improvements. Texas Southern Ry. Co. v. Harle (Civ. App.) 101 S. W. 873.

To recover for improvements one must have been in adverse possession of the land on which are the improvements for at least one year before suit and the improvements must have been made in good faith. Overton v. Meggs (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 210.

The mere fact that a deed is invalid for want of proper acknowledgment does not preclude the vendee from being a possessor in good faith. Veede v. Gilmer, 47 C. A. 464, 105 S. W. 331.

To constitute possession in good faith one must not only believe that he is the true owner and hold for that belief, but he must be ignorant that his title is contested (where such is the case) by one claiming a better right, unless he has strong grounds for believing that the adverse claim is destitute of legal foundation, and he must allege facts which justify his belief in the validity of the title under which he claims. Kauffman v. Fleischmann, 61 C. A. 493, 112 S. W. 704.

A receipt given a purchaser of land held a sufficient writing to warrant his belief he had secured the land bargained for as regards the right to allowance for improvements. Nolan v. Neims (Civ. App.) 113 S. W. 1902.

One making improvements on adjoining land under mistake of a surveyor held entitled to allowance for improvements. Id. Defendant held a purchaser in good faith, as regards the right to allowance for improvements. Id.

Improvements made on land by a life tenant are presumed to be a gratuity to the remainderman, precluding the tenant from recovering thereon on partition of interests. Burns v. Parker (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 708.

Under Act Aug. 30, 1925 (Laws 1926, c. 158), providing that no limitations shall run in favor of one settling on lands granted for purposes of education, and Const. art. 7, § 6, as amended in 1933, providing that no adverse possession shall be available against the title to county school lands, and this article and Art. 7154, the court in trespass to try title by a county for school lands may not on granting judgment for the county provide for the payment to defendant for improvements made in good faith, because, to establish a claim for improvements, the questions of adverse possession and of limitations are involved. Talley v. Lamar County, 104 T. 296, 137 S. W. 1125.

Where remaindermen represented to a wife that her husband owned the land, when in fact he owned only a life estate, and thereby induced her to make permanent improvements thereon, she has a cause of action against the remaindermen for the funds invested. Holton v. McCluskey (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 958.

If the possessor of land believed in good faith that he had good title, he may recover the value of permanent and valuable improvements made thereon in good faith, even though he had no title. West Lumber Co. v. Cheesher (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 976.

Claim is made on the ground that the vendor had a reasonably valid title or color of title, in order to recover for permanent improvements made thereon in good faith, in trespass to try title against them. Id.

Evidence held not to show that defendant, defeated in the action, placed improvements on land in good faith, and he was not entitled to recover for improvements. Carlock v. Willard (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 363.

Where a grantee obtained a conveyance by fraud, and entered into possession and made improvements while wrongfully in possession, he could not recover the value of the improvements on the setting aside of the deed. Chambers v. Wyatt (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 864.

Where an agent believed he had authority to sell real estate, contracted to sell to a purchaser who believed that the agent had authority, and the purchaser was placed in possession with grounds justified the transaction, the purchaser was a bona fide purchaser within the law governing the recovery for improvements. Palm v. Neims (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 281.

It cannot be held as a matter of law that improvements made by a purchaser were not made in good faith because he held under a void tax title. Neitzger v. Geren, 26 C. A. 119, 66 S. W. 798.

As against one claiming under a tax deed not void on its face, the latter is entitled to have the issue of his right to compensation for improvements determined under his plea of good faith. Lamberida v. Barnum (Civ. App.) 90 S. W. 698.
Proceedings for recovery of compensation.—Where a defendant in an action to try title or improve land, suggests valuable improvements in his pleadings, he cannot be permitted to prove them on the trial. Rogers v. Bracken, 15 T. 564.

To enable defendant to recover compensation for improvements made in good faith, it is necessary that he should aver that he entered under claim of title. Powell v. Davis, 19 T. 282; Bagdale v. Gohlke, 26 T. 266.

A party claiming the value of improvements must set up, as he would any other fact, his claim, and prove, beyond the shadow of a doubt, all the essential ingredients thereof. Where defendant made a general informal suggestion to the court, that he has made permanent and valuable improvements, and was a possessor in good faith, which was sufficient under a former statute, will not comply with the law. Thompson v. Comstock, 59 T. 318.

The verdict of the jury should conform to the requirements of this article. Roche v. Lovell, 74 T. 131, 11 S. W. 1079.

A defendant claiming compensation for improvements must show that he has improved the particular tract of land in controversy, and how much the value of the land has been enhanced by his improvements. Herndon v. Reed, 25 T. 647, 18 S. W. 668.

An answer alleging adverse possession without stating the grounds therefor is not sufficient on exception. Rigs v. Nafe (Civ. App.) 39 S. W. 706.

It seems that defendants having a distinct and separate claim to a portion of the land and improvements should plead separately. Benson v. Cahill (Civ. App.) 37 S. W. 1088.

Error in submitting to the jury the right to recover for improvements of one who had parted with his interest was harmless, where he recovered nothing. Cahill v. Benson, 19 C. A. 30, 46 S. W. 888.

In an action to recover an entire tract, there being no prayer for improvements, and the recovery being only of an undivided interest, held, that there can be no adjudication as to improvements without regard to good faith. Keesterson v. Bailey, 35 C. A. 235, 50 S. W. 97.

Under the statute, a general allegation of good faith of a defendant is insufficient, but he must set forth specifically the grounds of his good faith claim. Campbell v. McCarley (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 129.

Pleadings held to authorize allowance for improvements made by one of the tenants. Mateer v. Jones (Civ. App.) 102 S. W. 734.

A plea suggesting improvements in good faith held sufficient, as against the objection that it was not alleged that defendant had ever examined the title or knew what it was. Haney v. Gartin, 51 C. A. 577, 113 S. W. 166.

If defendant was equitably entitled to an allowance for improvements and the rents growing out of the same, he should have made claim therefor in his pleading, and cannot now raise the issue where he failed to do so. Sarro v. Bell (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 24.

To entitle a bona fide purchaser to recover the value of improvements placed on the land under the belief that he had good title, the evidence must show the value of such improvements. Durham v. Luco (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 850.

When defendant specifically alleged the various improvements for which they sought to recover and the value of each, the amount recovered for improvements is limited to the aggregate of the special items alleged, and they cannot recover more under a general allegation as to the amount of improvements. West Lumber Co. v. Cheashe (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 976.

Defendants held not entitled to reimbursement for moneys expended by them where they had not set up a claim thereto in their answers. Home Inv. Co. v. Strange (Civ. App.) 152 S. W. 610.

In trespass to try title begun April 7, 1904, a finding that the possession of defendant claiming compensation for improvements began about January 1, 1903, was sufficiently definite to fix the time within the statute. Pain v. Nelms (Civ. App.) 158 S. W. 281.

Burden of proof and admissibility of evidence.—See notes under Art. 3687, Rule 5, § 31, and Rule 12, § 170.

Effect of plea as to defense of outstanding title.—See notes under Art. 7740.

Art. 7761. [5278] Issue as to.—Where the defendant has filed his claim for an allowance for improvements in accordance with the preceding article, if the court or jury find that he is not the rightful owner of the premises sued for, but that he and those under whom he claims have made permanent and valuable improvements thereon, being possessors thereof in good faith, the court or jury shall at the same time estimate from the testimony—

1. The value at the time of trial of such improvements as were so made before the filing of the suit not exceeding the amount to which the value of the premises is actually increased thereby.

2. The value of the use and occupation of the premises during the time the defendant was in possession thereof (exclusive of the improvements thereon made by himself or those under whom he claims), and also, if authorized by the pleadings, the damages for waste or other injury to the premises committed by him, not computing such annual value for a longer time than two years before suit, nor damages for waste or injury done before said two years.
3. The value of the premises recovered without the improvements made as aforesaid. [Id.]

See Adoue & Lobit v. Town of La Porte (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 134.

Constitutionality of statute.—The provision of law providing for compensation for improvements made in good faith does not impair the obligation of contracts and is constitutional. Clay v. Ingraham, 19 C. A. 50, 46 S. W. 888.

Application of statute.—The statute is applicable only to such improvements as, when made, constitute a part of the realty, and has no application when the improvements are personal property. Harkey v. Cain, 69 T. 146, 6 S. W. 637.

A claim for the value of improvements in good faith will open the question of the rental value of the premises recovered. Ammons v. Dwyer, 78 T. 639, 15 S. W. 1049.

In an action, in the form of trespass to try title, which is in effect an equitable suit to recoup a sale of land, the weight of the evidence in plaintiff to make out the title of equity, and not the provisions of the statute regulating the action of trespass to try title, should control as to the value of improvements made by defendant under the contract and the measure of its allowance to him. Cassin v. La Salle County, 1 C. A. 127, 21 S. W. 122.

The provisions of this article furnish the rule for adjusting the equities between persons having a joint interest in land. Robert v. Exell, 1 1 C. A. 176, 32 S. W. 362.

Disallowance of plaintiff's claim for rents pursuant to this article held proper. Morris v. Wells, 27 C. A. 363, 66 S. W. 246.

A parcel gift of homestead is void. Pay for improvements cannot be enforced where premises are recovered on ground that they were homesteaded and were not conveyed in accordance with the statute. Id.

Evidence.—Where the court rendered judgment in favor of plaintiff for the land, and gave the defendant judgment for $1,633 for improvements, and there was evidence that improvements to the value of $1,783.65 were placed on the land, it was some evidence at least that the value of the land was actually enhanced to the amount of the judgment as required by this article. Haney v. Gartlin, 51 C. A. 577, 113 S. W. 169.

See Art. 7762.

Verdict.—When the verdict rendered in a cause in which there is a claim for improvements, made in good faith, is not responsive to the issues required to be passed on in this article, the judgment must be reversed. Collins v. Kay, 69 T. 365, 6 S. W. 333.

A general verdict for the plaintiff, when there is a claim for improvements, is in effect a finding against the claim. Brookson v. McDougal, 70 T. 64, 7 S. W. 591.

Art. 7762. [5279] Rents and profits to be offset against.—If the sum estimated for the improvements exceeds the damages estimated against the defendant and the value of the use and occupation as aforesaid, there shall then be estimated against him, if authorized by the testimony, the value of the use and occupation and the damages for injury done by him or those under whom he claims, for any time before the said two years, so far as may be necessary to balance the claim for improvements, but no further; and he shall not be liable for the excess, if any, beyond the value of the improvements.

See, also, authorities cited under Art. 7761.

See Adoue & Lobit v. Town of La Porte (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 134.

Set-off against value of use and occupation and damages.—Purchaser occupying land under deed and entitled to pay for improvements made, less the rent of the land. Van Zandt v. Brantley, 16 C. A. 420, 45 S. W. 617.

Where the rental value is due to improvements made by defendant, he should not be required, on decree for partition, to account for the same. Spicer v. Henderson (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 37.

Where improvements were not made in good faith, plaintiff should be allowed rental value of land as improved. Gilley v. Williams (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 1094.

Improvements being claimed, value of use and occupation should be estimated without reference thereto. Mahon v. Barnett (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 24.

Rent cannot be offset as against improvements made in good faith if the lands have no rental value apart from the improvements. Cahill v. Benson, 19 C. A. 30, 46 S. W. 888.

If a person intervenes in attachment, although he may be entitled to the land that has been levied on, yet he cannot recover the rental value for period claimed which is more than two years. Caldwell v. Bryan's Ex'r, 20 C. A. 168, 49 S. W. 240.

A person possessing land in good faith and making valuable improvements thereon, though not having a valid title thereto, held liable for the rental value of the property, exclusive of the improvements made by him, from the time of possession to the ouster, deducted from the value of the improvements. Black v. Garner (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 918.

From the evidence, held, that it would be inferred that the jury, which returned a verdict merely for plaintiff for the land, set off the rents and damages against the improvements. O'Mahoney v. Flanagan, 34 C. A. 244, 78 S. W. 245.

The value of the use and occupancy of the premises and the damage done thereto were properly offset against the improvements. Ingram v. Winters, 46 C. A. 392, 102 S. W. 453.

Where the claim for improvements is greater than that for the use and occupation during the period of time indicated in this article and Art. 7761, subd. 2, value of the use and occupation for a longer period may be considered for the purpose of balancing the claim. Reder v. Eisdon, 56 C. A. 369, 120 S. W. 851.

Plaintiff's held entitled to pay what may be found due on a debt secured by a deed of trust to defendant and charge defendant with the rent while in possession and credit him with the value of permanent improvements. Openshaw v. Dean (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 989.

Where defendant in good faith, believing he had title to certain oil land, produced 4703.
Art. 7763  TRESPASS TO TRY TITLE

[Title 128]

$29,583.85 worth of oil therefrom by an expenditure of $11,000, he was entitled to reimbursement for his expenditures out of the proceeds of the oil produced. Gilmore v. O'Neil (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 1162.

Art. 7763. [5280] Judgment for excess, etc.—If it shall appear from the finding of the court or jury, under the two preceding articles, that the estimated value of the use and occupation and damages exceed the estimated value of the improvements, judgment shall be entered for the plaintiff for the excess and costs in addition to a judgment for the premises; but, should the estimated value of the improvements exceed the estimated value of the use and occupation and damages, judgment shall be entered for the defendant for the excess.

Art. 7764. [5281] Writ of possession not to issue, unless, etc.—In any action of trespass to try title, when the lands or tenements have been adjudged to the plaintiff, and the estimated value of the improvements in excess of the value of the use and occupation and damages has been adjudged to the defendant, no writ of possession shall be issued for the term of one year after the date of the judgment, unless the plaintiff shall pay to the clerk of the court for the defendant the amount of such judgment in favor of the defendant, with the interest thereon. [Act Feb. 5, 1840, sec. 9. P. D. 5301.]

See, also, notes under Art. 7760.
See Lamar County v. Talley (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 272.

Payment of excess.—Under Art. 7760 a plaintiff who recovers judgment against a defendant in possession in good faith who has made valuable improvements is afforded a remedy reasonable in itself under which he may obtain the possession after doing equity. Equity requires that he shall first pay the excess of value of the improvements over the rents, and the law in requiring this does not delay the plaintiff in his remedy, but the courts will not by construction extend the operation of the statutes in favor of a possessor in good faith beyond this. Van Valkenburgh v. Ruby, 68 T. 139, 3 S. W. 746.

Damages.—When the verdict is in favor of the plaintiff no damages can be awarded for wrongfully suing out the writ of sequestration, even in favor of a defendant in possession who is found to have made improvements on the property in good faith. Van Valkenburgh v. Ruby, 68 T. 139, 3 S. W. 746.

Enforcement of judgment.—Under this and the three following articles, held that a judgment in favor of defendants for improvements cannot be enforced by the issuance of execution, but can only be enforced in the statutory manner, whether the suit be brought under the statute or by equitable proceedings to recover the value of the improvements. West Lumber Co. v. Chesher (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 977.

Art. 7765. [5282] On failure of plaintiff, defendant may pay, etc., and keep premises.—If the plaintiff shall neglect for the term of one year to pay over the amount of said judgment in favor of the defendant, with the interest thereon, as directed in the preceding article, and the defendant shall, within six months after the expiration of said year, pay to the clerk of the court for the plaintiff the value of the lands or tenements without regard to the improvements, as estimated by the court or jury, then the plaintiff shall be forever barred of his writ of possession, and from ever having or maintaining any action whatever against the defendant, his heirs or assigns, for the lands or tenements recovered by such suit.

See notes under Art. 7764.
See Lamar County v. Talley (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 272.

Art. 7766. [5283] Defendant failing to pay, etc., within six months, writ may issue, etc.—If the defendant, or his legal representatives, shall not, within six months aforesaid, pay over to the clerk for the plaintiff the estimated value of the lands or tenements, as directed in the preceding article, then the plaintiff may sue out his writ of possession as in ordinary cases.

See notes under Art. 7764.

Art. 7767. [5284] Judgment.—The judgment or decree of the court shall recite the estimated value of the premises without the improvements, and shall also include the conditions, stipulations and directions contained in the three preceding articles, so far as they may be applicable to the case before the court.

See notes under Art. 7764.
Art. 7768. [5285] Duty of clerk on receiving payment, etc.—Whenever payment shall be made to the clerk of the court by the plaintiff or defendant, as provided in the preceding articles, it shall be the duty of such clerk to enter a memorandum of such payment, with the date thereof, on the page of the record on which the judgment was entered; and he shall, on demand, pay over the money to the party entitled, taking his receipt therefor, dated and signed on the page of the record aforesaid.

DECISIONS RELATING TO SUBJECT IN GENERAL

Conditions precedent to action or recovery in general.—Where plaintiff claimed as heir of one who had executed deed of trust, and neither the trustee, mortgagee, nor those claiming under void sales by the trustee were in possession, payment of the mortgage held not a condition to recovery. Harris v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 368.

Where defendant is a lien holder in possession, plaintiff can not dispossess him without discharging the lien. Carleton et al. v. Hausler et al., 20 C. A. 275, 49 S. W. 118.

Where a trust deed does not authorize the mortgagee to take possession of the property, but he takes possession without the consent of the mortgagor, the possession is wrongful, and the mortgagor or his successors in interest may recover the possession without a prior payment of the mortgage debt. Galloway v. Kerr (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 180.

Plaintiffs will not be permitted to recover without making restitution of the consideration of a void conveyance under which defendants claim, which consideration was applied on a debt for which the property was liable and inured to their benefit. Parks v. Knox (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 203.

Reimbursement of taxes paid.—A voluntary payment of taxes by a defendant, against whom the plaintiff obtains judgment for the land, can constitute no basis for a claim for reimbursement against the true owner. Capt v. Stubbs, 68 T. 222, 4 S. W. 467; Broxson v. McDougal, 70 T. 64, 7 S. W. 591; McCormick v. Edwards, 69 T. 106, 6 S. W. 32; Robinson v. Osborn, 13 T. 398; Pitts v. Booth, 15 T. 453.

A void tax sale involves no equity that would subrogate the purchaser to rights of the state for taxes paid and entitle him to reimbursement from the true owner when sued by him to recover land. McCormick v. Edwards, 69 T. 106, 6 S. W. 32.

To entitle defendant to recover taxes paid, he must show that plaintiff had failed to pay the taxes assessed on the property. Settegast v. O’Donnell, 16 C. A. 55, 41 S. W. 84.

Defendant in possession, to whom title has accrued by limitation, need not remit taxes paid by plaintiff, claiming under an invalid title. Hardy v. Brown (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 386.

One purchasing several tracts of land at a void tax sale cannot have a lien on one of them, without showing what part of the taxes were chargeable against it. Paris v. Simp- son, 30 C. A. 163, 69 S. W. 1229.

Contract to dismiss action.—Where plaintiff contracted to dismiss, he is not entitled to prosecute and recover, unless defendant violated or abandoned contract. Hunt v. Sie- mers, 22 C. A. 94, 53 S. W. 387.

[In addition to the notes under the particular articles, see also notes on the subject in general, at end of title.]

Article 7769. [5286] Claimant must make affidavit.—Whenever any sheriff or other lawful officer shall levy a writ of execution, sequestration, attachment or other like writ upon any personal property, and such property, or any part thereof, shall be claimed by any person who is not a party to such writ, such person or his agent or attorney may make oath in writing, before any officer authorized to administer oaths, that such claim is made in good faith, and present such oath in writing to the officer who made such levy. [Act March 18, 1846, p. 140, sec. 1. P. D. 5310.]

For mode of levying upon the interest of a partner in partnership property see Art. 3748, ante.

Application of statute.—Statute for trial of right of property cannot be complied with, where writ provides for seizure of specific property, and delivery has been had before tender to officer of claimant’s affidavit and bond. Lackey v. Campbell (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 46.

Persons entitled to remedy.—One having a lien upon personal property without the right of possession is not entitled to this remedy. Garrity v. Thompson, 64 T. 598; Wilber v. Kray, 73 T. 533; 11 S. W. 546; Saunders v. Ireland (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 880. See Willis v. Thompson, 85 T. 301; 20 S. W. 155.

A party to the writ under which property is seized is not entitled to this remedy. Pitts v. Burgess, 2 App. C. C. § 700.

One having title or the right of possession may maintain this proceeding. White v. Jacobs, 66 T. 462; 1 S. W. 344.

In a proceeding for the trial of the right of property a contract lien may be enforced. Howard v. Parks, 1 C. A. 603, 21 S. W. 269.

Where a levy of an execution is made without taking actual possession under Arts. 3740-3748, the claimant is entitled to a trial. Marsh v. Thomason, 25 S. W. 45; 6 C. A. 379.

One who buys property after it has been levied upon cannot maintain the statutory action of trial of right of property. Casentini v. Ullman, 21 C. A. 582; 54 S. W. 420.

A landlord, under his lien, has such possessory rights in the crop of his tenant as to entitle him to prevent a removal thereof by the tenant’s creditor under execution, and to maintain an action for the trial of the right of property to compel its return. Groesbeck v. Evans, 40 C. A. 216, 83 S. W. 430, 88 S. W. 883.

A landlord by virtue of his lien has no such possessory rights in the tenant’s crop as entitles him to prevent its removal from the premises or to maintain an action to try the right of property. Evans v. Groesbeck, 42 C. A. 48, 83 S. W. 1005.

To entitle a third person to claim property levied on under execution, he need not be in possession. Steiner v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 261.

A party who has a judgment for debt and for a foreclosure sale of mortgaged chattels may levy on the property in the possession of the judgment debtor’s transferee, who is entitled to retain possession of the property by complying with the provisions of this article. Yandlev v. Apple (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 518.

A claimant in a trial of the right to property levied on is entitled to prevail, when his rightful possession was disturbed, or when he was entitled to possession, and has been deprived thereof by the levy. Jones v. Lawrence (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 584.
Mortgages and pledgees.—A mortgagee out of possession cannot, under the statute for the trial of the right of property, assert a claim to mortgaged property.
Wright v. Henderson, 12 T. 47; Gilliam v. Henderson, 79 T. 473; Belt v. Raguet, 27 T. 471; Garrity v. Thompson, 64 T. 597; Parker v. Benner, 1 App. C. C. § 64;
Robinson v. Veal, 1 App. C. C. § 311; Gammage v. Silliman, 2 App. C.

One who holds property in pledge cannot avail himself of the statutory remedy provided for the trial of the right of property. If the levy be made on notice as the statute directs, the pledgee’s possession be not disturbed. If possession be taken under the attachment, the statutory remedy to try right to property may be resorted to. Osborn v.

A mortgagee of personal property, the possession of which remained with the mortgagee, cannot in the proceeding, Gammage v. Silliman, 2 App. C. C.
§ 14; Durham v. Flannagan, 2 App. C. C. § 24, citing Wright v. Henderson, 12 T. 45;
471; George v. Dyer, 1 App. C. C. § 731; Brown v. Young, 1 App. C. C. § 1242; Alken v.
Kennedy, 1 App. C. C. § 1225.

A pledgee is entitled to the trial of the right of property, if the officer making the levy takes the possession of the property to the exclusion of the pledgee. National Bank

Persons who may intervene.—Sureties on the bond may intervene and defend when a claimant abandons his claim. Boehm v. Calisch (Sup.) 3 S. W. 293.

One who is a stranger to the process by which property is seized cannot question the regularity of the writ, judgment or proceeding on which it is based. Roos v. Meywyn, 23 S. W. 595; Roos v. 1st Page, 23 S. W. 595; 2 S. C. A. 452.

A claimant of the property attached may intervene without being implored by the Holders in title drawn by debtor on garnishee, which had been accepted by garnishees, held entitled to intervene in garnishment proceeding. Ragsdale v. Groos (Civ.

App.) 51 S. W. 256.

Where a creditor, by virtue of a garnishment, assets a lien on funds not subject then, the claimant’s rights in such fund may raise the defense. Medley v. American Radiator Co., 27 C. A. 534, 66 S. W. 66.

A claimant of a fund garnished in proceedings before a justice of the peace held authorized to intervene on appeal to the county court. Davis v. West Texas Bank & Trust Co. (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 393.

A claimant of a fund in the possession of a bank held not entitled to intervene in garnishment against the bank; his rights not being prejudiced. Nelson v. Winters State Bank (Civ. App.) 138 S. W. 1082.

In an action for a debt where plaintiff also sought to establish a laborer’s lien against property attached, claimant to such property held entitled to intervene and contest the laborer’s lien, notwithstanding the filing of claimant’s oath and bond under the statute to determine the issues arising on the attachment lien. Jackson v. Downs (Civ.
App.) 142 S. W. 283.

Priority of liens.—The question of priority of liens will not be determined in a proceeding for the trial of the right of property. Rayson v. Reid, 55 T. 266; Groesbeck v.
Evans (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 430.

In an action for a debt where plaintiff also sought to establish a laborer’s lien against property attached, claimant to such property held entitled to intervene and contest the laborer’s lien, notwithstanding the filing of claimant’s oath and bond under the statute to determine the issues arising on the attachment lien. Jackson v. Downs (Civ.
App.) 142 S. W. 283.

Priority of liens.—The question of priority of liens will not be determined in a proceeding for the trial of the right of property. Rayson v. Reid, 55 T. 266; Groesbeck v.
Evans (Civ. App.) 83 S. W. 430.

In an action for a debt where plaintiff also sought to establish a laborer’s lien against property attached, claimant to such property held entitled to intervene and contest the laborer’s lien, notwithstanding the filing of claimant’s oath and bond under the statute to determine the issues arising on the attachment lien. Jackson v. Downs (Civ.
App.) 142 S. W. 283.

Property affected.—The action applies to personal property only. Jones v. Bull (Civ.
App.) 36 S. W. 501.

This remedy does not apply to fixtures. Jones v. Bull, 90 T. 137, 37 S. W. 1054.

Other remedies.—When a claimant of personal property levied on to the claimant he thereby waives his privilege of suit at common law. Vickery v. Ward, 2 T.
214; Freiberg (Civ. App.) 23 S. W. 256. But he is not compelled to adopt the statutory remedy. Moore v. Gammel, 13 T. 120. He might not be allowed to intervene in an attachment suit without complying with the statute by filing oath and bond. Carter
v. Carter, 36 T. 693; Irvin v. Ellis, 76 T. 164, 15 S. W. 22. And he cannot enjoin a sale under execution because of his legal remedy. Ferguson v. Herring, 49 T. 123; Lang v.
Dougherty, 74 T. 226, 12 S. W. 23.

A party whose property has been wrongfully seized under a writ against another person is not entitled to the statutory remedy; he may avail himself of his common-jaw or obtain by suit for the recovery of the property or for damages. Moore v. Gammel, 13 T. 121; Schley v. Hale, 1 App. C. C. § 331; Lang v. Dougherty, 74 T. 226, 12 S.
W. 23; Heinze v. Marx, 4 C. A. 599, 23 S. W. 704. Or a case may be made in which, as in the present one, injunction will lie. Hardy v. Broadus, 35 T. 668.

If the property levied upon under execution cannot invoke relief by injunction to prevent its sale, unless some good reason be alleged in the petition why he did not resort to his legal remedy by affidavit and claim bond to try the right of property.
Ferguson v. Herring, 49 T. 123.

A joint owner of property cannot as a claimant prevent the sale of the interest of his co-owner in the property. If his rights require protection he must resort to other remedies. Jones v. Hale, 1 App. C. C. § 532. A party whose property may be seized under attachment is not required to seek relief under this statute, but may sue for taking and conversion. Lang v. Dougherty, 74 T. 226, 12 S. W. 29.

In an action on notes wherein an attachment was issued and levied on chattel personalty, a third party, claiming to be the owner of some of the property under a sale and to have a chattel mortgage on part of the intervene; his remedy being to file a claimant's affidavit and bond under this statute. Dorroh v. Bailey (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 620.

If a stock of goods levied on as that of a husband in fact belongs to the wife, equity will restrain the enforcement of the judgment, as by a proceeding at law to try the right of property the damages against the sheriff, both as to the goods seized and the remainder, would be released, the goods would have to be returned to the custody of the officer until the determination of the right thereto and would be subject to such other writs as might have been levied before the trial, and the wife would be deprived of the right to have the goods replaced and sold with the stock, so that the remedy at law would not be plain and adequate. Slayden-Kirksey Woolen Mill v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 294.

Levy.—The statute contemplates the actual seizure of the subject of the levy. If the levy is upon an undivided interest of one joint owner who has exclusive possession, the officer must take possession of the whole. Hamburger v. Wood, 66 T. 186, 18 S. W. 622.

Affidavit or pleading by claimant.—An affidavit signed by partnership name is insufficient. Flint v. McCarty, 1 App. C. C. § 1018.

It is not necessary for the claimant in his affidavit to state the nature of his claim to the property or the particulars of his title. This may be done under the direction of the court, or findings of the court, or new issues for trial, and such issues may be amended on appeal to the county court. Durham v. Flanagan, 2 App. C. C. § 23.

A claimant cannot attack the judgment by showing a defect in the affidavit. Slade v. Le Page, 27 S. W. 952, 8 C. A. 403.

An affidavit indorsed on the bond and referring to the statements made in it is sufficient. Merchant v. Scott (Civ. App.) 28 S. W. 717.

A pleading filed by a claimant to property attached as that of claimant's tenant held to be sufficient on demurrer. Groesbeck v. Evans (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 459.

A claimant may amend as in any other action, and claim such damages as he may have sustained from the illegal seizure of his property. The right to amend is confined to no particular class of actions. Cleveland v. Tufts, 69 T. 580, 7 S. W. 72.

A claimant who files an affidavit and bond to try the right of property which has been attached may thereafter amend his pleading, and ask damages for the seizure. Breedon Bros. v. Pennington (Civ. App.) 104 S. W. 903.

Any right of claimant to amend his affidavit held not absolute, but in the court's sound discretion. Texas Banking & Investment Co. v. T. S. Reed Grocery Co. (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 162.

Right to have all claimants brought in.—Several claimants of property in controversy should be joined in the proceeding. Blankenship v. Thurman, 68 T. 671, 5 S. W. 836.

In garnishment proceedings, the garnishee is entitled to have all claimants to the garnished fund brought before the court and required to interplead, to preclude the possibility of his being compelled to make double payment, so that where the vendors of land were the parties on whom was garnished the notice of whose claim would be determined, and others who claimed parts of the fund were not parties to the proceeding, a judgment against the garnishee was of no effect. Looney v. Pope (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1170.

Waiver of claimant's rights.—Claimant of the garnished fund did not waive his right to the benefit of the property by taking a mortgage on the fund, and enforcing it before the garnishment suit was determined. Smith v. Merchants' & Planters' Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 1033.

Art. 7770. [5287] Bond.—He shall also execute and deliver to the officer who made such levy his bond, with two or more good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by such officer, payable to the plaintiff in such writ, for an amount equal to double the value of the property so claimed to be assessed by such officer; provided, however, that, when more than one writ has been levied, said bond may be payable to all the plaintiffs in the several writs levied. Said bond shall inure to the benefit of all the plaintiffs in the several writs according to their respective priorities in time of levy. Upon the approval of such bond and delivery of the property to the claimant, the same shall be deemed in custody legis, and shall not be taken out of his possession by any other like writ or writs; but said writs may be levied on the same by giving notice to the claimant; and in such cases the claimant's bond shall also inure to the benefit of the several plaintiffs in such writs according to their respective priorities. [Acts 1887, p. 104.]

In general.—A claimant of property which had been levied on as the property of another by taking his title to the property by intervention without bond. He must proceed according to the statute. Carter v. Carter, 36 T. 69.

Where property is seized under several writs, a claim bond for the trial of the right to property is properly made payable to the plaintiffs in all the writs levied, and but one bond is necessary or proper. Harness Co. v. Schoelkopf, 71 T. 416, 9 S. W. 336.

An officer who has surrendered personal property to a claimant cannot return the bond to the maker and receive the property. Durst v. Padgitt, 24 S. W. 666, 5 C. A. 304.

Where real property is seized under a writ, a bond given under this article is a nullity. Jones v. Jones, 28 S. 304, 9 C. A. 346.

Property, after the bond is given and is in the hands of claimant, is in custody legis, in the sense that his possession thereof is protected from levies from any source except subsequent writs against the original defendant. U. S. Carriage Co. v. Bay City Dugan, 78 S. 351. See Friberg v. Elliot, 64 T. 367; Bailey v. Miears, 1 App. C. C. § 84; Le Gierse v. Pierce, 2 App. C. C. § 89; Brown Mfg. Co. v. Watson, 3 App. C. C. § 330.

The filing of a claimant's bond gives the court jurisdiction over the person of a surety on such bond. Johnson v. Blum, 17 C. A. 260, 42 S. W. 791.

Only one bond need be given by the claimant though one writ issues from the district and another from the county court. Phillips et al. v. Davis (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 144.

Defects and objections.—A sheriff having levied a writ of attachment on certain goods, they were claimed by R., who executed a reprieve or forthcoming bond, which was accepted by the sheriff under the impression that it was a bond for the trial of the right of property and made affidavit claiming the goods. Held, that the proceeding for the trial of the right of property could be sustained. Reeves v. Wallace, 3 App. C. C. § 178.

A bond to a statutory claim bond may be good as a common-law bond. An officer levying an execution when sued by plaintiff in execution may make the principals and sureties in the claim bond parties. Denson v. Horn, 4 App. C. C. § 227, 16 S. W. 182.

A claim bond was signed by two sureties, one of whom was a beneficiary in the trust. In motion for new trial, objection was first made to the sufficiency of the bond on the ground of the incompetency of one of the sureties. Held, that the objection came too late. Williams v. Thompson, 85, 20 S. W. 155.

If the sureties on the claimant's bond authorized or understood that the blanks in the bond were thereafter to be properly filled up with the names of the plaintiffs in the attachment, etc., there can be no serious question of its legality. Jacobs v. Shannon, 1 C. A. 393, 21 S. W. 236.

The signature of a partnership or firm name as surety on a claimant's bond is valid, though the names of the individual members be not signed. Id.

A claimant's bond with but one surety is not valid as a statutory bond, but will be sustained as a common-law obligation. As such bond will not authorize a summary judgment under the statute against the one surety, the plaintiff in the attachment may proceed against the sheriff for taking an imperfect statutory bond without having first sued the parties to the claimant's bond on the common-law liability created thereby. Id.

It is a fatal defect in a bond of a claimant of property levied on that it is not, as required by this article, approved by the officer who levied the writ, and has the property in his possession. Texas Banking & Investment Co. v. T. S. Reed Grocery Co. (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 162.

A bond by a claimant in a contest under the statutory remedy of trial of right of property to determine ownership thereof, conditioned that claimant will return the property to plaintiff in his possession, and if he fails to establish his claim, does not comply with the statute providing that the bond shall be conditioned for return to the officer making the levy or his successor in office. Crowley v. Finch (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 648.

Motion to quash.—After a bond given for a trial of the right of property has served its purpose in securing to the claimant a trial of that right, and after judgment against him and the sheriff in his suit, or an act of his in default of his duty in the premises prescribed by law, it is not competent for him to move the quashal of his own bond, thereby to escape the consequences of his failure to surrender the property. Wheeler v. Wooten, 27 T. 257.

Liability of officer for insufficient bond.—Though a sheriff may have taken an insufficient claimant's bond, whereby property attached by plaintiffs is lost to them, yet he is not liable for such loss if plaintiffs then had an attachment lien on other property of their debtors, and through their own negligence failed to realize their debt therefrom. Jacobs v. Shannon, 1 C. A. 395, 21 S. W. 336.

The measure of damages against the officer is the actual injury sustained by the plaintiff by reason of neglect or failure. Id.

Amendment.—Any right of claimant of property levied on to amend his bond at the trial held not absolute, but in the court's sound discretion; so that refusal thereof, where motion to quash was filed four months before, was not error. Texas Banking & Investment Co. v. T. S. Reed Grocery Co. (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 162.

Art. 7771. [5288] Condition of bond.—The bond shall be conditioned that the party making such claim, in case he fails to establish his right to such property, shall return the same to the officer making the levy, or his successor, in as good condition as he received it, and shall also pay the reasonable value of the use, hire, increase and fruits thereof from the date of said bond, or, in case he fails so to return said property and pay for the use of the same, he shall pay the plaintiff the value of said property, with legal interest thereon from the date of the bond, and shall also pay all damages and costs that may be awarded against him.

In general.—A bond by a claimant in a contest under the statutory remedy for trial of right of property to determine the ownership thereof, conditioned on the claimant returning the property to plaintiff or his successors in case he fails to establish his claim, does not comply with the statute. Crowle v. Pinch (Civ. App.) 159 S. W. 848.

Return of property.—The property must be returned in as good condition as it was in when the claimant received it. This does not mean reasonable wear and tear, incidental to careful use excepted. The condition in the bond is absolute. Parlin & Orendorff v. Coffey, 55 C. A. 218, 61 S. W. 615.

Art. 7772. [5289] Property to be delivered to claimant.—It shall be the duty of the officer receiving such oath and bond to deliver the property so claimed to the person so claiming it. [Id.]

Art. 7773. [5290] Return of oath and bond.—Whenever any person shall claim property and shall make the oath and give the bond, as provided for in this chapter, if the writ under which said levy was made was issued by any justice of the peace or court of the county where such levy was made, the sheriff or other officer receiving such oath and bond shall indorse on the writ that such claim has been made and oath and bond given, stating by whom, and shall also indorse on such bond the value of the property as assessed by himself, and shall forthwith return such bond and oath to the proper justice or court having jurisdiction to try such claim, as hereinafter provided. [Id. sec. 2. P. D. 5311.]

In general.—In the absence of an indorsement on the bond, the statements in the affidavit and the bond that the amount was within the jurisdiction of the court is sufficient. Leman v. Borden, 63 T. 820, 19 S. W. 100.

Art. 7774. [5291] Form of bond.—The form of such bond shall be substantially as follows:

"Whereas, by virtue of a writ of ______ [here describe the writ] issued out of the ______ court (or by ______, justice of the peace for precinct No. ______, ______ county) in favor of ______ [here insert name of plaintiff] versus ______ [here insert name of defendant], and tested on the ______ day of ______, A. D. 19____ [here insert name and title of officer seizing], has seized and taken the following described personal property, viz.: ______ [here describe the property], the value of which property has been assessed by said officer at ______ dollars. And whereas, ______ [here insert name of claimant] has claimed said property and presented to said officer his oath in writing that such claim is made in good faith; now therefore we ______ [here insert name of claimant], as principal, and ______ and ______ as sureties, acknowledge ourselves bound to pay to the said ______ [insert name of plaintiff] the sum of ______ dollars, being double the value of said property, conditioned that the said ______ [here insert name of claimant], in case he fails to establish his right to said property, will return the same to the said ______ [insert the name of the officer] or his successor in as good condition as he received it, and shall also pay the reasonable value of the use, hire, increase or fruits of the same from the date of this bond and costs, or in case he fails to return said property and pay for the use, hire, increase or fruits thereof, that he will pay the plaintiff the value of the same with legal interest thereon from date, and shall also pay all damages and costs that may be awarded against him.

"Witness our hands this the ______ day of ______, A. D. 19____.

"Approved: _______ sheriff (or constable) of _______ county."

Obligees.—When the property has been seized under several writs, a claim bond may be made payable to the plaintiffs in all the writs. Peters Saddlery & Harness Co. v. Schoelkopf, 71 T. 418, 8 S. W. 336.

Filling blanks.—With the assent of the sureties, blanks in a bond may be filled after its execution. Jacob v. Shannon, 1 C. A. 396, 21 S. W. 386.

Art. 7775. [5292] Form immaterial.—Any other form of bond which shall be a substantial compliance with the requirements of article 5291 [7774] shall be a sufficient bond.
Art. 7776. [5293] Return of oath, bond and copy of writ when levy made in county other than that where writ issued.—Whenever any person shall claim property and shall make the oath and give the bond as provided for herein, if the writ under which such levy was made was issued by any justice of the peace or court of another county than that in which such levy was made, then the officer receiving such oath and bond shall indorse on such bond the value of the property as assessed by himself, and shall forthwith return such bond and oath, with a copy of the writ, to the justice or court of the county in which such levy was made having jurisdiction according to the value of the property as assessed by said officer.

In general.—That the officer makes the indorsement on the bond instead of the execution is immaterial after the parties have appeared in the proper court and joined issue. Carney v. Marsalis, 77 T. 62, 13 S. W. 636.

When a copy of the writ is found among the papers of the case, with a return upon it signed by the sheriff officially, it will be presumed that the sheriff performed his duty and returned a true copy of the original writ. Betterton v. Echols, 85 T. 212, 20 S. W. 63.

It is the duty of the claimant to see that sheriff files the affidavit and bond in the proper court. Chappell v. Perrell (Civ. App.) 54 S. W. 1072.

Effect of failure to state value.—Where the officer fails to state the value of the property, the court can hear evidence of the value and is not bound by the assessed value of the property. Cullers v. Gray (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 305.

Art. 7777. [5294] Return of original writ.—The sheriff or other officer taking such bond shall also indorse on the original writ that such claim has been made and oath and bond given, stating by whom, the names of the sureties and to what justice or court the bond has been returned; and he shall forthwith return such original writ to the justice or court from which it is issued.

Art. 7778. [5295] Jurisdiction.—Cases arising under this chapter shall be tried as follows:

1. Where the assessed value of the property does not exceed two hundred dollars, the writ shall be returned to a justice of the peace, as before provided.

2. Where the value assessed is more than two hundred dollars and does not exceed five hundred dollars, the writ shall be returned to the proper county court.

3. When the assessed value is more than five hundred dollars, the writ shall be returned to the proper district court. [Const., art. 5, secs. 8, 16, 19.]

Determination of value.—The assessment of value placed on property by the officer who seizes it under attachment should determine the jurisdiction on the trial of the right of property, and not its value as subsequently ascertained on trial. Cleveland v. Tufts, 69 T. 580, 7 S. W. 72; Harris v. Hood, 1 App. C. C. § 573; Carney v. Marsalis, 77 T. 62, 13 S. W. 636.

In an action for trial of right to property, held, that the court was not bound to determine its jurisdiction by the value of the property in controversy as shown by the officer's return on the claim bond. Cullers v. Gray (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 305.

Justice of the peace.—A justice of the peace has no jurisdiction of a case of the trial of the right of property when the amount in controversy exceeds in value $200. Marx v. Carlisle, 1 App. C. C. § 93, citing Chrisman v. Graham, 51 T. 454.

County court.—So much of this article as attempts to confer jurisdiction on the county court when the property is of the value of $500 is void. Arts. 1780 and 1786 are held to conform to the constitutional provisions. Erwin v. Blanks, 60 T. 583; Cleveland v. Tufts, 69 T. 580, 7 S. W. 72; Carney v. Marsalis, 77 T. 62, 13 S. W. 636; Wetzel v. Simon, 87 T. 408, 29 S. W. 274, 942; Betterton v. Echols, 85 T. 212, 20 S. W. 63; Heldenheimer v. Marx, 1 App. C. C. § 172; Nave v. Friedberg, 1 App. C. C. § 173.

But this rule holds only when the property is seized under a writ of execution, sequestration or attachment. Where a distress warrant is levied, and the property is valued at $500, the county court has jurisdiction. St. Louis Type Foundry v. Taylor, 6 C. A. 735, 26 S. W. 226.

District court.—Property levied on under an execution from the district court was claimed by a third party, under the statute, by affidavit and claim bond. The officer making the levy appraised the property at $400. Held, that the district court did not have the jurisdiction to try the issue raised by the claim. Chrisman v. Grayham, 49 T. 491.

Art. 7779. [5296] Cause, how docketed.—Whenever any oath and bond for the trial of the right of property shall be returned, as provided for in this chapter, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the court, or of such justice of the peace, to docket the same in the name of the plain.
tiff in the writ as the plaintiff, and the claimant of the property as defendant. [Act March 18, 1848, p. 140, sec. 3. P. D. 5312.]

Proceedings by judgment owner.—The assignee of a judgment should be permitted to have a case for trial of right to property docketed in the name of the plaintiff in the writ and be allowed to proceed in the name of the plaintiff for his own use. Owens v. Clark, 78 T. 547, 15 S. W. 101.

Art. 7780. [5297] Issue to be made up, etc.—At the first term of the court thereafter, if both parties appear, the court or justice shall direct an issue to be made up in writing between the parties and tried as in other cases. [1d.]

In general.—On the trial of the right of property upon the issue of ownership, the greatest latitude of proof must necessarily be admitted. Heidenheimer v. Bledsoe, 1 App. C. C. § 819, citing Linn v. Wright, 15 T. 317, 70 Am. Dec. 252.

Pleadings held sufficient to present issues. See Emerson v. Bank (Civ. App.) 25 S. W. 438.

In tendering issues the claimant is not limited to matters stated in the affidavit. Wetzell v. Simon, 28 S. W. 274, 942, 87 T. 403. The nature of the claim must be stated. Choate v. McIlhenny, 71 T. 119, 9 S. W. 83.

Whenever there are questions as to priority of liens, and the security afforded by a prior lien is in danger of being destroyed by proceedings under a levy, the remedy is an appeal by an original suit invoking the equitable powers of the court. The question of priority of liens will not be determined in a proceeding for the trial of the right of property. Raynor v. Reid, 56 T. 266.

In order to entitle the plaintiff to implead the title of the claimant as fraudulent, he must show by competent evidence that he was a creditor of the person from whom he derived title. N. F. v. Foreman, 1 App. C. C. 10 T. 146.

Where a lien is reserved in notes given for the purchase of personal property, on which notes a judgment not foreclosing the lien recovered, and in that suit an attachment is issued and levied on the property covered by the lien, such contract lien may, in the absence of an action for the right of property, be foreclosed and enforced against a claimant holding the property under transfer from the judgment debtor, and this without making the judgment debtor a party thereto. Howard v. Parks, 1 C. A. 603, 21 S. W. 269 (Justice Head dissenting).

Where plaintiff is insolvent, defendant can set off a debt due to him from plaintiff, against plaintiff's claim on the bond. Fleming v. Stansell, 13 C. A. 558, 38 S. W. 504.

The refusal to submit an issue whether claimant acquired title to the property in controversy free from error, but to the levy held error. Courley v. Sisson (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 305.

Where the judgment in a trial of the right of property was set aside, and the case reopened, the issue of the value of the property was necessarily involved, without any special averment on that point in claimant's petition, and was properly submitted to the jury. Ryan v. Teague, 50 C. A. 153, 110 S. W. 117.

A plaintiff in a trial of right of property under issues made under this article, involving property levied on under a judgment for plaintiff and claimed by a third person, has, under Art. 7785, the burden of proving title in the judgment debtor. Marrett v. Herrington (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 99.

Validity of levy.—An execution cannot be attacked by the claimant in this proceeding for irregularities. Seligson v. Staples, 1 App. C. C. § 1070, citing Sydnor v. Roberts, 12 T. 585, 65 Am. Dec. 84; Earie v. Thomas, 14 T. 591; Portis v. Parker, 23 T. 699. There must be a lien or fraud or a lien by fraud. (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 590.

When the property was levied on the possession of the claimant, he may show that the process under which the levy was made was void, or was such as did not authorize a disturbance of his possession; and where the process is void it may be attacked after issue joined on the same for the right of property. Tillman v. McDonald, 2 App. C. C. § 54, citing Latham v. Selkirk, 11 T. 314; Webb v. Mallard, 27 T. 80.

The object of the statute is to provide a trial of the right of property, and the validity of the writ under which it was seized cannot be questioned except by special plea. Ft. Worth Pub. Co. v. Hitson, 80 T. 216, 14 S. W. 849, 16 S. W. 551; Yarborough v. Weaver (Civ. App.) 22 S. W. 771.

A claimant of property taken under attachment may question regularity of attachment where the matter is specially pleaded. Scott v. De Witt, 42 C. A. 69, 92 S. W. 618.

In an action to try the right to certain property levied on, the validity of the execution could not be attacked except by special plea setting out the grounds of invalidity relied on. Courtney Shoe Co. v. Polley (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 7.

Any issues may be amended pending the trial when no surprise or injury to the adverse party results. Ft. Worth Pub. Co. v. Hitson, 80 T. 216, 14 S. W. 849, 16 S. W. 551.

Default of claimant.—Until issues are tendered, the claimant cannot be considered in default. Field v. Fowler, 62 T. 68; Harry v. City Bank, 10 C. A. 51, 30 S. W. 92. See Mckinnon v. Reliance L. Co., 63 T. 30.

Answer containing denial and demurrer.—In action of trial of right of property, answer containing general denial and general demurrer held sufficient on general demurrer thereto. Scott v. De Witt, 42 C. A. 69, 92 S. W. 215.

Art. 7781. [5298] Requisites of issue.—Said issue shall consist of a brief statement of the authority and right by which the plaintiff seeks to subject the property levied on to his execution, and of the nature of the claim of the defendant thereto.

Sufficiency of tender of issue.—In a suit for the trial of the right of property subject to attachment, if the attaching creditor sets up the fact that the property levied on was the property of his attached debtor, who was insolvent, and that he had fraudulently transferred the same to claimants, this is a sufficient tender of issue. McKinnon v. Reliance L. Co., 65 T. 80.

A claimant in presenting issues under the statute must state the nature of his claim to the property, and his evidence is restricted thereby. Choa v. Mclhenny Co., 71 T. 119, 9 S. W. 53.

If the property is claimed by estoppel it must be pleaded, and the facts constituting the estoppel must be stated. Scarbrough v. Alcorn, 74 T. 358, 12 S. W. 72.

Issue as to seizure.—No question having been made in the pleading or otherwise as to the regularity of the writs of attachment under which the seizure was made, it was not necessary to submit to the jury the existence of the writ, or debt supporting it. Gilmour v. Heinze, 85 T. 76, 19 S. W. 1075.

Art. 7782. [5299] Judgment by default against defendant, when.—If the plaintiff appears and the defendant fails to appear or neglects or refuses to join issue under the direction of the court or justice, within the time prescribed for pleading, the plaintiff shall have judgment by default, as in other cases. [Id.]

In general.—An appearance in person or by attorney prevents a judgment by default until the defendant refuses to join issue under direction of the court. Field v. Fowler, 62 T. 65. See Martin v. Harnett, 86 T. 517, 25 S. W. 1115; Id. (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 963.

No provision is made in the statute for citation or notice of the proceeding to either party. An affidavit and bond dated October 20, 1882, was returned, filed and docketed April 17, 1883, and on May 23, 1883, judgment by default was rendered against the claimant and the sureties upon the claim bond. Held, that the judgment was properly rendered. Betterton v. Buck, 2 App. C. C. § 200.

Art. 7783. [5300] Judgment of non-suit against plaintiff, when.—If the plaintiff does not appear at the said first term, the case shall be continued to the next term, when, if he appears, the like proceedings may be had as at the said first term; but, if he does not then appear on or before the appearance day of said term, he shall be non-sued. [Id.]

Death of claimant.—Where claimant dies after execution is levied and issue joined, the fact that his attorney withdraws from the case does not authorize judgment by default on the issue of claimant's appearance, and issues remained a part of the record, and satisfied the requirements of the law. Muenster v. Tremont Nat. Bank, 92 T. 422, 49 S. W. 362.

Judgment on demurrer.—When a claimant files bond and affidavit, alleging ownership of goods seized under execution by the judgment creditor, and a demurrer to the sufficiency of the claim and affidavit is sustained, the judgment on the demurrer, when there is no offer to cure alleged defects, is conclusive. Such a judgment is res judicata, and may be pleaded as such in a subsequent suit between the parties or their privies. Dixon v. Zadek, 59 T. 530.

Art. 7784. [5301] Proceedings, how conducted.—The proceedings and practice on the trial shall be as nearly as practicable the same as in other cases before such court or justice.

Persons who may intervene.—See notes under Art. 7769.

Art. 7785. [5302] Burden of proof on plaintiff, when.—In all cases arising under this title, if the property was taken from the possession of the claimant, the burden of proof shall be on the plaintiff. [Id.]

In general.—When the property is found in the possession of the claimant the burden of proof is upon the plaintiff to show better right. Cooper v. Bumpass, 1 App. C. C. § 499; Hamburg v. Wood, 65 T. 168, 18 S. W. 623.

When possession, actual or constructive, is material, evidence relating thereto is admissible. Panhandle Nat. Bank v. Foster, 74 T. 514, 12 S. W. 223.

Where there is a controversy as to the possession of the property, actual or constructive, the court should hear the evidence and determine upon whom the burden of proof rests. Panhandle Nat. Bank v. Foster, 74 T. 514, 12 S. W. 223. In a proper case the question may be submitted to the jury. Brown v. Lessing, 70 T. 644, 7 S. W. 782.

On trial of right of property, lien holder must show both lien and possession. Buckner v. Lancaster (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 631.

Where in an action for loss of horses owned by plaintiff and another jointly, defendants waived plaintiff's failure to join his joint owner as a party, the burden was on them to show prima facie the interest of such joint owner to prevent plaintiff's recovery. Waggoner v. Snody, 28 C. A. 514, 32 S. W. 355.

Attached property.—In a suit for the trial of right of property between an attaching creditor and a claimant to whom the property was transferred, the burden of proof is on the attaching creditor. Lhey v. Fischl, 65 T. 311.

When the return of the sheriff does not disclose in whose possession the property was found when a writ of attachment was levied, the burden of proving that the goods were in the possession of the defendant in attachment is upon the plaintiff. Boas v. Schneider, 69 T. 128, 6 S. W. 402.

In a proceeding to test the right to property taken under attachment, etc., the claimants have the burden of showing that it is subject to their writ. Jackson v. Downs (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 258.
Property taken under execution.—In trials of the right of property the plaintiff in execution has the burden of proof and the affirmative of the issue when the property levied on was taken from the possession of the plaintiff; but the claimant has the burden and the affirmative when the property was taken from any other possession than his own. It is sometimes difficult to determine in whose possession the property was when taken in execution and in such cases the court or justice trying the cause is to direct which party shall assume the burden of proof and have the affirmative of the issue. Miller v. Sturm, 36 T. 291; King v. Sapp, 66 T. 519, 2 S. W. 573.

A plaintiff in a trial of right of property under issues made under Art. 7780, involving property levied on under a judgment for plaintiff and claimed by a third person, has, under this article, the burden of proving title in the judgment debtor. Marrett v. Herrington (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 254.

Fraudulent transfer.—The burden of proof rests upon the party alleging a fraudulent transfer of the property in question. Producers’ Marble Co. v. Bergen (Civ. App.) 31 S. W. 89.

In an action by a minor son, residing with his father, to recover the value of cattle seized on execution against the father and converted, held error to charge that the burden of proof was on defendants to show that the father was the real and beneficial owner of the cattle, and that they were kept in plaintiff’s name to conceal them from creditors of the father. Love v. Hudson, 24 C. A. 377, 55 S. W. 1127.

In an action to try a certain property levied on under an execution, the burden was on plaintiff to prove that transfers from the execution debtor to claimant were fraudulent as alleged. Courtney Shoe Co. v. Polley (Civ. App.) 96 S. W. 7.

Right to open and close.—The claimant of personal property in his possession is entitled to the opening and conclusion, although the execution creditor has assumed the burden of proof. Marsh v. Thompson, 25 S. W. 43, 6 C. A. 379.

In actions to try right of property taken under execution, burden is on plaintiff to prove title. Pinkard v. Willis, 24 C. A. 69, 57 S. W. 891.

Art. 7786. [5303] Burden of proof on defendant, when.—If it was taken from the possession of the defendant in such writ, or any other person than the claimant, the burden of proof shall be on the claimant.

See notes under Art. 7785.

Art. 7787. [5304] Damages.—In all trials of the right of property under the provisions of this title, if the claimant shall fail to establish his right to the property, the court or justice trying the same shall give judgment against all the obligors in the claimant’s bond for ten per cent damages on the value of the property. [P. D. 5314.]

Constitutionality.—This article does not conflict with the constitution, state or national. Muenster v. Tremont Natl. Bank (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 277.

Amount.—On failure of the claimant to establish their claim, the judgment should be rendered so as to fix the lien of the attachment under which the property was seized, and subject to the property to sale to satisfy the demand of the plaintiffs in the suit out of which the attachment issued. On failure to return the property for that purpose, the law fixes the remedy against the obligors on the claim bond. Maymore v. Baldwin, 1 App. C. C. § 722, citing Mardis v. Johnson, 43 T. 225. See Harris v. Schultzer (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 933.

When the verdict is for the judgment creditor, judgment should be rendered against the claimant and his sureties for the value of the property, with legal interest thereon from the date of the bond and ten per cent. damages for the amount claimed in the writ within that amount of the property and ten per cent. of the property. Wilber v. Kray, 72 T. 533, 11 S. W. 540; Floeg v. Wiedner, 77 T. 311, 14 S. W. 132; Wetsel v. Simon (Civ. App.) 26 S. W. 792.

When the debt is reduced by payment, the damages should be assessed on the amount unpaid. Dupree v. Woody (Sup.) 19 S. W. 469.

Where judgment for claimant is set aside, plaintiff in execution held entitled to judgment for value of the goods, and legal interest thereon from date of bond together with damages. P. J. Willis & Bro. v. Pinkard, 21 C. A. 423, 52 S. W. 636.

Art. 7788. [5305] Where value of property exceeds judgment.—When such value is greater than the amount claimed under the writ, by virtue of which such property was levied upon, the damages shall be on the amount claimed under said writ. [Id.]

Basis for assessing damages.—The value of the property at the date of the claim bond should be ascertained in order to furnish a basis for the computation of damages. Nell v. Billingsley, 49 T. 161.

When the value assessed by the officer is not put in issue, any property may be adopted as a rule in rendering judgment. Allen v. Kennedy, 1 App. C. C. § 1281, citing Wright v. Henderson, 12 T. 46; Ratcliff v. Hicks, 23 T. 174. And see Gillian v. Henderson, 12 T. 48.

Art. 7789. [5306] Copy of writ evidence, when.—In all trials of the right of property, under the provisions of this title, in any county other than that in which the writ issued under which the levy was made, the copy of the writ herein required to be returned by the officer

making the levy shall be received in evidence in like manner as the original could be. [P. D. 5315.]

Copy not under seal.—A copy of a writ of execution, by virtue of which the levy was made by the sheriff as required by the statute, is admissible in evidence, although no seal or copy of a seal appears therein. Kuykendall v. Marx, 1 App. C. C. § 669.

Art. 7790. [5307] Judgment upon failure to establish title, etc.—In all cases where any claimant of property, under the provisions of this title, shall fail to establish his right thereto, judgment shall be rendered against him and his sureties for the value of the property, with legal interest thereon from the date of such bond. Such judgment shall be rendered in favor of the plaintiff in the writ, or of the several plaintiffs, if more than one, and shall fix the amount of each plaintiff’s claim. [Acts 1887, p. 104.]

Constitutionality.—This article does not conflict with constitution, state or national. Muenster v. Tremont Natl. Bank (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 277.

Right to judgment.—When a demurrer to the sufficiency of the claim and affidavit is sustained, and the claim to the property “dismissed,” the judgment creditor is entitled to a judgment against the sureties on the claimant’s bond, and against the claimant for the value of the property, with legal interest thereon from the date of the bond. A dismissal of the claim cannot deprive him of that right; the proper practice is to ascertain the value of the property, and render a judgment for that amount. Dixon v. Zadek, 59 T. § 550; Fleege v. Wiedner, 77 T. 311, 14 S. W. 132.

When claimant makes default, judgment should be rendered for the amount shown to be due. Martin v. Hartnett, 76 T. 617, 25 S. W. 963.

Where claimant dies after issue joined and before trial, he has not “failed” in the meaning of this article to establish his claim, so as to render judgment against the sureties on his bond alone. ‘The heirs or legal representatives of the claimant should be made parties to the suit.’ Davis v. National Bank, 92 T. 422, 49 S. W. 257.

Where a claimant under the statute relating to trial of right of property abandons his claim, he thereafter fails to establish his right to the property, and judgment may be recovered on his bond. St. Louis Type Foundry v. Taylor, 27 C. A. 349, 65 S. W. 677.

Where claimants assert a joint ownership in the property and fail to establish their claim as made, judgment can be rendered on their claimant’s bond. Davis v. Jones, 32 C. A. 424, 76 S. W. 64.

Effect of claimant’s death or discharge in bankruptcy.—Nunc pro tunc judgment against claimant to property levied on, after his death, held voidable only, and hence conclusive on bondsmen on his claimant’s bond in subsequent action against them. Ramsey v. Zapp (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 82.

Formal judgment on claimant’s bond may be entered against principal, who has received discharge in bankruptcy, for purpose of holding sureties. Pinkard v. Willis, 24 C. A. 521, 57 S. W. 891.

Sureties on claimant’s bond for goods taken on execution are liable, notwithstanding discharge in bankruptcy of principal. Id.

Judgment on cross-bill.—In proceedings under the statute relating to trial of right of property, judgment against the claimant and sureties on his bond, on his failure to establish his claim, may be recovered on a cross-bill filed in the action in which the bond is given, without citation to such claimant or notice to the sureties. St. Louis Type Foundry v. Taylor, 27 C. A. 677.

Proceedings for judgment.—It is not necessary to cite the sureties on a deceased claimant’s bond before proceeding to judgment against them. Muenster v. Tremont Natl. Bank (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 277.

Form of judgment.—The judgment is properly rendered against the obligors unconditionally. The provision for the return of the property in no way controls the form of the judgment to be entered, but simply grants to the defendants in the judgment a means of satisfying the same otherwise than by paying the amount of the judgment in money. Wrought Iron Range Co. v. Brooker, 2 App. C. C. 231.

The judgment should establish the rights and privileges of the parties, and should fix the value of the use of the property in controversy. Ft. Worth Pub. Co. v. Hitson, 80 T. 216, 14 S. W. 845, 16 S. W. 581; Martin v. Hartnett (Civ. App.) 24 S. W. 963, construing amendment of 1887.

A judgment for the value of the property alone without providing that its return satisfies the judgment, is not erroneous, as the right to return exists independent of the judgment. Wrought Iron Range Co. v. Tremont Natl. Bank (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 277.

Where judgment is rendered against the claimant who had obtained the property from the sheriff, the judgment should have also fixed the value of the use of the property, to enable the claimant, if he wished, to return the property in satisfaction of the judgment, to know what amount was required to pay for the use of same up to the date of the judgment. Teague v. Ryan, 43 C. A. 565, 96 S. W. 936.

Amount of judgment.—The claimant should not be taxed with costs of proceedings held to be erroneous. Bailey v. James, 64 T. 546.

Amount in controversy consists of several articles separately valued, a judgment against the claimant and his sureties upon his claim bond, for the aggregate value of the claim bond, is proper. Betterton v. Buck, 2 App. C. C. § 201; Chapman v. Allen, 15 T. 278; Wright v. Henderson, 12 T. 43.

A judgment against claimant, judgment is rendered on the bond for the value of the property, together with interest, damages and costs. Wrought Iron Range Co. v. Brooker, 2 App. C. C. § 235.

A judgment entered in the terms of the statute cannot be enforced for more than the debt, interest and ten per cent. damages. Wells Point Bank v. Bates, 76 T. 329, 13 S. W. 390.
Art. 7790 TRIAL OF RIGHT OF PROPERTY (Title 129)

Conclusiveness of judgment.—A judgment against the claimant is conclusive, and he cannot inquire into the debt upon which judgment is rendered. Livingstone v. Wright, 68 T. 706, 6 S. W. 407.

Satisfaction of judgment.—When the judgment is for a larger amount than the plaintiff is entitled to, it is satisfied in full by payment of such amount as is actually due. Wrought Iron Range Co. v. Brooker, 2 App. C. C. § 230, citing York v. Le Gierse, 1 App. C. C. § 1330.

Art. 7791. [5308] Execution shall issue.—In case such judgment should not be satisfied by a return of the property as provided in article 5310 [7793] then execution shall issue thereon in the name of the plaintiff for the amount of his claim, or of all the plaintiffs for the sum of their several claims, provided the amount of such judgment exceed such claim or sum; and in such cases the excess of such judgment shall inure to the benefit of any person who shall show superior right or title to the property claimed as against the claimant; but, if such judgment be for a less amount than the sum of the several plaintiffs’ claims, then the respective rights and priorities of the several plaintiffs shall be fixed and adjusted in the judgment. [Id.]

Art. 7792. [5309] Execution not to issue within ten days.—On such judgment, no execution shall issue for ten days.

Execution pending writ of error.—The judgment creditor not being in condition, pending the error, to have execution against the principal, he could not at that time have it issued against the surety. Wren v. Peal, 64 T. 374.

Art. 7793. [5310] Return of property by claimant within ten days.—If, within ten days from the rendition of said judgment, the claimant shall return such property in as good condition as he received it, and pay for the use of the same, together with the damages and costs, such delivery and payment shall operate as a satisfaction of such judgment.

In general.—The property must be returned within ten days, and in as good condition as when it was received, and claimant must also within said time pay for the use of the same, and pay the damages and costs, otherwise the officer is not bound to receive the property if tendered. Bullard v. White, 2 App. C. C. § 287.

If the claim is not sustained, no matter for what reason, the bondmen are bound to return the property or pay its value. When the property is not returned within the time prescribed by statute, the remedy is against the principal and sureties on the claim bond. Garrity v. Thompson, 67 T. 1, 2 S. W. 750; Wallace v. Terry, 4 App. C. C. § 58, 15 S. W. 30.

After adverse judgment in trial of right of property, judgment creditor’s consent is not essential to a return of the property by claimant to sheriff. Willis v. Chowning, 90 T. 617, 40 S. W. 335, 69 Am. St. Rep. 842.

When judgment creditor cannot object because property was returned by surety on bond to judgment of claimant without consent of claimant. Id.

It is the privilege of the claimant to return the property, and the consent of plaintiff is not necessary. Id.

A charge concerning the condition of property at the time a claimant in a trial of right of property offered to return it in discharge of the judgment against him held not to impose a greater liability than the law allowed. Parlin & Orendorff Co. v. Coffey, 25 C. A. 215, 61 S. W. 512.

A claimant who seeks to discharge a judgment against him on a trial of right of property by returning the property as required by his bond must return it in as good condition as he received it. Id.

Return of part.—A return of the property in satisfaction of the judgment against the claimant must be made within ten days from the rendition of the judgment, and such property must be in as good condition as when it was released to the claimant. A claimant is not authorized to return a part of the property. In order to operate as a satisfaction of the judgment, there must be a return of the whole of it. Betterton v. Buck, 2 App. C. C. § 202.

Under this article claimants of property attached cannot discharge a judgment against themselves by an offer to return only a part of the property, and pay for the part which they had sold. Cox v. Janes (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 326.

Sufficiency of return.—The property levied on consisted of a sorghum mill and evaporator, which were so heavy as to require wagons to remove them. Held, that a tender, by the claimant, or the property back to the officer, which was not at that time visible to the parties, but ten or fifteen miles removed from where the tender to return it was made, did not constitute such a return of the property as is contemplated by the statute. For facts on which the opinion is based, see statement of case. Edwards v. Connolly, 61 T. 30.

Direction by a surety of the claimant to sheriff to repossess himself of cattle running at large is a delivery to him. As also to retake goods in a store easily accessible to him. Willis v. Chowning, 18 C. A. 625, 46 S. W. 46.

Case of sureties.—The sureties on the bond cannot be released by the return of the property to the sheriff before the case is tried, as the sheriff has no authority to receive the property delivered to the claimant before trial of the issue. Durst v. Padgitt, 24 S. W. 656, 5 C. A. 304.
Art. 7794. [5311] Claim operates a release of damages.—A claim made to property, under the provisions of this chapter, shall operate as a release of all damages by the claimant against the officer who levied upon said property. [P. D. 5317.]

Construction of article.—A claim made to property under the provisions of this statute operates as a release of damages for making the levy, but this is in derogation of the common law and will not be extended to claims otherwise made. Terry v. Webb (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 71.

Persons released.—The release of the officer, he being a joint wrongdoer, operates as a release also of the other wrongdoers. Rose v. Riddle, 3 App. C. C. § 301.

Objections waived.—By giving claimants bond and proceeding under the statute to test his right to the property the claimant waived the manner of the levy. Davis v. Jones, 32 C. A. 424, 76 S. W. 64.

Art. 7795. [5312] Levy may be made on other property.—Proceedings for the trial of the right of property, under the provisions of this title, shall in no case prevent the plaintiff in the writ from having a levy made upon any other property of the defendant. [P. D. 5318.]

DECISIONS RELATING TO SUBJECT IN GENERAL

Weight and sufficiency of evidence.—As against a claimant of property seized under distress, the judgment of the landlord against the tenant held conclusive as to the amount of the tenant's debt. Sanger v. Magee, 29 C. A. 397, 69 S. W. 234.

Evidence held not to show that judgment debtor had no interest in certain property which was subject to execution. Davis v. Jones, 32 C. A. 424, 76 S. W. 65.

Evidence of value of property in proceeding by a claimant of property levied on under execution held sufficient to sustain the finding. Ryan v. Teague, 50 C. A. 163, 110 S. W. 117.

General verdict.—A general verdict for either party is sufficient. Wilber v. Kray, 73 T. 633, 11 S. W. 540.

Appeal.—The surety on a claim bond against whom a judgment is rendered is a competent surety on the appeal bond of the principal who alone appeals from the judgment. Peoples v. Rodgers, 11 C. A. 447, 32 S. W. 798, citing Trammell v. Trammell, 15 T. 291; Sampson v. Solinsky, 75 T. 661, 13 S. W. 67.

The amount of the claims of plaintiff creditors must appear from the record in the action of trial of right of property. Casentini v. Ullman, 21 C. A. 583, 54 S. W. 429.
Article 7796. "Trusts" defined.—A "trust" is a combination of capital, skill or acts by two or more persons, firms, corporations or associations of persons, or either two or more of them for either, any or all of the following purposes:

1. To create, or which may tend to create, or carry out restrictions in trade or commerce or aids to commerce or in the preparation of any product for market or transportation, or to create or carry out restrictions in the free pursuit of any business authorized or permitted by the laws of this state.

2. To fix, maintain, increase or reduce the price of merchandise, produce or commodities, or the cost of insurance, or of the preparation of any product for market or transportation.

3. To prevent or lessen competition in the manufacture, making, transportation, sale or purchase of merchandise, produce or commodities, or the business of insurance, or to prevent or lessen competition in aids to commerce, or in the preparation of any product for market or transportation.

4. To fix or maintain any standard or figure whereby the price of any article or commodity of merchandise, produce or commerce, or the cost of transportation, or insurance, or the preparation of any product for market or transportation, shall be in any manner affected, controlled or established.

5. To make, enter into, maintain, execute or carry out any contract, obligation or agreement by which the parties thereto bind, or have bound, themselves not to sell, dispose of, transport or to prepare for market or transportation any article or commodity, or to make any contract of insurance at a price below a common standard or figure, or by which they shall agree in any manner to keep the price of such article or commodity or charge for transportation or insurance, or the cost of the preparation of any product for market or transportation, at a fixed or graded figure, or by which they shall in any manner affect or maintain the price of any commodity or article or the cost of transportation or insurance, or the cost of the preparation of any product for market or transportation between them or themselves and others, to preclude a free and unrestricted competition among themselves or others in the sale or transportation of any such article or commodity, or business of transportation or insurance, or the preparation of any product for market or transportation, or by which they shall agree to pool, combine or unite any interest they may have in connection with the sale or purchase of any article or commodity, or charge for transportation or insurance or charge for the preparation of any product for market or transportation, whereby its price or such charge might be in any manner affected.

6. To regulate, fix or limit the output of any article or commodity which may be manufactured, mined, produced or sold, or the amount of insurance which may be undertaken, or the amount of work that may be done in the preparation of any product for market or transportation.

7. To abstain from engaging in or continuing business, or from the purchase or sale of merchandise, produce or commodities partially or entirely within the state of Texas, or any portion thereof. [Acts 1903, p. 119, sec. 1.]

Validity in general.—The anti-trust acts of May 27, 1899, to protect workingmen in the right of organization, etc. This latter act enacts no exception upon the anti-trust act of 1899 (Acts 1899, p. 246, c. 146). Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v. State, 48 C. A. 162, 106 S. W. 918.

Constitutionality.—It seems that the statute is not violative of the fourteenth amendment. Tex. Brewing Co. v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 1079. The law prohibiting combinations in restraint of trade is not obnoxious to the fourteenth amendment to the United States constitution. Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v. State, 18 C. A. 1, 44 S. W. 385.

This article is not violative of state or national constitution. Texas Brewing Co. v. Durrum (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 880.

The act of 1899 (Acts 1899, p. 246, c. 146) was not rendered unconstitutional by the act of May 27, 1899, to protect workingmen in the right of organization, etc. This latter act enacts no exception upon the anti-trust act of 1899 (Acts 1899, p. 262, c. 163). Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v. State, 48 C. A. 162, 106 S. W. 926.

Law in force.—The sections of this and the act of 1899 (Acts 1899, p. 246, c. 146) providing penalties are penal, but cases prosecuted under them for the penalties are not criminal but civil and articles 225, 226, Code Cr. Proc., relating to civil limitation, do not apply in a civil action to recover the penalties. Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v. State, 48 C. A. 163, 106 S. W. 926.

The proviso in this act as to repeal preserved whatever rights the state had under the act of 1899 (Acts 1899, p. 246, c. 146), including the rights to enforce the penalties prescribed by that act. Id.

The repealing clause of this law repeals that part of the law of 1899 (Acts 1899, p. 246, c. 146) wherein the attorneys for the state are allowed as fees one-fourth of the penalties collected. State v. Brady, 102 T. 408, 118 S. W. 128-131, reversing (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 896.

Retroactive operation.—This act has no retroactive effect so as to affect contracts previously entered into and executed. Crump v. Ligon, 97 C. A. 172, 84 S. W. 261.

Where a combination in restraint of trade is formed before the anti-trust law is passed, it can be restrained after the law is enacted and those guilty of carrying out the contract punished. State v. M., K. & T. Ry. Co., 59 T. 516, 91 S. W. 216, 5 L. R. A. (N. S.) 783, 12 Ann. Cas. 142.

Combinations prohibited.—Persons may, without malice toward any one, and for the lawful purpose of protecting each other from dishonest or insolvent customers, and otherwise wisely assisting each other in the conduct of their business, agree that each, upon the other, or refusal to deal with any person. Deiz v. Winfree, 80 T. 400, 16 S. W. 111, 26 Am. St. Rep. 750; Deiz v. Winfree, 25 S. W. 50, 6 C. A. 11.

Equity will not compel accounting between partners for profits growing out of an illegal contract to restrict trade, etc. Wiggins v. Blono, 92 T. 219, 47 S. W. 637, 71 Am. St. Rep. 887.

If the combination was made and its object was to restrain trade and create a monopoly, the statute denounces it as a matter if the immediate result is to lower prices. The object of the law is to guard the commerce and trade of the state. The getting of a city ordinance enacted by a city council extending the lives of corporations for a long period is a circumstance which may be shown to prove a conspiracy against trade. Although a party may not be alleged to be in the conspiracy, yet when the facts establish a conspiracy and show that he was a party to it, his acts and declarations made to further the common design can be shown. San Antonio Gas Co. v. State, 22 C. A. 118, 54 S. W. 289.

Where an agreement in violation of the anti-trust law has been made, and one party thereto pursues the course of conduct agreed on, the law presumes that the acts done by him were the result of the agreement and of entering into it, so that the parties therein may be held and are responsible and answerable in damages for each and all within this article. State v. Racine Sattley Co. (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 400.

Contract not to engage in business.—A promise by a merchant to the purchaser of his stock to retire from business in the town for one year does not constitute a trust. Gates v. Hooper, 90 T. 663, 39 S. W. 1078.
An agreement not to engage in a particular business for two years is not in violation of the trust law, or against trade. Erwin v. Hayden (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 612.

An agreement that if defendant ceased his school that he would not teach in a certain town is a binding contract and is not in violation of the foregoing article. Patterson v. Crabb (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 870.

An agreement that the sale of merchandise to persons to refrain from such business for twenty years within the county in which the sale is made, is not invalid as an unreasonable restraint of trade. Tobler v. Austin, 22 C. A. 99, 53 S. W. 766.

An agreement by a doctor not to practice his profession within ten miles of a certain town is against public policy, as against law, and is not in conflict with the law to prevent a combination in restraint of trade. Wolff v. Hirschfeld, 57 S. W. 572, 23 C. A. 870.

An agreement by an owner, on sale of his business and good will, not to re-enter such business within a specified time at a certain place, is not void as in restraint of trade. Comer v. Burton-Lingo Co. (Civ. App.) 58 S. W. 969.

This law does not apply when one sells his business and good will to a single person or firm, or to such condition that the purchaser will not engage in the same kind of business for a limited time at a specified place. It prohibits any combination having for its purpose the doing of either of the things specified, without regard to the intention of the parties or of the immediate effect of the combination on trade and commerce. Id.

A promise by a partner to his copartner, purchasing the business of the firm, not to engage in such business as that so long as the copartner remains in the business in the town, is not void as in restraint of trade, at common law. Crump v. Ligon, 84 S. W. 250, 77 C. A. 172.

An agreement by the seller of a cotton gin and gristmill not to re-enter in that business so long as the purchasers operated it was not in violation of this article. Malakoff Gin Co. v. Riddlesperger (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 519.

Interstate commerce.—Where manufacturers in another state sell to dealers in Texas on the installment plan, goods are delivered to the dealer and the goods are to be paid for by the dealers, so that the sellers, as part of the sellers not to sell similar goods to any one in a named county for a specified time except the purchasers of the bill it is an interstate transaction and the Texas anti-trust laws do not apply. Eclipse Paint & Mfg. Co. v. New Process Roofing & Supply Co., 55 C. A. 663, 129 S. W. 534.

Where goods sold and contemplated to be sold under a contract in restraint of trade were to be shipped from a sister state to Texas and there mingled with other goods of the buyer in Texas to become a part of the seller's stock and to be there sold, the contract was made within that state and the statute applies. R. B. C. Co. v. L. Manistoe & Co., 154 S. W. 490.

A petition, in an action by the state against a foreign corporation for a violation of the anti-trust act of 1903 (Acts 1903, c. 94), which alleged that the foreign corporation was a manufacturer of farming implements and vehicles; that it contracted with a dealer in the state in such articles to give him the exclusive sale of its goods, the latter agreeing not to buy or sell any other makes of like goods; that the foreign corporation had traveling salesmen soliciting business throughout the state; that the contract was signed by one of the salesmen; and that the foreign corporation was a wholesale dealer in farming implements and vehicles—was sufficient as against a general demurrer to show that it was the purpose of the foreign corporation to sell goods under the contract at the residence of the dealer in Texas, and that it was its purpose that the goods should be carried into the state by that dealer, that the transaction was not interstate commerce, but was subject to the state anti-trust laws. Id.

Contracts with carriers.—A contract of a railroad company to ship 66 per cent. of output of salt of a company at as low rate as any other company held not void as against public policy. Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Texas Short Line Ry. Co., 35 C. A. 387, 80 S. W. 567.

An agreement not to give one person the right to handle goods on its trains the transfer business of the passengers on such trains, and to exclude another from engaging in the same business on its trains. By so doing it does not violate the anti-trust law. Lewis v. W. M. W. & N. W. Ry. Co., 35 C. A. 48, 81 S. W. 113, 115.

A contract between a railway company and a sleeping car company, whereby the former grants the latter the exclusive right to furnish sleeping cars to be used on the railway company, and on all lines controlled by it, and all roads which it might subsequently acquire or operate, is not in restraint of trade and does not violate the anti-trust law. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. State, 99 T. 34, 87 S. W. 341, 70 L. R. A. 956.

Article 6616 authorizes express companies to pursue their business on all the railways controlled by state legislation with equal and reasonable facilities and accommodations and upon equal and reasonable rates, and any combination of the kind denounced by the anti-trust statute, the carrying out of which would limit or narrow such scope, is necessarily one to create or carry out a restriction in the free pursuit of the business. Hence, an agreement by a railroad company to give one express company "exclusive privileges" and bound itself not to contract with other express companies to do an express business on its road violates this article. State v. M., K. & T. Ry. Co., 99 T. 516, 91 S. W. 215, 5 L. R. A. (N. S.) 783, 13 Ann. Cas. 1072.

A contract between a railway company and a sleeping car company, whereby the former grants the latter the exclusive right to furnish sleeping cars to be used on the railway company, and on all lines controlled by it, and all roads which it might subsequently acquire or operate, is not in restraint of trade and does not violate the anti-trust law. Pt. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. State, 99 T. 34, 87 S. W. 341, 70 L. R. A. 956.

An agreement not to engage in a particular business for two years is not in violation of the trust law, or against trade. Erwin v. Hayden (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 612.

An agreement that if defendant ceased his school that he would not teach in a certain town is a binding contract and is not in violation of the foregoing article. Patterson v. Crabb (Civ. App.) 61 S. W. 870.

An agreement by a doctor not to practice his profession within ten miles of a certain town is against public policy, as against law, and is not in conflict with the law to prevent a combination in restraint of trade. Wolff v. Hirschfeld, 57 S. W. 572, 23 C. A. 870.
An agreement whereby plaintiff was to give defendant the sole and exclusive right to sell certain automobiles and supplies in a fixed territory for a given length of time is not in violation of this article defining a trust as a combination of capital, skill, or acts by two or more persons for specified purposes; there being no combination in this case.

Exclusive franchise.—A city held not to have express or implied power to grant to a waterworks company an exclusive franchise to furnish water to the city for thirty years. Ennis Waterworks v. City of Ennis (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 613.

Ordinance regulating billboards.—The anti-trust laws have no application to the questions raised in a proceeding to test the constitutionality of an ordinance regulating the size, location, and construction of billboards. Ex parte Savage (Cr. App.) 141 S. W. 244.

Reservation in dedicatory deed as to use of streets.—A reservation in dedicatory deeds of the right in the grantors to the exclusive use of the streets and alleys so dedicated for the maintenance of street railroads, lighting, sewers, gas, telephones, etc., held contrary to public policy, as tending to create a monopoly. Jones v. Carter, 45 C. A. 450, 101 S. W. 514.

Art. 7797. "Monopoly" defined.—A monopoly is a combination or consolidation of two or more corporations when effected in either of the following methods:

1. When the direction of the affairs of two or more corporations is in any manner brought under the same management or control for the purpose of producing, or where such common management or control tends to create a trust as defined in the first article of this chapter.

2. Where any corporation acquires the shares or certificates of stock or bonds, franchise or other rights, or the physical properties, or any part thereof, of any other corporation or corporations, for the purpose of preventing or lessening, or where the effect of such acquisition tends to affect or lessen competition, whether such acquisition is accomplished directly or through the instrumentality of trustees or otherwise. [Id. sec. 2.]

What are monopolies.—A monopoly is not only an exclusive right granted by the state to a few of something which was before of common right, but embraces a combination, regardless of form, the tendency of which is to prevent competition and control prices to the detriment of the public. Jones v. Carter, 45 C. A. 450, 101 S. W. 514.

Municipal ordinance regulating the size, location, and construction of billboards held not in conflict with Const. art. 1, § 28, prohibiting monopolies. Ex parte Savage (Cr. App.) 141 S. W. 244.

Where neither party to a contract giving an exclusive selling agency in specified territory was a corporation, and there was no evidence of a combination or consolidation, the agreement was not in violation of this article. Nichols v. Prewitt Auto Co. (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1094.

Art. 7798. Conspiracies against trade, what constitutes.—Either or any of the following acts shall constitute a conspiracy in restraint of trade:

1. Where any two or more persons, firms, corporations or associations of persons, who are engaged in buying or selling any article of merchandise, produce or any commodity, enter into an agreement or understanding to refuse to buy from or sell to any other person, firm, corporation or association of persons, any article of merchandise, produce or commodity.

2. Where any two or more persons, firms, corporations or association of persons shall agree to boycott or threaten to refuse to buy from or sell to any person, firm, corporation or association of persons for buying from or selling to any other person, firm, corporation or association of persons. [Id. sec. 3.]

Conspiracy defined.—A "conspiracy," within this article, is a combination between two or more persons to do an unlawful act or to do a lawful thing in an unlawful manner. State v. Racine Sattley Co. (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 400.

Restraint of trade.—Trade as used in the statute is synonymous with traffic—the buying and selling of articles. The term does not include an occupation or employment. Queen Ins. Co. v. State, 86 T. 256, 24 S. W. 397, 22 L. R. A. 483.

Any combination in restraint of trade is unlawful. The prohibition applies to every article of usual and general consumption and of daily use among the people, and this is a matter of common knowledge. Anheuser-Busch Brewing Ass'n v. Houck (Civ. App.) 27 S. W. 892; Id., 87 T. 647, 30 S. W. 869.

A combination which operates to create and carry out restrictions in trade and to prevent competition is within the statute. Coal Co. v. Lawson, 89 T. 394, 32 S. W. 871, 32
Art. 7798  TRUSTS—CONSPIRACIES AGAINST TRADE  (Title 130)
S. W. 319; Brewing Co. v. Templeman, 90 T. 277, 33 S. W. 27; Puqua v. Pabst Brewing Co., 90 T. 366, 33 S. W. 39, 75 L. R. A. 241. A contract between A. and B., by which A. agrees not to sell any beer other than that furnished by or with the consent of B. and B. agrees to sell to no other person at two towns at which A. carries on his business, is prohibited by this statute. Texas Brewing Co. v. Anderson (Civ. App.) 40 S. W. 787.
A covenant by a grantor not to allow the sale of intoxicating liquors in the same block, held not void as in restraint of trade. Anderson v. Rowland, 18 C. A. 460, 44 S. W. 919.
An agreement to sell only a certain product made by the buyer in consideration that the seller would sell to no other person in a certain town is in restraint of trade and prohibited. Texas Brewing Co. v. Durrum (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 880.
A contract by which a patentee grants to a licensee the exclusive right to build, warehouse, sell wines, and sell in specified territory, in which the licensee is authorized to purchase the wire, pickets, and fence machinery from the patentee, does not violate the statute against trusts. Clark v. Cyclone Woven Wire Fence Co., 22 C. A. 41, 54 S. W. 392.
A contract between a foreign corporation, and a citizen of Texas, which gives the latter the exclusive right to sell goods of the former in Texas and that provides that the purchaser will not buy from anyone, except said corporation, such goods, and that the said goods shall not be used or sold or otherwise disposed of by the purchaser outside of a certain territory is contrary to law and void. Pasteur v. Vaccine Co. v. Burkey, 22 C. A. 322, 54 S. W. 804.
Under statute avoiding contracts against trade, a broker may not recover for services in securing an agreement between competitors to maintain prices. Street v. Houston Ice & Brewing Co. (Civ. App.) 55 S. W. 516.
An agreement not to sell beer to anyone else than the person to whom the sale was made within a certain designated territory, contributory to his place of business does not violate this law. Am. Brewing Co. v. Vedwegheve v. W. & T. Trust.
An agreement of a manufacturer with a dealer not to sell vehicles to any other person within a certain designated territory violates the anti-trust law and is void. Troy Buggy Works Co. v. Fife & Miller (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 556.
Whenever the contract was such that the retailer would handle the goods of wholesaler exclusively except so far as he might purchase cheaper or inferior class of tin goods and that the wholesaler would not sell to anyone else in retailer's city, so that the latter should have exclusive control of retail business in the city in certain lines, it violated this law. Simmons v. W. & Co. v. Terry (Civ. App.) 79 S. W. 1109.
A contract of sale and purchase entered into by two parties wherein the seller agrees not to sell the same kind of goods in three specified cities until the purchaser had disposed of the goods bought from the seller is not in violation of the anti-trust law (Acts 1939, p. 148) the right to sell these goods to the purchasers given by the purchaser for the goods are not uncollectible under that act. Norton v. W. H. Thomas & Co., 99 T. 578, 91 S. W. 780; Id. (Civ. App.) 93 S. W. 712.
An agreement by a photographer to furnish a grocer trading tickets each entitling the holder to a photo art calendar when presented countersigned by the grocer, and not to sell any other local grocer such tickets does not violate this law. Forrest Photographic Co. v. Hutchinson Grocery Co. (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 768.
A contract wherein it is agreed that a purchaser shall have the exclusive right to sell a certain article in a certain described territory is illegal and void. Gust Feist Co. v. Albertype Co. (Civ. App.) 109 S. W. 1140.
A contract whereby the owner of a plantation gives another the exclusive right to sell merchandise on his premises does not violate this law because the right to sell upon the premises of another is derived by law, but by consent of the owner. Reidland Fruit Co. v. Sargent, 61 C. A. 619, 113 S. W. 330.
A manufacturer in another state sold souvenir albums to firm in Galveston and agreed not to use the period of one year for contract did not violate this law. Albertype Co. v. Gust Feist Co., 102 T. 218, 114 S. W. 792.
A contract between the owner of goods and another, whereby such other person was to deal with the goods for one year and then turn them back to the owner, held not void as against public policy. Holder v. Shelby (Civ. App.) 118 S. W. 590.
A lease of saloon property binding the lessor not to lease other property in the same street to others for the same business is not invalid under this article. Wheatley v. Kol­ lager (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 903.

Under this article, restrictions in trade are prohibited without regard to the immediate effect on trade. State v. Racine Sattley Co. (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 460.

Under this article a contract between plaintiff and defendant grain dealers, whereby plaintiff agreed not to buy grain from the growers thereof or from curbstone brokers or other persons not regularly engaged in the grain business was void as contravening the statute. Star Mill & E. Co. v. Ft. Worth Grain & E. Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 694.

Where neither party to the contract was engaged in buying or selling automobiles or any other article of merchandize, a contract whereby plaintiff gave defendant the exclusive right to sell certain machines and supplies in a designated locality for a given length of time is not in violation of this article. Nichols v. Frewitt Auto Co. (Civ. App.) 149 S. W. 1094.

Acts of defendant, a dealer in eggs, in writing to the express company which employed plaintiff, and whose rules forbade him to engage in such business on his own account, relating to the activity in such business in such express company, and in his final discharge, without malice or interference with his customers, held proper competition, and not actionable as an interference with plaintiff's business. Swift & Co. v. Albertype Co. (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 465.

A contract giving plaintiff the exclusive right to bottle "Jersey-Creme," a drink, in a certain part of the country, by which the plaintiff agreed to use defendant's copyrighted labels and bottles and to buy the syrup for making such drink from the defendant, was a "conspiracy in restraint of trade" within this article; the bottles and labels being only
Art. 7799. Acts and things mentioned declared illegal.—Any and all trusts, monopolies and conspiracies in restraint of trade, as herein defined, are prohibited and declared to be illegal. [Id. sec. 4.]

Art. 7800. Charters forfeited.—Any corporation holding a charter under the laws of the state of Texas which shall violate any of the provisions of this chapter shall thereby forfeit its charter and franchise, and its corporate existence shall cease and determine. [Id. sec. 5.]

Validity.—That anti-trust statutes have no application to interstate commerce held not to affect the power of the court to apply them to domestic commerce, so as to forfeit permit of foreign corporation for violation thereof. Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v. State, 19 C. A. 1, 44 S. W. 335.

The (anti-trust) law tested by the decision of the United States (In the Connolly Case) is valid to the extent that it authorizes the state to revoke the license of a foreign corporation or to forfeit the charter of a domestic corporation for acts done which are forbidden by the anti-trust law. State v. Shippers' Compress & Warehouse Co., 96 T. 603, 69 S. W. 61.

Art. 7801. Attorney general to institute quo warranto proceedings.—For a violation of any of the provisions of this chapter, or any anti-trust laws of this state, by any corporation, it shall be the duty of the attorney general, upon his motion and without leave or order of any judge or court, to institute suit or quo warranto proceedings in Travis county, or at the county seat of any county in the state which the attorney general may select, for the forfeiture of its charter rights and franchises, and the dissolution of its corporate existence; and for such purposes, venue is hereby given to each district court in the state of Texas. [Id. sec. 6. Amended Acts 1909, p. 281.]

Art. 7802. Successors to defaulting corporations prohibited from doing business.—When a corporation organized under the laws of this state shall have been convicted of a violation of any of the provisions of this chapter, and its charter and franchise has been forfeited, as provided in article 7800, no other corporation to which the defaulting corporation may have transferred its properties and business, or which has assumed the payment of its obligations, shall be permitted to incorporate or do business in Texas. [Acts 1903, p. 119, sec. 7.]

Art. 7803. Foreign corporations prohibited from doing business.—Every foreign corporation violating any of the provisions of this chapter is hereby denied the right and is prohibited from doing any business within this state; and it shall be the duty of the attorney general to enforce this provision by injunction or other proceedings in the district court of Travis county, in the name of the state of Texas. [Id. sec. 8.]

In general.—The courts of Texas have the power of interpretation of the statutes of Texas. What they say the statutes of that state mean, we must accept them to mean, whether it is declared by limiting the objects of their general language or by separating their provisions into valid and invalid parts. Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v. Texas, 177 U. S. 28, 20 Sup. Ct. 518, 44 L. Ed. 657.

A corporation is the creature of the law and none of its powers are original. They are precisely what the incorporating act has made them and can only be exerted in the manner in which that act authorizes. In other words, the state prescribed the purposes of a corporation and the means of executing those purposes. Purposes and means are within the state's control. This is true as to domestic corporations. It has even a broader application to foreign corporations. Id.

The charter of a corporation confers its powers and the means of executing them, and such powers and means can only be exercised in other states by the permission of the latter. Id.

Having no absolute right of recognition in other states, but depending for such recognition and enforcement of its contract upon their assent, it follows, as a matter of course, that such assent may be granted upon such terms and conditions as those states may think proper. Id. They may exclude the foreign corporation entirely; they may restrict its business to particular localities or they may exact such security for the performance of its contracts with their citizens as in their judgment will best promote the public interest. The whole matter rests in their discretion. Id.

A corporation does not have the rights of its personal members and can not invoke that provision of section 2, article 4, of the constitution of the United States which gives to the citizens of each state the privileges and immunities of citizens of the several states. The statute of 1889 therefore was a condition upon the plaintiff in error (the Waters-Pierce Oil Company), within the power of the state to impose, and whatever its limits-tions were upon the power of contracting, whatever its discriminations were, they became conditions of the permit and were accepted with it. The statute was not repealed by the statute of 1889. The only substantial addition made by the latter was to exclude from its provisions organizations of laborers for the purpose of maintaining a standard of wages. Id.

The act of 1895 is either constitutional or unconstitutional. If it is constitutional the plaintiff in error (the Waters-Pierce Oil Company) has no right to complain of it. If unconstitutional it does not affect the act of 1889, and that imposes valid conditions upon the plaintiff in error, and their violation subjected its permit to do business in the state to forfeiture. Id.

Foreign corporation held no less responsible for infraction of anti-trust law by its agent because in so doing the agent's acts involved a criminal responsibility. Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v. State, 19 C. A. 1, 44 S. W. 935.

So much of the anti-trust statutes of 1889 and 1899 as authorize the cancellation and forfeiture of a charter or of permit to do business within the state is constitutional and valid. National Cotton Oil Co. v. State (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 615.

Art. 7804. Quo warranto proceedings.—The provisions of title 114, to prescribe the remedy and regulate the proceedings by quo warranto, etc., shall, except in so far as they conflict herewith, govern and control the proceedings when instituted to forfeit any charter under this title. [Id. sec. 9.]

Art. 7805. Successor to defaulting foreign corporation prohibited from doing business.—When any foreign corporation has been convicted of a violation of any of the provisions of this chapter, and its right to do business in this state has been forfeited, as provided in article 7803 of this chapter, no other corporation to which the defaulting corporation may have transferred its properties and business, or which has assumed the payment of its obligations, shall be permitted to incorporate or do business in Texas. [Id. sec. 10.]

Art. 7806. Penalties; venue; fees of attorney general.—Each and every firm, person, corporation or association of persons, who shall in any manner violate the provisions of this chapter, shall, for each and every day that such violation shall be committed or continued, forfeit and pay a sum of not less than fifty nor more than fifteen hundred dollars, which may be recovered in the name of the state of Texas in the district court of any county in the state of Texas, and venue is hereby given to such district courts; provided, that when any suit shall have been filed in any county and jurisdiction thereof acquired, it shall not be transferred to any other county, except upon change of venue allowed by the court; and it shall be the duty of the attorney general, or the district or county attorney under the direction of the attorney general, to prosecute for the recovery of the same; and the fees of the district or county attorney for representing the state in all anti-trust proceedings, or for the collection of penalties for the violation of the anti-trust laws of this state, shall be ten per cent of the amount collected up to and including the sum of fifty thousand dollars, and five per cent on all sums in excess of the first fifty thousand dollars, to be retained by him when collected; and all such fees which he may collect shall be over and above the fees allowed under the general fee bill; provided, that the provisions of this chapter as to the fees allowed the prosecuting attorney shall not apply to any case in which judgment has heretofore been rendered in any court, nor to any moneys to be hereafter collected upon any such judgment heretofore rendered in any court, whether such judgment or judgments are pending upon appeal or otherwise; and provided, further, that the district or county attorney who joins in the institution or prosecution of any suit for the recovery of penalties for a violation of any of the anti-trust laws of this state, who shall, previous to the collection of such penalties, cease to hold office, he shall be entitled to an equal division with his successor of the fee collected in said cause; and in case of the employment of special counsel by any such district or county attorney, the contract so made shall be binding upon such prosecuting officer making such contract and thereafter retiring from office; provided, further, that in case any suit is compromised before any final judgment in the trial court is had, then the fees herein provided for shall be reduced one-half.  [Id. sec. 11. Amended Acts 1909, p. 281.]

Repeal of law.—The anti-trust law of 1903 (Gen. Laws, p. 119, c. 94) does not repeal the provision of the anti-trust act of 1899 (Acts 1899, p. 246, c. 146), giving the county attorney a fee of 25 per cent. of penalties recovered for violations of the latter law before this law took effect. State v. Brady (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 396, reversed 102 T. 496, 118 S. W. 128.

Ground of action.—Where an action is brought to recover a penalty allowed by the anti-trust statutes of Texas, held, that no right of the state to the penalties could be based on the ground that the contract created a monopoly at common law or was in violation of the anti-trust statutes of the United States. Ft. Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. State (Civ. App.) 88 S. W. 370.

In an action by the state for the penalty prescribed by this article, the fact that the petition annexes, as an exhibit, the contract relied on, which contains blanks which could not be filled by parol evidence in a suit between the parties thereto will not render the petition bad; the making of the contract, and not the contract itself, being the foundation of the suit, so that, the contract being merely evidence, it is immaterial that it only supports the petition in part. State v. Racine Sattley Co. (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 406.

Inquiry as to offense.—While the language of this statute is imperative, it necessarily implies that before the officer acts he must look into the facts and find not only that there is ground to believe that an offense has been committed but that enough evidence to a successful prosecution can be procured. Lewright v. Bell, 94 T. 556, 63 S. W. 623.

Verdict.—The verdict ($1,623,900) is not so large, being under the maximum permitted by law, as to render it manifest that the jury were actuated by prejudice or other improper motives. Waters—Pierce Oil Co. v. State, 48 C. A. 352, 100 S. W. 625.

Art. 7807. All agreements in violation of, void.—Any contract or agreement in violation of the provisions of this chapter shall be absolutely void and not enforceable either in law or equity.  [Acts 1903, p. 119, sec. 12.]

Validity of contracts.—Contract of insurance held valid, though insured is a member of a trust. Springfield Fire & Marine Ins. Co. v. Cannon (Civ. App.) 46 S. W. 375. Indebtedness for hydrant rentals, under contract with the assignee of the vendee of the city's waterworks, held not void because the franchise granted to the vendee created a monopoly. City of Tyler v. L. L. Jester & Co. (Civ. App.) 74 S. W. 355.

Right of action for breach of contract.—Contract by which defendant was to sell no other goods than those of plaintiff held in restraint of trade, so that plaintiff could not recover for goods furnished. S. S. White Dental Mfg. Co. v. Hertzberg (Civ. App.) 51 S. W. 355.

Defendant cannot recover on claim in reconvocation for damages for breach of a contract which is violative of statute against monopolies. Pasteur Vaccine Co. v. Burkey, 23 C. A. 233, 54 S. W. 804.

A contract by the president and teller of a bank to recover control of sufficient stock to secure the election of a satisfactory board of directors and their own re-election as officers, and to share the expense, is illegal, and expenses incurred thereunder by one cannot be recovered of the other. Withers v. Edmonds, 25 C. A. 189, 62 S. W. 755.

In view of this article the buyer could not maintain an action for damages for breach of a contract to sell grain which included provisions in restraint of trade contrary to the act. Star Mill & E. Co. v. Ft. Worth Grain & E. Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 604.

Judgment.—In an action on a note by a licensee, given in payment of property purchased under the license, where the licensee seeks a rescission on the ground of fraud and tender property recouped under the license of a judgment which requires him to return the property so tendered, even though contract is in violation of statute against trusts. Clark v. Cyclone Woven-Wire Fence Co., 22 C. A. 41, 54 S. W. 392.

Art. 7808. Actions under this chapter to have precedence.—All actions authorized and brought under this chapter shall have precedence, on motion of the prosecuting attorney or the attorney general, of all other business, civil and criminal, except criminal cases where the defendants are in jail.  [Id. sec. 16.]

Art. 7809. Recovery against one does not bar recovery against others.—Recovery against any person or persons for any violation of the provisions of this chapter shall not bar recovery against any other person or persons for the same offense.  [Acts 1907, p. 456, sec. 20.]
CHAPTER TWO

EVIDENCE IN TRUST CASES

Art. 7810. Evidence preliminary to prosecutions, how secured.—

Upon the application of the attorney general, or of any of his assistants, or of any district or county attorney, acting under the direction of the attorney general, made to any county judge, or any justice of the peace, in this state, stating that he has reason to believe that a witness, who is to be found in the county in which such county judge or justice of the peace is an officer, knows of a violation of any of the provisions of the preceding chapter, it shall be the duty of the county judge, or of the justice of the peace, as the case may be, before whom such application is made, to have summoned and to have examined such witness in relation to violations of any of the provisions of said chapter, said witness to be summoned as provided for in criminal cases. The said witness shall be duly sworn; and the county judge, or justice of the peace, as the case may be, shall cause the statements of the witness to be reduced to writing and signed and sworn to before him, such sworn statement shall be delivered to the attorney general, his assistants, or the district or county attorney, upon whose application the witness was summoned. Should the witness summoned as aforesaid fail to appear, or to make statements of the facts within his knowledge, under oath, or to sign the same after it has been reduced to writing, he shall be guilty of contempt of court, and may be fined not exceeding one hundred dollars, and may be attached and imprisoned in the county jail until he shall make a full statement of all the facts within his knowledge with reference to the matter inquired about. Any person who shall testify before any county judge, or justice of the peace, as provided for in this article, or who shall testify as a witness for the state in the course of any statutory proceeding to secure testimony for the enforcement of the provisions of the preceding chapter, or in the course of any judicial proceeding to enforce the provisions of said chapter shall not be subject to indictment or prosecution for any transaction, matter or thing concerning which he shall so give evidence, documentary or otherwise. [Acts 1907, p. 221, sec. 15.]

Witnesses.—The provision in this section relating to the securing of testimony does not apply to an examination before a grand jury, or district court. It is confined to examinations before a justice of the peace. Ex parte Andrews, 61 Cr. R. 79, 100 S. W. 378. (This decision was rendered before the amendment was made.)

Art. 7811. Witnesses examined; books and papers produced.—

Whenever any suit shall be instituted, or is pending in any court of competent jurisdiction in this state by the attorney general, or by any district or county attorney acting under his direction, against any corporation or corporations, individual or individuals, or association of individuals, or joint stock associations, or copartnerships under any law of this state, against trusts, monopolies or conspiracies in restraint of trade, or under any laws of this state regulating or controlling corporations, domestic or foreign, the attorney general, district or county at-
Art. 7812. Evidence, how taken.—Whenever any action is commenced or is pending, as contemplated in the preceding article of this chapter, by the attorney general, or by any district or county attorney acting under his direction, and said officer representing the state, either upon the trial of the case, or in preparation for the trial thereof, desires to take the testimony of any officer, director, agent or employé of any foreign or domestic corporation or joint stock association proceeded against, or in case of any co-partnership, any member thereof, or in case of any individual or individuals, either of them, and the person or persons whose testimony is desired, resides either within or without the state of Texas, the said officer shall file in said court where the action is brought, either in term time or in vacation, or with any special commissioner, who may be appointed by the court to take testimony, as provided for in this act, a statement in writing setting forth the name or names and residence of the person or persons whose testimony he desires to take, and in a general way shall designate any books, papers or documents he desires produced, and the time when and place where, either within or without this state, he desires such person to appear and testify, or to produce books, papers and documents, if any are desired; and thereupon the judge of said court, or the commissioner, as the case may be, before whom said testimony is being or shall be taken, shall immediately issue a notice in writing, directed to the attorney or attorneys of record in said cause, or the agent, officer, or employé of any corporation or joint stock association, or directed to the attorney or attorneys of record of any co-partnership, individual or individuals, or to any member of such co-partnership, or to any individual or individuals, who are defendant or defendants in said action, notifying said attorney or attorneys of record, or officer, agent or employé, aforesaid, or member or members of any co-partnership, or individual, as herein provided, that the testimony of the person or persons named in said notice is desired, and requiring said attorney or attorneys of record, or such officer, agent or employé aforesaid, or member of such co-partnership, or any individual to whom said notice is delivered, or upon whom the same is served, to notify and have said witness or witnesses, whose testimony or evidence it is desired to take, at the place named in said notice, at the time fixed therein, before the court or special commissioner named, then and there to testify, and then and there to have and produce such books, papers and documents as are called for, and for any of the purposes herein provided; provided, that, if the taking of such evidence be not concluded on the day and date specified in said notice, the court or the commissioner, as the case may be, may continue the taking of same from day to day, or adjourn from day to day, at the same place, until the taking of such evidence has been concluded. [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7813. Judgment by default on failure to produce books, papers, etc.—Whenever any officer, director, agent or employé of any foreign or domestic corporation, or joint stock association, authorized to do business in this state, or any member of any co-partnership, or any individual, against whom suit has been filed, or is pending, as provided for in this chapter, or the attorney or attorneys of record of any such corporation, joint stock association, co-partnership, or individual, shall be notified in accordance with the provisions of this chapter that any of the books, papers or documents belonging to such corporation, joint stock association, co-partnership, or individual, are wanted before the court, or special commissioner, as provided in this chapter, it shall be the duty of such defendant corporation, joint stock association, co-partnership, or individual, as the case may be, to produce and present, or cause to be produced and presented, as required in said notice, all such books, papers and documents belonging to any such defendant, or under such defendant's control, as may be specified in said notice, in court or before said special commissioner, at the time and place so specified; and, in the event of the failure or refusal of any such corporation, joint stock association, co-partnership or individual, to comply with any of the provisions of this article, it shall be the duty of the court, upon the motion of the officer representing the state, to strike out all the pleadings, answers, motions, reply or demurrer theretofore or thereafter filed in such case by such defendant corporation, joint stock association, co-partnership, or individual, as the case may be and render judgment by default against any such defendant. [Id. sec. 3.]

Art. 7814. Notice to attorneys on failure to produce documents; judgment by default, when.—Whenever any attorney or attorneys of record, or any agent, officer, or employé of any corporation or joint stock association, proceeded against as herein provided, shall be notified that any officer, director, agent or employé of any such corporation or joint stock association is wanted before said court or any special commissioner, as provided herein, to give his testimony or to produce any such books, papers or documents of said corporation or joint stock association, as the case may be, or if any attorney or attorneys of record of any co-partnership or individual shall be notified that any member or members of said co-partnership or any individual, who are defendants in any such action, are desired as witnesses, or to produce books, papers or documents before any court, or before any special commissioner appointed to take testimony in said proceeding, as herein provided, it shall be the duty of such attorney or attorneys of record, or any such officer, director, agent or employé to immediately notify any such person of the time and place where he shall attend and give his testimony, or produce any such books, papers or documents, if any are desired; and, if the person or persons whose testimony is desired as herein provided, shall fail to appear, or appearing shall refuse to testify, or shall fail to produce whatever books, papers or documents he or they may be ordered to produce, as before provided, then it shall be the duty of the court, upon motion of the attorney general, district or county attorney, as the case may be, on proof of such refusal, failure or dereliction, to strike out the answer, motion, reply, demurrer or other pleading theretofore or thereafter filed in such action, by said delinquent defendant, who has himself, or being a corporation or joint stock association, whose officer, agent, director or employé, as herein provided, has refused or failed to attend and testify, or to produce all books, papers or documents demanded, which were in the custody or subject to the control of such witness or witnesses, or corporation or joint stock association; and said court shall, in the event of any such refusal or failure, proceed to render judgment by default against any such defendant; provided, however, that if any such defendant shall file a sworn denial in writing, in said court, setting forth that such failure or refusal did not arise by reason of any fault or procurement of defendant, the court shall hear evidence upon that issue; and if the defendant shows to the satisfaction of the court that any witness who failed to attend did not do so at the instance or procurement of said defendant, or that the books, papers or documents demanded were not in its possession or control and could not be produced, and that such defendant had complied with all the provisions of this chapter, within such defendant's power to perform, then in that event the answer, motion, reply, demurrer, or other pleadings shall not be stricken out or judgment by default taken because of the failure of the witness to attend, who could not be so procured, or because of the failure to produce the books, papers or documents not in the possession or under the control of such defendant; but the court shall have the power to enter such further orders in respect to the matter in controversy as it may deem necessary for the proper administration of justice; provided, further, that, in any proceeding had before a special commissioner as herein provided, the certificate of the special commissioner showing the failure or refusal of any such witness or witnesses to appear and testify, or to produce any books, papers or documents desired, shall be sufficient prima facie evidence of such failure, refusal or dereliction on the part of any such defendant, when same is filed in court. Any witness attending any proceeding herein provided for in compliance with any notice or subpoena issued by authority of this act shall receive as compensation one dollar per day for each day of his attendance, and four cents per mile traveled, computed upon the shortest practicable route; any claim for fees and mileage shall be filed with the court, or special commissioner, and sworn to by said witness, and shall be taxed up as costs, and collected as other costs in civil cases. [Id. sec. 4.]

Art. 7815. Special commission to take testimony; powers of; compensation.—The court, or presiding judge thereof, in which any proceeding as herein provided is pending, in term time or in vacation, upon application therefor made by the attorney general, or district or county attorney acting under his direction, shall appoint some well qualified disinterested person as special commissioner to take testimony in any such case, at any point either within or without the state, as designated in such application, or where requested by either party to said cause of action, upon the issues joined in said cause. Such special commissioner shall have full power and authority to issue notices provided for in article 7812 of this chapter, and to issue subpoenas for witnesses, compelling the attendance of such witnesses, the production of books, papers or documents, to issue attachments, to punish for contempt to the same extent as provided by law for said court, to administer oaths to witnesses, to have all witnesses examined orally, which testimony shall be reduced to writing and may be taken down by a competent stenographer and transcribed, and shall be signed and sworn to by said witness. The person appointed as special commissioner in any case shall qualify by taking oath prescribed by the constitution of this state for officers, and shall, with all convenient speed, certify and return the testimony taken by him to the court appointing him; and said commissioner shall note all objections to testimony, and shall not exclude any testimony; and all questions as to the materiality or admissibility of same shall be reserved for the court trying the case; and such testimony so taken may be read in evidence upon the trial of the suit in which same was taken, subject to any legal objections which might be made to same. The compensation of such commissioner shall be his actual expenses in traveling and such fees as are allowed a notary public in taking depositions, to be taxed up as costs and collected in the same manner as now provided by law for district clerks in civil cases. [Id. sec. 5.]

Art. 7816. Ten days' notice to require witnesses to appear.—When any notice is issued and served, as provided for in this chapter, ten full days exclusive of the day of service shall elapse before any witness so requested shall be compelled to appear and testify, or produce any books, papers or documents called for; and, if the taking of testimony shall not be concluded on the date named in said notice, the witness or witnesses shall remain in attendance from day to day until same is completed or said witness is finally discharged by the court, or commissioner, as the case may be; service of said notice and the return thereon may be made by any sheriff or constable of this state, or by any disinterested person competent to make oath of the fact, and shall be made by said person executing the same by delivering to the person or persons, attorney or attorneys to be served, a true copy of such notice, and return of such service shall be indorsed on or attached to the original notice; it shall state when the same was served and the manner of service, and upon whom served, and shall be signed; and, if served by any person other than an officer, shall be sworn to by the party making the service before some officer authorized by law to take affidavits; and such affidavit shall be certified under the hand and official seal of such officer. [Id. sec. 6.]

Art. 7817. Witnesses testifying not subject to prosecution.—Any witness for the state, who shall testify or produce any books, papers or documents in any proceeding or examination under the provisions of this chapter, shall not be subject to indictment or prosecution for any transaction, matter or thing, concerning which he truthfully testifies or produces evidence, documentary or otherwise. [Id. sec. 7.]

Art. 7818. Provisions of this chapter cumulative.—The provisions of this chapter shall be cumulative of all laws of this state, and shall not be construed as repealing any other law relating to the taking of testimony or evidence; but shall be construed as providing an additional means of securing evidence for the enforcement of the laws, as herein provided. [Id. sec. 8.]

DEcisions RELATING TO SUBJECT IN GENERAL

Evidence of violation of the law.—Evidence in action for violation of antitrust law held sufficient to connect corporation therewith. Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v. State, 19 C. A. 1, 44 S. W. 936.

The charter of a compress company, Incorporated for constructing, purchasing, and maintaining cotton compresses in various counties of the state, held not subject to forfeiture, under the evidence, on the ground that its incorporation was procured for creating a monopoly in compressing cotton. State v. Shippers' Compress & Warehouse Co. (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 1049.

The purchase of six cotton compresses by a cotton compress company on one day held not to show that the object of incorporation was to do a lawful act to effect an unlawful purpose,—the restraint of trade. State v. Shippers' Compress & Warehouse Co., 96 T. 603, 69 S. W. 68.

Where an agreement in violation of the anti-trust law of 1903 (Acts 1903, c. 94) has been made, and one party pursues the course of conduct agreed on, the law presumes that the acts done by him were the result of the agreement, so that the parties thereto are liable. State v. Racine Sattley Co. (Civ. App.) 134 S. W. 400.

Evidence in an action by one grain dealer against another for breach of a contract to sell and deliver oats to plaintiff held to show that the contract bound plaintiff not to buy grain from the growers or other persons not regularly engaged in the grain business. Star Mill & Elevator Co. v. Ft. Worth Grain & Elevator Co. (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 604.

TITLE 131

WAREHOUSES AND WAREHOUSEMEN

Art. 7819. Who and what are public warehouses and warehousemen. All persons, firms, companies or corporations who shall receive cotton, tobacco, wheat, rye, oats, rice, oil, or any kind of produce, wares, merchandise, or any description or personal property in store for hire, under the provisions of this Act, shall be deemed and taken to be public warehousemen; and all warehouses which shall be owned or controlled, conducted and managed in accordance with the provisions of this Act, shall be deemed and taken to be public warehouses, provided that a public warehouse for the storage of cotton may, within the meaning of this Act, include a lot or parcel of land inclosed with a lawful fence, the gates or entrances to which shall be kept securely locked at night. [Acts 1901, p. 251, sec. 1. Acts 1913, S. S., p. 93, sec. 2, amending Art. 7819, Rev. St. 1911.]

Art. 7820. Certificate and bond of public warehousemen. The owner, proprietor, lessee or manager of any public warehouse, whether an individual, firm or corporation, before transacting any business in such public warehouse shall procure from the county clerk of the county in which the warehouse or warehouses are situated, a certificate that he is transacting business as a public warehouseman under the laws of the state of Texas, which certificate shall be issued by said clerk upon a written application, setting forth the location and name of such warehouse or warehouses, and the name of each person, individual, or a member of the firm, interested as owner or principal in the management of the same, or, if the warehouse is owned or managed by a corporation, the names of the president, secretary and treasurer of such corporation shall be stated, which application shall be received and filed by such clerk and preserved in his office, and the said certificate shall give authority to carry on and conduct the business of a public warehouse within the meaning of this Act, and shall be revocable only by the district court of the county in which the warehouse or warehouses are situated, upon a proceeding before the court, on complaint by written petition of any person, setting forth the particular violation of the law, and upon process, procedure and proof, as in other civil cases. The person receiving a certificate, as herein provided for, shall file with the county clerk granting same, a bond payable to the state of Texas, with good and sufficient surety, to be approved by said clerk, in the penal sum of five thousand dollars, conditioned for the faithful performance of his duty as a public warehouseman, which said bond shall be filed and

Art. 7821. Form and record of warehouse receipts; duplicates, when issued.—On application of the owner or depositor of the property stored in a public warehouse, the warehouseman shall issue, over his own signature, or that of his duly authorized agent, a public warehouse receipt therefor, to the order of the person entitled thereto; which receipt shall purport to be issued by a public warehouse, shall bear date of the day of its issue, and shall state upon its face the name of the warehouse and its location, the description, quantity, number and marks of the property stored, where such receipt is for cotton it shall state the class and weight, and the date on which it was originally received in warehouse, and that it is deliverable upon the return of the receipt, properly indorsed by the person to whose order it was issued, and on payment of all charges for storage, and insurance, which charges shall be stated on the face of the receipt. All such receipts shall be numbered consecutively, in the order of their issue; and when such receipt is for cotton, the receipt shall state whether the cotton therein described is exposed to the weather or is under shelter; and a correct record of such receipts shall be kept in a well-bound book, which shall be, at all reasonable hours, open to examination by any interested person; and no two receipts bearing the same number shall be issued from the same warehouse during the same year, nor shall any duplicate receipts be issued, except in the case of a lost or destroyed receipt, in which case the new receipt shall bear the same date and number as the original, and shall be plainly marked on its face, "duplicate" and provided, that no such duplicate receipt shall be issued by the public warehouseman until adequate security acceptable to the warehouseman be deposited with or to the order of said warehouseman, to protect the party or parties who may finally hold the original receipt in good faith and for a valuable consideration. [Acts 1901, p. 251, sec. 3. Acts 1913, S. S., p. 93, sec. 4, amending Art. 7821, Rev. St. 1911.]

Art. 7821a. Control by commissioner of insurance and banking; powers and duties.—The supervision of public warehouses shall be under the control of the commissioner of insurance and banking, whose duty it shall be to prescribe all forms of receipts, certificates, and records of whatsoever description necessary in the conduct of the business of public warehouses; and in providing forms for handling those products which are of general commercial character, the said commissioner shall prescribe forms answering to all usual requirements of negotiable receipts of certificates. The commissioner of insurance and banking is hereby empowered and directed to make not less than one examination each year of all such public warehouses, the necessary expense of such examination or examinations to be paid by the warehouse. [Acts 1913, S. S., p. 93, sec. 5.]

Art. 7821b. Commissioner to provide uniform warehouse receipt for cotton; contents.—The commissioner of insurance and banking shall provide a uniform public warehouse receipt for cotton which shall be used by all public warehouses coming under the provisions of this Act, which said receipt shall conform in all respects to the provisions herein set out. In addition to the other provisions such receipt shall have a blank form on the back thereof, to be filled in and signed by the owner of the cotton showing whether or not such cotton is free from encumbrance or liens of any kind. [Id. sec. 6.]

Art. 7821c. Liens to be stated in receipt; not in non-negotiable receipt; stamp.—If there is any encumbrance or liens of any kind on said cotton at the time of its storage the nature and amount of same shall be clearly set out and it is hereby made the duty of the public warehouseman or his authorized agent issuing the receipt, to have said blank filled in and signed by the owner of the cotton before issuing a negotiable receipt against same; provided, however, such statement need not be made if a non-negotiable receipt is desired, but in such cases the public warehouseman issuing said receipt shall write or stamp across the face thereof the words “not negotiable.” [Id. sec. 7.]

Art. 7821d. Change of non-negotiable for negotiable receipt; how made.—If a person holding a non-negotiable receipt for cotton as is herein provided for, shall desire to obtain a negotiable receipt in lieu thereof, he shall return said non-negotiable receipt to the public warehouse issuing same and thereupon shall comply in every respect with the provisions of this chapter relating to negotiable receipts, and upon compliance therewith a negotiable receipt shall be issued to him in lieu of said non-negotiable receipt, and said non-negotiable receipt thereupon shall be cancelled, and the word “cancelled” plainly marked in ink across the face thereof. [Id. sec. 8.]

Note.—Section 9 makes it a felony to insert a false statement as to liens.

Art. 7822. No receipts without actual storage of goods.—No public warehouse receipt shall be issued except upon the actual previous delivery of the goods in the public warehouse or on the premises, and under the control of the public warehouseman by whom it purports to be issued; and the name of the warehouse shall invariably be specified in such receipt. Acts 1901, p. 251, sec. 4. Acts 1913, S. S., p. 93, sec. 10, amending Art. 7822, Rev. St. 1911.]

Art. 7823. Must deliver property immediately upon production of receipt.—On the presentation and return to the warehouseman of any public warehouse receipt issued by him and properly indorsed, and the tender of all proper warehouse charges upon the property represented by it, such property shall be delivered immediately to the holder of such receipt; but no public warehouseman who shall issue a receipt for goods shall, under any circumstances or upon any order or guarantee whatsoever, deliver the property for which receipts have been issued, until the said receipt shall have been surrendered and cancelled, except in case of lost receipts, as provided for in section 4 [Art. 7821]; and, in default of the strict compliance with the provisions of this article, he shall be held liable to the legal holder of the receipt for the full value of the property therein described, as it appeared on the day of the default, and shall, furthermore, be liable to the special penalty herein provided. Upon delivery of the goods from the warehouse, upon any receipt, such receipt shall be plainly marked in ink across its face with the words “cancelled,” with the name of the person cancelling the same, and shall thereafter be void, and shall not again be put in circulation. [Acts 1901, p. 251, sec. 5. Acts 1913, S. S., p. 93, sec. 11, amending Art. 7823, Rev. St. 1911.]

Care of property stored.—Compress company held bound to use ordinary care in storage of cotton delivered. Loeb Compress Co. v. L. G. Bromberg & Co. (Civ. App.) 140 S. W. 475.

Duty as to delivery in general.—The duty of a warehouseman to return the bailed goods stated, as well as his liability for not doing so. Rex v. James (Civ. App.) 181 S. W. 248.

Control of property after transfer of receipt.—A transfer of a bonded warehouse receipt for whisky places it beyond the transferee's control, without giving notice to the warehousemen. Friedman v. Peters, 18 C. A. 11, 44 S. W. 572.

Delivery to person not the holder of receipt.—Where a compress company shipped cotton on the order of R., who was not the holder of the warehouse receipts, and was compelled to purchase other cotton for delivery to the holder of the receipts, R. was liable to it for the cotton so purchased. National Bank of Denison v. Roundtree (Civ. App.) 115 S. W. 639.

One receiving goods and issuing a receipt therefor held a bailee for any person to whom the receipt is transferred, and cannot justify a nondelivery to an assignee by proof of a delivery to the depositor without notice of the assignment. Stamford Compress Co. v. Farmers' & Merchants' Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1160.

A warehouseman held guilty of gross negligence in delivering the bailed goods to another. Rex v. James (Civ. App.) 131 S. W. 248.
Art. 7824. Limitations of liability in receipts prohibited.—No public warehouseman shall insert in the public warehouse receipt issued by him any language limiting or modifying his liabilities or responsibilities as imposed by the laws of this state, excepting, "not accountable for leakage or depreciation," or words of like import and meaning. [Acts 1901, p. 251, sec. 6. Acts 1913, S. S., p. 93, sec. 12, amending Art. 7824, Rev. St. 1911.]

Art. 7825. Force and effect of warehouse receipts; negotiable, etc. —The receipt issued against property stored in public warehouses, as herein provided for shall be negotiable and transferable by endorsement in blank or by special endorsement, and delivery in the same manner and to the same extent as bills of exchange and promissory notes now are, without other formality; and the transferee or holder of such public warehouse receipt shall be considered and held as the actual and exclusive owner, to all intents and purposes, of the property therein described, subject only to the lien and privilege of the public warehouseman for storage and other warehouse charges; provided, however, that all such public warehouse receipts as shall have the words "not negotiable" plainly written or stamped on the face thereof, shall be exempt from the provisions of this article; and provided, further, that no public warehouseman shall issue warehouse receipts against his own property in his own warehouse; but, upon sale of such property in good faith may issue to the purchaser his public warehouse receipt in form and manner as herein provided, which issue and delivery of the receipt shall be deemed to complete the sale, and shall constitute the purchaser full owner, as aforesaid, of the property therein described. Nothing in this last clause shall be construed to exempt the issuer of said receipt for his own goods in his own public warehouse, from complying with and being subject in all respects, to all other articles of this chapter. [Acts 1901, p. 251, sec. 7. Acts 1913, S. S., p. 93, sec. 13, amending Art. 7825, Rev. St. 1911.]

Negotiability.—A cotton compress ticket held not negotiable. Stamford Compress Co. v. Farmers' & Merchants' Nat. Bank (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1160; Stamford Compress Co. v. Farmers' & Merchants' Nat. Bank, 106 T. 44, 143 S. W. 1142, 144 S. W. 1130.

Rights of assignee of non-negotiable receipt.—At common law the assignee of a non-negotiable warehouse receipt for cotton could not recover against the warehouseman because in the absence of notice of the assignment the assignee never became bailor to the warehouseman. Stamford Compress Co. v. Farmers' & Merchants' Nat. Bank, 106 T. 44, 143 S. W. 1142, 144 S. W. 1130.

Rights of assignee of non-negotiable warehouse receipt cannot recover against the issuing warehouseman for conversion of the stored goods, in the absence of notice to the warehouseman of the assignment. Stephenville Compress Co. v. First Nat. Bank of Stephenville (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 335.

Rights of assignee for security.—A bank which held warehouse receipts for certain cotton as security held not to have lost the right to possession of the cotton by acceptance of a note on sale of the cotton. National Bank of Cleburne v. Citizens' Nat. Bank, 41 C. A. 635, 93 S. W. 209.

Receipts issued for cotton by a compress company to a railroad company and exchanged by the latter for bills of lading held by the bank for security gave the bank a right to possession of the cotton. Id.

A bank, which holds warehouse receipts to secure loans to the bailor, held not estopped to sue the warehouseman for delivery of the goods to the bailor, though the bank received money from the bailor, not knowing it was the proceeds from the goods. Stephenville Compress Co. v. First Nat. Bank of Stephenville (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 335.

An assignee of warehouse receipts to secure loans to the bailor, in suing the warehouseman for conversion by delivering the goods to the bailor, was not bound to show the exact amount of the loans; they exceeding the amount of the judgment asked for. Id.

Art. 7826. Liability for damages.—Any, every and all persons, aggrieved by the violations aforesaid, shall have the right to maintain an action against the person or persons, corporation or corporations, so violating any of the provisions of this law, for the recovery of damages which he or they may have sustained by reason of such violation aforesaid, before any court of competent jurisdiction, whether such person or persons so violating shall have been convicted of criminal offense under

Duty to procure insurance.—A contract to procure insurance on rice left to be milled and sold held to be implied by a charge for insurance. Broussard v. South Texas Rice Co. (Civ. App.) 130 S. W. 887.

In an action to recover for loss sustained by the failure to fully insure rice left with defendant to be milled and sold, evidence held to show that defendants, by their acts and dealings with plaintiff, had bound themselves to fully insure the rice. Id.

In an action for loss, sustained by the failure to fully insure rice, left with defendant to be milled and sold, in which plaintiff relies on an implied contract and trade customs so to insure, it is no defense that defendant secretly had never complied with the custom. Id.

In an action to recover for loss sustained by the failure to fully insure rice left with defendant to be milled and sold, evidence held sufficient to show that it was a custom of millers to collect so much on a sack of rice, and that the amount so collected was to pay for the full insurance of the rice. Id.

Liability incidental to insurance contracts.—Warehouseman, taking out insurance policy broad enough to cover property of another party stored with him, and under no obligation to insure such property, will not be charged with having money in trust for such other party, where a loss occurred which the insurance company settled, the amount received only covering the warehouseman’s loss. Pittman v. Harris, 24 C. A. 503, 59 S. W. 1151.

Where a policy of insurance executed to a warehouseman covers property stored with him, which is destroyed by fire, the owner thereof must show that he elected to adopt the warehouseman’s acts in procuring such insurance, and so notified him, before he can claim any benefit under such policy. Id.

A warehouseman, who had insured its property and that of a bailor for enough to cover the goods destroyed, held liable to him, having settled for less. Southern Cold Storage & Produce Co. v. A. F. Dechman & Co. (Civ. App.) 73 S. W. 545.

Insurance by a warehouseman held to inure to the benefit of a bailor. Id.

Damages for negligence of warehouseman.—Where the owner of corn stored in an elevator is unable, by reason of it being damaged through the negligence of the elevator company, to remove it at the end of the time for which it is stored and is required to pay storage for the additional time, he may recover back this excess storage as a part of his damage. Arbuckle Bros. v. Everybody’s Gin & Mill Co. (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1136.

Evidence in actions against warehouseman.—Assignees of cotton warehouse receipts held not entitled to recover against the warehouseman for failure to deliver cotton, in the absence of other evidence than the assignment. Sanger v. Travis County Farmers’ Alliance, 37 C. A. 321, 84 S. W. 856.

A party furnishing money with which to buy cotton and taking compress company’s receipts as collateral held entitled to recover for conversion against compress company and the party to whom it delivered the number of bales belonging to plaintiff, although its receipt did not describe the particular cotton covered, nor did the evidence show the particular bales covered by the receipt. First Nat. Bank v. Mineola State Bank (Civ. App.) 155 S. W. 605.

Art. 7827. Limiting operation of this law.—Nothing in this law shall be construed to apply to private warehouses or to the issue of receipts by their owners or managers under existing laws, or to prohibit public warehousmen from issuing such receipts as are now issued by private warehousmen under existing laws; provided, that such private warehouse receipts issued by public warehousmen shall never be written on a form or blank indicating that it is issued from a public warehouse, but shall, on the contrary, bear on its face, in large characters, the words, “not a public warehouse receipt.” [Acts 1901, p. 251, sec. 9. Acts 1913, S. S., p. 93, sec. 16, amending Art. 7827, Rev. St. 1911.]

Decisions Relating to Topic in General

Custom of smelting company as binding on ore shipper.—An ore shipper held not bound by a custom of a smelting company whereby the company might appropriate to its own use ore shipped to it, as to the disposal thereof the shipper failed to give directions within fifteen days after its receipt by the company. Consolidated Kansas City Smelting & Refining Co. v. Gonzales, 50 C. A. 78, 109 S. W. 346.

Delivery to ginner as bailment.—An arrangement by which a cotton ginner ginned cotton for a specified price, payable in money, and returned seed to his customers from a common mass at the rate of 64 pounds of seed for each 100 pounds of seed cotton ginned, was a bailment and not a sale. First State Bank v. Barnett, 48 C. A. 82, 106 S. W. 182.
TITLE 132
WEIGHERS—PUBLIC

[For fees, see Fees of Office.]

Art. 7828. Appointment and term of office.—The governor is authorized and required to appoint five persons as public weighers in every city which receives annually one hundred thousand bales of cotton on sale or for shipment. In all of the counties in this state in which there are no city or cities in which the governor is authorized to appoint public weighers, the commissioners' court of said county, when presented with a petition signed by a majority of the qualified voters of any justice precinct in their county, praying for the appointment or election of public weighers for said precinct, shall appoint, or order to be elected at the next general election, one or more suitable persons for public weighers for said justice precinct, the number of weighers for any one precinct to be determined by said court; and, should they appoint a public weigher for said justice precinct, he shall hold his office until the next general election, when there shall be elected for said justice precinct his successor, a public weigher, in the manner and form governing the election of other precinct officers; provided, the majority of the qualified voters shall be determined by a comparison with the whole number of votes cast at the last general election in such justice precinct for the office of governor; and it is further provided, that no person shall be elected or appointed a public weigher, unless he shall be a qualified elector in the city or justice precinct for which he is appointed or elected. All public weighers appointed by the governor or elected for justice precinct shall hold their office for the term of two years and until their successors are appointed or elected, as the case may be, and qualified, subject to removal for misconduct or incompetency in office; provided, no person shall be appointed or elected public weigher, or deputy public weigher, who is interested in the purchase or sale of cotton, wool, sugar or grain to be weighed, either as principal, agent, factor, commission merchant or employé; provided, further, that the commissioners' court may unite two or more justice precincts for the purpose of electing public weighers; provided, further, that, when the people of any county or subdivision thereof that has an elective weigher, may wish to abolish said office of public weigher, the commissioners' court of said county shall, upon petition to abolish said office signed by qualified voters at least one-third in number of the whole vote cast for governor at the last preceding election in the county or weigher's precinct, as the case may be, order an election to decide whether such office of public weigher of the county, or subdivision named in the petition, shall be abolished or not. Said election shall be held in the same manner as other elections; and, if a majority of the votes of the county, or subdivision of the county ordering said election, shall be cast in favor of abolishing any office of public weigher, the commissioners' court shall declare such office to be abolished within thirty days after the election; and another election for this purpose shall not be held for two years; and no election shall be held for this purpose until two years after said office of public weigher has been created. [Acts 1883, p. 83. Amended Acts 1899, p. 264.]

Private weighing.—See notes under Art. 7834.

Petition in suit against unauthorized weigher.—A petition in an action by a public weigher for statutory penalties and punitory damages on account of defendant weigh-
Oath and bond.—Every person appointed or elected public weigher shall take the oath of office prescribed by the constitution for other officers, and shall execute a bond with good and sufficient sureties in the sum of five thousand dollars, to be approved by the commissioners' court of his county, and payable to the county judge, or his successors in office, conditioned upon the faithful and impartial performance of the duties of the office; provided, the bond for the public weigher for a justice precinct shall be two thousand five hundred dollars where not over five thousand bales of cotton are received for sale or shipment; provided, further, that the commissioners' court shall be authorized to accept as surety on such bond any surety company or corporation having a permit in this state to execute indemnity bonds. [Acts 1903, p. 216.]

Duties.—When a person is appointed or elected public weigher, and shall have qualified as provided in article 7829, he shall enter upon the duties of his office and weigh, without unnecessary delay, all cotton, wool, sugar, hay, pecans, or grain, required to be weighed by him. He shall prepare a convenient place or places of easy access to the public in which to perform his duties. He shall mark upon the bales of cotton, hogshead or barrels of sugar, and bales of wool, or on tags attached thereto, the weights thereof in figures, and shall deliver to the owner, or his agent, of all cotton, wool, hay, sugar, pecans, or grain a certificate or a statement at the option of the owner in writing with ink or an indelible pencil, setting forth the weights of such cotton, wool, sugar, hay, pecans, or grain weighed by him, over his official signature. And where a certificate is issued it shall be negotiable by delivery and indorsement of the owner; and it shall be the duty of the public weigher issuing such certificate, if the produce for which the same was given is left with him on storage, to keep the produce for which the same was issued in his possession, and not remove or permit to be removed such produce until such certificate is returned and delivered to him; and he shall immediately stamp or mark in writing with ink such certificate, "canceled," and shall make a corresponding memorandum upon his book; provided, that, where the holder of such certificate desires to ship or receive from the possession of the public weigher a portion of the produce for which such certificate was given, he may deliver to the public weigher the certificate; whereupon it shall be the duty of the public weigher to deliver such portion of the produce, and, in lieu of the original certificate, he shall give the holder a new certificate for the balance remaining in his possession, and shall cause the original certificate to be canceled, and make the memorandum above provided for. He shall keep in a well-bound book a record of each bale of cotton, sack of wool, or barrel or hogshead of sugar, hay, grain, or pecans weighed by him, numbering the same, giving the gin's marks of cotton bales and number, with the name of the seller and purchaser thereof; which book shall be open at all reasonable hours for the inspection of the public; and he shall, upon application therefor by any one, issue certified copies of such certificate, for which he may charge the sum of ten cents, including certificate thereto. The provisions of this article shall also apply to private weighers.
who are engaged in weighing for the public, as well as to public weighers. [Id.]

Art. 7831. [4311] Deputies.—The public weighers who shall have been appointed or elected under the provisions of this title, after they have taken the oath of office, and their bonds shall have been approved and recorded in the same manner as the bonds of county officers, shall have power and authority to appoint as many deputies as may be necessary to enable them to expeditiously weigh all cotton, wool, sugar, hay and grain offered to be weighed in the cities and justice precincts for which they are elected or appointed; provided, that no public weigher shall appoint deputies for any place or places not situated in the city or justice precinct for which he is elected or appointed. The public weigher for any justice precinct shall, on request of twenty bona fide citizens of any town, railroad station or other place in his precinct, who are engaged in the buying or selling of cotton, wool, sugar, hay, or grain, appoint a deputy for such town, railroad station, or other place. The deputies of public weighers shall take the oath required of their principals; and their principals may require of them a bond with good and sufficient sureties, in the sum of fifteen hundred dollars, to be approved by said principals, and conditioned for the faithful performance of their duties; and the said principals shall have the right to recover, in any court having jurisdiction, satisfaction on said bonds for any damages sustained by reason of said deputy or deputies failing to properly perform the duties of their office. [Acts 1899, p. 264.]

Art. 7832. [4312] Shall keep accurate scales.—All public weighers appointed or elected under the provisions of this chapter shall keep accurate and well adjusted scales and balances and give accurate weights, and shall have the same tested and certified to as provided by law. Such public weighers shall be held responsible for their official acts and the official acts of their deputies, and shall be liable at suit for all damages that may have accrued to any person or persons by reason of their failure to perform their official duties, or the violation of any of the provisions of this chapter; and their bonds shall not be void upon the first recovery, but may be sued on from time to time, in the name of the person or persons injured until the whole thereof is recovered. [Id.]

Art. 7833. [4314] Factor or commission merchant not to employ.—It shall not be lawful for any factor, commission merchant, or other person or persons, to employ any other than a public weigher, or his deputies, to weigh cotton, wool, sugar, hay, or grain, or other produce, sold or offered for sale in any city or justice precinct having a public weigher duly qualified; and any person or persons violating the provisions of this article shall be liable at the suit of the public weigher of such city or justice precinct to damages in any sum not less than five dollars for each bale of cotton, bale or sack of wool, ton of hay, or ton of grain, so unlawfully weighed, to be recovered in any court having jurisdiction thereof. [Id.]

"Any factor, commission merchant or other person" construed.—This statute does not prohibit a person engaged in storing cotton for customers, but who does not transact business as a factor or commission merchant, from weighing same for his customers. The expression, "any factor, commission merchant or other person or persons," means persons engaged in similar occupations or employment as factors and commission merchants. Galt v. Holder, 32 C. A. 564, 76 S. W. 569, 570.

This article does not apply to maintaining a public warehouse and purchasing and selling produce without authority to sell for his principal and without selling in behalf of the owner, for he is a mere "warehouseman," and not a "factor," who is an agent employed to sell goods consigned on delivery to him by or for his principal for a compensation commonly called a commission (citing Words and Phrases, vol. 3, p. 2640, and vol. 8, p. 7822). Hedgepeth v. Hamilton Warehouse Co. (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 709; Id., 104 T. 496, 140 S. W. 1084.

"Other person or persons" construed.—The law is not intended to prevent ginners and warehousemen from weighing cotton for their customers or farmers offering produce for sale from having it weighed by the purchasers or by any person who may be willing to weigh it, and the words "other person or persons" mean other of the same class as fac-

Persons against whom penalty directed.—The law denounces the penalty against those who employ others than a public weigher to weigh cotton and other named produce sold or offered for sale, and is not directed against the person who weighs the produce. Whitfield v. Terrell Compress Co., 26 C. A. 235, 62 S. W. 118.

Art. 7834. [4316] Owner may weigh, etc.—Nothing in this chapter shall prevent any person, firm or corporation from weighing his own cotton, wool, sugar, hay, grain, or pecans in person; provided, that in places where there are no public weighers appointed or elected any person who shall weigh cotton, wool, sugar, grain, hay, or pecans for compensation shall be required before weighing such produce to enter into a bond with at least two good and sufficient sureties, in the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars, approved and payable as in the case of public weighers referred to in this chapter, and conditioned that he will faithfully perform the duties of his office and turn over all property weighed by him on demand of the owner; provided, that this article shall not apply to merchant flouring mills. [Acts 1905, p. 117.]

Constitutionality.—The act is constitutional. Davidson v. Sadler, 23 C. A. 600, 57 S. W. 55.

Private weighing.—This law applies to all persons who buy and sell articles specified in the statute and does away with the right of private persons to weigh the articles mentioned in the statute for pay in places where there is a public weigher, except by the owner in person. Davidson v. Sadler, 23 C. A. 600, 57 S. W. 55.

Under the statute providing for public weights, held that, except in the specified cases, one may prosecute the business of private weigher. Davis v. McInnis, 35 C. A. 694, 81 S. W. 75.

The statutes creating the office of official weigher do not prohibit private persons from weighing produce, but only forbid factors, commission merchants, etc., from weighing the cotton of others consigned to them for sale; nor is such private weighing forbidden by this article. Paschal v. Inman (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 569.

The business of private weighing is a legitimate vocation and falls within those ordinary occupations which a citizen is privileged to follow as an inalienable right, subject only to the valid exercise of the police power. Paschal v. Inman (Sup.) 157 S. W. 118.

Owner may procure any one to weigh.—The owner of produce being present and acting for himself may procure any one to weigh his produce. Martin v. Johnston, 11 C. A. 628, 33 S. W. 306; Ex parte Hunter, 34 Cr. R. 114, 29 S. W. 462.

A private weigher can weigh cotton for the owner under an oral request from him. Smith v. Wilson, 18 C. A. 24, 44 S. W. 556.

Fees of public weighers.—See Art. 2879.

Art. 7835. [4316a] Weigher liable for damages, when.—Any weigher who qualifies under the preceding article, and shall violate any of the provisions or fail to comply with any of such provisions, shall be liable at the suit of any person injured upon his bond for damages that may have accrued to such person by such violation or failure. [1d.]
TITLE 133
WEIGHTS AND MEASURES

Art. 7836. [5322] Legal standard. — The standard of weights and measures adopted and used by the government of the United States is hereby declared the only legal standard of weights and measures in this state. [Act May 7, 1846, p. 180, sec. 4. P. D. 5352.]

Art. 7837. [5323] Weights of corn, etc. — The following shall be the legal number of pounds per bushel: Wheat, sixty pounds; corn, shelled, fifty-six pounds; corn in the ear, shucked, seventy pounds, unshucked, in the ear, seventy-two pounds; oats, thirty-two pounds; barley, forty-eight pounds; rye, fifty-six pounds, buckwheat, forty-two pounds; white beans, sixty pounds; Irish potatoes, sixty pounds; sweet potatoes, fifty-five pounds; onions, fifty-seven pounds; turnips, fifty-five pounds; dried apples, twenty-eight pounds; dried potatoes, thirty-two pounds; bran, twenty pounds; Hungarian grass seed, forty-eight pounds; hemp seed, forty-four pounds; flax seed, fifty-six pounds; stone coal, eighty pounds; charcoal, twenty-eight pounds; salt, fifty pounds; clover seed, sixty pounds; timothy seed, forty-five pounds; cotton seed, thirty-two pounds; millet seed, fifty pounds; peaches, fifty pounds; tomatoes, fifty-five pounds; apples, forty-five pounds. [Acts 1883, p. 73. Amended Acts 1901, p. 271.]

Art. 7838. [5324] Governor to procure standards. — The governor shall procure, if necessary, at the expense of the state, a set of weights and measures in conformity with the standard used by the government of the United States, and cause the same to be deposited with the treasurer of the state, by him to be safely kept. [Act Feb. 13, 1858, p. 200, sec. 1. P. D. 5353.]

Art. 7839. [5325] And furnish copies to counties. — The governor is authorized to cause correct copies of such weights and measures to be made under such appropriate seal as he may adopt, and to deliver, or cause to be delivered, after the inspection and approval of some competent person by him appointed for that purpose, a full set of such weights and measures to the county judges of the several counties, on their application, and at the cost and expense of their respective counties. [Id. sec. 2. P. D. 5354.]

Art. 7840. [5326] Commissioner of agriculture may sell. — The commissioner of agriculture is authorized to sell sets, or parts of sets, of standard weights and measures heretofore manufactured in accordance with the preceding article of the Revised Statutes, at the cost of manufacturing. [Acts 1889, p. 32.]

Art. 7841. [5327] Counties to pay for same. — When such copies have been made, it shall be the duty of the several commissioners' courts to appropriate a sufficient amount of money to enable the county judges of the respective counties to pay for and procure a full set thereof for the use of their counties, and said county judges shall take charge of and keep the same. [Id. sec. 4. P. D. 5356.]
Art. 7842. [5328] License to make and vend.—The commissioners' courts of the several counties are authorized and directed to grant a license to such suitable person or persons as they may think proper to make and vend weights and measures agreeing with the standard furnished by the governor, under such rules and regulations as they may think proper to prescribe; provided, however, that no such weights and measures shall be sold or distributed, unless the same have been first examined and approved by the commissioners' court, or some competent person under their direction and approval. [Act May 7, 1846, p. 180, sec. 3. P. D. 5351.]

Art. 7843. [5329] Testing and stamping.—Any person desirous of having his weights and measures tested may have the same done by applying to the county judge, who, if he finds them correct, shall seal them with a seal to be provided by the commissioners' court for that purpose, on which shall be the capital letter "T," and also the letter with which the name of the county begins. [Act Feb. 13, 1858, p. 200, sec. 5. P. D. 5357.]

Art. 7844. [5330] False weights and measures.—Any person who shall sell by any weight, balance or measure that does not correspond to and agree with such copies, or who shall keep the same for the purpose of buying or selling thereby, shall forfeit and pay the sum of ten dollars for every month he may continue to keep the same, one-half of which shall go to the county in which such offense shall have been committed, and the other to the county judge, and it shall be his duty to sue for the penalty incurred by the commission of every such offense before some court of competent jurisdiction. [Id. sec. 7. P. D. 5359.]

Art. 7845. [5331] Private informer may recover, when.—If the county judge shall fail to sue for any such penalty within three months after the same shall have been incurred, any other person may sue therefor and recover one-half thereof for his own use and the other half for the use of the county. [Id. sec. 8. P. D. 5360.]

Requisites of Judgment.—In a qui tam action the judgment should be in favor of the informer, for the uses expressed in the statute, and not in favor of the state. Doss v. State, 6 Tex. 433.

Art. 7846. [5332] Forfeitures merely cumulative.—Nothing in the two preceding articles contained shall be construed to affect any provision of the Penal Code relating to the use of false weights and measures, nor shall a recovery of any forfeiture by civil action relieve an offender from criminal prosecution, or an action for damages resulting therefrom.
Article 7847. Wells, how cased.—The owner or operator of any well being constructed for the production of petroleum oil, natural gas, or mineral water, shall, before drilling into the oil or gas bearing rock, incase such well with good and sufficient wrought iron or steel casing, in such manner as shall exclude all surface or fresh water from the lower part of such well from penetrating the oil or gas bearing rock. Should any well be drilled through the first into a lower oil or gas bearing rock, the same shall be cased in such manner as will exclude all fresh water above the last oil or gas bearing rock penetrated. [Acts 1899, p. 68.]

Article 7848. Abandoned wells to be filled.—The owner or operator of any well constructed for either or any of the purposes named in the preceding article, when about to abandon or cease operating the same, and before drawing the casing therefrom, shall securely fill such well with rock, sediment or with mortar, composed of two parts sand and one part cement or other suitable material to the depth of two hundred feet above the top of the first oil or gas bearing rock, and also in such manner as shall prevent the gas and oil from escaping therefrom. If the owner or operator of any such well shall fail to or shall inefficiently comply with the provisions of this article, then the owner of the land upon which the well is situated shall forthwith comply therewith. If all the persons hereinbefore named shall fail to or inefficiently fill such well in the manner hereinbefore described, then it shall be lawful for any person, after written demand therefor to any of said persons, to enter the premises where such well is situated, take possession thereof and fully comply with the provisions of this article. The reasonable cost and expense thereof shall forthwith be paid by the owner or operator of the well, and on his default by the owner of the land. The amount of such reasonable cost and expense shall forthwith be a lien upon the fixtures and machinery and leasehold interest of the owner and operator of said well, as upon the title and interest of the land owner in the land upon which said well is situated, and may be recovered and enforced against said owner or operator, in the order named, in any court of competent jurisdiction. [Id. sec. 2.]

Article 7849. Gas to be confined until utilized; penalty.—Any person, co-partnership, or corporation in possession, either as owner, lessee, agent or manager, of any well producing natural gas, in order to prevent the said gas from wasting by escape, shall, within ten days after penetrating the gas bearing rock in any well hereafter drilled, shut in and confine the gas in said well until and during such time as the gas therein shall be utilized for light or fuel or power; provided, that this shall not apply to any well that is operated for oil. Any person violating the provisions of this article shall be liable to a penalty of not less than $300.00 for each offense, to be recovered, with the costs of suit, in a civil action in the name of the state of Texas, in any court of competent jurisdiction in the county in which the act shall be committed or omitted, and each day such violation continues shall be considered a separate offense. Such suit may be brought at the instance of any resident of the state of Texas, without security or liability of cost. The amount of said penalty, when collected, shall be paid one-half into the school fund of the county in which said suit is brought, and one-half to said person at whose instance said suit shall be brought. [Acts 1899, p. 68, sec. 3. Acts 1913, p. 212, sec. 1, amending Art. 7849, Rev. St. 1911.]

Art. 7850. Limitations on use of gas for illuminating purposes.—It shall be unlawful for any person, co-partnership or corporation to use natural gas for illuminating purposes by what are known as flambeau lights; but nothing herein shall prohibit the use of "Jumbo" burners, or any other burners consuming no more gas than such "Jumbo" burners, but the person, co-partnership, or corporation, consuming such gas and using such burners in the open air, shall inclose the same in glass globes or lamps; and any one using such gas in the open air, or in or around derricks, shall turn off said gas not later than eight o'clock in the morning of each day such lights are burning or used, and shall not turn on or relight the same between the hours of eight o'clock a. m. and five o'clock p. m. [Acts 1899, p. 68, sec. 4.]

Art. 7851. Penalties; disposition of fines.—Any person, co-partnership, or corporation violating any of the provisions of this chapter shall be liable to a penalty of one hundred dollars, to be recovered with the cost of suit in a civil action, in the name of the state of Texas, in any court of competent jurisdiction in the county in which the act shall be committed or omitted. Such suit may be brought at the instance of any resident of the state of Texas, without security or liability of cost. The amount of said penalty when collected shall be paid, one-half into the school fund of the county in which said suit is brought, and one-half to said person at whose instance said suit shall be brought. [Id. sec. 5.]

Art. 7852. Duties of persons where salt water appears in wells.—If any person or persons in this state, in boring any well or wells for oil, gas or mineral waters, shall pierce any cap-rock or other geological formation in such manner as to cause a flow of salt water or fresh water injurious to any oil well or wells already bored, or to any oil or gas deposits, and which shall or may probably result in the injury of such oil or gas field, or to such gas or oil wells already bored, such person or persons shall, if the flow of water can not be cased off, immediately abandon all work upon such well and plug and fill up the same in such manner and with such materials as will stop the flow of said water; and it shall be unlawful for any well owner, or person boring any such well, to remove the casing from the well drilled until the flow of water shall be stopped, either by casing off or plugging such well. The provisions of this article shall only apply where such cap-rock or other formation is pierced at a depth below the horizon at which oil or gas has already been discovered. If any well shall be abandoned from any cause, the same shall be securely plugged and sealed. [Acts 1905, p. 228, sec. 7.]

Art. 7853. District courts; jurisdiction and supervision; may appoint superintendent, make regulations, etc.—The district courts of each county in this state, and the judges thereof in vacation, shall have jurisdiction to enforce the provisions of this chapter; and they are hereby authorized and empowered, either in term time or in vacation, upon the application of any person or persons interested either as land owners, lessees of land or as well owners, in any oil or gas field in this state, in its discretion, to appoint some suitable person or persons as super-

Art. 7854. Suits and penalties, how brought.—Any person or persons, co-partnership, corporation, or association of persons, violating any of the provisions of this chapter, or who shall fail or refuse to obey any order or decree, rule or regulation, made or promulgated by said district courts requiring any act to be done or omitted shall be liable to penalty of not less than five hundred dollars nor more than five thousand dollars, to be ascertained by the verdict of the jury of the court trying the cause; said sum to be recovered with the costs of suit in a civil action brought for that purpose in the name of the state of Texas, in any court of competent jurisdiction, in the county in which the act complained of shall have been committed or omitted; and such suit may be brought at the instance of any resident of the state of Texas, without security or liability for costs; and the amount of said penalty when collected shall be paid into the school fund of the county in which said suit is brought. Such suit may be brought at the instance of either the district attorney or the county attorney of the county in which the act was committed or omitted. [Id. sec. 8.]

Art. 7854a. Wells to be plugged or shut in, etc.—If the owner of any such well shall neglect or refuse to cause said well to be plugged or shut in, as herein provided, for a period of twenty days after a written notice to do so, (which notice may be served personally upon such owner, or may be posted in a conspicuous place at or near the well), it shall be lawful for the owner or operator of any adjacent or neighboring lands to enter upon the premises where said well is situate and to cause the same to be plugged if it be an abandoned well, or shut in if not abandoned, pursuant to the provisions hereof; and the reasonable cost and expense incurred in so doing shall be paid by the owner of said well, and may be recovered as debts of like amount are by law recoverable. [Acts 1913, p. 212, sec. 2.]

Art. 7854b. Petition to restrain waste of gas; duty of district judge. —Aside from and in addition to the penalties provided in this chapter, it shall be the duty of any district judge, whether in term time or vacation, to hear and determine any petition which may be filed to restrain the waste of natural gas in violation of this Act and to issue such mandatory or restraining orders as may in his judgment, be necessary. Such petition may be filed by any citizen of the state of Texas and the same need allege no further financial interest than the petitioner possesses in common with all citizens of the state in the natural resources thereof.

Decisions Relating to Title in General

Pollution of water on adjoining premises.—The rule that any use by one of the percolating waters beneath his land may not be complained of by an adjoining landowner does not exempt from liability one who by negligence in construction or maintenance of his pipe lines for conducting oil allows it to get into the percolating waters under his land, whereby it gets into the well of an adjoining landowner. Texas Co. v. Giddings

Wills

[See Estates of Decedents.]

Art. 7855. Persons competent to make a will.—Every person aged twenty-one years or upward, or who may be or may have been lawfully being of sound mind, shall have power to make a last will and testament, under the rules and limitations prescribed by law.

[Act Jan. 28, 1840; July 24, 1856. P. D. 5361, 3868.]

Mental capacity.—To set aside a will for want of mental capacity to make it, the incapacity of the testator to give intelligent consent to an act that will bind him in the disposition of his property must be shown. It is not necessary to avoid the will that the testator's mind should have been under the influence of insanity—as the term is described by law writers—in any of its grades. It is sufficient to avoid the will if there is a want of will on the part of the testator accompanying the act, or a want of capacity to understand what he is doing with his property in making the will. To make a valid will the strength of the testator's mind must be equal to the purpose to which it is applied. Garrison v. Blanton, 48 T. 299; Brown v. Mitchell, 88 T. 350, 31 S. W. 621, 36 L. R. A. 94; Id. (Civ. App.) 29 S. W. 937; Garrison v. Blanton, 48 T. 301; Cockrill v. Cox, 85 T. 666; Vance v. Upson, 66 T. 476, 1 S. W. 179; Brown v. Mitchell, 87 T. 140, 28 S. W. 1059; Trezevant v. Rains (Sup.) 19 S. W. 567.

A person possessing mental capacity sufficient to enable him to know and understand the transaction may make a will. Warren v. Ellis (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 1182.

It was proper to define an insane delusion as a belief in a state of facts that did not exist, and which a rational person would believe, and to refuse to charge that it was false belief, arising spontaneously, not founded on evidence or reason, and persistently adhered to as against evidence, reason, or argument. Lanham v. Lanham (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 635.

Undue influence.—Where a will is written by one who takes a benefit under it, that is a circumstance to excite stricter scrutiny and require stricter proof, not only of volition and capacity, but that the testator knew the contents of the paper he was signing, and that no fraud, deception or imposition was practiced upon him. Vickery v. Hobbs, 21 T. 560, 73 Am. Dec. 338.

Though a testator of sound and disposing memory may devise his entire estate to strangers, yet all authorities agree that such a bequest is a circumstance which should arouse the suspicion and the strict scrutiny of the courts, and especially so when there is no apparent cause for the disinheritance of the decedent's relatives. Renn v. Samos, 33 T. 760.

When there is a concurrence of two such circumstances as these, viz.: that the will was written by a principal legatee, and that the estate was devised to strangers without apparent cause, then the suspicions against the validity of the will are so increased as to require undisputed proof of the testator's volition, capacity and knowledge of the contents of the instrument, and also an explanation by proof why he made such a disposition of his estate, and why the legatee was called upon to write the will. Renn v. Samos, 33 T. 760; Brown v. Fridgen, 56 T. 127; Trezevant v. Rains, 86 T. 339, 23 S. W. 830; Campbell v. Barrera (Civ. App.) 32 S. W. 724.

Facts held not to show undue influence avoiding a will. Barry v. Gracette (Civ. App.) 71 S. W. 209.

A will cannot be set aside for fraud and undue influence, unless such fraudulent conduct was exercised by the other beneficiaries. Wetz v. Schneider, 34 C. A. 201, 78 S. W. 334.
Undue influence and fraud on part of husband in procuring will in his favor from his wife held not established. Morrison v. Thoman (Civ. App.) 86 S. W. 1069.

The nature of undue influence necessary to invalidate a will stated. Hart v. Hart (Civ. App.) 110 S. W. 91.

Rule as to nature and scope of proof of fraud or undue influence, connected with the making of a will, by circumstances, stated. Simon v. Middleton, 51 C. A. 531, 113 S. W. 441.

The undue influence which invalidates a will is an influence which destroys the free agency of testator, and places him in a position where he is dominated by another, and acts directly on his mind at the very time when he executes the will. Id.

The fact that some of testator's children are disinherited and others favored, and the distribution appears unnatural or unreasonable, raises no presumption of undue influence, but that fact may, when taken with others, show undue influence. Id.

Evidence that testator's son had been excluded from the table with the family and compelled to eat in the kitchen, and that his brothers objected to his eating with them, was not evidence of undue influence by the other members of the family, where it appeared that he was excluded on account of his vile habits and vicious life, and because he was afflicted with a loathsome disease. Id.

Unreasonable prejudice or erroneous convictions as to the unworthiness of one who has a natural claim upon testator's bounty, to form a basis for a refusal to probate a will because of fraud or undue influence, must have been nursed or fostered by a beneficiary, and the will procured wholly by his lying or false representations, made with intent to secure its execution. Id.

That a daughter of testatrix did not receive as much through the will as she thought she should raise no presumption of undue influence. Helsley v. Moss, 52 C. A. 57, 113 S. W. 559.

To show undue influence, the evidence must be direct, or the circumstances showing it must be of a reasonably satisfactory and convincing character. Id.

Where testator's mind was so impaired by disease, old age, or mental anguish as to render him an easy dupe to the acts and intrigues of those by whom he was surrounded, and that the different disposition of the property from what he, otherwise would have done, was procured by taking advantage of his condition, the will not be admitted to probate. Id.

Persuasion, entreaty, intercession, and solicitation do not constitute undue influence, unless such as to have overthrown testatrix's will. Salinas v. Garcia (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 588.

Whether or not a will is void for undue influence depends upon whether it was the free and voluntary act of the testator or was the act of another who unduly influenced him. Warren v. Ellis (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 1162.

Undue influence avoiding a will must be such as destroys the liberty or free agency of the testator in the disposition of his property. Allday v. Cage (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 538.

Undue influence is not shown by the fact that testator did not divulge the terms of the will, nor because he gave all his property to one of two children, nor because he received attention and services from a beneficiary in sickness, nor will opportunity to exert undue influence warrant a finding of its exercise. Berry v. Brown (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1117.

The undue influence which will vitiate a will must be exercised at the time of the making of the will. Holt v. Guerguin (Civ. App.) 156 S. W. 561.

Married women.—A married woman may dispose of her property by will subject to the liability of her community property for the payment of community debts. Brown v. Prudden, 66 T. 124.

Infants.—By the act of 1840 a person under the age of twenty-one could not make a will. Moore v. Moore, 29 T. 637.

Art. 7856. [5334] What may be devised, etc., by will.—Every person competent to make a last will and testament may thereby devise and bequeath all the estate, right, title and interest in possession, reversion or remainder, which he has, or at the time of his death shall have, of, in or to any lands, tenements, hereditaments or rents charged upon or issuing out of them, or shall have of, in, or to any personal property whatever, subject to the limitations prescribed by law. [P. D. 5361, 5362.]

In general.—Every person competent to make a will can devise any part of his estate. There is a clear distinction between policies of insurance payable to a designated beneficiary and those payable to the "executors or administrators" of insured. The proceeds of latter become part of estate of insured at his death and may be disposed of by will. Fletcher v. Fitcher, 80 S. W. 842.

Probate of will.—See Arts. 3206, 3250, 3267-3276.

Directing manner of administration.—See Arts. 3355, 3362, 3313.

Appointment of guardian.—See Arts. 4071, 4104.

Community property.—Where a testator disposes of all his estate in general terms, the will does not purpose to enjoin the community rights of either a deceased or surviving wife. Parker v. Parker, 10 T. 88.

While the husband cannot dispose, by will, of his wife's community interest (Conn v. Davis, 33 T. 203), yet if he attempts to do so, and she should elect to take under the will, she would be thereby estopped from afterwards asserting her right to the community. The intent to dispose by will, by the husband or wife, of the community interest of another must be evidenced by explicit language. Moss v. Helsley, 60 T. 420; Wells v. Petree, 39 T. 419.
A married man devised the entire community estate, upon which the homestead was situated, to his wife for life, and the remainder, fee to one of her children. The widow and immediate beneficiary recognized the will and received the property bequeathed to them, the same being partitioned in accordance with the provisions of the will. Held, that the presumption that would otherwise obtain, that the testator intended to dispose of an interest, is rebutted by the specific bequest which included the entire tract, and by the estate in remainder, and, the widow having elected to take under the will with a knowledge of its provisions, was bound by her election. Rogers v. Trevathan, 67 T. 496, 3 S. W. 599.

The husband cannot devise his wife's share in the community property, and his will shall ordinarily be held to affect only his interest in the community, yet where by its terms the will disposes of particular tracts of land of the community, the widow will be entitled to election whether she will take under or against the will. If she elects to take under the will, the rights of her heirs will be determined by it so far as it took effect. Smith v. Butler, 85 T. 126, 19 S. W. 1083.

Where the husband has, by will, disposed of separate and community property, the surviving wife must accept its provisions as an entirety, or repudiate it and claim her community rights. Chase v. Gregg, 88 T. 562, 32 S. W. 520.

A will of a deceased husband cannot empower his executor to sell the right of his deceased wife in the community property. Mealy v. Lipp, 16 C. A. 163, 49 S. W. 824.

Art. 7857. [5335] Requisites of a will.—Every last will and testament, except where otherwise provided by law, shall be in writing and signed by the testator or by some other person by his direction and in his presence, and shall, if not wholly written by himself, be attested by two or more credible witnesses above the age of fourteen years, subscribing their names thereto in the presence of the testator. [Act Jan. 28, 1840.  P. D. 5361.]

In general.—In a proceeding for the probate of a will, evidence held to show that the testator observed the formalities prescribed by this article and Art. 3271. Warren v. Ellis (Civ. App.) 137 S. W. 1182.

The test prescribed by the statute to be taken in executing a will must be shown to have concurred before an instrument of testamentary character will be recognized as a valid will; and an instrument, which is in form a will, is inoperative and void as such, where not attested by two or more credible witnesses. Belgarde v. Carter (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 964.

Form of instrument.—A voluntary disposition of property by deed, which is not intended to operate a present transfer, but is only to take effect after the death of the donor, is testamentary. Millican v. Millican, 24 T. 426.

The deed is the most common instrument of disposition of property, and forming part of a testamentary disposition, will be construed as part of such will. Woodall v. Rudd, 41 T. 375.

The acknowledgment and record of a will does not affect its testamentary character. Hawes v. Nicholas, 72 T. 461, 10 S. W. 558, 2 L. R. A. 565.

An instrument in the form of a deed may operate as a will and its construction, in contemplation of death, and forming part of a testamentary disposition, will be construed as part of such will. Naugher v. Patterson, 25 S. W. 582, 9 C. A. 168.

There is no evidence that the will of the deceased, now before the court, was ever recorded, and it was not shown in the accounts filed in the probate court that it was required to be recorded. McLean v. Garrison, 39 C. A. 431, 88 S. W. 486, 89 S. W. 284.

Letters written by decedent held to constitute a conditional will. Dougherty v. Holtschneider, 49 C. A. 81, 88 S. W. 1115.

An instrument executed by a mother and son held testamentary only, evidencing an intention by the mother to will certain property to the son, and not a deed of such property. Williams v. Noland, 10 C. A. 629, 32 S. W. 328.

A deed executed by a grantor, but never delivered, will not, after his death, be treated as a testamentary disposition. Blackman v. Schlierman, 21 C. A. 517, 51 S. W. 886.

If the husband held to be a will, and revocable at pleasure of grantor, De Balgireth v. Johnson, 23 C. A. 272, 56 S. W. 96.

An instrument conveying real estate but provided that it shall take effect at grantor's death only by one person cannot be established or probated as a will. Such an instrument is held not to be testamentary but a deed. McLean v. Garrison, 39 C. A. 431, 88 S. W. 486, 89 S. W. 284.

Letters written by decedent held to constitute a conditional will. Dougherty v. Holtschneider, 49 C. A. 81, 88 S. W. 1115.

An instrument executed by a mother and son held testamentary only, evidencing an intention by the mother to will certain property to the son, and not a deed of such property. Williams v. Noland, 10 C. A. 629, 32 S. W. 328.

A deed executed by a grantor, but never delivered, will not, after his death, be treated as a testamentary disposition. Blackman v. Schlierman, 21 C. A. 517, 51 S. W. 886.

If the husband held to be a will, and revocable at pleasure of grantor, De Balgireth v. Johnson, 23 C. A. 272, 56 S. W. 96.

An instrument conveying real estate but provided that it shall take effect at grantor's death only by one person cannot be established or probated as a will. Such an instrument is held not to be testamentary but a deed. McLean v. Garrison, 39 C. A. 431, 88 S. W. 486, 89 S. W. 284.
sideration and expressed an intention to devise rather than to convey, held, that it was a will rather than a deed. 1. See 25 S. W. 574.

Language used in an instrument held not controlling in determining whether it is to be construed as a will or a deed; but the circumstances may be considered. 1. That an instrument in the form of a will, and intended to be a will, was invalid as such for failure to have it attested by two credible witnesses would not of itself transform it into a deed. 1.

Codicil.—An objection to a codicil to a will, that it was written with a pencil, not noticed by the court. Bell County v. Alexander, 22 T. 360, 73 Am. Dec. 268.

A paper giving property to a daughter found among testatrix’s valuable papers held properly probated as a codicil to the will. Grigsby’s Legatees v. Willis’ Estate, 25 C. A. 1, 59 S. W. 574.

A memorandum held to be in the nature of a codicil to a will and to be probated with the will. Stinson v. Stinson, 51 C. A. 531, 112 S. W. 441.

Incorporation of other instruments by reference.—An instrument to be incorporated in a will must be identified beyond a reasonable probability of mistake as to the paper referred to. Alliday v. Cage (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 538.

A contract reduced to writing, but not signed, may be incorporated by reference as an extraneous writing in a will. 1.

An agreement was sufficiently designated in a provision of a will making it a part thereof, where it was identified by a recital of the parties thereto, its date, and by the name of the notary who acknowledged it. 1.

Foreign wills.—The law of the actual domicile of a testator governs in relation to the execution of his will of his personal property whether such property be situated in the state of his domicile or in a foreign country. With respect to real property the laws of the place where the property is situated govern, not only to capacity of the testator and the extent of his powers to dispose of the property, but also in forms and solemnities necessary to give the will its due attestation and effect. A will which is not valid to pass the test to personal property, and is not executed according to the law of the testator will be valid and effectual in this state, if executed according to the laws of this state. Holman v. Hopkins, 27 T. 38.

Wills made outside of the United States disposing of real property in this state must be executed with the forms and solemnities prescribed by the law of the state. Coy v. Gay (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 441.

Signature of testator.—A bystander may make the complete signature at the request of the testator who from physical prostration can render no assistance. Trezevant v. Rains (Sup.) 19 S. W. 567.

A will wholly in the handwriting of the testator with his name written in the body of the instrument is sufficiently signed within the meaning of the law. Lawson v. Dawson’s Estate, 21 C. A. 361, 53 S. W. 64.

Attestation.—A will and codicil, the last providing for executors only, were both signed at the same time by the testator, both being written on the same piece of paper; the witnesses to the will signed the same as such but once, it being the intention to attest the execution of the whole will, including the codicil. Held, the proceeding being regular in other respects, the codicil was properly executed; and it did not matter on what portion of the will the subscribing witnesses signed their names, if the signatures were affixed after making the codicil, with the purpose to attest the execution of the entire will, including the codicil. Fowler v. Stagner, 55 T. 393.

The fact that a county clerk, when called upon by a testator to witness his will, attached to his official certificate of the execution of the will by the testator, does not affect the validity of the clerk’s signature to such will as a witness. Franks v. Chapman, 64 T. 159.

The witnesses to a will each wrote his name where it occurred in the body of the will and in the tenor thereof, as follows: “And I sign the following sentence, as follows: ‘I, Harrison, G. W. M. Duck, W. M. Smith, who I have requested to act as witnesses, I declare the writing contained in the foregoing ten pages my last will and testament.” Signed: “G. W. Chapman.” Held, that the signatures of the witnesses were sufficient. 1.

The fact that the name of a witness was written after the death of the testator defeats the instrument. Nieman, In re (Sup.) 14 S. W. 25.

Republication.—If a will is limited as to its operation by conditions by which it is defeated before the death of the party making it, it can have no effect as a will unless by force of a republication by the testator. When a party making a will under such circumstances recovers from his then sickness, and the will remained in his possession until his death without being destroyed or expressly revoked, such fact does not operate as a republication. Pickory v. Hobbs, 21 T. 570, 72 Am. Dec. 258.

The effect of a codicil is to ratify all the provisions of the will not inconsistent with it. Clett v. Clett, 1 U. C. 407.

For the execution of a codicil is a constructive republication of a will and the instrument speaks from its date. Campbell v. Barrera (Civ. App.) 32 S. W. 724.

Necessity for probate.—An instrument testamentary in its character, not having been admitted to probate, is inoperative. Naugher v. Patterson, 28 S. W. 552, 9 C. A. 168.

Art. 7858. [5336] Will wholly written by testator.—Where the will is wholly written by the testator the attestation of the subscribing witnesses, as required in the preceding article may be dispensed with. [1d.]

In general.—Instruments, testamentary in character, all in the handwriting of a bachelor, giving all his property to two friends in the event of his death, admitted to probate as his will. Fletcher v. Gates (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 937.
Art. 7858

WILLS

Unsigned attestation clause.—The fact that a holographic will bore an attestation clause but was not witnessed held not sufficient ground for refusing to admit it to probate. Ainsworth v. Briggs, 49 C. A. 344, 108 S. W. 785.

Art. 7859. [5337] Revocation of written will.—No will in writing, made in conformity with the preceding articles, nor any clause thereof or devise therein, shall be revoked, except by a subsequent will, codicil or declaration in writing, executed with like formalities, or by the testator destroying, canceling or obliterating the same, or causing it to be done in his presence. [P. D. 5363.]

In general.—No valid written will can be revoked except in one of the modes pointed out by the statute. Morgan v. Davenport, 60 T. 230.

The intention of the law expressed in this article is to prevent fraud and perjury and the extortion of declarations after the mind of the testator has been impaired by time. There is the same necessity for the observance of the provisions in disproving the making of a will. The statutory evidence must be had or the intended revocation fails. Kennedy v. Upshaw, 64 T. 411.

An instrument by which a mother merely evidenced an intention to will property to her son held revocable at any time prior to her death. Williams v. Claunch, 44 C. A. 25, 97 S. W. 111.

No written will can be revoked except by written revocation or destruction by testator or by his order in his presence. Locust v. Randle, 46 C. A. 544, 102 S. W. 948.

When an instrument has been executed in such manner as to constitute a valid will it remains such until revoked by the making of a subsequent will, or by the testator's destroying, canceling or obliterating the same, or causing it to be done in his presence. Ainsworth v. Briggs, 49 C. A. 344, 108 S. W. 755.

Subsequent writing.—A memorandum made after a will held not to revoke the will. Simon v. Middleton, 51 C. A. 831, 112 S. W. 441.

Obliation.—The cutting of a clause out of a will by testator revoked the will as to such clause under this article. Schneble v. Henderson (Clv. App.) 152 S. W. 231.

Inoperative will.—A will executed by a husband and wife jointly, after the death of the husband (the wife surviving) was admitted to probate as his will; but a will so executed is revocable by either party during the life of both, and by the survivor after the death of the other. Wyche v. Clapp, 43 T. 548.

Acts of testator.—Taking possession of certain property by a co-owner and the execution of a deed therefor, held a revocation of a testamentary instrument, evidencing an intention to will property to the other co-owner. Williams v. Claunch, 44 C. A. 25, 97 S. W. 111.

Conditional will.—A will, to become effective only on the happening of a contingency, is a contingent will, and, in case the contingency does not arise, it is revoked. Dougherty v. Holscheider, 40 C. A. 31, 88 S. W. 1113.

Art. 7860. [5338] Nuncupative will.—Any person who is competent to make a last will and testament, under article 7856 [7855] may dispose of his property by a nuncupative will made under the conditions and limitations hereinafter prescribed. [P. D. 5366.]

Sufficiency.—An explanation by the witnesses to a written will, at the time of probating it, by a recital of additional oral instructions given by the testator in respect to his property, cannot be sustained as a nuncupative will. Hunt v. White, 24 T. 643.

Real estate cannot be devised by nuncupative will. Lewis v. Aylott, 45 T. 190; Watts v. Holland, 66 T. 54; Moffett v. Moffett, 67 T. 642, 4 S. W. 70; Wooldridge v. Hancock, 70 T. 18, 6 S. W. 818; Mitchell v. Stanton (Clv. App.) 139 S. W. 1033.

Art. 7861. [5339] Requisites of.—No nuncupative will shall be established, unless it be made in the time of the last sickness of the deceased, at his habitation or where he has resided for ten days next preceding, except when the deceased is taken sick from home and dies before he returns to such habitation; nor when the value exceeds thirty dollars, unless it be proved by three credible witnesses that the testator called on some person to take notice or bear testimony that such is his will, or words of like import. [P. D. 5366.]

Probate.—See ante, Arts. 3251-3254, 3269-3271.

Art. 7862. [5340] Notice and proof.—No nuncupative will shall be proved within fourteen days after the death of the testator, nor until those who would have been entitled by inheritance, had there been no will, have been summoned to contest the same, if they desire to do so. [P. D. 5371.]

Art. 7863. [5341] Testimony to be committed to writing, etc.—After six months have elapsed from the time of speaking the pretended testamentary words, no testimony shall be received to prove a nuncupative will, unless the testimony, or the substance thereof, shall have been committed to writing within six days after making the will. [P. D. 5367.]
Art. 7864. [5342] Wills of soldiers, etc., disposing of chattels.—Any soldier in actual military service, or any mariner or seaman being at sea, may dispose of his chattels without regard to the provisions of this title. [P. D. 5369.]

Art. 7865. [5343] Posthumous children.—When a testator shall have children born and his wife enceinte the posthumous child, if un­provided for by settlement and pre­mitted by his last will and testa­ment, shall succeed to the same portion of the father's estate as such child would have been entitled to if the father had died intestate; to­ward which portion the devisees and legatees shall contribute proportionately out of the parts devised and bequeathed to them by such last will and testament. [P. D. 5363.]

In general.—Under Art. 7867, when considered in connection with this article and Art. 7866, the will of a wife, enceinte when executed, which makes a gift of an undivided inter­est in her estate to persons named, void in case of living issue, born of her body, and which makes no other reference to any after-born child, is void on the birth of the child, who may inherit as though the wife died intestate, for the word “mentioned” means ei­ther that provision should be made for the after-born child or that he should be exclud­ed from a participation under the will. Pearce v. Carrington (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 469.

Marriage subsequent to will.—As to the revocation of a will by a subsequent marriage and birth of a child, see Morgan v. Davenport, 60 T. 230; Evans v. Opperman, 76 T. 283, 13 S. W. 212.

Art. 7866. [5344] Children born after making a will.—If a testator having a child or children born at the time of making his last will and testament shall, at his death, leave a child or children born after the making of such last will and testament, the child or children so after­born and pre­mitted shall, unless provided for by settlement, suc­ceed to the same portion of the father's estate as they would have been entitled to if the father had died intestate; toward raising which por­tion the devisees and legatees shall contribute proportionately out of the parts devised and bequeathed to them by such last will and testament, in the same manner as is provided in article 7865. [P. D. 5364.]

In general.—Under Art. 7867, when considered in connection with Art. 7865 and this article, the will of a wife, enceinte when executed, which makes a gift of an undivided inter­est in her estate to persons named, void in case of living issue, born of her body, and which makes no other reference to any after-born child, is void on the birth of the child, who may inherit as though the wife died intestate, for the word “mentioned” means ei­ther that provision should be made for the after-born child or that he should be exclud­ed from a participation under the will. Pearce v. Carrington (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 469.

Construction.—As to the construction of this and the next article, see Morgan v. Davenport, 60 T. 230.

Art. 7867. [5345] The same.—Every last will and testament made when the testator had no child living, wherein any child he might have is not provided for or mentioned, if at the time of his death he shall leave a child, or leave his wife enceinte of a child which shall be born, shall have no effect during the life of such after-born child, and shall be void, unless the child die without having been married and before he shall have attained the age of twenty-one years. [P. D. 5363.]

Common-law rule.—Under the common law the will of a wife not providing for or excluding an unborn child, held revoked by the birth of the child. Pearce v. Carrington (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 469.

Mention of after-born child.—Under this article when considered in connection with Arts. 7865, 7866, the will of a wife, enceinte when executed, which makes a gift of an undivided interest in her estate to persons named, void in case of living issue, born of her body, and which makes no other reference to any after-born child, is void on the birth of the child, who may inherit as though the wife died intestate, for the word “mentioned” means ei­ther that provision should be made for the after-born child or that he should be exclud­ed from a participation under the will. Pearce v. Carrington (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 469.

Under this article, whether the unborn child is mentioned in the will is to be de­termined by construing its language with reference to the circumstances and knowl­edge of the testator, the word “mentioned” meaning “referred to,” rather than designated by name, and the failure to make provision must be accidental to avoid the will; and hence the will of a wife, executed when in an advanced state of pregnancy, which de­vised the bulk of her reality to her husband, and devised her undivided interest in her father's homestead to persons named, which devise was to be void in case of living issue born of her body, mentioned the unborn child, for she must have known the practical certainty that a child would be born to her, and the provision that the devise is to be void in case of issue born obviously refers to the expected child. Pearce v. Pearce, 104 T. 73, 134 S. W. 210.

Art. 7868. [5346] Term "children" includes descendants.—Under the name of "children," as used in this title, are included descendants of whatever degree they may be, it being understood they are only counted for the child they represent. [P. D. 5373.]

Art. 7869. [5347] Bequests to children, etc., not to lapse.—Where a testator shall devise or bequeath an estate or interest of any kind by will to a child or other descendant of such testator, should such devisee or legatee, during the lifetime of the testator, die leaving children or descendants who shall survive such testator, such devise or legacy shall not lapse by reason of such death; but the estate so devised or be-quathed shall vest in the children or descendants of such legatee or devisee in the same manner as if he had survived the testator and died intestate. [P. D. 5365.]

Application of article.—This article applies alone to lineal descendants of the testator, and has no application to devisees whose relationship is collateral. Watkins v. Blount, 43 C. A. 469, 94 S. W. 1117.

Art. 7870. [5348] Bequest to subscribing witness.—Should any person be subscribing witness to a will, and be also a legatee or devisee therein, if the will can not be otherwise established, such bequest shall be void, and such witness shall be allowed and compelled to appear and give his testimony in like manner as if no such bequest had been made.
But, if in such case the witness would have been entitled to a share of the estate of the testator had there been no will, he shall be entitled to so much of such share as shall not exceed the value of the bequest to him in the will. [Act March 15, 1875, p. 179.]

In general.—The will so proven is void as to the legacies to the subscribing witnesses. Nixon v. Armstrong, 33 T. 296; Lewis v. Aylott, 45 T. 190.

A legatee under a nuncupative will is incompetent to prove its execution. Lewis v. Aylott, 45 T. 190.

Where there are but two subscribing witnesses to a will, one of whom is by its terms a devisee under it, such party, by the very act of subscribing it as a witness, avoids the bequest; his competency and credibility as a witness to establish the will is the result

A devisee in a will is a competent witness to prove its execution. Martin v. Mo-
Adams, 87 T. 225, 27 S. W. 255.

When necessary, devisee or legatee may be required to testify. Bradshaw v. Roberts
(Civ. App.) 52 S. W. 674.

Art. 7871. [5349] Will in such case may be proved how.—In the case provided for in the preceding article, such will may be proved by the evidence of the subscribing witnesses, corroborated by the testimony of one or more other disinterested and credible persons, to the effect that the testimony of such subscribing witnesses necessary to sustain the will is substantially true; in which event the bequest to such subscribing witnesses shall not be void. [Id.]

See notes under Art. 3267 et seq.

Art. 7872. [5350] Husband or wife may authorize survivor to manage separate estate.—The husband or wife may, by last will and testament, give to the survivor of the marriage the power to keep his or her separate property together, until each of the several heirs shall become of lawful age, and to manage and control the same under the provisions of law relating to community property, and such other restrictions as may be imposed by such will; provided, the surviving husband or wife is the father or mother, as the case may be, of the minor heirs; and provided, further, that any child or heir entitled to any part of said property shall, at any time upon becoming of age, be entitled to receive his distributive portion of said estate. [Act Aug. 26, 1856, p. 51
sec. 8. P. D. 4653.]
Art. 7873. [5351] Original wills, etc., to be deposited with county clerk, etc.—All original wills, together with the probate thereof, shall be deposited in the office of the clerk of the county court of the county wherein the same shall have been probated, and shall there remain, except during such time as they may be removed to some other court, by proper process, for inspection. [P. D. 5372.]

See Dean v. Furrh (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 421.

Sale by devisee before probate.—A sale by a devisee of an interest held under a will, but made before the probate of the will, passes the estate, and a subsequent probate gives vitality to such conveyance, except against an innocent purchaser from an heir. Ryan v. T. P. R. R. Co., 64 T. 229.

Art. 7874. [5352] To be recorded, etc.—Every such will, together with the probate thereof, shall be recorded by the clerk of the county court in a book to be kept for that purpose; and certified copies of such will and the probate of the same, or of the record thereof, may be recorded in other counties, and may be used in evidence as the original might be. [Id.]

Sufficiency of record.—Where a will was duly recorded, it was immaterial to third persons that it was not permitted to remain in the county clerk's office, as provided by P. D. art. 3226. Hymer v. Holyfield (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 722.

Persons claiming land under wills of testators who died in 1891, 1894, held not prejudiced by the fact that the wills were not filed in the county where the land is situated until 1900. Hunter v. Hodgson (Civ. App.) 95 S. W. 637.

Presumptions.—See notes under Art. 5661, Rule 12.

Admissibility of record.—A will is not competent as evidence until it has been probated. Moursund v. Priess, 84 T. 554, 19 S. W. 775.

Where title to land is claimed by a devisee, evidence of the will of the alleged decedent and the probate of the court admitting it to probate is admissible. McDoel v. Jordan (Civ. App.) 161 S. W. 1175.

Conclusiveness of record.—Certified copy of will is good as original. Hickman v. Gil­lum, 66 T. 314, 1 S. W. 399.

Bona fide purchasers.—Purchasers of property from devisee named in will, after rendition of a judgment admitting the will to probate, are purchasers in good faith. Gloy­ver v. Colt, 36 C. A. 104, 81 S. W. 136.

Purchasers of property from the devisee named in a will, after the same has been probated, will not be regarded as purchasers pendente lite, because the time within which certiorari to remove the probate proceedings to the district court could be brought had not expired at the time of purchase. Id.

Attorneys who conduct the proceedings for the probate of a will, and subsequently purchase property devised, have the same right as others to rely on the conclusiveness of the judgment admitting the will to probate. Id.

Art. 7875. [5353] How foreign will may be proved.—When any will or testament, or testamentary instrument of any character, conveying or in any manner disposing of land in this state, has been duly probated according to the laws of any of the United States or territories, a copy thereof and its probate, attested by the clerk of the court in which such will and testament or testamentary instrument was admitted toprobate, and the seal of the court annexed, if there be a seal, together with a certificate from the judge or presiding magistrate of such court that the said attestation is in due form, may be filed and recorded in the register of deeds in any county in which said real estate is situated, in the same manner as deeds and conveyances are required to be recorded, and without further proof or authentication; provided, that, at any time within four years from the date of the record of such will in this state, the validity of such will may be contested in a proceeding instituted for that purpose, as the original might have been. [Acts 1887, p. 38, sec. 1.]

Purpose of act.—This article was enacted for the purpose of allowing a person, owning land by virtue of a will duly probated in any other state or territory to fix and preserve his title, without the formality of probating the will as required by Art. 3376. The filing and record of a will under this article has no effect except to constitute the will a muniment of title. It does not empower the executor to act as such in Texas. To give the executor power and authority to act under it in Texas it must be probated under Art. 3376. Mason v. Rodriguez, 63 C. A. 446, 116 S. W. 869.

This article and Art. 7877 were not intended to fix the time when the title to the property devised should vest; but, when it has been probated, the title of the devisee relates back to and becomes effective from the death of the testator, the same as title under a domestic will. Long v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 165 S. W. 945.
Art. 7875  WILLS

Prior to the act of March 23, 1887, title could not be acquired to lands situated in this state under a foreign will, unless probate of the will was made here. By this act a foreign will, with its record, probate, when duly registered, operates as a conveyance of land. De Zbranikov v. Burnett, 10 C. A. 442, 31 S. W. 71.

The filing and recording the foreign will place it upon the same footing as a will probated in Texas, and the mode of contesting either is the same. Dew v. Dew, 23 C. A. 776, 57 S. W. 927.

Sufficiency of record.—Under this article a certified copy from the deed records of an exemplified copy of a will, together with the probate proceedings had on the will, certified to by the clerk of the superior court of the city and county of San Francisco, Cal., when proceedings had been taken pursuant to statute to restore the will and original probate proceedings which had been destroyed in the San Francisco earthquake, was admissible in evidence in an action of trespass to try title. Gordon v. Lewis (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 927.

Inception of title.—The record of a will in Texas (which has been probated in another state) is not subject to the objection that the will confers an after-acquired title. The will confers title upon the death of the testator. Its probate in another state and record in Texas are but legal formalities required to evidence and give full effect to the right conferred. Haney v. Garin, 51 C. A. 577, 113 S. W. 168.

Liability of foreign executor.—A foreign will when recorded in Texas does not give the authority to sue an executrix named therein who had not qualified in Texas, any more than a will made and probated in Texas would give the authority to sue an executor or executrix named in it, but who had never qualified. Clarke v. Webster (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 1088.

Art. 7876. [5354] Prima facie evidence, when.—A copy of such will and testament, or testamentary instrument, and its probate so attested, together with the certificate that said attestation is in due form, as required by the preceding article, shall be prima facie evidence that said will has been duly admitted to probate, according to the laws of the state wherein it has been admitted to probate, and shall be sufficient to authorize the same to be recorded in the proper county or counties in this state. [Id. sec. 2.]

Art. 7877. [5355] Shall take effect, when.—Every such will and testament, or testamentary instrument, and its probate, which shall be attested and proven, as provided in article 7875, and delivered to the clerk of the proper court to be recorded, shall take effect and be valid and effectual as a deed of conveyance of said property; and the record thereof shall have the same force and effect as the record of deeds or other conveyances to land from the time when such instrument was delivered to such clerk to be recorded, and from that time only. [Id. sec. 3.]

Purpose of act.—Art. 7875 and this article were not intended to fix the time when the title to the property devised should vest; but, when it has been probated, the title of the devisee relates back to and becomes effective from the death of the testator, the same as title under a domestic will. Long v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 185 S. W. 945.

Art. 7878. [5356] Shall operate as notice, etc.—The record of such will and testament, or testamentary instrument, and its probate, duly attested and proven, as provided in the preceding articles, and duly made in the proper county, shall be taken and held as notice to all persons of the existence of such will and testament, and of the title or titles conferred thereby. [Id. sec. 4.]

1. Will defined.—A will is an instrument by which a person makes a disposition of his property, to take effect after his death, and which, in its own nature, is ambulatory and revocable during his lifetime. Williams v. Noland, 19 C. A. 629, 32 S. W. 328.

2. Assignment of Insurance policy as will.—Assignment of policy held not a testamentary instrument, to take effect only on death of assignor, and hence not to be executed like such instruments. Burges v. New York Life Ins. Co. (Civ. App.) 63 S. W. 502.

3. Contracts to devise or bequest.—In an action for services on breach of a contract to make plaintiff defendant's heir, an instruction authorizing a recovery if defendant failed to adopt plaintiff held not error. Clark v. West (Civ. App.) 72 S. W. 159.

4. Effect of will containing no devise or bequest.—Where will contained no devise or bequest, property held to descend under statute of distribution. Buckley v. Herder (Civ. App.) 132 S. W. 703.

5. Power to create trust.—A testator by his will may create a trust, and stipulate that the trust fund shall be exempt from liability for the debts of the cestui que trust. Patten v. Herrin, 29 S. W. 388, 9 C. A. 640; Gamble v. Dabney, 20 T. 69; Wallace v. Campbell, 53 T. 229.

6. Reasonableness.—If a devise is not against law or public policy, it will be enforced, if it expresses testator's intention, even if unreasonable or unjust. Perry v. Rogers, 52 C. A. 584, 114 S. W. 897.

7. Agreement to annul will.—An agreement to annul a will in view of a dispute as to its validity is not contrary to public policy. Stringfellow v. Early, 15 C. A. 597, 40 S. W. 871.

8. Validity of bequests in general.—A contention that a charitable devise in a will is invalid, because not absolute, held untenable. Gidley v. Lovenberg; 35 C. A. 593, 78 S. W. 831.

9. No beneficiaries capable of taking.—A bequest held not void on the theory that there were no beneficiaries capable of taking. Gidley v. Lovenberg, 35 C. A. 293, 78 S. W. 831.

10. Construction—Power of court.—While a court may declare a will void if in fact it is so, it has no authority to make or amend a will. Connely v. Putnam, 51 C. A. 248, 111 S. W. 164.

11. — Law governing.—The law of the domicile of the testator held to govern in construction of a will disposing of personality. Lanius v. Fletcher (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 163.

A will by a testator domiciled in Illinois disposing of personality situated in Texas held governed by the law of Illinois.

The law of the domicile of the testator governs the construction of his will disposing of personal property, wherever such property may be situated, unless a contrary intention clearly appears. Lanius v. Fletcher, 100 T. 560, 102 S. W. 1078.

Evidence examined, and held to show that it was testatrix' intention that the trust created by her will should be executed under and in conformity with the laws of Texas, and not of Illinois, where testatrix was domiciled. Id.

12. — Intention of testator.—In the construction of a will, the intention of the testator is the primary object of inquiry; and the law will not suffer the intention to be defeated merely because the testator has not clothed his ideas in technical language. Bell County v. Alexander, 23 T. 350, 73 Am. Dec. 388; Brooks v. Evett, 33 T. 732.

The inference ad to the purpose in execution of a testator, for the purpose of helping out a bequest; this would be assuming the power of making rather than construing a will. Philloe v. Holliday, 24 T. 38.

The creation of a particular estate raises the prima facie presumption that that estate was intended, subject however, to the manifestation of an intention that the legatee may take a larger estate than that expressly bequeathed, in case of a residue. Id.

In construing a will, all of its provisions should be regarded for the purpose of ascertainment the intention of the testator, and the general intent must prevail. McMurry v. Stanley, 69 T. 227, 6 S. W. 412.

Where the general intent of a testator can be collected from the whole will, particular terms inconsistent with that intent must be rejected. Haring v. Shelton (Civil App.) 114 S. W. 238.

Testator's intention should control in construing a will, unless to effectuate it would violate the law or public policy. Perry v. Rogers, 52 C. A. 594, 114 S. W. 897.

In construing wills the object is to ascertain the intention of the testator, and an intention not inconsistent with the rules of law will govern. Haring v. Shelton, 102 T. 10, 122 S. W. 13.

The controlling rule in construing a will is to ascertain testator's intent from the whole instrument. Aurey v. Stabenrauch (Civil App.) 135 S. W. 531.

In construing testamentary instruments, determined by language of will, held to control construction. Buckley v. Herder (Civil App.) 133 S. W. 703.

All the provisions of a will should be given effect, if it can be done conformably to testator's intent. Cottingham v. Moreman (Civil App.) 127 S. W. 157.

The ultimate test of the proper construction of a will is the intention of testator as disclosed by the whole will. Winfree v. Winfree (Civil App.) 139 S. W. 36.

The rule that every part of a will must be given effect, if possible, is subordinate to the rule that a devise shall be deemed a fee simple, unless limited by express words.

Id.

The court in construing a will, must give force and effect to testator's intention when it can be ascertained. Johnson v. Avery (Civil App.) 148 S. W. 1156.

The cardinal rule in the construction of wills is that the intention of the testator, in so far as it is not in conflict with law, should be ascertained and followed. Hughes v. Mulanax, 105 T. 576, 152 S. W. 299.

13. Language.—When a will clearly by its terms evidences a different meaning of words, given to the use of words employed in the will, the words of the will should be construed to mean what they naturally signify, and not what the testator may have intended them to mean. Wills v. Williams (Civil App.) 114 S. W. 359.

A construction of a will which harmonizes all its parts should be preferred to one which renders its terms ambiguous. Wisdom v. Wilson (Civil App.) 127 S. W. 1128.

The habendum clause of a will, not reconcilable with the premises and granting clause, held required to be disregarded. Winfree v. Winfree (Civil App.) 139 S. W. 36.

15. Instruments construed together.—Two wills made by a husband and wife at the same time, but not referring to each other, held not to be construed together to ascertain the intention of the testator. St. Paul's Sanitarium v. Freeman (Civil App.) 111 S. W. 443.

Where a will devised testator's property to plaintiff, but that if he should die without issue, the devise over to plaintiff and the devisee survived the testator, but died without issue thereafter. St. Paul's Sanitarium v. Freeman (Civil App.) 111 S. W. 443.

The term "die without issue," on which a devise over depended, after the expiration of an intervening estate, held to relate to the death of the devisee without issue with reference to the date of the death of testatrix. Id.

An estate by devise takes effect immediately upon the death of the testator, unless otherwise directed. Long v. Shelton (Civil App.) 155 S. W. 945.

19. Devisees and legatees—Heirs.—Where testator had children by two marriages, and provided in the first part of will for children by first marriage, bequests to his "heirs" in subsequent portions of will held to be limited to children by second marriage. Weiler v. Weiler, 22 C. A. 247, 54 S. W. 652.

Words "lawful heirs," in will, held to mean children of testator's son; and son took from property of remainder. Lacy v. Floyd (Civil App.) 84 S. W. 857.

Where a will does not define whom testator intended to designate by the term "heirs," the statute of descent and distribution may be resorted to in determining who were the heirs of the persons named in the will, but how the heirs when ascertained should be must be determined from the will itself, if possible. Dunhuue v. Hurd, 50 C. A. 360, 109 S. W. 1145.

Where testators' brother was his only heir and he died leaving a widow, the brother's children, but not his widow, were entitled to take as the testator's heirs at law under a devise to the brother for life and at his death to testator's heirs. Farrell v. Cogley (Civil App.) 146 S. W. 315.

20. Classes.—A direction in a will that property should go "according to law," with exclusion of a sister named, held not a devise to brothers and sisters not named, according to law, the property would go to the widow. McCoy v. Owens, 16 C. A. 346, 40 S. W. 326.

When a fund is bequeathed to children as a class, it becomes payable when the first child becomes entitled to receive his share, and children coming into existence after that period are excluded. Thornton v. Zeno, 22 C. A. 509, 25 S. W. 738.
A devisee's wife held not entitled to the proceeds of the sale of property, which the will directed to be paid to the children if living, and, if no children, to grandchildren. Keating v. Nicholson (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 363.

The word "brothers" in a will giving all testator's estate to his brothers and sisters, included brothers of the half blood. Watkins v. Blount, 43 C. A. 460, 94 S. W. 1116.

A will directed to devise all property to a "lawful child," within a will giving devise in the event of life estate in case he should die without lawful children. Cochran v. Cochran, 43 C. A. 259, 95 S. W. 731.

The intention of testator by a devise to a brother and sister by name, "or their heirs," held to show an intention to deal with the heirs of his brothers and sisters as a class, and not as individuals, so that their heirs take per stirpes, and not per capita. Dunhue v. Hurd, 50 C. A. 360, 109 S. W. 1145.

19. Certaincy as to beneficiaries.—A bequest of certain stock to support the indigent Israelites residing in a certain city was not invalid on the ground that the beneficiaries were too uncertain. Gidley v. Loenverg, 35 C. A. 209, 79 S. W. 831.

A will devising property to a church for school purposes held not void on account of the uncertainty of the beneficiaries. Banner v. Rolf, 43 C. A. 88, 94 S. W. 1125.

A will devising real estate to a church for the benefit of a class designated held not invalid on the theory that the trustees may declare themselves beneficiaries. Id.

20. Designation of executor.—Where a testator willed that a certain person should take charge of his children, as guardian for them, sell the perishable property, rent out the house, etc., it was held that the person so named was virtually named executor, and entitled to letters testamentary in preference to the next of kin. Stone v. Brown, 16 T. 425.

21. Tenure of executor.—Will held not to confer power on executor to hold estate as entirety after majority of older children of testatrix for benefit of youngest child. Buckley v. Herder (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 703.

22. Survivorship.—Where testator's will gave all his property to his brothers and sisters, the heirs of two brothers whose death preceeded the death of the testator, were not within its terms. Watkins v. Blount, 43 C. A. 460, 94 S. W. 1116.

A will bequeathing testator's property to his wife for life, the remainder, in case of the death of testator and the wife at the same time, to testator's children, held to entitle the children to take under the will on the death of the wife after having survived testator. Sanger v. Butler, 45 C. A. 527, 101 S. W. 459.

Where testator provided in his will that in the event of the marriage of his brother, to whom he gave an executory devise, the brother should, if desired, be permitted by the executors to occupy a certain place "so long as he shall desire to occupy the same," the brother, having died before the property of the devisee devised for his benefit had vested in him, the right to occupy the place mentioned terminated, and did not survive to the will's widow. O'ver.-Art. 831.

A presumption that testator intends not to die intestate held not to authorize the inclusion of other property that could not be brought within the terms of the will as made by testator. Coleman v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 1178.

24. Real estate.—A will devising all testator's property to his widow held sufficient, without describing the land. Hymer v. Holyfield (Civ. App.) 87 S. W. 722.

A will held to sufficiently describe the real estate owned by testator. Haney v. Carty, 51 C. A. 677, 113 S. W. 186.

25. Community property.—Where a husband makes provision in his will for his children, it will not be presumed that it was in settlement of their community interest. Arnold v. Hodges, 20 C. A. 211, 49 S. W. 714.

Will held in order to show intent of testator that his property should pass as community property. Clark v. Cattron, 23 C. A. 51, 56 S. W. 99.

Device of community property construed to apply only to the share of testatrix in community estate. Sutton v. Harvey, 24 C. A. 56, 57 S. W. 1178.

Will held to entitle to community estate owned by testator and his wife, and not merely of his half thereof. Skagg v. Deskin (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 793.

Where a husband and wife acquired community property, and the wife devises her interest to her husband for life with remainder to her children, a subsequent devise by the husband to each child of his first wife of a specified number of acres "out of the real estate owned by me at the time of the death of the wife," and disposing of more than half of the community property, and leaving to his second wife the balance of his real estate for life, with remainder over to her grandson, and designating the whole of his property as "my land," "my live stock," "my household and kitchen furniture," disposed of the entire community property, including the rights of beneficiaries under the will of the wife. Johnson v. Avery (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 1156.

26. Estates created.—Limitation over.—Art. 1106 sweeps away the established rules of construction in respect to the quantity of interest conveyed by wills, etc. Bell County v. Alexander, 22 T. 360, 73 Am. Dec. 288.

A devisee held to take a vested estate in an undivided one-half of certain property, subject to the widow's life estate. Lee v. McParland, 19 C. A. 292, 46 S. W. 231.

A will construed, and held that property described in one clause passed under the residuary clause to the beneficiaries therein named, subject to the estate devised in the first clause. Hinzle v. Hinzle, 45 C. A. 297, 100 S. W. 883.

Employing the words, "I wish the county in which I die and am buried to have and enjoy, for the benefit of public schools, two-thirds of the land in the county I am buried in," in connection with the words, "my land" and "the land I own," used in the context and other parts of the will, the testator meant to devise nothing in the land, and where being not an intention to give a less estate, the devise must be held to pass an estate in fee. Bell County v. Alexander, 22 T. 356, 73 Am. Dec. 288.

Device, coupled with precatory words, held to vest a fee simple, and not a trust estate. Weiler v. Weller, 22 C. A. 247, 54 S. W. 652.
A will devising property to the children of M., and thereafter appointing D. trustee to hold such children during the property devised to them, vests the title thereto in the children. Dulin v. Moore (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 94.

Under the terms of a will, a devisee held not to take in fee. St. Paul's Sanitarium v. Freeman, 102 T. 376, 117 S. W. 425, 133 Am. St. Rep. 886.

A will held to give testator's wife a fee simple, determinable on her remarriage. Haring v. Shelton, 103 T. 10, 122 S. W. 13.

A devisee held upon the birth of a child to have acquired an absolute estate in fee. Pearce v. Pearce, 104 T. 73, 134 S. W. 210.

Under the statute, a devisee held a devise in fee. Winfree v. Winfree (Civ. App.) 139 S. W. 36.

30. — Rule in Shelley's Case.—Under the rule in Shelley's Case, a devisee to one for life, with remainder in fee simple to his heirs, passes a fee simple to the legatee. Brown v. Bryant, 17 C. A. 499, 44 S. W. 399.

Under a will giving land to one person, and then, on her death, giving it to her child, held, that the rule in Shelley's Case does not apply, though the child is spoken of as the heir of the life tenant. Kesterson v. Bailey, 35 C. A. 255, 80 S. W. 97.

Rule in Shelley's Case will not be permitted to override testator's intention as expressed by whole will. Lacy v. Floyd (Civ. App.) 84 S. W. 857.

A devisee held to have taken a fee under the rule in Shelley's Case. Lacey v. Floyd, 99 T. 112, 87 S. W. 665.

Under a will, a remainderman held to have taken a fee on the death of the testator. Id.

The rule In Shelley's Case is in force in Texas. Seay v. Cockrell, 102 T. 280, 115 S. W. 1160.

A devisee construed, and held within the rule in Shelley's Case, and the devisee takes a fee-simple title. Id.

The bodily heirs of testator's son held to have acquired the fee in the property devised to them under rule in Shelley's Case. Seay v. Cockrell (Civ. App.) 116 S. W. 653.

A devisee held within the rule in Shelley's Case and the beneficiaries take the fee. Pearce v. Carrington (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 469.

A devise held within the rule in Shelley's Case, the beneficiary taking the fee. Pearce v. Pearce, 104 T. 73, 134 S. W. 210.

Where testator devised land to his daughter for life and at her death to her children, and in the event she left none, then to the children of her sister, the word "children" was not used in the sense of bodily heirs, and, the rule in Shelley's Case being inapplicable, the daughter took a life estate only. Bass v. Surls (Civ. App.) 153 S. W. 914.

31. — Life estate.—A testatrix made the following devise: "After all my lawful debts are paid, the residue of my estate, real and personal, I give and bequeath to and dispose of as follows, to wit: To my sister Mary one-third of a league of land." Here followed a description of the property devised, after which the will proceeded thus: "And all the above described property I give and bequeath to the said Mary and her heirs during her natural life." Held, that it was error to construe this as a mere devise for the life of Mary, without remainder to her heirs, and to hold that on her death the estate reverted to the heirs of the testatrix. Held, further, that the devise vested in Mary an estate for life, with a vested remainder in fee to her heirs, who took their estate as purchasers under the will and not by way of inheritance from the testator for life; and consequently that the tenant for life could alienate no greater estate in the property than for her own life. Brooks v. Evettts, 33 T. 732.

A bequest to pay a devisee a yearly income during life takes effect at the date of the death of the testator, and continues during the life of the devisee. Cleveland v. Cleveland (Civ. App.) 30 S. W. 825.

A clause which provides that land shall be purchased for M. for his use during his life, to descend on his death to others, held to create only a life estate. Morris v. Eddins, 15 C. A. 39, 44 S. W. 206.

Will construed, and held to give a devisee a life estate free from the restrictions as to alienation imposed by the will. Sprinkle v. Leslie, 36 C. A. 556, 81 S. W. 1018.

Under a will, one of the devisees held to take only a life estate. Cochran v. Cochran, 35 C. A. 255, 85 S. W. 781.

A devise to testator's wife of an estate in land during her widowhood creates a life estate, subject to divestiture by a second marriage. Haring v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 395.

A will construed, and held to create a life estate in testatrix's sons with the remainder on their death to their children then surviving. Hay v. Hay (Civ. App.) 120 S. W. 1044.

A testamentary gift to testatrix's husband held to give a life estate only, with remainder to testatrix's nearest of kin. Cottrell v. Moreman (Civ. App.) 136 S. W. 124.

A will construed, and held not to vest an absolute title in a beneficiary except in so far as she may dispose of the property during her life or by will to blood relations. Flippen v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 144 S. W. 707.

32. Vested and contingent estates.—Where the deceased bequeathed to his wife the lot where she lived, cattle, hogs, etc., during her natural life, and at her death "to become the property of my own children, as well as of Alfred, my wife's son," it was held that the remainder vested at the death of the testator, and that therefore the interests of those children of the wife who died before the wife and her surviving children, but descended to their heirs. Bufford v. Holliman, 10 S. W. 560, 60 Am. Dec. 223.

A devise for a charitable purpose held not invalid as a contingent remainder, dependent on a condition which had not happened. Gidley v. Lovenberg, 55 C. A. 203, 79 S. W. 831.

Under a will, held, that a child born after testator's death took a vested remainder. Kesterson v. Bailey, 35 C. A. 255, 80 S. W. 97.

Situation as to when under a will a remainder vested, with the effect thereof. Greenlaw v. Dillon (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 705.
Title 135)  Wills  Art. 7878

A will construed to vest title in grandchildren of testator when the oldest grandchild became of age. Walker v. Thornton (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 166.

33. Conditions.—It is well settled that if it can be collected from the whole will that the act annexed to the vesting of the estate does not necessarily precede, but may accompany or follow it, it is a condition subsequent. Bell County v. Alexander, 25 T. 380, 75 Am. Dec. 265.

A will made on the eve of absence, which declares the testator’s wish, “should I die while absent,” is contingent, and does not take effect if the party die at home, or after his departure if the intended absences. Phelps v. Ashton, 20 T. 345.

An estate devised upon conditions is forfeited by their breach. Harrison v. Foote, 30 S. W. 335, 9 C. A. 576. See Patten v. Herring, 29 S. W. 385, 9 C. A. 640, as to spend-thrift trust.

Testator held not to have intended that a devisee should accept support in defendant’s home, nor that he should be paid a sum of money in monthly installments for his maintenance. McCrea v. Robinson, 94 T. 221, 59 S. W. 356.

Provision in a will for purchase, and erection on testator’s grave, of a monument, held valid. McVain v. Hockaday, 36 C. A. 1, 51 S. W. 54.

Where a testator intended to dispose of his property in case of the happening of an event named, the will is conditional. Dougherty v. Holscheider, 40 C. A. 31, 58 S. W. 1114.

A provision in a will relative to the effect to be given the same in case the envelope inclosing it should be opened, construed, and held no ground for denying probate. Ainsworth v. Briggs, 49 C. A. 344, 108 S. W. 753.

34. — Contest of will.—A provision of a will that, if any of the devisees attacked the will, and attach all of the property, the interest of the other devisees, and the property should go to others, is valid, and if some of the devisees attacked the will, those who did not attack it would also be prevented from taking thereunder, and the fact that one of the devisees was a minor did not prevent his interest from being forfeited, if any of the devisees attempted to break the will. Perry v. Rogers, 52 S. W. 354, 114 S. W. 897.

A child of testator held to forfeit his rights under the will by making a contest in violation of the provisions of the will. Massie v. Massie, 54 C. A. 617, 118 S. W. 219.

35. — Restraint of marriage. — Where a husband’s will gave his property to his wife, a provision that so much of it as should not have been consumed by her should in case of her marriage vest in his children was valid. Littler v. Dietzmann, 48 C. A. 395, 103 S. W. 1137.

A devise to testator’s wife of an estate in land which is to terminate on her remarriage is not void as in restraint of marriage. Haring v. Shelton (Civ. App.) 114 S. W. 389.

36. — Inciting divorce.—While it may be readily conceded that conditions in a will manifestly intended to bring about a separation or divorce, are void, yet they should be clearly so before the courts by decree nullify the expressed will and purpose of the testator, for statutes on the subject as well as sound considerations of public policy dictate that those having testamentary capacity shall have the greatest freedom consistent with public safety in the disposition of their estates by them, and the importance of this right should not be ignored. A will held not to be against public policy, and void, as tending to incite beneficiary therein to procure a divorce. Ellis v. Birkenhead, 30 C. A. 529, 71 S. W. 31.

37. — Restraint on power of alienation.—A provision in a will forbidding the alienation of trust property, except for purposes of re-investment, held not an illegal restraint on Dulin v. Moore, 96 T. 135, 70 S. W. 742.

A general restraint on the power of alienation, when incorporated in a will otherwise conveying the fee-simple right to the property, is void. Diamond v. Rotan (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 196.

38. Testamentary trusts.—Creation.—Trusts in general, see notes under Art. 1108.

Will construed and held to create a spendthrift trust under which neither the property nor the income thereof was liable for the debts of the beneficiary. Herring v. Pat­ten, 13 C. A. 147, 44 S. W. 56.

Will creating trust for maintenance out of profits and rents of devised lands, and also giving beneficiary a cash legacy, construed, and held not to create a spendthrift trust, and hence judgment awarding beneficiary monthly cash allowance was proper. McCrea v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 67 S. W. 682.

Where a will devises property in fee simple to certain persons, a subsequent provision appointing D. trustee to control the property during their lives is repugnant to the nature of the estate devised, and is void. Dulin v. Moore (Civ. App.) 69 S. W. 94.

Will construed, and held to create testamentary trust with legal title in trustee. Dulin v. Moore, 96 T. 135, 70 S. W. 742.

A will construed and held to vest the legal title to the property devised to trustees. Appel v. Address, 53 C. A. 607, 116 S. W. 126.

A will devising real estate to testatrix’s sons for life with the remainder over held to give the surviving son the right to the entire real estate, charged with the reason­able value of the rents from one-half thereof to be held in trust for testatrix’s grandchild­ren. Appel v. Address, 120 S. W. 194 (App. Div.) 917 S. W. 1138.

Under the provisions of a testamentary trust, legal title to the whole estate held vested in the executors in trust for the purposes named. Wisdom v. Wilson (Civ. App.) 127 S. W. 1128.

VERN.S.CIV.ST.—304
A bequest of rents and revenues for life held not modified or lessened by advisory language naming uses. Autrey v. Stubenrauch (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 531.

41. Powers.—Sale.—See, also, notes under Art. 3374. A will which authorizes an independent executor to manage estate to best advantage for benefit of creditors empowers him to sell the estate to pay debts thereof. Carleton et al. v. Hausler et al., 20 C. 275, 49 S. W. 115.

42. Mortgages.—Under a will giving power to sell, devise or exchange land, with a provision that if devisees should die before sale, devise or exchange, it should descend to his heirs, in which case the devisee should have the right to dispose of the land as he pleases during his life; held, that devisees could not mortgage the land. Quisenberry v. J. B. Watkins Land & Mortgage Co., 92 T. 247, 47 S. W. 705.

43. Survival.—A power committed to two or more persons, unless it otherwise appear from the instrument by which it is delegated, is properly executed only by the joint act of all, or all who have accepted the trust. When a trust is executed by one of several joint executors, with the consent and approval of the others, or when the others subsequently ratify a sale made by one under the trust, the act of the single executor will be regarded, in equity, as binding upon the estate. A deed made by one of several executory powers, or by an executor with the consent of the others, to the estate, to the land, may be held valid. Reference will be had to the probate courts, if authorized by the coexecutors, and approved by them when made, as merely an irregular and imperfect execution of the power which will be aided in equity. The exceptions recognized above are as well settled as the rule that a joint power must be executed by the joint act of all the executors. D. L. Dulin v. Goodhue et al., 93 T. 951, 60 S. W. 341.

44. Will as execution of power.—A residuary clause in a will executed by the donee of a power held applied to her interest, and not to the power. Arnold v. Southern Pine Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 135 S. W. 1162.

45. Interest conveyed by trustee's will.—A trustee's will, devising his entire estate to one of the beneficiaries, passes only the interest possessed by the testator. Arnold v. Southern Pine Lumber Co. (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 917.

46. Actions for construction.—A court of equity will correct mistakes in a will, when they are patent upon note by the document, or may be made out by a due construction of its terms. Hunt v. White, 24 T. 643.

47. Legatese not acting in good faith in a suit to construe a will, their attorneys held not entitled to compensation out of the estate. Thornton v. Zea, 22 C. A. 509, 55 S. W. 708.

48. Where in actions to construe a will, their attorneys held not entitled to compensation out of the estate, they were entitled to compensation from the estate of the testator, and the court had jurisdiction to render a decree in accordance with the construction placed upon it where beneficiaries named in the will are not made parties. Hay v. Hay (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1044.

49. Where an action to construe a will is an attack upon a former opinion of the appellate court construing the same will, it is not error to refuse to make the plaintiff's attorney's fee a charge upon the fund devised by the will. Walker v. Thornton (Civ. App.) 124 S. W. 166.
47. Compromise of litigation over will.—The mayor of a city held not authorised to compromise, without a judgment of the court, a litigation involving a will giving to the poor of the city testator's estate; and a compromise entered into by attorneys held not enforceable, because the attorneys had no authority to make the agreement. Lake v. Hood, 38 C. A. 33, 79 S. W. 323.

48. Rights of devisees and legatees.—One may be made the legatee of the proceeds of a life-insurance policy taken out by the testator on his own life, though having no insurable interest in the life of the testator. Fletcher v. Williams (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 860.

The fact that the possession of a will was intrusted to the legatees of the proceeds of an insurance policy, the testator's life would not invalidate the bequest. Id.

A settlement between all the devisees under a will held to have been binding on all the parties thereto. Ackermann v. Ackermann (Civ. App.) 99 S. W. 889.

Certain conveyances made under a scheme to defeat the provisions of the will of the husband of one of the parties held invalid. Littler v. Diehlmann, 48 C. A. 292, 106 S. W. 1127.

A devisee held not entitled to complain of certain payments made by her mother's executor. Nagle v. Von Rosenberg, 55 C. A. 354, 119 S. W. 798. See, also, notes under Art. 3235.

49. — Suits to recover property.—See, also, notes under Arts. 1886, 3235. In suit by legatee to recover property belonging to the estate, allegation that estate is solvent is insufficient to show that there is no necessity for administration, so as to authorize the suit. Laas v. Seidel, 28 C. A. 140, 66 S. W. 871, 68 S. W. 724.

A devisee of $500 out of a $500 note, if entitled to sue on the note, should make the devisee of the balance a party defendant, so that the judgment may be complete protection to the maker against further litigation the devisee. Id.

Suit by legatee of $500 out of a $500 note held to be on the note, and not on a promise to pay legatee, made by its maker to the devisee of the balance. Id.

An allegation in the petition in an action on a note bequeathed to plaintiff, that testator, in making the note, was not solvent, is not equivalent to an allegation that there is no administration pending or necessary. Laas v. Seidel, 96 T. 442, 67 S. W. 1015.

The objection, in an action on a note bequeathed to plaintiff, that the petition fails to allege that no administration is pending or necessary held to be raised by a general demurrer. Id.

50. — Right to support.—A judgment against trustees under a will requiring them to support a legatee pending an action by him for support held not erroneous, though no refunding bond was required. McCreary v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 933.

Under a will giving a devisee possession of land, and the use of the rents for the support of herself and father, the father is entitled to support from the rents, though he refuses an offer of a home with his daughter. Id.

51. Specific bequest.—One given legacy of $259 annually until testator's estate should be wound up held not entitled to the same after partition. Kosminsky v. Estes, 27 C. A. 69, 65 S. W. 1108.

52. Lapse of legacy.—A will held not to express intent to prevent lapse of a devise and bequest. Coleman v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 1178.

To prevent lapse of a devise from the death of the devisee before testator, there must be an unequivocal designation as to what person testator wishes to take the devise. Id.

Where a devisee or legatee dies before testator, the devise or legacy lapses. Id.

53. Release of beneficiary's interest.—A release by an alleged beneficiary under a will to executors procured by money paid from the estate is no bar to her recovery of any interest to which she was entitled under the will. Farrell v. Cogley (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 315.

54. Election—Testamentary provisions.—A widow held required to elect whether to take under the will. Lee v. McFarland, 19 C. A. 292, 46 S. W. 281.

A will of the husband held not to put the widow to an election. Gibony v. Hutcheson, 20 C. A. 455, 50 S. W. 648.

Construction of will by trustees to require widow to elect held not so obviously erroneous as to warrant its disturbance by a court. Couts v. Holland, 48 C. A. 476, 107 S. W. 913.

A testator's widow is not estopped to claim her interest in community property by accepting testamentary provision, unless the will shows intent to dispose of her estate. Autrey v. Stuberaugh (Civ. App.) 133 S. W. 631.

A will held to dispose of testator's separate property only so as not to call on his wife, a beneficiary, to elect to take under the will or her own property. Sauvage v. Wauhop (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 259.

To require one to elect whether she will take under the will or as heir testatrix's intention to testatrix is to be clearly shown in the will or arise from the most necessary implication. Packard v. De Miranda (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 211.

A devisee who was the only person to whom specific property was devise by the will, the only other devise being "of any and every kind that may be mine at the time of my death," was not required to elect whether she would take under the will or as heir of another the specific property which did not belong to testator. Id.

A devisee cannot be compelled to elect if the property devised to her would have belonged to her as heir independent of the will. Id.

55. Acts constituting.—Some free disposable property must be given to the electing devisee which can become compensation for what the testator sought to take away. See facts showing such consideration and an election under the will. Smith v. Butler, 85 T. 126, 19 S. W. 1083.

A widow held to have elected to take under the will. Lee v. McFarland, 19 C. A. 292, 46 S. W. 281.

A legatee's recognition of the executor named in the will as the executor held not to constitute an election to take under the will, so as to estop the legatee from denying its provisions. Fryer v. Pendleton, 82 T. 534, 47 S. W. 706, 48 S. W. 212.

A legatee and devisee held by signing a paper to have elected to accept under the will, though at the time she did it she was told that it would not affect her rights with reference to the will. Pryor v. Pendleton (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 403.

The execution of a proper bequest by a legatee on a property bequested to him held not an election by him to take under the will. Williams v. Embronson, 22 C. A. 522, 55 S. W. 595.

Facts held insufficient to show an election by a surviving wife to take under the will of her deceased husband. McClary v. Duckworth (Civ. App.) 57 S. W. 317.

An agreement between the widow and children of a testator in executing a will and dividing the property among them held not to amount to a renunciation by the widow of her interest under the will. St. Mary’s Orphan Asylum of Texas v. Masterson, 57 C. A. 464, 122 S. W. 587.

One held to have elected to take under a will, so that she was estopped to claim an interest, as heir of another, in lands attempted to be disposed of by the residuary clause and by deeds executed by testatrix at the same time. Packard v. De Miranda (Civ. App.) 123 S. W. 710.

An election made by a devisee in ignorance of material facts is not binding upon him. Packard v. De Miranda (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 211.

The election of a legacy by a devisee. A devisee accepts property under a will he can not contest its provisions. Pryor v. Pendleton, 92 T. 384, 47 S. W. 706, 49 S. W. 212.

Where there is evidence tending to show that a legatee and devisee has accepted under the will, he will be held to have adopted the whole contents of the will so far as it concerns him. Pryor v. Pendleton (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 403.

A wife accepting the benefits of the will of her husband which devises the community property to another, is estopped from denying the right of the husband to devise such property. Gilroy v. Richards, 26 C. A. 355, 53 S. W. 664.

A wife, by reason of her husband’s will, was held not to be estopped from setting up her claim to community property which the husband had devised to a person who died prior to the husband. Id.

Wife, accepting bequest, held to assert community rights in other property disposed of by her husband’s will. Skagg v. Deskin (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 793.

Devisee under a will held estopped to claim that he had not accepted certain property thereunder. Torno v. Torno, 49 C. A. 117, 95 S. W. 762.

One who accepts a devise under a will must adopt the whole instrument so far as he is interested therein. Packard v. De Miranda (Civ. App.) 146 S. W. 211.

Beneficiaries under a will accepting the benefits thereunder are bound by their election. Johnson v. Avery (Civ. App.) 145 S. W. 1156.

57. Legacies charged on estate.—A legacy is not chargeable on real estate unless the will clearly expresses an intent to so charge it. Cairns v. Smith (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 728. "Charges" which testator directed should be paid out of his real estate held not to include legacies. Id.

A will held not to show that an intent that general legacies should be chargeable on undevised real estate. Id.

Under a will charging the rents of land with the support of a legatee, the court may determine what would be a reasonable sum for such support. McCreary v. Robinson (Civ. App.) 49 S. W. 933.

Will construed, and held to charge legacies on the real estate, except the homestead. Smith v. Cairns, 92 T. 667, 51 S. W. 498.

A legacy held not to have been a charge on land. Heyer v. Moerlein (Civ. App.) 94 S. W. 446.

Under a will, property given a devisee for life held not chargeable with his indebtiness to the estate. Cochran v. Cochran, 43 C. A. 259, 95 S. W. 731.

Under a common-law rule in force in Texas, held, that legatees of a will could not subject real estate to the payment of their legacies. Moerlein v. Heyer, 100 T. 245, 97 S. W. 1040.

A will construed, and held, that the special legacies therein were a charge on testator’s real estate. Haldeman v. Openheimer (Civ. App.) 119 S. W. 1158.

Will held to charge payment of legacies on the realty if the personality was insufficient after the payment of debts. Haldeman v. Openheimer, 103 T. 275, 126 S. W. 566.

58. Debts of testator.—A testator provided by his will that all his just debts be paid; and first, those to his sister and to his uncle. Held, that the will took the debts to the sister and uncle out of the statute of limitations, and obligated their payment by the executor, provided there were assets for the purpose. Bullard v. Thompson, 25 T. 313.

A clause in a will directing the executor appointed by it "to disregard the statute of limitations as to the principal, but not as to the interest upon indebtedness" of the estate, authorizes the principal of just debts to be allowed and paid by the executor, although barred by limitation. Campbell v. Shotwell, 51 T. 27.

To authorize the annulling of an approval of a claim under the discretion vested by such will would require a clear and palpable violation of discretion on the part of the executor in allowing a debt under the will. Id.

Property devised held chargeable with payment of debts of testatrix. Shiner v. Shiner, 15 C. A. 666, 40 S. W. 439.

A legatee, having possession of a note belonging to the estate, may accept a renewal which inures to the benefit of the executor. Dark v. Middlebrook (Civ. App.) 45 S. W. 963.

A devise of lands, though absolute, is subject to the payment of debts of the testator, where the personality is insufficient. Hamlin v. Hutchins, 19 C. A. 309, 46 S. W. 373.

In an action against the beneficiary under a will, upon the allegation that the original party liable was dead, and that defendant had from the estate property sufficient to satisfy plaintiff’s demand, evidence held insufficient to require the court to charge that the evidence established the facts contended for by plaintiff. Webb v. Gregory (Civ. App.) 129 S. W. 1145.

59. Lapsed devises and bequests.—A special bequest to one who was dead when the will was made is void. What shall then become of the bequest must be determined from a construction of the entire will. Moss v. Helsley, 60 T. 426.

Where a special bequest was made to the son (who was already dead) and to "his heirs and assigns forever," with another clause conveying to the testator's wife "all the remainder of my estate in lands, goods, chattels, credits and rights," but precluding her from disposing of property willed to the children, it was held that the property embraced in the void bequest was subject to the laws of descent and distribution. Id.

Where land was devised to a son or his descendants, and he died without descendants, held, that the devise lapsed. Lee v. McFarland, 19 C. A. 292, 46 S. W. 281.

The lapse of a devise of real estate charged with payment of a specific legacy by the death of the devisee before the testator does not cause the legacy to lapse. Gilroy v. Richards, 26 C. A. 355, 63 S. W. 664.

Where real estate is devised to A., with a specific legacy of one year's rent to B., but requiring the latter to pay $150 thereof to A., and the devise lapses by reason of the death of A. before the testator, the $150 is held by B. in trust for the heirs of testator. Id.

A lapsed legacy goes to the residuary legatees, unless the will shows that testator intended the residuary gift to have only a limited effect. Lenz v. Sens, 27 C. A. 442, 66 S. W. 110.

Will construed, and residuary estate held not to include a lapsed legacy of large amount bequeathed to testatrix's niece. Id.

When a devise of land fails because of lapse or because it is void ab initio, the property devolves on the heir as intestate real property. Coleman v. Jackson (Civ. App.) 126 S. W. 1178.

60. Rights of creditors of legatees and devisees.—Property delivered by an executor to the beneficiary of the will as agent of such executor held not liable for the debts of such beneficiary. Cox v. Patten (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 64.

Judgment against executrix in New York held no basis for suit against her as devisee in Texas. Webster v. Clarke, 100 T. 353, 59 S. W. 1019, 123 Am. St. Rep. 813.

In a suit to condemn to the satisfaction of plaintiff's debt against a decedent property in the hands of defendant by virtue of decedent's will, defendant could not set up as a defense any rights of other creditors without at least making such other creditors parties and seeking to have the property in his hands properly applied to the payment of all the debts. Tison v. Gass, 46 C. A. 163, 102 S. W. 751.
TITLE 136

WOOL GROWING INTERESTS

Article 7878a. Sale of sheep affected with scab unlawful.—That from and after the taking effect of this Act it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to sell or buy any sheep affected with scab. [Acts 1911, p. 7, sec. 1.]

Article 7878b. Scab defined.—Scab in this Act is defined to be a disease or itch caused from a bug or parasite which works itself into the wool and flesh of the sheep, causing a crusted sore, injuring the wool and causing same to fall from the animal. [Id. sec. 1a.]

Article 7878c. Importing sheep affected with scab unlawful.—That from and after the taking effect of this Act it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to import into this state any sheep affected with scab. [Id. sec. 2.]

Article 7878d. Moving from one county to another unlawful.—That from and after the taking effect of this Act it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to move from one county to another in this state any sheep affected with scab. [Id. sec. 3.]

Article 7878e. Moving from one to another part of county unlawful.—That from and after the taking effect of this Act it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to move from one part of any county in this state to any other part of the same county any sheep affected with scab. [Id. sec. 4.]

Article 7878f. Driving across another's lands unlawful.—That from and after the taking effect of this Act it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to drive or cause to be driven on or across the lands of another any sheep affected with scab. [Id. sec. 5.]

Article 7878g. Driving on public road unlawful.—That from and after the taking effect of this Act it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to drive along or over a public road any sheep affected with scab. [Id. sec. 6.]

Note.—Sections 7 and 8 make violations of the act misdemeanors.

Article 7879. [5357] Inspectors of sheep to be appointed in counties, when.—Whenever it appears from the assessor's rolls of any county that there are as many as two thousand sheep owned and assessed for taxes in any county in this state, it shall be mandatory upon the commissioners court of said county, upon the application of six resident sheep owners in said county, to appoint a competent inspector of sheep, who shall be a resident citizen of such county. Such inspector shall hold his office for two years, or until his successor is appointed and qualified. Such inspector may appoint one or more deputies, who shall take the oath of office prescribed by the constitution, and may perform the same acts as inspector of sheep; and the inspector may require of his deputies.
so appointed, bonds, payable to himself, for the faithful performance of their duties as such deputies. [Id. sec. 9.]

Note.—Acts 1911, p. 7, sec. 20, repeals Title 111, Rev. St. 1895, and all other laws in conflict. Title 111, Rev. St. 1895, corresponds to Title 136, Rev. St. 1911. By section 19 the act takes effect July 1, 1911.

Art. 7880. [5358] Bond.—Said inspector of sheep shall, within twenty days after receiving notice of his appointment, and before entering upon the duties of his office, execute a bond with two or more good and sufficient sureties, in a sum to be fixed by the commissioners court, not less than one thousand nor more than five thousand dollars, payable to the county judge and his successors in office, conditioned that he will faithfully and impartially discharge and perform all the duties incumbent upon him as inspector of sheep. Said bond shall be approved by the commissioners court, and be recorded in the office of the county clerk of the county as other official bonds. [Id. sec. 10.]

Art. 7881. [5359] Duties.—It shall be the duty of the inspector of sheep or his deputy to carefully and minutely examine and inspect at any time sheep in his county, or which may be driven into or through the county; and when one or more sheep affected with scab are found in any flock so inspected, the entire flock shall be condemned by said inspector or deputy and considered as affected with said disease. [Id. sec. 11.]

Art. 7882. [5360] Compensation.—The inspector provided for in the preceding articles shall be entitled to receive from the county in which he is appointed inspector of sheep, to be paid quarterly by warrant ordered drawn by the commissioners court of said county, upon the county treasurer thereof, the following compensation:

(a) In counties where the tax rolls of said counties show there are as many as two thousand and not more than ten thousand head of sheep rendered for taxes the sum of two hundred dollars per annum. [Id. sec. 12.]

Subdivision b. In counties where the tax rolls of said counties show there is not less than ten thousand and not more than thirty-two thousand head of sheep rendered for taxes the sum of four hundred dollars per annum.

Subdivision c. In counties where the tax rolls of said counties show there are thirty thousand or more sheep rendered for taxes, the sum of one thousand dollars per annum. [Acts 1911, p. 7, sec. 12. Amended Acts 1913, p. 422, sec. 1.]

Art. 7883. [5361] Duties and powers; expenses, how recovered; penalty.—It shall be the duty of each inspector of sheep to inspect each and every flock of sheep in his county at least once every three months; and he shall make written report of his findings, stating that he has complied with this provision, to the commissioners court of his county, which report shall be sworn to by him before any officer authorized to administer oaths. And should he find any flock or flocks of sheep in his county affected with scab, he shall notify the owner of such sheep, and demand of such owner that his sheep be cured of scab in thirty days; and should such owner fail or refuse to cure his sheep of scab within that period of time, then the inspector is authorized to take charge of such flock or flocks of sheep and dip the same in lime and sulphur; said preparation of dip to be made up in the proportion of one pound of lime to two pounds of sulphur, boiled and cooked well in ten gallons of water, and to use one gallon of said oozc to ten gallons of water in the vat in which the sheep are dipped; and each one of such sheep so dipped shall be allowed to remain in the dipping vat for a period of three minutes. And if the owner of such flock or flocks of sheep so found to be infected with scab shall fail or refuse to cure the same of scab as above provided, after being notified by the inspector so to do, and the inspector takes charge of such flock or flocks of sheep and cures the same of scab, the county in which he is inspector shall be entitled to recover of the owner of such flock or flocks of sheep all expenses incurred by the inspector; and in addition to such expense, the sum of two dollars per day for each day so required by the inspector in curing such sheep of scab; and it is hereby made the duty of the commissioners court of such county to enforce and collect of such owner or owners all such expense, as well as the sum of two dollars per day for each day the inspector shall consume in the dipping of such flock or flocks of sheep, by suit brought in the name of the county judge of such county, in any court of said county having jurisdiction of the amount involved. Provided, however, that if the owner or owners of such infected sheep can not be found in the county where the sheep are situated, then the notice herein provided for shall be given to the person or persons in charge of such sheep, and such notice shall be as binding as if given to the owner or owners. And in addition to the recovery by the commissioners court as herein provided, should any owner or any person in charge of such flock or flocks of sheep fail or refuse to cure such sheep of scab when instructed to do so by the inspector, such owner or person in charge of such sheep shall be liable upon conviction therefor to a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than two hundred dollars. [Acts 1911, p. 7, sec. 13.]

Arts. 7884-7886.—Repealed. See note under Art. 7879.

Art. 7886a. State inspector.—The office of state sheep inspector is hereby created. [Acts 1911, p. 7, sec. 14.]

Art. 7886b. Appointment and qualifications; bond; report; salary, etc.—The governor shall appoint to the office of state sheep inspector a person well versed in sheep husbandry and thoroughly conversant with scab in sheep to serve for one year and until appointment and qualification of his successor. Appointee shall qualify by taking official oath prescribed by the constitution and shall give bond in the sum of five thousand dollars for the faithful discharge of his duties, such bond made payable to the governor and approved by the comptroller of the state of Texas, and filed by him in his office; and said sheep inspector shall make his annual report to the governor. He may be discharged at any time by the governor and no warrant for his salary shall issue except on warrant of the governor. He shall be allowed as salary one hundred dollars per month and in addition thereto his traveling expenses, such expenses however, not to exceed in any month fifty dollars; said salary shall be paid to him on order of the governor, by warrant drawn by the comptroller of public accounts upon the state treasurer. And said inspector shall file with the governor at the end of each month his written, verified account of his traveling expenses. Provided, the office of state inspector shall expire at the end of two years. [Acts 1911, p. 7, sec. 15. Amended Acts 1913, p. 422, sec. 2.]

Art. 7886c. Duties.—It shall be the duty of the state sheep inspector to zealously ferret out all violations of this Act, and to assist the several district and county attorneys in prosecuting all violations of this Act. And upon request of any sheep owner in those counties having less than 2000 sheep, it shall be the duty of the state inspector to perform those duties of county inspectors as defined in this Act. All county inspectors shall be under his immediate supervision and control. [Acts 1911, p. 7, sec. 16.]

Note.—Section 17 provides that the county judge or commissioners' court shall be guilty of a misdemeanor if they fail to discharge the duties imposed on them by this act.

Art. 7886d. Appropriation.—The sum of eighteen hundred dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated to be used in paying the salary and traveling expenses of state sheep inspector. [Acts 1911, p. 7, sec. 18. Amended Acts 1913, p. 422, sec. 3.]
TITLE 137

WRECKS

OF WRECK-MASTERS

Article 7887. [5365] Appointment of wreck-masters.—The governor shall appoint not less than one and not more than three persons of good character in each maritime county of the state as wreck-masters for such county. [Act April 30, 1846, p. 158, sec. 1. P. D. 5375.]

Article 7888. [5366] Bond and oath.—Each person so appointed shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, give bond, with two or more good and sufficient sureties, in the sum of five thousand dollars, payable to the county judge of the county for which he is appointed, and to be approved by such officer, conditioned that the person so appointed shall faithfully discharge the duties of his office; which bond shall be deposited with the clerk of the county court of such county. The appointee shall also take the oath prescribed by the constitution for all officers; which oath shall be indorsed on said bond before the same is filed. [Id.]

Article 7889. [5367] His duties.—It shall be the duty of each wreck-master so appointed, as soon as he may be apprised of any wreck in his county, or the portion of such county allotted to him, to repair at once to the place where such wreck has occurred, and, if the property so wrecked be found abandoned, to attend to the salving thereof, to use his best endeavors for the preservation of the same, and to attend generally to the interests of the owners of such property or whom it may concern; and the wreck-master shall have the command and direction of all persons engaged in saving and preserving such property. [Id. sec. 2. P. D. 5376.]

Article 7890. [5368] To be controlled by pilot commissioners.—Wreck-masters shall be subject to the control and direction of the commissioners of pilots for the principal ports of their counties, if such there be; but, in case there are no such officers in such county, then wreck-masters shall be under the control of the county judge of their county. [Id. sec. 3. P. D. 5377.]

Article 7891. [5369] To take possession of wrecked property and sell.—Each wreck-master shall take into his custody and safely keep all wrecked property salved by him, or under his direction, or found wrecked and abandoned in his county, or that portion of the county under his supervision and jurisdiction; and, after the notice required by law, he shall sell the same at public auction for the benefit of the owners or underwriters and the salvers, to all of whom he shall faithfully account. [Id. sec. 5. P. D. 5379.]
Art. 7892. [5370] To keep a record, etc.—Each wreck-master shall keep a true account of all property salved by him, or under his direction, with the circumstances under which it was salved, and the names of the person engaged in salving, the time that each was so employed and other circumstances needful for the proper apportionment of salvage. [Id. sec. 4. P. D. 5378.]

Art. 7893. [5371] Additional record and reports.—He shall also keep a true account, in a book to be kept for that purpose, of all sales made by him and the proceeds thereof, commissions, expenses, salvage, balance left, and the condition and disposition of the same; and, within one month after each sale, and at other times when required, he shall make an abstract report in writing, signed by him, of the matters and things provided for in this and the preceding article, to the commissioner of pilots or the county judge, as the case may be, and he shall also, when required, report the same, together with all needful information in his possession, to the court or other tribunal before which cases of salvage may be pending. [Id. sec. 4. P. D. 5378.]

Art. 7894. [5372] Fees and perquisites.—Wreck-masters shall receive a commission of five per cent upon the amount of all sales made by them, after deducting all expenses, not including salvage, with such reasonable expenses as may be allowed by the authority which may control them, or the court before which the case may come; which expenses may include the wages and mileage of a crier, at a rate to be fixed by such controlling authority. [Id. sec. 5. P. D. 5379.]

Art. 7895. [5373] Special duty to prosecute.—It shall be the special duty of each wreck-master to prosecute before the proper tribunal any person who may be guilty of wasting, stealing or embezzling any property coming within the description of wrecked property. [Id. sec. 6. P. D. 5380.]

CHAPTER TWO OF COTTON SALVAGE

Art. 7896. [5374] Wrecked cotton to be advertised.—It shall be the duty of the person taking up cotton afloat, abandoned in rivers, or in the waters of the gulf of Mexico on the coast of this state, or in the bays or bayous thereof, to place the same in a secure place out of the weather, and give early notice by advertisement, or by other means, at the port to which said cotton was destined, if within this state, and, if without the limits of the state, or its destination be unknown to the finder, then at the nearest port of entry in this state to the locality where it may be taken up, of the finding of the same, giving a description of the marks or brands on said cotton, together with the place of finding and the name of the finder. [Act Aug. 30, 1856, p. 76, sec. 1. P. D. 1030.]

Art. 7897. [5375] And delivered to owner, when.—It shall be the duty of the person finding, or other person having said cotton in his possession, to deliver the same to the owner, insurer or consignee thereof, on demand, upon being paid the expense of advertisement, and five dollars upon each bale so saved and delivered. [Id. sec. 2. P. D. 1031.]
Art. 7898. [5376] If no owner appear, to be sold.—If no owner, insurer or consignee of the cotton appear within three months after such advertisement, the person finding shall cause the same to be sold at auction by a legal wreck-master of the county in which said cotton is deposited, at public outcry to the highest bidder; and the wreck-master shall, from the proceeds of such sale, pay the necessary expenses attending the storage, advertising and sale of said cotton, and to the finder the salvage of five dollars for each bale as aforesaid. The remainder, less his commissions and other necessary expenses, he shall hold in trust for the benefit of the owner or others concerned. [Id. sec. 3. P. D. 1032.]

Art. 7899. [5377]. And proceeds paid into state treasury.—If, at the expiration of one year thereafter, no legal claimant appears therefor, said proceeds shall be paid over by said wreck-master to the treasurer of the county in which the sale took place; and said county treasurer shall immediately pay the same over to the treasurer of the state, who shall pay the same over to the person entitled thereto, on proof being made of the right of the claimant, in the manner provided for the recovery of money paid into the treasury of the state by executors or administrators of estates where no heirs, devisees or legatees of the estate appear to claim the fund of the estate on the final settlement thereof. [Id.]

Art. 7900. [5378] If no wreck-master, county clerk to act.—In case there shall be no wreck-master in the county in which the cotton is deposited, then it shall be the duty of the clerk of the county court to perform all the duties required of wreck-masters by the two preceding articles, and such clerk shall be entitled to receive the same compensation for his services as is allowed to wreck-masters under this chapter. [Id. sec. 4. P. D. 1033.]

Art. 7901. [5379] Warrant to issue for suspected cotton.—Upon affidavit being made before any justice of the peace that the affiant has good reason to believe, and does believe, that certain cotton within his county has been so found, or having been found without such county has been brought therein, and that reasonable time has elapsed, and that the finder has neglected to comply with the requirements of the foregoing articles, it shall be the duty of such justice of the peace to issue his warrant and cause said cotton, or its proceeds, to be seized by a legal officer and delivered to the wreck-master of said county, to be disposed of according to the provisions of this chapter. [Id. sec. 6. P. D. 1035.]

19. Take effect, when.

20. Annotations not part of statute.

21. Not to affect acts of thirty-third legislature.

22. Emergency clause.

Section 2. Revised Civil Statutes, how known and cited.—Be it further enacted, that these Revised Civil Statutes of the state of Texas shall be known and may be cited as the “Revised Statutes.”

Sec. 3. To be liberally construed.—That the rule of the common law that statutes in derogation thereof shall be strictly construed shall have no application to the Revised Statutes; but the said statutes shall constitute the law of this state respecting the subjects to which they relate; and the provisions thereof shall be liberally construed with a view to effect their objects and to promote justice.

In general.—In the construction of the Revised Statutes the primary rule embraces all of its provisions. None of them are subject to a strict construction. Whether general provisions or exceptions, all alike must be liberally construed with a view to effect the object sought, and to promote justice. Texas Mexican Ry. Co. v. Locke, 63 T. 623.

Derogation of common law.—The rule that a statute in derogation of the common law is to be strictly construed has been abolished by statute in Texas. Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Walker, 48 C. A. 52, 106 S. W. 765.

Attachment and garnishment.—It is said that the statute on garnishment is not entitled to and has never received a liberal construction in favor of the party resorting to the same, Jemison v. Scarborough, 56 T. 358. The law should be strictly followed. Scurlock v. G., C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 77 T. 478, 14 S. W. 148. Courts may refuse to extend aid to the proceeding beyond the plain import of the law. Seaton v. Brooking, 1 App. C. C. § 1045.

Under the above section, strictness in attachment proceedings is exacted only so far as to require a substantial compliance with the material provisions of the law. Lewis v. Stewart, 62 T. 353. But it is held that all the material requirements of the law must be complied with. Dunnenbaum v. Schram, 69 T. 281; Espey v. Heidner, 58 T. 862. The courts will not indulge in presumptions to supply a defect in attachment proceedings, which, if not supplied, prevents the affidavit from coming up to the requirements of the statute. The utmost latitude allowed is to exact only a substantial compliance with the law, or the use of language which necessarily and properly makes the case provided for the issuance of the writ. City Nat. Bank v. Rippen, 66 T. 610, 1 S. W. 897.

Negligent death.—Though this section provides that the rule that statutes in derogation of the common law shall be construed strictly shall not apply, but the statutes shall be liberally construed to effect their objects, a right of action for negligent death of a servant must be founded on a statute fairly construed. Farmers’ & Mechanics’ Nat. Bank v. Hanks, 104 T. 320, 137 S. W. 1120.

Mechanics’ liens.—As regards the enforcement of mechanics’ liens the rule seems to be that where the lien is given by the constitution, the law giving the remedy is to be construed liberally; in other cases, strictly. Warner Elevator Mfg. Co. v. Maverick, 88 T. 498, 39 S. W. 457, 51 S. W. 353, 499; Tyler Tap R. Co. v. Driscoll, 52 T. 13; Central M. & S. Ry. Co. v. Henning, 52 T. 466.

Quo warranto.—In adopting the statute of 9th Anno, on quo warranto, the legislature, in adopting the language of the act, is presumed to have intended it to receive the construction which the courts have uniformly given it. State v. Smith, 66 T. 447. This is a general rule of construction (Morgan v. Davenport, 60 T. 230; Brothers v. Mundell, 60 T. 240), and applies where a former law is substantially re-enacted (Moffett v. Moffett, 67 T. 442, 4 S. W. 70).

Construction of laws in general.—See Arts. 5502-5504.

Sec. 4. Repealing clause.—That all civil statutes of a general nature, in force when the Revised Statutes take effect, and which are not included herein, or which are not hereby expressly continued in force, are hereby repealed.

In general.—When a general revising act expressly repeals all inconsistent acts and parts of acts, this implies that if there are parts of former acts not embraced in the new act, and not inconsistent therewith, they are not repealed. Buse v. Bartlett, 1 C. & C. 335, 21 S. W. 52.

The effect of this section is to expressly repeal all laws which are not included in the Revised Statutes, or which are not expressly continued in force by the act adopting the revision. Hell v. Martin (Civ. App.) 70 S. W. 437.

The section of the Code failed to bring forward provisions of the statute, the original statute may be looked to in construing the Code provisions, though the court cannot bring forward any portion of the statute as it formerly existed. Runnels v. State, 46 Cr. R. 446, 77 S. W. 468.

Special terms of district courts.—Whatever doubt there may have been on this point previous thereto, under Art. 1729, which provides that a district judge may convene a special term of the district court at any time fixed by him, and this section, which nowhere requires previous notice of the time of such special terms or publication thereof, nor continues in force statutes relative to such notice or publication, such notice and publication are not required. Mayhew v. State (Cr. App.) 155 S. W. 191.

Ejection of passengers between stations.—Paschal’s Dig. art. 4592, prohibiting the ejection of passengers between stations, having been omitted from the revision of the statutes, has been re-enacted, is no longer the law of the state. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Green (Civ. App.) 141 S. W. 341.

Repeal of laws in general.—See notes at end of Title 81.

Sec. 5. Repeal does not affect, what.—That the repeal of any statute, or any portion thereof, by the preceding section, shall not affect or impair any act done, or right vested or accrued, or any proceeding, suit or prosecution had or commenced in any cause before such repeal shall take effect; but every such act done, or right vested or accrued, or proceeding, suit or prosecution had or commenced shall remain in full force and effect to all intents or purposes as if such statute, or part thereof so repealed, had remained in force, except that where the course of practice or procedure for the enforcement of such right, or the conducting of such proceeding, suit or prosecution shall be changed, the same shall be conducted as near as may be in accordance with the Revised Statutes.

Retroactive laws in general.—See, also, notes under Arts. 5602-5604. Statutes are held to operate prospectively unless the contrary construction is evidenced by their plain and unequivocal language. Life Insurance Co. v. Hay, 50 T. 511.

Rights based on contract are as fully protected by section 16, article 1, of the constitution as they are by section 24, article 1, of the constitution of the United States. Under the former, no citizen’s rights of any character can be affected by a retroactive law. The latter, it has been held, does not prohibit the passage of a retroactive law, even though such a law may divest antecedent vested rights of property, unless such rights are secured on contract. Mollinger v. Houston, 65 T. 37, 3 S. W. 249.

That clause of the state constitution which provides that no retroactive law shall be made was intended to impose a broader restriction on legislative power than could exist in its absence. It protects the citizen in every legal right existing before the enactment of any law designed to retroact and deprive him of it; and this whether the right be, strictly speaking, a right to property or not. Id.

Statutes will not operate retroactively unless it clearly appears that was the intention. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Wells-Fargo Express Co. (Civ. App.) 108 S. W. 172.

Statutes cannot be held to have a retroactive or an ex post facto effect, unless their language compels it. Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Wells-Fargo Express Co., 101 T. 284, 110 S. W. 38; Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Same (Sup.) 110 S. W. 41.

By the implied repeal of a statute by a later statute on the same subject, all acts or omissions in violation of the former statute are pardoned, and the penalties incurred thereunder are no longer enforceable. State v. Texas & N. O. R. Co. (Civ. App.) 125 S. W. 33.

This legislation may require any act to be done by a retroactive statute which it could have required in the first instance, and may dispense retroactively with any statutory formality which it could have dispensed with in the first instance. Parker v. Jefferson County Drainage Dist. No. 2 (Civ. App.) 148 S. W. 361.

As a general rule, statutes operate prospectively; but they may operate retrospectively when it is apparent that such was the intention, provided no impairment of vested rights results. Cox v. Robison, 106 T. 426, 150 S. W. 1149.

Fixed or vested rights.—There is no vested right in any particular remedy. But in changing the remedy the right must not be affected, and a substantial remedy must be left or provided. Paschal v. Perez, 7 T. 344.

A right, in a legal sense, exists when in consequence of given facts the law declares that one person is entitled to enforce against another a claim, or to resist the enforcement of a claim urged by another. Meller v. Houston, 33 T. 37, 3 S. W. 248.

When by virtue of law a defendant may plead and show an existing state of facts which would defeat the plaintiff's right to recover, then a protecting right against the proceeding is fixed and vested, and, in view of the constitutional provision against retroactive law, cannot be divested by legislation. The same constitutional provision protects a plaintiff in the enforcement of every right, recognized and fixed by law, against retroactive legislation. Id. See De Cordova v. City of Galveston, 4 T. 470.

Sec. 6. Same subject.—That no offense committed and no liability, penalty or forfeiture, either civil or criminal, incurred prior to the time when any statute, or part thereof, shall be repealed or altered by the Revised Statutes, shall be discharged or affected by such repeal or alteration; but prosecutions and suits for such offenses, liabilities, penalties or forfeitures shall be instituted and proceeded with in all respects as if such prior statute, or part thereof, had not been repealed or altered, except that where the mode of procedure or matters of practice have been changed by the Revised Statutes the procedure had after the Revised Statutes shall have taken effect in such prosecution or suit shall be, as far as practicable, in accordance with the Revised Statutes.

Effect of repeal or change of law in general.—The repeal of an act by virtue of which a case has been brought at the time and are repealed do not affect such suits, where the same act which makes the repeal contains a substantial re-enactment of the provisions under which the suits were brought. McMullen v. Guest, 6 T. 275.

Rules of evidence affect the remedy, the procedure, and the legislature may modify them at pleasure, provided such changes come not within the constitutional prohibition against laws impairing the obligation of contracts. Paschal v. Perez, 7 T. 348.

If pending an appeal the penal law is changed, the appellate court must dispose of the case under the law in force when their decision is rendered. Ekter v. M. P. Ry. Co., 2 App. C. C. § 60; G. C. & S. F. R. R. Co. v. Lott, 2 App. C. C. § 63.

Act 1887, relating to correction of formal defects in special verdicts, applies to actions pending as well as to future actions. Phoenix Ins. Co. v. Shearman (Civ. App.) 43 S. W. 1063.

If a statute on which an action is based is repealed expressly or by necessary implication after the action is begun, the suit is abated. Jesse v. De Shong (Civ. App.) 105 S. W. 1011.

If a statute giving a special remedy is repealed without a saving clause in favor of pending suits, all suits must stop where the repeal finds them. Stewart v. Lattner, 53 C. A. 330, 118 S. W. 860.

Where a statute giving a special remedy is repealed without a saving clause, a pending suit cannot be prosecuted after the repeal. Goodrich v. Wallis (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 285.

A statute has only a prospective operation, unless its terms show clearly a legislative intention that it shall have a retroactive effect. Drought v. Story (Civ. App.) 143 S. W. 361.

Sec. 7. Validating and legalizing statutes not repealed.—That no general or special law heretofore enacted validating or legalizing the acts or omissions of any officer, or any law, act or proceeding whatever, shall be affected by the repealing clause of this title; but all such validating or legalizing statutes whatsoever now in force in this state are hereby continued in force, and the same shall be as effectual for all purposes after as before the Revised Statutes go into effect.

Acts enumerated.—Statutes of the kind mentioned in this section are numerous, and they cannot be readily located. Very few are to be found in the Revised Statutes.

Acts validating the incorporation of cities and towns, see Arts. 775, 775, 778. Acts validating defective registrations, see Early Laws, arts. 997 (§§ 20, 21), 2554 (ante, Art. 1); 1883, ch. 34, p. 290; 1897, ch. 5, p. 75.)

Act for relief of purchasers, and to validate patents. Act March 17, 1874, p. 29; Early Laws, art. 3869.

Act April 2, 1891, ch. 87, p. 130 (Sayles' Civ. St. 1897, p. 1990), validating acts of land boards.

Acts 1897, p. 12, validating an ordinance of the city of Galveston.

Acts 1897, p. 52 (Sayles' Civ. St. 1897, art. 4218III), validating forfeitures of land.

Acts 1897, p. 118, validating patents to land issued to ex-Confederate and other soldiers.

Acts 1897, p. 158 (Sayles' Civ. St. 1897, art. 616d), validating the incorporation of towns and villages for free school purposes.

Acts 1897, p. 160 (Sayles' Civ. St. 1897, art. 4218x), validating sales of land.

Acts 1897, p. 211 (Sayles' Civ. St. 1897, art. 3995c), validating school districts.

Acts 1897, p. 222 (Sayles' Civ. St. 1897, art. 4218dd), confirming certain patents of land.

Acts 1905, p. 303, § 150 (see ante, Art. 2555), validating school districts.

Acts passed subsequent to the Revision of 1911.—Acts 1911, p. 27, validating sales of Galveston county land.

Acts 1911, p. 206, validating sales and leases of land.

Acts 1913, p. 100, validating the incorporation of the town of Rusk.

Acts 1913, p. 121, validating the incorporation of the town of Giddings.

Sec. 8. Laws relating to public debt, etc., not repealed.—That no law relating to the public debt or the public credit shall be affected by the repealing clause of this title.

An act to provide for the liquidation of the public debt of the republic. Acts 1850, p. 198; Early Laws, art. 2073; Acts 1852, p. 38; Early Laws, art. 2234.

An act to provide for the funding of the debt contracted for the protection of the frontier. Early Acts 1891, p. 24; Early Laws, art. 2916. Repealed, and provision made for liquidating the funded debt. Acts 1862, p. 44; Early Laws, art. 3018.

An act to ascertain the amount of, and adjusting and funding the state debt, and to state any and all accounts between the state and individuals. Acts 1886, p. 125; Early Laws, art. 3334; Sayles' Civ. St. (1889) p. 697.

An act providing for the issuance and sale of the bonds of the state for the purpose of meeting the appropriations made for maintaining ranging companies on the frontier. Acts 1870, S. S., p. 45; 2 Sayles' Civ. St. (1899) p. 698; Early Laws, art. 3435. Supplementary act. Acts 1871, p. 75; Early Laws, art. 3582. Approved August 5, 1870. See, also, Acts 1859, p. 82, post.

An act to authorize the governor to prepare and issue bonds to an amount sufficient to meet any deficiency in the receipts of revenue for the years 1871 and 1872, and also providing for the payment of said bonds and interest thereon. Acts 1871, p. 106; 2 Sayles' Civ. St. (1889) p. 701; Early Laws, art. 3593.

An act to effect a loan to meet deficiencies in the revenue. Acts 1873, p. 151; Early Laws, art. 3785.

An act to provide money to pay the floating indebtedness of the state. Acts 1874, p. 14; Early Laws, art. 3650; 2 Sayles' Civ. St. (1889) p. 705.

An act for the sale of bonds to settle indebtedness with Williams and Gulon. Acts 1874, p. 16; Early Laws, art. 3557.

An act to further provide for the sale of bonds to pay the public debt. Acts 1874, p. 95; 2 Sayles' Civ. St. (1889) p. 706; Early Laws, art. 3906. Supplemental act. Acts 1874, p. 152; 2 Sayles' Civ. St. (1889) p. 706; Early Laws, art. 3943. An act granting pensions to the surviving veterans of the revolution which separated Texas from Mexico, including the Santa Fe and Mier prisoners; the survivors of the farmers massacred near San Antonio in the year 1842, and taken to the castle of Perote and confined therein; and the survivors of Deaf Smith's spy company; and to provide for the liquidation and settlement of all arrearages said veterans under an act of 18th of August, 1870, previous to the 1st of July, 1874. Acts 1874, p. 114; 2 Sayles' Civ. St. (1889) p. 707; Early Laws, 3929. Repealed. Acts 1875, S. S., p. 112; 2 Sayles' Civ. St. (1889) p. 710; Early Laws, art. 4110. An act for the bonds of the state, that will become due, and that are payable in the years 1875 and 1877, and to make adequate provisions for the floating indebtedness of the state, and to supply deficiencies in the revenue by the sale of the bonds of the state, and to make an appropriation to carry into effect the provisions of the same. Acts 1876, p. 40; 2 Sayles' Civ. St. (1889) p. 711; Early Laws, art. 4183.

For act of February 19, 1885, authorising the governor to issue bonds to the amount of $200,000, see Sayles' Civ. St. (1889) art. 3678c.

An act to create a sinking fund for the payment of bonds of the state of Texas held by individuals, maturing in 1890 and 1891, and to provide for its use as a loan to the available school fund until said bonds mature. Acts 1888, S. S., p. 7; Sayles' Civ. St. (Supp.) art. 3678c.

An act to provide for the issuance of bonds of this state to supply deficiencies in the revenue, and to provide the manner of the sale of such bonds to the board of education for the permanent university fund. Acts 1883, p. 81; Sayles' Civ. St. (Supp.) art. 3678f. See also, Sayles' Civ. St. (Supp.) art. 3697.

An act to provide for the payment of the bonds of the state issued under an act of the legislature, approved August 5, 1870. Acts 1888, p. 82; Sayles' Civ. St. (Supp.) art. 3678d. See also, Acts 1870, S. S., p. 46, ante.

An act to amend all negotiable bonds and coupons held by the state of Texas in trust for its public institutions non-negotiable. Acts 1889, p. 121; Sayles' Civ. St. (Supp.) art. 3678g.

An act to provide for the retirement of the past due bonds of the state of Texas, for the payment of interest thereon, and the issuance of other bonds at a lower rate of interest in lieu thereof. Acts 1893, p. 99; Sayles' Civ. St. (Supp.) art. 3678f. Acts 1905, p. 370 (Sayles' Civ. St. Supp. 1906, p. 650), providing for retiring bonds maturing July 1, 1906, and issuing others, etc.

Sec. 10. Laws creating, etc., counties and county seats not repealed.

—That no statute, or part of a statute, creating, adding to or organizing any county, or establishing any county seat, in this state shall be affected or impaired by the repealing clause of this title, or by any law relating to the establishment of county boundaries contained in this act. [Acts of 1879, chap. 157.]

Buchel. Fixing boundaries. Acts 1889, ch. 49, p. 44.

VERN.S.CIV.ST.—905. 4567.
Sec. 11. Judicial districts, and times of holding district and other courts.—That the laws now in force organizing the several district and other courts, and prescribing the times for holding the district courts therein, are continued in force.

The apportionments acts are included in this compilation under Title 5.

Sec. 12. No person, etc., released from any duty, etc.—That nothing in the repealing clause of this title shall be construed as releasing any person or corporation from any duty enjoined in the limitation or condition imposed by any law that may be repealed by the repealing clause of this title.

Sec. 13. Laws as to reservations for actual settlers and public buildings not repealed.—That no law in reference to land reservations, or setting apart portions of such reservations for the benefit of actual settlers, or for the construction or repairing of the public buildings of the state, nor any law establishing or providing for the maintenance of any public institution, shall be affected or impaired by the repealing clause of this title, unless expressly altered or repealed in some of the preceding articles of the Revised Statutes.

Sec. 14. Laws for the payment of unpaid school teachers, etc., and as to public libraries, not repealed.—That no law providing for the payment of unpaid school teachers in the public schools, or giving authority to cities or towns to establish public libraries, or for like purposes, shall be affected or impaired by the repealing clause herein.

Sec. 15. Certain local laws not repealed.—That all laws, civil or criminal, of a local nature operating in particular counties, cities or towns, or of a temporary nature operative when these Statutes go into effect, and all laws of a private nature operating on particular persons or corporations, are not affected by the said repealing clause.

Sec. 16. Shall be construed as continuation of former law, etc.—That the provisions of the Revised Statutes, so far as they are substantially the same as the statutes of this state in force at the time when the Revised Statutes shall go into effect, or of the common law in force in this state at said time, shall be construed as continuations thereof, and not as new enactments of the same.

Continuation of acts.—Including an act in the Revised Statutes was not a re-enactment, but merely a continuation thereof. Marston v. Yaites (Civ. App.) 66 S. W. 867. The rule that a revision shall be taken as only embodying in changed form the statutes previously existing held not conclusive, where the revision was adopted by the legislature and has the force of law. State v. Burgess, 101 T. 524, 109 S. W. 922.

Acts 1895, c. 118 (Rev. St. 1896, art. 206), provided that notice of a sale of real estate under a trust deed should be given "as now required in judicial sales." The statute as to judicial sales in force at the time when the act of 1889 was enacted did not require personal service of notice on the defendant in execution. The act adopting the Revised Statutes in 1891 (Final Title, § 18), provided that the provisions of the Revised Statutes, so far as they are substantially the same as the statutes in force at the time when the Revised Statutes shall go into effect, shall be construed as continuations thereof, and not as new enactments. The Revised Statutes of 1911 continued as Art. 3759 article 2369 of the Revised Statutes of 1895 in its exact language. Held, that a sale by a trustee in a deed of trust made in 1911 is to be governed by the act of 1889, rather than by a subsequent statute requiring service of notice on the defendant in execution, and hence no service on the mortgagor is necessary, especially in view of Acts 1903, c. 77 (Art. 3757, Rev. Civ. St. 1911), relating to sales under execution, and providing that nothing therein contained shall affect the method of advertising land under powers conferred by any deed of trust or other contract lien. Corbett v. Sweeney (Civ. App.) 151 S. W. 655.

Effect as to construction.—In construing a revision of statutes, the presumption is that the codifiers and the legislature did not intend to change the laws as they formerly stood. Braun v. State, 40 Cr. R. 236, 49 S. W. 620.

This section requires a construction of an act as originally enacted. The act providing for codification did not authorize the codifiers to change or alter the laws, but to comply and embody them in convenient form. Judd v. State, 25 C. A. 418, 62 S. W. 545.

Sec. 17. Laws of the thirty-second legislature not affected.—That no laws, general or special, enacted by the thirty-second legislature, shall be in any way affected by the repealing clause of this title; but any and all such laws shall continue to be the law of this state, this act of revision to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 18. Revised Statutes not to be printed in pamphlet laws.—That the Revised Statutes shall not be printed in the pamphlet laws of the first session of the thirty-second legislature, but shall be printed, published and distributed at such time and in such manner as may be provided by law.

Sec. 19. When to take effect.—That these Revised Statutes shall take effect and be in force at twelve o'clock, meridian, on the first day of September, Anno Domini, one thousand nine hundred and eleven.

Date of approval of act in compilation.—Date of legislative approval of a compilation of statutes held not to be regarded as the date of approval of an act contained in the compilation. Beard v. State, 47 Cr. R. 185, 68 S. W. 524.

Time of taking effect of laws in general.—See notes under Art. 5502, § 44.

Sec. 20. Annotations not part of statute.—It is provided, however, that the annotations printed under the several articles of these Revised Civil Statutes shall not be construed to be any part of said statutes, but shall be so printed merely for convenience as references.

Sec. 21. Not to affect acts of thirty-third legislature.—Nothing in this act shall be construed or held to repeal or in anywise affect the validity of any law or act passed by this legislature in its regular session.

Sec. 22. Emergency clause.—The importance and great length of this act, the length of time required for its publication, and the near approach of the end of the present session of the legislature, create an imperative public necessity requiring that the constitutional rule which requires that bills be read on three several days in each house should be and the same is hereby suspended.

CERTIFICATE TO THE REVISED STATUTES OF 1911

THE STATE OF TEXAS
DEPARTMENT OF STATE

I, C. C. McDonald, Secretary of State of the State of Texas, do hereby certify that the foregoing act entitled: "An Act to adopt and establish the Revised Civil Statutes of the State of Texas and declaring an emergency" and known as Senate Bill No. 288 of the Regular Session of the Thirty-second Legislature, was submitted to the Governor for his approval on March the 11th, A. D. 1911, and was approved by him on April the 1st, A. D. 1911, and was received and filed in the Department of State on April the 1st, A. D. 1911, and by the terms of said act became effective on September the 1st, A. D. 1911, at 12 o'clock meridian.

I further certify that I have carefully compared the foregoing act with the original copy now on file in this department and the same is true and correct.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF I have hereunto signed my name officially and caused to be impressed hereon the Seal of State at my office in the City of Austin, Texas, this 9th day of May, A. D. 1912.

C. C. McDonald,
Secretary of State.
APPENDIX

I. COUNTY COURTS

AN ALPHABETICAL LIST OF COUNTIES WHOSE COURTS ARE ACTING UNDER SPECIAL LAWS

The acts are arranged in chronological order, so that the last act under any county will show the present condition of things. When it is said that an act relating to a county is the same as another, it is not intended that they are literally the same in all cases, but only substantially—in purport and effect. When the jurisdiction is diminished, the act is usually drawn on the plan of those under Angelina, Bexar and Chambers counties; when the jurisdiction is restored, it is done by an act similar to that under Atascosa county—the purport of the act seems to be to restore to the court the jurisdiction of a county court under the constitution and general laws.

The legislature has power, by local or general law, to increase, diminish or change the civil and criminal jurisdiction of county courts; and in cases of any such change of jurisdiction the legislature must also conform the jurisdiction of the other courts to such change. Const., art. 5, § 22.

If an act be regarded as an attempt to change the jurisdiction of a county court, it will be held inoperative if it fails to conform the jurisdiction of the other courts to such change. Erwin v. Blanks, 60 T. 583. The constitutional provision clearly empowers the legislature to take away the jurisdiction of the county court of any particular county, and to confer it upon the district court of such county. The constitutional amendment of 1891 did not restore to county courts the jurisdiction that had been previously taken from them; the provision in question was not changed by the amendment. Muench v. Oppenheimer, 86 T. 568, 26 S. W. 496.

The following are the usual forms of statement by which the jurisdiction of the other courts is conformed to the change:

- Where the jurisdiction is diminished—“The district court of said county shall have and exercise jurisdiction in all matters and causes, civil and criminal, over which by the general laws of the state, the county court of said county would have jurisdiction, except as provided in section of this act.” Acts 1897, p. 38, § 2.
- Where the jurisdiction is restored—“The district court of county shall no longer have jurisdiction in cases in which the county court of said county by the provisions of this act has exclusive original or appellate jurisdiction.” Acts 1897, p. 103, § 6.

In some cases, after defining the jurisdiction of the county court, the only provision is as follows: “All causes now pending in the district court of county of which the county court of said county has jurisdiction under the provisions of this act, and all laws giving jurisdiction to the county court, shall be transferred to the county court of said county.” Acts 1889, p. 82 (Sayles’ Civ. St. Supp. 1894, art. 1172b, § 2); Acts 1893, p. 19 (Sayles’ Civ. St. Supp. 1894, p. 916); Acts 1893, p. 12 (Sayles’ Civ. St. Supp. 1894, p. 919).

Angelina—Jurisdiction diminished: Act Feb. 9, 1881, p. 3 (Sayles’ Civ. St. 1889, art. 1172g). See Chambers county.

Restored: Act March 21, 1893, p. 31 (Sayles’ Civ. St. Supp. 1894, p. 913). Same as provisions under Atascosa county.

III. LAND LAWS

(A) A LIST OF LAWS ENACTED SINCE 1873, AND NOT INCLUDED IN THE REVISED STATUTES OR IN SAYLES' EARLY LAWS

An act to adjust and define the rights of the Texas and Pacific Railway Company within the state of Texas, in order to encourage the speedy construction of a railway through the state to the Pacific Ocean. Act May 2, 1873, p. 318, Special Laws. Sayles' Civ. St. 1897, p. 1939.

An act for the relief of the International Railroad Company, now consolidated with the Houston and Great Northern Railroad Company, under the name of the International and Great Northern Railroad Company. Act March 10, 1875, Special Laws, ch. 45, p. 60. Sayles' Civ. St. 1897, p. 1945.

An act to provide for designating, surveying and sale of three million and fifty thousand acres of the unappropriated public domain for the erection of a new state capitol, and other necessary public buildings, at the seat of government, and to provide a fund to pay for surveying said lands. Act Feb. 29, 1879, ch. 13, p. 9. Sayles' Civ. St. 1897, p. 1947.

An act to protect the rights of pre-emption settlers who have heretofore or may hereafter enlist in the frontier battalion or other military forces of the state. Act April 7, 1879, ch. 72, p. 82. Sayles' Civ. St. 1897, p. 1949.

An act to require persons enclosing public free school lands to pay an annual rent therefor. Act April 17, 1879, ch. 92, p. 101. Published as article 509, Penal Code of 1895.

An act granting a land certificate of six hundred and forty acres to each of the indigent veterans who was engaged in the struggle for Texas independence prior to and at the battle of San Jacinto, enrolled under the act approved July 28, 1876. Act April 26, 1879, ch. 156, p. 175. Sayles' Civ. St. 1897, p. 1951.

An act to validate the titles to land reserved from location or patent at the time titles issued thereto. Act July 5, 1879, S. S., ch. 24, p. 20. Sayles' Civ. St. 1897, p. 1953.

An act to provide for the sale of the alternate sections of land in organized counties, as surveyed by railroad companies and other works of internal improvement and set apart for the benefit of the common school fund; to provide for the investment of the proceeds, and to repeal all laws in conflict therewith. Act July 8, 1879, S. S., ch. 28, p. 23. Sayles' Civ. St. 1897, p. 1953.

Appendix

III. LAND LAWS (A)

An act to amend sections one and six of "An act to provide for the sale of a portion of the unappropriated public lands of the state of Texas, and the investment of the proceeds of such sale," passed at the special session of the sixteenth legislature. Act March 11, 1881, ch. 33, p. 24. Sayles' Civ. St. 1897, p. 1960.

An act to amend article 3971, chapter 11, of the Revised Civil Statutes, providing for the disposal of certain lands known as the Indian reservations, and to repeal articles 3972, 3973, 3974, 3975 and 3976 of the Revised Statutes upon the same subject. Act March 11, 1881, ch. 35, p. 27. Sayles' Civ. St. 1897, p. 1960.

An act granting a land certificate of twelve hundred and eighty (1280) acres to each of the surviving soldiers of the Texas revolution, and the surviving signers of the declaration of Texas independence, and to the surviving widows of such soldiers and signers, and to the widows of those who fell at the Dawson massacre; and to repeal an act, approved April 26, 1879, entitled "An act granting a land certificate of six hundred and forty acres to each of the indigent veterans who was engaged in the struggle for Texas independence prior to and at the battle of San Jacinto, enrolled under the act approved July 28, 1876." Act March 15, 1881, ch. 45, p. 55. Sayles' Civ. St. 1897, p. 1960.

An act authorizing and requiring owners of lands between the Nueces and Rio Grande rivers, under grants or titles thereto from the former governments, which were recorded in the respective counties before the adoption of the present constitution, to deposit and archive the same in the general land office. Act March 16, 1881, ch. 46, p. 37.

See Art. 82, subd. 6, of this compilation of the Revised Civil Statutes.

An act to provide for designating and setting apart three hundred leagues of land out of the unappropriated public domain for the benefit of the unorganized counties of the state, and to provide for the survey and location of the same. Act March 26, 1881, ch. 61, p. 65. Sayles' Civ. St. 1897, p. 1963.

See Sayles' Civ. St. 1897, art. 4280. The reference in this article to an act "approved March 15, 1882," is probably an error. The preamble to the act is as follows:

"Whereas, the commissioner and the contractor under an act entitled 'An act to provide for designating and setting apart three hundred leagues of land out of the unappropriated public domain for the benefit of the unorganized counties, and to provide for the survey and location of the same,' approved March 26, 1881, have surveyed three hundred and twenty-five leagues. And whereas, some of the four leagues of land surveyed for some of the unorganized counties of this state have been located in conflict with older surveys; and whereas, other instances of this kind may arise, therefore," etc. See Acts 1883, p. 45.

An act to authorize and require the issue of patents to lands situated between the Rio Grande and Nueces rivers, the titles to which have been confirmed under the act of February 11, 1860. Act April 4, 1881, ch. 92, p. 105. Sayles' Civ. St. 1897, p. 1965.

Preliminary explanatory notes.—This title was title 79 of the Revised Statutes of 1879. Many and important changes and omissions were introduced by the revision of 1895, so that it became difficult to ascertain with certainty under what particular laws rights in land had vested, and whether there were not laws remaining in full force which were not included in the Revised Statutes of 1895. The pre-emption laws were repealed by chapter 20 of the Acts of 1899. This accounts for the omission from the Revised Statutes of 1895 of old articles 3924 to 3935, inclusive.

The provisions of the Final Title in Revised Statutes 1896 bearing upon the subject were as follows:

"Sec. 4. That all civil statutes, of a general nature, in force when the Revised Statutes take effect, and which are not included herein, or which are not hereby expressly continued in force, are hereby repealed.

"Sec. 5. That the repeal of any statute, or any portion thereof by the preceding section, shall not affect or impair any act done or right vested or accrued, or any proceeding, suit or prosecution had or commenced in any cause before such repeal shall take effect: but every such act done or right vested or accrued, or proceeding, suit or prosecution had or commenced shall remain in full force and effect to all intents or purposes as if such statute or part thereof so repealed had remained in force, except that where the course of practice or procedure for the enforcement of such right or the conducting of such proceeding, suit or prosecution, shall be changed, the same shall be conducted as near as may be in accordance with the Revised Statutes."

"Sec. 9. That no law relating to the university or public school fund, or in relation to the agricultural and mechanical college fund, or the investment of any such funds, or making any reservation in favor of the same, shall be affected or impaired by the repealing clause of this title, except where altered or amended by the Revised Statutes."

"Sec. 12. That no law in reference to land reservations, or setting apart portions of such reservations for the benefit of actual settlers, or for the construction or repairing of the public buildings of the state shall be affected or impaired by the repealing clause of this title, unless expressly altered or repealed in some of the preceding articles of the Revised Statutes."

"Sec. 16. That all laws of a local nature operating in particular counties, cities or towns, and all laws of a private nature, operating on particular persons, are not affected by the said repealing clause.

"Sec. 17. That the repealing clause of this title shall not affect any law concerning pre-emption settlers further than such law may be amended or changed by the Revised Statutes."

Section 20 continues all laws of the twenty-third and twenty-fourth legislatures (1883 and 1895) in full force.

CHAPTER 1—PUBLIC DOMAIN

Article 4035. [3794] Vacant lands belong to state.—All the vacant lands are the property of the state and subject alone to the disposition of the proper authorities thereof. [Act Dec. 14, 1877; H. D. 44—6.]

For boundaries of Texas, see post, in this Appendix.

For annotations, see notes for Art. 5279, Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St.

Section 6, article 10, of the constitution of 1869, reads as follows: "The legislature shall not hereafter grant lands to any person or persons, nor shall any certificates for land be sold at the land office, except to actual settlers upon the same, and in lots not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres." It prohibited not only the direct grant of land, but also every step which could ultimate in a grant, to other than an actual settler. Bacon v. Russell, 57 T. 409; White v. Martin, 66 T. 340, 17 S. W. 727.
III. LAND LAWS (b)

Art. 4036. [3795] All public lands retained at annexation.
See Art. 5279, Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St.

Art. 4037. [3796] No reservation shall be made.—No reservation of any part of the public domain for the purpose of satisfying a grant of lands to any railway company in this state, shall ever be made. [Const. art. 14, § 3.]

Art. 4038. [3797] Forfeiture on failure to comply, etc.—No land certificate shall be issued to such railway company until it shall have equipped, constructed and in running order, at least ten miles of road, and on the failure of such company to comply with the terms of its charter or alienate its land at a period to be fixed by law, in no event to exceed twelve years from the issuance of the patent, all said land shall be forfeited to the state and become a portion of the public domain, and liable to location and survey. [Id.]

Art. 4039. [3798] Same.—All lands heretofore or hereafter granted to railway companies, where the charter or law required or shall hereafter require their alienation within a certain period on pain of forfeiture, or is silent on the subject of forfeiture, and which lands have not been or shall not hereafter be alienated, in conformity with the terms of their charters and the laws under which the grants were made, are hereby declared forfeited to the state and subject to pre-emption, location and survey as other vacant lands. [Id. § 5.]

Art. 4040. [3799] Proceedings to forfeit land donations.—All lands heretofore granted to said railroad companies to which no forfeiture was attached on their failure to alienate, are not included in the foregoing clause, but in all such last-named cases it shall be the duty of the attorney-general, in every instance where alienations have been or hereafter may be made, to inquire into the same, and if such alienation has been made in fraud of the rights of the state, and is colorable only, the real and beneficial interest being still in such corporation, to institute legal proceedings, in the county where the seat of government is situated, to forfeit such lands to the state, and if such alienation be judicially ascertained to be fraudulent and colorable as aforesaid, such lands shall be forfeited to the state and become a part of the vacant public domain, liable to pre-emption, location and survey. [Id.]

Art. 4041. [3800] Title to mines, etc., released.—The state of Texas hereby releases to the owner or owners of the soil all mines or minerals that may be on the same, subject to taxation as other property. [Id. § 7.]

For the acts of April 14, 1883, and April 30, 1895, regulating the sale of minerals in public lands and the working of mines, see Title 33, Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St.

Chapter 2—General Land Office

Articles 4042–4045.

Art. 4046. [3805] Indorsement of filing papers.—Any paper or document required or permitted by law to be filed in the general land office shall be indorsed by the commissioner, or in his absence by the chief clerk, with ink, "filed," with the date of filing and file number, and signed by the clerk filing the same; and on the wrapper or cover containing said paper or file shall be indorsed a list with the corresponding numbers of the papers contained in said wrapper or cover, and signed by the clerk making the same, and if several papers constitute a single file they shall be numbered consecutively. [Id. § 2; P. D. 70000].

Art. 4047. [3806] Clerk to be detailed, etc., when.—When an examination is desired by any person other than an employee of the office, the clerk detailed for such examination, before he shall permit such person to handle such papers or files, shall indorse as required by the preceding article on the cover or wrapper of said papers, numbering them as herein required, and sign his name to said list. [Id.; P. D. 70001.]

Arts. 4048–4053.

Art. 4054. [3809] Original certificate shall remain on file.—When the commissioner cancels a patent or permits the floating of certificates he shall not deliver the original certificate, but it shall remain in its original file. [Id. § 5; P. D. 70000a.]

4892
Art. 4055. [3810] Certificate for unlocated balance to issue, when.—
Where a certificate has been located in part the original shall not be withdrawn from the general land office, but the commissioner shall deliver to the interested party a certificate for the unlocated balance, stating whether said certificate can be further divided. [Id. § 6; P. D. 7099pp.]

Art. 4056. [3811] Certificate to be indorsed when patented.—When a certificate has been patented the commissioner shall write in ink across the face of said certificate “patented,” and sign his name thereto. [Id. § 7; P. D. 7099qq.]

Art. 4057. [3812] Notice to be given of forfeited survey.—When a survey has become forfeited and void from any cause, so soon as such forfeiture is discovered the commissioner shall notify the party interested in such survey or location, in writing by mail, directed to such party at his postoffice address, if known, and if not known, directed to him at the county seat of the county in which the land is situated, of such forfeiture; and no new file or location shall be made on the land covered by such forfeited survey or location, except by the owner of such forfeited survey or location, for a period of ninety days after the mailing of such notice; and the commissioner shall keep a record of the date said notice was mailed and the name of the party to whom the notice was mailed and the name of the postoffice to which said notice was addressed; and the record of such entries shall be prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated, and the absence of such entries shall be prima facie evidence that the notice required above had not been given. [Acts 1881, p. 6.]

Note.—This article does not confer title upon the holder of the lapsed survey; it only preserves the right to relocate for ninety days after notice of the default. De La Garza v. Cassin, 73 T. 449, 10 S. W. 539.

Art. 4058. [3813] Certificate to be delivered only to owner.—A certificate for an unlocated balance shall be delivered only to the owner, or his agent or attorney; and when the same is delivered to the agent or attorney, the legal authority to receive the same shall be filed with the commissioner. [Id. § 8; P.
D. 7099rr.]

Art. 4059. [3814] Before delivery to assignee, evidence of title to be filed.—If the assignee of the original grantee apply for the delivery of any paper, certificate or copy of certificate, if the evidence of title to the assignee is not already on file in the land office, it shall be filed before delivering the same; and the owner shall, by himself or his lawful agent or attorney, file with his other proof of title an affidavit that the party claiming delivery is a bona fide owner. [Id.]

—When the commissioner has doubts as to the identity of parties, or genuineness of any transfer or power of attorney, he shall not deliver such instrument to the party claiming until such doubtful matters are made clear by such additional proof as he may deem just and reasonable, which proof shall be by affidavits filed with the commissioner. [Id.]

[Act 1889.]
16. The counties of Garza and Kent are attached to Scurry county. [Act 1887.]
17. The counties of Irion and Sterling are attached to Tom Green county.
18. The county of Jeff Davis is attached to Presidio county.
19. The county of King is attached to Knox county. [Act 1887.]

Chapter 4—County and District Surveyors

Articles 4068-4095.

Art. 4096. [3860] Authority to survey.—Any certificate of claim to land, which has been or may be obtained in the manner and form prescribed by law, shall be sufficient evidence to authorize any lawful surveyor to survey for any person holding such certificate any lands which he may point out agreeably to all the laws which do now or may hereafter exist on that subject; provided, that where more than one application is made for the same tract of land to be surveyed, the settler or occupant shall have the preference if their claims be otherwise equal. [Act Dec. 14, 1837.]

Art. 4097. [3861] Conflicting claims settled by jury.—In all cases where there is more than one claimant to the same location, or in case there be more occupant claimants than one, the conflicting claims shall be summarily tried by the nearest justice of the peace, and six disinterested jurors summoned for that purpose, who shall in all cases give preference to the oldest occupant and settler; and upon their decision the surveyor shall grant to the successful party the field-notes of the tract of land. [Id.]

Art. 4098. Right to examine books, etc.
See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Arts. 5328.

Art. 4099. [3863] Right to demand statement, when.—Whenever an applicant calls upon a district, county, deputy or special surveyor to make an entry for location on his books, and shall be informed that the land indicated by the applicant has already been located, or located and surveyed, the applicant may demand of the surveyor a certificate in writing, setting forth the time at which the entry, location and survey, or either, was made, at whose instance, upon what certificate or warrant, and all the facts in the case, which certificate shall be held good evidence in law and equity against such surveyor in any suit brought against him to test the truth of the certificate and recover damages by the applicant; and any surveyor refusing any examination of his books and archives, or to give the certificates as herein provided, shall be subject to a fine of five hundred dollars for each offense, to be recovered before the district court by the party injured. [Act Jan. 26, 1858; P. D. 1086.]

Arts. 4100-4105.

* The county of Loving is disorganized by chapter 143 of the Acts of 1897, and is attached to Reeves county "for judicial and other purposes." The unorganized counties of Buchel and Foley were abolished by chapter 90, Acts of 1897, and their territory was incorporated in the county of Brewster. The act defines the boundaries of Brewster county.
CHAPTER 5—LAND CERTIFICATES

[For annotations applicable to this chapter, see notes following Art. 5273, Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St.]

Articles 4106-4118. Articles repealed.—All laws and parts of laws granting lands or land certificates to any person, firm, corporation or company for the construction of railroads, canals and ditches, are repealed. [Sen. Jour. 1895, p. 482; Id.]

This article repealed original article 4106 (3871), and articles 4107 (3872), 4108 (3873), 4109 (3874), 4110 (3875), 4111 (3876), 4112 (3877), 4113 (3878), 4114 (3879), 4115, 4116, 4117, and 4118 (3882). Articles 3871 to 3879 classified and described the various land certificates, including bounty warrants, donation warrants and land scrip. Articles 3890 to 3892 read as follows:

"Art. 3890. All unsatisfied genuine land certificates barred by article 10, section 4, of the constitution of 1869, by reason of the holders or owners thereof failing to have them surveyed and returned to the land office by the first day of January, 1876, are declared to have been revived on the eighteenth day of April, 1876.

"Art. 3891. All unsatisfied genuine land certificates in existence on the eighteenth day of April, 1876, shall be surveyed and returned to the general land office within five years thereafter, and on failure thereof shall be forever barred.

"Art. 3892. All genuine land certificates issued by the state after the eighteenth day of April, 1876, shall be surveyed and returned to the general land office within five years after issuance, and on failure thereof shall be forever barred." [See R. S. 1879; 2 Sayles' Civ. Stats. 3899.]

For "the veteran 1280 acre land certificate acts," of 1879 and 1881, and their repeal, see 2 Sayles' Civ. Stats. (1889) pp. 319-321. For the act of 1881, granting land to permanently disabled soldiers, and its repeal, see Art. 42180, post, note.

Art. 4119. [3883] Duplicate certificates may be issued, when.—Whenever any headright certificate, soldier's discharge, bounty warrant, donation warrant or any other land certificate described in this chapter shall have been lost or destroyed a duplicate thereof may be issued by the commissioner of the general land office as hereinafter provided. [Act May 11, 1849; P. D. 4122.]

See notes following Art. 5273, Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St.

Art. 4120. [3884] Notice to be published for eight weeks.—Whenever any of the above-mentioned certificates or evidence of claim to land may have been lost or destroyed the owner thereof, or his agent or legal representative, shall cause a notice of such loss or destruction to be published for eight successive weeks in some weekly newspaper published in the county where such person, his agent or legal representative resides, or in the nearest county if none be so published, and such notice shall describe substantially, or as near as can be, the certificate or paper lost, and shall further state that unless intelligence of the same is received by him, or by the commissioner of the general land office, within three months of the date of said publication, he will apply to the proper officer for a duplicate of the certificate or paper so lost or destroyed. [Act Jan. 14, 1840; P. D. 4123.]

Art. 4121. [3885] Proofs to be made.—When any person shall apply for a duplicate of any such certificate or claim against the government, he shall be required to prove by the affidavit of the printer or publisher, duly made before some officer authorized to administer oaths, that the notice has been published as required in the preceding article; and he or his agent shall take and subscribe an oath before some officer, authorized as aforesaid, to the following effect: That he is the just owner of the said certificate or claim [describing it]; that he has not sold, alienated nor transferred the same in any manner; that it has been lost [or destroyed, as the case may be], and that since lost [or destroyed] he has not known or heard of the existence of the same. And he shall file said proof and affidavit in the general land office; and when the assignee of the original grantee applies for such duplicate, the evidence of this [his?] title shall be filed in the general land office, if not already on file; whereupon, if it shall appear to the commissioner of the general land office that the certificate or claim so lost or destroyed is a genuine and subsisting claim against the government, and that the provisions of this article have been fully complied with, no intelligence of said certificate or claim having been received by him, it shall be his duty to issue to the claimant, in the name of the original grantee, a duplicate certificate under his hand and the seal of his office, entitling him to the same quantity of land as was conferred by the original; provided, that administrators and the legal representatives of deceased owners shall not be required to take the oath above prescribed; and provided further, that when an agent or attorney applies for such duplicate, his legal authority to receive and receipt for the same be filed before delivery. [Id.; P. D. 4124.]
Appendix

III. LAND LAWS (B)

Art. 4122. [3886] Joint owners may join or sever in affidavit.—When any certificate or evidence of claim to land mentioned in this chapter shall be owned by two or more parties, and the same shall be lost or destroyed, the parties owning the same may jointly or severally make the affidavit required of such owner. [Act Feb. 7, 1852; P. D. 4127.]

Art. 4123. [3887] When unlocated balance certificate may be issued.—When two or more surveys have been made by virtue of any legal claim to lands and patents obtained therefore, if it shall appear by the district or county maps in the general land office, or by a plat or sketch giving a connection of the adjacent surveys certified to by the district or county surveyor and returned to said office, that the survey last made is so circumscribed by other surveys that no more vacant land can be obtained in that place, and the survey or surveys already made do not satisfy the claim, the commissioner of the general land office shall issue, on demand, to the owner or holder of said claim, a certificate for the unlocated balance thereof, which may be located, surveyed and patented as other certificates. [Act Jan. 10, 1850.]

Art. 4124. [3888] When location in conflict, may be changed.—Whenever the field-notes of a survey have been returned to the general land office, and upon examination the same are found to be in conflict with previous claims, it shall be lawful for the rightful claimant of the certificate so located in conflict to appear before the commissioner, setting forth that the certificate was not intentionally so located in conflict, but that he believed, at the date of such location, that the land covered thereby was vacant and unappropriated public domain; to abandon said survey and surrender all claim thereto by reason of the file, entry and survey made by him, and to receive from the commissioner a copy of the certificate on which the same was based, if such certificate be valid and genuine; and it shall be the duty of the commissioner to indorse upon the said copy that the original certificate is floated, and the county where the land is situated which is covered by such floated certificate, and that the copy is given in lieu of the original, but without any prejudice to the rights of any person by virtue of said certificate, and that the said copy may be located upon any unappropriated or vacant land. [Acts 1879, p. 20, S. S.]

Note.—The original article reads as follows:

Whenever the field-notes of a survey have been returned to the general land office, and, upon examination, the same are found to be in conflict with previous claims, it shall be lawful for the rightful claimant of the certificate so located in conflict to file his affidavit with the commissioner, setting forth that the certificate was not intentionally so located in conflict, but that he believed, at the date of such location, that the land covered thereby was vacant and unappropriated public domain; to abandon said survey and surrender all claim thereto, by reason of the file, entry and survey made by him; and to receive from the commissioner a copy of the certificate on which the same was based, if such certificate be valid and genuine; and it shall be the duty of the commissioner to indorse upon the said copy that the original certificate is floated, and the county where the land is situated which is covered by such floated certificate; and that the copy is given in lieu of the original, but without any prejudice to the rights of any person by virtue of said certificate, and that the said copy may be located upon any unappropriated or vacant land.” [Act Nov. 25, 1871; 12th Leg., S. S., p. 41; June 2, 1873; 13th Leg., p. 180; P. D. 7095, 709960.]

Art. 4125. [3889] When patent canceled, a duplicate certificate may issue.—Whenever any patent to land has been canceled according to law, it shall be the duty of the commissioner of the general land office to issue to the owner, his agent or legal representative, on his demand, a duplicate of the original certificate, or a certificate for the unlocated balance of said certificate, as the case may be, which may be located and surveyed and patented upon as in other cases; and the commissioner shall certify upon such certificate that the original patent has been canceled, the county where the land is situated, and that the duplicate or certificate is given in lieu of the original, but without any prejudice to the rights of any person. [Act Feb. 3, 1854; Act June 2, 1873, p. 180, § 5; P. D. 4501-2; P. D. 709960.]

See annotations following Art. 5273, Vernon’s Sayles’ Civ. St.

Art. 4126. [3890] Where surveyed in part, certificate for unlocated balance to issue.—Whenever any genuine land certificate has been located and surveyed in part, and the same, with the field-notes, has been returned to and filed in the general land office, it shall be the duty of the commissioner of the general land office to issue to the owner thereof, his agent or legal representative, on demand, a certificate for the unlocated balance of said original, stating thereon the number and amount of locations made on the original, and the same may be located, surveyed and patented as in other cases. [Act June 2, 1873, p. 180, § 6; P. D. 709960.]

Art. 4127. [3891] Triplicate certificate, when obtained.—When any person may have applied for and obtained a duplicate land warrant, headright or other land certificate, or certificate for unlocated balance, under the provisions of this chapter, and the same may have been lost or destroyed, such person shall be entitled to demand and receive a triplicate thereof, or other certificate of unlocated balance, by complying with the provisions hereof in reference to obtaining duplicate certificates or certificate of unlocated balance. [Act Nov. 27, 1861; P. D. 4158.]

Art. 4128. [3892] Certificates issued by supreme and district courts validated.—All certificates heretofore or that may be hereafter issued by the supreme or district courts, in accordance with the provisions of an act passed by the Fifth congress of the republic of Texas, approved February 4, 1841, shall be as valid and legal as if issued by any other legal authority. [Act March 28, 1848; P. D. 4237.]

Art. 4129. [3893] Commissioner authorized to issue certificate.—The commissioner of the general land office is hereby authorized to issue to all persons and corporations such land certificates as they may be entitled to under any general or special law. [Act March 6, 1863, p. 23, § 1.]

For act of April 19, 1878, directing the commissioner to act on the advice of the governor in issuing certificates in certain cases, see Sayles' Civ. Stat. (1859) art. 3893a.

CHAPTER 6—ENTRIES AND LOCATIONS

[For annotations applicable to this chapter, see notes following Art. 5279, Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St.]

Article 4130. [3894] Surveyor shall keep a register of entries.—Each county, district and special deputy surveyor shall keep in his office a well-bound book as a register of entries, in which he shall register all entries or applications for land in his county or district. [Act Aug. 30, 1896; P. D. 4573.]

Art. 4131. [3895] Entry, etc., how made.—An entry or application shall be in writing, and be dated and signed by the applicant. It shall particularly describe the claim to be surveyed and the land applied for; which entry or application, together with the land certificate or scrip, or other legal evidence of title to be surveyed, shall be filed in the office of the county or district surveyor in which the land is situated; and where the said claim to be surveyed shall remain until returned, together with the field-notes, to the general land office. [Id.]

Art. 4132. [3896] Survey, how made.—The survey shall be made by a copy of the entry or application, and strictly in accordance with the same; and hereafter no survey shall be made until after entry or application, as provided in the preceding article. [Id.]

Art. 4133. [3897] Shall confer a preference right.—Every entry or application, made according to the two preceding articles, shall confer a preference right of location or survey over any subsequent entry or application.

Art. 4134. [3898] Certificate not to be lifted after entry.—It shall not be lawful for such surveyor to allow the holder of any land certificate or scrip, or other legal evidence of title to land, to lift or float the same after entry, location, file or survey, when the same is not made upon land previously appropriated. But when a conflict of entries, files, locations or surveys occur, upon a proper showing of the facts, which may be by the certificate of one of his deputies or from his knowledge, he shall allow the party having his entry, file, location or survey of subsequent date, to lift so much thereof as shall be affected by such conflict. [Id. § 2; P. D. 4574.]

Art. 4135. [3899] Effect of location on a valid title, etc.—Whenever an entry is made by virtue of a genuine certificate, upon any land which appears to be appropriated, deeded or patented, by the books of the proper surveyor's office, or records of the county court or general land office, the party making such entry shall abide by the same. And in the event that judgment final shall be rendered against the right of the party making such entry to hold such land, he shall not have the right to lift or re-enter said certificate. But the same shall be forfeited, and so declared to be by the judgment of the court. [Id.; P. D. 4575.]

Art. 4136. [3900] Certificate may be relocated on same land, when.—Any person holding a genuine certificate or other legal evidence of right to land under the republic or state of Texas, and having a survey made by virtue of the same, the field-notes of which may not have been returned to the general land office before the period prescribed by law, shall have the right to relocate the same certificate or other evidence of legal right to land, upon the same survey, but without being compelled to have the same resurveyed; provided, said survey shall not have been previously located by some other person by right of a genuine land claim. [Act Feb. 10, 1852; P. D. 4563.]

Art. 4137. [3901] Relocation, how made, etc.—Any person wishing to avail himself of the privilege of relocating the same land claim upon the same land, as permitted by the preceding article, shall present his land claim, or cause the same to be done for that purpose, to the district or county surveyor, as the case may be, of the district or county where the field-notes were first recorded, who shall duly enter such relocation upon the record of field-notes of the office, and duly certify the same to the commissioner of the general land office, which shall be sufficient authority for him to issue the patent for the land so relocated as in other cases. [Id.; P. D. 4564.]

Art. 4138. [3902] Surveys shall be made within twelve months.—All lands which may be located by entry or application, as aforesaid, shall be surveyed within twelve months from the date of entry or the same shall be null and void and the lands be subject to relocation and survey; but such lands shall not in any case be subject to relocation at any time by the same certificate. [Id.; P. D. 4565.]

Art. 4139. [3903] May be made in more than two places.—Locations of land by entry or application may be made in more than two places by virtue of any genuine land certificate, bounty warrant or other legal evidence of claim to land; provided, such other places be bounded by previous surveys and shall be enough to satisfy only a part of said claim. [Id.; P. D. 4566.]

Art. 4140. [3904] Where land lies in two or more districts, may be located in either.—Whenever it appears that an entry or location is made on the boundary of any county or land district, and a part of the land so entered or located upon is in the adjoining county or land district, the same shall be as valid and legal as if the land were situated entirely within the county or land district in which such entry or location was made; and it shall be the duty of the county or district surveyor to make out a certified copy of such entry or location and forward the same to the county or district surveyor of the county or district affected thereby.

Art. 4141. [3905] Surveyor to record such location.—It shall be the duty of the county or district surveyor receiving the entry or location mentioned in the preceding article, and which purports to locate part of the land within his district or county, to record the same as if such entry or location had been made in his own district or county.

CHAPTER 7—SURVEYS AND THE FIELD-NOTES THEREOF

Article 4142. [3906] What authorizes a survey.—All surveys shall be made by authority of law, or under or by virtue of some genuine land certificate which is at the time on file in the county or district surveyor's office where the land is situated, and by a county, district or deputy surveyor duly appointed or elected and qualified.

See Art. 5335, Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St.
Act April 4, 1851, validated locations in certain counties prior to April 29, 1875. See 2 Sayles' Civ. Stats. (1859) art. 8906a.

Art. 4143. [3907].
Omitted as repealed by the report of the joint committee on amendments to the Revised Civil Code of 1896. The repealed article reads as follows: "Art. 3907. It shall not be lawful for any county, district or deputy surveyor to locate any certificate for land issued prior to May 1, 1840, or to survey any land for any person holding such certificate, unless the same be certified under the hand and seal of the commissioner of the general land office, that the same has been reported by the commissioners appointed under an act of congress to detect fraudulent land certificates, etc., passed January, 1840, as a genuine and legal claim against the government of Texas; and any survey made contrary to the meaning and intent hereof shall be null and void." [Act Feb. 5, 1840; P. D. 4537.]
The following act, "to validate certain surveys," etc., is chapter 94 of the Acts of 1889:
"Section 1. In all cases where parties resurveyed or relocated lands by virtue of any valid land certificates previously surveyed and on file in the general land office, without having taken out certified copies thereof, and thereby failed to comply strictly with the law, such last-named survey, which in law might be deemed a relocation, shall be valid and the owner shall hold thereunder thereby abandoning all other surveys previously made, and the commissioner of the general land office is authorized to issue patents therefor.

"Sec. 2. All surveys heretofore made by any county or district surveyor, which would otherwise be valid, shall not be called in question on account of said surveys having been made outside of the proper county or district, but said surveys shall be valid the same as if the said surveyor had jurisdiction in the territory embracing the same.

"Sec. 3. The provisions of this act shall not apply to nor affect the rights of third persons heretofore acquired by virtue of any purchase from the state location or surveys made in accordance with the laws in force at the time of such location and survey."

Art. 4144. Field-notes shall describe what.

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 5336.

Art. 4145. [3909] Surveys to be returned in twelve months.—The field-notes of all surveys shall be returned to and filed in the general land office within twelve months from the date of survey. [Act Feb. 10, 1852; P. D. 4506.]

See notes following Art. 5279, Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St.

Arts. 4146-4148.

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Arts. 5337-5339.

Art. 4149. [3913] Two or more surveys permitted, when.—Two surveys may be made under any genuine land certificate, and more than two surveys may be made thereunder, provided the land to be located be bounded by previous surveys, and shall be enough to satisfy only a part of said claim, which fact shall be specially certified to by the surveyor making the survey. [Act Feb. 10, 1854; P. D. 4532.]

Arts. 4150-4156.

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Arts. 5340-5346.

Art. 4157. [3921].

Omitted, as repealed by the report of the joint committee on amendments to the Revised Civil Code of 1895. The repealed article reads as follows:

"Art. 3921. All surveys properly made by virtue of genuine or valid land certificates, which surveys, together with the certificates by virtue of which they were made, have been returned and are now on file in the general land office, or were so on file on the twenty-fifth of April, 1871, and not in conflict with any other valid land claim, shall be deemed valid, and the commissioner of the general land office is hereby authorized and required to issue patents for the same." [Act April 25, 1871, p. 60, § 2; P. D. 7089.]

Art. 4158. [3922] Field-notes withdrawn to be returned, when.—In all cases where field-notes shall be withdrawn from the general land office the same shall be returned thereto within twelve months from the date of withdrawal, or such survey or surveys shall be null and void. [Act Nov. 29, 1871, p. 45, § 3; P. D. 7098.]

Art. 4159. [3923] Locations on the line and within two districts may be surveyed by either.—An entry or location made by virtue of a genuine land certificate upon any vacant and unappropriated land which lies partly in one and partly in another land district or county shall be surveyed by the surveyor of the district or county in which the entry or location was made; and the field-notes thereof shall be recorded in both districts or counties before they are returned to the general land office.

Art. 4159a. To relieve actual occupants.—Whenever the commissioner of the general land office shall find by inspection of the whole body of the application that it was made for the purpose of having a survey made of a portion of the unappropriated public domain for the homestead of the applicant, under "An act for the benefit of actual occupants of the public lands," approved May 26, 1873, and acts amendatory thereof, and upon which application the surveyor did make the survey as required by law, even though his field-notes were not returned to the land office within twelve months, and also shall find that the proof of occupancy as required by law is fully and properly made, from all of which it shall be manifestly clear to the commissioner that the applicant had in good faith endeavored to comply with the law hereinbefore recited, but was misled through the omission or ignorance of the officers charged by law to perform their duties in the premises, he shall issue and sign the patent, notwithstanding the application may not have been sworn to, or not signed if sworn to, or shall not have the seal of the officer before whom the affidavit was made attached thereto, and notwithstanding the application may contain a recital of articles 3926 and 3927 of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, "An act for the relief of actual occupants of the public lands," approved April 24, 1879, when it shall be manifest from all the day bound in the land office that such recital was erroneously made. [Acts 1895, p. 149.]

See Early Laws, arts. 3774, 4257.

The articles referred to in this article, being parts of the act of May 26, 1873, do not appear to have been codified by the commission of 1883, nor to have been considered by the legislature in revising same. Articles 3928 and 3927 were a part of the chapter on Pre-empltions (arts. 3924-3936, R. S. 1879). The chapter is omitted from the revision of 1895 without note or comment other than is found in the above note. It was repealed by chapter 20 of the Acts of 1889.

Art. 4159b. Law not to apply, when.—Nothing in this law shall be construed to allow any applicant to obtain a patent in any case where subsequent settlers have, by reason of any of the failures or delays recited in this law, themselves settled upon any of such lands in good faith as a home, nor thus defeat such subsequent applicant. [Id. § 2.]

Art. 4159c. Land purchase-money refunded, when.

See Art. 5404, Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St.

CHAPTER 8—HOMESTEAD DONATIONS

[For annotations applicable to this chapter, see notes following Art. 5273, Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St.]

Article 4160. [3937] Who is entitled to one hundred and sixty acres.—Every person who is the head of a family and without a homestead shall be entitled to receive a donation from the state of Texas of one hundred and sixty acres of vacant and unappropriated public land, upon the conditions and under the stipulations hereinafter provided. [Const. art. 14, § 6.]

Art. 4161. [3938] Who is entitled to eighty acres.—Every single man of the age of eighteen years or upward shall be entitled to receive a donation from the state of Texas of eighty acres of vacant and unappropriated public land, upon the conditions and under the stipulations hereinafter provided. [Id.]

Art. 4162. [3939] Shall present application in writing.—Any person desiring to acquire any portion of the public domain as a homestead donation, and who is entitled to apply for the same under the provisions of this chapter, shall present to the surveyor of the district or county in which the land is situated his application in writing, designating the land which he claims, and stating that he claims the same for himself, in good faith, under the laws granting homestead donations; that he is without any homestead of his own, and that he has actually settled upon the land which he claims, and that he believes the same to be vacant and unappropriated public domain.

Art. 4163. [3940] Shall be sworn to, filed and recorded.—Said application shall be made at the time of settlement or occupancy of the land, or within thirty days thereafter, and shall be sworn to before some officer authorized to administer oaths, and shall be filed with the said surveyor and recorded by him in a well-bound book kept for recording pre-emption and homestead applications; and the said surveyor shall give a receipt therefor, if desired.

Art. 4164. [3941].

Omitted, as repealed by the report of the joint committee on amendments to the Revised Civil Code of 1895. The article read as follows:

"Art. 3941. It shall be the duty of the surveyor of the proper district or county to survey the land described in the application aforesaid, as soon as practicable and within twelve months after the date of said application, and the field-notes thereof shall be certified to, recorded and mapped as required by law in other cases, the applicant paying all legal surveyors' fees."

Art. 4165. [3942] Preference right to survey and patent.—Any applicant for a homestead donation, after having settled upon the public land he claims, and having made his application in writing for a survey, as required by the provisions of this chapter, and continuing his said occupation, shall have a preference right over all subsequent locations or settlements to have the same surveyed, for a period of twelve months from the date of his application, and to secure a patent for the same under the provisions of this chapter. [Act Aug. 19, 1876, p. 187.]

Art. 4166. [3943] Field-notes to be returned to general land office in twelve months.—The field-notes of every survey made under the provisions of this chapter, after being duly certified, mapped and recorded, shall be returned to and filed in the general land office within twelve months after the date of the survey aforesaid. [Act May 26, 1873, p. 197.]

Art. 4167. [3944] Entitled to patent after three years' residence.—Whenever the field-notes of a homestead donation survey shall have been returned to the general land office according to the provisions of the preceding article, and when proof shall be made to the satisfaction of the commissioner of the general land office that the original applicant for a homestead donation has by himself, or in case the claim has been transferred, that he and his assignee have together in good faith resided upon, occupied and improved the land so claimed by him for a period of three consecutive years from the date of the application, it shall be the duty of said commissioner to issue a patent therefor to the original applicant or his assignee, as the case may be, upon payment of all the office and patent fees.

Art. 4168. [3945] Proof shall be by affidavit, etc.—The proof required in the preceding article shall be by an affidavit of the claimant to the effect that such original applicant has by himself, or in case the claim has been transferred, that he and his assignee have together in good faith resided upon, occupied and improved said land for three consecutive years from the date of his application for a homestead donation; which affidavit shall be corroborated by the affidavit of two disinterested and unconnected citizens of the county or surveyor's district in which the land is situated, which affidavits shall be subscribed and sworn to before some officer authorized to administer oaths, who shall certify to the same and to the credibility of said witnesses under his hand and seal of his office. [Act Aug. 19, 1876, p. 197.]

Art. 4169. [3946] Patents shall issue to the heirs, when.—When the original occupant or his assignee is dead, the patent shall issue to his heirs on application of the surviving widow, one of the heirs or his legal representative. [Act March 24, 1871, p. 16; P. D. 7053.]

Art. 4170. [3947] No assignment valid unless by deed, etc.—No assignment of the homestead donation right by the occupant or settler before the patent has been obtained shall be good and valid in law, unless the same be by deed duly authenticated as required by law. [Id.; P. D. 7053.]

Art. 4171. [3948] Shall forfeit right and title, when.—Should any person claiming a homestead donation fail to make the written application as provided in this chapter, or should he fail to have the survey made and to have the field-notes thereof (duly certified to and recorded) returned to and filed in the general land office within twelve months after the date of his application, or should he or his assignor fail to make satisfactory proof that he had resided upon, occupied and driven thereon for three years aforesaid, by himself or his assignee, as the case may be, for the same period of time, as is required by the preceding article, or should the survey of the land claimed as aforesaid be certified to, together with his application, as provided in this chapter, be in either event forfeited all right and title to said land, and the same shall become subject to entry or location as other vacant and unappropriated public land.

Art. 4172. [3949] Land certificate may be applied, etc., at any time.—Any person who shall have filed his application for a homestead donation, according to the provisions of this chapter, or the vendee of such person, shall have the right and privilege at any time to locate upon his said claim or survey any genuine and unsatisfied land certificate, which shall have been duly transferred to him; and after returning the said certificate to and filing it in the general land office, he shall be entitled to receive a patent for the land in the same manner as if the certificate had been originally located upon it; provided, that the field-notes of the survey shall have been returned to the general land office within twelve months, as hereinbefore provided, and the homestead donation claim has not been forfeited under the preceding article.

Art. 4173. [3950] Temporary abandonment, when not computed.—If any person shall be driven from the land claimed or occupied by him as a homestead donation by hostile Indians or other public enemies, or having reasonable grounds to fear violence from such Indians or enemies to himself or family, shall temporarily abandon his said land and shall return to and occupy the same as soon as it shall appear reasonably safe for him to do so, he shall not forfeit or lose any right by reason thereof, and proof of the same may be made by the affidavit of the party and the certificate of the county or district surveyor. [Act March 13, 1875, p. 107.]

Appendix

III. LAND LAWS (b)

Art. 4174. [3951] Homestead donations on titled lands prohibited. —No person shall settle upon or occupy, nor shall any survey be made or patented under the provisions of this chapter upon any land titled or equitably owned under color of title from the sovereignty of the state, evidence of the appropriation of which is on the county records or in the general land office, or when the appropriation is evidenced by the occupation of the owner or of some person holding for him. [Const. art. 14, § 2.]

Chapter 9—Patents

Articles 4175-4187.
See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Arts. 5361-5373.

Art. 4188. [3964].
Omitted, as repealed by the report of the joint committee on amendments to the Revised Civil Code of 1895. The article reads as follows:

"Art. 3964. All genuine headright certificates, or genuine Toby or Bryan scrip, and all genuine certificates of any district or supreme court of this state establishing head-rights that have been legally issued and properly reported to the proper officers, that have not been presented to the court of claims within the time prescribed by law, shall be recognized and patented the same as though they had been presented and approved by the commissioner of claims. The commissioner of the general land office may also patent in the same manner all certificates or warrants issued by the commissioner of claims or comptroller, acting commissioner of claims, but should any fraudulent certificate for land, by accident, inadvertence or design, be perfected into a patent under this article, said patent shall be void and no title shall vest." [Acts 1859, p. 19; P. D. 1148.]

Art. 4189-4196.
See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Arts. 5374-5382.

Chapter 10—Land Reservations

Art. 4197.
By the report of the joint committee on amendments to the Revised Civil Code (No. 68, Sen. Jour., 1895, p. 482), article 4197 is renumbered 4198 and amended to include the words "under chapter 8, title LXXXVII, Revised Civil Statutes," and the article which follows and numbered by the codifiers of 1895 as 4198 (3969), is omitted as repealed.—Codifiers of 1895.

For the acts of February 20, 1879, and April 18, 1879, reserving public lands for the purpose of building a state capitol, see Sayles' Civ. Stat. (1899) art. 3968b.

For act of July 5, 1879, confirming titles to lands patented within reservations, see Sayles' Civ. Stat. (1899) art. 3968b.

Articles 3969 and 3970 of the Revised Statutes of 1879 (Act August 17, 1876; Act March 31, 1885) reserved lapsing reservations from location, except by pre-emption and homestead settlers. Sayles' Civ. Stat. (1889) arts. 3969, 3970. Article 3971 (Act January 25, 1875; Act July 1, 1881) appropriated what was known as the Indian reservations to the common free school fund, and articles 3972 to 3976 made provision for the protection of titles of settlers. Articles 3972 to 3976 were repealed by act of March 11, 1881. See Sayles' Civ. Stat. (1889) arts. 3971-3976.

Old article 3968 declared the Mississippi & Pacific Railroad reservation open, and subject to location, sale and settlement, on and after the 1st day of January, 1857. Sayles' Civ. Stat. (1889) art. 3968. The act of December 21, 1855, by which the reservation was created, did not affect any right of location, or of entry, pre-emption right or survey theretofore acquired in the district of country reserved and set apart for the use of the road. Tucker v. Murphy, 66 T. 505, 1 S. W. 76.

Art. 4198. Severed from public domain.—All reservations of the public domain for the benefit of any railroad or railroad company heretofore made by law, and the right to which reservation has lapsed since January 1, 1872, or may hereafter lapse, are hereby declared then to have been severed from the mass of the public domain; and, in event of forfeiture to the state, are expressly reserved from location except by actual settlers under chapter 8, title LXXXVII, Revised Civil Statutes. [Acts 1885, p. 104; Amend. 1895, No. 68, Sen. Jour. p. 452.]

Art. 4199. Reservation surrendered, how.—Any railroad company in whose favor a reservation from the public domain may hereafter be created by any law, general or special, may surrender its exclusive right to further locate lands within said reservation; and whenever any such railroad company shall file in the office of the secretary of state an instrument in writing, approved as to form by the attorney-general, relinquishing or surrendering its claim to such reservation, said relinquishment shall, upon the payment of all costs of suit, if one has been instituted, be accepted by the state, instead of a judicial forfeiture of the reservation, and shall be deemed a satisfaction of said suit; and it is especially provided that the lands so relinquished shall be subject to location only under the provisions of law embraced in this chapter. The surrender is not to affect the right of the company to construct its road in accordance with its charter, nor its relation to the laws regulating railroads and granting land subsidies to aid in their construction. Any action taken by any railroad company under the provisions of this chapter is to be held to be a complete acceptance of all the provisions of the constitution applicable to railroads, and of the laws of the state regulating railroads. [Acts 1878, p. 175.]

CHAPTER 11—SALE OF VACANT AND UNAPPROPRIATED LANDS

[See annotations following Art. 5279, Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St.]

Article 4200. Subject to location, how; effect of surrender; certain land withdrawn from sale.—All the public lands heretofore authorized to be sold under the act entitled "An act to provide for the sale of the unappropriated public land of the state of Texas, and the investment of the proceeds of such sale," approved July 14, 1879, are withdrawn from sale; provided, that nothing contained in this article shall be construed to return the land reserved by an act entitled "An act to provide for the sale of a portion of the unappropriated public lands of the state of Texas, and the investment of the proceeds of such sale," approved July 14, 1879, and the act amendatory of such act, approved March 11, 1881, to the mass of the public domain, but the same shall be construed to be reserved for the purposes for which said land was originally set apart and designated by said act until the legislature shall otherwise provide. [Acts 1883, p. 2.]

The acts referred to in this article may be found in 2 Sayles' Civ. Stat. (1889) pp. 351-353. See arts. 4253, 4307d, post.

Art. 4201. Manner of purchasing public domain in amounts less than six hundred and forty acres.—Any person desiring to purchase any of such appropriated public lands situated in organized counties of the state of Texas as contain not more than six hundred and forty acres, appropriated by an act to provide for the investment of the proceeds of such sale, approved July 14, 1879, may do so by causing the tract or tracts which such person may desire to purchase to be surveyed by the authorized public surveyor of the county in which such land is situated. The provisions of this article shall not be so construed as to prohibit the right of acquiring any of said lands under the homestead donation law, within the bounds of the reservation here made; but any person shall have the same right of acquiring a homestead within this reservation, under the homestead donation laws of this state, as he may have had prior to April, 1889; provided, where it is ascertained that any of such lands as contain not more than six hundred and forty acres are situated within the inclosed lands of any actual bona fide settler and resident of the state, such settler shall have the preference right for six months from the time that the same shall have been declared by the commissioner of the general land office to be vacant and subject to sale, to purchase as much of said land as may be embraced within his inclosure; provided, that said preference right shall not be given to any person who has inclosed any vacant land knowing the same to be vacant at the time of inclosing same. [Acts 1889, p. 48.]

Art. 4202. Application, how made.—The person desiring to purchase any of said lands shall make application therefor in writing, describing the lands by reference to the surrounding surveys. [Acts 1887, p. 61, § 2.]

Art. 4203. Lands to be surveyed.—It shall be the duty of the surveyor to survey the lands designated in said application within three months from the date thereof, and within sixty days after said survey to certify to, record and map the field-notes of said survey; and he shall also within the said sixty days return to and file the same in the general land office, together with the applications for the purchase thereof, as required by law in other cases. [Id. § 3.]

Art. 4204. Surveyor's fees.—Surveyors shall be entitled to receive from applicants for the purchase of lands under the authority of this chapter all legal surveyor's fees for work done by them. [Id. § 4.]

Art. 4205. Patent to issue, when.—Within ninety days after the return to and filing in the general land office of the surveyor's certificate, map and field-notes of the land desired to be purchased, it shall be the right of the person who has had the same surveyed to pay or cause to be paid into the treasury of the state of Texas the purchase-money therefor at two dollars per acre; and upon the presentation to the commissioner of the general land office of the receipt of the state treasurer for such purchase-money, said commissioner shall issue to said person a patent for the tract or tracts of land so surveyed and paid for. [Id. § 5.]

Art. 4206. Failure to pay to work forfeiture.—Should any applicant for the purchase of public land fail, refuse or neglect to pay for the same within the time prescribed in article 4205 he shall forfeit all rights thereto, and shall not thereafter be allowed to purchase the same, but such land so surveyed may be sold as if no survey had been made. [Id. § 6.]

Art. 4207. Reservations not to be disturbed.—Nothing in this title shall be so construed as to operate as a repeal of the reservations and donations of the lands referred to in this title to the free school and public debt funds made by former laws, but such reservations and donations shall be preserved intact, and the proceeds arising from the sale of the same under the provisions of this chapter shall go one-half to the permanent free school fund and the other half to the public debt. [Id. § 7.]

CHAPTER 12—GENERAL PROVISIONS

Article 4208. [3977] Certificates shall not be located, etc., on titled land.—All genuine land certificates heretofore or hereafter issued shall be located, surveyed or patented only upon vacant and unappropriated public domain, and not upon any land titled or equitably owned under color of title from the sovereignty of the state, evidence of the appropriation of which is on the county records or in the general land office, or when the appropriation is evidenced by the occupation of the owner or of some person holding for him. [Const. art. 14, § 2.]

See art. 4174.

Arts. 4209 [3978], 4210 [3981].

Omitted, as repealed by the report of the joint committee on amendments to the Revised Civil Code of 1895. Articles 3978 to 3981 are as follows:

"Art. 3978. The territory known as Fisher & Miller's colony is hereby declared to have been vacated for location since the twenty-seventh day of February, 1875, as other vacant lands, in accordance with the laws governing locations; and it is further declared that all patents which were issued by the commissioner of the general land office, either to pre-emptors or to owners of certificates, prior to the date aforesaid, or which have been issued since that date, are legal and valid; provided, that this article shall not be construed so as to affect any rights which had vested or accrued prior to the twenty-seventh day of February, 1875, under pre-existing laws.” [Act Feb. 27, 1875, p. 192.]

For boundaries of Fisher & Miller's colony, see 1 Early Laws, p. 578; P. D. 256. For other laws on the subject, see 2 Early Laws, arts. 1873, 2372-2374, 2869, 2994. For the preamble to article 3978, see 3 Early Laws, art. 4141, § 8.

"Art. 3979. All patents for lands issued by the republic of Texas which have been sealed with the original seal of the general land office, having for device thereon a buffalo under a live oak tree, or which have been sealed with the other seal of said office, having for device thereon a cotton plant, plow, scythe, sheaf of wheat, and meridian sun, shall be as valid as though both of said seals had been devised and adopted by law.” [Act April 29, 1846; P. D. 4088.]

"Art. 3980. All certified copies heretofore made of deeds, patents, books, records and papers belonging to the general land office, under the signature of the commissioner or chief clerk of said office, and sealed with either of the seals described, shall be as valid and shall have the same force and effect as if both of said seals had been devised and adopted by law.” [Id.; P. D. 4088; 2 Early Laws, art. 1605.]

The seal now in use is prescribed by section 6 of the act of May 12, 1846 (art. 2867, ante; 2 Early Laws, art. 1715).

"Art. 3981. Whenever the records of any surveyor's office shall have been destroyed by fire or otherwise, it shall be the duty of the commissioner of the general land office, upon application of the county court, to furnish said surveyor's office with copies of all surveys and field-notes thereof that may properly belong to said county; provided, the county shall pay for such records at the rate of ten cents per one hundred words." [Act April 29, 1874, p. 168.]

Art. 4211. [3982] No officer shall be interested in public land, etc.

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 5338.

Arts. 4212 [3983], 4213 [3984], 4214 [3985].

Omitted, as repealed by the report of the joint committee on amendments to the Revised Civil Code of 1895. Article 3983 reads as follows:

"Art. 3983. The commissioner of the general land office shall make out and return to the comptroller of public accounts, as soon as practicable, an abstract of all the titled, patented and located lands in the state of Texas, which may have been patented or titled, or which have been located and surveyed, and the certificates and field-notes returned to the general land office up to September 1, 1875, which abstract shall designate the grantee and patentee, the amount of the grant, the class to which it belongs, whether headright, bounty, donation, special grant, or pre-emption, date and number of patent, number of certificate, name of grantees of certificate, or name of pre-emption.

The title of the act 1889 is as follows: "An act to provide for the sale of all lands heretofore or hereafter surveyed and set apart for the benefit of the public free schools, the university, and the several asylums, and the lease of such lands and of the public lands of the state, and to prevent the free use, occupancy, unlawful inclosure, or unlawful appropriation of such lands, and to prescribe and provide adequate penalties therefor." This act was amended in 1889, 1891 and 1893. See Acts 1889, p. 50; Acts 1891, p. 180; Acts 1893, p. 30. The act of 1895 repeals all conflicting laws, and another act, passed in 1895 (Acts 1895, p. 19), entitled "An act to invest the board of regents of the university of Texas with the management and control of the university lands," vests in said board the sole and exclusive management and control of said lands, with the right to sell, lease, etc. This act appears as articles 4253a-4253c of the Revised Statutes. The legislature, by the amendments of 1897, recognize this chapter as in force, to the exclusion of the other.

Articles 4218b, 4218c. See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Arts. 5405, 5406.

Art. 4218d. Lands to be classified and valued.—The commissioner of the general land office shall from time to time, as the public interest may require, cause any or all of the lands belonging to the several funds mentioned in this chapter to be carefully and skilfully classified and valued that have not heretofore been classified, and for this purpose he may appoint, with the approval of the governor, such number of competent agents, who shall be citizens of the county or district where such land is situated, and may determine, or may declare the classification and valuation without the aid of such agents, and upon such facts as may be satisfactory to the commissioner. Such agents shall receive for their work a reasonable compensation, to be fixed by the commissioner of the general land office, and not to exceed the sum of three dollars per section; and no such expense shall be incurred in the absence of an appropriation by law to cover such expenditure, and the state shall not be liable for any expenditure of this character incurred in excess of current appropriations. [Acts 1895, p. 63, § 3. Repealed by Chapter 129, Acts 1897.]

Art. 4218e. Commissioner may classify and reclassify.—The commissioner of the general land office may, from time to time, as the public interest may require, classify any or all of the lands belonging to the several funds mentioned in this chapter that have not been heretofore classified, upon such facts as may be satisfactory to him, designating the same as agricultural, grazing or timbered land, according to the fact in the particular case; and he may prescribe such regulations in relation thereto as he may deem necessary to secure a correct classification. He may also reclassify any lands heretofore erroneously classified, upon the official certificate of the commissioners' court of the county in which said land is situated, or of the county to which such county is attached for judicial purposes, certifying what the proper classification should be, said certificate to be signed by the entire commissioners' court, including the county Judge, or upon such other evidence as may be satisfactory to the commissioner. [Acts 1895, p. 63, § 4; amended Acts 1897, p. 184.]

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 5407.

Art. 4218f. Classified lands subject to sale to actual settlers.—When any portion of said land has been classified to the satisfaction of the commissioner of the general land office, under the provisions of this chapter or former laws, such land shall be subject to sale, but to actual settlers only, except where otherwise provided by law, and in quantities of not less than eighty acres or multiples thereof, nor more than four sections containing six hundred and forty acres, more or less; provided, that the purchaser shall not include in his purchase more than two sections of agricultural land; and provided, that where there is a fraction less than eighty acres of any section left unsold, such fraction may be sold. Any bona fide purchaser who has heretofore purchased or who may hereafter purchase any lands as provided herein shall have the right to purchase other lands in addition thereto; provided, that the total of his purchases shall not exceed four sections, and that it shall not include more than two sections of agricultural land, upon his making oath that he is not acting in collusion with others for the purpose of buying the land for any other person or corporation, and that no other person or corporation is interested in the purchase thereof. And if he or his vendor has already resided upon his home section for three years, or when he or his vendor, or both together, shall have resided upon it for three years, the additional lands purchased may be patented at any time. In all cases where a settler purchases more than one section the lands, in excess of one section so purchased must be situated within a radius of five miles of the land occupied by him. Where any of the lands referred to in this act have been sold prior to July 90, 1895, in quantities greater or less than forty acres or multiples thereof, and are in good standing as to interest payments, they may be patented in such quantities. In any cases where lands have been forfeited to the state for the nonpayment of interest, the purchasers or their vendees may have their claims reinstated on their written request, by paying into the treasury the full amount of interest due on such claim up to the date of reinstatement; provided, that no rights of third persons may have intervened. In all such cases the original obligations and penalties shall thereby become as binding as if no forfeiture had ever occurred. [Id. § 5; amended Acts 1897, p. 184.]

See Vernon’s Sayles’ Civ. St. Art. 5410.

Art. 4218ff. Forfeiture of land on which purchaser settles.—When any purchaser buys and settles upon a section or part of a section of school lands, and buys, either at the same time or subsequently, other lands in addition thereto, a forfeiture for any legal cause of the part on which he resides, at any time before the three years’ residence thereon has been completed, shall work a forfeiture of the entire purchase, except such part thereof as he may have previously sold to another. But after the three years’ residence has been completed, a forfeiture of the home tract shall not of itself work a forfeiture of the other tract or tracts. In case of sale of any of said tracts before the three years’ residence has been completed, the vendee must reside thereon until he has completed the three years’ occupancy from the date of the original purchase, and a failure to do so shall subject his land to forfeiture; but in case of sale of any of said tracts after the completion of the three years’ residence, the vendee shall be exempt from the condition of settlement and occupancy. [Acts 1897, p. 184.]

See Art. 5426, Vernon’s Sayles’ Civ. St.

Art. 4216fff. Owner of land may buy contiguous lands; provision as to occupancy.—Any actual, bona fide owner of and resident upon any other lands contiguous to said lands, or within a radius of five miles thereof, may also buy any of the aforesaid lands, but in such case a failure to reside upon his other lands or upon a part of the additional lands so purchased by him, so as to make his ownership and occupancy thereof continuous for three years, shall work a forfeiture of such additional lands so bought from the state, unless he shall have sold his land to another who may and does complete a three years’ continuous ownership and occupancy of and residence upon his said lands as above stated and as is herein required of actual settlers. [Acts 1897, p. 184.]

See Vernon’s Sayles’ Civ. St. Arts. 5410, 5416.

Art. 4218g. Commissioner of land office to notify county clerks.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of the general land office to notify in writing the county clerk of each county of the valuation fixed upon each section of land in his county, and in each county attached to it for judicial purposes, which he offers for sale, which notification shall be kept by the clerk in his office and recorded in a well bound book, which shall be open to public inspection. [Acts 1895, p. 63, § 6.]

See Vernon’s Sayles’ Civ. St. Art. 5407.

Art. 4218h. Price of public free school and asylum lands.—All agricultural lands belonging to the public free school and the several asylum funds shall be sold at not less than one dollar and fifty cents per acre; and all grazing lands shall be sold at not less than one dollar per acre; and all timbered lands shall be sold at not less than five dollars per acre. By timbered lands is meant lands valuable chiefly for the timber thereon. Provided, that the owner of land which is in fact agricultural, purchased under former laws, and which land is not subject to forfeiture at the time this law goes into effect, shall not be permitted, in case said land is forfeited, to purchase said forfeited land from the state for a less price per acre than the contract price under the former sale. [Id. § 7; amended Acts 1897, p. 384.]

See Vernon’s Sayles’ Civ. St. Art. 5407.

Art. 4218i. Prior right reserved to existing actual settler.—Any bona fide actual settler who may reside on any part of the lands the sale of which is authorized by this chapter at the time this chapter may go into effect, shall have the prior right for a period of ninety days after this chapter goes into effect, or after said land shall have been placed upon the market, to purchase such quantity of land as may be limited by this chapter, to include his improvements, upon complying with the provisions of this chapter regulating sales as in other cases, and such land shall be appraised without reference to the improvements thereon. Any bona fide settler who has heretofore purchased or who may hereafter purchase not exceeding one section of agricultural land, shall have the right to purchase three strictly pastoral sections, upon his making oath that he is not acting in collusion with others for the purpose of buying for any other person or corporation, and that no other person or corporation is directly or indirectly interested in the purchase of the same. [Acts 1895, p. 63, § 8. Repealed by Chapter 129, Acts 1897.]

Art. 4218j. Commissioner to make all sales; conditions of same; status of vendee of original purchaser; sales after forfeiture; payments, etc.—All sales shall be made by the commissioner of the general land office, or under his direction, and he shall prescribe suitable regulations whereby all purchasers shall be required to reside upon as a home the land purchased by them for three consecutive years next succeeding the date of their purchase, except when otherwise provided. Such regulations shall require the purchaser to reside upon the land for three consecutive years herein mentioned, and to make proper proof of such residence and occupancy to the commissioner of the general land office within two years next after the expiration of said three years, by his affidavit, corroborated by the affidavits of three disinterested and credible persons, to be certified by some officer authorized to administer oaths, and on making such proof the commissioner shall issue to the purchaser, his heirs and assigns, a certificate showing that fact.

If, however, any purchaser has sold his purchase, or any part thereof, his vendee shall be permitted to compute the time of the occupancy of his vendor as a part of his own occupancy; and if any person has sold the whole or any part of his purchase under this or any former law, his vendee, or if he refuses to do so, the vendor himself, may make proof of occupancy as provided herein.

Any person desiring to purchase land in accordance with the provisions of this chapter shall forward his application to the commissioner, describing the land sought to be purchased, which application shall be accompanied with the affidavit of the applicant, in effect that he desires to purchase the land for a home, and has in good faith settled thereon, except where otherwise provided herein, and he shall also swear that he is not acting in collusion with others for the purpose of buying the land for any other person or corporation, and that no other person or corporation is interested in the purchase thereof.

Any owner of land heretofore purchased, and which land has been or may be forfeited for non-payment of interest, shall have ninety days prior right after this chapter goes into effect, or after the land is again placed upon the market, to purchase said land without the condition of settlement and occupancy, in case it has been occupied for three consecutive years as required by law; but if not, then he shall reside thereon until the occupancy under the first and last purchase shall together amount to said term of three years; provided, that when any forfeiture has been made the commissioner of the general land office shall add to the appraised value of such land the amount of interest due thereon at the time of forfeiture, which shall be paid in cash with the first payment of one-fourtieth of the appraised value of the land when purchased under the preference right to purchase given herein.

Any original purchaser or his vendee of any of the lands the sale of which is provided for in this chapter, who has improved such land as a home, and who has been forced to temporarily abandon same on account of drought, and who shall in good faith re-occupy the same, either by themselves or vendees, within six months.
Appendix

III. LAND LAWS (b)

after this chapter goes into effect, shall not have the forfeiture declared against them under the law providing for the forfeiture of such lands for non-occupancy; provided, that they shall make affidavit, supported by the affidavit of three disinterested witnesses, that they have re-occupied the land as a home in good faith, and that they had abandoned the same since their purchase on account of the drought and not otherwise; and such absence shall not be deducted from the three years’ occupancy required by law in making final proof of occupancy; and provided further, that any purchasers or their vendees of such lands who have failed to make proof of occupancy as required by the law regulating such purchases shall have six months after this chapter shall take effect to make such proof of occupancy as required by the provisions of this chapter.

The purchaser shall transmit to the treasurer of the state one-fourtieth of the aggregate purchase-money for the particular tract of land, and send to the commissioner his obligation to the state, duly executed, binding the purchaser to pay to the state on the first day of November of each year thereafter, until the whole purchase-money is paid, one-fourtieth of the aggregate price, with interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum on the whole unpaid purchase-money, which interest shall also be payable on the first day of November of each year; and upon receipt of one-fourtieth of the purchase-money by the treasurer, and the affidavit and obligation aforesaid by the commissioner, the sale shall be deemed and held effective from the date the affidavit and obligation are filed in the general land office; provided, that if the land applied for be timbered land, then the purchaser shall be required to pay the full amount of the purchase-money at the time of his purchase. [Id. § 9.]

Art. 4218k. Optional payments; original purchasers may sell, etc.

See Vernon’s Sayles’ Civ. St. Art. 5436.

Art. 4218. Forfeiture of purchase by non-payment of interest, etc.—If upon the first day of November of any year the interest due on any obligation remains unpaid, the commissioner of the general land office shall indorse on such obligation “Land forfeited,” and shall cause an entry to that effect to be made on the account kept with the purchaser, and thereupon said land shall thereby be forfeited to the state without the necessity of re-entry or judicial ascertainment, and shall revert to the particular fund to which it originally belonged, and be re-sold under the provisions of this chapter or any future law; provided, if any purchaser shall die, his heirs or legal representatives shall have one year in which to make payment after the first day of November next after such death, and shall be absolved and exempt from the requirement of settlement and residence thereon. And if any purchaser shall fail to reside upon and improve in good faith the land purchased by him, he shall forfeit said land and all payments made thereon to the state, in the same manner as for non-payment of interest, and such land shall be again for sale as if no such sale and forfeiture had occurred; provided, that all necessary and temporary absence from such land of such purchaser, for the time of not more than six months in any one year, for the purpose of earning money with which to pay for the land, or for the purpose of schooling his children, shall not work a forfeiture of his title; provided, further, that nothing in this article contained shall be construed to inhibit the state from instituting such legal proceedings as may be necessary to enforce such forfeiture, or to recover the full amount of the interest and such penalties as may be due the state at the time such forfeiture occurred, or to protect any other right to such land, which suits may be instituted by the attorney-general or under his discretion, [direction] in the proper court of the county in which the land lies or of the county to which such county is attached for judicial purposes; provided, this article shall be printed on the back of receipt. [Id. § 11.]

See Vernon’s Sayles’ Civ. St. Art. 5423.

Art. 4218l. Same; includes all lands heretofore sold, etc.—If upon the first day of November of any year any portion of the interest due by any person to the state of Texas for lands heretofore sold by the state of Texas, whether said lands be a part of the public domain or shall have been heretofore set apart for the public schools, university, or any of the other various state institutions, has not been paid, it shall be the duty of the land commissioner to indorse on the obligation for said lands, “Lands forfeited,” and shall cause an entry to that effect to be made on the account kept with such purchaser, and thereupon said land shall thereby be forfeited to the state, without the necessity of re-entry or judicial ascertainment, and shall revert to the particular fund to which it originally belonged, and be resold under the provisions of the existing law, or any future law; provided, the purchaser of said land shall have the right, at any time within six months after such indorsement of "Lands forfeited," to institute a suit in district court of Travis county, Texas, against the commissioner of the general land office, for the purpose of contesting such forfeiture and setting aside the same, upon the ground that the facts did not exist, authorizing such forfeiture, but if no such suit has been instituted as above provided, such forfeiture of the commissioner of the general land office shall then become fixed and conclusive; provided, that if any purchaser shall die, or shall have died, his heirs or legal representatives shall have one year in which to make payment after the first day of November next after such death.

This article is cumulative, and is not intended to deny to the state the right to institute any legal proceedings that may be deemed necessary to secure the purchase-money or possession of the land so sold. And this article is intended to be applicable to all purchases heretofore made under any or all of the various acts of the legislature under which land may have been sold by the state. [Acts 1897,
p. 39.]

See art. 4307e post, and see Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 5423.

Art. 4218ill. Office forfeitures validated.—All forfeitures of public land, university land, public school land, or land set apart to any of the various state institutions, which have been heretofore sold under any of the various acts of the legislature, and the forfeitures made by the commissioner of the general land office for non-payment of any part of the interest due thereon, and without judicial as-certainment, shall be and the same are hereby in all things made valid; provided, that such purchaser shall have the right at any time within six months after the passage of this article, and not afterward, to institute suit in the district court of Travis county against the commissioner of the general land office to set aside such forfeiture upon the ground that the facts did not exist authorizing such forfeiture, and such forfeiture shall be a full liquidation of all claims of the state against such purchaser. [Acts 1897, p. 52.]

Art. 4218m. Coupling occupancy under second purchase to cure defects of first.—In all cases where persons have purchased or may hereafter purchase state, school or asylum lands under any act of the legislature authorizing the sale thereof and requiring a residence of three years thereon, and said persons have so resided upon said land or may hereafter reside thereon for the period of three years thereof by law, and their files have been or may hereafter be canceled and purchases annulled by the commissioner of the general land office on account of conflict with other surveys, said persons shall have the right to purchase other lands of the classes mentioned in this article without being required to reside thereon.
Persons desiring to avail themselves of the benefits of this provision shall make satisfactory proof to the commissioner of the three years' residence under their first purchase. [Acts 1895, p. 63, § 12.]

Arts. 4218n-4218p.

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Arts. 5447-5449.

Art. 4218q. Sale of timber on timbered lands, etc.—The commissioner of the general land office shall adopt such regulations for the sale of timber on the timbered lands as may be deemed necessary and judicious. Such timber shall not be sold for less than five dollars per acre, cash, except in such cases as the commissioner may ascertain by definite examinations by an approved agent appointed by him for that purpose, to be paid by the purchaser, to be sparsely timbered or containing timber of but little value, in which case he may sell the timber on such sections or part of sections at its proper value; provided, such timber is sold at not less than two dollars per acre. The purchaser shall have five years from the date of his purchase within which to remove the timber therefrom, and in case of failure to do so, such timber shall thereby be forfeited to the state without judi-cicial ascertainment; provided, that all timbered lands from which the timber has been cut and taken off may be placed on the market and sold as agricultural or grazing lands, according to classifications to be made by the land commissioner; promised, that the purchaser or his vendees of any such timber shall have been right to purchase the land upon which such timber so purchased is situated at two dol-ars per acre, cash, at any time before the expiration of five years from date of purchase of timber under the provisions of this chapter. [Id. § 16.]

Art. 4218r. Lands to be leased; terms, conditions, etc.—The public lands and all lands referred to in the several funds mentioned in this chapter shall be leased by the commissioner of the general land office under the provisions of this chapter, at not less than three cents per acre. All lands classified as agricultural and all lands containing permanent water thereon shall be leased for a term of five years or less, and all lands classified as pastoral or dry grazing lands shall be leased for a term of not more than ten years, and the rental shall be paid yearly in advance, the first payment to be made at the time the lease contract is entered into. If at the termination of any lease the lands covered thereby are still for lease, the lessee thereof shall have the preference right to again lease such lands theretofore leased by him upon the terms and at the price then fixed by law.

All leases shall be executed under the hand and seal of the land commissioner and delivered to the lessee or his duly authorized agent, and such lease shall not take effect until the first annual rental is paid and such lease thereof duly filed for record in the clerk's office of the proper county, and it shall not be necessary for the commissioner to acknowledge such lease contract so signed and delivered; and all leases under the provisions of this chapter may be advertised by the commissioner in such manner as he may think best, and let to the highest responsible bidder in such quantities and under such regulations as he may think to the best interest of the state not inconsistent with the equities of the occupant. All bids and offers to lease may be rejected by him prior to signing the lease contract, for fraud or collusion or other good and sufficient cause. [Id. § 17; amended Acts 1895, p. 75.]

Art. 4218s. Same; lands subject to sale; termination of lease; restrictions as to number of animals to ten acres.—Any person desiring to lease any portion of the lands belonging to any of the funds mentioned in this chapter, shall make application in writing to the commissioner of the general land office, specifying and describing the particular lands he desires to lease, and thereupon, the commissioner, if satisfied that the lands applied for are not in immediate demand for purposes of actual settlement, shall notify the applicant in writing that his proposition to lease is accepted, and thereupon he shall execute to the lessee in the name and by the authority of the state of Texas a lease of said land for such time as may be agreed upon, and when satisfied that the lessee has paid to the treasurer of the state the rent for one year in advance, shall deliver said lease to the clerk of the county court of the county in which the land is situated or of the county to which said county is attached for judicial purposes, and it shall be the duty of the clerk to record in a well-bound book, to be kept in his office, open to public inspection, a memorandum or abstract of said lease, showing the number of the survey or surveys leased, the name of the original grantee, the amount leased, the name of the lessee, the date of the lease, and the number of years it has to run; and for entering said memorandum the clerk shall be entitled to a fee of twenty-five cents. Upon the payment of said fee, the clerk shall deliver the lease to the lessee; and no other record of leases hereafter made shall be required, except said memorandum.

All leases contracts heretofore made and not recorded, shall be filed for record with the clerk of the proper county, within three months after this article takes effect, and if any lessee shall fail to have his unrecorded lease so filed for record within said time, the commissioner of the general land office shall disregard said lease, and award the land to any other applicant accompanying his application with the certificate of the clerk that no lease of said land is of record in his office. When any of such leases are filed for record, the clerk shall make the memorandum or abstract above provided for.

All lands which may be leased shall be subject to sale at any time except where otherwise provided herein. This provision in regard to the sale of leased lands shall apply to leases heretofore made, as well as to those hereafter to be made. Any section or part of a section which may be leased, shall not be sold, nor shall the lessee be disturbed in his possession thereof during the term of his lease, in the following cases:

1. When the lessee has actually settled upon such section, or part of a section, and erected thereon his residence and substantial improvements for permanent settlement.

2. When he has placed on such section or part of a section improvements of the value of two hundred dollars.

3. When the aggregate of the land owned by a settler and leased by him does not exceed one section.

Any lands which may be leased south and west of the line herein designated shall not be sold during the term of the lease until otherwise provided by law; provided, the sections leased by any one party are not so selected as to detach sections which are thereby left unleased. Said line begins at the northwest corner of Yoakum county; thence east, to the northeast corner of Kent county; thence south, to the north line of Fisher county; thence west, to the northeast corner of Scurry county; thence south, to the north line of Coke county; thence east, to the northwest corner of Runnels county; thence south, to the southwest corner of Runnels county; thence east, to the northwest corner of Concho county; thence south, to the southwest corner of Concho county; thence east, to the southeast corner of Concho county; thence south, to the southwest corner of McCulloch county; thence east, to the southeast corner of McCulloch county; thence south to the southwest corner of San Saba county; thence east, to the northwest corner of Llano county; thence south, to the southeast corner of Mason county; thence west, to the northwest corner of Gillespie county; thence south, to the southwest corner of Gillespie county; thence east, to the northeast corner of Kerr county; thence south, to the southeast corner of Bandera county; thence west, to the northeast corner of Uvalde county; thence south, to the southwest corner of Medina county; thence east, to the northeast corner of Frio county; thence south, to the northeast corner of La Salle county; thence east, to the northeast corner of McMullen county; thence south, to the southeast corner of McMullen county; thence east, to the Nueces river; thence down said stream to its mouth: Except in that portion of the state south and west of the above delineated line, any actual settler shall have the right to lease within a radius of five miles of the land occupied by him, not exceeding three sections of the land held by a lessee who is leasing more than ten sections from the state, but shall not be allowed thereby to reduce the large leasehold to less than ten sections.

In all cases where the lease is terminated under any of the provisions of this chapter before the expiration of the term of lease, the lessee shall have a pro rata credit upon his next year's rent, or the money refunded to him by the treasurer, as he may elect. On the expiration of his lease, or its termination under any provision of law, the lessee shall have the right for the period of sixty days to remove any or all improvements he shall have placed upon the leased premises.

No purchaser or other person than the lessee shall be permitted to turn loose within such lessee's inclosure more than one head of horses, mules or cattle, or in lieu thereof four head of sheep or goats, for every ten acres of land so purchased, owned, or controlled by him and uninclosed. Each violation of the provisions of this chapter, which restrict the number of stock which may be turned loose in such inclosure, shall be an offense, and the offender, on conviction, shall be punished by a fine of one dollar for each head of stock he may so turn loose, and each thirty days' violation of the provisions of this article shall constitute a separate offense. [Id. § 18; amended Acts 1897. p. 184.]

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 5455.

Art. 4218u. Payment of rents, how made.—All lessees shall pay the annual rents due for leased lands directly to the treasurer of the state, who shall execute receipts in duplicate for each payment made by any lessee, one of which receipts shall be delivered to the lessee and the other transmitted to the commissioner of the general land office. The treasurer shall cause to be kept an accurate account with each lessee, and the commissioner of the general land office shall file in his office all applications and other papers relating to leases, and keep a record of all leases made, which papers shall constitute a part of the records of his office. [Id. § 21.]

Art. 4218v. Leases, how canceled for non-payment of rents.—If any lessee shall fail to pay the annual rent due in advance for any year within sixty days after such rents shall become due, the commissioner of the general land office may declare such lease canceled by a writing under his hand and seal of office, which writing shall be filed with the other papers relating to such lease, and thereupon such lease shall immediately terminate, and the lands so leased shall become subject to purchase or lease under the provisions of this chapter. Such lease shall not be made to original lessees until all arrears are fully paid. During the continuance of all leases, and after forfeiture, the state shall have a lien upon all property owned by the lessee upon the leased premises to secure the payment of all rents due, which lien shall be superior to all other liens whatsoever; and it shall not be essential to the preservation or validity of such lien that it shall be reserved in the instrument of lease. [Id. § 22.]

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 5458.
Art. 4218w. Lessees privileged to purchase; personal property in improvements.—Lessees shall have the right at any time to purchase their leased lands, subject to the limitations as to quantity provided by this chapter, and at the price and on the conditions herein provided, without reference to any improvements made on such lands by such lessees; and all improvements made by lessees on lands leased by the state shall be declared to be personal property, which may be removed by such lessees on the expiration of their lease contracts; and they shall have sixty days after such expiration in which to remove the same. [Id. § 23.]

Art. 4218x. Suits to recover lands illegally occupied.—If the governor shall at any time be credibly informed that any portion of the public lands or the lands belonging to any of the several funds named in this chapter have been inclosed or that fences have been erected thereon without authority of law, he is authorized in his discretion to direct the attorney general to institute suit in the name of the state for the recovery of such lands and damages, and a fee of not less than ten dollars for the attorney when the sum recovered is less than one hundred dollars, and when it is over that sum the fee shall be ten per cent, to be paid by the defendant for the use and occupancy of the same, and the removal of such inclosures and fences; and such damages shall not be for a less sum than the amount of all the leases due during such occupancy.

For the recovery by the state of all lands sold under the provisions of this or former laws which have been or may hereafter be forfeited to the state for any reason, and for the recovery of any money due the states [state?] on leases made under this or former laws, and for the recovery of damages for the unlawful use and occupancy of such lands, as provided in this article, or any former laws, jurisdiction is expressly conferred on the courts of Travis county having jurisdiction thereof under the constitution concurrently with courts of the districts in which the land is situated, and all such suits shall be instituted by the attorney general or under his direction.

In suits provided for in this article, the court shall issue a writ of sequestration directed to any sheriff of the state, commanding and requiring such officer to take the same and all property thereof belonging to the persons so unlawfully occupying said lands into his actual custody, and hold the same subject to further orders of the court, and the state shall not be required to give bond. Such writ of sequestration may be executed by any sheriff of the state into whose hands it may be delivered, and it shall be the duty of any sheriff into whose hands it may come to proceed and execute such writ.

The defendant in such suit may repel as in ordinary cases by giving bond as prescribed by law, and such cases shall have precedence on the docket and stand for trial before all other cases; and in case judgment is recovered by the state in such suit the court shall order such inclosure or fences to be removed, and shall tax the costs of the suit against the defendant, and all property found upon the land belonging to the defendant, not exempt from execution, shall be liable to the payment of such costs and damages in addition to the personal liability of the defendant.

Appeals may be prosecuted from all judgments in such cases as in ordinary cases, except that the state shall not be required to give bond to perfect its appeal, and such cases on appeal shall have precedence over all other cases.

If any person shall make a lease contract, and after the same is inclosed by fence shall for any cause decide not to continue payment of his lease, either in whole or in part, he shall give public notice by publication in any local paper having the largest circulation, for at least sixty days before the time in which his next annual payment shall become due, that he will not continue his lease after the year for which payment is made, and shall also state the number and block of the land which he will not lease inside his inclosure, if he only intends to surrender a part of his lease, and shall post and shall keep posted for said sixty days notice on all gates of his pasture of such intention; then, and then only, he shall not be subject to the suit nor liable for the damages provided for in this article. [Id. § 24; amended Acts 1895, p. 75.]

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Arts. 5460-5474.

Art. 4218y. Certain lands withheld from lease.—The commissioner of the general land office may withhold from lease any agricultural lands necessary for the purpose of settlement, and no agricultural lands shall be leased, if, in the judgment of the commissioner, they may be in immediate demand for settlement, but such lands shall be held for settlement, and sold to actual sellers only, under the provisions of this chapter; and all sections and fractions of sections, in all counties organized prior to the first day of January, 1875, except El Paso, Presidio and Pecos counties, which sections are isolated and detached from other public lands, may be sold to any purchaser, except to a corporation, without actual settlement, at one dollar per acre, upon the same terms as other public lands are sold under the provisions of this chapter. [Id. § 26; amended Acts 1897, p. 184.]

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 5450.

Art. 4218z. Certain illegal sales made valid.—All sales of public school, university, and the several asylum lands which were sold as isolated and detached lands under section 22, chapter 99 of the acts of the legislature of the state of Texas of 1887, and amendments thereto, which were in fact not isolated and detached, as construed by the supreme court, where the original sales have not been canceled and the lands resold, be and the same are in all things hereby legalized and made valid in all cases, where such sales would have been valid if the lands so sold had in fact been isolated and detached; provided, that when applications have been made for the purchase of any such lands, in advance of placing of the same on the market again, it shall not have the effect of a sale of such lands, nor of requiring the commissioner of the general land office to award such lands to such applicants. [Acts 1897, p. 160.]

The section referred to is article 4301, post, the chapter in which it is found having been superseded, it seems, by this chapter. Notice that article 4218z contains the amendments referred to, and is substantially the same as article 4301. (See note at head of this chapter.)

CHAPTER 13—TITLE TO CERTAIN LANDS QUIETED

Article 4218aa. Patents on certificates issued to disabled soldiers under act of 1881.—All patents issued by the state upon locations or surveys of land made by virtue of any certificate issued under the provisions of an act of the legislature of the state of Texas entitled "An act granting to persons who have been permanently disabled by reason of wounds received while in the service of this state or of the Confederate States, a land certificate for twelve hundred and eighty acres of land," approved April 9th, 1881, be and are hereby validated, and the fact that the school and individual sections, or surveys made by virtue of any such certificate, may not have been made contiguous or adjacent to each other shall not be held to invalidate the patent issued on such survey, nor to invalidate the right of the public free school fund to the land located or surveyed for the benefit thereof by virtue of any such certificate. [Acts 1897, p. 113, § 1.]

Art. 4218bb. Locations and surveys made valid, etc.—All locations and surveys of land made by virtue of land certificates under said act of April 9th, 1881, entitled "An act granting to persons who have been permanently disabled by reason of wounds received while in the service of this state or of the Confederate States, a land certificate for twelve hundred and eighty acres of land," for which surveys the field-notes and certificates have been returned to the land office within the time required by law and located upon lands subject to location by certificates, are hereby validated, and where patents have been withheld for no other reason than that the school land required by said act to be located is not located adjacent to the individual land, the commissioner of the general land office is hereby authorized and required to issue patents to the persons to whom said certificates were issued, or to his or her assignee; provided, that said commissioner shall not be authorized or required to issue to any person to whom such certificate may have been issued, or to his or her assignee, a patent for any greater amount of land than may have been surveyed by virtue of such certificate for the benefit of the public free school fund. [Id. § 2.]

Art. 4218cc. Exceptions.—This chapter shall not be construed to affect or validate any of said patents or surveys mentioned in the two preceding articles that would be invalid for other reasons than that the school and individual sections were not located contiguous to each other; provided, that this chapter shall not be construed to validate any of the above lands obtained by fraud. [Id. § 3.]

The act of 1881, referred to above, and the repealing act, are as follows:

"An Act granting to persons who have been permanently disabled by reason of wounds received while in the service of this state, or of the Confederate States, a land certificate for twelve hundred and eighty acres of land.

§ 1. That all persons who are now bona fide residents of this state, and who were resident citizens of this state, and as such citizens enlisted in the military service of this state or of the Confederate States in the late war between the states of the United States, as soldiers or as servants attending such soldiers, and while engaged in such military service, by reason of wounds received while in actual service, are permanently disabled, so as to seriously impair their ability to perform bodily labor, or earn a living for themselves and families, and the widows of soldiers who were residents as aforesaid and enlisted in the service as aforesaid, who died or were killed in actual service under such enlistment, who have remained widows and are now citizens of this state, and who show that they have not property of the value of one thousand dollars, are hereby declared to be entitled to a land certificate for twelve hundred and eighty acres of land; provided, no person shall be entitled to the benefit of this act unless they show that they have not property of the value of one thousand dollars." [Act April 9, July 1, 1881; 17th Leg., p. 122; Sayles' Civ. Stat. 1889, vol. 2, p. 321.]

"§ 6. The person desiring to obtain the benefit of this act shall prove to the satisfaction of the commissioner[']s court of the county of his residence, by at least two credible persons, that he is entitled to said land certificate under the provisions of this act, and upon the certificate of said commissioners' court under its seal that said applicant is entitled to said land certificate, the commissioner of the general land office is authorized and required to issue to said person a certificate for twelve hundred and eighty acres of land.

"§ 7. The certificate granted under the provisions of this act shall be located as follows: The locator shall also locate a like amount of land for the benefit of the permanent school fund before either shall be patented, and such location shall be made on any of the public domain of Texas not reserved by law from location."

"An Act to repeal an act entitled 'An act granting to persons who have been permanently disabled by wounds received while in the service of this state or of the Confederate States, a land certificate for 1280 acres of land,' approved April 9, 1851, is hereby repealed." [Act Feb. 2, 1883; 18th Leg., p. 13.]

Art. 4218dd. Certain patents confirmed and title relinquished.—The land patents numbered three hundred and eighty-eight (388), five hundred and eighty-three (583), and five hundred and eighty-four (584), Vol. No. four (4) (of the records of the general land office of the state of Texas), and issued to Thomas M. Joseph and Henry M. Truehart on the 20th day of December, A. D. 1859, and the 23d day of August, A. D. 1860, covering certain lands in Galveston county, state of Texas, be, and the same are hereby confirmed, and that all right and title of the state of Texas to the lands therein named, be, and the same are hereby relinquished to the parties to whom the said patents were issued, and sold made in accordance with an act approved on the 20th day of February, A. D. 1858, and an act amendatory of the same, approved on the 1st day of February, A. D. 1860, as also by a special act of the legislature of the state of Texas, approved July 29th, A. D. 1870. [Acts 1897, p. 222.]

For act of February 2, 1856, granting Pelican Island to the corporation of Galveston, and the joint resolution of March 8, 1879, in confirmation thereof, see 2 Sayles' Civ. Stat. (1889) art. 3961a.

For act of March 31, 1833, confirming 'surveys and patents by virtue of headright or bounty warrants issued under special laws enacted after March 31, 1870, and prior to April 11, 1876,' see Sayles' Civ. Stat. (1889) art. 3964a.

For act of April 4, 1881, directing the commissioner to issue patents for lands between the Rio Grande and Nueces rivers, see Sayles' Civ. Stat. (1889) art. 3964b. By act of March 16, 1881, owners of lands between those rivers were directed to archive their titles in the general land office. See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 82, subd. 6.

TITLE 82—PUBLIC SCHOOL, ASYLUM AND UNIVERSITY LANDS

Chap. 1. University and Asylum Lands.

Chap. 2. The Public Free School and County School Lands.

Chap. 3. Sale and Lease of Public School, University and Asylum Lands.

Chap. 4. Branch University for Colored People—Permanent Endowment.

CHAPTER 1—UNIVERSITY AND ASYLUM LANDS

Article 4251. [4022] The fifty leagues appropriation.—The fifty leagues of land set apart and appropriated for the establishment and maintenance of the "University of Texas," by an act of congress of the republic of Texas, entitled "An act appropriating certain lands for the establishment of a general system of education," approved January 26, 1839, shall continue and remain as a part of the permanent university fund. [Const. art. 7, § 11; Act Jan. 26, 1839, p. 120; P. D. 3550.]

Art. 4252. [4023] The one million acres appropriation.—In addition to the lands heretofore granted to the University of Texas, there is hereby set apart and appropriated for the endowment, maintenance and support of said university and its branches one million acres of the unappropriated public domain, to be designated and surveyed as hereinafter provided. [Const. art. 7, § 15.]

Art. 4253. One-half of public domain added to permanent fund, etc. See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 5386. See, also, art. 4290, ante, and Arts. 4265, 4807c, 4307d, post.

Art. 4255. [4025] Such lands to be surveyed if necessary.—In case any of the lands appropriated and set apart by the provisions of the four preceding articles have not been surveyed, and the field-notes thereof returned to the general land office in accordance with law, the commissioner of the general land office shall, as soon as may be practicable, appoint one or more competent surveyors to survey such lands out of any vacant and unappropriated public lands. [Act Jan. 26, 1839, p. 120; P. D. 3550.]

Art. 4256. [4026] Surveys, how made and returned.—Such surveys shall be made in sections of six hundred and forty acres each, so far as the same may be practicable; and the surveyor shall locate and survey said lands under the direction of the commissioner of the general land office, and return the field-notes and maps thereof to the general land office within such time as may be prescribed by the commissioner, verified by his affidavit, in substance as follows: "I, A B, do solemnly swear [or affirm] that I have well and truly discharged my duties as surveyor of university [or asylum] lands to the best of my skill and ability; that in the performance of such duties I have selected and surveyed the most valuable unappropriated lands ascertained by me in the locality designated by the commissioner of the general land office for my operations; and that the field-notes, maps and description of the lands herewith returned are as correct as I can make them, so help me God." [P. D. 3551.]

Art. 4257. [4027] Locations prohibited, when.—At the time of appointment of any surveyor for the purposes indicated in this chapter the commissioner of the general land office shall designate the general limits of the territory in which such surveyor shall operate, and notify the district surveyor having jurisdiction over such territory of such appointment and designation, and thereafter no locations shall be permitted within such limits until after receipt by the district surveyor of a certified copy of the maps and field-notes as provided in the preceding article.

Art. 4258. [4028] Copies of field-notes, etc., forwarded to district surveyors.—After the return of the field-notes and maps to the general land office by the surveyor appointed to make any such locations the commissioner of the general land office shall cause certified copies thereof to be forwarded to the district or county surveyor of any district or county in which any such lands are situated, who shall record the same in their respective offices as in other cases.

Art. 4259. [4029] Surveyors to continue until, etc.—Appointments of surveyors for the purpose indicated in the preceding article may be renewed or continued by the commissioner of the general land office, and additional surveys made until the whole amount of lands appropriated for the university or asylums are finally designated and surveyed.

Art. 4260. [4030] Surveyors, how paid.—The expenses of surveys made under the provisions of this chapter shall be paid out of the university fund of this state, or the fund of the proper asylum, upon the sworn account of the surveyor, approved by the commissioner of the general land office, and filed with the comptroller of public accounts.

Art. 4261. Commissioner to have surveys made, when. See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 5347.

Art. 4262. Bond, etc. See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 5348.

Art. 4263. May have lands surveyed, when. See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 5349.

Art. 4263a. Control of university lands confided to regents. See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 2633. See, also, art. 4307c, post.

Art. 4263c. Custody of records and funds.—All records and accounts of transactions in university lands, and of moneys paid thereon, shall be kept in the general land office and in office of the treasurer, as heretofore, and all patents shall be signed and issued as heretofore, and all moneys received on the sales or leases of said lands shall be paid to the treasurer of the state. [Id. § 3.]

CHAPTER 2—THE PUBLIC FREE SCHOOL AND COUNTY SCHOOL LANDS

Article 4264. [4031] The public school lands.—All the alternate sections of land reserved by the state out of grants heretofore made, or that may hereafter be made to railroads or other corporations of any nature whatever, one-half of the public domain, and all other lands heretofore set apart or that may hereafter be set apart for the benefit of public free schools shall constitute a part of the perpetual public free school fund. [Const. art. 7, § 2.]

Art. 4265. Locations validated.
See Vernon’s Sayles’ Civ. St. Art. 5383.

Art. 4266. Lands sold for taxes to state, etc.
See Vernon’s Sayles’ Civ. St. Art. 5384.

Art. 4267. Greer county lands.—All the vacant and unappropriated public domain embraced in the territorial limits of the county of Greer is appropriated, one-half thereof for [the] public free schools for the education of children in Texas without reference to race or color, and the other half for the payment of the state debt; and said lands shall be surveyed and disposed of for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this article in such manner as may hereafter be provided by law. [Acts 1879, p. 16.]

See art. 4283a, post. United States v. Texas, 162 U. S. 1.

Art. 4268. One-half of unsold public domain to permanent fund.—
After the payments of the amounts due from the state to the common free school fund, out of the proceeds of the sales heretofore made, or hereafter to be made, of that portion of the public lands set aside for the payment of the public debt, by an act approved July 14, 1879, and an act amendatory thereof, approved March 11, 1881, and the payment directed to be made to the common school and university funds by an act approved February 23, 1883, the remainder of said land, not to exceed two million of acres, contained in the counties and territory specially mentioned in said acts, or the proceeds thereof, set aside by said acts for the payment of the public debt, heretofore or hereafter to be received by the state, shall one-half thereof constitute a permanent endowment fund for the common free schools of this state. [Acts 1883, p. 71.]

See arts. 4253, ante, and arts. 4307c, 4307d, post.

Art. 4269. Surveys validated.—The surveys of all county school lands heretofore made, either actually on the ground or by protraction, and returned into the general land office, according to law, and upon which patents have issued, are hereby declared valid surveys, and the titles to the lands included within the lines of said surveys, as returned to the general land office, are hereby vested in the counties for which the same were made; and in all such surveys the calls for distance shall have precedence and control calls for rivers or natural objects when the calls for distance will give the quantity of land intended to be included in the survey and the calls for natural objects or rivers will not; provided, this law shall not divest any vested right. [Acts 1883, p. 25.]

Art. 4270. [4035] Such lands belong to the counties.—All lands granted to counties for educational purposes, under the provisions of this chapter or any former law, shall belong to such counties respectively, and the titles thereto shall be fully vested in said counties; and no adverse possession or limitation shall ever be available against the title of any county to such lands. [Const. art. 7, § 6.]

Art. 4271. [4036] Land, how sold and proceeds invested.
See Vernon’s Sayles’ Civ. St. Art. 5402.

Art. 4272. [4037] Actual settlers to have preference.
See Vernon’s Sayles’ Civ. St. Art. 5403.

Art. 4274. Surplus segregated from public domain, when.
See Vernon’s Sayles’ Civ. St. Art. 5396.

Art. 4279. Even-numbered surveys in conflict, etc. See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 5401.

Art. 4280. Unorganized county school land.—The three hundred and twenty-five leagues of land heretofore surveyed under the provisions of an act entitled “An act to provide for designating and setting apart three hundred leagues of land out of the unappropriated public domain, for the benefit of the unorganized counties of the state, and to provide for the survey and location of the same,” approved March 16, 1882, is set apart and shall constitute a reservation out of which each of the unorganized counties of this state, as it may be organized, shall be entitled to receive four leagues of land for free school purposes, and out of which such organized counties of this state as may have located their certificate for four leagues of school land in conflict with or upon land already appropriated by valid prior location and survey, or which from any cause have failed to get title to their four leagues of school land, shall be entitled to receive so much of said land as may be necessary to secure to any such county the number of acres it may be entitled to from any cause, or that may be declared to be in conflict by the commissioner of the general land office. [Acts 1883, p. 45.]

Art. 4281. Shall be numbered, etc.—Each of said leagues of land shall be numbered by the commissioner of the general land office, in the order in which it was surveyed by the contractor or contractors, beginning at number one and extending to three hundred and twenty-five, and as each of the unorganized counties in this state shall be organized such county shall be entitled to the first four leagues out of the reservation authorized by the foregoing provisions, which shall not have been patented to other counties for free school purposes. Upon the payment to the treasurer of the state the actual cost of surveying fees and legal interest thereon from time of payment by the state, and upon the payment of such costs and interest, the commissioner of the general land office is required to issue patents to said county for four leagues of land as above provided, but said counties shall not be required to pay patent fees for said patents. [Id. § 2.]

Art. 4282. Lands, how obtained by counties.—Any organized county in this state shall, in like manner as provided in the preceding articles, be entitled to receive so much of said land, not exceeding four leagues, as shall be necessary to secure to any such county the number of acres of land heretofore located by such county, and which shall be declared to be in conflict with prior locations and surveys by the commissioner of the general land office or by the decree or judgment of any court having jurisdiction of the subject-matter. And it shall be the duty of the commissioner of the general land office, upon the written application of the county judge and any two of the county commissioners, accompanied by the decision of the commissioner of the land office, or a certified copy of such decree or judgment, to issue patents to such county upon the same conditions and in like manner as is provided for unorganized counties; provided, if any such county should be entitled to receive a quantity less than one league such land shall be surveyed at the expense of such county, in a square figure with at least two lines thereof (where more than one line is run) commencing on lines of original survey as may be selected by the county judge of the county that is entitled to the survey. [Id. § 3.]

Art. 4282a. Setting apart the four leagues granted to Greer county.—The four leagues of land heretofore patented to what is known as the territory of Greer county for free school purposes, under the provisions of an act entitled, “An act to reserve and set apart three hundred and twenty-five leagues of land heretofore surveyed for the benefit of the unorganized counties of the state, and such organized counties as may have located their four leagues of school land, or any part thereof in conflict with valid prior locations or surveys, or which from any cause fail to get title to the four leagues of land they are entitled to under the law,” approved April 7th, 1883, be and the same is hereby set apart and appro

Art. 4282b. Attorney-general to institute proceedings.—The attorney-general of the state of Texas is hereby authorized to institute such proceedings as he deems necessary to recover said land against all adverse claims. [Id. § 2.]

CHAPTER 3—SALE AND LEASE OF PUBLIC SCHOOL, UNIVERSITY AND ASYLUM LANDS

Article 4283. Lands to be sold or leased.—All lands heretofore or hereafter surveyed and set apart for the benefit of the public free schools, the university, the lunatic asylum, the blind asylum, the deaf and dumb asylum, and the orphan asylum, shall be sold and leased under the provisions of this chapter. [Acts 1887, p. 83, § 1.]

See art. 4218z, ante, and Art. 5405, Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St.

Art. 4284. Commissioner to carry into effect, etc.—The commissioner of the general land office is hereby vested with all the power and authority necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this chapter, and shall have full charge and direction of all matters pertaining to the sale and lease of said lands, and their protection from free use and occupancy, and from unlawful inclosure, with such exceptions and under such restrictions as may be imposed by the provisions of this chapter, or by the constitution of the state. He shall, as soon as practicable, adopt such regulations not inconsistent with the constitution or this chapter as may be deemed necessary for carrying into effect the provisions of this chapter, and may from time to time alter or amend such regulations so as to protect the public interest, but all regulations shall be submitted to the governor for his approval before adoption or promulgation. He shall adopt all necessary forms of applications for sales or leases, and all other forms necessary or proper for the transaction of business imposed upon him by this chapter, including the forms of leases, receipts and acquittances, and may from time to time call upon the attorney-general to prepare such forms, and it shall be the duty of that officer to furnish the commissioner of the general land office with such advice and legal assistance as may be requisite for the due execution of the provisions of this chapter; and it shall be the duty of such commissioner to call upon the attorney-general for advice whenever there is any doubt as to the meaning of this chapter or any provisions thereof. [Id. § 2.]

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 5406.

Art. 4285. Commissioner shall have classified and valued.—The commissioner of the general land office shall cause all the lands belonging to the several funds named in this chapter which may be in demand for immediate settlement, to be carefully and skilfully classified and valued; and for this purpose he may appoint, with the approval of the governor, such number of competent state agents as may be necessary to effect such classification and valuation; and he shall cause such classification and valuation to be made of the remainder of such lands from time to time as the same may come into demand for actual settlement; and with the approval of the governor he may allow such compensation to said state agents as may be just and proper, not to exceed the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars per month and necessary expenses for subsistence. He may also appoint such other assistants as may be found necessary to accomplish such classification and appraisement and the sale or lease of the lands; but no state agents or other appointments shall be made in the absence of an appropriation by law to cover such expenditure, and the state shall not be liable for any expenditure of this character incurred in excess of the current appropriations. [Id. § 3.]

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 5407.

Art. 4286. Agents to be appointed, how, etc.—It shall be the duty of such state agents as may be appointed under the provisions of this chapter, under such regulations and instructions as may be prescribed by the commissioner of the general land office, to classify all the lands belonging to the several funds mentioned in this law, as prescribed in article 4285, lying in the particular territory to which such agent may be assigned, into agricultural, pasture and timber lands; and for this purpose they shall carefully examine the same, and after such examination they shall prepare an accurate plat of each section, showing the relative proportions of timber and open land on such section, and their situation, also the quality of the soil, the topography of the land and the quality and kind of timber, and the streams and other sources of water supply, and their location, notting such streams as may be permanent water, and such other facts as may be important; and from time to time, as may be prescribed by the commissioner of the general land office, such agent shall prepare and forward to the commissioner, with such plats, a tabulated statement of all the lands in any particular locality, with the value of each section; and such plats and reports shall be filed in the general land office as a part of the records of said office; but nothing in this article contained shall be construed to require a classification of lands already classified under former laws, if such classification is satisfactory to the com­missio­ner. [Id. § 4.]

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 5410.

Art. 4287. To be sold to actual settlers only; conditions.—When any portion of said land has been classified to the satisfaction of the commissioner under the provisions of this chapter or former laws, such land shall be subject to sale, but to actual settlers only, and in quantities of not less than eighty acres and in multiples thereof, nor more than one section containing six hundred and forty acres, more or less; provided, that when there is a fraction less than eighty acres of any section left such fraction may be sold; but lands classified as purely pasture lands and without permanent water thereon may be sold in quantities not to exceed four sections to the same settler; and in no event shall sale be made to a corporation, either foreign or domestic, and all sales to a settler shall be upon the express condition that any sale or transfer of such land to any corporation, directly or indirectly, before patent is issued thereon, shall ipso facto terminate the title of the purchaser or owner, and such land shall be forfeited to the state without re-entry and become again a part of the particular fund to which it formerly belonged. [Id. § 5; amended Acts 1889, p. 50.]

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Arts. 5407, 5410, 5420.

Art. 4288. County clerk to be notified of valuations.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of the general land office to notify in writing the county clerk of each county of the valuation fixed upon each section of land in his county, and in each county attached to it for judicial purposes, which he offers for sale, which notification shall be kept by the clerk in his office and recorded in a well-bound book, which shall be open to public inspection. [Id. § 6.]

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 5407.

Art. 4289. Prices.—All lands belonging to the public free schools, university and the several asylum funds, shall be sold at not less than two dollars per acre. All sections of land having permanent water on, or bordering thereon, shall be sold at not less than three dollars per acre, and no less than one hundred and sixty acres shall be sold, except in cases where a fractional part of a section less than one hundred and sixty acres is unsold, in which case the entire fractional part of such survey shall be sold; provided, that no watered portion of any section shall be sold unless there is permanent water on, or bordering on, the part of said section remaining unsold; and all timber land shall be sold at not less than five dollars per acre. By timber lands here used is meant lands valuable chiefly for the timber thereon. [Id. § 7.]

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 5407.

Art. 4290. Purchase, how made.—Any bona fide actual settler who may reside on any part of the lands the sale of which is authorized by this chapter shall have the right, for a period of six months after the same shall have been appraised, to purchase such quantity of land as may be limited by this chapter, to include his improvements, upon complying with the provisions of this chapter regulating sales as in other cases, and such land shall be appraised without reference to the improvements thereon; provided, that any bona fide settler who has heretofore purchased or may hereafter purchase one section of agricultural or watered land, and no more, shall have the right to purchase three dry and strictly pastoral sections upon his making oath that he is not acting in collusion with others for the purpose of buying the land for any other person or corporation, and that no other person or corporation is directly or indirectly interested in the purchase of the same. [Id. § 8; amended Acts 1889, p. 50.]

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Arts. 5416, 5420, 5428, 5435.

Art. 4291. Sales, how made.—All sales shall be made by the commissioner of the general land office or under his direction, and he shall prescribe suitable regulations whereby all purchasers shall be required to reside upon, as a home.
the land purchased by them for three consecutive years next succeeding the date of their purchase. Such regulations shall require the purchaser to reside upon the land for the three consecutive years herein mentioned, and to make proper proof of such residence and occupancy to the commissioner of the general land office within one year next after the expiration of said three years by his affidavit, corroborated by the affidavits of three disinterested and credible citizens of the county, to be certified to by some officer of the county wherein the land is situated authorized to administer oaths. Any person desiring to purchase land in accordance with the provisions of this law shall forward his application to the commissioner, particularly describing the land sought to be purchased, which application shall in all cases, be accompanied with the affidavit of the applicant, in effect that he desires to purchase the land for a home, and has in good faith settled thereon; and he shall also swear that he is not acting in collusion with others for the purpose of buying the land for any other person or corporation, and that no other person or corporation is interested in the purchase save himself. The purchaser shall transmit to the treasurer of the state one-fortieth of the aggregate purchase-money for the particular tract of land and send to the commissioner his obligation to the state duly executed, and binding the purchaser to pay to the state on the first day of August of each year thereafter until the whole purchase-money is paid, one-fortieth of the aggregate price with interest thereon from date at the rate of five per cent. per annum on the whole unpaid purchase-money, which interest shall also be payable on the first day of August of each year; and upon receipt of one-fortieth of the purchase-money by the treasurer, and the affidavit and obligation aforesaid by the commissioner, the sale shall be deemed and held effective from the date the affidavit and obligation are filed in the general land office; provided, that if the land applied for be timbered land, then the purchaser shall be required to pay the full amount of the purchase-money at the time of his purchase. [Id. § 9.]

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Arts. 5406, 5409-5411.

Art. 4292. Option of purchaser to pay, when.—All purchasers shall have the option of paying the purchase-money for their lands in full at any time after they have occupied the same for three consecutive years; and when they have made such payment in full, together with the proof that they have occupied the land and homestead for three consecutive years, they shall be entitled to receive patents for the same upon payment of the patent fees prescribed by law. Purchasers may also sell their land at any time after sale is effected under this law, and in such cases the vendee, or any subsequent vendee, may file his own obligation with the commissioner of the general land office, together with the duly authenticated conveyance, or transfer, from the original purchaser, and the intermediate vendee's conveyance or transfer, if any there be, duly recorded in the county where the land lies, or to which it may be attached for judicial purposes, together with his affidavit stating that he desires to purchase the land for a home, and that he has in good faith settled thereon, and that he is not acting in collusion with others for the purpose of buying the land for any other person or corporation, and that no other person or corporation is interested in the purchase save himself; and thereupon the original obligation may be surrendered or canceled, and the vendee shall become the purchaser direct from the state, and be subject to all the obligations and penalties prescribed by this law, and the original purchaser shall be absolved from further liability thereon; provided, that whenever a town shall be located and established upon any land sold under this or any former law, the purchaser or his vendee shall be permitted to pay the entire balance of principal and interest due the state upon such land, and obtain a patent therefor at any time; but no such payment shall be permitted or patent issue until such purchaser or owner of such land shall file in the general land office a certified plat of such town, made by the proper surveyor of the county, which shall be accompanied by the affidavit of the owner of such land, corroborated by the affidavit of five disinterested and credible citizens of the county, to the effect that a town, giving its name, has been located and established upon the land, and that there has been erected therein, and being occupied by bona fide citizens, twenty business and residence houses, or either or both. [Id. § 10.]

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Arts. 5436, 5438.

Art. 4293. Time in which interest may be paid.—If, upon the first day of November of any year, the interest due for the year next preceding on any obligation remains unpaid, the commissioner of the general land office shall indorse on such obligation "land forfeited," and shall cause an entry to that effect to be made on the account kept with the purchaser, and thereupon said land shall be forfeited to the state, without the necessity of re-entry or judicial ascertainment, and shall revert to the particular fund to which it originally belonged, and be resold under the provisions of this chapter, or any future law; provided, if any purchaser shall die, his heirs or legal representatives shall have one year in which to make payment after the first day of November next after such death; and if any purchaser shall fail to reside upon and improve in good faith the land purchased by him, he shall forfeit said land and payment thereon made, to the state, in the same manner as for non-payment of interest, and such land shall again be for sale, as if no such sale or forfeiture had occurred; or, if he shall fail to make the proof of occupancy within the time and in the manner prescribed by the regulations of the commissioner of the general land office, as provided for in article 4291, he shall in like manner forfeit the land and all payments thereon to the state; provided further, that nothing in this section contained shall be construed to inhibit the state from instituting such legal proceedings as may be necessary to enforce such forfeiture, or to protect any other right to such land; which suits may be instituted by the attorney-general under the direction of the governor, in the proper court of the county in which the land lies; provided, this article shall be printed on the back of the receipt. [Id. § 11; amended Acts 1889, p. 50; Acts 1891, p. 150; Acts 1893, p. 30.]

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 5423.

Art. 4294. Applications, etc., to remain on file in land office.—The commissioner of the general land office shall retain in his custody as records of his office all applications, affidavits, obligations and all other papers relating to the sales of said lands, and shall cause to be kept accurate accounts with each purchaser. All purchase-money due upon lands, as well as accrued interest and all other moneys arising from the sales or leases of said lands, shall be paid by the purchaser or lessee direct to the treasurer of the state, and who shall execute duplicate receipts for all sums of money paid to him under the provisions of this law, one of which receipts shall be delivered to the purchaser or his agent and the other transmitted to the commissioner of the general land office. [Id. § 12.]

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Arts. 5414, 5449.

Art. 4295. Sales of timber.—The commissioner of the general land office shall adopt such regulations for the sale of the timber on timbered lands as may be deemed necessary and judicious, such regulations to be subject to the approval of the governor. Such timber shall not be sold for less than five dollars per acre cash, except in such cases as the commissioner may ascertain by definite examination of a state agent that any particular section is sparsely timbered or contains timber of but little value, in which case he shall be authorized to sell the timber on said section at the best price, on the best terms practicable; provided, such timber is sold at not less than two dollars per acre. And in no case shall less than one section of timbered land be sold to any purchaser, except in cases of fractional sections, which may be sold under the provisions of this chapter. The purchaser shall have five years from the date of his purchase within which to remove the timber therefrom, and in case of failure to do so, such timber shall be forfeited to the state without judicial ascertainment; provided, that all timbered lands from which the timber has been cut and taken off may be placed on the market and sold for not less than two dollars per acre, as other lands are sold under the provisions of this chapter. [Id. § 13; amended Acts 1889, p. 50.]

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Arts. 5429, 5430.

All persons who have heretofore purchased timber on the school lands in this state under the provisions of the act of April 1, 1887, and the acts amendatory thereof, and who have not when this act takes effect removed the timber purchased by them from said land, and all persons claiming under said purchaser, shall have two years in addition to the time specified in their several contracts of purchase in which they may remove the timber on said lands so purchased by them; provided, that such purchaser or purchasers, or those claiming under them, shall for the two years' extension herein provided for annually pay in advance to the state treasurer for the use of the available school fund, six per cent. interest on the purchase-money so paid for such timber so purchased by them respectively. [Acts 1895, p. 14.]

Art. 4296. Terms of leases.—The public lands, and all lands belonging to the public free schools, asylums, or university fund, shall be leased by the commissioner of the general land office under the provisions of this chapter. All of such lands lying west of the Pecos river, and all of such lands lying south of the Texas and Pacific railroad, except in the counties of Concho, McCulloch, Coke, Sterling, Glasscock, Midland. Ector, Tom Green, Howard and Martin, and all university lands, shall be leased for a period of not longer than ten years; and all other such lands lying north of the Colorado river and north of the Texas and Pacific railroad, and the counties hereinbefore excepted from the ten years' lease, shall be leased for a period not longer than five years, and the lessee shall pay an annual rental of four cents per acre for all lands leased; provided, that the university lands may be leased at three cents per acre per annum; which rental shall be paid each year in advance, the first payment to be made at the time the lease is executed; and if at the termination of any lease any of such lands are not in demand for actual settlement they may be again leased for another five years, and the lessee thereof whose term of lease has expired shall have the refusal of such land as he has been leasing on the terms and at the price that may be fixed therefor by the commissioner of the general land office, and all leases shall be executed under the hand and seal of the commissioner of the general land office, and shall be delivered to the lessee or his duly authorized agent, and such leases shall not take effect until the first payment of annual rent is paid and the lease duly filed for record in the county where the land lies, or to which it may be attached for judicial purposes, and it shall not be necessary for the commissioner to acknowledge such lease before the same is placed on record. [Id. § 14; amended Acts 1889, p. 50; Acts 1891, p. 180.]

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Arts. 5452, 5453.

Art. 4297. Application, etc., how made.—Any person desiring to lease any portion of the public lands belonging to any of the funds mentioned in this chapter the sale and lease of which is not provided for by any other law, shall make application in writing to the commissioner of the general land office, specifying and describing the particular lands he desires to lease; thereupon the commissioner, if satisfied the lands are not in demand for purposes of actual settlement, and that such lands can be leased without detriment to the public interest, shall notify the applicant in writing that his proposition to lease is accepted, and thereupon he shall execute and deliver to the lessee in the name of the state a lease of said land for such terms as may be agreed upon, not longer than the period of time fixed by this chapter, according to its location, and deliver the same to such lessee when satisfied that the lessee has paid to the treasurer of the state the rental for one year in advance. No lands which are now or which may hereafter be classified as grazing lands within the territory where ten years lease is authorized, as set forth in the preceding article, shall be subject to sale during the term of the lease contract thereof, and the possession of the lessee shall not be disturbed during the term of his lease. [Id. § 15; amended Acts 1889, p. 50; Acts 1891, p. 180.]

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 5452.

Art. 4298. Rent to be paid, how.—All lessees shall pay the annual rent due for leased lands directly to the treasurer of the state, who shall execute receipts in duplicate for each payment made by any lessee, one of which receipts shall be delivered to the lessee and the other transmitted to the commissioner of the general land office. The treasurer shall cause to be kept an accurate account with each lessee, and the commissioner of the general land office shall file in his office all applications and other papers relating to leases, and keep a record of all leases made, which papers shall constitute a part of the records of his office. [Id. § 16.]

Art. 4299. Lease canceled, when.—If any lessee shall fail to pay the annual rent due in advance for any year, within sixty days after such rent shall become due, the commissioner of the general land office may declare such lease canceled, by a writing under his hand and seal of office, which writing shall be filed with the papers relating to such lease, and thereupon said lease shall immediately terminate, and the lands so leased shall become subject to purchase or lease, as the commissioner may determine for the best interest of the state. And during the continuance of all leases, and after forfeiture, the state shall have a lien upon all the property upon the leased premises to secure the payment of all rents due, which lien shall be prior and superior to all other liens whatsoever, and it shall not be essential to the preservation or validity of such lien that it shall be reserved in the instrument of lease. [Id. § 17.]

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 5456.

Art. 4300. Land inclosed or used without authority.—If the governor is informed at any time, upon the affidavit of some credible person, that any portion of the public lands, or lands belonging to the public free school, asylum or university funds, have been inclosed, or that fences have been erected thereon without authority of law, he is authorized, in his discretion, to direct the attorney-general to institute suit in the name of the state for the recovery of such land and damages for the use and occupation of such land and the removal of such enclosures and fences. Such suit may be instituted in the district court of any county where the land, or a portion thereof, is situated, or in the district court of Travis county; and upon application of the attorney-general, and without affidavit or bond, the clerk of the court in which suit is instituted shall issue a writ of sequestration, directed to any sheriff of the state of Texas, commanding and requiring such officer to take such land and all property thereon into his actual custody, and the same hold subject to the further orders of the court. Such writ of sequestration may be executed by any sheriff of the state into whose hands it may be delivered, and it shall be the duty of any sheriff into whose hands it may come to proceed and execute such writ, and the governor is required, in his discretion, to furnish such sheriff with the necessary force of volunteer militia or other military force of the state to accomplish the purposes of the writ and to execute the process of the court. The defendant in such writ may reply, as in ordinary cases, by giving bond as prescribed by law, and such cases shall have precedence on the docket and stand for trial before all other causes; and in case judgment is recovered by the state in such suit the court shall order such enclosures or fences to be removed, and shall tax the costs of the suit, including the cost of the military force, if any, against the defendant; and all property found upon the land belonging to the defendant shall be liable for such costs and damages in addition to the personal liability of the defendant. Appeals may be prosecuted from all judgments in such cases as in ordinary cases, except that the state shall not be required to give bond to perfect its appeal, and such cases on appeal shall have precedence over all other cases. [Id. § 20.]

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 5467.

Art. 4301. Lands may be withheld from lease, when.—The commissioner of the general land office, under the direction of the governor, may withhold from lease any agricultural lands necessary for purposes of settlement, and no agricultural lands shall be leased if in the judgment of the commissioner they may be in immediate demand for settlement, but such lands shall be held for settlement and sold to actual settlers only, under the provisions of this law, and all sections or fraction of sections in all counties organized prior to the first day of January, 1875, except El Paso, Pecos and Presidio counties, which sections are detached and isolated from other public lands, may be sold to any purchaser, except to a corporation, without actual settlement, at not less than two dollars per acre, upon such terms as the commissioner of the general land office may prescribe. [Id. § 22; amended Acts 1899, p. 50.]

See Vernon's Sayles' Civ. St. Art. 5460. See, also, arts. 4218y, 4218z, ante.

Art. 4302. Exempt from taxation.—Leaseholds created under the provisions of this chapter shall be exempt from all taxation. [Id. § 24.]

Art. 4303. Vested rights not to be disturbed.—Nothing in this law shall be construed to impair, interfere with or in any manner affect any lease or sale, or the rights growing out of the same, made under former laws, of the lands herein referred to; provided, that any person or persons who have heretofore leased lands from this state at prices fixed by the land board, and whose leases have not yet expired, shall have their rental for the remainder of their unexpired term reduced to the prices charged under this law for the lease of similar lands. [Id. § 25.]

Art. 4304. Regulations for issuance of patents.—The commissioner of the general land office is authorized and required to issue patents to all parties purchasing university lands in accordance with the original subdivisions as made under the provisions of "An act authorizing the disposition and sale of university lands," approved August 30, 1856, where said subdivisions have been made and field-notes filed in the general land office in accordance with said act; and if it should appear from actual survey on the ground, conforming to the lines and corners of said original subdivisions, that there is any subdivision more or less than one hundred and sixty acres, the commissioner of the general land office shall issue patents for the number of acres contained in said subdivisions upon the purchaser paying into the state treasury the amount per acre that the subdivision may have been appraised at; provided, that this article shall not affect any rights heretofore acquired under existing laws relative to university lands. [Acts 1879, p. 39.]

Art. 4305.
Omitted, as repealed by the report of the joint committee on amendments to the Revised Civil Code, No. 79; Sen. Jour., 1895, p. 452.—Codifiers of 1895.

Art. 4306. Lease of unorganized county school lands.—The commissioner of the general land office is hereby authorized to lease for a term of not exceeding ten years, at a price not less than two cents per acre, the three hundred and twenty leagues of land set apart and surveyed in the year 1882 for the unorganized counties of the state, situated in the counties of Hockley, Cochran, Bailey, Lamb, Andrews, Martin, Dawson and Gaines, under the same rules and upon the same terms as are prescribed by law for the lease of the university lands. The proceeds of such lease shall be paid into the state treasury and become a part of the available school fund of the state. [Acts 1889, p. 108, § 1.]

Art. 4307. Control to vest in county, when.—Whenever any county entitled to said lands shall be organized, the control of said lands belonging to such county shall vest in the commissioners' court of such county, and any lease money thereafter becoming due shall be payable to such county, but all leases executed before such organization of the county shall be binding for the full term thereof. [Id. § 2.]

Chapter 4—Branch University for Colored People—Permanent Endowment

Article 4307a. Appointment and bond of surveyor.—The governor and commissioner of the general land office be and they are hereby authorized to contract with and appoint a competent surveyor to survey and return to the general land office plats and field-notes of one hundred thousand acres of land, to be surveyed out of any of the vacant public and unsurveyed lands of this state in the manner hereinafter provided. They shall contract with such competent surveyor at the lowest price consistent with competency and efficiency in discharging the duties of surveyor. If they deem it necessary they may advertise for bids from surveyors. The surveyor so appointed shall enter into a good and sufficient bond in a sum of not less than double the contract price of the surveys, conditioned that he will faithfully comply with the requirements of this chapter, which bond shall be payable to the governor of the state, and be approved by him. [Acts 1897, p. 148, § 1.]

Art. 4307b. Surveys; record and return of field-notes.—The commissioner of the general land office shall furnish the surveyor appointed under authority of this chapter with sketches showing connections with any existing and established corners from which he may begin the surveys. He shall survey the lands into sections of six hundred and forty acres and in blocks after the manner of the railway surveys now existing in this state, and shall make plats of each block and survey, numbering the blocks in numerical order, beginning with number one, and shall also number each section in each block in the same manner, beginning with number one in each block. In all cases he shall mark and establish two corners on the ground for each survey, and the lines between which, if in timber, shall be distinctly marked. Said corners shall be made with at least two bearings, if in timber, and if in prairie, by earth mounds six feet in diameter and three feet high, or with a pile of rocks not less than two feet high. He shall actually survey each section on the ground and sign the field-notes, himself, of each survey separately and have his chain carriers to attest the field-notes of each survey by their own signatures. The surveyor shall then certify that he actually surveyed the land embraced in the field-notes, on the ground, and that the field-notes correctly described the land. He shall have the field-notes of each survey and plat recorded in the surveyor's record of the county or counties in which the lands surveyed are situated or in the county to which such county may be attached for surveying purposes in the manner now required by law. He shall, however, first forward the field-notes of all surveys made in any county to the commissioner of the land office for examination both as to correctness and as to conflicts with older valid surveys, and upon their return to the surveyor, after being approved by the commissioner, they shall be recorded as above required. After the field-notes are recorded the said surveyor shall make a plat of each block of surveys according to the field-notes so made by him, and return same, together with the original field-notes, recorded, to the general land office. All the lands surveyed as required by this chapter shall thereafter be mapped in the land office and shall be known and designated as the branch university surveys for the colored people. [Id. § 2.]

Art. 4307c. Alternate sections to belong to university and free schools respectively; sales and leases.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner to have the sections carefully numbered on the map in accordance with the field-notes of the surveys and blocks so returned by the surveyor. The odd-numbered surveys [sections?] shall thereafter be set apart and constitute a permanent endowment for a branch university for the colored people, and the even-numbered sections shall thereafter be set apart and constitute a permanent endowment for the public free schools of the state.

None of the odd-numbered lands surveyed, as required by this chapter, shall be put on the market and disposed of by the commissioner of the land office, but shall be under the control of the board of regents for the university of Texas, and held by the board in trust for the benefit of the said branch university for the colored people. All the funds received by said board for leases or sale of said lands shall be held sacred for the benefits and uses herein designated.

The commissioner shall not sell the even-numbered sections set apart herein for the public free school fund, but may lease the same to such persons only as may lease from the board of regents the odd numbers. Whenever the board may desire to sell said lands, they may contract for its [their] sale, and the purchaser, upon exhibiting to the commissioner of the land office such contract and depositing with him a duplicate copy of the same, [7] the commissioner may also sell the school sections corresponding with such odd numbers on the same terms and at the same price per acre as that embraced in the contract; provided, it shall not be sold for less than one dollar per acre: The proceeds to be paid into the treasury of the state, as now provided by law. [Id. § 3.]

See Arts. 4236a-4236c, ante.

Art. 4307d. Certain vacant and unsurveyed public domain may be surveyed.—Any of the vacant and unsurveyed public domain situated in any of the counties embraced in chapter XXXIII, approved March 11, 1881, may be surveyed for the purposes set out in this chapter, notwithstanding any reservation therein or elsewhere. [Id. § 4.]

All vacant and unappropriated land, situated in the following-named counties, viz.: Nolan, Mitchell, Howard, Martin, Andrews, Gaines, Donley, Borden, Scurry, Fisher, Stonewall, Kent, Garza, Lynn, Terry, Yoakum, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, King, Cottle, Motley, Floyd, Hale, Lamb, Bailey, Parmer, Castro, Swisher, Biscoe, Hall, Childress, Collingsworth, Donley, Armstrong, Randall, Deaf Smith, Oldham, Potter, Carson, Gray, Wheeler, Hemphill, Roberts, Hutchinson, Moore, Hartley, Sherman, Hansford, Ochiltree and Lipscomb be and the same is hereby appropriated and set apart for sale, together with all the unappropriated lands situated and being within and included in the Pacific reservation, and together with such separate tracts of unappropriated public lands situated in organized counties of this state, as contain not more than six hundred and forty acres; provided, that the three million and fifty thousand acres heretofore appropriated for the building of a state capitol shall have a preference right of location in the counties hereafter reserved for that purpose. The provisions of this section shall not be construed so as to prohibit the right of pre-emption within the bounds of the reservation here made, but any party shall have the same right of acquiring a homestead within this reservation under the pre-emption laws of this state as he may have had prior to the passage of this act. [Act March 11, 1881, p. 24, amending Act July 14, 1879.]

Compare Arts. 4200, 4253, 4258, ante.

Art. 4307e. Forfeiture of contract.—If any sale shall be made of the school lands herein as provided in article 4307d, and any payment of principal or interest shall not be made according to the contract of sale, it shall be the duty of the commissioner of the general land office to forfeit the contract without judicial ascertainment, as now provided by law, and the contract shall contain a stipulation authorizing such forfeiture which shall be signed by the purchaser. [Id. § 5.]

The act read “section 4 of this act.” Section 3 (Art. 4307c) was probably intended. As to forfeitures, see Arts. 4218-4218III, ante.

Art. 4307f. Compensation of surveyor.—The surveyor shall be paid by a warrant of the comptroller drawn on the treasurer of the state out of the general revenue upon the presentation of the comptroller of the certificate of the commissioner of the general land office certifying that the lands have been surveyed and field-notes and plats have been properly returned to the land office. He shall also reimburse in the same manner the contractor (surveyor) for any sum of money for fees which he may have paid to the county surveyor for recording field-notes and plats, not in excess of the fees now provided by law for such recording. [Id. § 6.]
IV. LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES CONCERNING CITIZENS

(Being Title XXV of the Revised Statutes of the United States.)

Sec. 1992. Who are citizens.—All persons born in the United States and not subject to any foreign power, excluding Indians not taxed, are declared to be citizens of the United States.

Act April 9, 1866, c. 31, § 1, 14 Stat. 27.

Sec. 1993. Citizenship of children of citizens born abroad.—All children heretofore born or hereafter born out of the limits and jurisdiction of the United States, whose fathers were or may be at the time of their birth citizens thereof, are declared to be citizens of the United States; but the rights of citizenship shall not descend to children whose fathers never resided in the United States.

Sec. 1994. Citizenship of married women.—Any woman who is now or may hereafter be married to a citizen of the United States, and who might herself be lawfully naturalized, shall be deemed a citizen.

Act Feb. 10, 1855, c. 71, § 2, 10 Stat. 604.

Sec. 1995. Of persons born in Oregon.—All persons born in the district of country formerly known as the Territory of Oregon, and subject to the jurisdiction of the United States on the 18th May, 1872, are citizens in the same manner as if born elsewhere in the United States.

Sec. 1996. Rights as citizens forfeited for desertion, etc.—All persons who deserted the military or naval service of the United States and did not return thereto or report themselves to a provost-marshal within sixty days after the issuance of the proclamation by the President, dated the 11th day of March, 1865, are deemed to have voluntarily relinquished and forfeited their rights of citizenship, as well as their right to become citizens; and such deserters shall be forever incapable of holding any office of trust or profit under the United States, or of exercising any rights of citizens thereof.

Sec. 1997. Certain soldiers and sailors not to incur the forfeitures of the last section.—No soldier or sailor, however, who faithfully served according to his enlistment until the 19th day of April, 1865, and who, without proper authority or leave first obtained, quit his command or refused to serve after that date, shall be held to be a deserter from the Army or Navy; but this section shall be construed solely as a removal of any disability such soldier or sailor may have incurred, under the preceding section, by the loss of citizenship and of the right to hold office, in consequence of his desertion.

Sec. 1998. Avoiding the draft.—Every person who hereafter deserts the military or naval service of the United States, or who, being duly enrolled, departs the jurisdiction of the district in which he is enrolled, or goes beyond the limits of the United States, with intent to avoid any draft into the military or naval service, lawfully ordered, shall be liable to all the penalties and forfeitures of section nineteen hundred and ninety-six.

Sec. 1999. Right of expatriation declared.—Whereas the right of expatriation is a natural and inherent right of all people, indispensable to the enjoyment of the rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness; and whereas in the recognition of this principle this Government has freely received emigrants from all nations, and invested them with the rights of citizenship; and whereas it is claimed that such American citizens, with their descendants, are subjects of foreign states, owing allegiance to the governments thereof; and whereas it is necessary to the maintenance of public peace that this claim of foreign allegiance should be promptly and finally disavowed: Therefore any declaration, instruction, opinion, order, or decision of any officer of the United States which denies, restricts, impairs, or questions the right of expatriation, is declared inconsistent with the fundamental principles of the Republic.

Sec. 2000. Protection to naturalized citizens in foreign states.—All naturalized citizens of the United States, while in foreign countries, are entitled to and shall receive from this Government the same protection of persons and property which is accorded to native-born citizens.

Provisions for naturalization of aliens are contained in Title XXX. "Naturalization."

Sec. 2001. Release of citizens imprisoned by foreign governments to be demanded.—Whenever it is made known to the President that any citizen of the United States has been unjustly deprived of his liberty by or under the authority of any foreign government, it shall be the duty of the President forthwith to demand of that government the reasons of such imprisonment; and if it appears to be wrongful and in violation of the rights of American citizenship, the President shall forthwith demand the release of such citizen, and if the release so demanded is unreasonably delayed or refused, the President shall use such means, not amounting to acts of war, as he may think necessary and proper to obtain or effectuate the release; and all the facts and proceedings relative thereto shall as soon as practicable be communicated by the President to Congress.

V. LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES CONCERNING NATURALIZATION

(Being Title XXX of the Revised Statutes of the United States, as Amended and Added to.)

R. S. Sec. 2165.

This section is expressly repealed by Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 26, set forth below, and different provisions relating to the same subject are made by other sections of that act, also set forth below.

Act Feb. 1, 1876, c. 5.

This act has become inoperative by the repeal of Rev. St. § 2165, mentioned therein, by Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 26, set forth below.

R. S. Sec. 2166. Aliens honorably discharged from military service.

Any alien of the age of twenty-one years and upwards, who has enlisted or may enlist, in the armies of the United States, either the regular or the volunteer forces, and has been, or may be hereafter, honorably discharged, shall be admitted to become a citizen of the United States, upon his petition, without any previous declaration of his intention to become such; and he shall not be required to prove more than one year's residence within the United States previous to his application to become such citizen; and the court admitting such alien shall in addition to such proof of residence and good moral character as now provided by law, be satisfied by competent proof of such person's having been honorably discharged from the service of the United States. (Act July 17, 1862, c. 200, § 21, 12 Stat. 597.)

Act July 26, 1894, c. 165. Aliens honorably discharged from service in Navy or Marine Corps.

* * * Any alien of the age of twenty-one years and upwards who has enlisted or may enlist in the United States Navy or Marine Corps, and has served or may hereafter serve five consecutive years in the United States Navy or one enlistment in the United States Marine Corps, and has been or may hereafter be honorably discharged, shall be admitted to become a citizen of the United States upon his petition, without any previous declaration of his intention to become such; and the court admitting such alien shall, in addition to proof of good moral character, be satisfied by competent proof of such person's service in and honorable discharge from the United States Navy or Marine Corps: * * * (Act July 26, 1894, c. 165, 28 Stat. 124.)

This is a provision of the naval appropriation act for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1895, cited above.

V. NATURALIZATION LAWS

R. S. Secs. 2167, 2168.
These sections are expressly repealed by Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 26, set forth below, and different provisions relating to the same subjects are made by other sections of that act, also set forth below.

R. S. Sec. 2169. Aliens of African nativity and descent.
The provisions of this title shall apply to aliens, being free white persons, and to aliens of African nativity and to persons of African descent. (Act July 14, 1870, c. 254, § 7, 16 Stat. 256; Feb. 18, 1875, c. 59, 18 Stat. 318.)
This section is amended by Act Feb. 18, 1875, c. 59, cited above, by inserting after the words "The provisions of this Title shall apply to aliens" the words "being free white persons, and to aliens," as set forth here.

Act May 6, 1882, c. 126, § 14. Chinese not to be naturalized.
That hereafter no state court or court of the United States shall admit Chinese to citizenship; and all laws in conflict with this act are hereby repealed. (Act May 6, 1882, c. 126, § 14, 22 Stat. 61.)

R. S. Sec. 2170. Residence of five years in United States.
No alien shall be admitted to become a citizen, who has not for the continued term of five years next preceding his admission, resided within the United States. (Act March 3, 1813, c. 42, § 1, 2 Stat. 811.)

R. S. Sec. 2171. Alien enemies not admitted.
No alien who is a native citizen or subject, or a denizen of any country, state or sovereignty with which the United States are at war, at the time of his application, shall be then admitted to become a citizen of the United States; but persons resident within the United States, or the Territories thereof, on the eighteenth day of June, in the year one thousand eight hundred and twelve, who had before that day made a declaration, according to law, of their intention to become citizens of the United States, or who were on that day entitled to become citizens without making such declaration, may be admitted to become citizens thereof, notwithstanding they were alien enemies at the time and in the manner prescribed by the laws herebefore passed on that subject; nor shall anything herein contained be taken or construed to interfere with or prevent the apprehension and removal, agreeably to law, of any alien enemy at any time previous to the actual naturalization of such alien. (Act April 14, 1802, c. 28, § 1, 2 Stat. 153; July 30, 1813, c. 36, 3 Stat. 53.)

R. S. Sec. 2172. Children of persons naturalized under certain laws to be citizens.
The children of persons who have been duly naturalized under any law of the United States, or who, previous to the passing of any law on that subject, by the Government of the United States, may have become citizens of any one of the States, under the laws thereof, being under the age of twenty-one years at the time of the naturalization of their parents, shall, if dwelling in the United States, be considered as citizens thereof; and the children of persons who now are, or have been, citizens of the United States, shall, though born out of the limits and jurisdiction of the United States, be considered as citizens thereof; but no person herebefore proscribed by any State, or who has been legally convicted of having joined the army of Great Britain during the Revolutionary War, shall be admitted to become a citizen, without the consent of the Legislature of the State in which such person was proscribed. (Act April 14, 1802, c. 28, § 2, 2 Stat. 155.)

R. S. Sec. 2173.
This section is expressly repealed by Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 26, set forth below. The courts on which jurisdiction to naturalize aliens is conferred are specified in section 3 of that act, also set forth below.

R. S. Sec. 2174. Naturalization of seamen.
Every seaman, being a foreigner, who declares his intention of becoming a citizen of the United States in any competent court, and shall have served three years on board of a merchant-vessel of the United States subsequent to the date of such declaration, may, on his application to any competent court, and the production of his certificate of discharge and good conduct during that time, together with the certificate of his declaration of intention to become a citizen, be admitted a citizen of the United States; and every seaman, being a foreigner, shall, after his declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States, and after he shall have served such three years, be deemed a citizen of the United States for the purpose of Manning and serving on board any merchant-vessel of the United States, anything to the contrary in any Act of Congress notwithstanding; but such seaman...
V. NATURALIZATION LAWS

shall, for all purposes of protection as an American citizen, be deemed such, after the filing of his declaration of intention to become such citizen. (Act June 7, 1872, c. 322, § 29, 17 Stat. 268.)

Sec. 3. Exclusive jurisdiction to naturalize aliens confined on courts specified; jurisdiction restricted to residents within judicial district; blank forms to be furnished; numbering and printing of certificates of naturalization.

That exclusive jurisdiction to naturalize aliens as citizens of the United States is hereby conferred upon the following specified courts:

United States circuit and district courts now existing, or which may hereafter be established by Congress in any State, United States district courts for the Territories of Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Hawaii, and Alaska, the supreme court of the District of Columbia, and the United States courts for the Indian Territory; also all courts of record in any State or Territory now existing, or which may hereafter be created, having a seal, a clerk, and jurisdiction in actions at law or equity, or law and equity, in which the amount in controversy is unlimited.

That the naturalization jurisdiction of all courts herein specified, State, Territorial and Federal, shall extend only to aliens resident within the respective judicial districts of such courts.

The courts herein specified shall, upon the requisition of the clerks of such courts, be furnished from time to time by the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization with such blank forms as may be required in the naturalization of aliens, and all certificates of naturalization shall be consecutively numbered and printed on safety paper furnished by said Bureau. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 3, 34 Stat. 590.)

Section 1 of this act changes the designation of the Bureau of Immigration in the Department of Commerce and Labor, to "Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization," and gives it charge of all matters concerning naturalization of aliens, and provides for registry of alien immigrants. Section 2 provides for furnishing offices, etc., and for additional assistants, clerks, and other employees for the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization, for the discharge of the duties imposed upon it by this act.

Sec. 4. Proceedings for naturalization.

That an alien may be admitted to become a citizen of the United States in the following manner and not otherwise:

Declaration of intention; requisites and contents; prior declarations.

First. He shall declare on oath before the clerk of any court authorized by this Act to naturalize aliens, or his authorized deputy, in the district in which such alien resides, two years at least prior to his admission, and after he has reached the age of eighteen years, that it is bona fide his intention to become a citizen of the United States, and to renounce forever all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty, and particularly, by name, to the prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty of which the alien may be at the time a citizen or subject. And such declaration shall set forth the name, age, occupation, personal description, place of birth, last foreign residence and allegiance, the date of arrival, the name of the vessel, if any, in which he came to the United States, and the present place of residence in the United States of said alien: Provided, however, That no alien who, in conformity with the law in force at the date of his declaration, has declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States shall be required to renew such declaration.

Petition for admission to citizenship; requisites and contents; verification by witnesses; filing certificate of arrival in United States and declaration of intention.

Second. Not less than two years nor more than seven years after he has made such declaration of intention he shall make and file, in duplicate, a petition in writing, signed by the applicant in his own handwriting and duly verified, in which petition such applicant shall state his full name, his place of residence (by street and number, if possible), his occupation, and, if possible, the date and place of his birth; the place from which he emigrated, and the date and place of his arrival in the United States, and, if he entered through a port, the name of the vessel on which he arrived; the time when and the place and name of the court where he declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States; if he is married he shall state the name of his wife and, if possible, the country of her nativity and her place of residence at the time of filing his petition; and if he has children, the name, date, and place of birth and place of residence of each child living at the time of the filing of his petition: Provided, That if he has filed his declaration before the passage of this Act he shall not be required to sign the petition in his own handwriting.

Provided further, That any person belonging to the class of persons authorized and qualified under existing law to become a citizen of the United States who has resided constantly in the United States during a period of five years next preceding May first, nineteen hundred and ten, who, because of misinformation in regard to his citizenship or the requirements of the law governing the naturalization of citizens has labored and acted under the impression that he was or could become a citizen of the United States and has in good faith exercised the rights or duties of a citizen or intended citizen of the United States because of such wrongful information and belief may, upon making a showing of such facts satisfactory to a court having jurisdiction to issue papers of naturalization to an alien, and the court in its judgment believes that such person has been for a period of more than five years entitled upon proper proceedings to be naturalized as a citizen of the United States, receive from the said court a final certificate of naturalization, and said court may issue such certificate without requiring proof of former declaration by or on the part of such person of their intention to become a citizen of the United States, but such applicant for naturalization shall comply in all other respects with the law relative to the issuance of final papers of naturalization to aliens.

The petition shall set forth that he is not a disbeliever in or opposed to organized government, or a member of or affiliated with any organization or body of persons teaching disbelief in or opposed to organized government, a polygamist or believer in the practice of polygamy, and that it is his intention to become a citizen of the United States and to renounce absolutely and forever all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty, and particularly by name to the prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty of which he at the time of filing of his petition may be a citizen or subject, and that it is his intention to reside permanently within the United States, and whether or not he has been denied admission as a citizen of the United States, and, if denied, the ground or grounds of such denial, the court or courts in which such decision was rendered, and that the cause for such denial has since been cured or removed, and every fact material to his naturalization and required to be proved upon the final hearing of his application.

The petition shall also be verified by the affidavits of at least two credible witnesses, who are citizens of the United States, and who shall state in their affidavits that they have personally known the applicant to be a resident of the United States for a period of at least five years continuously, and of the State, Territory, or district in which the application is made for a period of at least one year immediately preceding the date of the filing of his petition, and that they each have personal knowledge that the petitioner is a person of good moral character, and that he is in every way qualified, in their opinion, to be admitted as a citizen of the United States.

At the time of filing his petition there shall be filed with the clerk of the court a certificate from the Department of Commerce and Labor, if the petitioner arrives in the United States after the passage of this Act, stating the date, place, and manner of his arrival in the United States, and the declaration of intention of such petitioner, which certificate and declaration shall be attached to and made a part of said petition.

Declaration on oath in open court to support Constitution and laws of United States, and renunciation of other allegiance.

Third. He shall, before he is admitted to citizenship, declare on oath in open court that he will support the Constitution of the United States, and that he absolutely and entirely renounces and abjures all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty, and particularly by name to the prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty of which he was before a citizen or subject; that he will support and defend the Constitution and laws of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic, and bear true faith and allegiance to the same.

Evidence of residence, character, etc.; witnesses.

Fourth. It shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the court admitting any alien to citizenship that immediately preceding the date of his application he has resided continuously within the United States five years at least, and within the State or Territory where such court is at the time held one year at least, and that during that time he has behaved as a man of good moral character, attached to the principles of the Constitution of the United States, and well disposed to the good order and happiness of the same. In addition to the oath of the applicant, the testimony of at least two witnesses, citizens of the United States, as to the facts of residence, moral character, and attachment to the principles of the Constitution shall be required, and the name, place of residence, and occupation of each witness shall be set forth in the record.

Renunciation of hereditary title, order of nobility, etc.

Fifth. In case the alien applying to be admitted to citizenship has borne any hereditary title, or has been of any of the orders of nobility in the kingdom or state from which he came, he shall, in addition to the above requisites, make an express renunciation of his title or order of nobility in the court to which his application is made, and his renunciation shall be recorded in the court.

Naturalization of widows and minor children of aliens dying after declaration of intention before being actually naturalized.

Sixth. When any alien who has declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States dies before he is actually naturalized, the widow and minor children of such alien may, by complying with the other provisions of this Act, be naturalized without making any declaration of intention. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 4, 34 Stat. 596; June 25, 1910, c. 401, § 3, 36 Stat. 830.)

The amendment of this section by Act June 25, 1910, c. 401, § 3, cited above, consists in the addition to subdivision second thereof, after the proviso "That if he has filed his declaration before the passage of this act he shall not be required to sign the petition in his own handwriting," of the further proviso inserted in said subdivision second as set forth here:

Previous provisions relating to the same subject as those of this section were contained in Rev. St. §§ 2165, 2167, 2168, repealed by section 26 of this act, set forth below.

Declaration of Renunciation. Of petition for naturalization, and of affidavit of witnesses, required by this section, and of the certificate of citizenship to be issued thereon and the stub of such certificate, are prescribed by section 27 of this act, set forth below.

The mode of proof of residence required, in the petition and at the hearing thereon, is prescribed by section 10 of this act, set forth below.

When an alien, after declaration of intention, becomes insane before he is actually naturalized, and his wife thereafter makes a homestead entry under the land laws, she and their minor children may be naturalized without making declaration of intention, by Act Feb. 24, 1911, c. 151, set forth below.

The issue of passports to persons who have made declaration of intention to become citizens, and who have resided in the United States three years, is authorized by Act March 2, 1907, c. 2534, § 1.

Sec. 5. Notice of filing of petition, hearing thereon, etc.; subpoenas for witnesses.

That the clerk of the court shall, immediately after filing the petition, give notice thereof by posting in a public and conspicuous place in his office, or in the building in which his office is situated, under an appropriate heading, the name, nativity, and residence of the alien, the date and place of his arrival in the United States, and the date, as nearly as may be, for the final hearing of his petition, and the names of the witnesses whom the applicant expects to summon in his behalf; and the clerk shall, if the applicant requests it, issue a subpoena for the witnesses so named by the said applicant to appear upon the day set for the final hearing, but in case such witnesses can not be produced upon the final hearing other witnesses may be summoned. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 5, 34 Stat. 598.)

Sec. 6. Time for filing petition and for final action thereon; change of name of alien on his naturalization.

That petitions for naturalization may be made and filed during term time or vacation of the court and shall be docketed the same day as filed, but final action thereon shall be had only on stated days, to be fixed by rule of the court, and in no case shall final action be had upon a petition until at least ninety days have elapsed after filing and posting the notice of such petition: Provided, That no person shall be naturalized nor shall any certificate of naturalization be issued by any court within thirty days preceding the holding of any general election within its territorial jurisdiction. It shall be lawful, at the time and as a part of the naturalization of any alien, for the court, in its discretion, upon the petition of such alien, to make a decree changing the name of said alien, and his certificate of naturalization shall be issued to him in accordance therewith. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 6, 34 Stat. 598.)

Sec. 7. Persons disbelieving or opposed to organized government, etc., or advocating, etc., the unlawful assaulting or killing of officers of government, or polygamists, not to be naturalized.

That no person who disbelieves in or who is opposed to organized government, or who is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining and teaching such disbeliefs in or opposition to organized government, or who advocates or teaches...

V. NATURALIZATION LAWS

the duty, necessity, or propriety of the unlawful assaulting or killing of any officer or officers, either of specific individuals or of officers generally, of the Government of the United States, or of any other organized government, because of his or their official character, or who is a polygamist, shall be naturalized or be made a citizen of the United States. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 7, 34 Stat. 538.)

Previous provisions similar to those of this section were contained in Act March 3, 1903, c. 1012, § 39, 32 Stat. 1222, repealed by section 26 of this act, set forth below.

Persons such as those described in and excluded from naturalization by this section, other than polygamists, are not to be permitted to enter the United States, and aiding or assisting any such person unlawfully to do so is punishable by Act Feb. 20, 1907, c. 1334, § 38.

Sec. 8. Persons who cannot speak English language not to be naturalized; physical inability; prior declarations of intention; aliens making homestead entries on public lands.

That no alien shall hereafter be naturalized or admitted as a citizen of the United States who cannot speak the English language. Provided, That this requirement shall not apply to aliens who are physically unable to comply therewith, if they are otherwise qualified to become citizens of the United States: And provided further, That the requirements of this section shall not apply to any alien who has prior to the passage of this Act declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States in conformity with the law in force at the date of making such declaration: Provided further, That the requirements of section eight shall not apply to aliens who shall hereafter declare their intention to become citizens and who shall make homestead entries upon the public lands of the United States and comply in all respects with the laws providing for homestead entries on such lands. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 8, 34 Stat. 599.)

Sec. 9. Final hearing on petition in open court; record of final order; examination of applicant and witnesses.

That every final hearing upon such petition shall be had in open court before a judge or judges thereof, and every final order which may be made upon such petition shall be under the hand of the court and entered in full upon a record kept for that purpose, and upon such final hearing of such petition the applicant and witnesses shall be examined under oath before the court and in the presence of the court. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 9, 34 Stat. 599.)

Sec. 10. Evidence of residence in petition and at hearing.

That in case the petitioner has not resided in the State, Territory, or district for a period of five years continuously and immediately preceding the filing of his petition he may establish by two witnesses, both in his petition and at the hearing, the time of his residence within the State, provided that it has been for more than one year, and the remaining portion of his five years' residence within the United States required by law to be established may be proved by the depositions of two or more witnesses who are citizens of the United States, upon notice to the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization and the United States attorney for the district in which said witnesses may reside. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 10, 34 Stat. 599.)

Sec. 11. Appearance by United States and proceedings in opposition to granting of petition.

That the United States shall have the right to appear before any court or courts exercising jurisdiction in naturalization proceedings for the purpose of cross-exam­ining the petitioner and the witnesses produced in support of his petition concerning any matter touching or in any way affecting his right to admission to citizen­ship, and shall have the right to call witnesses, produce evidence, and be heard in opposition to the granting of any petition in naturalization proceedings. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 11, 34 Stat. 599.)

Sec. 12. Duties of clerks of courts; duplicates, etc., of declarations, certificates, petitions, etc.; penalty for failure to comply with provisions; responsibility for blank certificates of citizenship.

That it is hereby made the duty of the clerk of the court and every court exercising jurisdiction in naturalization matters under the provisions of this Act to keep and file a duplicate of each declaration of Intention made before him and to send to the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization at Washington, within thirty days after the issuance of a certificate of citizenship, a duplicate of such certificate, and to make and keep on file in his office a stub for each certificate so issued by him, wherein shall be entered a memorandum of all the essential facts set forth in such certificate. It shall also be the duty of the clerk of each of said courts to report to the said Bureau, within thirty days after the final hearing and decision of the court, the name of each and every alien who shall be denied naturalization, and to furnish to said Bureau duplicates of all petitions within thirty days after the filing of the same, and certified copies of such other proceedings and orders instituted in or issued out of said court affecting or relating to the naturalization of aliens as may be required from time to time by the said Bureau.
V. NATURALIZATION LAWS

In case any such clerk or officer acting under his direction shall refuse or neglect to comply with any of the foregoing provisions he shall forfeit and pay to the United States the sum of twenty-five dollars in each and every case in which such violation or omission occurs, and the amount of such forfeiture may be recovered by the United States in an action of debt against such clerk.

Clerks of courts having and exercising jurisdiction in naturalization matters shall be responsible for all blank certificates of citizenship received by them from time to time from the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization, and shall account for the same to the said Bureau whenever required so to do by such Bureau.
No certificate of citizenship received by any such clerk which may be defaced or injured in such manner as to prevent its use as herein provided shall in any case be destroyed, but such certificate shall be returned to the said Bureau; and in case any such clerk shall fail to return or properly account for any certificate furnished by the said Bureau, as herein provided, he shall be liable to the United States in the sum of fifty dollars, to be recovered in an action of debt, for each and every certificate not properly accounted for or returned. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 12, 34 Stat. 599.)

Possession of blank certificates of citizenship with intent unlawfully to use the same is punishable, under section 19 of this act, set forth below.

Sec. 13. Fees of clerks of courts; disposition of fees collected; deposit by petitioner for expenses and fees of witnesses; compensation from fees for additional clerical force required.

That the clerk of each and every court exercising jurisdiction in naturalization cases shall charge, collect, and account for the following fees in each proceeding:
For receiving and filing a declaration of intention and issuing a duplicate thereof, one dollar.

For making, filing, and docketing the petition of an alien for admission as a citizen of the United States and for the final hearing thereon, two dollars; and for entering the final order and the issuance of the certificate of citizenship thereunder, if granted, two dollars.

The clerk of any court collecting such fees is hereby authorized to retain one-half of the fees collected by him in such naturalization proceeding; the remaining one-half of the naturalization fees in each case collected by such clerks, respectively, shall be accounted for in their quarterly accounts, which they are hereby required to render the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization, and paid over to such Bureau within thirty days from the close of each quarter in each and every fiscal year, and the moneys so received shall be paid over to the disbursing clerk of the Department of Commerce and Labor, who shall thereupon deposit them in the Treasury of the United States, rendering an account therefor quarterly to the Auditor for the State and other Departments, and the said disbursing clerk shall be held responsible under his bond for said fees so received.

In addition to the fees herein required, the petitioner shall, upon the filing of his petition to become a citizen of the United States, deposit with and pay to the clerk of the court a sum of money sufficient to cover the expenses of subpoenaing and paying the legal fees of any witnesses for whom he may request a subpoena, and upon the final discharge of such witnesses they shall receive, if they demand the same from the clerk, the customary and usual witness fees from the moneys which the petitioner shall have paid to such clerk for such purpose, and the residue, if any, shall be returned by the clerk to the petitioner: Provided, That the clerks of courts exercising jurisdiction in naturalization proceedings shall be permitted to retain one-half of the fees in any fiscal year up to the sum of three thousand dollars, and that all fees received by such clerks in naturalization proceedings in excess of such amount shall be accounted for and paid over to said Bureau as in case of other fees to which the United States may be entitled under the provisions of this Act. The clerks of the various courts exercising jurisdiction in naturalization proceedings shall pay all additional clerical force that may be required in performing the duties imposed by this Act upon the clerks of courts from fees received by such clerks in naturalization proceedings. And in case the clerk of any court exercising naturalization jurisdiction collects fees in excess of the sum of six thousand dollars in any fiscal year the Secretary of Commerce and Labor may allow salaries, for naturalization purposes only, to pay for clerical assistance, to be selected and employed by that clerk, additional to the clerical force, for which clerks of courts are required by this section to pay from fees received by such clerks in naturalization proceedings, if in the opinion of said Secretary the naturalization business of such clerk warrants further additional assistance: Provided, That in no event shall the whole amount allowed the clerk of a court and his assistants exceed the one­half of the gross receipts of the office of said clerk from naturalization fees during such fiscal year: Provided further, That when, at the close of any fiscal year, the business of such clerk of court indicates in the opinion of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor that the naturalization fees for the succeeding fiscal year will exceed six thousand dollars the Secretary of Commerce and Labor may authorize the continuance of the allowance of salaries for the additional clerical assistance herein provided for and employed on the last day of the fiscal year until such time as the remittances indicate in the opinion of said Secretary that the fees for the then current fiscal year will not be sufficient to allow the additional clerical assistance authorized by this Act.

That payment for the additional clerical assistance herein authorized shall be in the manner and under such regulations as the Secretary of Commerce and Labor may prescribe. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 13, 34 Stat. 600; June 25, 1910, c. 401, § 1, 30 Stat. 829.)

The amendment of this section by Act June 25, 1910, c. 401, § 1, cited above, consists in striking out the last sentence of the section as originally enacted, which read as follows: “And in case the clerk of any court collects fees in excess of the sum of six thousand dollars in any one year, the Secretary of Commerce and Labor may allow to such clerk from the money which the United States shall receive additional compensation for the employment of additional clerical assistance, but for no other purpose, if in the opinion of the said Secretary the business of such clerk warrants such allowance,” and inserting in lieu thereof the provision beginning “And in case the clerk of any court exercising naturalization jurisdiction,” etc., to and including the two provisions following, to the end of the section as set forth here.

A provision of Act March 4, 1909, c. 339, § 1, 33 Stat. 983, limiting the compensation for additional clerical assistance and providing for regulation of expenditures therefor, is superseded by said amendment of this section.

Provisions for payment for such additional clerical assistance employed during the period from Sept. 27, 1906, to June 29, 1907, were contained in section 2 of said amendatory act, Act June 25, 1910, c. 401, § 2, 35 Stat. 830.

Any clerk or other officer willfully neglecting to account for moneys received by him for naturalization proceedings, or to pay over any balance thereof due, is to be deemed guilty of embezzlement, and punishable therefor, by section 20 of this act, set forth below.

The demand, etc., or receipt by a clerk, etc., of other or additional fees or moneys in naturalization proceedings save those specified herein is a misdemeanor and punishable under section 21 of this act, set forth below.

Sec. 14. Binding declaration of intention and petitions for naturalization as records of court; reference in certificate of naturalization to record of petition and stub of certificate.

That the declarations of intention and the petitions for naturalization shall be bound in chronological order in separate volumes, indexed, consecutively numbered, and made part of the records of the court. Each certificate of naturalization issued shall bear upon its face, in a place prepared therefor, the volume number and page number of the petition wherein such certificate was issued, and the volume number and page number of the stub of such certificate. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 14, 34 Stat. 601.)

Sec. 15. Cancellation of certificates fraudulently or illegally procured, or of certificates of persons taking permanent residence in foreign country; proceedings, order and judgment, records, etc.; certificates issued under prior laws.

That it shall be the duty of the United States district attorneys for the respective districts, upon affidavit showing good cause therefor, to institute proceedings in any court having jurisdiction to naturalize aliens in the judicial district in which the naturalized citizen may reside at the time of bringing the suit, for the purpose of setting aside and canceling the certificate of citizenship on the ground of fraud or on the ground that such certificate of citizenship was illegally procured. In any such proceedings the party holding the certificate of citizenship alleged to have been fraudulently or illegally procured shall have sixty days personal notice in which to make answer to the petition of the United States; and if the holder of such certificate be absent from the United States or from the district in which he last had his residence, such notice shall be given by publication in the manner provided for the service of summons by publication or upon absentees by the laws of the State or the place where such suit is brought.
If any alien who shall have secured a certificate of citizenship under the provisions of this Act shall, within five years after the issuance of such certificate, return to the country of his nativity, or go to any other foreign country, and take permanent residence therein, it shall be considered prima facie evidence of a lack of intention on the part of such alien to become a permanent citizen of the United States at the time of filing his application for citizenship, and, in the absence of countervailing evidence, it shall be sufficient in the proper proceeding to authorize the cancellation of his certificate of citizenship as fraudulent, and the diplomatic and consular officers of the United States in foreign countries shall from time to time, through the Department of State, furnish the Department of Justice with the names of those within their respective jurisdictions who have such certificates of citizenship and who have taken permanent residence in the country of their nativity, or in any other foreign country, and such statements, duly certified, shall be admissible in evidence in all courts in proceedings to cancel certificates of citizenship.

Whenever any certificate of citizenship shall be set aside or canceled, as herein provided, the court in which such judgment or decree is rendered shall make an order canceling such certificate of citizenship and shall send a certified copy of such order to the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization; and in case such certificate was not originally issued by the court making such order it shall direct the clerk of the court to transmit a copy of such order and judgment to the court out of which such certificate of citizenship shall have been originally issued. And it shall thereupon be the duty of the clerk of the court receiving such certified copy of the order and judgment of the court to enter the same of record and to cancel such original certificate of citizenship upon the records and to notify the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization of such cancellation.

The provisions of this section shall apply not only to certificates of citizenship issued under the provisions of this Act, but to all certificates of citizenship which may have been issued heretofore by any court exercising jurisdiction in naturalization proceedings under prior laws. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 15, 34 Stat. 601.)

On conviction of any person of knowingly procuring naturalization in violation of the provisions of this act, the order admitting such person to citizenship is to be adjudged void, by section 23 of this act, set forth below.

A naturalized citizen who resides for two years in the foreign state from which he came, or for five years in any other foreign state, is to be presumed to have ceased to be an American citizen, by Act March 2, 1907, c. 2534, § 2.

These sections, which made punishable forging, etc., certificates of citizenship, and engraving, etc., plates for counterfeiting such certificates, and other offenses in connection therewith, are incorporated in the act to codify, etc., the penal laws, Act March 4, 1909, c. 321, in chapter 4, §§ 74, 75, thereof, and are expressly repealed by chapter 15, § 341, of said act, taking effect January 1, 1918. These sections are set forth below, immediately following this act.

Sec. 18. Issuance of certificate of citizenship contrary to provisions of act; a felony; punishment.

That it is hereby made a felony for any clerk or other person to issue or be a party to the issuance of a certificate of citizenship contrary to the provisions of this Act, except upon a final order under the hand of a court having jurisdiction to make such order, and upon conviction thereof such clerk or other person shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than five years and by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, in the discretion of the court. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 18, 34 Stat. 602.)

This section, which made punishable the having possession of any blank certificate of citizenship with intent unlawfully to use the same, is incorporated in the act to codify, etc., the penal laws, Act March 4, 1909, c. 321, in chapter 4, § 77, thereof, and is expressly repealed by chapter 15, § 341, of said act, taking effect January 1, 1918.

Sec. 20. Neglect of clerk or other officer to account for or pay over balance of moneys received for naturalization proceedings, embezzlement; punishment.

That any clerk or other officer of a court having power under this Act to naturalize aliens, who willfully neglects to render true accounts of moneys received by him for naturalization proceedings or who willfully neglects to pay over any balance of such moneys due to the United States within thirty days after said payment shall become due and demand therefor has been made and refused, shall be deemed guilty of embezzlement of the public moneys, and shall be punishable by imprisonment...

ment for not more than five years, or by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, or both. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 20, 34 Stat. 602.)

Sec. 21. Demand, etc., or receipt by clerk, etc., of fees or moneys other than those specified in act, a misdemeanor; punishment.

That it shall be unlawful for any clerk of any court or his authorized deputy or assistant exercising jurisdiction in naturalization proceedings, or to demand, charge, collect, or receive any other or additional fees or moneys in naturalization proceedings save the fees and moneys herein specified; and a violation of any of the provisions of this section or any part thereof is hereby declared to be a misdemeanor and shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than two years, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 21, 34 Stat. 602.)

Sec. 22. False certification by clerk, etc., of appearance, oath, acknowledgment, etc., punishable.

That the clerk of any court exercising jurisdiction in naturalization proceedings, or any person acting under authority of this Act, who shall knowingly certify that a petitioner, affiant, or witness named in an affidavit, petition, or certificate of citizenship, or other paper or writing required to be executed under the provisions of this Act, personally appeared before him and was sworn thereto, or acknowledged the execution thereof or signed the same, when in fact such petitioner, affiant, or witness did not personally appear before him, or was not sworn thereto, or did not execute the same, or did not acknowledge the execution thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or by imprisonment not to exceed five years. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 22, 34 Stat. 603.)

Sec. 23. Procuring naturalization illegally punishable, and on conviction thereof, order admitting to citizenship to be adjudged void; aiding, etc., unauthorized proceedings for naturalization, or procuring or giving false testimony, etc., therein punishable.

That any person who knowingly procures naturalization in violation of the provisions of this Act shall be fined not more than five thousand dollars, or shall be imprisoned not more than five years, or both, and upon conviction the court in which such conviction is had shall thereupon adjudge and declare the final order admitting such person to citizenship void. Jurisdiction is hereby conferred on the courts having jurisdiction of the trial of such offense to make such adjudication. Any person who knowingly aids, advises, or encourages any person not entitled thereto to apply for or to secure naturalization, or to file the preliminary papers declaring an intent to become a citizen of the United States, or who in any naturalization proceeding knowingly procures or gives false testimony as to any material fact, or who knowingly makes an affidavit false as to any material fact required to be proved in such proceeding, shall be fined not more than five thousand dollars, or imprisoned not more than five years, or both. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 23, 34 Stat. 603.)

Sec. 24. Limitation of prosecutions for crimes arising under provisions of act.

That no person shall be prosecuted, tried, or punished for any crime arising under the provisions of this Act unless the indictment is found or the information is filed within five years next after the commission of such crime. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 24, 34 Stat. 603.)

Sec. 25. Prosecution of prior offenses under previously existing naturalization laws.

That for the purpose of the prosecution of all crimes and offenses against the naturalization laws of the United States which may have been committed prior to the date when this Act shall go into effect, the existing naturalization law shall remain in full force and effect. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 25, 34 Stat. 603.)

Sec. 26. Repeal.

That sections twenty-one hundred and sixty-five, twenty-one hundred and sixty-seven, twenty-one hundred and sixty-eight, twenty-one hundred and seventy-three, of the Revised Statutes of the United States of America, and section thirty-nine of chapter one thousand and twelve of the Statutes at Large of the United States of America for the year nineteen hundred and three, and all Acts or parts of Acts inconsistent with or repugnant to the provisions of this Act are hereby repealed. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 26, 34 Stat. 603.)
Sec. 27. Forms; declaration of intention; petition for naturalization; affidavit of witnesses; certificate of naturalization; stub of certificate.

That substantially the following forms shall be used in the proceedings to which they relate:

Sec. 28. Regulations for execution of provisions of act; certified copies of papers, etc., and records required under act, as evidence.

That the Secretary of Commerce and Labor shall have power to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary for properly carrying into execution the various provisions of this Act. Certified copies of all papers, documents, certificates, and records required to be used, filed, recorded, or kept under any and all of the provisions of this Act shall be admitted in evidence equally with the originals in any and all proceedings under this Act and in all cases in which the originals thereof might be admissible as evidence. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 28, 34 Stat. 606.)

Sec. 29. Appropriation to carry into effect provisions of act.

That for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this Act there is hereby appropriated the sum of one hundred thousand dollars, out of any moneys in the Treasury of the United States not otherwise appropriated, which appropriation shall be in full for the objects hereby expressed until June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seven; and the provisions of section thirty-six hundred and seventy-nine of the Revised Statutes of the United States shall not be applicable in any way to this appropriation. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 29, 34 Stat. 606.)

Sec. 30. Naturalization of persons not citizens who owe permanent allegiance to United States.

That all the applicable provisions of the naturalization laws of the United States shall apply to and be held to authorize the admission to citizenship of all persons not citizens who owe permanent allegiance to the United States, and who may become residents of any State or organized Territory of the United States, with the following modifications: The applicant shall not be required to renounce allegiance to any foreign sovereignty; he shall make his declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States at least two years prior to his admission; and residence within the jurisdiction of the United States, owing such permanent allegiance, shall be regarded as residence within the United States within the meaning of the five years' residence clause of the existing law. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 30, 34 Stat. 606.)

Rev. St. § 170, forbids naturalization of an alien "who has not for the continued term of five years next preceding his admission resided within the United States."

Sec. 31. Time of taking effect of act.

That this Act shall take effect and be in force from and after ninety days from the date of its passage: Provided, That sections one, two, twenty-eight, and twenty-nine shall go into effect from and after the passage of this Act. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 31, 34 Stat. 607.)

ACT MARCH 4, 1909, c. 321. [S. 2982.]

Sec. 74. Forging, etc., certificates of citizenship; punishment for.

Whoever shall falsely make, forge, or counterfeit, or cause or procure to be falsely made, forged, or counterfeited, or shall knowingly aid or assist in falsely making, forging, or counterfeiting any certificate of citizenship, with intent to use the same, or with the intent that the same may be used by some other person, shall be fined not more than ten thousand dollars, or imprisoned not more than ten years, or both. (Act March 4, 1909, c. 321, § 74, 35 Stat. 1102.)

Explanatory.—This section, and the seven sections next following, are a part of Act March 4, 1909, c. 321, constituting the Criminal Code of the United States.

Sec. 75. Engraving, etc., counterfeit plates for citizenship certificates; printing, etc.; distinctive paper; punishment for.

Whoever shall engrave, or cause or procure to be engraved, or assist in engraving, any plate in the likeness of any plate designed for the printing of a certificate of citizenship; or whoever shall sell any such plate, or shall bring into the United States from any foreign place any such plate, except under the direction of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor or other proper officer; or whoever shall have in his control, custody, or possession any metallic plate engraved after the similitude of any plate from which any such certificate has been printed, with intent to use or to suffer such plate to be used in forging or counterfeiting any such certificate or any part thereof; or whoever shall print, photograph, or in any manner cause to be printed, photographed, made, or executed, any print or impression in the likeness of any such certificate, or any part thereof; or whoever shall sell any such certificate, or shall bring the same into the United States from any foreign place, except by direction of some proper officer of the United States; or whoever shall have in his possession a distinctive paper which has been adopted by the proper officer of the United States for the printing of such certificate, with intent unlawfully to use the same, shall be fined not more than ten thousand dollars, or imprisoned not more than ten years, or both. (Act March 4, 1909, c. 321, § 75, 35 Stat. 1102.)

Sec. 76. False personation, etc., in procuring naturalization; punishment for.

Whoever, when applying to be admitted a citizen, or when appearing as a witness for any such person, shall knowingly personate any person other than himself, or shall falsely appear in the name of a deceased person, or in an assumed or fictitious name; or whoever shall falsely make, forge, or counterfeit any oath, notice, affidavit, certificate, order, record, signature, or other instrument, paper, or proceeding required or authorized by any law relating to or providing for the naturalization of aliens; or whoever shall utter, sell, dispose of, or shall use as true or genuine, for any unlawful purpose, any false, forged, antedated, or counterfeit oath, notice, certificate, order, record, signature, instrument, paper, or proceeding above specified; or whoever shall sell or dispose of to any person other than the person for whom it was originally issued any certificate of citizenship or certificate showing any person to be admitted a citizen, shall be fined not more than one thousand dollars, or imprisoned not more than five years, or both. (Act March 4, 1909, c. 321, § 76, 35 Stat. 1102.)

Sec. 77. Using false certificate of citizenship; citizenship blanks; denying citizenship; punishment for.

Whoever shall use or attempt to use, or shall aid, assist, or participate in the use of any certificate of citizenship, knowing the same to be forged, counterfeit, or antedated, or knowing the same to have been procured by fraud or otherwise unlawfully obtained; or whoever, without lawful excuse, shall knowingly possess any false, forged, antedated, or counterfeit certificate of citizenship purporting to have been issued under any law of the United States relating to naturalization, knowing such certificate to be false, forged, antedated, or counterfeit, with the intent unlawfully to use the same; or whoever shall obtain, accept, or receive any certificate of citizenship, knowing the same to have been procured by fraud or by the use or means of any false name or statement given or made with the intent to procure, or to aid in procuring, the issuance of such certificate, or knowing the same to have been fraudulently altered or antedated; or whoever, without lawful excuse, shall have in his possession any blank certificate of citizenship provided by the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization with the intent unlawfully to use the same; or whoever, after having been admitted to be a citizen, shall, on oath or by affidavit, knowingly deny that he has been so admitted, with the intent to evade or avoid any duty or liability imposed or required by law, shall be fined not more than one thousand dollars, or imprisoned not more than five years, or both. (Act March 4, 1909, c. 321, § 77, 35 Stat. 1102.)

Sec. 78. Attempting to vote, etc., on false certificate; punishment for.

Whoever shall in any manner use, for the purpose of registering as a voter, or as evidence of a right to vote, or otherwise unlawfully, any order, certificate of citizenship, or certificate, judgment, or exemplification, showing any person to be admitted to be a citizen, whether heretofore or hereafter issued or made, knowing that such order, certificate, judgment, or exemplification has been unlawfully issued or made; or whoever shall unlawfully use, or attempt to use, any such order or certificate, issued to or in the name of any other person, or in a fictitious name, or the name of a deceased person, shall be fined not more than one thousand dollars, or imprisoned not more than five years, or both. (Act March 4, 1909, c. 321, § 78, 35 Stat. 1103.)
Sec. 79. Falsey claiming citizenship; punishment for.

Whoever shall knowingly use any certificate of naturalization hereafter or which hereafter may be granted by any court, which has been or may be procured through fraud or by false evidence, or which has been or may hereafter be issued by the clerk or any other officer of the court without any appearance and hearing of the applicant in court and without lawful authority; or whoever, for any fraudulent purpose whatever, shall falsely represent himself to be a citizen of the United States without having been duly admitted to citizenship, shall be fined not more than one thousand dollars, or imprisoned not more than two years, or both. (Act March 4, 1909, c. 321, § 79, 35 Stat. 1103.)

Sec. 80. Falsey swearing in naturalization cases; punishment for.

Whoever, in any proceeding under or by virtue of any law relating to the naturalization of aliens, shall knowingly swear falsely in any case where an oath is made or affidavit taken, shall be fined not more than one thousand dollars and imprisoned not more than five years. (Act March 4, 1909, c. 321, § 80, 35 Stat. 1103.)

Sec. 81. Provisions applicable to all courts of naturalization.

The provisions of the five sections last preceding shall apply to all proceedings had or taken, or attempted to be had or taken, before any court in which any proceeding for naturalization may be commenced or attempted to be commenced, and whether such court was vested by law with jurisdiction in naturalization proceedings or not. (Act March 4, 1909, c. 321, § 81, 35 Stat. 1103.)

ACT JUNE 29, 1906, c. 3624. [H. R. 18713.]

Sec. 1. Naturalization certificates failing to show compliance with requirements of Act March 3, 1903, c. 1012, § 39, to be valid upon compliance therewith.

Be it enacted, &c., That naturalization certificates issued after the Act approved March third, nineteen hundred and three, entitled "An Act to regulate the immigration of aliens into the United States," went into effect, which fail to show that the courts issuing said certificates complied with the requirements of section thirty-nine of said Act, but which were otherwise lawfully issued, are hereby declared to be as valid as though said certificates complied with said section: Provided, That in all such cases applications shall be made for new naturalization certificates, and when the same are granted, upon compliance with the provisions of said Act of nineteen hundred and three, they shall relate back to the defective certificates, and citizenship shall be deemed to have been perfected at the date of the defective certificate. (Act June 29, 1906, c. 3624, § 1, 34 Stat. 630.)

Act March 5, 1903, c. 1012, § 39, mentioned in this section, was not to be enforced, by a provision contained therein, until 90 days after the approval of the Act. It is repealed by Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 26, set forth above. It was as follows: "Sec. 39. That no person who disbelieves in or who is opposed to all organized government, or who is a member of or of affiliated with any organization entertaining and teaching such disaffection to all organized government, or who advocates or teaches the duty, necessity, or propriety of the unlawful assaulting or killing of any officer or officers, either of specific individuals or of officers generally, of the Government of the United States or of any other organized government, because of his or their official character, or who has violated any of the provisions of this Act, shall be naturalized or be made a citizen of the United States. All courts and tribunals and all judges and officers thereof having jurisdiction of naturalization proceedings or duties to perform in regard thereto shall, on the final application for naturalization, make careful inquiry into such matters, and before issuing the final order or certificate of naturalization cause to be entered of record the affidavit of the applicant and of his witnesses so far as applicable, reciting and affirming the truth of every material fact requisite for naturalization. All final orders and certificates of naturalization hereafter made shall show on their face specifically that said affidavits were duly made and recorded, and all orders and certificates that fail to show such facts shall be null and void. That any person who purposely procures naturalization in violation of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than three thousand dollars, or be imprisoned not less than one nor more than ten years, or both, and the court in which such conviction is had shall thereupon adjudge and declare the order or decree and all certificates admitting such person to citizenship null and void. Jurisdiction is hereby conferred on the courts having jurisdiction of the trial of such offense to make such adjudication. That any person who knowingly aids, advises, or encourages any such person to apply for or to secure naturalization or to file the preliminary papers declaring an intent to become a citizen of the United States, or who in any naturalization proceeding knowingly procures or gives false testimony as to any material fact, or who knowingly makes an affidavit false as to any material fact required to be proved in such proceeding, shall be fined not more than five thousand dollars or imprisoned not less than one nor more than ten years, or both. The foregoing provisions concerning naturalization shall not be enforced until ninety days after the approval hereof." Section 2 of this act validates certain proceedings in the criminal court of Cook county, Ill.
V. NATURALIZATION LAWS

Sec. 1. Naturalization of wife making homestead entry and minor children of aliens becoming insane after declaration of intention before being actually naturalized.

Be it enacted, &c., That when any alien, who has declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, becomes insane before he is actually naturalized, and his wife shall thereafter make a homestead entry under the land laws of the United States, she and their minor children may, by complying with the other provisions of the naturalization laws be naturalized without making any declaration of intention. (Act Feb. 24, 1911, c. 151, 36 Stat. 929.)

A similar provision in case of death of an alien after declaration of intention is contained in Act June 29, 1906, c. 3592, § 4, subd. 6, set forth above.

VI. LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES RELATING TO REMOVAL OF CAUSES FROM STATE TO FEDERAL COURTS

(Being Chapter Three of the Federal Judicial Code.)

Sec. 28. Removal of suits from State to United States district courts.
—Any suit of a civil nature, at law or in equity, arising under the Constitution or laws of the United States, or treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority, of which the district courts of the United States are given original jurisdiction by this title, which may now be pending or which may hereafter be brought, in any State court, may be removed by the defendant or defendants therein to the district court of the United States for the proper district. Any other suit of a civil nature, at law or in equity, of which the district courts of the United States are given jurisdiction by this title, and which are now pending or which may hereafter be brought, in any State court, may be removed into the district court of the United States for the proper district by the defendant or defendants therein, being nonresidents of that State. And when in any suit mentioned in this section there shall be a controversy which is wholly between citizens of different States, and which can be fully determined as between them, then either one or more of the defendants actually interested in such controversy may remove said suit into the district court of the United States for the proper district. And where a suit is now pending, or may hereafter be brought, in any State court, in which there is a controversy between a citizen of the State in which the suit is brought and a citizen of another State, any defendant, bringing such citizen of another State, may remove such suit into the district court of the United States for the proper district, at any time before the trial thereof, when it shall be made to appear to said district court that from prejudice or local influence he will not be able to obtain justice in such State court, or in any other State court to which the said defendant may, under the laws of the State, have the right, on account of such prejudice or local influence, to remove said cause: Provided, That if it further appear that said suit can be fully and justly determined as to the other defendants in the State court, without being affected by such prejudice or local influence, and that no party to the suit will be prejudiced by a separation of the parties, said district court may direct the suit to be remanded, so far as relates to such other defendants, to the State court, to be proceeded with therein. At any time before the trial of any suit which is now pending in any district court, or may hereafter be entered therein, and which has been removed to said court from a State court on the affidavit of any party plaintiff that he had reason to believe and did believe that, from prejudice or local influence, he was unable to obtain justice in said State court, the district court shall, on application of the other party, examine into the truth of said affidavit and the grounds thereof, and, unless it shall appear to the satisfaction of said court that said party will not be able to obtain justice in said State court, it shall cause the same to be remanded thereto. Whenever any cause shall be removed from any State court into any district court of the United States, and the district court shall decide that the cause was improperly removed, and order the same to be remanded to the State court from whence it came, such remand shall be immediately carried into execution, and no appeal or writ of error from the decision of the district court so remanding such cause shall be allowed: Provided, That no case arising under an Act entitled "An Act relating to the liability of common carriers by railroad to their employees in certain cases," approved April twenty-second, nineteen hundred and eight, or any amendment thereto, and brought in any State court of competent jurisdiction shall be removed to any court of the United States.

Sec. 29. Procedure for removal.—Whenever any party entitled to remove any suit mentioned in the last preceding section, except suits removable on the ground of prejudice or local influence, may desire to remove such suit from a State court to the district court of the United States, he may make and file a petition, duly verified, in such suit in such State court at the time, or any time before the defendant is required by the laws of the State or the rule of the State court in which such suit is brought to answer or plead to the declaration or complaint of the plaintiff, for the removal of such suit into the district court to be held in the district where such suit is pending, and shall make and file therewith a bond, with good and sufficient surety, or his or their entering in such district court, within thirty days from the date of filing said petition, a certified copy of the record in such suit, and for paying all costs which may be awarded by the said district court if said district court shall hold that such suit was wrongfully or improperly removed thereto, and also for their appearing and entering special bail in such suit if special bail was originally requisite therein. It shall then be the duty of the State court to accept said petition and bond and proceed no further in such suit. Written notice of said petition and bond for removal shall be given the adverse party or parties prior to filing the same. The said copy being entered within said thirty days as aforesaid in said district court of the United States, the parties so removing the said cause shall, within thirty days thereafter, plead, answer, or demur to the declaration or complaint in said cause, and the cause shall then proceed in the same manner as if it had been originally commenced in the said district court.

Sec. 30. Suits under grants of land from different States.—If in any action commenced in a State court the title of land be concerned, and the parties are citizens of the same State and the matter in dispute exceeds the sum or value of three thousand dollars, exclusive of interest and costs, the sum or value being made to appear, one or more of the plaintiffs or defendants, before the trial, may state to the court, and make affidavit if the court require it, that he or they claim, and shall rely upon, a right or title to the land under a grant from a State, and produce the original grant, or an exemplification of it, except where the loss of public records shall put it out of his or their power, and shall move that any one or more of the adverse party inform the court whether he or they claim a right or title to the land under a grant from some other State, the party or parties so required shall give such information, or otherwise not be allowed to plead such grant or give it in evidence upon the trial. If he or they inform the court that he or they do claim under such grant, any one or more of the party moving for such information may then, on petition and bond, as heretofore mentioned in this chapter, remove the cause for trial to the district court of the United States next to be holden in such district: and any one of either party removing the cause shall not be allowed to plead or give evidence of any other title than that by him or them stated as aforesaid as the ground of his or their claim.

Sec. 31. Removal of causes against persons denied any civil rights, etc.—When any civil suit or criminal prosecution is commenced in any State court, for any cause whatsoever, against any person who is denied or can not enforce in the judicial tribunals of the State, or in the part of the State where such suit or prosecution is pending, any right secured to him by any law providing for the equal civil rights of citizens of the United States, or of all persons within the jurisdiction of the United States, or against any officer, civil or military, or other person, for any arrest or imprisonment or other trespasses or wrongs made or committed by virtue of or under color of authority derived from any law providing for equal rights as aforesaid, or for refusing to do any act on the ground that it would be inconsistent with such law, such suit or prosecution may, upon the petition of such defendant, filed in said State court at any time before the trial or final hearing of the cause, stating the facts and verified by oath, be removed for trial into the next district court to be held in the district where it is pending. Upon the filing of such petition all further proceedings in the State courts shall cease, and shall not be resumed except as hereinafter provided. But all bond and other security given in such suit or prosecution shall continue in like force and effect as if the same had proceeded to final judgment and execution in the State court. It shall be the duty of the clerk of the State court to furnish such defendant, petitioning for a removal, copies of said process against him, and of all pleadings, depositions, testimony, and other proceedings in the case. If such copies are filed by said petitioner in the district court on the first day of its session, the cause shall proceed therein in the same manner as if it had been brought there by original process; and if the said clerk refuses or neglects to furnish such copies, the petitioner may thereupon docket the case in the district court, and the said court shall then have jurisdiction therein, and may, upon proof of such refusal or neglect of said clerk, and upon reasonable notice to the plaintiff, require the plaintiff to file a declaration, petition, or complaint in the cause; and, in case of his default, may order a nonsuit, and dismiss the case at the costs of the plaintiff, and such dismissal shall be a bar to any further suit touching the matter in controversy. But if, without such refusal or neglect of said clerk to furnish such copies and proof thereof, the petitioner for removal fails to file copies in the district court, as herein provided, a certificate, under the seal of the district court, stating such failure, shall be given, and upon the production thereof in said State court the cause shall proceed therein as if no petition for removal had been filed.

Act March 3, 1911, c. 231, § 31, 26 St. 1906.
See Rev. St. § 641.

Sec. 32. When petitioner is in actual custody of State court.—When all the acts necessary for the removal of any suit or prosecution, as provided in the preceding section, have been performed, and the defendant petitioning for such removal is in actual custody on process issued by said State court, it shall be the duty of the clerk of said district court to issue a writ of habeas corpus cum causa, and of the marshal, by virtue of said writ, to take the body of the defendant into his custody, to be dealt with in said district court according to law and the orders of said court, or, in vacation, of any judge thereof; and the marshal shall file with or deliver to the clerk of said State court a duplicate copy of said writ.

Act March 3, 1911, c. 231, § 32, 26 St. 1097.
See Rev. St. § 642.

Sec. 33. Suits and prosecutions against revenue officers, etc.—When any civil suit or criminal prosecution is commenced in any court of a State against any officer appointed under or acting by authority of any revenue law of the United States now or hereafter enacted, or against any person acting under or by authority of any such officer, on account of any act done under color of his office or of any such law, or on account of any right, title, or authority claimed by such officer or other person under any such law; or is commenced against any person holding property or estate by title derived from any such officer, and affects the validity of any such revenue law; or when any suit is commenced against any person for an account of anything done by him while an officer of either House of Congress in the discharge of his official duty, in executing any order of such House, the said suit or prosecution may, at any time before the trial or final hearing thereof, be removed for trial into the district court next to be held in the district where the same is pending, upon the petition of such defendant to said district court, and in the following manner: Said petition shall set forth the nature of the suit or prosecution and be verified by affidavit, and, together with a certificate signed by an attorney or counselor at law of some court of record of the State where such suit or prosecution is commenced, or of the United States, stating that, as counsel for the petitioner, he has examined the proceedings against him and carefully inquired into all the matters set forth in the petition, and that he believes them to be true, shall be presented to the said district court, if in session, or if it be not, to the clerk thereof at his office, and shall be filed in said office. The cause shall thereupon be entered on the docket of the district court, and shall proceed as a cause originally commenced in that court; but all bail and other security given upon such suit or prosecution shall continue in like force and effect as if the same had proceeded to final judgment and execution in the State court. When the suit is commenced in the State court by summons, subpoena, petition, or other process except capias, the clerk of the district court shall issue a writ of certiorari to the State court, requiring it to send to the district court the record and proceedings in the cause. When it is commenced by capias or by any other similar form or proceeding by which a personal arrest is ordered, he shall issue a writ of habeas corpus cum causa, a duplicate of which shall be delivered to the clerk of the State court, or left at his office, by the marshal of the district or his deputy, or by some person duly authorized thereto; and thereupon it shall be the duty of the State court to stay all further proceedings in the cause, and the suit or prosecution, upon delivery of such process, or leaving the same as aforesaid, shall be held to be removed to the district court, and any further proceedings, trial, or judgment therein in the State court shall be void. If the defendant in the suit or prosecution be in actual custody on mesne process therein, it shall be the duty of the marshal, by virtue of the writ of habeas corpus cum causa, to take the body of the defendant into his custody, to be dealt with in the cause according to law and the order of the district court, or, in vacation, of any judge thereof; and if, upon the removal of such suit or prosecution, it is made to appear to the district court that no copy of the record and proceedings therein in the State court can be obtained, the district court may allow and require the plaintiff to proceed de novo and to file a declaration of his cause of action, and the parties may thereupon proceed as in actions originally brought in said district court. On failure of the plaintiff so to proceed, judgment of non prossequitur may be rendered against him, with costs for the defendant.

See Rev. St. § 644; Act March 3, 1875, c. 150, § 8, 18 Stat. 401; Act Feb. 8, 1894, c. 25, § 1, 28 Stat. 38.

Sec. 34. Removal of suits by aliens.—Whenever a personal action has been or shall be brought in any State court by an alien against any citizen of a State who is, or at the time the alleged action accrued was, a civil officer of the United States, being a non-resident of that State wherein jurisdiction is obtained by the State court, by personal service of process, such action may be removed into the district court of the United States in and for the district in which the defendant shall have been served with the process, in the same manner as now provided for the removal of an action brought in a State court by the provisions of the preceding section.

Act March 3, 1911, c. 231, § 34, 36 Stat. 1098.

See Rev. St. § 644.

Sec. 35. When copies of records are refused by clerk of State court.—In any case where a party is entitled to copies of the records and proceedings in any suit or prosecution in a State court, to be used in any court of the United States, if the clerk of said State court, upon demand, and the payment or tender of the legal fees, refuses or neglects to deliver to him certified copies of such records and proceedings, the court of the United States in which such records and proceedings are needed may, on proof by affidavit that the clerk of said State court has refused or neglected to deliver copies thereof, on demand as aforesaid, direct such records to be supplied by affidavit or otherwise, as the circumstances of the case may require and allow; and thereupon such proceeding, trial, and judgment may be had in the said court of the United States, and all such processes awarded, as if certified copies of such records and proceedings had been regularly before the said court.

See Rev. St. § 645.

Sec. 36. Previous attachment bonds, orders, etc., remain valid.—When any suit shall be removed from a State court to a district court of the United States, any attachment or sequestration of the goods or estate of the defendant had in such suit in the State court shall hold the goods or estate so attached or sequestered, to answer the final judgment or decree in the same manner as by law they would have been held to answer final judgment or decree had it been rendered by the court in which said suit was commenced. All bonds, undertakings, or security given by either party in such suit prior to its removal shall remain valid and effectual notwithstanding said removal; and all injunctions, orders, and other proceedings had in such suit prior to its removal shall remain in full force and effect until dissolved or modified by the court to which such suit shall be removed.

See Rev. St. § 645; Act March 3, 1875, c. 150, § 4.

Sec. 37. Suits improperly in district court may be dismissed or remanded.—If in any suit commenced in a district court, or removed from a State court to a district court of the United States, it shall appear to the satisfaction of the said district court, at any time after such suit has been brought or removed thereto, that such suit does not really and substantially involve a dispute or controversy properly within the jurisdiction of said district court, or that the parties to said suit have been improperly or collusively made or joined, either as plaintiffs or defendants, for the purpose of creating a case cognizable or removable under this chapter, the said district court shall proceed no further therein, but shall dismiss the suit or remand it to the court from which it was removed, as justice may require, and shall make such order as to costs as shall be just.

Act March 3, 1911, c. 231, § 37, 36 Stat. 1098.

Sec. 38. Proceedings in suits removed.—The district court of the United States shall, in all suits removed under the provisions of this chapter, proceed therein as if the suit had been originally commenced in said district court, and the same proceedings had been taken in such suit in said district court as shall have been had therein in said State court prior to its removal.

See Act March 3, 1875, c. 137, § 6.

Sec. 39. Time for filing record; return of record, how enforced.—In all causes removable under this chapter, if the clerk of the State court in which any such cause shall be pending shall refuse to any one or more of the parties or persons applying to remove the same, a copy of the record therein, after tender of legal fees for such copy, said clerk so offending shall, on conviction thereof in the district court of the United States to which said action or proceeding was removed, be fined not more than one thousand dollars, or imprisoned not more than one year, or both. The district court to which any cause shall be removable under this chapter shall have power to issue a writ of certiorari to said State court commanding said State court to make return of the record in any such cause removed as aforesaid, or in which any one or more of the plaintiffs or defendants have complied with the provisions of this chapter for the removal of the same, and enforce said writ according to law. If it shall be impossible for the parties or persons removing any cause under this chapter, or complying with the provisions for the removal thereof, to obtain such copy, for the reason that the clerk of said State court refuses to furnish a copy, on payment of legal fees, or for any other reason, the district court shall make an order requiring the prosecutor in any such action or proceeding to enforce forfeiture or recover penalty, as aforesaid, to file a copy of the paper or proceeding by which the same was commenced, within such time as the court may determine; and in default thereof the court shall dismiss the said action or proceeding; but if said order shall be complied with, then said district court shall require the other party to plead, and said action or proceeding shall proceed to final judgment. The said district court may make an order requiring the parties thereto to plead de novo; and the bond given, conditioned as aforesaid, shall be discharged so far as it requires copy of the record to be filed as aforesaid.

See Act March 3, 1875, c. 137, § 7.

VII. LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES RELATING TO RECEIVERS

(Being sections 65 to 68 of chapter 4 of the Federal Judicial Code.)

Sec. 65. Receivers to manage property according to State laws.—Whenever in any cause pending in any court of the United States there shall be a receiver or manager in possession of any property, such receiver or manager shall manage and operate such property according to the requirements of the valid laws of the State in which such property shall be situated, in the same manner that the owner or possessor thereof would be bound to do if in possession thereof. Any receiver or manager who shall willfully violate any provision of this section shall be fined not more than three thousand dollars, or imprisoned not more than one year, or both.

See Act March 3, 1887, c. 373, § 2.

Sec. 66. Suits against receiver.—Every receiver or manager of any property appointed by any court of the United States may be sued in respect of any act or transaction of his in carrying on the business connected with such property, without the previous leave of the court in which such receiver or manager was appointed; but such suit shall be subject to the general equity jurisdiction of the court in which such manager or receiver was appointed so far as the same may be necessary to the ends of justice.

See Act March 3, 1887, c. 373, § 3.

Sec. 67. Certain persons not to be appointed or employed as officers of courts.—No person shall be appointed to or employed in any office or duty in any court who is related by affinity or consanguinity within the degree of first cousin to the judge of such court.

Sec. 68. Certain persons not to be masters or receivers.—No clerk of a district court of the United States or his deputy shall be appointed a receiver or master in any case, except where the judge of said court shall determine that special reasons exist therefor, to be assigned in the order of appointment.

See Act March 3, 1879, c. 183.

VIII. BOUNDARIES OF TEXAS

Eastern and Northern Boundary. Treaty of Limits with Mexico Concluded at Mexico January 12, 1828; Ratification Advised by Senate April 4, 1832; Ratified by President; Ratifications Exchanged at Washington April 5, 1832; Proclaimed April 5, 1832:

The limits of the United States of America with the bordering territories of Mexico have been fixed and designated by a solemn treaty, concluded and signed at Washington on the twenty-second day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and nineteen, between the respective plenipotentiaries of the government of the United States of America on the one part, and that of Spain on the other; and whereas the said treaty having been sanctioned at a period when Mexico constituted a part of the Spanish monarchy, it is deemed necessary now to confirm the validity of the aforesaid treaty of limits, regarding it as still in force and binding between the United States of America and the United Mexican States. With this intention, the president of the United States of America has appointed Joel Roberts Poinsett their plenipotentiary, and the president of the United Mexican States their excellencies Sebastian Camacho and Jose Ignacio Esteva; and the said plenipotentiaries, having exchanged their full powers, have agreed upon and concluded the following articles:

Article 1. The dividing limits of the respective bordering territories of the United States of America and of the United Mexican States being the same as were agreed and fixed upon by the above mentioned treaty of Washington, concluded and signed on the twenty-second day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and nineteen, the two high contracting parties will proceed forthwith to carry into full effect the third and fourth articles of said treaty, which are herein recited as follows:

Article 2. The boundary line between the two countries west of the Mississippi shall begin on the Gulf of Mexico, at the mouth of the river Sabine, in the sea, continuing north along the western bank of that river to the thirty-second degree of latitude; thence by a line due north to the degree of latitude where it strikes the Rio Roxo, of Natchitoches, or Red river; then following the course of the Rio Roxo westward to the degree of longitude one hundred west from London and twenty-three from Washington; then crossing the said Red river, and running thence by a line due north to the river Arkansas; thence, following the course of the southern bank of the Arkansas to its source, in latitude forty-two north; and thence by that parallel of latitude to the South Sea; the whole being as laid down in Mellish's map of the United States, published at Philadelphia, improved to the first of January, one thousand eight hundred and eighteen. But if the source of the Arkansas river shall be found to fall north or south of latitude forty-two, then the line shall run from the said source due south or north, as the case may be, till it meets the said parallel of latitude forty-two, and thence along the said parallel to the South Sea, all the islands in the Sabine, and the said Red and Arkansas rivers, throughout the course thus described, to belong to the United States of America; but the use of the waters and the navigation of the Sabine to the sea, and of the said rivers Roxo and Arkansas, throughout the extent of the said boundary on their respective banks, shall be common to the respective inhabitants of both nations. The two high contracting parties agree to cede and renounce all their rights, claims, and pretensions to the territories described by the said line; that is to say, the United States hereby cede to his Catholic Majesty, and renounce forever, all their rights, claims, and pretensions to the territories lying west and south of the above described lines; and, in like manner, his Catholic Majesty cedes to the said United States all his rights, claims, and pretensions to any territories east and north of the said line; and, for himself, his heirs, and successors, renounces all claim to the said territories forever.

Article 2. To fix this line with more precision and to place the landmarks which shall designate exactly the limits of both nations, each of the contracting parties shall appoint a commissioner and a surveyor, who shall meet before the termination of one year from the date of the ratification of this treaty, at Natchitoches, on the Red river, and proceed to run and mark the said line, from the mouth of the Sabine to the Red river, and from the Red river to the river Arkansas, and to ascertain the latitude of the source of the said river Arkansas, in conformity to what is above agreed upon and stipulated, and the line of latitude forty-two to the South Sea. They shall make out plans and keep journals of their proceedings; and the result agreed upon by them shall be considered as part of this treaty, and shall have the same force as if it were inserted therein. The two governments will amicably agree respecting the necessary articles to be furnished to those persons, and also as to their respective escorts, should such be deemed necessary. [U. S. Revised Statutes, part 2, p. 474.]

Eastern Boundary. Convention Between the United States of America and the Republic of Texas Relative to Boundary, Concluded at Washington April 25, 1838; Ratification Advised by Senate May 10, 1838; Ratified by President October 4, 1838; Ratifications Exchanged at Washington October 12, 1838; Proclaimed October 13, 1838.

Whereas, the treaty of limits made and concluded on the twelfth day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and twenty-eight, between the United States of America on the one part and the United Mexican States on the other, is binding upon the Republic of Texas, the line thereon being entered into as a line when Texas formed a part of the said United Mexican States: and, whereas, it is deemed proper and expedient, in order to prevent future disputes and collisions between the United States and Texas in regard to the boundary between the two countries as designated by the said treaty, that a portion of the same should be run and marked without unnecessary delay. The president of the United States has appointed John Forsyth their plenipotentiary, and the president of the Republic of Texas has appointed Memucan Hunt its plenipotentiary; and the said plenipotentiaries, having exchanged their full powers, have agreed upon and concluded the following articles:

Article 1. Each of the contracting parties shall appoint a commissioner and surveyor, who shall meet, before the termination of twelve months from the exchange of the ratifications of this convention, at New Orleans, and proceed to run and mark that portion of the said boundary which extends from the mouth of the Sabine, where that river enters the Gulf of Mexico, to the Red river. They shall make out plans and keep journals of their proceedings, and the result agreed upon by them shall be considered as part of this convention, and shall have the same force as if it were inserted therein. The two governments will amicably agree respecting the necessary articles to be furnished to those persons, and also as to their respective escorts, should such be deemed necessary.

Article 2. And it is agreed that until this line shall be marked out, as is provided for in the foregoing article, each of the contracting parties shall continue to exercise jurisdiction in all territory over which its jurisdiction has hitherto been exercised; and that the remaining portion of the said boundary line shall be run and marked at such time hereafter as may suit the convenience of both the contracting parties, until which time each of the said parties shall exercise, without the interference of the other, within the territory of which the boundary shall not have been so marked and run, jurisdiction to the same extent to which it has been heretofore usually exercised. [U. S. Revised Statutes, part 2, p. 764.]

Eastern Boundary. By the Act of Dec. 19, 1836, the boundaries of the state of Texas are defined as follows: Beginning at the mouth of the Sabine river, and running west along the Gulf of Mexico three leagues from land, to the mouth of the Rio Grande; thence up the principal stream of said river to its source; thence due north to the forty-second degree of north latitude; thence along the boundary line as defined in the treaty between the United States and Spain, to the beginning; and that the president be, and is hereby authorized and required to open a negotiation with the government of the United States of America, as soon as in his opinion the public interest requires it, to ascertain and define the boundary line as agreed upon in said treaty. [1 Cong. p. 133.]

By the Act of Nov. 24, 1849, the eastern boundary of the state is defined as follows: In accordance with the consent of the congress of the United States, given by an act of said congress, approved July 5, 1848, the eastern boundary of the state of Texas be, and the same is hereby extended so as to include within the limits of the state of Texas, the western half of Sabine pass, Sabine lake and Sabine river from its mouth as far north as the thirty-second degree of north latitude; and that the several counties of this state, bounded by said Sabine pass, Sabine lake and Sabine river from its mouth as far north as the thirty-second degree of north latitude, shall have and exercise jurisdiction over such portions of the western half of said pass, lake and river as are opposite to said counties respectively; and this act shall take effect from and after its passage. [3 Leg. p. 4.]

Western Boundary. The boundary line between Mexico and Texas, as defined in the treaty between the United States and Mexico, Feb. 2, July 4, 1848, U. S. Revised Statutes, p. 494, is as follows: The boundary line between the two republics shall commence in the Gulf of Mexico, three leagues from land, opposite the mouth of the Rio Grande, otherwise called the Rio Bravo del Norte, or opposite the mouth of its deepest branch, if it should have more than one branch emptying directly into the sea; from thence up the middle of that river, following the deepest channel, where it has more than one, to the point where it strikes the southern boundary of New Mexico.

By the treaty between the United States and Mexico, Dec. 30, 1853, June 30, 1854, R. S. p. 503, the boundary line is established as follows, so far as it relates to Texas: Beginning in the Gulf of Mexico, three leagues from land, opposite the mouth of the Rio Grande, as provided in the fifth article of the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, thence as defined in the said article, up the middle of that river to the point where the parallel of 31° 47' north latitude crosses the same.

By the joint resolution of Feb. 11, 1850, it was declared: That all territory which lies east of the Rio Grande and a line running north from the source of the Rio Grande to the forty-second degree of north latitude, and south of the forty-second degree of north latitude, and west and south of the line designated in the treaty between the United States and the late Republic of Texas, of right belongs to the state of Texas, is included within her rightful civil and political jurisdiction, and the state of Texas will maintain the integrity of her territory. [3 Leg. p. 207.]

Northwestern Boundary. By the Act of Nov. 25, 1850, the northwestern boundary of Texas was defined as follows: The state of Texas will agree that her boundary on the north shall commence at the point at which the meridian of 100° west from Greenwich is intersected by the parallel of 36° 30' north latitude, and shall run from said point due west to the meridian of 105° west from Greenwich; thence her boundary shall run due south to the 32d degree of north latitude; thence on the said parallel of 32° of north latitude to the Rio Bravo del Norte; and thence with the channel of said river to the Gulf of Mexico.

The state of Texas cedes to the United States all her claim to territory exterior to the limits and boundaries which she agrees to establish by the first article of this agreement. [3 Leg. S. S. p. 4.]

VIII. BOUNDARIES OF TEXAS

Whereas in virtue of the 5th article of the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo between the United States of America and the United States of Mexico, concluded February 2, 1848, and of the first article of that of December 30, 1853, certain parts of the dividing line between the two countries follow the middle of the channel of the Rio Grande and the Rio Colorado, to avoid difficulties which may arise through the changes of channel to which those rivers are subject, through the operation of natural forces, the government of the United States of America and the government of the United States of Mexico have resolved to conclude a convention as follows:

Article 1. The dividing line shall forever be that described in the aforesaid treaty and follow the centre of the normal channel of the rivers named, notwithstanding any alterations in the banks or in the course of those rivers, provided that such alterations be effected by natural causes through the slow and gradual erosion and deposit of alluvium and not by the abandonment of an existing river bed and the opening of a new one.

Article 2. Any other change, wrought by the force of the current, whether by the cutting of a new bed, or when there is more than one channel by the deepening of another channel than that which marked the boundary at the time of the survey made under the aforesaid treaty, shall produce no change in the dividing line as fixed by the surveys of the International Boundary Commissions in 1852; but the line then fixed shall continue to follow the middle of the original channel bed, even though this should become wholly dry or be obstructed by deposits.

Article 3. No artificial change in the navigable course of the river, by building jetties, piers or obstructions which may tend to deflect the current or produce deposits of alluvium, or by dredging to deepen another than the original channel under the treaty when there is more than one channel, or by cutting waterways to shorten the navigable distance, shall be permitted to affect or alter the dividing line as determined by the aforesaid commissions in 1852 or as determined by article 1 hereof and under the reservation therein contained; but the protection of the banks on either side from erosion by revetments of stone or other material not unduly projecting into the current of the river shall not be deemed an artificial change.

Article 4. If any international bridge have been or shall be built across either of the rivers named, the point on such bridge exactly over the middle of the main channel as herein determined shall be marked by a suitable monument, which shall denote the dividing line for all the purposes of such bridge, notwithstanding any change in the channel which may thereafter supervene. But any rights other than in the bridge itself and in the ground on which it is built shall in event of any such subsequent change be determined in accordance with the general provisions of this convention.

Article 5. Rights of property in respect of lands which may have become separated through the creation of new channels as defined in article 2 hereof, shall not be affected thereby, but such lands shall continue to be under the jurisdiction of the country to which they previously belonged. In no case, however, shall this retained jurisdictional right affect or control the right of navigation common to the two countries under the stipulations of article 7 of the aforesaid treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo; and such common right shall continue without prejudice throughout the actually navigable main channels of the said rivers, from the mouth of the Rio Grande to the point where the Rio Colorado ceases to be the international boundary, even though any part of the channel of said rivers through the changes herein provided against, may be comprised within the territory of one of the two nations.

Act May 2, 1882 (17 Leg. S. S. p. 5).

Sec. 1. Boundary shall be run and marked by a joint commission. The governor of this State be and he is hereby authorized and empowered to appoint a suitable person, or persons, who, in conjunction with such person, or persons, as may be appointed by, or on behalf of, the United States, for the same purpose, shall run and mark the boundary lines between the territories of the United States and the State of Texas, as follows: Beginning at a point where a line drawn north from the intersection of the thirty-second degree of north latitude with the western bank of the Sabine river, crosses Red river and thence following the course of said river westwardly to the degree of longitude one hundred west from London, and twenty-three degrees west from Washington, as said line was laid down in Melish's map of the United States, published at Philadelphia, improved to the first of January, 1818, and designated in the treaty between the United States and Spain, made February 22, A. D. 1819.
IX. APPORTIONMENT ACT

Sec. 2. Line to be located by actual surveys, etc. Said joint commission will report their survey, made in accordance with the foregoing section of this act, together with all necessary notes, maps, and other papers, in order that in fixing that part of the boundary between the territories of the United States and the state of Texas the question may be definitely settled as to the true location of the one-hundredth degree of longitude west from London, and whether the north fork of Red river, or the Prairie Dog fork of said river, is the true Red river designated in the treaty between the United States and Spain made February 22, 1819; and in locating said line said commissioners shall be guided by actual surveys and measurements, together with such well established marks, natural and artificial, as may be found, and such well authenticated maps as may throw light upon the subject.

Sec. 3. Survey made, when; corner established. Such commissioner, or commissioners, on the part of Texas, shall attempt to have said survey, herein provided for by the joint commission, made and performed between the first day of July and the first day of October of the year in which said survey is made, when the ordinary stage of water in each fork of said Red river may be observed; and when the main or principal Red river is ascertained as agreed upon in said treaty of 1819, and the point is fully designated where the one-hundredth degree of longitude west from London, and twenty-third degree of longitude west from Washington, crosses said Red river, the same shall be plainly marked and defined as a corner in said boundary, and said commissioner shall establish such other permanent monuments as may be necessary to mark their work.

IX. APPORTIONMENT ACT OMITTED FROM PRINTED SESSION LAWS OF THIRTY-SECOND LEGISLATURE

Section 1. That the seventh supreme judicial district of the state of Texas be and the same is hereby created, and the same shall be composed of the following counties to-wit: Dallam, Sherman, Hansford, Ochiltree, Lipscomb, Hartley, Moore, Hutchinson, Roberts, Hemphill, Oldham, Potter, Carson, Gray, Wheeler, Deaf Smith, Randle, Armstrong, Donley, Collingsworth, Parmer, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe, Hall, Childress, Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley, Cottle, Foard, Hardeman, Wilbarger, King, Dickens, Crosby, Lubbock, Hockley, Cochran, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Kent, Scurry, Borden, Dawson and Gaines, and the courts shall be held therein in the city of Amarillo, in Potter county; provided, the citizens of said city of Amarillo shall furnish and properly equip, without cost or expense to the state a suitable room for holding the sessions of said court, a library room, and such other rooms as shall be necessary for the use of the judges, clerk and other officers and employes of said court, and shall also furnish the necessary, reasonable and proper law library for the use of said court.

Sec. 2. The governor shall as soon as practicable after this Act takes effect, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, if in session, appoint one chief justice and two associate justices, each of whom shall be a bona fide resident within the territorial limits of the seventh supreme judicial district and shall possess the qualifications required by law for such judges, who shall hold their respective offices until the next general election, and shall constitute the court of civil appeals within and for the said seventh supreme judicial district, and thereafter the judges of said court shall be elected and qualified as required by law.

Sec. 3. The court of civil appeals of the seventh supreme judicial district shall hold its sessions at the city of Amarillo in Potter county, and its regular terms shall begin on the first Monday in October of each year and shall remain in session until the first Monday in July of each succeeding year; provided, however, that should it be in term time when the judges of said court are appointed and qualified, as herein provided, then the said judges shall, within thirty days after their appointment and qualification, appoint a suitable person, resident of said district, as clerk of said court, and such other officers, stenographer and employes as may be necessary for said court of civil appeals, which appointed officers shall take the oath of office and execute the bonds required by law for such employes. And within thirty days thereafter the said court shall be convened and proceed with the transaction of business for the remainder of the term, after which the regular terms shall be held as above provided.

Sec. 4. That the clerk of the court of civil appeals of the second supreme judicial district shall, after this Act takes effect, forthwith prepare and certify transcripts of all orders in cases then pending in said second court of civil appeals taken there by appeal or writ of error from the courts of any of the counties named in the first section of this Act, which cases have not theretofore been submitted to said second court of civil appeals, and shall likewise prepare and certify a bill of all costs accrued in such cases, including express charges, and transfer said cases by express to the clerk of the court of civil appeals of the seventh supreme judicial district, who shall enter the same upon the docket of said seventh court of civil appeals in the order of their filings in the second court of civil appeals, and he shall, when collected, promptly remit to the clerk of the second court of civil appeals all such costs as shall have accrued in said last named court: provided, nevertheless that said second court of civil appeals shall have jurisdiction and authority to finally dispose of all cases, from any of said counties, submitted to it before the taking effect of this Act, the same as if this Act had never passed.

Sec. 5. That all laws and parts of laws in conflict with this Act be and the same are hereby repealed.

Note.—The above act was passed by the 32d legislature and was sent to the governor on March 11, 1911, the day of adjournment. The governor vetoed the bill on April 3, 1911, and the act was not included in the printed session laws. It was held in Southern Pac. Co. v. Sorey, 140 S. W. 334, that the veto was ineffectual, as it occurred more than 20 days after adjournment of the legislature, and that the act of March 11, 1911, creating the seventh supreme judicial district, being the later expression of the legislature, superseded Acts 1911, p. 269, creating the seventh and eighth districts, in so far as the two acts were in conflict. The result is that Dawson and Scurry counties are transferred from the second district to the seventh, and Gaines and Borden are transferred from the eighth to the seventh district. Acts 1913, p. 7, however, restores Gaines and Borden to the eighth district. The apportionment table is therefore correct, except that Dawson and Scurry should be ascribed to the seventh district.

The decision of the supreme court also affects Fisher county. That county was placed in the second district by the Revised Statutes of 1911. Acts 1911, p. 269, transfers this county to the seventh district. The act of March 11, 1911, makes no mention of Fisher county. The court holds that the two bills passed at the 32d legislature are to be construed as a single act, and that, so construed, Fisher county remains in the seventh district.
